In Wake Of Holshouser's Election

New Spur To Legislative Reforms Seen

By YVONNE BASKIN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — A Democratic legislative leader says the election of a Republican governor may accelerate the move toward annual sessions and other reforms in the North Carolina General Assembly.

"The General Assembly in the past basically was not willing to put forth the time and effort to do research on needed programs," said Rep.

James E. Ramsey, D-Person.

"They always waited for the executive branch to send over programs. But I think the next session will take more initiative, and as far as the governor's package is concerned, will take a closer look."

Ramsey is considered the leading contender for speaker in the 1973 House.

Other veteran legislators contacted Wednesday said they do not think Republican

Gov.-Elect Jim Holshouser will have any trouble in working with the Democratic-controlled General Assembly.

The Republican victory tide in Tuesday's general election enabled the GOP to pick up 20 legislative seats. This brings the GOP total to 15 of the 50 senators and 35 of the 120 house members.

The 50-member GOP delegation will be the party's biggest representation in this century, eclipsing the 1928 sweep when they had 49.

Sen. Gordon Allen, D-Person, who is expected to be chosen president pro tem of the 1973 Senate, agreed with Ramsey that the election of a GOP governor could "do a great deal of good" for legislative reform.

And, he said, "I don't think it'll be any great difficulty working with Jim Holshouser because he's had experience in the General Assembly, knows many of the members and knows the legislative process."

"Had the Republicans elected someone who had not been active in North Carolina government, then I would say we'd have many problems," Allen added.

Veteran Democratic Sen. Ralph Scott of Haw River, uncle of Gov. Bob Scott, said, "I don't think we'll have any trouble working with him. I'm going into the whole thing with an open mind. I've worked with him in the past."

Scott said there's no doubt Holshouser will get along better with a Democratic legislature than Jim Gardner, Holshouser's opponent in the primaries, would have.

Ramsey said he thinks Holshouser's election "will accelerate the move toward annual sessions. He said it would also speed the movement toward hiring of a permanent research staff for the legislature."

"I think it will be beneficial to the people, but it will cause more work for the executive branch and the legislature. It's going to be a more interesting and productive session."

Both Ramsey and Scott said they did not anticipate any sentiment among Democrats to remove some of the governor's appointive powers—one of the chief powers of the state's chief executive.

Several incumbent legislators were swept out of office by the voters Tuesday.

These included the entire Democratic delegation in the 28th House District, Reps. P. C. Collins of Alleghany, J. Worth Gentry of Stokes and George W. Marion Jr. of Surry were defeated by Republicans Clyde R. Greene of Watauga, Marshall Hall of Stokes and William S. Hiatt of Surry.

Another casualty was Democratic Sen. Zeb D. Alley of Haywood and Democratic Rep. Erwin Patton of Macon. Rep. Mark Short, D-Guilford, and Republicans Howard A. Jemison of Forsyth and Ted Hunt of Guilford were also defeated.

The 1973 legislature will include seven women, the largest number in state history. And returns showed the General Assembly's two black members, Rep. Henry Frye, D-Guilford, and Rep. Joh Johnson, D-Robeson, both won reelection.

Spirit Of Cooperation Evident

Scott, Holshouser To Meet On 'Transition'

RALEIGH (AP) — Republican Gov.-elect Jim Holshouser planned to meet with Democratic Gov. Bob Scott today to begin arranging the transition to North Carolina's first GOP administration in 72 years.

Holshouser told a special press conference Wednesday that he has already talked with Democratic Lt. Gov.-elect Jim Hunt and there is a "spirit of cooperation" between them.

"Many of our ideas are the same," he said.

Holshouser made it plain that cabinet secretaries and heads of state agencies will be replaced by Republicans, saying "we will want our own team" at the top in Raleigh.

Republican U.S. Sen.-elect Jesse Helms said in an interview Wednesday that he has already begun making arrangements for his move to Washington.

Helms, the first Republican elected to the Senate from North Carolina in the 20th Century, said his election means "the people ... think for themselves."

"It means that the people of North Carolina are sick and tired of the kind of pap that is being fed to them by the editors of the major daily newspapers in this state," he said.

Helms said his initial priorities would be economy in government, farming and committee assignments.

Helms, a Raleigh broadcast executive, and Holshouser, a veteran legislator and former state Republican chairman from Boone, rode into office on the tide that gave President Nixon 70 per cent of the vote in North Carolina Tuesday.

Large numbers of Democratic voters went Republican for the top three offices on the ballot and then reverted to straight party tickets for Democratic candidates.

The Democrats won not only the lieutenant governor's post but all over statewide offices as well. The party also preserved its seven to four advantage in the U.S. House delegation.

The GOP tide enabled the Republicans to pick up 20 legislative seats, giving them a total of 50 of the 170 seats. This is the biggest GOP representation of the century, but the Democrats will still control the Senate 35 to 15 and the House 85 to 35.

Holshouser told the news conference Wednesday that he feels his campaign reached its peak when President Nixon visited North Carolina Saturday. He said the visit was a contributing factor in his victory over Democrat Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles.

He also said he thinks "over-spending" by Bowles had something to do with the outcome of the race. Bowles reported he had spent $1.3 million while Holshouser spent about $300,000 through mid-October.

"We have proved you can win without spending a lot," he said. He added that he considers his victory "an indication that the people are ready for a change after 72 years."

Helms said he was undecided about the effect of Nixon's campaign appearance in Greensboro.

Indicates A 'Different Direction'

Nixon Eyes 4 Years Of Reform Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon foresees an exciting second term in which he will press major reforms for a trimmer federal government and foster more self-reliance by the American people.

And he hopes, Nixon said, to lead the nation out of a crisis of the spirit—"the whole era of permissiveness"—toward "a new feeling of responsibility, a new feeling of self-discipline."

The Washington Star-News quoted Nixon today on his philosophy of government and his outlook for the next four years in a copyrighted story by Garrett D. Horner, its veteran White House correspondent.

Horner interviewed Nixon at San Clemente, Calif., for nearly an hour last Sunday.

Nixon referred only briefly to the current Vietnam negotiations. "I am completely confident that we are going to have a settlement. You can bank on it," he said.

On foreign policy generally, he likewise forecast "an exciting period" ahead though not "as spectacular as the year 1972" with its Moscow and Peking summits.

He said his second term will accomplish more than the first in foreign affairs because it will build on his initial steps. He spoke for forthcoming negotiations concerning Europe, of more strategic arms cut talks with the Soviets, of a fresh effort for a Mideast settlement.

Mainly Nixon dealt with the domestic scene, indicating a conservative—he called it basically centrist—course for the next four years.

Going beyond Wednesday's White House announcement of a planned shakeup in the administration's executive staff, Nixon said:

"If you look at the Nixon proposals in the first four years ... when you look at them over the next four years, this will be known as an administration which advocated—and if we get proper support in the Congress after the election, was able to accomplish more significant reform than any administration since Franklin Roosevelt's in 1932; but in a different direction."

"Roosevelt's reforms led to bigger and bigger power in Washington ...

"The reforms that we are instituting are ones which will diffuse the power throughout the country and which will make government leaner, but in a sense will make it stronger. After all, fat government is weak, weak in handling the problems."

"It is our responsibility," he said, "to find a way to reform our government institutions so that this new spirit of independence, self-reliance, pride that I sense in the American people can be nurtured."

The Star-News account quoted these highlights from Nixon's remarks:

The election—It was settled the day Democratic Sen. George McGovern was nominated for president. McGovern's views "probably did not represent even a majority of Democrats. They certainly represented a minority of the country."

Foreign policy—The second round of U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—starting Nov. 22 will be more important than SALT I, which produced agreements to limit defense nuclear weapons and some offensive ones.

The Middle East "will have a very high priority." U.S. policy toward Cuba will not change unless Castro changes his attitude.

Domestic policy—He will "shuck off" and

"trim down" social programs set up in the 1960s that he considers massive failures largely because they just "threw money at the problems."

Taxes—

"There will be no solutions of problems that require a tax increase ...

"I am convinced that the total tax burden of the American people, federal, state and local, has reached the breaking point. It can go no higher."

Current Theories Of Human Evolution May Be Upset By Old Skull

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The discovery of a fragmented skull, believed the oldest complete skull of early man, could upset the current theory of modern man's evolution, a Kenyan scientist said today.

Researcher Richard Leakey said the skull is 2.5 million years old and is "almost certainly the oldest complete skull of early man." He estimated it is 1.5 million years older than bones previously accepted as the earliest evidence of man.

Leakey said the skull fragments, along with human leg bones from two other individuals of similar antiquity, were found protruding from a stony hillside on a wind-swept, scrub-covered desert east of Lake Rudolf in Kenya.

The largely unexplored region is 500 miles north of Olduvai Gorge, Tanzania, where the finds of Leakey's parents, Dr. Mary Leakey and the late Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey, "revolutionized the study of prehistoric man," according to the National Geographic Society.

Leakey, administrative director of the National Museums of Kenya, announced the discovery of the skull and leg bones in reports prepared for the society and for presentation to a scientific meeting in London today.

"While detailed studies on the new discoveries will take some time to conclude," he said, "preliminary comparisons with other evidence indicate that the new material will take a central place in the rethinking and re-evaluation of the evidence for the origin of Homo sapiens (modern man's species)."

He explained that current theory holds that Homo sapiens evolved, within the past 2 million years, from "Australopithecus," a primitive creature having the physical characteristics of both ape and man.

But now, he said, the new East African finds provide "clear evidence" that, rather than evolving from Australopithecus, a "large-brained, truly upright and two-legged form of the genus Homo existed contemporaneously with Australopithecus more than 2.5 million years ago."

"Throughout the time range of deposits at East Rudolf," he added, "the two hominid (man-like) lines are represented and it would seem that Australopithecus, as known, can be excluded from our line of ancestry."

Minesweepers Pacific-Bound

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Helicopter minesweeper units are scheduled to leave for the Pacific this week amid speculation they will be used to remove U.S. mines from North Vietnam harbors, the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot reports.

The newspaper also said the amphibious assault ship Inchon, a helicopter platform, was to leave today for the Pacific. Some Navy sources think the Inchon will be used as a landing area for the minesweeping helicopters, the paper added.

City Council Has 21 Items On Agenda Tonight

Greenville's City Council tonight faces 21 items on the agenda for the November meeting at 8:00 p.m. in City Hall.

Two public hearings are scheduled under old business—one on the David T. Greer property on the north side of State Road 1529, from the offensive industry to RA-20; the second on the J.T. Manning, Jr. property located on the north side of U.S. 264 bypass west, from RA-20 to neighborhood commercial.

Also under old business are: appointments to boards and commissions; a resolution of confirmation of assessment rolls for curb, gutter and paving on Washington, Allen, Van Dyke, Church and North Pitt Streets and East Gum Road; curb and gutter only for Avon Lane; requests for renewal of mobile home permits by Mrs. Elsie Simons, 310 Hooker Road; Rudy Lloyd, 2117 Montclair Drive; and Walter C. Blount, 1302 Ward Street; and a study of convenience commercial uses in multi-family complexes.

Another agenda item is the annual audit report for the City of Greenville for 1971-72, with council members to consider approval of $3,560 in funds to cover the cost of the audit made by Worsley, Farley and Prescott, Inc.

Under new business, the Business and Professional Women's Club are requesting appointment of a Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women; request for mobile home permits by Tarheel Toyota at the intersection of Trade and Bismark Streets, and International Mobile Homes at the corner of Greenville Boulevard and St. Andrews Drive.

Also under new business are: four requests for taxicab permits; a petition requesting the acceptance by the city of River Bluff Road; bids for the purchase of fire hose for the City of Greenville; an employee classification plan amendment; naming of the major thoroughfare loop; requests to consider authorization of City Manager W.H. Carstarphen to sign City of Greenville voucher checks and to act as cosigner to the safe deposit box to the City of Greenville; a request for refund on city taxes in the amount of $7.62; and a request for rezoning of Tuckahoe North Development area from RA-20 zoning to three other zonings—unoffensive industry; highway commercial; and office and institutional.

Road Funds For Pitt, Greene

RALEIGH — Pitt County has been allocated more than $14,000 for one secondary road project while Greene County will receive more than $21,000 for one secondary road project.

The project in Pitt will include more than .3 of a mile of improvement on secondary road 1100. The project will include widening and curb and gutter.

The Greene County project includes 1.1 miles of paving on secondary road 1207 from secondary road 1210 to secondary road 1205.

Computer Date Firm Dupes Lonely Widow

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Forgive me if I make many mistakes, but I was not brought up in English. I am a widow, 45 years old, and lonely for male companionship, as are many others. I read an advertisement promising dating by computers. I foolishly answered this ad which supposedly had offices in West Hartford, Conn.; Manchester, N. H.; Boston, Mass.; Portland, Me.; and Providence, R. I. I paid $295 and was promised two "computer matched" dates per month over a period of 36 months. The contract was full of phrases like "if possible" and "if necessary" and "do not guarantee." But is there no recourse against these people who disappeared in thin air? I should have been smart enough to see this trap, but they talk so fast while they are with you, that like an idiot you sign the contract without realizing that you are being taken.

Anyway, after I paid my money and no dates were arranged, I went to the police with my contract and all the correspondence. They looked it over and said that it had been so cleverly worded, I was hooked. But they told me to write to the Department of Consumer Protection and to the Better Business Bureau, and if I [and others who had been taken in as I was] would do the same, these people would be in hot water one way or the other.

I hope you will print this, Abby, so others who have been robbed as I was will write to the above mentioned places and complain. ROBBED AND ANGRY

DEAR ROBBED: Another suggestion: never sign any kind of contract or agreement without having a lawyer look at it first.

DEAR ABBY: Grandfather was worried because his 5-year-old grandson was flying alone by plane from one coast to the other. He said, "the boy needs more than a couple of stewardesses who do nothing but grin at him like a couple of Cheshire cats."

Has he ever seen Cheshire cats deal with skyjacks, bomb threats, or passengers who are sightless, hard-of-hearing, crippled or drunk? Has a Cheshire cat ever given oxygen or dealt with any number of medical emergencies such as heart attack, seizure, or the premature birth of a baby? Has he ever seen a Cheshire cat carry luggage, change diapers, warm bottles and play games with children, or relieve the anxiety of an elderly passenger on her first flight?

It's my opinion that the boy would be safer in the care of a stewardess than with his grandfather. Or hasn't grandpa got all his marbles? STEWARDESS

DEAR STEWARDESS: Grandpa probably has all his marbles, but he doesn't have all his facts. Thanks for filling him in.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Plan Ahead To Make Christmas Shopping Pleasant

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
UPI Family News Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Conventional Christmas shoppers launch the think-phase of gift-buying excursions somewhere between Halloween and Thanksgiving. It's planning time.

Non-conventional shoppers come in two types—early bird and last minute. The early birds did most of their shopping during year-end clearances right after last Christmas. They bought cards and gifts at big savings. Some of their gifts may be well-received but many are destined to wind up as donations to white elephant sales.

Don't envy the early birds. Rather, gloat over the fact that at least your gifts will be fresh merchandise. Don't try to be a last minute type either. They put about as much thought behind each gift as the early birds. Besides, the last minute types live dangerously. How do they know they'll really get all the shopping done before the store closes Christmas Eve? How do they know the right sizes will be in stock? And the wanted colors? They shop along an ulcer trail.

With a little planning you not only avoid the last minute crush, but you might even stretch the gift dollars. With enough time, you can search for genuine bargains. You'll be ahead. Some tips to help you in the days ahead:

—Draw up a gift list, complete with sizes, if clothing purchases are contemplated. Put down in advance gifts wanted for each person. If that person has expressed interest in a specific gift (anything that fits your budget), note that. List hobbies, too. A gift that ties in with a hobby always is welcome.

—Once the list is drawn consider how many gifts can be ordered either via phone or by mail or home shopper services of department stores. Gifts ordered this way are perfect for the out-of-towners on your list. No need to wrap and mail. Santa's helpers at the store will take care of that chore.

Budget Gift Spending
—During the planning stage budget your Christmas shopping dollars. If you are going to charge some things be sure you don't overcharge—getting in over your head, that is. Nothing hurts like paying for Christmas gifts all the way to next Christmas!

—When it comes to children, check with their parents about the suitability of a specific gift. That is, if you don't know the child well enough to buy sensibly. Shopping for children the guesstimate way usually means disappointment for the child on Christmas Day and a trip by some adult to the mad, mad world of exchangeland in the days after Christmas.

—Some organized types put their lists on index cards—the three by five kind. They wear better when being toted in a purse through the weeks of shopping. Folding and unfolding a list on a piece of paper wears it out.

Organization also helps you to get the Christmas card addressing job done piecemeal. Bring your list up to date, first. Then put in a supply of stamps. Five or 10 cards a night for a week or two and presto—the job is done.

It all sounds easy and quite simple here. Following the tips, however, takes discipline. If you need incentive, think of all that calm you'll have the week before Christmas when all about you are losing theirs. You'll have time to decorate the house, make Christmas cookies, shop for victuals for the holiday feast, clean the house, polish the silver—wax the floors and—do a thousand other things.

COOKING IS FUN!

SHUN LEE PALACE CHICKEN

A delicious recipe adapted from one served at a fine New York restaurant.

2 whole boned and skinned chicken breasts
1 egg white
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons salad oil
1/2 cup frozen baby green lima beans, thawed
1/4 cup coarsely chopped green or red pepper
1 teaspoon finely chopped peeled fresh ginger root, if available
2 scallions (green part included), sliced thin

Savory Sauce, see below
Cut each chicken breast in half lengthwise; slice crosswise so strips are about 3/4-inch wide. In a small mixing bowl stir together the egg white and cornstarch until smooth; add chicken and mix well. In a 10-inch skillet or wok heat the oil; add chicken and stir-fry over moderate heat until it turns white and is cooked through—a matter of minutes. Add lima beans, green pepper, ginger root (if used) and scallion; mix well. Add Savory Sauce and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Makes 3 servings.

Savory Sauce: Stir together until smooth 2 tablespoons dry sherry, 1 1/2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 tablespoon water, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, 1 teaspoon cornstarch and white pepper to taste.

Both boneless and bone-in roasts of pork should be cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees. Research studies show that they need not be cooked to 185 degrees as was formerly recommended.

Pillows Evolve Into Furniture

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It was inevitable that the floor-sitting pillow set would find new ways to be comfortable. Ideas have run the gamut for those who have tried to devise furniture that would hug the floor.

For example, old-fashioned bolsters found in an attic were propped against the walls with gargantuan pillows on the floor to provide one girl with "upholstered magic carpets" as she calls them. Two or three bolsters provide a good back rest, she has found.

Now there are patterns available for making sofas, chairs and beds that take the guesswork out of the idea. It is a stitch, stuff, assemble project. Tubular-shaped units assembled with stuffed squares or other shapes help tubes become seating or sleeping units. A muslin pattern is stitched and stuffed and the fashion fabric is zippered over it and easily removed for cleaning.

Imagination can run riot in choosing fabrics. Stripes and printed canvas, corduroys and plushy fake furs are suggested. More ambitious types might like to try their hands at patchwork over muslin. Belting or bands of trim are suggested to keep tubes firm and provide decorative accents.

Stitch 'n Stuff furniture from patterns (Butterick) is expected to be big news on campuses and in children's rooms. It should also provide ideas for the pre-teen set, a young girl's first apartment, and people furnishing second homes on a budget.

The cost of such a project depends on the fabric and filler used. It may vary from store to store. One chair made of sailcloth with stuffing of chopped foam was made for approximately $40. This might be kept in mind as a gauge if one plans to pursue the idea.

SEW YOUR OWN — Sew up a room with make-it-yourself furniture patterns, versatile and durable and made in fabric, color and trim the home decorator chooses.

Primaries No Longer Decisive

Tuesday's general election was one of historic proportions for North Carolina. Certainly no one was surprised that the state went for President Nixon; that had been predicted for some time. Here in Pitt County only the size of the majority given the president offered any surprise, although this county had voted Democratic all through this century. In the Jesse Helms-Nick Galifianakis race for the U. S. Senate there was considerable interest. It was generally believed that the race had tightened up during its last days, particularly after a personal appearance by President Nixon last Saturday. Helms became the first Republican senator from North Carolina in this century after defeating Galifianakis by more than 100,000 votes. The popular former television editorialist also carried Pitt County in his march to victory. No doubt the biggest surprise of the election day was the victory of Jim Holshouser over Skipper Bowles; thus making Holshouser the first Republican governor of North Carolina in 70 years. Holshouser made a respectable showing here in Pitt County, where he campaigned a number of times during his fight for the GOP nomination and then the election. Unofficial totals showed Holshouser getting 8,673 votes in Pitt to Bowles' 11,333. Holshouser won in six precincts of this county which has a heavily Democratic registration. No doubt both Holshouser and Helms benefitted from the landslide victory of President Nixon in North Carolina and the nation. There also is no doubt that voting patterns in North Carolina have been greatly changed with this election. In January we will have a Republican senator and a Republican governor. The days are gone when the general elections will be decided at the conclusion of the spring primaries.

Set Southern Literary Study

By BRYAN HAISLIP
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — Fiction is truer than fact in telling the story of the South. Writers of the region have mapped its psychological terrain, recorded its social climate through stress and change, and captured the texture and flavor of its life.

"Southern writing is deeply rooted in time and place," explained Louis D. Rubin Jr., professor of English at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. "In their best work, Southern authors have perceived in the daily life around them a kind of meaning out of human experience which is true of many times and places." That means the value of 20th century writers such as William Faulkner, Thomas Wolfe, Eudora Welty and others is both regional and universal. Twenty-five leading scholars will come to Chapel Hill Nov. 30-Dec. 2, for a conference on Southern literary study, under auspices of the National Endowment for the Humanities. Conference co-chairmen are Rubin and Hugh Holman, Kenan professor of English on the faculty here. Insights From Literature "If literature is worth studying in terms of the insights it can offer into the society out of which it grows...then the literature of the American South constitutes a large and still largely unexamined resource for understanding the South and its people," said Rubin. Conference participants, representing universities in the U.S. and Canada will discuss three centuries of Southern literary production and develop suggestions for topics and areas which merit new or continued investigation. What scholars identify as Southern literature began long before there was a "South" as a geographic entity, Rubin noted. "It mirrors the rise, in the 19th century, of a self-conscious sectionalism which resulted in the abortive national impulse of the Civil War. It chronicles the long and often painful process whereby the region was integrated back into the national patterns. In its more recent phases it embodies the social and political change attendant to the breakdown of many of the region's separate and distinct ways," he recounted. While it is American, it also retains characteristics which make it different from the bulk of writing in this country. Current Remains Strong It reached a flowering in the so-called, Southern Renaissance of the '20s and '30s. Though not so dominant today, it remains a strong current in the mainstream of U.S. literary achievement. "To the extent that the Southern experience becomes like the rest of the country, Southern writing will cease to be as different," Rubin agreed. "We still have a long way to go. The influence of what the South is and has been is still very much a factor and worthy of critical study." Marks of the Southern style, Rubin said, include a fear of abstraction, a relish for sensuous experience, love of language, and a preoccupation with the surface texture of life rather than naked ideas. "The Southern writer is wary of falsifying experience by stripping it of its thingness," he said. Vivid images, outlandish shapes and forms, characters larger than life are traits of the Southern novel. At its best, that gives meaning deeply grounded in actuality; at worst, an infatuation with surface and bizarre effects. The essential value of Southern writing, Rubin said, is its capacity to judge human life against moral absolutes. Strong Community Sense The sense of community is strong in Southern writing, he remarked. Even when the individual is in conflict or shut out, he is bound to the society in which he has his being. Wolfe, the Tar Heel who ranks in the forefront of Southern writers, expressed it in the title of his final novel. "You Can't Go Home Again" tells both the estrangement and the attraction for his native region. Rising interest in Southern literary study makes the conference here timely. "Only in recent years have good critics and scholars begun to use the literature of the South in order to understand its underlying relationship with the life, the problems, the commitments, the unredeemed promises of Southern society," Rubin said. A recent survey indicated more than 110 colleges and universities offer courses in South literature, more than a third of them outside the southern states. A leader among them is the University here. What Southern writing says about the future of the region, Rubin commented, is that southerners will continue to be human beings judged by the full consequences of their humanity. "In terms of the issues they face in the process of change, the final confrontation will be on moral grounds," he said.

Early Blunders Beat McGovern

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's quest for the White House was doomed by the blunders of its infancy, errors that all his campaigning could never undo.

To the end they plagued his candidacy. And in the end they helped President Nixon attain one of history's great landings. In part, the fatal flaws stemmed from what McGovern had to do—or thought he had to do—to catch up and win the Democratic nomination in the first place. But two problems stand out above all the rest: —The admittedly ill-conceived McGovern proposal that every American be given $1,000 by the government. He dropped it, but was never able to forget it. And the Republicans used it to help implant the notion that, if elected, McGovern would give away the money of the workingman to people who refuse to work. —The case of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, the vice-presidential nominee McGovern deposed—after promising him 1,000 per cent support despite his tardy disclosure of past mental treatments. Those, and an assortment of other incidents, statements and slips, enabled Nixon's forces to make McGovern himself the central campaign issue. That effectively denied him the traditional offensive role of the challenger, and shielded Nixon from the necessity of any intensive personal campaigning to defend his conduct in office. It was particularly valuable to a president whose own campaign organization had been implicated in the June 17 wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters, and whose top White House aides had been accused of political sabotage and espionage.

And it was particularly frustrating to McGovern, struggling to take the attack, but always forced to defend. Nothing nettled him more than the fact that his own credibility, once rated his greatest asset, was put in question. It was the image of radicalism on one hand and indecision on the other that appeared the central McGovern problem. In that situation, McGovern steadily escalated the tone and wording of his attacks on Nixon and, in the process, aggravated the problem. He overstated his case, then had to defend the overstatements. It was a campaign McGovern began on Jan. 18, 1971, in desperate need of exposure and attention to propel him out of single figures in the public opinion polls. At that point, no one could foresee that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, then the towering favorite for the Democratic nomination, would be toppled in the 1972 primaries. For a year, McGovern campaigned almost unnoticed. He went through three press secretaries in search of someone who could help him command national attention. That quest, and the effort to shape an identifiably different position among Democratic contenders, helps account for the error that haunted McGovern to election day: the $1,000-grant proposal. McGovern unveiled it on Dec. 23, 1971, saying he would drop the welfare program and instead give about $1,000 a year to everyone from "the poorest migrant workers to the Rockefellers." The money was to be taxed back from the relatively affluent. He offered no estimate of the cost. As with his other proposals of those early days, it went almost unnoticed—to emerge months later as a major issue and a major problem.

Legacy Of Ezra Pound

WASHINGTON — Ezra Pound, who died in Venice 10 days ago, left to the world of letters a body of work, as poet and critic, that cannot be disdained. And in the tragic example of his own life, he left a question that cannot easily be answered. I met Pound only once, on the April afternoon in 1958 when his keepers released him at last from St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington. He had been there for 12 years, no crazier than half the world outside the walls, the victim of a vast embarrassment on our government's part. During the war years, when he was self-exiled in Italy, Pound made a series of propaganda broadcasts for the Fascist regime. It is ludicrous to suppose that these murky speeches had any corrupting effect on the mystified G.I.s who may have tuned him in. Nevertheless, Pound was arrested by advancing American troops in 1945, and subsequently was hauled back to Washington. Here a grand jury indicted him for treason — for adhering to the enemies of the United States, giving them aid and comfort. It was a ridiculous charge, but we did ridiculous things in those days — witness the treatment of the California Nisei. When his case came on for trial, the government pleaded insanity and accept confinement in St. Elizabeths, that would suffice. So Pound went off to the loony bin — his own sardonic phrase — and most of the world forgot him. A few fellow poets and critics remembered, but the man who probably did the most to win Pound's release was a dapper little fellow who worked for Dun and Bradstreet in Richmond, Harry Meacham. He labored for Pound's freedom in the truest sense of the word, as an amateur: One who loves. Meacham loved poetry, and he loved Pound's work. He must have written a thousand letters in his behalf. In any event, Pound was released that day to Harry Meacham's custody, and they drove triumphantly down to Richmond — the diminutive Meacham, perky as a chipping sparrow, and the great brooding eagle that was Ezra Pound: Flowing cloak, black pirate's hat, gray beard, his stunned and speechless mistress at his side. We met in one of the rococo drawing rooms of the Rotunda Club, and for more than an hour Pound harangued a few of us on the evils of government, bankers and Jews. It made no sense to me. As I wrote at the time, I could not tell if Pound were denouncing live Rothschilds or dead ones. He left as abruptly as he came. Shortly thereafter, as I recall, Pound wrote to say that he could obtain special railway privileges as a journalist in Europe if he were properly accredited. I had our job shop work up a certificate as gaudy as a papal bull, complete with rippled ribbons and a red wax seal, declaring him a foreign correspondent for the Rich-

Other Editors Say SST Redivivus?

(Greensboro Daily News)

Everybody knows that the supersonic transport is dead, killed by Congress a year and a half ago after one of the longest and most heated environmental battles Capitol Hill has seen. It was a great moment in the fight to halt rampant, mindless technology, and environmentalists have been smiling over it ever since. Well, those smiles may soon fade back into frowns. For the SST forces have been quietly building up for a renewal of the battle when the next Congress convenes. They are getting active support from Nixon administration officials, ranging as high as White House major domo John Ehrlichman. Congress, it will be recalled, refused to vote further funds for construction of the SST prototype. But the administration and its friends have found ways to keep money pouring into a holding action that amounts to continued funding. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, for example, is spending $11 million in the current fiscal year to design a new engine and body structure, and to research the impact of SST emissions on the atmosphere; in the last fiscal year, NASA spent $1.5 million for those purposes. Or there is the case of one Harold Johnson, a California professor who published papers sharply denouncing the SST. Now Dr. Johnson finds himself the recipient of a $400,000 government contract to study the effect of the SST on the atmosphere's ozone shield. "Johnson has been a critic," a government official says, "so we gave him the money, and he's going to find out what the answers are." To say the least, it will be very interesting to see what he comes up with. All parties to this resurrection effort have their reasons. The Boeing people still want the government to bail them out. The SST people in government hate to see all their labors go down the drain. Mr. Ehrlichman is from Seattle, Boeing's home town, and is understood to be planning to run for the Senate against Warren Magnuson. It does not seem to make a particle of difference to these people that when Congress killed the SST, it killed the SST. It did not authorize the expenditure of funds on subterranean projects aimed at keeping the SST alive. But the Nixon White House seems to regard the federal budget as its own property, and congressional encroachments are not to be permitted.

One out of every 10 men over 50 still keeps as a souvenir somewhere a tooth he had pulled earlier in life. Fat ladies are a softer touch for street beggars than thin ladies. Anybody who can make out a household budget and adhere to it strictly ain't me. I know something that Margaret Mead doesn't know and Dr. Joyce Brothers doesn't even suspect, but you'll have to guess what it is, because I don't want them to find out. More barbers than cops have flat feet. Wild wolves make better husbands than office wolves. A majority of people live out their lives without ever turning in a fire alarm. Two out of every four men who get their nails manicured are bald or on their way to baldness, and two out of every three are overweight. If you lend money only to men who still wear spats in public, you won't have to lend so often. Anybody who sleeps in a soft bed instead of a firm one has only himself to blame when he wakes up feeling like a sodden pretzel. Any guy who tries to get rich by inheriting money sweats more than one who earns it by hard work. It's easier to marry girls who wear purple dresses — but that's not a good reason to. It is always with a twinge of November 9, 1972 ROOSEVELT IS ELECTED were the headlines today and pictures of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice-President Garner appeared on the front page. Governor Roosevelt and John N. Garner were victorious at the polls yesterday on their promise of a "New Deal" to the voters of the nation. Democrats elected them to the Presidency and Vice-Presidency by an overwhelming majority. Pitt County gave the Democrats the greatest victory in history and North Carolina gave Roosevelt a majority of the votes.

Strength For Today

SAFETY FIRST

It has been announced that the House of Representatives approves three bills to stem major diseases. One of these bills would authorize a major program for control of communicable diseases by giving grants to states and localities for vaccination and other preventive efforts. It is dreadful indeed to think of the extent to which venereal disease has become a problem in our country. German measles and tuberculosis are also singled out for particular attention in the measure which would authorize 270 million dollars in outlays during the next three years for health programs.

Most of us would feel that this is a good expenditure of public funds. If we are going to grow big and powerful and then be decimated by disease, the advance will be negative rather than positive. Many of us can still remember when communities of ordinary size had pest houses for smallpox. Typhoid fever was so prevalent that thousands died each year. Today typhoid fever is not only a disease but a crime because it is the result of the failure of communities to take care of waste material, and when a case of typhoid fever turns up someone is liable to be arrested.

Certainly this is one of the most marvelous ages any generation was ever permitted to pass through, yet we are not a healthy generation. The age in which we live is dangerous because our cities could be shelled by submarines resting on the bottom of the ocean.

Safety first. Safety always. —By Earl Douglass

Truly Awesome Decisions Due

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A review of the domestic problems confronting President Nixon over the next four years provides the details hidden within that hackneyed cliché, "the awesome responsibilities of the presidency."

They are indeed awesome. Awaiting decisions are problems involving inflation, unemployment, economic controls, tax reform, budget deficits, welfare reform, health insurance, urban revitalization, education equality.

The list is endless, and if there are any clear-cut solutions they aren't evident. In fact, the demands of one problem are bound to impinge on the resolution of others, thus forcing uneasy, perhaps temporary, compromises.

Considering the present stage of technology, for example, the demands of ecology cannot be met entirely without slowing the productive process that provides the tax money. Already the country faces an energy crisis, partly because of this.

And as many millions now understand, it is still very difficult to battle inflation and unemployment in tandem because of the tendency of one to roar off in its own direction, to react on the other.

How will the big budget deficits be reduced? Financed? Those who have looked into the situation see little prospect for the administration to avoid a tax increase, distasteful as it is to everyone.

In fact, the probability of a tax increase arises at the very time Americans are expressing repugnance against overspending and reportedly are seeking tax reforms or reductions instead of higher taxes.

How do you keep those budget deficits within manageable proportions? Republican presidents traditionally have claimed to be against deficits, but Nixon nevertheless has been in the red every year but one since taking office.

That question becomes even more complex when you consider that while it is the President's budget he doesn't necessarily control it, especially when another party controls Congress, which passes on appropriations.

The difficulty in resolving any of these huge domestic issues that Nixon must face during the next four years is exemplified by the measures he felt were needed to restrain rising wages and prices.

The President claimed to be both politically and ideologically opposed to direct intervention in the market. Yet he was forced to do a complete about-face, not only for himself but for his party.

This suggests that the problems faced by society, by government, may be too complex for conventional approaches — and that the best that can be done until the issues are better understood may be a troublesome compromise.

GRIFTON — Twenty-six Grifton citizens participated in the oral presentation of Grifton accomplishments for the judges in the Coastal Plains Community Development contest last week. The event took place at the Grifton Library.

Those reporting and the groups they represented were: Elwyn Thompson, GRIP (Grifton Resources Improvement Program) safety and cleanup programs; Morris Wall, Community Easter Sunrise Service; Rev. W. S. Brown, Community Christmas Carol Sing; Lisa Patrick, Bible Club; Catherine Condon, beautification projects; Garden Club and Extension Homemakers reports; Ronnie Hardison, Veterans of Foreign Wars report. Also, Rev. Brown substituted for a Jaycee on the Jaycee report; and Oakley Reynolds substituted for Dr. Bill Rasberry on the Shriners report.

Others included Dick Moore, Chamber of Commerce and Shad Festival reports; Woody Mitchell, Rescue Squad and Rescue Squad Ladies' Auxiliary; Early Mullen, Lions Club; John Coward, town government; Jimmie Lewis, police department; Alan Armstrong, Ruritans; Gail Rogers, PRA, Ayden-Grifton High School; Judy Christopher, Service League; Patience Bosley, 4-H; Ed Coley, Little League football and baseball including Small Fry and Babe Ruth; Eddie McCullen, Senior Babe Ruth baseball; Donna

Gunter, Little League and Small Fry cheerleaders; Susan Howes, Girl Scouts; Allan Haseley, summer recreation program and new tennis courts; Gene Coley, Police Youth Club; and Mattie Dixon, Mattie's Minipark.

Color slides of a number of the projects were shown by Janet Haseley and a scrapbook of photographs and news clippings of Grifton accomplishments during the past year was prepared by Judy Christopher. This scrapbook and others from past years are on display at the Grifton Library.

After questions from the judges, Thompson took them on a short tour of the town. GRIP has entered this contest on behalf of the citizens of the

Offer Music For Children

The first of a music series for children this season is now scheduled for the Children's Library at Sheppard Memorial Library.

Camp Price, vice-president of the Student Music Educators National Conference and a senior in the School of Music, East Carolina University, will be in charge of the program this year.

The first program is to be held Saturday from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m., and will feature vocalists and instrumentalists. The musicians are Sigma Alpha Iota pledges.

In addition to performing for the children, the musicians will also give verbal descriptions of the instruments they play and furnish a brief explanation of the musical numbers.

The program of music for young people is geared to children of elementary age.

Miss Helen Parker, Children's Librarian, says that elementary age school children in Greenville are encouraged to attend the hour long program, which is free.

Announcement of other programs will be made by Miss Parker from time to time.

Humphrey hammered at the issue, called McGovern "the handout candidate," accused him of playing "the politics of deception."

Nixon's Republicans were carefully taking notes.

On Aug. 29, in a Wall Street speech, McGovern dropped the income-grant plan in favor of a federally financed welfare system to provide about $4,000 a year to a needy family of four. Again and again, he said it would give nothing to anybody able to work.

But the old proposal, and the impression it left, never stopped haunting his campaign.

Pound's Pisan Cantos are utterly beyond me. His earlier works also are hard going, most of them, but now and then one hits a lighter poem, or finds a sudden explosion of lightning in a single line, and his genius leaps from the page. This was a great poet.

A great poet, but by establishment standards, a bad man. He admired Fascists; he hated Jews. The question he leaves behind — the question I find so hard to answer — is whether the world of letters should officially honor a great poet who is also a bad man. Can the artist be judged apart from the artist's life? Writing last month in World magazine, critic Irving Howe said, no: He finds Pound's pervasive anti-Semitism beyond forgetting or forgiving. "The time has not come when Ezra Pound should be honored by his fellow writers."

the drama critics honor Jane Fonda? They have so honored her; they find her personal activism irrelevant. Should we see poetry as poetry, acting as acting, singing as singing, or do we properly look beyond the work of art? I think Pound, the poet, should have been honored in his lifetime, his badness kept out of the balance. But it is a question on which reasonable minded men will disagree, and I do not press the point.

Attend 3rd Annual Meet

The Superintendents of the Greenville and Pitt County School Systems and members of both school boards attended the third annual North Carolina School Boards Association held last week in Asheville.

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood and Arthur S. Alford, superintendents of Greenville and Pitt County Schools respectively; Greenville and Pitt County School Board chairmen Dr. Badger Clark, Jr., and Mark W.

Owens, Jr., as well as Pitt County board members Sam E. Nelson and Tom Patterson, represented the two school systems at the annual affair.

The meeting, held November 2, 3 and 4, was at the Grove Park Inn in Asheville. School board members and superintendents from across North Carolina gathered to discuss current education topics such as school finance, teacher tenure and legal procedures.

At the convention, a legislative program was formed for the association and a number of resolutions were passed.

Arrest 7 In Local Raid

Seven men were arrested here last night on charges of possessing marijuana with intent to distribute following a raid on an apartment in the Country Club Apartment complex off Memorial Drive.

According to the Police Chief Glenn Cannon, the seven, all students at East Carolina University, were placed under $2,500 bond each.

The arrests were made after officers — including Greenville police, Pitt ABC officers and ECU campus police — raided the dwelling unit about 10:25 p.m. and found some 160 grams of marijuana in the apartment.

Those charged in connection with the raid included Larry Craig Thompson, 20, of Lawson's Trailer Court; Benjamin Lee Braswell, 20, of 105 Country Club Apt.; Thomas Andrew Parkin, 21, and Bobby Freeland Green, 20, both of 26 Country Club Apt.; William Blue Miller, 20, of Shady Knoll Trailer Park; David Glenn Honeycutt, 20, of 12 Country Club Apt. and Otis Richard Tuter Jr., 20, of Lawson's Trailer Court.

Dr. Eliel Giving Seminar Lecture

Dr. Ernest L. Eliel, professor of chemistry at UNC-Chapel Hill, will speak at the regular Friday afternoon seminar sponsored by the East Carolina University Department of Chemistry Nov. 10.

Dr. Eliel's lecture is scheduled for 201 Flanagan Building, at 3 p.m. His topic is "Conformational Analysis as a Tool." Prior to his appointment to the Chapel Hill faculty this year, Dr. Eliel was chairman of chemistry at Notre Dame University. He is the author of numerous publications on stereochemistry and is considered one of the nation's leading organic chemists.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market skidded lower today amid investor concern over the economic policies of the second term of the Nixon administration.
At 11:30 a.m., the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had dropped 4.21 to 979.53. Declines took a 2-to-1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was heavy during the first hour, with the ticker tape behind at times, but the activity later slackened a bit.

The New York Stock Exchange index had fallen .27 to 61.85 at 11 a.m., while the price change index on the American Stock Exchange was off .03 to 26.08.

Bethlehem Steel, which closed ahead Wednesday after a favorable appraisal by a financial newspaper, led the active issues on the Big Board. It was steady at 28 1/2.

Glamour issues came under heavy pressure. Bausch & Lomb, which has been on the decline in recent days, took a small step forward and gained 1/4 to 22 1/4. Xerox, however continued its downward slide and lost 2 1/4 to 147 1/4.

Motorola slipped 1 1/2 to 119 after a negative assessment of semiconductor manufacturers carried Wednesday by a trade paper.

Trading in Talcott National was halted after a report that Gulf & Western Industries was negotiating to acquire the company. A unit of G&W, Associates First Capital Corp., later

No Charges In Auto Accident

An estimated $325 property damage resulted from an 8:25 a.m. collision here today on 14th Street about 50 feet West of the Evans Street intersection. Police reported cars driven by Charles Richard Buck, 34, of 1,000 Cedar Lane and James William Robert, 67, of 1901 Sherwood Dr. collided, causing an estimated $100 damage to the Buck auto and $250 damage to the Roberts car.

No charges were reported.

Tax Notices For Buyers In N.J.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Tax delinquency notices have been sent to 1,250 New Jersey residents who purchased cigarettes from a North Carolina vendor.
New Jersey officials said the cigarettes were bought from Mack Cullen Judge of Weldon, N.C., who also traded as Peanuts Co., TOT's, Carolina Co., ABC Sales, Mack's Shell Station, Bishop Sales, and Southern Enterprises.
Last December, Judge pleaded guilty in federal court in New York to charges of mail fraud. He was sentenced to 270 days imprisonment and fined $6,000.

Obituaries

Jones

Mr. Raymond C. Jones, 67, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Wednesday afternoon. He had been in failing health for four years and critically ill for three days.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Tom Holliday, Pentecostal Holiness minister of Williamston. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Mr. Jones, a Pitt County native, spent all his life near Greenville and was a retired farmer. He attended Meadowbrook Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Ethel Hardee Jones; two sons, Lenwood E. Jones of Greenville and S. Sgt. Garland W. Jones of the U.S. Air Force in Pearl City, Hawaii; three daughters, Mrs. Lewis H. Baker of Greenville and Misses Lucille and Betty Pearl Jones of the home; 12 grandchildren; one great grandchild; two sisters, Mrs. Herman Stancill of Grifton and Mrs. Luther Lewis of Bethel; four brothers, Charlie Warren Jones of Raleigh and Louis M., Johnny, and James W. Jones, all of Greenville.

The family will be at the Wilkerson Funeral Home to receive friends from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Harrington

AYDEN — Mrs. Hulda Smith Harrington, 61, died Wednesday in the Greenville Nursing and Convalescent Home after several months of illness.

Wife of the late Wayland Harrington, she was employed by Edwards Pharmacy here for the past 20 years. She was a member of the Ayden United Methodist Church and was a lifelong resident of Pitt County.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at Farmer Funeral Chapel by the Rev. L.T. Wilson and Rev. Gordon Hart. Burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery.

Surviving her are a son, Dr. Randall Harrington of Reston, Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Josh Branch and Mrs. William Branch, both of Greenville, and Mrs. Jamie C. Prescott of Elizabeth City; a brother, Harvey Smith of Rt. 2, Greenville; and four grandchildren.

Ipock

NEW BERN — Mrs. Macie Gault Ipock, 79, died Wednesday morning at Guardian Care Nursing Home here.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church here by the Rev. Murphy Smith, pastor. Burial will be in Cedar Grove Cemetery here.

A Fayetteville, Tenn. native, Mrs. Ipock was a graduate of Linwood College near Gastonia. She had been a public school teacher and for 35 years was postmistress at Ernul. Since her retirement, she had lived here. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Order of Eastern Star.

Surviving her are her husband, George W. Ipock; a daughter, Mrs. William Vogelsang of Richmond, Va.; and three grandchildren.

Robersonville Seeking Second Straight Class A Grid Crown

ROBERSONVILLE — The Robersonville High School Golden Eagles open their defense of their 1971 Class A Football Championship Friday night in Elizabeth City.

The Eagles will be facing the representative of the Tidewater Conference, Camden.

The Eagles, who haven't lost since the opening game of the 1971 season, will be shooting for their 23rd straight victory. If they reach 25, they'll have their second straight title in their grasp.

Game time is 8 p.m. at Northeastern High School, located near Elizabeth City.

"Camden is a ball-control team," Robersonville coach Noland Respass said. "They don't throw more than two or three times in a game."

Respass said that his opponent likes to keep the ball on the ground and that they have two real good backs who grind out the yardage for them. "They like to run right at you," he said.

"They have a real quick defense, too, and nobody has been able to score a lot against them," he added. The 7-1 Camden team shared the league championship with Knapp, one of the few teams to score as many as 12 points against them.

Camden got the bid, however, since Knapp won it last year. "They're real stingy on defense, so it's going to be a real test for us," Respass said.

The Eagles come into the game with an unbeaten 10-0-0 record on the season. Among their victims is 2-A playoff entry Williamston, and 1-A entry Saratoga.

"I feel we're beginning to peak," Respass said. "Things appear to be falling into place for us now. Our defense has been a little lackluster during the last few weeks, however, but I think they'll be ready."

The explosive Eagles run a multiple-type offense, using either a "short T" as Respass calls it, or a pro-set with a split backfield.

"Our passing game has carried us so far," the coach said. "But our running has improved with Jeffrey Carson and Sammy Gray running the ball. Our quarterback, Matt Wilson, may be our best runner, however."

Respass noted that Gray has scored 13 times so far this year. "At the start of the year, we thought we'd be doing good if our running backs produced one touchdown, so you can tell how pleased we are."

Wilson, however, is the key to the offense, throwing 17 touchdowns during the season. Ricky Brown, the split end, has been the target of eight of those.

"When we run, we're not real

Ricky Brown

strong off tackle like we were last year. But we can go outside a little better. What's really helped us has been the explosiveness of our passing attack. We look like we're not really moving that ball, and then, bam, we're in the end zone."

Defensively, as noted earlier, the defense hasn't quite been as bright as Respass would desire. But he credits some of this to the fact that the offense has done so well, and the defense has relaxed, and also to the fact that a lot of reserves have been playing recently. "We know our defense is good," he said. "We have three fine linebackers who anchor it," he added, referring to Tim Roberson, Joe Paul Edmondson and Tony Purvis.

On offense, the Eagles will probably start Ricky Brown and Harvey Whichard at ends, James Matthewson and Eddie Haislip at tackles, Ronnie Meeks and Tim Roberson at guards, Leon Wilson at center, Matt Wilson at quarterback, Joe Paul Edmondson and Sammy Gray at halfbacks, and Jeff Carson at fullback.

On defense, the Eagles will have Whichard and Larry Jackson at ends, Leon Wilson and Macso Andrews at tackles, Russell Clark at middle guard, Roberson, Edmondson and Purvis at the linebackers, and Mike Matthews, Lloyal Corey and Brown in the secondary.

Williamston, Camp Lejeune In Opening Round 2-A Confrontation

WILLIAMSTON — The Williamston Tigers start their quest for a 2-A State Football Championship Friday night, playing host to the Bulldogs of Camp Lejeune.

Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. on the Williamston field.

Camp Lejeune brings into the game a 7-1 record, and a strong passing attack.

Williamston, losing only its season opener to Robersonville, and the final, to Edenton, is 8-2, but it took a vote of the Albemarle Conference coaches to put the Tigers into the playoffs. They tied with Edenton and Murfreesboro for the title at the end of the season, all having 8-1 league records.

Coach Dinky Mills of Williamston, feels that the Bulldogs will fill the air with footballs during the game. "Against Pamlico, they threw the ball about 75 per cent of the time, but then threw only two more passes in the second half."

Running from the pro-I offense, Camp Lejeune, however, has the reputation of being a passing team. "They probably throw as much as they run, but they do like the pass attack. It's a characteristic of Camp Lejeune teams to pass," Mills said. "They do have one man, Keith Arthur, who is supposed to be a good runner, however."

On defense, Camp Lejeune runs a 5-2 and 6-2 defense, or at least this is what they showed in the game the Tigers scouted them at, against Pamlico. "Pamlico had a real good running back, and they contained him," Mills said. "Not many teams have scored a lot of points against them, and this may be their strong point. They appear to have a group of strong linebackers."

If defense is the strong point of the Bulldogs, Mills feels it is the weakness for the Tigers. "We feel we'll give up one or two touchdowns, so we've got to put several on the boards if we're going to win."

Mills feels that a lack of personnel is the problem for the Tigers. "We have a lot of people going both ways, and they get tired, although Edenton was the only team to really blow us out of there."

Mills said that Williamston appears to be more vulnerable to the running attack than to the passing game. "Our secondary doesn't do a real good job tackling the ball carriers who get through the line, but they do defend against the pass well."

Offensively, Mills feels the Tigers can play with about anybody. "If we have the football," he added. "Against Edenton, we just couldn't get hold of it. We ran only two offensive plays in the final quarter against them, and we had only five series in the whole second half, and we fumbled it away twice inside our 30 then."

But the Tigers can move the ball when they do have it, and use a mixture of the pass and the rush.

It's all centered around quarterback Mike Weaver, who has completed around 10 passes per game. "He's hitting over 50 per cent of his passes," Mills said. He added that Weaver had thrown for 11 touchdowns, covering 1,132 yards in the 10 games this year.

"He can run the ball too," the coach added.

But there is no real standout running back. "We've had a lot of people carrying the ball for us this year and they've all got about the same yardage. We've had several people hurt, but most of them are back now."

Two members of the team are question marks, however, fullback Henry Wiggins and defensive back Clifton Hudgins.

Offensively, Williamston expects to start Dwight Ange and Keith Biggs at ends, Robert Wiggins and Mike Rollins at tackles, Alvin Pearson and Vann Andrews at guards, Glynn Rollins at center, Weaver at quarterback, Wiggins at fullback, and Jeff Roberts and Mike Bundy at halfbacks.

When the Tigers are on defense, they'll field Joe Roberson and Billy Markland at ends, Harry Johnson and Ricky Holiday at tackles, Robert Wiggins, Carlton Dallas, and Jeffrey Roberts at linebackers, and Kenneth Speller, Phil Selby, Clifton Hudgins and Alonza Black in the secondary.

Bear Grass In Opening Loss

EDENTON — Chowan High School handed Bear Grass a pair of losses Tuesday night as the Bears opened the 1972-73 basketball season. The Bears fell, 40-18, in the girls contest, then bowed, 48-35, in the boys affair.

In the boys game, Chowan pushed through only eight points in the first period, but that was enough and the Bears weren't able to put a single point on the board. They warmed up in the second period, however, nipping Chowan, 16-15, during the period, but they still trailed 23-16 at the half.

The Bears continued to work on the margin in the second half, and outlived Chowan, 13-8, in the third period. That trimmed the lead to 31-29. But in the final frame, the Bears ran out of gas and couldn't pull their comeback off. Chowan outlived them, 17-6, and won going away.

Hilton Armstrong led the Bear Grass scoring with 12 points, while Vann Rogerson added 10.

In the girls contest, Chowan rushed away to a 15-6 lead in the first period, and increased their margin in each period along the way. They held a 6-2 margin in the second period, boosting the halftime lead to 21-8.

In the third quarter, Chowan again outshot the Lady Bears, 11-5, for a 32-13 lead as the last period got underway. They outshot Bear Grass again, 8-5, going to the wire to salt away the win.

Gloria Wobbleton led the Bear Grass scoring with seven points, while C. Layton had 13 and B. Byrum had 10 for Chowan.

Bear Grass travels to Lucama on Friday for their next outing.

Penn State Is Homecoming Trip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The football game at 10th-ranked Penn State Saturday will be a sort of homecoming for North Carolina State, 10 of whose 22 starters live in Pennsylvania.

Eighteen of the 58 players making the trip will be returning to their home state.

One of them, free safety Bob Divens, a junior from Trafford, Pa., says, "All you hear at home is Penn State, Penn State. Undoubtedly it will be the biggest game that we have played this season."

The N.C. State Wolfpack is 6-2-1, and has won its last five straight. It received votes for this week's top 20 teams, but didn't make the list.

Penn State has won its last seven after opening with a 28-21 loss to Tennessee.

The winner will be in line for a bowl bid.

Last week, Penn State won 46-16 over Maryland, which like N.C. State is in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Maryland held the Nittany Lions to 10-10 at halftime.

At the same time, N.C. State won 35-16 at Virginia, but the Wolfpack defensive unit gave up 428 yards to the Cavaliers.

North Carolina, 18th-ranked and seeking its second ACC crown in a row, will clinch at least a tie if it wins its home game against Virginia. The Tar Heels stressed pass defense Wednesday. Bill Cooley, the North Carolina coach, said, "We have tremendous respect for Virginia's great pass receiver Dave Sullivan. We think he's one of the finest receivers in the entire country."

At Virginia, defensive coordinator Joe Mark said the Cavaliers will have a rough time defending against North Carolina's strong running attack. He cited North Carolina tailbacks Billy Hite, Mike Oblesby and Sam Johnson, and fullbacks Tim Kirkpatrick and Dick Oliver.

Meet For Kick Title

BOONE, N. C. (AP)—Appalachian State and William and Mary will meet in Boone Saturday to determine the Southern Conference soccer championship, which Davidson won last year with a 1-0 triumph over the William and Mary Indians.

William and Mary again was northern division champion this season and Appalachian State won the southern division with a tie-settling 1-0 decision over Davidson.

Crumpler Up In Rushing Stats

The East Carolina defense continues to shine, and Carlester Crumpler moves higher in the rushing column according to this week's NCAA statistics.

But William & Mary owns one of the most potent offenses in the nation, and the "Wild Dogs" will be getting another of their stiffest tests this weekend.

Crumpler, who has been in the rushing column most of the year, moved into the all-purpose running group last week, and into the scoring leaders this week.

In rushing, he stands 12th with a 110.1 average. Howard Stevens of Louisville leads that category with a 150.7 yards per game average.

In scoring, Crumpler stands tied for 24th with a 7.5 points per game average. Harold Henson of Ohio State leads, scoring 12.9 points per game. Former ECU opponent Stan Fritts of N.C. State is fifth with a 10-2 average, while Terry Regan of William & Mary is tied for 22nd with a 7.6 average.

In the all-purpose running group, which includes rushing, pass receiving, and returning, Crumpler stands 15th with a 133.8 yards per game average. Stevens of Louisville is the leader here too with a 230.6 yard average. The Pirate defense is first in the nation in rushing defense, allowing 74.3 yards per game. They stand second in total defense with a 192.5 average. Nebraska leads at 179.8.

The Bucs have returned to the scoring defense category with a 12.1 average, good enough for 14th. Oklahoma leads the nation with a 4.6 average.

But William & Mary has the nation's 13th leading offensive team, averaging 415.4 yards per game this year. N. C. State stands seventh with a 433 average. The Indians are also 12th in rushing offense, grinding out 286.6 yards a game.

In other categories, ECU opponents are ranked high. In punting Jay Jones of Richmond is 12th with a 41.4 yard per kick average. Jim Hughes of The Citadel is 22nd at 40.7.

In interceptions, Dwight Mosley of Dayton (ECU's opponent next week) ranks third with an 0.9 interception per game average. Mike Stultz of N. C. State is sixth in punt returns with a 15.6 yard average.

State also stands 13th in passing offense with 207.0 yards a game, and 12th in scoring with a 32.9 average.

Philadelphia Drops 14th Straight As Kings Win Without Top Shooter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Philadelphia is losing in big numbers now. The 76ers have dropped 14 straight and the latest loss came at the hands of a team whose top shooter was hurt.

Nate Archibald of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings sprained his thumb in the first quarter of Wednesday night's game. It didn't stop him from scoring 34 points and dropping the 76ers 12 games out of first in the National Basketball Association Atlantic Division after just three weeks of the season.

"It's tough. It's very tough," said Philadelphia guard Fred Carter. "All we can do is just keep plugging."

Archibald, who leads the league in both scoring and assists, did some plugging of his own after he was injured.

"I found that I couldn't hit my jumpers so I had to pass off," the 6-foot-1 guard said. "I shot terrible (14-of-16). I couldn't hit anything but lay-ups."

The little star must have healed quickly as he hit 16 points in the final period. He also handed out 18 assists during the game.

The Kings, who trailed for most of the first half, got 23 points from rookie Ken Riley and took the lead for good in the third period. John Block led the 76ers with 35 points.

In other NBA games, Boston beat Golden State 128-111, Milwaukee topped Seattle 116-103, Baltimore beat Buffalo 126-94 and Phoenix whipped Cleveland 107-99.

Boston scored 40 points in the third quarter. Don Chaney had 11 in the third and 23 for the game. John Havlicek led the Celtics with 25 and JoJo White had 18. Rick Barry led Golden State with 34 points. Boston now leads the NBA Atlantic by one-half game over New York. The loss dropped the Warriors one game behind Los Angeles in the Pacific Division.

Milwaukee, led by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's 29 points and Bob Dandridge's 25, had little trouble with struggling Seattle. The Sonics were held to just three field goals in 8½ minutes of the third period. Spencer Haywood hit 29 points and John Brisker 27 for Seattle.

Elvin Hayes scored 25 points and grabbed 20 rebounds for Baltimore. The Bullets led 69-40 at halftime and won easily. Mike Riordan scored 20 for the Bullets while rookie Kevin Porter turned in 19 points and 12 assists. Buffalo's high scorers were Bob McAdoo with 18 points and John Hummer with 16.

Phoenix' Charlie Scott scored 35-point third quarter. Cleveland had led 54-45 at halftime before the Suns put on their rally. Austin Carr led the Cavaliers with 26 points. The victory was the Suns' third straight since General Manager Jerry Colangelo took over for Coach Bill van Breda Kolff.

Survivors Lead Cougar Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Billy Cunningham and Mack Calvin are survivors. The team Cunningham left is starting the season with 14 losses and Calvin's old club has disappeared completely.

Cunningham played for Philadelphia in the National Basketball Association last year. He departed to join the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association this season and the 76ers are now threatening to never win a game.

Calvin was a star for the ABA's Floridians but when the league pared itself he was tossed into the common draft and grabbed by Carolina.

It was a lucky break for both of them, but it has been luckier for the Cougars, who now are first in the ABA East. The new boys in town are doing everything Carolina thought they would and Wednesday night they led the Cougars to a 126-111 victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

Calvin scored 33 points and Cunningham 28 and each hit 12 points in the second quarter when the Cougars tallied 39 points to grab a 64-50 halftime lead after holding just a 25-23 margin after the first period. Carolina went on to get a 93-77 lead after the third period.

Joe Caldwell added 22 points for Carolina while Dan Issel hit 28 points to lead the Colonels.

In other ABA games, Indiana beat Utah 135-124, Virginia whipped Denver 116-111 and Dallas downed Memphis 128-118.

Indiana grabbed the lead in the ABA West by beating Utah as George McGinnis scored 35 points. It was the Pacers' seventh straight victory. Mel Daniels had 24 points and Roger Brown 22 for Indiana. James Jones led the Stars with 32; Ron Boone had 29 and Willie Wise 27.

Julius Erving had 38 points, 21 in the second half, for Virginia. The Squires had trailed Denver 65-64 at halftime but their defense, led by Roland Taylor, stiffened and they took the lead. Taylor hit 14 points for Virginia and Warren Jabali and Ralph Simpson each had 22 points for Denver.

Dallas, down by 14 points, came back to score 35 second-quarter points and went on to beat Memphis. Bob Netolicky led the Chaps with 28 points while Rich Jones had 27. Game scoring honors went to George Thompson with 29 for the Tams. Teammate Johnny Neumann had 22 points and Randy Denton 19.

Court Okays Hockey Jumps

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The new plutocrats of the sporting set — Bobby Hull, Derek Sanderson, John McKenzie and others who jumped from the National Hockey League to the World Hockey Association — have received an official court-room go-ahead to begin earning their riches.

A preliminary injunction issued Wednesday by U.S. District Court Judge A. Leon Higginbotham prohibits the NHL from enforcing its controversial reserve clause, which had given it a monopoly on the professional hockey player pool.

He stopped short at this time, however, from ruling the clause illegal.

The decision was a godsend for the WHA, which based its survival strategy on luring established stars for sky-high salaries. The order was set to become effective upon payment by the WHA of a $2.5 million bond.

So far, the new league has pretty much had to do without Hull, Sanderson and McKenzie.

The NHL Chicago Black Hawks, who lost Hull to the 10-year, $2.75 million pact offered by the Winnipeg Jets, got a court order keeping him off the ice.

Higginbotham's decision reverses that and allows player-coach Hull to start seeing action. The so-called "Golden Jet" was in uniform Wednesday night in the Winnipeg-Quebec game. He picked up an assist but Winnipeg lost 3-2.

The other NHL expatriates have been playing while their legal status awaited the judge's ruling.

However, Sanderson—who edged Hull in the moneybags sweepstakes with a five-year, $2.6 million deal from the Philadelphia Blazers—has been out most of the season with a shoulder injury and has been ineffective in the few games he's played.

McKenzie, like Sanderson a refugee from the Boston Bruins, has been out all year with a broken arm.

The broader question stemming from Higginbotham's ruling is its possible effect on the reserve clause, the means by which baseball, football, basketball and other major American sports as well as hockey keep their teams organized.

New Policemen For Greenville

LARRY BARNHILL

Two new officers have joined the Greenville Police Department, according to Chief Glenn Cannon.

Larry Darnell Barnhill, 22, of Grimesland, a 1969 G. R. Whitfield High School graduate, has joined the force as a uniformed patrol officer.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barnhill of Route 1, Grimesland, the new officer joined the U.S. Army after high school and served tours of duty at Fort Bragg, Fort Dix, Fort Leavenworth and in Viet Nam before entering a machinists course at Pitt Technical Institute in September 1971.

David Patrick Bundy Jr., 24, was raised in Farmville and graduated from high school there in 1966.

Employed by a telephone company for more than a year, Bundy entered Pitt Technical Institute and completed PTI's two-year Police Science course in 1969.

While attending PTI, Bundy worked part time for the Farmville Police Department. Upon graduation, he joined the Greenville Police Department for four months, then became a deputy with the Pitt County Sheriff's Department, a position he held until October 31.

According to Chief Cannon, Bundy has been assigned as an identification officer with the department's Records and Identification Bureau.

Bundy is a member of the Greenville and Winterville volunteer fire departments and a former member of the Farmville volunteer fire and rescue departments.

He is married to the former Betsy Hardin of Edenton and the couple has two children.

Cyclists Notice Roadside Sights

By STEVE LAWRENCE

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

When there's nothing between you and the pavement but two thin bicycle tires, you notice things—things like flowers, animals and beer cans.

And when you pedal these thin tires 6,200 miles up, down and across the United States, you collect memories.

You remember the 65-year-old cyclist in Louisville, Ken.

who weekly pedals the 100 miles to Cincinnati and back.

And the motorist who pulls alongside you on a steep stretch of Rocky Mountain road just to tell you how fast you're coasting. And the kids at every town who beg to join you.

Four cyclists had those experiences as they spent the last 2½ months riding across the United States for St. Jude's Children's Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Accompanied by a van and a dune buggy, the four rode 15-mile shifts from Washington, D.C., to Los Angeles, stopping in 60 cities along the way to symbolically collect money raised for the hospital by local groups.

The trip was sponsored by Epsilon Sigma Alpha, a 33,000-member international women's service organization. The cross-country ride was made to publicize the project. Taking part in the ride were Alain Pinto and Colen Davis, both 17 of Fairfax Va.; Ruben Leon, 20, of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Larry Keith, 29, of St. Louis. A young couple, Mark and Cheri Estes of Ottawa, Kan., directed the trip and took turns on the bike.

St. Jude's exists on contributions. The four cyclists collected $250,000 for the hospital, from local fund drives, presenting a check for that amount to the hospital's founder, actor Danny Thomas, when they arrived in Los Angeles.

They slept in the van, ate on $6 a day and suffered through rain, heat, wind and injuries. But the trip had its rewards. Strangers stopped them in the street to give them money.

"Nobody else stops and looks at flowers, but we did," said Leon. And there was plenty of time to think. "Once you get your muscles toned, they do the pedaling," Pinto said. "If you can get your mind to wander, it does wonders."

The platypus has spurs on its hind legs that discharge poison like a rattlesnake.

Bowles Got Martin Vote

WILLIAMSTON —

Approximately 6,000 Martin County voters registered an overwhelming preference for Democratic gubernatorial candidate Skipper Bowles, Tuesday.

Unofficial returns from the county's 13 precincts show Bowles receiving 4,176 votes compared to his Republican opponent, Jim Holshouser, who took 1,892 votes in the predominantly rural county.

At the presidential and U.S. Senate level, Martin voters however took a different viewpoint. In the presidential election, they gave Richard Nixon 4,181 votes to 1,839 for McGovern. For the U.S. Senate seat, the outcome was much closer. Republican Jesse Helms barely edged out Democratic hopeful Nick Galifianakis in a 3,021 to 2,912 vote.

Incumbent Democratic Congressman Walter Jones had no problem in Martin County. His tally was 4,099 votes with his Republican opponent, Jordon Bonner, getting a total of 1,138 votes.

Jim Hunt, the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, pulled in the heaviest single number of votes of any candidate. His unofficial total vote stands at 4,325. The Republican hopeful, Johnny Walker, received 1,255 votes.

In fact, if you have an Early Mortgage when interest rates go up you'll be far from worrying.

You'll be smiling.

You see, The Early Mortgage is a commitment from First Federal to give you a mortgage even before you start to look for a home. You find the house. The money will be there waiting.

And, should interest rates go up during the term of The Early Mortgage (three months), you're not affected at all. You get the exact interest rate we agreed upon when you first came to see us and we approved your Early Mortgage.

That's why you can smile. We're committed.

But you're not. You don't have to use all of the money we've reserved for you. You don't even have to use any of it. All we ask is that once you've found the house you want you'll let us look it over to be sure it justifies your investment. And that you pay the closing costs.

Now if that sounds good to you, you've got a treat in store.

Looking for a new home.

Writer Says U.S. Male 'Most Oppressed' Of Men

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The American male is the most oppressed man in the western world, says the author of a book that also argues men are really slaves and women their exploiters. Esther Vilar, author of "The Manipulated Man," also thinks

ESTHER VILAR, author of the European best-seller "The Manipulated Man", believes the American male is the most oppressed man in the western world. (AP Wirephoto) that women are stupid and getting more so every day; that men are brilliant but locked into stultifying jobs; that housework is a pleasure and men are deprived of it and that all of this stems from mothers who condition their children into manipulative and slave roles.

The book was originally published in Germany where it made the best seller list before it was launched in seven other European countries.

Now Miss Vilar has added a special chapter devoted to the American male and is preparing for a lecture and publicity tour in the United States.

She actually wrote the book in New York almost two years ago during a five-month visit in which she lived in an East Village Hotel and made research trips to suburbia.

The book is, she said, an illustration of a theory she calls "the pleasure of nonfreedom."

Basically her theory is that the male is brilliant and capable of doing great things with his freedom but his intelligent thought frighten him. He seeks the security of the enslaved and marries.

Conditioned by his mother from childhood to believe that he is smart and responsible and that girls are incapable and helpless, he easily assumes his responsibilities. He is therefore bound for life in stultifying jobs. For the American male this is all compounded by the high standard of living and the emphasis on success.

"In no other country do mothers so pitilessly train the male infant to perform. No other society exists where the male sexual drive is exploited for money so unscrupulously," she wrote.

Girls, though born intelligent, Miss Vilar says are taught they don't have to think because men are going to work for them. Their goal is to find a man to do this. Some women may work or go to college but only to make themselves attractive to men. They may even proclaim that housework is drudgery and that the male is fulfilled because he works outside the name but in fact, they know housework is easy and they really think it is a pleasure.

"Housework is so easy that in psychiatric clinics it is traditionally the job of morons who are unfit to do any other kind of work," wrote Miss Vilar.

As for feminists, these are women who from time to time, throughout history, emphasize their claims to masculine prerogatives. American contemporary feminists are doomed to failure because they have directed their efforts against men, their real allies.

The only women who escape Miss Vilar's pen unscathed are those who go to work and let their husbands stay home. Those, she notes, are rare.

A meek, almost mouselike woman with long brown hair parted in the middle, Miss Vilar, 37, was born in Argentina of German parents who were divorced when she was three.

After graduating from medical school she practiced for one year, then studied psychology and sociology and became a sales representative for a pharmaceutical company so she could support her writing career.

At various times she has worked as a sales girl, a secretary and on the assembly line of a firm making thermometers.

In 1961 she married Klaus Wagn, a German writer. They were divorced two years after the birth of a son, Martin, now 9. Miss Vilar says her former husband is still the most important man in her life. When she is away publicizing her books, he lives in her home to care for their son.

"Nothing Could Be Finer!"

Find Stone Age Arctic Village

HELSINKI (AP) — An Arctic Stone Age village, described as a "very rich" finding, was discovered in northernmost Finland recently.

But the discoverer, Dr. Aarni Eræ-Esko of the Prehistoric Department of Finland's National Museum, said he is not prepared to excavate the 10,000-year-old village of the "Komsa" Stone Age culture.

"This very rich site must not be excavated by the methods now available to us. The site must be protected as a first class ancient finding and saved for future generations who will know better excavation methods," Eræ-Esko said. The site is in the peatlands close to the Arctic Ocean some 400 kilometers north of the Polar Circle near the town of Utsjoki.

The Komsa people lived in the northernmost Scandinavian peninsula some 10,000 years ago, shortly after the end of the last Ice Age.

The newly found village is only one among several others not yet discovered, Eræ-Esko said. He urged an intensified methodical search along the Tano River as soon as possible so that "treasures of uncalculable value" are not ruined by the planned construction of roads and buildings in that area.

The sites are vulnerable, Eræ-Esko said, because the habitations of the Komsa people are protected only by a layer of some 10 centimeters of peat moss. In some places the peat has been torn away and exposed sites to the destruction of the elements, the scientist explained.

Eræ-Esko has been studying the Komsa culture for many years. The name Komsa originates from Komsa Mountain in Norway where the first remnants of this culture were found at the beginning of this century. Several other sites where the Komsa people lived have been found in Norway and Russia.

The first word of the ancient village came to Eræ-Esko from a priest, Rev. Elias Kytoemaeki, who had found strange quartz objects on the banks of the Tano River. He contacted archeologists at the Finnish National Museum and Eræ-Esko started his excavations.

The origin of the Komsa people has not been established by the scientists. Eræ-Esko believes they lived at the banks of the Tano River for a very long period.

Eræ-Esko said his findings indicate the Komsa people used primitive tools of quartz and quartzite. The tools were not ground but cut by stones.

'Must Have' Rate Relief

RALEIGH (AP) — President Carl Horn Jr. of Duke Power Co. says his firm "simply must have rate relief" in North Carolina.

Horn testified at a hearing Wednesday before the state Utilities Commission on Duke Power's request for a rate increase totalling $29.4 million a year.

The increase would raise the average monthly bill of retail customers by 9 per cent.

The request has drawn numerous intervenors, including Duke University, and the N.C. Textile Manufacturers Association.

Horn said his firm's rates are the fourth lowest among major steam generating systems in the nation.

"The only reason Duke Power is ranked fourth instead of first," he said, "is that the other three companies are located at the heart of their fuel supplies, eliminating transportation as a significant cost of doing business."

Horn said despite Duke's generating efficiency and economies of operation, high interest costs and inflation have continued to rise faster than revenue.

"Because of our present earning trend, there is growing disenchantment with utility securities in general and with Duke Power's in particular," he said. "We simply must have rate relief."

Bach's Sons In Piano History

NEW YORK (UPI)—Johann Sebastian Bach's youngest son, Johann Christian, gave the world's first public piano concert in London in 1768. That was 57 years after the Italian harpsichord maker, Bartolomeo Cristofori, invented the forerunner of today's modern piano.

One of Cristofori's two pianos is now in the Metropolitan Museum of New York. Bach's third son, Phillip Eamanuel, created the first methodical system of piano playing.

WHEN YOU SELECT ELECTRIC HEAT, YOU MAKE LIFE A LITTLE MORE COMFORTABLE. FOR EVERYONE.

Not just your family. Though with clean, quiet, even, odorless electric heat, they're bound to be blissfully comfortable.

Everyone.

Because the more electricity we provide in the wintertime, the closer we come to balancing the demand for power. And the closer we come to balancing the demand for power year 'round, the better we're able to keep your rates down.

In summer, you see, when everybody's air conditioner is going like mad, the demand for electricity is at its peak. And we must have enough turbines and generators to meet all that demand.

Then, when winter rolls around, the demand for power drops. About 17%. Which means that a lot of that expensive equipment isn't being fully used.

But we still have to maintain that equipment, pay the operators, and pay the interest on the money we borrowed to buy it. And since our customers are our one and only source of operating income, you wind up paying for these things. And paying higher summer rates if you are a high summer-use customer.

That's why we encourage people to select electric heat through advertising. To help balance the demand for power. To keep that equipment busy all year 'round. To see that it pays for itself.

So next time you hear that someone's chosen electric heat, give him a loud and lusty cheer. He's doing your pocketbook a favor.

Not to mention his family.

IF MORE PEOPLE USED ELECTRIC HEAT, IT WOULD HELP KEEP RATES DOWN YEAR 'ROUND.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning is good for all kinds of new beginnings, travel matters, or changes. However, in the evening you feel better and get the support of a highly placed man.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Plan early what you are going to do with regard to some career or community matter, and then go through with it quickly. Come to a better understanding with the one you love. Comprehend civic matters better.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) You can now widen your horizons, so take steps quickly to do so and get good results. Cement better relations with a fine partner. This is not a good time for recreational matters.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can handle those responsibilities in a most efficient way now, so get an early start. Your best hunches come in the morning. Follow them. Get the backing of a co-worker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan early to join congenials you really like at the recreations that are mutually pleasurable. Follow through on a plan for better understanding with mate. Do not procrastinate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Morning is best time for that work you need to do, so don't delay. Afternoon is good for taking care of home affairs that are pressing. Put that plan across that will solve a difficult problem.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Plan early to see charming friends during a m., then the evening is fine for talking over with partner ways to have more success in the future. You can lighten your spirits in ways that appeal to you.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Don't be afraid to state what you think should be done at home with kin, then you can make everything there more harmonious, add to holdings. Make the repairs there that are necessary and increase comfort.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Make those appointments early that will bring you the results you want of a financial nature, or property-wise. Don't neglect to shop, communicate via letters, telephone, etc. Show you are thorough in discussions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) You can formulate a new plan with a specialist that can be very fine for both of you and make your life more pleasant. Your hunches are good, so follow them. Take good care of your health.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Pleasing others in business or social circles can bring excellent results now. Show you are thoughtful and gracious. Get the advice of a good pal on how to gain the favor of a bigwig. Follow through on it.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) You can make those plans now with good friends that will be helpful to all concerned. Do the work that is necessary willingly. Consult with a bigwig before taking definite action, though.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Some personal matter that means a good deal to you is best handled with the aid of an older but wiser person. Find the right angles to use. Stop being so glib.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those interesting young people who early in life wants to have top place in the community, in field of endeavor. It would be wise to plan the education so that such a pinnacle can be reached, if humanly possible. Property management and finances are best here as outlets, or any of the high professions, such as medicine, law, salesmanship, etc. Give good spiritual training early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

for birthdays, Christmas or Mother's Day, follow the suggestion below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case V-524, Publisher Wilton E. Hall recommended me for membership in a very unique club.

It is called the "Sittin' N' Rockin' Club."

And its badge is the good old-fashioned rocking chair!

As a psychiatrist, I am growing more convinced of the value of rocking chairs.

For they let us relax in a comfortable manner without needing to smoke a cigarette or mix a cocktail.

And they also permit young mothers to rock their babies! Women can't do that as well in a straight-backed chair.

And they can't rock a baby properly while seated on the davenport or in a typical easy chair.

So lack of early rocking chair experience while they were babies may technically have caused some of the present hostility of modern teen-agers to parents!

Our hard working grandparents obtained peace of mind and wholesome rest just by dropping into their favorite rocking chair for a few minutes.

In the 1971 summer issue of the Newsletter of this unique "Rockin' Club" the editor also cites a superb example of the psychological benefits on children of a rocking chair.

Ruth Cordner is a retired school teacher of Bismarck, N.D.

She describes the splendid therapy she used in her 5th grade school room by means of a small rocking chair.

It was a child's rocker which she brought to add a homey atmosphere to the Christmas tree.

She says the kiddies loved it, for few of their homes had a rocking chair.

If a youngster skinned his elbow or knee, Miss Cordner would say,

"Just sit in the rocker for a while and you'll feel better."

One day little Johnny Bonville arrived at school with eyes brimming with tears, for his pet dog had been killed by an automobile.

"Sit in the rocker, John, and you will feel better," she said. And John sat there all morning till his grief abated.

In fact children began coming to school a little early and saying:

"Miss Cordner, I didn't finish reading all my history lesson last night, so I thought I'd come sit in the rocker and finish it here."

Miss Cordner would read to her kiddies every day and always one of them would ask: "May I sit in the rocker while you read?"

She finally had to rotate the kiddies in that little rocking chair.

And for 20 years that little rocker served as superb therapy in her fifth grade room!

Miss Cordner called it her "Magic Chair" and has now passed it along to the first grade teacher.

She and her little pupils believe it exerts a magical influence when a youngster is hurt or ill or comes to school as a stranger.

So I wish to laud the psychiatric value of a rocking chair and salute Editor Saxe, plus his vast throng of members of the "Sittin' N' Rockin' Club."

A rocking chair used to be the focal point for toddlers clustered around their mother or grandmother. And if it were to regain that valuable role again, I am

Handbook Based On Fossils Of Region

Fossils which have been found in the tertiary sediments of North Carolina's Coastal Plain region are the subject of a new publication designed for beginning geology study at East Carolina University.

"Introduction to Paleontology," a handbook written by Dr. B. A. Bishop, associate professor of geology at ECU, surveys the major groups of fossils, with emphasis on the invertebrate organisms, or animals lacking a spinal column.

The book also discusses the process by which plants and animals are fossilized over a period of time and why the study of fossils is important to the geologist in determining the earth's history.

Particularly relevant to the coastal area is a discussion of the modes of life and habitats of aquatic organisms which once abounded when much of eastern North Carolina was under water. The publication includes illustrations done by Lucy Mauger, graduate student in the ECU Department of Geology.
