Breathalyzer Bills Clear N.C. Senate

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Senate has passed two bills aimed at making it more difficult for motorists suspected of drunken driving to avoid taking breathalyzer tests.

The bills, sponsored by Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, won final approval by wide margins Tuesday, but only after three days of debate and some significant amendments.

One bill would authorize policemen to give roadside breathalyzer tests using portable, balloon-like devices that Smith said are 95 per cent accurate.

The roadside tests, however, could not be used against a driver in court. Smith said they would act as screening devices, allowing sober drivers to avoid a trip to the police station.

Failure to take such a test carried a 90-day license revocation when the bill reached the floor Tuesday.

But under an amendment introduced by Sen. Phil Godwin, D-Gates, that penalty was in most cases, nullified.

Godwin's amendment, accepted by Smith, would waive the 90-day penalty if a driver who refused to take the roadside test then went to a police station and passed the official breathalyzer test, proving that he had less than .10 per cent alcohol in his blood.

Smith's second bill provides that a driver who refuses to take the official, police station breathalyzer test, loses his license for six months.

Penalties for refusing to take either test run concurrently; therefore, the roadside test was in effect made optional by Godwin's amendment, Smith conceded.

But he said that did not really weaken the bills, and added he thought their thrust was the same: to get more drivers to take breathalyzer tests.

Smith's second bill, he said, closes a loophole through which many drivers have avoided taking breathalyzer tests and evaded the 60-day penalty the law now assesses.

He explained that if a driver appeals his 60-day revocation, and in the meantime is acquitted of the drink driving charge, his 60-day suspension for refusing to take the breathalyzer test is rescinded.

Smith said his bill closes that loophole.

Dollar Weak, Gold Bolstered

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar weakened and gold strengthened in early trading on European markets today.

The U.S. currency improved, however, in Japan. The dollar rallied on the Tokyo foreign exchange market for the second straight day and closed at 269.60 yen, up from 266.90 Tuesday, in active trading.

Map Pre-School Census For Greenville Families

Beginning tomorrow and continuing through March 16, the Greenville City Schools will be conducting a pre-school census to determine the number of children to be enrolling in the first grade and in kindergarten for the 1973-74 school year.

Charles R. Ross, Director of Elementary Education for the Greenville City School systems, has informed that principals will be sending forms into Greenville homes by school children who have brothers, sisters or friends who will be enrolled for the coming school year.

"This is not a registration," Ross emphasizes, "it is a census."

Two separate forms are being sent out, a white one for incoming first graders and a green form for incoming kindergarten children.

Each form has space for information on the child which is to be completed and returned to the schools.

Parents are also being asked to check with friends and neighbors who have young children of kindergarten or first grade age to insure that they too have received a form.

Children eligible for kindergarten in the 1973-74 school year are those who will be five years old on or before October 15, 1973.

For first grade, children eligible are those who will be six years old on or before October 15, 1973.

For parents of both kindergarten and first graders in 1973-74, material will be mailed concerning full requirements for registration.

the proposal and 4,040 in favor. The total vote was from a registration of about 40,000 voters.

The vote from county precincts was heavily against consolidation. Only three precincts favored the proposal. The three, all embracing affluent areas, WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Voters in Wilmington and New Hanover County rejected by a nearly three to one margin Tuesday the proposed consolidation of the city and county governments.

Complete but unofficial returns from all 25 precincts showed 11,722 votes against

North Viets Tie POW Release To Protection Of Personnel

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam said today it will resume freeing American prisoners of war as soon as the Joint Military Commission in Saigon guarantees the security of its communist members in South Vietnam's cities.

A North Vietnamese spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le told a news conference that the liberation of prisoners will resume "normally" as soon as the four-member commission has adopted a North Vietnamese "working plan" to safeguard commission personnel.

Le repeated Communist protests against attacks on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong members of the commission in Hue and Da Nang.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers had arranged an urgent meeting with Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh of North Vietnam to demand the resumption of POW releases. Trinh relayed a request from the Viet Cong's foreign minister, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, that the meeting be enlarged to include all four signers of the cease-fire agreement, and Rogers agreed.

Mrs. Binh and Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam of South

Vietnam joined Rogers and Trinh at the International Conference Center on Avenue Kleber. It was the first meeting of the four to consider alleged violations.

Rogers emerged smiling from the three-hour discussion but declined to disclose whether any progress had been made.

President Nixon had instructed Rogers to seek "clarification" of the halt in POW releases. The U.S. secretary also was certain to raise the matter of anti-aircraft missile batteries near Khe Sanh, below the demilitarized zone, which the United States says were brought down by the North Vietnamese after the cease-fire went into effect Jan. 28.

U.S. delegation spokesman Robert McCloskey said Tuesday the North Vietnamese had infiltrated "several thousand" troops and some heavy military equipment into South Vietnam since the cease-fire.

A North Vietnamese spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, denied McCloskey's charges and labeled them "slandorous allegations put forward ... to camouflage and justify the very serious violations committed by the United States and the Saigon administration."

Virtual Ultimatum: Missile Base Must Go U.S. Halts Troop Pullout In Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The United States suspended troop withdrawals from Vietnam today because of Hanoi's delay in releasing more American war prisoners, U.S. authorities reported.

The North Vietnamese also got a virtual ultimatum to dismantle an anti-aircraft missile site south of the demilitarized zone. The United States and South Vietnam contended the missiles were brought down from North Vietnam in violation of the cease-fire.

The body charged with supervising the cease-fire, the International Commission of Control and Supervision, grounded all helicopters for its members because of continued ground fire.

A commission source said four helicopters carrying members of the peacekeeping body were fired on the last four days. Two were hit, the source said, and an American pilot was reported wounded.

The source said a strong letter of protest drafted by the commission will be delivered Thursday to the Joint Military Commission comprising North and South Vietnam, the Viet Cong and the United States.

Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, the senior U.S. representative to the four-party Joint Military Commission, told the Communists the United States "reserves the right with its allies to take such actions as it deems appropriate" if the North Vietnamese do not remove the SAM batteries which the Americans and South Vietnamese say have been located at Khe Sanh since the cease-fire. This was assumed to be an implied threat of air attack on the missile sites.

No progress was reported from the meeting of the senior members of the commission, and a parallel meeting of a subcommission on captured persons also failed to resolve the POW stalemate.

A North Vietnamese spokesman said the Communists told the commission meeting the POW release was being delayed because the United States and South Vietnam were still not observing all provisions of the cease-fire agreement.

No further meetings were scheduled until Friday.

High-ranking authorities said that the U.S. Command, on orders from President Nixon, had suspended its troop pullouts with 11,300 Americans still in Vietnam.

Since the cease-fire Jan. 28, an average of two planes a day have been leaving Saigon with 400 Americans, but U.S. officials said none left today. There was also no activity at Camp Alpha, the processing center for departing Americans at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Some U.S. officials also suggested that Nixon may be considering withdrawing his offer of reconstruction aid to Hanoi and halting the mine-clearing operation in North Vietnamese waters until the Communists announce arrangements for the release of at least 130 more American POWs. According to the U.S. timetable, these prisoners should have been released Tuesday.

With the negotiations stalled, U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth

Bunker met with President Nguyen Van Thieu. The U. S. military commander, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, was called in, indicating that military aspects of the cease-fire were being reviewed.

Col. Hoang Hoa of the North Vietnamese delegation returned to Saigon after more than a week in Hanoi, but North Vietnamese spokesman Bui Tin withdrew a report he made earlier in the day that Hoa might bring the list of American POWs to be released. Instead, Tin said, "We already have the list. We are waiting for Comrade Hoang Hoa who is bringing in new instructions."

A U.S. spokesman said the subcommission on prisoners discussed the return of Vietnamese prisoners, and no decisions were reached.

Mild Tremor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A tremor shook eastern Pennsylvania and areas in Delaware and Maryland for several seconds early today. No injuries or major damage were reported.

The tremor at about 3:30 a.m. EST prompted an avalanche of phone calls to police, fire departments and the news media.

A spokesman for the National Earthquake Information Center at Boulder, Colo., said it had no initial measurement of any East Coast tremor. He added that any tremor would not be connected with the "major earthquake" centered in the Kuril Islands in the northern Pacific at 1:38 a.m. EST today.

The Kuril Islands quake registered a 7.5 on the Richter scale, as compared with the 6.2 Richter mark earthquake that devastated Managua, Nicaragua, last December.

A NEIC spokesman said the Kuril Islands quake was shallow and apparently caused extensive surface waves. But the Shemya tide station in the Aleutians reported that the Pacific quake did not generate seismic waves.

Northern Michigan Coach Said In Line For ECU Position

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Frank Novac, offensive coordinator for the past three years at Northern Michigan, will join the East Carolina University football staff next week. The Daily Reflector learned today.

An informed source said that Novac, one of the most popular coaches on the staff at Northern Michigan, would assume the post vacated by Vito Ragazzo last month, when he resigned to join the staff of the University of North Carolina.

Novac is the second new coach to join the East Carolina Reflector learned that Warren Klawitter of Southern Illinois University would join the Bucs as defensive line coach. While he is now on campus, officials at the University have had no comment on his hiring, saying it has not been "officially approved." They also had no comment on the report that Novac is joining the staff.

A graduate of Northern Michigan, the 33-year-old coach was a Little All-American at the quarterback position. His work at Northern Michigan, while at a program not on a par with that at East Carolina, nonetheless, was a potent one. This past year, his team scored 28 points on the powerful Tamps University team which gained a Tangerine Bowl bid over the Pirates.

The news of Novac's hiring comes hot on the heels of another resignation, the of Dick Kupec, as offensive line coach (see story on sports page). Reportedly three men are under consideration for this position, and a selection is expected next week.

The Pirates begin spring drills on March 12.

consolidated city-county governments among its 100 counties. Charlotte, the state's largest city, and Mecklenburg County voted down such a proposal in 1971.

Three of New Hanover County's beach communities were among those opposed to consolidation. Wrightsville Beach voted 304-155 against, and Carolina Beach and Kure Beach, comprising one precinct, voted 418-76 in opposition.

A charter commission, was appointed jointly by the Wilmington City Council and the New Hanover Board of County Commissioners nearly three years ago. A charter was drawn up last year and the stage was set for Tuesday's election in a bill passed by the General Assembly.

The current board of county commissioners led the opposition under an organization named Truth About Consolidation.

FAMILY AFFAIR — Elan Sassoon, 2 1/2, right, and sister Catya, 4, are children of famous hairdresser Vidal Sassoon. Hendon photographed them during a visit to New York.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Talk to the giraffe," says Joshua Hendon, children's portrait photographer, in an effort to relax a tiny client.

Youngsters establish instant rapport with animals, he said, and the combination is promising subject matter.

"What do you get from a cow?" questions the photographer.

"String beans," replies a 5-year-old.

The photographer continues, "How many kinds of elephants are there?"

The scene is Josh Hendon's studio with its zoo of toys to engage youngsters while they're being photographed.

Personable Hendon, who works in New York, Boston and Miami, is the father of four, loves children and captures them in color portraits with a unique flair for the natural, unposed atmosphere.

"I try to develop a relationship with the child. I have mothers in the room only when the youngsters are real babies. Otherwise I work with the child alone, encouraging conversation with the animals."

Hendon says a child's beauty is in his eyes and he tries to capture their expressions. Then he tried to picture that individual quality that makes each child special on film. He takes more than 100 pictures at a sitting.

After parents select from the proofs, photographs are framed, the most popular sizes being 16 by 20 inch and 20 by 24 inch frames.

Although Hendon photographs adults from time to time, 95 per cent of his subjects are children, including youngsters in family portraits.

Especially appealing ages for "growing up" photographs are 6 to 9 months, 2 years, 4 to 5 years, 8 1/2 and 13 or 14 years, Hendon said.

A business executive who pursued photography as a hobby until he became a student, Hendon has been a full-time portrait photographer for three years.

His best portraits find the child as his parents see him and wish to see him, he says. Finding that hidden quality encourages Hendon to keep perfecting his art.

Hendon captures her expressive eyes. Mark Gonchar, 14 months, is one of Hendon's favorite subjects, right, and the photographer highlights his curly hair and bright eyes.

DEAR ABBY: During our 30 years of married life, I worked two jobs so as to provide a good home for my wife and children. Now the kids are married and on their own—or so we thought.

My wife and I saved a little nest egg for our retirement years, but it seems that the style these days is to hand over the money to the kids for down-payments on homes, furniture, or just to help them pay their rent!

I am against this, I say, let them work for it the way we did. When they work for things themselves, they appreciate them more. Why should we dig into our savings to make life easier for them.

My wife is a softy and has started to hand out money to our kids. Of course, there is no such thing as a "loan" or a "note" with your own children. It's just a present. Please print this with your answer. She thinks I am tight and hardhearted when I say, "No more!"

DAD IN HACKENSACK, N. J.

DEAR HACKENSACK: Let the kids hack it themselves—in Hackensack and everywhere else! I'm with you, Dad.

DEAR ABBY: How does a guy go about finding one of those girls who's a sure thing? Know what I mean? The kind who meets a guy, and if they dig each other, she'll have an affair with him without getting too serious. They may even live together without any strings attached.

I've had the marriage bit, thanks, and I played it square, but she sure had me fooled. And when we split up, she took me for all I was good for.

I've thought of running an ad in the paper, but I don't know how to word it without being downright blunt. I'm no bum. I've got a job and I don't wear my hair long. Vital statistics: 34 years old, 6 feet tall, 180 pounds. Have brown eyes and dark hair, and can be amorous.

Please publish this. I may get a straight answer. You can skip the sermon. I once believed in love and marriage, but no more. At least this way there's no phony baloney, and everyone knows the score. LOOKING IN ST. PAUL

DEAR LOOKING: You need me to help you find a "sure thing" like a moose needs a hatrack. The pickup joints in St. Paul are full of them. A word of warning, however, if you are seriously considering such a girl: Make a standing appointment with your physician every morning. You're a cinch to need it.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the process of suing my husband for extreme physical cruelty. He settles all disagreements with his fists, and the people at the emergency ward at the hospital are sick of seeing me.

My lawyer advised me to find somewhere else to live until we could get into court, so some friends took me in. While living with them, I became attached to their 22-year-old son. (I am 30, and have three children.)

I was given custody of the children and also the house and furnishings my husband and I owned jointly. When he was served and ordered to leave the premises, he stripped the place of all the furniture, including two television sets and the radio. He even took the light bulbs. He was ordered to pay me a certain amount for child support, but I haven't seen a penny of it.

My husband has been seen out dancing every night. My lawyer told me not to go out with any men, but I am losing my sanity sitting here in an empty house with nothing to watch or listen to and sleeping in a borrowed sleeping bag. I called my lawyer and his answering service said he went on a vacation and will be gone for six weeks. What should I do?

STIR CRAZY IN ARKANSAS

DEAR STIR: Every lawyer should have a colleague his clients can consult in his absence. If yours has not, you would be justified in finding another lawyer. Check with your local Legal Aid Society or the County Bar Association.

A Proper Fit For Wedding Gown

NEW YORK (UPI) — A bride can pay from $70 to more than $1,000 for her wedding dress. Or she can pay next to nothing—borrowing a dress from a friend who wears the same size. She'll have to spend some in the latter case for alterations.

Regardless, the important thing in wedding gowns is fit. The second most important thing is that the dress pleases the bride.

Three's a crowd when shopping for a wedding dress. Don't go alone, though. Take just one other person—mother or sister or best friend. Get from that person an honest opinion about any dress that sweeps you off your feet.

At gown-shopping time wear the same hairstyle you will have for the wedding. It will help when judging the gown and headpiece. You'll get the total look if you also wear shoes the same height as the wedding day shoes.

P.S.—Overweight at gown-shopping time? You probably will figure to lose some weight by wedding day and therefore might go for a dress that's "wee bit tight" four weeks before the wedding. Don't bet on it. Experience shows that the weight seldom is lost in time. The bride at wedding day faces a super dilemma: too big for her wedding gown.

For a different salad dressing for a fruit salad, beat a little salad oil and lemon juice into cranberry jelly. Finely grated onion (pulp and juice) may be added.

Marriage Vows Get New Look In Ypsilanti

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — It's no longer "until death do you part" in Ypsilanti.

After legislation was passed giving Michigan mayors the power to perform marriages, the city of Ypsilanti decided to use the occasion to draw up new language for the marriage contract.

City Attorney Kenneth Bronson came up with an "ecumenical, civil and nonsectarian" marriage pact for Mayor George D. Goodman to use.

The first thing to go was that "until death do you part" bit, Bronson said, since marriages no longer are considered to last forever.

"It's silly in a state-prescribed ceremony to make qualifications not in the law," he said. "The law provides a remedy for nonviable marriages, particularly with a no-fault divorce law."

The Ypsilanti ceremony has eliminated the "if any person should know any reason why these two should not be wed, let him speak now or forever hold his peace" part of the ceremony.

That clause, Bronson said, goes back to medieval England, when public announcements of weddings were published and those with legal objections were expected to raise them at the ceremony.

"Love, honor and obey" has been replaced with "love, cherish and support." Under the Ypsilanti formula, the wife is as responsible for the husband's support as he is for hers.

Instead of pronouncing the newlyweds "man and wife" the mayor says simply, "I now pronounce that they are married."

Bronson said that avoids the problem of finding words implying equal status for males and females. The term "wife" originally had property connections, he said.

"We were thinking about alternating the vows because the man's come first and the woman's second," Bronson said. "but it was just too darn confusing that way."

Remember dresses? The kind that show your legs and make a girl look fragile and pretty? They're back again for spring.

One dress look for spring: A mixed-up wrap-up features a floral pinafore with sashes in back over a bold checked shirt.

Good Start Means A Good Shot

By MARILYNN SMITH
LPGA Circuit Star

You must remember that your muscles respond to your mind.

If you have an incorrect concept of style then you are going to send signals that will produce a poor physical performance. When you face the ball you must check off the elements of good posture because a bad start will ensure a bad shot.

When I go into address position I check my posture, point by point. I use the Vardon overlapping grip that 95 per cent of golfers recommend. I take a square stance with both feet on a line parallel to the line of flight. I try to stand very tall.

I want to get a strong gripping action with the inside of my feet because it's like building a house—you must have a firm foundation. My knees flex slightly. When I bend at the waist my back must be as straight as possible. My left arm is straight and my right elbow slightly flexed. My right shoulder is lower than the left shoulder.

When you complete a check-off such as this you can be sure you are in a strong "go" position.

It usually pays to bake two loaves of yeast bread at a time: one loaf to be used right away, one to go in the freezer.

Let The Stars Name Your Baby

By ERICA BOWMAN
NEW YORK (WNS) — Choosing a name for a baby is almost always a difficult job
— and often a thankless one.
Too many of us dislike the names our parents chose for us. We could have done a better job, we're sure. Many of us do change our names, or use nicknames which seem to be more in line with our personalities.

Perhaps we can simplify the process if we let our child's Sun Sign be a guide to the correct name. Some choices are almost obvious:
Marcia (dedicated to Mars) for the Arian girl; Thomas (a twin) for a Gemini; Leonard or Leona for a Leo; Archer for a Sagittarian; or Bard for a poetic Piscean. Here are some other possibilities:

ARIES: Rachel and Owen both mean lamb, which would be perfect for children born under the Ram sign. In line with the Martian rulership of Aries, Mark and Martin both refer to Mars, as do Marcy and Marcia. As the sign of the warrior, Aries has many appropriate names. Some of these are: Alfonso (eager for battle); Boris (warrior);
Brenda or Brendan (sword); Harriet or Harold (army-power).

TAURUS: The sign of beauty points to a group of names indicating this quality: Alana, Bonita and Linda all mean pretty; Alan and Kevin are handsome.
Other qualities of Venus are reflected by Anne (graceful), Curtis (courteous), Daria or Darius (wealthy), and Dexter (fortunate).

GEMINI: Since this Air sign is primarily associated with the mind, some good choices would be: Clark

(learned); Hugh (mind);
Dallas (wise); Minerva or Sophia (wisdom). The rulership by Mercury is also reflected in Angela, Hermione, or Iris — all meaning messenger.

CANCER: The home-loving Cancerian might be happy with a name that indicates this attachment.
Booth (dwelling) and Trevor (house-great) are two such names. George (farmer) might also be appropriate.
The rulership of this sign by the Moon leads to Ion (moon man) and Artemis, Cynthia, Diana, Phoebe or Selene (all moon goddesses).

LEO: Leona and Leonard are bold lions, while Ariel is the lion of God. Other names for the proud and regal Leos might include: Austin

(majestic); Cyrus (throne);
Erica or Eric (ruler); Regina (queen); Roy (king).

VIRGO: The sign of service and health has several names indicating these attributes.
Some of them could be: Asa (physician); Althea
(healing); Emman (nurse);
Ezra (helper); Jason (healer); Stuart (caretaker).
Catherine or Katherine and all of its derivations — Karen, Kathleen, Corinne, etc. — all mean pure, to fit the virtuous aspects of Virgoans.

LIBRA: The second sign ruled by Venus is the sign of partnership and harmony.
Some names indicative of these characteristics might be: Amy or David (beloved);
Cherie (sweetheart);
Damaris (wife); Irene (peace); Jeffrey (God's peace); Levi (joined in harmony).

SCORPIO: Known for passion, this Pluto-ruled sign also signifies power and strong will. Appropriate names include: Bridget (strength); Damon (subduer); Donald (world ruler);
Odin (fury); Valerie (strong).

SAGITTARIUS: The sign of the archer relates to honesty and truth. Alice (truth), Dan or Danielle (judge) or Justine (just) might be good names. Other choices could be: Abbot (father) or Phillip (lover of horses).

CAPRICORN: The industrious Saturnians might be named Bernard (strong bear); Constance (faithful);
Deborah (bee); Ethan (firm); Themis (order).

AQUARIUS: This is the sign of the friend and

UNC-G Alumni Support Annual Funds Campaign

GREENSBORO — Pitt County alumni are continuing their support of the 1972-73 Alumni Annual Giving Campaign of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, according to the latest report by Mrs. Charles E.
Woodall, Greenville, county chairman.

The first phase of the campaign has now been completed, and Pitt County alumni have contributed $635 through Feb. 15
the report reveals.

An additional letter will be sent to alumni who have not yet contributed by members of their classes urging them to give to the fund. The alumni annual giving year will continue through June 30.

The Alumni Annual Giving Program is now in its 11th year at UNC-G, and the 1972-73 goal is to raise $150,000. During the past 10 years, UNC-G alumni have contributed a total of $1,003,446 to the Alumni Annual Giving Program.

Money contributed by alumni is used to support University programs not provided for by state appropriations.

The Pitt County workers who helped conduct the first phase of the 1972-73 campaign are: Miss Elizabeth Wilson; Mrs. Al
Ward; Mrs. Charles G. Clark;
Mrs. Gary Richardson; Mrs. E.
E. Grubbs; Mrs. Larry
McAdams; Mrs. Tylon Kermion
Jr.; and Mrs. C. A. Bowen, all of Greenville;

Mrs. Clifford Whichard,

WCTU Meeting Is Announced

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union meeting will be held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. H. L. Andrews.

The program theme will be "Learn By Sharing" and the devotional theme will be "The Joy of Witnessing."

All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Britt Is Club Speaker

Mrs. Austin Britt presented the program at the meeting of the Home Pride Garden Club held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fuller Molsinger.

Mrs. Fred Wagner served as co-hostess.

Speaking on seeds, Mrs. Britt explained how to gather one's own seeds in the fall of the year from dried mature plants. The seeds should be thoroughly dried and placed in air-tight containers until planting time.

This method of obtaining seeds rather than buying com-mercially packaged seeds can prove to be economical. Various kinds of seeds were brought by each member and exchanged at the meeting, she said.

Mrs. Larry Vacek, president, conducted the business meeting.
Plans were made for filling Easter baskets to be given to the Salvation Army. A dinner party for members and their husbands is being planned for April.

Rapid boiling of rice can cause boilovers and break the grains. Rinsing cooked rice can wash away nutrients. And stirring rice during cooking can mash the grains and make the rice gummy.

No Medical School Deal Needed

The East Carolina University School of Medicine was back in the news last week with a report in the Charlotte Observer that eastern legislators were preparing a bill which would offer Charlotte a medical school in exchange for development of a full four-year school at ECU.

This prompted an editorial in the Charlotte Observer, the gist of which was that Charlotte should turn down the "offer."

Try as we might, we have yet to find anybody in the East who admits to having this bill prepared. There are a lot of legislators from the east, however, and it is certainly possible that someone may have such a bill in mind.

Thus, for the record let us say that we would be dubious of such a trade. After all, North Carolina has made a commitment to build a university campus at Charlotte. It is growing rapidly and it is expected to be one of the largest—if not the largest—campus in the state in a few years. Just to build a campus that would equal that of East Carolina University in the next decade we would estimate the state will have to spend $100 million for capital improvements alone.

Now we have no objection to building this campus at Charlotte, even though it is obvious some eastern tax money is going to have to flow that way. Charlotte is a growing metropolitan area and the state certainly needs to meet the needs of its young people. But to add another $50 million for development of a medical school there during this decade would be an inordinate additional burden for the tax payers to shoulder.

On the other hand, East Carolina University is an already-developed university of multi-million dollar value. It is ready to develop its medical school. Through years of fighting, proponents have built their case for development of a medical school and the first year program is already successfully in operation. East Carolina University has always kept its fight for the medical school out in the open and because its arguments are so valid, the development of the medical school has proceeded to this point with strong public support.

Development of the school is obviously stalled at present, but we believe this School of Medicine will be developed and it can be done on its merits without any deals.

Union Leaders Are Uncertain

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK
MIAMI BEACH — The deep ambivalence among labor leaders toward Richard M. Nixon surfaced again here when he thrilled the AFL-CIO Executive Council by comparing his own job to theirs but then fell far short of meeting their demands for protectionist trade legislation.

Indeed, no reconciliation of basic differences between AFL-CIO president George Meany and President Nixon emerged from their meeting here. On the contrary, Mr. Nixon's unwillingness to go all the way with labor's new protectionists is by far the most divisive element in the fragile entente between the President and the union baron.

Instead of endorsing the AFL-CIO's specific protectionist aims when he addressed Meany and the Executive Council behind closed doors, Mr. Nixon attempted to enlist their help with an ingenious argument. In effect, he told them as follows:

Your job and mine are very similar. You cannot go into a bargaining session with management "unless you have the right to strike." I could not end the Vietnam war unless I, too, had the right to strike (a reference to his highly successful December bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong).

The President then drew an analogy with his need for new trade legislation, saying that he could not possibly deal with the flood of imports from Japan and West Germany "unless I have the right to strike" by imposing higher tariffs and other protectionist devices.

Further, Mr. Nixon said that he knew a labor leader could never marshal the full strength of his international union unless he had all the power of his local unions in his own hands. Translated, that meant Mr. Nixon could not deal with Japan and West Germany on burgeoning imports unless Congress gave him all the powers he needed.

Leaving that private session with Mr. Nixon, one labor leader was enthusiastic. "He's talking my language," he said. Another said he felt President Nixon was one of the few politicians "tough enough" to make the Japanese and Germans "sweat it out" on the trade issue.

That was precisely the reaction Mr. Nixon wanted his rhetoric to have, and it appealed to some of the labor brass. But lack of specifics about the President's new trade legislation displeased many more.

What worries skeptical labor leaders is that Mr. Nixon will use the muscle of the AFL-CIO to persuade the Democratic-controlled Congress to grant him extraordinary tariff-raising and quota powers but, after gaining the authority, will not use it to the degree wanted by the AFL-CIO.

Moreover, according to those who listened carefully to him last week, Mr. Nixon never mentioned one of the principal trade demands of big labor (spelled out in the labor-backed Burke-Hartke bill): that income earned abroad by multinational U.S. corporations be taxed when earned, not stay untaxed until it returns to this country.

The President's failure to mention this priority goal of labor, designed to make multinationals less financially attractive, was viewed by the AFL-CIO's trade experts as a tip that Mr. Nixon has no intention of accepting it. Further, some felt his silence also indicated a fundamental disagreement by the President on whether the multinationals contribute significantly to unemployment in this country.

This, the highly touted compromise between the White House and labor on

U.S. Dollars And Hanoi

WASHINGTON — The big question in Washington is do we or do we not vote billions of dollars to rebuild North Vietnam? While this battle is raging, the world money markets are selling their dollars for gold, and in just a few weeks the dollar has been considerably weakened. Hanoi reads the newspapers, too, and it's just possible that they may raise some problems about accepting the dollars for aid.

It is not too farfetched to assume that on Henry Kissinger's next trip to Hanoi the following exchange could take place between Muc Dam Luc, the North Vietnamese finance minister, and Mr. Kissinger.

Mr. Kissinger arrives smiling. "Mr. Minister, I am happy to report to you that the Congress of the United States has voted to give you $3 billion to help you rebuild your country."

"Dollars?" the minister asks. "Yes, $3 billion. Is there anything wrong with that?"

"We were thinking more in terms of Japanese yen or German marks."

"That's out of the question," Kissinger replies. "The bill specifically says the aid will be in dollars."

The minister asks, "Would you be willing to give us Swiss francs?"

Kissinger tried to control his temper. "Mr. Minister, the President had a great deal of difficulty persuading Congress to vote $3 billion in aid to your country. Do you realize the spot he'll be in if he has to announce you won't accept the aid in dollars?"

"But look at it from my viewpoint," the finance minister said. "How can I tell the people of North Vietnam that the United States is giving us $3 billion when everyone north of the DMZ line knows the dollar is in trouble? If we accept the aid in dollars, we will lose face."

"How can you say that?" Kissinger shouts. "After all our countries have been through together."

"Mr. Kissinger, we feel you negotiated the peace treaty with us in bad faith. At the time we were working out a peace with honor you never once mentioned to us that the dollar would be devalued."

"I didn't know the dollar was going to be devalued," Kissinger protested. "That's not my department."

"Well, someone should have told us. How can we trust you when we've already lost 10 percent on the devaluation, and the ink on the documents hasn't even dried?"

Kissinger said, "Mr. Minister, surely you're not going to let a lousy devaluation stand in the way of a generation of peace."

"Mr. Kissinger, my government insists on rewriting the treaty so that aid to North Vietnam will be tied to the price of gold in-

What Kind Of Boy

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What kind of boy should a girl marry?

That's easy. She should marry the kind she can be reasonably happy with — and whom she can keep reasonably happy.

What kinds of boys should she not marry? Well — lots of kinds. But she should take particular care not to marry the kind of boy who —

Thinks he has a perfect right to snap her garter half an hour after he buys her a steak.

HAL BOYLE

Is willing to promise her anything, but can't write her a love letter that at least sounds sincere.

Insists on looking in every closet before he leaves her apartment — just to be sure she isn't hiding a rival there.

Doesn't keep her photo in his wallet, so he can show it to old ladies he sits next to on plane trips.

Never wants to go on a stroll with her under a full moon.

Refuses to light the candles if she thinks it would be romantic for them to dine by candlelight.

Is perfectly willing to buy her champagne on the first night of the honeymoon, but not on the second night.

Carries his old pet dog — instead of her — across the threshold when they first enter their new home.

Blows cigar smoke rings in her face to show he's annoyed with her.

Won't launder her stockings if she breaks her arm.

Is jealous even of her girl friends.

Thinks a woman looks out of place except in the kitchen or the bedroom.

Never puts his arms around her or kisses the back of her neck while she is cooking.

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
February 28, 1933
The capital is dressing up. Decorators today began preparing for Saturday's inaugural ceremonies. Already flags are flying in great numbers. Finishing touches are being applied to the front steps of the Capitol where Franklin D. Roosevelt will take his oath of office. The flow of visitors has already started. Inaugural historians said this would be the largest attendance of governors at any inauguration.

The Greenville High School basketball team will leave here Thursday morning to enter the State College eighth annual invitational tournament. Out of a total of 11 games played, the local cagers have won ten and lost five games.

Strength For Today

LOTTERIES

Once in a while we read of a person having won a huge amount of money in the lottery. There is certainly nothing unlawful about this if the lottery is carried on honestly, as we believe it almost invariably is.

But we do wonder what effect a lottery winning has on the winner. It sends some out to raise whoopee. It makes others more anxious to travel or to see that their children and grandchildren all receive an adequate education. It must be a thrilling thing to be practically out of funds one day and affluent the next.

But all this of course has drawbacks. It must be said, however, that the drawbacks are in the winners rather than in the system. If we participated in lotteries we should of course all want to be winners. But there is some doubt as to whether or not winning goes along with the enrichment of one's life and the growth of character. The come easy, go easy things in life usually end up doing us more harm than good.

To the extent that lottery is a form of gambling and evil. But most lottery is not gambling but the wholesome desire to take a chance on something. And when the chance turns out in the form of million over night the strain on the character is intense.

If we can be sure of winning huge amounts for a small deposit we would all be willing to take a chance. But will losing make us unduly depressed or winning make us reckless? These are the important questions.

Enjoys Kicking Establishment

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Two years after taking office as Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner, Herbert Denenberg continues to be an inextinguishable volcano of comment and criticism about the Establishment and its ways.

There is nothing he enjoys more, he insists, than kicking the vested interests in the posterior. "I get a buzz out of it," he says. And so do those criticized, most of whom feel they have been attacked by a power saw.

What protects the 43-year-old lawyer and insurance expert from the frequent demands for his resignation is that he supports his criticisms with an almost constant cannonade of proof. He is often right, and he lets people know it.

Nevertheless, so steady are the dismissal demands — from the Pennsylvania

Medical Society and the Association of Trial Lawyers, for example — that he offers critics a standard form letter preaddressed to the governor.

While his job is to regulate insurance, he becomes involved in the worlds of medicine, dentistry, automotive vehicles, environment, housing and more because all are touched by insurance.

These are some of the criticisms that have angered individuals and institutions:

— There are 2 million unnecessary surgical operations each year in the United States. "Everyone screamed and hollered when I made that statement," said Denenberg in an interview, "but now it looks like the figure is 3 or 4 million."

— Five per cent of medical doctors are incompetent. Now, said the commissioner, that estimate seems conservative. "The American Medical Association itself says 5 percent, alcoholics, drug addicts or mentally unstable."

— Forty per cent of insurance agents are unqualified. He hasn't withdrawn the statement. Instead, he adds now that most of the companies the agents work for aren't worth much either.

— Expert buyers of insurance would probably eliminate 80 per cent of the insurance companies in the market," he said. Life, health and casualty, he was asked? "Especially life," he replied.

Moreover, said Denenberg, who is a lawyer, economist and the first to hold a professorship in property and liability insured at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance, agents push ordinary life policies because they pay the highest commissions.

Since he contends that the customer's needs should dictate the policy offered, he is proposing that agents be compelled to reveal the amount they receive on each type of policy. Sometimes it is 100 per cent of the first-year premiums.

Last week Denenberg's office issued its seventh in a series of shopper's guides, which soon may be widely distributed by a commercial publisher. The first were on needless surgery, hospital costs and various types of insurance.

This one, on dentistry, begins typically: "There is evidence that much dental care is substandard." At least 15 per cent of all dentists are incompetent or dishonest, he states.

Denenberg seems a bit uprisied that the resulting criticism hasn't been more severe. "We don't get the arguments we did before," he said, "because we've demonstrated our criticisms are sound."

Will Decide On Records

RALEIGH (AP) — The state ABC Board will decide Monday what specific records it will expect two distillery representatives to provide Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

Board Chairman Dr. L. C. Holshouser said Tuesday the board will require Ralph A. Elmore of Richmond, Va., and Robert E. Myers of Raleigh to furnish some of the requested business records, but apparently not all.

"The attorney general asked for a considerable amount of them which I don't think is feasible," said Dr. Holshouser.

The ABC Board held a hearing Monday on Morgan's request for records from the two men, who Morgan said have not cooperated with a Justice Department investigation into the liquor business in North Carolina.

State law empowers the board to revoke a distillery representative's permit if he fails to make his business records available to the board.

Blue-Gold Cub Banquet Held

"Famous Americans" was the theme of Cub Scout Pack 385's Blue-Gold banquet, held Tuesday night at St. James United Methodist Church.

Each den prepared table decorations based on the theme. Judges deemed those of Den 7, Den 3, and Den 8 the best, in this order.

The Cubs presented a plaque of appreciation to Dr. Sheldon Downes, the immediate past Pack Cubmaster. Achievement awards, designated Bobcat, Wolf, and Bear, went to 14 Cubs. Entertainment was a karate demonstration by Webelos, Eric Downes and Mark Shank.

Three Collided At Intersection

An estimated $1,300 property damage resulted here yesterday from a three-vehicle collision at the intersection of Fifth and Elm Streets about 8:30 a.m.

Officers identified the drivers involved in the collision as William Henley Watson of 108 Christenbury Rd., Patricia M. Walter of 704 East First St. and Nancy Nunes Brown of River View Estates.

Police who set damage at $400 to the Watson car, $700 to the Walter vehicle and $200 to the Brown auto, charged Mrs. Brown with failing to stop for a red light.

No injuries were reported.

Revival

Revival services will begin Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Sheldermine Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The Rev. Bobby Williams of Roper is the evangelist. Special singing will be rendered each night. The Rev. Roy Williams, pastor, invited the public to attend.

Evans-Novak

(Continued from page 4) protectionist trade legislation is not even approaching reality. To the contrary, if Mr. Nixon's new tariff-raising bill (still in the drafting stage) fails to meet labor's demands, the trade issue itself might wreck the highly tentative new working relationship between the President and Meany.

Meany does not want that to happen. He will keep his own door open to the President, and he himself plans to use the open door at the White House — to stall off anti-labor legislation, bargain for maximum flexibility in wage ceilings under Phase III and in other ways protect labor's interests.

But the heart of his problem is trade, and on that score the Nixon-Meany meeting here settled nothing.

Muscular Dystrophy Campaign Prepared

Now underway in Greenville, the current drive to collect funds for the fight against muscular dystrophy will continue until March 10, according to Mrs. Sue Turcotte, campaign chairman for the project.

"Our main effort is going to be a door-to-door campaign," Mrs. Turcotte said. "We have about 300 people, working mothers, housewives, and teen-age boys and girls, a cross section of the community, helping out in this cause."

Mrs. Turcotte said all persons would be properly identified with a pin to be worn where it can be easily seen.

"It's amazing," the chairman said, "the response our committee people have received from getting people to volunteer. It's really gratifying."

Luncheon Held By Ladies' Ass'n

The Brook Valley Ladies Golf Association met Thursday for a luncheon at the Brook Valley Country Club.

Mrs. Mary Peterson, a former resident of Greenville and a member of the Golf Association, was guest of honor. She was remembered with a gift from the association members. She and her husband have moved to Parsippany, N. J.

Awards of golf balls were given to the winners in the Fall Ladies Days which were held each Thursday. Ladies Day will resume the first week in March on Thursday at 9:30. Awards of silver were given to the winners of the Fall Handicap Tournament.

A Spectacular for the ladies and men golfers was set for March 25. Members may make reservations for the Spectacular and dinner by calling the club house.

New members of the Association are Shirley Martin and Ada Jones.

Against Cussin'

RALEIGH (AP)—Swain County in the mountains has been made safe from cussin'. The county, along with three others in North Carolina—Pitt, Craven and Stanly—had somehow been exempted from a 1913 state law making it a misdemeanor to curse or use obscenities in public.

So Sen. Elizabeth Wilkie of Swain County got the Senate to pass Tuesday her bill bringing Swain under the old law. She said there were elements in the county who liked to go around cussing police officers and others.

In any event, Hunt said, he would resist firmly any attempt to clip the wings of his office by removing the power to name Senate committees.

The only specific area Gov. Holshouser has indicated for the lieutenant governor is the Council on State Goals and Policies, a citizen group charged with initiating plans for the future.

Hunt said he looks to that as a challenge. "Goal-setting is an activity that lies outside the political areas, per se," he observed. "Our concern for the future is above partisanship."

Scott Says Governor Will Become Less Accessible

An AP NEWS SPECIAL
Editors' Note: Former North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott became a leader in the drive to reorganize state government during his four-year term that ended Jan. 5. At the request of The Associated Press, Scott has summarized his observations and beliefs about the governor's office. This is the third of a five-part series giving his views.

By BOBSCOTT
As Told To Associated Press
RALEIGH (AP) — In North Carolina people still have the feeling—and this is a good

STATE OF AFFLUENCE
ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The current population of 18,250,000 persons in New York State has a combined annual personal income of more than $92 billion, the state Department of Commerce reports.

thing—that they can still come to see the governor. Heavens only knows it sure would be nice if it could be that way at the federal level.
But the day is coming when not so many people will get to see the governor personally. They're going to have to talk to staff members and department heads or whoever is assigned to their particular areas of interest.

Why is this true? Number one, there are more programs today. Number two, the governor's role has expanded beyond the borders of the state considerably. You just have so much more involvement with your fellow governors on regional matters and the federal government is heavily involved now. Then, too, the governor is called upon if he's really aggressive in promoting the state, in commerce and industry. The past several administrations have been involved in trade missions to Europe and the Far East. Heaven only knows, I was asked to be involved in a lot more than I was.

This means more competition for the governor's time and he therefore has less time to see the individual about his particular problem. Every person, the governor and everyone else, has 24 hours in a day. How is he going to allocate his time? That's one of the biggest problems we wrestle with all the time. We call it the battle of the schedule. There is no real answer to it.

I think the time factor, the limitation on terms, is a drawback in working with the other governors. The governors get together twice a year for national meetings and once for Southern governors. It takes a couple of years to get involved in knowing what the governors do as a group and getting to know them and to participate in these programs. Revenue sharing is a good example. After I had been governor for about three years, I was one of the senior members of the governors' conference, and because our staff and I had actively worked, they asked me to help out on the revenue sharing. Gov. Holton, Gov. Mandel and myself were the ones they asked to lobby in Washington representing the governors. By doing this, I got to know my way around pretty well and how other governors could help North Carolina and how we could help them in certain ways.

More importantly, I got to know where in Washington to go to press the right button, maybe to spring loose a grant for North Carolina and how to deal with our congressional delegation. It takes a while to get a feel of all this and then, about the time you are able to begin and the other governors understand you and are willing to work with you, and you cultivate your contacts, you are out of office.

The governor of New York, Gov. Rockefeller, is or soon will be the senior governor. Gov. Guy of North Dakota has been there a long time. Some of these fellows have been around a good while and they know the ropes.

They can run circles around us because they know the ropes. They know what has happened before that leads up to certain situations that exist today. They know the history of certain programs that have been developed, what things have been tried and failed. They have their congressional contacts, have been before committees and are able to get things done.

About the time we get into the swing of it all and are able to contribute and to get something beneficial out of it for North Carolina, we're out of the ball game and the new governor's got to learn it all over again. That's the main drawback from the national standpoint. So far as the state and state programs are concerned, you learn how to get more done with less effort because you understand the ropes.

The lack of a veto is not a real problem as it stands now, but I can foresee where it might be. Obviously, it becomes more of a problem with a two-party situation in the executive and legislative branches. I don't feel it is a problem now and probably won't be during this session. Gov. Holshouser understands the legislature, having served in it, and the legislature respects him as having been a legislator. But it could be a problem.

The need for the veto in the future is coming not so much from the two-party standpoint but because the legislature is changing its own role. If they go to annual sessions and they strengthen their internal structure, which I think needs to be strengthened and modernized—through more research capability responsible solely to the legislature, through their own budget analysts, through the possibility of their legislative committees being active and functioning between sessions, things of this sort—then I think the veto becomes even more important.

What is the veto? It is part of the fundamental check and balance system set up by founding fathers at the federal level and all states except North Carolina. As the legislature strengthens its roles there must be a corresponding increase at the executive level.

There are those who argue that the balance is now in the executive branch, both at the federal level and the state level. At the state level I wouldn't quarrel with that argument too much.

I always found the legislature could be plenty powerful when they wanted to be, and every governor knows this—he knows the bounds beyond which he can't go. All he can do is plead and lead, and beg and conjoin, and sometimes bluster up and threaten, but the power does reside in the legislature.

If the legislature is really going to have meaningful reform and strengthen their own body, the executive branch ought to be strengthened too and the veto is one way of doing it. The two-term provision might be another although, in terms of the relationship between the two, I don't think that's as important. But, again, the governor would have more knowledge of how to handle things in the second term.

I'm not so much for two four-year terms. I think one six-year term would be sufficient, because it does remove the pressure from an incumbent governor in making decisions based on how it will affect his re-election if he chooses to run, and I think most governors would seek re-election.

Former POW Discovers New World In Fayetteville

By JOHN SHEA
Fayetteville Observer Staff Writer
Written for The AP
FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Richard Utecht is discovering a new world about him in Fayetteville these days. From February, 1968, until early this month the 43-year-old civilian was a captive of the Viet Cong.

Utecht, a motor officer for the State Department's Agency for International Development in Saigon, was among the first Americans released after the Vietnam ceasefire, five years after his capture. In that time, he said recently, "My biggest worry was about my wife, Luana.

"I didn't know if she was getting any money or if she was on relief or what. Fortunately, the State Department took care of that.

"In captivity you get some funny ideas of what you will do when you are released," Utecht said. "I planned on having a big Cadillac giftwrapped and delivered to my door.

"But while I was gone, my wife — knowing I always wanted a pickup and camper — bought one. It's a beauty."

Since returning home Friday to be cared for by doctors at nearby Womack Army Hospital, Utecht has been getting reacquainted with his family, including teen-aged sons Gene and Michael. While a captive he received no mail, though some fellow prisoners did.

"The fact that I was a prisoner was never reported to the State Department. I was just in limbo," he continued.

In that time Utecht said, "We were not beaten or mishandled. Once in a while someone would shove us, but that was more to speed things up. Of course, we were chained (in cells) from time to time, but for the most part, there was no brutality.

"There was no attempt to indoctrinate us. Usually, we were allowed to listen to a daily half-hour program from Hanoi giving their version of the news. One time we heard about 10,000 war protesters gathering in Chicago. But we weren't too disturbed because we knew Chicago had a population of 6 to 7 million, therefore, the ratio was quite small.

"However, the VC thought this war protesting was the general opinion of all Americans. We knew better," he went on.

After his capture during the Tet offensive while he and fellow worker Norman Brookings were on the street in the Chinese district of Saigon, Utecht was almost constantly kept on the move. The longest time he was in one place in South Vietnam or later, in Cambodia, was 15 months.

With him, some of that time, were two Army officers from the Fayetteville area, Majors Raymond C. Schrupp and William J. Hardy. Both are now free.

Utecht said occasionally the Americans could talk to each other. But he declined to give specifics: "There's a lot we can't discuss until all the prisoners are home."

The change in male dress since 1968 struck Utecht when he and fellow returnees landed at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. There was so much color in clothes.

"You see, I was wearing a white shirt. When we were allowed to go to the PX (post exchange) I selected clothing I was used to seeing. Maybe someday I'll get used to the colored shirts and buy some," he said.

The mostly bald, softspoken Utecht has been given a year of convalescent leave before he returns to work. "You can be

Baker, Riddick Address Board

Burney Baker, field representative with the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, and Henry Riddick, assistant agricultural extension agent of Pitt County, were the keynote speakers at the meeting of the Pitt County Farm Bureau board of directors last night.

Baker spoke of pending legislation of interest to farmers, and urged the members of the farm organization to write their views on the bills.

Extension Agent Riddick said that his department would hire sure the employment will be at some desk job in Washington or elsewhere, but not overseas," he said.

two men beginning March 15 to go to the farms in Pitt County to talk with farmers about the safe use of pesticides.

President David H. Smith presided during the business session. He named the following committee: Wilbur L. Worthington, Alma B. Worthington, J. C. Galloway, Wayne K. Stokes, Ruel Dilda, to appear before the Tax Evaluation Board of Review, in regard to the increased valuation of the Pitt County Farm Bureau office building and surrounding property.

Reports were heard from Eric Whitchard and President Smith on the Tobacco Stabilization meeting held in Greenville on Monday.

Objections By Drive-Ins

RALEIGH (AP) — Spokesmen for drive-in theatres told a legislative committee Tuesday that a bill which would require shielding of movie screens from motorists' view would be "virtually passing a death sentence on drive-in theatres."

Charles Trexler, vice president of the North Carolina and South Carolina Theatre Owners Association, also told the House Highway Safety Committee it would be "virtually impossible" for some theatres to hide their screens from passing motorists.

Rep. William S. Hiatt, R-Surry, sponsored the measure, and said some drive-ins are "projecting upon their screens scenes that you would not want your sons and daughters to see." He said, however, that highway safety was the "sole reason" for his bill. James Bellows, president of the North Carolina and South Carolina Theatre Owners Association, told the committee, "We feel that we are being discriminated against." He said there are other distractions to motorists along the highways, such as fishing lights.

Going Too Far With Goodwill

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Goodwill Industries Inc. of Indianapolis complains its collection boxes have become depositories for people's unwanted junk.

A Goodwill spokesman said about $75,000 per year is being spent in disposing of donated junk.

Items found in the depositories at shopping centers include litters of kittens and puppies, rusted hot water heaters and broken kitchen sinks.

Indian Group Seizes Town

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP)—Some 200 members of the American Indian Movement were in control of this small town today and were holding about 10 of its residents hostage, authorities reported.

One AIM leader said the Indians had vowed "to die if necessary" unless their demands were met.

About 90 law enforcement officers sealed off the area on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in southwestern South Dakota after the takeover Tuesday night by the militant Indian group.

Joseph H. Trimbach, special FBI agent in charge of the Minneapolis division, said the Indians were holding the hostages in the town's four or five buildings and shots were fired at any approaching car.

The town has a population of about 1,000.

Carter Camp, a national AIM coordinator reached by telephone, said "we have made a complete commitment to die if necessary" if the government was not willing to take steps to redress what the Indians regarded as injustices.

President Park Wins Majority

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—President Chung Hee Park's Democratic Republican party was assured of a two-thirds majority in the National Assembly today.

With results incomplete in only four districts, the central election committee announced that in Tuesday's election the government party won 71 seats, the New Democratic party 51, the Democratic Unification party 1 and independents got 19. Park's party was also leading in two of the districts still out.

Since the president appoints 73 of the 219 members of the assembly, it appeared that the Democratic Republicans would have 146 seats.

New Mexico has one national park, Carlsbad Caverns, and nine national monuments.

Scott Honored At Testimonial

RALEIGH (AP)—About 300 well wishers gathered Tuesday night to honor former Gov. and Mrs. Bob Scott, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the Burlington Jaycees.

In brief testimonials the former governor was praised for his efforts in the restructuring of the state's higher education system, his plans for state government reorganization and for creating the Council on State Goals and Policies.

In addition, the Scotts were presented with the first annual public service award from the North Carolina Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Speakers, including Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, Phil Kirk, administrative assistant to Gov. Jim Holshouser and Mrs. Robert K.

Morgan praised the Scott family's service to the state.

Kirk noted that the relationship between Gov. Jim Holshouser and Scott is "not just polite but warm" and added that "Scott went beyond the call of duty" to ease the transition between administrations.

Hunt said "every day I get reminded of your work as Lt. Governor" and said Scott was responsible for starting the state's kindergarten program.

Mrs. Jessie Rae Scott was termed the "perfect mold of an ideal first lady" by Mrs. Robert K. Morgan, and former Superior Court Judge Thomas D. Cooper Jr., said that to the people in Alamance County the former governor "is just plain old cigar smoking Bob Scott."

Britons Feel Strike Impact

LONDON (AP)—Strikes left Britons without trains and cooking gas today. Thousands of school children stayed home because their teachers walked off their jobs.

Railroad engineers, gas men and the teachers were demanding more pay to cope with rising prices and government curbs on wages.

The 24-hour stoppage by 29,000 engineers led to nationwide traffic jams.

One official of the Automobile Association said, "It's hell on wheels."

There were long lines for buses which were delayed by the road congestion.

The unions were trying to break Prime Minister Edward Heath's limit on pay increases.

One view was expressed by four women civil servants who paraded in bras and panties in chilly Manchester to proclaim their inability to buy clothes on a salary of $40 a week.

More than 2,000 factories, schools and hotels in northern England were cut off from gas supplies, and nearly half a million homes in the Birmingham region were on reduced pressure as gas men shut down the gas plant.

In Parliament, members whistled in surprise as a minister announced retail prices climbed 22.4 per cent in 30 months.

Annual Banquet For Cub Scouts, Families, Held

The annual Blue-Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack 528 of First Presbyterian Church was held Monday night at Immanuel Baptist Church.

Rowland presented a display of the relics for the scouts to observe at the end of the program.

Pirates Begin Quest To Do It Again

East Carolina University's Pirates played their first Southern Conference tournament game back in 1966, and they bowed to the Richmond Spiders 76-74.

Since then, they've gotten past the initial round only twice, bowing in 1969 to Davidson, 102-76 in the finals, and then, last year, whipping both Davidson and Furman to capture the Southern Conference championship for the first time.

Two other times, however, since that first meeting with Richmond, they've met the Spiders in the first round of play, in 1970 and 1971. And the result was the same those two years as it had been the first time.

Richmond upset the Pirates, 75-73 in the 1970 tournament, and then did it again the next year, 69-67.

So in three meetings, all in the first round, the Spiders have a 3-0 record against the Pirates, and those three have come by a total of six points.

Thursday night, in the final game of the first round of the 1973 Southern Conference tournament, East Carolina and Richmond will be on the floor again.

And Coach Tom Quinn feels that it is time for the wheel to swing the other way.

"I don't believe there is any jinx," Quinn said. "And I think the close ones always turn the other way eventually. So now it should be our turn. It's the same for us as playing anyone. We knew that it would be either them or William & Mary, and it really didn't make any difference."

Quinn noted that one of the teams has strength in one place, while the other has it any another. "We're going into the tournament with the idea of playing three games. We feel like we can win. We beat Richmond on that court (Richmond Coliseum) last year in the only game we've played there."

The man to stop the Spiders is All-Conference selection Aron Stewart, the leading scorer in the league. But Quinn warns that he's not the whole team. "Unless we anticipate them scoring only 31 points and getting 11 rebounds, we can't just concentrate on him," he said.

In East Carolina's victory over the Spiders a couple of weeks ago, Quinn used a box and one defense against him with Dave Franklin drawing the assignment most of the time. With Franklin on guard, Stewart got only one field goal, although he did finish the game with 19 points.

"They have good overall talent," Quinn said, "plus depth, experience and height. For this reason, I don't think any one particular defense is going to work, but we'll have to use a combination of things, but we probably won't press as much because of the grind ahead."

Quinn feels that the Pirates are in excellent physical condition. "We didn't quite look up to par in the second half against The Citadel Saturday night, but I credit this to the fatigue of exams, both mentally and physically. We'll be okay by Thursday night."

Last year, Quinn made the prediction before the tournament that East Carolina would win the event and the NCAA Tournament berth. They went on to do it, and nearly everyone is asking for predictions this year.

"I'm not going to make one until Saturday afternoon," the coach said; "after I see how we played in our first two games." When asked if this was a prediction that the Bucs would beat Richmond in order to be able to play two games, Quinn just smiled in reply.

"If there is any disadvantage in playing Richmond, it is that they are the host team, despite the fact that it's not their home court." Richmond played their home games in the Coliseum last year only, but this year, they've moved into their own arena on the UR campus. "They might get the edge in officiation, although this didn't occur at the tournament last year in Furman," Quinn said. "Also they'll probably have the crowd on their side."

The Pirates go into the tournament with an even 12-12 record. They finished the Southern Conference season even also, 7-7.

Earl Quash is leading the Pirates in scoring with a 13.4 average. He's followed by Dave Franklin with an 11.8 mark, while Al Faber is 10.8. Nicky White is hitting at a 10.6 mark, while Jerome Owens winds up the starters with a 10.2 average, placing all five in double figures.

The rest of the field for the first day has top-seeded Davidsom meeting VMI in the opener at 2 p.m., with The Citadel meeting William & Mary at 4. In the night session, Furman takes on Appalachian at 7 p.m. followed by East Carolina and Richmond at 9 p.m.

Semifinal contest will be held Friday night with the finals on Saturday.

Smith Would Welcome Fourth Chance At N.C. State's Pack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina now has lost to North Carolina State's second-ranked basketball team three times this season. But the games have been close, and Coach Dean Smith of North Carolina says he would welcome a fourth one. He had better welcome it, for if there is no fourth game—which would have to come in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament—it will mean that the Tar Heels have not made it into the NCAA national college championship eliminations.

The North Carolina State Wolfpack, which has won all its 24 games this season, the latest 82-78 at North Carolina Tuesday night, is not eligible for NCAA play because it is on a year's probation for recruiting violations.

The ACC tournament starts a week from tomorrow, on Thursday, March 8, in the Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum. N.C. State has a bye in the first round of the seven-team tournament.

Norm Sloan, N.C. State coach, said after Tuesday's game, "I don't want to criticize the team, but I expected a smoother game this late in the season. We had lots of foul problems and made lots of mistakes, but we must have done something right, because we won. This game was obviously not played as well as it was built up, but that happens in a lot of big games."

Sloan said Steve Nuce did a good job coming off the bench in the first half after star David Thompson got three fouls. Although Thompson sat out much of the game with foul trouble before fouling out with five minutes left, he led Wolfpack scoring with 18 points.

Sloan also said that his 7-foot-4 Tommy Burleson did a good job on both boards. He got 15 rebounds.

The North Carolina coach, Dean Smith, said, "It was a man's game under the boards...I also thought State played extremely well with Thompson out of the game. They now have a chance to go unbeaten during the regular season, and that is quite a feat. Their outside schedule wasn't so tough; I think you could say they were supposed to win all of those. But to win all your games in the ACC is quite a trick. This wasn't an extremely well-played game, but it wasn't poorly played, either."

For North Carolina, seventh ranked nationally, it was the sixth loss against 21 victories.

With N.C. State leading by 12 points in the first eight minutes of the second half, North Carolina began a comeback that left the outcome in doubt until only seconds were left to play. George Karl scored 16 of his game-leading 21 points in the last 10 minutes. He led North Carolina to within 76-74 with 1:18 left. But the Wolfpack withstood the challenge with a pair of free throws by Monte Towe, and a layup, plus a jumper at the buzzer, by Burleson. It was the first time State had won in North Carolina's Carmichael Auditorium.

State and North Carolina have one more regular-season game apiece, on Saturday. North Carolina will be at Duke in a regionally televised afternoon game, and N.C. State will be home to Wake Forest that night. In another game Saturday night which will end the ACC regular season, Maryland will be at Virginia.

There will be three games tonight, and the teams will take a rest until Saturday and then until the tournament the following Thursday.

Maryland will be at Wake Forest tonight, Duke at Clemson, and Virginia at Virginia Tech.

ECU Golf Postponed

The East Carolina University Golf Festival, scheduled to be held Monday at Greenville Golf and Country Club, was postponed because of rain. It has been rescheduled for Monday, March 5.

The tournament is for the benefit of the East Carolina University Golf team, twice Southern Conference champions. Members of both the Greenville Golf and Country Club and Brook Valley Country Club are invited to play in the tournament.

Si Moye, chairman of the tournament, said that anyone who wishes to may also make donations to the project, without playing. A $20 entry fee is charged to all those playing in the tournament.

WELLESLEY, Mass. (AP) — Bill Sullivan, a founder of the NFL New England Patriots, announced he will step down as president of the American Conference team after next season.

Tolis, Kupec Leaving East Carolina Jobs

Two more members of the East Carolina University coaching staff have resigned to take jobs on other campuses, it has been learned.

Duke University announced last night that Dick Kupec, assistant football coach at East Carolina, would join its staff this morning.

And Art Tolis, assistant basketball coach for the Pirates, has resigned to accept a position at Western Kentucky University.

Tolis, who came to East Carolina last summer with the reputation as an outstanding recruiter, came to the Pirates from Jacksonville University, where he recruited one of the finest teams the Dolphins have had, including six high school All-Americans.

Prior to going to Jacksonville, Tolis coached at Indian River Junior College in Ft. Pierce, Fla. for four years, compiling a 99-23 record. His club averaged 11 points a game during that four year period, including the 1968-69 club which was ranked second among j.c. teams, and set a national scoring mark of 127 points a game.

A graduate of Central Connecticut State in 1959, he received his masters from George Peabody. Tolis is married and the father of two children.

He is to report to work at Western Kentucky tomorrow, where he will also serve as an assistant coach.

Kupec is the third assistant to leave the Southern Conference champions this spring. Earlier Vito Ragazzo and John Matlock both left to take assistant positions at North Carolina and Louisville, respectively.

Kupec, after a two-year stay on the Pirate staff, will be joining the Duke University staff today. Prior to coming to East Carolina, Kupec spent six years on the staff of the University of Virginia, where he was offensive line coach for the last four years. He held the same position at East Carolina.

A native of New York, he attended the University of Connecticut, where he was an All-Conference center his sophomore year. He switched to the linebacking position for his final two years of play. He also played hockey with the Huskies.

Married to the former Shelia Dolen of New Canaan, Conn., they have one son.

No replacements for the two staff members have yet been named, nor have those for the first two who left. However, Warren Klawitter, a former Southern Illinois University defensive line coach, is now in Greenville, and is expected to be confirmed shortly at one of the football positions.

Area Teams To Open Tournaments

Two area high school basketball teams begin action tonight in two North Carolina State Tournaments.

Ayden-Grifton's boys will be taking on Wadesboro Bowman in the first round of the 3-A State Tournament, being held in Durham with tipoff set for 7 p.m. North Pitt's defending champion girls, open their quest for a second straight title by playing West Stanley at 7 p.m. in the Girls Tournament in High Point. The Pant-HERS will be seeking their 81st straight victory in the opener, and their 83rd during the tournament's run.

Ayden-Grifton gained the tournament by downing Eastern Carolina Conference foe Greene Central in a double-overtime victory last Friday at North Lenoir. The Chargers finished in a four-way tie for first place in the regular season ECC standings, and were the league tournament runners-up.

North Pitt rolled over Roseboro-Salemberg Friday in the finals of the District II Girls Tournament in Southern Wayne, to gain its state berth. The Big Orange Machine, unbeaten in the three-year history of the school, won the first state championship for girls held last year, and is out to repeat.

Williamston High School, also in the girls' tournament, representing District I, will face Ragsdale in the first round, but isn't scheduled to play until 8:30 p.m. Thursday. For Williamston and North Pitt to meet, the two teams, located within 25 miles of each other, would have to both advance to the finals.

Maravich Isn't Looking Forward To It

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Pres Maravich gets his first taste of Southern Conference basketball tournament competition Thursday night when his Appalachian State Mountaineers take on Furman's second-seeded Paladins—and he isn't looking forward to it. "We worked hard to avoid finishing in last place," says Maravich, a veteran of Southeastern and Atlantic Coast Conference wars. "We did that, but look who we still have to play in the first round—Furman. "They beat us by 16 on our home court and by 20 at their place, so it looks like we don't stand much of a chance. Maybe they'll just wait until Friday to fly their first team up. . . . The Furman-Appalachian game is at 7 p.m. preceding the 9 p.m. matchup between East Carolina's third-ranked defending champion Pirates and Richmond's Spiders.

Davidson's top-seeded Wildcats meet Virginia Military's Keydets at 2 p.m., and The Citadel's fourth-ranked Bulldogs tackle William and Mary's Indians at 4 p.m. Friday's semifinals send the Davidson-VMI winner against the Citadel-William and Mary winner at 7 p.m. and the Furman-Appalachian winner against the East Carolina-Richmond winner at 9. The survivors meet at 8 p.m. Saturday for the league championship and a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoff. If Maravich is unhappy about what happened, VMI's Bill

Blair comments on his team's finish, "I'm glad we finished on the bottom and drew Davidson." Blair says "I'd much rather play Davidson than Furman. Davidson could destroy us, too, but they're just not as frightening as Furman."

And how does Furman's Joe Williams react to all this? "Before the season everybody thought all we had to do was walk out on the floor and we'd win. I think that's because we are very impressive physically." But Williams points out he starts three sophomores and "people forgot how young we were and that we had to learn to play together."

Now, says Williams, "I think we're ready for the tournament. Our attitude is as good as it's been all year. We've got a young team that's gotten better. We've got a realistic attitude about what we can and can't do." Blair is glad it's Maravich who's going to get the first chance to see whether Furman really is ready.

Chicago Likes Allen; He Gets Big Raise

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Just a year ago, Dick Allen was baseball's bad man. No team, it seemed, was willing to put up with his idiosyncracies for very long.

The Chicago White Sox took their turn with the temperamental slugger last season, acquiring him from the Los Angeles Dodgers in exchange for pitcher Tommy John. Now the White Sox are not only willing to put up with Allen, they're paying him more money than any player in the history of the major leagues.

Allen, who changed the White Sox from an also-ran into a solid pennant contender, signed a three-year contract Tuesday for $675,000.

The previous top salary in baseball was negotiated by Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, who is in the second of a three-year contract for $600,000.

Allen's remark on the contract was: "I can't count that high."

The White Sox' first baseman wasn't the only slugger signed to a six-figure pact Tuesday. Frank Robinson of the California Angels, acquired from the Dodgers in an off-season deal, signed a two-year contract for a reported $300,000. "We have recognized what he has done in the past and what he can do in the future for us," said Angels General Manager Harry Dalton.

Allen, who will be 31 next month, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals where he played one year before being traded to the Dodgers for another one-year stint.

When he learned about his trade to the White Sox, Allen reportedly was reluctant to sign. He finally came to terms for $130,000 and turned out to be a bargain.

He led the American League with 37 home runs and 118 runs batted in and his .308 average was only 10 points shy of batting champion Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins. He was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player and proved to be a boon for the White Sox gate.

"I'm excited about this ball club after the way we played last season," said Allen. "There's no doubt in my mind that we can win the pennant."

Slugger Rusty Staub agreed to a three-year, $330,000 deal with the New York Mets—but General Manager Bob Scheffing said a fringe benefit clause was holding up the contract signing. "There's something Rusty wants, but I don't want to give it to him," Scheffing said.

Cincinnati Reds' catcher Johnny Bench, who underwent surgery for a benign lesion in his right lung during the off-season, said he could not foresee any problems with his throwing arm.

"I've been throwing for two days and there's nothing but the normal stiffness you get after two days," Bench said.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said in Boston that the new three-year agreement between the players and club owners would provide "three years of peace."

Stewart Tops All-Conference; Quash Only Buc Among Top Ten

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Before the season opened, Coach Lewis Mills said 6-foot-5 junior college transfer Aaron Stewart "may be the best basketball player we've ever had at Richmond."

Stewart wasn't eligible for the Spiders' first five games, but all he's done since then is lead the Southern Conference in scoring with an average of 30.3 points per game and in rebounding with an average of 11.6 per game.

That may be the reason Stewart received 44 of a possible 48 votes for the All-Southern Conference basketball team and is thus its honorary captain. The voting was by the league's coaches and the Southern Conference Sports Writers Association.

Named to the all-star team with Stewart were Furman's two prize sophomores, 7-foot-1 Fessor "Moose" Leonard and 6-foot-9 Clyde Mayes, along with junior John Falconim of Davidson and the only senior, Steve Fishel of The Citadel.

Falconi is the only one of the three underclassmen named to the team last year who repeated.

Furman's Roy Simpson was chosen on the second team, while Russ Hunt of the Paladins—last year's scoring champion and player of the year—was moved to a new position and was overshadowed by his sophomore teammates.

Leonard was second in the voting with 41, followed by Falconi with 36, Mayes with 23 and Fishel with 20.

All five all-stars were among the league's top eight point-makers. Leonard was third with 19.4 average, Fishel fourth at 18.3, Falconi sixth at 16.3 and Mayes tied for seventh at 15.0.

In rebounding, Mayes was third with a 10.8 average and Leonard fourth at 9.6. Mayes shot 53.5 per cent from the floor for the second best mark. Stewart was third with 52.9 per cent and Leonard fourth with 52.5 per cent.

Freshman Mike Arizin of William and Mary, son of former Villanova and National Basketball Association star Paul Arizin, led the voting for the second team with 14.

Also named to the second unit were junior Stan Davis of Appalachian State with 12 votes, and Simpson, senior Earl Quash of East Carolina and sophomore Greg Dunn of Davidson with 8 each.

Oakmont Nears Clinching 2nd

Oakmont iced at least a tie for second place in the Church Basketball League with an 81-68 victory over St. James Methodist last night. In the other games, Presbyterian downed Black Jack, 62-46, and Piney Grove beat Grace, 80-61.

Oakmont is now 12-3 with a game to go. Immanuel has already clinched first placed, while St. James is assured of sixth.

In the opener, Presbyterian rolled out to a 35-16 lead in the first half of play. Black Jack was able to outscore them in the second half, 30-27, but it wasn't enough.

Frank Veuler led Presbyterian with 18 points, while Larry Graham had 14. For Black Jack, Tal Adams had 16 and Ephialgn Smith had 12.

Oakmont rolled up a 42-22 lead after one half of play against St. James. The Methodists came back in the second half, with a 46-39 advantage, but couldn't overcome the first half lead.

Ned Cheely led Oakmont with 23, while Doyle Daughtry had 17 and Bobby Hall had 16. For St. James, Mike Booard had 18, Guy Howell had 15 and Charles Vincent had 10.

In the final game, Piney Grove edged out into a 34-27 lead in the first half. They came back to outscore Grace, 46-34, in the second half to win going away.

Wayne Avery led Piney Grove with 26, while Osey Fisher had 22 and Ricky Langley had 20. Curtis Sutton had 28, D.R. Daniels had 21, and Rudy Thomas had 10 for Grace.

Knicks Run By Celtics, 123-91

By ALEX SACHARE Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "Name anything you want to name about the game of basketball—they did it well," said Boston captain John Havlicek shortly after his Celtics were drubbed by the New York Knicks 123-91 Tuesday night.

The Knicks were at the top of their game, constantly pressuring the Celtics on defense and hitting their outside shots on offense. They broke the contest open by scoring 18 straight points during the first half, then put it away with a 44-point fourth quarter.

By winning, New York cut Boston's lead in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division race to three games.

"We played good, aggressive defense," declared the Knicks' Dave DeBusschere, who scored eight of those 18 points as New York jumped in front 40-19.

"They had a real frustrating evening," DeBusschere said. "They tried to fast break—and we were back on defense to stop 'em. Bill Bradley did a great job stopping Havlicek, one of Bill's better games."

Havlicek, who's playing despite a painful inflammation in his right knee, sank just four of 21 field goal attempts and was limited to 11 points by Bradley's constant hounding and the Knicks' alert team defense.

Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn put it succinctly: "They just beat us, that's all." In other NBA games, Detroit defeated Golden State 114-100, Houston beat Buffalo 112-105, Baltimore edged Cleveland 99-95, Atlanta squeezed by Seattle 131-130, Chicago beat Portland 125-110 and Kansas City-Omaha upended Los Angeles 107-103.

In the night's only American Basketball Association clash, Utah beat Kentucky 103-97.

The Knicks had a balanced scoring attack, with Frazier and Phil Jackson being the top men with 20 apiece. Jackson scored 15 of his points in the final period, when both coaches emptied their benches. Bradley tallied 17, DeBusschere 16, Jerry Lucas 15, Earl Monroe 13 and Dean Meminger 10.

For Boston, Don Chaney was high man with 18 points. Dave Cowens added 15 points and hauled down a game-high 17 rebounds.

It was New York's third consecutive victory over Boston and fourth triumph in six meetings this season. Do the Knicks think they can catch the Celtics?

"They've got a lot of games to lose yet in order to make this game worthwhile," observed Lucas, noting that Boston still holds a five-game lead in the loss column.

"I'd rather we didn't beat them so badly," said Frazier. "They'll be all psyched up next time."

Cleveland Owner Asking For NFL Combined Men's, Women's Golf Investigation Into Coach Hiring Tournament Is In The Making

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns' owner Art Modell has asked for a National Football League investigation of his charges that the Los Angeles Rams are guilty of tampering in hiring away assistant coach Ray Prochaska.

Modell revealed Tuesday that he filed charges with NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle Feb. 5.

In New York, Jim Kensil, an aide to the commissioner, said the NFL "would look into it as we do on all such charges. The league constitution provides for the awarding of draft choices as compensation for tampering. An investigation is in the process of being held."

If the Rams are found guilty, Modell said, he wants "appropriate disciplinary action taken."

Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom, contacted in Florida, said he had not been consulted about the Prochaska hiring and denied knowledge of any tampering. He said his staff "did everything in accordance with league procedures" but added that General Manager Don Klosterman "did say that Art (Modell) was unhappy about something in connection with Prochaska."

Prochaska was one of the first assistants hired by Nick Skorich when he took over as Browns' head coach in 1971. Before the end of last season, Modell reportedly recommended Prochaska to Rosenbloom as a possible head coach if Tommy Prothro were fired.

However, a source close to the Browns said that when the Rams asked permission a few weeks later to talk to Prochaska about an assistant's job, the request was refused.

Modell said his charges specified that "a person or persons unknown in the Los Angeles Rams' organization ... violated the constitution and by-laws of the league."

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Now, let's see. Over here, Jack Nicklaus leads Lee Trevino by one and Arnie's well back. Over there, Carol Mann and Kathy Whitworth are tied with Mickey well back. But Arnold Palmer and Mickey Wright are leading in the team competition.

But it could happen next year if a unique format now being considered reaches fruition. The plan, now in the talking, planning stage, calls for separate but simultaneous men's and women's pro golf tournaments on adjacent courses and a concurrent mixed team event with a total purse possibly in excess of one-half million dollars.

"We're in phase two," said John Montgomery, father of the mixed-format brainchild and an independent tournament director who runs such rich pro golf tour events as the Jackie Gleason Classic, Doral-Eastern and the Florida Citrus.

"The first phase was the ladies' pro-am at the Gleason. We wanted to see what kind of response it would get. Their response was absolutely outstanding. The ladies were very popular. Some people I know, guys who play in pro-ams all over the country, said they'd rather play with the girls than the men."

Some 12,250 people turned out to watch the pro-am tournament featuring ladies PGA stars and celebrity amateur partners on the Tuesday preceding last week's Jackie Gleason Inverrary National Airlines Classic, a men's event with a total purse of $260,000.

It was that response that prompted Montgomery to propose that the Gleason next year consist of:

A 72-hole men's event on the east course at Inverrary—the present site of the tournament—with a purse of $260,000 or more—probably more, and a 72-hole women's event on the shorter west course at Inverrary with a purse of $75,000, and a team competition with paper pairings of one man and one woman with a purse of $100,000.

That's a starting point.

"I think I could get the total purse over $500,000 without any trouble at all," Montgomery said.

Brulio Baeza, one of the finest riders of 2-year-old thoroughbreds, says juveniles are easy to handle out of the gate because they remember schooling lessons from the gate.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The proposed Russian basketball tour of the United States is "an ill-conceived television venture which is not in the best interest of the American athlete," says Walter Byers, executive secretary of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The tour, proposed by the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Amateur Athletic Union is "a disservice to the sport and is injurious to the USA's international sports reputation," he said Tuesday. "It should not take place."

LONDON (AP) — Former British lightweight boxing champion Eric "Golden Boy" Boon has offered one of his eyes to a man going blind—the man he beat 35 years ago to win the title.

Boon, 52, learned of the plight of his longtime friend, Dave Crowley at a meeting to organize a charity boxing event for the 63-year-old ring veteran. "I was driving home later thinking about Dave," said Boon, who was only 17—the youngest British champion in the lightweight class—when he took the title. "I closed one eye and tried to imagine what it was like to be blind and I realized I could help him."

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Patrick McKernan, 31-year-old owner of the Pittsfield Rangers of the Eastern League, has announced that he's purchased another baseball team. McKernan bought the Gastonia Rangers in the Western Carolina League and now owns half of the Texas Rangers' farm system.

MANILA (AP) — Thailand's national doubles team of Simpan Champisri and Net Krantika, the No. 3 seeds, eliminated Jesse Hernandez and Mike Duno Jr. of the Philippines 7-6, 6-2 today in the third round of the Asian Amateur Tennis Championships.

Philippine brothers Raymond and Federico Deyro, fourth-seeded, defeated South Koreans Sung Bae Kim and Moon Il Kim 6-3, 6-2, and Alex Marcial and Bien Dimalanta, also of the Philippines, turned back fellow countrymen Virgilio Austero and Jaime Sison 6-2, 3-6, 10-8.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. gymnastics team came from behind in the final event, the horizontal bar, to win over the touring Romanian Olympic gymnastics team at the University of California Tuesday night, 271.1 to 270.9.

Brent Simmons, former NCAA high bar champion from Iowa State, earned a standing ovation for topping the horizontal bar scoring with 9.6. Ted Marti, formerly of Michigan, matched the best Romanian effort on the horizontal bar—a 9.5 by Constantin Petrescu.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Martin McGrady, world record holder of the indoor 600-yard run, has signed a contract to run for the professional International Track Association.

McGrady, who has done 1:07.6 in the indoor 600, has never run a 440-yard dash in better than 46.2 outdoors. He is known as the Chairman of the Boards because of his success indoors.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have announced that Dick Johnson, alias "Kiteman," will return to Veterans Stadium to open the Phils' 1973 National League baseball season at home.

Last year Johnson, of Cypress Gardens, Fla., encountered trouble from cross winds and his attempt to get airborne and fly from the centerfield bleachers to home plate to hand deliver the first ball of the season almost resulted in tragedy. Johnson escaped with only bruises on his arms, legs and back, and will try his stunt again this year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretariat, the Meadow Stables' colt syndicated for a record $6 million Monday, heads the list of 3-year-olds nominated for the 98th running of the Preakness at Pimlico May 19.

Secretariat, the son of Bold Ruler, joins the famed broodmare. Something royal among 194 nominees to the $150,000-added event.

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Jerry Milgram's cat-rigged ketch Cascade has won the Southern Ocean Racing Conference's Miami-Nassau yacht race with the rest corrected time in the 119-boat fleet.

Cascade, a 38-footer, had a winning time of 15:49:32 hours. Lightning, also a 38-footer, owned by Bob Turner was second with a corrected time of 15:76:08 hours.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The widow of a long-time boxing promoter has received her license from the state Athletic Commission and will begin staging boxing cards every other Monday at the Arena here.

Mrs. Edna Toppi, who owns the arena at 46th and Market streets in West Philadelphia, will be only the second woman boxing promoter in the country. Mrs. Aileen Eaton has been staging fights in Los Angeles for 30 years.

Her husband, who died in 1967, promoted fights in Philadelphia for more than 40 years, and her stepson, Jimmy Toppi Jr., is owner of the Blue Horizon, another local boxing house.

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Top-seeded foreigner Ilie Nastase of Romania was to meet Pat Kramer of South Africa and the top-rated domestic player, Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., was to go against Hungarian Peter Szoke today in the second round of the $35,000 Coliseum Mall Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Connors swept by Byron Bertram of South Africa, 6-3, 6-3, Tuesday as Bertram lost four games on double faults.

Nastase, meanwhile, troubled by a racket that was strung too tightly, lost the first set to Zan Guerry of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., but switched rackets and then breezed past Guerry, 6-0, 6-2, to win the match.

'Clank' Is Coming Soon

TULLAHOMA, Tenn. (AP) — Officials of the country's major manufacturer of aluminum baseball bats predict their product will someday become as popular as the traditional wooden counterpart.

"The aluminum bat is very definitely here to stay," says Jess Heald, vice president for product development of Lannom Manufacturing Co., which makes Worth bats and baseballs.

"I don't think the wooden bat will become obsolete," he said, "but some day the aluminum bat will become equally popular."

His company, he said, is the major manufacturer among about five firms producing the bats. They are currently being used primarily by youth baseball leagues but are becoming a trend for adult softball swingers.

The major advantage is that the aluminum bats last longer. "They slowly get nicks and get scratched up," Heald said. "But they probably will get lost or discarded rather than be broken."

A disadvantage is the cost, which is about twice as much as wooden bats. But that is alleviated since they last longer.

City Cleanup Spurred By Publicity

By MARY ELLEN MYRENE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Big Town, where long lunches and expensive dinners are a way of life, is putting the heat on thousands of restaurants, delicatessens and supermarkets to clean up and it's using publicity as the flame.

Under a program a little more than a year old, the city's health department makes public the names of food handling establishments that have "serious" health code violations.

Local newspapers and radio and TV stations take it from there, publicizing the names — among them some restaurants familiar to the millions who pass through the city each year. La Fonda del Sol, Delmonico's Hotel, Reubens and Trattoria all have made the list.

The city has 17,000 restaurants, 6,500 delis and 10,300 supermarkets. The health department reported it inspected 25,300 of these during the first nine months of the year.

Of those inspected, 1,278 were publicized as not being up to snuff. Eighty-six closed and perhaps 21 have not reopened. The rest cleaned up and their names were again publicized, the second time for having corrected the violation.

There were no big-name establishments among those that closed, although a spokesman for the Restaurant League of New York had this to say of the program:

"Any well-known restaurant that makes this list is finished. It's like a death blow. You can't come back from it."

The spokesman, who owns one of New York's name restaurants and who didn't want to be identified, added:

"At one point, on television, they were slapping the names of all the restaurants listed across the drawing of a garbage can and rats. I think it's grossly unfair. It's an outrage."

Another complaint has been the media's treatment of the lists — specifically, the failure of some to distinguish between restaurants with minor violations and those with such major problems as roach and rat infestation.

The usual procedure now in publicizing the list — both printed and broadcast — is to group the restaurants in general categories of violations: cleanliness, vermin and faulty equipment. In all instances, the Health Department provides a full list of specific violations against each restaurant named.

Georgia Staged Early Lottery

ATLANTA (UPI) — A state-run lottery operated in Georgia for 10 years following the Civil War to aid orphans and children left fatherless by the war. It began in 1867 and continued until the legislature declared all lotteries illegal in 1877. They still are illegal.

Stan Kenton Visits ECU On March 6

Stan Kenton, one of America's best known jazz musicians, is coming to campus at East Carolina University on Wednesday, March 7, for a clinic and a "Jazz Band in Residence" Concert.

Tom Smith, Jazz Coordinator at the university, has announced that all high school and junior high school stage bands participating in the Jazz Grant program are being invited to take part in the clinic that precedes the evening concert.

Beginning at 2:00 and continuing until 2:30 p.m., the first phase of the clinic will be a demonstration concert by the Kenton Band, composed of 19 young musicians who have been "on the road" for the past 20 months.

STAN KENTON

From 2:30 to 3:00 p.m., Kenton will give a talk on ways to get the most out of a clinic. This will be followed by a one hour session, 3:00 to 4:00 p.m., dealing with solutions to problems encountered in the playing of various instruments.

The final work session of the clinic is another one hour session, 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The final event of the day is to be a concert by the East Carolina University Jazz ensemble at 7:30 p.m. followed by a concert by the Kenton Band.

Tickets to the concert are priced at $1.00 for students and $2.50 for adults. These are available at the Central Ticket Office on campus.

Kenton, who has figured prominently in the world of jazz for three decades, organized a 14 piece Artistry in Rhythm Orchestra in the summer of 1941. In the early months of 1942, he made a sell-out nationwide tour, and in 1943 was musical back-up man for the Bob Hope coast-to-coast radio show. In the 1940s, Kenton's vocalists Anita O'Day and June Christy became well known singing personalities.

Stream Hearing Set In Kinston

The third and last of a series of public hearings aimed at overhauling use classifications for North Carolina streams will be held in Kinston March 1.

The hearing, to be conducted by the Department of Natural and Economic Resources' Water and Air Quality Control Committee, will be held in the auditorium of the Main Building of Lenoir Community College. It will open at 1 p.m.

Waters of six Eastern Piedmont and Coastal Plain river basins will be considered at the hearing. The river basins are the Chowan, Neuse, Pasquotank, Roanoke, Tar-Pamlico, and White Oak.

Of the approximately 16,448 miles of streams in these basins, 1,431 miles are recommended for higher classifications than those now assigned, according to James E. Harrington, Secretary of Natural and Economic Resources.

Grant Approved

Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced approval of an Economic Development Administration grant to the town of Snow Hill in Greene County in the amount of $163,118.

The congressman announced that the grant will be used to extend sewer and water facilities at a new 20-acre industrial site and to construct a 500,000-gallon water tank.

Snow Hill, he reported, will add $54,372.66 for a total budget cost of $217,490.66. The project is expected to create 67 new jobs, it was announced.

Alien Astronaut Theory Makes Books Popular

ERICK von DANIKEN gestures theory of ancient alien astronauts. (AP during interview while discussing his Wirephoto)

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Erick von Daniken insists that alien astronauts visited the earth in ancient times. To back him up, he has a pair of worldwide best sellers that have recently become paperback phenomena in this country.

"Maybe not all the theories in my books are correct," von Daniken said in an interview here Monday. "But there is no doubt that we were visited from outer space long ago."

Von Daniken, 37, a Swiss innkeeper by trade with no formal higher education, wraps an old theory with new words in his books.

The theory is that visitors from other worlds landed on earth in prehistoric times, created the rudiments of human civilization and departed.

Recast by von Daniken in the jargon of contemporary technology, the visitors become astronauts and their vehicles become nuclear rockets.

"Chariots of the Gods?" and "Gods From Outer Space," von Daniken's books, were published in Europe in the late 1960s. Translated into 32 languages, they have now sold more than 20 million copies, according to The Trade News Service, a publishing industry magazine.

The American editions, published in 1970 and 1971, enjoyed relatively good sales. More than one million paperback copies of "Chariots of the Gods?" had been sold at the end of last year.

Early in January, a film based on the books was shown on network television. Sales soared.

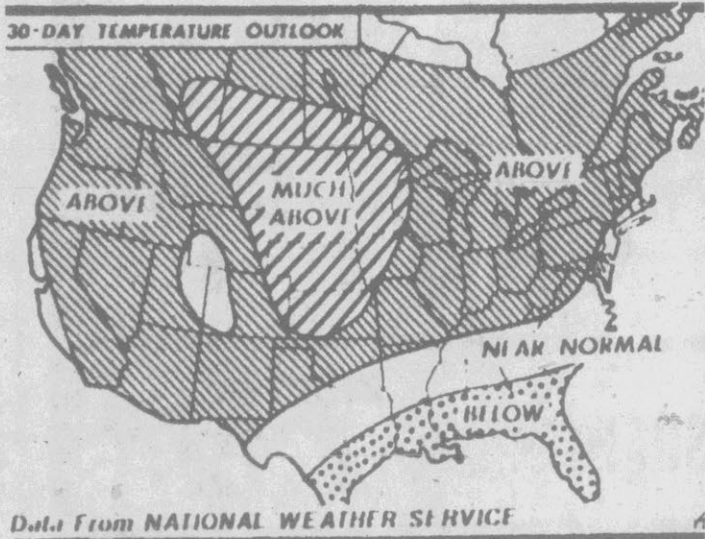

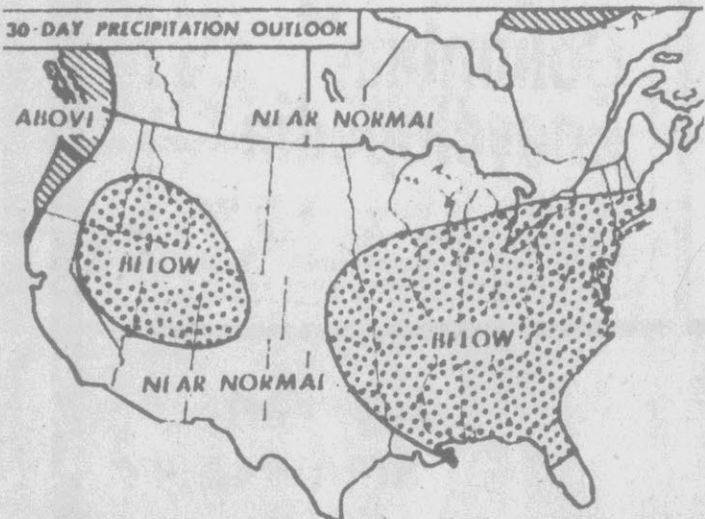

From nowhere, "Chariots of the Gods?" suddenly appeared as the second best selling non-fiction paperback in the country on The New York Times list. A survey of campus bookstores by The Chronicle of Higher Education ranked it third in sales this month. It was not among the top 10 campus sellers last month.

Von Daniken said religious doubts first caused him to question traditional explanations of man's past. Raised in a strict Catholic home, he began to wonder about Old Testament references to gods, instead of a singular god, and about the actual events that inspired the biblical writers.

Examining the holy books and mythologies of ancient peoples, von Daniken said he concluded that the often mentioned gods and fiery chariots were astronauts in space ships. They took such men as the prophet Ezekiel for rides into space and used nuclear weapons to purge the earth of such undesirables as the citizens of Sodom and Gomorrah, he said.

Traveling the world for a decade to look for himself, von Daniken decided that these prehistoric space visitors left behind great monuments and statues from Egypt to Easter Island, works he said early men could not have created without help.

Divorce Pattern Shows Increase

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The number of married couples seeking divorce increased from 57 in 1968 to 181 in 1972, according to a survey of divorce patterns conducted by University of Singapore sociology lecturer Dr. Peter Chen.

On the average, the survey showed, there were 118 divorces a year which, it said, was "a very low figure" — about 1.4 per cent for every 1,000 marriages. Chen attributed the long-range increase in the divorce rate to "the increasing affluence in our society."

The 'Worry Clinic' Speakers Need Theatrical Skill

Rev. James may become a bishop because he is eager to improve his platform strategy. It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation. But the art of verbal persuasion involves the 10 cardinal rules outlined below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.

CASE W-530: Rev. James, aged 56, asked me to address a group of clergymen. "Dr. Crane," he began, "we'd like a few specific psychological pointers on public speaking strategy."

"Could you give us a straight-from-the-shoulder lecture on how to increase our batting average as pulpit orators?"

Speech Strategy
Here are a few salient rules of "Public Platform Psychology" that can zoom a speaker's effectiveness:

- (1) Try to inject some dramatic value even into your sermon title.
- Thus, if you wish to tie-in to the modern long hair craze, but meanwhile stress the need for greater parent-child rapport, then use this sermon topic: "The Prince who lost his hair because he didn't get a haircut!"
- (2) "Cue" you shift into narration, as by saying: "Once upon a time . . ." or, "This reminds me of a story . . ."
- And lower the tone of your voice, so the audience will quit daydreaming and the children will stop coloring their Sunday School papers.

For this "change of pace" is as valuable to an orator as to a baseball pitcher!

Alas, some learned pastors still stay on the same bombastic tonal level for starting a story as they have been using in their expositional harangue!

Thus, the children don't pick up their "cue" that something interesting is to follow.

Clergymen, PLEASE learn to use the salesman's theatrical skill to build up suspense.

Many of you tell a story with the same flat, matter-of-fact tones of a bank teller or bookkeeper!

(3) If you wear false teeth practice speaking in front of your mirror till you learn to use your lips.

Too many denture wearers lapse into guttural speech, producing a string of vowels without clipping them off with the lip consonants.

That's why many parishioners say they can't hear you well!

(4) Keep your upper lip clear of obscuring hair, as from a heavy, drooping mustache!

If you wear a mustache, never let it come within a quarter of an inch of the red line of your upper lip!

And avoid these drooping hippie mustaches, for they suggest you are also sagging and sluggish; not snappy and alert!

(5) Don't speak while looking down at your notes, for then your voice and lip movements are less effective.

(6) Use a topic word outline and maintain constant eye-contact with your audience, as Jesus did when he spotted Zacchaeus up the sycamore tree!

(7) Project your words against the back wall, as if you are blowing bubbles!

(8) Use gestures freely to show you are not asleep at the lectern!

(9) Employ narration instead of exposition, as by use of 5 or 6 current cases (parables) to illustrate your 30-minute address.

(10) Enter your peroration in rhythm or use a heart gripping example for a quick dramatic conclusion.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Offer Class On Emission

The Air Quality Division of the Office of Water and Air Resources of the North Carolina Department of Natural and Economic Resources is offering a public service in cooperation with Pitt Technical Institute on Visible Emission Evaluation.

The purpose of the training program is to make available to industry, commerce, and government agencies a form of training which will assist them in complying with visible emissions regulations.

The course will be conducted at Pitt Technical Institute, in room 124 on March 27-29.

In addition, it is to certify regulatory and enforcement personnel in procedures and methods of visible emission evaluation so as to eliminate the margin of guesswork in evaluation of a visible source that is required to meet certain regulatory requirements.

Anyone interested in attending the course should contact Ola Porter at PTI prior to March 12.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1973

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful, unusual day for you to get the backing of those who are in a position to know what can best further your interests. Contact any outlets which can aid you in your advancement, then be with as many persons as possible to gain their goodwill and help. Try to get those in the know to release to you some special knowledge you need.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get together with good friend who can open new doors of opportunity for you. Secure backing for your new plans. Join some group meeting that is most worthwhile.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make a beeline for those important persons you know and gain needed advice and support from them. Buy those mechanical gadgets that will make your work easier and better. Being more cooperative with bigwigs is wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get out to places and be with people who can assist you in putting your most important plans in motion successfully. You find you get ahead fast if you are broad-minded. Take it easy in the evening and rest.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) With all the responsibilities you have, this is a good day to get the support of bigwigs. Sit down with a good adviser and secure the right ideas. Make this a particularly productive day and p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You understand much better how to cooperate more intelligently with associates and get the right results. Find right way to get rid of opposition from an unfriendly source. Think.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Now that you can really understand your associates, come out with the right ideas for mutual advancement. Plan time for shopping for whatever will make you look more charming. Avoid one whose taste is not good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you step out to places where good friends meet, you can get rid of that slough of despondency you find yourself in. You have good ideas, so discuss them and gain support for them as well as advice, data you need. Do some work tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Apply some of your effort to home and make everything there immaculate and harmonious. Plan just how to start an uptrend in your business or personal life and take the right steps in such directions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day to communicate with others and exchange favors, lend a helping hand where needed, and vice versa. State aims, learn about theirs. Shop, run errands, and handle travel matters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Put those ideas to work that will add to your income appreciably, since you have been thinking about them long enough. Sit down with clever business experts and get their advice. State your aims, problems clearly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You should be lighthearted today and can pursue your aims in a most efficient manner and get right results. Go out socially in p.m. and have further success. Make new vital friends of worth.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You feel high-powered and want to go after your aims in a most forceful way, but do not confide your plans to others and be more diplomatic. Learn from others how to get along better with your fellowman. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who appears to be full of understanding and helpfulness toward others. However, the main aim here is to become popular and learn from others, which is fine provided you, as parents, screen the individuals your child cultivates while young. Then the big talents in this chart are brought out successfully. Give music lessons, also.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Skier Says He Keeps In Shape

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Despite the fact you may ski only a few months a year, you have to keep in shape all-year around for it, according to Bob

Beattie, ex-Olympic skiing coach and coordinator of the Pepsi-Cola National ski program. "Jogging and tennis are the best conditioners for skiing," says Beattie, "and not just during skiing season but all the time."

In Memoriam

In memory of our mother, Mrs. Hattie L. Outlow, who passed away January 11, 1971 at home in Stokes, NC.

We had your love to the very end We looked up to you as a leader, a friend. There never was a week a day or hour that you didn't stand by us through God's Great Power.

Even though for many years you had aches and pains they didn't make you bitter your love stayed the same: He wanted you with Him.

Dear Mother, Our heartaches, since then, and though 2 years have passed since He took you away, our greatest hope, each one of us, is to meet you up in Heaven some day. Written by a
