

N.C. House Votes 92-19 Endorse Annual Sessions

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina House is ready to move into annual legislative sessions, a move favored by House Speaker Jim Ramsey and Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt.

This was indicated strongly Thursday when the House engaged in its first debate of the 1973 session and approved by 92-19 a resolution endorsing annual sessions.

The House also approved a resolution calling for a study of standing committees that would operate between legislative sessions.

Ramsey said recently he would like to see the General Assembly "slide into annual sessions rather than locking ourselves in with a bill." Under his proposal, the legislature could recess any time after enactment of the appropriations bills and reconvene early next year.

He noted that standing committees could operate in the interim and consider any issues carried over to the 1974 session.

Rep. Bob Jones, D-Rutherford, chairman of the House Rules Committee, was one of the floor leaders for the annual session resolution. He said it would simply put the House on record as endorsing the concept of meeting each year instead of every two years. It would not bind any member to a later bill dealing with the annual session question, Jones said.

Reps. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, and Claude DeBruhl, D-Buncombe, were others who spoke in favor of the proposal. High said there are many reasons the General Assembly should consider meeting annually. The main one, he argued, is that North Carolina is becoming more industrialized and annual sessions are "just one of those 20th century devices we have to consider."

Rep. Dan Lilley, D-Senoir, opposed the idea, saying: "I feel we are getting along pretty good." He told House members annual sessions would make it so many middle income people would be unable to serve in the General Assembly. A legislator, he said, could not spend "all that time up here unless he sold body and soul."

Also opposing it was veteran Rep. C. W. Phillips, D-Guilford. He said the cost of the legislature would just about double under annual sessions. He added, "People here who have to go home and making a living" would be unable to serve.

DeBruhl said, "I can't see how we propose to run a five billion dollar business and take a look at it every two years."

New legislation included a bill by Rep. C. Dempsey McDaniel, R-Forsyth, to require that schools be closed on days when general elections are held. Under the bill, state, city and county governments would be required to give their workers sufficient time off to Another bill by McDaniel would lower the speed limit in residential areas to 25 miles per hour unless different speed limits were posted. The limit now is generally 35 miles per hour.

Rep. William M. Fulton, R-Burke, sent up a bill that would replace limited driving permits now being issued at many drunken driving cases with probationary drivers' licenses.

Saigon Indicates Its Readiness For Peace Agreement

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government indicated today it is ready to accept a peace agreement, and Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam declared, "We are quite close to a conclusion."

Lam told newsmen that Saigon has no objections to the agreement that the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to in principle but is seeking clarifications on technical annexes to the main document before Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho resume negotiations in Paris Tuesday.

completing the text of an agreement to end more than a decade of war.

The wording of the joint announcement and Lam's statements indicated that tentative agreement had been reached on the major points, including a cease-fire and the return of prisoners.

But Lam said: "Unfortunately I cannot tell you the time and the date because we are still asking for some clarifications and some points are points of concern to our government."

Lam said a cease-fire "is not a main problem. We do not see any big obstacle in the acceptance of a cease-fire by the Republic of South Vietnam ... The problem is that the conditions of the cease-fire are not yet very clear and we would like more clarifications about how the cease-fire is going to be implemented."

Seek Motive For Slayings

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Police are searching for a motive for the execution-type slayings of seven persons, including five children, in an expensive home that is headquarters for a Muslim religious sect.

Milwaukee Bucks basketball star Kareem Abdul Jabbar, who bought the house and donated it to the Hanafi Muslims, said of the crime: "I can think of only crazy people, lunatics who would do it." Jabbar was known as Lew Alcindor when he starred at UCLA.

Jabbar, a member of the sect, was in Milwaukee when the slayings occurred about 4 p.m. Thursday in an area where many of Washington's wealthiest black families live. All the victims were black and ranged in age from infancy to 30 years, police said.

Police said they were looking for four black men seen by witnesses running from the rear door of the home, and police intelligence sources indicated as many as eight men may have participated in the killings.

A police spokesman said it was "definitely an execution."

Police said they were having trouble identifying the victims. Two women who were found shot in the head, but alive, inside the house were identified as Bibi Khaalis and Almira Khaalis, both about 20.

Bibi Khaalis was reported in critical condition and Almira Khaalis in fair condition. North Carolina civil-rights leader Dr. Reginald Hawkins, who was a Democratic candidate for governor in 1964 and 1968, was quoted as saying Bibi Khaalis was his daughter and that the three children originally reported found in a bathtub were hers.

Police said some of the victims had been shot and others drowned. Officers added that although three children had been found in a bathtub, an autopsy would be needed to determine whether they had been drowned there.

Police said it appeared that some of the victims had tried to flee their attackers and were gunned down as they fled.

Officers used dogs in an attempt to trace the escape route of the attackers. Weapons found near the house included a .38-caliber revolver and a sawed-off shotgun, and police said that, while they believe the arms are related to the slaying, only ballistic tests could say for sure.

Police also declined to confirm the report that three children were drowned and refused to say how any of the victims were slain. They declined to comment on initial reports that the bodies were mutilated.

Police Lt. Joseph O'Brien said the killings were discovered about 4:30 p.m. when an occupant of the home arrived from a shopping tour. When he got no answer at the front of the house he went around to the back and saw four black men running through the back yard, he told police.

Upon entering the house, the man, who was not identified, discovered the bodies.

Asked in Milwaukee if he thought the killings might have been related to an attempt on his life, Jabbar said: "Of course it's possible." But he added, "Life goes on, you know."

The basketball star became a convert to the Islamic faith in 1971. He said the Hanafi Muslim community has nothing to do with the teachings of Elijah Muhammad of the more-well-known Black Muslims.

Corona Juror Still Dubious Over Verdict

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The holdout juror who cast the final guilty vote says she still has doubts and thinks Juan Corona — convicted of murdering 25 men — deserves another trial. The jury foreman says the first ballot taken was 7 to 5 for acquittal.

Corona, a 38-year-old farm labor contractor, was found guilty Thursday of 25 counts of first-degree murder. The jury of 10 men and two women reached the verdict after 46 hours of deliberation stretched over eight days.

Corona was accused of killing 25 transient farm workers whose hacked and stabbed bodies were discovered in 1971 in makeshift orchard graves 100 miles northeast of San Francisco along the banks of the Feather River.

It was the biggest mass murder charge in the nation's history. The trial lasted 14 weeks. Corona's attorney, Richard Hawk, immediately moved for a new trial, and a hearing on his motion was scheduled Jan. 29.

Judge Richard E. Patton delayed sentencing until after the hearing. Under California law, Corona could receive a maximum sentence of 25 consecutive life terms.

The 12 jurors each individually affirmed the guilty verdicts in a dramatic conclusion to the four-month trial. The separate reading, affirmation and recording of the 25 individual "guilty of murder of the first degree" verdicts stretched 28 minutes in the crowded, hushed courtroom.

But juror Naomi Underwood said in an interview at her home later that "I do feel Juan Corona deserves another trial."

"I have doubts yet," said Mrs. Underwood, a 61-year-old widow. "I don't think they had enough evidence. I still doubt I made the right decision."

Construction of the first section of the building is soon to get underway with funds appropriated by previous General Assemblies.

Library renovations were included in the first priority at a cost of $720,000. Funds are now on hand for an addition to the present library and this new appropriation would be used for renovation of the present building.

There is $1.8 million in the budget for expansion of the heating plant; $38,000 for utilities; $55,000 for roads, walks and parking and $40,000 for storm drainage.

Self liquidating funds of $300,000 for Ficklen Stadium lighting are included.

Less likely to be funded are renovations for the old Wahl-Coates School building, now used for dramatic arts, and an administration building. Both are Priority Two.

Place in Priority Three was a request for $500,000 for a new planetarium, the funds to supplement $300,000 in donations now on hand.

The operating budget calls for $23.2 million for the biennium. ECU would also share in funds from a "change bucket" for new and expanded programs and salary increases. This appropriation will be in a lump sum and it will be doled out by the board of governors.

Flu Cases

The East Carolina University infirmary reports that between 300 and 400 flu patients have been treated there each day this week, except Monday when more than 500 were diagnosed.

Dr. Dan Jordan, assistant director of ECU Student Health Services, said most of the patients are managing in their dormitory rooms, though some have gone to their parents' homes and a census of about 20 bed patients is being maintained in the infirmary.

"It's the London flu that they say is going around the state," Dr. Jordan said, "though I wouldn't say what strain this is until we get a lab report. This could well be after our campus epidemic is over."

He described the symptoms as "about the same as any flu—chills, fever, aching, sweating." Some have had nausea and diarrhea, but most have not, he said.

Even though two of the infirmary doctors have "got the bug" themselves, Dr. Jordan said, "We've got along very well mainly because the students have been so great. Almost all have realized we're working under a strain and have been very reasonable and cooperative."

Award Commendation To Rural Fire Depts.

A certificate of commendation for the role the 18 rural Fire Departments of Pitt County played during 1972 in "forest fire suppression" was presented Thursday night to the firemen of the departments.

On the occasion of the Annual Pitt County Fireman's Association Ladies Night, held at D.H. Conley High School, Ben Hardison, head of the North Carolina Forestry Service in Pitt County, presented the certificate to Billy Strickland. Strickland is president of the Pitt County Firemen's Association.

Bobby Joyner, Pitt County Fire Marshal was on hand for the ceremony, which was viewed by approximately 225 people, including the volunteer firemen, their wives, and Pitt County Commissioners.

ECU Priorities Seen In Recommended Budget

RALEIGH — An addition to the ECU Humanities building (Art School), library renovations and heating plant expansion are among the items in Priority One of the recommended biennial state budget.

The Priority One items are most likely to be funded from the approximately $60 million recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission for higher education capital improvements.

The addition to the humanities building would cost $2.1 million.

plumbing work and Electricon also was awarded the heating contract with a low bid of $48,000.

The next step, Laney explained, is to work with HUD in getting the funds within the budget. The Greensboro office of HUD has notified the officials here that it will request additional funds for the authority from Atlanta to help adjust prototype costs. The additional funds are needed since the project is currently about ten per cent over prototype guidelines.

Laney said that he is "very optimistic that we will be able to work out these matters with HUD and get on with the execution of the project."

Leary In Custody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Timothy Leary, the LSD advocate who escaped from prison two years ago, has been arrested and was held today in lieu of $5 million bond.

Leary returned here by air Thursday from Afghanistan via London with 26-year-old Joanna Harcourt-Smith, niece of British publisher Simon Harcourt-Smith.

"I know I am going to free him. Love is what it takes," the young woman said shortly after she and Leary arrived in Los Angeles aboard a jetliner from London.

The 52-year-old Leary had been wanted for escape from a state prison near San Luis Obispo, Calif., in September 1970 and in connection with the operation of an alleged drug smuggling ring once headquartered in Orange County, Calif.

When he escaped, Leary was serving a one-to-10-year sentence on a drug conviction.

Leary's freedom ended with his arrest aboard the plane by two U.S. narcotics agents who had accompanied him from Afghanistan.

Police said some of the victims had been shot and others drowned. Officers added that although three children had been found in a bathtub, an autopsy would be needed to determine whether they had been drowned there.

Would Abolish Housing Corp.

RALEIGH (AP) — An Onslow County legislator introduced a bill in the House today to abolish the North Carolina Housing Corp. created by the 1969 General Assembly to aid lower income families in obtaining residential housing.

Rep. J. F. Mohn told newsmen the corporation has spent about $250,000, loaned about $40,000 "and to my knowledge they have not built a home."

"It is not productive and should be abolished," Mohn said. "It is my responsibility to help protect the taxpayers."

The corporation is headed by Executive Director Joe Eagles, a former legislator, who is paid $25,000 a year.

Leary returned here by air Thursday from Afghanistan via London with 26-year-old Joanna Harcourt-Smith, niece of British publisher Simon Harcourt-Smith.

"I know I am going to free him. Love is what it takes," the young woman said shortly after she and Leary arrived in Los Angeles aboard a jetliner from London.

Vote Awarding Of Newtown Contracts If Budget Is Met

The Housing Authority voted Thursday to award contracts for the Newtown Project to low bidders, provided that the total contract sum can be brought within the project budget through negotiations with HUD.

A Greenville contractor, J. Leo Hawkins, submitted the low bid of $924,184 for the general construction, marking the first time a local company has been awarded a contract by the authority for housing construction.

Joe Laney, executive director, said that the electrical contract was awarded to Electricon Inc. of Kinston for $81,180. T.E. Turner of Tarboro submitted the low bid of $158,229 for the plumbing work and Electricon also was awarded the heating contract with a low bid of $48,000.

The next step, Laney explained, is to work with HUD in getting the funds within the budget. The Greensboro office of HUD has notified the officials here that it will request additional funds for the authority from Atlanta to help adjust prototype costs. ## Board 2 Ships In Hit-And-Run Inquiry

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard said today inspection teams have boarded and inspected two foreign freighters in an effort to determine if either was involved in a hit-and-run ship collision that sank a 71-foot fishing boat in the Atlantic off the North Carolina coast. Reports are being prepared and no word on the teams' findings is available pending their completion, the Coast Guard said.

A spokesman said Thursday the Coast Guard has no jurisdiction over the foreign ships. But he added if it could be determined that either had struck the fishing boat, a report would be made to the government of the country in which the ship is registered.

A Coast Guard spokesman said both freighters were heading for United States ports and would be boarded by Coast Guard inspectors on arrival.

The trawler Wayne Lauren went down about eight miles off Cape Hatteras, N.C., late Wednesday night, after a collision with a freighter. The five crewmen were unharmed and were rescued by the fishing boat Mitzy Kay.

Coast Guard aircraft and a cutter sent to the scene sighted and identified two foreign freighters in the area, but one of the ships ignored efforts to make contact, according to a Coast Guard spokesman.

He said the cutter Cape Upright was ignored when it moved within 200 yards of the 461-foot Danish freighter Thyra Torm and tried to make contact by radio, signed flags and flashing light. The ship increased speed and moved away, according to the Coast Guard.

However, the Coast Guard said the Cape Upright was able to make contact with the second vessel, the 506-foot Greek freighter Hellenic Laurel. A Coast Guard spokesman said the master of the freighter told the cutter's captain that his second mate had reported a fishing boat nearby in the area of an accident, but had not reported the collision.

Willie Etheridge Jr., 51, told Coast Guard investigators he flashed an SOS to the ship that hit him, but his signal was ignored. The collision sheared off 10 feet of the Wayne Lauren's bow, according to the Coast Guard.

McDonald New C-of-C, Merchants' President

Bill McDonald was elected president of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association Thursday.

McDonald, who served as president-elect of the board last year, succeeds George Shoe as head of the chamber.

A native of Southern Pines, McDonald was educated at Presbyterian College and East Carolina University where he majored in psychology.

An insurance broker for the State Farm Insurance Companies, he has been a company leader winning several awards, including the Life High Topper Award, Million-Dollar Life Producer Award, Vice Presidents Club Award, Bell Ringer Award, Convention Qualifier Award and Million Dollar Convention Qualifier.

McDonald has held several offices in the community affairs, including president of the Candlewick Inn Swim and Tennis Club, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Industry Committee, and a member of the Chamber board of directors. He is currently serving as chairman of Youth Attention, a committee of adults working with children who have problems with drugs or other involvements with breaking the law.

McDonald holds the fourth degree black belt in karate and has won many major tournaments while in competition, including the Fort Bragg Invitational, Camp Lejeune Open, East Coast Championship, and the Seymour Johnson Open. He also lists tennis as one of his favorite hobbies. He was recently appointed North Carolina State Director of the South East Karate Association.

He is married to the former Rebecca Duncan of Charlotte and they have two children.

Rumor Center Closing Down

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Rumor Center is closing. It has run out of rumors.

The Rev. Everett J. Jensen, president of the four-year-old center, called a news conference today to announce the decision.

"I imagine we are different, being able to say when a job has been done and when it ought to go," the 54-year-old Lutheran pastor said in an interview.

"We have plenty of funds, plenty of backing from the city and county, but we just don't get any rumors any more," he added.

The center was set up in 1968 when the city was plagued with racial unrest, student troubles and unemployment.

At its peak the center handled upwards of 400 calls a day from the worried public.

"Now we're down to only about six a day," the Rev. Mr. Jensen said. "And they only amount to somebody asking if it was true that a baby was baked in an oven because the babysitter was out. We don't feel that this is the kind of service the city ought to provide."

Why the decline in calls? "Tensions are very much reduced now," the Rev. Mr. Jensen explained.

"There is no longer that air of crisis like back in 1968 and 1969. Since then the public has more access to the police, to public agencies and even to schools which conduct rumor clinics."

The center spent about $15,000 a year with a full-time staff of four. Volunteers often helped out, as well.

"We did the job that needed doing at the time," the pastor said. "We told the truth as we saw it and we probably did a lot of good."

"Now, I can return to my flock."

Basic Aviation Course Slated

A 36-hour basic aviation ground school course meet Thursday at 7 p.m.

The class will meet each Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in room 220, New Building.

The course is designed to assist one studying the rules and regulations in preparation to take the Fcc examination for the Private Pilot License.

There is no instructional cost to the student.

Choir To Sing At Williamston

WILLIAMSTON — The Kennedy Home Junior High Choir from the Kennedy Home campus in Kinston will present a musical program at the evening service of West End Baptist Church in Williamston Sunday.

The singsgiving will be followed by an account of the work being done in child care at Kennedy Home and on the six other statewide campuses of the Baptist Children's Homes of North Carolina, Inc.

The choir is under the direction of John Thompson, music director at the Home, and is accompanied by Mrs. John Thompson, pianist.

Collect $1,010 In Contributions

The Greenville Jaycees collected $1,010.01 in last Saturday's intercession soliciting for the Cystic Fibrosis Association, the campaign chairman Jim Smith reported.

"We thank the people of Greenville for their generous contribution," Smith said. "The money will be used well — to help children who have this terrible disease and for research to find ways to combat it."

14-Year-Old Found Hanging

EDEN, N.C. (AP) — Police say they found a 14-year-old Eden boy hanging by his neck Thursday morning and called his death an apparent suicide.

Police say Garland Lee Carter was found hanging in a noose of non-woven material attached to a door. They theorized that the youth had fallen to his knees and broken his neck.

Awarded Rank At Academy

CHATHAM, Va. — Robbie Deanes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Deanes of Greenville, N.C., has been awarded the rank of sergeant first class at Hargrave Military Academy here.

He serves as a member of the color guard at the academy. Deanes is spending the weekend in Greenville with his parents.

Some Unlikely People 'Mother' For A Night

Don't be shocked if a man or teen-age boy should knock on your door today, tomorrow or Sunday wearing a badge labeled "tonight I'm a mother." They are not absentee guests from the "People Are Funny" show, nor are they participants in a reaction survey.

In fact, as Mrs. William Bruner, a campaign co-chairman of the Greenville Mother's March group for the March of Dimes, explains, "our mother's march will actually include not only mothers, but men, teen-age boys and girls, as well as a few pre-teen age volunteers." The other co-chairman, Mrs. Matt Gustafson, said that "we'll have people of all ages helping us, members of sororities and fraternities, young mothers and fathers, and grandparents."

Originally, the chairmen explained, the goal to sign up mothers for the Mother's March had been set at about 200. Once the ball got rolling, however, it was discovered that there was considerable interest on the part of teen-agers and men.

As a result, these non-mother volunteers along with a greater number of mother volunteers than had been expected has swelled the ranks of volunteers to near 400.

"We'll be covering just about all of Greenville," Mrs. A.J. Brock, publicity chairman pointed out. "Some of the volunteers will also go into areas outside the city limits."

"All volunteers," Mrs. Bruner explained, "will be identified by a large red and white plastic tag showing they're a registered volunteer for the event."

Eight committee chairmen have been appointed, each handling the enrollment of volunteers for specific sections of town. The eight are Mrs. Paul Breitman, Mrs. Marvin Buck, Mrs. Mike Cavendish, Mrs. William Fuqua, Mrs. Edward Harrington, Mrs. Melvin Hathaway, Mrs. Stuart Savage and Mrs. Lon Williford.

The Mother's March, being held as part of the overall March of Dimes campaign in Greenville for the first time in about dozen years, is one of the major fund raising drives in the effort to collect funds to fight birth

Heart Associations in Eastern North Carolina that participating in the telethon are from these counties: Beaufort, Carteret, Craven, Duplin, Greene, Jones, Lenoir, Onslow, Pamlico, Pender, Pitt, and Wayne.

$1 Billion Year

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina had its first billion dollar gross farm product in history in 1972, according to the state Crop Reporting Service.

The service said Thursday that the combined value of field crops, vegetables, fruits and nuts was an estimated $1.002 billion.

The figure includes receipts for quantities sold or to be sold, and the value of crops used on farms.

The total was an increase of more than 9 per cent over 1971. The 1971 crop—damaged by hurricanes—was worth $915 million, a decrease from the previous record of $939 million set in 1970.

Tobacco, corn and soybeans accounted for most of the gains, the service said.

ACCIDENTAL COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Accidental shootings have been credited with killing at least 15 people in South Carolina during 1972.

Couple Honored Sunday At Anniversary Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark Jr., of Rt. 6, Greenville, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at a reception given by their children at the Conetoe Community Building.

Mrs. Alton Moore of Fountain, sister of Mr. Clark, greeted guests and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the honorees, their five children and in-laws.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stokes of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark of Texas City, Tex., E. H. Clark of Miami, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clark of Tarboro, and Mrs. Marlene Goodall.

Mrs. Clark was attired in an aqua dress trimmed with pearls and her corsage was a yellow throated white orchid. She wore a gold bracelet, an anniversary gift from her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark presented gifts of jewelry to their children prior to the reception.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth with an overlay of gold lace. The centerpiece was yellow snapdragons and gold daisy pompons flanked by white tapers. Bells, candles, gold roping and ivory were used on the mantel and throughout the building.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK CLARK JR.

The four tiered wedding cake was served by Clifton Stokes, grandson of the honorees. Mrs. W. A. Winborne, sister of Mrs. Clark, poured punch. The couple's six grandsons assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stokes displayed gifts assisted by Ricky Stokes.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harris said good-byes and Booten

Goodall presided at the guest register.

After the reception, a dinner party was held at the Steak House, Tarboro.

Quit Proposing And Cool It For A While

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 70-year-old man and recently lost my wife after 49 years of a happy marriage. My loss was almost unbearable at first, but I faced reality and tried to live again.

My problem is this: I have proposed marriage to four widows, all near my age. They are receptive to a point, but all say there is no need for sex at our ages.

I am a healthy man and had a good sex life with my wife until she died, so why should I be expected to forget about sex now?

What should I tell these ladies when they turn me down on this important part of life? I say sex is healthy and normal and adds to a happy marriage. Please advise me. NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Perhaps these ladies have turned you down because you appear to be preoccupied with sex. You say you "recently" lost your wife. Yet you have already proposed to four widows. Cool it. Surely there must be an eligible widow who will see things your way. But don't rush her.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-aged girl who has hairy legs. I don't see anything wrong with it because it is natural. My mother and older sisters say it looks ugly and if I don't shave my legs I will be the butt of guys' jokes, and besides it is not considered good grooming for a girl to go around with hair on her legs.

I don't see why society should dictate whether I should have hair on my legs. I think this is strictly a matter of my own choice.

What do you think?

NATURALLY HAIRY

DEAR HAIRY: It's your hair, your legs and your choice. If you choose to keep the hair on your legs, you will soon find out to whom it matters, and to whom it matters not. Since you like the natural look, I suggest you keep it.

DEAR ABBY: God help me, Abby, but I made the biggest, most stupid mistake of my life. I tried to steal a piece of costume jewelry from a store and was caught re-handled by a detective posing as another shopper. The foolish thing is, I could have bought it as I had the money. I don't know what came over me.

I was booked, and now I have a criminal record which I am afraid will follow me for the rest of my life.

How will this affect my future? I am planning to get married soon. Should I tell my fiancé? Will this affect my voting? Will I ever be able to get a passport? Can I hold a civil service job? Will my record follow me into another state? Please tell me everything! I am so sorry for what I did. I wish I could wake up and find it was all a bad dream.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Laws vary in different states. Talk to a lawyer and get the facts. I think you may be greatly relieved.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BROWNIE": Yes, give him another chance. Tell your husband you will meet him at the next Alcoholics Anonymous meeting, and afterwards you will talk about a reconciliation.

"Let rise" applies to yeast dough. Put dough in a warm place so yeast can "grow" and cause dough to expand and get "light."

By United Press International

The term window fabrics includes both curtain and drapery fabrics. In general, curtain fabric is sheer and unlined. Drapery fabric is heavier and either lined or unlined.

All types of knits are relatively new for upholstery fabric. These fabrics offer better fit and can be produced with less labor and, therefore, at lower cost. They may stretch and snag if given rough treatment. Some knits for upholstery are laminated to a foam backing for greater stability.

Special Program Scheduled For Monday

Three ladies of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church will be featured speakers at the annual "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial Service" program of the Women's Society of Christian Service in downtown Jarvis Memorial Church Monday at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Karl E. Faser, Mrs. Howard W. Mims and Mrs. Charles M. Smith will participate on the special program, which focuses on prayer, a deepened spiritual life and a guided mission study.

The program will be held in the chapel of the church. All Methodists are invited to attend. A nursery will be provided for pre-school children.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial Service is being observed by more than 1.5 million women in 50 states.

The Women's Division of the United Methodist Board of Global Ministries sponsors the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial and has designated two aspects of the large United Methodist mission program to benefit from this year's special offering:

"To repair and improve mission properties, to renew programs of Christian mission and to benefit overseas leadership training for women." Last year the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial offerings of United Methodist Women totaled $65,312.96.

Club Members Hear Speaker

Miss Doty McLaughlin, director of social services at the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, was guest speaker at the Tea and Topics Book Club Tuesday night.

Miss McLaughlin explained to members and guests that alcoholic sickness is a disease the same as other type of sicknesses. The person is searching for something which could be from several things, immaturity, uncomfortable with himself, tension, family problems, etc. Alcohol is used as a crutch to relieve the tension which soon could become habit forming.

The average ARC person is 42.5 years old, married with an average income of approximately $7,000 with an average of two children each. ARC is a voluntary program, she added.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Robert Alligood, Mrs. Charles Lewis and Mrs. Arthur Fletcher.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Edward Holland, following the speaker.

Mrs. Gurkin Gives Program

WILLIAMSTON — Mrs. Annie Lou Gurkin of Plymouth presented the program at the meeting of Beta Upsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held here Saturday.

Her program topic was "Intagibles That Fuse A Culture." Mrs. Cordula Hassell of Roper gave the devotional and Mrs. Lois Young of Ahsokie presided at the meeting.

To raise money for the Delta Kappa Gamma Scholarship fund, a sale of homemade items brought by members was held. Attending from Pitt County was Edith Warren. The meeting was held at the Town and Country Restaurant and a coffee hour preceded the business session.

Birthday Party Held Saturday

GRIFTON — Mrs. Wally Pittman and Mrs. Eddy Newby entertained their husbands at a birthday party Saturday night at the Pittman home.

Approximately 20 friends were present for the event.

District Meet Held Tuesday

District 30 of the North Carolina State Nurses' Association held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night at the East Carolina University School of Nursing.

The newly elected officers presiding at the meeting were: President, Phyllis G. Nichols; First Vice President, Florence Nelson; Second Vice President, Jean M. Owens; Secretary, Ruth J. Broadhurst; Treasurer, Sylvene O. Spickerman.

It was announced that Mrs. Judith T. Garrison will be a candidate for vice chairman of the NCSNA Section of Educational Administrators, Consultants, and Teachers.

Dr. Morton Rabin, director of the Eastern North Carolina TEACCH Program for autistic children presented the program. This center is one of North Carolina's three diagnostic and treatment clinics for communicative disorders in children.

Dr. Rabin spoke of casefinding techniques, the use of parent therapists, and behavior modification in helping these children realize their potentials. Approximately 25 nurses attended from Pitt, Beaufort, Martin, and Washington counties. The next District 30 meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 13, at the Tideland Mental Health Center, Washington.

Grifton Personals

Patrick Oglesby left Saturday for Durham where he will be a member of the Whitted Junior High School faculty. He was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Oglesby.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hooper and children, Robbie, Arthur and Jennifer have returned to their home in Springfield, Va., after a weekend visit here with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hooper.

Mrs. Sallie Johnson left during the weekend to join friends for a vacation stay at Avon Park, Fla.

Bride-Elect Entertained

GRIFTON — Miss Patricia Johnson, bride-elect of Edward Bryan Stevenson of Kinston, was honored at a morning party Saturday at the home of Mrs. Sam Nelson.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. W.E. Rasberry, Mrs. G.L. Tucker, Mrs. Edwin Reeves, Mrs. Ben G. Tucker, Mrs. Tom Gower and Mrs. Mark Phillips.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Nelson and presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Roger Johnson, Mrs. F.E. Stevenson, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and Miss Emerette Stevenson, sister of the bridegroom-elect.

Miss Johnson was presented a corsage of pink carnations and a gift of silver.

The dining room table was covered with a white cutwork linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white mums, pom poms and Baker's fern.

Mrs. Rawl Is Speaker Tuesday

Mrs. Ed Rawl Sr. was speaker at the Tuesday night meeting of the Patient Circle of the King's Daughters and Sons.

Her program was taken from the book "Beyond The Rim" by the Rev. Noe.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Polly Dail, president.

Hostesses for the meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, were Mrs. W. L. Best, Mrs. Mable Glenn Jones and Mrs. S. T. White.

Shouldn't Rush To Cut Taxes

The State Legislature got a look at the big $5.3 billion biennial budget Wednesday afternoon.

The budget, prepared by the Advisory Budget Commission under former Gov. Bob Scott, would provide for state agencies, institutions and public schools for the next two fiscal years. The planners also took advantage of a huge state surplus to recommend $190 million in tax reductions.

Included in the recommendations and savings, were:

- repeal of the two-cent-per-pack cigarette tax, $41.5 million.
- repeal of the one-cent-per-bottle soft drink tax, $40.9 million.
- allow businesses to credit against their income tax 50 percent of what they pay on the manufacturer's inventory tax, $30 million.
- allow taxpayers to credit against income tax 50 percent of their intangible tax payments, $30.2 million.
- allow taxpayers a one-shot 10 percent reduction in 1972 state income tax, $44 million.
- repeal privilege license effective July 1, 1973 $3.5 million.

Included in the budget is $184.4 million for capital improvements, which includes $133.4 million from the general fund. Capital improvements include allocations of $53.4 million for construction at units of the University of North Carolina System. These funds would be allocated by the Board of Governors to the individual campuses.

There is also $8.3 million for state ports expansion, $11 million for mental hospital facilities and $8.9 million to the state Department of Correction for new facilities.

For the public schools $136.2 million was allocated with more than $3 million for expanding kindergarten to 62 more schools. This would increase kindergarten enrollment from 3,400 to 6,250. Six million dollars would allow hiring of 400 more special ed teachers and $1.7 million for 100 more occupation education teachers.

An additional $45 million would go to social services with part of the funds to boost payments in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children from 86 percent of minimum standards to 100 percent.

Some 100 highway patrolmen would be added along with 50 additional process servers and 55 new positions in registration and drivers license division.

Some $5.25 million was included to purchase Cape Lookout National Seashore land, $5 million for state park lands and $2.5 million for park capital improvements.

There is $40.9 million for improvements, expansion and new programs at state universities and $18.6 million for salary increases at state universities.

State employees and teachers would receive pay increases of 5 percent per year.

Big as it is, the budget falls short. Not enough is done for expansion of the state kindergarten program, funds for state parks acquisition are not sufficient. Of course we are all aware, there are no funds included for expansion of the ECU medical school which is so badly needed to alleviate the health care crisis.

Legislators should forget about tax cuts until these and some other critical needs of the state are met. They should also keep in mind that the budget includes revenue sharing funds. These funds could change and it is very likely that some programs which are now federally financed will have to be taken over with the revenue sharing funds. So we might not have as much as we think we have.

The General Assembly should look this budget over very carefully. There should be no rush to cut taxes, only to have to increase them in the next couple of years. And, most of all, now is the time to meet the needs which we have let slide for so many years on the excuse that no funds were available.

JCs Confront Women's Lib

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Women's Lib is knocking at the door of the Jaycees, a traditional preserve for the bright young male on the way up.

North Carolina officials of the civic organization have an ear cocked to the sound, but no present inclination to open membership to both sexes.

"I question whether we should change our by-laws (to admit women) just because of a trend," said Fred Morrison, state Jaycee president.

He quickly disclaimed any leaning as a male chauvinist. Women have a place in community service, he said, but 90 per cent of Tar Heel Jaycees don't think it's in the Jaycees.

Besides, there's the Woman's Club, the Junior Woman's Club, the YWCA and other organizations which limit their membership to women, he observed.

The organization contends that women are not barred from participating in Jaycee activities, although they are not accepted in full membership.

"We are very fortunate in North Carolina to have an outstanding auxiliary group known as the Jaycettes which is made up of wives of Jaycees," said the report on the executive committee's decision. Non-wives who wish to do so may become associate members.

"This affords the ladies of our state the opportunity to respond to the needs and challenges of our citizens and communities," the report added. Mrs. Reba Bone of Rocky Mount, state coordinator for Jaycettes, is in full agreement with the current Jaycee membership policy, Morrison said.

Morrison stated that just this week former state Jaycee leader Micou Browne of Raleigh secured a grant from his company, Durham Life Insurance Company, to fund state Jaycette activities during 1973 and 1974. North Carolina has 132 Jaycette chapters with 2,500 members.

No Demands So Far

To this date, no women's rights group in North Carolina has made any noise about Jaycee membership. So far as he is aware, Morrison said, no instance of a woman asking for membership has come up in a North Carolina Jaycee chapter.

It has elsewhere. Women have been admitted to some 20 chapters around the nation. The Rochester, N.Y. chapter, second largest in the country, had its state and national charters revoked for infraction of the by-laws by accepting female Jaycees.

The suit in federal court originated last year as a

Radical Shift In Trade Plans

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — With the typical secrecy that marks all his grand surprises, President Nixon is moving toward a radical shift in trade legislation which would permit a temporary raising of tariffs on foreign imports threatening American industries.

The tariff-raising scheme, now being studied by White House trade adviser Peter Flanagan, is designed as a short-term safeguard — up to perhaps five years — for domestic industries facing economic disaster from low-cost foreign imports.

It would be sold to Congress as a radical new form of adjustment assistance, a government subsidy program invented by the Kennedy administration to help imperiled industries and their workers "adjust" to foreign competition threatening their survival.

With AFL-CIO president George Meany and other moguls of big labor now engaged in a major battle to get Congress to pass the highly-protectionist Burke-Hartke trade bill, President Nixon is searching for some way to blunt the impact of cheap foreign imports without reversing his own — and the nation's — liberal trade policies of the past four decades.

The Kennedy-era adjustment assistance is ridiculed as worthless by Meany. The Nixon plan now under study by the White House and Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, Mr. Nixon's new international trade czar, goes much farther.

The plan would work as follows: The President could Chess, checkers and ping pong. What an age! If people like games, that's it. Some people have no interest whatsoever in games and that's all right too if such people want it that way. Baseball is attended by millions each year. Boys and girls on the tennis court are making tennis history. The world keeps its eyes glued to the newspapers while two men are huddle over a chess game.

A nation can do worse than go crazy over sports. When the city of Rome was captured the Colosseum was crowded with people watching gladiators killing one another. They didn't even stop to ask what the excitement was about as

Then The Bubble Burst

LOS ANGELES — The Super Bowl is over, but for those 12,000 of us from Washington, D.C., who traveled 3,000 miles to see it, the bitter memories still linger on.

First you have to understand what it's like to be here for Super Bowl weekend in Los Angeles.

Up until then, people in California thought those of us who lived in Washington were small-town yokels who did nothing but raise taxes, waste billions of dollars and order bombing raids on Vietnam.

But when the Redskins won an opportunity to play in the Super Bowl, the image changed. Those of us who arrived on Thursday and Friday found ourselves feted as social lions. As fans of one of the teams to play in the greatest of all games, our phones never stopped ringing.

"Mr. Sinatra would like you for dinner."

"Dinah Shore wants you for tennis."

"Warren Beatty wishes to give a small party for you and your friends."

The Super Bowl does things to people, and Californians could not do enough for their Washington brothers.

It wasn't just the big people but also the little ones who treated the Washington fan with respect and awe. Taxi drivers forgot to turn on their meters, bellhops refused to take tips. In restaurants, if you identified yourself as a Redskin fan, they threw out a party of four in the middle of the meal and gave you their table.

It was heady stuff. But after all, we were of the same tribe as Billy Kilmer, Larry Brown and Chris Hanburger. We lived in the same town as George Allen and Roy Jefferson and Mike Bass. To Californians, we were the chosen people.

I remember the Saturday before the game saying to my wife, "Maybe we should move out here."

She agreed. "Californians are fine Americans. Where should we go to dinner tonight — the Charleton Heston's or the Burt Lancaster's?"

"Let's go to both," I said, "so we won't hurt anyone's feelings."

That's how it was up until game time. If you were from Washington, your cup kept running over.

But then on Sunday at exactly 3:39 p.m., Pacific time, our world fell apart. Our team had been defeated 14 to 7.

That night when we got back to the Beverly Wilshire Hotel, the atmosphere had changed. I first realized it when I asked the hotel operator if there were any messages for me and all she did was laugh.

I tried to call Frank, but he had gone to Palm Springs. Warren Beatty's answering service told us he was not only refusing calls, he wasn't even taking messages. Dinah's maid said Miss Shore could be reached by writing her at NBC. The word was out in Los Angeles that Washington people were losers.

There was nothing left to do but to return home. We packed and called a taxi and told him to take us to the L.A. airport. "Where are you flying to?" he asked us as he turned onto the freeway.

To the Editor:

The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina are not going to the 1973 General Assembly with a request for the expansion of The East Carolina University Medical School, without further professional consultation, we are told.

The question arises: How has this medical school had any beginning without the full accrediting by the proper authorities? East Carolina University Medical School is not in competition with central or western Universities in North Carolina. It is a perfect formation for good balance.

The large surplus state funds could find no better use for a partial outlay. There is no greater need to the public than an ample supply of doctors. Interested people should contact their representatives and accept no double talk political jargon, economic philosophies or medical prejudice that would jeopardize this immediate investigation.

Mr. Leo Brody of Kinston, and several of his brothers have made a $100,000.00 donation in a recent move to ECU Medical School. The DuPont plant in Kinston has made a grant and this shows this type interest. Thought controls the world and we have grown through good thinking.

Eastern North Carolina has some of the most brilliant men and women on earth and this is an opportunity to help this area in this field. Representatives are in the Legislature to fulfill the aims of those who put them there and this is a time when no strings should be left untied.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living: A full moon caught in the lacy boughs of an ice-coated tree on a clear winter night ... a thrill in silver.

Getting over a cold or the flu. Finding one more cigar in your pocket when you thought they were all gone.

Seeing a topless waitress with the hives.

Reading poetry that gives you goose pimples.

Listening to ghost stories around a campfire on an owl-haunted evening.

The dreams of glory in the head of a young boy back in 1920 when a favorite uncle gave him a whole dollar to spend.

Opening the first letter of your life sealed with the lipstick print of a girl's kiss.

Tacking in the wind on a summer day glorious for sailing.

Discovering after years of struggle that you can now eat a raw oyster without a struggle and with some pleasure.

Chasing a country tomboy through a summer meadow knee-high with whispering grass and loud with bees.

Signing a huge bill with your employer's name as his guest at his country club.

Pumping up a new basketball for a bunch of waiting kids.

The joy of coming back from an war, still pretty much in one piece.

Lolling in bed until noon on the first day of a long-awaited vacation.

Meeting a lovely smile in a sea of vacuous faces — like a flower in a garden gone to weeds.

Panting in victory after jogging a full mile in your 1973 physical rehabilitation program.

Checking up on yourself a month after you made your 12 New Year resolutions — and finding you've kept at least three of them.

The salty surprise of tasting your own blood after a buddy bops you on the nose during a friendly boxing bout.

Nudging your small child toward key piece that will help her complete her jigsaw puzzle.

Many Bypassing The Brokers

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 100 large corporations, many of them considered bluechips, now are offering direct purchase of their shares to some of the small investors whose business was scorned by brokers as unprofitable.

In the process, the companies offering the shares actually save time, money and a lot of paper work. And purchasers acquire their stock at a lower price than if they had gone to a broker.

The plans, which are offered only to current shareholders or new owners who purchase on the open market, are catching on strongly and may turn out to be the successors to the once popular monthly or quarterly investment plans offered by brokers.

As now constituted, most plans offer investors the opportunity to automatically reinvest their dividends in the company's stock. The money so earmarked is pooled and the shares usually bought at better prices and lower commissions than if transactions were handled individually.

In addition, shareholders may have the option of adding to their investments through voluntary cash payments that, under some plans, may range from $10 a month to a maximum of $1,000.

The advantages seem to accrue in both directions: the individual is assured of a regular investment program that takes advantage of low charges, and the company is spared the inconvenience of processing mail dividend checks.

The plans appear to be most advantageous to holders of shares in what are termed investment-grade companies, or those companies that are large, well known, mature and with records of fairly liberal dividend payments.

A casual examination of the list of companies offering plans reveals such well known names as American Brands, American Telephone & Telegraph, Dow Chemical, Grance & Co., Gulf Oil Pepsi Co. Inc., Quaker Oats and Union Carbide.

AT&T alone has about 225,000 of its three million shareholder enrolled, and the company estimates that 200,000 shares are purchased each quarter under the plan, thus helping to finance the company and support the price of its stock. Some observers maintain that such reinvestment plans may be the route to people's capitalism, once strongly promoted by brokers and stock exchanges.

Senator Expects Less Lobbying

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A veteran senator predicted today there will be less lobbying by state department heads during the 1973 General Assembly than ever before because "everybody seems satisfied with the proposed budget."

Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, serving his 10th term, said that for the first time since he came to the legislature, "we've got enough money to meet the state needs."

This, he said, will cut down on lobbying by state employees and department officials.

Scott, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the legislature is off to such a fast start that "we're shooting for May 1" as the date to wind up the session.

"The budget we've got for the next biennium is fair," he said.

Scott noted that in past legislative sessions there was considerable lobbying by state department heads in behalf of their money requests. This has drawn criticism from several lawmakers.

"We've used a lot while we're down here," said Sen. J. J. Harrington, D-Bertie. "I agree with Scott that there has been considerable lobbying by state employees in previous sessions. There should be less of it this time. Everybody seems to be quite pleased with the budget recommendations."

Sen. Joe Raynor, D-Cumberland, said, "Some lobbying is a necessity, but I don't think they should spend a lot of time at the legislative building at state expense. Many of these officials are paid $25,000 a year or more."

request of a legislator."

Scott said he likes "to hear the professional lobbyist's side and see what his problems are, but I want to hear from the other side, too."

Rep. Dwight Quinn, D-Cabarrus, said, "If there is a program a state department head wants for his department I see nothing wrong in his coming here and giving us his views. I wouldn't consider state employees and department heads lobbyists."

He added, "I feel that department or commission heads can often be helpful to members of the General Assembly."

Holshouser Asks ESAP Support

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser has urged North Carolina congressmen to work for special legislation to continue funding for the Emergency School Assistance Program.

In a letter to the congressmen, the governor pointed out that funding for the ESAP program ends Jan. 31, and the program intended to take its place, the Emergency School Aid Act, does not begin until July 1. The program in many North Carolina schools will lapse unless special legislation is passed.

"Being acquainted with the Emergency School Assistance program in our state, I can see problems which might develop should there be a lapse in funding," Holshouser wrote the congressmen shortly before he left for Washington to attend the inauguration of President Nixon for a second term.

Evans-Novak

administration's plan would back it.

Last week, with Phase III of the anti-inflation program out of the way, the President instructed Shultz to move full speed ahead on the extraordinarily complex question of international trade.

Even so, some White House advisers privately criticize the President and his White House staff for costly delays in shaping his trade program and getting it up to Congress.

Western European countries and Japan are now expected to start trade negotiations with the U.S. next September.

But with no tariff-cutting authority left over from the 1962 Kennedy round, Mr. Nixon's negotiators will have nothing to negotiate with unless Congress gives him new authority. Moreover, neither the President nor Shultz has yet given Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the most influential congressional voice on trade, any clear idea of what Mr. Nixon wants from the New Congress in the way of trade legislation.

Thus, the tentative decision to deal with the politically-hot issue of low-cost foreign competition by asking for temporary tariff-raising powers may mark the essential policy breakthrough.

which had accepted women have become involved.

The ACLU, taking up the fight, challenged the tax-exempt status of the Jaycees and federal grants received to finance Jaycee projects on the ground of sex discrimination.

Among the plaintiffs in the suit are two Rochester professional women whose membership in the local Jaycees was sponsored by their companies as a "corporate benefit," which gave them the "opportunity to develop and demonstrate their leadership abilities to the corporation and the community," according to the complaint.

The ACLU argued that the Jaycees had a moral and legal obligation to "extend membership and attendant leadership, civic, professional and business opportunities on an equal basis to men and women."

meeting in Winston-Salem next April, and the state convention in Charlotte in May. It will be on the agenda, too, when the Jaycee national convention is held in Minneapolis in June.

For the moment, Jaycee leaders are watching with great interest and awaiting the outcome of the court action, Morrison said.

"I'd be the first to say we will abide by the ruling of the court," said Morrison, an attorney and legal counsel to Gov. Jim Holshouser.

What bothers him about the possibility of women in the ranks is not so much the reaction among members as it is what wives and sweethearts would say.

"Some wives aren't too happy about Jaycees going off to meetings and conventions now," he remarked. "They sure wouldn't like it if they knew a bunch of women went along."

Rep. Ed McKnight, jr-Forsyth, agreed with Raynor, saying: "I'm seldom ever bothered by professional lobbyists. If they see you're busy they're not going to come into your office and take up time."

McKnight said that until the General Assembly restructured higher education in 1971 and changed the method of appropriating money to state-supported universities, "there was much lobbying by university officials. It was like a flying wedge at times in the legislature."

McKnight said that in the past state department heads and employees "took up much of our time. However, in all fairness I will say that in many instances they were here at the

Questions and Answers about Church Bonds:

- Q. What is a church bond?
A. A church bond is a note given as evidence of a debt. The church is the borrower, and the bond purchaser is the lender.
- Q. Is my money safe if invested in church bonds?
A. Yes. Church Bonds, issued through CAPITAL CHURCH BONDS, Inc., enjoy an enviable record of safety to the bondholder. These bonds are usually secured by a first mortgage on the property of the church just as any other real estate loan, and are further secured by a pledge of the first income of the church, plus the obligation of the members who support the church.
- Q. Are these bonds similar to other bonds on the market today?
A. Yes. They are very similar. Many corporations borrow money this way. Municipalities, as well as state and federal governments, borrow extensively by issuing bonds.
- Q. Where and how do I receive my interest?
A. Interest is collected by taking the coupons attached to the bonds to the bank for redemption on or after the due dates. Interest will be paid as though the coupon were a check drawn on the church.
- Q. Do I have to cash my bond at the bank indicated on the coupons and bond?
A. No. Usually you cash your coupons and your bonds at your own bank.
- Q. Can my bonds be replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed?
A. Yes.
- Q. Can I buy a bond even when I do not have the cash available?
A. Yes. If you can make monthly installment payments, you can buy a bond on the time payment plan. This usually requires a 10 percent down payment and can be financed over 36 months. The church can arrange for this loan.
- Q. Would you advise a person to take money out of a savings account or from other investments and put it in church bonds?
A. Yes. Some of your money may well be placed in church bonds to spread your investments at a high rate of interest. This is good business. Also, you may receive the added satisfaction that your money is now helping to build a church.
- Q. Is it possible for me to give my bonds to someone else?
A. Yes. Being "bearer" bonds, ownership is established simply by passing them on to another person as one would make a gift of money.

Overseas Fuel Oil Deliveries Won't Be Overnight Solution

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If your house was cold before President Nixon relaxed oil-import quotas, it may stay that way for much of the winter. And passenger and freight carriers now say they may have to reduce or cut off their services because of fuel shortages.

Oil-industry officials and congressional sources interviewed Thursday agreed that it will be up to three weeks before the first overseas deliveries of home-heating oil become available to consumers.

At the moment, sources said, a mad scramble is on among oil companies around the world for the purchase of available supplies.

No one is sure how much is available, so that will take some time to find out, they said. After that, more time will be needed for tanker ships to deliver the fuel from oil-producing countries to the East Coast.

Under intense congressional pressure, the Nixon administration Wednesday temporarily suspended import quotas on home-heating oil and increased by 51 per cent the quota for all imported oil.

Adding to the crisis, several transportation companies Thursday sent an urgent message to the Office of Emergency Preparedness saying that the transportation-fuel shortage could force interruption or elimination of freight and passenger service before the end of the month.

The industry groups said commercial suppliers already are reducing deliveries for trucks, trains, planes, mass-transit and intercity buses—in

Bobby Seale To Run For Mayor

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby Seale has taken the formal steps needed to run for Oakland mayor.

Seale submitted nominating petitions and paid a $200 filing fee Thursday for the municipal election April 17.

Seale told a news conference he would campaign on a platform of getting more jobs for minority citizens. He urged a "$2.3 million slush fund" to provide needed jobs and said "people have a right to a job without a skill."

most cases without adequate advance notice.

Meanwhile, Sen. Edward Kennedy announced introduction of legislation to suspend the import ceiling for home-heating oil through April 1, 1974, and crude-oil quotas for 90 days.

The legislation was backed by 28 other senators. An identical joint resolution was introduced in the House.

Dozens of congressmen and senators have for years blamed shortages on the quota program, established to diminish U.S. reliance on foreign sources of oil.

Widow Held On Moral Charges Fuel Oil Supply Compares Well

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Former belly dancer Tulah Hanley, a millionaire widow, has been ordered held for court on charges of maintaining a disorderly house and corrupting the morals of minors.

Mrs. Hanley, the widow of the late R. Edward Hanley Jr., an oil millionaire, was arrested last Oct. 18 after a police raid on a youth center she operated here.

Though police at the time refused comment on the specifics of the charges, Mrs. Hanley said they involved a 19-year-old girl who allegedly was entertaining visitors after hours at the club.

But a source among smaller suppliers terms that argument "a nice little window dressing."

He contends that the big oil companies such as Standard, Shell, Amoco and Phillips control the home-heating-oil market.

OEP Director George A. Lincoln has been trying since last summer to persuade the big refiners to turn out more heating oil. He says the higher profit margins on gasoline for automobiles is the reason they haven't pushed heating-oil production.

Demand last summer and fall for gasoline was particularly heavy and so the shortage of heating oil.

Hayley Mills Is Mother Of Son

LONDON (AP) — Hayley Mills, the 26-year-old British movie actress, has given birth to an 8-pound, 12-ounce son at Queen Charlotte Hospital.

"I'm happy to say he looks remarkably like Hayley," Roy Boulting, the 59-year-old husband of Miss Mills said following the birth Thursday night.

Boulting, a producer and director, and Miss Mills were married in May 1971.

Dorothy Lamour Under Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Dorothy Lamour is in good condition after undergoing plastic surgery for facial injuries suffered in a car accident, doctors say.

A spokesman for Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital said Miss Lamour, 55, suffered a badly cut lip and a broken nose when her car hit a lamp post in a shopping center parking lot.

MANY BUSINESSMEN ARE CAUGHT in a "profit squeeze" these days. The cost of operating a business is going up. Credit and collection problems may actually mean a loss in earnings.

ONE LOCAL BUSINESSMAN who operates his (or her) own business in your neighborhood is affected by the profit squeeze. The young carrier-salesman who delivers your newspaper every day can have collection problems too.

IT'S IMPORTANT TO your carrier to collect in full from every customer. When a customer is slow in paying, or asks the carrier to come back time after time, there's that much less profit for the carrier.

YOU CAN HELP these young businessmen avoid the "profit squeeze" by having your payment ready for your carrier on the very first call.

THANKS FOR HELPING.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices tumbled today, despite encouraging economic news and analysts attributed the decline to continuing uncertainty over the effect Phase 3 would have on inflation.

At 11:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.03 to 1020.09. Declines outnumbered advances by 7 to 4 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks was off .29 to 64.31 at 11 a.m., and the price-change index on the American Stock Exchange had slipped .03 to 26.33.

Pueblo International, off 5/8 to 5 1/2 after a block of 119,000 shares moved at 5%, topped the most active issues on the Big Board. Fairchild Industries, which had climbed 1 1/2 Thursday just before official announcement it had won the Air Force attack-plane contract, dipped 1/4 to 12%.

American Telephone, which has agreed to massive wage increases in the settlement of a job discrimination suit, was down 1 to 52. AT&T warrants followed, dropping 1/8 to 8 1/2.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF PROPERTY IN PITT COUNTY

The listing of property for tax purposes in Pitt County will begin January 2, 1973, and will continue through January 31, 1973. No extension may be granted unless the County Commissioners extend the listing period for all taxpayers.

Any person, firm or corporation owning property in this county as of January 1, 1973, whether real or personal, must list such property within the listing period or be subject to the penalties prescribed by North Carolina Law. Property must be listed in the township in which it is located.

Persons who requested to list by mail should receive their listing forms early in January. These must be completed and returned to the office of the Tax Supervisor before the deadline of January 31, 1973.

Bring your social security number and your motor vehicle registration cards with you when you come to list.

Owners and operators of parks or storage lots renting space for three or more horse trailers or mobile homes are required by law to furnish the Tax Supervisor of the county in which the lot is located, the name of the owner and a description of each trailer or mobile home situated thereon. This list must be submitted by January 15, of each year. Owners and operators failing to comply with the law shall be liable to payment of the tax in addition to a penalty of $250.00.

SENIOR CITIZEN'S EXEMPTION
North Carolina Law allows an exemption of $5000.00 from the appraised value of the principal place of residence of certain retired persons with a total annual income of not more than $3500.00. If you are 65 years of age, own your home, and your income is not more than $3500.00 you should inquire about this exemption at the time you list your tax, or contact the Tax Supervisor.

Buc Host Young Indians On Saturday

East Carolina University's Pirates, after a last-second 59-58 victory over highly regarded George Washington Wednesday, tries to make it two in a row as they entertain William and Mary. The game will be played in Minges Coliseum, starting at 8 p.m. On many schedules, the game appears as an away contest, but the two schools switched dates because of television commitments. The Williamsburg game is to be a part of a regional hookup later in the year.

As a preliminary, the East Carolina Junior Varsity will play a team made up of graduate students, starting at 5:45 p.m. Coach Tom Quinn, happy over the victory, said he feels it was one of the better ones of the year, and that the play of the Bucs in the first half was outstanding. "I was particularly impressed with the play of Jerome Owens," he said. "It was his best first half of the year. He moved the ball well, looked for his shots, found the open man and hustled against their press. His continued play like this can be our key. This is one thing we've been waiting on to happen, and it can mean a lot to us."

Quinn also noted that Al Faber played with an injury. "We thought at first that he'd broken a bone in his foot, but that didn't check out fortunately. He didn't practice on the day before the game, but his play was as spirited as I've seen."

The coach also singled out Earl Quash for his defensive job on top GW player Pat Tallent. "He's been drawing the assignment of going against the opposition's to score and has been doing a very good job for us. Tallent hit on eight shots, but he took 19."

The team defense in the first half also pleased the coach, along with the fact that the Bucs didn't foul a lot. "I'm also impressed by our ability to play in the clutch last night in the final minutes."

Quinn said he had no intention of slowing down the ball, but that George Washington came out in a different defense and it took a little while for the Bucs to adjust to it. "We wanted to go to four corners to see what their defense really looked like. And I just don't believe we attacked their half-court zone press like we could have."

The Pirates held a 15-point lead when the Colonials went into this defense, and lost their momentum and the Colonials came back, tying the score and then going ahead late in the game.

Saturday night, the Pirates are going to be facing a team that probably is one of the most talented in the Southern Conference in William & Mary.

"Not counting our own team, I think they have as good a talent as anyone, but it just doesn't have the experience the others have," Quinn said. A number of their players are freshmen and sophomores.

They include Mike Arizin, a 6-5 freshman, and the son of former NBA great Paul Arizin; Matt Courage, a 6-11 freshman; Tom Pflingst, a 6-4 sophomore, and Gary Byrd, a 6-6 sophomore. The only upperclassman in the starting lineup is George Spack, a 4-10 senior.

Arizin has been the leading scorer for the team, hitting at an 18.1 clip.

The Indians come into the game with only four wins in 13 outings, but Quinn feels that they have a coming program and are rapidly gaining the experience they need. "They've been giving some of their opposition some good games," he said. "They like to use a pressure defense and they play it well. Spack is a good floor leader, while Pflingst is a good shooting guard. And Arizin is going to be one of the top forwards in the conference."

The Pirates will be trying to improve their Southern Conference record in the game, and boost their overall record. Currently the Pirates sport a 2-4 league mark and a 6-6 overall mark.

Not including Wednesday's game, the Bucs stood fourth in the conference in offense and defense, averaging 73.5 points a game and allowing 76.2. William & Mary was third in offense, 76.0, but seventh in defense at 82.0. The Bucs were third in field goal percentage with 46.6 per cent while the Indians were sixth at 43.4. The Indians, however, lead the league in free throw percentage with a 79.1 mark. East Carolina stood second at 71.3.

In rebounding, the Pirates were picking off 55.9 per cent of the loose balls, and the Indians were getting only 37.0 per cent, seventh in the conference.

While Arizin stood fourth in scoring, Earl Quash at 15.1 was seventh. Steve Seward, an Indian reserve, was the third leading field goal percentage leader, while Arizin was second in free throws, with 58.3 and 85.9 percentages, respectively. Roger Atkinson stood fifth at the line with an 81.8 mark. Al Faber ranked seventh in rebounding with an 8.1 average.

William & Mary Leads Standings

ARLINGTON, Va. — Picking up where it left off last year the College of William and Mary is off to a flying start in retaining the Commissioner's Cup.

The Cup is awarded annually to the Southern Conference school with the best over all intercollegiate athletic record.

The Indians from Williamsburg have been most successful in the success of their overall athletic program. In the 1st year of competition for the Cup they share the trophy with East Carolina. The next two years they won it out right. At the conclusion of the fall sports William & Mary is again out in front with a 3½ point lead over East Carolina for the Fourth Annual Cup.

William & Mary has accumulated 21 points finishing first in cross country, 2nd in soccer, 3rd in football. The Pirates with 17½ points scored 1st in football and had two fourth place finishes in cross country and a tie in soccer.

In the number 3 spot is the Citadel with 13½ points. In 4th position is Davidson, followed by Furman, Appalachian, VMI and Richmond.

Championship winners were East Carolina in football, Appalachian in soccer and William and Mary in cross country.

Competition continued in basketball, indoor track, wrestling and rifle.

Pitt Tech Nips Wayne By 75-71

WINTERVILLE — Pitt Technical Institute gained a 75-71 victory over Wayne Community College last night in a hard-fought game.

The Paladins jumped out into a 5-0 lead before Wayne finally cracked the ice. Pitt then built its lead out to 10 points, 15-5 and finally to 11 at 21-10. By halftime, they had extended it by one more, to 12, at 37-25.

In the second half, however, Wayne came out in a pressing man-to-man defense, and slowly began to whittle away at the Paladins lead. They finally caught up at 12:00 in a 49-49 tie. From there until near the end, the two teams matched basket-for-basket.

However, near the end, foul trouble began to catch up with both teams, but Wayne suffered the most and Pitt gained enough room to take the victory.

The win was the fourth in seven starts for the Paladins.

Charles Jordan led the Paladins scoring with 21, while Frank Brown had 20 and Richard Harrison had 15. For Wayne, D. Thompson had 19. R. Thompson had 13 and Hill had 10.

Pitt Tech goes to James Sprunt on Monday.

Oakmont Drops 1st

Immanuel Baptist knocked Oakmont Baptist off the top of the Church Basketball League last night with a 52-21 victory. It was the first loss for Oakmont, now 4-1. Immanuel boosted its record to 5-1 with the victory.

Black Jack leads the league as the last unbeaten, 4-0.

In the first half, the game was decided as Immanuel ran out a 29-14 lead. Oakmont tried to rally in the second half, outshooting Immanuel, 29-23, but they couldn't pull back enough.

Drew Rumbley led Immanuel with 14 points, while David Hahn had 11 and Dick Evans has 10. For Oakmont, Bob Hall had 19.

Highwaymen To Hold Lead

State Highway remained atop the Industrial Basketball League with a 53-40 victory over Prepshirt last night. In the other games, Empire Brush edged Union Carbide, 62-50, while Greenville Utilities ripped Vermont American, 78-63.

In the opener, State Highway, now 5-0, moved out into a slim 23-22 lead at the end of the first half. In the second, however, they outscored Prepshirt by 30-18, to take the victory.

Smith Worthington led the Highwaymen with 14, while Bobby Edwards had 13 and Clyde Elks had 12. C. Gray had 16 and William Johnson had 10 for Prepshirt.

In the second game, Greenville Utilities rushed out to a 44-26 in the first half, and was never in trouble. Vermont American outthit them, 37-34, in the second half, but couldn't overcome the big lead. Don Chase led Greenville Utilities with 29 points while Zeno Smith had 20, Henry Crumble had 16 and James Warden had 10. For Vermont American, Garland Warren had 25 and C. McGowan had 14.

Empire Brush eased into a 30-26 lead in the first half of its game, then came back to outthit Union Carbide, 22-24, in the second half to claim the victory.

J. Parker led Empire Brush with 18 points, while D. Nichols had 16 and E. Coburn had 12. For Union Carbide, L. Boyd had 20 and S. Daniels had 10.

Little Mint Wins Again

The Little Mint continued to roll along in the Ladies Basketball League last night, mowing down Beltone, 49-26. In the other game, R.B. Jr.-Fleetway won its first game, taking a forfeit over Azalea.

The victory left Little Mint with a 3-0 record, while the rest of the league is all 1-2.

The Little Mint jumped into the lead early and by halftime had all they needed, taking a 33-12 intermission advantage.

Judy Peele led Little Mint with 12, while Peggy Morrisette had 11. Sandy Barnhill had 12 to pace Beltone.

Chicod In Two Wins

CHICOD — Chicod Junior High School took a pair of games from G.R. Whitfield earlier this week.

In the girls' game, Chicod took a 27-6 victory. Chicod was led by Barbara Heath with eight points.

Chicod won the boys game by 25-24. Hyman Chapman had 12 to pace Chicod, while Dexter Clemmons had 13 for Whitfield.

Pearson Grabs Western Pole

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — David Pearson and Bobby Allison started seven major stock car races last year sitting beside each other in the front row. They'll be back together for Sunday's 1973 opener.

Pearson, a 38-year-old pro from Spartanburg, S.C., winner of six races and $137,000 in 1972, set a track record of sorts Thursday when he won the pole position for the Winston Western 500 in his Glen Wood Mercury.

His speed of 110.856 miles per hour for the eight-turn, 2.62-mile Riverside International Raceway was the fastest for a stock car since Parnelli Jones was clocked at 113.310 m.p.h. in 1970.

Since then, however, the Grand National stockers of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing have been gently slowed by the mandatory use of carburetor restriction devices.

Allison, also 38 and last year's top money winner with $284,467, won the other front row spot in a Chevrolet he built himself. His 12 triumphs last year were in a car owned by ex-driving great Junior Johnson.

"Parnelli may have gone three miles an hour faster three years ago," an elated Pearson said after his 1:25.063 circuit. "But he didn't have all that restrictor stuff under the hood. I consider my fast lap today a record, and I hope they'll recognize it."

Allison, who now ranks No. 2 behind Richard Petty in NASCAR's all-time prize money list, toured the course at 110.103 m.p.h.

"That's right where I wanted to be," Allison said of his front row spot. "Of course 500 miles is a lot of driving on a road course, but when you start at the top end, everybody else has to catch up."

Hershel McGriff, a 45-year-old grandfather from Bridal Veil, Ore., was the third best qualifier in a Dodge purchased from Petty at the end of the 1972 season. His speed of 109.123 m.p.h. placed him beside 1972 Indianapolis 500 winner Mark Donohue.

Donohue, making an infrequent start in a stock car but more familiar with road courses than the oval-track NASCAR regulars, qualified an American Motors Matador at 108.738 m.p.h.

Petty, Bobby Isaac, Bobby Unser, Cale Yarborough, Buddy Baker and Benny Parsons also qualified in the top 10.

Fifteen more starters were to be added today, with the final 10 spots to be filled Saturday.

after another victory, says Virginia Military Institute's Keydets rattled his league-leading Paladins in a Southern Conference game, but only briefly.

"It was all a matter of us settling down and using our abilities," Williams said after Furman had chewed up VMI 86-49 Thursday night in a conference battle.

"We didn't expect VMI to be a pushover, and they weren't," he explained. "But we did get a little rattled at first."

Even Furman's Fessor "Moose" Leonard, the 7-foot-1 sophomore ace who has scored 259 points in 13 games, was slowed—but only slightly.

He led Furman, as usual, with 18 points, which dropped his per game average from 20.1 to 19.2.

VMI Coach Bill Blair says he had a great game plan to beat the Paladins, now 4-0 in conference play.

"Unfortunately, it included no turnovers and no missed free throws," he said, adding rather matter of factly: "We didn't make it, but we tried."

VMI, fourth in the conference before the loss Thursday night, now holds a 2-2 record and is 4-9 over-all.

The Citadel Bulldogs came face-to-face Thursday night with one of the most aggressive if not winning teams in the conference—Appalachian State. The Bulldogs were stunned 78-75.

Once again, it was Stan Davis who did the job for the Mountaineers. Appalachian has won only twice in 13 starts, but Davis is an alert player with an eye for the ball and it was his perceptive playing which saved the game for the Mountaineers.

Davis came up with a key steal with 10 seconds left in overtime and preserved a the win over the Bulldogs.

Davis, the league's leading scorer until Richmond's Aron Stewart passed him up, now has 313 points in 13 games for an average of 24 points per game and a good hold on second place in the scoring race.

Stewart, a junior college transfer, has given the Richmond Spiders a shot in the arm with his 28-point average.

All other Southern Conference teams were idle Thursday night.

No conference games are on tap for tonight, but there will be plenty of action on the courts Saturday night with three battles scheduled.

William & Mary, 1-4 in the conference, will visit East Carolina, now 2-4.

The Citadel hosts Furman, and Richmond, with a 2-3 conference record, will travel to Davidson with hopes of up-setting its perfect 3-0 record.

McAdoo Sparks Buffalo Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob McAdoo thinks he has finally gotten it together. The Buffalo Brave rookie scored a season high 32 points in leading Buffalo to a 127-125 National Basketball Association victory over Atlanta Thursday night.

McAdoo said after he scored above 20 points in his last 12 games, "I think 'Im finally coming around. It's just a matter of time. I'm getting more confidence all the time."

The Braves needed two foul shots by Howard Komives after the final buzzer to wrap up the victory. Komives was fouled by Herm Gilliam at the buzzer. Walt Bellamy paced Atlanta with 32 points, followed by Lou Hudson with 30.

In other NBA action, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings trounced the Phoenix Suns 119-96.

In the American Basketball Association, the Kentucky Colonels defeated the Memphis Tams 104-100, the Virginia Squires edged Denver 106-100 and the Indiana Pacers stopped the Dallas Chaparrals 116-109.

Big George McGinnis, accused by Dallas Coach Babe McCarthy of being allowed to stay in the lane too long, scored 31 points and snatched 18 rebounds in leading the Pacers to victory. McCarthy said, "There is no doubt that he is one of the greatest offensive rebounders in basketball, so when he gets that much time in the lane how are you going to beat him?"

Bill Keller added 27 points, 10 in the final quarter, to insure the victory for the Pacers.

Dan Issel scored 28 points and teammate Louie Dampier added 25 to lead the Kentucky Colonels to victory over Memphis. The Tams managed to score but one point over the last 5½ minutes of the first period on their way to their seventh straight loss. George Thompson paced the Tams with 20 points.

Paced by a 32-point, 14-rebound performance by the Doctor, Julius Erving, the Virginia Squires stopped the Denver Rockets. Just when it seemed as though Dallas would rally and pull the game out, the Doctor hit 7 out of 8 free throws in the last 46 seconds to stave off the rally single-handedly.

Duke, Carolina Take Back Seat To Nixon Inauguration Program

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
Football fan Richard Nixon's inauguration for a second term as President Saturday has influenced the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball schedule.

The Duke at North Carolina game, to be televised regionally, has been set for 4 p.m., instead of the customary 1:30 starting time to avoid conflict with the telecast of the big doings in Washington.

Two games at night round out Saturday's schedule. North Carolina State, unbeaten and No. 2 nationally, plays the battered Tigers at Clemson, S.C., and Maryland meets Navy at Norfolk, Va.

N.C. State at 102 points, has the nation's top scoring average.

Coach Norman Sloan's N.C. State Wolfpack, 3-0 in the league and 12-0 overall after its classic victory at Maryland last Sunday, leads the ACC. Defending champion North Carolina is second at 2-0. The Tar Heels, beaten only by N.C. State, in the Big Four Tournament five weeks ago at Greensboro, N.C., has won its last eight games and is 14-1.

Maryland, No. 3 nationally, one place ahead of North Carolina, is third in the conference at 2-1. Virginia, idle for 10 days, is fourth at 2-2. Then come Wake Forest, 1-2; Duke 1-3; and Clemson, 0-3.

Duke, after losing three conference road games, has scratched out tough victories over Clemson and Davidson in its last two games, each in the closing seconds, to level its record at 7-7.

Over the years, the Duke-North Carolina rivalry, whatever the sport, has produced some historic struggles. Basketball has been no exception.

Although North Carolina has finished first over the regular season conference campaign in five of the last six years, the Tar Heels have had trouble convincing Duke. The overall series between the schools stands 66-58 in North Carolina's favor.

For the last five full seasons North Carolina has a 53-15 record for regular season play against the ACC, but is only 5-5 with Duke, splitting the series annually.

Overall during that stretch, the Tar Heels have beaten their neighborhood rivals in nine of 14 meetings, twice in the ACC tournament, once in the Big Four Tournament and two years ago in the semifinals of

Ayden-Grifton Snaps Losing String, 59-43

LITTLEFIELD — Ayden-Grifton snapped its two-game losing streak with a 59-43 victory over the North Pitt Panthers last night, but the 65-game winning streak of the North Pitt girls was extended to 66, 57-37.

The Big Orange Machine ground out another victory, its 11th of the year without a loss, in the game. The Pant-HERS pushed out into an 11-5 lead in the first period and were never in trouble after that. They outthit the Chargerettes, 14-6, in the second period, and held a 25-11 halftime lead.

In the third period, North Pitt continued to pull away, pushing through 20 points while Ayden-Grifton got... 15. That left the Orange in a 45-36 lead. The Pant-HERS continued to hold the lead, 12-11, in the final period to wrap it up.

Joy James led the North Pitt scoring with 19, while Minnie Hollis had 16 and Phyllis Jenkins had 12. Decia Little led the Chargerette scoring with 13.

In the boys' game, Ayden-Grifton ran up a five point spread in the first period and never trailed again. By the end of the period, they were ahead, 15-10, and they outthit the Panthers, 18-10 in the second frame. That left the Chargers ahead, 33-20 at intermission.

The third period saw Ayden-Grifton again outscore the Panthers, 16-10, and extend their lead to 49-30. They allowed a slight come back in the final period as North Pitt outthit them, 13-10, but it didn't affect the outcome.

Melvin Stewart led the victory hitting 21 for the Chargers, while Danny Garris had 13 and Milton Brown got 11. For North Pitt, Joe Wright and Billy Perkins each had 10.

Greene Central Stops Southern

DUDLEY — Greene Central High School split a pair of games with hosting Southern Wayne here last night. The Rams won the boys' game, 62-53, while the Southern girls won their outing, 45-32.

In the opener, Greene Central offered a mild threat in the first half, taking a 6-4 lead. But Southern came back with a 17-12 advantage in the second quarter and took a 21-18 lead at intermission. In the third quarter, Southern Wayne continued to pull away from the Ewes, 14-5, building the lead out to 35-23. The Saintes outthit Greene in the final period, 10-9, to wrap it up.

No one on either team hit double figures.

In the boys' game, the Rams jumped out to an early lead and used it to gain the victory. They outthit Southern in the first quarter, 17-9, and the margin changed very little from there on out. Both teams tossed in 15 points in the second quarter and the Rams led at the half, 32-24.

In the third quarter, it was again basket-for-basket, as each hit 14 points. That made it 46-38. The Rams outthit the Saints, 16-15, in the final quarter of the game to insure the victory. Ervin Spivey led the Rams with 18 points, while Moses Barron followed with 16. For Southern Wayne, Earshell Loftin had 17 and Leonard Pearsall had 15.

Courage Key To Foreman's Hopes

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — George Foreman's hopes of wrestling the world heavyweight boxing crown from Joe Frazier depends on his courage, predicts Joe Louis.

"If Foreman gets tagged, will he get up and keep fighting—that's what I want to know," the Brown Bomber said after flying in from London Thursday night for Monday's title fight at Kingston's National Stadium.

"I gotta give the kid a shot. If he's got a left hand, he's got an awfully good chance."

A wave of excitement swept this sub-tropical island when the heavyweight great of the 1930s and 1940s disembarked at the Kingston Airport and checked into the fight headquarters.

"There's Joe Louis—Hey, Joe!" fans yelled. "You were the greatest, Joe!"

Taxi drivers and doormen treated him like a prince and people on the streets and in lobbies swarmed around him for small talk and autographs.

Joe, wearing a red shirt and red-checked sports coat appeared embarrassed.

"It was the same way in London," he told a friend. "You would have thought I just became champion."

Louis was in London for the Joe Bugner-Rudy Lubbers fight, won by Bugner who will meet Muhammad Ali at Las Vegas on Feb. 14.

The Brown Bomber, 58, showing little effects of the illness that beset him a few years ago, acknowledged that he had never seen Foreman fight in the flesh, only on television.

"But I know he is five years younger than Frazier, that he's four inches taller and has a five-inch longer reach," Joe said. "He's proved he can hit and he's never lost a fight as a pro."

"You don't need experience to beat Frazier. He's always there in front of you. He's coming straight at you all the time. All Frazier has is strength, no finesse."

"You don't have to worry about out-thinking him, the way you would Cassius Clay, how to work him in the corner or get him on the ropes. He's out there to be hit."

"But you've got to be in condition. You've got to be ready to go three minutes every round. Frazier won't ever stop throwing punches."

Louis said that if Foreman shows him an effective left hand in workouts, he may be inclined to lay a bet on him to take the title.

"I'd want odds," he added. "Maybe 4-to-1. But in this fight, no telling what will happen. Foreman is young and strong. Frazier hasn't fought anybody in two years."

McAdoo Sparks Buffalo Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob McAdoo thinks he has finally gotten it together. The Buffalo Brave rookie scored a season high 32 points in leading Buffalo to a 127-125 National Basketball Association victory over Atlanta Thursday night.

McAdoo said after he scored above 20 points in his last 12 games, "I think 'Im finally coming around. It's just a matter of time. I'm getting more confidence all the time."

The Braves needed two foul shots by Howard Komives after the final buzzer to wrap up the victory. Komives was fouled by Herm Gilliam at the buzzer. Walt Bellamy paced Atlanta with 32 points, followed by Lou Hudson with 30.

In other NBA action, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings trounced the Phoenix Suns 119-96.

In the American Basketball Association, the Kentucky Colonels defeated the Memphis Tams 104-100, the Virginia Squires edged Denver 106-100 and the Indiana Pacers stopped the Dallas Chaparrals 116-109.

Big George McGinnis, accused by Dallas Coach Babe McCarthy of being allowed to stay in the lane too long, scored 31 points and snatched 18 rebounds in leading the Pacers to victory. McCarthy said, "There is no doubt that he is one of the greatest offensive rebounders in basketball, so when he gets that much time in the lane how are you going to beat him?"

Bill Keller added 27 points, 10 in the final quarter, to insure the victory for the Pacers.

Dan Issel scored 28 points and teammate Louie Dampier added 25 to lead the Kentucky Colonels to victory over Memphis. The Tams managed to score but one point over the last 5½ minutes of the first period on their way to their seventh straight loss. George Thompson paced the Tams with 20 points.

Paced by a 32-point, 14-rebound performance by the Doctor, Julius Erving, the Virginia Squires stopped the Denver Rockets. Just when it seemed as though Dallas would rally and pull the game out, the Doctor hit 7 out of 8 free throws in the last 46 seconds to stave off the rally single-handedly.

Death Penalty Reinstated By N.C. Supreme Court

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A ruling by the state Supreme Court has reinstated the death penalty in North Carolina.

However, the court said Thursday that "North Carolina's mandatory death penalty for rape, murder in the first degree, burglary in the first degree and arson may not be constitutionally applied to any offense committed prior to the date of this decision but shall be applied to any offense committed after such date."

The ruling was made by a divided court as it threw out a provision of the law which permitted juries in capital cases to recommend life imprisonment.

The court's opinion came in the case of James Howard Wadell, a black convicted in Sampson County over a year ago of rape and sentenced to die. The court's decision means he will get a life sentence instead.

The state's highest court based its decision on a ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court last summer which held that the death sentence as carried out in many states constituted cruel and unusual punishment and was unconstitutional.

Associate Justice J. Frank Huskins, who wrote the majority opinion for the state court, said a reading of the U.S. Supreme Court decision "compel(s) the conclusion that capital punishment has not been declared unconstitutional per se."

Huskins said the high court decision "holds that the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments will no longer tolerate the infliction of the death sentence if either judge or jury is permitted to impose that sentence as a matter of discretion."

According to Huskins, the punishment for rape has been death in North Carolina for almost 200 years. He noted that since 1949, the General Assembly has defeated 17 bills to abolish or limit the imposition of the death penalty. He noted that a constitution adopted in 1970 authorized the General Assembly to pass laws imposing the death penalty for murder, arson, burglary and rape.

Huskins also held that the portion of the law which provides the death penalty for these crimes can be separated from the portion of the law which formerly allowed juries to recommend life imprisonment in capital cases.

And, he wrote, "we hold that the effect of the Furman decision upon the law of North Carolina concerning the punishment for rape, murder in the first degree, arson and burglary in the first degree is this: 'Upon the trial of any defendant so charged, the trial judge may not instruct the jury that it may in its discretion add to its verdict of guilty a recommendation that defendant be sentenced to life imprisonment ... Upon the return of a verdict of guilty of any such offense, the court must pronounce a sentence of death.'

The state court handed down a total of five opinions in dealing with the case.

In addition to Huskins' opinion, Chief Justice William H. Bobbitt wrote one concurring in part and dissenting in part; Associate Justice Susie Sharp wrote one agreeing with Bobbitt; Associate Justice I. Beverly Lake concurred with the majority decision; and Associate Justice Carlisle Higgins concurred in the result.

Bobbitt wrote that "in their directive that death shall be the sole and exclusive punishment for all crimes of first degree murder, rape, first degree burglary and arson committed after the filing of this decision, the majority, in my view, have assumed to act in a legislative rather than in a judicial capacity."

Ask Curbs On Chairmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill of rights for House members that would sharply limit the power of committee chairmen has been approved by a Democratic reform panel.

The proposal would place control of each committee in the hands of its Democratic majority, ending the one-man rule exercised in the past by some chairmen.

Its approval by the House Democratic Caucus next Monday would be a significant step in the effort to make House leadership more responsive to all members which has been taking place in the opening weeks of Congress.

Another proposal due to be acted on at the next caucus would require the confirmation of each chairman by a majority of the entire Democratic membership of the House.

The bill of rights was approved Thursday by a special committee headed by Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, D-Wash., that was created by the caucus to recommend changes in House procedures.

It would take away the power now wielded by many chairmen to fix the jurisdiction of subcommittees, set their budgets and schedule hearings. All such decisions would be made by majority vote of the committee's Democrats.

In the House, the normal legislative committee has about 22 Democratic members, of whom only six or seven are subcommittee chairmen. Under the Hansen committee proposal junior members thus would have a voice in determining committee actions.

A few committees have already adopted such rules but most are still under tight control by chairmen and senior members.

Standards For Mailing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those petite party invitations and oversized envelopes are feeling the pinch of automation and—if the Postal Service gets its way—may cost more to mail.

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen announced a series of recommendations on Thursday to put a surcharge on extra large or small envelopes.

The recommendations, which must be approved by the independent Postal Rate Commission, would apply to airmail and first-class mail weighing one ounce or less and single-piece third-class mail weighing two ounces or less.

The odd-sized envelopes can't be sorted automatically and, therefore, are much more expensive to process, says the Postal Service.

The recommendations were presented in an attempt to revise the mail system's complicated system of rate classification. More recommendations are expected in the future.

The proposals made by Klassen stop short of any fundamental change in the current system. Most of the recommendations are designed to raise rates on costly mail processing or encourage big-business mailers to make changes that will simplify sorting and delivery.

Resorts To Divorce So Wife Can Get Benefits

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Ruth Thomas is 45 and dying, unaware that the man she married at the age of 13 is suing her for divorce in an attempt to regain the welfare benefits which she lost.

"If I were real poor or real rich I could take care of my wife," said Howard Thomas, a 49-year-old steelworker. "I work hard for a living and this is what happens ... There is no other answer."

"I'm going to get a divorce in order to help my wife. I love her but I'm at the end of my rope."

The divorce, which becomes final in about 10 days, will allow his wife to qualify for benefits because she will then be without any means of support, Thomas said.

Last November the state Division of Family Services, which administers the federal Medicaid program in Florida, cut off the $117 monthly payment Thomas had been receiving for his wife.

Mrs. Thomas is confined to a nursing home suffering from advanced stages of multiple sclerosis, an incurable debilitating disease. The nursing home cost is $500 a month.

State officials said they had made a mistake 17 months earlier in ruling Thomas eligible for the program. Thomas said he was told his monthly income of $550 was $123 above the maximum amount a person can earn and still qualify for Medicaid benefits.

Yet without that assistance he can't afford to keep his wife in the nursing home, where she has amassed a $2,000 bill he can't pay, Thomas said. The couple has six children, including one aged 5 and another 11 who are staying with married sisters.

"I can't help but feel guilty about it, but there was nothing

The Worry Clinic Driving Force In Competition

Adam is the type of rugged parishioner who competes in business to gain a profit. And competitive American profits have financed all our churches, schools, colleges, hospitals and luxurious living standards. So beware of anti-establishment clergymen!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE W-503: Adam F., aged 34, is an automobile salesman. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I finished college and even took one year in Notre Dame's Law School.

"But nobody ever had explained to me the difference between this Republic vs. a Democracy until you did it in your column!

"Also, I admire the way you defend advertising, selling and our American 'free enterprise' system.

"A lot of sissy liberals now condemn our economy and say the profit system is all wrong.

"In fact, a bishop in my own church recently addressed our entire congregation, saying:

"What horror has the world come to when it uses profit as the prime incentive in human progress!

"And competition as the supreme law of economics!"

"Dr. Crane, why do churchmen seem to be devoid of understanding of human psychology?"

Myopic Ministers
Business is a game, much like football, golf, bowling, etc.

It has certain rules of fair play that must be obeyed, or Uncle Sam will act as the umpire and figuratively throw a player off the field.

But in all games, competition furnishes the zest and motive force!

Rivalry is the essence of our American system!

And the goal in every game is to beat the opposing team by running up a better score!

All virile clergymen thus should zealously try to increase their memberships each year and zoom the contributions of money from their parishioners!

"Profits" in business competition are even more essential "scores" than touchdowns in football!

For business firms cannot play tie games, where there are no dividends!

Business MUST win, since defeat means bankruptcy!

"Profit or Loss" in our superb "free enterprise" system means dividends vs. bankruptcy!

Analyze the living standards of Socialistic Britain and Communist Russia or China. They veto profits, and regard advertising or selling as "capitalistic vices."

Winston Churchill said the real vice is business losses!

How many of our bleeding heart do-gooders try to emigrate from America to Russia, China or even England to live? Why? Because even our poor people in America enjoy luxuries limited to the ruling classes in Russia and China!

And Russia now admits the virtue of our capitalistic (competitive) system, for her athletes are goaded to WIN. Such "winning" is synonymous with "profits" in business!

Russia is thus very inconsistent in striving to obtain Olympic gold medals, while refusing to admit that very same evidence of victory (profits) in business competition!

Furthermore, Russian and British systems, violate basic laws of psychology, for virile people have an inherent possessive trait that makes them want to gain and then hold on to their winnings!

Many clergymen who now preach Communist ideas, have so little competitive spirit they need big shots of testosterone! They lack St. Paul's competitive spirit!

Bishop Sheen, Dr. Peale and

Billy Graham certainly don't show "horror . . . at the profit

Saturday's program of music for children at the Sheppard Memorial Library is going to be one with a number of music makers providing a wide variety of music.

From 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. in the Children's Room, sisters of Sigma Alpha Iota of East Carolina University will give a program of vocal and instrumental music. The sorority is a professional one for women.

Also, a mystery student will be on hand, dressed in a costume influenced by a character in a favorite children's book, Winnie The Pooh.

The children's music programs at the library are coordinated by Camp Price, a student in the ECU School of Music.

Public TV Will Weigh Turn To Private Funds

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The board of the Public Broadcasting Service is holding an emergency meeting next week to weigh support for a nationwide public television hookup — financed without federal funds.

The idea stems from last week's resolution by the presidentially appointed board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting to take over programming decisions formerly made in large part by PBS.

In past years, CPB, created by the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967, mainly served to pass on congressional appropriations to PBS while rarely rejecting its national program recommendations.

The corporation now is asserting its decision-making power in the wake of complaints by the White House and some congressmen concerning the objectivity and balance of some PBS public-affairs programs.

PBS officials, who say they fear the corporation may become increasingly less responsive to the requests of public television stations, now are moving to see if there are ways to exist without federal funds.

PBS currently is asking officials at the nation's 233 public television stations if they approve of PBS plans to study "alternative means of funding a national interconnection which would be directly controlled by the stations."

PBS officials say this would be a nationwide public television hookup financed by other than federal funds — money from foundations, private and public contributions and so forth.

They say it would permit the broadcasting of some public-affairs shows and other programs — paid for without federal funds — on a system that isn't financed by the federal tax dollars now provided by CPB.

If that becomes the case, would PBS still need the approval of the parent corporation for the shows? Robert F. Shennkan, board chairman of PBS, doesn't think so.

"I don't think it would be a concern of the corporation since it would not involve their money," said Shennkan, head of KLRN-TV, a public television station in Austin, Tex.

The full 19-member PBS board will see what support it has for its new network proposal when it meets Jan. 24 in San Diego, Calif.

Is there now anything in the Public Broadcasting Act that bars public television stations from setting up a national hookup that doesn't depend on federal funds?

"No," Shennkan said. "As a matter of fact, as I read the legislation, it really encourages the corporation to assist others in setting up such systems."

Pass Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣
Failure by East to communicate with his partner on defense resulted in West's failing to obtain the ruff required to send South's five heart contract down to defeat.

The auction was highly competitive and West's jump to five diamonds over three hearts was well calculated. He was unwilling to defend against the opponents game and by taking a premature sacrifice, he hoped to put the other side to a guess. North was unwilling to settle for a small profit on the deal and he persisted to five hearts.

West opened the deuce of clubs and the queen was played from dummy. East followed with the three and South with the five. A heart was led to the ten and West was in with the ace. It was his desire to get East in at this point so that he might obtain a club ruff.

With no clue other than the bidding to guide him, West chose to lead the jack of diamonds in the hope that East's raise was based on the ace of that suit and the latter would be induced to grab the lead to return a club. South, however, won the return and after drawing the remaining trump, he established dummy's club suit with a single ruff and conceded one more trick to the opposition—in spades.

The contract could have been defeated if West had shifted to a spade instead of a diamond when he was in. "There was no way I could tell you, partner," was East's comment at the conclusion of the deal. "I had no chance to signal."

This statement was not actually true. The lead directing convention provides that when a defender follows with an unnecessarily high card [which is clearly not a normal come-on signal] he is calling for the lead of the higher ranking of the two remaining suits—not counting trumps. [The play of an unnecessarily low card in these circumstances, requests the lower ranking suit.]

Since East can clearly read his partner's club lead as a singleton, he should drop the jack of clubs under North's queen. This is obviously not a request to continue clubs. It must, therefore, constitute a message to partner that East can be reached in spades, the higher ranking side suit. When West gains the lead with the ace of hearts, he does not have to guess how to put his partner in.

Mazda introduces the 24/24 warranty.

Mazda's rotary is the engine of the future. It has fewer moving parts, so there's less to go wrong. That's why Mazda warrants the basic rotary engine block and its internal parts to be free of defects, with normal use and maintenance, for 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first or Mazda will fix it for free. Mazda warrants the rest of the vehicle for 12 months, or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first. So come in today and check out our 5 new models for 1973. All equipped with a rotary engine. And a 24/24 rotary-engine warranty.
