Equal Rights Amendment Critic May See Backfire

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A fiery speech against the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution may have backfired in favor of pro-ERA forces, according to several members of the North Carolina General Assembly.

The speech was delivered at a joint meeting of the legislature's constitution committees Thursday by Dr. Robert E. Lee, a 67-year-old Wake Forest University law professor.

Lee had been billed as a man who was going to give the committee an impartial briefing by Sen. Fred Folger, D-Surry.

But when the shortly black haired professor arrived in the legislative auditorium, he said he had not made any such agreement with Folger and proceeded to lambast the amendment as a "Pandora's Box" that would cost women more than they would gain if it is ratified.

His speech drew hisses, laughter, and mocking applause from a crowd of about 500 on-lookers, mostly women wearing green and black "ERA Yes" stickers. Many complained afterwards that there should have been a speaker to rebut Lee.

Lee's anger with the crowd grew toward the end of his speech, and he turned to the hecklers and told them, "Just remember this: all of these many legal rights you now have, you wouldn't have it men hadn't released them to you."

One anti-ERA legislator, Sen. Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston, said afterwards that "it (Lee's presentation) enhanced the amendment's chances for passage." A total of 22 of the 38 states needed to make the amendment part of the Constitution have so far ratified it.

Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, commented that he had decided to support the ERA despite the fact that "I agreed with every legal point he (Lee) made. I just want to get them (the pro-ERA women) off my back," he said.

Sen. Charles Deane, D-Richmond, the ERA's sponsor in the upper house, found himself in an intriguing position. After the hearing, Folger apologized to Deane and offered to hold another hearing at which a pro-ERA legal expert could speak.

But Deane was not certain that would be necessary. "We'll have to decide whether that will help us or hurt us in light of what happened today," he said. Deane, a former student of Lee's, declined to comment on whether he thought the speech was effective.

The huge turnout of spectators and the attendant publicity will probably mean that next week's hearing will overflow from the legislative auditorium. It will be divided into 45-minute segments in which pro and anti-ERA forces will speak their minds.

Lee's presentation had traced the "steady rise" of women from "beasts of burden and domestic animals" to her present position as a "queen on her throne" in the household, which he said was appropriate for "our matriarchal society."

Among them, he mentioned laws which require men to support women and children, laws which protect a woman's interests in joint property matters, and laws which stipulate segregation of the sexes in prisons and other institutions.

He compared the women's movement to a football team that has been gaining yardage steadily on the ground. "It would not be smart to try a forward pass (the ERA)," he said. "It might be intercepted."

Lee said women's equality could be achieved without sacrificing any benefits either through "piecemeal" legislative reform or through judicial extension of the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment.

If the Equal Rights Amendment goes through, he said, a host of laws beneficial to women would be struck down.

AIMED AT PICKETS
RALEIGH (AP) — Sen. Luther Britt, D-Robeson, has introduced legislation in the N.C. Senate which would ban picketing or parading within 500 feet of any courthouse or resident occupied by a judge, juror, witness, solicitor or court officer.

SOLDIER KILLED
BELFAST (AP) — A sniper killed a British soldier in Strabane Thursday night as bombs and rioting shook Belfast.

Poisson commented Thursday that a one and a half-cent a quart increase to the consumer "is more than I thought it would be."

Milk consumers in Pitt County will feel the effect of a price increase of milk Monday.

According to local dairies, the cost of milk will increase one and a half cents per quart but local super markets say they have not been informed about the price increase yet.

According to local super market owners, they will probably be notified of the increase next week. Currently, most markets are selling milk for 68 cents per half gallon.

B. C. Mangum, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, said he saw no justification for any increase to the consumer above one cent a quart. He said it was "unfortunate" that the processors were "taking advantage of the situation."

President Asks For Congress' Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, already beset by congressional critics of his belt-tightening new budget, appealed directly to Congress today to work with him to achieve administration goals which he said mark "a fresh approach to government."

In the first of a series of State of the Union reports, Nixon pledged "to do my part to achieve a constructive working relationship with Congress" controlled by the opposition Democrats. He said:

"My sincere hope is that the executive and legislative branches can work together in this great undertaking in a positive spirit of mutual respect and cooperation."

This first Nixon report was long on generalities but short on specifics. In essence, he stated, then underscored two basic positions:

"In the field of foreign policy, we must remember that a strong America—an America whose word is believed and whose strength is respected—is essential to continued peace and understanding in the world."

Nixon said the Vietnam peace agreement has strengthened "basic American credibility" and added, "We must act in such a way in coming years that this credibility will remain intact, and with it the world stability of which it is so indispensable a part."

"At home, we must reject the mistaken notion—a notion that has dominated too much of the public dialogue for too long—that ever-bigger government is the answer to every problem."

The chief executive asserted, "We have learned only too well that heavy taxation and excessive government spending are not a cure-all."

Democrats in Congress, particularly, have been critical of Nixon's intention to scrap a broad variety of existing federal programs, most of them in the social welfare area. Without referring to such criticism, Nixon said:

"The policies which I will outline to the Congress in weeks ahead represent a reaffirmation, not an abdication of federal responsibility. They represent a pragmatic, rededicated social compassion and national excellence, in place of the continuation and good intentions and fuzzy follow-through which too often in the past was thought sufficient."

One of the few specifics Nixon cited was a list of State of the Union reports yet to come. He said these would include "economic affairs, natural resources, human resources, community development and foreign and defense policy."

The President indicated he would have still another message calling anew for congressional approval of a plan to reorganize the Cabinet structure and create new departments of natural resources, human resources and community development.

Declaring that "the basic state of our union today is sound, and full of promise," Nixon said that if Americans work together his final White House years can be "the best four years in American history."

But he said that "hard decisions must be made, and we must stick by them."

Returning to a theme he has stressed repeatedly in recent months, Nixon said the nation faces "a critical choice in 1973 between holding the line in government spending and adopting expensive programs which will surely force up taxes and refuel inflation.

"The answer to many of the domestic problems we face is not higher taxes and more spending," he said. "It is less waste, more results and greater freedom for the individual American to earn a rightful place in his own community—and for states and localities to address their own needs in their own ways, in the light of their own priorities."

Decline In Jobless Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped slightly last month to 5 per cent of the work force, lowest in 2½ years, the Labor Department reported today.

The actual number of Americans out of work rose 560,000, but since it normally climbs more than that in January, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a decline on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The 5 per cent jobless rate, down from 5.1 per cent in December, had been the Nixon administration's goal for reducing joblessness by the end of last year. The January report means the administration missed its target by only one month.

Top Peacekeepers Finally Convene

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The chief delegates of the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong on a peace-keeping military commission met for the first time today to take up an agenda including arrangements for the completion of American troop withdrawals and prisoner exchanges, U.S. officials reported.

A third pressing item on the agenda, the American officials said, was to arrange security for field teams of the International Commission of Control and Supervision who are to police the cease-fire.

The observers from Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia are already three days behind the schedule specified in the cease-fire agreement for setting up regional headquarters in Hue, Da Nang, Pleiku, Phan Thiet, Bien Hoa, My Tho and Can Tho.

U.S. officials termed the meeting "significant."

There were other signs that the peacekeeping commissions are getting into action.

U.S. helicopters flew 40 more Viet Cong delegates and 4,000 pounds of their supplies from their district headquarters at Loc Ninh to Saigon to join the joint military commission.

Sunday was reported to be the target for deployment of Communist representatives to the seven regional headquarters where the international supervisory teams will be based.

The international commission sent advance teams today to Pleiku, Da Nang and Hue to check out accommodations, transportation and communication facilities.

Col. Keith MacGregor of the Canadian delegation told newsmen at Pleiku that a full team of about 30 members should be there in two to four days.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the South Vietnamese command, said there were no sustained battles anywhere in the country. But he claimed there were 200 more Communist violations of the cease-fire during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. Many were shelling attacks.

Hien said 524 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and 47 South Vietnamese were killed during the latest reporting period. He said 185 government troops were wounded and 82 were missing.

Hien conceded that there had been an over-all decrease in fighting in the past two days. But he added that this is only one factor in having an "effective and serious cease-fire." He said teams of the peacekeeping commissions were needed in the field.

Sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., was sentenced today to two to six years in prison and fined $30,000 on charges of accepting an illegal gratuity.

His codefendant, former lobbyist Cyrus T. Anderson, was sentenced to 1½ to 4½ years in prison and fined $30,000.

U.S. District Court Judge George Hart told Brewster as he imposed sentence, "I find myself facing a man trusted by the people of Maryland... a man who violated that trust."

Defer Action On N.C. Housing Corp. 'Death'

RALEIGH (AP) — The House State Government Committee has deferred action on a bill to abolish the North Carolina Housing Corporation at the request of the Holshouser administration.

Secretary of Administration William Bondurant said a four-week delay is needed so he can look into the housing agency and decide the position the administration will take on the move to abolish it.

The request for a delay came after a public hearing at which sponsors of the bill said the corporation had failed to get off the ground with a projected program to finance thousands of homes for low income North Carolinians.

But the sponsors of the bill to abolish the agency, Reps. J. F. Mohn, D-Onslow, and Sam Johnson, D-Wake, joined in making the motion that the delay be granted.

Bondurant said during the four-week respite "we shall seek the advice of housing and bond experts, members of the corporation board and others."

The state official said he would try to decide "whether the state has a role in housing and if so whether remedial legislation is needed."

Mohn led off the witnesses at the hearing and told the legislators the housing corporation "has not been productive... has not fulfilled the purpose for which it was created."

"We cannot justify a continued spending of the North Carolina funds for a non-productive cause," Mohn said.

Johnson noted that market conditions have prevented the corporation from marketing bonds to finance housing for low income families.

"If this (the housing corporation) is a solution to our housing problem then we have

Trucking Firms Report Possible Cut In Service

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Spokesmen for several trucking lines operating out of Charlotte say a cutback in their diesel fuel supplies may force them to curtail operations.

Richard Lenczowski, operations manager for Adley Express Co., said the firm has been getting only 53,000 gallons of fuel a month from Texaco whereas in the past the company received 78,000 gallons.

He said some curtailment in operations might be necessary if the fuel supply is cut still further.

C. Max Misenheimer, executive vice president of Central Motor Lines Inc., said Gulf Oil imposed a quota on diesel fuel about two weeks ago. He estimated the reduction for his firm at 20 per cent but said he was able to make this up from other sources.

Lellon Boykin of Bowman Transportation Inc. said his firm is using outside suppliers to supplement fuel from his regular supplier. Boykin added, "If the outside supply gives out, naturally we have no choice but to park some units."

Spokesmen for Gulf and Texaco said they were rationing diesel fuel, but Gulf added that nobody was in trouble. Exxon said it had not imposed restrictions but was not taking on new customers.

Oil company spokesmen blamed several factors for low supplies of diesel fuel. They said these included a colder winter than normal and limited availability of foreign oil supplies.

Says Courts $66 Million Budget For May Step In Carolina Tel Announced

RALEIGH (AP) — Rep. Howard Twigg, D-Wake, has told members of the House Mental Health Committee that the courts might act to upgrade mental hospitals in North Carolina if the General Assembly does not.

Twigg, president-elect of the North Carolina Mental Health Association, said Thursday conditions were bad enough in many state hospitals that a court might well impose minimum standards, as has happened in Alabama.

Superintendents of three of the state's four mental hospitals told the committee prior to Twigg's remarks that part of their problem is finding and keeping competent staff members.

Dr. Robert Rollins of Do-rothea Dix Hospital said he had trouble finding dietary and housekeeping personnel.

The head of Umstead Hospital in Butler, Dr. P. J. Irigaray, said he had been forced to use patients to do jobs that should be done by employees.

Dr. Ladislav Peter said his problem was finding physicians.

TARBORO — Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company has announced a construction and expansion program in excess of $66,000,000 for 1973, the largest undertaking in the company's history. This will amount to more than $263,000 each working day this year.

H. Dail Holderness, president of the company, said that this extensive effort will exceed last year's construction expenditures by $14.5 million or 29 percent.

The largest single item in the firm's 1973 budget will be local and long distance central office equipment, for which $31,700,000 has been allocated.

Land and buildings and general equipment will amount to $3,000,000. These expenditures are expected to increase Carolina Telephone's plant investment to $11,900,000.

Stress Party Unity At Demo Women's Meet

Democratic Party unity was the theme stressed here Thursday night at a meeting of the Pitt County Democratic Women's Organization.

Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Graham. "During the campaign a great deal of talk was heard about party unity. Unfortunately, that's all it amounted to talk. The results of the gubernatorial and senatorial races proved that," Graham declared.

Democratic candidates when I thank you personally for supporting them as well as myself," Graham said.

Tennala Gross briefly presented the tenets of the Equal Rights Amendment to be voted on by the General Assembly during this session. She moved that the Democratic Women go on record as supporting the amendment. Mrs. Betty Speir seconded the motion and the measure was unanimously approved by the members present. The president of the organization, Mrs. Katherine Lewis, said she would see that letters are written to each representative and Senator stating the Democratic Women's views on the ERA.

Graham noted that Democrats cannot look with despair at recent setbacks. "We must and we will look upon them as a great, if painful lesson and from it determine never to repeat those mistakes again."

Ann Burks introduced the commissioner. In conclusion Graham praised the overall efforts of the Pitt County Democrats. "You wonderful ladies deserve the gratitude of all good Democrats. It is because of you that men like Representatives Sam Bundy and Horton Rountree and Senators Julian Allsbrook and Vernon White speak for you in the General Assembly. I would surely be remiss if I did not applaud your efforts in keeping Walter Jones in Washington. "I believe I speak for all Police are investigating a break-in at 2002 East Fourth St. reported at 7:34 a.m. yesterday. Chief Glenn Cannon said thieves entered the Fourth Street home after cutting a chain-type lock from a rear door.

Items reported missing included a $450 color television, a $40 electric saw, $5 in cash taken from a hand-bag and $200 worth of tools.

The police official said Edwards Joseph Seykora and his family were asleep in upstairs bedrooms at the time of the break-in. He noted a German Shepherd dog, also in the dwelling, failed to deter the burglars.

Franklin, who has a long record of producing travelogue and geographic films, has earlier produced Sun and Surf, Egypt, Gift of the Nile, Lebanon, Land of the Phoenician, and Hawaii.

He was the first person to successfully photograph in Cinemascope the great Grotto of Jeira. In 1962, Franklin uncovered a multiple burial tomb at Tel Dothan, Jordan, where 500 ancient artifacts were recovered.

For Grecian Holiday, Franklin for the first time puts into use two revolutionary film developments — Super-vision and the floating camera. The stereophonic sounds have been recorded on location.

Tickets for the public are available either through the box office or at Wright Auditorium to performance. Admission is $1.00 or by season ticket.

He's Pitched Three Strikes, So Now Out!

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old woman who has been married and divorced three times in the last 10 years. You will probably say what everybody else says when you find out I married and divorced the same man all three times.

Our last divorce became final three weeks ago, and now Mike is begging me to marry him again. We have no children and we don't want any. I really love the guy, Abby, but the only time he is good to me is when we're divorced. Mike is a wonderful lover, but he's a rotten husband. When we're man and wife he drinks, runs around, and stays out late. I never know where he is or who he's with, which drives me up a wall.

If you knew how much we've spent on lawyers you would think we were out of our minds. I know there will never be any other man for me, but I know if I marry Mike again he'll go back to his old mean, abusive ways. Can you help me?

THREE-TIME LOSER

DEAR LOSER: Three strikes and a man is OUT, no matter how good he pitches. Some men are great to date but not to mate, and Mike could be one of them.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 21, and she shares an apartment with another girl. Until she went to college she was very considerate, and since she was an only child we were a very close family.

Altho she was invited, she did not spend Christmas, Thanksgiving, Mother's Day, or Father's Day with us. She sent cards, but she spent those special days with her boy friend and his parents.

Naturally, I was upset, and when I confronted her she said there are 365 days a year to love us, and why should she give up these particular days? She says times have changed and I am square. Am I?

VERY HURT

DEAR HURT: No, but don't make an issue of it. I can understand your being "hurt," but if you continue to make her feel guilty, you may see even less of her.

DEAR ABBY: My brother, Bob, was adopted by my family when he was a small baby. Bob is now over legal age, and was just informed that his real mother is an Indian living in Alaska and he is getting money from her old rights.

Bob says it is all like a dream, because he never knew he was adopted. He is trying to make up his mind whether to go to Alaska to collect the money. He doesn't know what to say to his mother, who is still living, because he has always considered the mother who raised him his one and only mother.

Would you ask your readers how adopted children and real mothers feel after meeting each other after being separated for over 20 years? Is it a good experience or a bad one?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I would guess it's almost always a tearfully joyous reunion, but I'll ask Readers?

DEAR ABBY: Here in Iowa the winters are pretty cold, so my sisters and I have made a habit of putting out food for the squirrels, birds, and rabbits. Today, we had an especially heavy snowfall so we put out a little extra food for the animals and birds.

Today, we saw a little squirrel who had been in our neighborhood for as long as we can remember go into a neighbor's yard and start to eat out of a bird feeder. Abby, this neighbor came out of his house with a shotgun and with one shot KILLED that little hungry squirrel while he was eating! It just made us sick.

Please print this and tell people if they don't want animals in their yard to just chase them away. You can't teach a dead animal anything. And for those of you who do help these little creatures in the winter when food is hard to come by, God bless you.

Love and peace to you, Abby. Please don't use our names, sign us, 18, 16 AND 15 IN WATERLOO.

DEAR 18, 16, AND 15: And love and peace to you, too! I'm sorry you won't allow me to disclose your names. You are three beautiful sisters.

'Spotlight On Women' Conference Planned

CHAPEL HILL — "Action for Achieving Equal Rights for Women" is the theme of the 18th annual Spotlight on Women conference which will be held on Saturday, Feb. 24, at the University of North Carolina here.

Constructive courses of action women can take to change the unequal status women suffer will be amplified by speakers at the morning, lunch and afternoon sessions in Peabody Hall on the UNC campus, and at the Carolina Inn.

The conference program will focus on ways to change the psychological concept of women which serves to "keep women in their place," and ways to participate in the political process to bring pressure for removal of existing inequities.

The Equal Rights Amendment to provide constitutional guarantees of protection under the law for women's rights may be ratified this year, and this prospect will be central to the conference discussions.

Spotlight participants will have an opportunity to contemplate the implications for a wide number of social institutions if society were to begin the socialization process of children on a non-sex linked basis, and how society might be reordered.

Dr. Dorothea Leighton, professor of Mental Health in the School of Public Health UNC-CH, will speak on "Improving the Image of Women: The Long Range Goal". Dr. Leighton will analyze woman's role, exploring alternative arrangements in other societies and drawing analogies and implications for our American society.

Mrs. Martha McKay of Chapel Hill, chairperson of the North Carolina Women's Political Caucus, will discuss "Improving the Status of Women: The Short Range Goal". She is the immediate past co-chairperson of the Policy Council, National Women's Political Caucus.

Dr. Suzanne Keller, professor of sociology at Princeton University, will deliver the closing address on "A Gaze Into the Future: Implications for New Social Structures". She is the author of "Beyond The Ruling Class" and "The Urban Neighborhood," and is presently writing a book on sex roles. Prof. Keller will explore what society will be like when women and men alike are provided the opportunity to develop and express themselves on an equal basis.

The Spotlight on Women conference is sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc., in cooperation with UNC's Extension Division.

Mrs. Peg Rundgren of Hillsborough, program chairperson for the Spotlight conference, will preside at the day-long session. Also participating in the program are Mrs. Mary Rogers of Charlotte, chairperson of the Legislative Committee of the National Federation of BPW; Mrs. Emma Padgett, president of the N.C. BPW, and a High Point school principal; and Miss Janet Blair of Charlotte, President-elect of the N.C. BPW.

The $12 registration fee includes the luncheon. To register, send checks (payable to UNC Extension Division) to the UNC Extension Division, 209 Abernethy Hall, Chapel Hill 27514. If overnight accommodations are desired, participants are asked to make reservations directly with the Carolina Inn or a nearby motel at least two weeks in advance of the conference date.

Household Hints

Keep small kitchen appliances near or where they are used.

Add salt to the water when boiling eggs. This will keep egg contents from escaping into the water in the event shells crack.

Count on a medium lemon to supply two tablespoons of grated rind and three tablespoons of lemon juice.

Instant cocoa mix is sweetened and dissolves easily in milk or water. Unsweetened cocoa powder does not dissolve in this way.

Make the paper lining for the bottom of the cake pan a little smaller than the bottom of the pan. The lining will be easier to remove.

Always cut meats across the grain instead of with the grain for better eating and appearance.

Direct Democracy Ends Squabbles

SAUGUES, France (WNS) — The 700 wives and mothers of local families were fed up with male squabbles over local taxes, and how unfairly they were parcelled out. They made Mayor Simon call a town meeting and pushed through a bill that forces citizens to fix their own taxes. "Direct democracy has ended three years of arguments," reported the mayor. "We are all friendly neighbors again, and our treasury is full."

No Fanfare For Melvin Laird

Melvin Laird slipped quietly out of the Pentagon Monday night without ceremony. Elliott Richardson took over as Secretary of Defense amid full military honors on Tuesday. But back to Mr. Laird— He, as Secretary of Defense, played a role in the seats of power that floors the imagination of we ordinary mortals. His concept of the job differed from those who went before him, which might explain that whereas others were crushed by the burden, the quiet Laird simply kept his house in order. He was not unimaginative. He was a realist. His ambitions were apparently limited to meeting his obligations to the best of his ability. Just obligations.

To whom? Well there's you, and the family next door, for starters....and you can add to that the 200 million other Americans to whom he felt accountable. And when he finished his job, Laird didn't stand around waiting for all the tributes another might think his due.

He just slipped quietly out of the Pentagon Monday night without ceremony.

Crackdown For Drunk Drivers

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — "He is not drunk who from the floor, yet may rise to drink once more."

No subjective test for intoxication — appearance, speech, walking a line — is any more reliable than the old ditty. What is needed, said Sen. McNeill Smith of Guilford, is an objective measure for the point at which the drinker's judgment and performance is impaired.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Technology gives an answer with breath tests for alcohol blood content. That should be used, Smith said, to screen out of traffic those citizens who have forfeited the right to drive by drinking. The drinking driver is the focus of highway safety efforts in the current General Assembly. More extensive use of breathalyzer equipment, including roadside pre-arrest testing and penalties for refusal to take the tests, in the thrust of bills introduced by Smith and Rep. George Miller of Durham, respective chairmen of Senate and House highway safety committees.

Timing Favors Action Both are optimistic for positive action on the proposals. They report an affirmative attitude, among legislators and from the general public.

Not exactly coining a phrase, Rep. Miller said getting the drunk off the roads is "an idea whose time has come." The majority of his House committee, he said, indicated they wanted to serve on it out of concern to do something about the problem of driving and drinking.

In the past, the legislature has nibbled at the edges of the issue but shown reluctance to meet it squarely with stern measures. This time a change is apparent, Sen. Smith confirmed.

"Sentiment is better than I've ever seen it," said Smith, whose bills on the subject were defeated last session. "Mail and calls are strongly favorable. The public wants something done."

Some Still Skeptical Some skepticism remains about mechanical means of determining degrees of intoxication, Rep. Miller agreed. To help counter it, he arranged for his committee a reception featuring a breathalyzer demonstration. Members saw it operate, and had a chance to test themselves.

Chilling statistics on the mixture of alcohol and highway death were given to the committees by Dr. Page Hudson, state medical examiner. Fifty per cent of those who die in motor vehicle accidents are under the influence of liquor, he said.

Tests of 918 drivers killed in single-car crashes showed that 59 per cent had an alcohol blood content of .1 per cent by weight or higher, he reported. That is the level which would be set by law as the legal standard for too drunk to drive.

Another 11 per cent of the drivers had been drinking, but measured below .1 per cent, and the other 30 per cent had not been drinking, Dr. Hudson noted.

In multi-car accidents, 31 per cent of the drivers were over .1 per cent alcohol blood content; another 8 per cent had been drinking; and 60 per cent had not been drinking.

Life-Saving Alternative The figures clearly imply that barring drivers at the .1 per cent level could save lives, said Dr. John Ewing, director of the Center for Alcohol Studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

He dismissed the myth that one person may "hold his liquor" better than another. All scientific research, he reported, demonstrates that at the .1 per cent level the subject is affected by "tunnel vision" — inability to see clearly to the right or left — and impairment of judgment and performance.

"The experienced drinker may be able to compensate in his appearance and speech, but he is affected all the same," Dr. Ewing said. Innovations in the proposed legislation include roadside pre-arrest screening, already adopted by nine states, and the creation of a new and separate criminal offense for operating a vehicle with a blood alcohol content of .1 or more.

The thrust would be to relieve juries of the obligation to make a subjective evaluation of whether a driver was drunk, explained Sen. Smith by substituting an objective standard. Several states have gone this route, which has long been followed in Great Britain and other European countries, he said.

A question has been raised about the constitutional validity of mandatory pre-arrest testing.

Smith said he sees no conflict with individual rights. An officer can stop a motorist to check his driver's license without an arrest — what not do so to ascertain whether the driver is in fit condition to exercise that license?

"In our crowded society, no one has the inherent right to become a hazard to himself and innocent by-standers by driving a car when his ability to do is impaired due to drinking," Sen. Smith argued.

Penalty Is Reason For Getting The Job Done

Pitt tax payers have been granted a reprieve if they have not yet listed their property and real taxes.

The deadline for listing has been extended from Jan. 31 until Feb. 7. There are still about 25 percent of the property owners who have not listed. Those who do not list by the Feb. 7 deadline will face a 10 percent penalty for late listing.

The penalty is reason enough to get the listing done, and the sooner it is done the less agony there will be waiting in long lines with others who waited until the last minute.

Thieu Believed Strong Enough

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Even under circumstances described at high levels here as "the worst possible case," South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu is now believed virtually invulnerable to military defeat or political overthrow at least until next fall and possibly much longer.

That judgment has been strongly fortified on the military front by the failure of Hanoi's estimated 145,000 front-line troops now in South Vietnam to pull off anything like the last-minute military breakthroughs Hanoi had been hoping for.

Thus, Hanoi and the National Liberation Front had made fairly elaborate plans to interdict strategic highways connecting Saigon and the delta to the south and Saigon and provincial capitals to the west and north. Although some of these last-minute military operations succeeded, they fell short of the target.

In brief, while Thieu has lost some hamlets in the fighting that bracketed the ceasefire—and probably will gain and lose some more in the fighting that is sure to continue—his military superiority is overwhelming.

This military judgment is fortified by other factors. For example, American forces, in diminishing strength, will be on the scene for almost two more months. It is ludicrous to think that Hanoi would try to augment its present force in the south while American troops are still in South Vietnam.

At the end of that 60-day period, the rainy season will be starting in the northwestern regions of South Vietnam and along the Ho Chi Minh Trail—traditional port of entry from North Vietnam to the south.

Even if Hanoi should decide, in total violation of the ceasefire agreement, to begin re-equipping its forces still in South Vietnam, the rainy season plus American interdiction from the air over Laos would doom the effort. Moreover, there is no evidence so far that Hanoi has any such plan.

That short-term military judgment, however, is tempered by one condition: Thieu's willingness to use his vast army, and his army's willingness to be used, to exploit his superiority over an enemy which for the first time is cut off from its rear area (a liability that should prove far graver to Hanoi than Thieu's own post-ceasefire liability—the loss of U. S. air power).

During last summer's vicious battles, following Hanoi's spring invasion across the demilitarized zone, Thieu husbanded his military strength. The degree to which he refused to commit front-line battalions is a matter of dispute here, but some highly-placed strategists believe he could have committed at least one extra full division against the Communists in the highlands region, known as II Corps.

Likewise, Thieu kept other battalions in reserve during last summer's warfare in the delta and elsewhere. He did this despite specific contrary advice from Gen. Alexander Haig, then Henry Kissinger's top assistant (and now the Army's voice chief of staff). On his visit to Saigon last June, Haig told Thieu that a ceasefire acceptable to President Nixon might be arranged anytime in the next six months, and that he should use the intervening time to clear out areas controlled by the Communists.

That advice was repeated by Kissinger himself during Kissinger's August visit to

Strength For Today

CHEER UP

Sometimes it seems as if the world is going to pieces. There are wars and rumors of war. Young men going away struggling and bitter into areas where they must act as soldiers. Why can't we get along without war in this advance and sophisticated age of ours?

You answer, that. It's too hard for most of us.

But of this we can be sure, namely, that the race has improved. Drug addiction has come in to blast human life in a shocking fashion, yet we can well believe that even this dire addiction will not destroy the human race. Some of us can remember when there were pest houses in every community to take care of people having smallpox. Typhoid fever was a common ailment. Today if anyone contracts typhoid fever somebody is arrested, for typhoid fever is not only a disease but a crime. Somewhere along the line individuals, firms, communities make some gross mistake and people die as a result.

When we try to project our minds back a thousand years to the tenth century (A.D. 972, to be specific) we find conditions amid which we should not want to live if the world's wealth were placed at our disposal.

Racially we are getting better. There is still discrimination that infuriates us. There are age-old evils allowed to continue and we do nothing to better conditions. But Christ died almost two thousand years ago, and we would have no Christian faith at all if we did not see and believe that the world is better because he lived, taught, died, arose from the dead and ascended into heaven.

No Shortage In Crises

WASHINGTON — It is not generally known, but whenever newspapermen in Washington run out of things to write about they go to a small store a few blocks from the White House known as "Charley's Crisis Shop."

The owner, Charley Bummer, has been peddling crises in the nation's capital for nearly 50 years. I went to visit him the other day, as I usually do when things get quiet.

"Having a close-out sale on Vietnam crises," Charley said. "You can grab any one on the table for $1.95. As soon as the POWs have returned home, you're not going to be able to give away a Vietnam crisis."

"Then why should I buy one?" I asked.

"Anything on Vietnam could be a collector's item." "Frankly, Charley, I'm not looking for bargains. I'd like a real 18-carat crisis for my column," I said.

"Well, why didn't you say so?" Charley replied. "I've got something in the window that's been one of the hottest sellers in months. It's an Energy Crisis. Everyone has bought it—the New York Times, The Washington Post, CBS News, Time, Newsweek. I can't keep it in stock."

"It looks pretty good," I said, inspecting it. "How long do you think it will last?"

ART BUCHWALD

"It's guaranteed for six months, and we'll replace any parts if it doesn't fly."

"That's the big crisis of the month?" I asked.

"It's the best I've got. The next most popular item is the Constitutional Crisis." Charley took one out of a glass case and held it up to the light. "This crisis is between Congress and the President. As you can see, the executive branch keeps whittling away at congressional powers."

"It doesn't look very new," I observed.

"Of course it isn't new," Charley said indignantly. "It's an antique. But there's a big demand now for this kind of crisis. I had been sitting on the shelf and I hadn't had a single call for one in 25 years. But in less than two months I've had orders for 30, and they don't care what it costs."

"Who's 'they'?"

"Political columnists and editorial writers. Now that the United States is getting out of Vietnam, the columnists and editorial people find themselves desperately short on crises which they have to supply their readers every day."

"Would you say newspapermen are having a 'Crisis Crisis'?" I asked.

"I don't know if it's reached crisis proportions," Charley

Words That Weary

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you get tired of hearing when you try to use any telephone in America: "I'm sor-r-r-ree, that line is busy." "Whom shall I say is calling, please?" "He's not in the office, sir." "He's in conference." "He's on vacation." "I'm sor-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

HAL BOYLE

"Will you hold?" "Did you ever get your party? No? Let me try again." "It's me — your wife. What other woman would you be expecting to call you at 9:30 in the morning?" "I don't know of anyone working here under that name. Does he have an alias?" "He was here just 10 minutes ago, but —"

"This is the third time I've left your message on his desk." "What did you say your name was? Did you say Jawbone Slesky? How do you spell it, please?"

"I'm sor-r-r-ree. The line is busy."

"Here are three other numbers where you might be able to reach him. By the way, if you get him, tell him the boss is looking for him, too."

"Yes, he's in, but he told me not to disturb him unless it was God or one of His archangels calling."

"Well, sir, I assure you I am doing my best. But I'm a telephone operator — not an octopus."

"... This is a recording ... This is a recording ... This is a recording ..."

"He just stepped away from his desk for a moment, sir."

"The number you are dialing is no longer active. If you need further information, please dial Information."

"Yes, sir, he's in now, but he's speaking on both his other phones at the moment."

"Would you care to speak to anyone else in his absence?"

"I'm sor-r-r-ree, the line is busy, and I can't break in unless it is a life or death emergency."

Discount Air Fares At Stake

By MILES A. SMITH

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The airlines industry views with mixed feelings a government order eliminating such discount fares as the family plan and the youth plan, a step which the government says could lead to reductions in regular fares.

After lengthy hearings on fare structures, the Civil Aeronautics Board issued in December an order canceling family and youth rates on grounds they were discriminatory and unreasonable.

Instead of making the cancellation effective immediately, it said hearings would be conducted on the effects of the cancellation. The board's view was that when a number of discount or promotional fares have been eliminated, many of the special passengers would be paying regular fares, thereby increasing the carriers' revenues, and making possible a reduction in basic rates.

Under the family plan, the head of the family pays the regular fare; there is a discount of 25 per cent for his wife and for their children over 12 years of age, and a discount of 33 1/3 per cent for children under 12.

The "youth standby" rate — requiring a passenger to take a chance on getting a seat on a specific flight — has a discount of 33 1/3 per cent. Some lines also have a "youth reservations" rate with a discount of 20 or 25 per cent.

The family plans have been in use since 1948 and the youth plans since 1960.

These special plans are not a major source of revenue, the airlines say. Trans World Airlines estimates the family plan accounts for about 10 per cent of its revenue passenger-miles, and the youth standby plan for about 5 per cent.

TWA, American Airlines and United Air Lines have filed petitions with the CAB asking for reconsideration of the order, but for differing reasons.

TWA argues that the board was mistaken in its ruling that the costs of carrying passengers at special rates were "substantially the same" as the costs of carrying them at regular rates.

It also asserted that the board "mistakenly assumed that elimination of these discount fares would lead to lower prices for normal tickets." TWA says the CAB "erroneously argues that discount traffic is 'subsidized' by normal fare traffic."

Melvin A. Brenner, vice president of marketing and planning for TWA, says family and youth fares not only help special passengers, but also are of indirect benefit to the regular passengers.

"The cost of flying does not vary much with the number of seats occupied," he says. "Therefore if we can bring additional people aboard, a few more people — say 10 per cent — can make a big difference in economic viability."

In the industry as a whole, scheduled airlines have found the average flight has about 50 per cent of its seats empty. American Airlines has also petitioned the board to keep family and youth plans, but United Air Lines has proposed that the board's order be placed in effect immediately.

Although United has such services for competitive reasons, a spokesman says, its long-term philosophy has been against them. United always contends that the discounts divert more traffic than they generate and might be discriminatory, as the CAB says. Youth standby age rules have been difficult to enforce, the spokesman adds.

Eastern Air Lines has generally opposed system-wide discount fares, leaning toward promotional fares designed for special markets — such as the multitude of colleges and universities in Eastern's territory.

Eastern is a North-South carrier with relatively short flights and says it faces competition from trains and buses that puts it in a different position than that of the transcontinental lines.

Bulk Of LBJ's Estate Left To His Daughters

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson's will, signed six months before he died, leaves the bulk of his estate to his two daughters and names his widow as executor.

There was nothing in the will to indicate the size of Johnson's estate. Mrs. Johnson was left all of the former president's personal property and his interest in their household items. Seventeen relatives, friends and employees received individual bequests totaling $81,000. Johnson's will, dated July 25, 1972, was filed for probate Thursday. He died Jan. 22.

Johnson willed to the LBJ Library at the University of Texas "all of my presidential and other papers, documents, historical materials, mementos, objects of art and other memorabilia, including but not limited to books, motion pictures, still pictures and sound records."

He left $25,000 to LBJ Ranch foreman Dale Malechek and his wife.

Next in size among the individual bequests was $10,000 to a sister, Lucia Alexander of Fort Worth.

Johnson gave about 200 acres of the LBJ ranch to the National Park Service recently for an addition to the LBJ national historic site.

Tom Johnson, no kin but a family spokesman, also issued a statement saying that 3,444 acres of the ranch holdings were sold by Johnson after he left the White House to Frates Properties, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla. The spokesman added that Mrs. Johnson would continue living at the ranch.

In the will, the former president also issued instructions that "all of the rest and residue of my estate" be divided into two equal trusts for his daughters, Lynda Robb and Luci Nugent.

Mrs. Johnson was named to serve as trustee, parceling out income from the trusts to the daughters and their children according to her "absolute and sole discretion."

Each daughter's trust terminates when she reaches age 30, and she will acquire full possession, according to the terms of the will.

Counseling Part Of ESC Role

One of the services offered by the Greenville Employment Security Commission is employment counseling.

According to James E. Hannan, manager of the local ESC office, the service is offered to the people of the community, free of charge, by a professionally trained staff member of the ESC.

"Help is offered in selecting an occupation," Hannan said. "This is not the type counseling one would receive from a doctor or minister because we do not discuss personal problems."

Hannan explained the counseling is centered around employment, both present and past; jobs one would like to have; what school courses one likes best; hobbies; and how one likes to spend his leisure time.

"At no time during the counseling will the counselor say what you ought to do," Hannan said. "This is not his job and all he will do is lead your thoughts toward a goal that you decide upon yourself."

All conversations are held in confidence, according to Hannan.

Persons who could profit from the counseling include young people who are just starting to work and want to make the right decision about what type of work to do; adults who desire to change their field of work and are not sure what they want to do; persons who have difficulty in keeping a job; the housewife who wants to return to work after being out of the labor market for several years; or a person who must change jobs due to health reasons.

Anyone who is interested in employment counseling, may call the local office for an appointment.

J.B. Spilman, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, announced that Miss Margaret Register is now serving as the board's executive secretary, effective Feb. 1.

Spilman said that Miss Register succeeds Mrs. Ann Paul of Ayden who resigned her duties as secretary.

Miss Register, a Greenville native, was employed by Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. before joining the Board of Elections. She will be employed full time by the board, Spilman said.

Chapel To Hold 'Ladies Hour'

Ladies Hour will be observed at Wynn's Chapel Sunday at 6 p.m.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. J. Taylor. Refreshments will be served.

Members of the church will bring utensils for the church's new dining room.

"Don't forget, we still have the Middle East, air and water pollution, the flu and the government credibility crises. These keep selling no matter what happens."

"But where people in my business have been hurt," Charley continued, "is when some unscrupulous dealers have been pushing phony crises that don't hold up, so now the consumer is becoming wary of anything called a crisis."

An editorial writer for my next Sunday's piece. You have anything that's a little different?"

"I've got a Supreme Court Crisis on Obscenity," Charley said. "I just got it fresh in this morning."

"Okay, I'll take it with me," the editorial writer said.

"You want it gift wrapped?" Charley asked.

"No, just give it to me in a plain brown wrapper."

PRECIOUS PACKAGE

This picture of Carla makes me think of an old proverb my mother used to quote: "Precious things come in small packages."

Go ahead, mark me down for a doting dad. I'm quick to admit that my little girl is precious to me. With her loving arms about my neck I feel richer than a king. I walk into a room and see her eyes light up — so who wants to be president? As she snuggles down among the blankets, I kiss her and tell myself that I'll give her the best, now and always.

That's why I take her to church every Sunday. I want God to be a part of Carla's life from the very first. I know that an understanding of God and His love will ensure my daughter's well-being far beyond any material gift I could give her.

God's goodness is yours for the taking. Enrich your life. Go to your church, and take your family with you.

Saigon. Thieu seemed reluctant, choosing instead to safeguard a substantial part of his force for the ceasefire period.

Now that that period has arrived, it is President Nixon's fervent hope that Thieu "will make the ceasefire work for him" by committing his forces to the full extent needed.

Thieu's political future, as viewed here, is somewhat less predictable. A major reason is fear that he may overplay his internal-security hand and stimulate an anti-Thieu reaction which, while anything but pro-Communist, could be exploited by the Communists to create political chaos.

But in the words of one close observer of Thieu, if he can change his "mandarin tendencies" of aloofness and remoteness for open political activity, he should be able to convert his narrow base of power into genuine political support.

Rebuke For Texas Jury

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge here became so infuriated after jurors acquitted a man charged with possession of marijuana that he told the ten men and two women on the jury they would never again serve in his court.

The case was tried in the court of U.S. District Court Judge Ben C. Connally. It involved Miguel Jimenez Oroscio, a McAllen taxi driver charged with possession of 134 pounds of marijuana.

The case reached the jury Tuesday at 3:34 p.m. The jurors deliberated until 6:15 p.m. without reaching a verdict. When they resumed Wednesday at 9 a.m., it took them 30 minutes to decide Oroscio was innocent.

Judge Connally told them that in 20 years on the bench he had never seen "a more stupid, illogical and ill-advised verdict."

He said there was no evidence on which the accused could have been found innocent. Oroscio admitted in his own testimony "every element of the offense," the judge said.

Connally told the jurors a verdict such as the one they reached "is responsible, in my judgment, for the increasing crime rate everywhere."

Southern Wayne Nips Jaguars

FARMVILLE — Southern Wayne nipped Farmville Central High School, 73-71, here last night in an overtime basketball game. The Southern Wayne girls made it a sweep with a 48-27 romp.

In the girls' contest, Southern Wayne ran out to an 18-8 lead in the first period of play. Farmville Central tried for a rally in the second period, outshooting the Saints, 10-7. That cut it to 25-18 at the half.

But Southern took no chances and pulled away again in the third quarter, 13-4, to up their lead to 38-22. They again outshot the Lady Jaguars, 10-5, in the final frame to wrap it up.

Faye Hollowell led Southern with 13, while Terry Bryan had 12. Linda Anderson hit 14 for Farmville Central.

The Jaguars show away behind the scoring of Melvin Bunch in the first period, running up a 20-12 lead. But Southern Wayne put together a rally in the second frame and just reversed the scoring to outshot Farmville, 20-12 and tie it at 32-32 at halftime.

The Saints inched out into a 49-48 lead with a 17-16 advantage in the third period, but Farmville moved back into the lead in the final frame. However, Southern scored with about 20 seconds left to tie it up and Farmville couldn't hit again, bringing on the overtime as the two were tied, 67-67.

In the extra period, Earthell Loftin hit four of the six Saint points to lead them to a 6-4 edge and the victory.

James Murray led Southern with 22 points, while Leonard Pearsall had 16, Charles Bethea had 14 and Loftin had 12.

Farmville was led by McCoy Williams with 30, while Bunch had 14 and Phil Lewis had 10.

Furman's Paladins, the team to beat in the Southern Conference, invade Minges Coliseum Saturday afternoon, breathing a sigh of relief that their league record is still intact.

Last night, Richmond's Spiders had them on the ropes, 60-52 with some six minutes left. But the Spiders got only one more basket and Furman came back to take a 66-62 victory. That left the Paladins with the only unblemished conference record, 8-0.

Saturday, the Pirates will be out to try and prove that the Paladins are beatable. East Carolina was the last Southern Conference team to beat them, last year in the finals of the league tournament in the Paladin home court in Greenville, S.C.

The Bucs come into the game after having their home winning streak snapped, 73-62, against Davidson on Wednesday. It is the only game the Bucs have lost in Minges, and only their poor shooting percentages were to blame.

"We had intended to do a defensive job on (John) Falconi and (Mike) Sorrientino and stop (Greg) Dunn inside," Coach Tom Quinn said. "I feel we did an adequate job on Falconi and Sorrientino, but Dunn got us in the second half from the lane."

Quinn said that the game was a very physical one, and that while he also felt that it tired out Davidson more than it did the Pirates, the fact that the Bucs had to stay on defense much of the second half as Davidson drew things out, wore East Carolina down.

"I still feel we had the opportunity to pull it out late in the game. But their free throws and our lack of hitting was the difference," he said.

Quinn was "very, very pleased with the defense. It's our strongest area now. We just need to score a little more and take some of the pressure off the defense."

The coach also felt that the Pirates did show, despite losing, that they could fight Davidson on even terms. "We were up for the game, and maybe we were a little too high up," he added.

Furman will present a different problem for the Pirates, namely their tall front line. With 7-1 Fessor (Moose) Leonard, 6-8 Roy Simpson and 6-9 Clyde Mayes, the Paladins are awesome across the front. And Russ Hunt, 6-8, at a guard position, makes it even tougher.

Going into last night's game with Richmond, Leonard was the leading scorer for the Paladins, hitting 20.6 points per game. Simpson was hitting at a 13.8 clip, while Mayes was dumping in 13.1 a game.

"Leonard had his best night against us, scoring 31 points, and Simpson did a fine job early in the game," Quinn said. "We can't let this happen again. We also didn't present any offense against them, and we have to generate some here. Being on television should help us get ready some."

Quinn also noted that East Carolina had reviewed two of the Furman losses, to Carolina and State, and he feels that some of the things the did in winning could be adapted by the Pirates. Carolina beat them, 100-67, and State took a 98-73 victory.

"I believe we can go to the boards with them, and I believe we can score against them," Quinn said. "But we can't have another game shooting like we did against Davidson."

The game, to be carried over a regional television network, is scheduled to tip off at 3:40 p.m. in Minges Coliseum.

There will be no junior varsity game.

Greene Central Ties For Second

SNOW HILL — Greene Central and Southern Nash split a pair of basketball games last night in the Eastern Carolina Conference. The Rams pulled into a tie for second place in the boys' standings with a 78-53 win, while the Southern Nash girls won their game, 51-40.

Greene Central's boys are no 11-4 in the league, just a half-game behind leading Eastern Wayne. In the boys' contest, Greene Central put the game away early. They ran out to a 26-12 lead in the first period, the two each dropped in 13 points, and the Rams held a comfortable 64-36 lead with eight minutes to go. Southern managed to cut three points off the margin, 17-14, in the final period.

Ervin Spivey led the Rams with 17 points, while Stevie Williamston added 15. Claudius Elmore had 10 to lead Southern Nash.

In the girls game, Southern eased out into a 14-10 lead in the first period. They were able to add a point to the lead, 13-12, in the second quarter and held a 27-22 halftime edge.

In the third period, they built up the winning margin, outscoring the Ewes, 8-2. That made it 35-24. Both teams hit 16 points in the final period of play.

Judith Tripp hit 15 for the Ewes, while Jackie McLawhorn had 10. For Southern Nash, Gloria Pope had 20 and Theresa Hall had 15.

The Rams play host to C.B. Aycock tonight.

Three-Way Tie In Hawaiian Golf

HONOLULU (AP) — Big George Archer says he's at least a month away from playing good.

"Let's just hope better days are ahead," the 6-foot-6 one-time ranch hand signed.

But his position—a share of the lead—going into today's second round in the $200,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament, doesn't really reflect his pessimism.

"I've changed everything around, the way I'm hitting the ball off the tee," Archer said. "It was just awful. Now I'm doing the right thing. But I don't feel comfortable. It'll take time. I'm at least a month away from playing the way I want to."

He managed a four-under-par 68 in Thursday's first round to tie youthful Tom Watson and old pro Gay Brewer, who has a habit of winning away from the continental United States, for the lead in this rich event that offers a $40,000 first prize.

Tied at 69, just one stroke back and three under par on the 7,154-yard Waialae Country Club course, were Doug Sanders, Lanny Wadkins, Gibby Gilbert and Takaaki Kono, a 120-pound Japanese.

Arnold Palmer, a 43-year-old master trying to shake persistent putting troubles, defending title-holder Grier Jones and a half-dozen others were at 70.

Lee Trevino, who scorched the plush layout by the balmy beaches of the Pacific with a 61 in Wednesday's pro-am, slipped to a par 72. He had to birdie the last hole to do that.

Also in the big group at the figure was Australian veteran Bruce Crampton, already the winner of two tour titles this season.

Hamilton Among Early Filers

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pete Hamilton, the 1970 winner, and Donnie Allison have filed entries for the $200,000 Daytona 500, the nation's richest stock car race.

Hamilton, inactive last year but a $135,000 winner two years ago when he drove a car owned by Richard Petty, will pilot his own Plymouth in the Feb. 18 classic at Daytona International Speedway.

Allison, younger brother of Bobby Allison, the sport's top money winner last year with more than $300,000 will drive a 1973 Chevrolet owned by a firm in Norwalk, Conn. The car was built in Bobby Allison's shops in Hueytown, Ala.

The younger Allison, like Hamilton, made only a few races on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing Circuit last year.

The entry of Hamilton and Allison brings the list of potential starters to 90, a Daytona 500 record. The list will be pared down to the fastest 40 cars in two 125-mile qualifying heat races Feb. 15.

Meantime, Texan A. J. Foyt, the Daytona 500 defending champion, announced that Gilmore Enterprises of Kalamazoo, Mich., will co-sponsor his Chevrolet in the 1973 race.

North Lenoir Nips Panthers

WHEAT SWAMP — The North Pitt girls continued their rush toward another Eastern Carolina Conference title Wednesday night with a 58-33 romp over the North Lenoir lasses. The North Lenoir boys, however, edged out the Panthers, 50-48.

North Pitt's Big Orange Machine, now winner of 71 in a row raised the league record to 15-0 with the win. Only two teams in the league can still catch them. Ayden-Grifton and Southern Wayne. A single victory by the Pant-HERS will ice at least a tie, and two wins will clinch the title, unless the others add a loss of their own in the meantime.

The Big Orange rolled up a 16-4 lead in the first quarter of the game, but North Lenoir came back at them, 13-12, in the second period. That left North Pitt in a 28-17 lead at intermission.

In the third period, the Panthers again pulled away, with a 15-4 advantage, building their lead to 43-21. They outhit the Lady Hawks, 15-12, in the final period to wrap it up.

Minnie Hollis and Phyllis Jenkins each hit 16 points to lead

North Pitt. Cunningham had 14 and Burney had 10 for North Lenoir.

The North Lenoir boys edged out into an 18-12 lead in the first period, but the Panthers stuck close. They outhit the Hawks, 16-14, in the second frame and trailed only 32-28 at halftime.

North Pitt erased that deficit in the third quarter, 14-10, and knotted it up at 42-42, as the last frame opened. In that, North Pitt finally worked up a 48-47 lead with about a minute left.

North Lenoir, however, got a free throw to tie it up, and then with eight seconds left, Miller hit for the Hawks to give them the victory.

Miller led the scoring with 16, while Hardy had 12. For North Pitt, David Brown had 16 and Billy Perkins had 12.

The loss served to eliminate the Post Office from any chance at the league title.

In the opening game, Wachovia broke out into a 22-16 lead in the first half. They went on to outscore Union Carbide, 25-15, in the second half to win easily.

Terry Sparrow led Wachovia with 17 points, while Bill Baggett added 16. For Union Carbide, Lewis Boyd had 12.

In the second contest, State Highway moved out to a 30-18 lead in the second half. They upped that in the second half by outscoring Vermont American, 28-23.

Richmond Blows Chance To Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It didn't get very chilly outdoors in Richmond Thursday night — only into the low 40s — but inside the University of Richmond's spanking new Robins Center, it was a lot colder than that.

Way below freezing, in fact, for Richmond's feckless basketball team in the closing stages of its game against Furman's Southern Conference leaders.

Not only did the Spiders manage to blow a 10-point lead against a team nobody figured they'd beat. They also managed to go without a single point in the last 5½ minutes of play, and finally lost 66-62.

For Furman, the triumph was the seventh in SC play in as many outings and kept the Paladins entrenched atop the league standings. Richmond now is 4-5 in the conference.

But until the mercury plummeted to absolute zero for the Spider shooters, they had an upset in the making. They led 38-28 at halftime and with 6:58 to play it was still 60-52 with Richmond on top.

But after that the Spiders had only one more basket in their arsenal, a jump shot by Aron Stewart — the game's top scorer with 36 points/— with 5:21 remaining.

Furman gained a 62-62 tie with 2:13 left and then moved in front for keeps on Roy Simpson's jumper from the middle of the lane with 1:11 showing on the clock. A tip-in by Simpson later sewed it up.

During its long, cold spell, Richmond missed the front ends of two one-and-one foul shot situations. In all, this special variety of frustration happened to the losers four times during the evening.

Stewart's 36 points and 13 rebounds was far and away the game's best performance, but Furman had better-balanced scoring with Barron Hill collecting 14 points and three other players 12 apiece.

The Paladins shot 53 per cent from the floor in their big second-half comeback from the brink of disaster.

The Richmond-Furman set-to was the only game Thursday night involving a Southern Conference team. No conference clubs play tonight.

Cougars Claw Squires Five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Alex Hannum, coach of the Denver Rockets, knows what it takes to beat the defending American Basketball Association champion Indiana Pacers.

"One secret to this game," said Hannum, "is ball control. If you can control the tempo, you definitely have a good chance to win."

So Denver controlled the tempo and beat the Pacers 97-92 Thursday night, the sixth victory for the Rockets in eight games against Indiana this season.

In Thursday's only other ABA game, Carolina slugged Virginia 113-98.

In the National Basketball Association, it was Kansas City-Omaha 98, Golden State 96; and Los Angeles 120, Phoenix 106, in the only games played.

"Early in the game," said Hannum, "if we had tried to trade baskets with Indiana, we would have been in real trouble." So, instead of pressing the issue, Denver played it deliberate and the tactic paid off. Dave Robisch contributed 28 points and Warren Jabali had 24, and 11 assists. Byron Beck added 20 for the Rockets.

Indiana Coach Bob Leonard thought his team could have solved the problem with some speed. "You've got to run the ball at Jabali," said Leonard.

"He loves that slow-down game. We just quit running the ball. When Denver slowed down, we just quit."

Striking Carolina won its sixth game in seven start and 19th in the last 22 games, whipping Virginia.

Joe Caldwell scored 26 points for the Cougars and held Julius Erving to 20 points, 10 below his average. Mack Calvin contributed 21 for the Cougars.

Dick Gibbs sank the winning basket with 45 seconds to play and then Sam Lacey clinched the victory by blocking Rick Barry's shot with 27 seconds left as Kansas City-Omaha defeated Golden State.

Nate Archibald scored 37 points and added 13 assists for the Kings, who got 19 points from Don Kojis and 18 from Lacey.

The Warriors, playing their fourth game in four nights and seventh in eight days, lost Joe Ellis with a bruised hip and Fritz Williams with a sprained ankle in the rough game.

Wilt Chamberlain became the first NBA player to hit 31,000 points for his career, leading Los Angeles past Phoenix.

Chamberlain scored 25 points, increasing his career total to 31,003 and also had 19 rebounds and eight assists for the Lakers.

Neal Walk of the Suns led all scorers with 29 points, 23 in the first half.

Tiny Centenary Nearly Upsets Ranked Houston

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Tiny Centenary College won the first 34 minutes of its basketball game against huge Houston Thursday night. But the Cougars remembered to take the last six and those were the ones that counted for an 89-85 victory.

Louis Dunbar's basket with only 5:44 left to play put Houston in front for the first time all night and the 11th-ranked Cougars hung on for the victory.

Dunbar led all scorers with 22 points while Dwight Jones pulled down 20 rounds.

Centenary, with 7-foot freshman Robert Parish dominating the action held the lead throughout and it was only when Houston Coach Guy Lewis inserted a lineup that averaged 6-foot-9 that the Cougars could cope with Parish. The big youngster led the Gents with 20 points and 22 rebounds.

The victory hiked Houston's record to 14-2. Centenary is 12-5.

Memphis State took over sole possession of first place in the Missouri Valley Conference, whipping Drake 73-68. It was the 13th straight victory for the No. 17 Tigers, who took over the Conference lead when St. Louis surprised Tulsa 69-64.

Drake threw a huge scare into Memphis State, leading throughout the first half until a freshmen-led zone press spun off 13 consecutive points, seven by Bill Cook. Larry Kanon had 16 points and 16 rebounds to lead State. Dennis Bell hit 24 for the losers.

Elsewhere in the MVC, defending co-champion Louisville got 16 points apiece from Bill Butler and Ken Bradley to defeat Bradley 91-74. Allen Murphy and Junior Bridgeman added 14 each to the balanced Cardinal attack.

Notre Dame got 25 points and 17 rebounds from John Shumate to defeat Villanova 82-66. Tom Ingelsby led the losers with 30 points.

In a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania went on a second half tear to defeat Manhattan 82-61 and Fairfield downed Detroit 67-63 in double overtime.

Pat McFarland scored 28 points to pace St. Joe's opening game victory. Then George Groom's basket and a three-point play by Ray Kelly moved Fairfield past Detroit in the second extra period of the nightcap.

All-America Ed Ratliff and Leonard Gray pumped in 20 points each as fourth-ranked Long Beach State defeated the University of California's Santa Barbara branch 77-69.

San Francisco, ranked No. 16, defeated Nevada-Las Vegas 87-83.

Arizona State used a tight defense beating Colorado State 77-50. The Sun Devils' pressing defense held the losers scoreless for the game's first three minutes and surrendered only 17 points in the first half.

Arizona trounced Wyoming 87-69 with freshman Coniel Norman scoring 37 points, 20 in the first half.

Angel Beginning To Live Up To Promise

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — David Angel, Clemson University basketball center who carries only 215 pounds on his 6-foot-10 frame, has emerged from the doghouse, his abode for almost a year.

A briskly recruited prospect while in high school at Rock Hill, S.C., he never quite lived up to his promise through his first two varsity seasons.

After averaging 18.5 points and 16 rebounds for the Tiger freshmen, he moved to the varsity where as a sophomore he averaged 13.7 points and 6.9 rebounds. As a junior, the figures were only slightly better—13.9 and 9.7.

They led the team both years, but were hardly the statistics expected when he was signed by the Atlantic Coast Conference school. The team records were disappointing, 9-17 and 10-16 for the two years.

Personal foul problems helped limit Angel's playing time, although he started 47 of the 52 games. Two seasons ago he led the squad with 105 personal fouls and fouled out of 10 games. Last season he led with 99 personals and seven disqualifications.

He has been less foul-prone this season, being charged with only 51 personals in 51 games and only three times fouling out.

His final game last season resulted in a heartbreaking 54-52 loss to heavily favored Maryland in the opening round of the ACC tournament. The underdog Tigers led by six at the half, but Maryland squeezed through on two Jim O'Brien free throws with 10 seconds left.

As crushed as Angel and his mates were at that moment, there was more to come for him in the dressing room minutes later. While the tear-stained Angel sat silently, Coach Tates Locke, bitterly disappointed, commented that intimidation of one of his players by a Maryland player was a major factor in the defeat.

He mentioned no names, but it was obvious he meant Angel and Len Elmore, Maryland's 6-foot-9 leaper, who puts 230 pounds into his rebounds and shot blocking. He had blocked several Angel shots during the game.

Angel had all summer to think about that and wonder what his fate would be as a senior this season.

The late November word was that Wayne Croft, a 240-pound, 6-foot-9 sophomore from Bamberg, S.C., was expected to be the starting center, with Angel moving to forward.

Croft drew the starting assignment in the first two games, relinquished it to Angel for the next three, then regained it through the following four.

Through the nine games neither was scintillating as Clemson scraped out a 5-4 record. Angel had averaged seven points and seven rebounds against Croft's 5.6 points and 5.4 rebounds.

Angel has started the last seven games, the first five of which Clemson lost.

He scored only 11 points in losses to highly ranked Maryland and North Carolina, then helped Duke score a 75-73 victory after Clemson held a three-point lead with 28 seconds to go.

Locke had called a time out and stressed the importance of not fouling. When play resumed, the over-zealous Angel fouled Duke's Chris Redding, giving him a three-point play that tied the score and two later free throws clinched the victory for Duke.

Just four nights later, Angel struck rock bottom when he failed to score a point, taking only four shots from the floor, and Clemson was routed by 14th-ranked St. John's of New York, 97-59, after trailing by only two points at the half.

It was after that game that Locke fumed that his big men were not scoring the points expected of big men.

Meanwhile, Angel prepared for a game at home three nights later against North Carolina State, No. 2 nationally.

He blamed himself for that loss to Duke. "I dreamed about that game for several nights," he said.

He decided the best thing to do would be to look on the game with N.C. State as a personal challenge as he was lined up against 7-foot-4 Tommy Burleson, the former Olympian.

Angel came out firing and played what Locke called his "greatest game since he has been at Clemson." The rangy senior scored 25 points, hitting seven of 12 shots and 11 in a row from the freethrow line. Unbeaten N.C. State was breathing hard at the finish in an 86-76 victory that was closer than the score indicated.

Next time out, against The Citadel, Angel scored 12 points in another good effort to help his team, win, but he saved his best for last Saturday. He scored 17 points, including nine of 10 free throws, and grabbed 21 rebounds to lead the Tigers to a 64-63 upset over a Virginia team that two nights earlier had surprised North Carolina.

Even in his greatest hour Angel almost was tripped up by fate. He rebounded a Virginia missed foul shot, only to fall and lose the ball. But with 45 seconds left, Virginia was unable to make the basket it needed.

Piney Gr. Gets Win

Piney Grove knocked off First Presbyterian last night, 52-49, in the Church Basketball League.

The victory boosted the Piney Grove record to 6-3, and tied them with Presbyterian for third place in the league standings.

In the first half, Presbyterian eased out into a 30-27 lead, but they were not able to hold onto it. Piney Grove came back to outscore them, 25-19, and just put out the victory.

Wayne Avery led Piney Grove with 17 points, while Rick Langley had 12. For Presbyterian, Ron Barnes had 16, Larry Graham had 15 and Mike Gwyn had 11.

Winner Will Be New Jets Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlie Winner, who has had previous football ties with Weeb Ewbank as an assistant coach and who has off-field ties as Ewbank's son-in-law, will become head coach of the New York Jets in 1974.

"I did my homework and he's the best man for the job," Phil Iselin, president of the National Football League club, said Thursday in announcing that Winner will serve as Ewbank assistant and then take over as head coach when the 65-year-old Ewbank becomes general manager in 1974.

Winner, who has signed a three-year contract that will make him head coach through 1976, has been an assistant to George Allen, handling the Washington Redskins' defensive secondary, since he was fired as head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals following the 1970 season and a five-year-record of 35-30-5. He was 8-5-1 in 1970.

Winner was an assistant coach at Case Tech in Cleveland, and married to Nancy Ewbank, when he left in 1954 to become a Baltimore Colts assistant after Ewbank was named as head coach.

When Ewbank was fired after a 7-7 season in 1962 and was hired by the Jets, then of the American Football League, Winner stayed with the Colts under Don Shula.

The 'Worry Clinic' Use The Head, Not The Heart

Sharon would rate very high as a prospective wife. Bachelors, analyze your girl friends on the 200-point tests below. Love can easily be developed AFTER the wedding, so use your head more than your heart when you propose!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE W-516: Sharon Summers, aged 19, is a cute brunette. "Dr. Crane," she told me last summer, "I served as Counselor for a church camp, and it was wonderful. "Then I worked at another camp for handicapped children, plus a Girl Scout camp.

"And earlier this summer I helped at the combined Bible School of our town's churches. "For I enjoy dealing with children."

marry an attractive girl who rates "superior" or "very superior" on the Sweethearts Tests" below.

For those Rating Scales quickly weed out the girls that will tap you for divorce and alimony!

"When you can get more," runs an old business adage, "why take less?"

Well, that axiom applies perfectly to matrimony.

So don't shun girls with attractive figures but remember the old adage that "Beauty is only skin deep."

Charm is thus far superior to mere skin beauty.

For charm never grows old. It doesn't sprout wrinkles! Nor does it develop gray hair. And a charming girl should be fond of children and with enough moral zeal to want to make this world better for her having lived here.

Remember, don't try to marry a girl to reform her!

She is already set in her basic habits before you place a wedding ring on her third finger!

So size up your prospective wife with far more candor and mechanical gumption than you pick an automobile.

Since marriage usually involves children, be sure your prospective bride has proved her devotion to children, plus her skill in handling them, as Sharon's record indicates.

The summer previously, Sharon thus had joined 10 other church teen-agers in a trip to Alaska, where they did "home missionary" work painting an outpost church and teaching Sunday School.

If you have a choice of two equally pretty girls, then remember you will cast the proxy votes for your future unborn children when you propose marriage!

So use your head more than your heart and pick the girl who:

- (1) Comes from a happy, "normal" type of family background;
- (2) Has a sense of humor and doesn't pout or get her feelings hurt unduly;
- (3) Has proved her interest in children, as by dealing with Girl Scouts or a Sunday School Class;
- (4) Has a good work pedigree, meaning, she has successfully held one or more pay jobs and would be recommended by her former employers as a conscientious employe;
- (5) Does NOT smoke, drink alcohol or indulge in the sheeplike modern fad of thinking the use of drugs is a mark of social distinction;

(6) Is interested in sports so she can join you in your fishing, golf, skating or other recreations with a false "put on" interest till after the wedding!

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

It appears that South must go down to defeat in his four heart contract, inasmuch as all of the outstanding high cards are unfavorably located. Declarer found a way, however, to put the opposition to work for him and thereby reduce his losers on the deal.

Although a spade opening would have proven more advantageous to the defense, West chose on the basis of the bidding to pursue a passive course, and therefore led the jack of hearts. South won the trick in his hand with the king.

A successful campaign appeared to hinge on the fate of the diamond finesse and the distribution of that suit. South observed a method for improving his chances, however, by partially stripping out the hand and then throwing the opposition in.

The ace of clubs was cashed, the last trump was drawn by leading over to North's queen and the remaining club was ruffed by declarer. The ace of diamonds was played, followed by a small heart to the nine. A diamond was led from dummy and South played the eight putting West in with the ten.

West was not in position to cash the king of diamonds without establishing his opponent's queen for a spade discard from dummy. A club return would present the declarer with a ruff and discard, so West made the only safe play by exiting with the five of spades.

The four of spades was played from dummy and East put up the queen to win the trick, however, he found himself to be hopelessly end-played on the return. He had no more diamonds and a club shift would clearly surrender a trick. East therefore led back a small spade. South's ten held and, after cashing the ace of spades, he graciously conceded another diamond to the opposition.

In all, declarer lost two diamond tricks and one

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
