More POWs Say Thanks

By JOHN BREWER
Associated Press Writer
CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The fourth release of American prisoners of war began today with the freeing of 107 military men and one civilian by the North Vietnamese.

The first of three big Air Force C141 flying hospitals landed 40 POWs at Clark Air Base at 5:08 p.m.—4:08 a.m. EST—about 15 minutes earlier than expected after the 900-mile flight from Hanoi.

Two more C141s picked up the other 68 men.

The men aboard the first plane held an impromptu thanksgiving service during the flight from Hanoi, a military spokesman reported. Navy Capt. Charles R. Gillespie Jr. of Miramar, Calif., who had acted as their chaplain in camp, led them in The Lord's Prayer.

His eyes brimming with tears, the senior man aboard the flight, Navy Capt. Leo T. Profilet of Palo Alto, Calif., told the cheering crowd of Clark Base personnel:

"From the bottom of our hearts, I want to thank God, the United States of America and all you wonderful, good-looking people."

The crowd responded with cheers, whistles and applause.

Aboard the second flight were Air Force Col. John P. Flynn, 50, the senior POW, and Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III, 36-year-old son of the commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific in 1968-72.

Flynn, speaking for the 40 men on his plane, gave thanks for their release and also praised the morale of the POWs during their captivity.

"I would just like to state simply that as a group we have been privileged to serve our country under very difficult circumstances," he said. "And I would also like to thank our President, the services, the people of the United States for their support in efforts, in lives which were expanded in our behalf."

"I would like to particularly acknowledge the courage and integrity of our President. We knew that he must have been faced with many difficult decisions and circumstances such as the bombings of Hanoi. He held our support and our prayers always."

McCain, whose wife lives in Orange Park, Fla., was given one of the loudest cheers when he emerged from the plane. He saluted the colors smartly, then walked smiling down the ramp to salute and shake hands with the welcoming officers. They included Adm. Noel Gayler, who succeeded McCain's father as chief of the Pacific command.

McCain limped heavily on his right leg, but he told a newsman he was "fine."

McCain and several other men reported that the morale of the POWs remaining in North Vietnam was high and they were looking forward to their release. North Vietnam has said it will release all the Americans before March 28, the deadline set by the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

Aboard the third plane was the only civilian in the group, Bobby Joe Keesee, who deserted from the Army in 1962, took a rented plane to Cuba, served two years in an Arizona penitentiary and in 1970 forced a Thai pilot to fly him to North Vietnam.

Warn Hanoi Of Violation

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and State Department have issued sharp reminders to the Communists after weighing evidence that Hanoi is infiltrating South Vietnam with men and heavy equipment in violation of the cease-fire agreement.

In virtually identical language, spokesmen for the President and for the secretary of state Tuesday reminded Hanoi publicly as well as through diplomatic channels that the Paris pact specifically forbids an arms buildup in South Vietnam.

Government intelligence sources decline to be specific about the number of men and the amount of material that may have crossed over, but Pentagon officials earlier acknowledged that as many as 30,000 North Vietnamese troops had moved down the Ho Chi Minh trail into Laos.

Also, The Associated Press reported last month that more than 250 tanks had rolled down the supply trail along with several large artillery pieces, armored personnel carriers and large quantities of ammunition. Any military buildup in Laos caused by another country would, in itself, violate the agreement signed in Paris Jan. 27 by the United States, Hanoi, Saigon and the Viet Cong.

Washington is delaying a formal protest until it can get a clearer idea of Hanoi's intent, the precise amount of infiltration and specific timing of the movements.

In Paris, meanwhile, the Viet Cong issued a statement accusing the Saigon government of violating the agreement by conducting military operations and failing to release civilian prisoners.

On the U.S. side, another reason for diplomatic care is concern for the release of American prisoners still held by the Communists.

And, yet, the stiff stand taken Tuesday at the White House and the State Department represents a considerable change in public attitude.

For example, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday on CBS' Face the Nation: "I am quite optimistic that the agreement will work, that the cease-fire will be effective, that our POWs will all be returned on time, that we will have all of our troops out of there by March 28, and that the cease-fire will continue to be effective."

Arrested Four Here As Drug Distributors

Four men were arrested here early this morning on charges of distributing illegal drugs, Police Chief Glenn Cannon said, as the result of undercover investigations made over the past several months.

The arrests were made by members of the Greenville Police Department, Pitt ABC officers and East Carolina University police between midnight and 2:30 a.m. today.

Charged with selling marijuana and distributing heroin was Robert Norman Smith, 22 of 2000 Forrest Hill Dr. Smith allegedly sold marijuana to an undercover agent on February 19 and distributed heroin to an agent on January 15.

Jessie Thomas Jones, 20, of Route 4 (Lawson's Trailer Park) Greenville, was charged with distributing heroin. He allegedly sold two packs of illegal narcotic to an undercover operative February 20.

Steve Allen Brown, 21, of Route 6, Greenville was jailed on two counts—one of selling marijuana on February 4 and one of selling tablets containing codien on February 3.

Harry Sylvester Brown, 19, of Route 6, Greenville was jailed on charges of selling barbituates on February 18.

Bond on each of the charges was placed at $10,000.

Adopt Grifton Crewmen Reserve Fund

GRIFTON—The Grifton Board of Commissioners last night adopted a resolution establishing a water supply and waste water capital reserve fund.

All surplus revenue from the water and sewer fees and charges above the amount required for operation, maintenance and service, will be placed in the fund for the purpose of providing needed expansion of the water and sewer systems in future years.

The board adopted an amendment, effective April 1, to the building ordinance which will require persons to pay double fees if they fail to obtain a building permit before construction begins.

Board members heard a request that a portion of property between secondary road 1939 and the Seaboard Coastline Railroad property, located at the edge of the town limits, be rezoned from RA-6 to Industrial. No action was taken.

The installation of a street light at the end of N. Dawson Street and one on the southside of the Creek Road was approved.

It was reported that 40 arrests were made by the Grifton Police Department during the month of February.

Mrs. Catherine Condon, Grifton town librarian, reported that 729 books had been issued from the library during the month of February.

Board members voted to send a letter to Dr. Robert May, director of the Pitt County Community Health Department, seeking a regular schedule for the county dog warden to visit the Grifton area. At the present time, the warden does not come to Grifton.

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Four crewmen perished when a CH-53 Sea Stallion helicopter caught fire and exploded this morning while taxiing on the flight line at the New River Marine Corps Air Station at Jacksonville, a military spokesman said.

One crewman escaped serious injury.

The spokesman said identification of the victims was being withheld pending notification of families.

The spokesman said the helicopter was on "a routine aircraft ferry mission" when the mishap occurred at 8:15 a.m.

An military investigation is underway.

The helicopter was from Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron-26 of Marine Aircraft Group 26, the spokesman said.

Hit 5 Times

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five cars, one by one, struck and killed an elderly man as he attempted to walk across the Santa Ana Freeway in the downtown area. All but one of the drivers fled the scene, the highway patrol reported.

The victim was identified as Louis Williams, 69, a transient, the highway patrol said. There was no indication why he tried to cross the freeway on foot Tuesday.

The patrol said the victim got up after he was hit by the first, second and third cars. After he was knocked down by the fourth car he was run over by a fifth.

The patrol was looking for the last four cars for hit and run, even though the first driver, who did stop, wasn't cited. Authorities said the cars should have stopped even if not at fault.

Fifteen Pistols Stolen

An estimated 15 pistols in various calibers were stolen from H. L. Hodges hardware store at 210 East Fifth Street last night in a break-in, Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon reported this morning.

Entrance to the building was gained through a rear door leading to the second floor of the building, then the thieves gained entrance to the ground level through a restroom in the building.

The pistols — both automatic and revolvers — were taken from a display case at the front of the building.

The break-in was discovered by officers at 12:17 a.m.

Investigation of the case is continuing this morning.

In a break-in one year ago — on March 22, 1972 — thieves stole 28 handguns valued at $2,371, from a display case after smashing a front window to gain entrance to the store. That case is still under investigation.

Value of the guns taken last night was estimated at $1,376.

Winterville Water System Tie-In To Get Special Study

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville Utilities will consider a tie-in with the Winterville water system so that the two systems could aid each other in the event of a severe water need.

The commission agreed to name a committee to study the tie-in, which Director Charles Horne reported had been proposed by Winterville Mayor Walter Dail.

Greenville Utilities and Winterville water lines are within 1,000 to 1,500 feet of each other in the area of Pitt Technical Institute on N.C. 11.

Horne said the tie-in would be by means of a valve which could be opened in the event of a major fire or trouble in the water systems of either town. The valve would be closed normally and the water supplied of the two municipalities would not be mixed.

Horne said the commission would need to study the effect of such a tie-in on the city's fire rating and also the question of uniform treatment of the water supplies would have to be considered.

Chairman Ray D. Minges said he would appoint a committee to study the proposal.

The commission agreed to withhold utilities service to unsold lots in Tuahoe subdivision, subject to the commission's attorney approving the procedure.

The action was taken at the request of the city with City Manager Bill Carstarphen and mayor Gene West appearing before the commission.

Carstarphen told the commissioners that the city feels the subdivision work is not complying with the city's subdivision ordinance and that city feels it cannot accept a development which does not comply.

The action will apply to lots which had not been sold as of March 1.

Commissioners agreed to extend the lease of the Wachovia Bank building until the bank's new building is completed, probably in July or August. Wachovia has sold its old building at Fifth and Washington Streets to the Utilities Commission. The bank is still occupying the building until its new home is completed next door.

The commission approved the extension of a sewer outfall to the Lake Ellsworth subdivision Roto-Witch boring unit ac- being developed by W.E. Dansey. Extension of the outfall is in the Utilities plans. Dansey agreed to put up the full cost of $60,000 extension with 50 per cent of the cost to be refunded to him over a five year period. Sewer within the subdivision would be covered under the utilities' regular subdivision policies.

A committee was appointed to work with the Development Commission, the county and the city in determining how to finance a sewer line to an industrial building on the Phil Carroll property on North Greene Street south of Carolina Leaf.

Jim Horne of the Development Commission proposed that the line be run, with the Utilities and the county participating, for a shell building to be built there for industrial use.

Chairman Minges and City Manager Carstarphen will meet with the other representatives to discuss the matter.

Commissioners agreed to budget $2,500 in the next fiscal year to participate in the APPA Electric Utility Research Program.

Purchase of a Ditch Witch trencher was approved on the basis of a low bid of $11,354.88. A Roto-Witch boring unit necessary was also purchased at $725.

Potential Senate Race Entry Ponders Outlook

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Henry Hall Wilson, former Monroe lawyer, state legislator and presidential aide, came back to North Carolina again Tuesday to test whether he should run for Sen. Sam Ervin Jr.'s U.S. Senate seat next year.

Wilson, now the $115,000-a-year president of the Chicago Board of Trade, the nation's largest commodity exchange, said in an interview that he is not going to set any date for making a decision. He said that should he decide to seek the Democratic nomination, he will move back to North Carolina immediately.

He said that now he has no paid political aides in the state and no one in charge of a Wilson organization. He comes to North Carolina when he is invited to make a speech, and that has been four of five times since he started talking late last year about running.

He was in Charlotte to address the annual meeting of the United Community Services organization of Mecklenburg and Union counties. He said in the interview that he has always regarded his absence from North Carolina—it's 12 years now—as temporary.

He will be 52 next year and Ervin will be 77 in September of 1974. Another Democrat mentioned as a possible candidate for the six-year Senate term is Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

Bert Bennett of Winston-Salem, former state Democratic chairman and an old friend and political associate of Wilson, said Tuesday, "If I were Henry, I'd have to weigh it real careful, because it looks to me like it's a right crowded race. "His minuses are obvious."

He's been gone for several years...It takes money, and I don't know where he'd get that."

On the other hand, Bennett said, Wilson made a lot of friends in the state when he was in a position to cut federal red tape for them as a White House insider. Besides, Bennett said, political comebacks are unpredictable. "How much chance would we have given to Nixon after he lost in California?"

Ex-Premier Had 'Chest Pains'

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, Israel's elder statesman, was released from a hospital today after suffering chest pains.

The 86-year-old former premier was taken from his hotel in Tiberias to a nearby hospital on Tuesday after complaining of chest and respiratory difficulties. Doctors said his condition improved during the night, and he returned to his hotel.

HENRY HALL WILSON, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, indicated Tuesday he has not made up his mind whether he will be a candidate for the U. S. Senate from North Carolina in 1974. (AP Wirephoto)

Panamanians Begin Expected Anti-U.S. Campaign

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

PANAMA CITY (AP) — In a curtain-raiser for the "Damn the U.S." session of the U.N. Security Council opening in Panama Thursday, the country's military ruler took foreign newsmen on a slum tour Tuesday.

Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos said he wanted the visitors to write about the "dramatic difference" between life in Panama and in the U.S.-controlled Panama Canal Zone bisecting the country.

Dozens of children wearing scraps of clothing shouted, "General! General!" as Torrijos and his retinue tramped through Curundu, the capital's worst slum.

Military aides and neighborhood leaders kicked away snarling dogs and helped the score of correspondents negotiate rickety wooden walkways.

Curundu is a scar of dilapidated shacks on stilts crowding a sunken stretch of land between one of Panama City's bustling commercial areas and the Canal Zone.

"Will you look at the difference? Look what's going on here and over there?" the crew-cut, 48-year-old general asked the visitors as he pointed to a chain-link fence separating a section of the zone from the slum. The newsmen could see metal huts and some trimmed grass in the zone, but they were an improvement on the shacks and barren ground on the Panamanian side.

"This government has done a lot for us," said Plutarco Cardenas, 33, a neighborhood leader and unemployed housepainter who has a wife and three children. "We are all going to get new housing after the government fills in the land here. The houses are built on stilts because we get up to four feet of water when the rainy season comes."

"For us, the canal means exploitation because there are jobs over there that Panamanians could have. Sixty-five per cent of the people here are out of work."

Torrijos wants the United States to increase the $1.9 million it now pays annually as rent for the canal.

The Security Council will meet for a week and sovereignty over the Canal Zone will be the No. 1 issue.

The United States has controlled the 58-square-mile zone since 1903, when after helping Panama win its independence from Colombia it was rewarded with a treaty giving it control "in perpetuity."

Paid With Hope, She Never Cashed In

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: For 25 years I have been very close to a widower. I am divorced. This man owned considerable rental property, and I lived in one of his apartments. I paid rent like everybody else, but I cooked for him and helped him rent and clean apartments when tenants vacated them. I was a trouble-shooter for violations, inspectors, routine checks, etc.

He was close with his money and paid me nothing. I didn't demand anything because he often talked about "our future" when he would sell his property and we would retire together in Florida or Palm Springs. He was 75 and I am 72.

He had one 83-year-old brother with whom he was not friendly. Also some nieces and nephews. To make it short, this gentleman was recently found dead of a heart attack. I was called immediately since I am the only one he ever spoke of.

I heard he left no will, or any mention of me. A friend advised me to put in a claim for the work I did. I was not exactly a common-law wife, but I was more like a free maid, housekeeper, rental manager and his best friend for 25 years. Do moral issues count in court? Or is it too much of a longshot? I don't want to make a fool of myself.

LOST OUT

DEAR LOST: Take the facts to a lawyer. And this should be a lesson to others; get it in writing!

DEAR ABBY: My husband received a wedding invitation addressed to "Mr." only—no mention of his wife. The people who sent it have met me, so I can't imagine why they would exclude me. My husband doesn't work with either one of them, so it can't be a business friendship. [It was sent to our home.]

What really hurt me more than anything was the fact that my husband accepted the invitation!

Maybe I am stupid, but this has me puzzled. Do you think my husband should have accepted? MRS. NOBODY

DEAR MRS.: Had your husband asked if your name was left out on purpose or by mistake, he would have known whether to accept. He should have asked.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a 10-month-old baby, and we've never had a sitter, but we wanted to go to a late party last Saturday night, so we asked my mother-in-law to sit for us. She seemed happy to do it, and we knew we could trust her with the baby.

When we got home, did she ever let us have it! She said I was a very poor housekeeper, from the condition of my refrigerator, cupboards and closets. Also, that I didn't do my laundry often enough from the looks of my stuffed clothes hampers. [Abby, I go to the laundromat twice a week.] Then she said we ought to be ashamed of ourselves for running up such big bills, and she named off some of them. She had actually snooped into our desk drawers and looked over our bills.

My husband just kept his eyes on the floor all the while she was talking, and I was too shocked and hurt to say a word.

I have lost all affection for her now. How should I act toward her in the future? HURT

DEAR HURT: I wouldn't ask her to sit again. In time, if she regrets her actions and tries to make amends, I'd go the 70 x 7 route.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Cozy Atmosphere For Restaurant

CAMBRIDGE, England (WNS) — Jane Morgan, who lives in a thatched cottage, decided to go into business and found the arrangements "rather torturous." So far, she has invested $3,000 in a collar with iron spikes, double wrist crushers, a Spanish gaiter for crushing feet, a hand clamp for extracting confessions and an iron pillory. "I'm going to open a restaurant, and this is the kind of decorations the students say they want."

Good Market For U.S. Tobacco

Japanese ambassador Nobuhiko Ushiba spoke in Raleigh at the 26th annual meeting of Tobacco Associates, Inc. last week and he indicated his concern about the imbalance of trade between his nation and the United States.

A bright spot, however, is the steadily increasing purchase of U. S. tobacco by the prospering leader of the Orient.

He noted that the Japanese smoked 230 billion cigarettes in 1970 and he reminded that Japan buys most of its tobacco from the United States.

When the Japanese Monopoly Corp. was opened in Raleigh ten years ago, its purchases of tobacco totalled only $26 million annually. In 1972 Japanese purchases amounted to 72 million pounds for $93 million.

"Japan is the best customer in the world for American Agriculture," he declared.

The Japanese tobacco purchases are certainly impressive. That country is not only providing an excellent market for U. S. grown tobacco, but the purchases are also doing a great deal to help correct the imbalance of trade between the two countries.

Mechanization Could Revolutionize Market

Another interesting development in a fast changing industry will be the mechanization of sales for tobacco at three warehouses in Rocky Mount next fall.

The project was approved by the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee provided the buying companies go along.

John H. Cyrus, crops coordinator for the N. C. Department of Agriculture, said it could "revolutionize the market of tobacco."

The project will be watched with interest in the huge tobacco industry.

White House Cool To Agnew

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The fact that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, facing increasing hostility at the White House, is entering a personal political crisis was indirectly but bluntly conveyed to him by one of President Nixon's senior staffers last week.

The White House staffer asked an Agnew aide this question: What can you honestly say the Vice President is doing in behalf of the President and the President's program?

Well, the Agnew man replied, we're improving our liaison with Congress and that ought to benefit the President's program on Capitol Hill.

Not good enough, snapped back the Nixon aide. Agnew, he pointed out, has been almost totally silent of late, failing to speak up in behalf of the President in his great battles — on impoundment of funds, on reduction of federal social services, on attempts to curb congressional power. No, he concluded, Agnew has been no help at all.

A White House staffer would not dare criticize the Vice President in such remarkably outspoken terms without assurance that the President would not object. Moreover, the Nixon staff has seemed eager that this disapproving attitude be made known outside the White House gates — an attitude lethally corrosive to Agnew's still strong base among the Republican party faithful.

Among those conservative state leaders who comprise the backbone of the Republican party, Agnew remains the clear early frontrunner for 1976. John B. Connally, not yet turned Republican at this writing, is a distant second in their eyes.

But Agnew's strength at the grass roots derives almost wholly from Mr. Nixon's. Having failed to build up party alliances and friendships over the past four years, Agnew's prestige at the grass roots is now imperiled by the proliferating message of Agnew's low esteem at the White House.

So far, at least, this chill from the White House has not discouraged Agnew himself. His close advisers believe he has made a tentative decision to seek the 1976 nomination, which explains his refraining from the strident rhetoric that he must eliminate as his trademark in order to widen his political base.

As his aide told the White House staffer, Agnew is attempting to build links with Republicans on Capitol Hill — not really for the purpose of boosting Nixon programs but to seek political alliances. Within the last month, Agnew aides newly assigned to congressional liaison have paid visits to the party's congressional leaders to make a stand-by offer of Agnew's assistance and to open regular two-way communications.

Beyond this, Agnew supporters want him to start worrying about his new playboy image as Frank Sinatra's best buddy. They have advised him to avoid recurrences of his side-by-side appearance with Sinatra over national television a month ago at the Bob Hope golf tournament in Palm Springs.

If Agnew can actually do all this — tone down his rhetoric, build congressional alliances and bury the Sinatra program — his political advisers feel the cool wind from the White House will not make that much difference. They believe that a lame-duck Nixon will have little impact on the 1976 nomination and cannot conceivably sell the party a newly converted Connally.

But this view does not comprehend the precariousness of Agnew's present position. He is without government duties, having been stripped of his politically valuable function of liaison with the mayors and governors. He clearly is not in close contact with the President. And now the White House staff is eager to put out the word that he is not helping Mr. Nixon nearly enough.

Agnew's danger is that the sum total of all this will carry to state Republican leaders the belief now widely held inside the White House: Agnew is not a serious or industrious figure worthy of running for President or capable of being elected. If that appraisal begins to melt away the thin veneer of Agnew's popularity among party regulars, he will have faded disastrously, long before Mr. Nixon decides whether or not to try to crown a successor.

Strength For Today

THE MEANING OF CHURCH

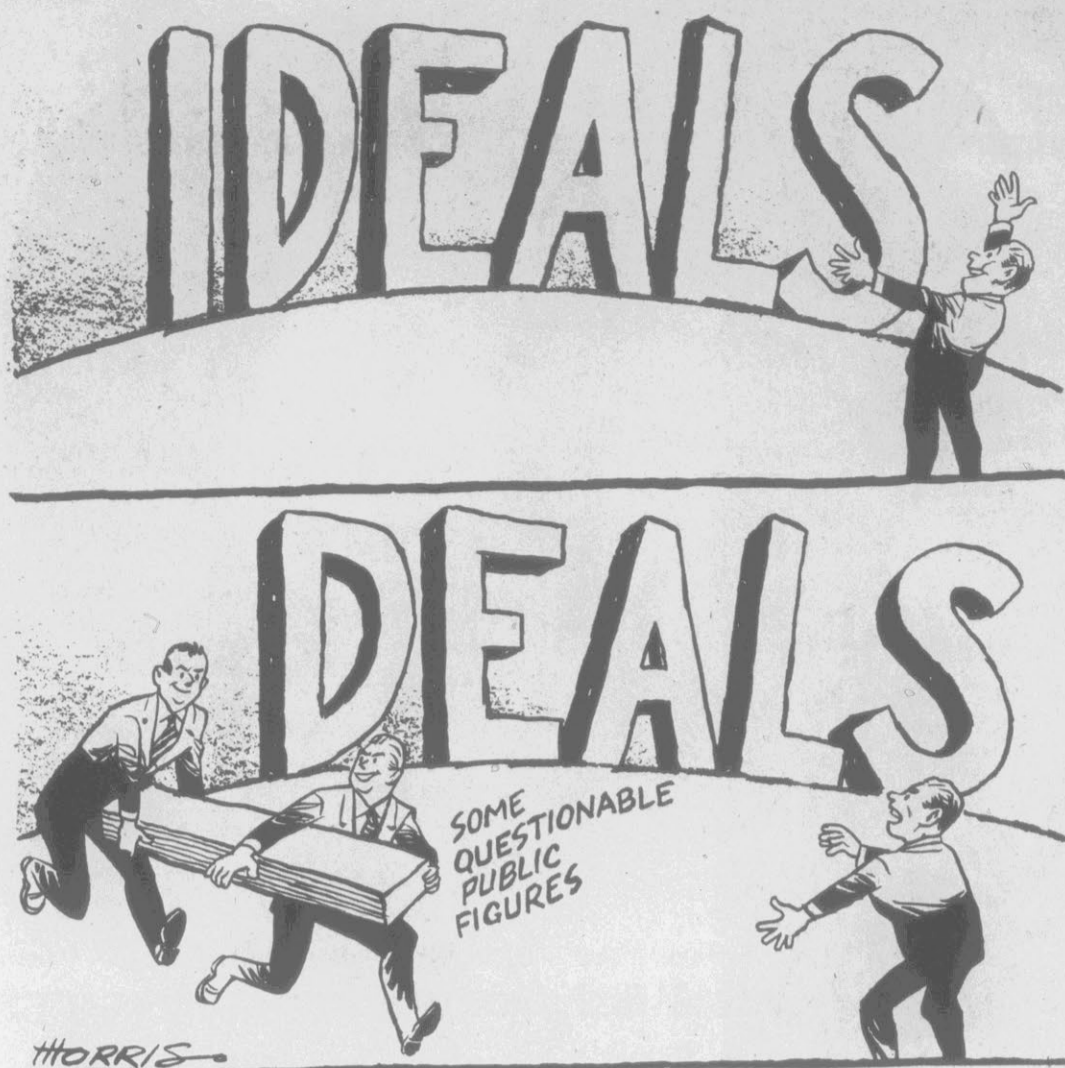

When is a church a church? A church is a church when the presence of the living God comes into a building, or a home, or even in the out-of-doors. This does not mean that in general men can worship God as well on the countryside as they can in a building formally dedicated as a church. People who maintain that Church buildings are superfluous for worship are usually just trying to excuse their absence from church. Wherever the Presence is manifested, whether in a little country church or in a vast and imposing cathedral, that is the church.

In this sense, then, even though we belong to many different churches as far as organization and denomination and ritual are concerned, we all belong to only one church. And if we ever look with disfavor and suspicion on a church that maintains teachings or rituals contrary to ours, it is well to keep in mind what really constitutes a church.

Eat Now And Pay Later

WASHINGTON — With the price of food going up every day, it is not inconceivable that banks will soon be making loans on an "Eat Now, Pay Later Plan."

This is how it would work. Mr. and Mrs. Kalabush go to their local bank and are escorted to one of the assistant vice presidents.

"What can I do for you?" the vice president asks.

"We'd like to make a loan," Mr. Kalabush says.

"For what purpose?"

"We'd like to borrow the money to buy five steaks for a dinner party we're having tomorrow night."

The vice president says, "That sounds rather expensive. We can make you a loan on hamburger or chicken without too much difficulty, but a steak loan is something else again. How much do you make a year?"

"$18,000," Mr. Kalabush says. "The reason we want to buy steak is that my mother-in-law and father-in-law are coming over and we consider it a good investment."

"I see," the vice president says. "What kind of collateral would you be willing to put up?"

"We have a 1971 Mercury that's all paid for."

The vice president checks in his Blue Book. "But that would only pay for two steaks."

Mrs. Kalabush says, "I have some stocks and bonds."

The vice president looks them over. "The car and the stocks and bonds are fine, but we're talking about beef now, and I'm afraid they just wouldn't cover the expenses of the dinner."

"Would you consider our car, the stocks and bonds and our house as sufficient collateral?"

"How much is your house worth?"

"$30,000."

"$30,000."

The vice president does some fast figuring with a calculator.

"That's all right," Mrs. Kalabush says. "We were going to sell our cabin on the lake to pay for the rest of the meal."

"What do we do now?" Mr. Kalabush asks.

The vice president says, "We'll send our meat appraiser out to your butcher shop this afternoon to look over the steaks and make sure they are as you described them."

"You won't take our word for it?" Mr. Kalabush asks.

"The banks have been burned very badly on steak loans. People come in here and say they want to borrow money on a porterhouse or a New York strip and they go out and buy a turkey. When you borrow this kind of money for steak we want to make sure you're buying steak with it."

"Now under our steak loan plan we require that you put 25 per cent down in cash and pay the rest over a 10-year period at 8 per cent interest."

"I didn't realize you had to put down that much cash," Mr. Kalabush says.

"Oh, yes," the vice president replies. "We believe in this way we know you're serious about wanting to eat steak. Now if you wanted to make a catfish loan you wouldn't have to put down any cash."

"No," says Mrs. Kalabush.

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

March 14, 1933

Sixteen hundred packages of garden seed to be used in the relief garden program throughout this country were being distributed today through the Welfare Department. The seed will be distributed among people who have been receiving aid throughout the Reconstruction Corporations Fund, and each will be required to plant a garden to help support his family during the coming spring and summer.

Banks reopened without restriction, except the federal ruling against hoarding, in four cities today, and other institutions were preparing to open later in the week under the Stagger plan as outlined by President Roosevelt and Secretary Woodin. Institutions in Charlotte, Raleigh, Winston-Salem and Asheville resumed operations under the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Virginia.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some things we could do without: People who tell you they're sorry for what they did — when they really aren't sorry at all but secretly glad.

Telephones that get you three wrong numbers for one right one.

Welcome mats that say on them: "Please don't stay long."

HAL BOYLE

The noisy kiddier in every group that tours a wax museum. Why do you need a life of the party on a trip like that?

A late flu in March that keeps you from smelling the early spring flowers.

Funerals without music, sorrows too dry for tears.

A happiness that comes too late to be shared.

Winning a Shetland pony in a church lottery when you're 62 years old.

Having five teen-agers in a large family at the same time — four of them with acne and the fifth with a personality problem.

A hospital nurse who's had the same ailment you're suffering and doesn't remember she felt so bad with it as you claim you do.

Looking under the bed with a hangover for the socks you kicked there so blithely the night before.

Being picked up as a child by the robust aunt who shakes you until your bones rattle and then won't set you back down without giving you a farewell kiss like a dehydrated vacuum cleaner.

Two-faced people who look as bad wearing one face as the other.

Days that seem like Monday when they are actually Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

People who say after a cloudburst: "Well, it is dry enough out for you?"

People who say during a long drought: "Well, if it don't rain soon it'll get wuss."

People who refer to God by such terms as "the Guy upstairs."

People who think you're a racial bigot if you don't call everyone darker than you are "a black." Does it make you more of a liberal to say, "She's a black," instead of, "She's a colored lady"?

Anybody who won't do his fair share of pushing in a revolving door.

Nothing but nickels in your pocket when you're in a laundromat and need quarters and dimes. Television mimics you can't really imitate anybody but Cary Grant and Marlon Brando.

To The Editor:

How fortunate the town of Greenville is to have a man like Mr. Ed Fields among its citizenry. I am referring in particular to the noble decision Mr. Fields made when he chose not to let the movie, "Who's Afraid Of Virginia Wolfe," be shown on your local TV station.

I have nothing but admiration for the man who puts the welfare of others ahead of his own selfish gains. Mr. Fields is wise enough to be able to see ahead and he knows what one sees and hears and reads is what one eventually becomes. Solomon called it wisdom! Television can be one of America's greatest blessings or one of its greatest curses. That one decision Mr. Fields made lets us in TV land know that he for one desires the better side. It is going to be a tough battle, Mr. Fields, for the powers of darkness is against you. God grant you the strength to stand by your convictions!

Every one who appreciates his courageous stand, and the number is greater than one would think, should let him know they are 100 per cent with him in his reasoning.

Railroads, 15 Unions In Accord

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads and 15 unions have negotiated a package of wages and benefits that is likely to win acceptance under Phase 3 guidelines.

The package provides increases in pay and fringe benefits of about 7 per cent on a yearly basis. Under the Nixon administration's mostly voluntary Phase 3 guidelines, wage increases of 5.5 per cent a year are permitted, plus .7 per cent in fringe benefits.

The Cost of Living Council, however, has said there will be flexibility in the guidelines, and a council source indicated after Tuesday's agreement was announced that the package likely will be approved.

Industry and union spokesmen say the agreement covers 18 months beginning July 1 with a total package of wage and benefit increases of 10.7 per cent. They figured the total annual increase at about 7 per cent.

The agreement, affecting 500,000 workers, is subject to ratification by members of the Sheet Metal Workers union, and by officials of the other unions.

The agreement is unprecedented in that never before had there been a nationwide rail settlement in advance of contract expiration dates. The past 10 years, for example, were marked by 13 major rail strikes, many of them ended by emergency congressional action.

The early settlement apparently was dictated in part by pressure to resolve problems of the industry's financially shaky retirement fund before June 30 when all current national railroad contracts run out. Certain benefits temporarily being paid by the government will lapse on that date if the industry is unable to put the fund on solid ground.

Under the tentative settlement, the carriers and unions will recommend that Congress extend the time for restructuring the fund for 18 months beyond the current June 30 deadline.

In the meantime, the carriers agreed to pick up the payments now paid by the workers into the separate railroad retirement fund covering them in lieu of Social Security. This will add $42.75 per month to the paychecks of workers now contributing the maximum amount.

Spokesmen for the unions and National Railway Labor Conference, bargaining arm for the industry, said the agreement includes a 4-per-cent wage increase, effective Jan. 1, 1974, which will add about 21 cents to the rail workers' $5.31 average hourly pay.

Buchwald Col. Lumbee Indians Attain Some Sought-For Goals

 "We really want to buy the steaks."
 "Good," the vice president replies. "As soon as we hear from our meat appraiser we'll notify your butcher that it's all right to deliver the steaks to you."
 "Thank you very much," Mr. Kalabush says as he and Mrs. Kalabush get up. "We're very grateful for the loan."
 "Don't mention it," the vice president says. "I think you've got a terrific investment. You never know what steak is going to cost in the future."

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Lumbee Indians from Robeson County demonstrated peacefully outside the legislature Tuesday and went home with some of the concessions they came for.
 The Indians, who took pains to disassociate themselves from the Tuscarora faction that has been holding raucous demonstrations in Robeson for the past week, were primarily concerned with "double voting." That, they said, was a Robeson County system which enabled whites to maintain control over the schools. They said the residents of Lumberton, most of them white, can vote in elections for both the city and county school boards.

 They said that the county population, much of it black and Indian, can vote only in county school board elections, and they told Robeson County legislators they wanted the system changed to enable blacks and Indians to exercise more control over the county school. After a closed conference, Reps. Joy Johnson and Gus Spers and Sen. Luther Britt, all D-Robeson, said they had agreed on a compromise.

 It would add six members to the county school board, two Indians, two blacks, and two whites. The remaining seven members would be elected as they are now.
 But the six new members, they said, would be elected only by county residents.

Johnson said he and his fellow legislators had been "somewhat negligent" in formulating legislation to give Indians a greater voice in school affairs.
 Johnson also told the Indians that the chances were good that the legislature will soon have its first Indian member. He said the death of Frank White, D-Robeson, had left a vacancy, and predicted it would be filled by Henry Ward Oxendine, a Pembroke resident now attending law school at North Carolina Central University.

Named To Posts In Environmental Body

Fin Johnson and Mrs. Ruth Peterson, both of Greenville, have been named to the Steering Committee of the N. C. Environmental Information and Education Network Council.
 The Council was established following a two-day conference on environmental education needs in the Northern Coastal Plains held in Washington last Thursday and Friday.
 The first meeting of the Steering Committee will be held Saturday, March 23 at 2 p.m. at the Edenton Restaurant in Edenton.

Once fully implemented, the Network Council should involve hundreds of persons in every county and many towns in the 22 northeastern counties. Total education and information services will be developed to make the general public aware of environmental problems, means to solve these problems, and alternative methods of action.
 Johnson works for North Carolina Air Quality here and Mrs. Peterson for the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are thinking big and want to become big now, but some unexpected obstacles may loom in your path that require a switch in methods if you are to be able to contend with them wisely. However, these changes produce in time a better set of circumstances for you to operate under. Maintain your cool.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to have fun, but there may be obstacles in your path today so wait until tomorrow. An associate may be somewhat demanding, but this is necessary. Evening is fine for radio listening or TV viewing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Listen to views of kin that you were not able to understand before, but do not show resentment. The ideas of others also have to be considered intelligently. Don't scold a close tie who could be your best friend as well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Much care in motion of all kinds is necessary today and tonight, especially when driving on highways and byways. Make sure you spend wisely and well, and count your change; keep wallet in safe pocket.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't spend or invest too quickly, or you will surely regret it later on. Try to add to bank account instead of taking more out of it, and if you do not have one, start one. Cultivate conservatism.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't be forceful with others in order to get your own way, or you can only make enemies and accomplish very little. Use a wiser psychology. Steer clear of social activities tonight where big arguments might start.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Not a good day to contact advisers who are either too busy or not in good form, so wait for a better day for such. Get as much information as you can on your own. Work with vim and vigor and get ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Listen to the advice which a good and dynamic friend can give you now, and follow it implicitly. Social activities can prove to be very beneficial to your interests. Dress in fine style.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) State your aims and goals to influential persons and gain their advice and support, since it is impossible for you to work alone. Make sure you pay that important bill you have procrastinated about for so long. Improve your credit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to expand and can do so if you contact the right key people now. Once you have the right data, you can make plans for travel, or for changes. Home is your best bet in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to comprehend better what key persons in your scheme of things are doing and then you can coordinate your mutual efforts more intelligently. Endeavor to please mate more, also. Make it a fifty-fifty proposition.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make the right arrangements with a conservative associate who has fine ideas, and you both benefit. Show generosity with one who opposes you and you reach a fine understanding. Stop being so belligerent.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Getting home beautified, or office modernized can make life and work easier and more pleasant and your health improves. Give a co-worker a boost and enjoy more harmonious relations, speed up production.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who is full of generosity and big ideas, but who needs encouragement and praise when doing something especially worthy in order to make a big success in life, since there is much sensitivity in this nature. The fine talents could be stunted if not given the proper credit. If this is done and care is paid to diet, which is

Winterville Aldermen Approve An Auxiliary Police Division

WINTERVILLE—An auxiliary police division was added to the Winterville Police Department during a special meeting of the Winterville Board of Aldermen last night.

The new division will be under the supervision of Winterville Chief of Police Bill Whitehurst, who will be acting under the general supervision of the town board.

Duties of the auxiliary police will be to assist the regular members of the police department in maintaining peace and order when called to active duty by the chief of police. The new organization will be a voluntary one and will be composed of as many members as determined needed by the town board.

According to the new regulations set up for the auxiliary force, no auxiliary policeman shall attempt to enforce any law except when called to active duty by the chief of police.

After the new division was formed last night, 11 auxiliary policemen were sworn in by E. C. Hines, mayor pro-tem.

In other business, board members approved a five percent increase in electrical rates effective with the March reading. The new increase will be seen on bills received by Winterville residents April 1.

The increase is a temporary one and will be used to pay for the new rate already being charged the town of Winterville by the Greenville Utilities Commission. (The increase is due to a fuel-adjustment cost passed on to Winterville by Greenville Utilities).

The increase will have no effect on the increase that is being proposed by VEPCO at the present time.

The five percent increase will collect enough money so that Greenville Utilities will be able to make up the adjustment cost.

The town has purchased a 1972 Dodge from the State of North Carolina Department of Purchasing Contract Division.

The new vehicle, to be used by the Winterville Police Department, replaces a 1969 Ford that will be advertised for sale.

Town Clerk Elwood Nobles reported to the board that the ordinance prohibiting dogs from running at large is being enforced by town officials.

The portable dog pound is currently being kept at the Winterville Municipal Building.

Fashion Shop Is To Be Opened

Greenville's newest fashion shop for young women, Country Vogue, opens for business Thursday morning at the corner of Fifth and Cotanche Streets.

The completely new store, the third junior fashion facility to be opened in eastern North Carolina by W.L. (Billy) Nisbet, president, will be managed by Bill Nisbet Jr.

Offering junior clothing selections from all over the country, the shop will handle an array of fashions, including dresses, pants and tops, as well as a full line of pocket books, belts and other accessories, the owners announced.

The store's interior is all new, following a renovation theme designed to appeal to the ladies' taste. Flower print carpet and three Tiffany lamps help set off the atmosphere of the shop.

Opening hour Thursday will be 10 a.m. and the store will operate on a 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. schedule six days a week thereafter, it was pointed out.

Billy Nisbet, who is from Greenville originally, formerly operated a men's haberdashery at Five Points here before moving to Wilmington where he operated a ladies ready-to-wear shop until 1965. Country Vogue Inc. was opened in Wilmington four years ago and another store under the name opened in Jacksonville in December of 1971.

Albert G. Nisbet manages the Jacksonville store.

The new manager here Bill Nisbet, Jr., attended school in Greenville before moving to Wilmington.

Dr. Wierwille To Be Speaking March 21

Dr. Victor Paul Wierwille, founder of The Way International, will address The Way of North Carolina in a meeting to be held March 21 here at The American Legion Hut.

The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public at no charge.

Dr. Wierwille will be seen on national television over the CBS-TV network this spring in a documentary motion picture entitled The Rock of Ages, which is the story of a unique youth music festival held in west-central Ohio.

Dr. Wierwille and The Way International have recently been the subjects of feature stories in LIFE and TIME magazines and many newspapers nationwide.

The Way International is a 30-year-old biblical research and teaching ministry. It has been attracting thousands of young people, and adults in many states who claim not only the usual drug cures and healings, but "transformed lives." Heart of the teaching outreach of The Way International is a class entitled "Power for Abundant Living."

Dr. Wierwille is currently on a five-week tour of some of the outlying branches of The Way International. The tour will take him to 15 states and to Venezuela, Barbados and Puerto Rico.

The Way International is headquartered in New Knoxville, Ohio. Regional branches are located in most of the United States and in several foreign countries.

Find Body Of Boating Victim

WARRENTON, N. C. (AP)—The body of a Warren County man who died in a boating accident on Lake Gaston was recovered Tuesday.

Rescue squads from North Carolina communities and South Hill, Va., figured in the recovery of the body of Ed D. Rooker of Norlina, who had been missing since the accident Monday.

A companion, Warren County sheriff's deputy Don Lamieux, managed to swim to shore after being thrown from their fishing boat when it hit a tree stump.

Driver Charged In Accident

Carl Stanelly Nichols, 33, of 403 Clairmont Cir. was charged with driving the wrong way on a one-way street yesterday following investigation of a 3:10 mishap at the intersection of Memorial and South Village Drives.

Officers reported the Nichols vehicle collided with a car operated by Donald Wayne Lassiter, 19, of Route 1, Bethel, causing an estimated $225 damage to the Lassiter auto and about $450 damage to the Nichols vehicle.

CRIME AND CORRUPTION

are rampant in the world and, according to the Bible, retribution comes as a consequence. The world is suffering a great "time of trouble." There is much cause for great rejoicing, however, because this dark cloud of trouble has a silver lining. God's new invisible and visible supernatural government will soon be established on earth, and will make it a new worldwide paradise. Crime and corruption will be abolished, and all men of good will can then have everlasting safety, peace, joy and life. For details write The Bible Standard, Chester Springs Pa. 19425. ## Pirates Edge Duke, 4-0, In Eleventh

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
DURHAM — East Carolina finally took advantage of Duke University mistakes yesterday to take an 11-inning 4-0 victory over the Blue Devils, finally ending a superb pitching duel.

Tommy Toms had locked up with Duke's Gordy Jackson for the first nine innings of the game, but Dave LaRussa came on to finally claim the win, going the last two frames. Jackson hung on the rest of the way to get pinned with the loss.

Toms, working well, allowed only two baserunners during the first five innings, and didn't allow a hit during the same period. In fact, neither of the baserunners was his fault, as one reached after fanning on a passed ball, and the other was safe on an error.

The miscue, the only one of the game for the Bucs, was the first of the year, as the Pirates played 22 straight frames without an error.

Duke finally got their first hit off Toms in the sixth, but didn't really threaten until the ninth when they loaded the bases with one out. But Toms fanned the fifth batter in the inning, and Mike Bradshaw, who had made the lone Buc error, came up with a fine fielding play, going behind second base to rob Chalmers Nunn of a hit to end the inning and keep the Bucs in the running.

Toms, in his nine innings of duty, struck out six and walked just one, scattering five hits over the last four innings he hurled. LaRussa, firing hard, fanned all three batters in the 10th, and after allowing a leadoff hit in the 11th, got two of the next three on strikeouts for a total of five during his short work.

Jackson, in absorbing the loss, struck out six and walked one, while allowing eight hits. Duke only got one man past first base in the first eight innings. That came when Dave Troyan reached in the fifth on the error, advancing on the play to lead off the frame. But Toms struck out the next batter, and infield grounders ended the frame.

Then, in the ninth, the Bucs really got a scare. With one down, John Poff got a single to deep second and Robbie Cox, former Greenville High School star, followed with a single to right, moving Poff to third. Budd Flesch was intentionally walked to set up the double play, but Joe Metcalf helped the Bucs along with a strikeout. Nunn then hit his grounder through the box, and it looked like a sure hit and the game ended, but Bradshaw's spectacular play got him at the wire, keeping the

Washington Hands Rampants 6-1 Defeat In Opening Baseball Game

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer
WASHINGTON — Baseball '73 got off on a sour note for the Rose High Rampants yesterday as the Pam Pack of Washington rode a freakish first inning to a 6-1 win over Rose in the Rampant's season opener. Washington is 2-0.

The Pack pushed over all it needed in the first as they came up with five runs on a single hit. After that Rampant hurler Lee Cherry kept Washington in check, allowing three other men to reach base and only one other score but in the meantime the Rampants could not quite seem to get something going.

Cherry shut the Pam Pack out in the next three innings. In the fifth, Washington put two on but a fly ended the frame. In the sixth the final Washington run came in as Jamie Jones reached on an error and came all the way around.

Rampant score coming in the fourth on two of the four Rose hits. They put a man as far as third base two other times but failed to score.

William Woolard whiffed eight Rampants and walked half as many, four. His team committed four errors. Cherry struck out six and walked six but gave up two hits and saw his teammates slip up twice.

Rose got a hit in the first inning. With two out, Johnny Barwick reached as his infield bounded over the pitchers' head and no one could get to it in time. He was left stranded as the next batter grounded out.

Oak City Loses 1st

EDENTON — Chowan High School rolled to a 13-1 victory over Oak City High School yesterday in the opener for the Trojans.

Chowan blasted the game open in the third inning scoring nine runs on Trojan mistakes. King led off with a walk and Sawyer also got one. Bob Bunch reached on an error and that led Bunch score. Richard Bunch also reached on an error, scoring Evans. Spruill's single brought in Leary, and Peel walked to reload the bases.

King up for the second time, walked to score Richard Bunch, and Sawyer was safe on an error, scoring Spruill. Bob Bunch walked to forced Peel over and Evans reached on an error, scoring King with the ninth run.

Chowan came back with four more in the bottom of the fourth to wrap it up.

Washington Hands Rampants 6-1 Defeat In Opening Baseball Game

With one down, Barwick looped a double down the right field line and came around as Stanley Cobb slipped a hit into the same place.

In the fifth, Herb Wilkerson opened the frame with a walk for Rose and tried to steal second. The ball was errored. Lemmond buted his way on and moved Wilkerson to third at the same time. Gil Whitford grounded back to the Washington third baseman who played the ball at home and nailed Wilkerson as he slid across the plate.

Saratoga Stops Farmville Nine

SARATOGA — Saratoga Central rolled to a 6-3 victory over the Farmville Central Jaguars yesterday as the Jags opened the 1973 baseball season.

Farmville Central gained the lead in the first inning, pushing over a run. Ed Wells reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on a passed ball. Tony Oakley then singled him to third, and the two worked a double steal for the run.

But Saratoga countered that with a run in the second. Vick singled and moved up on an error on the play. He scored when Evans got a hit.

The third saw Saratoga push into the lead with another run. Finch reached on an error and took second on a passed ball. Langston moved him to third, reaching on another error. Turnage then singled him home.

The fourth inning gave Saratoga the game, as they got four more runs to take a 6-1 lead. Bryant led off and was hit by a pitch. Langston doubled and Turnage singled to score Bryant. Carter walked to load them up, and a walk to McKeel brought in Langston. Scott then singled in Turnage and Carter.

Farmville tried to rally, coming up with single runs in the fifth and seventh. Glenn Dwyer reached on an error in the fifth, advanced on a passed ball and scored on Wells' double. In the seventh, Marty Hobgood walked, moved up on a passed ball and scored when Wells was safe on an error.

Wells had two hits for Farmville, while Turnage led Saratoga with a pair.

Randle To Stay

East Carolina University head football coach Sonny Randle has turned down an assistant coaching position with the Baltimore Colts.

W. G'ville Gets Win

The West Greenville girls basketball team inched out a 21-20 victory over South Greenville Recreation Center last night.

Randle reportedly had been offered a job with the Colts which would have placed him in charge of the team's passing game. The former All-Pro receiver with the St. Louis Cardinals has been mentioned for several positions with the pros recently, including one with the Washington Redskins. He led the Pirates to a 9-2 year in his second season last year, gaining the Southern Conference championship and Coach of the Year honors.

Randora Perry and Emma Edwards both had six points to lead West Greenville, while Dot Moye led South Greenville with 12.

Randle, who has just started spring drills at East Carolina, said he felt that staying at East Carolina was the best thing for him at this time.

For Duke, it was the opening game, and therefore their first loss.

East Carolina now turns to the Southern Conference to play host to Furman University Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Harrington Field.

Bawling Out Got Penn Back On Track After Early Season Loss

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — A dashing down by Coach Chuck Daly got the Penn basketball team on the right track again after a 62-58 loss to Massachusetts early in the season.

"Our guys were playing like they thought they were those highly ranked Penn teams that killed everybody with great talent," Daly said Tuesday in a telephone interview.

"U. Mass, which turned into a fine team (19-6, NIT berth) was only 4-4 then, and I said that we had to learn to fight for everything we got. I also said then that I hadn't seen that kind of determined attitude among our players. But we redefined a few perspectives, and things changed."

At that time in mid-January the Quakers were 7-3. Things changed so much that now they are 21-5, and play the Providence Friars, 25-2, Thursday night in the first game of the NCAA Eastern Regional semifinals.

Maryland, 22-6, will play Syracuse, 23-4 in the second game that night in the Charlotte Coliseum. The winners will play Saturday afternoon for one of the four places in next week's tournament in St. Louis for the national college basketball championship.

Daly, a former assistant to Vic Bubas at Duke, says that now his team has earned its identity. Penn has won its fourth straight Ivy League and Philadelphia Big Five titles.

Last year, its first under Daly, Penn was 25-3 and lost to North Carolina in the Eastern finals after beating Providence 76-60 in the first round.

The remembrance of the loss probably will be a factor for Providence, Daly said. "But what makes them tougher this year is Kevin Stacom's providing a third big scorer. We had success sloughing off on (Ernie) DeGregorio last year, but with Stacom also at guard, you can't do that now."

DeGregorio averages 24.6 points, 6-foot-8 Marvin Barnes 18.4 and 20 rebounds, and Stacom 17.2 points.

DeGregorio scored 25 of his 31 points in the second half as Providence, looking like the No. 1 team in the East, routed St. Joseph's 89-75 in the NCAA first round last Saturday.

At the same time, Penn edged St. John's 62-61.

Providence is fourth ranked nationally, and Penn is No. 18.

Maryland is No. 8 and Syracuse is No. 14.

Penn uses four men up front, on offense popularized last season when the now-graduated Corky Calhoun played a fluid guard at 6-7. The new man out there is also 6-7; a 210-pound sophomore, Bob Bigelow, who often brings the ball upcourt against pressure.

Penn uses a man-to-man defense most of the time. Opponents have shot only 38.8 per cent against it, and the 55.8 scoring yield leads the nation.

That makes the offensive average of 68.0 more potent than it appears. Still, scoring concerns Daly against a running team like Providence.

Immanuel Gains Church Finals

Immanuel Baptist, regular season victor in the Church Basketball League, gained the finals of the postseason tournament last night with a 61-58 win over Presbyterian.

Presbyterian will now meet Oakmont, a 74-52 victor over Piney Grove, in the losers' bracket finale, with the winner taking on Immanuel for the title. Immanuel and Oakmont play tonight.

In the opener last night, Oakmont had little trouble in disposing of Piney Grove, rolling up a 37-18 lead at halftime. In the second half, they coasted to the victory, outshooting Piney Grove, 37-34.

Doyle Daughtry led Oakmont with 19 points, while Robert Carraway had 18 and Bobby Hall had 13. For Piney Grove, Buddy Turnage had 14, while Jimmy Mills and Wayne Avery each had 10.

Immanuel and Presbyterian fought hard all the way, as the first half ended in a 28-28 deadlock. But the final half, Immanuel managed to sneak ahead, outpointing Presbyterian, 33-30, to take the victory and gain the driver's seat in the finals.

Dick Evans led Immanuel with 15 points, while Cliff McNeil had 14 and Drew Rumbley had 10. For Presbyterian, Larry Graham had 19 and Ron Barnes had 10.

Athletics Can Afford Problems

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Oakland Athletics have their share of springtime problems but, as baseball's world champions, they can afford them.

As the A's finished preparing for the exhibition season, battersmates Vida Blue and Dave Duncan remained adamant holdouts, it was doubtful that slugger Reggie Jackson would be at full strength in April. World Series hero Gene Tenace was learning a new position and it was anybody's guess who would be the team's center fielder.

"We figure to repeat in our division," Manager Dick Williams says, confident that his team's strong points will prevail in the American League West.

Outstanding pitching carried the A's into the World Series last fall and beat the Cincinnati Reds in the October classic. The acquisition of relievers Paul Lindblad and Horacio Pina in winter trades should make Williams' staff even stronger this year.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter, Ken Holtzman and John "Blue Moon" Odum combined for 55 victories as 1972 starters and all finished strong. Blue, a contract holdout until early May last year, will be trying to regain the form that made him 24-8 in 1971. He struggled to a 6-10 record last year despite a good 2.80 earned run average.

Two World Series regulars, first baseman Mike Epstein and right fielder Matty Alou, have been traded off. The moves set up Tenace's switch from catcher to first base and the center field vacancy.

"Reggie Jackson is going back to right field to stay and will bat fourth," Williams says. Epstein was last year's clean-up hitter and led the team in home runs with 26. Jackson finished the season in center after the August arrival of Alou and totaled 25 homers.

Second baseman Dick Green, who missed virtually all the 1972 season because of a back injury, appears sound. If he is, Williams will scrap the revolving second baseman plan he used at the tailend of last year.

Campy Campaneris, the league's base-stealing champion, will spot opposing runners one week of the coming season because of the suspension he drew for the playoff bat-throwing incident. Veteran Dal Maxvill figures to be the opening day shortstop and to back up Campy after that.

Captain Sal Bando returns at third base and Joe Rudi, the team's leading hitter with a .305 average in 1972, will be in left field. Bando batted only .236 but led the A's in RBIs with 77.

The centerfield candidates include Billy Conigliaro, the Milwaukee Brewers dropout who started his big league career under Williams at Boston in 1969. he quit the Brewers at midseason last year but was talked out of his premature retirement by the champs, who gave Milwaukee outfielder Ollie Brown for rights to Conigliaro.

George Hendrick and Angel Mangual, both starters in center during the World Series, are back. Speedy Bill North, a former Chicago Cubs prospect, is the fourth man bidding for the job.

Perry Looks Sharp In Shortened Lefty Thinks Mental Preparation Game As Cleveland Stops Angels Is Big Thing In NCAA Tournament

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Gaylord Perry, the American League's Cy Young Award winner in 1972, appears ready to open the season, but Tom Seaver, former National League Cy Young winner, is unlikely to make it for the opener.

Perry, named the AL's top pitcher after compiling a 24-16 record in his first season in the league, looked razor-sharp Tuesday as the Cleveland Indians blanked the California Angels 3-0 in an exhibition game shortened to 4½ innings by rain.

The lanky right-hander went the distance, shacking the Angels on five scattered singles and striking out four.

Seaver, meanwhile, was back in his hotel room as the New York Mets lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 on Joe Fergu-son's pinch-hit, grand-slam home run in the ninth inning.

The NL's 1969 Cy Young winner was sent back to the hotel for the third straight day, suffering from a serious throat infection. Seaver, being treated with penicillin, has yet to pitch this spring, and Manager Yogi Berra said, "If he doesn't pitch soon, he will not get enough work in down here (in Florida) to be ready for the opener" on April 6.

While Seaver was disconsolately nursing his sore throat, outfielders Rusty Staub and Willie Mays made their long-awaited spring debuts for the Mets. Staub, the last Mets' holdout, singled in the game's first run, and Mays, fined $500 Sunday for leaving camp without permission, doubled his first time up.

The Dodgers overcame a 2-1 deficit in the ninth on singles by Willie Crawford and Tom Paciorek, Ron Cey's walk and Ferguson's homer on the first pitch thrown to him by rookie Hank Webb.

Cleveland scored all the runs Perry needed in the fourth inning, two on Jack Brohamer's single and the other on Charlie Spikes' sacrifice fly.

Elsewhere, another former Giant, first baseman Orlando Cepeda, continued his strong comeback with the Boston Red Sox. Cepeda, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1967 when he was with the St. Louis Cardinals, has undergone four knee operations in recent years.

But he seems to have recuperated well. As Boston's designated hitter, he drove in three runs with a homer and a single, sparking the Red Sox to a 7-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Cepeda now has four hits, four RBI, two walks and a sacrifice fly in four exhibition games. Reggie Smith and Tommie Harper also homered for Boston.

Another Red Sox' squad, meanwhile, dropped a 4-3 decision to the Houston Astros. Cesar Cedeno smacked a two-run homer for Houston.

In other games Tuesday, it was Philadelphia 6, Kansas City 2; Chicago Cubs 7, Oakland 5; St. Louis 6, Baltimore 0; Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 4; New York Yankees 2, Chicago White Sox 1; Minnesota 5, Atlanta 0; and Los Angeles "B" 7, Montreal 5.

Two games were canceled because of rain—San Francisco against San Diego and California against Arizona State University.

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Now that the NCAA basketball tournament has been reduced to 16 teams, Coach Lefty Driesell of Maryland thinks mental attitude could prove a decisive factor.

"At this point, I think mental preparation may be more important than physical," Driesell said today. "You can't get in shape now, so we did very little running and scrimmaging this week. We didn't even practice Monday."

The eighth-ranked Terps, 22-6, will oppose 14th ranked Syracuse, 23-4, in the opening round of the Eastern Regionals at Charlotte, N.C., Thursday night. Providence, the nation's No. 4 team, plays 18th ranked Penn in the other game.

"After 28 games and practicing almost every day," Driesell said, "the players have to be in shape unless they dissipate. And, if they do, the team wouldn't have gotten this far anyway."

Half of Maryland's defeats were administered by second-ranked North Carolina State, including a 76-74 decision last Saturday which gave the Wolfpack the Atlantic Coast Conference title.

"I told my players they had nothing to be ashamed of, or to be down after losing to the No. 2 team," Driesell said. "I don't think there's that much difference between the two ball clubs."

The Terps qualified for the regionals despite the loss in the ACC finals, because State is on NCAA probation and ineligible for further postseason play.

Maryland center Len Elmore, the team's leading rebounder and a menacing shot blocker, is suffering with a broken bone in his right foot and was kept out of the State game. But he will see action in the regionals.

Driesell said he had no second thoughts about withholding Elmore from the ACC title game, because: "My goal is to win the national championship, not the ACC Tournament. It wasn't worth the risk to use Lennie."

This will be only the second time Maryland has played in the NCAA tournament, and the first for the Terps under Driesell since he arrived four seasons ago. While at Davidson, Driesell had three teams which lost in regional play.

The Terps defeated Syracuse 90-76 in the finals of their own Maryland Invitation Tournament early this season as Tom McMillen scored 32 points and the Terps hit 62 percent of their shots. It was the highest score against the Orangemen this season.

"We scouted Syracuse in the game against Furman last week," Driesell said, "and they're doing basically the same thing they did in December, only executing better. But we hope we are, too. We'll have to play excellent ball to win."

Tony Boyle Named Instigator Of Killings, But No New Action

By GARY MIHOSES
Associated Press Writer
ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Despite testimony which again thrusts ousted United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle into the spotlight in the Yablonski murders, investigators say they have no plans to seek further indictments.

"There is nothing in the works right now," a highly placed government source said Tuesday night. "This whole case has been one of a flood of breaks followed by long droughts, and maybe a flood is starting again. But no action is contemplated as things stand now."

Boyle's name surfaced Tuesday in the state murder trial here of William J. Prater, a former UMW organizer from LaFollette, Tenn. The government alleges Prater was a conduit in the $20,000 purportedly paid for the deaths of UMW insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter.

Paul E. Gilly, 38, a convicted participant in the slayings who had remained silent on his role in them until this week, testified that Prater told him Boyle was behind the killings.

Gilly told of three meetings he had with Prater prior to the New Year's Eve 1969 murders at the Yablonskis' rambling rural home near the southwestern Pennsylvania town of Clarksville.

Gilly said that at one such meeting Prater told him Yablonski "was trying to break and destroy the union and also its pension fund."

"And did he say who wanted Yablonski killed?" asked Special Prosecutor Richard Sprague.

"Yes sir, Tony Boyle," Gilly replied.

Boyle, contacted later at his home in Washington, D.C., stood by his previous denials of any knowledge of the killings.

Boyle has never been charged formally with any role in the slayings, though his name has arisen before in court proceedings stemming from the murders.

The Yablonskis were shot to death in their beds three weeks after the union rebel lost a bitterly contested election for the UMW's presidency to Boyle, then the incumbent.

New Rules

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's Building Code Council has adopted new rules designed to make public buildings more accessible to the physically handicapped.

As a result, public buildings of the future will have fewer steps, more ramps, wider doors, lower light switches, and more accessible water fountains and toilet facilities, and more buildings will have elevators.

The new rules will apply after 90 days to all new public buildings including stores, jails, hospitals, schools, theaters, airports, motels, stadiums and apartment complexes. They do not apply to one and two-family dwellings.

Vote Funds For Elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Programs for the elderly would be financed to the tune of $1.4 billion over the next three years under a bill that has passed the House.

The Democratic floor manager of the bill called it one of the most significant pieces of legislation for the elderly since Social Security, but Republicans, citing administration opposition, warned of a possible presidential veto.

The measure, approved Tuesday by a vote of 329 to 69, calls for spending $603 million less than a bill vetoed by President Nixon last year.

State and federal agencies dealing with the elderly would be strengthened under the bill, which also expands services for the elderly, increases spending ceilings and provides for several new programs. The measure was sent back to the Senate, which had already passed a slightly different version.

Bail Set For 3 In Shooting Of Senator Stennis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bail of from $10,000 to $50,000 has been set for three men charged in the Jan. 30 robbery-shooting of Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss. They were jailed overnight in lieu of bond.

The three were arrested Monday night and charged under Title 18, Section 351 of the U.S. Code. The FBI described this law as a congressional assassination statute that carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Charged in the case were Tyrone Marshall, 18, whose bail was set at $50,000; his brother John, 21, bail for whom was put at $25,000; and Derrick Holloway, 18, held in lieu of $10,000 bond. All are from Northeast Washington.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for March 23.

Development Walk Plans Shaping Up

Plans are well under way for the forthcoming Walk for Development, according to Mark Carpenter, coordinator for the annual program.

At a recent organizational meeting held at Baptist Student Center, about 30 interested persons attended the first of several scheduled planning meetings.

"We are getting organized now," Carpenter said, "with the formation of a Projects Committee, a Finance Committee, and committees on Administration, Publicity, a Schools Committee and a Walk-Route Committee."

From now until shortly before the tentatively scheduled date of May 5 for the 25 mile walk, Carpenter said a meeting to discuss and evaluate plans would be held every week.

"We'll be meeting each Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock at the Baptist Student Center. We need help, lots of help for this project, particularly from people who have only a little time to give for a number of small jobs to be done," Carpenter explained.

He said anyone who wants to offer his service can call the Baptist Student Center any day between 1:00 and 4:00 p.m. The number is 752-4646.

Honored For Saving Lives

ISRAEL HONORS TWO JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel has honored a former German soldier and a Dutch couple for saving the lives of Jews during World War II.

In 1942, German Sgt. Richard Abel was ordered to guard five young Tunisian Jews who were waiting to be executed for trying to escape Nazi-occupied Tunis.

Abel ignored his orders and provided the youths with food, arms, maps and instructions which eventually helped them reach safety.

At the same time, Mrs. Dozy Van der Goot of Amsterdam and her late husband, Peter, were providing false identity papers for many young Jewish nurses fleeing Nazi occupation. Mrs. Van der Goot was secretary of the Amsterdam Nurses Union.

Abel, of Birstein, Germany, and Mrs. Van der Goot were recently invited to the Yad Vashem memorial in Jerusalem, where they planted trees in their honor along the Avenue of the Righteous.

Yellow Color For Firetrucks

CHARLOTTE (AP)—New firetrucks in Charlotte will be yellow, not red. And as present equipment comes up for regular maintenance painting, the red will be covered with lime yellow for safety.

Fire Chief John Lee says fire departments across the country are making the switch. He says red trucks lose their color at night or in bad weather. They appear to be black, and are not readily identified as emergency vehicles. But he says lime yellow does not lose its color at night, or in foggy or smoky conditions.

Most Dramatic Religious Revival Outside The U.S.

By WESLEY G. PIPPETT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spiritual awakening is taking place in the United States, but the most dramatic movements are happening outside the Western world.

Africa will be a Christian continent by the year 2000 if the present trend continues. In Ethiopia, about 25,000 persons have been converted to Christianity and 100 churches begun.

During a seven-year revival in Indonesia, there have been reports of all the New Testament miracles — persons raised from the dead, water changed to wine, people walking on a river. More than 10,000 persons turned out during four days of evangelistic meetings in Cambodia, a country where Christianity has struggled along for years with about 600 believers.

Revival meetings have swept Canada, especially in western provinces.

The reports come from a large number of mission and other primarily evangelical publications, the kind generally ignored in the secular press. The awakening quite literally is spiritual, not religious, for the emphasis is on a personal, mystical relationship with God, not institutional, denominational movements for social reform.

There are various reasons and observations offered.

"In the independent nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America, evangelical churches are growing faster than they did during the era of Western dominance," Warren Webster wrote in the magazine His. Webster is director of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Missionary Society and was a missionary to West Pakistan for 16 years. "This is one of the great facts of the mid-20th Century—the growth of biblical Christianity (which after all began in Asia) is not dependent upon Western political presence and power."

The Orient
Indonesian evangelist Mel Tari, 25, tells how the Holy Spirit came to his Presbyterian church on the Indonesia island of Timor in 1965—"it sounded like a small tornado." The congregation began to pray in tongues; a woman who knew only her tribal language began to speak in perfect English.

Teams of laymen spread out. Revival began. A person who refused to confess sin dropped dead. Tari said that his dirty clothes became clean and stayed clean. There were other such reputed miracles.

In Vietnam, the Christian and Missionary Alliance (C&MA), reports that a revival broke out in Nhatrang in December, 1971, while a Bible school student was giving a class report on the Indonesian revival. The students fanned out over Christmas and the revival spread into the Raday and Dalet tribal churches, and there were hundreds of conversions among the Stieng tribes people in An Loc.

The C&MA says there are 100 new churches and 1,000 new believers in Vietnam, including hundreds of conversions and healings in the Kobo tribe and around Banmethout.

Africa
The U.S. News & World Report quoted a study by Dr. David B. Barrett, a British missionary, as saying that Christianity has grown by a third in Africa in a five-year period and Christians now outnumber Moslems in black Africa.

According to the Sudan Interior Mission (SIM) and other mission reports, more than 15,000 new believers in southern Ethiopia's Wallamo tribe were baptized in 1971 and Wallamo evangelists baptized more than 10,000 from neighboring tribes. SIM said 10,000 animists turned to Christ in a three-month period alone.

"Tens of thousands of Africa's bush people are coming to Christ," Christianity Today quoted Asubry evangelism professor Robert Coleman after a visit.

The Americas
Ralph and Lou Sutera, twin 37-year-old evangelists from Mansfield, Ohio, were holding 10-day evangelistic meetings in the small Ebenezer Baptist Church in Saskatoon, Sask., in December, 1971 when revival struck. According to Shirwood E. Wirt, editor of Decision, who flew there, thousands began attending and the campaign lasted more than a month.

Couples tore up divorce papers in front of 1,800 people and police reported a rash of crime-confessing. The Saskatoon Star Phoenix reported "renewed morality."

In Brazil, Pentecostals make up 60 per cent of the nation's Protestants compared with 9.5 per cent 40 years ago. Catholic bishops ordered a study to find out why the Oriental Missionary Society's Melva Webb reported that in the state of Mato Grosso, where a mission had worked for 50 years without visible results, 216 Indians were baptized in eight months in 1971. Between 300 and 400 attended services in Bananal, a tenfold increase. She said the revival began two years ago when a Brazilian pastor, Geraldo, preached in the village of Ipeque. A man was converted, and the Holy Spirit reportedly swept the area, causing Indians to weep, confess sins and burn their idols.

Coin Festival At Goldsboro

GOLDSBORO—The Goldsboro Coin Collectors Association will sponsor a Coin Festival at the National Guard Armory on Jefferson Avenue Saturday and Sunday, March 24 and 25.

The show will get under way Saturday at 10 a.m. and will run to 10 p.m. On Sunday, the show will run from noon to 8 p.m.

Proceeds of door prizes and an auction of coins donated by Professional Numismatic Guild dealers from throughout the Eastern United States will go to the Wayne County Firemen's "Burn Center" Campaign. The center will be equipped with the sophisticated and expensive facilities and proper personnel necessary for adequate treatment of burn patients. The goal is $1 million, half to be raised locally.

The coin Festival will feature a number of displays of early U. S. currency, gold and silver coins, odd and curious money, world paper money, foreign coins and U. S. and foreign medals. Fifty dealers are expected to exhibit at the festival.

George Crockers of Sumter, S. C. will exhibit his collection of $100,000 worth of gold coins dating from Biblical days to the present. This collection has won first place in paper money at the recent Mid-Atlantic Numismatic Convention at Washington, D. C.

No admission fee will be charged to the festival. The public is being invited to attend.

The 'Worry Clinic' Reasons For A Secret Source

Clarence raises a crucial question about the newspaper's vital defense of citizens against crime and the Mafia. Clergymen and physicians enjoy "privileged communication" to Perfect timing was an essential ingredient to successful defense against South's three no trump contract.

West opened the king of hearts and declarer permitted him to hold the trick by following with the eight after East played the three. West, fearing that a heart continuation would not be profitable, shifted to the ten of diamonds. North followed with the four, East with the five and South played the king.

Declarer led the nine of clubs for a finesse and East was in with the queen. He returned a heart, South put in the jack and West won the trick with the queen. There was no-point in clearing the hearts, for West lacked a card of reentry with which to run the suit.

A shift was clearly indicated. The diamond suit did not offer much hope, for if East had strength in diamonds he might have been expected to give a more encouraging signal than the five spot earlier. West therefore shifted to a spade in an effort to make a play for his partner.

South was obliged to play the jack from dummy, since nine tricks were not yet established. East was in with the king of spades and then cashed the setting trick with the ace of clubs.

Observe that, if West either clears the hearts or leads another diamond when he is in, South has time to dislodge the ace of clubs and establish his nine tricks—one spade, one heart, three diamonds and four clubs.

CASE W-551: Clarence G., aged 22, is a law student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you are both an Applied Psychologist and Psychiatrist, so I need your professional advice."

"Do you feel that newspaper reporters should be forced by the courts to reveal the sources of their information?"

"On many occasions, the newspapers get access to vital information about criminal or gangster or Mafia operations before the police do so."

"By what they call the 'grapevine' route, they seem able to discover many pertinent facts that solve murders or expose corruption in government."

"But the Supreme Court seems to feel they should be compelled to name the sources of their secret data."

Privileged Communication

Personally, I favor granting newspaper reporters the same "privileged communication" protection that priests and physicians offer their parishioners or patients.

And here are my psychological reasons:
(1) Many informants against the Mafia or political "bosses" will refuse to offer vital information about crimes if they know their names will be publicized.

"I don't want to become involved," is thus the standard excuse of otherwise honest citizens when they have watched crimes being committed outside their own windows.

You readers will recall some of the heinous attacks on women, which were idly witnessed by people in neighboring New York apartments.

They didn't go to the victim's aid nor even call the police, for they "didn't want to become involved."

But such people are more willing to tip off the newspaper by phone or confide in a reporter.

(2) People fear reprisals by gangster hoodlums or the Mafia if they notify the police.

For they figure they may be called to testify and thus their identity will be discovered, with possible death to themselves or family.

But when they merely inform the newspaper, they know it will do the investigation without implication such informants.

(3) Despite the general public's high regard for the FBI and most of our police officials, laymen still worry somewhat about possible secret connections of policemen with gangsters.

In the past year, here in Chicago, for example, several policemen have been accused of blackmailing tavern owners and extorting "protection" money from other business firms.

Newspapers, on the contrary, are looked upon as independent defenders of the public.

Congressman J. D. Waggoner (La.) thus lauded the Dayton (O.) JOURNAL HERALD for its investigation of the alleged links between Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and organized crime. "Why is it," Waggoner inquired, "that two reporters, working without subpoena power, without staff and without the full investigative force of the Executive and Legislative branches of the federal government, should uncover this information after a special subcommittee of this House failed to do so?"

Shakespeare summed up the public's reaction to newspaper reporters when he stated: "Men wearing rapiers are afraid of goose quills." (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover trying and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Workshop For Ministers Set

A transactional analysis workshop for Methodist ministers will be held April 5-7 at the East Carolina University Methodist Student Center.

Sponsors of the workshop are the Goldsboro, Rocky Mount and Greenville districts of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church and the East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education.

Instructors for the course will be Dr. Victor Malenbaum, rabbi and psychologist and graduate students Carolyn Means and Margaret Kelly.

Transactional analysis, a technique of psychotherapy developed by Eric Berne, is an original theory of personality and involves a distinct departure from the usual methods of psychotherapy.

It is used as a counseling tool and a diagnostic method when working with individuals with personal problems.

Methodist ministers from the sponsoring districts who are interested in the workshop should write the Office of Conferences and Institutes of the ECU Division of Continuing Education, Greenville, for further information.

Black Capitalism Isn't New; Textile Mill A Forerunner

By H. D. Jones, Administrator Archives and History Written For The AP RALEIGH (AP) — The old adage, "There's nothing new under the sun," has been over-used, but it may be appropriate to quote it once more in reference to an idea currently in vogue, black capitalism.

A recent book by J. K. Rouse, "The Noble Experiment of Warren C. Coleman," provides new information about what was once the only black owned and operated textile mill among numerous mills employing over thirty thousand white workers in North Carolina, still a leading textile state today.

Coleman, born in 1849 in the days of slavery, rose to become perhaps the wealthiest black of the state. Not unlike many figures of his age, Coleman seemed to be a born businessman. By 1869, only 20 years old, he was buying lots in Concord, his hometown and the future location of his novel factory.

Within a few years, he was not only renting houses but also lending money and selling merchandise at his general store in that town. Interested in the educational, cultural, and material progress of other less fortunate members of his race, Coleman in 1888 became the president of the North Carolina Industrial Association. This young society was dedicated to improving Negro life and displaying signs of that progress at a black state fair.

Coleman felt that progressive blacks ought to proceed in various industrial occupations practiced by whites. While some slaves had worked in industry in the old South, the newly rising textile empire of the 1890s was a white man's world.

Sensing an opportunity to turn a profit and prove the worth of black workmen, Coleman developed the concept of a black owned and operated cotton mill. In the early summer of 1896 he began a statewide subscription campaign to sell stock in the enterprise. Among the major stockholders and supporters was Washington Duke, tobacco magnate and philanthropist from Durham. The company let a contract for construction of the mill a year later. A crowd of prominent men of both races attended the ceremonies marking completion of the building in 1898.

Before long, Coleman selected 350 black workers, but actual operations did not begin for several years. Buffeted by adverse economic fluctuations affecting the growing textile industry, the Coleman Manufacturing Company apparently was in steady operation making thread by mid-1901.

By 1903 the mill was running with some sixty hands and making a profit with orders for three onths' output waiting to be filled. Yet the plant did not run at full capacity, and the company finances were not stable. On March 31, 1904, Coleman died suddenly. His death seems to have precipitated the end of his manufacturing firm as the company soon went into bankruptcy. Uncertain economic conditions, poor management, and lack of capital to meet mortgages also were factors in the demise of the company. Yet a local newspaper commended the black laborers for their satisfactory role in the enterprise. In a sense, Coleman's experiment was successful. Cannon Mills Company acquired the plant and operates it today with an integrated work force which is 42 percent black.

Club Is Selling Festival Patch

GRIFTON—The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America members of the Ayden-Grifton High School are selling shad festival patches as part of the annual Shad Festival activities for this year.

The patch is marine blue with a gold border, a silver shad and black lettering, and marks the adoption of the four colors as official shad festival colors.

The high school has agreed to sell the patches on a commission basis. They plan to use the proceeds to go toward building a cottage at Girls' Haven, a home for wayward girls being planned by the man who began Lake Waccamaw Boys' Home.

Article Will Be In Journal

An article by Donald Watson, Coordinator for Practicum Programs with the East Carolina University-based Alcoholism Training Program for North Carolina, will appear in the winter, 1973 issue of the "Community Mental Health Journal."

The article was written in collaboration with Dr. Gary Nyman, a psychiatrist at the University of Maryland's Institute of Psychiatry and Human Behavior, and Shirley James, Administrative Secretary for the Onslow County Mental Health Center.
