Pitt United Fund Total Moving Up

"The results thus far indicate that we are just a little better than one-third of the way to our goal of $157,526," Karl Faser, Pitt United Fund chairman reported this morning.

The campaign chairman said that so far collections total approximately $57,725 and officials hope that the figure will show a marked increase with the addition of further industrial contributions.

"I am confident that our volunteers will have seen most of the people in the community by the end of next week and provided them with the opportunity to give the United Way, and our results will be reflected in the amount reported," Faser commented. He urged division leaders to continue to push toward an October completion date.

"I have attempted to put before the people of Pitt County what it is that goes on in the various agencies that make up The United Way," he pointed out, "and maybe the best way to explain it is: giving is painless-affliction isn't; giving is painless-retardation isn't; giving is painless-blindness isn't; giving is painless-tragedy isn't; giving is painless-mental illness isn't; giving is painless-abandonment isn't; giving is painless-misfortune isn't."

He reflected, "People really need one another. If someone is hurt, out of luck, and needs a helping hand, this need, if made clear to a decent human being, will evoke a responsive effect. It is for this reason that our volunteers need to see everyone who is gainfully employed and give them an opportunity to help others who cannot help themselves."

Faser joined Pitt UF president Jack Whichard and executive director Joe Tripp in painting in the first collection percentages on the United Fund thermometer this morning on the courthouse grounds.

September Report Sees Living Costs Accelerate

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living, led by higher prices for clothing, accelerated in September and pushed the rate of inflation to 3.5 per cent since President Nixon's Phase 2 price controls began, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said that the Consumer Price Index rose four-tenths of one per cent last month, with higher prices for clothing causing almost half of the increase. The price of gasoline and eggs also contributed heavily to the advance.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the rate of increase was five-tenths of one per cent, the highest since February, when the economy was going through a post-freeze bulge in the rate of inflation.

The bureau said the effects of clothing, gasoline and egg price increases were moderated by lower prices for beef, fresh fruits and vegetables and new cars.

The price of food rose six-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis, about the same rate as in July and August. But on an unadjusted basis, the increase in food prices was two-tenths of one per cent.

While the index accelerated, the bureau said that the average weekly earnings of American workers rose seven-tenths of one per cent in September, making real spendable earnings 3.7 per cent higher than a year ago. This was the largest one-year increase in real earnings for any September since records have been kept.

The Consumer Price Index showed that in the 10 months since Nixon's price controls have been in effect, consumer prices have gone up 3.5 per cent compared with 3.8 per cent in the eight months before Nixon froze wages and prices in August 1971.

The administration says it wants to reduce the rate of inflation to the range of 2 to 3 per cent by the end of the year. On a seasonally adjusted basis, the September rise amounted to 6 per cent. On an unadjusted basis it was 4.8 per cent.

The bureau said that the sharp rise in clothing prices came partly because of the end of summer clearance sales on some items and the introduction of fall and winter clothing.

Used car prices went up and gasoline prices continued to go up sharply, while new car prices failed to decline as much as they usually do when the model year comes to an end.

Also going up were prices for most home furnishings, principally textiles and stainless steel flatware.

The bureau said that the index for food bought at grocery stores—which usually goes down in September—increased one-tenth of one per cent. It said that beef prices dropped for the first time since May and much more than usual in September.

The prices of fresh fruits and vegetables actually went down, but the drop was smaller than usual. The price of coffee increased.

The bureau said the September Cost of Living Index moved to 126.2, meaning that what $100 bought in 1967 cost $126.20 last month.

Nonfood commodities increased seven-tenths of one per cent last month, on an unadjusted basis, but with seasonal influences subtracted the increase was four-tenths of one per cent. Services rose two-tenths of one per cent, the same as in August.

Search Enters 4th Day

By JOHN MORRISON
Associated Press Writer
ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Search officials awaited data today from electronic sensing devices as the hunt for a missing light plane carrying House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs and three others entered its fourth day.

Rescue crews refused Thursday night to give up hope that the four would be found alive.

Corinne Boggs said she and members of her family who arrived here two days ago would return tonight to Washington, D.C., to wait for further word of the search for her husband and his companions.

The Air Force reported that a 2,000-mile-an-hour SR71 reconnaissance plane capable of electronically surveying more than 60,000 square miles in an hour had been pressed into the search on Thursday.

Data gathered by the plane's infrared sensors and cameras was being processed at Beale Air Force Base, Calif., and will be turned over to military authorities here late today, a spokesman said.

With the 58-year-old Boggs on the Cessna 310 which disappeared Monday on a 560-mile flight from Anchorage to Juneau were Rep. Nick Begich of Alaska, 40; Russell Brown, 37, a Begich aide; and the pilot, Don E. Jonz, 38, of Fairbanks. Boggs was in Alaska to help Begich in his bid for a second term.

Weather in the search area cleared Thursday after two days of fog, rain and snow. But more rain, snow and fog were predicted for today, with the cloud level expected to drop to 500 feet.

More than 70 airplanes scoured the Cessna's flight path along the rugged coastline between Anchorage and the Alaska capital on Thursday.

In the Portage Pass area some 50 miles southeast of here, a crack, 11-man Army mountain rescue team combed the glaciated valleys and steep mountainsides, but it found nothing.

Meanwhile, at a briefing of family and aides of the missing men in Anchorage, the possibility surfaced that the Boggs' airplane did not carry an emergency locator beacon as required by state law.

Kissinger, Thieu Meet In Prolonged Conferences

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and President Nguyen Van Thieu conferred for nearly four hours today amid reports that a partial cease-fire was being discussed.

It was the third meeting in two days between President Nixon's chief foreign adviser and the leader of the Saigon government.

There was no immediate word on Kissinger's next move, but some sources indicated he would remain in Saigon at least through Saturday and most likely would see Thieu again.

Kissinger was accompanied to the meeting today by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. Deputy Ambassador Charles S. Whitehouse and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. Army chief of staff.

South Vietnamese sources who reported that a cease-fire proposal was figuring in the talks said it probably called for only a partial truce as a "good will" gesture that could lead to further agreements. "It is impossible to have any cease-fire that could be enforced, even by international body," said one South Vietnamese official. "It might mean an end to bombing and mining of the North and perhaps an exchange of prisoners."

Americans Sweep 1972 Nobel Prizes In Fields Of Chemistry, Physics

STOCKHOLM (AP) — American scientists made a clean sweep today of the 1972 Nobel Prizes for Physics and Chemistry, one of them scoring a unique double in Physics.

Three Americans, Dr. Christian B. Anfinsen of the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md., and Drs. Stanford Moore and William H. Stein of Rockefeller University in New York capped an earlier triumph by a trio of U.S. physicists by winning the 1972 chemistry prize.

John Bardeen, Leon Cooper and John Robert Schrieffer won the prize for physics with their theory of superconductivity, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences announced.

It was the second Nobel Prize for 64-year-old Dr. Bardeen of the University of Illinois. He shared the 1956 prize with two other Americans for the development of the transistor.

Anfinsen received half of the $98,100 prize for his work with an enzyme called ribonuclease. The study is important in understanding such human functions as reproductive ability, growth and mobility.

Moore and Stein share the other half of the prize money

Martin County Getting A New Industrial Plant

WILLIAMSTON — Another sizeable manufacturing firm is to build a new plant in Martin County. Announcement of plans by Coats and Clark, the long established manufacturer of sewing threads, zippers, home sewing aids and needlework products, was made Thursday night at a dinner held at the Roanoke Country Club in Williamston.

John House, Chairman of the Martin County Board of Commissioners, welcomed officials of the company attending the dinner.

In his remarks, House called attention to the fact that in the last few years Martin County has moved from a strictly agricultural based economy to one that now is about half and half between industry and agriculture.

The plant, which will be devoted basically to the manufacture of zippers, is to be located east of Jamesville, adjacent to the town's limits. Jamesville, with a population of less than 600, has no major industry. Recently, the town completed installation of a new water system and is getting a new modern school.

Coats and Clark's Jamesville plant will consist of 90,500 square feet and will be constructed on a 35 acre site lying between the Roanoke River and U.S. 64 highway.

Robert G. Laidlaw, president of the company, announced that ground breaking will take place in January with full operation of the plant scheduled within a year. About 250 people will be furnished employment in a payroll expected to be about $1.3

Man He Defeated Now In Galifianakis' Corner

RALEIGH (AP) — Nick Galifianakis brought two veteran senators, including the man he defeated in the North Carolina primary last spring, to the state today on behalf of his campaign.

Senator B. Everett Jordan, who lost to Galifianakis, and Georgia Senator Herman Talmadge, appeared at a breakfast at the Raleigh-Durham Airport for agricultural spokesmen supporting Galifianakis. It was the first time Jordan has campaigned in the state for the congressman.

Jordan said, "I hope that Nick gets on the agriculture committee with Senator Talmadge because North Carolina needs a man on that committee. It is imperative that North Carolina have someone in the U.S. Senate who represents agriculture."

Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said there will be a vacancy on the committee next year — Jordan was defeated — and that North Carolina has had a member since the late Kerr Scott was a senator.

"I hope Nick will be a member and work in the same tradition of Kerr Scott and Jordan," Talmadge said. State Republican Chairman Frank Rouse told a news conference later in the morning that "North Carolina tobacco farmers ought to understand that Sen. Talmadge's real interest is not North Carolina tobacco farmers, but Georgia tobacco farmers."

"We all know that tobacco has to be graded before it can be sold," Rouse said. "The tobacco graders work for Jesse Helms' close friend, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz.

"Now I ask you, who can do more for North Carolina tobacco farmers — Nixon, Butz and Helms, or McGovern, Talmadge and Galifianakis? Rouse said in a statement.

Fire Damaged Paddock Club

An early morning fire today heavily damaged the Paddock Club — a private night spot on Dickinson Avenue at the Tenth Street intersection.

Fire officers, who said an investigation is being made into the cause of the fire, reported the blaze was reported about 3:20 a.m.

The fire apparently started near a cash register at the club's bar.

Firemen quickly extinguished the fire which apparently caused no structural damage to the masonry building housing the club.

World War II Holdout Is Killed In Gun Battle

MANILA (AP) — One Japanese soldier holed up on a Philippine island since World War II was killed and another wounded in a gun battle with government troops, authorities reported today.

The clash took place Thursday morning in a forest on Lubang Island, 75 miles southwest of Manila, and the wounded man escaped with his comrade's rifle, a spokesman said.

He added that the slain Japanese carried 45 rounds of .25-caliber Japanese ammunition dating from World War II, a sewing kit, a piece of paper with Japanese writing and a picture.

The Japanese Embassy said he also had some 1939 Japanese coins. Japanese soldiers have been sighted wandering about the forests of Lubang Island since 1960, but this was the first time they were involved in a gun battle with Philippine troops, the spokesman said.

Japanese Ambassador Toshio Urabe asked that a rescue team be sent from Japan to try to persuade the wounded soldier and any others in the area to give up. Philippine troops were ordered to stop searching for the men on Urabe's request.

Last January, a Japanese sergeant, Shoichi Yokoi, was discovered in a cave in Guam a hiding there for 27 years. He said he hid "rather than surrender to the enemy."

Japan's Kyodo News Service

identified the dead man as Kinishichi Kozuka and the wounded man as Shiro Onoda. Official Japanese records say Kozuka died Aug. 1, 1945, and Onoda Sept. 2, 1945, but the Japanese Welfare Ministry said it had long known they might have survived the war and gone into hiding. However, it said it gave them up for dead after Japanese search groups found no signs of them in 1959 and 1963.

Kozuka's parents in Tokyo, 81-year-old Naokichi and his 77-year-old wife, said they were shocked to hear the reports of their son being found but then killed. They said they made a tomb for him years ago.

"It's really unbelievable," Mrs. Kozuka told a reporter and shut the door.

Old Voting Patterns Are Shattered In 1972 Presidential Race

By GEORGE GALLUP
Copyright, 1972, Field Enterprises, Inc. All rights reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.
PRINCETON, N.J., Oct. 18 — The 1972 presidential race will likely go down in history as one which shattered many traditional voting patterns, resulting from a record defection among Democratic voters.

In the latest nationwide Gallup trial heat, approximately one third of Democrats (32 per cent) currently prefer Nixon to McGovern. This defection rate exceeds that recorded in the previous five presidential elections.

In the 1968 election, 12 per cent of Democrats gave their vote to Nixon while 14 per cent voted for Wallace. The average rate of Democratic defection for the last five presidential elections is 22 per cent.

The record since the 1952 election shows the Republican vote as far more cohesive than the Democratic vote. With the exception of 1964, when Barry Goldwater ran against Lyndon Johnson and the defection rate among Republicans was 20 per cent, the figure has never exceeded 14 per cent.

A comparison of the latest Gallup survey results, based on interviewing conducted September 29-October 9, with the vote by groups in the last five elections shows many shifts in voting preference by groups.

The results for the elections are based on surveys conducted immediately before and after the election each year. Since such information as age, sex and occupation of voters is not recorded on election ballots, it is only through survey methods that such information can become part of the political record of presidential years.

This year for the first time in two decades, a majority of Catholics are supporting a Republican candidate for President.

Persons of this faith have not failed to give the Democratic ticket a majority of their vote during the last two decades. The latest survey shows Catholics leaning to Nixon over McGovern by a vote of 52 to 42 per cent.

What's In A Name? To Viola Everything

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I was in the same boat with "Nameless," whose husband of 20 years refused to call her by her name.

This nut I was married to for 13 years would never call me "Viola," which was my name. [It was always, "Tell your mother, etc."]

I once asked him why he never called me "Viola," and he said there was a little town by that name he hated.

I quit asking him to call me "Viola."
I'm glad we aren't married anymore. VIOLA

DEAR ABBY: This is in behalf of the man who has not called his wife by her first name in 20 years.

I, too, am such a man. I love my wife dearly, and altho she has a beautiful first name, I have avoided calling her by her name during the almost 50 years of our happy marriage.

Why? Because there is an old Danish superstition that love for one's dear wife should be kept well hidden so the devil doesn't hear about it and do her harm out of sheer wickedness. Consequently a husband will refer to his beloved wife as "The Old Lady" or "The Old Woman" or something slightly degrading, should the devil be listening and identify her.

I realize it's only a silly superstition, but I've never been able to shake it. SUPERSTITIOUS DANE

DEAR DANE: Keeping quiet about one's good fortune, lest the devil "hear" you and reverse your luck is not only a Danish superstition—it's Jewish, too.

DEAR ABBY: I married a girl named "Anita" which happened to be my mother's name. I couldn't bring myself to call my bride "Anita." Worse yet, that's not all I couldn't do, so 100 hours on the couch and $3,500 later I overcame the Mother thing—but what a drag!
BETTER SHRUNK THAN SUNK

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I never call each other by our given names and for a good reason. I am his sixth wife and he is my fourth husband. He slipped just once and called me "Sally." [My name is Bertha.] I was married to two different Bobs and I came close to calling him "Bob" on more than one occasion. We made a deal. He calls me "Baby" and I call him "Popo." A 55-YEAR-OLD "BABY"

DEAR ABBY: About the man who couldn't [or wouldn't] call his wife by her name. I know exactly how he feels because I had the same problem.

I'm a widow now, but I was married for many years to a man I just adored, but I couldn't call him "Charlie" to save my life.

One time, some relatives got a hold of me and insisted that I call my husband "Charlie"—and I could hardly say it. It just didn't sound right. I could call him "Darling," "Sweetheart" or "Daddy" [we had six kids], but I couldn't call him "Charlie" to his dying day, and how I loved that man, and he loved me. CHARLIE'S LOVING WIDOW

Congress Left Health Effort To The Future

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In a multibillion-dollar crusade to protect America's health, the old Congress marched off to fight mankind's greatest killers—leaving it to the new Congress to settle disputes over long-range planning problems.

The most feared and most common causes of death and illness—cancer; heart, lung and blood diseases; syphilis and gonorrhea—lured the 92nd Congress into an unprecedented comprehensive campaign against the elusive enemies of health.

But unsolved disputes remain for the 93rd Congress—various national health-care plans and ideas for governmental reorganization to meet modern demands for medical help, for example, are awaiting new looks by new legislators.

The 92nd Congress authorized $1.6 billion to battle cancer; $1.4 billion to fight heart, lung and blood diseases; and $322.5 million to combat venereal diseases, tuberculosis, measles and other communicable ailments.

But President Nixon's national health-protection plan and his proposal to reorganize the Health, Education and Welfare Department into an expanded agency—as part of streamlining the executive branch—died in the just-ended legislative session. Likewise, Congress failed to accept the idea of a separate health department.

A chief advocate of a separate Cabinet-level health department, Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., head of the House public health subcommittee, says such an agency will be a top-priority matter on his list for action next year, along with plans for reviewing the Hill-Burton hospital-construction-grant program.

Rogers, author of the new laws to battle cancer and heart, lung, blood and communicable diseases, says HEW must be broken up.

"I think one of the problems of HEW was that they had so many problems with welfare and education that it was difficult for them to get to the health problems," Rogers said in an interview. "Then, there was a difficulty in trying to decide which way they wanted to go."

Another issue awaiting action in the new Congress—after being unresolved in the old one—involves the concept of health-maintenance organizations which provide a subscriber with prepaid basic medical care instead of the traditional fee-for-service method.

Congress did agree to take new steps in the fight against drug abuse and in the development of more medical manpower throughout the nation. But legislation for safe drinking water and for improving the Food and Drug Administration was left for action next year.

Two Injured In Accidents

Two persons were reported injured in two traffic collisions here yesterday afternoon.

Officers reported Jonathan White Foley Jr., 52, of 101 North Woodlawn Ave. was injured when the car he was driving was involved in a 4:35 p.m. collision at the intersection of Second and Cotanche Streets.

Police identified the driver of the second car involved as Janet ElFredia Crooke, 20, of Monroe and estimated damage at $450 to the Foley car and $300 to the Crooke auto.

Miss Crooke was charged with failing to stop for stop sign.

Julius Edward Streeter, 30, of 1318 West Fifth St. was reported injured when the vehicle he was driving collided with a car driven by James Howard Lincoln, 19, of 1110 Wright Rd. about 5:25 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth Street and Albemarle Avenue.

Investigators charged Lincoln with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident and estimated damage to the Lincoln vehicle at $150. Damage to the Streeter auto was placed at $50.

The first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945.

Four Named To Committee

Four Pitt County men have been named to the Farmers for Helms committee, a group formed to advance the U.S. Senate candidacy of Jesse Helms.

Named to the committee were J. Clarence Galloway and Leon R. Hardee, both of Greenville, and Kenneth Dews and Fenner Allen, both of Winterville.

In addition, Wilson Exum of Snow Hill was also named to the group from this area.

Everett Davenport of Creswell and Richard Herman of Taylorsville will serve as committee co-chairmen, according to an announcement by Helms headquarters in Raleigh.

Clean Water Has A Priority

We are sympathetic with President Nixon in his cost cutting programs, since it is obvious that something has to be done to get federal spending under control.

At the same time, however, it was difficult for us to view favorably his veto of the Clean Water Bill or to fault Congress for overriding the veto.

The president called the cost "staggering" in vetoing the bill. The cost is to be $24.6 billion over a three year period.

The new law is aimed at totally wiping out water pollution by 1995. Included, but yet to be appropriated, are funds for municipal sewage and waste-treatment systems and stronger controls over industrial wastes discharges.

Our nation for many years has paid little attention to the deterioration of our rivers, streams, lakes and off shore water. As the problem has built, so has the potential cost of cleaning it all up. Now, as we all know the time is here when it is essential that we clean up our water. To fail to do so will mean disaster for us.

The cost of Clean Water is staggering and awesome to us, too. If we do not do it now, though, when are we going to do the job?

The cost of winning World War II, developing atomic energy and going to the moon were staggering. Perhaps these were all worthwhile projects at their time. Now, however, a new, major problem faces us and that is to clean up our water ways. We must get on with it and we simply must find the money to do it with.

Rural Churches Face Dilemma

By BRYAN HAISLIP
DURHAM, N.C. — An identity crisis confronts the country church, a social institution grounded in North Carolina's rural past.

Caught in the turmoil of transition to an urban society, churches throughout the state are being challenged to demonstrate contemporary relevance to their communities.

"There is real soul-

The indication, Dr. Wilson reported, is that in North Carolina the clergy supply has moved from shortage to abundance. As that injects a degree of competition in the system, he suggested, it may prove a healthy sign.

Church At Crossroads
The Tar Heel pattern of settlement, as elsewhere in the country, put a church at virtually every crossroads.

Through changing times, the rural church has remained a dominant part of the culture. For example, a recent center study showed that 45.1 per cent or 221,979 North Carolina Methodists are members of rural churches. The study identified rural churches as those in sparsely settle communities or in towns of less than 1,500 population.

Population shifts have brought two significant changes. One, some churches in agricultural areas have seen congregations dwindle as people moved to the city.

Second, many churches in small towns near urban centers have had an influx of commuting residents. In many instances, that means a drastic change in the character of the congregation.

A Neighborhood Institution

"People go to church where they live," Dr. Wilson observed. "They may drive 25 miles or more to work in the city five days a week, but on Sunday they won't go out of their own community." That has developed a de facto parish system, with churches serving a geographic area, he noted.

He visited a rural church recently where the lay leader was the president of a manufacturing firm in a nearby town. "Hardly a hick congregation," he commented.

As new membership comes in, a church can go through something like culture shock. Dr. Wilson said. Oldtimers feel threatened and resist change; newcomers ask for an up-to-date outlook, in everything from hymns to community involvement.

"The bulk of rural churches are small. Poverty of program is the real problem they face," said Dr. Wilson. "They find themselves serving a more sophisticated membership without the staff or expertise available to the larger city church."

One solution is sharing resources among churches in the same vicinity. Clergy retooling, through training and seminars, is another approach.

The center's heavy workload shows churches are eager for help, he added. "They are not satisfied with the status quo. They are willing to take a serious look at themselves and their communities, and plan for the future. It is an interesting time for the church."

Geo. Wallace's Health Is Key

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. George C. Wallace's slow and painful recovery has not only curtailed efforts to establish himself as a card-carrying Democrat but, more important, clouds his serious dreams of becoming the 1976 Presidential nominee.

Wallace's unequivocal announcement last week which backed the entire state Democratic ticket and refused to endorse President Nixon, surprising many Alabama politicians, underlines what we have reported for over a year: his national future lies neither with the Republicans nor with his own American Independent Party but as a Democrat.

However, the slow pace of Wallace's recovery from the attempted assassination May 15 has ended plans for a highly selective national campaign in behalf of Wallaceite Democrats. Moreover, Wallace's ingrained preoccupation with national politics is now eclipsed by concern for his own health. His advisers admit privately another year will pass before he knows whether he has any political future at all.

The ground rules for Wallace's 1972 course were set at the Miami Beach convention last July. He would endorse neither Mr. Nixon nor Sen. George McGovern but would actively support selected Democratic candidates, in and out of Alabama. Last week's statement did not deviate from that plan.

What has changed is the scope of his activity. Tentative travels of just a month ago were scrapped on the advice of Wallace's doctors. For example, a campaign trip for state delegate John Hargreaves, Democratic candidate for Congress on Maryland's Eastern Shore, turned into a mere letter of endorsement.

Indeed, some candidates are not even getting that. Democratic state Rep. Sam Nunn, running a close race in Georgia for the U.S. Senate, made the pilgrimage here for Wallace's support and later announced he will write in Wallace's name for President. Nunn's managers felt sure of Wallace's endorsement. At his writing, however, they are still waiting. No decision has been made to publicly endorse Nunn or several other candidates seeking Wallace's backing.

This hesitancy is partly traced to Wallace advisers reluctant to commit his prestige to possibly losing candidates. Some even argued unsuccessfully against Wallace's vigorous endorsement last week of Sen. John Sparkman in Alabama, which almost certainly assures his victory.

Charles Snider, Wallace's aggressive young campaign manager, was ready to sign up with Democrats for Nixon but turned it down at Wallace's request. Snider is believed to have opposed the Sparkman endorsement and, generally, feels Wallace has more to lose than win by embracing hard-pressed Democratic candidates.

But more decisive than Snider in reducing Wallace's political activity is his health. Apart from curtailing travel, it delays decisions on such questions as the Georgia Senate race.

When we visited Wallace at the governor's mansion, he seemed fatigued and uncharacteristically reluctant to talk politics. Nursing a virus-induced fever, he had nevertheless spent a busy afternoon appearing with various groups, signing proclamations, chatting with visiting Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for nearly an hour, answering questions briefly from reporters and conferring about state politics with Snider. He told us he felt out of touch with politics and was concentrating now on trying to get well.

Wallace's bouts with depression worry close associates, who disclose both his unhappiness at being isolated and a tendency toward reclusiveness. The lust for action that is so integral to his personality is now absent.

But he has not lost interest in Presidential politics. He perceives a battle for 1976 inside the Democratic party between him and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, telling friends that McGovern's failure to gain support after campaigning with Kennedy in Northern big cities is actually a repudiation of Kennedy.

Wallace thereby reveals he sees his future as a Democrat. His inner circle rightly believes the American Independent Party is the captive of the John Birch

Is McGovern In It Too?

WASHINGTON — The most damaging part of the revelations concerning the Dirty Tricks Department of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President is the paranoia it has caused in the American voter. He doesn't know whom or what to believe any more.

A chance meeting with Havelock M. Honeycomb confirmed to me the nervous state the electorate is in.

Havelock said, "I don't know whom to have faith in. You think one thing and then it turns out another thing."

"Please be more explicit," I begged.

"Okay, you were down at the Republican convention in Miami. They had about 700 or 800 'Veterans Against the War.' They threw eggs at the Republicans and let air out of the tires of the delegates' buses and shouted obscenities at Ronald Reagan. I was as horrified at their behavior as anybody. It made my American blood boil."

"Mine, too," I admitted. "But now I read there was a secret slush fund and agents of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President were sent down to the Republican convention to cause trouble there. Suppose all the demonstrators throwing eggs at the delegates were really Republicans themselves?"

"I never thought of that," I said. "They would have more to gain throwing eggs than the Democrats."

Havelock continued, "Every time Agnew goes out to make a speech there are hecklers in the audience trying to shout him down."

"Yes," I said, "and I think that's a terrible way to treat the Vice President of the United States."

"Yeah," said Havelock, "if they were really hecklers. But suppose they're on the payroll of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President? Suppose they're heckling just to get sympathy for Agnew?"

"I can't believe it," I said. "Agnew would never allow paid Republican hecklers to attend his speeches."

"Suppose Agnew doesn't know they've been hired to heckle? Suppose he thinks they're legitimate?"

"I never thought of that. It makes Agnew's reaction to the hecklers so much more sincere. But it is hard to believe any political party would go to such extremes."

"Look," said Havelock, "Maurice Stans has a safe stuffed with money and he has to spend it on something. One of the things I read in the newspapers was that the Committee for the Re-Election of the President had ordered its agents to infiltrate the McGovern staff. Suppose all the gaffes made by the McGovern people were engineered by the Republican agents?"

"Now wait a minute, Havelock. You can't tell me the Republicans were responsible for most of McGovern's goofs."

It would explain why he's doing so badly in the polls," Havelock said.

"You're absolutely paranoid," I said. "I can see the Republicans bugging Democratic headquarters. I can see them financing demonstrations against Nixon and Agnew and I can see them forging letters and screwing up the Democrats' schedules. But it's hard to believe that they would have put their people in high places in the McGovern campaign to make blunders in the candidate's name."

"How do we know McGovern doesn't work for them?" Havelock asked.

"Good God, man! Have you gone out of your mind?" I screamed.

"Well," Havelock said, "he is short of money."

Strength For Today Few Challenge Hatch Act Curbs

LONGING FOR GOD INSTINCTIVE

There is something in us which constantly draws us toward God. We may wander far, but in the day of trouble, the hour of decision, the moment of poignant distress we reach out for something higher than ourselves.

Arctic birds in captivity are said at certain time of the year to gather at the north side of their cage and there remain most of the time. Something of instinct within them draws them to the north as certain seasons approach. Man is made in the image of God, and in times of great stress, if at no other time, there is something in him which draws him back to his divine origin.

One reason why so many people are unhappy is because they have not attended any church or taken part in the exercises of religion which were part of their birthright. A merciful God simply will not allow people under such circumstances to be at peace with themselves. If He did, that would mean that He had indeed forsaken them. Deep in the heart of every true man there comes the divine instinct at times which turns him longingly toward God as the arctic birds turn instinctively toward the north at certain seasons.

Religion will never disappear from the face of the earth because it satisfies a perennial longing in the human heart and was intended by a merciful God to do so.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam's 2.7 million employees tread a fine line during the campaign season.

For the most part, says the man who's in charge of catching them when they slip, they stay well within the rules, perhaps sporting a campaign button or occasionally speaking out for a candidate.

But a few take the plunge into the partisan activity forbidden by law—soliciting funds for a candidate, stuffing envelopes for him, engaging in the whole range of campaign activity.

Some are flouting the law openly in hopes of proving it an unconstitutional infringement upon the employes' right.

"The real aggravating cases are those who say they're violating the act and want to challenge it," said George Koutras, an assistant general counsel of the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

In an interview, Koutras described the workers' response this year to the restrictions of the Hatch Act, a 1939 law designed to inoculate federal employees against the fever of partisan politics.

"Many federal employees just don't know that they're not supposed to campaign for candidates, while others know it and do it anyway," Koutras said.

He cited a legal challenge filed by two federal employees in California who reportedly worked openly for Sen. George McGovern's primary campaign.

The Supreme Court upheld the act in 1947 but is expected to take another look following a 2-1 decision by a U.S. District Court last July that it is unconstitutional.

In addition to federal workers, the act also applies to thousands of state and local government agencies who work for agencies receiving federal funds.

Few federal workers violate the Hatch Act, Koutras said. From Jan. 1 to Sept. 15 of this year, he added, 126 allegations of Hatch Act violations were received by the Civil Service Commission.

The Hatch Act allows workers to wear campaign buttons and speak for or against a candidate or partisan issue, unless their respective agencies forbid it. Employees are allowed also to get involved in nonpartisan contests and even seek office in nonpartisan races. But they can't legally stuff envelopes, solicit money or votes or otherwise participate in a partisan campaign.

The Civil Service Commission can impose penalties ranging from a 30-day suspension without pay to dismissal from office.

Presidential appointees are exempt from the act, as are most state and local elected officials. But several states have their own laws barring employees from partisan political activity.

back Nixon by a light margin in the latest survey. This is in sharp contrast to the 1968 election when young voters voted for Humphrey over Nixon by a fairly wide margin. Younger voters have voted Democratic in all presidential elections over the last two decades with the exception of 1956.

Manual workers have voted heavily Democratic in elections since 1952, with the exception of 1956 when they divided their vote between Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson in the Eisenhower landslide. In the latest survey, manual workers vote heavily for Nixon, 55 to 40 per cent.

Very little difference is found between the views of men and women in the latest survey, with both sexes leaning heavily toward Nixon. In presidential elections prior to 1964, women voted more Republican than did men, but in 1964 and 1968 they voted more Democratic than men.

Current voter preferences differ little by region of the nation, although McGovern is slightly stronger in the Far West than in the other three major regions. The East at this point in the race is no more Democratic than other regions of the nation, in contrast to recent presidential elections.

The voting group that has deviated least from its traditional voting behavior are blacks. In the latest survey eight in ten blacks back the Democratic candidate. With the exception of 1966, no fewer than eight in ten blacks have voted for the Democratic candidate in presidential elections.

The accompanying table shows the standings of each party's candidate in the last five elections, compared with the latest survey findings, based on early October interviewing.

Today's results are based upon personal interviews conducted in approximately 350 scientifically selected localities with 2,650 registered voters out of a

Jenkins Urges Demos Vote 'Straight Ticket'

WILLIAMSTON — Speaking to a Democratic Party rally here last night, East Carolina University Chancellor Dr. Leo W. Jenkins said he will vote "the straight Democratic ticket" in November and urged all Democrats to do likewise.

"I'm going to vote the straight democratic ticket, and I am not going to apologize for any part of it," Dr. Jenkins told the Martin County Democrats.

In voicing support for the Democratic ticket, the ECU chancellor said he had been asked "how I stand in the coming election," and indicated, "I will not join some of my friends who evade the question. . . I think it is time to stand up and be counted. . ."

Dr. Jenkins said one reason for his support for the Democratic Party is "my belief that one who remains in a political party owes it loyalty."

Another, he said, "reflects my conclusion...that the Democratic Party supports programs which hold the best hope for solving our problems at all levels."

Saying the political parties in America have contributed greatly to the quality of life in the U.S. and "that the orderly competition that our two major parties have waged...has been the backbone of our progress and our liberty," Jenkins emphasized loyalty to the party is essential.

"If we all follow the practice of picking up our marbles and going home when the game does not suit us, then we awaken our party, we hasten its disintegration, and we leave no organization for future elections," he emphasized. Once an organization is dissolved, he

Sees No Avoiding Of Commitments

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Robert Morgan, North Carolina's attorney general, says he is beginning to wonder whether anybody can conduct a campaign for major statewide office without making commitments to vested interests.

With three weeks to go before the Nov. 7 general election, Morgan said in Durham Thursday he has been able to raise only $25,000 toward a "minimum budget" of $50,667 to conduct his campaign for re-election to a second four-year term.

Morgan, a Democrat, is opposed by Republican Nick Smith.

Addressing a group of Duke University law students, Morgan said he could "get on the phone and raise a quarter-million dollars" from people associated with major utilities operating in North Carolina.

"But if I accepted their contributions," said Morgan, "I couldn't go before the state Utilities Commission and oppose their requests for rate increases."

Confirms Acuff King Of Country

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Roy Acuff's title "The King of Country Music" became official Thursday at a luncheon where he was paid a surprise tribute.

Irving Waugh, president WSM Inc. which presents the Grand Ole Opry, unveiled a bronze plaque which will be placed in the new Grand Ole Opry, now under construction.

The inscription reads: "Roy joined the Grand Ole Opry in 1938. He was its first international star. Roy personifies qualities which lie at the heart of the Opry."

"A warm, direct human being who treasures the honesty and simplicity of America's folk music, truly he has earned the title 'The King of Country Music.'"

Pentecostal Holiness Church To Hold Ground-Breaking Sunday

ARCHITECT'S RENDERING . . . shows the proposed First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville.

Plans for ground breaking on Sunday for the new First Pentecostal Holiness Church building, on a five-acre site at the intersection of Brinkley Road and Plaza Drive, were announced today.

Weather permitting, ground breaking services will be held at 2:30 p.m. J. Melvin Moore is chairman of the building and planning committee. Construction is expected to begin immediately and the new facility is expected to be completed within 12 months.

Moore said that the new church, colonial in architecture and of red brick construction, will be a complete facility including a sanctuary to accommodate 250 persons and an educational complex designed for from 255 to 286 persons.

Ground breaking ceremonies will take place Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Included in the educational section will be classrooms, kitchen, church administrative offices, and a pastor's study.

The total cost of the building program including land purchase and construction, is in the neighborhood of $300,000.

General contractor for the project will be J.H. Hudson, Inc., of Greenville, N.C. The building was designed by Smart, Woodall, Isley, Herring, Inc. of Greenville.

Organized on Oct. 4, 1921, the congregation has worshipped in its present sanctuary at 13th and Cotanche Streets for almost 50 years. There have been structural changes and the addition of the J.N. Williams Memorial Education Building in the years since the original sanctuary was constructed.

The church organization followed the ministry of the late Rev. H.H. Butler in the Greenville area. He served the Greenville church as a pastor at one time in his ministry.

In a comment about the new building, the Rev. M.D. McPherson, present pastor, noted that with folding doors in the Education Building this unit will be a multi-purpose facility. He said the building construction outline includes a fiber glass baptistry, a 51-foot spire, heating and air conditioning by a zoned forced air system, and carpeting of the building generally throughout.

Faculty Pianist To Give Recital

Dr. Charles Bath, chairman of the keyboard faculty of the East Carolina University School of Music, will perform in recital Sunday evening, Oct. 22.

Dr. Bath's recital is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the A.J. Fletcher Music Center Recital Hall.

His program will include selections by Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin and Ginastera. Dr. Bath received his advanced degrees in music from the Eastman School of Music and the University of Michigan. His former teachers include Robert Hord, Ruth Slenczynaska, and Benning Dexter.

More Money For Schools

GARNER, N. C. (AP) — Dr. A. C. Dawson said Friday federal revenue sharing assures that the state will have funds during the next biennium to do much more for the schools without tax increases.

Dawson, executive secretary of the North Carolina Association of Educators, said revenue sharing will pump an estimated $166 million into the state treasury during the next biennium.

He said the federal money means "the state can now afford to raise teacher salaries, can afford extended term for educators, and certainly can afford to expand the kindergarten program and reduce class size."

Dawson said it now appears the state will have a credit balance of as much as $250 million at the start of the next biennium and that even without revenue sharing the state may have as much as $600 million in additional funds to spend during the next biennium.

Anniversary For Zion Travelers

The Zion Travelers of Stokes will celebrate their 18th anniversary Sunday at 1 p.m. at Stokes Elementary School.

Special guests for the singing program include: Edwards Singers of Snow Hill; Gospel Travelers of Norfolk, Va.; Heavenly Echoes of Portsmouth, Va.; and the Barnes Family of Winston-Salem.

Various other groups will also participate. Tickets are $1.25 in advance and $1.50 at the door.

Revival To Be Launched

GRIFTON — The Rev. Damon Wyatt, chalk artist, evangelist, and pastor of the Sweethaven Baptist Church, Portsmouth, Va., will begin revival services at the First Baptist Church here Monday.

The services will conclude with the morning worship service on Oct. 29.

Each night during the week there will be a special service for the boys and girls beginning at seven o'clock. The regular service will begin at 7:30. A nursery will be open for infants and the children, age three and under.

Mrs. Vivian Wyatt and Mrs. Norma Conner will assist with the special music. Mrs. Wyatt will provide the musical background for the chalk drawings each night. Mrs. Conner is minister of music at the Sweethaven Church. She has just made a record entitled, "Don't Go Away Without Jesus."

E. Camp Price, music director for the First Baptist Church, will direct the choir and the congregational singing. Wm. S. Brown is the host pastor.

Postal Holiday

Greenville postmaster H. Lloyd Mills today reminded local patrons the Greenville Post Office and the ECU station will be closed Monday, Oct. 23, in observance of Veterans Day.

Mills said no deliveries would be made and no window service provided. However, special delivery mail will be delivered within the city and mail will be delivered to post office boxes.

Collection will be made from all street letter boxes bearing a star and outgoing mail will be dispatched at 6:30 p.m.

Guest Recital By Trombonist

Trombonist Richard Cryder of the Mars Hill College music faculty will perform a guest recital at East Carolina University Monday, Oct. 23 at 8:15 p.m. in the Music Center Recital Hall.

His program will include works by Handel, Serocki, Bonneau and George Frederick McKay. He will be accompanied at the piano by his wife.

In addition to solo recitals, Cryder has performed in brass and band ensembles at Kent State University, where he received the bachelor's and master's degrees in music. He has also played with the U.S. Navy Band in New York City.

SPECIAL SERVICE

"The Friendly Church with the Living Message"

If You Lived Here...

... how would that affect the state of the nation, and the course of history?

We should thank God for the responsibilities we DON'T HAVE, and then seek His strength in fulfilling those we have.

It may be the by-product of democracy, but we often become too engrossed in the responsibilities of others—not enough in our own!

If I have a home and a family, it is part of a community, and my community part of a nation, and my nation part of a world. Then, for my abilities, my task may be as great as that of the President of the United States.

It was a president who said he had been driven to his knees many times by the knowledge that his strength was insufficient for the day.

We all have days like that—most of the time!

Holshouser Says He'd Try Get Black On Cabinet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Holshouser, Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina, has been trying hard to win a share of the traditionally Democratic black vote. He promised Thursday to make a conscientious effort to get at least one black in his cabinet. "But you wouldn't want that just to be a token," he said in an interview in Greensboro. Holshouser said he would make sure that department heads make "a conscientious effort to see that we find qualified persons from all races" for state jobs. Any supervisor who did not do that would be replaced, he said.

He was interviewed after meeting with the Joint Political Action Committee of the state NAACP and the Greensboro Citizens Association. A dozen blacks, including lawyers, businessmen and educators, questioned him on racial subjects. It was his second meeting this week with a black group. The first was Tuesday night in Brunswick County. Earlier, in an appearance in High Point, he proposed that as a method to reduce crime the state help ex-convicts find jobs. Both Holshouser and the Democratic candidate for governor, Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, were to attend the State Fair in Raleigh today. Bowles said Thursday night that, if elected, he would appoint a blue-ribbon panel to study how best to spend the state's revenue-sharing funds.

He said the state may receive as much as $50 million a year from revenue sharing. This, coupled with a tax surplus, will provide more than $200 million for new and expanded programs, he said. "My administration is going to be open," he also said. "One day a month I'm going to meet with anyone who wants to see me, on a first-come, first-served basis. This is what I call Citizens Day." The Democratic candidate for the Senate, Rep. Nick Galifianakis, scheduled a breakfast appearance at the Raleigh-Durham Airport today with the man he unseated in the primary this spring, Sen. B. Everett Jordan. Also to be present was Sen. Herman Talmadge, Georgia Democrat, who will fly with Galifianakis to Lumberton, Greenville and Wilson. These are eastern North Carolina cities where the Republican senatorial nominee, Jesse Helms, is known through his 11 years as an editorialist on a Raleigh television station. Galifianakis told a questioner Thursday that he does not favor federal gun control. And to another man who questioned him on his attendance record, he said, "To my knowledge, no bill would have passed or failed of my vote alone." Helms, troubled more than a week by a cold and congestion, cancelled campaign appearances Thursday and returned to Raleigh, where he will remain in his home today. He did send a telegram Thursday to Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz expressing concern about falling prices for flue-cured tobacco. He asked Butz to "see what can be done about this deplorable situation."

Warns Private Storing Of Dynamite Illegal

"Private storing of dynamite is illegal," Pitt County Fire Marshall Bobby Joyner declared today. Joyner, relating that Wednesday "we destroyed two cases of dynamite in two different parts of the county," said that it is obvious many people are not aware of the strict control required by state law. "And there's also the urgency of safety," he added. In one instance, the fire marshal had received a call from a woman in the county. "She discovered a supply of dynamite and caps, all in one box, stored in an outbuilding," Joyner said. "The dynamite had been purchased by her husband a couple of years ago." He went on to explain that the woman's husband had died and that his widow was not aware of the presence of the deadly material until she accidentally discovered it. "This is a good example of what could have been a tragedy, if children playing around the building had discovered or if the woman had tried to move it," Joyner commented. "Dynamite deteriorates quickly and becomes extremely dangerous. When its old, even a change of temperature is capable of setting it off," Joyner explained. "Purchase of dynamite requires the purchaser to return any unused portion to the place where it was purchased," Joyner said. "A permit to use it is good for only a matter of hours, and keeping it on hand privately after that is illegal."

Joyner asks that anyone discovering dynamite stored on their premises get in touch immediately with his office or with the sheriff's office. "Individuals should never attempt to move it under any circumstances," he said. "And even while having it on hand legally for the short period of usage, care should be taken to keep the dynamite and the caps separated."

Lectures On Apollo Role

"Geological Results from the Apollo Program" will be discussed by Dr. William R. Muehlberger, national lecturer for Sigma Xi, on the East Carolina University campus Wednesday, Oct. 25. Dr. Muehlberger's lecture is sponsored by the ECU chapter of the Society of Sigma Xi. It is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Biology Auditorium and is free and open to the public. Currently on leave from the University of Texas, Dr. Muehlberger is principal investigator for NASA's Apollo Field Geology Investigation. He is also a fellow of the Geological Society of America and a former officer of the American Geological Institute's Council on Education in the Geological Sciences.

Sees 2 Tributes In Nobel Prize

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Heinrich Boll says the Nobel Prize for literature he has received is a tribute both to the nation to which the recipient belongs and to the language with which he works. Interviewed on German television after he was announced Thursday as the winner of the 1972 Nobel literature award, Boll was asked whether he would accept the prize. "I do not belong to a nation that is spoiled internally or externally," he replied. "I will accept it." Boll repeated that he would give some of the $98,100 he will receive to the P.E.N. Club fund for imprisoned writers and their families. As for the rest of it, he said, "I can use it."

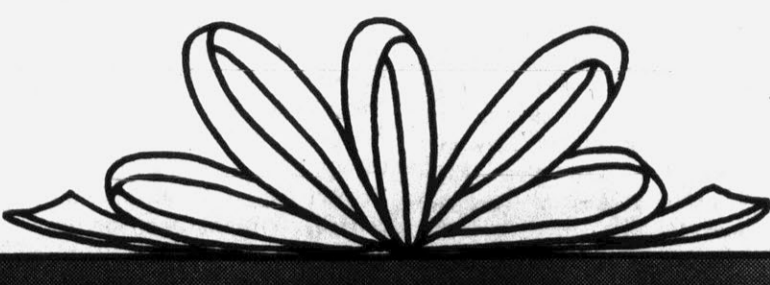

The Australian lerp is a flying insect about the size of an ant.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) - (NCDA) - North Carolina egg markets stronger Thursday. Supplies adequate. Demand fair to good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Medium whites: 40.60. Large whites: 37.67. Small whites: 29.32.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) - The North Carolina hog market was mostly steady today. Hogs of 27.25-28.75 at Rocky Mount, 27.00-28.00 at Wilson, Kinston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton, 26.75-27.75 at Tarboro, 28.00 at Salisbury and Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) - North Carolina hen market was steady on heavy type. Supplies of heavy type were adequate and demand was fair to good. Light type were too few to report. Prices paid per pound for hens over 7 pounds at farm, 16 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market wavered within a narrow range today as cautious investors mainly stayed on the sidelines.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off .08 to 932.04.

Advances held a 497 among the 1,413 issues exchanged in slow trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .06 to 59.22, while the price-change index of the American Stock Exchange was unchanged at 25.66.

Bausch & Lomb, an 8 1/4 point loser Thursday after a report of slightly lower third-quarter earnings, was off 1 1/2 more to 27 1/2. Analysts said that, like other glamour stocks, it was vulnerable to a sudden drop because its high price-to-earnings ratio depended on expectations of continual growth.

Boise Cascade - which recently announced higher earnings, executive changes and a long-term debt reduction plan - was up 3/8 to 11 1/4, capping a 1 1/2-point rise Thursday.

After a delayed opening, Honeywell was down 8 1/2 to 125 1/2.

Leaf Prices Said Steady

FARMVILLE - Prices on practically all grades of tobacco sold on the Farmville market yesterday were steady compared with those of Wednesday's sale, says Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

Top prices were $1 a pound, he said. Offerings consisted of more poor grades of leaf and nondescript than on any previous day this year. Quality leaf and cutter grades accounted for most of the top prices, with the exception of some grades of smoking leaf.

Some 533,376 pounds were sold for $433,967.27, for an average of $78.42 per 100 pounds. To date, some 18,815,024 pounds have been sold for $16,666,740, for a season's average of $88.58.

Cost of the plant is projected to exceed more than $2 million. The manufacture of plastic coils and weaving tape for nylon zippers it to be the principal function of the Jamesville plant. Coats and Clark plan to transfer this particular operation of their manufacturing process from a plant in Albany, Georgia that needs additional space for other expansion.

The proposed plant in Jamesville will be the first plant for Coats and Clark in North Carolina. However, the company has nine other plants in the South, in Georgia, Virginia and South Carolina.

The history of Coats and Clark goes back 160 years to 1812. At that time the Clark family began the manufacture of cotton thread in the town of Paisley, Scotland, and exported their product to the U.S. The first Clark Thread Company in America was established in Newark, New Jersey in 1866.

Officials of the company attending the Thursday night dinner affair included W.C. Wheeler, vice president of manufacturing; L.P. Greer, Jr., in charge of finishing operations; J.O. Huff, who will be manager of the Jamesville plant; N.H. Gifford, manager of the zipper division; W.A. Waller, a vice president; and C.A. Warden, a treasurer. Tom Broughton, of the North Carolina Commerce and Industry Division in Raleigh, was also present.

Company officials at the dinner noted that Percy Price, Executive Director of the Martin County Economic Development Commission; and Jack Runyon, Investor Representative of VEPCO for northeastern North Carolina, were primarily responsible for the officials of Coats and Clark making their decision to base their new plant in Jamesville.

Belk, who had impaired vision since 1955, entered the rest home about two months ago. A native of Monroe, N.C., he came to Goldsboro in 1936 as editor of the Goldsboro News. He became managing editor three years later when the News and Daily Argus merged. In 1949 he became editor and served until 1968.

Survivors include his widow, the former Luciel Bullard; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Dent; and a brother, Hazel Belk, both of Monroe.

Funeral services are scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday at the Madison Avenue Baptist Church in Goldsboro.

Belk graduated from Trinity College, now Duke University, in 1923 and later served as public relations director and English teacher at Wake Forest College.

After taking graduate work at the Columbia School of Journalism, he came to Goldsboro to begin his newspaper career.

He had served as president of the North Carolina Press Association and chairman of the board of trustees of East Carolina University.

In 1961 he was named North Carolina's handicapped man of the year.

Throughout his years in Goldsboro he was active in civic affairs and was prominent in religious, educational and cultural activities.

Parents Claim Legal Lynching

RALEIGH (AP) - Parents of nine young black men have described as "legal lynching" the youths' conviction Tuesday on charges growing out of racial violence in Wilmington last year.

In a telegram to Gov. Bob Scott and Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, the parents said: "We are shocked in grief to know that you duly elected as representative of all of the people of North Carolina set up in Burgaw the most racist stage ever witnessed in this state for the legal lynching of our sons, the young Rev. Ben Chavis and the Wilmington Nine."

Chavis and nine other defendants were convicted Tuesday in Pender Superior Court for their involvement in the Wilmington disorders and given long prison terms.

SKIRMISHING

SAIGON (AP) - South Vietnamese forces skirmished today with enemy units infiltrating in the defensive belt around Saigon.

A light frost fell over the Pitt County area early this morning as temperatures dropped in the 30s.

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending this morning at 8 a.m. was 59 degrees while the low for that period was 30 degrees. The temperature this morning at 8 a.m. was 32 degrees.

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending Thursday at 8 a.m. was 62 degrees while the low was reported at 49 degrees.

Tuesday's temperatures were much higher than those reported for Wednesday and Thursday. Tuesday's high was 83 degrees while the low was set at 49 degrees.

A total of .26 of an inch of rainfall fell over the area yesterday.

According to the National Weather Service at the Raleigh-Durham Airport, the low temperatures are being caused by a huge mass of cold air flowing southward out of Canada.

Temperatures are expected to be much warmer by Saturday.

Church To Hold Homecoming

Homecoming will be observed Sunday at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church.

Bible school will begin at 9:30 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m. The Rev. B.B. Felder will bring the morning message.

Bucs Put Record On Line Against State

Receiver Vic Wilfore

If you're 5-0, leading the nation in defense, and have allowed only 31 points all year long, you'd expect to be favored over a team that is only 3-2-1, has allowed 119 points, and over 300 yards per game.

Don't believe it. That's how the East Carolina University Pirates line up against the Wolfpack of N. C. State, and it's the "Pack that are far and away favorites to win this non-conference meeting.

The game will be the third meeting between the two schools in as many years. State won the first 23-6, but the Pirates came back last year to record a 31-15 victory, evening the series.

And when that happened, many people kissed State off as being no longer worthy of membership in the Atlantic Coast Conference. State went on, however, to win two of its next four games, against Miami and Clemson, just losing to Virginia and giving top-ranked Penn State a handfull before finally bowing.

This year, State is under the guidance of Lou Holtz, who came from the Southern's William & Mary to Raleigh. He doesn't believe that losing to a Southern Conference team is the end of the world, but he also believes that it better not happen again.

So far this year, Holtz has molded the same group of players that were there last year into a winning team, a team that has one of the most powerful offenses in the country.

The Wolfpack has an excellent passer in quarterback Bruce Shaw. He's hit on 54 of 100 passes for 1,034 yards. He's added 30 more rushing for 1,064 yards total offense, after only six games. Dave Buckley, a freshman running behind him, has 401 yards in relief, nothing to scoff at.

Shaw has a wealth of receivers, coming at you from all directions, from the wide positions, from the line, and from the backfield. All told, 10 different people have been on the receiving end of passes. Four different receivers have caught touchdown passes, although Pat Kenney, the flanker, has three, and Steve Lester, another wide man, has two, to lead the group.

Not that State can't run. They can, and quite dangerously. Young Stan Fritts leads the rushing with 340 yards. He's scored nine touchdowns, five last week against Wake Forest. He's the leading Wolfpack scorer with 56 points.

Willie Burden, another runner has 291 yards on the ground, while Charley Young has picked up 290. Roland Hooks, a product of Vanceboro, has rushed for 166 yards.

Overall, the Wolfpack has been averaging 430.3 yards per game, 227.2 through the air and 203.1 on the ground. That presents a balanced offense that is difficult to stop.

Shaw stands high in the nation in passing, and leads the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense. He's second in passing.

Another dangerous part of the State game is the kick return, where Mike Stultz ranks as one of the top men in the country, averaging 17.3 yards per carry.

It is an impressive bit of statistics, although statistics don't win games.

Personnel does win them, and East Carolina Coach Sonny Randle doesn't argue for one minute that the Wolfpack doesn't have that personnel.

Harking to one of his favorite expressions, Randle calls the situation one of "not comparing apples with apples. They have 120 scholarships, while we have 65," he said. "With twice as many people to draw from, you're bound to come up with some good people."

East Carolina comes into the game after getting its first real scare of the season, when they beat The Citadel 27-21, the Bulldogs came back from 20-0 at halftime to nearly pull it out.

The Citadel's Harry Lynch passed the Pirates crazy in the second half, and riddled their secondary. This — when looking at the State aerial attack — doesn't brighten the prospects of the Pirates.

More work, accordingly, was done during defensive drills this week to cover these mistakes. "We have tried to correct them," Randle said. "That's all we can do. There's no question that they'll be passing."

Randle also feels that last year's result is going to mean a lot in the game — especially to State. "Everyone has thrown it in their face, and they are bound and determined not to let it happen again."

The coach rates the State passing attack much like that of The Citadel — very explosive. "Shaw isn't their only threat," he added, "they have a very good running game too. In fact, they have everything you'd want in a football team."

Randle also rates the State defense as being very sound. "They are bigger than we are in both lines, and their defense can really do the job. They proved that against Duke."

State was bothered in the early part of the season by their own mistakes, bringing on a tie with Maryland and a loss to North Carolina. "They're not making those mistakes now," Randle said.

The coach feels that the game could be a high-scoring or a low-scoring. "They have a real good defense, and I like to think we do too," he said.

Randle felt that East Carolina's grabbing of an early lead last year led State to panic.

"But they won't do that this year. They don't panic at all. They're an entirely different team."

The coach admits that this is the biggest game for the Bucs so far: "Isn't every game our biggest?"

But at the same time, he ad-

Cage Drills Are Moving Along

As the first week of practice draws to a close, East Carolina Coach Tom Quinn is quite pleased with the way things are going.

"The squad in general reported in good physical condition," he said. "All but a couple were in good shape."

But while this was good, there are still problems. "We have to be ahead of last year in conditioning due to our earlier opening and the change in the free throw rules. So our conditioning has to be improved over last year."

This year, the rules provide for the ball to go out of bounds for the first six fouls by each team (except when fouled in the act of shooting). This will mean fewer breathing periods for the players, demanding better condition.

"I'm pleased by the leadership shown so far by the seniors," Quinn said. "They have helped the newer people quite a bit and this has helped a lot. They're showing a lot of hard work and a good attitude."

Quinn feels that the Pirates will be as strong or stronger on defense as compared to last year. "Some of our returnees who were new last year have come along now and will be improved on their defense."

Quinn added that the Pirates haven't worked much on the offense yet. "We plan to work on fundamentals and defense and conditioning much of the time during the early stages. We will be doing some new stuff offensively, since we have some new people to work into the lineup."

The coach didn't single out any one of the 16 players at this time, saying it was "too early."

The Bucs are scheduled to open the season on Nov. 28, hosting the University of Baltimore.

Pembroke May Enter League

Pembroke College may join the North Carolina Summer Collegiate Baseball League, Jim Mallory, president of the league, said.

A meeting was held this week at East Carolina with the members of the league, and Pembroke expressed the desire to join, although they did not give a firm commitment.

"We'd very much like to have them join the league," Mallory said. "If they do, it hasn't been decided whether they would play out of Red Springs, as Appalachian did, or whether they would play all in Pembroke, or split between the two sites."

The entry of Pembroke would return the league to six teams, since Appalachian has announced that it will not participate this year. East Carolina, Louisville, Campbell, and the University of North Carolina's branches at Chapel Hill and Wilmington, have all stated that they will continue as members of the league in its third year.

"There are a few eligibility rule changes that we're working on," Mallory said, "along with the schedule for the coming season, but these are not approved yet."

He said that the league hoped to have Pembroke's decision on membership in about a month.

Stadium Routes
N.C. State University has issued instructions on reaching Carter Stadium for Saturday night's game between the Wolfpack and East Carolina University.
State Fair traffic will also be using much of the same route and by following the indicated routes, football fans will find it easier to reach the stadium.
All traffic coming from east of Raleigh, via U.S. 64, should stay on the Raleigh Beltline until the Western Boulevard-Cary exit. Traffic should not turn off at Hillsborough Street, as this is a principal fair route.
Football traffic should turn at the Cary exit and go west on Western Blvd. for approximately two miles to State Road 1657, then turn right. Highway Patrol members will direct traffic from there to Carter Stadium.
It is also requested that parties get together to form full carloads, that they arrive early (lots open at 5 p.m.), and that directions of parking attendants in the lots be complied with.

Apps Stop Buc Kickers
Appalachian, the newest member of the Southern Conference, knocked East Carolina University's soccer team off its unbeaten perch in the league Wednesday, handing them a 3-0 shutout.
All of the scoring came in the first half. Appalachian broke the ice after 25 minutes of play when Chip Hilyer scored the first goal for the Mountaineers. John Gimenz then hit two goals, one coming after 35 minutes of play and the other with 15 seconds left in the half.
"They were much better than we had expected them to be," Coach John Lovstedt said. "They had a good ball control team, and we just couldn't match them."
Lovstedt said that he expected to try to do some different things in the future to crank up the Pirates' sputtering offense.
The coach singled out Brad Smith, Bob Poser and Jim Lewis for their play in the game.
The Bucs, now 3-4 overall and 2-1 in the Southern, travel to Durham to meet Duke today.

Rampants Demolish Enloe By 61-13

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

RALEIGH — It was a dark and lonely night. It was cold and damp. George Thompson, the coach of Raleigh's Enloe High School Eagles may have wished to have been home by a nice roaring fire.

Instead, he found himself involved in a nightmare at least from the Eagle point of view.

For the Rose High School Rampants, however, it was a night to be remembered, for by the time it was all over, Rose had plucked, drawn and quartered the Eagles for a 61-13 victory.

The Rampants offense, led by the Bullet and the Bomb, Reggie Perkins and Al Hunter, respectively, exploded for a total of 639 yards. Behind devastating blocking by the offensive line, Perkins shot through the Eagles for 286 yards on 22 carries.

Hunter then bombed them 21 times, rolling up 248 yards. Jackie Savage added 66 yards on three carries, while Keith Joyner had 25 for five trips and Dean Phillips had 14 in four lugs.

Hunter ended 'up with four touchdowns, on runs of four, 14, 52, and 26 yards. He also added two two-point conversions to run his total for the evening to 28 points.

Perkins got three scores, on romps of 52, two and 73 yards, while Savage got one on a 65 yard gallop. Mike Harris carried a kickoff back 64 yards, while Phil Ragazzo kicked three of six extra points.

And if the cold weather bothered the Rampants, they either didn't show it, or didn't slow down enough for the temperature to catch up with them.

Enloe's two touchdowns came at the hands of Vasco Wright, who went in from 19 and four yards out. Ronald Judkins kicked one extra point.

The Rampants wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard. They held Enloe's first drive, then took only six plays to get into the end zone. The drive went from the Enloe 48 after an 11 yard punt return by Perkins. The Bullet eased two yards on the first play, and Dean Phillips kept for 10 on the next. Rose lost five yards on a penalty, however, but Joyner rolled around and for 13, and Hunter got 13 more on another pitchout, putting the ball on the 15. Perkins shot through the middle for 11 to the four, and Hunter cracked over from there. Ragazzo's extra point with 8:12 left in the first period made it 7-0.

Rose held the Eagles again, and Rose drove from their own 25 to the Enloe 19, including a 44-yard romp by Hunter, but a fumble cost them the ball.

The Rampants got it back after another Eagle punt at their own 40. From there, it took only two plays. Joyner carried for the first, getting eight yards. The Perkins blasted through the middle, and was off for the end zone, 52 yards away. With 1:53 left in the period that made it 13-0.

Enloe again failed to move the ball and Rose took over on their own 40, scoring this time in only four plays. Perkins carried for the first three, getting 33, nine and two yards down to the 14. Hunter took a pitch out in from there, and then ran over the two-point conversions, making it 21-0 with 10:42 still to go in the half.

Again, Enloe was unable to gain ground, and kicked it away. Rose took over on its 42 and drove 58 yards in four plays. Perkins got all four of them. His first carry netted 12 yards, the second, 17; and the third 27, to the two yard line. He went over the middle from there, and made it 27-0 with 7:43 left.

Enloe finally got things going after that, putting together their first touchdown drive. Wright did most of the carrying, picking up all of the ground yardage. Wesley Summers hit three passes on the drive, of 15, 10 and 26 yards, that helped overcome 20 yards in penalties. From their own 36, they took only seven plays, with Wright carrying the last 19 for the score with 4:24 left. That cut the lead to 27-7.

That sort of made the Rampants mad, but it was nothing to what was coming. Starting on their own 43, the Rampants moved the ball in three plays to the Enloe 37. Perkins picked up 10 yards in two carries, while Hunter got the same in one. But Rose was then called with a clip, moving it back 15. Hunter again rushed for nine yards, but another penalty pushed it back again. The Rampants contested the call, made by an official away from the play, and in the ensuing tiff another 15 was marked off, putting the ball back on the Rampant 27.

And that did it. On the next play, the line devastated the Eagles, and Perkins just danced his way 73 yards for the final score of the half. Hunter again ran over the two-pointer, and with 2:35 left, Rose led, 35-7.

The Rampants got one more chance, moving from midfield to the 10 before a final pass fell incomplete in the end zone.

The Rampants came back to score again on their first series of the second half. Enloe recovered an on-side kickoff at the start of the half, but got nowhere. Rose took over on its own 27, and took only four plays to hit pay dirt. Perkins was thrown for a three-year loss on the first play, and Joyner came back with six. The Bullet ripped through for 18 yards to the 48, and on the next play, Hunter rolled over right tackle and went 52 yards for the next score. Ragazzo's kick upped the lead to 42-7.

After Enloe tried to get out of a hole with a fake punt and failed, Rose drove down to the 25, but a 15-yard penalty pushed them back and Enloe held on downs. The Rampants got it right back, however, as Harding Sugg picked off a fumble at the Eagle 36.

Perkins got a yard, and Hunter carried three straight times for nine and a first down to the 26 as the quarter ended. On the first play of the final period, Hunter went outside again, going 26 yards for his last touchdown of the night, and Rose held a 48-7 lead with 11:52 left in the game.

Enloe came back to drive to the Rose nine before losing the ball on a fumble. But Rose gave it right back at the 24 on a fumble of their own. Arthur Peoples sneaked for six yards, and Donald Upchurch got five more yards. Wright added nine to the four, and then cracked over from there, ending the Enloe scoring as they trailed, 48-13 with 4:09 to play.

The Eagles tried to squib the ball on the kickoff, but Harris pulled it in at the 36, and was off down the sidelines, outracing the final Eagle defenders to take the ball back 64 yards for the score. Ragazzo kicked, and it was 55-13.

On the first play from scrimmage, Al Heath intercepted the ball on the Rampant 31, turning it back to Rose. Savage picked up four yards to the 35, then burst through from there on the next play, going 65 yards for the final Rampant touchdown, making it 61-13 with 2:22 remaining.

The victory boosted the Rampant record to 6-2 for the year, and insured them of their first winning season in several years. Rose plays its final home game next Friday night in Ficklen Stadium, hosting Division II foe New Bern for Homecoming.

Into The Line

Yoest Leading State Offensive Line Charge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year ago, North Carolina State guard Bill Yoest was flat on his back. Now his football opponents are having trouble staying off theirs.

Yoest missed the 1971 season with a back injury. The six-foot, 230-pound junior from Pittsburgh, Pa., played his way into a starting role again during drills last spring. The Wolfpack line coach, Larry Beightol, says he is the finest guard in the Atlantic Coast Conference and, in fact, "there's not a better lineman in the ACC. He put opponents on their backs five times last week, and it helped us get two touchdowns right over his position."

For that 42-13 victory over Wake Forest, Yoest received a grade of 83 per cent. He had given complete domination blocks, for which a defensive lineman must be driven five yards and put on his back.

Beightol says Yoest "has great explosive ability and is very aggressive. He used to be too aggressive, and that hurt his efficiency in pass blocking. But now he has learned not to over-extend himself and get out of position.

"I don't worry about the 17 per cent he didn't get perfect. He didn't get whipped one single time. He didn't make any mental errors. I just graded him down because his technique was a little less than perfect. I'm a very hard grader, so realize 83 is a great mark from me."

Yoest himself says, "You can't make mental errors in college. You're going to make enough small physical goofs. You can't afford to pull in the wrong direction or block the wrong man. That's high school stuff."

He was named ACC Offensive Lineman of the Week for his play in the 28-22 loss to Georgia a month ago.

N. C. State, which has won three, lost two and tied one, is home Saturday night to East Carolina, a Southern Conference club which is undefeated in its five games.

Maryland, like State 3-2-1, will be at Duke, 2-4, in a game which will see both teams starting sophomore quarterbacks. They are Bob Avellini of the Maryland and Mark Johnson of Duke, who were instrumental in victories last week.

Johnson, who had suffered a dislocated shoulder in the final preseason scrimmage, played tailback against Washington two weeks later, but suffered another injury, to his ankle. Yet, a month later, in last week's 7-0 victory over Clemson, he took over for his first varsity action as quarterback and gained 66 yards rushing. Although hitting only two of seven passes, he directed Duke to the game's only touchdown.

Duke was on the Clemson one as time ran out. The Blue Devils were content with the 7-0 verdict and didn't call time out in the last minute.

Avellini took over in the second quarter of last week's Villanova game when Al Neville suffered a broken collar bone that will sideline him for the rest of the season. Avellini completed 10 of 17 passes for 146 yards and one touchdown in the 37-7 victory.

Clemson worked without pads Thursday in the last practice session before the Homecoming game with Virginia.

The Virginia Cavaliers have never beaten the Tigers in their 13 meetings, but they are favored to break the jinx. Clemson has lost its last four after opening with a 13-0 victory over The Citadel. Virginia is 3-3.

North Carolina Coach Bill Dooley said, "Wake Forest may be one in four but they have a sound defense. Their four losses have all been to teams with outstanding attacks. We know we're going to have a tough time Saturday."

The regionally televised game will be at Wake Forest. The North Carolina Tar Heels, defending ACC champions, are 4-1 in all games and 2-0 in the league.

Colorado Tests Oklahoma Squad

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We've got a heckuva chance."

Maybe Colorado Coach Eddie Crowder was whistling in the dark when he made that comment since the Buffaloes collide head on with the nationally second-ranked Oklahoma Sooners in the top college football game Saturday.

At any rate Crowder will have Colorado's star runner, Charlie Davis, and his teammates keyed up for the clash with the unbeaten Sooners who haven't yielded a touchdown in four games.

Colorado was upset by Oklahoma State earlier in the season but climbed back to ninth in the Associated Press Top Ten by whipping Iowa State last week.

Crowder and the Buffaloes would like nothing better than to humble the Sooners and their star halfback Greg Pruitt. The Sooners are favored to make five in a row, but as Crowder snaps "the national championship hasn't been decided yet."

Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma coach, isn't taking the Buffs lightly. "They are blessed with as much talent as anybody in the country," he said. "I'm sure they'll be at an emotional peak for the game."

The Oklahoma at Colorado battle is one of two attractions pitting teams in the AP Top Ten against each other. In the other third-ranked Alabama invades Knoxville to tangle with the 10th-ranked Tennessee Vols.

Similar to Oklahoma-Colorado, the Alabama-Tennessee clash pits a powerful offense against a strong defense.

"We expect the game to be no less than the greatest of challenges," commented Coach Bear Bryant whose Crimson Tide has rolled up nearly 400 yards per game.

Defensively the Vols have yielded 226 yards per game, and Coach Bill Battle says "our players are going to have to do the best job they've ever done if we are to stand a chance."

Top-ranked Southern California is a heavy favorite to beat Washington for its seventh straight. The Huskies, 18th-ranked, will be without quarterback Sonny Sixkiller who suffered a knee injury against Stanford last Saturday.

The other teams in the AP Top Ten, also are expected to win handily.

Ohio State, No. 4, is pitted against Indiana, No. 5 Nebraska against Kansas, No. 6 Michigan against Illinois, No. 7 Louisiana State against Kentucky in a night game and No. 8 Notre Dame against Missouri.

Among the AP second Ten, No. 11 UCLA will meet California, No. 12 Penn State goes against Syracuse, No. 13 Stanford takes on Oregon No. 14 Texas battles No. 17 Arkansas at night, No. 15 Auburn faces Georgia, Tech, No. 16 Air Force tangles with Navy No. 19 Arizona State locks horns with Brigham Young and No. 20 Iowa State hosts Kansas State.

mitted that the Pirates will have their work cut out for them, both offensively and defensively. "We'll have a couple of new things for them, but we always do. We're really not in the same league with them."

"Things have fallen into place for us so far. Our kids have just been great. We have good talent, but not on their level. We're where we are because of intangibles — spirit, guts, and things like that," Randle said.

But for now, it is not like apples and apples.

State Gets Nod From Five Of Six

With a 10-2 week, you'd expect to gain a little ground, but it just doesn't happen that way. Everyone seems to be making the same choices this year, and after the early games, no one is making up much territory.

Both Tom Baines and Jack Whichard had 11-1 weeks, while the rest of us were 10-2.

The results left Sandra Spivey and Jack Whichard tied with 57-14 records for the season, while Tom Baines is third with a 55-16 mark.

George Holland and John Trotman are 53-18, while I'm dragging along at the rear with a 50-21 pace.

Who's idea was this in the first place?

We're missing one game this week because of Rose High School being scheduled for Thursday night. We'd have all gotten it right anyway.

There are a few other high school games on the list however, that need attending to.

Conley and North Pitt meet on the Panthers' home field. Conley is showing steady improvement, and North Pitt to get their program going with another win. Conley will be out to stop them and claim their fourth win of the year. The Vikings are the choice.

Perquimans visits Williamston in an Albermarle Conference game. The Tigers rallied to down Murfreesboro and take over the sole possession of first in the league last week, and might be riding for a fall this week. But you've got to go with a winner and Williamston is the pick.

Farmville Central goes to Greene Central. The Jaguars, after their slow start, have come up with three straight victories. The Rams however, just may be the best team in the league right now. Greene Central to snap the Jaguar string.

Saratoga visits Robersonville. The Eagles got a scare last week from South Lenoir, and may want to win this one big. Again, you don't knock a winner—Robersonville to win.

This week, in place of the Rose game, the panel was given the Ayden-Grifton-Southern Nash contest as its high school pick. The Chargers come off a loss to Greene Central, and may be crippled in their backfield with two big injuries. Southern hasn't lost yet and can just about wrap up the title with the victory. The panel has looked and decided—four pick Southern Nash, two pick Ayden-Grifton.

The Pirates of East Carolina take their number one defense to Raleigh Saturday night against the number nine offense of the N.C. State Wolfpack. The Bucs won it last year, and no one has let State forget them. Emotions may run high in the game, and it could be quite a game.

Sandra is the only one of us brave enough to keep the faith. She picks the Bucs, the rest pick State.

OAKLAND (AP) — "Get a good pitch you can drive," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "Try to get the ball some place."

Pinch-hitter Angel Mangual got the pitch he wanted and put it in the right place—a single to right field that scored the winning run for the A's Thursday night.

The dramatic base hit through a drawn-in infield capped a two-run rally in the last of the ninth inning as Oakland beat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and took a solid 3-1 lead in the 1972 World Series.

"I prayed that the ball would go through," said Mangual after driving in Gene Tenace from third base with the winning run.

Three pinch-hitters came through for Williams in that emotion-charged ninth after the A's appeared to be finished.

Pedro Borbon, who had pitched in the eighth in relief of Cincinnati starter Don Gullett, was sitting on a 2-1 lead when the A's came up in the last inning. The Reds' right-hander got the first out of the inning, a harmless grounder by Mike Hegan.

Then Gonzalo Marquez hit for center fielder George Hendrick and singled up the middle, stirring the 49,410 partisan fans at the Oakland Coliseum.

When Borbon went to a 2-1 count on Tenace, Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson thought it was time for his best reliever, Clay Carroll.

Carroll threw one of his sinker balls to Tenace and the Oakland catcher hit it through the infield to left, just beyond the reach of shortstop Dave Concepcion for a single that sent pinch-runner Allan Lewis to second.

"He threw a good sinker to Tenace," said Anderson. "It was just a routine ground ball that got through."

Williams next called on Don Mincher to pinch-hit, telling the veteran first baseman:

"Go up swinging."
He did—and promptly brought the crowd to its feet with a single to right field that scored Lewis with the tying run.

Oakland pennants sprouted in the stands and wriggled furiously as the noise from the crowd became ear-splitting. The stage was set for Mangual with runners on first and third and one out. He jumped on Carroll's first offering—a "fastball right over the plate"—and hit it to the right side of the infield. Second baseman Joe Morgan stretched for it, but it was a couple of feet beyond his reach. Tenace came in with the winning run to the wild cheers and an exploding scoreboard in center field. Fireworks went off as the Oakland catcher jumped on home plate and headed for a knot of happy teammates erupting from the dugout.

"The man upstairs has been good to me in this Series," said Tenace, who also hit a home run in the fifth inning to break a 20-inning Oakland scoring drought.

Tenace's third home run of the Series gave the A's a 1-0 lead off Cincinnati's Don Gullett. That small margin lasted until the Reds rallied for two runs in the eighth inning.

Dave Concepcion singled off starter Ken Holtzman and went to second on Julian Javier's

Try Pole Runs Again

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP) — Drivers looked for better weather today for a double session of qualifying trials that will determine the first 30 starters in Sunday's $106,900 American 500 stock car race.

A light, continuous rain washed out Thursday's first round of time trials at the one-mile North Carolina Motor Speedway.

At stake was the important pole position for the 1:30 p.m. start, plus all but 10 of the starting positions in Sunday's 40-car field. The remaining spots are to be filled Saturday.

At least seven drivers were expected to contend for the pole, with a lap speed of about 137 miles per hour figured to be needed.

Bobby Allison put Junior Johnson's Chevrolet in the No. 1 slot for the spring race at Rockingham, clocking 137.732 m.p.h. The overnight, rain, however, was expected to slow the racing surface somewhat.

Allison, considered a solid bet to repeat, also holds the one-mile closed course speed record of 139.048 m.p.h., set at Rockingham in 1970.

Jones Declares Southern Race Isn't Over Yet; Faces Furman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coach Frank Jones of Richmond's defending Southern Conference football champion Spiders says "the league race is not over."

"There are plenty of big games to be played, and you never know what can happen," adds Jones, whose Spiders take their 1-1 record to Furman, 1-2 in league play, for one of Saturday's two league scraps.

The Richmond-Furman night game, matching a pair of teams with 2-4 over-all records, is one of two conference games on the schedule.

William and Mary's Indians, 2-4 over-all but 2-0 in league play behind East Carolina's front-running Pirates at 4-0, play Saturday afternoon at Virginia Military against the Keydets, who are 0-4 in the league, 0-6 over-all and have lost 16 games in a row.

The W&M-VMI clash is the only one in the afternoon for the eight conference teams, four of whom have night engagements on the road against nonleague opposition.

Of these, the most important is East Carolina's bid to run its unbeaten and untied streak to six at N. C. State of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The others have Davidson's Wildcats, 2-3-1, at Wofford; The Citadel's Bulldogs, 2-4, at Tennessee-Chattanooga; and Appalachian State's Mountaineers, 1-4-1, at Lenoir Rhyne.

Jones believes Richmond's ground game is improving behind senior Billy Meyers, junior Barty Smith and freshman John Palazeti, but the Spiders have yet to get the offensive consistency he'd like.

Coach Bob King of Furman hopes it doesn't get any more consistent, since his Paladins have given up 971 yards in their last two games—a 24-15 defeat by Western Carolina and a 51-35 shellacking last week at Davidson.

"It's not going to get any easier Saturday against Richmond," says King. "They are a big team and it will take a great effort for us to stop them. Their record is not that impressive, but they have lost to some of the best teams in the country."

William and Mary has lost its last seven games on the road and 10 of its last 13 anywhere—all in the final quarter—but Coach Jim Root says "we are going after that conference championship."

"We are going to forget about the close ones we've lost outside the conference and concentrate on that championship," adds Root, four of whose last five games are inside the league.

The only game the Indians have pulled out in the final quarter of the last 13 they've played was a 12-7 decision last year over VMI on a bad Keydet punt late in the game.

William and Mary leads the conference in total offense and rushing, while VMI has gotten just 22 yards per game on the ground but is second in the league in passing behind sophomore quarterback Tom Schultze, who has thrown for 1,099 yards.

"To win, we must play our best game of the year," says Coach Sonny Randle of East Carolina, which beat N. C. State last year 31-15. "They still haven't forgotten that game a year ago. Now that I think about it, we may have made a mistake by beating them..."

Davidson Coach Dave Fagg says "it looks like we have found some scoring punch" behind Scotty Shipp, the league leader in total offense and passing, and halfback Dave Ingold, "the most exciting runner I can recall at Davidson."

The Citadel has only a 1-6-1 record in its series with Tennessee-Chattanooga, and Coach Red Parker says the Bulldogs must forget last week's 27-21 defeat by East Carolina "that for all practical purposes eliminates us from the Southern Conference race."

Appalachian's game at Lenoir Rhyne "means even more to us than it might otherwise, because we have to win in order to have a winning season," says Mountaineer Coach Jim Brakefield. "A victory Saturday night could help turn our season around."

Top Industrialists See New Expansion

Ticket Endorsed By Committee

The Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, meeting in a call session Wednesday night, passed a resolution endorsing the full Democratic ticket in the November election.

Henry Oglesby of Grifton, Pitt chairman, said that the 33 members who assembled for the meeting voted unanimously for the full endorsement of the Democratic slate "from the courthouse to the White House."

The chairman reported that the meeting was attended by local managers or representatives of gubernatorial candidate Skipper Bowles, lieutenant governor hopeful Jim Hunt, senatorial aspirant Nick Galifianakis, and congressional incumbent Walter Jones. State Sen. Vernon White and county commissioner Charles Gaskins also attended, Oglesby said.

He reported that the committee voted down a motion to have a "get out the vote" rally and endorsed, instead, a recommendation that chairmen of the various precincts personally canvass voters in their precincts in an effort to encourage voter turnout.

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Top industrialists foresee a strong business expansion throughout 1973, shadowed by the threat of rising interest rates and the necessity for continued controls to curb inflationary pressures.

Members of the Business Council, assembling for their fall meeting with high government officials including Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz and Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson, said they consider the re-election of President Nixon virtually assured. And they made generally favorable forecasts of the economic outlook.

But several told reporters privately that the inflation hazard requires an outright extension of wage-price controls for another year beyond next April 30, when the Phase 2 law expires.

Others spoke out for a looser system, permitting large segments of the retail economy to be decontrolled, but keeping standby ceiling authority on the law books and using it in areas of the economy where inflationary pressures remain dangerous.

"I hate to have to say it, but I believe controls will have to be kept on for another year," one major manufacturer said. "If you had told me a year ago that a majority of businessmen would want controls continued I would have said you were crazy."

That corporation executive and others said controls—or at least some form of regulation stronger than voluntary guidelines—are needed to keep reasonable stability in the coming year when major pattern-setting union contract settlements must be reached.

Most agreed that rising interest rates pose a threat to the business expansion in 1973 but a majority said the "credit crunch" of two years ago can be avoided.

Few were willing to predict whether the government would be content to let market forces control the situation.

The threat of an eventual tax increase also is a subject of conversation among businessmen. Many of the 100 council members here, including the heads of many of the country's largest corporations, hold that no general increase is likely next year. But most expect the government will have to take revenue-raising action in 1974 or thereafter to check the succession of large federal deficits.

One industrialist here observed that it does not matter what Nixon wants to do because "Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee will write the next tax bill and Nixon will have to go along." This executive added:

"I don't think we're going to have a Republican Congress, and that is going to be a factor in limiting what Nixon can do for the next four years."

Self-Improvement Programs Available

Adult Self-Improvement Programs continue to be sponsored by Pitt Technical Institute. The opportunity to improve basic skills in reading, math, writing, or any combination of the skills available through this program.

Designed to help individuals to become more effective at home, on the job, and in the community, the courses are offered at no cost to the students. Students start at their own educational level and proceed at their own pace of learning. Courses now available to students are as follows: Meadowbrook Learning Center for Adults — Monday and Wednesday — 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 — 9:30 p.m., 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday;

Kerney Park Learning Center for Adults — Tuesday and Thursday — 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 — 9:30 p.m.;

Moyewood Learning Center for Adults — Moyewood Social Services Center — Tuesday and Thursday — 1:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.;

Pitt Technical Institute — Monday and Wednesday — 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., Room 206, Classroom Building;

Farmville Adult Education Center — 112 E. Wilson Street — Monday and Thursday — 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.;

Plans are now being developed to offer classes in other areas of the county in the near future. All classes are open to adults, 18 years of age and older, who desire to enroll.

Officers Are Chosen By Class

The third Practical Nurse Education class at Pitt Technical Institute has elected officers for the 1972-1973 school year.

According to newly elected Class President Brenda Bryant, of Ayden, the following students were elected to the other class offices:

vice-president, Cassandra Gray, Greenville; recording secretary, Lori Hardee, Maury; corresponding secretary, Ellen Coburn, Greenville; treasurer, Virginia Cunningham, Grifton; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Sue Bland, Bethel; SGA representative, Mary Gray, Greenville; SGA alternate, Beth Harrington, Greenville.

Sewing Seminar Begins Tuesday

Pitt Technical Institute will conduct a 15-hour sewing seminar in room four beginning Tuesday at 7 p.m. The group will meet each Tuesday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Adults will need no equipment, materials or supplies. Each person should already know the basic sewing skills and sewing terminology.

Instruction will consist of lecture, demonstration and discussion. Areas that will be presented and discussed are basic sewing fundamentals, materials, patterns, tailoring, pressing techniques, and use of trims.

All interested persons should attend the first meeting. For further information, interested persons may visit or call Pitt Technical Institute.

Pass A Football During Huddles

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — When Gov. Robert Ray and his top aides huddle, they sometimes pass a small football back and forth to "relieve tension" the governor's confidential secretary says.

Mrs. Janet Van Note, 34, Ray's secretary since he took office in January 1969, recalls that she once walked into a meeting and an aide tossed a football to her and cautioned, "Think fast, Jan."

She did. She ducked.

"It's a tension reliever, really. A tension pacifier," she said.

LBJ, Warren To Be Speakers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson and former Chief Justice Earl Warren will speak at a national symposium on civil rights in connection with the opening of Johnson's papers on civil rights. The symposium will be held Dec. 11 and 12.

Association Seeing Silver Anniversary

Retired teacher Isaac A. Artis, president of District 15 of the North Carolina Retired Teachers Association, has reported that nationally, October is being observed as the 25th anniversary of the National Retired Teachers Association (NRTA).

Artis, currently head of the association that covers 16 eastern North Carolina counties, said no special activities are planned for this occasion. He said, however, that the annual district meeting of members of the organization would be on November 10 at Rose High School.

"We have about 250 active members in the District 15 association," Artis remarked. "This does not include all the retired teachers in the area. There are more than 250."

Artis is also currently a member of the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission.

On the Silver Anniversary.

Hold Quarterly Meet At Church

Quarterly meeting will be held at Oak Grove Holiness Church on Bonnas Lane. The speaker Saturday at 8 p.m. will be the Rev. Virgette Corey of Grifton. Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. Lucille Chancey will speak. At 2 p.m. Rev. Leroy Adams will conduct the services.

Musical programs will be held at 7 and 3 p.m. with the Powell Brothers of Robersonville.

Pandas come from eastern Tibet and Szechwan Province in southwest China.

Pepsi

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
