State Senators Endorse Teacher Test Score Rule

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Senate overwhelmingly approved legislation Thursday to reinstate a required minimum score on a standardized test for teacher certification and to provide for annual legislative sessions and a yearly budget.

Only several senators voted no as the teacher certification bill passed and was sent to the House.

Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, the sponsor of the measure, said "the people were quite astounded" when the state Board of Education dropped the minimum score requirement on the National Teacher Examination (NTE) in December.

The board decided certification should be based on performance and personal evaluation of the prospective teacher while in college, plus the NTE.

Henley's bill would require a 950 minimum score on the NTE or an equivalent test for teacher certification.

The Senate passed a resolution sponsored by Sen. Kenneth Royall, D-Durham, providing for annual sessions and a one-year budget, with only one dissenting vote.

An amendment was adopted clearing up a technicality raised Wednesday by Sen.

Hamilton Horton, R-Forsyth, as to whether a rules change was needed to pass an annual budget.

Sen. Lamar Gudger, D-Buncombe, introduced the amendment stating that the action constitutes a change in the rules of each legislative chamber.

In other action in the General Assembly, the Senate Constitution Committee created a subcommittee to study two proposed state equal rights for women constitutional amendments.

The amendments were introduced by two opponents of the federal ERA, Sen. Michael Mullins, R-Mecklenburg, and Sen. Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston, which the Senate defeated 27-23.

The committee approved a proposed amendment to lower the minimum age for holding elective state office to 18 years. Sen. McNeill Smith, D-Guilford, introduced the measure to clarify a vote in November on a constitutional amendment which combined lowering the voting age to 18 years but keeping the office-holding age at 21 years.

The Senate passed a bill to exempt drivers with safe records from having to take written tests to renew their drivers licenses.

A bill was introduced in both houses to make North Carolina a member of the Southern Growth Policies Board, a regional body which studies problems common to the 17 southern states. Permanent offices for the board will be in the Research Triangle Park.

The House Highway Safety Committee gave a favorable report to a bill to require slow moving farm vehicles to have large reflectorized signs mounted on the rear to warn oncoming traffic.

Thirty-Two POWs Freed By The VC

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The Viet Cong released 32 more American prisoners of war today, and the senior officer in the group thanked President Nixon for ordering the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong last December.

Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy of Tucson, Ariz., told a welcoming crowd at Clark Air Base he has no doubts that the heavy bombing of North Vietnam's two main cities helped hasten the end of the war.

"We are grateful that we had a President that made those decisions," said Guy, 43. He was captured when his Phantom fighter-bomber was downed during a strike mission over Laos on March 22, 1968.

"Dignity, honor and love of country are three things that most of us treasured and thought of for many years," Guy said. "On behalf of the men in this group, I would like to thank the President of the United States, Mr. Nixon, for bringing us home with this dignity and honor."

His words were in sharp contrast to antiwar and antimilitary statements attributed to a dozen of the men in the group by Communist broadcasts since 1968. However, all came off the plane smartly, saluted the colors and were cheered by the crowd.

A U.S. Air Force hospital plane brought Guy, 26 other military prisoners and five civilians from Hanoi. At Clark Air Base they joined 108 POWs released by North Vietnam on Wednesday and two Vietnam war fliers freed by Communist China Thursday.

The men freed Wednesday will begin leaving for the United States Saturday, and most of the 142 freed this week are expected to be home early next week.

Children In Jails 'Common'

RALEIGH (AP) — The confinement of children under 16 in jail cells pending juvenile court proceedings "is prevalent in many North Carolina counties," a report said Friday.

This, it said, is "due to the lack of juvenile detention facilities and the lack of alternative methods of handling alleged delinquent and undisciplined children."

The report, which was released by the Governor's Advisory Committee on Youth Development, was conducted by the National Juvenile Detention Association under a contract with the Jail and Detention Services section of the Department of Social Services.

Other findings: —Inordinately high rates of detention and of commitments to the state training schools reflect a conspicuous lack of diagnostic and treatment services for children in many communities.

—Many counties do not have adequate probation services due to the fact that present statutes provide for district court counselors to be assigned only to counties with populations of 84,000 or more.

—Noticeable inconsistencies exist within this state, and within individual districts, as to the disposition of juvenile offenders due to the rotation system of district court judges hearing juvenile cases.

—Budgetary appropriations are not sufficient to provide adequate programs and standards of care in a majority of the existing juvenile detention homes.

Communists Say Truce Terms Are Repeatedly Violated By The U.S.

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Communists countercharged today that the United States is shipping war material into South Vietnam without its undergoing the inspection required by the cease-fire agreement.

The Viet Cong asked for an explanation, and the U.S. delegation said it was preparing a reply.

Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, chief of the Viet Cong delegation to the Joint Military Commission, made the accusation in a letter to the senior U.S. representative, Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward.

President Nixon on Thursday accused North Vietnam of major shipments of troops and war materials into South Vietnam in violation of the cease-fire and implied that the United States might resume bombing of such traffic if it did not stop.

Pham Duong Hien, a Saigon government spokesman, said today that these shipments also were endangering the Saigon-Viet Cong political negotiations scheduled to open in Paris Monday.

Tra wrote Woodward that "according to many foreign sources, the United States has recently introduced on many occasions armaments, munitions and war material into South Vietnam. The military delegation of the Provisional Revolutionary Government considers this a violation of Article 7 of the agreement and Article 7 of the protocol."

Tra said the opposition Socialist party in Japan had advised that U.S. munitions had been shipped from Japan to Da Nang on March 9-10, and that the United States will ship another 9,000 tons of munitions from Japan to Da Nang Saturday and Sunday.

Article 7 of the agreement provides for replacement of destroyed, damaged or useless military equipment on a piece-by-piece basis but says the shipments must be supervised by a joint military commission of South Vietnamese and Viet Cong and by the International Commission of Control and Supervision.

This supervisory machinery has not been established, and a spokesman for the U.S. delegation said the United States interprets Article 7 to allow such shipments in advance of the establishment of the inspection procedures.

"Otherwise all the Communist side would have to do would be to prevent establishment of the two-party joint military commission and then we couldn't ship anything in," the spokesman said.

Hanoi Editor Avers No POWs 'Hidden'

HANOI, North Vietnam (AP) — The editor of North Vietnam's chief newspaper says his government is not hiding any American prisoners and a search will be started for all the missing and dead as soon as this is possible.

"We have detained only those who were on the lists already handed over," said Hoang Tung, senior editor of Nhan Dan, the North Vietnamese Communist party newspaper. "There are no others."

He said in an interview today that the government knows of some American dead and where they are buried, but it will be difficult to locate all the dead.

"Many went down with their planes," he said. "A systematic search to locate the dead has not started yet, but we will do it."

Tung said North Vietnam has no information on 19 newsmen missing in Cambodia and must refer all questions about Cambodia to Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed Cambodian chief of state living in Peking.

However, the editor said he believed Sihanouk "will have an answer at the right time. As you know the war in Cambodia is still on. Some people presumed dead appeared on our POW lists when the war ended."

Tung charged that the United States is delaying the removal of the mines it planted along the North Vietnamese coast to hinder Hanoi's foreign trade.

"The United States uses demining as a bargain to maintain blockage and hinder trade and free circulation," he said, predicting that completion of the mine sweeping would be delayed "even beyond the last POW release."

Tung said there are two possible courses for future U. S.-North Vietnamese relations, normal or antagonistic, and that Hanoi desires the first. He also said his government desires diplomatic, commercial and cultural relations "on an equal footing" with the United States and feels Washington has a "political and moral duty" to aid in North Vietnam's reconstruction.

"Regarding commercial relations, America has a lot to offer," Tung said. "We have little. Maybe you want tropical products like bananas or papayas, which have the shape of a bomb. Maybe your ships should transport papayas to the United States instead of bombs to Vietnam."

Tung cited "continuing armed conflict in the South," and said "there is always the danger that war will break out again, and therefore it is dangerous to say that we have shifted from war to peace without reservation."

He said his government believes cease-fire violations "must have tacit American consent" and the United States should tell President Nguyen Van Thieu "to implement the cease-fire."

"Don't let yourself be carried too far by Thieu," he added. "The war has lasted not 12 but 20 years. For the moment it has stopped."

Judge Refuses Dismiss Order

RALEIGH (AP) — A Wake Superior Court judge has refused to dismiss a restraining order barring North Carolina Insurance Commissioner John Ingram from doing away with the assigned risk auto liability insurance system.

Judge James H. Pou Bailey Thursday acceded to requests from 18 of the state's largest insurance companies and allowed the restraining order against Ingram to remain in effect.

Unless Ingram successfully appeals, the action apparently means that the 27 per cent of North Carolina drivers currently classified as assigned risks will remain that way unless the General Assembly acts.

Ingram had sought to use his administrative power to force the companies to abandon the assigned risk system for a reinsurance pool, similar to the system used in Canada.

They protested, however, that he had exceeded his legal authority.

A study commission which would establish a system similar to the one Ingram proposed is now before the Senate Insurance Committee.

Under assigned risk, a driver considered a bad risk by insurance companies must be arbitrarily assigned to one of them and often must go to the "substandard" market for optional types of coverage.

Unwilling To Go To Court

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee members are showing no disposition to take President Nixon to court for refusing to let his official lawyer testify on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

"The committee has other action it can take," said Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., a member of the panel.

He said, for example, that the committee could simply tell Nixon it would not act on Gray's nomination unless White House Counsel John W. Dean III appears for questioning.

Nixon said Thursday he does not believe the committee would hold Gray "hostage," but the members appear closely divided. The issue may come to a vote next week.

Ervin not only is a Judiciary Committee member but chairman of a committee created by the Senate to investigate the Watergate bugging and other alleged political espionage and sabotage in last year's presidential election.

All indications are that if an attempt is made to compel Dean's testimony, it will be done by Ervin's committee in the Watergate investigation, rather than by the Judiciary Committee in its consideration of Gray's nomination.

"If we are going to have this confrontation, I'd rather face it with the select committee," Ervin said. Other senators also said Ervin's committee would be the preferred battleground.

At a news conference Thursday, Nixon said he would not allow Dean to testify at any congressional hearing and invited a Supreme Court test of his stand on executive privilege.

"If the Senate feels they want a court test, we would welcome it," he said.

Although Dean, at the President's direction, declined the Judiciary Committee's invitation to testify on Gray's nomination, he offered to answer relevant questions submitted in writing.

The only way the committee could force a court test would be to subpoena Dean and then, if he refused to appear, seek to have the Senate cite him for contempt.

This is just what Ervin said he proposes to do if Nixon refuses to let Dean testify at the forthcoming Watergate investigation. Ervin said Dean would be "a very relevant witness" at his committee's hearings.

"If we get any information that any White House aide has any knowledge relevant to this investigation," Ervin said, "I will certainly recommend to the committee he be subpoenaed and if he fails to appear or refuses to give information after appearing, I will recommend to the Senate he be judged in contempt of Congress."

Experts Selected

RALEIGH (AP) — Selection of an eight-man team of consultants for the University of North Carolina system's medical education study has "been more difficult than we anticipated," the system's Board of Governors has been told.

But, board chairman William Dees said Thursday, the out-of-state medical experts have been selected and will be contacted shortly. If they all accept appointments, Dees said he hopes they can meet for the first time in mid-April.

The consultants will be charged with recommending whether the state ought to develop a four-year medical school at East Carolina University and will also, Dees said, take a broader look at the overall medical needs of the state.

The consultants will be "medical experts and fair and impartial," Dees said. In other action Thursday, the board approved issuance of $865,000 in bonds for a stadium at Western Carolina University in Cullowhee.

Cuba Joins In Hate-America Speech Theme

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

PANAMA (AP) — U.S. Ambassador John Scali took a relaxed attitude Thursday night toward criticism of the United States by his Panamanian hosts, but lashed back at a Cuban attack during the special U.N. Security Council meeting being held in Panama.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa of Cuba told the council the United States aspires to maintain "Green Beret factories" in the Panama Canal Zone. He characterized the United States as a nation with "clawing and perfidious appetites" around the world.

"The highest aspiration of the Panamanian people was always that of a canal for humanity and not for an aquatic monopoly, a canal flanked by shipyards and factories, not by military bases and Green Beret factories," Roa declared.

Using his right of reply, Scali, in his debut before the council, called the Cuban "a self appointed spokesman of a people whose condition must arouse pity in us all."

"His accusations are so wild and reckless that they are unworthy of reply," President Nixon's new chief delegate to the U.N. said.

Scali's remarks were in marked contrast to his comments to newsmen on the welcoming speech earlier by Panama's strongman, Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos. Setting the theme for the week-long council meeting, the first ever held in Latin America, the general accused the United States of maintaining a colonialist enclave in the heart of Panama.

"We ask the moral support of the world here present in this fight which is now reaching the limits of the patience of our people," Torrijos declared.

Scali said he was a "bit surprised" by the sharpness of the general's words.

What Nixon Said

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are key points made by President Nixon at his news conference Thursday:

FOOD PRICES: He ruled out price controls on food and said decisions of the American housewife on what she buys are a powerful weapon in combating high prices.

CHINA: Veteran diplomat David K.E. Bruce will head a U.S. liaison office in Peking.

VIETNAM: The North Vietnamese should not lightly disregard U.S. expressions of concern about violations of the cease-fire agreement.

EXECUTIVE PRIVILEGE: He challenged the Senate to a Supreme Court test over his refusal to allow his legal counsel, John W. Dean III, to testify at hearings on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

STOCKPILES: The administration will sell metals and other materials from its stockpiles in a move to push down prices.

Rumor Firestone Plant Scheduled Near Wilson

WILSON—Officials here acknowledged Wednesday that they have been negotiating through intermediaries to locate a major industry in the area.

Although the identity of the industry is not officially known, there has been speculation that the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. is the firm that has secured options to purchase some 490 acres in the Hog Island Road area between Wilson and Elm City.

Firestone officials in Dayton, Ohio, however, would not comment on the reports.

Installation of water and sewer lines, a new electric substation, a 1 million gallon elevated water storage tank and natural gas line installations—estimated to cost more than $2 million—would be required to service the industry, officials said.

Unconfirmed reports say the company with which officials have been negotiating plans to construct a plant covering about 35 acres and would employ about 1,400 persons initially, with later expansions possible which could result in the employment of 5,000 to 6,000 workers.

Both the city and county governments would share the cost involved in supplying required services to the industry, with the county financing expenditures not directly related to the city's growth.

City Manager Bruce Boyette said if the industry locates near Wilson and expands, "this must be the largest single industry to locate in the state in the last 10 years."

Have This Son Psychiatrically Evaluated

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am so worried about my grandson who is 14. Tonight his mother telephoned me long distance in such a weakened state I could hardly understand her. Her 14-year-old son had struck her and beaten her violently with his fists. In the past he has lied and stolen from her, but no amount of punishment helped. Tonight he all but put my poor daughter in the hospital.

She has two children. The little girl is an angel, but this boy is, I fear, a mental case when angered. He is big and strong for his age and I am afraid one day he will seriously injure or kill some member of the family. Both children are adopted [different parents]; could it be hereditary? Please tell me how I can help her? Her husband travels a great deal and she cannot handle the boy. HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Tell your daughter to get in touch with her local Mental Health Association, or the County Child Welfare Department, and arrange to have her son psychiatrically evaluated. Assure her that she would not be punishing the boy; she would be helping a desperately sick lad.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has had two illegitimate children which I gave up for adoption. I am sorry to say that I am pregnant again, and I plan to give this one up for adoption too, because the father of my children can't marry me. He was sent to prison, then I found out he had a wife and five kids he never told me about, so maybe it's just as well that things worked out this way.

I want to put my past behind me and start a new life, Abby, but here is my problem. I have very bad stretch marks on my stomach as a result of my pregnancies. They look terrible and I want to get rid of them.

I have been advised that if I meet someone who wants to marry me I should not mention my past, but with these stretch marks it would be a dead giveaway. Also, I would like to be able to wear a two-piece bathing suit. Can you help me? Or am I... SCARRED FOR LIFE

DEAR SCARRED: A plastic surgeon can tell you if your stretch marks can be removed. And in the meantime you had better learn how to take care of yourself. I think you've been stretching your luck too far.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with a darling, affectionate little seven-year-old daughter. A very nice gentleman I met at work asked to take me out for dinner, and I was thrilled to pieces. When he came to pick me up my little girl hung on his neck and said, "Are you going to be my new daddy?"

The gentleman turned red in the face and said, "Well, we have to be going now." I could see he was embarrassed and upset, and even tho I enjoyed the evening and he seemed to, he has never asked me out again.

What can I do to save the relationship?

26-YEAR-OLD WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: You could invite him to accompany you to something, but if he appears reluctant, don't press it. And if you don't want to scare off future prospects, you'd better tell your little girl what not to say.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FULL OF PIMPLES": Surely you jest! The advice of your more "experienced" friends on how to get rid of pimples is worse than worthless. It's dangerous. Forget it, or you could find yourself with something much worse than pimples.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Low Cost, Comprehensive Medicine Dreams Of Pediatrician

By EVE SHARBUTT AP Newsfeatures Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Alexander Russell is the children's advocate of Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center.

He dreams of teams of medical specialists building a circle of defense around every handicapped child in Jerusalem. Short, full of energy, Dr. Russell punctuates his comments with gestures and scribbled notes.

Traveling in the United States to visit child care centers, take a look at children's diseases and to receive a pediatric award, Russell had praise at each stop for his own hospital's approach to pediatrics.

"Our cooperative, all-discipline program has neurologist, psychologist, social worker, orthodontist — whoever is needed — looking at the complete family and appraising the need of family as well as sick child," he said.

"In our hospital, we have a plaque that I've always been very proud of. It points out that we take responsibility for the weakest of the population. That means not only the handicapped child, but also his mother and family, whether they be Jewish, Islamic or Christian.

"These people are our responsibility for life and for free," Russell added. "I have long felt that the first city which should take responsibility for the aged and afflicted should be Jerusalem."

The interdisciplinary program for handicapped children is, Russell believes, the most effective principle for every handicap. All the specialists involved in a case see a child together. It is less time-consuming for the child and the mother.

"Doctors can talk over time tables. For example, the plastic surgeon might not want to begin his work unless all orthopedic surgery was completed," Russell said.

"This is returning us to the helping professions, for we no longer waste precious time dictating memos to other doctors on the staff or reading them. We all learn faster.

"It is utopian only because it demands that the physician work only for the profit of the child, not in terms of surgeons or money," he added.

The Jerusalem child and family development center is under the theoretical roof of the teaching hospital and Dr. Russell feels this is its proper place.

"For coordination, all these services should be under one roof: preventive medicine, curative medicine and rehabilitation. These are services demanded by the handicapped child and his family, and such a system is overdue all over the world," he said.

American medicine is too concerned with money, Russell says bluntly.

"Believe me, we run our center on a shoestring compared to the average in the United States. In the child care clinic, our basic commodity is good will and it is a small world. We try to get the best people in each field so that they are respected by others working in their area. We reap benefits from this system.

"Each field is a ring related to the clinic. A respected authority in the field leads each team, and the hospital has the best available."

Russell encountered a computer card file in an American children's clinic which was one of the most modern he had seen. "To my dismay, I learned it was used for billions, and the prices were quite high. In Jerusalem our computer file, which is less elaborate and less expensive, is used to detail high risk mothers. These are individuals who are especially vulnerable to having malformed children," Russell said.

The medical center does research on preconceptional problems such as hereditary disease, prenatal problems and labor difficulties. The lot of them are on tape and, when delivery comes, there is complete registration of all children born in Jerusalem who are handicapped.

"At this stage of development in the United States, the society ought to be responsible for all these problems. If an individual is physically unable to bear the crushing burden of medical care, if a child is afflicted with a physical or mental handicap, we believe that society should accept the responsibility in full," Russell added.

"It is immoral of a doctor who represents the instrument of social progress to also be the instrument of exploitation."

PATTERN FITTING
EXPERT TO CONDUCT
SPECIAL CLASSES

Professional Pattern Expert Charles Cornell, will be here to conduct a series of Pattern Clinics. Ever sewn in the same sleeve several times? Started garments that were never finished? Or finished garments you wouldn't wear because it didn't fit, or the sewing looked "Homemade"? Most sewing problems that cause the "Homemade" look can be traced to the patterns—NOT to poor sewing skills! Keep in mind that if manufacturers had to depend on machine operators with gifted talent there wouldn't be enough to go around! The various pattern pieces don't match! Sleeves don't match armholes! Collars don't match necklines! Facings don't match! Princess Line and other styling panels can be impossible!

On top of this patterns are made to fit SIZES not measurements and many women are stuck between sizes. A size 12 is too small and a size 14 too large. Some need two sizes. One for the bodice, another for the skirt. Bust darts are never properly located to fit you. Sleeves too tight? Too tight across the back or front? Gaping armhole or neckline & slacks too baggy too tight in crotch? The list goes on and on.

Why try handling these problems with costly trial and error methods? They can be disposed of once and for all by attending ONE of a series of pattern clinics by professional pattern experts who will show you how to: —Make any patterns fit properly —Make the various pattern pieces match so that sleeves, collars, and etc., can be sewn in right first time every time —Re-design your pattern to any desired style —Draft patterns to fit your exact body measurements, using European dot system converted from centimeters to inches

TWO HOURS STARTING PROMPTLY AT 10 A.M. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. Registration Fee $3.00 March 19th, Piedmont Fabrics does not share in proceeds of the clinic but sponsors them as a service to the women of the Community.

A Pattern making starter Kit will be given Free to all women who attend the class. Pattern classes fill fast. To be sure of a seat call for reservations. Dial 752-7250

Advantages In Single System

We can see considerable advantage to the city's using the county's voter registration system and elections machinery to conduct municipal elections. The first advantage, of course, is that prospective voters would register only once to be eligible for local, as well as state and national elections. Far too often through the years there has been confusion when citizens otherwise eligible to vote went to the polls only to find they had not registered on the local books. This idea of two separate registrations for municipal and for state and national elections has created great confusion among voters.

Second it would probably be somewhat less expensive to use the county voting machinery even though the city would have to pay for the service. This should be true because the two separate registration systems are duplicating their work to a large extent.

As we have frequently pointed out, the County Elections office is badly located on third floor of the Court House; however plans are now underway to move the office to a ground floor location in the ABC building at Second and Cotanche Street. This will make the facilities easily accessible to citizens and the full-time registration system means that citizens can register when it is convenient.

It is our understanding that the City Council has decided to continue with a separate registration system and we think that is a mistake. The council members should be thinking about what is easiest and best for the public and we believe it is most logical that Greenville citizens look to one elections office and one set of registration books to be eligible for all elections.

Demos Could Win And Lose

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Democrats can win their bid to keep control of the state's election machinery, but will they gain or lose in the process? That question causes apprehension among a minority of the majority party as the General Assembly gets ready for a partism confrontation on the issue.

Bowles Jr., the party's titular head and losing candidate for governor in the last election. Timing and not the merits of the legislation will cause controversy, Arnold speculated. If it had been proposed if Bowles had won, he said, it would have been hailed as an improvement. Republicans cried foul at the bill and lamented its potential for partism disruption in the work of the legislature. Even so, their strength of 50 out of the 120 General Assembly membership offers a feeble roadblock to its passage.

How many Democrats join them will determine the margin. One in the ranks is Rep. R. Lane Brown III of Stanly, vice chairman of the House elections committee. "I did not sign the bill. I will oppose it in committee. I will speak against it on the House floor," Brown said.

In practical terms, he said, "this is the type of thing that could tilt a balance in a close county." His own is one of those, and Democratic groups there have asked him to oppose the bill, he added. Aside from the possibility of defeated Democratic candidates, Brown based his opposition on philosophy. "Fundamental fairness" argues against the change, he contended.

Might Versus Rights "Might does not necessarily make right," he said. "Republicans worked 70 years to elect a governor. They have earned all that goes with the office." A hopeful view that a sense of fair play will defeat the bill was expressed by Rep. Thomas Harrelson, Brunswick Republican. "We have too much important work to do to become embroiled in a partism power struggle," he declared.

The people who elected Holshouser will side with him, Harrelson predicted, in a clash between legislative and executive over the issue. Terms expire May 1 for present members of election boards, named by former Gov. Bob Scott. Legislative action must seek that deadline to take authority to name successors out of Gov. Holshouser's hands.

Arnold shifted his target from Gov. Holshouser to State Republican Chairman Frank Rouse in advocating his measure. It is the party chairman, Arnold noted, who makes the recommendations from which appointees are selected. "If you would rather prefer to have someone like Mr. Rouse running the elections process, then perhaps you would rather leave it like it is now," Arnold commented. His bill, he said, would give to county party chairman the responsibility for nominating county board members, providing more local in-put.

We'll Get Accustomed To Yellow Firetrucks

Among the things we will have to get accustomed to is the painting of fire trucks yellow. Charlotte has announced plans for yellow fire trucks, which is said to be a switch being made across the nation. Yellow is better seen in bad weather and at night.

Well, we got used to blue lights on police cars after they replaced the old red lights. We suppose yellow fire trucks will grow on us too—but it will take awhile.

Holshouser's Quiet Dissent

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

RALEIGH, N.C. — When Gov. Ronald Reagan of California swept into Washington for the recent governors' conference and unfurled plans for wholesale governmental retrenchment, a significant dissent came from boyish, first-year Gov. James E. Holshouser of North Carolina.

Reagan, preparing a last try for the presidency, urged his Republican colleagues not to pick up federal social services programs being dropped by President Nixon but to let them die, thereby rewarding taxpayers. Holshouser quietly disagreed, arguing a golden opportunity now exists for state government to assume new responsibility by taking over the federal programs.

In this and other matters, Holshouser is a conspicuous upstream swimmer in the new Republican South. While Southern Republicanism glistens with success by moving ever further to the right, Holshouser holds to the principle the party can triumph here with progressive policies and a broader political base encompassing both left and right. Considering the Republican reliance on the South for future presidential victories, the outcome of his fight for a moderate, non-racist party has important national implications.

These two faces of Southern Republicanism surfaced in North Carolina last fall. While Holshouser was scoring his stunning upset, the state was electing to the U.S. Senate a right-wing television commentator named Jesse Helms—an archetype of emergent Southern Republicanism so warmly embraced at the White House. Typically, ex-Dixiecrat Helms is a recent convert to the Republican party and a rigid adherent of William F. Buckley. He was triumphant last November in the rural eastern counties where Gov. George C. Wallace built a landslide in the Democratic presidential primary. The Helms constituency carries an unmistakable whiff of racism.

Holshouser, legate of a much older tradition, inherited his Republicanism (his father was a U.S. attorney in Eisenhower days). At 38, he is a veteran ex-state legislator and long-time state party chairman. His election last November was won with a constituency spectacularly different from Helms—youth, school teachers, state civil servants, some labor leaders, even a smattering of blacks—with surprising strength in the liberal Piedmont area.

Even so, many Democrats figured he would demand reduced taxes and curtailed spending from the governor's mansion. Instead, he immediately asked that the line be held on taxes temporarily. Although he is expected to yield to a heavily-lobbied repeal of the soft drink tax, he is embarking on no Reaganite dismantling of governmental services. Moreover, he is consciously appointing blacks and women to high state positions, has embarked on a massive reform of the state highway system and is refusing to purge the Civil Service for deserving Republican partisans. One result: muted praise from North Carolina liberal Democrats such as former Gov. Terry Sanford, now president of Duke University.

Strength For Today

SPIRITUAL REBIRTH

True religion is always an inward state of heart growing out firmly held convictions. Spiritual processes begin to work in people holding these convictions which make them triumphant, victorious, and happy. Into the midst of a world otherwise dead and destined to perish God pours for such people a new sense of reality and gladness. He gives them a power which makes it possible for them to meet life no matter how bad it is and win a victory over it. Spiritual rebirth is always a miracle, and no greater miracle is recorded in all the Word of God than those miracles which still happen today when the heart of sinful man experiences a rebirth into salvation and power. Under the stupendous transformation of the Spirit of God, a man finds that his moods, ideals, impulses, and actions are fundamentally changed, and life becomes new. When all of this happens to a man, he can truly be described as "born again". Let us hope that in the future thousands more people will enjoy this glorious experience. By Earl Douglas

Moonlighting Newsmen

WASHINGTON — In all the hearings on protecting newspapermen's sources, no one has mentioned that one of the major reasons the government and defense lawyers are subpoenaing notebooks, tapes and film is that it saves them a lot of money they otherwise would have to spend doing their own investigative work. The truth of the matter is newspapermen are a great source of information for lawyers and, thanks to recent court rulings, they may now be used to provide evidence in any kind of a court case. If journalists are expected to moonlight for Justice Department lawyers as well as district attorneys and defense lawyers, then they should be paid for it. To hear them tell it, newspapermen consider themselves grossly underpaid and there isn't one of them who wouldn't be willing to earn a few extra bucks even if it meant working for the government or the legal profession on the side. So rather than fight the subpoena mania that exists in the United States, I think journalists should not only encourage it but charge for their services.

Other Editors Say Brains, Not Muscle

(Raleigh Times) North Carolina Democrats have enough muscle in the legislature to hogtie the North Carolina Republican Party. But, the Democrats should hope that they'll have enough brains not to use their muscle to change long-standing North Carolina law on the supposition that they'll be hurting Republicans and helping Democrats.

For all of this century, the Democratic Party has controlled the State Board of Elections and all the county election boards because the law said each board should have two members of one party and the third of the other party. Since all governors were democrats, that assured Democrat control of all the election machinery.

Now, the people of North Carolina have elected a Republican Governor — and the Democrats in the legislature seem to be on the verge of changing that law. The change would provide that the party which has the largest number of registrants would control all the election boards. This would give continued Democratic control of the State Board of Election and of 95 of the State's 100 county boards of elections.

The kindest thing you could say about this plain is that it would be very shortsighted. After all, hundreds of thousands of Democrats voted to elect Republican Jim Holshouser as Governor. The fact that they crossed party lines to vote Republican shows that they were irritated about something. If the Democratic legislature pulls a raw political stunt such as is proposed by this election-law change, those registered Democrats will have another reason to be irritated — and to vote Republican in subsequent elections. And, the average American has a sense of fair play, and what the Democrats propose isn't fair play.

The election-law bill has been introduced, with a reported total of 50 Democrats signatures on it. Presumably it will pass, unless commonsense come to the rescue.

This apparently isn't the only mischief the Democrats have in mind. There are reports that they may revise the State Personnel Act to provide more job security for state employees. That proposal would take away the governor's power to fire employees except for 86 upper-level state employees.

A good service law might be good. But, it is difficult to see how the Democrats can justify having such a change after failing to give state employees that protection under 70 years of Democratic governors.

This would be another good example of the Democratic Party hurting its long-range interests by taking short-sighted short-range action.

Life's Little Quirks

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Some philosophers fear we are witnessing a reversal of sex roles in our society. Little girls are behaving like tomboys and their mothers like tom-men as women in general attempt to act more like men. And men are beginning to return the compliment by acting more like women.

HAL BOYLE

The interchange has gone so far that in some marriages it is the husband who is the better cook and the wife who knows more about baseball. One of the problems the whole question raises is what will our next generation of young males be like? Will they take the trend even further, and become the first generation of tomgirls in our national history?

Somehow the idea of being safeguarded by an army whose men do crocheting while on sentry duty doesn't appeal to me.

The human conscience works in odd ways. I have had a life-long aversion to eating lamb ever since at the age of five I drew a picture of a lamb which the kindergarten teacher praised as the best ever drawn by a student in her classes.

That flattery made it impossible for me ever again to eat lamb knowingly and enjoy it. It offended my conscience to do so. I suspect, however, that had I drawn the worst picture of a lamb made by any member of the class, today I could relish lamb by the heaping plateful.

Suddenly—Resources Limited

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — For two centuries the prototype American, free of spirit, blessed with abundance, believed there was no end to his resources, to his potential, to the means for satisfying his needs and dreams. Now he is faced with the possibility of having to do without — without lean red meat every day of the week, without the freedom to drive his car wherever he pleases because there isn't enough gasoline to go around. He watched his country acknowledge its military and political limitations and he sees the dollar, symbol of American productivity, embattled throughout the world. He shudders at his nation's inability to solve domestic problems. There are, he is finding, limitations.

Forrest N. Shumway, president and chief executive officer of The Signal Companies, a giant petroleum products company, described in an interview with John Barbour of the Associated Press how it was before we recognized limitations: "The United States has been an energy waster since time immemorial. The philosophy of the people has been built on cheap energy. The utilities have spent their entire lives trying to sell more and more. I can remember when we built a building in downtown Los Angeles, we were told by the utility, 'Leave all the lights in the building on. It's spectacular. It'll be good advertising for you, and it costs just about as little to leave them on as it does to hire a guy to go around and shut them off.'"

"And this was like 1960," said Shumway, a year in which many Americans first heard of "The New Frontier," the spirit of which was that problems existed merely to be overcome. Now there is an energy crisis and the electric utilities are urging customers to save watts. Lumber producers are worried about shortages. The federal government says a money shortage forbids spending for worthy projects. Most other countries never believed that material progress was inevitable, but many Americans still do. Embued with the frontier spirit, they feel that the material benefits are yours if you work for them. Burkhard Strumpel of the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, revealed recently the findings of a study of American workers and consumers: "No less than 84 per cent of our sample of young heads of households (interviewed in Detroit and Baltimore in 1971) expect they will be better off a year from now." Adds Strumpel: "And if five years from now their standards of living were the same, 58 per cent would be outright dissatisfied." And there's the conflict. George Katona, dean of consumer behaviorists, reminds us that "not a few individuals, nor a thin upper class, but the majority of families now have discretionary purchasing power and constantly replace and enlarge their stock of consumer goods." The American dream of material success has come true. More than 11 million cars will be sold this year. (Continued On Page 5)

FBI Agent Killed In Gun Duel

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A rookie FBI agent was shot to death Thursday in a gun duel with an escaped convict charged with robbing a savings and loan office the day before.

The convict then tried to beat a second FBI agent on the head with a gun, and was grabbed by two workmen at an apartment construction project where the shootout occurred. He was held in a hospital a few hours and then taken to jail. The second agent also was treated and released.

Gregory W. Spinelli, 24, of Indiana, Pa., an FBI agent slightly less than a year and assigned to the Charlotte office last August, died of wounds in the chest and head. He and his widow have a 2-year-old child, and she is expecting another child in about two weeks, a spokesman said.

The FBI in Washington said Spinelli was the first agent slain in line of duty in more than four years. The last previous ones were two slain in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 8, 1969. The agency said Spinelli was the 24th FBI man killed on duty.

Authorities said that Spinelli and the other agent, George Alzhamer, had staked out a motel room to serve warrants in the robbery when the man and woman named in the warrants bolted from the room and drove to the apartment complex a short distance away.

The man, Arthur Mankins, 34, had been charged with the $4,000 robbery of a branch of the Winston-Salem Savings and Loan Association at Rural Hall near Winston-Salem, 100 miles from Charlotte.

The woman, Bonnie Lou Logan of Winston-Salem, was arrested on a charge of accessory after the fact in the robbery.

Mankins, of Germantown near Winston-Salem, was serving a 20-year sentence for robbery when he escaped from prison in eastern North Carolina. It was his second escape. Authorities said he had fled from the Forsyth County Jail in Winston-Salem in 1968, and was captured six weeks later in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Curtis Railey, who lives across the road from the apartments, said she heard shots and thought they were firecrackers.

She said she saw two men struggling on an asphalt parking lot, one trying to hit the other on the head with a gun. Workmen paving a driveway at the apartments joined the fray when one of the struggling men cried, "Help me." A couple of workmen grabbed one of the struggling men and held him until police arrived.

Spinelli was rushed to a Charlotte hospital in a county police car but he died two hours later.

"Rouse has made life miserable," an intimate of the governor confides, and Holshouser privately read the riot act to his chairman last week.

Superficially at issue is Rouse's heavyhanded pursuit of state jobs for Republicans. In fact, however, Rouse is close to James Gardner, leader of the party's right-wing whom Holshouser defeated in the 1972 primary. Rouse survived Holshouser's ouster attempt after the primary and, as viewed by the governor's inner circle, now represents the Gardner clique's continued opposition.

Elsewhere in the South, the Holshousers are losing to the Gardners. In neighboring Virginia, progressive Republican Gov. Linwood Holton leaves office next year with the party controlled by conservatives and converted Byrd Democrats.

Whereas Holton was crippled by supporting school busing, Holshouser is safely on record against it in a state where fierce opposition has changed to smoldering resignation. Nevertheless, the leftward tilt of the Democratic party nationally is forcing rank-and-file conservatives into the Republican party, stacking the party deck against Holshouser's policies.

Holshouser wants the party to welcome Wallaceite Democrats but seeks center and left-of-center gains to maintain balance. If this cannot be done in historically moderate North Carolina, it can be done nowhere in the South. And if cannot be done in the region where Republican growth is most dynamic, the party could be pulled disastrously far to the right at a moment of unique opportunity.

and more than 2.5 million homes if you include mobile units. Recreation is big business. Savings accounts are bulging.

"What is known all over the world as the American standard of living does not consist of luxurious living by the wealthy," Katona says in "The Mass Consumption Society."

"What is new is the common man's sharing in the ways of living that in the past were reserved for the few. The common man's ability to use some of his money for what he would like to have rather than for what he must have represents a revolutionary change."

And now it seems, for the time being at least, that this little planet's ability to satisfy these massive demands without destroying itself has been reached.

Like the closing of the frontier dampened that American spirit in the late 19th century, planetary limitations seem to be imposing restraints today. But the demand for more continues.

Trucker Held For Bomb Threat

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP)—A truck driver from this northern New York village has been put under $2,000 bond on a charge of threatening to blow up the Post Office in Lincoln, N.C.

No reason why John M. Fizette allegedly did so has been given.

Authorities said the 44-year-old Fizette called the U.S. Secret Service Office in Charlotte from a pay telephone in Lincoln last Dec. 23 and made the threat. Use of a telephone for threats is a federal crime.

Fizette was arrested late Wednesday night. He was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Daniel Scanlon Jr. in Watertown Thursday, jailed in lieu of $2,000 bail and was assigned counsel.

could be worked out on piece rates. A reporter should charge $100 for giving up his notebook, $500 for providing tapes and $5,000 for turning over all unused film. (If it got too profitable, the newspaper publishers might demand some of the action, which I'm sure could be worked out with the guild.)

An appearance before a grand jury might be worth $750, and if the newspaperman's source is convicted he would be entitled to a bonus of $250.

Strangely enough, the area where newspapermen are becoming more in demand as witnesses is in civil suits. Any reporter who has written a story about a suit is now considered fair game by either the plaintiff's attorney or the defense lawyer.

This is where the big money is, and I believe any newspaperman who helps a lawyer in a civil suit should receive 25 percent of the attorney's fee. There are some lawyers who might want to put journalists on retainer for the year and their would be nothing wrong with that. But if they'd rather pay by the case, this could be arranged at $100 an hour.

You might ask what the government and the civil attorneys are getting for their money. The answer is hard, though, investigative work that would cost them twice as much if they had to do it themselves.

They are also getting inside information that could swing a case one way or the other. Making newspapermen a branch of the legal profession in this country would be the greatest contribution to giving them the financial security they all desire.

The writers of the Constitution never spelled it out, but I like to think that's what they had in mind when they wrote the First Amendment.

Indian Named To House Seat

RAEFORD, N.C. (AP)—Henry Ward Oxendine, an Indian from Robeson County, has been named to the state House of Representatives. He is a law student at North Carolina Central University in Durham.

Democrats from Robeson, Hoke and Scotland counties chose him Thursday to fill the unexpired term of Frank S. White, who died last week.

Antietam National Battlefield, site of a decisive Civil War battle in Maryland, remains virtually unchanged since that September, 1862, fight.

Lose Their Third Child To Rare Heart Disease

By ERIC SHARP
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — "This is the way Susan died," Kim Bradley said to his mother as he looked up from his hospital bed.

A few minutes later Kim became the third child of John and Mary Bradley to die of a rare, incurable heart disease called primary pulmonary hypertension.

Kim, 15, had suffered 10 heart attacks.

Doctors at Tallahassee Memorial Hospital said the boy died Thursday without fear, even though he had known for four years the disease would allow him only a short lifespan.

"We just tried to teach him to live one day at a time," said John Bradley, 39. "Do you have any plans for next week? I don't. I'm living for today. We tried to teach Kim to live that way too."

In 1958, the Bradleys' first child, Susan, died of the disease at the age of 3. Three years later, it claimed 2-year-old Linda. Kim suffered "five major heart attacks and five minor ones over the past four years," said Bradley, a pipefitter at Florida State University. "If we woke up in the morning and everything was all right, then we made plans for that day. If it wasn't all right, then we prepared for the worst."

The Bradleys have two surviving children—a natural daughter, Mary Faith, 11, and an adopted daughter, Betty Michelle, 6.

"We're pretty sure Mary Faith won't be affected by the disease. The doctors said the odds against one member of a family getting it are 1,000-to-1, and the odds against two getting it are way higher," Bradley said.

He paused for a few seconds, then added, "But we've had three. The odds on that must be ... well, I just don't know. We'll just keep praying it won't be four."

Improper Mufflers Can Bring Citation

Persons driving vehicles within the Greenville city limits who have improper mufflers or who park on the wrong side of the street may be in for a rude awakening.

Chief of Police Glenn Cannon said today that cases of vehicles — especially motorcycles — being operated with improper mufflers are on the increase within the city, as are incidents of people parking with the left side of their vehicles to the curb.

Violators, he said, are subject to prosecution for their violations, and can expect to be charged.

The chief explained that all vehicles — especially motorcycles — are now being operated within the city with improper mufflers and that their drivers may be cited to court, even if the vehicles are being ridden on private property.

He emphasized that removing baffles from mufflers causes an increase in the noise level and is in violation.

Cannon explained, too, that drivers parking with the left side of their vehicles to the curb (thus facing oncoming traffic) are violating city ordinances.

He said parking left to curb is allowed only on one-way streets, unless signs are posted to prohibit it.

The chief explained that vehicles pulling across a traffic lane to park left-to-curb on streets carrying two-way traffic create a hazard for oncoming cars. The same hazard is also created when the vehicles leave the parking place.

Rescind Ban On School Visitors

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A court order barring visitors from public schools in Charlotte and Mecklenburg County—issued almost two weeks ago after fights between black and white pupils—has been rescinded.

However, a spokesman said the school system will immediately request that the temporary injunction be put into effect again should new disruptions occur.

Judge Frank Snapp of Superior Court, who had issued it, rescinded it Thursday at the request of the school board. It had been challenged by the NAACP as vague and too broad.

Among Leaders' In Gonorrhea

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Charlotte, with about 4,500 cases of gonorrhea last year, ranked third among the nation's 60 largest cities in reported cases of the disease.

A study by the American Social Health Association released Thursday says Charlotte reported a rate of 1.82 cases per 100,000 population. It was out-ranked only by Atlanta and Memphis in the fiscal year ended last June 30th.

The study also said that Charlotte's reported rate of infectious syphilis, 15 cases per 100,000 population, while ranking only 28th among the 60 cities, was up 76 per cent over the previous year.

Study Contraceptives Available For Minors

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation to provide contraceptives to minors in North Carolina without parental consent will be turned over to a subcommittee for study.

Sen. Kenneth Royall Jr., D-Durham, chairman of the Senate Public Health and Resources Committee, said this Thursday following a lengthy hearing on the bill.

Royall appointed Sen. Charles Taylor, R-Transylvania, to head a three-member committee to consider the measure and report back to the full committee.

Dr. Takey Crist, gynecologist of Jacksonville, urged passage of the bill, saying: "Bad girls don't get pregnant and neither do angels. It's the good girls that get pregnant."

The committee heard arguments for and against the legislation introduced by Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston. The bill would authorize local boards of health to provide contraceptives to minors without parental consent upon the advice of a licensed physician.

Mrs. Letty Liles of Knightdale in Wake County, mother of two teenage daughters, was among six persons who spoke against the measure. She said, "If this bill were passed, it would actually give legal sanction to sex between unmarried persons."

Crist told the committee, "There should be no legal barriers preventing a minor from obtaining counseling and/or treatment without parental consent for venereal disease, drug addiction, and contraception."

The Rev. William Bigham of Greensboro, urging approval of the bill, said, "Sexual procreancy demands a fearful price from our young people."

Dr. Marjorie Strawn of Lenoir, chairman of the legislative committee of the North Carolina Public Health Association, told the committee contraceptives are already available for minors, but not the knowledge and education that should be provided.

William F. Hohenwarter of Greensboro, a history instructor for the extension division of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, said the bill "forces too tough a decision on young children."

He said "It forces a child—perhaps as young as age 12—to make important decisions prior to the time he or she has the emotional maturity to do so."

The Rev. Coy Privette of Kannapolis, president of the Christian Action League, said, "We think there ought to be a better way to handle the problem."

Others who spoke against the measure included Dr. John F. Barrett of UNC-Greensboro, Robert J. Hanson and L. J. Kelleher Jr., both of Greensboro.

Invitation of the Bells

America is a land of bells!
Wedding bells, door bells, dinner bells, school bells, sleigh bells . . . all speak of a country where freedom from tyranny exists.

Chimes also keynote freedom of speech as commentators broadcast the news. Typewriter bells ring out freedom of the press. And church bells, whether they be the musical chimes from a cathedral's spire, or the ding dong from the steeple of a village chapel, typify freedom of religion.

Churches throughout the land are open to all. Inside their doors, we cast aside worry that shackles our hearts in this atomic age. We find strength and courage to face the unknown future. Our faith, hope and trust in God, who says, "Fear not; for I am with thee," is renewed and peace fills our anxious souls.

Let us accept the invitation of the bells to "Come and worship," and go to church regularly.

Brother's Kidney Means Troy Dixon Has A Future

BASKETBALL . . . a favorite activity is not forbidden to Troy. He plays with his younger brother, Perry, left.

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

AYDEN — "If I never give you anything else, Little Brother, I've given you new life," Billy Dixon, 20, told Troy Dixon, 17, as both were recuperating from operations at Duke University Medical Center last August.

Troy, now a senior at Ayden-Grifton High School, was the recipient of one of Billy's kidneys.

"Yes, Troy has Billy to thank, and he has so many other people, too," said his mother, Mrs. Simon Dixon of Rt. 1, Ayden. "Our whole family thinks Dr. Ferguson is wonderful. And all the doctors and nurses here and at Duke have been so good to us. Our friends have prayed and helped in other ways, too. Because of all of them, our son has a future and we have him."

Glomerulonephritis, an immune reaction which gradually destroys kidney function was discovered by Dr. Al Ferguson, a Greenville kidney specialist, after Troy was sent to him by Dr. Elliott Dixon of Ayden in 1968. After Troy's initial symptoms, fever and retention of fluid, were alleviated, he had no symptoms until February of last year, Dr.

Ferguson said. He continued to go to school, to play basketball, and to work on his model cars, all activities he enjoys.

His family is a close one and one that expects the children to excel. The three eldest children have graduated from college. Vincent, an A&T State University graduate, teaches at Ayden-Grifton High School. Cecelia, now Mrs. Jesse Collins, teaches at North Pitt High School and Peggy teaches in Burlington. Both the girls are Winston-Salem State University graduates. Billy is a junior at A&T.

Troy plans to attend A&T next year and major in business administration. Then the Dixons will have only one child at home—Perry, now in the fifth grade.

The whole family, parents and all five of Troy's sisters and brothers were tested at Duke, each one willing to undergo removal of one of his or her own kidneys in order that Troy might live. He had had dialysis at Pitt Memorial Hospital three times and a transplant was his only hope, since both his own kidneys had ceased to function.

"The doctors at Duke said Troy was lucky to have such a big, loving family," Mrs. Dixon said. "They decided Cecelia, Peggy, and Billy were the nearest matches for Troy and seemed to feel that Billy would be the best donor of the three since he was of the same sex.

isily never hesitated that I know of."

Troy said he has missed about 20 days of school this year, some at the first of the year when he was still recuperation from his transplant operation which kept him hospitalized 17 days and some because of having to go back to Duke once every other week for checkups. His grades have remained good, however, and he takes part in the French and Social Sciences Club and is on the annual staff.

He takes "right much" medicine, he said, and his mother must cook his food without salt. He will be off the low-sodium diet soon, however, and the periods between visits to Duke will be extended, he says his doctors tell him.

For anyone else who may be facing a transplant, he says, "It's nothing to be scared of."

Will Meet To Discuss ESAA

A meeting to discuss the proposed Emergency School Aid Act will be held at Minges Coliseum, East Carolina University, Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

The meeting, to be held in room 177, will be held to discuss a proposal being submitted by the Department of Health and Physical Education and Recreation under the ESAA for the 1973-74 school year.

The proposal seeks to receive funds for physical education and recreational-after school activities in cooperation with the Greenville City Schools and the Greenville Recreation Department.

Election By Humane Soc.

Graham House was named president of the Pitt County Humane Society at the group's meeting Monday night.

Other officers named, effective April 1, John Guyette, vice president; Pay Guyette, recording secretary; Evelyn Beasley, corresponding secretary; Dennis Langley, treasurer. Committee chairmen will be appointed at the April meeting.

In addition to the regular members, 10 new members attended the meeting and participated in a question and answer session held by House relative to the adoption of pets through the Adoption Committee and the county dog pound. Records of pets available are kept by John Guyette.

Plans for "Be Kind to Animals Week," scheduled for the week of May 6, will be formulated at the April meeting, Monday, April 9, at 8 p.m. at Planters National Bank.

DAR Hears Wilson Man

James Jefferson, vice president of Boone's Antiques, Wilson, spoke at the Saturday meeting of the Major Benjamin May Chapter of DAR.

Jefferson stated that Wilson, with its 12 antique dealers, is the antique capitol of the south. Many of the choice pieces of furniture are bought by museums or used in restorations. In the last five years, the state department in Washington, D. C., has acquired a good collection of American furniture which is housed in the State Department Building, Washington.

Kidney Week

This is National Kidney Week, a week to devote special attention to the needs of the eight million Americans who suffer from the fourth-leading health problem in the country today, kidney-related diseases.

The National Kidney Foundation is dedicated to finding the total answer to diseases of the kidneys—prevention, treatment, and cure. It is a voluntary health agency and services vary depending upon community resources. Besides research and public education, the Foundation urges the donation of kidneys and other organs. It has been instrumental in securing adoption by all states of the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act.

The Greenville Junior Woman's Club is spearheading the establishment of a National Kidney Foundation chapter here. It currently is raising money to enable two East Carolina University medical students to do research and clinical work on kidney-related diseases this summer. It also is distributing Uniform Donor Cards. Interested persons may call Junior Woman's Club President, Mrs. Bobby Swinson.

arrival in Greenville on Thursday. With them is Miss Carol Tucker, a staff assistant member of ECU Regional Drug Program (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Glenn and Barbara Bondurant of Pompano, Florida, arrived in Greenville yesterday to being a four day round of appearances on behalf of the "Turning Point" program now being developed in Greenville.

"Turning Point," the name for the forerunner stage of efforts to establish a Christian Coffee House and later a Drug Rehabilitation Center in Greenville is headed by temporary steering committee chairman Harry Allen.

Arriving at mid day, the Confurants had lunch with members of the Greenville steering committee, then began their rounds of meeting individuals and groups with a rap session on the mall at East Carolina University.

The rap session was sponsored by East Carolina University Regional Drug Program and the Student Government Association.

The next event was a kick-off supper meeting for interested persons at a local restaurant.

Today the Bondurants appeared on Carolina Today, WNCT-TV, and from there went to Aycock Junior High where they met with the school's Student Government Association.

At 2:30 this afternoon they were scheduled to meet with students from the Rose High Student Government Association, first talking with representatives from the association, to be followed by an open period beginning at 3:30 for special counseling with any students who might request that service.

For the remainder of their scheduled stay here, the Bondurants will engage in street ministry, work with individual and groups, and meetings with church groups.

Tonight the couple will conduct a street ministry, at unannounced points in town, to "sample" the local drug problem situation. This form of street ministry will also be conducted by the Bondurants on Saturday night.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Bondurant will keep the day open to meet interested persons or groups for talks on drug problems.

On Sunday, the Bondurants are scheduled to be present at both the 8:45 and 11:00 a.m. services at St. James Methodist Church. There are also tentative plans for them to meet with interdenominational youth groups at Jarvis Memorial

Dollar Support Talked

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States was reported in broad agreement with other Western trading nations today on cooperation to support the dollar and end the international money crisis.

The precise extent and nature of the support for the dollar were not known — partly because it would depend on the state of world currency markets and partly to frustrate speculators.

The dollar appeared today to need no special support, at least in early European trading. It rose in Frankfurt, Zurich and Milan, and held steady in Paris.

Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France, the chairman of the meeting, told reporters that there was a convergence of views between Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz and others.

West German officials said Shultz had agreed that if necessary the United States would use existing "swap" arrangements to keep the price of the dollar from dropping. Under these arrangements about $11.75 billion worth of foreign currencies are available, which the U.S. Federal Reserve System can borrow to intervene in markets.

The West Germans also said the Americans are ready to take measures to encourage the return to the United States of short-term capital.

Shultz has announced that limits on the outflow of capital from the United States will be eliminated by the end of 1974. The West Germans quoted him as explaining that this was planned on the assumption that America's international payments would then be in balance.

The West German officials said all the countries concerned agreed that they are ready to use the swap arrangements and that these might even be expanded.

They also quoted Shultz as telling the 13 other countries at the meeting that present exchange rates are realistic from the viewpoint of trade and that the United States is ready to cooperate to maintain the existing system.

No decision was made, these sources said, on sales of gold by central banks.

Japan's finance minister, Kiichi Aishi, told reporters that Shultz had gone over the requests for cooperation made by the governments of the European Common Market. Shultz agreed only, he said, on the general idea of helping support the dollar and on using the swap arrangements.

There was no immediate comment from U.S. spokesmen.

See Practical Use In Tongue Twisters

By TOM SIEBERT
Associated Press Writer
LAMAR, Colo. (AP) — Can you say: Theopolis Thistle the famous thistle sifter, after sifting a sieve full of unsifted thistles, thrust 3,000 thistles through the thick of his thumb?
Or how about: Betty Botter bought some butter but she said, "This butter's bitter. If I put it in my batter it will make my batter bitter." So she bought a bit of better butter, put it in her batter batter, made her batter batter better — so it's better Betty Botter bought a bit of better butter.
For a breather try counting up to 100 and back by 2 1/2s. Now memorize and recite them quickly and without a hitch and you're ready for Scott Pittullo's auctioneering class at Lamar Community College.

These and other zany chants are practiced each week by a dozen students in the noncredit course. The school says it may base a one-year occupational program on the course next year.

The reason for tongue twisters and counting up and down by quarters and halves, says Pittullo, is that rhythm is the secret of an auctioneer's success.

"We use and use and use the drills till they're so tired they don't know whether they can go anymore or not. But if you don't get your dollars and quarters in the right place you lose your rhythm."

"It isn't so much the speed that makes you think an auctioneer's fast, as his rhythm. The excitement in the chant causes people to bid."

Beside the fun of it, the course also has a practical use the instructor says, since virtually every product in the world is sold by auction at some point — including bacco, farm goods, jewelry, rugs, furniture and even real estate.

Providence, Maryland Set For Eastern Game

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Providence, the nation's fourth-ranked basketball team, and Maryland, No. 8, took time out today to savor their impressive victories in Thursday night's semifinals of the NCAA Eastern Regional Tournament.

After Providence walloped Ivy League champion Penn 87-65, Maryland drubbed Syracuse 91-75 to set up a 2:10 p.m. EST, meeting Saturday for the regional title. The winner moves to the national semifinals at St. Louis March 24, along with survivors of three other regional tournaments.

Penn and Syracuse will play for third place at noon Saturday.

The two key men of the Providence Friars, senior backcourt Ernie DiGregorio and junior center Marvin Barnes, as expected, led the team to its 16th straight victory and 26th in 28 games.

But Coach Dave Gavitt, possibly seeking to keep his charges hungry, offered the opinion that they were not quite up to par.

He commented, "Ernie plays a fine game, but he didn't have his usual quickness."

Of Barnes, Gavitt noted, "He was slightly less than normal with his quickness of defense."

Despite these flaws, DiGregorio managed 18 points and 10 assists, but the 6-footer did not have one of his better shooting nights, hitting only nine of 21 shots.

Barnes, at 6-foot-8, is the country's No. 2 rebounder with 20 a game. He grabbed 13, but his most eye-popping statistic was 20 points on 10 shots without a miss. He sat out the last 4½ minutes of the first half after drawing his third personal.

Nehru King, an 8.5-point average man, added 18 points and Kevin Stacom 16 to round out the Friars' big four.

Penn, now 21-6 and ranked No. 18, was unable to solve the Providence zone and hit only 27 per cent, 12 of 44 shots, in the first half to trail 36-29.

After Penn cut the lead to five with 15 minutes left in the last half, Providence went on a 15-6 spree in the next five minutes and had matters well under control the rest of the way. Phil Hankinson's 19 points and 18 by Ron Haigler paced Penn, which ended with a 33.7 shooting percentage against 65.6 for Providence, which hit 22 of 31 in the last half for 71 per cent.

Penn Coach Chuck Daly said his team "expended too much energy trying to play catch-up in the first half and we paid for it later in the game. Playing catch-up threw us off our tempo, too."

Maryland's height was a vital factor against Syracuse, now 23-5 and ranked 14th nationally.

Lefty Driesell's Terps, with four men taller than 6-foot-8 Rudy Hackett, Syracuse's tallest, had a 42-23 rebound edge.

Len Elmore, who broke a bone in his right foot three weeks ago, didn't start for Maryland, but played 31 minutes and captured 14 rebounds while scoring 10 points. Driesell noted that the 6-foot-9 Elmore's timing was off on his shot-blocking, especially in the first half.

Maryland survived an early 10-point run by Syracuse to take a 35-34 halftime lead after nine lead changes.

A 12-0 run in less than three minutes early in the second half shot Maryland ahead 55-41 and the Orangemen couldn't recover.

Jim O'Brien led Maryland with 22 points; freshmen John Lucas added 21; Tom McMillen 18 and Bob Bodell 12 as the Terps hit 57 per cent, 68 in the last half.

Exciting Dennis DuVal's 22 points and 17 by Mike Lee paced Syracuse, which had a 10-game winning streak snapped.

Hunter, Clark Lead Rampants Past Cards

Rose High School pulled off a rare fete yesterday, nipping Jacksonville High School's track team in a dual meet. It marked the first time in several years that the Cardinals have fallen.

But the Rampants did it in their opening meet of the year, 69-67.

The Rampants put together victories in nine of the 16 events, as the triple jump has been added to competition this year. The two teams split the relays.

Al Hunter led the victory with a triple victory, winning the discus with a toss of 152 feet, and then taking the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds and the 220-yard dash in 22.8 seconds. Hunter also ran a leg in the winning 440-relay team.

Matthew Clark was also a double winner for the Rampants, taking both of the hurdle vents. He won the 120-yard highs in 15.4 seconds, and the 180-yard lows in

"I'm just sick," said Jerry Tarkanian of Long Beach State. "I guess I've just lost the old zip," said Al McGuire of Marquette.

Both coaches weren't in the best of health after taking upsets in the NCAA basketball playoffs Thursday night.

As a matter of fact, their teams didn't look too good either. The University of San Francisco stopped Tarkanian's 49ers 77-67 in the West Regional semifinals and Marquette suffered a 75-69 loss to underdog Indiana in the Mideast.

San Francisco thus earned a short at defending national champion UCLA in West finals tomorrow. The top-ranked Bruins won their semifinal test with a 98-81 triumph over out-gunned Arizona State.

Indiana's triumph set up a Mideast final with Kentucky, which trimmed Austin Peay 106-100 in overtime in the other semifinal game Thursday night.

Maryland and Providence moved up with triumphs in East Regional semis and Memphis State and Kansas State did the same in the Midwest.

Maryland drubbed Syracuse 91-75 and Providence turned back Penn 87-65. Memphis State crushed South Carolina 90-76 and Kansas State upended Southwestern Louisiana 66-63.

Mike Quick who scored 25 points to pace USF's stunner over third-ranked Long Beach, predicted a knockout of UCLA in the West championship game.

"We are confident we can beat UCLA if we play together as a team," said Quick.

Sparked by Steve Downing and John Ritter, sixth-ranked Indiana trimmed No. 5 Marquette and prompted these comments from Warriors' Coach McGuire:

"Indiana was the better ball-club tonight. They beat us on the boards and they had us in foul trouble in both halves. They were well coached and never lost their poise.

"I didn't do a good coaching job. I wasn't quick. Maybe I just lost the old zip tonight. That happens sometimes."

Downing poured in 29 points as the Hoosiers rallied from a 10-point deficit with 14 minutes left in the game. Ritter delivered some clutch points in the stretch that sewed up the game up for Knight's boys.

UCLA, meanwhile, charged to a 51-37 halftime lead over Arizona State behind Larry Hollyfield's 18 points and breezed to its 72nd straight triumph.

Austin Peay took a 96-92 lead early in the overtime before Kentucky reeled off eight straight points, four by Kevin Grevey. Then Jim Andrews scored the go-ahead basket for Kentucky with 2:21 left as the Wildcats won their 10th straight game.

Kansas State used an effective slow-down game and the outside shooting of Ernie Kushner and Lon Krueger to defeat Southwestern Louisiana. Larry Kenon's 34 points powered Memphis State past South Carolina.

Maryland staggered Syracuse with 12 straight points early in the second half and went on to an easy victory over the shorter Orangemen. Providence hammered Penn's Ivy Leaguers as Marvin Barnes scored 20 points and Ernie DiGregorio and Nehru King 18 each.

In the NCAA College Division tourney at Evansville, Ind., Kentucky State edged Brockport 96-90 and Tennessee State blasted Assumption 106-76 to advance to Friday night's finals.

Globetrotters Here Tonight

The world famous Harlem Globetrotters will be showing why they are rated as the world's most popular form of family entertainment tonight at 8:00 p.m. when they meet the Boston Shamrocks at the Minges Coliseum on the East Carolina University campus.

Last year the Globetrotters added two new countries to the list of far away places with strange sounding names they have visited. By playing games in Tahiti and New Caledonia, the team brought to 89 the number of countries they have played in during their 46 year history.

In those 46 years the Globetrotters have travelled more than seven million miles while bringing their familiar brand of basketball merriment to more than 71 million people on all five continents.

The Globetrotters performance is a combination of the routines that have become world famous and extremely popular, and new routines which will amaze and delight Trotter fans. The 1973 version of the fabulous Globetrotters is probably the best in the 46 year history of the team.

The fun-filled family entertainment spectacular, which, in addition to the famous magicians of the hardwood, includes an all-star variety show. Tickets are on sale at the Minges Coliseum ticket office and at the Record Bar.

Church Finals

Presbyterian gained a 71-64 victory over Immanuel Baptist last night, forcing another game for the championship of the Church Basketball League Tournament.

Immanuel, the regular season champ, went into the game last night as the sole team in the double elimination tournament without a loss, needing only one win to claim the title. But they couldn't overcome Presbyterian, and now the two will meet again tonight, with the winner taking the title.

Immanuel held control of the game at the half, but only by a slim 32-31 margin. Presbyterian fought back in the second half, outscoring Immanuel, 40-32, and gained the victory and a second chance at the title.

Larry Graham led Presbyterian to the win with 26 points, while Ron Barnes added 17. For Immanuel, David Hahn had 18, Drew Rumbley had 14, Dick Evans had 13 and Cliff McNeil had 11.

The final game will be played tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Elm Street Gymnasium.

Driesell: No Knowledge Of Foe

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Familiarity not only breeds contempt, it also is capable of producing fear.

For that reason, Coach Lefty Driesell of Maryland is delighted he knows "absolutely nothing" about Providence, the opponent of the Terps in Saturday's title game of the NCAA Eastern Regional basketball tournament.

"From what I'm told," Driesell said after Maryland advanced to the finals by trouncing Syracuse 91-75 Thursday night, "Providence is really tough. If I knew too much about them, I'd probably be scared."

Driesell said fourth-ranked Providence, which has a 26-2 record and extended its winning streak to 16 by whipping Penn 87-65, "probably will be favored on Saturday."

Maryland, ranked No. 8 in the nation, has a 23-6 mark against tougher competition, however, and has played better against common opponents this season.

Both regional finalists have beaten Brown, Canisius and Duquesne, and in every case Maryland won by the biggest margin.

Coach Roy Danforth of Syracuse, whose team has lost to Maryland three times in the past year, forecast a close championship game but predicted the quickness of Providence would give the Terps a lot of trouble.

"Ernie DiGregorio will be hard to contain, and Providence moves well without the ball," Danforth said. "They're so quick in the forward position that it will be difficult to play against them with a man-to-man defense."

DiGregorio, the 6-foot guard who had 18 points and 10 assists against Penn, probably will be guarded by 6-4 Bob Bodell—who played a key role in Maryland's second-half spurt although illing with an intestinal ailment.

Bodell, who missed practice early in the week, failed with the only two shots he tried in the opening half before being urged by Driesell to "get on the scoreboard."

Bodell scored four points during a 12-point streak which put the Terps ahead 55-41 with 14 minutes remaining. He added six more during an 8-0 string which made it 79-64. He finished with 12 points and four assists.

Freshman John Lucas, Bodell's running mate at guard, had 21 points and five assists. Senior Jim O'Brien showed the way with 22 points and six assists.

Along with Bodell, the entire Maryland team seemed to come alive in the second half after struggling to a 35-34 halftime lead.

The Terps hit 23 of 34 shots, a crisp 67.6 per cent, after intermission. Many were easy lay-ups at the end of fast breaks.

"We ran out of gas," Danforth said. "We gave up more cherry baskets tonight than in any other game, but we have to send four men to the basket all the time because we have so many runts."

"There's no way you can play seven runts against 14 giants and win."

Maryland's Tom McMillen, who made only four points while attempting just three shots in the first half, sank all seven of his shots in the second half and finished with 18 points.

Len Elmore, ailing with a broken bone in his right foot, wasn't in the starting line-up but scored 10 points and grabbed 14 rebounds while playing 31 minutes.

Asked if he had planned to rest Elmore had Maryland pulled away early, Driesell said: "What do I want to rest him for? We're playing for the national championship. He can rest all summer."

Driesell, who failed three times while at Davidson to advance beyond the regionals, will try to achieve that plateau Saturday with his first Maryland team to compete in the NCAA tournament.

"I've always said I wanted my team to reach a peak at tournament time," Driesell said, "and I think we are."

Guilford Gains NAIA Semi-Finals With Win

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — John Laing's shooting and rebounding brilliance led second-seeded Augustana, Ill., to a 63-46 victory over Oklahoma Baptist Thursday night and into the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball semifinals along with Slippery Rock, Pa., Maryland-Eastern Shore and Guilford, N.C.

The semifinals showdown Friday night sends Slippery Rock against Eastern Shore and Augustana against Guilford.

Two free throws with 46 seconds left pulled Guilford from behind and the Quakers topped Westmont, Calif., 70-67.

Rubin Collins, staked out near eight seeded Eastern Shore's basket, came up with repeated easy goals which fired the Hawks to an 87-80 defeat of Xavier, La.

A lay-up by Owen Long with 21 seconds to go gave Slippery Rock a 60-58 triumph over Wisconsin-Green Bay, the No. 4 seed.

Laing had 27 points and 21 rebounds for Augustana, 28-1. Wardell Jeffries and Irving Kiffin each had 14 for the losing Bisons, 19-12.

Guilford ran up six, seven and eight-point leads in the second half before Westmont finally moved ahead on Bill Boyd's basket with nine minutes, 57 seconds left. The Warriors widened this advantage to five points before Guilford started to close in once more.

After the lead see-sawed, Jackson put the Quakers ahead for good at 66-65. With 14 seconds to go, Lloyd Free canned two free throws that iced the game for the Quakers, 27-5.

Collins, who made 29 points for Eastern Shore, came up with five baskets during a four-minute spell early in the second half that gave the Hawks a 57-52 lead.

Four times after that Xavier, which Wednesday night had eliminated top-seeded Sam Houston State, narrowed the Hawks' advantage to one point but could get no closer.

Long took a nifty pass from Payton Tomblin and broke for the basket after Slippery Rock had frozen the ball for nearly one minute. Green Bay got two cracks at the basket after that but both missed, the last by Terry Schott at the final buzzer.

Bad Luck For This Rookie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The rookies that bloom...and wilt...in the spring, tra la.

Craig Skok, a graduate of Florida State University, is a 25-year-old left-hander who led the International League last season with 15 wins.

He wasn't drafted, but was signed by the Boston Red Sox after being named most valuable player of the Schenectady, N.Y., Twilight League in 1969.

Thursday, it must have felt like the twilight zone as the Detroit Tigers unloaded on him for eight runs in the fourth inning of a 9-3 exhibition baseball victory. The onslaught included a grand slam home run by Willie Horton, a solo shot by Tony Taylor, run-scoring singles by Gates Brown and Al Kaline...and a missed fly ball by center fielder Reggie Smith which resulted in six of the runs being unearned.

Some other newcomers had better experiences to write home about.

Charlie Spikes, Cleveland's key acquisition in a big winter deal with the New York Yankees, slugged his second and third home runs of the spring in the Indians' 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. His first sailed over the 405-foot marker in left-center while the second, with a man aboard, shot past the foul pole 370 feet away. Oscar Gamble also homered for the Indians.

John Grubb singled home the winning run in the seventh inning to give the San Diego Padres a 5-4 decision over the San Francisco Giants. The rookie outfielder connected off Tom Bradley, who was tagged for three runs in the sixth inning and one in the seventh in his first appearance for the Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds trailed the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-2 in the third inning and were still down 11-7 when they came to bat in the eighth. But with two out, rookie Joel Youngblood cracked a two-run homer off Bob Miller and the Reds caught up before Miller got the third out.

They won it 12-11 on Dave Concepcion's home run in the ninth. Manny Sanguillen, Gene Alley and Dave Cash homered for the Bucs.

Still another rookie, Cincinnati's Ken Griffey, starred in a losing cause. He lashed two doubles and a single, making him 7-for-9 over the last two games, but a split squad of Reds bowled to the Chicago White Sox 11-3.

DiGregorio, the 6-foot guard who had 18 points and 10 assists against Penn, probably will be guarded by 6-4 Bob Bodell—who played a key role in Maryland's second-half spurt although illing with an intestinal ailment.

Bodell, who missed practice early in the week, failed with the only two shots he tried in the opening half before being urged by Driesell to "get on the scoreboard."

Pearson, Parsons Happy Ones

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — There were some unhappy people at the North Carolina Motor Speedway today, but David Pearson and Benny Parsons were not among them.

Pearson, a 38-year-old longtime professional from Spartanburg, S.C., will start Sunday's $100,000 Carolina 500 mile stock car race in the pole position. He has been there hundreds of times before.

Parsons, 35, a two-time champion of the Midwest-based Auto Racing Club of America before coming south six years ago, will start in the other front-row spot. It is a new milestone for him.

The two recorded the fastest speeds around the one-mile oval Thursday as 15 starters earned positions in the 40-car field. Only 1.091 seconds and 5.174 miles per hour separated their lap times and speeds.

Pearson whipped his Mercury around in 2712 .245 seconds for a speed of 134.373 m.p.h. Parsons' elapsed time in a Chevrolet was 27.487 seconds and his speed 133.190 m.p.h.

"It is the best qualifying effort I have had," said Parsons, whose only victory in Grand National Competition was in a 100-mile short track event two years ago.

"It represents a change for me," the Detroit Native added. "It means I'll have to develop a new race strategy. In the past, I have had to work my way toward the front from somewhat back in the pack. Now I'll have to decide whether to try to run with Pearson or let him go at the start and just try to keep up."

If Pearson and Parsons were happy about their situation, several other drivers were not.

Richard Petty, in a Dodge, and Bobby Allison, in a Chevrolet, last year's two top money winners and definitely pole hopefuls Thursday, will occupy the second row.

But scattered among the next dozen starters will be such luminaries as Buddy Baker, Bobby Isaac, Cale Yarborough and Gordon Johncock. None came up with the speed necessary to contend for the pole.

Another 15 positions were to be filled today, with Dick Brooks, James Hylton and Larry Smith, rookie of the year in 1972, among those expected to qualify.

Robersonville Tops Elm City

ROBERSONVILLE—Robersonville, the defending state Class A baseball champion, opened its 1973 season with a 6-3 victory over Elm City yesterday. The win was the 20th in a row for the Eagles.

Doyle Farmer, who has won 13 in a row, hurled the victory for Robersonville, scattering three hits.

It was Elm City, however, which scored first, picking up two runs in the top of the third inning. Wayne Crumpler reached on a fielder's choice, erasing a previous runner, and Frankie Ellis was safe on an error. Julian Proctor was hit by Farmer, loading the bases. He then wild pitched, allowing Crumpler to score. Peanut Gardner then laid down a squeeze bunt, sacrificing Ellis across for the 2-0 lead.

Robersonville came back with a pair to tie it up in the bottom of the fourth. Jimmy Stalls and Larry Jackson both drew walks, and Elm City made a change on the mound. The new pitcher, however, walked Ken Know, loading them up. Jeff Warren then singled in Stalls, and Jackson came in when Farmer hit into a fielder's choice.

The Eagles came back in the fifth inning to score four more and push into a 6-2 lead. Matt Wilson led off with a walk and stole second. An error on the play let him move on to third. Stalls then brought him in with a single. Neno Hayes followed with a hit and a double by Doug Warren brought both Hayes and Stalls across. Jeff Warren followed with another hit, scoring Doug Warren for the 6-2 lead.

Elm City managed one more run, in the seventh.

Jeff Warren led the Robersonville hitting, getting two in three trips, while Ricky Brown had two in four outings. Crumpler was two for three for Elm City.

The two teams are scheduled to meet again today in Robersonville.

Expo Pitching Will Be Better

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Manager Gene Mauch believes in his Montreal Expo pitching staff, especially in the three top starters, Mike Torrez, Bill Stoneman and Balor Moore.

"They will be better and we'll have better results," said Mauch, whose Expos never have finished higher than fifth in four seasons in the National League East.

Torrez was 16-12 last season and the staff's big winner. "He's capable of winning more," said Mauch.

Stoneman had a so-so 12-14 log but pitched his second career no-hitter in his final start of the season. "He hasn't fulfilled the potential we know is there," said Mauch.

Moore had a 9-9 record and an impressive 161 strikeouts in 148 innings in his first full season. Mauch's mouth waters when he talks about the young left-hander. "There are no limitations with that arm," the manager said.

The bullpen is in the capable hands of Mike Marshall, who won 14 games and saved 18 others last season. The relief corps behind Marshall may be a bit skimpy with John Strohmayr, 1-2, and Tom Walker, 2-2, the next men out of the pen.

Mauch's staff may get a boost from a couple of youngsters, Dale Murray and Steve Rogers, both considered top prospects.

Another youngster who figures prominently in the Expo plans is center fielder Jorge Roque. The Expos were unhappy with their defensive situation last year and swapped Tim McCarver to St. Louis to get Roque and his glove.

Roque can fly and he'll have to with Ken Singleton and Ron Fairly flanking him in the outfield. Neither has great speed but both can handle a bat and figure prominently in Montreal's attack. Singleton batted .274 last season and Fairly led the Expos with .278 and 17 home runs.

The infield figures to have Mike Jorgensen, (.231) at first base, veteran Ron Hunt (.253) at second, young Tim Foli (.241) at short and Bob Bailey (.233) at third. Jorgensen and Foli came over from the New York Mets last year along with Singleton in the Rusty Staub trade.

The catching figures to be shared by Terry Humphrey (.186) and John Boccabella (.227) although young Barry Foote could alter those plans. Described as the best prospect in the organization, Foote batted .253 with 16 homers at Quebec City last year and was the Eastern League's All-Star catcher.

BLONDIE THROUGH THE YEARS — Blondie, the comic strip created by Murat B. "Chic" Young, who died Wednesday, will continue, a spokesman for King Features said Thursday. The comic strip was created in 1930, the first began appearing in The

VC General Asserts American Soldiers Didn't Have A Cause

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong general whose troops battled U.S. forces in the Saigon region for seven years says the Americans were good, courageous men and better equipped than his own, but they had no cause to fight for. The Americans were "good fighters.... There was no doubt about their courage," Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra told newsmen at a Canadian cocktail party Thursday night.

"But every army must have a cause and ours was national liberation," he continued. "Soldiers who fight for an ideal will always defeat those who don't have one, even if they are not as well equipped. The Americans did not have an ideal to fight for." The party was given by Canadian peacekeeping officials for their visiting foreign minister, Mitchell Sharp. At one time, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was less than 10 feet from the diminutive general whose troops tried to overrun his embassy in the 1968 Tet offensive. But Bunker spotted the green Viet Cong and North Vietnamese uniforms and moved away. It was the first time Western newsmen have been able to talk at length with the Viet Cong general who reportedly commanded the 1968 attack against Saigon and the attacks last year around An Loc and along Highway 13 north of Saigon.

Tra obviously enjoyed the discussion but parried most inquiries on tactical subjects and his own role, saying such answers were "top secret." The Tet offensive of 1968, Tra said in response to one question, was aimed at "forcing the Americans to de-escalate the war." Last year's Communist offensive was aimed at "forcing the Americans to sign a peace agreement at Paris," he said. Concerning assertions by numerous Communist defectors and prisoners of war that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong often learned in advance of B52 raids—a claim the U.S. Command dismisses as improbable—Tra said: "We live in the jungle. We know the country, every bush and every tree, the leaves and the grass." When a newsmen argued that the B52s fly at high altitudes beyond sight and hearing, Tra replied, "We also know our sky. The local people always support us and told us the things that we needed to know." Young, a Chicago native, moved to Clearwater 17 years ago from Los Angeles. Survivors include his widow, Athel, a son and a daughter. Services were scheduled Saturday at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Clearwater.

Other officers elected were: Hugh Winslow, president-elect; Harold Creech, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Heyman, sergeant-at-arms.

Board of directors named to serve two-year terms include: Bob Browning, Dr. Charles Gilbert, Lawton Nisbet, and J. C. Whitehurst Jr.

Board of directors who will serve one-year terms include: Dr. Al Ferguson, James L. Fleming, Dixie Green and Joe Taft Jr. (This is the second year of a two-year term).

The new officers will take office on July 1.

Three Injured In Car Collision

Three persons were reported injured in a 7:25 p.m. mishap yesterday at the intersection of U. S. 264 and Hooker Road.

Police identified drivers of the cars involved as Jerry Kenneth Stancill of Route 4, Greenville and Malcolm Scott Plunkett of Lewiston.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Stancill car were listed as injured.

Damage was set at $800 to each of the two cars by police who charged Stancill with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Say 'No' To Moratorium

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The State Board of Air and Water Resources has rejected a proposal for moratorium on sewage permits for high-density housing on North Carolina's coast.

The BOARD, IN ITS MEETING Thursday, also lifted a 45-day moratorium on permits in sections of coastal Dare County, where it had been told that burgeoning development was threatening to pollute beaches, water supplies, and shellfishing.

The Board voted instead to vest in itself the final authority to grant permits along the coast, authority that had been in the hands of the Department of Water and Air Resources.

A spokesman said the new policy would increase the board's control over coastal development, since no high-density construction can realistically take place without a sewage system.

The Dare County moratorium was lifted after county commissioners complained that it was hurting the tourist industry.

A state engineer, A. C. Turnage, told the board that developers have proposed to increase the number of residential units along Dare's beaches by 91 per cent. Turnage said Dare's sandy soil cannot absorb the added sewage the new developments would create.

Claims Brutal Beatings In 'Slave Labor' Camp

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — "If he catch you, he'll beat you and bring you back," migrant worker Charles Bryant said of what happened to anyone who tried to escape the work gang of his boss.

Bryant, 41, one of 27 workers freed by police Thursday from what was described as a slave labor camp, said his boss "had an order that you couldn't go anywhere." Joe Williams, 55, told police a fellow laborer who tried to escape was beaten until "he just held his head and cried like a baby."

Police reported that many of the migrants at the camp near here said Joe L. Brown and Lafayette Matthew held the traveling work crew by force, threats and indebtedness for as long as four years.

A Dade County sheriff's detective said the workers "were being held against their will and were being held as slaves."

Brown, 35, and Matthew, 27, were charged with false imprisonment and conspiracy to commit a felony.

Fred Diaz of the county Migrant Health Clinic, said the men were in generally poor health. "There is a suspicion of tuberculosis with some, others have slight pneumonia, liver disorders, heart conditions. Most are malnourished. Some have bloody abscesses," he said.

Police said they went to the camp to investigate an unrelated assault and told the workers to stay around because they would be needed as witnesses.

Officers moved the laborers to a nearby hotel after Robert Washington told them "You don't have to worry about us staying here. We can't leave."

James Ralph, 45, said he was recruited by Brown four years ago and ever since he has been in debt to his boss.

"Every week I'd be owing him $100, $200," said Ralph. "I don't know what I owed him for. That's what he had on the books."

The workers range in age from 22 to 65 and included 26 men and one woman. Police said they came from a number of southern states and traveled from state to state in a bus owned by Brown. Police said Brown and Matthew and all but one of the workers are black.

Police said Brown was carrying $43,785 in small bills in a blue tape-cassette box that he took from his 1973 Cadillac.

Brown was freed on $50,000 bond. Matthews remained in jail.

Young Rites On Saturday

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Murat B. "Chic" Young, creator of the comic strip "Blondie," died Wednesday at Apollo Medical Center in nearby St. Petersburg. He was 72 and had been in failing health for some time.

For nearly 40 years "Blondie" has appeared in more than 1,500 newspapers throughout the world and is syndicated in 16 languages with an estimated 75 million readers daily.

Young once attributed success of his strip to two fundamentals — sleep and food. These were "things everybody does," he said.

Young, a Chicago native, moved to Clearwater 17 years ago from Los Angeles.

Survivors include his widow, Athel, a son and a daughter.

Services were scheduled Saturday at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Clearwater.

Work Teaches Money Value

Matthew and Peter will never be wastrels, for they have learned the value of money. And it cannot be acquired in any other way than by calluses, sweat and deprivation of play time! So avoid the "allowance" plan, which develops hippies. Pay for work!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE W-553: Matthew, aged 13, spent 2 months with us at our summer home on our Indiana farm.

He and his brother Peter, aged 12, wanted to earn money. "Grandpa," Matthew woke me up one morning, "what can we do today, for we want to put in 8 hours?"

Every night they would record their hours of manual labor by writing them on the calendar. And they worked diligently. In fact, they refrained from going fishing but twice on our little farm pond, preferring to put in time at the garden and other chores.

They painted a large wooden rowboat that had been an heirloom from Mrs. Crane's father. Then they planted an acre of garden and hoed weeds.

They put several sheets of metal roofing on the barn where a windstorm had ripped off a large patch of galvanized sheeting.

They also painted the roof of our trailer Guest House; ditched a new disposal bed for the septic tank, operated the tractor and power mower, as well as laying a sidewalk.

So they really worked, even during the 90-degree hot weather.

As soon as their tomatoes, cucumbers and sweet corn were ready to eat, they'd head for their garden every morning to do a little harvesting.

But their primary interest was always on the vegetables they had personally planted and cultivated.

We dined on sweet corn and vegetables the final weeks of their summer vacation, before they headed back toward Chicago for the new school year.

Actually, I was under more strain than usual just trying to keep ahead of their demands for more jobs.

Some of the dangerous tasks like repairing the steep barn roof and hauling firewood with the tractor, I felt should be on hand to supervise.

When they headed back to school, I paid them off by check, Foiled in his plan to reverse the dummy by an adverse trump break, South uncovered an alternate method to salvage his six heart contract.

When North made a positive response to South's demand opening by raising to three hearts, the latter probed for slam by bidding four clubs. When North showed his fitting cards in that suit by bidding five clubs, South proceeded to six hearts.

West opened the jack of diamonds, dummy played the deuce, East the nine and declarer the three. West continued with the ten of diamonds which South ruffed with the six of hearts.

South played the ace of hearts and then the eight to North's ten.

If both opponents followed suit, it was his intention to ruff another diamond with the jack of hearts, cross over to the ten of clubs and trump out the queen of diamonds with the queen of hearts. A club puts dummy in to draw the last trump as South discards the eight of spades. Declarer's high spades and clubs take the rest of the tricks.

When East discarded a spade on the second round of hearts, declarer's plan to reverse the dummy was no longer practical, for if he continued to shorten his heart holding, it would establish a trump trick for West. As an alternative, he decided to try for a ruff in dummy.

The king of clubs was cashed followed by the ten to South's hand. The suit was continued and fortunately for South, West was obliged to follow to four rounds of clubs as North discarded two spades. The ace and king of spades came next and then the eight was ruffed in dummy with the king of hearts. South's queen and jack of trumps took the last two tricks.

In all, declarer took four clubs, five hearts, the ace, king of spades and a spade ruff in dummy.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, March 17, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a Saturday to expect quite a number of obstacles and delays to confront you but actually these are beneficial for they are giving you the chance to double check whatever you are doing to find any errors or mistakes, and to better prepare and equip yourself for the days ahead. Study with care.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have a great deal of work to do that may seem dull, but if you keep at it, it is soon done and you're then ahead of the game. Rest some so you do not harm your health. Don't talk so much, either.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get out to beauty or barber shop and get yourself in fine condition for the social and other pleasures you want over the weekend. Take some time to work on that creative hobby you like. Be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to keep on your toes and poised if you want to maintain harmony within the home. Take up each issue as it arises. Get rid of stumbling blocks in the path of happiness. Evening is fine for entertaining.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have many errands to run today and should do so, but use care in motion and keep purse zipped. The individual you want to contact isn't in proper mood so wait for a better time to do so. Think constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Sit down and figure out what your financial position is, but don't let some forgotten bill bother you so much. Get it paid. Try a different approach and make the collections long overdue. Don't permit a friend to waste your time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take it slowly today even though you want to get ahead fast, but using force could prove disastrous. Get your health improved as well as your appearance and then the world looks much brighter to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep busy getting small tasks out of the way that you have been putting aside for some time, and clear the slate for more fascinating things in the future. Help a friend financially, but don't waste time on sympathy which is weakening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't lose your poise trying to help a friend with a big problem and then all works out just fine. Plan what you want to accomplish socially, but don't take any steps in such direction as yet. Sleep on it first.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have some complaint you want to bring to the attention of a prominent person, but tomorrow would be a better time to do so. Build up your credit by paying your bills. Do not irritate mate in any way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to run away from responsibilities and put new ideas to work, but they need more study, so handle obligations with care first. Show intelligence in such and impress associates favorably. Moderation in food and drink.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need to be precise in the handling of any obligations you may have. Mate is in a difficult position, so do nothing to further annoy your partner. Show kindness instead.

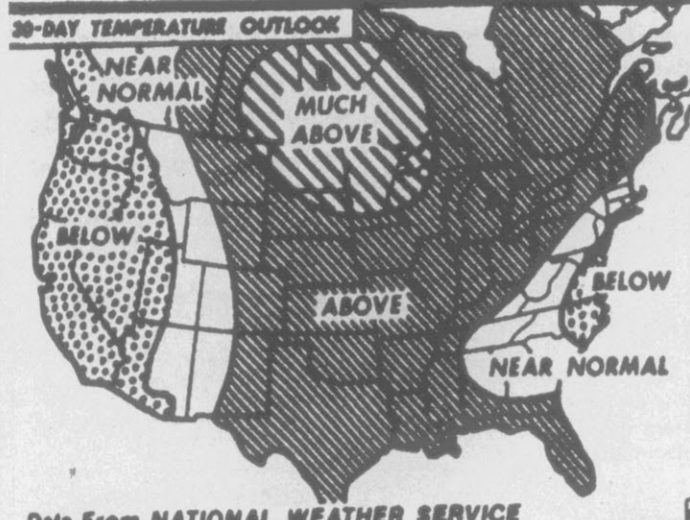

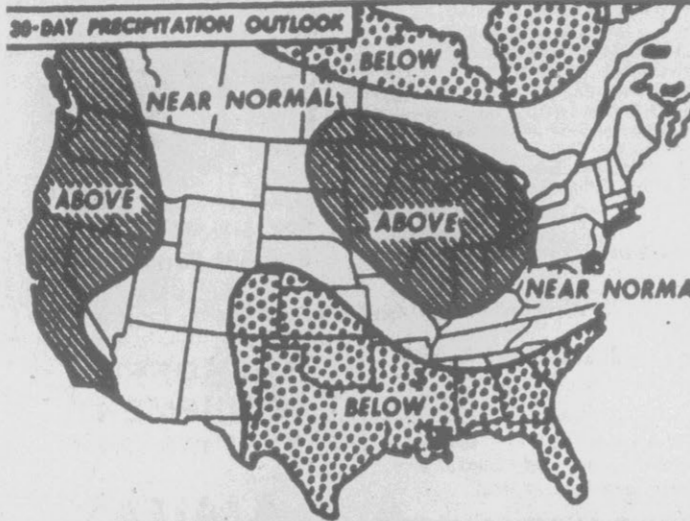

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good day to have discussions with partners who are not in a good mood and matters could get worse. Some public matter could be annoying, but there is little you can do about it.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people whose head will be full of many ideas, who is apt to start working on one, then shift to another, and thereby accomplish little unless you teach early to complete whatever has once been started. There is fine ability at getting the bugs out of any projects and the education should be slanted along such lines; then much money can be made during the lifetime.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Like It Is, Was, and Will Be

"Tell it like it is!" That's one way of describing what press credibility is all about. Well, we tell it like it is...how it was...and how it will be.

In the pages of this newspaper, you'll find news reporting that cuts through all the rhetoric, all the partisan infighting, the charges and countercharges that confuse the political, governmental and diplomatic scenes.

From yesterday's last hurrah to tomorrow's first political move you will find it here... the straight story without slant so you, our readers, can make up your minds. Giving you reliable, accurate information for that decision-making process is what this newspaper is all about.

We're on guard locally. And watching the state, national and international chess moves is our news cooperative, The Associated Press.

We are a member of The AP, the world's largest news-gathering organization, which for 125 years has been telling it like it is.
