Rural Clinic Plan Sought

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser of North Carolina has offered the General Assembly a plan to deliver more health care to rural areas of the state.

Holshouser, speaking to a joint session of the legislature Thursday, proposed the establishment of a network of clinics in rural areas across the state.

The clinics would rely heavily on paramedical personnel—highly trained nurses and physicians assistants—to deliver primary care to the people, the governor said.

Holshouser skirted the political thicket surrounding the question of whether a new state medical school should be built at East Carolina University, a question he said the legislators could debate forever.

But in referring to the shortage of physicians, he suggested a program of incentive grants to medical school graduates who agree to practice in rural areas; he also urged support of a bill to help finance the education of medical students who want to specialize in the primary care fields—family practice, pediatrics and internal medicine.

Reporters asked the governor, at a pre-speech briefing, if his program was intended to be an alternative to another medical school. "It is not intended as that," he replied.

Holshouser said local participation was an essential ingredient in a successful clinic program. He predicted that local residents would be recruited and trained to perform the paramedical jobs required.

Each clinic, he said, would have doctors available through cooperative programs with area hospitals and with medical schools.

He said his program would not cost a great deal to start—$500,000 this year and $1 million the next. He asked for establishment of a new office within the Department of Human Resources to administer the program, geared to establish 15 clinics in the first two years.

"It (health care) is a problem that will only get worse, not better, unless we recognize it and move to meet it," Holshouser said.

See Gasoline Shortage For N.C. Coming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major oil companies say there will be a gasoline shortage in the Carolinas this summer, but it will be only temporarily. The real crunch may come next winter, in the supply not of gasoline but of heating oil.

Refineries emphasize the production of gasoline for half the year and of fuel oil for heating during the other half. A harsh winter forced them to produce heating oil well into the time usually allotted for gasoline. They are now operating at full capacity. But when they should be turning around to produce heating oil this summer, they may have to continue producing gasoline to keep the nation's motorists on the road.

"Something has got to give," said an Exxon spokesman.

Especially hard hit now are independent service station owners who normally buy their gasoline from the major oil companies. However, the major oil companies are having difficulty supplying their own stations.

Max Jackson, executive director of Independent Service Stations, a trade organization in Charlotte, said, "I can give you to names of people who have been cut off."

One of these is D. M. Richards, president of Richards Oil Co. in Louisburg, N.C., which serves 13 Union Oil stations and other businesses in an area north of Raleigh. Richards said he and 50 other Union Oil distributors across the country were cut off from their supplies Apr. 12 with only 24 hours notice.

"The situation is worse than World War II and jobbers across the state are shaking in their pants," he said.

Bob Robbins, general manager of Union Oil, confirmed that his company was no longer supplying Richards. He said Richards' supply contract with Union had run out, and Union elected not to renew it.

"We were 30 days late in turning around to gasoline because we got behind in our heating oil contracts," Robbins said. "It's going to be tight this summer."

Cities Service spokesman M. W. McLanahan said Carolinas' Citgo retailers and distributors are receiving a gasoline allocation of 80 percent of the amount they received last year at this time.

Time Running Out City School Board Talks Budget Plan

By ROBERT B. CULLEN RALEIGH (AP)—Sponsors of no-fault insurance legislation in the North Carolina General Assembly are beginning to despair of passing their bill this year.

"My one great fear is time," said Sen. Gordon Allen, D-Person, in an interview Thursday. The legislature is heading for adjournment in mid-May, and the no-fault bill has yet to advance beyond the committee stage in either the Senate or the House.

But while Allen, the Senate majority leader, is cautiously optimistic that he can guide the no-fault legislation through his chamber before adjournment, Rep. Craig Lawing, D-Mecklenburg, its sponsor in the House, is not.

Lawing, who helped write the bill while a member of the Governor's Study Commission on auto insurance, said Thursday that as long as Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, is chairman of the House Insurance Committee, there is little chance of the legislation passing.

There are actually three bills called no-fault bills before the legislature. One is the study commission's bill, which eliminates the right to sue unless damages exceed certain limits, or thresholds.

Another is a bill prepared by the State Bar Association, which does not restrict the right to sue for damages and requires motorists to add no-fault coverage to their liability insurance. The third, sponsored by Rep. Gerald Arnold, D-Harnett, allows motorists to choose between no-fault and the present liability system.

Both the bar association bill and the Arnold bill have been condemned as "bogus" by no-fault proponents, who say that restricting the right to sue is the basic premise of a no-fault system.

But attorneys, like High and Arnold, say it is unconstitutional to restrict a person's right to collect damages. In response to accusations that lawyers are trying to protect a lucrative source of income, they respond that insurance agents—such as Allen and Lawing—and insurance companies have used the media to sell the public on a bad concept.

High is in the driver's seat in the legislature. "If he doesn't want to discuss a bill, he won't pull it out. We haven't had a chance," Lawing said.

The budget inclinations of the Greenville City School Board was unveiled Thursday night at the public budget hearing held at Wahl-Coates Elementary School.

In this second annual public presentation of school budgets, chairman Dr. Badger G. Clark, Jr. opened the meeting for public reaction, questions and suggestions.

This followed a summary of the budget with emphasis on items in which the public has expressed particular interest.

One of the items that drew considerable attention is the board's recommendation that the local capital outlay levy for the Greenville School District be reinstated. At a rate of 15 cents per $100 property evaluation, this would yield approximately $192,000 in additional funds. Maximum levy permitted by law is 10 cents.

With these additional funds, the school board members pointed out, items such as $25,000 for a field house at Aycock; $75,000 for air conditioning of school buildings; and $50,000 for carpeting primary classrooms would be available.

Other items receiving attention included additional playground area for Saide Sautler, $20,000; upgrading the school site at Elmhurst, $53,000; replacing boilers at South Greenville, Third Street, and making alterations in the Aycock heat-air conditioning, $35,000.

Final adoptive action on the city school budget will take place Monday night at the regular April board meeting. This will take place at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of Elmhurst Elementary School.

Many Arrested In Drug, Marijuana Roundup

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

Fourteen local area residents were arrested yesterday by State Bureau of Investigation agents and local law officers on drug law violation charges which stemmed from an SBI undercover operation that began December 1.

In addition to the individuals arrested here, the SBI undercover operation resulted in the arrest of a number of other individuals in Lenoir and Carter Counties during the day.

SBI agents, working with Greenville police and Pitt Sheriff's Department deputies, began the roundup here late yesterday morning. East Carolina University campus police also assisted with the apprehension of five of the defendants on the university campus.

Those taken into custody here and charges against them included: Allen Otis of Route 3, Greenville, distribution of marijuana (two counts); Michael Ray Lewis, 313 East 14th St., distribution of marijuana; Harry Brown, Route 6, Greenville, distribution of cocaine (two counts); William Bryan, Route 3, Greenville, distribution of marijuana; Ronnie Taylor, Route 2, Ayden, distribution of marijuana;

Clifton S. Mobley, 19, Slay Dorm, ECU, distribution of marijuana and Thomas Frederick Jones, Slay Dorm, ECU, distribution of marijuana.

Others included: Billy Harold Tanner, Slay Dorm, ECU, distribution of marijuana;

Rodney Parnell Hoell, Slay Dorm, ECU, distribution of marijuana; Joseph Phillips Sherwood Jr., 302 Prince Rd., distribution of marijuana, distribution of LSD and distribution of amphetamines; Thomas Martin "Skip" White, Slay Dorm, ECU, distribution of marijuana; Chris Coltrain, 430 West Fifth St., distribution of LSD; Craig C. Fox, 19, Scott Dorm, distribution of marijuana and Robert Dale McKnight, Eighth St., distribution of marijuana.

Law enforcement officers hold warrants for five other individuals in connection with the undercover investigation. They could not be located yesterday or last night, officials said.

SBI agents, working with city and county officers in Lenoir County found only nine individuals in the Kinston area available for arrest yesterday afternoon. Officers had a score of warrants to serve but were able to find but about half of the defendants.

Moving to Carteret County, officers arrested two of six persons they held warrants for there. The others could not be found last night, according to SBI officials.

An additional 10 other persons were arrested in Carteret County, however, on warrants held by local officers.

In all yesterday, 25 persons were arrested on 40 warrants that resulted from the SBI undercover investigation, while 10 others (all in Carteret County) were taken into custody on charges brought as the result of local investigations.

Peace Is Ignored

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government charged the Communists with 171 more cease-fire violations today, the largest number in nearly a month.

The Saigon command said the defensive perimeter around Hue came under heavy bombardment, and North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops made a frontal assault against an infantry position in the hills 15 miles southwest of the city.

The command said the attack was repulsed, and 20 Communist bodies were left on the battlefield. Government casualties were put at three dead and 21 wounded.

Another sharp firefight was reported around a ranger position near Bong Son on the central coast. Communist infantrymen attacked under cover of an artillery barrage, killing 14 rangers, the South Vietnamese reported.

The command said 43 of its troops have been killed and 145 wounded in the past 24 hours. There was no estimate of Communist casualties.

Bill To Survey N.C. Medical Manpower Need

Rep. Gerald Arnold, D-Harnett, yesterday introduced a bill in the North Carolina House of Representatives that would set up a commission to study the state's medical manpower needs, with an eye on expanding the East Carolina University medical school to a four-year degree-granting program.

Arnold, known to favor expanding the one-year ECU medical program to a four-year school, said he "would not be opposed" to legislation asking for an "outright appropriation" for the ECU expansion. But, he said, "Because there's been so much controversy over the proposal, I felt that we needed a study to bring all the facts out."

Arnold's bill would establish a committee — composed of four members from the House and four members from the Senate — to review "all pertinent reports and documents" relating to medical manpower needs in the state, including the findings of the Board of Governor's consultants study, and report to the January 1974 session of the General Assembly.

Under the bill, the commission would also make "specific legislative proposals to accomplish a solution to the medical manpower problem."

According to Arnold, "The need for additional doctors is already here. The ECU medical school is a reality. That didn't change when the UNC Board of Governors was created."

The Harnett County legislator said he hopes legislative commission called for in his bill will "stop the consultant's report, unless they are going to tell us how to set up another medical school." Commenting on Gov. Jim Holshouser's proposal to improve health care in rural areas of the state by establishing a network of clinics and other means, Arnold said "it would provide second class medical services when what we need is the means to produce first class doctors."

"From the standpoint of the medical school (at ECU), the governor's speech was terrible. I interpreted it as cutting us off at the pass"

Commenting on the Arnold proposal, Dr. Edwin Monroe, vice-chancellor for health affairs at ECU, said, "From my understanding, he (Arnold) is simply proposing that the legislature will review not only the anticipated report from the Board of Governors consultants, but also review all reports and legislative actions related to medical manpower needs over the past few years."

"The commission would then recommend some course of action that would be a comprehensive approach to the problem and not a piecemeal, partial attack on the problem...which past experience shows has not produced any meaningful results."

Dr. Monroe noted, "I find it all very interesting."

CHAIN COLLISION

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Six persons died today in a series of chain collisions in the fog on a superhighway on the outskirts of Milan. About 100 cars and 20 trailer trucks were damaged.

Frost Appears To Have Done Little Damage

The early spring cold snap and accompanying frost appears to have caused no significant damage to area tobacco plants, Pitt County Extension chairman Ed Yancey observed this morning.

Yancey said that he had talked to several farmers about the situation and they reported no real damage to the young plants due to the frost of night before last.

The extension official noted that the winds "whipping the young plants around has caused about as many problems as anything." He said that as far as he knows, there have been no tobacco plants set out as yet because the fields have been too wet.

Most farmers, he said, have had plant beds covered and although many of the covers become ragged at this time of the year, the frost damage should be insignificant with proper covering.

Yancey said that actually the cold weather may help hold the plants back a little in growth and allow the farmers a grace period in preparing the fields for planting. Several farmers in the area were in the fields during the week putting down chemicals. The wind and sunshine is continuing to dry out the soggy fields although the temperatures are low, he asserted.

Yancey said that with the extreme wet conditions restricting farmers from planting, there is very little young crop growth at this stage of the season. He added that a little corn has been planted but so far nothing is coming up to any degree.

The chairman reported that he had talked to a man from South Carolina recently who said that there is a shortage of tobacco plants in his area. Yancey said that he did not know whether the situation was typical of the state but the spokesman said that farmers there were in need of plants.

Monday Action

Impact Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today confirmed it will release $507 million in impact aid to thousands of school districts located near federal installations.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said a statement will be released later explaining how the money will be distributed.

The decision marks a sharp turnaround in thinking at the White House. Earlier, it had impounded a substantial portion of the funds.

The impact aid to be distributed to some 4,650 school districts by midyear includes $68 million in one-time assistance to areas hit by Tropical Storm Agnes last June.

Final deliberation and adoption of the 1973-74 budget for the Greenville City Schools is slated for the April meeting of the Greenville Board of Education Monday at 8 p.m. in the Elmhurst School Auditorium.

Other agenda items are school facilities, including the Rose High Vocation project, the Live Project, the possible sale of Arlington Street property, the disposition of houses on Sadie Sautler property, a report of the educational specifications committee for the new Middle-Junior High School, and a report on site condemnation proceedings.

The election of personnel for the next school year will be announced, and developments in the N. C. Legislature will be discussed. There will be a report from the NSBA convention.

Warns Teachers 'Get On Top'

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — The dean of the University of Massachusetts School of Education says any teacher who can be replaced by a machine "should be."

Dwight Allen told a group of educators from throughout the country Thursday that teachers "must get on top of the process of change and teach people to accept that change as the standard in their daily lives."

"Life is so complex, but the schools are still simplifying it and as long as the schools remain as such, they are not going to be any good in improving the quality of human life."

Liquor Referendum Bill Moves On To Senate

RALEIGH (AP)—A bill to allow North Carolina voters a referendum on liquor by the drink is now before the state Senate.

The House Thursday gave its final approval to the bill in a 60-41 vote.

If it receives Senate approval, the people will decide on November 6 whether the state will remain the only one east of the Mississippi which does not allow retail sales of mixed drinks.

If the referendum issue is approved, the state's 100 counties could authorize sales of mixed drinks either by petitioning the state ABC Board or by holding a local referendum on the question.

The bill stipulates that only Grade A restaurants seating 36 people or more would be eligible for permits to sell mixed drinks. Restaurants are classed Grade A if they score 90 per cent or above on state Board of Health inspections for cleanliness.

They would, if they received a permit, have to give up their brownbagging licenses.

Currently, restaurants and lounges may sell only beer and wine by the drink. Liquor is available only in state package stores.

In the brownbagging system, a drinker buys liquor by the bottle in a package store and carries it (traditionally in a brown paper bag) to the restaurant or lounge. He then buys non-alcoholic mixers and pours his own drinks.

One opponent of the mixed drinks bill, Rep. Homer Tolbert, R Iredell, predicted that liquor by the drink would lead to more alcoholism and drunken driving.

"When you have more outlets for liquor, you are going to sell more liquor," he said. "The more you put it before the people, the more alcoholics you are going to have."

Tolbert's argument was typical of the statements against the bill made this week in the legislature. Most of the opposition has come from rural representatives, and it has been spurred by the Christian Action League, an organization of fundamental Protestants.

But Tolbert predicted, correctly, that the House would pass the bill, and he said "it looks like it is going to pass the Senate."

FOR THE BIRDS
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Under a Missouri law passed in 1919, students in Missouri schools have to write a theme for "Bird Day" each year on March 21.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal district court judge has refused the request of Sen. Sam J. Ervin to suppress publication of future lawsuit testimony by Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles Richey ruled Thursday that such an order would violate the independence of the court and the public's right to free speech and free press.

Ervin heads a Senate unit investigating the Watergate wiretapping and other political espionage. He argued in an April 9 letter to Richey that McCord's testimony should be sealed to prevent "premature public release" and to avoid "unfair public implications of persons in criminal activities who may be innocent."

McCord is scheduled to begin telling what he knows soon about the Watergate burglary and related events to lawyers representing the Democratic and Republican parties in suits arising from the case.

Unlike McCord's previous testimony before a federal grand jury and Ervin's Senate committee, the lawsuit depositions will be made public as soon as transcripts are ready. This could be within a few days.

Ervin's committee, engaged in staff investigations, has yet to schedule a start for its prom-posed public hearings.

McCord had planned to hold a news conference before release of the lawsuit testimony but Thursday his lawyers called it off. One of them said it was because Ervin objected.

Qualified sources have reported that McCord, in his grand jury testimony, said he had received $3,000 a month to keep quiet, and that other defendants received $1,000 a month.

He reportedly said the money came from Mrs. Howard Hunt, wife of another of the Watergate conspirators, and that she told him it came from Kenneth W. Parkinson, an attorney for President Nixon's re-election committee. Mrs. Hunt died in a commercial plane crash last December.

Parkinson was present in court Thursday, representing the Republicans in the civil actions. He again denied McCord's reported allegation, and argued strongly against sealing McCord's future testimony.

"If ever a deposition in a civil case ought not to be under seal it is that of James McCord," Parkinson said.

In other Watergate developments: —Clark MacGregor, who headed the 1972 Committee to Re-elect the President, was quoted by the Christian Science Monitor as saying "public anger has probably deepened" over the Watergate affair, which he said probably cost Mr. Nixon "between three quarters of a million and a million and a half votes."

MacGregor said when he took over the committee he asked "each of the principals in the committee" whether they had any knowledge of Watergate and "I got a straight, factual, look-me-in-the-eye negative."

—George Bush, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said President Nixon "fully understands the Watergate problem" and "will clear it up totally." He wouldn't elaborate.

Price Of Onions Is Also Soaring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A comedian somewhere once did a routine about high-priced restaurants that included the line: "Eat all the onions you want. The check will take your breath away."

Food prices in restaurants and supermarkets, particularly meat prices, remain astronomical. Now, to the added shock of already stunned consumers, the price of onions is soaring.

Produce managers blame short supplies on weather-damaged crops, principally in Texas. This came on the heels of poor crops in other major onion-growing states, Idaho, New York, California, Michigan, Colorado and Oregon.

In Boston, a two-pound bag that sold recently for 49 cents was reported now retailing for 79 cents to 89 cents.

In Los Angeles, where a 50-pound sack of white onions sold for about $7 in January, the price now runs from $18 to $22.

Officers Named At Annual Meeting

ANNUAL SPRING BUSINESS MEETING—New officers were installed at the meeting of the ladies of the Greenville Golf and Country Club Wednesday morning. Officers are, left to right, Mrs. J.C. Whitehurst Jr., golf chairman, Mrs. Patrick Dayson, vice president, Mrs. Ed Warren, president, and Mrs. Charles Hudson, secretary-treasurer. Spring activities for the women will include a coffee hour honoring new members and participants in the Ladies Club Championship Tournament were reminded that two 18-hole rounds medal play must be completed by April 27. Gordon Fulp, golf pro at the club, was guest speaker for the meeting.

How Much Does She Owe Mom?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: How much does a daughter owe her mother? Mom divorced Dad when I was five. I'm 23 now, and Dad has paid her a generous alimony all these years, plus child support which enabled me to have the best clothes, music lessons, dancing lessons, and a college education. Mom never had to go out and work.

I recently married a wonderful man whose work takes him all over the world. At first Mom sulked because we didn't ask her to live with us. Now she wants me to stay home with her or invite her to travel with us. Abby, I love my mother, and my husband is very considerate of her, but he doesn't want to make it a steady threesome.

Mother is 56, attractive, and could easily marry again but she says she won't let Dad off the alimony hook as long as she lives. (She's bitter because he's happily married now.)

I feel guilty leaving her. In fact, I feel guilty just writing this. How should I do? LIFE OF MY OWN

DEAR LIFE: If you want someone to tell you not to feel guilty, count me in. A woman who makes a martyr of herself because she's determined to keep her husband on the alimony hook doesn't deserve much sympathy. You'd feel less guilty if you told her how you felt. It might cause her to take a good hard look at herself and possibly change her life's direction.

DEAR ABBY: We were planning a lovely big church wedding for our daughter in June. Well, she got pregnant, and she and her boy friend panicked and drove to Reno and got married there.

Now she wants to be married in church by our priest. (Do we have to tell him the truth?) Of course, the wedding won't be as big and elaborate as the one we planned originally, but I wonder if we could still have a flower girl and ring bearer? We promised my little niece and nephew, and they will be so disappointed. MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: Under the circumstances I think simplicity should be the keynote in this wedding. Discuss it with your priest. And, yes, tell him the truth; he can count and will probably be asked to baptize the baby in six months.

DEAR ABBY: A girl with whom I work is getting married soon. She and I have spent our lunch hour together nearly every day since she came here a year ago. I was quite sure she would invite me to her wedding, but the other day she said she wasn't having anybody from the office because if she invited one she'd have to have them all or there would be hard feelings.

Abby, she isn't friendly with any of the other girls, and I'm sure there would be no hard feelings if she were to invite me. I am very hurt, and I don't know how I can continue to have lunch with her every day and keep a plastic smile on my face. If the situation were reversed, I'd have invited her to my wedding. I think she should be more concerned about hurting MY feelings than the feelings of the other girls in the office who are mere acquaintances.

Should I tell her how hurt I am? Or should I let it slide? HURT

DEAR HURT: Let it slide, dear. Some people don't feel as close to us as we feel to them.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Must Enforce The Agreement

It has to be a matter of increasing concern that a steady build up of North Vietnamese armaments is underway in South Vietnam.

The Associated Press reports that North Vietnam sent around 1,000 tons of artillery shells and other ammunition into northern provinces of South Vietnam. Other supplies have come down the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos with this expected to go to South Vietnam.

Sec. of Defense Elliot L. Richardson has expressed concern about the build-up, noting that it is a violation of the ceasefire agreement.

There are other evidences of major military build-ups including the strengthening of air defenses in South Vietnam.

The matter is of major concern to the South Vietnamese and to the United States. The entire world should be expressing its concern about these clear-cut violations of the cease-fire agreement.

We would hope to heaven that United States forces never again become involved in the war of Vietnam, but we would not be surprised to see American bombers flying again if the military build-up continues. Certainly South Vietnam is not going to be able to stand by forever and watch the military balance change.

World opinion should be brought to bear to see that the cease-fire agreement is enforced.

Environmental Policy Sought

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—North Carolina's policy on the environment must be hammered out to accommodate development of resources for economic growth and protection of natural assets for a healthful life setting.

Land Use Planning
Staton is ready to introduce another bill will milestone implications for economic development and the environment. It would establish statewide land use planning as the concept to guide North Carolina's future growth.

The bills are coming in late. Staton conceded. Their broad complexity and the narrowing time schedule makes it uncertain what action can be taken by lawmakers before the anticipated mid-May recess.

The strategy Staton expects to follow is to push as far as possible in considering the bills now without forcing a decision which could foredoom the bills. If it becomes necessary, he noted, they can be carried over for final disposition next year.

There's little doubt that land use planning will be on the 1974 agenda, he agreed. That coastal zone management also will go over is a real possibility.

Public Hearing Proposed
If there is an interim, Sen. Staton proposes to use it for a series of public hearings. There would be benefits, he said, in going into the affected region and letting the people speak.

In any event, both coastal zone management and land use planning deserve wide public exposure and the expression of divergent views, he said. "We want to hear from everybody concerned. If we can involve all elements of opinion in the discussion, we can better see the limits within which we can live together," he explained.

The boundaries of legislation drawn on that basis may not be as wide as some would like, he added, but a territory of consensus will be defined.

That philosophy has served Staton in four legislative terms, on issues other than the environment. "I'm never afraid of adverse comment on my bills. I don't see their bad points. Someone else can point them out, and help me make it a better bill," he observed.

His own position is one of moderation on environment concerns, Staton said. "We've got to strike a balance, and set a path our people are ready to follow," he said.

That suits him as chairman of a committee embroiled in the controversy. "I can hear what they are saying on both sides of the table," he said.

The crisis of the environment is like a river. It's quick but dangerous to try to jump over. "I hope I can be a bridge between opposite points of view, so that we can arrive at a secure passage," Staton said.

Intriguing Mystery Apparently Solved

One of the intriguing mysteries of the end of Hitler's Germany has been solved to the satisfaction of the German government.

A skeleton which was recently discovered has been identified as that of Martin Bormann. West Germany has ordered the search for Bormann terminated after 28 years.

Through the years there have been many world reports of Bormann's being sighted. No doubt such reports will continue, but it appears that the 28 year old mystery has been solved.

Japan's Large U.S. Problem

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
TOKYO—When the senior

bureaucrat in the Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI) last week personally delivered to Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka statistics indicating an easing of the economic threat to the U.S.-Japanese alliance, Tanaka's reaction was typically blunt; I don't believe it.

The MITI bureaucrats predicted that the present $4 billion Japanese surplus in trade between the two countries would drop to $2.8 billion over the next year. Tanaka, a politician-businessman with a distrust for bureaucrats, thinks that guess wildly over-optimistic. So does American businessman Robert Ingersoll, the U.S. ambassador to Japan. Tanaka and Ingersoll independently conclude a surplus of around $3.6 billion would be more realistic.

The continued huge surplus means deeper trouble yet ahead in U.S.-Japanese relations. Ingersoll will press ever harder to open Japan to U.S. imports, but (as we reported earlier) there seems little hope here for American products. The result: continued pressure on Japan to lessen exports to the U.S., renewing bitterness here that Japan must sacrifice to save non-competitive American business.

The deepening dispute over trade contributes to stresses between the two economic superpowers which have persisted since the "Nixon shocks" 18 months ago. U.S.-Japanese relations have never been the same. Scheduled reciprocal visits between Tanaka and President Nixon, Emperor Hirohito's proposed American tour and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's three visits here have failed to convince the Japanese that they are taken seriously in Washington.

It was deeply resented here when Treasury Secretary George Shultz went to Europe during this year's world monetary crisis and ignored Japan. Government officials are insulted by the absence of a Japan expert on Kissinger's staff and complain that Kissinger himself is really not interested in Japan. Tanaka recently grumbled to his foreign minister, Masayoshi Ohira, about his ambassador's lack of influential contacts in the White House.

All this might well be endured, even by the sensitive Japanese, were it not for the economic reality of the trade imbalance. The official Japanese line is that Japan is now abandoning its export mentality and turning to internal development. But privately, there is intense irritation that American business inefficiency is forcing Japan to suppress exports.

It could get worse, MITI's optimistic forecasts hope the upvaluation of the floating yen will restrain—especially auto—by increasing prices. But the reputations of the Toyota and Datsun are such, U.S. officials here fear, that they will still sell in the American market.

As for the end of export-conscious mentality, U.S. officials privately feel Japanese businessmen are only giving it lip service. Agreeing, one industrialist asked us: "How do you tell an international sales manager not to sell?"

Thus, the prospect is for more U.S. muscle—possibly tariffs authorized by the forthcoming trade bill—to hold down exports, breeding still more resentment here.

That resentment could get serious if serious economic dislocation results in Japan. So far, only the textiles industry has suffered. In that case, Japanese are bitter that the textile agreement forced on them by Washington has badly hurt the Japanese industry while not really helping the beleaguered, non-competitive American industries.

The undercurrents of irritation are played down by older, high-ranking officials who recognize Japan's debt for past U.S. generosity and reliance on the present U.S. nuclear shield for protection against Japan's two Communist neighbors: China and,

Strength For Today

THE MODERN MOOD
The great psychiatrist, Dr. Jung, once said, "One third of my patients suffer from no clinically definable disease but from the restlessness and emptiness of their lives. It seems to me that this can well be described as the general neurosis of our time."

In all of history, men and women have never had such a pleasant world-full of things as they have at the present time. Yet despite this plethora of material blessings, men grow constantly more restless. In some parts of the world this restlessness takes the form of subversion and revolution. Nearly everywhere it takes the form of a desperate and never-ending search for amusement and entertainment. But none of these efforts yields the felicitous results expected. Usually the restlessness remains.

It would be impossible to find the prescription which could cure this malaise in everyone. But one thing is certain: the disease seldom affects people who live truly religious lives and constantly exert themselves to be of service to others.

An Original Picasso

WASHINGTON—I never met Pablo Picasso, but I have an original sketch of his personally dedicated to me and I owe it all to a fellow-named Harvey Brodsky of Philadelphia, Pa.

The story behind the sketch began in Paris in 1958 when I was working on the International Edition of the New York Herald Tribune. I received a letter from Mr. Brodsky telling me he was in love with a girl named Gloria Segal, but they had broken up. Gloria had a fantastic crush on Picasso, Mr. Brodsky wrote, and if I could get the artist's autograph, he was sure that the romance would bloom again.

I was doing a column on the ridiculous requests a columnist gets in Paris and I included Brodsky's letter as an example.

I knew I had no way of getting the great artist's autograph, but it made the best point of what I was up against when it came to my mail.

Now, as luck would have it, Mr. David Duncan, the photographer, was working with Picasso in Venice, on the Riviera, and he took the Paris Herald with him that morning. Duncan translated my column with Mr. Brodsky's letter in it.

For some reason, Picasso was very moved by the request and with colored crayons he drew a beautiful bouquet of flowers. On top of the sketch he wrote "pour Gloria Segal" and signed it with the date.

Since Picasso never did anything like this, Duncan was very excited and called me from Venice. "He did it!" Duncan announced. "He not only gave me his autograph for Gloria Segal but also a crayon sketch which I have in my hand!"

"The hell with Gloria Segal!" I screamed over the phone. "What about me?"

"I'll call you back." Duncan returned to Picasso's studio and told him that as long as he was doing sketches for girls from Philadelphia he didn't know, the writer of the column felt he deserved one, too.

Picasso looked at my photograph in the paper and with the same crayons drew another sketch of him and me having a drink together under the Rivera sun. On top he wrote "pour Art Buchwald."

I received my sketch and the one for Gloria Segal. By this time, Associated Press had heard about the story and was very interested in following up the Brodsky-Segal romance. Would this beautiful bouquet of flowers bring the lovers together? Would Gloria forgive Harvey when she saw the sketch? Would Picasso's unheard of gesture send them off to live happily ever after?

To find out, the AP sent their Philadelphia correspondent to Gloria's house one day after the picture arrived. Gloria said she was very thrilled with it, but in answer to the big question as to what would now happen between her and Brodsky, she said with a brave smile, "Harvey and I will always be good friends."

Even an original Picasso was not enough for Gloria to take Harvey back again.

I don't think the master ever found out the end of the story. At least I hope he didn't because I'm sure it "Can't you let me get at least halfway through my Martini before you start telling me what a hard day you've had?"

"Did you meet any interesting door-to-door salesmen today, Honey?"

"Yes, as plumbers we still make emergency house calls. We probably can get a man there by tomorrow afternoon at the latest. Incidentally, I assume you are familiar with our policy of requiring a $25 down payment in cash before we begin work."

"Mommy, our class in civics is adopting an Eskimo village. Can you give me $5, please?"
"Of course, I don't expect you to start taking out the garbage can all the time. But I tell you my back hurts tonight."

"I'm working late tonight. Don't hold dinner. You and the kids eat without me."

"Well, would you like it any better if you were working in an office all day taking orders from 10 men instead of one?"

"Don't start nagging me this morning about asking for more money. We went all through that yesterday and the day before."

"Mommy, the cat next door had kittens, and the lady said I could have two of them. Shall I try to get her to give me three?"

"What is the women's liberation movement all about, anyway? What do they need liberating from? I hope you're not going to start spouting their kind of nonsense."

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
April 13, 1933

With the closing of the college and public schools, Greenville today witnessed the first activities in connection with the celebration of the Easter season. With bright wearing apparel, the vogue for both men and women this year, the annual Easter parade in downtown Greenville is expected to eclipse anything in recent years. Special musical programs are also being planned by the churches of Greenville.

A fifty-year-old copy of the "Eastern Reflector", what is now known as "The Daily Reflector", was brought to the newspaper office today by Mrs. P. M. Murphy of Greene County. The copy was issued about a year after beginning of the publication of the weekly paper. One of the items of the paper attracting considerable attention was an advertisement quoting eggs at 16 cents a dozen.

The Dark Side To Prosperity

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Since some of the darkest aspects of our economy are also the most glaring, the eyes of many people today are transfixed upon the negative rather than the positive, on what is wrong rather than on what is right.

Consumers are outraged about inflation, although the 4.3 per cent rate for the latest calendar year was only two-thirds that of many other large industrial nations.

Achievement of a 5 per cent jobless rate is considered a failure when the goal is 4.5 per cent, but this doesn't negate the fact that it is the lowest rate in 2½ years and that more people, 83.9 million, have jobs than ever before.

It is an understandable attitude for Americans who, despite criticisms of their way of life, believe more strongly than most nations that continual improvement is possible and are frustrated with anything less.

Nothing, however, quite compares with the mentality and peculiarities of the property-liability insurance industry which, when economic times are good over-all, becomes depressed, apprehensive, and consumed by anxiety.

Some might call it paranoia, but those in the insurance industry know it is a realistic reaction to events. Here is how George McDonnell, president of Zurich-American Insurance Companies, describes it.

"Good times are sometimes hard on us," McDonnell begins, continuing:

"More goods are in transit — that means more opportunity for theft and damage. More miles are traveled by cars and trucks and people, and that means more accidents."

"As the boom expands, more marginal equipment is brought into use. We can expect that the increasing utilization of old and obsolescent equipment is going to result in increasing claims.

"Workers will be putting in increasing amounts of overtime as the economy continues to charge ahead, and inexperienced workers will be brought in to help boost production. Again, that means more accidents."

"If the economy continues to expand rapidly, some inflation can be expected, and that puts us back playing catchup as the dollars we get in premiums are worth less and less in paying for claims."

Oh, that isn't the end of the woe. Prosperity has made

North Pitt School News

By KITTIE NELSON

Miss Cindy Rook has been chosen to attend the Summer Leadership School at Mars Hill College June 17 through July 20.

Miss Rook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rook Jr. of Bethel. Her high school activities include membership in the Pep Club, Future Homemakers of America and she serves as an aide in the school library.

The North Pitt junior hopes to major in elementary education in college.

Typing Contest

The annual typing contest was held at Ayden-Grifton High School Thursday. Representing North Pitt were: Judy Carmack, Cindy Baker, Emmie Godwin, Melody James, Pam Edmondson, Kim Manning and David Gray.

The Panther Bi-Ways was distributed Monday by Mrs. Sylvia Barnhill's journalism class. The paper included many of the interesting things that have happened at North Pitt during the past school year.

The Junior Class is sponsoring a dance Friday night. Admission is $1 and music will be provided by "The Sonics."

Proceeds from the dance will be used to help pay for the Junior-Senior Prom.

The North Pitt guidance counselors are visiting the feeder schools this week to pre-register the eighth grade students for next year.

All-Area Players

The All-Area boys and girls basketball teams were selected this week from high schools in Martin, Greene and Pitt Counties.

Three girls and one boy from North Pitt were placed on the first team. They are David Brown, Minnie Hollis, Phyllis Jenkins and Wanda Whichard. Receiving honorable mention were Joy James and Phillip Brown.

The Panthers lost two baseball games last week, one to C.B. Aycock on Tuesday and one to Southern Nash on Friday. The game scheduled for Saturday was cancelled due to rain.

The first home baseball game is scheduled for Friday against North Lenoir.

The only track meet scheduled for last week was cancelled because of rain.

Jean Arthur Convicted In Trial For Trespass

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Former movie actress Jean Arthur was arrested for trespassing, and was handcuffed and taken to jail barefoot because of what she said were he attempts to console a barking, whimpering German Shepherd chained in a neighbor's yard.

Miss Arthur, now artist in residence at the North Carolina School of the Arts, was convicted in state District Court Wednesday of trespassing and of cursing and abusing the policeman who arrested her on the complaint of the neighbor. She was fined $75, and was put on probation for three years.

Her lawyer, Preston Hatfield, said that the conviction would be appealed. He said Miss Arthur is a great animal lover who keeps three cats and two canaries in her apartment. He added that she lets the canaries fly free in a room that has a closed screen door to keep the cats away.

She was charged with entering the neighbor's yard on March 31 after she had been warned to stay out. The property is next to the apartment where she has been living while she teaches drama at the school, a state-supported school of college level for high school graduates who want to become professional actors, dancers and musicians.

Miss Arthur testified, "I love the dog and he loves me." She said she was concerned about the dog "because he barked all day and most of the night, and he cried like a child. It kind of broke my heart."

She said she went into the yard occasionally to pet the animal and bring it food.

The neighbor, Ronald Ray Douglas, testified that he had warned her to stay off his property and that she had threatened to call the Humane Society.

Miss Arthur testified that policeman H. N. Thomas refused to let her put on her shoes or to check on a meal she had cooking on the stove. She said she was taken away in handcuffs, and spent 40 minutes in jail until her lawyer contacted a bondsman. She was released in $100 bond.

The lawyer, Hatfield, told the court that the use of handcuffs on the 65-year-old Miss Arthur was "shocking." Thomas said he handcuffed her for the ride to the county jail because his patrol car did not have a partition between the driver's seat and the rear seat.

would have broken his heart. But I have to admit that I personally wasn't too upset over the fact that this great love story of 1958 did not have the ending everyone was hoping it would. After all, I got an original Picasso out of it, as did Gloria Segal. The only loser in the deal was Harvey Brodsky who got neither the girl nor a painting. But that's the way the ball bounces in Philadelphia, and as I wrote to Harvey after I got my Picasso framed, "You can't win them all."

many insurance salesmen careless, he claims, and they are accepting risks at rates "that just won't stand the test of time."

Don't laugh at the incongruity of it all, nor should you pour out your compassion for the insurers. Reserve some for yourself. You, the customer, might end up paying for some of the careless work of underwriters.

"They and their customers are in for a rude awakening," says McDonnell.

"I include the customers," he explains, "because they are going to find themselves facing jumbo rate increases, and perhaps difficulty in finding any coverage at all when the situation turns."

Viewed from one perspective, there isn't much unusual about the insurers having misgivings about the

Sending Eleven To State Convention

The East Carolina University chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, a national fraternity for business students, will send delegates to the Future Business Leaders of America-Phi Beta Lambda State Leadership Convention to be held in Winston-Salem.

David B. Stevens, ECU faculty advisor for the local chapter, announced today that 10 of the delegates will participate in various business-oriented contests. The contestants and their events are as follows:

Teresa Creech, Most Original Project; Pat Surry, Miss Future Business Executive; Rebecca Corbett, Typing; Debbie Morgan, Miss Future Business Teacher; Allan Bates, Mr. Future Business Executive; Glenwood Moore, Vocabulary Relay; Eddie Dutton, Accounting; Don Maye, Extemporaneous Speaking; Sam Colubriale, Business Administration; and Eddie Walker, Mr. Future Business Teacher, Worth Worthington, local ECU student and State Phi Beta Lambda Historian, also will attend the conference.

The conference, held Friday through Sunday is an annual affair and provides an opportunity for members of the PBL chapters to share ideas and problems; to hear speeches by outstanding Business and civic leaders; and to participate in contests designed to improve skills and knowledge of business, Stevens said.

Singspiration Sunday Evening

The public is invited to attend a singspiration at Hollywood Presbyterian Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The Gospel Chargers of Winterville will be featured. The church is located about five miles from Greenville on Highway 43 South. The Rev. Bill Forbes is the pastor.

But that very reliance angers a younger generation of Japanese nearing power, including Diet members from the ruling Conservative party who are markedly less pro-American than their elders. Because Washington knows Tokyo needs the Seventh Fleet, these Diet members say, the Americans feel free to coerce Japan economically.

Thus, the tiresome dispute over boring trade statistics cannot be separated from passionate political questions. In an interview with us, Foreign Minister Ohira described the huge Japanese trade surplus as "unsound—an abnormal situation which must be rectified." But rectification may entail Japan bowing to U.S. pressure against exports, conflicting with the new nationalism rising among younger Japanese—a phenomenon worthy of a final column from Japan.

Deacon-Led Revival Set

A Deacon-led revival is scheduled next week at Memorial Baptist church with special services being held on four evenings. The theme for the week is "Worship—Try It, You Will Like It."

The schedule of services, which begin each evening at 7:30, include: Sunday, April 15, "Worship Through Music" led by Ott Alford immediate past chairman of the Board of Deacons; Monday, "Worship Through Witnessing" led by Herman Phelps, chairman of the Board of Deacons;

Wednesday, "Worship through Bible Study" led by Hugh Wease with a covered dish supper at 6 p.m. preceding the service; and Thursday, Candlelight Communion Service led by C. Norman Bennett, minister.

The church anticipates moving into its new facilities during the summer and next week's revival is the last one scheduled to be held at the church's Greene Street location.

Members of the planning committee for the week are: David Gordon, chairman; Philip Carroll, Norman Little, Gene Prescott and Herb Paschal.

Low Income Housing Is Discussed At Session

The Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters conducted a discussion on low income housing at its Wednesday evening meeting at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Joseph Gibbs led the discussion with help from Mrs. Paul Haggard and Miss Margaret Blanchard. Also participating in the program was A. E. Warren, Codes Enforcement Officer for the City of Greenville. Mrs. Rodney Schmidt was hostess.

Reporting on slides she showed of some low income housing around Greenville, Mrs. Gibbs noted that this type of housing "was owned by a very few people and that many owners were leading citizens of Greenville and active in their churches." Mr. Warren added that ownership by those outside Greenville was not a problem any more; "the problem is local."

One landlord told his tenants that he would not make any repairs but that they could live in the house for $50 per month, she said.

Other slides showing houses which were liveable demonstrated what could be done to old houses to make them safe and healthy.

The most frequent complaint of tenants, said Mrs. Gibbs, was that the house could not be kept clean when they were so dilapidated. Furthermore, since most tenants were already paying about one third of their income in rent, they could not afford to make repairs themselves.

In this connection, Warren commented on the frequently heard argument that tenants of low income housing do not keep their dwellings clean and are destructive. Warren said that "the majority of people will take care of their places if given something to take care of." He cited Moyewood and Meadowbrook as examples where tenants do take care of the property. He also pointed out that rent on low income housing comprises such a large portion of the tenant's income that such housing is not a give-away as many people suppose.

Warren said any person who rents in Greenville and whose landlord refuses to maintain the property should contact him by phone at 752-4137, by letter at P. O. Box 1905, Greenville, or in person at his office.

Warren emphasized that some landlords were interested in improving their dwellings. As a result of a joint city-county effort, these landlords are to meet with Warren on Friday, April 20, to discuss the subject.

Questioned about laws to prohibit unhealthy living conditions, Warren said that the law (local Ordinance No. 207) was excellent and set adequate standards for plumbing, heating, electrical wiring, and with the exception of underpinning, structure condition.

Begin Week Of Revival

Spring revival services will begin Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the faith Pentecostal Holiness Church, located on 14th Street Extension.

Services will continue through the following Sunday night and will begin at 7:30.

The Rev. H.L. Moore of Toccoa, Ga., is the invited speaker. He is a general evangelist of the Pentecostal Holiness Church. The Rev. Moore is the author of several books which include "The Rapture of the Church," "The Anti-Christ," "The Battle of Armageddon" and others.

He recently returned from gospel crusades in England, Europe, the Holy Land and South Africa.

There will be special singing each evening. Special guests Tuesday will be the Temples Quartet and the Haddock Family Thursday evening. The Faith Quartet will also be participating.

The public is invited to attend the services.

Special Music Planned Sunday

A special service of choral and instrumental music will be held Sunday at the Holy Trinity United Methodist Church at 11 a.m. during morning worship. The program of Easter selections will be presented by the adult choir under the direction of Mrs. Fred D. Ragan.

Danny Jones of the East Carolina University School of Music will offer a trumpet solo of "The Psalms." James McQuisten, also of the ECU School of Music will sing a tenor solo, "The Strife is O're."

Mrs. William S. Dawson, director of the junior choir, will lead the young people in their part of the musical program. The services will be held in the library of the E. B. Aycock Junior High School on Red Banks Road. The public is invited to attend.

Ministers Take Psychology Course At ECU

Sixteen eastern North Carolina Methodist ministers have completed a short course in transactional analysis at East Carolina University.

Transactional analysis, a technique of psychotherapy often used by counselors, was presented to the ministers as a valuable tool in dealing with the problems of church members.

Dr. Victor Mallenbaum of the ECU psychology faculty was course instructor, assisted by psychology graduate students Carolyn Means and Mary Kelly. The course was sponsored by the Duke Endowment, the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church and the ECU Division of Continuing Education.

Names of participating ministers include: PITT COUNTY, Greenville—Revs. Troy J. Barrett, Charles M. Smith and Roy L. Turnage; GRIMESLAND—Rev. Eddie A. Walker.

In art or sculpture it is called a Christus, an artist's interpretation of Our Lord.
In a passion play the leading role is the Christus . . . again an artist's interpretation.
Through the centuries there have been many faces, many interpretations. Yet all so easily recognizable . . .
. . . Because we know Christ not by sight, but by the qualities of His life for us. We are drawn not to a face but to a heart, a Heart that loved and gave and promised and fulfilled.
However simple or crude someone's sketch of the Master . . . in seeing His Lord we see ours. We are not critics, but believers.

ECU Bonn Branch Closing; Next, On To Rome

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
It's auf weidersein to Bonn and Come Sta to Rome for students in the East Carolina University European Studies Program. Goodbyes are being said to Haus Steineck in the German capital because of the devaluation of the American dollar in Germany, ECU Provost Dr. Robert Williams explained. Next fall the program will continue at a hotel very near the Vatican in "The Eternal City."

Students already enrolled in the Bonn program for next fall have been given the choice of withdrawing or becoming part of either the ECU in Japan program or the Rome program. Most have elected to go to Rome, Dr. Williams said.

"With the drastic change in the value of the Deutschmark in relation to the U.S. dollar, we found that paying the rent on Haus Steineck and all the related costs was going to make the price of the Bonn program prohibitive to all but the wealthiest students. We decided on this alternative. All our contracts in Italy will be written in dollars, so we won't run the same risk again, he said.

"There will be several advantages to having the European studies program in Rome, even though we have counted the Bonn program a great success.

The location in the heart of Rome will afford the students many great cultural experiences. Though it's not as centrally located in western Europe as Bonn, traveling can be arranged. The students probably will go to Greece instead of the Scandinavian countries for one of their trips. We hope the Christmas visit to Russia can be retained.

"The living arrangements will be much better, too. The Italian lira is stable in relation to the American dollar. The students in Bonn often found that their money didn't go as far as they had thought it would, because of the changes. Plus, for several weeks after the drastic devaluation they weren't able to get marks at all.

"In Rome we plan to have between a third and a half of our professors be Europeans. We used only our own faculty in the Bonn program. We feel that this fact alone will make this more of an international experience rather than an American enclave in Europe.

"The Roman program is being planned in cooperation with Louisiana Tech University. They will do most of the administrative work, while we furnish professors. There will be about three times as many courses offered, with more variety in subject matter. The curricula will include political science, philosophy, geography, architecture, archeology, history, music, English, foreign language, and art, including studio art. Seminars on contemporary Italy, ancient Italy, and Christian, Medieval, and Baroque Rome are planned."

The Rome program will accommodate about 60 students from the two Universities involved, and, of course, any credits may be transferred back to ECU or whatever university one attends. There are about a dozen places left for enrollees in the fall program, Dr. Williams said. The cost is $2,700, plus tuition and fees, the same as the Bonn costs were.

Will Attend YA Session

Joseph L. Howell of Greenville will attend a Presidential Classroom for Young Americans session June 23 through June 30 in Washington, D.C.

A Rose High School student, Howell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McDade Howell of 132 E. Longmeadow Rd.

Participants are scheduled in such a way that each class represents a geographic cross-section of students.

Stressing the importance of personal involvement in enhancing the relevance of a learning experience, the program is aimed at giving the student a firsthand view of American government in action.

On-site briefings are held at actual sites of decision making in Washington—including Capitol Hill, the White House and the Pentagon.

Evening discussion groups provide a forum in which students representing diverse geographic areas of the country interact with each other as they express and defend their opinions on student-selected topics of discussion.

Drug Raiders Arrest Trio

Pitt County deputies and State Bureau of Investigation agents arrested three persons on drug charges early Thursday following a raid at a Rt. 1, Winterville residence.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Katherine McSorley, 20, and Albert T. McSorley, 28, both of Rt. 1, Box 335, Grifton, and Baxter Eugene Lisk, 29, of Rt. 1, Box 104 Winterville, were arrested around 2 a.m.

Sheriff Tyson reported that Katherine and Albert McSorley were each charged with felonious possession of marijuana with bond set at $2,000 for each. Lisk, he noted, was charged with felonious possession of both marijuana and methamphetamines or "speed." Bond for Lisk was set at $7,000.

Hearings have been scheduled for all three in District Court here on April 24.

The sheriff said that officers confiscated some three pounds of marijuana worth approximately $450 and 1,000 tabs of methamphetamines, valued at $500.

Charge Driver In Collision

Willie Frank Dickens of Rocky Mount was charged with failing to stop for a red light yesterday following investigation of a collision at the intersection of U.S. 264 and Charles Street about 2:10 p.m.

Officers reported the Dickens car collided with a vehicle driven by Van Austin Gurkins of 2107 Montclair Dr. causing an estimated $210 damage to the Dickens car and about $900 damage to the Gurkins auto.

Capt. Robert F. Scott and four companions reached the South Pole Jan. 17, 1912, but all died on the return journey.

Area Livestock Entries Won Awards In Kinston

Several livestock entries shown by Pitt and neighboring county residents placed high during the 33rd annual Coastal Plain Livestock Show and Sale held Tuesday and Wednesday near Kinston.

Steve Riddick, assistant extension agent in Pitt County, reported that a calf owned and shown by Jerry Flanagan of Farmville won first place in the lightweight division competition Tuesday night.

Scott Flanagan of Farmville won a first place with his steer in the medium lightweight division and a sister of the two Flanagan brothers, Gayle, was awarded second place for her entry in the medium lightweight class.

Gentry Moore, also of Farmville, entered a calf in the medium heavyweight class and was awarded a fifth place ribbon.

Scott Flanagan received a trophy for his calf's top showing in the fitting and showmanship competition.

A trophy also went to Sandy Stokes of Snow Hill for the reserve champion steer in the medium heavyweight class. The champion heavyweight steer was exhibited by Herbert Rouse of Lenoir County.

Riddick said that the carcass contest will be held Saturday morning at the Frosty Morn plant in Kinston. Calves that have gained at least one and three-quarter pounds per day since Feb. 15 are eligible.

The agent noted that the four calves entered from Pitt County were among 41 shown by Future Farmers of America members and 4-H high school students from Greene, Lenoir, Duplin, Jones and Pitt Counties. Calves entered weighed a minimum of 800 pounds.

Fenner Allen and Sons took second place honors with their entries in the carcass class during Tuesday's swine activities. Nahunta Farms of Pikesville in Wayne County exhibited the champion hog and took honors as the champion purebred animal of the swine show.

The champion truckload of six hogs was exhibited by Worthington Farms Inc. of Rt. 1, Greenville. In addition, Carolina Breeders of Snow Hill exhibited the champion pen of three and Cox Brothers of Snow Hill won

Arrest Two For Assault

Two Aycock Junior High School students were arrested on charges of assault yesterday. The charges stemmed from a Tuesday incident at the school in which one boy was injured.

Jasper Moye, 16, of 1300 Fairfax Ave. and a 15-year-old youth were arrested on warrants signed by the parents of Stanley W. Corbitt, 2815 Jackson Dr. who was reported beaten and taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries he received in the 8:45 a.m. incident.

Aycock Principal Paul Rasberry said Wednesday that the Moye youth and the 15-year-old allegedly involved in the incident were suspended from school for 10 days as a result of his investigation of the incident.

According to Rasberry, Corbitt remained in school following the scuffle but was taken to the hospital after school by his parents.

Sorority Joins Cancer Appeal

Members of Gamma Sigma Sigma Service Sorority at East Carolina University will be a major Greenville intersections tomorrow asking for donations to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Mary Bruton, special projects chairman of the Pitt County Cancer Crusade said the girls volunteered to do this work for the community from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow. They have helped out in several other community fund-raising projects, also.

Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in carton delivered RALEIGH (AP)(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs today were steady to 75 higher. Highs of 32.75-33.75 at Kinston. New Bern, Benson and Lumberton: 33.00-33.50 Rocky Mount; 32.00-33.50 Wilson; 34.00 Mount Olive; 32.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers today: Market steady. Supplies adequate for generally good demand. Weights desirable at most points.

North Carolina hens today: Prices steady on heavy type. Offering of heavy type adequate. Demand fair to good. Light type, too few. Heavies, at farm, 22 cents.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market slumped today in light trading as investors indulged in some profit taking and backed away from their initial exuberance that the administration soon would clamp the reins on inflation.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 6.55 at 957.48. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange ran ahead of advances 635 to 417.

The 11 a.m. broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks was down 0.27 at 59.63. On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was down .01 at 24.20.

Beneficial Corp. was the most active on the Big Board, down 1 1/2 at 37. Most of that action came in a 241,900-share block, traded at 36 1/2, off 2.

Occidental Petroleum was the second most active, up 3/4 at 12 1/2. Occidental gained 7 1/2 Thursday after it was announced that the company and the Soviet Union had signed a barter chemical-fertilizer contract valued at $8 billion over the next 20 years. However, after the market closed, Occidental said the value of the contract was exaggerated. The announcement had come from Moscow. An 81,000-share block of the issue was traded at 12 1/2 today, up 1 1/2.

U.S. And Arab World Confrontation Ahead

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — The United States and the Arab world headed into a confrontation at the U.N. Security Council today over Palestinian charges of U.S. involvement in the Israeli raid on Beirut.

Delegates predicted the debate, which started late Thursday and could stretch over the weekend, would produce the second U.S. veto in the council in less than a month.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed Hassan el-Zayyat was en route to U. N. headquarters to deliver a major speech.

Arab anger over the Israeli slaying of three Palestinian leaders in Beirut Tuesday was matched by official U.S. anger over Palestinian broadcasts charging American involvement.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers called envoys of 13 Arab countries to his office in Washington and asked them to have their government radios carry the U.S. denial of the charges as an "absolute falsehood."

U. S. Ambassador John A. Scali told the Security Council "the monstrous accusation that the United States somehow helped carry out the events in Lebanon ... originated with those who oppose at all costs and by any means a peaceful settlement."

Scali warned that the Palestinian accusations could encourage new violence, presumably meaning against Americans. He demanded that "all governments concerned ... dis-associate themselves from this outrageous lie and take steps to prevent the spread of such slander, which can do great harm to the cause of peace."

Lebanon called on the council to produce a resolution against Israel stronger than condemnation. Ambassador Edouard Ghorra asked the council to use "force—moral force, political force, legal force" to punish Israel and end "Israeli aggression against Lebanon. Condemnation of her action is not enough."

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah in reply charged that Lebanon "has convened the Security Council to ask license for the continuation of terrorism."

He said the raids against

Lebanon were undertaken out of "necessity to stamp out such outrages as the Lod Airport massacre and the Munich murders," the "assassination of diplomats in Khartoum" and the Palestinian attacks last Monday on an Israeli airliner and the Israeli ambassador's home in Cyprus.

"Most of the attacks carried out by Fatah and other terrorist organizations have originated in Beirut," Tekoah said, "It is from that city that terrorists are dispatched on their missions of death to different parts of the world."

He said that under the leadership of men such as those killed in Beirut this week, the Black September organization has carried out 105 murder missions in the last two years. He said 68 of these were directed against Israel, 17 against individual Jews, 16 against Western air lines and 14 against Jordan. As of last week, he said, casualties totaled 228, including 116 dead.

Ghorra denied that Lebanon was collaborating in terrorism.

Air Collision Claimed 16

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — "The flames were 30 to 40 feet in the air and the wreckage was covered with black smoke. There was no way to get in there."

Fireman Ron Kimball was describing the scene after a National Aeronautics and Space Administration plane and a Navy aircraft collided in flight, plummeted onto a golf course in piggyback fashion, exploded and burned. Sixteen men aboard the planes died; one was critically injured.

"The one plane just set down on top of the other," said David Frame, 25, who was working on the Sunnyvale Municipal Golf Course when the planes crashed Thursday. None of the golfers or employees on the course was hurt.

The Navy immediately named a board of investigation to try to learn why the two four-engine planes were so close while approaching the Navy's Moffett Field, less than a half mile away. Both aircraft were on short test flights from Moffett.

Eleven of the men killed were in a Convair 990, a $2.5 million transport-type jet the National Aeronautics and Space Administration used as a flying laboratory.

The other five victims and the survivor were aboard a Navy P3 Orion turboprop, described by the Navy as a $10 million submarine chaser.

Another Assault At Junior High Being Probed

Aycock principal Paul Rasberry at mid-morning said that an incident in a ninth grade classroom at Aycock Junior High is being investigated to determine circumstances and students involved.

Two girls, including a student whose father claimed she had been assaulted by five girls, were sent home.

Rasberry said the incident occurred early this morning, just before classes started.

"We are talking to all the students who were in the classroom to try to determine all the facts," Rasberry commented. He added that this is the only incident today reported to him. "We have parents on hand now, and if the need arises, will call in police. We're keeping a close tab on the situation."

Pirate Gridders Wind Up Spring Drills

HEAD OVER HEELS — Cleveland Indians' Charley Spikes (24) is forced out at second base by New York Yankees' Horace Clarke (20) Thursday at New York's Yankee Stadium. The action was part of a double play in the seventh inning which also caught Dave Duncan out on his grounder. The Yankees won, 5-0. (AP Wirephoto)

East Carolina University's Pirates wound up spring football drills yesterday.

Practice was originally scheduled to end Saturday with the second annual Varsity-Alumni Game, but it was cancelled due to a conflict over the game time.

Coach Sonny Randle, however, said he couldn't be more pleased with the way things have gone this spring. "We got what we were looking for," he said. "The enthusiasm, the willingness, and the atmosphere were most pleasant. It's the best spring we've had since I've been at East Carolina."

One of the biggest problems of the spring was the finding of personnel to fill the six places in the offensive and defensive lineup lost to graduation. These have been filled, in some cases with new personnel, and in others by shifting starters from other slots. And Randle feels that the moves that have been made have turned out well. "We accomplished all that we wanted in this respect," he said.

Defensively, there were three three positions at take, one in the line, and two in the backfield. Two were filled by shifting personnel, while the other left the man there who had taken over following a mid-season injury. That was Winston Mayhew, who took over the safety position for Mike Myrick, who switched after returning from injury to one of the half-back slots. Kenny Moore has taken over a tackle position, with Billy Hibbs moving out to a linebacking slot.

Randle feels that the defense, which was one of the best in the nation last year, should be even sounder this year. "Barring injuries, we anticipate improvement. We should get the same type of execution."

Offensively, there were three changes also. Don Schink has moved into the fullback slot left open by Les Strayhorn, while Greg Harbough has moved into the center slot. Benny Gibson has taken over at tight end, while last year's man at that position, switched to flanker to replace Tim Dameron.

The offense was hampered somewhat by another wide receiver, Vic Wilfore, missing practice because of active duty with the armed forces, and Carlester Crumpler not going through heavy work because the coaches wished to hold him out to allow a thorough healing of last year's injuries. Quarterback Carl Summerell also saw only limited action for the same reason.

"Their injuries should not be a factor by fall," Randle said. "But it did give us an opportunity to give the backup quarterbacks a lot of work, and Tom Chipok, the number two man, had a fine spring. The third quarterback, Bob Bailey, was also looking good until an ankle injury stopped him. I'd have to say that the quarterback play was the brightest spot of the spring drills," the coach added.

Randle said that he hopes that the offense will have a little more balanced attack this fall, with more passing. "We know we have a fine quarterback, and some outstanding receivers, so we've got to move a little more in this direction and not be so ground oriented."

The Pirates are now through until around mid-August when they'll open fall drills, and Randle said that the only thing they'll have to worry about then will be the upcoming season. "We won't have to fill any positions. We don't have anyone coming in who'll be starting, and our main goal is to win the conference championship again."

But he warned fans not to get excited about a big year this season. "Last year's 9-2 record was a good one, but this year's schedule is the toughest we've had," Randle said.

The toughness of the schedule comes not so much from whom the Pirates play. They face most of the same teams again, but in when they play them.

"We open up against one of the toughest teams in the country, N.C. State," Randle said. "They'll certainly be in the top 20 and should be in the top 10 when the season opens. Then we have to play another very tough school in Southern Mississippi. After that, we are still on the road (for the third straight game) to play Southern Illinois. Normally, we'd be about equal with them, but this year, well after those first two, who can say."

One thing is for sure. If the Pirates get past their first three games with only a limited amount of injuries, there should be another good year in store. But if the injuries mount to highly, it could turn into a long year.

Rampants Gain Another Victory In Track Meet

WILSON—Matthew Clark, Al Hunter and Calvin Moore paced the Rose High School track team to a victory over Rocky Mount and Wilson yesterday in a Division II meet in Wilson.

The victory kept the Rampants unbeaten in dual meets this spring, as they continue to roll along.

Rose finished the meet with 86½ points, while Wilson was second with 66½. Rocky Mount was third with 17.

Clark, Hunter and Moore were all double winners in the meet. Clark won the shot put and the high hurdles events, while Hunter took the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Moore won the long and triple jumps.

The Rampants won 10 of the 16 events, while Rocky Mount won one and Wilson took five.

Rose's next outing will be next Wednesday, when they play host to Kinston and Wilson.

Bucs Ink Md. Cager

East Carolina University head basketball coach Tom Quinn announced Wednesday that Maryland prep star, Reginald Lee has been awarded a basketball grant-in-aid at the Southern Conference school.

Lee, a 6-3, 180 pound guard, averaged 21 points and 9 rebounds per game last season for Coach Al Ferraro's Einstein High School team in Kensington, Md. He was selected to various all-star teams including Maryland's All-State Class A team and the Washington Evening Star's All-Metropolitan team.

"Reggie's excellent offensive tools are his top attribute," said Quinn in making the announcement. "He shouldered much of the scoring responsibility for his high school team while seeing nothing but special combination defenses the entire season.

"He is a natural second guard but can handle the ball well enough to play point."

Lee is the son of Mrs. Rosalee Swain of Kensington, Md.

Baby Tigers Down Trojans

WILLIAMSTON—The Williamston "B" team remained unbeaten yesterday with a 9-3 romp over Oak City's Trojans. Oak City got the jump on the Baby Tigers in the first inning, pushing over a run. Charles Belflower walked, as did William Freeman. Both moved up on an out, and Ronald Duggins singled to score Belflower.

In the second, Williamston tied it up with a run. Tim Widenhouse singled and stole second. He scored when Danny Whitehurst reached on an error.

Oak City went back in front, 3-1, with a pair in the third. Freeman walked, as did Eddie Ayers. Duggins hit into a fielder's choice that got Ayers, and Duggins stole second. Walter Lynons hit a sacrifice fly to score Freeman, and Ken Spivey and William Spruill walked to load them up. William Johnson reached on an error, scoring Duggins with the third Trojan run.

Williamston came right back to tie it up. George Brown reached on a fielder's choice and Al Griffin walked. Danny Todd then doubled in Brown, and Widenhouse singled to score Griffin, tying it, 3-3.

Then, in the fourth, Williamston pushed ahead with four big runs. Brown singled and stole second and moved to third when Griffin reached on an error. Todd also reached on a miscue, scoring Brown. Griffin was picked off, so Todd stole second, then moved up on an out.

He scored on Whitehurst's single. Eric Godard got a hit and Roger Manning tripled to score both Whitehurst and Godard. Williamston later added two more in the sixth.

Duggins had two hits for Oak City, while Widenhouse had a pair for the Tigers.

Tigers Are 3rd In Track Meet

JACKSON—Perquimans High School rolled to a track victory in a four-way meet held at Northampton High School yesterday.

Perquimans finished the meet with 56 points, while Williamston edged out Northampton for second. The Tigers had 28½ points, while Northampton had 27½. Weldon finished a distant fourth with six.

Perquimans won five events, while Williamston took four and Northampton won three.

Williamston's Highsmith was a double winner for the Tigers, taking the long and high jumps.

Stokes In Victory

STOKES—Stokes Junior High School gained a 9-2 victory over Belvoir Junior High School yesterday.

Aubrey Wynne led the Stokes hitting with three. He also hurled the victory, allowing only two hits.

Stokes is now 1-1 for the year, while Belvoir is 0-2.

Williamston Rallies To Win

WILLIAMSTON—Williamston High School spotted Northwest High a 1-0 lead then came back to take a 5-1 victory yesterday.

Williamston hurlers Joe Roberson and Mike Weaver combined for a one-hitter in getting the victory. Roberson was the starter, and went four innings before being lifted. He struck out two, walked two and allowed the only hit and run. Weaver, in three innings, got the win. He allowed no hits, walked one and struck out six.

Williamston got only three hits but made good use of them.

Northwest took the lead in the fourth inning, scoring their only run. Wayne Brown singled and Tommy Smith reached on a fielder's choice. Ricky Hooks then was safe on an error, scoring Brown.

In the fifth, Williamston put together its hits and pushed over five big runs. Mike Bundy led off with the first hit of the game for the Tigers. Dwight Ange followed with a double, and Joe Roberson reached on an error, scoring Bundy. Keith Brown was safe on a two-base error, allowing Ange to score. Mike Weaver then sacrificed, scoring both Roberson and Brown. Hubert Smith was hit by a pitch and Vann Andrews tripled to drive in Smith with the fifth run.

Williamston, now 6-0 in the Albemarle, faces Weldon on Tuesday.

A NERVOUS RIDER

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Canadian jockey Ron Turcotte was the only time he was nervous this spring aboard Kentucky Derby favorite Secretariat in March at Aqueduct.

"It was Secretariat's first 1973 race," says the 32-year-old Turcotte, "and I didn't know what to expect. Some horses are totally different during their 3-year-old seasons, but Secretariat ended my nervousness. He won his first race of 1973 by more than four lengths after being caught in a trap on the rail."

McCovey Sparking Giant Wins Number Three May Be Special For Pearson

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
When Willie McCovey speaks, everyone listens respectfully. When he hits, everyone watches admiringly. The biggest Giant of them all gave the crowd something to watch Thursday with two home runs in one inning that carried

San Francisco to a 9-3 victory over the Houston Astros. After carrying his big stick, the 6-foot-4, 230-pound first baseman spoke softly as reporters listened respectfully in the clubhouse.

"It didn't even occur to me that I was coming up again in the same inning," said the quiet, unassuming McCovey.

McCovey's two shots, his third and fourth of the season, drove in four runs and highlighted an eight-run fourth inning that sewed up the game.

In the National League's other games, the Montreal Expos trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the Chicago Cubs 6-0; the New York Mets nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1; the Atlanta Braves beat the San Diego Padres 3-2 and the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees trimmed the Cleveland Indians 5-0; the Chicago White Sox topped the Oakland A's 6-3; the Baltimore Orioles blanked the Detroit Tigers 1-0 in 10 innings and the Texas Rangers turned back the Kansas City Royals 4-0. Bad weather postponed Boston at Milwaukee.

McCovey's feast on Houston pitching marked the first time in 24 years of baseball that a National Leaguer has hit two homers in one inning. Sid Gordon did it July 31, 1949, when the Giants were in New York California's Rick Reichardt was the last man to do it was in the American League, in 1966.

McCovey's power show made it easy for starter Tom Bradley, who secured his first National League victory. Houston's Ken Forsch, victim of McCovey's first clout of the inning, was the losing pitcher.

Jorge Roque's first major league grand slam homer keyed a five-run first inning that carried Montreal past Philadelphia. Roque's smash spoiled Jim Lonborg's debut before the Phillies' home fans and saddled the former American Leaguer with his first National League loss.

Home runs by Milt May and Manny Sanguillen and the fourth pitching of Bob Moose helped Pittsburgh maintain its perfect record with a victory over Chicago. The Pirates' fourth straight victory was fashioned in near-freezing temperatures at Three Rivers Stadium before a sparse crowd of 3,764.

The New York Mets tagged Bob Gibson for two runs in the first inning and Tom Seaver and reliever Phil Hennigan made them stand up for their victory over the Cardinals. John Milner singled home Bud Harrelson with the first run and Cleon Jones later drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

Hank Aaron broke a tie with a solo home run in the sixth inning to lead Atlanta over San Diego. The blast was his second of the year and 675th of his career, moving him 39 behind Babe Ruth's all-time career record of 714.

Cougar Game In Television Suit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A hearing was expected to be conducted today on a restraining order barring WHAS-TV in Louisville from broadcasting Saturday's American Basketball Association playoff game between the Kentucky Colonels and Carolina Cougars.

Jefferson Circuit Judge Richard Revell issued the restraining order Thursday and said it was his understanding that a hearing would be held today before Jefferson Circuit Judge Lyndon Schmid to determine whether the prohibition will stand.

The order was issued in response to a suit filed by television station WLKY (Channel 32) in Louisville, which contends it has the exclusive right to Saturday's broadcast.

The suit was filed against WHAS and Athletic Enterprises, Inc., identified in the suit as owners of the Kentucky

Colonels basketball team.

The suit claims that a contract between Athletic Enterprises and WKLY, signed in July, 1970, grants WLKY the option to broadcast playoff games played away from Louisville and said WLKY's rights to the broadcast are exclusive if it acts on the option.

The game, the second in a seven-game East Division playoff series, is scheduled in Greensboro, N.C.

The director of television operations for WHAS, Dick Sweeney, said Thursday night that the station agreed two months ago to carry the CBS broadcast of the ABA game. WHAS is a CBS affiliate.

WLKY claims in the suit that it would be harmed if WHAS carries the broadcast because it will violate contracts made with advertisers who were led to believe WLKY would have the broadcast exclusively.

McNally Misses No-Hitter, 1-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dave McNally is in his April rut again.

Baltimore's veteran left-hander barely missed a nine-inning no-hitter against Detroit Thursday, finally getting a 10-inning, three-hit, 1-0 victory over the Tigers thanks to a throwing error by Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich.

It was McNally's second start of the young baseball season—and his second three-hit shut-out.

He started off last season with a pair of shutouts, a one-run game and two more shut-outs before tailing off to a 13-17 record. That snapped a string of four 20-victory seasons for the 30-year-old pitcher.

In other American League games, the Chicago White Sox came from behind to beat Oakland 6-3, the New York Yankees stopped Cleveland 5-0. Texas defeated Kansas City 4-0 and Boston's game at Milwaukee was postponed due to snow and cold weather.

In the National League, the New York Mets edged St. Louis 2-1, San Francisco whipped Houston 9-3. Pittsburgh topped the Chicago Cubs 6-0, Montreal defeated Philadelphia 5-3, Atlanta nipped San Diego 3-2 and Cincinnati turned back Los Angeles 5-2.

The unbeaten Orioles got their fourth victory of the season when Mark Belanger led off the 10th with a single and stole second. After Merv Rettenmund walked, Bobby Grich bunted. Lolich fielded the ball and tried for a forceout at third, but his throw was wild and Belanger came around to score.

"I'm throwing the ball better now than in the past couple years," said McNally, who handcuffed the Tigers over the first nine innings, when the only Tiger hit was a routine fly ball by shortstop Ed Brinkman, which Baltimore right fielder Rettenmund lost in the sun. It bounced off Rettenmund's right elbow for a triple.

Ken Henderson hit a grand slam home run in the eighth inning to lift the White Sox over Oakland. The A's, who got a two-run homer from Gene Tenace in the second inning, had taken a 3-2 lead in the top of the eighth when Chicago relief pitcher Terry Forster walked Sal Bando with the bases loaded.

But the White Sox came back in the bottom half of the inning, loading the bases on a single by Pat Kelly and walks to Carlos May and Bill Melton. Then Henderson, acquired from San Francisco in a major off-season trade, delivered his bases-loaded blast off Rollie Fingers.

The Yankees' Steve Kline blanked Cleveland on a pair of singles, by Jack Brohamer in the fifth inning and George Hendrick in the sixth. Kline's performance came on the heels of a two-hit shutout hurled by the Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre against the Indians Wednesday.

"That's the way it should be done," noted Stottlemyre, approvingly.
Dick Bosman limited the Royals to one hit over seven innings and finished with a three-hitter as Texas snapped Kansas City's four-game winning streak. Amos Otis singled in the fourth inning for the only Royals hit until Paul Schaal and Fred Patek came through with eighth-inning singles.

By BLOYS BRITT

AP Auto Racing Writer
DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — If the numeral "3" has any part in David Pearson's success as a racing car driver, it should help ring the cash register for him in Sunday's Rebel 500 mile stock car race.

Pearson drove his candy-apple red and white Mercury to the front row pole position in the first round of qualifying trials Thursday. His speed was a near record 153.463 miles per hour for the exacting mile and three-eighths Darlington International Raceway.

But consider this: —The 38-year-old Pearson now has captured his third police position this year.

—It was the third straight time he has turned the fastest qualifying lap for a race at Darlington.

—He has won three Rebel events, more than any other driver.

—If he wins Sunday's $100,000 clambake, it will be his third major triumph of the year.

—His car number this year is "21," and as the greying three-time Grand National champion puts it, "two and one add up to three."

—Way back in 1961, when his car number was "3," the then rookie of the year became the first driver to win three super-speedway events in a single season.

—And three of his major career wins have come when one of his three children were celebrating birthdays—one on his youngest son's third birthday.

Cale Yarborough, like Pearson a native South Carolinian, won the other front row spot for the 40-car lineup wheeling his Chevrolet around at 152.586 m. p. h.

Yarborough complained later that he drove his qualifying laps with a broken valve spring.

"Probably on the No. 3 cylinder," Pearson quipped.

In all, a dozen drivers earned starting positions in a gusty and chilly qualifying session Thursday. Twelve more spots were at stake today, with rookies Darrell Waltrip and Lennie Pond labeled as sure qualifiers. These bright new faces passed their first year tests with flying colors.

Pearson, who won the Rebel in the even years 1968, 1970 and 1972, came very near knocking down Darlington's absolute lap record of 153.822 m.p.h.

"The wind, naturally, slowed the cars a bit," the greying pro said. "I don't think it hurt me too much on my first trip around (when he posted his best lap speed), but a gust caught me coming out of the fourth turn on my second trip and it almost turned me around."

Other qualifiers Thursday, earning positions three through 12, were Bobby Allison, Chevrolet, 152.450; Bobby Isaac, Ford, 150.911; Buddy Baker, Dodge, 150.532; Benny Parsons, Chevrolet, 149.162; Cecil Gordon, Chevrolet, 147.862; Richard Petty, Dodge, 147.759; Charlie Glotzbach, Chevrolet, 147.264; Dean Dalton, Mercury, 146.018; James Hylton, Mercury, 145.486; and Joe Frasson, Dodge, 145.245.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES Accumulated odds and ends must be taken care of and this is just the right Saturday for doing so. Clean and refurbish possessions, etc. Also good for health measures.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good day to get your home in spic-and-span condition, so start early. Take the exercise you need for better health, too. You can do some quiet entertaining in the evening that can be pleasant and relaxing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do whatever will please those you love which gives you pleasure as well. Then enjoy hobbies that are relaxing yet mentally stimulating. These can be enjoyed with good pals.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Good day to get home cleaned and then you can run errands for kin. Get those duties done that will free time for more important things in the future. Do nothing of a destructive nature.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Ideal day for shopping for needed items and then getting together with associates for whatever has been planned. Show you are specific in communicating with others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make your home as attractive as you can, but stay within your budget. Talk over with an expert whatever is of a financial nature. You get excellent ideas thereby. Avoid one who is irritated.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy and make yourself more attractive and more mentally and physically alive. If you get out to group meetings, make a mental or written note of people's names so you will remember them later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take the treatments early that will make you feel dynamic and attractive in appearance. You have good hunches and should make use of them to improve your position in life. This can be a wonderful social evening with congenials.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make it a point to show those you want in your life in the future that you really like them. Attend group affairs you like. Make the new acquaintances who are worthwhile and can be helpful in the days ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into the activities today that will help you advance in the future, and gain the approval of bigwigs. Talk less and work more for good results. You can secure the backing of the public as well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Secure the data you need now so you can handle certain affairs that will come up soon. You make new friends now who can bring much pleasure into your life. Show your most courteous manner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan just how to get tasks handled more efficiently via some new and better methods, using true intelligence. A romantic interest can be most helpful now or vice versa. This can be a delightful evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able to communicate beautifully with associates, so get in touch with them early and make progress. Questionable points hard to clear up before now become easy. Show you are intelligent.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those precise and meticulous young people who would do well in vocations where precision, detail, research and patience are required and also in clothes designing, selling, etc. There will be a very marked streak to be overparticular, but that is the quality that will bring the big success denoted in this chart, so don't let it bother you. Give an opportunity to travel early, and permit music lessons early too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Blues Guitarist Here Saturday

B.B. KING, blues singer and guitarist, will be in concert Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. Tickets are now available.

B.B. King, billed as "king of the blues" and the "world's greatest blues guitarist," will be in concert in Greenville Saturday night at Minges Coliseum at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are now available at $3.00 per person.

King, a performer with more than 20 years in show business, is in the vanguard of today's rebirth of the traditional blues. He has resisted the label of "an overnight success," saying it "has taken me 22 years to become what you call an overnight success."

A native of Indianaola, Mississippi, as a child B.B. worked endless hours, but sandwiched in an elementary schooling during winter months, walking five miles each way to school.

From a local preacher in Mississippi's Delta country he learned to love the guitar, and soon had his own, which his boss got for him at eight dollars, letting the youngster work it out of his meager wages.

King recalls he loved to hear itinerant blues guitarist and singers who sang at Indianola clubs, and he himself loved to sing the blues. "But I had to do it away from home, since such low-down music was not sung in a religious household."

His career started in the early 40s when B.B. went to nearby towns, playing on street corners. A few years later he got a job in Memphis at the 16th Street Grill, and found a singing spot on the newly opened radio station WIDA, the first Negro manned radio station in Memphis.

As the years passed, King has steadily won a large following of fans. He has made appearances on the Johnny Carson, Dick Cavett Shows, and other shows, gone on coast to coast tours and turned out hit records. Since 1969 he has toured Europe and appeared at Expo 70 in Japan.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
6 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♠
When North heard South respond with two no trump to the opening one spade bid, he knew the partnership had the assets for a slam. South has announced at least 13 high card points and North has 20 which assures a minimum of 33. Since North held three aces himself, there was no need to check for controls, and he proceeded without further ado to six no trump.

West opened the three of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. With an even division in spades, South has 12 tricks—five spades, three hearts, three diamonds and one club. However, when the king and ace of spades were cashed and West showed out, declarer's total of winners were reduced to 10.

Inasmuch as East held a double stopper in spades, South switched his attention to clubs. He led the three of clubs from dummy and finessed the queen in his hand. When West won the trick with the king, South's defeat became assured.

Declarer won the heart return in dummy with the king and led the ten of clubs. East covered with the jack and was permitted to hold the trick. The latter exited with the jack of spades to North's queen. South reentered his hand with the king of diamonds and cashed the ace of clubs. When the suit split evenly, he was able to claim the balance for a one trick setback.

Declarer's conviction that the success of his contract hinged entirely on a successful club finesse plus a three-trick division in the suit was not quite accurate. The presence of the ten in dummy and the eight in his hand, offered him an additional chance that could be attempted without risk.

It is suggested that South lead the ten of clubs at trick four with the intention of passing that card into West's hand if it is not covered. Inasmuch as one trick in the suit must be surrendered regardless of the distribution, the finesse of the queen can be conveniently deferred for one round.

When the ten of clubs is led, East is obliged to play the jack to protect his partner's holding in the suit. South covers with the queen and West is in with the king. When clubs are led the next time, East follows with the seven and declarer plays the eight which holds the trick. The ace now picks up the remaining clubs and South has his 12 tricks.

If the East-West club holdings were reversed, declarer would still succeed. The ten of clubs would lose to the jack, but on the following lead of that suit, South can successfully finesse the queen and then pick up the king with the ace.

The 'Worry Clinic' Opposites Still Feel 'Magnet'

Naomi wonders if opposites no longer attract in the romantic realms. So be sure you understand the facts outlined below. And you wives should feign a lot of erotic ardor if you wish to have a permanently happy marriage!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
Case W-577: Naomi T., aged 26, registered with our SMF (Scientific Marriage Foundation).

For she was a teacher, isolated in a small town where most of eligible men in her age bracket were already married. "Dr. Crane," she protested, "I notice that you try to match couples on 10 basic personality traits.

"For stress similarity of religion, cultural outlook, and even recreational interests. "Yet I have always heard that opposites attract. "Isn't that true any more?"

Sexual Opposites
It is still true that opposites attract, if you mean sexual opposites. Even in the realm of electricity, the two poles of a magnet are opposite, namely, "negative" and "positive." If you place two negative poles together, they repel. And in this fascinating field of human magnetism (love), it is quarrel after the wedding. And that's why divorce is almost unheard of among the 10,000 happily married folks during the first 17 years of the SMF organization's existence.

'Placement' Meet Is Set

GREENSBORO—Some 80 college placement officials and management recruiters from business and industry will meet here April 19-20 for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Placement Association.

Featured speaker for the event, to be held at the Sheraton Motor Inn, is Mrs. Thelma Lennon, director of Pupil Personnel Service for the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. The main thrust of the meeting is to find more effective ways of making graduates of the state's four-year and two-year colleges fully aware of employment opportunities available to them.

President of the organization is Furey K. James, placement director at East Carolina University. Other officers include John H. Guiton of First Union National Bank in Charlotte, vice president; Zepplun A. Humphrey of Bennett College in Greensboro, secretary; and Niles Compton of Fayetteville Technical Institute in Fayetteville, treasurer.

The juice from a medium-size lemon should yield about 2 tablespoons.

Psychological Damage In Women's Lib Cited

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The women's liberation movement is contributing to psychological disturbances in adolescents, a psychiatry professor claims.
Dr. Derek Miller of the University of Michigan acknowledged the value of some aspects of the movement Thursday but said it contributes to "role confusion."
Miller spoke at the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians and with newsmen about this and other factors which he said add to the problems of contemporary adolescents.

how a father should behave toward an adolescent boy or girl.
"As a result, children may see no real difference in the behavior of their parents toward them," he said.
This causes particular problems in early adolescence when boys and girls are struggling to become independent of their mothers, Miller said.
If both parents are "equally motherly," then the adolescent has no one else in the family to turn to for support, he said.
"Thus when there is an insistence on similar roles for both parents, foundations are laid for disturbed adolescents with severe identity confusion," the psychiatrist said.
Miller also criticized day care centers, which the women's liberation movement advocates to help free women of their duties as mothers so they can work.
The welfare of the infant is often ignored in considering the convenience these centers provide for mothers, he asserted.

Special Church Service Sunday

Special services will be held at the Evangelistic Tabernacle here Sunday.
The Rev. Wayne West will preach at the morning service at 11 o'clock and at a 7:30 p.m. service. He and his wife, Ruth, will sing, as will the New Life Singers.
The Rev. T. L. Byrd, pastor, invites the public to attend these services at the church, located three miles west of Pitt Plaza on the 264 Bypass.

NOTICE

The Pitt County Board of Equalization and Review will meet in the commissioner's room in the Pitt County Courthouse, Monday, April 16, 1973 at 10:00 A.M. This is for the purpose of reviewing the assessed value placed on property in 1973 as determined by the revaluation conducted in accordance with the Laws of North Carolina. (G.S. 105-283-286-317) The board will hold additional meetings Tuesday, April 24 and Monday, April 30, 1973 and expects to complete its hearings at the April 30th meeting. In the event of a later adjournment, notice to that effect will be published in this paper.

You may examine your appraisal on file in the office of the Tax Supervisor prior to the meeting of the board. If you feel the value placed on your property is not comparable with the value of similar property in the county, or that the value does not represent current market value, you may appear before the board and present your case.

For the convenience of you, the taxpayer, it is suggested you call the Tax Supervisor's Office, 752-4711, for an appointment with the Board of Equalization and Review. This will enable the tax department to have your records available with the least possible delay.

Very truly yours,
