

Island Nation Awaits Reform Plans

Prominent Filipinos Held

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
Associated Press Writer
MANILA (AP) — Fifty-three prominent Filipinos, including two provincial governors, six members of Congress and seven newspapermen, have been arrested in the Manila region since martial law was proclaimed over the weekend, the presidential palace announced today.

Press Secretary Francisco Tatad provided the first official confirmation of the arrests over the single television channel still operating. All but selected media outlets have been closed and news being sent abroad is censored.

Tatad spoke as the island nation awaited details of far-reaching reforms planned by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' government to create what it described as a "new society."

Marcos said he was assuming martial law powers and reorganizing his government to block an insurrection threatened by Mao-oriented Communists and to improve conditions for the masses who live in acute poverty.

In his announcement, Tatad said four of the prominent persons detained had subsequently been released.

Among those still under detention were Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., a leader of the opposition Liberal party, an outspoken critic of Marcos and a possible candidate for the presidency in 1973 elections; Sen. Jose Diokno, member of the civil liberties union; and Sen. Ramon Mitra, another prominent member of the opposition. A palace official said the announced arrests covered only the Greater Manila area, suggesting that more have been made in the provinces.

Announcement of the detentions confirmed speculation that had been sweeping Manila during a news blackout that followed proclamation of martial law. In lightning moves, Marcos closed down all but one of Manila's 15 daily newspapers, shut six of the city's seven television stations and nine of the major radio stations.

He has also issued a series of "general orders" aimed, the palace said, at saving the republic from Communist rebellion and creating a "new society."

The measures resulted in: —Closing of all but selected media outlets and censorship of news sent abroad.

—A temporary ban on Filipinos travelling abroad.

—National control of airlines and sky marshals aboard all planes to thwart possible hijacking.

—Closing of all schools for a week.

—The death penalty for illegal possession of firearms, the start of disarming the many private armies and security forces in this country.

—A ban on all public demonstrations, rallies and labor strikes.

The government has also promised a thorough reorganization to root out "corruption, incompetence and uselessness" and a crackdown against crime syndicates.

Twenty-Two Killed As Plane Crashes Ice Cream Parlor

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "It took one wall where the 17 kids were and just pushed it," one witness gasped after a burning plane slashed into an ice cream parlor jammed with children and their parents, killing 22 persons.

Authorities said one entire family of four died in the crash Sunday along with at least 10 children. Twenty-six others — mostly children — were injured when the private plane catapulted across a highway shortly after takeoff and hit Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor.

The pilot of the Korean war-vintage jet fighter survived and was quoted as saying, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!" as he was pulled from the wreckage.

Describing the scene at the wall where the 17 youngsters had been sitting, Dave Thorton said, "They were all in a big pile. It just pushed them." He ran ran to the crash area from a nearby bowling alley.

A 12-year-old girl in the shop crowded with about 100 persons said she thought it was "a gimmick" to accompany the serving of a special ice cream sundae. "Then everyone started screaming and running."

Don McClusky, a management trainee working at the store, said a birthday party group of 17 persons was seated at the table at the front window and had just been served with ice cream, candy and favors when the plane crashed through the wall beside them. Most of the dead were found in that part of the store.

The crash occurred as the F86 Sabrejet was taking off from Sacramento's Executive Airport after participating in an air show. The plane had been converted to civilian use.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to lose power in the takeoff. It crashed on an old levee barrier at the end of the runway and hurtled across a four-lane highway.

The craft burst into flames about the time it hit three autos parked by the front entrance to the ice cream parlor. Two of the autos were rammed with the burning plane through the front of the building.

Twenty of the dead were tentatively identified as customers in the store. Two others had been seated in one of the autos crushed by the jet.

Coroner George Nielsen said some identifications might be delayed because the fingerprints of children usually aren't on file.

He said he had few calls from parents, possibly because some of the parents were among the hospitalized.

The pilot was identified as Richard Bingham, 36, of Novato, Calif., general manager of Spectrum Air.

Bingham was listed in satisfactory condition with fractures at Sacramento Medical Center.

A witness said a man with a pair of wire cutters ran to the blue and gold jet — risking the flames — and cut the pilot loose.

The witness told newsmen the pilot was crying and saying over and over again, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!"

To Reconsider Oct. 17 Referendum

Special Council Meeting Called

By JERRY RAYNOR

Reflector Staff Writer

Consideration of a resolution to void and nullify the special election currently scheduled for October 17, and a second resolution to set a new date of December 5 for a referendum have been announced as the two major items of a special call meeting of the Greenville City Council at 5:30 p.m. this afternoon.

The special call meeting was requested by Council members William Dansey and John Taylor. The Greenville City code permits calling of a special meeting by either the mayor or two council members.

Mayor S. Eugene West, asked for comments on the special call meeting, said, "I did not call for this meeting and have no intention of calling for one."

"I feel that the money has been spent for arrangements for the October 17 election. Ballots have been printed, and everything is in readiness. I think at this point the people of Greenville are entitled to vote on what has already been approved for the referendum."

Mayor West added that in his opinion "because some people have got cold feet about the chances of the referendum passing, they want to change it and set it all up again."

"So far as I'm concerned," he observed, "the idea was pushed through by Dansey and he got what he wanted."

Dansey, commenting on his reason for calling for a special meeting to change the date of the referendum election, noted that "because of incorrect advertising and based on an expression of opinion from the attorney general's office that if the referendum is approved, it could possibly be challenged, I feel it is wiser to get this straightened out."

Dansey mentioned the fact that the legal advertisement for the referendum had been worded with reference to funds to be used solely for the construction of three swimming pools, which he said was different from the motion approved by the Council.

"I have called this meeting to be sure that we get the proper and legal approach,"

Dansey said.

Three items are listed for the agenda. The first is consideration of a resolution to void and nullify the special election currently scheduled for October 17.

The second item is consideration of a resolution that would establish a special election for December 5 to levy a four cents per $100 valuation for funds to construct a swimming pool and other recreational facilities.

The third and final agenda item is a round-up type, one to discuss any other item related to referendums and special elections.

Urges Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called today for "thorough-going reform of the world monetary system to clear the path for the healthy competition of the future."

In an unusual appearance before the annual meeting of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, Nixon pledged that the United States would "not turn inward and isolationist."

He asked a similar pledge from other nations as he said that "monetary reform must embrace international economic affairs, including trade and investment opportunity as well."

Nixon told the representatives of 124 member nations that "as the danger of armed conflict between major powers is reduced, the potential for economic conflict is increased."

Nixon's appearance diverted some of the attention from a growing debate over the future leadership of the IMF as it starts the long process of shaping a new financial system.

Poll Indicates Nixon Leading Among Demos

NEW YORK (AP) — A new poll conducted jointly for Time magazine and The New York Times shows President Nixon leading Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern by 39 points — 62 to 23 per cent.

Moreover, the President has overtaken McGovern even among registered Democrats, 43 to 40 per cent, according to the survey released Sunday. It was conducted by Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., between Aug. 25 and Sept. 12.

The 39-point over-all margin represents an 11 percentage point increase over a parallel Yankelovich survey taken a month earlier which showed Nixon ahead by 28 points — 56 to 28 per cent.

Meanwhile, McGovern aides disclosed the results of a private national poll showing the Democratic contender had whittled the Nixon lead from 34 points to 22 points in the past few weeks.

McGovern campaign director Frank Mankiewicz said Sunday that the poll was based on telephone conversations with 1,500 persons nationwide, all of whom had been interviewed in depth earlier.

The Times said there was an indication in the Yankelovich survey that McGovern may have narrowed Nixon's lead during early September but the shift was so small that it could have been accounted for by sampling error.

In the Time-Times poll, 2,329 registered voters in the 16 largest states were interviewed by telephone. The states account for two-thirds of the total electoral vote.

Over-all, the poll showed Nixon ahead among virtually all age groups, social classes, income levels, nationalities and regions.

He led by 34 points among Roman Catholics, 51 points among Protestants, 38 points among independents, 43 points among middle-income voters, 47 points among Italian-Americans and 54 points in the South.

The most dramatic finding was the President's lead among Democrats. In the previous Yankelovich poll, McGovern led among all Democratic voters, 45 to 37 per cent.

Both the Yankelovich poll and another conducted by the Gallup organization for Newsweek magazine showed Nixon ahead nationally among young voters.

The Gallup poll gave Nixon a 52-43 per cent lead among 18-to-24-year-old voters because of an "enormous" lead among Southern youth. But it said McGovern was leading among the young in the East and Midwest and neck and neck among young voters in the West.

Yankelovich found college youth favored McGovern by 53 to 40 per cent while noncollege youth preferred Nixon by 49 to 34 per cent. Because there are twice as many in the noncollege group, Nixon held an overall margin of 3 percentage points.

N. Viet Premier Says No More POWs To Be Freed 'Til War Ends

By PETER ARNETT

AP Special Correspondent
HANOI (AP) — North Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong reasserted Sunday to a delegation of Americans in Hanoi to escort home three released fliers that remaining pilots in captivity will be freed only when an agreement is reached to settle the war.

In a 90-minute informal discussion attended by this reporter, Dong told antiwar activists Cora Weiss, David Dellinger, Rev. William Sloane Coffin and Prof. Richard Falk that a framework for negotiating a settlement to the war has long been available.

That was the seven-point proposal put forward by the Provisional Revolutionary Government, the Viet Cong, that calls for the total withdrawal of American forces and the formation of a coalition government.

Dong said he wanted to stress the importance of the Sept. 11 clarification statement put forward in Paris by the Viet Cong delegation head, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, on a three-party coalition government for South Vietnam.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam would be excluded under this formula, but Saigon would be allowed to name anyone else to one-third of the government, the Viet Cong another third. The final third would be comprised of Catholics, Buddhists, exiled South Vietnamese in Paris and others.

The greying, wiry North Vietnamese leader told the delegation that the pilots should be released and that it would be a good act.

He asserted that President Nixon was aware of the necessity for a settlement first before their freedom and that there was no misunderstanding.

N. Viets Step Up Attacks In Da Nang Area

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces stepped up their attacks below Da Nang today in an apparent effort to gain new access routes to the vital north-south Highway 1 and weaken support for the Saigon government.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported that an estimated two North Vietnamese companies numbering up to 200 troops attacked a militia outpost about 25 miles south of Da Nang. The outpost is in a village which has access to Highway 1.

The militia company of 100 men was still holding at last report.

Fifty miles to the south, government troops were reported to have begun an operation aimed at clearing Highway 1 south of Quang Ngai City. About six miles of the highway are cut between the Song Ve bridge and the district town of Mo Duc, 15 miles south of Quang Ngai City.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces kept up their harassing attacks in Quang Ngai province with rockets and mortars against government outposts.

Officials said the wave of attacks below Da Nang is aimed at destroying the Saigon government's credibility in protecting the population it claims it controls.

Since Aug. 18, the attackers have captured three district towns and several outposts. One town has been recaptured. Thousands of refugees have been left homeless and scores of civilians killed in the cross-fire.

In the northern region above Da Nang, light fighting was reported in Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces where government troops have launched a 20,000-men sweep operation.

Gunman Captured After Police Station Barrage

BY BILL SAUL

ASSOCIATED Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A gunman peppered the Foothill Division police station with sporadic rifle fire for more than an hour Sunday night and early today. Police said they arrested a man who claimed he fired on the station because he wanted to commit suicide.

Michael Grant, 25, of suburban Glendale was in fair condition at Pacoima Lutheran Hospital with gunshot wounds in both legs and one hand, officials reported. No other persons were injured in the incident. Police said Grant would be booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said that shots started coming "from all directions" during the morning watch roll call shortly before midnight Sunday. Officers ducked for cover and the station was darkened as a barrage of bullets bounced off the three-story building, police said.

Officers estimated that about 40 rounds of ammunition were exchanged between officers and the gunman. One shot passed through a window of the station but no one inside was injured. Police shot from the station rooftop while other officers sneaked out under the fire.

Sgt. Nate Pranell said Grant was shot by two officers near the station. The officers said the man reportedly fired shots at them and they returned the fire, wounding him.

The station is located in the San Fernando Valley, the city's northern "bedroom" area.

DEAR ABBY: I can certainly feel for that widow with dentures who is worried about how men would feel about a woman if they knew she wore dentures. I am 34, divorced, and just got mine. I am well-adjusted in other areas, but I dread meeting a fellow I might like, and then having to tell him I wear dentures.

Your advice to keep her mouth shut won't help her much. If she becomes romantically involved with a man, I am sure they will do more than just hold hands, and he will surely learn the truth if they do any passionate kissing.

I hope you hear from men telling you how they feel about a woman with dentures because this is my problem, too.

"G" IN BROOKLYN

DEAR G.: My dental consultants assure me that dentures can be made so realistically that their presence will be undetected during the most passionate kissing. [Unless you get a kiss that will cause you to drop your teeth, which is highly unlikely.] But please read on. . . .

DEAR ABBY: In my 84 years I have never heard it suggested that a man's emotional responses to a woman might be affected by her wearing dentures!

I refer to your column in the Columbus Citizen: If that woman signed "Feeling Low" is concerned lest the man in whom she is interested would find her less attractive if he knew she wore dentures, she should put him to the test as soon as possible. If there is a remote chance that his attitude proves to be as she fears, the sooner she finds out what a jerk he is, the better. Yours truly, WARREN CHADBOURNE, GROVE CITY, O.

DEAR WARREN: Your letter will bring joy to the hearts of many a lady who smiles thru her dentures. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: That letter about dentures took me back to when I courted my second wife. She told me she had something to "confess" before we married. Then she said,

"I wear false teeth, dear."

I replied, "That's all right, sweetheart. So do I."

Then, she smiled and said, "Yours are obvious, and before we're married I think you ought to fix yourself up with some that don't clack." [P.S. I did]. GRAMPS

DEAR ABBY: You told that widow with dentures that the man who marries her should be glad he won't have any more dental bills to pay. Whoaaa, girl.

Even tho her dentures may fit perfectly now, mechanical teeth do wear out. And one's mouth and jaw formation changes, requiring new dentures. Theoretically dentures should be changed every five years—like an automobile, to adjust to muscle changes. And don't forget breakage!

"DOC"

DEAR ABBY: Some lady wanted to know how men felt about women who wore false teeth. I have had lots of experience along that line as I am 80 years old and have had five wives. [Four died and one divorced me.] The last four had false teeth when I married them and I didn't think a thing of it. I am going with a lady right now who has false teeth, and it doesn't make any difference to me. I really think I prefer women with false teeth because they talk less.

"HAVE FALSIES [TEETH], TOO"

DEAR ABBY: Tell the gal who's sensitive about her dentures not to worry. They won't keep the guys away.

I married one with china clippers and a padded bra because I thought all the rest of her was real. Too late I found out she was also false-hearted. That blew it!

Daughter Believed Dead Found Alive

By WILLIAM V. DONOVAN

Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — It was "like having a new daughter born," said the father of a runaway girl who contacted police after her parents mistakenly identified her as one of two teen-agers found slain in a park.

Rosemarie Pilewicz, 17, said she read a newspaper report of her death and thought, "How can the world say this? I'm breathing."

Her parents had reported her missing Aug. 10.

Her return left police with the bodies of two nameless girls, each shot once in the back of the head with a .32-caliber pistol and left lying face up in Washington Park on the city's South Side. They were found early Saturday by a jogger.

Six other women and an infant girl have been found dead in unsolved homicides in Chicago and its suburbs since June.

Asked how she mistakenly identified one of the dead girls as her daughter, Violet Pilewicz said, "The girl was just like a twin. Even the earrings were the same."

Richard Pilewicz, who had viewed the body after his wife had come out of the morgue weeping, told reporters, "I went in and my eyes were foggy and I was shaking and it looked exactly like her."

A family friend, Sigmund Rajta, theorized that when police called and said they had a body that might be Rosemarie's, the mother "went to the morgue expecting to see her daughter dead ... it was an emotional thing."

The family made funeral arrangements and spent a grief-stricken, sleepless night before Rosemarie read that she had been identified as a victim and then contacted police. Rosemarie said she had been living with female friends. After the reunion, police held her overnight at a juvenile home.

Asked why his daughter had run away, Pilewicz said, "I don't know ... Maybe my type of life is different from hers." Mrs. Pilewicz said the girl left primarily because of differences over her social hours.

Stakeout At Carnival Seeking 'Baby-Trader'

ASHFORD, Ala. (AP)—Police and sheriff's officers are maintaining a stakeout at a traveling carnival today in hopes of capturing a young man accused of trading his 3-month-old son for a used car in Florida.

"We'll keep men at the carnival for the rest of the week, or until he shows up somewhere else," an Ashford Police Department spokesman said about the search for Eugene Fire, about 23.

The carnival watch began Sunday after the show moved here from Union Springs, Ala., some 50 miles to the northwest. Bloodhounds hunting for Fire kept following trails back to the carnival, police said.

Officers said Fire escaped into a dense wooded area after his wife was arrested at the carnival Saturday.

At Dothan, a Houston County sheriff's department spokesman, Harvey Woodham, said, "We believe he's still with the carnival. We searched last night about nine hours, and the dogs weren't able to get anything."

At Union Springs, police spokesman Jimmy Martin said Bullock County deputies still were looking for Fire, but police had stopped hunting.

The Ashford officer, who asked that his name not be used, quoted the carnival owner as saying he did not know if Fire was among the booths and trucks, but might come back to get his clothing and paycheck.

A tip from a carnival worker led to the arrest of Fire's wife, Jennifer Sharon Sims, alias Jennifer Fire, also about 23. She was working at a sideshow in the carnival near Union Springs, in southeast Alabama.

Collier County, Fla., authorities have charged the couple under a seldom-used felony statute with "selling a child for payment or something of value." They allegedly traded their infant son for a used car last week.

Officer Martin said juvenile authorities have taken custody of two youngsters—a boy about 2½ and a girl about 1½—who accompanied the Fires from Immokalee, Fla., to Alabama.

Authorities in Florida learned of the alleged trade after the infant was taken to Naples Community Hospital in Collier County Wednesday.

A hospital spokesman said the child was in satisfactory condition, suffering from malnutrition, dehydration and broken ribs.

Easy to understand information about no-fault insurance.

Do you wonder why you hear so much about "modified" no-fault insurance when we don't even have no-fault insurance yet? Maybe this will clear things up.

In the coming months, you may hear about many insurance plans that are called No-Fault plans. Some will be No-Fault plans, others won't. Some plans that are called No-Fault would not change the present system at all. They would merely require the motorist to purchase additional medical payments insurance along with your liability coverage.

Essentially, there are two types of No-Fault insurance. Pure No-Fault insurance and Modified No-Fault insurance.

Under a pure No-Fault insurance system, everyone is compensated for all his losses resulting from a traffic accident by the company from which he purchases his own liability insurance policy, regardless of who is at fault up to the limits of his own policy.

Under a Pure No-Fault insurance system, no one would ever have the right to sue to collect damages caused by someone else.

A Modified No-Fault insurance plan is based on the Pure No-Fault concept. However, a Modified No-Fault plan usually permits payments for losses resulting from a traffic accident regardless of fault only up to a certain limit. Beyond that limit, the innocent party in an accident can sue to collect damages from the person causing the accident.

At present no state has a Pure No-Fault automobile liability insurance system. Frankly, a Pure No-Fault system would not be in the public interest because it would prevent many people from collecting for losses for which negligent persons should be held responsible.

The Modified No-Fault concept is not an extreme departure from our present system. Independent Insurance Agents have recommended a Modified No-Fault insurance plan to the Governor's Automobile Insurance Study Commission because we feel it provides the best of both the present system and the Pure No-Fault system.

One of the major advantages of our plan is that it will enable you to obtain better service when you have a claim, because you will deal with the agent from whom you purchased your policy and it won't be necessary to prove the "other driver" was at fault.

SOME FAULTY NO-FAULT PLANS ARE NOT NO-FAULT PLANS, AND MODIFIED NO-FAULT PLANS AREN'T PURE NO-FAULT PLANS. MODIFIED NO-FAULT IS MORE FAULTLESS THAN PURE NO-FAULT, REGARDLESS OF WHO IS AT FAULT. FOLLOW ME, FAULK?

Calls For Sternest Punishment

There is no crime more despicable than the planting of bombs in hopes of destroying an intended victim.

Thus those who send bombs through the mails to Israeli officials around the world deserve the scorn of all humanity. Those who are caught and convicted should receive the harshest punishment, no matter what nation brings them to trial.

The crime is horrible even if the bombs reach their intended victims. Even worse, however, such devices endanger many innocent people who are exposed to the packages as they make their way to their destinations.

It is tragic that we live in a world where such lawlessness is condoned in some quarters. It is time for all mankind to come to its senses and to return to a code of honor where such tactics are not condoned between feuding factions.

There, regrettably, will always be crazies in our world who will stoop to anything in the name of a so-called cause. These things can be stopped only when all nations agree that they are out of bounds of human conduct and see that the perpetrators are brought to justice.

New Enrollment Record Goes Against A Trend

With 10,250 students enrolled, East Carolina University set still another fall quarter enrollment record this year.

This is remarkable in view of the trend toward declining enrollment in the nation's colleges and also recognizing the potential effect of vastly increased out-of-state tuition fees.

We should recognize, however, that here in the East there are still many otherwise qualified young people who never attend college. ECU should continue to draw from this reservoir of qualified high school graduates.

Denies Race A Suicidal Urge

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—Nick Smith is a tousle-haired Don Quixote in the '72 Tar Heel general election campaign.

The windmill he's tilting with is Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan. Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, aptly regarded as one of the most solidly based politicians in North Carolina.

As much an idealist though not so added as the Cervantes' hero, Smith accepts the fact that his chances as the Republican candidate are roughly equal to a snowball in a hot furnace. All the same, he goes after votes aggressively.

relations for the Morgan image than on fighting crime.

"He has politicized and personalized the justice department to serve his own ambition," Smith contended.

"He has politicized and personalized the justice department to serve his own ambition," Smith contended.

"At a time of a high violent crime index, it's obvious his attention is running for the U.S. Senate two years from now."

Politics has no proper place in the administration of justice, from the state's chief legal officer on down, Smith argued. "Yet I defy you to show me a single Republican on the present staff," he added.

Make Office Elective?

He's not even sure the office he is running for should be elective. "Maybe the attorney general ought to be appointed," he speculated. "It certainly should not depend on the outcome of a popularity contest."

The qualifications Smith offers for the office include a law degree earned at Duke University, experience as legal aid attorney and as a Durham assistant solicitor.

Winning might give him a shock, but no apprehension. He's confident he could handle the job.

Smith, a native of King's Mountain, is married and the father of three children. He lives in Chapel Hill, practices law in Durham, and teaches at North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

He registered Republican when he reached voting age because of family persuasion. His interest in direct involvement was kindled when it appeared a token candidate might go on the ballot against Morgan, the Democrat.

A newspaper reporter suggested he fill the spot. The idea had some ego appeal. Smith talked it over with State GOP Chairman Frank Rouse, and made the plunge. Not surprisingly, he had no opposition in the party

Seeks Expunge The Old Agnew

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
ST. LOUIS — At one point during President Nixon's campaign strategy session last week with top political aides, Vice President Spiro Agnew suddenly intervened with a work of warning.

The "theory of attack" against political enemies, he said with ponderous Agnewian deliberation, was all well and good. If properly handled, it undoubtedly kept the enemy off balance and on guard.

But, he went on with a thin smile, he had been down that road and he knew how dangerous it could be. His advice to those less experienced than he: go slow, and make certain you have all the facts, because otherwise "the attack might blow up in your face."

Agnew himself, the purveyor of Nixon administration hot politics over the past three years, is now putting that advice to surprising good use, ambulating around the U.S.A. with a brand of cool campaigning in keeping with his pledge to practice a "new style" of politics. The contrast between the new Agnew and the scorching rhetoric of the Agnew of two years ago was particularly vivid when the Vice President set off on his first speaking tour from Washington on Tuesday (Sept. 19).

Two years ago, in a planeseide ceremony at National Airport marking his 1970 campaign kickoff, Agnew set the tone of the disastrous Republican campaign for Congress with a torrid attack on the "disruptive radical and militant minority, the pampered prodigies of the radical liberals in the U.S. Senate" — including one Republican, ex-Sen. Charles Goodell of New York.

But in his planeside interview at that same place last Tuesday, he ducked several openings to attack the Democrats. Instead, he termed himself a unifying influence within the Republican party and explained Sen. George McGovern's assaults on President Nixon as a natural result of McGovern's assaults on President Nixon as a natural result of McGovern's desperate showing in the polls.

That set the new tone.

except for minor departures, for his opening three-day campaign swing through the Midwest. He even had a nice word for the press, the despised villain in that earlier era, telling reporters here on Wednesday: "I don't think you fellows are so bad."

Moreover, this 1972 campaign is radically different for Spiro Agnew in one other major respect: not a single White House aide has been assigned to travel with him. Two years ago he was surrounded with speechwriters and Presidential contact men assigned by the White House to monitor every aspect of his national campaign.

Contrasted to that elaborately controlled setting, when he was under constant surveillance of White House nursemaids, 1972 is a picnic with old friends. Chief of his campaign staff is Baltimore lawyer George White, probably Agnew's closest friend and a registered Maryland Democrat who was not involved in 1970. Agnew's speeches, stripped of the red meat supplied by Patrick Buchanan, William Safire and other White House speechwriters, are now the product of long-time Agnew aide Herb Thompson, who takes orders only from Agnew.

The pace is fit for a king. In the first 24 hours of this week's campaign opener, Agnew delivered a 20-minute speech, held a 50-minute press conference and conferred with local Republican leaders for 30 minutes (all in Minneapolis) and spent 20 minutes with Missouri fat-cats, both Republicans and Democrats-for-Nixon in St. Louis Tuesday evening. That was all.

Agnew, in short, does not yet display telltale signs of using this campaign to collect IOUs for his own possible 1976 Presidential bid. The work from one of his top aides that "he's not even thinking about 1976" seems credible.

Agnew's objective is simpler. At the risk of boring partisan audiences who would far rather hear him rend the Democrats in the old accustomed way, he has set out to reach one goal in this campaign: expunge the old Agnew.

That may, indeed, be his passport to 1976, but 1976 is far from his consciousness today.

New York's Reaction

NEW YORK — The city council of New York has just passed New York's first comprehensive law to control noise. The antinoise program is expected to go into effect in the next two years. How do New Yorkers feel about it? I went out into the streets to find out.

The first man I spoke to was walking down the Avenue of the Americas. "Sir, how do you feel about the new antinoise law that was just passed?"

"WHAT DID YOU SAY?" "I SAID HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT MAYOR LINDSAY'S PLAN TO OUTLAW THE DIN IN NEW YORK CITY?"

"IS HE GOING TO OUTLAW GIN? I'M A VODKA MAN MYSELF, SO IT WON'T AFFECT ME." "NOT GIN — DIN. HE WANTS TO LOWER THE DECIBEL COUNT IN NEW YORK CITY."

"I DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT DECIBELS, BUT IF I KNOW LINDSAY, HE'LL LOWER THE DECIBELS AND UP THE TAXES."

"Thank you very much, sir."

"MY WIFE DRINKS GIN. I'M NOT SURE SHE'S GOING TO LIKE IT," he said, walking off.

I went over to Fifth Avenue and spoke to a lady with a shopping bag. "The Environmental Protection Administration of New York has declared war on noise pollution," I said. "How does that grab you?"

Other Editors Say We Are Gaining

(Jacksonville Daily News)

Cooperation between industry and government is making slow but steady progress against solid waste pollution.

According to the National Center for Resource Recovery in Washington, programs sponsored by industry are giving strong impetus to the recycling movement throughout the country. Substantial increases have been reported in the volume of steel, glass, paper and aluminum recovered from municipal trash for reconversion into basic materials or other uses that conserve natural resources.

Latest figures show that 17 cities alone are salvaging used steel, or "tin," cans by magnetic separation at the rate of 2.5 billion a year.

Admittedly, this is only a small fraction of the 60 billion cans produced annually, but indications are that salvage operations will be accelerated in the years ahead.

R. Thomas Willson, senior vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, estimates that municipal and regional systems will be recovering more than five billion steel cans annually by 1975. Already, some cities employing magnetic separation systems are reclaiming 36 per cent of all used steel cans in their localities.

Similar progress is noted in the glass container industry, where some 900 million of the 36 billion bottles and jars in household refuse were retrieved last year. This figure will be doubled when just one new plant, recently commissioned in North Hempstead, N.Y., goes into operation.

Even so, most communities now rely on them for the foreseeable future. Suitable sites are becoming increasingly expensive and remote from centers of population, and are coming under increasing fire from environmentalists.

Of the 12,000 land disposal sites—more commonly known as garbage dumps—the Public Health Service has declared 94 per cent of them "unacceptable and representing disease potential, threat of pollution and land blight."

Now there's professional help available here, too.

National Environmental Controls, Inc. (NEC), one of the nation's oldest and largest companies in this field, recently announced formation of "the first total pollution and ecology advisory and management program" to aid states, municipalities and private contractors with the problems of landfill operations.

Life's Little Quirks

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

A woman can never forget her first love; a man finds it hard to forgive his last one.

The most difficult goal for any person to achieve is to become a real human being. One is fortunate if he succeeds after the effort of a long lifetime.

The only time you can depend on most people to be totally honest with themselves is when they doubt themselves.

The rich are not so hard to understand once you realize that their morals are never quite as bad as their manners.

His willingness to lend you money in an emergency isn't the best test of a friend. A friend is a guy who, when he has a royal flush and you have four of a kind in a poker game, refrains from baiting you into betting your way into bankruptcy. He leaves you dazed and with your wallet bruised and bloody, but alive and with enough spare change to take a cab home. That's friendship.

The best picture of the year is "Deliverance," which is brutal, ecological and memorable. One of the opening scenes, featuring a banjo and guitar duet between a blind mountain boy and a grownup city feller, is a gentle screen classic. It is so touching it makes you want to cry with gladness for its warmth.

I've tossed coins in scores of charitable wishing wells in traveling across America, but can't recall a single wish ever coming true. I can't decide whether I need to start tossing in larger coins or making smaller wishes.

Women love to get something for nothing, even though it is something they usually would have no use for. The other day I saw three elderly, well-dressed ladies at the seashore clacking like happy chickens over three 10-pound bluefish that a passing sport fisherman had presented them. I'd wager that if the husband of any of these ladies had come home with a stiffened 10-pound fish, he would promptly have had it wrapped around his ears.

Which reminds me: Will the lady who has been sending me on the first of the month for the last three months a package containing a single red, red rose and a well-done breaded veal cutlet, please desist. I love the roses, but I can't stand breaded veal cutlets, and that goes for my cat, too.

Strength For Today

DURING TEEN AGE
A speaker addressing teenage boys in a Sunday School began his address by saying, "I notice some of the older boys in this department are almost a foot taller than the boys here in the front row. But most of that growth, of course, is below the ears. What I am interested in is knowing how much you have grown above the ears."

And that, of course, is a matter of real importance. How much are our youngsters growing above the ears? There are some people who have little capacity for book learning but great skill in the realm of the practical. Edison and Ford were both of that variety: Once in a while a person encounters a genius like Leonardo da Vinci.

Benjamin Franklin or Albert Einstein. But these are few and far between, and probably most geniuses never accomplish anything but tear themselves to pieces in frustration.

The matter of greatest consequence in education is not how much book learning a man has but how much wisdom he has. Wisdom with book learning constitutes stupendous achievement. In that case a person has had a real growth above the ears.

In this growth let it never be forgotten that the spiritual element is the most important. Brains without character produce villainy. Energy without moral restraint spreads devastation far and wide.

Good News Is Hard To Accept

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The good news concerning a moderation in the rate of price increases is going to be difficult to accept for many Americans who look for more.

The good news is that consumer price rises have now slowed to a rate that, if continued for a year, would result in an increase of only 2.4 per cent in the goods and services used in everyday living.

In fact, that rate was approached in the 12 months that ended with July, when the rise dropped to 2.9 per cent from a 1969-1970 peak of 5.9 per cent.

The rate of price increases has generally been downhill since February 1969, when the consumer price index reached a 6.4 per cent annual rate of increase, a rate that threatened domestic and international stability.

What is difficult to accept is the notion that there should be solace at all in rising prices.

A study by Morgan Guaranty Trust shows not one consumer category in which prices fell in the 12 months that ended with July. And within the various categories, only six products out of 37 declined.

The price of cereals and baking products actually fell 0.3 per cent, mortgage interest declined 0.2, new automobile prices 2.5, used auto prices 0.7, auto insurance rates 1.1, and railroad fares 3.5 per cent.

Besides government intervention in the form of price regulations, Washington's restraining hand—rather than purely economic factors—are involved in some of those declines.

Interest rates, to illustrate, are regulated by the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. It was government policy during recent months to channel money into the mortgage markets and reduce rates.

The reduction in new auto prices was due almost solely to the elimination of the federal excise tax, which was part of Washington's strategy to stem the tide of imports and stimulate the domestic economy.

It is a fact of modern economic life that the shopper will find few, very few, actual declines in prices. Instead, he must content himself with measuring a price improvement by a slowing in the rate of increase.

By this standard, real improvements were made in the past year.

Morgan Guaranty demonstrates this by comparing the rate of rise for the 12 months ended February 1970, when the price peak was reached, and the rate of increase for the 12 months that ended with July 1972.

By this method of figuring, improvements have taken place in the categories of food, housing, apparel and upkeep, transportation and health and recreation, and in a total of 34 products within those categories.

Putt Putt Tourney Winners Announced

Winners have been announced for the children taking part in the 1972 Jaycee Putt Putt Tournament held Saturday at Greenville's Putt Putt Course. Participants were divided into three age groups — seven and eight year olds; nine and ten year olds; and eleven and twelve year olds.

Trophies were awarded to children capturing first and second place within each age group, with two free passes to the Putt Putt going to third place winners.

Involve Young People

Republicans have a major assignment in getting young people and black involved, Smith said. "We want the system to work. It can't work if some groups are closed out," he insisted. Opening the system is part of his campaign theme.

He styles himself a "militant moderate," a position precarious on all sides. Some voters automatically equate his campus connection with a liberal position; others think party affiliation means he's conservative. "Pick a spot," he invited, "and I can show you a bruise."

Campaigning hasn't turned out all downhill. He expected to be laughed at by the public and ignored by the news media. Instead, he reported, the response has been cordial and receptive. Taking courtesy into account, he's got the feeling he's picking up votes.

The campaign will conform to his teaching schedule and his financial means. "After all, I've got to make a living," the candidate observed.

After the election, Smith will concentrate on law and teaching or he'll be attorney general ("I don't rule out the possibility, if President Nixon's sweep is strong enough").

Either way, he will still be an idealist committed to some form of political involvement.

Maybe it's an ideal that an unknown can have a chance to score points against a man in power with a tremendous popular following. "We've got to have ideals, and try to make them work," said Smith.

"Losing won't be the worst thing that could happen, so long as I can look myself in the mirror and feel all right inside."

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment and see for yourself!

Naturally they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Mrs. Cheek said there is a need for both Brownie and Girl Scout leaders. She emphasized that anyone interested in young people would qualify, that being a parent of a girl is not a requirement. Young women who do not have children or grandparents may be interested, she suggested. Training will be provided by the Girl Scout organization. Any interested person should call Mrs. Cheek at 752-2500.

Plans Action Get Attention

KERNERSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — American Party vice presidential candidate Tom Anderson says he plans action of an undisclosed nature to force the news media to take his campaign seriously.

Anderson, who completed a three-day campaign swing through North Carolina this weekend, told an audience of about 300 people that the action needed "to get equal time," would be brought Tuesday. He did not elaborate further.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices went flat as a pancake on Wall Street today. Some traders expected things to liven up after President Nixon addressed the opening meeting of the International Monetary Fund.

The 11:30 Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 0.68 to 942.35. Declines outnumbered advances 519 to 509 among 1,410 issues exchanged in slow trading.

The New York Stock Exchange Index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .03 to 59.54.

Most-active on the Big Board was AT&T warrants, up 1/4 to 7 1/4. The telephone company had reported increased earnings recently, but its common stock was off 1/4 to 47 1/2. Buyers apparently were scenting a bargain in the purchase price offered on the warrants.

Amerasia Hess was up 1 1/2 to 46 1/2. Pasco Inc., which agreed in principle last week to buy Atlantic Richfield's Western

Most Loot Is Recovered

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Federal authorities have recovered $126,280 of the $178,500 stolen in the Tuesday robbery at Harrah's Casino in Lake Tahoe — the largest casino robbery in Nevada history.

Vern Loefferle, special FBI agent in charge, said Sunday that the money was found "in the Lake Tahoe area." He did not reveal how the recovery was made and said the rest of the money had not been located.

Four men were charged in the case Saturday by federal and Douglas County authorities. The four suspects are being held in Washoe County Jail in lieu of bail on federal charges of interstate transportation of stolen property and local charges of armed robbery and conspiracy.

On Tuesday, a man wearing a false beard and a cowboy hat and carrying a gun surprised five unarmed casino employees and took a bag with the money. The man then dashed out of the casino, across the street — to the California state line — to an accomplice who was waiting with a motorcycle.

Says Rival Too Naive

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew today said Sen. George McGovern is naive and has a gross misconception of how to negotiate successfully with the Soviet Union.

Noting a McGovern statement that the Soviet Union would regard him as a friend and "would do everything they could to keep my friendship," the vice president said that view "is so naive that it is nothing short of frightening."

"I can assure you that being friendly is not enough to bring about satisfactory agreements with adversary nations," he went on, adding "success in negotiation comes only when our country is strong and when it is led by a strong and decisive president."

John W. Firth, vice president of the Roanoke, Va. division of Kroger Family Stores, announced plans to close the Greenville Kroger operation.

Firth said that the decision to close the Greenville store, which is one of five Family Center operations in the Roanoke division, was a corporate decision made by top management after an analysis of the local market situation.

He said that in phasing out the Greenville center, it was contemplated that one of the new Kroger Super Stores, a new concept of large supermarkets with expanded product lines, would replace the local store but after an analysis of the market situation here the management could not justify a Super Store in Greenville.

In announcing plans to close the operations here, Firth pointed out that Kroger's has "enjoyed doing business in Greenville" and assured local officials that the decision to close "in no way reflects on the cooperation we have received or on the business environment of Greenville."

The vice president said that Kroger will periodically analyze the situation here and perhaps "at some future time we can again become a part of your community."

Kroger's announced that three of the other Family Centers in the division would be converted into the Super Store concept but no decision has been reached on the fifth store. Kroger operates 66 stores in the division and the Greenville store, it was pointed out is on the fringe of the division boundary.

Firth said that it will be several weeks before the Greenville store closes as preparations are being made for close-out sales.

Richmond Coach No Longer Singing Blues

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

Richmond's defending Southern Conference football champion Spiders have yet to play a league game—the first is this weekend against Virginia Military's winless Keydets—but other coaches had best beware, for Coach Frank Jones no longer is singing the blues.

Turning in a defensive performance Jones called "very aggressive," the Spiders cracked the victory column for the first time in three starts Saturday, whipping Northeast Louisiana 17-0.

While this was going on, East Carolina's unbeaten Pirates—led by Carl Summerell, Tim Dameron and Carlester Crumpler—were demolishing Appalachian State's Mountaineers 35-7 and taking over the conference lead with a 2-0 record.

Richmond was one of only two winners against outside opposition. The other was Furman, the Paladins also picking up their first victory in three games by whipping arch-rival Wofford 24-7.

VMI's losing streak reached 13 in a 28-16 loss at Maryland. William and Mary's Indians again fell down in the fourth period and bowed to Villanova 20-17. The Citadel's Bulldogs lost to Western Carolina 10-0 and Davidson's Wildcats were mauled by Lenoir Rhyne 41-16.

Sophomore quarterback Harry Knight, standing in for injured starter Dave Yount, threw a 27-yard scoring pass to Mike Mahoney and a 33-yard aerial to Billy Meyers that set up Meyers' two-yard scoring run in Richmond's triumph.

The Spider defense intercepted two passes and allowed just one sustained drive, but the best news to Jones was the return of All-Southern fullback Barty Smith, even though he played with a pulled leg muscle and gained just 28 yards in 13 carries.

Smith's blocking was devastating as usual, leading Jones to observe that "the quarterback knows if he (Smith) is blocking, nobody is going to get him. And it gives Meyers confidence because he knows that with Barty out front, he'll have a big hole to run through."

East Carolina Coach Sonny Randle had some kind words about Summerell, calling him

"a great quarterback. He grows with each game." And Randle added he didn't think the Pirates' offensive line was "getting the credit it should." Summerell hit nine of 12 passes for 141 yards and touchdown throws of 42 and 14 yards to Dameron, who caught four for 96 yards. Summerell also ran for 30 yards and a score, and Crumpler also scored once while picking up 121 yards on 35 carries.

"We weren't razor sharp at the beginning until we made one defensive adjustment," said Randle. That came after Appalachian went 88 yards in two plays the first time it had the ball—58 yards by Tim Cokely, 30 yards by Clinton Bradshaw on the same pitchout play.

Appalachian Coach Jim

Brakefield said, "We were beaten by a better ball club. Everything we did was wrong and everything they did was right. We were thoroughly beaten in every department."

Furman's victory was the Paladins' first over Wofford in their last seven games. Al Standiford kicked field goals of 34, 42 and 43 yards—the latter a school record—while John Wolf from passed 17 yards to David Shepherd for one score and ran two yards for another.

All-Southern flanker David Knight caught six passes for 89 yards as William and Mary took a 17-7 halftime lead, but Villanova burned the Indians with scoring passes by Mike Sunday of 70 yards to Gary Belmont and 65 yards to Steve Bilko, the last with 5:09 left.

The Indians, who have dropped eight of their last 10 games over a two-year period in the final period, lost four fumbles in Villanova territory. Coach Jim Root said, "Nobody thinks we are worth a damn, but we'll put it together. We'll surprise some people."

VMI took a 3-0 lead at Maryland, then fell behind 21-3 before soph quarterback Tom Schultze threw scoring passes of 68 yards to Ronnie Norman and seven yards to Ronnie Moore to cut the gap to 21-16.

The Keydets were on the move again when they lost a fumble, and Maryland got a "gift" touchdown at the end when VMI gave up the ball on its own 29. Said VMI Coach Bob Thalman:

Tom Dunn, former Penn State gym captain, is the new gym coach at the University of Massachusetts.

Namath's Aerials Demolish Baltimore

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I know it sounds dumb," Joe Namath grinned, "but I've had better days throwing the ball."
If he has, the Baltimore Colts are probably quite happy they weren't around then, 'cause they were around Sunday when Namath demolished them to lead the New York Jets to a 44-34 National Football League victory.

"It wasn't my best day," Namath deadpanned after rolling up an incredible 496 aerial yards and six touchdowns. "Sometimes I threw it short, sometimes I was long and sometimes where I wanted to be."

His first three touchdowns covered 65 yards to Eddie Bell, 67 to John Riggins and 28 to Don Maynard, followed by three to Rich Caster involving plays of 10, 79 and 80 yards respectively.

The six touchdowns fell one short of the NFL record and the yardage—achieved on just 15 completions in 28 attempts—was third best in the league's history for one game.

In Sunday's other games, Buffalo stunned San Francisco 27-20, New England stung Atlanta 21-20, Cleveland topped Philadelphia 27-17, Dallas defeated the New York Giants 23-

14, Miami mauled Houston 34-13, Minnesota mangled Detroit 34-10, Cincinnati slipped past Pittsburgh 15-10, San Diego dumped Denver 37-14, Oakland beat Green Bay 20-14, Washington swatted St. Louis 24-10 and Chicago tied Los Angeles 13-13.
In tonight's nationally televised game, the Kansas City Chiefs take on the Saints in New Orleans.

Johnny Unitas didn't exactly have a dismal day quarterbacking the Colts, despite being thrown for losses six times. He still managed to complete 26 passes, a Baltimore record, for 332 net yards, including touchdown strikes of 40 yards to Sam Havrilak and 22 to Tom Matte.

Don McCauley also scored two Colt touchdowns, one on a one-yard plunge, the other on a 93-yard kickoff return, and Jim O'Brien had field goals of 13 and 32 yards while Bobby Howfield had one of 14 yards for the Jets.

Running back Jim Braxton's second touchdown of the game with less than two minutes to go gave the Bills the points they needed to defeat the 49ers but it was O.J. Simpson and Don Croft who played the key roles.

Simpson rambled for 138 yards on 29 carries and Croft, a defensive tackle obtained last week from Baltimore, kayoed San Francisco quarterback John Brodie in the second quarter with a jarring tackle that resulted in a sprained left wrist.

Bill Bell of Atlanta was distraught after the Patriots' victory. "I just blew it," he said after missing a 10-yard field goal attempt with 28 seconds to play.

Trailing 20-7 in the fourth quarter, quarterback Jim Plunkett engineered two New England scoring drives, one ending with a touchdown pass to Randy Vataha, the other climaxed by Carl Garrett's 12-yard scoring run.

Mike Phipps, a third-year quarterback making only his second NFL start, threw for one touchdown and ran for another to lead the Browns past the Eagles. Don Cockcroft booted two field goals and Bo Scott plunged over from one yard out for the Browns' other scores. Philadelphia's rookie quarterback, John Reaves, also threw for one touchdown and ran for another.

Tony Fritsch connected on three field goals, Walt Garrison plowed in from one yard out and Lance Alworth caught a two-yard touchdown pass from Craig Morton to lead the Cowboys past the Giants, who got Norm Snead-to-Rich Houston touchdown plays covering 55 and 94 yards.

"They're all No. 1 for me,"

Miami Coach Don Shula said after his three "first-string" running backs—Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Mercury Morris—ran roughshod over the Oilers for 274 yards. Kiick scored twice while Morris, Csonka and quarterback Bob Griese each scored once for the Dolphins.

"Detroit plays our type of physical game, therefore we're able to out-smash them," said halfback Dave Osborn, who scored three touchdowns in the Vikings' romp against the Lions. One of them came on a 13-yard pass from Fran Tarkenton, who also hit John Gilliam with a 40-yard scoring strike.

The Bengals couldn't manage a touchdown against the Steelers—but they didn't need them. Horst Muhlmann's five field goals covering 41, 32, 20, 32 and 34 yards provided the winning margin.

John Hadl tossed two touchdowns, Mike Garrett barreled 41 yards for a third and cornerback Joe Beauchamp raced 47 yards with an interception for a fourth to lead the Chargers past the Broncos.

Charlottean Is Seniors' Champ

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Herb Browne outlasted fellow Charlotte resident Norm Schellenger Sunday to win the 35 and over division of the North Carolina Senior Men's tennis championships.

Browne dropped the first set but rallied to win, 4-6, 6-4, and 6-2, in one of several finals played at the Olde Providence Racquet and Swim Club.

Other singles winners included Buck Archer of Shelby in the 45 and over division; he beat Greensboro's Norm Jarard, 7-5, 7-5.

William Powell of Asheville proved his fitness in taking in 60 and over crowd in a three set match from Vince Connerat of Charlotte, 4-6, 6-4, 7-6.

Bev Cansler of Charlotte won the only women's championship played, in the 35 and over division, blitzing Georgia Beachley of Chapel Hill, 6-0, 6-0.

John Brockington slammed in twice from one yard out for Green Bay but Charlie Smith's one-yard plunge, Jack Tatum's record 104-yard touchdown run with a recovered fumble and George Blanda's two field goals gave the Raiders the edge over the Packers.

Tight end Jerry Smith caught his first two passes of the season—both for touchdowns—to lead the Redskins past the Cardinals.

Mac Percival's 45-yard field goal with about six minutes to go hauled the Bears into their tie with the Rams in the mistake-ridden game.

Old Dominion Won By Petty

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — "I'll take them any way I can get them," a tired but jubilant Richard Petty said Sunday after snatching victory from Bobby Allison in the Old Dominion stock car race.

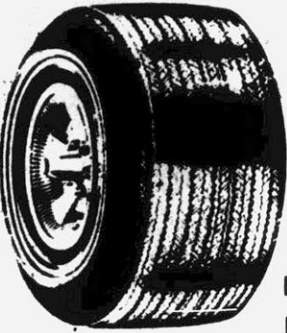

"At my age, they all are tough to win. I couldn't match Allison in speed, so I had to wait until he either broke or made a mistake. He didn't do either, but he still got into trouble and I was there to cash in on it," said Petty, 37.

Allison had led the 17th annual Old Dominion for 414 of the first 436 laps around the Martinsville Speedway, a tight little .525-mile oval, and held a sizeable lead over Petty with 32 miles to go.

But Allison, about evenly matched with Petty in a side-by-side bumping contest for several laps, had to make a pit stop to replace a flat tire and Petty took over to win his ninth race in his last 11 starts at Martinsville.

To make Allison's day more dismal, he was fined $500 for ignoring a black flag while his Chevrolet was limping around on another flat tire.

The Worry Clinic

The Unstable Are Minority

Will Philip fit into our college youth this winter, after having seen how selfish Communist party members disdain the rights of the common people? Discuss his comments and see how your local high schoolers vote. Beware, too, of the psychically unstable!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-501: Philip M., aged 23, is not the type of draft dodger who fled to Canada.

"He withdrew from Wabash College," his father told me, "to enlist in the Marine Corps."

"For he had seen Communism, face to face, when he was a delegate to the World Youth Conference at Stavanger, Norway in 1966."

"Before returning home, he spent a couple of days in East Berlin."

"And he couldn't get over the starkness, absence of humor and lack of communication among the East Berliners."

"So he decided to join the Marine Corps and enter Officers Candidate School."

"When he was medically disqualified for it, and offered a medical discharge, he refused and volunteered for duty in Vietnam."

"And his attitude is certainly very different from some of the Vietnam veterans who now loudly attack our President."

"Phil was reared in a Christian home but has expressed no regrets for his Vietnam military service."

"In fact, he then reenlisted for 2 more years of duty at our embassies, being stationed in Sofia, Bulgaria."

"In his letters, he says 'All those American demonstrators for socialism and equality should come to Bulgaria and just watch the Communist members of the party.'"

"These leaders openly ignore traffic lights and stop signs; they show off their autos while the populace still must use horses; they dine in the most expensive restaurants while the usual citizen can't even afford to enter the doors thereof."

"Dr. Crane, Phil is coming back to the States this winter to re-enter college."

"Do you think he will fit into the usual college group?"

Frothy Zealots

Yes, I believe Phil will feel at home with the great majority of college youth.

Despite the "show-offs" and rabble rousers on many a campus, the usual college students still possess "Horse Sense."

Alas, we have a small percentage of young folks even with a good I.Q. who are psychically unstable.

Dr. Robert H. Gault, former head of our Psychology Department at Northwestern University, estimated their number as being greater than that of the outright feeble-minded.

But these are frothy folks who break down under stress and then may vocalize as zealots for farfetched "isms."

In a crisis they blow up, like one of the suggested candidates for the White House!

Many of these psychically unstable, because of a guilt complex due to their own failure, then attack the solid, courageous members of society who are carrying civilization onward.

So they damn our economic

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

AK74 QKJ103 6CK852

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1 0 Dble. Pass 1 0

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may be completely lacking in values, single raise is as much as you can do at the present. In support of hearts your hand is worth 17 points. If partner has as many as nine you will hear from him again if you give him a single raise.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as

South you hold:

AK7 QKJ102 6CKJ742 4J

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 0 1 2 2 0 2 4

3 4 3 4 ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. You have already made a free bid at a high level, and another free bid will do justice to your holding.

If you jump to five diamonds,

partner may be induced to contract for slam in the expectation that you have the ace of hearts.

Q. 3—Partner opens with two spades and you hold:

AK42 1095 6CK6 4J43

What is your response?

A.—This is a very fine holding opposite a two demand bid and a jump to three no trump describes such a holding.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

AKAQ10764 4A43 6A62

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2 4 Pass 3 4 Pass

3 4 Pass 6 4 Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner's bid has described a hand containing powerful self-sustaining club suit

but probably no other values

(else he would have taken time out to describe them). If you instist upon spades, you may never reach his hand. Your hand will prove to be a useful dummy.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable,

as South, you hold:

AKAQ10764 4A43 6A62

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

3 4 Pass 6 4 Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner's bid has

powerful self-sustaining club suit

but probably no other values

(else he would have taken time out to describe them). If you in-

stist upon spades, you may never reach his hand. Your hand will

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2 4 Pass 3 4 Pass

3 4 Pass 6 4 Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Naturally

a jump bid is obligatory at this point, but a jump in spades is not recommended inasmuch as you have only three trumps.

There is the additional consideration that you should strain

to be declarer to protect your

diamond tenace against immediate attack.

AKJ97 1053 993 4J8

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 NT Pass Pass 2 0

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. Yes, this is a penalty double, and West isn't going to make it by at least a trick or two. He has no more. You have seven points and partner has at least 16. That's 23 to 17, in your favor, and partner likely has three trumps.

What do you do now?

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable,

as South you hold:

AKJ94 1075 82 40963

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

A.—Three no trump. Partner's double followed by a jump to two no trump describes a hand which is practically as good as a two no trump opening. He could hardly have less than 21 points and you have five.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

AKQ84 10K93 6A742 47

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass 3 4 Dble. Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. There can be no doubt that your side has a game and conceivably a slam.

But which suit? You might guess the wrong one. The best bet is to make your partner select the suit. Your bid amounts to saying,

"We have game in hand, partner, in any suit you choose to play."

North should then make the selection after which you can make the appropriate slam try.

Q. 9—Both vulnerable, as

South you hold:

AKQ84 10K93 6A742 47

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 4 Pass 2 4 Pass

2 0 Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Naturally

a jump bid is obligatory at this point, but a jump in spades is

not recommended inasmuch as

you have only three trumps.

There is the additional consideration that you should strain

to be declarer to protect your

diamond tenace against immediate attack.

problems. The heifers of the breeds are slower to mature and begin their reproductive function a little later than some of the smaller breeds.

While some of the exotics are expected to become well established in this country, as the Charolais have done, they aren't expected to replace Angus and Hereford.

Regardless of the breed or the cross, Tarheel cattlemen can afford to pay something extra for a good bull.

How much can the beef producer afford to pay for a good bull?

"There is no exact answer," points out A. V. Allen.

"There are, however, several factors that the producer should consider in trying to reach this decision."

Allen says there are two things that determine the value of cattle when they are sold — weight and quality. Both traits are inherited. Growth rate and quality are about 25 percent transmitted from the sire and dam to the offspring.

The growth rate from birth to weaning should be considered, since many Tarheel producers sell calves as feeders at about 240 days of age.

If the offspring from the new bull gains one-tenth pound per day over the herd average, this would amount to three pounds per month or about 24 pounds at eight months of age.

At 30 cents per pound, this extra 24 pounds would be worth $7.20 at sale time, Allen remarks.

If this bull bred 20 cows the first year, he could be worth $144 more the first year than the bull that was replaced.

"Buy a bull with records and known performance," suggests Allen. Performance tested animals will do much to improve the weight and quality of animals being produced in North Carolina.

Farm Scene

By EDWIN YANCEY

Bigger and better really describes the 1972 Pitt County Agricultural Fair. Gates open for the week long event on Monday, October 2, at 5 p.m. Back will be the rides, shows, cotton candy and a carnival atmosphere. Back too will be the agricultural, homemaking, and educational exhibits. This year there will be a difference though.

The interior of the main exhibit building is being renovated. The same decorator service that supplies booths and equipment for the N. C. State Fair will work the Pitt County event. Booths will be more attractive and better lighted than ever before.

The booth exhibits will feature community services ranging from health care to educational programs. Three groups of competitive exhibits will feature Youth Opportunities, High School Occupational Activities, and Extension Homemakers Clubs. Horticultural and field crops, crafts, clothing a pantry, and a flower show will also be in the main exhibit building.

The livestock barn will house the chickens, beef and dairy cows, and a market hog show. As a special feature the young farmers of the Pitt County Farm Bureau are sponsoring several barnyard animals as an attraction for both young and old. Special morning activities for the aged, handicapped and pre-schoolers are planned for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The Agricultural Extension Service is coordinating these activities.

Like we said, the 1972 Pitt County Fair is really bigger and better than ever, so plan now to be there October 2-7.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S
HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a good day for energy and ingenuity in handling details which are vital to your welfare and to that material feeling of success and wellbeing that is vital to your peace of mind. Take the time to go over those accounts, both due and receivable, and get them behind you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study that work ahead of you carefully and see what part of it requires more time and diligent effort and schedule hours wisely. Taking the health measures necessary is important. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Once your important work is done, get out to the social and make big headway, mixing business with pleasure and coming out the winner. Show appreciation for one who truly loves you. Don't take him or her so far granted.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to be more efficient at your regular work and how to have more rapport with kin in the future. Delve right into the essentials of life and forget the ephemeral for now. Think logically.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Doing something thoughtful for good friends shows how much you really appreciate them. Repay social obligations charmingly. You can make new friends of real worth who can open doors of opportunity for you in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Others need the benefit of your practical thinking and ideas, so be sure to help them when asked to do so. Some group affair you attend can bring you fine opportunities for the days ahead. Dress in good taste.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can get out to new sites and meet people who can give you the information you need at this time. Extend your sights. Study data, ideas well before you put them aside as being worthless. Show that you are clever.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can keep all of those promises you have made and find out what good friends expect of you, too, and please them. Mate or attachment can be most affectionate now. Make the evening a happy one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can quickly reach a far better understanding with associates today, provided you contact them early and discuss what is uppermost on your mind. You can turn an opponent into a good friend now. Use diplomacy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study well all those tasks ahead of you and then get at them in a most diligent and progressive fashion. A little time for shopping for the clothing you need is wise. Don't forget the basic garments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) The planets are favorable for having a delightful time at social affairs or amusements of all kinds today. Set up appointments early for such State that plan to attachment and get the cooperation you want for it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Have a frank talk with those at home and come to a better understanding with them, increase harmony in that important realm of your existence. Discuss money matters, too, that are vital now. Handle the business matters connected with them well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find the right sources of data that will give you the information you want and need for some important project you have in mind. Then talk it over with others. Combine forces so you have early success.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those interesting young people who early understands business and other activities of a practical nature so that a secure life will be uppermost in this mind, and since there is a flair for cooperation here, upon reaching maturity your offspring will already be well fixed. Give as fine an ethical and spiritual training as you can, and a business administration course which will be most helpful. A sense of humor here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
