Davis Heads Efficiency Study Body

RALEIGH (AP) — Filling a campaign promise, Gov. Jim Holshouser authorized creation Tuesday of a high-level commission of donated talent from private business to explore the inner workings of state government.

The commission will be headed by Archie Davis of Winston-Salem, board chairman for Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. it was charged by Holshouser to recommend changes that would promote greater efficiency in government, ranging from reorganization to the procedures used in buying pencils.

Holshouser said the study would apply initially only to those departments and agencies answering directly to him, but he would "encourage" members of the Council of State to allow the businessmen into their departments.

The Council of State consists of the attorney general, secretary of state, agriculture commissioner, state auditor, state treasurer, insurance commissioner, the superintendent of public instruction, the labor commissioner and the lieutenant governor.

Holshouser said the study would take three to four months and would cost about $200,000, including a fee to be paid to Warren King and Associates of Chicago, a consulting firm.

Holshouser said the study would be expense-free for the state, with all of the costs to be paid for through donations from private business. "We've already sampled the waters," he said.

He said members of the commission would not be paid.

"We will use business people to make this study," he said. "We feel they are the best people to check administrative organization and performance to show how modern management techniques can help us improve what we have and help us control costs."

$30,000 Drive For Boys Club Budget Is Set

The annual drive to raise funds for continuing the Greenville-Pitt County Boys' Club operation opens next Monday as more than 40 board members under five team leaders will seek to raise $30,000 from local firms, businesses and individuals.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors held Tuesday night, campaign chairman Doyle Hayes informed board members that the campaign would be limited to a 30 day period.

In outlining the necessary minimum budget for the Boys' Club, Hayes listed an operating budget of $34,400 and a capital budget of $11,000, for a total of $45,400. "This does not retire all our outstanding debts," Hayes noted, "but allows only for the servicing of capital indebtedness." This year, for the first time, the Pitt County United Fund approved an appropriation for the Boys' Club in the amount of $7,000.

Hayes noted that the appropriation was made with the understanding that certain conditions be met if the Boys' Club is to be eligible for future appropriations from the United Fund. He gave as conditions the expansion of the club's activities into at least three communities within Pitt County; the hiring of a full time assistant director; and an increase in membership.

"The goal we have stated is a must," Hayes remarked. "This amount is what we must have to stay current, to allow expansion of Boys' Club activities within the county, and to provide a full (Continued on page 12)

'Preventive Maintenance' At Hospital Described

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
"Preventive maintenance" was discussed at a meeting of the Pitt Memorial Hospital Board last night.

Hospital maintenance director Walter Dail, his assistant director A.C. Whichard, and Robert F. Reeves of Health Institutional Consultants discussed how the department is striving to make itself more effective and efficient. About 50 per cent of the hospital's capital expenditure is in the physical plant, Rives pointed out. He told how a card file has been developed on all equipment and how the maintenance work load is balanced throughout the year as nearly as possible. Each item worth more than $50 is numbered and inventory is taken twice a year. Warranties are indexed and each piece of equipment is checked about two months before the warranty runs out to be sure it is in good condition. A work order system has been developed to give jobs priorities, according to whether they are classified emergency, regular, preventive, or construction or remodeling — in this order.

Dr. C. N. Ramsdale was approved subject to approval by the medical staff for minor privileges in internal medicine. His specialty is rheumatology (treatment of diseases of the joints). The entire medical staff was reapproved by the Board upon recommendation of the Chief of Staff Dr. John Wooten. Hospital administrator Jack Richardson commended hospital personnel for the selfless way they performed during the recent week of snow and ice. Almost everyone was on the job and many spent the night at the hospital in order to be at work, he said.

The board was informed that the hospital is running ads in local papers to recruit registered nurses. The number of RNs is down to 57, they were told, and many nurses are having to work overtime to meet the needs of the patients.

Personnel assistant administrator Rick Gilstrap reported that 10 hospital employees have retired under the hospital's retirement system this year and that three are due to retire this year and one in 1974. Payments are very nearly equaling interest accrued, he said.

Richardson announced that Keith Brunson of the Chicod district and G.R. Gurganus of the Bell Arthur district will have their terms as trustees expire in March, with 14 years and 12 years respectively. The County Commissioners will be called upon to appoint new trustees from these districts. Roscoe Bell of Fountain, Eugene James of Belvoir, and Otis Stokes of Swift Creek each will be eligible for additional six-year terms, since the limit is two full terms.

A nominating committee was appointed by the chairman Woodrow Wooten. It consists of Kenneth Dews, chairman; Ed Warren, J.H. Moye, Glenn Hardee, and Ed Switzer.

Legislator Calls For Full School Financial Responsibility

RALEIGH (AP) — A Buncombe County legislator has called for North Carolina to assume full financial responsibility for operation of the state's public school system, an act he says could cost an additional $286 million by 1978.

Rep. Herbert Hyde, a

Democrat, introduced a bill in the House Tuesday authorizing the state takeover.

Hyde said he was not sponsoring the bill for any agency. Asked if he had sought any support for his bill, he replied: "Only for all the votes I can get." The North Carolina Association of Educators suggested last fall that consideration be given to changes in the school funding program, but an NCAE spokesman spoke cautiously Tuesday about Hyde's bill.

"It has been the policy of the association for a number of years to try to improve educational work for equal opportunity for children," said Charles Mooney, NCAE research and public relations assistant.

"If full state funding for North Carolina is the way to reach this point, we are all for it," he said, adding: "We want better schools and we're not so much concerned with how."

Tom I. Davis, special assistant to the state superintendent of public instruction, said of Hyde's bill: "That's a surprise to us."

Hyde's bill did not spell out any details, but simply authorized the state to assume full responsibility for the schools. He said the takeover was required by the state constitution, and cited provisions calling for the state to "provide by taxation and otherwise for a general and uniform system of free public schools."

Hyde said details of the proposed takeover would be left up to the state Board of Education. The state now pays 69 per cent of the total public school cost. Seventeen per cent of the cost is borne by local governments and the remainder by the federal government.

Court cases have arisen in California and Texas challenging alleged unequal educational opportunities as a result of mixed state-local financing. There has been speculation that the U.S. Supreme Court might rule soon that schools must be financed on the basis of the state's wealth as a whole, a ruling that could knock out local financing through special taxes.

Just-In-Case Bill By Anti-War Bloc

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House antiwar forces say they will introduce a bill to cut off funds for the Vietnam war—just in case the current round of peace talks fail to produce settlement.

"Obviously the steam would go out of it if a peace agreement is announced," Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., said Tuesday, "and I would like to see that happen." Hamilton said the bill will be introduced Thursday despite President Nixon's hopes that the current Paris talks will lead to a settlement "in the event the peace talks don't succeed and the war continues."

The bill embodies the antiwar language approved by House Democrats, 154 to 75, two weeks ago, and is the one antiwar lobby including Common Cause say they will support. It would prohibit expenditure of any funds "for U.S. military combat operations in or over Indochina" and require that "such operations be terminated immediately" provided arrangements have been made for release of all American POWs, safe withdrawal of U.S. forces, and an accounting of Americans missing in enemy territory.

The 154 House Democratic Caucus votes for the language Jan. 2 indicated the House—which had rejected all Senate war-deadline measures in the past—still was not ready to approve one by itself.

Sixty four Republicans would need to join Democrats for the measure to pass. That is three times the 23 votes House antiwar Republicans cast last year.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott said over the weekend, before Nixon announced peace progress and the halt of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, that they doubt Congress could legislate an end to the war.

They said they doubt Congress could muster the two-thirds vote necessary to override Nixon's veto—even if there were enough votes to send a cutoff measure to him in the first place.

But Hamilton, who also led the organized lobby for a House antiwar vote last year, said he believes House sentiment is gaining for Congress to halt the war if Nixon does not.

"We have the momentum," he said, "and I think we could come close to enough votes and might go over the top."

Craig Firing Stirs Words

RALEIGH (AP) — The firing of Social Services Commissioner Clifton Craig prompted a brief debate in the state Senate Tuesday.

Rising to a point of personal privilege, Sen. Charles B. Deane Jr., D-Richmond, told the Senate Craig "has served the state well in one of its most controversial posts" but was subjected to criticism "for things he was required to do by the federal government."

Republican Sen. Donald R. Kincaid followed Deane, saying "many people in my district wanted Craig removed because they are opposed to a state takeover of social services." Craig was fired Monday by David Flaherty, the state secretary of human resources.

"speaking for my part of the state, Flaherty did the right thing," Kincaid stated.

A third legislator, Buncombe County Sen. I. C. Crawford objected at that point to Kincaid's statement.

"Sen. Kincaid said he was speaking for the western part of the state," Crawford said, "but I just wanted to say he wasn't speaking for my district."

Flaherty told a news conference Tuesday Craig was fired because he did not agree with Gov. Jim Holshouser's philosophy of "wide-open two-way communications between the counties and the agency."

Home Savings And Loan Officers Are Reelected At Meet

Current officers of Home Savings and Loan Association were re-elected for another one-year tenure here Tuesday at the association's board of directors meeting.

Directors re-elected Howard L. Hodges as president and David J. Whichard II as vice president. Herbert W. Lee was re-elected to the executive vice president's post and J. Larkin Little was elected secretary, succeeding Jim Hudson who moved from Greenville during the past year to take the position of executive vice president and managing officer of Home Savings and Loan Association of Thomasville.

Mary H. Seymour was named treasurer again and W.W. Speight was retained by the board as the association's attorney.

Directors for 1973 were elected at the annual shareholders meeting, held prior to the board session. Elected were Carl Bailey (Plymouth), Kenneth K. Dews (Winterville), F.D. Duncan, David A. Evans, Clifton W. Everett Sr. (Bethel), J.S. Ficklen Jr., J.T. Little (elected Director Emeritus), H.L. Hodges, W.W. Speight, W.H. Taft, N.O. Van Nortwick Jr., Dr. Allen Taylor, David J. Whichard II, Julian J. White Jr., Charles Wilkerson, Billy Laughinghouse, and H.W. Lee.

In his annual report to shareholders, Lee said that assets increased for Home Savings and Loan last year by $4,230,840, a growth of almost 25 per cent "which is considerably above the national average growth of 18 per cent." He said (Continued on page 12)

Homemaker's Haven By Sue May Pitt Home Agent

Mobile homes are providing housing for many families. If you are considering purchasing a mobile home learn as much about desirable features as possible. Knowing what to look for when purchasing a mobile home will make mobile home living more enjoyable for you and your family. Be aware of these considerations when you shop for a mobile home.

1. Check the rigidity of the construction. Press with your hand on the wall panels to determine if the studs are 16 inches on center or 24 inches. It is better to have studs as close together as 16 inches.

2. Interior walls are usually of prefinished wood paneling or simulated wood panels. This means there is a vinyl film on the surface. They are available in a variety of colors. Remember that light walls reflect more light and make rooms seem larger; where as, dark walls absorb more light making rooms seem smaller.

3. Floors of mobile homes are generally of a vinyl-coated material applied in one wide strip at the factory and-or they are carpeted. Properly used and maintained, the floors will wear well. Quality of carpet will vary with cost. You might ruffle it to look at the density—how close the tufts are—especially for shag. Nylon is perhaps the most widely used carpet fiber. It has good wear and stain resistant qualities, but it is often "shiny" in appearance. You might want to look for a carpet with a duller finish.

4. Sizes of furniture and appliances in mobile homes are generally standard. One exception to this is the bed in the second bedroom. Manufacturers sometimes use a three-quarter bed that is 43" x 48" wide (in between single and double size). Standard bed linens are difficult to fit on these beds.

5. Sit on the furniture and look under it to see how it is made. Lie on the bed, pick up the mattress and check the box springs and number of slats. Furniture with heavy appearance is not always strong and may not withstand hard wear. The total cost of the home will usually reflect the quality of the furniture.

6. Check the appliances. Look for familiar brand names that you know you can get serviced in your area.

7. Check the kitchen for both quality cabinet workmanship and shelf spacing (sometimes the floor serves as a bottom shelf). Be sure that door and drawer pulls are the "screw" type and not flued to the cabinets.

8. Look at the amount and location of counter space. You will need a work space for mixing and space for washing and draining dishes. Is there counter space on each side of the range? Is there counter space on the latch side of the refrigerator?

9. Check the amount of closet space. Do the closet doors open easily? Are the closets designed for hanging garments 24 inches deep. Is there a closet 18" deep for linen storage?

10. Various floor plan arrangements are available. Which arrangements suits you best will be determined by the number in family, their ages and their activities. If the children are small, you may prefer the bedrooms to be located side by side. A center living area will virtually eliminate a long narrow hall. If entertaining and cooking are important to you and your family, then you should consider a home with a large living-dining kitchen area.

11. Look at the exterior design. A simple design, free of gaudy moldings and trims, usually adds to the total beauty of the home.

How Should A Patient Change Doctors?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a little problem we need help with. We have been going to a doctor for the past four years since we've moved to this town. Once, when our regular doctor was on vacation his partner filled in for him, and Abby, the partner was fantastic! I liked him so much better than my regular doctor.

My husband also had the partner and liked him better than our own.

We would like to switch over to the partner but we don't know how to go about it. We are so afraid of hurting our first doctor's feelings.

Do you happen to know how doctors feel about this sort of thing?

MRS. B.: I doubt that a doctor would be overjoyed to learn that a patient preferred his partner, and would like to switch. But a patient has a right to choose his own doctor—unless he goes to a clinic where it is understood that he will take whichever doctor is available. Read on. Another reader has your problem in reverse.

DEAR ABBY: About two months ago my doctor took in a partner. The problem is that when I go to my doctor's office, the nurse tells me I have to have the partner.

I like my original doctor, and since I am paying the bill I feel I am entitled to get the doctor of my choice.

I am told the new doctor is "just as good," but I still prefer my old doctor.

Please tell me what I can do about this. I don't want to make a trip to the doctor's office, and then go home without seeing a doctor because my own doctor won't see me, which is what I intend to do if this happens again. Please advise me.

DISGUSTED: The next time you want an appointment, tell your doctor's secretary which doctor you want to see, and make it clear that you will see no other! It is common practice for a doctor to have his partner (or some colleague) substitute for him while he is on vacation or in an emergency, but no ethical doctor will arbitrarily transfer a patient to his partner without the consent and approval of the patient.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Community Shares In Concern

Our community shares the concern of Union Carbide for the plant's early Sunday morning mishap. A boiler exploded in the plant and extensively damaged the building and equipment. One man was injured in the blast, but it was most fortunate that more people were not working in the building. If the plant had been operating a number of people could have been killed or injured.

Damage from the explosion was so extensive that the plant could not operate Monday and officials said employees would be notified individually as to when to return to work. Union Carbide has long been one of Pitt County's finest corporate citizens. Its plant building is attractive and the grounds well kept. The appearance of the area has been a credit to the rapidly developing section along Greenville Boulevard. We would hope damage to the Union Carbide plant can be repaired as quickly as possible and that the facility will soon be back in full production.

Med School Is Major Venture

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH, — North Carolina is at the threshold of decision on whether to embark on the creation of a new school of medicine as a means of increasing its supply of physicians.

Chapel Hill Campus. Restructure Testing Point The medical school question could prove to be a testing point in the current General Assembly for the whole new structure of higher education. ECU ambitions, and its skills in recruiting legislative support for its goals, was a prominent factor in the overhaul of higher education accomplished at a special legislative session in the fall of 1971. That created the Board of Governors, and gave it broad power over new programs and budgets for all the institutions. Acceptance or rejection by the lawmakers of the board's handling of the medical education issue will be decisive for the functioning of the new system. Some solons as well as citizens are tired of studies on the subject, which has caused debate and controversy over the past several years. The prospect of yet another exploration may be lacking in appeal.

Establishing a second medical school within the University of North Carolina system would cost nearly $20 million in capital expenditures, plus annual costs totaling $7 to $9.5 million for operation and hospital affiliation. The policy issue is whether the state should commit resources of that magnitude to the venture. The political question is whether East Carolina University at Greenville should be the location.

To help resolve the first and perhaps de-fuse the second, the Board of Governors of the university system last week approved a $50,000 study by national consultants. Larger Issue Awaited The governors accepted the recommendation of a committee, which spent six months exploring the subject, that further expansion of a one-year medical education program at ECU be delayed pending the study and a confrontation with the larger issue of a four-year school. The Committee concluded that a two-year program, requested by ECU, does not offer a "viable alternative" to increase the production of doctors to practice in North Carolina. Students can be assured no clear pathway to an M. D. degree in existing Tar Heel schools, the committee's report noted, leaving them only the choice of going out of state to complete their education.

While it said "no" to any immediate implementation for an ECU medical school, long a dream among citizens and legislators of the eastern region, the action left open the door for its eventual realization. The consulting team, in evaluating the need for a new school of medicine, would examine all possibilities including its location within the 19-campus system. Specifically, it would take into account the medical education program already established at Greenville. Presumably, that would give ECU a foot-in-the-door, should the verdict of the experts favor establishment of a second four-year school. The state already supports a school of medicine at the

Zoo Development Is A Step To Quality Life

With the naming of William H. Hoff as director of the North Carolina State Zoo, which will be built near Asheboro, this project should move rapidly along. Gov. Jim Holshouser said the "zoo is ready to be launched."

"This will be the largest zoological park of its kind in the world," Gov. Holshouser said. "No bars, no cages. . . our zoo will be designed along sound ecological lines."

Development of a state zoo is another step in developing a quality life in North Carolina without large cities and their accompanying problems. It is our hope that this project will be carried out without delay.

'New Politics' Versus Strauss

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A political apparatus intended to prevent Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss from modifying the party's 1972 New Politics reforms is being built under sponsorship of one of Strauss's fiercest critics: New York millionaire Stewart Mott, a generous contributor to left-wing Democratic causes. Mott's new organization is completely separate from a still amorphous nationwide organization (previously reported by us) that Sen. George McGovern is contemplating. Although McGovern is aware of Mott's idea, the decision has been made not to put a clear McGovern stamp on it. The purpose of the yet unnamed organization is made clear by a private memorandum prepared for Mott. It would develop "an effective floor leadership, communication system and parliamentary strategy" for left-leaning members of the Democratic National Committee and provide "substantive staff work" for left-wing members of the party's reform commissions. The goal: to block Strauss from moving the party back toward the center. The prospective staff director of Mott's organization and author of the memo is New Politics operative Alan Baron, who as aide to Democratic national chairman Jean Westwood during the McGovern campaign picked the leftward-tilting membership of the new Woodcock Reform Commission. When Strauss ousted Mrs. Westwood Dec. 9, Baron was the first staff member at national headquarters to go. He then drafted his memo, pointing to Strauss's election as a sign of the strength of "The conservative coalition" within the party. . . determined to turn the clock back to pre-1972 procedures" and led by the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education and the new Coalition for a Democratic Majority. "The 'conservative coalition' is well-organized and well-financed," wrote Baron. "It has a permanent organization and central leadership capable of developing clear strategy." In contrast, the left "is in disarray." To remedy this, he proposed the new apparatus to serve as a shadow national committee staff while Strauss is in power. The memo specifies the new organization will try to hamstring Strauss in the exercise of his office, such as in the forthcoming selection of 25 additional members to the National Committee. The questions posed by Baron in the memo are reminiscent of the McGovern campaign: "The initial question may be one of numbers — how many blacks, Chicanos, young people, union members, etc., on the (new) 25? But the crucial question will be how members are selected. Will the blacks and Chicanos be selected from persons recommended by their caucuses — or from those recommended by white party officials. Will the union members be from international unions which supported the Democratic ticket last fall — or from those which remained neutral?"

Haldeman's Burgeoning Power H.R. (Bob) Haldeman, White House staff chief, was personally responsible for President Nixon's appointment of former newsman John Scali to the lofty post of U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Thus Haldeman, whose far-flung influence throughout the first Nixon administration was only occasionally checked by former

Choose Your Phobia

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with winter ailments is that they are too commonplace and conventional. The common cold, of course, is for the mob, the 24-hour virus for the raffra. And the flu is hardly better. At the best it is only for the hoi polloi.

One year it may be the Tokyo flu, the next year the London flu, but basically it is a disease with lower-class symptoms, leaves one with second-rate feelings, and hardly appeals to anyone of distinction and genteel breeding. Well, is there a winter disease that does? Is there any malady that can make a person of real sensitivity and social standing feel it is worth his time to be ill? Actually, there are many — if you can but learn to spell and pronounce their names. For example, what is the most common thing in winter? Is it not snow? And does not snow annoy you, bore you, or fill you with feelings of nervous dread? Ergo, you have your disease. Yes, you are suffering from chionophobia, the fear of snow. As a motorist do you worry that ice will make hill roads unsafe for driving? Take it easy, then, honey. You're a victim of cremophobia, the fear of steep places. And if some lazy teen-age kid sassed you when you asked him to shovel out your driveway and you're all worn out from doing the job yourself, you've automatically picked up two more attention-winning cold weather afflictions. They are pedophobia, the fear of children, and kopnophobia, the fear of fatigue. The chances are, if you are middle-age, that you are out of breath and your chest feels tight. In that case you also have cardiophobia, the fear of heart disease. When you go to the theater or opera or a dress-up ball, do you sometimes feel you will be smothered in a sea of women's mink coats? Put yourself down for doraphobia, the fear of

A Test For The Public

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—There seems to be some kind of a campaign by Administration officials to discredit the press. How successful it'll be depends on the public, which hasn't been too happy with the media lately because it keeps bringing them such bad news. One of the problems is that the public doesn't understand the role of the press in its dealings with the government. To make it easier to comprehend we present a little multiple choice questionnaire for everyone to take. It shows the quandary we're in every day. 1. You, a reporter, have just covered a Senate hearing where Gordon Rule, the U.S. Navy's expert in procurement, has testified that Litton Industries overcharged the Navy millions of dollars on ships it promised to build. It was also brought out in testimony that Roy Ash, the President's choice to head the Office of Management and Budget, was not a very good manager when he was president of Litton. You: (A) write the story quoting Mr. Rule's charges; (B) kill the story because it reflects badly on the Navy; (C) try to prove Mr. Rule is incompetent for criticizing a presidential appointee; (D) sell your stock in Litton Industries.

2. You go to a Pentagon briefing and are told by a Defense Department spokesman that B-52s did not hit a hospital in Hanoi although you saw photographs of the damaged hospital on television the night before. You: (A) accept the spokesman's word for it; (B) question him on the veracity of the Pentagon; (C) forget about it and have lunch with Assistant Deputy of Defense for Public Affairs; (D) decide not to watch television any more because it only confuses you. 3. You're assigned to the White House and Press Secretary Ron Ziegler tells you no one in the White House had anything to do with the Watergate bugging. You: (A) let out three cheers; (B) accept the statement without further checking, which guarantees you a choice of hotel room when the President goes to Key Biscayne; (C) congratulate Ziegler for his candor; (D) ask a few tough questions that will make Ziegler so mad he'll ban your newspaper from covering White House social events. 4. You're a television correspondent and you discover a person high in the Department of Agriculture has personally profited on the Soviet grain deal and cost farmers in the Southwestern United States millions of dollars. You: (A) forget it because it would make people question the Department of Agriculture's grain policies; (B) forget it because the taxpayers will pay for it anyway; (C) forget it because the

Other Editors Say Do Not Forget

(Goldsboro News-Argus) No one was pleased that President Nixon found it necessary in December to resume heavy bombing on the Hanoi and Haiphong areas. But it was predictable and interesting to note the reaction of some of our political figures, the network television commentators and some of our more liberal newspapers around the country. Immediately they began referring to massive protests against the President's actions. To listen to CBS, one would get the idea that the only person in the United States — indeed, the entire world — who favored resumption of the bombing was Richard Nixon. The rest, some would have us believe, were all up in arms. Lest some be misled, let's all face up to a truth in this matter. The people howling about the bombing are the same people who have been protesting Mr. Nixon's handling of the war all along. They are the same senators, the same congressmen, the same commentators, the same communist sympathizers we have been hearing from for six or eight years. They are the same ones who, by leading Hanoi to believe that the American people are preponderantly apposed to the President's policies, have encouraged the communists to keep fighting. These people seem to have forgotten that two short months ago, President Nixon's handling of the war was on the line as the paramount issue in the Presidential election. The American people, in a near record landslide vote, endorsed Richard Nixon and his policies. There has been no public pulsetaking on the matter since that time. How then, can the McGoverners, the Proxmires, the commentators and the other champions of the left pretend today that there is massive opposition to the President's policies? If Richard Nixon listens to those who opposed him all along and were soundly defeated at the polls, then he does a disservice to himself, to the great majority that voted for him and to his country.

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
January 17, 1933 A new mad dog scare spread over the city today with the reported biting of four persons by a rabid animal which ran down principal streets of Greenville snapping at everything in sight before finally being killed in the western section of the city. A similar incident happened in December when a rabid dog bit a five-year-old boy. The boy died yesterday. Their spirit whetted by a victory over the strong Chowan College team Saturday, the E.C.T.C. baskets are working out daily in preparation for two games here this week. The first game will be with High Point College Thursday night and the second with Campbell College Saturday night. The Teachers have won four and lost one and should be able to put up a good game against both High Point and Campbell. The real drought occurred in the third quarter, when the firms lost $9.2 million on commission business, although recording an overall profit of $7.4 million because of underwriting and other activities. Since then business has picked up sharply.

Strength For Today
THE STILL SMALL VOICE
One of the basic beliefs of religion is that we are guided by a power higher than our own. It is silly and illogical to believe that the God Who made the world went away and left it to its own devices. The teaching of the Bible from beginning to end is that we are guided every moment of our lives. The still, small voice within is a reality and one that we cannot afford to disregard unless we are willing to take consequences that may be severe in all their aspects. To live one's life under the consciousness of divine guidance is a rewarding experience. In fact, it can be called the most rewarding experience in life. The mighty hand of God, and his perfect wisdom and love, work amid the confused, mistaken and ignorant counsel of men. Through the whole of life run great streaks of ignorance, evil and mistaken ideals. We must go forward or we will go backward. God made the world. He still holds it in his hands. To those who have eyes to see, the hand of God is leading us all toward an eternal destiny. Most people think about the judgment that follows death. We should think instead of the guidance that characterizes all truly religious living. The world in which we live today is the most pleasant and comfortable humanity has known in its history, but it is a dangerous age. The consequence of sin seem to be easily avoided. But we had better take another look and do a bit more thinking. By Earl Douglass

A Profit In Business-Analysis

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — American business is always analyzing itself — its past performance, its intentions, its customers, its trends. And if a particular business declines to do so, someone else will do it and make a profit in the process. Thus, Arthur Lipper Corp., an investment banker, reports some figures that the mutual fund industry might shrink from publicising: the average gain of 537 funds last year failed to match any of the popular indices. While the Dow Jones industrial average rose 14.58 per cent, the Standard & Poor's 500 some 15.63 per cent, and the New York Stock Exchange composite average more than 14 per cent, the average fund rose only 9.26 per cent. It means that if you did as well as the averages with your own portfolio, you did at least as well as 374 of the professionally managed funds that were measured. The danger in using these statistics as a measure of your own accomplishment is that they are averages, and averages are always distorted by the extremes. There are good funds and poor funds. While the worst of them actually declined 34.24 per cent in 1972, the leader, Templeton Growth, appreciated 68.45 per cent, or more than four times faster than the popular indices. The New York Stock Exchange has been closely monitoring the profits and losses of its members. The compilation shows just how bad things got on the money street last summer, when some brokers feared collapse. The survey, involving companies accounting for two-thirds of revenues, showed commission business dropped to $4.8 million for the first nine months of 1972, compared with $29.9 million a year earlier. The real drought occurred in the third quarter, when the firms lost $9.2 million on commission business, although recording an overall profit of $7.4 million because of underwriting and other activities. Foreign Educators To Visit Greenville

Two foreign educators will include a visit to Greenville before they return to their homeland.

Included in the nine foreign educators now spending some time in North Carolina are: Mrs. Kamontip Marikatat of Thailand and Abdul Alee of Afghanistan. These two will visit Greenville. Mrs. Marikatat, head of the Science Department at Songkhla Teachers College in Songkhla, Thailand, will be visiting with Dr. Evelyn Perry of the East Carolina University School of Nursing Jan. 10-25. After that time, she will visit with Dr. Floyd Mattheis of the ECU Science Department from Jan. 25 through Feb. 8. During that visit, she will stay in the home of Mrs. J.B. Spillman of E. Fifth Street.

Alee will be in Greenville Jan. 25 through February 8 for a visit with Dr. Ed Hooks, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at ECU. During his stay in Greenville, Alee will study physical education and the ECU schools and recreation program.

Alee, physical education teacher at Kabul University in Afghanistan, coaches volleyball and is director of the gymnasium at the university.

The educators arrived in Raleigh on Jan. 4 and after spending several days observing the activities of the State Department of Instruction, are now visiting local school systems across the state.

U.S.-Style Government Ended

By FRANK N. HAWKINS JR.
Associated Press Writer
MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos officially ended 26 years of U.S.-style government in the Philippines today and signed into law a new constitution providing for a parliamentary system some day.

He said his action was an expression of the "peoples' will." The 55-year-old chief executive assumed the powers of president, prime minister and the legislature under the new charter. He also announced he was continuing martial law indefinitely "to protect the people and the republic."

Marcos signed his new decrees before some 4,000 members of a Peoples' Congress that was formed hastily during the weekend in the wake of some 32,000 citizens' assemblies his supporters held throughout the country.

The government said 15 million of the 40 million Filipinos raised their hands in the open public meetings to express their approval of Marcos' martial-law rule.

The president also announced he had cancelled a secret-ballot plebiscite on the new constitution that he had promised previously and was accepting the informal vote of the assemblies as official ratification of it.

In six days of voting, the government said, the assemblies indicated "overwhelming approval" of continuance of martial law, adoption of the new constitution, cancellation of the plebiscite and suspension of elections for the next six or seven years.

General elections had been scheduled for this fall under the old constitution, and Marcos' second term of office was to expire at midnight Dec. 31. The old constitution barred him from a third term.

The new constitution also provides for Marcos to continue to rule by decree until he decides to call a parliamentary election, and there is no time limit.

Marcos told the Peoples' Congress: "We are engaging in a peaceful and constitutional revolution" to "return sovereignty to the people." He said in the broadcast that he was not accepting the offer of the citizens' assemblies to form a "revolutionary government," which he said would be "a setting aside" of all constitutional forms.

A group led by former Sen. Lorenzo Tanada had petitioned the Supreme Court to declare the results of the citizens' assemblies unofficial. But, with the proclamation of the new constitution, the court halted its proceedings. Chief Justice Robert Conception said he was unsure whether the court organized under the old charter continued to exist under the new one.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, enters the second Nixon term with a still broader writ of power which now runs to control over some top diplomatic appointments.

Scali, who joined the White House staff in 1971 as a special Presidential consultant, has worked closely with Haldeman on a variety of confidential assignments in addition to his main job as a high-level background briefer on foreign policy.

Haldeman's personal selection of Scali for the prestigious UN job is just one more example of Mr. Nixon's intention to centralize all power inside his own White House.

Nixon Control

The sacking of highly respected civil servant Robert Ball as Social Security administrator fits neatly into President Nixon's overall program of attaining iron control over the federal government, but it came four years later than Mr. Nixon originally planned.

In 1969, White House aides, noting that the non-partisan Ball had first been named administrator by President John F. Kennedy, wanted him replaced by a Nixon stalwart. But Mr. Nixon's newly designated officials at Health, Education and Welfare Department — Secretary Robert Finch and Under Secretary John G. Veneman — protested they badly needed Ball's expertise. Moreover, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, informed the White House he would be most unhappy if Ball were fired.

This time, Mr. Nixon experienced little difficulty. Elliot Richardson, outgoing Secretary at HEW, told the White House Ball ought to be kept to an administrator changed in law, but did not press the point. His successor, Caspar Weinberger, made no protest. Mills was not consulted (though he is not happy about Ball's ouster).

A footnote: The Ball incident confirms the general expectation that Weinberger, highly competent administrator though he is, will be considerably more subservient to the White House than either Finch or Richardson.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can follow through with those ideas you have for recreation that can also help to bring in the bacon. Try to build up the ego of mate and have more accord in the future. Don't take some situation to heart so much.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will be almost born with divine discontent that could lead to real martyrdom if you, as parents, do not teach early to stand up for own rights and have more faith, as well as confidence in himself or herself. Teach to smile more and to develop a sense of humor, which can be a lifesaver at times. There can be fame in this chart provided the forte is found and specialized in early in life. Religion a must here.

Georgia Leader In Moonshine Output

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia led the nation for the 11th consecutive year in 1972 in the production of moonshine, according to the U.S. Treasury Department and the Georgia Revenue Department.

Figures released by the Treasury Department show Georgia leading rivals Alabama and North Carolina in production of illegal brew by about 33 per cent. Last year, 21,539 gallons of moonshine were seized by state and federal revenue agents. The total of 412 stills captured had a combined production capacity of 622,561 gallons.

Georgia is expected to continue its predominance of the moonshine industry, largely due to the large number of dry counties in the state, according to Harold Dixon, head of the state Revenue department's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit.

Other reasons included the comparative cheapness of moonshine, the availability of spring water, (which is ideal for the brew), the availability of hiding places and the presence of a large black population which apparently likes the taste of moonshine.

Jim King of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms said the Southeast has always led the country in production of moonshine with a total of about 90 per cent.

King explained that Georgia's domination of the moonshine market could also be explained historically. "The people who settled this part of the country thought they had the God-given right to make their own whiskey. It's a custom that's been passed through the years, but now it's a dying art," he said.

BEER-LOVING DANES

Do you know what you've got? You've got a triple-threat. You've got autophobia, the fear of solitude; monophobia, the fear of being alone; and phonophobia, the fear of hearing your own voice.

Town Has First Robbery-Slaying

CANTON, N.C. (AP)—This mountain town has had its first robbery slaying at a business establishment in the memory of old timers.

The night attendant at the Smile Service Station, Bascombe Robinson, who was in his 60s, was fatally shot with a small-caliber weapon Tuesday night.

Police said an undetermined amount was missing from the cash box.

how to save money on your utility bills here are 13 ways you can save money this winter on your utility bills:

- 1 Insulate exterior walls, ceilings and floors.
- 2 Turn the heating thermostat down to 68 degrees at night, and when away from home for 24 hours or more.
- 3 Turn off heat in unused rooms.
- 4 Have heating equipment checked annually to make sure it is operating efficiently.
- 5 Change heating filters as soon as they get dirty.
- 6 Turn off unused lights.
- 7 Install storm windows and doors, or put in weather stripping. Some people tack or tape or staple clear plastic around outside windows.
- 8 Seal cracks between window or door frames.
- 9 Hold use of fireplace to a minimum to avoid wasting heat. Make sure the damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use. If there is no damper, block the opening with a movable cover of plywood or insulating board.
- 10 Open vents in attics and crawl spaces to prevent condensation.
- 11 Maintain humidity levels of 45 to 50 per cent, so the heat level can be comfortably lowered.
- 12 Close window draperies at night. Keep blinds and curtains open to the sun during the day.
- 13 Repair leaky water faucets.

Minimum Wage Proposed For All N.C. Prisoners

By MELVIN LANG
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's General Assembly has received legislation proposing payment of the state minimum wage of $1.60 an hour for all prisoners in the state correctional system.

Rep. Joy Johnson, D-Robeson, sponsor of the House bill, said Tuesday adequate payment of inmates would "serve as an incentive to restoring manhood and a sense of responsibility" to prisoners.

He said it also could help reduce welfare costs as, under the bill, up to 30 per cent of any payments for inmate work would go to his dependents. The inmate would be allowed up to 20 per cent for personal privileges and receive the balance upon his release.

North Carolina law now prohibits payment of more than $1 a day to inmates.

The bill was among five introduced by Johnson. The others included legislation that would set up county detection centers for sickle cell anemia in infants and amend a 1971 law to make restoration of citizenship automatic upon an inmate's release from prison or from probation and parole.

Johnson also submitted a bill that would allow persons convicted of misdemeanors to register and vote by absentee ballot from a jail cell.

The House also received a bill from Rep. Herbert Hyde, D-Buncombe, that would require the state to take full responsibility for financing North Carolina's public school system.

Hyde's bill does not spell out mechanics of the proposed takeover, or how the additional cost would be financed or monies distributed. He said the Institute of Government had estimated the first-year cost of a four-year takeover at $76 million, climbing to $286 million in the fourth year.

The state now pays 69 per cent of the total cost of public schools, with 17 per cent coming from local sources and the rest from the federal government.

In the Senate a bill calling for a statewide referendum on annual legislative sessions was introduced by Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston. Rauch's bill would require a constitutional amendment.

Both houses have received Democratic-sponsored resolutions endorsing the concept of annual sessions.

The Senate received several bills calling for mandatory death sentences in certain cases. Sen. Livingstone Stallings, D-

Craven, introduced three bills that would make first degree murder, kidnaping and placing of bombs in public buildings punishable by death. He said "society today has become too permissive."

The other bill, calling for death in murder cases, was sent forward by Sen. Robert Somers, R-Vance. A similar bill was introduced in the House Monday night.

UN Security Council To Convene In Panama

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council has accepted Panama's invitation to meet there in March despite a U.S. contention that the nation's aim is to influence negotiations for a new Panama Canal treaty.

The 15-nation council agreed without a vote late Tuesday to hold the session March 15-21 on Latin American problems in general. It asked its committee of the whole to recommend detailed plans by the end of next week.

Ambassador Aquilino E. Boyd said that, while meeting in Panama City, the council should seek to "eliminate the causes" of Panamanian-U.S. conflict. He said Panama wanted a "genuinely just and equitable" treaty concerning the canal.

Boyd called the Canal Zone a colonialist enclave and said he hoped the council would realize that it was a dangerous and explosive "hotbed of international tension." The United States denied this.

Boyd also complained that "the industrial states" for centuries had dominated the natural wealth of Latin America and still were trying to "maintain a condition of colonial underdevelopment" there. He said the council should "intensify its efforts" to solve Latin American problems linked with colonialism, sovereignty over natural resources, disarmament and denuclearization.

Some diplomats on the sidelines said they expect the Panama City session to produce attacks on the United States not only concerning the canal but also in connection with its Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba, fishing boats in waters claimed by Ecuador and suits by Kennecott Copper to get compensation from Chile for nationalized properties.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush said that, to make a positive contribution, the meeting should "not be conceived as a means for bringing pressure on bilateral issues not currently before the council."

SCS Help Is Available

Robert G. Little, Chairman of the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District, said today that the termination of the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) will not have any bearing upon farmers receiving technical assistance for carrying out drainage and other conservation practices. Mr. Robert G. Little said that technical assistance through the local Soil and Water Conservation District will still be available as in the past.

Mr. Little said that assistance can be obtained through requests from the District for assistance from the Soil Conservation Service and other agencies to help plan and lay-out conservation practices such as tile drainage open ditch, grass waterways, terraces, field borders and similar conservation practices. Land owners interested in receiving technical assistance should contact any of the following District Supervisors: Truman Haddock, Robert G. Little, Curtis Martin, Moses Moye and Ralph Tucker or contact the District Office located at 325 Evans Street, Greenville.

PTI Learning Center Equipped To Attain Goals

IMPROVED LEARNING CENTER. . . The three sound proof enclosures recently completed in the Learning Center at Pitt Technical Institute will be of great help to foreign language students and other students who need to speak orally while studying their lessons. (Reflector Photo by Blanche Hardee)

Whether it's removing high school foreign language or math deficiencies to meet college entrance requirements, or just improving reading, Pitt Technical Institute's Learning Center is now equipped to accommodate individuals wishing to accomplish such goals.

In the past, without sound-proof facilities, students in the Learning Center have been unable to speak orally, record their voices, and listen to themselves in any program.

Proving that you can "Learn to do by Doing," Pitt Tech students have built sound-proof enclosures in the Institute's Learning Center. The members of the Masonry class did the block work; the electrical wiring was handled by Electrical Installation Maintenance students; and Heating and Air-Conditioning students completed the heating and air-conditioning work. The materials were furnished by the Institute.

The sound-proof enclosures have been built to accommodate audiovisual equipment needed by students in their various studies. With the addition of the three enclosures, Mrs. Joy Sasser, coordinator for the Learning Center, feels that students will be able to increase their rate of learning, especially in foreign language and reading-phonics programs.

"While we anticipate the highest utilization of the sound-proof enclosures to be by persons working to remove high school foreign language deficiencies to meet college entrance requirements and Pitt Tech curriculum students who are either in developmental or individualized study programs, the facilities are also available to adults having difficulty with phonics and wish to improve their skills," state Mrs. Sasser.

Students will have the opportunity now, using the sound-proof enclosures, to speak orally, record their voices, listen to themselves, and listen to recordings of the instructors' voices. Audio-visual equipment is available for each of the three enclosures.

The enclosures will also be used by other students who are in special programs and need to use the facilities.

Upon re-opening of the Center, after being closed for five weeks, Mrs. Sasser remarked, "Even though we have added to our facilities, we will continue to offer many different educational opportunities, just as we have done in the past." Such programs include preparation for the GED Test, and special programs for veterans and other interested persons.

For further information about the Learning Center and any of its programs, individuals should contact Mrs. Sasser at Pitt Technical Institute, telephone 756-3130, extension 31.

Corona Jury Is Still Debating

By JEANNINE YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer
FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) —

After five days of deliberation, the jury in the mass-murder trial of Juan V. Corona says it has progressed from a 8-4 to an 11-1 deadlock.

Judge Richard E. Patton ordered the jury not to reveal whether the majority of 11 favored conviction or acquittal.

Defense attorney Richard Hawk told newsmen he was sure that the jury's announcement Tuesday meant 11 jurors favored an innocent verdict for Corona, who is accused slaying 25 migrant farm laborers.

Prosecutors G. Dave Teja and Bart Williams walked swiftly from the courthouse and refused to talk to newsmen.

The jury had asked that the court reconvene for a rereading of the legal definition of "reasonable doubt," referring to the requirement that a defendant cannot be found guilty unless the prosecution has proven guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

The panel of 10 men and two women then was ordered into further deliberations. The jurors met about one more hour, then recessed for the night. They reconvene today.

The jury has been ordered to return 25 separate verdicts, one for each of the bodies found buried in a peach orchard north of Yuba City in the spring of 1971. Deliberations started after a trial lasting 14 weeks.

Hawk said Corona, a 38-year-old Mexican national who is a farm labor contractor, was "really nervous but he looked really happy after he heard the count had gone to 11-1."

Corona, who had been recuperating from chest pains suffered last Friday night, walked into court unaided on Tuesday.

On Monday, his illness required that the jury be transported to the state medical facility in nearby Vacaville, where Corona has been confined, to make its announcement that it was deadlocked 8-4.

Would Cutback Limousine Use

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

A senator who runs to work wants to let the air out of the tires of one of the capital's most coveted prestige symbols—the chauffeur-driven limousine.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has told heads of a dozen agencies whose budgets are reviewed by his Appropriations subcommittee to expect all funds for chauffeurs and limousines to be cut off.

"In view of the stringent fiscal straits in which we find ourselves, the cutbacks for low-income housing and programs to aid low-income farmers, and the controls placed on the wages of American workers," the limousines should stop rolling, Proxmire said.

"It is absurd for the secretary of HUD and four of his assistant and under secretaries to be chauffeured around Washington at the same time the agency has frozen funds for public housing," Proxmire said.

Each day, Proxmire runs the 4.8 miles from his home across town to the Senate. He says the streets are overrun with government limousines "toting faceless officials to and from their place of residence and their offices."

He said that most of the officials can easily afford to drive their own cars or hire a taxi

Jets Reducing Pollutants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within a year, we'll all be much less aware of jet planes overhead, including those of us who live near airports. So says Air Transport Assn., which reports that engines in the new generation of jets are designed to produce minimal smoke and noise, and these will constitute 13 per cent of the total fleet.

The association says that by the end of 1973, 51 per cent of the fleet will have "retrofitted" engines, which are sharply modified to cut smoke.

NOTICE TO TELEPHONE CUSTOMERS

We are planning increases in the rates for some out-of-state calls.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has filed a new schedule of interstate rates with the Federal Communications Commission which increases charges for some customer-dialed calls during weekday business hours, for some operator-assisted calls, for some person-to-person calls, and for WATS (Wide Area Telecommunications Service).

All rates for interstate Long Distance calls you dial yourself without operator assistance in the evenings, at night, and on weekends will remain unchanged.

The new rates for Long Distance calls become effective on January 22, 1973. The new rates for WATS become effective on March 13, 1973, unless suspended by the FCC.

Here are the provisions of the new interstate rates:

1. Some of the rates for station-to-station calls you dial yourself without operator assistance from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, will be increased five cents or 10 cents for the first three minutes.
2. Some of the rates in all time periods for operator-assisted station-to-station calls (that includes credit-card, collect, third-number, hotel-guest, and coin telephone calls) will be increased five cents for the first three minutes.
3. Some rates for person-to-person calls in all time periods will be increased five cents or 10 cents for the first three minutes.
4. The rates for each additional minute on some calls in all time periods will be raised in a range from one cent to five cents.
5. Interstate WATS rates will be increased about two percent.
6. Rates for station-to-station calls you dial yourself without operator assistance during evenings, nights, or weekends will remain the same.

Interim rates and supporting data have been filed with the Federal Communications Commission. The increases for Long Distance calls have been authorized by the FCC on an interim basis to be effective January 22, 1973. The FCC will conduct additional hearings on the lawfulness of the rates, and FCC rules permit any interested persons to appear and participate.

This will be only the second general increase in interstate Long Distance rate levels in almost 20 years. During this period, in spite of inflation, interstate Long Distance rates have been reduced repeatedly. Even with this increase, the level of the new rates will still be below the 1953 level. Yet in those 20 intervening years, the cost of living has gone up more than 50 percent. The new rates are designed to increase total revenues from interstate service by about two percent.

Examples of Long Distance rates for coast to coast calls

	Station-to-Station Dial-it-Yourself	Operator-Assisted	Person-to-Person
Weekends 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sat. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sun.	70¢ first 3 minutes	$1.40 first 3 minutes	$3.55 first 3 minutes
Evenings 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sun. through Fri.	85¢ first 3 minutes	$1.40 first 3 minutes	$3.55 first 3 minutes
Nights 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily	35¢* (minimum call)	$1.40 minimum call (3 minutes)	$3.55 minimum call (3 minutes)
Weekdays 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon. through Fri.	$1.45 first 3 minutes	$1.85 first 3 minutes	$3.55 first 3 minutes

Rates shown (tax is not included) are for the days, hours and durations indicated, and for the types of calls specified at the head of the columns. Rates may be even less, of course, on out-of-state calls for shorter distances. Dial-it-yourself rates apply on all interstate calls (excluding Hawaii and Alaska) completed from a residence or business phone without operator assistance. They also apply on calls placed with an operator from a residence or business phone where direct dialing facilities are not available. Dial-direct rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel-guest, credit-card, or collect calls, or to calls charged to another number, because an operator must assist on such calls. *One minute minimum calls available only at the times shown, and additional minutes are 20¢ each, coast to coast.

The Lafayette Ball Suffered Delay Of 148 Years

By H. G. Jones, Administrator Archives and History
RALEIGH (AP)—The Lafayette Ball originally was scheduled to take place in Murfreesboro 148 years ago, but due to an "unavoidable delay" it has been scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 27.

Sponsored jointly by the Murfreesboro Historical Association and the Historic Murfreesboro Commission, the event will commemorate the 1825 visit of the Marquis de Lafayette of France and will focus attention on the town's adaptive restoration program.

The ambitious Murfreesboro restoration project entitled "Renaissance in Carolina" had its beginnings in 1967, though the formal name was adopted in 1971 in connection with a five-year campaign to raise five million dollars for restoration and development of the 12-block historic district.

A major step in the restoration was achieved last summer with completion of the "Roberts Village Center" in the heart of the town's business district. Consisting of the restored 18th century Roberts House and four smaller buildings on a 1.3 acre site, the facility now houses the local public library, the chamber of commerce, restoration offices, an industrial development office, headquarters of a garden club, meeting rooms, and a town information center.

Explaining the historical significance of the planned Lafayette Ball, Murfreesboro officials note that when word came on the morning of Feb. 25, 1825, that the Marquis de Lafayette, a guest in this country of the United States Congress, would spend the next night with them, plans were rapidly set in motion to properly entertain him.

Planned for the 68-year-old hero general of the American Revolution and friend of the late president George Washington were welcoming ceremonies, a banquet, and a ball. All events took place except a ball, which was canceled because of the "lateness of the hour." The roads from Virginia were almost impassable due to heavy rains, and Lafayette's party did not reach Murfreesboro until after 9 p.m.

 His arrival is said to have been welcomed by inhabitants who "cheered wildly" while a brass band played. A welcoming speech was delivered by Thomas Maney, the town's only lawyer, who said in part, "To you, next to dear, great Washington, we are indebted for the triumph of our arms. We salute you as a father of our common country, and we hail you also as a benefactor of the human race and gallant champion of the rights of man."

 After delivering a "fitting reply," Lafayette was escorted to a flag-and-bunting-draped dining room, where 40 people sat down to a late dinner. The meal ended after midnight, and the villagers "reluctantly, but graciously" canceled the ball allowing their weary guests to retire to their rooms.

A recent news release from Murfreesboro states, "It is partly the recognition of what must have been a disappointment to their ancestors which prompted present-day citizens to fulfill a long overdue patriotic duty and social amenity. Hence, a Lafayette Ball, come Jan. 27, 1973.

This elaborate social affair not only will commemorate the long-ago festivities which were hastily conceived and executed in honor of the Revolutionary War general, but will serve to stimulate interest in the continuing adaptive restoration of the Murfreesboro Historic District. Additional information is available from the publicity committee, Lafayette Ball, Murfreesboro, N.C.

Lab Program Is Kept Economical

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Educational Publishing Division of J.B. Lippincott Company has introduced the third and final text in its "Search for Understanding" science education series. The text, Earth Science, is aimed at students in grades seven through 12. The material is designed to help students make intelligent decisions concerning environmental problems.
 Like its companion textbooks in the series, Earth Science does not require elaborate, expensive laboratory equipment. The entire lab program is built around simple materials which already exist in the classroom or which can be brought from home. The Earth Science sequence covers basic geography, geology, meteorology, astronomy and ecology.

Bills To End The Death Penalty Are Piling Up

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation attempting to give capital punishment sound footing in North Carolina's statutes piked up Tuesday as four bills calling for the death penalty were introduced in the state Senate.

Declaring "society today has become too permissive," Sen. Livingstone Stallings submitted three bills that would make first degree murder, kidnaping and the placing of bombs in public areas punishable by death.

The Craven County Democrat also introduced bills to make rape, burglary and arson punishable by life imprisonment. Another bill would increase from 10 to 25 years the minimum time a life-term inmate must serve before he can receive parole consideration.

Rape, burglary and arson were punishable by death in North Carolina before the status of capital punishment was made questionable by the U.S. Supreme Court. There has not been an execution in the state since 1961.

The Senate also received a bill from Sen. Robert Somers, R-Rowan, citing first-degree murder as a capital punishment crime. A similar bill was introduced in the House Monday night.

In calling for the life sentences, Stallings said that "people are beginning to think that the life term doesn't mean anything any more."

"Our society has reached a stage where most people think it is too permissive. Perhaps the crime hasn't increased, but people's awareness of it has," Stallings said.

MILTON HARRINGTON (above) has been elected chairman of the board, and continues as chief executive officer at a meeting of the Board of Directors of Liggett & Myers Incorporated this week. (AP Wirephoto)

Tolson Reported Lang Successor

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser of North Carolina has reportedly selected Lt. Gen. John J. Tolson as his new secretary of Military and Veterans Affairs.

The Raleigh Times reported Tuesday that Tolson would succeed John Lang, who resigned Monday, and that Holshouser would make the announcement next Tuesday.

Tolson is currently the deputy commander of the U.S. Army Continental Command at Ft. Monroe, Va. He is a New Bern native and spent two years as commanding officer at Ft. Bragg.

Charge Brother As Accessory

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The brother of a man charged with murder in the robbery-slaying of a woman service station attendant has been charged with being an accessory after the fact.

The brother is 16-year-old William Thomas Horne, who was arrested Tuesday night.

Twenty-year-old Ronnie Horne was charged earlier in the gunshot death of Mrs. Carolyn Alger Smith, 46, whose body was found at the service station on Jan. 2.

Martinborough Lions Club Has Charter Meeting

CHARGER NIGHT . . . Taking part in the new Greenville Martinborough Lions Club's Charter Night ceremonies were (L-R) Wallace West, Past International Director who addressed the new members; Andy Warren, president; Selden Raynes, who presented the club charter; and Bob Lamb, who made the presentation of the banner, bell and gavel to the new president. (Reflector Photo)

Andy Warren accepted the gavel Tuesday night as president of the Greenville Martinborough Lions Club as the new organization held its charter meeting.

Other officers of the club, which will meet at noon on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are Steve Tacker, first vice president; Dallas McPherson, second vice president; Charles Coble, third vice president; Robert Starling, secretary-treasurer; H.M. Johnson, tall twister; and Jim Williamson, lion tamer.

Directors are Dr. William Bost, Charles Horne, Charles Burgwyn, and Reid Hooper.

In presenting the charter to the new Lions, District Governor Selden H. Raynes told them that for their work in Lionism, "there are no rewards in your pocketbook, but great rewards in your heart."

Guest speaker for the charter session, Wallace I. West, Past International Director, asserted that "the greatest years of Lionism lie ahead." He referred to the White Cane Drive, the Eye Bank and Boys Home as the outstanding statewide Lions projects.

West listed four factors for success: leadership, participation, belonging and growth, and challenged the members of the newly chartered club "to plan wisely and execute correctly" in order to accomplish your goals.

"There are always tasks to perform," he said.

Other charter members of the club are Charles E. Camp, Wilbur A. Castellow, Cleet C. Cleetwood, Joseph D. Condra, Cameron Cox, Frank Dail, John W. Daniels, Ruland Davenport, Willard R. Dean, H.O. Dunbar, Ronald Finch, Henry L. Groome Jr., Marshall Helms, John Hollingsworth, John Ray

Jackson, Carlyle Lupton, Donald C. McGlohon, Steve Rhodes, John T. Richards, Gerald Smith, Woody Smith, Jehu Taff, Edward M. Vick, and Douglas Morgan.

Fast Sell-Out For The Rolling Stones

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — It had been a long trip from New Orleans, hitchhiking all the way, and now 20-year-old Mary Wood was plunking down her last $25 to see the Rolling Stones in concert.

"Now I'll be broke forever," she said.

Like a handful of others with no place to stay, Mary was encamped by an outside wall of the Inglewood Forum and determined to endure the rain and chilly winds until the performance Thursday evening.

Mostly young and wearing everything from fancy bell bottoms to Army surplus fatigues, thousands of fans showed up to pay from $10 to $100 for a ticket to see the British group widely regarded as No. 1 in the world of rock music.

A sellout — which seemed certain — of all 18,699 seats would raise a gross of $516,810. The net proceeds are intended for the victims of last month's earthquake at Managua, Nicaragua.

Bianca Jagger, wife of the Rolling Stones' lead singer, Mick, is a Nicaraguan.

Tickets went on sale early Tuesday morning; and, by late Tuesday, only a few $25 and $100 tickets were left. Forum manager Jim Appel called it "the fastest-selling concert we've ever had."

Fourteen-year-old Merrie Lawson said she saved her babysitting money for weeks and used it to buy a $25 ticket.

"I was saving up for something big, and this is it," she said. "The Rolling Stones are No. 1."

District Finalists For Scholarship Are Chosen

Six eastern North Carolina seniors including one from Greenville and one from Pitt County, have been selected as finalists from District I in the 1973 Morehead Awards competition.

James Arthur Nelson II, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Nelson of Route 1, Bethel; and Maurice Glen Sheppard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Moses M. Sheppard of Greenville were the two local high school seniors making the finalist stage in interviews held on Monday in Williamston.

The other four eastern North Carolina finalists are John Thomas Newton of Ahsokie; Mark Bissette of Bailey; John Norwood Dinan of Rocky Mount; and Charles Edward Lovelace, Jr. of Plymouth.

Two alternate finalists were also selected, Charles D. Guldry of Elizabeth City and Ronald Lee Moore of Bath.

The finalists were selected from 21 nominees from 17 counties following the January 15 interviews in Williamston. Each of the 10 Morehead Awards districts in North Carolina are selecting six finalists. These 60 seniors will appear for interviews before the Central Morehead Selection Committee in Chapel Hill from March 2 through March 5.

In addition, 52 nominees from 26 private preparatory schools throughout the east will be interviewed at the Morehead Planetarium Building on the same weekend.

Many Choral Singers Here

Approximately 450 high school choral singers from 14 North Carolina high schools were at East Carolina University last Saturday for the annual Eastern North Carolina Choral Clinic.

Norman Luboff, director of the noted Luboff Choir, was guest clinician.

Included in the day's activities were full rehearsals, sectional rehearsals led by ECU music majors and an open public performance of the selected choral works used in the clinic.

Participating schools and their directors' names include: GREENE COUNTY, Snow Hill—Greene Central High School, Kenneth Ginn, choral director.

PITT COUNTY, Greenville—J.H. Rose High School, Steve Koch, choral director.

Boys Club . . .

time assistant director and adequate transportation."

For the 1973 campaign, board members have been assigned to four groups of nine members and one group of eight members, including the group chairmen. Names of the groups and chairmen are: Over The Hill Gang, Austin Britt; Deacon's Bunch, Larry Graham; Our Gang, Warren Whitehurst; Cardiac Kids, Hugh Bazemore; and Wild Dogs, Doyle Hayes.

Hayes expressed a hope that in future years it will not be necessary for board members to have to make annual solicitation. "I want to see this procedure eliminated," he said. "I'd like to see the Boys' Club occupy its rightful place with the kind of support it needs rather than having to go out into the community each year asking for support." Hayes said he felt this time would come, especially if and when more concerned citizens get out and actually saw what the club is accomplishing.

The campaign chairman said that any club, civic group, church or any organization that would like to have more information on the Boys' Club is invited to visit the club during its operation hours. In addition, Graham Gutting, executive director of the club; Austin Britt, current president of the Board of Directors; or Hayes are available on request to speak to any interested group.

J.E. Harrington Formally Sworn

RALEIGH (AP) — The newest member of Gov. Jim Holshouser's cabinet, James E. Harrington of Banner Elk, was sworn in Tuesday as secretary of the state Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

Harrington has taken a leave of absence as executive vice president of the Sugar Mountain Co., operators of a ski resort, to head the state Department—largest in North Carolina's government operation.

He received the oath of office from Associate Justice Susie Sharpe of the state Supreme Court.

In speaking about the appropriation from United Fund, Hayes said that officials had given the Boys' Club permission to conduct its annual campaign in an effort to raise funds necessary to continue operations.

A breakdown of sources that are expected to provide funds for the budget for 1973, based on income from 1972, shows that the greatest portion, or 49 percent will come from corporate and individual donations; 15 percent from United Fund; 11 percent from civic clubs; and 11 percent from projects. The remaining percentages will come from a variety of sources.

At the annual meeting, Gutting explained plans for the immediate future. He said emphasis on the next three months would be placed on efforts to seek part time help, particularly from East Carolina University. After that, emphasis will be directed to readying the summer program. Attendance in the summer months normally doubles that during the school year. "We must rely heavily on volunteers," he stated. "We have been fortunate in the past, and hope to be able to line up more young people interested in helping us with Boys' Club work."

Pitt Native Found Dead

WINSTON-SALEM — A former Greenville resident was found dead in his apartment here yesterday, the victim of a self-inflicted shotgun wound.

Winston-Salem Police investigators said Carl Preston Pierce III, 22, was found about 12:52 a.m. by officers lying on a bed in his Country Club Apartments room. He has been shot in the head with a .16-gauge shotgun which was found lying on top of him.

Police said they were called after fellow employees had gone to the Pierce residence to determine why he had not reported for work.

Pierce, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pierce of 1041 Rock Springs Rd. in Greenville, was employed by the commercial real estate department of Lambe-Young-Jones in Winston-Salem. He had been employed as a salesman for the real estate firm since June, 1971, after graduating from Wake Forest University with a degree in business administration.

Fellow workers said they were "stunned" at his death, and could give no reason for the shooting.

the association grew from $17 million to well over $21 million. "Any increase in savings and loan assets...springs from three source: from an increase in the saving capital invested in the association; from borrowed money; and from the accumulated earnings of the association from year to year," Lee continued.

Gross income, he said, climbed above the million dollar mark again as figures showed $1,331,896 for the year. The figures reflect an increase of $244,183 over the years 1971, a 22 percent increase, according to Lee.

Total expense also went over the million dollar mark for the second year, the official said. Total expense was $1,220,183 for the year, an increase of $199,747 over the previous year, or 19.5 percent.

"Our greatest single expense ever year, of course, is the dividends we pay," Lee told shareholders. "We paid out $946,472 in dividends last year, an increase of $160,369 over the previous year. That was a 20 percent increase."

Net earnings amounted to $111,028 for the year, an increase of $44,436 over the previous year or a percentage increase of 66.7 percent.

Commenting on branch operations, Lee said that "both branches are growing steadily. The Plymouth Branch picked up almost another million dollars in new savings last year, and made almost a million dollars in new loans. Bethel picked up another $200,000 in savings and made over $100,000 in new loans."

Noting that Larkin Little has moved here from Plymouth as secretary, Lee pointed out that Carlyle Hall has assumed duties there as manager of the Plymouth branch.

New Bern Runs Past Rampants, 70-54

By WOODY PEELE
(Reflector Sports Editor)

For one quarter then, Rose High School basketball fans were given cause for hope. But by the time the final three had been played, that hope was dashed away as New Bern charged to a 70-54 victory last night.

It was the 10th straight loss for the Rampants, and their third against Division II competition. New Bern was taking its ninth win in 10 starts and is now 2-1 in the league.

During the first quarter of play, the Rampants gave New Bern all they wanted to have, and only a last second jumper of some 25 feet left New Bern with the lead at the end of the quarter.

The Rampants actually out-shot the Bears in percentage. But they took 16 less shots and that meant a lot in the final outcome. Rose connected on 22 of 53 shots from the floor for 41.5 per cent, while New Bern got 27 of 69 for 39.1 percent.

The Bears, however, controlled the boards, and also forced the Rampants into a number of turnovers with their trapping defense.

During the first quarter, New Bern hit on four of 18 shots, and missed on their first seven. The Rampants hit on four of seven, 11 less attempts, mostly due to turnovers.

New Bern, in fact, shot five times before Rose managed to get off a single shot.

But the Rampants did score the first basket, as Dennis Taylor drove in for it with 6:11 left. New tied it up 18 seconds later with two free throws by Robert McClellan, but the Rampants moved out into the lead again, this time by four points.

Taylor hit again on a drive, and Phil Ragazzo hit a long jumper with 4:37 left, making it 6-2.

But the Bears fought back with McClellan hitting a free shot and a basket with 3:15 left to trim the lead to one, 8-7. Rob Shields then hit a baseline jumper with 2:24 left to put New Bern ahead for the first time, 9-8. Rose regained the lead on two free throws by Taylor, however, with just eight seconds left, and appeared to be going to hold the lead at 10-9.

But Jeff Jones pumped in a long jumper with just one second showing, and the Bears held an 11-10 margin as the quarter ended. They were never to trail again.

Ronald Scott came in off the bench and hit two jumpers from the top of the key to put New Bern into a five-point lead, 15-10. The two teams swapped baskets and then Ronnie Gray tapped in a missed Bear shot to run the lead to seven, 19-12 with 5:15 to go in the half. After another swap, Billy Moore made the first of a one-and-one and raised the margin to eight, 22-14. It stayed that way until Floyd Dickens hit on a rebound with 45 seconds left to up the lead to 10, 28-18.

Al Hunter, however, hit from underneath with 22 seconds left to trim the margin to 28-20, and that stood until the horn.

Rose came back with two straight baskets to open the second half, one each by Taylor and Hunter and timed the Bear lead to just four, 28-24, but that was to be as close as they came.

McClellan hit a jumper and on the throw-in, a technical foul was called on Rose. Moore hit that, and then followed with a jumper. He was fouled on the shot, making that to complete what turned out to be a six-point play, running the Bear lead back to 10. Van Smith followed with two free throws, and Moore hit a jumper at the baseline to run the lead out to 14, 38-24 with 3:51 left.

Rose broke the drought then, but it was too late.

The lead held at that point until Smith stole the ball to hit and run it to 16, 46-30, and then got credit with two more points on a goal-tending call, making it 18, 48-30, with 1:08 left. Rose got two free throws with Matthew Ward and basket from Ragazzo on goal-tending, but another last-second shot by Gary Matlocks made it 50-34 as the horn sounded.

During the final period, New Bern built its lead up to as much as 20 points. Dickens hit two free throws and then Scott scored on a steal to make it 61-41 with 3:41 left. Rose managed to cut it back to the final 16 point margin with two baskets in the final 15 seconds after it had reached 70-50.

Scott led the New Bern attack with 14 points, while McClellan had 11.

For the Rampants, Hunter was high with 14. The Rampants were also somewhat hampered by the loss of leading-scorer Herb Bynum and several other players due to various reasons.

In the junior varsity game, a goal-tending call against the Rampant Cubs with nine seconds left gave New Bern a 62-61 victory.

In a game that was close all the way, New Bern managed to push ahead, 16-14 at the end of the first period. Rose came back right at the end of the half, however, and tied it at 31-31 as the half ended.

In the third period, Rose outthrew the Bear Cubs, 19-15, and gained a 50-46 lead. They held the margin for much of the final period, and were ahead going into the final minute. New Bern got the fateful bucket when two Rampants hit the net during a Bear attempt with nine seconds left. The Rampants were able to get off a last-second shot, but it missed.

Dennis Stillely led New Bern with 16 points, while Bill Green had 15, Richard Hill had 14 and Ronnie Davis has 10. For the Rampant Cubs, Lindberg Morris had 17, Ronnie Barrett and William Taylor each had 11 and Linwood Brown had 10.

Rose travels to Washington tonight to meet the Pam Pack.

North Lenoir Dumps Chargers

LITTLEFIELD — North Lenoir controlled the offensive backboards and handed cold-shooting Ayden-Grifton its second straight defeat last night, 39-35. The Ayden-Grifton girls, however, kept their hopes alive with a 60-29 romp in their game.

North Lenoir eased in front of Ayden-Grifton, 12-11, at the end of the first period of the boys' game. Their ability to limit the Chargers to just one shot most of the time was a key factor in the game. The Hawks came back with a 11-9 advantage in the second period, and built a slim 23-20 lead at intermission.

The Chargers tried for a comeback in the third quarter, outscoring North Lenoir, 11-8, for the only time in the game. That deadlocked it at 31-31 at the end of the period. But in the final quarter, North Lenoir was able to score twice as many points as did the faltering Chargers, 8-4, and take the victory.

Mike Miller led the scoring, hitting 14 points for the Hawks. He was the only player to hit double figures in the game.

In the girls' contest, Ayden-

Grifton moved out into a 12-8 lead in the first period of play. After that, there was little question as to the outcome. The Chargerettes outthrew the Lady Hawks, 20-5 in the second quarter and ran out a 32-13 lead by halftime.

The Ayden-Grifton five kept it up in the third period, 12-6, and upped their margin to 44-19. The Chargerettes finished it up with a 16-10 advantage in the final period.

Nancy Sugg led Ayden-Grifton with 19 points, while Terry Wooten had 13.

The Chargers entertain North Pitt on Thursday night.

Eastern Wayne Topples Conley

NEW HOPE — Eastern Wayne High School gained a pair of victories over Conley High School last night. The girls' won a squeaker, 34-33, while the boys gained a 71-61 win over the Vikings.

In the boys' game, Eastern Wayne, now in the lead in the Eastern Carolina Conference, jumped off to an 18-8 lead. Conley began to find the range in the second period and outshot Eastern, 17-15, but still trailed at the half, 33-25.

The Vikings continued to peck away at the lead in the third quarter, outthrusting the Warriors, 16-14, to cut it to 47-41. But Eastern sewed it up in the final period, holding off Conley, 24-20, to gain the victory.

Bobby Body led Eastern with 23 points, while Lynn Best had 19 and Henry Reed had 13. Rick Mobley led Conley with 14 points, while Larry Daniels had 12, and Kervin Hawkins and Mike Sutton each had 10.

In the girls' game, Eastern also jumped off to a lead in the first period, 13-7. Conley again fought back, outscoring Eastern, 10-9, and trailed 22-17 at halftime.

Conley put together a 10-3 scoring advantage in the third period to push ahead, 27-25. Conley then went out by 33-30, but two foul shots brought Eastern back to within one. Then, with one second left, Rolanda Odom hit a shot to give Eastern the slim victory.

Linda Loyd led Conley with 19 points, while Pat Smith had 17 to lead the Lady Warriors.

Conley travels to Greene Central on Friday.

Panthers Sweep Two From Saints

DUDLEY — North Pitt High School swept a pair of games from Southern Wayne here last night. The boys took a 45-35 victory, while the girls came out on top of a 44-35 decision.

The Southern Wayne girls were the last unbeaten team in the path of the Big Orange Machine, which won its 65th straight game, and its 10th of the season without a loss. The Pant-HERS are now 9-0 in the conference while Southern slips to 8-1.

North Pitt moved into the lead in the first period, inching out into a 14-11 margin. They continued to remain ahead the rest of the way, outscoring Southern, 8-4, in the second period. That left the Big Orange ahead, 22-15 at halftime.

The third period saw North Pitt outthrust the Santes, 11-8, and up their lead to 33-23. Southern managed to clip one point off the lead with a 12-11 advantage in the final period, but it didn't affect the outcome.

Minnie Hollis led North Pitt with 19 points, while Joy James had 10. Jaxie Bryant led Southern with 10 points.

In the boys' game, North Pitt inched into a 10-8 lead in the first period. But they had to struggle to hold onto an 18-17 halftime margin as Southern outthrust them 9-8 in the second frame.

The Panthers pulled away again in the third period, outscoring the Saints 8-4 for a 26-21 lead. They finished it up with a 19-14 romp in the final period.

David Brown led the victory, hitting 22 points. Pearsall had 14 to lead Southern.

North Pitt travels to Ayden-Grifton on Thursday, where the girls look for another stern test.

Paladins Postponed

JACKSONVILLE — The basketball game between Pitt Tech and Coastal Carolina Community College, scheduled for last night in Jacksonville, was postponed because of a mix-up in the scheduling.

Pitt Tech had the game scheduled for Tuesday night, but Coastal Carolina had it on their schedule for Monday.

Coch Bob Turner said it was doubtful whether the game would be rescheduled. One other game, with Pamlico Tech, also will probably not be reset. It was snowed out last week.

Paul's fell away in the second half as Black Jack outthrust them, 28-19, to take the win and stay unbeaten.

Tal Adams led Black Jack with 16, while Ephraim Smith had 11 and Danny Edwards had 10. Bill Tripp had 12 and Larry Land had 11 for St. Paul's.

Black Jack In Fourth Victory

Black Jack picked up its fourth straight victory in the Church Basketball League last night, downing St. Paul's, 51-39.

In the other games, Immanuel beat Trinity, 54-25, and Piney Grove beat St. James, 43-40.

In the opener, Piney Grove eased out into a 21-20 lead over St. James in the first half of play. It continued tight through the final half, but Piney Grove held a 22-20 advantage and held on to win.

Buddy Turnage led Piney Grove with 10 points, while no one hit double figures for St. James.

Immanuel gained an early lead and moved into a 26-15 lead by the end of the first half in the second game. In the second half, Immanuel outthrust Trinity, 28-10, to wrap up the victory.

Drew Rumbley led Immanuel with 18, while Lindsey Hardee had 12. Don Bowen had 12 to pace Trinity.

In the final game of the evening, Black Jack managed to build a slim 23-20 lead at the end of the first half. But winless St.

Wachovia Wins Again

Wachovia Bank remained unbeaten, but Greenville Utilities knocked off Prepsmith last night in the Industrial League. Wachovia downed Empire Brush, 38-34, while previously unbeaten Prepsmith was bowing to GUCO, 57-48.

In the opening game, Wachovia jumped out to an early lead and built up a 24-16 margin in the first half. In the second half, however, Wachovia was outscored 18-14, and it nearly enabled Empire to come back. But the rally just fell short.

B. Stephenson led Wachovia with 15 points, while J. Parker paced Empire Brush with 14.

In the other game, Greenville Utilities eased into a 30-26 lead after the first half of play. Then, in the second half, GUCO pulled away, outscoring Prepsmith, 27-22, to win.

Don Chase led Greenville Utilities with 18, while Ken Crumble had 13 and James Wood had 11. For Prepsmith, Bobby Carmon and W. Johnson each had 16 and A. Ellis had 14.

Second Half Sends Rams Past Jaguars

By CHIP LAMBETH (Reflector Sports Writer)
FARMVILLE — Farmville Central's girls basketball team moved up out of the cellar of the Eastern Carolina Conference last night leaving Greene Central's Ewes, whom they beat, 31-22, holding down last place.

The girls' win proved to be the only bright spot of the night as both boys teams fell to voracious Ram teams. The Greene Central, J.V.'s won the opening game of the night, 44-34, and the Farmville Central varsity was whipped, 66-38.

The Lady Jags overcame some of their own ineptness to capitalize on that of the Ewes to inch out to a 7-2 first quarter lead. The Greene Central ladies started the scoring off as Judith Tripp hit from outside before a minute was up. They are all the points they got in the quarter as Farmville Central struggled along with Joyce Dixon's tying bucket from underneath and the go-ahead points on a pair of free throws by Linda Anderson. Kathy Suggs added a basket and Darlene Joyner a free shot to make it 7-2. Farmville increased its lead in the second quarter on a jumper from the lane by Delane O'Brien. Delilah Pridgen and Keith Gay combined for a three point play to cut the lead down to 9-6 but the Lady Jaguars suddenly got hot and hit three straight to run it back out to 15-6. Miss Anderson had two of them and Joyner had one.

The second quarter's scoring proved to be the difference in the game as both teams matched points in the second half. Each team dumped in eight in each of the third and fourth periods. The biggest Farmville Central lead came with 5:52 to go in the contest when Anderson scored from outside to make the gap 27-15.

The Lady Jags were paced by Anderson with 10.

The first half of the boys' game was far from being indicative of the rest of the game. After struggling back from a 14-9 deficit at the end of the first quarter to tie it at intermission, 24-24 and after a few close minutes at the outset of the second half Greene Central blew the game wide open and proceeded to completely humiliate the Jaguars.

Erwin Spivey got the Rams on the boards first as he slipped in lay up, 2-0, but Farmville Central's Phil Lewis tied it up with a jumper from the corner. Stevie Williamson put Greene Central back in front on a fast break. Again the points were matched as Melvin Bunch hit from the lane knotting the score at 4-4.

Williamson canned his second in a row boosting the Rams in front again but this time it was Willie Jones who scored to tie it up as Farmville could not seem to get the lead. Spivey put his team ahead to stay for the rest of the period as he was fouled by Lee Johnson. Spivey made both shots for an 8-6 lead.

Curtis Bryant struck for the Rams as did Williamson running the margin out to 12-6. McCoy Williams hit his first of the night for the Jags bringing the Jaguars within four, 12-8 but a pair of free throws by Williamson and one by Lewis finished the period's scoring.

Williams cut it to 14-11 with a quick bucket after the tap and then added another one on a lay-up to pull Farmville Central within one, 14-13. Lewis hit to put Farmville ahead for the first time, 15-14 but the Rams hit two buckets and two free throws as the Jags got buckets from Williams and Jones to be down by three, 22-19, with 2:00 to go in the half.

Bunch narrowed it by two with a rebound shot from the lane and was fouled on the play by Spivey. He made the free shot to tie the game again, this time at 22-22. Williamson put the Rams in command again with a swish from the corner. Williams came right back with a bucket for the Jags to tie the game at the half, 24-24.

Farmville inched ahead in the first minute of the third period on a field goal from the lane by Lewis. It was matched by Spivey's outside jumper and a tap-in by Moses Barrow put Greene Central in front, 28-26. Williams canned two quick jumpers for Farmville Central giving them the lead again but Spivey's corner jumper turned over the engine of the steamroller and the Rams proceeded to crush the Jags. Three straight field goals and a free throw made the margin nine. Williams scored for the Jaguars but the Rams doubled his points as Barrow and Jackie Sherrill each scored. That made it 41-31, the biggest lead of the night.

After the Jags added a charity shot, Greene Central dropped in five baskets to take a 51-32 cushion at the end of the frame. The Rams outscored Farmville Central 27-8 in the period. Greene Central put in the second string and scored fifteen more points to Farmville Central's 6. Every thing possible had gone wrong for the Jaguars short of a broken leg.

Williamson led all the scorers, burning the nets with 20 points. Spivey had one less field goal than did Williamson, seven, and four free shots for 18 points. Williams, despite seeing his team drop its fifth game, still managed to score in double figures for the 11th straight time this year. He had 13 to lead the Jaguars. Bunch had nine.

Stewart Being Heard Around Southern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Aron Stewart not only has changed Richmond's Spiders from a winless team to a .500 club since he began playing, but he's also taken over the Southern Conference Basketball scoring lead.

The 6-foot-1 junior college transfer became eligible after Richmond had lost its first five starts. He has played in the Spiders' last six games, of which they won three.

Stewart in those six games poured in 168 points for a 28-point average and took over the scoring leadership from Stan Davis of Appalachian State.

Even though Appalachian has won only once in 12 starts, Davis has scored 291 points for the Mountaineers for an average of 24.3 points and the runner-up spot in the scoring derby. No. 3 in the race is Fessor "Moose" Leonard, Furman's 7-foot-1 sophomore ace who has 241 points in the Paladins' 12 games for a 20.1 average.

Stewart, David and Leonard are the only players in the conference averaging 20 points or better.

In fourth place with 235 points in 13 starts for an 18.1 average is William and Mary freshman Mike Arizin, son of former Villanova and National Basketball Association star Paul Arizin.

All-Southern John Falconi of Davidson is fifth with 224 points in 13 games for a 17.2 average while another Furman sophomore—6-foot-9 Clyde Mayesix with 188 points in 12 games for a 15.7 mark.

Earl Quash of East Carolina, who's been hot lately, has moved into seventh place with 166 points in 11 games for a 15.1 average, while All-Southern Roy Simpson of Furman is eighth with 180 points in 12 starts for an even 15 points per game.

All conference teams were idle Tuesday night and only two play tonight, both against outside opposition.

East Carolina, 5-6, over-all, is at home against George Washington and Davidson, 8-5, takes on Duke at Charlotte, N.C.

Minnesota Gets Past Marquette

By ALEX SACHARE
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 When the crowd in Minneapolis' Williams Arena started hollering "Brew," that mean Minnesota's Jim Brewer is at it again.

Brewer did his thing—tight, hard-nosed defense and rugged rebounding—against Larry McNeill and the Marquette Warriors Tuesday night, and the result was a 64-53 victory for sixth-ranked Minnesota, 11-1.

For seventh-ranked Marquette, it was the second loss in a row after a string of 11 victories. The Warriors hit just 23 of 77 shots from the field—29.9

per cent—and McNeill, their 6-foot-9 star forward, connected on only six of 25 tries.

A big reason was Brew. The strong, 6-9 senior forward, who played on the U.S. Olympic team at Munich last summer, scored 10 points, sinking all four of his field goal attempts and both his tries from the foul line. But it wasn't the scoring that had the fans shouting, it was the rest of Brewer's game.

He crashed the boards for 10 rebounds as Minnesota out-rebounded Marquette 48-38. He blocked three Warrior shots. And he hounded McNeill all night long.

Robersonville Takes Pamlico

ROBERSONVILLE — 16-9 second period and built up a 32-22 lead by the end of the half. In the third quarter, Pamlico tried to put on a rally, outscoring Robersonville, 22-18, to cut the lead back to 50-44. But in the final frame, the Eagles dumped in 21 and held Pamlico to just 10 to win going away.

Ernest Crandall led Robersonville with 25, while William Rhodes added 22. Douglas Credle paced Pamlico with 25, while Carl Randall added 12. Robersonville travels to Bear Grass on Friday.

In the third period, Pamlico managed to out-hit the Eagles again, 8-5, and charge into the lead, 21-20. But Robersonville regained the lead with an 8-5 margin in the final and held on for the win.

Brenda James led all scorers, hitting 12 for the Eagles. The Eagle boys had it a little easier. They struggled through a tight first half, outshooting Pamlico, 16-13, in the first quarter. They came back with a

Oak City Slips By Chowan Five

OAK CITY — Oak City and Chowan split a pair of basketball games last night. Oak City won the boys' game with a 50-44 score, while Chowan came out on top in the girls' affair, 43-25.

In the opener, both Chowan and Oak City matched scores in the first period, which ended in a 6-6 tie. Chowan then managed to get a break in the second quarter, outshooting the Trojanettes, 8-6, to take a 14-12 lead at the half.

In the third period, Chowan began to pull away, 10-7, and ran their lead out to 24-19. Then, in the final period, they dumped in 19 points while holding Oak City to just six, to win going away.

Sandra and Betty Byrum led the Chowan scoring, each hitting 15 points. Sylvia Jones had 16 to pace Oak City.

The Oak City boys managed to hit last and open up a 12-10 lead in the first period of their game. They came back with an 18-11 scoring margin in the second period and boosted their lead to 30-21 at halftime.

The Trojans continued to control the game through the third period, outshooting Chowan, 12-7. That upped the lead to 42-29 as the last quarter got underway. Chowan tried for a comeback, outscoring Oak City, 16-8, but it wasn't enough. Shelton Jones led Oak City with 15, while Russell Cotten and Ronald Duggins each hit 12. For Chowan, Raymond Elliott led the way with 23, while Marvin Roundtree hit 10.

In the girls' game, it was over before it got underway good. In the first quarter, Williamston outthit Perquimans, 17-4, and had all the points they were to need to win it. But they continued to roll along, dumping in 22 more in the second frame, while Perquimans failed to find the range at all. That made it 39-4 at halftime.

Things got no better for Perquimans in the third period as they were outthit, 24-6, and the score climbed to 63-10. Williamston again outscored their guests, 13-6 in the final period to wrap it up.

Jamesville Takes Pair From Bear Grass Teams

JAMESVILLE — The Jamesville Bullets pulled into a tie for first place in the Martin County Conference with an 87-57 romp over Bear Grass last night. The win left the Bullets with a 2-0 league record, deadlocked with Oak City. The Bears are 0-2.

In the girls' game, Jamesville won its first game of the year, 34-28, and deadlocked the four teams in the league in a tie with 1-1 records.

Jamesville's lassies jumped off to a 12-2 lead in the first period, then fought off the Bears in the final three periods. Bear Grass outthit them, 9-6, in the second frame, cutting the lead to 18-11 at halftime.

Jamesville managed a 7-6 advantage in the third period to hold onto the lead, 25-17. Bear Grass outscored them, 11-9, in the final frame, but it wasn't enough.

Donna Williams led Jameville with 17 points. In the boys' game, it was Jamesville all the way. The Bullets leaped out into the lead at the start and build up a 24-11 lead by the end of the first period. In the second frame, they coasted, with Bear Grass clipping a point off the margin, 17-16. That left the Bullets in command, 40-28 at halftime.

The Bullets blasted the Bears, 25-14, in the third quarter, running their lead out to 65-42. Then, in the final quarter, the Jamesville five again outthit the Bears, 22-15, to wrap it up.

Horace Hall led Jamesville with 24 points, while Larry Modlin had 14 and Alvin Grimes had 11. For the Bears, Hilton Armstrong led all scoring with 29, while Vann Rogerson had 10. Jamesville goes to Oak City, and Bear Grass hosts Rober-sonville on Friday.

 Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams, having grabbed places No. 2, 3, and 4 in this week's Associated Press poll back of UCLA (who else?), now go about the business of knocking each other from those lofty spots.

After two nights of inactivity, action resumes tonight with three games, then halts until three more games are played Saturday.

Three of the six contests are conference games that involve second-ranked North Carolina State, third-ranked Maryland and North Carolina, the No. 4 team.

For years ACC observers have relished the hot competition during the season, but have bemoaned the fact that league warfare among the well-balanced top contenders act to keep any one from achieving permanent high national rating.

Tonight's schedule has North Carolina meeting Wake forest on the neutral court of the Greensboro, N.C. Coliseum in the only conference game. Clemson travels to Jamaica, N. Y., to meet St. John's, ranked 17th and winner of last month's Holiday Festival at New York. Duke goes to the Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum to meet Southern Conference toughie Davidson.

The Saturday schedule opens with a 4 p.m. regionally televised game in which Duke plays at North Carolina. At night, N.C. State will be at Clemson and Maryland will play Navy at Norfolk, Va.

In the excitement generated by pre-season attention focused on N.C. State and Maryland as the two top choices to dethrone North Carolina, Coach Dean Smith's Tar Heels, have quietly gone about the business of winning games.

North Carolina's only loss was by 68-61 to N.C. State in the finals of the Big Four Tournament at Greensboro a month ago. That tournament is made up of "extra" games which do not count in ACC standings. Since that loss, the Tar Heels have ripped off seven victories and have the most triumphs of any team in the league, standing 13-1.

Their last 10 games have been played without injured Don Washington, a 6-foot-7, 218-pound sophomore. After averaging 21 points and nine rebounds for three games, he broke a bone in his left foot going up for a rebound against Virginia Tech Dec. 9 at Charlotte. He is to have X-rays taken Thursday to determine when he may resume practice. X-rays last week were not favorable.

N.C. State, 12-0 overall, leads the league at 3-0, with North Carolina second at 1-0 and Maryland third at 2-1.

Surprising Wake Forest, 8-4 with a five-game winning streak under first-year Coach Carl Tacy, has given North Carolina some severe tests in recent years. The Deacons are the only team to beat 11th-ranked Alabama.

The NCAA swimming championships will be held March 22-24 at Knoxville, Tenn.

Penn State's gymnastic team will play host to the Hungary men's and women's teams on Feb. 23 and 24.

Not Hard To Find Towe On The Court

By BOB CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — It's not hard to pick North Carolina State's Monte Towe out of the crowd when the Wolfpack's second-ranked basketball team is around.

Off the court, he's the mop-pet-haired kid in faded jeans and a macramé belt whose head fits neatly under Tommy Burleson's tie clip.

On the court, Towe is the one with the wrist split and the nose guard who skitters around the court like a waterbug in a cypress swamp.

And despite the presence of plays like the 7-foot-4 Burleson, a U.S. Olympic team member, and super sophomore David Thompson, it is Towe, a 19-year-old sophomore from Converse, Ind., who is being picked out more and more by the fans and the writers who congregate around an unbeaten team.

The attention is due to the central fact of Monte Towe's life—his size. Towe is listed at 5-foot-7 in the N.C. State program, which would make him one of the smallest starters on a major college team in the country. His actual height, measured by a neutral observer Tuesday, is a shade under 5-foot-6.

When you're 5-foot-6 and you play basketball with people a foot taller, things happen. For one thing, about the only thing you can do on defense sometimes is plant yourself in front of a bigger man and dare him to run over you. That's how Towe picked up the medical impedimenta he wears in each game now.

Against Georgia Southern, Towe stood in front of 6-2 Perry Warbington and wound up with a fractured left wrist. Against Virginia, he got in the way of 6-6 Wally Walker and wound up with a broken nose.

But, Towe observes, "both times they called a charge on the other guy." Towe has not missed any action with either injury.

If Towe plays aggressive defense, he's only following the advice of his father, a Converse electrician, gave him when he was a boy. "He said that because of my size, I'd have to play that much harder or the bigger guys would run all over me."

So Towe became one of those little guys, like Napoleon, who excel by being aggressive enough to make up for their small stature. He quarterbacked his high school football team to two unbeaten seasons. He won all-state honors in basketball. He played second base for the baseball team, an avocation he has continued at N.C. State.

In one of the few concessions he has ever made to his size, Towe decided not to go out for football when he arrived at State. He does his quarterbacking on the basketball court instead.

Towe is the man the Wolfpack counts on to break a defensive press, to feed Burleson and Thompson, and to provide the floor leadership that gives the free-running Wolfpack what cohesiveness they possess.

He doesn't see his job as scoring. But when an opponent plays a zone, which thus far has given Thompson some trouble, Towe doesn't hesitate to throw the ball up from 20 feet away. His high game this year is 20 points against Duke, and he is averaging 12.6 per game.

Ever since his older brother tossed him a basketball in the back yard at the age of three, Towe says, he has been immersed in athletics.

"I don't study as much as I should," he said. "When I was a junior in high school, I had a teacher who got on me because my grades weren't high. I told her I figured I should spend my spare time playing basketball and go to college that way."

But the major schools in Towe's home area, Purdue and Indiana, were not panting after a 5-6 guard. Fortunately for N.C. State, a former All-American, Doug Dickey, lived just a few miles from Towe and saw him play.

Dickey called up his old

So now he lives with the rest of the team in a suite in State's Sullivan dormitory, goes to Brothers' for beer and pizza after the games, and submits to interviews.

Sometimes, though, Towe wonders. "There were 2,000 people at the airport to meet us when we came back from winning the Maryland game (87-65 Sunday)," he said. "I wondered if the fact that we put a ball in a hole once more than they did was so important."

"But when you are winning, the questions just seem to go away, and you take things as they come."

New Penal Code Begun For Hawaii

By DAN CARMICHAEL
HONOLULU (UPI)—After more than a decade of work, Hawaii has invoked a new penal code, replacing century-old criminal statutes that were inspired largely by puritanical missionary concepts.

The new penal code, which went into effect Jan. 1, includes wholesale revamping of sex, drug and gambling laws. Unbelievable to some, only the relaxing of restrictions on social gambling stirred much controversy.

In the entire penal code, murder is the only crime against which a judge must invoke a sentence with a mandatory prison term. Life imprisonment without parole is required when a law-enforcement officer is killed in the line of duty, when a murder case witness is slain, or when a hired killer commits murder. In such a case, the person who hires a murderer faces the same penalty. However, the law allows the governor to commute such terms to parole after 20 years.

Lowered Pot Penalty

Hawaii's drug statutes also have been drastically overhauled, with only a petty misdemeanor awaiting those caught in possession of less than two ounces of marijuana. The drafters of the penal code were of the opinion that "marijuana represents less of a danger to the individual and society than do the narcotic drugs...It now appears that marijuana is not addictive."

It is expected that first-time offenders will be released with a warning or a period of probation. Formerly, marijuana possession was a felony, regardless of the amount involved.

The new code also virtually eliminates all statutes concerning private sex relations between persons over 14 years of age. Sexual activity even between persons under 14 is legal as long as the participants are within four years of age of each other.

Sodomy Is Legal

The lawyers, legislators and judges who drafted the code realized that Hawaii's former laws made some sexual conduct illegal even if it involved married couples. Sodomy, formerly classified as "the infamous crime against nature," now is legal.

Prostitution now ranks as a misdemeanor; small time promotion of prostitution, such as by cab drivers or hotel clerks, also is classed as a misdemeanor, while promotion of prostitution otherwise is a felony. There are no criminal sanctions against a person utilizing a prostitute's services.

The one area of real controversy has centered on a small section of the voluminous document. It's the section that allows gambling where all players are on an equal basis and it was designed to legalize an existing community practice — gambling during social events.

The interpretation of the definition of "social" is at the heart of the controversy.

An Airtight Bill

State Rep. Dennis O'Connor, who was largely responsible for steering the bill to final passage, says it is airtight because it "prohibits anyone from making a profit...directly or indirectly."

But U.S. Attorney Robert Fukuda says indirect profit will be impossible to prove and the measure will open the state to Las Vegas-style gambling, with emergence of a powerful underworld to bribe public officials and policemen.

Gov. John A. Burns has refused numerous requests to convene a special session of the legislature to repeal or restudy the section, saying the law "should be given a chance."

Officials of the police department say they will continue to raid gambling games and make arrests, allowing the courts to resolve the controversy. The courts, not the police department, are charged with determination of what is or is not social gambling.

ISLAND BOUNCES BACK
SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—After absorbing the impact of the 1970-71 U.S. recession, Puerto Rico's economy bounced back to record-breaking new levels with the island's gross product jumping 12.8 per cent in fiscal 1972 to a record high of $5.8 billion.

Net income on the island rose from $4.2 billion to a record $4.6 billion, a boost of 12.3 per cent.

A Legendary Goddess Has Following

By NIGEL CUMBERBATCH
 CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)
 —The statue of a naked woman with prominent breasts and generous hips, astride a tapir, is located in one of this city's traffic-jammed highways.

She is the center of a religious cult.
 The woman is Maria Lionza, a myth, a legend, a goddess with a large following.

Her following is clearly apparent, since at the base of the statue one can see, at all times, a fresh bouquet of flowers and newly-lit candles.
 According to the story, Maria Lionza was the daughter of the Caquetia tribe's chief. The tribe had settled in the Yaracuy State in the hilly midwest of this country during the Spanish conquest. She is said to have loved her people and when she saw them betrayed to the Spanish conquerors, she fled to the hills and tried to fight for their freedom.

Accused of being crazy and practicing witchcraft, the beautiful Indian princess was killed by the very people she tried to save.

Legend has set her up as a supernatural spirit.

Maria Lionza does not cater to those who wish to solve their economic problems with a lucky day at the races. People pray to her for peace, help for hungry children or the needy and invalids. But many of the country's wealthy can also be found praying to Maria Lionza to solve their sentimental problems, among other things.

Every Sunday, people of all classes meet near the base of the Sorte Mountains in Yaracuy. There begins a day-long ritual.

People are gay, singing praises and praying to Maria Lionza as they climb the mountain to her "palace," an enormous rock almost entirely covered by lit candles, flowers, incense and plaques testifying favors received and bearing thanks.

Many sick people go on these Sunday expeditions with the hope of being cured.

Followers of Maria Lionza generally believe in God and are practicing Christians. They somehow disengage one thing from the other and while praying to Maria Lionza also invoke the name of God.

Those who believe in Maria Lionza and cannot make the expedition to her "palace" generally settle for laying a wreath or placing a lit candle at her statue in the midst of downtown Caracas.

Overnight Success Not For Sorrells Pickard

By ALAN WILSON
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kris Kristofferson probably said it best when he described the career of his longtime friend, Sorrells Pickard, by writing: "I'm glad they finally got around to getting ready for this, hoss; but, damn, a man could die of old age before he gets to be an overnight success."

The words, found on Pickard's only album, depict the frustrating story of many Nashville songwriters—minus, of course, the reference to "overnight success." But they apply especially to Pickard, who six years ago roamed into this music town from Jacksonville, Fla., and has grudgingly carved a fine reputation.

No doubt, Kristofferson would have been even more inclined to extol Pickard's abilities had he heard his newest song, "Lovely Lady."

It may very well be the most brilliant writing Pickard, 33, has done. For that reason, one can't question that the public is, indeed "ready for this" as Kristofferson says.

The song takes a critical look at America and brings to mind the message portrayed in Don McLean's "American Pie." But the similarity ends there, for lyrically and melodically they're worlds apart.

The second verse of "Lovely Lady" reads: And with our hands across our heart We pledged to love no one but her And in return she'd do the same But somewhere the promises of liberty For all just got mislaid or were they Quietly hid away And all the things she taught us to believe It's not so much I mind the being lied to But it hurts to be deceived "I'd just like everybody to hear the record," Pickard said. "It doesn't make the charts, that's not what really counts—as long as everyone hears it once."

Among other things, Pickard said the Vietnam war compelled him to write the song. "I'd been kind of halfway freaked out about the things that happened in the world recently. I think we've all been deceived a little bit."

Not to be too pessimistic, though, "Lovely Lady" does hold hope for a better America: But together we can find where she went wrong And let us take this lovely lady By the hand and welcome her back

Writing music and performing has always been a way of life for Pickard, a large man who writes mostly of his life's experiences, but who offers an impressionistic message in each song.

Thinking of his boyhood days, he said, "If we weren't playing parcheesi, we were singing. It was like a ritual to sing every night." His entire family plays music.

"Take my grandmother. She plays the old boogie-type piano. But arthritis slows her down now," he said.

After four years of traveling with country music star Del Reeves and playing bass guitar at the Grand Ole Opry, Pickard's career took a turn when he bumped into ex-Beatle Ringo Starr.

Soon, the two put their heads together and a short time later Starr, who was doing a country oriented album, used four of Pickard's songs.

About the same time, Pickard came out with his first album, an impressive blend of soft serious country-folk and easy listening music.

For example, "Who Really Cares" humorously recalls what many believe is inherent in today's society—that is, depersonalization.

One of its verses goes like this: A local politician got caught with his finger in the bowl Got two weeks in jail cause They say he took his punishment like a man Sitting in his cell sucking his hand.

"Sometimes you can get up in the morning and feel like writing," said Pickard. "There's no explanation for it."

"When the words are coming, you can't stop them. They just flow. But when they do stop, you can't kick them back in either. You just have to wait for the right moment."

Waiting for the "right moment" is something Pickard does well. Extremely well. ("Lovely Lady" copyright 1972 by Window Music and Publishing Co., Inc., and Sorrells Pickard, used by permission. "Who Really Cares" copyright 1971 by Tomake Music Co., used by permission.)

The Worry Clinic Take Care In 2nd Marriage

Mae faces the same dilemma that threatens the 2nd marriages of all divorcees. Alas, 40 percent of these 2nd marriages now fail! Be sure to safeguard the success of your next marriage by the scientific tests below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
CASE W-501: Mae D., aged 32, has a serious marriage problem. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I eloped just after college. It was a campus romance but we soon proved very unsuited to each other, so I got a divorce.

"Then I became a secretary and 8 years later I married my employer.

"He had previously been married for 15 years before his wife also divorced him.

"So it was a 2nd marriage for both of us.

"Yet we are already approaching the breaking point after only months!

"He seems to be abnormally jealous of me and keeps asking about my first husband.

"Recently, I read that 40 percent of such 2nd marriages end in divorce, so I should like to avoid having 2 marital failures.

"Dr. Crane, how can a person make doubly sure that the 2nd marriage will prove successful?"

HOW TO AVOID DIVORCE

A widow, as well as a divorcee, must be doubly on guard, since they unwittingly create jealousy in their 2nd mate.

For most men have the wrong notion about women's sex passion!

They erroneously believe wives are quite ardent and erotic.

That's false!

Normal women were created to be 75 percent maternal creatures and not over 25 percent as interested as men are, in the erotic realm.

After her 2nd husband thus weds a widow or divorcee, and the honeymoon excitement wanes, then jealousy begins to enter his mind.

For his new wife reverts to the usual diffident sexual behavior typical of normal women.

Even if his wife has never been married before, many a new husband develops the idea that she is having an illicit affair, which explains her lack of ardor with him!

But if she is a divorcee or widow, he then begins to wonder if he is less satisfactory in the boudoir than her ex-mate. Although he may be much more so, her typical wifely lack of eagerness in the bedroom, mother served him!

And be sure you have mutual interests, hobbies and recreations so you can sit and talk about the same things.

(4) If he pays alimony and child support to his former family, be sure his remaining income (plus your) will enable you to live comfortably.

(5) Become active together in the same church!

(6) Try to live far away from your former mates (1,000 miles or more).

(7) Be sure your new mate is emotionally well adjusted and stable.

Thus, don't marry a mamma's apron-stringer or a person who is trying to get even with former mate, using a quickie remarriage as revenge. Beware of marrying "on the rebound."

Send for a 200-page "Tests for Husbands and Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣

The defense created two trump tricks in defending against South's four heart contract by locking the latter in dummy at a time when North had only diamonds left to lead. Declarer could have taken effective counter-measures, if he had thought ahead and anticipated the dilemma before it was thrust on him.

West opened the deuce of clubs, the ten was played from dummy and East covered with the jack which won the trick. He shifted to the three of hearts to remove dummy's trump. South was reluctant to finesse for if he played the ten and it lost to the queen, West might be expected to drive out the ace of clubs—thereby leaving declarer with another loser in that suit.

South put up the king of hearts and returned a diamond to North's queen. East was in with the ace and he led back a club to the ace. The king of diamonds was cashed on which South discarded his remaining club. The jack of spades was overtaken by the king and declarer began drawing trump by cashing the ace of hearts and then leading the jack.

West was in with the queen of hearts as his partner discarded a club. West put South back in dummy with a spade. A diamond was led, East played the jack and there was no way that declarer could prevent. West from scoring the setting trick with the nine of hearts on an overruff. In all, South lost two hearts, one diamond and one club.

Declarer could have avoided being pinned in dummy by playing a second round of spades before he starts the trumps. Suppose that he cashes North's ace of spades first and then overtakes the jack with the king. Now, when the ace of hearts is played, he can discard the queen of spades from dummy. Observe that South's ten becomes the masier card in that suit.

When West wins the queen of hearts, he must put South back in on the return, whether he leads a spade or a club. Declarer draws the remaining trump and limits his losses to one trick each in hearts, diamonds and clubs.
