

Viet Cong Threaten Withhold 30 POWs

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. delegation announced tonight North Vietnam has informed it that 106 American prisoners will be released in Hanoi on Sunday, but that the Viet Cong apparently have threatened to withhold release of 30 U.S. POWs captured in South Vietnam in a dispute over exchange of Vietnamese prisoners.

A statement from the U.S. delegation to the four-party Joint Military Commission said the Viet Cong notified the U.S. side that the 30 American prisoners previously listed would be released also in Hanoi but refused to give the date of release. A spokesman said this meant the Viet Cong were stalling.

The U.S. delegation said arrangements for the release of 106 Americans and two Thais held by the North Vietnamese "will go forward." The Viet Cong had actually handed the United States a list of 34 prisoners captured in South Vietnam, including two Filipinos and two Germans.

The U.S. statement was issued shortly after the second of two meetings today by the four-party Joint Military Commission's subcommittee on prisoners. Spokesmen for both sides reported no progress in resolving the dispute.

Another meeting is scheduled for Saturday, the U.S. spokesman said.

Earlier, the Viet Cong delegation had announced to newsmen that it would release the 34 persons captured in South Vietnam on Sunday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport at the same time North Vietnam released its 108 prisoners.

Later a Communist spokesman said an impasse had developed over Vietnamese prisoner exchanges and threatened to block release of the 30 Americans.

Also affected are two Germans and two Filipinos on the Viet Cong list of 34 handed to the U.S. delegation to the Joint Military Commission today.

The spokesman indicated the dispute between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong would not affect the release of 106 American servicemen and two Thais by North Vietnam.

"From the point of view of the Provisional Revolutionary Government, the release of POWs is blocked by this issue," the spokesman said. He said this includes American and other foreign prisoners of the Viet Cong as well as Vietnamese.

He added that efforts were being made to resolve the dispute.

U.S. spokesmen were not immediately available for comment.

A dispute over the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners delayed the release of the first American POWs handed over by the Viet Cong on Feb. 12. Then the delay lasted 12 hours, and the men were delivered at dusk instead of early in the morning.

Earlier today, Bui Tin, the chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation, said the transfer of POWs in Hanoi would begin Sunday at 11 a.m., Saigon time, or 10 p.m. EST Saturday.

The Communist delegations in Saigon delivered to U.S. representatives the names of those to be freed. The names were flashed to Washington for notification of the families. Some had waited nearly seven years.

Missing from the Viet Cong list were Maj. Floyd James Thompson, a prisoner longer than any serviceman in U.S. history, and Philip Manhard, a 52-year-old State Department official who is the highest ranking U.S. civilian still in captivity. Although both were captured in South Vietnam, U.S. officials say they now are held in North Vietnam.

Thompson, now 39, was captured on March 26, 1964, near the demilitarized zone while he was an adviser to a South Vietnamese unit. Manhard was taken prisoner on Jan. 31, 1968, at the start of the Tet offensive in Hue.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation said 30 Americans, two Germans and two Filipinos captured in South Vietnam will be released in Hanoi with the 106 Americans and two Thais the North Vietnamese will turn over to U.S. authorities.

The Americans captured in South Vietnam include 27 servicemen and three civilians.

Explaining the Hanoi release point, the Viet Cong spokesman said, "The Provisional Revolutionary Government has decided that, to insure security, we were required to bring them to Gia Lam."

He did not elaborate. The first release of American prisoners by the Viet Cong was at Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon.

Firebomb Jarred Indian Spokesmen

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern said early today that a negotiating session with representatives of the 200 Indians who had taken over this historic hamlet "ended on a jarring note" when the militants were informed that the home of one of their leaders was fire-bombed while the parley was under way.

Word of the reported fire-bombing "stirred them up pretty much," said Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., who was also at the negotiating session.

The senators said the situation before dawn was very tense.

The new tension flared several hours after the militants had released 11 hostages they had held since taking over the village late Tuesday.

The 11 who were freed declined to leave the village, preferring to remain in their hometown.

McGovern, also a South Dakota Democrat, said the report of the fire-bombing of the home of Aaron Deseras in nearby Pine Ridge became known as the meeting drew to a close.

Deseras is national communications director for the American Indian Movement (AIM), whose members were prominent in the takeover here. Pine Ridge is about 15 miles southwest of Wounded Knee.

Dollar Dealings Halted After New 'Nose Dive'

By LOUIS NEVIN Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Foreign exchange dealings around the world were halted today after the dollar took a new nose dive. The governments hoped a long weekend would cool off the selling wave.

Government ministers and economic leaders met to discuss how to cope with the widespread dumping of U.S. currency.

Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain and Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany were meeting in Bonn, but spokesmen said they would not decide any new monetary moves before conferring with other members of the Common Market.

Widespread belief that Heath and Brandt would agree on a joint float of Common Market currencies apparently touched off the run on the dollar Thursday.

"It's not really a decision-making meeting," British spokesman Donald Matland said.

But his remarks and those of Bonn spokesman Ruediger von Wechmar appeared to indicate Brandt and Heath were trying for a common assessment of the situation which they could pass on to other capitals.

Von Wechmar noted that the Common Market Ministerial Council will hold a previously scheduled meeting in Brussels Monday.

This indicated the meeting might discuss a joint Common Market float or other steps.

Von Wechmar said Bonn was in constant contact with the United States and the Common Market partners.

West Germany, which has borne the brunt of the speculation, took the lead in closing its foreign exchange. It was the second time in a month it closed the Frankfurt market to halt the flood of U.S. currency pouring into the country.

Backlog Of Minor Bills Disposed Of By Senate

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Senate has disposed of a calendar crowded with minor bills postponed by the lengthy debate Wednesday on the Equal Rights Amendment.

Among the bills passed in the upper chamber Thursday were measures which would modify the state's election laws and a resolution condemning amnesty for draft resisters and deserters from the Vietnam War.

The elections law changes were sent to the House for consideration there. One of them was a bill sponsored by most of the Republicans in the Senate which would allow poll watchers in 15 counties now exempt from the state poll watchers statute.

Among those counties are Mecklenburg, Guilford, Cumberland and Gaston.

The second bill, sponsored by Mecklenburg Democrats Herman Moore and Eddie Knox, would expand the membership on boards of elections in large counties from three to five.

Moore said the bill, which applies to counties with more than 14,000 registered voters, would not change the governor's power to appoint the members. Only three of the five could be from the same party.

The anti-amnesty resolution was passed on a voice vote with no audible dissent. It was sponsored by Sen. Bette Wilkie, R-Henderson, who said that rejecting it would be slap in the face to the state's veterans.

Copies of the resolution, which was passed by the House last week, will be sent to the North Carolina delegation in the U.S. Congress and to President Nixon.

Belfast Teens In Shootout

BELFAST (AP) — Three teen-agers, including a girl of about 13, wounded a policeman today in a shootout in Belfast after they tried to hijack his car.

Police said the girl and two youths of about 15 jumped in front of the policeman's car as he was driving to work. He tried to arrest them, but they opened fire as he got out.

The policeman, hit in the face and arm, fired back and his youthful attackers fled. The policeman's wounds were reported not serious.

British troops claimed to have captured a commander of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a series of early-morning sweeps in Roman Catholic strongholds in Belfast.

New Industry In Franklin County

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser and Burlington Industries joined today in announcing that Burlington will locate a drapery manufacturing plant in Franklin County.

The plant, to be located on Highway 561 in the northeastern section of the county, will employ between 300 and 400 persons initially, the announcement said.

It, however, continues to read that "the rights, benefits, or exemptions now conferred by law upon persons of the female sex shall in no way be impaired."

This amendment would be voted on at the next general election, under the legislation. The bill was introduced by Sen. Michael Mullins, R-Mecklenburg, and Sen. Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston, and was co-signed by 17 other ERA opponents.

ERA supporters quickly criticized the proposed constitutional amendment Thursday as contradictory and failing to insure that sex-based discrimination would be eliminated.

Sen. Charles Deane, D-Richmond, Senate sponsor of ERA said that the Mullins bill is "like an insurance policy. It gives with the big print and takes away with the small print."

Sudan Agrees Provide Plane Arab Guerrillas Want To Come To United States

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Middle East News Agency said today the Sudanese government has agreed to provide a plane to fly Arab guerrillas and their hostages to the United States from Khartoum.

The Egyptian agency said in its dispatch from Khartoum that the guerrillas, holding the U.S. ambassador and four other diplomats, also demanded that two members of Sudan's Cabinet go with them on the flight to the United States. This was refused, the agency reported.

The dispatch was filed about an hour after the deadline set by the guerrillas, members of the Palestinian Black September organization, for the execution of their hostages if their demands were not met.

There was no immediate explanation why the guerrillas wanted to come to the United States.

After seizing the hostages Thursday during a reception at the Saudi Arabian Embassy in Khartoum, the guerrillas demanded the release of dozens of colleagues held in Jordan and freedom for Sirhan B. Sirhan, convicted assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1968 now serving a life term in California. But they were reported to have eased these demands.

The Egyptian dispatch said the guerrillas wanted Foreign Minister Mansour Khaled and Information Minister Omar Haj Nousa of Sudan to go along on the flight to the United States but the government "totally rejected" this.

Two Americans are among the hostages: Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and the U.S. charge d'affaires, Curtis G. Moore. The reception was in Moore's honor because of his imminent departure for home.

The others held are Adley el Nasser of Jordan, Guy Eid of Belgium, both charges d'affaires, and the Saudi ambassador.

The hostages had been held for 20 hours at the time of the Middle East News Agency report.

The French Embassy in Khartoum informed Eid's brother, George, in Brussels that the terrorists had put back their deadline to 7 p.m., noon EST, and that it expected the situation would be "cleared up" by early evening in Khartoum.

The Egyptian dispatch did not make clear whether Sudan's refusal to allow its Cabinet ministers to go on the plane had canceled the deal or whether the guerrillas still would go ahead with the plan.

Sudan's radio reported that a senior U.S. State Department official would arrive in Khartoum at midnight.

Happiness In N.C. Is A Phone Call Revealing POW Will Be Released

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Happiness was a phone call at a number of homes around North Carolina Thursday with word that loved ones — prisoners of war — were returning home.

Capt. Thomas M. McNish, 1964 graduate of the Air Force Academy who was shot down by the North Vietnamese on Sept. 4, 1966, is one of 106 POWs to be released over the weekend.

His widowed mother, Mrs. Thomas McNish of Franklin, said, "I am so happy, so thankful. I don't even feel normal I am so very, very happy."

McNish is a bachelor, like Capt. Barry Burton Bridger, a Phantom jet pilot who will be returning soon to the Bladenboro home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bridger. The parents are dead.

Mrs. Bridger said her family was notified by Pope Air Force Base. "We're up in the air, we're so happy," said Mrs. Bridger. She said her brother-in-law was shot down over North Vietnam on Jan. 23, 1967.

"We thought it would be last week," she said of Bridger's impending release. "It was a big relief to get the word finally. We were called by three released prisoners who said they had seen him just before they left, and they said he was in good shape."

On the latest list also are Air Force Col. Norman C. Gaddis of Winston-Salem, Lt. Col. James Hiteshew of Goldsboro, and Navy Cmdr. Eugene B. McDaniel of Kinston.

Mrs. Gaddis, whose husband was shot down on a mission over Hanoi on May 12, 1967, said, "I won't be responsible for anything I say, but I'm happy." She and her husband have two children and two grandchildren.

In Kinston, McDaniel's mother, Mrs. Helen McDaniel, said simply: "I'm overjoyed." McDaniel, 40, was flying from the USS Enterprise when he was shot down and captured May 19, 1967.

"We really didn't know he was a prisoner until March, 1970," Mrs. McDaniel said. It was then, she said, that some visitors to Hanoi returned with letters from her son.

She said she understands that McDaniel, whose wife, Dorothy, lives at Virginia Beach, will be flown to the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va.

In Goldsboro, home of Seymour Johnson Air Force base, Mrs. Billie Hiteshew, said "I was elated, all smiles" over word that her husband was returning. She is former North Carolina-South Carolina coordinator for the National League of Families of American Prisoners Detained in Vietnam.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Henry of Franklin had word at midnight Thursday that their son, Army S. Sgt. Nathan B. Henry, would be among the next group of prisoners released by the Viet Cong. Mrs. Henry said the call from the military contact officer was "the greatest news we've ever had."

Sgt. Henry will celebrate his 26th birthday in May, but he was only 19 when his parents last saw him. From the time of his capture in 1967 his family had no word of him and he was officially listed as missing in action until the first prisoner lists were released after the cease-fire.

A NECESSITY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, acknowledging that postwar aid to Hanoi faces stiff opposition, said today he views it as essential so "North Vietnam will have a stake in peace."

Lang To Direct Cancer Crusade

Gen. John A. Lang Jr. has been chosen to head the 1973 Pitt County Cancer Crusade, it was announced today.

Gen. Lang, who is vice chancellor for external affairs at East Carolina University, said, "We are now organizing community leaders for the 1973 Crusade in this county and are receiving excellent cooperation from those being asked to serve. This is indeed a worthy cause and since the dread disease of cancer has hit the households of friends and relatives of nearly all of us, I feel sure any further help on this Crusade will be forthcoming. Soon I will announce community and organizational chairmen's names."

Gen. Lang resigned in January from his position as secretary of the N. C. Department of Military and Veteran Affairs. He was the organizer of this new department, formed under the 1971 State Government Reorganization Act.

Offer ERA Amendment To N.C. Constitution

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — In the wake of the Senate defeat of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, legislation to add an ERA section to the North Carolina Constitution was introduced in the Senate Thursday by ERA opponents.

The amendment would add a new section to Article I of the state constitution to provide that "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied on account of sex."

It, however, continues to read that "the rights, benefits, or exemptions now conferred by law upon persons of the female sex shall in no way be impaired."

This amendment would be voted on at the next general election, under the legislation. The bill was introduced by Sen. Michael Mullins, R-Mecklenburg, and Sen. Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston, and was co-signed by 17 other ERA opponents.

ERA supporters quickly criticized the proposed constitutional amendment Thursday as contradictory and failing to insure that sex-based discrimination would be eliminated.

Sen. Charles Deane, D-Richmond, Senate sponsor of ERA said that the Mullins bill is "like an insurance policy. It gives with the big print and takes away with the small print."

"It doesn't do anything. Under this, we would stay as we are," he added.

Martha McKay, immediate past president of the N.C. Women's Political Caucus termed the Mullins amendment a "joke," and said that "I don't see what this amendment would do. It would leave the laws relating to women intact."

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution would have prohibited denial of legal rights because of sex. It was defeated by the N.C. Senate Wednesday by a vote of 27 to 23.

Miss Betty Jean Lamb Is Bride

LUMBERTON — Miss Betty Jean Lamb became the bride of Charles Edward Flanagan in the chapel of the First Baptist Church here Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson Lamb of Lumberton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roy Flanagan of Greenville.

Dr. Russell T. Cherry Jr. officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of the families and close friends. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Fountaine, organist.

The bridal couple entered the chapel together and were unattended.

The bride wore a wedding gown of ivory French Nottingham lace designed with a high neckline encircled with ruffled cluny lace and long Juliet sleeves with cuffs edged in ruffled lace.

Her ivory illusion veil was attached to a profile headpiece of Venice lace petals. She carried a nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses and Stephanotis.

Ushers were Roland J. Lamb, brother of the bride, and George Alton Gurganus Jr. of Greenville.

The bride graduated from Lumberton High School and attended East Carolina University.

The bridegroom graduated from J. H. Rose High School, Greenville, and is currently attending Pitt Technical Institute. He was formerly in the U. S. Army, serving in Vietnam. He also attended Oak Ridge Military Academy and East Carolina University.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride's parents entertained the wedding guest at a reception at their home following the ceremony.

The parents of the bridegroom entertained at a luncheon at the Holiday Inn North on Saturday.

Members of the families and wedding party were guests at a dinner party at The Peddler given by Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson Lamb on Friday evening.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Berkley Nicholson request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Sandra, to Michael Henry Keel, on Sunday, March 4, at 3:00 p.m. at the Community Christian Church, Rt. 3, Williamston. No invitations were mailed locally.

Caroline Herschell, born in England in 1750, was considered the first important female astronomer. That fact, recorded in the 1973 "Liberated Woman's Appointment Calendar," is based on her having discovered three nebulae and eight comets.

Couple Advised To See Lawyer To 'Annul' Divorce

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My heart is breaking, and altho I think I know the answer, maybe if I saw it in print I could accept it more easily.

I am an unmarried woman who has been absolutely faithful to a married man ever since we fell in love four years ago. His excuse for not leaving his wife and marrying me was his children. I accepted this. I know that hundreds of husbands and wives live under the same roof after they stop loving each other just for the sake of their children, but they usually have their own interests, and go their own way.

Abby, I never asked him to leave his home, his wife, or his children, but I did expect him to be just as true to me as I was to him.

Well, I was true to him, but he was sleeping with both of us!

He says he loves me, but I am beginning to wonder. I can understand his keeping his marriage intact for the children's sake, but must he SLEEP with his wife for the children's sake? Or is it just because he wants to? HURT

DEAR HURT: I hate to hurt you further, but unless a man "wants to," he's a pretty ineffective bed partner.

DEAR ABBY: With some people marriage doesn't work. In our case, the divorce didn't work. After five years of marriage and two children, my husband and I got a divorce. The first three months we stayed apart, but the last three months we have been living together just like we did when we were married. We still love each other, and we want to be man and wife again. I know you can get a marriage annulled. Can you get a divorce annulled?

ME AND HIM

DEAR ME: Ask the lawyer who handled your divorce. I've never heard of "annulling" a divorce. You may have to wait until your divorce is final before you're free to marry again.

DEAR ABBY: When a wife complained because her husband was turned on by the sight of beautiful women in pictures, movies, in person, etc., you said those feelings were natural for a man and he should not be made to feel guilty.

Well, it's natural for a woman to feel jealous when she sees her husband enjoying the beauty of other women, especially when the wife herself is not so generously endowed. So she shouldn't feel guilty about her feelings either.

If a man is smart he will forego the pleasure of looking at other women when he's with his wife. It will pay off, believe me. Just last night my husband took me out for dinner, and at a nearby table was a beautiful girl, provocatively dressed. Her tight-fitting, low-cut gown showed off her best features, and as if that wasn't enough she had a slit in her skirt which revealed a lovely leg right up to her thigh! Every other husband in the place couldn't take his eyes off this girl. My husband gave her one glance, and pretended she wasn't even there for the rest of the evening. When we got home, believe me, I gave him a night to remember! I'll bet all the other husbands got was the cold shoulder.

LUCKY

DEAR LUCKY: How do you know?

DEAR ABBY: Please warn girls against hitchhiking rides with men. Girls who get into a car with a strange man are just begging for trouble, but there is another side to it which few people consider.

My husband has a problem he has been trying to overcome for six years. It's a compulsion to expose himself to young women. He is not a rapist, he only does this to get a thrill from their reaction. He has never touched a girl, though many have encouraged him to go further. One of these girls reported him to the police and he is now facing the possibility of having to leave me and our three small children for a jail term on a charge of indecent exposure.

I am not condoning his actions, but he has finally faced his problem and is getting psychiatric treatment. He is a good husband and provider, and the children adore him and so do I. I plan to help him thru this crisis, but I need help from everyone else of my sex.

Abby, please ask girls not to hitchhike with strange men. They may be giving someone who is trying to go straight an opportunity to stray again, and the price is paid by his family.

WORRIED FOR MY HUSBAND

DEAR WORRIED: I agree, hitchhiking is a risky business for all concerned. While I appreciate your understanding attitude and your empathy to your husband, he cannot shift the responsibility for his compulsion to the girls who

This Apple Cake Comes From Vienna

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor This Viennese Apple Cake was adapted from a recipe given to us by an octogenarian. The last we heard, she was still making it! The dessert is both handsome and delicious. Because it takes some careful doing, it's worth serving to guests.

VIENNESE APPLE CAKE
Applesauce, see recipe below
2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup (two 1/4-pound sticks) butter
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons chopped (medium-fine) blanched almonds

Prepare applesauce well in advance of making pastry to allow time for chilling; to speed chilling, place in freezer. In a medium mixing bowl stir together the flour, sugar and salt. Slice in butter and then cut in with pastry blender until particles are fine. Mix in egg yolk. Work pastry with fingers until it holds together. If pastry is very soft, chill in freezer about 5 minutes or in refrigerator for about 20 minutes.

Shape pastry into a 5-inch long roll. Cut into 2 pieces, one 3 1/2 inches long, the other 1 1/2 inches long. Cut smaller half into 6 pieces and chill.

Place remaining pastry (the 3 1/2 inch roll) on a large cookie sheet; with a floured stockinnet-covered rolling pin, roll to a 12 by 6 inch rectangle. Push sides up with a spatula or fingers to form a 1/4 inch edge. Sprinkle pastry with almonds, gently pressing them down. Spread with 1 1/4 cups chilled applesauce.

Remove small pieces of pastry from refrigerator, two at a time. Roll each with hands into 1/4-inch-thick ropes on a floured pastry cloth. Use pastry ropes to form diamond-shape lattice over applesauce, cutting them into lengths needed. Begin the lattice about 1 1/2 inches from one corner and place each succeeding rope of pastry parallel to last rope and about 1/2 inches from it. Crisscross with a second row of ropes.

Form remaining pastry into ropes and place around edge of pastry to give it a finished built-up edge.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until pastry is golden brown — about 30 to 35 minutes. During first 10 to 20 minutes of baking, check to see if the sides of pastry are spreading. If so, push them back into position with the flat side of a wide metal spatula. Cool before cutting, but while still warm slide from pan, with the help of the wide spatula, onto a serving platter or board.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

APPLESAUCE
1 1/2 pounds cooking apples, about seven 2 1/2-inch apples
2 tablespoons water
1/2 cup sugar

1/4 cup apricot jam
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Wash apples but do not peel or core. Quarter and cut off blossom ends. Place in a saucepan; add water. Cover and cook over medium-low heat until apples are soft — 20 minutes; stir often to prevent scorching. Turn apples through a food mill into a saucepan. (There should be 1 1/2 to 2 cups.) Add sugar, apricot jam, lemon juice and cinnamon. Cook over low heat, stirring often, until applesauce is very thick — 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Makes about 1 1/2 cups. Use the 1 1/4 cups called for in Viennese Apple Cake recipe and remaining small portion some other way.

Pilot Interantional was started in Macon, Ga., with 40 women and the club was organized in 1921. After the word Pilot was chosen they decided to have the wheel as their emblem; True course ever as their motto and the colors of green and gold.

Pilot Headquarters was in a rented building until 1964 at which time a building was bought. There are now over 520 clubs with a membership over 17,000 members.

Other countries where Pilot Clubs are organized are Canada, France, England, Japan and Bermuda. Membership is by invitation only.

Mrs. Janice B. Buck was welcomed to active membership

Vietnam Peace Agreement Has Formal Approval At Session

D.H. Conley HIGHLIGHTS

By MARY L. BRANCH
Hi, friends! Alton Nicholson and Billy Justice are great wrestlers. Our school is full of talented people.

Ron Braxton's physical science class is burning chemical elements to observe the color they give off. The students found this experiment quite interesting. Student of the week is Bill Byrd and the student of the month is Teresa Hines. Keep up the good work, students.

The IPS Allstars left for NASA in Hampton, Va., Thursday morning to return Friday night. Working for the expense money was hard, but the students felt it was worth it. The trip was planned to be very educational.

Melvin Sugg's bricklaying class received 3,000 bricks free from the Brick Association of North Carolina. The students can now keep on practicing laying bricks with fear of running out of their supply.

Future Homemakers of America talked about planning now for the future in their FHA meeting Wednesday morning. Mrs. Katherine Lyons from the State Department of Home Economics was the speaker. The FHA members enjoyed the lecture.

Mrs. Sarah Perkins and her food occupations class went to Parker's Barbecue to observe food techniques. The students set up a restaurant in the home economics class and asked customers in for dessert and beverages.

Mrs. Brenda Little's sewing class went to the A-1 Values store in Greenville. They learned the operation of power machines and the making and measuring of draperies.

Mrs. Myrtle Allen has set up a class discussion about questions relating to the Bible at lunch. Several preachers have spoken with this class. It is quite interesting.

Joyce Taft, Loretta Freeman, and Sutton Austin prepared the following gardening information.

The introduction to Agriculture class has been doing special testing on seeds in order to relieve the family burden of the high cost of living. We felt that through good home garden vegetable planning, problems can be solved. The steps in gardening are finding the right location, selecting seeds or plants, soil preparation, and other factors.

Many times the question is asked: What is a good seed? The characteristics of good seeds are: true to name; free of diseases and insects; clean; good liability; and graded to size.

The size of a garden should be at least 1-10 of an acre per person. The vegetable garden should be grown on the best soil. If the garden has to be placed in the same location each year, be sure to rotate the vegetables in the garden, and it will help eliminate some diseases and even insects.

Some of the vegetables that should be planted now are as follows: Beets, cabbages, carrots, kale, onion, garden peas, radish, turnips, and spinach.

To be sure one is raising good seeds; a simple test to use is the rag doll germination test. This is placing seeds in a wet paper towel, and allowing the seeds ample time to germinate. Then, keep them in a room of normal temperature. The percentage is then calculate. Should you need any help with your garden, call the D. H. Conley Vocation Department.

College Bound
Several seniors have now made plans to attend college in 1973. Seniors that have already been accepted at this time at East Carolina University are Lindsey Beddard, Mary Lee Branch, Brenda Mae Branch, Jesse Amos Branch, Alfred Jeffery Tucker, Teresa Diane Cayton, Deborah Carolyn Cobb, Cleve Averette, Randy Avery, Cathy Malene Buck, Linda Lou Cannon, Glenda Denton, Madge Dews, Sylvia Rose Dixon, Annette Franke, Hyman Earl Hudson, Beverly Little, Linda Loyd, Blaine Allen Moye, Cathy Phelps, and Barbara Gail Ward.

Students accepted at North Carolina State University are George Nicholas May, John Milton May, Steve Alan Sayce, Charles Tyson, and Benjamin Forrest. Students accepted at St. Augustine's College are Kervin Hawkins, Barbara Howard, Darlene Boyd, James Thomas, Donald Lee Gardner, Brenda Sue Mills, PARIS (AP) — The Paris conference on Vietnam gives formal approval today to the peace agreement Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho negotiated and establishes a procedure that can be followed when it is violated.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and 11 other foreign ministers or their deputies were to sign a declaration endorsing the peace settlement in the same gold-and-gray-paneled ballroom of the former Hotel Majestic where the Vietnam peace talks droned on for more than four years.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, denied an active role in the peacekeeping arrangements because of Communist objections, was invited to witness the signing ceremony but not to sign.

Both sides made concessions at the five-day conference to reach unanimous agreement on the declaration. Canada, South Vietnam and Britain expressed disappointment that more effective measures were not adopted.

Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko expressed satisfaction with the declaration. North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and the Viet Cong foreign minister, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, were elated.

The nine-point declaration was initiated yesterday by representatives of the United States, Britain, France, China, the Soviet Union, North and South Vietnam, the Provisional Revolutionary Government and the four members of the International Cease-fire Commission—Canada, Indonesia, Poland and Hungary.

The declaration provides that the former belligerents or the members of the control commission can circulate reports on cease-fire violations to the signers of the declaration and to Waldheim. In case of serious violations or the threat of a new Vietnam war, any six signatory governments can reconvene the 12-power conference to consider appropriate action.

The declaration did not specify what action a future conference might take.

For the United States, the importance of the declaration lay in linking the Soviet Union and Communist China with the peace settlement. American officials believed that the two Communist superpowers' support could act as a decisive restraint on Hanoi.

A bicycle dealer named William D. Alexander in 1900 became the first person to drive an automobile on the streets of Atlanta.

Phyllis Ann Mobley, Ivey Pugh and Yvonne Smith.

Students accepted at North Carolina A & T are Debra Daniels and Dorothy Ann Payton. Beverly Gatlin has been accepted at North Carolina Central University; at the University at Chapel Hill is Michael Lee Roberson and the University of Michigan is Mark Hassell Smith. May we succeed at everything we start. See you next week!

Food Prices Must Meet Cost

News about the prices of food have not been very good lately.

The consumer has learned that last month prices for food increased by a record 2.5 percent. Beef and pork prices hit record highs and egg prices increased by 18 percent.

The Agriculture Department placed the blame on higher farm prices. The department claimed that middlemen—those who buy farm products, package them and sell them to the customers—absorbed part of the January increase.

Department figures showed that the average annual food bill for a typical family as of January was $1,375—37 more than the annual rate in December.

The farmers we know in this area who produce food for the U. S. Consumer have not felt for many years that the business was very profitable. And despite this increase in the farmers revenues we doubt if the farm profit figures are going to look much better. Costs of planting and harvesting of crops are rising as everything else, with labor a major part of the expense. Thus if the farmer is going to make any profit at all obviously he is going to have to receive more for his product.

The outlook for reducing costs on the farms is not too bright. Labor is expected to continue to rise and the surge in costs of energy—gasoline, electricity, fuel oil—is going to hit the farmer just as everyone else.

Something else to be considered is the administration's announced plans to eliminate subsidies. While this might seem a good way to reduce federal farm spending, it must be remembered that often these subsidies are the difference between profit and loss. Once they are gone there is only one way to replace them in the farm income picture; that is to increase the price of farm goods. And that, dear consumer, can only mean one thing—an increase in the prices that customers pay for food on the retail level.

Constituents 'Sounding Off'

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Is the silent majority finally speaking its mind on issues in the affairs of government?

A number of North Carolina legislators have that feeling. They report the response from constituents this session is greater than it has been in the past.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Mail is running heavier, said several Senators and Representatives, and weekends back home encounter more frequent contacts with citizens eager to express their views.

"People are more concerned about laws are made," said Rep. Gus Seros of Robeson. "They are better informed and ready to let you know their opinions. I find there is very definitely a greater interest on the part of the public in what the legislature is doing."

It's a healthy sign, said the three-term House member. "I hope it means people are anxious to get more involved, and that's what we need. The only way we can truly represent them is to know what they are thinking."

Some lawmakers have reached out to the people, through polls of one kind or another, to sample public opinion in their districts. Rep. Bill Kemp of Wayne spent $2,000 to mail questionnaires. Rep. Ben Tilson II of Mecklenburg hand-distributed a poll on street corners, at PTAs and other gatherings, and through banks and businesses. Sen. Dallas Alford of Nash, Rep. Lawrence Davis of Forsyth and Rep. Bob Wynne of Wake ran newspaper ads for citizens to fill out and return.

What the people had to say, in results of the polling, contained some surprises for the legislators.

Sentiment ran against tax repeal and for no-fault auto liability insurance, demand was strong for a code of ethics for legislators and sharp division was noted on the equal rights amendment for women and on a statewide liquor-by-the-drink referendum.

Some Regional Differences

The latter two issues indicated a regional divergence of opinion, while the first three had broad support both in the rural east and the urban Piedmont.

Sen. Alford said response in his eastern area was eight-to-one against ERA ratification.

Rep. Wynne reported his poll, principally covering Raleigh, was 35 per cent favorable and 48 per cent opposed with 17 per cent undecided. In Mecklenburg, the state's most populous county, 60 per cent were for ERA and 22 per cent against. The Forsyth results were similar, 62 per cent for and 32 per cent against.

On the proposition for a statewide vote for uniform liquor-by-the-drink, the replies in Wayne County were 64 per cent in favor and 36 per cent opposed. The Wake County results were 46 per cent for and 40 per cent against, while in Mecklenburg the count was 47 per cent for and 44 per cent against.

Opposition To Tax Repeal

In contrast, all the polls showed a margin of opposition to repeal of the soft drink and cigarette taxes. Even in Wayne, a tobacco producing county, 75 per cent of those responding were against taking off the tobacco levy and 68 per cent opposed removing the soft drink tax.

There was little difference in Wake, where 70 per cent were against repealing either tax, and in Mecklenburg where 85 per cent opposed repeal of the tobacco tax and 57 per cent were against taking off the soft drink tax.

Subjects on which there was near unanimity were ethics legislation, no-fault insurance, and increased spending for mental health services. Annual legislative session also received a favorable response in all the polls.

The tabulated response in the various polls showed 85 to 95 per cent favoring a legislative code of ethics, 72 to 89 per cent for no-fault insurance, and 80 to 83 per cent in favor of more spending for mental health.

Support for annual session range from 56 to 82 per cent.

Another subject on which strong feeling seemed apparent was capital punishment. Better than 60 per cent of respondents said it should be retained as a deterrent to crime.

Sen. Alford said fully a fourth of those returning the form thanked him for giving them a chance to speak out. Wynne and Kemp noted the same trend.

The lawmakers said they will heed the results when it's time to vote. "If I don't, they'll cure me at the next election," said Kemp.

Tison said he regarded his poll as a toll to be used in reaching decisions, not necessarily as a binding commitment. Wynne agreed. "It's an important in-put," he said, "although on a specific issue I am voting against the majority expression."

Enthroning Of 'King Caucus'

ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The revolution transforming power realities inside the House of Representatives, faster than the outside world imagines, poses a threat that coming battles over tax reform and foreign trade will become orgies of legislative excess.

The do-gooding reforms adopted by the House Democratic caucus in fact transfer root power from conservative-oriented House committee grandees—particularly Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, the Ways and Means chairman—to the liberal-dominated caucus. Expert at sensing the climate on Capitol Hill, Mills has not fought these reforms but embraced them—hinting to friends he might just let the House run wild and see how it likes it.

But the White House and its conservative allies on Capitol Hill are not so nonchalant. If Mills is cut down as a restraining force, they fear a tax bill gutted by revenue-losing gimmicks and a trade bill festooned with protectionist baubles. They doubt House Democratic leaders can check the caucus.

The goal of the present revolution, of course, is not a tax-trade Bacchanalia but an end to the feudal system of power divided among committee chairman, instead concentrating it with Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and the elected party leadership.

From the beginning, Mills has been a principal target. Liberal reformers have always grumbled about his committee's awesome jurisdiction (taxes, tariffs, Social Security, welfare) and unique authority (power to send bills to the House floor under a "closed" rule barring amendments). Albert's canny adviser, Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri, is a longtime critic of Mills. Most important, Albert was miffed last November when some Mills allies tested the water for a possible Mills speakership.

The result has been an amazingly swift assault on Mills' prerogatives. While Mills was nursing a back ailment in Kensett, Ark., last week, the Democratic caucus approved a major weakening of the closed rule. In effect, it provides that a simple majority vote of the caucus could open up previously inviolate trade and tax bills to multiple amendment.

Albert, majority leader Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill of Massachusetts and Bolling feel they can prevent excesses in the caucus. But nobody can be sure; and therein lies the basic question of the House revolution: does Speaker Albert control the caucus or does the caucus control Speaker Albert?

Nixon aides spin nightmarish tales of what might transpire under a liberal-controlled caucus, spurred on by Naders Raiders and Common Cause, defying the leadership. Worse yet, they fear massive tax cuts, Social Security boosts and high tariffs pouring from a runaway caucus.

Whether controllable or not, it is probable that the caucus will be making major legislative decisions. But unlike many Ways and Means members, Mills does not seem apprehensive. He actually approved last week's momentous changes in advance.

That's because Mills is no zealot flinging himself to death against an angry majority. Still a figure of unmatched prestige in the House, he believes he can talk the caucus out of wholesale amendments. Or perhaps, he hints privately, he might not even try. The result of a tax or trade bill open to amendment might teach the House a lesson.

But the cost of such a lesson would be too high for the White House, which recalls that the last trade bill considered under open amendment—the infamous Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act of

War On Poverty Is Won

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The United States government announced today that the War on Poverty is over and the United States has won. In a historic ceremony at the White House, the President signed the peace treaty which had been negotiated over a period of several months.

The terms of the treaty were outlined for reporters:

"The United States will withdraw all troops from the War on Poverty within 30 days and will no longer supply financial aid to war-torn poverty areas."

"Poor people will be allowed to choose their own destinies without interference from outside sources."

"All advisers to the War on Poverty will be brought home."

"Attacks on health problems, unemployment, housing and education will cease as of midnight, March 5. A team of Administration officials will be sent into the field to see that there are no violations of the agreement. If they find anyone continuing the War of Poverty, they shall report them to the Justice Department in Washington."

"Legal aid for poor people will be withdrawn from combat areas."

"Poverty victims will remain in their own homes and will be forbidden to move into other territory while the treaty is in force."

"All weapons used to fight Poverty will be removed, crated and shipped out of the fighting areas."

"Those who were wounded in the War on Poverty will be compensated with daily food stamps worth 50 cents."

"Prisoners of Poverty will not be exchanged. They must remain where they are until they are able to figure a way to escape their ghetto."

"As soon as the peace treaty goes into effect, all references to Poverty will be stricken from U.S. publications and the word will not be used by any Administration official."

A White House spokesman told reporters, "The President believes this is the greatest peace treaty in the history of mankind. This was a war he did not start, but one which he vowed to end. Poverty has been defeated, and the President achieved the defeat with honor, something his critics predicted he could not do."

Other Editors Say Concerns Drivers

(The Wilson Times)

The young careful driver has a champion in State Insurance Commissioner John Ingram. He made the campaign pledge to eliminate unfairness from the insurance programs.

Ingram will review the discriminatory rating classification system which permits a drunk to drive cheaper than a safe driving youth.

The hearing will be held on March 9 in the Highway Building Auditorium in Raleigh. The object of the hearing is to eliminate unfairness and to seek an industry alternative to the present rate plan and a review of the point classification.

The goal is to put the under-25 drivers in the same rate classification as all other safe drivers. Ingram says he has the authority to order changes in driver classifications which would affect the premium rates charged by insuring companies. He considers the state is practicing age discrimination.

Ingram believes a youth with a safe driving record should be treated the same as any other driver. Under the current program, the basic classification for a driver more than 25 years of age is so low that even when he gets a 250 per cent increase on the point system for a drunken driving conviction he isn't even close to what a young safe driver is paying.

A male under 25 with a safe driving record now pays $220 per year. A male more than 25 years of age with a drunken driving conviction pays $165 to $175. He plans to replace the assigned risk plan with a re-insurance concept effective May 15. The industry plans to contest the plan in court.

Ingram says North Carolina will be the first state to abolish both assigned risk and age discrimination.

In other words, he plans to give the young drivers, up to 25 years of age, the chance to prove they can be trusted and earn a driving record to justify the confidence being shown in them. Certainly they should not have to pay a higher premium until their driving records prove they should.

Memory Is The Mecca

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the world's favorite tourist mecca.

More journeys to remembrance are made every second than visitors arrive in a year to gawk at such famous sights as the Grand Canyon or the Empire State Building.

Yes, there are hours at night when none is awake to marvel at the misty thunder of Niagara Falls or the splendor of the Taj Mahal.

HAL BOYLE

But there is no second of the day or night around the clock but what a hundred thousand or ten million wakeful hearts are taking a trip through memory—here and there, far and near.

And one usually is refreshed by these voyages into memory. You've probably had many an enjoyable visit to memory yourself if you can look back and remember when:

More men than women sat on the front porch on summer evenings with their shoes off.

Everybody in the neighborhood said that if old Granny didn't quit smoking that corn-cob pipe she'd never get any younger, but everybody also liked to watch her puff away at it.

As a child you were told, "Take your medicine like a man." But whenever you saw a grownup take a dose of Pluto Water or castor oil, he seemed to make about as bad a face as you did.

There wasn't much of a market for a psychiatrist. There was always someone around willing to listen to you brag about your woes—just for the privilege it gave him to tell 10 other people that at last you were getting what you deserved.

Soups had three ingredients they don't seem to put in them so often anymore—lots of meat, lots of flavor, lots of love.

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

March 2, 1933

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, died suddenly of a heart attack aboard an Atlantic Coast Line train as it neared Wilson, North Carolina today. Walsh was enroute to Washington, D.C. with his bride he married Saturday at Havana. The Senator, who was named to be Attorney-General in the Cabinet of President-Elect Roosevelt only a few days ago, was 74 years old.

Athlete of the year was George Spitz. This New York University junior won the high jump at the Millrose Athletic games with a jump of six feet five inches. Spitz now holds the world's indoor record of six feet eight and one half inches.

Strength For Today

SENTIMENTALISTS ARE DANGEROUS

The problem of habit-forming drugs is probably the most appalling that has confronted any generation in centuries. That a person may take a drug and experience a transformation of feeling from sadness to satisfaction is a dangerous situation indeed.

There can be no temporizing with the drug addiction problem. Some people believe that drug continuance, with the nation paying the bill, is the solution to this problem. This would seem to be a mistake of the most disastrous character. We cannot cure an evil by substituting for it what appears to be a less devastating evil. The experience of drug addiction is that it goes from bad to worse and when it gets to heroin addiction the life of the victim is marked for deterioration and probably ruin.

Nor is the substitution of mildly addictive drugs for the hard variety of solution, and we can be sure that if we do not handle this drug addiction problem carefully and strenuously it will ruin uncounted millions of people. The pusher is public enemy number one. There should be no mercy in our handling of him. People who for a price are willing to make slaves of their contemporaries are public enemies in a worse category than that of murder.

Sentimentalists can hurt this situation immeasurably. They talk about reducing the quantity of dope or trying to switch the user to the mildest type of dope available.

These are makeshifts of the worst variety, and they are destined to ruin a whole generation if we give in to false advice in the handling of this dangerous problem.

Index Reflecting Nervousness

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It used to be that a change of a couple of points in the Dow Jones industrial average was a big one. But now the changes are running 10 or 12 points on many days.

One reason, of course, is that the Dow averages are much higher than they were a few years ago. So this means that the bigger changes are not as much as they seem if you reduce them to percentages.

But the principal reason is "nervousness," says A. J. Meigs, vice president and economist of Argus Research.

"The index is more volatile because of the times we live in," he explained. "There is more uncertainty. There is a lot of confusing news."

"In more stable times, people could plan ahead and invest on the basis of corporate profit expectations. But now there is so much news from Washington and overseas, and they don't understand, that they just rush to buy or sell."

Other factors are involved as well in the present period of big changes. In addition to nervousness, there is the greater market weight of the big institutions, particularly the mutual funds but including pension funds as well. These act almost in concert in buying or selling stocks which are in the news for one reason or another. And when they make their big purchase or sale, it has a big effect on the stock's price.

This is shown in the fact that the Standard and Poor industrial average, which has 425 stocks compared to the Dow Jones 30, does not swing as widely. During one recent 10-day period, the widest Dow swing of 17 points was nearly 2 per cent of the average, while the widest Standard and Poor swing in that time was less than 1 per cent.

Meigs said this indicated the greater weight on the Dow average which is exerted by a single stock. The stock exchange index, which has an even broader base, showed even smaller swings.

As a result of the smaller number of stocks in the Dow list, a drastic fall in the price of a single issue has a greater effect on the average than in the Standard and Poor indicator.

These differences are due to the differences among the stocks in the list used for averages. When the range between the 1973 highs and lows are reduced to percentages, they come out more evenly. For instance, up to the third week in February, the Dow Jones average was off 9 per cent, the Standard and Poor 6 per cent and the stock exchange average of all issues was down 11 per cent.

The greater number of stocks in the latter two offset the wide swings of the Dow, although in all three the trend was steadily downward.

Meigs thinks the present era of wide daily changes in the Dow will end as economic conditions stabilize, and he thinks there is "a good prospect for more stability."

"For instance," he said, "Americans don't understand what is going on in foreign exchange. The devaluation will help most American companies, so it is no reason to sell stocks. But a report like that will cause the big swings, just because people are confused."

Violin, Piano Recital Slated Monday Evening

A recital of music for violin and piano will be presented by Charles and Joanne Bath on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the A. J. Fletcher Recital Hall of the East Carolina University School of Music.

Included in the program will be the Sonata in E Major by Handel; Sonata in F Major, Opus 24, (Spring,) by Beethoven; and Sonata in d minor, Opus 108, by Brahms. Dr. Bath is Associate Professor of Piano and Chairman of the Keyboard Department of the School of Music. He holds degrees from the Eastman School of Music and the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Bath teaches violin privately. She is an honors graduate of Denison University and the University of Michigan and holds a certificate from the Conservatoire Americain, Fontainebleau, France. The Bath Duo was formed in 1957 and had concertized extensively since.

The program has been selected in order to show examples of three types of sonatas: the solo violin with keyboard accompaniment (Handel); an early example of the true duo sonata, when melody and accompaniment are indivisible (Beethoven), and the fully developed duo sonata when both instruments combine to make the sound of one greater instrument (Brahms.) The recital has been scheduled at an early hour to enable young people to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Workshop Is Set Sunday

Teachers in churches of Albemarle Presbytery are invited to attend a workshop at the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

"Live and Learn" is a workshop in three sections: preschool; elementary; and youth-adult. Those attending will have a chance to experience teaching methods suitable for their age division and then will discuss their experiences and how to use such skills in their home churches.

Vacation church school materials will be displayed during the fellowship-refreshment break.

Workshop planners and leaders include Katie Barnes, Frank Campbell, Wilson; David Jenkins, Chuck and Itsy Williamson, Goldsboro; Sadie Purvis, Tarboro; Tim Green, Greenville; and Marian Fisk, Presbytery Office. Rachel Christopher, Washington, is registrar. Betty Bailey and her circle will serve refreshments.

OFF THE SHELVES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Starkist Foods Inc. says it believes all the cans of tainted tuna it began recalling last week now have been removed from grocery shelves.

1930—was the forerunner of depression and world war. In the delicate international situation of 1973, President Nixon's aides envision the specter of lower taxes and higher tariffs emerging from a new King Caucus.

Most Democratic Congressmen view this as ridiculously alarmist. Even if this is so, assault on Mills won't soon end. He is now trying to block a caucus-approved House rule intended to open his committee's sessions to the public—and hordes of lobbyists. A select committee headed by Bolling might divide the vast Ways and Means jurisdiction.

For 17 years, Mills has been the bulwark against unrestrained tax and tariff relief. Even his undisputed guile and ability to adjust to changing tides may be insufficient to preserve that role today if King Caucus is restored to his dictatorial old throne.

suppose the forces of Poverty continue their aggression?" The spokesman said, "The United States had done all it can to fight Poverty. No matter what happens now, we're getting out of the war. The poor people are going to have solve their own problems. This is the foundation of the Nixon Doctrine. The time has come when poor people have to stand on their own two feet and pull themselves up by their bootstraps."

Another reporter asked, "Now that the War on Poverty is over, will there be a peace dividend for the American people?"

"No," the White House spokesman said, "because the money used to fight the War on Poverty is now needed to purchase military hardware which has been sadly neglected during the last seven years."

"Will the President grant amnesty to those who refused to fight in the War on Poverty?" a reporter queried.

"Yes, he will," the spokesman said. "The President believes a man who refused to fight Poverty because of personal convictions should not carry this scar around with him for the rest of his life."

Moose Visit Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The moose are starting to wander into the streets and gardens of Anchorage as they usually do every winter, and this city of 130,000 again is taking on the appearance of a zoo. The big beasts, weighing up to nearly a ton, are simply hungry.

The open spaces in and around Anchorage have an abundant supply of the foods moose like best—such as willow and birch scrubs.

Residents of Anchorage are used to the annual visit of some 800 to 1,300 moose, but they've learned to avoid being blase about it.

"My daughter demolished a four-door sedan," one city official explained. "She hit a moose who kicked the car to pieces trying to get off the hood."

In about a month, the snow will melt some and the moose can find their natural food supplies out where they belong.

Lenoir Team Is Chosen Best Of Cheerleaders

KINSTON—The Lenoir Community College cheerleaders have been selected as the top cheerleading group by the North Carolina Community College Athletic Association.

Team members include Vickie Letchworth, chief, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Letchworth of Rt. 1, Snow Hill; Debbie Faulkner, Angie Griffin, Gretchen Haupt, Wanda Blackburn, and Debbie McCormick, all of Kinston.

The six-member team performed non-pom routines, gymnastics and stunts in addition to leading cheers for the Lancers the LCC basketball team. Mrs. Fan Williamson is the cheerleading sponsor at LCC.

Among the rural poor — and not so poor, too — the girls wore petticoats and other underthings made of flour or seed sacks. Boys often didn't get a store-bought suit until they were 17, and then they looked like premature undertakers. Smaller boys wore garters snipped from inner tubes to keep their long black stockings up.

In the Southern Highlands, a dinner bell was used as a signal to warn bootleggers that the "revenooers" were approaching. Many country doctors had such patriotic faith in the quality of the local corn whisky they prescribed it for their patients.

It took longer to get anywhere, but you had more fun when you got there.

Assembly Adds To Governor's Power, Says Scott

AN AP NEWS SPECIAL
 Editors' Note: Former North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott became a leader in the drive to reorganize state government during his four-year term that ended Jan. 5. At the request of The Associated Press Scott has summarized his observations, beliefs about the governor's office. This is the last of a five-part series giving his views.

By BOBSCOTT
 As Told to Associated Press RALEIGH (AP) — I think North Carolina's government is pretty well structured, basically. I would say the veto power ought to be given to the governor now and, perhaps, his term should be lengthened, but the basic structure, the checks and balances, are built in and we ought to safeguard those in any kind of constitutional revision that we might have in the future. I think it was our state treasurer, Edwin Gill, who coined the phrase, "Good government is a habit" in North Carolina. I think this is a good statement that is still pertinent. Sure there are things that go wrong. There are some 40,000 employees and, with a biennial budget of better than $4 billion, and the multitude of problems we have, obviously there are going to be faults in it. Nothing is going to be perfect, but you don't have the fraud, the under-the-table dealings.

You may have some petty stuff along the way which is something of this magnitude, is almost impossible to monitor, but you don't find this coming with the knowledge and approval of anybody at the top level. Usually it occurs down at some lower level and the people at the top don't know about it until they squirrel it out or it comes to life some other way. This again stresses the importance of having as much of government as possible open to the scrutiny of the news media, because a lot of times they are able to get into a situation and, not only detect something that might not be proper, but detect something that could lead to something improper in the future.

The powers of the governor now come as a result of laws that have been enacted over a period of time. His constitutional powers are limited. His power of appointments come by statute, most of them.

The legislature speaks about the governor being too powerful but they made him that way. Every session the legislature gives the governor more power, almost unknowingly, because every time they create a commission, a board or agency that provides for appointment of citizens thereto, most times the legislature will say the governor shall appoint four, the speaker of the House two, the Lieutenant governor two, or something like that.

This is just four more little green stamps the governor's got.

Over the years they built up and granted to the governor this tremendous appointive power. It is true that, perhaps, these appointees must come from a certain category or they are limited to a certain term or something but the power is there. That's why you rarely ever see a governor making major appointments, at least up until reorganization, until after the legislature has gone home.

When the legislature is in town they come to the governor constantly about problems in their districts, things their constituents want and ask them to see the governor about it. Well, the governor uses this as his trading power.

They may want someone in their area appointed to a certain board. Maybe the legislator himself wants an appointment. They create a commission and, as a general rule, the man who creates it has some definite ideas about who he wants on it. A lot of times it is himself.

One power the governor needs to have increased is the power to shape his own administration like he wants it, particularly since we have a four-year limitation on his term. He has a very limited amount of time to get things moving like he wanted to, like he told the electorate he was going to.

He comes into office and most of the commissions and boards were appointed by the previous governor or even longer. It's very difficult for the governor to get his policies implemented because a lot of these boards have policy-making power of their own. Unless he can have his own people on there, he's not going to get his own viewpoint enacted into policy.

On the other side of that coin is the need for continuity between one administration and another. I think there can be a balance between the two. Under reorganization the governor does have his secretaries to serve at his pleasure, so this is going to be a big help. Now, from the governor's standpoint, reorganization has enabled him to deal with just a few people rather than so many.

As for reorganization, there is one real problem and I don't have the answer for it.

Under reorganization, in the field of public education, the head, the authority is the board of education, no an individual. This raises the question: who speaks for public education? Is it the superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Phillips? Or is the chairman of the board of Education, Dr. Herring, or is it the community college director, Dr. Fountain? The constitution requires a superintendent of public instruction but the board itself is at the top.

Administratively this is not good. When I forred the executive cabinet, who was I going to choose to sit around the table for public education. I finally asked Dr. Phillips, because the constitution requires a superintendent of public instruction.

Two other aspects need to be fully ironed out. One, there needs to be on the executive cabinet a slot for higher education, possibly Dr. Friday. They don't want this, because they don't want anything to do with the executive branch of government except to get their funds. But you're leaving out a pretty big segment when you leave out higher education.

The other aspect is that there is a great multitude of licensing boards in North Carolina. There needs to be a greater coordination there. In some instances there needs to be a greater accountability of funds. These are not state funds although some are funneled through the state treasury.

I hesitate to single out any body but, as an example, use the real estate licensing board. This board collects fees to be used to try to run a good program. It and some other boards have built up large reserves but yet they go right on collecting fees from members. Do they really need this? I think there needs to be some work done there.

There is a lot of flushing out to do under the umbrella that have been created, but I take great pride in that we were able to create the basic framework.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to do your best to please those contacts with whom you have a friendly or casual relationship but who need cultivating for a closer relationship and a more important place in your life.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A day to do whatever you can to please good friends and recent acquaintances and deepen relationships. Attend some small, select gathering. Much good for the future can come of this.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get your work activities well organized to please higher-ups. Showing more interest in the community in which you reside will bring you added acclaim. Use logic instead of relying so much on emotion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) That plan you have had in mind for some time requires fuel for thought and further study to round out properly. Write or wire an out-of-towner who can be helpful in this. Do not waste time with gossips.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be certain that you carry through conscientiously with promises made to others. Get your house in order. Some special thought for mate brings you more devotion.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you carry through with contacts you have with associates, you make this a most productive day, p.m. Try not to antagonize further one who opposes you or you get into deep trouble. Avoid one who bickers.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have many tasks awaiting your attention, but be sure to use more modern methods so they are quickly completed. Show more courtesy toward fellow workers and get better results. Take it easy in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) This can be a most happy day and p.m. at the recreations you like, plus some new expression of your talents. Rid yourself of small stumbling blocks in the path of your happiness. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Place your attention on home and family today and forget gadding about with fast friends who could get you into some kind of trouble. Clear up any questionable points that spoil the harmony in that important realm of your existence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Once you get your shopping and errands done, go out with congenials and have a delightful time. You may get unexpected and excellent results from a fascinating person you meet today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take the time to analyze your financial position and to discuss with key people how to improve your position in the future, add to assets. You have a good idea to put in operation even though you have to make a few changes first.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you spend some time getting yourself and home toned up nicely so you feel happy and can impress others favorably today. Repay some social debt long overdue.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to get ahead faster in the days to come and seek the advice of one who is an expert in your field of endeavor. Try to find more happiness with mate. Show you are thoughtful and kind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who likes to help others gain their aims because there is a love of people here. Should be permitted to have many playmates around early in life, as a testing ground for the valuable work your youngster can do upon reaching adulthood that will mean dealing with many persons, with the public in general, and in vocations that have to do with the humanities. Teach how to handle the emotional side of life early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Honeybee Now State Symbol

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The North Carolina Senate has added the honey bee to a pantheon of official state symbols, which now include the gray squirrel (the state mammal) and the Scotch bonnet (the state shell).

Under legislation passed by the Senate Thursday, and sent to the house, the honey bee would become the official state insect.

The champion of the bee was Sen. Bette Wilkie, R-Henderson, who said the insect was the bulwark of a $35 million industry in the state.

Still in committee is a bill which would make the emerald the official state gem.

Report Paroles Chairman Quit

RALEIGH (AP) — Robert Weinstein, chairman of the state Board of Paroles, has resigned, reported The News and Observer in Friday editions.

Weinstein, 65, has been under fire for a decision to parole felon Billy Keith Fowler in December. Fowler's original 40-year sentence was reduced twice by former Gov. Bob Scott.

He became eligible for parole, and Weinstein and board member John Baker concurred in granting parole over objections from area law enforcement officers.

Weinstein declined comment, but said he did not work Thursday and that Wednesday was his last day in the office. Secretary of Social Rehabilitation and Control David Jones also declined to comment Thursday.

"Since the governor is out of town, I'm not at liberty to say anything," Jones said. He added that he planned to see Gov. Jim Holshouser today but would not reveal the reason for the scheduled meeting.

Weinstein has maintained there was nothing unusual in the handling of the Fowler case.

Surviving her are her mother, Mrs. Mary Hardy of New Haven, Conn.; her father, Willie Hardy Jr. of Greenville; a daughter, Miss Dikyma Talysce Hardy; and two sisters, Miss Carolyn Hardy and Miss Mary Yvonne Hardy, both of New Haven, Conn.; her maternal grandfather, Elijah Langley of Durham; her paternal grandfather, Willie Hardy Sr. of Pitt County.

Family visitation at the funeral home will be Saturday from 8 to 9 p.m.

AYDEN — Mr. Elias Jones of Grifton died at his home Saturday after an extended illness. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Grifton Chapel Church with his pastor, Elder J. L. Wilson, officiating. Interment will follow in the Grifton Cemetery.

Mr. Jones was the son of the late Noah and Sarah Ann Jones. He was the widower of Mrs. Nelia Coward Jones. He was a member and past deacon of Grifton Chapel.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Oglia Lee Blount of the home and Mrs. Lucille Harp of Ayden; two sons, Sylvester Jones of Point Pleasant, N.J., and Robert A. Jones of Lakewood, N.J.; one brother, James Jones of Middletown, N.J.; 12 grandchildren; 10 great grandchildren.

The body will be at Norcott and Company Funeral Home from 6 p.m. Saturday until one hour prior to the funeral. The family visitation will be held at the chapel Saturday from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Lowery
Mr. Walter Lowery, brother of J. R. Lowery of Ayden, died Thursday in the Veterans' Hospital in Richmond, Va. Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Midgett Funeral Home in Elizabeth City.

Holdover Is For 1973-74
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says it will not spend 82.6 per cent of $270.6 million appropriated this year to help desegregate school districts.

Instead, the balance of $223.6 million will be allocated for spending during the 1973-74 school year, and $271 million budgeted for the 1974 fiscal year beginning July 1 will be earmarked for the following year.

As many as 200 desegregation programs under way earlier this year are expected to be ended for lack of federal assistance.

The disclosure was made Thursday in an announcement that grants totaling $14.3 million have been awarded to 48 school districts and 29 nonprofit organizations in 16 states. They are the first grants made under the new Emergency School Aid Act which took effect Feb. 1.

Since the grants run through June 30, 1974, only about one-third of the money will be spent this school year.

A $50-million ceiling on ESAA outlays for fiscal 1973 was ordered by the Office of Management and Budget because of budget restraints and the short time available to implement new programs.

School Idled Longest-Held POW Is Again Left Off Lists

CHARLOTTE (AP)—One Charlotte-Mecklenburg high school was closed this morning and police were at another after separate instances of fighting broke out.

Henry Bostic, a spokesman for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg schools, said West Mecklenburg High was closed. He said police decided that the extent of fighting across the campus and in classrooms was such that it could not be controlled another way. Its pupils were bused home.

At South Mecklenburg High on the opposite side of the city officers said despite some pushing, shoving and hairpulling and refusal to go to classes, the situation calmed by 9:30 a.m. One pupil was suspended.

There was fighting at both schools earlier this week. Bostic said there was no indication what sparked the disturbances or of the extent of property damage.

He said three pupils were injured at West Mecklenburg, one of them being held at a hospital for observation.

The spokesman said there were no estimates of the number of youths involved at West. He said at South an estimated 50 to 200 were involved.

Banquet Held For Cub Pack

Some 197 Cub Scouts and parents attended the 16th annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Pack 200 recently.

Each den in the pack presented a skit and first prize was awarded to Den Two. Second place went to Den Five. Best table decorations was won by Den Three and Den Five placed second.

Pack Master Claude Moore announced that several events are upcoming for the scouts. Among the planned activities are a Weblo swim meet at East Carolina University in March, a Weblo camp-out in April, and the Pitt District Summer Olympics.

Guests for the banquet included James Harris, Moose Lodge governor; Hugh Benson, Pitt District Scout Executive; Dr. Badger Clark, chairman of the city Board of Education; Mrs. Margaret White, principal at Eastern Elementary School; and Dr. Bob Thurber, Cub Scout training officer.

Veterans Day Again Nov. 11
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Veterans Day will once again be observed on November 11 in North Carolina.

Legislation enacted into law by the state Senate Thursday changes the date of the patriotic observance back to the anniversary of the armistice that ended World War I.

Congressional action in 1970 had changed Veterans Day to the third Monday in October; the General Assembly went along with the change in 1971.

But according to Rep. William Hiatt, R-Surry, sponsor of Thursday's bill, that change had destroyed much of the tradition and public awareness of the holiday.

The forums will provide an opportunity for citizens to have an input into the long-range goals for occupational education and an opportunity for them to express their views concerning occupational education.

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — "We don't know where he is; God knows where he's being kept," a military spokesman said here today after the name of the longest-held prisoner of war in American history failed to appear on the Communists' latest list of men to be freed.

Maj. Floyd J. Thompson, 39, a Green Beret from Fort Bragg, N.C., was captured March 26, 1964, after his plane crashed in Quang Tri Province, South Vietnam.

The cease-fire accords call for the longest-held prisoners and those ill or disabled to be released first. Lt. Cmdr. Everett Alvarez Jr. of Santa Clara, Calif. — according to Pentagon statistics the second longest held POW in the nation's history (he was shot down over North Vietnam on Aug. 5, 1964) — was in the first group released last month by Hanoi.

A Viet Cong broadcast of Thompson's voice after the crash was confirmed by his family. He was quoted in November 1964 by Hanoi Radio as saying he was receiving friendly treatment at a Viet Cong camp. He also was quoted by the Communists' Liberation Radio that month as saying the goal of the guerrillas was to achieve peace, independence and other objectives.

"I think the solution is to call a cease-fire and withdraw all U.S. forces . . . and let the people settle their own affairs," he was quoted as saying.

The Special Forces officer lived in Fort Bragg with his wife and three daughters. A son was born the day after his plane went down.

'Family Month' At Church Scheduled

WINTERVILLE — Special Sunday evening services for this month, designated "Family Month," will be held at the Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church.

The Southernaires of Clayton will be featured in song and testimony this Sunday night. One of the men in the group is Clark Davis, a former resident of Greenville, who spent sometime teaching in the Pitt County School System.

The second Sunday night, March 11, is reserved for a special program to be presented by the Couples' Class of Sunday School.

The youth of the church will be responsible for the entire program planned for the Sunday evening, March 18. Mike Roberson will be the speaker and will be assisted by other young people.

Sunday night, March 25, will feature as speaker, the Rev. Joseph Ingram, director-treasurer of the North Carolina State Mission Board. He will present slides of his recent trip to the Philippines.

One fourth of the church roll will be called each Sunday night in order to stimulate attendance. These family months have become a tradition one each year at Reedy Branch Church.

The Rev. Willis Wilson is pastor of the church.

Talk Curbs On Permits

KINSTON (AP) — The state Board of Water and Air Resources will consider a recommendation March 5 that it grant no more waste water treatment permits in coastal North Carolina pending a study of pollution problems.

A committee of the board also recommended Thursday that a moratorium on the issuance of waste treatment permits be continued for high density developments on Dare County beaches.

The committee heard a report that rapid construction of high density developments over the past 15 months in Dare County is causing a significant pollution problem.

Secretary of Natural and Economic Resources James Harrington announced at the meeting the formation of an intergovernmental task force to seek solutions to the Dare County problems.

"The solution isn't just prohibition," Harrington said. He said he would ask officials of the Environmental Protection Agency, the Board of Health, the Board of Water and Air Resources, county commissions and local interests to participate in a task force meeting within 60 days.

Adults To Play Grifton Cagers

GRIFTON — The parents and teachers of the Grifton area will play the Grifton School junior high basketball team Wednesday, March 14; 7:00 p.m.

The adult teams will be composed of parents of school team members and school faculty members.

Mrs. Sadie Potter will be in charge of the ladies' team and Principal Ike Baldree will be responsible for the men's team. Mrs. Rosa Bell and Mrs. Janet Haseley will head the cheering section.

Pitt Tech Will Offer Course In Management

Pitt Technical Institute will offer a 45-hour management course beginning Tuesday at 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday. Three major areas that will be examined and discussed are: effective speaking; employee evaluation; and effective writing.

This type of course is very appropriate for numerous types of supervisory and managerial personnel.

John Behr will instruct the course. He is a retired DuPont administrator with years of experience in the field of supervision.

Pre-registration is not required. There is no charge for the course.

ECU Exterminates Spiders In First Round

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
RICHMOND, Va. — East Carolina University unleashed its board power on the Richmond Spiders, and rolled to a 96-62 victory last night in the final game of the Southern Conference Tournament's first round.

The Bucs completely dominated the boards, pulling down 53 rebounds, as compared to just 38 for Richmond, and the Spiders had to come back in the second half to make it that close. They were down 35-18 at the half in that department.

Richmond's All-Conference star, Aron Stewart, was able to score 29 points and pull down 17 rebounds, but he was about all the Spiders could manage, and most of his points were ineffectual.

East Carolina got a super game from Nicky White, who tossed in 25 points and got 17 rebounds of his own. Al Faber joined him in the onslaught of the boards, pulling down 13.

East Carolina also had a fine shooting night, hitting 50.7 per cent as compared to 33.3 for the Spiders, who were much worse than that in the first half.

Besides White's totals, Jerome Owens had one of his finest nights, hitting 20, while Dave Franklin had 14 and Earl Quash had 11.

The Bucs used a solid defense on the Spiders, mostly a triangle-two, and it halted Richmond fully.

The victory was the fourth straight tourney win for the Bucs, and snapped a three-game victory string by Richmond over the Pirates in tournament play, all three coming by two points.

The Spiders were never that close last night.

Both teams opened up tight, but Jeff Snider put Richmond into the initial lead after just over a minute. Owens tied it up, and the Bucs got the lead on a jumper by Franklin. It was tied several times after that, until Owens, hitting with a rebound, put the Bucs into the lead, 12-10, with 12:50 left. They opened it to four on a basket by Owens. Richmond came back to tie it once more, 14-14, but a three-point play with 11:15 left with Franklin hitting opened a 17-14 lead and the Spiders didn't catch up again in the half.

White hit a jumper and Owens made a free throw to open it to four. Richmond cut it back to two, but Earl Quash made another three-point play for East Carolina, running it out to five, 23-18.

It was there that the Pirates really caught fire, outscoring Richmond for the rest of the half, 17-4. Franklin hit a layup, and then made one from the line. After a basket by Bob Jacobs, White hit. Jacobs hit again, making it 28-22, and the Spiders were through for the half.

But the Bucs weren't through. Owens hit a jumper and Faber followed with one to make it 32-22. White added a layup, and Owens made two free throws. Faber tipped in a missed foul shot and White's jumper with 21 seconds left made it 40-22 at halftime.

Richmond's 21.2 per cent was their worst shooting half of the year.

The carnage continued throughout the early minutes of the second half, as the Pirates built their lead out to as much as 28 points. Owens hit two straight and White made two free throws for a 46-22 lead before Richmond broke their eight minute drought with the ball.

With 16:08 left, White rebounded a basket to run it to 52-26.

At that point, Mike Anastasio, who saw little action for the Spiders came into the game, and began to engineer a Richmond comeback. Behind his playmaking and scoring, the Spiders slowly chipped away at the lead, cutting it to as little as 13, 62-49 with 8:22 left. That came on a jumper by Stewart.

But the Bucs got going again, pulling away, with Franklin's tap making it 72-61 with 6:13 to go. Richmond never got going again, and as time ran on, the Bucs continued to build up their lead, even as the regulars came out.

With 2:28 left, however, Ernie Pope suffered a dislocated elbow when he was knocked into a basket support, and he will be lost for the rest of the tournament.

The Bucs reached their biggest lead with four seconds left when Roger Atkinson hit two free throws with for the final 96-62 score.

East Carolina, out to defend its Southern Conference Championship, must beat the team it defeated last year in the finals of the tournament, Furman, tonight, to gain the finals.

In the other semi-final game, Davidson, top-seeded, takes on William & Mary.

Top, Second Seeds Advance; W&M Gains Upset Victory

By WOODY PEELE

RICHMOND, Va. — Top seeded Davidson and runner-up Furman both gained first round victories in the Southern Conference Tournament's return to Richmond yesterday.

But both had to struggle to get into the semifinals. Davidson, playing badly, beat fumble-fingered VMI, 88-79, while Furman shook off stubborn Appalachian in the second half to gain a 101-68 victory.

William & Mary pulled off a surprising 97-72 upset of fourth-seeded Citadel in the second game of the afternoon session.

Tonight William & Mary will try to keep its luck going as it takes on the Wildcats at 7 p.m., while Furman will take on East Carolina, a 96-62 victor over Richmond in the first day's final game. (See separate story.)

holding them back as they made only 19 of 33 attempts.

Both teams hit well from the floor, but Davidson held the edge, making 36 of 66 for 54.5 percent. VMI hit on 29 of 59 for 49.2 percent.

VMI did lead once, at 2-0, on a layup by Gordia Rawlyk, but Davidson soon gained the edge, and held it the rest of the way, moving from a 4-2 mark to as much as 18, at 38-20 with 5:00 left when Larry Horowitz hit a jumper. VMI did cut it back to as little as 13 in the half, and trailed by that, 46-33 at the horn.

In the second half, as the fouls began to mount up for Davidson, VMI slowly crept back, and broke below 10 for the first time when Bob Beninger made two free throws to make it 61-53 with 11:49 showing.

But their continued poor ballhandling and free throw shooting problems kept them from making a real drive at the unsteady Wildcats. Several times, after cutting it to as little as seven, they had the opportunity to cut it further, but missed.

Finally they trimmed it to six, at 75-69 after a jumper by David Lester with 5:03 left, but Davidson pulled out again, building up the final 11 point margin.

Greg Dunn led Davidson with 20 points, while John Falconi had 15, Mike Sorrentino had 14 and Horowitz had 11. For the Keydets Steve Wolf had 18, Curt Reppart had 14, Rawlyk had 12 and Charlie Tyler had 11.

33 for 57.6 per cent.

The Citadel grabbed the opening lead and moved out by as much as five at 13-8 on a jumper by Steve Fishel. But William & Mary fought back and finally took the lead at 26-25 on a jumper by Jeff Trammell with 8:50 left. They led the rest of the way. They ran off 10 more points, the last a one-and-one by Tom Pflingst with 6:56 left to go making it 36-25. Chuck Cordell led a Citadel comeback, hitting 10 points, including four field goals, to pull the Bulldogs back. Finally, with 3:57 to go, Fishel hit two free throws to trim it to 38-37, but two free throws by Pflingst and a basket by Steve Seward helped run it back out and William & Mary led by eight at the half.

What William & Mary did well in the first half, they did to perfection in the second, burning the nets for 65.5 per cent in the period. They held Citadel to only 31.5, and but for one brief rally, they steadily pulled away.

The only danger came midway through the period when the Bulldogs rallied to cut the lead to only four, after it had been 14, 57-43. Cordell hit with 9:55 left to make it 64-60, but that was as close as they came. The Indians caught fire at that point, and ran off 11 straight points to take a 75-60 lead as Seward hit a jumper with 7:54 left. After that, the Indians slowly continued to pull away, moving out by as much as 26 points late in the contest.

Pflingst, who had a super game, finished with 28 points, including 11 for 14 from the floor. Mike Arizin added 19, while Seward had 17. The Citadel was paced by Cordell with 22, Fishel with 18 and Scott with 13.

Simpson hit a layup with 8:50 left for a 16-8 lead.

A basket by David Milsovic and two free throws cut it back to six, and then two baskets by Stan Davis and a layup by Ed Kane trimmed it back to one, 23-22 with 3:44 left. A basket by Craig Lynch, a free throw by Simpson and a tap by Clyde Mayes ran it back to six at halftime, 32-26.

In the second half, however, it was a different story, as the Paladins gained control quickly and rolled to a big victory, leading by as much as 33 points.

Led by Simpson and Mayes, who hit 14 and 17 respectively in the half, the Paladins rolled away. In the first five minutes of play, Furman outhit Appalachian, 14-4, and the rout was underway.

The margin reached 20 when Todd Brenizer hit a layup with 13:00 left, 54-34, and it passed 30, when Simpson made it 81-50. The margin reached its high point at 83-50 with 6:15 left as Hunt hit.

Furman ended up hitting 62.5 per cent from the floor for the half, and that was the story of the game.

Mayes ended up with 21 points, while Simpson had 20. Fessor Leonard added 12.

For Appalachian, Erwin Hill and Stan Daniels each had 20, and Ed Kane had 12.

First Game
VMI—Wolf 18, Tyler 11, Beninger 4, Lester 6, Rawlyk 12, Gundlach 1, Reppart 14, Allison, Frank 6, Brewer 5.

Davidson—Dunn 20, T. Pecorak 7, Horowitz 11, Falconi 15, Sorrentino 14, Powell 4, J. Pecorak 7, Wagner, Gadaire 6, Parker.

VMI 35 44-79
Davidson 46 42-88

Second Game
William & Mary—Byrd 4, Arizin 19, Courage 6, Seward 17, Pflingst 28, Trammell 8, Musselman, Spack, Ritter 7, Wortman 6, Panzenback, Tucker, Burlage, Blount.

The Citadel—Weber 6, Scott 13, Johnson 9, Cordell 22, Fishel 18, Morris, MacDonald 4, Barger, Mossman, Ferris.

William & Mary 47 88-97
Appalachian 39 33-72

Third Game
Appalachian—Milosovich 7, Hill 20, Vukosovich, Kane 12, Davis 20, Dudas, Baughman 2, C. Barnes 5, Boone, Dalmas 2, J. Barnes, Clayton.

Furman—Simpson 20, Mayes 21, Leonard 12, Hill 8, Hunt 9, Lynch 8, Kelley 4, Brenizer 4, Bieri 2, Hall 7, Dougherty, Seaman, Clark 6.

Appalachian 26 42-68
Furman 32 69-101

What had been true for Davidson in the first game became true for second-seeded Furman in the third as Appalachian gave them a surprisingly tough game, sticking with them through the half. The Mountaineers led just once, at 2-0, but never trailed by more than eight points, and pulled back after that to trail by just one on two occasions.

Despite a height advantage, Furman wasn't able to control the boards in the first half as each pulled in 22 loose balls. Furman did have a better shooting percentage, 46.7 to 35.3, and that staked them to their six point lead.

But they could have led by more, hitting only four of 10 from the line.

Russ Hunt hit a jumper to give them a 4-2 lead, and they never trailed again. Slowly they built it out to eight points, as Roy

UNC Looking For Third Win Over Blue Devils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina State did it to North Carolina—defeated them three times this basketball season—but can North Carolina do it to Duke?

The answer will come in their regionally televised game Saturday afternoon at the home of the Duke Blue Devils.

The Tar Heels beat Duke 91-86 in the North Carolina Big Four Tournament in December. They did it again 82-71 on Jan. 20.

Both North Carolina and Duke have lost their last games, the Tar Heels 82-78 to unbeaten North Carolina State last Tuesday, and Duke 75-50 to Clemson the following day.

Their records are North Carolina 7-4 in the Atlantic Coast Conference and 21-6 in all games; Duke 4-7 and 12-12.

Clemson has finished its regular season in the ACC. All the other teams will do so Saturday, and then take a break before the conference championship tournament begins Thursday in the Greensboro Coliseum.

North Carolina State will seek victory No. 25 in a home game against Wake Forest and Maryland will be at Virginia Saturday night.

Clemson is 4-8 in the league and 12-13 in all games.

Black Jack Closes Season With Win

In the only church league game played last night, Black Jack finished off its season with a 50-45 win over Piney Grove for a record of 11-5. Piney Grove ended its season, 9-7.

Piney Grove threatened to take the win as they inched out to a 29-22 lead in the first half. Black Jack came back in the second half to outscore Piney Grove, 28-16, for the win.

Tal Adams and Ephaiagm Smith each had 16 for Black Jack. Ricky Langley led PG with 13.

Change In Defense Does The Trick

RICHMOND, Va. — Coach Tom Quinn gave his Pirates a little different defense last night to use against Richmond's All-Star Aron Stewart, and it paid off handsomely.

Several weeks ago, when the two teams played, the Pirates used a box and one on Stewart, and held him in check enough to get the victory.

Last night, they altered it to a triangle-two, a semizone with two men going man-to-man, one on Stewart and another on Stewart. It worked even better as the Bucks roared to the biggest victory of the first round.

"We decided to try it and see how they would adjust to it. They never really did," Quinn said. "We started with (Earl) Quash on Stewart, but he was getting too many rebound off him (height difference) so we went to (Dave) Franklin." Franklin had drawn the first assignment and performed just as well this time. "(Mike) Anastasio caused a lot of things to happen out there when he came in. We picked him up in man-to-man, and he penetrated on us, so we went to a solid zone and that cut him down."

Quinn praised the efforts of all his Pirates, and noted that Nicky White had a super effort. "Owens (Jerome) shot more and we like this. (Al) Faber and Franklin also had some great periods out there."

The Bucks, however, lost Ernie Pope for the rest of the tournament with a dislocated elbow, suffered late in the game. The Buc senior was fouled, while his replacement waited to come into the game.

"This might have been our best game of the season," Quinn admitted. "We had a good game against Furman, too."

Now the Bucks must come up with another. For they play Furman tonight. Terry Holland had much praise for his first round opponent VMI, after his Davidson wildcats squeezed out an 88-79 win over the last place team in the league.

"You've got to give them credit. We didn't play a pretty game. The fouls and turnovers hurt both teams," he said. VMI set a new league record of 34 turnovers, while Davidson charged with 31 personal fouls. "I was very much upset at the way we played. I like to go out and play the best possible game we can each night."

Holland added that he didn't know whether the poor play in the first round would help them or hurt them. Last year, they played poorly against Appalachian in the opener, then lost the second round game to fourth place East Carolina.

"It seemed like we just couldn't play without fouls," he said, then added that the officials who called the game, Ralph Stout and Jim Howell called 43 against them the last time they worked together in a Davidson game (a loss to Furman in Greenville, S.C.). But he also quickly added that he thought they did a good job.

VMI's Bill Blair felt his team "played a hell of a game. We played hard enough to win."

But a couple of breaks hurt them. Besides poor ballhandling in the turnover department, and poor free throw shooting, 57.6 percent, the Keydets were missing a starter in Steve Chapin, who came down with blood poisoning this week after injuring an elbow. They also were forced to play Curt Reppart who hadn't played in 21 days due to a knee injury.

"We still gave it a great effort, and I'm proud of them," he said.

Ed Ashnault of William & Mary said he had to give credit to the play of three unselfish seniors:

Jeff Trammel, George Spack and Steve Seward. They found themselves on the bench because of the play of newcomers, but came back to perform well during the season and help the young players along. Earlier in the year, the coach noted that his young team would have to come along and he hoped to have them ready for the tournament, and apparently, the Indians have hit their peak at the right time.

"I'm honored to have the chance to play the Southern Conference regular season champions" Ashnault said. "I hope we can represent ourselves properly."

Against Citadel, it was proper. The 97 points was the most scored by the Indians this year, and their 25 point margin was also their biggest. "We played well, and I'm happy. I would have been if we had lost because we've done this year what we wanted to. I hope the bubble doesn't burst."

Loser George Hill of The Citadel praised William & Mary for playing an outstanding game. "They could go all the way. We seem to be good luck for people. We lost to East Carolina last year and they won it, and if they continue to play like they did, I don't doubt that William & Mary will win." Joe Williams, Furman's coach, felt that his sophomores playing their first tournament, along with his big men, were tight in the first half, but loosened up in the second half and that made the difference.

"(Clyde) ... and Moose (Leonard) began to block shots and go to the boards well in the second half, and that helped to break us loose." In the first half, Williams felt that his defense was doing the job, but that the offense was too tight.

Press Maravich, his opponent from Appalachian, said he didn't really get excited when his team held Furman so close in the first half, trailing by only six at the intermission. "I knew that they had too much strength, size and depth for us. Eventually it would wear us down."

He acknowledged that he thought of a slowdown, but that you "have to have at least three ballhandlers for that, and the fact is that I don't have one."

Maravich said that Furman is his choice to win the tournament. "They have everything it takes. I'm not taking anything away from Davidson, but I think Furman has the better team." Woody Peele

Williamston Is Next To Fall

HIGH POINT — There were only two teams coached by women competing in the North Carolina Girls State Basketball Tournament at High Point Central gym...and only two teams in the field nicknamed Tigers.

Naturally the two squared off Thursday night in first round action and Williamston's young team is a little sadder and a little wiser today.

Williamston, off its normal game from the opening tap, fell to hot-shooting Ragsdale 62-35 to end its Cinderella season at 22-4. "We're a real young team," Williamston coach Susan Cox noted, "and this was supposed to be a rebuilding year for us. We start three freshmen and a sophomore and I think the pressure of the state tournament was a little too much for us. This was one of our poorest games of the year and Ragsdale is one of the best team's we've played."

The combination was too much to make a contest of it, Williamston falling behind 18-8 after the first period and 39-16 at halftime.

Ragsdale built a lead that climbed to as much as 32 points in the second half.

Williamston held an edge in rebounding, 36-31, but it wasn't enough to offset Ragsdale's outside shooting. The Tigers (western variety) hit 21 of 45 shots from the floor for a 46.6 game percentage. Ragsdale hit on 70 per cent of its shots in the first period.

Williamston suffered through a 13 of 56 (23.2 per cent) field goal performance and also committed 15 turnovers against Ragsdale's man-to-man pressure defense.

No Williamston player cracked double figures, although 10 Tigers put claw marks on the scoring column. Bet Brandon and Sissy Taylor each scored seven points to lead Williamston.

Dawn Allred, Ragsdale's junior point guard, paced the winners with 24 points, backed by 14 points from 5-11 center Gracis Simmons.

"We know Ragsdale had a real fine ball team," Cox added, "and we knew they passed well. I thought Allred was one of the keys to the game. She really shot well. Ragsdale at times played as well as I've seen North Pitt play and you know what kind of record they have."

Ragsdale coach Judy Flynn agreed that Williamston didn't play one of its best games.

"I thought the officials had a lot to do with it," she offered. "I thought the game was called very strictly. Both teams were tight and every time anyone seemed to be getting something going, a whistle would blow, so neither team could get over the jitters."

Ragsdale, now 25-2, moves into the semifinals tonight against Enka (25-1), a 70-36 winner over tiny Belhaven, the only Class 1-A school in the tournament. Another semifinals contest sends West Stanley, conqueror of North Pitt in the first round, against powerful East Lincoln. West owns a 21-5 record while East is the only undefeated team left in the tourney at 27-0.

Enka, which has a front line consisting of players 6-2, 6-0, and 5-11, destroyed Belhaven with 50 per cent shooting from the floor (25 of 50) and 80 per cent marksmanship from the foul line (20 of 25).

WILLIAMSTON (35) — Williams 2, A. Harrison 2, F. Harrison 4, Brandon 7, Robertson 2, Taylor 7, Goddard 2, P. Warren 2, D. Warren 2, Brown 2. RAGSDALE (62) — Sainting 2, Ozment 9, Walt 7, Simmons 19, Ralston 4, Allred 24, McLean 2. Williamston Ragsdale 8 8 10 9-35 18 21 11 42-82

Unsigned Make Up Good Team

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer Try this baseball team on for size:

Like to have those players? So would the general managers who haven't signed them yet.

As spring training swung into its second official day, a total of 90 major leaguers remained unsigned, although some like Rusty Staub of the New York Mets and Tom Bradley of the San Francisco Giants reportedly had agreed to terms and were heading for camp. Of the nonsigners, 59 are in the American League, led—if that's the proper word—by the Minnesota Twins with 10, the Kansas City Royals with nine, the Chicago White Sox with eight and the New York Yankees and world champion Oakland A's with seven apiece.

Why so many? "First of all," said Lee MacPhail, general manager of the Yankees, "the player negotiations delayed signing players a little bit and, second, the players all have agents now."

However, some decided to stop playing hard to get and start playing baseball. The Baltimore Orioles signed third base ace Brooks Robinson for a reported $105,000, down $5,000 from 1972. And Minnesota outfielder Tony Oliva, who underwent knee surgery after a virtually useless season, had his paycheck cut, too—from $105,000 to an estimated $96,000.

Other signees included Boston's Marty Pattin, Detroit's Fred Scherman, Montreal's Mike Torrez and Kansas City's Paul splittorf.

Final Game Set

R.B. Junior won the right to meet Little Mint in the championship game of the Ladies Basketball League Tournament with 40-35 decision over Beltone last night.

R.B. Jr. took a slim, two-point lead after the first half, 17-15 and struggled to take the win in the second half.

Vickie Davenport led the Beltone ladies with 12 and Sandy Barnhill had 10. Teresa Drewery has 17 to pace the winners.

Seniors Win

West Greenville Recreation Center's senior boys beat the Boys Club in a basketball game last night, 37-31.

West Greenville led all the way and took a 20-12 first half advantage. The Boys Club outscored them in the second half, 19-17, but could not get closer than the final margin of six.

Gene Wilson led the winners with 12 and William Taylor had 10 for the Boys Club.

No successor was named. Shaw will coach his team in its final game Saturday night at Williams against Amherst.

Tourneys Held

Two tournaments were held recently at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. One was a mixed handicap while the other was a Junior handicap event of nine holes.

Nancy Monroe won the mixed match with a one-under-par, 71. Dr. Wallace Wooles and Joan Hooper tied for second while a tie for third resulted between Dr. Ed Monroe and Curtis Martin.

The junior tourney was won by Julie White with a 2-under, 34. Conner Merritt took second, Karl Thurber finished third, and Graham Dempsey was fourth. They were followed by Mark Wooles who ended up in fifth position.

Lucas, the Knicks' center, usually has been able to connect from the top of the key, or even further out, against Milwaukee and draw the 7-foot-2 Abdul-Jabbar away from the basket. But this time he sank only four of 13 shots, and only one of his field goals came from as far away as 15 feet.

"The bomb had a bad fuse tonight—it fizzled for the first time in a long time," said Lucas, generally considered one of the finest outside shooting big men in the NBA.

Abdul-Jabbar, who sank 16 of 27 shots and grabbed 14 rebounds to help Milwaukee control the boards by a 53-45 margin, admitted Lucas' ineffectiveness was a big help.

"When he's really hitting, he's pretty tough for me," Abdul-Jabbar said. "This was a big win. If we're going to get moving, it's got to be soon."

In the only two American Basketball Association games, crippled Utah turned back Dallas 119-112 and Fatty Taylor's baseline jumper at the buzzer gave Virginia a 125-124 triumph over San Diego.

Three Collisions In Greenville Thursday

Three collisions investigated here yesterday resulted in one person being injured and caused property damage estimated at $2,300.

Heaviest damage, according to officers, resulted from an 8:30 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Fairview Way and involved a school bus driven by Alvin Henry Leroux of Greenville and Elbert Kent Averett of 106 Terry St.

Officers, who said no injuries were reported, set damage to the bus at $150 and estimated damage to the Averett auto at $800. Averett was charged by police with failing to obey the direction of a police officer. Investigators reported the Averett vehicle collided with the bus after allegedly Averett failed to stop for a school crossing guard at the intersection.

Robert Lee Braxton of 500 Church St. was charged with driving under the influence following investigation of a 10:50 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Moore Street.

Officers said the Braxton vehicle collided with a car operated by Lorenza Ross of Route 5, Greenville, causing an estimate $300 damage to the Ross car and about $500 damage to the Braxton vehicle.

Cars driven by James Edwin Cobb of 206 Berkshire Rd. and Reba Everett Barnhill of Route 2, Greenville were involved in a 1:07 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Second and Evans Streets, according to police.

Damage was set a $350 to the Cobb auto and $200 to the Barnhill car. Mrs. Barnhill was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety by officers, who reported a passenger in her car was injured in the collision.

Revival Series Begins Monday

A week long revival service will be held at St. Peter's FWB Church beginning Monday and continuing through Friday. Prayer service will begin at 7:30 p.m. nightly, with service to follow at 8:00 p.m. The Rev. West Shield will be guest speaker.

St. Peter's is located on Highway 43 near Vanceboro. Rev. J. L. Swinson is pastor.

Longevity 'Secrets' Often In Conflict

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Old folks who have lived to advanced ages often are asked how it's done. To what habits or rules do they attribute their long life? They offer a potpourri of prescriptions, religious and otherwise.

A collection of them was assembled in a recent issue of the Immortality Newsletter, a bimonthly roundup of antideath research and thought published in San Marcos, Calif.

It reports there currently are about 12,000 Americans who have lived more than 100 years, and presents this sampling of some of their formulas for achieving such longevity:

"Believe in God. Pray daily."
"Have a free mind. Don't fall for religious bunk."
"Never drink alcohol."
"Drink a pint of whisky per day."

"Read the Bible."
"Read spicy detective stories."
"Get plenty of exercise."
"Shun physical activity. Conserve your energy."
"Get plenty of rest. Sleep 10 or 12 hours per day."
"Never sleep over four hours per day."
"Sleep with your feet pointed south, so that magnetic vibrations from the north will pass through your body and out through your feet, ordering and harmonizing all systemic functions in the process."
"Sleep with your feet pointed north, so that magnetic vibrations from the north will pass upwards to your brain, with rejuvenating effect."
"Abstain from meat, eating only raw fruits, vegetables and nuts."
"Eat a pound of lean meat

every day."
"Abstain from dairy products."
"Eat only eggs, butter, milk and cheese."
"Drink plenty of water."
"Never drink water. 'A little wine for thy stomach's sake'."
"Smoke a corncob pipe continuously."
"Chew a plug of tobacco per day."
"Avoid tobacco in every form."
"Abstain from sex."
"Have plenty of sexual activity."
"Get plenty of sunshine. It is the source of all energy and health."

"Avoid sunlight. It causes cancer."
"Be at peace with yourself and all men."
"Be ornery. Have at least one good fight with somebody every day."
A. Stuart Otto, editor of the newsletter, comments: "Take your choice. Just don't try them all at once."

Import Of Beef Said Menaced

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sky-rocketing food costs, particularly for meat, may cause a new consumer push in Congress for repeal of a 1964 import-quota law which critics say threatens American hamburger-eaters.

President Nixon suspended meat-import quotas in 1972 and again this year so that Australia and other countries could ship more low-grade beef into U.S. markets. It is used mostly by meat processors and carry-out-food chains.

Although beef imports rose 20 per cent in 1972 and are expected to climb an additional 7.5 per cent this year, Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., says the law hangs as a stand-by sword over consumers and that it could be dropped by Nixon any time he sees fit.

"I don't trust the President on anything, and certainly not on this," Rosenthal told a reporter. "Beyond that, we don't keep laws that we don't need on the books."

Rosenthal has introduced a bill to repeal the 1964 meat-import-quota law and says rising product discontent over meat prices may help bring it to attention of Congress.

"There is a move today, a consumer revolution, for a boycott of meat," Rosenthal said. "Those who want to hold the line on quotas are making the biggest mistake of their lives."

Beef consumption has doubled in the past generation and supermarket demands appear to be snowballing, despite Rosenthal's contention that consumers may be rebelling over prices.

The 1964 quota law sets up a formula limiting imports according to U.S. domestic beef production. In recent years, those imports have been running at an equivalent level of about 6 or 7 per cent of what American cattle-producers turn out.

Rosenthal contends that U.S. consumer demand for beef is so large—and will remain that way—that American cattlemen cannot keep up with the supermarket orders, at least not at prices average families should pay.

The price situation was punctuated this week by an Agriculture Department report showing that retail beef cost an average of more than $1.22 per pound, up almost 10 per cent in a year. Cattle prices set record peaks last month, indicating that the meat-price spiral may be around for some time. Meat prices led the way in January's 2.5-per-cent food-price increase, the largest on record.

But the cattle industry, vigorously opposing any move to repeal the 1964 law, says ranchers are enlarging breeding herds and that more beef is coming to market. The growth must be gradual so that prices cattle producers get—an incentive for expansion—will not break down, spokesmen say.

Most Of POWs Are Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vast majority of returning American prisoners of war are officers, not enlisted men, because most of them are aviators commissioned for their military jobs.

That is in marked contrast to the ground wars of the past, when the men captured by enemies were more often the enlisted foot soldiers.

Of the 562 American prisoners listed by the Communists in Southeast Asia, all but 70 are officers, according to Pentagon records.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

SMALL GLASS LIGHT WINDOWS with shutters give this two-story, four bedroom home a Colonial look. There is a covered entry, foyer with guest closet and open stair to the bedroom level. The 20-foot-long living room has optional fireplace and three large windows for maximum light. The kitchen, with its 19 feet of cabinet space, is between the dining room and the sunken recreation room. The backyard play area also can be supervised from the kitchen work space. All four bedrooms have cross ventilation. There are 720 square feet of living space on the first floor, 162 in the recreation room and 898 on the second floor. Architect for Plan HA767Y is Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432. Anyone interested in knowing the price of the plan can write to him.

Chairmen For Festival

GRIFTON—Several committee chairmen for the annual Grifton Shad Festival, April 13-15, according to overall chairman Clifton Gentry.

Committee chairmen named include: Judy Teachey, co-chairman of the Shad Queen Contest; Gail Rogers, Queen's Ball; Mrs. Lind Linvill and Mrs. Jackie Herring, decorations; Mike Phillips, sound and light; Dave Rock, master of ceremonies; and Ken Carter, presentation of trophies and miscellaneous technical details.

Music for the Queen's Ball will be provided by the "Pride and Joy" band and admission is $3 per couple. The dance is for adults and high school age students.

The Queen Pageant will be limited to 20 or 22 candidates who will be sponsored by various civic and business organizations in the area. Guidelines for the event will be distributed to both candidates and sponsors.

Yes ___ No ___ My realistic conception of an ideal life is very different from that which I'm living now.

Did at least one question apply to you? If so, it's quite possible that you're not getting the most out of life. Only you know the reasons, but whatever they are, God can help you.

Among many other things in the Bible, He promises freedom and a new life to those who sincerely seek it.

Why don't you come to church this Sunday and let Him know that you want to be free of your chains?

To live a half-life when a full life is available isn't really like you.

Is it?

The 'Worry Clinic' Keep Mind On Your Prayers

Rev. Carlson shocked his congregation to the point where I heard murmuring in the pews. But his audience soon realized that he was correct. So when you pray, use the correct "Cosmic TV" dialing method which Jesus gave us! And make prayer a personal interview!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case V-506: Ronald Carlson, aged 24, was an unusual seminary student.

Over weekends, he'd handle a village church in Indiana where Mrs. Crane and I often attended.

On a certain Sunday morning he was leading the congregation in reciting the Lord's Prayer. "Stop," he suddenly exclaimed, midway of the prayers. "Don't say another word!"

Well, the audience began to feel incensed at this rude interruption of the Lord's Prayers. It seemed like sacrilege!

In fact, I could hear a murmur of disapproval among some of the oldersters around me.

"Listen to me," added Rev. Carlson.

"Most of you are merely uttering words without having your mind on what you are saying."

"You are praying mechanically."

"And I'm sure the Lord will not pay attention to such memorized phrases when you aren't even conscious of what you are speaking."

"So, let's go back to the beginning and start all over again."

"But this time, remember that you are talking to God and if you expect Him to listen to you, at least be conscious of every word you utter."

Then we all began again and I'm sure everybody paid more conscious heed to the Lord's Prayer that time than ever before or even since!

GOD'S TV CHANNEL

Jesus gave us the unique cosmic TV signal for tuning-in on God's busy day, when Christ advised:

"Whatsoever ye shall ask IN MY NAME, believing, ye shall receive!"

But I'm sure the Almighty expects us to be conscious of our personal "interview" with God.

For it would be insulting to ask Diety to pay attention to us when we aren't even aware of what we are saying.

Yet most of our memorized catechism and prayers (plus even the lyrics of our church hymns), are often recited mechanically.

Our mind may be far away on other things, yet we can sing or repeat such rote memorized prayers without missing a word.

But sometimes we are so perfunctory in our recitation that we even mix up the Lord's Prayer or the 23rd Psalm.

Indeed, the late Ernest F. Tittle, famous pastor in Evanston, once got confused midway of the Lord's Prayers.

Thereafter, he had that prayer, plus the 23rd Psalm, typed in bold letters and pasted on the podium so he would be able to read the lines correctly.

Many of you readers will of-tern look at your watch.

"What time is it?" your wife may then inquire.

And you don't know! So you must consult that watch again.

For your mind wasn't on what you were doing. You merely glanced at the watch from force of habit.

Likewise, don't indulge in prayers merely as habitual

Advisory Group Named For Studies Program

An advisory committee has been organized to assist in planning and directing a region-wide program of studies in international affairs based at East Carolina University.

The overall program is designed to acquaint and familiarize lay persons and interested organizations in Eastern North Carolina with many aspects of internationalism. Plans call for a series of seminars and discussion meetings.

"The idea is to bring to the attention of the citizenry the urgency of world affairs today, and the effect of world issues and problems upon the people of Eastern North Carolina," said

John A. Lang Jr., ECU Vice Chancellor for External Affairs. "It is intended to focus attention on the world outlook," he said.

The program is being coordinated by Lang and Dr. Kermit

King, director of the ECU Office of International Affairs. It is the first to be activated in the state under the North Carolina Commission on International Cooperation and funded with a U.S. State Department grant. Dr. Leo Jenkins, ECU Chancellor, is chairman of the N.C. International Cooperation commission.

Similar programs are to be based in the Research Triangle and at Asheville.

The advisory committee of citizens was organized at a meeting at ECU last week attended by representatives of civic organizations, business and industry, senior citizens, Tobacco Associates, women's clubs, churches and chambers of commerce.

Preliminary plans call for seminars on Europe to be held in March on Africa in April and on the Far East and Latin America later. Topic will include the European Common Market, exports, trade, travel, policy and specific areas of international interest.

mouthings of words that you aren't fully aware you are uttering!

And never insult God by failure to focus upon Him when you pray!

If you really want God to help your family or friends, visualize them in your mind, for this may then bring them into Divine Focus where God and you can both get a clearer cosmic TV picture of your requests!

Failure to provide against adverse distribution in the opponents' suit cost South a vulnerable game contract.

West's jump overall of three diamonds is based on a good suit and the reasonable expectation of being able to win six or seven tricks in his own hand, inasmuch as the bidder should be able to limit his loss to 500 points if he is doubled.

When North passed three diamonds, South was reluctant to merely rebid three hearts, which would not be forcing. Since he held 13 high card points and a good suit facing an opening bid, he took the bull by the horns and proceeded to game without further ado.

West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with the queen. Declarer covered with dummy's king, and East ruffed with the five of hearts. The latter switched to a small spade and South finessed the queen, which lost to West's king. The eight of spades was returned and declarer was in with the ace.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds and then a club was led and dummy's jack was finessed. When East turned up with the king, South's contract went on the rocks.

Finding both black kings offside and encountering a seven-one division in diamonds was admittedly unfortunate; however, declarer could have taken measures to protect himself against such extreme adversity.

If he permits West to hold the second trick with the queen of diamonds, East is unable to obtain the lead in time to make the fatal spade shift. If West continues with a third diamond, South can overruff East, draw trump, and then take the club finesse with the assurance that even if it loses, North's suit will provide the necessary discard to dispose of the queen of spades. His losses are restricted to two diamonds and one club.

Withholding the king of diamonds sacrifices a potential overtrick, but it provides declarer with control over the subsequent play and keeps the danger hand out of the lead. South should have paid greater heed to West's three diamond bid. The possibility of a seven card suit was by no means remote.

Cheaper Flights Through Canada

LONDON (AP) — Thousands of British tourists are trying to get to the United States by flying to Canada on cut-rate flights because of U.S. refusal to allow new, cheaper transatlantic fares, travel agents said today.

Canada has accepted British proposals for the lower fares on both scheduled and charter flights, but U.S. authorities turned them down, apparently because of the opposition of U.S. airlines.

Pleasure Boating Mushroomed

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor
BALLETINE, S.C. (UPI) — A fork-lift truck rumbles into a big steel shed, elevates and extends its padded arms, gently plucks an 18-foot yellow runabout from its storage bin, and lumbers out to deposit it in the water alongside a dock.

The waiting owner and his family clamber aboard, stow their picnic baskets, cast off lines and the boat roars out onto Lake Murray for a day cruse.

The scene is repeated hundreds of times each weekend at Wells Marina, one of thousands of handsomely-equipped installations that have sprung up on American waterways to serve the needs of 9 million people who own pleasure boats.

Recreational boating is one of the nation's fastest growing outdoor sports.

The National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers says Americans spent nearly $4 billion last year on boats, boat equipment, and related costs such as fuel and marina storage.

To save storage fees, many owners transport their boats to and from their homes aboard specially-designed trailers. These can be backed into the water at the concrete launching ramps which are located profusely around lakes, rivers, inlets and other waterways. Nearly 4 million boat trailers are now registered in the 50 states.

Houseboats, rapidly growing in popularity, are flat-bottomed, slow-moving boats meant to be anchored in one place most of the time. They make great weekend homes for water-loving families. Since they are designed for comfortable living rather than flashy performance, they are much roomier than cabin cruisers. In fact, a houseboat resembles a small floating cottage with a covered porch at each end. Again, costs range widely, depending on size and luxury of accommodations.

Saturday—leads to the conclusion that the typical powerboat is a 16-foot runabout with a 40-horsepower outboard motor. It cost about $2,500, complete with trailer.

One unfortunate aspect of boating's phenomenal rise in popularity is that some waterways now get dangerously crowded on summer weekends and holidays.

The perils of on-water collision are heightened by the fact that many new owners take their boats out and operate them at top speed without ever bothering to learn the "rules of the road" of water navigation.

Drunken driving also is a menace, on waterways no less than highways.

But a careful boat driver, like a careful auto driver, usually can anticipate and avoid these traffic hazards. And once you're gotten away from the crowded waters around the marinas, and into a lonely stretch of tree-lined lake where you can fish, swim, eat lunch or just nap in the sun—well, it's mighty peaceful and pleasant out there on the water.

Ireland Elects A New Govm't

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch prepared today to hand over Ireland's government to Liam Cosgrave, 52-year-old leader of a left-of-center coalition.

With 10 seats in the Dail still undecided, Cosgrave's Fine Gael-Irish Party—and the allied Labor Party had won 68 seats to 64 for Lynch's Fianna Fail—Soldiers of Destiny. Two independents also had been elected.

Cosgrave, with more than 30 years in the Dail, is a former foreign minister. Lynch's own foreign minister, Brian Lenihan, was one of the chief casualties of Fianna Fail's decline.

Lynch blamed the loss of key seats on "bad luck—a matter of a few votes here and there."

But it was clear his party suffered from the absence of front-bench talent to support his own personal appeal as a former sports hero. He fired key men in his administration who were accused in 1970, and later acquitted, of diverting government money to buy arms for the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army in Northern Ireland.

Without them, Lynch's government lacked able and experienced men in the key 45-55 age bracket. Another factor was the poor television showing of some ministers against intellectuals from the coalition's front bench.

The first big issue for the coalition will be Britain's coming blueprint for the future political shape of Northern Ireland.

Cosgrave has been in the vanguard of those in the republic denouncing the IRA and demanding curbs on its activities on this side of the border.

700,000 Sailboats
Registration statistics indicate America's pleasure fleet includes about 700,000 "pure" sailboats, 700,000 yachts with inboard motors or large sailboats with auxiliary power plants, and 5.4 million outboard motor boats, big enough to require licensing.

In addition, authorities estimate there are about 2.2 million smaller boats, mostly fishing craft, which are powered by outboards too small to require registration. (The rules differ from state to state, but the typical state law requires licensing of any boat with a motor of 10 horsepower or more.)

Sailboat operators traditionally look down on powerboats, to which they refer disdainfully as "smokepots."

Powerboat people retort it's a good thing for "ragmen" (sailboaters) there's someone around to tow them in when they're becalmed or pluck them from the water when their craft capsizes in a stiff breeze.

Within the powerboat fraternity, there are distinct strata. The upper class consists of cabin cruisers, usually 30 to 40 feet long, which are fitted out with sleeping accommodations.

Runabouts Popular
By far the largest class of powerboats are runabouts. As they name implies, they are designed for "running about" lakes or waterways for picnicking, water-skiing, fishing, swimming, or just for the sheer joy of whipping through the water at high speed.

Runabouts generally have no galleries, toilets or sleeping facilities. They are primarily for one-day outings on the water. They are driven by outboard motors ranging in size from 15 to 150 horsepower, or inboard-outboard motors, which may go as high as 260 horsepower.

The size and type of the motor is a major factor in determining the cost. You can buy a pretty runabout with adequate outboard power for around $2,500, or a deluxe model with high horsepower for $3,500 to $5,000.

Honors Season Begins With 'Grammy Awards'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The honors season officially gets under way this Saturday night when the CBS Television network broadcasts live coverage of the record industry's "Grammy" awards bash.

The show is coming from Nashville, Tenn., for the first time in the 15-year history of the event. Singer Andy Williams will be the master of ceremonies for the third consecutive year.

There are 47 award categories, ranging from "best inspirational performance" to "best album notes."

And there are more than 260 entries, ranging from "Papa Was a Rolling Stone" to a performance of Ravel's "Concerto in D Major for Left Hand."

Fortunately, we won't have to sit through all the awards and attendant speeches. The program only lasts 90 minutes and will feature just 12 categories of recording achievement, CBS says.

As usual, the televised portion of the show is overloaded with assorted popular, country and western and rhythm and blues music award and performers.

All the nominees came from an original list of 4,000 entries, submitted by members of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, according to George Simon, a NARAS consultant.

Simon, a veteran jazz chronicler and an editor-writer for 20 years on the now-defunct Metronome magazine, has more than a professional interest in this year's Grammy awards.

One of his nieces, singer Carly Simon, is a nominee in the category known as "best female pop, rock and vocal performance." She won the academy's "best new artist" award in 1971.

"I'm terribly proud of her," says Simon. "She's a wonderful, straight-ahead gal."

Gary Powers Today Flies Little Plane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. pilot whose name became a household word after his U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia in 1960 says he gets a touch of "stage fright" when he flies his Cessna Cardinal over the maze of Southern California freeways.

Francis Gary Powers, a former Central Intelligence Agency pilot, now reports freeway traffic conditions at least four times an hour from 3,000 feet for radio station KGIL.

Powers said in a recent interview that, although talking to an audience of thousands can be alarming, it is nothing compared to a CIA mission.

Thirteen years ago, Powers was 12 nautical miles inside the Soviet Union when something exploded beneath his U2. "My God, I've had it now," he remembers saying.

As the jet went into a twisting dive, he managed to pull himself from the cockpit and parachute to earth, almost landing on a Russian farmer.

The incident caused a East-West furor and resulted in the breakup of the 1960 Big Four summit meeting in Paris. Powers was tried and convicted in a Soviet court on espionage charges. He served 21 months in Soviet prisons before being exchanged for master spy Rudolf Abel.

Powers returned to the United States, resumed being a test pilot and wrote a book about the U2 incident, "Operation Overflight." He took the radio job in 1970.

N.C. Lifts All Hog Quarantine

RALEIGH (AP) — For the first time in six months no portions of North Carolina are under federal quarantine for hog cholera.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has lifted quarantines for parts of Gates, Hertford and Northampton counties. The last case of hog cholera reported in the state was in Gates County Jan. 16.

Mixed Drink Bill Studied

RALEIGH (AP) — The House Alcoholic Beverage Control Committee has begun consideration of a bill to set up a statewide referendum on liquor by the drink.

Committee Chairman Rep. Jimmy Love, D-Lee, said after Thursday's committee meeting that he plans to send the liquor bill to a sub-committee.

At issue is a measure that would allow counties or municipalities which now have ABC package liquor stores to allow mixed drinks to be sold in "mini-bottles" in Class A restaurants, providing the electorate approved the idea in the statewide referendum.

One committee member, Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, said he was going to offer amendments that would require—after the statewide Vote—areas wishing to have liquor-by-the-drink to submit the question again to a local referendum.

Tribal Warfare In East Africa

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A Belgian government official says there is "a serious situation" in the East African nation of Rwanda, where press reports say civil war has broken out again between two long-time enemy tribes.

A report from neighboring Burundi said Hutu tribesmen killed Tutsi students at the national university in Butare last week.

In 8 Years

HAMLET, N.C. (AP) — Seventy per cent of Carolina Power and Light Company's electricity in 1981 will come from nuclear power plants, the company's president said Thursday night.

Speaking at a civic club dinner here, Shearon Harris said "by the year 2000 nuclear power will be almost one-half of the generating source" of the nation's electricity, although in 1970 it supplied less than two per cent.

Harris said CP&L had decided on nuclear power because it is environmentally safer and provides cheaper power.

You've got a lot to live

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
