After 12-Day Blitz

Peace Talks Resume; Bombing Curtailed

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon Saturday announced an end to the bombardment of densely populated areas of North Vietnam and said peace talks with Hanoi's representatives would resume in Paris Jan. 8.

The announcement signaled the end of the heaviest bombing of the North in the history of the war —a 12-day blitz that inflicted heavy damage in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, caused the loss of at least 26 American planes and left 76 U.S. airmen dead or missing.

The announcement came in the midst of rising protest at home and abroad and from members of both parties.

"The President has ordered that all bombing will be discontinued above the 20th parallel as long as serious negotiations are under way," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told reporters at a hastily called White House briefing. Nixon himself was secluded at Camp David, Md.

Minutes later, a Pentagon spokesman said the bombing stopped "last night Washington time" and said the halt applied both to aerial attacks and naval bombardments.

In Honolulu where he is vacationing, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird issued a statement saying the Pentagon was "pleased that these negotiations are being resumed." Meanwhile, he said, "we will continue to meet our responsibilities under the continuing Vietnamization program." He did not elaborate.

Warren said Dr. Henry A. Kissinger would resume peace negotiations in Paris Jan. 8 with Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's chief negotiator, and with Xuan Thuy, the top North Vietnamese representative at the semipublic talks that have been under way since 1968.

He said William Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary of state, would fly to Paris Monday to resume talks at the technical level the next day.

The secret negotiations by Kissinger were suspended Dec. 13 when Nixon ordered his national security affairs adviser and chief peace envoy back to Washington to end what he termed a "charade" on the part of Hanoi.

Kissinger was vacationing in Palm Springs, Calif. —where he told reporters Friday he was not getting much rest because "I've been talking on the phone so much."

It was known that the resumption of the peace talks was arranged by messages between Kissinger and Tho and there were indications there had been a "clear signal" from Hanoi it wanted to resume bargaining.

Who Blinked First?

But White House officials declined to comment on whether the United States or North Vietnam blinked first. There was no indication whether the international rebukes and congressional criticism of the raids played a part in Nixon's decision to halt them.

But it was believed he hoped now to achieve a cease-fire before Jan. 20, when he will be sworn in for his second term, particularly with Congress returning to Washington next Wednesday and gearing up for a showdown on the war.

Initial reaction from congressional leaders to the bombing halt was favorable. House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said he was "very happy." Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he hoped the talks would now "lead to a lasting peace."

War Protests Continue

But an end-the-war march to the White House led by Dean Francis B. Sayre of the Washington Cathedral and the Rt. Rev. John Walker, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, went off as scheduled. And the National Peace Action Coalition announced it would go ahead with plans for massive demonstrations in Washington on Inauguration Day, calling Saturday's announcement a "shabby pretense of seeking peace."

Massive bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area began two days after Kissinger announced he had failed to reach an agreement with North Vietnam that Nixon considered "just and fair." He accused the North Vietnamese of reneging on past agreements and said negotiators were just "one decision away" from a settlement when talks broke down.

Last Oct. 26, Kissinger said he felt "peace is at hand" and that just one more negotiating session lasting a few days would wrap things up.

Hanoi has charged that thousands of civilians have been killed or injured in the raids and a number of American war prisoners were injured.

U.S. officials, while denying Hanoi reports of heavy American losses, have confirmed that at least 76 American airmen are missing in downed aircraft —which have included at least 15 giant B52 bombers.

Eighty Of Travelers On Plane Escape Crash

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR

MIAMI (UPI) —Eighty of the 177 holiday travelers aboard an Eastern Airlines Lockheed L-1011 escaped alive Saturday when the plane—the first "superjet" to crash—plunged into the Everglades on its landing approach.

National Transportation Safety Board Chairman John M. Reed, who flew here to head the investigation into the crash of the New York-to-Miami flight, said the fact that it was a "jumbo" wide-bodied jet contributed to the number of survivors.

"We have long felt that with the bigger aircraft there would be a higher survival rate," said Reed, a former governor of Maine. "The nature of the terrain, with water, shallow water, obviously cushioned the impact."

More than 19 hours after the plane went down 18 miles northwest of Miami International Airport, Eastern officials released a list of 97 persons "missing and tentatively presumed lost" and 80 who survived.

An official said there were 74 bodies at the county morgue, and 14 en route from the crash scene. "In addition, we believe there are two or three bodies under a large piece of wreckage which cannot be moved" until investigators give permission, a spokesman said.

More than two dozen relatives and friends were gathered at the morgue at Jackson Hospital in Miami, but none were to be allowed in to make identification until later.

"Why the hell don't they let us know if they're dead or alive, so we can get this over with," a woman screamed.

As darkness fell over the eerie swamp, searchers turned on the floodlights they used to locate survivors and continued the search for bodies. Full said bodies were "still being brought in" to Jackson Memorial hospital for identification.

There were 13 crewmen on the flight, which was piloted by Capt. Robert A. Loft of Plantation Key, Fla. A rescuer said he found a man he believed to be left in the wreckage, but that the man died before he could get him out.

Helicopters, flat-bottom air boats and ambulances worked throughout the night retrieving the injured from the murky waters of the trackless swamp.

Some, though mud-caked and bloody, were able to walk out under their own power, but others were carried out on stretchers crying and screaming incoherently.

One little boy wandered through a hospital emergency room where some of the injured were taken crying: "Is my daddy alive? Is my daddy alive?"

Some mothers, reunited with their children, wept and cuddled them. Others searched in vain for their loved ones.

Survivors aboard the flight, Eastern's No. 401 out of Kennedy International in New York, said there was no advance warning of the crash.

"Nothing seemed wrong," Michael Laurie, a 32-year-old New York private detective, said. "But just before landing when he (the pilot) made the approach, he poured on the coal and went around again.

"I saw the city lights fade away and then bang, fire and then bang, the plane broke.

"It was completely dark, cold and wet. Nothing left of the plane. Nothing left of the fuselage. We were in 10 inches to a foot of water. I crawled as far as I could, a long way, 300 yards or so. I could hear people screaming. A lot of people weren't moving."

There was one unconfirmed report that the pilot reported a warning light had come on indicating his landing gear was not down, but Reed could not confirm this.

"I am not aware that there was any conversation regarding an emergency, although obviously since we are beginning our investigation, this cannot be definite," he said.

Records Sent to Washington

Reed said the jet's flight recorder containing a record of the jet's air-to-ground contacts had been recovered and was sent to Washington for analysis. The recorder would also contain information on the plane's altitude and speed during the final minutes.

Ray Dickens, who was out gigging frogs from his airboat in the Everglades, said he first saw the plane "pass over kind of low, although it looked like a normal approach. All of a sudden there was a flash that lasted for about 10 or 15 seconds and we knew it crashed," he said.

Dickens, apparently the first person to reach the scene, said he started his boat motor and headed for the wreckage, but quickly cut off the boat engine in order to hear the cries for help.

"The wreckage was scattered over such an area that we bypassed some of the survivors. They were just scattered all over everything," he said.

Another early arrival on the scene was Coast Guardsmen Don Schneck, who reported he saw other persons who gathered at the scene taking watches and wallets from the dead.

Plane was Indistinguishable

Schneck said game wardens and other rescuers also saw the looting, but Schneck shrugged and asked: "What can you do? We were there trying to help the survivors ... I don't know how people like that get there so fast."

UPI newsmen flying over the crash site found the plane—or what was left of it—in three main pieces, the fuselage, a wing and the tail section.

Israeli Positions Shelled

By United Press International

Syrian troops shelled Israeli positions on the occupied Golan Heights with artillery fire Saturday and later Israeli warplanes struck a Syrian army camp in etaliation.

An Israeli spokesman said the air raids were in retaliation for the shelling by Syria of Israeli army positions and civilian-populated sectors on the Height.

The Israeli air raid was on a Syrian army camp situated half-way between Damascus and Homs, the spokesman said. It was the first Israeli nighttime air strike since the Middle East war of attrition ended by the current 29-month old ceasefire.

The Israeli command spokesman said all Israeli planes returned safely.

A Syrian military spokesman in Damascus said the "fierce" artillery barrage was in retaliation for an Israeli air strike Wednesday in which three persons were killed and two soldiers wounded.

The spokesman said: "In retaliation for the Israeli air aggression on Wednesday, our artillery aimed a fierce barrage at 8 p.m. against enemy positions and defensive settlements in the occupied Golan Heights, scoring direct hits on them."

In Tel Aviv an Israeli military spokesman said Syrian artillery batteries launched two series of bombardments on Israeli positions on the occupied Golan Heights, including targets near three civilian settlements. He reported no casualties.

House Democratic Caucus Wants Annual Sessions

RALEIGH (AP) — Democratic members of the North Carolina House, meeting in a closed caucus Saturday, followed the lead of their Senate counterparts and agreed to back a legislative program calling for annual sessions and several other reform measures.

The Democrats, who constitute an 85-35 House majority, agreed to develop bills for reform of the State Highway Commission, the state Wildlife Commission, auto insurance, and an ethics bill for government officials.

Only the annual sessions resolution, among the substantive issues, caused any debate. The other squabbles came over assignment of parking space and a move by Rep. Glenn Jernigan of Cumberland to permit reporters to attend the meeting.

Reporters listening outside the meeting room heard Jernigan say, "We're doing ourselves an injustice by barring the press," and move that all caucus meetings held in the legislative building be open.

He was refused by Rep. Sneed High of Cumberland, who said, "This is a private meeting, just like the board of directors of Leggett and Meyers. What we do here in no way involves the public per se."

Rep. Carl Stewart of Gaston, who sponsored the 1971 open meetings bill, agreed with High. "I don't think it follows that just because official meetings must be open, a party strategy meeting can't be private."

Rep. William Watkins, chairing the meeting as Speaker Pro Tem, said, "We can't discuss some things with the press here." The motion was defeated by an overwhelming voice vote.

The decisions of the caucus do not bind individual representatives, and there appeared to be a sizable number of dissenters on the question of annual sessions.

Speaker James Ramsey had told reporters before the meeting that it appeared that the legislature will begin this year adopting only a 13-month budget and meeting annually.

State Tax Relief Touchy Matter

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Democratic leaders of the North Carolina House see their party caught between a rock and a hard place this year on the subject of tax relief.

Rep. William Watkins of Granville, the designated Speaker Pro Tem for the 1973 session, presented a summary of the Advisory Budget Commission report to a closed Democratic caucus in Raleigh Saturday.

Reporters listening in to the meeting heard Watkins explain that the Advisory Budget Commission, in an "unprecedented" move, will include in its recommendations $190 million in tax cuts over the next biennium.

These will include, according to Rep. Dwight Quinn of Kannapolis, all of the tax cuts proposed by Gov. Bob Scott in a speech last month—a 10 per cent, one-time rebate on 1972 state income taxes and cuts in various commodity and intangibles taxes.

But Watkins told the House members to be cautious about cutting taxes—for political reasons. "Tax relief is very popular, but it would be like cutting your income for the rest of your life and living off your savings," he said.

Watkins outlined his fear that "if we're too hasty in eroding the tax base now," an embarrassing situation might occur later. "If we elect a Democratic governor in 1976, we might be faced with adding back the taxes that were deleted this year under a Republican governor."

New Year Arrives At Midnight With Fresh Opportunities

By United Press International

At midnight Sunday, 1972 leaves amid a volley of popping champagne corks and a string of broken resolutions made the year before. But a new year arrives one second later with fresh opportunities to fulfill new resolutions, and the celebrations begin in earnest.

Hawaiians, aside from celebrating traditionally, blast the old year away with their legalized fireworks. Montanans follow a tradition begun by the early miners for reasons that remain obscure. They eat oysters—in stew and on half shell.

New Yorkers will gather in Times Square—despite the addicts, muggers and prostitutes there—to watch the big ball slowly descend a flagpole atop the Allied Chemical Building.

It hits the base exactly a midnight and the crowd roars. A new Times Square twist will be a filmed greeting from President Nixon, appearing on the Bulova screen at Broadway and 46th.

On the other side of America, 13,770 feet atop the peak of Wyoming's Grand Teton, mountaineer Paul Petzoldt and his party of 20 hope to welcome the New Year from inside a snow cave.

While those hardy mountaineers gnaw beef jerky, guests on the Queen Mary docked permanently in Long Beach, Calif., will munch on chateaubriand and sip champagne cocktails. The package deal costing $22.50 a plate is expected to fill three floating dining rooms with 1,200 celebrants.

Brown Bagging in Georgia

The three-day long holiday weekend has both advantages and disadvantages.

For Georgians it means a night of "brown bagging." Celebrants there must conceal their alcoholic beverages in paper bags due to state blue laws prohibiting Sunday drinking. A similar law in Idaho will likely see celebrants driving into surrounding states for their drinking. Officials are thus concerned with highway safety.

Traffic accidents, always a big problem New Year's Eve, might be especially numerous this holiday with precipitation and freezing temperatures predicted for much of the nation.

The Largo Club on Hollywood's Sunset Strip is offering the "largest totally nude show in the country." But drinking Bostonians wishing to see some female flesh must do so before midnight. A new law takes effect then banning strippers anywhere liquor is served.

From France comes advice on how to pop your champange cork—don't pop it, say the winegrowers.

PROMOTION ANNOUNCED

Brenda Lewis, personnel manager for Central Soya, announced the promotion of Marshall Malone to office manager of their office in Robersonville. In his new capacity, Malone will report to and assist Harry McDonald, plant auditor.

Prior to his appointment, Malone served as accountant. A graduate of East Carolina University with a B.S. degree in business administration, he has been associated with Central Soya over two years.

GENERAL MANAGER

PAUL REDGATE

Plaza Associates Inc. of Chapel Hill announced the appointment of Paul Redgate of Greenville as general manager of Winwood Mall, a new 410,000 square foot climate controlled enclosed shopping center in Odessa, Tex.

Redgate has been managing Gaston Mall in Gastonia and previously was associated with Belk-Tyler Department Stores in Greenville and Eastern North Carolina as operations and personnel manager.

Married to the former Bunny Annett of Greenville, he attended N.C. State University with advanced studies at East Carolina University following his retirement from the Army.

NEW MANAGER

The John Yancey Corp. announced that Eugene C. Rader has recently taken over management of the Olde London Inn, 2710 S. Memorial Drive here.

W.F. Steelman was promoted and trasferred to Atlantic Beach where he will serve as manager of the John Yancey Motel and Olde London Inn there.

MEETING SCHEDULED

A meeting of the Greenville-Washington Homebuilder's Association will be held Tuesday, 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Washington.

Guest speaker for the meeting will be Marshall Smith of Charlotte, a mortagage land planner for North Carolina National Bank, who will talk on the subject of land and single lot development.

All members and their associates are invited for the dinner meeting, it was announced.

CHECKS PRESENTED

Checks totaling $1,246,647 were presented by H.A. Keever Jr. and J.R. Haden, North Carolina district managers for Virginia Electric and Power Co., to county, city and town tax collectors in the 22 counties that Vepco serves in the state.

Pitt County's check amounted to $27,316 while Greenville's share was $1,648. Washington received $1,345.

Other area counties and towns receiving checks were: Martin, $68,341; Beaufort, $7,979; Williamston, $15,794; and Bethel, $1,265.

SALES, INCOME, EARNINGS UP

Thedore J. Broecker, president of Stewart Sandwiches Inc., announced that sales, income and earnings were up about one-third during the 1972 fiscal year.

Net sales exceeded $13 million, he said, while net income moved up to more than $600,000. An average outstanding share of common stock prior to the recent stock dividend earned 32 per cent more than it did in 1971, the president reported.

The company, Broecker noted, has now reached a plateau of 22 sales centers whose franchised areas include 15 states, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

W.R. Long, president of Long Manufacturing Co. of Tarboro, announced the appointment of Gerald L. Joseph as sales manager; Jay C. Rose, director of marketing; James Weber, agricultural tractor sales representative; and Foster Mann Jr., industrial sales representative.

Joseph was formerly sales manager of Behlen Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Neb. and Rose was executive secretary of the National Equipment Distributors Association of Richmond, Va. Weber and Mann are residents of North Carolina and have been associated with the agricultural and industrial markets for several years, Long reported.

The company manufacturers and distributes agricultural and industrial equipment nationally.

GREATER VOLUME

Family Dollar Stores achieved a greater volume of sales and net income than every before in the company's history during the 1972 fiscal year, according to Leon Levine, president.

Sales were $37,315,318 up from $27,453,198 in the 1971 fiscal year, an increase of $9,681,940 or 35 per cent. Net earnings rose approximately 35 per cent to $2,238,415 or 56 cents per common share compared with $1,661,810 or 42 cents per share for the fiscal year 1971, he reported.

SENIOR RESEARCH ENGINEER

W.E. LEWIS

W. Earnest Lewis, a Greenville native, has been named to the position of Senior research engineer in the Esso Research Laboratories at Baton Rouge, La.

A graduate of Ohio State University, he received the Ph.D. degree in chemical engineering from that institution in 1968 and joined the Esso Laboratories in Baton Rouge. He is engaged in exploratory petroleum process research.

License Plates To Go On Sale

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The 1973 red and white license plates will go on sale in Greenville and Farmville New Year's Day.

They are available at Home and Auto Supply at 718 Dickinson Avenue in Greenville and at White's Auto Store at 109 N. Main Street in Farmville. Mrs. Anna Garris is the Greenville agent and Mrs. Darius White is the Farmville agent.

Office hours in Greenvilleare from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays, Mrs. Garris said. Farmville hours are from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. every day of the week, Mrs. White said.

Both agents reminded each applicant to be sure the back of each application card has the auto liability insurance policy number and name of the insurance company, not the name of his insurance agent. Each must be signed by the owner.

Prices of different types of license plates are as follows, with each price including a $1 driver education fee: cars—$14; truck (minimum weight)—$16; farm truck—$13.50; trailer hauling or house—$6; and farm trailer—$13.50.

A license plate has to be bought for a mobile home only if it is to be placed on a North Carolina highway. It can be purchased at any time during the year.

The Department of Motor Vehicles has made arrangements with the Post Office to turn over to the local license offices renewal cards which it is unable to deliver. Anyone failing to receive an application card should check to see if it is at the local license office. "It will take from 10 days to two weeks to get an application card from Raleigh," Mrs. Garris said, "so I suggest that those who have not received an application check with mine or Mrs. White's office as early as possible so there will be time to get one before the Feb. 15 deadline."

Mrs. Garris will pick up undeliverable cards from Ayden, Winterville, and Bethel, as well as Greenville and Mrs. White will recieve cards the Farmville Post Office cannot deliver.

For information about license renewal, one may call Mrs. Garris at the Home and Auto Supply license agent number, 758-1193, or Mrs. White at 753-3170.

At Inauguration

Pat Holshouser To Be Youngest First Lady

By ED ROWLAND
Associated Press Writer

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — Pat Holshouser, who will become the youngest First Lady in North Carolina history when her husband is inaugurated governor Friday, already has moved to Raleigh, a city she has lived in before.

The 33-year-old Mrs. Holshouser has accompanied her husband to the capital for all but one of the legislative sessions he attended since their marriage 11 years ago. "I know where all the shopping centers are," she said one sunny but cool afternoon last week as she and daughter Ginny, 9, prepared to leave Boone for good.

"I suppose we'll be moving into the mansion Jan. 5," she said. In the meantime the Holshousers will continue living in an apartment they rented in Raleigh shortly after the election. On Nov. 5 North Carolinians chose her 39-year-old husband, Jim, as the state's first Republican chief executive this century.

Mrs. Holshoiser told of the family plans during the first interview she has granted since November. She was in a Winston-Salem Hospital in early December for what she called "major, corrective surgery," and her doctor felt she was not able to travel back and forth to Raleigh. Also, she and the governor-elect wanted to get Ginny settled in school.

The fourth grader is attending Frances Lacy Elementary on Raleigh's west side but will transfer to a school nearer the mansion next fall.

Mrs. Holshouser said she plans to take in all the inaugural events in Raleigh but she will "take the month of January easy," regaining her strength and "a little bit of weight."

"I've tried to keep my health problems to myself," she said, declining to give details on her operation. She added, "I don't care to complain about my problems to the world."

For the next four years the Holshousers will return to Boone only as visitors, and the auburn-haired daughter of a Baptist minister said they will miss their friends in the mountain community. "We don't know about the house," she said, sitting in the living room before a picture window that overlooked a hill spotted with snow. "We had to leave it unattended for most of the campaign, and in this climate that isn't good.

"We may sell, or rent. We don't much want to give it up," she said, adding they have been too busy campaigning to make the decision.

As she finished a light lunch and answered questions, Ginny listened and occasionally presented her viewpoint. Yes, she has been to the mansion, spending an entire Saturday there with Jan Scott, the 9-year-old daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Bob Scott.

"We've all been there—at different times," Mrs. Holshouser said. "I asked Mrs. Scott if Ginny could come over, and Jan showed her all the nooks and crannies from a child's point of view."

She has visited Mrs. Scott there twice and said the mansion "is in better condition than I had understood." Gov. Scott has said the Victorian structure needs extensive renovation if it is to continue to be the official governor's residence.

Mrs. Holshouser said she read the report of the 1971 legislature's study of the mansion and found that "depressing. I'm hoping some solution will be reached that will be satisfactory to all North Carolinians" by the '73 General Assembly.

The installation of a fire alarm system and tightened security "I suppose means danger is somewhat lessened," she said. Mrs. Holshouser added on a personal note, "I'd like to see it preserved," but pointed out, "I don't feel qualified now to say" what should be done.

Just as other governor's wives, Mrs. Holshouser will have a staff to assist her in carrying out the many unofficial duties of the First Lady. Mrs. Ruth Atkinson of Boone, who traveled with her during the campaign, has moved to Raleigh to help. And Mrs. Betty Barber of Goldston, her campaign scheduling director, will be the appointments secretary.

Several speaking invitations already have been issued but Mrs. Holshouser is turning them down for the present. But she expects to be out in the future, particularly after the legislature ends.

In the next few months she said she plans "to be busy having legislators over as our guests." Afterward she hopes to "revisit counties I campaigned in," about 80 of the 100 in the state.

Many of the legislators and their wives she already knows. "I'm looking forward to renewing these friendships," she said.

A new acquaintance she anticipates making is that of Mrs. Jim Hunt, whose husband is the lieutenant governor-elect. Mrs. Holshouser said she has met Mrs. Hunt but does not know her well, since her husband has not been in the General Assembly.

Being the governor's wife instead of a legislator's wife won't be a difficult transition, Mrs. Holshouser thinks. "I may be very naive at this point," she said, adding that she doesn't expect as much adjustment will be necessary for her as for her husband and daughter.

She also enjoys making clothes—she will take her sewing maching to the mansion—and experimenting with food. "I don't consider myself a gourmet cook," she said. "I haven't had much time lately. But I do a lot of experimenting," the home economics graduate of Appalachian State University said.

Her kitchen style is based somewhat on her grandmother's philosophy of "a handful of this and a pinch of that."

Asked what her husband's favorite dish is, she said its seafood and "I don't make that—we all love seafood, and you don't get much of that in the mountains.

On a personal note Mrs. Holshouser—frequently described as "tall"—said she is "just over 5-8 without high heels. She was born in Asheville but grew up in Mebane, where her father had a church. He then moved the family to Boone, where she went to high school.

She married Holshouser while he was in law school at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and she was in a combination nursing-academic program at Wake Forest University and North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

The newlyweds settled in Boone, Holshouser's hometown, and Mrs. Holshouser transferred to Appalachian. During her last quarter she was practice-teaching as her husband campaigned for the legislature, but since then she has helped him politick.

However, she said, "I don't try to answer political questions for Jim. I feel he can do that on his own."

Sources Say Tax Cut Proposed To Holshouser

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Gov.-elect Jim Holshouser has received a proposal that each North Carolina taxpayer be given a 10 per cent refund on his 1972 state income tax, the Charlotte Observer said in Saturday's editions.

Quoting "very reliable sources," the newspaper said the request was made by the Advisory Budget Commission.

In addition, the commission's plans for fiscal 1973 and '74 were said to include $146 million in tax cuts, including repeal of the levies on tobacco, soft drinks and privilege licenses; a partial income tax credit on the intangibles tax paid by indivduals; and allowing manufacturers to deduct part of the property tax they pay locally on their state income taxes.

A source said the 10 per cent tax relief would be made in the form of a refund on state income tax paid in 1972, retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year.

The budget commission's proposal recommends that the soft drink and tobacco taxes be repealed effective with ratification of such action by the legislature, the source said.

The Advisory Budget Commission holds hearings and works with the governor every two years in preparing a proposal for enactment by the General Assembly. It has not released the document for the coming session.

The Observer said the tax cuts were included because the state has a surplus of $250 million and $135 million in new money from federal revenue-sharing will be available. It quoted one member of the commission as saying the "big thing in the state legislature will be money. Not the lack of it. Too much. And how to spend it."

Gov. Bob Scott had said in November that Holshouser could cut taxes. Scott specifically proposed reducing intangibles and inventory tax credits, repealing taxes on "commodities" and refunding a portion of the income tax.

The commission member was quoted in the newspaper as saying the 10 per cent income tax refund would cost the state $44 million.

Alaska Calls New Election

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A special election has been called for March 6 to fill the seat of Rep. Nick Begich, Alaska's only member of the U.S. House who is presumed dead in a plane crash.

With Begich when a small, twin-engine plane disappeared on a campaign flight from Anchorage to Juneau Oct. 16 was House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana, Begich aide Russell Brown of Anchorage and the pilot, Don Jonz of Fairbanks.

Judge Tyner also signed presumptive-death certificates for Brown and Jonz. But Boggs, at the request of his family, was not included in the presumptive-death hearings held earlier this month. He has not been declared officially dead.

In a related development in Fairbanks, Superior Court Judge Everett Hepp dismissed a suit brought by the Republican State Central Committee to test the legality of its nomination of state Sen. Don Young to run for Begich's position. Young lost to Begich in the last election.

Judge Hepp cited a lack of jurisdiction in the case.

Pitt Tech Plans More Courses

Six courses have been scheduled to begin Wednesday at Pitt Technical Institute.

The courses include: office machines; corcheting; basic guitar; creative crafts; karate; and knitting.

The knitting class will meet at 7 p.m. in room 111. The class will meet on Wednesday nights from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and each student must furnish their own supplies.

The karate course will begin at 7 p.m. in room 124.

The course in creative crafts, meeting at 7 p.m., will consist of decoupage, copper tooling, illuminate etching, and film flower.

There are openings in the basic guitar class which is meeting at Pitt Tech on Wednesday night from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in room 24.

The course will help a student gain a bsic understanding of skill in playing a guitar.

The crocheting class will meet at 7 p.m. in room 204. The class will meet each Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Course content will consist of teaching the student the basic stitches and most popular stitches in crochet, the type thread suitable for articles made, directions for finishing items, laundering and blocking. The various abbreviations in crochet are also taught.

The course in office machines will begin at 7 p.m The class will meet on Monday and Wednesday night from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and will run for about five and one-half weeks.

Course content will include a study of the 10-key adding machine, full keyboard adding macine and calculator.

Courses Start At Pitt Tech

Three courses will begin Tuesday night at Pitt Technical Institute. They are: basic camera course; speed reading; and macrame.

The basic camera course will begin at 7 p.m. in room 24. The proper use of a camera will be taught.

The speed reading course will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and will meet each Tuesday and Thursday.

The macrame course, beginning at 7 p.m. in room 209, will consist of tying threads, cords and rope into fashion accessories for the wardrobe or decorator items.

The class will meet each Tuesday night from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

For further information, interested persons may visit or telephone Pitt Tech.

NCNB Makes Quake Loan

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A $1 million loan from a North Carolina bank has been offered and accepted by the Nicaraguan government to aid rebuilding efforts following the Dec. 23rd earthquake.

North Carolina National Bank president Thomas Storrs said Friday that an NCNB officer flew to the Nicaraguan capital of Managua this week to offer the loan and discuss areas of need. Storrs said the officer met with Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the Nicaraguan leader.

Storrs said the loan was in the form of a line of credit, which means that the Nicaraguan government may call on the bank for any or all of the money as it is needed.

He added that terms and rates of the loan haven't yet been determined.

Learning Center Opens Jan. 8

The Learning Center at Pitt Technical Institute will reopen Monday, Jan. 8, rather than on Jan. 2, as previously announced.

Closed since Dec. 1, the center has been undergoing certain renovations.

NO LONG LINES

1972 Not A Bad Year Locally

Today we will be living our last day of 1972. At midnight tonight the record will have been written on this year and we will turn to a new page, a clean one under the heading of 1973.

Locally it has not been a bad year. We have made economic progress in Pitt and surrounding counties. In Greenville new roads have been completed and progress has been made on the Central Business District project and other improvement areas.

The sale of tobacco on our markets during the 1972 selling season was only slightly short of astounding. The prices paid by the buying companies were the highest ever and, even though the farmers were saddled with higher costs, there was much reason to smile as the selling season progressed.

The question now is whether this was a one season phenomenon, or whether in the face of a quota increase, farmers can expect to see similar prices next year.

Local industries, which are becoming more of an economic force in our area, hummed along during 1972. Dupont announced a major expansion and the impressive new plant of A.C. Monk was completed in Farmville, as was National Boat Works in Greenville.

It was quite a year politically and Pitt County went for a Republican president for the first time in memory. Republican winners for U.S. Senate Jessie Helms and for governor Jim Holshouser also ran well in this area. After that, the Democratic voting tradition was pretty well followed.

East Carolina University show good growth for the fall quarter in enrollment. While it was not as huge as in years past, the growth was impressive in face of the declining numbers of college aged citizens. The big event at ECU, however, was the opening of the new one-year Medical School. Twenty students began their studies at the university under an outstanding staff. At the end of the first year they will transfer to the UNC Medical School. The one year program is just a beginning, however, and as 1972 ended the university was awaiting word on plans for expansion to a two-year program. This will be decided by the board of governonrs.

At year's end we must say our greatest failure was in the field of race relations. Our record has not been good during 1972 and somehow we must improve on it in 1973. It will require clear thinking on the part of cooler heads among both races if the mutual trust we once enjoyed is to be restored. And that trust must be restored if we are to keep the irresponsible rabble rousers from gaining control.

Our number one priority during 1973 should be to find the leadership which can bring our citizens together. We do not need any more racial flare-ups to tell us we are failing to communicate. The time to go to work on this problem is now and it is going to take the best thinking our community has to offer.

Southeast Will Provide Timber

By REGGIE LESTER
The Durham Sun, Staff Writer

DURHAM — Forests in the southeastern region of the United States will provide almost all the timber needs for the nation in the future.

That promises use for a natural resource, and a rewarding vocational choice for people, according to a Southern High School teacher. His goal is to give students practical skills for the forestry industry.

"We try to give our students on-the-job experience in forestry problems they will encounter in this part of the state." explained Dr. Thomas Wilkinson. He began the forestry program at Southern High School three years ago after receiving his Ph. D. degree in forestry at Duke University.

A Durham native, Wilkinson noted there are numerous job opportunities for "forestry technicians" with paper and pulpwood companies and the forestry service.

"We're not supplying woods labor, but rather forestry aides—a supervisor who organizes a work crew, keeps it working and carries out the plan for a particular woodland area," said Wilkinson. He has worked with the U. S. Forestry Service and taught in public schools since completing undergraduate and master's degrees at Duke.

Graduated Find Jobs

The forestry teacher said several Southern graduates now are working for paper and pulpwood companies after completing high school courses.

"We try to serve a dual purpose: to provide occupational educational education for students who do not intend to go on to an institution of higher learning and to give college preparatory work for those students who wish to continue their education," he said. He noted "an excellent demand for forestry technicians" but lesser opportunities for the college graduate in forestry.

"Now is the time for students to discover if they are interested in the field or not," the instructor said. The forestry classes work outdoors in the woodlands most of the time, including bad weather such as rain and cold.

"Foresters work in all kinds of weather," he said. That is one thing students need to realize before they begin the course, he said.

Countering Drop-Out Rate

Wilkinson cited a need for more occupational education courses in the state's public schools as a means of reducing the drop-out rate.

"The only reason some of our students are here is that they have been kicked out of academic classes," he said. "We get some pretty rough characters in occupational education courses who need to succeed in something to keep them in school."

Several potential dropouts have been "turned on" to the forestry program and have become outstanding students, Wilkinson said. "We don't have any trouble with them" in the vocational courses, he added.

"When a student starts to fail, he gets disgusted and drops out," he said. "We need greater diversity in the courses we offer to keep these kids in school."

Southern currently offers drafting and architecture, machinery and equipment, construction cooperative education, petroleum marketing, horticulture and agriculture courses, in addition to the forestry program.

Skills For Sale

"I think it's a rotten shame to send these kids out of high school with a diploma and they are not trained to do a thing, should they want to," he said. The great majority of courses offered in the State's secondary schools are designed to prepare students for college work, he noted.

"When you consider the number of dropouts, who might stay in school if courses were offered to them that they would be interested in, and the students who do not go on to college, about 80 per cent of the state's pupils are not being served," he said. He cited "a failure in guidance departments" to steer potential technical students into vocational programs.

"Before students enroll in our forestry program, we prefer that they come in for an interview so that they will know what is expected of them," he said.

Southern High offers three forestry courses. The school owns 40 acres of land adjoining the campus in which students perform field projects. The forestry students are currently building a greenhouse for experimental projects.

The social stigma of the lack of a college degree is fading, Wilkinson said. "And the two big things driving out the stigma are the availability of jobs and salaries offered," he said. Technicians often earn as much, if not more, as college graduates, he pointed out.

Hanoi May Be Least Worry

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nguyen Van Thieu's screams of anguish about Hanoi's front-line troops staying in South Vietnam after a ceasefire, his far more dangerous peace problem is not foreign troops but whether he can control the sudden opening up of the political system.

Thieu is being strongly advised to stop worrying about Hanoi's military strength in South Vietnam (centered in the north). U. S. experts here and in Saigon are convinced that, once a settlement is reached, the pledge of basic political freedoms to anti-Thieu neutralists and Communist elements loyal to Hanoi will confront Thieu and his own savvy as a politician with his most serious challenge.

As of today this may seem a moot question for Thieu, with North Vietnam again under fierce American bombing and any settlement apparently far in the future.

Nevertheless, Thieu is being privately but strongly advised to prepare far in advance for a post-settlement political career which for the first time will pit him publicly and openly against hard-nosed opponents. The advice boils down to these essentials:

1. Thieu, now occupying the far right in Vietnamese politics, must move sharply toward the center.

2. To show his willingness to shift some of his power from the inner clique of generals and province chiefs who now surround him to a more broadly based constituency, Thieu should be prepared to fire his more notoriously corrupt political allies.

3. Even if the final peace agreement fails to carry a proviso compelling him to release some 40,000 or so political prisoners (including many Communist agents), Thieu must open the prison gates to thousands of them. To refuse, highly placed American experts believe, would be to hand the Communists a glittering issue that could undermine his popularity and destroy him.

That popularity today is at its highest point. Even by conservative estimates, a genuinely free election in South Vietnam would overwhelmingly reelect Thieu.

But the foundation of his popularity has been his role as champion of South Vietnamese nationalism, effectively battling both Communists in Hanoi and Americans in Washington.

Once a settlement is reached, that foundation could crumble. Thieu will become an incumbent president with no hot war to use as a rallying point either for his army or his people, beset with huge economic problems and for the first time stripped of active help from Washington. Instead of umbrella protection against every adversity, Washington will supply only economic aid, a few technicians and limited military aid.

Strength For Today

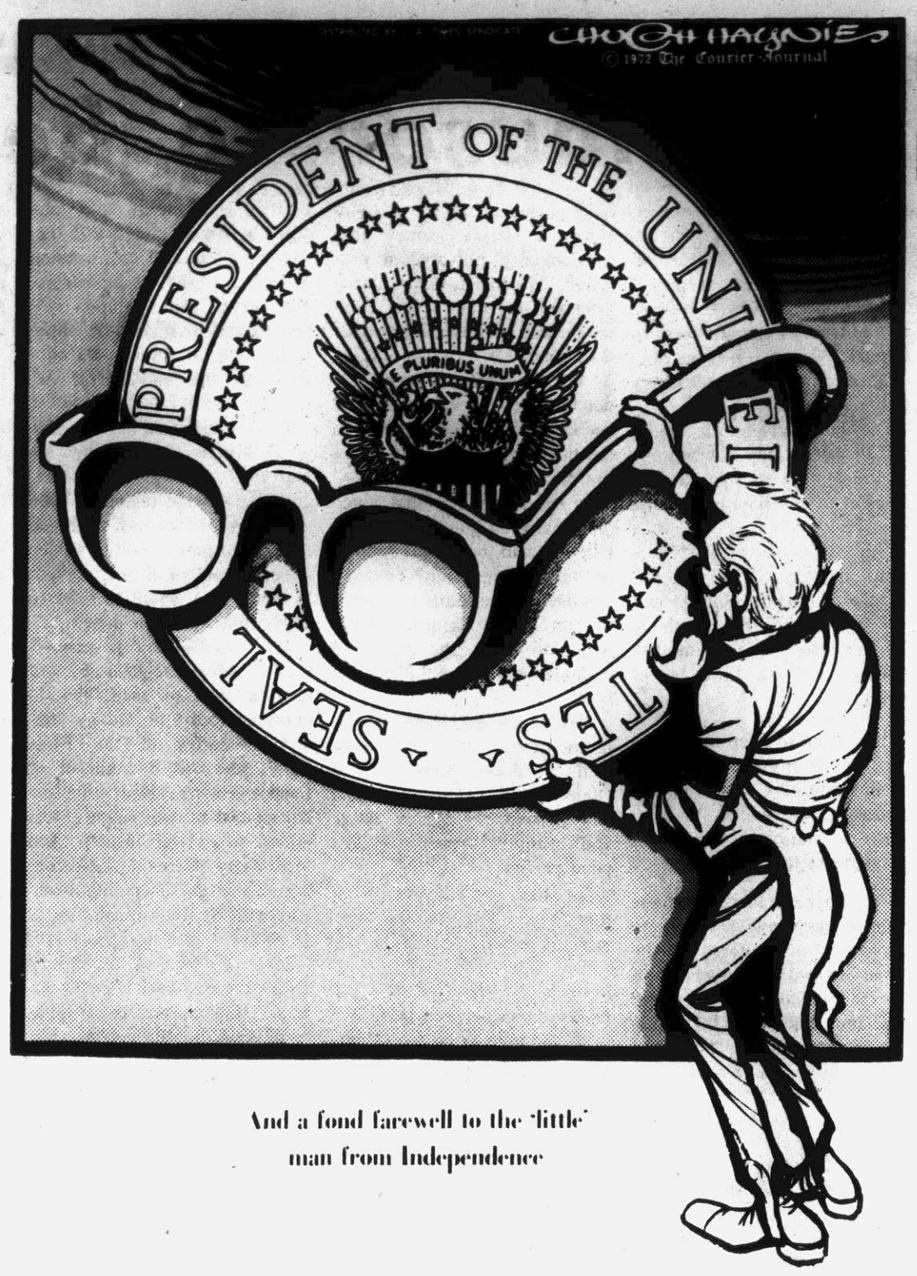

INVENTORY

Today is the last day of the year. Has it been a good year or a bad one? It has largely been what we have made it. Misfortunes such as the death of loved ones came down upon us and there is nothing we can do about them. But most of our aches and pains, our financial disasters, our disappointments are the result of our own folly. But this last day of the year is a time to take stock, as it were, and see just where we stand and why we are in the position we are. We don't like to be blamed for things, but honestly doesn't a candid view of our lives during the past year (and years) reveal the fact that most of our troubles have been of our own making? Life is a challenge whether we want it that way of not. We are here in the world to grow souls. But is we sow to the flesh then of the flesh we reap corruption. If the person we think about first, last and always is ourself, then we don't need to blame others for our troubles.

Stores take inventories now and again. It would be a good thing for us to take inventory of ourselves and our national life, and the result of our findings might not be pleasnt. Some of our findings should be pleasant.

But no need to become downcast. If our lives need improvement we know only too well on whom that improvement depends.

"I hear you all are so poor down there all you're going to exchange for Christmas is glances."

Well, the best things in life are free.

The Daily Reflector's press room crew has taken on an appearance faintly resembling moon men.

For safety reasons the press room crew is required to wear ear muffs because of the big press' steady roar. The ear muff are similar to stereo ear phones and some people around the building have been accusing the pressmen of listening to music when they should be working.

It's worth a try.

If it hadn't been for Mr. Whichard's being born that night a main street fire might have been even larger.

The late Dr. W.H. Bugwell was called to the Whichard home that night. The physician lived on Fifth Street and he walked to the Whichard home on Evans.

As the doctor passed through Five Points, however, he spotted the fire underway in a downtown store. He ran to the nearby fire bell, rang it to alert volunteer firemen and then continued on to the Whichard home, where he delivered a baby boy.

To the Editor:

In view of the elaborate attention given to the brief delay of a journey to add to our moon rock collection a few days ago, we felt it only fair to devote 300 words or less to another expedition whose delay or postponement would have had more momentous consequenced.

Timmie Brown encountered some mechanical difficulties prior to making his newspaper deliveries the other afternoon and the event was carried by the major television networks.

We taped the following conversation between Falter Bronchite and Jack A. Knowtall. Falter Bronchite is chief correspondent and anchor man for the WASTE television network. Jack A. Knowtall is assistant chief of bicycle propulsion at General Bicycle and has for the past year and a half served as a special propulsion consultant here at Delivery Control.

Bronchite: Jack, we know that you can't give any information which might be secret or classified, but can you tell us, in just general terms, what may be the cause of this delay of count down and possible postponement of the historic expedition.

Knowtall: Well Falter, to put it as simple as possible, what we've run into is what we sometimes refer to as a rear sprocket activator disfunction.

Knowtall: To put it more simply Falter, you could say that any inturruption has somehow been introduced into the energy tranfer conveyer.

Bronchite: You mean the bicycle chain is broken?

Knowtall: Yes.

Barrier Bothers Gov'nor

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Gov.-elect Jim Holshouser is finding it a little difficult to get adjusted to the invisible barrier surrounding the governor.

"I don't believe I'll ever get used to the trappings of power that go with being governor," he admited in a recent interview.

Most of this private life the next four years ended with his election Nov. 7.

The boyish-looking Holshouser, 38, has been used to driving his car. Now a state trooper does it for him. A State Bureau of Investigation agent is assigned to him as a bodyguard.

He is used to carrying his suitcase and putting it in the trunk of the car. Now someone does it for him.

He has found that people are doing little personal things for him that he once considered a routine part of life.

Gene Anderson, Holshouser's state campaign manager, said, "He no longer can go into a restaurant with his wife and have a quiet meal. Everybody knows who he is and would want to greet him or shake his hand."

What kind of man is Holshouser?

From now until his term ends in January, 1977, Holshouwer's every move and expression will be watched. Everything he says will be weighed carefully by critics since he is the first Republican elected governor of North Carolina this century.

Gov. Bob Scott, whose term ends Jan. 5, said recently he is glad to be getting out from under the constant glare of the public spotlight. He added, "It will be refreshing to carry my own suit to the cleaners for a change, and to stand in line for a haircut."

One of the few times Holshouser has had a chance to completely relax was during his Florida vacation after winning the election. While at Fort Lauderdale he and his wife went to a night spot to have dinner. Holshouser was dressed in old sneakers, shorts and sports shirt. He felt like chuckling after the muster of ceremonies introduced the governor of Kentucky. Holshouser's present was not even noticed.

Holshouser, a native of Boone, began giving serious thought in 1969 to running for governor, Anderson said. During that legislative session Holshouser strongly opposed the tobacco and soft drink taxes that were enacted.

"This brought him statewide exposure on television and the people began to know him," Anderson explained.

During the 1971 session Holshouser made up his mind to support reorganization of the state's higher education but felt that it might be political suicide, Anderson recalled. As it turned out it

Nixon Heads Most Admired List

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J. Dec. 27 — For the fourth consecutive year, President Richard Nixon heads the list of men the American people admire most in the world today.

President Nixon — landslide victor in the Nov. 7 presidential election and the only Republican in this century besides Eisenhower to win reelection — holds a wider margin over the field this year than he did in the 1971, 1970 and 1969 surveys.

Only five times since these annual Gallup "Most Admired Man" audits were started in 1946 has the Chief Executive failed to win the top spot.

Billy Graham is No 2 Place

For the fourth consecutive year, the Rev. Billy Graham is in second place behind Nixon. Graham has been a regular among the top ten since he became nationally prominent in the 1950s.

Third on the list this year is former President Harry S. Truman, who died Tuesday.

Mr. Truman's high score this year may be due in part to a sympathy vote, since the interviewing for the survey was conducted following Truman's recent hospitalization, prior to his death.

Mr. Truman has figured promently in the Gallup Poll's annual "Most Admired Man" poll since its inception in 1946. Mr. Truman has placed among the top ten in 22 out of a total of 27 surveys. In the ten-year period between 1946 and 1955, Mr. Truman was consistently among the top five, and he headed the list in 1948 and 1949.

Number four this year, and a newcomer to the list, is the President's peripatetic adviser, Dr. Henry Kissinger. The United States representative at the Paris peace talks, Dr. Kissinger is probably one of the most photographed men in public life.

Sen. Edward Kennedy is fifth on the list this year. Since 1960, when John Kennedy won election as President, a Kennedy has figured prominently in every one of these annual surveys of men most admired by the American people.

The next five positions among the top ten are filled by George Wallace (6), Spiro Agnew (7) Pope Paul VI (8) and two more newcomers to the list, George McGovern (9) and Willy Brandt (10).

For this year's audit, a total of 1,008 persons 18 and older were interviewed in a survey conducted Dec. 8-11 in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation. These two questions were asked to determine first and second choices:

"What man that you have heard or read about, living today in any part of the world, do you admire the most? Who is your second choice?"

Following are the top ten in the voting, with first and second choices combined:

Most Admired Man 1972: (1) Richard Nixon; (2) Billy Graham; (3) Harry Truman; (4) Henry Kissinger; (5) Edward Kennedy; (6) George Wallace; (7) Spiro Agnew; (8) Pope Paul VI; (9) George McGovern; (10) Willy Brandt.

Here is last year's top ten for comparison;

Most Admired Man 1971: (1) Richard Nixon; (2) Billy Graham; (3) Edward Kennedy; (4) Lyndon Johnson; (5) Hubert Humphrey; (6) Spiro Agnew; (7) Ralph Nader; (8) Pope Paul VI; (9) Bob Hope; (10) George Wallace.

Observations From Editorial Columns

Like It Is

There is a professed fondness nowadays for "telling it like it is." Sen. Harry Byrd Jr. of Virginia has done just that in summing up for the record of federal government spending over a 20-year period.

According to a table he prepared, the receipts of the federal government in 1954 were $62.8 billion, outlays were $65.9 billion. That left a deficit of $3.1 billion. Interest on the federal debt in that year was $6.4 billion.

Sen. Byrd traced the trend of rising spending and deficits and the soaring interest charge on the public debt down through the estimate for 1973.

He reveals that fiscal 1973 is expected to show government receipts of $152.6 billion. Spending is foreseen as reaching $190.4 billion leaving a deficit of $37.8 billion. Interest charges on the public debt are estimated to total $22.7 billion.

We need public officials who, even in an election year, draw the line at approving ever bigger government spending programs that hit us all with more taxes or more inflation, or both. — Rocky Mount (N.C.) Evening Telegram

Issues Remain

Two prominent contempt of court cases involving a New Jersey newsman and a Harvard professor have ended because the grand juries which indicated them have been terminated.

Editor & Publisher advises all newsmen: "That does not eliminate the issues, however, and newsmen should not relax.

"Reporter William F. Farr of Los Angeles has been put back in jail by a judge, not a grand jury, who insists on using the newsman as a tool to enforce his own gag order against attorneys and witnesses," Editor & Publisher editorialized. — Beaumont (Tex.) Enterprise

Issue Baring

Some people will do just about anything to broaden their education. Take the Charlotte Jaycees, for example.

The Jaycees have undertaken to acquaint their members with the source of the controversy surrounding topless entertainers in that city. A city councilman spoke on the issue at a recent meeting of the group.

That was followed up with a meeting this week featuring Sugar, Charlotte, Tiffany, Smiley and Gail. Sugar and Company, in flimsy nightgowns and bikini bottoms, danced topless while Jaycees in conventional street dress chewed their roast beef and ogled to the beat of "Wooly Bully" and "Green River."

Having made a close study of the topless controversy, the Jaycees say they will be issuing a "Position paper" shortly. Now there's a group that knows how to take up the challenge of education. — Florence (S.C.) Morning News

Facts And Opinion

A panel discussion at Roanoke College recently brought forth the opinion that "Newsmen, even today, are getting too hung up on this myth of objectivity. I think too much emphasis is put on facts."

Some of the youngsters, fresh out of journalism school and anxious to save the world day before yesterday, are a little overimpressed by the obvious: Complete objectivity is impossible. But a little experience soon produces respect for a sometimes stubborn item: a fact

This newspaper will continue to separate the editorial page from the rest of the paper and plainly mark as "interpretive" or "analysis" those articles in the news column which seek to explain. Samuel Johnson put the case will a long time ago, saying: "When speculation has done its worst, two and two still make four." — Roanoke (Va.) Times

Defenders Of Equality

This week's top prize for inconsistent self-righteousness goes to the United Auto Workers.

On one page of the Union's December Newspaper is the headline: "UAW Charges Sex Bias By Three Auto Companies." On another page is a list of the 27 top leaders of UAW. Only one is a woman. — Tulsa (Okla.) World.

The California Milk Advisory Boark had to change a multi-million dollar advertising campaign built around the slogan, "Everybody needs milk."

The Federal Trade Commission challenged the statement based on complaints of a few doctors who pointed out that some people are allergic to cow's milk.

Perhaps those folks in California should use the same slogan that appears on bumper stickers being distributed by dairymen here in North Carolina: "Only Love Beats Milk."

This statement is possibly the ultimate in name-dropping, but as far as we know, it's unchallengeable even on medical grounds. — Asheville (N.C.) Citizen-Times

High Court: Sinking In Seas Of Litigation

By J. J. KILPATRICK

A distinguished committee of lawyers, working under auspices of the Federal Judicial Center, has recommended that a National Court of Appeals be created in an effort to relieve some of the burden now carried by the Supreme Court. A bill to this effect will be offered in Congress. The question is, should the bill pass?

The proposal is of keenest interest, of course, to the bar and to the high court itself, but the matter has a larger importance. Somewhere in the country, at this very moment, a citizen who believes he has been treated badly by the law is voicing the immemorial cry of every defeated litigant: "I'll take it to the Supreme Court!" If the new court comes into being, the aggrieved citizen would give voice to a different vow: "I'll take it to the National Court of Appeals!" Somehow it lacks the same ring.

Yet the study committee, headed by Professor Paul Freund of Harvard, makes a persuasive case. Reading the report, I was reminded of a book some years ago that sought to prove two propositions — first, that Willaim Shakespeare did not write the famous plays, and second, that Sir Edward Dyer did. Part one convinced me; part two did not.

So it is here. The Freund committee makes an excellent case in its part one. Some observers (Justice William O. Douglas excepted) are likely to agree that the Supreme Court is "Now at the saturation point, if not actually overwhelmed." The case load has soared from 1,234 petitions in 1951 to 3,643 in 1971. In theory, each of the nine Justices must make a personal decision on each of the 3,600 cases, and this is only a small part of the burden a Justice carries. He must hear arguments, do research, write opinions, confer with his colleagues, handle his mail, and now and then, sit in silence and think. His day has not-enough hours.

Several causes have contributed to the rising flood. The Warren years saw a string of decisions that greatly expanded the fights of an accused in a criminal prosecution. In such famous cases as Gideon, Escobedo and Miranda, the Court sowed the wind; it now reaps the whirlwind: More than 1,900 petitions last year came from poor defendants hoping to wiggle out of their convictions through one of the loopholes recently created.

These past two decades, which burst old dams of criminal law, also saw new rivers of litagation set in motion: civil rights, safety, consumer protection, improvement of the environment. It is small wonder that the Court struggles to stay afloat.

Floods produce flood damage. The Freund committee assesses heavy damage here: The Court is compelled to pass over important issues that once would have been heard; and the Court can accord less time and thought to the cases it accepts.

What should be done? The committee examined a number of proposals. To enlarge the Court would accomplish nothing. To exclude whole classes of cases, such as tax cases, would not lighten the load appreciably. Each Justice might be given additional clerks, but no one thought much of that idea: The Court might turn into a federation of nine busy dukedoms and thus lose its character as a single institution.

Acknowledging that there is no perfect remedy, the Freund committee proposes a National Court of Appeals, to be composed of seven Federal circuit judges who would sit for staggered three-year terms. The NCA's principal task would be to intercept and to screen the flow of litagation that now overwhelms the high court. Ninety percent of all appeals would stop there. Perhaps 400 or 500 cases would be sent on to the Supreme Court; from these the nine justices would select 150 to 175 for final argument and opinion.

The proposal takes some getting used to. Douglas, who dissents to just about everything, already has erupted in dissent. Former Justice Arthur Goldberg also has voiced public opposition. Former Chief Justice Earl Warren reportedly is cold to the plan. Members of Congress would do well to keep an open mind. It may be, on mature reflection, that the proposed NCA will provide the only workable solution for a problem that annot get better and must steadily grow worse.

Pat Nixon Tops Most Admired List; Golda Meir Takes Second

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 30 — Mrs. Richard Nixon heads the list of women most admired by the American people, marking the first time she has won top honors since the Nixon administration took office in 1969.

Mrs. Nixon is followed in this year's balloting by Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In last year's (1971) audit Mrs. Nixon was in second place (behind Mrs. Meir), while in 1970 she took runner-up honors to Mrs. Eisenhower. In the 1969 survey Mrs. Nixon trailed both Mrs. Eisenhower (who led the list) and Mrs. Meir who was in second place that year.

Mrs. Nixon has figured prominently among the top ten in none of the last 13 audits.

Mrs. Onassis Is In Fifth Place

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has the fourth greatest number of votes, while Mrs. Jacqueline (Kennedy) Onassis is in fifth place, as she was last year. Mrs. Onassis has been among the top ten every year since 1960. She won first place honors each year during the period 1962 through 1966.

U.S. Rep. Shirley Chisholm is in sixth place, having climbed from tencth position on last year's list.

Mrs. Chisholm is followed in the 1972 balloting by queen Elizabeth II (7th place), Sen. Margaret Chase Smith from Maine (8th), Mrs. Joseph (Rose) Kennedy (9th) and Mrs. Martin Luther King (10th).

These annual adits were started in 1948 and are based on samples designed to represent the views of the entire adult population. Survey respondents are asked to give their choices, without the aid of a list of names. This procedure, while opening the field to many possible choices, tends to favor women who receive wide news coverage.

In the latest survey, a total of 1,008 persons 18 and older were interviewed in a survey conducted Dec. 8-11. The following two questions were asked to determine first and second choices:

"What woman that you have heard to read about, living today in any part of the world, do you admire the MOST?"

"Who is you SECOND choice?"

Following are the top ten in the voting, with first and second choices combined:

Most Admired Woman: (1) Mrs. Richard Nixon; (2) Mrs. Golda Meir; (3) Madame Indira Gandhi; (4) Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower; (5) Mrs. Aristotle Onassis; (6) Rep. Shirley Chisholm; (7) Queen Elizabeth II; (8) Sen. Margaret Chase Smith; (9) Mrs. Joseph (Rose) Kennedy; (10) Mrs. Martin Luther King.

Receiving honorable mention in this year's survey were (in alphabetical order):

Here is last year's top ten for comparison:

(1) Mrs. Golda Meir; (2) Mrs. Richard Nixon; (3) Mrs. Joseph (Rose) Kennedy; (4) Madame Indira Gandhi; (5) Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower; (6) Mrs. Aristotle Onassis; (7) Mrs. Lyndon Johnson; (8) Mrs. John (Martha) Mitchell; (9) Sen. Margaret Chase Smith; (10) Rep. Shirley Chisholm.

As reported Thursday, President Richard Nixon for the fourth consecutive year heads the list of men the American people admire most in the world today. The Rev. Billy Graham was in second place. Former President Harry S. Truman was in third place (the survey was conducted before his death Dec. 26), followed by presidential adviser Dr. Henry Kissinger in fourth place.

But the element of time is now working for Thieu. With settlement apparently weeks or months in the future, he can begin to plan a political style and strategy to fit the open politics of a new era, in which Communist and pro-Communist politicians, underground for 20 years, will suddenly find equal access to the press, the speaker's platform and political organization.

The element of time is crucial. Thus, when Henry Kissinger arrived in Saigon last Oct. 19 with the peace formula he had just worked out with Le Duc Tho in Paris, neither Thieu nor U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker had the faintest idea what he was bringing with him.

Thieu was stunned when Kissinger opened up his surprise package, not so much by its content, but because—according to the Washington-Hanoi plan—it would take effect within a few weeks.

In retrospect, some highly-placed American officials believe that Thieu's screams of anguish had two purposes: first, and least important, his hope of forcing changes in the package; second, and far more important, to give him time to prepare for the ceasefire.

One such official told us: 'Thieu's nightmare was a sudden ceasefire, mass defections from his army as the boys ran home to plow their fields and utter disorganization inside his government."

The deadlock in the peace talks—when Thieu powerfully helped bring about—has given him more time. His problem now is to use it wisely in preparation for the radically transformed politics that lies ahead.

Retired Secret Service Agent Knew HST Well

By JOHN KILGO

CHARLOTTE — "President Truman was so kind, so considerate of people around him. He was just the opposite of his public image in that respect."

Vernon D. Spicer was talking about Harry Truman. Spicer, a now-retired Secret Service agent, knew Truman well. He guarded him.

"I was with President Truman at the Potsdam Conference," Spicer told me in an interview. "You had to take a room where you could find one over there and the President's quarters weren't exactly elaborate.

"I was guarding the door to his room one night when his door opened at 2 in the morning. I looked up and the President was standing there in his underwear. I stood, as I always did when he came in my presence, and he said: 'Sit down and relax. I know we have to put on a show in public, but when it's just us men together, forget the formality.' "

Spicer said Truman "was always down to earth and considerate of everyone who worked at the White House."

He said he was working the Sunday afternoon shift one winter day when snow was falling in Washington. He was chatting with Truman when an aide told the President he had been invited out to a Maryland farm for Sunday dinner.

"I'd like to go," Truman told his aide, "but my Secret Service boys would feel like they'd have to stand out in the snow guarding the house. Send my regrets."

"He was that kind of man," Spicer said.

Spicer says he feels especially for Mrs. Truman and her daughter, Margaret.

"It might sound corney or old-fashioned now," Spicer said, "but they were some family. They loved each other so much. Each worshipped the other.

"I remember the first time I ever met Margaret. It was after Mr. Truman had been sworn in as President and they sent me to Independence, Mo., because the President was going there on a trip. It must have been 103 degrees that day. I was standing out in the heat and Margaret came out of the house with a glass of ice tea and gave it to me."

Spicer said Truman didn't walk too much back in the days when he was his body guard.

"The report was that he really enjoyed a good game of poker," Spicer said. "He liked being around average people. And he wanted us to feel at ease in his presence."

Spicer said no one could ever doubt the late President's honesty and integrity.

"When you're around such an important person," Spicer sia, "and you watch him treat people with kindness and consideration, that's an inspiration. You couldn't help but love him. I loved him very much. I don't know any other way to put it."

Congress Would 'Druther' Forget About Taxes In Coming Year

By GEORGE BRYANT

If Congress had its New Year's "druthers", it would just as soon forget about taxes during the up-coming session. But when the nature of politics is considered, this runs a little too much for House and Senate members to reasonably expect.

In the first place, ignoring the issue would be to ignore the fact that the budget for this fiscal year is badly out of balance. This situation will continue next year, with the best to be hoped amounting to only a shrinkage in the deficit. A balance is nowhere in sight.

President Nixon has announced that he has no plans to propose a general tax increase in 1973. He is counting on a rising tide of revenue from the expanding economy and a $250-billion ceiling on spending to improve the budget picture.

But the President has hedged this commitment with a warning that higher revenue will be necessary to avoid a new inflation surge if Congress persists in its old free spending ways. There is no sign that the Democratic-run Congress is in a mood to go along.

In fact, Nixon's efforts to hold spending by withholding funds already appropriated have been greeted with howls of protest from members of both the House and Senate. And it should be noted that all of the protesting hasn't come from Democrats.

Making the situaion all the worse is Congress' commitment to a host of social-ills spending programs which have either not worked well, or not worked at all, over the past several years. Congress, especially the Democratic Majority, has been giving the impression that all that's needed to achieve objectives is a further out-pouring of Federal funds. It blames Nixon for the failures.

It should be noted that a fresh approach to ending social ills is beginning to be pushed forward by some Democratic liberals as a way of giving the party a new issue in the wake of its landslide defeat in the November Presidential election. This may, indeed, be the biggest spending program of all times.

The political left is suggesting that a new "equality" plan be superimposed on top of equal rights, equal education, equal job opportunity, etc. This one would call for "equality of income," meaning a sharing of the wealth far beyond McGovern's wildest proposal.

"Equality of income", of course, is not a brand new idea. It has been kicked around for years, but without any real organized support. Now, commentators who keep pace with the current thinking of the intellectual left, see it as offering the Democrats an alternative to efforts at regrouping nearer the middle-of-the-road.

Taxation would be the road to "equality of income." The idea would be to take income away from those in the upper middle and higher income levels and turn it over to those who earn less. The goal would go beyond any such thing as a "subsistance" level and guarantee a "satisfying" standard of living.

As things now stand, there's little prospect that Congress would pay serious attention to any such scheme. But if Congress does press ahead with demands for big spending increases, thus forcing Nixon to seek more revenue through higher taxes, the "income equality issue" would be hard to duck.

Another reason why the tax front may well refuse to stay quiet during the session is all the noise candidates, especially Democrats, made during the campaign season on so-called loopholes.

Chairman Wilbur Mills of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee has already announced that the will call hearings, perhaps in February, on tax "reforms," whatever that means. Mills has said only that he has no general revenue measure in mind.

The only thing certain at this time is that if Congress does become involved in tax legislation, it will have a "bag of snakes" on its hands.

500 Young Singers Expected Saturday

Norman Luboff To Conduct Choral Clinic

Norman Luboff, internationally acclaimed choral conductor, composer and arranger, will be guest clinician for the Eastern North Carolina Choral Clinic to be held at ECU on Saturday.

Sponsored by the School of Music at ECU, the Choral Clinic is being coordinated by Dr. Charles W. Moore, chairman of Vocal Mjsic.

Luboff, who in recent years has given much of his time and effort to the furthering of choral music in the U.S. at university and community levels, has summed up his life long love for music by remarking: "I am reminded of the poem which ends with the lones. . . 'The world stands out on either side, — No wider than the heart is wide.'

"You know," he added, "it's true. We touch only as far as we reach, and the greatness of music is that it reaches all around the world. So, for me, the world is as varied as its songs. It is as capable of beauty as we are of singing."

Dr. Moore noted that Luboff's comments provide an insight to the conviction held at the School of Misic about the importance of the annual clinics.

"More than 20 schools with over 500 singers from eastern North Carolina will find joy and companionship through music during Mr. Luboff's visit," Moore said.

Among highlights scheduled for the day's session will be — the appearance of soloist Gene Yeargin, an ECU graduate now director of the Vaiden Whiteley Choir; and a combo performance with Bob Hallahan, piano; Chris Farrell, guitar; Bruce McDonald, string bass; and Bob Rosenbluth, drums.

Names of the schools participating and school choir directors are: Columbia High School, Margaret Ann Griffith; East Carteret High School, Peggy Starkey; Elm City High School, Louise G. Winstead; Farmville Central High School, Bessie J. Redden; Garner Senior High School, Louise Morton; Goldsboro High School, Eleanor L. Harris; Greene Central High School, Kenneth Ginn; Kinston High School, Wynona Rhem; Murfreesboro High School, Virginia L. Griffin; New Bern Senior High School, Julian D. Wagemaker; Northeastern High School, Vesta Reel; North Edgecombe High School, Walter Plemmer; Ravenscroft School, Charles Bert; Roanoke Rapids High School, Gwendolyn Dickens;

Richmond Senior High School, C. Dudley Callicutt; Rose School (Greenville), Stephen Koch; Reid Ross Senior High School, Phillip N. Stockdale; South Edgecombe High School, Ann P. Cobb; South Lenior High School, Barbara Kerr; Vaiden Whitley High School, Gene D. Yeargin; and West Carteret High School, Laurence Stith.

The clinic will begin at 10:00 a.m. Saturday and conclude in the evening with an open rehearsal. Host and hostesses for the clinic are the 18 members of ECU's Chamber Singers, who will serve as a demonstration choir during the day and also assist with sectional rehearsals.

Although there will be no formal concert, conductor Luboff has asked that the public be invited to attend the open rehearsal. This will be in Wright Auditorium beginning at 7:00 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

NORMAN LUBOFF . . . famed director of the Norman Luboff Choir, is guest conductor of the annual Choral Clinic being held Saturday at ECU with 500 young singers from 20 eastern N. C. high school choirs.

Drama Critic Asks Music Makers To Forget About Being Way-Out

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the matter of the musical theater, it may be time to holler, "whoa, there, giddyup back."

Not necessarily back to the successful revival of such an oldie as "No, No, Nanette," or the forthcoming refurbished even older "Irene," but simply to take a hard look at the way things have been going in this area of late.

In quick succession there have been two $800,000 bombs, "Dude" and "Vie Galactica," the latter getting the new and wonderful $12 million Uris Theater off to an unfortunate start, and the former causing a rearranging of the interior of the famous old Broadway Theater from which it may never recover.

Shows such as these were supposed to have been bright exponents of a "new musical" trend that seems to stem from the hugely successful but vastly overrated "Hair," of recent memory.

"Hair" took off largely because it was the first musical wih a nude scene—in which practically nothing could be seen—and the first tune show to use dirty words. Notoriety did it.

Some New York critics, who should be hating themselves by now, gave such encouragement to this show as heralding the beginning of a new trend in the musical theater that susceptible writers and producers were lured into similar gimmicky things such as "Dude" and "Via Galactica."

Not that these two traded on nudity or vulgar language, but they substituted other tricks designed to dazzle spectators instead of giving them entertaining stories and characters they could care about.

The songs, of course, are vital. The rock influence was important in "Hair," although the score was not purely rock as composed by Galt MacDermot, and the major asset of "Hair" was the songs, so far as I am concerned. MacDermot also was the composer for both "Dude" and "Via Galactica." The critics generally have downgraded him since "Hair." He has to be laughing through the tears caused by the failure of the two new shows.

"Dude" a Mistake

Most did not like his tunes for "Dude" —in fact, there was nothing to like about this mistake. Yet, one critic of great influence, who shall be unidentified here, thought that the "Dude" score was fine and that the "Via Galactica" score had little to recommend it.

The opposite, of course, was true. There were several good ones in "Via Galactica."

One of these days, when I get a sabbatical of 10 years, I will spend the time in Washington lobbying for a law barring drama critics from evaulating the scores of musicals. Even trained musicians can't be trusted to come away from a one-time hearing of a new show score and give an accurate estimate of its appeal.

Just as one example, I can never forget the review Brooks Atkinson, retired critic of The New York Times, wrote of Cole Porter's "Can-Can," in which he assayed the score as routine and unmemorable. It was a score in which virtually every song quickly became a remarkable "standard," a feat equaled only by Jerome Kern in "Show Boat."

But back to the original theme of this piece. Writers and producers: forget about trying to be different and 'way out'; just provide some musicals that really entertain. Which doesn't mean that they also can't be meaningful, as witness "The Threepenny Opera" and "Company," to name a couple.

Hong Kong Karate Films Current Craze In Lebanon

EDITOR'S NOTE — The stories are flimsy, but there's still a lot of punch to the Hong Kong films sweeping Beirut. The craze is for Karate films and they're chopping their way ahead of such American productions as "The Godfather."

By HARRY DUNPHY
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT (AP) — The young men who make up the majority of Beirut audiences now emerge from movie houses kicking, screaming and flailing their arms. The reason is the current craze for "karate" films that is likely to spread to other Arab capitals.

Currently, one third of Beirut's 23 theaters are showing Hong Kong-made films such as "The Bloody Fists" and "The Brutal Boxer," in which young men chop their way to glory in flimsily plotted stories with the emphasis on action.

Whether the combat is karate or kung-fu, a Chinese form of hand-to-hand fighting, purists are not sure, but there is no quibbling over the films' popularity with the Lebanese, who are avid moviegoers.

And the local karate academy has registered a sizeable increase in enrollment since the craze started three months ago at the end of the summer rerun season.

There seems to be no profound reason for the overwhelming popularity of the movies.

Elie Salem, a professor at the American University of Beirut said, "Violence and physical prowess have always been popular with audiences here as elsewhere. The films are good entertainment like Westerns."

But Samir Nasri, a movie reviewer, says the Hong Kong imports have surpassed the durability of Westerns because "instead of a fast gun the hero has only his fists to defend himself with. In this case identification is much easier for the moviegoer."

One group that isn't identifying with any of the heroes is American film distributors who controlled up to 60 per cent of the market until what they call "the Chinese folly" came along.

Major U.S. productions such as "The Godfather" and "Cabaret" are losing out at the box office and some distributors are holding other pictures back until conditions improve.

"It's just a fad," said Abe Havounjian, Middle East representative for United Artists. "Six months from now the public will be tired of it."

Maybe. But five local distributors rushed off to Hong Kong last week to buy the latest productions after five others had cornered the market on the past two years' crop.

Lebanese distributors are trying to make deals to get the movies shown from Baghdad to Aden.

Three months ago the movies could be obtained for $3,000. Now the price is up to $10,000.

Final Curtain Roster For '72

The year 1972 marked the final curtain call for a large number of old timers in show business, including many who were favorites shortly after the turn of the century.

The necrology included Margaret Webster, 67; Miriam Hopkins, 69; Berta Gersten, 78; Helen Bonfils, 82; Dorothy Dalton, 78; Margaret Dale, 96; May Craig, 83, and Jessie Royce Landis, 67.

Gone from the male ranks were Rudolf Friml, 92; Maurice Chevalier, 83; Reginald Owen, 85; Lew Parker, 64; Leo G. Carroll, 80; John Burrell, 62; Louis Lurie, 84; Alfred White, 89; Brandon de Wilde, 30; Jasper Deeter, 78; the Rev. Thomas Carey, 68; John Litel, 78; Stanley Prager, 54, and John Chapman, 71.

As Broadway headed into 1973, its mood was ironically typified by the sole tune from a musical, "Godspell," which made the 1972 best-seller lists. The title, "Day by Day."

The old Farmer's Almanac, No. CLXXXI, 1973, By Robert R. Thomas. 1972, Dublin, N. H., Yankee, Inc., 176 pps. illustrated 60 cents.

It's here for the 181st successive year, complete with the hole punched in the upper left corner to make it convenient to hang on a nail behind the door or on the wall near the cook stove.

Robert B. Thomas' original farmer's almanac, first published in 1792, lives on in a format that has changed but little in nearly two centuries.

A glorious hodge-podge of hundreds of bits of information — things you've always needed to know without knowing you needed it — are hidden in the crowded pages.

Would you, for example, send your love a bouquet of marigold? Grief, chagrin is the meaning of this flower. The yellow rose has a meaning of "infidelity." Therefore, a young suitor might be on better grounds to send his love a fistful of honeysuckle with its message of "devoted love," or red tulips, which implies "declaration of love."

Weather has long been a top attraction of The Old Farmer's Almanac. Many faithful readers vow it's the most accurate guide of any. Newsweek magazine in a feature article on December 6, 1971, noted that although predictions are prepared 18 months in advance, the Almanac had been right 80 percent of the time.

Don Guy, in a feature article in the 1973 issue writes that the winter of 1973-1974 will be the 'Shortest Winter Since 1000B.C."

Social etiquette in the old days included nostagically delightful tips to ladies and gentlemen, i.e. — an application of bear grease to harsh or dry hair; "no topic of absorbing interest may be admitted to polite conservation. It might lead to discussion;" it is vulgar for a lady to raise her dress with both hands except when the mud is very deep; and a note on proper conduct at balls ... "no gentleman should enter the ladies' dressing room."

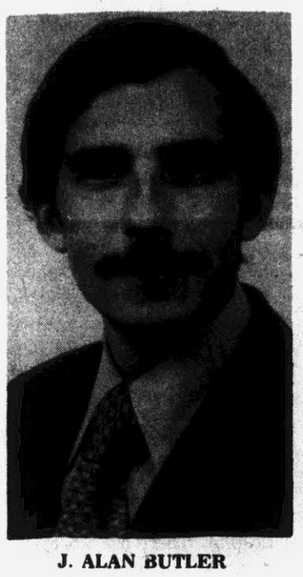

Fence fanicers will find the 1973 issue noteworthy. In a four page article, J. Almus Russell goes into loving detail on the history and construction of 15 different types of fences, from brush fences to cast iron ones.

Whether it's good fishing days, the ideal time for planting beans, the best dates for pruning, or the mere joy of the dozens of small stories tucked here and there throughout its pages, it hard to find a better rowsing companion than The Old Farmer's Almanac. There's many happy moments or unexpected revelations in this slim lightweight volume.

J. Alan Butler Named Program Associate

J. Alan Butler, a native of Clinton, has been named program associate for the North Carolina Arts Council.

J. ALAN BUTLER

Announcement of the appointment was made by Edgar B. Marston, III, executive director of the council. Butler succeds Charles Springman who resigned to become Southeastern coordinator for the National Endowment for the Arts.

Prior to his acceptance of this position, Butler was assistant dean of continuing education at Sampson Technical Istitute, Clinton. In Clinton, Butler was instrumental in the creation of the Victor R. Small Cultural Arts Center. Earlier, he had spent two years working in Washington in the office of Senator Sam Ervin.

A graduate of Campbell College, Butler is married to the former Carla Schiller of Wilmington. They have two children, a son, Folley, and a daughter, Meredith.

O'Keeffe Painting Honors Dr. Sloane

In a single gesture the North Carolina State Art Society has greatly enriched the art collection of the state and honored a distinguished art scholar.

The moment came with the presentation of Georgia O'Keeffe's oil painting, The Cebolla Church, to the North Carolina Museum of Art in honor of Dr. Joseph C. Sloane. Sloane is professor of art history and director of the Ackland Art Center at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

White described Georgia O'Keeffe as "still vigorous in her 85th year . . . a pioneer of modern American art." He commented: "I feel in this work the strength of the artist living in the western desert, climbing arid mountains, killing rattlesnakes with her hoe, and I feel, simultaneously, the tenderness of O'Keefe when she says, 'Nobody sees a flower, really, we haven't time . . . and to see takes time like to have a friend takes time . . .'

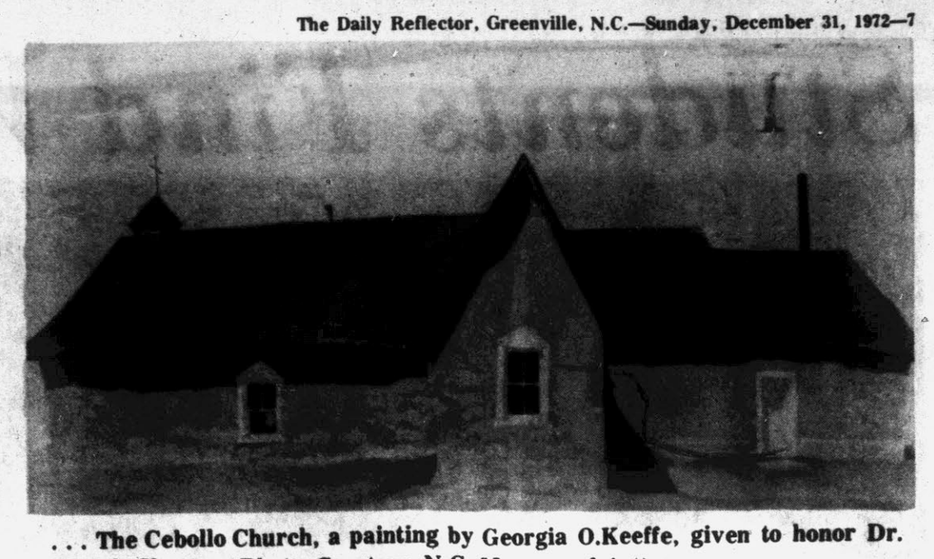

Miss O'Keeffe has lived mostly in New Mexico since 1929. Many of her subjects are taken from the Southwestern scene.

White traced Sloane's career as scholar and art educator, but said his attainments in these fields were secondary to the reason for the dedication of the painting to him.

In 1961 when Sloane became president, the society was "an empty shell," White stated, having transferred its art collection and its money to the museum. Not many people wold have accepted the post of president, but Sloane refused to give up, began to revitalize the organization, and has never ceased to work with it." - Moussa M. Domit, associate director of the museum noted that Miss O'Keeffe is one of several major artists not previously represented in our collection. This particular work represents a very important phase in her development.

"The gift also points anew to the significant role the Art Society, through its consistent support, has played in the enrichment of the museum."

In recent years the society has enlarged the museum's holdings in two other areas through the presentation of a sculpture of St. Catherine by the 15th century German sculptor Tilmann Riemenshneider and a Hellenistic statue of Aphrodite.

New Items For Space Program Fans

Apollo picture sets; a sickle cell anemia story and coloring book; a register of commissioned and warrant officers of the U.S. Navy on active duty; a report on education in Guinea, Mali, Senegal and the Ivory Coast; a bulletin on the merchant fleets of the world; and a booklet on computerized design for multiple-hearth sludge incinerators are among the fascinating array of titles available from the U.S. Government Printing Office.

In the agency's November 1972 publications list, readers interested in America's space program have a dozen titles to choose from.

The latest of the picture set series, Number 7, is on Apollo 15. Consisting of nine lithographs in full color, they are on heavy, glossy paper 11 by 14 inches and are suitable for framing. The set includes photographs of the lift-off, Apollo 15 crew, pictures of activities on the moon, and the splashdown. Price, including postage, is $1.50 per set.

Other picture sets available are Number 1, seven color lithographs each 12 by 16 inches ($1.25) ; number four, a set of 12 full color photos each 11 by 14 inches)$1.75); number 5, a single large picture measuring 16 by 20 inches ($1.00); and number 6, eight full color and two black and white, each 11 by 14 inches ($1.50).

Booklets or pamphlets available on the space program include Lunar Photographs From Apollos 8, 10, and 11, a photographic atlas, 119 pps, cloth, $4.00; Log of Apollo 11, a day by day, hour by hour account covering events encountered by astronauts Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins, 12 pages illustrated, 35 cents; and Vanguard — A History, on the origin, course of development and results of the first American earth satellite project, 308 pages illustrated, $2.75.

Educators will be interested in several of the new listings, for example, a 141 page illustrated booklet, Educational Development in Guinea, Mali, Senegal, and Ivory Coast, ($1.00). This booklet describes and discusses major educational trends and problems in four French speaking countries of West Africa since achieving independence.

There's a wide range of material available for readers interested in environmental subjects. One little 25 cents item, The Right of Exist, outlines dangers to wildlife and measures being taken to protect wildlife, including rare species such at the whooping crane.

City and county government personnel will very likely be excited about the information contained in two volumes totaling over 700 pages, Volumes 1 and 2, A Literature Search and Critical Analysis of Biological Trickling Filter Studies. The volumes are priced at $2.50 and $2.75 respectively and are illustrated.

An item of general appeal is the agency's publication of the Bureau of Land Management. Our Public Lands, an illustrated quarterly, is available at a $2.00 annual subscription. Each issue contains, among a wide variety of articles, the latest listing of public lands for sales within the 450 million acres of public lands.

Stump Show Next At Center

The first exhibition of 1973 at the Greenville Art Center will be an exhibit of the works of Mrs. Betty Stump of Kinston.

On Sunday, January 7, beginning at 3:00 p.m. and continuing until 5:00 p.m., a public reception will be held honoring Mrs. Stump. A native of Wilmington, Deleware, the artist will be showing a collection of watercolors and paintings.

Writers Meet January 8th

The first meeting of the Greenville Writers Club for 1973 will not be held on Tuesday, January 2. Instead, the meeting has been announced for Monday, January 8 at 8:00 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Bowen, 213 Lewis Street.

Rubbings From Mayan Stela At Round Gallery

At the Round Gallery of Charlotte's Mint Museum of Art, the current exhibit is one of the rubbings of Mayan stela from Guatemala.

The show, which went on view December 20, will remain up through January 28.

Mrs. Joan Patten, now a resident of Guatemala City, is known as "the sculpture lady." She is not only interested in preColumbian sculpture, but is an accomplished sculptress in her own right. At Columbia Unversity she was a student of Oronzio Maldarelli.

For seven years Mrs. Patten has been making expeditions into the jungles to the archaeological sites of ancient Mayan culture to procure the rubbings from stela.

Thirty of the monumental rubbings ate included in the Mint exhibit.

Figurine Makers Face Tooth Shortage In Greenland

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
Associated Press Writer

JAKOBSHAVN, Greenland (AP) — The tupilak makers of Greenland have a supply crisis. The decline in whaling has caused an acute shortage of their raw material—the whale's tooth.

And what might a tupilak be? Well, you'd be sorry if someone sent one after you.

It was the magical creature the Eskimos used to send to kill their enemies.

Now it is a part of Greenland folk art. The imaginative and bizarre figures are carved by Greenland artists in the six long months of winter. No two are ever alike. Some stand up, a few inches high. Some crawl, or appear to swim. Some have two heads, both well armed with enormous teeth.

The Royal Greenland Trade Department used to buy whale teeth from Norway and Iceland. But those sources dried upm To keep the artists going the department tirned to Japan, but whale teeth are much in demand by carvers of many nations. Now thought is being given to importing ivory or hippo teeth from Africa.

The original tupilaks were made by the Angakok—the medicine man of the Eskimo. They were fearsome cree ons of bones, skin, turf and feathers.

A really effective tupilak had to have a seal bone to enable it to swim, a ptarmigan bone to help it fly, a raven's bone so it could scurry across the ground, a piece of human skull to make it think, and the jaw or teeth of a polar bear so as to bite its victim to death.

The bones were fleshed out with turf and wrapped in hide. Feathers were added for flying.

The tupilak had to be made with the use of only the thumb and little finger. It was brought to life by crooning a spell by the light of a waning moon.

The process was not without risk. One error in ritual and the tupilak would turn on its creator and kill him.

Once the tupilak was sent on its way it would shadow its victim, waiting for the right moment to strike. It might climb out of the sea onto the back of the victim's kayak. It could hide under the bed platform in the hut, waiting to strike at the sleeping target.

But if the intended victim was alert enough to spot the tupilak before it struck he could save himself by destroying it. Or if the victim had stronger magic than the sender, he could return the tupilak to kill its maker.

The present day figures had their origin when Angmagssalik was colonized in 1894. The Danish governor, Johan Petersen, asked what a tupilak looked like. The Eskimos could not draw, so carved a model instead. The idea spread around until the little figures became collectors' items for colonists and explorers.

Despite the intrusion of plastic into the Arctic, the Greenland carvers adhere faithfully to the traditional methods and materials.

Don't be afraid, the modern tupilak is quite harmless, despite his savage appearance.

Or so the smiling, black-eyed Greenland sales girl assures you as she wraps it for you in the souvenir shop.

Paradise of Art in Russia

By JOHN BAUSMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — "With regret I leave a paradise of art and of taste."

Every year hundreds of visiting art lovers, scholars and critics, Soviet and foreign, find their way to Costakis' 15th floor apartment in one of the scores of new high-rise buildings in southwest Moscow.

Malevich, recognized leader of the suprematistic school, and other modernists, found tolerance and even some acceptance in the early years of communism. Their talents were used for theater designs, placards, banners and decorations.

But official approval was gradually limited to painters of "socialist realism" and the abstract avant-gardists painted in obscurity, their works rejected.

Money was the smaller problem. Finding the pictures and recognizing those of value was more difficult. There were no art dealers, no publications or specialized articles to guide him. Costakis had to search for himself and be guided by his own taste and judgment.

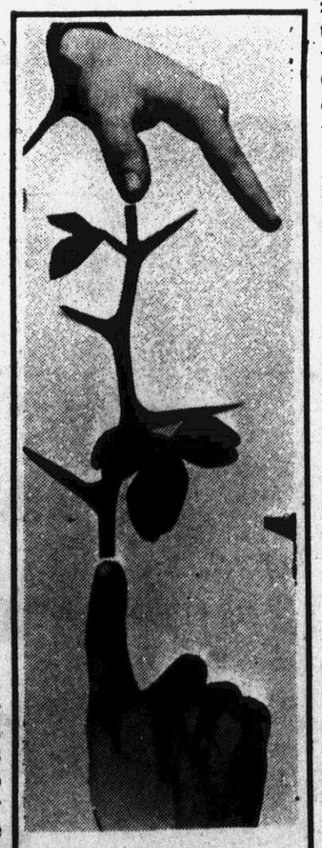

Sometimes the art works turned up in second-hand stores, more often Costakis had to hunt out friends and relatives of the artists. Often the paintings and other works were stored away and neglected and Costakis' coming saved them from eventual destruction.

"Everyone thought I was crazy in those days, collecting these things. They thought it was rubbish," Costakis recalls. On the western art market today, the collection would be worth millions.

Born in Moscow of Greek parents, Costakis retains Greek citizenship but has lived practically his whole life in the Soviet capital. He knows the communist system too well to make any predictions about when paintings like his might be exhibited publicly.

But he takes some satisfaction when an officially sponsored magazine asks to photograph some item in his collection. Small parts of it have also been loaned for restricted exhibits. Eventually he anticipates that avant-garde art and the rich Russian contribution to it will be generally accepted in the Soviet Union.

While waiting for these painters to be honored at home, Costakis finds them in demand for exhibition abroad. At one time such loans were forbidden, but since 1959 he has been able to get permission to send Popovas, Chagalls and other works to exhibitions in the United States, France, Italy and Japan.

Students Find Varied Purposes In Course

CHANGING A BANDAGE. . . Mrs. Stocks changes the bandage on a patient's incision. This is one of the many things a nursing student must do in caring for her patient. During the winter quarter, the students are assigned two patients at Pitt Memorial Hospital that they must care for.

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The course is called Practical Nurse Education.

For Mrs. Betty Stocks of Ayden, a student enrolled in the Pitt Technical Institute program — as it may to other students — its purpose is varied.

According to Mrs. Stocks, "I have always been a very active person and cannot foresee myself doing nothing, even when I get older. Nursing is something I can always do."

The mother of four children, ranging in age from 11 to 19, Mrs. Stocks was married to William Stocks when she was 16 and dropped out of school. Years later, in 1965, she completed the High School Equivalency Course at PTI. She began the nursing program in September.

"I chose nursing because any woman who has reared four children has done a certain amount of nursing," explained Mrs. Stocks. "And my parents are elderly. I also have a brother who is totally disabled. . .he lost both eyes and both hands during the Korean War.

"My training here will help me take care of my family," added Mrs. Stocks. "All this had deepened my desire to become a nurse."

Mrs. Stocks added, "If I never use what I have learned on a job, everything I learn will be put to use with my family."

Mrs. Stocks gets a great deal of encouragment from her family.

"I could not have done it without their support," the PTI student said. "My children are always saying 'my mama is not a quiter.' "

The course, at times, has been discouraging to Mrs. Stocks.

"The course involves very deep studying. There is so much material that has to be covered in such a short time," Mrs. Stocks said. "There is a lot of cramming to do."

Receives Cap

Mrs. Stocks, along with other students in the class, received her cap recently. This means the students will work at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

"I enjoy being with the patients so much better than being in the classroom," emphasized Mrs. Stocks. "I like the hospital because there is so much activity."

Before enrolling in the PTI course, Mrs. Stocks worked at the National Boat Works.

"To get out of the studying process for 21 years and then go back to school, it puts an emotional strain on you," stated Mrs. Stocks. "I have felt so many emotional strains in the last few months."

CAPPING CEREMONY. . . Mrs. Betty Stocks receives her nurse's cap from Mrs. Janice Leggett. Receiving her cap is one of the highlights of the program to Mrs. Stocks. This means she will work in the hospital and be with patients.

Instructors for the practical nurses education course are Mrs. Judith Kuykendall, coordinator; Mrs. Linda Roberts; and Mrs. Carol Stevens. Mrs. Janice Leggett, formerly coordinator of the program, recently accepted a position at East Carolina University.

According to Mrs. Kuykendall, the program which runs for 12 months, is a fully-packed one.

"The first quarter is spent in the classroom at PTI," Mrs. Kuykendall. "During the fall quarter, the students take field trips to Pitt Memorial. They look for professional and non-professional conduct, look for safety hazards and observe for cleanliness and order on these trips."

Students receive their nursing caps at the end of fall quarter. The caps the students wear were designed by Mrs. Leggett for PTI specifically. No other nurses will wear the style cap worn by PTI students.

At Hospital

During the winter quarter, the students will be at the hospital. They are assigned two patients to care for.

"The program also includes a human relations course which involves psychology and basic psychiatric nurses' principles," Mrs. Kuykendall explained.

The nurses spend 21 hours each week in the hospital.

During the spring quarter, the students will study medical-surgical courses only. This includes: introducing the student to the concept of understanding illness and disease; classification of diseases; nursing care of a patient with respiratory and cardivascular systems injury, cancer and disorders.

The summer quarter includes special areas such as pediatrics and obstretics. During this quarter, the students also study personal and vocational relations.

The students, if they complete the course successfully, will graduate in August. They are now called graduate practical nurses. Then the following September, the students are eligible to take the North Carolina Board of Nursing Examination to become Licensed Practical Nurses.

Cost of the course usually runs from $250 to $300. This includes tuition, books, uniforms, caps and the school pin.

"The state buys each student her first uniform," Mrs. Kuykendall said. "The student then buys a second uniform, cap and school pin."

"After the students graduate, they exchange their yellow pin stripe uniforms for white ones," the PTI instructor explained. "They also have a gold band placed on their caps."

During the one-year program the student is expected to continually acquire knowledge and understandings related to nursing and the biological and social sciences and to develop skills related to nursing practice, communications, interpersonal relations and use of good judgment.

"Students are selected on the basis of demonstrated aptitude for nursing, as determined by pre-entrance exams, " Mrs. Kuykendall explained. "We also arrange interviews with the prospective students, check their high school records; character references and require physical examinations."

"Most of our graduates are employed at Pitt Memorial Hospital. There are others in doctors' offices, mental health centers, one at Duke Medical Center, and one graduate in industry nursing at Collins and Aikman Co., Farmville, and others in nursing homes," Mrs. Kuykendall said.

With The Women

RECEIVING INSTRUCTIONS. . . Mrs. Judith Kuykendall, coordinator of the Practical Nurses Education courses at Pitt Technical Institute, explains the anatomy of the human body to Mrs. Stocks. The presentation of the normal body is studied so that students will understand variations from normal.

Sound Cylinders Are Fun Teachers For Kids

(Editor's note: This article is the first of three dealing with easy-to-make, inexpensive games that are fun — and instructive — for preschool children. The series, prepared by the Learning Institute of North Carolina (LINC), is based on pioneering work at the LINC Children's Center in Greensboro. LINC's main office is in Durham.)

DURHAM — Ever hear of kids playing "Sound Cylinders"? It's a game three- to five-year-olds love. What's more, it's easy to make at home, and it provides a lot more than fun.

It's a teacher, too.

Sound Cylinders is one of many games and toys that are used to help children learn — and enjoy it — at the LINC Children's Center in Greensboro. The center is operated by the Durham-based Learning Institute of North Carolina (LINC).

A simple game, Sound Cylinders is designed to teach youngsters to match similar sounds and distinguish between different ones, as well as to recognize the sounds made by certain objects.

Sound Cylinders consists of eight to 12 look-alike cylinders. Their size doesn't matter, as long as they are all the same. Filmstrip cans are perfect. If they are not available, empty prescription bottles or any similar substitute will so.

Key points are that (1) the cylinders must be closable, with built-in bottoms and tops that either screw on tight or can be sealed with tape; and (2) the cylinders must be opaque so younsters can't see what's inside.

Thus, if see-through cylinders are used, they should be covered with contact paper, some kind of tape, or any material that will do the job — paint, gift-wrap, construction paper.

Divide Cyliners

Once the cylinders are ready, they should be divided into pairs. Each pair should be filled with matching amounts of the same sound-making ingredient. Each cylinder in a pair must make the same sound when a child shakes it.

Any number of ingredients can be used. One pair could contain water, another dried beans, another paper clips. Other possibilities include toothpicks, salt, sand, pebbles, glass beads, uncooked macaroni, grits, or rice. It's even interesting, just for kicks, to leave one pair empty.

Next, the cylinders — four to six pairs — are placed on a tray with raised sides. A piece of styrofoam packing material or the lid of a shoebox will do. Then the cylinders are shifted around so the pairs are thoroughly scrambled.

The object of the game is for the child to shake the cylinders and match the sound-alike pairs. But teachers at the LINC Children's Center say that seems a lot less significant than it is.

In educational terms, children who play Sound Cyliners are "developing listening skills," which means learning not only to match like sounds but to discriminate between different ones. After mastering these processes, nearly every child wants to open the cylinders and discover what's making the different sounds. That, too, is a big step in learning to use the listening sense.

While Sound Cylinders is a good, fun way of learning for preschoolers aged three to five, Children's Center teachers suggest a simpler start for the three-year-olds. Instead of six pairs of cylinders, a three-year-old might start with two pairs.

Sharp Contrast

Additionally, for three-year-olds, it's good to use soundmakers of sharp contrast, so the child isn't frustrated by trying to distinguish minor differences. Dried beans and water provide a relatively easy distinction, a click and a whoosh, compared to dried beans and uncooked macaroni, which are both clickers.

As a child gains experience—and skill—he is likely to unseal the cylinders and peek at the contents. That's fine, because he or she is beginning to link sounds with their sources. This happens most frequently with five-year-olds, the LINC teachers say.

What makes Sound Cylinders so much fun? In the preschool setting, a major factor is the teacher relying on the "discovery method." That simply means the game is placed on a table and the child explores it on his onw.

As the youngster shows interest, the teacher begins exploring, too, and asks leading questions. When the child shakes a cylinder, the teacher might say, "Can you find another one that sounds just like that?"

There is never any punishment for not succeeding. The child who goofs may be handed the right cylinder and asked to "try this one," but he is never told, "No, you've got the wrong one."

Most children catch on pretty fast, and they enjoy the process because they are discovering what their ears can do, and no one is making an issue of it.

Parents who use homemade Sound Cyliners should remember that the prime object is to make learning enjoyable. They can add to the fun by letting their children help select the sound-makers and fill the cylinders.

And parents just might learn something, too. Think about it: What is the sound of sand?

Next: The world of color, lotto-style.

MRS. LEONARD CLAXTON EDGE JR.

Edge-Manning Vows Spoken On Friday

STEDMAN — At 7:30 p.m. Friday in a double ring ceremony, Miss Linda Charlene Manning became the bride of Leonard Claxton Edge Jr. The Rev. Wiley Clark officiated at the ceremony.

Music was provided by Mrs. Bobby Jackson, organist, and Mrs. June Strickland, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Linwood Manning of Stedman. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Edge Sr. of Stedman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza over satin featuring a stand-up collar. The bodice with motifs of matching lace featured an empire waistline with lace overlay and satin covered buttons, and bishop sleeves of organza and lace.

The A-line skirt featured double rows of lace and a detachable train attached to the waistline and was trimmed with double rows of matching lace. She carried a satin-covered Bible topped with an orchid and white carnations.

Miss Brenda Worley of Hurt, Va., was maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown of gold polyester crepe with a matching headpiece. She carried a bronze chrysanthemums nosegay with streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Cathy Manning, sister of the bride, Miss Brenda Ezzell, Mrs. Bobbie Strickland, all of Stedman, and Cathern Faith Hall of Raleigh. Miss Lori Edge, sister of the bridegroom, served as junior bridesmaid. Their gowns and headpieces were identical to those of the maid of honor. Each carried a bronze chrysanthemum nosegay with streamers.

Leonard Edge, father of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Doug Strickland, O'Neal McCullen, Woodie Grisson, and LaVone Cooke, all of Stedman. Todd Edge, brother of the bridegroom, served as a junior usher.

The flower girl was Miss Laura Hughes, cousin of the bridegroom and ringbearer was David O'Brien, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Southern Wayne High School and attended Emmanuel College. She is employed by Fasco Industries, Inc.

The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Cape Fear and attended Emmanuel College. He is employed by Rohm and Haas, Co.

Couple Exchanges Vows Saturday

STATESVILLE — The First Presbyterian Church here was the scene of the marriage of Miss Mariana Nicholson and James William Earnhardt Saturday at 3 p.m.

Dr. William Frye Summers of Richmond, Va., officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. John Harvey Nicholson II of Statesville and Mr. and Mrs. James Junior Earnhardt of Mooresville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Gladys Stephens, organist, and Mrs. Ray D. Raymer, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of ivory silk organza and imported French re-embroidered Alencon lace. The gown was an Empire design with an A-line skirt. The gown was covered with appliques of lace with a scalloped edge down the front of the skirt and around the hemline. Pearls and crystals encrusted the patterns of the lace design. The lantern sleeves were held by a wide cuff and the neckline was built up with appliques of alce.

She wore a long mantilla edged with matching lace set on a jeweled Juliet cap. She carried a mixed bouquet of white snowdrift daisies, white butterfly roses and marguerite daisies. The bride wore pearls which were worn at her maternal grandmother's and mother's weddings. She also wore pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a handkerchief which her mother carried in her wedding.

Miss Nancy Jane Nicholson of Statesville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an emerald green velvet gown trimmed with off white antique lace. She wore a camelot cap of green velvet trimmed with lace and carried a semi-nosegay of red sweethear roses, yellow jackstraw daiseis, blue statice, heather and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Harvery Nicholson III of Savannah, Ga., sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Ellen Elizabeth Earnhardt of Mooresville, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Jane Lori Nicholson of Statesville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Lou Ann Compton of Mooresville, cousin of the bridegroom.

They wore gowns and headpieces styled identical to that of the honor attendant and carried similar bouquets.

James Junior Earnhardt served his son as best man. Ushers were Capt. John Harvey Nicholson III of Savannah, Ga., James Tipton Nicholson, Richard Griffin Nicholson, and Thomas Parker Nicholson, all of Statesville and brother of the bride, and Donald Mac Earnhardt of Mooresville, brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Nicholson chose a street length dress of nile green chiffon trimmed in beading of pearls, rhinestones and cyrstals with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Columbia, S.C.

The bride is a graduate of Statesville High School. She attended Queens College, Charlotte, and received a B.A. degree in education from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she received her master's degree in special education this year.

The bridegroom graduated from Mooresville Senior High School and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he received his M.A.T. degree. He is currently serving with the U.S. Army in the sports office of special services division at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Statesville Woman's Club by the bride's parents.

The punch table was covered with an embroidered white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of mixed flowers. The cake was served on a round table covered with an emerald green linen cloth overlaid with lace. Mixed spring flowers were used in decorating the foyer.

A rehearsal dinner honoring the wedding party was held Friday night at the Statesville Country Club. Host and hostesses were Capt. and Mrs. John Harvey Nicholson III and Miss Dorothy Dial Nicholson.

Bridesmaids Luncheon

Hostesses were Miss Lori Nicholson, a bridesmaid and Mrs. Henry M. Nicholson and Miss Marianna Nicholson, of Chapel Hill, aunts of the bride.

Arrangements of holly, ivy and cedar were used in the entrance hall, living room and sun room.

The dining room table was covered with a white linen embroidered cloth and centered with a crystal and silver epergne filled with mixed flowers of the same colors as those in the bridesmaids bouquets.

Marking the bride's place was a hand-decorated jeweled egg with a miniature bride and bridegroom, made by the bride's grandmother. The bridesmaids places were marked by similarly decorated eggs containing small figures in greeen dresses.

The bride wore an acqua knit dress with a sheer top of the same color.

The bride presented her attendants with gifts.

PRALINE CAKE

This old-time dessert is worth reviving. White or yellow cake batter from scratch or a cake mix.

1-3rd cup butter, melted
½ cup firmly packed light or dark brown sugar
¼ cup light cream
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flaked coconut

Use cake batter suitable for a square cake pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches) and bake it in that pan. While cake is baking mix together the remaining ingredients. When cake has finished baking remove it from the oven and with a small metal spatula spread the coconut mixture, a little at a time, over the top of the hot cake. Return to a 375-degree oven and bake until topping is golden brown 10 minutes. Serve warm or cold, cutting cake in pan and removing with the spatula.

Sigel-Petska Vows Solemnized Saturday

DURHAM — Miss Carol Jean Petska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Petska of Louisville, Ky., became the bride of Eric Cowley Sigel Saturday at 4:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Mel Doway in the Duke University Chapel. The chapel was decorated with white poinsettias along with the chapel's Christmas decorations. The bride's book was placed in the chapel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory point-de-gaze chantilly lace gown. The gown was fashioned with a princess silhouette with satin ribbon at the mandarin neckline and bands the wrist of the long fitted sleeves edged in grupire. The front of the gown was highlighted with satin buttons to the hemline. The full chapel length train was outlined with natural scallops of lace.

She wore a chapel length mantilla and carried a nosegay of white bridal roses and carnations with variegated holly and matching streamers.

Maid of honor was Carol Howard of Dover, Del. She wore a deep purple velvet dress with a fitted bodice with a high collar. The fitted sleeves had a double ruffle of lace at the cuffs. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with dubonet miniature carnations tied with matching streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Susan Hamilton of Nashville, Tenn., sister of the bride, Miss Faye Thomas of Wadesboro, and Miss Karen Sigel of Lafayette Hill, Pa., sister of the bridegroom.

Their dresses and flowers were identical to those of the honor attendant.

Flower girls were Madonna Carol Hamilton of Nashville, Tenn,, niece of the bride, and Stacy Hume of Greenville. Their dresses were styled identical to the maid of honor's and they carried similar bouquets.

The best man was Dave Miller of Chapel Hill and ushers were George B. Doyle of Chapel Hill, Freddie Fuller of Goldsboro and Chapel Hill, Louis P. Sigel of King of Prussia, Pa., brother of the bridegroom, and Bob Whittenberg of Plymouth Meeting, Pa.

The mother of the bride wore a long pink dress with a low neckline with ruffles which were also repeated at the wrist. The mother of the bridegroom selected a long mint green dress. Both mothers wore hybrid orchids.

After a wedding trip to Mount Snow, Vt., the couple will reside in Chapel Hill until August and then they will move to Philadelphia, Pa.

The bridegroom is a senior at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with a major in business administration. He is a member of Psi Sigma Kappa. He will be employed by the Louis P. Sigel and Sons Independent Isnurance Agency after graduation.

A reception followed the ceremony for the bridal couple at the Dound Sterling.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and decorated with two three branch candelabra and flowers. White poinsettias were placed throughout the room.

The rehearsal dinner was held following the rehearsal at the Carolina Inn, Chapel. A cocktail party preceeded the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Sigel, Jr. for members of the wedding party, family members and out-of-town guests.

A Case Of Mistaken Sympathy, Friendship

By Abigail Van Buren

[c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor and friend of ours lost his wife about six months ago. They were a very happy couple and he took it hard. As a good neighbor and friend of his wife's, I made a special effort to be nice to him—inviting him for meals and including him when we had parties.

Maybe I overdid it, but in my eagerness to cheer him up, he got the wrong idea, and he asked me to meet him alone some afternoon.

That is the last thing I had in mind, Abby! I quickly told him I would not consider it. Now, my attitude toward him has changed. Of course, I'd never tell my husband, but it's difficult to just suddenly drop him without my husband's wondering why. We both thought the world of this man.

Should I try to overlook it, and include him? Or do you think he might mistake my kindness for weakness?

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Give him another chance. But if he gets out of line again, tell him off and cool the friendship. [P. S. Don't you have any unattached women friends who would enjoy his company?]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who loves photography. I have a very good camera, and I hope to make photography my career one day. My mother and I have been having this argument and we've decided to let you settle it.

When I walk down the street, if I see someone who would make a good subject for a picture, I stop them and ask if I can take their picture. Most people are happy to pose for me. I have taken pictures of men, women, and children, but most of my subjects are good-looking young men between the ages of 18 and 25.

My mom says I am just using the "posing" excuse to stop strange young men on the street and talk to them. [I am NOT!] She says I am asking for trouble and it is not ladylike to approach strangers.

Please don't suggest that I take pictures of buildings and statues and things like that. I like people! JO

DEAR JO: I think your mother is right. If you were interested in photography, you would photograph the lined, careworn faces of the aged, and the innocence of the children, and the beauty of nature . . . not the handsome faces of young men between 18 and 25.

Cat Spin Dried For Ten Minutes

COLOGNE, West Germany (WNS) — Elizabeth Schmidt put her wash into the spin drier and then prepared supper for her cat. For ten minutes she search for the missing feline, then opened the drier which had been running non-stop and heard a meow inside. A veterinarian who examined the cat decided that she was spun so fast that she was pinned in one spot among the soft clothes and escaped serious injury.

APPLE BREAD PUDDING

3 eggs
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
2½ cups milk, scalded
3 cups dry bread cubes
2 cups peeled, cored and thinly sliced apples
1 cup raisins

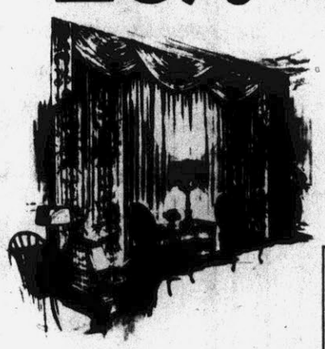

In a medium mixing bowl beat eggs slightly; add sugar and vanilla and beat to combine; gradually pour in scalded milk, stirring well as you do so. In a 1½-quart buttered casserole arrange alternate layers of bread cubes, apples and raisins; add the egg mixture, pouring it over the entire top; let stand 30 minutes. Spoon some of the egg mixture (from bottom of casserole) over the top layers to moisten. Place casserole in a shallow baking pan; add hot water to come half way up side of casserole. Bake in a preheated 350-degree over until a knife inserted in center comes out clean—1½ hours. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Makes 6 servings.

On The Local Scene

by Rosalie Trotman

The old year will go out in style tonight as hundreds of Greenville couples will be welcoming in the new 1973.

The Greenville Golf and Country Club will be the scene of a gala party for members and their invited guests. Festivities will get underway at seven o'clock with a cocktail party with dancing from nine o'clock until one o'clock.

Music for dancing will be provided by the Barry Shank Orchestra.

Another round of festivities will begin at 12:30 with a champagne breakfast. The menu will consist of black-eyed peas, scrambled eggs, grits, sausage, bacon, hot biscuits and "plenty of black coffee."

Partygoers will be given party favors and noisemakers. At midnight, the new year will be greeted with a balloon shower and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

The serving of pizzas and hamburgers was one of the features at a teenage dance held at the country club Thursday night. The Band of Oz provided music for the younger set.

Brook Valley Country Club will be the scene for its annual party and dance which should attract around 200 persons.

Again, the Band of Oz will render music for dancing from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. From 11:30-12:30, breakfast will be served and the menu will feature black-eyed peas.

The annual New Year's Eve dance and breakfast will be staged at the Greenville Moose Lodge for members and invited guests.

The evening's activities will include dancing to music by the Four Keys and the serving of a southern breakfast at 12:30.

Celebrants will be given the usual party hats, favors and noisemakers.

A private party for approximately 100 people will be held at the Fiddlers III.

Prior to a dance with music by the Bhakti combo of Elizabeth City, a cocktail will be held followed by a steak dinner.

Dancing will follow beginning at nine o'clock.

A dance party, open to the public, has been planned for the Buccaneer beginning also at nine o'clock.

During the evening, light hor d'oeuvres will be available. The August Tide combo will render music for partygoers, who will be given party favors.

A dinner-dance for approximately 75 couples will be held at the Candlewick Inn. The old year's ending will be climaxed with music by the Tommy Smith Combo.

At midnight, champagne will be served to those in attendance.

Household Hints

Textile chemists say clothes cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning place ought to be aired thoroughly. Do the airing outdoors or in a well-ventilated room.

A brief machine washing will make plastic shower curtains come clean.

Keep plastic playing cards clean. Wipe with a damp cloth.

Wash the wastebaskets now and then. For easier cleaning, line bottom with a paper bag or folded newspaper to prevent dirt and grit from collecting.

Neat's-foot oil is a leather conditioner. It is ambercolored and comes from the feet of bovine cattle, such as cows. You can buy it at hardware or paint stores.

Think twice before hiring a maid who's grossly overweight. She'll have trouble stooping and reaching.

Redgate-Arnett Vows Spoken

MRS. GEORGE-PAUL REDGATE

The wedding ceremony of Bunny Arnett and George-Paul Redgate was solemnized Saturday at 4:00 p.m. in the chapel of St. James United Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Christian White, pastor. A program of organ music was rendered by Joe Goodwin.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Kathleen A. Brown of Danville, Va., and Mr. W. Ashton Farmer of Gloucester Point, Va., and Mrs. Virginia Lee Nazeley of Mount Kisco, N.Y., and the late Mr. George-Jack Redgate.

She wore an ivory illusion veil attached to a candlelight satin bow headpiece and carried a white prayer book, given by her mother, centered with two cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Ann Gunnell of Danville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Julie Arnett of Greenville, daughter of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore matching formal length gowns designed with an ivory chiffon bodice and rouge velvet shirt. Bands of ivory lace with pink embroidered flowers trimmed the bodice, sleeves and empire waistlines.

Their headpieces were flat double bows of rouge velvet and they each carried a single pink rosebud with pink satin and tulle streamers.

Edward Gunnell of Danville, Va., brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Acolyte was Jim Arnett of Greenville, son of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Odessa, Tex.

The bride attended Averette College, Danville, Va. The bridegroom attended N.C. State University and did specialized studies at East Carolina University. He is general manager of Winwood Mall, Odessa, Tex., a new shopping center developed by Plaza Associates, Inc., Chapel Hill.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. J. Hugh McCutchen and introduced to the receiving line by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Connor.

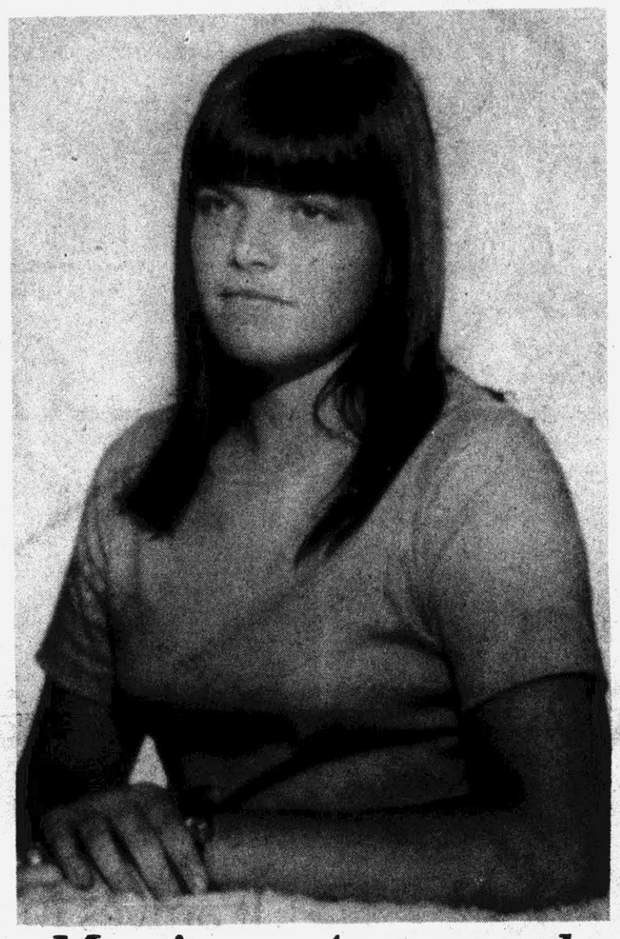

Receiving with bridal couple and her parents were Mrs. F.E. Lansche, mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. F.A. Douglass, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. O.H. Williams, great aunt of the bridegroom.

Mrs. P.D. Toney presided at the bride's register. Mr. and Mrs. G.J. Lovett said good-byes.

Assisting at the reception were Miss Margaret Kinder, who directed the wedding, Mrs. Virgil Kinder Jr., Miss Alice Gilland, Mrs. J.E. Driskell, Mrs. Amos Strange, Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. F.A. Douglass Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Julian Nexsen, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nexsen, Mr. and Mrs. Neltom Nexsen, William Ivey Nexsen, Miss Barbara Jane Nexsen and Miss Nancy Prosser.

Following the rehearsal Friday night, the bridal couple was honored at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erban White Kennedy Jr. Hosts and hostessed were Mrs. Francis Elmer Lansche, Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Scully, Mrs. O.H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Lauteres and Mrs. Ruby Brown.

Also honoring the couple and out-of-town guests were Mrs. Wallace D. Connor, Mrs. James E. Driskell, Mrs. Ralph D. Hoskins, Mrs. Amos Strange and Mrs. Thomas Bailey, who entertained at a breakfast at the home of Mrs. Connor.

Vidnovic To Leverenz Pass Wins Sun Bowl

UP AND OVER — North Carolina's fullback, Sammy Johnson (48), goes over the top of teammate Nick Vidnovic (14), quarterback, for short yardage in the first quarter of action against Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex., Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — North Carolina quarterback Nick Vidnovic responded under pressure Saturday but the Tar Heels' 32-28 Sun Bowl victory over Texas Tech swirled in controversy over an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty that cost the losing Red Raiders a touchdown.

Vidnovic threw touchdown passes of 62 and 13 yards to wingback Ted Leverenz, the last coming with one minute left to play to seal the victory.

The furor centered around a punt that Tech's Davis Corley blocked in the second quarter which was run back 32 yards for an apparent touchdown by All-American guard Donald Rives.

However, Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct when referee Burns McKinney said a Tech coach went on the field during the run. The touchdown was called back and Tech was assessed a 15-yard penalty from the spot of the foul near the Tech bench.

"It was an unusual call," said a seething Tech coach Jim Carlen. "If it had been a clipping call, I wouldn't have questioned it. They (the officials) said it was one of our coaches who stepped on the field during the play. I didn't see it. I spent a good deal of my time trying to avoid a cameraman wearing a red jacket. It is the first time I've had a chance to see a bunch of kids penalized for being enthusiastic."

Tar Heel Coach Bill Dooley said, "I didn't see the play or the flag, but I was sure happy they called it back."

Carlen said the Tech coaches couldn't believe it when the flag dropped.

"We handed the flag back to the official, thinking he had made a mistake," Carlen said.

Vidnovic's pressure performance came after George Smith had dashed five yards to put the Red Raiders ahead 28-24 deep in the fourth quarter. Smith also scored on runs on 65 and 46 yards as Tech rallied from a 9-7 halftime deficit.

Vidnovic also hit Leverenz with a 62-yard pass and run touchdown in the third quarter as the Atlantic Coast Conference champion Tar Heels trailed 21-9. A three-yard touchdown run by North Carolina's Billy Hite put the Tar Heels ahead 24-21 to set up the last-minute flurry of scores.

The unsportsmanlike penalty came in the second quarter after Tech's All-American guard, Donald Rives, picked up a blocked Tar Heel punt and rumbled 32 yards for an apparent touchdown.

Referee Burns McKinney ruled that members of the Tech bench had come onto the field during Rives run. A 15-yard penalty was assessed from the spot of the foul near the bench, much to the chagrin of the men on the Tech bench where a great deal of helmet throwing took place.

Asked about the penalty, McKinney said, "The Tech coaches came on the field, and that's why they were penalized."

It was the seventh Sun Bowl loss in eight appearances for Tech and was North Carolina's first bowl victory since 1963.

Smith set a Sun Bowl record with 172 yards in 14 carries but it was still not enough to overcome Vidnovic's performance. The Tar Heel quarterback completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards.

The Tar Heels jumped to a 9-0 lead when Dennis Alexander kicked a 22-yard field goal in the first quarter and Dick Oliver thundered 22 yards for another score in the second period.

Quarterback Joe Barnes rallied his Red Raiders to put them on the board with 1:45 left in the second quarter on a 14-yard scoring pass to Andre Tillman.

After Smith's two long-distance third-quarter touchdown runs, the Red Raiders, runner-sup to Texas in the Southwest Conference, appeared to have North Carolina on the run.

But Vidnovic found Leverenz open in the flat with a short toss and the Tar Heel wingback shook several tackles as he raced down the sidelines to climax the 62-yard play that put the ultimate victors back in the game.

Smith was voted the most valuable offensive player in the game, and freshman Ecomet Burley, a supero defensive tackle for Tech, was voted the most valuable defensive player.

The victory gave the 16th-ranked Tar Heels an 11-1 season record and was their second bowl victory against five post-season losses.

Tech now has a 2-12 bowl record as it completed its season with an 8-4 mark

Tigers Upset Colorado, 24-3

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sixth-ranked Auburn, a Cinderella team, converted turnovers into an early lead and struck again on wingback Mike Fuller's 22-yard touchdown pass to Rob Spivey to give the the Tigers a 24-3 upset over Colorado in the nationally-televised Gator Bowl football game Saturday.

The Tigers, rolling behind a vicious defensive unit that had carried the team to a 9-1 regular season record, appeared on the verge of handing Colorado its first shutout in 53 games until Fred Lima booted a 33-yard field goal with 7:31 left to play.

Auburn, an 11-point underdog, dominated this 28th annual event, choking off a vaunted Colorado attack that had averaged 363 yards per game.

Auburn cashed in another turnover late in the game after Dave Beck recovered a fumble at the Buffalo 32. Then, on a fake field goal attempt, Beck lofted a 16-yard touchdown pass to Don Nugent with only 1:10 remaining.

The 13th-ranked Buffaloes netted only two yards in the first quarter and entered Auburn territory only three times before their field goal drive, one of those coming on an early fumble recovery at the Tiger 37.

Auburn took a 3-0 lead after 44 seconds elapsed in the second quarter when Gardner Jett drilled a 28-yard field goal. It was set up by Johnny Simmons' interception at the Colorado 24.

Fuller's pass to Spivey with 3:32 left in the third period capped a 54-yard scoring march which got a major assist when Colorado's Billie Drake was called for a face mask violation, giving Auburn a first down at the Buffalo 24.

Drake angrily disputed the call, slamming his headgear to the ground.

After Whatley gained two yards, Fuller came in and lofted the scoring pass to Spivey, alone behind the Colorado defense.

The victory was the sixth in a row for Auburn, which lost only to Louisiana State during the regular season after having been picked to finish in the second division of the Southeastern Conference.

Colorado, meanwhile, fell to 8-4 and became the third Big Eight conference team to lose in bowl competition this season.

Earlier, Georgia Tech beat Iowa State in the Liberty Bowl and Arizona State trimmed Missouri in the Siesta Bowl.

Auburn, holding the Buffs to 267 yards and most of that late in the game, got sparkling defensive play from Sanspree, Bill Luka, Ken Bernich, Benny Sivley and Beck, who also intercepted a pass in the end zone to stop a Colorado threat.

Outstanding player awards went to Whatley, a sophomore who had played only 18 minutes during the season and drew the nod here when starter Randy Walls underwent knee surgery, and to Colorado's Mark Cooney, a standout on defense.

Auburn held All-Big Eight running star Charlie Davis to 12 yards on 14 carries.

Temple's Owls Take Sugar Bowl Consolation

By ED TUNSTALL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Big Bill Walton cocked the hammer on UCLA's shotgun offense, dominated the backboards, and steadied the defending national collegiate basketball champions to a 71—64 victory over surprising Illinois Saturday in the Sugar Bowl Classic's championship game.

The victory was the 53rd straight for UCLA under Coach John Wooden and their eighth of the season.

UCLA, with Walton scoring nine of their first 11 points, jumped to a quick lead, saw the score tied at 11-11, 19-19, and 23-23 before Larry Farmer shot the Bruins in front to stay on a free throw with 5:35 left in the first half. Farmer and Keith Wilkes continued the attack as UCLA surged to a 37-31 halftime advantage.

The Bruins, facing their toughest test of the young season, turned on the speed after intermission and mounted a 16-point lead with Walton, Wilkes and Farmer showing the way to a 53-37 margin.

The Illini's Nick Conner, who played a marvelous game against the 6-foot-11 Walton, and Illinois' Nick Weatherspoon, cut into UCLA's lead and chopped it to eight points, but the Illini couldn't match UCLA's all-around balance.

Walton was the game's top scorer with 22 points as he continued to establish himself as a leading for repeat All-American honors.

The setback was Illinois' third against six triumphs, but the Illini gave the powerful Bruins the best test the defending champs have had this season.

Walton, whose blocking at the basket often stinted the Illinois attack, was named the tournament's most valuable player as the leading vote getter of the all tourney team.

Other members of the team included Conner and Weatherspoon, John Kneib of Temple and UCLA's Tommy Curtis.

The victory was Temple's fifth against four losses while Drake took its second setback against six victories.

Kilgore's 20 points were high for the Bulldogs.

Kneib and Trudeau, both 20-year-old juniors, provided the spark that pushed the Owls from a 36—31 deficit to the victory. Kneib, who hails from Philadelphia, was high man in the Temple attack with 20 points while Trudeau, a native of Hatfield, Pa., connected for 14, all in the second half.

With Dennis Bell and Cleo Kilgore providing the punch, Drake monopolized the game until early in the second half when Temple tied the score on Kneib's field goal.

Trudeau's bucket sent the Owls ahead 44-42 but Kilgore's 12-footer tied it again. Dan

Super Bowl May Be Aired In LA

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle, quoting the Los Angeles judge who upheld the television blackout of Super Bowl VII, said Saturday: "The people have the right to be informed but not entertained."

But Rozelle, speaking the day before the Dallas Cowboys—Washington Redskins National Conference championship game—also regionally blacked out—said Judge Alan Eagleson's ruling would likely become a moot point.

"We fully expect the game to be sold out 10 days in advance of the kickoff (Jan. 14, 3:30 p.m., EST) and that, under our agreement, we will lift the blackout," which normally covers a 75-mile radius of the stadium.

If the game is sold out, about 90,000 fans will be in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the championship game between the National and American Conference teams. Pittsburgh and Miami clash Sunday for the AFC title.

Rozelle reiterated that the NFL is coming under increasing political pressure for its blackout policy, specifically the lack of television coverage of the Washington game. Congress, he said, has threatened to review the league's antitrust exemption to pass legislation outlawing the blackout.

Rozelle said a brief telephone conversation between the referee on the field and an NFL official in the press box had nothing to do with the instant replay but that the NFL official was confirming a rule interpretation regarding the "double touch" by Fuqua and Tatum.

He said using replays to back up—or override—officials' calls on the field would be difficult since perhaps a dozen television cameras would be needed to provide a sufficient number of angles on any particular play and that the game would be greatly delayed by such reviews.

St. John's Wins Third Title

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Schaeffer fired in 31 points as St. John's of New York upended South Carolina 86-79 Saturday and became the first team in the 21-year history of the Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament to win the title three times.

Underdog Manhattan sparked by Bill Campion and Charlie Mahonley, outscored Michigan 26-4 during a 10-minute stretch and held on for an 84-79 victory over the Wolverines for third place.

Schaeffer, a unanimous winner of the tourney's most valuable Player award, pumped in 19 points in the first half when the Redmen raced to a 50-39 lead, outscoring the Gamecocks 17-7 in the closing 5½ minutes.

The 6-foot-5 senior, who scored 40 points in St. John's 121-86 opening-round romp over Grambling, 19 points in a 56-55 quarter-final triumph over Tennessee and 22 points including a jumper with one second left in an 85-83 semifinal win over Michigan, finished the tourney with 112 points, a 28-point average.

There were eight ties and two lead changes in the first half, but in the final 20 minutes St. John's never trailed, leading by as many as 15 points,, 54-39, on two jump shots by Kevin Cluess in the opening minute. South Carolina twice closed the gap to four points, but the Redmen held the Gamecocks off.

When the Gamecocks moved within 68-64, Cluess popped in a jumper. A short time later, after the Gamecocks' Brian Winters connected on a field goal, Cluess again gave the Redmen a six-point lead 72-66, with two free throws.

Kevin Joyce led South Carolina with 24 points while freshman Alex English scored 23 and grabbed 18 rebounds. Cluess scored 18 points and Mel Utley 16 for St. John's, now 7-2. South Carolina is 7-3.

St. John's previously won the Holiday Festival in 1958 and 1964.

Armstrong Leads Shrine Bowl Win

By RICHARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An East team featuring a powerful ground attack spearheaded by Otis Armstrong of Purdue beat the West 9-3 Saturday in the 48th annual East-West Shrine Football Game, giving the East its first victory in five years in the all-star classic.

Armstrong, a 5-foot-10, 197 pound running back, was the unanimous choice as the game's outstanding offensive player. He rushed for a Shrine Game record of 139 yards in 16 carries before leaving the game late in the third quarter with a shoulder bruise.

Dick Jauron of Yale scored the game's only touchdown halfway through the first quarter on a five-yard plunge over the right side. The score was set up by one of the game's many turnovers—a fumble by Nathaniel "Puddin" Jones of Houston on a pitchout from West quarterback Ty Paine of Washington State. John LeHuep of South Carolina recovered on the West seven, and Jauron plunged across on the second rush, but Brad Van Pelt of Michigan State was wide on the conversion.

Jauron, who took over the main rushing chores for East after Armstrong's injury, gained 88 yards in 24 carries as the East rolled up 270 yards on the ground to West's 110. That was a Shrine Game team rushing record, bettering a 229 mark set by the East in 1944.

The West got on the scoreboard midway through the third quarter with a 21-yard field goal by Bruce Barnes of UCLA after a 14-play, 61-yard drive.

East came right back on the ensuing kickoff with a drive from its own 29 to West's 19, and Van Pelt kicked a 27-yard field goal for the game's final points.

Ducks Win Third Place In Tourney

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Freshman Ronnie Lee ignited a sputtering Oregon offense midway in the second half Saturday and the Ducks went on for a 60-47 victory over Wyoming in the battle for third place in the Far West Classic basketball tourney.

Washington State blunted a late Baylor rally for a 65-64 victory and fifth place, while Columbia beat Texas Christian 74-61 for seventh in earlier consolation games.

Oregon nursed a 40-34 lead with 12 minutes remaining when Lee suddenly struck with a pair of baskets and a perfect feed to Burt Fredrickson for a layin which pushed the Webfoots in front 46-34.

They weren't seriously threatened after that.

In the battle for fifth place, the Cougars wasted most of a 12-point halftime lead before Randy Dolven came to the rescue in the final minutes.

Blue Devils Burn Harvard By 102-74

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Sophomore Kevin Billerman paced Duke to a 102-76 college basketball victory over Harvard Saturday night, snapping a two-game losing streak for the Blue Devils.

Chris Redding added 15 points, Gary Melchionni 14, Bob Fleischer 13 and freshman David O'Connell 10 for the winners, 5-4.

The Blue Devils jumped out to a 14-8 lead early in the first half and never were behind, enjoying a 44-36 halftime lead.

Tony Jenkins led Harvard, 5-4, with 18 points. Jim Fitzsimmons, a former Duke player who transferred to Harvard, scored seven points. He had a 24-point average for Harvard last year.

Notches 600th '72 Victory

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Herve Filion climbed another summit in harness racing Saturday at Monticello Raceway when he notched his 600th victory of 1972.

Filion was scheduled for 10 races on the evening card at Monticello and 10 more Sunday at Dover Downs in Delaware.

Filion finished no better than second in the first five races of Saturday's day card at Monticello, but then won the sixth, a mile trot with One Kid, $7, in 2:11 for No. 598. Filion followed this with another victory in the seventh race with Bethel Beauty, $7.20, a pacing mare, who covered the mile in 2:12 3-5.

After finishing seventh in the next race, the 32-year-old driver from Angers, Que., came back to win the ninth race with Sherlock, $4.20, who trotted the mile in 2:13 4-5.

Jaspers Survive For 84-79 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Underdog Manhattan, sparked by Bill Campion and Charlie Mahoney, outscored Michigan 26-4 during a 10-minute stretch and hung on for an 84-79 victory over the Wolverines Saturday for third place in the Holiday Festival basketball tournament.

Manhattan, 7-3, started its decisive spurt against Michigan with four minutes remaining in the first half.

MONROE, La. — A tough 1-2-2 zone, coupled with the ability to get the key rebounds, along with poor East Carolina shooting and plenty of foul trouble, carried Mississippi State University to a 69-64 win over the Bucs and the Pacemaker Classic title Friday night.

Hosting Northeast Louisiana captured third place in the tournament rolling to a 95-82 win over North Texas State.

East Carolina, which saw its record drop to 4-4 for the season, couldn't handle the unbeaten Bulldogs, who chalked up their sixth straight victory of the year.

The game was a nip-and-tuck affair most of the way, and the issue wasn't decided until the final minutes of play.

Mississippi State came out in the 1-2-2 zone and East Carolina wasn't able to crack it all evening, as the Bucs were forced to take the low percentage shots. In the first half, they made only 38 per cent of their shots, and didn't improve much in the second half, hitting only 41.3 per cent for the game. The Bulldogs, who hit a fine 53 percentage in the first half, finsished with 50.9 for the night.

On the boards, East Carolina held a slim advantage, 40 to 36, but the Bulldogs' ability to get the ball in the key situations had a lot to do with the outcome. On a number of occasions in the game the Pirates had several opportunities to either push ahead or expand a lead, but failed to do so, and didn't get a second opportunity because of lost rebounds.

Foul trouble also plagued the Bucs, who lost both Nicky White (with 6:22 left), and Jerome Owens on fouls. Dave Franklin and Al Faber both finished the game with four fouls, Faber having to play the last 14 minutes with that number.

Mississippi State twice built up as much as a seven point spread in the game. The first time was in the opening half, when they went out by 21-14, and the last was just seconds from the end when they got a 69-62 lead just prior to a basket by Franklin before the horn. The Bucs led by only two points in the first half, 4-2, and trailed the rest of the period.

Earl Quash started the Pirate scoring after Rich Knarr hit from the corner to open the game for Mississippi State. Faber followed with a jumper to give the Pirates their only lead of the half. But Jerry Jenkins hit on a jumper to tie it again, and Terry Kusnierz, late named the Outstanding Player of the Tournament, hit two baskets around one by Knarr to run the Bulldogs out to a 10-4 lead with 14:24 left.

East Carolina slowly cut it back to two, with Roger Atkinson getting two free throws and then hitting a jumper to make it 12-10, but after the Bucs twice missed on opportunities to tie it at 16-16, Jenkins hit a free throw and Knarr and Kusnierz each got baskets to give the Bulldogs their biggest lead, 21-14, with about eight minutes left.

The Pirates fought back again and a three-point play by Jerome Owens finally cut it to 23-21 with 4:33 left. But Knarr and Kusnierz hit again, moving the lead back to 29-23. East Carolina outhit them, 5-2 the rest of the half, and trailed, 31-28 at the intermission.

White and Owens each hit quickly to open the second half, putting the Bucs up again, 32-32, but Kusnierz put Mississippi State back ahead. Owens and Faber both hit jumpers, and that gave East Carolina a 36-33 lead, their biggest for the night.

But they couldn't hold it. Kusnierz hit and Jenkins made two baskets to put the Bulldogs back up, 39-36. They held it until Owens hit a bucket and then got two free throws to tie it at 451-41. Quash hit a free throw to return the Bucs to the lead 42-41, but a three-point by Jenkins put MSU back ahead 44-42.

The Bucs tied it at 44-all, they went ahead, 46-45 and 48-47, the last time on a jumper by White. That was to be the last time.

David Fry tied it up and then put the Bulldogs ahead for good with two free throws with about 9:30 left, 49-48. Bill Singletary followed with another free throw, and then he took a lead pass for another basket to give the 'Dogs a 52-48 spread.

Faber got a free throw and Franklin, a basket, to cut the lead to one, 52-51, but the Bucs couldn't push ahead again.

Kusneirz and Jenkins hit to run it back to five, 56-51, and the two teams matched points until the final seconds when Taki Koroneos, the hero of the previous night's win, hit two free throws, and Fry canned a jumper to spread it to seven with about 10 seconds left.

Kusnierz led the Mississippi State scoring with 19 points, while Fry had 15, Knarr had 14 and Jenkins had 12. He also led the Bulldog rebounding with 10.

Franklin, who made the All-Tournament team along with Quash had 16 points and 14 rebounds for the Bucs, while Owens had 13. White rounded out the Bucs double figures with 10.

The Pirates are off until Thursday, when they meet the University of Richmond on the Spiders' home court.

Both UNC, Tech Coaches Irate

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Both winning North Carolina Coach Bill Dooley and losing Texas Tech Coach Jim Carlen were fuming in their respective dressing rooms Saturday following the Tar Heels' 34-28 Sun Bowl victory over the Red Raiders but for different reasons.

Dooley was irate because none of his players were voted as the most valuable in a ballot taken in the press box five minutes before the end of the game.

Carlen was steaming over a controversial unsportsmanlike penalty call that took away a second quarter touchdown from Tech on a blocked punt.

Dooley was angry because Tech's George Smith, who scored three touchdowns and rushed for a Sun Bowl record 171 yards, was named the most valuable offensive player and Red Raider tackle Ecomet Burley was the most valuable defensive player.

"...they shouldn't vote on the players until the game's over...Then we would have been given at least one trophy," Dooley said.

Carlen couldn't believe a ruling by referee Burns McKinney that negated a 32-yard run for an apparent touchdown by nose guard Donald Rives after a blocked punt in the second quarter.

"One of the Tech coaches came on the field and that's why they were penalized, said McKinney."

"It was an unusual call... It's the first time I've had a chance to see a bunch of kids penalized for being enthusiastic," Carlen said.

"If it had been a clipping call, I wouldn't have questioned it. They (the officials) said it was one of our coaches who stepped on the field during the play. I didn't see it."

Tech was assessed a 15-yard penalty from where the referee said the coach stepped on the field.

Dooley said, "I didn't see the play or the flag, but I sure was happy they called it back."

Carlen said, "We handed the flag to the officials thinking he had made a mistake. If it had been a clipping call, I wouldn't have questioned it. It's hard to lose one like this."

The controversy overshadowed a pressure performance by Tar Heel quarterback Nick Vidnovic who threw two touchdown passes to Ted Leverenz, including a 13-yarder with 60 seconds left to play for the winning score.

Colorado Takes Seventh

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Colorado won seventh place in the Big Eight Conference pre-season basketball tournament Saturday by beating Kansas, 71-68, on the shooting of freshman Dave Logan and junior Lee Haven.

Oklahoma's 19th ranked Sooners, 7-1, met Iowa State, 7-2, for third place in the other afternoon game.

Nebraska, 4-5, played Oklahoma State, 3-7, for fifth and seventh-ranked Missouri, 10-0, faced 16th ranked Kansas State, 9-1, for the championship Saturday night.

Kansas' defeat was its 18th in succession on the road dating back to the 1970-71 season. It was the second consecutive year the Jayhawks wound up in eighth place in this tournament.

Logan scored 18 points for the Buffaloes and Haven added 15. For Kansas, Rick Suttle, Tom Smith and Dale Greenlee each had 14.

Colorado led most of the way, grabbing a quick advantage on two field goals by Haven. The Jayhawks managed to take a brief lead, 16-15, on Suttle's 12-foot turn-around with 12:38 left in the first half. However, Ron Wrigley hit two free throws that put the Buffs ahead 17-16.

Being In Limelight Strange For Sooner QB

By RON JENKINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - When you've been a shadow for most of your collegiate football career, it's kind of difficult to get used to the limelight.

That's the situation Oklahoma quarterback Dave Robertson has been in since the Sooners arrival here to play Penn State in the Sugar Bowl Sunday night.

Robertson has been besieged by reporters probably more than any other Sooner, except All-American halfback Greg Pruitt.

Going into the 1972 season, Mildren's shadow was still very much with Robertson. Lacking the running ability of a Mildren, he proved a winning player, anyway. His clutch passing enabled the Sooners to topple Nebraska, 17-14, and snare the Big Eight title.

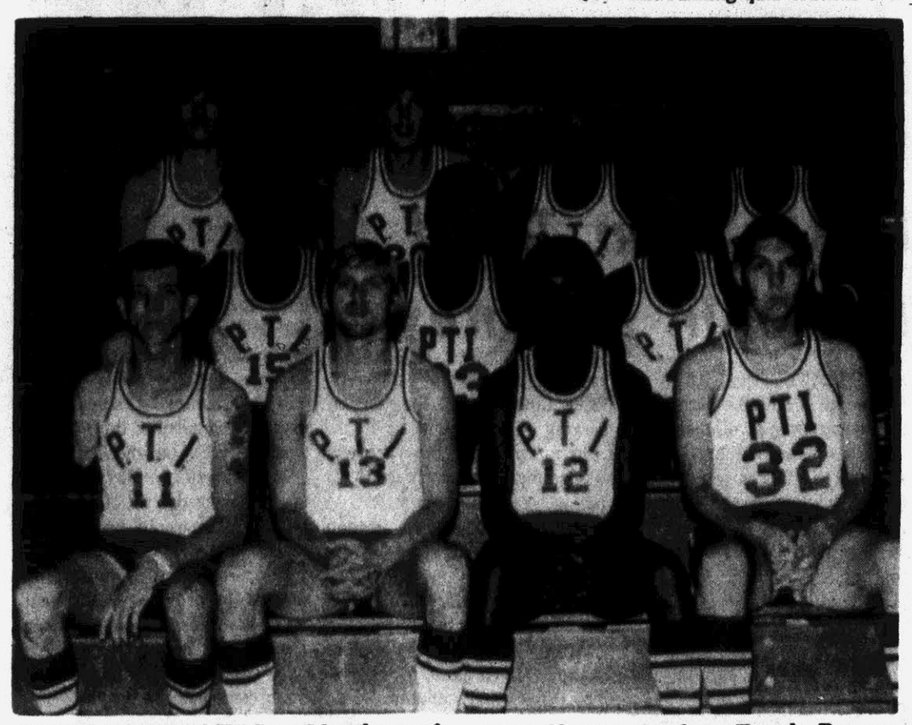

Recruited as a passing quarterback, Robertson was asked Saturday if he would go to a run-oriented school like Oklahoma if he had it all to do over again.

"I'm satisfied with the way things turned out," he said. "We ended up No. 2 in the nation last year and I'll be happy to sit on the bench with any No. 2 team any year. We're doing well again and anytime you win a lot of games I can't see any sense complaining about things."

Robertson's statistics for the year show 278 yards rushing on 120 carries and 1,050 yards passing, completing 56 of 110 attempts for nine touchdowns.

One of the persons most proud of Robertson is Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks, who stuck with him when many were saying that freshman Kerry Jackson should be starting because of his superior running ability in the Wishbone.

"When we recruited Dave we weren't using the Wishbone," recalls Fairbanks. "We thought that he was a good quarterback prospect. He's adapted to the system and we've adapted some to him."

Potential Has To Be Realized By Paladins

By CHIP LAMBETH

WINTERVILLE — Up to now, Pitt Tech's basketball team has been playing, in coach Bob Turner's estimation, ragged. They have the talent and the potential but if they hope to be heard from this season, they will have to get something together, and soon.

Says Turner, "We are not playing up to our potential. We have good talent but we've just been playing ragged." One worry Turner has had is the high number of turnovers his team has committed. This, Turner blames on the fact that some of his players are above 18-years old and have played some service ball. "The older they get, the harder it is to change their ways."

One area in which the Paladins are lacking is ball handling. Frank Brown has been doing a lot of these chores and Turner feels he is the team's most consistant player. He is a returnee from last year's team. Notes Turner, "We have seven players that can score between 20 and 25 points a game. I'm going to let them free lance it a little more and see what they can do."

One of the Pitt Tech strong points is their ability under the boards. Here the shooting has been fairley good. The outside shooting, however, is not up to par.

Neither are the Paladins getting the offensive rebounds that Turner would like to see the team get. "We have been outrebounded often and we need to work on it."

The two quickest boys on the team are Danny Thomas and Henry Beamon. Commented Turner, "We have the best speed now than of any of the three years I've been here. These two look real sharp when the going gets tough."

The Paladins have been getting the defensive rebounds much to Turner's liking. But between midcourt and their basket something snaps and Pitt Tech can't score. The Paladins are going to try to use the press more and work it in as their main weapon. On defense, they usually go with a man-to-man type of set-up and this has been a successful formation. "If the offense would get up to the level of the defense, we could do all right." The Paladins also use a 2-1-2 "...when we need it."

As far as height goes Pitt Tech is a short team. In John Edwards they do have a tall man at 6-9 but Turner feels he is not playing as tall as he should. Next come Charles Jordan and Donald Harrison both at 6-3. Brown is 6-0.

With the conference down to four teams this year, Turner feels the Roanoke-Chowan will be the team to beat. "I have only seen one team and I can't really say. R-C has all of last year's team back but one and they won it last year. I don't see anybody beating them out," Turner noted. "I hope we finish as the ones to push Roanoke-Chowan."

Former southpaw pitcher Al Hollingsworth of San Leon, Texas, turned in his first World Series scouting report with much success. A scout for Oakland's A's, he saw the Reds play 30 National League games.

Jamesville Bumps Off State Champs

JAMESVILLE — South Edgecombe, who swept three games from Jamesville Thursday night, threatened to do it again Friday night as they won both the J.V. and girls games but the Bullets stopped the State 1-A champs and scratched out a 68-67 win.

Jamesville inched into the lead in the first quarter outshooting South Edgecombe 13-10 and the Bullets added two more points to their lead in the next frame netting 22 while SE got 20. At halftime it was 35-30.

Jamesville continued to pull away in the third quarter, running the score out to 54-45 but SE held the Bullets to only two field goals in the fourth quarter as they rallied to tie it at 65-65. The Bullets were hot at the foul line and sank ten free shots in the frame and that proved to be the difference in the win.

Bynum led the scoring with 26, Jackson had 12, and Cotton had 10. For Jamesville, Horace Hall scored 21, Larry Modlin 15, Steve James 14, and Alvin Grimes 12.

The girls game was another rout for SE as they rolled up a 14-point spread in the opening frame en route to a 71-27 shellacking of the Lady Bullets.

Linda Morgan ahd 16 points for the winners. Julie Whitlark had 14, Carol Summerlin had 13, and Fay Bnum had 12.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "It was a pleasure for me to watch us play tonight," said North Carolina State Coach Lou Holtz in an understatement after his Wolfpack rolled over West Virginia's Mountaineers 49-13 in the fifth annual Peach Bowl football game Friday night.

"I've said before that I thought we belonged in the top 20 and I think we proved it tonight," Holtz said. "We've lost three games and the record of those three teams combined is 27-6."

Holtz said freshman quarterback Dave Buckey, who passed for two touchdowns and scored another, "played very well and gave us the leadership we needed. Everything was just tremendous."

West Virginia Coach Bobby Bowden, whose team was held scoreless after the first quarter, said the Mountaineers gave out of gas in the second half. "I will have to take the responsibility of running out of gas," he said. "I don't think we were very well conditioned."

One of Buckey's scoring passes was a 37-yard bomb to his twin brother, freshman flanker Don Buckey, in the first quarter, wiping out a 7-6 West Virginia lead.

North Carolina State put the game away with three touchdowns in the third quarter, two of them in two and one half minutes. Dave Buckey got his touchdown on a two-yard run and shortly afterwards tackle George Bell broke through to block a West Virginia punt at the six. Fritts went over from the one for his second score and added his third on a four-yard run later in the quarter.

The State defense held the Mountaineers scoreless after the first quarter. Frank Nefter booted two field goals and quarterback Bernie Galiffa hit his favorite receiver, Danny Buggs, on a four-yard scoring pass. But after that, the Mountaineers were through for the night.

After the Akron, Ohio Buckey brothers teamed up for their scoring strike, Fritts went over from the four in the second quarter for his first score to put the Wolfpack ahead for good. His three touchdowns tied a Peach Bowl Record.

Dave Buckey hit freshman Pat Hovance on a 14-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter and Willie Burden, the work horse of the State running attack, wound up the scoring with a seven-yard run.

The Wolfpack rolled for 37 yards on the ground as Burden led the way with 116 yards on 20 carries. Charley Young added 90 on 10 carries and Fritts had 53 in 15 attempts.

Dave Buckey, subbing for State's regular quarterback Bruce Shaw who broke his left arm in practice last week, led his team with poise and racked up 139 yards passing with 8 of 13. He had one interception.

Galiffa hit on 16 of 32 for 184 yards but was sacked twice by Wolfpack defenders and was off target on his passing several times. He was able to find his favorite receiver Buggs for only two receptions for 51 yards and one touchdown.

Mike Stultz set up State's go-ahead touchdown in the second quarter with a 35-yard punt return to the West Virginia 12. Ron Sewell's extra point made it 14-13 at halftime.

The Buckey twins almost teamed up for another touchdown late in the second quarter, but the 9-yard strike was called back when the officials spotted Dave Buckey across the line of scrimmage on his passing attempt.

Celtics Blow 18-Point Lead; Lose To Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How, you might ask, can a National Basketball Association team as strong as Boston's Atlantic Division leaders blow an 18-point lead and wind up losing the ball game by seven?

Simple, would be the reply of Celtic Coach Tommy Heinsohn, who watched his team fold up after intermission and lose to Chicago 106-99 on Friday.

"We didn't do anything in the second half," explained Heinsohn. "No defense, no running, no press, no going to the basket, nothing."

All the no-nos, plus 41 points by Bob Love added up to the Bulls' victory over the Celtics. Simple.

Elsewhere in the NBA Friday, New York chopped a full game off Boston's division lead by defeating Detroit 99-94, Buffalo stunned Baltimore 118-109, Milwaukee whacked Houston 114-101, Phoenix whipped Portland 106-99, Seattle defeated Cleveland 99-91 and Los Angeles ripped Kansas City-Omaha 121-92.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky slugged Dallas 131-104 and New York downed San Diego 114-104 in overtime.

New York overcame a virtual one-man show by Detroit's Bob Lanier to defeat the Pistons. Lanier threw in 38 points and grabbed 29 rebounds but he couldn't prevent the Knicks from becoming the first NBA team to reach 30 victories this season.

Walt Frazier led New York with 24 points, 12 of them in the fourth quarter including the jumper that put the Knicks ahead for good. It marked the 10th time in the last 19 games that New York has held an opponent to under 100 points.

Buffalo's Randy Smith took Baltimore apart with 33 points leading the Braves to their upset over the Bullets, leaders in the NBA's Central Division.

Fourteen of Smith's points came in the third quarter when Buffalo built a seven-point halftime advantage to a 92-71 bulge. The Braves shot 58 per cent in the first period and rushed to a 34-22 lead with Smith contributing 13 points in that quarter.

Lucius Allen scored nine points in a 20-6 Milwaukee spurt in the opening minutes of the third period as the Bucks whipped Houston.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Bucks with 35 points, 24 of them in the first half. Jack Marin paced Houston with 23.

Phoenix beat Portland for the 13th consecutive time, riding some hot third period shooting by Charlie Scott to the victory.

Scott bunched 14 of his game-high 29 points in the third quarter as the Suns wiped out an early Trail Blazer lead.

Wilt Chamberlain grabbed 26 rebounds while Los Angeles allstar backcourt combination of Jerry West and Gail Goodrich combined for 55 points to lead the Lakers' romp over Kansas City-Omaha.

West had 28 points and Goodrich 27 for the Lakers, who completely dominated the game.

The Cavaliers had led by as many as nine points in the first half before Haywood's hot hand turned the game over to the Sonics. Austin Carr's 20 points led the losers.

Conley Takes Trio From Havelock

HOLLYWOOD—D.H. Conley's basketball teams swept three games from Havelock Friday night on the Vikings' home court.

The J.V.'s took the opening game 47-39. The girls blasted the Havelock ladies by 54-19 and the boys pulled off a 63-56 decision in the last game.

Conley jumped out to a 13-0 lead in the first quarter of the girls game and coasted the rest of the way. The Valkyries added 15 in the second period to lead at the half by 28-7.

Conley kept pouring it on in the third quarter as they struck for 16 points to Havelock's four and added ten more in the final frame to take the win.

Peewee Denton had her biggest night as she led the scoring with 18 points and Annanel Worthington had ten for the Valkyries.

Conley's boys also took the lead in the first quarter of their game and never trailed. After an 18-11 first period, the Vikings saw the Havelock boys outscore them 15-10 but Conley still led at the half, 28-26.

The Vikings hit for 22 points in the third quarter, upping their lead to 50-36. Havelock rallied and outscored the Vikings in the last quarter, 20-13 but time ran out on them before they could get any closer.

Brown led the scoring for Havelock with 18 and Hardesty had 17. Conley was paced by Mike Sutton with 16. Clennel Streeter had 15, and Larry Daniels had 12.

'Credit Goes To Players': Holtz

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — "This is my happiest moment in coaching," said a jubilant Lou Holtz after his North Carolina State Wolfpack riddled West Virginia Friday night to win the fifth annual Peach Bowl football game 49-13.

"It was a pleasure to watch them tonight," said Holtz, in his first year at the helm of the Raleigh, N.C., school. "But all the credit goes in there," Holtz said pointing to the players in the noisy dressing room.

"Dave Buckey did a great job. . .I could talk forever," Holtz added. "Go talk to them."

Buckey, a 19-year-old freshman, handed the starting quarterback role when No. 1 signal caller Bruce Shaw broke a bone in his arm 10 days ago, captured the game's Most Valuable Player Award before a record Peach Bowl crowd of 52,671 in Atlanta Stadium.

The Akron, Ohio, youngster threw two touchdown passes including a 37-yarder to twin brother Don, and ran for another score.

In addition, he guided the Pack, now 8-3-1, to three Stan Fritts touchdowns runs. Willie Burden, who rushed for 116 yards, scored the other.

"I feel like the whole season was worth it," said Dave Buckey. "I was nervous at the start but the players in the huddle gave me a feeling of security. Everybody was just going great, it's a tremendous feeling."

Losing coach Bobby Bowden of the Mountaineers, now 8-4, felt "Buckey did a great job. His running added another dimension to their attack and we just didn't execute on offense."

Bowden, whose team was held scoreless after getting a pair of field goals and a four-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Bernie Galiffa to Danny Buggs in the first period, credited North Carolina State's tough defense for stopping his potent attack which averaged 36 points per game during the regular season.

"We're a big play team. But they wouldn't allow us the big play," Bowden said. "They just played good football and we didn't."

Bowden then shrugged and said "They played better than us."

There was very little else to say.

Big Weekend To Be Climaxed By Rose Bowl

By KAROL TONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ten tasty weekend treats have been whipped up in bowls from Florida to California for gridiron gourmets.

Post-season college football fanatics whetted their appetites Friday night when North Carolina State frosted No. 18 West Virginia in the Peach Bowl and Tampa edged Kent State 21-18 in the Tangerine Bowl.

But the piece de resistance of the holiday feast is the Rose Bowl, one of three New Year's Day classics involving six of the top 12 teams in The Associated Press pre-bowl poll.

Sophomore Stan Fritts set a Peach Bowl record with his three touchdowns, one from one yard out and two from the four. Quarterback Dave Buckey passed for two TDs, one to his twin brother, Don, and went over from the two-yard line for another. The 37-yard bomb to his brother in the first quarter wiped out a 7-6 West Virginia lead. The Mountineers' only other scores were two field goals, also in the first period.

Kent State, the Mid-American conference champion, mounted a furious fourth-quarter attack after trailing 21-0 at the half but lost the Bowl battle when Herb Page missed two extra-point attempts and quarterback Greg Kokal failed on a two-point run attempt.

Tampa quarterback Buddy Carter teamed with tight end Paul Orndorf for TD passes of 15 and 35 yards in the first quarter before Carter was relieved by Fred Solomon who capped an 89-yard drive with a two-yard run in the second quarter to end Tampa's scoring.

The national championship is at stake in Pasadena, Calif., when top-ranked Southern Cal puts its unbeaten record on the line against 9-1-0 Ohio State.

"This Southern Cal team is the best team Ohio State has ever played," said Coach Woody Hayes, aiming for victory No. 150 and his fourth Rose Bowl triumph in five appearances. "They can run and pass, they have a good defense. There is no weakness to their attack.

"They're explosive but no more hard-nosed than we are. We had to beat the No. 3 team to get here. They didn't have to beat anybody of similar ranking. They are No. 1 and rightfully so. We're No. 3, wanting to be No. 1.

Hayes' Buckeyes earned their ranking and the trip West by beating Big Ten co-champion Michigan, which slipped to No. 8. The Wolverines are the only team in the Top Ten who are absent from the post-season scene.

Defending champion Nebraska, No. 9 this year after losses to UCLA and Oklahoma, takes on 12th-ranked Notre Dame in another Jan. 1 contest—the Orange Bowl in Miami—while fourth-ranked Alabama squares off against No. 7 Texas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The only New Year's Eve action for those who prefer television to horns and hats is No. 2 Oklahoma vs. No. 5 Penn State in the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

Saturday games included the East-West college all-star Shrine game in San Francisco; No. 6 Auburn and No. 13 Colorado in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.; No. 10 Louisiana State and No. 11 Tennessee in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston and No. 16 North Carolina and unranked Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex.

The Rose Bowl, scheduled for 5 p.m. EST on NBC-TV, will be sandwiched between the Cotton Bowl, with the kickoff set for 2 p.m. EST on CBS, and the Orange Bowl, starting at 8 p.m. EST on NBC, assuming play in Pasadena is completed.

Coach Bob Devaney, who announced his retirement before Nebraska's season started, wants one last victory for his 8-2-1 Cornhuskers, favored to beat the 8-2-0 Irish. "I'd like to go out a winner," he said, "and I think our seniors feel the same way. I've placed a lot of emphasis on winning and I'll be very disappointed if we don't."

Two More Championships On Line For ACC Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The six Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams playing in holiday tournaments have won one championship and can take two more.

Wake Forest beat Brown, 65-59, Friday night for the Palmetto Classic crown at Charleston, S.C. Meanwhile, Maryland was beating Georgia Tech, 90-55, in the first round of the Terps' own Maryland Invitational; and North Carolina was getting into the finals of the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu with an 89-72 win over Washington.

In the two other title games involving ACC teams, St. Louis beat Virginia, 75-74, in the St. Louis Invitational; and Furman socked Clemson, 70-59, in the Poinsettia Tournament at Greenville, S.C.

The Deacons, now 5-4, rode the 27-point effort of guard Tony Byers to the Palmetto championship. Brown led by three with nearly 11½ minutes to play when Wake Forest surged ahead with eight straight points.

Byers was named most valuable player in the event.

Playing without Tom McMillen, who has a strained ankle, the second ranked Terps won their sixth straight game and sent Tech to its sixth loss in a row after an opening game win. Freshman John Lucas scored 18 points to lead Maryland, whose next opponent is Syracuse. a 74-73 winner over Bowling Green.

North Carolina, now 9-1, pulled away from a seven-point halftime lead for the eventual margin with a 16-4 spurt early in the second half. Ed Stahl paced the Tar Heels, ranked 11th, with 19 points. George Karl added 17 and three other players were in double figures.

Louisville won the other semifinal game, 95-82 over Hawaii, to gain the championship contest with North Carolina.

Virginia's record dropped to 5-2 as St. Louis' Harry Rogers scored with eight seconds to play and his team ahead by only one point. Rogers finished with 30 points and was named the tournament most valuable player.

Barry Parkhill paced the Cavaliers with 28 points, including eight points in the last 2½ minutes that almost rallied his team to victory.

Clemson lost its second game this season to the Paladins of the Southern Conference despite balanced scoring that cut a Furman lead from 14 to 2 points in the second half. Jeff Reisinger and Van Gregg tallied 14 points each to lead the Tigers, who have a 4-4 record.

In a game Thursday night, Purdue beat Duke in the consolation of the Nevada-Las Vegas Holiday Classic. N.C. State did not have a tournament game.

Agase, who recently accepted the head post at Purdue, told Hula Bowl officials that he had too much work pending in his new assignment to give up the time to participate in the Jan. 6 North-South football game here.

Outcome May Depend On Bradshaw's Recovery

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, unbeaten at home, and the Miami Dolphins, unbeaten period, clash at noon Sunday for the American Football Conference title and a trip to the Super Bowl.

A key to the Steelers' hopes could be how well quarterback Terry Bradshaw has recovered from the flu attack which hospitalized him late this week.

Spirit undaunted, Bradshaw has flatly predicted that Pittsburgh will whip Miami, which is 15-0 after breezing to the Eastern Division title and downing Cleveland 20-14 in a playoff game last week.

Bradshaw spent Thursday and Friday nights in the hospital but he practiced Friday and was to be released again today to take part in Pittsburgh's final tuneup.

"All I need is a night's rest and I'll be ready to go," the blond Louisiana native said after Friday's drill. "This is a game we've worked for all year. I'll be out there."

Reserve tight end Larry Brown also entered the hospital with the flu, and several other Steelers, including defensive tackle Joe Greene were stricken with mild cases.

However, all were expected to be ready by gametime.

The Steelers are 12-3 after capturing the first division title in their 40-year history, and they were kept alive in the playoff's by last week's 13-7 win over Oakland.

The Oakland game wasn't decided until the final seconds when rookie Franco Harris grabbed a deflected pass and ran 42 yards for a miracle touchdown that sent Steeler fans into delirium.

The vastly improved Steeler defense faces a Miami offense that features the power-running of Larry Csonka, the breakaway dashes of Mercury Morris and the precision moves of wide receiver Paul Warfield.

"We're looking forward to playing Miami," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll. "It's a team with a reputation and you have to beat that kind of team to gain a reputation yourself. I think we have the team to do it."

Wake Forest Wins Tourney

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Wake Forest guard Tony Byers was named most valuable player as his Demon Deacons won the Palmetto Classic basketball championship with a 65-59 victory over the Brown Bruins.

Byers scored 27 points in leading Wake Forest to its Friday night victory as Tulane took the consolation title, 61-60, over host Citadel.

Forward Rickey Miller scored the winning goal as the buzzer sounded for Tulane's victory, which improved the Green Wave's record to 3-4, while dropping The Citadel to a 3-3 mark. Eddie Morris, who led Brown with 15 points, paced the Bruins to a 46 43 lead over Wake Forest with 11:22 remaining in the championship game. But the Deacons ripped off eight straight points for a lead it never again relinquished.

They were tied 30-30 at the half.

The Citadel Bulldogs led most of the game with Tulane and held a five-point advantage with 5:30 remaining. Tulane was back even at 57 all with 3:42 left and the scored was tied again at 59.

Flu Bug Loose In Steel City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A busy little flu bug dashing madly about the Pittsburgh camp was the main source of concern for the Steelers yesterday as they prepared fro their New Year's Eve date against the Miami Dolphins to decide the National Football League's American Conference championship.

In today's other NFL semifinal playoff, Washington faces Dallas for the National Conference title.

Several of the Steelers were a bit under the weather during the week, thanks to the busy bug. His sting was strong enough to send several Steelers, including quarterback Terry Bradshaw, to the hospital.

But Coach Chuck Noll expected all of his ailing athletes to be available for the showdown game against Miami. The Dolphins have won 15 consecutive games and another triumph today will return them to the Super Bowl, where they lost to Dallas last year.

Dallas, which got two TDs in the final 90 seconds to overtake San Francisco last week, is also looking for a return ticket to the Super Bowl. All that stands in the Cowboys' way is Washington's "Over the Hill Gang."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry has announced that Roger Staubach will start at quarterback for the Cowboys. Staubach came off the bench to engineer Dallas' late winning drive against the 49ers.

The Redskins, who beat Green Bay 16-3 in the opening round of the playoffs, will be shooting for their first championship game trip since 1945.

That seems like a long time, but then the Steelers have never made it to a title game. That's really a long time.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bill Narduzzi, linebacker coach at the University of Miami will serve as defensive coordinator under new head football Coach Fran Curci at the University of Kentucky, it was announced Friday.

54-Pound Bass Leads Derby

CAPE CHARLES, Va.—With less than two weeks to go in the Winternational Striped Bass Derby, an annual event here where the Chesapeake Bay meets the Atlantic Ocean, the leader is Robert Nagle, of Virginia Beach, who took a whopping 54-pounder while trolling near the pilings of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

The Derby, sponsored by WTAR-TV and open to men, women and children, will end at midnight on Sunday, December 31.

"Although 54 pounds is a lot of striper," tournament director Jeff Dane commented, "I think it will take a bigger fish than that to win the 1972 Derby. There are some really mammoth bass out in the Bay this year."

Even travelers crossing the wide mouth of the Bay via the 17.6 mile-long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel can try for Derby trophies; the Bridge-Tunnel's facilities include a 625-foot pier built out from one of the man-made islands more than three and a half miles off shore, over some of the best fishing grounds in the world.

The Bridge-Tunnel is well within the tournament boundaries which are: The Maryland line on the north, Virginia-North Carolina line on the South and the Virginia portion of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

Trophies will be awarded for the largest fish in each of three divisions: man, women and junior (boys and girls 14 years of age and younger).

Virginia's record striper weighed 58 lbs. 8 oz. and 50-pounders are fairly common. The biggest striper taken in the 1971 tournament weighed just a little less than 57 lbs.

The areas that consistently produce Virginia's biggest stripers are here at the Bridge-Tunnel where the water of the Bay and the Atlantic converge. The huge rocks that protect the superstructure's four man-made islands attract many fish, including stripers.

The mild winter weather that the Bridge-Tunnel area enjoys—average mean winter temperature around 45 or 46 degrees—makes it possible for the dedicated angler to turn fishing into a year-round sport.

Bruins Have Finally Reached The Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins have reached first place in the National Hockey League's East Division after an uphill struggle they've been waging since October.

Thank you, Bobby Orr.

The Bruins used goals by Orr and Mike Walton and some sensational ending by veteran Ed Johnston to shut out Minnesota 2-0 Friday night and move one point ahead of idle Montreal in the East race.

Elsewhere in the NHL Friday, Toronto shut out Pittsburgh 4-0, California ripped the New York Islanders 5-2, and Vancouver tied Philadelphia 4-4 in a brawl-filled game.

In the World Hockey Association, Houston trimmed New England 4-2, Cleveland dropped Quebec 5-3 and Los Angeles whipped Minnesota 5-2.

"We were 14 points behind at one time early last month," said Johnston, who blocked 37 shots for Boston's shutout. The Bruins have moved to the top by losing only once in the last 20 games. It is no coincidence that the hot streak started as soon as Orr returned to the lineup. The Bruins' super defenseman missed the first 14 games this season recovering from knee surgery.

"He's back in form," said Boston Coach Tom Johnson of Orr."He claims we got going just prior to his return, but I think it came when he returned to the lineup."

Toronto goalie Ron Low kicked out 42 shots as the Maple Leafs blanked Pittsburgh. First period goals 19 seconds apart by Dave Keon and Paul Henderson gave the Leafs the quick lead and Darryl Sittler and Denis Dupere added second period scores for the Leafs.

"It didn't make any difference where or how we shot," said Greg Polis of the Penguins. "That guy was in front of everything. We scored seven goals on him last month and tonight he couldn't do anything wrong."

California beat the Islanders in a match of division cellardwellers.

The Seals, last in the West with only six victories this season, got in front fast on Joey Johnston's goal in the opening minute. The Islanders, who have won only four games all season, two of them against California, tied it on a goal by Billy Harris but the Seals took the lead for keeps on scores by Pete Laframboise and Marshall Johnston before the end of the period.

Vancouver rallied for the tie against Philadelphia on a pair of third period goals by Don Tannahill and Bobby Schmautz but it was a brawl that sent Flyer players into the stands that dominated the action.

Biggest Year For Boating

By JACK WOLISTON

NEW YORK UPI — Recreational boating has just closed out what industry spokesmen call "the biggest year in boating in history."

A year-end report shows record totals in the number of boats on the water, the number of Americans participating in the sport and the number of dollars spent by boatmen

The report offers these estimates:

—There were 9,210,000 recreational boats in existence on all waters of the United States in 1972, 2.55 per cent more than the 8,981,000 counted in 1971.

—A total of 46,000,000 persons participated in recreational boating, using the nation's waterways more than once or twice during the year. This represents a 2.4 per cent increase over last year's figure of 44,905,000.

—Retail expenditures on boating in 1972 reached $3.9 billion, up 8.03 per cent over 1971-s $3.61 billion. This includes dollars spent on new and used boats and equipment, fuel, insurance, dockage, maintenance, launching fees, storage, repairs and club memberships.

A breakdown of the record fleet of boats on the water in 1972 shows an estimated 5,420,000 outboard boats, compared with 5,315,000 in 1971; 2,400,000 utility boats, including rowboats, dinghies, prams and canoes, compared with 2,384,000 the previous year; 800,000 inboard motor boats compared with 750,000 and 690,000 sailboats with inboard power, compared with 643,000

Despite the fact ther were 229,000 more boats on the wter in 1972, there was no significant increase over 1971 in the number of marinas, boat yards and yacht clubs, which provide mooring and docking facilites, fuel, repairs and other services.

The number of marinas and boat yards with waterfront stations was estimated at 4,600,000 up 100 from 1971. The number of yacht clubs was put at 1,3000, down 100 from the previous year.

Indicating the growing popularity of trailering smaller craft from one boating area to another was the continuing increase in trailer sales.

HIGHLIGHTS '72

TORNADO DAMAGE . . . Extensive property damage but miraculously few injuries resulted from the May tornado that swept through the county. Scenes like the one above were common, especially in the Red Oak and Oakdale subdivisions, and in the Bell Arthur community, following the fierce winds.

The year 1972 was an eventful one in Greenville and Pitt County, one of joys and tragedies, of the expected and the unexpected.

JULY 4TH... was marked by Greenville's first Independence Day celebration on the Town Commons. The activities, sponsored by the Jaycees, drew large crowds and participation was heavy in all events, including the egg race, as shown above.

Text by Tom Baines

At first recall, 1972 would appear to lack the quantity of big news stories that characterized recent years, but a review of day to day happenings reveals that the year produced its share of important events, both good and bad.

The first part of an educational dream was realized in September when East Carolina University's new Medical School opened with a class of 20.

Inauguration of the new medical program took place amid hopes that the infant one-year school would be expanded ultimately into a four-year institution.

ECU had already requested the new University of North Carolina Board of Governors to expand the medical program here to two years by September of 1974. A health subcommittee of the board was appointed to study the medical situation and a report from that body is expected sometime during January.

Speculation of a possible fight in the 1973 General Assembly for a four-year program at ECU added tinder to the fire. Ultimate expansion of the school to a full four-year program received the backing of Gov. Bob Scott as well as most members of the Legislature from the east.

ECU officially became a part of the state's new 16-member higher education system on July 1 when the sophisticated program went into effect. Under the new system, created by the 1971 General Assembly, all 16 state supported institutions became a part of the University of North Carolina and fell under the auspices of the equally new Board of Governors.

As head of ECU, Dr. Leo Jenkins' title was changed from that of president to chancellor, also effective July 1, and William C. Friday officially became president of the new educational system.

A series of hearings on the Chicod Creek Watershed Project began in January and environmental groups attempted to block efforts of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service to channelize a 66-mile section of the creek in Pitt and Beaufort Counties.

The SCS contended that the project would allow the creek to carry more water and also result in more land drainage while opponents cited the dangers to fish and wildlife.

U.S. District Judge John Larkins issued a restraining order blocking execution of the $1.5 million effort and later curtailed any awarding of project contracts when he signed a temporary restraining order. No further action has taken place since the contract bids were withdrawn.

On Jan. 16 the new Wahl-Coates School on E. Fifth Street was dedicated. The $1.2 million structure is the city's newest educational facility.

The last day of January brought the area's first major fire as buildings used by Knott Glass Co. on Dickinson Avenue were damaged extensively and estimates of stock loss and damage totaled $12,000.

In March, an early morning blaze destroyed Reese Furniture Co. on 14th Street and on April 8, fire destroyed the Shrunken Head clothing shop on E. Fifth Street, also causing moderate damage to near-by businesses. A June 23 fire leveled the Jerome Perkins Store in Stokes and some $50,000 in damages resulted from a fire that was discovered after classes were dismissed from the Robersonville Elementary School on Nov. 13.

Later in November, a predawn blaze destroyed the old Growers Warehouse on 14th Street. Tax records listed the value of the building and lot at $75,100 and cause of the fire was undetermined.

Plans for several new industries and expansions of others were unveiled during the year. U.S. Industries led the way when it announced plans to locate an apparel manufacturing plant in Ayden and the early February disclosure was followed by a Feb. 7 announcement by National Boat Works that plans were being made for a new multi-million dollar plant on the new eastern bypass. Construction has since been completed on the new plant.

On March 8, Wachovia revealed plans for a new three-story bank headquarters here on the corner of Washington and Fourth Streets and ground was broken for the structure on April 11.

Tom McGuane Industries, manufacturers of automotive components, announced the creation of a new southern division to be located here and production is expected to begin early in 1973 following renovations to a training building purchased from Greenville Industries north of the city.

On Dec. 1, Farmville commissioners reported that a new waste treatment plant, costing an estimated $3.75 million, would replace the two facilities now in use. The plant will be located east of the town limits and construction is expected to be completed around June of 1974.

The elections, both primary and general, drew the attention of Pitt voters during 1972 as they were called upon to help decide a variety of races ranging from the presidential contest on down the list.

Jim Hunt topped the Democratic vote getters in the lieutenant governor battle and Nick Galifianakis edged Sen. B. Everett Jordan in Pitt County in the U.S. Senate contest.

Second primary runoffs saw Pitt County reverse its choice for the governor's seat on the Democratic side as Taylor topped Bowles, although the latter retained his overall lead to win the nomination. Gardner again defeated Holshouser in Pitt County but Holshouser caught the Rocky Mount businessman in the statewide runoff and took the GOP nomination for governor. Galifianakis again won Pitt County over Jordan and also took the state Democratic nomination.

In November, for the first time in many years, traditionally Democratic Pitt backed a GOP nominee for president as Richard Nixon easily topped George McGovern. In the governor's race, the county voted for Bowles over Holshouser but the Republican took the election. U.S. Senate candidate Jesse Helms, who had little opposition in the primary, edged Galifianakis in Pitt County and also captured the overall senate election in a surprise show of strength.

Sports played a major part in the news picture for 1972 as East Carolina University made strong showings in several Southern Conference sports. In March, the Pirates captured the SC basketball crown and earned a spot in the NCAA Eastern Regionals but dropped a first round game to Villanova. ECU won the conference golf championship in May for the second straight year and also took conference honors in wrestling.

One of the highlights in ECU sports history took place on Nov. 11 when the Pirates trimmed William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va. to win the schools first conference title in football.

The Pirates finished the season with a 9-2 record, losing only to Atlantic Coast Conference foes North Carolina State and North Carolina. The glitter of the season was dimmed somewhat, however, when the Tangerine Bowl committee passed over ECU in making its bowl selections.

Two towns celebrated centennials during the year. Farmville and Robersonville planned and enjoyed activities as part of 100-year anniversaries.

Death and tragedy again saddened the hearts of Pitt Countians during 1972. In February, one of the county's most popular citizens, Vernon Cox of Winterville died after serving on the Pitt Board of Commissioners since 1969. J.H. Rose, long time educator and for 48 years superintendent of Greenville City Schools, died in March, and in June, David E. Wilcox, 29, executive director of the Greenville-Pitt County Boys' Club, died in a boating accident near Whichard's Beach. Fountain police chief Joesph Leonard Hobgood was killed in a Dec. 1 car wreck west of Greenville.

One person was killed and four others injured in a nine-car pile-up on N.C. 11 between Winterville and Ayden on Nov. 28. Low hanging fog and smoke was blamed for the 6:10 a.m. tragedy on the four-lane highway.

More than a dozen persons were injured and a large number of vehicles damaged on the evening of Dec. 6 when violence broke out in the W. Fifth Street area of the city following the shooting death of a black by a Greenville Police officer earlier in the afternoon. The assault on motorists passing through the W. Fifth Street area resulted in serious injuries to several and an estimated $9,000 in damages to property.

On Dec. 7, two illegal burning attempts and a window breaking incident continued the pattern of unrest and law officers blocked off a 20-30 block area of W. Greenville. Greenville Fire Department officer Lt. Amos Harrell died of a cerebral hemorrhage while on duty during the period of unrest.

Some 20 Rose High students were suspended from school on Dec. 11 and sent home following incidents believed to have stemmed from the Dec. 6 shooting.

In August, city manager Harry Hagerty resigned after over ten years in his post and on Sept. 14 William H. Carstarphen was named to the city manager position.

On May 15, a tornado bolstered by a frontal system moving across the state touched down in at least two areas of the county causing heavy damage to buildings in its path. Extensive damage was inflicted in the Bell Arthur area, as well as in the Red Oak and Oakdale subdivision.

Only minor injuries were reported as the tornado swept through and piled up damages estimated at over $626,000.

Earlier, in April, a twister stormed through Martin and Washington Counties, causing between $20,000 and $30,000 in damages to mobile homes, tobacco barns, and shelters in the area. No injuries were reported.

Several important appointments were made during the course of the year. Sen. Vernon White of Winterville was named to a seven-member Tobacco Advisory Board, Dr. Ray Minges was named chairman of the Greenville Utilities Commission, Jack Whichard was elected president of the Pitt County United Fund, Joe Laney was selected to head the Redevelopment Commission and Housing Authority as executive director, and Henry Oglesby of Grifton was named by Gov. Scott to the State Highway Commission. Also, Gen. John A. Lang Jr., who served as vice president-internal affairs for East Carolina University, was picked by Scott to head the new Department of Military and Veterans Affairs as secretary, and Grahan Gutting was named executive diector of the Boys' Club here.

Greenville's first Fourth of July celebration was a success and plans were made for the second event in 1973.

The Greenville Tobacco Market opened on a limited basis Aug. 8 and prices for the first day averaged a record $85.92. The season average for the local market was $87.66.

Grifton held its second annual Shad Festival on April 8.

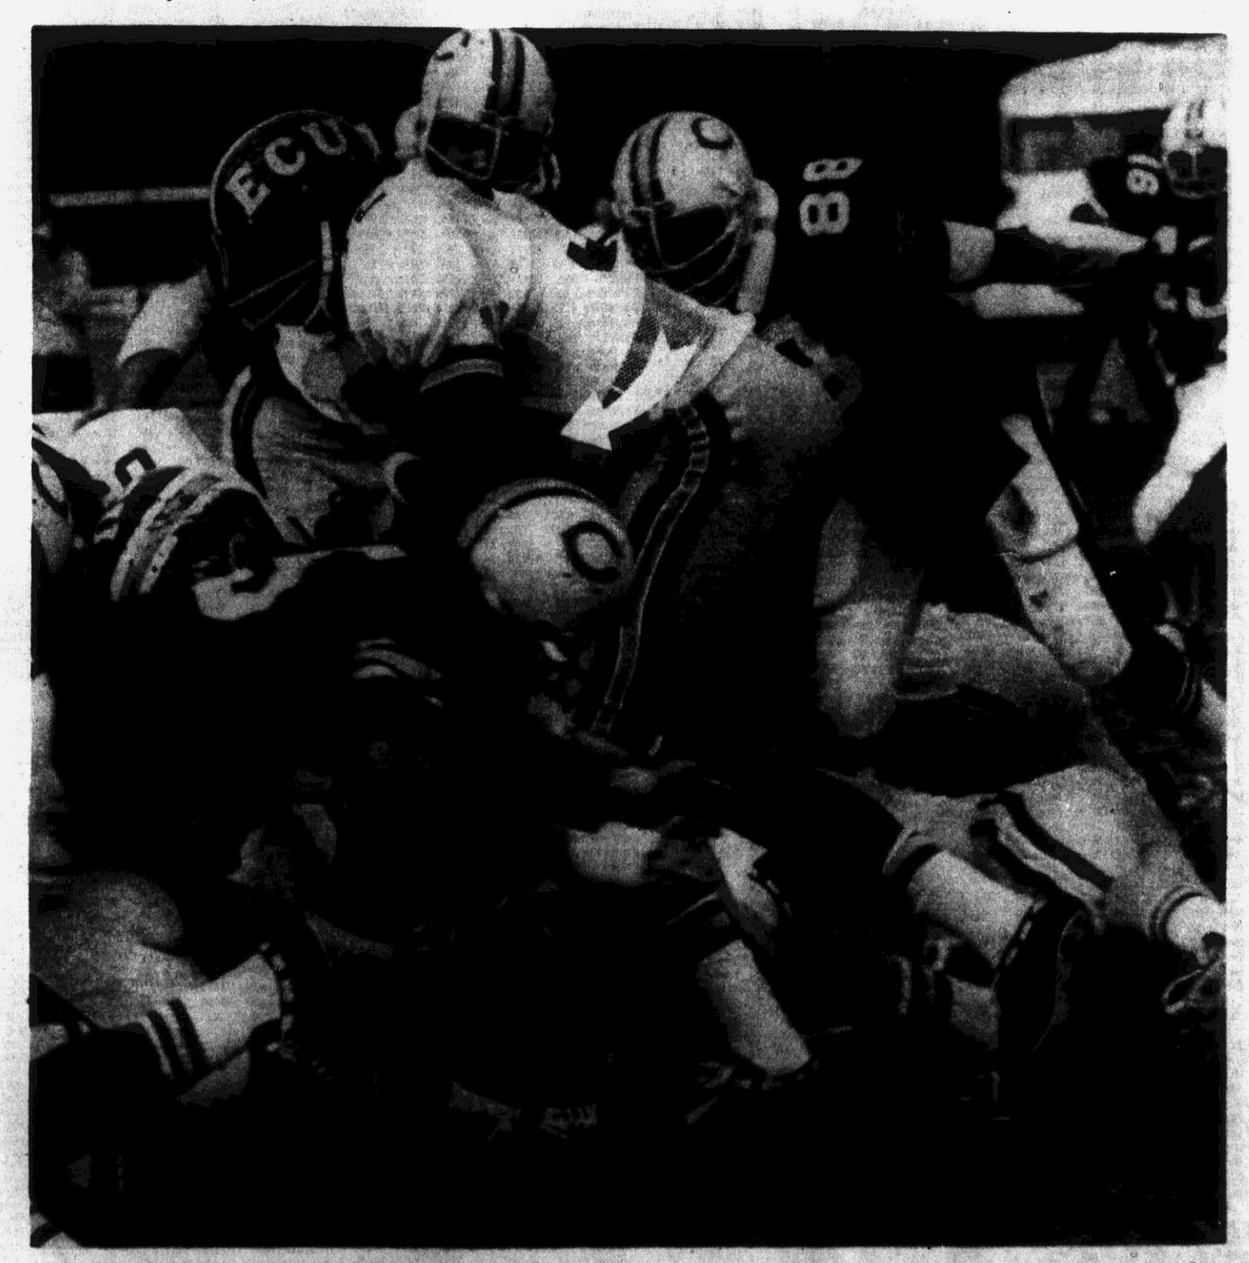

On Oct. 13, Eddie Greene, Robert Jones and Ralph Kinsey were introduced as new members of the East Carolina University Board of Trustees. In November, the governor announced the appointment of Clarence Wickham of Tarboro to the board, replacing the late Henry Belk of Goldsboro. Trustees elected Attorney General Robert Morgan to another term as board chairman, while David Whichard was named vice chairman.

Greenville businessman Wilber Hardee presented 8,500 shares of Little Mint Inc. stock to the ECU Foundation on July 7 to be used toward construction of the proposed planetarium on campus. The stock, valued at $60,000, pushed the fund drive for the planetarium over the top.

The ECU Foundation for Health Affairs received its largest contribution to date on Dec. 28 when the Brody brothers, who operate department stores in Greenville and Kinston, and Columbia, S.C., presented a gift of $100,000. The funds were contributed by Morris Brody of Greenville, Leo Brody of Kinston, and J.S. Brody of Columbia, S.C., to be used to establish The Brody Brothers Professorship.

UNDISTURBED . . . This portion of Chicod Creek, just off the Grimesland Highway, will not be disturbed in the watershed project. Approximately the last five miles of the creek would be left untouched, according to project plans, in order to prevent ecological damage to the Tar River in which the stream empties.

Millington: One Story Living

MILLINGTON 12/31/72

ONE-STORY CHARMER — The Millington, designed by Associated House Plans, puts a premium on one-story living. There are three bedrooms, two full baths, a large living room with fireplace and adjoining outdoor redwood deck, combination kitchen and family room, utility room, two-car garage with storage or hobby room and unfinished basement.

By GERRY BISHOP

The exterior is distinguished by a cupola and weather vane above the garage. Also pleasing is the front porch with pillared archways. Vertical siding is used on the upper part of the facade to provide an interesting pattern. Shutters complement the double-hung windows.

The floor plan is tailored to the habits of a large, active family. There are three bedrooms, two full baths, a living room with corner fireplace, family room, modern kitchen, utility room, hobby room and double garage.

The unfinished basement provides space for future expansion. And the redwood deck adds an extra dimension of living area in good weather.

Frame construction is used throughout. Ten-inch bevel siding is called for, with vertical siding on the gable ends. The asphalt shingle roof has a 5-12 pitch.

The main entrance is sheltered by a small porch that could serve as a shady refuge for relaxing during the day or evening.

Double doors open into a center hall which connects the sleeping wing with the main living section. A large closet in the center hall is an added convenience.

The living room is exceptionally well located. It has fine entertainment possiibilities which are enhanced by the log-burning fireplace. The dimensions — 20 feet by 15 feet — get a boost from the redwood deck. Sliding glass doors connect the two areas.

The kitchen and family room are combined in a large open area. Appliances and cabinets form a U to create an efficient work area. The family room would be ideal as an informal dining area.

Next to the kitchen is the utility room which has space for a washer and dryer. This is a handy arrangement that would appeal to homemakers.

There is space for two cars in the garage. An adjoining hobby room or stroage area could be put to good use as a workshop or sewing room.

The bedrooms occupy the left wing, separating the sleeping quarters from the rest of the house.

The master bedroom has a private bath with shower, a dressing area and a large walk-in closet.

The other two bedrooms are just a step away from the main bath.

The main living area has 1,612 square feet and there is an equal amount of space in the basement. The garage-utility-storage section has 660 square feet. The exterior dimensions are 68 feet by 42 feet.

Try This: A Mini-Stadium

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In 1973 consider turning one room of your apartment or house into a mini sports stadium.

It would be equipped with enough comfortable seats to accommodate friends, a television screen large enough to be seen from every angle of the room and a wagon that may be used for hot dogs and soda pop. Maybe even a score board.

You then may live happily ever after with your husband, the sports viewer.

That is the conclusion reached by a kaffee klatsch group that considers itself underprivileged, honorary members, they say, of the "we-don't-go-no-place-no-more" club.

There is a going cliche that "more people are entertaining at home," but the truth is that more people are staying home but they aren't entertaining anyone. And they aren't being entertained.

Afternoons, evenings and far, far into the night, if typical, the man of the house is huddled in front of the television. Any wife who can manage to entertain in the 30 minutes or so between the last football game of the day and the first hockey game deserves a diamond tiara for effort.

These days most entertaining never gets off the ground. More and more women are extending invitations by telephone — "feelers" as it were. "I'm planning to have a little party after the game," a woman will whisper into the telephone (so her husband won't hear). She knows by experience that after a hard day's viewing the average mate is ready to dream of touchdowns, goals, batting averages, point spreads, but a would-be hostess must keep trying. Many a brave hostess, who should have known better, has put uneaten boeuf bourguignon for 20 in the freezer.

One woman thought she had the solution — a late, late party. She was overjoyed at the acceptances. If need be wives would prop up their husbands, drive them to the party, carry them home, they assured her. But the unexpected happened — the hockey game went into overtime. Scratch that party.

The football bowl season may well be the worst of all sports seasons, some women have decided, because it occurs at the height of the holiday time. There are not only the bowls, but the super bowls and the super-super bowls. Later the hockey season will parlay one playoff into another playoff. The stanley Cup playoff has been known to wipe out 10-year-old bridge clubs and anniversary dinners.

Basketball seems to be a perennial sport on television and in other seasons there are golf, tennis and bowling matches. Every sport gets into the video act.

Comes a day when the week's television programs do not seem to list a single event, or so it seems. But the lady of the house didn't realize the Bing Crosby Classic isn't a singing tournament. It's a golf game that tees off forever and ever.

Lamenting their grass widowhood, the coffee drinkers group considered asking for equal time with the boob tube, but why be spoil-sports. Sabotage? He would just gravitate to another television set. Strike? He wouldn't even notice the picket signs.

Women who once were fond of complaining that their sports-lovin' husbands were always at stadiums on weekends now agree that you can get too much of a good thing — a man. Years of tiptoeing into the presence of the lone viewer with trays of snacks and warming dinners over and over has made one woman feel like the keeper of a video cage — with a mummy in it.

But — if there were one big room for the sports viewer, he might agree to being a little more social. And who knows, if sportsmen were to arrive with their wives, it might turn the event into a pleasurable experience. At least the ladies would have the company of each other.

An old tea wagon might serve as a hot dog wagon. Cold drinks could be put into a bucket of ice. Entertaining might be revived painlessly and inexpensively.

The mini stadium could make a lot of sense. But if everyone has one, who will visit whom?

Here's the Answer

Q. — We put some decals on the glass window at the front of our house. They were removed recently without much trouble but we have been unable to get off most of the adhesive residue. We tried several cleaning agents without success. Is there anything that will take off the adhesive?

A. — Try rubber cement thinner, available at art supply stores. The adhesive then will come off by rubbing or scraping with a single-edge razor blade.

Q. — I have recently taken up wood finishing and find it a fascinating hobby. There are lots of things that puzzle me yet, but the one I want to ask about now is the kind of oil to use with pumice. All the instructions I have seen call for the use of oil when rubbing down a surface with pumice, but I do not know what type of oil. Can you help me?

A. — After you have been finishing wood for a period of time, you will discover that all wood finishers have pet methods they swear by. In the area of the oil to be used with pumice, there is much disagreement. Some of the types which have their supporters are crude oil, household oil (such as is used for sewing machines), paraffin oil and mineral oil. And there is one school of thought which maintains that water is a better lubricant for a pumice rub than oil. My suggestion is that you do a little experimenting until you decide on your own favorite.

Q. — I read that shellac should not be kept around the house too long or it will deteriorate. I bought a jar of shellac about a year ago and used only about one-fifth of it. I then sealed it tightly and haven't touched it since. I soon will have a project to do on which I want to use shellac. Is it too old to use?

A. — There is no way to tell that because everything depends on how tight the air seal is. But there is a definite possibility that it may not be of the proper consistency. What you should do is to try a little on a piece of scrap wood as close as possible to the kind of wood that will be used in your project. Apply the shellac under good conditions — mainly, where it is warm and dry — then wait a few days. If the shellac does not dry properly or develops any kind of film, the chances are that it has deteriorated and needs replacing.

The squash won a bronze medal for its earliness, prolific yields and green, glossy quality. Aristocrat, we are told, won't fatten up and spoil as rapidly as other Zucchinis. First fruits are ready within 48 days of sowing seed directly into the garden. The fruit is straight.

The large, easily handled seeds are best planted in groups of three and four spaced 2½ feet apart in fertile soil after danger of frost is past. They like sun and germinate in about 10 days. It is recommended that seedlings in each group be thinned to one healthy plant.

Male and female flowers appear on the same plant. The female flowers produce the fruit after pollination from a male flower.

The big yellow flowers of Zucchini squash are edible. Pick them early in the morning and fry them in batter.

Peter Pan Scarlet Zinnia offers large flowers on dwarf plants, excellent for the small plot. The plants average about a foot tall and the flowers three-to-four inches across. The plants stay compact and neat and put on a show all summer.

Happy Face Marigold, a bronze medal winner, is a so-called hedging type, based on its neat, uniform habit of growth. It is a golden yellow, with four-inch flowers on 26-inch bushes. It will bloom from July until frost.

Both Peter Pan Scarlet Zinnia and Happy Face Marigold are easy to grow from seed. They may be started indoors and taken out when frost danger ends.

It is quite possible, although I have never made an actual count, that I get more mail during the course of a year asking about excessive moisture than any other single subject.

The questions mostly concern sweating windows, with occasional references to mildew and musty odors. In all cases, the culprit is too much moisture, another way of saying that the relative humidity is too high.

With a good barometer (a cheap one seldom operates efficiently for very long), you can measure the relative humidity in your house, the ideal figure being between 30 and 45 per cent. But your windows are excellent one-way barometers, sweating when excessive moisture is present.

The sweating is condensation, which occurs when warm, moist air hits a cooler surface. Condensation takes place wherever this condition is present, so that it also may happen on certain walls or other cool surfaces. When it occurs on a ceiling, it is usually because the ceiling is under an unheated, uninsulated attic. But generally, we first see condensation on windows, not only because they are the most visible but because they are likely to be the coolest of the various surfaces within the home.

Sometimes, condensation may be present on a window even though it is fitted with a storm sash. Theoretically, this shouldn't happen, since the storm sash is designed to keep out the cold. But when it does, you can be sure the storm sash isn't fitted tightly enough. Outside air is getting through and cooling the inside window.

If the storm sash eliminates the condensation on the inside window but does its own sweating, then it's the inside window that isn't air tight. Warm, moist air from the house is getting through to the cold sash and forming condensation. The solution is to apply weather stripping to the inside window. You would have to ask your hardware dealer to give you the proper type of weatherstripping, being certain to tell him whether the window is to remain immovable for at least the season or whether you intend to open it now and then.

While keeping the inside window from getting cold will prevent condensation, excessive moisture within the house must be cut down or it may go through the walls to the outside, causing peeling and blistering of exterior paint. Vents and-or exhaust fans will take out the moist air; dehumidifiers will trap it.

(The solutions to 35 common household problems are contained in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Inappropriate To 3 Out Of 4

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Nearly three out of four Michigan Education Association (MEA) members feel court-ordered busing is "inappropriate," according to an MEA POLL.

The poll, published in "Teacher's Voice" magazine, found 73.1 per cent of the members believed racial busing inappropriate, 21.4 per cent appropriate and others "no opinion."

There are some things in life that have no price.

At Stratford Arms we try to create an atmosphere that makes it a happy place to live.

Even though our apartments are reasonably priced some people think the attitude and atmosphere are priceless. Come and see and feel it. Sorry we're all booked on 3-bedroomers but our 1 and 2 bedroom apartments are a delight.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: As the last day of the old years opens, you find your best aspects come from renewing an acceptable spirit and making sure you carefully plan a campaign for the future that can bring to you the things that are truly important to your progress.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Plan just how to gain your finest aims in the most efficient way in the near future Get in touch with associates and see how far they will go to help you The evening is fine for the social

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Come to a true understanding with an associate so that all starts on the right note as the New Year draws near Get responsibilities well organized so they can be handled cheerfully

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to those duties that need to be done and then come to a better understanding with mate Take health treatments through proper exercise Virility is very important now Forget excesses

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan the kind of recreation you want to enjoy today instead of just letting others take you along to their type of fun Make plans with mate for a happier New Year Don't argue

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Make plans with kin and figure out how to make the New Year a happy and productive one The evening is best spent at home with kin and pals you really like Greet the New Year with enthusiasm

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Plan time to be with friends and show how anxious you are to continue the relationship in the New Year Call or cable out-of-towners who mean a great deal to you Have fun tonight

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) A good day for analysis of all your aims and needs, whether of a personal or a business nature and to talk them over with wise persons you know Greet the New Year with friends and loved one

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Make sure your health is improved so that you can be ready for the important days ahead Clean up odds and ends during the morning Assume the right mood for the evening's entertainment

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Make your plans now to usher in the New Year properly so that you can have greater success and happiness Get together socially with a person who has practical ideas for your advancement

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Arrange a meeting with many allies and discuss how to make the year 1973 a most successful and happy one During the daytime try to reconcile with one you have wronged Have a happy time tonight

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Plan how to have more harmony and charm around your home during the day Wish good friends a Happy New Year You can have a perfectly wonderful time with pals and kin in the evening

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Attend the services that will help you attain lofty thoughts so you can welcome the New Year in a most ideal way Give thought to new conditions that have arisen Express happiness

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those young people who appears to be most serious and is Teach to use the smile more, otherwise much of the success possible here will be lost, and personal happiness lessened There is great organizational ability in this chart The education should be directed along avenues of expression, whether in business or along political lines May everyone have a wonderful New Year!

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Say Dam Design Is Quakeproof

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviets have designed a 378-foot high "lightweight" earthquake-proof dam in Uzbekistan, the Tass news agency said.

The Kamyravat dam, two-thirds of a mile long, will consist of 35 hollow sections placed side by side and capable of withstanding an earthquake up to nine points intensity.

Children Follow Mother's Lead

By DR. HAIM GINOTT

ADULT ATTITUDES ARE CONTAGIOUS

Note to Readers: The encounters depicted in my column are designed to serve as a practical guide to improved communication. They are not to be taken literally. They should be adapted to individual situations and individual ways of speaking.

A Mother's kind approach to situations are contagious. Children absorb it, emulate it, and make it part of their personality.

Here's an example: Joan's dog, Candy, picked up a potato chip bag. Mother said, "Drop it!" Candy did. Mother bent down to pat her saying, "Thank you, Candy. I really appreciate that. I know it wasn't easy for you. You love the taste of that salty, crunchy bag. That was a real sacrifice."

Joan, 11, said. "Mommy, you know anyone else would have said, 'good dog,' but you expressed your feelings of appreciation and you also recognized Candy's feelings. That's a nice way to talk."

Joan learned her lesson well, as illustrated by an incident that occurred a few days later:

Joan was having a rough time on her evening walk with Candy. The dog was disobeying her commands, running into traffic and refusing to enter the house. She was furious and close to tears. She yelled, "Improvement is definitely needed! And listen, Candy! I'm refraining from calling you names. I am not saying you are a bad defiant dog, because I don't want to hurt your feelings."

Jerry (14): Al, will you quite banging on the piano?

Al (9): Gonna make me?

Jerry : I could; but I know I can trust you to do it yourself.

Al stopped.

Jerry (smiling) : See Mom, I was solution—oriented!

Earl, 13, read my book, "Teacher and Child," and was especially impressed with the section against blaming and shaming.

He said to his mother, "I am going to copy it on a poster, and put it in the teacher's lounge. I'll memorize it and recite it to my teacher, the next time he starts ranking me out. Once I said, 'Mr. L., I don't remember how to divide with decimals.' He said, 'You learned that in the fifth grade. We can't take class time now for that baby stuff. You're supposed to know it by now. O K we'll do it once more just for you. Now pay attention and see if you can get it this time!' "

Earl read aloud and rehearsed the section from my book: "The prevalent — so-called 'normal' — talk drives children crazy: The blaming and shaming, preaching and moralizing, ordering and bossing, admonishing and accusing, ridiculing and belittling, threatening and bribing, diagnosing and prognosing. These techniques brutalize, vulgarize and dehumanize children."

This Conversation between mother and daughter illustrates how sensitive children are to adult reactions, feelings and words:

Melissa (6): I was so angry at Aunt Pat today. She yelled at me. She said it was my fault that the baby put toothpaste all over the bathroom. She blamed me. I was so mad!

Mother: You didn't like the way she talked to you?

Mother: You like kind talk.

Mother: You noticed it?

Melissa: Sure. But I know how to talk to children. Do you remember what I said to Julie when she visited? I said, "Julie, it's time for a snack. You have a choice: you may have ice cream or chocolate chip cookies. I even practice kind talk on my pets and dolls.

The instinct of musk-ox herds is to stand and fight when attacked, instead of running away.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Happy New Year! This is a perfect day to plan ways of expanding activities and extending interests so as to enjoy the kind of life you most wish in the days ahead. Make new contacts with those different from you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to communicate with those out-of-town via letter or telephone to get the results you want from them. You can obtain that much needed data which has been difficult to get before. Keep busy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your relationship with others and see how to improve them. Find the best way to have more harmony with mate. If you are in the wrong about something, admit it. Think.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You now understand the ideas of associates and can make far better arrangements with them Deepen your relationship with mate or bosom friend, if you are not married. Avoid one who has strange ideas.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan what your most important work and activities will be in the new year and just how to make everything work out constructively for you. Also study how to have a more effective wardrobe. Enjoy a delightful day with family.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take part in recreations and activities that start the new year off on the right note and be sure to drive with care. Your creative abilities can be made to work more effectively, too. Avoid people who are a detriment to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to use tact and give little criticism at home if you are to improve conditions there as you wish. Get rid of those drawbacks with kin that are a pain in the neck. Use a more practical approach.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Contact as many key persons in your life as you can and figure out how to have more successful and harmonious relationships. Plan your future activities very carefully, wisely. Do something thoughtful for mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You know just what to do now to add considerably to your present income, prosperity, so get busy early. Consult with bankers, businessmen, etc. Start a new and better budget. Taking it easy is wise in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keeping busy during day at whatever you can do best is fine, but make improvements to health and appearance tonight. Afternoon is good for seeing people you like or who can be helpful to you in some way. Drive with care.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Planning just how to add to present income is a fine way to start this day, new year, but don't confide in others. Meet an adviser socially and get good suggestions. The evening can be ideal from the social standpoint.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use those gregarious qualities you have to good purpose today and see as many key persons as you can. Friends can be most helpful to you. Note down personal aims so you will not forget them. Make resolutions you can keep.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get together with bigwigs socially today and state your aims, ambitions for the future, and gain their support for them. You can make a fine impression on everyone today, tonight. Be careful with diet, especially the liquid kind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will be able to express self in a most wonderful way and can be very positive in expressing beliefs. There is much ability at organizing here and the education should be slanted along such lines, since there can be no project too big or too small which your youngster will not tackle and bring to a successful fruition. Give as many of the social and cultural privileges as you can.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largly up to YOU!

Is Frank McGee The "Ideal Man"? A Startling Theory

The Men's Beauty Boom—And How It's Growing

Paul Lynde Says: "Think I'm Funny? You Don't Know Me!"

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR SEN. EDWARD J. GURNEY of Florida*

What does England have against our orange juice? A cousin of mine who visited London last summer tells me there is a heavy tax on frozen orange juice there, but not on "essential foods"—like fresh oranges.—S. G., Lakeland, Fla.

● The thing is a clear and simple inequity. It means, if you please, that caviar from Russia is not taxed in the United Kingdom, but orange juice from Florida is. It is ridiculous to tax orange juice, but to exempt fresh oranges, milk, tea and other foods. Orange juice is not a luxury. It is certainly more beneficial to the health of the people of England than Scotch whiskey is to the people of the United States.

FOR SIDNEY POITIER

You directed Harry Belafonte in a role that won him critical acclaim in your movie, "Buck and the Preacher." Any special trick to getting that kind of performance out of a friend of yours?—R. P. F., Oklahoma City, Okla.

● No special trick. Harry has always been a strong character actor, but he just couldn't overcome his matinee-idol appearance. We fixed that by changing his whole appearance with blackened teeth and ragged clothes.

FOR CONNIE STEVENS

Is there any chance that you and Eddie Fisher will get back together again?—Mrs. A. Smith, Fort Myers, Fla.

● No. We are good friends, and I still see Eddie. But as for marriage—not again.

FOR HUGH MARLOWE, actor*

You've been married twice—once young and once late in life. How would you compare the two experiences?—J. Kendall, Thousand Oaks, Calif.

● A "second time around" marriage has many benefits—at least for a man. When my two sons by my first wife were growing up, I was busy building my career and was away for long periods of time. One day, I sadly discovered my two small boys were six feet tall. By now I've built my bridges and have time to spend with my wife, time to help and watch my smallest son grow into a man.

FOR RICARDO MONTALBAN, actor*

Why do you do so many guest appearances on TV?—D. Borak, Cincinnati, Ohio

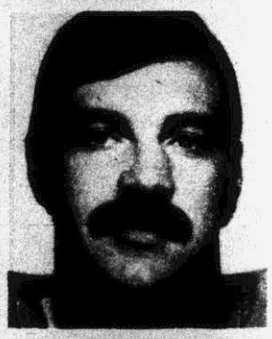

● Getting acting jobs is becoming more difficult and the pay is going downhill fast. As production costs go up, the only place producers can cut down expenses is with actors. Two years ago I got $10,000 for an one-hour show as a guest star. Today the top price is $1,750 to $2,000. Before, if you did six or seven guest appearances a year, you could maintain star status. Not anymore.

FOR LUCILLE BALL

● Unfortunately, no. I didn't even learn Spanish although I was married to a Cuban for so many years. Desi not only didn't teach me, he wouldn't even teach our kids. He said he was too busy learning English!

FOR LARRY CSONKA, football star of the Miami Dolphins*

It's been reported that you criticized President Nixon because of his practice of phoning winning football coaches. True?—David Moore, Durham, N.C.

● It's true. That sort of thing doesn't help anybody. And it brainwashes people into believing that football is so much more important than it is. This thinking is reflected in the action of some football coaches who take the game too seriously and in so doing spoil it for the youngsters they coach.

FOR ROBERT FORSTER, TV's "Banyon"

Where did you get all the vintage cars used in your series? Wasn't it quite expensive to wreck them, as often happened in your chase scenes?—Mrs. Charles Hardin, Biloxi, Miss.

● Cars for "Banyon" were supplied by the Movie World Company, one of several firms that rent cars to TV and movies. Yes, it was very expensive to wreck them, but damage done in "Banyon" filming was actually minor.

FOR ROMANA BANUELOS,
Treasurer of the United States

Why isn't our currency printed in different colors like it is in other countries?—Mrs. A. C. Herz, New London, N.H.

● We've received a number of suggestions both for and against a change in the color. The principal argument in favor of such a change is that it would enable people to distinguish denominations more easily. But changing the color of different denominations presents several problems, among them the possibility that it might be easier to counterfeit colored currency—plus, of course, the increased costs.

FOR SEN. GAYLORD NELSON (Wis.), cosponsor of a bill requiring construction standards for school buses

There's been a lot of shouting all year about school busing to bring about racial balance. What I want to know is, what's the Government doing to make the buses safer?—T. R. Z., Saginaw, Mich.

● It's taken six years for the Department of Transportation to reach the point of preparing a proposal for more protective seat standards for school buses. That standard still has not been fully implemented. The fact that the Department has only one individual in charge of pupil-transportation safety gives some measure of the priority afforded school-bus safety. The potential for tragedy is great.

A World Full of Frank McGees?

A Psychiatrist's Startling Theory

"If the leaders of Israel and of Egypt were men like Frank McGee, wouldn't they somehow work out their differences at the conference table? Would weaponry be usurping $80 billion of our national budget if the world were populated by Frank McGees?"

Frank McGee: The world's perfect man?

By Jim Sirmans

Is Frank McGee—the man you see on NBC's "Today" show – is Frank McGee the world's ideal man? Would there likely be peace on earth today if everyone were like the public image of Frank McGee?

"Yes!" is the ringing (if somewhat astonishing) reply to both questions by Dr. H. L. Newbold, a New York psychiatrist.

Here's how Dr. Newbold has it figured:

It is the nature of "all living creatures," Dr. Newbold declares, "to expand, grow larger, take over more territory, kill, consume, crowd out the neighbors, and, if possible, take over the entire earth and universe.

"If man is ever to solve his social problems," Dr. Newbold says, if man is to be saved from himself, "he must first accept the fact that he is a biological creature and that, in the end, all behavior and social problems are rooted in his biology."

Dr. Newbold further contends in his book, "The Psychiatric Programming of People," that if man is to survive his own technology, he must be "biologically changed." This can be done by either changing his genetic makeup, by selective breeding, or by a chemical reduction of his natural aggressions.

And what will be the result of this—robots, straight out of science fiction? No, not according to the bold, new Newbold Plan. Says Dr. Newbold:

"Let me tell you the sort of person I see. Picture the best adjusted, happiest, easiest going man you know, one who is pleasant, inoffensive and slow to fight." Dr. Newbold pictures Frank McGee. "From watching his program, we have a certain knowledge of him—if not of the real man, then at least of the image he projects on television. It is this image (rather than the real man, which may or may not be the same) we are discussing.

"McGee appears to be a basically happy man, one who is not particularly aggressive or quick to fight. Contrast him with Jack Paar, who, at least on his old show, was always publicly at war with someone."

Fifty thousand years ago, had he lived then, Frank McGee might not have fared too well, according to Dr. Newbold. McGee "probably would not have been rough enough to have eaten very well." But this is not 50,000 years ago, it is the eve of 1973. And, "If all men in today's world had the inborn behavior patterns, the reflexes, drives, the instincts of the Frank McGee image, think how much more peaceful the world would be," avers Dr. Newbold.

"If the leaders of Israel and of Egypt were men like Frank McGee, wouldn't they somehow work out their differences at the conference table? Would weaponry be usurping $80 billion of our national budget if the world were populated by Frank McGees?"

Two specific ways by which Dr. Newbold says we could put a Frank McGee on every street corner:

(1) Selective reproduction. You have to take out a license to marry, right? "A second license could be issued for the right to reproduce. Logically, the limitations upon reproduction should start with the members of society who harbor a high percentage of the least favorable traits, or aggressions."

(2) "The genetic formations of man could be changed through a chemical alteration of the DNA—the genetic material that determines both the physical and chemical make-up of each cell in the body."

Other biological solutions could be found for solving mankind's social and psychological problems. "But some of them," Dr. Newbold says, "would probably be too foreign to man's basic orientation to be acceptable to him." Males, for example, "could be eliminated as effective members of society. The ants have solved their social problems in this manner and have survived and maintained great social stability for more than 50 million years."

Why discriminate against men? Because "the human male has been bred for two million years to fulfill the role of killer, protector, meat gatherer, inventor. The male, more than the female, has aggressions that force him to tear away at social institutions."

But, warns Dr. Newbold: "These methods have obvious disadvantages for all of us. They are discussed only to illustrate a biological possibility." The really preferred method of becoming a Frank McGee has, of course, already been worked out by Frank McGee himself (see below). And it is this method that Dr. Newbold endorses and heartily recommends.

What the Real Frank McGee (and Mrs. McGee) had to say about "The McGee Theory"

"That is the real Frank McGee you see on television. My husband is a lamb off television, as well as on. Of course, there were some times when he was younger. . . ."

The speaker is Sue McGee. She and her husband are discussing with FAMILY WEEKLY the rather unusual honor Dr. Newbold has bestowed on Frank—dubbing him the ideal modern homo sapiens.

"When I was younger," Frank McGee explains, "there were many times, not just 'some times,' when I don't know how my wife put up with me. I had titanic storms. They were regrettable, every one, but not so surprising, after all. I grew up with an almost ungovernable temper."

McGee worked very hard at self-discipline. And gradually he got old Tom Temper under pretty firm control. Now, there's a backlash. Some say McGee has succeeded too well, that "professionally, I bring too much reason and light and not enough passion to a given situation."

But, in the main, McGee does go along with Dr. Newbold's assessment of his personality. "I think I am pretty much the same person you see on 'Today.' And, basically, I am a happy man."

McGee also says that, both off TV and on, he is "not particularly aggressive or quick to fight." But in the same breath, he cautions, do not read too much into the gentle image he projects on television. "I still have a low boiling point. The veneer of patience that I've slowly acquired can be quickly stripped away."

Sure, he's a darling on the air at seven in the morning. But woe to the Mr. or Ms. who looks at McGee on the tube and takes him for a pushover. "Anyone who attacks," McGee warns, "will have to look up new definitions of 'pugnacious' and 'obnoxious.'"

McGee is cool and collected on the air because "I deal with public issues and more often than not they have already been inflamed. To further inflame them would help no one.

"I think either time or reason solves most of our problems," he says.

"How 'Bout a Facial, Mac?"

The Big Boom

"They are packaged in grained wood, or gold, silver, black and brown, in chunky bottles or tubes, with a definite rough-hewn, outdoorsy, he-man look. You have to know the 'code,' since they're called by new names. Moisturizers are called face lubricants. . . . Makeup is often called a bronzer. . . . Facial masks are packs or pickups. . . . But, by any name, they're still beauty aids."

Who's that under the strawberry mask? Jackie Kennedy Onassis or Raquel Welch? No, it's neither one—it's just an ordinary guy, maybe a businessman, or a gas-station attendant, or a Wall Street broker. What's he doing under there? He's having a facial. And the fellow over there with the puffy plastic cap on his head has just had his gray hair tinted, and the one in the back booth is emerging with his eyebrows vastly improved and his toenails pedicured. And they don't seem to feel funny about their beauty treatments, either, because in the last few years it's become quite acceptable for men to pay to improve their appearance.

There's been a boom in the men's beauty business. Apparently taking off from the fashion explosion of the sixties, and the peculiarly American emphasis on youth and sex appeal, the trend is to be seen not only in the big cosmopolitan cities—though that's where the big push is—but even in smaller places where, formerly, a man who did more for himself than splashing on a little bay rum was considered effeminate. A lot of men have begun to feel they, too, need help, and grooming-product companies are giving them what they need, or will shortly feel they need. Hair sprays. Skin moisturizers and cleansers. Setting lotions. Hair coloring. Facial masks. Skin softeners. Night creams. Wrinkle smoothers. Hand cream. Eye pads. Even a form of makeup.

Salons are springing up to give men what women have always been able to get—special treatments for special problems. Says one specialist: "People assume that the men who care about their appearance have to be peculiar, but that isn't true anymore. You'd be amazed at the number of men who have face-lifts or hair restorations. First of all, young men today have fewer hangups about proving their masculinity, they don't mind wearing clothes or using products that have always been considered for women only, and they've taught their elders some of this. And, then, the need to look young and vital in order to compete in the job market has heightened men's interest."

Interest has been heightened enough so that it's been estimated that close to a billion dollars will be spent on men's toiletries in 1973. In 1966, it was only about one-tenth of that. Aramis, the biggest selling luxury line of men's products, produces about 70 products, from fragrances (which began the whole thing) and after-shave preparations to the more exotic items like bath oils, pickup masks, moisturizers, skin smoothers and night creams. Says a spokesman for Aramis, "Men used to use their wives' beauty aids surreptitiously, then their wives began buying them their own. Now a lot of men shop for the stuff themselves. They usually start off buying a fragrance or a hair-grooming product, and then come back for more and more variety."

Men's products are sold in most stores in their own special selling areas. They are packaged in grained wood, or gold, silver, black and brown, in chunky bottles or tubes, with a definite rough-hewn, outdoorsy, he-man look. You have to know the "code," since they're called by new names. Moisturizers are called face lubricants or clarifiers or softeners. Makeup is often called a bronzer or a cover-up. Facial masks are packs or pickups. Setting lotion is called after-shampoo control. But, by any name, they're still beauty aids. And once a man starts using them, he's an ardent and loyal customer.

John Revson, of Revlon's Brazzi and Bill Blass lines, expresses a not-expected point of view: "The biggest problem is to get men to try the products. Once they do, they stick with them. After all, a man doesn't want to age unnaturally any more than a woman does."

By Joan Rattner Heilman

in Men's Beauty

Rick Meyerowitz

"In the summer," says one hair stylist, "we do a lot of frostings; it gives light hair a young, sunny look."

The big manufacturers, like Gillette and Mennon and Clairol, are into beauty, too, though they are still mainly concerned with hair preparations.

Even the barbershops are offering more than a haircut, a shave and a few hot towels these days. Perhaps the most elegant shop in the country is "Jerry, Hairstylist to Men," at Bergdorf-Goodman's in New York. Jerry lists dozens of famous names among his clients ("and not only show business; we mainly get businessmen"), and his 11 assistants not only style hair but give facials, hair tints and bleaches. They also do eyebrow-shaping and tinting, hair straightening and pedicures. No kidding.

Jerry provides a few insights about his work. "In the summer," he says, "we do a lot of frostings; it gives light hair a young, sunny look. Men want to keep up a young image. They're wearing the longer hairstyles, mod clothes. Drab hair and wrinkles don't go well with a younger look. We don't try to make a man of 60 look 25. We just want him to look good at 60."

Another specialist is Georgette Klinger, who has run a women's skin and scalp treatment center for years. Now she has a men's salon, too. "Our women brought their husbands and sons and we decided they deserved their own private quarters. Men neglect themselves—and besides, they spend more time in the sun and rough weather. Then they look in the mirror one day and wonder what's happened."

And what does Mrs. Klinger do for these self-neglected men? She does cleansing, massage, herbal steaming, and applies creams and masks to tighten the pores and soften the skin. She works on troubled scalps as well. "Most men worry about thinning hair. We can't reverse a balding problem, but we can help people keep the hair they've got."

What seems to be emerging is a whole grooming industry for men, and the trend, as far as we can tell, is just beginning. With men already into moisturizers, hair tinting, instant tans and hairdressing appointments, can permanent waves be far behind? Maybe they won't even have to say, "My wife made me do it."

The Doctor Lets You In

It Takes More Than a Toothbrush To Fight Tooth Decay

Many hours are wisely spent during a lifetime taking care of teeth. But dental authorities point out that some of the most essential parts of tooth care are generally neglected by the public, even by those who pay scrupulous attention to their teeth. The major cause of tooth cavities and tooth loss is one and the same: buildup of plaque between the teeth and the gums. The gums are a living organ, and the tissue much more movable than most people think. Plaque—all that stuff that builds up between the teeth during the day, from food particles and oral secretions—lodges in these spaces and causes the growth of bacteria at geometrically increasing numbers. Safe in these secure harbors, bacteria cause inflammation of the gums and loosening of the teeth, as well as destruction of the hard and soft parts of the teeth themselves. The single most important thing you can do for your teeth is to remove this plaque from your gums each day, preferably after the last meal. Dental floss of the unwaxed and thin type is the best thing to use. The new water sprays are excellent adjuncts to a total tooth-care program, but are not the first line of offense. Gums are mobile, living tissues. You can carefully floss beside the teeth deeper down than you think. Have your dentist show you the best way to floss, and do it every day. Then, with a little luck, you'll look like those piano-toothed beauties on TV for many years to come.—By John J. Secondi, M.D.

How to Turn Off the Person Who Is Always "Collecting"

There's one in every work force: the person who is always "collecting." Instead of feeling grateful that someone is seeing that co-workers' illnesses, bereavements, family births, weddings, etc., are acknowledged, people often resent the collector's efforts and may even turn against contributions in general. Getting the group together and deciding on a definite policy for Who, When, and How you all want to give can be the solution. Who and When: exactly which occasions will the group acknowledge? Illness of co-workers only? Of co-workers plus their immediate family? Weddings of co-workers? Of co-workers plus their immediate family? It doesn't matter how your group decides, it's having a policy that's important. How? With a card? With a gift? Anyone who has ever had an important event in his life and has received no token from the gang at work, knows that being ignored does hurt. As a result, most people are willing to give, if only it doesn't seem endless and formless. Once you decide on a policy, the "collector" in your group can be put in charge. Now with guidelines set by everyone, people will feel cooperative rather than put-upon when they next hear the familiar words, "I'm collecting for. . . ."—By S. R. Redford

Pet Owners, Beware!
These Common Household Items Can Poison Your Cat

By Felicia Ames,
Director, Friskies Cat Council, and author of "The Cat You Care For"

Not so long ago, the list of known things that could poison a cat might have filled, at most, a single column. Today, thanks to veterinary research, the list would require several pages. Of course, many of the poisons are of recent usage, such as most insecticides. It would behoove you, if you're a cat owner, to make yourself familiar with the list. Ask your veterinarian. For the moment, we'll just indicate a few of the better-known items.

Most pesticides, as we've said, are dangerous; so are most herbicides and rodenticides. That's because they contain lead, strychnine, arsenic or phosphorous. Many a cat has lost his life from sampling a neighbor's lawn. You may wonder, don't cats reject odors and tastes they find abhorrent? Yes, cats masticate their food very well before swallowing, and most of them would undoubtedly refuse to swallow most poisons they might encounter in a grass plot. But it takes only a drop to make them sick. As it is their practice to roll about on almost any surface, and to lick themselves clean from head to tail, there is no way for a cat to avoid some insecticide, if he roams. There is a pellet-type insecticide for snails, incidentally, that is a real killer. It even resembles cat food and has been the end of many cats. Avoid it, at all cost.

Other venoms await a roving Tabby, although he isn't apt to meet all of them in the average suburban plot. Certain snakes, for example, and some lizards have bites that can prove fatal. Bees and wasps are fascinating to some cats (as are all flying things). Any cat, even a city dweller, runs the risk of their sting, which can be deadly, especially when it happens about the lips or tongue.

The best way to avoid these dangers, of course, is to make Tabby stay at home. A cat does not really need to wander outside. And since most cats should be spayed or neutered (there are some ten million homeless cats already!), even the mating urge is no excuse for letting a cat risk the many hazards that lurk outdoors.

Of course, don't think your poison worries are over when you've brought your wanderer in to stay. Curiosity being his middle name, a cat will, you can make book on it, find his way into every closet and cupboard in the house, to say nothing of the drawers. This includes the paint cabinet, the medicine chest, the storage room, etc.

Household poisons are many. Let's consider a few of the commoner ones. Mothballs! Very bad! Also, cleaning fluid, furniture polish, any dye, all paints and varnishes, watercolors, all bleaches, kerosene, naphtha, benzene, ink. Gasoline, of course, and sewing-machine oil.

Check those houseplants. Perhaps more illnesses from poisoning are caused by ordinary, everyday houseplants than any other single category. Take, for instance, that lovely calla lily. Take it out, or place it somewhere out of Tabby's reach. It's very poisonous. So, too, are laurel, poinsettia, rhododendron, philodendron and chrysanthemum. Holly and mistletoe are very, very bad, so be sure to hang a note on that Christmas-ornament box. Christmas is a specially dangerous time for cats, with tinsel and small objects to swallow.

To your medicine chest. Keep it closed, tight. Almost anything in it can harm your cat. Many people have the mistaken notion that what can't hurt them can't hurt their cat. Not so. A little Alka-Seltzer may be all right to ease the hurt of your overindulgence, but don't expect it to help Tabby's. And whatever you do, do not give a cat your aspirin. It is a real no-no! (Baby aspirin is sometimes used, but only on the advice of your veterinarian.)

If your cat is poisoned, there is only one answer: Rush him to your veterinarian. Don't waste a second. And don't just rely on the advice of well-meaning friends, unless, by some miracle, they also happen to be qualified. The fact is that there are as many remedies as there are toxins, and what works for one cat doesn't necessarily work for another.

Savory Chicken Crepes

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen prepares a flavorful, light chicken entrée. "I'm serving these Chicken Crepes New Year's Eve, when the crowd comes over," says Marilyn, "but the recipe works for any luncheon or dinner when you want to be just a little fancy. And, of course, it's a 'make-ahead' dish, so that's a big plus."

Savory Chicken Crepes, Crescent Rolls and a Tossed Green Salad make a perfect menu for a midnight buffet or sit-down dinner.

MARILYN'S MENU

Cream Cheese Salmon Caviar
Thin Pumpernickel Rounds
Assorted Beverages
Savory Chicken Crepes
Buttered Rice
Whole Green Beans
Cranberry Sauce Corn Relish
Tossed Green Salad
Crescent Rolls
Champagne or Sparkling
Catawba Grape Juice
Frozen Strawberries with Frozen Pineapple Chunks
Assorted Cookies Coffee

SAVORY CHICKEN CREPES

- ¾ cup water
- ¾ cup milk
- 3 eggs
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted, plus 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 cans (10¾-oz. size) condensed cream of chicken or cream of mushroom soup
- ¼ cup milk
- ¼ cup dry white wine*
- 4 cups cooked, cubed (¾ inch) chicken or turkey
- 1 can (6 ozs.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- ½ cup finely chopped parsley
- 1 cup grated Swiss or Muenster cheese
- 2 cans (4½-oz. size) deviled ham
- 4 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

1. Place water, milk, eggs, salt, flour and 3 tablespoons melted butter in electric blender container. Blend for 1 minute. Scrape down sides of blender, blend again for 30 seconds.

2. If you do not have a blender, beat together water, milk, eggs, salt and 3 tablespoons melted butter; then beat in flour all at once, until thoroughly blended. If time permits, allow batter to stand 1 hour, then blend again.

3. Place 6-7-inch skillet over moderate heat until drop of water bounces on surface. Brush bottom of skillet lightly with some of remaining butter.

4. Pour a scant ¼ cup batter into heated skillet, tilting pan to coat bottom evenly. Cook crepe for only a few minutes, or until bottom is lightly browned. Turn crepe and quickly brown second side; turn out of pan.

5. Repeat process with remaining batter, brushing pan with butter before pouring more batter into skillet. Stack crepes with sheet of waxed paper between each. Cover with waxed paper; set aside.

6. Make chicken filling: In medium saucepan combine cream of chicken soup, milk and wine smoothly. Stir in chicken, mushrooms, parsley and Swiss cheese. Heat to boiling; then remove from heat.

7. Assembling: Spread each crepe with deviled ham. Spoon about ¼ cup chicken filling across crepe, roll up. Place filled crepes in two greased 11¾ x 7½ x 1¾-inch glass (or copper tin-lined) baking pans.

9. Bake in preheated 400° F. oven for 30 minutes, until filling is bubbly and cheese is lightly browned.

Makes 12-14 crepes, 6 servings

*Chablis or dry sherry

Make-ahead note: The crepes can be completely assembled, wrapped securely in foil, labeled and frozen. To serve: Thaw at room temperature and bake in preheated 400° F. oven for 40-45 minutes. Or make one day ahead, assemble crepes completely, cover and refrigerate. Bake in preheated 400° F. oven for 40-45 minutes.

TOSSED GREEN SALAD WITH CROUTONS

- 4 qts. washed, crisp, mixed salad greens, torn into bite-sized pieces
- 2 cups washed, crisp watercress stems*, torn in half
- ½ cup bottled Italian salad dressing
- 1 teaspoon dried dillweed
- ¼ teaspoon coarse-ground pepper
- 1 cup herb-seasoned croutons
- 2 cups cherry tomatoes, chilled

1. To serve: Toss ingredients in large salad bowl. Serve immediately. Makes 12 servings

*May be omitted, but nice if available.

CREAM CHEESE AND CAVIAR

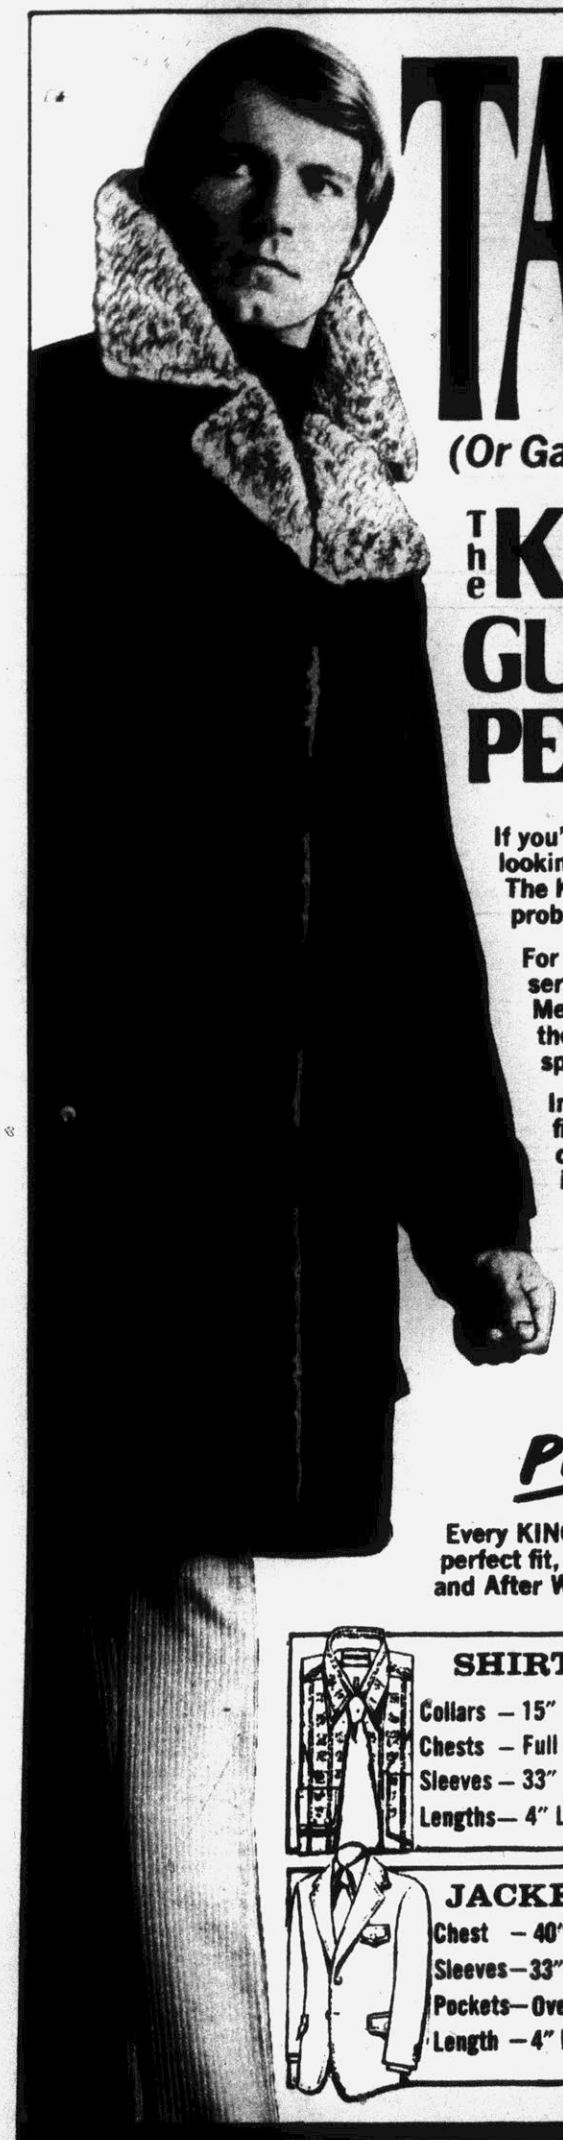

- 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) cream cheese
- 1 jar (4 ozs.) salmon caviar, chilled
- Parsley sprigs
- 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) thinly sliced party pumpernickel rounds or 1 pkg. (12 ozs.) thinly sliced dark pumpernickel, quartered
- Pepper

1. Choose an attractive serving plate; place cream cheese in the center. Spoon caviar on top of cheese, letting it run over sides. Garnish with a small bouquet of parsley.

2. Arrange party pumpernickel rounds in a small basket or on a small serving tray.

3. Using a butter knife, guests spread their own hors d'oeuvres. Pass pepper grinder if desired.

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

Paul Lynde:

There's Plenty of Tragedy Behind That Grin

"I was in analysis for about a year in New York. . . . After a year the psychiatrist said he'd had such a good time analyzing me he simply couldn't take my money any more."

Few men have made more people laugh in recent years than Paul Lynde. Yet when we sat in a secluded corner of the commissary at Warner Brothers Studios, where "The Paul Lynde Show" is televised, and I watched him reluctantly settle for the one small meal a day he allows himself and listened while he seriously discussed himself, I began to realize that here was a man beset with fears and doubts about almost everything—from being overweight, to marriage and terror of failure. This was not comedian Paul Lynde making funnies. This was the real Paul Lynde.

FAMILY WEEKLY: How did you become a funnyman?

LYNDE: Through weight — 250 pounds, to be specific! And I gained them during the most important years of my life: the formative years. I was 11 when I had my appendix taken out and got peritonitis. It was almost fatal, and I was a convalescent a long time. So I ate. I ate in the hospital, and I ate at home. They moved my bed into the dining room, and every time I looked up, there was Mother with a tray in her hands. Before I knew it, I'd gained 100 pounds! I hated being that fat. I think that's why I turned into a clown—to compensate for it.

FW: And how much do you weigh today?

LYNDE: One hundred and seventy-five pounds.

FW: Being overweight started you on a lucrative career, but what was the biggest disappointment you suffered as a result of obesity?

LYNDE: There was only one time in my life that I was seriously in love. I went with Marilyn for nine years. She was a beautiful girl. I worshiped her. I took for granted that we would get married someday and spend the rest of our lives together. I think it was my weight, the ridiculous way I looked, that kept her from taking me seriously. The cruelest thing of all was how I got the message—without any hint of what was happening, I got it through her wedding announcement that she was marrying someone else. It made me distrustful of any kind of relationship and no doubt influenced how I feel about women and marriage today.

FW: Did you ever go to a psychiatrist to get over some of these problems?

LYNDE: I was in analysis for about a year in New York. I had a ball! It happened right after the breakup with Marilyn, and the psychiatrist said he enjoyed me so much, all of his other clients were bores. After a year he said he'd had such a good time analyzing me he simply couldn't take my money any more.

FW: Was that the most difficult period in your life?

LYNDE: Yes and no. Yes, because it affected me directly. No, because there was a worse year. There were three family deaths within one year, when I was 23. My favorite brother, was killed in the Battle of the Bulge; my mother died shortly thereafter; and my father died the day after my brother's body was brought home.

Paul Lynde:

FW: Didn't you lose another brother as well?

LYNDE: I did. My greatest fan. He was killed as a result of an auto accident. He was thrown out of the car, and I watched him die.

FW: Were you worried what might happen when "The Paul Lynde Show" went on the air?

LYNDE: Worried? Frantic! My name would be on the show! There would be a stigma if I failed. I didn't need the series—I was doing fine without it! But once I got involved, it has been on my mind every moment!

FW: How did you support yourself before you got started in show business?

LYNDE: I did things like sell blood. I think the worst job I had was working as an ambulance driver. I took it after I saw an ad that I could get a free apartment with it. I didn't know that meant I was the only driver on duty—24 hours a day! It wasn't too bad until one day I was sent to pick up someone at his house. When I walked in, he was obviously dead. I rushed out again, put the keys on the seat of the ambulance, and left on the spot. I don't think I was letting him down—after all, he was quite dead. For all I know, the ambulance is still sitting there!

FW: Where do you live now?

LYNDE: I have a gorgeous home above the Sunset Strip. As a single man, with all the taxes one has to pay, I can't really afford that kind of a home. But I want it anyway. I live very high. I have a Mercedes 280 convertible that mostly sits in the garage because I want the luxury of a chauffeur taking me to work. The longest trip I like to take is 20 minutes. I get claustrophobia in a car. That's why I don't like to fly.

FW: Have you ever had any close calls on a plane?

LYNDE: Once I took Air France and we landed in Gander. This was in 1954, before jets. It was just a refueling stop, but when we started to take off, there was this funny noise. The pilot put on the brakes, and you could smell rubber burning—and the hangars came right at us! The plane finally went up on its nose, and all of the straps broke. It was just awful! It turned out to be a faulty battery or something. But the personnel was screaming and swearing in French! I can tell you one thing: From then on I've flown on American planes, because if someone yells "We're crashing!"—I want to understand them!

Animated Swiss Chalet Clock

Actual Clock Size: 6½" x 13"
Front Wound (Key included)

Hand-crafted / Hand-painted

Authentic West German Black Forest Import ONLY $9.98

This solid wood, handcrafted and handpainted Chalet Clock is a painstakingly reproduced replica of those fascinating-to-watch and strikingly detailed action clocks you've seen in museums.

As in most quality animated clocks, more than one portion moves at the same time, and this one is no exception: the Heidi-like figure moves gently on her swing beneath the "chalet", the gay bluebird flutters, tick-tocking away the hours. The clock details — alpine fir tree, fawn, forest mushrooms, balcony, etc. — are all in a rainbow of soft colors on mahogany-finished wood. A precision timepiece, made with true watchmaker's skill, moves the filigree hands and figures, and keeps excellent time. Once you see this intriguing clock decorating your home, you won't want to part with it . . . ever!

Your Guarantee

We insist that you be 100% delighted with the quality craftsmanship and the good looks of this excellent timepiece or we will send you a complete and prompt refund. But we urge you to order today. Animated clocks like this are hard to come by at this special low price and our supply will go quickly. (You might want to order two — one to enjoy yourself and one to put aside as an unusual gift.)

Now! With the simple method of Foot Reflexology!

'You Can Get Almost Immediate Relief from Aches and Pains All Over the Body!'

"I have brought relief to countless suffering people with this method—and have watched their joy of regained health and vitality—when all hope had seemingly been lost!"

"Let me show you how it can bring about the normal function of a specific location or organ..."

Says MILDRED CARTER, Professional Reflexologist

Dear Friend:

My name is Mildred Carter. I am not a doctor, but for over 14 years, I have been helping people receive remarkable relief from seemingly hopeless aches and pains all over the body, with a method—which you can use, too—called Foot Reflexology.

Foot Reflexology is a method for healing the whole body. If you've ever suffered from foot trouble, you know that it's the feet that make the whole body ache. By rubbing and pressing gently on certain areas of your feet, I can show you how you may get almost immediate relief IN OTHER PARTS OF THE BODY!

Why? Because the feet contain Reflexes, which lead like telephone lines to all parts of the body. By pressing them, you help restore normal circulation and health to congested areas. No one can guarantee a cure, nor is it a medical substitute, but:

- I have seen it relieve crippled hands and feet, caused by painful arthritis, straighten whole bodies and bring them back to normal!
- It can stop the pain of hemorrhoids almost immediately!
- Most headaches vanish immediately with this method!
- I have seen it relieve liver and gall bladder trouble!
- I have seen it clear up stuffed sinuses almost immediately!
- I have seen it relieve back troubles, in a matter of seconds!
- I have seen it bring fast relief to stomach troubles!
- I have brought lasting relief to sufferers of varicose veins with this method. This is also true with cramps or pains in the legs!
- I have seen it relieve bladder trouble quickly, with great relief after the very first treatment—all sensation of burning or itching seems to disappear completely!
- This simple method can bring women blessed relief from many disorders which may have been troubling them for years!
- I have brought relief to men, in every case of prostate trouble I have ever treated with this method!

...And still that's just the beginning! You'll find the full details of this amazing method of healing in a new book which I have written, called HELPING YOURSELF WITH FOOT REFLEXOLOGY. I'll tell you how to get it in just a moment, but first I want to tell you more about it!

Many Healings Reported!

Did you ever notice how quickly water freshens when good water is poured into muddy water? Foot Reflexology does the same for circulation in your body. Blood flow slows over the years. Naturally, glands and organs become sluggish. Stimulating a new flow of blood to these "tired" places brings new life, clears glands and organs of years of accumulated waste.

Healings and relief from discomforts of all sorts are reported, by the dozen, in the pages of my book. All were obtained with the help of Foot Reflexology.

Here's What I Say In This Book:

Gall Bladder Healing "There are many cases where Reflex Massage of the liver and gall bladder has saved people from having an operation, with the stones seeming to vanish after a few treatments."—Quoted from Chapter 12

Anemic Conditions "Anyone who is anemic will find... improvement can be so rapid it is amazing. With pernicious anemia, results will be slower, but Nature will be there, changing new blood cells for old." —Quoted from Chapter 11

Helping the Heart "No matter what the nature of the trouble is, the heart can be aided with this method.... I can give you many case histories of wonderful results from this scientific massage of the reflexes on heart patients." —Quoted from Chapter 13

Relief for Leg Pain "I believe I have treated more cases of leg aches than any other malady, and most were caused by the sciatic nerve. Many people suffer for years without any relief. Yet it is so amazingly simple to banish all inflammation from this nerve in an unbelievably short time. In many cases this method has brought relief in one treatment." —Quoted from Chapter 22

Varicose Veins "I have brought lasting relief to sufferers of varicose veins by starting the proper circulation with Reflex Massage, thus causing congestion to disappear. This is also true with cramps or pains of any kind in the legs." —Quoted from Chapter 16

Relief for Hemorrhoids "Hemorrhoids are nothing more than a congested vein (known as piles). This is actually a varicose vein in the rectum. These can become so large as to protrude, causing inconvenience, much suffering, and in many cases bleeding. Though painful, they are usually suffered in silence by those who have them. Yet with Reflex Massage they are one of the quickest to respond to treatment. Here we will learn how to use the Reflexology method to bring you prompt relief!" —Quoted from Chapter 21

How to Make Reflexology Your Rejuvenator "Would you like to be young again? Would you like to walk expectantly into the future, to enjoy new experiences, with a revitalized body? We do not have to be old... Reflexology rejuvenates the entire body, giving new life to glands and cells. Blood flow slows over the years. Naturally, glands and cells become sluggish. Reflexology stimulates a new flow of blood to these tired places, clears glands and cells of accumulated waste, brings them new life!" —Quoted from Chapters 3 and 24

You'll Discover...

- How Reflexology relieved a man's stuffed sinuses. "After the first treatment, he could suddenly breathe through both sides of his nose" and he felt well again.
- How a woman who had hurt her spine, and was in so much pain that she called a bone specialist to take x-rays, received so much relief with Reflexology—after a single treatment—that she was able to get up and do her work. She felt so much better, in fact, that she cancelled her appointment for x-rays, and claims she is fully recovered.
- How a man with a hunchback—a huge, ugly bulge—received a complete healing with Reflexology. He was freed of pain, and "he was able to stand straight." The hump disappeared. "He was not deformed at all," I reported!
- How a man who suffered from ulcers, kidney trouble, hay fever, and constipation, received complete relief with Reflexology. "The symptoms of each illness disappeared one by one," and today he sleeps like a baby every night!
- How a man with a heart condition was healed with Reflexology. Doctors had always warned him he couldn't do the things other men did. With this method, "his heart returned to normal enough to allow him to do anything he wanted, without any trouble. Today, after more than 10 years, he is a strong and well man."

My name is Mildred Carter. I am not a doctor, but I have been helping people receive remarkable relief from seemingly hopeless aches and pains!

What A Physiotherapist Says:

"During my forty-eight years as a Physiotherapist in my own Treatment Centers... I have had every opportunity to observe the amazing benefits of manual massage. As a means of rehabilitation where physical trauma is involved, it ranks high in the annals of Medicine.

"The techniques described in Mrs. Carter's book have been developed by experts in the field of reflex massage, and we have no hesitation in recommending them.... For the relief of pain, we know of no other means short of opiates to achieve this objective."

— CLARENCE R. MUNROE
Registered Technician, Physiotherapy

AMAZING TRUE Experiences!

"Reflexology will free you from sickness and suffering, and fear of pain, when used correctly."

"There are so many personal experiences which I could recount, stories of illnesses which were relieved by reflex massage, that I find myself wanting to tell all of them at once. I have seen it do marvelous things that surprised me many times when doctors said it couldn't be done.

"If it can do this for others, it can do this for you! I have proven that this method of healing works, in my own experience. Try it on yourself and FEEL the results!"

Safe To Use!

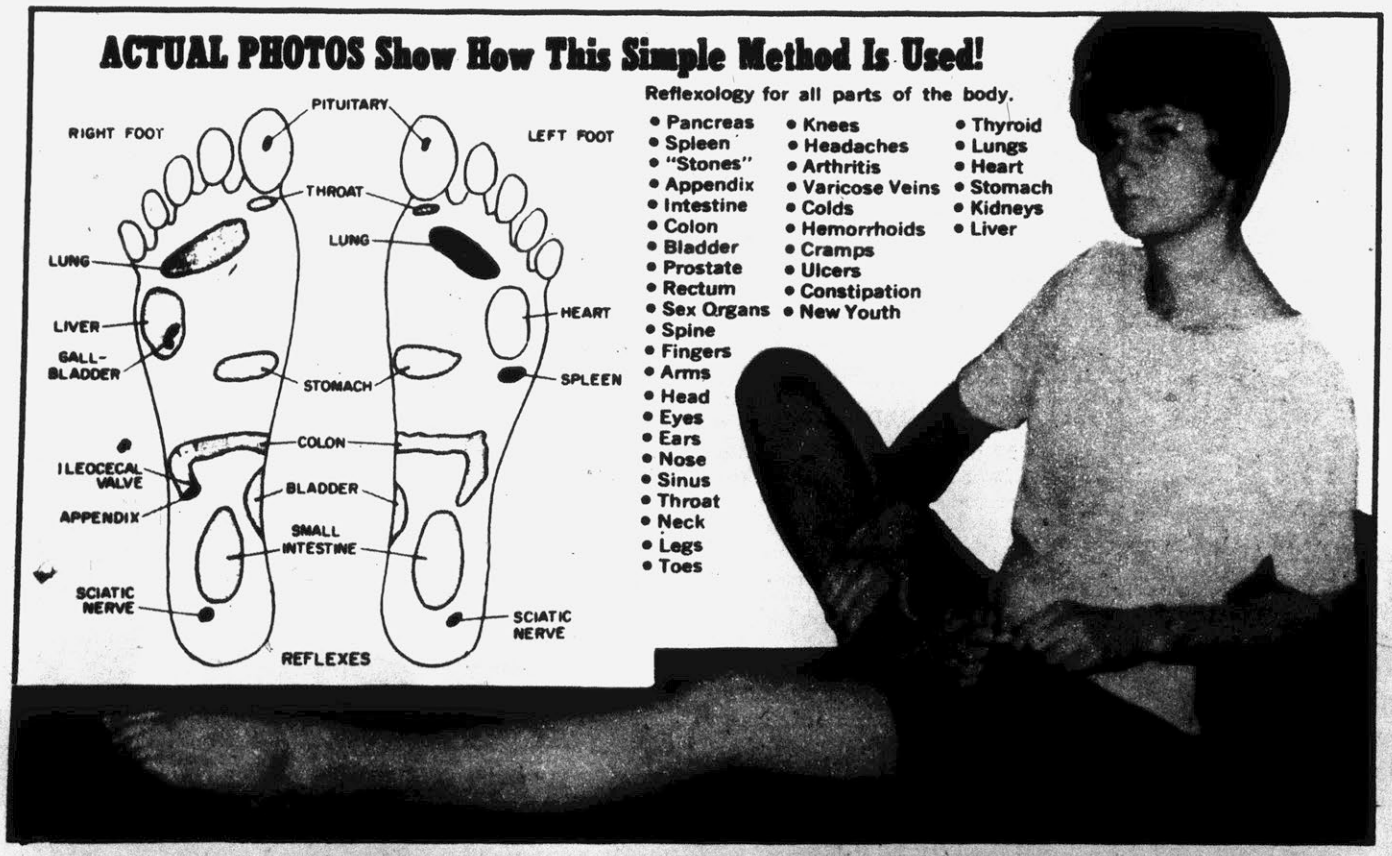

What's more, Foot Reflexology is absolutely safe. It is the "drugless" way to better health, and requires no exercise, no expensive equipment of any kind. It is so simple, and natural, that it is safe to use on anyone, from the youngest baby to the oldest person. In fact, it is a Rejuvenator that can actually win you many years of new youth!

Read It All From Cover to Cover, For 30 Days, Entirely At Our Risk!

I have proven that this method of healing works in my own experience. You owe it to yourself to try it at our risk and FEEL the results. And I invite you to do just that! Fair enough? Why not send in the coupon—TODAY!

What in the World!

ROOF WALKER
How to hoof it on the roof

Ever tried to adjust a TV antenna on a steeply ridged roof? Then you know that adjusting your feet to walk on the angled tiles or shingles isn't easy—especially if the roof is wet and slippery. It isn't easy on the roof either—shingles are easily damaged. But don't despair, roof walkers. A builder in Wales who was faced with clambering around on roofs every day came to grips with slips by inventing "roof shoes," three-foot-long adjustable foot platforms with foam-rubber soles. Now he and his workmen take their ups and downs in stride, and the roofs are none the worse for the walking.

A new low in vandalism: Since the day Yellowstone National Park's Three Senses Nature Trail opened last July it's been highly popular with blind visitors, who hold on to guide ropes to enjoy the sounds and smells of bubbling sulfur pools, geysers and forest pines as they comfortably navigate the eighth-of-a-mile pathway. The experience is so pleasant that park rangers find many non-handicapped visitors taking to the trail, eyes closed. But some strange folk, it seems, are finding it fun to cut the guide ropes and punch holes in the Braille information signs posted along the way, undetected by their sightless companions. It makes you wonder, doesn't it?

LISA KIRK
What she learned by accident

Lisa Kirk, injured severely in a car accident four years ago, recalls: "When I first left the hospital I stayed in a city apartment, and I was only a dollar sign to people—I was totally unimportant to them. Later, when I was recuperating at our home in Malibu, Calif., everyone—even the girl in the dress shop—would call or drop in to see how I was. Even though they didn't know me, they were concerned about me. How much we ordinarily take for granted: caring, and really caring, a smile, feeling good. It's amazing how much you learn after a bad accident. You're more able to see what's really important, you can 'separate the men from the boys.'" Now Lisa's back singing again—with a new outlook on life.

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

MEALTIME

Well named is breakfast, I would say,
The meal with which I start the day.
The "break" part is, I think, well spoken,
For I begin the day all broken,
And only when it's almost ended
Do I feel very nearly mended.
The second part, the "fast," is fine,
Describing breakfasts such as mine,
A meal it always seems my fate
To eat when I'm a little late,
And since it's not the meal that's vastest,
It's what I find I eat the fastest.

Speaking of the "generation gap": My 13-year-old son was reading in the FAMILY WEEKLY birthday section the names of various celebrities who were soon to celebrate a birthday. He turned to his 14-year-old sister and said, "Do you know Gene Autry?"

She answered, "Yes."

"Well, anyway," he said, "she'll be 65 on Friday."

Brilliant Miss Taylor:

You are so splendid, so lovely, so pretty, so inviting, so enchanting, that I think I would be mad if I could realize my illusions of getting in touch with you, precious female angel. You look so pretty and inviting that always I see your enchanting figure I always get excited! I am at present interested in the sugar business, and I am in urgent need of a couple of thousand dollars for its satisfactory development. I would consider myself glorified if you favored me with your assistance.

Trusting to receive the favor of your kind news, I am, splendid Miss Taylor,

We will send you all four books shown here (retail value $10.00)—and bill you for only $1.00, plus a small shipping charge, as your introduction to the I CAN READ Book Club for boys and girls .

Frankly, this introductory price is far less than our actual cost for these famous children's books. Each is 64 pages. Each is colorfully illustrated. Each is handsomely bound in durable 6¼" x 8¾" covers.

But it's not the low price or the beauty of these books that is so important. It is the books themselves—and what membership in the I CAN READ Book Club can mean to your youngster. We want you to see how quickly your child will be reading these stories all by himself. Learning new words. Putting phrases and sentences together. Reading aloud without any help from you. All this is possible—because these are not ordinary books.

What makes these books so different?

Simply this. The I CAN READ Book Club is sponsored by the Editors of My Weekly Reader, the well-known classroom paper loved by millions of boys and girls from kindergarten to 6th grade. These Editors know how to interest and teach children. They have chosen books written by the most gifted children's writers in America. Books which have a charm that youngsters 4 to 8 find irresistible. The stories are written in words children understand or can recognize. The plots are so entertaining that any child becomes eager to read each story from beginning to end—all by himself!

And then, just as eagerly, he loves to tell the story to someone else. Unlike other books for beginning readers that are read once and quickly forgotten, the I CAN READ books have a lasting quality. They are read, re-read and talked about by children because they can identify with the story and the characters.

Helps youngsters learn on their own

Membership in the I CAN READ Book Club will increase your child's desire and ability to read on his own—and may jump him years ahead in reading skills! As The New York Times said of the first I CAN READ Book, "One look at the illustrations and children will grab for it. A second look at the short easy sentences . . . and the children will know they can read it themselves."

Send no money; we will bill you for only $1.00, plus shipping, after the books arrive. Then, if you wish to continue your child's membership, another enchanting I CAN READ selection will be mailed each month. Not at the bookstore price of $2.50, but at the special member's price of only $1.69 plus shipping and sales tax, if any. Even then, you need not keep any month's selection unless you wish to. Just return it within 10 days and pay nothing. You may cancel membership at any time.

5675—12/31/72 FW

You May Apply for Up to $20,000.00 Coverage. . .

Now you can insure yourself and your wife with a policy guaranteed renewable up to age 70...and even your children ages 15 days to 23 years can be covered and guaranteed the right to convert up to $10,000 coverage when age 23. But you must send in application by midnight January 31st.

The Family Life Insurance Plan is so good and so inexpensive for the amount of coverage you get, that you probably have some questions. We've put all the answers down here in black and white . . . for Family Weekly readers so you won't miss the enrollment deadline. (See especially the Questions and Answers on pages 6 and 7 of this booklet.)

The Family Life Insurance Plan is a low cost, high protection insurance plan offered now to add to your regular group life insurance . . . and you can apply now without joining a group. This plan was designed to fill one and only one insurance need: to provide low cost, high benefit protection security for your loved ones. Up to $20,000 of insurance to be purchased by you, the breadwinner of the family to provide money for your survivors, not for yourself. The Family Life Insurance Plan does just this while it also allows you to insure your wife for up to $20,000 — and all your eligible children for $1,000 each, no matter how many, for one low premium. All of this protection at rates so low that you can't afford not to cover the whole family.

Why Term Insurance is Best For You!

It provides maximum coverage and the lowest possible cost to do the primary job that life insurance is intended to perform. . . protection and security for your loved ones in the event of the untimely passing of the primary family provider.

The Family Plan is Term Life Insurance so straightforward in concept and explained so fully in this booklet that we recommend buying it this easy, low cost way, through the United States mail. And you can apply right from this Family Weekly booklet, but you must mail the application by January 31, 1973. Better yet, do it today!

30 DAY NO-RISK MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

When your Family Life Insurance policy arrives, examine it in your home. Show it to one of your trusted advisors. And if for any reason you change your mind, just return your policy to us within 30 days and we'll refund your money at once.

for Yourself and $20,000.00 Coverage for Your Wife!

During this limited enrollment period you the readers of Family Weekly can apply for yourself and all eligible members of your family. All you need to do is completely fill in and mail the short application with your first month's premium, before the deadline. It's that simple. And, there's no risk with our 30-day Money Back Guarantee! When you receive your policy, you'll find it direct and easy to understand. Your own coverage is then in effect; your family's coverage will begin 31 days after yours if the premium notice you'll receive is paid by then.

You're Eligible to Enroll Up to Age 60!

You and your wife under age 60 are eligible to apply for up to $20,000 life insurance each. $10,000—$15,000—$20,000 for yourself. $5,000—$10,000—$15,000—$20,000 for your wife. Plus you can add coverage for all of your eligible children. All your children from 15 days to 23 years old — no matter how many — can be included for one low additional premium of only 60¢ a month for $1,000 coverage. When child coverage is in force, future children are covered automatically when they reach 15 days old at no increase in premium.

Guaranteed Convertible Without Proof Of Insurability!

You and your wife, anytime up to age 65, can convert your Family Life Insurance Plan coverage to the same or smaller amount of Ordinary Life Insurance, without any proof of insurability whatsoever. Your children are guaranteed the right at age 23 to convert their coverage to Ordinary Life Insurance for as much as 10 times their coverage under the Family Life Plan regardless of their health or occupation and without any physical examination or proof of insurability ($10,000 if they have $1,000 coverage.)

Guaranteed Renewable to Age 70!

This means your policy automatically renews up to age 70 without regard to the condition of your health, as long as you continue to pay premiums.

Policy Cannot Be Cancelled Except by You

Once issued to you, your policy can never be cancelled except by you and your premium schedule can never be changed. However, to keep your policy in force, you must pay your premiums promptly when due. And you can continue to renew your policy until you're 70 years old without any proof of continued good health.

Only One Exclusion

Here's All You Do to Apply

If you're under age 60, just complete the short, easy Application Form on the back page of this booklet and mail it with your first month's premium by January 31st. We'll process your application just as quickly as possible and issue the policy covering your own life as soon as your Application is approved.

YES. The Family Life Insurance Plan offers Regular Term Insurance at low rates comparable to group savings... made possible through mass enrollments!

How Can Rates Be So Low?

The answer is simple. The Family Life Insurance Plan was created for association members and employees to supplement their regular group life insurance. But now National-Ben Franklin is offering the same plan for mass enrollment of Family Weekly readers throughout the United States. Through mass enrollments, costs are kept very low and you get the most protection for the lowest possible rate.

NOW—JUST ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

1. If you're self-employed, do you provide as much life insurance protection for yourself as you would expect if you worked for someone else?
   Your family protection needs may be even greater because of your higher standard of living. You can use our plan to provide this added protection.
2. Will you still have your present coverage if you change jobs?
   You need to be sure you and your family are protected at all times. Our plan does not depend on where you are employed — it continues when you change jobs.
3. Have you increased your life insurance in the past two years?
   Prices of everything (as well as your standard of living) keep rising, and coverage adequate a few years ago, just may not be enough today.
4. Does your group life or other insurance also cover your wife?
   Money can't replace the love she gives to the family, of course, but money can help care for the children and your home if she isn't there.
5. Does your group life insurance also cover your children? Are you making sure your children will be able to get life insurance when they start out on their own?
   Conditions of health could change so that your children are no longer insurable. This way they're guaranteed protection up to $10,000 each when they are age 23!

If you answered "NO" to any of these questions, you and your family may need the low-cost, high benefit protection of the Family Life Insurance Plan that covers you and, if you wish, your wife and your children for one low monthly premium. To get these low family rates for your wife and children, however, you must also be insured under the plan.

You Risk Nothing

Even if you change your mind after you receive your Family Life Insurance Plan, just return your policy to us within 30 days of the time you receive it, and N-BF Life will promptly refund the money you've paid.

So you risk nothing by applying today. But if you delay, your health conditions (or a family member's) could change suddenly and make it difficult or impossible to get life insurance anywhere, at any price.

Mail Application Today

Please mail your application today so your protection can begin just as soon as possible.

When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is simple, direct and easy to understand. Read it carefully and show it to a trusted advisor to make sure it's exactly what you've wanted and needed. If you change your mind for any reason whatsoever, simply return the policy within 30 days of receipt and your money will be refunded promptly.

20 Important Questions Answered...

1. Who is eligible to apply?

Anyone between 18 and 60 years of age who's in ordinary good health. Wives under age 60 and children from 15 days to 23 years can also be included for very little additional cost. New additions to the family are covered automatically when they're 15 days old at no additional premium when child coverage is in force. However, you must be insured in order to cover your wife or children.

2. How much can I apply for? My wife? My children?

You can apply for up to $20,000 life insurance on yourself (the minimum is $10,000 but you can choose $15,000 or $20,000). You can add coverage for your wife in the amount of $5,000; $10,000; $15,000; or $20,000. And you can add $1,000 protection for each of your eligible children — no matter how many — for one low premium.

3. Why such low rates?

By mass enrollment throughout the country, sales costs are held to the barest minimum with savings passed along to you in lower premiums.

4. Is there any red tape?

None at all. Just answer each of the simple questions on the Application on the back page of this booklet and mail it with your first month's coverage before the deadline That's all there is to it.

5. Can I convert to Ordinary Life Insurance?

Yes — Ordinary life insurance accumulates cash value, but of course has higher premium costs. You may convert to the same or smaller amount of your coverage anytime up to age 65 without proof of insurability.

6. Can my wife convert her coverage?

Yes — Anytime regardless of her health or occupation and without any physical examination, up to her age 65.

The Family Life Insurance Plan rates are so low to cover your wife and only 60¢ a month more to cover all your eligible children, that you can't afford not to insure them as well.

7. Can my children convert their coverage?

Yes — Your children are guaranteed the right at age 23 to convert their coverage to an amount up to 10 times coverage under the Family Life Plan. This can mean $10,000 of Ordinary Life Insurance regardless of their health or occupation and without any physical examination.

8. Can my insurance policy ever be cancelled?

No — However, to keep your policy in force you must pay premiums when due. N-BF Life guarantees renewability up to age 70 without any proof of continued good health.

9. Can my rates be changed?

No—Your premium rate can never be changed from the schedule shown on p. 5 and will be shown in your policy. Each year your age determines your rate.

10. Why do I need this coverage if I have other insurance?

Ordinary life, annuity or other plans providing for retirement income are fine depending on what you want your insurance to accomplish. For pure protection however, this is the buy for you! And if your present insurance is group coverage, it probably doesn't cover your wife and children. Plus the fact that if you should leave your present job, your family might be caught without protection until you could join a new group plan in your new position.

These Answers Tell Why—National-Ben Franklin's Life Plan Is Your Best Low Cost Term Insurance Protection.

11. How much do I pay each month?

You pay only what is listed on the monthly rate chart on page 5 for your age and the coverage you want, for your wife's age and coverage desired and for the children's coverage. There is also a small payment fee of 50¢ for any payment plan other than annual.

12. Is acceptance guaranteed?

To keep rates low, anyone age 60 or over or with a serious health condition cannot be accepted. Nor can anyone answering "yes" to Question 7 on the application, regarding replacement of existing insurance. Also your children age 23 or over cannot be covered under the children's coverage, but may fill out an application of their own.

13. Will my beneficiaries receive their money promptly?

Yes — We act promptly, many are paid by return mail!

14. Will the money be all theirs? What about taxes?

All theirs! Lump sum life insurance death payments are not subject to income tax.

15. How do I apply?

It's very simple. Just complete the Application Form on the back page of this booklet and mail it by the deadline with your first month's premium. We'll process your application as quickly as possible and the policy on your own life will go into effect as soon as it is approved and issued. Your family's coverage will begin 31 days after yours if the premium notice you'll receive is paid by then.

16. Should I use this policy to replace or change one that I now have?

No. We do not recommend that you do this. In fact, if this is your intention, we will not be able to issue this policy to you. (See item 7 on application form.)

17. Why should I apply now?

Because The Family Life Insurance Plan is only offered to the general public during limited mass enrollments. And this is your opportunity to get the additional protection you need at these low monthly rates previously offered only to association members and employees. Besides, your health or the health of someone in your family could change without warning and make it impossible for you to get all the protection you need and want.

18. Why should I select National Ben Franklin for my Family Life Insurance Plan?

Because National-Ben Franklin, a 120 year old company, is licensed by your own state, regulated by your own state's insurance department and carries full legal reserves for the protection of all insured. And is an affiliate of the Continental Corporation, one of the world's largest and most respected insurance groups.

19. What one exclusion is there?

Only suicide, and even this is covered only two years* after each person's coverage begins.

20. Who should I list on the application

We recommend you include every eligible member of your family, you and your spouse under age 60 and your children ages 15 days to 23 years of age. The premium for family coverage is so low you can't afford not to have the added protection.

ANNIE IS FINDING OUT THAT STRANGE THINGS HAPPEN AT "MISS SCRIBBLE'S SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES"...

MISS SCRIBBLE'S SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES

EITHER THAT KID'S A SEASONED SAFE CRACKER...OR... I AIN'T SEEIN' WHAT I THINK I'M SEEIN'!!

DID YOU EVER SEE AN OPERATION RUN SO SMOOTHLY?

THIS KIND O' OPERATION I AIN'T HAD TOO MUCH EXPERIENCE IN... BUT IT STRIKES ME...

WE HAVE A SECRET WEAPON THAT'S FOOLPROOF, ANNIE! AS SOON AS YOU GET SOME SENSE INTO THAT STUBBORN HEAD OF YOURS, WE'LL LET YOU IN ON HOW IT'S DONE!

HELP!! POLICE!! THIEVES!!

O.K., GROUP! BACK TO YOUR ROOMS AS QUIET AS MICE! THAT GOES FOR YOU TOO, ANNIE! WE'LL TALK AGAIN IN THE MORNING!

DID EVERYTHING RUN SMOOTHLY?

IT WAS LIKE TAKING CANDY FROM A BABY! MUST BE OVER $100,000 IN CASH AND JEWELRY WORTH TWICE THAT MUCH!
