Legislative Commission To Submit No-Fault Bill

By MELVIN LANG Associated Press Writer CHAPEL HILL (AP) - A legislative study commission plans to submit to the General Assembly a Florida-type no fault insurance plan for motor vehicles that would abolish North Carolina's assigned risk plan but could leave the policy rate unchanged.

Jones said the bill would provide up to $5,000 in no fault benefits for bodily injury and up to $500 for property damage. The bill would allow individuals to suit for additional benefits on bodily injury cases if the total medical payments or loss of income exceeded $1,000 or if there was a catastrophic injury.

son' and the remainder covers administrative costs and the expense of determining who is at fault, or no coverage at all. 'If we have the no fault bill we're talking about, we think something like 85 per cent of the premium dollar will go to the hurt people,' Jones said.

Regardless of the option no suit could be brought for damage less than $500. Jones said the assigned risk plan is workable as it now stands but had fallen into disfavor because of public misunderstanding. As an alternative, he said, the commission will recommend a reinsurance pool involving all insuring companies operating in North Carolina. The plan, similar to one used in Canada, would allow a motorist in a high risk classification to pick the insurer he wants rather than being assigned to a specific company. Jones said the rate structure under no-fault was questionable because North Carolina is not now a high rate state. 'Under no-fault both cars in a wreck and everyone in the cars gets a claim,' Jones said. 'Therefore the amount of payments go down, but the number of claims go up.'

Wilson Police Arrest Frinks, Marchers

WILSON, N.C. (AP)—Police say they arrested 34 marchers Thursday night when a group led by Golden Frinks of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference paraded without a permit in downtown Wilson.

what Frinks said was a lack of tap water in the cells. Wilson County jailer Sam Langley said the tap water could have been turned off in the cells but that there was an intercom system that should have enabled anyone without water to call it to the attention of the guard. Langley said in a few temporary cells like the one Frinks was in, the guards can shut off the tap water. He said this is done so that 'drunks won't turn the water on and flood the cell.'

Farmville Commission Decides New $3.7 Million Waste Plant

FARMVILLE - A new waste treatment plant costing an estimated $3.75 million will replace the two facilities now in use, Farmville Commissioners have decided.

Plans for the new plant, to be located east of the town limits, were approved after John B. Pridden of Rose-Pridden-Freeman Engineering Associates of Chapel Hill advised that it would be a better move to start anew than to enlarge the old No. 1 plant and improve the No. 2 one now in use.

The Commissioners have been contemplating the possibility of having to build a new waste treatment facility for some time as they have been continuously prodded by state agencies to bring the No. 2 plant in line with existing regulations. Expected cost an estimated $3,741,000, the plant will be financed largely with grants from state and federal government sources. Town Administrator W. A. Martin said federal grants of 75 per cent of the total cost are available and additional funds—from one to as high as 20 per cent are available from the Clean Water Bond Issue passed by North Carolina voters last spring.

According to J. A. Wooten Jr., director of the Farmville Utilities Department, less than 20 per cent of the waste material going into the town's two plants at present is from residential and non-industrial commercial users. Therefore, under the formula requiring industries to participate in the cost of treatment plants in proportion to the amount of discharge from each industry, Farmville would be required to pay only 20 per cent of the total required from local funds.

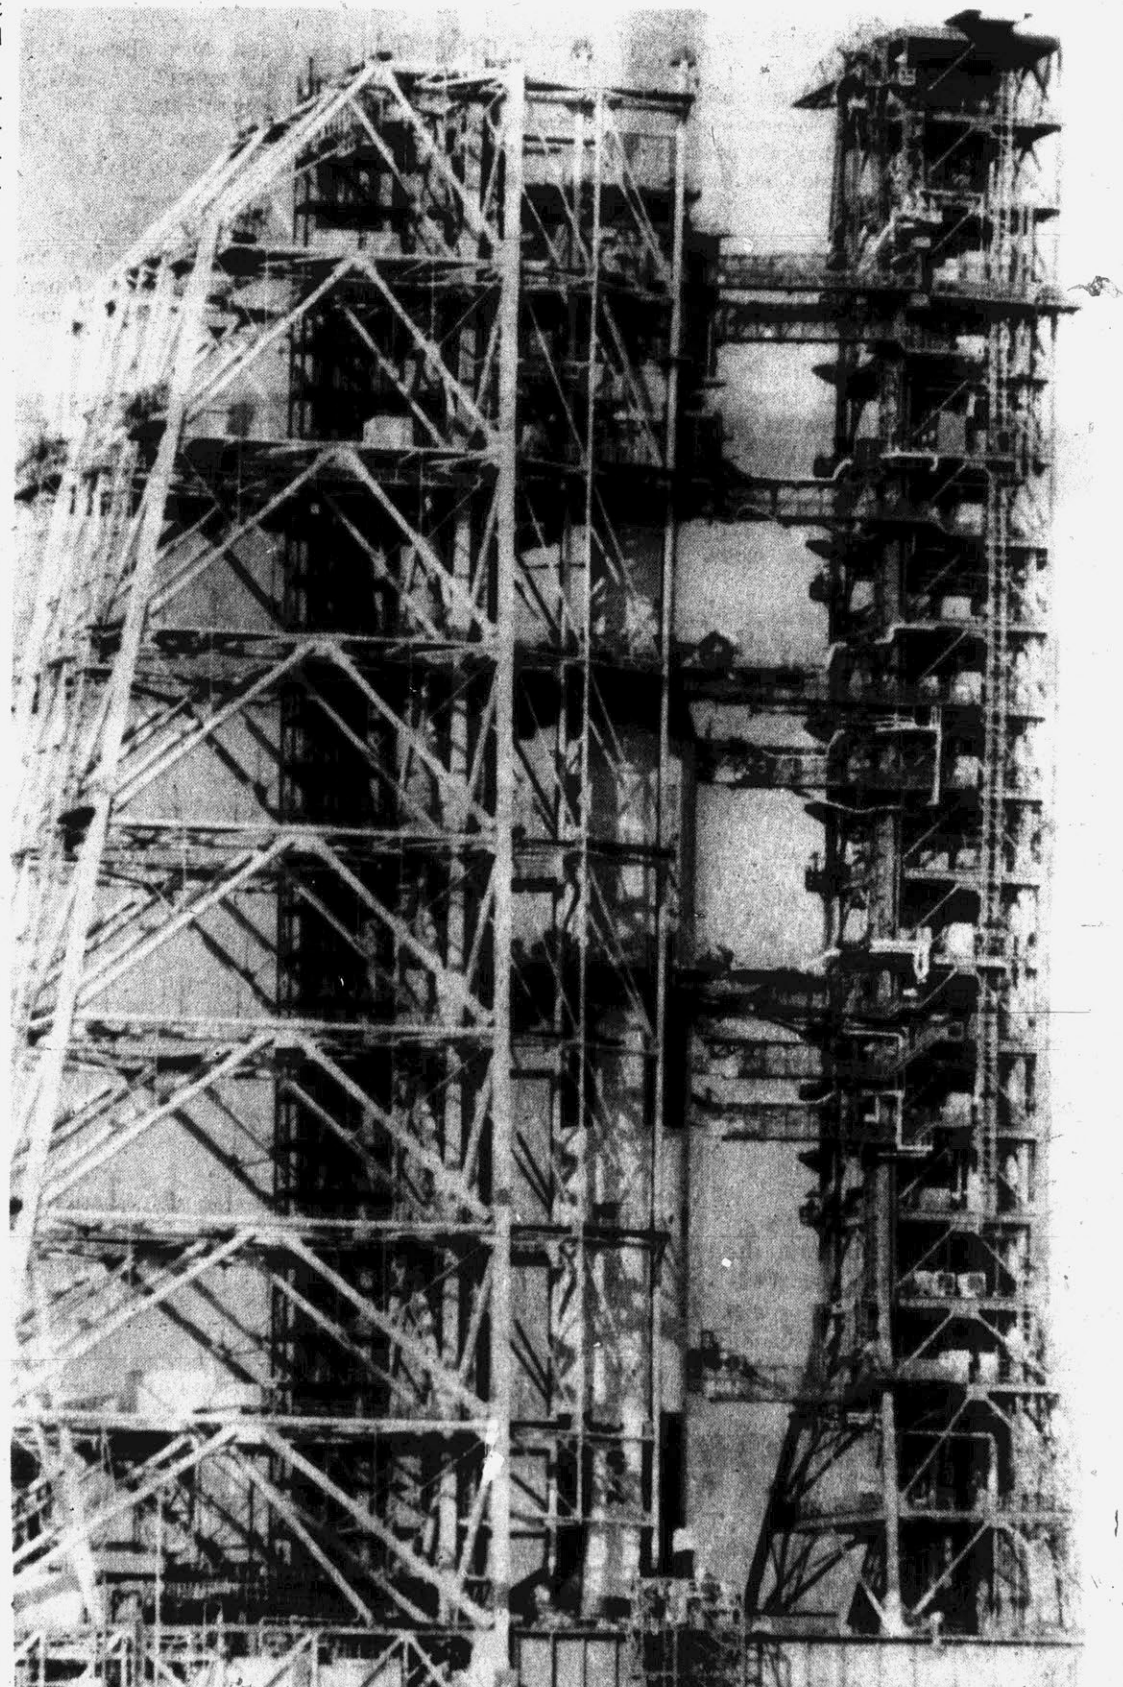

day operation, will take care of the town's needs for the next 30 to 40 years. Farmville's No. 1 plant is now handling 600,000 gallons daily when it was designed to handle only a half-million gallons. The No. 2 plant, which handles waste water from Farmville's largest user, the Collins and Aikman Textile Plant has never operated satisfactorily, Martin said. An estimated outlay of $1,880,000 would be required to improve the plant so it would meet state specifications. According to present projections, the town will file for eligibility determination and grants applications by Jan. 1. A bond election will be held April 30, and the voters willing, complete plans will be submitted by June 1. Construction should begin Dec. 1 and the plant should be completed by June 1, 1974.

Jenkins Repeats He'll Abide By Board Decision and to wait for the findings of this committee," said Jenkins. In the event the subcommittee recommends against expanding the ECU medical school, Jenkins said, "I will wait for instructions from our board of trustees. I will wait for instructions from the Board of Governors."

During the campaign, Holshouser refused to take a position on the merits of ECU's desire to expand its current one-year medical facility to a full four-year institution. Holshouser, in his speech to the state association of Independent Colleges and Universities, warned the legislators in the audience that "political meddling" with the system could have "tragic and irrevocable" consequences for the system.

Holshouser said that meddling had been part of the higher education system until the "statesmanship" of the 1971 legislature created the new system, which has "the opportunity to make something great."

Countdown

APOLLO 17 COUNTDOWN BEGINS... Workers began the long countdown at 8:30 a.m. today for the giant Saturn 5 rocket with the Apollo 17 spaceship atop, that if launched on schedule December 6, will send three U.S. astronauts to the moon on the final mission in the Apollo series. The rocket here is sandwiched between the mobile service tower on the left (which will be moved away about two hours before launch time) and the gantry of the mobile launcher.

Early activity in the countdown includes filling the water tanks of the spacecraft and powering up the three stages of the Saturn rocket. Later, pyrotechnic devices will be installed, batteries will be activated, the command ship's fuel cells will be loaded and more than 1 million gallons of fuel will be pumped into the 36-story tall booster. The scheduled 9:53 p.m. launch will be the first night-time blast-off of the Apollo program. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage)

Judge Not, Pastor, Especially By Mail

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the pastor's wife who complained because her husband ogled the cute young things in miniskirts tickled my funny bone.

I, too, am a man-of-the-cloth who gives more than a passing glance to the scantily clad girls of my parish—for purposes of preparing and delivering a scathing hell's fire sermon against such further displays!

I am also fiftieth and capable of having "turned on" feelings, but when such thoughts knock on the door of my imagination, I do not invite them to be entertained.

My wife is neither a qualified observer of my conduct nor an accurate interpreter of my actions, and unless that pastor's wife who wrote to you can attest to her husband's intent [in which case she should be excoriated] she had better fall on her knees and ask the Lord's forgiveness for entertaining such presumptuous thoughts as she conveyed in her "sick," lack-of-faith letter to you.

ANOTHER PASTOR

DEAR PASTOR: Only a man-of-the-cloth who has been acupuncture could be holier than thou.

DEAR ABBY: This year I didn't have any great big Thanksgiving meal for my husband's family like I did last year, and I will tell you why. Last year I worked like a horse for two days to prepare a really nice Thanksgiving dinner for my husband's parents, his two sisters, three brothers, and their kids, which numbered 19, including my own three children. [I don't have any family.]

All the men filled up on egg nog before dinner and they hardly ate anything. My sisters in law were dieting, so they just picked. My mother in law is on a salt-free diet and my father in law has ulcers, so they didn't eat much.

One 4-year-old nephew got restless at the table, so his mother let him leave the table and run around. Naturally, all the other kids wanted to do it, too. What a madhouse! I was so disgusted I was ready to scream.

This year I just told everybody I wasn't planning anything—I was just feeding my husband and kids—and you should have heard the complaints. Was I wrong? My husband has been sulking ever since.

HAD IT IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR HAD IT: Let him sulk. I'm with you.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your advice to the divorcee who wants to meet the eligible attorney: your suggested "appointment at the office" approach would be successful only with an attorney of doubtful eligibility. Instead, why not use a mutual acquaintance?

Furthermore, she may have a difficult time finding a lawyer who meets her qualifications—one "who puts God first, family second, and his job last." Usually the order is reversed. NON-LOOKING [AT THE OFFICE] LAWYER IN MERCED, CAL.

DEAR NON: A mutual acquaintance is not always easy to find.

It may be only a coincidence, but I know a beautiful, unhappily married woman who took her marital problems to an eligible attorney. He not only separated her from her husband—he separated her husband from his money. Then he married his client.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I want to donate our bodies after death, but don't know how to go about it. Can you help us?

Optimist Club members will be on hand at the Elm Street Park sale site Monday through Saturday of each week from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Sundays from 1-5 p.m.

Club president C. P. Shaw noted that all trees for sale this year were grown in North Carolina. He said that trees now on sale here were cut within the last ten days to insure freshness and future shipments into Greenville prior to Christmas will be staggered to provide the buying public with a fresh assortment of trees.

The state-grown trees on sale this year are Frazier Firs, the president reported, and the club will also have available holly, white pine roping and box wood roping.

The club again presented the Pediatrics Ward at Pitt Memorial Hospital one of the first trees and Mrs. Vera Smith, Ward supervisor, was on hand at Elm Street Park to accept the tree.

Miss Joanie Hammond, an East Carolina University junior from Redding Pa., made the first purchase from the Optimist this year, buying a fir for display in White Dorm at the ECU campus.

Rape Case Two Charged With Nears Jury Failing To Deposit Withholding Tax

A Pitt County Superior Court jury was expected to begin deliberation this afternoon in the case of David Lawrence Williams, 17 of 1900 B West Third St., charged with raping a 19-year-old East Carolina University co-ed here September 25.

The victim of the assault, Deborah Ann Price of Wilson, yesterday identified Williams as the man that attacked her as she walked along a railroad siding between 10th and 14th Streets while returning to the main campus from a class at Minges Coliseum.

The attack occurred about 11 a.m. Testimony presented to the court yesterday indicated that Williams, a student at Rose High School, had signed out and left the school between 10:30 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. on the morning of the attack.

Williams took the stand and denied he was involved in the attack, in which Miss Price was kicked in the face by her attacker.

Federal officials Thursday charged two Greenville businessmen with four counts each of failing to deposit employee withholding taxes as required by law.

U.S. Attorney Thomas P. McNamara, identified the two as Walker Levon Miles and Phillip K. Flowers, president and vice-president of Tar Heel Home Supply Co.

In addition to the criminal charges filed with the U.S. Eastern District Court yeasteday, a Federal Tax Lien for $12,836.74 was filed with the Clerk of Court in Pitt County November 16 against Tar Heel Home Supply Co. — Goodson Roofing Service.

The tax lien indicated that the Tar Heel Home Supply firm had failed to pay more than $12,000 in withholding tax — including social security and federal income withholding tax — for the period ending March 31, 1972.

According to McNamara,

Miles and Flowers allegedly violated provisions of the Interval Revenue Code which required employers to deposit withholding taxes in trust accounts.

The complaint filed Thursday alleges Miles and Flowers did not deposit more than $4,000 collected on October 13, 20 and 27 and on November 3, as required.

Both men were released on bond pending hearing of the case in federal court.

Wrong Number For Fire Dept.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — A newly issued telephone directory lists the number of the Northampton Fire Department as 586-9100.

Unfortunately, that's not the fire department's number. It's the number for Dr. Warren Fisher, a physician.

Understandably Dr. Fisher's telephone has been ringing a lot more frequently than it used to. The telephone company has given the doctor assurances that the situation will be corrected by Monday.

The city recently began the use of the number 911 for emergency calls. But, a company spokesman explained, its billing computers can't deal with only a three-digit number so 586-9100 was assigned to the fire department for billing purposes only. Nobody realized it was already assigned to another subscriber.

He made off with a flashy 25-pound, 5-foot-tall blinking candle from the city's Christmas street display.

City electrician Robert Byram said as work crews stood each of the 46 candles near utility poles to be hung, someone came along and carted one off before they even finished.

Some Quota Increase Was Due

The ten percent increase in tobacco quotas, ordered Wednesday by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, was no great surprise to tobacco interests.

While many observers hoped for a smaller increase, it was clear that some increase was in the offing because of the short supply of U.S. grown tobacco.

High prices prevailed most of the year on tobacco markets because of a high demand for leaf. While this is a good situation for producers, there was the danger that if quotas had not been increased, foreign buyers might have turned to other markets to obtain adequate supplies of tobacco. Once the markets were lost to us, they might never again be retrieved.

Unfortunately the Department of Agriculture took another action which might be ominous for the tobacco farmer. It eliminated the subsidy program begun six years ago, which allowed overseas buyers a five cents per pound rebate for tobacco purchased here.

It has been speculated that the subsidy was eliminated as part of a federal cost cutting program and, also, that the problems of the recent Russian wheat deal had its effects on purchases of U.S. tobacco by overseas buyers.

The subsidy was initiated when tobacco stocks held by Stabilization were high, as a means of encouraging movement of the tobacco. Now that the stocks are lower, we can only hope that demand will hold up even though the subsidy has ended.

At any rate, tobacco purchased in this country is higher priced than that which can be found in other areas of the world. It is a tribute to the American tobacco farmer that he produces such a superior leaf that it continues to sell in the world market even at a premium price. It is this superior quality which we feel will see U.S. tobacco through this subsidy elimination.

Fledgling Will Undergo Test

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH, N.C. — North Carolina's fledgling higher education system, structured to give unity of direction for 16 institutions, soon will get a wind tunnel testing.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Whether it flies or flies apart will be determined to a large extent, in the course of the General Assembly which convenes in January.

The critical question is simple. Will the legislature let the Board of Governors it created do the job given it to do without disruptive meddling?

"The whole process will be tested in the coming session," agreed Dr. William Friday, head of the system as president of the University of North Carolina. "I do not say it in any negative sense. I just think it will happen."

Friday said he has met with legislators to acquaint them with the importance of respecting higher education budget priorities set by the Board of Governors for the system. The budget is complicated and represents an enormous changeover in management of the institutions, he explained.

"We need to be as patient with the process as we can, to understand how it works, and to see if we can make it go," he said.

ECU Med School Issue
A crucial testing point for the new system may center on the matter of further expansion of a medical school at East Carolina University. The Greenville campus, after a persistent drive and with strong political assistance, won from the 1971 legislature the establishment of a one-year facility.

Whether to move beyond that to a two-year school now is under study by a committee of the Board of Governors. A negative report could set the stage for a confrontation in the legislature.

Many eastern lawmakers identify the goal of an ECU medical school with regional aspirations, and argue it is needed to increase the supply of doctors and raise the level of health care.

Gov. Bob Scott supported the one-year school and said it looked towards development of a full, four-year program. Jim Hunt, the incoming Democratic lieutenant governor, has looked favorable on the project though with some reservations.

Jim Holsouser

Republican governor-elect, has indicated he will stand behind the Board of Governors in the funding of higher education. The decade of the 60's, Holsouser observed, showed what can happen when political considerations dictate decisions in higher education.

Fair, Thorough Study
President Friday said the study committee dealing with the ECU medical school question has been thorough and fair. It listened fully to ECU officials and heard from 20 consultants, from within and beyond the state, he noted.

The committee is due to report in January to the full board, which will act upon it in making a recommendation to the legislature.

Competition between institutions and lack of coordination in programs led to the restructure of higher education by the 1971 General Assembly. It took an autumn special session to accomplish the task.

The result is a governing body over all 16 institutions, with authority to coordinate budgets and to set priorities for new and expanded programs. In the past, each institution made its own requests and went to bat for them in legislative halls.

Board Given Budget Task

"The legislature asked the Board of Governors to take on the task of making the hard decisions on which needs come first in programs and buildings. This has been done," said President Friday.

Having assigned the responsibility, the legislature must respect the performance if the system is to function, he said.

That lawmakers have the authority and jurisdiction to upset the board's judgment is beyond question, he acknowledged.

"But if there is massive intrusion, the whole system could be destroyed," he warned.

The board has given the Advisory Budget Commission a unified, three-part budget for all 16 institutions. It included: the base budget, to continue present operations; the salary budget, distributed without discretion to the institutions; and the so-called change budget, including sums for enrollment growth, new programs and capital improvements. This last is a lump sum appropriation to the board, which has authority to distribute it among the institutions.

Economy, one of the goals of restructure, already seems in sight. On their own, the 16 institutions asked for $636.4 million in the present biennium. The unified requests to the budget commission this time totaled $571.6 million, a reduction of $64.8 million.

The Governors Flex Muscles

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The announcement Tuesday by Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri taking himself out of consideration for Democratic national chairman opens the way for a power confrontation between the nation's Democratic governors and the party's left fringe with ramifications leading right up to 1976.

With Hearnes no longer in the running, a majority of the Democratic governors now favor former national party treasurer Robert Strauss to replace Jean Westwood as national chairman. Despite objections from some liberal Eastern governors, the governors seem intent on formally endorsing Texan Strauss when they meet in St. Louis Sunday afternoon.

If they do, liberals can no longer treat Strauss as a far-out conservative with no real chance for success. They must now consider the 31 Democratic governors a new power factor, determined to influence party decisions. With the governors supporting him, Strauss becomes the frontrunner (though his chances remain somewhat less than even).

As with everything else concerning the succession to Mrs. Westwood, far more than the party chairmanship is at stake here. In pushing Strauss, the governors want to roll back the 1972 reforms and open the Democratic door for reentry by the South. With Strauss as its national chairman, the governors feel, the Democrats will be proclaiming that the 1976 national convention will bear little resemblance to the McGovernite carnival of 1972.

The major obstacle preventing an endorsement of Strauss by the governors was divided loyalty between him and Hearnes, who is concluding eight years as governor and clearly available for the chairmanship. Some of Hearnes's fellow governors put the work to him privately but firmly during the past two weeks: if your name stays in contention, it only hurts Strauss by preventing us from endorsing him.

With Hearnes now out, several previously neutral governors—including two aggressive young rising figures in the party, Dale Bumpers of Arkansas and David Hall of Oklahoma—are expected to boost Strauss. They and several other moderate governors, Hearnes included, feel that the objection of the Easterners must be outvoted in St. Louis Sunday if the governors ever are to win a voice in party affairs.

If so, Strauss's possibilities can no longer be disregarded. With support from the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) and key congressional figures, one hard count now give Strauss 91 of the bar majority of 109 needed on the Democratic National Committee. Presumably, formal endorsement by the governors could put him close to victory.

This is scarcely what John F. English, Westwood—appointed general counsel of the National Committee political mastermind of the party's left fringe, had in mind all autumn. Discounting Strauss's prospects, English thought Mrs. Westwood could keep the job. When anti-Westwood sentiment appeared insuperable, English switched to national committeeman George Mitchell of Maine as an alternative more acceptable to the governors.

But the governors have labeled Mitchell clearly unacceptable, mostly because English and his friends at the Watergate were backing him. Indeed, there are now signs that the Westwood-English forces are turning to a second fall back position: two-time former chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, who has been carrying on an increasingly intense campaign for the job.

Just how much the situation has changed since the Nov. 7 election is seen in the position of Pennsylvania's liberal Gov. Milton Shapp. Just after the election, Shapp told friends a third term for O'Brien would be a step into the past. A week or

When Peace Is At Hand

WASHINGTON — When he came back to the United States after his peace talks in Paris, the first thing Henry Kissinger did was report to President Nixon at the Waldorf Towers.

"How was Paris, Henry?"

"Great, Mr. President. They have a new show at the Folies-Bergeres and..."

"I'm talking about the peace negotiations, Henry."

"Oh, yes. I think peace is at hand. It's just a question of buttoning down a few points..."

"Good. Did Le Duc Tho agree to change the draft of the cease-fire agreement?"

"No, he didn't. He said he was sticking by the original nine-point plan, and his people wouldn't budge an inch."

"I see. What did Thieu's people say about that?"

"They said that unless the entire agreement was rewritten, Saigon would not budge an inch."

"It sounds like a stalemate to me, Henry."

"That's how it sounds to me, too."

"What do we do now, Henry?"

"I thought you might have some ideas, Mr. President."

"I thought you had some ideas, Henry."

"Well, why don't I go back to Paris and tell Hanoi that unless they change the agreement we will be forced to back President Thieu?"

"That's a thought."

"And then why don't I tell Thieu unless he agrees to the accord as it is presently written, we will be forced to back Hanoi?"

"Let me get this straight, Henry. We're telling the North Vietnamese that they have to change the agreement and the South Vietnamese they have to accept it without changes?"

"Exactly."

"That sort of confuses me Henry."

ART BUCHWALD

"Well, if it confuses you, just think what it will do to them."

"Do you have any other ideas, Henry?"

"We got the North Vietnamese to agree to a peace settlement by bombing Hanoi and mining Haiphong Harbor. Since the South Vietnamese seem to be the stumbling block right now, why not bomb Saigon and mine Cam Ranh Bay?"

"But we can't bomb Saigon, Think of world opinion."

"We can't officially, Mr. President. But suppose we reactivated Air Force Gen. Lavelle and gave him very vague orders as to what he could or could not bomb in South Vietnam?"

"But if we mine the harbors of South Vietnam, how do we get Thieu the military aid we promised him?"

"Through North Vietnam, Mr. President. We sweep the mines out of Haiphong Harbor and ship our supplies in that way."

"Why would the North Vietnamese allow us to ship our supplies to South Vietnam through Haiphong?"

"That's the only part I haven't figured out yet, Mr. President, but I have my people working on it."

"Do you have any other idea, Henry?"

"I have one more plan. You announce that peace agreement has been reached with both the North and South Vietnamese and then we pull out."

"You mean announce it, even if it isn't true?"

No End To The Worry

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the issue over who will run the nation for the next four years has been settled, one would think the American people would have nothing left to worry about but death, love, and how to pay the taxes.

Not so. Anyone who thinks that simply doesn't know the American people. The American people have a limitless capacity for worrying. They pride themselves on having the biggest worries — and the tiniest worries and the finest worries — of any other people on earth.

HAL BOYLE

They can worry about anything, everything, or nothing at all.

The trouble with the worrying situation in the United States right now is that a lot of people are wasting their time giving $5 worth of honest worrying to things that aren't worth a two-cent pot of disdain.

So the wise worrier right now, before the onset of the long winter nights so ideal for brooding, will sift through his worries and throw away those which he feels will be profitless to him.

Of course, the basis of selection will vary with the individual. Some people like to worry about things they can do something about; others prefer to worry about things nobody could possibly do anything about. To each his taste.

As far as we're personally concerned too many worries are distracting, so we are going to concentrate on just a few this season. For your information, these are a few of the worries we refuse to wrinkle

40 Years Ago Today

40 Years ago today ebo
By GWYN COGHILL
December 1, 1932
The American film industry today released a list of the ten top movie stars for 1932. They are Marie Dressler, Janet Gaynor, Joan Crawford, Charles Farrell, Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer, Wallace Beery, Clark Gable, Will Rogers, and Joe E. Brown.

Hard times have brought a marked boom for at least one profession—crime. The first of this decade's lawbreakers to win real notoriety, and surely the hated criminal of this time, is an ex-convict from Germany named Bruno Hauptmann. This year on the night of March 1, Hauptmann climbed up to a second-story bedroom in Hopewell, New Jersey, and kidnapped the 20-month-old son of aviation hero Charles Lindbergh. The nation was stunned, for Lindy is the country's favorite hero. Though Lindy paid $50,000 in ransom, the baby was found dead six weeks later, and now that Hauptmann has been finally caught and executed in the electric chair, the country has registered a deep satisfaction.

Other Editors Say Open Season

(Jacksonville Daily News)
It will be a long time before two men jump the gun on deer season in Meigs County, Ohio.

A judge there, fined one of them $500, gave him a five-month suspended jail sentence and revoked his hunting rights for 15 years for hunting deer out of season.

The other got off slightly easier — $100 fine, four-month suspended sentence and hunting rights denied for 12 years.

The punishments, while stiff, were not extraordinarily so. Hunting laws in most parts of the country carry pretty strong sanctions and judges don't hesitate to employ them. And in general, hunters support the laws, both in their strictness and in their enforcement, because they know that their sport depends upon the wise conservation of animal resources.

It is ironic, though, that the law seems to do more to protect animals than it does to protect people.

In some circumstances, you can actually have more trouble on your hands if you kill Farmer Brown's cow than if you kill Farmer Brown himself.

If any judge, as a matter of policy, revoked peoples' driving licenses for 12 or 15 years because they were responsible for the taking of a human life on the highway, he would be called a hanging judge.

Of course, most traffic deaths are caused by "accidents." Unlike hunters knowingly violating hunting laws, few people get behind the wheels of their cars with the deliberate intention of killing someone. For many people, too, a car is essential to their livelihoods.

Yet it seems that in so many cases, a person has to be grossly in the wrong, almost willfully negligent and have a record of accidents and violations as long as his arm before the law takes the extreme step of revoking his license more or less permanently.

This is because, just the opposite of the situation with hunting, the public does NOT support stiff laws and stiff punishment of violators.

Every season is open season on the highway.

NATURE OF OUR LIVES
We need at all times to remind ourselves that as God's sons and daughters we are human on one side of our lives and spiritual on the other. The flesh lusts against the spirit and the spirit withstands the advancement of the flesh. There is nothing essentially wrong about our flesh but it cannot be allowed to come in and take first place. We are primarily spiritual beings and as such the spirit has to be placed before the body.

Our individual problems today are tremendous and so are the national and international problems we confront. What are we going to do about them? We cannot turn away from them with a shrug of our shoulders. They call for our attention and if

Odds Tilt Against Sky Pirates

By DON MCLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A combination of tougher judges and a Cuban government grown tired of hijackers on its soil is slowly tilting the odds against successful air piracy.

Just this week a convicted hijacker was sentenced to life in prison, the second such sentence handed down for the offense in two months. And over the past weekend negotiations began in Havana over how to discourage hijackers.

The Cuban talks, under the auspices of the Swiss who represent the United States in relations with Havana, are particularly important because Cuba is the favorite destination of air pirates.

There have been 85 successful hijack flights from the United States to Cuba, destination of nearly all flights commandeered in this country.

Havana expressed interest in finally working with the United States on the hijack problem after Cuban authorities arrested three men who forced a Southern Airways jet to Cuba after threatening to crash into the nuclear plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

There have been 159 hijack attempts since 1961, and 101 of them have been targeted to Cuba.

One reason Cuba has been chosen is because the Communist island nation is the closest haven from the United States. There are no diplomatic relations between the countries, other than superficial representation of U.S. interests by the Swiss, and extradition has been impossible.

Most of the early Americans hijacking planes to Cuba claimed to be political refugees seeking asylum. But recently air pirates have been demanding ransoms in the millions of dollars, making political motivations suspect. Besides that, some have been violent men willing to kill to avoid capture.

Cuba's rising impatience with the uninvited U.S. visitors is matched by the toughening attitude of American courts.

Last Monday Frank Markoe Sibley Jr., was sentenced in Seattle to life in prison.

Sibley commandeered a plane in Reno, Nev., Aug. 18, forcing it to fly to Vancouver, B.C., and then to Seattle before he was shot by FBI agents and captured. He said he wanted the ransom money for warcrippled children in Vietnam.

The life sentence is contingent on the outcome of a three-month study of Sibley's background and physical and mental condition to be conducted at a federal hospital.

For hijackers caught and tried, the results have generally been harsh. There have been four life sentences, and prison terms as long as 50 years.

One Person Injured In Three Accidents

One person was reported injured and an estimated $1,845 property damage reported in three collisions investigated here yesterday.

Police investigators said Walter William Jessup, 23, of 106 Ash St. was injured when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car driven by William Gerald Smith, 26, of 1007 Hamilton St. about 12:03 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Meade Streets.

Officers, who set damage to the bicycle at $55, said no damage resulted to the Smith auto. Smith was charged with exceeding a safe speed.

Timothy Farrell Smith, 19, of 14 Lakeview Dr. was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of a 7:40 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Ninth and Cotanche Streets.

Investigators reported the Smith car collided with a vehicle driven by James Willis Garris, 23, of Route 1, Ayden, causing an estimated $400 damage to the Garris auto and $1,000 damage to the Smith vehicle.

A 5:05 p.m. collision at the intersection of First and Washington Streets resulted in Barbara Doris Talley, 19, of 400 Arbor St. being charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Officers said the Talley auto collided with a car operated by Charles Young Brandau III, 26, of Charlotte, causing an estimated $150 damage to the Brandau vehicle and about $250 damage to the Talley car.

so later, he hinted to them that O'Brien might wind up the only alternative to Strauss: On Monday in Pennsylvania, Shapp publicly suggested O'Brien to replace Mrs. Westwood.

Ironically, O'Brien and Strauss agree fundamentally that party reform must be slowed down while Democrats reoccupy the middle of the road. But the governors are hostile to O'Brien, feeling his rulings from the chair at Miami Beach insured Sen. George McGovern's nomination. If Strauss is rejected by the National Committee, some governors say the alternative cannot be Mrs. Westwood or Mitchell or even O'Brien but must be somebody acceptable to them.

To prove they mean business, they first must endorse Strauss in St. Louis. Considering the hysterical hostility to him from the party's left fringe, that will scarcely guarantee Strauss's election by the National Committee six days later in Washington. But it would introduce the Democratic governors as a powerful moderate new voice in the affairs of their troubled party.

Refugee Airlift Will Be Resumed

MIAMI (AP)—After a lapse of more than six months, the Cuban refugee airlift will be resumed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government and possibly carry 3,400 or more Cubans to the United States.

Resumption of the so-called "freedom flights" within the next few weeks was announced Thursday by the U.S. State Department in Washington and the Cuban Refugee Program in Miami.

"Although the details have not been worked out, we anticipate that the flights to carry these people will be resumed in the near future ... in terms of the next couple of weeks," said State Department spokesman Paul Hare.

Hare said the State Department learned through the Swiss government that Castro's Communist government had cleared the way for 3,400 Cubans to emigrate to the United States.

An estimated 250,000 Cubans have been flown to Miami on the U.S.-financed airlift since its inception on Dec. 1, 1965. When it was operating regularly, there were two flights a day, five days a week.

But late last year Castro announced that the lists of Cubans wanting to come to the U.S. had been exhausted. The airlift continued irregularly until the last flight on May 12, 1972.

School Meeting Thursday Night

The Ayden-Grifton High School's Parent-Teacher-Student group will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

William E. McLawhorn, president, said the meeting will include classroom visitation and should prove of great interest to every family represented by a student in attendance at the school.

Following a general 30-minute meeting in the auditorium, the parents will go through the students' school day on a shortened basis. Twelve minutes will be allowed for each class period with five minutes between periods for changing classes.

The Student Government Association will be on hand to direct parents to the various rooms. Each classroom will have a display and many will have students working just as they do in class.

Bob Scott Has Offer Of Job

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Outgoing Gov. Bob Scott has confirmed that he has been approached about a salaried job with the North Carolina Agribusiness Council.

"That is one of the possibilities I am considering," Scott said in a story in today's editions of The Charlotte Observer. "But it's far from certain," the Democratic governor added.

Inequities Reported In U.S. Military Justice

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Pentagon report acknowledges that black members of the Armed Forces don't get a fair shake when compared with how the military justice system treats whites.

Among other things, it found company commanders hand out tougher punishments for blacks than for whites accused of minor violations of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Prepared by a 14-member racial task force, the study recommends that racial discrimination itself be punished within the military justice system.

The panel, releasing its report Thursday, called for such steps as standardized punishment for minor offenses and recruitment of more black military lawyers. It suggested that helmets be redesigned to conform to modern hair styles, such as the afro favored by many blacks.

"The military system does discriminate against its members on the basis of race and ethnic background," the study said. "The discrimination is sometimes purposive; more often it is not."

"Indeed, it often occurs against the dictates not only in policy but in the face of determined efforts of commanders, staff personnel and dedicated service men and women."

In all, the four-volume study of how the military administers the Uniform Code of Military Justice contained more than 100 recommendations.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, noting "justice and discipline are inseparable and indispensable," said many of the proposed changes are being put into effect while others are under consideration.

Scores of GIs were interviewed by the task force which said it found that where military justice was unfairly administered there was also "racial animosity and tension."

Other recommendations included: making aptitude tests for job assignments conform to cultural and ethnic backgrounds, expanding race relations programs, providing legal advice for GIs from the time they are first accused of an offense no matter how minor, and abolishing summary courts-martial for minor offenses, which allows one company grade officer to impose punishment.

The task force was appointed by Laird after the NAACP and other civil rights groups complained of unequal justice for blacks in the military.

PTI Learning Center To Close Through Jan. 1

The Learning Center of Pitt Technical Institute will be closed for renovations from Dec. 1, through Jan. 1, according to Mrs. Joy Sasser, Coordinator for the Learning Center.

The renovations will result in an increase in the Center's seating capacity and functional capabilities.

"We feel that the remodeling will increase the efficiency of our Center," Mrs. Sasser indicated, "as well as improve the environment and facilities for learning for the students."

Arrangements have been made for veterans who are currently enrolled in a program to continue their studies during the time that Center is closed. These students may contact Mrs. Sasser in the Learning Center to learn of the arrangements.

 organization."
 In a new Anti-Litter and Beautification Contest, the Lois Rainwater Community Development Club of Wilson County took top place honors, with Coffield in Hertford County placing second and Old Sparta in Edgecombe County ranking third.

Arthur T. Edmundson of Tarboro presided over the meeting, and near the end turned the office over to Hilton Carleton, a Wilson banker, who will lead the Association this year. Mrs. Sylvia Wheelous of Greenville is the new vice president and was in charge of planning the banquet held at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

Various committee chairmen gave reports of their committees' activities during the past year. They were as follows: R. Winslow Bone of Nashville, agriculture, telling of a Pesticide Awareness Meeting held in Rocky Mount, and an agricultural tour of several northeastern counties.

Mrs. Patsy Bullock of Rocky Mount, home economics, telling of a Food Fair in Ahoskie, sending member-made dresses to Cherry Hospital, and used clothing to O'Berry Center; Charles Harvev, telling of the Industrial Development committee's changing its name to Industrial Relations in recognition of the Association's continued agricultural orientation and its determination to either do something that will not duplicate other efforts in the area or disband; Mrs. Effie Ray Bateman, telling of increased newspaper coverage of area attractions and of an application to form a state park on the Pamlico River; Mrs. Hodges of Beaufort County, telling of youth activities in every county except Martin; and Mrs. Julia Jones telling of the 62 communities who participated in the Community Development program, of a new anti-litter campaign, and of the Association's decision to give printed signs to the winning Community Development competition winner instead of plaques.

The Rev. H.M. "Hank" Wilkinson of Kitty Hawk spoke on "Decorations for the CPDA Christmas Tree." A paper sack set on the head table yielded everything from a Vicks inhaler, an example of the Richardson enterprise of "sticking its business in other people's noses" illustrative of the Association's need to get involved with people, to the ingenious invention, the Pyrex dish, illustrative of CPDAers' need to use their heads. The former advertising man and extension agent, who became a minister in 1964, interspersed his talks with commercials for Jesus Christ. These, mostly sung by him were paraphrases of familiar tv commercials, like "You Deserve A Break Today, So Be Sure To Kneel And Pray, To The Savior, To The Savior."

Told 'Prepare'

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Thien Kiem has issued a secret directive to Cabinet ministers and other department heads telling them to prepare for a cease-fire, official South Vietnamese sources said today.
 These sources reported the directive was circulated a few days ago but they did not know whether it was tied to meetings in Washington between President Nixon and Nguyen Phu Duc, a special emissary of President Nguyen Van Thieu.
 Reports from Washington said there were indications that the United States is growing impatient and may not wait for its South Vietnamese ally to approve before signing a final peace agreement

Pirates Hosting Athletes In Action

Crumpler: Player Of The Year

Carlester Crumpler, who led the voting for the All-Southern Conference team, beat out teammate Carl Summerell for Southern Conference Player of the Year honors, it was announced today.

Crumpler, who broke four league records during the past season, helped to lead the Pirates to their first undisputed Southern Conference championship and a 9-2 overall record this year.

The 203-pound junior finally came into his own this year, after a frustrated sophomore year. A High-School All-American at Wilson's Fike High School, Crumpler had to sit out his freshman year. Last season, his mere presence on the field sparked excitement in the stands, but he suffered an ankle injury early in the season and never quite returned to form. The excitement remained in the stands and not on the field.

But this year, a fully healed Crumpler was determined not to let the fans down again. "I think the fanfare I got as a sophomore hurt me," he said. "The fans got excited and then didn't take everything into consideration. But I knew I had to do it this year."

And do it he did. By the time the season was over, Crumpler has rushed 340 times for 1,309 touchdowns for 102 points, two more records. All four were also East Carolina school records.

There also seems little doubt that he'll break the all-time East Carolina rushing records before he's finished. In his two-year career he's already carried the ball 454 times as compared to 638 for the record. An he's rushed for 1,847 yards, leaving him less than 700 away from the 2,512 yard school record. A repeat of this season would make him the first 3,000 yard rusher in Southern Conference history.

While Crumpler was a hard-hitter into the line all year, he was jolted by the news that he'd gotten the top Southern honor. "You got me kind of jittery," he said when informed of his selection. "I'm elated. It's just fantastic."

Crumpler said that he wasn't satisfied with his performance this year, however. "I just try to get better each week. I owe it all to the guys up front. They made it all possible," he said.

"I still haven't performed to my potential, but this was a big year for me," he said. "I know I can do better."

Summerell, who set a new East Carolina single season total offense record with 1,700 yards passing and running, passed for a record tying 12 touchdowns during the season. He, like Crumpler, is just a junior and will be back next year to guide the Pirates again.

The other top vote getter in the balloting of the Southern Conference Sportswriters Association, was wide receiver David Knight of William & Mary, a senior.

East Carolina University's Pirates play their second game of the season Saturday night, hosting the Athletes In Action.

The ECU junior varsity will kick off the evening, playing host to Louisburg Junior College. Game time is set for 5:45 p.m. with the varsity game starting at 8 p.m.

The Pirates will be seeking their second straight victory in the contest, after a 78-58 victory over the University of Baltimore, in their opener on Tuesday night.

For the Athletes in Action, it will be their sixth game but they come in without a victory. They have bowed by close margins to Evansville, Bowling Green, Marshall, Providence and Boston College, all "fine basketball schools."

The team, sponsored by the Campus Crusade for Christ, is one of two operating around the country during basketball season. One plays in colleges in the east, while the other operates in the west.

The top player on the eastern unit is former Davidson player Ronnie Stelzer, a 6-0, 170-pounder.

Others include Bill Alexson, 6-5, 190; from Gordon College; Calvin Andersen, 6-4, 190, from Valley City State College; Clarence Brookins, 6-4, 195, Temple; Dennis Cantrell, 6-10, 240, Miami, Fla.; Teddy Cruse, 5-11, 180; Frank Gibbs, 6-2, 160; Bill Hull, 6-6, 215, Oal Roberts; Dwight Miller, 6-4, 185, Otterbein; Mike McCoy, 6-0, 160, Grace College; Dave Schneider, 6-10, 230, Wayne State; and Jimmy Blacklock, 6-0, 175, Texas.

For the Pirates, the game will not count in the statistics or the standings. It's an exhibition according to the NCAA, since it's not with a collegiate team. Scoring totals don't count for the players, nor does the result count for the team.

"But it's still a game for us," coach Tom Quinn said. "And we want very much to win it."

Quinn said the Pirates, who didn't look their sharpest in the opener against Baltimore, wanted to correct their mistakes and put on a good show for the fans.

"We were quite pleased with the enthusiasm shown by those who came to the game Tuesday night," Quinn said. "We want to give them a good game to show we appreciate their support."

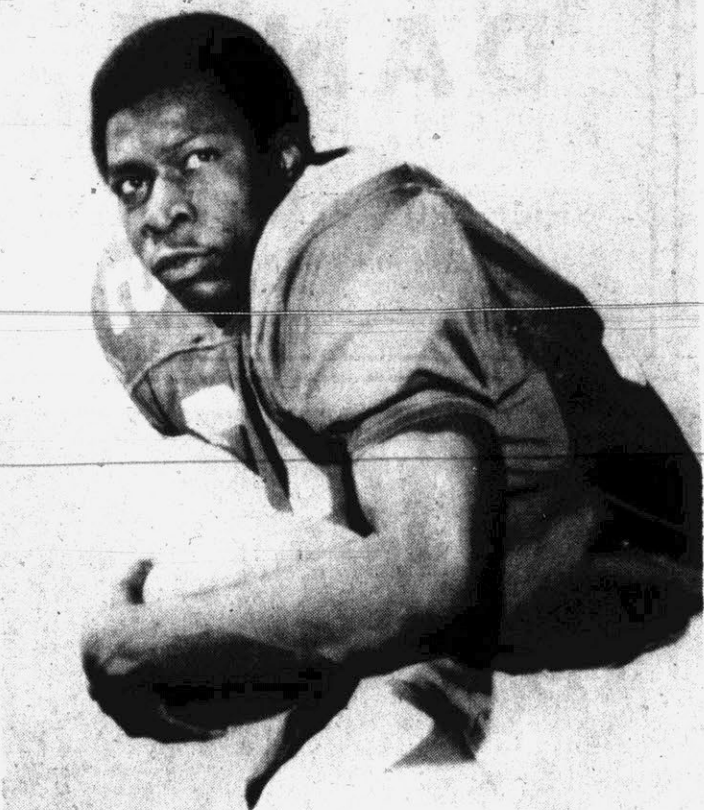

One member of the team will definitely miss the game and is also expected to miss next week's opening Southern Conference game with Davidson.

Sophomore Tom Marsh, who led the scoring with 15 points against Baltimore, suffered a sprained knee last in the game, is expected to be out about a week.

Earl Quash was the number two scorer in the opener, scoring 12 points, while two others, Nicky White and Jerome Owens each had 10.

One reason for the lack of a lot of scoring by individuals was that Quinn played 11 players. They ranged from five minutes by Eugene Walcott and six minutes by Ray Peszko, to 29 by White and 24 by Owens.

Karate Tournery Rampants Fall Set Saturday To Fike Matmen

The Goju-Shorin Classics Karate Tournament is slated to get underway Saturday at 10 a.m. at Rose High School, with competitors coming from across the nation to take part.

Bill McDonald, director of the tournament, said that the competitors could number between 400 and 600. "We really don't know until they all show up. We know there are people coming from as far west as California, as far south as Florida and as far North as New York, so it will be from all over. Some of the top people in the country will be vying for the trophies, and we feel it will be one of the largest tournaments ever held in the southeast."

McDonald said that eliminations will be held in the 12 classes of competition in both kumite (sparring) and kata (form). This will be underway during the morning and afternoon. The two top fighters will meet in championships in each class starting at 8 p.m.

Classes of competition include Pee-Wee (6-8 year olds); intermediates (9-12); junior men (13-16); junior girls (under 15); white belt men; white belt women; green belt men; green belt women; brown belt men; brown belt women; black belt men; and black belt women.

Trophies will be presented to the top four competitors in sparring and the top three in form in each division. A team championship will also be decided, based on the total number of trophies won.

One of the chief groups in competition for the trophies will be the East Carolina University Karate Club, which has already a number of team championships. McDonald is the instructor for the club.

Paladins Win Opening Game

WINTERVILLE — Pitt Technical Institute won their opening game of a season last night, taking a 64-43 decision over Halifax Technical Institute.

The game, between the two Eastern Carolina Community College Conference members, was a non-conference affair, and does not count in the league standings.

Both teams got off to a cold start and some three and a half minutes went by before Pitt Tech got the first baskets of the evening. Halifax then broke the ice, but the Paladins pulled away to build up a 6-2 lead after another few minutes. By the midway mark in the period, they held a 15-5 lead and continued to inch away, building up a 33-20 margin at the end of the first half.

In the second period, the two teams retained their icy fingers still having trouble finding the mark. But the Pitt shooting was just a little warmer as they continued to pull away, outshooting Halifax, 31-23, during the half.

"We had a lot of turnovers," Coach Bob Turner said afterwards. "But I guess it wasn't too bad for an opener. Halifax was playing their fourth game, and I don't know why they couldn't hit for so long."

Frank Brown led the PTI scoring, hitting 19 points. He was the only Paladin to break into double figures. Anderson and Weaver each had 12 for Halifax.

Tuesday night, Pitt travels to Fayetteville to meet Fayetteville Tech.

Farmville Central Wrestlers Could Challenge For The Title

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

FARMVILLE — Farmville Central's wrestling coach Ronald Vincent is a little more optimistic about his team's successes this season after the first Jaguar match.

Farmville Central trounced Rose High School in the first match, and Vincent hopes that this might mean the Jaguars might be among the challengers for the Eastern Carolina Conference title.

The Jaguars return eight men from last year's team who were regulars. This means that only five will be relatively inexperienced. "We've got fairly good experience, but some of the other teams have more," Vincent said.

There are only five schools in the conference that have a wrestling program, Conley, Ayden-Grifton, North Pitt, and Southern Wayne, in addition to the Jaguars.

"Conley has to be favored," Vincent said. "They won it last year and they have nearly everyone back. North Pitt is going to be strong again this year too. I don't know where we'll fall in place, but we should be battling for it with them."

Vincent believes that he has several wrestlers who could be potential scorers in the sectionals, which pit the best from the Northeastern part of the state together at the end of the season. He lists the top candidates for these berths as Bobby Locust, James Gorham, Gary Locust, and Robert and Billy Bullock.

"They could be individual winners in the conference and place high in the sectionals. We also have several others who could come along and be factors in both meets."

One problem Vincent has is the lack of a true heavyweight. "We should be strong in the middle and heavier weights," the coach said. "But we're relatively weak in the smaller classes."

Ronald House, a junior, will wrestle at the 98-pound class. "He's back from last year, and has the potential to be a winner if he'll work hard," Vincent said.

At 108 is Tony Jordan, just a freshman. "He wrestled in junior high school. He's real quick and works hard."

Ricky Bundy, a senior, will hold down the 112-pound class. "He won the conference last year at 98, and will probably move down a class or two before the season is over. He's a smart wrestler and doesn't make mistakes on the mat."

Clarence Wilkes and Randy Blalock are vying for the 119-pound class. Wilkes is a sophomore and Blalock, a senior. "Whichever one works the hardest and shows the most progress will get the nod," Vincent said.

At 126 is Bobby Locust, one of the top candidates for post-season honors. "He was third in the sectionals last year. He's real quick, real strong and a pretty smart wrestler."

Working at 132 is James Gorham, a junior. "He's real smart, too, but he's up two classes from last year, and I'm not sure whether he has the strength yet to handle this class."

Morris Williams, a junior, out for the first time, is working at 138. "He's strong and quick, and by February could be up there with the rest of them."

Gary Locust, working at 145, is a sophomore. Vincent believes that he could develop into the best wrestler on the team. "He's strong and makes no mistakes."

Two are working at 155, Glenn Dwyer, a senior, and Ronnie Wilkes, a junior. "Glenn missed last year, and he needs to show a little more aggressiveness. He's strong and quick. Wilkes can go to 167 at times, but it's his first year out. But he's strong and quick and really wants to wrestle."

Vincent has Floyd Bullock, a freshman at the 167-level. "He's tall, strong, real strong and learning. He, too, could be a good one by February."

Robert Bullock is at 185. "He's a sophomore, but he's good. He's big and strong and smart and quick. He has all the tools."

Billy Bullock rounds it out at 195. Vincent calls him strong and quick and more aggressive than most of those in his class. "We just don't have a heavyweight," Vincent added. "We may move up everyone from time to time, but I guess otherwise, we'll just have to forfeit the class."

Vincent feels that Farmville must quit making mistakes early and quit holding back. "We've got to go for pins," he said. "We've got the potential to be real strong and to place high in the sectionals, but we've got to iron out these problems."

Hunter To Start In Backfield For North Carolina Shrine Team

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The North Carolina starting offensive team for Saturday's Shrine Bowl football game will be headed by both the pass and the run.

"We set up our offensive formations to give us that balance, and we'll go with whichever works better," said Coach Roger Thrift of New Bern.

South Carolina has been using primarily running formations, Power-I, Wishbone and Veer. However, the Sandlappers can pass, too.

North Carolina also has the Power-I and the Wishbone in its arsenal. But it chose the Pro-I to give it more diversification. The annual game between 33-man squads of selected high school seniors will benefit the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children at Greenville, S.C.

South Carolina has won the last two years and has taken a 16-15 lead in the series. There have been four ties.

Every squad member will get into the game. As Thrift says, "We have every squad member starting somewhere, either on offense or defense, or one of the kicking teams. And each of them can expect to get in on the scrimmage action. That's what they're here for."

The North Carolina starting lineups have been announced. The South Carolina starters will be announced later today.

Johnny Stratton of Salisbury will start as the North Carolina quarterback. His primary receivers will be wide receiver

David Moody of Asheboro, half-back-flanker Tim Robinson of Hickory, and tight end John Snider of East Mecklenburg.

Snider's East teammate, full-back Mike Bennett, will start in the backfield, making their school one of four supplying two starters. The others are Hickory with Robinson and offensive guard Wilmer Walker, Brevard with linebacker Ronald Banther and defensive tackle Mickey Marvin, and Shelby with linebacker Tommy London and punter placekicker Mike Dover.

Robinson teams with Al Hunter of Greenville Rose at half-back.

The offensive line is tackled by Danny Hamrick of Kannapolis and Robert Paroli of Wilson

Fike, guards Walker and 256-pound Tommy Burkett of Winston-Salem Parkland, and center David Guy of Lumberton.

The Cincinnati Reds failed to score a run in 13 innings during which their leadoff man reached base.

The Bucs were cold shooting from the floor during the first half, hitting only 30.6 per cent of their shots, but they warmed up at halftime, and came back with a 53.8 percentage in the second.

Turnovers were also a problem for the Bucs, who committed 27, 10 more than Baltimore. The Bucs had a fine 80.0 per cent at the foul line, however.

Baltimore, bothered by the Buc defense, shot only 27.5 per cent in the game, and Quinn noted that this was remarkable. "I don't know if I've ever seen a college team shoot that low for the whole game," he said.

The Pirates travel to Davidson for their first Southern encounter on Tuesday, then return home on Saturday to play host to Appalachian State University in another league game.

Rest Home Project Among Plans Cleared By Board

Four approvals, all except one carrying stipulations, and two denials was the record of the City-County and Greenville Boards of Adjustments, both meeting in City Hall Thursday night.

On the single item, a public hearing, considered by the City-County Board, members approved both the request for special use permit and variance requested by David T. Greer.

Greer, who plans to construct a rest home on the north side of State Road 1529 near N.C. Highway 30 was granted approval provided he will purchase at least sixteen-one hundredth acre of additional land. The ordinance calls for a minimum of two acres for a rest home, and Greer was short that small amount. He informed members he had a verbal option to purchase an additional acre or so of land, and the approval were granted subject to his acquiring at least the amount of land required to bring the lot up to two acres.

Lanier Ruling On Relevance

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Insurance Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier is expected to decide today whether statistics compiled on the insurance industry in 1970 are relevant to a rate increase hearing, or whether even older statistics should be used.

The unusual problem facing the lame duck commissioner came about when the state Court of Appeals ordered him to reopen hearings on an 8.9 per cent rate increase he granted the auto liability insurance industry in 1971.

The hearings on that increase were held before the industry compiled its 1970 statistics. After the increase was granted, the state attorney general's office appealed the decision and succeeded at the appellate level.

Now, assistant attorney general Hunt Baxter has argued that the later statistics prove that the insurance industry is making more money and doesn't need the increase. Baxter's contention sparked a series of legal and technical objections Thursday, both from attorney Arch Allen for the insurance industry and from members of Lanier's staff, who argued that the 1970 figures were inadmissible.

Baxter is also trying to introduce the concept of "total limits" in the requirements for hearings. This would force the industry to present its balance sheets for all policy values in auto insurance, not just the minimum coverage groups.

In another insurance development in Raleigh Thursday, Lanier's successor was presented three plans that the insurance industry says can take the place of assigned risk coverage.

The plans, according to an industry spokesman, all use reinsurance pools for high-risk drivers rather than assigning them to a particular company.

The industry claimed the plans would eliminate some of the red tape and uncertainty surrounding the current assigned risk plan.

Ingram said he would need "more input" before choosing among them.

Commuters 'Improvise'

NEW YORK (AP) — Drove of Long Island commuters improvised their way to work for a second day amid glum reports of no progress in negotiations to end a strike against the nation's busiest commuter railroad.

The Long Island Rail Road, which normally provides service for 170,000 daily passengers, was struck Thursday by its 5,000 nonoperating employees in a contract dispute over wages.

Commuters were inconvenienced but the massive traffic jams that had been feared never materialized Thursday as workers staggered traveling hours and took advantage of expanded bus and car parking facilities outside the city.

There were long delays for many. Lengthy lines formed at bus stops and subway change booths. Highway traffic was excessive during both morning and evening commuter rush hours. Demands for helicopter service reportedly quadrupled.

Prospects for a rapid settlement got low rating from all sides. Negotiators huddled most of the day at the International Hotel at Kennedy Airport, recessing at 11 p.m.

William Ronan, chairman of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, which owns and operates the railroad, emerged saying only, "We both have a lot of homework to do."

Two old business items taken up by the Greenville Board of Adjustments received approval. The first, a request for a special use permit, was granted without exceptions. This was a request by Gilbert's Automotive Clinic to utilize a portion of the structure located at 1604 Dickinson Avenue as an auto repair shop. The property is zoned Downtown Commercial Fringe.

The second old business item was Earl Simmons' request to obtain a variance to alter a structure at 2301 May Street. This was granted, provided he move the proposed structural addition back at least 20 feet on the side so that it would not protrude beyond the house line.

Under new business, public hearing on a special use permit requested by Mrs. Myrtle T. Carter received approval. Mrs. Carter was seeking the special use permit in order to construct an accessory building at 1308 South Cotanche Street in a downtown commercial fringe zoned area. The approval carried a stipulation that an existing shed, attached to a garage on an adjacent property, be moved away from the neighbor's garage up to her own property line.

Two public hearings on requests for variances by a husband-wife team, J.J. Perkins and Mrs. Mamie R. Perkins, were considered as one item since both requests were identical in nature and on adjoining property. Both sought to obtain a variance for space requirements and off-street parking in the construction of duplex apartments at 914 and 916 Douglas Streets.

The Adjustment Board Denied both requests. Reasons for denial were no provision for off-street parking; location within a GNRP area of structures not conforming with the area's development plan; and the division of standard lots into two sub-standard lots.

A decision was made to dispense with a meeting of the two boards in December. The next Board of Adjustments meeting will be held the fourth Thursday in January.

It didn't come easy!

Great Bourbon never does. It takes the choicest grain. Pure-limestone springwater. Years of aging in charred oak barrels. And plenty of time, patience and hard work. Everything required of a Great Bourbon goes into the distilling of every bottle of Echo Spring. Is it all worth it? Don't ask. Sip.

The Worry Clinic Children Have A Special Love

Polly's case confronts millions of human beings every year! Is it wise to ignore talk about Heaven when you know your loved one is soon to die? Or should you prepare these future angles for their flight into the Great Beyond?

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.
CASE V-554: Polly J., aged 15, is dying of brain cancer. "Dr. Crane," her distraught mother began, "We try to buoy up her morale. "But I fear she knows she is a hopeless case, for the doctors have done everything possible and tell us she can't last more than a few weeks. "Yesterday Polly asked me what Heaven will be like when she gets there. "And she wanted to know how she's sure to be with Jesus. "Well, Dr. Crane, I couldn't keep the tears back, but I still tried to reassure her that she would get well. "How I wish I could explain Heaven diplomatically!"

Visa To Heaven
Far back before Aristotle or Moses and Abraham, the intelligent men and women tried to conjure up the answers that Polly's mother craves. At the time of Christ, the Sadducees decided the grave was the end of all human existence. But the Pharisees argued there was a Hereafter.

And most of the modern scientists, as well as other brilliant minds of the human race, believe there is a continuity of personality, maybe on some distant inhabitable planet of our Cosmic Universe.

Dr. Shapely, former head of the Harvard Observatory, conservatively estimated there are 1,000,000 other planets far out in the Cosmic Universe that are either inhabited or at least inhabitable.

The Jews, beginning with faithful Abraham, developed the highest ethical concepts of any ancient religion on this planet. And they believed that God would send a Messiah to this Earth.

Isaiah (Chapter 53) gives a remarkably accurate prophecy about Christ's crucifixion.

Yet Isaiah lived about 750 B.C. But Jesus dumfounded all the wise men of his age, because he didn't come as a military ruler to supplant Caesar and make his 12 Apostles Cabinet Members of his royal dictatorship.

Since earliest times, all primitive peoples have believed in various gods, as of the trees (which is why we knock on wood to appease them, even today), plus gods of the sea, of war, of love, etc.

But ALWAYS mankind groveled and kowtowed before these cruel, sadistic deities, and tried to bribe their continued favor by sacrifices of wine and rice or sheep and even human burnt offerings.

Up till 1900 (when England stopped it) the people of India even threw live babies into the Ganges to appease that river god!

But God Almighty shocked mankind by sacrificing to win us puny mortals!

This was the most unique and ONLY instance in history where any deity ever sacrificed to win men and women on this planet Earth!

And Jesus promised us this visa to Heaven (Matthew 10:32): "Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in Heaven."

So tell the "Story of Jesus" to such prospective little angels as Polly, as well as to your old folks.

Jesus even held a child on his lap so he especially loved youngsters. And don't fret because your eyes fill with tears, for Jesus also wept at the tomb of Lazarus, though he knew he'd see Lazarus in Heaven!

Stamp Glue 'Hazardous'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New Hampshire physician has asked the government to warn stamp lickers of health hazards as the Christmas season approaches, and to make stamps more sanitary.

"The stamps are unsanitary, contain unknown chemicals which are virtually unregulated and are particularly distasteful," wrote Dr. Robert Shaw, 52, of New Ipswich, N.H. "In fact," the doctor said, "this year above all, the stamps taste terrible, are larger than normal and contain more glue."

Letters were sent to the Food and Drug Administration, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the U.S. Postal Service. They were sent for Dr. Shaw by a Washington attorney named John Joseph Matonis.

Matonis is connected with the Kefauver Society of Washington which describes itself as a "semisecret consumer organization whose avowed purpose is to protect consumers from the laxity of the agencies who claim to protect the consumer."

Grifton PTA Meeting Set

Pass Pass

The auction in today's hand was highly competitive and North and South were driven to the limit in order to buy the contract.

West overcalled South's one heart opening with two diamonds. North's holding was not worth two forward going calls so he preferred to give a simple heart raise in preference to showing his spade suit. Altho East has only five high card points, his three club call is designed to lay the groundwork for a profitable sacrifice if conditions warrant and also to suggest a lead should the opponents buy the hand.

South proceeded directly to game in hearts. West made a good decision when he refused to sell out cheaply. Observe that the five club bid represents a very inexpensive save, inasmuch as that contract can be defeated by only one trick. North's values were primarily distributional and he persisted to five hearts which closed the auction.

West reasoned that the prospects for defeating five hearts hinged on the defense being able to cash three tricks in diamonds and clubs. It appeared likely from the auction that one of the opponents held a singleton club, in which case West's quota would call for two diamond tricks.

If declarer held the king of diamonds, it was desirable to put East on lead for a play thru South. West feared that, if he made the normal opening of the ace of clubs, it would be left to him to initiate the attack in diamonds and an essential unit of time might thereby be lost.

West accordingly opened the four of clubs. East played the queen and, tho he was somewhat surprised to hold the trick, he promptly made the indicated shift to a diamond, and West cashed two tricks in that suit to defeat the contract.

Observe that, if West leads the ace of clubs originally, he must cash the ace of diamonds immediately to prevent South from scoring an overtrick, for dummy's spade suit will provide declarer with all the discards he requires as soon as trumps are drawn.

Pepsi

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
