Rampants Seek 1st Loop Win In Kinston

Rose High School is fielding one of the best teams in recent years, but in two Division II Conference games, they have yet to post a victory. Now perhaps, their time has come.

The Rampants travel to Kinston Friday night to meet the Vikings of Kinston High School, and Coach Dave Bumgarner is hoping that this time things will go right for Rose. The Rampants go into the game with an 0-2 record in the league, but with a 4-0 record against outside opposition. Kinston come in with an 0-6 overall mark, having failed to win a game as yet.

Not that Kinston hasn't been impressive at times — they have according to Bumgarner. And they like the pass, something Rose hasn't been at its best at in defending.

The Rampants come into the game following a 28-15 victory over Wilmington's New Hanover High School, one that nearly didn't come off.

Fumbles were the most common thing in the game, as Rose fumbled 10 times and lost eight, while New Hanover turned over six of eight bobbles. "The weather didn't really have that much to do with it," Bumgarner said afterwards. "It was just the way the tackling was being done. Most of the time, the ball carriers were being hit in such a way as to cause fumbles. There was an awful lot of arm-scrabbling."

Each team posted one touchdown in the first half, but Bumgarner felt that Rose tried "to give it away," during that period. "We gave the ball to them everywhere and everywhere we could," he said. "We moved the ball well, but we stopped ourselves with a fumble or an interception. It's obvious that we could move the ball on them since we didn't punt at all." Rose was officially charged with one punt, but that followed a safety when the Rampants were given a free kick.

But in the second half, Rose appeared to be more in control of the situation. "I don't know what I said at halftime, but apparently it did the trick," Bumgarner said. "We forced them to do what they didn't want to do — throw, and after that we have them. We knew they didn't have a passing game. We also began getting to their quarterback, and this cut that off too."

One of the prime reasons Wilmington couldn't get a passing game going was the play of Jackie Savage. He continually roved into the Wilmington backfield, tackling the quarterback for losses on a number of occasions. He was credited with 16 unassisted tackles, and for this drew Player of the Week honors from the Rose coaching staff.

In addition, George Price came up with 19 tackles, while Harding Sugg had seven. Charles Tyson returned a fumble for a touchdown, and John Calhoun picked off three more.

"The Bullet (Reggie Perkins) continued to do his fine job carrying the ball," Bumgarner said, noting the fleet back's 171 yards in 13 carries. "Al Hunter would have had a real good night if his 80 yard touchdown run hadn't been called back."

Bumgarner confirmed that two members of the team who have suffered earlier injuries are now definitely out for the rest of the season, Jose Baro and Calvin Moore. "Matthew Clark has been limping with a knee injury, but should be okay, and Kenneth Creech, who missed last week, should be back and ready to go."

In this week's opponent, the Rampants will be meeting the biggest and strongest team thus far. "But they're not real quick or fast," he added.

Kinston likes to put the ball into the air, and will do so 60-70 per cent of the time. "Our secondary should get a real workout," Bumgarner said. "Their quarterback, Jimmy Sutton, leads the conference in passing, and he has some big receivers. He also has a pretty good interception average. 'He's only had two per game picked off.'"

This doesn't mean that Kinston can't run with the ball. They come out of the I formation, and run straight ahead, according to Bumgarner. "They don't do anything fancy, just try and ram it down you."

Passing still is the name of the game for the Vikings, however.

and they send out three receivers, all split, on every play. Occasionally, they'll shift another back into a slot and go with four, making it even harder to cover everyone. "They always keep one man back to block."

Despite the face that the Vikings haven't posted a victory as yet, the Rampants are wary of them. "They've looked awfully good at times," Bumgarner said. "And they'll be fired up for us, I'm sure."

Perkins leads the Rampants in rushing and total offense with 620 yards, all on the ground. Hunter is right behind him with 591 yards. Hunter, however, is the scoring leader with 56 points, while Perkins has 24.

Rose will start Ronnie Rasberry and Fred Lemmons at the offensive ends, with Charles Tyson and Maurice Sheppard at tackles. Dave Matheis and John Calhoun at guards, Phil Ragazzo at center. Dean Phillips at quarterback; Reggie Perkins at fullback, and Al Hunter and Keith Joyner at halfbacks.

Defensively, it will be Henry Bun and Lee Cherry at ends, with Ronnie Moore and Kenneth Creech at tackles. Jackie Savage, George Price, Harding Sugg and Mike Harris will be the linebackers with Dickie Johnson, Nat Perkins and Lemmond in the secondary.

Game time in Kinston is 8 p.m.

Sports Car Rally Planned

Two Flags over V.I.R. has been selected as the name of the final race of the 1972 season at Virginia International Raceway just off N.C. 57 in Milton, North Carolina. The race, a sanctioned event of the Sports Car Club of America, will be held October 14 and 15. This two day event features four endurance races for a $4,000 purse and sprint races for all S.C.C.A. classes.

Entrants are expected from all over the eastern U.S. from New York to Florida. They will compete in American Sub-compacts, like the Ford Pinto, all varieties of foreign-made sedans, imported sports cars and in open wheeled formula cars powered by Volkswagen and Ford Cortina engines. Bill Davis of Greenville will compete in the sprint races on Saturday in his own TR-4 and will co-drive with Fletcher Williams of Farmville, Virginia, in Williams' TR-4 in the 200 mile endurance race on Sunday afternoon.

The event begins Saturday morning and will conclude after the completion of the V.I.R. 200 Challenge. V.I.R. offers outstanding spectator viewing at all points of the 3 1/4 mile road course. Camping will be permitted for the entire weekend. Admission includes both General Admission and Paddock Passes. Advance tickets for the entire weekend are $5.00. Tickets will also be available at the gate both days of the event. Tickets and information are available in Greenville from Bill Davis P.O. Box 1444.

Rose In 2nd Place

ROCKY MOUNT—South Edgcombe High School edged past Rose High School and Rocky Mount in a three-way cross country meet here yesterday.

South Edgcombe collected only 38 points in the meet, nipping Rose, which finished one back with 39. Rocky Mount finished with 43.

Joe DeLoach of South Edgcombe took top individual honors finishing the 2.5 mile course in 13:52. Second place went to Gary Walton of Rose in 14:00.

Aycock In First Win

E. B. Aycock Junior High School captured its first victory of the season yesterday, shutting out Southern Nash, 13-0.

The Phantoms got all they needed in the first period of the game, pushing over a touchdown. That came when Mike Brewington carried the ball over from seven yards out. Curtis Keyes kicked the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

That held up until the final period of the game, when Aycock scored its final touchdown. Doug Paschal did the honors this time, going over from 15 yards away. The extra attempt failed to leave it at 13-0.

Aycock is now 1-1-1 on the season, and the plays host to Wilson Junior High School's Red team next Thursday.

Tigers Get One More Chance After Rallying

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Bill Freehan was worried he'd suddenly sent the Detroit Tigers packing to their already delayed winter vacations.

And Mickey Lolich figured today he'd have a chance to finish cutting his grass.

Instead, due to a heart-stopping 10th inning 4-3 Detroit comeback victory over Oakland Wednesday, they and their Tiger teammates find themselves one win away from their second American League pennant in five years.

Today's Oakland-Detroit winner will head for Cincinnati for Saturday's opening game of the World Series. The Cincinnati Reds beat Pittsburgh 4-3 Wednesday on a ninth-inning wild pitch to capture the National League pennant three games to two over the Pirates.

NL Castoff Woodie Fryman was Tiger Manager Billy Martin's choice to pitch today's deciding game against John "Blue Moon" Odom, who shut out Detroit and Ryman 5-0 Sunday in Oakland.

Fryman, 32, posted a 10-3 record after being purchased Aug. 2 from Philadelphia.

Wednesday, Oakland came unglued in the 10th and redeemed catcher Freehan from two embarrassing plays.

Freehan missed a suicide squeeze bunt in the eighth inning which caught Dick McAuliffe off third base with one out. And in the two-run Athletics' 10th, Freehan let a throw from the outfield get away during a play at the plate as the tie-breaking run scored.

Lolich gave up just five hits before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the ninth.

One of the five was Mike Epstein's solo homer in the seventh which tied the game 1-1. McAuliffe had homered for Detroit off Hunter in the third.

"I don't deny it. I thought they had us," admitted Lolich, who had been in the clubhouse during the A's rally in the 10th off reliever Chuck Seelbach.

Gonzalo Marquez, whose pinch single off Seelbach Saturday tied the game for the A's, started their 10th-inning rally with a pinch single.

Winkles New Angel Manager

By RICHARD SALTUS
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Winkles, the first college baseball coach to be named a major league manager, admits his new job leading the California Angels scares him.

"But then," said the former Arizona State University coach. "I never saw a good competitor who wasn't scared of the opposition."

A good competitor at the controls is what the Angels need, said General Manager Harry Dalton in signing Winkles to a one-year contract Wednesday.

The new Angels' pilot, whose Arizona State team won three national collegiate championships, replaces Del Rice.

In announcing that Rice was through after his first season as manager, Dalton said, "This ball club need a different type of manager."

Part of the reason the Angels finished 18 games out of first in the American League West, he said, was that the team "did not make some of the fundamental plays."

Winkles, a soft-spoken man who is known for his enthusiasm and aggressiveness on the field, told a news conference, "The biggest thing I want to do is get the coaches and myself to make sure this club plays better defensively."

Rice, the 49-year-old veteran of 17 seasons as a big-league catcher, was described as "very upset" at the news of his firing.

Dalton said Rice had not decided what his next move would be, but could have a place in the Angels organization if he wanted one.

Under Rice, the injury-plagued Angels had a 75-80 win-loss record for the season.

Frantic Finish Gives Reds Flag

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds used everything but hex signs in winning the National League pennant

Wednesday—movies, a bad-hop double, a nod from Johnny Bench's mother, and a wild pitch that allowed the winning run to score. The Reds won 4-3 over Eastern Division champion Pittsburgh by scoring two runs in the last of the ninth, one on a towering home run by Bench and the other on a wild pitch by Pirates' pitcher Bob Moose. Pinrunner George Foster sped home with the run that turned Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium into bedlam.

The Reds' victory actually started during an hour and 28-minute rain delay before the game got underway. The broad shouldered Bench, National League home run champion, was disgusted with his inability to hit a homer in the first four of the best-of-five game playoff. He decided to do something about it.

Bench stood amid a swarm of reporters in the champagne drenched Reds' dressing room, explaining that during the rain he looked at films of his two regular season hot streaks. He had helped the Reds move into first place in May with seven home runs in five days. Then, in September, he socked seven in seven games as Cincinnati won the West by 10½ games.

"I noticed that I wasn't crouching as much and had the bat out further during the hot streaks," Bench said.

When Bench came to bat leading off the Reds' ninth he said he was thinking about hitting a home run. He also got some psychic help from his mother, Mrs. Katy Bench, sitting behind the Reds' dugout. "I looked over my shoulder and saw mamma nodding her head," Bench said as he dodged an effort by a teammate to douse him with the bubbly stuff. "I know what she was nodding—please hit one for me. I always listen to mother. I don't ever want to do anything wrong for her."

Bench ripped a one-ball, two-strike pitch that curved foul into the stands in left field. Then he laced a palm ball from Pirates reliever Dave Giusti for an opposite-field home run over the right field wall, tying the score 3-3. Bench led the league with 40 homers, but only one had been to right field. Ironically, that also was hit against Pittsburgh.

The Pirates probably realized it wasn't their day when in the third inning with Darrell Chaney on second base, Pete Rose hit a chopper toward first that Willie Stargell appeared set to field for an out. But at the last second the ball took a bad hop, struck the top of Stargell's glove and rolled into right field for a run-scoring double.

The worst hop still was to come.

After Bench hit his home run, Tony Perez and Denis Menke singled. George Foster, who ran for Perez, moved to third on Cesar Geronimo's long drive to right. After Chaney popped out, Hal McRae batted for winning pitcher Clay Carroll.

Bob Moose had relieved Giusti and had a one-ball, one-strike count on McRae.

"I was watching the pitches carefully," Foster said. "He (Moose) was throwing a lot of breaking stuff to the plate."

Moose's third pitch to McRae bounced over Pirate catcher Manny Sanguillen, and Foster raced home with the winning run as the Reds' players went wild, along with the crowd of 41,887.

Name Change Didn't Help

Whether they're called the Cincinnati Royals or the Kansas City-Omaha Kings makes no difference to the champion Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association. They beat them.

The Lakers routed the Kings, 121-108 in the other NBA games scheduled. The rival American Basketball Association opens its season tonight.

The Lakers, led by Jim McMillian's 23 points, opened a 30-point halftime lead at 69-39 and completely dominated the Kings. Big Wilt Chamberlain pulled down 11 rebounds in the first half to match the Kings' efforts for the entire game. Nate Archibald of the Kings took high scoring honors for the game with 31 points.

Rebounding from their rout at the hands of the New York Knicks Tuesday night, the Super Sonics handed the 76ers their first home opener defeat in nine years.

The 76ers rallied from a 19-point deficit in the third period to pull within three points at 97-94 before field goals by Dick Snyder and Jim McDaniels put Seattle out of danger.

Spencer Haywood paced the Sonics with 22 points and 13 rebounds. Fred Carter of the 76ers was high scorer for the game with 23.

Clemson Gets 1st Loop Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clemson, which was picked to finish No. 2 in Atlantic Coast Conference football by area news media, but has done poorly against outside foes, plays its first league game Saturday. The Tigers are home to Duke, and both need a victory to stay alive in the conference race.

Clemson opened the season with a 13-0 victory over The Citadel of the Southern Conference, but since then has lost to Rice 29-10, Oklahoma 52-3, and Georgia Tech, 31-9.

The Duke Blue Devils are 1-1 in the league, having defeated Virginia 37-13 and lost to North Carolina State 17-0 in their last two games.

Before that, they lost to three nationally ranked teams, 35-12 to Alabama, 14-6 to Washington and 10-6 to Stanford.

Duke and Clemson have won or shared 12 of the league's 19 championships since its formation in 1953. They have collected 13 of the ACC's 29 bowl trips. However, neither has won an ACC title since 1967, when Clemson won after winning in 1966 and sharing the crown with N.C. State in 1965.

Duke won for three years straight in 1960 through 1962, but has been blanked since.

North Carolina, the defending champion and picked to repeat in preseason polls, plays a Homecoming game against Kentucky, a 2-2 team which has played a couple of close ones lately. The Wildcats beat Mis-issippi State 17-13 last week after losing 35-34 to Indiana the week before. They had opened with a 25-7 victory over Villanova, and then lost 35-0 to Alabama.

North Carolina is 2-0 in the league with close victories over Maryland and N.C. State, and has beaten Richmond by 10 points and lost to Ohio State by 15 points. Tar Heel quarterbacks Nick Vidnovic, Johnny Klise and Chris Kupec threw well in Wednesday's workout. Ted Leverenz and Earle Bethea caught several nice ones.

North Carolina State Coach Lou Holtz said, "I expect Wake Forest to come after us aggressively, so we will throw the ball more than we did against Duke," which the Wolfpack beat 17-0 last week.

Wake Forest has been trounced by Maryland, Tennessee and Southern Methodist after opening with a 26-20 victory over Davidson of the Southern Conference.

Maryland, fresh off a 23-0 victory over Wake Forest, is home to Villanova, which lost 21-20 to Boston College last week. Villanova has lost four and won one. Maryland has won two, lost two, and played a 24-24 tie with N.C. State.

Sec. Rogers' Waldorf Suite Seen Investment In Diplomacy

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers has a $400-a-day suite at the Waldorf but doesn't even sleep in it. But aides consider it an excellent investment in diplomacy.

Rogers spends about 10 days over a period of three weeks in New York each fall while the U.N. General Assembly is in session. Besides delivering the main U.S. policy speech at the assembly, he meets privately with the foreign ministers and other statesmen from at least half the world.

The secretary plans to conclude this year's private meetings today, talking with top representatives of Chad, Libya, Sweden, Mauritania, Ethiopia and Italy, most of them at 45-minute intervals.

When he flies back to Washington tonight, his spokesmen says the 59-year-old Rogers will have conferred with 70 leaders.

Foreign ministers and representatives of major U.S. allies and other world powers were entertained at lunch or dinner.

Chiao Kuan-hua, deputy foreign minister of China, was entertained last week at supper in the apartment the secretary owns in a new skyscraper opposite U.N. headquarters. Rogers bought it while practicing law here, before he became secretary of state, and lives there when he is in the city.

But for his marathon of short private talks with foreign leaders, the State Department rents the eight-room presidential suite on the 35th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria, in mid-Manhattan.

George Bush, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has his own smaller apartment in the same hotel.

Members of Rogers' personal staff work in the smaller rooms of the presidential suite while the secretary is in New York. One sitting room serves as a waiting area for his guests.

The main room, large enough for a basketball game has gold-colored antique furniture and wall-to-wall carpeting, two sofas, paintings of landscapes and a large mahogany working desk with one telephone to the White House and a second to the office of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations. An ebony bust of Abraham Lincoln stands on a small table.

PRIVATE TRASH IN PUBLIC VIEW... is one of Greenville's chronic problems. While it must be admitted that in general, Greenville presents a relatively clean appearance, there are enough exceptions to create unpleasant encounters. The photographs illustrating specific instances of trash easily seen from streets, parking lots or other public places are all in the downtown area. A wider search could turn up dozens of isolated instances in all parts of town, not only in business districts, but in residential areas, around schools and vacant lots. The scenes above are: Top left, the alley between The Book Barn and Club 420; top right, the alley behind Nixon Headquarters, Snooty Fox and Newby's Sub Shop; lower left, the alley behind Georgetown Shopping Center; and lower right, along the sidewalk at 514 South Evans Street. Computers Add To Scoreboard Display

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sophisticated computers which represent the latest advancement in electronics are increasingly providing an additional dimension to the world of spectator sports.

From baseball to the Munich Olympics to the Indianapolis 500, electronic scoreboards are giving the fans in the stands the latest facts and figures on what's happening on the field the instant it takes place.

As recently as two decades ago, fans in many major league baseball parks were kept informed of the field action by antiquated wooden scoreboards manned by a scores of men who scurried behind the scenes manually changing the flaps to indicate balls, strikes, runs scored, and little else.

If a baseball buff wanted to know why a batter was carried off the field in apparently that they could round out their enjoyment of the game by listening to the play-by-play announcer.

Today he can sit comfortably in the stands munching his hot dog and drinking his beer and depend on modern electronics and the virtually total information scoreboard that is found in most baseball stadiums.

One of the first of these boards was installed in 1968 at the then new home of the Oakland Athletics baseball team by Conrac Corp., a Manhattan-based electronics firm.
Conrac's president, Donald H. Putnam, is proudest of the $1.7 million display scoreboards that the firm installed for the summer Olympics.

Putnam said that the Munich spectators were the best and fastest-informed in the history of the games.

He said the three computerized scoreboards provided results and other information 220 times faster than was possible at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City.

Marines In Many Lands

CHICAGO (UPI)—You can go tell it to the Marines, but you'll have to be a linguist to reach them all.

The United States may have the world's most famed Marine Corps but does not have a monopoly on these highly specialized troops. According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, at least 22 other nations have a marine corps.

Since marines are trained for land operations incidental to naval campaigns, it would seem no nation wants to get caught without a landing party. But some of these marine units represent nations not known for military might.

The list includes Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Great Britain, France, Italy, South Korea, Republic of China, Pakistan, Peru, the Netherlands, Spain, Thailand, Turkey, the USSR, Venezuela, South Vietnam, Portugal, Mexico, the Philippines and Indonesia.

In addition, according to Britannica, 13 other nations maintain units or forces which function primarily in the fields of raiding and light amphibious operations: Albania, Bulgaria, Burma, Cambodia, Denmark, Ecuador, Iran, Israel, Yugoslavia, Paraguay, Poland, Rumania and Sweden.

Unconventional Proposals To Solve Power Crisis

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Whisk yourself into the 21st century. Giant windmills whirl offshore. Floating energy plants rely on differences in the ocean's temperature. Overhead, dumbbell-shaped spacecraft capture the power of the sun.

So go the visions of scientists seeking to ease the nation's growing energy crisis as current, environmentally acceptable sources of energy diminish.

None of the proposals to capture the force of the winds, the tides, tropical ocean currents or solar energy may prove practical. But each possible way of obtaining energy, both conventional and unconventional by today's terms, is being assessed by scientists under Nixon administration orders to seek new sources of energy.

Directing the study is the White House Office of Science and Technology to which 11 advisory panels are to report soon.

The proposal to harness the winds envisions huge windmills located 10 or more miles off the New England and New York coasts and fixed atop 150-foot steel towers rising from stationary floating platforms or anchored directly to the seabed of the continental shelf.

The windmills, propelled by steady westerly winds that sweep over the Atlantic, produce electricity that is used to convert ocean water into oxygen and hydrogen. The hydrogen then is shipped ashore where it is combined in fuel cells with readily available oxygen in a manner that produces enough electricity to supply all of New England and New York. Fresh water is a by-product of this proposed process.

Another scheme for producing electricity proposes use of floating heat engines that are fed on one side by warm water from the Gulf Stream's surface and on the other side by near-freezing water piped upward from the seabed more than one-half mile below the surface.

The thermal gradient, or sharp temperature difference between the two sources of water in the Gulf Stream, promotes the whirling of turbines for the production of electricity.

As with the windmill proposal, the ocean-generated electricity is used to produce hydrogen gas for combination in energy-producing fuel cells ashore.

A third proposal for creating electricity envisions a giant, dumbbell-shaped unmanned spacecraft that orbits the planet at an altitude of 22,000 miles and remains above the same spot on the rotating earth.

The satellite, equipped with a 25-square-mile array of solar cells, captures the intense sunlight at that altitude, transforms it into a strong electric current and converts the current to radar-like waves that are beamed to earth. A 36-square-mile ground antenna picks up the radar beams which are converted back into enough electricity to supply large metropolitan areas.

Still another proposal calls for solar farms that tap energy from the sun in such clear-weather states as Arizona and New Mexico.

The farms consist of thousands of acres of arid land covered with an array of hollow tubes coated with a special chemical film and filled with a heat exchange fluid. The tubes absorb the sun's radiation and retain most of it; the heat exchange fluid converts the radiation to heat which is used to produce electricity-generating steam.

There are these other possibilities for obtaining electricity: —Along coastal areas of the Bay of Fundy between Maine and Nova Scotia and along the coast of Alaska, huge dams capture high-tide waters and release them at low tide.

The out-rushing water from these geographic points, which have the highest tides in North America, churn giant waterwheels that activate electricity-generating turbines.

—Still more electricity is generated at geothermal power plants placed at strategic points nationwide.

In these plants, cold water is pumped downward three miles or more into the earth's crust through pipes that reach pre-fractured areas within layers of intensely hot rocks. The water, picking up the heat, is pumped back to the surface where it becomes steam as it emerges. The steam generates the electricity.

However exotic these proposals for producing electricity, they have strong backers among some private and federal researchers and administration scientists say they must be explored on the chance one or another could help relieve energy shortages in some part of the nation.

While White House scientists concede the proposals likely would not be practical before the next century, they say it is always possible research breakthroughs could be achieved before the year 2,000.

The scientists list these two other sources of unconventional energy for possible earlier and relatively wide application: —Expanded use in the South of roof-top waterheaters fueled by solar power and, in those same sunny states, further use of solar stills for making fresh water from salty, brackish water.

—Generating electricity from two forms of geothermal energy other than the so-called hot rock-type that is deeply locked within the earth.

These more accessible, though geographically less widespread, resources of geothermal energy include steam-yielding geysers and subterranean hot-water systems whose waters can be made to flash to steam if brought to the surface.

The geyser fields of Northern California are the major known domestic source of geyser energy. Power plants of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. began generating electricity at the field in 1960. The combined output is still modest, much less than a single 1000 megawatt conventional power plant produces.

But scientists say there's a potential for further extensive tapping of this resource.

The more widespread hot water systems are believed to exist nationwide, most abundantly in the 11 western states and Alaska and within special sub-surface formations along the Gulf of Mexico from the Rio Grande to eastern Mississippi.

While these systems have been tapped for home heating in a few locations, such as towns in Idaho and Oregon, none so far has been tapped as a source of electricity.

The government's National Science Foundation is actively supporting research in this field.

NSF scientists also are assessing the sea-going windmill concept, the proposal of Dr. William E. Heronemus, a professor of civil engineering at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Heronemus envisions placing "barrages of wind stations across the prevailing westerlies in the Gulf of Maine-Georges Bank area of the continental shelf."

From Georges Bank to Nantucket and on down to the New York Shoals, about 80 windmill towers would be deployed, each at least 150 feet high, to catch the wind.

The girder-like, kite-shaped towers each would support three torpedo-shaped turbines equipped with big whirling blades.

Towers would be arranged in widely separated units of four towers each, with individual towers deployed about a quarter of a mile apart in a circle about 3½ miles in diameter.

Heronemus also an advocate of seagoing thermal gradient power stations, says that a precedent exists for huge windmills designed to generate electricity.

During the early 1940s, a windmill equipped with a two-blade propeller 175 feet in diameter was erected on Grandpa's Knob in Vermont's Green Mountains.

The mill operated for almost four years, contributing a significant amount of electricity to Vermont's power system. But in 1945 one of its blades snapped, and the venture was abandoned.

Phone Exchange Being Expanded

Improvement and expansion of the Greenville telephone exchange is now underway, according to Don A. Collier, district commercial manager for Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Collier said that a $149,000 program is in progress to expand the company's central equipment in Greenville.

Included in the expansion, the manager reported, will be installation of equipment to provide facilities to serve new telephones for subscribers in this area and permit better grades of service to present subscribers.

Collier noted that the growth of Greenville in recent years has resulted in an increased demand for telephone service and this demand has taxed the capacity of present equipment.

Warned About Massage Belts

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck and Co. says 11,000 belt massagers it sold between December 1969 and Oct. 4 present a potential danger of serious electrical shock to their owners.

The company issued a warning Tuesday, asking all owners of massagers with model No. 449, 29110 to bring the units to the nearest Sears outlet for repair.

The company said the number will be found on a plate mounted on the underside of the unit's motor housing. The model is a multispeed belt massager with a push button, lighted switch.

A company spokesman said in certain units, serious shock may result if someone touches the massager while touching a water pipe, radiator, faucet or other ground connection.

The number of phones in the Greenville area has increased from 9,800 to more than 23,800 in the past ten years, he said.

"The new improvement and expansion program at Greenville was engineered to allow for telephone growth in the future, and is part of Carolina Telephone's $52 million construction program for the year," Collier reported.

Confederate memorial

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (UPI) — The Confederate Memorial—carved likenesses of Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson in Stone Mountain—is about the size of a football field. The actual carving covers an area of 180 by 69 feet. Work began in the early 1920s and still is under way.

WHEN A POWER STATION DOESN'T EARN ITS KEEP, WHO'S GOING TO PAY FOR IT?

You are. All because of a regrettable reality called the unbalanced demand for power. It's like this.

In the summertime, when air conditioners are humming, people are using Vepco for all they're worth. Using us so much that we have to build and man and operate new generating stations — over and above those built to take care of normal wintertime growth — just to keep pace with your summertime demand.

Then comes winter. And your demand for power drops.

And suddenly about 17% of our generating equipment isn't earning its keep. Isn't making electricity.

But we still have to maintain that equipment. And the only place we can get the money to do so is from our customers.

Now we don't like that any more than you do. So we're doing all we can to solve the problem.

And the solution is obvious.

WHAT THIS COUNTRY NEEDS IS A BETTER BALANCE OF POWER.

Sell more power in the wintertime to help balance the summer demand. Put that equipment to work all year-round, so it can pay for itself.

That's why we promote electric home heating.

And that's why, whenever someone selects clean, flameless, electric heat, he makes life more comfortable for everybody. Not just his lucky family.

Because by operating our equipment at a higher level, he's helping us keep our rates down.

And that's something every one of us wants.

The Worry Clinic Experience Is Opinion-Maker

Arnold's professors were twins for the little boy's 5 newborn kittens. He named them "Liberals." Six weeks later he was still trying to sell them but had now called them "Conservatives." When asked why the names had changed, he said, "Oh, now they've got their eyes open!"

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case V-515: Arnold B., aged 41 owns a small manufacturing plant with about 60 employees. "Dr. Crane," he grumbled, "I attended a 3-day business seminar recently.

"It was addressed by several university professors. "But they seemed subconsciously hostile to our private enterprise system. "And at lunch one them objected to the high profits of American industry. "He openly advocated Socialism, where Uncle Sam would operate our big industries.

"Why are such professors so biased against the very system that really furnished them their salaries?"

"For private corporations, as well as small business firms, pay much of the taxes to support

Why Socialism Develops

When I was teaching psychology both at George Washington and Northwestern Universities, I would have been regarded as a "liberal."

For at that time, I was also inclined to "swallow" the popular political propaganda against "Big Business."

And you know why? Well, I then belonged to the 90 percent of all Americans who get pay checks every week or month, but don't operate a farm, factory, store or even a popcorn stand! Later, when I opened my medical office on Michigan Avenue in Chicago, I woke up fast!

For then I learned that those 10 percent of our population who are not getting pay checks from an employer (but are running their own businesses) have a lot of hidden expenses.

Thus, no boss gives the private farmer or store keeper a check each week, to take home and spend as he wishes.

For those who run any kind of a private office, business, farm or factory, can get their "net" profit only AFTER they have paid off all their bills, including wages of their employees.

The 90 percent who receive regular pay checks, thus don't have to worry about "overhead" nor corporation and business taxes, plus inventory taxes; insurance, depreciation obsolescence, unpaid bills, etc.

For example, you millions of school teachers don't pay ANY rent for the classrooms where you work!

Nor do you school principals (and even Supreme Court Justices) furnish the salaries of your secretaries out of your paychecks, do you?

Nor are you debited for insurance on your working quarters, plus the heat, lights, utilities, janitorial services, etc.

Moreover, the meager dividends paid to those vital stockholders who have risked their savings to build the factories, now are lucky to average 5 percent, and that's in inflated dollars!

Nowadays, too, politicians try to win our votes by citing the 18,000 wealthy Americans who paid no income taxes last year.

But Uncle Sam coaxed them to buy his tax-exempt bonds!

He bribed them to do so by promising they would not have to pay any taxes on the meager 3 percent or 4 percent returns on those bonds, though private banks meanwhile pay 5 1/2 to 6 percent.

Remember, without such tax exemption, Uncle Sam couldn't obtain any sale for his bonds, and thus the U.S.A. would go into chaos!

A well conceived auction landed North and South in four hearts, the only game contract that had a chance to succeed in today's hand.

South has 19 high card points and when partner keeps the bidding open by responding with one no trump an attempt should be made to reach game. With an unbalanced hand, South's move took the form of a two heart rebid. This announces great strength since North is forced into the three level merely to take a preference for the opener's original suit.

With his strength concentrated in South's suits, North was more or less obliged at this point to give a diamond preference even tho he held only a doubleton in that suit. When the opener persisted to three no trump, North felt that he could not accept this contract since he had no spade stopper. He bid four hearts to suggest the possibility of playing that contract with only seven trumps. South could not play him for more than three card support since he had failed to raise hearts directly. South decided to shoot it out for ten tricks and four hearts became the final contract.

West opened the four of spades. East played the ace dropping declarer's queen and he continued with the five. South paused for a moment's reflection before playing to the second trick. If he ruffed, it would reduce his trump holding to three. In order to draw the opponent's hearts, it would be necessary to find a three-three division in the suit which was not very likely. Presently South uncovered a plan which would succeed provided that neither red suit broke worse than four-two. He discarded a small club on the second spade which was won by West with the jack. The latter continued with the king of spades on which declarer shed another club. Since dummy was now out of spades and could ruff a fourth round of that suit, West shifted to a club. East put up the king and South was in with the ace.

A diamond was led to the king and then North continued with the jack. When this lived, declarer was in the home stretch. The queen and jack of hearts were played next. If both opponents follow suit, the contract becomes assured. South wins the next heart with the king and draws a fourth round of trumps with the ace. He is left with good diamonds and scores ten tricks—four hearts, five diamonds and one club.

When West showed out on the second heart, it dealt a lethal blow to his opponent's plans. South drew two more rounds of trump and then attempted to run the diamonds. East ruffed in the diamond suit, cashed a spade and then led a club to West's queen to score a three trick set on the deal.

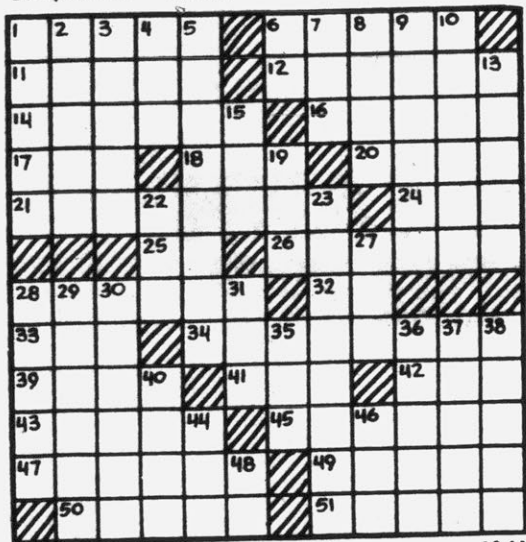

South can salvage his contract by ruffing the second round of spades. He is in position to withstand an unfavorable trump division because he has all the high hearts and can score his trumps separately, provided that diamonds break no worse than four-two.

After he trumps East's spade continuation with the deuce of hearts, declarer leads over to the king of diamonds and continues with the jack, overtaking in his hand with the queen in order to ruff a third diamond with the ten of hearts. A club to the ace puts South in to ruff another diamond with the jack of trumps.

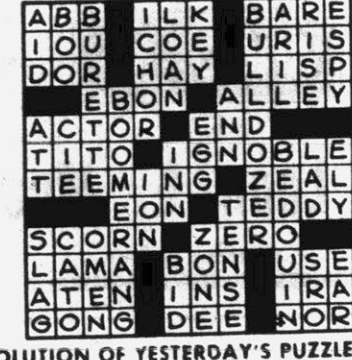

A spade is trumped in the closed hand and declarer's last diamond is ruffed with the queen of hearts. South will subsequently score the ace and king to round out a ten trick total consisting of one club, two diamonds, three diamond ruffs in dummy and four heart tricks in his own hand.

Cantors Ponder Folk Music-Use

TORONTO (AP) — The use of folk rock at Jewish religious services was discussed at the 19th American Conference of Cantors held here.

Revisions in the wedding service, music attractive to youth and other ways of adapting traditional religion to the changing times were topics of debate.

Howard Stahl, a recent graduate of Hebrew Union College in New York, called the use of rock music "a gimmick."

But, said Stahl in an interview, "It's a holding pattern to get them into the synagogues—then you've got a fighting chance."

Concorde Airliner Already In Trouble

By TED STANGER
PARIS (UPI)—The Concorde supersonic jetliner, a Franco-British gamble designed to usher in a new era of high-speed civil aviation, is in trouble. Mounting criticism and lagging sales threaten to make the plane Europe's largest—and most costly—technological white elephant.

So far, the sleek, graceful aircraft, which promises to whisk passengers across the North Atlantic in just three and one-half hours, compared to the present seven, has been sold to only three airlines. Five planes have been ordered by BOAC, four by Air France, and China has placed preliminary orders on three.

That amounts to 12 planes sold, a long way from the minimum of 150 planes the Concorde's manufacturers say they must sell to break even on production costs alone. Estimates published in the French press put the minimum figure at 300.

The fact that two of the three buyers happen to be the British and French national airlines prompted an English satirical review recently to rejoice mockingly, "Hurrah, we've sold the Concorde to ourselves!"

Outstanding Options
The Concorde's manufacturers hope, of course, to sell more planes. There are still approximately 60 outstanding options held by airlines around the world and these could conceivably be converted into firm orders at any time.

But an ominous warning sounded for the Concorde in July when Air Canada cancelled its four options. Air Canada director Yves Pratte cited a marketing report showing the Concorde would lose money. He also mentioned the high cost of the supersonic jet ($58 million) as a prohibitive factor.

The business-minded Swiss were the next to damage Concorde's chances of hitting financial paydirt. Swissair dropped its options in August, saying the Franco-British plane would lead to a 50 per cent increase in ticket prices.

Two major American carriers, Trans World Airlines and Pan American, are sitting tight on their combined 14 options. One U.S. airline spokesman indicated his company was hesitant to plunge headlong into debt by buying expensive Concorde just as profit figures are now finally heading towards black ink after massive investment in the Boeing 747 three years ago.

Rough Weather
The Concorde also has run into rough weather recently from prestigious names in aviation.

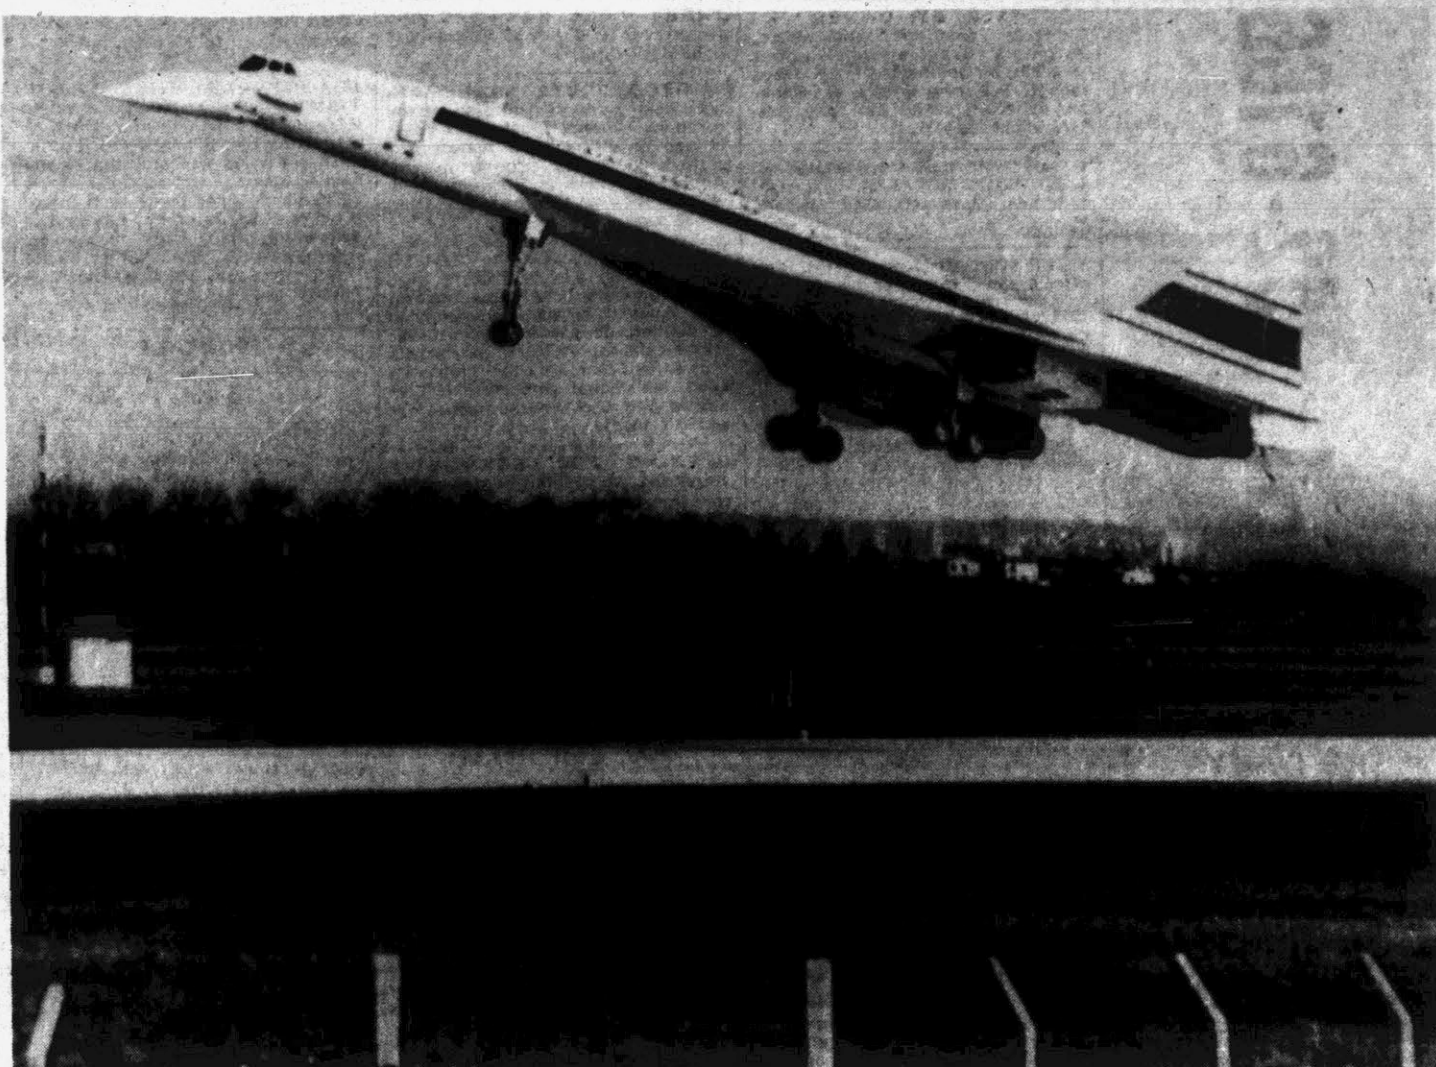

Charles Lindbergh came out strongly against supersonic passenger jets (SST's) when he wrote, "The regular operation of SST's in their present state of development will be disadvantageous both to aviation and to the peoples of the world."

"I believe we should prohibit their scheduled operation on or above U.S. territory as long as their effect on our over-all environment remains unsatisfactory," the first solo trans-Atlantic aviator wrote.

U.S. environment groups contend the Concorde's pollution and engine noise level are unacceptable. Attempts are being made in the United States to ban the Concorde from Kennedy Airport in New York. Such a move would cut off the rich North Atlantic route and virtually assure financial failure for the plane.

More Criticism
Knut Hammarskjold, brother of the late U.N. secretary-general and director of the International Air Transport Association (IATA), joined in the criticism by writing, "I am not yet entirely convinced that Concorde, keeping in mind its performance so far...is exactly the model that world air travel needs."

The Concorde also must face

CONCORDE — The Anglo-French supersonic jetliner takes off on its maiden flight in 1969. Today the joint gamble to usher in a new era of high speed civil aviation is in trouble. (UPI Telephoto) still energetic competition from American aviation firms, although not in the supersonic category. After Congress cut off funding for the American SST in 1971, U.S. aviation firms oriented production towards the subsonic mass transport market, already being tapped by the charter airlines.

Jumbo-Tristar-DC 10
The pioneer Boeing 747 "jumbo" now has been joined by the Lockheed 1011 Tristar and the Douglas DC 10 which together boast sales and options for 400 planes. Both the Tristar and the DC 10 sell for less than half the Concorde price.

In addition, there are indications Concorde engineers have not yet ironed out all the "bugs" in their plane.

A recent sales promotion flight to Far East points by the British Two prototype resulted in an embarrassing run of mechanical problems. One leg of the trip had to be postponed when a critical power control unit malfunctioned.

The Concorde's manufacturers remain publicly hopeful. Their engineers have been working on the pollution problem and a new modification of the plane's Rolls Royce engines is expected to reduce noise levels at take off.

They also expect more orders to come in soon. The Japanese will probably buy an undisclosed number of Concorde, they say. Japanese businessmen, who have set out to conquer European markets, are eager to see the current 18-hour flying time from Tokyo to Paris cut down.

Shah of Iran
Another potential customer, the Shah of Iran, enthusiastically declared he would buy two Concorde after being treated to a supersonic ride at the plane's controls. But he has yet to sign.

Much hinges on the decisions of the major North Atlantic route carriers, headed by TWA and Pan Am.

The manufacturers are banking on the aviation version of the "Keeping-Up-With-The-Joneses" principle to work in the Concorde's favor, because BOAC and Air France will be offering supersonic flights between the United States and Europe, (assuming present objections will be overcome) other airlines may feel forced to follow suit in order to remain competitive.

There is a great deal of determination here to make the Concorde a technological and financial triumph. If the Franco-British bet works, they will have proved the ability of resurgent, post-war Europe to challenge American domination in an important field.

Boys Clubs See 1,000th Unit

The Greenville Boys' Club today sent a giant welcoming card to the Wheeler Boys' Club of Indianapolis, which was dedicated last Sunday as the 1,000th unit of the Boys' Clubs of America.

National, state and city officials, as well as leaders in business, industry and civic groups joined with Boys' Clubs of America officials in the dedication ceremonies at Indianapolis.

"We take great pride in saluting this milestone addition to the Boys' Clubs family," Graham Gutting executive director said. "We're equally proud of reaching our ten-year goal in seven years."

The 1,000-Club goal, a dream of former Boys' Clubs national board chairman Herbert Hoover, was started in 1965 in his memory, Gutting said.

Gutting emphasized, however, that some two million deserving youngsters still need the services of a Boys' Club. "Eventually we hope to reach all these youngsters," he said, "and to continue to offer the guidance, educational activities and supervised recreation necessary to leading young boys to become more useful, productive citizens."

The Boys' Club of Greenville and Pitt County will celebrate this historic occasion by having a party at 4:00 p.m. on Friday. Events such as a Boys' Club 1,000 bicycle race and an essay contest on "What it means to be a Boys' Club member" will be held as part of the observances.

LBJ Claims Feeling Fine

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says he is getting along fine in his recuperation from a serious heart attack suffered last April because he's following some health advice given by an old woman.

Johnson commented on his health in a rare, and unscheduled, public appearance Wednesday at a presentation of the Lady Bird Johnson Awards for highway beautification in Texas.

"I'm not in the speech-making business now," Johnson told an audience of several hundred persons at LBJ State Park near his ranch home, 65 miles west of Austin. "In fact I was told not to make any at all. I guess some of you wish that had happened sooner."

Then he said he was feeling "fine" because he followed the advice he was told an old, old woman once gave.

"This old woman said: 'When I walks, I walks slowly. When I sits, I sits loosely. And when I feel a worry coming on, I just go to sleep.'"

"That's what I'm doing now. Following that old woman's advice."

Johnson has announced his support of the McGovern-Shriver ticket but so far has done no active campaigning.

Three Hurt In Accidents

Three persons were reported injured in two traffic collisions investigated here yesterday afternoon.

Police said two passengers in a car driven by James Edgar Watson, 28, of Rich Square were injured when the Watson car collided with a vehicle driven by Mack Davis Wells, 40, of Route 3, Greenville about 1:55 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth Street and Memorial Drive.

Investigators, who charged Wells with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident estimated at $400 to the Watson car and $200 to the Wells vehicle.

Patrick J. Dayson, 48, of Country Club Rd. was reported injured when his vehicle was involved in a collision with two other cars about 5:05 p.m. at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Airport Road.

Drivers of the other two vehicles involved in the collision were identified as Sammy Morris Barnes, 31, of 405 Church St. and Gentry Vance McLawhorn, 56, of 1401 North Greene St.

Damage was estimated at $125 to the Barnes car, $475 to the Dayson car and $90 to the McLawhorn vehicle.

McLawhorn was charged with following too closely.

Obituaries

Davis

Mr. David E. (Ed) Davis, 56, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 Friday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by Captain Al Smith and Lt. Leon Morris of the Salvation Army Post. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Davis, a resident of Wilson County, had been a resident of Pitt County for the past 25 years. A resident of 1609 B. Chestnut St., he was a carpenter by trade. He was a member of the Salvation Army Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Annie Hales Davis; four stepdaughters, Mrs. Carl Lamons of West Columbia, S.C. Mrs. Mack Boyd of Greenville, Mrs. William Beachum of Grimesland, and Mrs. Paul Strother of Winterville; a stepson, Harvey Hales of Richmond, Va.; two brothers, Walston Davis and George E. Davis, both of Sims; a sister, Mrs. Lillie Davis of Sims; 14 step-grandchildren; and five step-great grandchildren.

Howie

Mr. Lawrence C. Howie, 64, died Wednesday afternoon at his home, 1009 N. Overlook Dr., following an illness of a year.

Funeral services will be conducted at two o'clock Friday afternoon in the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Richard Gammon, his pastor, assisted by the Rev. Willis Wilson, pastor of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Mr. Howie was a native of Lancaster, S.C. He was reared in Union County near Monroe and had been a resident of Greenville since 1938. He was manager of Etna Service Station No. 3 on North Memorial Drive and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Alice Howie; a daughter, Miss Ann Howie of Raleigh; a son Charles L. Howie of Charlotte; a brother, Henry Howie of Monroe; and a sister, Mrs. Bessie Kindley of Monroe.

Anyone desiring to do so may make contributions to the American Cancer Society in memory of Mr. Howie.

Knox

Mrs. Mamie Knox died Tuesday night in District of Columbia General Hospital after a brief illness.

She was the wife of the Rev. J. H. Knox and the stepmother of Mrs. Icelene Knox of Ayden.

Smith

Mr. W. Pleasant Smith, 52, died at his home, 117 Rawl Road, Wednesday night at 6:30. He had been in failing health for the past two years.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by Lt. Leon M. Morris of the Salvation Army Post. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Smith, a native of Pitt County, attended the Pitt and Green County Schools. He lived in Delaware for several years and was a member of the Pilgreen Holiness Church in Seaford, Del. Since 1962 he had been a resident of Greenville. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Nettie Mae Smith; three sons, Wayne D. Smith of Greenville, W. Michael and Ray Smith, both of the home; three grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Addie Lee Grizzard of Ayden.

Stancill

Mrs. Malissa House Stancill, 78, died Wednesday at 2:15 at Wayne Memorial Hospital in Goldsboro following several months of illness. Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 11:00 a.m. at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by her pastor, the Rev. Charles Triehart. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Stancill was born and reared in the Robersonville community and was married to Lee House of Bethel. His death occurred in 1918, and in 1922 she was married to Wiley N. Stancill, who died in 1958. She was a member of Timothy Christian Church and had been a resident of the Gardenersville community since 1931.

Mrs. Stancill is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Joseph Nelson of Grifton, Mrs. Edward Moore of Washington, Mrs. Joe Reel of Farmville, Mrs. Arnold Strickland and Mrs. Pete Whitford, both of Fremont; two sons, Wiley Stancill of Ayden, and W. Thomas House of Farmville; four stepsons, Linwood Stancill of Tarboro, Joe and Wilbert Stancill, both of Ayden, and Walter Stancill of Greenville; 21 grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and 12 step-grandchildren.

Participated In 'Capping'

CHAPEL HILL — Carolyn Triplett of Grifton participated in capping ceremonies for the 1974 class of the University of North Carolina here recently.

Miss Triplett is the daughter of Mr. John Triplett of Grifton and the late Mrs. Triplett.

Participating in the program were: Ann Evans, president of the 1973 class; Dr. Lucy Conant, dean of the School of Nursing; and Dr. Virginia Gower, director of the undergraduate program.

Correction

It was incorrectly stated in Wednesday's paper that the Elmhurst Elementary PTA meeting would take place Wednesday night.

The meeting takes place tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium, with an open house of home rooms to be held following the business meeting.

U.N. Considers Space Proposals

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — Two Soviet proposals on outer space were spotlighted today as the U.N. General Assembly turned from general debate to committee work.

One was a two-month-old draft for an agreement that a country could veto satellite transmission of foreign television broadcasts into the homes of its citizens.

Leaf Quality Off On Mart

FARMVILLE — The quality of offerings declined on the Farmville market yesterday, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor.

"More variegated grades were marketed Wednesday than on any previous sales day this year," Williams explained. "Nondescript grades also increased in volume."

Grade for grade prices were steady. The top price paid was $1.04 per pound for several piles of B2F grades.

Damaged tobacco and tobacco carried over from last year showed an increase in volume as compared with previous sales days.

The market yesterday sold 516,589 pounds of tobacco for $470,502.53, for an average of $91.08 per hundred pounds. To date, the Farmville market has sold 16,051,280 pounds of tobacco for $1,347,993, giving a season average per hundred pounds of $89.39.

The other was a year-old proposal for a treaty concerning the moon. It would pledge governments, among other things, to "adopt all practical measures to safeguard the life and health of persons on the moon."

The U.N. Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space has been unable to finish the moon treaty for the assembly's consideration despite intensive work in its legal subcommittee.

The satellite TV proposal and theouterspace committee's report on the moon treaty and international co-operation in space efforts were the subjects of a debate starting today in the assembly's main political committee.

The assembly, now in its 27th session, came to the end Wednesday night of a 2½-week general debate that involved speakers from 125 countries. Two prime ministers and 100 foreign ministers were among those participating.

The assembly president, Deputy Foreign Minister Stanislaw Treczynski of Poland, said in closing the debate that it reflected a spirit of "detente and dialogue" in the world.

But its last hours were marked by a sharp exchange between Cuban Ambassador Ricardo Alarcon Quesada and Mrs. Julia Rivera de Vicenti, Puerto Rican secretary of labor serving on the U.S. delegation to the assembly.

She denied statements in Alarcon's policy speech in the debate that Puerto Rico had not yet achieved self-determination. She also accused him of "continued interference in the internal affairs of the United States and Puerto Rico."

"Such slander is intolerable and degrading to the Puerto Rican people and to their free institutions," Mrs. Vicenti declared.

Puerto Ricans repeatedly "have spoken in the free exercise of their options," she said, while Cubans "have not seen ballot boxes in their country in more than a decade."

Alarcon retorted that her presence on the U.S. delegation proved that Puerto Rico was a colony and was in line with a U.S. habit of appointing "movie stars, astronauts and clowns" to the assembly delegation. Alarcon in his speech claimed "a transcendent victory" in having induced the U.N. Special Committee on Colonialism on Aug. 25 to recognize the Puerto Ricans' "right to self-determination and independence" and to order a study concerning Puerto Rico.
