

U.S. And North Vietnam To Resume Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources say the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to resume negotiations that could lead to a cease-fire in Indochina by Sunday.

These sources, members of the foreign diplomatic corps, said South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu could be expected to sign the agreement, despite Saigon's strident statements in recent days.

The State Department would not comment on these reports. But Harry Dent, one of President Nixon's key political advisers, said Monday night he doubts any settlement can be reached within a week's time.

"There will be no push to end the war immediately on our part, and I don't think there is any way it can come before Nov. 7," Dent told newsmen in Atlanta Monday night. "There are still some important things unsettled...."

When word of the impending peace agreement broke last week, North Vietnam demanded that the United States be prepared to sign the papers Oct. 31, Paris time. But White House Press Secretary Ronald

L. Ziegler told reporters Monday "we would not sign such an agreement until the conditions are right."

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief foreign-policy adviser, announced last week that "peace is at hand" but added that one more negotiating session of three or four days would be necessary to nail down details of the proposed cease-fire agreement. Kissinger said the time and place for such a final session are up to Hanoi, and Nixon administration officials said Monday there is no word from North Vietnam about the next round of talks.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Indonesia, Hungary, Canada and Poland are being named to an international supervisory control commission to oversee the cease-fire in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

The commission would succeed the International Control Commission—chaired by India with Poland and Canada as members—that was set up to oversee implementation of the Geneva accords in Indochina.

In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker conferred with President Thieu for an hour today in a session apparently aimed at resolving differences in the draft peace agreement.

Thieu's chief aide, Hoang Duc Nha, told newsmen that the timing of a cease-fire is up to the communist side. But if Kissinger meets with the North Vietnamese again, Nha said, "then he will have to come back here...."

"It is clear that Dr. Kissinger must explain our position to the North Vietnamese and then each side must consult with its allies."

Nha denied any U.S. pressure for Saigon to sign the agreement worked out by Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris.

Nixon Backs From Across The Board Property Tax Cut

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

President Nixon, apparently backing away from across-the-board property-tax relief, says that if re-elected "one of my highest-priority proposals" will be property-tax relief for older citizens.

Nixon made the scaled-down pledge in a nationally broadcast campaign radio speech Monday afternoon.

Some months ago, Nixon hinted his re-election drive might feature, as its central pocketbook appeal, a plan to sharply reduce the local property taxes of most, if not all, homeowners and businessmen through a federal subsidy system.

Early in the campaign, however, Nixon began talking instead about a qualified pledge to hold the line against federal tax increases.

The qualification was that the Democratic-controlled Congress restrain what Nixon termed "a spending binge." With the federal budget deep in the red, even before Congress got its hands on major legislation, Nixon and his advisers apparently concluded that, in such circumstances, lower local property taxes across the board could be purchased only at the cost of higher federal taxes.

In keeping with his change of strategy, Nixon told his radio audience that the average elderly citizen in the Northeast must allot 30 per cent of income to pay property taxes.

He asserted: "This is wrong. And we must stop it. One of my highest-priority proposals to the new Congress will be property tax relief for older Americans."

Nixon announced at the outset of his radio speech that he had signed a Social Security welfare bill that will increase benefits, mostly going to the elderly and disabled, by $6 billion.

Missing from the bill was the President's plan to reform welfare benefits for poor families with dependent children. In essence, a key feature of the proposals would have guaranteed a minimum annual income of $2,400 a year for a destitute family of four.

New Officers Of Farm Bureau Elected At Annual Meeting

David H. Smith was elected president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau at the organization's annual meeting last night.

Other officers named include: D. R. House Jr., first vice president; Robert Halstead, Jr. second vice president; Mrs. David H. Smith, secretary; and Mrs. Ruel Dilda, women's chairman. Directors named at the meeting last night are: Wayne Stokes, Young Farmers; Marion Mills, Greenville township; Eric Whichard, Carolina township; Ruel Dilda, Fountain township; Atlas Wooten, Falkland township; Bobby R. Harris, Belvoir township.

The group voted to send resolutions on peanuts, field crops, tobacco, livestock, broilers, egg production, health, education, social services, drugs and public relations to the state convention to be held in Durham Nov. 19-22.

The membership voted unanimously to recommend that the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation ask Earl Butz, secretary of agriculture, not to increase the tobacco poundage for 1973.

The following delegates were elected to attend the state convention: Mr. and Mrs. David H. Smith, J. C. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Worthington, R. G. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Dilda, William Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. D.R. House, Carl Venters, Ray Garris, W.A. Allen III.

President Smith announced that the Pitt County FB membership had reached 2,458, an increase of approximately 125 members over last year.

Amish Return State Money

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The Amish of Lancaster and Lebanon counties say they will return $260,000 in state aid for private schools because it is their custom to support their own schools.

Andrew Kinsinger, superintendent of Amish schools in Pennsylvania, wrote to Dr. Lloyd Ruoss, executive director of schools for the two counties and told him his people will not be needing the aid.

Frinks, Kirby Trial Postponed

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Trials of civil rights activists Golden Frinks and George Kirby on riot charges, which had been scheduled to begin today, have been postponed indefinitely.

The two have petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to hear their cases. District Solicitor Allen Cobb said the cases will be removed from the Superior Court docket until the Supreme Court makes its decision.

Indians Demand School Accounting For Funds

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Leaders of a group of Indians early today renewed their demands to see Young Allen, Robeson County school superintendent, and view school board records detailing the use of federal funds earmarked for Indians.

Many of the group, that at one time after their arrival at the county board of education grounds Monday numbered about 400, remained throughout the night outside the county school office building.

Allen was not available for comment, but his assistant, Sam Stell, said Allen had said he was willing to talk to the leaders of the group only if the others would leave.

Throughout the night several remained in a nearby old one-room schoolhouse as sheriff's department deputies and highway patrolmen remained on the scene.

No disturbances were reported. Gilbert Ramon, assistant field director of the U.S. Department of Justice Community Relations Division, arrived early today from Washington to confer with leaders of the Indian group and Sheriff Malcolm McLeod.

During the night the Indians sang songs, danced around the county school headquarters building and occasionally beat on a large bass drum.

A spokesman for the American Indian Movement said Monday night, they are seeking restoration of all-Indian schools for the area and other parts of the nation. Dennis Banks, executive secretary of the group, made that announcement as the Indians moved into Lumberton. Riot-equipped deputies guarded the county school headquarters throughout the day. Late in the day, officers from other law enforcement agencies were called to help seal off the building.

2-Day Blood Drive

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile is coming to Greenville again for a two day collection drive.

Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Executive Director of the American Red Cross has announced that the Pitt County bloodmobile unit will be on campus at East Carolina University for a two day drive Wednesday and Thursday.

On Wednesday the unit will be on hand from 11:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. On Thursday the hours will be from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m.

The AFROTC is sponsoring the drive on campus.

"Our quota for each day is 160 units," Mrs. Taylor commented. "However, we hope very much to surpass this amount in this drive, as we now stand 295 units behind our designated quota for this time of year." Citizens from the community are urged to take part in this drive along with students and faculty from ECU.

The bloodmobile unit will be located in the vicinity of the South Cafeteria on campus.

Mrs. Taylor announced that Douglas Morgan, chairman of the Pitt County American Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit had resigned the chairmanship. "He has done a marvelous job for us over the past four years," Mrs. Taylor said, "and we regret Doug will not be with us longer."

Holshouser Says Med School Stand Same As That Of Dr. Jenkins

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Holshouser, here for an eastern North Carolina rally at the American Legion Hall in Greenville Monday night, had a few comments to make on the proposed medical school at East Carolina University.

In a brief press conference, the Republican candidate made reference to the fact he had voted for it in 1969.

"I believe you'll find my position on this is the same as Dr. Leo Jenkins," he remarked. "It is important now that the new Board of Governors be given a chance to work on this issue. If the Board of Governors recommends expansion at this time I will support the recommendation."

"I recognize that the real challenge is better medical care for the rural areas of our state. There's no question that we need to provide more doctors. It's not so important whether it's one or another school providing the means, but it is important what the taxpayers of the state are paying for, and what they get."

Holshouser terms Democratic gubernatorial candidate Skipper Bowles' expressions on changes in secondary education as "radical, dangerous changes in the education program of North Carolina. He is talking about putting 265 million new money into career education. This program is still in the experimental stage. I'm not saying it's a bad program, but that it's one with dangerous pitfalls that will have to be avoided. We must give such a program time to be amended, to learn how it works, otherwise you're taking a serious risk that could cause irreparable harm to our public education system."

In this connection he mentioned earlier that the public schools are now "getting about 50 percent of education funds. Ten years ago it was 60 percent. There's a lot more going into higher education, and not always for priority items."

The public's growing concern for environmental protective measures for the state elicited from Holshouser the statement that "we need one more bill, one that was killed in the '71 legislature. This was the bill that would require industries and cities or anybody who puts waste matters into our waterways to report on a regular basis, to report the fluid level to the board (the Board of Water and Air Resources)."

"Until we have that law," he continued, "our situation is much like telling the internal revenue people to collect taxes without having people filing (Continued on page 8)

Gov. Scott Praises Revenue-Sharing Act Policy

GREENSBORO (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott today praised the revenue sharing act under which North Carolina and its local governments will share $135.4 million this fiscal year.

Scott described the revenue sharing act as a "turning point, both in fiscal policy and in the over-all relationship of federal, state and local governments."

"Inherent in the revenue sharing bill is a return of fiscal responsibility to the states and their political subdivisions," Scott added in a talk to the 63rd annual convention of the North Carolina League of Municipalities.

In recognition of the steps state government has taken to assist local governments under Scott, the league made the governor a lifetime honorary member of the organization.

"Revenue sharing may have its limitations, and we need to give much thought to have to use it," Scott said, "but it recognizes that growing demands for state and local services have far outstripped state and local resources."

"It has the potential to provide a balance and to restore initiative creativity and citizen involvement in a government closer to the people," Scott added.

State Resources Secretary Charles W. Bradshaw Jr., earlier urged the municipal officials to act immediately to save their central business districts by lowering their property valuations.

"It was certainly fair for central business districts to carry the city tax load when it enjoyed a thriving retail and commercial business," Bradshaw said. "But now the tax load is still with the central business district, and the retail and commercial business is almost nonexistent."

A major topic of conversation during the meeting has been what the cities and towns will do with the money they receive under revenue sharing.

Several city officials said they were concerned that the cities allocate the funds equitably and for "people-type programs."

These discussions came during the annual convention of the North Carolina League of Municipalities which is under way here.

In a keynote speech to the municipal officials Monday, Mayor Sam Massell of Atlanta told the group that contrary to what they hear "government is working and it's working well."

"Cities are accomplishing more for each citizen today than ever before," said Massell. He added that when urban leaders "continue to tell everyone that government can't work, then sure enough government won't work."

Miss Betty White Weds In Saturday Ceremony

In a candlelight double ring ceremony, the marriage of Miss Betty Pearl White and S. Sgt. George Seymour Washington was solemnized on Saturday at 4:00 p.m. at the Sweet Hope Free Will Baptist Church, Simpson.

The Rev. W. H. Mitchel officiated at the double ring ceremony assisted by the Rev. W. J. Best.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leatha White of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington of Kinston.

A program of nuptial music was presented by J. A. Wooten, organist, of Greenville, and Mrs. Barbara Woodard sang "O Promise Me." "I Love Your Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with the traditional green and white. The background was centered with a fifteen branch candelabra flanked with seven branch candelabra and tall standards of emerald greenery. In the choir loft were two coronet candelabras overflowing with bouquets of white mums and pom pom. Preceding to the altar were candelabras and bows of white satin ribbon. Three candles were lighted by the bride and bridegroom as part of the ceremony. At the altar was a purple prie dieu where the vows and rings were exchanged and the Bride and bridegroom knelt for the closing prayer and benediction. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her uncle Walton White, the bride wore a formal gown with a white satin blend by Alfred Angelo. The empire bodice featured a sabrina neckline, covered with cluny lace. The bell shaped skirt featured a white satin panel with chiffon inserts and a cathedral length train.

The panel of the skirt was bordered with cluny lace. The trumpet sleeves were also of the same lace as the bodice.

She wore a matching headpiece of beads and lace with a shoulder length net. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations, tips of greenery and purple orchids. Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Brenda White of Brooklyn, N.Y. Matron of honor was Mrs. Ann Huggins of Greenville, cousin of the bride. The honor attendant wore floor length gowns of solid red with an empire bodice with an A-lined skirt with petite self-covered buttons at the wrists of the long sleeve.

The matron of honor wore a solid gold dress identical to the maid of honor. Their headpieces were wide brimmed hats of matching colors. They carried colonial bouquet of red carnations, purple statice, gold pom poms tied with matching bows.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ella Telfair, Mrs. Dorothy Daniels, Miss Sudie Smith and Miss Deborah Bacon, all of Greenville. Miss Dorothy Copper of Brooklyn, N.Y., all cousins of the bride, and Miss Betty Washington of Washington, D.C., sister of the bridegroom. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Valarie White, sister of the bride, and Miss Jacquelyn Yvette White, cousin of the bride. Their gowns made of polyester crept with solid gold flowered A-lined skirts alternating with red empire bodices and red flowered A-lined skirts. The wore wide brimmed hats embellished with bands of the chosen floral skirts.

The flower girls were Miss Sheila Huggins and Miss Starla Huggins, cousins of the bride. They wore white gowns fashioned after the honor attendants, with white bows for their hair. They carried white baskets filled with petals tied with yellow and red bows. Sheldon Morrise, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Smith Attends Meet

Mrs. Nathan Smith of Pactolus attended the annual meeting of the North Carolina Extension Homemakers Association in Raleigh last week.

Among the highlights of the two-day program were award ceremonies, election of officers and two speeches pointing out women's responsibilities to youth and to their national organization.

At the closing session, Mrs. Paul Fletcher of Kinston, was installed as president of the 32,000-member organization for the coming year.

Preschool children should have 1 teaspoon or more of butter or margarine in their diet every day.

MRS. GEORGE SEYMOUR WASHINGTON

He carried a bear shaped pillow with red and gold flowers.

Ruffus Huggins served as best man. Ushers were SSG. Babley Smith of Ayden SSG. David Hughes of Greenville, SSG. Gerald Mills of New Bern, SFC. Craham Wetherington of Kinston, SFC. Fitzgerald of Gastonia, SFC. Rosario Cappello of Kinston, SFC. Ernest Collins of Farmville, Perry Brewington and Andre' Wooten of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. White chose a double knit two-piece ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a double knit suit of mint green and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Olivia Malone of Greensboro maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a double knit blue dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Luella White of Simpson, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a blue and gray double knit two-piece ensemble with matching accessories. Each grandmother was remembered with a corsage of white carnations.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Rosa L. Harris of Greenville.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a white two-piece suit trimmed in olive green. She wore matching accessories and the purple orchid lifted from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of G. R. Whitfield High School, Elizabeth City State University, and North Carolina State University. She is a member of the Alpha Kappa sorority, and is presently employed at Farmville Central High School as guidance counselor.

Her husband is a graduate of Savannah High School, Kinston, and is presently stationed in Greenville as a staff sergeant.

After the wedding trip, the couple will reside in Greenville.

On Thursday the bride was entertained by the staff at Farmville Central with a miscellaneous kitchen shower in the home Economics Department.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Army Reserve Building. Host and hostesses were Charles Gatlin, Miss Ethel Barnhill, Pete Payton assisted by Mrs. Esther White, Mrs. Pricilla Moore Tyson and Miss Carletta Merritt.

The bridal couple was entertained at an after-rehearsal party in the fellowship hall of the church by members of the bride's family.

On Saturday morning, the bridal couple was honored at a wedding breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Huggins in Greenville.

Memorials, Mrs. Quentin Gregory; World Gardening, Mrs. D. W. Bryant; Yearbook, Mrs. Malcolm Copeland.

In her address to the group, Mrs. Vick commended them for their splendid work in all of these fields. She said that all 32 clubs had made the honor roll. The clubs reported planting 2,224 dogwood and crepe myrtle trees and 33,783 other trees.

One of the highlights of the meetings was the presentation of a life membership to Mrs. Vick and the pine which was presented by the state president, Mrs. Marion W. Odom.

During the morning session, Mrs. Odom gave talk on the State Garden Club projects. Four of the projects of the state are: the Elizabethan Garden; the Martha Franck Fragrance Garden (for the blind); Brunswick Town Trail; and Daniel Boone Nature Trail. She thanked the clubs for supporting these worthwhile projects and all the work they are doing to keep North Carolina beautiful.

Preceding the morning session, a coffee hour was held, with Mrs. W.C. Taylor of the Lakewood Pines Club as chairman. Other committee chairmen were: favors, Mrs. Robert Messner; decorations, Mrs. Bruce Tyson, Reservations, Mrs. Larry Vacek, Parliamentary, Mrs. Lois Bridgers; Timekeeper, Mrs. Mervin Early.

A luncheon followed Mrs. Odom's address. The tables were covered with yellow cloths and centered by hand-crated wooden containers made by Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Mitchell. Each contained a bouquet of autumn flowers arranged by the Greenville Garden Club. On the speaker's table were silver containers with roses grown by Greenville Club members. An

Shower Given Mrs. Shaikh

Mrs. S. K. Shaikh of India was entertained by Mrs. Robert Starling at a miscellaneous bridal shower Thursday night.

Mrs. O. C. Noble presided at the guest register.

The hostess presented a white orchid corsage to the honoree. The Starling house was decorated with a color scheme of green, white, yellow and orange. Flower arrangements featured roses, mums and gladioli.

The guest of honor wore a dark blue sari decorated with silver and pearls. Mrs. Starling showed her guests a blue and gold sari she bought in Ceylon. Mrs. Shaikh demonstrated the arrangement of a sari with Mrs. Starling as her model.

Pilot Club members and the honoree played several games with Mrs. N. G. Deber and Mrs. Shaikh as winners. Pictures were made by Miss Ruth White and Mrs. John McCarthy.

Miss White assisted in serving refreshments.

Eight Injured In City Traffic Mishaps

Eight people were injured and approximately $3,600 in damages resulted from a series of traffic accidents investigated Monday and early today by Greenville police.

Officers reported four injured in a collision yesterday morning at the intersection of U.S. 264 and Bismarck Street involving cars driven by Willie Lee Stallworth of Rt. 4, Box 72, Greenville, and Peggy Merritt Mumford of Rt. 1, Box 251.

Both drivers were injured, as were two passengers in the Stallworth car, David Boulware and Lisa Stallworth, who listed 1914-B, S. Pitt Street addresses.

Police, who are continuing their investigation of the 7:35 a.m. accident, estimated damages at $650 to the Mumford vehicle.

Officers reported three persons were injured in a three-car wreck Monday morning at the Dickinson Avenue-Line Avenue intersection.

Involved were cars driven by Marjorie Windom Avery of 102 Fairlane Road, Teresa Braxton Creech of 602 W. Sixth Street, Ayden, and Jackie Ellis Bland of 400 Charles Street, Grifton.

Police, who said that all three drivers were injured, charged Jackie Bland with failing to reduce speed. Damages to the Avery car in the 8:24 a.m. accident were set at $150, while damage to the Creech vehicle was estimated at $600. Damage to the Bland car was set at $300.

Worth Evans Lomax of Box 67, Carthage, was reported injured when the car he was driving west on Second Street ran across the curb at the end of the street and down into the ravine between Second and Reade Streets around 12:05 this morning.

Police, who estimated damages at $150 to the Lomax car, reported that investigation of the accident is continuing.

Fred Sherrod Jr. of Rt. 2, Farmville was charged with a stop light violation following investigation of an accident Monday on U.S. 264 Bypass and Arlington Drive that involved three cars.

Involved were cars driven by Sherrod, Preston Harrington III of 106 Osceola Street, and Jessamine S. Calhoun of 1620 Longwood Drive. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Calhoun car, $800 to the Harrington vehicle, and $200 to the Sherrod car.

No injuries were reported in the 3:37 p.m. accident.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Please print this open letter to friends and relatives of a childless couple:

Dear People: We are in our late thirties and have finally accepted the fact that we cannot have children. It's due to a medical problem one of us has [and please don't ask which one, or what kind, because it's none of your business].

Don't tell us "to never give up hope." It would be better if we did, so that is what we are doing.

Don't suggest we take in foster children. Have you ever known the heartache of having to give up a child you've grown to love like your own? Well, we have. And we'd never do it again.

Don't suggest adoption. Where we live you need $700 just to start proceedings. And you have to be buying or building your own home, have an excellent credit rating and money in the bank. Then there is the chance that the child will be taken from you during the first year before the final papers are signed.

And don't say, "You don't have any children? Boy, you're lucky, we have four you can have." Or, "Gee, you're smart. If we could live our lives over we wouldn't have any."

Some people are too stupid for words.

"CHILDLESS AND SICK OF QUESTIONS"

DEAR CHILDLESS: You may not speak for all childless couples, but I'll wager a good number of them are on your wave length.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a wonderful guy, and he is the first one I have ever felt this deeply about. He's 21 and so am I.

He says he loves me, but there is one big problem. He always falls asleep on me!

He has done this from the beginning of our relationship. I have tried everything to cure him, including just leaving him and going home (if we're out), getting angry, and going to bed and just letting him sleep in the chair at my place.

I know he has to get up at five o'clock in the morning to go to work, but he could get some rest before seeing me in the evening.

It wouldn't do any good to fall asleep on him because he would be asleep before me.

The other night he was over and I was modeling my bikini for him, and he fell fast asleep! Boy, if that didn't put a dent in my ego.

He says he wants to marry me someday, but Abby, I need a guy who's awake. His problem could be medical, but if it isn't, what do you suggest I do?

LONELY IN INDIANAPOLIS

DEAR LONELY: First find out if it IS medical. If it is, it's no joke, and should be treated promptly. If it's not medical, you'd better look for another boy friend. He's much too passive when he should be active.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a 30-year-old single woman to change her clothes and use some deodorant, or some kind of fragrance to mask the odor? For the last year she has worn TWO soiled pants suits to work, and would you believe, we have not seen her in a dress for two years?

She happens to be obese, but we feel there is no excuse for appearing so sloppy and careless in a business office. Also, we haven't seen her own hair in two years. She wears a dirty wig every day!

Please, please, help us. We are . . .

SUFFOCATING IN CLEVELAND

DEAR SUFFOCATING: If this woman has one friend in the office, ask her to have a heart-to-heart talk with her. If the company employs a nurse, you might ask the nurse to talk to her. The woman may not be aware that she is offensive. It would be a kindness to tip her off.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN": Could your mother have written this letter?

DEAR ABBY: My children live less than an hour away, yet I sit alone, month after month now that I am old and no longer needed. I wonder if I will be able to pick a time to die so that my funeral will fit into their social calendar? Thank you, Dear Abby.

A SAD, OLD MOTHER

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GETTING VIBES": Forget it. A ring on her finger means she's engaged. If her "vibes" match your "vibes"—as you seem to think—tell her that AFTER she sheds the engagement ring you'll be glad to take her out.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Scout Earns Program At ECU Eagle Badge

The Eagle Scout Award was received Sunday by Hugh T. (Tim) Hardee, III, in a ceremony held at Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church. Presentation of the award was made by Talmadge Adams, Scoutmaster.

HUGH T. HARDEE III
Tim, for three years a Boy Scout, has earned 29 merit badges and has held various positions, including patrol leader and senior patrol leader in Troop 401.

The young scout is a member of and active in church work at the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church, where he sings in the Youth Choir and is secretary of the youth department of the Sunday School. He is also a member of the Black Jack Volunteer Fire Department.

Tim, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Hardee, Jr. of Route 3, Greenville, is a sophomore at D.H. Conley High School.

Oral Interpretation Program At ECU

Two performances of an oral interpretation program, Focus On Focus, will be given by students in the Drama and Speech Department of East Carolina University in the new Studio Theatre tonight and again on Thursday. Performances will begin at 8:00 p.m. There is no admission charge.

The Studio Theatre is located in the former library of the Old Wahl-Coates School on the ECU campus. The faculty-directed oral interpretation concert will be the first program in the new location for workshop productions.

Focus On Focus is a program of group and solo readings designed to demonstrate various techniques of eye focus, as well as "on-stage" and "off-stage" focus, for oral readers. Included among other works will be Mark Twain's story, The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras

Mrs. Fouke is a biology major at St. Andrews. She serves as a member of the educational policies committee of the student body, and has been active in the College Christian Council.

Seeks To Prove Pony Express Is A 'Faster Way'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Can Pony Express deliver mail faster than the U.S. Postal Service?

James H. Boren, author of a handbook for bureaucrats called "When In Doubt, Mumble," thinks it can. In fact, he set out on horseback Monday from Independence Mall to prove it.

Borne left with five other riders and two relief horses for Washington, D.C., carrying letters addressed to various congressmen. Duplicate copies were mailed before their departure.

"Not only will the ... Pony Express beat the regular mail," he said. "It will also bring back fond memories of the days when the postal system used to work." He said they expect to reach Washington by noon today.

Asked for reaction, a post office spokesman here replied, "We have just two words to say about this: No comment."

Chileans See Resignation

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Prospects for an improvement in Chile's tense political situation improved somewhat today with the resignation of President Salvador Allende's interior minister and the government's announcement that it was ready to talk again with the leaders of a three-week-old strike.

Economy Minister Carlos Matus said the government was willing to discuss the economic issues behind the strikes crippling the economy. But Matus said political demands of the striking shopkeepers, small businessmen and professional men would not be negotiated.

A reply from the strike leaders was expected today or Wednesday.

Marxist President Allende broke off discussions with them last Friday, saying they were making political demands that could prevent him from exercising his constitutional authority. Generally the strikers oppose Allende's plans to convert Chile to socialism.

The resignation of Interior Minister Jaime Suarez was apparently the first step toward reshuffling of the cabinet. There are persistent rumors that at least two cabinet posts will be offered to the traditionally nonpolitical military in an attempt to appease Allende's political opponents, who control Congress.

New Ideas Shaped By Politics

Political campaigning in the state and across the nation is proving its worth in ways other than building up to election of office-holders.

We have been seeing in the past weeks and months the testing of ideas to make for better government, better life, ever-higher aspirations.

The groundwork is being laid for the shifting of emphasis in state and national goals.

People who listen and read are being exposed to concepts that, given general approval, in time become what can best be termed as the "public will".

Spokesmen for new directions are, and have been, a vital element in keeping America alive, vibrant, exciting and ever moving forward.

That so many come from the political field is a testimonial to the system under which we live.

An office-seeker, by the nature of his calling, must proffer ideas or die. When a line of thought fails to ignite his audiences, it is dropped and others tested in the waters of political appeal. In time, the best are assembled as platforms for general adoption or dismissal.

In North Carolina we have seen every four years a new direction proffered by office seekers; and those adopted have been the product of months . . . even years . . . of discussion, argument, repetition and modification. The same is true on the national level.

When the new Governor, the new President, new General Assembly, new Congress, are duly installed we shall be off on a new tangent toward a "better life".

There is a continuity between one four-year period and the next; because we build on a foundation of past accomplishments, the discarding of ideas that failed or no longer appear applicable in the mind of the people.

The process is Life. Believe us, America is very much alive; not nearly as ill as some would have us fear.

Tar Heels Fed Up On Politics

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — North Carolinians are fed up with politics, distrustful of politicians, and wavering in party loyalty as the general election draws near.

political science professor at the University of Michigan, he is co-author of "The Ticket-Splitter: A New Force in American Politics."

Key Victory Architect
He came to North Carolina as a consultant to the Bowles campaign. His guidance was credited as a key element in the primary victory over Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor for the Democratic nomination.

The Tar Heel exposure led DeVries to take up residence in the state, settling last summer at Wrightsville Beach on the coast.

"I like a place where folks say 'yes, sir' and 'thank you, ma'am,'" he remarked, "We were tired of the north, and I always wanted to live near the ocean."

As a voter, he registered "no party." That reflected not only personal inclination, but the direction he sees for the future.

"In the years ahead, we will see a very personal brand of politics, related to candidates and not parties," he explained.

It will come about as ticket-splitting gains momentum and party identification recedes as a factor influencing voters, he said. It will make elections harder to predict, with a high undecided element right up to the day of voting, he added.

Attributes of The Splitter

The splitter is another breed from the independent voter DeVries said.

The independent usually is defined as a voter with a poor knowledge of the issues, unfamiliar with the candidates, and unconcerned about the outcome.

On the other hand, the splitter is apt to be younger, better educated and employed, more politically active. He responds to issues and what the candidate says about them. He gets his information through the news media, principally television, and reacts weakly to advertising which is not issue-oriented.

"Political advertising in the future must look like, and be, news to be effective," he asserted. The Bowles campaign took that tack, he added, with TV spots whose content was 90 per cent related to issues.

The splitting syndrome begins at the top, DeVries noted. First apparent in presidential elections, it is now an element in major state races, he said, but remains relatively insignificant at the local level.

Blacks and other ethnic groups tend to hold the line longer against ticket-splitting, he observed. They also are more inclined to base their voting habits on work-of-mouth influences — what friends and community leaders are saying.

Thieu Is Given A Real Bargain

By ROWLAND EVAND and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — It was President Nixon's judgement, privately expressed before the Democratic Presidential nomination, that if he had a 10-point margin over his Democratic opponent by early September, Hanoi would be compelled to bargain in earnest for a compromise Vietnam settlement.

In fact, Mr. Nixon was running 34 points ahead of Sen. George McGovern in the Gallup Poll as of Aug. 30. It was, then, no surprise either to him or his negotiator, Henry Kissinger, when Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's negotiator, offered on Oct. 8 in Paris the outline of a peace proposal that collapsed North Vietnam's granite demands for virtual American surrender.

Indeed, the terms of the bargain hammered out by Kissinger and Tho from that point on, and announced last Thursday by Hanoi, exceeded Mr. Nixon's hopes. They also made a mockery of claims by McGovern and the peace movement that the President deliberately waited until the 1972 election to settle on terms available in 1969.

Consider, for example, the future of President Thieu and regime under the terms now agreed to by Hanoi as compared to the terms Hanoi had insisted on for the past four years.

Hanoi's demands included these key points: Thieu and his "corrupt clique" must abandon all power in South Vietnam, to be replaced by a coalition government; and the U.S. must agree to stop all aid to Saigon.

A third major demand was this: there could be no strictly military settlement without a parallel political settlement.

All three of these principal demands seem to have been scappened in the agreement announced by Hanoi. That is, Thieu is now under no compulsion to resign even before the holding of elections; Washington is specifically permitted to continue aid to South Vietnam, including replacement of military equipment now in use; and the (SET ITAL) political (END ITAL) settlement has been left for the future while the (SET ITAL) military (END ITAL) settlement and release of prisoners of war are to start at once.

Moreover, the settlement terms are surprisingly flexible as to the holding of elections. With Thieu still in power as president, the agreement simple states that an "administrative structure" (a vague terminology proposed in English by Le Duc Tho himself) should be set up to include elements of the Thieu government, South Vietnamese Communists and neutralists to "organize" elections. No date is set, but it seems apparent that elections can't be held until all three factions are in agreement.

Why, then, did Thieu raise such a huge public stink during Kissinger's latest visit to Saigon last week, screaming like a stuck pig that he would never accept a coalition government?

Thieu's game was largely psychological. As we reported last week, he has been terrified that withdrawal of American military force would be taken as a signal of his imminent demist. By shrieking against terms not actually included in the agreement, he could then claim credit for having removed those terms, demonstrating his influence in Washington and elevating his prestige in Saigon.

Hanoi spoiled Thieu's game with its premature announcement, but as of this writing that will not derail the all-but-signed agreement.

Accordingly, Mr. Nixon's political judgment seems vindicated that Hanoi, under pressure from Peking, Moscow and the brutally effective American bombing and blockade, would agree to a genuine compromise now, rather than dealing with a reelected and unfettered President Nixon. That is not to rule out, however, a new period of vicious civil war inside South Vietnam.

Such a renewed conflict, without U.S. participation, is undoubtedly possible. But the

Seeing A 'Vintage Fall'

SCRABBLE, Va. — The nicest thing about the campaign trail, to correspondents and to candidates alike, is that the trail must end at last. It ends for me, after one last weekend with McGovern on the Coast, here in the burnished beauty of a Blue Ridge fall.

Our autumns have this in common with the wines of France: They come in vintage years. Last year was nothing much; neither was the year before. But this is vintage autumn. September brought some heavy rains that washed the roadside foliage free of dust. We woke then days ago to find a killing frost had come by night, settling on the fields as brusquely as a slamming door. Behold the burgundy fall. For an hour or two, at least, the campaign can be put aside. The road that winds to Woodville is carpeted in gold. One walks through a long cathedral, vaulted now in green and bronze, great shafts of sunlight striking through the heavy oaks. At the bend, just across White Walnut Run, a maple makes a scarlet sanctuary.

It is an exercise for the painter, not the writer, to pause at the bridge and count the colors: Green, of course, but a green that is wholly different from the tints of spring — a somber green, verging close to black. Against the green one counts the browns — dark brown, dull brown, the brown of stained old slippers, a birch that gives up leaves of creamy beige. The browns yield to rusty reds — to crimson, russet, burnt umber. The reds sparkle with yellows, the yellow of lemons, the softer gleam of copper pots well rubbed. Stalks of uncut corn, like gaunt old soldiers clad in faded khaki, stand to one side in ragged array.

It would be lovely enough, this autumn tapestry, if it merely lay in silence on the hills. There will come a time, a few months hence, when snow is on the ground and all the earth is still. But it is part of the glory of a vintage fall that now the eye finds movement everywhere — rippling water and swirling leaves, wind that tangles the hair of a little girl. And always, always, the birds.

We had a guest not long ago, a Western woman, city-bred, who halted a serious bridge game to rush to a window. "What," she asked, in tones of awe, "is that beautiful bird?" We thought the pileated woodpecker might have come back, or a tanager or an oriole. Dummy got up to look. "Oh," said Dummy, disappointed, "that's only a cardinal."

Only a cardinal? We take our birds too much for granted. One might as well say, only a Browning sonnet, only a prelude by Chopin. This bold red ribbon, streaking above the fence-row, is a thing of beauty as surely as Keats' Grecian urn. To watch the birds on a golden afternoon is to savor the best wealth of all — wealth that never has to be hoarded up, or counted out, or argued away with the tax man; it is a richness that lingers for an instant in the eye and ear, and then endures in the mind.

We walk along the rustling road, down the amber aisle, talking of birds, their wisdom and their ways. They are

Other Editors Say Prompt Hearings

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Judge Herbert Hardy said it:

"Only active sentences will get the message cross in these instances. It is my duty to this community, to the educational process and to all responsible citizens to insure all that this court will deal actively with violations of this type."

Whereupon the judge sentenced three young men to active jail terms for convictions growing out of disturbances following a high school football game earlier this month.

The judge found from the evidence that a band director and members of the band were "assaulted without warning and without provocation" as they walked to the band room after the game.

The band director also was robbed. The cases, as could be expected, were appealed to higher court.

The appeals should be heard promptly. For these cases should be disposed of just as soon as due process will permit.

There should be no endless series of delays and continuances until the cases are forgotten and justice will be lost somewhere in the quagmire our courts so often can become.

The solicitor should rise today to his responsibility just as Judge Hardy has risen to his. The appeal should be set, it should be heard and justice should be dispensed.

If the young men are found on appeal to be innocent, their good names should be cleared and they should be released.

If, on the other hand, they are found to be guilty, they should be put behind bars for the full sentences prescribed by the court.

This community should demand no less of the courts in this matter.

For the courts to do less is for the officers of the court to shirk their responsibility to the law abiding citizens and to the welfare and safety of this community and its schools.

Strength For Today

when questions suddenly become concrete, when plans mean ringing doorbells and climbing stairs, signing checks or jumping in and doing a piece of hard work, these people are on the list of absentees.

It is easy to advise people about their problems. It takes self-effacement and sacrifice to get down where they live and help them solve their problems. We can do a lot of weeping at the movies over imaginary tragedies and five minutes after we leave the theater we can step right over a tragic situation in someone's life which is calling stridently for help.

DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

A young man addressing a religious convention recently brought down the house with the statement that many people pray the following prayer: "Lord, I am willing to do whatever thou wouldst have me do, but thou knowest I work best in an advisory capacity."

Have you ever noticed the fellow who, then three or four men are grunting and sweating as they move a piano, tags along behind carrying the piano stool? There are many people who love committee meetings. As long as plans are being discussed or moral questions are in the delightful realm of the abstract these people are on hand taking a prominent part in the proceedings. But

Await Market Identification

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Investors and analysts have been trying to pin a label on the stock market for many months now, but nothing seems to stick.

And so, like a shopper who declines to buy an unopened can of beans, investors wait for the market to identify itself. What is it made of? What makes it move?

When analysts concluded that the market was below a proper level, they tabbed it the McGovern market and said the presidential candidate had scared away investors. When controversy struck the McGovern campaign, however, the market barely nodded its recognition. Presumably, if the label were accurate, the market would have risen on news adverse to the candidate, but it did not.

Similarly, recurring peace rumors during the year invariably produced little upward jiggles. And, in the absence of an explanation for other small rises, analysts were inclined to attribute them to peace prospects.

But, when Henry A. Kissinger announced that "peace is at hand," the Dow Jones industrial average went up a few points and then collapsed into a minus position for the day. The rally was but a hiccup.

Perry Wysong disdains labels such as these, and he thinks everyone else should also. Rather than attempting to link market movements to news events as if the market were rational, he studies only the insiders.

Working out of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Wysong publishes The Consensus of Insiders, a popular publication whose contents are based on the trading activity of stock exchange specialists and corporate insiders.

Look Back Anew

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are like the seasons of the year. They are recurrent miracles and each has its own pageantry.

HAL BOYLE

The more memories you have to summon up on the days when your heart needs a little cheer, the more fortunate your life has been.

You've been exposed to a lot of living yourself if you can look back and remember when

Before the women's liberation movement made the feminine sex so serious and self-conscious, girls rather liked being called chicks.

It was considered indelicate to speak of your glands in mixed company.

A jewelry store always kept in the window a clock that had been wound up and told you the right time.

A man outdoors without a hat on looked funny.

It was so unusual for anyone to drink anything except straight whisky that when anyone ordered a Martini he met a barful of sneers, and the bartender would tell his wife later when he got home, "I don't know what the world's coming to."

Men who chewed tobacco or smoked cigars looked down on younger men who smoked cigarettes as weaklings or worse.

No woman who valued her reputation would think of going out in public unless she was firmly girdled by the sanctuary of a tight-fitting corset.

The only thing most people knew about the planet Mars was that it had canals on it — and now that has turned out to be wrong.

Any political candidate who wore sideburns was regarded as a leftover relic from the 19th century.

Everyone felt the neighborhood would go down when the first guy in the block let it be known that he had put one of those new-fangled rumpus rooms in his basement.

A man could go through his whole life and never buy more than one pair of shoes or one necktie in a single day.

Children were just the opposite of what many are today. Then they had dirty ears and clean minds.

Those were the days — remember?

Newsletter Is Award Winner

"Prospectus," a community newsletter published by the Pitt County Schools Office of School Information Services and distributed by the Pitt County PTA Council, has received an award for "outstanding achievement" from "Nation's Schools," a national magazine for school administrators.

The local school system competed with school districts with enrollment of more than 4,000. They placed with such areas as Kansas City, Kan.; Buffalo, N.Y.; White Plains, N.Y.; and Palo Alto, Calif. Pitt County was the only winner listed in the state of North Carolina.

Funded by the Emergency School Assistance Program the community newsletter is published five times each school term. Copies of the publications are mailed to the parents of Pitt County school children. More than 8,000 copies are mailed bimonthly to Pitt County families.

More than 736 entries from 289 school districts and individual schools in 43 states competed in the various categories of the contest.

In general, the winning publications showed concern for readers' needs and were edited to give information that would be beneficial. Some of the publications included interviews with professional staff members concerning problems in various areas. Others gave readers news of happenings in education outside the borders of the school district that might relate to the local school scene.

Politics intrudes; or at least philosophy intrudes. A guest raises a teasing question: How can a political conservative, consistent with his philosophy of rugged independence, justify the maintenance of two large feeding stations just outside the house? Am I not sanctioning a welfare state, keeping sparrows on the dole, subsidizing the housing of wrens and bluebirds? Brooks Atkinson once raised the question in an essay he wrote for the Audubon magazine. It seems to me an honest exchange: I feed them, they entertain me. Good capitalist workers, my sparrows.

Tomorrow, or the next day, or the next day, we will talk again of Senators and cease-fires, of ugliness here and discord there. One hears a thousand speeches on the campaign trail. Not one of them, I regretfully submit, offers as much inspiration, or makes as much sense, as the voice of a junco in a vintage fall.

That air power remains a threat against North Vietnam. Moreover, it is assured that at least part of Hanoi's force now in the south will be ordered home to buttress Hanoi's claim of "victory" in the new agreement with the U.S.

Thus, Mr. Nixon and Hanoi now have given Thieu a brighter future than seemed possible. And an exit has been found out of the hideous war that should save more than Mr. Nixon's face.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning finds delays which are annoying unless you have learned the lesson of patience. Later you are able to handle specific items necessary to make your days efficient and your evenings pleasant. Study whatever you don't fully understand and gain in knowledge.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The morning starts off slowly since others around you are not quite up to par, but the afternoon then becomes very active. If there are frustrations, do not lose your temper. Keep cool.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do whatever you can to improve your appearance and become a more radiantly alive person. Make plans for entertainment with friends. Showing courtesy to others brings fine results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you get those tasks attended to at home which are necessary before starting daily routine. Avoid one who is grumpy. Don't let a neighbor try to take advantage of you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find a more efficient way to keep accounts, important papers and statements as well as how to pay your bills more promptly. Consistency is a virtue now. Be more dependable.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show that you are practical in the handling of money and other assets you possess. Making repairs on valuable property at this time is wise. Show others you have pride of ownership.

INSTANT MEMORIES

They'll pose you and please you and even say "cheese" for you, the sidewalk portraitists who sell instant memories in downtown Saigon. On balmy weekends their open air studio is thronged with customers—girls in flowing ao dais or Western miniskirts, GIs in starched khaki, toddlers in party dresses, young lovers and three generation families.

Even in rush hours each subject gets his choice of background—a fountain, a statue or a gray gingerbread city hall inherited from the French. And the artist manages to convey that this click of the shutter will be the crowning moment of his career.

On holidays, business holds out well past dusk, and strobe lights wink like giant butterflies. On weekdays the photographers' bread and butter is the occasional busload of South Korean troops, who pose rigid and unblinking.

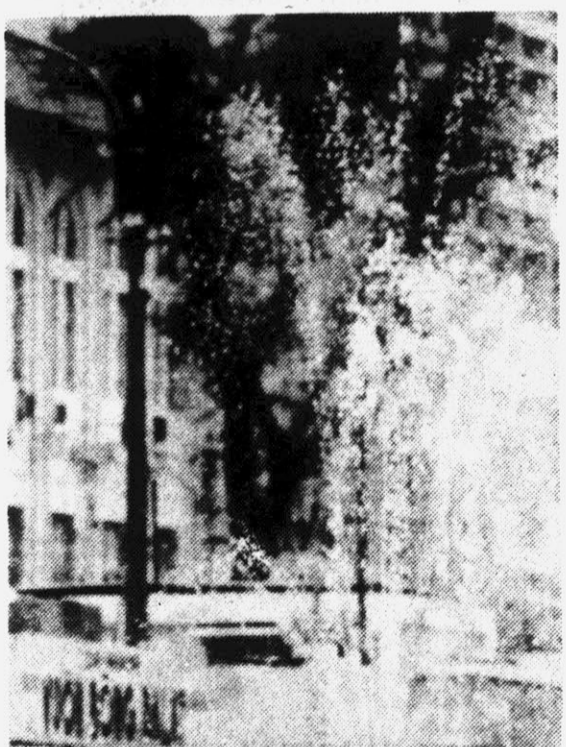

The color prints cost a dollar apiece, pretty steep for most Vietnamese. So, the photographers have devised cardboard lens covers that can be rotated to permit as many as four snaps in one.

A little flattery starts the routine; then come an animated posturing ritual, a click, a few seconds' wait, a swish of fixative and a short lecture on the quality of the work.

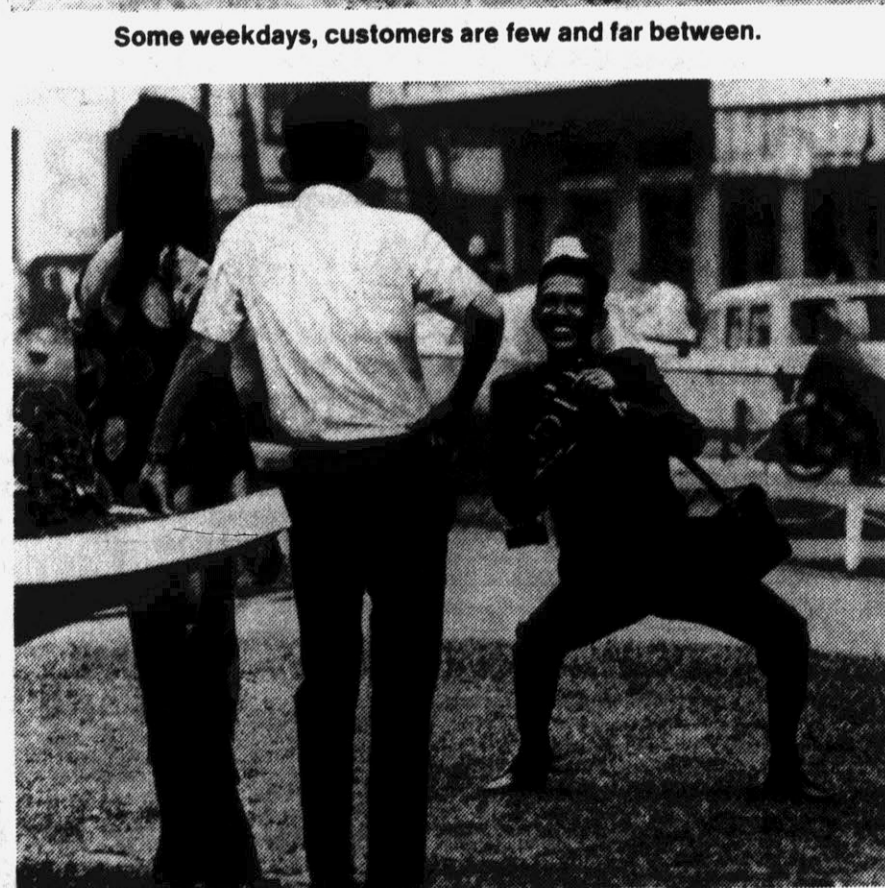

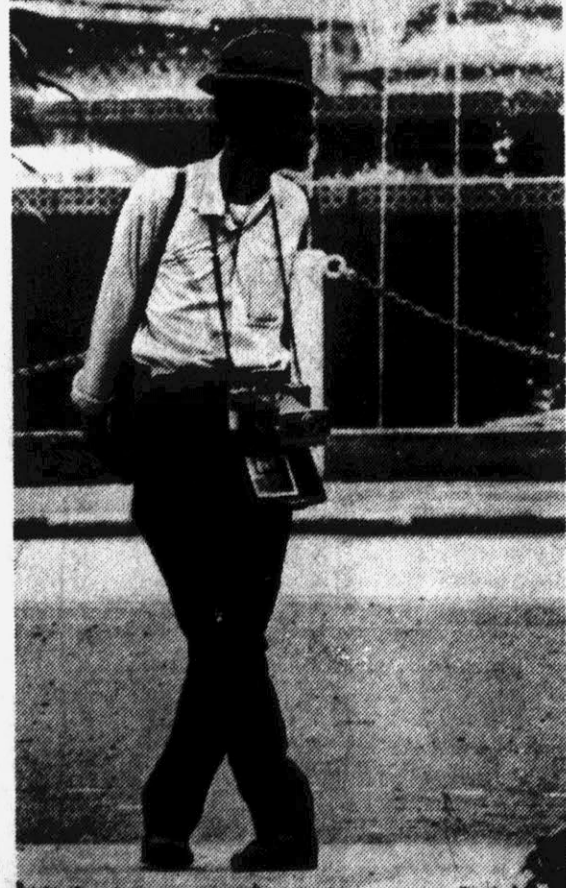

Then the artist is off to new challenges.

Photographs and story by Jim Bourdier.

The click of their cameras make instant artists of Saigon's sidewalk photographers.

Some weekdays, customers are few and far between.

Finding the perfect pose becomes an animated ritual.

After the picture has been taken, there may be a short lecture on the quality of the work.

No Roads Payoff, Says Bowles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, the Democratic candidate for governor of North Carolina, calls it the highway slush fund. It's the governor's discretionary fund for roads. And both Bowles and the Republican gubernatorial candidate, Jim Holshouser, think it should be abolished.

They said so Monday in speeches to the annual meeting of the North Carolina League of Municipalities in Greensboro.

Holshouser, in a luncheon address, went further and proposed overhauling the state Highway Department. He proposed staggering terms for highway commissioners, to assure continuity between administrations, and limiting the Board of Highway Commissioners to fewer than 15 members. He also proposed strengthening the office of the state secretary of transportation, and making career positions of several top highway posts. "It's time to put the days of the pork barrel behind us where the Highway Commission is concerned," he said.

Bowles spoke to the league Monday night. "I am not going to use roads for political payola," he said. "I know that good government is the best politics. In highway matters, good government means sticking to the needs, and not using roads to pay off campaign promises."

The American party candidate for governor, Arlis Pettyjohn, handed an elderly man a campaign leaflet at a Wilmington shopping center and said, "Government has become too big, too far removed from the people."

"Ain't it the truth," the man said.

To two other shoppers Pettyjohn said, "Hello ladies, I'm Arlis Pettyjohn, the American party candidate for governor. If you're disturbed about the tax situation...and the control government has over every phase of your lives, I'd sure appreciate it if you see fit to support us."

In the race for the U.S. Senate, Republican candidate Jesse Helms is hitting harder at his McGovern Galifianakis advertising theme. The Democratic candidate, Nick Galifianakis, prefers not to bring up the matter, but when asked he continues to stress the differences that exist between him and the Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. George McGovern. He tells questioners, "I have praised the President for many of the things he has done. I am bound by oath to support the presidential nominee of my party. I am at variance with Sen. McGovern on many issues."

Galifianakis' 68-year-old mother, Miss Sophie, is to campaign with him today and Wednesday.

State Rep. Jim Johnson, who was defeated by Helms for the Republican nomination, joined a group of Republicans for Galifianakis at a news conference in Greensboro. He said Helms is a political opportunist.

Helms said that McGovern's proposed defense cuts would cost North Carolina 41,000 jobs. He said a study by Republicans in Congress also showed three military bases in the state would face possible consolidation or closing under such cuts. He said they were the Marine Corps Air Facility at New River, the Cherry Point Marine Air Station, and Seymour Johnson Air Force Base near Goldsboro.

Leaf Collection Involves Requirements For Public

A warning of hazards and a restatement of city regulations regarding placement of leaves for pick-up have been stated by Mayo E. Allen, Director Public Works Department.

"Trash or leaves are not to be stored in the street and will not be picked up if they are stored there," Allen commented.

"This creates a hazard to the public and also stops up our storm sewer outlets. Furthermore, the sweepers are unable to sweep the streets weekly if there are items like this in the way."

The correct manner for assembling and placing leaves for city pick-up were enumerated by Allen. The applicable rules are:

- leaves are to be free of sticks, rocks and other similar debris (these items will damage the leaf vacuum machines.)
- leaves are to be piled on the median strip between the sidewalk and yard or where there is no sidewalk, at the edge of the yard.

Allen stated that the leaf collection pick-up service normally runs from September 25 through March 1. This year, he noted, due to an extended fall season, there was a delay in leaf shedding.

Greenville has two leaf vacuum machines, Allen pointed out, one assigned to the east side of Greenville, the other to the west side. The Public Works Department anticipates that each area of the city will receive one pickup on a scheduled basis.

Leaves raked to the curb after the pickup has taken place will not be picked up until the next day assigned for a particular area. "This," Allen said, "will ensure that all areas throughout the city receive the same routine service."

Anyone needing additional information can contact the Public Works Department, 758-4109.

Bellis Will Be Dinner Speaker

A meeting sponsored by the newly formed Tar River Bass Masters will be held Monday beginning at 7:00 p.m. at Parkers Barbeque.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Vincent R. Bellis, assistant professor, Department of Biology, East Carolina University. His subject will be a talk on the Chicod Creek channelization project.

All interested persons are invited to attend. Each guest will be responsible for providing for their own meal. Anyone planning to attend is asked to contact Howard Cashwell, telephone 756-1379.

Ballot Security Role For Lanier

Dixie E. Greene, Chairman of the Republican Party in Pitt County announced today that attorney James C. Lanier Jr. of Greenville, has been named to head up the election day ballot security effort for the GOP.

Lanier will be available all day on election day to render legal advice on questions of election law and to initiate legal action, if required, to insure an honest election.

People who have evidence of election irregularities should contact Lanier at 752-5505 Greenville.

This is part of a statewide election security program being conducted by the North Carolina Republican Party and its county organizations.

The Olympic Village for the Olympic Games was first instituted in Los Angeles in 1932.

One School Day And A Protest

CHARLOTTE (AP)—It took only one school day, and a protest walk, for bus service to be restored to an elementary school for children who live in an apartment complex.

The service to the Albemarle Road school in suburban Charlotte had been terminated Friday. Officials said the buses were overcrowded, and the pupils did not live the 1.5 miles, from the school needed to qualify for state transportation.

Sixteen parents and 23 children walked to the school from the Four Seasons apartment complex Monday. They presented the principal with a petition listing reasons, mostly concerned with safety, why bus service should be provided.

The director of transportation for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system, J.W. Harrison, said he had measured the distance the pupils live from school, and decided they qualify to be bused. And the system decided to restore them.

'Youth Day' Said Success

The youth for Bowles committee of Pitt County participated for the first time in the "Youth Day for Bowles" this past Saturday which consisted of setting-up tables and booths at strategic locations around the county and distributing literature, buttons and bumper stickers to the public.

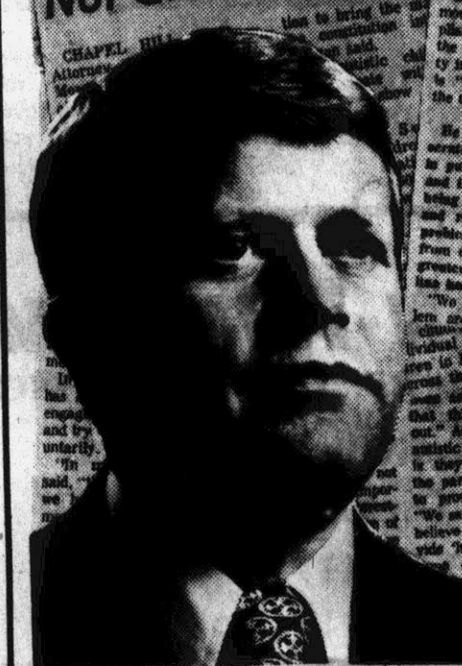

Young people including high school students, college students, house wives and businessmen worked in the distribution of "Bowles for Governor" literature.

Over 10,000 pieces of literature was distributed.

The Youth for Bowles Committee has strongly urged all youth to register and vote in this coming election. Approximately 25,000 new voters will be eligible for the first time on the national scale and a 20 percent increase in the number of voters are expected in Pitt County over the 1968 election.

Using Pipes Of Recycled Glass

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)— Sewer pipe made of crushed, recycled glass has been installed in a section of the sewer system of this Long Island community.

The pipe was produced at Brookhaven National Laboratory where scientists have developed a process to convert nonreturnable bottles into useful products by mixing the glass with a liquid plastic.

Each 40-inch length of 8-inch diameter pipe contains the equivalent of 118 beer bottles. Effects of in-the-ground use will be studied over the next several years.

Brookhaven officials said Monday the pipe is stronger and lighter than conventional clay or concrete pipe and is potentially competitive on an economic basis.

Reynolds' Photo In Powder Room Promptly Taken

MIAMI (AP)— A nude photograph of actor Burt Reynolds once graced the walls of the ladies' lounge of a socially elite club in Miami, but not for long.

"It probably turned someone on," said club membership director Pat Gibson. She reported Monday that an unknown powder room patron stole the framed photo, taken from the centerfold pages of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Miss Gibson said the photograph of Reynolds in the buff was put in place about four weeks ago at the Munity Club at Sailboat Bay in suburban Coconut Grove.

She said a second copy of the photo is now being encased in a bullet-proof glass and steel frame and will be firmly bolted to the wall in the ladies' lounge.

members were all believed to be Italian.

Authorities reported that three persons in the farmhouse escaped injury although chunks of the plane's fuselage set it afire.

The twin-engine Fokker was on a flight from Naples to Bari and Brindisi. Officials of the airline said the flight appeared normal until the plane approached Bari and radio contact was lost shortly before it was to land.

UNICEF Kids Seek Millions

By GENE KRAMER
 Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)— A few million of those shrill voices shouting "trick or treat" at the doorways of America tonight will belong to children unarmed with soap or other Halloween weapons.

They'll have only collection boxes for UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund. If refused donations, their strict instructions are to leave politely and commit no vandalism.

About 3 1/2 million youngsters may take part in the "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" and raise perhaps $3.4 million of the organization's $62.8 million estimated income for the year, Muriel Brady, director of U.S. youth activities, said.

This is about the same amount contributed last Halloween by Americans. Little or no increase is expected because, "A presidential election year is not really a good year for us," Mrs. Brady said. There is less television publicity and adult volunteers are less available for organizing UNICEF trick-or-treat squads, she explained.

Four Captured

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)— Military sources said today three American missionaries and a Canadian were captured by the Communist Pathet Lao on Saturday in an undefended town in southern Laos.

The sources said the troops walked into Kengkok, a town of 10,000, and captured it. Two other American missionaries and seven Filipinos escaped and an Air America helicopter picked them up.

The missionaries were members of a Protestant group called the Swiss Brethren.

Those captured were Samuel Matix of Washington State, Evelyn Anderson of Michigan, Beatrice Kossin of Fort Washkie, Wyo., and Lloyd Oappel of British Columbia.

Officials stress that parents or other adults supervise all UNICEF trick-or-treaters on their visits. Does this mean it's an activity mainly for wealthier, privileged neighborhoods?

"It is definitely not an upper income sort of thing," Mrs. Brady answered. "We have many, many groups from areas such as Harlem and Bedford Stuyvesant," she said naming New York minority districts.

It's easy to sell kids on the campaign, she said, because, "They want to relate to youngsters in other parts of the world including those living in bad conditions ...." They know much of UNICEF's money goes toward health, food and teaching programs in Africa, and they're for that, she added.

Willed Savings To Government

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)— The U.S. Government became $85,000 richer Monday, thanks to the terms of a will of a retired St. Louis truck driver who died last January.

William Meitz, 81, willed that his life savings be turned over to the government. He was a bachelor who lived alone for many years.

While working at the Beck and Corbett Trucking Co., Meitz bought many $100 savings bonds. Most of the money in his estate was turned over to federal officials in Washington Monday by Frank E. Fitzsimmons, international president of the Teamsters Union.

 returns.

Holshouser commented that enforcement of policies have been lax and said "it is time to develop a policy that provides rules of common sense, to use reason with basic firmness to let the people understand the rules must be followed."

On the matter of federal revenue sharing, Holshouser noted: "Hopefully we'll be able to prove the concept is sound, that it will show that state and local officials are closer to the people and can use tax funds more efficiently than the federal government."

"This is the second best solution," he added. "The first and best solution would be to cut taxes in Washington and let the local governments pick up the slack. Whether the revenue sharing plan is good or bad, it's with us. I feel it can be successful."

Holshouser touched on surplus North Carolina funds. "It seems likely the state will end up with better than 200 million in surplus money by the end of June, '73," he observed. "The legislature could have funded appropriations in '69 without the tax increases we had. I think everything that has been done could have been accomplished without the increases."

A final topic the Republican candidate expressed himself on was the possibility of including more women in official positions in the state. "We need more women in executive positions," he said, "we need to take advantage of this very strong source of talent."

Of the approximately 300 eastern North Carolina supporters on hand for the occasion, a very substantial number of the attendees were youthful supporters.

Shortly after 8:00 p.m., following an attempt to find time to finish a piece of fried chicken (he didn't manage to make it), Holshouser was presented to the audience by Frank Rouse of Kinston, State Republican Party chairman.

The Greenville Moose Lodge enrolled twelve new members Monday evening, and heard a resume of coming activities.

Immediate attention was given to final preparations for the Halloween carnival tonight for children of Moose families and their invited guests.

Sixteen booths have been erected in the lodge auditorium for games, and prizes, refreshments, contests and clown are planned for the annual event. Doors open at 7:00 p.m.

Dances are scheduled for November 11 and Nov. 25.

Chairman John Simonowich reminded a "Trash and Treasure" sale is scheduled for November 18. Proceeds from the project will go to the Christmas program for needy children and families.

New members enrolled Monday, were L. N. Branch, James C. Clark II, Robert E. Connelly, Robert R. Goodman, Jackie Hardee, Dewey E. Hardison, George P. James, Robert Lambert, Kenneth H. Letchworth, Tommy Riley and Charles R. Shiver. Dallas W. McPherson was class representative.

Charlotte Bank Robbed Monday

CHARLOTTE (AP)— A bandit fled with an undisclosed amount Monday in Charlotte's 20th bank robbery of the year and the 56th in North Carolina.

He had presented a note demanding money to a teller at the Sedgfield shopping center branch of the North Carolina National Bank.

Kepley Gains Defensive Honor

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)— East Carolina linebacker Danny Kepley, who his coaches say always plays a good game but who had an outstanding after-noon last Saturday against Furman, today was named Southern Conference defensive football player of the week.

Kepley, a 6-foot, 195-pound sophomore from Goldsboro, N. C., had nine individual tackles and three assists as East Carolina remained in front in the conference race with a 27-21 victory.

The physical education major, who starred on last year's freshman team and was named its most valuable player, also was responsible for breaking up two Furman passes at critical times.

Kepley had one interception and ran it into the end zone for an apparent touchdown, but the score was nullified by a penalty.

East Carolina Coach Sonny Randle said Kepley "could be nominated every time for the player of the week award, but his work on Saturday was especially outstanding."

The runner-up for the award was Ivy Stewart, Furman's 185-pound senior linebacker.

All-Southern flanker David Knight of William and Mary, who caught six key passes for 91 yards in the Indians' 17-16 upset over Virginia Tech, was named the offensive player of the week. The runner-up was Davidson quarterback Scotty Shipp.

Late Recruit Is Paying Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Slippery Rock was about the only college that tried to recruit Bob Divens when he was playing high school ball at Trafford, Pa. — and that on a partial basketball scholarship — before North Carolina State decided to take a chance on him in football.

The junior, a starting free safety, has turned out to be a sleeper.

"Greg Williams, who used to play for State, had seen me on film, and recommended me to coach (Al) Michaels," Divens says. Coach Michaels didn't call me and offer a scholarship until late June, after my senior year, but I was eager for the chance.

That last-minute phone calls has paid large dividends for the Wolfpack.

Divens has been a starter since the fourth game of last season. He led State in interceptions last year with four, and is the leader this year with three.

He is one of the primary reasons for State's defensive improvement in recent games.

"It's just been a matter of our defense maturing," he says.

Coach Lou Holtz says, who succeeded Michaels, Bob is as intense a competitor as there is in the game. He moved around well and seems to have an extra sense when he gets on the field.

State, 5-2-1, and North Carolina, 5-1, received votes for the nation's top 20 football team this week, but did not make the list.

State is preparing to play at Virginia next Saturday.

Virginia took the day off Monday after holding a short drill Sunday. Coach Dog Lawrence said the Wolfpack is one of the finest teams the Cavaliers will play this season, with a new found defense to back up the most explosive offense in the league.

North Carolina heard a brief scouting report on the Clemson Tigers, and then held a short workout. Clemson defeated Wake Forest 31-0 last week and North Carolina had an open date. Clemson will have the advantage of the home field against the Tar Heels.

Bulldog Named Week's Lineman

By DICK MARKOVICH

Associated Press Writer STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP)— Mississippi State University's John David Calhoun said he felt "happiness" here after being awarded The Associated Press Southeastern Lineman of the Week honors.

But the 6-foot-2, 191 pound junior from Forest, Miss., said he thought "everybody played real well" on the Bulldogs' defensive unit that throttled Houston's explosive offense Saturday in a 27-13 upset victory.

"We've been playing real good defense, getting better every week," he said after being informed of the honor. "We felt we could take away the things they would be trying to do against us. We did a pretty good job in the first half and were able to zero in during the second half."

Calhoun did a good job by himself in taking away the Houston offensive threat, intercepting two passes, one in his team's end zone, blocking an extra point attempt and making eight individual tackles while assisting on five others.

The Bulldog linebacker said he felt at the time his block of the conversion attempt, which left Houston with a 13-7 lead early in the final quarter, was a play which helped turn it around for his team.

"I noticed a big gap between the center and guard on the right side. And the guard looked like he was looking outside.

I decided that was the way I was going to go," he explained.

After that it was Mississippi State that did most of the going — scoring three times and having another drive halted on a fourth down play at the Cougars' eight yard line.

"Calhoun did a terrific job of taking the play pass and option away from Houston," State's defensive coordinator Elwood Kettler said. "He really had an outstanding game."

Chief competition for the honor or for the business management major came from a pair of offensive linemen — Alabama's Jim Krapp and Auburn's Mac Lorenzo. Krapp graded 89 per cent as the Tide backed enjoyed running room in Alabama's 49-11 victory over Southern Mississippi.

Lorenzo, who has consistently graded well for Auburn, opened the door as Terry Henley punched out 105 yards in the War Eagles' 27-14 conquest of once-beaten Florida State.

Other linemen cited for performances Saturday were John Hannah, Wayne Wheeler and Randy Hall of Alabama, Robert Bell and Jimmy Webb of Mississippi State, Larry Strickland of Florida State, Danny Sanpre and Benny Sivley of Auburn, Jamie Rotella and Robert Pulliam of Tennessee, David McKnight and Jim Cagle of Georgia, Jim McCollum of Kentucky, Stump Russell, Robert Williams and Bob Bailless of Mississippi and Mike Oven and Brad Bourne of Georgia Tech.

Dallas Holds Off Detroit Comeback

DALLAS (AP) — "Let 'em boo," said a satisfied Craig Morton. "When I'm throwing touchdowns and the Dallas Cowboys are winning, I can live without the cheers."

The longtime No. 1 whipping boy when pro football fortunes wilted here, Morton passed for three scores Monday night and set up a fourth in a 28-24 win over the Detroit Lions.

"Sure, I heard them boo when I was introduced," said the 29-year-old Morton. "It's a free country. I'm not telling them who to vote for ... and I'm not telling 'em who to applaud."

Roger Staubach, engineer of Dallas' world championship of 1971, is healed from his pre-season shoulder separation. He's ready to play, hungry for a comeback. But, Morton has the job and won't let go.

"As long as Roger and I are in competition, there will be Staubach fans and Morton fans," said the 6-foot-4 Californian. "It's a way of life for me in Dallas, but all I can do is perform."

Morton was a point machine, heaving a 38-yard touchdown bomb to Billy Parks, one of 33 yards to Calvin Hill and a 15-yarder to heretofore unknown running back Mike Montgomery.

A 27-yard screen from Morton to Montgomery set up a one-yard touchdown smash by the second-year man who came from San Diego in the deal for the controversial, untalkative, idle Duane Thomas.

Dallas, 5-2, pulled within a game of Washington's Redskins in the National Conference East while Detroit plunged back into a tie at 4-3 with Green Bay in the NFC Central.

Morton was 11 of 19 for 206 yards in a game where Coach Tom Landry's articulate plan was to control the ball and pass less than 20 times.

"Detroit is better on offense than defense," said Morton, "so we tried to play keepaway."

Joe Schmidt, the tough ex-linebacker who coaches the Lions, said Dallas' 14 quick points put Detroit in a hole from which it couldn't dig. "We're still tied for first in our division," he said. "I still think we can win it."

New Orleans' Hopes Are Dim

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — This Deep South city's hopes for a baseball franchise—or even a part of one—weren't given any boost by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who was here Monday.

Kuhn said expansion of major league baseball is nowhere on the horizon.

Kuhn, in town for a baseball general managers' meeting, told newsmen that he would like to see a team in the Louisiana Superdome when it is completed in 1974.

"However, realistically, I don't see a chance without expansion and I can't see any expansion at this time."

Asked about reports that Charles O. Finley, owner of the world champion Oakland Athletics, might be eyeing New Orleans as a possible new home, Kuhn said as he understands it, Finley is happy in Oakland.

Kuhn also indicated he takes a dim view of franchise transfers.

"My basic philosophy about transferring franchises from one city to another is that baseball would be best served by having as much stability as possible."

He also said he was against the split-franchise concept, something which New Orleans had hoped to achieve if it couldn't get its own.

Fumbles Bother Southern Cal, But Trojans Hold Onto 1st Place Slot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Southern California, which survived nine fumbles in beating Oregon 18-0 Saturday, retained the top spot in The Associated Press' weekly college football rankings.

The Trojans, 8-0, received 41 first-place votes and 980 of a possible 1,000 points from the nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama, 7-0 after thrashing Southern Mississippi 48-11, retained the second spot with 811 points and three first-place votes. Defending national champion Nebraska held onto the No. 3 spot with four first-place votes and 750 points after registering its fourth straight shutout, a 34-0 romp over Oklahoma State.

Michigan climbed one spot to fourth with 694 points after overpowering Minnesota 42-0. Big Ten rival Ohio State dropped from fourth to fifth with 629 points after edging Wisconsin 28-20.

Louisiana State, 6-0 and idle Saturday, stayed in sixth place, but Colorado, seventh last week, dropped all the way to 15th after being upended by Missouri 20-17.

Oklahoma, UCLA, Texas and Penn State round out the top ten, each moving up one notch from last week.

The second ten consists of Auburn, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Iowa State, Colorado, Missouri, Louisville, Texas Tech, Air Force and Arkansas.

Florida State, Southern Methodist and West Virginia dropped out of the top twenty as Missouri, Louisville and Texas Tech made their season debuts among the elite.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. USC (41)	8-0	980
2. Alabama (3)	7-0	811
3. Nebraska (4)	6-1	750
4. Michigan (1)	7-0	694
5. Ohio State (1)	6-0	629
6. LSU	6-0	558
7. Oklahoma	5-1	471
8. UCLA	7-1	379
9. Texas	5-1	301
10. Penn State	6-1	290
11. Auburn	6-1	238
12. Notre Dame	5-1	196

16. Missouri	4-3	26
17. Louisville	6-0	20
18. Texas Tech	6-1	19
19. Air Force	6-1	17
20. Arkansas	5-2	10

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Arizona State, Florida State, Georgia, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Purdue.

Walker Takes Scoring Lead; Crumpler Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Wide receiver Walt Walker of Davidson, who caught a pair of scoring passes in the Wildcats' 25-21 victory last Saturday over Bucknell, has moved into the lead in the Southern Conference football scoring race.

The two touchdowns boosted Walker's total for the season to 50 points on eight touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Walker has a slim two-point margin over last week's leader, tailback-kicker Terry Regan of William and Mary, and running back Carlester Crumpler of East Carolina.

The East Carolina star also scored twice last Saturday in the league-leading Pirates' 27-21 triumph over Furman and has eight touchdowns for his 48 points.

Regan kicked a field goal and two extra points in William and Mary's 17-16 upset over Virginia Tech in the Tobacco Festival game in Richmond, Va., and has accumulated his 48 points on one touchdown, 18 conversions and eight field goals.

Freshman kicking specialist Ricky McLester of East Carolina, who accounted for three points at Furman, is fourth with 40 points on 16 conversions and eight field goals.

Tied for fifth with six touchdowns and a two-point conversion each for 38 points are All-Southern flanker David Knight and tailback Doug Gerhart of William and Mary.

Although Knight was one of the offensive stars for the Indians in the victory over Tech, catching six passes for 91 yards, he failed to score. One of his receptions, however, did set up a three-yard run by Gerhart for the game's first touchdown.

There's another tie for seventh with 36 points each between running back Billy Meyers of Richmond and quarterback Bill Deery of William and Mary. Deery, like Knight, failed to score against Tech, while Meyers and Richmond had the weekend off.

Flanker Tim Dameron of East Carolina is ninth with five touchdowns and a two-point conversion for 32 points.

Suns Give Boot To Their Coach

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — For the second time in two years, general manager Jerry Colangelo has taken over the coaching reins of the Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association.

Colangelo, 32, announced late Monday that he had fired Bill van Breda Kolff as coach. The night before the Suns had lost 133-123 to Los Angeles, putting their record at 3-4.

"It was a matter of a breakdown in communications with the players, not any specific instance," said Colangelo. "It was worse than that if there'd been some specific grievance but it was just a loss of respect among the players."

Colangelo said he had discussed the matter with several players and intended to have "a talk with them today after practice."

He said van Breda Kolff was on a one-year contract and knew that he had to produce to stay.

It was the second NBA firing within three days. Detroit Pistons Coach Earl Lloyd was replaced by Ray Scott on Saturday.

Colangelo came to Phoenix with the NBA franchise in 1969 after spending two years as general manager of the Chicago Bulls. He got his first coaching experience the same year when he fired Johnny Kerr and piloted the Suns to a 24-20 mark during the last half of the season.

Female Trainer Almost Unique

By HELENE ANNE SPICER WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — "This is a coed training room. No nudity permitted," the sign reads at West Chester State College.

Linda Treadway is the reason.

Linda, 22, of Woodbury, N.J., is the first female trainer to work with men's teams at the school. She is one of the few female trainers in the country.

She is a graduate assistant at the school and hopes to take the exam next January given by the National Athletic Trainers Association.

She has worked with the school's football and soccer teams, as well as with women's field hockey. She dates one of the soccer players.

"The guys, they felt strange at the beginning like I did ... but now I'm just one of the crowd," she explained.

"I could see how they felt in the beginning," she said. "They didn't know if I was any good or not. As the word got around, each day the line got longer at my table. You could really see the difference from the beginning to the end. They would even ask for me."

Things they ask for include taping and first aid treatments. She also keeps an eye out for player safety. "If there's a hole in the field," she said, you tell somebody to fill it in."

Linda, with one brother who is seven years older, "kind of hated to go back to women after working with the football team."

The "variety" of injuries is one of the reasons, she said. An interest in things medical, plus love of athletics, added up to her decision to become a trainer.

The guys seem to like the arrangement as well, she said. "Maybe I tend to give them a little more tender loving care."

"I could see how they felt in the beginning," she said. "They didn't know if I was any good or not. As the word got around, each day the line got longer at

Tennis Club Honors Winners

The Greenville Tennis Club has elected its new officers for the coming year and awarded trophies to the winners in its recent series of tournaments. An awards party was held last Thursday at the Tar River Estates for members of the club. Elections were held at that time. Wes Hankins was elected as the new president of the club, while Ron Hignite will serve as vice-president. Diane Hankins was elected as secretary and Frances Cain as treasurer. Named to the board of directors for one year teams were Rae Daniel and Sis East. Other board members who continue in office are Susie Pittman, Tom Sayetta, Charlie Vincent and Wilkins Winn.

In the women's singles event, Nancy Powell won the championship flight, beating out Cynthia Averett. Becky Piner won A flight, with Lylene Murrell as runner-up. Barrie Rawl took flight, followed by Serena Mattney.

In the men's doubles, Susan Bussey and Ellen Warren took first place, followed by Sis East and Nancy Powell. Susie Pittman and Anne Sayetta took A flight, over Frances Cain and Kathy Dupree.

In the men's singles, Wes Hankins won first place over Wilkins Winn in the championship flight. Randy Randolph defeated Rhett Honeycutt in A flight, and Steve Rogers downed George Murrell in B flight.

In the men's doubles, Wes Hankins and Ron Hignite downed Bowdre and Wilkins Winn.

In the men's 35 and over singles, Wilkins Winn beat Jack Stoughton.

Ellen Warren and Bowdre Winn captured the championship flight of the mixed doubles over Frances Cain and Ron Hignite. Anne and Tom Sayetta beat Myra and John Hill in the A flight.

The club, first organized in 1970, has grown from 44 members to over 140 memberships (including many family memberships of two or more people). During this past summer its sponsored teams in three leagues, the Men's Roanoke League, the Ladies Eastern Carolina Tennis Association, and the Men's Eastern Carolina Tennis Association, which was runner-up to Durham for the championship.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the club can contact any of the officers.

Cougars Gain Without Play

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Coach LaDell Anderson credits his bench depth and rebounding for the Utah Stars' 117-106 victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

"We had a good effort from all of our people," Anderson said after Monday night's game here. "I was especially pleased with the way the substitutes came in and kept up the pace."

"If there was any particular turning point, I would have to say it was when we started to hit the boards better in the second half," Anderson added.

Utah led 34-30 in rebounding after the first half and finished with a 65-40 margin. Veteran center Zelmo Beaty had 21 rebounds and 27 points to lead the Stars in both categories.

Ron Boone came off the bench to spark the fourth-quarter surge which gave Utah the edge. He only scored 13 points, but they came at key times of the final period and thwarted Kentucky's attempts to rally.

Kentucky's Dan Issel and Louis Dampier kept the game close through the first three quarters, but couldn't hold the pace. Issel led all scorers with 33 points. Artis Gilmore had 20 and Dampier 19.

The game was the only one in the ABA on Monday.

The National Basketball Association had no scheduled games, but did see its second coaching change in three days. Bill van Breda Kolff was fired as coach of the Phoenix Suns with Jerry Colangelo, the team's general manager, taking over the coaching duties for the second time in two years. On Saturday, Earl Lloyd was replaced as coach of the Detroit Pistons by Ray Scott.

Kilmer Back At Quarterback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Kilmer has stepped into the Washington Redskins' job of No. 1 quarterback for the second straight year following injuries to Sonny Jurgensen.

"I feel bad for Sonny, honest to God," Kilmer said. "I didn't want the job this way."

Jurgensen, the National Football League's top career passer, was lost for the season when he underwent surgery Monday to repair a ruptured Achilles tendon heel cord.

Dr. P. M. Palumbo Jr., the team physician who performed the one-hour, 45-minute operation, said the injury was "fairly extensive. I had to sew the ends together."

The 38-year-old Jurgensen was injured in the first period of Sunday's 23-16 victory over the New York Giants. He had just thrown his first pass of the game, a 13-yard completion to Roy Jefferson, when he crumpled to the ground. "I just seemed to slip," Jurgensen said. "It felt as if somebody kicked me in the heel, yet no body was close to me."

A Washington doctor said he knew the extent of Jurgensen's injury as soon as it happened.

"He looked down and back like he thought somebody kicked him," the doctor said. "The same thing has happened to squash players, tennis players, soccer players and skiers. They all look back to see who did it when it happens."

Several orthopedic surgeons agreed that age was one cause of the injury.

"Our connective tissue gets brittle with age, no matter what kind of physical condition we're in," a Georgetown University doctor said. "Jurgensen's injury sounds like a classic example of an aging athlete whose legs were suffering from battle fatigue."

Dr. Palumbo said the quarterback's left foot will be in a cast for 10 to 12 weeks, followed by rehabilitation for two or three months.

"We are optimistic about his coming back next year," he said.

A Smile Shows Japanese Umpire He Didn't Make A Good Decision

BRANDENTON, Fla. (AP) — From the looks of their crisp uniforms, caps and spikes, Japan's star baseball players look a lot like American major leaguers.

Until they balk at an umpire's decision with a smile instead of a growl.

"That's the way they show the ump they think he made a bad call," said former American big leaguer Bob Aspromonte, who is coaching a Japanese team competing in U.S. winter league play.

"They don't usually squawk and yell and carry on. They just turn around and give him a big smile. The ump gets the message."

Japan's major league baseball team, Hiroshima Toyo Carp, is playing in the Florida Instructional League this fall on the Sunshine State's Gulf Coast. They are 2-3 in a 22-game schedule that runs through mid-November.

The Japanese blue-and-orange trimmed uniforms are very similar to the New York Mets.

Their gloves are made in the United States. They're bigger than Japanese-made gloves and infielders prefer them.

Ironically, in America, aspiring teen-aged big leaguers are out on the practice fields after school with mitts made in Japan.

In Japanese-style baseball, a sprained ankle isn't taped to temporarily relieve pain or dunked in a whirlpool bath.

Instead, the trainer treats injuries with acupuncture—the ancient oriental art of stabbing slender silver needles into nerve centers to relax and mend muscles.

The 44-member Central League team is the first from Japan to participate in league play in Florida. They've played previously in Arizona.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Flett, the leading scorer for the Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League, will be out of action for at least 10 days with an injured left knee, a team spokesman said Monday.

Flett, with seven goals in 10 games, was injured Sunday night in the Flyers' 5-2 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Dr. John Wolf examined the knee and put it in a cast.

"After ten days we'll see how it looks," he said. "We're hoping it's just a bad sprain."

BUFFALO (AP) — The owner of the Buffalo Bills has offered Erie County $1.5 million for the right to name the county's new football park "Buffalo Bills Stadium."

Ralph Wilson, owner of the National Football League team, made the offer Monday at a news conference. His proposal matched that of the Rich Products Corp., which wants the rights to name the park "Rich Stadium" to advertise its "Coffee Rich" product.

Erie County, which is building the $23.5 million, 80,000-seat stadium in suburban Orchard Park, signed a long-term lease renting the stadium to the Bills, but retained the right to pick a name.

Greenville Swimmers Hold Intra-Squad Meet

Approximately 100 age-group swimmers gathers at Minges Coliseum on Saturday afternoon as the Greenville Swim Club opened its winter season with an intra-squad meet.

Times were good and there was keen competition as the "Red Devils," coached by Bob St. Clair, vied against the "Purple Avengers," coached by Joe Norton. The "Red Devils" were the victors with a final score of 149-137.

The Greenville Swim Club is now holding work-outs three days a week. Their next meet is scheduled for early December.

Hughes, Grimes Gather Honors

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Clemson fullback Wade Hughes, who had the best day of his career in leading the Tigers to a 31-0 football victory over Wake Forest, and Duke Center Dale Grimes, a standout in the Blue Devils' 17-16 triumph over Navy, have been chosen as the Offensive Players of the Week in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The selections, by a committee of the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association, marks the second time in two seasons that Grimes has been picked. It is the first time for Hughes.

Hughes, who came to Clemson last season after a highly successful career at Ferrum, (Va.) Junior College, gained 151 yards on 22 carries against Wake Forest. He had 63 yards on 13 carries in the first half and added 88 on nine rushes in the third period. He did not see action in the final quarter.

The 195-pound senior from Mechanicsville, Va., had the best run in the game in the third quarter when he broke away on a draw play and raced 56 yards for his second touchdown. He had scored earlier in the quarter on a two-yard smash.

Grimes, a senior from Aliquippa, Pa., who has started 30 consecutive games for the Blue Devils, had what the Duke coaching staff described as "one of his finest days ever blocking."

He was credited with the key block on fullback Steve Jones' touchdown in the second quarter, and also led the blocking on several other key running plays.

Coach Mike McGee said, "Dale has been our most consistent offensive lineman all season. He has led the blocking in almost every game."

Earlier, Stauber Wilson, North Carolina State line-backer, and Ken Schroy, Maryland cornerback, were chosen ACC Defensive Players of the Week.

Will Not Play

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Guard Dennis Layton of the Phoenix Suns will not play this weekend, team physician Dr. Paul Steingard said Monday. Layton strained ligaments in his right knee in Sunday's National Basketball Association game with Los Angeles.

Steingard said Layton may return to action when the Suns meet Cleveland in Phoenix on Nov. 8.

Sadat Dismisses War Minister

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptian war minister Lt. Gen. Mohammed Ahmed Sadek has been placed under house arrest after being dismissed from his post by President Anwar Sadat, Mideast newspapers report.

The Israeli press interpreted the dismissal by Sadat of Sadek and naval commander Gen. Mahmoud Fahmy as part of an internal struggle between pro- and anti-Russian elements in Egypt.

The Beirut newspaper Al Anwar said on Sunday the dismissals were designed to purge the Egyptian military of anti-Soviet officers.

Face Unrest In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Armored cars rumbled into La Paz early today and took up strategic positions in anticipation of more violent protests against the military government's economic policies.

The Army ordered several units out of their barracks to assist police and security agencies following street clashes Monday in which an 18-year-old girl was killed and about 20 people were wounded.

The workers who led Monday's protests called a work stoppage today and planned a series of demonstrations despite a government warning against disorders. They are protesting a 67 per cent devaluation of the peso announced Friday and the new increase in the minimum wage which holds it to the pre-devaluation level.

Ten armored cars moved into positions around Murillo Square in downtown La Paz for the first time since Aug. 21, 1971, when their presence contributed to the downfall of President Juan Torres' leftist regime. He was succeeded by the current chief of state, Col. Hugo Banzer.

During the early morning hours, sporadic shooting could be heard in working class districts.

Opening lead: Seven of ♠
The shrewd investment of a trick came back with interest in today's hand and enabled South, the declarer at four spades to salvage a seemingly lost cause.

The bidding was routine and West opened the seven of hearts against the final contract. East played the ace and continued the suit. Declarer played the jack. West covered with the king and dummy ruffed. A club was led to the ace and South returned the four of hearts which he trumped with North's eight of spades.

East overruffed with the nine and chose to exit with the three of spades. West followed with the seven and North was in with the queen. The queen of clubs was led, East covered with the king and declarer ruffed.

Altho South was in position to pick up the remaining trump with the ace-king of spades, the loss of a diamond trick as well as a heart appeared inescapable. Presently, it occurred to him, that by deliberately surrendering a trump trick to East, he might reap a substantial benefit provided that the latter held the king of diamonds. This was the position that had developed with all hands reduced to seven cards:

South cashed the ace of spades and then, deliberately surrendering a trick that he did not have to lose, declarer exited with the six of spades to put East on lead with the jack as North discarded two diamonds. A club return was an obvious give up play since dummy had three tricks in that suit, so East exited with a diamond. South played the deuce from his hand and won the trick with dummy's ten. A heart was discarded on the jack of clubs and declarer's hand was high.

Observe that South regained his lost trick immediately because East was end-played and the latter's diamond return created an entry to dummy that provided declarer with the discard required to avert defeat.

East could have averted the fatal end position by saving the three of spades. Observe that after overruffing dummy's eight of spades with the nine, if he exits with the jack, he is in position to subsequently drop the ten under declarer's ace and then underplay South's six with the three. Left in his own hand, declarer must eventually surrender a heart and a diamond.

suppose they don't know any better."

Taste vs. Flavor

There are only 4 basic taste qualities, namely, sweet, salt, sour and bitter!

But you readers know that steak and chicken offer far more than a salty taste!

Flavor involves many other sensory qualities.

Odor or aroma is one of these. Did you know that if your nostrils are plugged with cotton, and you are meanwhile blind-folded, that you can't tell the difference between powdered cinnamon versus flour?

Or between a slice of a sweet onion vs. a slice of apple?

So it is our sense of smell that adds much to what we erroneously describe as "taste."

But "touch" also is involved, for the reason you can tell the difference between cream vs. 2 per cent milk, is its "feel" on the highly sensitive tongue.

We also distinguish between crackers vs. bread mainly by this tactile difference.

Temperature also is involved in flavor, for we then say warm melted ice cream doesn't taste right.

It isn't due to those 4 basic qualities, sweet, sour, salt or bitter but to the temperature!

Even the pain sensation is likewise involved in what we term the flavor of foods.

For some people don't relish hamburger or steak without hot sauce, horse radish or mustard.

And whiskey addicts relish the "bite" of the alcohol on their tongue and throat.

Thus, what we popularly refer

Expansion At Fisk Univ.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A six-year $6 million-dollar expansion program partially financed by Ford Foundation grants was announced Monday by Fisk University.

Ford announced a $700,000 "startup" grant for Fisk Monday saying that the university would be eligible for as much as $5 million in further grants during the next five years.

Dr. James Lawson, Fisk president, said the university is expecting about $4 million from Ford with the remaining funds coming from the Fisk Development Campaign.

Lawson outlined an 11-point plan with emphasis on programs developed since Fisk was selected by Ford for the grants earlier this year.

Included in the programs are $3 million for existing education and general operations and student financial aid; $1.8 million to endow six chairs in fields to be chosen later; and $1.2 million toward a proposed $8 million science center.

Lawson said the university plans to replace the Ford aid with funds from other sources by 1978 so that the programs can become permanent parts of Fisk.

The Ford grant is one of 25 made to traditionally black colleges as part of a $100 million program to increase aid to minorities in higher education.

Pactolus School Added To Its Teaching Staff

A report on the first two months of this school year has been released to the parents and community of Pactolus Elementary School.

According to Principal Bryant Tripp, the school received a United States flag from Congressman Walter B. Jones. The flag is certified to have flown over the U.S. Capitol and was presented to Pactolus Elementary as the result of a request by Mrs. Billy Jones to Congressman Jones.

Tripp also reports that the school started the year with a heavy class load but this problem was eased somewhat by the addition of a new teacher.

Mrs. Ernestine Gardner, a native of Kinston, is the newest member of the Pactolus teaching staff. A graduate of Frank High School in LaGrange and a major in elementary education at St. Augustine's College, Mrs. Gardner now lives in Grifton. She brings with her four years of teaching experience in the Rockingham and Washington, D.C. schools.

Almost 60 per cent of Mississippi is classified as forest land.

memo to advertisers

PAY YOUR MONEY AND TAKE YOUR CHANCES

That's pretty much the way it is with some advertising media—not even the proprietor really knows for sure what he is selling.

Most times unknown, unmeasured, unaudited, and unnamed circulation audiences are wisely unwanted—the odds just don't favor the advertiser's dollar.

We believe you should have the facts before you buy. That's why we have the Audit Bureau of Circulations verify our circulation regularly—find and report the actual figures according to their standards and based upon their auditors' inspections.

Free TV Time For All 9 Candidates

CHAPEL HILL — For the first and only time this election year, voters will be able to hear the platforms of all the candidates for President of the United States.

The University of North Carolina Television Network will devote an entire broadcast evening on Thursday, November 2 to the presentation of programs prepared by seven of the eight qualified Presidential candidates. The seven, thirty-minute programs will be broadcast consecutively, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The broadcasts are being presented in conjunction with the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS).

The line-up of candidates will be: 7:30 p.m., Louis Fischer, Socialist Labor Party; 8:00 p.m., Gus Hall, Communist Party; 8:30 p.m., George McGovern, Democrat; 9:00 p.m., E. Harold Munn, Prohibitionist; 9:30 p.m., Richard Nixon, Republican;

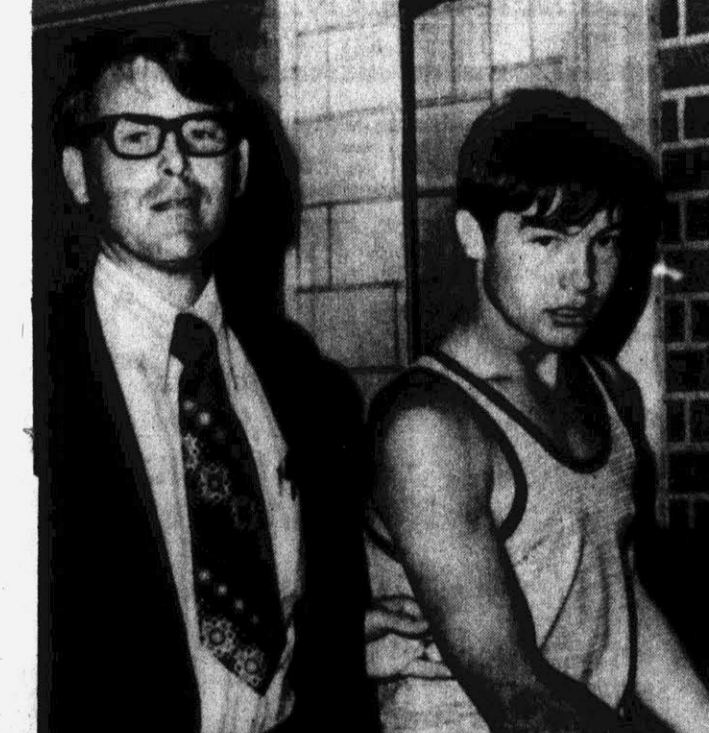

10:00 p.m. John Schmitz, American; 10:30 p.m., Benjamin Spock, People's Party.

It is presumed that each of the candidates will personally appear on his broadcast.

All of these candidates are qualified to appear on the ballot in more than one state. The eight candidate, Linda Jenness of the Socialist Worker's Party, has not yet agreed to participate.

The broadcasts will be seen over the entire UNC-TV Network: Channel 4, Chapel Hill; Channel 2, Columbia-Elizabeth City; Channel 17, Linville; Channel 33, Asheville; Channel 58, Concord-Charlotte; Channel 39, Wilmington; and Channel 25, Greenville.

Successor To DDT Is Also Known To Be A Killer

SPRAYING A NORTH CAROLINA FIELD — A private cropdusting plane sprays a farmer's crop. Many farmers use this method to apply insecticides as well as fertilizers. (AP Wirephoto)

By WOODY DOSTER
Associated Press Writer
Health and agricultural officials say that when a ban on DDT takes effect Jan. 1, its replacement will be an insecticide that has already killed 11 persons in our Southeastern states.

DDT, used for years as an insecticide on countless crops, was banned by the Environmental Protection Agency because it left a residue in the environment. However, the residues have not proved fatal to humans.

DDT's replacement, parathion and other organic phosphates, can kill upon mere contact with the skin.

Health departments records in the four states — North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida — also show that thousands of other persons have become ill from parathion poisoning.

DDT has no such record, but scientists fear that the chemical's residue, if allowed to build unchecked, could cause harm to humans in the future.

Organic phosphates are used in everything from tobacco sprays to dips for ridding animals of ticks and fleas. EPA approves the pesticides because they have the virtue of rapid chemical breakdown. DDT was banned because it is not easily broken down by the normal chemical activity of living things. However, there are no reported cases of human death from DDT poisoning.

The choice the EPA faced was allowing the use of a lethal poison that disappears rapidly, the organic phosphates, and one which is nontoxic to humans but which lingers on in the environment, DDT. Trapped, as one agricultural official put it, "between the devil and the deep blue sea," EPA approved the organic phosphates and banned DDT.

The principal organic phosphate is parathion. It is also the most deadly, 300 times more toxic to humans than DDT.

Dr. Jay Arena, director of Duke University's Poison Control Center, said only one-tenth of one gram of parathion will cause death in an adult male. Two-and-one-half grams of DDT would be necessary to cause death in the same man.

And unlike DDT, Arena added, parathion can be absorbed through the skin. It was parathion poisoning that killed a Pink Hill, N.C., youth in a widely reported 1970 case. Seven-year-old Daniel Boyette was playing barefoot in his yard when he unknowingly stepped where his father had been mixing parathion to spray for tobacco worms.

Boyette suffered vomiting, diarrhea and abdominal pain after exposure to the parathion. That night while sleeping, his heart rate slowed, he suffered convulsions and lapsed into a coma. Death followed from paralysis of the respiratory center.

Bill Williams, the pesticide coordinator of the North Carolina Health Department, said organic phosphates are about the only pesticide now used on tobacco in the Carolinas. And he predicted they will be the main DDT substitutes for cotton, fruit crops such as apples and peaches, and truck crops such as cabbage and tomatoes. Ron Conley, the assistant director of feeds, fertilizer, pesticide and grains for the Georgia Agriculture Department, said parathion is the "no. 1" pesticide used on his state's cotton crop. Florida's Department of Agriculture information officer, Pete Packett, says parathion is "widely used" on the citrus crop.

Macabre evidence of parathion's lethality is the number of murders and suicides in which the poison is involved. In one Florida case, seven children died of parathion poisoning, allegedly fed to them in hog jowls and black eyed peas by the father of some of the children.

North Carolina's Pesticide Act of 1971 includes all of the control features most health officials in the Southeast feel are practicable. The law classified a number of pesticides, including the organic phosphates, as "restricted use pesticides," and placed them under the provisions of the pesticide law. The act also required the licensing of pesticide dealers and professional pesticide applicators.

However, at least one health official feels that the measure is flawed. "The law is never going to be as good as it could be because individual farmers are exempt from the licensing provision," said Williams. He explained that "by far, the maajority" of pesticide is applied by individual farmers who are exempt from the act.

Dr. Jerry Weekman, the extension entomologist and pest coordinator for N.C. State University, concedes this point but states the problem in difference terms.

"It's a question of what you're willing to pay," he said. "It would cost $5 million a year to implement a user license law for North Carolina's 153,000 farmers. You have to educate them, examine them and police them. We feel that the problem of pesticide abuse is not so acute that we need to spend this much money."

Dr. Frank Guthrie, an entomologist at N.C. State University, added another economic consideration. "The ban on DDT will definitely raise farmer's production costs," he said. "Parathion is two to three times more expensive than DDT per unit, and it must be reapplied more frequently."

All of the officials favored rescinding the ban on DDT, at least partially. "I do not agree with the EPA's ban and I hope the court's will reverse it," said Dr. Samuel Sandifer.

Pointed Out Five Persons Killed In As Potential Variety Store Explosion Sky Pirates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A father and son charged with two murders in a bank-robbery attempt were pointed out to U.S. airlines last Friday as potential hijackers, officials say.

Two days later, they were charged with hijacking a jetliner to Cuba.

Meanwhile, the Federal Aviation Administration said it is still investigating circumstances surrounding the Sunday hijacking of an Eastern Airlines jet with 40 persons aboard from Houston to Cuba.

Charles Andrew Tuller, 48, and a son, Bryce Matthew Tuller, 19, were charged in warrants with air piracy in the hijacking. The FBI said the two killed an airlines ticket agent and wounded a mechanic in their bid for freedom.

The two were charged with murder in an abortive bank robbery last Wednesday in Arlington, Va., in which a policeman and a bank manager were killed.

FAA spokesman Dennis Feldman said the agency sent an alert to airlines, telling them the pair might try to commandeer an airliner, but prescribing no special action for the carriers to follow.

Eastern Airlines officials confirmed they received the FAA alert on Friday and said all Eastern branches were notified.

Federal authorities said a search of the Tullers' apartment in Alexandria, Va., last week produced "more than one parachute," a number of weapons and at least one two-way radio.

LAKE CITY, Minn. (AP) — An explosion which ripped through a variety store about the time several children were coming in and out to collect prizes for a Halloween coloring contest has left at least five persons dead and nine injured.

More than 100 police, firemen and volunteers continued the search through a chilly rain in the early morning hours today for other possible victims of Monday's blast. Authorities held little hope of finding any more survivors and were unsure if other persons were still trapped.

There were 10 to 15 persons in the store when the explosion occurred shortly before the 5 p.m. closing time. "I happened to be looking across the street when I saw a flash of light, the roof coming down and dust blowing out," said Jerry Nihart, a clerk at a store across the street. "Then the noise came."

The dead, all of the Lake City area, were identified as Mrs. Ray Kehren; her son, Timothy, 10, who died in a Rochester hospital; Kristine McElmury, about 4; and two clerks at the store, Marjorie Freiheit, about 40, and Elaine Dammann, about 32.

Linda Farrington, who operated the two-story concrete block-brick Ben Franklin store with her widowed mother, Mrs. M.G. Farrington, said both were standing near an entrance when the blast occurred.

"There was the boom," she said. "That's about it. That's all I want to say ... all I can say now."

Howard Holmgren, the Lake

City representative for the Northern States Power Co., said the explosion was triggered when a bulldozer working on a nearby power company construction project ruptured the power firm's gas main.

Volunteers and fire fighting units from surrounding communities converged on the little industrial town which sits along the Mississippi River.

Acrid smoke, persistent rain and standing water hampered their efforts. The bodies of the two sales clerks were pulled out of the wreckage about three hours after the explosion.

Almost Had A Rabbit Dinner

PRETTY PRAIRIE, Kan. (AP) — Students at Pretty Prairie High School almost got an unscheduled rabbit dinner Monday.

Cooks reporting for duty Monday morning discovered that someone had broken into the school over the weekend and left three live rabbits imprisoned in two cafeteria ovens. The rabbits apparently were not harmed, but when the cooks later heated up the ovens, the smell of burning rabbit hair flooded out.

"We've got a couple of disgruntled cooks," said Principal Douglas Mitchell. "I think if we catch the persons who pulled the trick, we'll just turn them over to the cooks."

The blue spruce is Utah's state tree.

A comparison of Congressman Nick Galifianakis and his opponent for the United States Senate.

	Nick Galifianakis	Jesse Helms
PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND:	Attorney at Law; Assistant Professor of Business Law, Duke University.	Journalist
ELECTIVE OFFICES HELD:	N.C. State Legislature, six years; U.S. Congress, Fourth and Fifth Congressional Districts, six years. Elected to House Committee on Appropriations after two terms in Congress.	Raleigh City Council, four years.
POSITIONS ON THE ISSUES
REA:	Has supported REA's rural electrification programs to provide much-needed electric power and improve the standard of living for thousands of rural families in North Carolina.	Has called REA "socialized electricity." Supports measures which would greatly increase the cost of power or make it unavailable to many rural families in North Carolina.
TOBACCO:	Has consistently supported North Carolina's tobacco industry including price supports. Has sponsored legislation on tobacco research which is supported by Senators Jordan and Ervin.	Strongly opposes price supports for all North Carolina farm products including those for tobacco.
TEXTILES:	Supported one-price cotton legislation which has saved a major part of North Carolina's textile industry. Has consistently supported Congressional action to restrict foreign textile imports.	Strongly opposes price supports for all North Carolina farm products including those for cotton.
SOCIAL SECURITY AND HEALTH CARE:	Has worked to increase social security benefits for older citizens. Sponsored a bill to raise to $3,000 the amount retired persons can earn at outside income without losing social security benefits. Was successful in obtaining passage of his bill to provide doctors and medical personnel to rural areas. Supports Medicare.	Has called social security benefits "nothing more than doles and handouts." Opposes Medicare because he believes it is "socialized medicine."
DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS:	Has supported the president's efforts to promote peace through diplomatic relations with Mainland China.	Called President Nixon's China visit "appeasement" of the communists.

The record clearly shows that through his background and in his positions on the vital issues affecting North Carolina, NICK GALIFIANAKIS is best qualified to provide realistic, moderate leadership for all people.

Nick Galifianakis has been involved in positive action to solve the problems of our state and nation, while his opponent has offered only negative words and criticism.

In choosing leadership for the United States Senate, the people of North Carolina know that ACTION SPEAKS LOUDER THAN WORDS.
