OK Awarding Bids For Newtown Construction

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
A resolution approving the awarding of low construction bids for the N.C. 22-6 Newtown Project was authorized Monday night by Housing Authority commissioners.

Commissioners approved four base bids, submitted Nov. 1, that collectively add up to a total project construction cost of $1,210,093, a figure that is roughly $75,000 over the budget figured on by the Authority.

Architect Cameron Dudley of Dudley & Shoe reported that the over-budget figure is a result of a miscalculation on grading and landscaping costs and hopefully additional funds from HUD will be received to bring the total budget closer to the contract figure.

Low bid for the general project construction was submitted Nov. 1 by Urban Systems Development Corp., Arlington, Va. The bid of $931,900 also carried a $22,600 deductive alternates figure.

The approved low bid for electrical construction was offered by Electricon Inc. of Kinston at $91,400 and plumbing construction low bid was submitted by T. E. Turner Plumbing Co. of Tarboro for $159,993. Electricon also had the low offer for the heating and ventilation contract, $49,400.

Total construction cost based on the low bids amounted to $1,232,693 but subtraction of the deductive alternates figure supplied the $1,210,093 total cost. Five bids were submitted for each contract, with the exception of the heating and ventilation phase where four were offered.

According to Mrs. Sallye C. Streeter, director of tenant affairs, all 453 units operated by the Authority were occupied as of the end of October.

She reported that the 65 units in N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook) were rented and rent there averaged $36.39. In N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park), all 160 units were occupied and residents paid an average of $37.37 in rent.

Mrs. Streeter said that the 188 units in N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood) were rented and average rent for October was $39.24. Rent averaged $35.03 in N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood) and all 40 units were occupied, she reported.

Commissioners also authorized the attendance of three staff members at an accounting workshop scheduled for Nov. 13 in Goldsboro.

Big Airlift

SAIGON (AP) — At least 30 U.S. military cargo planes and chartered commercial air freighters poured into Saigon today, bringing more than 700 tons of military equipment to beat an expected cease-fire.

At least as many more aircraft were expected Wednesday. It appeared to be the biggest airlift of the Indochina war, with the United States using commercial planes as well as military C141 Starlifters and C5 Galaxy transports. The C141s each carry about 20 tons of equipment, the C5s 70 tons.

Sources said the latest deliveries included munitions, maintenance equipment, crated ammunition and propeller blades for helicopters.

Record Voter Turnout Anticipated

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

An anticipated record total of more than 80 million Americans decide today whether to give President Nixon "four more years" or spring the political upset of the century by turning over the White House to Democrat George McGovern.

At the same time, they were deciding whether to maintain the 18-year Democratic grip on House and Senate control and a 3-2 Democratic margin in governorships. Republicans hoped for a Nixon landslide that would produce the net gain of five in the Senate and 41 in the House needed for GOP congressional control.

With the exception of a few early-reporting towns, polls were scheduled to open generally at 7 a.m. EST in the East with some staying open in Alaska and Hawaii until as late as 2 a.m. EST Wednesday. The Weather Bureau forecast showers in many parts of the country.

The first votes counted went to Nixon. The little New Hampshire community of Dixville Notch, traditionally one of the earliest-voting in the nation, cast 16 votes for Nixon and 3 for McGovern. The precinct went 8 to 4 for Hubert H. Humphrey over Nixon four years ago.

Both presidential contenders planned early appearances at the polls today, Nixon at Concordia Elementary School just two blocks from his San Clemente, Calif., home, and McGovern in the education building of the Congregationalist church in his home town of Mitchell, S.D. Nixon then flies back to Washington to await results while McGovern will go to Sioux Falls, S.D.

Despite polls showing him headed for a massive defeat, a hoarse and weary McGovern campaigned to the wire Monday. He insisted "we are going to prevail" and denounced alleged "deceit and deception on Vietnam" by Nixon as he spanned the continent from Philadelphia to Long Beach, Calif., before going to Sioux Falls.

Nixon, meanwhile, predicted

"we will soon reach an agreement which will end the war in Vietnam." He made the statement in a 13-paragraph election-eve television speech from the Western White House at the end of the least active election effort by any major-party presidential candidate since Franklin D. Roosevelt in the wartime campaign of 1944.

The vice-presidential candidates were out appealing for support in the final hours. Democrat Sargent Shriver campaigned from Pittsburgh to Beaumont, Tex., including a visit with former President Lyndon B. Johnson at his Texas ranch. Vice President Spiro T.

Agnew made appearances in Philadelphia and Richmond, Va.

An estimated 108 million Americans were registered to vote in the first presidential election open to 18-year-olds. Experts predicted the vote might surpass by as much as 10 million the 73 million who voted in 1968.

Polling Places Busy

A random sampling of several voting precincts in Greenville and out in the county this morning indicated a fairly heavy turnout for the first four or five hours of poll operations.

A spokesman at the Gardner Fire Station, precinct No. 9 in Greenville, said that voters were lined up at 6:30 this morning when the polls opened and a steady flow of voters has kept poll holders busy. By 11 a.m. some 870 out of a registration of 2,400 had voted at the fire station.

At Elm Street Gym, Greenville precinct No. 7, another good turnout was reported with 800 voting by around 11 this morning. Poll holders indicated a steady stream of voters all morning.

The poll holder at the West End Fire Station, precinct No. 4, said that the turnout had been better than usual this morning as some 320 had voted. He predicted at least 1,000 would cast their ballots by the 7:30 closing time.

Chicod 2 precinct reported 148 out of the approximately 450 registered voted today by 11 a.m. and a spokesman at the Ayden poll said that 539 of some 2,700 had voted. The spokesman said also that the overall turnout had been "pretty steady" most of the morning.

One of the small precincts in Grimesland reported a total of 109 voters by around 11:15 today and noted that the overall registration numbers around 700.

Voters in Belvoir had numbered 145 by 11:15 this morning, a spokesman said.

Most precincts reported that the turnout had been steady throughout the morning and looked forward to heavy vote totals by the end of the voting day. Total voter registration in the county this year is some 33,508.

SECURITY MEASURES

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System stepped up security measures today as plans proceeded for full election night coverage despite a strike by 1,200 cameramen, technicians and engineers.

Tar Heels Flocking To Polls Today

RALEIGH (AP) — Spurred by Republican bids to capture two top offices for the first time this century, North Carolina voters flocked to the polls today in apparent record numbers from the coast to the mountains.

State Elections Director Alex Brock predicted a turnout of 1.7 million persons, about 75 per cent of the registered voters. Early reports indicated his forecast of a record vote would be accurate.

Voters were casting their ballots for a U.S. senator, president, governor, all Council of State posts, and 170 legislators. Ten congressional races and a host of local offices, plus five proposed constitutional amendments, also were on the unusually long ballot.

Apparent ticket-splitting and the long ballot were contributing to the long lines, some election officials said.

In Pitt County Ann Paul, elections secretary, said long lines formed before the polls opened at 6:30 a.m. "The people are having to stand outside and wait. We are finding we don't have enough polling machines," Mrs. Paul said.

Guilford County Elections Chairman Z. H. Howerton called the turnout in the Greensboro area extremely heavy. "We'll have a record vote with no trouble. They were all out early everywhere," Howerton said.

Skies generally were clear in the east, changing to cloudy and overcast in the Piedmont and mountains. Light rain fell in the west early today, and some rain was likely across the state by nightfall.

Traffic jams formed in Raleigh at dawn as voters waited outside polling places. More than 150 persons were in line at a Wake Forest precinct for the 6:30 a.m. opening. Rural voters in some Durham County areas were waiting up to an hour to cast their ballots.

Brock said the turnout probably would run 170,000 voters or more above the total for the 1968 election, when President Nixon swept the state.

Predictions were for Nixon to carry the state again this year over Democrat George McGovern and American party nominee John Schmitz.

The major interest in the state, however, was focused on the sharply contested races for governor and senator.

The governor's race, pitted Greensboro businessman Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, a Democrat, against former state Republican chairman Jim Holsouser of Boone and American party nominee Arlis Pettyjohn of Booneville.

Bowles reported two weeks ago he had spent $1.3 million on his campaign already, the most ever spent by a candidate for office in North Carolina. Holsouser reported spending $273,000 through mid-October.

Raleigh broadcast executive Jesse Helms, widely known in eastern North Carolina because of a decade of television editorials, staged the first serious bid by a Republican for the U.S. Senate in more than 70 years.

He ran against three-term Congressman Nick Galifianakis, a former legislator who surprised old-line Democrats by ousting incumbent Sen. B. Everett Jordan in the primaries.

The long ballot today also included races for lieutenant governor all Council of State posts, 10 congressional seats and all 170 legislative seats and five state constitutional amendments.

Moves For Resumption Of Peace Negotiations Reportedly 'On Track'

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times today quoted a high Nixon administration official as saying without qualification that efforts to resume Indochina peace negotiations with North Vietnam were "on track."

While the unnamed official declined to be specific, the Times said, he gave the impression that Le Duc Tho had signaled privately that he would soon leave Hanoi for another round of talks with Henry A. Kissinger.

"Certain things will become apparent in a few days," the official replied when asked whether a date had been set for the next Kissinger-Tho meeting, the Times reported in a Washington dispatch.

Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese politburo, and Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser for national security affairs, negotiated the tentative peace agreement that was announced 12 days ago.

Kissinger said then that one more negotiating session was necessary to resolve some details in the plan. North Vietnam insisted the plan was final and demanded that it be signed by last Tuesday, Oct. 31.

The Washington official quoted in the Times story said the administration was encouraged by the remarks made by Xuan Thuy, the leader of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks, in an interview Saturday.

Thuy told the Times then that his government did not have a rigid attitude about another negotiating meeting provided Washington was "serious" about completing an agreement.

As already disclosed by both sides, the general terms of the agreement call for a standstill cease-fire in South Vietnam, withdrawal of U.S. troops and the release of American prisoners. A coalition assembly would arrange for elections for a new political structure.

South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu has refused to go along with the agreement because it would allow North Vietnamese troops to stay in South Vietnam. He has also questioned the makeup of the coalition assembly.

Pitt United Fund Drive Just Over 60 Percent Of Total Goal

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The 1973 United Way of Giving campaign, in its fifth week, has reported contributions in the amount of $95,647 which represents just over 60 percent of the total goal of $157,526.

Campaign chairman Karl Fraser reported that volunteers now have made distribution of nearly all of the cards and it is anticipated that the next week or so will see the total goal achieved or even exceeded.

Fraser added that if anyone has not been contacted by the next week, if they will call the United Fund office (758-1604) a pledge card will be mailed to them. The emphasis, Fraser said, is that everyone who is gainfully employed should have the opportunity to make a contribution.

The campaign this year was divided into ten divisions with a division chairman for each area so that appropriate organization could be accomplished to distribute cards to individuals.

The Industrial Division, headed by Jack Bircher, has collected $44,603 to date of its goal of $65,000. This division is made up of the larger industries located in Pitt County or employing workers who live in the County, and the total contribution constitutes approximately 41 percent of the total goal.

The Professional I Division, with Dr. Ira Hardy as chairman, has collected some $7,083 of its $8,000 goal, Fraser reported. The division is made up of all physicians and dentists who practice in Greenville, and Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Center, and Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center. This division, it was noted, constitutes the highest individual income group of the United Fund. Professional II Division, chaired by Larry Graham, set a goal of $7,000 and has collected $1,894 so far. Lawyers, public accountants and ministers essentially make up the division, with the majority being lawyers. Druggists are also included in the category.

The Advanced Gifts, with O.E. Dowd serving as chairman, has collected to date 1,679 of its goal of $3,500. The division includes retired people in the community who desire to participate in helping others, as well as a few of the clubs that are for retired members.

Mrs. Janice Cox's Business I division, with a goal of $5,500 has collected $2,287, Fraser reported. The division is made up of approximately half of the businesses in the community conducting retail sales and not having large employee payrolls.

Business II, headed by Lester Brown, has collected $2,175 of its goal of $5,500. Business II is made up of the other half of the businesses in the community but includes the credit and insurance companies doing business in Pitt County.

Special Gifts Division, with Joe Taft Jr. as chairman, has collected $4,166 so far. The division, with a goal of $10,000, consists of petroleum and oil distributors, service stations, equipment dealers, wholesale companies and both municipal and county employees.

Goal Buster with Gerald Crane as chairman, has a $31,000 goal for this year and so far has collected $6,960. The larger firms of the area constitute this division and include banks, savings and loan companies, automobile dealers, soft drink companies, all of the businesses in the Pitt Plaza Shopping Center, and all of the city schools.

The East Carolina University

Division, headed by John Bell, has collected just over $13,000 and has topped its $13,000 goal, Fraser reported. All of the faculty, staff and employees participate in the ECU group, and they exceed for the second straight year the UF division goal.

Ed Yancey, chairman of the County Division, reported collections of $12,000 to date towards the division goal of $22,700. The county group involves all of the towns other than Greenville in Pitt County.

Fraser said that he hopes the campaign will be officially ended on Nov. 17, provided that the total goal has been achieved.

"The campaign will be continued for an indefinite time, or until the $157,526 has been collected," Fraser added, noting that "there are simply too many agencies depending on the United Way of Giving in their care for the sick and aged, for youth and character building, mental health, families in trouble and for the ill and handicapped to stop short of our goal."

"Everyone in Pitt County benefits from the United Fund," he said, "so please help the volunteer calling on you to help us all."

Soviet Troops, Tanks Parade In Red Square On Anniversary

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet troops, tanks and missiles paraded before the Kremlin's leaders in Red Square today in the military parade marking the 55th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. Western experts saw no new weapons in the display.

Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko opened the parade with a six-minute speech in which he said the Soviet Union is pursuing a "Leninist foreign policy course which invariably combines a firm rebuff to imperialism with the implementation of the principles of peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

The speech was relatively mild, like other such speeches of recent years on the holiday commemorating the 1917 seizure of power by the Bolsheviks.

Grechko spoke from atop Lenin's tomb. His listeners included Communist Party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Premier

Alexei N. Kosygin and other leaders who were also on the tomb to review the parade. Grechko said the Soviet Union will continue "rendering all-round aid to the peoples of Vietnam, of progressive Arab states and other countries fighting for freedom, national independence and social progress."

Some relaxation of international tension has been achieved of late, he said, but "aggressive imperialist forces are still active in the world." Grechko said those forces "wage a shameful war in Indochina, prevent settlement of the Middle East crisis, heat up and unleash armed conflicts."

He did not mention the United States by name.

A military band played the Soviet national anthem when Grechko finished, and the military parade began with a corps of drummers from infantry units marching past at 120 steps a minute.

Sorceress Reports Arrest Four McGovern Will Win In Club Raid

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
PHU NHUAN, South Vietnam (AP) — A Vietnamese sorceress has heard it loud and clear from the spirit world that Sen. George McGovern will win the U.S. presidential election.

"This will be bad for peace and bad for Vietnam," said Mme. Sishawath, who spent 50 minutes in deep meditation on the American election after the artillery died down Monday night.

She said she gave her prediction both the Cambodian "burning candle mythology" and the incense burning test but did not use the splashing water mythology "because that is for broken hearts."

Peering over her gold-rimmed spectacles, the Cambodian-trained soothsayer predicted an unhappy future for the McGovern administration and a worry-free retirement for President Nixon.

"Between March and September of next year will be the dark months for Sen. McGovern," Mme. Sishawath warned. "His administration will fall from favor."

After studying the birth dates of the two candidates and performing some Buddhist rituals, she began to get vibrations from the spirit world. She saw Nixon and McGovern as "two fiercely contending tigers. McGovern wins but later falls into a tiger trap."

The seeress said she meditates best after curfew, when the noise of the Hondas has died in the back alleys of Saigon's suburbs and only a few barking dogs, aroused by the distant thud of artillery and bombs, disturbs the night's calm.

Mme. Sishawath said her forecast will prove 80 to 90 per cent correct. But it would have been 100 per cent on the button if Nixon and McGovern had turned "at the electric light pole past the triple bell Catholic Cathedral," as her card reads, and come to her shop in person.

There under a Santa Claus clock, amid plastic flowers, Japanese tourist calendars and a Honda parked next to the meditation table, they would have learned for themselves that no matter what else the future holds for them in the next four years, the dark shadow of death will not hover.

Four area residents have been arrested on gambling-related charges stemming from a Friday night raid at a Rt. 1, Grifton club.

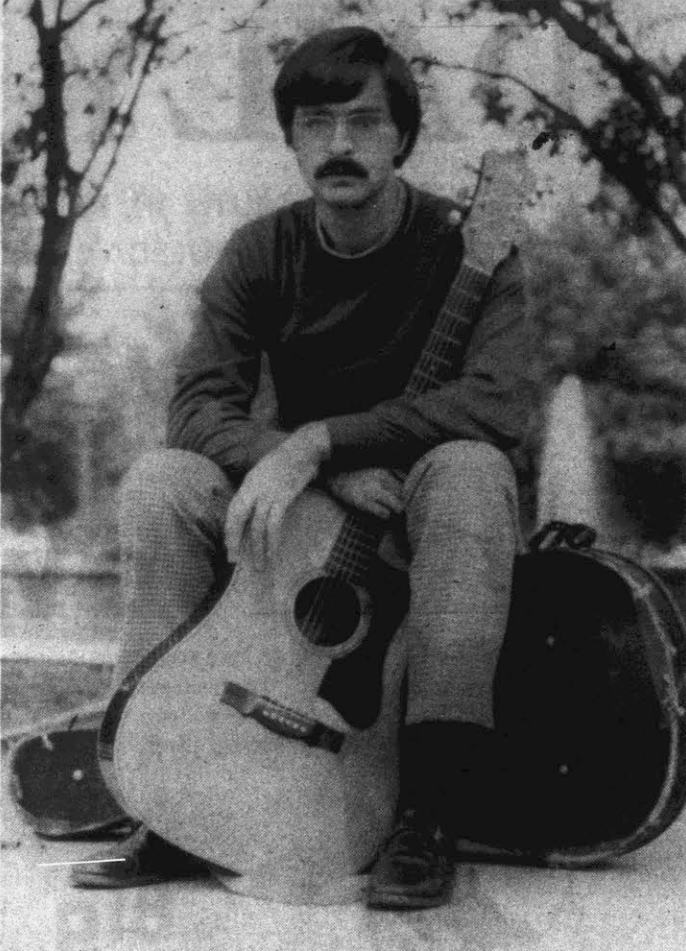

Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Donald P. Lee, owner of the Corral Club, was charged with possession of tax paid whiskey for sale, operating a gambling house, possession of punch boards, and possession of firecrackers.

Sheriff Tyson said that Lee was jailed under $1,300 bond and a hearing set for Nov. 30 in Ayden District Court.

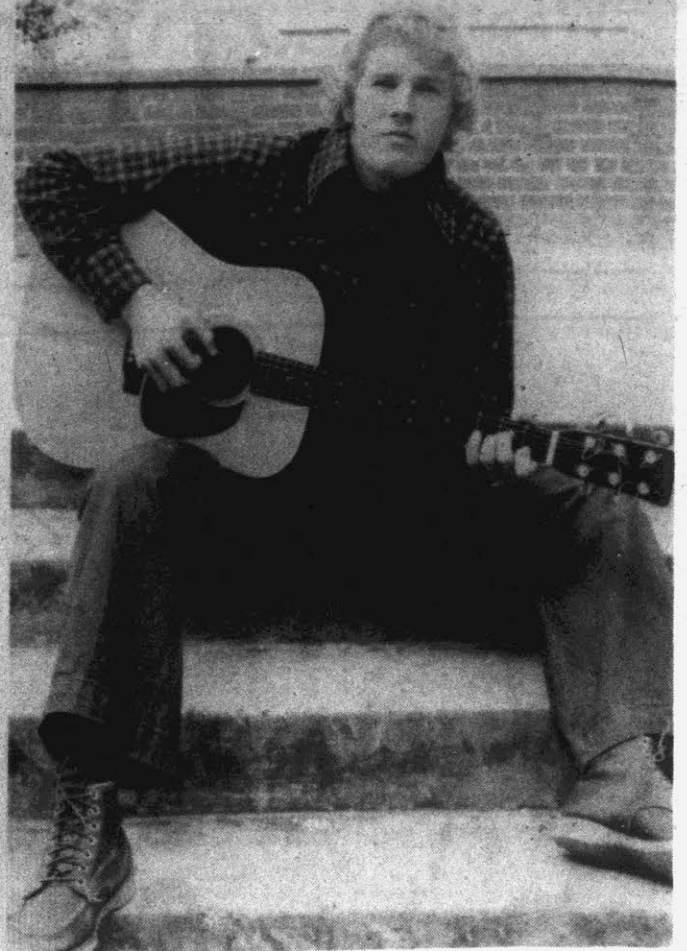

Also arrested on gambling charges with bonds set at $50 each were Henry P. DeLong, 35, of 706 Juanita Avenue, Ayden; Marvin Earl Moore, 23, of Rt. 1, Hookerton; and Jackie Moore, 23, Rt. 1, Hookerton. Hearing dates were also set for Nov. 30 in Ayden District Court, the sheriff said.

Some $56 was confiscated at the time of the 9 p.m. raid, he added.

Participating in the arrests were Pitt County deputies, and county and state ABC officers.

NEXT ON COFFEEHOUSE at East Carolina University is a team of two young guitarists, Pat Williams (left) and John Warren. Now renamed The Canticle, the Student Union sponsored program will have a three night run on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings beginning at 8:00 p.m. The quiet music-soft drink-doughnut affair is being held each of the three nights in Room 201 of Student Union. The public is invited to attend. Admission is 25 cents at the door.

Sing-In Set On Thursday

A "sing-in" for the Greenville community has been planned for Thursday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m. at Epps High School.

The event is being presented by the Society of United Liberal Students (SOLUS) of East Carolina University and the Police Club of Greenville.

The show will include singing, dancing, poetry reading and a fashion show.

The idea of having a "sing-in" was developed for the entertainment of the black student body of East Carolina University, said Uril Greene of Goldsboro, president of SOLUS.

He said that it began as an impromptu assembly of the students to share their talents with the other members of the student body. Later in the year of 1970-71, it was decided to begin rehearsing for the sing-ins. Participation in the sing-ins has greatly increased from the black students and the Greenville community.

Officers serving with Greene include Jackie Hawkins of Greenville, vice president, and Veronica Ward of Winterville as secretary.

The public and the student body are invited to attend the "sing-in."

Academy's Honor Student

Gardner White Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben G. White of Greenville, was among 26 cadets at Hargrave Military Academy who earned a place on the President's List for the first six-week academic period.

Hargrave reported that appearance on the honor roll is limited to in the Corps of Cadets who have at least a B average, no grade below a B, and maintain top marks in the department.

White, who is in his third year at the Chatham, Va., school, holds the rank of sergeant and is a member of the soccer squad. The cadet has been on the honor council for three years and a member of the Drama Club for two years.

Four Mile Fire District OK'd

WILLIAMSTON — A request by citizens of Griffins Township in Martin County for a four mile fire district was approved on Monday. Martin County Commissioners, in a very brief meeting Monday, considered the request, based on GS 153-9(39) and a resolution of October 6, 1969 for a subscription type district.

Other than action to approve tax relief orders amounting to less than $100, no other items were considered by the commissioners at the November meeting. They recessed and will reconvene at 11:00 a.m. Thursday for the purpose of canvassing votes.

Students Take Long Weekend

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—More than half the 7,300 students at Appalachian State University were absent Monday. Officials said they apparently were taking an extra long weekend to stay at home and vote today rather than use absentee ballots.

Plan Electing Representative

Following the PTA meeting at Eastern Elementary School, there will be a meeting of interested citizens to elect an area representative from the Colonial Heights area for the Citizens Advisory Committee.

All residents of the area are urged to attend this meeting, which will be held immediately after the PTA meeting. Although no specific time can be designated, it is expected the after-PTA meeting will be at about 8:30 p.m.

Takes Pill Overdose, Then Calls For Help

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My beautiful 27-year-old daughter [I'll call her Mary] tried to take her life. This is the third time she took an overdose of sleeping pills.

Mary is married and has two small children, but she has been separated from her husband for four months. Mary got involved with a married man, and her husband found out about it and left her.

When Mary takes these pills she calls up her husband and tells him what she has done, and he comes over and rushes her to the hospital to have her stomach washed out.

I am so afraid if she tries it again he won't get there in time to save her, and that will be the end of my beautiful daughter. Please tell me what I can do to help her.

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that the next time she feels like reaching for those pills, to reach for the telephone instead and call the Suicide Prevention Center. [Call the Operator, or information for the number.] Nearly every large city has one. Trained personnel will listen to her problem and provide some professional counseling by telephone. They also send ambulances to those who have already attempted suicide but have had a change of heart. Some suicide prevention centers invite callers to come in for personal counseling, and those centers which are unable to provide such service tell callers where such help is available.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 16-year-old boy who has always wanted to be a ladies' hairdresser? Well, I'm that boy, and it has given me quite a few problems.

Whenever I see a girl, I think of how I can improve her hair. I would like to cut long hair and style it, and even change the color of it, although I like the looks of girls with long, straight hair. If I see a girl with hair that looks dull or neglected, I want to offer to give her a shampoo and a color rinse or a conditioner.

I buy magazines on hair care and hair styling and I've even bought coloring kits and cheap wigs to work on. My mother found all this stuff and said she thought I was "sick." Maybe she's right.

I once asked the manager of a beauty salon to save the hair he swept off the floor, and I go to pick it up. I keep it in a box in my closet. I just handle it or look at it and that is all.

Abby, do you think it is "sick" for a boy to want to be a really great hairdresser?

LOVES HAIR

DEAR LOVES: No, but you seem excessively preoccupied with women's hair. Talk to your school psychologist about it, and get to the root of the matter. You sound as though you'd make a first-class hairdresser. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I married a fine widower a few years ago. He had four married children. Thruout the years all of his children have helped themselves to those possessions of their mother's that they have wanted. Not one considered that they were their father's possessions, too, and perhaps they might have held some special meaning or sentimental value for him.

One daughter would say, "Dad, I'd like Mother's needlepoint pictures." Another would say, "I have a place for Mother's silver tea service now. I'll pick it up tomorrow." One son even carried off the family albums.

The children have slowly picked the place clean. Their father never questioned their requests; he simply handed everything over. [I saw him quietly part with several things I knew he'd rather have kept.]

The damage is done, so I'm not writing for a solution, but I feel much better for having gotten this off my chest. After all, to whom else could I have told this without causing hard feelings?

Candy Features Sesame Seeds

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Sesame (benne) seeds, once used primarily by cooks in the south, are now in good repute in kitchens all over the United States. This change started in 1954 when a bake-off contestant won a grand prize with her Open Sesame Pie and cooks throughout the country became aware of the seeds. These days Sesame Seed Brittle seems to be growing in popularity and here's the recipe.

SEASME SEED BRITTLE
1 cup sesame seed

1 cup sugar
1 cup dark crown syrup
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon baking soda

Sprinkle the sesame seed over a large cookie sheet and toast in a preheated 350-degree oven for about 15 minutes.

In a 2-quart saucepan stir together the sugar, corn syrup, water and butter. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Reduce heat and cook without stirring until mixture reaches 300 degrees on a candy thermometer or until mixture forms a brittle ball when dropped in very cold water.

Remove from heat, stir in toasted sesame seed and then baking soda.

Pour onto a greased surface and spread evenly to about ¼-inch thickness. (You can use a marble slab or a cookie sheet for the greased surface.)

Cool candy and break into irregular pieces.

Makes about 1½ pounds.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Bride-elect Miss Nancy Porter was honored at an informal social hour Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hilda Buck, aunt of the bridegroom-elect.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Jean Switzer and Mrs. Everdeen Tetterton, aunts of the bridegroom-elect.

Miss Porter was remembered with a corsage of white mums. The refreshment table was adorned with an arrangement of white mums.

Mrs. Louise Porter, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Audrey Johnston, mother of the bridegroom-elect, were special guests.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Gardner of Gardnerville have returned from New York City, where they visited their daughter, Jeanette, and attended the musical, a new version of "Red Riding Hood." Miss Gardner played the lead role in the Court Yard Theater.

J. R. Stokes accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Alton Gardner home from Washington, D.C., after visiting his daughter, Mrs. Pat Tunstall, and family for several days.

Mrs. Lloyd Weeks of Raleigh has returned home after visiting Ruth Gardner of Gardnerville last week.

Med School Gets Great Boosts

ECU's medical school has received a great boost with the commendations of the N.C. Academy of Family Physicians and the endorsement of the N.C. Jaycees.

The State Jaycees approved a resolution at the group's mid-year meeting in Greensboro Sunday.

The board of directors of the Academy of Family Physicians enacted its commendation resolution at the 24th Scientific Assembly meeting in Raleigh.

In commending the ECU School of Medicine, the resolution stated, "The Academy of Family Physicians especially commends the role being played by Family Physicians on the Medical School admissions committee; the use of Family Physicians as preceptors in the School's community medicine program; the involvement of Family Physicians in the Medical School's organization and academic committees.

"The board of directors of the N.C. Academy of Family Physicians commends the East Carolina University School of Medicine in the selection of North Carolina students who have expressed the desire to become Family Physicians to serve the people of North Carolina."

No commendation could be any more meaningful to the ECU School of Medicine than this one; for it has been the expressed desire of those planning the course of the school to emphasize family medicine and first line medical care.

The Jaycees urged the state to add a second year to the ECU medical school during the 1973-75 biennium. The resolution also urged "that the additional steps required in the development of a four-year medical school be taken in subsequent biennia."

These Jaycees are young men who are staking their futures on development and improved living conditions in North Carolina. They have a large stake in what is now being accomplished by the ECU School of Medicine and it is encouraging to see them taking such an active interest in the school's expansion.

The ECU School of Medicine is very young; this is its first year of actually training students and, as a start, the present program only covers the first year of medical training. ECU has a request before the board of governors for the addition of the second year however these commendations should be most helpful.

A Handicap Is Only Relative

By BRYAN HAISLIP — WELDON, N.C. — A handicap can be defined only in terms of the task to be performed.

"Very few persons are without deficiencies of some sort. If you can do the job, whatever it is, you're not handicapped as far as that particular job is concerned," said Richard Hart.

That positive premise is the starting point for a Halifax Technical Institute program which is a state model in the evaluation and training of the physically and mentally handicapped.

Community-based in concept, it brings a team approach of agencies to solve the problem of those shut out from the world of work by impairments of body, emotions or mind.

In little more than a year, the innovative program Hart directs has placed 96 persons in gainful employment. The jobs range from factory assembly line to skilled cabinetmaker, with earnings, from $1.60 to $5.25 an hour.

Before the training, most of them had never earned a dime in their lives but had been relegated to the burden carried by society.

Success Stories

Hart called to mind examples. A woman physically handicapped and with a low intelligence level, after eight months' training, is on the production line at a textile plant. A man who couldn't read or write is a truck driver, earning $1.95 an hour.

The case history he cited as the pinnacle of success is a youth with cerebral palsy, spastic and a severe speech impediment. "I figured if we could place Billy, we could place the devil himself," Hart recalled.

Intensive counseling and training followed. Now Billy Alfred is mobile, articulate, and productive as an inspector in a garment factory.

What it all means is dollars earned and a sense of self-respect gained, said Hart. "Our students find it is their ability, not their disability, that counts," he explained.

Hart went to Raleigh last week to tell the state board of education about the project, one of those carried out by the research and development arm of the community college department. Funded by a mix of federal and state money, plus generous community support, it is designed to find ways to expand occupational education.

National Attention Attracted

He soon will have a wider audience for the story. Within a month or so, he will have a spot on the NGC-TV Today Show and the CBS evening news with Charles Kuralt.

Colleagues and superiors credit the program's success to its young, dynamic director, Dr. Ben Fountain, head of the community college system, praised the 26-year-old Hart for his enthusiasm and dedication.

Dick Hart grew up in Rocky Mount, graduated from Elizabeth City State University and went north with a major national hotel-motel chain. Bright and black, he was on the way up.

Fridens told him he was crazy when he threw it over to come back to North Carolina. He chose family over job. Travel kept him away from home most of the time, and his wife was robbed six times in his absence.

He went into education because he couldn't find personnel work in industry. A counselor at Halifax Tech when the handicapped program started, he was selected as its director.

A Handicap Surmounted

He had instinctive empathy for those the program reached out to help. "I once was handicapped by the color of my skin," he said. "I forgot what color I was and did my job. I thought if I overcame that handicap, I could help others overcome theirs."

From a start with seven students and a small staff, the program has expanded to 172 enrollment and 14 instructors, full and part-time. Buses bring students from a wide area.

Cooperation between the agencies of vocational rehabilitation, social services, mental health, and employment security build the team approach. Local civic organizations and business leaders have supported the program, through making jobs available and in contributions to the training efforts, Hart said.

Handicapped and so-called normal students train side by side. That prepares them for the unsheltered situation they will find on the job, Hart explained.

A protective family often makes it hard for the handicapped to venture into the outside world. Once they see others make it, they respond to the opportunity. "The only way to sell the program is to let the handicapped themselves do it for you," he said.

Nixon Gamble In Rhode Island

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK — PROVIDENCE, R.I. — President Nixon promised John Chafee months ago to help make a U.S. Senator out of the former Republican governor and Navy Secretary, but the actual decision that a Presidential campaign stop here was necessary came only ten days ago, a clear signal that liberal Democratic Sen. Claiborne Pell had moved ahead.

Moreover, Mr. Nixon's bold invasion of Rhode Island Friday on behalf of the articulate and charismatic Chafee broke a cardinal dictum privately laid down by the White House months ago. The dictum: Mr. Nixon would not campaign in any state where an incumbent Democratic Senator was running for reelection.

For Mr. Nixon, that dictum made political sense. With anti-McGovern Democrats moving toward the President in vast numbers, he would risk alienating part of the potential Democratic vote by intervening in Senate contests on behalf of Republican candidates. In retaliation, some Democrats might change their mind about voting for Mr. Nixon.

Yet, that risk was perceived in the White House as well worth taking, even in overwhelmingly Democratic Rhode Island, when Chafee decided that the hoopla and excitement of a Presidential visit would give him a much needed shot of adrenalin in the closing days of the campaign.

The reason the President agreed to sacrifice some of his own lead over Sen. George McGovern (an astonishing 19 points according to the Providence Journal poll published Nov. 2) is obvious. He has now decided that control of the Senate in the

The Pocketbook Issue

David Lawrence, the columnist who is dean of us all, long has cherished a theory that in the absence of some overriding concern, such as the war in 1940, presidential elections will be decided largely on one issue only: the pocketbook issue.

That theory is soundly buttressed in a little monograph that turned up recently in the mail: "on Measuring the Response of American Voters to Changes in Economic Conditions, 1792-1972," by Thomas Senior Berry of Richmond, Va. Berry is an associate professor of economics at University College of the University of Richmond. His particular interest lies in economic history.

Several years ago Berry began feeding great mounds of early American economic statistics into a computer. His purpose was to come up with figures that might provide a reliable index to Gross National Product in the 19th century. A couple of months ago, chiefly for the fun of it, he began correlating his GNP estimates to presidential elections. His cheerful and unpedantic monograph is the result.

Berry developed six economic classifications for presidential years, based upon the average change in the GNP in the two preceding years: boom, brisk, good, fair, poor, and bust. He found an absolute correlation at both extremes. In the boom and brisk years, the party in power always won; in the poor and bust years, the party in power always lost. In those years that were merely good or fair, other considerations tended to dominate the electoral process.

What about the 1972 election? Berry estimates a growth rate of 12.26 percent in the GNP this year. This moves 1972 out of the classification of "good" years and into the classification of "brisk." If his calculations are correct, based upon 16 reelection campaigns since 1828, Nixon should romp home with somewhere between 72 and 74 percent of the electoral vote, and 54 percent of the popular vote.

Berry came up with these projections more than a month ago. In the fashion of prudent editorial writers, he was careful to put in a few

To the editor:

As Legislative Chairman of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club of Greenville I sent a letter to the following persons all of whom are running for the North Carolina State Legislature:

Julian Allsbrook, Sam Bundy, R.E. "Robbie" Robertson, H. Horton Roundtree, Frank Steinbeck, Vernon White.

The letter requested a pledge of support for the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution of the United States from each candidate. This amendment guarantees the equality of men and women under the law and has the support of the National and North Carolina Business and Professional Women's Clubs. It has already been ratified by 18 states.

Frank Steinbeck of Greenville who is a candidate for the North Carolina House of Representatives signed the pledge to support the Equal Rights Amendment. It may be germane to note here that Mr. Steinbeck's daughter, Miss Jensina Steinbeck, is a candidate for county commissioner.

None of the other candidates signed the pledge. The letter advised the candidates that our organization would be supporting those candidates who support ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Mary C. Daugherty

To the editor:

We read so much bad news in the papers nowadays that I thought I would write to you and tell you of some good that happened this week.

On Monday October 30th I gave two letters and an envelope that contained $15.00 in money and a deposit slip in it to one of my fellow co-workers to deliver for me. The plain envelope with no address or return address on it with the money inside was inadvertently dropped in the corner mailbox too. I called the Post Office and alerted them to the mishap and the Postmaster, Mr. Lloyd Mills, advised he would have his employees be on the lookout for it. To make a long story short, I received the deposit slip from the bank on Thursday November 2nd. It had been stamped on the 31st of October at the bank.

I am happy to say there are still honest people in the world and in our city. I would like to know who was responsible for this small deposit getting into the bank as I would like to commend him or her for it. It makes you feel good to be living in a community where honesty prevails most of the time.

Santa Better Wait

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "Hark, hark, what is that I hear? 'Tis the sound of sleigh bells drawing near."

Oh, no, say it isn't so. Christmas on the way here already yet? Why, it seems but yesterday that Santa Claus was making echoes throughout the land with his vast "Ho, ho, ho!"

Don't tell me the fat oldascal is back trying to steal the stage again so soon. He is? Well, that's hardly a thing to be thankful for before Thanksgiving Day.

I guess we should be grateful he didn't get here in time to spook Halloween. The way things are going, in another decade we'll be hanging up the holly and mistletoe the day before the Fourth of July, and in 10 years after that Santa Claus will start pretending he's the Easter bunny, and he'll lay eggs all over the back yard.

Santa Claus, you presumptive old fraud, you're getting worse than the guest who came to dinner and then began to act like a steady lodger.

The heart and the house of man aren't ready for you yet. You're wearing out the welcome mat even before it has been brushed and put out before the front door.

Yes, it's getting so we hear you coming again before you've quite gone. I'll tell you what I think of you, Santa Claus. I think you are getting delusions of grandeur. You are acting like a spoiled child that has to be the center of every scene.

What this country needs, besides a good 25-cent cigar, is an

Twenty-two years ago, Franklin D. Roosevelt, known chiefly as a young man with interest in politics, chugged down the Hudson River valley in a not too reliable automobile to make his first campaign speech at Benson, New York. Few Democrats and no Republicans believed he would be elected to a seat in the Senate because the district in which he campaigned had always been overwhelmingly Republican.

Today he visited the section as a Democratic candidate for the Presidency, and tomorrow voters of the nation will decide whether he will achieve the high honor.

The State Theatre will have as an added feature tonight a vitaphone comedy at the playing of "Red Dust".

SPIRITUAL BEINGS

Fifty per cent of the wealth of the world resides in the United States. It is believed that about fifteen per cent of the people of the United States own eighty per cent of its wealth. This means that a little group of people in the United States, constituting about one per cent of the population of the world, own more than forty per cent of the world's wealth.

We believe, and we have a right to believe, that this wealth has come to us honestly. We have a vast territory conspicuous for its natural resources. Our government is a government of the people. Our forebears were, for the most part, energetic people from Western Europe who would not endure the lack of opportunity which characterized Europe and other areas. This combination of resources, free government

Twin Bogeymen: Jobs, Inflation

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Regardless of how today's election turns out, the nation will remain challenged by the most persistent economic bogeymen of modern times: jobs and inflation.

Some headway has been made in both categories during the past year.

The jobless rate is now 5.5 per cent of the civilian work force, compared with about 6 per cent last year. Consumer prices will total less than 4 per cent for the year, compared with an average of nearly 6 per cent in 1970.

But headway doesn't mean solution has been reached. The rate of consumer price increases in the July-August-September quarter was actually higher than in the two previous quarters. And the jobless rate means that close to 4.8 million potential workers are idle.

This situation prevails at a time when economists of both major parties proclaim that they now understand how to manage the economy and make it responsive to the people.

Before they became as knowledgeable as they claim to be today, economists held to a fatalistic attitude: inflation was cured by recession and joblessness.

While claiming to have renounced that approach, they have substituted nothing that an ordinary American can recognize as very much different or very much better.

And, in an apparent admission that theories might be beautiful but ineffective, economists of various persuasions have approved the imposition of controls on what is claimed to be a free economy.

If the diabolical relationship between jobs and prices is really understood, it isn't evident and, so long as controls remain, it cannot be demonstrated either.

In fact, current thinking by many economists identified with the Democratic or Republican parties is that controls will have to be continued beyond April 30, when they are scheduled to expire.

The most persuasive evidence for their continuation is to review the extent of price increases in the uncontrolled sectors of the economy, notably food prices.

Prices of some meats, poultry and fish are 10 per cent higher now than they were a year ago. And with wholesale food prices rising even more sharply, food budgets are going to be strained badly in coming months.

Why should the economy have to live with rising prices, insufficient jobs and price and wage controls?

The Republicans generally blame the existing situation on the Democrats, especially the administration of President Lyndon Johnson, who ran up huge budget deficits to finance the Vietnam war.

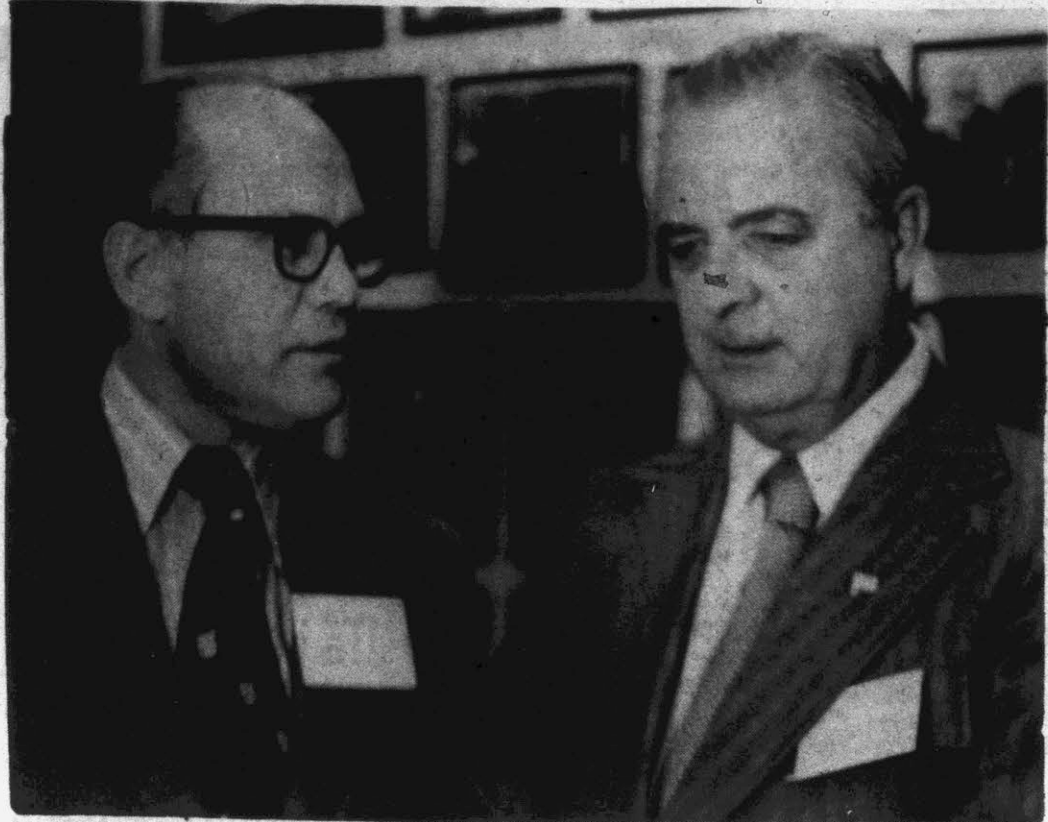

The imbalances that exist now are directly related to the $25-billion deficit the Johnson administration incurred while trying to follow a guns and butter philosophy.

In order to counter the inflation that was begun in 1968, the Republicans say, it was necessary for them to put a holdown on the economy in 1970. We are now emerging from that period, they say.

Nonsense, claim the Democrats. Justifiably, they point to the enormous budget deficits of the Nixon administration and ask: If deficits produce inflation, how can we ignore an estimated $73 billion in deficits for fiscal 1971-1972 and 1973?

What obviously is missing from the theories of economists who claim to know how to manage the economy — and prevent inflation and idle workers — is that political priorities preclude their use.

And so the unholy alliance of rising prices, followed by lost jobs, is still with us.

Two Germanys Ponder Treaty

By ANTHONY COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer
BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's cabinet today approved the historic treaty to normalize its relations with East Germany. The Communist regime was expected to do likewise shortly, party chief Erich Honecker having declared that the pact was welcomed.

A draft of the treaty was agreed on Monday night following two years of negotiations. The Bonn cabinet authorized Egon Bahr, the state secretary who negotiated for Brandt, to initial it "shortly" with the East German negotiator, Michael Kohl.

In the wake of the conclusion of the treaty, Danish Foreign Minister Knud B. Andersen announced that his government as well as those of Sweden and Norway expected to complete arrangements for diplomatic recognition of East Germany in two or three weeks. Denmark and Norway as well as West Germany are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Besides setting up some type of diplomatic recognition, the pact clears the way for the two German states to apply for United Nations membership.

Bonn's main concern has been to avoid anything that might worsen chances for eventual German reunification. Details of the treaty were kept secret while both sides studied it. But one West Berlin newspaper gave this outline of the treaty's main points:

Pitt-Greene Group Sets Annual Meet

FARMVILLE — The annual meeting of the Pitt and Greene Electric Membership Corporation will be held tomorrow night in the Farmville Central High School Auditorium.

Registration will begin at 6:45 p.m., and the meeting will get underway at 7:30 p.m. Directors will be elected from Districts 1, 2, 5, 6, and 7. Nominees are as follows: District 1—Lloyd Gay of Rt. 1, Fountain and J. Alan Parker, also of Rt. 1, Fountain; District 2—Mark Mozingo and David L. Fulford, both of Rt. 2, Farmville; District 3—David Corbett of Rt. 3, Snow Hill and Noah Y. Sugg of Rt. 1, Pikeville; District 6—Horace Moore of Snow Hill and Robert Cunningham of Rt. 3, Snow Hill; District 7—J.J. Grimsley and Thomas Forrest, both of Rt. 1, Ayden.

Gay, Mozingo, Corbett, Moore, and Grimsley are the incumbent members of the Board of Directors. Additional nominations for these positions may be made from the floor, according to Gilbert L. Whitley, manager of the electric cooperative. Directors elected from Districts 2 and 7 will serve for two years and those elected from District 1, 5, and 6 for a three-year period, he indicated.

campaign of soporific civility that would please the Marquess of Queensbury. Hence, Chafee's decision to invite the President. His chance to become the first Republican elected to the Senate from Rhode Island in 42 years now hangs on the mundane nuts-and-bolts politics: enthusiasm, organization, voter-identification and getting every possible Chafee voter to the polls.

Germany will accept this letter. —East Germany will maintain the same trade privileges as before, treated as a favored partner on the basis of a national whole as proclaimed by West Germany.

Conclusion of the treaty could give a boost to Brandt's chances in the general election Nov. 19. He is campaigning primarily on his Ostpolitik, his policy of rapprochement with the Communist East.

NBC-TV Closing Down That Ponderosa Ranch

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ben Cartwright is closing down the Ponderosa Ranch. Little Joe, the last of the Cartwright sons, is leaving home. "Bonanza" has been canceled.

"Bonanza," at one time the most popular show on television, winds up 14 years on the NBC Television Network next Jan. 23. The filming of the last episode of the Western drama — the 431st — will be completed tomorrow night.

The long-running show was canceled Monday by NBC, along with "The Bold Ones," "Banyon" and "Night Gallery." "Bonanza" was switched from Sunday to Tuesday nights at the beginning of this season, but the Cartwrights were no match for CBS' "Maude." It slipped badly in the ratings and in the latest report was in 52nd place.

Executive Producer David Dortort, who had learned the news only two hours earlier, said, "We've had a very long and beautiful run."

But it will not be the last seen of "Bonanza," the first television show ever filmed from the beginning in 1959 in color. The early years of the show are now in syndication to stations under the title of "Ponderosa." The show's worldwide audience is estimated at 400 million.

Dortort said the cancellation came as a surprise. He was told personally by Lawrence White, NBC vice president of programming. "White said that 'Bonanza' had always meant so much to NBC that they didn't want to see it peter out," he said.

Dortort said the show was still trying to overcome "the tremendous gap" left by the death last May 13 of Dan Blocker, who played Hoss Cartwright. "I don't think we really quite got over his death," Dortort said. "We were confident that by the end of the season we would be back in the mainstream. Apparently the network didn't want to invest the time."

Lorne Greene as Ben and Michael Landon as Joe were the two remaining Cartwrights. A third son, Adam, was written out of the series when Pernell Roberts quit in 1965. Mitch Vogel joined the cast several years ago as Jamie, and last year was adopted by the Cartwrights.

qualifications. "Three things," he said, "could occur to boost Nixon's share of the vote: an improvement in conditions, a good campaign on his part, or a poor campaign by his opponent. Similarly a sudden and sharp deterioration of conditions, a poor campaign by the Republicans, or an especially good campaign by McGovern would tend to detract from the Republican margin of victory. And if these tendencies went to an extreme, Nixon could lose, though the odds are heavily against it."

Economic conditions have continued gradually to improve in recent months; Nixon has run a poor campaign, but McGovern has been no ball of fire. Berry's projection looks solid to me.

A correspondent who travels the campaign trail needs no computer to venture the same impressions. The American people, by and large, are not deeply interested in the things we pundits think they ought to be interested in: the war, foreign policy, civil liberties, the recasting of priorities in terms of federal spending. No, indeed. They are interested in their own everyday lives. Are they getting along okay? This is the ultimate test.

Statistics, as such, are wasted on most voters. It simply doesn't matter, in the ordinary view, that the unemployment rate is 5.5 percent, or whatever the rate may be. If somebody else has troubles, tough; but the typical head of a household is working, his income is rising, and he's meeting the installments on his car. If he thinks at all of the GNP, he thinks it's the Russian secret service.

As Berry's statistical correlations make clear, such a voter — in the absence of some overriding issue — is not inclined to vote against the party in power. He may not be especially grateful this fall, but he isn't actively sore. If his wallet were flat and his job uncertain, it would be a different matter today. But for the typical American, the pocketbook is holding up and the future looks not too bad. He's getting along okay. Presidentially speaking, that's all it takes.

It didn't come easy!

Great Bourbon never does. It takes the choicest grain. Pure limestone springwater. Years of aging in charred oak barrels. And plenty of time, patience and hard work. Everything required of a Great Bourbon goes into the distilling of every bottle of Echo Spring. Is it all worth it? Don't ask. Sip.

Uphold Power Of Picket Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that workers fired solely for refusing to cross fellow strikers' picket lines have an absolute right to get their jobs back.

Another F111 Is Missing

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported the loss today of the third F111 swing-wing fighter-bomber in less than six weeks and also announced the loss of a Navy A7 during raids on the southern panhandle of North Vietnam.

All three crewmen aboard the two planes were listed as missing.

Seven other Americans were rescued today after bad weather forced their helicopter own in enemy territory 90 miles south of Da Nang. The helicopter went down Monday night, but the men were not attacked during the night, the Command said.

Like the two other F111s lost on Sept. 28 and Oct. 17, the plane today was on a night mission, flying alone on a computerized course, when it vanished from command post radar screens shortly before dawn.

North Vietnam claimed that the first two F111s were shot down by its forces, but by noon today Hanoi Radio had not mentioned the third plane.

Meanwhile, U.S. sources reported that North Vietnam is rushing more troops into South Vietnam and rebuilding base camps along the Cambodian border in efforts to strengthen its negotiating hand.

The sources suggested that the North Vietnamese in future negotiations might offer to dismantle the bases and pull out the troops in exchange for concessions from the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments.

The Americans and the South Vietnamese have launched a joint air-ground campaign aimed at blocking the North Vietnamese.

The buildup is reported taking place in South Vietnam's 3rd Military Region, which includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, and in the northern Mekong Delta.

An opinion written by Justice Potter Stewart said: "Unconditional reinstatement of the discharged employees was proper for the simple reason that they were the victims of a plain unfair labor practice by their employer."

The case came to the high court from Santa Maria, Calif., where the Teamsters Union mounted an organizing campaign among moving companies in August 1967.

When the organizing effort bogged down, the Teamsters called a strike against all the companies including the local outlets of International Van Lines.

Four of the International employees declined to cross the picket lines, and were fired.

Although the company said they were being replaced, no new workers were actually taken on during the walkout, according to testimony before the National Labor Relations Board and the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

The four men—Robert and Manuel Vasquez, Richard Dicus and Salvador Casillas—appealed to the NLRB and the company was ordered to reinstate the men with back pay.

The company turned to the appeals court which agreed the men were victims of unfair labor practices, but held they were economic strikers not necessarily entitled to reinstatement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a deadline for destruction behind them and a court order buying time ahead, Indians who have occupied a federal building here since Thursday readied for Election Day negotiations with the Nixon administration.

Vernon Bellencourt, national director of the American Indian Movement, spoke to newsmen from the steps of the occupied and ransacked Bureau of Indian Affairs building. "Pretty firm demands" would be placed before the government in negotiations today "at the White House," he said.

Bellencourt said no time was set for the meeting. His comments followed Monday's negotitiating session with Frank Carlucci, assistant director of the Office of Budget and Management, and Leonard Garment, President Nixon's adviser on minorities.

A government spokesman confirmed the session was held, but declined further comment.

Bellencourt said procedural matters took Monday's session, adding that substantial issues would come up today.

The AIM leader said formulation of a 12-member commission sought by the Indians to conduct negotiations was started at the session.

The announcement of the apparently productive negotiations followed intensive court activity and a threat by one Indian spokesman that the building would be destroyed if progress were not made.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge John Pratt ordered the arrest of the Indians, at times during the day numbering as many as 400, unless they vacated by 6 p.m., only to have his order stayed until 9 p.m. Wednesday by the U.S. Circuit Court here.

Choice Said War, Peace

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam said that the American people in the presidential election today are choosing between war and peace.

An editorial from Nhan Dan, the official newspaper, said President Nixon still "shows himself the representative of the most perfidious and bellicose forces of aggression." It added:

"It is up to the American people to select the way of war and aggression, the way to worse and worse defeat, or the way of ending the war to build a just peace, peace in real honor, the way that is in accord with the new force balance of the world and the flow of history."

"If the U.S. leaders choose to continue the war, the Vietnamese people will have no other alternative than to continue the way they have marched in the last dozen years, persistently and vigorously, urging the struggle to total victory."

Anniversary Will Mark 17 Years Serving Church

Dr. W.L. Jones of Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist Church is celebrating his 17th anniversary at the church. Services began last night and will continue through Sunday night.

The anniversary message will be delivered by the Rev. A.L. Miller Sunday night. He will be accompanied by Warren Chapel Church.

A special anniversary program is planned and the theme will be "Climbing Higher." Special guest churches will include St. John, Kinston, Little Creek, Ayden, and St. Stevens, New Bern.

Chileans Facing Bleak Outlook

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A bleak economic outlook faces the Chilean people in the aftermath of a three-week strike that ended Monday, the government says.

First estimates put the economy's loss from the strike at about $200 million, Economy Minister Fernando Flores told a news conference after about 400,000 persons returned to their jobs for the first time since Oct. 10.

The strike involved truckers, shopkeepers, small businessmen, airline pilots and others.

Drive-In Chain Organizer Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Kenneth J. King, who came to Cleveland in 1922 as a cook, dishwasher and counterman and organized a chain of drive-in family restaurants, died Sunday in his suburban Cleveland home. He was 60 years old and a native of Rocky Mount, N.C.

King opened his first restaurant in 1944. It was the forerunner of the chain known as Kenny King's Inc.

Survivors include his widow, Gizella, three daughters, a son, two brothers and a sister.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at St. Dominic Catholic Church in Shaker Heights.

Anchormen Were Unpublicized In '48

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network advertising for tonight's election night coverage on television has been heavy. We should know by now who employs Walter Cronkite, David Brinkley, John Chancellor, Harry Reasoner and Howard K. Smith.

It might shock you to go back to election night 1948 and look at television's advertising in the New York Times. It didn't even mention who was anchoring the news at ABC, CBS and NBC.

Granted, television was a toddler then. Only about 400,000 American homes had television sets, compared to nearly 65 million now. But television's anchormen were AWOL from the advertising page.

For the record, Douglas Edwards held down the fort at CBS. NBC had Ben Grauer and John Cameron Swayze facing the camera.

And at ABC, viewers saw political analyst Elmer Davis. He sat with Walter Winchell and Drew Pearson, about whom Time magazine later observed: "Both kept their noses in their scripts and their balding heads under hats."

With or without hats, the anchormen were in no way publicized as heavily as they are today. CBS didn't even advertise its television coverage. ABC and NBC did, but emphasized the novelty of it all.

NBC, for example, took out a quarter-page ad that had five "see" points, the best of which was: "See exclusive interviews with political experts and men who may soon shape your destiny."

ABC had six "see" points including "the counting of ballots." It urged viewers to "see feverish activity at party headquarters," "see famous newsmen and radio reporters in action" and "see the giant ABC tally board and follow each new count."

The year was the first one in which a presidential candidate—the GOP's Thomas E. Dewey—watched the early returns on television. He did it at his suite in the Roosevelt Hotel here.

President Harry S. Truman missed the action on television. The network range was limited to the East Coast.

And he was spending election night, 1948, in a hideaway at Excelsior Springs, 30 miles northeast of his previously announced headquarters camp—the Muehlebach Hotel in Kansas City, Mo.

He was listening to it on radio. And to NBC's H.V. Kaltenborn who insisted through the night and into the early morning there was no way Truman could win the election.

That night, network television in New York carried brief summaries of Truman's re-election; then it got back to the serious business of entertainment. And the news programs weren't even advertised.

Stowaway Is Seen Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A man who tried to stow away on Sen. George McGovern's campaign press plane in Philadelphia Monday turned up 10 hours later in McGovern's hotel in Sioux Falls, S.D., the Secret Service said today.

However, Jack Warner, a spokesman for the Secret Service, said the man was not "of protective interest." He was released after questioning.

Warner would not say whether the man was a member of McGovern's party or a well-wisher, nor would he identify the man.

The man was taken off McGovern's press plane at 2:30 p.m. Monday. He turned up 10 hours later in the Sioux Falls hotel where McGovern was shaking hands. He called to McGovern and McGovern walked over and shook his hand.

Warner said a Secret Service agent recognized the man as the one they had seen in Philadelphia and took him away for

Leggett

Mr. A. Uriah Leggett, 73, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital this morning following several weeks of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Briar Swamp Primitive Baptist Church near Beargrass by Elder S.R. Boykin and Elder E.C. Harrison. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park. The body will be at the home of Cecil Leggett in Beargrass until Thursday at 1 p.m. when it will be taken to the Church.

Mr. Leggett had been a resident of Pitt County in the Oak Grove Community for many years and was a farmer. For the past six years he had been a resident of Beargrass and was employed at Rogers Supply Company. He was a member of Briar Swamp Primitive Baptist Church and was a deacon.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Ada Roebuck Leggett; four sons, Joseph A. and Wayne Leggett, both of Stokes, Cecil Leggett of Beargrass, and A.U. Leggett Jr. of Colfax; a sister Mrs. C.A. Crandall of Stokes; a half sister, Mrs. Maggie Dail of Greenville; 13 grandchildren; and eight great grandchildren.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Vincent

Mrs. Maude Morning Vincent, 70, died Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at Norfolk General Hospital.

The funeral service will be conducted Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Al Davis, Free Will Baptist minister of Greenville. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Mrs. Vincent had lived in Greene and Pitt Counties before moving to Virginia 28 years ago. She was a member of the Holland Baptist Church.

She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Hardy O'Neal, Mrs. J.K. Woolard, and Mrs. Eva Riddick, all of Chesapeake, Va., Mrs. Alfred Hardy of Greenville, Mrs. Paul Cseko of Newport News, Va., and Mrs. John Bunch of Marshall, Tex.; four sons, Charles E. Vincent and Clifton Vincent of Broadway, Va., Lyman Ray Vincent of Lake City, Fla., and Michael W. Vincent of Chesapeake, Va.; a sister, Mrs. Mary May of LaGrange; 26 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Social Security Cards 'Burned'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A group of elderly militants burned replicas of their Social Security cards Monday as they marched in protest of President Nixon's vetoes of old-age legislation.

About 40 sign-carrying representatives of senior-citizens' clubs in the New Orleans area picketed the Nixon-Agnew headquarters here to protest the vetoing of the Older Americans Act and the HEW appropriations bill.

The marchers carried signs reading, "Senior Power," "Oldies But Goodies," and "Can You Afford to Grow Old."

Nixon workers came from inside the campaign headquarters to offer the marchers coffee and folding chairs.

Ears Said Clue To The Kidneys

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The size and shape of a child's ears may be a clue to the state of his kidney, according to a University of Texas urologist.

Dr. Paul C. Peters told a meeting of urologists here that ears and kidneys reach key stages of development at about the same time in an embryo.

"Funny-looking" ears can mean the kidney is also abnormal and possibly defective, he said.

question before White House representatives clouded that picture, announced it plans no appeal of the circuit court order.

A department spokesman said the order bars the government from forcibly evicting the Indians before Wednesday night.

As the Monday negotiations began, AIM field director Dennis Banks had his own ultimatum for the session. "If Banks singled out one special target for negotiators, the firing of Asst. Interior Secretary, Harrison Loesch, a man the Indians accused of condescension and opposition to their land, water and forest rights.

Ford Asking Price Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing the cost of federally mandated safety and antipollution equipment, Ford Motor Co. has asked the Price Commission for a $91.53 price increase on each of its 1973 cars.

And the commission Monday granted the Pillsbury Co. an 11.2-per-cent raise in the price of flour, due largely to higher wheat costs.

The government originally had tried to talk Ford out of the increase and the company agreed to cut it back to $59. But in its statement of third-quarter earnings, Ford reported it would ask for the $91.53—2.78-per-cent—increase.

General Motors Corp., the nation's largest automobile manufacturer, has refuted its request for a price boost, but it held it to $54 a car, or 1.53 per cent.

The commission last Aug. 29 rejected Ford and GM requests saying they were in danger of violating allowable profit margins in the third quarter.

The commission has granted American Motors Corp. and Chrysler permission to increase prices on 1973 models, but the two companies have not put all of the allowed increases into effect for competitive reasons.

In the earlier action, Pillsbury will be able to increase its regular flour prices by 11.29 per cent in the Western United States and by 16.13 per cent in the East.

A Pillsbury spokesman said the firm had not decided "at this time" just what it would do. He added, however, that Pillsbury would not raise the price of flour sold in grocery stores the full amount because "that would put us above our competition and we'd lose sales."

Charge Driver In Accident

Judy Lynne Miles, 21, of 206 North Summit St. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 3:49 p.m. collision here yesterday at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Ridgeway Streets.

Police reported the Miles car collided with a bicycle operated by John Arthur Carlson, 23, of 1123A Washington St., causing an estimated $85 damage to the car, $40 damage to the bicycle and injuring Carlson.

Regan Holds Scoring Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Terry Regan has been known as a kicking specialist and the younger brother of Steve Regan, who was the Indians' starter for most of the 1970 and 1971 football seasons.

But Regan can do other things besides kick, as he demonstrated in the Indians' 56-9 romp over Davidson's Wildcats last Saturday, and his 20-point performance boosted him into the lead in the Southern Conference scoring race.

Filling in for injured tailback Doug Gerhart, Regan ran for 145 yards and two touchdowns and kicked eight extra points. He has yet to miss a conversion kick this year and has made good on eight of 10 field goal tries.

His three touchdowns, 26 extra points and eight three-pointers give the Indian sophomore a total of 68 points and an eight-point lead on junior running back Carlester Crumpler of East Carolina.

Crumpler, the conference's leading runner, scored twice in the Pirates' 33-7 victory over Tennessee-Chattanooga and moved into the No. 2 spot with 10 touchdowns and 60 points.

Davidson wide receiver Walt Walker, who had been in front last week, was held scoreless by William and Mary and dropped to third with 50 points on eight touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Another wide receiver, All-Southern David Knight of William and Mary, is fourth with 44 points on seven touchdowns and a two-point conversion. Knight scored once in the Davidson encounter.

Freshman kicking specialist Ricky McLester of East Carolina, who booted three extra points for the Pirates last week, is fifth with 43 points on 19 conversion kicks and eight field goals.

Two more William and Mary players, sophomores like Regan, are sixth and seventh. Quarterback Bill Deery, who scored once at Davidson, has seven touchdowns and 42 points, while Gerhart—who sat out the game—has six touchdowns and a two-pointer for 38 points.

Tied for eighth with six touchdowns and 36 points each are running back Billy Meyers of Richmond and wide receiver Rich Agle of Appalachian State. Agle scored once as the Mountaineers beat Florence State 17-3. Meyers ran for 164 yards but failed to score in the Spiders' 21-7 triumph over The Citadel.

There's another tie for 10th with 32 points each between wide receiver Tim Dameron of East Carolina and kicker-linebacker Woody Montgomery of Davidson. Dameron has five touchdowns and a two-pointer, Montgomery eight conversion kicks and eight field goals.

Love Affair Over For Johnny U. After Win

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Johnny Unitas kicked his famed No. 19 jersey into a corner. Pro football's "Mr. Quarterback" admitted his love affair with the Baltimore Colts was over.

"There's no use in staying around here," he said, "not the way they're treating me. There's nothing I can do about it. It was their decision not to play me anymore."

Baltimore had just cracked a four-game losing streak, handing the New England Patriots a fifth straight defeat, 24-17, in a Monday night television match-up of National Football League cream puffs.

But, Johnny wasn't celebrating.

Standing two cubicles away was handsome, young Marty Domres. The Ivy Leaguer from Columbia was the crown prince given the job Unitas owned for 16 years.

Somebody asked Domres if Johnny U. helps him.

"We talk," said Marty, refusing to glance toward the quick-dressing old pro. "Yeah, we talk."

Domres hit 10 of 19 against New England for only 89 yards. One of his shots was a 17-yarder for a touchdown to tight end Tom Mitchell. He admitted he still has trouble pulling the trigger.

"I feel more at home each game," he said, toweeling a head of thinning hair. "It just takes time. I've become a little too cautious, unwilling to cut it loose. But, that'll come."

Joe Thomas, new general manager of the Colts, was the man who made the decision to bench Unitas and look ahead with the 25-year-old Domres.

"You can't keep going with a quarterback who'll be 40 years old next May," said Thomas, builder of NFL powerhouses as personnel chief at Minnesota and Miami.

John Sandusky, the longtime Colt assistant coach who became the field boss when Thomas fired Don McCafferty a month ago, was smiling over his first victory.

"It wasn't pretty, but it was a win," he said. "It's my first and I'm proud of it." Sandusky's players gave him the game ball as a tribute. He is now 1-2 and the Colts are 2-6, tied with the Pats for third in the American conference East.

Sandusky wondered for awhile if he would survive the "beer bottle touchdown."

In the second quarter with Baltimore ahead 7-3, New England fans were booing over an interference call and another penalty for roughing the passer.

Domres flipped back to Don Nottingham and the chunky runner bounced untouched into the end zone. But, by golly, it wasn't a touchdown. Some unhappy Patriot fan had saved a score with his beer bottle.

One official, the back judge, said he had called timeout amid all the noise after spotting the bottle lying in the end zone.

The unhappy Colts tried it again, but failed. They settled for a nine-yard field goal by Jim O'Brien.

Stork Leads Frisbee Win

By HENRY GOTTLIEB
Associated Press Writer
NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — In the annal of championship Frisbee, mark down this name: "The Stork."

Dan "Stork" Reddick holds the national long distance Frisbee throwing record and he led Rutgers to a 29-27 victory over Princeton on Monday in the first intercollegiate Ultimate Frisbee game.

"Long live the Stork!" cried one ecstatic Rutgers fan. "Have you ever seen anything like it? He's beautiful!"

Frisbee is the game played with a plastic disc, nine inches in diameter, which floats through the air like a flying saucer about to land or a discus thrown at 60 miles per hour.

Ultimate Frisbee is a relative of football. One team "flings off" to the other, which tries to pass the disk down the field until the Frisbee sails over the goal line into an offensive players hands. If the Frisbee touches the ground the defensive team gains possession and moves it in the opposite direction. The playing field is 60 by 40 yards and the game lasts 48 minutes.

Players are not allowed to run with the Frisbee, only pass it, and a touchdown is scored much the way a touchdown is scored in football. One important rule: No tackling.

When the two teams began playing it appeared that the brawny Princetonians would rout their lighter opponents, as the Tigers jumped off to a 3-0 lead.

But then "The Stork" struck. His long bomb downfield for a touchdown was followed minutes later by a tally in which "The Stork" leaped high to snare the wobbling platter before a crowd of Tiger jerseys could bring it down.

Reddick, at 6-foot-3 the tallest man on the field, quickly became the favorite of the crowd of about 1,000 that gathered to cheer for the home team.

Huskers Closing On Bama; Heels On List

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The top 13 teams in The Associated Press college football ratings, headed by Southern California, remained unchanged today but the defending national champion Nebraska Cornhuskers closed in on second-ranked Alabama.

Southern Cal, a 44-3 victor over Washington State for its ninth consecutive triumph, received 40 first-place votes and 978 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Louisiana State's last-second 17-16 squeaker over Mississippi enabled the Tigers to hold onto Alabama trounced Mississippi State 58-14 and picked up three first-place ballots and 821 points while Nebraska trimmed Colorado, rated 15th last week, 33-10 and received five votes for No. 1 and 797 points.

Fourth-ranked Michigan got one first-place vote and 708 points after beating Indiana 21-7 while the other top vote went to No. 5 Ohio State, which downed Minnesota 27-19 and earned 600 points.

Louisiana State's last-second 17-16 squeaker over Mississippi enabled the Tigers to hold onto sixth place, followed by Oklahoma, UCLA, Texas and Penn State. Oklahoma turned back Iowa State 20-6, UCLA overtook Stanford 28-23, Texas defeated Southern Methodist 17-9 and Penn State drubbed Maryland 46-16.

Auburn remained atop the Second Ten, followed by Notre Dame, Tennessee, Missouri, Texas Tech, Colorado, Iowa State, North Carolina and Arizona State, with Stanford and Yale tied for 20th.

Last week, the Second Ten consisted of Auburn, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Iowa State, Colorado, Missouri, Louisville, Texas Tech, Air Force and Arkansas.

Louisville, Air Force and Arkansas dropped out of the Top Twenty by losing, respectively, to Tulsa 28-26, Army 17-14 and Texas A&M 10-7.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Bowman Snares Southern Honor

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The first reaction of Virginia Military Institute running back Mac Bowman after the Keydets snapped an 18-game football losing streak last Saturday by beating Furman's Paladins 31-7 was "victory is so sweet."

It was only the third triumph by the Keydets in the 31 games in which Bowman—a 5-foot-11, 194-pound senior from Thomson, Ga. has played and this one, in the words of VMI Coach Bob Thalman, "was, I think, the best game of his career."

For his performance, which included 165 yards and three touchdowns on 37 carries, Bowman today was named Southern Conference offensive player of the week.

It was the best running day for a Keydet back in three years, and Bowman's efforts loosened up the Furman defense so quarterback Tom Schultze could hit on 10 of 17 passes.

Bowman, an honor student majoring in English and preparing for a medical career, led the Keydets last year in both rushing and scoring, but he had been slowed down part of this season with injuries.

There was nothing wrong with him Saturday.

"Mac did a great job breaking tackles and banging out the difficult yardage up the middle," said Thalman. "His play helped the rest of our offense perform most satisfactorily."

The key play to Thalman was a 28-yard scoring run on fourth down and four that rallied the Keydets from a 7-0 deficit.

"I can't say enough good things about Mac because he's hung in there with us, stayed with us through some tough times," Thalman said. "He's given us his best effort."

Runner-up for the award was sophomore tailback Terry Regan of William and Mary, who ran for 145 yards and two touchdowns and kicked eight extra points in the Indians' 56-9 rout of Davidson.

Mark Shelton, Richmond's junior cornerback, was named defensive player for 10 individual tackles and five assists in the Spiders' 21-7 victory over The Citadel. Defensive runner-up was sophomore linebacker Danny Kepley of East Carolina.

Cougars Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Utah Stars have emerged the winners of an American Basketball Association battle of division leaders, overcoming the Carolina Cougars 124-112.

Their game at Raleigh Monday night was the league's only scheduled contest and it found the Stars, Western Division leaders, improving their record to 10-5 while dropping East-leading Carolina to a 9-5 mark.

Billy Cunningham, who stormed the nets for 41 points against the New York Nets Saturday night, had a game high 29 points against Utah, while getting 25-point help from Mack Calvin.

Utah had six players in double figures, led by Glenn Combs' 24. Willie Wise and Ron Boone each had 23 and Jimmy Jones added 22 for the Stars.

Utah was ahead by as many as 15 points in the second period and led 64-53 at halftime.

Carolina managed to pull within a point at 94-93 early in the fourth quarter but with less than two minutes remaining, Utah was in front 116-112 and scored the last eight points.

In the only National Basketball Association game played, the New York Knicks turned back Portland 111-95.

Bucs Are In Third

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) — William & Mary runners swept the first seven places and the Indians won the Southern Conference cross country championship for the seventh straight year Monday.

Bill Louv had the best time, 30 minutes and 19 seconds over the six mile course. An injury prevented Ron Martin from defending his title but he wasn't needed as William & Mary placed all its 12 runners among the top 17.

Low score wins in cross country, and the Indians had a record low of 15 points to 65 for

Other team totals were The Citadel 108, East Carolina 111, VMI 133, Davidson 152, Appalachian State 183, Richmond 185.

Louv won by 16 seconds over runnerup Mac Collins and by 28 seconds over John Greenplate, the third finisher.

WEEKLY PRIZES

1st PRIZE

$15.00

2nd PRIZE

$10.00

CONTEST RULES

1. Thirty-two football games are placed in the ads on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winners each week will be awarded $15.00. Second place $10.00.
2. Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the week's games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties. In the event of a further tie the money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
3. Only one entry per week per person. The contest is open to all except employees of The Daily Reflector and their immediate families.
4. Entries must be in The Daily Reflector office not later than 5:00 p.m. Friday or post marked not later than Friday p.m. Address entries to: "FOOTBALL CONTEST", P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. (Reasonable Facsimiles also accepted)

The Worry Clinic

You Can Deter Muscle Cramp

Harmon's paralyzing pain afflicts millions who cool off too long before taking a hot bath after strenuous exercise. Even sitting in front of TV after heavy exertion can also give you similar paroxysms of pain!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case V-538: Harmon T., aged 38, had a painful attack last night.

"Dr. Crane," he grimaced, "I felt that death would be welcome if I could get free from the burning cramps on the inner sides of both my thighs."

"For I had been raking leaves and carting them away in a wheelbarrow."

"It was almost dusk when I finished the job."

"So I stopped to talk with a neighbor and we stood there at the fence for maybe half an hour."

"Then I came in and took a quick shower, after which I decided to go to bed early."

"But soon after I fell asleep, I was awakened with terrific cramps in both thighs."

"I tried to get out of bed, but the pain was so great I couldn't even move!"

"As a result, I lay there suffering and beating on my cramped thighs with my fists, hoping to stop the torture.

"This sort of thing has happened several times previously, so what causes such cramps?"

Muscle Cramps

Did you readers ever see a tiny electrical spark applied to the muscle of a frog?

If so, you'll recall that the muscle contracted strongly.

Well, tiny droplets of acid can produce the same reaction as an electrical spark.

And whenever we exercise our muscles, lactic acid is produced therein.

Lactic acid is the same as the acid you taste in sour milk.

But the millions of tiny muscle fibers exude minute droplets of lactic acid throughout the muscles that have been active.

The two longest muscles in the body are the sartorius (tailor) which run from the hips across the inside of each thigh and clear down to the shin bone.

They are the ones that caused Harmon to wake up in such pain he couldn't get out of bed.

I have had the same excruciating experience and doubtless so have most of you readers.

For when we perform unusual muscular exertion and then cool off too soon afterwards, our blood vessels contract.

So they don't flush out those millions of tiny acid droplets in our larger muscles.

Instead of standing for 30 minutes chatting with his neighbor while his body grew chilled, Harmon should have headed immediately for the bathtub and taken a prolonged shower.

For if you submerge in the tub or stand under a hot shower for an extra 5 to 10 minutes, the heat will send more blood surging through those muscles and thus dissolve far more of those acid droplets!

If, however, you fail to do so and still wish to ward off a severe bout of cramps after you go to bed, fill a hot water bottle and hold it between your thighs.

For its prolonged heat will likewise dilate the blood vessels and thus wash out the lactic acid droplets.

Sometimes pregnant women complain of cramps, too, due to calcium deficiency.

But any type of cramp will fade out under heat!

You married folks are lucky, for if you are paralyzed by the pain and can't get out of bed, just ask your devoted mate to get the hot water bottle and FAST!
