Heavy Reliance On Foreign Oil Seen In Store For U.S.

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States must devote greater effort to assuring adequate energy supplies for the present and future, says Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., outgoing chairman of the Joint Committee of Defense Production.

Patman, in a statement accompanying a committee report on energy Sunday, said the country is moving too slowly in developing resources.

The report noted that while considerable reliance is being placed on development of electricity by nuclear power plants, 49 of 56 plants now under construction have fallen behind schedule an average of 14.3 months each.

It also said only one significant oil-refinery project is under construction and that no others are planned. The report called this "a definite deficiency."

The report made the following points:

—There will be heavy reliance on foreign oil, ranging from one-half to two-thirds of U.S. oil requirements by 1985 at an annual cost of about $30 billion a year.

—The type of nuclear reactors now in use would exhaust the supply of low-cost uranium in the United States in the next 25 to 50 years.

—Heavy reliance is being placed on the more efficient "liquid metal fast breeder reactor," although the first commercial demonstration is not scheduled until 1980.

—There is "insufficient national commitment" to developing alternative sources of energy in the event of setbacks in the liquid-breeder-reactor program.

—The supply of natural gas "is considered even more critical than that of oil," with proven domestic reserves only 11 times greater than annual production.

—While coal constitutes 73 per cent of fossil-fuel reserves, its production and consumption are impeded by environmental and other factors "so that this potentially abundant source of energy cannot fill the demand-supply gap in the critical time period."

The report quotes the Department of Commerce as saying the outlook for energy for the short and medium term, until 1985, "causes serious concern" and that conventional domestic oil and gas supplies will not yield the energy needed.

"This department further states that the overwhelming bulk of large additional supplies of energy for the U.S. economy during the next 10 to 15 years appears to be foreign oil," it said.

First POWs Expected To Be Freed This Week

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. officials said today that the first releases of American prisoners of war in South Vietnam are expected this week. They also indicated that U. S. ships and aircraft might soon begin clearing the mines the U. S. Navy planted in North Vietnamese waters last year.

Fighting between South Vietnamese troops continued to slack off across the country as teams of military truce observers fanned out to regional headquarters. But U. S. B52 bombers and fighter-bombers continued operations over Laos Sunday at the request of the Laotian government, the U. S. Pacific Military Command in Honolulu announced.

U. S. officials were reported preparing plans to receive one of the first groups of American prisoners in the An Loc area, 60 miles north of Saigon and 10 miles from the Cambodian border. A subcommission of the four-power joint military commission met for the third successive day in an effort to finalize the first phase of the prisoner release.

The officials gave few details but indicated that the United States and the Viet Cong also had tentatively agreed on at least one other site in the Saigon region and two sites in the Mekong Delta for the POWs to be handed over.

Prisoner of war lists given the United States in Paris listed 99 U. S. servicemen and 27 American civilians held by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam. There has been no indication when the release of the 465 Americans reported held in North Vietnam and Laos might begin.

The South Vietnamese military command reported that Communist cease-fire violations had fallen below 100 for the first time since the truce went into effect Jan. 28. The command reported 89 incidents during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Scores of U.S. aircraft ferried teams of 20 to 40 men of the International Commission and of the Communist side of the Joint Military Commission for Control and Supervision to seven regional headquarters to begin field operations after nearly a week's delay. U.S. and South Vietnamese teams already were in place.

Two other U.S. C130 transports flew to Hanoi to bring more North Vietnamese support personnel and equipment to Saigon for the Communist delegation to the Joint Military Commission. Five C130s brought more than 200 North Vietnamese support personnel from Hanoi on Sunday.

One of the C130 transports that flew to North Vietnam today carried Rear Adm. Brian McCauley, commander of the Navy task force that will clear the U.S. mines from North Vietnamese waterways, and 15 members of his staff. They were going on to Haiphong for the first meeting of U.S. and North Vietnamese military representatives to discuss the clearing operation.

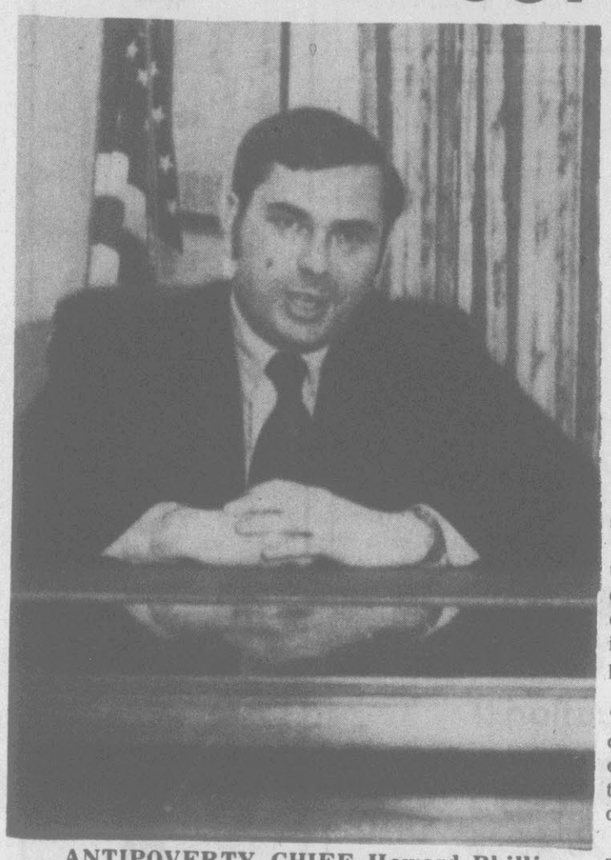
A task force of 20 to 25 U.S. Navy ships and 50 or more helicopters is assembling in the Tonkin Gulf to do the minesweeping.

In Laos, meanwhile, the heaviest Communist attacks in months were reported, leading observers to speculate that the Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese were pressing to expand their areas of control in anticipation of a cease-fire.

In one of four major actions, an important base for CIA-supported irregular troops was taken at Nam Yu, in northwestern Laos.

CEASEFIRE OFFICIALS - Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, left, head of the U. S. delegation, stands by Sunday in Saigon as Viet Cong Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, third from left, and other delegates leave a joint session of groups working out cease-fire details. Attending the meeting were officials of the International Commission for Control and Supervision, and the Joint Military Commission. (AP Wirephoto)

Dismantling Of OEO Set



ANTIPOVERTY CHIEF Howard Phillips, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, has been told to dismantle the agency. (AP Wirephoto) Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antipoverty programs will be spun off to other government agencies "as soon as is feasible," says the new director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The OEO is to be dismantled effective July 1.

The director, Howard Phillips said in an interview he will have to lop off 450 poverty warriors before June 30, getting the agency down from 1,950 jobs to 1,500, which will be transferred to other departments. He said each program will be carefully evaluated before going to another agency.

Jobs in the OEO regional offices are most vulnerable, Phillips said. Some may be absorbed into other departments' regional operations.

Since taking over the agency officially late last week, Phillips froze pending grants, contract actions, travel leave and the accumulation of even advance sick leave.

"No grant will be extended for more than one month until we review it," he said.

Under the President's 1974 budget, community action agencies—which have had the great bulk of the over-all OEO budget—will be carried only through December and it will be up to local or state governments to pick them up thereafter or let them die.

Health and nutrition programs and pilot Indian programs will be transferred to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Migrant programs will go to the Department of Labor. Community economic development projects will be transferred to the Office of Minority Business Enterprise as soon as new legislation is enacted to encompass it.

Legislation is also needed to create an independent legal services corporation.

Belfast Counts 10 Slain

BELFAST (AP) — The death toll in Belfast's bloodiest weekend of guerrilla strife rose to 10 early today when a gas station attendant cut down by gunmen died in a hospital.

The other dead included six Roman Catholics killed by British troops and three Protestants. A total of 20 persons have died since last Monday.

Catholic political leaders demanded a government inquiry into the killing of the six Catholics, claiming they were unarmed bystanders. The army said they were gunmen of the Irish Republican Army.

Informed sources said William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator of Northern Ireland, would ask Prime Minister Edward Heath for more troops to reinforce the 17,000 soldiers in the province. Three thousand had been sent back to Britain in recent months because the strife had scaled down, but the lull ended a week ago as gunmen went on a rampage.

Scattered sniper fire continued Sunday night in the capital of Northern Ireland, but the level of violence was considerably less than the night before. The streets were largely deserted except for army patrols and empty buses.

During the day a group of children found the naked corpse of a 33-year-old Protestant floating in a river. He had been beaten black and blue, stabbed in the chest and throat, branded and shot through the head.

Two other Protestants were killed Saturday night and at least 15 other persons wounded as Protestant and Catholic terrorists roamed the city in one of the bloodiest nights Northern Ireland has seen

SILENT ON CLAIM

Commissioners Approve Paving Of Parking Lot

Pitt County Commissioners this morning approved a plan to pave the county parking lot beside the court house and accepted bids for a 12-passenger van-type wagon for the Department of Social Services.

Commissioners, on recommendation of Rivers and Associates, who designed the parking facility, approved a $28,313 expenditure for grading and paving the parking facility. Commissioners also appropriated funds for landscaping the parking area and $2,990 for engineering fees for the project. Low bidder for the paving was Barrus Construction Co.

Commissioners accepted a low bid of $3,488.22 submitted by Smith-Waldrop Motors for a 12-passenger wagon for use by the Department of Social Services. Three other bids received ranged from a low of $3,605.25 to $3,802.61.

In other business this morning, commissioners heard reports from various county departments and agencies and heard from Rev. William Hadden and county health director Dr. Robert May and others on possible ways to fund a local crisis intervention counseling service, known as REAL. No action was taken on the crisis intervention question.

Irish Move Up Nat'l Election

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland will hold national elections Feb. 28, a year ahead of the normal schedule.

Prime Minister Jack Lynch unexpectedly called the elections today.

The date of the balloting is a month before Britain is due to publish its plans for Northern Ireland, torn by violence pitting the Irish Republican Army against the Protestant majority.

Lynch's government has cracked down on IRA operations in Ireland.

The election call apparently was aimed at further strengthening Lynch's government before the British spell out their intentions in Northern Ireland, where the IRA has been fighting to unite the province with Ireland.

Murder-Suicide Ruling Is Made

Murder-suicide has been ruled in the deaths of former East Carolina University basketball star and his girlfriend whose bodies were found Saturday in a car near Greenville.

Pitt Coroner and Medical Examiner E. W. Harvey ruled that Fairley died of a shotgun wound in the chest and Peggy Joyce Nelson, 22, of Greenville, died of a gunshot wound in the right side of her neck.

Harvey said that Fairley apparently shot Miss Nelson and then shot himself. He estimated that Fairley and Miss Nelson had been dead from ten to 12 hours when found by hunters around 10 a.m. Saturday.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that two spent shotgun shells were found at the scene; one in the shotgun and another on the ground near the car. An unused shell, comparable to the spent casings found, was discovered in Fairley's pocket, he added.

A spokesman at Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home here said that funeral arrangements for Fairley had not been completed this morning but noted that the services would be conducted in Laurinburg, Fairley's home town. The spokesman said that funeral arrangements for Miss Nelson are incomplete.

Siren Signal To A Sneak Thief

BOSTON (AP) — The wail of a fire engine siren in the night brings a cold chill to some and the ring of adventure to others. To a certain sneak thief in Boston's Roxbury section, it brings an invitation to visit the empty firehouse.

Responding to concurrent alarms Sunday night, members of Engine Co. 24 were away from their station for about an hour. When they returned they found the firehouse looted and their color television set missing—for the fifth time in less than a year.

A spokesman for the firefighters said the loss amounted to more than $1,000 and included a gold watch, a diamond ring and three pairs of over-the-knee rubber boots.

Coed's First Parachute Jump Became A Tragedy

JONESBORO, Tenn. (AP)—A young woman's first parachute jump turned into tragedy Sunday when she landed in a swift-running river and was swept away, Washington County authorities said.

Laura Watson, 18, an East Tennessee State University coed from Spruce Pine, N.C., was still missing late Sunday night.

Miss Watson had jumped at mid-afternoon from a light plane at about 3,000 feet, the sheriff's office said. Her target was in a drop zone about 300 yards away from the Nolichucky River.

Witnesses said her descent appeared to be normal until she reached the 500-foot level. More experienced members of the ETSU Sport Parachute Club were using a power megaphone to talk to her as she neared the ground after her main parachute opened without incident.

Then, witnesses said, the young woman's parachute turned toward the nearby river.

Miss Watson, according to other members of the club, landed in waist deep water about 300 yards from the club's club drop zone. As other jumpers attempted to go to her assistance, the swift-running water pulled her parachute canopy downstream, dragging her with it.

The Washington County Sheriff's office said the narrow, deep-running river carried Miss Watson over some rapids before her would-be rescuers could reach her.

Rescue squads from Jonesboro, Erwin and Johnson City were called to assist in the search for the young woman. A motorist reported seeing an object that could have been a parachute canopy drifting in the river about three miles below where the accident occured but efforts to find her before dark were futile.

Shortly before dark, the rescue squads stretched a net across the river about eight miles below the drop zone in an attempt to catch the young woman's body. The recovery efforts were to resume this morning.

Members of the parachute club said Miss Watson had undergone rigorous training before her jump Sunday afternoon. The parachute club operates under rigid safety regulations of the U.S. Parachute Association.

Although USPA regulations ban intentional jumps into drop zones near water, a club member said the regulation had been waived by a USPA instructor-inspector because of the narrowness of the river and normally low wind speeds.

Witnesses said winds at the time of Miss Watson's jump were gentle. Other parachutists jumped without difficulty into the drop zone after the accident, authorities said.

Under No Pressure For Repaying VA

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Mildred Ridgeway, told last week that her son is a prisoner of war, says she has spent the $5,000 an insurance company paid her after he was listed as killed in action in Vietnam in 1968.

"When they gave it to me, I told them: 'If he shows up, I can't ever pay it back,'" said the mother of Marine Pfc. Ronald L. Ridgeway.

He was one of nine men at an outpost near Khe Sahn that was hit by a Viet Cong attack Feb. 25, 1968. American forces did not retake the area until August of that year and, upon finding decomposed bodies there, assumed all nine had been killed.

The bodies were buried in a mass grave in St. Louis. Mrs. Ridgeway attended the funeral but insisted that her son still was alive.

Mrs. Ridgeway said she told officials that she did not want the insurance payment because she couldn't believe her son had been killed.

Mrs. Ridgeway, a nurses aide, said the insurance agent told her: "If he shows up, we'll never expect you to pay it back."

Another $5,000 went to the youth's father, Lewis Ridgeway of Shepherd, who is divorced from Mrs. Ridgeway. He could not be reached for comment.

Mrs. Ridgeway said she spent the money on a car and on her two other sons, Ray, 18, and James, 5.

"We live from payday to payday," she said. "A nurse's aide doesn't make a lot of money."

In Washington, a spokesman for the Veterans Administration said Mrs. Ridgeway won't necessarily have to pay back the insurance money, although no decision has been made in the case.

"Everybody concerned is going to bend over backwards to see that no undue hardship is going to be created," the spokesman said.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

1973 should be a good year for North Carolina livestock farmers but probably not quite as good as 1972, which was an exceptionally high income year.

North Carolina State University extension economists, in their year-end analysis, report that, "Overall, the 1973 outlook for slaughter hogs suggests only slightly lower prices than in 1972." In fact, prices may average slightly higher during the first half of the year and move to moderately lower levels during the third and fourth quarters.

The economists believe slaughter prices will average around $25 per hundredweight in North Carolina. Based on past relationships among supply, demand and prices, slaughter prices are expected to average $26 to $29 or better through February before beginning a downward trend, possibly to the $22-$25 range by April.

Prices may strengthen seasonally to average about $26-$28 during the summer. After that a real turning point may be reached. If producers continue to expand, large supplies of pork could force prices toward the $20 level late this fall.

The overall outlook for North Carolina's large number of feeder pig producers might not be regarded as rosy as that for slaughter hog producers. Feeder pig prices have been exceptionally high during much of 1972 but are expected to be sharply lower during 1973.

However, prices are expected to hold up well during the first part of the year. There is a possibility it could be downhill after that.

Much the same story is true for beef. The outlook for both slaughter cattle and feeder cattle indicates that 1973 will be another year of moderately increasing supplies offset by comparable increases in demand.

Choice steers are expected to average about $35 per hundred pounds at Omaha, which is roughly the same as the 1972 average. Feeder cattle, which comprize the largest portion of the Tar Heel beef industry, may average $1 to $2 per hundred pounds lower than last year, due largely to anticipated higher feed costs.

The price patterns may look something like this for slaughter cattle, based on the Omaha market for Choice cattle: $37-$38 through February, dropping to around $34-$36 during the fourth period.

For feeder cattle, based on Choice steers at Kansas City, which normally can be expected to be $2 to $3 higher than the North Carolina price: The average should be around $47-$48 early in the year and move down to about $42-$43 in late spring. Prices may rebound in mid-summer to $46-$47 before declining in the fall back to the $42-$43 level.

Dairy farmers can look forward to an average Grade A milk price of about $7.45 per hundred pounds in 1973. This would be a slight increase over the $7.23 average received last year.

An anticipated rise in feed costs will put pressure on dairymen to salvage part of this milk price increase.

ECU Will Sponsor Summer Institute

Forty secondary school teachers of physical science iwll be chosen to participate in a special summer institute at East Carolina University June 18-Aug. 10.

The institute is supported by a grant of $67,273 from the National Science Foundation and is designed to provide teachers with experience in two new physical science programs.

Dr. Moses M. Sheppard, project director, said each participant will receive a basic stipend of $600 with additional allowances for dependents and travel.

Participants will be oriented to using the new Introductory Physical Science (IPS) and Physical Science II (PS II) curriculum materials in their classes. Each teacher may elect to attend the entire eight weeks of the institute or one of the four-week sessions.

Instructors will include Dr. Sheppard, Dr. Floyd M. Read, associate professor of science education at ECU. and IPS instructors Charles Z. Davis and Nannie F. Shearin, both teachers at Aycock Junior High School, Greenville.

Interested teachers should write to Dr. Sheppard at the ECU Department of Science Education for further information and application materials.

Junior Miss Is Acting Hopeful

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—The new Junior Miss North Carolina said she has hopes of becoming an actress.

Susan Maske Pearce, 17, of Greensboro, defeated nine other girls for the crown. The blond girl is a student at Grimsley Senior High School.

Paula Clayton of Hurdle Mills was first runner-up and Kathy Fleming of Hamptonville was second runner-up.

A meeting will be held Tuesday evening at Good Hope Free Will Baptist Church in Winterville at 7:30 p.m.

The topic of the meeting will be "Drugs In Our Community and What Can Be Done About It?"

All parents and interested citizens of the area are invited to attend.

TOBACCO TALK

By RAYMOND D. COLTAIN

Disease control should be planned before you get to the farm dealer. If you had a disease problem in your field the last time you grew tobacco in it, try and remember exactly what it was. Once you know your problem, you can begin to seek the proper control measures. Naturally, you want to grow a variety of tobacco that is resistant to your specific problem, and maybe use a chemical or two to combat it even further. The chemicals we have on the market for disease control in tobacco will do a very good job of controlling the diseases such as black shank, nematodes, and blue mold. With good management, you should be able to eliminate any loss to disease in your 1973 crop.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Fire authorities have set the estimate of damage to historic Thalian Hall, which caught on fire around noon Saturday, at about $20,000.

The structure, which was built in the decade before the Civil War and is recognized as the oldest continually operating theater on its original site in the United States. The Thalian Association which operates the playhouse portion of the three-story masonry building was organized in the 1760s.

A spokesman for the fire department said the flames were controlled within 30 minutes, but heavy, black smoke continued to boil into the sky over the port city.

There was no word on the cause of the blaze.

By the end of 1970, California had nearly 65 telephones for every 100 persons, while the world average then was only 7.1 per 100.

Chamber Music Ensemble Here

The world-famous Yugoslavian chamber orchestra, I Solisti di Zagreb, will appear in concert at East Carolina University Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The ensemble's ECU appearance is part of its tenth North American concert tour.

Featuring 14 string performers, I Solisti di Zagreb includes chamber works by contemporary composers as well as works by Bach, Vivaldi and Mozart in its repertoire.

The concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. in Wright Auditorium. Tickets for the public are available at the ECU Central Ticket Office.

Acclaimed as "one glorious-sounding instrument" by the LONDON DAILY TELEGRAPH, the group has also won acclaim from music critics in France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and Italy. Founded in 1954, I Solisti reached international fame with its performances at the Salzburg and Dubrovnik Festivals two years later.

America's VARIETY has said the ensemble is "a group of solo performers welded into a solid arthistic unit, making music with dedication and beauty that is quite rare in our hurried society.",

I Solisti's Greenville concert is part of the 1972-73 ECU Artists Series, sponsored by the Student Union.

Suggs-Creech Vows Said On Sunday Afternoon

ROBERSONVILLE — Miss Linda Gaye Creech and Alfred Thomas Suggs spoke their wedding vows Sunday at three o'clock in the afternoon at Oak Grove Church of Christ near here. Harold Turner, minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Creech of Stokes. The bride grooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Suggs of Rt. 2, Walstonburg.

The nuptial altar was centered with a fifteen branch semi-circle brass candelabra holding white catherdral candles marked with sprays of white gladioli, mums, and fern. On each side was greenery and matching candletrees. A kneeling bench was used by the bridal couple at the closing of the ceremony.

Mrs. Jewell Whitehurst of Stokes was the organist. Miss Lisa Johnson, also of Stokes, was soloist and Mrs. Lessie Johnson of Stokes was the director of the wedding.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white sata peau gown designed with a princess neckline and a full sata peau skirt. The fitted bodice featured an overlay of Venise lace. The sheer lantern sleeves were banded with matching Venise lace.

She wore a chapel length mantilla edged with matching Venise lace and carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Brenda Jenkins, cousin of the bride, of Wilson, was matron of honor. Mrs. Louise Leggett of Williamston was bridesmaid. They wore formal length gowns of red crepe designed empire style featuring long puff sleeves and wide cuffs.

MRS. ALFRED THOMAS SUGGS

They wore white picture hats accented with red satin streamers. They carried single white mums with matching ribbons.

Mrs. Creech wore a deep blue crepe dress featuring matching lace long sleeves. She wore a white mum. Mrs. Suggs wore a light blue polester dress featuring an embroidered lace bodice and long sleeves. She had matching accessories and wore a white mum.

The grandmothers were remembered with white carnations.

M. L. Suggs Jr. served his son as best man. Ushers were Mark Suggs of Walstonburg, brother of the bridegroom, Kelvin Creech of Ayden and Kenneth Creech of Greenville, both cousins of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside at Rt. 2, Walstonburg.

The bride is a graduate of Stokes-Pactolus High School and attended Pitt Technical Institute. The bridegroom graduated from Greene Central High School and Pitt Technical Institute with a degree in agricultural chemicals.

The wedding party, relatives, and friends were entertained at an after-rehearsal party at the Community Building in Stokes. Guests were greeted by the hostesses and invited to the refreshment table which was decorated in red and white.

Members of the wedding party were remembered with gifts from the bridal couple.

Punch was poured by Mrs. Jane Creech, aunt of the bride. The cake was served by Mrs. Suggs, the bridegroom's mother. Mrs. Faye Creech, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest register and greeted the guests.

Miss Roetzel Gives Program Thursday Night

"Cultural Manifestations of the Victorian Era" was the program topic at the dinner meeting of Beta Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society held Thursday at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Frances Gwynn, chairman of the Professional Affairs Committee, introduced Miss Priscilla Roetzel, professor of art history at ECU, as guest speaker.

As Miss Roetzel discussed the cultures of her ancestors, who lived during the 19th century, she displayed some of their favorite articles including napkin rings, pictures, invitations, letters, records, and an album.

The business session was conducted by President Frances Daniels.

Chairman of Personal Growth and Services Nan Shearin reported that she had obtained contributions from the members for the World Fellowship Fund.

She stated that the money would help assist foreign women educators to do graduate work at colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Gwynn presented four recommendations for awarding scholarship money. Following the acceptance of the recommendations, scholarships for 1972-73 were given to Miss Teresa Jones and Miss Mary Ann Burchette.

The president recognized and congratulated two members who have been selected as outstanding teachers for this school year. Audrey Dempsey was chosen for the Honor Alumni Award for the Outstanding Woman Educator by the University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colo. Nan Shearin was selected the Greenville teacher.

The group voted to contribute to the Loretta Halek Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Members To Hear Speaker

Lee Moore, from the Wachovia Bank, will be the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Greenville Welcome Wagon Club Wednesday.

He will be speaking on deeds and trusts.

The meeting will be held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club at 11:30 a.m. except for members who wish to play bridge beginning at 9:30 a.m., prior to the luncheon.

Miss Vivian Dean and Chuck Humphrey, whose marriage will take place Feb. 10, were honored at a buffet luncheon at Balentine's Restaurant on Thursday.

Hosts and hostesses included Glenda Parrish, Doris H. Phelps, Judy Rollins, Ken Hilton, Sammie Rure, Barbara Clark and Clifton J. Moss.

The Pitt Technical Institute Library Resource Center personnel presented the couple an engraved silver tray.

The bride-elect wore a red carnation corsage.

Husband Deserves To Be Trusted

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nearly 20 years to a man I love very much. He doesn't drink or smoke and has a nearly perfect church attendance record. He has shown me he loves me in a million different ways and I've never had reason to doubt him.

Perhaps I should tell you that all the bills are sent to the house and I pay them by check. For Christmas he gave me several gifts. Among them was a pair of lovely earrings. After the bills came in for the Christmas buying, I noticed two pair of earrings on the bill, priced exactly the same. Thinking there must be a mistake in the billing, I phoned the store and was told it was no mistake. TWO pair of identical earrings were purchased by my husband. That evening I asked him about it and he said he had given the other pair to an old lady who works with him.

Yesterday he phoned from work to say he had broken his glasses, and would I bring him his extra pair, so I did. In his office I saw the "old lady" wearing the same earrings he had given to me. Only she wasn't old—she was young, and very pretty. I was sick.

That night I told my husband what I had observed and he said he didn't tell me she was young and pretty because he didn't want to "upset" me.

Well, I am more upset knowing he lied to me. Abby, can a wife ever trust her husband after something like this? HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Yes. Nothing erodes a relationship faster than living with suspicion. No credit to your husband for having lied to you in the first place, but if he had something more serious to hide he certainly wouldn't have charged both sets of earrings, knowing the bill would be sent home and handled by you. Judging from his track record, I'd say your husband deserves to be trusted.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the proud parents of a beautiful five-day-old baby girl. After seven years of a childless marriage we were able to adopt this precious angel, and words can't express our joy and gratitude.

So what's our problem? Stupid people who say, "Well, now that you've adopted a child, maybe, like so many other couples, you will have YOUR OWN." [What do they think we are? Babysitters?]

Another remark that really bugs us is, "Do you know who her REAL parents are?" We consider that nobody's business but our own, but how do we answer it? MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: Reply, "Yes, we know who her REAL parents are. WE are!"

DEAR ABBY: I have been keeping steady company with a young man for the past two years. I am 22 and Bill is 25. He told me that he is going to give me an engagement ring on St. Valentine's day, and I was thrilled because Bill is the most wonderful person I have ever known.

He said he is having the ring made special. It will have a large [one carat] round diamond in the center, surrounded by several smaller diamonds. Then he told me that he hoped I would agree to the one condition he was putting on the ring. It was if something happened to our marriage [I suppose he meant if it ended in divorce], he could have that center diamond back because it was his mother's. [His mother died when he was 10 and before his father died last year he gave Bill the diamond.]

Abby, why would the thought of divorce even enter his mind at a time like this? Now I wonder if I should accept it. Somehow I would feel that the ring wasn't really mine. Please help me sort out my thinking. TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: The diamond is an heirloom, and he wants to keep it in the family. Bill is a very far-sighted young man. Don't fault him for that. Accept it, and wear it with pride.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HARRY IN DUXBURY: I appreciate your offer to talk to St. Peter about putting DEAR ABBY in the "HEAVENLY STAR." If you make the deal it will really be out of this world!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Special Program Set For Educational Television

Regardless of who wears the pants in the family, they can be made to look better.

According to Mrs. Evelyn L. Spangler, associate home economics extension agent, the latest ideas for contstucting and fitting pants can be seen on University Educational TV in February (Channels 2 and 25 in this area).

Dorothy L. Barrier, extension clothing specialist at North Carolina State University, will present three, 30-minute programs, which will begin at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 7, and run for three consecutive Wednesdays.

The first program will show construction techniques used in making men's pants. The construction of such areas as the fly, waistband, and hem will be stressed. Techniques used on expensive ready-to-wear will be revealed.

The second program will cover women's pants. Humerous illustrations will be used to show misfits and then pattern corrections. Immediatedy following this program, there will be an exhibit on pant construction at the Extension Office.

Making pants for children will be the topic of the third program. Quick and easy techniques will be shown to keep elastic from rolling in the waistband. An invisible waistband and growth features will also be shown.

"Fashion trends will be stressed in the programs," Miss Barrier said. "Home seamstresses should be able to provide a more adequate and stylish pant wardrobe for their family after watching the programs," she added.

The public in invited to come and watch the programs at the Extension Office, located on the corner of Third and Greene Streets (beside Planters National Bank) Working girls should bring a lunch.

More Than Just 'Gun Control'

It is very tragic and senseless that Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss. had to be shot down in front of his Washington home in an apparent petty robbery attempt.

The 71-year-old chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee willingly turned over his valuables when confronted by two punks, but they evidently decided on a "thrill" shooting.

At this writing Sen. Stennis lies in very serious condition at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He underwent extensive surgery and, with all the nation, we hope for a full recovery.

There are those who say that gun control might have prevented this and other shootings and perhaps some control over handguns might help. We feel, however, that the problem goes deeper than that. The shooting of the senator is just another example of how criminals, large and small, have lost their fear and respect for the law.

Our society might not be able to restore respect for the law, but we sure can strike fear in the hearts of criminal types if we mete out stern sentences to those who are convicted of violent crimes.

We doubt if anything less than this is going to reduce the attacks such as befell Sen. Stennis last week.

Confrontation Signs Appear

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Signs of impending confrontation between executive and legislative are ruffling the placid surface of the 1973 General Assembly.

Democrats threw a stone in the pool last week when they complained that Gov. Jim Holshouser has directed his Republican administration to give information to legislators only with prior approval from his office.

BRYAN HAISLIP

The incident's widening ripples could mean choppy waters ahead for the session, the first in this century with the potential for partisan conflict between governor and legislature.

The claim by Rep. William T. Watkins of Gransville, House majority leader, that the procedure followed by the governor's office "has already caused come hindrance in the legislative process" was the first overt disturbance in the cordial atmosphere that has prevailed since Holshouser took office and the legislature convened.

As in a honeymoon spat, there was contentions of misunderstanding and hopes for an amiable resolution of differences.

Accountability As Reason

Sen. Charles Taylor of Transylvania, leader of the minority delegation, said much was made over a simple matter. Though not speaking for the governor, Taylor interpreted the directives from Holshouser's office as a step to assure accountability in relations with the legislature. It was not intended, in his view, to shut off the flow of factual information from state agencies to the lawmakers.

"In the present precarious situation, when many members of a previous administration are still in positions of authority, any information or proposed legislation which could be presumed to speak for the administration should be truly representative," he argued.

Furthermore, Taylor took notice that Watkins staged a news conference to air the grievance without an attempt for a solution either through contact with the governor, his legislative liaison, or GOP legislators.

He stepped clear of the intimation that Democrats, in the legislature or in the executive branch, raised the issue only from partisan motives. He said he hoped the spirit of cooperation would not be dispelled by the intrusion of politics.

Partisan Element Disclaimed

For his part, Watkins said Democrats wanted to put the matter in the open to clear lines of communication and avoid rather than create conflict. The question is not partisan, he insisted, but the prerogative of the legislature to free access for information dealing with state government.

Gov. Holshouser, a former legislator, acknowledged the challenge of working with a legislature in Democratic hands in his message to the General Assembly. He invited cooperation to put first the best interests of the stae and its people.

After an amiable start, simmering irritation among some Democrats became apparent as the session moved along. They felt that in committees spokesmen for state agencies were evasive in responding to questions.

As an example, Transportation Secretary Bruce Lentz left a feeling of frustration after a recent appearance before roads committees. One member said it looked to him as though some "legislative direction" would be needed in highway matters.

A factor in the developing situation undoubtedly is the apprehension evident among lawmakers that the new GOP administration is moving fast and far in replacing Democratic office-holders.

Storm Signals Flashing

Taken together, the signals point to the possibility of a major clash along party lines in the days ahead.

Sen. Gordon Allen of Person, president pro tem of the upper chamber, said so far as he was aware incidents thus far have occurred on the House side.

If there are, indeed, restraints on agencies and department heads to come to the legislature, he said, the Governor should remove them promptly or "it could precipitate an end to the honeymoon."

Tension between legislative and executive is inherent in the process. Governors before Holshouser have faced it, though perhaps moderated by party ties with the General Assembly majority.

Some encounters are inevitable, whoever is governor, said Sen. I.C. Crawford of Buncombe. It is up to the legislature, partisan interest aside, to assert its independence of the executive, he contended.

"Throughout the country today, the legislative branch is subservient to the judicial and the executive. I don't like it," he said.

Good will is evident at this stage, he said, but if the Governor treads on legislative territory he is in for trouble.

"The General Assembly is not going to lie down and play dead," he promised.

Kissinger Peace Role Is Far From Ended

The president has announced that Henry A. Kissinger will visit Hanoi Feb. 10-13 to discuss postwar relations between our country and North Vietnam.

Thus the presidential assistant will begin another round of talks following those which he so carefully steered toward the succesful cease-fire agreement.

Despite the agreement, it is obvious that Kissinger's job is not finished. It is a matter of shaping attitudes by the United States, North and South Vietnam, the Soviet Union and China which will determine if peace is permanent in Southeast Asia.

The Kissinger visit to Hanoi is needed and most important if the cease-fire is to work.

Arabs Turning To Kissinger

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Growing pressure from Arab countries friendly to the United States is now being exerted on President Nixon to intervene directly and personally in the stalemated but potentially explosive Middle East confrontation through Henry Kissinger, his national security adviser.

Whether Mr. Nixon decides to move the intractable Arab-Israeli dispute into Kissinger's office, where for four years the President centered all the secret diplomatic action on the Vietnam war, is still uncertain.

What is not uncertain is that Jordan's King Hussein, due here this week, and the highly influential Cairo editor, Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, who will follow the king here in March, are both convinced that real progress is out of the question without President Nixon's intimate involvement, and that means Kissinger's

What is not uncertain is that Jordan's King Hussein, due here this week, and the highly influential Cairo editor, Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, who will follow the king here in March, are both convinced that real progress is out of the question without President Nixon's intimate involvement, and that means Kissinger's.

Serious administration efforts to liquidate the effects of the six-day war of 1967 ended in December 1971, when Mr. Nixon decided to open the weapons' pipeline to Israel.

That decision followed three years of patient diplomacy by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and his top Middle East trouble-shooter, Assistant Secretary Joseph J. Sisco. They arranged the ceasefire along the Suez Canal in 1970 and at one point seemed on the verge of forcing Israel to withdraw from most of the Egyptian Sinai peninsula in conformity with the "Rogers plan" for a Middle Eastern peace.

The ceasefire still holds. But when Mr. Nixon, bidding hard for Jewish votes and under severe political pressure from the powerful American-Jewish community, yielded to Israel Prime Minister Golda Meir's request for more 4-4 Phantoms and other military equipment in December 1971, the Rogers plan was quietly buried and diplomacy abruptly ceased.

Worse yet from the Arab vantage point, the demise of the Rogers plan was viewed from Cairo, Amman and other Arab capitals as proof of what the Israelis had been quietly claiming ever since Rogers unveiled his settlement proposal in 1969: that it was never more than a plan of the State Department (scored by Israel as a haven for Anti-Israeli "Arabists") and lacked the support of President Nixon and the White House.

Moreover, the failure of Mr. Nixon to give full support to the Rogers plan, and then to undermine it at a critical moment in 1971 by ending the ban on U. S. weapons for Israel, has seriously damaged Roger's personal prestige and credibility in the Arab states.

That was made brutally clear to us in Cairo two months ago, when a high Egyptian official referred to Rogers as "naive". No

Strength For Today

IT MUST BE SOLVED

We may hate communism and all other "isms" advanced as cure-alls for the world ills, but if we are wise we will ponder certain facts which lie behind much of the protest and disorder in world affairs.

Probably the greatest of these facts is the almost unbelievable maldistribution of this world's goods. One half of all the wealth of the world is owned by Americans. Fifteen per cent of these Americans own 85 per cent of the wealth found in their country. This means that citizens of the United States, comprising about one per cent of the population of the world, own more than 40 per cent of the world's wealth.

There are rich nations in the world and there are poor natins. As a background of all our thinking about world affairs we must keep in mind the fact that great masses of humanity never know what it means to go through life adequately fed. There are vastly more poverty-stricken people in the world than there are wealthy people. The so-called middle class exists only in western Europe and North America. Throughout the rest of the world a little group of the rich stand on one side and a multitude of the poverty-stricken on the other.

To say this is not to endorse radicalism, and certainly not to endorse communism. To say this is simply to face facts. There will be hell on this planet so long as this maldistribution continues.

Hwo can we even things up more justly? To that question the best brains of the world must direct their attention.

Franglais (Sic) Is Dead

WASHINGTON — The French, in an effort to purify their language, have officially expelled 350 English words from the French vocabulary including "hit parade," "zoning," "bypass," "tanker" and "container."

The campaign against "Franglais," as these English words were called, was ordered by President Georges Pompidou, who set up a commission to find French equivalents for English words that had managed to get into a Frenchman's vocabulary.

It is regrettable at a time when nations are trying to understand each other better that France would purge itself of English words. If she persists, England and the United States may have to retaliate by eliminating all French words from the English language.

This letter has just been sent to President Pompidou:

Dear President Pompidou:

It is regretful that at a time of detente in world affairs, France would decide to eliminate English words from the French language.

As a Francophile and a connoisseur of your great country, I feel that you are appealing to the potpourri of chichi elements in France that for years have been blase about the importance of bringing our two great cultures closer together.

The thinking here in Washington is that the French are losing their sangfroid over Franglais, and are not au courant as to the desire of most people to break down language barriers and understand each other.

Your campaign has a deja vu ambiance about it.

ART BUCHWALD

It seems for years the French have protested the encroachment of English on their language. But the elite French Academy, which is suppose to guard the culture of the country, has sat on its derriere for 50 years and has done nothing about it.

In the meantime, France has encroached on the English language, but no one has complained.

Thanks to our high standard of living, many of us have become bons vivants enjoying the cuisine of all nations as well as going to radical chic parties for worthy political causes. Some of us have been called gauche for doing this, but we have a saying here: "Chacun a son gout."

We now have savoir-faire, which we never had before, and while we make social gaffes the fact that we all share an esprit de corps is a fait accompli.

My dear President, your decision to expel English words from the French language can only lead to the end of an entente cordiale that has existed between us. You may respond, "C'est la guerre," but I predict such an attitude would only escalate into a debacle for both countries.

If you decide to give the coupe de grace to the few English words that have entered your language, we will have no choice but to take a close look at the French cliches that have become part of ours.

What you are doing is inviting a contretemps that would only benefit those searching for a raison d'etre to divide us.

Other Editors Say Use Of Firearms

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

For the purpose of clarification, Sen. Peter Dominick of Colorado has introduced a bill to amend the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1970.

The Colorado Republican has persistently opposed federal efforts with regard to registration of firearms. The wiser strategy, in his view, is to reach the criminals rather than dealing with the gun.

"I am firmly convinced," he said, "of the opinion that strict criminal penalties will do far more good than strict registration requirements."

Dominick offered the amendment as a means to clarify confusion generated over the intent of Congress in the Crime Control Act which makes the use of a firearm in the commission of a felony a separate offense.

The bill will make the use or carrying of firearms during the commission of a felony a separate chargeable felony carrying with it a separate sentence of one to 10 years for a first offense and five to 20 years for a second offense.

Sen. Dominick cited a recent federal case in his home state which is reported to be the first involving this new legislation.

At a pretrial hearing, the District Court dismissed the count of carrying a firearm during the commission of a felony on the grounds that it was not intended by Congress to create a separate offense.

The court imposed an additional one-year concurrent sentence on the theory that the Mansfield Amendment was directed to punishment rather than defining substantive offense.

An Appeals Court reversed the decision and ruled that the Mansfield Amendment did in fact create a separate chargeable offense thus determining that the sentence imposed by the District Court could not stand.

The Appeals Court also ruled that the consecutive sentencing provisions apply only to a second or subsequent conviction so that a first offender could not receive a concurrent sentence.

Dominick's bill is designed to clarify this situation, and simply gives effect to congressional intent.

Do you want to live to be 100? Well, you'll have better chance, according to a survey by the National Geographic society, if you are happily married, engage in outdoor activity, eat a low-calorie diet, and live on a mountainside. The booze bill of Americans is getting higher, but we aren't drinking quite as much of the hard stuff as we did early in the century. The expenditure for each person 21 or older averages $149 annually for nearly 22 gallons of liquor, beer and ale, and wine and champagne. That's an increase of 34 per cent in 10 years. Back around 1906 we drank about 22 gallons a year each, too, but then we consumed six quarts a year each of distilled liquors. Now it's down to four quarts.

Authorities are worried about the growth of arson cases in the United States. They have been doubling every 10 years, and last year eight per cent of all fires were reported to be of suspicious origin. Here are the seven main motives why people set fires: fraud; to hide another crime; jealousy; revenge; thrills, either juvenile or sexual; riots or vandalism; terrorism.

Extravagant Despite Protests

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With food prices bound to rise over the next several weeks, you may expect buyers to express their disapproval more shrilly — and to go right on choosing high priced products instead of stepping down.

This has been the practice over the past few years, and most experts — if they may be called that — believe it will be the case this year too. Spending power is rising. And while Americans might skimp elsewhere in their budget, they seldom do so for long with food.

It is especially true with beef. You can trace the growing prosperity of America in the rising beef consumption. In 1920, we ate 60 pounds a year per person. This year the estimate is 118 pounds, a 10-pound rise in five years.

There are reasons for rising food prices other than growing consumer demand of course. Subsidies and acreage restrictions contribute. So does a chronic supply-demand imbalance, as does low productivity in some areas of procesing and distribution.

But it can also be shown that rising demand adds to the price pressures and that no matter how high the price goes there will be a goodly number of shoppers who will chase it still higher.

This tendency leads to the almost absurd situation of some butchers attempting to talk their customers into lower priced cuts. Overheard the other day was this response to a customer who sought to buy filet mignon at $4.25 a pound: "Mister, why don't you try our ground beef?"

Consumption of some other meats is rising also and this year the appetite is expected to be in the range of 200 pounds, compared with 136 pounds in 1920, and 161 pounds as recently as 1960.

Less veal and lamb are eaten, compared with a decade ago, but chicken and pork consumption is rising. And with choice hogs selling at 34 cents a pound, up 25 per cent over a year ago, you can imagine what the future holds.

With chicken the story is quite different. In the past 23 years Americans have raised their per caiia consumption from less than 10 pounds to around 40 pounds, but prices in recent years have been lower than in 1950.

There is a lesson for the rest of the food industry in its record. Prices have remained stable or fallen in spite of such big demand because the industry today is remarkably more efficient and productive.

ConAgra, a leading manufacturer of feeds for poultry, beef, pork and farm-raised fish, maintains that in 1940 it took 250 manhours to produce 1,000 broiler chickens, compared with only 15 hours in 1972.

Health Careers Day Is Slated At University

At least 24 health care institutions and organizations in the region will be represented here Feb. 9 at a Health Careers Day program sponsored by the East Carolina University School of Allied Health and the ECU Placement Service.

Placement Service director Furney K. James said the program is an effort to assist employers to make contact with ECU students in various health disciplines, and to talk to interested students.

Students from the following Allied Health career fields have been invited to participate:

Nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, medical technology, social work, medical records, dietetics, music therapy, speech and audiology, community health, child development and family relations and rehabilitation counseling.

Institutions and organizations which have signified they will be represented include:

Memorial Mission Hospital, Asheville; North Carolina Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill; Charlotte Memorial Hospital, Charlotte; Sampson County Memorial Hospital, Clinton; Duke University Medical Center, Durham; North Carolina Cerebral Palsy Hospital, Durham; N.C. Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Area Administration Office, Greenville; Pitt County Memorial, Greenville; Wayne County Memorial Hospital, Goldsboro; Caswell Center, Kinston; Lenoir Memorial Hospital, Inc.; Kinston; High Point Memorial Hospital, Inc., High Point; Moore Memorial Hospital, Pinehurst; N. (Continued From Page 4)

matter how unfair that judgment is, the fact that it exists is a major explanation of the quiet but rising Arab pressure to involve the White House itself in new efforts to break the dangerous Middle East deadlock.

Another reason is Kissinger's success as Mr. Nison's negotiator on the Vietnam war. The legacy of that success is now beginning to haunt Kissinger.

Yet, no decisions about Kissinger's direct participation in any new Middle East moves have been made, nor has the White House decided what the new American settlement plan should be. Officially, the administration is sticking with the so far unworkable scheme for an "interim" settlement which would open the Suez Canal but leave Israel in possession of most of the Sinai peninsula.

The reason the White House has not yet decided on a settlement plan is the transformed political scene in the Middle East. With the Russians expelled from Egypt, and Israel prohibitively superior in military power, some experts argue that Mr. Nixon should do nothing.

But doing nothing risks an Egyptian military adventure which might bring Moscow back to Cairo in force. It also assures growing hatred for the U. S. throughout the Arab world, which controls most of the world's oil reserves. Even oil-rich Kuwait, a U. S. friend, unanimously passed a parliamentary resolution two weeks ago barring all Kuwaiti oil to any country helping Israel in a new Middle Eastern war.

Thus, Arab leaders who privately want Kissinger to negotiate a settlement will arrive here with all options open. The surprising fact that they are now looking to an American Jew for help is ironic evidence of a desperate dilemma.

May Report On Body's Identity At Early Date

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Forsyth County medical examiner Dr. David Nelson said a report on the identity of a woman found floating in a small lake near Winston-Salem should be complete Tuesday or Wednesday.

Nelson said the body--that of a middle-aged Caucasian--had been dead several weeks.

He said that authorities were checking the possibility that the body could be that of a Union Cross, N.C., woman missing since Dec. 27.

Helen Holmes McMillen, 49, was reported missing from home by her father. She was wearing slacks and a coat at the time.

Nelson said the 40-50 year old woman was wearing brown slacks and a brown coat.

The medical examiner said he was unable to determine the cause of death because the body was so badly decomposed.

Therefore, Monsieur, we must look at the nuances and protocols of your decision. The question we in America are asking is have you made a faux pas? Have we reached an impasse or are you willing to adopt a laissez-faire attitude about the French language?

I hope this is not au revoir. It would be a pity for all of us to lose our joie de vivre at this moment in history.

Please Monsieur le President, accept this as a cri de coeur and R.s.v.p. tout de suite.

Two Accidents Here Yesterday

More than $850 property damage resulted from two wrecks investigated here yesterday.

Police reported a car driven by Jimmy Spencer Jr., 31, of 1012 West Third St. collided with a house at 504 Contentnea St. about 5:17 p.m. causing an estimated $500 damage to the car. No estimate of the damage to the house was listed.

Spencer was charged with driving under the influence and public drunkeness.

No charges were made in the second mishap which occurred about 11 p.m. on Fifth Street at the East Carolina University entrance intersection.

Police, who identified the drivers involved as Freda R. Steinbeck of 2503 East Fifth St. and Dwight David Waller, 20, of Route 1, Mount Olive, estimated damage to the Steinbeck car at $200 and damage to the Waller vehicle at $150.

Blind May 'See' Via Camera Eye

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Stanford University scientist says he believes a newly developed camera that enables a blind person to "read" ordinary printed material will change the lifestyle of blind persons.

The device, developed at Stanford and called Optacon, uses a camera about the size of a pocket knife to photograph each printed letter. The picture is converted electronically to be displayed as an "image" on a grid of vibrating needles on another instrument about the size of a book.

"The blind person feels with his fingertips precisely what the camera sees," said Dr. John G. Linvill, chairman of Stanford University's electrical engineering department. "An 'a' feels to him what an 'a' looks like to you."

Dr. Linvill, who headed the team which developed the device, described the Optacon today in a paper presented to a science writers' seminar in opthamology sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., of New York, a national research foundation.

He said a blind person experienced in using the Optacon can read about half as quickly as an experienced Braille reader. However, he said, Optacon eliminates converting printed material to Braille's groups of dots pressed into paper to represent letters.

"The aim is to make the blind competitive in a sighted world. I believe it changes the lifestyle of the blind persons," he said.

About 200 units have been built. Twenty-five have been sent to an institute in Heidelberg, Germany, for use by blind persons being trained in computer programing. A high school class in San Diego also has used the Optacon.

Meanwhile, work is underway to produce a more compact, simple and effective instrument.

Now, the camera is held in one hand and the image is felt with the fingertips of the other hand. Linvill said he hopes to modify the instrument so that only one hand need be used.

Thirty-One Fire Alarms In Pitt

For the month of January, a total of 31 fire alarms were reported by the 18 rural fire departments in Pitt County. Seven of these were responded to by Staton House, which had the largest number of calls for the month period.

Within this total, 15 of the alarms were for house fires; three for buildings other than houses; four each for auto fires; false alarms; and mutual aid; and two each for grass fires and for miscellaneous fires.

According to Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner, property value of the 27 fires amounted to an estimated $42,200, with property valued at $95,800 saved from destruction.

Hold Ceremony At Presentation

A candlelight ceremony Friday at Operation Sunshine marked the presentation of a gift ot the organization from Field Enterprises.

Madeline Vincent, a representative of Field Enterprises, presented Operation Sunshine a complete set of World Book Encyclopedia and Child Craft during the ceremony.

In making the presentation on behalf of Field 'Enterprises, Mrs. Vincent selected the poem, Mr. Nobody, to read to the group.

The ceremony ended with punch, cake, nuts and party sandwiches. Afterwards, each girl took a turn placing one of the new books on the bookshelf.

Linda Harrill is director of Operation Sunshine.

March Of Dimes Goal Is Topped

The goal has been reached. Aiming at a total collection of $4,000 for the annual March of Dimes campaign through their traditional Marchathon, members of the East Carolina University AFROTC made it with a little plus.

The $4,024.73 final tally is of the result of the day long activities conducted by about 100 cadets and 20 Angel Flight girls on January 27.

The Marchathon was organized under the auspices of the Arnold Air Society and carried out by members of the AFROTC under the guidance of Cadet Major Carl T. Knott Jr. of Greenville.

PTA Meeting Date Moved Up

The February meeting of the South Greenville PTA, originally scheduled for Thursday, has now been changed to a day earlier, and will be held Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

The meeting will take place in the auditorium of South Greenville Elementary School. Following a short business meeting, Reid Overcash will speak on the topic, Modern Math for Parents. Overcash, an instructor at Pitt Technical Institute, will introduce the basics of modern math for parents and give ideas to them on the subject.

Gathered In Greensboro

Representatives from the Pitt County Schools attended a conference on human relations in the public schools held in Greensboro Jan. 30-Feb. 1.

The conference was sponsored by the Human Relations Division of the State Department of Public Instruction.

According to John H. Taylor, administrative assistant to Pitt County Superintendent of Schools Arthur Alford, personnel from school districts throughout North Carolina were brought together to look at the current status of human relations.

Discussion sessions and panel groups centered around the sharing of common problems and tried solutions.

"The priorities of needs for the total education program of the state were also indentified in the discussions," Taylor said.

Others attending the conference from Pitt County were Melvin W. Rountree, assistant principal at D. H. Conley High School; Farney Moore, assistant principal at North Pitt High School; Robert Lang, student at Farmville-Central High School; and Pat Merrell, counselor at Farmville-Central High School.

Libraries Have Children's Film

The Eagle, the story of a Russian Robin Hood featuring the legendary star of the 20s, Rudolf Valentino, is the film to be shown in the town libraries for the children's program this week.

In black and white, with sound dubbed in, it is, according to Mrs. Kay Taylor, in charge of the Library Film Program, more suitable for older children than for younger ones. This film is part of the series History of Motion Pictures.

Showings will take place at 4:00 p.m. Tuesday at Carver Library; at 7:30 p.m. at Sheppard Memorial Library in the Children3 Room; and at 4:00 p.m. Friday in the East Branch Library.

Greenville children are invited to attend a showing of The Eagle.

Revival Begins Tuesday Night

AYDEN — Revival services will begin at the Ayden Pentecostal Holiness Church Tuesday night and continue through Sunday, Feb. 11.

The speaker will be the Rev. Timothy Worthington.

The pastor, Rev. Ola Porter, invites the public to attend.

"EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY IS AN EQUAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY INSTITUTION"

Warns Unilateral Withdrawal Risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Edward Heath says a unilateral U.S. troop withdrawal from Europe would mean a surge of Soviet influence which might push some European nations into making deals with the Russians that would not be in the interests of the United States.

But Britain would not be pushed into such deals, Heath said in an appearance Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" program.

He said that if the United States left a token force in Europe, the conclusion of allies and the Communists would be that America was becoming isolationist and no longer interested in world affairs.

Asked if he thought the Soviets might start crossing borders, Heath said, "Well ... the Soviet Union would then start using much greater influence in Europe in a whole variety of ways," pressing European nations into making deals that would not "be in the interests of the United States."

He declined to speculate which countries might make such deals.

Asked if the Soviet Union and China still represent a threat to Western Europe, Heath said, "I have absolutely no doubt about that at all."

On other matters, Heath said that with the threat of an energy crisis, oil-consuming countries should organize and refuse to compete in dealing with the already-organized oil-producing countries.

COMPOSER DIES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Andy Razaf, 77, black composer and lyricist who wrote the words for such songs as "Honeysuckle Rose", "Ain't Misbehavin' " and "Stompin' at the Savoy", died Saturday. He wrote more than 1,000 songs.

City Hall Phone System Revised

With a view to improving contact services for the City of Greenville, the telephone system in City Hall has been modified to provide individual numbers for various persons and offices.

Now in effect, the new numbers are:

—Mayor and City manager, 752-4137 or 4138.

—Tax Department and City Clerk — 752-4319 or 4104.

—Planning, engineering and inspection — 752-1731 or 1732.

All persons are asked to use the appropriate number listed for the individual or section when telephoning City Hall.

COLD - SINUS Miseries?

Is your head pounding — nose running — are your eyes watering and are you sneezing — sneezing — sneezing?
Have you blown your nose until it is raw?
We're sorry you're suffering so; obviously you're not aware of our product SYNA-CLEAR and this is our fault.
SYNA-CLEAR is the original timed release tablet that gives up to eight hours of real relief from cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses. And that's a guarantee!
We do not have millions to spend on TV to tell you about SYNA-CLEAR; just this small ad. We do not gimmick our Advertising and product by offering twelve hours of medication. What is medication without relief? SYNA-CLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours relief per tablet or your money back in full.
We could go into detail on how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SNYA-CLEAR. The druggist at the store listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula.
SYNA-CLEAR costs a little more ($1.50 & $3.00 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks.
Try SYNA-CLEAR as soon as possible — you know — all have to lose are your discomforts.
This little ad has an awfully big job to do — to get you to try SYNA-CLEAR. So as a bonus, cut me out and send in with an empty SYNA-CLEAR carton and we'll mail you a check for 50¢ for just trying SYNA-CLEAR. If you have time to tell us about the results SYNA-CLEAR gave you, we would be pleased to hear from you.

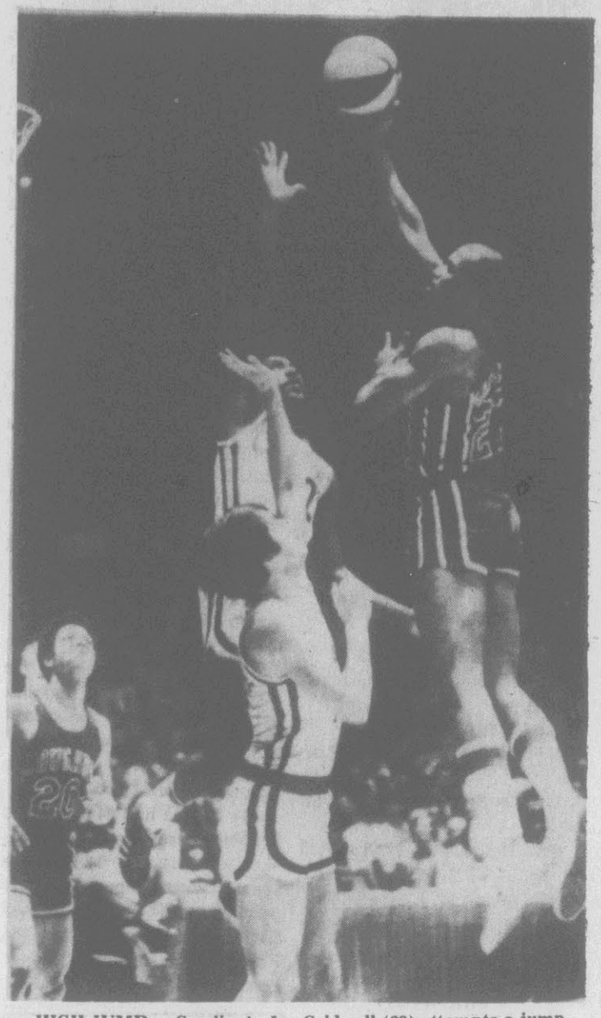
ECU Cagers Host St. Peter's Peacocks Tonight



HIGH JUMP — Carolina's Joe Caldwell (22) attempts a jump shot, whild Kentucky's Louie Dampier (front) and Mike Gale try to halt his progress in an American Basketball Association game Sunday night. Carolina won, 104-99. (AP Wirephoto)

East Carolina University's Pirates, fresh from their 61-57 victory over the Furman Paladins Saturday, turn their thoughts to St. Peter's College of New Jersey tonight, as they play host to the off-and-on Peacocks.

Then, Wednesday night, it's back into the Southern Conference wars for the Pirates, as they entertain the Spiders of Richmond University.

Coach Tom Quinn was especially pleased with the way the Pirates responded in the victory over the Paladins. "At the end, the clutch free throw shooting of Earl Quash did the trick for us. But in the total game, we played the defense as we wanted to, we were patient on offense and Nicky White had some outstanding play," the coach said.

"It was probably the best game Nicky's played, considering the amount of time he spent on the court," Quinn added. White played 39 of the 40 minute total, longer than anyone else except Quash who matched his total.

Quinn also felt that perhaps the Pirates were able to rest more in this game while playing defense since the Paladins weren't moving the ball as much as Davidson did.

Quinn's charges used a zone defense against the Paladins after noting that Richmond was very successful with it against them on Thursday night. And it turned out to be a very valuable weapon. Furman shot only 39.7 per cent against it.

At the end, Quinn was looking for the sure shot, or the foul, and he wanted to have Quash be the man to go to the line. Furman obliged him, fouling him four times in the closing minute. He hit seven shots, and that provided the victory margin.

St. Peter's will offer a challenge somewhat like that of the Paladins in that they have an exceptionally tall front line, with a 6-11 and 6-10 man in the post positions.

Their big man so far has been Harry Anderson, however. "They really haven't had a winning season," Quinn said. "But they will be difficult to play. They rush the ball back and they have that size too. They play a tough 1-3-1 zone defense, and they have a freelance offense and shoot freely. They'll be hard to stop."

Then, on Wednesday night, the Pirates host the tough Spiders, who beat them earlier in the season. The big man there is the conference's latest hot shot, Aron Stewart, who is leading the conference in scoring.

He tossed in 29 points Saturday night against The Citadel in a losing effort, and the Spiders would very much like to move back up in the standings by beating the Pirates.

East Carolina, meanwhile, would like to sweep its remaining games and assure itself of a third place finish in the standings. Currently 9-8 overall, the Pirates are 5-5 in the league.

Monday night's game starts at 8 p.m., with no junior varsity preliminary. The Wednesday affair is also set for an 8 p.m. tapoff.

Sloan Knows Wooden's Feelings

Carolina Gunning For Wolfpack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Norm Sloan is beginning to know how John Wooden has been feeling.

Sloan, coach of the undefeated and second-ranked North Carolina State basketball team, finds every opponent itching to put a blotch on the Wolfpack record, just as opponents of Wooden's UCLA squad give extra effort to end the Bruin win streak.

Such a game is on tap tonight with the extra measure of revenge thrown in.

North Carolina, ranked eighth in the nation with a 16-3 mark, goes into cavernous Reynolds Coliseum at State with the idea of doing to the Wolfpack what it did to the Tar Heels in December. Sloan's crew whipped Dean Smith's boys, 68-61, in the finals of the Big Four tournament at Greensboro.

The encounter didn't count in Atlantic Coast Conference standings, and tonight's does.

Dean Smith says of the regionally televised clash: "The only way for us to stay in the regular season (ACC) race is to beat them over there. And right now I don't think UCLA could beat them over there."

Sloan's talented bunch has won all six in their arena, the latest a narrow 64-59 triumph over Virginia. Smith acknowledges his task will be difficult, saying Sloan has put together "the best team in North Carolina State history.

"Everett Case had many great teams at State, but to my knowledge none of them performed as well as this State team or ranked as high nationally at this stage of the season," he added.

Smith alluded to the Tar Heels' position in the poll, too, when he said, "It's a great thing for the state of North Carolina to have so many fine teams." But he wouldn't divulge the strategy he has been preparing for the game.

His senior playmaking guard, George Karl, offered: "The important thing is for us to hold our poise over there, keep our character, not get rattled." He added another factor will be "to contain Monte (Towe). He's so capable of guiding State."

Meanwhile, Sloan, asked after the Virginia win if the game tonight were on his players' minds, said, "We were not looking ahead to the Carolina game."

The Wolfpack survived a 26-point attack by Virginia's Barry Parkhill to eke out the victory and overcame a strategy that stripped away much of its running game. David Thompson was the key in the game, tapping in the ball with 21 seconds to play and State ahead by three. He had 18 in the game, high for his team.

In other games Saturday, Duke knocked off No. 3 Maryland, 85-81, as Gary Melchionni scored 39 points; Clemson bowled over Georgia Tech, 74-57; and independent Virginia Tech gave Wake Forest the only losing record of seven league teams by whipping the Deacons, 71-67.

The North Carolina-N.C. State game is the only one for league teams tonight. Tuesday, Stetson is at Clemson and Virginia at Navy in nonconference meetings.

A loss to North Carolina would not drop State from its top spot in the ACC, but a North Carolina loss would about insure the regular season championship and tournament bye for the Wolfpack. Smith's crew has dropped two conference games already, one less than Maryland. The other four teams have lost four games each in the league.

Maryland's defeat at Durham was a definite triumph for Bucky Waters, embattled coach of the Blue Devils. After it was over, Terp Coach Lefty Driesell said, "If Duke plays like this they will beat a lot of people. I've told the boys it is tough to get on top and tougher to stay there."

Waters observed, "It's nice to be home." After winning its fifth game in a row at Durham, compared to a 4-9 road record, he was glad to be in familiar surroundings.

"This is the seventh ranked team we've played this year, but only the first at home. We've had a lot of bad luck, a lot of close losses. Maybe this game and the next four, all at home, will turn the season around," Waters went on.

Wilson Will Join League

WILSON, N.C. (AP)—Carolina League baseball returns to Wilson after an absence of five years as the city replaces Burlington, which is leaving the league because of poor attendance.

League president Wallace McKenna of Lynchburg announced the new team at a meeting of league owners Sunday.

The Wilson team will be an independent organization receiving players from the Pittsburgh Pirates, Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees, Philadelphia Phillies, Texas Rangers, Minnesota Twins and Baltimore Orioles.

Owner and general manager Marshall Fox said Sunday he will try to make the Wilson franchise succeed with heavy promotion. The city's original franchise folded in 1968 because of poor attendance.

McKenna also announced at the meeting that the Carolina League's 140 game schedule will begin April 13.

Assure Plunkett Full Recovery

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Boston Patriots quarterback Jim Plunkett, who underwent surgery on his left knee last week, says doctors told him he will regain full use of the knee within 10 weeks.

The 1970 Heisman Trophy winner left the hospital Sunday on crutches, three days after medial cartilage was removed from his knee.

Feeling "pretty good," Plunkett said he is anxious to begin rehabilitating the knee, adding he tried exercising it a little in the hospital.

"I expect to be running on this thing in a month," Plunkett said. "I had a similar operation on my right knee in 1968 and I was running full speed a month later."

Plunkett's knee gave way while stepping from an auto a week ago. It had been injured last December in a game with the Miami Dolphins.

Kathy Whitworth set a Ladies PGA earnings record in 1972 by winning $65,064.

Wolfpack And Terps Set VMI Relays Pace

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—They don't compile team totals in the VMI Winter Relays, but North Carolina State's Wolfpack and Maryland's Terps would have been near the top in the 22nd annual event.

The Wolfpack finished first in three relay events and the Terps won two Saturday night as the only two schools to capturehmore than one relay. There were no individual double winners.

With Jim Wilkics running the anchor leg in each case, N. C. State captured the distance medley and four-mile relays, and the Wolfpack also won the shuttle hurdle event. Maryland won the 440 and 880 relays, supposedly the domain of some other entrants.

Danny Buggs of West Virginia was voted the outstanding track performer by the coaches for his victory in the 60-yard dash and for running a leg on the Mountaineers' winning mile relay team.

The nod as outstanding performer in the field events went to Sam Phillips of Pembroke State, who cleared 6 feet, 10 inches in the high jump. The only individual who won the event he captured last year was Walter Davenport of East Carolina in the triple jump.

Only three records were broken—one each in the collegiate, masters and high school classifications.

Tony Bertovich of Virginia Tech added more than four feet to the previous record in the 35-pound weight throw with a heave of 47 feet, 5½ inches. Dan Utley and Bill Dimitroleas of Furman, who finished second and third, also surpassed the previous mark of 43-1¼.

The record in the masters 440 was lowered from 58.7 seconds to 58.1 seconds by Bob Jones of Kensington, Md., who also finished third in the masters mile.

Bethel High School of Hampton cut three seconds off the Virginia prep mile relay mark with a clocking of 3:28.6. Second-place Menchville High of Newport News also bettered the previous standard.

Virginia's Cavaliers won the two-mile relay and Furman's Paladins finished first in the sprint medley in other relay events.

Other individual winners included Jackie Smith of Norfolk State in the long jump, Phil Meyers of Virginia in the two-mile, Douglas Daniel of Morgan State in the 60-yard high hurdles, Barry White of Virgimia Tech in the shot put and Gary McCall of Furman in the pole vault.

40 Skiers

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—About 40 skiers are expected to compete Saturday and Sunday for the $20,000 purse at a professional ski race highlighting the Snow Carnival of the South in the Boone-Banner Elk area.

Linebacker Bob Matheson of the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins will be grand marshall of the festivities. Matheson is a native and off-season resident of Boone.

Pace Loses To Tarboro

With the score 28-26, and less than two minutes to go in the game, Tarboro-Edgecombe Academy pulled away to score a 34-26 victory over Pace Academy in Greenville Friday night.

More than 300 fans saw the Patriots take a first quarter lead at 12-8 only to trail at half time by a score of 17-12.

The third quarter proved costly for Pace Academy as the visitors increased their lead to 10 points. Connor Merritt led a fourth quarter surge by the local team that saw them close the gap to 28-26 with less than two minutes remaining, only to see their pressing defense backfire.

Lee Harrell for Tarboro-Edgecombe led the winners with 12 points while Merritt and Charles Dove collected 19 and 12 points respectively for the Patriots.

Coach David Hahn's Academy team travels to Pungo Academy on Wednesday night. Their next home game is on February 23 against Trent Academy.

Avalanches Kill Twelve Skiers

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Avalanches roaring down the Austrian Alps killed 12 skiers Sunday, including 10 West Germans buried on a slope known to be dangerous in winter.

It was one of the highest tolls taken by the "white death" in a single day in Austria.

The Germans were in a group of 25 skiers on the 7,000-foot Kirchspitze, near the Gerlos Pass. They were members of a Bavarian Alpine sports organization.

Triumph For Porsche Carrera Team In 24 Hours At Daytona

By F.T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Curly haired, handsome Peter Gregg reached his goal. Curly haired, handsome Hurley Haywood crossed the threshold to the future.

The pair of skilled race drivers, so alike and yet so different, made a perfect team in piloting a Porsche Carrera to a surprise victory in the 24 Hours of Daytona sports car race Sunday—a triumph so easy Gregg said, "We didn't run the car any harder than I will drive my Porsche 911 going back to Jacksonville."

They paced their sturdy little machine, designed for basic highway use, around a tortuous infield road and around the 31-degree banked speedway at a steady 111 miles an hour average.

In the first half of the race that began Saturday at 3 p.m. their performance was overshadowed by the 119 m.p.h. laps around the 3.81-mile course Mike Hailwood and Derek Bell of England turned in a pair of Gulf Mirages as they dueled with Francois Cevert and Henri Pescarolo in a French Matra that won last year's 24-hour race at LeMans.

But the Mirages and Matra fell victim to mechanical troubles under the brutal pounding. Then Gregg and Haywood had to play a supporting role to the glamorous pair of Indianapolis winner Mark Donohue and Canam champion George Follmer in a sister Porsche Carrera until it, too, went out ear the halfway point with a broken piston.

"It was a time to relax," Haywood said, "and a good feeling to realize nobody was chasing your tail lights."

They finished nearly 85 miles ahead of a second-place Ferrari GTB driven by Milt Minter of Los Angeles and Francois Migault of France. A Corvette shared by David Heinz of Tampa, Fla., and Bob McClure of Bethel Park, Pa., was 15 miles farther back.

Nor were the fourth-place Porsche 911 of Marylanders George Stone, Bruce Jennings and Mike Downs and fifth-place Ferrari GTB of New Yorkers Luigi Chinetti Jr., Bob Grossman and Californian Wilbur Shaw Jr. serious threats.

Gregg, at 31, says he is reducing his racing schedule to spend more time with wife Jennifer and sons Jason, 10, and Simon 8.

"It's not my goal to become famous at racing," said Gregg, who owns a lucrative foreign car dealership in Jacksonville 95 miles to the north.

He called Haywood his protege, and predicted a big future for the 24-year-old who found his way from his native Chicago to Florida, where he enrolled in business administration at Jacksonville University and met Gregg at a racing event.

"In two days time, I taught him to drive around the track within two seconds of my time," Gregg said.

Haywood declares his goal is to be "a top flight professional driver. I'll be in CanAm on my own this year. If I do well, I look for better things in the future. Maybe this victory will help."

John Schlee At Rainbow's End

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — John Schlee's wife Sherri was sunning complacently on a beach when a hastily dispatched messenger informed her that her husband was coming up to the 71st hole leading the Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

When Schlee, the lanky, rawboned veteran, holed a birdie putt on the final hole for his first victory in eight years on the pro tour, the pretty blonde rushed into his arms and told him:

"I can't believe it."

It was the end of almost a decade of struggle and frustration for the Schlees and left the usually articulate John at a loss for adequate words.

"It's something I've always dreamed of. For 28 years I've been playing golf every time I got a chance. I always wanted to be a player on the tour.

"A lot of times it didn't look like this was where I belonged.

"Sometimes when we were dead, absolute, completely broke, my wife thought I was crazy. But she stuck with me."

He's broke no longer. The 33-year-old Schlee picked up $40,000 after his final round 68, four-under par on the picturesque Waialae Country Club course.

His 273 total, 15 under par, made him a two-stroke winner over Ol' Sarge Orville Moody, a runner-up for the second time in as many weeks.

Tom Watson, the 23-year-old tour sophomore who led or shared the lead through the first three rounds, slipped to a 75 and third at 276.

Former Masters champion Gay Brewer, at one time locked with Schlee, Moody and Watson in a four-way tie for the top, bogeyed two of the last four holes and was fourth with a 69-277. J.C. Snead was alone with a 278 total after a closing 69 but really wasn't in the four-man scramble for the lead.

ECU Heats Up Scramble For Tournament Seedings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With East Carolina's defending champion Pirates having declared themselves in contention, the jockeying becomes intense this week for the seeded spots in the season-ending Southern Conference championship basketball tournament March 1-3 in Richmond, Va.

The Pirates provided the shocker of the season Saturday when they knocked off front-running Furman 61-57 in a regionally televised game, handing the Paladins their first league defeat in nine starts.

In Saturday night's other lsague encounter, The Citadel's Bulldogs took over sole possession of third place with a 4-3 record when they avenged an earlier setback by beating Richmond's Spiders 77-72.

Of the four conference teams who went outside the league, only last-place Appalachian State managed a victory. The Mountaineers edged UNC-Charlotte 77-75 in overtime.

Davidson's Wildcats dropped an 88-85 double overtime decision at West Virginia, Virginia Military's Keydets were beaten 66-58 by Roanoke's NCAA College Division champion Maroons and William and Mary's Indians were drubbed by Pitt 83-61.

A slim schedule tonight has East Carolina, 9-8 over-all, at home against St. Peter's, N. J., and Appalachian, 5-14, at East Tennessee. But six conference games are on the schedule the rest of the week.

Furman retained first place in the standings with an 8-1 record, followed by Davidson at 5-1, The Citadel at 4-3, East Carolina at 5-5, Richmond at 4-6, VMI and William and Mary at 2-5 and Appalachian State at 2-6.

With its fastbreak attack working almost to perfection, East Carolina streaked to a 35-21 halftime lead over Furman and never let the Paladins get closer than a point after intermission.

Earl Quash hit six free throws in the final minute to dash any hopes of a comeback by the Paladins, who shot only 27 per cent in the first half in falling behind.

Quash finished with 17 points and Nicky White with 16 for the Pirates, while Clyde Mayes had 20 and Roy Simpson 16 for Furman as 7-foot-1 sophomore Fessor "Moose" Leonard was limited to 12.

What happened to Furman also happened to Richmond, the Spiders trailing 31-21 at intermission. This led Spider Coach Lewis Mills to observe that "we go too far behind too early."

Aron Stewart, the league's leading scorer who finished with 29 points, led a Spider rally, but Richmond never was able to get closer than three points. Steve Fishel had 27 points for the Bulldogs.

Freshman Ed Kane made only his second start of the season for Appalachian and scored 19 points, including a 10-foot jumper with 14 seconds left that sent the game into overtime. Erwin Hill, who had 18 points, and Stan Davis scored twice each for Appalachian in the extra period to pull it out.

Davidson was unable to stop West Virginia's Warren Baker and Jerome Anderson, who had 23 points each, and it was a field goal by Anderson that put West Virginia ahead for good in the second extra period. T. J. Pecorak, who led Davidson with 18 points, sent the game into overtime with a free throw with two seconds left.

Billy Knight scored 26 points and Mickey Martin 24 for Pitt, which took a 20-8 lead as Knight hit his first five shots. The Indians never recovered and trailed by as much as 25 points in the second half. Freshman Matt Courage led the Indians with 13 points.

Roanoke, the nation's seventh-ranked small college team, took the lead early against VMI and held it the rest of the way. The Maroons led at one stage in the second half by 16 points, but the Keydets cut the gap to eight before running out of steam.

Jay Piccola had 24 points and grabbed 11 rebounds for Roanoke, which is now 14-4 for the season. Curt Reppart had 14 points and Charlie Tyler snatched 12 rebounds for the Keydets, who shot only 36.5 per cent from the floor.

Claims More ABA Comraderie

By DON LeFEVRE
Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—There is "more comraderie" among opposing players in the American Basketball Association than those in the NBA, according to the coach of the West team in Tuesday's ABA All-Star game here on the home floor of the Utah Stars.

LaDell Andersen, the Stars chief who is coaching the West for the second time in his two years in the pros, attributes that comraderie to the fact that in the ABA, with fewer teams, the players face each other more often in regular season play.

Andersen also thinks all-star games should be "a fun time for the players, since they rarely get a chance to play together."

The West coach admitted, however, that despite the fun and change of pace and all that, he would dearly like to win this year's game, particularly in view of the fact that his charges were blown off the court in the fourth quarter last year in Louisville, Ky., as the East won easily, 142-115, to take a 3-2 edge in the All-Star series.

Andersen is leaving coaching at the end of the season to take over as athletic director at Utah State University, where he coached ten years before joining the Stars for the 1971-72 season.

Three of the host Utah players will cavort for the West in the nationally televised game. James Jones will start at guard with Denver's Ralph Simpson, and Willie Wise of Utah will be at one forward with George McGinnis of the Indiana Pacers at the other.

Utah center Zelmo Beaty will back up starter Mel Daniels of Indiana, who will be making his sixth appearance in the ABA classic.

The other West All-Stars are Rich Jones of the Dallas Chaparrals and Stew Johnson of the San Diego Conquistadors, forwards, and Warren Jabali of Denver and Chuck Williams of San Diego in the backcourt.

Larry Brown, Carolina Cougars mentor and coach of the East All-Stars, will start his own Billy Cunningham at forward, and another Cougar, Mack Calvin, at guard.

Big Artis Gilmore, 7-2 Kentucky Colonels ace, will be the starting center for the East. The other two starters will be Julius Erving of the Virginia Squares at forward and George Thompson of the Memphis Tams at guard.

Eastern division reserves are Dan Issel of Kentucky and Joe Caldwell of Carolina at forward, Louie Dampier of Kentucky and Bill Melchionni of the New York Nets, at guard, and Billy Paultz of New York at center.

The two all-star squads boast 19 of the top 20 scorers in the ABA, with only Melchionni not counted among that select group. Erving is the leading scorer in the league, averaging in the 31-points-per-game neighborhood. McGinnis and Issel are not far behind.

The top six rebounders and nine of the top 12 in the league will be playing in the game. Gilmore, averaging about 19 take-downs a game last week, leads the pack.

Melchionni leads the league in assists, followed by Williams, Dampier and Jabali. Cunningham, James Jones and Thompson are also in the top ten in the playmaking category.

Gilmore, last season's ABA player of the year as a rookie, leads the league in two-point field goal shooting percentage and blocked shots, while Cunningham is second in steals.

With talent like this bunched onto one court, what is the role of a coach?

"Obviously all of these players are great scorers," Andersen said. "With that being the case you just hope somehow that through their ability to adjust to specific situations they'll adapt to unselfish team play.

"The key is moving the ball and hitting the open man like the East did in last year's game.

"Each team has a tremendous amount of talent, so it is impossible to predict the outcome.

1976 Winter Olympic Games Are Scheduled For Innsbruck

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The reverend made an impassioned plea, mustering all the eloquence of a sermon from his pulpit. But the Olympic executives were unmoved and gave the 1976 Winter Games to Innsbruck, Austria.

"We knew we were working against heavy odds," said the Rev. Bernard Fell, main spokesman for the group which had been hoping they could persuade the executive body of the International Olympic Committee to award the Games to Lake Placid, N.Y.

"We had only four days to prepare our application, get it printed and then come over here to argue our case," said the minister of the United Methodist Church. "If we'd had a little more time, we might have made it. Even the film we showed them of our skiing slopes at Lake Placid was six years old. It was all we could manage at such short notice."

Fell had told the IOC executives: "In 1976, we will, as the world is our witness, be good to the Olympic Games.

But the effort was all in vain for the community of 5,000 which, in 1932, had hosted the first Winter Olympics in the United States.

Innsbruck, a city of 116,000 with all the facilities of the successful 1964 Winter Games still intact, ran away with the selection Sunday.

Besides Lake Placid, the IOC executives also turned down bids by Chamonix, France, and Tampere, Finland.

The crisis preceding the selection of Innsbruck began when Denver, Colo., the original host, withdrew. In a statewide ballot last November, Colorado voters had overwhelmingly refused to approve the use of state funds to help stage the Games.

The United States still had hopes for the Games and proposed Salt Lake City, Utah, as an alternate site—but last week, as the IOC executive body was preparing to interview the candidates, Salt Lake City also pulled out because of financial doubts. Lake Placid then jumped in on its own, just four days ago.

Dooley Signs 2 Top Prospects

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Two of the top high school football players in the state have been signed to grants-in-aid by the University of North Carolina, according to coach Bill Dooley.

Johnny Stratton of Salisbury and Russ Conley of Canton both played in the annual high school Shrine Bowl game at Charlotte in December.

Stratton, whose father is former Catawba College coach and current athletic director Harvey Stratton, is a 6-foot, 165 pound quarterback from Boyden High. Conley, 6-foot-2 and 165 pounds, was a quarterback and halfback at Pisgah High.

ACC Meeting Begins Tonight

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The annual business meeting of the Atlantic Coast Conference will begin tonight in Greensboro and last through Wednesday, with action at the recent National Collegiate Athletic Association the major item on the agenda.

ACC Commissioner Bob James said, "We have to establish a conference position on the reorganization of the NCAA."

Other topics before the seven member schools' representatives include the postseason basketball tournament. North Carolina State and Duke are on NCAA probation and ineligible for competition after this year's championship tournament, and the league will decide what steps to take should either win the three-day event.

Conference bylaws stipulate that the tournament champion will be nominated for th national championship play.

WON WITHOUT A WHIP

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Ruane and Laffit Pincay were riding side by side in the stretch at Aqueduct race track. When Pincay passed Ruane he said "Hey, you've got my stick."

"What happened," Ruane said after the race was over, "I was hitting my horse left-handed and Pincay was hitting his right-handed. I ended up with two sticks. Then I dropped Pincay's."

Ruane's horse finished third. Pincay's second.

Tony Adams of Utah State set a college record last November when he passed for 561 yards against Utah.

Bob Ford of Houston gained 231 yards in one football game last October. It was against San Diego State.

New Tourney Added To The CGA Tour

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP)—Executive secretary Hale Van Hoy of the 1973 Carolinas Golf Association has announced a new tournament for the tour.

New to the CGA schedule announced Saturday is the inaugural South Carolina Match Play championship, scheduled June 19-24 at the Country Club of South Carolina in Florence. An 18-hole qualifying round will determine 64 places in match play. Two rounds will be played the second day of match play and the finals will be over 36 holes. Handicaps of 10 or less are required.

Other events:

The 59th annual CGA championship, July 24-29 at Tanglewood Golf Club in Clemmons.

North Carolina Amateur, June 28-July 1, Country Club of North Carolina and the Pinehurst Country Club.

Virginias-Carolinas team match, Sept. 28-30, Greenville, S.C., Country Club.

Carolinas Four-Ball, Camden, S.C., March 22-25.

CGA Senior, Willow Creek Golf Club, High Point, April 14-15.

CGA Junior, Florence, S.C., Country Club, June 12-16.

Father-Son, Whispering Pines Country Club, Aug. 3. north Carolina Junior, Alamance Country Club, Burlington Aug. 14-17.

Senior Four-Ball, Oakwoods Country Club, North Wilkesboro, N.C., Sept. 22-23.

In addition, 24 one-day handicap tournaments are scheduled. They begin with a March 11 event at the Rock Hill, S.C., Country Club and wind up Dec. 9 at the Pinehurst Country Club.

The 'Worry Clinic'

Easter Sunday A Target Date

Helene's confession shows plump wives that they can easily revive their husband's ardor. Zoom your "boudoir cheesecake" and you never need fret about divorce! For the odds favor wives, especially if they are SLENDER!

By
GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE W-517: Helene B., aged 37, is now exulting.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I had become what you often describe as a fat, waddling walrus type of wife.

"My husband still loved me, but I noticed that he lacked the ardor that was always present 10 years earlier.

"So I realized it was my 'hippo' figure that repulsed his boudoir enthusiasm.

"That's when I resolved 100 percent to follow your famous 10-day dehydration diet!

"For I was actually 42 pounds overweight.

"But now I am back to my honeymoon figure of 117 pounds. Isn't that wonderful?

"And you knew what you were talking about regarding a man's ardor, for my husband soon began to perk up in his romancing.

"Why, even at the end of that 10-day period, when my weight had dropped from 159 to 149, he began to give me second glances.

"And when I got down to 139, he began to hold me on his lap and indulge in far more petting.

"By the time I reached 125, he became a 'wolf' again!

"But I decided to drop back to that 117-pound figure so if I jumped back to 120, I'd still resemble my bridal picture.

"And I meanwhile noticed several medical changes.

"For example, I would waken about an hour earlier and still feel fully rested.

"Besides, my feet quit hurting me.

"And I lost my chronic backache, too.

"Moreover, I can breeze through my housework in about half the time for I am faster and have a lot more pep.

"So tell your millions of women readers to work up their ire at their own tummies, instead of at you, Dr. Crane!

"Keep on calling us 'waddling walruses' and 'baby hippos' and be sure to remind us again and again that when our waistline equals our bustline, we look like good old motherly souls' but no seductive sirens!"

Slender Divorcees?

Readers, when you visualize divorcees, do you picture in your mind a slender, seductive siren or a fat, "waddling walrus?"

Conversely, when a newspaper cartoonist tries to depict a dowager, does her waistline exceed her bustline?

In the "Dogwood and Blondie" cartoon, what does Cora, the wife of Dagwood's boss, look like?

It's the cheesecake in your marital boudoir, not the roast beef in the dining room, that insures you against divorce.

But such enticing "cheesecake" is not associated with the figure of a 2-legged female hippo in your bedroom!

Wives, wake up fast, for you are at least 50 percent responsible for your divorces by your sins of omission!

You omit that seductive figure you had on your wedding day!

Enlist a group of similar fatties in your church group and follow my 10-day dehydration diet.

Contribute $2.50 to the church for each pound you lose, since you save that much on grocery bills!

By Easter Sunday you'll regain your honeymoon allure and feel 10 to 20 years years younger.

Send for the booklet "How to Lose 10 Pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1 — Neither vulnerable, your partner has opened with one spade and you hold:
♠J 10 4 3 ♡Q 10 6 ◇K 8 4 ♣7 5 4
What is your response?

A.—One no trump. While this hand ostensibly contains seven points in support of spades, one point must be subtracted for even distribution when contemplating a raise. You, therefore, have no choice but to respond with one no trump.

Q. 2 — Your partner has opened with one no trump and you hold:
♠A 4 3 ♡QJ 7 ◇J 4 3 2 ♣AQ 6
What is your response?

A.—Three no trump. You have a point count of 14 which added to partner's maximum of 18 would at best reach a total of 32, not quite enough for slam.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q 7 ♡A 9 6 5 3 2 ◇K 9 ♣A 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♡	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—With this powerful holding, you are concerned merely with the question of whether the hand should reach six or seven. You have better than an opening bid, facing partner who has opened the bidding and jumped. You may inquire for aces and kings by a bid of four no trump or, if you prefer the direct method, bid five clubs, showing the ace, and await partner's reactions.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ 7 ♡KQ 6 ◇10 7 4 ♣AJ 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ◇	Pass
1 NT	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner has described a hand that contains six diamonds and five spades and is, therefore, unsuitable for no trump play. You have splendid support for a five card spade suit and should raise to four.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♡KJ 4 3 ◇Q 10 9 5 3 ♣A 10 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ◇	1 ♠

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. This hand has definite slam possibilities. Unless you make this strong bid, you will find it difficult to persuade partner of your enormous strength, for he will labor constantly under the impression created by your previous pass.

Q. 6 — Both vulnerable, partner opens with one heart and you hold:
♠K 10 7 6 ◇AJ 10 6 ♣Q 9 7 6 3
What is your response?

A.—Two clubs. It would be poor tactics to respond with one spade for the sake of keeping the bidding low. Actually, it would have just the opposite effect. Partner will probably say two hearts, in which case you have to bid three of some suit. If you respond with two clubs, and partner says two hearts, you are in position to make the economical bid of two spades, with the added advantage of informing partner that you have five clubs and four spades.

Q. 7 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q 7 5 ♡K 4 ◇AJ 10 6 3 2 ♣9 3
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	2 ◇	Pass	2 NT
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's bid of two no trump is an aggressive step inasmuch as he was not invited to participate in the bidding. Your overcall is of a type that will produce a considerable number of tricks at no trump and a raise to three is recommended.

Q. 8 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K 7 6 ♡K 9 4 2 ◇AK ♣QJ 9 4
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—A direct jump to three no trump is our preference. This describes a hand which is about the equal of an opening one no trump bid.

Will Discuss Two Justices

The varying opinions of U.S Supreme Court justices on constitutional liberties will be discussed by Dr. Tinsley Eugene Yarbrough in a public colloquium at East Carolina University Thursday, Feb. 8, at 3 p.m.

Dr. Yarbrough, a member of the ECU political science faculty, will survey the positions taken by Justices Black and Douglas as representative of the scope of constitutional liberties as interpreted by the Court.

Utah's estimated population in 1972 was 1,128,000 up about 33,000 from 1971.

A No-Knock Provision In New Crime Measure

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Nestled deep in a 185-page bill drawn up by the North Carolina Criminal Code Commission is a "no-knock" section that would allow policemen to enter private homes without warning.

One of the bill's sponsors, Rep. Wade Smith, D-Wake, said the no-knock provisions would allow a police officer with a search warrant to enter a residence without giving warning if he has a judge's order allowing him to do so.

Judges would be empowered to grant this permission in cases where they felt that giving a warning would result in destruction of evidence, or endanger the life of anyone.

A police officer would be empowered to enter without knocking on his own authority if he had a regular search warrant and believed that giving warning would cause anyone's life to be endangered.

Smith said the aim of the no-knock provision was to interpose a judge between the police officer and the home to be searched, and said an officer who used his no-knock authority "would have to justify it later."

The bill, which is an overall attempt to modernize North Carolina pre-trial criminal procedure, was introduced Friday by Smith and Sen. Thomas Strickland, D-Wayne.

Strickland said in a weekend interview that he was not enthusiastic about the no-knock law.

The U.S. Congress passed a no-knock law several years ago for the District of Columbia over the protests of many civil libertarians, including Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C.

"I don't think it's been very successful," Strickland said.

Smith said the no-knock provision was prompted by drug cases where police say suspects flushed evidence down toilets.

Buenos Aires' Congress building was modeled after its counterpart in Washington, D.C.

A Shortage Of Raisins

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A sign in A&P supermarkets says: There'll Be No Raisin Bread After Feb. 7.

The supply of raisins has shriveled up nationally. This year's crop is about 100,000 tons, barely more than half last year's 192,000 tons.

A cold spring last year reduced by 37 per cent the crop of Thompson Seedless grapes, the main variety used for raisins. There also was a shortage of other grape varieties, especially Concord grapes in New York state. Wine makers who depended on Concords for much of their output began bidding with the raisin people for the Thompson Seedless.

Raisin producers, who had a surplus a few yaars ago, went all out to find export markets. They did find some, and these must be supplied if they are to be held.

It all adds up to a shortage of raisins for national consumption, and prices for those available have gone up.

Clark To Attend Boone Meeting

Joseph O. Clark, manager of the Student Supply stores, East Carolina University, will attend the 2nd annual meeting of the College Stores Association Feb. 6-8 at Boone.

Clark is vice president of the organization which includes 50 institutional and privately-owned enterprises engaged in retail sales of books, supplies and other merchandise to students, faculty and staff of universities, colleges, community colleges and technical institutes in North Carolina.

Curtis May, assistant manager of the ECU Student Supply Stores, will serve as chairman of a panel dealing with faculty-student-store relations, and Mrs. Attelia Spears, supervisor of the supply Department of the ECU stores, will participate as a panelist on the subject of eigineering and art supplies.

Election of association officers is scheduled Feb. 7.

Sunday Collision Fatal To Five In Wilson Family

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five members of a Wilson family were killed in a head-on collision a dozen miles from their home Sunday night when a car coming toward them pulled out to pass another vehicle, the state Highway Patrol said.

The deaths of 33-year-old Ray C. Edwards, his wife Maggie Lee, and their children Warren, 11, Anita, 8, and Ametrie, 2, climaxed a bloody weekend on North Carolina highways. The patrol counted at least 22 persons killed from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Sunday.

So far this year 145 persons have died in traffic accidents in the state, compared to 172 on Feb. 4 a year ago.

The trooper investigating the wreck just north of Fremont on two lane U.S. 117 said two persons in the car which hit the Edwards' were seriously injured in the 6:15 p.m. wreck.

Less than three hours later a union County woman and her 2-year-old daughter died in a similar accident. The patrol said Mrs. Jean Hhedrick Hasty, 25, of Rt. 7, Monroe, and her daughter, Christy, were killed when a car hit theirs on U.S. 601 just over 10 miles north of Monroe. Another child, Benson Hasty, 4, was taken to a Charlotte hospital for treatment of his injuries.

Also hospitalized in Charlotte was the driver of the oncoming car.

Another multiple fatality occurred in Wake County. Charles G. Richards, 18, of Rt. 1, Zebulon, and William Henry Johnson, 53, of near Whitakers died when their cars collided at Zebulon.

The patrol said 13 other persons died in separate wrecks. Among them were Harry E. Brame, 23, of Rt. 2, Henderson, whose car went off a rural paved road in Vance County and hit a tree; Raymond E. Greene, 229, of Severn, whose car went off a Gastonia street and hit a church; and Davis Gray, 55, of Littleton, whose car went off a rural road in Halifax County and hit an embankment.

Robert Duncan Watts, 19, of Lakeview, a sailor on leave from Norfolk, Va., was killed when a car traveling at high speed ran off a rural road two miles north of Pinehurst and struck a bridge.

John R, Williams, 73, of Dunn, was struck and killed by a car as he crossed N.C. 27 7.5 miles west of Lillington.

Another pedestrian, Donald Eugene Wheeler, 33, of Medina, N.Y., was fatally injured on U.S. 301 three miles south of Rocky Mount when he failed to yield the right-of-way to an oncoming vehicle.

James T. Smith, 66, of Lilesville, died when his car hit a tree near his home; Linwood E. Hardy, 29, of Seven Springs, was killed when his car ran off N.C. 55 three miles west of Mt. Olive and struck a tree; and Jeffery G. Squires, 24, of Rt. 1, Charlotte, was killed when his car hit a tree 14 miles west of Monroe.

David R. Langley, 19, of Wilmington, died in a head-on collision on U.S. 76 two miles east of Wilmington.

Randall G. Meeks, 18, of Camp Lejeune, was killed when his car struck a bridge near his home.

Percy E. Adams, 81, of Benson, was struck and killed when he walked into the path of car at Benson.

John Thomas Moore, 19, of West End in Moore County, was thrown from a car which hit a tree.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: In the morning you have a good chance to think out a course of action that is best suited to your emotional nature. The afternoon finds you eager to put an important plan in operation, although more planning will be required later. Your mind is brilliant at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is ideal to go after your finest aims in a positive way and then take the time to assist those who are having a rough time. Improve your health and make sure not to lose your temper.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Morning is fine for helping others to solve their problems, but later get busy and make your own position in life better. Plan social activities for the future. Show more devotion to loved one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Give your full attention to career matters in the morning. Later you can study a new course throughly for use in the future. Make sure to pay your bills. The evening can be a happy time with mate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You get a fine idea in the morning that should be studied, but don't neglect your responsibilities. Listen carefully to what others have to suggest. Evening is fine for reading a good book.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You feel that others are pressuring you in the morning, but in the afternoon you can come to a fine understanding with associates. Mate is irritable but it will be evening before you understand why.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of arguing with an associate in the morning, get busy and handle important work and all irons out properly. Listen to the views of others. Show that you understand and want to cooperate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make sure you handle all those duties well before you go out for the amusements you enjoy. Try to please both co-workers and friends. Take a good friend into your confidence. Entertain tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you plan recreational activities early, you can then go ahead and take care of important responsibilities with ease. Show that you are a creative person. Try to please kin more. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have problems at home that need handling early so that you can go out on business without worry. Make this a most productive day. Any friction at home should be gotten rid of quickly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have some problems that need your immediate attention before you can get into productive work ahead of you. Then you can put a new plan to work efficiently. An associate can be helpful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make a plan that will give you more abundance in the future and follow through intelligently. Talk your ideas over with associates. A business expert can solve some problems for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take the time to get your health built up, and then you can accomplish a great deal in business or whatever else is vital to you. Come to right decision about the future. Stay at home tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those highly sensitive young people who does a good deal of listening and learning early in life. Later a pioneering quality can be developed toward a particular goal. Give as fine an education as you can afford and then there will be great success here. Sports are a good outlet. The spiritual will be absorbed with much understanding.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
