

Communists And Govm't To Sign Laos Cease-Fire

SAIGON (AP) — Vientiane radio announced today that the royal Laotian government and the Communist Pathet Lao have agreed on a cease-fire for Laos and a signing ceremony will be held Wednesday.

The announcement did not describe terms of the cease-fire or specify when it would take effect. It said only that "a ceremony for signing the cease-fire agreement will be held" in Vientiane at 11 a.m. Wednesday local time — 11 p.m. today EST.

The Communist-backed Pathet Lao have been negotiating with the government of Premier Souvanna Phouma for weeks in attempt to get a cease-fire.

The Communist spokesman in Vientiane made no mention of how the Pathet Lao-proposed cease-fire agreement would be supervised or whether it would call for the withdrawal of foreign troops. The North Vietnamese have 65,000 soldiers in the country, backing the Pathet Lao in their drive to take over.

Prince Souvanna said earlier he would not be able to accept such a cease-fire because of the continuing threat of Hanoi's troops. He said the cease-fire could only follow agreement on troop withdrawal.

That presumably would include American advisers in the field with the Lao army and Thai mercenaries who fight for the government.

The United States has been backing the government with heavy financial aid and continuing air strikes, some by eight-jet B52 bombers. The Pentagon said last week the strikes by B52s and smaller fighter-bombers were averaging about 380 a day.

Fires Appear Arson

Fire officials and Greenville police today are investigating two fires here during the night which apparently were deliberately set.

Firemen were called to Merimac Boat Works on Albermarle Ave. about 11:40 p.m. yesterday when a fire was reported there.

Officials said the blaze, which damaged the rear of the building, was apparently set.

The second blaze was discovered at The Music Factory on 14th Street by police who were called when a sprinkler system alarm was sounded.

Police found a rear door to the building open and the building full of smoke and called firemen, about 4:10 a.m.

Fire officers reported trash and chairs has been stacked in a corner of the building and apparently set afire with charcoal lighter fluid.

The sprinkler system within the building extinguished the fire before firemen arrived.

In addition to the two building fires, fire units were called to the intersection of Eighth and Cotanche Streets about 12:15 a.m. when a false alarm was turned.

The city code provides for a $100 reward to be paid to anyone furnishing information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone turning in a false fire call.

The announcement said Eugene Cernan, Harrison Schmidt and Roland Evans will arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport at 9:45 a.m.

Space Center Is Named For LBJ

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (AP) — Legislation designating the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., as the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center, has been signed by President Nixon.

"By his vision and his work and his support, Lyndon Johnson drew America up closer to the stars; and, before he died, he saw us reach the moon—the first great plateau along the way," Nixon said Monday in signing a Senate resolution giving the late president's name to the center.

School Bd. Okays Curriculum Plans

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The curriculum prospectus for the Greenville City Schools for school year 1973-74 proposed by the school administration was approved by the Greenville School board Monday night.

Approval of the curriculum followed a two and one half hour presentation and discussion period during which apprehensions about some aspects of the curriculum were voiced by interested citizens attending the meeting.

In his motion to accept the curriculum prospectus, board member Dr. James Bearden summarized the main thrust of the 1973-74 proposal as one "to hold fast, to explore the concept of open classrooms. We are not embracing the open classroom but looking at as a new way of thinking. At the same time we are not turning a deaf ear on new concepts."

Superintendent Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood made the formal introduction to the prospectus, speaking from a prepared statement. He noted, "Curriculum recommendations require a delicate balance to reflect the views of the professional staff of the central office, the principals, the teachers, the parents and patrons...and more and more the views of students themselves. Then in the final analysis judgements must be made by the Board of Education."

Individual presentations were made by Charles Ross covering kindergarten through grades six; Mrs. Kay Whitehurst for junior and senior high school; Mrs. Ann Harrison for special programs; and Charles Dickens for federally funded supplementary programs. Dr. Cleetwood concluded his statement by noting, "We cannot have a serious gap between what we want for our children and what we are willing to provide...or unfairly and unrealistically expect somebody to produce. The budget and financial implications are obvious."

During discussions, Dr. Cleetwood noted in response to queries, that the curriculum remains essentially unchanged, with new directions as ones of gradual approaches to new concepts.

Heterogeneous grouping and individualized instruction will be used in the kindergarten. This concept will also be used in some first grade classes where conditions permit.

Generally, in the elementary level, the curriculum focus is on heterogeneous assignment for homeroom groups and for some subjects, with achievement level placement for other subjects.

At the junior and senior high level, the present curriculum arrangements are basically unchanged, with the introduction of some mini-courses to be available to senior high students.

It was agreed that at the March school board meeting the board would also look into a Citizens Advisory Committee suggestion that consideration be given to achievement level grouping in junior high school.

On other agenda items, the board approved a policy for retirement of teachers that will make it mandatory for school teachers in the Greenville City schools to retire at age 65.

Another policy matter approved is that of not permitting children to use lighted candles (open flames) in school plays or programs.

Violations Of Cease-Fire In Vietnam Drop

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The number of cease-fire violations reported by the South Vietnamese dropped 20 per cent today to the lowest level in more than two weeks.

There was no immediate explanation for the decrease nor evidence it resulted from the appeal Saturday by the Joint Military Commission to stop the bloodshed.

The Saigon command reported 135 Communist attacks during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m., including fighting in Quang Tri Province, just below the demilitarized zone; near the Cambodian border 30 miles west of Saigon; and in the western Mekong Delta.

The South Vietnamese have been reporting an average of 170 violations a day for the past week. Most are small incidents. Two investigations of alleged major violations began today.

Teams from both the International Commission of Control and Supervision and the Joint Military Commission launched a field probe into the shooting down of a U.S. helicopter on a peacekeeping mission Friday near An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. Five crewmen were wounded, one critically. The United States blamed the Viet Cong.

Another team from the military commission—which comprises the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong—arrived in Da Nang to begin an investigation of heavy fighting around Sa Huynh, a fishing village on the northern coast about 90 miles south of Da Nang.

The Viet Cong said it controls Sa Huynh and the Saigon government has been attacking the area in a "land-grabbing operation." The Saigon command claims its troops never lost control of the area. But there have been reports from other sources that the South Vietnamese lost control, then regained key portions of the sector and had suffered heavy casualties.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong neared completion of their first round of prisoner exchanges, which began Feb. 12. The remaining 300 South Vietnamese to be freed began arriving at Bien Hoa aboard U.S. planes from Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon; and officials said it was anticipated that the transfer would be completed today or Wednesday.

Saigon has freed about 7,000 Communist prisoners in exchange for 1,000 South Vietnamese. South Vietnam still holds about 19,000 POWs. The Communists have given the Saigon government a list of 4,000 POWs they hold, but Saigon claims the Communists hold as many as 30,000.

Environmental Suit Right Nears House Approval

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A third reading today is expected to complete North Carolina House approval of a bill which would give North Carolina citizens legal standing to sue the state in environmental cases.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Norwood Bryan, D-Cumberland, passed its crucial second reading in the House Monday night. But Rep. Gerald Arnold, D-Harnett, objected to the usually perfunctory third reading and it was postponed at his request.

Bryan's bill would permit any citizens to sue state government agencies for failure to enforce pollution laws and would allow judges to issue injunctions ordering the state to begin enforcement.

Under current state law, a citizen has no legal standing to sue in environmental matters unless he has suffered direct damages as a result of pollution.

Bryan's measure does not go as far as environmental lobbyists have asked. They would like the unlimited right to sue not only the state but individual polluters.

Arnold's objection to the third reading, he said, was based on a legal question. He wanted to find out overnight whether the bill would permit suits after a judge has already ruled unfavorably on a suit involving the same principals.

Bryan defended the bill during debate, saying it was a cautious and conservative approach. He pointed out that it requires that state agencies be given 90 days' notice before a suit could be filed.

This, he said, would keep most cases out of court, and would "tend to stiffen the spine of the state agencies."

Rep. Sam Bundy, D-Pitt, spoke against the bill, complaining that it would clog the courts with nuisance suits and cost the agencies too much time and money.

But Rep. W. S. Harris, D-Alamancee, replied that "I would rather see clogged courts than clogged air and clogged streams."

The House clogged its midweek calendar Monday night by postponing until Wednesday consideration of the bill to submit the Equal Rights Amendment to a statewide referendum.

The postponement came at the request of Rep. C. Kitchin Josey, whose committee passed the referendum bill last week. Josey reportedly felt that the bill was likely to provoke too much debate to be considered in an evening session.

In the state, a bill was introduced to create a system of scenic and recreational trails in the state park system.

Sen. McNeill, D-Guilford, introduced the bill, which makes no appropriations and does not give the state power to take land.

Smith said he was counting on private citizens granting easements through their lands to complete the system.

$85,000 Worth Of Equipment

NEW TRANSFORMER DELIVERED — Workers of the Greenville Utilities Commission prepare to unload a new transformer that will be installed in the North-Side Substation and will serve the northern section of Greenville and some parts of Martin County. The new piece of equipment weighs about 100,000 pounds when completely installed. Costing approximately $85,000, the new transformer will carry the present line voltages of 34,000 volts and a projected increased voltage of 115,000 volts. Utilities spokesman Malcolm Green said that it will take approximately six months to completely install the new unit. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Unrestrained Joy Over Being Free

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — In unrestrained public joy at being free, American prisoners of war frolicked with more than 1,000 teen-agers today, and then 18 of them flew out of Clark Air Base for the United States.

The big C141 hospital plane was due at Travis Air Force Base in California about 6 p.m. EST.

One of the 20 Americans released Sunday by Hanoi was left behind. He was Capt. Joseph Crecca Jr., 32, of Elba, Ala., who has malaria. But doctors said his condition was not serious and he would be flown home later in the week.

The 20th man, Lt. James W. Bailey, 30, of Kosciusko, Miss., flew home Monday to be with his ailing father.

So far, 163 American military and civilian prisoners have been released in North and South Vietnam, leaving 432 to be returned, according to lists supplied by the North Vietnamese. Hanoi is expected to free another large group early next week.

A few hours before their departure today, a dozen of the Air Force and Navy fliers visited Clark Air Base's Wagner High School. Laughing and hugging the teen-agers who asked questions about their long imprisonment and demanded their autographs, the former POWs—all of them imprisoned for five years or more—roamed from classroom to classroom for an hour.

"Wow! That's my first in five years," said Capt. Herbert B. Ringsdorf, 33, of Elba, Ala., slapping his hand to his head after a kiss from Debbie Henry, 16, of Arlington, Va. Lt. Cmdr. Joseph C. Plumb Jr., 32, from Gary, Ind., was embraced by teen-agers after he said: "The biggest change I see is that the girls are prettier now than when I went in six years ago."

London Office Shootout

LONDON (AP) — Three armed men masked with stockings invaded the Indian High Commission today, beat and tied up employees and then shot it out with British police. Two of the raiders were killed, and the third was injured and arrested, Scotland Yard said.

One policeman, an Indian official and two bystanders were treated for shock and minor injuries at nearby hospitals.

The raiders were Indians or Pakistanis and were in their 20s, the Yard said.

Indian officials said the three men appeared to be "misguided Pakistanis." The officials said the men evidently wanted to seize one or more hostages.

The Indians said the men entered the building about 9:30 a.m., and other eyewitnesses said armed police reached the building within four minutes.

The shootout occurred in a hallway. The Yard said that, as police rushed into the building, they encountered one of the raiders, who aimed a pistol at them. It was not clear immediately who fired first.

The attack was over in less than an hour. The India House staff returned to their offices, and a policeman on the scene said: "All the intruders have been removed. No one escaped."

The gun battle occurred just across the street from the Royal Shakespeare Company's London theater and at one of the city's busiest crossroads, the Aldwych intersection where the Strand becomes Fleet Street.

First Hearing Into Insurance Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today opens its first hearing ever into the $23-billion-a-year life insurance industry.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., chairman of the antitrust subcommittee, said in prepared remarks that the industry daily collects money from 300,000 Americans who have only a vague idea of what they are buying.

Leadoff witnesses were to include Ralph Nader, insurance actuary E. J. Moorhead, and Dr. Joseph Belth, an Indiana University professor of insurance.

Belth has said the life insurance marketplace is characterized by "an atmosphere of ignorance, complexity and apathy" with "ample opportunities for the exploitation of consumers."

The hearings are to determine if there should be a "truth-in-life insurance" law to make it easier for insurance buyers to compare policy costs and to better understand what they are buying.

There are 20 million policies sold in an average year. Hart says different policies offer a bewildering array of savings and dividend provisions that make it impossible to compare different prices of policies.

If the consumer cannot choose intelligently and thus affect competition, Hart says, "then we can be assured that the marketplace will be filled with inefficiency and overcharging."

Federal Judge Vows To Fight Bribery Conviction

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Federal Judge Otto Kerner says he will battle to erase his conviction for bribery—the first guilty verdict ever returned against an active member of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Kerner, 64, and his longtime associate, Theodore J. Isaacs, 62, were convicted Monday in U.S. District Court of conspiracy, bribery, fraud and income-tax evasion.

They were accused of taking a bribe in the form of race track stock while Kerner was governor of Illinois from 1961 to 1968. Judge Robert J. Taylor allowed 30 days for motions, but he did not set a date for sentencing. Kerner and Isaacs were free on their own recognizance.

Kerner said in a statement: "This battle is even more important than life itself because it involves my reputation and honor, which are dearer than life itself, and I intend to continue this battle."

His lawyer, Paul R. Connolly, said he would ask for a judgment of acquittal and, if that was denied, he would move for a new trial. James R. Thompson, the U.S. district attorney who prosecuted the case, told newsmen: "When the time for sentencing comes ... it's not conceivable that I would agree to probation."

Kerner faces a maximum sentence of 83 years in prison and $93,000 in fines on the 17-count conviction. Isaacs, charged with 15 counts, could be sentenced to 73 years in prison and fined $73,000.

Kerner additionally was convicted of perjury and making false statements to a federal agent.

The former governor, a long-time member of the Democratic party hierarchy in Illinois, sat composed and motionless as the guilty verdicts were read. The jury of seven women and five men had deliberated three days.

The government called 40 witnesses, and the defense called 31 in the seven-week trial.

The government's key witnesses were Mrs. Marjorie Everett, former head of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises, and William S. Miller, chairman during Kerner's administration of the Illinois Racing Board, a regulatory agency.

Mrs. Everett, an unindicted coconspirator, said she made the racing shares available to Kerner and Isaacs in 1962. She also said she contributed $45,000 to Kerner's campaign for governor in 1962.

She said Miller had a "life and death hold" over her racing enterprises.

Miller, 72, was indicted with Kerner but agreed to testify in exchange for dismissal of charges against him.

He said that he relayed the bribe offer to Kerner and Isaacs and that Kerner indicated his acceptance by saying, "That's very nice of Marj."

The prosecution said that Kerner and Isaacs used a complicated series of financial maneuvers to hide their ownership of the stock, that Kerner ordered racing boards to give preferred treatment to Mrs. Everett's interests and that both men failed to pay $83,000 each in taxes on their stock profits.

In 3½ days on the witness stand, Kerner denied all the charges and said he never interpreted the stock offer as a bribe.

Women Urged To Take Sex Revolution To Men

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Feminists left for home today after a national meeting where their founder urged them to take the sex revolution to men, lesbians demanded their civil rights and delegates were told to transform rhetoric into action now.

It was well into the night when the National Organization for Women disbanded its sixth convention Monday with a march on the White House.

Before the march in freezing temperatures, the more than 2,000 delegates approved resolutions urging that prostitution laws be dropped, divorce laws be improved, child-care facilities be expanded and "volunteerism" be curbed.

It was the largest meeting yet for the country's front-line feminist organization.

At the outset, President Wilma Scott Heide said NOW had to make the transition from on-paper strategies about changing society to actually doing it. NOW has been at the forefront of the effort to ratify the equal-rights amendment and has pioneered in improving the job situation for women, including winning $38 million payments for women employees allegedly discriminated against by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

In the last two years, NOW has established national task forces in more than two dozen other areas in which the organization considers women at a disadvantage, from credit availability to university promotion and hiring habits to divorce laws to labor unions and religious institutions.

Some of these areas are ready for action to implement NOW goals, Ms. Heide said. She prefers the "Ms." designation.

NOW founder Betty Friedan said the women's-liberation movement is so strong it can afford to take care of all the unfinished business and to force the world to look at men "not as instruments, not as sex objects, not as bread-winners—but as human beings, our brothers."

Some of the lesbians disagreed with that thesis in quiet corridor conversations.

They had been relatively successful in fighting their own battle for support from the "straights" in NOW, showing a strength that took the convention by surprise.

Charged In Two Killings

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Police charged a Durham woman with murder Monday after two men were shot to death beside her home near the downtown section.

Juanita Laverne Cotton, 25, was jailed without bond pending a hearing today in District Court.

Police found the body of Fred Lynwood Swann, 26, on the sidewalk in front of a laundry next door to the woman's home. He had been hit twice. Robert Johnson, 28, found behind the laundry, had been shot once and died on the way to a hospital.

The mother of the woman arrested, Clara Green, said her daughter had once gone with Swann. She said Swann called earlier in the day and said he was coming over for her daughter. The mother added that when the two arrived and tried to force the daughter to go with them, she pulled a pistol and fired.

Plan Additions To Quadrangle

Proposed additions to the Physicians Quadrangle on W. Sixth Street will include office space and facilities for a new medical specialist, it was announced this week.

According to Dr. Stephen R. Bartlett, Jr., president of the Medical Arts Center Inc. here, one of the buildings to be constructed will be utilized by Dr. Kelly Wallace, a plastic surgeon who is currently completing his residency at Chapel Hill.

Dr. Bartlett said that the building will be designed especially for use by Dr. Wallace in plastic surgery and will include operating space as well as facilities for therapy. Dr. Wallace is originally from Aurora, it was pointed out.

The other addition will be a new facility for Dr. J. Edwin Celment, Dr. Robert Deyton, Jr., and Dr. Edgar S. Douglas Jr., he reported.

Both buildings will be within the medical complex. A building permit for $225,000 for the additions has been issued.

Six Marines Killed In Three-Car Crash

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Six Marines died in a three-car collision Monday night.

They were from nearby Camp Lejeune and the New River Air Station on the Lejeune reservation.

Names will be released when it is made certain families have been notified.

Five were in one car headed west on U.S. 258 away from Jacksonville. Highway Patrolman J.M. Taylor said this car was on the wrong side of the road when it collided head-on with another car driven by a Marine who also died and in which a mother and son from Kinston, N.C. were riding.

Working On Tax Repeal

RALEIGH (AP) — Wilbur Hobby, president of the state AFL-CIO, announced plans Monday for a statewide effort to insure repeal of the sale tax on food.

"The North Carolina state AFL-CIO intends to do everything we can to spread the message across North Carolina on this opportunity to repeal the cruel, harsh and unjust sales tax on food and replace it with an increase in the upper income brackets," said Hobby.

Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, has introduced legislation to eliminate the tax on food for home consumption and set higher income tax rates for taxable income of more than $14,000.

"The halls of our legislature are crawling with special interest groups who are seeking to repeal tax laws that serve their interests," said Hobby.

He said local unions would begin circulating petitions supporting tax reform to be sent to legislators. Other groups will be invited to join in the campaign for legislation, Hobby added.

BOARD MEETING

An official board meeting will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. at Mt. Calvary FWB Church.

Fine Idea That Didn't Pan Out

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ever feel like the guy who bought a pumpkin farm only to find they'd cancelled Halloween? You may get that feeling watching a CBS television special that's on tonight.

The show is "Ed Sullivan Presents the TV Comedy Years." It runs 90 minutes and is billed as "an affectionate look at the comedy stars and programs of the past quarter century."

It was a fine idea on paper and gets off to a promising start with an ancient kinescope of Jack Benny's first TV show. In it, Benny talks about his friendly arch-rival from the radio days, the late Fred Allen. Two of Allen's most prominent facial features were the pronounced bags under his eyes.

"Allen looks like a short butcher peeping over two pounds of liver," Benny says.

Alas, things soon collapse after this in a barrage of so-so clips from past and present talk and situation comedy shows. They far outnumber the few inspired moments in the Sullivan special.

It's a shame, because there is a wealth of great material still lurking in network film vaults. Fortunately, a few were retrieved, one a brutally funny Sid Caesar skit from his "Show of Shows" era.

It featured Carl Reiner as an oily-voiced host of something that suspiciously resembled "This Is Your Life." The life belonged to Caesar, who sat in the studio audience.

Caesar wanted no part of it. He leaped about, flailing his arms wildly, and dashed for the nearest exit, only to be pounced upon by a squad of pages and a host determined to honor him. Caesar, Martha Raye and Red Buttons appeared as guests on the Sullivan special in a mildly funny skit about three stars arguing over where to put the canned laughter in their new show.

"Got that, Charlie?" Caesar asks the laugh-track technician at one point. "That's one snicker, one medium smirk and hold the guffaw."

But there aren't many guffaws in the entire show and it's maddening. I'm sure the producers did their best to compile a representative collection of 25 years of TV laughter.

But the collection contains a lot of duds, many of which still are making the afternoon rounds on local stations. That they wound up on a prime-time comedy special is sufficient cause to request a court of inquiry and have it run by Steve Allen, Sid Caesar, Jack Benny and Carol Burnett.

Liquor Suppliers Told SBI Probe Scheduled

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Alcohol Control Board has asked two of its major liquor suppliers to show cause why their business records should not be made available to a State Bureau of Investigation probe into the liquor business.

Implicit in the board's summons to the suppliers Monday was the threat that if they do not cooperate with the SBI investigation, their licenses to do business in the state will be revoked.

The ABC board action came at the request of Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, who complained that the suppliers—Ralph A. Elmore of Richmond, Va. and Robert Meyers of Raleigh—refused to cooperate with the SBI.

Morgan is asking for the records of Elmore's dealings with former ABC chairman Charles Cohoon and for records of commissions paid to sales representatives in 1971 and 1972.

Elmore represents nine liquor manufacturers, whose brands account for 10 per cent of the state's retail liquor sales. Total sales of all brands for the 1971 fiscal year, the last for which figures are available, were $178 million, according to ABC officials.

Ineligible To Get Aid Protest On Wednesday

RALEIGH (AP) — Owners of private property in six towns damaged by the storm which struck the coast more than a week ago will not be eligible for federal disaster aid, according to a state official.

R. J. B. Page of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources said Monday that residents of the communities of Nags Head, Kitty Hawk, Southern Shores, Topsail Beach, Wrightsville and Carolina Beach are affected.

Page said they were ineligible for federal aid because their towns have been approved for flood insurance offered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. He added residents were ineligible even if they had not acquired the low-cost insurance.

Gov. Jim Holshouser said last week he would request the President to declare Dare County a federal disaster area. Aid to public property damaged by the storm will not be affected.

A local protest against trains being used as a means of transporting military ammunition is to take place in Greenville Wednesday.

From noon to one o'clock Wednesday, members of the Greenville Resistance Committee, a student organization from East Carolina University, will be on hand for the one hour period at the Seaboard Coastline Railroad station near the junction of 10th Street and Dickinson Avenue.

Father Hugh C. Mulholland says the group has received a permit from the Greenville Police Department to protest the train's carrying ammunition. Students he said who will be active in leading the protest are Ruth Ann Morris, Molly Petty and Donna Hinton, all of East Carolina University.

Their main point of protest will center on trains being used to transport military ammunition to Military Ocean Terminal Sunny Point.

Domestic Jobs Mean Poor Pay, Hard Work

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — After one week in domestic service, a St. Paul newspaper writer concluded that household workers "should receive maximum pay and be elevated to sainthood."

Mary Jane Saunders of the St. Paul Pioneer Press wanted to find out what conditions a domestic worker has to cope with. She answered ads for domestics, applied through agencies and various services, went for interviews and then went to work as a maid.

One man wanted her to go with him to Tennessee on weekends, Miss Saunders wrote in reporting her findings. One woman got mad when Miss Saunders talked about benefits. Another didn't want to give holidays off because that's when she entertains a lot.

"I learned that people may be desperate for household help, but they don't boost their offers of pay," the reporter wrote.

The average pay offered was well below the federal minimum. One suburban woman offered 50 cents an hour for a baby-sitting job. She couldn't quite understand Miss Saunders' protest that the pay was too little.

"Well, when you work only two days a week, take out transportation, lunches and so forth, you can't pay more or it doesn't pay to work," the woman told Miss Saunders.

The reporter wondered how the woman could have thought it would pay anyone to work for her. Miss Saunders also couldn't help wondering if the woman ever found anyone willing to work for 50 cents an hour.

"My heart goes out to the woman who took the job offered by a woman in Edina (a Minneapolis suburb) who wanted a live-in light-housekeeper and baby-sitter for $25 a week plus room and board," the reporter wrote. "She couldn't be bothered with benefits and was angry that I mentioned it. She wanted my references but resented my asking for hers."

"Her 'gal' would be expected to be working before 7:30 a.m. every day to feed the children who get up at that time — earlier if the children change their minds — be on duty through the evening meals and dishes, baby-sit evenings and weekends as the family goes out often."

"And what about holidays?" Miss Saunders asked the woman.

"I entertain a lot and will need you especially on those days," the woman replied.

The cash offered in most cases was so inadequate a person would be unable to provide medical care, clothing, entertainment or anything else for herself.

One man, during a telephone interview, seemed more interested in the sociable than in the negotiable aspects of an arrangement. A country music entertainer, the man invited the job hunter to travel with him on weekends to Tennessee, where he has engagements.

"We could all move into my house where we would 'make like one happy family,'" the man suggested.

"I mentioned being black but that was all right with him because he 'used to have a mammy and she whipped me 'til I liked to die,'" Miss Saunders wrote.

The reporter went to the man's house for a personal interview. The man has three children. From the looks of the house, the reporter wrote, "a herd of buffalo, all smeared with peanut butter and jelly, had been locked in there to roam for six months... There were several thicknesses of dirt and grime everywhere."

Miss Saunders tried to get him to discuss fringe benefits — besides his collar greens in the backyard and his offer of trips to Tennessee. The man told her not to worry, that he was honest and didn't want to cheat anybody.

"He would give me a little money and I could go on AFDC and get another job too," the newswoman wrote. "He 'sure wouldn't say nothin' to nobody.' I could just do my work and 'gon 'bout my business' whenever I wanted to... He knew he and I would understand each other. It would be 'just like down home'."

The man's requirements were beyond the reporter's call of duty or discretion. She left after promising to call back.

The attitudes of people during personal interviews varied. Most were polite but Miss Saunders sensed condescension on the part of many, even when they were trying to be very tolerant. At least 10 housewives were glad to see she was black. Some "didn't have a prejudiced bone" in their bodies. Others said she would be "a good experience for their children."

In several homes the housewives told Miss Saunders she would be the manager and could do anything she wanted.

"But I got the impression through conversation it was just another way of saying I would do nearly everything," she concluded.

Parent Without Partner? Not This Lover Boy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I just read about the married woman whose girl friend found an ideal husband thru Parents Without Partners, and she was so envious she wanted to try for a new one herself.

A warning: Parents Without Partners is a well-meaning organization, but some married men go as guests of members and have a field day with the single ladies. I know this for a fact as my own husband admitted he has attended meetings in three states. Several women fell for his line only to find out later that he used an assumed name and is very much married. He told one lady his wife was killed in a car crash. Another one he told he was divorced. The last one he told he was never married.

I rang up our local P. W. P. and told them to watch out for my husband, and they thanked me. Now he is barred.

I am thinking about looking for a new mate myself, but I sure wouldn't try P. W. P. My husband told me if all the married men dropped out, they'd fold up. PHOENIX

DEAR PHOENIX: Liars can be found everywhere, and P. W. P. is no exception. However, character references, which are carefully checked, are required for membership. P. W. P. is neither a lonely-hearts club nor a dating bureau, but they have much to offer the single parent. Let's hear it from a member.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a member of Parents Without Partners for three years, and I wish more people knew what this wonderful organization IS—and what it IS NOT!

First of all, it is NOT a "lonely-hearts club," or a "husband hunting" ground. Only about 10 per cent of the members marry someone they have met in the organization. I have watched many men and women come and go, bitter and disillusioned because they have joined P. W. P. to find a mate.

I joined this group for my children. So we could go places and do things with others in the same boat. This is the good that P. W. P. does that no one ever talks about. They have fantastic group discussions concerning problems from raising children to divorce, to dating, to marriage. They have family outings, picnics, plays, and camp-outs, and all the work in this group is strictly on a volunteer basis.

The purpose of this organization is to teach serious-minded people how to raise a family without a partner. And when they learn that, they are ready to look for one.

I am sorry to say that not many stick around long enough to gain all the benefits because when they don't find another partner right away, they leave the organization to "hunt" in other places.

P. W. P. has taught me how to battle loneliness, how to stand on my own two feet and raise a family without a partner in a marriage-oriented society. MOTHER OF THREE

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I received a most unusual Christmas present from a cousin with whom I have exchanged Christmas gifts for many years. It was a note which read:

"Dear Bill: You have owed me $20 since June 1968, so instead of buying you a Christmas present this year, I am marking your bill 'PAID IN FULL'... Season's greetings, Your loving Cousin Joe"

Abby, what do you think of a guy like that! BURNING IN BRADENTON

Greek Recipes Date Back To Cuisine Of Ancient Times

By TOM HOGE

AP News Features Writer
Greek restaurants, plain and fancy, have been mushrooming in cities across the United States lately. American diners seem unable to resist the savory foods, succulent pastries and fiery liquors of the Hellenes.

Greek eating places in this country range from high-priced bistros specializing in flaming dishes like Steak Vornoff to very reasonable ones noted for cheese omelettes, lamb dishes and delicious spinach pie.

The Greeks don't go in for tongue-searing foods as do some of their neighbors, but there are certain flavors which have become identified with Greece. Olive oil is used extensively in meat dishes, casseroles and salads. It gives the eggplant medleys of the country their distinctive texture and taste.

Mint, oregano and cinnamon are frequently used in main dishes and desserts. And no attempt to describe the culinary riches of the area can ignore garlic. Its fragrance is everywhere and with olive oil it forms a triumphant partnership.

The people of Greece relish eating and eating well. Their food is robust and free of pretentious refinements. It is bolstered by some of the finest fish, fruits and vegetables in the world.

Among the better known Greek specialties are skewered lamb, eggplant, feta cheese, honey pastries and, of course, spinach pie.

Many Greek dishes date back to the days before Christ. The basic white sauce used by housewives here and abroad was reputedly the creation of Orion, a kitchen sage of ancient Greece.

Writings by ancient cooks, professional and amateur, still exist and many recipes written by the philosopher-epicure Archestratus around 350 B.C. are being used in Greek kitchens today.

Greeks have enjoyed wine of their own vinting since the dawn of civilization and their liquors are famous too. One product of their vineyards, the mellow, 92-proof Greek brandy known as Metaxa, is popular in the United States. So is the anise-flavored spirit called Ouzo.

I first sampled the 92-proof Greek brandy as an aperitif followed up with a garden-fresh salad and a crisp cheese pie known as tyropita. But for me, the best pre-dessert pastry the Greeks make is Spanakopita, the spinach and feta cheese pie for which the Idera Restaurant in downtown New York City is noted. Here is that restaurant's recipe.

1½ pounds chopped spinach (fresh or frozen)
½ pound feta cheese broken coarsely by hand
4 ounces margarine
4 ounces olive oil
1 medium onion diced
½ clove garlic
Salt, pepper, cinnamon, nutmeg
8 sheets filo (very thin, store-bought dough)

¼ pound cooked rice
Saute onion and garlic in oil and margarine till lightly browned, strain and save the margarine and oil only. Place drained spinach in a pot with 3 tablespoons garlic oil and saute 3 minutes under high heat, stirring constantly. Drain off excess fat and let cool. Blend feta cheese with spinach, seasoning with salt, pepper, nutmeg and cinnamon, and add rice. Grease a roasting pan with garlic oil and line with 4 sheets of filo dough, brushing each with garlic oil. Filo must come over top of pan and slightly overhang. Fill pan with spinach mixture and cover with overlapping filo. Cut additional filo to cover top. Bake in 350-degree oven about 35 minutes. Cut into diamond shaped pieces and serve hot. It can also be eaten cold.

6 eggs, separated
1 cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
Juice of 2 lemons
2 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon salt
10-inch baked pie shell

Beat the 6 egg yolks until they begin to thicken and are lemon color; gradually beat in ½ cup of the sugar, then the lemon rind, lemon juice and water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened; do not boil; cover and cool. Beat 5 egg whites until they hold soft peaks; gradually beat in ½ cup of the remaining sugar until they hold stiff straight peaks. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Turn into pie shell. Beat remaining egg white with salt until soft peaks form; beat in remaining 1 tablespoon sugar until stiff straight peaks form. Drop heaping teaspoons of this meringue in 10 or 12 mounds around edge of pie. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until meringue is lightly browned — about 15 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Before serving frozen citrus juices that have been reconstituted with water and chilled, shake or stir the beverage to aerate it and bring out peak flavor.

Frozen chicken is best thawed in the refrigerator, says the National Broiler Council, a trade organization. Allow 12 to 16 hours to thaw whole frozen chickens of four pounds or less. Chicken pieces thaw in four to nine hours under refrigeration.

If you have a ventilating hood over your kitchen range, turn on the fan in it before you begin cooking. This helps keep grease-laden moisture from sticking to the walls and ceiling, says the American Gas Assn.

Affecting Household Budgets

Two matters approved by the Utilities Commission Tuesday could affect the budgets of area households.

First the commission approved a surcharge which will increase domestic bills by five to ten percent. Spokesmen said the surcharge was needed because of an increase of 23.5 percent in wholesale rates by Virginia Electric and Power, Greenville Utilities supplier. The commission maintains that the surcharge will not cover all of the cost of the wholesale increase.

Later in the meeting the commission approved a preliminary study of an alternate power source for Greenville Utilities.

Director Charles Horne reported that wholesale power purchased from Carolina Power and Light, whose lines come very near Greenville, would be 15 percent cheaper.

The problem would be convincing the regulatory agencies that such a change-over would be feasible; hence the need for a study.

We think the Utilities Commission should, indeed, study all possibilities which will help hold down the cost of electricity to area customers. A steady rise in electric costs is anticipated in the years ahead. Anything that can be done to stem this rise will be in the public interest.

His Priority: More Doctors

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—Any approach to improved health care which does not begin with the training of additional personnel is putting the cart before the horse.

"Why plan and fund programs which cannot be staffed because the people you need simply are not available in the marketplace?" asked Rep. John R. Gamble Jr. of Lincoln.

The priority for North Carolina, to meet the health needs of its citizens, must be the production of skilled manpower with particular attention to physician supply, he said.

As the doctor in the House, his interest is professional as well as political. A Lincolnton surgeon, he cultivated an inclination for public service as a county commissioner, then came to Raleigh as a freshman legislator.

Although he's the only physician, he doesn't feel out of place in the legislative halls. The medical profession is good preparation for the chores of lawmaking, he observed.

Diagnosing State Ills
"A doctor is trained to evaluate symptoms and make a diagnosis. He is accustomed to arriving at a detailed understanding of a problem in order to find a solution," Dr. Gamble explained. The basic principles, he suggested, are as valid in treating the ills of the state as those of a patient.

How to remedy the doctor shortage is an issue hovering in the wings of the current legislative session. It has political overtones, linked to the regional ambitions of East Carolina University at Greenville, and implications for the future of the fledgling Board of Governors structure for higher education.

Legislative supporters for ECU succeeded last session in establishing a one-year medical education program on the Greenville campus. They were ready this time to push for a second year, with the ultimate goal of a full-scale medical school.

74 Showdown Seen
Yet another study authorized by the Board of Governors may keep the matter quiescent while the legislature meets this year. Indications are persistent it will surface for a showdown in 1974 when the General Assembly, moving to an annual schedule, convenes again.

There is a possibility that health committees will continue the debate in the interim with hearings on the supply and distribution of medical services within the state.

The need for more doctors is evident in many studies by experts and in the everyday experience of ordinary people, Dr. Gamble said.

"For example, a legislator asked me to help get a doctor for his wife here in Raleigh. I had to make three telephone calls before I could find a doctor who would see her," he said.

The physician shortage is neither recent nor localized, he continued, yet action to alleviate it is long delayed. It concerns him that his brothers of the stethoscope have not taken the leadership to expand the production of doctors.

Doctors Drug Feet
Medical societies skirted the issue for a long time from a fear of overproduction, he contended. "That's just the truth of it. And as I see it, there's not even a remote danger of graduating too many doctors," he added.

"It's time for us to rise above professional jealousy, academic apathy and regional rivalry and get on with the job."

Rep. Gamble is convinced North Carolina could use 1,800 more practicing physicians, in all localities. "Only by an increased availability of physicians will needs be satisfied in any area," he insisted.

"The question is now whether we need physicians and in large numbers but how quickly can we get them. It is evident to me that we must immediately start a program that will graduate 150 to 175 additional North Carolina residents as MD's. The problem is that this need has been known for several years and the steps that would be necessary to satisfy the problem have also been known. It concerns me that additional studies are to be made which will only produce the same answers and serve to delay the solution," he said.

Indiana has led the way in greatly expanding medical education through the use of hospital facilities throughout the state for clinical training. North Carolina can follow the pattern, Dr. Gamble said, without burdensome capital expenditures and to the benefit of every region of the state.

Pact Should Serve To Restrain Skyjacks

Hopefully the pact between Cuba and the United States to limit aircraft hijackings will go far toward limiting this vexing problem.

There had been growing evidence that hijackings were a nuisance to Cuba and that nation will be just as glad to end the problem as will the United States.

A major move has been made in solving the problems of air craft hijackings.

Strauss Limits Caucus Powers

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON

Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss flatly rejected demands by the increasingly bumptious Black Congressional Caucus in a heated meeting last week—and may get away with it, thanks to support from female members of the Caucus.

The Caucus, heady over its success in influencing House Speaker Carl Albert, wanted control over the National Committee's black members and staff. Strauss refused, implicitly telling Rep. Louis Stokes of Ohio and the other Caucus leaders they do not have the clout in the black community they claim.

Instead, Strauss is relying on two allies in the Caucus: Reps. Shirley Chisholm of New York and Barbara Jordan of Texas. Black Congressmen were outraged last November when Strauss newly elected as national chairman, paid his first visit not to Stokes or a delegation of Caucus leaders, but to Mrs. Chisholm.

After the Black Caucus members drifted into last week's closed-door meeting (30 to 45 minutes late), Stokes issued his demands: first, the determining voice in selecting black staffers at the National Committee for Strauss—as Stokes claimed it had for his predecessors, Fred Harris and Lawrence F. O'Brien; second, veto power over eight additional black committee members Strauss has promised to appoint.

Strauss refused. Before anybody could protest, freshman Rep. Jordan spoke up. "If you had agreed to those demands," she told Strauss, "I would have had to disassociate myself from you and this meeting." Her argument: the Black Congressional Caucus cannot speak for all black Democrats.

Rep. John Conyers of Michigan, who does not shield his distaste for Strauss, then launched a five-minute attack against the chairman for insufficient concern about white racism. Conyers was promptly put down by Miss Jordan and Mrs. Chisholm. A third black Congresswoman, first-term Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite Burke of California, associated her self with her sisters.

The black Congressmen seemed chiefly concerned with the possibility that Strauss would name blacks to the National Committee who might later run against them for Congress. In particular, Stokes seemed worried about Arnold Pinkney, a 1971 mayoral candidate in Cleveland. In response, Strauss promised to appoint nobody who lives in the Congressional District of a Black Caucus member without first conferring with the Congressman.

A Blackballer for Labor
John K. Tabor, a liberal Republican from Pittsburgh who was a prominent Pennsylvania state official in the 1960's and a political supporter of then-Gov. William Scranton, has been summarily rejected for Under Secretary of Labor despite powerful backing from top AFL-CIO leaders.

Accounts inside the administration differ as to why, as of this writing, Tabor has been ruled unacceptable—apparently both by the new Secretary of Labor, Peter Brennan, and by high Nixon aides.

But union officials who pushed hard to have Tabor, former Pennsylvania secretary of labor, named as Brennan's top deputy are convinced the blackball has nothing to do with Tabor's ability and everything to do with his ideology and background as a Scranton intimate.

On its face, that decision contradicts the President's policy of tightening his alliance with AFL-CIO president George Meany and organized labor. Tabor is supported not only by Meany but by several lesser union leaders.

A Committee To Retain

The House of Representatives will make a regrettable mistake if it carries out the death sentence now proposed for its Select Committee on Crime. The idea is to abolish the committee and to transfer its work to Judiciary instead. Those who have followed the Crime Committee's excellent investigations will hope the idea is scrapped.

From a purely political point of view, the scheme doubtless has advantages for a few members. As various public opinion polls have shown, crime is the top domestic concern of the American people. Investigations of crime are bound to have popular appeal, and Judiciary's new chairman, Peter Rodino of New Jersey, understandably would like a little of the limelight.

The proposal has no other merit. Under the vigorous leadership of one of the most remarkable men in Congress, Claude Pepper of Florida, the Crime Committee has set an excellent record. Its investigations have been marked consistently by fairness, balance, and careful staff work. Committee reports have reflected no trace of extremism in any direction.

All this is a tribute to the 72-year-old chairman—a tribute few observers might have anticipated 35 years ago. The ebullient "Red Pepper" of the Thirties has become a shrewd elder statesman. Now in his sixth term in the House, after serving 14 years in the Senate, Pepper has earned respect by hard work. He has made the Crime Committee his principal labor, but he hasn't been a solo performer. His five Democratic colleagues and the committee's five Republican members have worked as a team, sometimes disagreeing but never getting disagreeable.

Most committee's, for good reasons, stay here in Washington. Pepper's Crime Committee, created in May of 1969, took at once to the road. It held hearings in Boston, New York, and San Francisco on the alarming problems of narcotic addiction. It went to Florida for hearings on organized crime. It took a look at crime in the Midwest in Omaha and Lincoln, and at crime in the South in Columbia, S.C. Last year the committee explored the sickening picture of drug use in our schools.

Out of these investigations, the committee has produced first-rate reports on marijuana and heroin. The

The place on earth where carpenters are most spoiled is among the Dorze people of Ethiopia. They believe their bamboo-and-thatch homes are built better if the builders are well-fed. So, in addition to paying the craftsmen, they ply them with native food delicacies.

Know your language: If you're "in the doghouse," it means you're out of favor or in disgrace. This slang term originated early in this century as a purely domestic expression. A drunken, philandering or otherwise misbehaving husband was thought fit only to associate with the family dog and belonged in the doghouse.

Worth remembering: "Luck is usually a four-letter word spelled w-o-r-k."

Health in dreams: If you say you don't dream, you're either mistaken—or may be in for a bad time emotionally. Scientists now tend to believe dreams help keep you stable mentally. The average person dreams about a fifth of the time he's asleep in episodes from 45 to 90 minutes apart.

Bitter View Of A Moratorium

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP)— One of the bitterest commentaries on the administration's moratorium on subsidized housing was delivered earlier this month by Dempsey Travis, a black mortgage banker, but it went almost unnoticed.

The inattention can be attributed in part to the small attendance at the midwinter meeting of the United Mortgage Bankers of America, a black group of which Travis is president. He claims they couldn't afford to come.

"Sixty to seventy per cent of all black architects came into being because of HUD programs, and they'll be going out of business for the same reason," Travis said. Many have already closed down, he said.

It will set back racial equality in housing by 25 years, he said. "At the same time, the whites will go galloping along with their 2.4 million annual new housing starts." Never has such a total been attained.

As this scenario unfolds, he said, "the establishment is accelerating the housing abandonment crisis in the urban areas through excessive high taxes, poor schools, ineffective police protection—all combining to produce a high crime rate."

The result, said Travis, will be demonstrated in more ways than the collapse of black architectural and building firms. It could, he suggested, erupt into more violent friction between white and black.

politically dangerous. "The best way certain to stop this trend is to withdraw all the monies in the form of subsidies and other ancillary services with the result being abandonment."

The effect, he said, will be forfeiture of property to the city for taxes, "to be subsequently sold to an establishment developer." This developer then will build high-income apartments, "which is a 1973 way of saying 'For whites only.'"

As viewed by Travis, the market for old housing was beginning to slip as new developments were erected. Now, he said, all housing becomes more valuable, but poor housing especially.

moratorium as necessary, and declare that subsidies "have had the effect of nurturing a permanent class of middle-income Americans who look to the taxpayer for assistance?"

Theirs is "an establishment position to support absentee ownership in old ghetto apartment buildings," Travis said. The raters who were and still are the architects of white housing covenants see big profits in fostering a dual market based on skin pigment and class.

Travis' belief that a plot exists probably represents a large portion of black sentiment, but it may be received by less impassioned minds as biased, and even destructively so. Nevertheless, it demonstrates an amazing communications gap between Washington leadership and its constituency.

Strength For Today

THE HIGHEST LIFE
The greatest victory one can achieve in life is coming to the end after an active and well-lived life with good health, enough money to live on comfortably, the respect of one's fellows and the respect and attachment of loved ones. There are multimillionaires who have made a failure of their lives. There are others with just a little to come and go on who have made a great success of their lives. Some people have held high office and have been anything but happy in so doing. There are others who lived humble lives over the decades and have come out, their eyes bright with happiness.

Money is not everything—but it helps. Poverty is not a virtue, but some people with just enough to get along on comfortably have starlight in their eyes and peace in their hearts. We get out of life what we put into life—no more and no less. If we fill life with kindness and good deeds, if we resist the temptation to get all wrapped up in ourselves, if we shun the vices that corrupt and cultivate instead the type of living that promotes self-respect and leads the people we associate with to like us and admire our outlook on life—then we have been successful in the best sense of that term. We have demonstrated that success consists not in what we have, but in what we are. Sometimes when we are a bit discouraged both with ourselves and the world in which we live we think the world is a pretty awful place. But it isn't. It's a wonderful place it is full of wonderful people.

Plans 4 More Murder Charges

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff Douglas James says he will seek four more first-degree murder charges against a former honors student already charged with six killings here within a month.

The new complaints would bring to 10 the number of murder charges against Herbert Mullin, 25, of nearby Felton. Thirteen murder victims have been discovered in this picturesque coastal resort area in the past six weeks.

James said Monday he will seek new murder charges against Mullin in the shooting deaths of four teen-age boys at their forest campsite.

The bodies were found Saturday by the brother of one of the victims. James said each of the four had been shot in the head with a small-caliber weapon. The six slayings with which Mullin was charged earlier were committed with small-caliber weapons.

The sheriff said that, on the basis of the "result of a laboratory comparison of bullets and shell casings found at the scene of the crime" he would ask Dist. Atty. Peter Chang to file the additional complaints. James said no motive had been discovered.

The four bodies were found inside a bloody makeshift shelter in Henry Cowell Redwood State Park, less than two miles from Mullin's family home.

James said three of the victims were from California — David Allan Olikier, 18, of Sherman Oaks and Robert Michael Spector, 18, and Brian Scott Card, 19, both of Van Nuys.

He identified the fourth victim as Mark Johnson, about 19, of Pennsylvania, but he said authorities did not know his hometown.

Tip Comes to Washington Pressures from both colleagues and heavy new duties as House majority leader may make Rep. Thomas (Tip) O'Neill move at last from his home in Cambridge, Mass., to Washington after 20 years as a leading member of the "Tuesday-to-Thursday Club."

That club's members, mostly from big Eastern cities, usually commute to Congress Tuesday morning and return home Thursday afternoon. Thus, O'Neill's wife, Mildred, and five children did not move to Washington when he was elected in 1952. Ever since, he has shared a bachelor apartment with his close friend from Massachusetts, Rep. Edward Boland.

Now, as majority leader, O'Neill is responsible for planning Democratic strategy, gauging moods and holding hands — seven days a week. Colleagues warn him he cannot be a good leader on a part-time basis.

A footnote: New full-time pressures on O'Neill's part-time schedule have ravaged his appointments calendar. The new majority leader is repeatedly running late and forced to cancel long-standing meetings.

Travels Far In Auditions For Theatre

The Tenth Season of the East Carolina Summer Theatre will see producer-director Edgar R. Loessin traveling further and screening more talent than in any previous year.

Already having held auditions in Los Angeles, Chicago, and Greenville, he is scheduled to go to Florida; Washington, D.C.; and New York City in the next six weeks. "Assembling a company for the summer is only the first step," says Loessin, "but obviously it is most crucial."

This year the Summer Theatre will present a varied bill of new musicals and traditional favorites which include Applause; My Fair Lady; H.M.S. Pinafore; Company; and You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown.

The company of actors, dancers, and technicians which will be required to mount these shows will number between 75 and 100.

"We have grown a good deal over the past ten years," notes Loessin, "and out planning problems have increased proportionately. Fortunately, the talent pool seems to be better each season, so I'm expecting to assemble an exceptionally fine group this year."

Season tickets are now on sale for the East Carolina Summer Theatre and can be ordered by writing P. O. Box 2712 in Greenville, or calling 758-6390 during business hours. Prices are $18.00 (adults) and $12.50 (children) for all five shows. Orders should be placed early for the best choice of seats.

Prague Airplane Crash Claimed Sixty-Six Lives

PRAGUE (AP) — Sixty-six persons were killed and 34 survived the crash of a Soviet jetliner at Prague Airport Monday, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported today. It said most of the survivors had slight injuries.

The dead included four of the 13 crew members, 37 Russian passengers, 17 Czechoslovaks, 5 Cubans, 1 Pole, 1 East German and 1 Romanian, CTK said.

The Aeroflot TU154 burst into flames and broke apart while landing after a flight from Moscow. Weather and flight conditions were good at the time of the crash, an investigating commission said.

The CTK report was the first official announcement of the number of persons aboard the plane and the casualties. The Prague office of a Western airline had said Monday night that it understood 99 persons were aboard and 77 died.

VC General In Saigon As Guest

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
SAIGON (AP) — "I am pleased to enter Saigon," said the beaming Viet Cong general who directed the 1968 Tet attack on the city. "There is not peace yet because the warlike forces have not given up their dark plans."

Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra couldn't remember when he last rode an elevator, but he vividly recalled how he survived strikes by B52 bombers "30 and 40 at a time."

The Viet Cong general came into the heart of Saigon from his cease-fire headquarters on the outskirts to pay a courtesy call on the Indonesian member of the Joint Military Commission, Lt. Gen. Dharsono. Tra is the chief of the Viet Cong delegation to the commission, and South Vietnamese guards had kept Dharsono from attending a cocktail party he gave last week.

Emerging from the elevator after an hour-long coffee klatsch with the Indonesian peacekeeping team in a 10th-floor hotel suite, Gen. Tra chatted through an interpreter about the prospects for peace.

"There will be peace because the people of Vietnam and people all over the world want peace," he said.

Tra said he was pleased to enter Saigon as a "participant to the Joint Military Commission enforcing the cease-fire agreement."

forms with no markings of rank. Two wore Ho Chi Minh sandals, the rest Western street shoes.

The breakfast session with the Indonesian delegation to the International Commission of Control and Supervision came just as downtown Saigon was heading out for its morning noodle soup, and a crowd of nearly a thousand gathered in Nguyen Hue, the Street of the Flowers. It was the first time since the 1968 Tet fighting that any Viet Cong had appeared in uniform on a downtown street. There were no cheers nor derisive shouts.

From the south-facing window of the 10th-floor suite, Tra could look out at the winding Saigon River and the green stretch of rice paddies known as "the rocket belt." It was from this mosquito-ridden marsh that the Viet Cong usually fired rockets at Saigon.

Dharsono reported that Tra drank his coffee black but his cohorts preferred weak tea. The courtesy call was "just that," he said, "mainly social with nothing really very important discussed except our general concern for peace. We hope it will be the first of many such contacts."

Award-Winning Author Disdains Lasting Fame

By JOSEPHINE DE LORENZO
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Jorge Luis Borges is an author who wants to be forgotten, an award winner who says winning isn't important, and one of the greatest writers in the Spanish language who would prefer to use English.

The blind and frail 73-year-old author of metaphysical tales and poetry was a 1971 candidate for the Nobel Prize and won the $25,000 inter-American literature award.

His writing has been compared to Poe, Kafka and Henry James, and he has earned a measure of immortality for such acclaimed works as "The Maker," "The Aleph" and "Fictions."

But he expresses an impatient desire for oblivion.

"I stand in dread of personal immortality," he said during an interview at his office in the National Library. "When I die, I want to die utterly. I don't want to go on being myself and I don't want to be remembered."

Pitt Native Is Chosen In Okla.

PERRY, Okla. — Rusty Haynes, formerly of Greenville, N. C., was elected district committee of the Republican Party recently.

Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Haynes of Perry, was 18 years old in December and is the youngest person elected to this post in the state of Oklahoma.

He attended the Teenage Republican Leadership School in Washington, D. C., last summer and attended the Republican National Convention in Miami, Fla., in August.

The Haynes resided in Greenville, N. C., from 1959 until 1964.

Would it give him satisfaction to know that people were reading his books in decades to come? "No," Borges answered with a grin, "I should hope they would go on to something better."

"I think of writing as a pleasure," he said, tilting his chair back and forth as he spoke. "I don't think of it as an effort, and I never understood why people cared for praise or were bothered by criticism."

"The prizes and awards have their pleasure but the lack of them would have given me no pain at all. Prizes and honors are like a lottery; if one wins, one is elated, if one loses one doesn't give a hang about it."

Borges' grandmother was English and he feels that "English is simpler in many ways than Spanish. My fate is the Spanish language but if I had enough English I would prefer to write in that language."

Borges offered some suggestions for young writers. "First I would advise them to read as much as they can for pleasure," he said. "I shouldn't advise anybody to read a book because it's a best seller or because it's old and famous. Stick to books wherein you find some kind of pleasure and interest."

"Next," he continued, "I would advise young writers not to rush into print because generally one repents the first one publishes. I destroyed two manuscript books before I published my first one."

Although blind since 1955, Borges continues to write by means of dictation. His latest work, "Tigers' Gold," includes several poems written in Michigan, Oklahoma and Arizona.

Would Slim Down Autos

DETROIT (AP) — In response to an Environmental Protection Agency warning that autos are using too much gasoline, about 200 members of the Engineering Society of Detroit have discussed ways to slim cars.

Last month, an EPA spokesman said: "The inefficiency of today's automobile is cutting deeply into the available supplies of oil.... Steps must be taken to reduce the amount of gasoline consumed by the automobile."

Engineers at the meeting on Monday pointed out that gas consumption is related directly to a car's weight. And some engineers blamed government-ordered safety devices for part of the recent increase in car weights.

The typical medium-sized car increased in weight from 3,700 to 3,930 pounds between 1967 and 1972 and could reach 4,500 pounds in four years unless new technology and materials are used, engineers said.

Chased His Runaway Car

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Peter Duke of Vero Beach returned from an errand Monday to find police and firemen in hot pursuit of his car.

Police said the chase for the car, which was moving about 20 miles per hour, was hectic because it was traveling in a tight circle—in reverse.

And, as the first fireman to get alongside found out, it was locked.

Another fireman smashed the window on the driver's side with an ax so the first fireman could open the door and flick off the ignition.

Duke said he had been having trouble with the car's motor. So, he said, when he left it this time, he put it in "park," left the motor running and locked the door as a precaution against thieves.

Police said the car made 70 to 80 perfect, curb-to-curb circles without even scraping a tire before they could stop it.

DETROIT (UPI) — Motorists should keep gasoline tanks as close to full as possible, particularly during cold weather driving, auto experts advise. A full tank minimizes moisture condensation in the gasoline which can cause an engine to falter or misfire.

(Continued from page 4) marijuana report, a congressional best-seller, contained a sensible recommendation that the mere possession of marijuana be treated not as a felony, but as the misdemeanor punishable by sentences of not more than seven days. The heroin report put forward 21 hard-hitting recommendations for a worldwide attack on the problem. A number of these have been enacted.

Another effective study had to do with amphetamines. The committee discovered that between six and eight billion amphetamines were being manufactured annually. At least a third of them — perhaps half — were winding up in the black market. Because of the committee's work, the number has been cut to some 400 million and much tighter controls have been imposed.

From its inception, the Crime Committee has concentrated on the juvenile offender. More than half of all persons arrested for serious crime are under 25. Some more alarming, the trends grow worse. Between 1965 and 1971, while total arrests increased by 26 percent, arrests of persons under 18 increased by 40 percent. If the committee survives, it plans to concentrate much of its work in this field.

Because of the nature of its work, the Crime Committee's investigations encroach upon the turf of other committees — not only Judiciary, but also Commerce, Education, and even Foreign Affairs. A part of its effectiveness lies in its ability to go where it has to go. It would be a cruel disservice to disband the committee, break up its experienced staff, and lose the momentum already gained. Speaker Carl Albert, who has his own reputation to build, will do nothing to enhance that reputation if he abolishes the one agency of the House that is working solely on the nation's number one concern.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market carved out some broad gains today in fairly active trading, but its early momentum slackened at midday. The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.46 to 982.69, and gaining issues forged a lead of nearly 2-1 over decliners on the New York Stock Exchange. After the first 30 minutes of trading the Dow had been ahead 8.13 points.

"The market reflects some settling back after the shock wave of devaluation struck last week," said Larry Wachtel, vice president for research at Bache & Co. He added that the gains were an extension of a rally late Friday and that "we're in one of those lateral phases where the market goes up 20 points and then goes down 20 points."

The Big Board's most-active issue was International Utilities, up 5/8 to 25, mainly on a block of 181,000 shares that sold at that figure.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 to 25.41 as prices were generally higher over a narrow range.

The noon New York Stock Exchange index was up .16 to 62.09.

Greene Countian Is Finalist In Competition

SNOW HILL — A Greene County educator is one of 14 North Carolina educators who have been named district finalists in the 1973 Terry Sanford Award competition. Kenneth Earl Ginn was nominated by the Greene County unit of the North Carolina Association of Educators to compete in the event. The educators were selected on the basis of creativity and their ability to initiate innovative programs in teaching or administration. Announcement of the state award winners will be made at the opening session of the NCAE Convention in Greensboro on April 12. A cash award and plaque are presented to the winner. The Learning Institute of North Carolina provides the judges who make the final selection from among the district winners.

FFA Marks Its Week Hails Nixon As Man Of Peace

By AL LANIER

COLUMBIA (AP)—Gov. John West called President Nixon "a man of peace" today and told him South Carolina will continue to be a part "of the new stability which you are creating in this world."

The Democratic governor made the comment in introducing President Nixon to a joint session of the legislature. Nixon came to South Carolina to thank the legislature for a resolution approved last month supporting his efforts to end the war in Southeast Asia.

"There is no greater tribute which can be paid an individual than to identify him simply as a man of peace," West said. "Mr. President, this is the designation which fully and properly belongs to you, and one for which you shall richly earn your place in history."

"If our state has played a role in that achievement, we are proud," West said, "and if our state has somehow assisted your efforts to bring about a meaningful peace, then we are honored."

"Most of all, if our state can continue to be a part of the new stability which you are creating in this world, we stand more than ready to do our part."

The governor noted that the motto of South Carolina is, "While I Breathe, I Hope."

"Mr. President, for all the thousands of American fighting men in Southeast Asia, and mist especially for all the hundred of brave men who were taken captive by the enemy, you have given a special meaning to those words," West said. Scores of State Highway Patrolmen, city policemen and Secret Service Agents were posted in and around the historic State House for the Presidential visit. It was the first time in South Carolina's 300-year history that a President has addressed the legislature.

"This is the tightest security I've ever seen," said John Rowland, chief security officer at the capitol.

People began arriving outside the State House more than two hours before the President was due to arrive, braving temperatures in the high 90s.

These included a man with a large sign proclaiming: "No justice for disabled veterans. Request President help."

Herring Associated and Dudley-Shoe Architects were nominated as architectural firms to be considered for planning the proposed new middle-junior high school. The firm of Dudley-Shoe Architects was selected from the two nominees. Dr. Cleetwood noted "at this time this is not a matter of making a contract, it is simply to have a firm to put the finger on for planning purposes."

A report on the school fee collection for instructional supplies reveals that to date a total of $20,835 has been collected with $5,935 still outstanding. The board authorized Cr. Cleetwood to send out an additional letter to parents of students who have not paid fees, asking that a reply be made stating the reason fees have not been paid.

The board authorized the school administration to proceed with action to remove three houses on property adjacent to Saide Sautler school and recently purchased for expanding the school site there.

To make up for three days lost due to bad weather, the board approved a proposal to cover the lost days. This will be done by cancelling a scheduled student holiday (May 23), giving up Easter Friday as part of the Easter holiday, and adding one day at the end of the school year.

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declined to review the conviction of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sirhan's lawyers claimed in an appeal that police had searched his mother's home unconstitutionally after the 1968 shooting and that there was new evidence he did not fire the fatal bullet.

The court rejected the appeal 7-0 without comment. Sirhan, 28, is serving a life sentence. He initially was condemned to execution but was resented after the California Supreme Court outlawed capital punishment.

Kennedy was slain June 5, 1968, at the Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles after winning the state's Democratic presidential primary.

Following the shooting, police searched Sirhan's bedroom in his mother's home in Pasadena without a warrant. They recovered notebooks containing an entry, "RFK Must Die," and used them at the 1969 trial.

In response to the appeal, California state officials said the state Supreme Court had ruled correctly that emergency circumstances justified the search without a warrant.

Sirhan's lawyers, in trying to win a new trial for him, claimed also that a team of psychiatrists, physicians, physicalists and others had uncovered "significant physical evidence" that Sirhan did not fire the fatal bullet.

The state replied that "unfortunately this new evidence was not presented to the California Supreme Court and is not in the record on appeal. In review of a judgment of a state court, this court is bound by the record on which that judgment is based."

The high court said simply that it was denying Sirhan's petition for a hearing. Two of the justices, William O. Douglas and Byron R. White, did not participate, giving no explanation.

Cemetery Guarded To Avert Reburial Way Cleared For Removal

PARIS (AP) — Police placed a guard outside the national military cemetery at Douaumont today to keep out the body of Marshal Philippe Petain, the World War I hero who headed the collaborationist Vichy regime in World War II.

The coffin containing Petain's remains was stolen from its tomb on the barren Ile d'Yeu in the Atlantic Ocean, reviving the controversy over the hero of Verdun.

Various newspapers condemned the profanation of the tomb, but they could not agree on who might have done it. Several linked it to the election of a new National Assembly next month, and the left-wing Combat said: "It threatens to put the authorities in an embarrassing situation."

Petaim's supporters say that he should get his "dearest wish" of burial among the soldiers he led at the bloody 1916 Battle of Verdun. The French National War Veterans Association contends that the Douaumont cemetery is reserved for "fighters who died for France" and, since Petain collaborated with the Nazis, his burial there "would be totally illegal."

The cemetery guard at the Ile d'Yeu noticed on Monday that the covering of the tomb was slightly askew, and he saw fresh cement, indicating the tomb had been opened. Legal authorities opened the tomb and found the coffin missing.

Police were checking all cars and small trucks in the Verdun area that might be carrying the body. Thursday is the anniversary of the beginning of the battle in 1916, in which nearly 400,000 men died. Petain was named commander of the French troops at Verdun four days after the start of the fighting and was awarded France's highest decorations and honors for his leadership.

Way Cleared For Removal

The Greenville City School Board, in declaring surplus the three houses on lots recently purchased adjacent to Sadie Sautler Elementary School, has paved the way for the school administration to take action to have the three houses removed.

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of the Greenville City Schools, says that following the school board action his office is now drawing up bid forms covering the three wooden structures.

Bids will be drawn up for purchase of the houses on an individual basis or as a single lot of three houses. Successful bidder or bidders will have the option of moving the houses off the property for relocating at another site, or to demolish the houses on the site for salvage or material.

Dr. Cleetwood said it is hoped that money realized from the sale of the houses can be used to construct fencing around the area to improve the playground.

Charged With Local Break-In

Greenville police today charged Larry Morris of Cherry Point with breaking, entering and larceny in connection with a Sunday morning break-in and robbery at The Three Steers on Memorial Drive here.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, Morris was charged with breaking, entering and larceny by local officers after New Bern police arrested Morris yesterday afternoon on charges of possession of marijuana.

Cannon said New Bern officers found $151 in checks allegedly taken from the Greenville business firm in Morris' possession when he was arrested there. More than $1,138 in cash and checks was taken in the break-in, reported at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Friday Deadline On Taxi Permits

Friday has been set as deadline for renewal of taxi-operator permits for taxicab drivers in Greenville, according to Chief of Police E. G. Cannon.

According to the official, 13 of the city's 44 licensed taxi operators have not renewed their permits.

Cannon warned that if permits are not renewed by Friday, drivers of cabs will be in violation of the city ordinance and subject to prosecution.

Two Items Await Hearing Before Adjustments Bd.

Two items are scheduled for public hearings by the Greenville Board of Adjustments in a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at City Hall.

The first is a request for variance sought by H. T. Chapin. Chapin is seeking the variance in order to construct a warehouse at 213 West Ninth Street on property zoned unoffensive industry.

The second public hearing will deal with a request for special use permit. Janmar, Inc., the petitioner, desires to obtain a special use permit in order to locate a motel on the northwest side of Greenville Boulevard, adjacent to the Shoney property. The property is zoned shopping center.

BULLDOGS GAIN WIN — The Citadel outpointed Appalachian State last night, 87-69, to move into third place in the Southern Conference standings. East Carolina University's Pirates, struggling to finish above the .500 mark, close out their non-conference and road season tonight in Norfolk, Va., against highly regarded Old Dominion University.

The Monarchs, which have been listed among the top teams in the country in the Associated Press' Small-College Poll, come into the game with a 15-8 record, having most lately disposed of Randolph-Macon, 74-68, last night.

However, the Monarchs are not quite as strong as they were a couple of weeks ago. Since then, they've lost the services of their number two scorer, Rick Mickelson, who became academically ineligible.

Currently, their starting five consists of Joel Copeland, a player highly sought by the Pirates a couple of years ago, Gray Eubanks, Oliver Purnell, Tom Street and Rich Nau.

Copeland, at 6-8, is the pivot man for the Monarchs, and is their leading scorer and rebounder, with a 19.3 scoring average and an 11.6 mark on the boards. Eubanks, a 6-4, forward and a transfer from VMI, is averaging 7.0 points a game, while 6-6 Tom Street, the other front-court man is averaging 10.7.

"They are a high scoring team," Coach Tom Quinn of East Carolina said. "They average around 88 points a game."

The Bucs, riding the crest of a three-game losing streak, will be trying to snap it and get back on track prior to the Southern Conference tournament next week in Richmond, Va.

They go into the Norfolk game with five men hitting in double figures, all five starters. Earl Quash leads the way with 13.5 points per game, followed by Dave Franklin, 11.6, Al Faber, 11.1, Nicky White, 10.6 and Jerome Owens, 10.2.

"Their forte is the fast break," Quinn said. "They like to get the ball out quickly to Nau and have him get the break going. They also like to use a zone press against you, much like we ran into against William & Mary."

Quinn feels that the Bucs can match up to the Monarchs in almost everything, however, in size, depth and experience. "They may have a slight edge in quickness," he added. The game will be played in the "Scope" area in Norfolk, a semi-neutral court. Old Dominion doesn't play all its home games there, but only a few, as Davidson does in Charlotte Coliseum.

The Bucs will have to come back after three poor performances to have a chance to win the last two and keep their heads above the break-even mark. Currently they are 11-11 with only two games left to play. The other, besides tonight's contest, is a Saturday home game with The Citadel, that the Bucs must win if they are to finish high in the Southern Conference.

Against the Indians on Saturday, the Bucs shot out to a six-point lead, then lost it and fell behind as William & Mary went into a stiff zone press. "We were breaking flat to the corners, and getting trapped," Quinn said. "But we were still only five points down at half-time."

Then, in the second half, the Bucs watched as the Indians built up a 15-point lead, then tried to come back. They drew within three but the hot shooting of Mike Arizin pushed the Indians away again and out of distance.

"We just didn't play hard the entire game. We haven't played two good halves yet on the road, and I don't know why," the coach said.

Coke, Skillet Tie For Title

Coca-Cola rolled to a 95-71 victory over the Skillet last night to tie for first place in the City Basketball League championship. The two teams finished the regular season with 11-3 records. In the other games last night, Proctor's downed Book Exchange, 82-63, and Piggly-Wiggly beat the Buccaneer Club, 93-51.

The Skillet won a toss for top-seeding in the tournament, which gets underway tonight. They receive a bye. In the opening game, Piggly-Wiggly will meet either Proctor's or Happy Store, depending on which of those, third for third, wins a coin toss. The other team will meet Book Exchange in the second game, with Coke and Buccaneer Club meeting in the first round finale.

The semi-finals will be held Monday, and Wednesday of next week, with the finals on March 5.

In the opening game last night, Proctor's zoomed out to a 44-26 lead after the first half of play. They came back with a 38-37 advantage in the final period to win easily.

Joe Gaddis led Proctor's with 21 points, while Wayne King had 18. Gene Rackley had 13, Mike Phillips had 12 and Greg Copeland had 10. For the Exchange, Mike Jackson had 17, Carr Tucker had 13 and Dave Stephenson and Jack Hodge each had 12.

In the second game, which led them to title tie, Coca-Cola inched out into a 33-32 lead in the first half of play. Then, in the second half, they rushed away from Skillet, 62-39, to win handily.

Chris Dominick led Coke with 29 points, while Jim Modlin had 25. Jack Warner had 15 and Milan Djordjevic had 14. For Skillet, Charlie Harris had 21, R. Gatlin had 16, and Alphonza Mayo had 10.

In the final contest, Piggly-Wiggly raced away for a 43-17 lead at halftime. They outshot Buccaneer Club in the second half, 50-34, for the win.

Robert Pettus led the scoring with 21 points, while Lonnie Payton had 18 and Bobby Short had 10. For Buccaneer, Amos Jordan had 15.

Richmond Has Biggest Win; Citadel Romps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Richmond's Spiders have won one of the biggest basketball victories of Coach Lewis Mills' career, but there may be no celebrating tonight, for their last hopes of a seeded berth in the Southern Conference championship tournament could go down the drain.

The Spiders, with Ray Amann hitting all three of the shots he took from the floor—once sending the game into a second overtime and the other winning it with 11 seconds left—nipped Virginia Tech's 19th-ranked Gobblers 94-93 Monday night in a nonleague game.

At the same time, however, The Citadel's Bulldogs knocked over Appalachian State's Mountaineers in a conference encounter and took over sole possession of third place with a 6-6 record.

William and Mary's Indians,

4-5 in league play, go to last-place Virginia Military Institute, 2-8, to tackle the Keydets tonight, and a W&M victory would doom Richmond, 4-8 in the league with two games left, to the second division.

Tonight's only other action has East Carolina's defending champion Pirates, 11-11 overall, playing a nonconference game at tough Old Dominion, 15-8.

Aron Stewart, the conference's leading scorer, poured in 41 points in Richmond's upset victory over Tech and grabbed 12 rebounds. Amann also had 12 retrieves as the Spiders held a 50-40 advantage of the boards, and to Tech Coach Don Devoe "that was our undoing."

Devoe said the Gobblers "didn't play any defense, didn't keep them off the boards. But I really have to give it to Richmond. They pounded the boards."

"Amann played a tremendous game," said Mills. "He got the key baskets, the key rebounds." Tech's Craig Lieder had 35 points, but the Spiders limited Allan Bristow, the Gobblers' big scorer, to 16 before he fouled out with 1:29 left in regulation time.

"We felt that we could control them getting the ball to Bristow with our zone," said Mills. "We didn't come out of it until the end there. Other than that, we did the same things we've been doing."

Bob Jacobs contributed a season-high 22 points for Richmond before he fouled out in the first overtime period, but it was Amann with his two tip-ins that made the difference.

The Citadel built a 12-point lead in the first half and never let Appalachian get closer than six in moving into third place.

Chuck Cordell led the Bulldogs with 22 points and Steve Fishel got 18, including the 1,000th of his career four minutes into the game. Stan Davis of Appalachian had a game-high 30 points.

Industrial Loop Play Is Ending

The Industrial League began closing out its season last night, with four teams playing their final post-tournament games. State Highway beat Greenville Utilities, 71-62, Empire Brush downed Vermont American, 76-57, and Wachovia topped Vermont American, 53-46.

The regular season ends tonight with two more games. State Highway, 13-1, has sewed up the top place, while Wachovia, 10-3, is second and Empire Brush, 9-5, is third. Fourth, fifth and sixth are still undecided, while Post Office, 2-11, is seventh, and Vermont American, 0-14, is eighth.

Tournament play is scheduled to begin on Wednesday.

State Highway had little trouble in ending its year with a win, rolling up a 43-27 halftime lead. Greenville Utilities tried for a comeback with a 35-28 second half, but was too far back for the rally to be successful.

Bobby Edwards led the Highwaymen with 26 points, while Fred Mills had 12 and Phil Page and Clyde Elks each had 10. For GUCo, Zeno Smith had 20, Willard Jackson had 15, Donald Chase had 14 and James Ward had 11.

Brush eased out into a 30-25 lead in the first half of play. They came back to outthrust Vermont American, 46-32, in the second half and roll to victory in their finale.

Robert Lynch led the Brushmen with 14, while Doug Nicklos and Edward Coburn each had 12, and James Parker and Bobby Harris had 10 each. Eddie Chance had 18 and Ronnie Foster had 16, while Julius Wright had 13 for Vermont American.

Rounding out the schedule, Wachovia eased into a 20-14 lead after the first half of its game. They went on to outthrust Union Carbide, 33-32, in the final half to hold on for the win.

Bert Stephenson led Wachovia with 15, while Terry Smith and Bill Baggett each had 12. For Union Carbide, T. Roach had 17, while Larry Daniels and Lewis Boyd each had 12.

The regular season ends tonight with Wachovia meeting Prepsport and Union Carbide taking on the Post Office.

Glasses Key To Arnie's Return

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — If your golf game goes sour, don't necessarily consult your pro, contact your oculist, suggests Arnold Palmer.

"Spectacles have given me a better depth perception," the fairway immortal from Latrobe, Pa., said Monday at the annual National Awards Dinner of the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

"I think glasses might improve the games of a lot of players, even some of the younger ones, but most avoid spectacles as if they were a plague. They're too much trouble."

Palmer, 43, wore large, steel-rimmed specs in winning the Bob Hope Classic at Palm Springs, Calif., nine days ago — his first tournament triumph since the Westchester Classic in the summer of 1971.

The popular golfing millionaire was one of five all-time greats honored at the dinner at the Americana Hotel. The others were Jack Nicklaus, Ben Hogan, the late Bob Jones and the late Walter Hagen, chosen by a poll of national golf writers.

Jones and Hagen were represented by their look-alike sons.

Nicklaus also received a trophy as the 1972 Player of the Year on the strength of his five tournament triumphs and more than $320,000 official winnings.

Byron Nelson, the golf king of the mid-1940s, received the featured Gold Tee Award for his contributions to the game. The 61-year-old Nelson was a tour star for 15 years but reached his peak in 1945 when he won 18 tour tournaments, 11 in a row, for records still unmatched in the Professional Golfers Association records.

"My greatest pride was in making the money list in 113 straight tournaments," Nelson said. "At that time, only 15 qualified for the money."

It is a record that has escaped such stars as Nicklaus, Palmer and Gene Littler, the game stylist from San Diego who received the Ben Hogan Award as the player who overcame a physical handicap. Littler underwent a cancer operation last April.

The Family of the Year Award went to former world tennis champion Ted Schroeder, a six-handicap player; his wife, Ann, four times champion of the La Jolla Calif. Country Club, and sons John, Richard and Robert, all scratch or low handicap players.

That's all I'm able to do. "If I were an actor, I'd be in Hollywood."

Young John Mahaffey is having trouble getting adjusted to prosperity. As a rookie last season he was a non-exempt player and had to qualify for the tournaments he wanted to play. Now, as a top-60 money winner, he's exempt and can pick his spots.

"I can't get used to it," Mahaffey said with his small-boy grin. "I feel like I ought to be out there Monday mornings trying to get in the tournament."

Minnesota Wins To Go Into Lead Of Big Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We feel like we should be in first place. We're the best team," Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman said of his fourth-ranked Gophers.

And, thanks to a helping hand from upstart Ohio State—or perhaps slippery hands by Purdue—that's where Minnesota found itself today, mainly perched atop the Big Ten Conference basketball standings.

"You can't count this team out," Musselman said after the Gophers, trailing Illinois by three points at the intermission, rallied for an 82-73 victory Tuesday night. "We were 1-2 in the league and we were down at halftime tonight but still came back."

Now they're 7-2, percentage points ahead of 10th-rated Indiana, which boosted its record to 8-3 with a 75-65 victory over Michigan State. And No. 17 Purdue, which started the night's action atop the Big Ten, tumbled to third at 7-3 at the Buckeyes thumped the Boiler-makers 102-79.

In other games involving teams in The Associated Press Top Twenty, 12th-ranked Southwestern Louisiana smashed Arkansas State 109-78, No. 18 Alabama bounced Vanderbilt 87-78 and 19th-rated Virginia Tech was knocked off by Richmond 94-93 in double overtime.

"Minnesota could play against UCLA every day of the week," Illinois Coach Harv Schmidt said. His Illini had lost to the top-ranked, uncatchable Bruins by only seven points in the Sugar Bowl Tournament.

Senior center Steve Downing's 26 points and 18 by sophomore forward John Laskowski paced the Hoosiers past Michigan State. Downing got 15 in the first half, then Laskowski took over with 14 the rest of the way.

Wardell Jackson and Luke Witte combined for 50 Buckeye points in the upset of Purdue, a ragged affair in which 61 fouls and 49 turnovers were committed.

It was Dwight Lamar's last home game for the 12th-ranked Ragin' Cajuns. They gave him a huge trophy—and Lamar responded with a gift of his own. He scored a game-high 28 points against Arkansas as Southwestern Louisiana finished unbeaten in the Southland Conference for the second year in a row.

Alabama kept its Southeastern Conference title hopes alive by beating Vanderbilt, but the Crimson Tide remained one game behind unranked Tennessee, an 87-83 victor over Florida, in the SEC standings. Kentucky, with sophomore Kevin Grevey scoring 40 points, beat Georgia 99-86 and trails Tennessee by 1 1/2 games in the SEC.

Eddie Voelker's layup after a steal with eight seconds left gave Tennessee its victory over Florida. Voelker came off the bench to spark the Vols in the waning seconds.

Ray Amann took only three shots—two in the extra periods—from the floor for Richmond and he made all of them, to the chagrin of Virginia Tech. Amann's first shot in the overtime periods, was a tipin with 1:18 left in the first extra period. That tied the score and sent the game into another overtime. Then he sank a tipin with 11 seconds to play in the second extra period to win the game for the Spiders.

one-game bowling tournament despite rolling a puny 131 game, and was second by one stroke to pro bowler Jim Stefanich's 41 in a nine-hole golf event.

Bench was runnerup to Revson with 21 points. Seagren hoisted 170 pounds to upset Frazier in weightlifting and the slender 175-pound Californian was second in swimming with 17 overall points going into today's final five events.

Revson won $6,900 Monday in the $122,000 Superstars competition. Bench got $6,300 and Seagren, earning his first money as an athlete, bagged $5,100.

But Parkhill attempted to bounce the ball to Wally Walker and Browning got it. "Park-

UCLA, State Continue To Dominate AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Big Three in the fight for the Big Ten championship also are battling for a high spot in the national major-college basketball rankings dominated by UCLA and North Carolina State.

Minnesota, 16-2, remained fourth in The Associated Press' Top Twenty poll released today while Indiana, 15-5, moved from 11th to 10th despite splitting two games that dropped it into third place behind Purdue and Minnesota in the Big Ten Conference.

Purdue, 14-5, which broke a first-place tie with Indiana, last week joined the Top Twenty, being named 17th in nationwide voting by sports writers and sportscasters.

UCLA, 21-0, won three times last week and received 39 first-place votes and 816 points while second-place North Carolina State, also 21-0 after two victories, got the other two first-place ballots and 740 points.

Long Beach State, 22-1 stayed third with 637 points. Minnesota received 560 points and Marquette, 20-2, continued fifth with 537 points.

seventh to ninth, and Indiana. St. John's of New York, ninth last week, headed the Second Ten, followed by Southwestern Louisiana, Kansas State, Memphis State, New Mexico, Missouri, Purdue, Alabama, Virginia Tech and Jacksonville. Brigham Young, 20th last week, dropped from the rankings.

Clemson Surprises Virginia—Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clemson defeated Virginia 56-54 in overtime Monday night for its first basketball victory away from home in 38 games.

It was the night's only game involving Atlantic Coast Conference teams. Some ACC teams are taking a brief holiday from conference action this week, but the squads in family action regard their outings as crucial. No teams play tonight.

A big battle comes in Durham Wednesday night with unbeaten, second ranked N.C. State playing at Duke. The Blue Devils have won 17 straight on their court and sharpened their talons for State with an 86-74 win over Notre Dame in their last outing.

The Wolfpack of Coach Norman Sloan, on the other hand, finds all opponents gunning for an upset. Wake Forest made a valiant effort Saturday before falling, 81-59.

In other games Wednesday night, Maryland is at Duquesne, Virginia goes to Pittsburgh and Miami, Ohio, comes to North Carolina.

After two more days with no action, all seven league members play Saturday.

An example of the tension that will reach a crescendo at next month's tournament came at Charlottesville, Va., where Clemson's Mike Browning picked up a stray pass from Barry Parkhill and laid in the winning basket with one second to go. The Tigers had lost the ball out of bounds with five seconds to play and it seemed the Cavaliers' comeback was successful.

But Parkhill attempted to bounce the ball to Wally Walker and Browning got it. "Park-

Switch-Hitter On Golf Tour

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Left-handers aren't unknown on the pro tour. Bob Charles of New Zealand and young Sam Adams are the principal porters.

Now there's a switch-hitter. Harry Toscano plays it tee to green right-handed. He putts left-handed.

"I had to do something," Toscano said. "I'm playing so good and scoring so bad I had to try something, anything. This may be the answer."

"I see the line much better. You know, I was a switch-hitter when I played high school baseball. I had more power right-handed. I hit a lot more home runs that way. But I had a much higher average, got a lot more hits left-handed."

Bruce Crampton, probably the most spectacular success story of the season, has the reputation of being a dour, poker-faced player on the course. "You've just never seen me off the course," the 37-year-old Australian told a group of writers recently. He's a jovial, pleasant companion away from his work.

Horses Lost In Two Accidents

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Two horses—a champion and a foreign challenger—had to be destroyed and two jockeys narrowly escaped death in a tragically unusual set of accidents in the Santa Anita feature race on the Washington Birthday holiday.

Autobiography, easily worth a million dollars and the Eclipse Award winner as handicap horse of 1972, broke his left front leg and threw rider Eddie Belmonte after entering the last turn.

An instant later, just 1-16 of a mile further, Argentine-bred Tuqui II, broke his left front leg too and went down, tossing rider Alvaro Pineda over his head.

Yvetot, with Frank Olivares riding, hit Tuqui. And racing up was Autobiography's stable mate Dendron, with Jesus Guadalupe in the saddle. Guadalupe, who learned less than an hour before the race that he was to ride, had first to miss the downed Belmonte and then Pineda. He and his mount missed them both.

An ambulance rushed Belmonte to the hospital which reported he was cut and bruised on both thighs and had suffered a concussion and a cut over his right eye. He was unconscious for a time but later came to. The examining physician said Belmonte's horse apparently kicked him in one thigh—indicating how close he had come to a fatal head kick.

Smokin' Joe Is No Mark Spitz

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
ROTONDA WEST, Fla. (AP) — Smokin' Joe Frazier is hungry for a rematch with heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman, but he's not quite ready to challenge Mark Spitz.

"My big aim in swimming was to keep from drowning," said the 215-pound Philadelphia strongboy. "It was like I was thrown punches at the water and the water kept hittin' back."

Frazier and nine other athletes of note are participating in the first annual Superstars Carnival, matching skills in sports other than their specialties.

Joe tried swimming ... briefly. He plunged into the pool for a 50-meter heat race and began flailing away, like he would after backing a ring opponent into a corner.

Race driver Peter Revson stroked away at a quick pace with skier Jean-Claude Killy and pole vaulter Bob Seagren in reasonable pursuit.

Frazier just kept on swingin'. After 20 meters, Smokin' Joe was 10 meters behind. At the halfway point, he looked like a man in need of a life preserver. Frazier threw up his hands and said: "I quit!"

Spitz' seven gold medals were safe. Revson won the swimming event along with tennis, beating hockey star Rod Gilbert 6-1 in the finals, and piled up 23 overall points in Monday's action.

Meeting Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, and John Gaherin, chief negotiator for the baseball club owners, will meet again today in an effort to settle the baseball contract dispute before the scheduled start of spring training March 1.

It will be the fourth consecutive day of negotiations, but both sides are maintaining silence as to what progress—if any—has been made.

"There will be no statements issued until there is something to announce," said Dick Moss, attorney for the Players Association, following Monday's three-hour meeting at Gaherin's office today, starting at 2 p.m., EST.

Participants in Monday's meeting, along with Gaherin, Miller and Moss, were National League President Chub Feeney and American League President Joe Cronin. Joe Torre, the St. Louis Cardinal player rep, also sat in.

The two points of difference are salary arbitration and the reserve clause.

The 'Worry Clinic' Male Requires Care Of Wife

Girls, heed Horace's questions! For it may be wise to marry a man 8 years younger than yourself! Then you will not spend so many lonely years as a widow! And unmarried folks should send for the SMF questionnaire below! You'll live longer!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE W-532: Horace T., aged 22, is a medical student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you have often stated that married men live longer than bachelors do.

"Of course, you've heard the joke that maybe it SEEMS longer?"

"But I recently saw figures that German husbands outlive unmarried German men by about 7 years!"

"And I understand that same condition is also true here in America.

"How do you explain such greater longevity of married men?"

Delicate Males
Males are stronger in muscular power than women. And exceed females greatly in gastric as well as erotic appetites.

But they are physiologically more delicate than females!

And this is true, regardless of the dangerous effects of tobacco, drugs, occupational hazards, etc.

For miscarriages show about 125 male babies to 100 females.

And that is true in primitive tribes, too!

At birth, the ratio runs about 105 boy babies to 100 girls.

But by middle age, the women then outnumber the men.

A recent report by the World Health Organization, covering the 1958-1968 period, showed that the average man's lifespan in the U. S. A. had dropped from 66.7 years to 66.6 years.

Longevity of American women, however, meanwhile had risen from 73.0 years to 74.1 years!

Which means the average American women lives almost 8 years longer than the average man!

But married men definitely have a longer lifespan than bachelors, for the married man almost equals the average woman's longevity. Why?

(1) A married man lives on a more regular schedule.

He tends to eat at standard meal times, usually having breakfast and dinner with his family.

And he doesn't carouse around at night clubs or dance halls.

Besides, he is less likely to become infected by venereal diseases.

(2) Marriage lengthens the life of BOTH sexes, because they can relax in their home and talk out their tensions, worries or fears.

A husband thus has a household psychiatrist to whom he can pour out his anxieties and vice versa.

This psychiatric value of marriage needs to be stressed more fully!

(3) Marriage also reduces the medical terror of being struck down by a heart attack or other serious ailment.

For a married couple know they have an ally at their elbow who can call the physician or hospital or ambulance and meanwhile apply first aid.

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 1♦ Pass 1♥
Pass 1NT Pass 3NT
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣.

A delicate sequence of plays led to a sparkling upset of South's three no trump contract.

West was reluctant to lead the suit in which his opponent had opened the bidding, so he opened the three of clubs, which South won in the dummy with the jack.

The latter led a small heart to the king and continued with the nine, on which West discarded the five of clubs and East followed with a small heart.

East won the next round with the ace, and his partner sluffed the deuce of diamonds.

The conclusions to be drawn from West's discards offered some useful information to East on how best to proceed. His partner's disinterest in the minor suits strongly suggested that South held the missing high honors in clubs and diamonds. Possession of the ace of clubs and the ace of diamonds would, in fact, bring declarer's trick total to nine once he regained the initiative.

Attack was, therefore, the order of the day and, since spades offered the only hope for quick revenue, it was necessary to play West for the ace. If he also has the queen and a small spade, then it becomes routine for the defense to cash out four more tricks in the suit.

It did not appear likely to East that South would rebid one no trump holding a worthless doubleton in spades. He resolved to play the latter for the queen in which case a very precise sequence of maneuvers must be executed by the defense.

East shifted to the king of spades, and his partner signaled encouragement and at the same time unblocked by following with the nine. East continued with the three, on which South played the queen and West the ace. The deuce was led thru dummy's 10-7, and East proceeded to cash out with the jack-eight to achieve a well earned upset of South's contract.

GIFT FOR KISSINGER — Former Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, left, presents a Japanese vase to presidential adviser Henry Kissinger in Tokyo. Sato visited Kissinger in his hotel where the former prime minister also has an office.

Weapons, Supplies Are Still Pouring Into Laos

By FRED S. HOFFMAN AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the Vietnam cease-fire, U.S. intelligence sources report, the North Vietnamese have poured hundreds of tanks and thousands of fresh troops into the Laotian supply trail in recent weeks.

There is no available evidence whether any of this has crossed into South Vietnam, but military sources said the movements make no sense unless most of this material and men are bound for there eventually.

The Jan. 27 cease-fire agreement limits resupply of Communist or government troops inside South Vietnam to replacement of damaged, destroyed or worn-out equipment on a one-for-one basis.

According to intelligence reports, the North Vietnamese have sent more than 250 tanks, many powerful 122mm and 130mm guns, about 50 armored personnel carriers and about 1,300 tons of supplies into Southern Laos since early this month.

These sources also estimated that about 15,000 North Vietnamese troops have moved into Southern Laos since the cease-fire. Intelligence analysts say about half are headed for the region near Saigon, some into the South Vietnamese Central Highlands, and others into the area below the demilitarized zone.

Meanwhile, a single motor-fuel pipeline which North Vietnamese Army engineers laid across the DMZ last spring to support a tank-led invasion is reported undergoing expansion with a second pipeline to increase the flow of oil and gas from North Vietnam.

Although the Vietnam cease-fire does not cover fighting in Laos, U.S. peace negotiator Henry A. Kissinger said the agreement includes "a flat prohibition" against use of Laos and Cambodia for infiltration into South Vietnam.

About the time the agreement was completed, Kissinger said he expected the 145,000 North Vietnamese troops remaining in South Vietnam to dwindle gradually.

There is nothing in the agreement that would penalize any of the parties for failing to carry out its terms. An international commission set up to supervise compliance has no enforcement powers.

Greenville police chief Glenn Cannon warned today that persons owning cars garaged within the city limits are required to have 1973 city licenses displayed on their vehicles.

Deadline for having 1973 city and North Carolina vehicle registration plates displayed was February 15, the chief said, and emphasized that persons driving cars without 1973 license plates will be cited to court.

Already more than a dozen drivers have been charged with failing to have 1973 registration plates displayed on their vehicle in compliance with North Carolina law.

Arrest Woman In Drug Raid

Lynda Sharon Fink, 24, of 405 West Fourth St. was arrested early this morning on charges of possessing marijuana for distribution.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the young woman was charged following a raid on her home.

He said officers found six plastic bags of marijuana containing about 120 grams of "grass" in her bedroom, during the 1:25 a.m. search.

Bond for Miss Fink was set at $2,000.

African Bloc Has Become Major Power In The UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In 10 years the Africans have attained awesome power in the United Nations. Their regional group, the biggest and strongest one here, rams through resolutions on African questions almost unopposed.

Under their influence, the United Nations has proliferated machinery to push their interests. And it devotes far more time, attention and documentation to those interests than to such basic issues as disarmament.

Some Western countries are disenchanted with this trend. The United States and Britain quit a U.N. committee on colonialism two years ago because they felt the Africans and Asians sided too much with the Russians. Secretary of State William P. Rogers complained in the General Assembly last year of bloc voting, an African characteristic.

Now the Africans are happily getting ready for a landmark holiday. The Organization of African Unity, home-front counterpart of the U.N. African Group, will celebrate its 10th birthday May 25 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, where it was formed and has headquarters. U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim will be there. His predecessor, U Thant, attended the OAU summit meeting every year.

The OAU has two main aims: to fight in the United Nations against the remnants of European rule over Africa, and to keep strictly African problems out of the United Nations, in favor of domestic or regional handling.

It has fended off U.N. consideration of the 1963 Moroccan-Algeria and 1964 Somali-Ethiopian-Kenyan border wars; the 1965 tension between Rwanda and Burundi; the 1968-71 Nigerian-Biafran civil war; last summer's fighting in Burundi, and last fall's expulsion of Asians from Uganda.

The group of black and Mediterranean African countries represents less than a tenth of the world's population but includes almost a third of the United Nations' members—41 out of 132.

African countries vote solidly for African proposals with the occasional exceptions of two or three close neighbors of South Africa. Other countries vote for African proposals because they want African votes for their own proposals: because they think the African proposals are right, or because their domestic pressure groups think so.

All that makes the African Group the most consistently influential vote-getter around. The Africans' numbers far exceed those of other regional groups—Asia's 32, Latin America's 23, the 21 for Western Europe and the old Commonwealth, and Eastern Europe's 10.

The Africans sometimes break ranks, especially when confronted with a new question on which they have not had time to nail down a uniform position. They divided last fall over Waldheim's proposal for an assembly debate on terrorism, even though there was a group decision to oppose it, and that helped him win.

But when united, as they almost always are on their own questions, they are hard to beat.

Former POW Tells Dad To Get Him Dates

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Air Force Capt. Michael C. Lane's first words to his father after more than six years as a Vietnam war prisoner included these instructions: "Get me dated up."

The 31-year-old bachelor was among the latest POWs released by the North Vietnamese. They arrived Sunday at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines.

Edward C. Lane of Charlotte, father of the flier, said his son called home at 9 p.m. Sunday. The father said his son "talked about 30 minutes and his voice sounded real strong. He said he'd lost only about 20 pounds and was real healthy."

"He said his first meal was eggs, steak, sausage, ham, bacon. Didn't have any grits. Then went back and had eggs, steak, sausage, ham. Then he joked he ate the tablecloth."

Lane said his son wanted to catch up on all the news of his family and friends in Charlotte. He was interested in news about his single female friends, the elder Lane—who has sent pictures of young ladies in Charlotte to the POW over the past three years—reported.

Lane told reporters at Clark that while a prisoner he drew a mental picture of the ideal wife for himself. "She has to have a nice figure, not necessarily Hollywood but with a cute face. Preferably blonde, a girl that enjoys athletics, a bit of intelligence, socially adept."

The airman, a captive since Dec. 6, 1966, avoided talking about the years since his plane was shot down. His father noted, "That's something he'll talk about when he wants to talk about it."

The Lanes hope to be reunited during the coming weekend at an Air Force Hospital as yet undetermined. The captain will leave the Philippines Tuesday.

Most of all after six years in captivity Lane said he wants to travel. He and other bachelors held captive intend to "take off" in any direction, the father said, adding, "They've made out some wild tours."

The 31-year-old was born in New Haven, Conn., and moved to Charlotte two years later. He is a graduate of Notre Dame University.

Didn't Tell Of Three Escapes

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Three honor-grade prisoners, including one serving 30 years for second-degree murder, escaped last Friday evening, but Sheriff Don Stahl says he didn't tell anyone until Monday afternoon. The sheriff, who came into office in 1966 after vowing to cut down on escapees from the Mecklenburg County jail, said he didn't report the escape immediately because he thought his department would recapture them quickly.

"A lot of times I feel that you can find people if you don't make too much noise," he said.

The three, all from Charlotte and still are large early today, were graduated from cooking Friday and were to receive home leave over the weekend. But on Friday the state temporarily suspended all such leaves pending an investigation into the escape of a prisoner convicted of murder. This prisoner, Henry Jarrette, who had been attending a Jaycee meeting in Raleigh with a guard, escaped from a motel on Feb. 9 and was accused of raping a Charlotte girl and fatally stabbing a boy at Waxhaw near Monroe two days later. He was recaptured in Memphis, Tenn.

Gerald Allen, commander of the prison department region which includes Mecklenburg County, said the decision to cancel all leaves might have led to the escape in Charlotte. The three walked out of a rear door that had been left open by mistake.

The three had been medium-custody prisoners at an Iredell prison camp when they came to the Mecklenburg County Jail six months ago to attend cooking school. During their cooking course the state jail system promoted them to honor grade.

They are Calvin L. Barber, 21, imprisoned in 1970 for 30 years on a second-degree murder conviction after pleading guilty to killing a Charlotte grocer; Johnny Gomillion, 24, serving 10 years for breaking and entering and larceny; and Rudolph Johnson, 25, serving 7 to 10 years for larceny.

Driver Charged As Cars Collide

An estimated $900 property damage resulted yesterday from a two-car collision at the intersection of Sixth and Tyson Streets about 7:30 a.m.

Officers identified drivers of the vehicles involved in the crash as Frank Dickens of 211 Cadillac St. and Lillian Carr Jones, 1709 Lincoln Dr.

Damage to the Dickens vehicle was set at $100 while damage to the Jones car was set at $800.

Mrs. Jones was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

On Dean's List Bob Jones U.

GREENVILLE, S.C.—One Pitt County student was named to the dean's list at Bob Jones University here during the first semester.

Miss Janice Marie Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Calhoun of Farmville, N.C., was one of 32 students named to the list.

She is a senior at the university and enrolled in the College and Arts and Science.
