

U.S. Warplanes Make Heaviest Attack Of War In North Vietnam; 2 B52s Lost

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes made the heaviest attack of the war on the Hanoi-Haiphong area during the night. The attack was the costliest of the war to the United States, with the U.S. Command reporting two B52 heavy bombers and an F111 fighter-bomber lost and eight American fliers missing. Seven other American airmen were rescued.

North Vietnam charged that nearly 100 civilians were killed or wounded in attacks on Hanoi and its suburbs. But it said President Nixon's attempt to bomb it into submission would not force it to accept his peace terms. Hanoi claimed that three B52s and three fighter-bombers were shot down and said a number of the fliers were captured. The U.S. Command said it had no additional losses to report for the time being, leaving open the possibility that other American planes may have been lost but the search for the crewmen is still under way.

It was the heaviest one-day loss in men and material that the United States has suffered in the air war. The two B52s and the F111 cost a total of $31 million.

Although the U.S. Command withheld most information about the resumption of the air war north of the 20th parallel, one senior American official said hundreds of planes took part in the raids, and some targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex were hit for the first time in the war.

There were indications that more than 100 B52s, or most of those available, were used. For the first time in memory, the U.S. Command today gave no information on B52 strikes in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. A spokesman refused to say whether this meant the entire force had been shifted to the attack on North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command also reported less than 200 U.S. fighter-bomber strikes in South Vietnam Monday, about half as many as usually are flown. This indicated a major diversion of the smaller aircraft also to the attack in the North.

Authoritative sources reported a fifth aircraft carrier was operating in the Tonkin Gulf, in addition to the four normally there. This increased the fighter-bomber force further.

Military sources said President Nixon had ordered the shutdown on official information about the attacks.

The Command did announce that U.S. Navy ships had resumed surface gunfire attacks north of the 20th parallel but gave no details.

One of the B52s went down 30 miles northwest of Hanoi with six crewmen missing, the command said. It was the first B52 to crash on North Vietnamese territory.

The other B52 limped back to Thailand, like the B52 that was downed in November, and crashed 100 miles southeast of the Udorn Air Base. Its seven crewmen bailed out and were rescued.

School Board Opposes Rate Boost

By JERRY RAYNOR
Staff Reflector Writer
The Greenville City School Board went on record

Monday night as vigorously opposing a proposed electrical rate increase by VEPCO.

The board, at their December meeting, expressed a unanimous consent to use all means within its power to work against the increase. It was noted that the Pitt County schools, as an example, was said to face a 70 percent increase in electrical costs if the proposed increase becomes effective. After hearing a committee recommendation for proceeding with work on a track to be located at Aycock Junior High for use by that school and Rose High School, the board, in a six to two vote, opted against immediate action.

Instead, approval was given to Dr. James Bearden's motion that the chairman establish a committee to look at the total long-range athletic needs, and in the interim to develop a strategy for immediate needs.

Bearden also recommended the three man committee — Henry Dunn, William Myers and Ed Waldrop — who recently completed the track study presented the board and who attempted to contact East Carolina University officials, make another diplomatic attempt to work out some arrangement with the university.

Myers resigned from the three man committee, and chairman Dr. Badger Clark appointed Ed Carter as the third member of the interim committee. Myers expressed strong favor for spending the $27,550 which the study shows will be needed to ready the track for use next spring for track meets. He said, "In all the years of our school history, we have never an athletic field. It's strange to me that a top rated school system does not have its own facilities, but has to borrow."

Dunn said the committee, the principals of Rose and Aycock and the coaches "had made several efforts to contact to no avail." He stated "I am disappointed and somewhat insulted that Stasavich (ECU Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich) did not even bother to respond." Dunn had suggested it might be necessary to go directly to ECU president Dr. Leo Jenkins if further efforts to work with university athletic officials failed.

Crew Of The Last Apollo Fire Splashdown Course Correction

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston

(AP) — The homeward bound men of the last Apollo fired a brief burst from two rocket thrusters today to perfectly aim their spacecraft toward splashdown.

"The burn was right on the money," reported Apollo 17 commander Eugene A. Cernan after the nine-second firing.

It put him, Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans on target for a 2:24 p.m. EST arrival in the South Pacific seas, 400 miles southeast of Samoa.

Waiting on station in the Pacific was the primary recovery ship, the USS Ticonderoga. The carrier reported weather in the area was near-perfect for the homecoming, with only high, scattered clouds and gentle seas.

Apollo 17 is the final flight in a $25 billion program created to boost American prestige and carried out as a scientific exploration for all men. The program ends three years, five months after first putting 20th century man on the moon.

On their last night in space the crewmen held a televised news conference, answering 13 questions relayed from reporters by Mission Control. During the program, geologist Schmitt said that while on the moon he and Cernan sampled "a broad spectrum of lunar history" and "increased the perspective for the future of mankind in the solar system."

The return of America completes a journey to the Taurus-Littrow valley of the moon after departing from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 12:33 a.m. EST Dec. 7. The mission, despite a computer problem which delayed launch two hours and 40 minutes, has gone smoothly with no serious problems.

Cernan, a 39-year-old Navy pilot on his third space mission, and Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist and the first American scientist in space, spent 75 hours on the moon's surface, the 11th and 12th men to perform the deed.

They conducted three excursions, using an electric car, and covered more than 20 miles of the moon's surface. They visited a variety of topographical features and discovered a patch of orange soil near what may have been the mouth of a volcano dead about 100 million years. They also gathered rocks, fallen from a mountain top, which may be older than any ever before examined.

Hanoi Parades Six Men Of Downed B52 Crew

SAIGON (AP) — Six crewmen from a B52 shot down Monday in a raid over North Vietnam were presented to a news conference in Hanoi only hours after their capture, said a Radio Hanoi broadcast.

The broadcast was barely audible. Phonetic spellings of the crew's names follows:

- Capt. Robert Rowlin Sirson, 25, of Georgia. His service number was given as 214 48 8424FR.
- Capt. Richard Thomas Kingston, 31, of South Dakota. Service number 250 662 660FR.
- Maj. Fernando Alexander, 43, of Texas. Service number 454 36 3155FR.
- Capt. Tim Inkton, 34, of New York. Service number 112 30 4927FV.
- Capt. Charles Barron, 26, born in West Germany. Service number 136 38 5463FV.
- Capt. Charles A. Brown, 26, of Illinois. Service number 025 34 9616FR.

The news conference, reported by a woman, said: "The pilots were afraid and they all bowed their heads when they faced photographers at the news conference."

Only Barron and Kingston were permitted to speak.

In a brief statement, Kingston said: "I was shot down by a surface to air missile on Dec. 18, 1972 in the vicinity of Hanoi, North Vietnam. I bailed out safely from the B52 I was piloting and I am now detained by the Vietnamese people."

Barron said: "I was shot down on the morning of Dec. 18, 1972 while participating in a B52 bombing mission over North Vietnam. After being captured, I have received wonderful medical care."

"I want to send to my wife and children best wishes for Christmas. Together with my wife and children, and all the people on earth, I pray for this war to end soon."

Arrest 3 Men For Robbery Of Pitt Store

Three men have been arrested and jailed under $10,000 bond each on charges stemming from a 2 p.m. armed robbery Monday at a Rt. 1, Greenville store.

Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Linwood Earl Johnson Reid, 23, and Willie Ray Daniels, 26, who both listed 1400 Myrtle Avenue addresses, and George Frank Guion, 26, of 308 Hart Street, Ayden, were charged with the robbery of Hicks Pollard's station located some two miles west of here on the Stantonsburg Road.

Sheriff Tyson said that Pollard reported that three black males, one of them carrying a pistol, robbed him of the contents of his wallet and cash register which amounted to approximately $300. Pollard said that he was then tied up and left in the store, the sheriff added.

The sheriff said that a car believed to have been used in the robbery was found abandoned on Ward Street here some 30 minutes later. The car, he added, was registered to Reid. (Continued on page 8)

Holshouser Letter Disregarded Executive Director Is Ousted By Wildlife Resources Board

RALEIGH (AP) — In a surprise action Monday, the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission voted 5-3 to oust Clyd Patton as the agency's executive director.

In doing so it disregarded a request from Gov.-Elect Jim Holshouser that it defer action for 60 to 90 days.

Soon after the start of its session Monday, Dr. Lathan T. Moore of Winston-Salem moved that Patton be "removed and discharged as executive director" as of Dec. 31, to be replaced by Orville L. Woodhouse, a commission member who is director of the Division of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife in the Department of Natural and Economic Resources—a job that is being eliminated as the result of state government reorganization. The commission debated the matter in executive session for nearly four hours and then prepared to publicly consider Moore's motion. At that point Commission Chairman Robert G. Sanders of Charlotte was handed a letter from Holshouser which he read aloud.

Holshouser said he understood the commission was involved in controversy and added:

"Since I have not as yet had an opportunity to fully review the present situation, I would hope that the commission would postpone any specific action for 30 to 60 days in order that we might have an opportunity to discuss the matter with the members of the commission."

Holshouser added that he would "appreciate this courtesy."

However, the commission voted 5-3 not to go along with

Holshouser's request. Voting for the requested delay were Jay Waggoner of Graham, T.N. Massie of Sylva and O. Jack Hooks of Whiteville. Voting against it were Woodhouse, Moore, W.K. Anderson of Newland, Norman Denning of Four Oaks and Roscoe D. Sandlin.

"It's almost a slap in the face ... saying we won't listen to anything you (Holshouser) have to say," Massie told the commission members after the vote.

After a long series of votes, the commission finally voted by the same 5-3 margin that Patton be discharged as of Dec. 31 and that the commission meet Jan. 3, presumably to discuss the naming of his successor.

Patton has served as executive director since 1948—nearly 25 years.

Observers saw Woodhouse's move to get the executive director position as a play for political survival.

Don't Get Involved In The Problems Of Other Couples

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A married couple I have known and liked for a long time have been having their problems. She has accused him of other women, and he's accused her of other men.

Well, Mary is going to leave George, only George doesn't know it yet. Mary told me in confidence, and of course I'm not going to say a word to George or to anybody else about this.

Mary plans to leave George a note which he will find when he comes home from work saying she has left him. My problem is that Mary wants me to drive her to the airport.

Mary is my best friend, and I hate to let her down, but what would you do if you were me? IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: I'd try to persuade Mary to tell George she's leaving him. [He may DRIVE her to the airport.] Stay out of it. If Mary decides to sneak away, let her provide her own transportation.

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years and now I have something I would like to see printed. I am a 19-year-old girl, and what I have to say concerns "names."

Many people give their children cute or unusual names, which is all right if care is used, but it can be a real disaster.

I was baptized with a boy's name, "Peter," to be specific, and I would not wish it on my worst female enemy. Records got confused. I got kicked out of class by teachers who didn't believe I was who I said I was, and the police have even taken me down to the station under suspicion because they thought I was concealing my identity. It would be bad enough if I were mannish—but I am very feminine.

Some people say a name is not important, but I can tell you it is! A person's name affects intimately how he is seen by others and how he sees himself. It was difficult to think of myself as a girl with a name like Peter.

When I reached the age of 18 I had my name legally changed, even tho I faced a great deal of opposition from my family. So, parents of the world, please don't handicap a boy with a girl's name or a girl with a boy's name. It's not fair. Ask the person who has one.

BETHANY LYN BROWN
(Would you believe, formerly, "Peter Lucille Josephine Brown?")

DEAR BETHANY: I'm sure you will get no arguments from the Sidneys, Pats, Tonys, Evelyns, Shellys, Marions, Joyces, Kims, KIts, Kirbys, and Terrys.

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column from a woman who had a pet cat, and also a cat-hating boyfriend. She always kept the cat out of sight when her boyfriend came over, knowing how much he hated cats.

Once he came over unexpectedly and was confronted by the cat, and much to the woman's surprise, the cat jumped on his lap and purred and she could not understand how the boyfriend could fool her and the cat.

Your answer leads me to believe you don't know much about cats. Having had at least one house cat for the last 50 years I know that all house cats have one thing in common. They know who likes them and who doesn't.

The cat is not fooled. I have seen my cat march into a room full of people and select the one "cat-hater"—jump into his lap, and purr, etc. The reason is because he KNOWS that person hates cats, and he just likes to bug him.

Anybody who knows cats will tell you, cats play this little game all the time. But they are NEVER fooled.

E. E. L.: BELOIT, WIS.

DEAR E. E. L.: Thanks for your informative letter. Nobody's purrfect!

DEAR ABBY: You advised BETTY THE BOOKKEEPER who was being pinched and pawed by an old geezer in the office to tell the boss if Casanova got out of line again.

Well, I had the same problem where I worked and after putting up with an old geezer's advances for a year, I finally told my boss.

Somebody was promptly fired, all right. I was! Casanova said I was imagining things—that he never touched me.

It was my word against his, and I was told I had to have proof. Abby, where could I get "proof" of such actions? He never molested me in the presence of witnesses.

It was suggested that I was mentally "off" and they gave me my notice. And after 15 years with this company, I lost retirement and pension benefits, which meant a lot to me—at age 52.

I'm sure the same situation exists in plenty of other offices. So please tell other victims in a spot like this to alert a few coworkers to keep their eyes open, because without witnesses, they'll be accused of having hallucinations.

V. E. IN WEST VA.

DEAR V. E.: Thanks for the suggestion. The office Casanovas will cuss you out, but their victims will bless you.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the idiot who doesn't like to be called "nurse" makes a retired dogface infantry soldier feel like swatting her bottom with a crutch.

Before World War II, we never called a medical officer or nurse by their military rank unless we didn't like them, or thought they were a lousy doctor or nurse. We even called the medical aidesman attached to the company "Doc," provided he measured up.

Only those who have had to call "Medic!" in a combat area can understand why, to a doughfoot, the title of "doctor" or "nurse" carried more respect and outright reverence than "general" or "admiral."

Even in today's Army, with drafted doctors, I expect that the military medical officer and nurse get that warm feeling when a patient says "Thank you, doctor" or "nurse," instead of "major," "sir," or "ma'am," because then they know that they are appreciated and respected for what they mean to the man who uses the most respectful title he knows.

Any female employee of a hospital who objects to being called "nurse" doesn't deserve to be called one—because she really isn't one in the eyes of her patients. She should quit and do something else.

Here Comes Cranberry Coffee Cake

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

When we heard that the young home ec students in a foods lab class at St. Mary's Academy in Riverside, R. I. had won a prize for a Cranberry Coffee Cake we promptly tried their recipe. Served fresh from the oven it's a delight and here are directions for making it.

CRANBERRY COFFEE CAKE
1 cup chopped fresh or frozen cranberries

1 tablespoon granulated sugar
1 tablespoon dark brown sugar

1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese

1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 cups buttermilk biscuit mix

1-3rd cup milk
1 large apple
Confectioners' Sugar Frosting, see below.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the cranberries, sugars, cinnamon and nutmeg; set aside.

In a medium mixing bowl, with a pastry blender, cut cream cheese and butter into biscuit mix until coarse crumbs are formed. With a fork, gradually stir in the milk to form a soft dough.

Turn out on a well-floured pastry cloth and knead gently just until smooth. Roll into a 12 by 8 inch rectangle. Transfer to a large greased cookie sheet. Peel and chop enough apple to make 1 cup; stir into cranberry mixture.

FOR SNACKTIME—Served warm from the oven, Cranberry Coffee Cake is a delightful offering.

Starting at short side of dough, spoon cranberry mixture down center third of dough. With a kitchen scissors, cut 2 1/4-inch long strips of dough at 1-inch intervals along both sides of rectangle. Fold strips at an angle across filling alternating from side to side.

Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven for 20 minutes. While coffee cake is still warm, brush or spread Confectioners' Sugar (2 teaspoons) to make a frosting. Frosting over top and sides. Best served warm from the oven.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.
CONFECTIONERS' SUGAR FROSTING

Stir together 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and enough milk (about 2 teaspoons) to make a frosting of spreading consistency.

Bass-O'Neal Vows Spoken On Saturday Afternoon

BELL ARTHUR — In a candlelight ceremony Saturday at 3:00 p.m., Miss Ernestine O'Neal became the bride of Ronald Elliot Bass in the Bell Arthur Christian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney O'Neal of Rt. 1 Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bass Sr. of Stanstonsburg.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Linwood Kilpatrick, pastor of the bride. A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Donna Faye Potts of Snow Hill, pianist, and Bill O'Neal, brother of the bride sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with a background of wedding palms. A kneeling bench centered the altar with a seven branched candelabra placed on either side. An arrangement of white mums and gladioli completed the setting.

Left For Dead, He Finds A New Life

By JANE MOSELEY
 Women's News Service
 He was left for dead in a hallway — from an overdose of drugs.

For 19-year-old Charlie, who had started taking drugs at age 12, this was the second time in a year he had taken an overdose.

"I lived with this girl in my neighborhood," he recalled recently. "I was on dope and everything, and I finally O.D.'d again. This time I was in the girl's house and they couldn't bring me to. They tried ice, cold water, everything. So they put me in the hallway next door. They really left me for dead. A kid that was going home found me later and got my brother and they took me to the hospital. About a day later I came out of it."

"My mother and father came up to see me and they told me I had no choice. I go to Daytop or they were leaving me. So, then I decided I gotta do something. Even at that time I wanted to go back on the street, but then I realized I had no way to go. I fell on my face for the last time."

Charlie was recalling his brush with death on board the Governors Island ferryboat William H. Hart where he is one of 13 former drug addicts learning a trade in the marine industry.

Admitted To Daytop
 Charlie's rehabilitation began 21 months ago when he was admitted to the Daytop Village program for drug addicts. When he reached the phase in the program where he was to go out and look for a job or go to school, he followed the suggestion of an official in New York City's Addiction Service Agency to apply for admission to the Pioneer Program of the South Street Seaport where ex-addicts not only receive training in marine industry skills but also are placed in jobs on graduation.

Before he was accepted he had to compete with 74 other persons who were carefully screened and tested. The first class opened in September with 15 students. Soon two boys were dropped because they had no aptitude for the courses. Each student values his selection for the Pioneer Program because graduating students are virtually assured of jobs at the end of the course which runs for 24 weeks, divided 70 per cent in training on engines and 30 per cent in the classroom. Employers, who are aware of each student's former drug problem, pay starting wages that average about $3.50 per hour. Industry sources say that it is not unusual for skilled marine mechanics to earn $15,000 a year. The school plans three more courses his year during which some 60 ex-addicts will be trained for jobs and given employment.

Charlie already had four years' experience with engines as a student in an aviation trades high school. "Here it's a little different," he said in his soft voice. "We not only learn repairing outboard and in-board engines and stuff like that, but what the teacher is trying to do is to let us know what to expect from the different type of bosses. He's trying to let us know what these bosses are not going to put up with — about you acting this way or that way. I been learning a lot what to expect."

Started With Beer
 "I finally found myself," he said as he ran his long thin fingers through a mop of long, shoulder-length brown hair. "I finally know where I'm at. This job is gonna help me do what I want."

For Charlie it is the beginning of a new life, full of hope where once he knew nothing but despair.

"I was about 12 years old, hanging out on street corners," he recalled. "The thing then was drinking beer with older people. I wanted to be accepted by them. They were drinking beer, so I started drinking beer just to hang out and be part of them. They started smoking pot, so why not. I started smoking pot. I didn't like pot. So, I went to pills, then I went to cough medicine and finally, you know, junk."

He was not working when he became hooked on drugs. In order to satisfy his habit he began stealing, manipulating and stealing money from his parents.

"When I couldn't get money from my parents, I'd go out copping," he recalled with a sad shake of his head. "In the morning I'd go out casing cars . . . stealing. When a junkie needs money, believe me, he finds a way. It's mostly stealing, running around, stealing."

Charlie said his parents suspected all along he was on drugs but never challenged him because they were afraid of learning the truth. It was only after he was overcome from his first overdose of drugs while attending high school that his parents learned the truth.

"I promised them I'd go to Daytop. When I did go I was high on dope," he said. "When you go into a program they give you a pretty rough ride about yourself. They want you to show that you're really sincere. They found out I was high on dope and they really started to get on me. They said I was a punk. I was running from this and running from that. I wouldn't accept any of this. So I got up and rounded. I walked away."

It was after his second brush with death that he finally agreed Daytop was his only salvation.

"If it wasn't for them, I wouldn't be here. I'd still be on the streets — or dead. Now with this school I got a chance."

They wore formal length dresses of red velvet with low neckline trimmed in white lace, with a white satin sash. Their headpiece was of matching fabric with a short tulle veil. They carried a long-stemmed white mum tied with streamers of red and green velvet.

Miss Lori Ann Tugwell of Farmville was flower girl. She wore a full length gown of green velvet designed with a high neckline and short puff sleeves. She carried an arm basket filled with flowers similar to those of the attendants.

Mrs. O'Neal chose for her daughter's wedding, a street length dress of royal blue with black patent accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Bass wore a light blue polyester dress ensemble with navy blue accessories with a white carnation corsage.

Neal Moore of Hookerton was a ring bearer. Jerry Bass of LaGrange, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Jeff O'Neal of Greenville and J. E. Bass of Goldsboro.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside near Hookerton.

Mrs. Jerry Gardner of Greensboro, sister of the bride, presided at the guest register. Mrs. James Lewis of Greenville directed the wedding.

School Chorus Gives Program

At the monthly luncheon of the Greenville Welcome Wagon Club, held at the Greenville Country Club Wednesday, the 40-voice chorus from St. Raphael's School entertained.

Mrs. Tullio Pignani led the group in the singing of Christmas carols.

Members of Welcome Wagon exchanged hand-made gifts or baked goods.

New members are Mrs. Eloise Dailey and Mrs. Skip Macmillan. Guests were Mrs. Larry Yarborough, Mrs. Everett Casey and Mrs. Jack Harris.

At the annual Christmas dance, held at the Elks Lodge, Tom Smith's Band played for dancing and The Harmony Grits, four Farmville students, entertained.

Holiday Meet Christmas Party Held By Pilot Club Wednesday

The Greenville Woman's Club was the setting for the special Christmas meeting on Wednesday night of the Pilot Club of Greenville, Inc.

Co-Pilots, husbands of the Pilots, and friends were special guests for the evening.

Mrs. Betty LeRoux and Mrs. Doris Marlowe entertained with a musical program of Christmas carols and other selections.

Mrs. Lenore Morton accepted the gifts for the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. Gifts for "Operation Santa Claus" have already been sent for Mental Health.

Mrs. Evelyn Heidenreich was in charge of giving the gifts to the Pilot members. Her son, Jim and Carol Morgan helped distribute the gifts.

Mrs. Ruby Fields, president, welcomed Mrs. Janice Buck, a former member-at-large for several months.

Guests included Miss Mary Harding, Mrs. Argent Smith, Ralph Heidenreich, George Mann, John McCarthy, Leslie Jones, Robert Smith, Robert Starling;

Mrs. Nancy Warren's family attended, including Clifton Warren, her daughter, Debbie, and son, Cliff; Dr. Audrey Dempsey; Rudy Cox; Preston Fields; W.W. Howell; Dennis Johnson; Bryant Tripp; Miss Mary Coward, and Mrs. LeRoux.

Vassarette's in with a fanciful flowers hostess dress that's good for holiday parties. The polyester knit dress boasts a colorful splash of flowers on a long shirred skirt. Feminine ruffles frame a low scoop neck and lifted waistline. It's a lounge dress but it can stay at home or go out. At the price — around $30 — who's to argue?

Pitt Gave Itself A Fine Gift

Pitt County has given itself a Christmas gift. A week before Christmas we have exceeded the United Fund goal of $157,500. Campaign Chairman Karl Faser reported Sunday that contributions and pledges stood at $158,272. It is expected that the total will exceed $160,000.

"The heartwarming response of individual contributors, businesses and industries to the needs of those less fortunate constitutes rewarding investment in our community," Faser stated.

President Jack Whichard paid tribute to "a community such as this where people are willing to share the responsibility of helping their fellow man."

There were many difficult years for United Fund, but in the last few years we have been able to meet the goal. It shows us that our citizens recognize the value of the work done by participating agencies which receive funds through the annual United Fund drive. It also shows that people appreciate the convenience of giving one time through a United Fund contribution to support the worthwhile work of a number of civic and charitable agencies.

Pitt County citizens have willingly met their responsibilities to support the participating agencies of United Fund with their contributions and pledges. Like the officials of United Fund, we are left with a warm feeling and a sense of pride in our fellow citizens.

Asserts Stage Set For Ruin

By DON SEEVER
Duke University
News Service

DURHAM, N.C. — North Carolina's Outer Banks have withstood the capricious moods of ocean and weather for 5,000 years.

But the seeds of their destruction are now being planted by man himself, says Dr. Orrin H. Pilkey, marine geologist at Duke University whose own research has run to ocean currents and how they move and deposit sediments such as sand and minerals.

Pilkey's basic thesis is that man is trying to alter the forces of nature which left alone with repair their own damage. Further, he says, these alterations may increase the possibility of major disaster.

The alterations he refers to are those arising from the blossoming development

For the most part, this development is ignoring the lessons that could be learned from tragic mistakes in developing other off-shore island systems.

He lists three major consequences:

Disaster Stage Set
—The stage is being set for disaster in some future hurricane.

—The stage also is being set for massive spending of tax dollars to pick up the pieces and protect developments.

—The development and accompanying protective measures themselves are hastening "the physical destruction of the islands."

"This incredible sequence of environmental errors was begun years ago when our knowledge of barrier island evolution was less detailed," Pilkey says. "Now we have lots of data and ideas. But we still develop our islands in the fashion of Galveston, Tex., where 7,000 people died in the 1900 hurricane."

Barrier islands and beaches are virtually incapable of destruction or serious damage under natural conditions, Dr. Pilkey says. The beach is constantly changing, but the islands are not truly eroding, only migrating slowly toward the mainland because of a rising sea level. In effect, the islands are rolling over on themselves.

Nature Takes Restores
"The normal response of a beach to storm or winter wave conditions is to flatten out," Pilkey says. "The flattening is usually done by eroding the first row of dunes and depositing the sand on the lower beach or inner continental shelf. When calmer conditions return, the sand returns and the former and steeper low-wave energy beach profile is reconstructed."

When a seawall, motel, condominium or hotdog stand is emplaced where the first dunes were, the beach can't flatten. "Instead, beach erosion occurs, the beach narrows and steepens and succeeding storms do increasing damage," Pilkey says.

"A seawall, besides cutting off the supply of sand for flattening during storms, also causes rapid backwash and undercutting. The result will not only be the loss of the motel sooner or later but also damage to the public beach."

Pilkey labels as self-defeating a number of measures taken by man to restore or preserve the seashore. Of the dune stabilization program on the Cape Hatteras National Seashore, he says:

Dune Program Mistakes
"It was a mistake to build dunes in a continuous line (sand dikes) and to build them close to the beach. The sand dikes have furnished flood protection for small storms; but at what cost?"

"First of all, the dikes prevent overwash during storms. Overwash also furnishes sand to build and maintain the back side of the island. More important, the sand dike, over a period of years, acts as a seawall and causes erosion.

"The net effect has been gradual narrowing and steepening of the Hatteras beaches. This is setting the stage for truly serious erosion during future major storms."

Pilkey also condemns the practice of pumping sand onto the beaches by dredging from the sound side of the outer banks. This, he says, only leads to erosion on the sound side and destruction of breeding grounds for marine organisms.

He also warns of possible dangers in the National Shoreline Study recently completed, by the Corps of Engineers, which proposes to stabilize through engineering an environment that must be in flux to be healthy. "I can be done, as Holland demonstrated, but at a tremendous cost," he says.

Pilkey sees three choices: development can be brought back into harmony with natural forces, the destruction of the Outer Banks can be accepted as a future price, or the public can resign itself to tremendously expensive and never-ending engineering of the beaches. He embraces a philosophy he calls "let the lighthouse fall in."

"Painful as this philosophy may seem, it makes sense," he says. "speaking specifically of lighthouses, the cost of the Cape Hatteras lighthouse protection measures could have built a number of new lighthouses."

"The Barnegat, New Jersey, lighthouse has fallen in three times."

Hopefully Reforms In UMW Can Come About

The victory of reform candidate Arnold R. Miller over W. A. "Tony" Boyle for president of the United Mine Workers should mean some improvement in how that union's affairs are handled.

News reports say that Miller may face a power struggle with the union's hierarchy in making the union's board more responsive to rank and file members and he says it may take him two years to solidify his position.

Miller was obviously the choice of the union worker to take charge of union affairs, however, and hopefully he will be able to bring about reforms.

Jordan Wages Own Cold War

By ROWLANE EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK

AMMAN — With all thought of hot war along the Jordan River ended, Jordan and Israel are now jockeying for position in a deadly game of political and economic pressure, with King Hussein's Israeli-occupied west bank of Palestine as the pawn.

Israel's five-and-a-half-year occupation of the west bank has now developed into a not uncomfortable rule for the nearly 658,000 now-stateless Jordanian citizens, tens of thousands of whom are employed in Israel proper and making excellent wages. But it is still foreign rule, no matter how the package is wrapped.

With no chance seen here for an diplomatic settlement, the developing commercial and cultural patterns have fallen into a status quo that Israel very much wants to keep intact. For in the present circumstance, Israel has it both ways — control of the land without sovereignty for the people who live on the land.

Israel is bending over backward to stimulate trade between the west bank and Jordan — commerce over the Jordan River bridges that gives Israel a $13 million trade balance. Israel encourages west bankers to pay visits across the river and get out from under the occupation for as long as any one wants. With no advance notice to the King's government here in Amman, Israel two weeks ago approved a new policy of giving west bankers permanent passes to cross into Jordan.

For Israel, such conspicuous kindnesses make excellent sense. They reduce the day-to-day impact of the occupation. In short, they create a rational that tends to suffocate anti-Israeli emotions among captive west bankers. Last summer for example, 100,000 Jordanians and 50,000 Arabs from other countries visited the west bank, the largest number since the occupation started.

On the commercial front, Israel subsidizes west bankers to export their fruits and vegetables across the river to Jordan's east bank. As part of Israel's overall policy to stimulate export for hard currency, Israel pays a 30 per cent export subsidy to these west bank farmers.

That subsidy also helps protect Israel's own farmers from west bank competition. It is precisely this ingenious and farsighted occupation policy of Israel that is now drawing fire from King Hussein in the new cold war. As he sees it, Israel is establishing a status quo in the occupied Jordanian territory that is bringing economic prosperity to the west bank and making the west bankers unwitting partners in — and victims of — an unholy alliance.

Hussein's first step to show the Israelis that they cannot both have their cake and eat it was a 12.5 per cent import duty on all produce coming across the river. Its effect is both to reduce the profit margins of the west bank exporters and raise the price to Jordanian buyers.

Hussein's next step comes on Jan. 1 when he will try to limit most visits to the occupied west bank by his own citizens to one two-week period every two years, with stiff penalties of $15 a day for anyone who overstays the limit.

But Hussein's ultimate weapon in this escalating new-style cold war with Israel would be to close the Jordan River bridges to all but emergency traffic. One dangerous result of such a drastic step might be the final

The Anatomy Of Failure

When a great foundation issues a report that boasts of some successful program, it barely qualifies as news. Such a report is dog bites man. But when a foundation issues a report that candidly examines a failure, it is something else. This is man bites dog.

A remarkable example of man-bites-dog came along a few weeks ago from the Ford Foundation. The report, titled "A Foundation Goes to School," will cause anguish among the educators involved in the projects under review, but this unflinching appraisal speaks well for the Ford Foundation itself.

It all started about 1960, when the Foundation embarked upon its Comprehensive School Improvement Program. The idea was to demonstrate that certain traditional aspects of our school systems could profitably be changed.

For example, it was proposed to get away from the self-contained classroom, taught by a single teacher, and to move instead toward "team-taught, flexibly grouped learning situations." Another objective was to abandon the old uniform time schedules in favor of "variable time allotments determined by learning tasks." Still a third purpose was to shift from conventional textbooks "to a variety of curriculum materials including the latest technology."

Filled with hope and good intentions, the Foundation authorized grants totaling $30.6 million for 25 projects in 22 States and in Puerto Rico. Ten years elapsed. An uneasy feeling began to develop that the demonstrable accomplishments were few. The Foundation thereupon commissioned a Colorado educator, Paul Nachtigal, to make an independent evaluation. He put together a team of fellow pathologists. This is their report.

It is not easy reading. Educators do not speak English; they speak Scholastic, an alien tongue that loses in translation. That difficulty to one side, the Nachtigal report offers an absorbing study of the

Other Editors Say Fight Not Justified

(Raleigh Times)

The 1973 General Assembly is going to be very busy—but it now seems certain that it will have to take time out for a bitter and divisive liquor-by-the-drink battle. This thing has been fought out twice in recent years in the legislature, and that should be enough for a good long time.

But, representatives of nine North Carolina chambers of commerce have formed an organization to back liquor by the drink. In a statement fairly dripping piety, the organization says it isn't for or against liquor by the drink, but just wants every citizen to have the right to vote on it. Would this organization also favor the right of all citizens to vote on just anything?

Allowing liquor by the drink strikes two blows at the North Carolina system of control of liquor sales. Under our system, which has been in effect since 1935, only governmental units can sell liquor legally. And, only governmental units can make a profit on the sale of liquor.

On the other hand, by-drink liquor would be sold by a private individual. And, the private individual would pocket the profit. The private individual would be the man who owned the restaurant in which the drinks were sold.

Presumably, the 1973 bill would set up regulations similar to those proposed in previous measures. Drinks could be sold only in restaurants which were large enough to seat a certain number of patrons at one time. And, the establishment would have to make a certain percentage of its profits from food sales.

Those provisions make the by-the-drink privilege open only to those who have enough money to eat at such restaurants. The man who has only enough for a hot dog or a hamburger restaurant prices couldn't be permitted to buy a drink to go along with his sandwich.

The whole idea of the thing isn't to give the people the right to vote on a certain subject. The whole idea is to permit restaurants and other establishments catering to tourists to make larger private profits.

The nine chambers of commerce adopted the name LOVE for their group, from "Local Option Vote for Everybody." That name also would fit another motto: Liquor Often Victimizes Everybody.

Basic Commodities Cost More

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While the nation continues to wage what appears to be a winning battle against inflation, the prices of some basic commodities are advancing strongly and ominously.

If the trend continues it will be revealed to the consumer in the form of higher prices in 1973 for many essential items of food and clothing — items that cannot be boycotted or whose purchase cannot long be postponed.

In all likelihood the price rise for the basic ingredients of thousands of retail products has already been a factor in the administration's decision to seek an extension of price and wage controls beyond April 30.

If the trend continues it could conceivably force the administration into a stiffer attitude on inflation and controls. Among the items whose prices are either rising or likely to head that way are cattle, hogs, grains, cotton and wool, all of which have become staples in the American diet or way of life.

Recording the surge, The Associated Press wholesale price index of 35 commodities reached an all-time high of 232.28 last week, a gain of 14 points in just one month.

Last week the price of wheat at Kansas City reached $2.58 a bushel, or 98 cents a bushel higher than a year ago. Cotton, which sold for 25.4 cents a pound a month ago is now two cents higher than that.

The factors underlying the advances are as disparate and unrelated as adverse weather, foreign policy, and the recurring imbalances in the market due to various decisions of producers and buyers.

Most people are familiar with the cause of the grain price increase. Severe shortages in the Soviet Union caused them to buy massively from U.S. stocks. Purchases by Mainland China followed. It was a matter of demand-supply.

In the case of corn and cotton, the advance resulted from scarcities due primarily to an overabundance of rain that rotten crops or delayed their harvest.

Meat prices are rising because of marketing imbalances that seem inherent in cattle-raising. When prices are low production drops, leading to shortages, which lead to higher prices.

Based on the higher prices that cattlemen are paying for feeder stock — stock purchased which they hope to fatten for market — they not only anticipate but to some degree dictate higher prices.

The doubling of wool prices throughout the world in the past year can be traced to a combination of unexpectedly higher demand at the very time production had reached its

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas has always been an unforgettable day.

HAL BOYLE

The commercialization of the holiday among grownups is of fairly recent vintage. But in the pirate heart of childhood, Christmas was always a something-for-nothing, grab-bag-for-everybody day. That is why Santa Claus is so popular with children. He is the most giving as well as forgiving saint in the calendar.

Every heart has its favorite Christmases. But you have a better perspective on the whole holiday picture if you can look back to Christmases past and remember when —

You were told that if you were a bad boy or girl Santa Claus would leave a lump of coal in your stocking. But few parents actually were mean or thoughtless enough actually to play this prank on their children.

Candles were used instead of electric lights on Christmas trees, and the season was marred by scores of tragic deaths across the nation when the candles set the drying trees aflame.

Every child looked forward to getting a bright golden orange in his stocking, along with apples and nuts and candy. Fresh oranges today are taken for granted around the year, but a half century or so ago, they were rare and delightful treats during the winter.

Although Christmas decorations in some homes were just as ornate as those now, most families couldn't afford many of the delicate Christmas balls from Czechoslovakia. A majority of the trees were decorated with homemade tinfoil stars, tinsel cut from the tinfoil in cigarette packets, and strands

A maple leaf bearing the number 80,000 in red was brought to the Reflector office today by R. D. Edwards of Grimesland. Mr. Edwards discovered the leaf last May and preserved it. The lettering is very legible and shows only on one side. Mr. Edwards said he had no idea what caused the lettering but believed it was one of the signs referred to in the Bible as indicating the nearing of the end of time.

Word was received here today from Santa Claus that he is coming to Greenville in an airplane. A pony and cart will drive him through the business district to the State Theatre. The high school band will accompany Santa furnishing music for the occasion.

Strength For Today

AVOID TENSION

A radio news commentator recently told about a student who because he was so relaxed of mind and body passed an exceedingly difficult examination and stood first among several hundred of his classmates. Almost at the same time a noted athlete attributed his prowess to the fact that he never "tensed up." He declared that if a person could just be relaxed his efficiency would be increased many fold. This athlete is a runner. He starts every race as if he didn't care whether he was going to win or not, but that spurt on the finish has been the despair of many who have completed with him.

Have you ever noticed that men who are doing the biggest things in the world never appear to be busy? They are by no means neglecting their work. They are just relaxed and confident in their approach to their work. One of my friends who is compelled by the nature of his work to carry several dozen projects on his mind all the time never seems to have anything at all on his mind. Yet when asked about any of these projects he replies with detailed information which is astounding to hear.

Getting tensed up is the deadly enemy of all higher achievement. This holds not only for physical achievement but for mental and spiritual also. "Be not anxious," said our Lord. By Earl Douglass

Three Traffic Wrecks Monday

An estimate $4,195 property damage resulted from three collisions investigated here yesterday afternoon.

Police reported heaviest damage was caused by a 1:30 p.m. collision for cars driven by Judith Bransford Randle, 111 Cheshire Rd. and Johnny W. Gradner, 26, of 107 North Oak St. at the intersection of 14th and Elm Streets.

Damage was estimated at $1,800 to the Randle vehicle and $1,500 to the Gradner car by officers who charged Mrs. Randle with failing to stop for a stop light.

Investigation of a 2:55 p.m. mishap on Greenville Boulevard just west of the Hooker Road intersection resulted in Dalton Cornelious Nicholson, 19, of Route 2, Greenville being charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

Terrorists Kidnap, Kill

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three men kidnaped a Protestant city councilman in Armagh during the night and killed him with two shots in the head.

The hooded body of William Johnston was found in the back of a car near the border with the Irish Republic. Police said they presumed the assassins fled into the republic.

Johnston, a father of two in his late 40s, was the 109th victim this year of the murder squads which have been settling grudges amid the Protestant-Catholic warfare over Northern Ireland's future. He was the 668th confirmed fatality in more than three years of the communal violence.

Friends said Johnston, the owner of a drapery store, visited a house in a Catholic sector with an employee, William Bratty, to discuss some new carpets. Three armed men forced their way into the house and ordered Johnston and Bratty into their car.

If there is a single foot left slipperless on Christmas morning, it won't be Penneys fault.

Kilpatrick . . .

Not all the programs flopped. A few of the projects succeeded in changing professional practice, and a couple of the "lighthouse" programs cast a lively beam. But the professional changes were limited, and the lighthouses appeared to serve as beacons only for school systems, far removed, that were going in other directions.

What went wrong? Most of the failures were rooted in human problems. One such problem was leadership: Whenever a project lost its original director, enthusiasm ebbed and the project went to the bow-wows. Another problem was jealousy: Teachers, principals, school boards and superintendents who were not participating in a project tended to get defensive. They sought to protect their own turf.

Several projects were funded in anticipation of help from nearby universities. These were a dead loss: "Seldom did the power of the university as an institution function as a force for improvement of educational quality in elementary and secondary schools." Professors of education tended to be theorists; they were not much on political realities and the daily nitty-gritty of a classroom.

What of the glorious new gadgets — the overhead projectors, tape recorders, audio tapes, filmstrips, and dial-access retrieval systems? Some of them were effective, but in time the novelty wore off: "Equipment of all kinds is gathering dust."

What about "free time" and non-uniform schedules? These innovations ran into serious difficulties; discipline got out of hand, and parents rebelled against "the perceived erosion of academic standards." Team-teaching seldom accomplished much. Neither could the pathologists find encouragement in the replacement of conventional textbooks with "programmed instruction." These sophisticated devices "tended to be extraordinarily expensive," and interest in them swiftly waned.

There is much more. After ten years and $30 million, the Ford Foundation is sadder and wiser. Its key educators learned relatively little about what would work in improving our schools. But they learned a good deal about what would not.

Reveal More Of Library Plans

Additional information on the children's programs for this week have been received from Mrs. Kay Taylor, librarian at the East Branch Library.

Times and places for the programs next week are:

—Today, 2:00 p.m., at the Children's Room, Sheppard Memorial Library, a program for pre-school age children;

—Today, 7:30 p.m., Children's Room, Sheppard Memorial Library, a program for all children;

—Wednesday, 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m., programs for pre-school age children, the Children's Room of Sheppard; and —Wednesday, 4:00 p.m., Carve Library, a program for all children.

Fifty years ago the most popular children's presents were sleds for the boys and dolls for the girls. Some of the dolls could close their eyes if you tilted 'them,' but they didn't walk, talk, or moisten their diapers.

There was a rule of thumb about Christmas candy. No matter how much or how little you gave a child, in three days it would be all gone.

Children then enjoyed chewing dried fruits at holiday time. Imagine handing a modern child a package of dried apricots and telling him that was his reward for being a good boy! He'd think you were crazy — and when he told the neighbors, they'd think so, too.

Mother didn't get so much from Santa Claus in the old days. It was usually a scarf or a pair of gloves or a box of lace handkerchiefs, and Dad, then as now, counted himself lucky to get a new shirt, some socks, or a couple of neckties. Mother didn't mind getting a new household appliance for Christmas, but she never laughed very hard when her husband asked her if she'd like a new laundry board for Christmas.

That was what Christmas past was like — remember?

(Continued from page 4) alienation of the west bank Palestinians against the King, at a time when many Arab notables across the river are looking to him with new respect. Israel would accuse Hussein of sacrificing his west bank citizens to his own nefarious purposes.

But another result—the result Hussein would be betting on—would be quite different. He would claim that Israel's refusal to return the captured lands left him no alternative but to block economic intergration between Jordan and the captive west bank, causing political turmoil among his former citizens, destroying the insidious status quo and forcing Israel to face up to the problem of returning political freedom to the west bank.

Closing the bridges would be a fateful step with unpredictable results for Hussein, the west bank, Israel and—not the least—the now-quiet Palestinian commandos. But its presumed damage to Israel, however it affected Hussein, makes it a live prospect if progress toward a political settlement continues in stalemate.

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — By resuming the intensified bombing of North Vietnam, President Nixon has turned back the diplomatic clock by eight months.

The White House said Monday the Vietnam peace talks are "still wide open." But it was also made clear that bombing will continue north of the 20th parallel of North Vietnam "until such time as a settlement is arrived at."

Last May 8, Nixon announced that North Vietnamese ports would be mined and rail and communication lines leading from China would be heavily bombed.

As the secret peace talks between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho seemed to make some progress, Nixon ordered the bombing restricted to the area below the 20th parallel, still in North Vietnam, but close to the border with South Vietnam.

The effect of Monday's announcement then is to move the U.S. position back to May when Nixon said the talks in Paris had drawn from the North Vietnamese only "bombastic rhetoric and a replaying of their demand for surrender."

Then, as now, the public defense of the bombing was presented as a means of saving the lives of U.S. pilots and other Americans still in Vietnam.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Monday, "We will not let peace talks be used as a cover for another Communist offensive."

and the disappointments and frustrations are severe."

Sen. George McGovern hit upon the political issue in criticizing the bombing renewal as evidence the administration "is chained to a government in South Vietnam that is determined to sabotage any chance for peace."

Both McGovern and the National League of Families of Prisoners of War said Kissinger and Nixon had raised false hopes for saying "peace is at hand," a remark Kissinger made Oct. 26 when a cease-fire agreement seemed near.

Noting hopes had been raised that some prisoners would be home by Christmas, the League said, "It is a bitter prospect and the disappointments and frustrations are severe."

They also gave the children's ward and Operation Sunshine Advent calendars, compliments of the Pilot Club.

Nevertheless, diplomatic sources do not believe that the U.S. talks with Hanoi are completely washed out or broken down beyond repair. They use the term suspension rather than breakdown.

But it appears clear that the same issue which has always dogged the peace talks has again come between peace and an end to the fighting: the political future of South Vietnam.

In the agreement that Kissinger and Tho were preparing, for example, the future role of the demilitarized zone at the 17th parallel, the future of North Vietnamese troops in the South, the infiltration of the South, the sovereignty of the

Mounting Reward Offered In Slaying Of Bonnie Neighbors

BENSON, N.C. (AP) — A reward is being offered in the effort to apprehend the slayers of pretty Mrs. Bonnie Neighbors.

Benson Mayor Whitley Hood said Monday Benson citizens and others from over the state had raised a total of $3,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the Benson housewife whose body was found Sunday following a three-day search.

Hood said the reward was started locally, but "I understand calls are coming in from various areas of the state contributing to the fund."

Hood said he expects the reward to go "considerably higher" because "the people are upset and concerned about what happened to this fine family."

If the reward raised locally does not bring results, Hood said he will consider asking Gov. Bob Scott to supplement it with a state reward.

Mrs. Neighbors, 33, was found lying on a cot on a migrant labor dormitory six miles south of Benson. She had been bound, gagged, blindfolded and shot twice through the head.

The woman's four-month-old son, Arthur Glenn, was found lying beside her body. Police said he was unharmed and apparently had not suffered serious harm from being exposed to 20-degree weather in the migrant labor dormitory.

The child's cries attracted the attention of a farmer who investigated and discovered Mrs. Neighbors' body.

State Bureau of Investigation Director Charles Dunn said his agents, Johnston County and Benson officers were working furiously to track down the slayers.

"They have been checking out all leads," Dunn said, "and are trying to put together the pieces."

The SBI chief said the officers still want to question a trio of "hippie type" youths who were seen in the area near where Mrs. Neighbors' body was found. They were reported traveling in a blue automobile bearing flower decals.

"We would like to locate them and talk to them," Dunn said.

Mrs. Neighbors was last seen alive Thursday afternoon when she left home to pick up her older son at school. A search was touched off a few hours later when she failed to arrive.

The search was one of the most extensive ever seen in this area. Sunday six helicopters and about 400 persons participated in the search.

'Chuting Santa Missed Target

CHIPPING NORTON, England (AP) — The kids from the local children's home lined up in the field next door to watch Santa Claus parachute down with their gifts. But Cpl. George Shone of the Royal Signal Corps landed several miles away.

"My beard kept flapping into my face," he said Monday. "I couldn't see to steer the chute. I came down blind — it was one of the trickiest jumps I ever made."

Next year he'll pin the beard back with a clothes pin, said Santa Shone.

In Leicester, meanwhile, the St. Luke's Wine Circle invited 50 old-age pensioners in for a drop of seasonal cheer. The old folks drank 200 pints of beer and 72 bottles of wine.

Midnight Mass Among Workers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will say Mass at a midnight service Christmas Eve on the slopes of Mt. Soratte north of Rome among workers at a railway tunnel construction site.

As part of his holiday plans, the Vatican announced Monday that the pontiff will observe New Year's Day by visiting and saying Mass among maimed children at the Orione institute, located atop Mt. Mario, Rome's highest hill.

On Friday Pope Paul will address the Vatican-based cardinals in a year-end audience and on Christmas Day he will say mass in St. Peter's Basilica.

Probe Attempted Home Break-In

Greenville police today are continuing their investigation into an early morning attempted break-in at a 1002 North Overlook Dr. home.

Residents of the Ed Tipton, Jr. home were awakened and called police at 5:10 a.m. when they heard noises at the rear of their home, Chief Glenn Cannon said.

Before police arrived, the chief explained, the Tiptons heard a car drive away.

Investigators found that some had pried open a rear storm door and attempted to gain entrance to the house.

First Lady Is Hostess

WASHINGTON (AP) — The children of Washington diplomats were entertained at their annual Christmas party by a musical group called The New Zoo Review.

For 20 minutes a team called Henrietta Hippo, Freddie the Frog and Charlie the Owl led the 515 invited young guests in singing, clapping, stamping and jumping exercises in the East Ballroom Monday.

First Lady Pat Nixon told the noisy group before the performance, "We're proud of the job you and your parents do representing countries around the world."

Like many visitors to the White House during the Christmas season, the children seemed impressed by the glittering decorations — a towering Christmas tree in the Blue Room and elaborate red pointsetta arrangements.

And when Santa Claus appeared and wished the distinguished guests and Mrs. Nixon a Merry Christmas, 8-year-old Alicia Ventura of Argentina looked up and asked, "Is that the President?"

CONVERTIBLE SCHOOLS
VIENNA (AP) — To cope with the problem of changing school enrollments, Vienna is building three schools that can be converted into apartments.

The three schools, planned for a housing development, will have 80 classrooms. Should demand for classrooms decline, the rooms can be converted easily into household units.

Will Rule On 19th Century Law

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the government's power to use a 19th century federal law to bring criminal action against industrial polluters of the nation's navigable waters.

About 200 suits depend on the outcome of the case accepted Monday for review this spring.

The government is seeking to overturn a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Philadelphia that limited the scope of the law. The Justice Department's appeal complained that the lower court had stood the law on its head and emasculated what Congress had in mind in 1899 when it prohibited dumping of all refuse except common liquid sewage into navigable waters.

The case concerns the conviction last year of the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corp. for passing iron and aluminum solids and compounds into the Monongahela River. The firm was fined $10,000.

Last May, however, in a 2-1 ruling, the Philadelphia court said the firm was being punished for not obtaining a permit when no broad permit system existed. A new trial was ordered.

Since then, the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston has read the law the way the government prefers in the case of a Manchester, N.H., slaughtering plant convicted of polluting the Merrimack River. The Supreme Court evidently has decided to resolve the conflict in interpretations.

In other decisions before beginning a three-week holiday recess, the justices:

1. Ended compulsory chapel at the Army, Navy and Air Force academies by turning down a government appeal from a ruling by a lower court that the regulations violate the First Amendment's ban against establishment of religion. The government contended future officers required "an appreciation of our moral and religious heritage." The rejection was unanimous.

2. Broadly upheld the power of the states to regulate local operations of out-of-state firms. The 8-0 ruling approved South Carolina's assessment of $21,540 in income taxes against Heublein, Inc., a Connecticut liquor firm.
3. Agreed to decide whether the Interstate Commerce Commission should have fully considered the impact on the environment when it raised freight rates in a way that made it more expensive to ship scrap iron and steel destined for recycling.
4. Gave the government authority to check out the names of all contributors to a domestic organization allegedly linked to Irish insurgents. The vote was 6-3.
5. Rejected an appeal by former Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack P. Gremlion, who was convicted of perjury to a grand jury investigating a bankrupt loan company. He faces three years in prison.

They Reject $1,899 Fund

COAHOMA, Tex. (AP) — The city council of this West Texas town of 1,100 is returning to the U.S. treasury a check for $1,899 — the town's share under the new federal revenue-sharing program.

Mayor Jack Cauble said the check came with too many instructions and guidelines in the form of an eight-page pamphlet.

"And the pamphlet said those were only temporary regulations and that permanent regulations were still to come," Cauble said, quoting from a letter accompanying the check the town sent to the Treasury.

The letter added that "the conditions imposed for receipt and use of the funds are substantial and completely unjustified in view of the apparently overlooked fact that this is our money we are getting back."

The mayor said the council voted 3 to 1 to return the check after it found out that it would have to set up separate bookkeeping for revenue-sharing funds and a separate bank account subject to federal auditing.

John McCormack Says Party Wasn't Defeated

By NILS J. BRUZELIUS
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — "The party was not defeated," said retired House Speaker John W. McCormack as he cast one of only 17 electoral votes garnered by Sen. George McGovern in the presidential election.

McCormack, who turns 81 Thursday, was the second of Massachusetts' 14 Democratic presidential electors who cast ballots Monday in the state Senate chamber, expressing the will of the only state not carried by Republican President Nixon in his landslide victory Nov. 7.

The District of Columbia gave McGovern his other three electoral votes.

McCormack, who retired in 1970 after 42 years in the House, the last nine as speaker, said the results of the election did not spell doom for the Democratic party.

"The party is in a sound position," he said, citing a net gain of two seats in the Senate and a gain in the number of governorships controlled by Democrats.

"The vote showed the people wanted the Democratic party in control," said McCormack, "particularly in Congress."

He refrained, however, from commenting on McGovern's effect on the party's fortunes.

"I won't get into that," McCormack said.

Newly elected Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss, who replaced McGovern's hand-picked choice, Jean Westwood, "is very satisfactory to me," McCormack said.

McCormack said the Democrats will need to revise the form guidelines adopted this year to open the party to under-represented minorities and women, but he did not urge that the reforms be junked.

"We can never turn back the pages of time," he said, calling for "clarifications of the guidelines, not elimination."

McCormack commented on Massachusetts' solitary stand as the only state carried by McGovern.

"It shows the independence of the voters of Massachusetts," he explained.

There were other acknowledgements of the state's singular position.

Republican Gov. Francis W. Sargent, present to swear the Democratic electors into office, said, "We seem to do things a little differently in Massachusetts."

And among the approximately 100 spectators was one guest wearing a campaign-style button reading, "Massachusetts — the Lone Star State."

Judge 'Considering' Disputed Election

RALEIGH (AP) — Federal District Judge Frank Dupree is studying the disputed congressional election in North Carolina's 4th district.

This came Monday after lawyers for the apparent winner, Democrat Ike Andrews, and the apparent loser, Republican Jack Hawke, made their arguments over Hawke's contest of the election.

Dupree agreed to consider Hawke's petition for an injunction to keep the state Board of Elections from certifying Andrews as the winner and he delayed a ruling on whether his court had jurisdiction over the election dispute.

The question of jurisdiction arose when Eugene Boyce of Raleigh, Andrews' attorney, argued that Congress is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members.

Thomas Ellis of Raleigh,

Hawke's attorney, had asked Dupree to order a new election in Durham County.

In arguments to Dupree Monday, Ellis contended 110 voting machines were not fairly distributed among Durham County's 42 precincts. Ellis contended that the Durham County Board of Elections provided proportionately more machines in black, Democratic precincts than in predominantly white, Republican-voting precincts.

Hawke had originally challenged voting procedures in Durham, Wake and Chatham counties. Each of the county boards and later the state Board of Elections rejected his allegations of improprieties.

However, the state board, in declaring Andrews the winner last week, said it would request the Durham elections board to make changes to achieve a more even distribution of voting machines.

Cattle Theft Is Charged Youths

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Charges of grand larceny were filed Monday against two Davidson County youths in the theft of five head of cattle.

Randall Smith, 16, of Rt. 4, Winston-Salem, and Randy Craver, 17, of Rt. 10, Lexington, were arrested Monday evening and held in Davidson County jail in lieu of bond of $3,000 each. They are charged with stealing four registered Black Angus and one registered Holstein, with a total value of $1,875.

Davidson County sheriff's deputies found the cattle in a trailer behind a vehicle parked in the northern section of the county. The youths were arrested shortly afterward.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—The computer company announced that a major customer, Barclays Bank, Ltd., based in London, planned to consolidate its computer use by using solely IBM computers. IBM, following the general tenor of the market, was off 3/4 to 393%.

American Airlines was also delayed in opening. Airline stocks have been moving downward for several days because of uncertainty about the industry's fare structure. UAL was down 1/2 today to 32%; but Pan Am was unchanged at 9% and Eastern was unchanged at 22%.

After the report of a sharp increase in earnings, Deere & Co. bucked the market trend, gaining 1 1/2 to 46%. The Big Board's most active stock was Kresge, off 1/2 to 46%.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets are mostly steady today. Tops of 30.00-30.50 Rocky Mount; 29.25-30.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Lumberton and Wilson; 28.00-30.25 Tarboro; 29.00-30.00 Siler City and Denton; 28.00-29.00 Bethel; 30.25 High Falls; 30.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock brokers: Market steady today, supplies adequate, demand fair. Movement on farm 1,094,000 head.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices sagged today as the path to peace in Vietnam seemed clogged with obstacles. But the declines were less severe than Monday, when a major selloff followed presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger's announcement of serious problems in the peace negotiations.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 1.96 to 1011.29. Declining stocks outnumbered advancing ones 816 to 354 on the Big Board, with 1,583 issues exchanged in active trading.

Harrington
Mrs. Gatsie Butts Harrington, 83, widow of Preston Harrington Sr., died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Monday night at 9:15 after a week of critical illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness Church by the pastor, the Rev. R.H. Bradford. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The body will be taken from the Wilkerson Funeral Home to the Church one hour prior to the time of services.

Mrs. Harrington, was born and spent all her life in Pitt County and was a member of St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness Church and the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Greenville. Her husband died in 1967.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. L. Scott Dixon of Greenville; five sons, W. Seth, Jack, Edward, and Frank C. Harrington, all of Greenville, and George O. Harrington of Ayden; 18 grandchildren; two brothers, Wade and Charles Butts, both of Greenville; and two sisters: Mrs. Jane B. Perkins of Goldsboro and Mrs. Ellen B. Correnti of Scotland Neck.

Briefing On New System

Legislators from the northeastern sector of the state will meet here tomorrow on the East Carolina University campus for briefings on the new budget system of the consolidated university.

The session is one of a series called by William C. Friday, president of the consolidated University of North Carolina, to explain to legislators across the state the new budget alignment and to set overall priorities.

ECU chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins will host the meeting, scheduled to begin around 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the School of Nursing building. Some 25-30 members of the legislature are expected for the session.

ECU Closed For Holidays

East Carolina University is officially closed for the Christmas holidays.

The University Housing Office, which has the responsibility of finding places to stay off campus for any dormitory residents who will not be leaving Greenville for the holidays, reports that it had no such requests this year. All dorms, men's and women's, are closed.

Campus Police Chief Joe Calder said each classroom building on campus will be open at the discretion of each department chairman during the holidays, except from Thursday, Dec. 22 at 5 p.m. till Tuesday, Dec. 26 at 8 a.m. During this time, all will be closed. Security all over the campus is greatly increased during the holidays, he said, and anyone going on campus is subject to questioning.

Joyner Library will be closed from Thursday, Dec. 22 at 5 p.m. until Wednesday, Dec. 27 at 8 a.m. and from Friday, Dec. 29 at 5 p.m. till Tuesday, Jan. 2 at 8 a.m. All other days during the school vacation period, it will be open from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m.

School Bd. . . .

Waldrop recalled "I remember when a super committee raised $150,000 in the community for the stadium. We were told at the time it would benefit the community."

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, pointed out "We have had a fine cooperative program with the university for many years. What we must consider is that as Greenville and the university grows, the city schools are being phased out of university and Recreation Department facilities. As the situation changes, we are faced with more of a need for our own facilities."

The superintendent, saying he detected a thinking for an athletic complex for the city schools, stated he feels "every school should have its own track, its own athletic program."

One of the reasons offered by several board members for hesitancy in spending the $27,550 needed for a track was the possibility the funds could conceivably be needed for urgent use in event a court decision authorized a higher price for the Evans property now under condemnation procedures.

Dr. Cleetwood, on that subject, reported that the matter was proceeding according to schedule. He said that following entering of condemnation procedures, attorneys for the owners had responded, and that lawyers for the school system were responding to their response, with the school's response due in two weeks.

In another six for, two against vote, the school board approved the travel of 25 junior high school students and three senior high students on a field trip to Sapin.

Reservations about permitting the trip were expressed at the last meeting. A couple of members stated they had been under the impression earlier that the request for the trip from the junior high had assumed participation by seventh and eighth grade students.

Mrs. German Ucross, Spanish teacher, said only ninth and tenth grade students would be going. She pointed out many of the students planning to go had worked and saved money for the trip, which will cost each participant $399 from New York, to include all costs except drinks. The field trip is planned during the Easter holidays and will result in three school days being missed by the students.

Saying a "gap in communication" had marked the initial planning of this particular trip, Dr. Clark recommended that a full airing of policy on field trips be placed on the board's January agenda.

The board gave formal approval to the recent purchase for $15,000 for a trace of land approximately 100 x 150 feet on Pennsylvania Avenue adjacent to Sadie Sauter Elementary School. The track, consisting of three lots, has three inhabited frame homes, and is the property of T. W. Skinner, S. H. Skinner and Emily H. Rouse.

Authorization was also given the school administration to proceed with measures to have the three houses removed, providing the means of disposal are at no expense to the school system.

School board members agreed to a special call meeting to be scheduled following the January board meeting but before February 1 for the purpose of talking to architects. This decision was made following discussions on how best to proceed with the next step in the multiple plan (PERT) relative to the construction of the new middle-junior high school.

School board members and school officials have recently received a letter from state education officials expressing reservations about the feasibility of attempting to use architectural plans of Aycock Junior High for the new school.

The officials warned of variables that could make this attempted economy more expensive in the long run due to differences in grading, utility, and other circumstances applicable to each individual site.

Works Dept. To Take 2 Holidays

Public Works Department director Mayo Allen has announced that the department will be closed and all employees on holiday on Monday and Tuesday, December 25 and 26.

With favorable weather; all leaves, trash, and garbage should be cleared by Saturday. However, if patrons are missed, they are asked to call for immediate service. Wednesday after Christmas, the full force will be on the job to collect all Christmas trees, trash, and garbage created during the holidays.

Trees and trash should be stored behind the curb and at the edge of the yard for pickup. Patrons are not to place trash on the city streets, as this creates hazardous conditions.

Allen also announced that the 128 employees of the Greenville Public Works Department, along with their husbands or wives, will have their Annual Christmas Party Thursday night, December 28, at the City Council, and City Manager, Eugene West, members of the City Council, and City Manager, William H. Corstarphen will join them at the Moose Lodge for this special occasion.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon brings a great deal of quick action in getting your thoughts and ideas organized so that you can make big progress in the days ahead. As the day advances, think in terms of what you can do to improve conditions at your own residence. Fine for deciding holiday activities at home.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is excellent for getting into that plan that will make the future more successful and happy for you, but tonight home affairs require clever handling. Show others you appreciate their friendship. Don't take them so much for granted.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle financial affairs early so that later you can do errands, shopping, etc., that are important also. Show you have good common sense and right methods. Don't make mistakes by acting too hastily.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You arise rarin' to go where constructive activity is concerned, so be sure later that a time-waster does not take you off on some silly tangent. Handle personal matters well with the assistance of mate later in the day. Be clever.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can make a fine plan for the future in a.m., but take care later you do not get into some emotional entanglement. That important personal aim you have can also be planned wisely. Show you have poise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your friends are very important to you today, so get them to assist you in your particular endeavors. Gadding about adding new friends to present circle is wise. One of these could make the future much brighter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you are of greater service to others now, you find you gain goodwill and can better your own position in life as well. Step out and price or buy gifts for Christmas. Do the fancy wrapping tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are busy thinking of greater things and this is fine, provided you are practical in so doing. Come to a far better understanding with high-minded associates. Relax at home in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to handle responsibilities in a new and better way so you free valuable time for bigger undertakings. Strive to have greater success and happiness in the future. Don't permit unimportant events to disturb your equilibrium.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Now that you know what is expected of you by others, this is a good time to reach a definite understanding with them. State your aims honestly and directly. Then you get excellent results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Analyze those private worries well and then do something positive and constructive about getting rid of them. Make plans to progress faster via right channels. Don't get into something you know absolutely nothing about and lose your shirt.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you assist good friends to solve their problems, you find you help your own position in life. Make the new friends who can be of assistance to you as well as interesting companions. Avoid one who quibbles too much.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure your personal and business affairs are progressing properly, otherwise take right steps in such directions. Cooperate more with kin and associates for better results. Tone down on that temper.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who can accomplish a good deal for the simple reason that the movements are fast and the mind is clear and quick thinking. Can easily get ahead of others. Slant the education along lines of selling, business, or any other profession that requires both mental and manual dexterity and the ability to take over responsibility. Teach to read early in life, even before school age for best results.

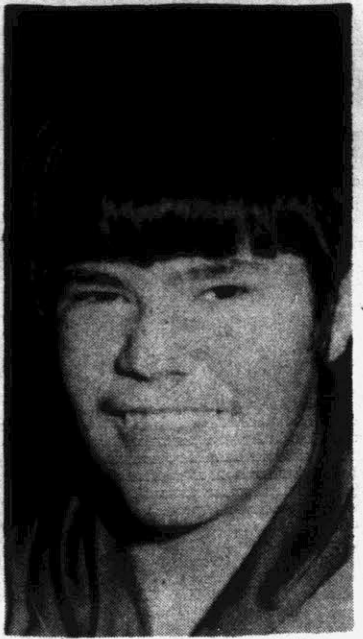

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Vitamins Have Myths, Misuse

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The word vitamin comes from a Latin word, vita, for life itself, and indeed vitamins are of vital importance to growth and health. But, like many of the other things in life, they are surrounded by controversy, myth and misuse.

The misuse came into the news in recent days when the federal Food and Drug Administration proposed to restrict the potentially dangerous use of vitamins A and D in some treatments.

The problem with vitamins A and D illustrates the approach to vitamins taken by many people and cited repeatedly by scientists: "If these vitamins are good for me, even vital, then why won't more of the vitamins be even better?"

In the case of A and D, the answer is simple: It has been proven that excessive or massive doses actually can be harmful. Part of the problem with these vitamins is that the body tends to store them.

Further, according to one expert, there is very little evidence available on the effects of massive doses of any vitamin. There is little evidence available of the effects of massive doses over a long period of time — of what the cumulative effect might be.

The classic example of vitamin controversy is the contention by the two-time Nobel prize winner, Dr. Linus Pauling, that a lot of vitamin C can protect against, and fight, the common cold.

Other claims for vitamins include those for vitamin E, which is enjoying a relatively new popularity. Vitamin E, the claims run, can do many things, such as ward off heart disease and increase sexual potency. These claims are widely discounted by vitamin experts.

There are some who believe vitamins play a role in the treatment of mental illness. Dr. Pauling has coined the term "orthomolecular psychiatry," a method of treating mental illness by correcting the balance of vitamins and other natural substances in the body.

This approach to mental illness, however, is regarded with great skepticism by many scientists.

For most people, the concern about vitamins is simply one of maintaining a state of general health and well being.

Because vitamins are found in small quantities in almost all foods, a well balanced diet is of great importance in maintaining good health. Indeed, it is said repeatedly, that a well balanced daily diet is sufficient to maintain normal health.

But it has also been pointed out that there are millions of Americans whose diet is a disaster due to poor eating habits or poverty or other factors.

The soda-pop and potato-chip emphasis in the diet of many teenagers, regardless of economic level, has been cited many times. And others, such as pregnant women, must pay special attention to their diet. A physician's advice is necessary in many cases.

In addition to inadequate diets, there are vitamin problems caused by the failure of the body, in some individuals, to absorb nutrients properly. Some people require more than the average, some less.

The Food and Drug Administration's proposals on vitamins A and D do not concern these problems, but those of overdose. The agency said overdoses of vitamin A can cause various complications, ranging from growth retardation in children to headaches and cracked skin. The possible complications from vitamin D overdoses range from high blood pressure to kidney failure and death.

"Widespread promotion of both vitamins has resulted in 'excessive use for conditions such as acne, night blindness and arthritis,'" according to the FDA statement. The FDA said "Neither vitamin A nor D are proven effective for these conditions in well nourished people."

In the case of vitamin C, Dr. Pauling's claim about the common cold was met with widespread skepticism in the scientific community and great public acceptance. Much of the criticism centered on what was said to be a lack of large scale studies to support his contention.

A recently reported study from the University of Toronto has been described as encouraging by the scientists who conducted it, enough so that they have planned an even larger trial this winter.

There were two major findings in the Toronto study:

—Of 407 volunteers who took 1,000 milligrams daily, 26 per cent remained free of illness throughout the study, compared with 18 per cent of the 411 persons on dummy pills.

—The volunteers who got vitamin C had 30 per cent fewer days of total disability than those in the placebo group.

The 818 subjects were in the program for at least two months, according to the support. "Further studies," the Toronto researchers said, "will of course be required to confirm this finding and establish its magnitude more precisely, but the high level of statistical significance associated with it encourages us to believe that it is likely to be a real effect rather than a statistical artifact."

Very Bad Day At The Track

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — The event at the Riccarton Racetrack was called the Avon Steeplechase. It could well have been the Calamity Stakes.

Of the six horses entered, two completed the two-mile course without too much trouble, Boldway beating Doomsday by 25 lengths.

Timely finished third — after losing its rider and waiting at the final jump until two other horses were removed, Casca which broke down and Drum Call which fell and broke its neck.

The other horse called Duldul? It lost its jockey halfway through the race and made its own way back toward the saddling enclosure.

There, another jockey mounted the horse and rode it round the empty track to finish fourth — 13 minutes after the winner.

The Worry Clinic Alleged Plaintiff Sounds 'Fishy'

Ann Landers seems to be obsessed with hostility to computerized dating organizations. You readers might thus try to diagnose Ann, for a change! Is her aversion due to an unhappy computerized date when she was a coed at Morningside College? Or what?

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PH. D., M.D.
CASE V-574: Rev Homer is one of the 3,000 volunteer

Clergymen Counselors who interview Applicants for our Scientific Marriage Foundation. "Dr. Crane," he began, "what's wrong with Ann Landers, for she seems obsessed with a desire to belittle the idea of meeting a mate via a computer?"

"Why is she so hostile to computerized dating?" "Being Jewish, she should realize that Jewish matchmakers have produced thousands of happy marriages all through the centuries.

"Besides, the computer has been working quite well to arrange compatible couples for college dances and other social events.

"Yet she recently quoted a supposed letter from one of her readers who was a 30-year-old single fir.

"The latter said she was introduced to 8 men in 7 weeks, but all were grossly unsuitable!

"She added that some of the men were homosexuals; 5 were unemployed and just seeking a woman to support them.

"And another was a sadist. "But she vowed one man had already paid $380 for his 'leads.'"

"Yet she said this supposed 'foundation,' on its letterhead, listed the name of a well known doctor and two nationally known clergymen.

"Dr. Crane, this letter that Ann quoted sounds phony to me on several counts.

"But even if it might possibly have been true, it certainly proves the vast superiority of our non-profit, Scientific Marriage Foundation."

Match-Making
Rev. Homer's suspicions seem well grounded.

Our eleemosynary SMF charges only $25 as a lifelong matriculation fee while the usual "for profit" computerized dating $265 to $465 for just a 6 months registration. That $380 thus doesn't fit into the prevailing fees, even for commercial dating bureaus!

Moreover, our SMF insists on a personal 30-minute interview with one of our 3,000 Clergymen Counselors. These Counselors also talk to 3 references cited by each Applicant. Since clergymen are shrewd analysts of personality, it doesn't seem likely that so many misfits would be introduced to the same girl within 7 weeks!

In the case of our SMF, when we find a couple are compatible on 10 basic personality traits, we then ask them to write letters for a few weeks until they learn enough about each other to carry on a conversation when they finally meet in person.

Thus, our SMF is lucky to introduce a girl to one man in 3 months time; not to 8 men in 7 weeks!

And even these ethical (and maybe unethical) private dating bureaus don't have such a surplus of males that they can offer a girl 8 different introductions in 7 weeks!

Ann Landers' supposed letter from a reader thus sounds "fishy" to me. And illustrates one of the hazards of using letters instead of professional personal interviews with patients, when counseling via newspapers.

Our SMF is the only interfaith non-profit foundation that uses volunteer clergymen as its "grass roots" interviewers of Applicants.

When those 3,000 clergymen O.K. an Applicant, he is usually, compatible, honest and of good moral character.

After 17 years of operation, our SMF has much less than a one percent divorce rate, in contrast to the nation's tragic average of about 30 percent.

So send for the "SMF Questionnaire," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and pass it along to any eligible unmarried person! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The bidding:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ 2 ♣
Dble. Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠

The above hand was taken from a World's Championship match between the United States and Italy.

When the Americans held the East-West cards, the bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram. West's opening bid of one diamond does not quite measure up to standard requirements, however it may be observed that he does have two and one-half defensive tricks and a rebiddable suit.

East had 19 points, enough to make a jump shift, however, he chose to bid his time by responding with two clubs. South's overall of two spades was of doubtful wisdom. Contending against two bidding opponents with unfavorable vulnerability, there appears to be much more to lose than gain by entering the proceedings.

West's penalty double of two spades was well reasoned. He holds what appears to be a minimum of four defensive tricks, and it can be expected from East's response at the two level, that the latter has a better than average hand. There is the further consideration that West's double is not an absolute command. If East's values are primarily distributional, he is at liberty to rescue himself.

East was well-heeled and he realized that any profit the partnership could score offensively would be more than compensated by the vulnerable penalty, so he passed.

West led his singleton club and subsequently obtained three club ruffs, putting his partner in once with a heart and later with the king of diamonds by underleading the ace. The defense also took the ace and king of spades, thereby holding declarer to five tricks and inflicting an 800 point penalty.

Inasmuch as East and West were not vulnerable and the bonus for bidding and making a game would be only 300 points, it appeared that the United States might score a substantial profit on the deal. However, at the other table, when the Americans were sitting North-South, West passed as the dealer and East opened with one club. South chose to make a preemptive jump overall of three spades which West doubled.

The play followed substantially the same course as at the other table and inasmuch as South was one trick higher, the contract was set four tricks for an 1,100 point penalty. Italy thereby gained 300 points.

Plans Coordinate Discussions

"Great Decisions, 1973," a program of discussions of current issues, will be sponsored by East Carolina University's Division of Continuing Education this year.

The program is offered by the Foreign Policy Association, a private, non-profit and non-partisan organization. Its purpose is to develop through education an informed and articulate American public opinion on major issues in world affairs.

ECU is eastern North Carolina's coordinator for the annual program. According to an ECU spokesman, North Carolina led the nation in number of "Great Decisions" participants last year.

The basic requirement for involvement in the program is for at least five interested persons to agree to meet once a week for eight weeks and discuss the topics covered in this year's "Great Decisions" booklet.

Topics include the balance of power among China, the Soviet Union and the U.S.; the mass media; Japan and the U.S.; white rule in black Africa; expansion of the Common Market; the environment; relations in the Western Hemisphere; and Egypt after the Soviet withdrawal.

The "Great Decisions" program can be used for personal development, for political club activity, for church or civic groups of for teacher certification credit.

The only cost involved is the price of the "Great Decisions" booklet. No professional discussion leader is required, since all information needed is given in the booklet.

The UNC television network will carry weekly programs related to the series beginning in February. Groups who wish to use the television programs as an additional resource should consider scheduling their series then.

Further information about the program is available from Gayle Everett at the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Box 2727, Greenville.

A Drought, But Heavy Harvest

TOKYO (AP) — A region on the North China Plain 160 miles south of Peking suffered its severest drought in half a century this year but still reaped a record grain harvest, Radio Peking reported today.

More than 500 small reservoirs, 12 of the 19 major irrigation canals and 7,000 of the 47,000 wells dried up in the Shinchiaochuang administrative region of Hopei Province, the official Hsinhua news agency reported.

The area's grain output was three tons a hectare in 1965, Hsinhua said, and this year's harvest was 4.2 tons a hectare. One hectare is about 2½ acres.

Jamesville Boys Are Martin Loop Favorites

JAMESVILLE — The Jamesville High School Bullets are the pre-season choices to win the Martin County Conference, and so far they've given in indication that it was a wrong one.

Through their first 11 games, the Bullets have salted away eight victories. They have yet, however, to meet one of their three conference rivals.

The main reason for the optimism for the Jamesville fans is the return of five of the top seven players from last year, including four starters. They include Larry Modlin, Tommy Mizelle, Alvin Grimes and Robert James. Joining them is Steve James, up from the junior varsity of last year.

"Experience should be our biggest asset," Coach George Hall said. "Although we've been playing a little sloppy at times, we are fairly well experienced. We have eight we can count on: the five I've already mentioned along with Gurkin Martin, a junior, and Horace Hall, a junior up from the junior varsity. There's also Ronald Leftwich, a senior.

"So you can see that we can go to our bench and find some pretty good experience," Hall added.

Height is both good and bad. The good is 6-7 Modlin, easily the tallest player in the conference. But he tends to get into foul trouble easily, and beyond him, the height is just not there. Most of the other players are six feet or shorter.

"Usually we don't dominate the boards," Hall said. "It's usually pretty even, and several times we've been outbounded."

Speed for the Bullets is pretty good, Hall said. "We got good quickness overall and we can run with it. In fact, we play best when we're running."

The Bullets, on defense, like to do some pressing, but usually operate in the backcourt in a 2-1-2 zone to help with the rebounding.

"We have some good shooters," Hall said. "Mizelle is one of the best shooters in the leagues. Martin is also pretty consistent. But I feel all of them can hit. No one of them is outstanding, except maybe Mizelle."

In the conference race, Hall feels it could be very tight. He goes along with the idea that his BATH — Oak City and Bath split a pair of basketball games last night. The Trojans won the boys' game, 42-41, while the Bath girls took their game, 59-44.

In the opener, Oak City and Bath opened hot, with Oak City slipping out into a 16-15 lead at the end of the first quarter. Oak City cooled off after that, but Bath kept going, holding a 19-9 advantage in the second quarter. That pushed the hosts out into a 34-25 lead at the half.

Bath continued to pull away in the third quarter, outshooting Oak City, 12-9. That left them atop the score with a 46-34 lead. Then, in the final period, Bath finished up with a 13-10 advantage.

Jane Leggett led Bath with 18 points, while Vickie Thomas and Ann Ross each had 14. Sylvia Jones led all scorers hitting 24 for Oak City.

Both Bath and Oak City matched baskets during the opening period of the boys' contest, which saw the frame end in a 12-12 tie. Oak City began to pull away in the second frame, however, working up a 9-6 advantage for a 21-18 lead.

In the third quarter, it remained close, with Bath outshooting Oak City, 12-10, and cutting the lead back to 31-30. Throughout the final period, it stayed just as close, with each team hitting 11 points. Bath missed on a last second attempt to win it and the Trojans escaped.

Billy Greene led the Trojans with 14 points while Ronald Duggins had 10. Alvin Singleton had 15 and Don Woolard had 13 for Bath.

Georgia Tech Nips Cyclones

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — quarterback at Georgia Tech and ended it by engineering a heart-thumping 31-30 victory Monday night over Iowa State in the Liberty Bowl, said he just hoped to be a reserve.

Majors Takes Pittsburgh Job

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Johnny Majors, who molded the weak Iowa State football program into respectability, faces a similar task at ailing Pitt, where he will become head coach.

Majors announced acceptance of the Pitt job after his Iowa State team lost to Georgia Tech Monday night in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn.

Pitt Athletic Director Casimir Myslinski then confirmed the hiring, and announced a news conference here, with Majors attending, at 4:30 p.m. today.

"We couldn't do any better than him," said Myslinski, who three weeks ago had announced a search for a "big name coach—somebody with impact," after firing Carl DePasqua.

In Majors, Pitt got a 37-year-old coach who compiled a 24-31-1 mark at Iowa State in five years, including two bowl defeats.

Majors, an outstanding tailback at Tennessee in the 1950s and a charter member of the University of Tennessee Hall of Fame, was named Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year after his team compiled an 8-4 record in 1971.

After an excellent start this season, Iowa State lost its last six games, including a 31-30 loss to Georgia Tech Monday night, and finished with a 5-6-1 record.

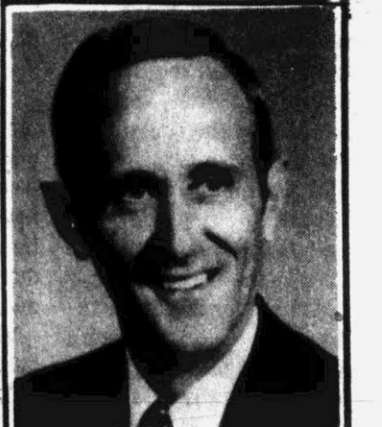

Tech 33 and seven plays later Cyclone quarterback George Amundson rifled a five-yard TD pass to split end Ike Harris, making the score 31-30 with 1:36.

On a two-point conversion attempt, Amundson, bothered by Tech end Beau Bruce, hurriedly threw beyond the end zone and the score stood.

Iowa State's Johnny Majors, who announced after the game he will take head coaching job at Pittsburgh, said there was never any doubt about going for two after the Cyclones' last touchdown.

"We thought it would work since Amundson's runs on the sprintout had worked and we thought the receivers would get open because they were giving him room to the outside. The receiver was covered momentarily and the rush was a little better than we had expected."

Furman Getting Maryland Climbs To Second On Poll 1st Real Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Furman's Paladins and Davidson's Wildcats, the two teams most league coaches feel will battle it out for the Southern Conference basketball championship, will be after bigger game tonight than fellow lodge members.

It would appear the Wildcats, 4-2 over-all, have the biggest assignment, for they take on unbeaten fourth-ranked North Carolina State at Charlotte, N. C.

The Paladins, who have won all four of their over-all starts, will be at Illinois of the Big Ten in their first real test of strength outside the conference.

A pair of league teams broke even Monday night against outside foes.

William and Mary's Indians won for only the second time in nine starts by coming from behind to whip Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets 63-60 on a pair of field goals in the last three minutes by sophomore Tom Pfingst and freshman Mike Arizin.

But Virginia Military's Keydets, opening a weeklong trip to the Southwest, were beaten 57-50 at Corpus Christi. The Keydets will be at Rice on Wednesday night, then take part Friday and Saturday in the Road Runner tournament at New Mexico State.

The lead had changed hands a dozen times before Pfingst put William and Mary ahead for good at 61-60 with 2:55 left. The Indians got the ball back with 1:13 remaining and controlled it until Arizin broke free for a clinching layup with just nine seconds left.

Arizin, the 6-foot-5 son of former Villanova and National Basketball Association star Paul Arizin, led all scorers with 22 points and also pulled down a game-high 11 rebounds.

Pfingst had 12 points and senior Steve Seward 11 for the Indians, who shot 50.9 per cent from the floor. Georgia Tech, now 1-4, hit 42.6 per cent of its field goal tries with Bob "Peanut" Murphy scoring 17 points and Andy McKain 13.

VMI, down by three points at halftime, couldn't control 6-foot-8 Julius Howard of Corpus Christi and fell behind for good on a field goal by Kelly Bass with six minutes left.

Howard scored 13 points and grabbed 10 rebounds for Corpus Christi, now 3-3. Charlie Tyler had 12 points for the Keydets, who lost for the third time in five starts.

Poll results may be gratifying, Maryland basketball Coach Lefty Driesell says, but there's no substitute for victory.

Maryland became a distant second behind powerhouse UCLA in the Associated Press college cage rankings Monday after Princeton's upset triumph over Florida State.

"Naturally I'm very happy about the poll standing but this doesn't have much to do with winning and that's the important thing we have to keep doing," Driesell said. "In fact, it may make winning a little tougher."

UCLA, 4-0, on the heels of a 96-67 romp over California-Santa Barbara, received 880 points on first-place votes from all 44 members of the nationwide panel of writers and broadcasters who vote in the poll. Maryland, 3-0, received 662 points and Marquette, 4-0, moved to third with 591.

North Carolina State, 6-0, defeated rival North Carolina 68-

61, and moved to fourth. Minnesota, 4-0, assumed fifth place, Long Beach State, 4-0, was sixth and Florida State, 3-1, skidded to seventh.

Southwestern Louisiana, 6-0, was eighth followed by Indiana, 5-0, and Missouri, 7-0.

The Bruins, with 49 straight triumphs, have been without Coach John Wooden who was released from a hospital Monday after treatment for a heart ailment.

"It's a day-to-day situation on when Wooden will return," explained a UCLA spokesman. "He will return to practice when the doctors say he can."

In Monday night action, Creighton rallied in the second half and upset No. 20 Santa Clara 86-73. Ralph Bobak paced Creighton with 17 points and Fred LaVaron led Santa Clara with 23. Henry Wilmore and Ken Brady combined for 45 points, leading Michigan to a 90-74 victory over Western Michigan in the second game of the third annual Michigan Invitational tournament. Toledo edged Morehead State 94-93 in the opener.

Louisville defeated Navy 68-52, Montana State whipped Cal State-Hayward 96-72 and Louisiana Tech downed Southern Mississippi 87-66.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points.

1.UCLA (44)	4-0	880

Wolfpack Takes On Davidson In Charlotte

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten N.C. State of the Atlantic Coast Conference, fourth in the nation in the Associated Press basketball poll, goes against Davidson in an inter-conference clash tonight at the Charlotte Coliseum.

The Wolfpack now stands at 6-0 after weekend wins over Wake Forest and North Carolina in the Big Four Tournament in Greensboro. Southern Conference Davidson is now 4-2 after dropping a Saturday night decision to Cincinnati.

Davidson head coach Terry Holland said Monday he plans no special defense for N.C. State. "The main problem is what to do with David Thompson," Holland said of the Wolfpack forward who averages 30.5 points and 9.5 rebounds per game. "We're planning to use our regular man-to-man with some pressure now and then, and we feel we can play with them."

Holland and his Wildcats can't concentrate too much on super-soph Thompson without creating another problem—namely 7-foot-4 Tommy Burleson, who stretches a full ten inches above any of Davidson's starters.

Burleson averages 17.7 points and 11.7 rebounds and is capable of more on any given night.

Davidson will try to counter N.C. State with quickness and deception. Wildcats John Falconi and Mike Sorrentino, hitting 18.2 and 11.5 points per game respectively, will provide most of Davidson's scoring punch.

N.C. State is the only ACC team in action tonight as most schools are in the midst of exams and Christmas break is approaching.

Carolina, the second of the ACC's nationally recognized teams, will travel to the west coast Friday to take on California. The Tar Heels' game is a prelude to participation in the Rainbow Classic.

Maryland, the second-ranked team in the nation, will host George Washington Friday. Coach Lefty Driesell's powerful Terrapins, now 4-0, were idle during the weekend.

Also on Friday, the Clemson Tigers will host Kent State. The South Carolina team dropped a 63-60 heartbreaker to Villanova Saturday in their last outing.

Coaches Start Musical Chairs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While eight National Football League teams began traveling what they hope will be the road to the Super Bowl Monday, many of the others were playing the age-old game of musical chairs with their coaches.

The Philadelphia Eagles fired Ed Khayat, the St. Louis Cardinals canned Bob Hollway and there was speculation the axe might fall on J.D. Roberts of the New Orleans Saints and Tommy Prothro of the Los Angeles Rams.

Meanwhile, the New York Giants, coming off a better-than-predicted 8-6 season, capped by Sunday's 23-3 rout of Dallas, gave Coach Alex Webster another one-year contract while his crosstown rival, 65-year-old Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets, disclosed that 1973 would be his last season at the helm.

The firing of Khayat and Hollway left three coaching vacancies in the NFL, since Phil Bengtson was hired away from San Diego at midseason by the New England Patriots only as an interim replacement for the ousted John Mazur.

Billy Sullivan, president of the Patriots, left for Miami Monday where he said he would set up headquarters for his search for a new coach.

"I have a man in mind whom I'd like," Sullivan said. He declined to elaborate, but here has been speculation that the Patriots would like to hire the highly successful Joe Paterno away from Penn State.

Along with Khayat's dismissal at Philadelphia, Pete Retzlaff resigned after four years as general manager. Khayat, the Eagles' defensive line coach, took over when Jerry Williams was fired as head coach after an 0-3 start in 1971. The Eagles finished strong and compiled a 6-7-1 record but slipped this season to a horrendous 2-11-1.

The Cardinals let Hollway go with one year remaining on his three-year contract after a pair of 4-9-1 campaigns.

The Saints had a 2-11-1 record and a situation which tight end Dave Parks described as one with players distrusting their teammates, a shoddy front office operation, lack of respect between players and coaches and low morale.

Los Angeles owner Carroll Rosenbloom, disappointed with a 2-6 finish and a 6-7-1 record, the Rams' first losing season in seven years, would not give Prothro a vote of confidence, even though the coach has three years remaining on a five-year contract at an estimated $90,000 annually.

There also was unhappiness in Houston, where the Oilers had the worst record in the league, 1-13, and where two defensive linemen have threatened to quit. Mike Tilleman played out his option in 1972 and Elvin Bethea said he might quit "even if they offer me what I want next year."

On the happier side, the playoffs get under way next weekend. On Saturday, Oakland plays at Pittsburgh and Cleveland at Miami. The next day, it's Green Bay at Washington and defending Super Bowl champion Dallas at San Francisco.

Baker Signed By K&K Team

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) —

Buddy Baker, a 13-year-old veteran of the South's big stock car racing wars, will get his first chance next year to gun for one of the most lucrative driving titles in motorsports.

Baker, who will be 32 on Jan. 25, has signed to drive a Dodge for the K & K Insurance team in all events on the Winston Cup Grand National circuit of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

His chief mechanic and crew chief, Harry Hyde of Charlotte, said today team owner Nord Kroeskopf had given the team instructions to "go flat out in each race and go to win."

"That means Buddy will drive all 31 Winston Cup races, and we're going to provide him the equipment to win, or have a good chance of winning, every one of them."

"This will be an aggressive operation," Hyde added. "There will be no stroking on our part to conserve or coddle points in the standings. Buddy wants to drive flat out, belly to the ground, and he'll be instructed to do so just so we know where we stand."

Baker, son of still active driving great Buck Baker, joined the Kroeskopf-Hyde team in September after regular driver Bobby Isaac quit to look for a change of scenery. Baker responded by finishing second and third in two races and winning the 500 mile season ender in Texas.

His purse take for 1972 totaled $85,812, bringing his career figure to $449,843 since he wheeled his first Grand National sedan in 1969. He ranks eighth on NASCAR's career money list.

"It is going to be a tough year," Hyde said in forecasting that 1973 will see the closest racing in years on the big stock car ovals. "The new carburetor rules aren't going to affect speeds as much as they will serve to group the better cars into a pack.

"There will be very little speed differential between eight to 10 cars that will make every race. Drivers and crew chiefs not only must plan to race at top speed every inch of the way, but pay particular attention to preparation, pit stops and durability. And to win consistently, a team must have more than its share of luck."

Hyde's cars have produced almost half a million dollars in prize money since he began preparing cars for stock racing in 1966. He produced on previous champion, Isaac in 1970.

In addition to the Hyde-Baker combo, three other teams already have made it known they will run for the NASCAR championship, worth more than $500,000 in bonus money. They are Richard Petty, who captured an unprecedented fourth title this year; 1972 runnerup Bobby Allison, who will field his own Chevrolet; and Cale Yarborough, who succeeded Allison as driver of Junior Johnson's Chevrolet.

Other strong contenders probably will include David Pearson, who will have the Glen Wood Mercury to himself after sharing it with A.J. Foyt in 1972; and Isaac, who will drive for Ford expert Bud Moore.

TRIPPI "ONLIEST"

CHICAGO (UPI) — National Football League title play has been going on since 1933 but Charilus Trippi of the 1947 Chicago Cardinals is the only player ever to score on a punt return in a title game. Trippi's jaunt, 75 yards, helped defeat the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-21.

team should be the favorites, but notes that Robersonville will be strong too, despite their current record. "And Oak City beat them, so they could be tough too. And Bear Grass is better this year, too."

"We've been hot and cold," Hall said. "We have to play a better, aggressive defense and get more rebounds if we are to win. Our offense should take care of itself, but we've got to cut our turnovers."

Give Windsor instead.

This holiday season give Windsor Canadian instead of your usual whisky gift. Windsor is the only Canadian made exclusively with Canadian grain, with water from glacier-fed springs, and aged in the dry mountain air of the Rockies.

Surprise yourself at Christmas by making your favorite whisky drinks with Windsor instead of your usual domestic whisky. It makes a marvellous difference.

Give Windsor instead. It's Canada's smoothest whisky, and the price is very remarkable. Gift Wrap available in fifth, quart, half-gallon sizes

The smoothest gift to come out of Canada.

The Windsor Guardsman. A suitable symbol for the Supreme Canadian.

DEBBIE GRAHEK, 13, pats her dog, Bitsy, and tries out her new cycle which was built from scratch by Angelo Vittori, a Chisholm (Mass.) neighbor. Debbie has been paralyzed from the waist down since being hit by a stray bullet nine years ago. Debbie pedals the three-wheeler with her arms off a front-wheel chain drive. Vittori, a truck mechanic, said he is thinking about building one for Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who is also paralyzed. (AP Wirephoto)

Says Plight Of Athletes 'Worse'

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The president of a national civil rights group says the plight of black athletes is worsening at the collegiate level. He has called for an investigation of the situation and of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.
The Rev. Jesse Jackson of Chicago, president of PUSH (People United to Save Humanity), called the situation "a national crisis" and held the NCAA responsible for the collegiate aspect.
Jackson was in Memphis to support Georgia Tech quarterback Eddie McAshan, who was suspended for missing practice prior to Tech's last regular season game and consequently missed Monday night's Liberty Bowl game between the Yellow Jackets and Iowa State.
Jackson said that McAshan symbolizes the plight of black athletes across the country.
"Eddie is a symbol of the national crisis in which blacks are exploited to economic ends of the white power structure," Jackson said at a news conference at Memphis International Airport. "It's not just Eddie and Georgia Tech."
"We're talking about Maury Willis not being able to get a managing job in pro baseball and Jackie Robinson saying he wanted to see a black manager."
"Georgia Tech is to the crisis what Montgomery, Ala., was to the public accommodations crisis," he added.
"Whites get the money, blacks get the trophies," Jackson said. "Our brains have finally caught up with our brawn."
The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will investigate the situation on a national level, Jackson said, and also has asked the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and congress to look into the matter.
Jackson said black athletes are "virtually stranded" when they have problems because of the scarcity of black coaches, athletic directors and other officials.
There are more black athletes, he said, but blacks in leadership roles such as coaches have not increased.
Jackson said a national conference for black athletes is planned for next spring to review the situation.
McAshan appeared with Jackson at the news conference but did not speak. Jackson said McAshan would not make a statement for fear he would be misunderstood.
McAshan, a senior, has said he missed practice because Georgia Tech Coach Bill Fulcher refused his request for extra tickets for the Georgia game.
After the suspension, McAshan said the incident culminated racial discrimination against him at Tech.

Measles In Big Decline

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Center for Disease Control has reported a 44 per cent decline over last year in German measles, known medically as rubella, which causes defects in unborn children.
The CDC reported Monday that it has recorded 21,424 cases of rubella during the first 39 weeks of this year, a 44 per cent decline over the same period last year. The report credited for the decline a five-year vaccination campaign begun in 1969.
Although the disease generally affects children only mildly, they are major carriers of the infection to pregnant women and have been targeted for vaccination to prevent an epidemic similar to one in 1963-65.
In those years, the CDC said, 30,000 "rubella babies" were born with such defects as blindness, deafness, brain damage and congenital crippling. Another 30,000 pregnancies ended in miscarriages or stillbirths.
The CDC has recorded 25 cases of rubella-caused birth defects so far this year, compared with 42 during the same period last year.
States reporting increases in rubella cases for the year were Wisconsin, Kentucky, Colorado, Arizona, New Jersey, Minnesota and Georgia.

Police Chief In New Bern Fired

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP) — The New Bern Board of Aldermen is expected to discuss again tonight the firing of Police Chief John Worsham.
Worsham, a former FBI agent, submitted a letter of resignation Sunday. It indicated City Manager J. C. Outlaw requested it on the recommendation of the Board of Aldermen.
The New Bern Chamber of Commerce issued a statement Monday praising Worsham's record.
P. M. Bratcher, a veteran lawyer, replaced Worsham as chief.
