Chicod Creek Channelization Barred By Larkins

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — Environmentalists have won an important preliminary victory in a test case brought against a U.S. Department of Agriculture stream channelization project. U.S. District Court Judge John D. Larkins Monday granted a temporary injunction barring further work on the Chicod Creek channelization project in a rural area of Eastern North Carolina.

Conservation groups, among them the National Resources Defense Council, had brought suit to stop the Chicod project in an effort to halt the USDA's plans for extensive channelization of rural streams throughout the nation.

They had contended in briefs to Larkins that channelization—a dredging and straightening process that turns flood-prone creeks into docile, but barren ditches—was too detrimental to the environment to justify the benefits it brings to farmers along the streams.

Larkins, in granting the injunction, agreed with two major points raised by the environmentalists against channelization.

He said that environmental impact studies he ordered the USDA's Soil Conservation Service to file on the projects do not "fully disclose adverse environmental effects ... or discuss reasonable alternatives."

Larkins said he felt environmentalists would be able to prove that channelization violates the Refuse Act of 1899 because the process "will greatly increase sediment carried downstream" into navigable waters along the North Carolina coast.

Larkins' injunction forbids further work on the Chicod Creek project until he can hold full hearings on the suit.

Farmers and the USDA have favored the channelization project because they improve drainage and cut down crop losses due to flooding. In the poverty-stricken Chicod basin, the USDA argued, the farmers desperately needed economic help with their land.

Environmentalists contended that channelization was a crude solution to the farmers' drainage problems and said the Soil Conservation Service had failed to consider alternatives like clearing the stream of debris without dredging.

HUD Approves Awarding Bids

Final OK For Newtown

Final authorization to award the long-delayed Newton Project construction bids has been given by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Joe Laney, executive director of the Greenville Housing Authority, said that with the go-ahead from HUD authorized, formal signing of the contracts will take place tomorrow morning at 9:30 at the Roundtree Drive office.

Laney explained that since contract figures exceeded project prototype costs by about ten per cent, the Authority was required to make an amendment in the annual contributions contract to cover the additional ten per cent awarded by HUD. He said that the Greensboro office of HUD asked for the additional funds for Greenville from Atlanta.

The director reported that the contract amendment was accomplished at a special meeting of the Authority Thursday, and the revised document was submitted to HUD on Friday.

Laney said that the contract for the general project construction will be awarded to J. Leo Hawkins, Greenville contractor. Awarding of the general contract to a local firm marks the first time a Greenville builder has been successful in bidding for a housing contract here.

Other low bidders receiving contracts for the project are T. E. Turner Co., of Tarboro, plumbing work; and Electricron from Kinston, heating and electrical work.

Representatives of the three firms will be on hand tomorrow to sign the specifications and project plans, he reported.

Laney noted that Hawkins will receive a notice to proceed with construction by March 1 and will be given 365 working days, according to the contract, to complete the project.

Awarding of the contracts culminates a lengthy period of delays on Newtown. A freeze on housing funds during President Nixon's first term held up project action for months and the move of the regional HUD office to Greensboro resulted in further delays.

"It looks like Newton will be a reality now," Laney commented. "We are ready to see some work up there."

Law Enforcement Funds

CHECKS FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT. . . Pitt County Commissioner Charles Gaskins, county coordinator for the Mid-East Economic Development Commission yesterday presented a check for $25,803 to Dr. John Ball of East Carolina University and three checks totaling $12,702 to Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West to support law enforcement programs funded by grants received through the Mid-East Criminal Justice Planning Division. The $25,803 to ECU was for the university's Center for Correctional Services and Police Administration while $4,246 of the money to Greenville was manpower funds to help pay policeman's salaries. The additional $8,456 going to Greenville was for support of the city's police club for boys. In addition to the checks presented by Gaskins, county commissioners chairman B. Alton Gardner delivered a $1,430 check to Ayden and a check for $510 to Grifton for support of police clubs in those two towns.

POW Release Is Awaited By Ceasefire Commission

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The chairman of the international ceasefire commission said today that the first groups of American prisoners of war to be freed in both North and South Vietnam would be handed over about Saturday.

Michel Gauvin of Canada, the chairman of the International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS), told newsmen as he entered a meeting of the commission: "I don't have any specific time or date, but I know it's around the 10th for American prisoners."

After the meeting, he expanded on this and told newsmen: "There are no definite dates, but I understand American prisoners will probably be released around the 10th of February, some of them, not all, from Hanoi."

Gauvin said he also understood that shortly after the first group of Americans is released, Vietnamese prisoners would be freed or exchanged in South Vietnam.

Gauvin mentioned two possible sites for the transfer of prisoners held by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam: the An Loc area, 60 miles north of Saigon, and Phu Hoa, also north of Saigon.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Military Command announced that 2,000 more American troops were withdrawn from Vietnam during the past four days, dropping U.S. strength to below 20,000 men for the first time since December 1964.

Under terms of the ceasefire agreement, all U.S. troops are to be out of Vietnam and all prisoners released by March 28.

The Joint Military Commission — made up of the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong — asked the International Commission to have three of its prisoner recovery teams ready to move out on two hours' notice.

"They're on short standby," an official said of the eight-man teams. "They are ready to be available within a few hours." Each team includes two representatives of the nations in the commission — Canada, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland.

The Pentagon said Monday that it hoped some American prisoners would be freed by the middle of the week.

Meanwhile, Viet Cong peace-keeping teams joined North Vietnamese, South Vietnamese and American observers of the four-party Joint Military Commission at regional field sites for the first time. American helicopters flew teams of five to seven Viet Cong representatives to Bien Hoa, Phan Thiet, My Tho and Can Tho, four of the seven regional headquarters.

U.S. C130 transports continued their daily runs between Hanoi and Saigon, bringing North Vietnamese personnel and equipment to the Joint Military Commission headquarters. The United States is providing virtually all the aircraft for the joint commission's operations.

An international commission team was kept out of Quang Tri City, in South Vietnam's northernmost province, by an artillery duel on its first day in the field.

The Saigon command reported 120 Communist ceasefire violations during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. and said this raised the total to 1,776.

In Laos, Premier Souvanna Phouma met privately with the top-ranking Pathet Lao leader in Vientiane, Phoumi Vongvichit, amid more reports of a stepped-up offensive by Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese forces in at least three areas.

Phoumi is the No. 3 man in the Pathet Lao. He arrived from Hanoi Saturday. No information was available on what he and Prince Souvanna said to each other.

Military sources said North Vietnamese troops were spearheading an attack in southern Laos adjacent to the Ho Chi Minh trail and around the Mekong River town of Thakhek. They said government forces were engaged in fierce fighting with about a battalion of North Vietnamese six miles east of the town.

The U.S. Pacific Command in Honolulu said American B52s and fighter-bombers kept up operations in Laos Monday at the request of the Laotian government.

Stennis Worsens

WASHINGTON (AP)—The condition of Sen. John C. Stennis worsened following new surgery today and a hospital spokesman said his chance of recovery "is considered grave." The senator was shot twice in a holdup a week ago.

The 71-year-old Mississippi Democrat was in the operating room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center for 45 minutes after doctors suspected a blockage had developed in his small intestine, said hospital spokesman Ma. Frank Garland.

He said that while no blockage was found, "this additional surgery has resulted in a worsening of Stennis' condition." "He remains very seriously ill and the prognosis is considered grave," Garland added at a 6 a.m. EST, news briefing.

The next briefing was scheduled at 3 p.m.

Dollar Day Set

The semi-annual city-wide Dollar Day event will be sponsored Thursday by local merchants.

According to Bill McDonald, president of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, the semi-annual event gives merchants an opportunity to offer remaining winter merchandise to customers at a savings before putting out the new spring and summer items.

Free parking will be offered to people shopping in Greenville on Thursday.

The sale usually attracts shoppers from all over Eastern North Carolina.

According to McDonald, most merchants will be participating in the event.

Airport Project Funded

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday appropriated $5,000 to fund a program to develop a master plan for maintenance and development of the Pitt-Greenville airport.

The commissioners earmarked the funds after they were told by representatives of the Airport Authority that federal money is available to help finance the project that will provide longrange plans for the development of the airport and its maintenance.

The county money will be matched by a like appropriation from the City of Greenville.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of County Planner Phillip Michaels, who will leave his Pitt post at the end of the month.

Michaels, a former Bethel resident, was named county planner in November 1971 after graduating from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and working for A.C. Monk Tobacco Co. in Farmville for a time.

In other action yesterday, the county board appropriated $11,000 from surplus funds for the Pitt Board of Education to fill oil tanks at several schools where oil-fueled heating units are being installed. The oil heating units are replacing coal-fired furnaces.

The board also approved a transfer of $6,722 from emergency funds for the county schools for use in payment of salaries for library aids due to cut backs in federal money used to pay the library assistants.

Scott Building Ground Broken

RALEIGH (AP) — Former Gov. Bob Scott was the main speaker when ground was broken yesterday for a new exhibit building at the North Carolina state fairgrounds.

The $930,000 building will be known as the Governor Scott Events and Exhibit Building in honor of Scott's father, the late governor and U.S. Sen. W. Kerr Scott.

Impoundment Said Legal, Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's top domestic adviser says White House refusal to spend funds approved by Congress is legal and necessary for the good of the country, despite what critics say. Congressional "appropriation isn't the last word" in the spending process, John D. Ehrlichman said in an interview Monday. "Whenever it's possible for the executive to save money, it's incumbent upon him to do so."

Such refusal to spend—impoundment, it is called—under attack in Congress and under investigation in Senate hearings, "has been the presidential prerogative ever since Thomas Jefferson," Ehrlichman said. "And every president has felt obliged to exercise control, in the national interest, over the expenditure of moneys."

In a report to Congress Monday, the White House said the Nixon administration is withholding $8.7 billion appropriated by Congress during the present fiscal year. But that figure does not include $6 billion in water-pollution funds the President has refused to allocate.

Senate hearings on the impoundments begin today in the subcommittee on separation of powers, chaired by Sen. Sam J.

Ervin Jr., D-N.C. Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said in remarks for the panel that the Nixon administration is using impoundment powers not just to save money but "as a bald instrument of economic policy."

In a statement more critical of Congress than of Nixon, Byrd, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said "worthwhile programs are victimized along with those that are unwarrantable and which we ourselves have shown neither the wisdom nor the guts to terminate."

Charged With Two Murders

ARAPAHOE (AP)—An Ayden man has been charged at Arapahoe with the shotgun slayings of his wife and mother-in-law, according to Pamlico County authorities.

Sheriff Leland Brinson said James Stevenson Suggs, 21, of Rt. 3, Ayden, surrendered to police at nearby New Bern Monday night, about an hour after his wife, Mrs. Patricia Casey Suggs, 17, and her mother, Mrs. Virginia Lee Casey, 53, were slain.

Brinson said Mrs. Suggs had left her husband last week and moved with her 1½-year-old son to the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Kattie Dowdy, at Arapahoe.

The shooting occurred outside the home of a neighbor of Mrs. Dowdy's, the sheriff said. He said witnesses reported that Mrs. Suggs was holding the child in her arms when she was struck in the head by a shotgun blast. Mrs. Casey was shot nearby, he said.

Brinson said Suggs had his small son with him when he surrendered. Suggs is being held without bond in the Pamlico County Jail, charged with two counts of murder, the sheriff said.

Charge Four With Plot To Kill Lenoir Sheriff

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Four men, including a local store owner and a former policeman, were jailed here Monday after being arrested on charges of conspiracy to murder Lenoir County Sheriff Lee Harper.

State Bureau of Investigation director Charles Dunn told a news conference that warrants were issued after a Lenoir County grand jury returned true bills Monday morning.

Harper, elected three years ago, pledged to clean up gambling operations in the county, and said he was "relieved" to have the case "out in the open."

Dunn said there have been at least two attempts to kill Harper in the last several months.

The four men charged were Lyman Grant, 47, who operates a store just outside the Kinston city limits; Kenneth O'Day, 54, of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.; Henry Woodard Smith III, 29, of New Bern; and Raymond Thomas, 29, of New Bern, a former policeman.

Grant, O'Day, and Smith were also charged with conspiracy to murder Lenoir County ABC officer Marvin Hardison. Dunn said an investigation into the plot is continuing, and offered no further details.

Closed Hearing Held On Dismissal Of Plummer

The Pitt County Board of Education began a closed hearing this morning at 10 o'clock on the dismissal of David Plummer Jr., former principal of the A.G. Cox Grammar School, Winterville.

Following the hearing, which will include testimony by a number of witnesses, the board of education will take action on a recommendation by Superintendent of Schools Arthur S. Alford that Plummer be dismissed.

Plummer was suspended in July and further action in the case has been awaiting hearings before a professional review panel (which has been conducted) and today's hearing by the board. The professional review panel which included five people from outside this area appointed by the state superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education upheld Alford's recommendation that Plummer be dismissed. The hearing which began this morning is required by law before the board can take action on the recommendation for dismissal.

According to Alford, Plummer was suspended for "neglect of duty and insubordination." Plummer was principal at A.G. Cox for two years. Prior to that he was employed in Cumberland County.

Singing Career Harder Second Time Around

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The second time around may be grand for everything but a singing career.

Dark-eyed Jill Corey is a tiny bit sorry she was so successful the first time.

Now attempting a comeback, the former Mitch Miller protégé and "Your Hit Parade" star said she is feeling the results of letting others guide her career.

"I let everyone else do everything — pick my music, decide when and where I would sing, plan what moves I would make. Today I don't know how to audition, how to get people interested in booking me. I just had everything too easy," she said.

Petite and dark-haired, Jill was Norma Jean Speranza, a 17-year-old Pennsylvania girl who auditioned for three popular radio shows in one day on her first trip to New York, when her career began, 19 years ago.

"I didn't know what I was doing. I was too dumb to be scared," she recalls.

Mitch Miller took over her career and hit records followed, along with radio and television.

Then came marriage to baseball player-manager Don Hoak, retirement and a daughter, Clara Michele, now 7.

"I was more abreast of baseball than entertainment for eight years. Every now and again I would get a twinge to sing and call up a local agent, ask him to book me for a weekend or a week and get it all out of my system. And I sang lullabies. And I can't wash dishes without singing. So I was never totally away from the business," she adds.

Hoak, baseball player who turned manager for the Pirates farm team, was one of those people "who should wear a uniform every day. He loved baseball. I used to try to help him write up reports after every game. That was the part he disliked," Miss Corey says.

"It was a wonderful marriage, a very good life."

For the period since her husband's death, the versatile singer has been trying for a comeback.

People frequently think of her as the teen-age-type she used to be.

"Mitch Miller gave me only itsy-poo numbers, all cutesy, pixiesh. But the reason was that when he finally gave me some torchy ballads to sing, I wasn't taking care of my voice. I was staying out late, smoking too much. I was just awful. And the recordings — well, the vibrato was so wide I'm amazed they got it on tape. So Miller put me right back on those itsy-poo numbers," she recalled.

Her new night club routine is modern, with bits of the Beatles, Elton John, Dory Previn and other moderns along with those records that sold so well in the late 50s.

"It's all me, that routine ... or at least, me and my hair-dresser."

And daughter Clara, who gets lots of love and attention, has her mother home to cook dinner. Then Miss Corey goes to work at 9:30 p.m., and wakes Clara up when she returns in the early morning hours to say "goodnight, I'm home."

"I don't have to work," the singer added. "I do have Don's pension. But it is something I must do. It is the only thing I do well, and it is emotionally satisfying. I need to work."

A comedian once told Jill that his job was more difficult than hers because he had no help from an orchestra or band.

"But I remember singing in Newport with a band — well, the kindest thing I could say about them would be that they just couldn't read music. One night, the pianist's score fell off the rack, so I talked and laughed with the audience until the pianist picked it up."

"Then the lights went out, but I kept on singing, and when the lights came back on, you'd think everything was fine. No! Then the drums fell apart. So a singer can't depend on anything but her own wits," Miss Corey adds.

"Somehow, I'm going to find a way to tell people I'm back, and that I want to sing."

"I think that's basically true of any secretary to a man in high public office. Around here, you never know what's going to happen, and how many lives could depend upon the governor getting the facts."

Mrs. Thurmond handles appointments, mail and dictation, pays bills, types, answers telegrams, and takes, at home, telephone callers "who know 'Cal' on a first-name basis, and have just got to talk to him after hours."

"We're all selfish," she said. "We're all concerned about what is happening to us — whether our garbage is going to get picked up, and so on. People look to governors to understand their problems."

What does she do when the governor gets really angry? Mrs. Thurmond laughed.

"If he gets in too bad a temper," she said, "I just go in and say, with a great, big smile, 'You're one of the greatest living Americans, Guv. You're really the greatest.'"

"And if that doesn't bring him out of it, nothing will."

It's Not Thought That Counts, It's The Gift

DEAR ABBY: I've had a three-year romantic relationship with this guy who has got to be the cheapest man in the world. We get along just great until about two weeks before Christmas, then he picks a fight with me over nothing and we break up and I don't hear from him until after New Year's. Then he calls up and says he's sorry, and like an idiot I start up with him again.

Things are wonderful between us until just before Valentine's Day, which just happens to be my birthday. Then he pulls the same trick and disappears again so he doesn't have to give me anything for Valentine's Day or my birthday. As Feb. 14 approaches, I can see the signs already. If he pulls this again, should I tell him I'm wise to him and call it quits? HAD IT IN CORPUS CHRISTI

DEAR HAD IT: Why don't you let him hang around until Washington's birthday? Then bury the hatchet and sever the relationship.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's favorite sister made an announcement yesterday. The man she's been going with for the past year is going to "join" her in her home.

She is 53 and was widowed several years ago. The man who is "joining" her proposed marriage to her several months ago, but she refused his offer because it would deprive her of collecting a pension left to her by her former husband.

I cannot approve of this arrangement and I told my husband that I do not wish to be in their company in the future. He feels that since it is HIS sister, he has to accept it, and he wishes to remain friendly with them.

What is your opinion? NOT A PRUDE

DEAR NOT: If you choose to avoid your sister in law, that's your privilege, but since she is your husband's favorite sister, you can expect to be left at home while HE sees her. If you think you're punishing her by absenting yourself from her company, think again. With your self-righteous attitude, the chances are good that your husband, his sister, and her gentleman friend will have a better time without you.

DEAR ABBY: You frequently receive letters from long-suffering wives who complain because their husbands have a habit of getting "lost" in bars on their way home from work.

Allow me to suggest a solution which was used with considerable success by one such wife in Omaha:

As was his custom when detained at the bar, the husband of the case telephoned home. The instant he heard his wife on the receiver at the other end of the line, he began, "Now, honey, before you say anything, I just want to ..."

He stopped talking when he heard his wife's voice. She was speaking in calm, modulated tones: "... When and if you decide to come home, you will find your dinner in the oven. But I won't be there. Don't try to find me. And by the way, go to hell. This is a recording."

The husband rushed home in a panic. The house was dark. The wife's car was missing from the garage.

To his relief, the husband found his wife in bed. She turned on a light and confirmed that the voice he had heard was no recording, it was "live."

The missing car? She had parked it around the corner on a side street. "But next time," she said, "it might not be a joke."

So far, there's been no "next time."

Governor's Secretary Is 'Assistant Governor'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Macel Thurmond, executive secretary to Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah (he calls her the "assistant governor of Utah") doesn't mind when, once in awhile, he takes his anger out on her. She thinks that's an important part of a secretary's job.

"I have a great rapport with the governor," she said in an interview, "but there are times when he jumps on me. He tells people, 'I take my anger out on Macel.' I'm a buffer for him, and I think most secretaries understand they act the same way for their bosses."

Mrs. Thurmond, a platinum blonde with nearly 25 years of experience working with Rampton, likes being a politician's secretary.

"You meet the famous, and you realize they're ordinary, down-to-earth men with a lot of weight to bear," she said.

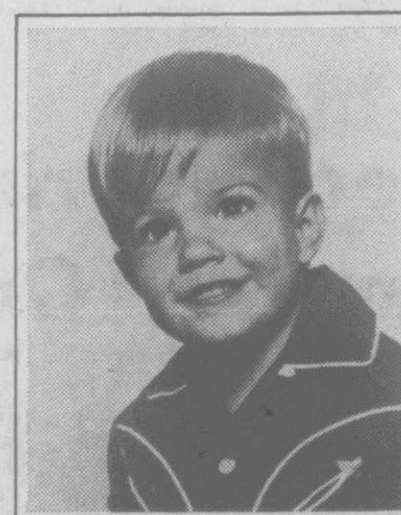

Her career began part-time when Rampton, a Democratic lawyer, was practicing law in Salt Lake City. In those days she staggered her hours to work while her son was in school.

"I came to the Capitol nearly eight years ago when the 'Guv' was first elected," Mrs. Thurmond said, "and since Utah is a small state, I've handled about everything from soup to nuts."

"My son was grown up so when I took the job I told my husband, 'Look, as far as time goes, the governor comes first.'"

Recreation Director In Williamston Is Raised

WILLIAMSTON — The Williamston Town Board has been asked to consider a recommendation that ten percent of the town's federal revenue sharing funds be earmarked to hire a full time Recreation Director for the town.

At the February meeting of the town board on Monday, Herbert Gay, chairman of the Williamston Recreation Commission, entered this recommendation. Gay also asked the board to clarify whether the Recreation Commission is a commission or a committee, saying there was a question about the status of the group. He further asked that a written agreement between Williamston and Martin County be made outlining the use of Recreation facilities.

In other action, the town board again tabled the question of rezoning property on Rhodes, White and Horton Streets. The request, to rezone from R-6 and neighborhood commercial to highway commercial, was the subject of a public hearing at the January meeting. No decision was reached at the public hearing, and the board members will again face the issue in the March meeting.

Representatives from two cable TV firms — the Hydra-Video Inc. of Chapel Hill and the Windsor Cablevision Inc. of Winsor, presented proposals for cable TV in Williamston. After hearing representatives of the two firms, board members said they would take the matter under advisement and later consult the firms.

An ordinance, presented by Town Attorney D.A. Manning, was approved. This calls for prohibition of drinking wine, beer or any alcoholic beverage on any public street, parking lots or other public areas of the town.

Approval was given to removing parking meters from downtown Williamston. Removal is on a 90 day basis, with two hour parking limit restriction signs to be erected. The town board will reconsider the matter at the end of 90 days, at which time a decision will be reached either to reinstall meters or to continue the no-meter arrangement.

Two resolutions concerning highways in the county, presented by Robert Nelson of Robersonville, were approved by the board. One is to redesignate the paved road between N.C. 125 and the Oak City-Tarboro highway as N.C. 142. Currently, the stretch of road bears three different highway numbers.

The second resolution approved calls for the widening to a full two lane with a four lane right of way of N.C. 903 from a point of intersection in Stokes to the 903 by-pass in Robersonville.

Another approval by the board covers funds in the amount of $3,500 to codify the town ordinances. Two bids were considered. The $3,500 was the lower of the two.

Additional items considered and action taken were: —Approval of a lease agreement with Kenneth Perry in the amount of $850 for the right to farm the town cemetery property during the calendar year 1973.

—Approval of a resolution from the N.C. Department of natural and Economic Resources. The resolution is for federal planning assistance in urban housing planning, with $5,000 to be paid by federal funds, and $3,250 by town money.

Board Asks For Same Tax Basis

WILLIAMSTON — Martin County Commissioners have passed a resolution that calls for banks in North Carolina to be taxed for ad valorem taxes on the same basis as other corporations.

The resolution, approved at the February meeting of the commissioners on Monday, is to be presented to the N. C. State Legislature.

At the request of the Martin County Health Department, commissioners have approved county funding to transport patients to Chapel Hill, Duke, Pitt Memorial and Beaufort Memorial hospitals. This applies only to patients who are otherwise unable to pay the cost of transport.

A resolution to outlaw hunting on highway right of ways in Goose Neck and Hamilton Townships was approved. A recommendation that six miles of road 1306 and 1308 in the Goose Nest Township be paved also received the approval of commissioners.

In other action taken by the commissioners, they:

—Named as new members to the Industrial Committee Archie Moble of Cross Roads Community and Robert Clark of Poplar Point Community; and named G. C. Ange of Jamesville and George W. Corey of Williamston for additional two year terms.

—Let a contract with Cozart Construction of Wilson in the amount of $34,109 for a water line in the town of Jamesville; and —Approved relief orders for $84.83 in county taxes.

Three Sailors Die In Boiler Explosion

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The destroyer USS Basilone returns to its home port here today with the bodies of three men killed in a boiler room explosion.

Eight men were injured in the explosion Monday. Four were evacuated immediately by Coast Guard helicopter to St. Albans Naval Hospital in New York City. Their condition was listed as critical. The other four injured were to be admitted to the Newport Naval Hospital on the Basilone's arrival.

The Navy's Atlantic Fleet Command in Norfolk, Va., said the explosion occurred while the Basilone was at sea some 150 miles southeast of Newport. The 380-foot vessel had left Newport 10 hours earlier as part of the Navy's destroyer school operation.

The Navy command said the cause of the explosion had not been determined.

The Basilone's skipper, Cmdr. John L. Towley of Middletown, R.I., reported that there was no fire aboard after the explosion.

The Basilone was able to continue under its own power after the explosion, the Navy said. The destroyer escort Hewes was accompanying the Basilone back to Newport.

Found 13 Bags Of Marijuana

Greenville and East Carolina University police officers found 13 bags of marijuana in a car owned by Maurice John McDonald, 19, of 201C Scott Dorm here early Monday morning and charged McDonald with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

Chief Glenn Cannon said officers charged McDonald after searching his vehicle and finding 325 grams—about $260 worth—of "grass" in the vehicle. They also impounded McDonald's 1971 model car pending hearing of the case in district court March 7. McDonald's bond was placed at $5,000. He is from Pfafftown.

Experience Added Up To Zero

If the legislature in its collective wisdom decides to do away with North Carolina's presidential primary, we say, good riddance. North Carolina joined the list of presidential primary states last year and the experience left much to be desired. There was little activity on the part of the presidential candidates themselves for votes in the Tar Heel primary. There was no real indication that the actions of delegates to national conventions last year were either more or less in keeping with the feeling of rank and file party members in this state than has been the case in previous years. The primary in North Carolina added to the already too-high expense of political election years. It added to the campaign confusion during a time when voter attention could better be given to primary candidates for state and local offices.

In short, the presidential primary in North Carolina contributed little, if anything, constructive politically to the state or the nation. That being the case, there is little if anything to be gained by continuing it.

On the other hand, if the presidential primary in North Carolina is dropped now, the state can turn its attention to tailoring its primary election dates and procedures to best meet the needs of this state and its people, and to assure the fullest possible citizen participation.

North Carolina and its citizens have much more to gain by doing away with the presidential primary than by continuing it just because many other states have jumped on the presidential primary bandwagon in recent years.

Ladies Week In The Legislature

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Ladies Week in the Legislature is in prospect, and it has nothing to do with Valentines.

The women trooping to the State Legislative Building may have love in their hearts, but there's steely glint of determination in their eyes. They are out to lobby lawmakers, pro and con, on North Carolina's ratification of the equal rights amendment.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Women wearing badges reading "ERA Yes" and "ERA No" have been making the scene since the session started, but the really big show is due Thursday (Feb. 8) when committees hold a public hearing for arguments on the issue.

All signs point to a lively time and a record feminine turnout as both sides try to win over legislators, through numbers and emotional appeal if not by logic.

Proponents dominated the crowd last week when the Senate and House committees dealing with Constitutional amendments gave an initial airing to what is clearly one of the volatile topics, politically and emotionally, on the legislative agenda.

Obtensibly a session to inform committee members on the likely impact of ratification, it featured instead a fervent anti-ERA presentation by a speaker with a name recalling Old South tradition.

Legal Calamity Foreseen
Dr. Robert E. Lee, a Wake Forest University law professor, said it would be a legal calamity if the guarantee against discrimination on account of sex is grafted into the federal Constitution. His peroration brought instant responses from the overflow audience.

Ratification, Dr. Lee declared, "would sweep away and nullify every law favorable to women." Hisses and groans swept through the auditorium.

"Women have more to lose than to gain," he continued, if the amendment becomes effective. Vigorous applause answered him.

"Equal rights" in the abstract is a worthy ideal," Dr. Lee granted, "but as a Constitutional standard it is hopelessly inept." "From Peeping Tom to separate restrooms, alimony payments to army services, every statute on the books based on differences between the sexes would be called into question, he insisted.

Men Will Decide
Whatever the effect upon women, the way North Carolina goes on ERA will be decided by men. Only nine females are among the 170 membership of the General Assembly, and that is a record number.

Such disproportion in politics is a chaffing point for the feminists. The North Carolina Women's Political Caucus has made ERA ratification a major goal, and its leaders attended last week's hearing.

Dr. Lee got the sharpest reaction when he told the throng of women:

"Just remember — every right which you enjoy today is yours because it was released to you by men."

Lobbying efforts have seen women divided on the question, a factor which makes difficult prediction of the outcome.

Sen. Fred Folger of Surry, chairman of the Senate committee, has stated opposition to ratification. Rep. Kitchin Josey of Halifax, the House committee chairman, described himself as uncommitted but said he has reservations about possible consequences of ratification.

Confidence that the bill will reach House floor for debate and a vote was expressed by Rep. Willis Whichard of Durham, one of its sponsors.

Sen. McNeill Smith of Guilford, another advocate, noted that 25 of the 50 Senators signed the bill which augurs well for upper chamber approval.

An Apprehensive Supporter
Meanwhile, a note of apprehension was voiced by Dr. Margaret Hunt, political scientist at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, named last November as chairman of the Governor's Commission on the Education and Employment of Women.

"I have serious doubts that the ERA will pass the General Assembly this session," she said. "The anti-ERA faction has been more active in communicating their feelings that have the proponents of the amendment."

Aside from the clash of opinion, some cool facts on the amendment were presented to legislators by John Sanders, director of the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill.

After its introduction at every session of Congress since 1923, the amendment passed last year. Legislatures of three-fourths of the states, or 38, must adopt it by a simple majority for it to become a part of the Constitution. So far, at least 22 states have done so which leaves 16 yet to go. A-half dozen or so states have rejected it.

A seven-year period is provided for sufficient number of states to ratify. Once ratified, provisions of the amendment would not have force for another two years in order to bring existing laws in line.

White House Is Opening Up

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Old Senate hands furious over the first-term inaccessibility of President Nixon and his top aides were bug-eyed when John Ehrlichman dropped in for a long, cozy chat with liberal Republican Sen. Jacob K. Kavits of New York in the Senate Office Building last Tuesday afternoon (Jan. 30).

At President Nixon's specific orders, Ehrlichman, now freed from the day-to-day routine duties of running the Domestic Council, will be making more unannounced calls on Senators and Congressmen of both parties. His new role: to use his White House clout as one of Mr. Nixon's two most powerful lieutenants (H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, major domo of the White House palace guard, is the other) to act as the President's emissary on touchy political matters.

Thus, two weeks ago Ehrlichman spent 75 minutes trying to persuade liberal Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois to modify his demands for Senate confirmation of six top presidential aides.

Meeting in Ehrlichman's plush White House office, Percy and Ehrlichman did make a compromise of sorts: Percy dropped his demand to require immediate Senate confirmation of Peter Flanagan, the President's resident foreign trade expert, and Ehrlichman agreed that Prof. John Dunlop of Harvard, new head of the Cost of Living Council, should be confirmed by the Senate.

The Ehrlichman drop-in at Javits' office dealt with matters less specific and more philosophic: reaction by Republican liberals to Mr. Nixon's draconian budget cuts and their implications for party unity.

In still another long session, Ehrlichman had Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington to his office for lunch. That chat, Jackson told us, smoothed out some policy disagreements on environmental problems being handled by Jackson's Senate Interior Committee.

There have been others. Ehrlichman, a stiff-lipped, inaccessible power-wielder during President Nixon's first term, comes through in his new role as almost charming. More important, he is getting across a fundamental point: the barrage of hostile criticism directed at the isolation of the President and his top staffers by politicians of both parties and all ideological persuasions was beginning to concern the White House. So, the second term is starting differently.

A footnote: Although Henry Kissinger's recent briefings before the Senate and House on how the Vietnam war was ended won him a standing ovation by House members and only slightly less applause from Senators, some Democrats on Capitol Hill were unhappy. The meetings were set by White House edict, not in answer to committee requests, and at places and times set by the White House, not the Congress.

Candidate Magruder
Jeb Magruder, the deputy chairman of President Nixon's reelection campaign who assigned convicted Watergate bugging chief G. Gordon Liddy to "ethical" political intelligence, is considering running for California secretary of state next year.

Some hostile Republicans perceive Magruder's candidacy as a convenient excuse to ease him out of the

Reversing The River?

WASHINGTON — Head-on collisions between the White House and the Hill are not especially novel. One thinks of Wilson and the League of Nations, of Roosevelt and his court-packing plan. But it will take a considerable searching of the record books to find a collision more dramatic or more significant than the coming clash over the President's 1974 budget.

The details are important, of course, but put these to one side for the moment. Of greater importance is Nixon's grand design: He proposes to reverse the whole flow of political power. He is undertaking to replace the New Deal of Franklin Roosevelt with the New Federalism of Richard Nixon. Those of us on the conservative side will be yelling huzzah.

Those on the liberal side, to be sure, will be yelling something else. They are yelling already. On the afternoon of the 27th, when copies of the budget were spread around town, the Potomac went up a full foot: The bureaucrats and the boondogglers, the weepies and the grants men, were crying themselves a river.

Nixon is in for a battle. He has proposed the dismantling of the whole rotting, rickety structure of categorical aid programs — a structure jerry-built over 40 years. Some of these outlays would be terminated at once. Others, such as Federal financing of mental health programs, would be phased out over a period of years. His idea is to substitute more programs, would be phased out over a period of years. His idea is to substitute more programs of broad Federal aid in education, manpower training, law enforcement and criminal justice, and urban community development. These would be administered primarily by State and local governments.

It is this aspect of the budget that especially infuriates Nixon's critics. The President is determined to take the essential decision-making power out of Washington, and to put it back where it belongs: in the hands of the people being served. The Washington Post, which fears such democracy, complains that in times past the States and localities have given "the short end of the stick" to certain social needs. The Louisville Courier-Journal, equally distrustful of the people, moans that the local handling of welfare, with few exceptions, "has been a case study in social neglect."

This challenge must be met squarely. Power has surged to Washington for many reasons. One of them, admittedly, is that in times past, malapportioned State legislatures, dominated by a few country stalwarts, have frustrated the legitimate demands of the cities. That situation has been largely corrected. No one can complain validly today that State government is not representative.

That being so, what is wrong with moving in the direction Nixon recom-

Other Editors Say The Nixon Appeal

(Wilson Daily Times)

Nixon has begun his appeal to Congress to work with him to achieve administrative goals which he said mark "a fresh approach to government."

Nixon in his first State of the Union report pledged to do "my part to achieve a constructive working relationship with Congress." How you can expect the President to continue the many programs, costing as they do, and halt inflation, is not logical or possible.

Many of the Great Society programs have been proven failures, although they cost millions of dollars. With the President cutting out the fat, the public have some hope of controlling inflation.

It is generally understood from the report of the Council of Economic Advisers that the brakes are to be applied.

The report of the CEA is optimistic. It anticipated a 10 per cent growth in the gross national product for 1973 — up from $1.152 trillion in 1972 to $1.267 trillion. This is based on holding inflation to a 3 per cent rate. Real growth in the gross national product would approach 6 1/2 per cent in physical output.

The holding of the inflation threat is predicated on budget spending being held within the budget limit of $246.3 billion; secondly, the control of food prices; and thirdly, that business and labor show a high degree of voluntary compliance with the President's Phase III program of controls on wages and prices.

The President warns that "the government will maintain the legal authority, the practical capacity and the will to intervene where necessary to stop action that is inconsistent with Phase III standards."

The President's budget and his economic report appear to be realistic in terms of the economy's capacity and the outer non-inflationary limits on the federal budget.

Now, how to slice the pie which has been set on the table before Congress?

A Very Empty House

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the hardest ordeals of parenthood is facing up to the realization that after a certain age your children use home only as a resting place between flights that take them farther and farther away.

The house seems so empty when they have gone.

HAL BOYLE

That is the way my apartment seems now — now that my daughter, trailing clouds of exhaust smoke that obscured the ecology of our neighborhood, has driven off for another try at a higher education.

As a freshman last year, Tracy Ann loved picturesque little Windham College and its lovely hillside setting in old Putney, Vt., but failed to set any scholastic records.

So she decided to take a semester off, a decision I acceded to reluctantly only on her promise that she would return to school at the end of that time. It has become commonplace now for thousands of young students to drop out of college for a time in order, as so many of them say, "to find myself."

Whether this is a good or bad thing, generally, I can't say. In Tracy's case, I suppose, the answer still depends on whether she goes on now to make college a meaningful part of her life.

Certainly, however, she has matured considerably during her semester off. During this period she wangled a job as copy boy. Although she did her work well, she came early to a realization that being a copy boy was hardly a permanent career for a 19-year-old young lady.

These six months have been among the happiest of my life to me. During this time Tracy has Congress today continued its normal activity broken only by a memorial service for former President Calvin Coolidge in a joint session of the Senate and House.

B. T. Clark, local weather observer, states this morning the mercury tumbled from a fairly comfortable 40 degrees yesterday morning to 16 degrees this morning. It was the most pronounced fall of temperature of the season and brought the coldest weather of the winter to Greenville and community.

Fire, a constant plague of Coney Island, struck again today at the amusement resort, riding along the board-walk on a biting south-west gale and destroying several amusement houses. In the bleak hush hours before dawn and with thermometers registering 12 degrees below zero, fire spurted from the wooden Tunnel of Love in a section of the center known as the Bowery.

Strength For Today

ARE WE WILLING?

The basic teaching of the Christian gospel is that when we help anyone in need we serve Jesus Christ. Some who serve these needs are not professing Christians. They simply do the right and kindly thing because it needs to be done and because they find satisfaction in relieving human need. These are to be commended. But those who feed the hungry, clothe the naked and give comfort to the afflicted in the name of Christ excel all others in the grandeur of their service.

In the Christian order of things there are no big people and no little people. We are all children of God and brethren of Jesus Christ. Some may have the advantages of natural endowment, wealth, social status, or fine education, but this does not make them any bigger in the sight of the King than those who are serving him in ways that are infinitely humble.

The gospel makes it plain that we are to serve Christ wherever we happen to be and with whatever we possess. We may not occupy a position of any advantage and we may have but little to give. This makes no difference in the Lord's sight. The only thing that counts is that we are willing to give.

The solemn judgment of Christ rests upon those who are not willing. We are all shockingly inadequate to the duties that have to be performed. This is not important at all. Are we sincere? Are we willing? Answers to these questions are all that matter.

Inflation Signal Also Involved

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If you are one of the 4.4 million to 4.7 million jobless members of the labor force you can hardly be expected to appreciate the administration's attitude toward the unemployment rate.

That rate is now down to 5 per cent of the work force, lowest since July 1970. It is falling rather steadily now, and conceivably could be somewhere around 4.5 per cent late in the year.

But already the administration has made clear its fear that the rate might drop too swiftly. Yes, fear; fear that a jobless rate of less than 4.5 per cent might signal more inflation.

It has, therefore, set that rate as an end-of-the-year goal.

What logic can idleness purposely be tolerated? The explanation goes something like this:

If the jobless rate is descending it means the economy is expanding and absorbing once idle workers. This is healthy, to a point, but it also could signal the onset of inflation.

This has been the story of free economies. They often seek to produce more than their capacity to produce and when that happens it means that supply is insufficient to meet demand. Up go prices.

Wages might rise and be an element in those prices, but even more importantly, labor costs rise. There is a difference; wages could rise 50 per cent a year if productivity rose 50 per cent. That wouldn't be inflationary.

But, when the demand for workers is high, such as in an expansion, there is a tendency for the less productive workers to be used. They are less skilled or lack motivation or proper work habits, or may have other deficiencies.

Speed up this process and you run the risk of throwing elements of the expansion out of balance. A sharp demand for labor, for example, might push up labor costs and then prices, leading to demands for higher wages to meet prices, and so on until a self-sustaining spiral is generated.

The fear of rekindled inflation is illustrated by figures for the fourth quarter of 1972 showing that labor costs per unit of output rose at an annual rate of 3 per cent, after having fallen for two straight quarters.

Those who seek a red inflation signal in the falling jobless rate use these statistics to indicate that caution is advised. It isn't that they're against that rate falling; they're for the speed of its descent.

If we manage to keep the expansion in balance, they say, we can continue to put more and more people to work. And if the economy grows slowly but soundly, without inflation, we can test lower and lower rates, even to 4 per cent.

Solist At Conference

In the recently concluded Eastern Division Convention of the Music Educators National Conference at Boston, a professor from the East Carolina School of Music was the only musician to give a solo performance.

Harold A. Jones of the ECU School of Music faculty, at the convention attended by 2,000 educators from the northeastern region of the U. S., presented a program of Contemporary Percussion Instrument Literature.

Included in Jones' recital were current Works by Karlheinz Stockhausen and other percussion composers of today. Some of the compositions required a total of 50 percussion instruments.

The ECU professor has made guest appearances at a number of major music events, including the All-Eastern clinic at the U. S. Navy School of Music; the Southern Division Convention of the Music Educators National Conference; and the music program of the University of South Carolina.

mends? He is going back to fundamental principles. He is rejecting the cancerous notion that Washington knows what is best for Louisville, or New Orleans, or Oakland. More money be spent on hospitals and less on vocational education? Should the emphasis be on parks, or on libraries, or on mental institutions? Nixon would put the responsibility for these decisions where that responsibility can be seen, where it can be reached and held accountable.

In coming months, as the battle rolls along, it will be said that Nixon's budget reflects a lack of compassion for the poor and the elderly. Nonsense. There are billions here for the poor. The elderly would pay something more for Medicare, but their needs are generally well met.

It also will be said that too much — $81 billion — is provided for defense. The truth is that most of the increase in this area is for pay raises. Relatively little — probably too little — is for new hardware. Some fat can be trimmed; it should be trimmed; but prudent lawmakers will remember our commitments and trim lightly.

Nixon deserves support, and he will need support, in making his budget stick. Bureaucrats and pressure groups will mount a lobby of great political power. But Nixon is right in what he is seeking to do, and if enough Americans care about responsible local government, he will win.

The local fight against muscular dystrophy—a disease that cripples and is often fatal, begins in Greenville early in March.

Mrs. Sue Turcotte, campaign manager for the fund raising drive, has announced that on the first week-end in March, — on March 2, 3 and 4, a volunteer army will be conducting a door-to-door march to gain community support for the world-wide research program sponsored by the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America. (MDAA).

"I've been quite happy about the response I've received in lining up volunteers," Mrs. Turcotte stated. She noted that already a sizeable number, about 200 volunteers, had expressed a readiness to help. "We'll need others too," Mrs. Turcotte said, "and anyone who might have time to volunteer should call me at 752-2347."

Muscular dystrophy, which attacks children more frequently than adults, each year affects more than 250,000 Americans.

With research in recent years from funds raised throughout the national annual drives, medical investigators have discovered much and feel they are on the verge of a major breakthrough.

Currently, research projects are underway not only in the U. S., but in 15 countries on four continents. These are all programs involving dystrophy and related neuromuscular disorders.

In North Carolina alone, MDAA research grants totaling over $40,000 have been awarded to researchers at Duke University.

Research is not the single activity conducted by MDAA. Each year the association provides a wide range of vital services to patients of the disease. It provides — at no cost — orthopedic devices, transportation to and from schools and medical appointments; summer camps and other recreational activities. Patients receive, free of charge, diagnostic and follow-up examination and other services in the MDAA's nationwide network of 95 clinics — 10 of them newly established in 1972.

Patients in the Greenville area are served by the MDAA —sponsored clinic at Duke's Medical School Private Diagnostic Clinic.

Treasurer for the 1973 Greenville MDAA campaign is Mrs. Nancy Hall.

Big Payments To Some POWs

By FRED S. HOFFMAN AP Military Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Some

American servicemen returning from war captivity in Southeast Asia will find as much as $100, 000 waiting for them in back pay and allowances.

On top of that, they are in line to collect possibly thousands of dollars more by claiming a special payment of $5 for each day they spent in a POW camp.

Each of the 562 U.S. military men listed by the North Vietnamese as prisoners has money piling up in an account drawing 10 per cent interest.

The same is true for 55 men who died in captivity and 1,327 who still are missing. In the case of the dead, Pentagon officials said, the money likely will go to their estates. The accounts of the missing will continue to grow until the men are located or there is a formal finding of "presumptive death," officials said.

Air Force records show that 79 men have accumulated between $50,000 and $100,000 each in back pay and allowances. Another 247 men have from $25,000 to $50,000 to their credit.

Similar information was not available from the other services, but their POW accounts should parallel the Air Force's.

In general, officials said, the system works this way: After a married man is captured or becomes missing, his service automatically deducts 10 per cent from his monthly pay and allowances and sends the balance to his wife.

The 10 per cent is placed in his account under the Uniformed Services Savings Deposit system.

At least 10 per cent is taken off the top of a bachelor's monthly check, too, but it is possible for his entire pay and allowances to be put into a USSD account, unless he allotted part of his monthly income to his parents or other relatives.

When the U.S. POWs reach hospitals in the United States, they will be given forms to apply for the special $5-a-day payment covering their time in captivity.

The Foreign Claims Settlement Commission is authorized to pay former war prisoners who were poorly fed and worked against their will while in enemy hands.

Based on the $5-a-day rate, Army Maj. Floyd Thompson appears to be eligible for up to about $16,000 and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Everett Alvarez Jr. for a maximum of about $15,500, in addition to their savings accounts.

Thompson, held longer than any other American, was captured in South Vietnam in March 1964. Alvarez was the first U.S. pilot shot down over North Vietnam and taken prisoner, during the Tonkin Gulf incident in August 1964.

Many Applying For Band Clinic

To date, coordinators of the East Carolina University School of Music sponsored High School Band Clinic (Eastern Division), to be held at ECU on Friday and Saturday, have received 169 student names from 26 eastern high schools.

Ranging in numbers from a single student to as many as 24, information now available shows the following schools will be sending students. The number of students to be attending from individual schools are shown after the school name:

South Johnston High School, 2; Hoggard-Wilmington High School, 9; Robersonville High School, 2; White Oak High School, 2; Rose High School, 9; Williamston High School, 4; Elm City High School, 3; Swansboro High School, 4; Farmville High School, 2.

Also, Jacksonville Senior High School, 14; Smithfield-Selma High School, 11; Roanoke Rapids Senior High School, 9; West Carteret High School, 3; R. J. Fike High School, 9; Aycock Junior High School, 2; Southern High School, 1; New Bern High School, 11; Greene Central-Snow Hill High School, 8; New Hanover-Wilmington High School, 7; Northeastern Elizabeth City High School, 12; East Carteret-Beaufort High School, 9; Plymouth High School, 4.

And rounding out the list are: Rocky Mount Senior High School, 14; and with one student each, Virgo, Richlands and Darden High Schools.

(Continued From Page 4) administration job because of his remote connection with the Watergate scandal. In fact, however, former White House aide Magruder remains the political protege and close friend of H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, Mr. Nixon's all-powerful chief of staff. As such, he may well wind up with a good job in the administration.

At this writing, Magruder is in California to consider his future—whether to stay in the Nixon administration or take a California position in private business. Some of his friends believe he should return to the administration to demonstrate his immunity to Watergate. Whichever course he takes, however, Magruder—attractive and articulate at age 39—would still have plenty of time to decide to make his first attempt for public office. If he did, he would have considerable support from both wings of the divided California Republican party.

At the Watergate trial, Magruder swore he knew nothing of the break-in and bugging at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate. He testified that he assigned Liddy—convicted of masterminding the operation—tasks in political intelligence but told him they must "be handled in a legal and ethical manner." Magruder swore he gave Liddy no intelligence-gathering assignments regarding the Democratic party.

learned to keep house, cook, and be a pleasure to her father — so much of a pleasure that I have forgiven her the years of hellodom she has put me through during her early teendom.

"Well, dear," I told her as she was packing for her return to college, "I hope you have found yourself."

"I never was lost," she replied. "I always have known who I am, Daddy. But I am still not sure of where I am going. But I think I would like to do something with the English language."

That made me feel a bit sad. For I have been trying to do something with the English language for nearly 62 years, and wonder whether I have succeeded in doing anything but blunt myself. It isn't easy to make a dent in the English language.

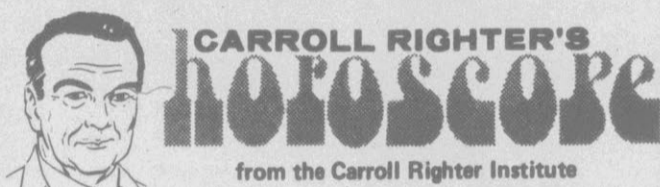

So Tracy trudged out of the house carrying two spare auto tires that have been decorating our living room for the last few months.

"Kiss me, Daddy." We kissed. Tracy bent her head a moment, then the car roared off. She never waved or looked back.

That was less than 24 hours ago. Yes, the house is already silent and empty. What will it be like through all the days to come?

Why do people have children anyway? They just grow up and leave you a prisoner of your echoing memories.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day to start a new course of action, especially if the details have already been carefully studied. You have a clear-cut understanding in your mind just how to gain the necessary goodwill of others who are associated with this plan.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Dress well and then be off to the places and people for whatever is uppermost on your mind. Show your affection to good friends. The evening is best spent at home relaxing with loved ones.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have made plans secretly but now need to work on important details connected with them and obtain more data. Show more affection for the object of your affections. Try not to be bullish.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are able to understand your associates better now and can cement your relations and be on an improved footing. Use your intellect more fully and achieve far better results in business.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can accomplish a great deal by being more active in the outside world and showing that you are a fine citizen. Do whatever will please your creditors. Relax on your laurels tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have excellent new ideas and want to make changes quickly. This is right for you now, so keep active. Obtain the data that is necessary so that you are successful in your venture. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find a more modern way of keeping a record of your finances and life will become easier and more pleasant. Talk over any problem with mate and the response will be beneficial to all concerned.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show a spirit of cooperation and talk over with associates what should be done to operate more successfully in the future. Engage in civic affairs and add to self-esteem and prestige. Relax tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Cooperate more and take the lead at work so that fellow workers are inspired and production increased. You can improve your health by being more enthused. Forget a personal anxiety.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is the right day to attend to that important work early and then you can enjoy entertainment that appeals. Show thoughtfulness for mate. Avoid one who is a poor risk.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try a little change of pace at home and become more modern. New appliances that are needed should be bought. First things first should be your motto from now on. Think constructively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have clever ideas and should put them in operation so that the future becomes brighter and more successful for you. Discuss them with persons who can give you a boost in the right direction.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Talk over those money problems with experts and do something constructive about them. Plan a new budget that will be more flexible and practical. The evening is best spent with kin at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those energetic young people who will require an excellent education in order to achieve the real success that is possible in this chart. The intelligence here is very pronounced and there's a fine quality of perseverance that can take your youngster far in life. Permit to exercise the gregarious quality early. Also, give the advantage of foreign languages.

"The stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

BEDDINGFIELD PHARMACY

Five Points

One Woman Farm

Winter is the testing time. Marti Stevens has been working and living alone on her 100-acre farm in Cornville, Maine, since 1969. Marti is a city girl, born and bred in Chicago's South Side. In 1959, she went to New York and struggled to make a life. She worked as off-Broadway director, part-time actress, teacher, secretary. And she lost heart in the endless battle against papers, forms, ambition and bureaucracy. She bought the farm and settled in Cornville because she decided she preferred the challenges of wind and heat and cold.

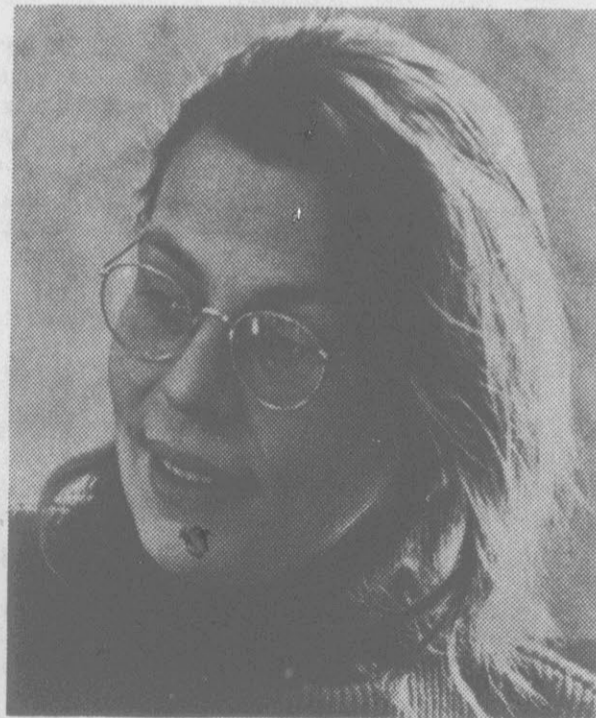

It's a different life for Marti in the country, looking after the farm, a steer, two cows, two horses, eight goats, a pair of ewes, laying hens, two dogs and nine cats. But this life has a meaning. Marti is poor, but she's self-supporting and she stays. "Forever," she promises.

So, early mornings now are not for lying in bed looking out at the hard, white world. The furnace needs coal, the animals are waiting to be fed and milked and . . .

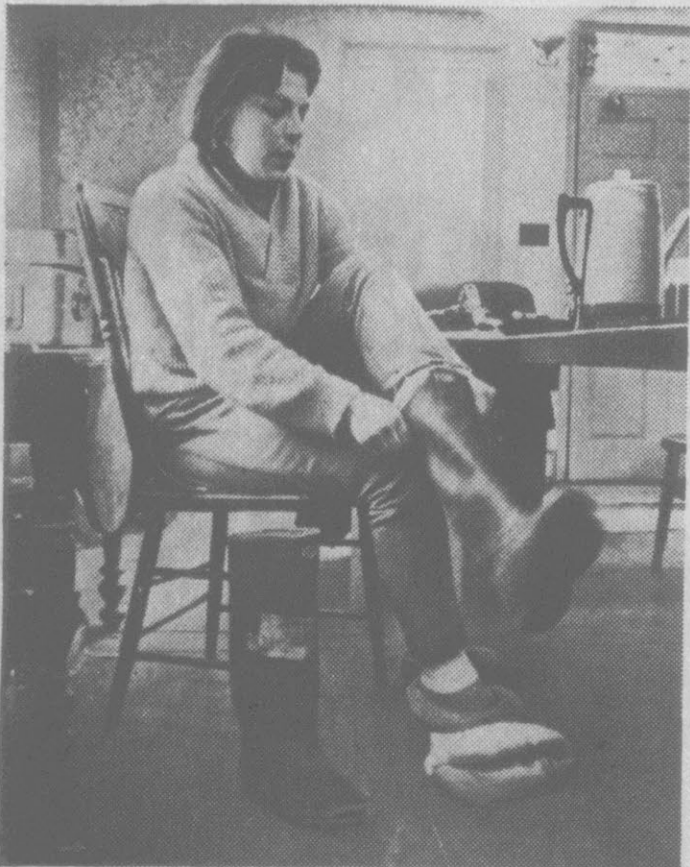

Photographed by Lou Garcia.

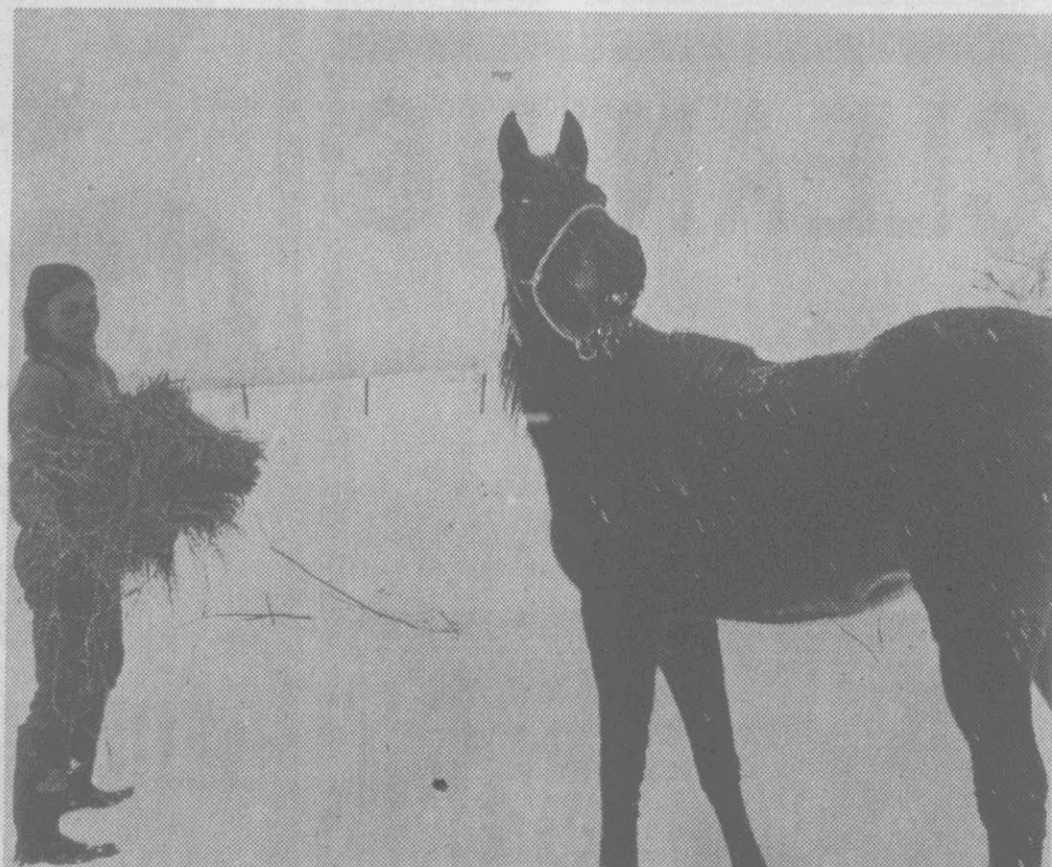

Marti earns extra money coaching adult students for high school diplomas.

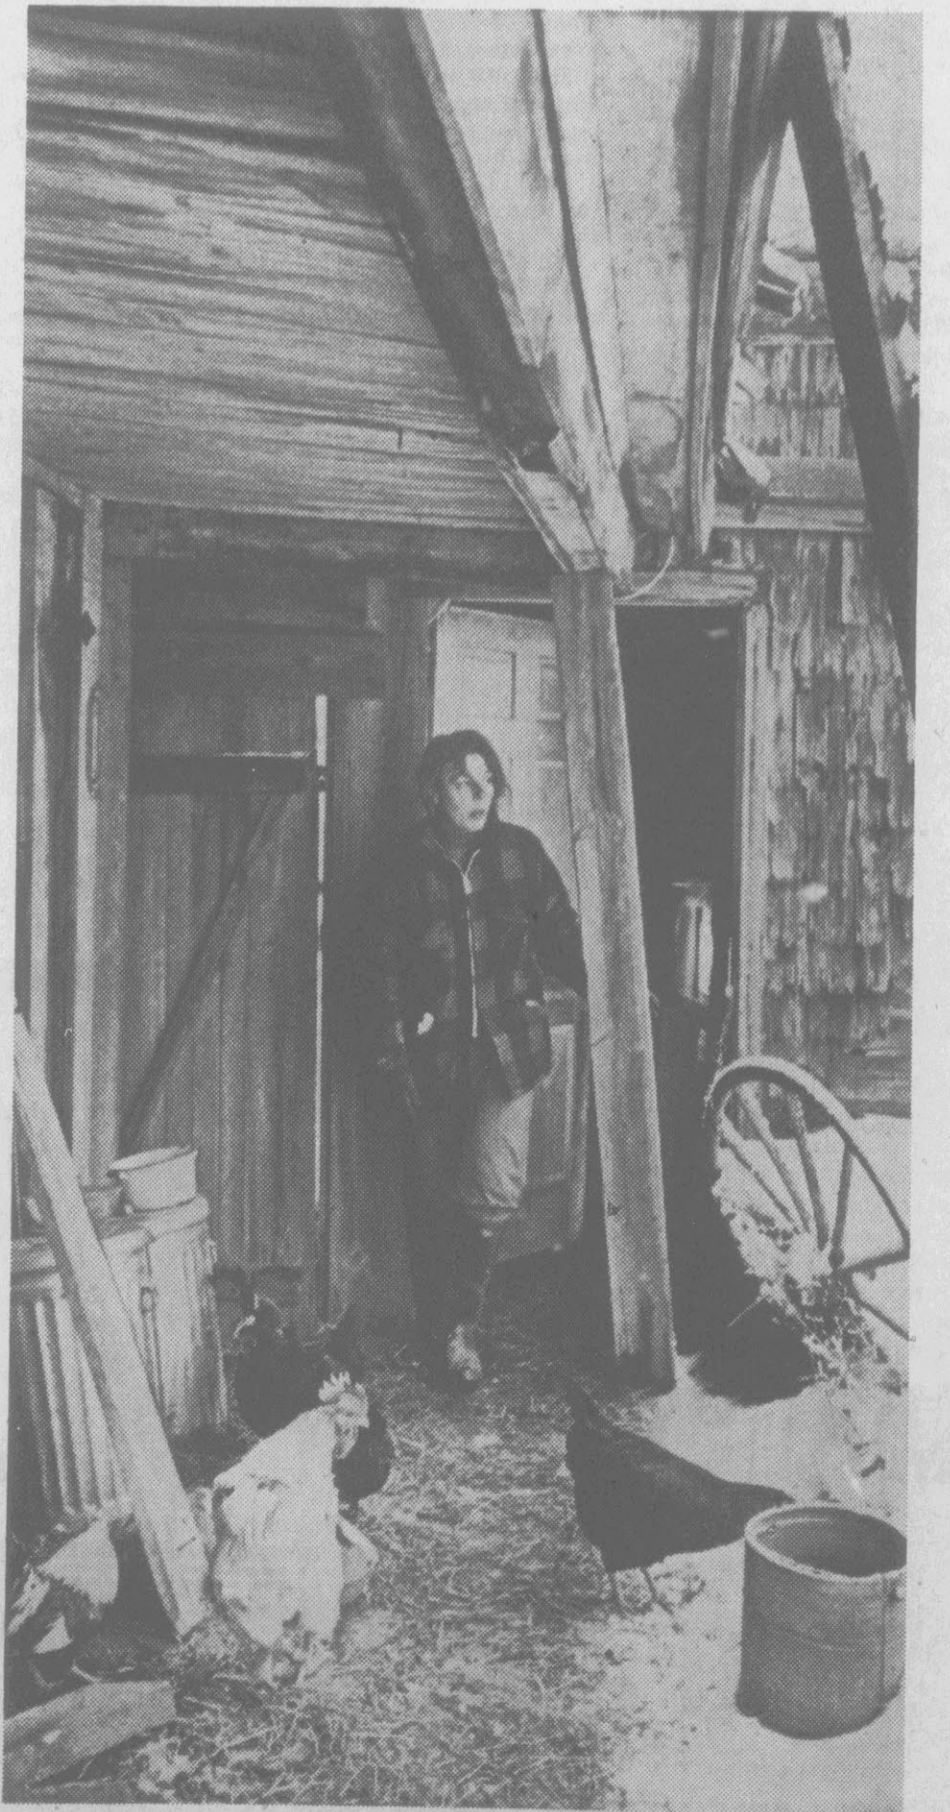

She'll stay "forever," Marti says.

Dressing to face the rigors of a Maine winter.

It's cold and snowing: but the animals wait to be fed.

This is the life Marti has chosen.

PRINCETON, N.J., Feb. 5 — The recent peace settlement with North Vietnam has boosted

President Nixon's popularity to a point where it now matches his previous high, with 68 per cent of Americans saying they approve of his performance in office, 25 per cent expressing disapproval and 7 per cent with no opinion. The current rating represents a sharp 14-point gain over the approval rating recorded in an early January survey, which was completed just prior to President Nixon's announcement on Jan. 15 of the cessation of bombing and during a period of widespread discouragement over the prospects for reaching a peace settlement.

The President also received a 68 per cent approval rating in November 1969, just after he had announced his plan for withdrawing troops from Vietnam and training the South Vietnamese to take over the fighting.

RATING TIED TO WAR
President Nixon's popularity rating has been closely tied to the war in Indochina, as was President Johnson's. The low point in President Johnson's popularity was 35 per cent, recorded in August 1968 when ARMY BLOWS BUBBLES ROYAL OAK, Mich. concern over Vietnam was at a high point. NIXON'S VIETNAM RATING ALSO AT NEW HIGH

The current survey also shows a record high approving of the way Nixon has handled the Vietnam situation. Nearly eight persons in ten (77 percent) express approval, whereas in the early January survey disapproval slightly outweighed approval, 47 to 43 per cent.

The following question was asked to determine the President's overall popularity rating:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Nixon is handling his job as President?"

Lecture Slated On Drug Scene

The drug scene is the next subject on the Lecture Series at East Carolina University, sponsored by the ECU Student Union.

Next to the last of six lectures for the 1972-73 season will be the one on drugs to be given by Dr. Allan Y. Cohen. The title of his lecture is The Psychedelic Underground: My Three Years in Wonderland.

Dr. Cohen will lecture at Wright Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on Monday, February 12.

A summa cum laude graduate in the field of social relations at Harvard in 1961, he began, as a graduate student under Timothy Leary and Richard Alpert, to experiment with psychedelic drugs. For three years he spent time in Millbrook and in a Mexican utopian community experimenting with LSD and related drugs.

Dr. Cohen also learned of the non-chemical alternatives to drugs, especially the approach advocated by the Indian teacher Avater Meher Baba. As a result of this approach, he stopped using drugs.

After these experiences, Cohen began a serious study of comparative spirituality, mysticism and parapsychology, culminating in a Ph.D. degree in clinical psychology at Harvard in 1966. Then followed service as a field assessment officer in the Peace Corps and work with the staff of the University of California-Berkeley as counselor-psychologist.

Currently, he is director of the John F. Kennedy Institute of Drug Abuse Education and Research and Dean of Students at the JFK University in Martinez, California.

In his talks to audiences all across America, Dr. Cohen, who has known the personal effects of drug-taking avoids, sermonizing while presenting relevant research results. "Persons must make their own decisions about drug usage," he has stated. "But they need to know the truth in order to make decisions reasonably."

Tickets for the lecture are now available at $2.00 per person from the ECU Central Ticket Office.

Eagle Scout Badge Is Received Sunday

F. M. JOHNSON II

Frankford Milam Johnson II, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. Milam Johnson of Greenville, received the coveted Eagle Scout award during ceremonies Sunday at Oakmont Baptist Church.

Johnson, who has been a member of Troop 205 for five years, completed his Eagle project and earned the 21 badges necessary for Eagle Scout qualification.

For his project, Johnson worked with the Greenville

Woman's Club on a landscaping and natural resources project for the Green Spring Park grounds.

The Eagle Scout, a junior at Rose High School, has served as patrol leader and den chief during his tenure with Troop 205 and currently is troop scribe and liberian.

He earned the "Expert" award for marksmanship from the National Rifle Association and also registered the highest in rifle competition at Camp Bonner during 1972. Johnson also holds the badge for the mile swim and the Scout Lifeguard B.S.A. designation. In addition, he is an O. A. Brotherhood member of Natshih Chapter and holds the first computer merit badge awarded in the East Carolina Council.

Participating in the presentation of the Eagle award were John Miller, Troop 205 Scoutmaster; Dr. Billy E. Jones, assistant Scoutmaster; Hugh Benson, district executive; and Dr. Harry R. Billica, committee chairman.

Honor guard for the ceremony was made up of John Miller, Tommy Manning, Billy Billica, Jim McLand, Mike Indorf, and Don Tucker. Color guard scouts were Roy Carlton and F. Melvin Johnson. Members of Troop 205, sponsored by Memorial Baptist Church, and Troop 124, sponsored by Oakmont Baptist, were on hand for the presentation.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was narrowly mixed in moderately active trading today, reflecting the wait-and-see attitude investors have adopted over economic Phase 3, the international monetary situation, interest rates, and inflation.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.58 to 979.98. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange narrowly outnumbered gaining issues 586 to 523.

Among the active issues, Eastern Air Lines was up ¼ to 16½. A block of 31,400 shares was bought at 16. Federal Natural Mortgage Associates is the most active, down ¼ to 16½, followed by Esquire, down ¼ to 8½.

Precious-metal stocks were gaining with the dollar under pressure. Callahan Mining was up ½ to 11, New York & Honduras Rosario up 1 to 20¼, Sunshine Mining up ¾ to 12 and Dome mines up ¾ to 80¼.

Florida East Coast Railway was up 7/8 to 27¼ after sharply higher fourth quarter earnings were reported Monday.

Disney Productions jumped 2¼ to 101¼ after a report the firm had record-breaking for-

Helms 'For' Impounding Oath Taken By Wescott

RALEIGH (AP) — U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms said Monday he is "standing solid behind President Nixon's efforts to reduce government spending," including the President's impounding of funds already appropriated by Congress.

Helms gave the keynote address at a conference on farm credit sponsored by the N.C. Bankers Association.

"I believe in the separation of powers," said Helms, "but what the President is saying to Congress and to the American people is that Congress has allocated more money than I can spend wisely, especially in times of runaway inflation."

The freshman Republican senator also defended Nixon's proposed 1974 budget, and said "Congress ought to stop complaining about it."

The budget has come under fire by some congressmen because of drastic cuts in education, health and welfare programs, and increased military spending.

Helms said his mail indicate that farmers across the state generally support the proposed budget, in spite of its estimated $30 million reduction in farm aid to the state.

"The farmers are telling me that they wish the farm programs didn't have to be cut. But they won't complain if other government handouts are reduced," Helms said.

"The news media would have us believe that the farmers are in near revolt because of the federal cutbacks," said Helms. "But my mail shows they're supporting President Nixon's budget by a five to one margin."

Pirates Hold Off St. Peter's, 83-77

Bucs Announce Grid Signings

East Carolina University Head Football Coach Sonny Randle announced Monday that the Pirates had awarded 30 football grants-in-aid to incoming freshmen next fall.

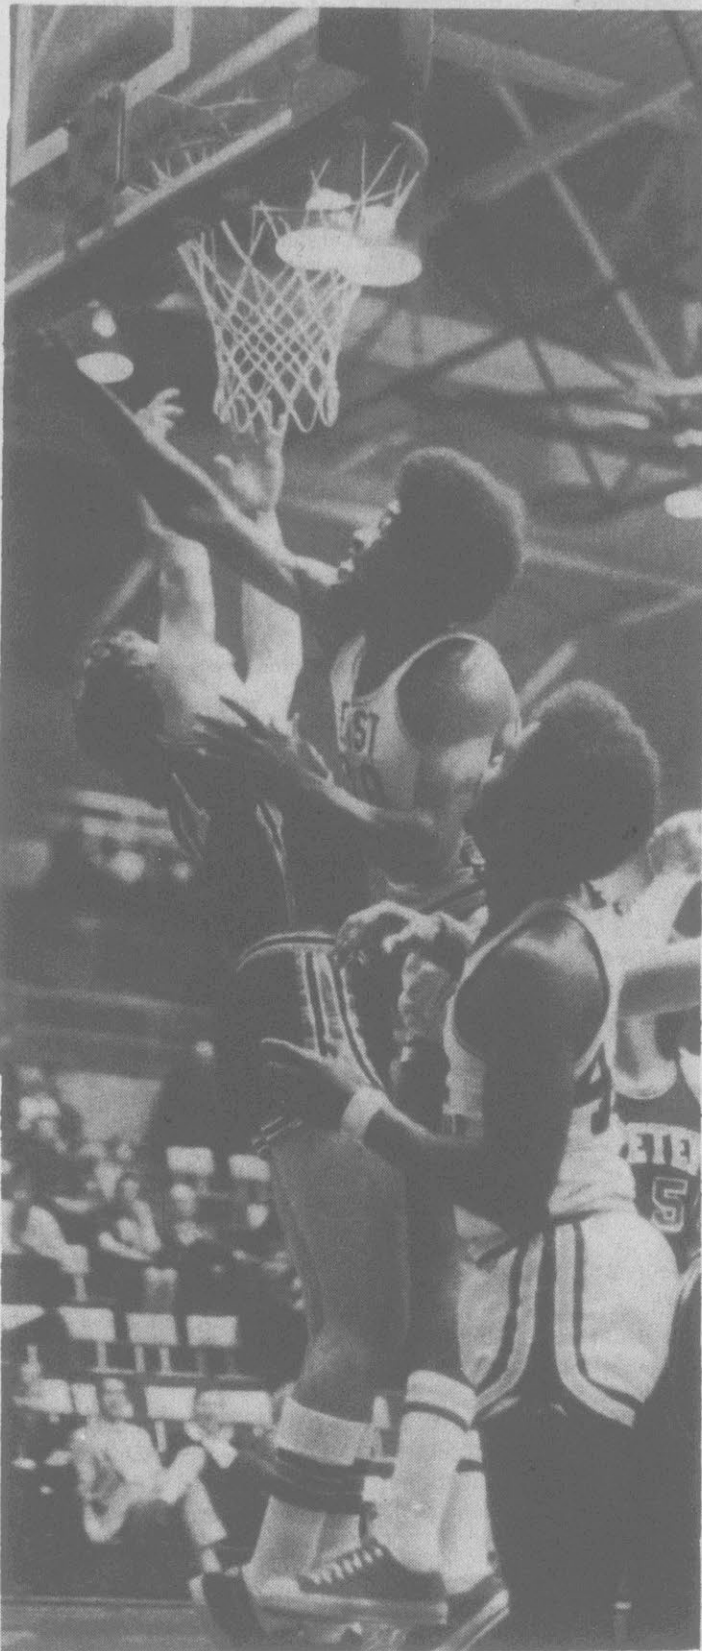

The Pirates, who finished the 1972 season with a 9-2 record and won their first outright Southern Conference football championship ever, lose only eight seniors from the championship squad.

"We are very pleased with the way our recruiting has gone so far," said Randle, who was voted the Southern Conference Coach of the Year for his efforts last fall. "We are by no means finished yet."

A breakdown on the athletes signed show 18 backs and 12 linemen.

East Carolina University's Pirates, playing weak St. Peter's between two important Southern Conference games, did only what they had to gain a victory last night in Minges Coliseum, 83-77.

The Bucs ran out to a 16-point lead, only to see it cut back to a single one, as they struggled the rest of the way to get their 10th victory in 18 starts.

Both Dave Franklin and Nicky White had fine games, however, hitting 28 and 23 points respectively. It was their play, more than anything else, that pulled the Pirates through.

They also both worked the boards, with Franklin hauling in 13 rebounds and White getting 12.

Both were going up against the 6-11 frame of Juan Jimenez, who stunned the Bucs with 21 points in the first half and a total of 32 in the game. He got 17 rebounds, 12 of them in the second half surge from behind.

The Bucs shot worse than their opponents and still won the second straight time, hitting only 43 per cent of their attempts. St. Peter's made good on 45.2 per cent.

The Bucs again won it on the line, hitting 15 of 24, four more than did the Peacocks. The Bucs made one more field goal.

By halftime, the Bucs had shaken loose the Peacocks, outscoring them, 18-7 during the final six minutes, to run out to a 14-point edge, 47-33. They also got the first basket of the second half, and it looked like they were on their way to a complete rout, but the bubble burst there.

During the first five minutes of the second half, the Peacocks outthrew East Carolina, 19-6, and cut the lead to only one, 53-52. But each time they cut it back, the Pirates would pull away again, although they were never able to break it open again.

St. Peter's never led. East Carolina got the lead on a shot from underneath by White, and he hit again to make it a 4-0 lead.

But Jimenez scored a three-point play to cut it back to one, 4-3. The two exchanged baskets, with Jimenez hitting nearly everything St. Peter's got, until White scored from underneath.

Al Faber followed with a tap and Jerome Owens scored on a fast break. That made it 14-7 with 15:32 left. But with Jimenez still finding the range (he hit nine for nine in the half), the Peacocks cut it back to one again, 14-13, and held right there until Richie Fuller hit from the baseline to tie it at 22-22. They tied it again at 24-24, but a baseline jumper by Franklin opened it again for East Carolina. Earl Quash got a free throw and Franklin hit again to run it out to five.

After a St. Peter's free throw with 5:26 left, Franklin got a three-point play, and Owens hit on a jumper. White made two from the line and Owens hit a jumper. Franklin followed from underneath, and the Bucs had spread it out to 13, 40-27 with 3:36 left. St. Peter's cut it back to 10, 41-31, but East Carolina moved it out again, and a tap by Dave McNeill made it 47-33 at the buzzer.

White picked up the first basket of the second half, but St. Peter's Ed Cierski began to bomb the Bucs from outside, hitting six in a row before he finally missed one. His blitz, as he scored the first 15 points of the half for the Peacocks, cut the lead down to just five points, 51-46 with 16:31 left.

Harry Anderson then hit with 15:36 left to trim it to three, and just seconds later Cierski hit again and the lead had been cut to only one, 57-56.

But Quash hit from the baseline and White did too. Ernie Pope followed that with another basket to run it back out to seven. A basket by Jimenez and two free throws by Cierski trimmed it to three again, but the Bucs slowly eased away again, this time by eight, as White hit eight straight points. It dropped back to four, but a three-point play by Franklin upped it to seven again with 8:12 left, 69-62.

St. Peter's made one last charge at the Bucs, getting a basket from Cierski and another from Tom Wise to trim it to 74-72 with 3:30 to go.

But Franklin got another three-point play to up it to five, and after a tap-in by Jimenez, Roger Atkinson got another three-pointer to spread it to six with 2:09 left, 80-74.

Pope followed that up with a fast break layup with 1:43 to go, opening an eight-point lead. The two matched free throws, and Jimenez hit once more with seven seconds left to set the final margin.

In addition to Jimenez total of 32, Cierski had 19, all in the second half, and Anderson had 12.

The only other Bucs in double figures besides Franklin and White was Quash, who had 10.

Baby Bucs Rip Albemarle Five

East Carolina University's junior varsity, boosted by a fine performance by Al Edwards, rolled to a 101-70 victory over College of the Albemarle last night. The game was a preliminary to the East Carolina-St. Peter's varsity game.

Edwards tossed in a jv record 33 points, while pulling down 19 rebounds.

All five of the starters broke into double figures. Besides the 33 of Edwards, Fred Stone had 19, William Hill had 15, Chuck Mohn had 14 and Randy McCullen had 10. Hill added 11 rebounds, while Mohn pulled in eight.

Sam Leggett led Albemarle with 18, while Harold Jackson had 13 and Delanor Battle had 10.

The Baby Bucs completely controlled the boards, 48-26, and they constantly were able to get loose for the easy basket. For the game, they hit 59.5 per cent of their shots, making 43 of 72. COA got only 40.5 per cent.

East Carolina took the lead on the first basket of a night, a snowbird by Fred Stone. The Dolphins tied it up on a shot by Harold Jackson, but Stone hit from underneath again for a 4-2 lead. Edwards and Stone each followed with baskets to run it out to six before COA cut it back to two again.

A three-point play by Edwards finally broke the Bucs loose, 17-12, and he followed with a drive to up the lead to seven. After an exchange of baskets, Stone, Lenny Kendall and Mohn each hit to run it out to 13, 27-14.

The Dolphins rallied, however, and cut it back to as little as three, 29-26, but in the final minutes of the half, the Bucs outthrew the Dolphins, 14-5 to open up a 43-31 intermission lead.

In the second half, the Bucs ran out to a 17-point lead, only to see the Dolphins cut it again, this time to eight, 60-52. But after that, the Bucs took full control of the game and steadily pulled away, working against COA's pressing defense to score easy baskets.

The win ran the Baby Buc record out to 9-3. They currently have two more games scheduled, against the N.C. State Wolflets and the junior varsity of Old Dominion, both on the road.

A BORN LOSER
NEW YORK (AP) — When former Detroit Red Wing hockey star Ted Lindsay came to New York prior to the annual National Hockey League All-Star game he admitted he "was a born loser," when it came to penalties.

Former referee turned broadcaster, Bill Chadwick, recalls Lindsay as "the toughest guy who ever played hockey." Chadwick added: "He never backed off from anybody. He had as many fights as any guy who ever played the game. When Lindsay took a penalty it was never a cheap one. It was for fighting or for giving it to some guy in the corner of the rink."

Lindsay played on the famed "production line" with Sid Abel and Gordie Howe. In six seasons he trio racked up a total of 458 goals.

This is the seventh season at Florida State for basketball coach Hugh Durham.

Paladins Fall To Wayne Team

GOLDSBORO — Wayne Community College rode the foul line to a 70-63 victory over Pitt Technical Institute last night.

Wayne cashed in on 14 of 28 free throws, while Pitt made just one of five chances during the game. "I know we didn't play that rough," Coach Bob Turner said afterwards.

Pitt Tech outthru Wayne, 62-56, from the floor.

Wayne rang up the first three baskets of the game to take a 6-0 lead, and after that, it was mostly exchanging shots for the two teams, as Wayne held onto the lead for most of the half. They finally held a 38-30 edge at intermission.

In the second half, Pitt Tech rallied and closed the gap to within two points, 46-44. But Wayne began to collect from the line and move over the Paladins zone. They shot out by 10, 60-50, and then upped that to 15, 67-52, before the Paladins switched to a man-to-man and started coming back.

But time worked against Pitt Tech, and their drive was finally cut off by the clock.

Charles Jordan led the Paladins with 18 points, while Frank Brown had 14, Henry Beaman had 10 and Richard Harrison had 15. For Wayne, Hill hit 20 and Thompson had 19.

Pitt Tech, now 5-7, plays host to Coastal Carolina Community College on Thursday.

Boys Club Gets Wins

The Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball teams of the Boys' Club of Greenville and Pitt County played host to the Raleigh Boys' Club here Saturday. This was the first game of the season for the Greenville Boys' Club teams.

The JV team, coached by Cohen Wesson and Fred Watson, showed great strength against the smaller, hard-driving Raleigh team. The Greenville club took an early lead and won handily 35-13. Three of Coach Wesson's boys hit in the double figures: Reginald Peterson, 11; Jackie Payton, 10; and Willie Pierce, 10.

The Varsity team, coached by Mike Tatum and Al Harris, also showed much promise. Playing against a larger, more experienced Raleigh team, the Greenville boys would not give up in the closing seconds of the game; coming from behind they won 33 to 31. High scorers for the Boys' Club Varsity were James Willoughby with 14 points and Jeff Daniels with 8.

Buc Swimmers Blitz Monarchs

East Carolina University's swimming team thrashed Old Dominion, 102-11, yesterday afternoon, achieving a complete shutout.

The Pirates took both relays, and first and second place in each of the 11 individual events while Old Dominion failed to get anything but the required 11 third place finishes.

Five meet records were set, however, despite the fact that most of the Pirate Swimmers were not swimming their specialties. The marks came in the 50-yard freestyle, the 200-yard individual medley, the 200-yard butterfly, the 100-yard freestyle and the 200-yard breaststroke.

The Pirates, now 9-2 overall, play host to Catholic University on Wednesday.

Summary:
400 medley relay: East Carolina (Hughes, Kohler, Kemp, Hadley), 3:50.8.
1,000 freestyle: Prince (EC), 21:05.7.

Rose Matmen Win In Finale

Rose High School's wrestlers closed out the regular season last night with a 31-22 victory over the Kinston Vikings.

The win was only the second of the year for the young Rampants, and their first against conference competition.

The Rampants took victories in eight of the 13 matches, with Kinston taking five. Rose won the first three to build up a lead, and they never lost it, although Kinston pulled within three of them midway through the match.

Each team won two matches by falls.

The Rampants, who enter the Division II wrestling tournament this weekend in Goldsboro, ended the season with a 2-12 record.

Summary:
101: Tommy Manning (R) pinned David Collins, 3:39.
108: Alton Hansley (R) decided Scott Taylor, 15-2.

Proctor, Skillet Still Deadlocked

Proctor's and The Skillet each got victories to remain tied for the lead in the City Basketball League last night, but Coca-Cola lost and fell from the pack atop the loop. Proctor's beat Buccaneer Club, 80-43, Happy Store beat Coca-Cola, 70-62, and The Skillet nipped PigglyWiggly, 63-62.

In the opener, Proctor's doubled the score on the Buccaneer Club in the first half of play, gaining a 36-18 lead. They came back to outthrust them, 44-25, in the second half to win going away.

Gene Rackley led Proctor's with 25, while Greg Copeland had 16, Gary Hess had 12 and Mike Phillips had 10. For the Buccaneer Club, Kyle Toothman had 13, and Bruce Mayo and Amos Jordan each had 10.

The Happy Store built up a 34-25 lead over Coca-Cola in the first half and rode that to the victory. Coke outthrust them, 37-36, in the last period, but it wasn't enough.

Ray Peszko led Happy Store with 35, while Greg Crouse had 16. For Coke, Milan Djordjevic had 20, Chris Dominick had 17 and Jim Moldin had 12.

In the other game, The Skillet eased out into a 29-28 lead in the first period of play. Both teams matched baskets the rest of the way, each scoring 34 points in the second frame, and Skillet held on to edge Piggly Wiggly.

Charlie Harris led Skillet with 21 points, while Moses Joyner has 11 and Tommy Whichard had 10. Lonnie Payton hit 21 to pace Piggly Wiggly.

Three Top Teams Bow On Monday

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

"The good Lord was with us," declared a thankful Coach Norm Sloan after his second-ranked North Carolina State Wolfpack remained undefeated by edging sixth-rated North Carolina 76-73 Monday night.

After trailing for most of the game, the Wolfpack overcame North Carolina's tenacious defense and deliberate four-corners offense, finally sealing the victory on a jump shot by Mark Moeller and a free throw by David Thompson in the closing seconds.

Others in the AP Top Ten were not as fortunate as N.C. State.

No. 4 Indiana was upended by Big Ten rival Ohio State 70-69 at Columbus.

No. 8 Missouri was ambushed by Big Eight foe Oklahoma 90-77 at Norman, Okla.

No. 10 Alabama dropped a 66-62 decision to Southeastern Conference rival Mississippi at Oxford, Miss.

N.C. State appeared headed for defeat, too, as the Tar Heels opened the second half on a 12-2 tear to take a 47-41 lead. Coach Dean Smith then ordered his Tar Heels into their famous Carolina Corners offense — putting men in each of the four corners of the front court with one man in the middle — hoping for the high percentage shots.

The strategy worked for a while, but with six minutes left State, buoyed by its home court fans, finally caught up at 67-67. The lead then changed hands six times till the end.

Allen Horyak gave Ohio State basketball coach Fred Taylor a welcome home present Monday night, sinking a free throw with five seconds remaining for the Ohio State triumph. It was Taylor's first game since resuming his coaching duties after being hospitalized for a week following chest pains Jan. 26.

Hornyak finished with 19 points for Ohio State, 9-7. Center Luke Witte added 18 points and 16 rebounds.

Steve Downing led Indiana, 14-3, with 22 points. The Hoosiers still lead the Big Ten with a 6-1 mark.

Freshman guard John Breathwit came off the bench to spark Oklahoma over Missouri.

After racing out to a 16-point lead, Missouri gradually cut it down to four with 11:03 remaining. But Breathwit hit jumpers from 25, 12 and 15 feet to keep Oklahoma on top, then sank

Davidson Tries To Gain On Paladins With Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Davidson's Wildcats will try to gain ground on front-running Furman and The Citadel's Bulldogs will try to strengthen their grip on third place in a pair of Southern Conference basketball games tonight.

The Wildcats, 5-1 in league play and 11-8 over-all, invade Virginia Military to meet the Keydets, who are 2-5 in the conference and 5-13 against all opposition.

The Citadel, 4-3 in the conference and 8-10 over-all, has a date at William and Mary against the Indians, tied with VMI in the league at 2-5 and winners of five of 19 over-all starts.

A 61-57 victory last Saturday by East Carolina's defending champion Pirates over Furman dropped the Paladins to 8-1 and left them vulnerable to an assault on first place by Davidson.

Similarly, East Carolina boosted its own league record to 5-5 and could tie The Citadel if the Bulldogs lose at William and Mary.

Both the Indians and Keydets have something at stake, too — avoiding a drop into a tie with Appalachian State's Mountaineers, who now hold down the

Coaches Unhappy Over Selections

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The two leading coaches in the American Basketball Association, preparing for tonight's All-Star game, say they are not satisfied with the way the players are picked.

The players for the teams are picked by the media.

East Coach Larry Brown of the Carolina Cougars told a news conference Monday he would like to have the teams picked by the media and the players in the league.

West Coach LaDell Andersen of the Utah Stars agreed, saying he felt factors other than scoring should be considered. He said the top 19 scores are among the 20 players picked for the game. He said it might have made a difference if overall performance had been considered.

Meanwhile, the coaches spoke of their plans for the game and ABA Commissioner Robert Carlson talked about merger with the National Basketball Association at the league meeting in conjunction with the game.

"I think we'll run a two-rotation system in the first half," said Brown. "I'll go a quarter with the starters and put the other five in for the second

Smith: Battle Lost, But Not The ACC War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith, taking "full responsibility for the defeat" 75-73 by North Carolina State Monday night, says a battle has been lost but not the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball war.

"I was extremely pleased to play the No. 2 team on its home court and still have a good chance in the final seconds. They still have to come back to Chapel Hill," he said.

The return game on North Carolina's home court will be on Feb. 27.

Smith acknowledged that two technical fouls called on him had cost the Tar Heels dearly. The first was for arguing about a call. The second was because the referee said Smith did not call time out or send in a substitute immediately when star guard George Karl fell and injured himself momentarily. Smith said the official should have given Karl a moment to clear his head.

Karl and North Carolina State's David Thompson tied for scoring honors with 22 points apiece.

The season's 17th victory for the undefeated N.C. State Wolfpack, and its seventh in the ACC, was achieved on a comeback in the closing minutes after the team had trailed most of the game.

Norm Sloan, State coach, said, "North Carolina was determined to win and they gave it a good try. During one stretch they just plain whipped us." This was when the Tar Heels outscored State 12-2 in the first four minutes of the second half and took a 47-41 lead.

Coach Smith returned the compliment, saying, "State did a great job. Burleson (Tommy Burleson, State's 7-foot-2 center who scored 21 points) isn't supposed to hit fall away jump shots from 15 feet, but he was hitting them tonight. I can't say enough about our players and how well they played."

North Carolina is 16-4 and 4-3 in the league.

With six minutes left, Burleson, Monte Towe and Mark Moeller pulled the Wolfpack even at 67-67. The lead then changed hands six times in the final frenzied minutes before N.C. State sealed the game on a jump shot by Moeller and a

Heels Are Up; Terps Are Down

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The membership of college basketball's Top Ten club remained unchanged today from last week but except for top-ranked UCLA and No. 2 North Carolina State there was considerable shuffling of positions.

Long Beach State, fourth last week, moved into third place in The Associated Press' poll of sports writers and sportsasters as Maryland lost twice and tumbled to ninth.

Indiana remained fourth. But Minnesota jumped to fifth from ninth; North Carolina moved up from eighth to sixth; Marquette advanced from 10th to seventh; Missouri fell from seventh to eighth; and Alabama fell from sixth to 10th.

UCLA again was an easy first choice. The Bruins, who beat arch-rival Southern Califree throw by Thompson in the closing seconds. The victory was secure when Karl stepped out of bounds and turned the ball over with six seconds left.

Up to the final moments, North Carolina controlled the tempo with a zone defense and a four-corner offense, a deliberate offense that looks for percentage shots. The Tar Heels went into this formation shortly after their hot-streak at the opening of the second half.

It was the second time in three days that State had eked out a close victory against such a strategy. Virginia tried it Saturday and lost 64-59.

"I see it as a compliment to us," Sloan said. "They're saying they can't beat us playing a normal game. The Good Lord was with us. North Carolina played a superb game. I'm proud of our players for hanging in there."

With 12 seconds left to play, State, leading 74-73, got the ball on a steal by Thompson, and Towe began bringing it upcourt.

Karl ran into him for what newsmen thought was a deliberate foul, but the referee called charging on Towe and he went out of the game on fouls, the only man to foul out.

"When I hit the floor," he said, "I thought I had cost the team the game. I was glad the referee wasn't within range, or I might have said something that would have added a technical."

Prepshirt, GUCo Win

Greenville Utilities and Prepshirt gained victories in the Industrial Basketball League last night. GUCo downed Union Carbide, 88-69, and Prepshirt beat the Post Office, 46-39.

In the opening game, Greenville Utilities moved out early and built up a 10-point spread during the first half, 44-34. They came back with a 44-35 advantage over Union Carbide in the second half to wrap it up.

Donald Chase led GUCo with 26 points, while Henry Crumble had 24, Zeno Smith had 18 and James Ward had 12. For Union Carbide, Larry Daniels had 26 and Lewis Boyd had 16.

Prepshirt also pushed out into an early lead, building up a 27-19 edge by the half. The Post Office was able to outthrust Prepshirt in the second half, but only by 20-19, and that wasn't enough.

William Johnson led Prepshirt with 20 points, while Donnie Taylor had 10 to pace the Post Office.

MIDWINTER GETAWAY?

IT'S GREAT to get away from winter weather for awhile. If you are one of the lucky ones planning a vacation this winter, we want to wish you a good time.

WE'VE GOT A COUPLE of suggestions for you before you leave. First, we'd be happy to send you the newspaper every day at your vacation address. That way you'll stay up on the news from home while you're basking in the sun.

ALSO, YOU'LL WANT to stop home-delivery of your newspaper for the time you are away. If you like, your newspaper carrier will even save the copies and deliver them on your return.

ONE PHONE CALL to our circulation department can arrange for everything. Why not give us a call? Then start packing!

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

The 'Worry Clinic' 'Ghosts' In A 2nd Marriage

Lola's sex dilemma shows a definite difference between a man vs. a woman when they marry a second time. Wives, be on guard! Second husbands face a much more serious "ghost" than you do in the boudoir! Use that sex booklet below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.
CASE W-159: Lola B., aged 34, faces a common sex dilemma. "Dr. Crane," she began, "This is my second marriage. "My first husband and I were quite happy, but he got killed in an automobile wreck. "So I went back to teaching. "That's where I met my present husband, for he was the school's principal. "We dated for almost a year before he finally proposed. "For he was a bachelor and rather jittery about forsaking all those supposed freedoms that he would surrender after the wedding. "Our marriage was rather good except for the fact he appeared jealous of my dead first husband. "And during the past few months, he seems to be infatuated with a senior high school girl in the school. "He knows that dating between faculty and students is taboo, but he has sneaked out to a drive-in movie with this girl on several occasions. "What can I do to save our marriage and also his job as principal, for the School Board would force him to resign if they knew about his romance with this teen-age student?"

Fighting Ghosts
Repeatedly I have warned you

True enough, but the battle with that ghost of the former wife is not as severe as is the second husband's feud with the image of his former male rival. Why? Well, wives are relatively passive in the boudoir. So a second passive wife knows her former rival can't "out-passive" her sexual participation. But the male role in the boudoir requires aggressive, active initiation of such romancing. And competition is obviously linked with two "active" roles instead of two "passive" roles. Besides, most husbands hold the wrong notion about a wife's ardor and figure she MUST be passionate. So when she reacts with the normal wife's passivity, her new mate soon imagines her former husband was a much more virile lover. Lola's bachelor mate also feels he can more confidently strut his stuff before an inexperienced teen-ager without her making such odious comparisons with some other virile male! Lola must reassure her frightened mate by feigning extra ardor and making him feel SUPERIOR erotically to her first husband! Send for my booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

East realized that cashing out promptly was of the essence in defending against South's four heart contract. His main problem, however, was in deciding how many tricks to try for in each suit.

North's opening one no trump bid was standard, consisting of 17 high card points, protection in three suits and a high honor in the doubleton. South was willing to gamble out a game with a semi-solid seven card suit and, since he was not interested in no trump, he proceeded directly to four hearts.

West opened the ten of spades and the ace was played from dummy. The ace of hearts was cashed and the deuce was led to declarer's jack. When the defenders followed to both rounds, the trump situation was cleared up. South led a spade next and put in North's nine.

East was in with the queen, and he paused for a moment to reconstruct his

Finish Burying Steel Drums

BARROW, Alaska (UPI) — An oil industry crew has completed crushing and burial of more than 8,300 steel drums gathered from the North Slope tundra during the past two years. The barrels were left by oil exploration crews during the last 50 years. The burial pits will be covered over and reseeded with tundra grass. The cleanup campaign, which began in the fall of 1969, cost about $100,000 and was paid for by oil companies. San Diego, Calif., is home port for about one-fourth of the Navy's active fleet.

Who, Where, What, When...Why?

Who comes to mind in discussions of press credibility? You, our readers, that's who. Where is credibility mandatory? In these pages, that's where. When? Every day. Why? Because this newspaper's mission is to help you open a window to the world with factual, balanced and meaningful information you can depend on. "Press credibility" is nothing new, it's been our business for a very long time... and it's been the business of our news cooperative, The Associated Press, for 125 years. We're a member of The AP, world's largest news-gathering organization, and AP newsmen and newswomen go far for factual, on-the-scene reports. One AP man, Mark Kellogg, went all the way to the Little Big Horn River, in 1876, with Gen. George Armstrong Custer—and Kellogg didn't come back, either. That's just one indication of how long "press credibility" has been important to newspapermen.

Tourist Litter Kills Animals In Game Sanctuaries

By RAYMOND WILKINSON
NAIROBI (UPI) — Film containers, wrappers and other litter dropped by tourists are killing off some of the wild animals in Tanzania's Ngorongoro crater.

Buses and cars in Nairobi National Park are sometimes jammed almost bumper to bumper, prompting conservationist Michael Sawyer to liken the scene to "Brighton Beach on a national holiday."

Visitor impact—the effect the increasing number of tourists is having on the habits of wild animals and the terrain—is a new problem facing conservationists and government officials.

A decade ago, the number of visitors to East Africa's 16 major game sanctuaries was manageable but park tourists have increased tenfold to more than a half million. This figure will double in the next two or three years, according to tourist officials.

The results of research into this problem are still tentative, but it seems clear that change is being forced on the animals—especially the lion, cheetah and leopard.

"Don't Be A Killer"
Wardens say there are often so many vehicles in the Nairobi national park around 4 p.m., the traditional hunting time for many animals, that some are prevented from attacking prey. They often go hungry.

The Ngorongoro Conservation

Unit recently issued a bulletin which warned visitors: "Don't be a killer when you go into the crater. Animals are eating film packets and wrappings thrown away by visitors. You (too) will be a killer if you were to throw them away at any place within the conservation area."

The terrain, too, is suffering from the visitor influx.

Experts say each time the wheels of a tourist bus cut through natural grasslands in search of game, it will take one month for the grass to recover. If another vehicle uses the same track, it will take three months.

A third time and track is probably permanent. Eventually, the area may become a dustbowl, denuded of grass and animals.

It seems probable that in the next few years governments will restrict the number of daily visitors to national parks. They will take the decision reluctantly because the tourist dollar is paying an increasingly important role in depressed local economies.

P.M. Olindo, director of Kenya's National Parks, is hopeful that the "parks system in this country has a bright future" but he also concedes the problems.

"We have recognized the advent of the jumbo jet age and a decision to restrict visitors into the parks is becoming increasingly urgent," he said. Ensure Eco-Systems

He said he hoped the government this year would enact legislation to "ensure that the habitats and ecosystems on which our animals depend are not ruined by minibuses crowding round a lion or cheetah."

"What is referred to as a 'wonderful day' by the tourist who has spent an hour around a lion is, in effect, most detrimental to the very existence of the species concerned, since the animals can neither feed nor involve themselves in activities to regenerate their kind."

The four areas feeling the tourist impact most are the Nairobi Park and Amboseli in Kenya and the Serengeti and Ngorongoro Crater in Tanzania.

Experts predict they will become little more than "open zoos" unless something is done shortly to check the tourist flood.
