

TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION

Calley's Conviction Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Court of Military Review today upheld the murder conviction of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. in the My Lai massacre and approved the sentence of 20 years at hard labor.

The Army announced that the review court found that Calley "personally participated in, and ordered subordinates to participate in, the mass summary execution of unarmed, unresisting men, women and children in the hamlet of My Lai, Republic of Vietnam, on March 16, 1968."

Calley originally was sentenced to prison for life after conviction by a court-martial at Ft. Benning, Ga., on charges of premeditated murder of "not less than 22 Vietnamese" and of assault with intent to murder a Vietnamese child.

On Aug. 20, 1971, the commander of the 3d Army reduced the sentence to 20 years. Calley is confined to his quarters at Ft. Benning pending the outcome of his appeal.

Calley could not be reached for comment and an Army spokesman at Ft. Benning said it was not likely the lieutenant would have any public statement.

"He's not allowed to make statements to the press," the spokesman said. "He is still a prisoner and is still confined to his quarters."

The Army said he may now ask the U.S. Court of Military Appeals for a further review of his case.

President Nixon has said that he ultimately will review the Calley case in his role as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

The three-judge Court of Military Review listened to arguments by Calley's lawyers last December as the lawyers sought to reverse his conviction or reduce the sentence further.

In its announcement, the Army said the Court of Military Review rejected Calley's defenses "that he did not intend to commit murder and that he was only obeying orders."

The court also turned down a number of other technical claims, including one that he was not subject to military jurisdiction, and that the court-martial which tried him was improperly constituted, unlawfully controlled by military superiors, and was influenced by pre-trial publicity.

On another point of appeal, the Army review court turned down Calley's claim that his case was prejudiced by the refusal of a House Armed Services subcommittee to release certain testimony it took in secret.

Further, the review court denied Calley's petition for a new trial.

In addition to the prison sentence, the military court upheld the court-martial's ruling that the lieutenant should be dismissed from the Army and that he should forfeit all pay and allowances.

Calley has filed a separate request for clemency and parole with Secretary of the Army Robert Froehle.

The Army said no decision has yet been reached on this request.

The Army charged 25 officers and enlisted men with offenses ranging from murder to covering up the incident and tried six of them by courts-martial. Only Calley was convicted.

Calley is from Miami, Fla.

Big Copter Shot Down

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A big U.S. helicopter on a peacekeeping mission was shot down today north of Saigon, and five Americans were injured. Meanwhile, a North Vietnamese spokesman reported that the next 20 American prisoners of war being released by Hanoi would be freed Saturday or Sunday.

The CH47 Chinook helicopter was the first American aircraft downed in Vietnam since the cease-fire began Jan. 28. However, three helicopters were hit during the first three days of the truce, with one American killed and four wounded.

The Chinook crashed and burned near An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. The five crew-men were brought to the Army hospital in Saigon.

The U.S. Command said one of the men had critical burns.

The helicopter had delivered a jeep and office equipment to An Loc for the Joint Military Commission but did not carry the orange markings of the peacekeeping group, the U.S. Command said. A spokesman explained that it had not been assigned to the commission but was on loan to a civilian firm working for the commission.

It was hit by small arms and automatic fire a few minutes after it took off to return to Long Binh. The U.S. delegation to the Joint Military Commission made a verbal protest to the Communist delegates.

The chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation, Bui Tin, announced that the next 20 American POWs to be freed by his government would be handed over in Hanoi "perhaps tomorrow and if not the day after."

Acclaims New Day

RALEIGH (AP) — A black aide to Gov. Jim Holshouser says a new day is dawning for blacks in North Carolina because of the governor's efforts to put more blacks in state government.

Dr. Larnie G. Horton, Holshouser's special assistant for minority affairs, spoke at a Foundry's Day observance at St. Augustine's College Thursday.

"For the first time in our history we have a governor interested in the human rights of blacks," Horton said. Horton said Holshouser openly sought the black vote during the campaign and added, "Governor Holshouser is a man who keeps his word."

"In just one month and 10 days he has appointed more blacks to state offices than all the past governors of this state combined," Horton added.

In the past, he said, blacks have witnessed "broken promises" when gubernatorial candidates sought their votes during the campaign only to be forgotten after the election.

Three Injured

FALKLAND — Three persons were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment following a 9:30 a.m. collision just east of Falkland on N.C. 43 today.

Highway Patrolman Fred Davis said both vehicles involved in the crash — a car and a dump truck loaded with rock — were demolished by the force of the impact.

Taken to the hospital for treatment were Ander Manning, 59 of near Greenville, identified as driver of the car; Bennie Randolph, 19 of Greenville, the driver of the truck; and Mrs. Mannie Manning, 58, a passenger in the car.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Manning were admitted while Randolph was treated and released.

According to Trooper Davis, investigation of the mishap is continuing.

Convicted In Draft Card Case

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP) — A U. S. District Court jury that deliberated 15 minutes today found William Charles "Chuck" Eppinette Jr., 22, guilty of two counts of failing to have his draft cards in his possession.

Defense motions to have the verdict set aside and asking for a mistrial based on the jury selection method were denied. Sentence was expected to be passed later today.

IN 'NO HURRY'

ROME (AP) — Hanoi's delegation chief at the Paris Peace talks, Xuan Thuy, was quoted today as saying North Vietnam wants friendly relations with the United States and is in "no hurry" to achieve unification of the two Vietnams.

Three More Planes Bring POWs Home

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
Associated Press Writer

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Three more planes carrying freed American prisoners of war streaked across the Pacific today, headed for a red-carpet California welcome for the men.

Today's contingent of 60 will boost to a total of 123 the number of former POWs to touch down on American soil since Tuesday.

WINTERVILLE — Mrs. Delphia Hardy's telephone rang at 4 o'clock this morning telling her that today she is to see her son back from five and a half years' captivity by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

Army Maj. William Hardy was due to arrive at Travis Air Force Base in California at 11:20 this morning, and then was to be sent to the Fort Gordon, Ga., Army Hospital. His wife, Theola, and his mother are to meet him there.

An Army car was to pick up Mrs. Hardy at 7 o'clock this morning and take her to join her daughter-in-law at Fort Bragg. There were to be together for the flight to Fort Gordon, according to Maj. Hardy's sister, Mrs. Isolene Roundtree.

Twenty more Americans liberated last Sunday night will remain at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines another day and will fly home Saturday.

And the North Vietnamese government announced Thursday night that an additional 20 will be released Saturday or Sunday in Hanoi.

Two ex-prisoners had been rushed to the United States on Tuesday to the bedsides of critically ill mothers. A third, a civilian, returned by commercial aircraft Thursday, barefoot and carrying a flower.

The 60 men who arrived at Travis on Wednesday and Thursday in planeloads of 20 received formal welcomes before going to military hospitals across the country. Two Air Force generals and a color guard met the Operation Homecoming planes.

Hundreds of newsmen and base personnel behind barricades watched the former POWs emerge singly, salute the colors and welcoming officers and shake hands with the generals.

A few men stepped to nearby microphones for brief statements, but most walked briskly down the red carpet to the Travis terminal for refreshments. Most of the returnees looked happy and healthy.

"I want you to know we walked out of Hanoi as winners, and we're not coming home with our tails between our legs. We return with honor," Navy Cmdr. William Shankel told the cheering crowd Thursday.

Of the first 60 returnees at Travis, only Army Pvt. Ferdinand A. Rodriguez of Brooklyn, N.Y., did not take part in the formal welcome.

A military spokesman said Rodriguez, who faces charges of being absent without leave when the Viet Cong captured him in 1968, was ill.

ERA Referendum Given OK In House Committee

RALEIGH (AP) — A House committee today voted 8-6 to approve legislation calling for a statewide referendum on the question of an equal rights amendment.

The action came after the House Constitutional Amendments Committee voted down a substitute motion that action on the referendum issue be postponed until the committee had acted on a bill which would ratify the amendment.

20 More

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam will release another 20 U.S. war prisoners in Hanoi Sunday, the Pentagon announced today.

These are the 20 POWs, 16 of them Air Force men and 4 Navy men, who the Pentagon said will be freed by North Vietnam earlier than expected.

They will bring to 155 the number of U.S. military POWs returned to U.S. authorities in North and South Vietnam since Feb. 12 under terms of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman said an Air Force C141 transport will arrive in Hanoi at midnight Saturday, EST, and return with the freed men to Clark Air Base in the Philippines, main reception point for Operation Homecoming.

Rep. John Ed Davenport, D-Nash, offered the motion to give the referendum measure a favorable report. Rep. Howard Twigg, D-Wake, proposed the substitute motion.

Twigg argued that the referendum issue should be postponed until after the committee had disposed of the bill to ratify the equal rights amendment. This measure was introduced early in the session.

Twigg said he felt the amendment bill will go to the House floor either on a favorable report or on a minority report.

The amendment was described as the most emotional, news-generated issue of the 1973 session.

Rep. Tom Sawyer, D-Guilford, who sponsored the measure calling for a statewide referendum, said, the amendment question "is the kind of issue that would turn wife against husband and family against family because it is so emotional."

He said his proposal "would give us an alternate course of action."

He told the committee and crowd jammed into the room that his "basic philosophy is to submit issues like this to a statewide referendum."

The referendum would be held in the 1974 November election.

Sawyer said his bill would not be binding on the legislature. The results of a referendum would simply serve as "an opinion poll."

John Sanders, director of the Institute of Government, said that to make the results of a referendum binding on the legislature would make it unconstitutional.

Rep. Bob Jones, D-Rutherford, a House leader, threw his support behind the motion to consider the referendum meas-

"I hesitate to speak for the issue," said Jones. He added that it would be proper to consider Sawyer's measure first.

If the referendum proposal "goes down the drain" the bill to ratify the amendment could be considered, Jones pointed out.

He termed the amendment "the most publicity generated issue this session."

Davenport told the other committee members that legislators had been "subjected to severe pressure from both sides" on the amendment.

"I frankly admit I'm against the amendment," he said, "and I believe the people are against the amendment."

Rep. Dempsey McDaniel, R-Forsyth, said Sawyer's bill "is an attempt to shuck the responsibility of ratifying or not ratifying the amendment."

Reps. H. M. Michaux Jr., D-Durham, and W. S. Harris Jr., D-Alamance, spoke in favor of Twigg's motion to postpone.

Several people were unable to get inside the room and watched through the large glass window.

Claim Plot To Seize Amman

BEIRUT (AP) — Security forces loyal to King Hussein of Jordan have smashed a plot by Palestinian guerrillas to seize control of Amman, the Jordanian capital, while he was in the United States, the Beirut newspaper An Nahar reported today.

The newspaper said Black September, the radical organization responsible for the massacre of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics, organized the plot.

An Nahar said it was "the most daring guerrilla operation ever planned in an Arab capital."

Hussein is vacationing in Florida with his bride, Queen Alia, after an official visit to Washington. Diplomats in London said he was cancelling plans to stop in London on the way home, and the Jordanian Embassy there confirmed that he would go direct from the United States to Amman. But it said he would not leave the United States for a week or so.

The conspirators, the paper said, planned to attack buildings and key positions, including the prime minister's office, during a scheduled meeting of the cabinet Saturday.

The radio and television station was to be seized and Premier Ahmed Lozi and all cabinet members were to be held hostage until guerrillas imprisoned in Jordan were set free, An Nahar said.

All guerrilla groups have vowed to overthrow Hussein after his army's bloody crackdown on them in September 1970. They also believe he is ready to begin peace talks with Israel.

Nixon Speech

COLUMBIA (AP) — President Nixon will address a joint session of the South Carolina Legislature Tuesday at 12:30 p.m., State Rep. Rex Carter, D-Greenville, said today.

Carter, speaker pro tempore of the House, said Nixon is coming to South Carolina to thank the Legislature for supporting his Vietnam War policy. The House and the Senate passed a resolution last year supporting the President's efforts to bring the war to a conclusion.

Environmental, Farm Pleas Come Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plea to Congress to act promptly on administration environmental and farm legislation has elicited critical responses from three influential Democratic senators.

Sen Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, urged everyone to ignore the President's environmental message while Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, suggested Nixon's farm proposals be put out to pasture.

"Since the President and his Cabinet have always asked that they be judged on the basis of what they do, and not on the basis of what they said," said Muskie, author of much of the nation's recent environmental legislation, "I think our most appropriate response to this message is to pretend we never heard it."

And Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Nixon's call for ending farm subsidies "is the final blow in a series of recent decisions by the administration which could destroy our nation's family-farm system."

Nixon, in a special message to Congress Thursday, called for prompt action on 19 backlogged bills he said would enhance the environment and the nation's natural resources.

He declared that antipollution costs should be borne primarily by the consumer, not the federal government.

Muskie described the President's commitment to the environment as shallow and noted his veto of the 1972 Water Pollution Control Act.

The President also refuses to allocate, "in direct violation of the law," funds provided by the act that was passed over his veto, Muskie said.

Nixon called for enactment of measures he proposed in the last Congress which range from safe drinking water to disposal of hazardous wastes.

The President also drew opposition from Talmadge, who said Nixon's farm proposals could spell doom for the small farmer.

"Without some aid in the way of price supports, every small farmer in America would be plowed under," Talmadge said.

Nixon called for eliminating farm subsidies, paying out money only for lands that sit idle.

"I believe that dairy-support systems, wheat, feed grains and cotton allotments and bases—some established decades ago—are drastically outdated. They tend to be discriminatory for many farm operators," Nixon said.

Basketballer Is Shot And Killed

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A star forward on a high school basketball team was shot to death Thursday night just before he was to play in an area tournament.

Police said the youth, Jack Ray Whitney Jr. of Pantego High School, 30 miles from here, had been shot in a restroom of the Washington High School and that another youth from Pantego had been charged with murder. The police said they were investigating whether the shooting was accidental, since the young man was friends. They said that the teen-ager charged, Willie Herman Hawks, was found kneeling over Whitney, who had been shot in the head with a pistol.

The shooting occurred during halftime of a girls' game in the Beaufort and Hyde counties high school tournament. The counties are on the upper North Carolina coast.

Whitney's team played afterward, and lost to Bath High School.

Whitney died in a hospital in Greenville, N.C.

Heart Fund Bounce For Beats Scheduled Sunday

A basketball bouncing marathon, Bounce for Beats, will be conducted by the Kappa Sigma fraternity of East Carolina University, Saturday, at Pitt Plaza to collect funds for the 1973 Heart Fund campaign in Pitt county, it was announced Monday at an organizational meeting of the Pitt County Heart Association.

Buff Chalk, fund raising chairman, said the bouncers will leave their fraternity house on Tenth Street at Noon on Saturday and will dribble basketballs all the way to the shopping center. They will remain there throughout the day and will accept contributions to the Heart Fund from passersby. Two other ECU fraternities, Lambda Chi Alpha and Delta Theta Chi will be working at various locations in the city accepting money from passing motorists.

Pitt County Heart association said that more than 90 percent of Pitt County's Heart Fund campaign to raise $19,000 will be conducted during the month of February. Other projects include: Balloon and Tag sales during the last two weekends in February; a bicycle race scheduled for Feb. 24; WCTI-TV Telethon, Feb. 24-25; and door to door solicitations on Sunday, Feb. 25.

"These events are being coordinated with city chairmen throughout the county," Miss Perry said. The city chairmen are: Dr. David Riddick, Greenville; Rev. Gilbert Mister, Sam T. Carson, Bethel; Mrs. G. M. Vincent, Winterville; Cleve Whitley, Farmville; Walter Murphy, Grifton; and Mrs. A. D. Moore, Fountain.

The Verdict Was 'Hopeless'— But Therapy Reversed It

(Editor's Note: Following is the last of three articles on new hope for brain-damaged youngsters.)

By EDWARD J. DOHERTY
NEW YORK (WNS) —
Christine was born in Philadelphia 11 years ago with severe cerebral palsy. During her first four years Mr. and Mrs. William T. Mullineaux, her parents, sought treatment from leading experts locally and in Baltimore and Chicago. The verdict: "Crissy is so helplessly brain-injured there is nothing that can be done for her. For your own sakes, put her in an institution."

"Her only way of getting around was to roll on the floor, her only speech was unintelligible noises," her father recalled, "but we had no intention of institutionalizing her."

When the baby was four, he heard about the Institute for the Achievement of Human Potential in Philadelphia. "I was told it never gave up on children with brain injury," he said.

"We had Crissy tested there, and the staff gave us a series of intensive treatments that we were urged to carry out at home.

Patterns
"They involved patiently and repeatedly putting her through the patterns of movement that babies naturally follow when teaching themselves to walk." Such treatment, it was hoped, would enable undamaged areas of the brain to take over her impaired motor coordination.

They followed this routine five minutes at a time, four times a day, seven days a week, for two and a quarter years. Many other treatments were part of Crissy's program. Altogether the parents devoted five hours a day to working with her.

"In 11 months she was walking," her father said. "In 13 months she was talking. Now she rides a bike, jumps rope and goes to school. She's a little behind in her reading but she made a breakthrough with that recently. Who knows? Maybe she'll even go to college."

Bill Mullineaux was so touched and impressed that he quit his profession—teaching—to join the organization as a staff member in training. He is now director of the department of learning disabilities at the New York Institute for Child Development, which brings to bear a range of disciplines to diagnose and prescribe for children with learning problems or brain injuries.

Such dramatic success stories are uncommon. Specialists in the field with one voice caution against raising the hopes of the parents of handicapped children. Most brain-injured children will be handicapped to some degree all of their lives. Some cannot be helped at all.

But among those who work with these youngsters there is growing evidence that if their handicaps are recognized early in infancy, and if prompt and adequate measures are followed to deal with the causes and effects of the disabilities, gradual improvement can be expected.

Spastic

Bertram J. Napear, a director of the Institute and self-styled "cheerleader for the place," is the father of eleven-year-old Jane who was born severely brain-injured. She was spastic and three years she could neither walk nor talk, and there was a question whether she understood anything said to her.

For the past eight years, the Napear house in Syossett, N.Y. has been a gymnasium. The parents and some 500 neighbors and other volunteers have followed a program of therapy demanding eight to ten hours a day trying to repattern Jane's neurological system.

Jane has learned to dress and feed herself and to read a little. Her spasticity is gone. All this work led, at Christmastime last December, to the monumental achievement for this little girl—and to the inconceivable joy of her parents—of taking her first unaided steps.

Many physicians have serious doubts about the efficacy of such therapy. They point out that each child is an entity. As he grows he changes, and so does the course of his affliction. Told about the Mullineaux and Napear children, one eminent pediatrician shrugged and said, "How do you know this improvement wouldn't have occurred without the patterning?"

Laughable

But to parents who have experienced such progress after being told their children were hopeless, this kind of skepticism is laughable.

Dr. Allen Charles Levin, a pediatrician who serves as medical director for some types of treatment that seem effective are still obscure. And he says that no one "modality" of treatment—such as patterning—is likely to bring about marked improvement in a brain-injured child.

When a boy or girl is brought to the Institute with a learning disability or a brain injury a lengthy history is taken from the parents. The child then undergoes three days of screening tests designed to pinpoint his problem or problems.

On the basis of these findings, a program is laid out that may involve medical treatment, physiotherapy, sensory stimulation, nutritional changes, vitamin treatment—or other regimens calculated to help rehabilitate the child.

Parents and children periodically return to the Institute for re-examination. Dr. Levin calculates that "somewhere between 70 and 80 per cent show progress, and probably more." Some of these children are being treated for learning disabilities not necessarily caused by brain injury.

At major hospitals and other institutes screening handicapped children, "they are zeroing in on the fact there is more than one discipline that's essential," Dr. Levin explained.

And he remarked, as other specialists have, that bringing about improvement in severely injured children involves a partnership—"The parents at home, the educational systems, and the medical professions."

Annual Hair Style Review Held

KINSTON—Top honors in Lenoir Community College's annual hair style review held last week went to student stylist Jean Morgan of Route 2, Grifton, who received the first place award, Brenda Barbee and Jerry Barnes, who place second and third respectively.

Mrs. Barnes also received further recognition by being selected as model student. Selection was made by members of the cosmetology class on the basis of character, ability to get along with others, and popularity.

All winners were presented engraved trophies by Dr. Thomas Benton, dean of the college. Students in the department served both as stylist and model for the show which had as its theme "Beauty Around the World." Each student wore a costume representative of a foreign country and had a hair style created for the occasion by a fellow student.

Judges were Mrs. Frances Herring, Mrs. Catherine Ferrell, and Mrs. Lynda Bagley, all Kinston stylists and cosmetology graduates at LCC.

Miss Deborah Phillips, a Meredith College student, spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Phillips.

Dr. Miriam Moore Gives Program Tuesday Night

Dr. Miriam B. Moore, dean of the East Carolina University School of Home Economics, spoke at the meeting of the Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma on Tuesday evening.

She was introduced by Mrs. Mildred H. Derrick, chairman of the Professional Affairs Committee. Her subject was "The Family, a Transmitter of Culture."

Dr. Moore, who is a member of the Delta Chapter, traced the development of the nuclear family and discussed the roles traditionally assumed by the man and the woman in the family. The moral values, traditions, and religious beliefs of a people are passed from parent to child by means of the family unit, she said.

Dr. Moore discussed the changing values which are facing families today with children being calculated the right to differ from parents without reproach and with men and women varying their traditional roles when the needs of the family are more adequately met by such changes. She commented on the Equal Rights Amendment to the constitution, which is now being considered for ratification by the North Carolina General Assembly, and pointed out that many laws which discriminate against women are based on the erroneous assumption that every woman has a man supporting her.

Dr. Moore holds the B.S. and M. Ed. degrees from the University of Georgia and the Ph.D. degree from Ohio State University. She came to East Carolina University in 1962 from Mount Berry College in Georgia where she was head of the Home Economics Department.

Mrs. Evelyn B. Moye, chapter president, presided during the business session. Mrs. Elizabeth Mims was chairman of the committee making arrangements for the dinner.

To Bathe Or Not Is At High Tide

By Abigail Van Buren

Engagement Announced
MISS SUSAN ANN TICE . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harris Tice Sr. of Greenville, who announce her engagement to Joseph Belmont Clark Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Clark Sr. of Greenville. The wedding will take place April 8.

DEAR ABBY: What's all this fuss about how often a person should take a bath? My grampa lived to be 98 years old. He was big and strong and was never sick a day in his life. He bathed only once a year, and that was done in a dam near our farm. Folks used to come from miles around just to watch Grampa take his yearly bath.

DEAR TEX: Good for Grampa. I'll bet nobody needed directions on how to find him.

DEAR ABBY: You're a dirty old female chauvinist! Your advice on bathing reflects that state of your mind. What is natural is by no means "dirty" unless the mind is inclined that way. Cleanliness is indeed next to Godliness, but that same body is also the temple of the spirit of that god which dwells in man and womankind. I doubt if that god would dwell in an "unclean" temple.

You belong in India, where your views would allow you to label women "unclean"—and "untouchable." Go soak your . . .

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to your reader who suggested that bathing regularly was tantamount to effete snobism and totally unnecessary. It may be I am particularly susceptible to detecting this distinction, but I think I am not alone.

As physical recreation I regularly swim a mile in the campus pool during my lunch hour, and I find it surprisingly easy to distinguish who has and who has not showered before entering the pool and is swimming alongside me. There are many in the latter group who are prominent, important, and respected elder colleagues who would be the first to insist that all long-haired youths "smell bad"—not realizing that they smell far worse.

For what it is worth, I have found this an infallible way to discover who is and who is not nice to be near, the lambs or the old goats, one could say.

DEAR ABBY: I have been wanting to write to you for a long time because I have a very serious problem. I do not want my letter to appear in your column because this is a small town and everybody would know I wrote it.

I know that you say you will answer problems personally if the person sends a stamped, addressed envelope, but I want to be sure that if the one I enclosed got lost, another one would not be sent to me with your name on the outside, advertising the fact that I wrote to Dear Abby.

Please hurry your answer in the column, and sign me . . .

Helping Hanoi Leaves Us Cold

It appears out-of-step to think this way, but somehow we're reluctant to go along with the idea of the United States helping to rebuild North Vietnam.

We owe Hanoi nothing. The real sufferers in the Indochina War were the people of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Countless thousands of their villagers fled Communist shelling and terrorism. Uncountable numbers of homes and business and governmental buildings were destroyed by their enemy or during fighters against enemy intruders. There were so many systematic executions, so many abductions, so many ruthless acts of intimidation committed against the South Vietnamese people that it numbs comprehension. Hanoi's neighbors do need help.

In many ways, the war never did fully reach into North Vietnam. But their neighbors suffered, and terribly so.

Maybe participation in repairing bomb damage to North Vietnam is a sensible gesture to restore amity among nations. We know well that in trying to resolve enmities there must be some degree of flexibility and giving.

But we do not know that the fighting is over in Indochina. We do know what Hanoi plans three months from now, or four months from now. They will mislead us when it suits them to mislead us.

In short, the results of Mr. Kissinger's most recent visit to Hanoi leaves us with something less than the approval we have felt his due in previous diplomatic missions.

Always A Doubt Over The Unaccounted For

While all Americans are joyful over the return of the Vietnam prisoners of war, there will always be a nagging doubt about the 1,328 military men listed as missing in action.

Thus it is comforting to know that the Defense Department will be making an exhaustive search for traces of these men.

Aircraft crash sites and grave sites will be investigated to determine the fate of as many of the men as possible.

No doubt a final confirmation of what has happened to the missing will be a source of comfort to their families who have waited for so long.

Friction Over 'Palace Guard'

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The scarcely believable treatment of Georgia's Gov. Jimmy Carter by the White House reflects a growing arrogance and isolation of President Nixon's top domestic staff which now threatens political warfare with the nation's governors. Carter, a moderately conservative Democrat, was treated with cavalier disrespect if not outright contempt. After three weeks of trying, he finally arranged a White House meeting for last Friday (Feb. 9) with Kenneth R. Cole, the new director of Mrs. Nixon's Domestic Council—only to be stood up at the last minute.

Thus does Mr. Nixon's palace guard make a hard task yet more difficult. To radically redesign a pattern of federal-state spending programs set in New Deal days will be difficult enough for the President. But the mood at the White House transforms potential allies into enemies and critics into implacable foes. Carter had been getting progressively alarmed at the ravages on federal-state programs in Georgia of Mr. Nixon's budget cutbacks and tried to arrange a visit with John D. Ehrlichman, Mr. Nixon's top aide on all domestic matters. But Carter's office could not even get a response from Ehrlichman's aides.

Carter complained bitterly at an Atlanta press conference, getting a quick response from state Sen. Wiley Wasden—a former Republican state chairman and personal friend of the governor. Wasden came to Carter's rescue and contacted Ehrlichman on the telephone.

Ehrlichman told Wasden that Cole, his successor at the Domestic Council, was the proper official for Carter to see. Ehrlichman explained that Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Casper Weinberger was far too busy with his confirmation hearings in the Senate and was "under wraps." Ehrlichman then set up an appointment between the governor and Cole for 3:15 Friday afternoon.

On Wednesday, before leaving Atlanta for Washington, Carter sent a confirming telegram to Cole. On Thursday, Carter's aide, Jack Burris, reconfirmed the meeting with Cole on three separate occasions by telephone.

When Carter and Burris arrived at Cole's office on the appointed hour, they found not Cole but one of five Cole deputies, a youthful aide named James H. Falk. Even so, for the first 15 minutes of the half-hour meeting with Falk, Carter and Burris actually thought they were talking to Cole.

Such insensitivity toward a governor at the White House would have been inconceivable during the first Nixon administration when Vice President Spiro Agnew was the President's official go-between for all the governors. But Agnew was stripped of that function by Mr. Nixon for the second term, and the presidential ambassador to the proud governors became a faceless presidential aide: the very same Kenneth R. Cole who stood up Carter.

Cliches Are For Using

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Good morning, class. What do you say about having a cliché drill today?

"Oh, goody, goody, teacher. Let's do. But what is a cliché? We forget."

A cliché is a bromidic expression. It is a word or phrase that has become tiresome through too much repetition. If you use too many clichés in your speech or writing, you bore your friends and enemies so much that they either quietly tiptoe away from you or hurry the wrong way around the block to keep from meeting you.

HAL BOYLE

"We understand, teacher. Now tell us how to play the game. We're all ears."

It's quite simple, you little monsters. I simply ask you a question. And you answer it with a cliché. Ready? Here is the first question. What did the unpopular decision of the Supreme Court do to justice?"

"Did it defeat the aims of justice?"

No, no, no, no, class. Try again.

"Did it make a mockery of justice, teacher?"

Yes, yes, yes. Of course that's what it did. Now you're swinging class. Now, what kind of fish did the politician try to drag across the trail.

"Wasn't it a red herring he tried to drag across the trail?"

Indeed it was. Now, what is the only kind of a young American who is worthwhile?"

"Do you mean a rough-cut, blue-veined 99 and 44 one-hundredths of a per cent young American?"

You are trying to pull your teacher's leg. Do you want a rap on the knuckles? Let's have the answer.

"Do you mean a clean-cut, red-blooded 100 per cent young American?"

What else but? Now, let's say something nice about mother-

40 Years Ago Today

By GWIN COGHILL
February 16, 1933

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt left Miami, Florida at 10 A.M. today by train for New York, saddened by the shooting of five persons by a gunman who sought Roosevelt's life. Before leaving, Roosevelt visited the victims of the bullets meant for him. The would-be assassin, Giuseppe Zangara, native of Italy, yesterday fired wildly in a crowd gathered around the automobile of Roosevelt in the picturesque Dade Front Park just as the next President of the United States concluded a brief speech.

* The Senate today adopted the Blaine resolution for repeal of the prohibition amendment with protection for dry states from liquor importation and ratification to be at state conventions. It now goes on to the House.

Strength For Today

ALL THE FACTORS

The age in which we live is indeed an age of violence. If there was ever a time when nations should live peacefully with other nations that time is right now. We have more advantages than any previous generation has known. With all the advantages there are in the modern world the fact remains that men are lunging at one another's throats all over the world. There are wars and rumors of war. Our own nation, which we regard not only with affection but with admiration, is accused of causing suffering and death among multitudes in less favored lands. We open the papers and read how families have been obliterated by intruders. A great deal of our national assets go each year into the support of agencies that will protect us from violence of every conceivable kind.

What can we do about this? Certainly we cannot allow violence to be unrebraked or unopposed. But this situation is something that goes beyond the police department. It is a disease of some sort, gnawing at the very vitals of a nation as lawless as our nation is art present.

More police is only a partial answer to our queries. Certainly we must have that, but we must have something more. There is something the matter with the inner life of our nation when as large a percentage turn to violence and crime as do in this present age.

More police action? Yes—but something deeper than that. Church, schools, business organizations—all these and many other factors are involved.

Some Might Feel Devaluation

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While chances are great that you will barely notice any immediate, perceptible change in your life because of the 10 per cent devaluation of the dollar, there are exceptions.

You may be hurt if:

—You are dependent upon imported products or parts. If you own a German or Japanese automobile that needs repairs your bill might be higher after the dealer's present parts supply runs out and he needs to import more.

—You travel extensively in nations whose currency is now worth more in relation to the dollar. If you are on an unlimited expense account you may not be concerned. But you should be if your account is limited to a daily

—You send money back to relatives in "the old country." Or you are an American living abroad, perhaps a retiree who receives a Social Security check from home each month.

—You work for a company that distributes imported products or which manufactures a product containing imported ingredients. Such a company could suffer a competitive disadvantage, mainly because of higher costs.

You could be helped if:

—You work for a company that has been hurt by foreign competition. In theory, at least, your company should now feel a change in competition both at home and abroad.

—You are a travel agent whose income depends upon a percentage of a customer's total foreign travel costs.

—You are an employer of a recreation or entertainment company, or any other business that could prosper from an increase in foreign travelers whose money is now worth more than before.

—You hold stock in a corporation which looks attractive to foreign investors more willing now to invest in the United States, mainly because stock prices have been discounted 10 per cent, but also because some companies might become more competitive.

—You hold business or property for sale—anything from a tiny work of art to a manufacturing plant—that now could become more attractive to foreigners with capital seeking to make direct investments in the United States.

—You are an investor in a U.S. company whose borrowing costs might be reduced because of a return flow of dollars.

Among the signs of a new economic world that called for new currency alignments:

—For half a century the United States was known as THE producer of automobiles. No other nation or group of them was close. If anything represented American industrial dominance it was the car.

Now there exists an economic entity known as the Common Market, made up of Germany, France, Italy,

BRYAN HAISLIP

"Law enforcement will no better than the people in it," SBI Director Charles Dunn told the committee and an audience including sheriffs and police officers from counties and municipalities throughout the state.

Dunn spoke as coordinator of the North Carolina Law Enforcement Association Council, representing 14 major law enforcement organizations active in the state. In tandem with a retirement program, the minimum salary bill has the council's top priority endorsement, he said.

Basically, it would fix a $6,000 salary floor for all sworn officers, and provide some $4 million in state funds to assist counties and cities in implementing the salaries for a two-year period. After that, local governments would be required to assume the responsibility for meeting the minimums.

Local Government Objections

That aspect of the legislation got a negative response from spokesman for the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners and the North Carolina League of Municipalities. In effect, they said it would run counter to the home rule principle to have the legislature tell counties and cities what pay scales must be set for a class of employees.

Municipal officials, said Leigh Wilson, executive director of the league, "fully recognize the need to improve salary levels for law enforcement officers and support efforts in this direction."

As an alternative, he suggested that the legislature assist local governments, through the state personnel department, in setting up comprehensive position classification and pay plans for their employees. This would move to minimum salary standards for all workers on a sounder management basis, he explained.

Sen. Tom Strickland of Wayne, one of the bill's sponsors, said a survey showed salaries received by Tar Heel sheriffs and police officers are too low. "Taxpayers are not getting their dollar's worth because of the high turn-over that results. No sooner is an officer trained than he goes on to another job that pays more," he explained.

Garbage Pays More
One sheriff illustrated the point. He said his best deputy was hired away by the county to drive a garbage truck.

Dunn spelled out the situation in figures. A survey by the staff of the Criminal Justice Training and Standards Council, he said, found that 78 out of the 136 reporting local departments paid beginning officers less than $6,000 annually.

Among municipalities, 43 out of 60 pay beginning officers less than $6,000. Thirty-five sheriffs' departments reported pay of less than $6,000 annually.

"Altogether there are probably close to 1,500 officers in North Carolina making less than the minimums spelled out in this bill," Dunn said. "As indicated form the starting salaries reported in the survey, some officers are not even making living wages."

Moonlighting For Survival
Many must moonlight to survive, and only the minority can look forward to the hope of improving salaries in the future, he said. "When pay scales are considered, North Carolina can consider itself fortunate that there has been so little corruption among law enforcement officers," Dunn asserted.

A boost from a civic club was part of the presentation. Roy Dees of Raleigh, a national director of the Exchange Clubs, noted that the organization is sponsoring National Crime Prevention Week, Feb. 11-17.

"Effective law enforcement doesn't cost. It save money, and lives," he argued. The public wouldn't trust its children to untrained pilots and drivers, he reminded. Neither should life and property be trusted to untrained and underpaid law enforcement officers, he said.

Other states have gone the route, Dunn reported. Maryland requires an $8,000 annual salary for officers; Virginia sets $7,200 for deputy sheriffs; Florida requires a $6,000 minimum for all officers; and South Carolina is considering $6,500 minimum.

Minimum salaries, coupled with training standards would give North Carolina "one of the finest programs to upgrade law enforcement services" of any state in the country, he said.

Evans-Novak

(Continued from page 4) his cavalier treatment when we talked to him this week. But he was anything but philosophical about the effect of budget cutbacks on his state programs.

He was sympathetic with a cutback under Title IV of the Social Security Act last year that reduced the federal share of his state's welfare programs from $80 million to $56 million during the present fiscal year. That reduction was congressionally endorsed.

But the governor was outraged when Weinberger's HEW issued new guidelines, ruthlessly pruning welfare programs affecting retarded children and day-care centers, in addition to new, drastically reduced income ceilings.

The new guidelines, Carter has now told the White House, are in direct contravention of congressional intent. Moreover, they repeal a long-standing provision in the law that permits private funds to pay state contributions for day-care centers and other programs. In Georgia, this has forced closing down scores of federal-state programs, cost at least 3,000 jobs and put hundreds temporarily back on the welfare rolls.

Carter's claim that these new guidelines were drafted "in secrecy" and that "human misery" could have been avoided if the states had been consulted ahead of time is not unique. A Republican, Gov. Linwood Holton for Virginia, has privately told the White House the same thing.

When the governors formally meet here in two weeks, the full measure of their fury will be felt inside the White House. Almost all favor long-range Nixon plans to reduce federal spending and to strike directly at the burgeoning costs of welfare. But they bitterly resent being treated like poor relations by Mr. Nixon's appointed assistants. They can now share the feelings of many congressmen and Republican party officials.

No, a sorry spectacle — because you know so many clichés already that when you grow up you'll be a bore to the world.

In contrast, these same nations produced more than 10 million units in 1970. Because Britain and Ireland were not members then you may subtract 1.5 million units and still exceed the U.S. total of 6.5 million for that year.

—In the immediate post-World War II years it was often said the most needed exportable of the United States, other than its money, was management knowhow. "Dun's Review," a management magazine, studied current European attitudes toward U.S. managers and their methods and found much disenchantment.

It summarized findings in these words: "Europeans believe that in their reliance on management methods and techniques, American executives have, in effect, lost their ability to get things done."

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

THE RACE OF THE AUTOMATICS.

MAZDA WINS.

We raced a rotary-engine Mazda with its new automatic transmission against a couple of able competitors with their automatics at The Pomona Raceway.

The results:

Standing Start 1/4 Mile	MAZDA	VEGA	PINTO
Elapsed time — Seconds	17.867	19.559	19.911
MPH	78.19	70.58	71.09

Test sanctioned by National Hot Rod Association.

The conclusion: Mazda has an automatic that puts all that rotary power to work. Keeps the power manageable at all times. And provides a smooth, quick, turbine-like response. Response like a slingshot.

Try this new performance pair. The rotary engine the experts are raving about, and the automatic built to be its running mate. In five new 1973 rotary-engine models: the RX-2 Coupe and Sedan, the RX-3 Coupe and Sedan, and the RX-3 Wagon—America's only rotary-engine station wagon. See them all now at your Mazda dealer.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets steady today. Tops of 35.50-36.00 Rocky Mount, 34.50-35.50 Siler City and Denton, 33.50-34.50 Kingston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton, 32.50-33.50 Tarboro and Bethel.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—F.O.B. dock broker prices steady. Supplies barely adequate and demand good. Weights desirable to light. Hen prices steady with a firm undertone noted for next week on heavy types. Supplies of heavies short, and demand good. Offerings of light type adequate and demand fairly good. Heavies: too few to report. Light: at farm 6.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices slipped lower in light trading today as edgy investors appeared to be sitting out the final trading session before a three-day weekend.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 2.03 to 971.10. Losers clung to a narrow 558-to-488 edge over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Diamond Shamrock took the most-active position on the Big Board, dropping 3/4 to 22 1/2 after a 200,000-share lock changed hands at 22 1/4.

American Crystal Sugar Co. was delayed in opening because of an order imbalance. The company reported shareholders of Crystal Growers Corp had approved a proposed merger into American Crystal.

The Big Board declared that all American Crystal trades through the close of next Wednesday's session must be for cash.

Deere & Co., which reported a large quarterly earnings increase, was up 1/4 to 47 1/2. On the American Stock Exchange, a higher yearly earnings report sent Teleprompter ahead 3/8 to 26 1/2.

On the Big Board, Bausch & Lomb advanced 1 1/2 to 22 1/2. National Patent Development said a subsidiary reached agreement sublicensing Bausch & Lomb to make and sell its contact lenses in Europe.

Cutter Laboratories was the volume leader on the Amex, losing 3/4 to 13. The Amex's price change index was down .03 to 25.38.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks dipped 0.02 to 61.64.

Sterner Pollution Penalties Proposed

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Board of Water and Air Resources proposed Thursday to stiffen penalties for violations of water and air quality regulations.

New civil penalties could range to $5,000 for each violation, or if the violation is "willful," the board could charge up to $5,000 per day as long as it continued.

Quarterly Meet Services Set

Quarterly meeting services will be held at Bethel Chapel F.W.B. Church beginning tonight at 7:30 p.m. On Saturday night at 7:30 there will be Holy Communion, with the Rev. Jasper Tyson, speaker. Sunday services will be morning worship at 10:00 a.m. with the Rev. E.D. Bryant, pastor. Sunday school is at 11:00 a.m., and at 3:00 p.m. the service will be by Rev. ## Miss Stancill In Production

ROCKY MOUNT — A Greenville native, Debra Ann Stancill, has been cast in a stage role in the North Carolina Wesleyan College Theatre's Winter Term Production, The Boy Friend. The play began a six-night run on Thursday.

Miss Stancill will play the part of Nancy, one of the young ladies in the chorus, in the lively musical comedy.

Fire Damaged Greenville Home

A 1:49 a.m. fire today damaged a cement block home at 1504 West Fourth St., according to Greenville Fire Department officials.

Officers said two rooms in one of the two apartments in the dwelling suffered extensive fire damage when a space heater flooded and apparently started the fire.

Other rooms in both apartments suffered smoke and water damage.

Criminal penalties would subject violators to fines of $25,000 per day, imprisonment of up to six months, or both.

Current criminal penalties range from a minimum fine of $100 to a maximum of $1,000. The board's proposed measure would penalize anyone who knowingly made a false statement to the board or tampered with air or water quality monitoring devices with a fine up to $10,000, imprisonment up to six months, or both.

Steve Meehan, public information officer at the Department of Natural and Economic Resources, said the board hoped to have the legislation introduced in the General Assembly by March 1.

Group Flies A VC Flag

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The Viet Cong flag has been flying since last Sunday at a house occupied by six hippie-type young men who call themselves The Black Rose. They say the seven-foot red and blue flag made by one of them will continue on display until all Viet Cong prisoners of war are released from South Vietnamese prisons.

A neighbor man who would not identify himself because he said he feared he might lose his pistol permit told a newspaper he had complained to the FBI. He said he was told there wasn't anything the agency could do.

The Black Rose group said in a statement: "We are real happy that the United States has pulled out of Vietnam. Now it gives the Vietnamese people a chance to re-unite their homeland."

"The flag is that of the Viet Cong who we believe are the true representatives of the people in South Vietnam. They are not a puppet government of the United States or the French, but the very same people who have been trying for over 25 years to govern themselves."

"By the way, we aren't un-American. We do feel that countries like the U.S. and Portugal (which is involved in several Vietnams in Africa) should stay out of the business of other countries."

Alice's Adventures Adhere To The Book

It has been some years since, as a child, I read "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," but many of the illustrations, copied from the original, remain in my mind.

And the new live-action motion picture, "Alice In Wonderland," now playing at the Plaza Cinema, brings many of them to life.

The producers of the film used these drawings to design the costumes and makeup for their players, and they have done an excellent job. Except for a few instances, the makeup is almost flawless: only a few of the birds really don't quite make it. But you must be looking for these defects to spot them.

The job done on the White Rabbit, the March Hare, the Doormouse, the Lizard and others is superb, and the ability of the actors to carry off their parts is as good.

The set decoration is also outstanding, from the tiny houses in which some of the characters live to the cardboard quality of the palace of the King and Queen of Hearts, which looks much like it had been cut out rather than built.

The changes in the size of Alice are also done quite well, without most of the fuzziness that usually goes with trick photography.

Fiona Fullerton, the girl who plays Alice, is a pretty thing who at times seems a little out of place with her lines, which for the most part follow the original ones. This may account for some of the problems some adults might find in the film, but it lies mostly with the lines and not the delivery. Miss Fullerton is a promising actress, however, and does her part well for the most part, although her singing voice is weak.

Recalling the original, nearly all of the characters are there. The film probably comes closer to following the book than most do.

The children will find it a Noise is the No. 1 occupational health hazard in Kentucky, according to a state Health Department survey.

Fund Raisers Are Honored

GREENSBORO (AP) — New Hanover County has been honored for conducting the state's top charity fund-raising campaign for community services during 1972.

The North Carolina United Community services held its ninth annual campaign recognition meeting Thursday night and gave a trophy to the Cape Fear Area United Way (New Hanover County) for being the top money-raiser of $500,000 or over.

The county also got the Jefferson Standard-North Carolina Trophy for the state's outstanding campaign.

Cleveland County won for the best campaign in the $100,000 to $499,999 category. The Tri-County United Fund at Elkin won for the outstanding campaign in the $99,999 and under category.

Presidential trophies for excellent results went to the Lexington United Fund and the Caldwell County United Fund.

Campaigns in the state raised a record $16 million.

Musicians Will Be At Library

The series of music programs for children at Sheppard Library continues with three East Carolina University musicians, one faculty and two graduate students, to be on hand Saturday morning.

From 10:00 to 11:00 Saturday morning, in the Children's Room at Sheppard Memorial, faculty member and saxophonist James Houlik, and students Ron Parrella and Dianne Love will present the program.

A saxophone solo will be featured, and the three will explain the instruments being played and something about the compositions they will play during the program.

Miss Helen Parker, Children's Librarian, says the Saturday programs of music will continue into the spring.

Pirates Face Indians In Key Contest

Jamesville Boys, Trojanettes Win

WILLIAMSTON — Jamesville's boys and Oak City's girls advanced to tonight's finals in the Martin County Conference tournament with wins last night.

Jamesville upset second place Robersonville, 55-48, while the Oak City girls downed Bear Grass, 35-24.

The tournament finals have been switched to Robersonville High School's gymnasium tonight because of heating problems at the Williamston Gym.

Jamesville will take on Oak City in the boys' final, and both teams will advance to next week's Class A District Tournament, regardless of outcome. Robersonville's girls met Oak City in the other final game.

In the girls' contest, Oak City shot out to a 10-3 lead in the first period of play. They found trouble hitting the mark in the second quarter, getting only four, but that is all Bear Grass could manage to, so the margin held at halftime, 14-7.

In the third period, Bear Grass managed to outshot the Trojanettes, 10-8, to trim the lead to only 22-17. But in the final quarter, Oak City pulled away again, 13-7, to hold on for the win.

Sylvia Jones led the winners

East Carolina University's Pirates go into a "must" game Saturday afternoon in Williamsburg, Va., if they are to keep their hopes alive of a third place finish.

East Carolina currently stands 6-6 in the league with two Southern Conference games remaining. The only teams with a chance to catch the Bucs are

The Citadel, Richmond and William & Mary. The Citadel, however, has a Saturday date at Furman, and barring an upset, and that would reduce their chances to having to beat the Pirates in Greenville in their final game to do the trick.

Richmond could only catch the Bucs if the Pirates drop both of their remaining games and East Carolina loses both of theirs. And William & Mary could catch them only by beating both the Bucs and Richmond.

It's all very complicated, but it is a simple fact that a win over William & Mary on Saturday and another over The Citadel the following Saturday would wrap up third place for the Bucs.

The job this Saturday will not be an easy one, however. They go against the Indians in a 1:40 p.m. regionally televised contest.

"As I said earlier, when we played them here, William & Mary is young, but talented," Quinn said. "They have gained a lot of added experience since then." So much in fact they beat West Virginia on the Indian court Thursday night.

"They have three players, Tom Pfingst, Mike Arizin and Matt Courage, who are excellent young athletes," Quinn said. "But it was Mark Ritter who hurt us here.

The Indians gave the Pirates all they could handle at home, leading by six, 42-36, at halftime. The Pirates came back on the cold-shooting Indians to finally gain the lead and take a 73-68 victory late in the game.

Ritter led the Indian scoring with 17 points, while Arizin had 11 and Pfingst had 10.

The difference in that game was the free throw shooting. The Indians, who were the second leading team at the line in the nation then, hit on less than 50 per cent of their shots, and it cost them.

They still lead the conference in free throw shooting, 75.9 per cent. The are last in rebounding, however, getting only 34.4 per cent, and are sixth in field goal shooting at 43.9.

"We're going to have to get after it if we are going to win. It's going to be a tough game; they've done a good job on their home court. They gave Davidson all they could handle for 30 minutes," Quinn said.

"It's time for us to start playing well again after two bad games. We're going to be working extra hard from here on in to get ready for these two final conference games and the tournament. We're in the home stretch now. "If we want a high finish, a winning season, and momentum into the tournament, we must get to work," he said.

But he was reminded that last year, the Pirates lost their last four games during regular season (one of them to William & Mary) to have absolutely no momentum into the tournament, no winning season, and a fourth place finish in the Southern.

And he could only shake his head at that.

However, the coach would prefer a winning year, and the William & Mary game becomes a key one for that and for the high S.C. finish. "We have to go to the board well against them, and we've got to get back on defense. They are not as fast as some teams, but they do rush the ball back on you, so you've got to be ready."

The Bucs go into the game still paced by Earl Quash in scoring, with a 13.7 average. Three other Bucs are also in double figures, Dave Franklin, 11.5, Al Faber, 11.2, and Nicky White, 10.4.

The other starter Jerome Owens, is just a hair back with a 9.9 average.

Following the William & Mary game, the Bucs travel back to the Tidewater area, facing Old Dominion Tuesday in Norfolk. They close out the season next Saturday, hosting The Citadel.

East Carolina Harriers Join Chase Of Indians

East Carolina University's indoor track team is currently closing out the best season it has ever enjoyed. But Saturday, things get back to normal in the Southern Conference.

Normal, at least in the sense that William & Mary will win its eight straight league title in the sport.

"We will get beaten," East Carolina Coach Bill Carson says. "William & Mary will again dominate the meet."

But this doesn't mean that Carson and his charges are giving up. "We've a much improved team, and our record speaks for itself. We've beaten some good teams. But William & Mary has tremendous strength in the middle distance events, and that's where the indoor meet is biggest."

These events include the half-mile, the mile, the two mile, the distance medley relay and the two mile relay. "We should get a place or two in these, as will Furman," Carson added. "But William & Mary has 38 people running in these events, while we will probably have four and Furman, six. The rest of the teams won't have much of consequence in these events. William & Mary is just a powerhouse in these, plus they've got some real fine athletes in the others too, to pile up even more points."

While Carson expects his team to make its best performance in the meet, and finish second to the Indians, he points out that William & Mary, with 38 in the middle distance events, has three more athletes there than Carson has on his whole team. "We'll perform to our potential, and we should finish second," he said. "We've qualified several people for the nationals already, and we'd like to qualify a couple of more."

These include Jerry Klas in the mile and Sammy Phillips in the 60-yard high hurdles.

"This is a fact. There is no challenge by us of William & Mary in the meet, and I don't foresee us presenting one anytime in the future unless their program comes down or ours goes up," Carson noted that W & M has two full-time coaches, a graduate assistant, and a well-financed program. They are ranked as the number two team in the East.

"But we're not going to worry about it, just go out and do our best, and I can say right now that I'm going to be just as proud of my athletes as I have been at any time during this season."

Less Strayhorn, who has already run the 60-yard dash in 6.2 seconds, is one of the top candidates to win this. Maurice Huntley can also place high for the Bucs in it.

In the 60-hurdles, Ron Smith and Sammy Phillips both should finish high, and Carson feels they can take two of the top three spots.

Charles Loveless could be a winner in the 440-yard dash and certainly should place. Huntley may also figure in this too.

In the 600, Barry Johnson could place as high as second, the coach feels.

But in the 880 and the two-mile, Carson feels the Prates will not place at all. "We should finish well with Klas in the mile, however," he adds.

In the distance, two-mile and mile relays, Carson feels that the Bucs should finish well, but William & Mary's great depth will show up, giving them fresh runners in these events, which the rest will not have.

"We expect to finish one-two-three in the triple jump," Carson said. He has top athletes here in Walter Davenport, Lawrence Wilkerson and Larry Malone.

The long jump has been one point where the Bucs haven't been up to par, but Carson feels that Davenport, Malone, Willie Harvey and Phillips could all place in this.

In the high jump, two or three places could be captured by John Pitts, Roy Quick, Bill Boles and Glenn Russell.

In the shot, Carson feels he should do no worse than second and third with Ivey Peacock and LaBaron Caruthers, both of whom have thrown over 50 feet this year.

In the pole vault, the Bucs have a shot at victory with Rick McDuffie, with Art Miller placing.

Peacock could also score in the 35-pound weight throw. "If we can hold them to within 40 points, I feel we'll have done an outstanding job," Carson said.

Roanoke-Chowan Tops Pitt Tech

WINTERVILLE — Pitt Technical Institute wound up the season last night, bowing to regular season champion Roanoke-Chowan in the finals of the playoff tournament, 75-72.

The Paladins had finished the regular season in the runner-up position to Roanoke-Chowan also.

The game was close most of the way. Pitt Tech and R-C both opened the game with a zone defense, holding down the scoring somewhat. The Paladins scored first, and the two teams swapped baskets for most of the first half of play. Pitt Tech finally moved out by three at the half, 38-35.

As the second half got moving, the Paladins hit a hot streak and moved out to a 54-44 lead with about 13 minutes left. But Roanoke-Chowan came back into a zone press situation, and it flustered the Paladins enough for them to catch up again. The game remained close throughout the rest of the play, last being tied with about a minute and a half left. But Roanoke-Chowan got a couple of key rebounds and foul shots to gain the victory.

James Veal led R-C with 19 points, while Leo Walton and Willie Owens each had 15, John Powell had 12 and Lemuel Heckstall had 10.

For the Paladins, John Edwards had 20, Frank Brown had 18, Richard Harrison had 15 and Charles Jordan had 14.

Oakmont Ties Top

Oakmont Baptist has reknoted the tie for first place in the Church Basketball League with a 50-42 victory over Grace Free Will Baptist last night.

The win tied Oakmont with Immanuel Baptist, both with 11-1 records.

Oakmont moved out into a lism 25-22 lead in the first period over their foe. Then, in the second half, they came back with a 25-20 scoring advantage over Grace to wrap up the victory.

Ned Cheely led Oakmont with 14 points, while Bob Tunstall added 11 and Doyle Daughtry had 10. Lewis Hardee led Grace with 16, with Steve Wise hitting 12 and Curtis Sutton, 11.

Charles Loveless could be a winner in the 440-yard dash and certainly should place. Huntley may also figure in this too.

North Pitt, A-G Girls, Greene Boys Win

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

LITTLEFIELD — Action in the Eastern Carolina Tournament continued last night with three games. Greene Central's girls were beaten in the first contest 39-30, by the Ayden-Grifton Lady Chargers. The Greene Central boys took the second game with a 75-62 mauling of Farmville Central and North Pitt's Big Orange Machine won a tough battle from the Lady Falcons of C. B. Aycock, 52-42.

The Charger girls will meet the Lady Saints of Southern Wayne tonight at 7:30 while in the two boys' games, Greene Central moves up to play A-G's boys and D.H. Conley is in the last game with North Lenoir who beat Eastern Wayne Wednesday night.

The lead in the A-G-Greene Central game was never completely controlled by the Lady Chargers until the second half. Going into the third quarter, the Ewes trailed by only three points, 17-14. They had scored first as Judith Tripp banged in a long outside shot but baskets by Maude Babington and Nancy Sugg gave the Lady Chargers a 4-2 lead.

Keith Gay tied it 4-4. The lead went right back to A-G on Terry Wooten's jumper from the lane and the first period ended with A-G in front by 6-4.

A bucket by Gay with 58 seconds gone in the second period tied it at 6-6 and a score by Tripp put the Ewes back in front, 8-6. Decia Little cut the lead down to a point for the Lady Chargers on a free shot. The point was doubled by Delilah Pridden's basket from the lane. Nancy Sugg added a free throw for A-G but Jackie McLawhorn got it back for Greene Central with a lay-up, 12-8.

The Lady Chargers got hot and dumped in nine points to take the lead back and move in front by five. Kelly Reeves started the spirit of scoring from the baseline and Wanda Wheeler tied it at 12-12 hitting from the stripe. Debra Barfield put the Lady Chargers in the lead on a charity shot and baskets by Babington and Sugg gave it to them for good.

McLawhorn cooled the rally as she scored for the Ewes to cut the gap to three, 17-14 as the of the half. Ayden-Grifton began to pull away in the third period as they dumped in 12 to four for Greene Central. That quarter gave and they added ten more in the final period while the Ewes scored 12.

McLawhorn had 14 for the Ewes and Wooten had 12 for A-G.

Farmville Central had advanced in the tourney with a 58-35 over Southern Wayne. They were never in the games last night, however. The score was tied only once, in the first minute. The Rams got it back and steadily ran away with the game getting out to as much as 26 at one point. The Jaguars tried to rally in the last period cutting the gap to nine, 68-59, but Phil Lewis fouled out and the Farmville Central hopes went out with him.

Curtis Bryant broke the ice first for the Rams canning a jumper from the circle. McCoy Williams knotted the score at 2-2 with a bucket from outside but it was erased on a lay-up by Jackie Sherril and another score by Bryant put the Rams out by four, 6-2.

Greene Central went on to add 13 more points in the period while Farmville Central slipped in 11 and trailed by six at the end of the quarter, 19-13.

Greene Central moved away in the next period as the Jaguars failed to scratch until almost half of the quarter had gone by. Lewis drew his third personal during that time and sat out the rest of the half. In the meantime, the Rams were stuffing in 15 before Williams finally scored for the Jags. The lead by then was at 19, 34-15. In all, Greene Central put in 26 points in the period to FC's eight.

The third quarter was fairly close as the Jags took it by a point, 15-14. During the period, Ed Wells came off the bench and hit for eight points on four shots from the floor. Lee Johnson added six.

The Jaguars came alive in the fourth period but it was too late for a comeback. They outscored the Rams 14-4 in the first four minutes of the frame and canned 11 more in the next three minutes but with :48 to play, Lewis was charged with his fifth foul and the rally was shut off. Wells scored twice more for Farmville Central before the final horn.

Ervin Spivey led the scoring with 20 and Curtis Bryant had 16, Sherril had 12 for the Rams. Williams led the Jags with 22 and Lewis racked up 10 before he left the game.

The Pant-HERS had trouble containing the Lady Falcons through their games and having one starter foul out, one with four fouls, and another with three did not help the Big Orange's efforts.

Minnie Hollis scored twice to get the Pant-HERS rolling and Linda James sank a long jumper for a 6-0 lead. Treva Howell put Aycock on the boards hitting from the baseline but it was matched by a bucket by Hollis.

Things began to get hot then as Phyllis Parnell, Jean Evans, and Annette Dickerson all scored to tie the game at 8-8. Wanda Whichard scored for North Pitt and the Pant-HERS never lost the lead again but the Lady Falcons got mighty close. Hollis and Phyllis Jenkins scored for North Pitt to round out the scoring in the first period, and give the Big Orange a 14-8 lead.

Jenkins and Linda James blew in quick baskets for the Pant-HERS to run the margin out to 18-8 but Aycock put in five field goals and a pair of free shots around a pair scores by North Pitt to narrow the lead to three, 23-20.

The teams traded points in the third quarter as North Pitt put up one more point than did the Lady Falcons, 10-9. That gave the Big Orange a 38-31 advantage.

With just over five minutes to play, Joy James kicked her third to impare the Pant-HER attack. With James on the bench and the Pant-HERS lacking her rebounding, Aycock cut the lead down to a mere four points at 42-38 with 2:48 to play.

North Pitt moved away, however, as Hollis and Whichard scored and Aycock could not close the gap again.

Evans led the Lady Falcons with 13, Jenny Kearney had 11 and Dickerson added 10. Hollis and Whichard paced the Pant-HERS with 14 each.

The win puts the North Pitt girls into the championship game for the second time in as many years and they will play the winner of the A-G-Southern Wayne game.

Atlantic Coast Coaches Have Gotten Their Share Of Technicals

By KEN ALYTA

Associated Press Sports Writer
The athletes caught up in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race have retained their composure reasonably well this season.

But some of the coaches have not been so calm.

When Dean Smith became ruffled earlier this month while his sixth-ranked North Carolina team was involved in a rouser with second-ranked North Carolina State, the Tar Heel bench drew two technical fouls. One was for protesting an official's call. The other was for not sending in a substitute or calling time out when a Tar Heel player was injured slightly.

N.C. State won the game 76-73 in the closing seconds to remain unbeaten, with the two converted technical fouls contributing greatly to the manner in which strategy was devised at the finish.

Smith assumed "full responsibility for the defeat."

N.C. State's Coach Norman Sloan staged a more spectacular but less costly show in the same game.

It came when the 5-foot-7 Wolfpack guard, Monte Towe, was called for a charging foul with N.C. State nursing a one-point lead and 12 seconds to play.

Sloan reacted by leaping to his feet and sprinting down the sidelines to end of the court, after which he returned to the bench at a more normal pace.

Earlier in the game, Sloan had yanked his wrist watch from its normal position during a moment of acute stress, so that it dangled from beneath its accustomed spot on his wrist.

But Sloan has, overall, been a picture of control this season. Possibly a 20-0 record has something to do with it.

During his first few years at Raleigh, when he was establishing his program, things were rather tense and Sloan drew his share of technical fouls. The 7-19 record six seasons ago, his first at N.C. State, was especially trying.

Sloan earned three varsity letters under Everett Case, who started the basketball explosion at N.C. State.

He also learned some of the Hoosier's coaching methods. Case once said that there were times when he wanted to have a technical foul called against him, especially if his team had just lost possession of the ball.

Case reasoned that a technical under those conditions could, at worst, only cost him a point if the free throw was good, and it might fire up his team.

He also said that after such a call an official "just might" regard Case's team a bit more kindly later if a difficult call arose that could go either way.

Since the rule calling for coaches to remain seated has been in effect, Sloan has spent more time sitting.

The other coach of the ACC's elite trio this season, Maryland's Lefty Driesell, also has been feeling the pressure. A foot-stomper from his days at Davidson in the Southern Conference, Driesell has been having problems with his home area newsmen.

The Terrapins, No. 3 in the preseason poll, are No. 10 this week, after a 29-point home-court rout of Buffalo last Sunday. Driesell barred reporters from the dressing room until a post-game team meeting was over. The news conference that followed lasted about one minute before Driesell cut it short.

But not only the big winners are feeling the heat.

Clemson's Bates Locke pulled his team off the floor, trailing North Carolina 84-69 with four seconds to play at Charlotte, N.C., last Saturday night.

He said he was protesting the officiating and told newsmen he was glad he had walked off. "It's really not hard, I've done it before," he said.

Locke said at a weekly luncheon for newsmen, three days later, "I felt like doing it." He added that he's hoped the action would "put some pride" in his players. It may have. In their next start, the Tigers demolished Wake Forest 86-61 with 70 per cent last half shooting.

Virginia's Bill Gibson and Duke's Bucky Waters, once the object of oyster movements by segments of the student body, have survived to win.

When their teams met Tuesday night on the Duke floor, the pressure took its toll. Gibson drew three technical fouls and Duke three, two on the bench.

As for Carl Tacy at Wake Forest, the only new ACC head coach, he is suffering silently through a losing season. A Deacon spokesman said Tacy has been "a factastic gentleman" thus far.

The pressure reaches its peak March 8-10 in the championship tournament at Greensboro, N.C.

Meanwhile, after Thursday and tonight off, ACC teams resume with five games Saturday.

Clemson is at Maryland for a 1:30 p.m. regionally televised game, to be followed at 3:30 by North Carolina-Florida State at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Night games Saturday have N.C. State at Wake Forest, Notre Dame at Duke and Penn State at Virginia.

Cougars Gain Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Carolina Cougars waited until late to make their move but when they did, it was awesome, and when they finished, it was: Carolina 120, Kentucky 108.

"We kept it close—then we took over at the end," commented 6-7 guard Steve Jones after Thursday night's game which put his Cougars five games ahead of the second place Kentucky Colonels in the American Basketball Association's eastern division race.

The game was played before a crowd of more than 8,000 at the Charlotte Coliseum and was the league's only contest of the night.

In the only NBA game, Baltimore edged Golden State 96-94. Billy Cunningham scored 28 points and 6-10 center Tom Owens had 22 in leading the Cougars to their 15th straight home victory, but it was bench strength that sealed the verdict.

The Cougars trailed in every period but the last, starting the final quarter on the short end of an 83-79 margin. But the Cougars outscored the Colonels 41-25 in the final frame for the victory.

Gene Littles was one of the Cougars who came off the bench and he scored 12 of his 16 points in the final quarter. Kentucky was led by Dan Isel with 26 points and towering Artis Gilmore with 19.

Marlin Has Eyes For Big Victory

By JOHN R. SKINNER

Associated Press Sports Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tennessee farmer Clifton "Coo Coo" Marlin is thinking about a $32,000 winner's check in Sunday's Daytona 500 stock car race after sharing honors with Buddy Baker in two 125-mile qualifying races.

Marlin, of Columbia, Tenn., won Thursday's second 125-mile qualifying test with a speed of 157.177 miles per hour after pole winner Baker whipped a stellar field in the first race, timing 173.611 miles per hour.

"I'd put that money into the farm, I wouldn't put it in racing," said Marlin, 41, contemplating the possibility of a paycheck bigger than all of his 1972 earnings of $28,124 on the Grand National circuit of National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing. In a six-year career, he has won only $58,000.

Despite the fact the finish gave Marlin a seat in the second row behind Baker and Pete Hamilton of Dedham, Mass., he is at best a long shot for the big test over Daytona's 2.5-mile high-ranked track.

Marlin's son Sterling, 16, is the only member of his pit crew that works with him regularly and he admits the two spare engines he brought to Daytona are no match for the one used Thursday which suffered a punctured oil pan late in the race.

He'd like to use the same engine in his 1972 Chevrolet Sunday because he feels it is competitive with the field. Most of the other drivers, with more money behind them, will replace their engines with new ones for the 500. Hamilton, in the same qualifying race with Marlin, was already guaranteed the outside pole position through his qualifying speed of 183.45 miles per hour last week and pulled his 1972 Plymouth out of the race after 42 laps.

Baker, of Charlotte, N.C., was two miles an hour faster than Hamilton in the pole qualifying and said he was reluctant to run Thursday because he is recovering from the flu. He finished just ahead of Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., in a close battle which went on from start to finish.

"Cale had me sweating all the way through it," said Baker. "I ran just as wide open as a barn door."

Yarborough joins Marlin in the second row for Sunday's start. Gaining the third row were Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., and Hershel McGriff of Bridal Veil, Ore., runnerup on the NASCAR West circuit the past two years to Ray Elder of Carthuers, Calif.

Three-time 500 winner Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., and defending champion A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., will flank each other in the fourth row, followed by Dick Brooks of Porterville, Calif., and Bob by Isaac of Catawba, N.C., in the fifth row. Elder and James Hylton of Inman, S.C., make up the sixth of 20 row.

Marlin, who said he gave himself the nickname "Coo Coo" when he was a small boy and couldn't pronounce the name Clifton, had never won a major NASCAR race before.

GREAT ENGINEERING MAKES THE DIFFERENCE.
It's an easy step up in price to get Dodge Polara's full-sized looks, luxury, and equipment. But it's the engineering features, such as Electronic Ignition and Torsion-Quiet Ride, that really make Polara an outstanding buy.

'73 CHARGER.
MORE VARIETY TO ITS GREAT LOOKS.
Dodge Charger's great styling is still in a class all by itself. What's new for '73? A unique Torsion-Quiet Ride, front disc brakes as standard, a choice of three vinyl roofs, and a "super quiet" Charger SE.

The No. 1 Law Of Motivation

Martin describes one of the neatest examples of Applied Psychology I have seen in recent years. It also illustrates Law 1 of the "5 Laws of Human Motivation." So take the advertising test below, and send for that booklet!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
CASE W-528: Martin J., aged 28, reads this column in his Pottstown MERCURY.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "you stress the fact that success in dealing with people involves specific appeals."
"Well, I thought you'd enjoy a recent demonstration of that fact.

"At Hazelton, Pa., the officials have installed unique 'litter' containers.
"They are shaped like pigs and hippos and elephants.
"When a child inserts any normally discarded litter, such as a popcorn box or piece of paper, the talking mechanism says, 'Thank you.'
"And it may then add: 'My, that tasted good! I am hungry. Can you find me anything else to eat?'"

"As a result, the children are intrigued and scour the park for any bit of litter.
"The park's premises thus are kept spotless, without any nagging or scolding.
"Dr. Crane, isn't this a superb example of Applied Psychology?"

Applied Psychology
Yes, and those Hazelton officials deserve an "A" for their deft use of Applied Psychology. If we employ the proper appeals, we can actually accomplish miracles in the realm of child education, with but little scolding.
But it takes brains and often many hours of study to evolve some of these bits of strategy. A cardinal law of sales psychology states that we must slant our appeal to the desire of the prospect; not to that of the manufacturer or the salesman, teacher or preacher.

In my college textbook, "Psychology Applied," I thus include an "Advertising Test" that illustrates the "5 basic Laws of Human Motivation."
The first such law is illustrated by the following pair of book titles.
They were run for an entire year in a national newspaper advertising campaign.
The books were priced the same.
No salesman to inject his persuasive spoken words or magnetic personality.
The resulting sales volumes were thus due entirely to the appeal of the specific titles. Both contained the same number of words, as:

The Art of Courtship
The Art of Kissing
Which book would you have bought?
At the end of the year, one title had attracted 60,500 orders while the other pulled 17,500.
Why this vast difference?
The answer lied in Law No. 1, which states that people are more easily influenced by specific appeals, rather than by general stimuli.

Since "courtship" is the general heading (including kissing, as well as hugs, flowers, candy, movie dates, etc.) it was the 2nd title above that sold 60,500 copies.
Keep that Law No. 1 vividly in mind when dealing with children, as well as adults.
So send for my booklet "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

School teachers, preachers and parents can also benefit from it!
(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)
Houses built by muskrats are often used as nesting sites by Canadian geese.

The topaz often is so perfectly formed in its natural state that it can be used directly on a ring or brooch.

REAL Gold RevueReady

The second all night Annual Jaycee-REAL Gold Revue, the subject of an article in the Sunday edition of The Daily Reflector, will be heard over radio station WNCT-Radio, 1070 on the radio dial. The program being at 7:00 p.m. Saturday and continues until 6:00 a.m. Sunday.

The name of the radio station over which listeners can tune in to the Jaycee sponsored program focusing on work being carried on by REAL House in Greenville was inadvertently left out of the story.

On the program, hit songs of the 1950s and 1960s will be featured in the show, to be known by the short title REAL Gold Revue. In addition, ministers, representatives from the American Red Cross, the county's Social Services Department, Alcoholics Anonymous, and the Salvation Army will make appearances during the eleven hour program. Others to talk on the program will include personnel from REAL House.

Time for the program has been donated by Roy H. Park Broadcasting Incorporated, of which radio station WNCT is one of a chain.

Mazda introduces the 24/24 warranty.

Mazda's rotary is the engine of the future. It has fewer moving parts, so there's less to go wrong.

That's why Mazda warrants the basic rotary engine block and its internal parts to be free of defects, with normal use and maintenance, for 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first or Mazda will fix it for free.

Mazda warrants the rest of the vehicle for 12 months, or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first.

So come in today and check out our 5 new models for 1973. All equipped with a rotary engine. And a 24/24 rotary-engine warranty.
