

International Conference Called No Laos, Cambodia Peace Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington and Hanoi unveiled today the details of an intricate peace package that limits an impending cease-fire to South Vietnam without insuring a halt to fighting among contending factions in Cambodia and Laos.

A 12-page agreement, to be signed Saturday in Paris before the Vietnam cease-fire takes effect at 7 p.m., EST, that day, does call for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese and other troops from Laos and Cambodia.

"The internal affairs of Cambodia and Laos," said the document, "shall be settled by the people of each of these countries without foreign interference."

In essence, the agreement and four accompanying diplomatic documents, called protocols, drew close to a Washington-Hanoi draft agreement made known last Oct. 26—the day when Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's chief negotiator, proclaimed that "peace is at hand."

The settlement package calls for a four-power international control commission force of 1,160 persons to go to South Vietnam as a peace-keeping unit. The number contrasted with the original Hanoi demand for a ceiling of 250 personnel and an American suggestion of 5,000.

Despite the imminence of the cease-fire, Communist attacks in South Vietnam doubled overnight. South Vietnamese claimed the Communists were trying for last-minute gains before the truce takes effect.

The agreement disclosed for the first time that both the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union are proposed as participants in an international conference to be held within 30 days to try to guarantee that the peace plan works.

Other conference participants being proposed by the United States and North Vietnam are France, the United Kingdom, the four countries of the international control commission—Hungary, Canada, Indonesia and Poland—and the secretary-general of the United Nations. Hanoi and Washington also would participate.

The formal agreement declares that the South Vietnamese people have an inalienable right to self-determination and "shall decide themselves the political future of South Vietnam through genuinely free and democratic general elections under international supervision."

The South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong are barred by the agreement from "all hostile acts, terrorism and reprisals" once the cease-fire begins. Another section bars "discrimination against individuals or organizations that have collaborated with one side or the other."

To help shape South Vietnam's political future a National Council of National Reconciliation and Concord will be set up with equal representation given to the Saigon regime, the Viet Cong and neutral parties.

"The council shall operate on the principle of unanimity," the document said.

The agreement envisions signing by the Saigon government and Viet Cong of their own accord on internal matters, hopefully within 90 days following the cease-fire.

The nine-year-old demilitarized zone between North and South was recognized as "only provisional and not a political or territorial boundary." The agreement envisions ultimate reunification of Vietnam on the basis of a North-South settlement, "without coercion or annexation by either party."

As expected, the settlement includes a vaguely worded promise of future American aid to the Hanoi government.

It said: "The United States anticiated that this agreement will usher in an era of reconciliation with the Democratic Republic of Vietnam as with all people of Indochina. In pursuance of its traditional policy, the United States will contribute to healing the wounds of war and to postwar reconstruction of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and throughout Indochina." The Saturday ceremony in Paris calls for the signing of two separate but virtually identical documents, major differences being in the preamble section.

One document will be signed by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and by North Viet- (Continued on page 12)

Accord Will End War On Saturday President Reports 'Peace With Honor'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, claiming all conditions for "peace with honor" have been met, has announced agreement on a Vietnam accord that will end America's longest war on Saturday. In a television-radio address to the nation Tuesday night, Nixon did not specify whether the Washington-Hanoi pact, initiated Tuesday in Paris and due for signing there Saturday, would end the fighting in Laos and Cambodia as well as Vietnam.

Nor did he detail the peace-keeping machinery or the formula for settling South Vietnam's political future.

These and other questions presumably would be answered, at least in part, with the release today of the text of the agreement and an assortment of associated diplomatic documents.

Hailed by South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu, and announced in bald terms by Hanoi radio, the peace pact as Nixon outlined it calls for:

—An internationally-supervised cease-fire to take effect at 7 p.m. EST Saturday.

—Release of all American war prisoners within 60 days thereafter, "the fullest possible accounting" for all missing in action, and—during the same period—withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam.

Nixon asserted that the agreement, initiated by aide Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho, meets all conditions "that we considered essential for peace with honor."

The chief executive, without going into detail, declared:

"The people of South Vietnam have been guaranteed the right to determine their own future, without outside interference."

All during the decade-long conflict that claimed 350,000 American casualties, this in essence was the major stated goal of U.S. policy.

One who stood by that goal to the point of retiring from the presidency as the war generated increasing homefront dissent was the late Lyndon B. Johnson, whose body was being flown here today to lie in state under the Capitol dome. Of his Democratic predecessor, Nixon said:

"In his life President Johnson endured the vilification of those who sought to portray him as a man of war. But there was nothing he cared about more deeply than achieving a lasting peace in the world ... No one would have welcomed this peace more than he."

Nixon emphasized, in his 11-minute address from the White House, that the United States "will continue to recognize the government of the Republic of Vietnam as the sole legitimate government of South Vietnam."

Nixon's announcement drew quick response from Capitol Hill. Many members of Congress contended that the same peace terms had been available three months ago. Republicans on both sides of the war debate praised the President. But members of both parties were happy that the end is in sight.

Legislation Is Being Readied For Issuing Of School Bonds

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation calling for a statewide vote on issuance of $300 million in state bonds for school construction is being prepared for introduction in the General Assembly.

Rep. Richard Lane Brown III, D-Stanly, said he expects to introduce the measure next week.

"I rate its chances of passage as extremely high," said Brown as he recalled that a similar measure calling for a $200 million school bond vote passed the House two years ago but died in a Senate committee.

Brown said that his bill will be based on an inventory just conducted by the North Carolina School Board Association which showed that the state's school building needs by Jan. 1, 1978 will total $1.123 billion—including $682 million in immediate needs and $411.5 million in additional needs expected to develop by 1978.

The Stanly legislator said the $300 million figure was arrived at under the assumption that local school units will put up $3 for every $1 in state money they receive. He said this was the formula used in drafting the 1971 school bond proposal.

Brown said that in arriving at the $1.123 billion figure "the superintendents and the school boards of all the state's 152 school districts were covered ... in a district-by-district survey of immediate needs and additional needs expected to develop in five years."

The survey showed immediate needs for $365.2 million in classrooms, $117.3 million in kindergarten space, $59.2 million in libraries, $54 million in lunchrooms and $85.8 million in auditoriums. The additional needs in five years included $318.8 million in classrooms, $37.9 million in libraries, $41 million in lunchrooms and $43.7 million in gymnasiums.

Brown said the bill would propose that the bond money be allocated to local school units strictly on a basis of average daily attendance. He said this appeared to be the only constitutional way to make the allocation.

"If you look across the state," Brown said, "you see local school bond issues failing. They have been failing because they would have resulted in increases in property taxes.

School Make-Up Days Set

One of the five days missed during the snow recently will be made up Thursday, April 19, by Pitt County Students.

According to Arthur Alford superintendent of Pitt County Schools, the day had been set aside as a holiday unless needed as a make-up day.

The other four days will be made up at the end of the year since the Pitt Board of Education determined earlier that Saturdays would not be used for make-up days.

The last school day for students, will be Thursday, June 7, rather than June 1 as previously scheduled. Teachers will work June 8 and 11 for work days.

Mid-year examinations are being given this week. They were previously scheduled to be given last week. Monday, Jan. 29, will be a teacher work day and students will not have to attend school on that day.

April 20 and 23 will be observed as Easter holidays. Alford said the school board and decided earlier that regardless of the number of make-up days, that Easter Monday and Good Friday would be holidays for students and personnel.

Tears Of Joy At Home Of Robersonville POW

ROBERSONVILLE— Mrs. William Robinson was crying for joy when she was telephoned last night a few minutes after President Nixon's announcement that the Vietnam Peace had been gained and the U. S. Prisoners of War would be home within 60 days.

The mother of T-Sgt. William Robinson, who has been a prisoner in North Vietnam since Sept. 20, 1965, she said, "We've been happy all day because we felt this had to be it, but it was still wonderful to hear the words." "My boy's going to be home soon," said William Robinson, a Roberson service station operator. He said they had received a letter from Billy Monday before last. In it Billy apologized for not getting them a Christmas message and said he was fine and that he was "on the No. 1 team."

"I guess he means the U. S. Air Force," his father said.

Mrs. Robinson said they have been told that they will be notified any time a group of prisoners is being brought into the country and that when Billy's name is on the list, they'll be flown to the base or hospital at which he arrives to meet him.

Robinson, 28, and single, was taken prisoner while on a helicopter rescue mission while he was on temporary duty in Thailand. His parents have been active in the National League of Families of POWs and MIAs and in its North Carolina chapter. They have led many letter-writing campaigns and other efforts to win good treatment and early release for their son.

Church Bells To Ring Out

Church bells in this area will ring with the announcement that the Vietnam peace treaty is signed, according to the Rev. Dan Earnhardt, president of the Greenville Ministerial Association.

Individual churches will hold thanksgiving services, also, he said he understands.

A Thanksgiving service was held last night at 11:30, in less than an hour and a half after Pres. Nixon announced that the agreement had been reached and would be signed Saturday. Held at the First Presbyterian Church, the service attracted about 50 townspeople and students, the Rev. Earnhardt said.

Mrs. Edith Webber, long a regular participant in the Peace Vigil held each Wednesday at the Greenville Post Office, said she assumed the vigil will end after the peace accord is signed.

"I hope we're going to have a real peace," she said. "There's so much involvement over there, it's going to take an awfully long time and a lot of effort to undo the harm that's been done. I'm very glad to see this step taken, though and can only hope that conflicts elsewhere can also be ended. The vigil was a small thing, but we felt it depicted concern."

Mayor Pro Tempore Percy Cox, speaking on behalf of the City of Greenville, said, "I'm just like everyone else, really happy that we've finally agreed on conditions to end the war and that peace is at hand. I'm glad Pres. Nixon held out to get the conditions he felt were necessary. It's a happy day."

No Schedule On POW Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam have agreed to return all captured prisoners "without delay" but set no specific schedule, it was announced today.

A document spelling out the agreement on handling POWs also says that the return "shall be carried out at places convenient to the concerned parties."

Again, the document released by the White House does not say what those places will be.

The places of return, the document said will be agreed upon by a new temporary joint military commission made up of representatives of the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

The only specific time mentioned in the protocol stipulates that "the return of all captured persons ... shall be completed within 60 days of the signing of the agreement at a rate no slower than the rate of withdrawal from South Vietnam of United States forces and those of other countries."

The document covering civilian as well as military prisoners on both sides provides that the seriously ill, wounded or maimed, and old persons and women shall be returned first.

"The remainder shall be returned either by returning all from one detention place after another or in order of their dates of capture, beginning with those who have been held the longest," the document said.

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said Tuesday night that teams of U.S. specialists and evacuation aircraft will be ready to go "as soon as possible" after the cease-fire agreement becomes effective within 60 days of the signing of Saturday.

Work Of Mid-East Commission Is Reviewed

Members of the Mid-East Economic Development Commission from Pitt and county and city officials in the county met here last night with Mid-East staff members for a review of the role the commission is playing in the development of the five-county planning region served by the planning and development body.

The Mid-East Commission serves Pitt, Beaufort, Martin, Hertford and Bertie Counties and is one of 17 multi-county planning regions in the state. Membership of the commission is composed of elected officials of the various local governments within the region (county and municipal) and members-at-large appointed by the various governments. The commission's offices are located in Washington.

According to Mid-East executive director Edward Jones, the commission is designed to serve local governments within the five-county area. Currently the commission staff is working on an overall regional development plan to provide for the orderly growth and development of the area, and is active in planning—through special programs—in the areas of law enforcement, programs for older adults, health care, housing, and economic development.

The Mid-East Commission has been designated as the clearing house and the lead regional organization within the five-county area. As such, the commission reviews applications originating within the five counties for state and federal grant programs to insure against overlap and duplication; to encourage the most efficient use of planning resources; and to provide a consistent geographic base for the coordination of development programs.

As the lead regional organization, Mid-East is charged with the responsibility of establishing regional goals and objectives and also serves as the regional agent in dealing with state and federal agencies.

According to Jones, the commission is committed to providing a better system of coordinating and administering federal, state and local programs.

Stubborn Husband Wants Four Carats

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 77 years old and Max is 80. We've been married for 60 years and have no complaints. Max has always been a flashy dresser. He wears a nice-sized diamond ring and a diamond stickpin. I have a four-carat diamond ring which I don't wear any more because I am afraid of being robbed or killed. Max said as long as I'm not wearing my diamond, he would like to make it into a ring for himself.

Abby, it's not that I don't want him to have the diamond, it's just that I am afraid of what might happen to him. Since I have refused Max the ring, he is barely speaking to me. He also quit making love to me every Sunday afternoon which he has done for 60 years. I suppose I could live without it, but I got so accustomed to it, I feel deprived.

Should I give him the ring so he will be his old sweet and loving self again? NEW YORK POST READER

DEAR READER: If he doesn't realize that you don't want him to have the ring because you are concerned about his welfare, shame on him. [P. S. Someone should tell him if he doesn't use it, he'll lose it, and I don't mean the ring.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old male and in college. I have yet to discover the formula for finding a girl friend. I ask girls out to sports events, movies, walks, or anything, and have a refusal rate of about 99.7. The other 0.3 per cent agree so they won't hurt my feelings.

I know I am not very good-looking, and I have little money, but I see other guys who aren't good-looking with little money and they have girl friends, so it must be me.

My family life hasn't been too happy. My parents are divorced and there were five children and I lacked affection, which I am sure has something to do with my eagerness to make up for it now. I find extraordinary pleasure at any chance physical contact with another person, which is rare and only by accident.

Maybe it has something to do with my body chemistry, something in line with my inability to catch a fish. I've heard that a fish will not touch bait which has been prepared by a person with a certain characteristic body chemistry.

Any suggestions?

LONELY GUY

DEAR LONELY: Girls are not fish and you're no fisherman, so forget the body chemistry theory. Quit thinking about what you lack and start making small talk with any girl you dig who's handy. If she doesn't dig you, maybe she can dig up a friend who does. You sound like a bright young man. Now get going.

DEAR ABBY: This is an "open letter" to "Second Wife" who plaintively resents the children of "First Wife" helping themselves to all their deceased mother's possessions without considering that they were their father's possessions, too, and perhaps he had sentimental feelings about them.

Men are not the sentimental creatures "Second Wife" pictures her husband to be, and he probably couldn't care less about the things his wife collected during their marriage, especially once he has a new mate.

Besides, if "Second Wife" was a widow, she should have her own collection. If not, accumulating things for her new life with her new husband will be a pleasure.

Please, "Second Wife," don't pity your new husband because his children helped themselves to all their mother's treasures. He now has you, which should more than compensate for the loss.

I hope my happy marriage of 46 years lasts a lot longer, but just in case, I'm taping names on the backs of all my possessions indicating to whom they shall go, so my successor won't have to worry about it.

Further, if I were "Second Wife," I wouldn't care to have First Wife's possessions staring me in the face in my new home. LUCKY Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Lunch Choice Undergoes Generation Gap

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — The generation gap is widening at lunch.

"Young people (in their twenties and thirties) are a lot more selective than older ones, and more interested in quality and flavor," says Nat G. Norton, merchandising director of a company that operates cafeterias, dining rooms and vending machines in industrial, commercial and public locations.

"Most people we serve are in semi to fully-automated jobs, which are monotonous," said the Canteen Corp. executive in an interview. "Lunch is one of the few opportunities they have to break routine."

But many apparently don't. Norton said white collar and factory workers tend to eat pretty much the same thing across the country, although some regional differences are discernible.

For example, northeasters like their corn plain, but southerners and southwesterners want theirs with chili peppers. Southerners prefer sweet pickles, northerners, kosher dills, and westerners, gherkins.

Norton and Kenneth Davidson, Canteen's national food director, agreed that young people today demand a greater variety of foods on the lunch line than past generations did.

Finer foods are gaining popularity, they said. Delicatessen and hofbrau sandwiches make up a large part of this category, Davidson added by letter from the company's Chicago headquarters. He said sales of heavy desserts such as cakes and pies have been declining for several years.

Davidson said entrees and multi-course lunches are losing ground among 20 to 40-year-olds, especially college students and office workers.

College-age consumers also make most of the natural food purchases, choose soft drinks in preference to coffee and eat more snacks, such as cheese and cheese crackers, than their age group has in the past.

Lighter Lunches
The trend toward lighter eating habits is especially noticeable at noontime everywhere except the South.

"With the exception of southerners in all age groups, Americans are very diet-conscious," said Davidson. "While consumers are looking for balance and variety, they tend to associate hot meals only with dinner."

But in the South, the mid-day meal is a hot one that includes such things as fried chicken, biscuits, gravy, mashed potatoes and one or two vegetables.

Both executives expect a new vending machine to make still more changes in American eating habits. Norton was in New York for a press conference that introduced a new refrigerated machine which sells ingredients instead of ready made sandwiches. A two-button system can provide about 100 different sandwich combinations.

One button releases a buyer's choice of fillings and the second button delivers bread, a roll or a bun and a pickle, cherry tomatoes or a hard-boiled egg.

Steelworkers Eat Heavy
In field tests of the new machine, steelworkers tended to buy two (three-ounce) packages of filling while office workers and women settled for one package and split it. Ready-made vending machine sandwiches generally contain 1 3/4 to 2 ounces of filling. Some changes described by the food service executives as typical of college-age consumers also were reported by a college that operates its own food service.

Jean Aikens, director of food services for Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y., said about 50 students signed up for a vegetarian diet this year.

"We now have refrigerated salad bars, so we can offer three salads, including cottage cheese, and four different dressings, and yogurt, with both lunch and dinner."

Miss Aikens said dieters drink a lot of skim milk and no one seems to like pies and cakes for dessert as much as fruit and homemade cookies.

She also said Skidmore students now are more adventurous in their food tastes than were their counterparts five years ago.

Anything with a sauce used to be viewed with suspicion. But today's students seem to like such things as beef burgundy, seafood newburg and even vegetables in sauces.

LBJ Shaped America's Course

Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th president of the United States, is dead at the age of 64.

His death was sudden and totally unexpected; yet the nation knew that with his frequent heart problems the possibility of sudden death was always there.

Few men have helped shape the course of our country as did Lyndon Johnson. As Senate majority leader he guided legislation for presidents who preceded him. He used his wide influence on Capitol Hill for President Kennedy's programs, while serving as vice president. Finally he saw far reaching social programs become law in his first years as president.

Lyndon Johnson will have to be remembered for instituting some of the great social programs of our time; yet some of the groups which stood for social reform reviled him as he neared the end of his full term of office.

The reason, of course, was the Vietnam War, which was President Johnson's weak spot as the nation's leader. The Vietnam problem was something he inherited and somehow he never found the way to come to grips with it militarily.

Thus he surprised the nation on March 31, 1968 when he announced in a television speech that, "I shall not seek and I will not accept the nomination of my party as your President."

Ironically, this withdrawal paved the way for the Nixon era and it may yet be that the man from the opposition party will save Lyndon Johnson's place in history.

President Johnson was a consensus president. Perhaps this was astute at first, following the traumatic assassination of a popular president. The nation needed to be brought together by a unifying president as much as it ever had.

Possibly his mistake was in not moving away from Eastern Establishment type advisors quickly enough. Many of them never forgave him just for succeeding to the presidency. It is possible that if Johnson had brought together advisors in whom he had had absolute trust, the Vietnam matter would have been handled in a different fashion.

At any rate, the record of Lyndon Baines Johnson is now written. Viewed today, it looks good in the domestic field and bad in the area of foreign relations. As with all presidents, it will remain for future events to prove or disprove the policies he set for the nation and only time will determine Lyndon Baines Johnson's place in history.

Ervin Voiced Teamwork Plea

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Two cross-eyed men going in opposite directions bumped into each other on the street.

"Why don't you look where you're going?" one of them demanded angrily.

"Wouldn't do any good," the other retorted, "because you aren't going where you're looking."

The story is from the repertoire of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., master spinner of yarns, expounder of Constitutional philosophy, and exhorter of unity for the Democratic party.

whole. The appeal was made on behalf of all candidates, not leaving each on his own. Ervin urged a return to that practice in the future.

Strength In Unity
"United we stand, divided we fall." If we had stuck together as we should have we would have swept North Carolina, in my judgment," the Senator added.

As it was, President Nixon carried the state overwhelmingly for the GOP, giving a coat-tail ride that helped elect Holshouser as governor and Jesse Helms of Raleigh to serve alongside Ervin as a U.S. Senator.

Ervin's trenchant comments reached the ears of State Democratic Chairman James Sugg, one of those seated at the head table.

Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles Jr., the titular party head as its nominee for governor, did not attend the banquet. A conflicting engagement was given as the reason for his absence.

As top man on the state ticket, Bowles set the tone and style for the past campaign.

Some Were Missing
Other vacancies in the ranks at the first big party gathering since the election included Bob Scott, whose term of governor ended with Gov. Holshouser's inauguration; Nick Galifianakis, the Congressman who lost to Helms in the Senate race; and B. Everett Jordan, whose Senate service was shortened by his loss to Galifianakis in the primary last spring.

In addition to Ervin, the banquet's roster of speakers included Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, House Speaker Jim Ramsey of Person, and Mayor Howard Lee of Chapel Hill, the party's state vice chairman for minorities. They harmonized a chorus of praise for Democratic achievement and hope for the future.

Tom Barringer of Raleigh, installed as state YDC president, recalled that the organization was born when the party was divided in the year of the Herbert Hoover — Al Smith campaign. In line with its unifying tradition, he promised efforts to profit from mistakes and rebuild for victory.

"I don't intend to be standing in the rear of the crowd when we inaugurate our governor in 1977 as I did a few weeks ago," he affirmed. Sen. Ervin said party unity does not demand that all think alike. "There is room in our party for every man and woman in America who loves our country," he declared.

Diverse philosophy is a strength, not a weakness, he added. "The conservative keep the liberals from becoming radicals, and the liberals keep the conservatives from becoming reactionary," he explained.

Reagan's Eyes On Presidency?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to announce within the next three months that he will not run for the U. S. Senate or any other office in 1974 — a decision, oddly, that could help propel him into the 1976 presidential sweepstakes.

Completing eight years of controversy as governor, Reagan has also abandoned his old dream of reverting to rancher in the California desert to live out his remaining years on horseback. Instead, he will take to the national banquet circuit, perhaps as head of a conservative citizens group, and preach the gospel of limited government.

The businessmen, politicians and staffers who advise Reagan view this as the best path to the White House. Aware of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's low estate there, they see Reagan (62 years old on Feb. 6) as theological heir to the conservative domestic policies of President Nixon's second term.

The first step down this long path is the decision not to run for anything in 1974. There is no truth in current rumors at the state capitol that Reagan will seek a third-term to avert a bloody Republican primary. There remains an outside chance he might run for the Senate, but his key advisers are against it.

For one thing, it's too risky. Private polls show Reagan running behind Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston, up for reelection in 1974. A loss to liberal, colorless Cranston would end Reagan's fabulous political career.

However, Reagan's

popularity here seems rising again after its recent decline, and the issues during his last two years as governor seem on his side. He is pushing anti-crime legislation and calling for taxpayer distribution of an $850 million budget surplus. He will be extremely active pushing capital punishment legislation against adamant opposition from the Democratic-controlled legislature; considering overwhelming passage last November of a capital punishment referendum, Reagan has the popular side.

At the same time, abrasive issues that damaged Reagan's popularity — taxes and higher education — are subsiding. Nor is Reagan today nearly the zealous partisan of his early years as governor. His recent "State of the State" message was conciliatory, and he has developed surprisingly warm relations with Democratic Assembly speaker Bob Moretti.

All this means Reagan would be a formidable foe against Cranston. But to what avail? Reagan has no zest for the Senate's back row, and his supporters regard it a poor launching pad for 1976.

Instead, after campaigning nationwide for Republican candidates in 1974, private citizen Reagan will go on what he calls "the mashed potato circuit." Plans are barely begun for a foundation to promote Reagan's philosophy ("maybe sort of a conservative Nader's raiders," says one Reagan insider). Like Richard M. Nixon in 1967-68, Reagan would be troubled by neither governmental duties nor

Truth-In-Lending Plan

WASHINGTON — The United States Navy has just loaned $54 million to the Grumman Aircraft Co. The Navy has defended its role as banker on the grounds that the money was not really a loan but rather an advance on F-14 airplanes which Grumman says it cannot deliver.

When my friend Morris Sans (no relation to the former secretary of commerce) heard that the Navy had gone into the banking business, he immediately rushed down to the Pentagon. He said to a Wave at the desk, "I'd like to see someone about a loan."

The Wave asked Morris to be seated and then started to make some telephone calls. Finally she said, "Go to the third floor to BuNav BOC and ask for Commander Smiley."

"What does BuNav BOC stand for?" Morris asked.

"Bureau of Navy for Bailing Out Contractors," the Wave replied.

Stans went to the third floor office of Commande Smiley who was talking on the phone. "Yes, sir. We can loan Litton Industries $100 million at 5.5 per cent. No, sir, there are no collateral requirements.

Your name on the note is good enough for us. Yes, sir, Mr. Ash, the check will be in the mail tomorrow morning."

Commander Smiley turned to Morris. "What can I do for you?"

"I'd like to borrow $500 to make some improvements on my house."

"I'm sorry, the Navy doesn't make loans for home improvements," Commander Smiley said.

"But the house is on the water," Morris said, "on Cape Cod."

"Well shy didn't you say so?" Commander Smiley asked, taking out a form.

"First I must ask if you've applied for this loan from a commercial bank."

"I applied to seven banks. They all turned me down. They suggested I see the Navy because they said you'll loan money to people that no bank would touch."

"That's our business," Commander Smiley said. "Our motto is the Navy is 'Impossible loans are our business.'"

"I thought it was 'Don't give up the ship.'"

ART BUCHWALD

"Times have changed," Smiley said. "Now would these improvements on your house benefit the Navy in any way?"

"Well, I want to repair my dock for my sailboat, but the Navy would be free to use the facilities to tie up an aircraft carrier or something in case of war."

"We very well might," Commander Smiley said, filling out the form. "How do you propose to repay the loan?"

"$10 a week," Morris replied.

"That seems fair," Smiley said. "I must tell you under the 'Truth in Lending Navy Act' that we will have to charge you 6 per cent interest."

"But I just heard you tell Litton Industries you would only charge them 5.5 per cent," Stans protested.

"That's because Litton owes us so much money. Now if you wanted to make a loan of, say, more than $20 million we could give you a more favorable rate as well."

"No, I'll stick with the $500."

"Very good. Just sign here. This booklet is your payment schedule. Just make your checks payable to the Department of Defense."

"Thank you very much. The Navy won't be sorry they trusted me."

"I'm sure we won't," Smiley said, shaking Stans' hand. "On your way pick up a new toaster or a coffeepot or an electric blanket in the lobby."

"Free?" Morris asked.

"Of course. Why do you think Grumman Aircraft came to us instead of Bank of America? They know we give out the best premiums in the country."

It's quite a while from January to April, especially with player changes being made at the rate recently popular in the National Baseball League, but Sergeant Gabby Street has a pretty fair idea how his 1933 Cardinals will take the field. To the editor:

The following is my personal opinion concerning the outcome of gossip.

Gossip can destroy both the gossiper and the people gossiped about. It can cause a person's personality and reputation to become destroyed and may result in an isolation caused by shame.

The reputation of a gossiper is one that no one in his right mind would want. People no longer trust him.

People gossiped about are usually truly angry with the gossiper when they learn of the gossip. They may go to extreme levels such as to commit suicide or even murder. These people are sincerely ashamed and hurt deeply.

The friends of the people gossiped about come to reject and refuse to see or listen to these people. Their friends come to know them as unfit people to be associated with.

The outcome of gossip is something of a great tragedy. A gossiper cannot foretell the troubles in which his gossip may end. It may break up families by divorces or bring families close together at the foot of a freshly dug grave. He has no way of knowing the outcome of his doing and might do you and I.

Each one of us may be faced with the decision of becoming a gossiper, but it is not a life for one who wished to have a good reputation and friends, which everyone needs.

Strength For Today

CULTIVATE IT

Friendship is one of the lovely realities of life. Some people have the gift of friendship. One of the finest things Jesus said to his disciples was: "I have called you friends" (John 15:15).

There are some people whom we know as "loners" who seem to have no friends. Sometimes they are sad and dejected over this situation. There are actually some people who like such a situation and would regard friends as extra weight to be lugged about to one's inconvenience.

Such people are indeed loners. Nobody likes them and they like nobody else. And the word "else" is very important for such people always like themselves every deeply. The most unhappy state one can be in is to be wrapped up in one's self that nothing else in life seems to have any value. The word "friend" appears to be derived from the word meaning love. A friend is defined in the dictionary as "one who entertains for another such sentiments of esteem, respect and affection that he seeks his society and welfare." He is a "well-wisher; an intimate associate," one whose life is full of thoughts about himself and plans for his own well-being but full of thoughts about others.

There can be friendship between nations if we work hard enough to establish that friendship. There can be friendship between different branches of the Church. There can be friendship even with those who would appear to be enemies. Cultivate it.

Youth To Fore In Prosperity

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate management, in a generic sense, reacts with more assurance and unanimity to challenges of an expanding economy than to a recession or shrink situation, a study just completed suggests.

In more "normal" times, which have come to mean prosperity, you can predict just about what age group will supply the next corporate top man. Most likely he will be 7 to 12 years younger than the outgoing boss.

After studying leadership changes in three recessions since the early 1950s, Dr. Eugene Jennings of Michigan State University concludes that companies react to the relative unfamiliar stress of bad times by:

1. Putting older men in the top spot, the intention seemingly being to utilize his experience and industry know-how to get back on a track that will best protect it from the economic elements.

2. Putting younger men in the top spot, the intention apparently being to encourage innovation in areas that the rest of the industry may be overlooking.

The pattern shows up consistently and with amazing clarity. As Jennings puts it: "Rebels and conformists in a shrink economy pop out in bold relief."

In the '50s and '60s, for example, about 8 per cent of chief executive appointments were 15 years or more younger than their predecessors. But during recessions the percentage doubled.

In the same two decades, again only 8 per cent of the top spots were filled by men five years younger or older than the departing boss; in other words, by comparatively older executives. In recessions, that rate also doubles.

At the same time, the number of appointments coming from the middle-age ranges shrinks appreciably.

All this makes Jennings, whose statistical studies of corporate personnel patterns have led to numerous books and have made him widely sought as a management adviser, just

Reagan and his inner circle see him not only as the logical heir of Mr. Nixon's conservative domestic policies but the President's tutor. They quite correctly believe Reagan's implacable opposition contributed to Mr. Nixon's desertion of the Family Assistance Plan and less accurately view current Nixon budget-slashing as an imitation of the Reagan California model.

Indeed, the tutorial rule is overt. In his last two private meetings with Mr. Nixon just before and after the election, Reagan — using "reading sheets" prepared by his staff — lectured the President on "impingement" of the federal leviathan on state government.

What makes Reagan's ambitions credible even at his age is the possibility of a vacuum on the Republican right. Texas Democrat John B. Connally's intentions toward Republicanism, though strongly suspected, are not yet proved. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's performance has not impressed Republican conservatives for some time (particularly in California, where his numerous vacations with Frank Sinatra in Palm Springs have raised doubts about his seriousness of purpose).

Early though it is, Reagan even has the beginning of a national apparatus: New York political mastermind F. Clifton White, who built Barry Goldwater's successful delegate-hunting operation in 1964 and ran Reagan's doomed eleventh-hour campaign for the nomination in 1968. Reagan does not blame White for that failure and confers with him from time to time. Those conferences are likely to become more frequent as 1976 approaches.

Break-In At Home Listed

Greenville police are investigating a break-in and attempted larceny of a Forrest Hill Drive home here last night.

Chief Glenn Cannon said a dwelling at 1706 Forrest Hill Dr. was entered through a front window and a television, stereo, vacuum cleaner, bed sheets and pillow cases, rugs, a shoe shine kit and shotgun shells were taken from the dwelling.

A neighbor, the police official explained, saw a man at the house and the man ran. The neighbor, who saw a quantity of household possessions in the yard called police.

Investigators, the chief explained, found the stolen items in a pile beside Berkley Road, at the side of the Forrest Hill Drive home.

In addition to the items recovered, Chief Cannon said a metal cash box was forced open inside the dwelling and an undetermined amount of cash may have been taken.

The occupants of the home were out of town at the time of the incident, reported as 10:35 p.m.

Recapture Five Of Seven Felons

The first one retaken was Dana Morgan, who was found walking in Cleveland County.

Then Joseph Mains was taken.

Three of the prisoners were captured by police in Asheville at 4:30 a.m. One, Glenn Darnell, was in a house. The other two, Ronald Padgett and Thomas Harris, were in an automobile in front of the house.

Two cars were reported stolen after the break, one of them a 1969 Edsel taken from the McDowell Technical Institute in Marion.

New Interstate Long Distance Phone Rates Announced In Effect

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has filed a new schedule of rates for interstate long distance calls with the Federal Communications Commission, to be effective January 22.

This new schedule for out-of-state calls increases charges for:

—some customer-dialed calls during weekday business hours.

—some operator-assisted calls.

—some person-to-person calls.

New rates for WATS (Wide Area Telecommunications Service) will be applicable starting on March 13.

These changes will affect subscribers of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, as well as customers of all telephone companies in the nation, according to J. F. Havens, vice president of Carolina Telephone.

Havens emphasized that all rates for interstate long distance calls dialed by the customer without operator assistance in the evenings, at night, and on weekends will remain unchanged.

Some rates for customer-dialed station-to-station calls without operator assistance from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays will increase five cents or ten cents for the first three minutes.

There will be an increase of five cents for the first three minutes on some rates in all time periods for operator-assisted station-to-station calls (including credit card, collect, third number, hotel guests, and coin telephone calls).

Increases of five or ten cents for the first three minutes on some person-to-person calls in all time periods will become effective. The rates for each additional minute on some calls in all time periods will be raised in a range from one cent to five cents.

Rates will remain the same for customer-dialed station-to-station calls without operator assistance during evenings, nights, or weekends.

This will be only the second general increase in interstate long distance rate levels in nearly 20 years.

During these years, in the face of rising inflation, these rates have been reduced repeatedly.

It was emphasized that even with the current increase, the rate levels will be below those of 1953. Yet in the intervening years, the cost of living has jumped more than 50 percent.

The new rates are designed to increase total revenues from interstate service by about two percent.

organizations and individuals who work together to improve and promote the welfare of older people.

She stated that it would serve as the means by which group opinions could be voiced and community efforts channeled in an organized way. Also, that it would be the voice of the community speaking and acting with and on behalf of its older citizens.

The following officers were appointed to serve a one year term: chairman, Boyd Lee; vice-chairman, Mrs. H. R. Reaves; and secretary, Mrs. Beth Clark.

Join Forces To Present Opera

The East Carolina Playhouse and School of Music have joined forces for the next offering in McGinnis Auditorium: Puccini's opera La Boheme. The production will open on Tuesday, January 30, with additional performances on February 1, and 3.

The East Carolina Symphony Orchestra will perform under the baton of Robert Hause, June Laine, Charles Moore, Rosalyn Barlowe, and Charles Smith will appear in the principle singing roles. Staged and directed by Michael Hardy, the opera will be performed in English.

La Boheme, Puccini's fourth opera, has become the most popular Italian lyric stage work after Verdi's Aida. It contains some of Puccini's most memorable music, including the popular Musetta's Waltz.

Set in Paris in the 1880's, the story deals with the lives of four young men—a poet, a painter, a philosopher, and a musician—and their struggles with poverty and love. Lighthearted, but finally tragic, the opera rarely fails to enthrall its audiences.

Tickets go on sale at the McGinnis box office beginning January 26. Reserved seats are $2.50. Phone reservations may be made by calling 758-6390 during business hours, 10:00-4:00. Curtain time is 8:15.

U.S. POW Return Scheduled 'As Soon As Possible'

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)

American prisoners of war will begin returning as soon as possible after the Vietnam peace agreement is signed Saturday in Paris, possibly within hours, says Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. Laird provided no timetable Tuesday night, but suggested it could be only hours after the cease-fire becomes effective that the machinery for the POW release begins. "Flight crews, doctors, nurses and other medical personnel are on notice for initial homecoming flights as soon as possible after the formal signing of the agreement in Paris," he said following President Nixon's announcement of a cease-fire.

The cease-fire begins at 7 p.m. EST Saturday, with all American POWs to be released within 60 days.

The Pentagon lists 587 Americans known captive in North and South Vietnam and Laos. In addition, another 1,355 Americans are listed as missing.

Standing by in the western Pacific is a fleet of huge Air Force C141 medical-evacuation planes waiting to be told where and when to pick up the prisoners.

The administration wants the planes to fly directly to Hanoi, but it is believed unlikely North Vietnam will permit this. The expectation is that the POWs will be flown in small groups from Hanoi aboard Russian-built transports to Vientiane in Laos.

There they will be loaded aboard the C141s and shuttled to Clark Field in the Philippines, the primary processing station where they will be examined before the flight home. Intelligence officers also will begin questioning them for any information on MIAs.

Experience with returning POWs has shown they face long periods of adjustment, possibly years. Their families already have been warned to expect depression, impotence and other medical and psychiatric problems.

To ease the transition, Operation Homecoming calls for a go-slow approach with no gala receptions.

Once cleared by the doctors at Clark, each man will be assigned a military escort and be flown to one of more than 30 military hospitals in the United States where he will undergo further examination and treatment.

The Pentagon says reunions with relatives are planned as soon as possible after arrival at the hospital closest to their homes.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to take time out to get the answers for which you have been searching by investigating all phases of whatever activities that are vital to your progress. Show devotion to those close to you. Avoid being too preoccupied with your own affairs.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use tact in making collections and then pay your bills that are pressing. Don't judge your mate harshly, but give credit where credit is due. Avoid one who doesn't appreciate you as you deserve.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Listen carefully to what associates have to say and cooperate with them instead of being so self-opinionated. One who opposes you should be avoided. A kinder attitude toward mate is wise.

GEMINI (May to June 21) Start working on those tasks ahead of you instead of running off on some tangent. Take the health treatments you need and stop putting them off. Take it easy tonight. Take care of correspondence.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although fun is on your mind, be sure to handle obligations that are important. You can enjoy recreations later in the day. Show patience with mate at this time. Plan to save more money.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to be kind and gentle at home or much trouble could ensue there before the day is over. Don't rake up old coals and all is fine. Plan time to arrange the future better. Relax tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Much care in motion must be exercised now or you could get into a great deal of trouble. A kind word will turn away wrath. Don't jeopardize the friendship of persons who mean much to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You may think that money can buy you anything you want, but this is not the case. Use ethical methods in business dealings and be happier. A financial expert can give you advice on handling a problem.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have good ideas but others are not in the mood to listen to them now, so wait for a better time to express yourself. Take time to make yourself look more attractive. More study is wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may think you have too many responsibilities, but you can easily handle them and should do so now. You can also lend a helping hand to others with their problems. Have a happy evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure an opponent does not try to force you into a situation you don't like. Show that you have willpower. If you cannot be cheerful, sidestep a social invitation, otherwise go and have fun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you use more than regular care in handling credit, vocational and business affairs or bigwigs will surely criticize you. Show that you are conscientious. Don't be harsh on others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study a new plan you want to put in operation and get rid of the bugs in it. Avoid loss this way. A new ally can give you the right pointers and help you become more successful with this plan.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people with much determination to get things done and can have much success in life, provided you teach fine ethics and give good religious background. Expose to the finest types of individuals, otherwise the wrong kind of people could be harmful to your progeny. A fine citizen here who will be a real inspiration to others in the community.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Preliminary Loan For Housing Announced

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has notified the Mid-East Regional Housing Authority of approval of a $40,000 preliminary loan for the development of 100 units of low rent public housing. The announcement was made by Congressman Walter B. Jones. Mrs. Christine B. Farrior of Williamston, chairman of the authority said, "We are delighted to learn of the approval of these additional 100 Turnkey units from the authority. Our aim is to provide all citizens in the region and to this end we will devote our efforts."

The preliminary loan will provide for the planning of the additional 100 units.

Having submitted its first application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development in December 1969, the Regional Housing Authority began construction of 340 units of leased housing in August, of 1972.

The sites for the location of the original 340 units are in Hamilton, Lewiston, Chocowiny, Creswell, Jameville, Roper, Aulander, Aurora, Belhaven and Swanquarter.

These additional standard housing units will provide homes for 440 low income families in the five county area. The units will be used as training and rehabilitation facilities for many of these families under planned programs of tenant participation in management and maintenance, as well as social efforts of mutual effect.

The operation of the units will involve employment for unemployed persons in the area and local units of government will collect taxes from these privately owned, leased units.

The construction of these units is expected to cause the removal of an equal number of substandard units. The tenants will be encouraged, and hopefully assisted, in their quests toward home ownership in other planned housing programs.

The Mid-East Regional Housing Authority is a chartered five county housing authority created by the adoption of exactly homogeneous resolutions by the five county boards of commissioners. The Counties of Beaufort, Bertie, Hyde, Martin and Washington are the member counties.

Recreation Deficiencies Of Area Are Discussed

At the regular meeting of the Mid-East Regional Planning Board January 16 in Williamston, the board was presented a draft Regional Recreation and Open Space Plan.

The plan, detailing open space, recreation and historic preservation problems, focused attention on the lack of recreation programming by many local governments. It also pointed out the need for having recreation areas at the county level and in promoting the acquisition of Goose Creek State Park in Beaufort County; one of the five Mid-East counties.

The board approved a resolution to be sent to each local government unit in the region requesting the use of at least ten percent of their revenue sharing funds for recreation. It was pointed out that recreation, either in capital outlays or in programs, was an eligible expense of revenue sharing funds.

Final discussion of this draft plan led to the request for more time to review and comment and to allow local planning boards to give greater consideration to the plan. Most of the existing planning boards in the region have representatives on the board and all planners in the region are ex-officio members.

The Mid-East's Department of Regional Planning believes that this plan will be finalized in late March of this year.

If any person desires an input into this plan, they should contact the Mid-East Commission in Washington, N. C., or their local representative on the Regional Planning Board.

Other items on the Planning Board's agenda included the review of a Corps of Engineers Study on the environment and a progress report on other planning activities in the Regional office.

The most significant items were the beginning of a Regional Water and Sewer Plan by one of the State's consultants and a more detailed look at housing in the Region.

Salvation Army Cites Extent Of Help

Silent Over Thousands Pay Final Respects

"I do not feel it would be appropriate for me to make any comment," Watts Hill Sr. said concerning an ad hoc committee on medical education's being made a permanent one to advise the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina. "Especially since I was just added to the committee, I don't think I should comment," he said.

Asked what he believes prospects for improving medical education in North Carolina area, he said, "I don't think any of us committee members should make unilateral statements on the subject."

Asked what he thought of Dr. Andrew Best's statement that he believes the committee's formation and the call for another study on medical education will result in recommendation that the East Carolina University School of Medicine be made a four-year school, he said again that he would not comment. He went on, "Dr. Best made one of the finest statements I have ever heard during the meeting in which these actions were taken. I'm proud to serve on the committee with him."

Advisory Board members were told that more than 12,478 garments and 833 pairs of shoes were distributed during the month of December to those in need, while the Salvation Army distributed 76 pieces of furniture, gave 22 food orders and 12 fuel orders during the month.

Conley Vikings Outlast Aycock

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer
HOLLYWOOD — D.H. Conley, behind a second half flurry of scoring, namely 13 field goals, broke a halftime tie of 30-30 to pluck the Falcons of C.B. Aycock, 50-35.

The Viking J.V.'s won their game also, 52-49, but the Valkyries were stymied by the Lady Falcons, 51-24.

In the girls' game, Conley took a first quarter lead but saw it vanish as the Falconettes roared back to gain the edge which which they had no trouble keeping.

The Valkyries got the opening basket on a hook shot by Annal Worthington. Almost five minutes went by before the Falconettes matched it on Jan Aycock's outside swish. Worthington put the Conley girls back in front with a bucket with 2:30 left in the quarter and Connie Barrett added a free throw for the final point of the period.

In the second quarter, both teams went for 1:20 without a score. Jean Evans broke the dry spell with a shot from the left side of the lane to pull the Falconettes up to 5-4. Worthington missed a chance to get the points back failing to sink a pair of charity shots. Carol Maples showed her how to do it as she sank two to put Aycock ahead for the first time and for good, 6-5 with 5:37 left in the half.

Treva Howell added a bucket from the baseline to give the Falconettes a three-point lead and then the Aycock girls treaked out to an 11-point gap on three baskets by Evans and one by Angenette Dickenson, 16-5.

Conley countered with a free throw by Worthington and a score on a drive by Glenda Denton to make the score at intermission read 16-8, Aycock.

The third quarter was the big one for Aycock as they dumped in 19 points while Conley struggled to keep from being shut out getting their only two points of the frame in the last minute of the period.

The Valkyries, down 35-10, outscored the Falconettes, 16-14 but it did not faze the Aycock lead as they took the win.

Evans was the only girl in double figures with 16 points.

The first half of the boys' game was a fight all the way and the fur never stopped flying. The lead was tied up three times in the first three minutes of the game. Conley took the lead, however, with 2:26 on the clock and managed to hold onto it for the rest of the quarter. The Falcons hung in and took the lead over, only to see Conley get it back twice. The score ended up tied at halftime.

The third quarter was just more of the same thing with Conley coming out on top at the close of the frame by a slim, 32-20. Then the dam broke on the Falcons as Conley poured in nine field goals to zoom out to a 16-point spread.

The Vikings took the edge first as Clennel Streeter slipped in a long bucket from outside. Furman Hobbs quickly evened things up at 2-2 with a score for the Falcons. Conley inched out ahead again, 4-2, on Larry Daniels' hook shot.

Arthur Stafford who scored eight in the first half blew through a pair of field goals to give the Falcons their first lead of the game, 6-4. The Vikings got the points back and then some as Mike Sutton scored from the corner, Gary Mobley on a tap, and Daniels with a short outside shot putting Conley out by four, 10-6.

Stafford struck again narrowing it by two, 10-8 but Streeter erased it with a 20-footer. Tommy Herndon scored just before the buzzer to make the score 12-10.

The Falcons controlled the tap to start the second quarter and got it in to Stafford who scored to tie it up again, at 12-12. Terry Durham tapped in an errant shot to slip the Falcons ahead 14-12 only to see Sutton score at the Vikes knotting the score at 14-14.

Herndon put Aycock back out on a jumper from the stripe and Herndon followed with one from the baseline. Conley fought back on buckets by Rick Mobley and Daniels to retie the game at 18-18.

After Maurice Wilson put the Falcons into the lead again, Buddy Phillips and Kervin Hawkins each scored giving the lead back to the Vikings. With four second to go in the half, Wilson scored again to tie it up at the break, 22-22.

The score see-sawed back and forth in the third period but it was Milton Tucker's shot with one second to go that gave the Vikings a 32-20 advantage. That was the spark they needed as Rick Mobley scored to open the fourth quarter although it was matched by William Applawhite who got the only Falcon field goal of the frame. Conley hit two field goals and after a free throw by the Falcons added two more. Aycock made another charity shot. Conley doubled it as Willie Streeter scored on a beautiful feed from Daniels making it 44-34, Conley biggest lead.

The Vikings went on to add six more points to get their seventh win of the season. Daniels and Rick Mobley were the high scorers for Conley each getting 10 points.

Robersonville Defeats Bears

ROBERSONVILLE — Robersonville's rallying boys rolled to a 76-56 victory over Bear Grass last night for their third straight win in a row. The Robersonville girls jumped out to a 46-21 victory in their game to take a half-game lead over the rest of the conference.

In the girls' game, Robersonville almost put the game on ice in the first period running out to a 17-4 lead. The Bears came back in the second frame, outitting the Eagles, 10-4, and trimmed the lead back to 21-14.

But in the second half, the Eagles put the game away. They outscored Bear Grass, 16-3 in the third quarter and ran their lead out to 37-17, putting it out of reach. They again outit the Bears, 9-4, in the final period.

Brett Green led Robersonville with 15, while Brenda James had 10.

In the boys' contest, Robersonville moved ahead, 16-10, in the first quarter, then outshot the Bears, 20-16 in the second quarter. That left the Eagles in command, 36-26, at intermission.

In the final two periods, the two teams had duplicate quarters. Robersonville hit 20 in each of them, while Bear Grass managed to get just 15. The Eagles led, 56-41, at the end of the third period.

Clarence Wilson led Robersonville with 18, while Ernest

Crandall and Masonic Stokes each had 16. For the Bears, Vann Rogerson was high with 19, while Hilton Armstrong had 12 and Gary Shaw had 10.

Robersonville goes to Jamesville Friday, while Bear Grass entertains Oak City.

Chargers Take Two From Lenoir

WHEAT SWAMP — Ayden-Grifton High School rolled to a pair of victories over North Lenoir last night in the Eastern Carolina Conference. The Chargers dumped the Hawks, 69-47, while the Chargerettes rolled to a 59-37 win.

In the opening game, Ayden-Grifton ran out to a 17-6 lead in the first period, and were never headed. The Lady Hawks did manage to outpoint them, 12-11, in the second quarter, but they were down, 28-18, at halftime.

In the third period, Ayden-Grifton continued to build its lead, 12-8, and lead, 40-26, as the last period started. They outit Lenoir, 19-11, during that period to finish them off.

Maude Babington led Ayden-Grifton with 18, while Decia Little and Nancy Sugg each had 16. Marsha Cummings had 10 to pace North Lenoir.

In the boys game, it was almost the same story, although the Chargers were a little slower starting. The Chargers did manage to slip into the lead at the end of the first quarter, 11-10. Then, in the second period, they began to click and held an 18-9 margin to move out to a 29-19 halftime lead.

In the third period, the Chargers again doubled the score on Lenoir, 20-10, and built the lead to 49-29. The Ayden-Grifton five out-hit them once more, 20-18, in the final stanza to wind it up.

Melvin Stewart led Ayden-Grifton with 23 points, while Willie Stewart had 21, and Milton Brown had 17. Mike Miller had 24 to pace North Lenoir.

The Chargers travel to Greene Central on Friday.

Eastern Stars Gain 104-84 Win Williamston Rolls To Two Over Gates County

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The secret of success in the National Basketball Association All-Star game was speed, rebounding and substitutions.

'em, run 'em, run 'em and get the boards' said Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn after his East team swamped the favored West Tuesday night 104-84. That was half the story. The other half was a substitution pattern that saw Nate Archibald and Sidney Wicks combine for 21 points in the first quarter for the West, then sit on the bench until the fourth quarter, when it was too late. "You try to figure out who you want in the last quarter," said Bill Sharman, the coach of the West. "You want your best men in there if it's close." "In an All-Star game everybody has to play," echoed Archibald, the mini-guard for the Kansas City-Omaha Kings whose bench-warming prompted a chant of "We want Nate" while the East was breaking open the game in the third quarter.

The West went into the game as a slight favorite, primarily because of a towering front line featuring Wilt Chamberlain, Wicks, Seattle's Spencer Haywood, Golden State's Nate Thurmond and Detroit's Bob Lanier. Despite the absence of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who withdrew for personal reasons, they figured to overwhelm the East. But Boston's Dave Cowens, who led the East with 15 points and both teams with 13 rebounds, spearheaded a hustling, banging effort that won him the Most Valuable Player prize. And he had valuable rebound help from Celtics' teammate John Havlicek, Baltimore's Elvin Hayes and New York's Dave DeBusschere and Walt Frazier as the East accumulated a rebounding edge of 66-53.

"Everybody won the game for us," Heinsohn said. "We had all the fast break guys and that's the way we played the game." Heinsohn used various combinations of eight men—Cowens, DeBusschere, Frazier, Pete Maravich, Havlicek, Hayes, Lenny Wilkens and Jo-Jo White—for most of the game. Sharman substituted more and the West was more ragged. "Trying to play 14 men is impossible," the Laker coach said afterward. "Turnovers hurt us badly."

"We tried to run with them," he added. "But I guess they had a little more speed." Over in the East locker room, Havlicek concurred. "The only advantage we had was speed," he said. "The only question was if we could get the rebounds because we knew we could beat them down the floor." The East victory raised its edge in the series to 15-8 and broke a two-game West winning streak.

Cougars Maintain Lead With Two-Point Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The second-place Indiana Pacers and Kentucky Colonels continued to ride the American Basketball Association treadmill Tuesday night. Both teams won, but so did the Utah Stars and Carolina Cougars, the clubs directly above them.

Utah maintained its 3½-game bulge over Indiana in the Western Division by shading Denver 108-104 while the Pacers were beating the New York Nets 110-103. In the Eastern Division, Carolina stayed 2½ games in front of Kentucky with a 124-122 squeaker over Memphis while the Colonels were trouncing Dallas 131-112. The only action in the National Basketball Association was the annual All-Star Game with the East routing the West 104-84. Ron Boone scored 27 points and James Jones 25 as Utah fought off a late Denver challenge. Boone snapped a tie from underneath with 1:45 left and Willie Wise scored on a drive with one minute to go. Ralph Simpson paced the Rockets with 24 points.

Medals will be awarded to the top 25 men and top 25 women in the two mile and to the top 15 in the one mile. Interested persons should contact Clem Williams, Box 701, Bethel, for further information.

GOLDSBORO — E. B. Aycock Junior High School rallied in the final period to gain a 39-36 victory over Goldsboro Junior High School yesterday. Goldsboro jumped off to an 8-3 lead in the first period, but the Phantoms came back to oust them, 10-8 in the second frame. Goldsboro still held the lead, however, 16-13, at halftime.

Aycock In 39-36 Win

Goldsboro again outthit the Aycock five in the third quarter, 13-11, and held a 29-24 advantage as the final period opened. Aycock came up with a 15-7 advantage in the final period, to surge ahead and take the win.

The win boosted the Aycock record to 2-4 on the year. Aycock travels to Kinston on Friday for its next game. E. B. Aycock 3 10 11 15-39 Goldsboro 8 8 13 7-36

Black Jack In First Defeat

Oakmont Baptist knocked off the last unbeaten in the Church Basketball League last night, downing Black Jack, 66-35. Immanuel Baptist dumped St. James, 61-39, in another game to take over first, while Presbyterian tied for second with a 70-41 win over Grace. Immanuel, 6-1, now leads the league by a half-game over Presbyterian, Black Jack and Oakmont, all 5-1. In the opening game, Presbyterian eased into a 28-23 lead over Grace in the first period. Then, in the second half, Presbyterian came back with a 42-18 advantage in scoring to win going away. Larry Graham led Presbyterian with 20 points, while Frank Freuler had 11 and Mike Gwynn and John Jackson each had 10. For Grace, Lewis

Hardee was high with 12. In the second game, Black Jack couldn't get cranked up in the first half, as Oakmont outthit them, 33-9. Oakmont again outscored Black Jack, 33-26, in the second half, to gain the victory. Doyle Daughtry led Oakmont with 15, while Bob Hall had 14, Robert Carraway had 13 and Ned Cheely had 10. Black Jack was paced by Randy Hudson with 11. Rounding out the night, Immanuel moved to a 32-17 lead in the first half. They again outscored St. James, 29-22, in the second half for the win and first place. David Hann led Immanuel with 20 points, while Drew Rumbley had 14 and Dick Evans had 10. Mike Board led St. James Indiana, led by George McGinnis, took charge in the second half after trailing by as many as 10 points. McGinnis had 35 points, 14 rebounds and five assists. He scored 23 points in the second half. Memphis led Carolina 119-117 with 1:22 left but a free throw by Mack Calvin and two by Ed Manning put the Cougars ahead for the first time since early in the game. Baskets by Billy Cunningham and Joe Caldwell put it out of reach and saddled the Tams with their 10th consecutive setback. All five Kentucky starters scored in double figures as the Colonels coasted past Dallas. Dan Issel was high with 33 points, Walt Simon had 29 and Artis Gilmore 27.

Stewart, Davis Pace Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pair of juniors, one of whom just started playing seven games ago, are making a runaway of the Southern Conference basketball scoring race, and it now seems unlikely they'll be challenged. Aron Stewart, a 6-foot-5 junior college transfer, has scored 207 points in his seven starts since he became eligible to play for Richmond's Spiders and has a commanding lead with a 29.6-point average. His last outing was a 39-point performance. He hasn't gained much ground, however, on 6-foot-2 junior Stan Davis of Appalachian State, who has poured in 72 points in his last two starts. Davis, playing since the season began, has 385 points in 15 games for a 25.7 average. Fessor "Moose" Leonard, Furman's 7-foot-1 sophomore, is third in the scoring derby with 310 points in 15 games, but his 20.7-point average doesn't offer him much chance for advancement. No other conference players are averaging 20 points a game. Freshman Mike Arizin of William and Mary is fourth with 246 points in 14 games for a 17.6 average, while All-Southern John Falconi of Davidson is fifth with 258 points in 15 games for a 17.2 mark. Another big scorer lately has been Steve Fishel of The Citadel, whose 50 points in his last two starts have boosted him to sixth place with 213 points in 13 games for a 16.4 average. Others in the top 10 are Chuck Cordell of The Citadel at 14.9, Clyde Mayes of Furman at 14.7, Jeff Snider of Richmond at 14.4 and All-Southern Roy Simpson of Furman at 14.3. With Leonard and Mayes, another sophomore, carrying Furman's scoring load, last year's pointmaking champion—the Paladins' All-Southern Russ Hunt—has tallied just 116 points in 15 games. All conference teams were idle Tuesday night, but three will be in action tonight against nonleague foes with Stewart and Davis both getting a shot at improving their averages. Richmond, 3-9 over-all, is host to Duke's Blue Devils of the Atlantic Coast Conference, while Appalachian State's Mountaineers, 3-12, are at home against UNC-Asheville. Tonight's other encounter has The Citadel's Bulldogs, 6-8, at Clemson for another Southern-ACC confrontation.

P. Office Wins First

The Post Office won its first game of the year in the Industrial Basketball League last night, downing Vermont American, 66-35. In the other game, Union Carbide nipped Prepshirt, 42-41. In the opening game, The Post Office roared away to a 31-13 lead in the first half of play. Then capped that with a 35-22 scoring edge over the Vermont American five in the second half. P. Fleming led the Post Office with 15 points, while D. Taylor had 12 and W. Hardee had 11. For Vermont American, R. Hill had 14. In the second game, Union Carbide eased ahead by the end of the first half, 23-18. Then, in the second half, they had to fight off Prepshirt, which outthit them, 23-19, and nearly pulled it off. Union Carbide was led by L. Boyd with 11 points, while C. Grey had 13 and W. Johnson had 12 for Prepshirt.

Hereford Wins Race

DURHAM — Eddie Hereford of the North Carolina Track Club, and a student at East Carolina University, won the 7th Annual Durham-Raleigh Marathon recently. Hereford's time of 2 hours, 22 minutes, 32 seconds took the event over Jeff Galloway of the Florida Track Club, a veteran of the Munich Olympics. Galloway finished in 2:28:50. Third place went to P. J. Leddy of East Tennessee State University in 2:33:24, an Irish national who made the All-American cross-country team at ETSU. Hereford, 17th in the Olympic trials this past summer for the United States, has since finished sixth in the National 30 Kilometer Championship and fourth in the Ahsokie Ten-Mile run. He plans to enter the Boston Marathon in April.

RACEHORSES PAY

LONDON (UPI) —Nineteenth century paintings of racehorses, a collecting passion among the British, have been bringing exceptionally high prices. John Frederick Herring's portrait of a bay, named Emilius and painted in 1823, brought $13,104 at an auction at Christie's.

Temple Coach Ending Career

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harry Litwack is leaving college basketball the way he lived it, placing the young men he coached for 21 years above the victories they earned. Litwack announced Tuesday he is retiring as head basketball coach at Temple University after this season. His 356 victories against 183 losses give him a winning percentage of .660, one of the best among active coaches. Litwack's Temple teams included a National Invitation Tournament champion and a pair of NCAA tourney third place finishers. What does the "Chief," as the cigar-chomping coach is familiarly known, cherish most from his long coaching career? "I'm not going to talk about the victories," replied the 65-year-old Litwack in his typical low key style. "It was the association with those nice young athletes, the future citizens who were going to take over. I wouldn't want to mention names. Some were more talented and went on to become professionals. But there were good ones too, who became doctors, lawyers, teachers, dentists. They all made contributions." The graying Litwack, whose reputation in college basketball is that of a coach who has done more with less playing talent than most of his colleagues, is retiring because of problems with his health. Litwack will be succeeded by his assistant, 35-year-old Don Casey, a former high school coach who has been a Temple assistant for seven years and directed the team several times this season when Litwack was sick.

Redding Seeks Seventh Straight Marquette Welcomes Chance To Roll To An Easy 76-55 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chris Redding of Duke will be seeking his seventh consecutive 20-point basketball game when the Blue Devils play at Richmond tonight.

The 6-foot-8 forward from Bethesda, Md., has averaged 27 points and 8 rebounds in his last six games. He has hit 51 of 85 from the floor for an average of 60 per cent, and has missed only nine of 69 from the free throw line.

During the streak he has been held below 25 points only once, when he scored 21 in a 75-73 victory over Clemson.

Redding, a junior, has been out of double figures only four times in 41 games. This season he has been held below 10 only once. That was against East Carolina, when he had to leave the game because of a head injury after he had played only eight minutes.

Coach Bucky Waters says, "We thought Redding had an outstanding sophomore season in the Atlantic Coast Conference a year ago, but his play this year has been nothing short of fantastic. The extra 20 pounds Chris put in over the off-season will make him a better player down the stretch, when we will need him the most."

The best scorer for Richmond is Aaron Stewart, who has averaged 29.5 in his last seven games.

Duke will be trying to even its record at 8-8. Richmond of the Southern Conference is 3-9.

Clemson, the only other ACC team to play tonight, will be host to another Southern Conference team, The Citadel.

Clemson has lost its last five games, but three of them have been to N. C. State, North Carolina, and Maryland, ranked Nos. 2, 3 and 4.

Clemson is 5-9 for the season and the Citadel is 6-8.

Van Gregg, who scored 24 points against N. C. State last Saturday night, is the leading Clemson scorer with a 15-point average. Jeff Reisinger, the only Clemson player to start in all 14 games this season, is next at 10.7.

The top point makers for the Citadel are Steve Fishel, 15.3 average, Chuck Cordell, 14.9, and Oscar Scott, 10.4.

Maryland was the only ACC team to play Tuesday night, defeating Long Island University 100-73 at home. The Terps brought their record to 13-1.

Jim O'Brien scored 20 and Tom McMillen 18 for them.

Ruben Rodriguez had 24 for the Blackbirds, who are 6-8.

Don Washington, North Carolina sophomore star who has been out since breaking a bone in his left foot in the fifth game of the season on Dec. 9, is almost ready to play again.

However, Coach Dean Smith said he doubts that Washington will play more than a minute or two, if at all, in the home games against Virginia Thursday night and against Maryland in a nationally televised game at noon Saturday. Smith said it is more likely that he will be able to play against Wake Forest at home next Wednesday.

Washington played in three of the Tar Heels' first four games and averaged 21.3 points.

The Marquette Warriors have certainly had their ups and downs this season.

On Tuesday night, they had them both in one game.

Their offense consisted of no more than just putting the ball up and letting their big guys slam it down," said Northern Michigan Coach Glenn Brown after dropping a 76-55 basketball decision to the 10th-ranked Warriors.

After the Warriors lost their first two games of the season last week, a soft-touch opponent was welcome relief.

"I think we played relatively close together for this kind of game, but that should be our last easy one for a while," said Marquette Coach Al McGuire. "Northern Michigan did the best they could—but we're just too strong."

The Warriors, virtually unbeatable at home where they've lost only once in the last 84 games, have plenty of road engagements the rest of the way. They will play only three of the next 11 games at home.

Northern Michigan's starting front line averages about an inch shorter than Marquette's. But while it's not a dramatic height advantage, the Warriors are more of a physical team.

"And they shoot better than we were led to believe," added Brown.

In other games Tuesday night, fourth-ranked Maryland drubbed Long Island University 100-73; No. 18 Kansas State stopped Kansas 77-68; Oral Roberts ripped Pan American 87-68; Texas A&M defeated

Texas 69-64; Southern Methodist smothered Texas Christian 104-71; Baylor slapped Arkansas 76-70; Air Force slugged Southern Colorado State 74-58; Oklahoma City topped Tulsa 100-96; Lafayette beat West Virginia 61-60; Texas Tech whipped Rice 76-70 and Denver turned back Western State in overtime, 106-98.

Larry McNeil's 21 points and a 15-point, 13-rebound performance by George Frazier paced Marquette to its 13th victory in 15 starts. Northern Michigan, 7-6, cut an early 12-point Marquette lead to four points in the first half, but a pair of baskets by Maurice Lucas got the home team rolling again.

Maryland outscored LIU 21-4 in the first seven minutes of the second half enroute to its 13th victory in 14 starts this year.

Jim O'Brien led the Terps with 20 points. Ten of them were scored during the first nine minutes after intermission as Maryland charged to a 73-45 lead.

Ernie Kusnyer and Steve Mitchell scored all 25 points to start the second half, leading Kansas State over Kansas. Trailing 37-34 at the half, the Wildcats wasted little time in taking charge of the game after intermission.

BEST COMEBACK TEAM

Foreman Says He'll Let People Choose Opponent

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — George Foreman, the new heavyweight champion of the world, says he'll let the people dictate his next opponent—and the voice of the people roared back today in a rising swell.

"Give us Foreman vs. Muhammad Ali," they said.

That blue ribbon pairing is unlikely to come off this year. Ali, 31 and faced for the second time with a long period of ring rust, may be forced to cool his heels for a couple of years.

"I think Foreman will make us wait a while," said Angelo Dundee of Miami, Ali's trainer who predicted Foreman's victory over Joe Frazier. "He doesn't want us too soon."

"But it would make one whale of a fight."

Dundee got an echo from Ali's long-time confidante and court jester, Drew (Bundini) Brown.

"They just gonna sit and let us grow old," lamented Bundini. Meanwhile, there were other complications. Foreman and his manager, Dick Sadler, must dispose of a mysterious paper admittedly signed by Sadler agreeing to a return bout with Frazier in Houston.

Harry Barnett, Washington, D.C., attorney for Sadler, said it was just "a piece of paper and not valid."

Other contenders, such as Jimmy Ellis, Oscar Bonavena and Jerry Quarry, who happened to be bypassed in Foreman's impressive sweep to 38 straight victories, are lining up and demanding recognition.

It's now a big payday for anyone who fights the strapping, 24-year-old former Golden Gloves champion, who floored Frazier six times in 4 minutes 35 seconds and scored a stunning second round upset in Kingston's

National Arena Monday night.

The first firm offer came from Chris Dundee, Miami Beach promoter and brother of Angelo, who offered Foreman $500,000 to meet Ellis in Miami Beach March 19.

Foreman wasn't listening.

The new champion planned to spend a couple of days relaxing on this tropical island and then fly to Minneapolis to be with his wife, Adrienne, and their 18-day-old daughter, Michi.

76ers Fire Their Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Roy Rubin of the lowly Philadelphia 76ers was fired Tuesday night and replaced by Kevin Loughery, who will serve as player-coach of the National Basketball Association team.

The announcement was made after the NBA's All-Star game in which the East defeated the West 104-84.

Don DeJardin, general manager of the 76ers, made the announcement and said Loughery, an 11-season NBA veteran, was given a contract which will cover the present season and the following two years.

Loughery, 32, becomes the NBA's youngest coach. He played with Detroit and Baltimore before joining the 76ers in a deal for Archie Clark.

Rubin was in his first season as coach of the 76ers, who currently have a 4-47 record, the worst in professional basketball.

DeJardin said Rubin's three-year contract will have to be settled and added that the dismissed coach will be offered a scouting job for the remainder of the season.

Rubin had been under fire from Philadelphia sports writers, fans and his own players since the 76ers lost 19 of their first 20 games, including the first 15 in a row, tying the NBA record for opening season loss streak.

Loughery, who will be 33 on March 28, came to the 76ers from Baltimore Oct. 18, 1971 with Fred Carter in a trade for Archie Clarke. He played with the Detroit Pistons for 1½ seasons after playing college ball at St. John's, before going to the Bullets.

Reign Of The Mane Seems To Be On The Wane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The reign of the mane is on the wane.

Men have begun to wear their hair shorter, say barbers and hair stylists from cities like New York, Los Angeles, Atlanta and Denver. Not short-short. But a lot shorter than a year ago. And many stylists believe short hair is now "in" for women, too.

"All of a sudden the men who were letting their hair go below their shoulders have begun putting the shears closer to the ears," says Phil Angelo, president of the American Society of Men's Hair Stylists.

At an international coiffure convention in Crans, Switzerland, last week, Paris coiffeur Robert Guery predicted that super-long manes for males are definitely doomed and that hip-length hair styles are also on the way out.

Acting as spokesman for the convention, Guery said 1973 will see different lengths of hair, but none of them "excessive." Moderate lengths already are in among males, he said, "and those sporting them keep their hair very well groomed."

Why shorter hair? It's easier to manage, say the men, who are tired of struggling with hand dryers and split ends. Also, hair doesn't go with the trend to neat, natty fashions. Besides, long hair isn't a shock to the older generation anymore. In fact, they've followed suit, in a moderate way.

Short hair abounds around film studios, boutiques and art galleries in Los Angeles. Hair cutters in celebrated Beverly Hills salons report 60 to 90 per cent of their clients — men and women — are going in for shorter hair.

Among the recently shorn, more or less, are Steve McQueen, Mick Jagger, Kirk Douglas, Tony Randall, Suzanne Pleshette, Elvis Presley, Paul Lynde, Elliott Gould, Tony Franciosa and George Segal.

However, the 1970s short cuts are not the old, skinned rabbit look of previous decades. Instead, they are often styled with no side part, an exposed ear and an over-all short, flat, layered effect.

The elegant look in man's fashions has pushed the trend along.

"We're doing a promotion of the Gatsby look. It's more groomed and cleaner. We're getting away from the scraggly look," says Jackie Rogers, whose customers include actor Michael Caine and singer Tom Jones.

Barbers serving college campuses say more students are going the shorter route — at UCLA, the University of Minnesota, Emory University and Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta and the University of Colorado at Denver.

However, more kids make a slow change — inch by painful inch, starting with shorter hair around the face, says a Denver stylist.

"Some kids are coming in not only to get haircuts but also to get their beards trimmed," says Harry Goss, a barber near UCLA for 26 years.

A UCLA student explains that kids don't feel they have to protest any longer against their parents, the establishment or life.

"Looking back on it now, I realize I grew long hair as a protest against my honky parents," says Bill Swartz, age 24, a psychology major, who's gone from shoulder length to just-below-the-collar hair.

Also, a lot of middle-age fathers are wearing their hair a bit longer — or "mid-ear lobe." President Nixon, for instance,

Undersea Waste Disposal Tested

NEW YORK (UPI) — It may be possible to dispose of organic waste in the deep ocean without polluting the immediate sea floor. carries into, his second term longer sideburns and hair in back.

Like barbers, women's hair stylists agree that hair is definitely coming off. The new styles range from a radical one-inch-all-over cut to a more moderate collar length.

"The women who've worn their hair quite long are cutting it to more swinging lengths — between the chin and the shoulder," says Kenneth, in New York. "I think by summer we'll have some very short cuts."

Reports conflict on teens and their long, long hair. They're chopping it off in Atlanta and Indianapolis, say stylists. They're hanging on to it in Chicago and Scarsdale, N.Y. They're getting it shaped a bit in Baltimore.

French urchin styles, Flash Gordon "Mercury cuts" and simple shags are the big thing for women in Los Angeles — and the pageboy should have a strong run, say stylists.

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are about 135,000 hairs in a wig, says Richard Hartwich, wig designer. He said the finest wigs are made by hand and it takes an experienced worker about a week to crochet and hand knot those 135,000 hairs.

Last Year's Mild Winter Can Result In Shivers

By CATHY STEELE
Associated Press Writer

An exceptionally mild winter a year ago means some North Carolinians may shiver if a prolonged cold snap comes this year.

Lowder Coal and Oil, an independent fuel oil distributor in Charlotte, received the same amount of oil this month from its supplier as it did in January, 1972, and that month was 18 per cent warmer than the average January.

A monthly quota is common with both independent distributors and those who market the products of a single large company. Quotas are based on sales for the month in the previous year.

Much of the nation has already put on extra blankets and stocked up on firewood because of a shortage of fuel oil and other heating products, but the outlook is good in North Carolina for adequate supplies.

most dealers say.

There is wide divergence of opinion among both oil companies and distributors as to how serious the shortage of fuel oil and kerosene actually is. Some said if there is another spell of very low temperatures the fuel situation could become "critical", while others said they have had no problem filling orders and anticipate none.

An Exxon spokesman said the company expects to be able to meet its contractual commitments to dealers across the state, even if there is more cold weather. Distributors of Exxon fuel oil in Charlotte were optimistic about supplies, although W.E. King of F & R Oil Co. said if exceptionally low temperatures hit again and continued for a long period, shortages could develop. He said the consumption of fuel oil has been above normal all winter and was double the normal the week showed.

Other distributors reported they have experienced quota cutbacks from their suppliers. J. Ralph Looper Oils, distributors of American Oil products, said its quota was reduced 10 per cent for January. Mrs. Looper expressed doubt that they will be able to take care of all their customers. But she said, "it won't do them any good to go from pillar to post" because other dealers are not able to take on new business.

Other suppliers concurred on the subject of new business. None were soliciting it and many said they could not accommodate additional customers. Some distributors said they could take on individual residents, but indicated they would be particular about the customer's credit. Most said they would have to turn down large commercial orders.

Killian Oil Company in Charlotte also reported a quota cutback from its supplier, but John Killian said the firm can take care of its current customers. He pointed to distribution and storage problems as part of the cause of the shortage. "You can't warehouse oil like canned goods," Killian said.

One fuel oil dealer reported delivering oil to a hospital normally heated by natural gas. Mrs. Lemar Gunter of Piedmont Natural Gas explained that gas companies offer special reduced rate interruptible service to commercial and industrial customers. Those customers receive natural gas when the supply is plentiful but are cut off when it is tight. They are therefore required to maintain and alternate source for heating.

Both Piedmont and the Public Service Gas Co. of North Carolina said many of their interruptible customers are off gas due to the cold spell and increased demand. Spokesman for both firms said, however, it is normal for such service to be interrupted in the winter and the interruption is not an indication of abnormal shortages.

Gas companies spokesmen said there are adequate supplies to serve all their customers with contracts for continuous service and they do not anticipate any unusual difficulties.

Electric utilities are also optimistic, although a spokesman for Duke Power Co. said reserves are in tight supply this winter. But he says it would take the loss of several generating units to cause any real trouble. If shortages did occur, the first step would be a 5 per cent voltage reduction and an appeal to the public to conserve electricity.

Albert Morris at Carolina Power and Light Co. said it doesn't anticipate shortages. He reported electricity output recently hit its winter peak at 3,957,000 kilowatts, which does not equal last summer's peak of more than 4 million kilowatts.

Conrad McGinley of Shell Oil indicated fuel oil is in tight supply but said contracts with suppliers are being met. He added kerosene shortages are more severe than fuel oil shortages.

One Shell distributor, C.R. Mullis, reported its supply was not short and said he would take on new business.

L.P. Eaton, an independent oil dealer in Charlotte, reported he had run out of kerosene and had been unable to purchase it from his regular supplier to fill his orders. But he said he'd managed to buy a limited supply elsewhere for a price 10 per cent higher than normal.

Gulf Oil reported no shortages to date and said its distributors are receiving their usual allotments. A spokesman for Barnes Fuel Oils, a Gulf distributor, reported no problems. Gene Hayes, another Gulf distributor, said the company told him there would be no trouble, unless there is an exceptionally cold spell that last a month or two.

Citgo also said it has an adequate supply to meet existing commitments as established by last year's purchases.

Series Fails Answer Own 2 Questions

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News' excellent "White Paper" series has set out to closely examine the probable shape and direction of the American military machine when and if the Vietnam war ends.

Tuesday night, the first of the network's two-part study of the U.S. military went on the air. It was a thoughtful, well-edited and well-researched look at America's strategic forces, the forces that would be used in all-out nuclear war.

Unfortunately, the program failed to answer the two basic questions it posed at the start — what do we want from the armed forces in the 1970s and how do we want them to change?

It effectively recapped what nuclear horrors both this nation and the Soviet Union now have and will possess. It studied the continuation of what Winston Churchill called "the balance of terror."

And it also restated what has and hasn't been accomplished in the SALT — strategic arms limitation talks.

But it never quite came to grips with basic questions it may answer next Tuesday, when a second "White Paper" segment makes a broader examination of the U.S. military of the future.

Still, the first show illustrated well that the balance of nuclear terror remains a reality — even if it is generally ignored or forgotten amid apparent easing of world tension and presidential trips to the Soviet Union and Communist China.

As narrator Floyd Kalber points out, "we have enough nuclear weapons to destroy more than there is in the world," yet "each year we have more weapons. Each year we are less safe."

The program, written by Fred Freed, also took a look at our strategic weaponry from the viewpoint of Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., a young vocal critic of ever-increasing military budgets.

Aspin, 34, is a junior member of the House Armed Services Committee. He's unique in one respect: he's worked the other side of the fence as an economic advisor to Robert S. McNamara when the latter was secretary of Defense.

"It's silly to go on adding more and more (weapons)," Aspin contends. "It's silly, for example, to have three different ways of killing the Russians when only one will do."

"There is a threat, but we have more than enough to meet that threat. We have more than enough to meet any threat?"

Is he right? How many on Capitol Hill would support his views and is that support growing? Should there be a congressional revolt against swollen defense budgets, how would it affect America's military in the coming years? The show doesn't ask.

Older Workers May Be Better

NEW YORK (UPI) — When the average worker passes the age of 65, he usually is not as efficient as a younger man, is injured more often and is absent from work for longer periods—right or wrong?

Wrong, reports the Institute of Life Insurance. A survey by the New York State Division of Human Rights concludes that workers over 65 perform their jobs "about equal to and sometimes better than younger workers." The older workers also have fewer on-the-job accidents and are less often absent from work because of illness.

Intensify Their Psychic Studies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Russian scientists are intensifying their studies of psychic phenomena, according to Alexander Everett, president of Mind Dynamics, an educational institution which teaches self-improvement through the controlled use of alpha waves.

Everett made that point when speaking in New York on Soviet efforts to utilize psychic energies. He was one of a small group of American scientists and educators invited to Moscow last summer for a closed international conference at the Russian Institute of Parapsychology. Russian scientists reported on investigations of the psychic, its meaning and possible usefulness.

Honor For Local Club

Larry R. Stox of Greenville, junior director of Modern Woodmen of America Junior Service Club 13885, has led the group to Merit Club status for the past year.

Modern Woodmen of America is a fraternal insurance society with home office in Rock Island, Ill.

Of the society's more than 300 junior service clubs throughout the nation, 123 attained merit status this year.

The local club determined its own merit rating through its performance and home office evaluation of monthly activity reports. Club members' efforts in monthly meetings and programs, community service events and membership increases were all rated by the home office.

Stox earned special recognition for his club's rating. The local club received a special citation ribbon denoting its status as a merit club for its decorative axe trophy.

Fixed Price For Meals Started

LONDON (AP) — Many leading British hotels and restaurants are to provide fixed-price, all inclusive meals under the sign "Visitors' Menu Served."

The scheme, sponsored by the British Travel Assn. and the English Tourist Board, will come into operation early this year. The menu will show a three-course meal including coffee and charges.

Prices will vary, as the menu must be in keeping with the quality of food usually served in the restaurant.

Beware

DETROIT (UPI) — Never shift to a lower gear while driving a car down an icy hill, auto experts warn. The sudden drag caused by the braking effect of engine compression could send the drive wheels into a skid.

The 'Worry Clinic' 3-Child Family More Logical

Prof. Arnold says he is appalled that I urge wives to have 3 or 4 kiddies! That "Population Explosion" is chiefly among the 20,000,000 feeble-minded who breed like guinea pigs and then make you literate taxpayers support them royally!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
CASE W-507: Arnold M., aged 35, is a sociology professor. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I am astounded at you!"
"For in a recent column, you urged wives to have 3 or 4 children."
"And to do so early in their marriage."
"Aren't you aware of the population explosion?"
"You should tell females to do something else with their lives than produce babies."
"I teach a large class in 'Population Problems' at the state university."
"So I am appalled at this incredible lack of responsibility in your daily column!"

Bravo, Debate
It is always a delight to me to have people disagree.
As a student at Northwestern University, I was a middweight boxer but also Captain of the Debate Team.

And those two hobbies are far more closely related than many people imagine.
For boxing is a form of debate with fists instead of tongues!
William Wrigley, Jr., once made this clever diagnosis:
"When 2 men in a business always agree, one of them's unnecessary!"

So the function of good newspapers is to arouse debate. Even in a threshing machine opposing rollers are needed to tear the chaff from the kernels of wheat.
For if the rollers both pushed the wheat in the same direction, the grains would not be exposed!
If Prof. Arnold's mother had agreed with him that "females do something else with their lives than produce babies," where would he be today?

His university would obviously not have the benefit of his Ph. D. training.
Remember, it requires at least 3 children per married couple just to maintain our present population!

For disease, cancer, auto wrecks and war, plus the 1,000,000 deaths annually from heart disease, keep cutting down the increase by new births.

Besides, many spinsters and bachelors don't marry.
For example, we have over 5,000,000 women above the age of 21 who lack husbands, since they outnumber men by that amount.

And millions of homosexuals, lesbians and sterile couples don't even add a single youngster to the next generation.
Professor Arnold should not be worrying about any overpopulation of you intelligent newspaper readers.
Instead, he should be focussing on the 20,000,000 outright feeble-minded in this country!

On welfare, they are now subsidized, medicated, coddled and then allowed to breed like guinea pigs, averaging over 5 children per adult couple, often illegitimate!

And some impractical dogooders are even urging you hard working taxpayers to furnish them a "free salary" of $6,500 per year for each family of 4.

In addition, you are to be forced to give them free housing!
Alas, you newspaper readers (literate Americans) don't average even 2 children per couple, partly because you are being taxed to death to finance the big families of the subnormals on relief!

Yet it is your intelligent kiddies that must defend this country in time of war!
For the feeble-minded 20,000,000 are "screened" out of our Military Forces, to loll at home, sipping their beer and watching TV, bought with your taxes.

The first tall clocks in England more than two centuries ago were known as long-case clocks.

Opening lead: Ace of ♥ South combined a good sense of timing with careful conservation of his resources to negotiate the 11 tricks required to land his five club contract.

West opened the ace of hearts and when his partner signalled encouragingly with the nine, he continued with the jack which South ruffed with the seven of clubs.

South cashed the ace of spades to test that suit and when the nine appeared on his right, he decided to proceed with caution. A diamond was led to the ace in order to return a small spade from dummy. East chose to discard a heart and declarer put up the king of spades.

A small spade was ruffed with the jack of clubs. The closed hand was reentered by leading the five of clubs to the ten, and South's remaining small spade was trumped high again with dummy's king. A club put declarer in to draw the outstanding trump with the ace and queen. The queen of spades and the king of diamonds scored his 10th and 11th tricks on the deal.

If South ever attempts to cash a second high spade from his hand, he will fall short of his goal subsequently because East will trump away one of declarer's winners. As the play actually developed, it would not have helped East to ruff the second spade lead, since South would have followed with a small spade from his hand. Declarer is now in position to draw trump with two pulls and discard two diamonds from dummy on the king and queen of spades. He subsequently ruffs out one diamond as well as his remaining spade—losing one heart trick and one ruff on the deal.
