Nixon Urges Action On Resources Needs

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, urging Congress to act promptly on 19 backlogged bills to promote the environment and the nation's natural resources, said today the costs of fighting pollution should be reflected in consumer prices and "not in the federal budget."

At the same time, Nixon said in a special message that "because there are no local or state boundaries to the problems of our environment, the federal government must play an active, positive role." He continued:

"We can and will set standards and exercise leadership. We are providing necessary funding support. And we will provide encouragement and incentive for others to help with the job."

After calling for enactment of 19 measures he proposed in the last Congress, dealing with topics ranging from safe drinking water to disposal of hazardous wastes, the President called for a basic new farm bill that would reduce federal subsidies and leave more decision-making to farmers.

"We must reduce the farmer's dependence on government payments through reduced returns of sale of farm products and home and abroad," he said, and termed present dairy supports and wheat, feed grain and cotton allotments "drastically outdated."

Setting forth guidelines for the fashioning of programs in the environmental-natural resources area, Nixon said the first need is to "strike a balance" between ecological and conservation interests and economic growth.

This was the President's second statement in two days on the environment.

Wholesale Prices Continue To Soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose sharply in January for the second straight month, largely because of increases in prices of farm products, the government said today.

The report presaged large increases in consumer prices. Likely, the sharp advances in wholesale prices will be reflected soon in the Consumer Price Index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Wholesale Price Index went up by 1.3 per cent in January on an unadjusted basis and 1.1 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis. Despite the huge increase, the rise was less than the similarly sharp increases in December.

The BLS said that prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds rose by 3.3 per cent, or almost 40 per cent at an annual rate. With the seasonal factors taken in, the rise in prices of farm products was 2.9 per cent.

Despite the big increases in farm and food prices, the report showed that prices of industrial commodities rose less sharply. The industrial commodities index is regarded as one of the most sensitive gauges of inflation in the economy.

According to the report, prices of industrial commodities went up 0.5 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 0.3 on a seasonally adjusted basis.

But this was still an acceleration from the rise in prices of industrial commodities, and represented the largest one-month rise since November.

The BLS said that consumer finished goods went up 1.6 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 1.4 per cent on an adjusted basis. The report was the first issued since President Nixon dropped most mandatory wage-price controls on Jan. 11. But the administration had expected some bulge in prices in the early part of its Phase 3 wage-price restraints.

The BLS said the increases in farm products could be blamed on "the effects of severe weather and exceptionally strong export demand ..."

Budget Hearing Is Ended

RALEIGH (AP) — The Joint Appropriations Committee of the North Carolina General Assembly wound up hearings Wednesday on additional budget requests.

Rep. Carl Stewart, D-Gaston, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said state agencies had asked for a total of $713.2 million above the $5.3 billion budget recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission.

Stewart said in an interview that the total "does not include the many bills that have been introduced calling for special appropriations."

He predicted that by the time all bills and money requests are in, the amount will exceed $1 billion.

Stewart said many cuts obviously will have to be made, and added "the first series of cuts" will come when the budget is turned over to five appropriations subcommittees today.

Stewart said he expects the budget measure to move from the full committee to the House and Senate floor about May 1. Legislators are aiming for a May 15 adjournment.

Signing Hijack Treaty

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S.-Cuban agreement to curb air and sea hijacking goes into effect this morning with simultaneous signing ceremonies here and in Havana.

The 11:30 a.m. time was set at Cuba's request, with Secretary of State William P. Rogers acting for the United States and an unnamed Cuban official signing a separate text in Havana.

Although the exact text was kept under wraps prior to the actual signing, U.S. officials Wednesday night confirmed the basic effects as reported earlier by The Associated Press.

These included provisions for prosecution or extradition of persons charged with hijacking a plane or a ship and a U.S. pledge to enforce its neutrality laws barring use of American property or soil to harass Cuba.

The pact is not retroactive and will not affect hijackers who already have fled to one country or the other.

In addition, the United States retains its traditional policy of accepting as a political refugee a person who arrives without having endangered the crew or passengers of a ship or plane.

This had been a problem in the 2½ months of negotiations. Cuba originally wanted the agreement to cover such acts as the seizing of a crewless or passengerless craft.

Forty More Freed POWs Arriving On Coast Today

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
Associated Press Writer
TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Forty more liberated American prisoners of war arrive here today, following the joyous Valentine's Day arrival of 20 men who had been in Communist hands for as long as eight years.

"For over seven years that I was a prisoner of war, I never shed a tear. In the last two days, I've shed many tears — not of sadness, but of joy," was Lt. Col. Harlan P. Chapman's homecoming comment.

The Fremont, Calif., officer, the first returning Marine, was among the first planeload of former POWs to arrive Wednesday at Travis, the jumping-off point for 2.2 million fighting men over the past decade.

Two other former prisoners arrived home Tuesday under less happy circumstances — to go to the bedsides of seriously ill mothers.

The 40 former prisoners of war arriving today are to be aboard two aircraft making the long trans-Pacific flight from Clark Air Base in the Philippines. The first is scheduled to land at about 1 p.m. EST and the second two hours later.

It was a subdued, military-like but emotional homecoming at this sprawling base 50 miles northeast of San Francisco on Wednesday — the low-key reception President Nixon had requested.

A cheering, flag-waving crowd of 2,000 — mostly base personnel and military families — greeted the homecoming plane from behind rope barricades.

Three of the former prisoners embraced their wives as they stepped from the plane. The others continued on by military limousine or hospital plane to waiting families at 10 military hospitals in five states.

Led by Navy Capt. Jeremiah A. Denton, the returnees emerged one by one from the C141 hospital plane that had brought them from the Philippines via Hawaii. Their names were announced over a loudspeaker system.

Asked what kept the prisoners going through their long ordeal, Denton, a prisoner of war for seven years and nine months, said:

"I believe over 99 per cent would say it was faith in God and, second, faith in country. I don't mean to put country second. I simply mean that communion with God was improved by the rigors of our experience."

Acting as spokesman, the 48-year-old father of seven children from Virginia Beach, Va., said the men were happy, healthy and "a little stunned" in anticipation of being reunited with their families.

The general public was banned from the base, but about 2,500 of the 12,000 civilian and military personnel who work or live on the base crowded into a roped-off spectators area outside the terminal.

Voice Of Former POW Son Is Heard By Mother

WINTERVILLE — Mrs. Delphia Hardy of Rt. 1, Winterville heard the voice of her son, Maj. William Hardy, last night for the first time in more than five and a half years.

Her former Viet Cong prisoner son called her from Clarke Air Force Base in the Philippines, where he is waiting to be dispatched to the arms of his wife, Theola, and his mother. The two women will meet him in Georgia whenever they "get the word."

"He sounded just the same as always," his mother said, "— real strong."

"He told me not to worry about him, that he is in good health. He said he's just proud to be coming home."

Mrs. Hardy said her son spent almost the entire 15-minute conversation asking about all his brothers and sisters and many of his friends.

"He said he'd see us in a few days," Mrs. Hardy said. "I was just thrilled to death to get that call."

Maj. Hardy had called his wife, who lives in Fayetteville, earlier, his mother said. The other area POW, Air Force M. Sgt. Billy Robinson of Robersonville met his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson, and his sisters, Mrs. Jackie Robertson and Mrs. Ginger Hux, in the early hours of today at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D.C. He is to spend an indefinite period at Malcolm Grow Medical Center near Washington.

Pitt Principal Is N.C. Winner

FARMVILLE — Russ Cotton, principal of Farmville Central High School, has been named

North Carolina's Outstanding Young Educator and is now eligible for national competition.

Cotton was nominated by the Farmville Jaycees.

A graduate of Davidson College and East Carolina University, Cotton is currently in his fourth year as principal of Farmville Central. Prior to coming to Farmville, he taught for three years in Taylorsville.

He is married to the former Sandra Brinson Harper of Arapahoe and they have two children, Kimber Leigh and Rusty.

Cotton is active in the Farmville United Methodist Church and is presently serving as president of the Farmville Kiwanis Club.

The national contest will be held in Minnesota in June.

Egyptian Jet Downed In Fight

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli Air Force planes shot down an Egyptian MIG21 jet in a dog-fight over the Gulf of Suez today, the Israeli military command announced.

It was the first aerial combat between Israel and Egypt since last June and only the second since the August 1970 ceasefire.

An Israeli spokesman said the Israeli jets were on a reconnaissance flight over the gulf when they were intercepted by several MIGs.

Recreation Commission OKs Use Of Stadium For Horse Show

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
The use of Guy Smith Stadium for a horse show in July and a recommendation that the Hardee property be named the Jaycee Park were two major actions approved by members of the Greenville Recreation Commission Wednesday night.

Roy Tripp, spokesman for the Greenville Saddle Club, a non-profit organization, and speaking also for the Greenville Rescue Squad, presented the request seeking use of the recreation facility for a horse show on July 28. Tripp emphasized the type of show being planned for Greenville can be staged with only a very small section of the show ring being on the grassy area of the ball field.

Tripp explained that the Greenville Rescue Squad is co-sponsoring the horse show for the purpose of raising funds to take part in a national competition. Funds for the squad's participation in this event are not available from the city or county budgets, and must be raised by the members of the squad.

Profits realized, Tripp said, would be divided on a pro-rata basis based on number of workers from the saddle club and the rescue squad actively taking part. This, he said, would result in the rescue squad receiving about five-sixths of all proceeds realized from the event.

In approving the request, the commission stipulated a fee of $400 for use of the field for the event, and a $100 fee for clean up. The $400 is to cover the maximum amount of damage to the field that can reasonably be expected to take place. Basis for arriving at a fee is that of $300 charged by the Wilson Recreation Department, which has leased a facility for horse shows for the past 15 years.

Commission members also approved a two page list of regulations that can be used to cover any horse show to be at a recreation facility, including a one day or a two day show.

Bill Turcotte, a member of the Greenville Jaycees, asked the commission to consider the idea of naming the Hardee property the Jaycee Park. The property, located adjacent to Eastern Elementary School, as yet undeveloped and unnamed, has been called the Hardee property based on the name of former owners.

Turcotte revealed the Jaycees propose, over a period of several years, contribution of material and labor to add improvements such as building picnic shelters, barbecue pits, and labor for work such as construction of bleachers. Such work, he noted, would always be accomplished in compliance with plans established by the Recreation Department and Commission.

The Jaycee spokesman mentioned several motives — primarily, that there is a need for more developed recreation land in Greenville. Other motives he named were those of hoping to inspire other clubs and groups to take a more active hand in similar support in community projects; and what he termed "our selfish motive", that of having the recognition of a park named for the Jaycees.

Commission members approved the idea, and will present it to the City Council, the body with the authority to name recreation areas in Greenville.

One member pointed out that the park at Elm Street Park was named Kiwanis Park in honor of work done there by members of the Kiwanis Club.

In a report on adult basketball leagues,

Recreation Department Director Boyd Lee said that the rotating system of scheduling league play for adult leagues had been very successful. Instead of league teams playing all their games in one place, each team has been playing alternately at all three sites — Elm Street, South Greenville, and West Greenville (the former Eppes School gym). Attendance reportedly has improved, with 250 spectators at one game, and an average attendance of 100 recorded for most games.

She Inches Into Real World After Rubella

(Editor's Note: Following is the second of three articles on how some brain-damaged youngsters are learning to lessen their handicaps.)

By EDWARD J. DOHERTY
NEW YORK (WNS) — Three very young boys and an 11-year-old girl we'll call Cheryl sit in a semicircle around the music teacher, who sings at the top of her lungs. The boys look joyous but Cheryl, who has a misshapen face and wears a hearing aid, simply looks blank.

Suddenly she grabs the teacher around the throat. The teacher winces but continues to sing and, after a few moments, the girl peals out in ecstatic laughter. She has "heard" with her fingers. Several adults in the room clap, and one brushes tears from his eyes.

This is the preschool which is part of the Rubella Project at New York University Medical Center—Bellevue hospital in Manhattan. The school accepts only multi-handicapped children struck hard by the rubella virus during their mothers' pregnancies.

"Cheryl is deaf and has poor sight. She is brain-injured and retarded," explains Mrs. Madeline Appell, educational director for the Rubella Project.

Barely Moved
"When she was brought to Bellevue last May she could barely move. She was on her back so much her head was flat. Her only sustenance came from a bottle. We had to teach her to eat, starting with mush. She was 11, but she looked about six."

Now she walks normally and shows signs of liveliness and intelligence. She joins the other kids in a circle around the music teacher, dancing to "Shoofly don't bother me." Later it's time to practice making sounds, using a lamp actuated by a microphone. "Um, um, um," she says, and the lamp flickers on and off. Again she laughs.

"It's a great day for Cheryl—her birthday," says Mrs. Appell. "We're having cake. And she'll be able to eat some of it!"

"We see so many children like Cheryl," Mrs. Appell went on. She pointed. "That tot over there is three. He was autistic, hardly ever moved when he first came. Now look at him." He was busily pushing an inflated ball twice his size.

Bellevue's Rubella Project is one of a number of on-going programs to get at the cause of congenital defects and to deal with affected children.

Rubella, or German measles, is an especially insidious disease. Its symptoms are usually slight, and one out of five women who catch it show no symptoms at all.

Multiple

But if it occurs during early pregnancy, the fetus will likely be infected and the baby damaged, often seriously. Frequently there is brain injury, or damage to hearing, speech, sight, the heart, the endocrine system, or the skeleton. Too often the damage is multiple.

"At the moment, there is no cure for the brain-injured child," explained Dr. Philip R. Ziring, a pediatrician who heads the medical and clinical operations of the Rubella Project.

"But it is quite clear, with some exceptions, that one hell of a lot can be done—provided the problems are detected early in life and if a

Give Married Man His Walking Papers

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a very wealthy married man for the last three years. I was married when we started seeing each other, but I got a divorce because he said if I were "free" he would divorce his wife and marry me.

He told me that he had not laid a hand on his wife for five years, now all of a sudden she's pregnant! [He explained it by saying he had to give her something for their last anniversary!]

I am wondering now if I am foolish to wait for him? He has children, and so have I. I quit work to be available to see him during the day, but there are days I never see him, and I am getting bored. He takes good care of me financially, but I am a young woman yet and need to know the future is secure.

I have had offers of dates with other men, but have stayed true to him. Please tell me if you think I'm being played for a fool. Or should I wait out his wife?

TIRED AND IMPATIENT

DEAR T. AND I.: Why don't you give HIM something for his anniversary? His walking papers. If it's security you're after, you won't find it with him.

DEAR ABBY: When you go to a restaurant and order a sandwich, and it comes with a few slices of pickle on the edge of the plate, are you supposed to eat the pickle? Or is it just there for decoration?

We took a survey at our school. Out of 125 students, 75 rejected the pickle, and 50 ate it [mostly with their fingers]. Can you just imagine all the pickles that are wasted in the city of New York alone? How would you vote, Abby?

IN A PICKLE

DEAR IN: With the pickle eaters.

DEAR ABBY: You have absolutely made my year! I have had 21 years of moans and groans because of the name I gave my youngest daughter. And then you come along and print a letter from a girl who at age 18 actually CHOSE that very name out of all the names in the world!

My thanks to you, and to Bethany Lyn Brown from the mother of another Bethany Lyn.

MRS. HULL

DEAR ABBY: I have read that the quality of one's voice changes with age, and I'm sure it's true. And that is my problem because my husband said to me the other day: "I can't help it, but your voice just grates on my nerves!"

I have always been considered a good conversationalist and my personality has been described as "bubbling." But now I am so self-conscious about my voice I don't talk any more than I absolutely have to. And when I do talk to my husband, I try to use different tones and pitches so as not to irritate him.

I would be very grateful to you or to any of your readers if this condition of mine could be improved. Thank you.

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: On the chance that your problem is medical, first you should see a throat specialist for a complete examination of your vocal chords. If you are healthy, a speech therapist or a voice coach might be very helpful. Your local college [speech or drama department] can make recommendations. And good luck!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Tough Cop Tactics Jar Peacekeeping Commission

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
SAIGON (AP) — Tough cop tactics of the South Vietnamese guards at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base are jarring the delicate peacekeeping machinery.

The Polish and Hungarian delegations to the International Commission for Control and Supervision are threatening to move their troops out of the commission's compound at the base and take up quarters in downtown Saigon.

Sources close to the commission say the Poles are furious because their chief delegate, Bogdan Wasilewski, has been stopped several times at the gates and required to show his identity cards although his car was flying the commission flag. Once, he was forced to let his car be searched.

The Hungarians, most of them senior officers in distinctive pointed caps, object strongly to having to pass through the guard posts of another nation, particularly one whose peacekeeping activities they are supposed to be monitoring.

Canadian officers in limousines and scout cars flying the red Maple Leaf flag have been delayed for as long as four hours at the main gate in almost invariably futile attempts to escort Canadian and U.S. journalists to their compound.

"I try to hang as much shoulder out the window as possible every time I go past that guard point so they'll see the gold bars. But it doesn't always work," said a Canadian colonel.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese members of the Joint Military Commission say they complained this week to William H. Sullivan, visiting U.S. deputy assistant secretary of state for East Asian affairs, about their virtual imprisonment in a run-down barracks compound in a remote corner of Tan Son Nhut.

Since their arrival in Saigon, the Communist delegates to the four-party commission have let it be known that they welcome contact with Western journalists. The South Vietnamese government blandly insists it is not preventing anyone from contacting them inside their heavily guarded compound; but, every time a reporter approaches the gates, he is "detained" and his press credentials are lifted.

Pham Duong Hien, the government's press chief, told newsmen last week that the government had no objections to their making contact with the Communists at their compound. He assured them that their difficulties at the airport were the result of a "lack of coordination" between officials and the airport authorities.

Like the Vietnamese air force, Tan Son Nhut always has been a more or less independent center of power, politically apart from, and sometimes openly defiant of, the presidential palace and the downtown politicians.

Two North Vietnamese representatives of the Joint Military Commission ran into trouble today in Hue, where a dozen South Vietnamese surrounded their car, beat on it with bamboo sticks and wet one of the men with some sort of liquid thrown into the car. The assailants backed away when an escort of South Vietnamese MPs got out of their car, and the North Vietnamese were not hurt. They lodged a complaint with the International Commission.

The Vietnamese in Hue are particularly bitter against the North Vietnamese because of the massacre of thousands of civilians there by the Communists during the 1968 Tet offensive.

The United States asked the Saigon government today to investigate Communist charges that tear-gas grenades were fired into their compound at Tan Son Nhut Wednesday night. A North Vietnamese spokesman said about 60 tear gas shells hit the compound and about 60 members of the Viet Cong delegation were affected.

A South Vietnamese spokesman claimed that the incident involved mosquito spray, not tear gas, and said it was "a very funny story."

The Saigon government released hundreds more Communist prisoners today in Quang Tri Province below the demilitarized zone and at Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon. It was the fourth day of prisoner releases.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, reported that more than 2,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been released, including more than 600 women Viet Cong. He said the Communist side has released more than 700 South Vietnamese soldiers.

Hien also reported there were 171 Communist violations of the cease-fire during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today, with 219 Communist troops and 54 South Vietnamese killed, 244 government troops wounded and 20 South Vietnamese missing.

Add Donations To Loan Fund

The scholarship and loan fund of the Department of Physical Therapy, School of Allied Health and Social Professions at East Carolina University received donations from Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Arrington of Red Springs, N.C., and Mrs. A.A. Holland of Dillon, S.C.

The donations were in memory of the Arrington's daughter, Linda Fay Arrington, who was a member of the first class of Physical Therapy students at East Carolina University, and was fatally injured in an automobile accident.

The biggest carpet extravaganza we have ever had in our Greenville store. Hurry in while selections are complete.

We're celebrating George Washington's Birthday, and just everyday great values won't do. We wanted to come up with something that would really say "Happy Birthday, George." So we thought and thought and worked and worked. "Say, how about a one time deal on carpets?" our Sales and Merchandise manager said . . . finally. "Howbig a deal can you make?" we all asked "Well, really, really big." "O.K. make it," our management staff cheered in unison. And so we now have, until Monday evening, the biggest collection of rugs at the lowest prices we have ever had in this store in our six years plus of operation. The manufacturer is rolling in a truckload for this special event. After Monday, should any be left, he will pack them up and head back for his home. Better measure your rooms and come running in. The values are really great.

Group I

Medium size rugs from 4' x 6' to 5' x 8'. These will be ideal for foyers, hallways and other areas where only partial floor coverage is desired. These are all made of heavy, sturdy carpet remnants in one-piece construction with bound edges.

10²²

Group II

We have a splendid assortment here for you. Most of these rugs range in size 10' x 12' to 11' x 12'. You will find rugs of these sizes to be excellent for bedrooms and dens. With cold weather around, the children will be on a warm carpet instead of a cold bare floor. The carpet material used in all of these rugs is of excellent quality with firm sturdy backings.

Group III

This group contains our very largest rugs for living rooms and family rooms. These rugs vary from 12' x 12' to 12' x 15'. Please compare these with rugs normally offered in this price range, and you will notice the difference immediately. There is nothing flimsy about any of them. Actually, this type of carpeting is normally sold on a "by-the-yard" basis for wall-to-wall installations. Our manufacturer binds the edges and they are ready for you to put down yourself and pick up and take with you should you move.

66²²

Group IV

We are not really sure what all will be in this group as we go to press. All we know is that we will have a group of small scatter rugs of one-piece construction. These should be great to use in doorways, in front of fire places, etc. Whatever they are, they will be a bargain at this low price.

Improving Residential Areas

Two recent actions by city boards had to do with improving residential areas within the city.

Housing Authority Chairman Woody Crumpler signed contracts for construction of low rent housing in the Newtown area. The housing will be constructed in what was once a slum area. The Redevelopment Commission cleared the land and made it available to the Housing Authority for low rent housing.

Then last week the City Council approved a resolution and cooperation agreement between the city and the Redevelopment Commission for the proposed redevelopment plan for the Southside Urban Renewal project.

This Southside project involves upgrading of the area, rather than a clearance type project. It was reported that 136 structures in the area can be renovated, while 138 are considered beyond repair.

Cost of the project will run an estimated $3,125,000 with the city's one-fourth share to be around $781,000. Most of this will be provided through street and other public works.

Greenville has made great progress in cleaning up some bad housing areas during the past decade. The Newtown area is being completely replaced with modern low-rent housing. In the Southside area much can be retained and improved, but the worst of the housing there will be removed and replaced with better housing.

If the city stringently enforces its housing ordinances now on the books, there is hope that areas of the city will not deteriorate in the future as they have in the past. In the meantime, projects such as Newtown and Southside will help us reach acceptable standards for local housing.

Reach-Out By The Community

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — The helping community reaches out to those who need help, even those who have rejected the community.

"How else are they to find a way back?" asked Fred Morrison, president of the North Carolina Jaycees.

"Young men go into prison with a bitter feeling. Maybe you can't blame them," he said. "But you have to Jaycee chapter, was attending the annual Jaycee governmental affairs program in Raleigh when he slipped away from the corrections officer accompanying him and made his escape.

The incident may have thrown a negative light on the program, Morrison admitted, but it did not discourage either Jaycees or state officials in their support for it.

Both Gov. Jim Holshouser and David L. Jones, state secretary of social rehabilitation and control, in later speeches to the meeting urged continued efforts in the corrections area. "They told us not to let cynics discourage us, nor an apparent failure cause us to slacken our efforts," Morrison reported.

One Who Made It
The contrast to Jarrette's escape was an award presented to John D. Campbell, a former inmate and now a counselor at Sanford Advancement Center. He was cited as "Rookie of the Year" among correctional employees.

Campbell was charter president of the Jaycee chapter at Central Prison. Through Jaycees he made the transition from a cell to an office on the corrections staff.

Some prison officials see signs the Jaycee movement is breaking down the "convict code" under which inmates tended to band together against guards and the outside world.

The chapters build a bond between inmates who belong and also with their fellow club members on the outside, Morrison explained.

An illustrative incident occurred at the Asheboro corrections unit. A member of the Jaycee chapter was stabbed while trying to break up an argument between two other inmates. Other unit Jaycees cornered the offender, then conducted a search of the unit for weapons which turned up three knives and other items, all turned over to unit officials.

"That sort of thing was unheard of in the past," Morrison commented. Penal chapters are only part of the Jaycee involvement in reform of the corrections system with emphasis on rehabilitation, Morrison pointed out. Support for changes within the system and job opportunities for those released are other aspects, he said.

Jaycees in prison conduct activities similar to those carried out by clubs on the outside — raising money for community causes, improving recreation opportunities, enhancing the environment.

Most important, Morrison said, is the channel for developing a sense of citizenship and working together that can lead them to a constructive life in society.

remember that practically all of them will be released some day.

"Do you want them returning to your community filled with hate and bitterness from having been outcasts and forgotten by society with a mind aimed at revenge and a life of lawlessness, or do you prefer that they return as men who have found that someone does care and as men who have been able, with your assistance, to correct their behaviour?"

The Jaycees answer to that rhetorical question is its program of chapters inside the correction system.

If the civic organization has something that develops citizenship values for men on the outside with every chance to make it, Morrison explained, it also can work for those inside whose need is so much greater.

At the start, it was a novel idea. No one knew whether inmates would respond to joining a group such as the Jaycees, or how successful outside chapters would be as sponsors.

Movement Spread Fast

The project quickly gained momentum. The first chapter was organized at Central Prison in Raleigh in 1967. Today there are 40 chapters with some 1,000 members in correction units throughout the state. That means about 10 per cent of the prison population is involved in Jaycee chapters.

North Carolina leads all other states in the extent of its program of Jaycee penal chapters, Morrison noted.

You don't bat one thousand playing with a team of losers, and you don't expect to, he said. "We don't say every inmate who becomes a Jaycee is going to make a model citizen. There have been failures, and there will be others," he observed.

"We do say he has a better chance, and he deserves a chance. You can't jeopardize for the sake of a few failures the good that can come for 1,000 others and for society."

Doors Are Opened For Plain Killers, Sadists

One of the sad things about a situation such as that in Northern Ireland is that it gives killers and sadists the opportunity to operate with impunity.

One of the sad things about a situation such as that in Northern Ireland is that it gives killers and sadists the opportunity to operate with impunity.

Some of the incidents that have occurred there during the nation's troubled times have sickened the world. Those perpetrating such acts in more settled nations would soon face justice.

In Northern Ireland, however, they get away with senseless killing, sometimes even emerging as heroes.

Happy Out Of The Spotlight

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — Bob Scott has been out of public office for about a month now, and he leans back in his chair and says: "I'm very happy about being a private citizen."

The former Governor is executive director of the Agribusiness Council, and he is serving as a consultant to community colleges across the state.

"It feels good to be involved in what is going on in the state in a non-political and non-governmental way," Scott told me in an interview. "I just finished giving a lecture at the Technical Institute of Alamance. I'll be doing some of this on a part-time basis. I find my work here at the Agribusiness Council and the consulting work with the community colleges to be stimulating and challenging."

The Scott family, which numbers seven, is also happy to be out of the spotlight for a change. He has one child in elementary school, four others in high school, all of whom are playing school basketball.

"No question about it," Scott said, "my family likes the private life much better. They're having a great time."

Mrs. Scott, used to cooks and servants and being waited on for four years in the Governor's Mansion, had to make an adjustment.

"She told me one of her big adjustments was getting used to cooking washing and ironing clothes for a family of seven," Scott said. "We don't have any domestic help, but the girls pitch in and help around the house."

"But my wife's happy. She's content with her role as a housewife. It's good not to have so many people around. Sometimes it's nicer just to be together as a family than to have all of those servants. We're enjoying the family life again."

Scott wouldn't talk much about politics, saying he'd prefer not to discuss what taxes the legislature ought to talk about. Gov. Jim Holshouser's start, saying: "I appreciated the fact that my predecessors didn't talk about me. I'm sure Gov. Holshouser has problems. All Governors do. But I've imposed a moratorium on myself not to talk about the Governor's administration."

Scott says the Democratic Party in North Carolina is aware now that "we need more unity among candidates nominated in the primaries. They must work more closely together in the future."

"A greater effort will have to be made by Democrats in the future," Scott said. "Of course, we have a Republican administration now and in the next gubernatorial election, the Democrats will be able to seize the initiative rather than having to be defensive."

Ana how about Bob Scott, who has spent most of his life in or around politics?

"Like I've always said,"

'Other Side' Of Airbag

WASHINGTON — In the ordinary course of events, a columnist is under no more obligation to argue "the other side" of a story than a plaintiff's lawyer is obliged to assist the defense. We pundits do not function as reporters, presenting all the facts, but as advocates, offering a point of view. In most controversies, both sides are thoroughly covered. There are exceptions; and one such exception is the airbag. The safety device has encountered strong criticism from car and driver magazines, from the American Automobile Association, even at high levels of the Ford Motor Company. I myself have joined the opposition chorus, chiefly on the grounds that the airbag regulation demanded by the federal Department of Transportation is no proper business of the federal government.

The side—the case for the airbag—has not had a fair shake. Because this controversy affects every person who drives an automobile or rides in one, the counter-arguments merit discussion. Let me speak for the defense.

The airbag, widely regarded as a complex device, is in fact relatively simple. It consists of four components. These are (1) an electric sensor that on major impact fires (2) an explosive cap that releases (3) a cylinder of gas which instantly inflates (4) a large nylon bag. Passengers who might be hurled through the windshield are protected by the cushion instead.

It is true that in two widely publicized demonstrations last year, known as the Fairchild-Hiller and the Wayne State tests, the airbags failed to inflate on impact. But these were handmade devices, not manufactured under the meticulous quality controls that since have been devised.

Of much greater significance, the defense contends, are the successful demonstrations conducted last month, not with plastic dummies, but with human passengers. In one of these, on Jan. 18, test driver Hal Needham smashed a 1972 Mercury head-on at 25 miles per hour into a 90-ton concrete barrier. Engineers say the impact was equivalent to a crash at 50 miles per hour into a parked car. The Mercury was effectively demolished, but neither Needham nor his passenger,

Holshouser, who has made sweeping administrative changes in the Highway Department, heard several requests for road construction. So much emphasis has been put on changes in the Highway Department, it may well be that Holshouser's term in office will be graded by its performance in highway areas.

One of the highlights of the day was a gift to the governor by a Cary housewife of a 105-year-old German Bible. The Bible was carried by the woman's great-grandfather in the Prussian war of the late 1870s and by her grandmother in World War I.

"I feel with all those people out there, you'll need it," she told Gov. Holshouser.

We believe this "People's Day" idea could be a great success.

Other Editors Say People's Day

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Gov. Holshouser is to be commended for his policy of "People's Day" at the Executive Mansion. These sessions will be held periodically and are, in simple words, public conferences — not news conferences.

These meetings are for the citizens of the state, at which they can air their complaints, offer advice or just chat with the governor.

Holshouser, who has promised a government open to public inspection, talked to 22 individuals and groups during a two-hour session in the morning and talked to 45 more people in the afternoon. Many had to be turned away at the end of the conference.

So apparently the people are interested in meeting face-to-face with their governor. This is good; it indicates interest in the problem of government, interest in improving conditions as the people see them.

One visit paid off in a highly successful way for one man. Thomas Harris, a Raleigh grocery warehouse employe, whose eight-month campaign to free his son from prison succeeded when Holshouser commuted the son's sentence.

"It's a wonderful thing," said C. D. Maxwell of Fayetteville. "If he holds to what he's saying, I think he's going to make us one of the greatest governors North Carolina has ever had."

And Mrs. C. E. Ladd of Durham echoed Maxwell's view of Holshouser: "I feel like he's going to be interested in the people, and hear our problems." She had gone to the governor to talk with him about seeking restoration of medical benefits for widows of retired servicemen.

Holshouser, who has made sweeping administrative changes in the Highway Department, heard several requests for road construction. So much emphasis has been put on changes in the Highway Department, it may well be that Holshouser's term in office will be graded by its performance in highway areas.

One of the highlights of the day was a gift to the governor by a Cary housewife of a 105-year-old German Bible. The Bible was carried by the woman's great-grandfather in the Prussian war of the late 1870s and by her grandmother in World War I.

Finest Actor Around

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The handout man hasn't been around today. He wasn't here yesterday. But you can bet he'll be around tomorrow—or the day after, for sure.

Sooner or later each week, and sometimes twice in a week, a shadow will fall across my desk, I'll look up and standing there will be the finest actor I've ever met—the handout man.

HAL BOYLE

And unconsciously, I'll reach in my pocket and handout two one-dollar bills to him.

The handout man isn't a professional actor. He's a middle-aged panhandler, growing old ungracefully, who has been haunting me for 20 years. In that time I figure I've handed him out maybe $1,500—enough to keep me in cheap cigars in my own old age.

I've known my handout men in my life, but none who has had the lasting quality shown by Jack, an itinerant Homer who acts out the roles he creates.

The main trouble with Jack isn't the money he takes from your pocket but the time he takes from your busy day while he tells his story and gives his performance. You break his heart and lower his dignity if you won't listen to his story and watch his performance before giving him his $2.

Each time they are different. One day he comes in dressed with the distressed charm of an oil salesman whose well has just run out of oil. This is when he tells you of the big job he almost landed but just missed, usually because of a conspiracy by his enemies.

The late Lon Chaney was known as "The man with a thousand faces." I think Jack has him beat by at least one role.

This day he's on crutches, the other day on a cane. Last week his daughter became a drug addict, and he's trying to raise enough money to get her off the habit. This week his son will

Strength For Today

SWITCHED ABOUT
Once in a while we find an individual whose organs are switched about in a most amazing and disconcerting fashion. Recently the newspapers carried accounts of such a man. Some people have one or two organs misplaced. This individual appeared to have all his vital organs misplaced. His heart was on his right side instead of his left. His stomach was turned about. The quirk of nature in his case did not leave a single organ in the place it usually occupies. He was all turned about and to all appearances was none the worse for his physical oddities.

This phenomenon frequently occurs in other areas than the physical. Some people are natural-born liars. Others steal from the time they are able to pick up objects and continue this way the rest of their lives. Others, like the converts about whom books have been written, started as evil personages and ended up as saints. The great Augustine of Hippo started out as a flagrant sinner and in the twinkling of an eye, as he read a certain book, was changed into a saint. A former friend called after Augustine one day as he walked down the street, "Augustine, Augustine," but the former sinner who for years had been notorious for his way of life called back over his shoulder, "This is not Augustine. Augustine is dead."

The switching of lives from goodness to evil and from evil to goodness—this has been observed through the centuries. But the switching about of one's organs—this appears to be a modern phenomenon. Or at least modern science is observing it for the first time.

U.S. Demands Equal Treatment

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The threat of a world monetary collapse, followed by a decline in trade that would undo many of the industrialized world's economic gains of the past 28 years, dictated the dollar devaluation.

But the new realignment of currencies, which greatly improves the competitive position of the United States, is just another episode of an unfolding epic in which the characters grow, develop, mature.

In the larger perspective, the United States today demands to be treated as an equal. Once banker-protector-teacher to the non-Communist world, it now insists that the role be shared by other nations of talent and power.

Europe's economic unity is progressing faster than many had foreseen. Japan is now a formidable power. These nations share our technology and understand sound management methods. They are competitive, even in U.S. domestic markets.

In brief, the United States is no longer unique, nor are its trading partners to be considered special.

As equals, the United States has been pressuring these nations to share economic and military burdens and to open their markets to American goods as American markets are open to theirs.

Restrictive market practices by European nations and Japan, some of them misplaced out of fear that the American economy was overpowering, a concept considered antiquated by U.S. officials, have helped produce the dollar's trouble.

The United States also is to blame, of course, because inflation was permitted to erode its competitive position by pricing goods too high for foreign purchase and, in effect, making foreign imports seem inexpensive.

But even this inflation can be traced to the enormous role the United States assumed in the post-World War II world — that of policing Europe and the Far East while trying to maintain economic progress at home. America learned the folly of continuing this role when it attempted what we now know was the impossible, a guns and butter economy, one in which we would spend heavily abroad and heavily at home.

These were the eventual results: Inflation got out of control; the payments deficit soared; for the first time this century we imported more than we exported. A corrective recession followed, but too late to prevent the first devaluation late in 1971.

That the United States was permitted to exact from its trading partners another 10 per cent devaluation — a substantial figure — suggests that the U.S. position has now been accepted widely, or at least that resistance has declined.

Lada Edmunds, was injured. The airbags inflated in the split second of impact and gave them complete protection.

Still more significant are the 'real world' tests that keep quietly rolling along. The Allstate Insurance Company, leading advocate of the airbag, will complete a year's testing of 200 Mercurys next month. In more than 4 million miles of travel, not a single accidental inflation has been reported. The experience of Ford and General Motors is the same. Several years ago, when the bags were first developed, critics complained that the explosive device went off with a bang that could rupture eardrums. This problem has been solved. Repeated test inflations, with human passengers, have turned up no impairment whatever.

It also was explained that the first systems worked only in head-on collisions. With swiftly advancing technology, airbags now will inflate on impacts up to 45 degrees on either side. General Motors, pleased with the mounting evidence of reliability, announced last week that airbags will be available as optional equipment on certain 1974 Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs. No price has yet been fixed, but the devices reportedly will cost more than a car radio, less than air conditioning.

In time, of course, the price will come down. But the price—whatever it proves to be—is the least important consideration. Some 55,000 persons die on the highways every year. Other thousands suffer serious injury. These appalling figures could be cut by 60 percent, it is said, once airbags are universally in-

Scott said, "I won't shut the door to any opportunities. But I've spent the last eight years of my life in public service. Before that I was with the N.C. Red China Seeks To Buy British 'Military' Planes

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP)—Peking has pitched London a diplomatic curve with plans to buy or build British planes that cost hundreds of millions of dollars and have military potential.

The British, hungry for sales that would revive their sagging aircraft industry, are enthusiastic about the deal but know it could upset both the United States and the Soviet Union.

Government officials reported that two propositions by the Peking government are under negotiation with the manufacturing companies concerned.

One is for the straight purchase of the Harrier, the world's only vertical-takeoff fighter, now operational with the Royal Air Force and the U.S. Marine Corps. The Hawker Siddeley Co. demonstrated its performance last month to visiting Foreign Trade Minister Pai Hsiang-kuo and his experts. An order of up to 150 planes could be involved, each costing about $2.4 million.

The other proposition foresees the building and assembly in China under license of a long-haul British jet liner, the VC10, powered by Rolls-Royce engines. The British Aircraft Corp., builders of the Concorde supersonic jet airliner, are aware that any such deal would allow the Chinese the chance to convert the high-tail, rear-engined VC10 to a military role.

Important national and allied policy decisions would be required to authorize these projects. The issues already are under top-level discussion between Prime Minister Edward Heath's government and the Nixon administration.

The official stance of the Foreign Office is that both sets of negotiations, for the time being, are the concern of the companies.

The matter of granting export licenses would arise only after the Chinese placed firm contractual orders.

The British have been weighing the issues with allied governments. The forum in which a final sanction would have to be obtained is a secret group based in Paris and known as COCOM, which stands for Coordinating Committee on Strategic Trade. Its members are all 15 countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Japan.

COCOM's main role is to insure that allied goods and raw materials with military potential are denied to Communist countries. But, on several important occasions when prized orders were at stake, COCOM has relaxed the rules.

Since the Korean War, the United States has been the driving force behind COCOM. Time and again, the British, Japanese, Germans and others have run into stiff U.S. resistance when they have sought to relax controls on strategic trade.

Real World...

full-service program for the child and its family is available.

It is "most difficult" to say what rubella often does to the brain, he explained. "We see every manifestation: Cerebral palsy-like symptoms; behavioral problems like autism and hyperactivity; central language difficulties even when there has been little or no hearing loss; perceptual problems."

Each child is different and has to be individually evaluated on the basis of his health and educational status. Then the parents must be told what kinds of programs are best for the son or daughter.

Progress

"We've seen progress with most of the children over the year," Dr. Ziring said. "In some with a poor prognosis, we've seen remarkable progress. So I feel that it is wrong for a pediatrician to give parents a discouraging outlook."

"Many kids, who might be written off, may well be completely different children two or three years later."

Treatment of these children has improved, he said, partly because of advances in knowledge and techniques in medicine and therapy, and partly because "people are learning to cooperate with one another: Multiple impairments make a kid complicated, so pediatricians are getting more sophisticated."

For the management of the damaged child the Rubella Project physicians follow a "multi-disciplinary" approach, using the vast medical and therapeutic resources of Bellevue.

The object, of course, is to give the child the best possible opportunity for a useful and happy life. One of the solutions for the child with a brain injury or retardation is to make the home and school part of the therapeutic team.

The development of a preschool on the Bellevue premises is part of that concept. For these severely handicapped children the school is a form of therapy as well as a social experience. Two dozen of them attend six hours a week for 11 months of the year, and they are under the close and constant attention of therapists, teachers—and their parents or guardians.

Attendance is mandatory for at least one parent or guardian, for one of the main functions of the school is to teach them how to carry forward the child's therapy at home.

Another Tax Relief Bill

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Yet another tax relief measure has been proposed in the North Carolina General Assembly—this one to reduce the state sales tax on food.

Rep. Glenn Jernigan, D-Cumberland, introduced a bill Wednesday that would reduce the food tax from three to two per cent, costing the state about $40 million in revenues over the next biennium.

Jernigan's bill will compete with measures previously introduced to repeal the soft drink tax, the tobacco tax, and the intangibles tax, and with Gov. Jim Holshouser's avowed intention to fight for repeal of the sales tax on patent medicines.

He said Wednesday that reduction of the food tax would be the "most direct way" to bring tax relief to the people.

The reduction would apply to almost all solid foods sold at the retail level. It would not apply to soft drinks, beer, wine, or candies, and it would not affect the tax on restaurant food.

Post Offices To Observe Holiday

The Greenville Post Office and East Carolina University Station will be closed Monday in observance of George Washington's birthday.

No window service, rural or city delivery will be provided Monday.

Mail will be delivered to post office boxes and special delivery mail will be delivered within the city limits.

A collection will be made from all street letter boxes bearing the white star and all outgoing mail will make the usual dispatch at 6:30 p.m.

A self-service postal center located in the lobby of the main post office should supply the needs of most postal customers.

Gospel Music Festival Sunday

The voices of Zion of York Memorial AME Zion Church will present a "Festival of Gospel Music" Sunday at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

Special guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Preston Williams and their son, Michael, of Greenville. Other performers include the Eveready Youth Chorus of Wells Chapel, The Gospel Singers of Greenville, and the Rev. Evonne Best and the Shoiner Singers of Greenville.

School Financing Problems Discussed At Session

Local school financing was the subject of a meeting of the Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian Church. Glenn Cox, assistant superintendent of schools, helped to answer questions in the meeting led by Mrs. Guy McClanahan. The breakdown of the Greenville city school budget was explained, along with broad budget categories, methods of raising necessary current expenses, is funded with school funds. One of the two the federal government contributing nine percent, the state 69 percent and local governments, 22 percent. Financing for capital outlay, the other major category which includes new buildings, remodeling old ones, and text books, has in the past been derived locally from a district capital outlay levy of 20 cents on each $100 property valuation. This levy raised about $200,000 last year.

However, for this year's budget the Pitt County Commissioners did not approve this levy. The county rate of 16.7 cents is still in effect.

With regard to federal funding, Nixon's cutbacks in federal aid for education would hit hardest those areas, like Pitt County, which depend heavily on federal financing. Furthermore, funds from revenue sharing are for the most part unavailable for public schools.

In the comparison of local school expenditures with those of other areas for 1970-71, Greenville and Pitt County fell below the North Carolina averages of $662.81 total per pupil expenditure and $115.28 locally raised per pupil expenditure. Greenville spent a total of $633.73 per pupil of which $105.65 was raised locally. Pitt County spent a total of $632.86 per pupil of which $44.23 was raised locally. The national average total per pupil expenditure was $770.53 for the same period.

In comparison with other districts in this area, Kinston, Rocky Mount, and Washington were ahead of Greenville in locally raised per pupil expenditures with $165, $155, and $120 respectively. These districts also exceeded the North Carolina average.

However, Cox pointed out that the Greenville city schools have improved over the past 12 years. Enrollment is up, the dropout rate down, and the curriculum upgraded.

It was also pointed out that the correlation between amount spent per pupil and the quality of education is very high; there are no cheap good schools.

According to Cox, the school board is now formulating the new school budget. Anyone with suggestions about the budget is urged to contact him now.

Finally, Cox advised those who would like to see an increase in local financing of schools should so inform the Pitt County Commissioners. "The County Commissioners are the men with the pocket book. They hear from people who don't want to pay taxes, not from those who are willing to go the extra mile."

The League of Women Voters will continue its study of local education at future public meetings.

Chicken is served in practically every country in the world.

No Retreat On Abortion Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Catholics have been warned by church leaders that they face excommunication if they undergo or perform an abortion.

"Those who obtain an abortion, those who persuade others to have an abortion, and those who perform the abortion procedure are guilty of breaking God's law," a pastoral message of the National Council of Catholic Bishops said Tuesday. Excommunication means that the subject cannot receive the sacraments.

A recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court had the effect of legalizing abortion.

Washington (AP) — Roman Catholics have been warned by church leaders that they face excommunication if they undergo or perform an abortion.

"Those who obtain an abortion, those who persuade others to have an abortion, and those who perform the abortion procedure are guilty of breaking God's law," a pastoral message of the National Council of Catholic Bishops said Tuesday. Excommunication means that the subject cannot receive the sacraments.

A recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court had the effect of legalizing abortion.

The bidding:
West North East South
4♥ Dble. Pass 6♣
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♥

West's preemptive bid of four hearts made it extremely difficult for his opponents to probe for their best contract. North's holding fully warrants a double and altho at this level it is intended primarily for penalties, partner is at liberty to take it out if he has sufficient distributional values.

South was unwilling to settle for whatever profit was available in defending against West's bid and since a scientific investigation could not be inaugurated at such an advanced level, he decided to gamble out a slam by proceeding directly to six spades.

West opened the king of hearts and South won the trick in his hand with the ace. The anemic trump holding in the dummy was a distinct disappointment to the declarer. He would gladly have traded one of North's minor suit kings for the king of spades.

South's sole concern was to limit his loss in the trump suit to one trick. The normal procedure with nine cards is to play the ace and then lead up to the jack. If the suit is divided evenly, or if East holds a singleton king or queen, the defense wins only one trick.

West's preemptive bid indicated that he had either a seven or eight card heart suit which made it unlikely that he held three spades. In fact, of the two defenders, he was the one more likely to be short in that suit. South decided therefore to make an unorthodox play in trumps which might improve his prospects if West had a spade honor.

The north hand was entered with the king of clubs and the jack of spades was led. Thinking that declarer was about to take a finesse, East covered with the king. South played the ace and West dropped the queen. The nine of spades dislodged East's ten and this was the only trick taken by the defense because South drew the seven of spades with the eight when he regained the lead and claimed the rest.

Perhaps East should not have covered the jack of spades, particularly since the trump suit appeared to offer the only prospect for the defense to score any tricks—however, declarer earns our praise for a well calculated play. Observe that, if West's lone spade is the ten, then the jack is the only lead that will enable South legitimately to limit his loss in the trump suit to one trick.

Studying New Grant Concept

Proposed federal legislation to give cities block community development grants rather than categorical grants is the subject of workshops scheduled during the next three weeks for city and county officials in North Carolina.

The workshops, it was announced, are being conducted by the Division of Community Services of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources at the request of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the local communities involved.

Under the program proposed by the president, cities would no longer receive funds for one specific purpose such as housing, but would be free to use the money for a number of projects under a general category. Urban renewal, water and sewer and other community development programs would be grouped into the single grant concept, it was explained.

Tom Peddicord of the Division of Community Services, said that if the legislation is passed, the mayors and councilmen will become involved in federal programs and make decisions concerning priorities for them. Much of the red tape involved in applying for federal money would be eliminated under the new program, he said.

City manager Bill Cartstarphen, Utilities director Charles Horne, and Mrs. Millie McGrath, Bill Dansey, Dr. Frank Fuller and John Taylor of the City Council will represent the city at the workshop scheduled for today and Friday in Washington. Assistant director J.C. Lamm is attending from the Redevelopment Commission.

Conley Boys, North Pitt Girls Advance

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer
LITTLEFIELD — Ayden-Grifton High School's gym reeked of upset last night. One of the four teams that finished in a tie for first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference, was knocked off while another one had to fight for its life in what looked for a while to be a second upset.

Eastern Wayne's boys, finishing in a tie with A-G, Greene Central, and D.H. Conley were surprised by an upstart North Lenoir team that came to play basketball. The Hawks almost lost as the Warriors pulled within two in the last quarter but North Lenoir hung on for a 55-50 win.

In the second game, the North Pitt Big Orange Machine rolled to another win as they bodped North Lenoir's girls, 47-25.

The other first place team that played last night, Conley, never had a commanding lead in the game and it took an overtime period for them to finally get the win over a tenacious North Pitt boys team that had at one point moved out to a nine-point lead. The Vikings caught them in the third quarter and eventually won the game.

Conley will next face the other winner of last night, North Lenoir, Friday night at nine o'clock while North Pitt's girls will play C.B. Aycock tonight at 9 p.m.

The opening period of the Warrior-Hawk game ended in a 12-12 tie. North Lenoir had taken the lead on a bucket from the lane by Mike Miller but Eastern Wayne's Henry Reid tied it at 2-2 laying one in from underneath.

The Hawks got it back on Johnny Atkinson's jumper from the corner and a basket by Roy Jones gave the Hawks a four point lead, 6-2.

Eastern Wayne struck back with buckets by D'agata Durham, Bobby Body, and Ron Coley to go in front 8-6 only to have Jones knot the score at 8-8 hitting from the outside. The lead changed hands again and Body's base-line jumper with :08 to go in the quarter tied it at 12-12.

Things turned around in the second quarter as the Warriors were cooled off for almost all the period only getting three points in the frame and those came in the last minute-and-a-half.

North Lenoir, meanwhile, was dumping in 20 points as they were sweeping the boards both offensively and defensively. At halftime it was 32-16, Hawks.

Eastern Wayne managed to make up for some of their lost ground in the third period as they outscored the Hawks, 15-8, to cut the gap to three points at the end of the quarter, 40-33.

The margin swayed back and forth from nine to five, back to nine and then down to two with 1:12 to play at 51-49. The Hawks put in four points in the last minute and held the Warriors to one to take the win.

Body led all the scoring with 28 points. Atkinson led the Hawks with 14, and Miller and David Hardy had 13 each.

The Pant-HERS streaked out to a 19-4 lead in the first period of the only girls game of the night and coasted the rest of the way. The score was tied only once when, after the Big Orange had taken the lead on Physiiss Jenkins swish, Doris Lee hit for the Lady Hawks making it 2-2.

That was as close as North Lenoir was to get as the North Pitt girls moved out to a 6-2 lead on a pair of scores by Minnie Hollis. Nedra Burney cut it down to 6-4 with a layup but Joy James hit two underneath, Hollis one from the lane and a free throw and Wanda Wichard hit from the land for a 15-4 score. James and Hollis scored again for North Pitt in the last minute for the 15-point gap.

North Pitt added four to their lead in the second quarter as they took it, 11-7.

The Pant-HERS continued to pull away in the third period dumping in nine to North Lenoir's four for a 38-15 lead. The last quarter was fairly close, 11-10 with the Big O taking the advantage.

Hollis made her presence felt with 19 points and James contributed 10. Marsha Cunningham had nine for the Lady Hawks.

Conley, however, did not have it so easy. They had a tougher time of it than did the Warriors. Only once in the first half did the Vikings tie it and that was in the first two minutes of play, 4-4.

The Panthers struggled ahead and held the lead until the third period when, with 6:07 left in the quarter, Rick Mobley sank a jumper to put the Vikings in front for the first time. The lead see-sawed back and forth and the last quarter the Vikings hung in and tap-in by Buddy Phillips with 1:12 left in the game gave Conley the lead. David Brown scored with five second on the clock to force the game into the extra period.

Ben Johnson put the Panthers up first as he scored from outside. Mike Sutton tied it at 2-all from the Conley corner only to see Johnson match it and put the North Pitt Boys back on top. Clennell Streeter dumped in a lay-up for the Vikings but a field goal by Brown and a free throw by Phillip Brown gave North Pitt a three point lead, 7-4.

Conley stuck right on the heels of the Panthers and the quarter ended with North Pitt in front, 11-8.

North Pitt built their lead in the second quarter and in a span of one minute from 3:41 to 2:40,

David Brown's three jumpers from the corner gave the Panthers a nine-point spread, 25-15. The Panthers put through 17 points in the frame while the Vikings added 11 for a 28-19 halftime score.

The Panthers did not come out looking for Conley to be fired up and fired up the Vikings were as they canned eight quick points to slip in front. Kervin Hawkins scored on a drive, 28-21; Streeter sank two free shots and Larry Daniels added a lay-up cutting the lead to 26-25. A blast from the corner by Mobley put the Vikings in front for the first time, 27-26, with 6:07 to go in the for Jamesville with five. In the boys' contest, Oak City did just the same, roaring away in the first period to build up a 15-2 lead. But Bear Grass outthit them in the second, although not enough to make a threat, 12-10. That left the Trojans well ahead at halftime, 25-14.

Oak City continued to pull away in the third quarter, outscoring the Bears, 12-9 to build up a 37-23 edge. Both teams knocked in 16 points each in the final period to end the game.

Robersonville, Oak City Win

WILLIAMSTON — The Robersonville girls and the Oak City boys, winners in their respective regular season races, advanced to the finals of the Martin County Conference Basketball Tournament with victories last night.

Robersonville ripped the Jamesville girls, 47-17, while Oak City rolled to a 53-39 victory over the Bear Grass boys.

In the girls' division tonight, Bear Grass will play Oak City, while the Jamesville boys and Robersonville boys play in the second game. The winners advance to Friday night's finals.

In the girls' game, Robersonville zoomed out to a 10-2 lead in the first period of play. Jamesville got cranked up in the second, but was still outthit, 9-8. That left the Eaglettes in a 19-10 lead at the half.

Robersonville again streaked away in the third quarter, dumping in 12 points, while Jamesville got only eight. That ran the margin out to 31-14. They finished the Lady Bullets off with a 16-3 advantage in the final period to wrap up the win.

Elaine Forrest led the Robersonville scoring with 12 points. Donna Williams was high him in these days of devaluation of the dollar—an opponent who looks good against him.

The former heavyweight champion of the world collected $275,000 for his Wednesday night fight against England's Joe Bugner who forced him to 12 full rounds before losing a close decision.

Muhammad went into the scrap at the Las Vegas Convention Center favored by 8-1 or more. In the seventh round, the 22-year-old Briton belted him with a right cross to the head which Ali reviewed with, "I was semi knocked out."

He didn't appear to be and won the round on the cards of all three judges. And he also won the final three to insure his victory.

Bugner looked clumsy at times but threw punches so willingly that Ali could never get any rhythm.

With the 1,500 Britishers in attendance among the crowd at the Convention Center, Bugner was the favorite and a return match between the European heavyweight champion and Ali in London could undoubtedly be a money maker.

And since George Foreman, the current champion, has shown no immediate inclination to meet Ali, who won the title nine years ago, big money fights are what he wants. And Joe Frazier, the only man to beat Ali in his 41-1 career, also seems unanxious for a return bout.

Loser Driesell Says Season Is In March

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina's sixth-ranked basketball team beat Maryland 95-85 Wednesday night, but losing coach Left Driesell said, "The season begins in March. I still think our chances are excellent, and I plan to finish up this year in St. Louis."

Maryland stole the ball three straight times in its late comeback.
Karl had 22 points, Elston 20, and sophomore Hoffman 12.
North Carolina now is 19-4 and has taken second place in the ACC on a 6-3 record, compared with N.C. State's 8-0.
Maryland is 16-4 and 4-4. All its losses have been to ACC teams, two to N.C. State and the others to Duke and North Carolina.
Driesell said, "I thought we did an excellent job coming back, but North Carolina played an excellent game. Their defense turned the game around early, and put us too far behind to catch up. Sometimes I wonder about this conference. I think there may be too much emphasis placed on winning."

Jim O'Brien, who had scored a career-high 38 points in Maryland's home victory over North Carolina, had 18 this time. So did John Lucas. Maryland ace Tom McMillen had 12.
In the night's other game involving ACC teams, Clemson shot 70 per cent on its home court in the second half to swamp Wake Forest 85-61.
Wake Forest dropped to the cellar of the seven-team conference on a mark of 1-7 in the league and 9-12 in all games.
Clemson is 2-6 and 10-11.
The Clemson Tigers, who had shot only 32.5 per cent in the first half, had 48.6 per cent for the game to Wake Forest's 35.8.
Van Gorder scored 23 points for the Tigers. Tony Byers was high for Wake Forest with 18.

Long Name But Good Qualities

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Howard Schnellenberger has a name too long for newspaper headlines, but he has many qualities which appeal to General Manager Joe Thomas of the Baltimore Colts.
As a result, Thomas has hired the former assistant coach of the Miami Dolphins to become head coach of the revamped Colts.
"I was first looking for a man who could discipline himself," Thomas said Wednesday when he announced the signing of Schnellenberger to a long-term contract.
"A coach like that," Thomas added, "is then able to discipline his assistants, and this carries through to the football team."

The Dolphins posted a 34-7-1 record during the three seasons Schnellenberger served as offensive coordinator and coach of the Miami receivers. But he has been associated with winners much longer than that.
While he assisted George Allen at Los Angeles for four seasons, the Rams had a 40-13-3 record. And, prior to that, Schnellenberger served as an aide to Bear Bryant as Alabama won national collegiate titles in 1964 and 1965.
Although there will be many new players on the Colts this season because of mass trading by Thomas, Schnellenberger said it was a definite advantage to be taking over a team once coached by Shula.

He referred to the terminology, or numbering system for plays and formations, which are similar at Miami and Baltimore.
Before trading eight Colts, including quarterback Johnny Unitas and five other veterans over 30, Thomas fired head coach Don McCafferty last October and then released interim coach John Sandusky and his staff at the end of the season.
Baltimore's 5-8 record last season was its first losing record since 1956, and Schnellenberger said he recognized that Colts' fans were used to winning, "and winning big."
"I'll try to bring the Colts back to the level of excellence they've enjoyed over the years," he said, and then added: "as quickly as I can."

Skillet Holds City Loop Lead

The Skillet remained atop the City Basketball League with a slim half-game lead after rolling to a 95-33 victory over the Buccaneer Club last night.
Coca-Cola kept pace with an 84-53 win over the Book Exchange, while Proctor's was idle. In the other game, Happy Store beat Piggly Wiggly, 71-68.
Skillet is now 10-2, while Coke is 10-3, Proctor's, 9-3, and Happy Store, 9-4.
In the first game, Happy Store eased out into a 34-31 lead over Piggly Wiggly in the first half of play. But they were unable to shake loose and had to battle right down to the wire, as both tossed in 37 points during the final half.

had 22 and A. Mayo had 18. Amos Jordan led the Buccaneer Club with eight.
Rounding out play, Coke built up a 34-26 lead in the first half of play. They came back to outhit Book Exchange, 50-27, in the last half for an easy victory.
Jim Modlin led Coke with 36, while Tom Coker had 15, Jack Warner had 12 and Bob Cargill had 11. Bill Edwards led the Exchange with 19, and Carr Tucker had 10.

Hamilton Tries For Comeback

By JOHN R. SKINNER
Associated Press Sports Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) 8 Pete Hamilton, trying to come back big in 1973 after two poor financial years, takes a pole position today into one of two 125-mile qualifying races for Sunday's running of the Daytona 500 stock car race.
Hamilton had his best year on the National Association for Stock Car Racing (NASCAR) circuit in 1970 when he won $131,406 as a member of the Dodge Racing team. He also won the Daytona 500 that year.
The Atlanta, Ga., driver slumped to $60,000 two years ago and $8,000 last year without sponsorship and is eyeing the $1,100 apiece given winners of the qualifying races.
Hamilton, driving a Plymouth, captured the outside pole position in qualifying tests last week with a speed of 183.456 miles per hour. That's two miles off the pace inside pole sitter, Buddy Baker, produced in a dodge.
Only Baker, of Charlotte, N. C., and Hamilton are guaranteed their starting positions for the $200,000 race. Seventy-five other drivers are vying for the other 38 positions in the race.
Among those needing strong finishes today are three other former champions in the field, including 1972 winner A. J. Foyt. The other past champions are Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., the winner in 1964, 1966 and 1971 and Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S. C., the 1968 victor.

Foyt, of Houston, Tex., is off a 1972 campaign in which he won $94,440. He did not make the list of top 10 qualifiers here last week, however, and a poor finish in his heat today could eliminate him from Sunday's race list.
Bobby Allison, of Hueytown, Ala., who has never won this race, is in a similar situation. Ten of the 40 positions for the 500 running are guaranteed to the top 10 speed qualifiers, with the other 30 to the top finishers in the two heat races.
Heat speeds for this year's qualifying races are expected to be below the 178-mile-per-hour pace set by Petty last year because of new restrictions on the engines.
David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., who missed last week's run due to the death of his father, came back Wednesday to post a speed of 182.185, to place among the top 10 qualifiers.
Bobby Isaac, of Catawba, N.C., who originally posted a speed of 174.757, dropped two rows in today's heat lineup in order to requalify with an average speed of 180.255, enough to guarantee him a position in the 500.

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Of the seven players listed in the National Football League as having the most active seasons in the league, five are quarterbacks. Cleveland place-kicker Lou Groza and former defensive end Doug Atkins are the only linemen listed. The list is topped by Oakland's George Blanda.

PLAY SPEEDIER

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Play in the National Basketball Association has been speeded up by the new foul-shooting rule. The rule eliminates the shooting of one-shot fouls on the first four team fouls in each period. Instead, the team that is fouled gets possession of the ball on the sideline nearest where the foul was committed.

Find Nearly 8 Tons Of Marijuana Busy Week Marked In Raleigh, Other Places

By SAM D. BUNDY

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — U.S. Customs agents made their largest marijuana seizure ever with the confiscation of nearly eight tons of the drug from a Mexican-registered freighter docked in Los Angeles harbor.

A Bureau of Customs spokesman said Wednesday that the marijuana was contained in 384 wooden boxes aboard the "Don Miguel."

The 150-foot freighter once knew movie glory as the ship which sailed "from tedium to apathy" in the film "Mr. Roberts."

Ironically, the award-winning movie "Mr. Roberts," which starred Henry Fonda, Jack Lemmon and James Cagney, concerned the captain's mania for a potted plant.

The Don Miguel was being towed to Los Angeles to play a feature role in a forthcoming version of the NBC television series "Ironside" when customs agents boarded it.

The ship had been renamed the "La-ro" and had been painted over to look rusty and decrepit for the "Ironside" episode.

The customs spokesman said that three of the freighter's crew of 15 were in custody while the remaining 12 and the five-man crew of the tugboat "San Jorge" were confined to their ships pending further investigation.

Both the freighter and tugboat are registered in the Mexican port of Mazatlan.

The spokesman said the marijuana was in the form of some 7,000 "bricks," each weighing 2.2 pounds. He said they were packed in boxes marked "coffee."

He said the seizure topped the previous high of some five tons confiscated about two years ago in San Francisco.

The haul was reported to be the climax of a joint investigation involving the Bureau of Customs, the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and police from suburban Orange, Calif.

The customs spokesman would not disclose the identities of the trio held in custody or what prompted the search of the freighter.

He said federal agents boarded the freighter at dockside Wednesday and found the wooden boxes containing the marijuana concealed under cartons of tomato, paste cans. Dogs trained to sniff out drugs were used in the search, he added.

Things moved fast last week from Monday through Friday. On Monday I met with the Greene County Board of Commissioners at 10 a.m. in regard to legislation affecting county government and for the preparation of a local bill affecting Greene County. At 11:30 a.m. I met with the Pitt County Board of Commissioners for a discussion of bills affecting county government. I met with the Pitt County Board of Commissioners at each regular meeting during the 1973 Session of the General Assembly. I found it to of such mutual value that I am continuing that practice with both the Pitt and Greene County Boards in the 1973 Session of the General Assembly.

Perhaps the three main centers of interest this week were three public hearings in so far as I was concerned. As a member of the Agriculture Committee, I attended the public hearing on the Honey Bee. The North Carolina Beekeepers Association is sponsoring legislation that would designate the Honey Bee as the State insect. We now have a State flower, a State bird, a State mammal, a State shell, etc. Legislation has also been introduced to designate the emerald as the State stone. The second public hearing I attend as a member of the State Personnel Committee was one dealing with placing all law enforcement officers under one retirement system. To me this makes sense. As the situation now stands, some law enforcement officers are in the Teachers and State Employees Retirement System, some are in the Local Municipal Retirement System, and still others are in the Law Enforcement Officers Retirement System.

The final and largest public hearing I attended was the one held relating to the Equal Rights Amendment. As Vice Chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Committee, I had a part in helping to set up this hearing. The Legislative Auditorium was crowded and many stood in the halls several deep. The opponents were given 45 minutes and the proponents were allotted a similar length of time. Both sides made their case and the applause was fairly evenly distributed. Fortunately, the hearing was not as emotional as last week. Those attending listened attentively and respectfully and applauded only at the end of each person's presentation. Each side used about seven or eight speakers dividing the time among themselves as they saw fit. All in all, it was a most informative public hearing. The Constitutional Amendments Committee will meet later for its own consideration and decision.

During the week I have sat two hours a day for four days on the Appropriations Committee listening to the different department heads make their supplemental requests for funds over and above the amounts recommended by the Advisory Budget Committee. The amounts some of them request leads one to believe they think money is going out of style. The number of bills introduced in the House has now reached 350. You might be interested to know that 20 of them deal with appropriations, 28 with the Judicial Department, 14 with criminal law, 18 with liquor regulations, 45 with motor vehicles, 20 with taxation, and 18 with elections and election laws.

During the week it was good to have a few people from Pitt County come by the Legislative Building. Among them were Bettie Speir and Cliff Everette from Bethel, Mary Daugherty from Greenville, Lucille Quinn from Farmville, Henry Oglesby, Brown Hodges and Tom Mewborn from Grifton.

On Friday night, Mrs. Bundy and I drove down to Greenville to relax with friends at the annual Salvation Army Dinner Meeting. I went to Durham on Sunday and as a member of the Commission on the Ministry of the Christian Church in North Carolina. I participated in the ordination of Jeff Timm in the Holloway Street Christian Church. See you next week.

Election Set By Society

A nominating committee was named at the Monday night meeting of the Pitt County Humane Society.

President Dennis Langley appointed John Guyette, Graham House, Sandra Kelly and Evelyn Beasley to the committee, and a slate of officers will be presented to the membership at their next meeting to be held Monday March 12 at 8 p.m. at the downtown branch of Planters National Bank. Offices to be filled are those of President, Vice President, Recording Secretary, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer.

Other business conducted at the meeting included the distribution of coin boxes to be located in Greenville for voluntary contributions, as the Society receives no funds or help from any government agency. Also, a new member Judy Rivenbark was welcomed to membership.

As March 31 is the end of the organization's first year, all members are urged to attend the March 12th meeting to vote in the new officers and pay their dues for 1973 in order to keep the Society on a going basis. Any member desiring to hold office in the organization for 1973 may contact any member of the nominating committee. Members are urged to actively participate in all projects of the Society.

Monthly meetings are held on the second Monday of each month and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend these open meetings to ask questions and voice their opinions on animal care. The mailing address of the Humane Society is P. O. Box 1155 Greenville.

No Charge As Car Hit Posts

No charges were placed in a 3:57 a.m. mishap today at the intersection of Tenth Street and U. S. 284.

Police reported a car driven by Earl Allen West of 1400 East 10th St. went out of control, left the roadway and struck several sign posts, causing an estimated $325 damage to his car.

One passenger in the West vehicle was reported injured in the mishap and taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

TODAY, YOU CAN BUY A CAR WITH A SIMPLER, QUICKER, SMOOTHER, QUIETER ENGINE.

THE ROTARY-ENGINE MAZDA.

IT'S SIMPLER.

"The rotary engine is so simple in concept, one wonders why it wasn't thought of before the reciprocating piston engine."
— Motor Trend

"The engine is so amazingly simple that it might knock the old piston engine right off the road."
— The Christian Science Monitor

"Here at last is a practical alternative to the conventional automobile engine... eliminating such things as valves, camshaft, lifters, rocker gear, rods and wristpins also eliminates forever all the things that can go wrong with them."
— Road Test

IT'S QUICKER.

"The Mazda will simply squirt away from anything else in its field."
— Road Test

"Punch the throttle and you get a forward surge the likes of which is unknown in any other small car."
— Car and Driver

"At highway speeds the car leaps ahead where others run out of breath."
— Fortune

IT'S SMOOTHER.

"The rotary engine revs so freely, smoothly and quietly that it was downright spooky at first."
— Road & Track

"... unusually vibration-free. During freeway cruising, you'll even wonder if there is an engine there."
— Hot Rod

"... the car simply does not shake the way a reciprocating-engine car does."
— New York Times

IT'S QUIETER.

For silence, "... there is no match for the Mazda."
— Car and Driver

"... the car is uncannily quiet."
— Road Test

IT'S BACKED UP WITH A 24/24 ENGINE WARRANTY.

We not only say Mazda's rotary engine is more reliable, with fewer moving parts—we back it up. Mazda warrants the basic engine block and internal parts to be free of defects, with normal use and maintenance, for two years or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first. (Mazda warrants the rest of the car for one year or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first.)

We sell five rotary-engine cars. That's five more than anybody else.

TEST-DRIVE MAZDA—STILL THE ONLY ROTARY-ENGINE CAR IN AMERICA.

PRINCETON, N.J.—An overwhelming majority of Americans favor a proposal that could greatly overcome a serious blood shortage problem which exists in many parts of the nation. This proposal calls for the formation of blood bank groups in local communities by relatives, friends and acquaintances. Each family in the group would agree to supply blood if others in the group need it, and a small part of the blood would go for general public needs.

Eight in ten persons interviewed (79 per cent) think the proposal is a good one, with a large majority of these supporters saying they would be willing to have their own families join such a blood bank group.

The reasons for this widespread appeal are obvious: donor and recipient would be known or related to each other; a supply of blood could be made readily available; the risk of hepatitis from commercially bought blood would be eliminated.

Of particular significance is the fact that, among persons who say they have never given blood to a blood bank, seven in ten in the survey indicate they would be willing to join one of the proposed neighborhood groups and supply blood if others in the group need it.

1 In 3 Has Given Blood
The latest nationwide Gallup survey shows that one person in three (34 per cent) has given blood to a blood bank.

Interestingly, a far higher proportion of men (50 per cent) than women (21 per cent) have given blood to a blood bank at some point in their lives.

The survey findings show that 5 per cent of adults (18 and older); have given blood to a blood bank within the last six months, while 8 per cent have done so within the last 12 months.

6 In 10 Unaware Of Situation
Despite the widespread shortage of blood, six persons in ten admit that they do not know if their local hospital has difficulty in getting enough blood for operations and other uses. About one person in five (22 per cent) reports a shortage, while 17 per cent say their local hospital has a sufficient supply of blood.

Large Bronze Church Bell Removed After 82 Years

After 82 years it has been moved and will be going into a new home. The big bronze church bell has come down from its tower in Memorial Baptist Church where it was installed in 1890, a decade before the turn of the 20th century. Very soon, "within a week or two," according to Rev. Norman

Bennett, pastor of Memorial Baptist, the bell, estimated to weight 400 pounds, will be installed in the new church nearing completion on Greenville Boulevard Southeast. "The bell bears the date 1890 as the year it was cast," Rev. Bennett said. "We know nothing of where the bell was during the ten year period between its casting in 1880 and its installation here in 1890." The bell was cast by Henry McShane Company of Baltimore Maryland. The pastor remarked "to the best of our knowledge, and we have checked with several old-timers in Greenville, we don't think the bell has been taken down in all these years." Six men, Bennett said, were instrumental in the task of getting the bell down from the old Memorial Church tower.

Howard, Norman Little and Buck Brown of Kinston." If the bell was never taken down in the more than eight decades that have passed since 1890, then based on Sunday morning services alone, the bell has sounded out more than 4,200 calls to worship, ringing out across downtown and over the waters of the Tar River.

Two Bands For Dance-A-Thon

Two live bands will furnish the music today and on until midnight as Greenville's first Dance-A-Thon gets feet tapping in a fund raising project for the annual March of Dimes campaign.

The Rose High School Dance Band and the Amusement Park, a local dance band will furnish music for the 12 hour plus dance marathon that begins at 11:30 a.m. in Wright Auditorium.

Participants — singles, couples or groups, wishing to take part in the dance for March of Dimes are asked to secure a sponsor. Sponsors will agree to pay so much per hour for each hour the person he sponsors continues to dance (or move in time to the music after the first few hours).

Thus, if a sponsor agrees to sponsor a couple, at say, $2.00 per hour, and the couple manages six hours of continuous dancing, then the individual, merchant or business firm sponsoring that couple would donate $12.00 to the March of Dimes campaign. Participant cards are to be picked up at Wright Auditorium.

Members of the East Carolina University AFROTC and the Angle Flight are sponsoring the Dance-A-Thon. This is the next to last even of the 1973 campaign for the March of Dimes. The final event is to be a 25 mile Walk-A-Thon.

Funds raised through the March of Dimes campaign go to research and assistance to victims of the various diseases that cripple children.

Announce 3 Scholarships

The establishment of three new full tuition annual scholarships for East Carolina University students has been announced by the ECU Alumni Association.

The Ready Mixed Concrete Alumni Scholarship, arranged by ECU alumnus George C. Turner, general manager of the Raleigh-based concrete firm, will be awarded annually to an outstanding student in the ECU School of Technology.

The recipient chosen will be a student who plans a career in the construction industry, in the areas of construction trades.

The Max R. Joyner Alumni Scholarship, contributed by alumnus Max R. Joyner of Greenville, regional agency manager for Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co., will be awarded each year to a student in the ECU School of Business.

The Morgan Printers Alumni Scholarship, arranged by Jack P. Morgan, president of the Greenville printing firm, will be given annually to a student in the ECU School of Technology with an area concentration in graphic arts.

The three new scholarship programs provide that the annual award may be given either to a current full-time student or to a recently admitted student at the beginning of the freshman year.

Recipients will be selected by the ECU Scholarships, Fellowships and Financial Aid Committee from candidates submitted by the deans of the Schools of Business and Technology.

At the discretion of the committee, the annual award funds may be divided between two or more candidates.

Opal's "heart" problem troubled scientists for centuries. Ancient Aristotle worried about it, too. And so did the philosopher Descartes. Discuss this in school today and see if you can prove Aristotle wrong. Modern college youth can hardly do so!

CASE W-527: Opal B., aged 16, has a "heart" question.

"Dr. Crane," she asked, "why is Cupid pictured as shooting his arrows into our hearts?"

"And on Valentine's Day, the candy boxes are also shaped like a heart."

"I thought the brain was the center of our soul!"

Aristotle's Mistake
That famous Greek philosopher, Aristotle, started this mistaken notion about the heart.

It has persisted ever since. For he carefully tried to locate the seat of the human soul or consciousness.

And he decided it certainly must be in touch with every square inch of our human anatomy.

Since he saw that our many blood vessels all lead to the heart, he figured that was the center of our soul.

Since then, we have continued this error, as in speaking about people who are hardhearted, chickenhearted, softhearted, goodhearted, blackhearted, tenderhearted, warmhearted etc.

Dr. Robert B. Pierce, pastor of Chicago's skyscraper Chicago Temple, as a prelude to his sermon says:

"Let us bow our hearts and heads in prayer."

When we are experiencing high emotions, we often develop an ache in our heart.

United Fund also makes its appeals "to our hearts."

Desolate, jilted young lovers feel as if their heart is being crushed, as in a vise.

At funerals of loved ones, most of us likewise experience what we describe as severe heartache.

Although the brain is now known to be the center of consciousness, we don't use "headache" when jilted or say a generous person is "soft-headed," do we?

There is a nerve center (solar plexus) located near the heart which seems to produce this phenomenon of an "ache."

And boxers often knock out their opponent by a blow to the solar plexus.

All of which helped convince Aristotle that the heart was the center of our personality. College youth have difficulty proving him wrong!

"But what did he think was the function of the brain?" you may ask.

"Well, since it was gray in color and cold when examined after death Aristotle thought it was a place for cooling the blood.

In modern terminology, it would be likened to the radiator that cools your motor.

Descartes finally went further and held that our soul couldn't be a twin, so it couldn't reside in the two hemispheres of the brain.

"It must be located in a single organ inside the brain," was his theory.

So Descartes said the pineal gland, deep in the center of the brain, was the real seat of the human soul!

But mankind still enjoys Aristotle's diagnosis, so we have heart-shaped candy boxes on Valentine's Day.

And also stress the red color, typical of our life's blood.

But use your brain more than your heart when you pick a mate, so send for my 200-point "Tests for sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Terms Rainmaking A Political Asset

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Rainmaking is the best thing to happen to politicians since baby kissing. At least, so says Prof. J. Eugene Haas of the University of Colorado.

The art of what purists call weather modification is "in" and, what's even better, Haas says, it's politically safe.

"Any President, U.S. Senator or Representative tends to look on weather modification—and any other issue—as a potential means to the end of reelection," Haas claims.

"Federal legislators whose constituents in general or (their) home-based powerful interest groups are perceived to favor weather modification have been supporters of federally-financed weather modification efforts."

Haas, a behavioral scientist at the University of Colorado, recently wound up a prolonged study of what people think of scientists' efforts the change the weather.

One of his conclusions is that people don't understand it. Politicians, however, love it.

Haas said that politicians who are ignorant in the ways of sprinkling chemicals in clouds to make rain can always blame the scientists if something goes amiss.

"Most such projects are described for public consumption as scientific experiments," said Haas. "What better way to minimize the risk of criticism if something should go wrong?"

"Most voters and powerful politicians are not scientists. If it is believed that an emergency rainmaking effort will win more votes than it will lose, the effort will be authorized. Re-election is the name of the game."

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Think in terms of your long-range plans that have scope and significance to them, then you will be able to make real headway into gaining the progress that you want. However, you need to systematize and handle these matters wisely. If you have some unfinished jobs that can bring you success, concentrate upon them now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Talk over with right people your finest aims and gain their ideas and cooperation so you attain them more quickly, successfully. Show you are a person of real ability. Evening is best spent at home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Sit down with those at home and try to harmonize your ideas and efforts more wisely so everyone is happier and more successful. Use different tactics and get better results with long-range aims. Show you have determination.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Making appointments early with persons who can help you gain your aims and keeping them on time is best way to proceed now. Find the right methods to make big headway with allies, both new and old. Forget all that extravagance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study property well and see where you can make improvements that are necessary, which add to its intrinsic value. Long-range plan may require signing agreements. Study them well first. Avoid one who bickers too much.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listen to what your best pal has to say regarding some personal aim you have and follow excellent advice. Get together with friends at social affairs and fine results follow. A good evening for the theater.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) An expert can give you advice in a confidential way, so be sure to get it and use it wisely, make the changes that are necessary. Follow your intuition which is accurate, also. Forget that flirtatious interlude.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to study those new ideas you have more if you're to put them into successful operation. Take the right steps that will bring more harmony with a good friend. You have been quite matter-of-fact lately. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you get in touch with an expert and talk over that plan you have in mind, you then know for sure what to do about it. Hit on the right system, also. Confide in mate in p.m. and get good advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look at those plans you have for the future with a clear eye and know what must be done to make them operate successfully. Make that change that is wise. New contacts can give you very good suggestions, also.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your hunches are very good and can give you the clue as to what should be done insofar as important matters are concerned. Cooperate more with co-workers. Listen to what mate has to say and understand the true picture.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk over with an associate how to have a more harmonious and profitable alliance in the future. Make that decision re public work and be sure it improves your reputation. Avoid some social affair that is not your cup of tea.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make your home more charming or your place of work more attractive and impress co-workers more with your fine talents. Gain the support of outsiders for other matters. Try to retire fairly early tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those very serious-minded young people who will want to map out a future for himself or herself early based on practical and worthy lines to last a lifetime, and will never be guilty of trying to build on sand. Be sure to plan for the finest education and give as much moral support as you can, as well as cultural advantages that will open new doors of opportunity. Musical talent here, also. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Modern Technology Helping Villagers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Modern technology is helping Indian youths in a remote salmon fishing and logging village at the northwestern tip of the United States keep the community informed of what's going on.

The youths of Neah Bay, Wash., are turning out local news bulletins on a multilith offset duplicator they have acquired.

Since the nearest town with a newspaper is 80 miles away in Port Angeles, the teen-agers are communicating with the area residents by printing the Neah Bay High School newspaper, flyers and other reports.

The printing service grew out of a youth program started out about two years ago by Clifford Haupt, a youth organizer, the Makah Tribal Council and the Presbyterian Church to help with part-time employment for teen-agers in the village. The Bureau of Indian Affairs provided funds for litter cleanup, building repairs, senior citizen help and other community services.

But the youngsters organized a youth opinion workshop, wrote their own by-laws and gained official recognition from their elders on the tribal council. The council donated a building to serve as a teen center, and the youths renovated it with contributions from the church and Neah Bay residents.

Space was set aside for a darkroom and a small print shop that contained the reconditioned duplicator. The youngsters were taught the basic principles of offset reproduction by S.C. Hall of Addressograph Multigraph Corp. with further training at the print shops of McChord Air Force Base and Madigan Army Hospital near Tacoma. Now tied in with the high school's journalism and photography classes, the teen center receives a fee for the school printing jobs, providing income as well as employment for the youths.

Four ECU Teachers Fight Loss Of Positions As Tenure Is Denied

An East Carolina University professor, Dr. William Hu, filed suit last week in U.S. Eastern District Court, seeking to retain his position at the Greenville school as an assistant professor in the school's chemistry department.

Three other men are also seeking hearing on their cases after tenure was denied them. They include Dr. Martin Kilcoyne, an associate professor in the History Department; Dr. Robert Mayberry, as assistant professor in romance languages; and Dr. John Costa, a former assistant professor in romance colleges.

Dr. Richard L. Capwell, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the school—and named as a defendant in Hu's suit—said this morning "I just don't want to talk about that right now...I just don't want to make any comment..."

Dr. Capwell did say, however, that Hu, Mayberry and Kilcoyne are still employed by the university, although they have been informed that their contracts will not be renewed when they expire at the end of this academic year.

Dr. Costa, employed at ECU in 1969, left at the end of the past academic year. Dr. Capwell noted, "June 1, 1972." Dr. Mayberry was employed in 1967, while Dr. Hu began teaching duties in 1968. Dr. Kilcoyne joined the faculty in 1969.

The four claim they were not given adequate reasons for being denied tenure at the school. By not being granted tenure, they are forced to leave.

Teachers at ECU may be granted tenure after being on the faculty for three to five years under annual contract. Teaching without tenure amounts to probationary period. Tenure instructors may not be dismissed by the university unless charges of misconduct are brought and a hearing, while untenured teachers may be released by simply not renewing their annual contract.

Dr. Hu was notified a year ago his contract would not be renewed.

Father Relates POW's Ordeal

WATERFORD, Conn. (AP)—A freed prisoner of war returns to the United States today after what his father describes as months of imprisonment chained in a snake-and ant-infested bamboo cage.

Army Capt. George K. Wanat Jr., 27, was chained alone in the cage for five of his 10 months in Viet Cong hands, George K. Wanat Sr. of Waterford said Wednesday after talking to his son by telephone. His other five months were shared with another American, the father said.

The elder Wanat said in an interview that his son passed time with prayer and "intense study" of the ants in his cage. "He told me he was an expert on ants now," Wanat said.

Wanat said his son was in good spirits and sounded "very much like the man who left two years ago" except for a deep hatred toward his captors.

"I'd kill those bastards if I ever saw them again," Wanat quoted his son as saying.

"He told me they (the Viet Cong) spent about three months trying to break him down," Wanat said. "One of his punishments was being deprived of mosquito netting. He ended up with a bad case of malaria, but they wouldn't treat him right away. About the time he thought he would die, they finally gave him something."

Wanat eluded the enemy for 33 days after an ambush cut him off from the South Vietnamese unit he was advising. He lost his weapon in the ambush and could only run to avoid capture, his father said.

The Viet Cong fed Wanat water and one bowl of rice a day and pork fat, but on one occasion there was a loaf of bread, the father said.

Commissions Said Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commissions given by a fellow officer to three Americans in a north Vietnamese prisoner-of-war camp are illegal and could be overturned, the Air Force says.

"There is no legal basis for the senior officer of a POW camp to confer commissions during internment," spokesman Maj. Fred Muerer said Wednesday.

The three former prisoners were informed upon their arrival at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines that the commissions are subject to review, he said.

The three are T. Sgt. Arthur N. Black, 28, of Bethlehem, Pa., captured Sept. 20, 1965; M. Sgt. Arthur Cormier, 38, of Bay Shore, N.Y., captured Nov. 6, 1965, and M. Sgt. William A. Robinson, 29, of Robersonville, N.C., captured Sept. 20, 1965.

All were downed while on helicopter search and rescue missions over North Vietnam and reportedly were given prison camp promotions to lieutenant in 1968.

The commissions were conferred by the senior officer in the camp, Col. John Flynn, who remains in North Vietnamese custody.

An Air Force statement said, however, that Col. Flynn lacked authority to give commissions.

"Once these men and the senior officer have been returned, all of the facts in each case will be carefully considered in making a final decision in the best interest of the men involved and the Air Force," it added.

First Lady Is Seen Smoking

WASHINGTON (AP) — First lady Pat Nixon surprised reporters by smoking in public this week. Aides said they could not recall it ever happening before.

Mrs. Nixon joined her son-in-law, Navy Lt. (j.g.) David Eisenhower, in having a cigarette after they, the President and Julie Eisenhower dined at Trader Vic's restaurant Tuesday night.

Her smoking was even more of a surprise since the first lady had told reporters in a White House interview that she doesn't smoke. "But who hasn't tried," she had added, teasingly.

No Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury today refused to indict a reporter and two Indians on charges of possessing documents stolen from the Bureau of Indian Affairs last fall.

After the grand jury's decision was read to investigative reporter Les Whitten and Indians Hank Adams and Anita Collins, the government moved that the case be dropped.

Whitten, in a hallway interview afterward, said he felt the government had wanted to show that he and his boss, syndicated columnist Jack Anderson, had paid for the three cardboard cartons of documents. They had not, he said.
