Confrontation Leaves 2 Dead At Southern Univ.

BY CHARLES LAYTON
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Edwin Edwards says he will not negotiate with students at Southern University, where two young blacks died in a confrontation with police, until they renounce violence and return peacefully to classes.

The campus of the nation's largest predominantly black university was quiet today in contrast to the melee of Thursday, when a group of students occupied the administration building.

The campus was closed until after Thanksgiving, and only foreign and out-of-state students were still there, along with the guards who kept watch.

The two young men died of shotgun wounds when sheriff's deputies and state police advanced to clear out the occupied building.

When the officers moved in, a crowd of students was between them and the occupied building. Officers fired tear gas into the crowd, and when the smoke lifted, the two young men lay dead in a pool of blood on the sidewalk.

The officers said they never fired a shot, only tear gas. But students said they saw blue-shirted state policemen shooting shotguns.

Students and police also gave different accounts of how the violence began. According to police, students started the fracas by hurling a smoke bomb at the advancing line of officers. Students argued that police fired tear gas first and that the students only picked up the canisters and threw them back.

About two hours after the administration building had been cleared, fires broke out in two campus buildings, causing extensive damage.

The parish coroner confirmed that the two youths had been killed by shotgun fire. Chief Deputy Gene Rives of East Baton Rouge Parish said early today his men were using hand-thrown tear gas grenades and tear gas projectiles fired from special grenade launchers.

He said his men were also armed with shotguns and carried live shotgun ammunition, but "no sheriff's deputy fired a weapon."

Rives said he had looked at television films of the confrontation five times and at no time could he discern a weapon being fired.

State Police spokesman was not available for comment.

Sheriff Al Amis said his men heard pistol fire coming from the students lined in front of the administration building.

Fires broke out in two campus buildings, causing extensive damage, and a bomb exploded in another building later in the day.

Edwards ordered 500 National Guardsmen onto the campus and placed all of East Baton Rouge Parish (County) in a state of emergency. The campus was closed until after Thanksgiving.

Edwards, who had considerable black support in his election campaign last year, emphasized that the trouble was not racial.

"There aren't white people involved against black people," he told a late afternoon news conference Thursday. "It's a situation which involves a black administration and a black university, and involves black students."

The violence followed three weeks of unrest at Southern's 9,100-student main campus in Baton Rouge and a smaller branch campus in New Orleans.

Pepsi Soviet Branch

PURCHASE, N.Y. (AP) — The Pepsi generation will find a Soviet branch on its family tree next year when Pepsi-Cola becomes the first American consumer product manufactured and sold in the Soviet Union.

Donald Kendall, chairman and chief executive officer of PepsiCo Inc., announced Thursday that an agreement had been signed with Soviet trade officials to place the soft drink on their domestic market.

As part of the pact, a PepsiCo subsidiary that already is the exclusive U.S. importer of Russian vodka will also become the sole American distributor of Soviet champagne, wine and brandy.

"This is a source of great satisfaction for me," said Kendall, a strong supporter of free trade. "This shows that there is interest in American consumer goods, not just technology and heavy equipment."

No systematic study has been done to determine the appeal of cola drinks among the Soviet public, but Kendall termed future volume "promising."

Kissinger Resumes Paris Talks Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger will fly to Paris Sunday to resume Vietnam peace talks Monday with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen:

"We expect the talks to last for several days—perhaps longer."

The announcement came as Kissinger and President Nixon were holding conferences at Camp David, the presidential retreat near Thurmont, Md.

Ziegler said Kissinger, who is Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, will be accompanied by his deputy, Army

Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who returned recently from meetings in Saigon with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

This will be Kissinger's 21st trip to the French capital for talks with Le Duc Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo, and Xuan Thuy, who is Hanoi's principal negotiator at formal peace sessions there.

Kissinger's most recent journey to Paris was on Oct. 17 for a meeting with Thuy. He held ground-breaking sessions with Le Duc Tho on Oct. 8-11.

In keeping with a promise to give ample advance notice of Kissinger's travel plans, Ziegler said the American negotiators will leave nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., at 10 a.m. EST Sunday aboard a Boeing 707 jet from the presidential fleet.

They are due at Orly Airport in Paris at 10:30 a.m. Paris time.

Ziegler said the party will stay at the U.S. ambassador's residence but he would not disclose the site of Kissinger's private talks with Le Duc Tho, who arrived in Paris today.

Peron Returns To 'Paralyzed' Nation

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Juan D. Peron returned to Argentina today, ending 17 years in exile. The former president's chartered jet airliner landed at Ezeiza International Airport, bringing the 77-year-old one-time dictator home on a mission of "peace and understanding."

Troops and tanks ringing the airport kept thousands of Peronists from reaching the airport to welcome Peron. Police and soldiers used tear gas repeatedly to disperse columns of marchers trying to reach the airport in southwest Buenos Aires.

The military government permitted only 300 Peronist leaders to go to the airport to welcome Peron and the 140 Peronist chieftains and celebrities who accompanied Peron and his wife, Isabel, on the flight from Rome. Peron flew to Rome from Madrid, where he has lived for years in exile.

This nation of 24 million people watched on a nationwide television hookup as Peron touched Argentine soil for the first time since he fled to a Paraguayan gunboat in the River Plate after being overthrown by the armed forces in late September 1955.

Argentina, South America's second-largest nation, was in turmoil. Peron found all activities paralyzed, both by a national holiday decreed by the military government and a general strike ordered by the Peronist-dominated General Confederation of Labor.

Hours before Peron's Alitalia jet landed, 60 noncommissioned navy officers mutinied at their training school in Buenos Aires.

The mutiny lasted four hours. Informed sources said the navy rebels apparently were left-wing Peronists planning to stir up demonstrations in support of their hero.

The mutineers took four hostages at the navy mechanics' school, piled into three buses, two trucks, an ambulance and a station wagon and headed down the highway toward the airport. Then they changed course and headed south through the suburbs.

Army troops, already out in force for Peron's arrival, surrounded the caravan and escorted it back to the school. The men surrendered at 4:25 a.m.

Annual $1,000 Scholarship Is Established By Blount Harvey

DISCUSSING SCHOLARSHIP. Mrs. M. K. Blount and her husband, M. K. Blount, talk with Rose High Principal Robert Alligood and David Barnhill, guidance counselor, about the new scholarship for Rose which has been established by Blount Harvey Company of Greenville. (Reflector photo by Blanche Hardee).

The Blount Harvey Company of Greenville has established a scholarship for Rose High School in the amount of $1,000 annually. The scholarship will be awarded to a deserving Rose High Senior selected by the scholarship committee (composed of the school principal, faculty representatives and guidance counselors).

M.K. Blount, chairman of the Blount Harvey Company, in his presentation of the scholarship to Rose High, said, "All of us at Blount Harvey are glad to have a part in furthering the education of a graduate of Rose High School through the annual Blount Harvey Scholarship we are announcing today.

"Our company was organized by and has been operated by home people for 53 years. We are grateful for the support we have received from the Greenville community and want to share in the encouragement of scholarship and good citizenship at Rose High through this financial assistance each year." Robert Alligood, principal of Rose High School, said "On behalf of the school, I am very appreciative for this scholarship."

"I hope this is the beginning of other business and individuals who would like to make contributions toward scholarships. This is one of the finest ways for a person to show his support of the school and his faith in young people," Alligood noted. The first scholarship will be awarded at the end of the 1972-73 school year. The award will be good for universities, college, community college, technical institutes and other schools approved by the Rose High committee and board of directors of the Blount Harvey Company.

The officers of Blount Harvey include: M.K. Blount Sr., chairman of the board; William G. Blount, President; Mrs. Nelson Crisp Blount, secretary.

Ceasefire-Signing Delay Apparently Upset Red Battle Plans

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A delay in signing the Vietnam ceasefire agreement appears to have caused indecision among North Vietnamese field commanders and forced them to make changes in their short-range battle plans, U.S. intelligence sources say.

Interrogation of prisoners taken since last October and analysis of enemy documents have convinced intelligence specialists that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were preparing to launch a major military thrust shortly after the agreement was announced.

Purpose of the attack, the specialists say, would be to gain as much South Vietnamese territory as possible before the ceasefire actually went into effect—perhaps 24 hours after its announcement.

The North Vietnamese say the ceasefire agreement was to have been signed at the end of October. Since it was not, American analysts believe enemy commanders have been forced to change tactics to avoid large scale contact with South Vietnamese troops and to conserve artillery and small arms ammunition.

The analysts believe this is why the North Vietnamese have been vehement in accusing the United States of backing away from the October ceasefire date.

Supporting their theory, they say, is what appears to be a trend in recent weeks by the communist troops away from big enemy artillery bombardments in favor of less expensive mortar attacks.

One recently captured document, described as coming from the communist command group in South Vietnam, reportedly said the ceasefire could be considered a transitional period to be followed ultimately by "greater victories."

At the same time, intelligence sources said, there are more frequent reports of confusion, disillusionment, and declining morale among enemy troops.

Captured enemy soldiers have told of supply shortages and hardships caused by intensified allied air strikes against North Vietnamese elements in South Vietnam.

U.S. analysts also said the South Vietnamese army has been slackening off in battlefield activity and that some South Vietnamese commanders have been claiming victories in keeping enemy troops away from the near approaches to Saigon.

But these analysts are skeptical about the South Vietnamese battlefield performance and point out much of the territory seized by the North Vietnamese during the spring-summer offensive still has not been regained. They said this will be an important factor if and when a stand-still ceasefire comes about.

Israeli Women's Lib Fighting For Rights

EDITOR'S NOTE—Women's Lib in Israel—where a woman is head of state and girls get drafted. Where more fertile ground for the movement than a place where the Rabbinate and Labor Ministry consider a woman's possessions and the woman herself the property of her husband.

By JON BRODER
Associated Press Writer
HAIFA, Israel (AP) — "Up against the wall, Jewish mothers!"

It sounds like an anti-Semitic harangue, but it's a fist-clenched battle-cry of Israeli women's liberation.

Mrs. Mitchell Gives Garden Club Program

"Everything is up, up, up...not inflationary terms, this time but the new trends in flower arranging," said Mrs. S. H. Mitchell as she spoke to the Lakewood Pines Garden Club Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Mitchell worked with arrangements as she talked about new basic designs. "Look for dominance (something out of the ordinary), contrast, either in color or material, rhythm, proportion and scale as characteristics in a good design."

With a black urn, she made a Japanese style design using white chrysanthemums and clipped umbrella palm. A piece of driftwood was background for pine sprays and pink camellias.

When using driftwood Mrs. Mitchell reminded members to be sure it is clean. It should be scrubbed well and bleached in the sun.

"Even the dinner table units are no longer the low 'across the table conversation' type but have taken the feathery 'see through' allure", she said, as displayed in an asymmetrical arrangement of white sasanqua camellias.

Mrs. Mitchell is a retired retail florist and is N.C. Garden Club Conservation Chairman and has received her papers as a Master Judge.

Mrs. Irene Romita was welcomed by the President Mrs. Fred Baumann as a new member.

A short business meeting was held and acknowledgement of thanks to Mrs. Etta Taylor for hosting the coffee hour at the district meeting was given.

Mrs. Earl Roseveare and Mrs. William Reading were hostesses for the meeting.

Women's lib in Israel—where a 74-year-old grandmother heads the state and girls get drafted into the army?

"That's right," says Marcia Freedman, the 33-year-old American-born leader of Israel's "Women for a Free Society," a group of 100 Jewish feminists.

"The popular image of the Israeli women as a sexy, gun-toting desert fighter is a big myth. In reality, she's seldom more than a housewife or a secretary," says Ms. Freedman, a married philosophy professor at Haifa University.

Even in the army, she argues, women only pull clerical work, parachute packing, nursing and teaching jobs.

And as for Israel's woman premier Golda Meir, Ms. Freedman says "She is no example of women's equality in Israel today. The pinnacle she reached is a leftover from an earlier Israeli society when men and women participated together."

Dinner Party Given Couple

GRIFTON, — Miss Betsy Langley and Bill Johnson of Ayden, whose marriage will take place Nov. 23, were honored Saturday night at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. John Coward.

Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hooten of Kinston and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Speight of New Bern.

On arrival, the bride-elect was presented a corsage and the couple was remembered with a gift of china in their chosen pattern.

The dinner table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink chrysanthemums and candles.

Births

Fielman

Born to Maj. and Mrs. Robert W. Fielman, 100 Pearl Dr., a daughter, Krista Erin, on Nov. 9, 1972, in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Wilson

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Wilson, Rt. 1, Grimesland, a daughter, Tracy Michelle, on Nov. 11, 1972, in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Personal

Mrs. Priscilla Johnson, wife of the Rev. J. J. Johnson, has returned home after being a patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Ms. Freedman complains about "sexist religious laws," and points to discriminatory statutes governing women's wages, taxes and pensions.

The Rabbinate, which has last word in all matters concerning a woman's marital status, and the Labor Ministry confirm that:

—Women and men have different pay scales.

—Housewives are ineligible for social security.

—A married woman's possessions, and the woman herself, are the property of her husband.

—Only husbands can ask for a divorce.

—A dead man's brother must give the widow official permission to remarry. If the brother is not old enough to permit remarriage, she must wait until he attains his majority.

—Because of tiny Israel's "babies-for-the-state" ethic, social workers and the state health service don't offer advice on birth control or issue pills, the dark, diminutive Ms. Freedman charges. The health service confirms it.

She adds that abortions are illegal, and those that are performed are poorly done and expensive. Clandestine abortions in Israel cost about $200.

While Ms. Freedman educates her "sisters," former Member of Parliament Shulamit Aloni is at the barricades fighting for equal wages and working conditions, and a say in women's personal status under law.

The 48-year-old attorney recently organized women laborers at a Tel Aviv candy factory and closed the plant in a strike that achieved near-parity with male workers.

Mrs. Aloni also has campaigned to install a woman on the committee that chooses Israel's chief rabbi.

The Bureau of Statistics says 30 per cent of the nation's total work force is female. Women fill 78 per cent of the clerical jobs, only 22 per cent of the managerial slots and 25 per cent of the professional jobs.

The Labor Ministry reports that in 1971, the average woman worker earned 57 per cent of the average man's salary.

Women's rights have never been a large issue in Israel. Ironically, the problems facing Israeli women's lib come from the women themselves. Secure and happy in their traditional roles, many reject any drastic change in their status.

Another problem is that more than half of Israeli womanhood comes from Oriental communities where, as one Moroccan-born Israeli quips, "a woman's place is in the oven."

Even Mrs. Meir has come out against women's liberation, calling it "foolish."

The chain-smoking premier, once referred to by elder statesman David Ben-Gurion as "the only man in the government," recently said:

"Women, beware—or you just might end up the prime minister, and that's no joke."

Should Son Visit Dad In Prison?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 40-year-old woman, but there are times when I feel like 16, and then again I feel like 100.

My ex-husband has been in prison for four years. We have a son, 12 years old, and they love one another even tho they have been separated since the boy was eight.

My family (parents, sisters, and brothers) think I am wrong to take our son to visit his father in prison. They say when the boy sees how easy the law is on criminals, he might decide it's not such a bad life after all.

All I know is, prison life doesn't look easy to me. Besides, it does so much for my ex-husband's morale when he sees the boy, I hate to discontinue those visits. My son looks forward to seeing his father, too.

I'll leave it up to you, Abby. Should I listen to my family or not? My present husband says I should take the boy to visit his dad and to tell my family to mind their own business.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I like your husband's attitude. That's exactly what I would have advised you to do.

DEAR ABBY: My poor, sweet, young daughter in law is half out of her mind because our son has left her.

Why did he leave her? Because she continually checked up on him and nagged him. Well, why wouldn't she check up on him? He is never where he says he will be, and she has caught him with other women several times. And she nags him because she loves him and doesn't want him running around with other women.

This lovely, intelligent daughter in law is crazy about our son, and he loved her, too, before she started nagging him. Now she wants to call him up and apologize for having nagged him and checked up on him. I told her she was nuts and she should have thrown him out a long time ago.

He tried to tell her that 95 per cent of the married men cheat on their wives—it's natural because men like a change. My husband who works in an all male business took a survey and found out that only 20 per cent of the married men cheated on their wives!

Abby, what do you think she should do? Even if he is our son, I think she should look him out for good.

MISSOURI MOTHER IN LAW

DEAR MOTHER: I think your daughter in law should quit discussing her marital problems with you. She needs some professional objective advice from an impartial party. Since she hasn't asked for my advice, I'll not offer any. But I think you should bow out.

DEAR ABBY: I am not writing this just for myself. I am writing it for all the fat girls in the world, because I am sure they all feel the same way.

When I start liking a guy, I am told I don't stand a chance because I am fat. Okay, I'm fat, and I know it, but why should that make such a big difference to a guy? I think personality, character, and what a person is really like on the inside is what is important.

Maybe guys are embarrassed to be seen with a fat girl, but if he really loves her, her looks shouldn't make that much difference. Beauty is only skin deep, you know.

FAT AND LONELY

DEAR FAT: It's true, "looks" are not as important as personality and character, but most people are attracted to those whose appearance they find pleasing. It's unfortunate that so many worthwhile people are not approached and drawn out because of their "looks." But since it's a fact, why not accept it and do something about it?

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Mrs. Gower Is Speaker

GRIFTON — Mrs. Tom Gower presented the program at the meeting of the Grifton Garden Club held Monday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Dewey Wall was assisting hostess.

Speaking on Christmas gifts, Mrs. Gower gave basic information on bread dough flowers, preparation and coloring. She showed ceramic frames made in shadow box form and decorated with flowers, ring holders and other ways of using dough flowers.

Mrs. Sam Nelson, program chairman, presented the speaker. Mrs. Wall, Ways and means chairman, distributed cookbooks to members.

Mrs. Archie Rogers, Mrs. M. B. Hodges and Mrs. Wall were named to a committee to plan the annual garden club Christmas party.

Mrs. H.B. McIver conducted the meeting and welcomed Mrs. Bernedyn Respass as a new member.

New Italian-made body shirts from Chadborn represent innovative departures from the clingy look of basic ribbed styling, bringing new style. Of particular interest is a bodysuit specifically designed for evening wear. It is made of popcorn lace and comes in white or ecru.

Stable Tax Rate Is Preferable

Gov. Scott has said that there will be a $200 million surplus to carry over to the next biennium and that it would be feasible for the next governor to recommend a tax decrease.

Well, of course, the next governor will be Jim Holshouser, who happens to be a Republican, and thus Gov. Scott's pronouncement comes over as a thinly veiled move to put the new governor on the

Inaugural Will Jam Up Raleigh

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Tar Heels who want to come to Raleigh for the inauguration of the century's first Republican governor may need to bring a camper and sleeping bags.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Hotel accommodations in the capital city are filling up rapidly for the first weekend in January when James E. Holshouser Jr. will take the oath of office.

"It's a dream come true for many of us," said Frank Rouse, state GOP chairman. Festivities appropriate to the historic occasion will draw throngs of the party faithful, he predicted. One or more inaugural balls and other social events, as well as the formal ceremonies, will give an outlet for the jubilation.

After the celebration will come the hard chores of governing for Holshouser, and party-building for Rouse and other GOP leaders.

"Can't Win" Image Erased

The general election established credibility for the Republican party, Rouse said. The "can't win" image was erased by victories for the governorship and a U.S. Senate seat, as well as gains in the state legislature and at the county level.

Now the challenge is to build on the victory base, work for a better balance with Democrats in voter registration, and go on to win future elections, the chairman said.

Recruiting candidates and raising campaign funds, often difficult in the past, should be easier with the demonstration that the GOP label can be worn by a winner, he added.

Winning also will make it respectable to register Republican among Democrats who have been splitting their ticket in the privacy of the voting booth. "I look for a tremendous switch in registration," said Rouse.

"The majority of the people of the state share our political philosophy. Now they can come over to our party without feeling it's something to be ashamed of."

Invitation To Switchers

How to promote switching, among higher echelon Democrats as well as at the voter level, is getting attention. "We're going to set up some kind of program to expedite it," he promised.

Jesse Helms, U.S. Senator-elect, is an example of a switcher who fought and won.

The Raleigh television commentator began as a Democrat, changed his party affiliation, and beat Democrat Nick Galifianakis who had ousted incumbent Sen. B. Everett Jordan in the primary.

At the moment, Democrats have a three-to-one edge over the GOP in total voter registration.

From the plateau of '72, GOP sights are training on the next big engagement two years from now. The major target is the other North Carolina seat in the U.S. Senate.

If the widespread speculation that Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. will retire in 1974 proves correct, it would open the way for a battle to pick his successor. "You bet your life we're going after it," said Rouse.

Prospects as the Republican contender include Rep. James T. Broyhill of Lenoir, now senior member in the GOP Congressional delegation; Rep. Wilmer Mizell of Winston-Salem, just elected to his third term; and Charles R. Jonas Jr., prominent in President Nixon's campaign in North Carolina.

Governor Will Lead

As party chairman, Rouse made it plain the reins of party leadership will be tugged by Holshouser as governor.

"Primarily, I'm going to do what I'm told," he said.

That will be a new role for the Kinston businessman, a hard-driving and competitive operator. He won the chairmanship, succeeding Holshouser, in a spirited contest little more than a year ago. He kept it after a flap over his endorsement of Jim Gardner for the gubernatorial nomination in last spring's primary.

Discord from that affair has been harmonized in the general election victory song, Rouse declared.

Looking back, he saw the primary as a plus in the final outcome. "It made a giant-killer out of Holshouser, and gave him name identification equal to his Democratic opponent," he expalined.

The Nixon landslide was a factor in the win, but the overriding thing was the candidate himself, Rouse said. "Jim Holshouser had total commitment to win. When everybody said he couldn't do it, he plugged harder. He had the self discipline to prepare himself for the job," he added.

In power, the best politics for the Republicans will be good government. "We can't go in there and do like the Democrats, or we won't be any better than they are," Rouse said. That will mean that the use of patronage to build the party must be secondary to the operation of state government to serve the people, he concluded.

spot insofar as making up the new budget is concerned.

Gov. Scott pointed out that there will be a $200 million carryover to the new biennium. This is a considerable amount, but it must be remembered that North Carolina has historically carried over a surplus because by state law it is required that the biennial budget be balanced. Thus the budget makers normally have looked on this surplus as a part of the revenues needed to make up the new budget.

Granted, that this years surplus will be unusually large, it must also be remembered that the state fell heir to an unexpected amount through the federal revenue sharing program. This program is still controversial and it is not yet wise to plan this as permanent revenue.

Assuming there will be more money there than the government needs to run things for the next two years as the governor says, the question arises as to what to do with it.

Gov. Scott says a tax cut is possible, but, alas, it is probable that the entire $200 million surplus could not be returned to the tax payers. So if a one-time individual tax increase were granted, the amounts would be so small that the average tax payer would hardly notice it.

There has been talk of bond issues to support the purchase of land for state parks. Would it not be better to use surplus funds for this purpose rather than subject the taxpayer to the added burden of later paying taxes on borrowed funds? In this way the state would be making a one-time expenditure and the surplus funds would not become a part of the operating budget which would send budget makers scurrying for additional funds in future bienniums.

If the budget makers can see a way to grant tax decreases which will be lasting that will be fine with us; but we think the average taxpayer is looking first for a stable tax rate, one on which he can budget his personal spending into the foreseeable future. Granting the working man a token decrease this year, only to be followed by a big increase in a couple of years is not doing him any favor. And taking it off industry this year, only to increase the little man's taxes in a few years certainly will not do him any favor.

Outrage Inside Ranks Of GOP

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Gordon Allott left Washington in early autumn to campaign in Colorado for a fourth term, he was armed with polls showing him far ahead and this comforting reassurance from the White House: If you need help from President Nixon, just say the word.

Allott scarcely suspected he would need help against little-known Republican-turned-Democrat Floyd Haskell. But when late polls showed Haskell gaining rapidly and Allott standing still, Allott's operatives said the word in the form of an SOS to Mrs. Nixon: Come quick.

Indeed, such a Nixon trip was tentatively scheduled on the campaign's last weekend. But in the end, it did not fit in (a big snowfall in Colorado, Presidential operatives mutter). So, Gordon Allott, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee with an inflexible record of loyalty to Mr. Nixon, perished without any Presidential rescue expedition.

That treatment of Allott is one source for real anger by Republican politicians in the wake of Mr. Nixon's 49-state sweep. Not since Lame Duck President Eisenhower stood aside during the 1958 Democratic landslide has an incumbent President been so excoriated by his own party's members. Though publicly restrained in typical Republican fashion, party leaders are privately outraged in denunciation of their triumphant President.

That outrage seems intense enough to threaten Mr. Nixon's second term in ways he does not appreciate. Republican in Congress promise to ignore White House entreaties on tough legislation. Some even confess hopes that Mr. Nixon's haughty chamberlains will be implicated in investigations of the Watergate scandal.

In effect, Mr. Nixon's acquiescence in Republican defeats has magnified his lameduck quality. "From now on, I'll be paddling my own canoe," a hitherto Nixonite state chairman told us. "The price of an invitation to dinner at the White House is too high to pay."

If this feeling persists, the strategy of the 1972 Nixon campaign will have backfired. To avoid mistakes of the past, his managers radically — and wisely — reduced his time on the campaign trail, and that meant wholesale rejection of requests from state candidates. But when it became obvious Mr. Nixon was a landslide winner over Sen. George McGovern no matter what he did, state Republican leaders argue, that strategy needed drastic revision.

Characteristically, the White House is firing back hard in this Republican cold war: defeated Republican candidates — especially Allott — erred in not tying their campaigns closer to Mr. Nixon. Besides, a last minute Presidential visit is a distress signal that hurts more than helps (as, in fact, seemed true of Mr. Nixon's Nov. 3 stop in Providence, R.I., for

Strength For Today

THE HIJACKER

Hijacking has become a form of modern piracy that needs to be dealt with firmly. We may shrug our shoulders and turn away in the face of some evils but not in the face of hijacking. The hijacker is a criminal in the worst sense of the term. He imposes his evil will on defenseless people and these people are in a position that they can do practically nothing to defend themselves. The worst of all crimes is, of course, murder. When a person takes away another person's life — that's it. But next to murder in its evil consequences would appear to be the holding-up of an airplane and the terrifying of its passengers — to say nothing of ransoms involved.

So whatever we do, let us not be easy on the hijacker. Piracy at certain times in history became so menacing that nations turned the whole force of their defenses against it. Hijacking is modern piracy and should be dealt with as such.

Often we give our attention and vent our anger on crimes that are way out, as it were. Hijacking is something that touches the lives of old and young, men, women and children. It may even result in plane crashes and all to satisfy the avarice and lawlessness of some single individual.

Let us give the hijacker the works. He hasn't a word of justification in his defense. He is an outlaw pure and simple and should be treated as such.

Cancelling The Elections

WASHINGTON — The television network executives met in the 40th floor conference room three days after the election. The ratings on the election night coverage had just come in and everyone looked very grim.

"Well, gentlemen," said the network president, "what do you have to say for yourselves?"

No one wanted to speak. Finally one of the vice presidents said, "I told you we should have gone with Medical Center instead."

Another vice president said, "I wanted to show Truth or Consequences, but you shouted me down."

The network president said, "The sponsor is very disappointed in us, gentlement, very disappointed. We sold him on the idea that our election night coverage would sell more Blitzkrieg Dog Food than any program we had to offer this year. Not one can of Blitzkrieg has moved off the shelves since Tuesday night."

What do we do?" A programming executive asked.

"We can't do anything about it this year," the president said, "but we have to think about the future. Gentlemen, I propose we cancel the presidential elections!"

"Cancel the presidential elections?" a vice president gasped.

"Yes," said the network president. "Not only the elections but the primaries and the conventions and the campaigns."

"But, chief," the programming head said, "we can't cancel the presidential elections just like that. They're an American tradition — like The Bell Telephone Hour."

ART BUCHWALD

"Let's not get sentimental about this, Stingblatt," the president said. "Our job is to please the public. These ratings indicate they are turned off on presidential elections. It's true that there is a certain group in this country who are still interested, but we have to think in numbers. There isn't a football game in the nation that wouldn't outrate the Tuesday night election results."

"Begging your pardon, sir," said the vice president in charge of news, "but even if the numbers aren't high, we should consider the presidential election now as a public service. I think it would be a mistake to cancel it because of its low ratings."

"Tell that to the Blitzkrieg Dog Food Company," the network president said testily. "Look, gentlemen, I'd be the last one to go against the American tradition, but I owe my first allegiance to the stockholders. If nobody watches our shows then no one wants to advertise on them, and that means no dividends at the end of the year. Am I supposed to get up in front of a stockholders' meeting and tell them the reason we made no profit this year is because the country wasn't interested in electing a president?"

"Wait a minute," the programming chief said. "Maybe we could work out a

Had To Learn Again

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest problem in learning how to be a widower is finding someone to sew on buttons for you.

HAL BOYLE

After my wife Frances died four years ago of a pancreatic cancer detected too late, I made a surprising self-discovery: I no longer was really trained for life.

For nearly 31 years my wife had kept me as a kind of pet.

The only job I had to do was to do my job — bring home the bacon. Otherwise I was totally free. My wife handled all the household problems and protected me from all other cares except my work. As a result I guess I became something of a basket case.

"I will never be able to understand how you managed to go to three wars and get back without me along to help you," Frances told me more than once.

"I had Uncle Sam there to tell me when to blow my nose," I explained.

After a loved one dies, there is a gulf of grief and measureless loss to cross. Despair and guilt are a daily bread. But when that gulf is crossed — if it ever quite is — there has to begin a new accommodation to life.

In my case this was doubly difficult.

I did know how to take out the garbage — every wife insists that her husband at least learn that fine art. But I didn't know how to cook anything except canned chili. I didn't know how to get my income tax forms filled out, pay the rent, or get the laundry done, the windows washed, the rugs cleaned, the furniture repaired, the cat's box sanctified, the landlord mollified, peddlers at the door rebuffed, our teen-age daughter raised, or how to throw a cocktail party.

Or — most of all — how to get a new button sewn on a

Warrant Issued For Woman In Reported Theft

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a woman following investigation of a reported theft of $2,700 from Charlie Haddock, 36 of Route 3, Greenville early Saturday morning.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, Haddock told officers the $2,700 was taken from his coat pocket by the woman at 1200A Glen Arthur Ave. about 4 a.m.

Chief Cannon quoted Haddock as saying he drove the woman from a local cafe to the Glen Arthur home, accepted an invitation to go inside, and hung his coat on a chair. The money was taken from the coat, Haddock said, while he was in a

"Don't worry about a thing," advised an older friend of mine, who had lost his wife a number of years before. "Before long there will be so many women trying to help you that you'll have to beat them off with a baseball bat. Believe me, I'm right."

Believe me, he was wrong.

I may be the apple of my dear old mother's eye, but I am not now — nor have I ever been — an orchard entire unto the fair sex as a whole.

At 57, I found I didn't need a baseball bat at all to beat off invading women. I could brush them back quite well with a small-to medium-size peacock feather.

Well, with enough time a man can do anything. I feel that I've learned pretty well how to cope with life. I pay most of my bills the same year they're due, the apartment gets cleaned once a week, I now hold the track record for pushing my shopping cart around the local supermarket, my daughter's the prettiest kid on the block, and our cat, Lady Dottie, purrs with contentment every day.

I am sure that if Frances looks down from heaven on her old boyfriend now, she must be shaking her head and thinking, "Rover boy, I don't see how you get along without me so well."

And my reply to that would have to be, "Honey, I don't. I still don't know how to get a button sewn on my shirt."

compromise: Why don't we put the presidential elections on Sunday morning from 8 until 12 o'clock before the golf tournament? That could satisfy the people who want to watch them, and we would still have prime time on Tuesday night for a movie."

One of the vice presidents said, "That could work, but before we make a decision, my department has done a survey of why the people turned off on election night."

"The main complaint was the casting. The majority of people interviewed believed that neither Richard Nixon nor George McGovern really looked like a presidential candidate. Now that was our mistake. We had no control over the package. It was delivered to us and we had to put it on as it was. I say next time we demand veto over whom the Democrats and Republicans put up. If we don't think they'll bring in an audience, then we cancel the show and put on What's My Line?"

"That's not bad," the programming chief agreed. "We have four years to find two candidates whom the public will watch on election night. What do you think, boss?"

"It's not my decision," the network president said. "I'll have to take it up with the people at the Blitzkrieg Dog Food Company."

former Gov. John Chafee's doomed Senate campaign.)

Nevertheless, Republican leaders wanted Mr. Nixon — especially in Delaware, where two-term Sen. Caleb Boggs lost to 29-year-old Democrat Joseph Biden. With Boggs in trouble, state chairman Gene Bunting personally asked Mr. Nixon twice. Another appeal came from Delaware's most powerful Republican: Tom Evans, co-chairman of the Republican National Committee. But Delaware never was on the schedule.

Mr. Nixon visited Kentucky Oct. 26 only because managers for former Gov. Louie Nunn, a longtime Nixon ally running for the Senate, threatened a public tantrum. Nunn lost anyway. But final weekend Nixon visits to New Mexico and Oklahoma are credited by Republican politicians as helping to capture two Democratic Senate seats. More such visits would have done the same, they conclude.

But more that regretting lost opportunities, they resent Mr. Nixon's attitude — as shown in open support for Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi, one of the last Dixiecrat Senatorial barons. The 13 Republican Senators who on Oct. 11 signed a letter supporting Eastland's Republican foe, Gilbert Carmichael (getting an amazing 40 percent of the vote), felt they have more to lose in the Senate from the mighty Eastland than did the President. If they risked alienating him, why couldn't Mr. Nixon?

Their outrage has not subsided since election day, a harsh reality Mr. Nixon must now confront. Whereas Lyndon B. Johnson's landslide swept in a docile Democratic majority, Mr. Nixon faces a Senate not only more liberal and more Democratic but markedly less friendly on the Republican side of the aisle.

Opines U.S. Is Undecided

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Vermont Royster, former editor of the Wall Street Journal, says, the United States "is now on a teeter-totter board, no longer willing to give the old Democratic coalition a mandate to govern...but not ready to hand over a mandate to the Republicans, either. We're really in a period of marking time."

Royster, now a teacher of journalism at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, spoke Thursday to the annual meeting of the National Conference of Editorial Writers.

Looking at the defeat of Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, Royster said the Democratic coalition has been eroding for years because of the opposing forces it tried to embody.

He said the party tried to be "based on both the goals of Southern Democrats and an appeal to blacks; to both farmers and labor unions, although Mid-western farmers had very little in common with labor bosses in Eastern cities."

He said McGovern's defeat was "the end progression of that inherent instability in the coalition," although "it was aggravated by McGovern's mistakes and blundering."

Trooper Tickets Meter Maid In Rapid Exchange

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A city meter maid and a state policeman played a game of "tag" and the trooper insisted he won.

The meter maid ticketing an unmarked state police car for overtime parking Thursday when the uniformed trooper emerged from the Erie County Courthouse and explained that he was on official business.

"I can't help that," the meter maid replied. "You parked overtime."

"I'm serious," cautioned the trooper, who asked not to be identified. "This was an official police stop."

The woman kept on writing.

The trooper, noticing that the meter maid's car was doubled-parked on a local street, then calmly pulled out his arrest book and cited her for illegal parking on a state highway.

"It was a fair trade," the trooper explained later. "Fifteen dollars of the city's money for $1 from the state."

City Gains Two Female Plumbers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia not only officially gained its first two female plumbers, but one of them even came in tops in a class of 90.

Diane Devennie, 22, was the first to complete an egg-shaped joint Thursday by ladling a molten mixture of lead and tin into a brass pipe as members of the Department of Licenses and Inspections looked on.

She also finished first in the written exam given two weeks ago.

Miss Devennie, formerly an insurance company file clerk, received her plumbing training at an Opportunities Industrialization Center.

Also passing the journeyman's test was Gale Russo, 25, who used to make and sell pretzels at a railroad station.

The second hearing involved rezoning property from the Piggly Wiggly Store parking lot south to Mill Street, back to West Avenue, from B-2 commercial to RA-8 residential.

The only opposition voiced was by Mrs. Gratz Norcott. In a letter to the board, Mrs. Norcott stated she owned a lot in the area under discussion and preferred that the property remain zoned commercial.

After much discussion on the matter, board members voted that the area should be rezoned to RA-8 residential.

The third hearing involved a

Jones asked permission to place a trailer in the B-2 district which was needed for his business operations. The board granted the request for the use of the trailer for business purposes only.

Wounded In 'Shoot-Out'

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A disabled man who cashes checks for workers and sells them clothing was wounded Thursday in a gun duel with robbers who tried to get the $3,600 he was carrying.

The man, 66-year-old Robert Howard Stone Sr., who is partially blind and is hard of hearing, drove into a fire station in North Charlotte bleeding heavily. The firemen, who know him well, applied a tourniquet to his arm and took him to a hospital. He said robbers had stopped his car a few blocks from a bank where he had just cashed checks. They demanded his money, and when he refused, one of them fired several shots at him and he fired three or four back. He was hit once.

Fireman H.H. King said Stone, who usually charges 25 cents to cash a check, had been advised a number of times not to carry such large amounts of money.

Found Innocent In Girl's Death

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — William Colton Brader has been found innocent of manslaughter in the suffocation death of a girl he thought died from too much sex.

A five-women, one-man Court of Record jury deliberated 40 minutes before returning the innocent verdict Thursday.

Brader's public defender, Michael Widoft, had argued that his client thought Pearl Elizabeth Kite already was dead when he buried the 15-year-old South Carolina runaway in a shallow beach grave at Lauderdale-by-the-Sea last Aug. 18.

Widoft termed the girl's burial "a terrible accident."

Asst. State Atty. Michael Satz had contended Miss Kite's death was the result of criminal negligence.

Broward County Medical Examiner Dr. William Gable had testified Miss Kite, of Myrtle Beach, S.C., had 14 ounces of sand in her lungs and died of suffocation.

Brader, 25, of Marathon, took the witness stand in his own defense Thursday and told the jury:

"We were making love and she went limp in my arms. She

Files Suit Over Prison Haircuts

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — An inmate at Southern Michigan Prison is seeking to halt mandatory prison haircuts on grounds that the trimmings deny men equality with women inmates.

George Nawrocki has filed a suit in U.S. District Court at Detroit, charging trimming of hair, beards and mustaches is unconstitutional and discriminatory.

"Women are not compelled to cut their long hair while in prison," Nawrocki said, "so why should such discriminatory standards be used against men?"

Bucs Close Home Season With Dayton

Sonny Randle, East Carolina University's head football coach, probably has spent most of the week out in the pumpkin patch, looking for something that would get his Pirates up for this week's game with Dayton.

But ammunition such as he had last week from the Virginia sportswriters has been hard to come by. The Dayton press apparently could care less. "It's been a trying week," Randle said. "We've suffered a natural letdown after winning the Southern Conference championship. We're in the middle of exams and our people are drained. Personally, I'm scared to death."

The Pirates were sky-high last week when they went up to Williamsburg, Va., and gunned down the high-flying Indians of William & Mary, 21-15. The victory brought the Pirates their first uncontested Southern Conference crown, although there are still people in the league who don't believe it, including the coach of the Indians.

Jim Root, in his first year at the helm of the Indians, was quoted as saying after the game that a true championship team would have scored in the second half. Although the Pirates didn't score, they had one pass completed that was fumbled through the end zone and would have been a touchdown otherwise. Another potential touchdown was snatched out of the hands of a receiver in the end zone, just saving the Indians from a worse beating than they took.

Another problem Randle has is keeping the Pirates' mind on Dayton, when there is the opportunity to look ahead to the following week and the game with North Carolina, when the Southern and ACC champs meet.

And Dayton, despite their 4-5-1 record, can't be overlooked. They have the potential to be very tough on the Bucs.

During the last three weeks they've been very much on the upswing. They beat Xavier to stop their losing skid, they popped VMI the following week. The next week was the time when the Kedets got their game together and beat Furman, a team that had carried the Pirates to the wire.

Then, last week, they fell to strong Bowling Green, 5-0, in a defensive struggle. And that game may have given Dayton even added spirit toward beating East Carolina.

One of the defensive tackles of the flyers, Matt Dahlinghaus, suffered a broken neck in the game, and at last report was in critical condition.

"They'll be coming in here with fire in their eyes," Randle said. "They've dedicated the game to him and will be doing all they can to beat us."

"They have an outstanding defense," Randle added. "They're as good at it as anyone we'll see this year." The defense is anchored around their strong middle linebacker Jack Burkhart. "Bowling Green is an explosive team, as anyone who saw them last year against us knows. And Dayton held them without a touchdown, so that shows they're a fine team."

Offensively, the Flyers can move it both on the ground and through the air. Their quarterback Ken Polke has thrown for over 1,000 yards this season. One of his chief targets is Larry Nicklos regarded as one of the top receivers ever to attend this school.

On the ground, the Flyers turn to Denny Whitehead to do most of their ball carrying.

Randle admitted that Dayton was unable to move the ball against Bowling Green, getting only 16 yards in total offense, the least amount of any major college team this year.

"But that doesn't mean they don't have talent," Randle cautioned. "They were playing under adverse conditions. The field was a mess from heavy rains, and neither of them were able to move the ball. They put 34 points on the board against Xavier, so they can move it."

Randle also admitted that some of the talk about his leaving East Carolina has had some effect on the team. "It's bound to," he said. It has been rumored that Randle will be moving on to his alma mater, Virginia, following the end of the season. He admits that several schools have been in touch with him, but that he's happy right now at East Carolina.

"We (he and the team) have an understanding, and I think they know that I'll think of their best interests first," he said.

There is also the possibility that one or more of his assistants may leave also, and Randle doesn't deny this. "People look to a successful program to get new coaches. But we're going to do everything in our power to keep the staff intact," he said.

The Bucs, the most offensive team ever at East Carolina, goes into the game seeking its ninth victory in 10 games. During those eight previous games, the Pirates have rushed for 2,317 yards, only one short of the school record. They have picked up 3,453 yards establishing a new mark for that record with two games still to be played.

Carlester Crumpler, the leading rusher, has already broken ECU and Southern Conference marks for rushes, and is near the school and league records for yardage with 1,005 so far. Quarterback Carl Summerell, who must be considered for Player of the Year honors in the league, has amassed 1,490 yards so far, passing for 11 touchdowns, just one short of the school mark.

And Tim Dameron, the Bucs' top pass receiver, needs one more touchdown catch to break the single season and career marks he now shares. He's already broken the career yardage records.

It is also reported with good authority that should the Bucs beat Dayton, they'll receive a bid to the Tangerine Bowl where they will face the champion of the Mid-American Conference. That will be either Bowling Green or Kent State.

The Falcons of Bowling Green have already completed their conference season with a 3-1 record, while Kent finishes up this weekend against Toledo. Kent is 3-1-0 and could wrap it up with either a victory or a tie, since they beat Bowling Green in their meeting this year.

Reportedly, it will be Monday before the Tangerine officially gives its bids, but it can be done officially as early as Saturday at 6 p.m.

Game time for this, the final home contest of the season, is 1:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Bill Veeck Has Own Ideas About Baseball

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — "If someone gave me the power to restructure baseball," said Bill Veeck, sitting tieless and sport-coated in a mid-Manhattan lounge, "the first thing I would do would be to name Hank Greenberg commissioner."

The onetime maverick of the diamond leaned back and paused momentarily as if to savor the wisdom of his suggestion.

"There is not a brighter, more aggressive man who has been connected with the game," he added. "He played in both the minor leagues and major leagues. He had a long, successful career as an administrator."

"He not only has all the qualifications, but he is also independently wealthy. He wouldn't have to be a puppet of anybody. I speak as one who worked with him for 20 years."

Greenberg, the former home run king of the Detroit Tigers, was associated with Veeck in running the franchises of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox. Veeck also once owned the controlling interest in the St. Louis Browns.

Veeck was in New York today not on another baseball mission — "I hold the all-time record for unsuccessful attempts to buy one club, the Washington Senators" — but for the purpose of promoting his latest book, Thirty Tons a Day, detailing his frustrations in attempting to run the Suffolk Downs race track in Boston.

"Baseball and horse racing are similar sports — both are moribund," he said.

Veeck said his one goal always had been to own the baseball franchise in Washington but added: "I was too little too early or too little too late."

He said he might still be interested in renewing his baseball career in the nation's capital but feared "those jokers (the baseball owners) could never get around to making such a decision. They're too busy making such momentous decisions as raising the pitching mound four inches, legalizing white shoes and forbidding that gloves be left on the field."

"In the 25 years I was in baseball, I think I saw a ball hit a glove on the field only twice."

Veeck, 58, now living a life of semi-leisure with his wife and six of his nine children in the little town of Easton, Md., can still talk enthusiastically of what he would do if given a free rein in baseball.

"We start with a commissioner — Greenberg, as I said," he continued. "Then we would revitalize the minor league program. If the product you try to sell is no good, you can't sell it."

"Next I would poll the fans. I would ask the fans what they like and don't like. I wouldn't leave this to people such as owners and general managers, who keep insisting there is a mystique about baseball. What mystique? Remember Little Leaguers play it."

"I would ask if they like three strikes and four balls, if they want the game speeded up. I don't think much of a game whose strategy is based on the hitting ineptness of the pitcher."

Jockey Jorge Velasquez led New York riders in 1971 with 205 victories. His mounts also led in money won with $2,161,596.

We're Smiling Over ECU Pick

The football season is drawing rapidly to an end and most of the collegiate teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the Southern Conference close out this weekend.

It's bowl-picking time for a number of schools, and to look around, it seems as if just about all of them have settled on the teams they want. The four major bowls have picked their teams, and by Sunday morning just about all of them will be completed.

East Carolina, unofficially, is supposed to have already been offered a Tangerine Bowl bid. Officially, however, they cannot accept until 6 p.m. Saturday. Whether they will or not is up to the members of the team, and we aren't about to predict that.

Not that we wouldn't mind spending some time in Florida next month.

A victory over Dayton could propel the Bucs into a little more favorable bowl position, and an upset of Carolina the following week could do even more. That is, if there are any spots left by then.

It has been an outstanding year for the Pirates, and it may be one that will bring on additional changes for the Bucs. It's been highly rumored now for two weeks that when the season is over, ECU Coach Sonny Randle will be leaving for Virginia. If this proves to be true, and many are now saying that it will, hopefull, the Bucs will know before any bowl game that such a thing is to happen. Perhaps by then, any possible changes can be known in advance, especially if a replacement is to come from the current staff, where there are excellent candidates.

In all probability, there will be some changes to occur in the ECU staff regardless of Randle's future. When you have a winning season like the Pirates have, the assistants become sought after when head coaching jobs open. There are already several vacancies in the area, and ECU assistants might be favorites for one or two of the jobs.

But let's get back to the purpose of this column, to predict the winners in this week's games.

Last week, there was no shuffling of the standings, which have tended to remain rather constant most of the year. Jack Whichard, 9-3, last week, holds to the lead with a 95-24 record. Just behind him is Sandra Spivey, who also was 9-3, to leave her with a 93-26 mark.

Third place belongs to Tom Baines, who was also 9-3, and is now 89-30 on the season.

I'm next with an 86-33 record after an 8-4 week last week while John Trotman fell back to 85-34 after a 7-5 record. George Holland who was 8-4, is still in the basement with an 83-36 record.

There is one thing Jack and I are proud of, however, despite all the rest of the year: we picked the Pirates to win over the Indians where as the rest of the panel all were out in the pumpkin patch with the Indians.

Dayton, this week's Pirate opponent, gave Bowling Green a handfull last week, and it was all the Falcons could do to squeeze out a 5-0 victory. They could be very fired up this week, or they could be quiet flat, and that's one of the hardest things to predict.

Of course, the same is true for the Pirates. They've won the conference title, and the Dayton game means only another win for them. (Although it might be another bowl invitation.) How they will react is a question mark also.

But the panel is happy. They vote, 6-0, for the Pirates to win.

Duke Plan Is Defense, Jones

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Duke's game plan for its traditional football game at North Carolina on Saturday will be defense and workhorse full-back Steve Jones against the Tar Heels' physical might and its blocking up front.

"Jones is ready," said Coach Mike McGee. "Some say he is slow. He may be, with a clock. But there is nothing slow about his finding a means to move forward. He'll go high in the pro draft—and he should."

"My squad knows what the game means. They're anxious to play."

"We (Duke and North Carolina) are a lot alike in approach to football. I think North Carolina is deeper and more experienced."

"Bill Dooley (North Carolina coach) has his team exhibiting a willingness to play 60 minutes of hard football. It is something to be admired. We hope we can do the same. We expect to do the same. Carolina does not look for an easy way out. It's trite, but the saying goes they're willing to pay the price."

North Carolina will be shooting for its second straight unbeaten season in the Atlantic Coast Conference. It beat Duke 38-0 to cap a 6-0 league record last year, the same as it will have this year with a victory. It is 7-1 in all games, and has yielded only one touchdown in its last three games.

A victory would give Duke a winning season at 6-5.

The game begins at 1:20 p.m. and will be televised regionally. Virginia will be ending its season in the game at Wake Forest, and the coach of the Cavalier receivers, Mike Flaherty, said star catchers Dave Sullivan and Chuck Belic want to go out winners. Sullivan is first in pass receptions in the ACC and Belic is third. Flaherty said they have been working tremendously hard this week to get open and catch the ball; that they want to catch as many as they can and score against Wake Forest.

It may be Virginia's passing against Wake Forest's rushing. The Cavaliers have thrown more passes and for more yards this season than any team in Virginia history. In their 10 games they have completed 145 passes of 349 attempts for 1,887 yards.

In last Saturday's 9-7 upset of Duke, Wake Forest stayed on the ground, relying almost entirely on the veer attack. With Kit Basler directing the attack and freshman fullback Frank Harsh and running back Ken Garrett having their best day of the year, the Deacons moved for 239 yards.

The North Carolina State Wolfpack will preserve its chance for a bowl bid with a home victory over Clemson. A victory would end the regular season at 7-3-1 for the Wolfpack. It is the first ACC team to pass the 2,000-yard plateau in both rushing and passing in a single season. In 10 games, N.C. State has rushed for 2,140 yards and passed for 2,135.

The seventh ACC team, Maryland, is idle this week. It closes out the following Saturday in a night game at Miami of Florida.

Allison Signs Indy 500 Pact

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — NASCAR driver Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., has signed a two-year contract to drive in the Indianapolis 500 for the Roger Penske Racing Team of Newtown Square, Pa.

Allison, who has never driven an Indy-type car, joins Mark Donohue, the 1972 Indy winner, and Gary Bettenhausen on the Penske team.

Allison, one of the biggest winners in the history of stock car racing, has won 10 races this year and is NASCAR's leading money winner with earnings of more than $250,000.

"I first thought about driving at Indy when I listened to the race on the radio when I was in high school," Allison said. "I've been there three times to watch practice but I've never seen the race except on closed circuit TV."

"When Roger Penske first discussed the possibility of an Indy ride with me at Riverside, Calif., last month, I was definitely interested. I just needed a little time to sort out my thoughts."

"We believe that the combination of our new McLaren cars along with Mark, Gary and Bobby and our regular team people will give us the finest team at Indianapolis next Memorial Day," Penske said.

Earl The Pearl Shines As He Leads New York Knicks' Victory

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I still haven't played up to my capabilities since I've been here," said Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, the slick guard of the New York Knicks.

Monroe's self-criticism wasn't apparent to the Houston Rockets Thursday night, as he fired in a season-high 24 points, grabbed seven rebounds, had four assists and dazzled them with his fancy passwork in 31 minutes, leading the Knicks to a 119-100 National Basketball Association victory.

"I can't run the way I have in previous years," said the 6-foot-3½ guard, who has been slowed down this season following an operation last June to remove bone spurs from his left foot. The spurs had acted up recently, and Monroe had not started the previous two Knick games, before getting the call against the Rockets.

Monroe, who came to the Knicks last November from Baltimore, was at his best against the Rockets in the first half, hitting 17 points and snaring six rebounds in 21 minutes. His field goal at 7:18 of the first period broke a 17-17 tie and gave the Knicks a lead they never relinquished.

The victory was the Knicks' 15th in 18 games and lifted them to within one-half game of the idle first-place Boston Celtics in the Atlantic Division of the NBA's Eastern Conference.

In the only other NBA game Thursday night, the Golden State Warriors trounced the Philadelphia 76ers 128-106.

The Virginia Squires outlasted the Utah Stars 131-127 in the only game played in the American Basketball Association.

Bill Bradley added 22 points for the Knicks, while Dave DeBusschere and Walt Frazier added 19 points apiece. Jack Marin was high for Houston with 22 points, and Jimmy Walker had 17.

Rick Barry triggered a third-period Golden State spurt that carried the Warriors past Philadelphia as the 76ers suffered their 17th setback in 18 games. Barry who had only two points in the first half, scored nine in the third quarter and had seven assists as the Warriors built their lead from one point to 14 points.

Cazzie Russell was high for Golden State with 21 points, and Fred Carter led Philadelphia with 22.

Virginia squandered a 16-point third-quarter lead, then battled back and overtook Utah, despite 42 points by the Stars' Cincy Powell. The Squires were led by Julius Erving, with 35 points, but it was rookie Moe Barr who sparked the late rally.

Barr tied the score 124-124 with a field goal with 1:49 left. Then, after Jim Eakins' free throw with 1:20 remaining put the Squires ahead, Barr picked up a loose ball and fed George Irvine for a basket with 26 seconds to go and clinched the victory with two foul shots in the final 10 seconds.

Claim Social Security Tax 'Increasingly Unfair'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Brookings Institution study says the Social Security tax not only is rising faster than other federal taxes but also is increasingly unfair to lower income workers.

In an analysis by economist John A. Brittain published by Brookings Thursday, the institution said Social Security, or payroll taxes, urgently need to be reformed so that workers would pay on their ability to contribute.

The 285-page report says the working poor, those earning less than $4,200 a year, currently are paying a Social Security tax of about 13 per cent, even though their earnings are so low they are exempted from paying income tax.

are hard hit, the report says. A married couple with an income of $10,800 next year may pay a higher rate of income tax and Social Security tax combined than a family earning $23,000, it said.

Greenville Chapter 24 of the Cosmetologist Club invites the public to attend "Beauticians Day" Sunday at 3 p.m. at Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church.

The demand for primary metals in the United States is expected to increase fourfold by the year 2000.

drive to get its U.N. budget assessment cut from 31.52 to 25 per cent has produced a Soviet-American confrontation in the old Cold War style.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush clashed with Soviet Ambassador Vasily Safronchuk soon after Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., opened the drive Thursday in the General Assembly's budgetary committee.

McGee, introducing a resolution to reduce the U.S. assessment "as soon as practicable," promised that U.S. contributions to U.N. voluntary programs would continue high.

Safronchuk announced that he would vote against the resolution and said the wealthiest country's assessment should be based on the traditional yardstick of per capita income. He said this would make it 38.4 per cent.

The Russian said that the United States also got more out of the voluntary programs than it put into them because they bought things in this country.

For example, the U.N. Children's Fund spent $27 million a year in the United States and got only a $24 million U.S. contribution.

Bush, red-faced, shook his finger and demanded, "Are you proposing, sir, that we cut off all support to UNICEF? I think this is selfish thinking."

He said that for the typical year 1970, the United States contributed 40 per cent of all the money paid into both assessed and voluntary U.N. funds, while the Soviet Union contributed only 7 per cent.

"When the U.S.S.R. lectures my country on who does what to help, please keep in mind these figures," Bush exclaimed. McGee argued that the present high U.S. assessment, amounting to $64 million a year, was having an "adverse opinion" on American public sentiment toward the United Nations and that its retention would damage the organization's interests.

There were these other developments Thursday:

The Assembly's main political committee approved four resolutions opposing nuclear testing by votes ranging from 81-4 to 106-4, but two of the nuclear powers — China and France — voted against them. The United States was among 15 abstainers on a resolution deploring the use of napalm, which was approved 100-0.

France lost a fight in the social committee to get action on a treaty to protect journalists in war zones. Soviet Bloc and Third World countries pushed through a proposal to postpone the issue until next year.

Guinea, Somalia and Sudan submitted a resolution to the Security Council calling on Portugal to negotiate with liberation movements in its African territories.

FCRECAST FOR SATURDAY, NCVEMBER 18, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Any argument or discussion over money or property matters could result in adverse conditions, so be sure to make a point to show your trust in and your affection for those with whom you come in contact. Make it plain that you are not in any way ridiculing them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you act too hastily, you could easily alienate one who is vital to your future progress, so take it easy and be wise. Show courtesy to all people. Use extreme care in travel.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use the services of real experts so that you get ahead faster and stop feeling so closed in. A hunch you have is not particularly good. Use best judgment and you come out the winner.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to build more harmony between you and friends instead of criticizing them so mercilessly. Make sure you keep promises made. Show that you are more than scrupulous in all that you do.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of career and civic duties awaiting your attention, but don't upset a higher-up whose ideas don't coincide with yours. You can improve your image considerably right now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan time for improving new friendships you have made, but be careful not to argue with them. An opportunity to obtain information you need is present. Do so in a most tactful way.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Being conscientious in the handling of obligations facing you brings fine results now. Give mate time to get out of a bad mood. Avoid one who is so talkative it brings on a headache.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Not a good day to bring up any bone of contention you may have with others or it could result in a severance of connections. Civic affairs could be depressing now. Handle them another time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are responsibilities to meet today, so forget going off on a pleasure tangent, which would be expensive. Add vitality through health treatments. Avoid those who waste your time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you want to have a good time, make sure you don't spend beyond your means and take all the pleasure out of it. Get busy on a fascinating project and receive the benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You cannot improve the harmony at home if you use unreasonable methods. Find something good to build on. There are far more favorable conditions than you are willing to concede.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Carelessness in motion of any kind could be a threat to the happiness of others as well as yourself. Take time to compose yourself in moments of stress. Show devotion to loved one.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Instead of worrying about those money matters, do something constructive about them. Study them objectively and then work on them without delay. Listen to what an expert has to suggest.

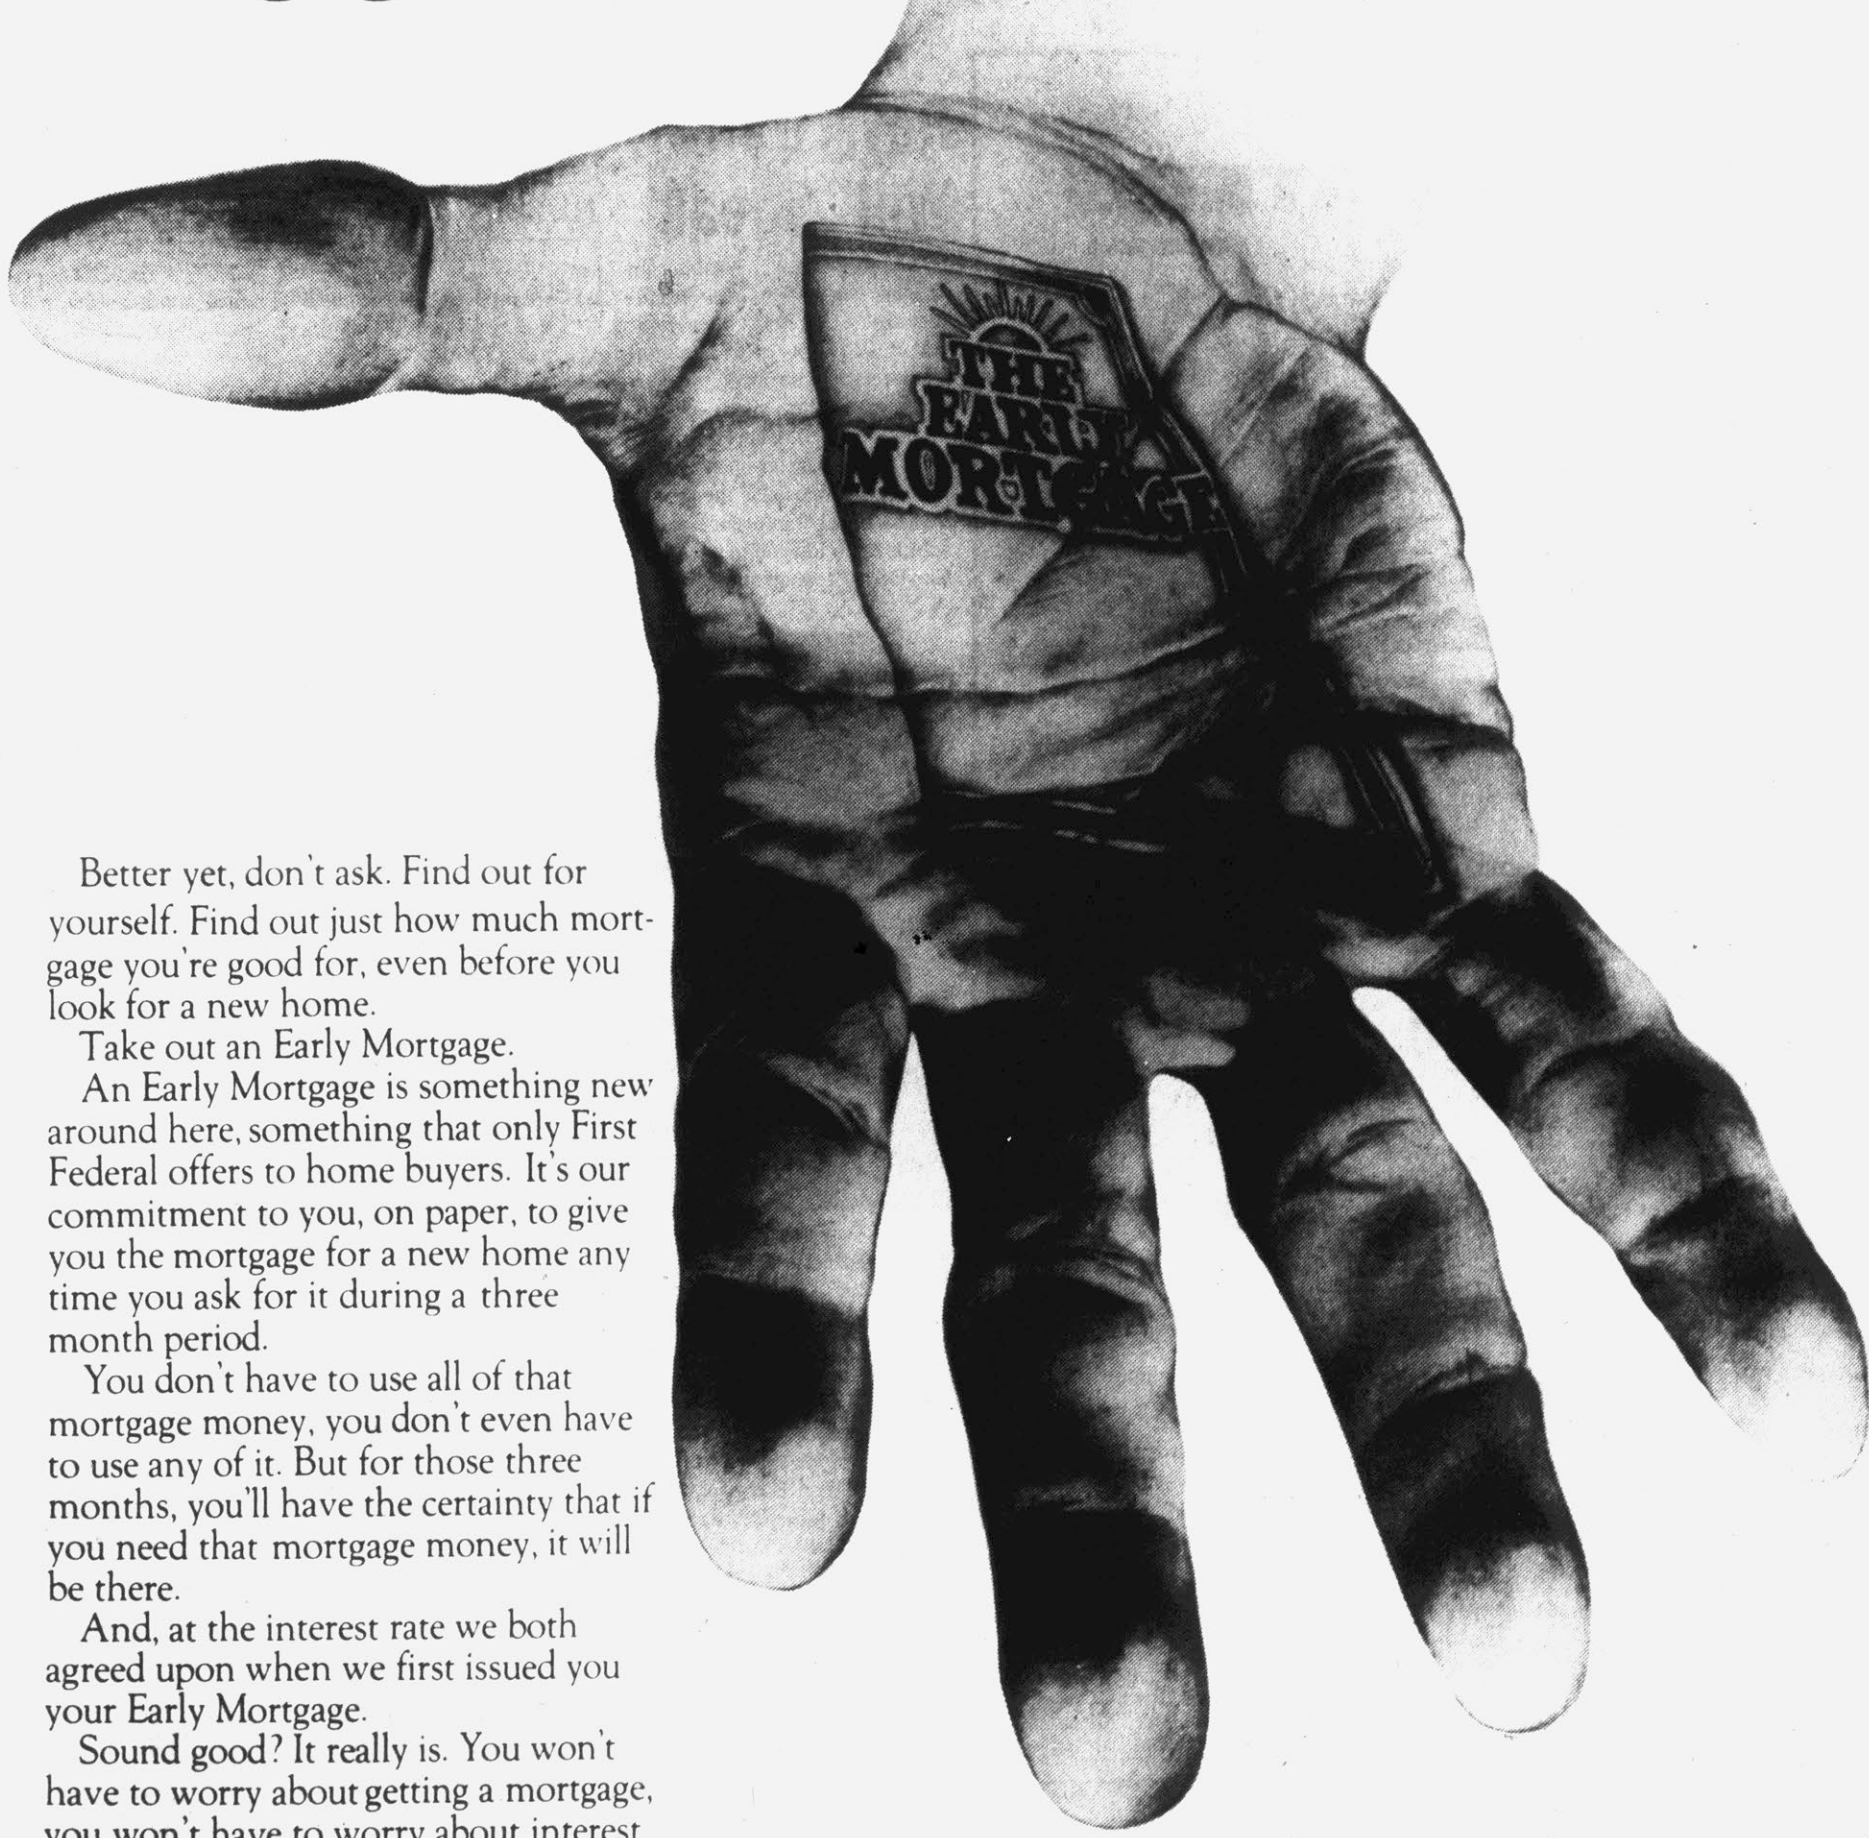

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those nervous young people who has to learn to control temper if the fine prospect of success possible in this chart is to manifest itself. Make sure you see to it that the diet is good, and the spiritual food is also right. The forte here could be in research, whether in the laboratory or in government work.

Ask any Realtor who gets the better deal?
The house hunter who has to become a mortgage hunter once he finds his house?
Or the unusual person who looks with a mortgage commitment already in hand?

Better yet, don't ask. Find out for yourself. Find out just how much mortgage you're good for, even before you look for a new home.

Take out an Early Mortgage.

An Early Mortgage is something new around here, something that only First Federal offers to home buyers. It's our commitment to you, on paper, to give you the mortgage for a new home any time you ask for it during a three month period.

You don't have to use all of that mortgage money, you don't even have to use any of it. But for those three months, you'll have the certainty that if you need that mortgage money, it will be there.

And, at the interest rate we both agreed upon when we first issued you your Early Mortgage.

Sound good? It really is. You won't have to worry about getting a mortgage, you won't have to worry about interest rates going up again. And you'll know exactly how much you can spend for a home when it comes time to bargain. (Don't forget to include closing costs in your calculations.)

All you have to do is find the house.

The Early Mortgage. Only from First Federal.

C.P. Shaw Will Speak At Sunday Church Service

C. P. Shaw, president of the Greenville Evening Optimist Club, will be the guest speaker at the Holy Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday in observance of "Youth Appreciation Week."

The services will be held in the library of the E. B. Aycock Junior High School, on Red Banks Road, at 11:00 a.m.

Annually since 1954, Optimist International has sponsored the youth emphasis week, a time when the whole community expressed appreciation for the contributions youth make to society.

Shaw will be speaking Sunday on the subject of "Youth In Religion" and several youth of the church will be participating in the order of worship.

Shaw is a native of Eden, associated with the State Highway Commission. He is married to the former Maude Throver of Smithfield, and they have two sons, John and Pierson. They reside at 116 Lee Street. The Shaws are members of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The public is invited to attend.

Two special services have been scheduled at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Greenville, on Tuesday, Nov. 21, and Thursday, Nov. 23.

Joseph G. Heard, C.S.B., a Christian Science lecturer, will explore the question "What is really needed to cope with problems such as pollution, inadequate food supplies and the healing of disease?" on Tuesday.

Heard, who is from Miami, will speak at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the First Church of Christ in the church auditorium.

JOSEPH G. HEARD

The speaker was educated at the University of Miami, University of Pennsylvania and Harvard University. He practiced law in Florida and was a Navy chaplain during the Korean War.

Prior to becoming a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Heard was active for a number of years in youth activities of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass. In 1970, he became an authorized teacher of Christian Science.

"Mind and Man" is the title of his local lecture which is open to the public without charge.

Mrs. James Wright, of ECU, will introduce the lecturer. Local arrangements for the event are being hand by Mrs. Jessie Little, chairman of the lecture committee.

Thanksgiving Day services, open to the public, will be held Thursday at the local church beginning at 11 a.m.

The nature of true gratitude is emphasized in commentary to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

N.Z. Said Nearing 'Classless Society'

Although the United States and New Zealand have much in common politically, economically and culturally, the latter is rapidly reaching an egalitarian or classless society, according to Michael J. Powles, First Secretary of the New Zealand Embassy in Washington.

In an address to the Pitt County Historical Society Monday night at the Women's Club, the Secretary said that his country was the first in the world to accord women voting privileges. Ninety per cent of all these eligible to vote in the last election did, he said.

A film was shown to illustrate the beauty and diversity of the island. In a brief business session, President John B.

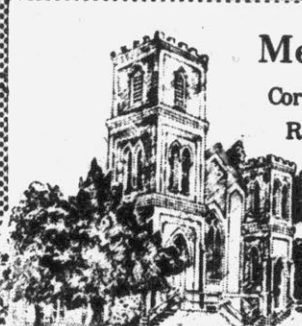

(Jack) Lewis announced that Mrs. Helen Snyder had resigned as corresponding secretary of the society and had been succeeded by Miss Annie Turner.

Memorial resolutions to two recently deceased members of the Society, Junius H. Rose and Mrs. Carrie Gardner Speight, who were president and treasurer, respectively, at the time of their death, were unanimously adopted.

Lewis announced that the exact time, place and nature of the Christmas meeting would be announced at a later date.

Dr. Ralph H. Rives, program chairman, presented the speaker.

A buffet dinner was served by the Women's Club prior to the meeting.

DIAMOND FIND

MOSCOW (UPI) —Soviet geologists found diamonds in a 60-mile-wide meteorite crater in northern Siberia, the Tass news agency said. The scientists who explored the "Popigaiskaya Depression" concluded that the diamonds were created by high pressure and temperature during the fall of a cosmic body onto the earth, Tass said.

The Worry Clinic Social Tact Is Part Of Game

Dr. Hulse deserves an "A" for his deft use of practical psychology at the Jordan River and in front of the tomb of Jesus. Alas, seminaries often fail to stress pastors empty the pews with stodgy "essay" sermons!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE V-547: Dr. E. Duane Hulse is a Wisconsin clergyman who rates an "A" grade in his practical psychology!

Last Spring he headed a group of 18 parishioners on a 10-day tour of the Holy Land.

After flying to Cyprus, they embarked on a large ship, where they returned to their own staterooms each night.

For that ship would drop them off in the morning to take a bus trip or scenic hike; then it would pick them up maybe 40 miles down the coast in time for a luxurious dinner at sea.

Thus, they never had to shift around from one hotel to another or pack and unpack their luggage every day.

At the Jordan River, they were on a bus with a total of 40 passengers.

Dr. Hulse baptized his own flock in the Jordan and several Baptist colored ladies who also asked to be included.

His diplomatic wife, Pearl (who once was one of my office secretaries), had thoughtfully prepared a sheaf of neat baptismal certificates, so each

Jordan baptizee received a certificate with the date, place, their own name and the clergyman's signature thereon!

South lost an ambitious slam contract when he failed to obtain maximum mileage from his dummy's thin assets.

Six hearts is not a sound undertaking and the blame must rest on South's shoulders for getting overboard. Inasmuch as his two bid is a forcing call, none of North's responses should be taken seriously. The latter may have been pushed into the auction somewhat against his will, and South would have manifested better judgment by settling for game.

A trump lead would have assured declarer's defeat; however, West heeding his partner's bid, made the natural opening of the eight of clubs. South won the trick with the king.

The ace of clubs was cashed at trick two, on which dummy discarded a spade. A third club was led and West ruffed in with the nine of hearts and returned a small trump. South could not afford to draw the hearts, inasmuch as he needed both of dummy's trumps for ruffing purposes. He therefore led a fourth club and West ruffed in with the jack for the setting trick.

Declarer wasted the ace of clubs by playing that card prematurely. It is urgent to ruff out the little clubs as quickly as possible, since West is obviously short in that suit himself. Observe the effect if South leads the six of clubs at trick two and trumps in dummy.

A small spade is returned and declarer fineses the queen. Now the seven of clubs is led. If West discards, declarer ruffs in dummy, draws trump, and subsequently concedes one trick, in spades.

If West ruffs in on the third round of clubs with the nine of hearts, South discards a spade from dummy. West will presumably return a trump; however, declarer is in, and, after cashing the ace of spades, he ruffs his remaining spade with the six of hearts. South returns to his hand by trumping a diamond and pulls West's last heart. His only loser on the deal is the nine of hearts.

The Baptist ladies got those certificates, too.

And when in late afternoon they reached the tomb where Jesus had been laid, Dr. Hulse administered the Holy Communion (Eucharist) not only to his own group.

But to 2 Roman Catholics, 15 colored Baptists, and 5 members of the Disciples of Christ.

Since there was a Baptist clergyman in that group, as well as a minister among the 5 Disciples of Christ delegation, Dr. Hulse graciously invited those two other clergymen to help.

And Pearl had previously prepared neatly printed copies of the "Order of Service," so the pastors could sign them, to prove that all had received Communion at Christ's tomb.

Dr. Hulse also brought back a bottle of water from the Jordan, which he put into the baptismal font of his flourishing Madison church.

Thus, when he now baptizes infants as well as adults, they can say that they, too, have been baptized via the Jordan River!

Here's why I thus rate Dr. Hulse an "A" in "Human Relations":

The next best thing to a new car:
a used car with a 100% guarantee.

Every major working part is guaranteed 100 percent for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first. So if during that time anything goes wrong with any of these parts, we'll repair or replace it free. But just because we're an authorized VW dealer, don't think we're only talking about our used VW's. We inspect and guarantee every make on our lot. For instance: engine transmission rear axle front axle assemblies brake system, electrical system.
