Nine Survive Crash

NOIRETABLE, France (UPI) —Nine survivors, some of them virtually unscathed, Saturday told how they escaped death in the crash of a Air Inter Vickers Viscount that killed 59 other persons Friday on a hilltop near this farming community in southern France.

The French domestic airliner, on a flight from Lyon to Clermont-Ferrand, crashed into a 3,630-foot-high Picon Peak, five miles from here. Rescue teams did not arrive on the heavily wooded site for five hours, according to a passenger, Marcel Delcroix.

Delcroix, 55, a businessman, said he thought the turboprop engines were not running properly and just before the crash he unfastened his seat-belt.

"That's how I was thrown out at the moment of impact," he said.

Delcroix, who received cuts on his face, said he lived because he sat in the back of the plane, which tore off. Parts of it were recovered more than 600 feet from the fuselage.

After the crash, Delcroix said, he found two children, also unhurt, flung clear with him—a four-year-old boy, Sylvain Monthonnex, and a 11-year-old girl, Catherine Cizeron. "We waited for help for five hours," Delcroix said. "During this time I talked to the children and comforted them. Every three minutes I shouted for help."

Diplomatic Sources See Rogers Signing Viet Peace Treaty

By United Press International

French and Communist diplomatic sources in Paris said Saturday that U.G. Secretary of State William P. Rogers is expected to fly to Paris to sign the cease-fire agreement with North Vietnam. The Viet Cong joined Hanoi in insisting the accord be signed Tuesday and promised there would be no reprisals after the war.

In Washington, the State department said it had no comment on the Paris report. But diplomatic sources said it would be logical for Rogers to go since such an agreement would be signed by an official below presidential rank.

The Washington sources added however that the United States does not consider the draft treaty ready for signing yet and said Rogers was still in Washington with no immediate plans to leave.

In Paris the diplomatic sources also said the United States, Russia, Britain, France, China and North and South Vietnam had agreed to take part in an international conference on Vietnam in the French capital about a month after a cease-fire.

Thieu Scatters Envoys

One of the main purposes of the conference would be to set up an international control commission to police the ceasefire under the terms of the draft peace agreement between the United States and North Vietnam.

In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu, who says there will be no peace agreement without his accord, was reported sending his chief ambassadors on a tour of Asian countries in an effort to convince their leaders he is "not an obstacle to peace," Vietnamese sources said.

But South Vietnam's Radio Saigon said the Communist peace proposal was simply a move to get American troops out of Vietnam so they could attack the South again later.

The Viet Cong Liberation Radio called on the United States to sign the peace treaty, but said its forces would fight "for complete victory" if an agreement were not signed Tuesday.

O'Brien Reacts

GOP Charges Democrat

By United Press International
Republican National Chairman Bob Dole charged Saturday that Lawrence F. O'Brien, Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign director, met secretly with the president of a firm allegedly linked to organized crime shortly before a congressional hearing on the company was halted.

O'Brien called Dole's allegation "a desperate and despicable lie" and denied he had any secret meeting with Jeremy Jacobs, head of Emprise Corp., a race track concessionaire firm.

Dole claimed in a statement that O'Brien met with Jacobs and his attorney in mid-September when a House subcommittee investigating crime links with horse racing planned to re-question Jacobs, the Emprise president, and his brother. He claimed that after that, the hearings being conducted by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., were "mysteriously called off."

"It should be of great interest to the American people to find out how the Jacobs' managed to get the crime hearings turned off just before the presidential election," the GOP chairman commented. "It is also of great interest to know of Larry O'Brien's role in helping to get those hearings turned off when many questions remained unanswered as to the extent of Emprise's operations."

Pepper Denies Charge
Pepper, reached by UPI at his Miami law office, said Dole's implication that the hearings were called off because of O'Brien's intervention was "a falsehood fabricated out of the whole cloth."

British Soldier Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A sniper Saturday killed a British soldier and wounded a 10-year-old boy with a single shot fired on the edge of Londonderry's Bogside area, the army said.

The soldier was riding in a Land Rover patrolling the rim of the Roman Catholic area when the gunman fired. The bullet hit him in the head, then fragmented and slightly wounded a boy walking nearby in the leg, an army spokesman said.

The killing, the first since Wednesday, raised the toll in three years of Ulster violence to 620 dead.

In Belfast, soldiers manning an outpost in the Catholic Ardoyne area exchanged fire with gunmen and claimed they hit one man.

Large, Friendly Crowds Nixon In Ohio

By NORMAN KEMPSTER
BRECKSVILLE, Ohio (UPI) —Paying tribute to law enforcement officers and vowing to continue his present economic programs, President Nixon Saturday rode in a motorcade past large and friendly crowds in northeastern Ohio.

On two occasions early in the 80-mile trip the President stopped to deliver brief impromptu speeches using a loud speaker system in his black Limousine.

In the mainly white, working-class suburb of North Royalton the President launched an impassioned defense of the nation's law officers.

"Sometimes you see some scroungy looking people spitting on policemen and calling them pigs. It makes my blood boil," Nixon said.

Signs Support Nixon
The President said he had been told that a policeman in Parma had been killed this week while apprehending a criminal.

"You can't pay these people enough," Nixon said. "You can't pay people enough who risk their lives to save your life. What you can do is honor them."

The crowds stood four and five deep in some places along the route. Although there was a sprinkling of signs supporting Nixon's Democratic opponent, Sen. George McGovern, most of the signs were strongly in support of the President.

In The News WCU Chancellor Is Installed

CULLOWHEE, N.C. (AP)— Western Carolina University's first chancellor, Dr. Jack Carlton, said Saturday upon being inaugurated that "the road ahead for higher education is particularly inviting" for the 83 year-old school.

Carlton was commissioned by University of North Carolina President William Friday.

The new chancellor said his university's history declares "emphatically that Western's faculty and its leadership have possessed almost unparalleled determination, a determination that has brought it to a sound, university structure against the odds of geographic isolation that at times have surely seemed insurmountable."

Western Carolina is a liberal arts college of about 5,000 students.

Exits Delays

WASHINGTON (UPI) —High Soviet officials have told Jewish leaders in Moscow that their requests to leave the Soviet Union will be decided on a case-by-case basis, and some may have to wait 20 years to get out, it was learned Saturday.

"Perhaps you will be kept for a year, perhaps for three, perhaps for five, perhaps for 20," Acting Minister Boris T. Shumilin of internal affairs told a group of 80 Jews, according to one of the participants in the unprecedented encounter on Thursday.

Cave-In Is Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A study group working for Sen. George S. McGovern accused the Nixon administration Saturday of caving into industry pressure by ignoring consumer needs for quality and safety in everything from cars to drugs.

"The Nixon record on product safety and quality regulation is one of procrastination, inaction, delay, deference to industry pressure, proposing weak legislation... and lack of commitment to enforce strong laws that already are on the books," the report said.

Commission Approves Proposal For Student-Faculty Exchange

The North Carolina Commission on International Cooperation has approved unanimously a proposal by East Carolina University requesting student-faculty exchange with Japan.

The proposal by Dr. Leo Jenkins, ECU Chancellor, is to be submitted to Gov. Robert W. Scott with a request that the governor forward the proposal to the Japanese Embassy on behalf of the commission. Dr. Jenkins is chairman of the commission which took the action in Raleigh yesterday.

In addition to seeking official approval of the government of Japan, Jenkins said he would ask the governor to approve a request that East Carolina University obtain funding for an international education symposium.

East Carolina University officials recently went to Japan to investigate and report on possibilities of a student-faculty exchange program between the two countries. Also, Governor Scott has been in Japan on two recent occasions on trade and educational missions.

The proposal approved by the commission states that such an arrangement would work toward easing economic tension between the countries because of the mounting Japanese dollar surplus.

It adds:

"The proposal is advanced with the conviction that adoption of certain educational measures, acceptable to the people of Japan and the United States, will help in easing economic tensions that have resulted from Japan's huge dollar surplus in the United States. It is suggested that Japan should assume an education investment in behalf of American students and professional workers in Education, as a means to reduce U.S. dollar deficits, which have amounted to between three and four billion U.S. dollars a year for the past several years.

"It is proposed that the government of Japan earmark some of its dollar surplus to fund the travel of United States students, teachers, and researchers to Japan and their study at Japanese institutions of higher learning over selected periods of time."

As proposed the program could also be structured with two phases, that of (1) bringing U.S. students and their professors to Japan and (2) sending Japanese students and professors to the United States.

The Commission in advancing this proposal suggests that a Pilot Project in behalf of North Carolina be staged. A yearly total of five million dollars from surplus funds could be used to expedite movement of students, faculty members and researchers from North Carolina schools to Japanese schools or to Asian schools if acceptable.

Individual scholarships ranging from $5,000 to $15,000 could be funded. A total of 1,000 slots could be provided under this arrangement, Jenkins said. The apportionment of funds for a state of North Carolina program, as proposed, could tentatively be as follows:

	Unit	Total (200)
A. For undergraduate student academic year of study and travel in Japan @	$5,000	$1,000,000
B. For graduate student study and travel @	6,000	1,200,000
C. Professor exchange (research and teaching) @	10,000	2,000,000
D. Japanese students to the United States @	5,000	1,000,000
		$5,200,000

NEW SPARE SUBSTATION ON WHEELS — The Greenville Utilities Commission has recently purchased a mobile substation that can be moved into place in the case of a power failure at any of the city's power control points. The unit is housed on a trailer which can be moved into position in a few minutes and also can be used in case of a power overload. The mobile transformer cost approximately $130,000 and its output is capable of approximately 115,000 volts. The unit was built by Westinghouse. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Homecoming Held At Rose

By TOM FOREMAN
Reflector Staff Writer

Homecoming festivities were held Friday afternoon at J.H. Rose High School as the entire school body gathered in the gymnasium for cheers, skits, and the presentation of the homecoming court.

After the invocation was given by Assistant principal Clarence Gray, the Drama Club presented a skit depicting the theme for this year, "Outer Space."

ticipating in their last home football game, were introduced to the audience. Those playing in their last homecoming included: Reggie Perkins, Robert Baker, Jimmy Sutton, Calvin Moore, Kenny Randolph, John Calhoun, Harding Sugg, Fred Lemmond, Henry Bunn, Michael Reilly, Lee Cherry, Kenneth Creech, Charles Tyson, Ronald Moore, Al Hunter, Matthew Clark, Mike Harris, George Price, Maurice Sheppard, Donald Bell, Dean Phillips, Kennon Powell, and Thomas Foreman.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. John Hunter and Phil Moore for their spirit and assistance to the Rose athletic program during the year. Cheerleader Amy Leggett presented Mrs. Hunter with a rose and a cake. Will Moore, son of Phil Moore accepted the gifts for his father.

Highlight of the afternoon assembly was the presentation of the 1972 homecoming queens and her princesses. Seniors Kate Welch and Marilyn Jones were elected as this year's queens. Being a member of the National Honor Society, Kate is also co-head cheerleader. Marilyn is also a member of the National Honor Society.

AlcoholismDrug Workshop Set

Mental health professionals from the Carolinas will participate in a workshop on alcohol and drug abuse Nov. 8-10 in Hendersonville.

Don Watson, Training Specialist for the East Carolina University based Alcoholism Training Program for North Carolina, said approximately 150 persons are expected to attend the event, the first two-state joint effort on the problem of alcoholism.

Hydrant Hit, Charge Made

A Pinetops man has been charged by police with hit and run driving following an accident Friday afternoon.

According to police, a vehicle being driven by Charles F. Hussey of Pinetops allegedly struck a fire hydrant at the intersection of S. Clark and W. Tenth Streets at approximately 12:25 p.m.

Greenville Utilities reported that damage to the fire hydrant was estimated at $500.

Passenger Tax

RALEIGH (AP) — The Raleigh-Durham Airport Authority is expected to reinstate a $2 per head passenger boarding tax next Wednesday as a result of President Nixon's vetoing of a bill outlawing the tax.

Prices Slip For Tobacco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Faltering demand caused flue-cured tobacco prices to slip last week to the lowest levels of the season.

The Federal-State Market News Service reported that practically all grades were lower on the Eastern North Carolina Belt with the losses ranging from $2 to $8 per hundred.

The News Service reported prices were down for 86 per cent of the grades on the Virginia-North Carolina Old Belt with the declines ranging from $1 to $6 centered on lugs, primings and nondescript.

Practically all grade prices were reported down on the North Carolina Middle Belt with the losses ranging from $1 to $6 per hundred.

The news service reported the purchases by the Stabilization Corporation under the government price support program increased drastically in the wake of falling prices. It said stabilization took 23.5 per cent of Eastern Belt sales, 18.5 per cent of Old Belt sales and 18.4 per cent of Middle Belt sales.

According to the news service, Eastern Belt sales for the week totaled 12.9 million pounds that averaged $77.50.

Old Belt sales for the week totaled 16.4 million pounds that averaged $75, down $3.75 from the previous week. Sales for the season reached 181.5 million pounds and the season average was $83.41.

Middle Belt sales for the week were reported at 7.7 million pounds for a $77.21 average, down $3.89 from the previous week. Season sales reached 103 million pounds and the season average was $85.37.

Quality of the offerings was lower on all three belts.

Professor Compares Campaigns Of India And United States

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

With U.S. elections just a little over a week away, East Carolina University's Dr. Umesh Gulati has some interesting comparisons to make in contrasting the political elections in his native India and in the United States.

An Associate Professor of Economics in the Department of Economics of the School of Business, Dr. Gulati is an avid follower of political as well as economic trends.

In a recent interview, he gave his thoughts on several ideas related to political activities in the two large countries whose governments, though somewhat different in make up, are both the result of democratically elected representatives. The interview was conducted in a question-answer format.

Q: In general, what the similarities of elections in India and the United States?

A: India, the world's most populous democracy, offers some interesting similarities as well as striking contrasts with the United States in the manner of election procedures and the attitudes of the people. In India, elections are held to choose representatives to the Lok Sabha, the lower House of Parliament, and to the various state assemblies. The leader of the party winning the majority in Parliament becomes the Prime Minister and thus becomes the Chief Executive of the nation.

India's Rajya Sabha, the Upper House, is more akin to the British House of Lords than to the American Senate. Members of the Rajya Sabha are elected by representatives to the State Assemblies. The President of India is elected by members of the lower House of Parliament and by representatives to the State Assemblies. These elections are a rather complex process on proportional representation.

Q: How often are elections held?

A: Elections are held every five years. That is, five years is the maximum time that can elapse between elections. In India, as in England, if the government feels, because of a specific issue, there is a need for a new mandate, the prime minister can advise the president to dissolve Parliament and ask the people for a new mandate through a new election.

Q: How far in advance does active campaigning begin in India?

A: Usually five to six months in advance of election date. In the case of a mandate being called for, a date can be fixed with as little as two months advance notice. Such a situation, as you can well imagine, can create problems for the opposition parties.

Q: About how many, and what are the names of major political parties in India?

A: On the national level, the current ruling party is the Congress Party, Prime Minister's Madam Gandhi's party. There is also the Congress (O) Party, an offshoot of the original Congress party. Other major parties include Jana Sangha and two factions of the Communist Party. One of these is oriented to the Soviet Union, the other toward China. There are also a couple of Socialist parties.

Unlike the U.S., there are major parties that exist at the state level that are not national parties. Two of the most important of these are the Akali Party in Punjab and the DMK Party in Madras.

Q: What is the tenor of election campaigns in India compared with those in the U.S.?

A: In comparison to India, a person will find elections in the United States very quiet. Television is still in its infancy in India, hence this medium is not used for campaign purposes. The All-India Radio, the only radio network in India, is owned by the government but is not used as a means of partisan propaganda. What is lost by radio and television is more than made up by mass rallies, corner meetings, and house to house campaigning. Indeed these things are so common, and are such a large scale, that an overseas visitor will never fail to miss them.

In India, campaigning is more vigorous, more personal, less dependent on sophisticated news media than in the U.S.

Q: What about censorship by the party in power at campaign time, any problems there?

Blimp Advantages Are Seen

By RICH OPPEL
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — As a member of a select society of dirigible pilots, Capt. Frank Hogan would like to bring back the blimp so people can fly low and slow and rediscover America.

"For the last 10 years, speed, speed, speed has been the thing," says Hogan, the pilot of a blimp named Mayflower. "People are getting away from that."

At the age of 50, Hogan has spent the past two decades guiding the big buzzing balloons through the nation's skies. He is one of 20 dirigible pilots flying for Goodyear Inc., which operates four of the five blimps now operating in the world.

He hopes for the day of the "superblimp," a giant ship carrying 300 people instead of six passengers and a pilot, which would slowly tool across the American continent at 40 or 50 miles an hour.

Passengers could relax in luxurious lounges, "watching the jack rabbits" bouncing along the prairies as he now does on promotional trips between visits to various cities.

The former World War II bomber pilot said his visions are mostly wistful. Most people still think of the 1937 Hindenburg disaster at Lakehurst, N. J., when they think of blimps, he said.

Modern blimps are filled with nonflammable helium in contrast to the volatile hydrogen gas which consumed the Hindenburg, killing 37 people.

INSTALLED

Alice B. Arledge, assistant professor of early childhood education at East Carolina University, was installed as first vice president and program chairman of the North Carolina Kindergarten Association at its annual conference in Fayetteville last week.

all the parties make full use of this medium to publicize their views, criticize the other parties, and try to get editorial endorsements.

Q: What about major political issues in India?

A: Major issues of concern in India and the United States are different in some respect, and so also are the attitudes of the people towards them. In India, most people live at or below poverty level. For that reason, the slogan, Abolish Poverty, brought Madam Gandhi a landslide victory in the last elections. In the United States, where most people are above poverty level, a similar promise by Senator McGovern has not broken any ice yet.

I suspect though, that many people in the U.S. wrongly believe that poverty that exists in the U.S. is confined mainly to the people of minority races. Contrary to that belief, in absolute numbers, there are more white than black poor, and more whites on welfare rolls than blacks.

Besides, it is the basic belief of Americans, for which I admire them very much, that poverty can be removed by one's own efforts. In India, on the other hand, most people expect the government to remove the poverty. Both these beliefs are extreme. No amount of governmental effort can remove poverty of the masses in India if the people themselves are not hardworking and risk taking. Similarly, in the U.S., individual efforts alone will not be enough.

Q: In view of your last remark, what do you feel is perhaps a solution to the basic issue of poverty?

A: Governmental support for education, health care, housing and encouraging employment is a necessary supplement to individual efforts in both countries, though in different degrees.

Q: How do you account for the success of women — Madam Gandhi, for instance, in Indian politics?

A: Perhaps the best answer to that question is that the average Indian male has a benevolent attitude toward women. Though man is the principal breadwinner and most women do not work, any woman who has intelligence and ability in India are able to engage in politics and in the professions. There are women governors and cabinet ministers in India. Madam Pandit of India was the first woman president of the United Nations.

Q: What are requirements for becoming a voter in India?

A? A voter must be 21 years of age. There is no discrimination on color, caste, or education requirements for the voter in India.

Suspend Officer Over Mustache

MIAMI (AP) — Patrolman Daniel Zell, voted Miami's outstanding officer of the year in 1969, has been suspended from duty because his mustache is a quarter of an inch too long, police officials say.

"A lieutenant told me I look so bad that he's ashamed to see me in public because I embarrass him," the blond, curly-haired Zell said Friday. "I don't know what public he means."

Zell, 26, said he was ordered to trim his mustache, hair and sideburns at roll call Wednesday. When he returned Thursday without stopping at the barber shop, he was sent home by his sergeant.

Police spokesman Sgt. Kenneth Harrison said Zell's official status is "absent without permission and without pay."

In addition to his drooping mustache, police officials charge Zell's entire head is too hairy and in violation of the department's grooming code.

Zell contends that his superiors are out of step with the times and he was singled out because he led a fight which resulted in a relaxation of the department grooming code six months ago.

The code specifies hair shall be collar-length and "the ear shall be left well defined at all times." Sideburns are not to extend below the ear lobe and mustaches must not extend more than one-half inch beyond nor more than one-quarter inch below the corners of the mouth.

Zell won the Miami Rotary Club's $1,000 award as top policeman in 1969 and two officer-of-the-month awards in 1967 and 1968 when he was a crew-cut recruit.

Three Wrecks Here Friday

Police reported that three Friday traffic accidents caused an estimated $1,150. Two of the three accidents resulted in no charges being made.

The first accident occurred near the intersection of South Evans Street and Kirkland Drive. Police charged Claude Smith, Jr. of Rt. 1, Walstonburg with failure to keep proper lookout after the car he was driving collided with an auto being driven by Dana Lynn Ivy of Springfield, Va.

Damage to the Ivy vehicle was $500, while the Smith car received no damages. The mishap occurred at 9:40 a.m.

Police made no charges in an 11:58 a.m. accident at the intersection of Dickinson and Columbia Avenues. Police stated that a vehicle driven by Elizabeth H. Williams of Conee collided with a car being driven by Danny Ray Memolo of Greenville. Damage to the Williams car was $200, while damage to the Memolo car was $250.

No charges were made in a 4:40 p.m. accident as police stated that a car being driven by Heber Stepp of 206 E. Ninth collided with a vehicle owned by Unichem, Inc. Damage to the Stepp car was $200, while the Unichem auto sustained no damages.

Flags Break Out In South Vietnam

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese civilians have been told to wage war with flags while government forces swap bullets with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

All citizens have been ordered to carry at least one South Vietnamese flag at all times to "prove they are nationalists and not Communists." Those who don't run the risk of being held by police for up to three days while their backgrounds are investigated.

Sources said the government has ordered 7½ million national flags to be delivered to the provinces by the end of this month. These would be used to mark areas under government control in the event of a ceasefire.

The Interior Ministry's printing shop in Saigon confirmed it has run off more than 5 million paper pennants for distribution in rural areas.

"The peasants are poor, so if they cannot afford a flag we will give them one," explained an official. "In Saigon the people can afford to buy their own."

Police have also imposed restrictions on the sale of blue and red material that might be used to manufacture Viet Cong flags.

Buyers of red and blue material are now required to explain why they want it, and in some cases have to surrender their identification cards while their stories are checked.

Communist command documents captured in Binh Dinh province last week indicated the Viet Cong also are waging a flag campaign.

Seminar Held For Accountants

About 60 accountants from all parts of North Carolina have completed a Professional Development Conference at East Carolina University.

The three-day event was sponsored by the ECU Division of Continuing Education and the ECU School of Business in cooperation with the North Carolina Society of Accountants.

Lecturers at the conference sessions included ECU instructors of accounting and Attorney William H. Watson of Greenville.

Galifianakis Attuned To East

Nick Galifianakis, the Democratic nominee for U.S. Senate, sometimes impresses people as having suddenly burst upon the political scene in North Carolina. The fact is, however, that Galifianakis has been in politics for quite a while now. Galifianakis served first in the State Legislature, then he went on to U. S. Congress and now he is his party's nominee for the U. S. Senate.

Thus the energetic attorney is about as well grounded in North Carolina politics as anyone can be and we doubt if there is anyone who sincerely has the interest of his fellow Tar Heel citizens in mind more than does Nick Galifianakis.

Despite the fact that he has been involved in North Carolina politics for a number of years, this campaign is the first time most of us in Eastern North Carolina have had the opportunity to vote for Galifianakis. However, his interest in eastern problems and needs goes back many years before he chose to make a state wide race for the U. S.

Senate. Galifianakis has many friends down East and he has made it his business to study the problems that face the tobacco farmer, the small businessmen and the working people who characterize our region.

His interest in the East was reflected in the fact that when he announced his candidacy for the U. S. Senate he made his initial statement right here in Greenville.

Nick Galifianakis is an articulate man with a youthful image. He is moderate in his approach to government and his thinking is thoroughly in line with that of the great majority of his fellow Tar Heels.

Our state will have a strong and vigorous voice in the United States Senate with election of Nick Galifianakis. We enthusiastically recommend this outstanding man to the voters of North Carolina.

Move Against Voters' Apathy

By ROLAND EVAND and ROBERT NOVAK UNIONDALE, N. Y.

Behind President Nixon's decision to shed his invisibility as an active Presidential candidate is rising White House concern that his huge lead in the polls over Sen. George McGovern will breed huge apathy among potential pro-Nixon voters Nov. 7, particularly Republicans.

Thus, the President's motorcade Monday through the rich New York City suburbs of Westchester County, ending at a giant rally here on Long Island, was deliberately aimed at the middle-income, suburbs, mainly Republican, not a lower-income, working-class Democrats in Brooklyn and the Bronx.

For Mr. Nixon the issue is simple arithmetic. With ethnic Catholics and Jewish workers moving in apparently record numbers toward a Republican Presidential candidate, Mr. Nixon seems assured of far more votes in New York City than he got either in 1960 or 1968. In both those earlier Presidential races, he lost the city by close to 700,000.

But what really cost him the state was not his New York City deficits but his failure to attract voters in the suburbs and upstate with anything like Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's customary pluralities or the even greater pluralities of Dwight Eisenhower.

In short, the political insurance the President needs to capture the Empire State, quite apart from any icing on the cake he may well get in the city, is to do as well upstate as Rockefeller. Eisenhower or any other statewide Republican candidate back to Thomas E. Dewey in 1958.

Polls now under close scrutiny by the President's New York managers indicate that Republicans may stay home in record numbers — as much as 40 per cent in some areas — while committed pro-McGovern Democrats plan to vote as high as 90 per cent-plus.

Hence the SOS to the White House, with several recommended schedules designed to whip up pro-Nixon enthusiasm in heavily Republican areas.

Discarding the upstate choice of Syracuse and Rochester (favored by some

New York operatives) the White House opted for the motorcade through the lush, middle-income pastures of Westchester County. The purpose: not to convert independents and Democrats but to remind Republicans that there will in fact be a Presidential election on Nov. 7 and that Richard Nixon is running.

The formula was highly successful, judging from the holiday crowds that turned out along his 50-mile line of march. Mr. Nixon will try it again, possible in the Chicago area early next week and in California just before the election.

For this president in this election, the mild campaign pabulum of a motorcade solves many problems. In the first place, it makes an ideal television spectacular with minimum risk of overexposure to Mr. Nixon.

More important, Mr. Nixon avoids stepping to the podium at one political rally after another to make the kind of set speech that in the past has turned off voters. On Monday, for example, his only two speeches came at the end of the day here in Nassau County — to a highly partisan audience from which all but a handful of Nixon-haters had been screened out — and at an airport rally in neighboring Suffolk County. Yet he was seen throughout the day in person by several hundred thousands and millions more on television.

With only a few campaigning days left, the President has exercised precisely the self-restraint on the campaign trail that his advisers, most particularly John N. Mitchell, had long counselled. Their nightmare was a President Nixon on the loose, as in the fatal 1970 Congressional campaign, forfeiting votes wherever he went with overly harsh rhetoric and questionable political themes.

By contrast, Mrs. Nixon will wind up the 1972 campaign with less visibility than any Presidential candidate since Franklin D. Roosevelt in wartime 1944. His motorcade through the rich suburbs of New York City should help dispel apathy among Republican voters, and fatten Mr. Nixon's lead in Republican territory, but it was guaranteed not to break the spell of blandness that permeates his bid for reelection.

"Now, I can make you a super-sweet deal on this little house... now owned by some dude named McGovern."

Loading the heavy crates on the trucks was taken in stride at that time.

Minges shook his head. "Five or six years ago I tried again. I threw several cases and I quit. Had to. I was given out."

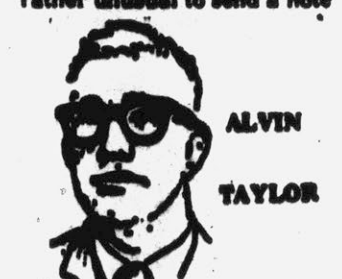

The Utilities Commission and the City Council got together last week to view a film on Electricities. The conversation turned to joggling.

"Well," said Mayor Eugene West. "If you see me out joggling, you can call the psychiatrist."

I gained such insight into college life! I was inspired by the friendliness that was displayed by the students and the faculty, for I never would have believed that such an air of amicability could prevail at such a large university.

Other Editors Say Not A Dirty Word

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

A lot of people have different ideas about profit, and about how much profit the average American business makes. How much profit does the average business make on its sales? Ten per cent? Twenty? Thirty?

A typical guess is about 30 per cent, since a recent survey showed that most people figured business profit at 28 percent. But would you believe the actual figure is only four and half per cent? The average U.S. business makes a profit of only 4 and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

What is more, it pays out about 14 times as much in wages and benefits to its employees as it received in profits.

Official government figures prove it. Last year, American business turned out goods and services accounting to 1 trillion, 46 million dollars.

In return, it netted a profit of 47 and half billion dollars, which figures out to only four and half per cent of its total sales — four and half cents on the dollar.

Along the way, business paid out over $640 billion in wages and benefits — or nearly two-thirds of the whole figure. The remaining one third or so went for taxes, equipment and expansion, interest on loans, transportation and all the other expenses any business is subject to.

But of course the story doesn't end there. Because it is this system of profit — even scant profit in many cases — that has provided America with a standard of living that is the envy of the world.

It is this system that employs 81 and half million Americans in jobs of their own choosing — not in jobs the government says they must perform, as in Russia, China and some other countries.

Wer's not insisting that everything is perfect, but the free enterprise system is the most efficient type of economic generator yet devised. Free enterprise is based on competition, and competition is based on profit.

If that makes profit a dirty word, then we know of no clean ones.

People Need Humor

By H.D. QUIGG NEW YORK (UPI)—What has happened to funny stuff in America? Where has it all gone? There don't seem to be any gags being passed around among friends or on the streets. High-slapping stories, once in bountiful supply, have dwindled down to a precious few.

You don't have people like Fred Allen going to the West Coast and remarking in conversation: "California is a fine place to live. If you're an orange."

Or Robert Benchley, who had a running bonhomie with his bank, paying off at a party at 4 o'clock one morning and signing the check: "Dear bank, having wonderful time, wish you were here, Bob."

Or Joe Frisco, the stuttering comic, taking a friend to his hotel room and phoning the desk clerk: "I have a complaint. There's 1-4-two people in this room and only one B-B-Bible."

This kind of compulsive joviality, according to pulsations of the droll, seems to be in deep doldrums. A sort of boffo downswing. The general tendency is to blame the harsh times for this—the parlous state of the world and the brutality upwelling begetting a humorless mood.

Tempe Too Fast Sam Levenson, the comedian, who is writing a book about the change in era, disagrees with this theory. He says the trouble lies with the tremendous quickening in the tempo of living.

"I'll tell you the reason you hear fewer gags on the streets," he said. "People don't talk to each other. They're too busy. Then they go home and have a quick dinner and sit and stare at television for three hours. When there is no dialogue, how are you going to get joke-telling among people?"

"There's a general impatience. I don't see people sitting down and chatting any more. People have no patience with humor. You get a man on TV who's telling a joke, and if he's not getting a laugh before 10 seconds people think it's deadly. Will Rogers in his day could stand and think that long.

Strength For Today

HAVE A PLAN

People who really get somewhere in life are people who have a plan for their lives and follow it. The person who is battered from pillar to post, who has no real objective, who does not know and does not care about his steadfastness to high and noble things — such a person comes to ruin, and the appalling thing is that very often he does not realize it.

It can be shown that almost without exception the world's great leaders have been people who set up definite goals and pressed toward them. In speaking about the spiritual life Jesus once remarked that a man building a house must sit down and plan what he is going to do, or a man leading an army must make very sure how, with the number of troops he has, that he can meet and overwhelm the troops sent against him. This was the great Teacher's way of saying that planning is an essential part of wholesome spiritual life.

We are never too old to stop and ask ourselves whether or not we are dwelling; and if we do ask ourselves that question, we may be amazed to find that we are — and have been for a long time — doing that very thing. Our first job was something we stumbled upon. We found ourselves involved in serious situations not because we planned it that way but because they just happened. Accordingly, as we walked along the pathway of life certain people with purpose written all over their faces elbowed us aside and passed us by.

These were people who had plans for their lives. by Earl Douglass

Securities Houses See Strain

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the demise or merger of more than 100 securities firms over the past few years that was supposed to have left the industry stronger than ever, evidences of weakness are reappearing.

James Needham, New York Stock Exchange chairman, calls it "the valley of a business cycle," but that is simply a broad euphemism for financial strains being experienced by the survivors of the recent shakeout.

In what seems in a small way to be a repeat of the old scenario, well-known securities houses are reporting sagging incomes, and in some instances they see little hope of recovery except through mergers.

As Needham told NYSE member firms this week that the situation compelled him to resist pressure for negotiated or lower commissions:

—Hayden, Stone, Inc. was reporting net income for the three months ended Sept. 29 of only $24,968, or one cent a share, compared with $893,110 a year earlier.

The company's management echoed an old refrain. They said they have now "focused attention on tightening our cost control procedures."

—Stockholders of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. were contemplating a 53 per cent decline in September earnings to $1.6 million from $3.3 million in September 1971.

Merrill Lynch, the world's biggest broker, remains highly profitable, however, as do several other firms, including E.F. Hutton and Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette Inc.

—First Boston Corp., an investment banker and underwriter, reported a 53 per cent decline in earnings for the third quarter, and Reynolds Securities showed a 15 per cent drop.

—Shields & Co. and Drexel Firestone Inc. were reportedly exploring possible advantages of combining, primarily to reduce fixed overhead. Halsey, Stuart & Co. and A.G. Becker & Co. were doing the same.

The condition of The Street is said to result from a combination of high overhead and sagging volume. Ironically, some of the overhead consists of computers installed to handle high volume.

What seems to be the biggest plague of all is the one alluded to by Needham: the cyclical nature of the industry. It is extremely sensitive not only to conomic changes and expectations, but to the whims of investors.

Many critics claim that it is still suffering from the excesses of the late 1960s, when millions of new shareholders were attracted to investments and then disillusioned by both falling prices and low ethics.

The forced closings, tangled bookkeeping, the inability to deliver stocks that were bought or sold, and the threatened and actual losses of customer funds produced considerable ill will.

Since then, the SEC, the exchange, their member firms and others have been trying to restructure and strengthen the markets, but the job is still far from complete. Thus an atmosphere of conflict and change continues, and the public apparently stays on the sidelines waiting for it to end.

Observations From Editorial Columns

The Forest Remains

"After almost 500 years, the American forest is still three-fourths as large as it was when Columbus landed." That is the eye-catching title of an advertisement published by the American Forest Institute. The statement is worth pondering. Americans who have visited lands around the Mediterranean have been impressed by their barrenness. A Spanish official told an international gathering that his country, almost treeless today, once was so heavily forested that a monkey could have traveled from the Pyrenees to Portugal without touching the ground. Cutting for timber and firewood razed primeval forests in the cradle of Western civilization. Americans have been luckier and more prudent. "After supplying so much of the material and the land to build America's houses and cities and highways, after meeting our constantly growing demands for paper products, our forest is still 761 million acres big," says the forest institute. "To supplement natural planting, we're planting trees ourselves: more than a million and a half acres of forest a year — and more than one tree for every tree we use." The record is commendable. Americans should be proud of it. — Miami (Fla.) Herald

Resource Investigation

Few nations of the world today enjoy self-sufficiency in natural resources. As populations increase and industrial demand expands, the interdependency upon others to supply basic resources also grows. The U.S. National Commission on Materials Policy finds the United States caught up in the gap between needs and resources and warns measures will be necessary in coming decades to reverse the trend. Formed in 1971 with the mission of recommending a national materials policy to Congress and the President by June, 1973, the commission has issued an interim report. The report makes clear the growing dependency of the United States upon other nations for natural resources will prove harmful to the nation. The only practical solution the panel found was to gradually convert the economy to resources which are plentiful. "The alternative," it said, "is progressive deterioration in the mineral position of the United States, with all that implies." — Shreveport (La.) Journal

Journalist's Book Of Prayer

An enterprising publishing house, possible realizing what perilous times these are for American newsmen, has printed a new volume called "The Journalist's Prayer Book." It contains spiritual offerings from some of the nation's top journalists, and if nothing else it suggests that some of them could have made pretty good country preachers. There is, for instance, this appeal from Walter Cronkite of CBS: "Dear God: Help me remember and my fellow man understand that the truth knows neither friend nor enemy, nor can those who pursue it." ABC's Vietnam correspondent Steve Bell has a special prayer: "Arm me, O God, with courage to go where the story goes, yet fear of becoming calloused to the horrors of war; detachment that never loses sight of basic issues, yet involvement that shares the thought and fears of individuals; purpose in the knowledge that free men must know, yet a sense of divine purpose that always recognizes war as the failure to know thee." Black reporter Millicent Brown Fauntleroy offers these poetic lines: "Ignore the cries of 'Tom' and 'nigger'; forget about deadlines and be a digger." And for the self-confident comes this brief message from Clifton Daniel of the New York Times: "I pray God to make me wise. I'll take care of the rest." We'll quit on that one from the New York Times, which seems to like brevity only in prayer. — Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

And 87 Votes For

Ralph Nader, advocate of all that is good and right and just and noble, has suggested that voting in national elections be made mandatory. Speaking to a League of Women Voters meeting in Washington, Nader said there is no major controversy over mandatory voting in Australia and that the voting percentage reaches 92. We recommend that Nader look into the Australian situation a little more closely.

A member of our staff visited briefly in the land down under in 1968. While in Sydney he chanced to meet a member of the New South Wales legislature. The subject of mandatory voting came up and the legislator revealed the system wasn't foolproof. He said some people fulfilled the legal requirement by putting a ballot in the box, but instead of votes there were obscenities written on it. — Rock Hill (S.C.) Herald

A Conservative View Reflections On Rectitude Of George McGovern

By J. J. KILPATRICK

One of the most revealing interviews of this campaign appeared on October 20 in the Washington Post in the transcript of the conversation between Senator George McGovern and Reporter William Greider. When the post mortems begin on November 8, and our political pathologists begin to explain McGovern's loss, they might find a good starting point here.

It is the absolute self-righteousness of the man; and this is one characteristic, I venture to suggest, that the American people simple will not buy when they choose a political leader. Our voters have stomachs of stainless steel. They will tolerate the hypocrite, the gasbag, the wheeler-dealer, and the second-rater, but in the presence of moral rectitude, the typical voter comes down with the heebie-jeebies. He starts glancing around for the nearest exit.

"You know," McGovern said to Greider, "all of my life I've grown up in a religious climate where I was taught that life is a struggle between good and evil, and that that's what it's all about. For every individual and every nation, it's a struggle between the impulses of evil and the impulses of goodness and, historically, sometimes the good impulses win out and sometimes the evil, so who knows what's going to happen? But I just feel very strongly that this election is different than any one in my lifetime in terms of the stakes."

Greider was plainly taken aback. "Well," he said, "the good-and-the-evil — Washington would say certainly, wow, that's an arrogant black-and-white description of the choice."

"That's the way I feel," McGovern said. It was a moment of uncomfortable truth — for this is indeed the way McGovern feels. He views this campaign as a kind of apocalyptic combat: On one side the legions of darkness, on the other the angels of light. He is convinced that Nixon's impulses are the impulses of evil: He himself is "really terrified at the thought of another four years of Nixon." But he cannot perceive how any decent person could look with terror on the thought of four years of McGovern, for McGovern is Virtue and Nixon is Sin. What reasonable man, having been offered a chance at salvation, would opt for perdition instead?

This Olympian attitude cropped up earlier in the campaign, in McGovern's crack about the working man. Any man who works with his hands, and votes for Nixon, "ought to have his head examined." Such a man, in this view is not merely misguided: He is nuts.

The trouble with this approach is that it wipes out a middle ground, and it sets in motion some uneasy apprehensions. If this election is a struggle between the Impulses of Evil and Impulses of Goodness, how would a President Goodness deal with his foes once he took over the White House? Hellfire and damnation? Outer darkness? No wonder Bill Greider said, "Wow."

The voters, if I am not mistaken, are not so willing to march to Armageddon on a Tuesday. They know — their observation tells them so — that the political art seldom is crafted in stark black and white. They understand that honest differences of opinion cannot be bottled and labeled, here are the juices of goodness, there the poison of evil. We do not think, most of us, in millennial terms. It is all we can do to get out of bed in the morning.

Moral rectitude ought to be an admirable quality in a man. As an abstract proposition, doubtless it is. But a man who identifies himself with the impulses of goodness ought to have the grace to keep that high opinion to himself.

The Senator is fond of quoting from Holy Scripture. One of these days, when the campaign is over, he might want to return to that parable in Luke 18 of the Pharisee and the Publican. The story was aimed at those who "trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others." And the moral of the story, though it may have slipped the Senator's mind, is that "everyone who exalteth himself shall be abased, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." It's a useful tale for publican sinners, but it seems to be lost on the Democratic nominee.

Agnew Visit Indicative Of GOP Hopes In N.C.

By JOHN KILGO
RALEIGH — Vice President Spiro Agnew's visit to North Carolina is an indication that the Republicans feel they have a good chance of winning the state in the race for Governor and the U.S. Senate.

Initial plans for Agnew were for him to make only an airport stop at Charlotte last Wednesday.

Charles Jonas Jr., who heads the Nixon campaign in North Carolina, has been pushing for the President to campaign in this state — and the President might be here yet. But from all indications, Nixon is well ahead here and he might feel that he doesn't need to stump North Carolina.

Jonas has been following another tact. He's been telling the national Republicans that a visit to North Carolina might be the shot in the arm that could win for Jim Holshouser and Jesse Helms. Jonas is convinced that those two races are extremely close.

And it is the main reason Agnew decided to do more than say a few words at the Charlotte airport. They turned that into a full-fledge rally at Park Center, where Agnew could not only praise President Nixon, but also embrace Helms and Holshouser.

What are the chances that Nixon will visit the state later? "We're still trying to get him here," Jonas told me.

Nick Galifianakis supporters feel their man can be helped greatly down the stretch if Sen. Sam Ervin will campaign hard in Nick's behalf. Ervin has done some stumping — but Galifianakis supporters hope they can call on him for more...Meanwhile, Jesse Helms hopes to make inroads in Piedmont North Carolina by getting campaign help from Charles Jonas, the popular Republican 9th District Congressman who is retiring from public life. Jonas has agreed to do what he can for Helms during the last 10 days of the campaign.

Attorney General Robert Morgan, who is conducting almost an invisible campaign for reelection, is working hard for Richard Clark, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the 8th District. Morgan has made several TV spots for Clark and will be a featured guest at a Kannapolis rally for Clark to be held this weekend...In the 9th District Congressional race involving Democrat Jim Beatty and Republican Jim Martin, most observers feel Beatty is ahead in Lincoln County. Martin is ahead in Iredell County and the two are pretty close to even in Mecklenburg. That race ought to be one of the more interesting of the day on Nov. 7.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Sunday, Oct. 29, the 303rd day of 1972. There are 63 days left in the year. Daylight Savings Time ends for most of the nation.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1929, the New York stock market collapsed, setting off the worst financial catastrophe in the nation's history.

On this date: In 1618, Sir Walter Raleigh was executed in London, charged with treason against King James.

In 1814, the first steam warship was launched. It was built by Robert Fulton for the U.S. Navy.

In 1918, German sailors mutinied at the Kiel naval base, demanding prompt peace negotiations with the Allies.

In 1923, the Republic of Turkey was proclaimed.

In 1940, numbers were drawn in the first peacetime draft in the history of the United States.

In 1957, several persons were injured when a hand grenade exploded in the Israeli Parliament in Jerusalem.

Saigon Gov't And VC Prove Junior Partners In Peace Negotiations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent
The horse trading that hammered out Vietnam peace terms leaves little doubt that the original combatants, the Saigon government and the Viet Cong, were much the junior partners in the end.

In the course of the bargaining both sides evidently made important concessions. But the bargaining was done by representatives of the United States and North Vietnam. The pronouncements were made by them, while the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong's "Provisional Revolutionary Government" waited on the sidelines.

The Vietnam war began as a contest between a guerrilla movement dominated by Communists and a Saigon regime consolidating its hold after the 1954 ouster of France and the Geneva settlement. The guerrillas were aided by the North but for years there was no overt infiltration of northern troops. The South was assisted by the Americans, but for years only a handful of U.S. advisers was on the scene.

Now, after many years of bloodletting, the Americans and North Vietnamese emerge at peace negotiations as the main antagonists, while the others just look on.

The Americans' partner, represented by President Nguyen Van Thieu, seemed to be dragged kicking and screaming in the direction of compromise.

There is no public indication yet of how Hanoi's junior partner is taking it all. But the Viet Cong's subordinate role was indicated, for example, in the issuance of instructions from North Vietnam on when and how to expect the cease-fire.

To the editor:

In a column in the Daily Reflector on October 22, George Bryant, Jr. pointed out the necessity of giving serious thought to the use of the $590,000 Greenville will receive in "revenue sharing." He suggests that relief in power rates might be in order, and I agree.

I am not sure that many Greenville residents realize that GUCO makes a substantial profit from its operations, a portion of which is used to finance Recreation activities in the city. The revenue sharing funds might be put to use to finance recreation. The savings to GUCO would permit utility rates to be reduced to cost. Surely, lower income citizens of Greenville can ill-afford to pay a "hidden tax" for recreation.

Alternatively, thought might be given to using the funds for capital to institute a non-profit bus system for the city. A bus system should enable low-income people to get to jobs, increase business in the downtown area, and relieve traffic congestion without turning more streets into thruways. And, the schools could be relieved of busing responsibilities.

Quotes

One Of Strangest Performances On American Political Stage

By GEORGE BRYANT, JR.

The McGovern-Nixon extravaganza is coming up to the final curtain in much the way it opened — the strangest performance ever to cross the American political stage.

Challenger McGovern bowed on as something of a miracle man. He picked off the Democratic nomination after winning only minority support in his party's primaries. The polls say he will bow out the worst-beaten Democrat on record.

Incumbent Nixon has never been a political matinee idol.

His first term has been badly marred — continuing war, inflation, race problems and, lately, political scandal. The polls say he is due for a wild ovation; reelection by a landslide vote.

Many political students are inclined to read deep meanings into this situation. Some see it as a revulsion against the socialistic welfare state, with its burden of taxes. Others see it as having roots in racism, meaning such issues as busing, job quotas, other "minority favoritism," etc. Also, it has been called a basic political realignment in the making.

There probably is considerable truth in all of this. But the dominant issue may be pretty simple. It can be summed up in this question: How am I doing?

Next to McGovern, himself, Nixon's greatest asset has been the broad and continuing recovery which set in early in his administration when he attempted to slow inflation by putting a sharp curb on spending and credit.

Sort through the findings of pollsters and traveling reporters and you find Nixon's greatest strength, and McGovern's greatest weakness, on what might be lumped under the heading of "pocketbook" issues.

Peace, of course, is key in this. Voters not only rate Nixon as the best bet to get a solution to Vietnam, but also as the man most able to deal with Russia and China in the hunt for an era of peace.

They also see Nixon as much more likely than McGovern to follow domestic policies which will tend to keep inflation in check. McGovern is identified with the big spenders in Congress and thus more likely to support policies which would keep the wage-price spiral going at a faster pace.

Oddly enough, the voters feel that Nixon is much more likely than McGovern to reduce the rate of unemployment. This reflects a confidence in the present economic trend. Voters are reluctant to risk "rocking the boat."

Earlier, it had been expected that the level of unemployment might make Nixon vulnerable. But McGovern has been unable to make hay of this. One reason is that the 5.5 per cent unemployment statistic overstates the severity of the problem. Many workers counted as out of work are simply in the process of changing jobs. Those chronically unemployed account for only part of the total.

Nixon is able to point to an impressive "employment" record. The resumption of economic growth over the past two years has supplied millions of new jobs — enough to more than absorb increases in the labor force. Today, the number of people at work exceeds 82-million and at the highest wages and salaries ever. This is bound to be a big factor in the polls.

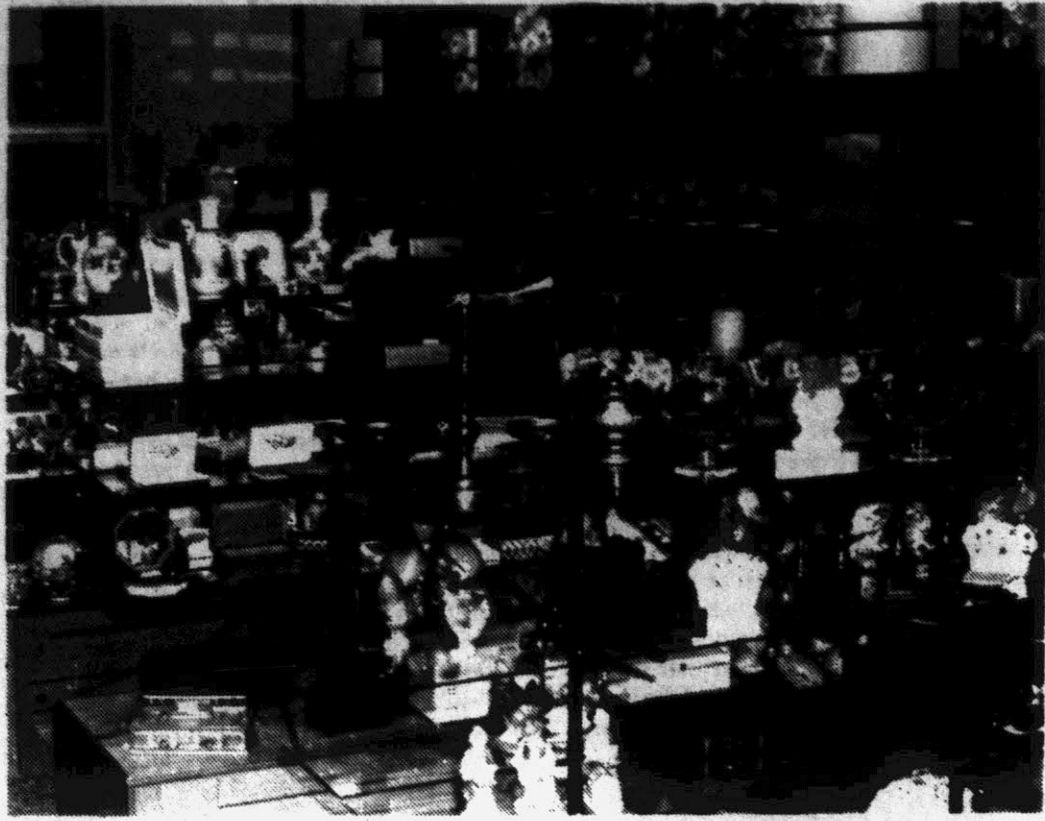

One of the real surprises of the campaign has been McGovern's failure with the young voters. There is no question but what the Democratic contender has strength on the campus. Youth had a big part in his nomination. But coming down to curtain time, McGovern's margin is put at about 2 per cent. He had what might be called the campus activists at the start, but hasn't been able to build.

Nixon's campaign has been unusual. In fact, it has been so high level and low keyed that it has hardly been a Nixon campaign at all. The President has relied on his office and his aides. He has kept the press at a distance.

The Watergate bugging and the "money stories" had to be embarrassing to Nixon. But if the polls are any indication, the public has not been greatly offended — seeing it as sophomoric behavior of underlings. But it is bound to cost Nixon some votes, especially among those who have trouble supporting any Republican.

But, then, the whole performance is strange — the South cheering for Nixon and Northern Democrats deserting their old positions.

SYLETTES...of Pitt Plaza offers a selection of wigs and gifts, some of which are shown here in a view of the new store's display area. Grand

Grand Opening Monday For A New Wig And Gift Shop Here

Grand opening activities will begin Monday morning at Sylettes, a new wig and gift shop located in the Pitt Plaza Shopping Center.

Mrs. Sybil Taylor, owner and manager who operated Sylettes Wig Boutique on Evans Street for three and a half years prior to opening the new shop, said that the shop will open at 10 a.m. Monday and remain opening until 9 p.m.

Mrs. Taylor said that shop personnel have been busy receiving and displaying new stock for several weeks and everything will be in order for the opening day.

The owner reported that Sylettes will offer a complete selection of wigs and gifts. Available will be wigs of both human hair and synthetics, she said, as well as wig styling services and accessories.

The gift selection, a new aspect of Sylettes, will include a variety of items, she said, such as candles, glass ware, brass ware, ginger jars, figures, Florentine pictures, jewelry and jewelry boxes and wood items. A large supply of gifts, Mrs.

Taylor added, are appropriate for Christmas selections.

The new location, which offers both front and rear entrances for shopper convenience, has approximately double the display space over the Evans Street store.

Mrs. Taylor, an Ayden native, said that Frances Dail of Greenville will serve as a stylist while Margaret Knight will handle the receptionist duties. Mrs. Knight is also from Greenville.

Shop hours, Monday through Saturday, will be from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m., she reported.

More Contestants In NAACP Event

Additional contestants were named to participate in the November 5 NAACP Queen contest at the monthly meeting of the executive committee of the United Pitt County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held earlier this week.

According to Pitt branch president D. D. Garrett, the new contestants scheduled to participate in the contest, to be held at York Memorial AME Zion Church, include Jeannett Henderson representing Good Hope FWB Church; Valerie Blount from Macedonia Baptist Church; Clara Boyd of Wells Chapel Church; and Teresa Gardner from Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

Garrett said the committee heard a report from Calvin Henderson of Winterville allegeding that "council meetings are held without his knowledge".

Henderson, a member of the Winterville Town board was quoted by Garrett as saying that "on occasions he has accidentally walked in on unannounced meetings and been told 'I guess you are supposed to be FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — What could be more patriotic than a school with red, white and blue school colors, an American eagle mascot and the telephone number 796-1776?

What could be more nontraditional than a school with giant pillows on the floor and acid rock music piped in between class periods?

American High School has it all.

In the morning, principal Joe Tranchina hangs his coat on a red, white and blue coat hanger and sips coffee from a mug of the same colors as his secretary briefs him on a red, white and blue phone.

No, Tranchina isn't bent on making 1,270 ultratrips. In fact, the students themselves named their new $5 million high school which opened this fall, and chose their own mascot and colors.

"All I'm trying to do is to make the kids a part of the school," Tranchina said in an interview.

"The degree to which we've de-institutionalized the school's setting allows the students to become more involved in the learning process," Tranchina explained. "The positive attitudes from this improved environment make the student a better learner."

Put more simply, the principal's vision of American High was a school which didn't look like a school.

Wall-to-wall carpeting covers all 180,000 square feet of the school building. There are no classrooms as such, only colorful screens between groups of students.

Large fluffy pillows help students relax while in class.

Between classes, music booms out through the public address system.

"We have run the gamut from Bach to the Beatles to acid rock," said Tranchina. "We call it traveling music."

Although Tranchina says the curriculum is standard, keys to the school are "how the students and teachers relate" and interdisciplinary instruction with emphasis on integrating various subjects. Of the 54 men and women he selected to teach at American High, Tranchina says: "They were old pros and young people in the profession beginning to feel impersonalization impinging on their teaching. Many saw their vision fit American." But do the students share their principal's enthusiasm? "I found the response was very positive," Tranchina said. "One girl told me that she hated to come to school since the fourth grade but now looks forward to school. Parents say that, too."

Jaycees Present Glasses To ECU

The Greenville Jaycees has presented 50 sets of "Greenville, 1971 All-America City Nominee" glasses to East Carolina University for use as gifts to special visitors to the campus and city.

Don Brady, president of the local chapter, emphasized that "this presentation is a small token of our appreciation to East Carolina University for the kindness and cooperation extended to the Jaycees through the years."

Dr. Leo Jenkins, ECU chancellor, accepted the gift on behalf of the university. Making the presentation this week was Brady and Jaycee project chairman Doug Mewborn.

Disadvantage In Covered Bridges

BANGOR, Maine (UPI)—One of the advantages of covered bridges in the 19th Century, protection from the elements, was a disadvantage in one way. During the winter season, covered bridges had to have snow carried in to snow-pave the planking to accommodate people using sleighs and sleds for winter travel.

Henderson, according to Garrett, told the executive committee that the town has failed to pave streets in the black neighborhood and that discrimination against minority people exists in the town.

Burial Ground In Subdivision

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) — City engineering crews uncovered an Indian burial site recently while developing a new subdivision. Police inspector Wes Stubbs said a hatchet, hand-made tools and beads were found in five shallow graves. Anthropologists will examine the remains, which will be reburied in a proper grave.

Ayden-Grifton

School News

By VERA CLAYBROOK

The spotlight is being focused on the English Department of Ayden-Grifton High School this week.

As one enters Mrs. Elizabeth Morris' 11th grade literature class, he can see the past coming alive in the form of special enrichment projects. The class has broken the monotony that almost always comes with English by working on and completing projects concerning Early Colonial America.

Projects consist of films, tape recordings, wall murals, a pillary, log cabins, models of Jamestown, hornbooks, and a ship.

Although all the projects are appealing, some of them are creating more interest than others.

For example, a film by starlets Darlene Smith, Debbie Smith, and Sandra Stancill catches one's attention because of the strong resemblance to the Salem Witch trials.

Also, a hilarious project is a tape recording of an Indian raid on the Early American settlers by Matt Bosley and Jim Dail.

A pillary, constructed by Ricky Thorne and Eddie McCullen, is quite popular. Almost everyone's head (including Mrs. Morris') has at one time or another been clamped in it.

Every student has been involved in either a project or a written report.

All in all, the projects and the reports are serving a two-fold purpose — interest and a valuable learning experience.

Upon leaving Mrs. Morris' room, and entering Mrs. Helen Bradley's 12th grade classroom, one feels that he is riding to Canterbury with the pilgrims.

Two classes have been studying The Canterbury Tales by Geoffrey Chaucer, 14th century poet. Some students in the fifth period class have done two murals. One depicts a scene in the town of Canterbury with its castle and cathedral and several pilgrims just entering the town. The other shows the pilgrims dressed in colorful costumes of the period and riding their horses through the countryside of England. Other students did individual pictures of the various pilgrims.

The first period class chose as their project to write a modern Prologue. They planned to assemble a group of people representing a cross section of American society today and then let them journey to a World's Fair.

The travelers (or tourists) include an athlete, a Hippie college student, an astronaut, a psychiatrist, a lawyer, a tobacco farmer, a policeman, an actor and an actress, a gangster, a secretary, a business tycoon, a senator, a preacher, a migrant worker, and a union boss.

The characters have been carefully chosen; and each, when finished, will be characterized to portray the people of today not only by their occupation but also by their representative values, ideals, institution, and morals of the country. For instance, there is a dentist.

"Who says 'Open your mouth,' and stick a mirror in, And spies two cavities and grins again."

He drills them out and puts in fillings; And when you leave, you fear his billings."

Another member of the group is an athlete, a surfer:

"All muscle he was from head to toe

And all his power did certainly show.

His back, his arms, his legs, hands and feet—

All had been browned by the summer sun's heat.

A chat with him would surely reveal

His endless longing for the ocean's feel.

Truly a lover of nature, our friend

Would fight for ecology to the bitter end.

He had a great disgust of those Who did the litter laws oppose.

He'd surfed through bottles, plastics, and cans,

And craved for an ocean spic and span."

The class hopes that hundreds of years hence if their Prologue is found and read, people will be able to reconstruct the kind of civilization that existed in 1972. Although all the classes are not engaged in specific projects, many of them are involved in research, letter writing, dramatizations, debating, and public speaking.

One has only to enter these classrooms to evidence interest by both student and teacher alike.

D.H. Conley HIGHLIGHTS

By MARY L. BRANCH
Smile! You're being watched by our photographers here at Conley.

Mrs. Nancy Evans is the teacher of our photography class. We have learned, in just a few weeks, how to develop film and make our own prints. We've even learned to make enlargements. Wow what a great class!

Mrs. Myrtle Allen's 10th grade English classes will observe a superior court session, Friday. Rev. B. B. Felder talked with Allen's 11th grade English classes on the poem "Thanatopsis."

Mrs. Sarah Lucas, Recruiter counselor with the North Carolina Health Man-Power program, was here Thursday to talk with some classes.

Improving our school landscape is what Sutton Austin hopes to accomplish. The Horticulture class is rooting plants in the greenhouse, cleaning out shrubbery, and sewing grass on the baseball field. They are really working hard.

Our bricklaying class, under the supervision of Melvin Sugg, is practicing the Basket-weave pattern, the Herringbone pattern and the Flemish Bond pattern for building. James Boyd is the most outstanding student in this class. He earned this reputation by making high scores on tests and showing skillful ability in bricklaying.

JROTC
Hup, two, three, four, is where the action begins. It's Conley's JROTC that makes the march count.

The following cadets have been appointed and promoted to the grade indicated:

Sergeant first class — Robert Rouse, Charles Tyson, Cleveland Sherman, Clifton Anderson and Norman Marable; Cadet sergeant — William Patrick, Calvin Edwards, Richard Mobley, Joe Cash, Lee Ward, Lenwood May, Benjamin Forrest, Melvin Roach, Jimmy Warren, Jasper Cox, Donald Marable and Calvin Clemmons; private first class cadet — Melvin Williams, Joe Fornes, Robert Padgett and Franklin Tripp.

Second lieutenant — Willie Stephenson; Cadet Corporal — Bennie Williams. Our young men are ready for action!

Jeff Gaskins, member of the AFOTC at Chapel Hill, was here Friday, to talk with the seniors who are planning to attend a four year college where AFOTC is offered. The meeting was held in the Conley auditorium at 9 a.m.

We would like to welcome Mrs. Robbie Payne, our new Medical Social Counselor to Conley.

Mrs. Nancy Evans's science class had a debate on the channelization of the Chicod Creek. The result was that it should not be channeled.

The officers for physical science are chairmen, Sandra Haddock and Rick Mobley; secretary, Kathy Gaskins, and Mrs. Pattie Leary, sponsor.

Medical officers are Randy Avery and Dorothy Paton secretary and Mrs. Mamie Dews and Mrs. Ruby Jackson, club sponsors.

The score for the Junior Varsity football game, Friday night was 20 to 18. Randy Allena dn Mike McClanahan were of great aid to the team. Watch out for the Vikings when they're hot! Good luck Vikings against Farmville Central Friday night.

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Oregonians are accustomed to having L.B. Day tell them how to conduct themselves in the wilderness, that they should cut down on use of automobiles, and that loggers better not muddy up Oregon streams as they harvest timber.

But in his zeal to protect Oregon's environment, Day has taken on the U. S. government, and won concessions given no other state.

Day, 40, a former labor union business agent, is the director of the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). In his one year on the job he has shaped broad new state policy in the field.

The DEQ now has the power to regulate such diverse activities as freeway construction, car parking structures, logging and garbage disposal.

'We Step on Toes'
Armed with new laws from an environmentally conscious state legislature, Oregon has embarked on a program of pollution abatement which Day says puts the state many years ahead of any other.

"We step on toes," Day admits, "but we don't care. We've got a job to do. We enforce the environmental laws, because we shouldn't do any less."

Day's confrontation with federal officials came over the requirement that industries would have to get a waste water discharge permit from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as well as from the Oregon DEQ.

Because the state's regulations are tougher, Day told EPA's William Ruckelshaus, its permit should suffice.

There was finally agreement over that one, and a single permit—issued by Oregon—is now the rule.

Accomplishments
Look what else Day has done to stir up his antagonists:

—He has told the Army Corps of Engineers that it must have state permits before it can build or modify dams on rivers in Oregon.

—He told the Oregon Highway Division that because highways are a source of air pollution, the DEQ must approve any new highway construction plans.

—Day has proposed a parking tax in Portland as a means to discourage auto use.

Gov. Tom McCall, who is responsible for Day's appointment, has taken a lot of heat as a result.

"He's ruffled the fur the wrong way in a lot of high places," the governor admits.

"but I support him."

During his dispute with the Army Engineers, for example, Day said "if the Army Engineers are pro-conservation, then Dracula was a vegetarian."

McCall later told federal officials, "The language, I'll say, was a little too colorful, and I told them if you want me to apologize for the language, I will. But not for what he is doing."

What Day was doing was trying to get the government to modify Columbia River dams to reduce the nitrogen saturation of the water, which had been killing migrating salmon and steelhead.

Day's reply to all the criticism: "People don't have to like me. I only want them to respect me."

The ABC's of CONVERTING to ELECTRIC HEAT

What is more important than to have a home that's

COMFORTABLE / CONVENIENT EFFICIENT / ECONOMICAL CLEAN / MODERN

After all-- your home is where you spend most of your time.

12 BASIC REASONS FOR CONVERTING to ELECTRIC HEAT!

1 CONVENIENT

No waiting for delivery of fuel. No need to order it. Electric heat is automatic and dependable.

2 CLEAN

No smoke, soot or fumes. There's no combustion! Drapes and furnishings stay spotless. Saves you money.

3 COMFORTABLE

No drafts. No cold spots. Steady, even, instant warmth from floor to ceiling.

4 SPACE-SAVING

No fuel storage. No chimneys. Electric heating units are compact.

5 HEALTHY

Too-dry air a factor in winter colds. Humidity is maintained at higher levels in electrically heated homes to eliminate the dry air problem.

6 FLEXIBLE

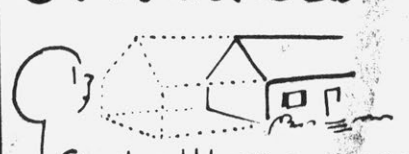

You can choose a system to fit your needs. Makes placing of furniture easier.

7 EFFICIENT

Keeps the heat in the home. Individual room control with a radiant system means you heat only the rooms you use, when you use them.

8 ADAPTABLE

Simply add heating units as you expand living space, instead of buying a whole new boiler or furnace.

9 SURE

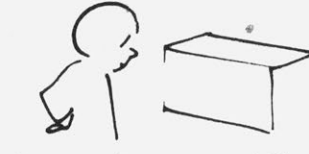

No waiting for fuel deliveries. No open flames. No dangerous fumes.

10 QUIET

As silent as an electric light. No burner roar, no banging radiators.

11 PRACTICAL

Electric heating will fit any style or age of home and no furnace or burners to clean.

12 ECONOMICAL

100% of fuel produces usable heat. Low maintenance and cleaning costs-- higher resale value.

SOME PERTINENT COST FACTS ABOUT ELECTRIC HOME HEATING

1 Some bonuses in an electric comfortable home--

Less maintenance
More usable space
Less cleaning and redecorating expense

2 Greater re-sale value to your home

If you move, you can get more for your home if it has a modern electric heating system.

3 You can budget your yearly costs on a monthly basis so you can tell in advance what your bill will be, with adjustments once a year.

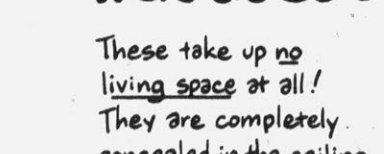

TODAY -- there's an ELECTRIC HEATING UNIT for every need.

There are BASEBOARD units--

These units replace old baseboards or moldings. They are inconspicuous, easily paintable, low-cost and easy to install. These are popular electric heating units in both new and converted homes.

There are CEILING units--

These take up no living space at all! They are completely concealed in the ceiling and give the most flexibility of furniture placement.

HOT WATER-- or ELECTRIC AUTOMATIC "HYDRONIC" system

A "suitcase size" electric boiler heats the water. It can easily replace existing furnace with a minimum of fuss and because of the small size there will be more living space in the basement.

HOT AIR-- with an ELECTRIC "WARM AIR" furnace

So clean. So economical. So silent. No fumes. No chimney. No fuel storage needed. Just hook it up to existing ductwork.

Use Liners For Waste Pools

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ecological concern for clean water and water conservation will boost sales of plastic liners for waste ponds to 140 million square feet this year, says the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

This volume of sheeting is double the amount used in 1970 for that market, Goodyear reports.

HEALTH PRODUCTS

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Worldwide sales of health products are expected to more than double in this decade from $30 billion in 1971 to $65 billion by 1980, the Stanford Research Institute reports after a study of markets and trends in 100 countries.

The Cargill is tailored to the needs of a growing family. Beamed ceilings, traditional English Tudor design and informal and formal living areas are a few of the features of this fine home. It was designed by Associated House Plans.

The Cargill is a spacious two-story with three bedrooms on the first floor and two bedrooms a bath and a study on the upper level.

Also on the first floor are two and a half baths, a foyer, living room, dining room, family room with fireplace, kitchen with breakfast area, utility room and a garage for two cars.

English Tudor styling is complemented by a sloping room, half-timber construction on the upper level and brick on the first floor exterior walls, a cupola and weather vane atop the garage and diamond paned windows.

A beamed porch shelters the main entrance which opens into the foyer. There's a powder room just off the foyer.

Sloping ceilings are used to advantage in the living room, dining room, family room and master bedroom.

This technique adds spaciousness to the living room-dining area, creating a fine formal entertaining section. Wood posts separate the living room from the foyer and center hall.

Informal activities would center in the family room. It has a fireplace, built-in book cases and sliding glass doors that connect with an outdoor patio. Spindles separate the family room from the breakfast area.

The kitchen, a delightful workshop, is strategically located to serve the dining room on one side and family room on the other. A step-saving U arrangement of appliances and cabinets enhances the kitchen.

The master bedroom enjoys privacy in a rear corner. The charm of the sloped beam ceiling is matched by several practical features.

One is the dressing area which includes a vanity and his-and-her closets. The bath is compartmented.

The other two first-floor bedrooms are just a step away from the second bath. Each has good dimensions and ample closet space.

Stairs to the second floor rise from the breakfast area. They lead to an open stud area. They lead to an open stud area and balcony which overlooks the living room-dining area.

The two bedrooms are served by a full bath. Each bedroom has a large closet, one a walk-in. There's also a walk-in closet for linen in the hall.

The garage entrance is on the side to preserve the beauty of the facade. There's plenty of room for two cars as well as a tool storage room. The utility room provides access to the main living area. It has space for a washer and dryer and a closet.

The Cargill contains a total of 2,896 square feet. There's 2,098 square feet on the main level, 798 square feet on the second floor and 647 square feet in the garage.

Enough Power In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Electricity planners predict that New Zealand will not need to begin producing nuclear power before the late 1980s.

New Zealand currently derives 85 per cent of its electricity from hydro-electric schemes, 8 per cent from geothermal energy and 7 per cent from thermal stations fuelled by coal, oil and natural gas.

Demand is doubling every decade.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than $56 billion worth of U.S. Savings Bonds are currently outstanding, says the American Bankers Association. Treasury officials expect at least $125 million new bonds will be issued this year.

The Garden Clinic

N.C. State University Answers Timely Gardening Questions

Q. How can I convince my wife that the trees in our yard would look better if they were not as thick as the hairs on a cow's back? (S.J., Fayetteville)

A. Tell her that trees do best when allowed to develop their natural symmetry. This means that they should be thinned before their crowns overlap. If you have an ordinary 100-by-150-foot lot, about three large trees — oaks, hickories, pines — are sufficient for the front yard. Four or five big trees are usually sufficient for the backyard. (Fred Whitfield, extension forester)

Q. What can be used to control borers in iris? (G.P., Hendersonville)

A. Dimethoate (Cygon). Spray the foliage as soon as infestations are noticed with four teaspoons of Cygon (26 percent emulsifiable concentrate) per gallon of water. Repeat within two weeks. (R.L. Robertson, extension entomologist)

Q. When I go to buy nitrogen for my lawn each fall, I am always faced with several types of nitrogen to buy. How can I decide which is best? (M.G., Apex)

A. Any type of nitrogen will do when used properly. Your grass will never know the difference.

There are at least three factors that you should consider in buying nitrogen: (1) analysis, (2) water solubility and (3) cost. Nitrogen materials can range from about 16 percent to 45 percent actual nitrogen. Figure your cost on the basis of what you pay for each unit of actual nitrogen. Water soluble nitrogens are usually cheaper. However, two other factors should be considered when choosing between a water insoluble nitrogen and a nitrogen that is relatively soluble in water. First, how quickly do you want your grass to respond and how frequently do you want to apply nitrogen? Soluble nitrogens act quickly, making it desirable to apply up to five small applications annually. Insoluble nitrogens act slowly, enabling you to get by with a couple of applications each year. (Carl Blake, extension agronomist)

Q. What is the rough, russet color on Golden Delicious apples (Mrs. J. B., Gastonia)

A. It is a weather related condition that is common on apples grown east of the Mississippi. It doesn't hurt the flavor. In fact, it often improves the flavor. (Mel Kolbe, extension horticulturist)

Mao's Literary Hatchet Man Is A Doubtful Heir

By CHARLES R. SMITH
HONG KONG (UPI)—Yao Wen-yuan, who won fame as a literary hatchet man for Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, is the only young man in China's top leadership lineup.

He played a key role in the turbulent cultural revolution and still is considered close to the 78-year-old chairman and his wife, Chiang Ching.

But it is highly doubtful that he is in line for the top party spot when Mao passes from the scene, despite remarks made to visiting American newspaper editors in Peking by Premier Chou En-lai.

Chou mentioned Yao as one of the young men waiting in the wings to replace leaders such as Mao and himself. Some reports apparently interpreted this as an indication that Yao might be under consideration as Mao's successor. This probably is a misinterpretation of Chou's remarks. Yao is the only well-known person Chou could point to when the editors asked him about the problem of succession in Peking's hierarchy and who the upcoming young leaders were.

Writer And Critic
The average age of the members of the Political Bureau of the Communist party Central Committee is 68, while Yao is only 43.

(His exact birthdate is not known but most reports indicate his age is 43.)

Yao has a 20-year background as a writer for newspapers and magazines, particularly as a literary and art critic. But he did not come into national and international prominence until November, 1965.

On Nov. 10 of that year, Shanghai's Wen-Wei Pao newspaper published an article written by Yao criticizing a play. That was the opening shot of the public phase of the cultural revolution, which was to result in the death or dismissal of scores of top level leaders and thousands of lower level party, military and government cadres.

The article was written on Mao's "instructions," according to Communist reports. It is widely believed that Mao chose Yao and the Wen-Wei Pao as the vehicle for this opening shot because the main party newspaper, The People's Daily, and other newspapers in Peking, were under the control of the people he was attacking.

Attack on Mao
The play that Yao criticized severely in his article was written by Wu Han, then a vice mayor of Peking and one of China's leading educators and historical novelists. It was one of a series of plays and articles Wu Han wrote between 1959 and 1961 about an ancient emperor and his mistreatment of one of his high officials, Hai Jui.

The plays and articles on Hai Jui and the emperor were almost an open attack on Mao, who had won out over former Defense Minister Peng Teh-Huai in a 1959 party power struggle.

After publication of Yao's article, the Wen-Wei Pao challenged the papers in Peking and other intellectuals to debate the issue. They took up the challenge and the battle of the cultural revolution was on.

Writing in 1967 in the party's theoretical journal, Red Flag Magazine, Yao said, "We proletarian revolutionaries in Shanghai feel very honored to have much combat taking place in Shanghai. When the old Peking municipal party committee was in the grip of the devil's claws of the counter-revolutionary revisionist Peng Cheng (former mayor of Peking) clique, Comrade Chiang Ching in accordance with Chairman Mao's instructions started in Shanghai a campaign of criticism and repudiation against the counter-revolutionary revisionist Peng Cheng clique thereby lighting the torch of the great proletarian cultural revolution."

No. 2 in Shanghai
When Mao formed a special party subcommittee, known as the Cultural Revolution Group, to direct the campaign, Yao was a member.

In that position, Yao later wrote other caustic articles criticizing such former leaders as ex-President Liu Shao-chi and Tao Chu, a vice premier.

Yao was born in Shanghai and still makes his base there. He is No. 2 man—after Chang Chun-Chiao—in the party organization and the Revolutionary Committee in China's largest city.

Yao apparently was elected to the Communists party Central Committee in the summer of 1966. When the party held its Ninth National Congress in 1969 he was re-elected to the Central Committee and its Politburo.

Yao has survived the post-1969 purges that have reduced the 25-member Politburo by almost 50 per cent and now he is considered to be about the eighth-ranked of the remaining members.

Close identification with the extreme leftist elements in the party, headed by Mao's wife, Yao is not considered to be in favor with most of the more conservative, and more powerful, military members of the party leadership.

Although Shanghai is an important power base, Yao's chances of moving up the leadership ladder are not considered bright by China analysts in Hong Kong because he still is No. 2 man there and because of his apparent lack of support among the military.

Yao is a baby-faced man who looks much younger than he is. Diplomats who have met him say he smiles constantly and has a good sense of humor.

It has been widely reported, but never confirmed, that he is Mao's son-in-law, having married Li Na, the daughter of Mao and Chiang Ching. Russian reports were the first to identify him as such.

Yao has made only one trip abroad. In the summer of 1967 he led a Red Guard delegation to Albania, the first and only Red Guard delegation to be sent abroad during the cultural revolution.

Revival Begins Monday Evening

The Pleasant Hill Free Will Baptist Church near Calico Crossroads on Highway N.C. 43 will hold revival services Monday through Saturday of this week.

Services will begin at 7:45 each evening and the Rev. Robert Lee Norville will bring the message.

Homecoming will be held next Sunday, with a singspiration following the noontime meal. The Harmony Quartet of Kinston as well as choirs and singing groups from other churches will be featured.

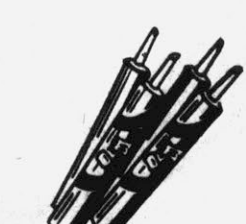

The pastor, the Rev. W. H. Willis said all former members, former pastors, and friends are invited.

New Harmony

Nine Rose High Students and graduates have gotten together and formed a new folk singing group called New Harmony. This group sang on the Carolina Today Show Thursday, and gave a concert Saturday night at 7:30 in front of Eckers. They are now looking for bookings.

Members of this group are Mary Bryan Matney, Kim McKinney, Mike Vinson, Tony Weston, Maurice Sheppard, Paul Bradford, Mark Walter and guitarists Steve Reel and Bronson Matney.

Some Junior Varsity Cheerleaders cheered for the Homecoming game since many of the Varsity squad members were participating in other events. These girls are Kelly Gardiner, Renee Ivey, Helen Fleming, Debbie Goodson, Kathy Harrington, Pat Taylor and Beth Cherry.

Members of the Homecoming court are Kate Welch and Marilyn Jones, Homecoming Queens; Lynn Laughinghouse and Vendi Clemons, Junior princesses; and Beth Cherry and Michelle McDowell, sophomore princesses.

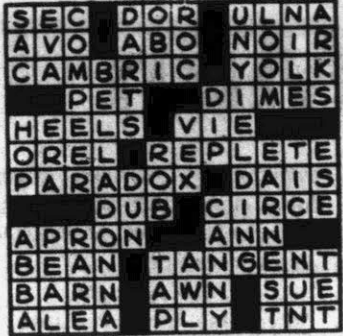

Tuesday night at 7:30 the Senior High youth group of Jarvis Memorial is having its annual Halloween party. It is a hayride also. Costumes may be worn and judging will take place in the Fellowship Hall.

Officers are: president, Amy Leggett; Dill Forbes, program vice president; social vice president, Joan Cobb; corresponding secretary, Janet Gray; Karen Faser, recording secretary; Thomas Forman, sergeant-in-arms; and publicity chairman, David Diehl.

DEAR ABBY: I am so happy about a recent "victory," I have to share it with someone.

About two years ago I started taking "diet pills" to control my appetite. They made me feel so great. Too great. That was the trouble. Before I knew it I was taking so many I stopped counting. I was hooked and didn't know how to get off them and still function daily. [I am a registered nurse and should have known better.] I was averaging four to five hours of sleep at night and I was ruining my family life with my impatience, irritability and tenseness.

Finally one morning my head was reeling from exhaustion and too many pills and I couldn't remember whether I had bathed the kids before I put them to bed. I knew I had to have help, and then I did something I hadn't done in years. I prayed. And by God [literally] somehow I found the courage to take those pills and flush them all down the toilet.

I'd be lying if I said the next few weeks were easy. More than once I was tempted to get more pills, but I prayed for the strength to keep me from it.

It's been months since I've taken a pill and I feel like a new person. I am "high" on being free from artificial stimulation which has to end in a depression.

I know this is too long to print, but please try to find room in your column for some of it, Abby. I'm sure there are others who are hooked as badly as I was, and if I can kick the habit with prayer, so can they. Thank you.

BORN AGAIN IN LOUISVILLE

DEAR BORN: Your inspiring message is well worth fitting into my column. The power of prayer can move mountains.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl, but my mother calls me a "baby elephant." I don't know how much I weigh because I'm afraid to get on a scale. I've tried to stay away from sweets and fattening things, but I always fall back in my old ways.

I asked my mother to send me to a doctor who would put me on a diet and she said, "I am not laying out money for any doctor. You are not sick, you are just a big pig, and all you need is willpower."

Abby, I know my willpower is weak, but I just have to do something about my weight. All my girl friends have boys walk them home from school and call them up and I don't have anybody. And it looks like I'm never going to get anybody the way I am. Can you help me? FATSO

DEAR FATSO: For openers, I respectfully disagree with your mother. The only sensible and safe way to lose weight is to go to a doctor for a complete physical and a prescribed diet. My advice to you is to offer to pay for the doctor's visit. You can earn the money baby sitting or doing chores if you really want to. Good luck. And I want a progress report from you.

CHRISTENING

MOSCOW (UPI)—Crimean astronomers have named an asteroid in the constellation of Leo after cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, the first man in space, the magazine Soviet Union said.

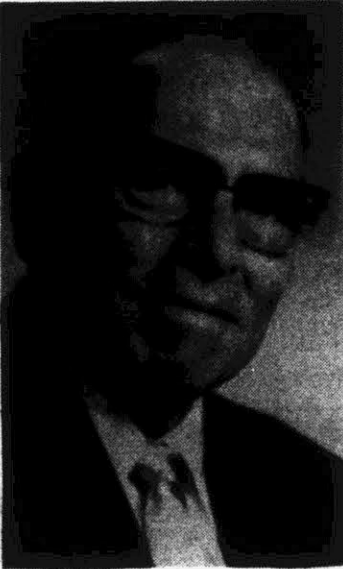

Dr. Appelman Will Speak During Week

Dr. Hyman Appelman, the Russian-born lawyer who preached here last year, is returning to conduct a series of special meetings at Grace Free Will Baptist Church here tomorrow through next Sunday at 7:30 each evening.

Dr. Appelman has preached all over the world and has made numerous trips to Russia and other "Iron Curtain" countries. He has made an intensive study of Communism and is considered an authority on history and world affairs. The author of 42 books, his articles and sermons have appeared in many Christian periodicals in the United States and abroad. A tireless worker, he rarely takes a day off, sometimes preaching several times a day. He has an A. B. degree from Northwestern University, L. L. B. and L. L. M. degrees from DePaul University, and an honorary D. D. degree. He practiced law in Chicago before his conversion to Christianity.

Doug Randlett will direct a 35-voice choir during the Appelman campaign at the church at 400 Watauga Ave. here and Mrs. Jane Randlett will be featured soloist. Child care is provided during each service.

The public is invited to hear this modern-day Apostle Paul according to the pastor, the Rev. Chester Phillips.

Last Minute Pass Gives Bucs 27-21 Win

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
GREENVILLE, S.C. — East Carolina's Pirates sputtered through an error-filled first quarter, and slowly got their offensive and defensive machinery going, but it took a last-minute touchdown to pull out a 27-21 victory over stubborn Furman.

The win kept East Carolina on top of the conference with a 5-0 record and assured them of a winning season. The Bucs are now 6-1 on the year. It also set up a November 11 meeting with William & Mary to decide the Southern Conference championship.

The Bucs made two early mistakes, one offensively and one defensively, and Furman turned both of them into touchdowns, building up a 14-0 lead. Rodney Acker scored on a 39-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Charles Elvington, and then John Monferdini pulled in nine-yard touchdown aerial from Elvington after a fumble had turned over the ball.

The Bucs struggled back, practically holding Furman without a first down the rest of the way, grinding out yard after yard. But the fates seemed against them as each time, Furman came up with the play to stop them. The Bucs finally got on the board on a seven yard pass from Carl Summerell to Stan Eure, making it 14-7 at halftime.

In the second half, they came roaring back, pushing ahead, 21-14 on two Carlester Crumpler scores, one from the one and the other from the two.

Furman tied it up on a one yard run by Elvington, but Les Strayhorn pulled in a 41-yard pass with just under a minute with just 32 seconds showing.

The Bucs defense, except for a few lapses, held the Paladins in check most of the cloudy afternoon. Furman got only 11 first downs, three of them on penalties. Just five of those came after the first two touchdowns.

The Bucs limited Furman to only 166 yards in total offense, including just 11 on the ground. At the same time, with Summerell and Crumpler leading the way, the Bucs ground out 492 yards.

Crumpler rushed 36 times for 152 yards, while Summerell had 201 yards passing and 30 rushing for his biggest game of the season.

Furman pushed in on its first possession. Taking over after a punt on their own 44, they used only seven plays to score.

Two short gains and a penalty set up a seven yard pass from Elvington to Mike Bartik at the Buc 40. A yard gain in two plays put in on the 39. Elvington then went back, while Acker went right down the field from his covered him, and he made a fine one-handed catch and walked untouched into the end zone, 39 yards away. Al Standford's kick made it 7-0 after only 3:46.

On the first play after the kickoff, East Carolina fumbled and David Shi recovered on the ECU 28. Three plays netted minus four yards, but a personal foul against the Bucs gave the Paladins a first down at the 18. Mike Johnson went over right tackle for 10 yards, and two plays lost a yard. Again, on third down, Elvington found the mark, spotting Monferdini in the corner of the end zone, and Furman led 14-0 with 8:03 still left in the period.

But except for their last touchdown drive, it was the last time Furman was able to move the ball the rest of the day.

East Carolina got a drive going just as the quarter came to a close, moving from their own 23 down to the Furman 20. Summerell hit Tim Dameron for a 39-yard gainer to the Paladin 38, then hit Eure for 12 to the 21. The Bucs got a yard on the ground and two passes fell short. From the 20, a Ricky McLester field goal attempt was wide.

The Bucs came back into Furman territory again on their next series, but it died at the 32 after a 45-yard run by Jimmy Howe got things going.

Midway through the period, the Bucs finally got moving to a score. They started on their own 49, and went in in just nine plays. Howe led off with six yards and then got two. Summerell hit Eure for 10 and then kept the ball for 15 more. Furman was hit with a five-yard penalty, and Strayhorn and Summerell moved it four more yards to the 10. Crumpler picked up three more, and from the seven, Eure pulled in Summerell's touchdown pass. McLester added the PAT, making it 14-7 with 5:11 left.

Twice more in the half, the Bucs got into Furman territory.

A drive from their own 38 fell short at the 12 when another field goal missed. And an interception stopped a drive from the Buc 45.

On their first possession of the second half, the Bucs tied it up, going 67 yards in nine plays. Crumpler carried for 61 of those yards on eight plays. From the 33 he picked up 11, 7, 5, and 9 before Strayhorn got the call for six. Crumpler then came back for 5, 2, and 10, with an 11 yard penalty against Furman in there putting the ball on the one. Crump pitched over from there, tying the score with McLester's kick, with 10:41 left in the period.

After the kickoff, Furman fumbled it to the Bucs on the Paladin 33, but Summerell fumbled it back on the 24. Later the Bucs drove to the 42, then to the 34 before giving up the ball on downs the first time and a fumble the second.

Then, late in the quarter, the Bucs got it at the Paladin 42 after a punt. Howe picked up 21 yards in two carries, and Furman was given a five-yard penalty for off-sides. Crumpler hit three times for seven yards, and Howe took a pitchout down to the two. Crumpler went over from there on the first play of the final period, putting the Bucs ahead, 21-14.

But Furman came back midway through the period. Mike Shelton hit David Shepard for 11, then went to Bartik for 45 down to the Buc 21. Another pass to Bartik put it on the 12, and Jim Barnett pushed it to the two. Shelton hit to the one, and Elvington came back in to smash across for the score, tying it at 21-21 with 9:58 left.

The Bucs drove down field trying to go back ahead. They slowly ground it out, moving finally to the Furman 43. From there, on third and 12, Summerell hit Eure for an apparent touchdown, but a clipping penalty nullified it, and on the next play, Vince Perone picked off an interception.

On the next play, Shelton was intercepted by Danny Kepley, who put it in the end zone, only to have it called back on another penalty, pass interference, giving it back to Furman.

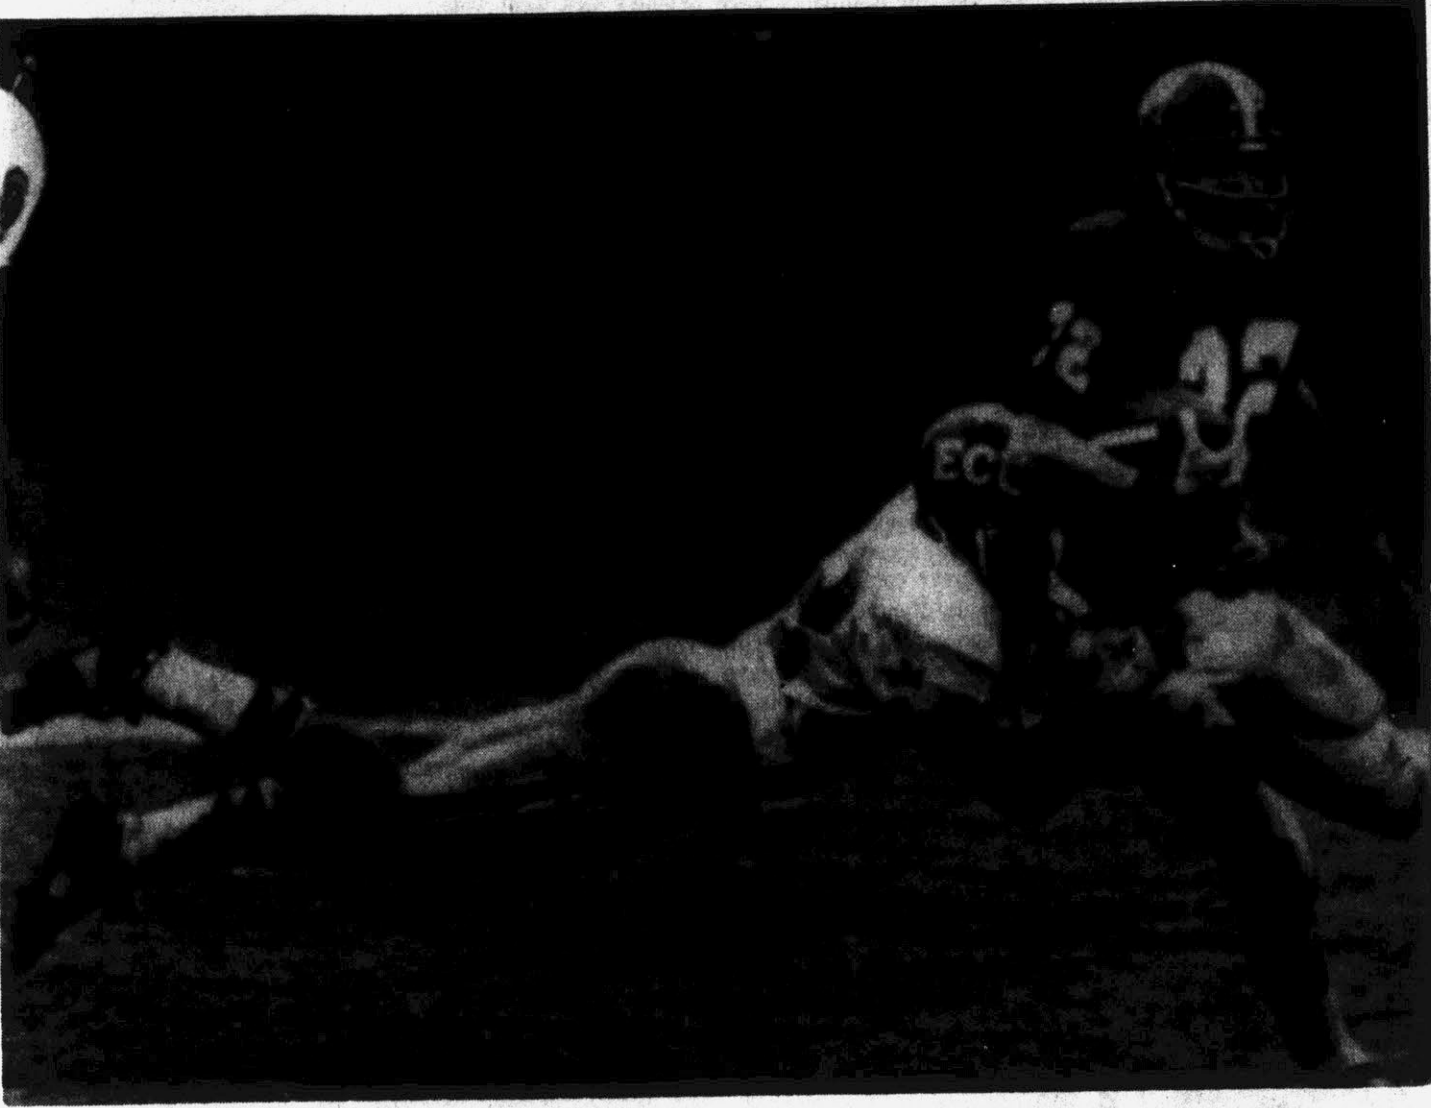

The Bucs got it back with three minutes left, lost it on another interception by Perone, his eighth of the year, and then got it back on their own 35 with just 59 seconds showing.

Summerell hit Wilfore for 17 to the Paladin 48, then found Strayhorn open all the way down to the seven, with 36 seconds left.

On the next play, Summerell hit Wilfore in the end zone, and the Pirates were back ahead 27-21 with just 32 seconds left.

Furman tried to crack up again, but it was too late this time.

The Bucs, with one more conference game left, return home Saturday, hosting the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga for Homecoming.

Tigers Hand Deacs Homecoming Loss

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Clemson's ball control, with junior quarterback Ken Pengitore at the throttle, spoiled homecoming for Wake Forest as the Tigers romped to a 31-0 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory Saturday.

Fullback Heide Davis scored twice from a yard out and Eddie Seigler kicked a 34-yard field goal for a 17-0 Clemson halftime lead and Wade Hughes scored twice in the third period on a two-yard run and a 56-yard draw play.

The victory gave Clemson a 2-1 ACC record and 3-4 over-all mark. Wake Forest, now 0-4 in the ACC, is 1-6 for all games and has lost six straight.

Wake Forest, which made only one first down to 16 for Clemson in the first half, reached the Tiger five in the third period and the four in the last quarter, but was held for downs each time.

Clemson controlled the ball for almost 22 minutes in the first half.

Pengitore completed 10 of 15 passes for 129 yards and rushed 14 times for 44 yards.

Hughes ran 22 times for 151 yards to lead Clemson's rushing attack, which netted 314 yards while Wake Forest managed only 63 yards, freshman fullback Frank Harsh accounting for 46 yards on 18 carries.

Clemson finished with just 37 minutes of ball possession against Wake Forest's 23 minutes.

Wolfpack Fights For 42-24 Win

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Pull-back Stan Fritts provided the power as North Carolina State exploded for four second-half touchdowns to come from behind and defeat South Carolina, 42-24, Saturday.

A homecoming day crowd of 32,100 and a Peach Bowl scout saw the underdog Gamecocks grab a 17-14 first-half lead. Tom Zipperly returned a second-period kickoff 98 yards for a South Carolina touchdown.

Fritts, who gained 130 yards rushing in 23 carries, scored two touchdowns as State posted its fifth victory against two losses and one tie. It was South Carolina's fifth loss against two wins.

The State Wolfpack went 48 yards for a third-period touchdown to go ahead 21-17 as quarterback Bruce Shaw scored from the one.

However, South Carolina came back and scored in two minutes and six seconds, rolling 70 yards in six plays. Tom Amrein scored on a 30 yard pass from sophomore Dobby Grossman.

Late in the third period State's Stauber Wilson intercepted a Grossman pass on South Carolina's 25 and ran it to the 6. Fritts scored from the two.

Then Wolfpack added two more touchdowns in the last period. Willie Burden went over from the five to cap a 77-yard drive, and in the closing seconds Charley Young scored from the one to end a 46-yard march.

South Carolina jumped out front in the first period on a 22-yard field goal by Tommy Bell. State took the next kickoff and went 75 yards for a touchdown with Fritts scoring from the two. A 31-yard pass from Shaw to Fritts was the big gainer.

The Wolfpack ran the margin to 14-3 early in the second period when it rolled 48 yards for a touchdown, with Young going over from the one.

That set the stage for Zipperly's 98-yard kickoff return. Four plays later Alex Dobson intercepted a Shaw pass at South Carolina's 27 and returned 34 yards to the State 39. The Gamecocks went on to score

Knudson Moves Into Lead; Trevino Walks Off After Nine

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Streaking Canadian George Knudson, seeking his second victory in as many weeks, stormed into a three-shot lead in the third round of the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday but was upstaged by the abrupt and unexplained departure of Lee Trevino.

Trevino, the British Open champion and defending title holder here, stomped off the Sahara-Nevada Country Club course after playing only nine holes of the third round and reportedly left town without a word to tournament officials.

It is possible that he will face disciplinary action from the Tournament Players Division of the PGA.

"I'll make a report to the commissioner (Joe Dey of New York) and then the matter will be in his hands," said TPD tournament supervisor Wade Cagle.

The surprising Knudson, meanwhile, flashed over the 6,800-yard desert layout in a six-under par 65 to sweep past Arnold Palmer and into the lead with a 201 total.

Just as in the Kaiser Open a week ago in Napa, Calif., Palmer led Knudson for the first two rounds before the Canadian invader swarmed into the lead. Knudson won the Kaiser for his first four victory in nearly two years.

Rookie Lanny Wadkins was alone in second after a 70 for 204.

The 43-year-old Palmer, who shared the lead the first two rounds, could do no better than match par 71 and slipped back to third place with a 205 total, four strokes away.

Terp Rally Nets 24-23 Victory

By ED YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (AP) — Maryland's football team turned three pass interceptions into touchdowns in the last half Saturday and came from 20 points behind to nip Virginia, 24-23, in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Tailback Louis Carter's second touchdown of the afternoon, a two-yard run, and Steve Mike-Mayer's placement with 4:03 remaining climaxed the remarkable comeback by the Terps and gave them their fourth victory in eight starts and their second in ACC competition.

Virginia, now winless in three conference starts, turned two interceptions of its own into scores and held a 23-3 lead when Maryland got back in the ball game midway in the third period after defensive and Tim Brant stole a pass by Cavalier quarterback George Allen Jr. on the Virginia 46.

Moments later, wingback Jamie Franklin collected the first Maryland touchdown on a six-yard scamper and the Terps were off to the races.

Maryland went 48 yards, scoring on Carter's 25-yard run, to pull within six points at 23-17 later in the third period after defensive back Bobby Smith had intercepted an Allen pass.

And then, with scarcely four minutes remaining, the Terps sewed up the ballgame after

Raiders Hold Off 'Dogs To Take 28-26 Decision

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Colgate's football team withstood The Citadel's last-ditch rally Saturday to squeeze out a 28-26 victory.

A seven-yard run by Steve Corrigan with 4:19 to play provided the winning margin for Colgate, now 3-2-1 for the season.

Trailing 28-19 with 58 seconds left, the desperate Citadel Bulldogs tried to pull out a victory.

With 32 seconds left, quarterback Harry Lynch hit wide receiver Ricky Crosby for a nine-yard scoring pass. After Ralph Tice kicked the extra point to cut the margin to two points.

The Citadel recovered an on-sides kick at Colgate's 49.

The Bulldogs planned to get within field goal range, but never made it, getting to the 25 as time ran out.

The Citadel jumped into a 6-0 lead in the opening minutes on a 14-yard Lynch-Crosby pass, but Colgate bounced back, with the help of Citadel mistakes.

A 30-yard scoring run with a pass interception by Tom Pandiscio ignited the Red Raiders as they went on to take a 21-6 halftime lead.

Paul Byrne scored from the one with 12:50 left in the second quarter for a 14-6 Colgate lead and another interception got the Raiders moving again.

A 55-yard run by quarterback Tom Parr set up his six-yard touchdown run. After Gary Button's third conversion kick, Colgate led 21-6.

Lynch scored on a three-yard keeper early in the third period and The Citadel pulled within two points after a 10-yard touchdown run by Bob Carson.

After The Citadel's first punt, with six minutes left in the game, Colgate swept 80 yards for its final score. The drive began when Russ Brown ran 30 yards. With the help of a personal foul penalty, Colgate reached the Bulldog 10, setting off Corrigan's run which handed The Citadel its fifth loss in eight games.

Another 43-yard punt return by Scharnus gave Tech a shot from the William & Mary 13, but a penalty set the Gobblers back and Dave Strock missed a 31-yard field goal try. The left-footed kicker, whose 33-yard field goal accounted for the only score of the first half, missed two other attempts from 47 and 51 yards.

Deery completed three passes for 40 yards and Doug Gearhart accounted for the rest on the ground as the Indians went 66 yards for the game's first touchdown. Gearhart scoring from three yards out with 25 seconds left in the third quarter.

W&M Plucks Gobblers, 17-16

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — William & Mary's Indians, whose first two scoring bids were foiled by a fumble and an interception, stood off a last second passing barrage by Don Strock and edged Virginia Tech's Gobblers 17-16 in the Tobacco Festival football game Saturday.

The Indians went ahead for good on a 32-yard pass from Bill Deery to Mark Smith with 2:29 left in the game, and Terry Regan kicked what proved to be the decisive extra point.

But Strock, the nation's leader in total offense and passing, drove the Gobblers 86 yards and hit Ricky Scales with a six-yard touchdown toss with 13 seconds left. But when Strock attempted to throw into the end zone for what would have been the winning two point conversion, the Indians batted the ball away.

Strock finished with 24 completions in 43 attempts for 339 yards but, until the final drive, he couldn't mount a sustained touchdown march.

Tech's first touchdown, which came after William & Mary had scored 10 points on a 66-yard drive and a 34-yard field goal by Regan, came from only 22-yards away thanks to a 57-yard punt return by Jerry Scharnus.

Another 43-yard punt return by Scharnus gave Tech a shot from the William & Mary 13, but a penalty set the Gobblers back and Dave Strock missed a 31-yard field goal try. The left-footed kicker, whose 33-yard field goal accounted for the only score of the first half, missed two other attempts from 47 and 51 yards.

Rampants Stuff Bears In Homecoming

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

Rose High School's Rampants went on a "Bear" hunt Friday night and bagged a trophy much worth bragging about. They shot down the New Bern Bears, 26-6 to round out Homecoming festivities.

The Rampants ground out 207 yards on the ground and only threw two passes the whole game. One of those was good for 31 yards and set up the Rampants' last score.

The Bears, meanwhile, just did manage to get over the 100-yard rushing mark as they got 103. The damage they did came through the air as Bear Quarterback, Dennis Stille, sliced the Rose secondary ten times in 21 attempts for 107 yards. He was intercepted three times.

The game was more than just homecoming and the last home game of the season for Seniors Reggie Perkins and Al Hunter, the two Rampant whiz-kids. Both went over the 1000-yard mark as they carried 38 times for 254 yards. Hunter boomed for 181 yards and Perkins was on his way to a 100-yard plus game before he was sidelined mid-way through the second half. He wound up with 81.

The first Rampant score came before a minute had gone by. Jackie Savage picked up a loose Bear fumble on the New Bern 28 and took it in untouched for the score with 11:05 on the clock.

The Rampants scored again the second time the offense had the ball as Dean Phillips capped a 45 yard drive by diving in from a yard out.

On the first play of the second quarter, New Bern went on the boards for its only points of the game. Eli Smith did the honors as he scrambled in from three yards away. The kick failed.

That was the way it stood until the fourth quarter when Rose moved out by 20-6 as Hunter blew through the Bear line for a run of 32 yards and the touchdown.

Rose put the game on ice three minutes later as Phillips scored again on a keeper of four yards. The Bears had had it by then and their hopes of spoiling the Rampants' homecoming vanished.

Rose kicked off to the Bears to start the game and on first down from the 30, Scott McKee took a pitchout around his right side for five yards but on the next play the Bears tried to go wide again but this time they were forced to cough up the ball and Savage, waltzed into the end zone. Phil Ragazzo booted the point after the Rampants led 7-0.

After an exchange of punts, New Bern got the ball back on its 41. Smith slithered his way for 11 yards across midfield but a penalty moved them back five. Stille passed to Smith for a scant yard and a second down pass fell short. Stille again went to the air on the next play and the ball was grabbed by Al Heath who brought it back to the Bear 45.

Perkins slanted off tackle and found a hole that let him get 24 yards down to the 21. He got four more and the Rampants were helped out by a five yard penalty on the Bears. Hunter moved the ball to the six and Perkins moved it two yards closer to the goal line picking up two. Hunter almost got in on the next play but was stopped just shy of a score. Phillips took it in and Ragazzo added the PAT for a 14-0 edge with 2:35 left in the period.

New Bern got the ball on their 21 and drove 80 yards for a TD. On first down, Smith got a short three and McKee got the first down on a scramble of eight. Stille found McKee open for a 33 yard pass that carried down to the Rose 36. Two plays got only a yard and on third down Stille was forced out of the pocket as he went back to pass. He was brought down after a pick-up of 12 at the 3. From there, Smith dove in for the six points. Mike Fogle's kick went wide.

Rose moved from their own 16 after the kick to the one where the Bears slammed the door to the cave. From the 16, Hunter had gotten seven and Phillips added four. Rose got five more on a penalty and Hunter slipped up the middle for six to the 28. Hunter got the call again and rammed for 16 yards to the 44. Perkins got two and an eight yard gain by Hunter put the ball in Bear territory on the 46.

After Perkins got four up the middle, Hunter took a pitch-out around the left side for 18 yards putting the ball on the 26. Phillips picked up three and Mike Harris got six on a pitch. On third and one Perkins could not go anywhere so Phillips snuck the ball for two yards on fourth down to keep the drive going.

That put the ball on the 15. Hunter danced his way down to the four and then went to the one on a retake of the previous play. Keith Joyner could not get the ball in as he lost a yard on the next play. Hunter got it back but the Bears held Phillips from scoring on fourth down.

New Bern got the ball but two plays later they fumbled. They got it right back as Hunter fumbled a pitch-out. New Bern moved to the Rose 28 before the half ended.

Neither team could get their offenses moving in the third quarter. New Bern punted twice and was intercepted once. Rose punted once and was held on a fourth and six situation. The interception, by Fred Lemmond, gave Rose the ball on their 42. Hunter carried three times for 13, nine, and two yards moving the ball to the New Bern 34. Phillips got five and Harris ran twice for 11 yards. On second down at the ten, a pitch-out was muffed and New Bern got the ball back.

The Bears drove to the 32 and on a third down Stille went to the air but Harris pulled the pass down and returned it to the 21. Rose was handed a 15-yarder, however, for a personal foul. Phillips only managed to dig up a couple of yards on first down and then he called a draw to Hunter.

Everyone but Hunter was surprised at the open field and Hunter rammed through the secondary for the touchdown. Ragazzo's kick was wide but the Rampants still led, 20-6, with 5:06 to go.

New Bern tried to get back in the game by passing but three of them went incomplete and the punt gave the Rampants the ball on the Bear 43. Perkins came back in and picked up three yards and Phillips got five on a keeper. Phillips then threw in an attempt to hit Lemmond running a post pattern. Lemmond wrestled the ball away from the Bear defender at the 18 for a first down. Perkins bulled up the middle for five and Hunter got nine to the four. With 2:18 left in the game, Phillips went over for a 26-6 lead. The kick was blocked.

New Bern tried desperately to get back in the game but time ran out on them too fast.

The game was also the last home affair of the season for 21 other seniors as well as Perkins and Hunter.

Carolina Takes 114-112 Win As Gilmore Fouls Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Artis Gilmore fouled out of a game and although there were only four seconds left, it couldn't have come at a worse time for the Kentucky Colonels.

The score was tied and Gilmore's sixth personal foul gave Mack Calvin two free shots at the basket.

Calvin made both and the Carolina Cougars secured a tense 114-112 victory over the Kentucky Colonels in an American Basketball Association contest Friday night.

The Cougars came back from a seven-point halftime deficit to win it. Billy Cunningham scored 13 of his team-leading 27 points in the third period to rally Carolina.

The victory kept Carolina in first place in the ABA's Eastern Division race with a 6-3 record. Kentucky fell to third place with 3-3 while the New York Nets moved into second with a 4-3 mark by beating the Denver Rockets 117-112.

San Diego remained first in the West despite losing 122-107 to the Utah Stars.

Elsewhere, the Dallas Chaparrals defeated the Virginia Squires 108-103 and the Indiana Pacers throttled the Memphis Tams 128-102.

In the National Basketball Association, the New York Knicks stopped the Baltimore Bullets 92-88; the Boston Celtics ripped the Cleveland Cavaliers 123-97; the Houston Rockets drubbed the Detroit Pistons 130-118; Chicago rapped Portland 118-95; Golden State routed Los Angeles, 119-91 and Seattle whipped Phoenix 120-115.

John Roche poured in 32 points, including nine in a crucial fourth-period burst that helped New York turn back Denver, which trailed most of the game, moved into a 91 tie with about eight minutes left in the contest. Then, led by Roche, the Nets outscored the Rockets 11-4 to take a commanding lead.

Zelmo Beaty led the Utah victory with 32 points, 24 of them in the first half. Chuck Williams led the conquistadors with 27.

Two free throws by Steve Jones with 4:33 left in the game sent Dallas ahead for good over Virginia, which lost for the first time since Julius Erving returned to the lineup. The Squires had won four straight games with Erving, who returned to the team by court order after jumping to the NBA.

Erving led the Squires with 23 points.

George McGinnis scored a career-high 39 points to lead Indiana over Memphis. The Pacers trailed 52-48 at the half but scored 80 points in the final two quarters, including 17 by McGinnis in the third period.

Chargers Maul North Pitt; Take 51-24 Home Victory

LITTLEFIELD — Ayden-Grifton's Chargers took a resounding 51-24 win over the North Pitt Panthers Friday night. The Chargers racked up 599 total offensive yards.

The Chargers and the Panthers went at it blow for blow in the first half as each team pushed over three scores. The difference came in A-G's scoring three extra points to North Pitt's none.

The Chargers got a touchdown in the third period and struck for three more in the fourth to the Panther's one for the final 51-24 score.

Ayden-Grifton scored first as Sam Stewart, in his first game in several weeks, slid in from the one and Melvin Stewart kicked the point after. North Pitt came back in the period to pull within one as Clarence Mooring found paydirt from two yards out. The run that would have put them ahead failed.

A-G opened the second period with a 45 yard touchdown pass by quarterback Greg Nelson to Milton Brown. Sam Stewart ran the ball in for a 15-6 edge. Nelson got a third score as he broke loose on a jaunt of 35 yards. The run failed as they went for two.

North Pitt was not to be undone and struck for a pair of scores in four seconds as the half drew to a close. With 12 seconds to go, Billy Perkins went in from the one but the point after try failed. The Panthers kicked off with 0:10 to go but Ronnie Salmon fumbled the ball at his 25. A Panther picked it up and ran it back to the one yard line before he was stopped. That ran off another two seconds and with just eight left in the half, Ben Johnson threw to Phillip Brown for the score. When the game sounded, the Panthers trailed by a slim three points, 21-18.

The Chargers added some breathing room in the third quarter as Tom Craft went over from eight yards out to make it 27-18. Sam Stewart got the conversion.

The Chargers broke the game wide open in the fourth quarter as they got three more scores. Sam Stewart recorded his second TD of the night as he rammed 12 yards and Donnie Moore added the points after. North Pitt then scored as Brown hauled in a 20 yard pass from Johnson but the PAT failed. Nelson followed Johnson's strike with one of his own, a 20 yard toss to Milton Brown. A-G added the final tally as Lyman Blount clawed his way into the end zone from the right. Moore ran it in for the final 27 point margin.

Sam Stewart made up for his time on the bench as he bulled his way to 216 yards rushing, almost half of the team total of 494. North Pitt managed to get 126 yards through the air.

North Pitt travels to Southern Wayne, while Ayden-Grifton is also on the road visiting North Lenoir.

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Navy's Al Glenn threw his second touchdown pass to Jack Forde in the last minute of play, but Duke's defense crushed a two-point conversion try as the Blue Devils edged the Middies, 17-16, Saturday in the Oyster Bowl game here.

Glenn hit Forde in the left corner of the end zone for a five-yard touchdown play that brought Navy to within one point with about a minute left to play. But Melvin Parker nailed Glenn as he tried to hurl a two-point conversion pass that would have won the game.

Navy took a quick 7-0 first period lead on another five-yard pass from Glenn to Forde, but Duke tied the game in the second period, then went ahead in the third period.

Duke tailback Steve Jones knotted the score at 7-7 with a nine-yard run in the second period which capped a six-play 58-yard drive.

Cavaliers Handcuffed By Celtics As Boston Wins Ninth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A basketball philosopher once decided that you can't win at this game if you don't put the ball in the basket.

The Cleveland Cavaliers learned first-hand Friday night that the man was right. The Cavaliers were limited to just four field goals and 10 points in the second period of their game against Boston. That was the best reason for the unbeaten Celtics' 123-97 romp over Cleveland.

The victory was the ninth straight for the Celtics and kept them 1½ games ahead of New York in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division. The Knicks, who have lost only one game this season, hung on for a 92-88 victory over Baltimore.

In other NBA action, Houston defeated Detroit 130-118, Chicago rapped Portland 118-95, Golden State walloped Los Angeles 119-91 and Seattle topped Phoenix 120-115.

In the American Basketball Association, New York topped Denver 117-112, Dallas topped Virginia 108-103, Carolina edged Kentucky 114-112, Indiana ripped Memphis 128-102 and Utah downed San Diego 122-107. Boston led by only five points, 33-28, at the end of the first period but then the Celtics completely bottled up Cleveland's attack in the second period and by the time the teams had reached the half, the Celts were up by 54-38.

The Knicks built a 21-point lead over Baltimore before Dave DeBusschere suffered a broken nose in a scramble under a basket and was forced to leave the game. The Bullets then charged back, cutting the lead to four. But DeBusschere returned in the final two minutes and New York held on for the victory.

Walt Frazier led New York with 25 points and Rich Rinaldi had 21 for the Bullets.

Houston took over the lead in the Central Division with Jimmy Walker scoring 30 points against his former Detroit teammates.

Williamston Stuns Plymouth By 28-0

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston inched closer to an Albarmarle Conference showdown with Edenton this week as they rolled over Plymouth, 28-0. It was their eighth straight conference win.

Williamston is now 8-1 with the only loss having been to non-loop foe Robersonville.

The Tigers got all they needed in the first period as they pushed over a pair of scores. The Tigers drove 62 yards for the first touchdown and Dwight Ange took it in as he pulled down a 14 yard pass from Mike Weaver. The kick failed. Kenneth Speller put Williamston out by 12-0 as he cracked over from 19 yards out. The score came with 1:22 left in the period. The run for the PAT failed.

Plymouth threatened in the second quarter as they drove to the Tiger 11 where they tried a fake field goal. They were dropped for a loss on the play and Williamston took over.

In the third quarter, Henry

Wiggins got another Tiger TD with a run of five yards. The score was set up by a 37 yard pass from Weaver to Ange that carried down to the five. Weaver threw to Ange for the points after.

Williamston's final touchdown came on a 13 yard scamper by Wiggins with :09 left in the game. The Tigers went 71 yards down to the two but two plays lost yardage back to the 13. From there, Wiggins took a handoff on a draw and went all the way in for the score. Mike Bundy ran the ball over for the conversion.

Edenton invades Williamston Friday for a crucial conference battle.

Robersonville Bops Mattamuskeet; Wins 21st With 34-20 Victory

ROBERSONVILLE — Joe Paul Edmondson and Sammy Gray each scored twice and Matt Wilson hurled four touchdown passes as the Robersonville Golden Eagles marked up their 21st straight win by downing Mattamuskeet, 35-20, Friday night.

Mattamuskeet was held scoreless until the fourth quarter when they got all of their points. The Eagles had gone in front in the first period on a one yard dive by Edmondson. In the second quarter, Edmondson was on the receiving end of the first Wilson TD strike which was good for 37 yards. Wilson added two points as he carried the ball in for the point after.

Ricky Brown went 18 yards after snaring a Wilson pass for a third Robersonville touchdown. Robin Fowler booted the PAT. Gray got his first score in the period also as he carried in a nine yard pass.

Mattamuskeet wanted to get in on the action and got a quick score as the fourth quarter got underway. J.W. Raburn swiped a Wilson pass as the Eagles were threatening at the ten. Raburn raced all the way back for the score. Raburn scored his second of the three TD's as he dove in from the Eagle one. Guire Calhoun ran it in for the extra points.

Robersonville came back with another score as Wilson threw to Gray who went 28 yards for the six points. Brown passed to Edmondson for the PAT.

Mattamuskeet added its 20th point as Raburn took a pass from Calhoun and Jaymon Sommons ran in the point after.

Staubach May Play Monday

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
For five weeks, Roger Staubach has been on the sidelines watching his Dallas Cowboys tumble from the lofty perch of Super Bowl champion to the position of just another National Football League team.

With Staubach calling the signal's last year—albeit Coach Tom Landry's shuttled-in signals—the Cowboys won their final seven regular-season games. Then, en route to the Super Bowl, they beat Minnesota and San Francisco.

In this year's preseason play, though, a shoulder separation kayoed Staubach for what many observers felt would be most of the season, if not all of it. But while Craig Morton took over as the Cowboys' No. 1 signal-caller and directed them to a 4-2 record, Roger the Dodger mended quickly.

And during the past week, following the 24-20 loss to Washington that knocked the Cowboys out of first place in the National Conference East and into a second-place tie with the New York Giants, Dallas activated Staubach.

Landry insists Morton is still his No. 1 quarterback—but there's a good chance that Staubach will be shouting out the cadence before Monday night's nationally televised game against Detroit ends.

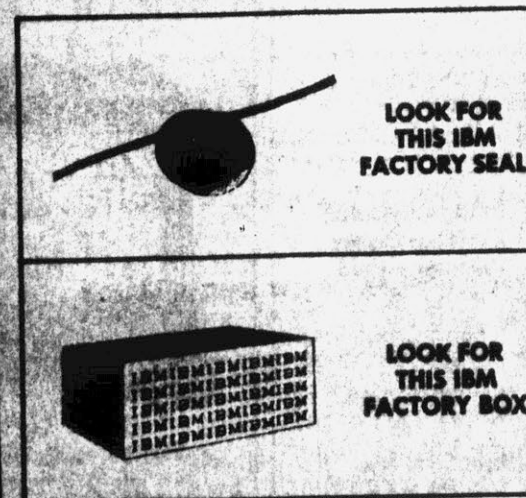

The game is a crucial one for both teams. The Cowboys must win to keep pace with either the Redskins or Giants, who play each other in New York on Sunday. And the Lions, with a Landry of their own, a quarterback named Greg, are currently tied with Green Bay atop the NFC's jumbled Central Division. The Packers host Minnesota at home.

Sunday's other games have Los Angeles at Oakland, Kansas City at San Diego, Miami at Baltimore, San Francisco at Atlanta, New England opposing the Jets in New York, Cleveland at Denver, Pittsburgh at Buffalo, Houston at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at New Orleans and Chicago at St. Louis.

FIREFLY — These interesting insects are members of the Lampyridae family and are not flies but beetles, with unique light-giving properties. The greenish-yellow light is generated in the rear body segments of the male and glows alternately bright and dim as the insect flies about. Females are flightless and emit a lower intensity light from a single abdominal segment. The wingless larvae which also produce light are commonly called glowworms. Fireflies are often seen at night along the borders of marshes, dozens of their tiny "lanterns" flickering among the reed beds.

Politicians Playing Down Environment

By JIM DEAN

With elections coming up, have you wondered why concern about the environment seems to be attracting the interest of so few politicians?

True, there are a few who have made the environmental issue a fairly important part of their campaign, but there are many more who either have not mentioned it at all or who have played it down.

This seems strange because the American public is highly concerned about the environment. Every public poll taken in the past few years has ranked the environment as one of the main issues.

Environmental concern ranks up there with the war in Vietnam, taxes, drugs, poverty, civil rights, law and order, busing and other current issues.

More and more people are beginning to realize that solving environmental problems may be — in the long run — the most important issue of all. For instance, 50 years from now, the war in Vietnam may well be largely forgotten, but unless we have solved some of the environmental problems facing us, we will be in the midst of a crisis.

Many of today's other issues are also rather short term in nature. This is not to say that they are not important, but merely to point out that our future quality of life — and perhaps our very existence — depends upon our ability to confront such key environmental issues as energy resources, water and air pollution, possible genetic changes from pesticides, loss of wilderness areas, the urban crunch and the many, many other related problems. Concern about the environment is far more than mere apprehension about the future of outdoor recreational interests — as important as they are.

More to the point, unless we effectively tackle environmental problems in this decade, we can be assured that our children will face problems we can scarcely imagine. Confronting the environmental issue is not a matter that can be put off.

Which gets us back to the original question. Why are so few politicians using the environmental issue as a major part of their campaign, particularly since voters consider it so important?

There are at least two reasons — possibly more. One is that there are still some men and women seeking, or in, public office, who have not realized the long range importance of this issue. But if this were the only reason, there would be little to worry about because growing public concern would soon "educate" our leaders.

It is not a pleasant thought, but there may be a more important reason for the relatively low priority many politicians are giving to environmental issues.

It is widely believed that campaigns are financed by many small grassroots donations from the people of this country. That, unfortunately, is a myth. Many campaigns are largely financed by huge donations from large companies and special interest groups who fervently hope that their candidate — if elected — will be kind to them. Many of these special interest groups consider their donations a form of insurance against future legislation that might be unfavorable to them.

It would be naive to believe that every candidate always accepts such donations with no strings attached — implied otherwise. Even the most fair minded public servant can come under pressure when issues affecting the large donors are at stake. It is not something to be relished, now — in many cases — is it something he can avoid.

Unfortunately, many of the large special interest groups and companies are wary of candidates who speak out on environmental issues because environmental legislation is not always favorable to them. Protecting the environment is costly, particularly to many big business enterprises. Let a candidate mention his concern for the environment, and the large donations necessary to run a campaign dry up or go to opponents. The candidate is trapped in the middle.

So what is the answer? Until we can find some means of financing campaigns that does not tend to favor large campaign donors, the only answer is for the public and news media to pressure all candidates to speak out on environmental issues whether they want to or not.

That is what we must do between now and election day. Our future quite literally depends upon it.

Boating Industry Leading Derby Has A Big Year

By JACK WOLISTON

NEW YORK (UPI) — The pleasure boat industry, benefitting from the current "leisure boom," is closing out one of the most profitable years in its history and is looking toward a healthy future.

The 1972 figures projected by Howard F. Larson, president of the Boating Industry Association (BIA), show sales up as much as 50 per cent in some categories from last year.

"The year 1972 saw our member companies reach records in production and sales and, in most cases, profits," Larson told a recent gathering of BIA members.

"There have been impressive gains by our companies and our business forecasts, spirit and enthusiasm in this industry are running at one of the highest peaks in our history.

"We boat builders, engine manufacturers and accessory and supplier firms are sharing in the fantastic 'leisure boom' that the United States is currently experiencing. This booming leisure time market has grown to phenomenal proportions and will push more than $105 billion into the nation's economy this year.

"The money Americans are now spending on their leisure pursuits is, for the first time in our history, exceeding our national defense expenditures. It is more than the outlay for new home construction ... and economists predict that the dollar volume for leisure time expenditure will more than double during the decade of the '70s."

Expects 25 Per Cent Increase
Larson said industry shipment figures indicate sales for 1972 of approximately 700,000 pleasure boats of all types, up almost 25 per cent from 1971. He said 400,000 of these craft would be power boats and gave this breakdown:

—Inboard boat sales are running 25 per cent ahead of the 1971 pace. "Like any other luxury item, inboard sales were hurt badly in 1969 and 1970 by tight money, corporate cost-cutting and a declining stock market," Larson said. "This strong rebound bodes well for inboard sales in the future."

—Inboard-outdrive boat sales are up nearly 50 per cent over last year. Larson said this type of boat is probably the chief beneficiary of "trading up" by owners of smaller craft.

—Outboard boat sales are running nearly 10 per cent ahead of 1971. Larson commented: "In this category, there's almost literally 'a boat for every budget' and every type of waterborne activity. The soaring popularity of the so-called bass boat is one of the key factors in this sector's growth this year."

—Sales of unpowered rowboats and canoes are expected to reach nearly 200,000. Larson credited the current camping boom. "The car-topper or canoe gives the nature lover access to many areas he can't reach any other way."

—Some 120,000 sailboats will be sold this year, ranging from sailboards to luxury yachts. Larson credited the boom in this category to "the challenge, the man-against-the-elements sort of thing."

"If anything negative can be said about the companies comprising our membership concerning our business condition at present," he said, "it is that some of us have not been able to meet the demand for our products."

EMERALD ISLE — A 65 pound cobia landed by Maxwell Cooke of Cape Carteret and a king mackerel weighing in at 37 pounds are the two largest fish entered in the first annual Emerald Isle Fishing Festival at the end of the third week of the four-week event.

Midnight Saturday is the deadline for fishermen to enter the contest, which is open free of charge to the public with the only stipulation being that the entrant must get his entry form from the merchant of his choice at Emerald Isle.

Glen Watson, president of the sponsoring Emerald Isle Merchants Association, reports that fishing during the first three weeks of the festival generally had been better than any corresponding period in the past several years.

A special program is being planned, Watson said, for Saturday, November 11, at which time winners in each of the game fish categories will be presented their awards and trophies.

Other leading entrants in their respective categories at the end of three weeks of competition include:

Albacore, 18 pounds, 7 ounces, James A. Cooke, Cape Carteret; black drum, 12 pounds, Ship

Houston, Emerald Isle; puppy drum, 8 pounds, Rick Wallace, Emerald Isle; red drum, 7 pounds, 8 ounces, Robert McDowell, Winston-Salem;

Flounder, 7 pounds, Robert W. Pink, Cherry Point; channel bass, 6 pounds 15 ounces, James Snyder, Indian Trail; spanish mackerel, 6 pounds, 1 ounce, Bruce Byland, Herbert; gray trout, 5 pounds, 4 ounces, Myrtle Kennedy, Sophia; pompano, 4 pounds, 8 ounces, James Osborne, Emerald Isle;

Sheephead, 4 pounds, Charles Brown, Emerald Isle; bluefish, 3 pounds, 4 ounces, Dennis Joyner, Rocky Mount; speckled trout, 2 pounds, 4 ounces, Mike Renard, Cape Carteret; croaker, 1 pound, 12 ounces, Jesse Westbrook, Kinston; sea mullet, 1 pound, 8 ounces Fay Hill, Kinston; and spot, 13 ounces, Catherine Robbins, Durham.

John And Betty Casey Retirement Bound To Texas

One of Greenville's most prolific writers is leaving the local scene to return to the land of her birth.

Betty Casey and her husband John, both Texas born, for the past week have been making out in what has become a familiar routine for them in the last 20 years, that of living from suitcases and using packing cases for furniture when its time for another move.

This time, however, they are retirement bound instead of being on their way to some far flung overseas assignment. Kerrville, a small town in the south central part of the state is to be their new Texas home, following John's October 31 retirement from the Voice of America.

Feature Writer

A regular contributor of feature items to The Daily Reflector for the past several years, Betty has written articles on people and places, with emphasis on people, both for The Woman's Page and for the regular feature page.

She has for example, given local readers insights on the dramatic story of an Ahoskie Negro boy whose classmates, black and white, pitched in to make direly needed expensive medical treatment possible. Her pen has also captured fascinating experiences of local people who have traveled to colorful places; and revealed to readers little known historical treasures of eastern North Carolina.

Writers Club

For Betty, the pleasure she finds in writing has been one she has shared with others.

One way, and one that has motivated a couple of dozen "regulars" to find time to give went to their own creative urge, has been the formation of Greenville Writers Club. Her proteges fondly speak of her as their first sergeant — Betty is a firm believer in the discipline of working at it and sticking to it. As several local writers will readily attest, her insistence on the virtue of getting it done has been the difference between thinking about writing something and getting it written and published.

For the Greenville Recreation Department, Betty has conducted Creative Writing Classes, each of ten weeks duration, that have been one of the department's most successful ventures outside the sports field.

Published Stories

In addition to her contributions to The Daily Reflector, within the past couple of years she has published stories and articles in Guideposts, State Magazine, State Ports (a series on harbors throughout the world she has visited and photographed), Tar Heel Fire Fighters, the News and Observer and other newspapers.

"I'm really excited about my latest venture," she said, speaking of a square dance book now in the first stage. "I don't yet have a contract, but I've been told chances for its acceptance are good." Betty and John were recently in New York where Betty had an opportunity to talk to the editor working with Betty on the project.

The New York visit also gave them a chance to visit their daughter and oldest child, Rosanne Keller, now living in Long Island with her husband David, an Episcopal minister.

"Rosanne and David are getting accustomed to living in entirely different conditions," Betty commented. "Until their recent move to Long Island they had been in Alaska for ten years, living in remote areas, working with Eskimos."

Betty said "In fact, one of our three grandchildren is Panee, a lovely Eskimo girl they adopted. They also have two sons, Daniel and Luke."

If the square dance book Betty is now working on materializes (it is tentatively due for publication in 1975), it will be the second book she has written on the subject. "The first book, Square Dance Instructions was published a number of years ago. It sold in 36 states," Betty noted, "but is now long out of print."

Loves Square Dancing

Possibly even more than writing, square dancing has been Betty's thing for many years.

"It all started in the mid-forties," she pointed out. "I learned my first do-si-do in Abilene, Texas in order to help Rosanne's Girl Scout Troop pass their Folk Dance Badge."

"I've done lots of square dancing in Texas," she said. "In 1950 I had the honor to call for a group of 50 squares in Abilene. In Dallas, I was perhaps the first caller to attempt calling for 500 squares dancing at one time."

Nowadays that is not all unusual, then it was."

A few years later, in the early 50s, John, Chief Engineer and Technical Director for Radio Station KRBC, Abilene, Texas, made a decision to go with the Voice of America.

To The Philippines

"When John received his first overseas assignment to the Philippines," Betty said, "I did not dream square dancing would be a way to open so many doors for us."

Her love of America's colorful and possibly only national dance form, she soon discovered, was not something she could conveniently put aside while living in the bustling city of Manila.

"I soon found the Philippine people, who love dancing, were eager to learn American dances," she observed. From this tentative beginning there eventually developed a pattern, one that was to see Betty teaching and calling for square dances in several far-flung points of the world . . . Delhi, India; Hong Kong; Beirut, Lebanon; Cairo, Egypt; London and Munich, among other places.

"I've had some thrilling experiences in teaching American square dancing to people in other lands. It's such a warm, friendly, happy way to get to know people anywhere," she said.

One of her most treasured memories, Betty explained, "was being asked to present a number on the closing program of the Second Asian Games held in Manila in 1954." The Asian Games are similar in scope to an Oriental Olympic gathering, with participants from Asian and Pacific countries.

She laughed in recalling that teaching square dancing in the Philippines meant confrontation with some rather unusual circumstances. "Besides Girl Scouts, YMCA and YWCA groups, students from the Philippine National College of Physical Education and members of the All Nations Women's Club," Betty remarked, "I found myself teaching charming students in remote barrios (villages) wearing nothing but native G-strings and tapis (skirts)."

When John's Manila tour ended after five years, the Caseys were off to Munich, Germany for a four year assignment.

"After my Philippine experience," Betty said, "it was only natural that I became involved in square dancing in Germany."

In Germany, to her delight, she found that among the American military and civilian population, square dancing was firmly established. "In no time at all, I was in the midst of it," she stated. In addition to dancing with groups comprising the European Association of American Square Dancers, for which Betty was a caller at the 1957

Winter Jamboree in Berchtesgaden, Betty taught square dancing at Amerika Haus in Munich.

"I also taught for the Army Special Services, and took German girls to the service clubs to dance with our G.I.'s," she related. "Two or three couples who met at these dances later got married."

Demands for her talent as a caller took her into a number of German cities. "We held dances in Nuremberg, Regensburg, Straubing, Bad Aibling, Garmisch, Augsburg and other towns and cities," Betty declared.

Big Moment

"The biggest moment for me came in 1958," Betty remarked. "I was chosen as one of five callers to represent the United States at the World Fair in Brussels. This event was sponsored by the U.S. Air Force in Europe under the auspices of the State Department and was featured during the fair's United States Days."

The interest generated among Germans by American enthusiasm for square dancing resulted in considerable German press coverage of many of the events. "We were several times covered in TV shows," Betty said, "and Bavaria Filmkunst made a special film of our Munich group."

While living in Munich in 1961, Betty was one of a group making a ten day trip to Russia. "Ours was the first travel group permitted to visit Russia on a group visa," Betty stated. "After flying from Munich to Moscow, we took a Russian jet to Leningrad. On the return trip we traveled by bus, going through Poland and Czechoslovakia. It was a memorable occasion for me," she added.

South To Morocco

When John's four year assignment in Munich ended, the Caseys went south for a new assignment in Tangier, Morocco. Here, Betty was called on for assistance by an American square dance group at the Nouasseur Air Force Base. "The Moroccan Government had asked the American Government to participate in an International Folk Dance Festival to be held in Mazagan, Morocco," Betty explained. The U.S. Government in turn had asked the military stationed in Morocco to see what they could come up with.

"That was great fun," Betty said, "working and dancing with the Nouasseur group. They had American, Spanish, French and Moroccans in their group. We took part in the festival, then toured Morocco as the guest of the Moroccan Government."

John's next assignment was even further south in Africa, to the VOA site at Monrovia, Liberia.

"We knew it would not be an extended tour," Betty commented, "so I went back to Texas and lived in Dallas while John was in Liberia. The climate in Liberia is a little difficult to adjust to, being so near the equator."

For a brief period John was stationed in Dixon, California after having finished a year in Liberia.

"Then orders came for Vietnam," John commented. "I went over to help install a transportable receiver station for VOA," he added. "This was at Hue. I was plant manager until the officer in charge left, then I became officer in charge of the station."

John said once he got established, he sent for Betty to come to Vietnam. "I went down from Hue to Saigon to meet her," he related.

Six Days In Saigon

"On the morning of Betty's arrival, the first announcement of the government's decision to evacuate all dependent wives and children of Americans was made," John said. "So the end result was that Betty had only six days in Vietnam, all spent in Saigon."

"We managed," he smiled, "to get the necessary paper work taken care of and still have time to do some sightseeing in Saigon and Cholon. Betty had wanted to see the old imperial city of Hue, but that was impossible."

Because of these developments, Betty was faced with the alternative of returning to the U.S. or finding some neutral place to live during John's Vietnam tour.

"I decided to stay in Hong Kong," Betty said. "That was much nearer to John."

John's Experiences

John spoke about a few of the more exciting moments of his one and a half year stay in Vietnam.

"There was the time," he said, "when security people called me in. They showed me a paper taken from a dead Viet Cong. It detailed my house, my daily work schedule and the route I traveled to work and back. On the advice of security people, I changed my work habits as much as possible, but there's not too much you can change in your daily living habits."

John's successor at the Hue station, Chuck Willis of Washington, N.C. was taken prisoner from the house John had lived in and is still listed as missing, presumed to be a prisoner of the VC.)

"On another occasion," John remarked, "a monsoon flooded the VOA site, which had been built in a rice paddy. We had to go back and forth by rowboat."

By one of those coincidences that take place in the course of people's lives, John observed that "one of the receiver vans now in place at VOA's Cite C is a van

JOHN AND BETTY CASEY . . . pose in the traditional Oriental manner, with the man seated and the woman standing.

I operated in Liberia and later at Hue. That's one piece of equipment that has seen some interesting history."

From Vietnam and Hong Kong, John and Betty were reunited in the assignment that brought them to Greenville where they have been, as they both put it, "at home for seven wonderful years."

Enjoyed Greenville

"Greenville is our kind of country," John remarked. "Like Texas it's southern and has the kind of slow pace of life we both grew up in." John is a native of Barksdale, a small town near Kerrville where they will retire. Betty's home is Seymour, also one of Texas' little towns.

"We met and were married in Big Spring," John said. "Abilene, however, seems like home in a way. We lived there for 17 years before I went with VOA."

Returning to the subject of Greenville, Betty added "besides the joy of making friends here, we've both enjoyed getting acquainted with hush puppies, steamed oysters, ham biscuits, and collard greens, as well as living in the area where America had its historic English beginning."

At his retirement, John has been serving in the capacity of Assistant Supervisor at VOA's Site B, the Black Jack site.

Retirement To Be Active

When asked if Texas retirement meant settling down to a steady "late in life" routine, both emphatically said no.

"There's still life in us yet," Betty stated. "We have all sorts of plans. One of the first things we're going to do is visit our son John Ben. He is living in Sacramento, California." Betty added that a third son, Tom, is "our only Texas based child. He makes his home in Fort Worth." Both sons are now married. "And I want to take an extensive tour in Mexico," John said. "It's a place we've always wanted to see more of."

Betty indicated she would not be amiss to the idea of getting a writers club started out in Texas. Since Texans are avid square dancers, however, there's little likelihood Betty will find a need to introduce the joyful American dance to the natives there.

Day Care Program Offered By Pitt Technical Institute

Classes designed for people working with children in day care programs are currently being offered at Pitt Technical Institute.

According to Mrs. Barbara Long, instructor for the program, the night classes are "geared for people who are already working with children."

"We are teaching things the participants can use right now," Mrs. Long explained. "The participants receive information during the classes, then can go back to the classroom the next day and apply what they learned in class the night before."

The program is designed for persons working in nursery schools, kindergarten, head-start programs or Sunday School programs. These persons can benefit from information taught in the program, according to Mrs. Long.

The instruction involves a series of mini-courses that vary in length from four to six weeks, with each one concentrating on one area of training, such as music, numbers, science, language arts, and making homemade toys. A course in art has just been completed.

"We are especially interested in day care personnel," Mrs. Long said. "We want to clear up the misconception that day care centers are only for babysitting. There are many things preschoolers should be exposed to. These classes attempt to show how preschoolers learn and what they need to learn."

Participants will receive certificates if they attend at least part of the course, according to Mrs. Long, who explained that students are allowed to miss one of the subjects completely and still receive certification. (Since the art class has been completed, new participants must attend the remaining subjects in order to receive a certificate.)

"Certificates for completing the course, in no way, help with licensing," Mrs. Long explained. "I feel the training received would help instructors understand licensing better."

In all the classes, practical aspects involved in dealing with preschoolers are emphasized.

"We try to give time saving ideas, money saving ideas, helpful hints on working with larger groups and with controlling the children," Mrs. Long said.

There is no charge for the classes. Classes are held in room 103 at Pitt Technical Institute in the classroom building. The next series of classes will begin Tuesday, Nov. 7, and will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. This class will deal with math and science for preschoolers.

Mrs. Long, a nursery school teacher at Immanuel Baptist Church has a masters degree in child development and family relations from East Carolina University.

A Raleigh native, Mrs. Long is married to Forest Long, an associate chemist with the North Carolina Department of Air and Water Resources. They have one son, Steven, a fifth grader at A.G. Cox School, Winterville.

Mrs. Long feels the program will help working with day care and larger groups of children.

Mrs. Long first became interested in day care programs while an undergraduate student at ECU with a preschool child who needed a place to stay while she attended classes.

"I feel domestic help is on the way out, many families cannot afford the cost, and there is a great need for good programs of grouped child care," Mrs. Long stated.

"The PTI program, hopefully, helps supply trained teachers to handle such groups," she added.

The course is open to anyone interested in working with groups of preschool children.

Mrs. Ellen Denton of Tammy's Nursery and a participant in the classes, said she found the art class to be very creative.

"I picked up many ideas," Mrs. Denton said. "I never knew there were so many different things that could be done in the area of art. I'm looking forward to the other subjects."

Laura Wilson of the Bonner's Lane Child Care Center, feels the courses will benefit her in teaching the children. She works with children between the ages of three and six.

Doris Hansley of Moywood Day Care Center, said she has applied several ideas she learned in the art class.

Mrs. Hansley said, although some of the ideas were too advanced for her three-year-olds, she has thoroughly enjoyed the classes and feels the program would be a help to her in working with the young children.

For additional information, interested persons may call either Mrs. Long or Pitt Technical Institute.

The Pitt District BAS "Gold Rush" was not held Saturday due to rain.

It has been rescheduled for 9 a.m. next Saturday at Green Springs Park, according to Chief Prospector Claude Moore. All participants were urged to attend. The program will be the same as originally planned.

agency will remain closed Monday to complete the current record review and remodeling program.

The agency will open Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

Dr. May said the new telephone system will permit citizens to obtain information, vital statistics, the Administration Division and Rabies Control through number 752-4141; the Personal Health Division through 752-4142, and the Environmental Health Division through 752-4143.

Between Us Unloving Words Do Not Accomplish Intended Ends

Threats, condemnations do not beget children's cooperation

By DR. HAIM GINOTT
Note to readers: The encounters depicted in my column are designed to serve as a practical guide to improved communication. They are not to be taken literally. They should be adapted to individual situations and individual ways of speaking.

THREATS, criticism and name-calling are destructive to children, especially the younger ones. They believe their parents, absorb negative evaluations and learn to condemn themselves: Mike, 4, and Pete, 3, were playing with blocks in the living room. Mother walked in and yelled, "Pick up every block right now. Don't leave even one out. I don't want to find any blocks on the floor."
Later Mother found the boys watching TV. The blocks were still on the floor. She turned off the set and yelled, "You're so bad. Clean up this room fast, or you'll be spanked."

and — his total indebtedness after refinancing cannot exceed $300,000.

The special emergency loan authorities permit terms of up to 40 years. Interest charged will depend on when the disaster occurred. Applicants must apply within three years from the date of the disaster.

Pitt County FHA Supervisor, Willard R. Dean, Jr., reported that he is accepting applications from eligible farmers in Pitt County. His office is located in the Federal Building in Greenville. FHA office hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Interested farm owner-operators are encouraged to visit the local office to discuss their needs.

WORLD OIL OUTPUT
TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Free world production of crude oil is expected to pass the 44 million barrel per day mark for the first time this year, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. Noncommunist production is expected to show an average of 42.52 million barrels daily this year, up 6.5 per cent from 1971.

Pete started cleaning while Mike sulked. Mother ordered him to his room with, "you miserable child, she yelled, making your baby brother do all the work. Wait until Daddy comes home." When Father came from work, Mother told him her story. He yanked Mike from his room, emptied the bag of blocks on the floor and said, "Now, clean up the blocks while Pete watches. We'll teach you how to live in a family, Mr. Hot Shot."

These parents need to learn how to communicate with their children. Mother would have invited cooperation more readily, had she stated what needed to be done, without orders. (It's time to put the blocks away.") Father would have accomplished more by stating his feelings of disappointment, and his expectation of future improvement, than he did by name-calling and "eye for an eye" punishment. ("Mike, I am disappointed. I expect you to pick up your toys. I expect you to be helpful.")

A CHILD in distress does not need a lesson in cold reality. He has all the gloom he can bear. What he needs is a kind adult to help him regain hope and self-esteem.

Fifteen-year-old Bruce was angling for a job. But it was given to someone else. That day in school, Bruce was disgruntled.
Teacher: What's the sour puss for. You lost your best friend?
Bruce: I was looking for a job at a camp but they hired someone else.
Teacher: They did not promise you the job, did they? So why are you angry?
Bruce: I was sure the job was mine. I could use the money.
Teacher: Don't count your chickens before they are hatched. Let that be a lesson to you!

Bruce gave the teacher a deadly look and withdrew into himself. This teacher could have been of great comfort to Bruce had he said, "It's a disappointment. Especially since you looked forward to this job. I hope something else comes your way."
A teacher can always risk being humane.
Here is an example of destructive communication with a little boy:
Mother wanted Dave, 3, to take a nap. He took some toys and went to his room. After half an hour, he was still playing. Mother took the toys away, and said: "You have played long enough. Now it's time for bed." He came out into the living room and threw a tantrum.

"If you want to scream your head off," said Mother, "go to your room." He went, screaming at the top of his lungs. A little later he came out and said, "I'm not done screaming yet." Mother sent him back to his room. He took his pillow and blanket and lay on the floor with his dog. He found some toys and started playing again. Mother took the toys away. Once again, Dave threw a tantrum. Furious, Mother gave him a spanking.

She then carried him to his bed where he cried himself to sleep, exhausted and upset.
When trying to get a resisting child to bed, it is better to voice his wishes than to rebuke his acts. "You wish you could stay up longer. I know. But it's time for bed." A child should never be told "If you want to scream your head off, go ahead, in your own room." The words are uncaring, and the tone unloving. A child's resistance often melts under the impact of warm words.

More To Benefit By Emergency Loan

Farmers Home Administration State Director James T. Johnson reports that recent changes in FHA Emergency Loan Authorities will benefit many farm owner-operators in eastern North Carolina who suffered severe production and other losses from Hurricane Ginger.
Some 45 eastern counties were declared disaster areas by the Secretary of Agriculture following Hurricane Ginger. This permitted FHA county offices to make emergency loans to affected farmers for operating credit for the 1972 crop year but did not contain provisions for refinancing of debts.

The new authorities now permit Farmers Home Administration to refinance debts of owner-operators in these eastern counties who are

THIS YEAR they're walking less and seeing more at the famous French Quarter as vehicles give sightseers an alternative to aching feet. (UPI Telephoto)

By CYRIL GUERRERA
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—One of the chronic problems in the quaint Vieux Carre (French Quarter) is, frankly, aching feet.
Middle-aged matrons from Memphis, schoolteachers from Stillwater, farmers from Fresno—they walk up and down the streets, shopping, seeing the old courtyards, poking around. They get awfully tired.
But this year, they're walking less and seeing more.
New types of vehicles are zipping around the French Quarter, giving sightseers an alternative to blisters and

Stream Bed Tells Story

CHICAGO (AP) — Reading ancient stream beds and uncorking their history is the work of Dr. John Clark, associate curator of sedimentary petrology, department of geology, Field Museum here.
A northeastern Colorado ledge of sandstone particularly interests him. He says the 35-million-year-old stream bed—as barren as a moon plain—reveals its wanderings like a roadmap.
Clark said the stream at one time was as wide as the broken ribbon of rock, about 1,000 feet, and as deep as the thickest crossbeds, about four feet.
Judging from the size of the pebbles that the stream carried he said its speed of flow was about 5 miles an hour.
Clark said that he would study stream beds even if the studies had no practical value, but the information fits into the whole body of earth history like the missing pieces of a puzzle.

Thailand's Art Shipped On Tour

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand has arranged to display some of its ancient art treasures in the United States and Canada. Thai officials report.
Officials said a shipment of 98 pieces of art was air-freighted to the United States.
The display, sponsored by the Asia Association of America, started in New York Oct. 5, moves to Cleveland, Jan. 9; Indiana, March 21; Montreal, July 1; Seattle, Sept. 17, and then Dallas, Nov. 1.

Offer Students Course In Wine

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — The Indiana University Union Board is offering a beginning course in the practical aspects of wine this fall.
The announcement of the four-lesson course, one night per week, advised students "will taste seven different wines per night... Materials will be furnished."
The fee for the course is $10.

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and evening to do all the little things that bring out your charm and your capabilities so that others will recognize your true worth to a greater advantage. Enjoy outside recreations, amusements, lunching and dining out after you have first attended the services, studies that give you peace.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Showering affection on your mate can produce fine results as well as making abode more charming and comfortable. Plan some time for that creative work you like to do. Make an excellent impression on others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing those things that delight kin is right and wise now, so get busy early on that. Invite charming persons to your home and create a good impression. The future can loom brighter thusly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Whether by attending services, lectures, talking to persons of great wisdom, or whatever, you can improve your consciousness appreciably now. Put that inventive bent you have to work. Produce fine results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Stop concentrating on petty things and think big so you can get big. Take time to improve your home, whatever real estate you may have. Make it more valuable as well as more beautiful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can put your charm to work today and impress bigwigs who can be of help to you in the future. A show of social finesse can bring excellent results. Use that fine smile more.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan some time to be of help to those who are shut-ins and need cheering up if nothing else. This can give you the right feeling of humanitarianism. Make new plans for the days ahead that are good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your best bet now is to gad about in a social way and make the right contacts so you can advance more quickly. Bring more charming people into your life. Don't be a doormat at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find some better way to become more popular than you have been in the past, and use your charms on bigwigs who can give you support you want. Get into that civic work that helps you in the community in which you reside. Keep active.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can quietly collect the data you need from the right sources now, provided you are not prejudiced. Some new friend you made recently could be most helpful. Contact this person early.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your intuitions are working more perfectly now, so be sure to follow them for best results today especially. Closeting yourself with mate brings the fine accord now that has not been possible for some time. Stop acting.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can take up many subjects with mate and other allies now that will develop far more understanding between you. Consider the aims and desires of others more. Being alert to what is going on about you is wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have an opportunity to show thoughtfulness toward those who have been kind to you in the past, so don't pass it up. Make notations of ideas you get that will help you be more efficient. Plan to have increased benefits in the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people with much charm and an entrancing smile which can bring great popularity provided you teach early not to show such pride that would eventually turn others against him or her. Then this can be a most successful chart, particularly where work with the public in general is concerned, be it in politics, entertainment, medical, or legal fields. Sports early are particularly helpful here.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1972

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A great deal of accomplishment can be attained now if you make a special point to be up and doing early in the day. It's possible to gain the most desirable benefits that you can envision. Show those in power you are capable and let your friends and mate know you are devoted.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contacting persons you want in your life in the days ahead and making further plans is wise, provided you show devotion and talents now. You can gain inspiration for your highest aspirations.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Extend invitations to those you want to be associated with in the future and come to a fine understanding. Show that you are a devoted member. A good sense of humor helps a lot now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take a little trip to see allies with whom you have mutual business interests, and then make plans for the future. You can get the backing you need for a personal project. Be articulate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Begin the week properly by getting right at the monetary matters that are pressing right now. Obtain the advice of financial experts and you will know how to handle your money better.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able to improve relationships with friends now through a better understanding. Do some entertaining or accept invitations extended to you. You can make this a most progressive day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Think on a high plane now, whether in business or personal life, and start putting plans in operation by evening. You are able to help someone in trouble. Evening is fine for romance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) This is an ideal day for making new acquaintances, whether of a business or personal nature. Dress well and make a fine impression on others. Repaying a social debt now is fine. Show your love wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to contact higher-ups now who can be most helpful to you in putting over a new project. Anything you do of a civic nature can bring excellent results. Avoid an argument.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day for going on a little trip or for planning one. Make plans for changes in the future. The data impossible to get earlier can now be acquired easily. Be efficient. Relax at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you get your facts and figures straight, you will get along much better with all your contacts. Your loved one is in fine humor. Make the most of this now. Show more devotion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can make plans now for mutual gain with an associate that at one time was impossible. A public work that interests you can now be set in motion. Show more perseverance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) State your aims to co-workers and get the cooperation you need to make your ventures more successful. Taking the treatments that improve your health is fine. Relax at home this evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who will have the ability to get ahead quickly in any chosen line of endeavor. Plan to have your progeny meet with bigwigs who can be helpful later in life. If you are not in a good position to send to finest colleges, give other advantages. Teach to stand on own two feet as much as possible.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Carroll Richter's Individual Forecast for your sign for November is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Richter Forecast (name of newspaper), Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

BRITISH PORTS

LONDON (UPI)—About 330 million tons of cargo pass through British ports every year, of which 100 million tons consist of petroleum or petroleum products.

Woodmen To Hold Party

Greenville area children of school age are invited to a community Halloween party, sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America, Monday night, 7 p.m. at 1515 Broad Street.

According to Larry Stox, activities chairman, the party will begin with an inside parade for the awarding of prizes for best costumes. He said that games will be provided for all ages but emphasis will be on school age groups.

The chairman reported that Modern Woodmen of America, a legal reserve fraternal life insurance society with home offices in Rock Island, Ill., is sponsoring similar costume parties in hundreds of communities throughout the United States. He said the parties are part of a continuing program to further the general welfare of the youth of the nation, and to contribute to local community progress.

Stox, Modern Woodmen representative in this area, said that the adult camp and youth of Arlington Street Baptist Church will assist in the activities.

Contest Judges Arrive Tuesday

GRIFTON — Judges of the Coastal Plains Community Development Contest will be in Grifton Tuesday from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Approximately 30 Grifton citizens will present reports on progress in Grifton during the past year. Color slides will be shown.

The presentation will be held at the Grifton Library.

They Socialize And Dance In Cotillion

By BETTY CASEY
For about a dozen years the private, non-profit Greenville Cotillion Club has provided "dancing and socializing" to tunes reminiscent of pre-rock-music days for its members. Women wear pretty cocktail fashions and the men wear suits and ties for each festive occasion. Originally limited to 25 married couples, the club was called The Twenty-Five Club. Membership has been progressively increased to 45 couples, then 75 and now 100 couples, and the name has been changed. "We've had a lot of good times dancing steps ranging from the Cha-Cha-Cha to Waltzing," agreed Bill and Grace Smith, two of the few charter members still in the club. Some others who helped organize the club include Mrs. Ellen Bradford, Mrs. Dot Taylor and Mrs. Tommie

Byrd. "At first we danced to records, but now we hire bands," explained Mrs. Smith. "You can't beat good old records for great music," she declared. "however there are still some good bands available." Recorded tunes like, "Carolina In The Morning," "Personality", "Tea For Two," and "Miami Beach" were early favorites. Although some of the melodies have changed, the dance program continues to include classic ballroom dances. Members enjoy an opening grand march, fox-trots, cha-cha-chas, swing, tangoes and waltzes. "We usually have a mixer such as a girl's choice or Paul Jones," said Grace Smith. This is to promote friendly socializing. Another mixer is based on a medley of tunes. When the melody changes all of those on the floor change partners. The dance club has held all of its meetings in the Moose Club hall and has changed from monthly to six dances yearly. The dues, $24, per year are the same as when the club started. Present co-officers are: Richard and Peggy Briley, president, Carl and Bratha Abee, vice president; Hobert and Wanda Barnes, secretary; Bill and Edna Murray, treasurer; Fred and Vio, a Rogers, assistant treasurer; Red and Maxine Hawley, membership; Raymond and Nan Smith, by-laws; Jim and Helen Kleinert, entertainment; Travis and Nancy Thompson, entertainment; Eugene and Fla Edwards, publicity. "We have a special dinner meeting at Christmas time," said co-president Peggy Briley. She and her husband, Richard, have been members for "at least 10 years."

A committee arranges for special outside entertainment for the intermission such as the square dance numbers presented in costume by member of the Wilson Ken Kickers Square Dance Club at the recent Friday night dance.

Membership in the cotillion is now below the limit because of resignations due to moving or illness. "We hope to build it up this fall," said Mrs. Briley.

By notifying the host couple, members may take interested friends as guests to a dance, then submit their names for consideration by the membership committee and a vote of the board. If there are not three negative votes the couple is welcomed into the club as space is available.

Professor Friedan On Where Women's Lib Goes

By W.N.S. — Philadelphia Bulletin
PHILADELPHIA — Betty Friedan, the "Mother superior" of the feminist movement, attained national prominence with the publication nearly a decade ago of her book "The Feminine Mystique."

She is the founder of the National Organization of Women (NOW) and, in July, helped found the National Women's Political Caucus. Mrs. Friedan, 51, is a visiting professor at Temple University this academic year. A resident of New York, she commutes to Philadelphia weekly by seaplane.

Mrs. Friedan, who is divorced, has two sons and a daughter.

Following are excerpts from an interview that Betty Friedan had with editors and reporters of the Philadelphia Bulletin:

Question — What are some of the things you are teaching at Temple?

Answer — Well, I did a male beauty contest. I had the men students compete for "Mr. Most Masculine."

Q — How is your National Women's Political Caucus doing in this year's campaign?

A — It's had quite an impact. It's organized in most of the states. Our intent was to confront the structure of both political parties, demand the political power that women — 53 percent of the population — deserve, get women elected as delegates to both conventions, demand and get some priority for women's issues from candidates and get women running for office. And organize the women's vote to this end.

I think we've done a fair amount of this. In '72, from both parties, we have achieved progress. With the Democrats we got everything we wanted except the right to control our own bodies. It was probably the major controversial issue, of the Democratic convention.

Q — When do you think there will be a woman vice president?

A — I'm convinced that there's going to be woman vice president, at least, in 1976. Many more women are running for office in most of the states this year than ever before. Women are running for everything from sheriff up, but short of the U.S. Senate.

But I must say that I'm selfcritical of our effort, even though we are inexperienced in that we were manipulated (at the conventions). I think they thought that somehow we'd sit in the chairs and look pretty on television and do what someone wanted us to do. But I say that women are going to be another ethnic bloc to be delivered by bosses, whether male or female.

And to the degree that they tried to do that with us this time, we have too many generations of politeness in us, and timidity, and I think also women are really not better than men, there are certain power ambitions among some women which must be expected.

Q — It appears to me that the Caucus is more pro-McGovern than pro-Nixon

A — I myself am very critical of McGovern, but I shall vote for him. My definition of a woman is that you are a human being first, and even for women today, sex discrimination is not the most urgent problem in this country; it is the Vietnam War, and it is the danger of losing our liberties under a fascist or semi-fascist kind of government, the incipient seeds of which are present in the Nixon-Agnew administration. There's no way for women to be liberated in a fascist country.

I am going to vote for McGovern in protest against the limitations on our freedoms of the present administration. Q — But a recent Gallup Poll indicated that women are more pro-Nixon than men are. Why do you think this is so?

A — There is a mood in this country of retreat from change. And I am not a female chauvinist — I don't think women are any better than men. I think women — because of generations of enforced captivity — are more fearful than men.

When women have not liberated themselves to be active participants in the mainstream of society — which is what the women's movement is really all about — they are more timid than men. Once they're liberated they can be even more courageous than men, because they have more to gain.

Q — Why do you think there's so much opposition to the abortion laws?

A — I think what's really involved is that once women learn that they have the political power to liberate themselves from the fear of the unwanted pregnancy, then they know they have the power to change all of the conditions that oppress them. And I think this is the real threat to the powers that want to keep the status quo.

It's not really that an abortion platform would hurt candidates politically, because a recent Gallup Poll showed that 71 percent of all Americans now believe that the question of abortion should be the decision of a woman with her doctor, and the state should get off of it.

And a majority of Catholics believe this too.

Q — Don't you represent quite a different view than Gloria Steinem? Do you think it represents a split in the movement?

A — I wouldn't say a split in the movement. This movement is so large — in most institutions in this country there is a women's group. And we know from the polls that the great majority of women identify with the basic goals of the women's movement, that is equal opportunity in education, child care centers, the right to abortion and the like.

I don't think the majority of women in this country identify with that rhetoric. I do think that the majority of women do identify with my direction, with the idea that this is human liberation, that man is not the enemy, that we are not opposed to men, that Woman's Liberation does not mean the abolition of marriage, that child-bearing is not inimical to women.

Q — Women have been oppressed for centuries, so won't many of them need special advantages — sort of "head start" — in order to compete with men?

A — We are doing it now, with the women's studies programs at the different universities. And the attitudes of men have to change, too, and that's why I like what I'm doing at Temple. I'm not doing it just for women, I'm doing it for women and men both. One of the major victories that the movement has already won — and this we did in the first two years — we won the executive order that says that no university or other institution that has government contracts can keep them if it's found guilty of sex or race discrimination and does not take affirmative action with real definite goals to end discrimination.

Q — I have a daughter who is 7, and she is already talking about being a nurse instead of a doctor. How do you let girls know that they can become doctors?

A — One of the things that the movement is doing is trying to change the whole question of the image of woman, in terms of the media, and the books children read, and television. It is going to be unconscionable in a very short time to have the reading texts in the elementary schools show only the woman with the apron bandaging the knee, or the nurse and not the doctor.

And the athletic programs in any city which give all the money to boys' baseball, basketball and varsity football, and give girls one hour a week of ballet. It's just as important for girls to have the fitness and confidence of their bodies as it is for boys.

Q — Have you noticed any ambivalence toward the women's movement by women in minority groups?

A — I think that more and more black women are now identifying with the women's movement, especially as the goals become more and more clearly spelled out in the direction of employment opportunities, child-care centers, maternity leave, access to jobs, and all that I don't think most black women would ever subscribe to the Gloria Steinem note — to the down-with-men note, to the women-against-men note, because black women have been too much hurt by white society's castration of black men, by being forced to carry too much of the burden in their families because the black men were denied opportunities in society. Black women, I think, see their first responsibility to themselves and to their people as blacks, and only second as women.

But I think that more and more black women also see that it's no good for them to break through discrimination against blacks and then have it all over again against them as women. So they are identifying with the women's movement and I think it's more and more necessary to see that the women's movement and the black movement must be in alliance. The forces of reaction that both of us have to fight would like nothing better than to get us fighting each other.

Q — You mentioned that in 1976 a woman would be vice president of the United States. Which party would it be? Are there any people on the scene right now who would be likely to be it?

A — Plenty. If one party does it, then the other will, too. I think that there will be serious women contenders for the Presidency in both parties, and a woman is going to be nominated for Vice President by 1976. It's not idle speculation.

I think in the Democratic Party there's Shirley Chisholm, Martha Griffiths, there's Eleanor Holmes Norton, there's myself, there's a lot of women.

Q — What about Bella Abzug?

A — I don't think so. I think she's too narrow in her appeal.

In the Republican Party there are women like Margaret Heckler and Rita Hauser. I might not agree with all their politics, but there are formidable women. Lenore Romney is another and there are more coming all the time.

Miss Linda McLawhorn Is Wed Designer Is Interested In Orphans

BELL ARTHUR — In a candlelight ceremony on Saturday at 5:30 p.m. in the Bell Arthur Christian Church, Miss Linda Earle McLawhorn became the bride of William Neal Walston.

The Rev. E. L. Kilpatrick, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Earl McLawhorn of Rt. 1, Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas Walston of Farmville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. James W. Moore, pianist, of Farmville. Miss Dianne Griffin of Kinston sang, "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The vows were spoken before an altar banked with a massive arrangement of mixed white flowers and emerald palms. On each side was a brass pyramidal candelabra holding white lighted cathedral tapers. The wedding scene was completed with a brass prie-dieu where the couple knelt for communion and prayer. Pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of hand clipped chantilly lace over peau de soie. The molded bodice was fashioned with a high sculptured neckline encircled with a band of Venice lace which was threaded with satin ribbon. The long tapered sleeves with Venice lace trim were closed with petite self-covered buttons. Scallops bordered the hemline of the A-line silhouette skirt which flowed into fullness at the sides and back and was complemented with a detachable chapel length train.

She wore a matching lace profile headpiece attached to an elbow length illusion veil. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of miniature carnations and white roses tied with streamers of matching satin and tulle.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Judy Rose McLawhorn of Rt. 1, Greenville. She wore a floor length gown of shadow print georgette in shades of pink, blue, green, and gold over a shirt of peau taffeta. The empire bodice featured a self ruffle at the high round neckline and sheer bouffant sleeves. A deep ruffle accented the hemline of the gathered skirt. She wore a contrasting bolero of gold sata 'peau which was closed in the front with petite self-covered button.

Her headpiece was a wide brimmed picture hat of matching colors embellished with a gold velvet bow. She carried a natural wicker fireside basket filled with gold daisy pom poms, greenery, colored fall leaves and tied with gold and moss green streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jeanne Denise McLawhorn, sister of the bride, Miss Georgia Ann Powell, both of Rt. 1, Greenville, cousin of the bride, Miss Pamela Gaye Johnson, of Farmville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Janice Lou Thompson of Farmville. Their dresses and headpieces were fashioned after that of the honor attendant, and they carried natural wicker fireside baskets filled with gold daisy pom poms, greenery, colored fall leaves, and tied with gold velvet streamers.

The flower girl was Miss Sandra Virginia McLawhorn, sister of the bride. She wore a gown fashioned after the honor attendant, with a gold bow for her hair. She carried a natural wicker basket of daisy petals, tied with gold streamers.

Weldon Earl McLawhorn Jr. served his sister as ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Walston served his son as best man. Ushers were William Duvaul Thigpen Jr. of Beulaville, Mahlon LaSelle Aycock of Charlotte, Mark Tyler Johnson of Raleigh, cousins of the bridegroom, and Larry McLawhorn Jr. of Rt. 1, Greenville, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McLawhorn wore a sea blue formal gown of chiara crepe. The molded bodice, overlaid with scallop Venice lace, was styled with rounded neck bordered with band of crepe, and long fitted lace sleeves. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore an emerald green formal dress of silk chiffon over peau de soie. The empire bodice was fashioned with modified "V" neck bordered with overlay of matching Venice lace and the bishop sleeves were cuffed at wrist with lace. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Archie G. Cayton of Farmville, maternal grandmother of the bride, was attired in a formal jade green dress of silk crepe and matching accessories. Mrs. R. A. McLawhorn Sr. of Rt. 1, Greenville, paternal grandmother of the bride wore a formal dress of azelea chira crepe and matching accessories. Mrs. Lillie Turner Johnson of Macclesfield, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a formal dress of azelea silk chiffon worn over peau taffeta. Each grandmother was remembered with a corsage of white carnations.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. James E. Lewis of Rt. 1, Greenville.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a navy and white dress with a matching cape and tam. She wore matching accessories and the white rose corsage lifted from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Farmville High School and is a senior at East Carolina University majoring in business education. She is a member of Pi Omega Pi, national business education honorary society. Her husband is a graduate of Farmville High School and is a senior at East Carolina University majoring in community health and P.E.

After their wedding trip the couple will reside in Greenville.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

After-Rehearsal Party
Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas Walston entertained the bridal couple, members of their wedding party, families and guests at an after rehearsal party on Friday night at the Red Room of the Candlewick Inn, Greenville.

Wedding Breakfast
On Saturday morning, the bridal couple was honored at a wedding breakfast in the Shannon Room at the Shamrock in Farmville.

Hosts and hostesses for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson of Farmville, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lee Whitley, of Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson of Raleigh, Mrs. Lillie Turner Johnson of Macclesfield, Mr. and Mrs. William Duvaul Thigpen of Beulaville, Mrs. Archie Cayton of Farmville, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hardison of Farmville, and Mr. and Mrs. Jan M. Cayton of Okinawa.

Husband Gave Her Good Behavior

MIDDLESBOROUGH, ENGLAND (WNS) — Kay McKenna, 36, expected a peaceful life when she married a magistrate. However, husband Bernard McKenna locked her out of the house after a family argument. Police drove by just in time to catch her damaging the front door in an effort to get in. Mrs. McKenna made the mistake of slapping one of them in the face when he tried to stop her. In court, she admitted "conduct likely to cause a breach of the peace." The judge put her on good behavior for a year. Asked to comment, the poor lady said, "I wouldn't dare."

For a quick curry sauce you can use a can of condensed tomato soup, seasoning it with curry powder, Worcestershire sauce, instant minced onion and a dash of vinegar. Good with shrimp served over rice and topped with peanuts.

GRAVESEND, England (WNS) — Tommy Arrows, star of the Gravesend soccer team, played the first 50 minutes of the championship game against Kings for the Kent Cup, then apologized that he had to leave the field because of a previous engagement to get married at 4 p.m. He changed from soccer uniform to groom's cutaway during the drive to the church in Northfleet, then rushed back to the stadium after the wedding to learn that his team had won, 1 to 0, on the score that he had made. "Now," asked the bride, "are you free to join me on the honeymoon?"

By RENA PEDERSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Oscar de la Renta is the center of an $18 million a year fashion complex that covers the backs of beautiful people named Kennedy, Ford and Rothschild.

But while his designs rake in money and awards, he dreams of becoming a country gardener and works for an orphanage in the Dominican Republic.

"I plan two shows this year to support the orphanage," he explained when showing his fall fashion collection in Dallas. "One show is in Puerto Rico and one in Santo Domingo, which is my birthplace."

De la Renta said he had heard a priest was housing some 310 orphans in the stables of dictator Carlos Trujillo's old mansion. So he talked to the government about working together for an orphanage.

"My government is poor, as you know, but we will have teachers for the children. And I have arranged for a guitar player to go once a week, so they will learn music," he said.

The president of the Dominican Republic has honored the designer for being one of his native country's most distinguished citizens. The United States Information Agency recently completed a documentary film about De la Renta.

A handsome man who dresses New York but talks with a Spanish accent, he spoke wistfully about his traditional Christmas show that benefits Dominican children: "When I am the saddest, I go back and think of the children. To go there and see those children makes everything I do worthwhile."

De la Renta, who is often called "a designer's designer," was discovered when he was still a painter by Mrs. John Lodge, wife of an American ambassador to Spain. A dress he designed for her daughter made the cover of Life and his career. He went on to work for other designers before going on his own.

"I spend most of my free time with my wife, Francoise," he said.

She is Francoise de Langlade, former editor of the French Vogue magazine until their marriage in 1967.

The De la Rentas recently bought a country house in Connecticut and the designer said he plans to take up painting again while they are in the country.

"And I would love a country garden," he said. "I need some place like that." The boyish grin popped out again when he was asked if sometimes it is necessary to get away from "Oh, yes," he said, "Oh, yes."

Fiance Prefers To Watch Television

NAPLES, Italy (WNS) — Angela Motti, 19, invited her fiance to watch TV at her house the night her parents went to the movies. In the dark she snuggled up to him and asked if he knew what her lips were for. "To keep your mouth shut while I'm watching TV," said Dino Bonivento, 20. That's when Angela hit him over the head with a portable radio and called an ambulance to take the unconscious fellow to the hospital.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Holy Trinity Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Annie Louise Moore and Pervis Cohens Saturday at 3:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leamon Dudley and the Rev. John Taylor. Mrs. Rosa Williams sang "The Lord's Prayer" and Mrs. Evalene Clark Rogers sang "Bless This House."

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Lenora Moore of Baltimore, Md., and the late Mr. David H. Moore, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cohens of Goldsboro.

Given in marriage by her brother, Harvey Moore, the bride wore a floor length gown of white satin designed with a lace yoke with a stand-up collar. The gown had a lace overskirt, long satin sleeves with lace cuffs with white satin buttons. The gown was designed by the bride and made by Miss Hattie Moore. She carried a nosegay of mums.

Mrs. Lenora Savage of Baltimore, Md., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Mary Ward of Baltimore, Md., was bridesmaid. They wore floor length dresses of shocking pink with a string of pearls. They each carried one pink mum.

The mother of the bride wore a pink knit dress, matching accessories and a white mum corsage.

Miss Bridgette Anderson was flower girl and wore a shocking pink dress identical to the bridesmaid and carried a basket of pom poms.

George L. Anderson was ring bearer.

James O. Smith of Greenville was best man. Ushers were James Taft, Harry Smith and James Cox, all of Greenville.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride attended Pitt County Schools and is a graduate of Deshazor Beauty School. The bridegroom attended Wayne County Schools and is also a graduate of Deshazor Beauty School.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow flowers. The dining room was decorated in royal blue and yellow.

The bride presented her attendants with gifts of jewelry. The honoree was presented a gift of silver by the hostess.

An after-rehearsal party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mobley of Greenville honoring the Cohens-Moore wedding party.

Mayor's Wife Now Air Chauffeur

DEAUVILLE, France (WNS) — Mayor Michel d'Ornano was impressed when Minister of Foreign Affairs Maurice Schumann and Minister of Supplies Olivier Guichard came to call. The mayor was ready to show them the 'abulous beach, casino and estates but was surprised at their request for an airplane with a chauffeur. Who was the safest pilot for such important personages? The mayor looked over his list of available airmen — and picked his wife.

Fried Rice May Be Served At the Reception

But inwardly, they cherish tradition...express it still, in the forever beauty of diamonds. This striking Tiffany engagement setting, is hers alone, like no other diamond in all the world. Contemporary swirl design interlocks with matching 14K gold wedding band. Truly a bridal set as unique as the future of these two young people.

McKenzie-Casey Vows Are Said

WILSON — Miss Maureen Bernadette Casey and Benjamin Whitehead McKenzie III exchanged their wedding vows on Saturday, at high noon. The Rev. John A. Gray officiated at the double ring ceremony at Saint Timothy's Episcopal Church here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Joseph Casey of Auburn, N.Y., are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. McKenzie Jr. of Wilson.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Charles W. Rakow of Wilson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory satin organza. The fitted bodice had a high collar and fitted sleeves with ruffle cuffs. The bodice was enhanced by an overlay of Venice lace with accents of pearls, with matching motifs on the sleeves. The full skirt had a deep hemline flounce defined by the lace and extended into a chapel sweep train. The cathedral length veil was attached to a matching crown of Venice lace accented with pearls.

She carried a colonial bouquet of Wolburn Abbey roses, stephanotis, bronze mums, baby's breath, Baker's fern and ivy.

Mrs. Kenneth R. Taylor, sister of the bride, of Plainfield, N.J., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. H.A. Carpenter III of High Point, Miss Jean Bruton McKenzie of Burlington, both sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Frances Louise Round of Fairfax, Va., Miss Sandra Stratton Sommer of Silver Springs, Md., and Miss Juanita Lee Masten of Greenville.

They were attired in formal emerald crepe dresses designed with an open collar of ivory crepe edged in ivory crocheted lace with long sleeves having matching cuffs. The natural waistline was enhanced by a self-tie with long streamers. They carried colonial bouquets of bronze and yellow pompons, yellow roses, tangerine carnations and garnet roses with baby's breath and Baker's fern. They wore headdresses of matching flower circlets.

Miss Julie Ann Casey, niece of the bride, of Auburn, N.Y. was flower girl. She wore a long ivory dress of melody satin with a full skirt of chiffon and long chiffon sleeves. The dress was trimmed with Venice lace and a green satin ribbon. She carried a nosegay fashioned after those of the bridesmaids.

B.W. McKenzie Jr., father of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were H.A. Carpenter III of High Point, Philip Richard Mahoney, of Petersburg, Va., John Thomas Best of Salisbury, James Michael Taylor of Farmville, and Les MacDaniel of Greensboro.

Jeffrey K. Taylor, nephew of the bride of Plainfield, N.J. was ring bearer.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Katrina Howell, Miss Michele Marine, Miss Vickie Little, and Miss Carolyn Peer. They wore floor length dresses, and each carried a long-stemmed yellow chrysanthemum.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride held a reception at the Holiday Inn, Wilson.

The bridal table was decorated with a large centerpiece of mixed fall flowers, candelabras, and table appointments of silver. The cake table holding a four-tiered wedding cake, was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with nylon net. The room was decorated throughout with arrangements of mixed fall flowers, palms, and ferns.

Assisting at the reception were Miss Lala Paris and Mrs. Bryant Duke Paris Sr. of Graham, and Mrs. William Wilson of Southern Pines, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Homer S. Fisher Jr. of Knapolis and Mrs. B. Duke Paris Jr. of Cary, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. W.M.P. Taylor of Auburn, N.Y. A dance band provided music throughout the reception.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Rocky Mount, Va.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. The bridegroom is also a graduate of ECU where he was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is now employed by Burlington Industries, Rocky Mount, Va.

Following the rehearsal Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. B.W. McKenzie Jr., parents of the bridegroom, entertained the wedding party, relatives, and out-of-town guests at a dinner held in the Crown Room, Heart of Wilson.

A bridal shower was given by Miss Michele Marine, Miss Lee Masten, and Miss Vickie Little. Bridal luncheons were given by Mrs. John S. Smith and Mrs. Palmer G. Laughridge Jr. The bridesmaids luncheon was given by Miss Lala Paris and Mrs. Homer S. Fisher Jr. in the Crown Room, Heart of Wilson.

Weed Dinners For Vegetarians

ANTWERP, Belgium (WNS) — Weed suppers are the new delight at Catherine Aimar's vegetarian restaurant here. "I learned about weeds when I was a refugee during the second World War," said the 59-year-old food specialist. "When you get hungry enough, you know by inspiration which weeds are good to eat and which are not. 'If inspiration doesn't come, watch what animals eat and copy them.' Mme. Aimar, who now has her own weed farm, favors sorrel salad, chickweed in batter and a charlock omelet. "Almost anything green is delicious boiled, steamed or braised in oil," she insisted. "One precaution: make sure that the weeds haven't been sprinkled with garden pesticides."

Saute chopped onion and green pepper in bacon drippings and add to pork and beans when you are heating them.

Miss Harding Weds Mr. Johnston

WASHINGTON — Miss Sharon Elizabeth Harding and Sidney Harrell Johnston exchanged wedding vows Saturday at 3:00 p.m. in the St. Peter's Episcopal Church here.

The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Wright and the Rev. William T. Deneke. A program of organ music was presented by D. Thomas Hardison.

The church was decorated with brass vases holding arrangements of white mums, white stock and gypsophila and altar candles on the white marble altar.

Robert Keys was the crucifer with Tom Nelson and Thomas Rodman serving as acolytes.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Champion Harding of Washington, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of traditional white sate peau beaded with peau d'ange lace with a chapel length train. The empire bodice featured a yoke neckline and full length bishop sleeves. Peau d'ange lace appliques etched with seed pearls adorned the bodice and the full length A-line skirt. Rosettes headed the attached wateau chapel length train bordered with lace and motifs graced the train.

The bride chose a chapel length mantilla of bridal illusion bordered with peau d'ange lace and illusion blusher mounted on an open crown cap. She carried a cascade of white roses and lily-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid showered with white satin streamers.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Johnston of Greenville.

Mrs. Harry Hollowell was matron of honor. She wore a floor length romance blue chiffon gown trimmed with royal blue velvet. The shirred bodice featured a yoke neckline with a standing ruffle and full length chiffon puff sleeves with a ruffled cuff. A royal blue velvet band encircled the empire waist of the full length gathered skirt and trimmed the cuffs of the sleeves. She wore a matching headpiece with a face frame design trimmed with velvet loops with a shoulder length tiered veil attached. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of white roses with royal blue strawflowers.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Edward L. Harding of Washington, brother of the bride, Bruce Johnston, cousin of the bridegroom, and Donald Avery, both of Greenville, and Ronnie Coltrain of Williamston.

Miss Lalla C. Bragaw of Washington, godmother of the bride, was mistress of ceremonies and wore a white cymbidium.

The mother of the bride selected a heavenly blue dress of polyester double knit designed with princess lines. The bodice featured a high neckline and a Bertha collar of Venice lace with matching blue pearl trim. She wore matching accessories and a white Georgianna orchid corsage.

The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a street length sheath dress of pink polyester with a matching full length coat. Embroidery and seed pearls decorated the high neckline. She wore matching accessories and a white Georgianna orchid corsage.

Mrs. Elbert W. Lloyd, grandmother of the bride, wore a blue and white silk dress and jacket and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

For a wedding trip to the mountains, the bride changed into a wind knit dress and coat with matching accessories. She wore a white orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High School, attended Stratford College and is employed at the Greenville Eye Clinic.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winterville High School and is parts manager at Auto Specialty, Greenville, where the couple will reside.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the Church Parish House.

The hall was decorated with an antique chest arrangement of white gladioli, mums, yellow fuji pom poms and roses. Magnolia leaves and greenery were also used throughout the hall.

Mrs. Irwin Hulbert Jr. poured punch and Mrs. Herman Lollis served cake squares assisted by Mrs. David Spivey and Miss Lalla Bragaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Rollins greeted guests and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith greeted guests in Gardner Hall and presented them to the receiving line. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tripp directed guests to the wedding table.

The bride's register table was covered with a white organdy cloth with an appointment of yellow rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Keys Jr. presided at the bride's book.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. James F. Buckman III.

Cake-Cutting

A cake cutting for members of the wedding party and family was given by the bride's parents at their home Saturday afternoon at 4:30.

The living room was decorated with magnolia leaves and greenery. An arrangement of white miniature carnations, white stock and gypsophila was used on the mantel.

In the dining room, the table was covered with a linen cut-work cloth centered with a silver candelabra with white miniature carnations, white roses and yellow jack straw pom poms with burning tapers.

After the traditional cutting of the cake by the bride and bridegroom, toasts were made to the couple. Rice bags were given to the guests.

After-Rehearsal Party

Following the rehearsal Friday night, the wedding party and out-of-town guests were entertained in the fellowship hall of Parkers Chapel Free Will Baptist Church, Greenville.

Host and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. James R. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wilborne, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie French, Mr. and Mrs. Regan Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harris of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Grice of Goldsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Brown received the guests.

MRS. SIDNEY HARRELL JOHNSTON

On The Local Scene

by Rosalie Trotman

The Williamsburg Presbyterian Church, Kingstree, S.C., will be the scene of the Dec. 30 wedding of Barbara Nexen and John Lansche.

The bride attended Kingstree High School and received her A.B. degree from Coker College. She is now admissions counselor at Converse College.

A graduate of J. H. Rose High School, her fiancé received his A. B. degree from the University of North Carolina and J. D. from the University of North Carolina Law School. He is now a practicing attorney.

"BLACK BEAUTY" — A young colt becomes the possession of a young boy who curries, saddle breaks and trains the remarkable animal, only to lose him to a brutish squire when his father's farm must be sold. (G) Saturday double feature.

'Galileo' Auditions On Monday, Tuesday

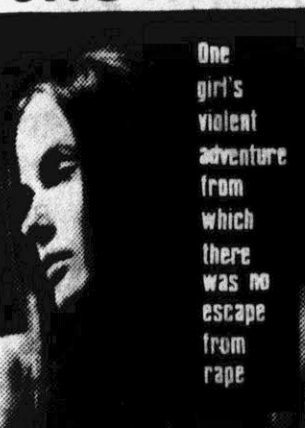

Edgar R. Loessin, producer-director of the East Carolina Playhouse, has announced auditions for the next production of the season, Bertolt Brecht's Galileo. Auditions will be held in McGinnis Auditorium on the ECU campus, Monday and Tuesday (October 30 and 31) from 7:30-10:00 p.m. The play offers roles for 27 men and 4 women, and auditions are open to all students and townspeople. Scripts of the play are currently on reserve at the ECU library.

Galileo is the most successful of Brecht's plays to be presented in the United States, and has been produced twice in New York at the ANTA Theatre and the Lincoln Center. Centering around the life of the famous 17th century scientist, Galileo is both humorous and ironical in its treatment of the man who insisted that the sun, not the earth, was the center of the universe. Renaissance Italy in general, and the Papacy in particular, are rocked by these theories, and charges of heresy are issued

EDITOR'S NOTE—After 35 years of reporting about the United States, Alistair Cooke has distilled his impressions into 13 one-hour television shows. Cooke, the quiet Britisher who hosted the "Omnibus" series in the 1960s, took two years to compile his video anthology. One of his conclusions: "It's not a question of saving what's left; it's more of recovering what's lost."

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Alistair Cooke can't be all bad. He agrees with H. L. Menckens' thesis that "all journalists are people who like to flap their wings in public."

Cooke has been a practicing journalist for most of his adult life, but it's hard to imagine him flapping. Particularly when one recalls him as the quietly British host of television's "Omnibus" series from 1952 through 1961.

But a journalist he is and the urge to get the words out persists. After 35 years of writing about the United States, he's finally distilled his impressions into 13 one-hour shows called "America."

The first of the lot will air on NBC at 10 p.m. Nov. 14, six days before his 64th birthday. The rest will be broadcast on alternate Tuesday nights.

"America" is a subjective look at the shaping of this country. It's the result of Cooke's

Journalist Airing TV Tour

America Now Disturbs Alistair Cooke

two-year tour of the nation with a film crew from the British Broadcasting Corp.

The tour began in October 1970, at the Old South Church in Boston where in 1773 American patriots held a stormy anti-British meeting that was immediately followed by the Boston Tea Party.

It ended this month at Cooke's book-lined apartment on Fifth Avenue, the final shots in his study overlooking the northern wilderness of Central Park.

Several weeks later, he sat in the study, a lean, animated man in comfortable grey slacks and sweater, philosophizing about the Americas of 1937 and 1972.

It was a gloomy, rainy Friday. And he was saying his tour of America had uncovered a gloomy nation compared to the 1937 model he had described for the BBC and the Manchester Guardian.

In that year, he said, "Roosevelt had really lifted the country up, certainly in spirit. And it was a tremendously exciting place to be."

"Europe already was cowed and frightened of Hitler and its people knew they were going to have to fight him. It was a listless and discouraging place to be and this country, on the contrary, was not."

"All right, we've never solved unemployment here, but it certainly had been brought down. And you did feel that this country really was on the move and was the real leader of the West."

The words tumbled out, quickly and in sharp contrast to the slow, measured cadences of the Cooke we see on television.

"And now this country is disturbing," he said. "It's upsetting to me."

How has it changed?

In appearance: "The thing I've noticed is that it's almost impossible to instantly identify a place the moment you get out of a plane. It's just miles of motelsville, second-hand car lots, hamburger stands, the refuse and litter."

"It's not a question of saving what's left; it's more of recovering what's lost. It's gone at such a speed."

In spirit: "What is sad today is that so many people are united in being afraid of their country. And this goes for all types—farmers, cowboys, real estate men, bankers, journalists, housewives."

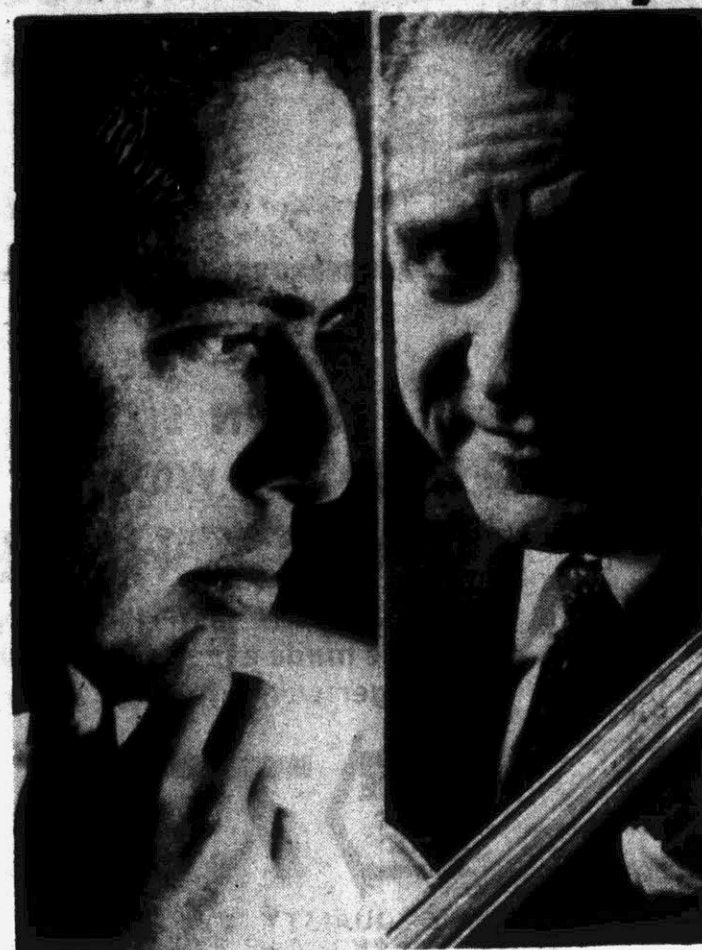

Their country. Not their current administration, but their country itself. What caused it? Cooke shrugged in bewilderment.

Cooke was concerned also about the apathy he found to real or alleged corruption in Congress. He recalled the national shock over the Sherman Adams affair of the 1950s—a shock caused by the gift of a vicuna coat—and contrasted it with today's "pervading cynicism."

Vietnam? He thinks it has had "a profound effect on the old feeling that we can roll up our sleeves and fix everything."

Cooke doesn't speak with practiced ill-will. Just sadness,

Top Duo Plays On Wednesday

A top duo of American musical talent will be on hand Wednesday in the second event of the seasons' Artist Series.

At 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, pianist Gary Graffman and cellist Leonard Rose will appear in a concert in Wright Auditorium.

The Philadelphia Inquirer music critic, on the occasion of Graffman's 25th anniversary as a public performer, hailed the pianist an "among the elite circle of pianist headed by Rubenstein." Time Magazine noted that Graffman is generally regarded as "the top American pianist in his age group." The New York Times, Newsweek Magazine and other leading American publications have been generous in praise of his talent.

Graffman is acclaimed for his command of the music of Beethoven and Brahms, as well as for his virtuosic playing of the music of Chopin, Prokofiev and Tchaikovsky.

Cellist Rose, of whom the New York Times music critic recently wrote: "There is no need to talk of the pure gold Leonard Rose draws from his cello," first came to public attention when at the age of 20 he was engaged to play in Toscanini's NBC Symphony.

TITLE ROLE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — James McEachin will star in the title role of "Tenafly," a Universal television movie with guest appearances by Mel Ferrer, Ed Nelson and John Ericson.

WED. "THE RUNAWAYS" (R)

while cautioning that "I try to blanket my short-term pessimism with my long term optimism."

His favorite living American journalists—and he stresses the word journalists—would surprise the casual Cooke-watcher.

They're David Brinkley, Art Buchwald, William F. Buckley and Charlie McCabe, the last known to readers in San Francisco and elsewhere as author of the daily "Fearless Spectator" column.

Another surprise: when he began work on "America," he wasn't writing as an English journalist. He became a citizen of the United States four years after first reporting on how the country works.

Gary Crosby Is Sports Addict

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Gary Crosby, Bing's eldest, is happy with his recurring role as a cynical cop in "Adam-12" but is prey to actor's telephitis.

He has one ear tuned to the telephone awaiting that call from his agent or a producer beckoning him for a major role in a motion picture or perhaps a television series of his own.

Gary is a shade below medium height, his hair is thinning and his speaking voice reminiscent of his father's.

But by any gauge Gary is his own man.

He and his wife Barbara have been married a dozen years. They have a son by her previous marriage, Steven, 17, who is in his junior year of high school.

They live in a ramshackle, two-bedroom house in the comfortable Benedict Canyon area. The house has servant's quarters, but the Crosbys are servantless.

There is a feeling of solidity about the house and furnishings. The house isn't new and a few repairs are needed here and there, but Gary still isn't sure which end of the hammer to use.

"I'm not a fixer-upper," said Gary, "not since Barbara saw me tip over a can of paint on the living room carpet."

Gary, 39, chafes at inactivity. But as a free-lance actor he finds himself with hours, days and weeks in which he is not gainfully employed.

To fill the time Crosby has become almost a full-time athlete.

Likes Sports

He plays baseball in three different leagues three days a week—triple A softball. He spends two hours on Mondays and Thursdays playing basketball at a local high school with 10 to 12 friends.

But his real passion is tennis. Gary plays several times a week and enters pro-am and celebrity tournaments all over Southern California. He's competitive and in top condition.

Part of his devotion to sports is Gary's dedication to the battle of the bulge. Barbara is a fantastic cook whose specialty is Italian dishes. Gary need only look at pasta to gain weight.

He and Barbara have three dogs, a terrier named Silky, a white poodle they call Venus and a 140-pound Belgian shepherd, Thor, who keeps prowlers away.

Aside from traveling to tennis tournaments, the Crosbys are not socially oriented. They have a few friends in from time to time for dinner and a poker game—fun, not money.

Gary doesn't see very much of his famous father who makes his home in a suburb of San Francisco. Neither is he close to his brothers, Lindsay, Dennis and Philip.

"I see Dennis now and then," says Gary. "He's in the fish business in Mexico. But I don't know, my other brothers are busy with their own lives and I'm doing the best I can."

Gary dislikes leaving town for any length of time because it means the telephone is unguarded.

Recently he landed a co-starring role in the television movie, "The Sandcastles." He would very much like to appear in more such shows.

Book News

From Sheppard Memorial Library

By WILLIE MAE GIGGS

France's leading woman writer, Simone de Beauvoir, has done in THE COMING OF AGE a definitive study of the universal problem of growing old. In compiling this masterwork on the economics, psychology, and biology of old age in all areas of society, Madame de Beauvoir has used as her main thesis, "Society's secret shame" — or what the aging members of the world must endure and suffer. What is it that the aging must suffer and endure? When questioned by her publisher about the purpose and character of her book, Simone de Beauvoir's reply was, "Are the old really human beings? Judging by the way our society treats them, the question is open to doubt. Since it refuses them what they consider the necessary minimum and since it deliberately condemns them to extreme poverty, to slums, to ill health, loneliness and despair, it asserts that they have neither the same needs nor the same rights as other members of the community." THE COMING OF AGE is an honest attempt to give a wholly truthful account of the state of the aged and what they experience in their daily lives.

An inside view of marriage and alternative ways of loving together from the perspective of those living the experience is revealed by Carl R. Rodgers in his outspoken book BECOMING PARTNERS: MARRIAGE AND ITS ALTERNATIVES. Through this extraordinary book you share the experiences of men and women who are struggling to "become partners." Ray and Sylvia speak openly and freely about their experiment in giving complete sexual freedom to each other. Lois and Boris share their experience in entering a commune together. Eric and Denise tell of the vast change that overcame each of them. Bound by strict parental and cultural expectations, Denise suffered a breakdown after five years. Therapy helped build her as a person. Through the use of marijuana Eric, a highly rational intellectual type, changed into a warm individual who appreciated his whole self. Frequently their marriage seemed on the verge of a split. Through deep, real, and free communication, they became aware that marriage is a process, not a institutional structure; and that a marriage continually transformed by the development of each spouse is a source of blossoming security. Dr. Rodgers passes no judgment on whether these unions are good or bad. He simply shares in BECOMING PARTNERS some of the highly intimate and meaningful accounts of the man-woman relationship as it is actually lived.

For parents of both normal and disturbed children, for teachers, social workers and doctors, Dr. Charles R. Shaw, a compassionate child psychiatrist, has written the book WHEN YOUR CHILD NEEDS HELP. Unlike other books which deal with a specific emotional problem, this book describes all the major disorders — schizophrenia brain damage, psychoneurosis, psychopathy, reading problems and learning disabilities, personality disorder, and mental retardation. Dr. Shaw's book begins with a discussion of how various emotions are manifested in the unhappy child, and how a child signals his distress to adults. This book offers a basis for comparing symptoms which may be normal or which may be cause for alarm in that for each of the major disorders Dr. Shaw explains what the child is like, how he acts and feels, the causes of his disturbance, his diagnosis is made, what treatment has been found effective, and the future outlook for the child.

NCMA Free Concert Series

The education department of the North Carolina Museum of Art will present a series of five free concerts beginning with the DiCecco-Kitten Duo of Duke University at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, October 29, in the Flemish Gallery.

Other concerts in the series will be: On December 3, Raleigh Pro Musica; February 11, Stephen Bell, classical guitar; April 1, Jean-Jacques Kantorow, violin; and May 6, Gayle Smith, cello.

The duo has concertized widely in the United States and plans a tour of Europe next spring.

The Pro Musica, directed by Eduardo Ostergren, is a relatively new group in Raleigh composed of about 20 singers and eight instrumentalists. The group specializes in music from the 16th century to the present.

A major work by a contemporary American composer headlines the program of the Annual Fall Concert of the East Carolina Symphony Orchestra, with Robert Hause conducting.

At 3:15 p.m. today, the orchestra will present Ross Lee Finney's Concerto for Percussion and Orchestra featuring percussion soloists Peyton Becton, Gray Barrier, John Floyd, and Butch Sievers.

PAUL TARDIF . . . faculty pianist, who will play a Beethoven concerto with the ECU Symphony Orchestra in the annual fall concert by the orchestra today at 3:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium. Admission is free.

Also on the highly varied program, ECU School of Music faculty member Paul Tardif is appearing as piano soloist in a performance of Beethoven's Concerto No. 3 for Piano and Orchestra.

A member of the ECU faculty since September 1971, Tardif has a distinguished career as performer and teacher. He has performed in Europe as a soloist under the sponsorship of the U.S. Department of State and was the recipient of a Fulbright Grant for study in Munich, Germany.

In 1965 Tardif received the coveted Artist's Diploma from the Salzburg (Austria) Mozarteum and was also the winner of the Alfredo Casella Competition while in Europe. Tardif is a graduate of the East School of Music.

The third composition on today's program is an old beloved among concertgoers, Brahms' Symphony No. 4.

Finney's Concerto for Percussion and Orchestra was composed in 1965 in honor of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Carleton College. The work calls for a large orchestra and a very large battery of percussion instruments. It exploits the various timbres of the percussion family individually and collectively. In addition, the composer stipulates that four percussion soloists be distributed around the orchestra, so that the listener perceives not only the unique sound of the instruments but also their relationship in space as well as time. Finney is currently Composer-in-Residence at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Becton, Gray, Floyd and Sievers, the four soloists for Finney's Concerto, are all percussion majors in the School of Music, and are senior year students of Harold Jones.

The East Carolina Symphony Orchestra, while primarily a university ensemble, numbers three musicians from the Greenville community and two students from Aycock Junior High School. Three faculty members and four graduate music students also play in the orchestra. The remaining musicians are drawn from the ranks of the university's undergraduate music students.

Conductor Hause is now in his sixth season as conductor of the ECU Symphony. He has also completed ten years of summer appearances with North Carolina's noted Eastern Music Festival in Greensboro, which each year presents a program of varied music in a series of performances extending over several weeks.

Hause this past summer also conducted in the Interlocken National Music

Camp in Interlocken, Michigan.

The program scheduled for today encompasses a new modern work, one of Beethoven's finest piano concertos and a Brahms symphony.

Today's ECU Symphony Orchestra concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

Music On Campus

In addition to the fall concert of the ECU Symphony Orchestra at 3:15 p.m. today (see separate story this page), two music events are scheduled later this week in addition to two recitals next Sunday. The calendar shows:

—Thursday, 8:15 p.m., Recital Hall — Concert of Sacred Music. The East Carolina University Choral under the direction of Danny Tindall; and the Chamber Singers, directed by Dr. Charles W. Moore.

Among the varied offerings in sacred music, the opening number will be a setting of the In The Beginning text according to St. John. This version is for Chamber Singers and electronic tape. The program will then proceed through a Christmas group of songs featuring settings of the same text by more than one composer to a closing version with a large antiphonal piece by Benjamin Britten for two choirs.

The central offering of the program will be American composer William Schuman's setting of Walt Whitman's Carols of Death. Although only a dozen years old, the carols are recognized as a 20th century classic in choral literature. These numbers are to be sung by the Chamber Singers.

The final group on the concert of sacred music will be the Choral concluding with Glorious Everlasting by the North Carolina composer Norman Cousins.

—Friday, 8:15 p.m., Recital Hall — Ronald Thomas Rudkin, Senior Flute Recital — 8:15 p.m. A recipient of both an ECU and SGA scholarship, flutist Rudkin is also a Danforth nominee. For his Friday night program he will play Olivier Messiaen's Le Merle Noir; Mozart's Quartet in D Major; and Charles Griffes' Poem. Other selections include Ballata Romana by Jurg Baur with clarinet accompaniment and Paul Creston's Sonata, with alto saxophone.

—Sunday, November 5: Faculty Chamber Music Recital at 4:15 p.m. with Paul Topper, violin; Ellen Reithmaier, piano; Joanne Bath, violin; James Parnell; horn and Gregory Kostek, piano. At 8:15 p.m. a piano recital by Peter Takacs, for a second faculty recital for the first Sunday in November.

Admission to the listed recitals and concerts are free and the public is admitted on a first come first seated basis.

Speight Chosen For Reproduction

Greenville's noted landscape painter, and East Carolina University School of Art faculty artist Dr. Francis Speight is one of eight artists chosen by the North Carolina Museum of Art for a set of color reproductions of "great paintings that soon will be available to North Carolina schools from the museum."

The reproductions, all of paintings owned by North Carolina's widely acclaimed state museum of art, will feature, in addition to Speight's painting of Sans Souci Ferry, works from the museum covering a wide representation of paintings of different eras, styles and from artists of various nationalities.

Other painters and their works included in the series of full color reproductions are: Rembrandt, Young Man With A Sword; Jordaens, The Holy Family; First News of the Battle of Lexington, by the 19th century artist William Ranney (see photograph accompanying this article); "Young Shepherd With Flower by Ernst Kirchner; Forward by Jacob Lawrence: Boudin's L'Entree du Port de Trouville; and Kline's Orange Outline.

The reproductions contain an information sheet for each painting. The set has been prepared by the museum's education department as part of an expanded program of service to the schools, and have been made possible through a grant from Thomasville Furniture Industries Foundation.

The set of reproductions will be sold through the education department of the museum for $3.50 plus 50 cents for postage and handling. Proceeds will be used to produce future sets of reproductions of works of art from the museum's collections.

Old Word

The word shrift comes from the Old English shrive, meaning a remission of sins pronounced by a priest in the sacrament of penance, according to Webster's dictionary. The phrase "short shrift" means "a brief respite from death." However, today we use it as meaning short, or summary treatment.

Three Artists In Paper Show

The peach is native to China.

The Australian numbat has 52 teeth.

Works by three Greenville artists have been selected for exhibition in the eight Annual Art on Paper Show at the Weatherspoon Art Gallery of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

"Winter Arrangement," an ink and pastel work by Marilyn Gordley; Paul Hartley's mixed media work titled Rain and Tracks II; and Melvin S. Stanforth's mixed media composition, 000000000000-10 are the three works chosen for inclusion in this year's show. All are faculty members of the School of Art, East Carolina University.

A total of 68 works, were selected from among 556 entries submitted for the show from 317 artists from the Carolinas, Virginia and Georgia.

Henry Geldzahler, curator of 20th Century Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York was juror selecting the works.

In addition to the competitive works selected, Art on Paper Exhibit for 1972 will include invited works of New York art dealers and selections by members of the UNC-G art faculty. A number of purchases will be made from the show for the gallery's permanent collection, according to James Tucker, the gallery's curator.

Art on Paper is supported by contributions from Greensboro's Dillard Paper Company. The show will go on view November 12 and will remain up through December 19.

Piedmont Craftsmen Fair This Week

The annual craft show that for the past three years has been named "one of the top 20 travel attractions in the United States for November" will be extremely well represented by Greenville participants.

The Ninth Annual Piedmont Craftsmen's fair, which Discover America Travel Organizations lists as a top American attraction, is being held two days, Friday and Saturday, from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. in Winston-Salem's Memorial Coliseum.

Greenville craftsmen, a total of 14 of them who will be entering their work and some of whom are also expected to be on hand at one of the 90 booths at the fair, are:

Mr. and Mrs. George Bryant, crafting of handcarved bird decoys; Jon Pringle, pottery; Dempsey (Ron) Calhoun, leather, wood and forged metal; Charles year is a new event, the Chamberlain, pottery; Michael Children's Craft Booth. In this Goins, jewelry; Sara Edmiston, booth, works created by children bronze; Dorothy Satterfield, of exhibiting craftsmen will be weaving; John Satterfield, jewelry; Don Sexauer, printmaking; Myra Sexauer, weaving; Kelly Adams, photography; Janet Fischer, jewelry; and Gerald Johnson, printmaker.

The annual craftsmen show has over the years developed into more than just a place for the exhibit of crafts. It has become a statewide event centered on the basic idea of displaying fine craft with other attractions added to make it a truly festive event.

Talented student musicians from the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem, for example, will entertain at scheduled performances during the two day fair. For children the most exciting event is Mitchell Grayson's lively, original puppet productions.

Also making its debut this year is a new event, the wood and forged metal; Charles year is a new event, the Chamberlain, pottery; Michael Children's Craft Booth. In this Goins, jewelry; Sara Edmiston, booth, works created by children bronze; Dorothy Satterfield, of exhibiting craftsmen will be on sale only to students of elementary and high school grades. In this connection, items will be very moderately priced to fit the needs of small pocketbooks. Admission to the 9th Annual Piedmont Craftsmen's Fair is

For today's needs... A man of strength.

Skipper Bowles is taking his campaign to the people, because that is where the needs are.

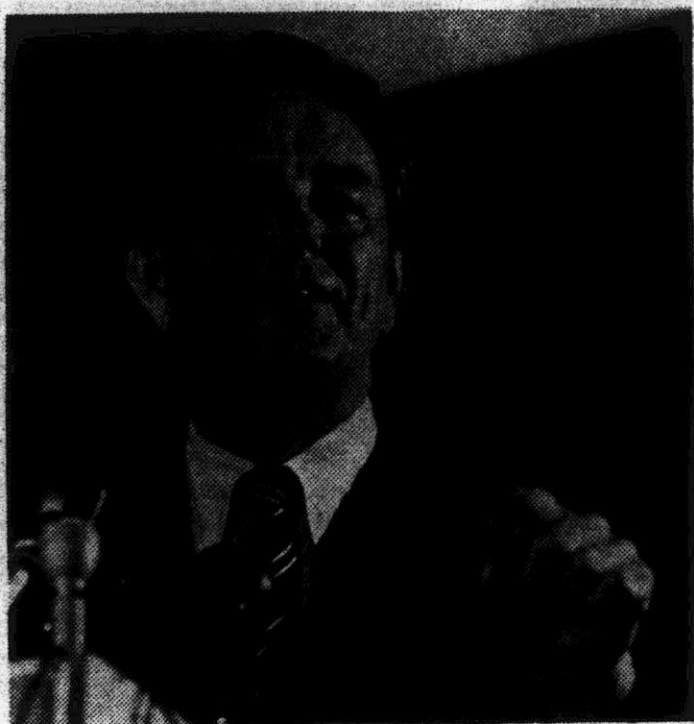

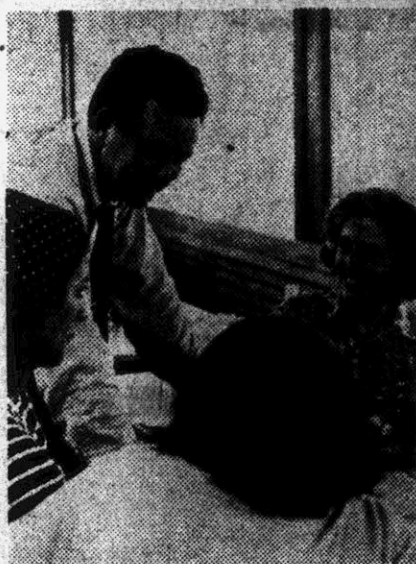

"A governor can't do his job behind a desk. Our people want their governor to be in constant contact with them, listening to their problems, hearing their hopes, seeing at first hand what state government needs to be doing for them."

Skipper Bowles is a strong leader. He is a compassionate listener. His pledge not to raise any taxes is combined with the practical skill to make government work with maximum efficiency for the taxpayer.

He has the business experience of a modern administrator.

As former head of a big government agency and member of the General Assembly, he understands North Carolina's problems and her opportunities.

He will make a real difference as governor.

A free man... An open government.

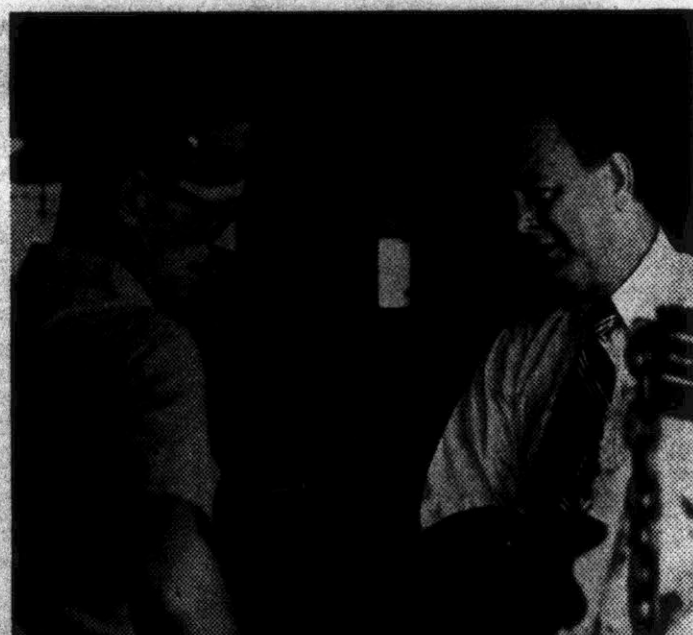

It adds up to what North Carolina wants.

A bold man, free from the promises of politics as usual.

"This is my pledge: the governor's office will be open to everyone. There will be no special privileges, no hidden interests."

To give the average man a chance, Bowles plans such projects as a "mini-capitol," a mobile unit visiting remote corners of the state.

"Beyond the new tools, I intend to make myself the governor who sees the people. I will listen. I will understand. I will act. Our citizens — all our citizens — deserve no less."

A great "first family" for North Carolina.

THE FAMILY (back row) Daughter in law Jo Lynne, Daughters Holly and Martha, Jessamine, and daughter in law Crandall (front row) Hargrove, son in law John Gell, Skipper with granddaughters Kelly (4) and Amy (3), and Erskine Bowles

For today's problems... A working program.

"My goals are the goals of all North Carolinians. I promise:

"I will remove politics from highway roadbuilding.

"No North Carolinian will be a second class citizen because of inadequate roads. Needs will determine road priorities, not politics.

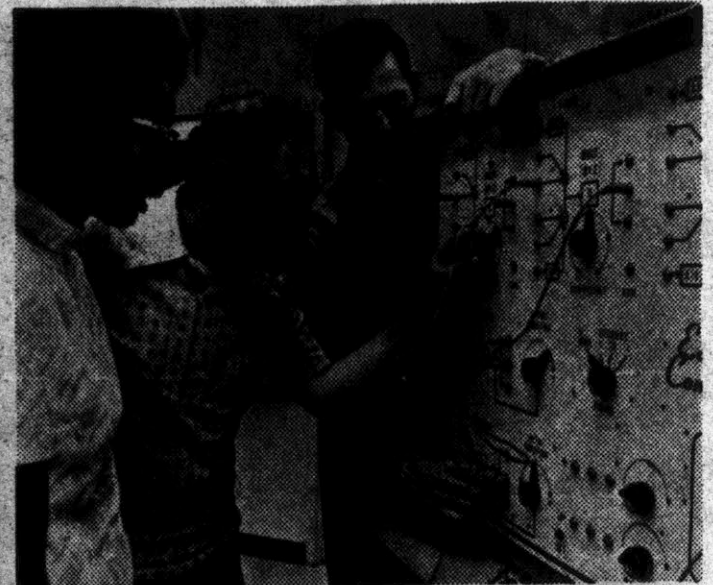

"No-fault auto insurance is an idea whose time has come. North Carolinians deserve it, and it will ease the terrible weight of accident expenses.

"I am determined to change the rules of the deadly game of drunk driving. We are too lenient and our laws are too lax.

"Respect for lawmen, and a decent wage for officers — these are the bedrock of law enforcement.

"We will crack hard on the drug pusher.

"We can lighten the burden of our most needy by attacking hunger, bad housing, and ignorance. We can throw the cheaters off the welfare dole and find money for the truly unfortunate."

For today's demands... Services that work.

"I have a plan for career education that will open a broad highway of learning for our youngsters.

"All our people must have the comfort and security of adequate medical care. Sickness must not mean financial disaster. We can do it with bold use of our doctors and hospitals. I will put health care at the top of the state's priorities.

"Our mental health system must provide hope for the unfortunate victims of mental illness. For too long we have used our hospitals as dumping grounds for the forgotten. We must turn on the light of hope for these citizens."

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR EVA GABOR

I understand you own a Rolls-Royce. Do you drive it yourself?—L. Freeman, Los Angeles, Calif.

● Yes, and I am a menace to the highways. I have an old Rolls-Royce, and I drive it like a truck. I don't drive very fast. Once I collided with a little Volkswagen. There was barely a scratch on it—the Volkswagen, I mean. And the woman who drove it jumped out and screamed at me in a very heavy accent. I don't like accents! I told her so and she screamed back, "Look who's talking!" And then she sued me for $40,000! I am a lady of principle, and I thought she was unjustified. The insurance company finally settled for $100, or something like that. But I had to go to court for it, and I remember that someone came to me and said something about a court stenographer and I said, "Please—no pictures!" Then it turned out that the stenographer isn't a court photographer—so I guess my English isn't perfect yet.

FOR JAMES A. MICHENER, author

In "The Drifters," you talked about the running of the bulls in Pamplona, Spain. Did you ever actually run with the bulls?—Mrs. Daphne Morgan, Shedd, Ore.

● I've run with the bulls at Pamplona as many as two dozen times. At age 66, I don't run as far as I used to, but last time I tried it two men were killed right next to me. It's a crazy occupation, but men of all nations engage in it. I have never been able to explain why satisfactorily, except that the thrill of being in the streets in the early morning with the bulls thundering past is surpassed by none other I know.

FOR CLORIS LEACHMAN, actress

In the "Mary Tyler Moore Show" you play Mary's neurotic neighbor Phyllis Lindstrom. Is there any similarity between Phyllis and yourself in real life?—R. B., Beatrice, Neb.

● I don't know if neurotic is the right word for Phyllis, at least the way I am playing her now. She can be both irritating and lovable, but both of us are busybodies, opinionated, enthusiastic, energetic, positive, bossy—and we expect everyone to agree with us.

FOR DALE EVANS

I know that you and your husband have lost children in tragedies. What is the size of your family, and what are you doing now?—M. J. Downey, Canton, Ohio

● We have four adopted children and one foster child. We do about ten state fairs a year together, and we just made a religious record album. Also, I make many appearances at "Youth for Christ" get-togethers.

FOR DICK CAVETT, TV star

How did you get into television?—Eugene Semansky, Trenton, N.J.

● While working as a copyboy at "Time" magazine I heard that Jack Paar was continually worried about his opening monologue. I wrote a two-page monologue, and while on my way to deliver it to Jack's office, I ran into him in the corridor. He was receptive and used some of the material that night. After I wrote a second monologue, I was appointed a comedy writer on the Paar staff.

FOR VICTOR SEN YOUNG, cook on "Bonanza"

Did being wounded in the recent hijacking of a jetliner cause you to give up air travel?—Mrs. Laurene Mills, Hobart, Ind.

● No. I have made several flights since the hijacking. But I do look to see that the airline is enforcing security measures, and if they are not, I will avoid that particular flight.

FOR MONTY HALL, "Let's Make a Deal" MC

Our family noticed that you make deals with very few black people. Does their color or race cause them to be denied?—David B. Smith, Chapel Hill, N.C.

● Never. Contestants are chosen by our writers because they appear to be good traders for our trading floor. If you watched the show regularly, you would know that there is no color barrier.

FOR ERMA BOMBECK, columnist

As a child you were a singer and dancer in Dayton, Ohio. What made you switch to journalism?—Betty Joiner, Yorba Linda, Calif.

● When I sat down at the typewriter, people laughed. When I stood up to sing, people cried.

FOR JAMES WHITMORE, star of "Temperature's Rising"

What's more important in a television series, the people or the stories?—M. Allen, Ventura, Calif.

● I say it's the people, the characters. If you like Lucy, you'll watch her, no matter what the story is. So I encourage viewers to tune in to each new program at least once. The stories may get better or worse, but if you like the characters, you'll enjoy watching them no matter what.

FACT OR FICTION?

You should avoid exercise during your period.

Fiction! The simple rules of good health are always important, especially during your period. Exercise, a proper diet and a good night's sleep go a long way toward relieving menstrual cramps or preventing them altogether. And remember, you're not "sick." So there's no reason not to follow your normal routine.

Fact. With Tampax tampons, odor can't form. Odor is noticeable only when the fluid is exposed to air. With Tampax tampons, fluid is absorbed before it comes in contact with air; therefore, odor cannot form.

You should not bathe during your period.

Fiction! Contrary to superstition, water can't hurt you. Daily baths or showers are a must throughout your period. Shampoo your hair, too. And don't deny yourself the chance to go swimming. Tampax tampons are worn internally, so you can swim anytime.

Single girls can use Tampax tampons.

Fact. Any girl of menstrual age who can insert them easily and without discomfort, can use Tampax tampons with complete confidence. Follow the easy directions in every package.

Our only interest is protecting you.

Now! With the simple method of Foot Reflexology!

'You Can Get Almost Immediate Relief from Aches and Pains All Over the Body!'

"I have brought relief to countless suffering people with this method—and have watched their joy of regained health and vitality—when all hope had seemingly been lost!"

"Let me show you how it can bring about the normal function of a specific location or organ..."

Says MILDRED CARTER, Professional Reflexologist

Dear Friend:

My name is Mildred Carter. I am not a doctor, but for over 14 years, I have been helping people receive remarkable relief from seemingly hopeless aches and pains all over the body, with a method—which you can use, too—called Foot Reflexology.

Foot Reflexology is a method for healing the whole body. If you've ever suffered from foot trouble, you know that it's the feet that make the whole body ache. By rubbing and pressing gently on certain areas of your feet, I can show you how you may get almost immediate relief IN OTHER PARTS OF THE BODY!

Why? Because the feet contain Reflexes, which lead like telephone lines to all parts of the body. By pressing them, you help restore normal circulation and health to congested areas. No one can guarantee a cure, nor is it a medical substitute, but:

- I have seen it relieve crippled hands and feet, caused by painful arthritis, straighten whole bodies and bring them back to normal!
- It can stop the pain of hemorrhoids almost immediately!
- Most headaches vanish immediately with this method!
- I have seen it relieve liver and gall bladder trouble!
- I have seen it clear up stuffed sinuses almost immediately!
- I have seen it relieve back troubles, in a matter of seconds!
- I have seen it bring fast relief to stomach troubles!
- I have brought lasting relief to sufferers of varicose veins with this method. This is also true with cramps or pains in the legs!
- I have seen it relieve bladder trouble quickly, with great relief after the very first treatment—all sensation of burning or itching seems to disappear completely!
- This simple method can bring women blessed relief from many disorders which may have been troubling them for years!
- I have brought relief to men, in every case of prostate trouble I have ever treated with this method!

...And still that's just the beginning! You'll find the full details of this amazing method of healing in a new book which I have written, called HELPING YOURSELF WITH FOOT REFLEXOLOGY. I'll tell you how to get it in just a moment, but first I want to tell you more about it!

Many Healings Reported!

Foot Reflexology is a safe, natural, and inexpensive way to help restore healthful circulation to every area of your body.

Did you ever notice how quickly water freshens when good water is poured into muddy water? Foot Reflexology does the same for circulation in your body. Blood flow slows over the years. Naturally, glands and organs become sluggish. Stimulating a new flow of blood to these "tired" places brings new life, clears glands and organs of years of accumulated waste.

Healings and relief from discomforts of all sorts are reported, by the dozen, in the pages of my book. All were obtained with the help of Foot Reflexology.

Here's What I Say In This Book:

Gall Bladder Healing "There are many cases where Reflex Massage of the liver and gall bladder has saved people from having an operation, with the stones seeming to vanish after a few treatments."—Quoted from Chapter 12

Anemic Conditions "Anyone who is anemic will find... improvement can be so rapid it is amazing. With pernicious anemia, results will be slower, but Nature will be there, changing new blood cells for old."—Quoted from Chapter 11

Helping the Heart "No matter what the nature of the trouble is, the heart can be aided with this method.... I can give you many case histories of wonderful results from this scientific massage of the reflexes on heart patients."—Quoted from Chapter 13

Relief for Leg Pain "I believe I have treated more cases of leg aches than any other malady, and most were caused by the sciatic nerve. Many people suffer for years without any relief. Yet it is so amazingly simple to banish all inflammation from this nerve in an unbelievably short time. In many cases this method has brought relief in one treatment."—Quoted from Chapter 22

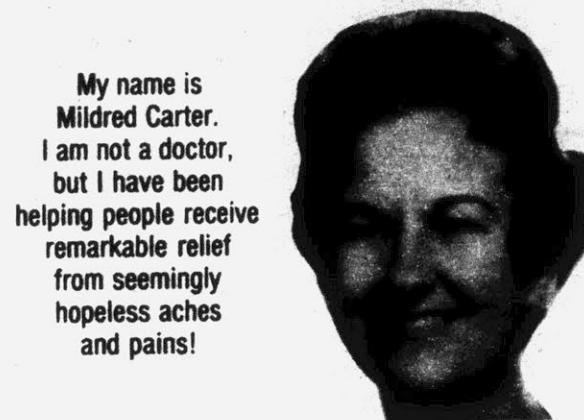

Varicose Veins "I have brought lasting relief to sufferers of varicose veins by starting the proper circulation with Reflex Massage, thus causing congestion to disappear. This is also true with cramps or pains of any kind in the legs."—Quoted from Chapter 16

Relief for Hemorrhoids "Hemorrhoids are nothing more than a congested vein (known as piles). This is actually a varicose vein in the rectum. These can become so large as to protrude, causing inconvenience, much suffering, and in many cases bleeding. Though painful, they are usually suffered in silence by those who have them. Yet with Reflex Massage they are one of the quickest to respond to treatment. Here we will learn how to use the Reflexology method to bring you prompt relief!"—Quoted from Chapter 21

How to Make Reflexology Your Rejuvenator "Would you like to be young again? Would you like to walk expectantly into the future, to enjoy new experiences, with a revitalized body? We do not have to be old... Reflexology rejuvenates the entire body, giving new life to glands and cells. Blood flow slows over the years. Naturally, glands and cells become sluggish. Reflexology stimulates a new flow of blood to these tired places, clears glands and cells of accumulated waste, brings them new life!"—Quoted from Chapters 3 and 24

You'll Discover...

- How Reflexology relieved a man's stuffed sinuses. "After the first treatment, he could suddenly breathe through both sides of his nose" and he felt well again.
- How a woman who had hurt her spine, and was in so much pain that she called a bone specialist to take x-rays, received so much relief with Reflexology—after a single treatment—that she was able to get up and do her work. She felt so much better, in fact, that she cancelled her appointment for x-rays, and claims she is fully recovered.
- How a man with a hunchback—a huge, ugly bulge—received a complete healing with Reflexology. He was freed of pain, and "he was able to stand straight." The hump disappeared. "He was not deformed at all," I reported!
- How a man who suffered from ulcers, kidney trouble, hay fever, and constipation, received complete relief with Reflexology. "The symptoms of each illness disappeared one by one," and today he sleeps like a baby every night!
- How a man with a heart condition was healed with Reflexology. Doc-

My name is Mildred Carter. I am not a doctor, but I have been helping people receive remarkable relief from seemingly hopeless aches and pains!

What A Physiotherapist Says:

"During my forty-eight years as a Physiotherapist in my own Treatment Centers... I have had every opportunity to observe the amazing benefits of manual massage. As a means of rehabilitation where physical trauma is involved, it ranks high in the annals of Medicine.

"The techniques described in Mrs. Carter's book have been developed by experts in the field of reflex massage, and we have no hesitation in recommending them.... For the relief of pain, we know of no other means short of opiates to achieve this objective."

—CLARENCE R. MUNROE
Registered Technician, Physiotherapy

tors had always warned him he couldn't do the things other men did. With this method, "his heart returned to normal enough to allow him to do anything he wanted, without any trouble. Today, after more than 10 years, he is a strong and well man."

AMAZING TRUE Experiences!

"Reflexology will free you from sickness and suffering, and fear of pain, when used correctly."

"There are so many personal experiences which I could recount, stories of illnesses which were relieved by reflex massage, that I find myself wanting to tell all of them at once. I have seen it do marvelous things that surprised me many times when doctors said it couldn't be done.

"If it can do this for others, it can do this for you! I have proven that this method of healing works, in my own experience. Try it on yourself and FEEL the results!"

Safe To Use!

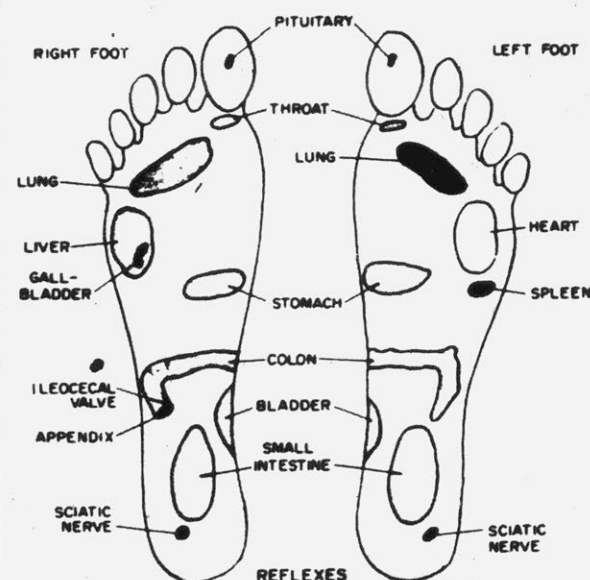

What's more, Foot Reflexology is absolutely safe. It is the "drugless" way to better health, and requires no exercise, no expensive equipment of any kind. It is so simple, and natural, that it is safe to use on anyone, from the youngest baby to the oldest person. In fact, it is a Rejuvenator that can actually win you many years of new youth!

Read It All From Cover to Cover, For 30 Days, Entirely At Our Risk!

I have proven that this method of healing works in my own experience. You owe it to yourself to try it at our risk and FEEL the results. And I invite you to do just that! Fair enough? Why not send in the coupon—TODAY!

"What Do I Wear This Fall?"

A.M.

For daytime (left), the sweater dress is worn with its pink-leather belt; for evening, add a fur boa, a glitter tank top, and—behold—a new outfit!

P.M.

The key this fall is not to discard wardrobes but to weed out, add new touches. And it's learning to stretch clothes from a.m. to after-five. What do we mean? Plaids make points by spiking wardrobes with color and pattern. You might add plaid in a shirt-dress, like the one on our cover, or make it punctuate in a topper or wrap coat. . . . Angora is coming into prominence. Since its fuzzy yarn tends to add weight, instead of buying a pullover or a dress, get a saucy hat or a fingertip-length cardigan, to wear open or tied over the shoulders. . . . Classic unlined sweater dresses mean cling. But the look is worth it. A simple seamless bra and long-line panty girdle alleviate any excess curves. . . . Pastels are setting another trend. This pale-blue sweater dress (see picture) has detachable satin collar and cuffs. It adds nighttime glamour with a glittery tank top, a rope of pearls and fur boa. [Dress by Brenner Bees in Acrilan acrylic. Tank top by Bobbie Brooks.] . . . Short-sleeve jackets are not meant to expose arms. "Fill-in" is the password, either with a print shirt or turtleneck. The newer jacket comes in two lengths—cropped at the waist or stopping at the hip. There is no problem with skirt lengths—they gravitate around the knee. Note that belts are getting skinnier, bracelets are back. And the perfect suit is soft and unstructured. (See picture.) After five, a slinky black turtleneck, mink hat and clunky bracelets set the tune. [Three-piece ensemble by Fire Islander in Monsanto's Wear-Dated Acrilan doubleknit. Shirt by Lady Manhattan. Shoes by Famolare.] . . . Fun furs in a vest or boa can add dimension to your wardrobe. They are not taboo as long as they are not on the "endangered species" list. (And it's against the law to sell those.) Rabbit, muskrat, mink are examples of furs that are all right to wear. Here, a fur vest is worn with a two-piece dress (see picture) in a wispy print knit, underlying the trend toward soft-fitting clothes. When the layers come off, the look is romantic with pearl-and-gold strands, suede accessories and a fabulous red-fox chubby jacket. [Dress by KII in Acrilan acrylic knit.]

A.M.

Daytime (left): Layer a fur vest over a two-piece dress for a day in town. Nighttime (right): Add pearls and chains, suede accessories, to change the mood completely.

P.M.

P.M.

Nighttime (left): A slinky black turtleneck, filling in the soft, unstructured suit, and mink hat set the tune. Daytime (right): Wear a punchy print shirt, ivory and tortoise bangles.

How and When to Ask for a Raise

Should you or shouldn't you ask for a raise? Yes, go ahead if you think you've earned it, but do it the right way.

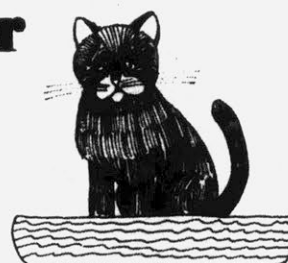

Dr. Ernest Dichter, a recognized expert whose latest book is "Motivating Human Behavior," suggests that you: 1) Be careful not to put the boss in a defensive position. Telling the boss that you realize he might have given you a raise anyway but with his busy schedule it's possible he hasn't gotten around to it, would be an appropriate opening. 2) Then be ready to show through actual facts that you have contributed to the business. 3) However, says Dr. Dichter, you have to look the situation over first from the point of view of timing. If business is off or the boss is under pressure, he's not going to feel generous.—By S. R. Redford

Urinary Infection: The Male Cat's Nemesis

Sudden changes of temperature often trigger urinary infections in male cats, altered or unaltered. If your cat starts to strain in his litter pan, urinate on the rug or other unsuitable spots, cry while attempting to void, or spend a lot of time licking his hind quarters, he is probably suffering from some form of urinary obstruction or bladder inflammation. It can be a very serious ailment. Don't wait, hoping the condition will go away. It is much more likely to get worse. Take Puss to the veterinarian immediately. Antibiotics are of great help. Distilled water is sometimes recommended. Since this pesky disease is caused by a virus, it can reoccur. Surgery is sometimes necessary, but prompt medication can usually prevent this drastic remedy.—By Felicia Ames

People and You

Do You Push People Into Competing With You?

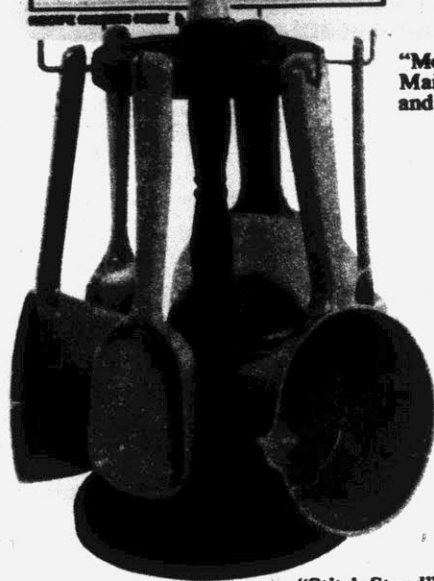

When your friends add something to their home, do they show it to you in a relaxed way? Or do you have the feeling that they're competing with you and your home? How about when they discuss clothes, cars and children? If you often feel that you and your friends are competing, then either you or they are making things competitive. A recent investigation supported by National Institute of Child Health and Human Development funds revealed that when one person is very competitive, he causes those around him to dig in and compete with him. It seems that people who are basically cooperative, react to competitive behavior around them by acting like the competitive people. It does not work the other way.—By Shirley Sloan Fader

Smart Cooking

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen helps her daughter make Halloween treats because: "When Ava asked me if she could have a Halloween party this year, I said, 'Sure, if you promise you'll do most of the work!' So Ava did the work—and I did the supervising!"

Cookies For Halloween

Ava Hansen, who is 8, did almost all the work herself.

MOLASSES CUTOUT COOKIES

- 1½ cups butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup light or dark molasses
- ½ cup boiling water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 6 cups unsifted all-purpose flour or enriched unbleached flour
- 1 can (16½ ozs.) prepared vanilla frosting
- 1 can (16½ ozs.) prepared chocolate frosting
- Red and Yellow food coloring
- Candy corn, licorice strings, multicolored chocolate candy

1. In large bowl with electric mixer at medium speed, beat butter until smooth; gradually add sugar, beating until light.
2. At low speed add molasses and boiling water. Beat until smooth, scraping side of bowl with rubber scraper.
3. At low speed add salt, cinnamon and ginger. Add flour, 2 cups at a time, stirring with spoon until blended.
4. Turn dough out onto sheet of heavy-duty foil. Wrap securely and refrigerate for at least 2 hours. (You can make dough 1 day and bake cookies a few days later if you wish.)

5. Make cardboard patterns for cookies. Draw jack-o'-lantern, owl, ghost, witch's hat and cat, each about 5 inches tall by 3-4 inches wide.*

6. Roll out ⅓ of dough at a time, ¼-inch thick, on a lightly floured board with rolling pin. A pastry cloth for the board and a stockinette cover for the rolling pin make rolling very easy.

7. Preheat oven to 375°F. Lay cardboard patterns on dough and cut around them to make cookies. Reroll any remaining dough. If dough gets too soft, refrigerate. Place cookies on ungreased cookie sheets and bake about 10-12 minutes, or until done. Let cool 1 minute, then remove from cookie sheets with spatula to wire rack; cool completely.

8. Decorate cookies with frosting. Color some vanilla frosting orange with a few drops of red and yellow food coloring if desired for jack-o'-lantern. Make faces with candy corn, licorice and chocolate candy.

Makes 3 dozen cookies

*To make Halloween letters and the fence, roll dough between hands to about the width of a pencil and make desired shapes.

Jack Lord: "I've Seen It All, I've Done It All"

"I saw only one so-called 'dirty' picture, and that was 'Carnal Knowledge.' I hated it with a vengeance. I considered it exploitation garbage.... I don't believe such things should titillate the audience in the theater. I felt nothing but revulsion toward it."

The hero of "Hawaii Five-O" embraces his wife Marie. Says Jack, "A child would only bring problems."

Family Weekly: Like so many actors, you dabble in painting. Do you do it for your own satisfaction or do you make any money on them?

LORD: I don't think "dabble" is the right word. I'm very serious about it, as I'm very serious about everything I'm doing. As for making money, I've sold $42,000 worth of paintings in the last three months.

FW: Most television actors who do a series are anxious to make films during their summer break. Why haven't you made any?

LORD: I don't believe in killing myself. There is so much work involved in the "Hawaii Five-O" show that I have very little time for my wife Marie. CBS offered me a "Movie of the Week," but I turned it down. What I really want to do next is direct a picture.

FW: You've become the biggest Hawaii booster since the Hula-Hoop. Do you get paid for this?

LORD: I get paid by the privilege of living in the Hawaiian Islands. My enthusiasm is genuine to the point where I recently gave up my Los Angeles home and now consider Hawaii my only place of residence. As for being a salesman for Hawaii, it is absolutely true. I recently did a by-line story for FAMILY WEEKLY called "Let Me Show You the Hawaii I Love." I got a bigger response to this article than to any interview I have ever given. More than 5,000 letters! And you know what was interesting? Not just that people had read it, but that they thanked me for introducing them to the islands. One girl said she was filing the article away for her honeymoon. Scores of soldiers told me that after reading the article they now planned to spend their leaves with their families in Hawaii. I got one letter from an 87-year-old man who said he would fly for the first time because he wants to see the islands. And innumerable requests that I personally show them the islands—which, unfortunately, time wouldn't permit.

FW: "Hawaii Five-O" is going into its fifth year. Aren't you getting tired of playing the same character?

LORD: If I thought it would be boring, I'd quit tomorrow. As for doing the part: I believe in an old Oriental philosophy—the NOW. The past is gone, the future never happened. The only important thing is what happens NOW. You savor the moment. That holds true for everything I do. I tell this to Marie all the time: "Let's savor what we have—the sunrises, the sunsets, the meals we have together." And that's the way I feel about my work. What I do today is important. Not what I did yesterday, not what I will do tomorrow. That's the way it is with my relationship with people, too. Not what I hope to do, not what I did—but what I am doing.

FW: You and Marie have been married for 20 years but have no children. Don't you feel a void in your lives?

LORD: On the contrary, it brought us closer together. Some couples need a family, but we're such self-sufficient people, so involved with one another, that a child would only bring problems. If there is anything I regret about my career it is the time it keeps me away from my wife. I often see more of the cast and crew than her. As a result, the time we have together means that much more to both of us.

FW: Have you ever thought of adopting children?

LORD: Even if I felt differently,

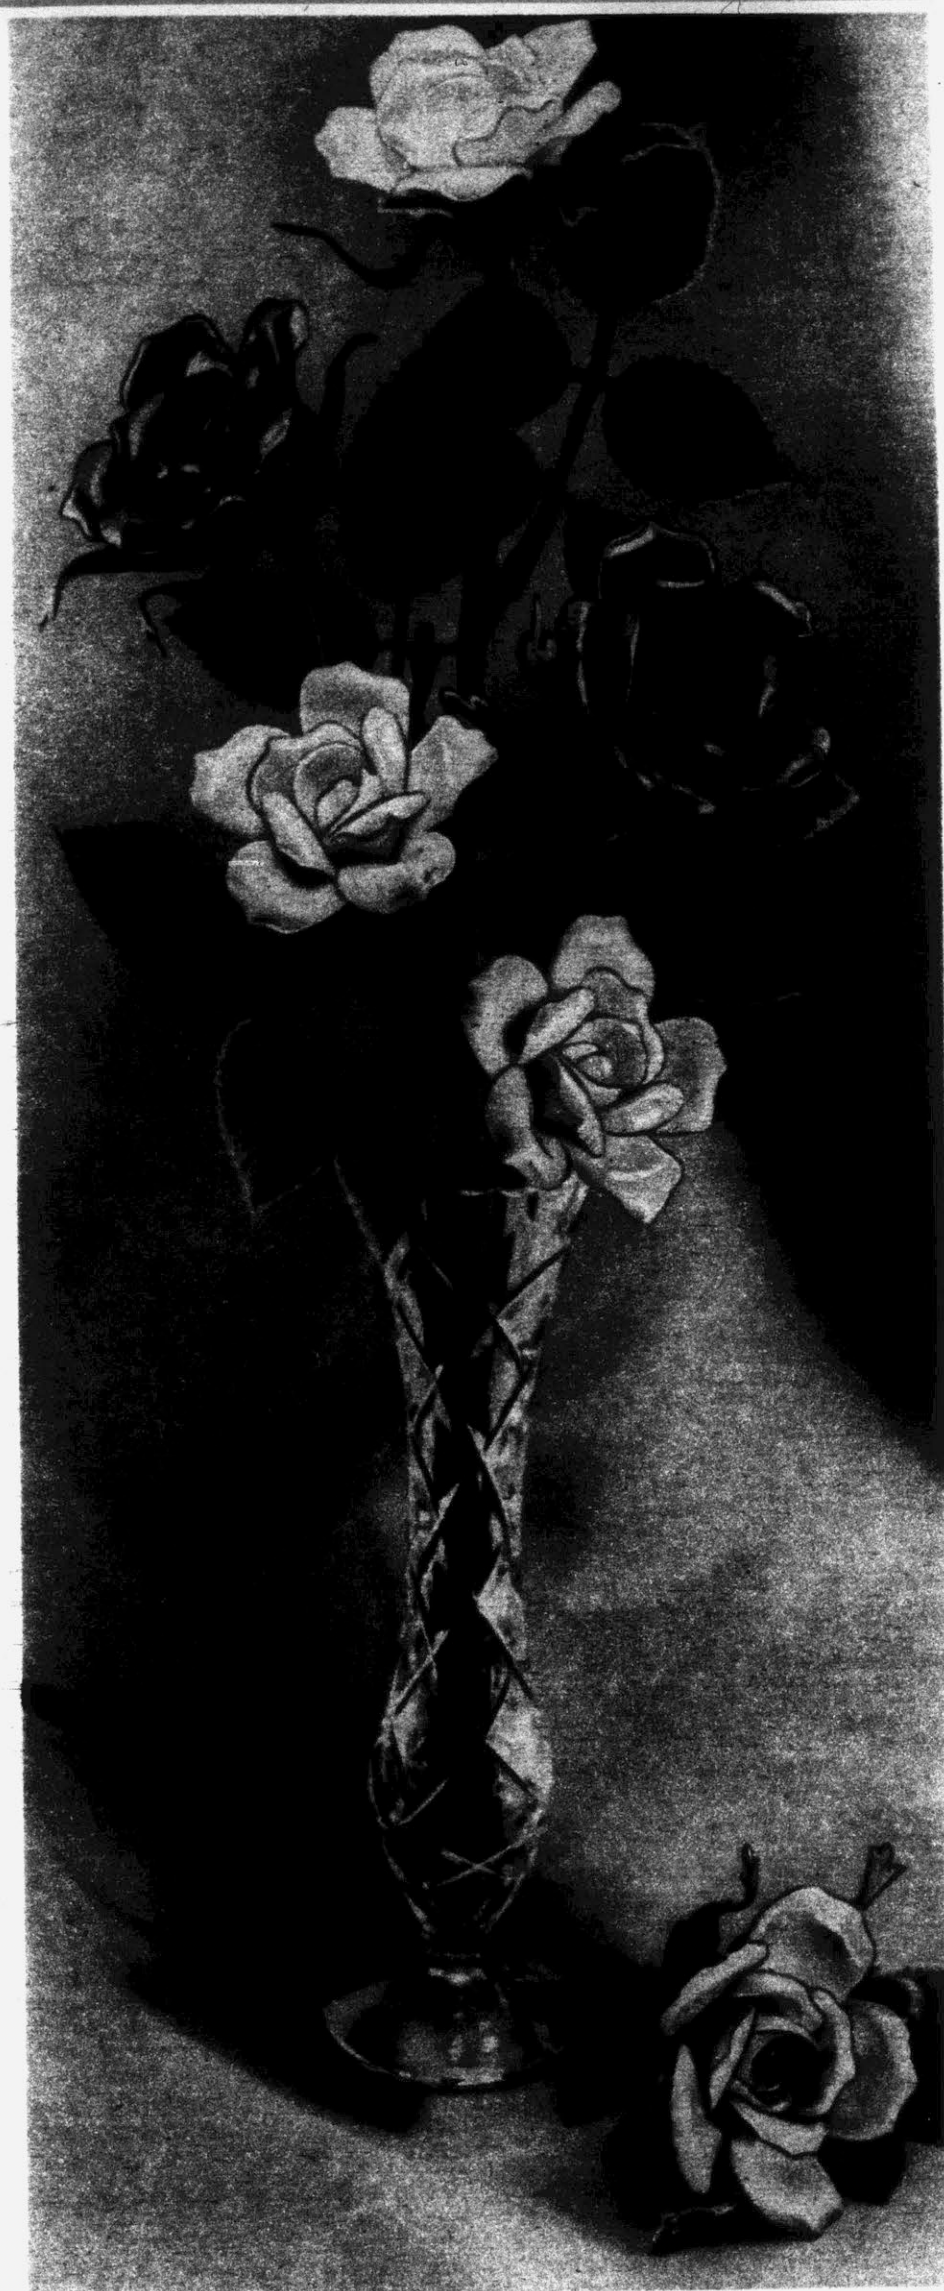

"Professionally speaking, it's pretty hard to do a police show without violence.... But, personally, I hate it."

I wouldn't want children to be brought up under the pressures we live with today. The world is too chaotic, too full of so many evils: horrible drugs, run-down morality, kids having sex too early. A world where the Pill has become supreme. No. I don't want children of my own or adopted children.

FW: Talking about morality, what do you think of permissiveness in films?

LORD: I saw only one so-called "dirty" picture, and that was "Carnal Knowledge." I hated it with a vengeance. I considered it exploitation garbage. I am not a moralist. I've seen it all. I've done it all. I was a sailor for years. But I don't believe such things should titillate the audience in the theater. I felt

6 FOR A LOW, LOW $4.⁹⁸

Mother Nature, please don't be angry! True, we copied the rose, your prize creation, to perfection. But ours is not alive. It will never wither, never fade, never lose its garden-fresh bloom. Set individually in a bud vase, or grouped in a bouquet, our roses bring the beauty of springtime to home or office the year 'round.

Genuine porcelain, superbly and realistically hand-crafted by skilled old-world artisans of the Orient.

Made entirely by hand, petal by graceful petal, each thick and lush porcelain rose is an individual work of art. So meticulously detailed, one can almost feel the velvety rose texture, smell the delicate rose perfume. Since our photograph is in black and white, you will have to see the breathtaking, natural colors for yourself. They range, like in nature, from blazing, flaming reds to pale blushing pinks. Lovely indeed!

Bound to be loved by rose fanciers... by Mother Nature herself — by connoisseurs of beauty... by collectors of fine porcelain — by you! Surrounded by lifelike plastic green leaves, each rose is mounted on long, leggy, 12-inch stems, like the expensive kind you buy at the florist. Only $1 each (much less in half-dozens). Vase not included.

Eat your Fill of Tasty Foods — yet lose 10 pounds in 10 days with Newest Grapefruit Diet

What a crazy way to diet...but it works!

By Elizabeth Louise

New, Special Way to Catabolize Fats out of your body—without unsafe drugs, annoying exercises or strict dieting.

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA (Special Report) — A new, different Grapefruit Diet, that really works, is sweeping the country. Overweight persons everywhere are losing excess poundage faster and easier than ever before, with this unique diet. Now they can eat all the foods they love — including thick steaks, potatoes, bacon, scrambled eggs, fried chicken, even alcoholic drinks. This special, high speed grapefruit diet begins to work within 24 hours —even while sleeping.

Absolutely no medicines. No muscle twitching exercises and no strict starvation diets, either! Instead, dieters can fill up on scrumptious, satisfying meals. Nevertheless they shed excess poundage fast—up to 10 pounds, or more, in 10 days. This is the reason why: this diet combination wakes up your lazy body CATABOLISM and flushes excess fat out of the body, quickly and safely.

MELT OFF UGLY FAT WITHOUT STRICT DIETING

This improved Grapefruit Super "C" diet requires no foul tasting medicines or boring exercises that wear you out. You don't cut out the foods you've always liked. You never suffer from starvation pangs. Faddish, strict dieting is not necessary. You feast on hundreds of delicious, satisfying dishes — meats, poultry, sea food. You enjoy soups, vegetables, salads with scrumptious dressings and fresh or canned grapefruit. You eat breads, muffins, cereals, cheeses, and scores of heavenly desserts. You may also drink cocktails, wines, beer. And between meals, you can munch on scrumptious snacks and tidbits. Eat all you want day or night—without guilt feelings. Yet, unbelievable as it may seem, you'll lose excess weight faster than you dreamed possible! Up to 10 full pounds (or more) in only 10 days. And remember, this new, fast-acting Super "C" Grapefruit Diet is super-charged with NATURAL VITAMIN "C". This vitamin has been acclaimed by dieticians, doctors, even Nobel Prize scientists both in America and abroad. Best of all, this diet wakes up your natural CATABOLISM to flush out excess fats—not the old fashioned, strict diets that half starve you to death.

RESHAPES YOUR BODY

This Grapefruit Super "C" plan actually transforms your figure, day after day. One morning you'll wake up to a wonderful surprise! Your mirror will reveal a glamorous new you—a slim, alluring body. Suddenly you're more limber and lithe, aglow with youthful sex appeal. Thousands of persons have already tried this safe, natural, CATABOLISM way to dislodge fat. Why don't you try it also? Simply follow the delicious satisfying diet and special private instructions. That's all! You will be rewarded with thrilling results. This diet gives you the right COMBINATION of foods that wake up lazy CATABOLISM. As ugly fat is catabolized out of your body, it also helps you conquer that tired, sluggish, "old age" feeling so often caused by a fat-burdened body.

DOCTORS WARN AGAINST STRICT DIETING

The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare plus many doctors warn against restricted diets deficient in vitamins, minerals, proteins, fats, and starches. You need all these elements for abundant health. If you eliminate any of them, you get only temporary weight loss. Eventually, your body fights back and ugly fat returns, pound after pound. Super "C" Grapefruit Diet is different. It works with you, not against you. No hunger pangs, ever. No skipped meals. You feast on hearty breakfasts, lunches, dinners. You enjoy a rich variety of good eating — foods you've always craved for. Just imagine, you can partake of formerly "prohibited" foods, such as ham, bacon, stews, rich casseroles, creamy desserts, etc. You certainly fill up on many delicious foods. Yet, by following this fast and easy 10 day plan, you can catabolize pounds and pounds of accumulated fat out of your body. Right up to 10 pounds (or more) in 10 days!

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Your body burns up fat very much like a car burns gas. This natural process is called CATABOLISM. After years of faulty dieting, excess fats become hardened and lazy—locked up in body tissues. Meantime your body catabolism may also slow down. Result: cholesterol fats may clog up arteries, placing life itself in jeopardy. Fats become lodged in arms, thighs, buttocks, belly, etc. You look older. You also act older.

NOW there is an easy way to wake up that lazy, sleepy catabolism! Within 24 hours, the Super "C" Diet starts to catabolize this dangerous fat out of your body. The unsightly bulges and awkward pot belly vanish. You eat your fill without regrets, yet strange but true, you lose pound after pound—even if you gorge yourself on scrumptious foods. This great diet helps you feel younger . . . act younger . . . and regain that sparkling, youthful look of long ago.

KEEP IT OFF—ALL YEAR!

This newest grapefruit diet will be mailed to all interested readers. Write today and also receive Full Year Maintenance Plan — at no extra cost. Tells you how to reduce down to your ideal weight and keep it down! How to win that slim, attractive look not for just 10 days—but for year after year.

REDUCE OR PAY NOTHING

To obtain your copy of this complete diet and the Full Year Maintenance Plan, mail handy order form below with $2.00. They are fully guaranteed. Try them 10 days at our risk. If you should not lose weight, simply return diets and get your $2.00 back at once—no questions asked. Address:

nothing but revulsion toward it.
FW: How do you feel about violence?

LORD: Well, professionally speaking, it's pretty hard to do a police show without violence. After all, if there weren't violence we wouldn't need the police. But, personally, I hate it. It never solved anything on either a personal or an international level. Violence simply begets more violence.

FW: Have you ever committed any violence of your own?

LORD: Never. The greatest violence I committed was in college football. But that was part of growing up—an initiation into manhood.

FW: Are there any traits in yourself that you don't like?

LORD: Bluntness. I have a habit of saying what's on my mind. Sometimes I am not very diplomatic about it. Yet I know that to exist in a world like ours, I must practice diplomacy. I must show concern for how other people feel.

FW: Has this trait backfired on you?

LORD: There are a lot of direc-

FW: What impressed you most about your childhood?

LORD: My relationship with my father, which was very exceptional. He worked for a steamship company, and let me go to sea when I was only fourteen. He turned me over to a friend, a sea captain, who took me to South America. My father wanted me to see things, to experience life. But he also inspired me to love art—painting, writing, poetry. He would pay me a penny a line to learn poetry. I still have hundreds of poems tucked away in the back of my mind. The penny was motivation at first, and I did it mostly to please him. But gradually I learned to like it. And every night he would read Dickens to me and gradually I learned to like the classics.

FW: Did you always want to become an actor?

LORD: All of my life I wanted to become a painter, and that's why I wanted to go to sea—to get material for painting.

FW: Some people think you take yourself too seriously. Do you?

LORD: If I don't, no one else will. I can't see myself going through life flighty. I take marriage seriously. I take relationships with people seriously. I take business seriously. I take life seriously. I am serious by nature. I'm also tenacious, and loyal. I am a Capricorn.

FW: That means you believe in astrology?

LORD: If I did, I wouldn't have married a Leo! Let's say I am amused by it.

Lord's first love was never acting. "All of my life," he says, "I wanted to become a painter."

FW: What has been your most embarrassing moment on your television show?

LORD: I worked on "Hotel Street" one day. When I came back to my dressing room for lunch, I found a naked girl on my bed. And just what do you say to a naked lady?

FW: What did you say?

LORD: "What are you doing here!?"

FW: And what did she say?

LORD: "I wanted to see you."

FW: And what did you say then?

LORD: I don't remember. But then she asked if I would kiss her, and I told her that my wife wouldn't like it. So she got up, put her clothes on, asked if she could have my picture, and left.

FW: You have to do a lot of flying to get to the mainland, and in helicopters for the show. Are you ever worried?

LORD: I am not concerned with negatives. I like to think positive. You can say your glass is half-empty, or you can say it is half-full. To me, it is always half-full.

SAVES UP TO 2 GALLONS OF GAS EVERY HOUR!

And Gives You Up To 25% More Horsepower Doing It!

How? By eliminating "Fuel-Pump Slop-Over"! And thus feeding your car up to 25% LESS gas (as much as two gallons an hour in heavy stop-and-go driving) . . . at the same exact time that it gives you up to 25% MORE Horsepower doing it! Like this . . .

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU? Just this—

- Up to 8 miles MORE per gallon—INSTANTLY!
- Jackrabbit starts—INSTANTLY!
- Skyrocket passing power—INSTANTLY!
- Up to 10 miles more per hour top speed—INSTANTLY!
- And up to $100 a year savings on your repair bills alone—INSTANTLY . . . and for as long as you drive that car!

What does it cost you? Less than a new set of spark plugs! Less than five cents for every dollar you can save on gas bills THIS YEAR ALONE!

And how does it work? As simple as this—

Stops Your Fuel-Pump From Over-Feeding Your Engine One Minute . . .
And Starving It The Next!

Your car, like every other car, stores its gasoline in a gas tank . . . and then draws that gas out of that tank and feeds it to your engine with a fuel pump. This fuel pump was invented over fifty years ago! It is a mechanical idiot! It has no brain—just a pump! And therefore, it always feeds your engine THE SAME EXACT AMOUNT OF GASOLINE, whether you're stopped dead in traffic . . . or spurting past another car at eighty mile an hour!

Think about it for a moment! The way gas is fed into your engine today, when you're pulled up for a light your engine is being flooded with gas that it can't possibly burn! (That's why stop-and-go driving is so incredibly expensive—because most of your gas goes right out the tailpipe.) Then when you pick up speed again to turn onto a highway, your engine is still wasting a little less gas at 20 miles an hour . . . wasting a little less gas at 30 miles an hour . . . and finally getting just the right amount of gas for top performance at about 40 or 50 miles an hour!

And then, if you go over 50 miles an hour . . . if you really want to zoom away at 60, 70 or 80 . . . or if you need "instant-muscle" to flash away from another car on a curve . . . then your "idiot fuel pump" STILL gives you the same exact amount of gas it fed you when you were going 40 miles an hour LESS—and leaves you puffing and puffing with your neck stuck out, as though that car was 20 years old and carrying a ton of cement!

IT COULD COST YOU YOUR LIFE ON A BAD
CURVE! IT DOES COST YOU UP TO $100 A YEAR ON WASTED GAS ALONE! AND IT CAN
ALL BE CORRECTED—IN JUST FIVE MINUTES WITH A SCREWDRIVER—LIKE THIS . . .

Now, just picture the startling difference with this ED ALMQUIST MINI-INJECTOR on your engine—

As you can see by the photo above, the MINI-INJECTOR is small enough to hold in your hand. It slips right on to your engine, between the fuel pump and the carburetor. A 12-year-old boy can put it on perfectly, using nothing more than a screwdriver, even if he never opened the hood before. But once he's done . . . and once you switch on that engine again . . . you're going to HEAR the difference—and FEEL the difference—from the very first second that engine ROARS to life again.

Yes! ROARS to life again! Because this is a NEW TYPE OF ENGINE you're driving with from now on! An engine that operates at absolute top gas-power every single driving second! THAT DOESN'T GET ONE DROP OF GAS IT DOESN'T NEED . . . AND DOESN'T WASTE ONE OUNCE OF POWER THAT IT CAN DELIVER TO YOUR WHEELS!

And this fact shows up for you the instant you start your car! Because—even on freezing mornings—your key is hardly in the switch before that engine is purring with power! Why? Because now there's no gas-flood at all. The walls of that cold engine aren't being choked up with raw gas that keeps the spark from catching fire . . . and that then drains out into your tailpipe, exactly as though you poured it right on the ground!

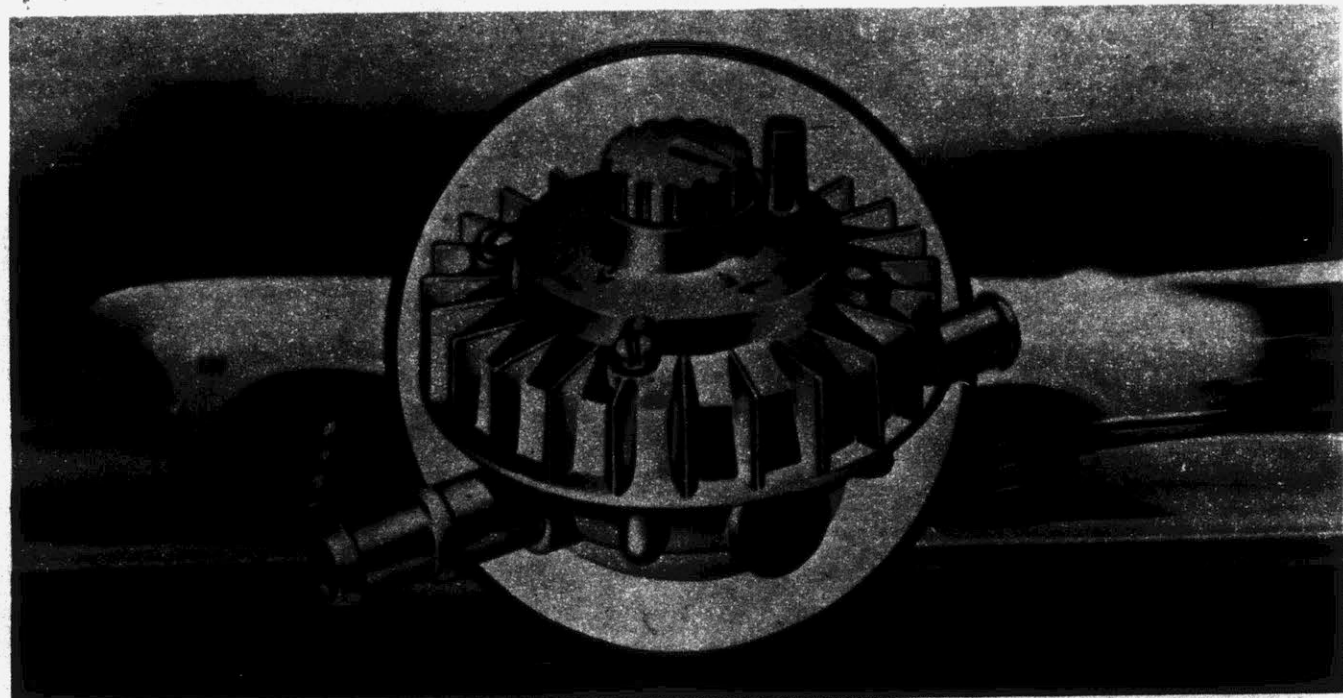

Now at this time—YOUR ENGINE ITSELF SIGNALS TO THE MINI-INJECTOR EXACTLY HOW MUCH GAS IT NEEDS TO START! And the MINI-INJECTOR tells the fuel pump to deliver JUST THAT AMOUNT OF GAS, AND NOT ONE DROP MORE!

You're off in less time than it takes a second passenger to close the door! And you're about to take the most thrilling ride of your entire driving life!

You Would Never Have Believed That Your Engine Could Deliver Power Like This!
AND ALL AT A SAVING OF ONE GALLON OUT OF EVERY FIVE!

Now pull into the street and start cruising up to the first traffic light. You'll notice instantly that your foot sits lighter on the pedal . . . that your engine sounds silken-smooth . . . that it's practically floating up to that light, even though it was stone-cold only a few short seconds ago.

There's no coughing, or stalling or bucking—even in those first few cold minutes. And when you pull up to the light, and put your foot on the brake, your engine will tone right down to a contented purr. It will be quieter than you've ever heard it before, without the slightest shiver in the rest of the car itself. Because now that engine is NOT trying to spit out excess gas! Not trying to jerk away from your brake! NOT letting you know every waiting second that you're pouring money out of its tailpipe!

Now the light changes to green. Wait a second, and then carefully place your foot back on the gas pedal. Make sure to give it LESS pressure—THIS TIME—than you ever did before! BECAUSE THAT FOOT IS GOING TO GIVE YOU MORE BLAST-OFF POWER FROM THAT CAR THAN YOU'VE EVER KNOWN BEFORE! AND YOU'RE GOING TO HAVE TO SPEND A DAY OR TWO GETTING USED TO IT!

Prove It At The Lights! Prove It
On The Hills! PROVE IT ON THE HIGHWAY—
BY FLOATING RIGHT PAST OTHER CARS
WHEN YOU WANT TO!

From that moment on, driving becomes a totally new experience for you! Because your car suddenly acts like an athlete—instead of a fat overfed fool!

Now you're not fouling that car with too much gas 80 per cent of the time! Now you're not splashing your plugs . . . eating away your valves . . . corroding your cylinders . . . or draining power out of your engine for every mile you drive!

Now, instead, for perhaps the first time in your life, you are sitting behind the kind of lean, tough, instant-response engine that only

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS!

Here's how it saves you up to one gallon out of every five—at the same time that it gives you the most power-packed ride of your life!

Think of this MINI-INJECTOR as having two main parts. The first is a "Miniature brain." And the second is an extra fuel pump connected right on to the brain.

Now, what happens when you put this MINI-INJECTOR onto your car is this: The miniature brain automatically senses the exact amount of gas your engine needs at every driving second (it does this by measuring the vacuum pressure within that engine from second to second).

Your fuel pump, on the other hand, has no such measuring device. So it never knows how much gas your engine really needs. So it simply delivers the same amount of gas to that engine, no matter how hard, or how easy that engine is working!

But now MINI-INJECTOR Takes over! And if your fuel pump is delivering TOO MUCH gas to that engine, MINI-INJECTOR blocks that extra gas with its own fuel pump—sends it back and holds it under compression until your carburetor calls for more gas!

Or, when your fuel pump is delivering TOO LITTLE gas to your engine (for example, when it's a life-or-death case of passing another car on a curve), MINI-INJECTOR skyrockets its own fuel pump into action, and shoots in that extra gas your engine needs. THE VERY SECOND IT NEEDS IT!

So you save the money you want—and you get the power you need—EVERY MINUTE YOU DRIVE!

sports-car drivers knew before! An engine that flattens hills right down at the merest touch of your foot! That takes off screaming at the lights whenever you want to . . . leaves other cars sitting behind you, choking in your dust!

An engine that simply glides past other cars at 70 . . . 80 . . . 90 miles an hour—whenever you want to walk away from them! And that has so much reserve power left that you KNOW that there's no jam you can get into on the highway that it can't zoom you right out of at the lightest touch of your foot!

And—most important of all—STILL USING EVERY THRILL-PACKED SECOND ONLY THE EXACT AMOUNT OF GAS THAT IT NEEDS AT THAT INSTANT—AND NOT ONE SINGLE DROP MORE! So that the gas savings pile up—day after day . . . week after week . . . month after month! Till you've put a $20 bill back in your pocket . . . a $50 bill back in your pocket . . . a $100 bill back in your pocket—all from a simple little "engine-brain" that costs you originally less than a single set of spark plugs!

Prove Every Word Of It At Our Risk!
Far More Power On Far Less Gas
From The Very First Second—Or We Send

Are You Aware of Your True Self?

True or False: Your sense of personal identity is easy to measure. (See number 2.)

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

As one leading psychiatrist observes: "The most mysterious and obscure thing in the universe is that which is closest to us—the Self." It goes without saying that the better a man knows himself, the better he can develop his innate talents and abilities. In this quiz, we take a look at the situation.

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. It's hard to tell to what extent you are realizing your talents and abilities and expressing them fully.
2. Your sense of personal identity is easy to measure.
3. Introverts know themselves better and have better insight into themselves than extroverts do.

ANSWERS

1. False. Psychologist Abraham H. Maslow's studies provide an excellent yardstick for self-measurement in this department. He found that truly self-actualizing people—those who have developed their abilities and capacities and are expressing them—"have a feeling of belongingness and rootedness, they are satisfied with their love needs, they have status and place in life and respect from other people, and they have a reasonable feeling of self respect." To the extent you have achieved this, you are realizing your full potential.
2. True—according to the findings of psychologists James F. T. Bugental and Seymour L. Zelen, which form the basis for an established technique in exploring human personality. Briefly, in simplified form, this is how it works. Just ask yourself this question: "Who am I?", and write down the first thing that occurs to you—anything you wish. If your answer to the question is "Why, I'm me," or "Myself," or "John Jones," this indicates that you do have a strong sense of personal identity. However, if you answer "I'm a lawyer," or "A banker," or "A housewife," this strongly suggests that your personality is being submerged by your occupation—that you think of yourself as what you do, not who you are. If you answer with a nonpersonal description of yourself, such as "I'm a man," or "I'm a girl," or "I'm just a human being," etc., this indicates that you are lacking in a strong sense of identity.
3. True. The introvert has the edge here. He is more self-aware—because his thoughts tend to focus inward, on himself—than the extrovert, who is more interested in other people and in things outside himself. However, the introvert does not always make constructive use of his self-knowledge, for he lacks the extrovert's capacity for translating his thoughts into action. And thought without action is likely to be unproductive and lead nowhere.

NEW! Powerful Organic Face Mask

DRAWS BLACKHEADS RIGHT OUT OF YOUR PORES!

SEE PORES UNCLOG! SEE BLACKHEADS, HARDENED OILS, IMBEDDED DIRT AND TINY FACIAL HAIRS PEEL AWAY RIGHT BEFORE YOUR EYES!

● The most fabulous new cosmetic development in years! An incredible new organic face mask that really works... that really draws blackheads, hardened oils, tiny facial hairs and imbedded dirt right out of your pores safely, quickly, easily, at once, right before your eyes!

And best of all, it's organic! Contains no harsh chemicals, can't hurt even the tenderest skin because it's made with pure, organic materials!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

No squeezing, no picking and therefore no bruises, scars or danger of spreading infection!

You simply apply Organic Masque to your face. Then go about your business. Do whatever you have to do... your hair, your nails, your housework, reading... in about fifteen minutes or so Organic Masque becomes firm and dry to the touch. Then simply peel it off! It sticks so tightly it actually hurts a bit coming off, but with it comes such an amazing array of matter, you'll hardly believe your eyes!

Look closely and you'll see blackheads, bits of hardened oil, imbedded dirt, old make-up, even facial hairs glued firmly to that mask!

Safely, surely, without squeezing, without popping, you have eased away the dirt, the grime, the filth that has been blocking your pores and making your face susceptible to infection!

This has to be the most fantastic cosmetic product you ever used in your life because you see it work immediately!

If you are bothered with blackheads, you have to have Organic Masque because it helps to get rid of them the safe, easier way! If you have an oily complexion, you need Organic Masque because it helps to remove hardened oils and other matter which is blocking your pores.

Even if you have a lovely complexion, you need Organic Masque because it cleanses your skin like nothing in this world possibly can, and that's a positive fact backed by a firm, Money-Back Guarantee!

THE MOST UNBELIEVABLE PHOTOGRAPH YOU HAVE EVER SEEN IN YOUR LIFE ... and yet it is absolutely true ...

This is an unretouched photograph, greatly magnified, of a small section of Organic Masque which had just been removed from the face of a woman with an average complexion. This woman had no visible blackheads, no facial blemishes—not even oily skin—and yet the incredible amount of debris clinging to that section of masque came from her face! Those stump-like objects are blackheads, cores of hardened oil, bits of dirt and even tiny facial hairs which were pulled from her pores with just one application of Organic Masque.

If other facial masques could begin to have this deep-down cleansing action they'd show you photos like this too. The fact that they don't is an indication that they can't perform the way Organic Masque does!

NO RISK OFFER!

Send for Organic Masque now. When it arrives, try it immediately! If Organic Masque doesn't remove blackheads, hardened oils and other pore-clogging, complexion-ruining filth the very first time you use it, don't keep it! Return the unused portion and get your money back immediately and without question! Organic Masque has to be every bit as wonderful as we claim it is, or you pay nothing! Why not send now?

1. This is a cross-section view of the average skin. Note how the pores are clogged with hardened oil and blackheads.

2. When Organic Masque is brushed on, it contacts the foreign matter in each pore... and sticks to it like glue!

3. As Organic Masque is removed, blackheads, etc. come along with it! Pores are unclogged and skin is clearer!

AN IMPORTANT NOTE...

This is an era of high-pressure advertising. You have read so many promises, so many exaggerated claims for so many products—and been disappointed so many times—that you can't help but be skeptical, and certainly we don't blame you! The shame of it is that when a product that really works comes along... a product that really does everything you want it to, there is just no way to really convince you. It's like the boy who cried wolf so many times that when a real wolf showed up, no one believed him.

If we could demonstrate this product for you... If we could show you, with your own eyes, and ideally on your own face, the incredible things Organic Masque does, we know you would be just as impressed as we are. But how can we do it with mere words?

What, then, shall we do? The fairest thing we can think of is to simply say, meet us half way. Try it in your own home entirely at our risk. Then you be the judge. If Organic Masque works the way we say it does, you will be more than delighted and you will never want to be without it again! On the other hand, if you are disappointed, you send the package back to us and we send you an instant refund, no questions asked! What could be fairer than that?

Organic Masque Co., Dept. FW-9
283 Greenwich Ave., Greenwich, Conn. 06830

Please rush my Organic Masque immediately with the understanding that if it doesn't work every bit as well as you claim it will, I will return the unused portion for a complete refund, no questions asked!

☐ I enclose $3.98 cash, check or money order for a 30-day supply. You pay all postage and handling.

This child has a good home, nice clothes, a loving mother—and Pin-Worms!

A tormenting itch in the rectal area, nose-picking and fidgeting are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. It can happen to anyone in any family—young or old, rich or poor. It's so common, medical authorities say that 1 out of 3 children examined, and many parents, have Pin-Worms without knowing it. And because Pin-Worms bring on itching and fidgeting, they can distract children and affect their school work!

What's more, Pin-Worms are highly contagious, so they can spread from person to person, until the whole family is infected.

What can you do about it? Fortunately there is an easy-to-take medication that gets rid of Pin-Worms. It's called Jayne's P-W tablets. Ask your pharmacist. He'll tell you that Jayne's P-W tablets are specially formulated with an effective medical ingredient that gets Pin-Worms out of your system. For a free informative pamphlet giving medical facts about Pin-Worms, send name and address to Jayne's P-W, Dept. A3, Box 400, New York, N.Y. 10016.

Perry Como

"I can still remember the lake people commenting, 'This fellow will give Bing a run for his money—if he has the gumption to stick with it.'"

Back in 1931—I was only a small child at the time—my family rented a summer cottage at Conneaut Lake, Pa. We frequently ate at the Conneaut Lake Park Hotel because, according to my parents, the food was excellent, and they enjoyed the dinner-hour dance music of Freddy Carlone's orchestra.

One of the band's chief attractions was a young singer who specialized in "crooning." Bing Crosby was then the top crooner, and I can still remember many of the lake people listening to the youngster sing (he couldn't have been more than 18) and commenting, "This fellow will give Bing a run for his money—if he has the gumption to stick with it." The reason they might have had doubts was that the boy had a likable, easygoing poise that made him seem a bit, well, lethargic.

Often the young man would visit our table and talk with my parents. After dinner, he usually invited me to the edge of the bandstand, where I sat on his ice-cream-parlor chair (it was sort of a trademark of his act) while he sang.

As the summer wore on, I developed a regular "crush" on the young singer. Was I the envy of the sandbox set on those days he'd join us at the beach and romp with me!

The years passed, and I soon forgot all about that summer at Conneaut Lake. Then, one day in the early 1940's, I turned our radio up to "teenage" volume to hear a new smash hit called "Prisoner of Love." It was being sung by a bobby-sox sensation named Perry Como. I had never seen his picture, but just the sound of his voice made me swoon all over.

My mother came in, turned the loudness down, and said, "Norma, just because he used to be your boyfriend, you needn't bring down the walls!"

Boyfriend? Me? Perry Como? And then it all came back. The young man who sang to me on the ice-cream-parlor chair... those days we spent on the beach... that relaxed, boy-next-door manner.

Although the sand castles we built together quickly dissolved into the lake, and many of the songs have faded, my childhood memories of that likable young man, who the adults said seemed to lack "gumption," will remain till the day I die.

The Diet Watch

Rules for Dieting on Auto Trips

"Ravenously" hungry is the way lots of people get on an automobile trip, and by the time they get to a roadside diner or other possible eating place, they're ready to devour the greasiest, highest calorie whatever-is-available, just to quell hunger pangs. Some simple rules to help the dieter on an auto trip: First, don't start out without breakfast on the premise that you'll "eat on the road," since between your low-blood-sugar fatigue and your hunger, you'll eat the whatever-is-available we mentioned; and if a pizza stand is all that's in sight after 100 miles, you may end up eating guess-what for breakfast (at 185 calories or more a slice). It's also smart to keep emergency snacks in the car, to take the edge off your appetite before other wayside meals, too. A plastic container of crackers is ideal; so is non-drip fruit like apples (70 calories). Good, too, is a Thermos or jug of iced or hot tea or coffee (with fake sweetener). A couple of crackers and a few sips of tea work near-magic at tempering hunger pangs.—By Harriet LaBarre

Mini-Profile

LEN DAWSON, Quarterback: The Scandal That Almost Wrecked His Life

Len Dawson, the 37-year-old field general of the Kansas City Chiefs, is proving that pro quarterbacks, like old wine, improve with age. He had one of his best seasons last year, his 15th as a pro, when he led the Chiefs to the championship of the western division of the American Football Conference and completed passes for gains of 2,504 yards, second highest total in the AFC. He's hoping to bring Kansas City another Super Bowl championship this year as he did in 1970, when he directed his team to a startling upset of the Minnesota Vikings. . . . Dawson, known as the "Iceman" for his coolness, was troubled by tendonitis early last season, and some said his arm was dead. It wasn't—he threw one crucial touchdown pass after another. His most severe ordeal came during the Chiefs' Super Bowl year. He injured his knee early in the season. Surgery was advised. But he gambled that he could just rest the knee for several games and come back for the homestretch drive. The gamble paid off. But then, five days before the Super Bowl game, big headlines linked him to a gambling investigation. "I felt like a criminal," he recalls, "even though I was entirely innocent. The torment was unbearable. I couldn't sleep or eat and I didn't know if I'd be allowed to play in the biggest game of my life." As it turned out, the investigation concerned a man named Donald Dawson. Len was completely cleared before the big game, and then went on to win it. . . . A native of Alliance, Ohio, Dawson was an All-America quarterback at Purdue and led the Big Ten in total offense three straight years. His coach, Hank Stram, calls him "the most accurate passer in pro football." Although he's cool and taciturn on the field, he's much more expansive off it and conducts a popular sports show on Kansas City TV and radio. Dawson is married and the father of two.

Amazing! Scientific! Doctor-Discovered, Doctor-Proved Regimen

BURNS OFF UGLY FAT!

Safely, Pleasantly, Easily or YOU PAY NOTHING!

At last! The help you've waited for! No more doing without all the appetizing foods you love to eat! No more self-torture because everything you eat seems to run to fat!

Now you can forget that forever-hungry feeling as though it never existed . . . forget that you ever worried about losing excess weight . . . forget that you ever were fat!

Because now you can eat that ugly fat away! . . . Eat off those excess pounds . . . Actually eat yourself slimmer and trimmer than you ever dreamed possible with the aid of one of the most fantastic reducing regimens ever conceived!

It's amazing, astounding, like a wonderful dream come true! And all so incredibly easy, all so delightfully pleasant, because instead of suffering those awful hungry moments, instead of giving up all the foods you love so well, you actually enjoy fabulous gourmet dishes while your weight is coming off! You actually dine on luscious foods you love to eat while you get slimmer, slimmer, slimmer; You actually pamper yourself with satisfying, super-delicious desserts and between-meal snacks while ugly pounds vanish! Sounds too wonderful to be true and yet it can actually happen to you!

You get up in the morning, take one Eat-Well Regimen dietary supplement capsule and that's all the medication you take all day long! Then you settle down to 3 hearty meals, and between-meal snacks too, if you like! . . . Enjoy roasts, chops, ham, bacon, eggs, bread and plenty of butter, seafood, stews, cheese, mayonnaise, salad and dressing, cream in your coffee or tea—food you love to eat—and all the while, this amazing regimen helps your body burn off those ugly, crippling, health-destroying, figure-marring pounds of fatty tissue!

Actual clinical tests conducted by doctors show substantial losses week after week after week on Eat-Well type regimens. The actual amount you lose depends, of course, on how overweight you are, and on your particular physiology, but it's all so safe, so easy, you'll hardly believe it!

You'll gasp in amazement, stare at yourself in disbelief as day after day you get slimmer, trimmer, more attractive! As day after day you come closer and closer to the safe, normal weight you should be!

NO BRUTAL EXERCISE

Think about it for a moment! You don't take dangerous drugs. You don't go on a starvation diet. You don't strain your heart with brutal exercise, and you don't pour money down the drain on so-called slenderizing massages!

What do you do? You sleep, work, play just like any of your thin friends. You don't starve yourself. You don't go on fad diets. To lose weight, you simply follow the Eat-Well Regimen which consists of two parts.

EAT LUSCIOUS FOODS

First, you take just one single Eat-Well dietary supplement capsule every day. Just one. That's all! And second, you "diet" by eating lots of luscious foods you love—three hearty meals and between-meal snacks—as prescribed by the Eat-Well Regimen. It's just as simple as that, and even though this regimen is so pleasant and so satisfying, your body does melt away ugly pounds of fat day by day, steadily, pleasantly, safely!

PROVED BY DOCTORS

Perhaps this all sounds too wonderful to be true! Perhaps you are wondering how Eat-Well Regimen can perform these seeming miracles when other products that promised so much failed. It's really quite simple. The Eat-Well Regimen is based on a scientific principle which is not the creation of a dietitian or a so-called "reducing expert." Eat-Well Regimen is based on a proven medical principle that has been written up by doctors in books and it appears in medical journals. It has been tried and tested and used by countless doctors throughout the world. It is safe and it is effective.

When doctors tested this virtually identical regimen on overweight persons who suffered the usual agonies of ordinary reducing methods, they found that in practically every case, substantial losses were noted! (Ask your doctor.)

Patients lost pound after pound of ugly fat safely, surely and above all, pleasantly! And most important, they lost that weight without suffering constant pangs of hunger, and without depriving themselves of luscious, nourishing food! They simply followed the Eat-Well Regimen and that made the difference.

In short, they lived like human beings! While they ate three delicious meals a day, they were losing weight! While they were enjoying mouth-watering chops, steaks, juicy roasts, sea food, whipped cream, cheeses, fried favorites and all the rest, off came ugly pounds!

With less work, less discomfort, than they ever imagined possible, they ate their fat away! . . . Ate off pounds that had made them miserable for years!

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

After all the products you've tried . . . after all the suffering you've done . . . after all the tortures you've subjected yourself to for year after weary year, and now it's all over!

The practical, intelligent method you secretly prayed for is actually here! This fabulous method, so safe, so easy, so astonishingly effective, is yours to try and to prove to your own satisfaction, without one penny's risk or obligation!

Think of what this can mean to you! Can you imagine the glorious feeling when you live like other people live, eat foods you like without worrying, without feeling guilty, without feeling afraid? The Eat-Well Regimen can do that for you!

Perhaps you have tried other products and been disappointed. Perhaps you have gone so far as to promise yourself that you would never try another reducing product again! . . . But stop and think for a moment . . .

You've tried so often in the past, haven't you? Wouldn't it be foolish to quit now, just a few steps short of your goal? Wouldn't it be silly to give up now, when the method you have waited for is available to you? Why not try Eat-Well Regimen? If not for your sake, for the sake of those you love.

TRY AT OUR RISK

Send for Eat-Well Regimen while you are still thinking about it. Then try it in your own home for 7 days at our risk! If Eat-Well Regimen isn't every bit as wonderful as we say it is, don't keep it. Return the unused portion and we'll send you an immediate refund, no questions asked.

You risk nothing and at least you have had the satisfaction of trying what we sincerely believe to be the finest reducing regimen on the face of this earth!

EAT-WELL REGIMEN DIETARY SUPPLEMENT IS GUARANTEED SAFE, GUARANTEED HARMLESS!

It is a scientific formulation of safe, tested ingredients, absolutely non-injurious, has no unpleasant side-effects, and may be taken with complete confidence by any normally healthy person

"FLIRTER" NICOLETTE
A new self at sea

Why would anyone want to cross the Atlantic alone, nonstop, in a small boat? The first woman who did it says: "I was going to flirt with death, with insanity, with physical suffering. I was going to be careless with my body and mind. And I was going to be ruthless with the emotions of those who cared about me. Why? ... I wanted to do something that would not only give me intrinsic pleasure but would also impress people, and so bring in its wake further opportunities to change my whole way of life. When I set sail from Milford Haven for America I took along with me the hope that when I had crossed the ocean I would also have crossed the threshold of a new world for myself which would hold the fulfillment of my dreams of fame." From "When I Put Out to Sea," by Nicolette Milnes Walker (Stein and Day, $6.95).

MR. MOORE, TV's "SAINT"
Palm reading by mail

Have your palm read without showing anybody your hand? Roger Moore, the "Saint," inked his palms and sent the prints to the Society for the Study of Physiological Patterns in London. The society, whose "readers" had no idea whose prints they were looking at, amazed Moore with the accuracy of their report. "There are some things that they just couldn't have guessed—it's almost uncanny," he said. Moore didn't say whether the report told him he would be playing James Bond in the next Bond movie. He will be.

Donate blood to yourself: It beats getting blood from other people, says a team of surgeons in Denver. For non-emergency operations they begin taking blood from the patient ten days before he's scheduled for an operation, and then give the same blood back to him during surgery. Reason? It cuts down on the spread of blood diseases from donors to recipients. Unused blood is donated to the community blood bank and stored for surgical cases that can't be put off for ten days.

A rock worth $3 million, and maybe as much as $14 million: Picked up by a workman last Valentine's Day in an African mine, the "rock" in question is a half-pound, 968.8-carat, big-as-a-hen's-egg diamond called the Star of Sierra Leone. It's the world's largest uncut diamond, and the third biggest ever. Sierra Leone High Com-

Egg-Diamond missioner Dr. Davidson Nichol is busy showing the gem to bidders in London. Experts say the Star could easily double in value after it's cut and made into fabulous jewelry. Are you listening, Liz and Jackie?

WAIT OFF MY MIND

Where it's the patient's fate
To wait and wait and wait and wait
And then to wait and wait.

Where is the doctor? Where is he Who said to come at four?
The patient waits and waits and waits
And then he waits some more.

The doctor's paid for precious time,
He gets his well-earned fee.
What of the patient patient, though?
The patient's time is free.

Our Story: THE HANDSOME TROUBADOUR SUFFERS FROM WOUNDED VANITY. HE HAS WON THE FAVORS OF MANY FINE LADIES AND BROKEN A FEW HEARTS, BUT HE FAILS TO IMPRESS THE LITTLE JUGGLER.

SHE HAS BEEN FRIENDLY ENOUGH, BUT HAS REGARDED HIS BEST EFFORTS TO BE AS FASCINATING AS CHEAP VAPORINGS. HE WALKS THROUGH THE TOWN WONDERING IF HE MIGHT FIND HER AGAIN.

SUDDENLY HE HEARS HER UNFORGETTABLE SWEET VOICE COMING FROM A WATERFRONT TAVERN. HE ENTERS.....

....AND FINDS A SEAT. THE ACROBATS HAVE FINISHED THEIR ROUTINE, AND THE GIRL HER JUGGLING ACT.... THEN SHE SINGS AND HER VOICE CASTS A SPELL OVER THE TAVERN. EVEN THE TIPSY SAILORS ARE HUSHED. WHEN SHE HAS FINISHED JACQUES BECKONS HER TO HIS TABLE.

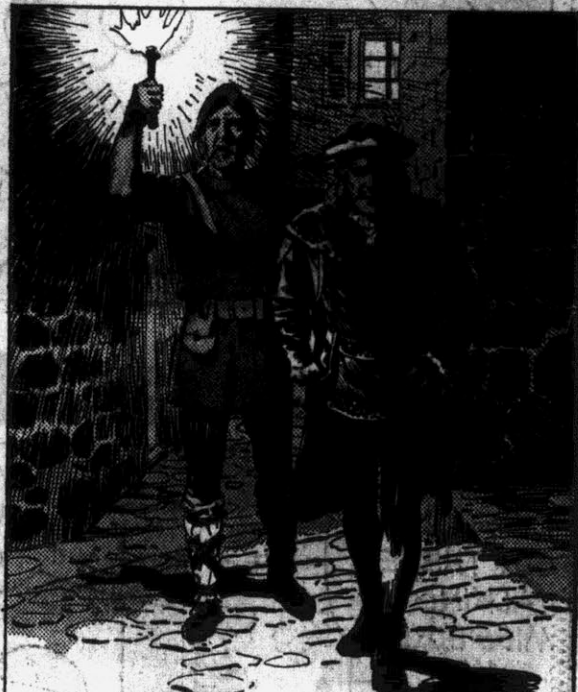

FROM FORCE OF HABIT HE BEGINS AN AMOROUS APPROACH, BUT SHE STOPS HIM: "I BELONG TO A FAMILY OF ENTERTAINERS, AND SINCE CHILDHOOD MEN HAVE TALKED OF LOVE TO ME TILL I GROW WEARY OF THEIR INSINCERITY. NOW CEASE THE FLATTERY AND TELL ME A STORY."

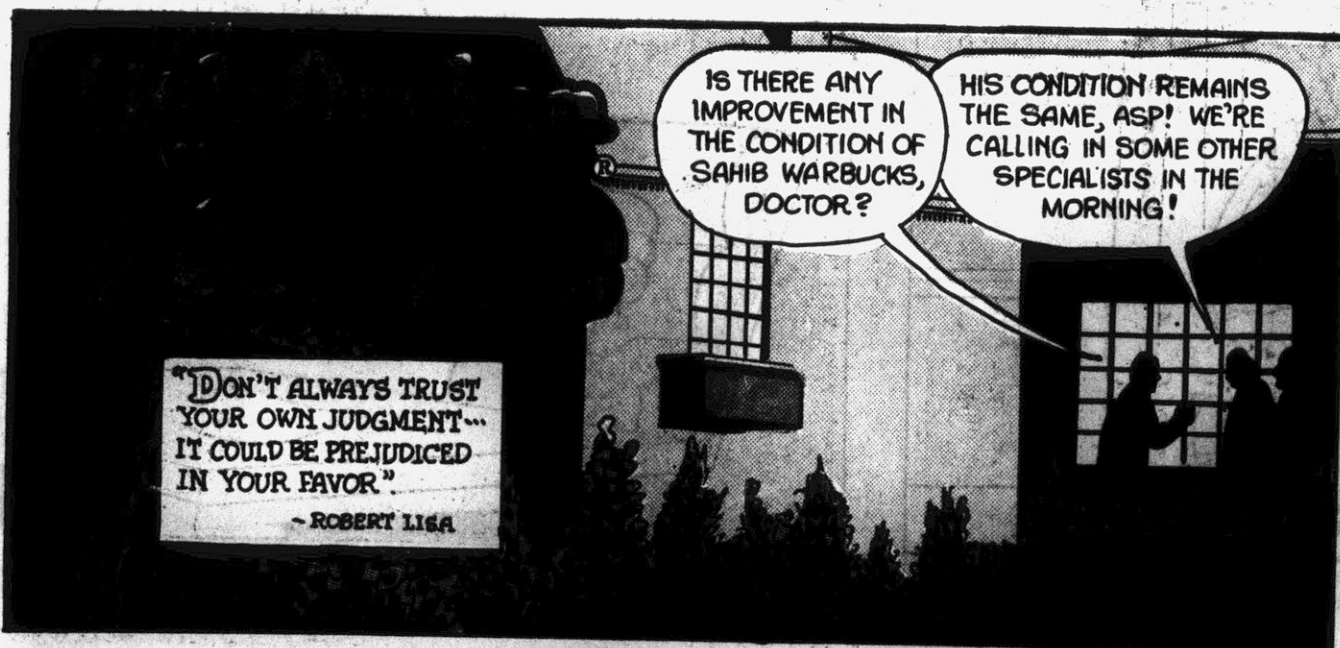

SHE ENTERTAINS IN TAVERNS AND FAIRS. HE SINGS BEFORE NOBLES IN THEIR PALACES. THEY HAVE MANY TALES TO TELL EACH OTHER AND THEY TALK UNTIL THE HOUR GROWS LATE. THEN HER TWO WATCHFUL BROTHERS COME: "IT IS LATE, JOAN, TIME FOR SLEEP." AND THE GLANCE THEY GIVE TO JACQUES CARRIES A WARNING.

IS THERE ANY IMPROVEMENT IN THE CONDITION OF SAHIB WARBUCKS, DOCTOR?

HIS CONDITION REMAINS THE SAME, ASP! WE'RE CALLING IN SOME OTHER SPECIALISTS IN THE MORNING!

"DON'T ALWAYS TRUST YOUR OWN JUDGMENT... IT COULD BE PREJUDICED IN YOUR FAVOR."
- ROBERT LISA

OPERATING ON THE THEORY THAT "WHOEVER WANTS US WILL FIND US," ANNIE AND PUNJAB ARE USHERED INTO A CURIOUS "ROOM" ...

... WE'RE RIDIN' ON TOP OF AN ELEPHANT, PUNJAB!!

IT IS CALLED A "HOWDAH" AND IS THE CUSTOMARY MODE OF TRAVEL OF ORIENTAL PRINCES, ANNIE!

COULD BE, PUNJAB ... ONLY I AIN'T GOT THE FEELIN' THAT WE'RE BEIN' TOOK T' A PARTY! AT LEAST NOT THE KINDA PARTY WHERE THE GUEST IS KING!

HOW LONG YOU FIGURE WE'VE BEEN BOUNCIN' AROUND ON THE BACK O' THIS FOUR-LEGGED BUS, PUNJAB?

FOUR HOURS BEFORE THE SUN SET ... AND SIX HOURS SINCE IT SANK BELOW THE HORIZON ...

TEN HOURS!! NO WONDER I'M HUNGRY!! WHERE D' YA S'POSE THEY KEEP THE EATS?

UNLESS I AM MISTAKEN, PRINCESS ... THERE SHOULD BE DELICATELY SPICED LAMB ... LUSCIOUS DESERT FIGS ... PLUMP POMEGRANATES ... SESAME CAKES ...

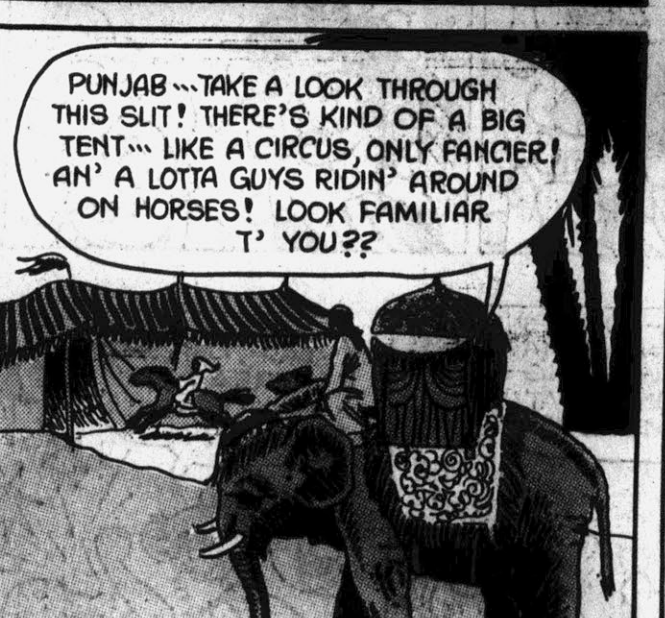

YA SURE CALLED THE SHOT ON THE MENU, PUNJAB! ONE THING WE GOTTA BE SURE OF ... WHOEVER'S TAKIN' US WHERE WE'RE GOIN' IS MAKIN' SURE WE GET THERE HEALTHY!

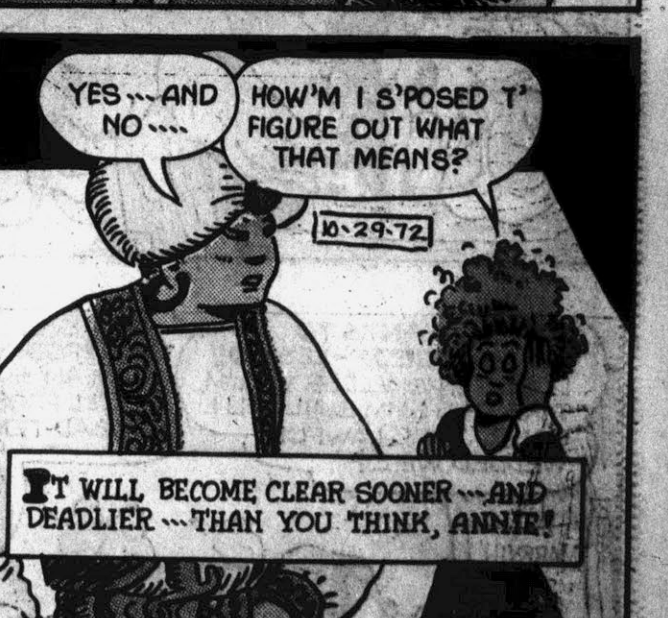

BUT ... AFTER YOU ARRIVE, ANNIE ... WHAT THEN??

THEY WILL BE HERE AT DAWN, DIVINE ATROPA!

EXCELLENT!

PUNJAB ... TAKE A LOOK THROUGH THIS SLIT! THERE'S KIND OF A BIG TENT ... LIKE A CIRCUS, ONLY FANCIER! AN' A LOTTA GUYS RIDIN' AROUND ON HORSES! LOOK FAMILIAR T' YOU??

HOW'M I S'POSED T' FIGURE OUT WHAT THAT MEANS?

IT WILL BECOME CLEAR SOONER ... AND DEADLIER ... THAN YOU THINK, ANNIE!
