

Cease-Fire Deal At Wounded Knee As Talks Resume

By JIM WILSON

Associated Press Writer
WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Indians holding this historic village say they will not let a gun battle that injured two Indians jeopardize chances for a peaceful settlement of their armed confrontation with federal lawmen. The shooting came just before a cease-fire.

"We will use restraint rather than let this have a violent ending," said Dennis Banks, a Chippewa leading the takeover of Wounded Knee.

Banks, an official of the American Indian Movement (AIM), said late Thursday, "Maybe the government has jeopardized its position with the shooting, but I still hope negotiations can continue."

Negotiations to end 11 days of siege were to resume today, but no definite time was announced by either side. The peace negotiations held late Thursday night were a continuation of talks terminated by the government on Wednesday.

An intense exchange of gunfire occurred before the cease-fire was to go into effect. The cease-fire was announced first in Washington and was not known to all Indians when the shots were fired, a government spokesman said.

Jack Hushen, a Justice Department official, told newsmen Indians had initiated the shooting by firing on a government road-block. No comment was available from Indian spokesmen regarding which side had initiated the gunfire.

Hushen said the fire was returned by some of the estimated 300 federal marshals and FBI agents manning a perimeter around Wounded Knee, a hamlet on the Pine Ridge Reservation.

Hushen said federal authorities knew of one Indian who suffered a bullet wound in the hand and another who injured his leg. Newsmen inside the hamlet reported two Indians were shot, one in the hand and one in the leg. No identities were available.

The cease-fire agreement was reached shortly before a government deadline that would have allowed all the invaders of Wounded Knee to depart unarmed without threat of immediate arrest.

A clergyman in the village during the firing, the Rev. Wesley Hunter, said he and AIM leaders were discussing a three-point peace plan, which included the cease-fire.

Swimming Pool Funds Included In Improvements

By JERRY RAYNOR

Funds for a swimming pool for Greenville in the amount of $150,000 have been approved by City Council as part of a $342,500 capital outlay and capital improvement package to be financed from Greenville's 1972-1973 revenue sharing funds.

Recommendations for use of the revenue sharing funds, prepared by City Manager William Carstarphen, include major replacement items in the city's equipment inventory, several additional items of equipment, and improvements including street resurfacing and the construction of a swimming pool.

Major items in capital outlay are: Replacement of a 1953 GMC pumper truck for the Fire Department, $38,000; replacement of a front end loader, $25,000 and purchase of a containerized refuse truck, $23,000, both for the Public Works Department.

In capital improvement projects, street resurfacing in the amount of $45,000 is the major item other than the pool.

A recommendation for the council to take formal action to engage attorneys Louis W. Gaylord, Jr. and M.E. Cavendish as counsel for defendants in the suit filed by Mrs. Mary Moore on behalf of the estate of the LATE Mr. Connie James ended in a no-action tie vote on a motion by Clarence Gray to table the recommendation pending a guideline.

Voting against the tabling motion were Mayor pro-tem Percy Cox, Councilman Dr. Frank Fuller and Councilwoman Mrs. Mildred McGrath. Voting to table the motion were Councilmen Clarence Gray, William Dansey and John Taylor.

Mayor S. Eugene West was out of town for this meeting.

Defendants in the case are Chief Police Glenn Cannon and officers Charles Williamson and David Bullock.

Councilmember John Taylor has asked that an official guideline in the form of an ordinance be prepared to cover action in cases such as this "so that we will not have to flounder, but will have a guideline in writing."

Edward Carter and others in the audience raised the question of using taxpayer's money to hire lawyers for defendants in lieu of accepting court appointed attorneys. Carter also inquired about the possibility of some type of insurance that would provide funds for cases of this nature. "I wouldn't object to use of taxpayer's money to pay for insurance, but I strongly object to use of tax money to hire lawyers in this case," he said.

Councilman Dr. Frank Fuller stated "We are dealing with a basic principle here, a principle of good management. The difficulties now are that this principle is being clouded by circumstances."

No action was taken to change the current method of conducting municipal elections in Greenville. As a result, under new state laws, the city is now obligated to hire a full time registrar and to provide space for a registrar office.

Mrs. Myra Cain, chairman of the Greenville Board of Elections, explained the options available for the conduct of municipal elections. Basically, the two major options break down into a choice of the city's conducting its own elections, or placing the conduct of elections in the hands of county officials.

A report on the recruitment and training program for the Greenville Police Department was presented by Chief of Police Glenn Cannon, Training Officer Lt. Paul Jewett, and Guy Langston, head of the police training program at Pitt Technical Institute. The report was to inform council members of the status of the current recruitment and training program, and required no action.

Employment Total Is Up; So Is Unemployed Count

By NEIL GILBRIDE

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The total number of Americans at work rose sharply in February, indicating an expanding economy, while the unemployment rate edged up slightly, the Labor Department reported today.

Total employment rose nearly 800,000 to 81.8 million, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The total number of unemployed workers rose 170,000 to 4.8 million for a seasonally adjusted rate of 5.1 per cent of the work force. This was up from 5 per cent in January, the report said.

The report noted a substantial gain in the length of the average work week of 24 minutes to 37.3 hours for nonfarm payrolls.

The longer work week also helped boost average earnings of some 50 million rank and file workers by $1.50 to $139.48 per week.

The bureau said average weekly earnings were up $8.47, or 6.5 per cent, per week over the past year. Over the same time span living costs rose 3.7 per cent.

On a seasonal basis, an adjustment for normal developments, both the rise in employment and unemployment were smaller. The bureau figured the total increase in jobs at 570,000 and the total rise in unemployed at about 75,000 on the seasonal basis. The report called the unemployment situation virtually unchanged from January.

Nearly two-thirds of the increase in jobs was among women, the report said.

The nation's total employment has increased by 2.5 million in the past year, it said, while total unemployment has declined by nearly 600,000.

The big boost in jobs for women reduced their unemployment rate from 5.3 per cent to 4.9 per cent in January with a total of 1,577,000.

The unemployment rate for men edged up slightly from 3.3 per cent to 3.4 per cent with a total of 2,067,000.

The jobless rate for teenagers climbed from 14.3 per cent to 15.8 per cent with a total of 1,200,000.

IRA Claims Part Of London Bombing Gang Safely Back In Ireland

By ED BLANCHE

Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Members of the Irish Republican Army in Belfast said today that 10 Irish men and women being questioned by Scotland Yard about bomb explosions in London Thursday were part of the IRA squad that planted the explosives. But they claimed eight other members of the gang got back to Ireland safely.

Seven men and three women were arrested at London's Heathrow Airport shortly before cars packed with gelignite exploded outside the Old Bailey criminal court and the central army recruiting office in the Whitehall area. Two other booby-trapped cars were found in central London, and the explosives were removed.

The explosions killed one person, wounded 243 and blew out windows in neighboring buildings.

The sources in Belfast blamed the arrest of the 10 on the 24-hour rail strike in Britain Thursday protesting the government's anti-inflation curb on wage increases. Because of the strike, the 10 guerrillas stuck together instead of splitting up to escape via widely separated ports and airports, the informants said.

London police were searching for IRA sympathizers who reportedly sheltered the bombers after they slipped into England and provided them with the explosives and the cars to plant them in. No arrests have been reported from the dragnet.

During the night somebody in South London set fire to a Roman Catholic church, and a telephone caller told the priest, "That's for you, you Irish bastards!" Firemen doused the flames before they did much damage.

Bomb scares rippled through the downtown section of the city Thursday night, and several theaters were evacuated. Offices on Fleet Street, Britain's newspaper row, emptied one after the other as suspected bombs were reported. Police stations were swamped with calls from frightened or suspicious citizens.

Police squads blew up two suspicious cars outside the floodlit Houses of Parliament and the law courts. Neither held explosives. Army bomb

Low Level Of Airport Traffic

PARIS (AP) — Traffic at Orly and Le Bourget airports continued to an extremely low level today as a strike of civilian air controllers went into its 18th day.

Only eight foreign airlines maintained service into Paris.

Pilots of many lines have stopped flying to France because of a lack of confidence in military air controllers called in to replace the striking civilians, who want wage adjustments and the legal right to strike.

disposal experts blew up suitcases dumped outside the National Gallery and blocked off Trafalgar Square, in front of the gallery, but again no bombs were found.

The Belfast brigade of the IRA's Provisional wing apparently timed the bombings to coincide with the referendum in Northern Ireland on whether the province wanted to remain British or join the Irish Republic. Catholics boycotted the poll since the 2 to 1 Protestant majority, opposed to union with the Catholic republic, made the result in favor of Britain a foregone conclusion.

Judge Bars Ingram From Other Steps To Replace System

RALEIGH (AP) — Superior Court Judge James H. Pou Bailey has ordered Insurance Commissioner John Ingram "to take no further steps of any kind" to replace the state's assigned risk auto liability insurance plan with a reinsurance pool plan.

Ingram had announced his intention to abolish the assigned risk plan effective May 15. Judge Bailey's temporary restraining order was requested by the North Carolina Insurance Plan, the industry-run organization which handles the assigned risk program, and 18 major insurance companies.

Bailey signed the order at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, but it was not served on Ingram until late Thursday afternoon.

The judge said the appeal raised "serious questions as to the authority of the commissioner" to convert the assigned risk plan into a reinsurance pool.

Ingram's reinsurance pool would allow motorists to pick their insurance companies and agents and would let the companies reinsure high risk drivers by spreading the risk among other firms.

Under assigned risk, motorists considered high risks are assigned, without choice, to companies.

Legislation is pending in the General Assembly to set up a reinsurance plan similar to Ingram's. Bailey said, in an interview, "It seemed like we ought to leave it alone ... and do it once later on."

Investigators Find No Cause For Air Crash

By ROBERT B. CULLEN

Associated Press Writer
SILK HOPE, N.C. (AP) — Investigators could give no reason today for the crash of a military cargo plane Thursday which killed all 14 persons aboard, including 11 members of the Army's elite Golden Eagle's stunt parachute team.

The bodies of the paratroopers, who first had to have at least 200 freefall jumps to their credit before qualifying for the Golden Knights, and those of their chief and two pilots were brought by Army ambulance late Thursday from the muddy cornfield into which the plane crashed.

The plane, a C-47 enroute from the Knights' home base at Ft. Bragg, N. C., to Overland Park, Kan., plummeted into the ground near this central North Carolina crossroads shortly before 9 a. m.

"I heard it flying over, and it sounded normal except it seemed awfully low," said Hadley Harris, a farmer who lives about one-half mile from the crash site. "Then there was the sound of kind of a small explosion. A few seconds later, the whole house started to shake. I guess that's when the plane hit the ground."

Maj. Fletcher Jones, an information officer at Ft. Bragg, said he "wouldn't even speculate," why the Golden Knights did not jump to safety. He said the accident was being investigated and that until the investigation was complete, there would be no way to tell what happened.

Scattered around the cornfield were at least 10 unopened parachute packs and brochures which proclaimed: "Only the finest parachutists and soldiers in the Army are selected for the team."

Mrs. Alfred Newlin, on whose farm the plane went down, said she saw as it flew over her house.

"It came over our house from the south, and it sounded like a plane going down," she said. "I went out and looked up in the air. There was a lot of fog, and visibility was very poor. I saw it whirling with its nose down. A few seconds later I heard it crash."

Mrs. Newlin said she couldn't be sure, but "when it came through the fog it looked like it had only one wing."

The white, propeller-driven plane, trimmed in black and gold, was nearly unrecognizable as an aircraft after the crash. Its fuselage was torn with jagged holes and parts of the plane, including a wing and an engine, were half-buried in mud as much as 400 yards away.

GOING UP . . . Lester Burroughs has the distinction of being the first person to use the new bus for exceptional children. Jasper Carney handles the controls. (Reflector Photo)

By CAROL TYER

Reflector Staff Writer
It was an excited group of children who went to ride on the new bus for exceptional children one springlike afternoon recently.

The children are members of the trainable class at E. B. Aycock Junior High School and the reason for their elation was the bus with special equipment that is to be used exclusively for conveying handicapped Greenville children.

All but one of them filed onto the bus and took their seats—and then came the biggest thrill of all. They watched as double doors midway the right side of the bus swung open and their classmate, Lester Burroughs, was wheeled onto a platform flush with the ground by bus driver Jasper Carney. Once Lester's wheelchair was in place, Carney pushed a button and the platform was lifted hydraulically until it was level with the bus floor. Lester was then rolled up against the other side of the bus and his wheelchair was locked into place.

The bus has three sets of locks for wheelchairs. Carney closed the doors and got into his seat. The motor was running because it powers the lift.

"Buckle your seatbelts," Greenville City Schools Elementary Education Director Charles Ross said over the bus's loudspeaker system.

Once the trip around East Greenville was underway, Ross made a little greeting speech to the children. Then he let them listen to rock music on the bus's radio.

Riding with the children, besides their teachers, were all the persons who wrote the proposal for the federal grant which paid for 90 per cent of the bus. They were as follows: Walter N. "Skeet" Creekmore, director of the East Carolina University Remedial Education Activities Program; Charles Ross, mentioned previously; Mrs. Sarah Allen, area coordinator for the North Carolina Council on Developmental Disabilities; Mrs. Ann Harrison, coordinator of programs for exceptional children for the Greenville City Schools; and Boyd Lee, director of the Greenville Recreation Department.

The total cost of the bus was $9,900. Greenville City Schools paid 10 per cent of the cost to supplement federal funds received under the Developmental Disabilities Service Act.

The bus is to be used by the City Schools, in cooperation with

Ship Wedding Gifts To States

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-M. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning a June wedding here in Honolulu as that is where we are both from. It will be a large church wedding, and I am sure we'll be getting lots of wedding gifts.

We would rather not have to pack and ship these gifts to the mainland, so can you suggest a good way to tell people to please write down what they had in mind to give us, enclose the money, and let us make the purchase when we get to the mainland? Or don't you care for that idea?

STAR-BULLETIN READER

DEAR READER: Requesting money instead of a gift is awkward even tho the reason makes sense. If I were you, I'd pack and ship the gifts to the mainland.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man I met on the telephone by mistake. I was calling someone else and got the wrong number. We started talking and seemed to have a lot in common. I am 33 and divorced, and he said he was 39 and divorced. I gave him my phone number and he called me every night for two months and we'd talk for hours. Then we made a date to meet.

I had my hair done that day and even bought a new outfit so I'd look real sharp. When we met I almost fainted because he was so handsome. Just like I imagined him to be. He seemed to like me a lot that first night and asked me to go to a motel with him. I refused. We made another date and again he asked me to go to a motel with him. This time I went. I am not what you would call an "easy number," but I just couldn't help myself.

After that he quit calling me, but I'd call him and we'd talk a while. He hasn't asked to see me again and I am going crazy. I think about him night and day.

How can I get him to return my love, Abby? Don't tell me to forget him. I tried and I can't.

TELEPHONE SWEETHEART

DEAR SWEETHEART: He's seen your full line and it's no sale. [Next time, hold something back.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 65-year-old unmarried woman and I still feel young enough to dance. There is something that has annoyed me for years.

When I go to a dance I just sit there with the rest of the unaccompanied women while all the men look us over, and when one decides he wants to dance with me, he asks me. Abby, I feel that with Women's Lib giving women so many more rights, the ladies should be able to look the men over and decide who they want to dance with. Once in a blue moon they announce "Ladies Choice," then the ladies get to ask the gentlemen.

Will you please see what you can do to give us women a better break? They say a lady must wait for a gentleman to make the first move.

HOPING FOR A CHANCE

DEAR HOPING: Who are "they"? Next time you go to a dance, unaccompanied, look the gentlemen over, and when you see one you'd like to dance with, ask HIM. I'll bet he'll feel honored. And if he asks you why you did the asking, tell him Abby said it was all right. Gentlemen?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Charles Horne Gives Program

"The Energy Crisis" was the program topic for the meeting of the Ex Libris Book Club held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Brewer.

Director of Greenville Utilities Commission, Charles Horne was guest speaker. He told of the rapidly diminishing supply of fossil fuels—oil, coal and gas and pointed out the probability of turning to nuclear fuels.

He suggested that the way in which every citizen could aid in alleviating this crisis is by conserving the daily use of fuels and by supporting programs designed to develop the use of nuclear fuels.

Following a luncheon and the program, club members nominated officers for the coming year. Plans were finalized for a club trip to Edenton on April 3.

Bride's Looks Should Reflect Her 'Everyday' Appearance

NEW YORK (UPI)—Kenneth, one of America's top hairdressers, divulged a few secrets when he talked about the importance of the soft, contemporary look for engagement portrait sittings and through wedding day and honeymoon. The biggest secret? Look natural.

Kenneth advises brides to be prepared when they visit their professional photographers for engagement and wedding portraits. He told how, saying:

"Your appearance should reflect your basic self. If it doesn't, you'll feel tense, insecure and look it," says Kenneth, who has coiffed thousands of heads, including those of the most illustrious members of the jet set.

To reflect your best basic self, this master of the beauty world suggests that your hair be trimmed rather close to the time you have scheduled your portrait. It should be set gently, no extremes in line and combed into your best everyday look. In addition, makeup should be equally natural. An extra sweep of mascara to make lashes appear longer is allowed.

If your look is casual, wear a turtleneck, blazer or whatever your favorite daytime choice would be. A minimum of jewelry or none is suggested. If you like a dressier look, you will find that the best photographic results are achieved with the simplest possible neckline, so that your face will be the focus of your portrait.

Kenneth feels that your best wedding day look is one your groom will recognize as the most familiar. He suggests that you take your headpiece to your favorite hair stylist soon after you receive it. You are aiming for an enhanced everyday look, not something new and complicated, as well as unrecognizable to those who know you.

Stylist Needs Time

Your stylist needs plenty of time to experiment with such fillips as braids or curls. Giving him this time, Kenneth points out, will guarantee that you will be presenting your favorite mirror image on the day of your bridal portrait. The same successful coiffure can be copied, step by step, on the big day itself.

A great favor to your hairstylist and to yourself is to go at a time when he can experiment with your headpiece, preferably not on your lunch hour on the day before a holiday when the salon is packed.

If you're to be a wife who travels a lot, Kenneth advises having a blunt cut with sides a bit shorter than the back. That way, almost any stylist anywhere can transform your hair into curls or an evening look, if necessary.

You yourself can tie it back in all kinds of weather or even slip it beneath a new synthetic wig. These tips go for your honeymoon as well, when you may be exposed to the humidity of one of the romantic islands, ski winds or mountain dampness.

If you are short on time and money, as many student wives are, Kenneth recommends hair cut very short or in a long, silky style or "Buster Brown," needing only occasional trims.

Be prepared. Buy a selection of coordinated ribbons. There are new barettes, as well, up to the last minute adjustments.

Federal Cutbacks Are Painful

The cuts in federal programs really hurt a community when it comes time to replace such funds from other sources.

That is the situation Pitt County now faces. The county has been planning and depending on money from the Hill-Burton Act to construct a new hospital here. Voters approved a $9 million bond issue for construction of the modern and sophisticated hospital and at the time the expectation was that the Hill-Burton funds would be available to build the kind of hospital which it was felt was necessary.

Well the Nixon administration used the axe on Hill-Burton funds, as well as a number of other federal programs, and now it appears that the hospital building aid funds will not be forthcoming. Even if Congress votes them the administration can withhold spending the appropriated funds.

The $2 million needed to construct the hospital had to made up somewhere and the county commissioners Monday decided on applying for a low interest loan from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The money does have to be paid back, though, and since the funds are available no where else it means they will have to come from hospital revenues. So we can look for an added room charge—perhaps $3 per day—to pay off the bonds.

This is not an entirely new concept. Colleges and universities have been borrowing for years to building dormitories and other facilities with the money paid off in increased student fees. It is, however, a course the county commissioners would have preferred not to take. The outright grant would have been far better, of course, for local taxpayers and those who will be using the hospital.

While it may be nice talk about cutting federal programs and spending, when it hits home as had happened in the hospital financing, there is no doubt about it—it hurts.

Principle Made Less Abstract

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH—Representative government is the working out of the will of the people through the making of laws by those they elect to represent them.

Sen. Jack L. Rhyne of Gaston translates the abstract principle into practical politics in the cafes, shopping malls and street corners of his district.

"Every weekend I get out and talk to people wherever I find them," he explained. "I ask how they feel about issues, what they want me to be doing for them in the legislature."

As far as he's concerned, that's as important a part of his job as anything he does in Raleigh.

What an auto mechanic had to say has helped him make up his mind on abortion. The petition circulated by a beauty shop operator strengthened his opposition to ratification of the equal rights amendment for women.

The Senate defeat for ERA brought the spotlight to Rhyne, a first-term Senator who served twice in the House. Reacting to his own conscience and what he interpreted as the wishes of his constituency, he took the lead in the successful fight to withhold North Carolina's acceptance of the proposed change in the U.S. Constitution.

Turning the ERA Tide

He went on the floor the day of the debate with 23 firm votes counted for his side. "I really thought we were beaten," he recalled.

Rhyne spoke first for opponents. Many observers regarded his speech, unpolished in rhetoric but dramatic and persuasive, as a factor in the apparent switch of votes that gave a 27-23 margin of rejection for ERA.

The cracking voice that added drama to his speech was physical rather than emotional, Rhyne said. He had cancer as a young man, and an operation removed his salivary gland.

"I felt like I was talking with a mouthful of dry sand. I couldn't help it," he said.

In the aftermath, Rhyne sponsored a bill to insert an equal rights for women clause in the state constitution. He said he will fight as hard to get it passed as he fought to defeat the federal amendment.

The form of the Rhyne amendment doesn't please ardent ERA proponents, and they many turn out to be foes again.

Let People Speak

If the legislature accepts it, the change in the state constitution would go on the ballot with a chance for the people to speak their mind. A referendum, Rhyne commented, is a valid tool for the determination of the public will.

The brush with cancer made Rhyne do some deep thinking. He was 23, with a pregnant wife and one child. One of six children of a Baptist preacher and textile mill hand, he had made his own way in a variety of occupations.

"I had lived that long and never really considered anything but my own well-being, myself and my family. I thought, 'If God is good enough to allow me to live on, I am going to do something to benefit others,'" he recalled.

The example of President John F. Kennedy in the early '60s, and his inspiration for young people to involve themselves in government, turned Rhyne in the direction of politics.

A Youthful Start

A Democrat, he was elected major of Belmont, his hometown, at 28. That made him at the time the youngest elected mayor in the United States.

He got a piece of the action in representative government when he won a House seat in the 1969 session. The legislative process fascinated and challenged him.

Self-government has no equal as a political system, he affirmed. "I guess I'm a populist at heart," he said. "I believe I am supposed to represent my people and go with what they want from their government."

Lawmakers spend a lot of time talking to each other and to the experts, Sen. Rhyne observed. That tends to create a vacuum insulating them from the folks back home. It can lead a legislator to conclude he knows better than the people what is best for the people.

"Don't you believe it," Rhyne advised. "The people have a lot more sense than many of us are willing to give them credit for. They live with the issues while we are just talking about them."

He has a further goal—the U.S. Congress, the world's greatest representative body. No timetable is laid out, but two, four or six years from now he could make the race.

"When the time's right, I'll do it," he said.

Ambition won't take away his right to take a stand, regardless of controversy. "The people expect me to speak up on matters of great importance," he said. "Just as I expect them to speak to me on how issues affect them."

Ramsey Lauds Work To Date

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH—House Speaker Jim Ramsey of Roxboro says he feels industry people are the ones who are trying push for the abolition of the soft-drink tax in the Tar Heel General Assembly.

"I've been around and have talked with many people," Ramsey told me in an interview, "and I don't think there's a grassroots movement to do away with the soft-drink tax. I don't think the people are upset with it. I think they want to keep it and get the state services."

Meanwhile, the rumor runs rampant in this city that Gov. Jim Holshouser might have something new to say on taxes within 30 days or six weeks.

The rumor, which is impossible to confirm, has it that Gov. Holshouser might go back before the General Assembly and ask for the abolition of the soft-drink tax and an increase in the tobacco tax.

Such a bill has already been sponsored in the State Senate by Mike Mullins, a Republican from Mecklenburg. If indeed Holshouser does offer such a message, it would be certain to kick off a wave of controversy and create quite a fight in the Legislature.

House Speaker Ramsey says he isn't sure how any move to abolish the soft-drink tax would fare in the House.

"Some men were committed in their campaigns to the industry people to abolish the soft-drink tax," Ramsey said. "I feel sure some of these men would like not to vote on it at all."

As for the tobacco tax, Ramsey tells me he feels "it will stay about as is."

Ramsey says the showdown on taxes will come at the end of this month or early in April, when the Finance Committee starts talking about taxes such as soft-drink, tobacco and inventory.

There's also been a small move to do away with the food tax, but Ramsey says: "There is absolutely no strong movement to do away with the food tax."

Ramsey says he's been quite happy with the job the Democrats have done in the Legislature, working in the shadow of the century's first Republican Governor.

"Some things we're doing might not surface this time," he said. "We're working hard to solve the housing problems but that probably won't surface this session. The Committee on Roads has also done a good job. Every time a good idea pops up there, I see the Secretary of Transportation."

The General Assembly hopes to get out of town by May 11.

"This Legislature has accomplished a great deal," Ramsey said. "I think without question it's the hardest-working General Assembly the state has ever had. And the members have been well-acquainted with what they've had to vote on. People have done their homework. We have plenty of work to do, but I'm well-pleased with what has been accomplished up to now."

Opinion In Brief

Saving The U.S. Dollar

WASHINGTON — The tragedy of the United States is that, while it is militarily the greatest power in the world, it can't do much when everybody starts dumping the American dollar.

We have been so busy defending our honor in Southeast Asia that we haven't been able to defend our money in Europe. I believe that one of President Nixon's biggest mistakes has been his optimism about the American economy. He keeps assuring everyone that inflation is licked, wages are being stabilized and 1974 is going to be a great year for the nation's balance of payments.

The European mentality is such that the more affirmative the American President sounds about our economy, the more suspicious European bankers and money speculators become.

Having lived abroad for a long time I know how the people over there think, and I believe the the only thing that can save the dollar is for President Nixon to stop reassuring everyone that it is healthy.

I think it is essential that the President go on worldwide television, via satellite, and make the following statement:

"My fellow citizens of the world, I wish to speak to you tonight about the American dollar. I must make it perfectly clear that despite stories to the contrary, the dollar has never been in worse shape. If Pat and I lived abroad, I would sell every American dollar I had. Our economy is hopeless and my Administration does not have any solutions for saving it. I predict U.S. production will go down, wages will go up and our balance of payments will be in a shambles."

Other Editors Say Budget Control

(Raleigh Times)

It's easy to understand why the Republican leader would like to arrange for the Advisory Budget Commission to be Republican controlled. To do this, he'd like to have a change in the law to permit Republican Governor Jim Holshouser to appoint all members of the Commission instead of just two.

If that plan were adopted, the Budget Commission would lose the four members who bring to it the most background and experience, the chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations and finance committees. Those chairmen spend countless hours of work on financial matters during a legislative term, and are able to bring that expertise to the business of making a new budget for the next legislature to consider. This experience was the major reason for making them ex-officio members of the Budget Commission.

Of course, as long as the legislature is controlled by Democrats. The two who will be appointed by Governor Holshouser will be Republicans, but the Commission still will be controlled by Democrats.

Senator Charles Taylor of Transylvania County, the Senate's Republican leader, feels that the Commission should be controlled by Republicans, since the Governor is Republican and since the Governor is charged by law with presenting a budget to the legislature. So, he is considering a proposal to permit the Governor to appoint all the Commission members.

It is true that the Governor must submit the budget to the legislature. But, it is equally true that the adoption of a budget is the final responsibility of the legislature. Because of that factor, the legislature should have a major share in preparing the budget. The presence of the four money committee chairmen on the Budget Commission does give that needed legislative budget. And, as a general rule, the four chairmen are members of the next legislature and their budget experience is available even if they shouldn't be committee chairmen again.

The Governor can have a powerful voice in shaping the budget, and he should have that voice. But, the legislature should continue in the dominant position—whether the legislature is controlled by Democrats or Republicans, and whether the Governor and the legislature are of the same political party.

Nursery School Plateau

By RICHARD L. STERN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The phone rang one evening not long ago and a woman informed me that our daughter, Alison, had been accepted at the Bank Street School.

My wife, Stephanie, who was taking a bath when the phone rang, sprang from the tub, a broad grin sweeping across her face.

Our daughter, age 2, had made it. She had been accepted at nursery school. Her future was assured.

For those of you around the country who take getting into nursery school lightly, be forewarned. There are few nursery schools here and they are very fussy.

A good friend of my wife's tells of being on the delivery table. The obstetrician strikes her newborn son on the rear. Then smiling, the doctor turns to the groggy mother. He says: "If you need to get him into nursery school, remember I'm on the board of directors of ... — the school shall remain nameless."

As Alison approached the age of 2, my wife more and more frequently brought up the subject of nursery schools.

Soon it became a major topic of conversation among friends who also had 2-year-olds since applications for admission to schools at age 3 had to be made about a year in advance.

Brochures began appearing around the house. "Montessori concept," "open classrooms," "structured but liberal," "unstructured but classical."

I took it all fairly lightly until one day when Stephanie, a television editor, attacked my seeming lack of enthusiasm.

She explained in rather loud and explosive terms how if Alison couldn't get into nursery school our daughter's entire life might be ruined. She went on to relate how Alison might never be able to do such things like follow in her mother's footsteps at the University of Michigan ... and the Michigan Daily etc ...

As we—actually my wife—began mailing out applications, the conversations with our friends took on a note of panic.

Each application was accompanied by an application fee. The lowest was $15, the most $25. But the application fees assure nothing.

Strength For Today

WORLD RELIGION

The world says, "Charity begins at home," but for the Christian believer charity begins wherever there is anyone in need. Every situation which presents a human need demands that we respond as sincere followers of Christ. It was said of him that he went about doing good. His true followers have always been those who would follow in the steps of the Master.

Christianity is a world religion. Christ himself proclaimed in his great commission that the disciples were to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every nation. The disciples at first felt that this commission referred to the preaching of the gospel to Jews in all places, but the work of the Holy Spirit later disclosed that going into all the world meant the good news of Christ's redemption both to Gentiles and to Jews.

The Christian believer needs to be ready to give a reason for the faith that is in him. Christian believers are certain that Jesus Christ is the answer to the world's greatest problems. Without him we are in a hopeless mess. With him to guide us both in individual life and in national and international affairs we can be sure that the end will be a transformation indeed of the world's life. Christianity might have become a mere sect. Under the leadership of the Holy Spirit Christianity had become a world religion. Many non-Christians today refer to Jesus as "His Excellency Jesus." Plans of all kinds are necessary to keep the world safe for democracy and decency, but if we are wise Jesus Christ stands at the center of those plans.

Again Confer On Dollar's Fate

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States, Canada, Japan, Indonesia and 11 West European countries were getting together today to see if they can bring the falling dollar back up through the floor set less than a month ago.

The key figures were Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, Paul A. Volcker, his undersecretary for monetary affairs, and Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. They have said that the devaluation Feb. 12 set a good price for the dollar but they have never promised to spend anything to support it.

Finance Minister Willy de Clercq of Belgium was chosen to tell the Americans what the nine Common Market countries want done. The countries are West Germany, France, Britain, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Ireland, Luxembourg and Denmark. Sweden and Switzerland were the other European participants.

The French national bank was the last to give up the attempt to maintain the floor under the dollar. That was a week ago. West Germany and other Western European countries had already decided they could no longer afford to buy up dollars to maintain the fixed rate; the dollars were coming in too fast from businessmen convinced the rate would go down.

It did as soon as the official support was withdrawn. For example, the West German mark closed Thursday at 2.77 to the dollar, the highest price all week. This put the dollar more than 2 per cent below the official floor and a third less than it was a decade ago.

In dealing with currency rates, governments are heavily concerned about exports. President Nixon's administration devalued twice in 14 months so that the United States could sell more goods abroad and bring its inflow of money closer to the outflow. Governments in the Common Market fear that if there is much more devaluation of the dollar they will not be able to sell their products and they would risk recession, unemployment and unrest.

French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, the chairman for today's meeting, told a television audience Thursday night: "The Common Market countries want to maintain the relationship of their currencies without being drawn into a collective upward revaluation which would weaken their competitive position."

That was why their finance ministers or their chief aides drew up a three-page list in Brussels Thursday of what they want the United States to do.

One way or another, the Common Market governments say, the United States should cut down the $90 billion now estimated to be deposited outside the country.

All the suggested ways would cost the United States something. It would have to sell some of its gold, borrow foreign currency, restrict the freedom of Americans to take their money out of the country or risk a recession by pushing up interest rates.

One idea is to bar international firms based in the United States from shifting their funds from one currency to another, a major element in recent crises.

Luckily for us, for the first year she'll only be going four afternoons a week. That will cost us about $1,350 for the year plus another $250 for transportation.

A few nights ago I was looking over the Bank Street brochure and started figuring.

At present prices when Alison is 4 it will cost about $2,000 a year for five mornings a week. If she stays in the school for first grade figure about $2,500. That means it will cost about $20,000 by the time she's through the seventh grade.

I stared at the figures for a minute, then I looked up at my wife.

Then the Swiss banker would pick up another phone. It is the head of a London insurance company calling. "I don't like it," The British businessman would say. "He kept wiping his lips while he was talking. The man's lying through his teeth. Get me out of yen and into dollars immediately."

The French consotium would call in next. "Et izz an American double-cross," the Frenchman would say. "They want to buy their dollars back cheap and stick us with gold. Zut! We will feex then. Sell all our gold and buy dollars tout do suite!"

Panic would ensue amongst the Arab oil sheiks.

"The Americans are trying to sink us by making us sell our dollars. Buy back all the dollars we sold, plus $500 million more, and don't worry what you have to pay for them. No wonder they call him Tricky Dick."

By the end of the day, the orders for American dollars would be so great that the money markets in Europe would have to close. A group of bankers would fly over to the Smithsonian Institution to discuss with American bankers ways of saving their own currencies. But Nixon would remain firm and insist the dollar was still the only money in serious trouble.

If Mr. Nixon had the courage to follow this game plan, he could go down as the greatest President in American economic history.

Mrs. Hayes To Direct Survey

Mrs. Myree Hayes of East Carolina University has been named Pitt County chairman for a statewide survey of child-care facilities.

The survey is being conducted by the Learning Institute of North Carolina with the assistance of volunteers across the state. The county chairman will recruit volunteers to survey nurseries, kindergartens, day care center, and Head Start programs, as well as individuals running small day care or babysitting operations in their homes. Questions will cover present and maximum enrollment, operating costs, enrollment policies, educational and health requirements for staff members, parent involvement, and use of services provided by public agencies. Information gathered will be confidential and individual child care facilities will not be identified in the final report.

Dr. Richard Ray, the LINC executive director, said the study is the first of its kind in the nation and will provide valuable information on statewide basis for those who wish to expand and improve child care services.

"We have good evidence that about half the 630,000 children under six in North Carolina are enrolled in some kind of out-side-the-home program, Ray said. "We don't know what kind of care is being provided, or whether additional facilities are needed. The statewide survey should help in answering these questions."

The survey is being conducted with the assistance of a new advisory group, "The Children's 100." This group also will

Another Try On Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government lawyers will ask the Supreme Court today to decide the fate of the long-delayed trans-Alaska oil pipeline, sources said.

Construction of the proposed pipeline was delayed for more than two years by a lawsuit filed by three environment groups, and then was blocked completely with a decision by seven judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals here last Feb. 9.

The appeals court ruled that the 1920 Mineral Leasing Act permits a right-of-way no more than 54 feet wide for the proposed pipeline across federal land, too narrow for construction to take place.

The court refused to rule at all—at that point—on whether the Interior Department has satisfied a legal requirement to study environmental impacts and alternative routes.

The department said it would ask Congress to change the right-of-way provisions of the law. But it also wants the Supreme Court to overturn the appeals court ruling and to get a decision in the government's favor on the environmental-impact question.

Mystical 40 Days Of Lent Are Begun

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The number 40 recurs like a refrain in Biblical events and it marks the length of an age-old observance that Christians began this week — the 40 days of Lent.

Nowadays, however, it has a different emphasis than it once did. Attention now is focused not so much on doing without something as on doing something in a positive sense to improve oneself and the conditions of others.

Oratorical Contest Set

The annual Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the Evening Optimist Club of Greenville, has been scheduled for Monday, April 2.

The contest and presentation of awards will be held at the Woman's Club building and will begin at 7 p.m.

The official subject for this year is "Listen World." Optimist Clubs throughout Canada and the United States conduct oratorical contests for boys under 16 years of age.

Local winners are eligible to enter district contests and the winners of the district oratorical contest are presented college scholarships.

The contest is open to all boys in the Greenville City and Pitt County Schools, who have not reached their 16th birthday as of Dec. 31, 1972.

Boys interested in competing should contact E. R. Carraway, contest chairman, 1605 Beaumont Dr., Greenville, 27834.

Trio Denuded A Money Tree

PAGELAND, S.C. (AP) — Three men have been arrested in the denuding of the money tree at the Peoples National Bank at Pageland Thursday.

The bank had hung $25 in bills and a number of coins from a small tree in the lobby as an advertising gimmick. Officers said the back door of the bank was broken through and the tree stripped before dawn Thursday.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation office at Columbia announced a few hours agents had arrested Raphael McIlwain, 24, Riverdale, Md.; Charles A. Crawford, 23, Lancaster; and Gary Lee Davis, 20, Heath Springs on charges of breaking, entering and stripping the tree.

The trio was to appear before a magistrate today.

The new church edifice will be built on seven and one half acres of land and will be of contemporary architecture. Boy with a BRIGHT Future in Business

• IF BOYHOOD business enterprise is any indication of a successful adult career, there's a top-flight future in store for your hustling young newspaper carrier. Already he is acquiring and showing so many of the qualities which make for leadership and good citizenship.

As a young fellow in business for himself, your carrier is making spare time pay four-way dividends. He's earning a steady income, saving money, learning business methods, and serving the community at the same time.

ALL OF which, added to his regular schooling, is making him a popular and responsible young businessman today — and giving him a head start toward success in whatever life work he may undertake tomorrow! Does YOUR son have a newspaper route?

deriving from the 40 days that Jesus fasted in the wilderness before beginning his ministry.

However, the figure 40 is one of those mysteriously recurring time measurements in the Bible, a kind of "holy" number.

In the flood for which Noah built his ark, it rained for 40 days and 40 nights. The children of Israel wandered for 40 years in the wilderness. Moses spent 40 days and nights atop Mount Sinai when he received the 10 Commandments.

Forty hours elapsed from the moment Jesus died on the cross until His hour of Resurrection. The period of the Resurrection appearances lasted 40 days before Jesus ascended into the divine sphere.

The 40 days of Lent doesn't include Sundays, which were not "fast days" in the older modes of observance, when the emphasis was mainly on restricted diets and self-denial, which often took trivial forms such as foregoing sweets.

Roman Catholicism, in the changes of the mid-60s emanating from the Second Vatican Council, abolished its Lenten rules limiting eating to one full meal with meat a day, leaving it up to individuals to choose more meaningful ways of observing the period.

Episcopalians, Lutherans and other Protestants that observe Lent previously had moved away from the dietary formulas and put the emphasis on positive steps for deepening com-

TIME and TIDE

Curious, isn't it, how people look at life so differently? To some there is an irresistible desire to cope with the tides of life by escaping from dullness to new lands and faces. To others the answer seems to lie in the foaming breakers, with the sinister desire to end existence completely. And yet to others the waves of life speak of plan and order and a sureness and perfection in creation.

And so it is with time! One person begrudges every second as a relentless march toward the end of life. Another sees the sands of time as a slow and painful journey. And to still another, it is the golden passing of each day ordered and well-planned.

What shapes these different viewpoints? The Christian sees, in the certainty of seconds and the regularity of tides, a revelation of the order and beauty that God perfects in His works.

Every man needs God and His Church to give his life its noblest point of view.

Ask Veto Power In Senate Bill

RALEIGH (AP) — Republican leadership in the General Assembly wants North Carolina's next governor to have the power of veto and they want him and the lieutenant governor to be able to succeed themselves.

Measures to amend the state Constitution to accomplish this were introduced Thursday by Sen. Charles Taylor, R-Transylvania, Senate minority leader. Legislatures in the past have refused to approve the veto for the governor or to let him succeed himself.

Taylor said his bills "have been a part of the Republican platform for some time and have the support of Gov. Jim Holshouser."

Says Films Not Entertaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actor Rex Harrison says he thinks films are no longer entertaining.

"I used to go to the movies to be entertained," Harrison, who won an Oscar for his role in "My Fair Lady," told newsmen after a National Press Club luncheon Thursday.

But, the 65-year-old British actor said, "I don't think there is much entertainment value in today's films. I don't enjoy endless brutality, but the only things that seem to make money are sex and brutality."

Arrest Boy For Break-In

Alan Ray Otis, 17, of Rt. 3, Greenville has been arrested by Pitt County deputies and charged with the Feb. 28 breaking, entering and larceny of the G. R. Whitfield School at Grimesland.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Otis is charged with the theft of some $2,000 worth of equipment from the occupational laboratory of the school.

Among the items reported missing following the break-in was a tool set, electric saw, two electric drills, three electric sanders, a portable generator, movie projector, typewriter, two film strip projectors, two record players, two cassette recorders, a portable public address system and three tape recorders. The sheriff said that most of the equipment was recovered.

He noted that approximately $50 worth of damage was done to the building during the break-in.

Otis is under a $3,000 bond and a hearing has been scheduled for March 21 in District Court here.

Investigation of the incident is continuing, the sheriff said.

Charged With Son's Murder

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Jacksonville father is facing a murder charge in the death of his 2½-year-old son last December.

Thomas Rodney Taylor, 26, manager of a department store in Jacksonville, was arrested yesterday by detectives.

Sgt. James Hassell said an autopsy report received this week from the state medical examiner's office indicated Taylor's son had been beaten to death. Authorities said the child was dead on arrival at Onslow Memorial Hospital December 29.

A warrant was filed Thursday charging Taylor's wife, the dead child's stepmother, with aiding and abetting murder.

Checks Given To REAL House

The Episcopal Diocese of East North Carolina and the Greenville Jaycees this week both contributed to the operational fund of Greenville REAL House, an organization serving students and the general community in Greenville.

In a brief ceremony on Thursday, Miss Brenda Cameron, a student at Pitt Technical Institute who will be working with REAL for a ten week period this summer, accepted the contributions on behalf of Dudley Culp, REAL Director.

Presenting the checks were Rev. William Hadden of Greenville for Bishop Hunley A. Elebash of Wilmington, Bishop of the East North Carolina Episcopal Diocese; and Floyd Little for the Greenville Jaycees. The Episcopal contribution was for $1,000; that of the Jaycees, $785.

Rev. Hadden noted "REAL House in Greenville received $5,000 from the National Episcopal Charge when the program was first organized here. This check today is to assist in the continued operation of REAL in Greenville." Rev. Hadden has been one of the Greenville ministers working with REAL since it's founding.

The Jaycee contribution, Little explained, "is the result of our February 17 special radio project, Gold Revue, over WNCT-Radio to raise funds to assist the REAL program." The Greenville Jaycees have also made previous contributions to REAL.

Miss Cameron, of Asheville, is a student in the Mental Health Associate program at Pitt Technical Institute, a two year course headed by Mrs. Margaret French. Miss Cameron and another student, Tom Leigh of Goldsboro, will both be working for a ten week period at REAL as part of their course curriculum. Their work will be supervised as a credit course by instructors at Pitt Tech.

REAL Director Dudley Culp said "we are grateful to receive these checks. These contributions will be a big help to us in our operations."

He gave examples in a speech Thursday to a civic club in Charlotte, but declined to disclose names and exact places. He said such information would jeopardize investigations.

Morgan cited: —The slaying of "known drug dealers" in Charlotte and other places in the state in the last year or two. "It appears from all indications that these slayings were part of the power struggle to gain control of drug distribution in this state."

—The recent arrival in North Carolina of a "known member of a Cleveland (Ohio) organized-crime family." Morgan said the man moved to North Carolina, bought a motel, and "appears to be actively engaged in gambling operations."

Miami Beach Boils Water

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Six hours after a health official announced that Miami Beach residents should boil drinking water because of possible contamination, the White House ordered two chlorination pumps flown to this resort city.

Dade County Health Director Milton Saslaw told the Miami Beach City commission meeting Thursday the city's water supply apparently became contaminated with coliform bacteria — associated with waste matter — when chlorinating machines malfunctioned.

Saslaw said the warning to residents to boil their drinking water was "merely a safety precaution. No illnesses have been reported."

Thursday night U.S. Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., arranged through the White House and the General Services Administration to have two 17,000-pound chlorination pumps flown to Miami from a Civil Defense base in Anniston, Ala. Dade County Manager Ray Goode said the water would be safe to drink without boiling by Saturday.

The Philippines, Puerto Rico and Guam were ceded to the United States by the Treaty of Peace with Spain Dec. 10, 1898.

Schools See New Fights

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Some fighting between black and white students, and continuing tension, were reported Thursday in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg County school system, the state's largest.

Junior high schools figured in most of the day's disturbances, marking the sixth school day of unrest.

West Mecklenburg High School, which has figured in earlier violence, was the scene of a lunchtime fight which resulted in the arrest of the two combatants, a white student and a black student.

A white student and a black student also fought at Smith Junior High School, touching off a fracas involving about 30 students, but officials said the situation was brought quickly under control.

Eleven students were suspended at Smith, a spokesman said.

Fights also were reported at Northwest Junior High, and a "tense situation" reportedly was broken up at Quail Hollow Junior High.

Allowed To Raise Dam

GREENSBORO (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers has been given permission to raise the permanent dam of the $59 million New Hope Lake project to 202 feet above sea level to replace a temporary dam built to that level. The temporary dam was damaged by heavy rains.

U.S. District Judge Eugene A. Gordon made the decision Thursday. He said a permanent dam at that level in Chatham County would offer downstream communities greater flood protection than does the temporary dam.

He tied that to an expression that he and the lawyers were talking in terms of a year's time until he entered a final decision on whether the New Hope project should be halted, altered, or allowed to be completed. Conservationists seek to stop or alter the project.

The base of the dam is at 160 feet above sea level, and the decision will allow the corps to raise the permanent dam about 42 feet to reach the 202 foot level of the temporary cofferdam. The completed dam is designed to reach 266.5 feet above sea level.

Council Hits Snag On Commission Appointee

A three cornered power struggle is shaping up in City Council over the appointment of a member to the Greenville Utilities Commission.

Thursday night, three nominees were placed on the floor for the vacancy created by the expiration of the second two year term of William L. Whedbee.

Councilman William Dansey opened the floor by nominating E. Eugene Prescott, a member of the accounting firm of Worsley, Farley and Prescott, Inc. Miss Gwen Potter, an associate professor in the School of Business, East Carolina University, was nominated by Councilwoman Mildred McGrath.

The third nominee, offered by Councilman John Taylor, is Roderick Phillips, a Greenville mortician.

With three nominations facing the council, Dr. Frank Fuller offered a motion that the matter of appointment be tabled until the April meeting. This motion passed on a three to two vote (Councilman Percy Cox presided as mayor pro tem), with Dansey and Taylor casting no votes.

Immediately after the vote was taken, however, Councilman Clarence Gray asked what he had voted on, and when told he had voted on Dr. Fuller's vote to table nominations until April, Gray changed his vote to no, resulting in a 3-3 tie on the issue.

The tie resulted in no action taken, and the appointment will be taken up in April.

VICTORY RIDE FOR HERO — Phil Perry of Wake Forest, gets a victory ride by his teammates after he scored the game-winning goal in an overtime against

North Carolina Thursday at the Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournament. The Deacons won the upset game, 54-52. (AP Wirephoto)

By KEN ALYTA

Associated Press Sports Writer GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Carl Tacy, who never had even seen an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament game until his Wake Forest team jolted North Carolina, the nation's No. 8 team, 54-52 in overtime Thursday to open the tournament, sends his Deacons out after another miracle tonight.

The semifinals target is Maryland, No. 10 nationally, and a two-point upset victim of Wake Forest last week.

Unbeaten North Carolina State, 25-0 and No. 2 nationally, had a first-round bye Thursday. The Wolfpack opens its title bid at 7 p.m. tonight against Virginia, 59-55, winner over Duke.

Maryland romped past Clemson, 77-61, to gain the 9 p.m. pairing against Wake Forest.

The winner Saturday night gets a bid to the NCAA Eastern Regionals opening Thursday night at Charlotte. However, N.C. State is on one-year NCAA probation for alleged basketball recruiting irregularities and is ineligible for any postseason play after the conference tournament.

Should the State Wolfpack win the tournament, the runner-up will go to the NCAA event. Meanwhile, the National Invitation Tournament, won last year by Maryland and two years ago by North Carolina, was awaiting developments in Greensboro before extending a bid to an ACC team for the New York event opening March 17.

Tacy, whose Marshall University team lost in the opening round of NCAA play last year, and North Carolina Coach Dean Smith agreed that the play that saved Wake Forest from defeat was a 100-to-1 shot that paid off.

Wake Forest, beaten by 37 points in two earlier meetings with North Carolina, twice beat the horn, first to escape defeat, then to win its 12th game in 26.

After Olympian Bobby Jones scored a tip-in basket with two seconds left of regulation for a 48-46 North Carolina lead, Wake Forest took a time out with one second left.

Then, Eddie Payne hit freshman Lee Foye with a length of the court pass and Foye scored on a short jumper as time ran out with the score 48-41.

North Carolina, which had been subjected to Wake Forest's spread offense, went into its own four-corners offense with 2:43 left in overtime and the score 52-41. The Tar Heels retained possession until George Karl shot with seven seconds left and missed.

Payne, a 6-1 guard, rebounded, then passed to Tony Byers who flipped the ball to sophomore Bill Perry, whose layup won it as time expired along with the Tar Heel hopes.

It was the first time in 20 years of the ACC tournament that a last-place team had won a game and it left North Carolina with a 22-7 record.

Payne said that he gave no thought of calling time out after the rebound, explaining that under the conditions many times a better shot is available before the opposing team can set up defensively.

Tacy noted, "We did what we wanted to do. We kept the tempo we wanted. North Carolina showed what it can do by coming from 10 points behind in the second half."

Smith expressed "extreme disappointment for the team," especially because Jones had apparently won the game with two second left.

Payne's 18 points led Wake Forest, while Jones and Karl had 13 each for North Carolina.

Maryland led Clemson only 31-26 at the half but 10 minutes later the Terrapins were in front 51-36 and out of danger.

Jim O'Brien's 21 points, 20 by freshman John Lucas, who also had nine assists, and 16 points by Tom McMillen paced Maryland.

Terp rebounded Len Elmore, who broke a bone in his right foot two weeks ago, sat out the game but was given a doctor's okay if needed. Maryland's record now is 21-5 against Clemson's 12-14.

Virginia, beaten twice this season by N.C. State, shot 71 per cent and Duke 54 per cent in their first-half shooting match that ended with Virginia in front 34-29 after 10 ties and 13 lead changes.

After Virginia took a 10-point lead with 13:00 to play, Duke battled back to a 49-all tie with 5:30 to go.

Then Bob McKeag and Gus Gerard scored layups after passes from Barry Parkhill and the Cavaliers never lost the lead. Parkhill led the scoring with 22 points and Gary Melchioni paced Duke with 14 and the Blue Devils finished 12-14, their first losing season since 1939.

Virginia is 13-11.

Greene Central Captures Opener

SNOWHILL — Greene Central High School opened the 1973 baseball season yesterday with a 3-1 victory over South Lenoir.

The Rams got only four hits as compared to six for South Lenoir, but they used them to great advantage, as two of them went for extra bases and accounted for all three runs.

The Rams, defending state 3-A champions, got the game off to a good start, scoring twice in the first inning. With two away, Stevie Williamson reached on an error, then stole second base. Tim Butts drew a walk, and Jerry Carraway doubled to drive in both runners and give Greene Central a 2-0 lead.

It remained that way until the fourth, when the Rams got an insurance run. Butts led off with a single and was sacrificed to second. He came across on Jeff Letchworth's triple for a 3-0 lead.

South Lenoir put on a rally in the sixth, and but for some fine defensive play might have pulled it off. They led off with a hit, but the Rams came back with a double play. They looked that with three straight singles, one driving in the lone run, but a good throw got the second runner going into third to end the rally.

The two teams play again on Tuesday at Deep Run.

South Lenoir 000 001 0-1 6 3
Greene Central 200 100 x-3 4 0

Trevisan Gets 4th

WEST POINT, N. Y. — Paul Trevisan of East Carolina University's swimming team was the only Buc to place in the first day's activities during the Eastern Seaboard Swimming and Diving Championships.

Trevisan finished fourth in the 50-yard freestyle in a time of 21.4 seconds.

Coach Ray Scharf reported that several Pirates swam their best times, but were up against fierce competition.

The meet continues through Saturday.

Bill Simpson of Michigan State and Gary Lagg of Ohio State will resume their Big Ten punting duel next season. Both juniors averaged 40 and a half yards on their 1972 punts.

Kentucky Locks Up Southeastern Conference With Win Over Vols

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

When it comes to poise, nothing beats Kentucky's boys. "That's what did it for us—poise," said a euphorious Joe B. Hall, after his Wildcats locked up the Southeastern Conference basketball title Thursday night with an 88-81 victory over Tennessee.

While a championship was new for Hall, it wasn't for Kentucky, of course. The Wildcats had won the SEC several times before under the venerable Adolph Rupp, who left the university last year.

The Wildcats earned a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's post-season tournament with the victory. And while they were doing that, the Atlantic Coast Conference began its playoffs to determine its NCAA representative.

The biggest shocker of Thursday's tripleheader was an overtime 54-52 victory by last-place Wake Forest over second-seeded North Carolina. As expected third-seeded Maryland beat Clemson 77-61 and Virginia downed Duke 59-55 to advance to tonight's semifinals.

Hall was given the proper sendoff after coaching his first SEC title. He was carried off the court by his players to the strains of 13,000 roaring fans in Lexington.

He loved every minute of it. "It was just tremendous," Hall called out over the din of the winner's locker room.

But Hall had some nervous moments before the end, with Tennessee winning 65-61 and 1:15 showing on the clock. He wasn't sure about the outcome then, when he called a time out.

"I told my players to get the ball out quick—and get the heck down the court."

Kevin Grevey responded with a game-saving performance, hitting four straight field goals for the Wildcats. It saved the day, and triggered wild celebration in the Kentucky dressing room. Included among the celebrants were Kentucky Gov. Wendell Ford and Otis Singletary, president of the school.

North Carolina State, the top-seeded team in the ACC tourney at Greensboro, N.C., takes on Virginia and Wake Forest meets Maryland. The winners will play for the conference title on Saturday night.

In other games Thursday night, Alabama closed out its regular season by beating Georgia 78-70; fifth-ranked Providence smashed Brown 93-80; Manhattan buried Fordham 95-74 and Fairleigh Dickinson crushed Montclair State 60-49.

Bucs Get Rain Again

For the fourth straight day, the East Carolina University baseball Pirates found themselves rained out of their opening date.

Yesterday's contest with N. C. State was postponed because of the weather. No new date has been set for the contest.

Monday, the Bucs were rained out at Duke, and will replay that one on Tuesday, March 13. Tuesday, their home opener with North Carolina, also fell to the rains, as did a Wednesday meeting with State.

The Pirates are now set to open against the University of Virginia on Saturday at 2 p.m. at Harrington Field. The two are also scheduled to meet again on Sunday at 2 p.m.

MIAMI (AP) — Jerry McGee entered today's second round of the Doral Eastern Open tied for second place at 68 with Bob Barbarossa, four strokes behind front-running Lee Trevino's eight-under-par 64.

But McGee was thinking of the chances of defending champion Jack Nicklaus instead of his own. Nicklaus was in a group at 69 on the par 72, 7,065-yard course.

"If Lee plays steady, Jack's going to have to come out with a fantastic round," said McGee, dismissing his own hopes with "I don't think he (Trevino) is worrying about me."

Before Thursday's first round, McGee said he and Trevino were standing together, watching Nicklaus hit some long drives. Trevino said, "I'm going to get him. It's mine this week."

Trevino finished in a tie for second with Bob Rosburg, two strokes behind Nicklaus, here last year after missing the event the previous two years.

Trevino's effort matched his course record set by Nicklaus in the 1969 and 1972 tournaments.

MEREDITH FUMBLES

DALLAS (UPI) — Television broadcaster Don Meredith is in the National Football League record book for at least one mark he doesn't care about. Meredith holds the dubious record of 16 fumbles in one season, made in 1964 with the Cowboys.

Tied with Nicklaus for fourth place Mike Hill, Tom Kite, Larry Ziegler, Rich Rhodes, Dwight Nevil and Bill Collins.

Heading a group of 14 at two-under 70 was 60-year-old Sam Snead.

Spring Drills Open Monday

Head football coach Sonny Randle and his coaching staff will greet 90 players Monday when East Carolina University opens its spring football practice.

The Pirates will work on a Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday schedule with open scrimmages each Saturday afternoon in Ficklen Stadium. The drills will end with the second annual Varsity-Alumni Game on Saturday, April 14 at 7:30 p.m.

"We won't do anything different either offensively or defensively than we did last season," said Randle, who guided the Pirates to the Southern Conference Championship and a 9-2 season record. "Of course we will add a few things but basically everything will remain the same."

The Pirates will lose only seven letterman from the 1972 team while 40 will be on hand for next season. Only wide receiver Vic Wilfore will miss spring drills — he is presently serving six months active duty in the

Immanuel Gains Semi-Finals

Immanuel Baptist, winner during the regular season, moved into the semi-finals of the Church Basketball League Tournament last night with an 80-46 win over Piney Grove.

In the other game, St. Paul's eliminated Grace from the field with a 63-54 win.

St. Paul's continues in the losers' bracket, facing Piney Grove tonight. In the other game tonight, Black Jack takes on Trinity, also in the losers bracket.

In the opener, St. Paul's edged out into a 30-25 lead in the first half of play. They came back in the second period to outscore Grace, 33-29, and wrap up the victory. Oddly enough, it had been Grace that had first beaten

St. Paul's to send them into the losers' bracket.

Jack Wall led St. Paul's with 27 points, while Jeff Daniel had 25. For Grace, Curtis Sutton had 21, D. R. Daniels had 14 and Steve Wise had 11.

In the second game, Immanuel had little trouble in gaining a date with Presbyterian in the semi-finals of the winners' bracket. They rolled up a 43-18 lead at halftime. Immanuel then outthit Piney Grove, 36-28 in the second half to win going away.

Lindsey Hardde led Immanuel with 26 points, while David Hahn had 20 and Drew Rumbley had 12. For Piney Grove, Buddy Allen had 13 and Wayne Avery had 10.

Maravich Tops Hawks' Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Atlanta Hawks haven't lost to the Portland Trail Blazers in two National Basketball Association seasons.

The Hawks beat the Trail Blazers 135-129 Thursday night for the eighth straight time over the past two seasons.

Pete Maravich scored 39 points for the Hawks and Lou Hudson added 34 to pace the Atlanta attack.

Maravich was the game's high scorer and also had 13 assists as he and Hudson maintained their scoring binge. During the past 10 games, Hudson has average 32.1 points and Maravich 30.3.

In other NBA games, Buffalo beat Chicago 112-102, Kansas City-Omaha stopped Baltimore 105-93 and Boston beat Phoenix 141-134 in overtime.

In the American Basketball Association Thursday night, Virginia beat New York 130-118 and San Diego edged Memphis 107-105.

One of the key plays in the Hawks victory came with 26 seconds to play and Atlanta holding a three-point margin at 130-127. Center Walt Bellamy of the Hawks made a layup and was fouled on the play. He made the free throw for a three-point play which put the Hawks up by six.

Geoff Petrie topped the Portland scoring with 22 points.

The Buffalo Braves, leading by 30 points during the third period, fought off a furious fourth quarter rally by the Chicago Bulls and went on to win the game.

Elmore Smith was perfect from the field in the first half as the Braves raced to a 63-42 halftime lead, featured by a run of 12 straight points in the second period.

The Braves were guilty of 13 turnovers in the fourth period, allowing the Bulls to creep from behind. Bob Love's 13 points and Norm Van Lier's 10, brought Chicago to within 108-102 with a minute left on a basket by Howard Porter, the Bulls' final basket.

Love was the game's high scorer with 33 points while Bob McAdoo had 28 for Buffalo followed by teammates Randy Smith and Elmore Smith with 25 and 22 points, respectively.

Julius Erving scored 29 points and led the Virginia Squires over the New York Nets in an ABA contest.

The Squires, trailing 50-49 with 4½ minutes remaining in the second period, went on an 18-6 scoring tear to take an 11 point intermission lead and were never threatened again.

Chuck Williams stole an inbound pass with 43 seconds left in the game and converted it into a layup to give the San Diego Conquistadors over the Memphis Tams.

Nate Archibald broke Oscar Robertson's club single-season scoring record and lifted Kansas City-Omaha over Baltimore.

Archibald, who scored 29 points for the Kings, now has 2,492 points for the season, breaking the record of 2,480 set by Robertson when the team was in Cincinnati. Baltimore trailed 90-85 with seven minutes to play, but the Kings wrapped up the victory by outscoring the Bulls 13-4 to take a 103-89 edge with 3½ minutes to play.

Don Chaney's three-point play with less than 30 seconds to play in an overtime period gave the Boston Celtics a tough win over the Phoenix Suns.

ABC Argues NBA Gave Them Impossible Terms

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Company hopes to block a new television contract between the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Basketball Association.

The CBS network announced Thursday that it had entered into an agreement to televise NBA games for the next three years.

While both sides declined to fix the terms of the agreement, it was speculated that the package involved $27 million.

However, ABC filed a suit in New York's Supreme Court. ABC charged that it had the right of refusal for extension of its current contract and that the NBA had acted in bad faith.

William G. MacPhail, vice president of CBS Television Sports, refuted the ABC charge, saying:

"We believe we have every right to compete for NBA rights and that we have competed for such rights in a lawful manner."

Under the contract with CBS, starting with the 1973-74 season, the network will broadcast 38 games each season, including the NBA's All-Star game.

ABC, which had exclusive rights for three years from 1970 through this season, contends in its suit that the NBA offered ABC a contract renewal that was impossible to accept.

The unacceptable feature was the stipulation for seven games to be broadcast between 2 and 3 p.m., EST, each Saturday in October after the World Series and continuing through the first Saturday in December. These games would have priority over any other sports program carried by ABC on the same day.

These conditions, ABC said, would conflict with ABC's long-time agreement to broadcast NCAA college football games on Saturday. The NBA knew this, ABC argues in its suit, and thus acted in "bad faith by offering an unacceptable contract."

Top Seed Will Meet Aggies

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Top-seeded Maryland-Eastern Shore sees its first action in tonight's semifinals of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference basketball tournament, meeting North Carolina A&T in the second game.

Howard and Morgan State, first round winners Thursday with North Carolina A&T, square off in tonight's opening game at 7. The championship game will be played Saturday night following a consolation contest.

Maryland-Eastern Shore, with a 10-2 conference record, drew a first round bye. Morgan State crushed South Carolina State, 79-58, in the tournament's opening game to gain its semifinals berth.

In other first round play, Howard defeated North Carolina Central, 79-66, and North Carolina A&T downed Delaware State, 91-74.

Howard matches a 21-5 overall record against Morgan State's 19-7 tonight, while N. C. A&T carries a 14-11 mark against Maryland Eastern Shore.

Sophomore Marvin Webster, MEAC player of the year, scored 18 points to lead Morgan State and pulled down 14 rebounds. Robert Lewis also scored 18 points in pacing Howard to its victory, while William Harris led N. C. A&T with 23 points.

Scipio Spinks Laughs Way To Pro Baseball

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — What's a Scipio Spinks?

It's a grown man who sleeps with a stuffed gorilla. And, it's a loveable clown whose shenanigans keep the St. Louis Cardinals laughing.

But, most of all, a Scipio Spinks is a fast-balling, right-handed pitcher for the National League baseball team, a man with the talent to possibly replace aging superstar Bob Gibson as the ace of the Cards' staff.

"During my six years in the Houston Astros' chain, most of the managers thought of me as some kind of wise-guy hot dog who wasn't serious enough to be a winning pitcher in the major leagues," Spinks said.

"Now that I'm with the Cardinals, where people have a sense of humor, I'm regarded as both a big league pitcher and a guy who can keep the team loose with humor."

The other day, at the Cards' spring training grounds, a graceful athlete trotted onto the field wearing No. 20 on his St. Louis uniform.

Lettered on his jersey was "Brock."

Autograph seekers picked up his trail, hawking No. 20 with pencils and pads waving. "Sign this, Mr. Brock," asked one fan.

"Don't bother me, son," said the No. 20 Cardinal.

"I'm a busy man. But, since you came out here to see the best baserunner in the world I'll sign it for you."

Had Lou Brock, the nice guy superstar of the Cards, suddenly gone sour? Not really. It wasn't Brock in that uniform at all. It was an imposter in a stolen uniform...it was Scipio Spinks.

"Big-name stars are the easiest to kid with," Spinks said Thursday. "Brock, Gibson, Joe Torre—people of that caliber—take it, then they dish it back. It keeps everybody smiling."

Spinks had the Cards thinking of a pennant last summer. St. Louis was on a 22-6 streak and close to Pittsburgh in the NL East.

Then, in a collision with Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench, Spinks messed up his knee. He was finished with a 5-5 record and 2.67 earned run average.

St. Louis was finished, too. The Cardinals went 37-47 the rest of the season and the Pirates walked away with the race. It's not surprising that Manager Red Schoendienst says, "I'm delighted to have Spinks back, for more reasons than one." Spinks' wife, Areda, and their 7-month-old daughter, Terri Lynn, are home in Oklahoma City while Scipio is in training. But, he does have a roommate here.

It's Mighty Joe Young, the stuffed gorilla. Spinks talks to this make-believe animal. He claims Joe talks back. It's all a part of Spinks' blithe spirit, and Cardinal teammates also kid the pet ape when firing barbs at Scipio.

"They can pick on me, but they'd better lay off Mighty Joe Young," Spinks said, faking seriousness. "Joe likes to watch TV. We enjoy the same shows. My wife enjoys the idea of me rooming with Joe. She figures it keeps me out of trouble."

L. Mint Is Champ

The Little Mint completed an unbeaten swing through the Ladies Basketball League last night, capturing the tournament championship. They downed R. B. Jr.-Fleetway, 46-22, in the finals of the double elimination field.

The Little Mint went through the regular season with a perfect record, and then won its way through the tourney field without a loss.

In the opening half, they pushed through 18 points to rush out to a big lead, as R. B. Jr. could manage just one basket for a mere two points.

Little Mint made it no contest in the second half, outscoring R. B. Jr., 28-20, to win handily.

Judy Peeled Little Mint with 14 points, while Nan Cheek added 10. Teresa Drewery led R. B. Jr. with 11 points.

The game completed the season for the women's league.

This is the first hockey season for the New York Islanders. Their first coach, Phil Goyette, was replaced at midseason by Earl Ingarfield.

No Easy Route For Angel Chief

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Peppertop Bobby Winkles, who never played major league baseball, inherits the rugged job of boosting the California Angels this season, his second out of the collegiate ranks.

Winkles succeeds Del Rice who lasted just one season and was fired after his 1972 team finished fifth in the American League West, a position the club hopes to improve with the addition of some players from up the freeway.

In the big area winter trade, the Los Angeles Dodgers sent Bill Singer, Frank Robinson, Mike Strahler, Bobby Valentine and Bill Grabarkewitz to the Angels for Andy Messersmith and Ken McMullen.

The clubs switched right-handed pitchers Singer and Messersmith and the plus and minus of this switch remains to be seen.

The Angels get the big bat and the big salary of Robinson who signed a two-year contract at $300,000 and appears happy to be back with his former Baltimore boss—Harry Dalton, the vice president and general manager at California.

Valentine could play shortstop or the outfield and Grabarkewitz can take third base or second. Strahler was to win a pitching position.

Most of the interest centers on Winkles who ordered no mustaches or long hair, and sideburns only down to the ears. Up north, the Oakland A's won the World Series with a hairy approach.

"There's only one way to play a sport and that's hard," Winkles said. "The Angel way of playing is going to be the quick way. We want to get games over in two hours and 15 minutes. If we can get other teams to adjust to our way of playing, to change the tempo of their play, it will help us."

Winkles, whose teams won national collegiate crowns at Arizona State, went into spring practice with computer-like organization. Everything is done by the minute with a minutely timed routine.

Still he will have trouble. Singer and Lloyd Allen vie for the fourth starting pitcher spot with strikeout king Nolan Ryan, Rudy May and Clyde Wright the starters as of now.

Ryan, acquired from New York's Mets prior to last season, set or tied 14 club records in 1972. He struck out 329 to lead the majors and that was fourth best of all time. He fanned 17 Minnesota Twins on Sept. 30 to tie an American League record.

Catching poses problems with Jack Hiatt, Art Kusnyer and Jeff Torborg the candidates but with the possibility of a trade for another.

Heavy hitting Bob Oliver opens at first with Sandy Alomar at second and Leo Cardenas at shortstop unless Valentine makes the grade there.

If Valentine becomes the shortstop, then Cardenas moves to third base, a switch which could prolong his major league life.

Upsets In Mat Meet

SEATTLE (AP) — The defending champion and the No. 1 seed in the 177-pound class were defeated in the first rounds of the 43rd National Collegiate Athletic Association Wrestling Championships as Iowa State, last year's team titlist, took a slim lead into today's quarter-finals.

The loss of top-seeded Jim Crumley, the Pacific-8 Conference champion from Oregon State, was the more shocking since Bill Murdock, the defending champion from Washington, has not wrestled well this year.

Crumley dropped an 11-8 decision to unheralded Gene Barber of Trenton State, who placed third in the college division last week.

Murdock, who had lost six matches previously and was seeded fifth for this tournament, lost a 19-8 decision to Larry Loerch of Navy in his first match.

Discussion Of Space Shuttle Program Set Mar. 13

SHUTTLE LIFTOFF—With main engines and solid rocket motors roaring, Space Shuttle lifts off from launch pad in concept by Rockwell International's

DOWNEY, CALIF., — The need and value of a reusable space orbiting "truck," which will provide vital information in better management of our Earth's resources, is one of the many facets of the American space program to be discussed by Gordon F. Gray of Rockwell International's Space Division, in talks before six North Carolina colleges.

Gray will speak to Mount Olive College Monday, March 12, 8:00 p.m.; Campbell College on Tuesday, March 13, 10:00 a.m.; East Carolina University on Tuesday, March 13, 8:00 p.m.; Louisburg College on Wednesday, March 14, 8:00 p.m.; High Point College on Thursday, March 15, 8:00 p.m.; Lenoir Rhyne College on Friday, March 16, 11:00 a.m.

The cargo-carrying "Truck" is the Space Shuttle, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration program slated for operation in the 1980s and 1990s.

Because of its reusability, it will prove to be the most economical method of continuing a logical, progressive space program, Gray claims. In addition to lowering the costs of launch operations, the Space Shuttle will reduce the expense of orbiting a pound of payload approximately 90 per cent as it ferries cargo between Earth and Earth orbit.

Gray's talk, "Look Out," is a slide presentation oriented for the layman. It covers the space program, past, present and future; the economics of a continuing space program; the benefits aerospace technology have brought to mankind; and some the world can look for in the future.

Using photographs from space, as well as photographic examples of spinoff benefits now in use on Earth, Gray proves conclusively that for less than "two cents out of the average tax dollar" which the entire space program has cost, the benefits and more to come will have tremendous impact on life in the future. The presentation encompasses operational mission plans of Apollo, Skylab, Apollo-Soyuz and the Space Shuttle programs.

Rockwell's Space Division is the prime contractor for the Space Shuttle orbiter and also builds the command and service modules for both the Skylab and the Apollo-Soyuz Test Project (ASTP)—a joint American-Soviet space program. Skylab will launch in May of this year, while ASTP is slated for 1975.

The division was a prime contractor for the Apollo lunar landing program, the most successful technological achievement in history," according to experts.

Pollution Role For Guardsmen

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina National Guardsmen announced Thursday the beginning of a cooperative effort with the federal Environmental Protection Agency to check pollution build-up in the state's fresh water lakes.

Guardsmen will take some 1,400 water samples over the next year from large tributaries feeding the 16 lakes selected for the EPA Eutrophication Study.

Eutrophication is the process of nutrient enrichment in waters which can cause choking growth of algae and rooted plants, sometimes fatal to other forms of water life, such as fish.

Eutrophication is accelerated by concentrations of phosphates and nitrates, two common pollutants discharged into streams by industry and municipal sewage treatment plants.

Acting state Adjutant General William M. Buck said volunteer Guardsmen will operate from their home towns units and will take samples generally on weekends each month for a year, beginning March 24-25.

The state Department of Natural and Economic Resources will supply experts to teach the part-time soldiers sampling techniques.

Most of the lakes included in the study are in the central and western part of North Carolina, said EPA coordinator Robert Payne, because most of the state's freshwater lakes are in those areas.

Payne added that the sources of pollution are also more evident in the heavily populated Piedmont section, where waters from the cities flow into lakes in sparsely populated districts.

Can Claim Tax Credits On Wages Paid In WIN

Employers hiring welfare recipients under the federal-state Work Incentive Program (WIN) can now claim 20 percent tax credit on wages paid these workers during their first year of employment, Jam Hannan, manager of the Greenville Office of the Employment Security Commission, announced today.

Manager Jim Hannan said the tax credit is to encourage employers to hire or place on-the-job training persons receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) grants after they have been registered for participation in WIN.

Called the "job development" tax credit, the new regulations are related to the Talmadge Amendments of the Social Security Act which requires all adults over 16 receiving AFDC payments to register for WIN to be eligible to continue to receive benefits.

Hannan explained that there are exemptions. If the welfare recipient is not in an exempt category, however, the individual must accept work or training when offered or lose his welfare grant.

In North Carolina, the Department of Social Services determines which AFDC recipients are exempt from the program, not the Employment Office. The Employment Office then registers all non-exempt persons and any volunteers for training or work.

"We'll try to find jobs or on-the-job training opportunities," reports the ESC manager, "to equip them with the necessary skills to retain permanent employment. Nearly all registrants will be women."

County Social Services officers are completing WIN registrations. After interviewing individuals, and providing day-care, and other services if needed, the county office certifies that the Welfare recipient is available for referral to work or training.

Businessmen interested in hiring WIN participants should contact the Employment Office for information. The office will refer available WIN participants for a job interview and will provide the employer with a Labor Department certification that the individuals were enrolled in the Work Incentive Program. This certification is required by the Internal Revenue Service to substantiate employers' claims for tax credit on their subsequent IRS returns.

Fear Can Make Platonic Male

Bill is a victim of "honeymoon jitters." For he is deluded by mankind's age-old delusion that it is the husband's fault if he isn't erotic in the boudoir. Malarky! He doesn't need testosterone; it's who needs sex hormone shots!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE W-547: Bill A., aged 55, is a jittery prospective bridegroom.

"Dr. Crane," he confessed, "I was happily married for 25 years but lost my wife, due to cancer.

"That was 3 years ago.

"Since then I have met a charming widow, aged 44, and have proposed to her.

"But I am skittish about the wedding date.

"For I am scared about the honeymoon!

"At my age, would I be able to function properly? Or should I take a series of testosterone shots?

"Since she is 11 years younger than I am, and quite youthful in her behavior, would I be able to satisfy her?"

Bridegroom Jitters

Bill is a healthy male, so he should have no medical reasons for dreading that he'd be a platonic mate.

But it is "fear" itself that could make him impotent.

In fact, such a severe sexual inferiority complex often produces bridegroom impotence in young husbands not half Bill's age!

So remember these salient medical psychological facts:

(1) It is the wife's responsibility to excite her mate and thus make him function!

(2) If Bill is platonic in the boudoir, that's no reflection on him but would be an indictment of his new bride!

Alas, husbands ever since Adam have cherished the false notion that it was their responsibility to arouse themselves.

That's totally wrong.

If you husbands become platonic, don't fret about taking shots of testosterone.

Instead, have your wives receive big shots of ovarian hormones till they become more seductively alluring.

(2) Wives are naturally more passive and reticent in the boudoir.

The average young husband has such a surplus of erotic verve that he can function without much active cooperation from his bride.

Not so, the scared males, especially those in Bill's age bracket.

So you wives can quickly revive your husband's erotic vigor by becoming more seductively aggressive in the bedroom.

Remember the sky's the limit in the boudoir of husband and wife!

(3) Your sex appetite should remain with you, as does your gastric appetite, as long as you live!

This is true of the stomach as well as the gonads.

Thus, it is the fasting male who has a diffident appetite in the dining room-as well as in the boudoir.

The glutton at the dinner table is usually the first one to the dining room when the next meal is announced!

(4) A main reason why older husbands chase around with younger sirens, is the fact the latter serve enticing cheesecake instead of roast beef.

Such "cheesecake" usually involves a more slender figure, plus coquetry, perfume, diaphanous nighties, etc.

Wives, fight fire with fire and

Says Many Employers

Overpay Insurance Tax

"Many employers in Pitt County are overpaying their unemployment insurance taxes," according to Jim Hannan, manager of the Greenville Employment Security Commission office.

"Unemployment Division of the ESC refunded nearly $500,000 to companies and firms last year across the state because they sent more money to the state than was required under the unemployment insurance law," Hannan explained.

The Employment Security Law requires liable employers to pay taxes on the first $4,200 earned by each covered employee on their payroll. During the first three years of liability, new employers are required to pay 2.7 percent of their taxable payrolls.

"The rate may subsequently drop if the company has a history of low unemployment or increase to a high of 4.7 percent if the company has a high turnover rate," Hannan said.

don't rebuff your middle aged mate!

If you do, you may drive him toward an outside siren, first in his imagination and then possibly in reality, too!

McDaniel said if the threat of a 2 per cent pay cut isn't enough incentive, he may require those men who haven't lost weight by mid-June to appear before the Police Merit Board and face possible dismissal.

McDaniel said he hopes the order will put a halt to what he considers "a sloppy image for policemen."

their unemployment insurance account for the amount that is in their unemployment insurance account for the forthcoming year.

"Some employers are getting these notices confused and send a check to the commission in Raleigh for the amount that is their unemployment insurance account," Hannan said.

Currently about 87,000 North Carolina employers are paying unemployment insurance taxes on almost 2.3 million workers.

"Errors and overpayment will be made by 3,000 employers each year," Hannan noted.

"Employers are happy to get refunds but time and money to audit these payments is costly to the state.

"Of course, the employer also loses the use of his money for about three months, too, so watch those decimals."

Clifford Irving Is Transferred For Infraction

ALLENWOOD, Pa. (AP) — Clifford Irving, serving a federal prison term for his bogus biography of billionaire recluse Howard Hughes, has been transferred to another prison after liquor was found in his possession.

Irving, who entered Allenwood Prison last August to begin serving a 30-month sentence on fraud charges, was transferred Tuesday to the Danbury Corrections Institution in Connecticut. He was convicted in connection with the $650,000 sale of publication rights to the McGraw-Hill publishing company of the phoney Hughes biography.

Max Weger, supervisor of Allenwood, said Thursday he did not know where Irving got the liquor. He said it was Irving's first infraction of prison regulations and that there would be no prosecution for it.

He declined comment on whether the infraction would affect Irving's chance of parole when he appears before a parole board this summer.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Forecast

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to make a special point to eliminate whatever confusion has built up in your mind by double checking the logical soundness of your project. Be sure the facts and figures under which you are operating are correct. Be Alert.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go to the right sources to obtain the data you need. You can easily handle those errands that have been accumulating for some time. Also, do your shopping and get big results. Be practical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use care in handling your monetary and property affairs or you could get into trouble. Get advice you need from an expert. Make certain your intuitive faculties are working accurately.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) It may be fine to try to get yourself looking more charming, but take care you don't get a bizarre effect. Much tact is also necessary in social matters. Talking too much could prove dangerous.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Attend to the work you have to do and avoid the social today so that you are ahead of the game. Your hunches are not working properly so don't rely on them. Use your own judgment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Morning is fine for enjoying the company of good friends, but later you should avoid an activity that is not to your liking. Gaining your personal goals requires you not to confide in others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take care of those business matters even though you are not in the mood for them. It will be more difficult later on. Handle a civic matter to which you may have committed yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have ideas, some good, some bad, so be sure to put the best to work after testing them for practicality and worth. Make sure you carry through with any promises made. Be cooperative.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put all your energy to work handling responsibilities and keeping promises you have made to others. A hunch you've had is entirely erroneous so forget it and avoid trouble. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't try to force an associate to do what you wish; there could be a severance of connections. Listen to his ideas and then come to a mutual understanding. This can lead to success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have many duties ahead of you, but if you schedule your time well, you find they are not as formidable as you think. Persevere and you make real headway. Take health treatment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want entertainment, but be sure you stay with the tried and acceptable and all will work out fine for you. Put a new skill to work and others will appreciate you more.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Cooperate at home where making improvements are concerned and save money. You can derive much pleasure from it. A new plan needs more study before taking action.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will have much capability along inventive lines, so be certain to direct the education in that field, and there will be much success. Teach to complete whatever has once been started. A good academic training is fine for this most active and precise mind. Teach the importance of morality early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Missionaries' Role In Africa Being Questioned

By RAYMOND WILKINSON
NAIROBI (UPI) — Christianity has come a long way since the first Portuguese missionaries stepped onto the African continent in the 15th Century.

Missionaries have helped convert an estimated 150 million Africans, 40.6 per cent of the continent's population, to the Christian faith. By the year 2,000, church leaders believe there will be 450 million African Christians.

In addition to spreading the Word, missionaries also established agricultural programs, hospitals, clinics and schools and helped educate many of Africa's current political leaders.

It has not been an easy road for the Christian worker to travel in Africa. He has been simultaneously praised and persecuted, driven from the land for helping the slave trade prosper or achieving the remarkable target of converting some 95 per cent of Nigeria's 1.2 million strong Tiv tribe to Christianity since World War II.

Alfonso, King of the Congo, was one of Africa's earliest converts and he wrote to the king of Portugal asking "neither for merchants nor wares, only priests and people to teach in schools and no other goods but wine and flour for the Holy Sacrament."

Soles Saved Souls

Yet, a modern disillusioned writer on Africa, Stanlake Samkange, could write: "So, European missionaries went to Africa to preach the gospel. They wore out soles saving souls and found themselves not only agents of life through death but of peace through war, accord through discord, education through westernization, civilization through dehumanization, construction through destruction."

Two Arrests For Break-In

Two men have been arrested by the Pitt County Sheriff's Department following the investigation of an early March break-in at a store near Grimesland.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies arrested Larry J. Moore, 26, of Rt. 3, Greenville, and Tommy Earl Hardee, 20, of Box 74, Grimesland, and charged them with the breaking, entering and larceny of Jack Davenport's Store on the Tar River north of Grimesland.

Sheriff Tyson said the break-in occurred between 7 p.m. on March 1 and 11:30 a.m. March 2 and was reported by Davenport on March 2. The owner reported the theft of approximately $115 worth of merchandise, including various items of food, drinks, and fishing equipment. Most of the merchandise was recovered, the sheriff added.

Bond for both men was set at $500 each and a hearing scheduled for March 21 in District Court here.

Kindergarten Registration

FARMVILLE — Kindergarten registration will be held at H.B. Sugg School here Thursday, March 15, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

Parents with children who will be five years old before Oct. 16, who are planning to enter kindergarten this fall, should contact the school before March 15.

Parents should bring their child's birth certificate, immunization record and completed information sheet to the school when they come to register. Parents are asked not to bring their child to the registration.

Controversy continues to surround the role of the missionary.

For some African church leaders such as Canon Burgess Carr, general secretary of the All Africa Conference of Churches (AACC) the traditional role of the missionary in spreading the Word of God should be ended immediately.

"The missionary who comes to Africa with the idea that he is going to save a benighted people has no place in Africa today," Carr says. "The sooner the traditional expatriate is out the better."

He added: "Some of us have been very vocal in saying that African churches must come to grips with standing on our own feet. We need a moratorium on missionaries if we are going to develop a really true African church.

"The church is now strong enough, or should be able to develop strength, to take over the missionary role."

He would concede however that his is not the only view.

A black African priest who did not wish to be named, said if missionaries were suddenly withdrawn, the church in Africa could collapse.

"The archdiocese of Nairobi has been in existence for 100 years but there are only around 12 local priests," he said. "Who would take over from the missionaries if they left now? They must stay to help Africanize the Church as quickly as possible, to train priests and nuns to take over from them. This must be their major preoccupation in the coming years."

As the controversy swirls throughout the African church, the role of the missionary has, in fact, been changing rapidly in the last few years, though there are still "pockets of traditional resistance" according to Canon Carr.

The missionaries are stepping down from the pulpit to become a religious equivalent of the Peace Corps, according to Odhiambo Okitee, editor of Nairobi's Target Magazine.

"The German church is taking the lead in this," Okitee said. "For instance, when we recently wanted a darkroom technician, we applied to the German church and they sent one. This is the new type of missionary in Africa."

More Building, Less Preaching Churchmen have always engaged in teaching and medicine along with their spiritual concerns since their earliest days in Africa. Okitee and Father Campbell of the Roman Catholic Secretariat in Nairobi agree that missionaries have begun to emphasize this part of their work in the last few years.

"In the beginning, we were all evangelists, first and foremost," said Father Campbell, who has been in Africa since 1951. "Now, I know priests who never preach a sermon. They are out building roads or directing agricultural and irrigation projects."

Father Campbell is certain Africa will "still need missionaries for a long time to come."

American C. Richard Shumaker, coordinator at the Evangelical Literature Office here, suggests that because the term missionary is synonymous with the colonial era, the term itself should be dropped.

There are probably as many missionaries in Africa today as there ever were, though neither Protestant nor Catholic officials were willing to estimate their number.

But the movement may be entering a period of decline.

According to Canon Carr, some American churches such as the Presbyterians slowly have begun to withdraw missionaries.

"European and American churches are concentrating more on the 'missions' they have to fulfill in their own countries. They are beginning to feel the pangs of filling their own pulpits and are looking inward," he said.

Shumaker cautioned, however, that "if missionaries depart, it would not be long before foreign funds depart too. Overseas churches are not going to pour money into Africa when they have no say in how it is going to be spent."
