Mitchell Appears Before Grand Jury

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was quoted today as accusing other Nixon campaign officials of planning the Watergate bugging, and more extensive intelligence operations as well, over his personal veto.

Mitchell spoke to a reporter in the offices of federal prosecutors prior to an appearance before a federal grand jury. He confirmed a news account that he had told friends he attended three meetings at which plans to bug the Democrats were proposed, and had rejected the plans.

"I want to add the plans were not just to bug somebody," Mitchell said. "They were for more detailed intelligence. We were not there just to discuss bugging."

Mitchell's conversation was cut short as the reporter, Lesley Stahl of CBS, was asked to leave.

What Mitchell was quoted as confirming was a report in The New York Times saying Mitchell told his friends that Jeb Magruder and G. Gordon Liddy proposed bugging plans on three different occasions and that he vetoed them.

Magruder was Mitchell's second-in-command at the campaign, and has reportedly told prosecutors that the bugging operation was planned and approved by Mitchell and White House counsel John W. Dean III. Liddy was a lawyer for the campaign and is serving a jail term after being convicted in the bugging conspiracy.

Mitchell's statement today seemed to conflict with a sworn statement he made in a civil case last Sept. 1, when he said he knew of no one higher than Liddy who was involved in the burglary, wiretapping and bugging incident.

But Mitchell said all his previous statements remained "operative," particularly his insistence that he didn't know about raid plans in advance.

Mitchell, Magruder and Dean are now engaged in a three-cornered argument, carried out through public statements and news leaks, over which of them should bear blame for planning the Watergate operation.

Sources close to the Senate Watergate investigation have told The Associated Press that the Justice Department expects to see all three of them indicted, along with others.

Magruder, who was Mitchell's second-in-command at the Nixon campaign, reportedly has told federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean helped plan the Watergate bugging and later arranged payoffs to buy silence from men convicted of the crime. Magruder has been unavailable to newsmen, but his lawyer says he intends to testify voluntarily when called before the grand jury.

For his part, Mitchell told newsmen Thursday that the Magruder report is "nonsense."

Today the New York Times said Mitchell had told friends he was present at three meetings last year when Magruder and G. Gordon Liddy, later convicted in the conspiracy, proposed plans to bug the opposition party headquarters. But the Times quoted sources as saying Mitchell insisted he rejected the plans at all three meetings. Dean was present at one or more of the meetings, Mitchell reportedly said.

An associate told the AP today that Mitchell has said privately if he had known of the Watergate plans "he would have tried to stop it."

At the White House Thursday, Dean declared that he won't be made a "scapegoat" and warned against judging who is guilty and who isn't until all testimony has been heard. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler expressed surprise that Dean had bypassed his office by issuing the statement directly to newsmen. Ziegler testily insisted that the President seeks no scapegoats.

Today the Washington Post quoted an associate of Dean as saying that the White House counsel has passed word he is ready to testify under oath that others "above and below" him were involved in the bugging. The Post quoted a Dean associate as saying Dean himself only followed orders in whatever role he played. Dean will allege in testimony that White House officials, including chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, sought to cover up the facts behind the case, the Post quoted Dean associates as saying.

U.S. Signal To N. Viet: Peace Pact Endangered

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a series of tactical moves, the United States has served notice on Hanoi that the Vietnam peace agreement may be in danger of flying apart.

First the Navy suspended minesweeping operations in North Vietnamese waters.

Then the chief U.S. delegate to Paris talks on reconstruction of the war-torn country was called home for "consultations."

And finally, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told Hanoi Thursday that the administration would drop its assistance plan unless North Vietnam lives up the pact signed in Paris Jan. 27.

The three pressure moves were designed to persuade North Vietnam to stop infiltrating men and equipment into South Vietnam and to withdraw its troops from Cambodia and Laos.

Rogers acknowledged that the United States had intensified its bombing in Cambodia, as well as carrying out a two-day raid in Laos, and he recalled the threat of "appropriately vigorous reactions" issued jointly by President Nixon and South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu on April 3.

Although these actions were intended to be taken seriously, U.S. officials noted privately that there still was considerable room for diplomacy. At least two trump cards that could be played would be sending Henry Kissinger to Hanoi or to Paris for another round of negotiations or reconvening the original 12-nation Paris peace conference.

North Vietnam made the initial announcement that the United States had suspended the sweeping of mines it placed in North Vietnamese waters last May.

Confirming the action Thursday, Jerry W. Friedheim, the Pentagon spokesman, blamed "continued cease-fire violations by the other side in South Vietnam and Laos."

But the foreign ministry in Hanoi said the suspension was evidence of a premeditated plan to prolong the sea blockade. Besides, only three mines of the tens of thousands in the waters had been deactivated by the U.S. Navy, the ministry said.

The Jan. 27 cease-fire agreement calls for removal of the mines.

Recall of Maurice Williams, Deputy director of the Agency for International Development, from the Paris reconstruction talks was announced by Charles W. Bray, the State Department spokesman.

"The North Vietnamese and their friends cannot reasonably expect to pick and choose as to those portions of the agreement which they wish to observe and those which they wish to disregard," he said.

The State Department spokesman avoided a direct response to a newsman's suggestion that the cease-fire agreement was now "in a state of special jeopardy."

"That is entirely a function of the actions of the other side," he said without subscribing to the description.

In Paris, the Hanoi delegation said Williams' recall had the effect of sabotaging the joint U.S.-Hanoi economic commission set up under the peace agreement "to help heal the wounds of war and contribute to the postwar reconstruction" of North Vietnam.

Living Costs Jump Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices climbed to record levels for the third straight month in March, propelling the cost of living to its highest rate of increase in 22 years, the government said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the cost of living jumped ninetenths of one per cent last month, the sharpest increase since February 1951 at the height of the Korean War inflationary period.

Taking into account normal seasonal fluctuations, the March increase was eightenths of one per cent, matching last February's jump which was the biggest increase in 22 years.

Prices soared for meats and poultry, and supermarket prices jumped 3.2 per cent in March. This is a rate unequaled since the bureau began computing grocery prices in 1952. Seasonally adjusted, grocery prices were up 3.1 per cent, also an all-time high.

March prices for meats, poultry and fish were up 6.9 per cent unadjusted and 6 per cent seasonally adjusted. Both were record figures.

House Endorses Highway Bill

RALEIGH (AP) — The House gave tentative approval Thursday to a bill revamping the Highway Department and stripping the governor of his power to dole out money from the so-called "highway slush fund."

With Democaats voting in a bloc, the House approved the bill 88-21 but put off a final vote after Democrats were unable to win enough Republican support for a two-thirds majority to suspend rules of procedure.

Rep. Jimmy Green, D-Bladen, sponsor of the bill, also submitted the amendment that would give control of surplus highway funds to a new Transportation Board.

Under the bill, the 12-member Transportation Board would replace the existing Highway Commission and would have authority to allocate surplus highway funds for "such purposes as school and industrial access roads as the need requires, with the balance" to be allocated for secondary roads.

There also would be a 14-member Secondary Roads Council, appointed by the governor, charged with the duty of adopting an annual secondary road program in each county.

Welfare Rule Changes Recommended To Cut Ineligible, Overpaid

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has proposed sweeping changes in federal welfare rules to help states weed out ineligible and overpaid recipients.

The new regulations announced Thursday, cover eligibility, appeals hearings and recovery of overpayments. They could save hundreds of millions of dollars in the $18 billion-a-year welfare system, said Robert B. Carleson, a special assistant on welfare matters in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He said the initial reaction from state welfare administrators has been "overwhelmingly positive."

Carleson, Gov. Ronald Reagan's former welfare director, was brought to Washington by HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger to promote California-style welfare reform throughout the nation.

When HEW threatened last year to withhold nearly $500 million a year in federal matching grants to states as a penalty for welfare errors, Carleson said, governors complained that many of the overpayments were due to federal rules which tied their hands.

HEW later softened the threat, and has given states two years to improvement management of their welfare systems.

Weinberger disclosed earlier that he would attempt to improve welfare management through rules changes, because Congress did not act the last three years on the President's welfare-reform legislation.

Two key provisions in the proposed changes, Carleson said, would allow states to make private investigations of recipients' eligilibity and give states a free hand to recover payments under "all circumstances."

Currently an applicant's consent is required before information such as income, employment and family size can be checked through other sources.

Also, present regulations allow states to recover overpayments only if the recipient causes the error, commits willful fraud or has sufficient resources to pay the money back.

The only future constraint would require states to assure that deductions from welfare checks to recoup overpayments do not cause undue hardship to the recipient.

Tax Break?

RALEIGH (AP)—The Senate is expected to take final action today on a bill which would prohibit taxation of farmland at its true market value.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Vernon White, D-Pitt, would tax farmland on the value of its productivity rather than its true value.

White said commercial developments near farmland have caused taxation on the property to increase sharply. He said his bill is aimed at keeping farmland in production and encouraging farmers not to sell their land.

The Senate also plans to take final action today on a bill offered by Sen J.J. Harrington, D-Bertie, to exclude timber from the tax base on property used to grow trees.

Ambitious Pitt County Clean-Up Program Begun As A Joint Effort

By JERRY RAYNOR

A conventional broom is the symbol of a renewed effort to forge ahead in Pitt County with "Clean Sweep '73."

In a meeting attended by county officials and representatives of a large number of civic and women's organizations, held in Greenville early Thursday afternoon, proposals to put into action measures for cleaning up the county in the coming months were revealed.

Ed Yancey, chairman of the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service told about two salvage operators that have offered their services for pick up of junk and abandoned automobiles in the county.

E.B. Wall of Winterville and Robert L. Humbles of Gardnerville, Yancey said, have agreed to take away scrap cars from communities at no charge. Both have asked that prior to their coming in with equipment, members of a community pinpoint and inform them of the location of such cars. This will make it possible to conduct the campaign in a logical community pattern.

Yancey said school children, Sunday school groups, country stores and other places were being furnished information to help get it underway.

Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner is also actively participating in the program.

Marvin K. Blount, Sr. and Mrs. J.T. Manning, Jr. spoke on the objectives of Clean Sweep '73. Mrs. Manning is chairman of the 1973 effort. She outlined the goal of continued and concerted efforts to clean up old cars, unsightly dumps, old abandoned buildings, and general litter that is becoming a bigger problem as the population of the county grows.

Blount, saying that firmer legal means to enforce clean up of the countryside is urgently needed, revealed drafts of two bills he will seek for introduction into the General Assembly. One, titled "Discarding and Leaving of Garbage," is relative to regulations in placing trash, refuse and garbage within municipal limits.

The other draft is titled "An Act to Grant County Commissioners authority to Regulate the Disposing and Discarding of Trash Within Counties."

This would provide for

Will Probe Suspicions Senator Died Of Poison

MEXICO, Mo. (AP) — A prosecutor says he intends to talk to "every witness we can" in investigating a report that former Sen. Edward V. Long died of poisoning from a box of candy.

Audrain County prosecutor Thomas Osborne confirmed a report in today's editions of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that a letter to authorities from Long's longtime secretary alleged he was poisoned by candy received as a gift.

Long, a Missouri Democrat who served in the U.S. Senate from 1960 until 1968, died Nov. 6 at his Brookhill Farm at Clarksville from a cause listed on his death certificate as a "cerebral vascular accident" which had "all the appearances of a stroke." He was 64.

Pike County Coroner J. O. Mudd of Bowling Green, informed of a letter to authorities from Helen Dunlop, was reported by the Globe-Democrat to have responded "that's news to me." Mudd signed the death certificate.

Miss Dunlop, an employe of Long for 26 years, did not report the candy as a possible cause of death until March 8, four months after he died, Osborne said.

Osborne said he entered the case April 10 when Pike County Prosecuting Atty. James Millan disqualified himself because he is an associate of Miss Dunlop's Bowling Green attorney, John McIlroy.

Miss Dunlop, challenged as executrix of his estate in a suit by Long's widow, wrote that Long received the box of candy four days before his death from a Clayton man neither knew, the paper said.

Miss Dunlop said she saw the open box of candy at his home the day before Long died. She added that Long appeared in good health the night of his death after the two had dinner together in nearby Louisiana.

The letter said she was summoned later that evening to Long's home, where Long told her he thought he had been poisoned by the candy.

Miss Dunlop said Long told her his legs were becoming numb when he arose to brush his teeth. While awaiting the arrival of a doctor he was unable to drink a glass of water, she said.

Miss Ellis To Head Summer Activities

Miss Vicky Ellis of Williamston has been announced as the new director of the Operation Sunshine Girls' Activities summer program.

Miss Ellis has worked with the Sunshine girls previously as an assistant. She will begin her assignment Monday, June 4.

The director's position is now held by Miss Linda Harrill, but she must leave at the end of the regular year's session to complete her graduate studies.

From June 4, to Aug. 24, the center will operate Monday thru Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

As the Board of Directors' meeting in which Miss Ellis was hired, Doug Mewborn, finance chairman, reminded that a fund drive to meet the Sunshine program's annual budget of $4,000 is in full swing. Any individual or group wishing to contribute may send it to Operation Sunshine, P.O. Box 3412, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

It was announced that the Royal Crown Bottling Company is circulating special bottle caps containing liners which may be redeemed for cash by Operation Sunshine. The liners range in value from 10 cents to $1. After collecting these liners, one may mail them in to Operation Sunshine or give them to a board member, Mewborn said.

measures to control disposal of all forms of trash in rural areas outside municipal boundaries.

Howard Hurlocker, Pitt County Planner, informed that a recently completed survey shows there are some 1,100 vacant houses in Pitt County. Of that number, he noted, 400 are not suitable for human habitation.

Hurlock said that currently property owners are not being encouraged to get rid of the non-habitable houses, and that no restrictions exist on such structure.

He added that with the high cost of building material, a trend is now discernable for owners to dismantle abandoned buildings to salvage building material.

Dr. Jim Stewart, Developmanet Specialist from North Carolina State University, spoke briefly on awards programs that have been established at state level to encourage communities to develop effective clean up campaigns.

In an effort to get concrete results, county and other officials plan to concentrate on a massive clean up campaign during the month of May. Civic groups, young people's organizations and businessmen have been lined up in various Pitt communities to begin Clean Sweep '73 in May.

RALEIGH (AP)—A tobacco marketing study committee plans to continue its meeting today on devising recommendations for improving the marketing of U.S. tobacco.

The panel was named by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and has until July 1 to present its recommendations.

The committee voted to recommend that Butz set July 17 as the date for a grower referendum on whether marketing quotas should be in effect on flue-cured tobacco for the next three years, 1974 through 1976.

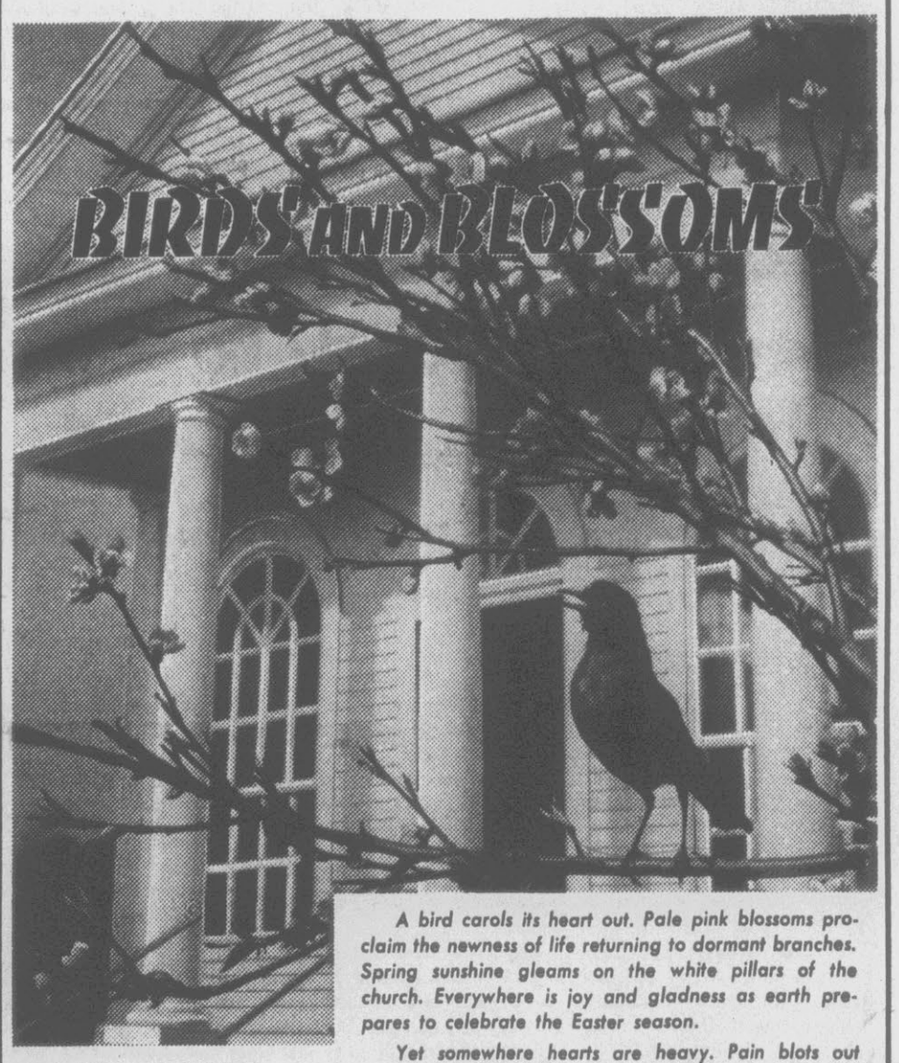
FOR A DAY TO REMEMBER
You will not want to miss EASTER SUNDAY at Trinity Church. Among many musical specials this week, SAMMY PITTMAN sings "Because He Lives."
Have You Attended Our Exciting Sunday School???



A bird carols its heart out. Pale pink blossoms proclaim the newness of life returning to dormant branches. Spring sunshine gleams on the white pillars of the church. Everywhere is joy and gladness as earth prepares to celebrate the Easter season.

Yet somewhere hearts are heavy. Pain blots out springtide ecstasies. Bird songs torment minds grayed with grief. What message can the Holy Day bring them?

In the darkest hour of the first Good Friday, Jesus, deserted by His followers, rejected by those He came to save, tortured and suffering, said, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit."

Follow His example this Eastertime. Whatever the situation, however bleak the outlook—commend your spirit, your very self to God. Your load will be lightened, your being restored.

Your church is an open door which calls you to the joyous realization of God's love as an unassailable source of strength in your life.

Love Him, But Leave Him Alone

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My divorce will be final in three weeks, but my ex is still following me around begging me to give him another chance.

Abby, I still love him, but I don't want to live with him. He's insanely jealous for no reason at all. I am a good Christian woman and never gave him cause to doubt me, but he has beat me up several times trying to get me to "confess."

Once he broke my nose, knocked out four teeth, and I had 22 stitches on my lip. Then he pinned me up against the wall and broke my collarbone. That's when I filed for divorce.

My friends say I'd have to be crazy to take him back. I still love him. What would you do? IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: I certainly wouldn't take him back. But if you do, you should try to find a psychiatrist with two couches—one for you and one for him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior in high school, and I live with my grandparents. My best friend [I'll call her Donna] is my age and we've been like sisters all our lives since she lives across the street.

My grandparents think Donna is an angel, so yesterday while they were going on and on about how perfect Donna was, I got mad and blurted out that Donna went all the way with Kenny, the boy she's been going steady with. I was sorry right after I said it, but it was too late.

Well, last night Grandpa said he felt it was his duty to tell Donna's father what I told him, but he needed my cooperation. Now he wants me to repeat to Donna's father what I told him. Abby, what I said was true, but I don't want to repeat it to Donna's father.

My grandpa is giving me a week to decide on what I want to say. I need your help, Abby. Should I cooperate or not? I really don't want to. I feel like a rat. BIG MOUTH

DEAR BIG MOUTH: You've already done too much talking. Tell grandpa you don't want to repeat what you said about Donna. If he wants to tell Donna's father, you can't stop him. If he does, I hope you have a substitute best friend warming up in the bullpen.

DEAR ABBY: In an attempt to criticize you for your views on bathing, a quartet of women from Hagerstown, Md., wrote: "You belong in India, where your views allow you to label women 'unclean' and 'untouchable.'"

First of all, the untouchable caste, which applied only to men, has been outlawed in India since 1947. Secondly, Indians are among the cleanest people on earth. Hindus, who comprise 85 per cent of India's population, bathe every morning as a religious ritual. And it is not uncommon for an Indian to take three or four baths a day. They may be poor, but they're clean.

And finally, anyone who believes that women take a back seat in India should be reminded that India's leader is a woman. UP ON INDIA

DEAR UP: Three cheers for India! People are usually down on what they're not up on.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to ask Peggy, Marie, Judy, and Susan of Hagerstown, Md., the following question: If women in India are considered "untouchable," how do you explain a population of 550 million?

ARUN WAGH, LOUISVILLE, KY.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

City Manager Gives Program

William H. Carstarphen, Greenville city manager, spoke to the Siera Book Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Douglas R. Jones.

Carstarphen outlined generally the operation of Greenville City government and specifically his duties as manager. City government is simply people working for and dealing with other people—accomodating growth and change.

He also encouraged citizens to become involved by letting the city councilmen know they would be willing to help. He answered questions and explained rulings on various subjects from street lights to fire, recreation, and sanitation departments.

Mrs. Fred Baumann, president, conducted the business meeting. Plans were made to attend the luncheon at St. James Church in May and a picnic with husbands at the river for the final meeting of the year.

Chairman of the membership committee, Mrs. Leo Jenkins, announced that Mrs. Harry Hastings was a new member.

Mrs. E. W. Turcotte assisted the hostess in serving refreshments after which books were exchanged.

When painting the outside of the house, brush dirt away first. Use a wire brush invented for this purpose. Buy it where you buy paint supplies.

Naturalization Service Seen By Tour Group

Witnessing a naturalization service was a highlight of a Citizenship Tour sponsored by Pitt County Extension Homemakers Wednesday.

The group of 30 traveled by chartered bus to the capitol city to see 45 persons from 17 countries become naturalized citizens of the United States.

During the ceremony, Judge Algervon Butler, who presided, welcomed the Extension Homemakers and commended them for their interest in attending.

Mrs. Bill Goin, county international chairman, arranged the tour which also included a visit to the State House. Senator Vernon White and Representative Sam Bundy greeted the group, which was recognized on both the Senate and House.

A leaflet "Be A Good Citizen" was distributed to each person as they boarded the bus. The information, compiled by Mrs. J.T. Manning Jr., county citizenship chairman, explained various ways to becoming U.S. citizens.

According to Mrs. Sue B. May, Pitt County Home Economics Extension agent, this special interest tour is only one activity sponsored by the International and Citizenship Committees as a part of their 1973 program of work.

Popular Except When It Hurts

Cutting back of military expenditures seems to be the popular thing to do these days—except for the areas which are directly affected by the cutbacks.

And there is no denying that a major cutback or deactivation of a military base can have disastrous economic consequences for the areas where they are located.

So it was reasonable to expect dismay and concern when the Pentagon announced cuts this week that would eliminate over 37,000 civilian and military jobs. Affected are 274 military bases and annual saving is expected to be $275 million.

No one can quarrel with the decision to save federal funds by cutting military spending. At the same time, however, we can be thankful that the cuts had no more effect than they did on North Carolina.

Pope Air Force Base will lose 336 military personnel, but will gain 81 civilian jobs. Seymour Johnson is to lose 108 military positions but stands to gain 58 civilian jobs. Ft. Bragg will get an increase of 212 military jobs and Cherry Point will gain 84 civilian jobs.

U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms says reports were circulated that the Pentagon had considered closing Seymour Johnson and Cherry Point. He said his staff met with Pentagon representatiaves and "made our pitch against closing these bases."

We, of course, have no way of determinig how serious the closing threat was, but it appears that the future of North Carolina's military bases is assured for awhile.

These bases have played an important part in the economy of our area and in the security oof our nation for many years. We are pleased that they will continue to be a part of our area.

Mobilizing Of Health Forces

RALEIGH—A mobilizing of health resources may open the way for a strengthened attack on pulmonary disease in North Carolina.

The project contemplated for the eastern tuberculosis sanitorium at Wilson would draw together the forces of diagnosis. treatment and training to meet the problems posed by a rising incidence of diseases such as emphysema and lung cancer and a short supply of specialists in the field.

BRYAN HAISLIP

It also would put to use empty beds at the Wilson facility through an affiliation with the University of North Carolina School of Medicine to set up a clinical center to train medical students and post graduate physicians.

Local doctors and hospitals would be called upon for a supporting role, in screening patients for respiratory illness and in treatment for identified cases.

The approach has great promise in the search for ways to meet the state's health care needs, said Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt. The location of doctors in areas where they are needed, as well as enhanced capability to deal with acute pulmonary disorders, would be among benefits flowing from the program, he said.

Utilization of Resources

"We are very concerned about needs in the health field and full utilization of resources," said Hunt, a Wilson County native.

Success against tuberculosis has reduced the sanitorium's demand for inpatient services, he explained, and offers the opportunity to turn attention in other directions.

The plan got high level support at a meeting called by Hunt, attended by sanitorium system and medical school representatives and Wilson legislators. Officials present indicated the program can be implemented promptly once money is provided by the current General Assembly.

Sen. Russell Kirby and Rep. A. Hartwell Campbell, Wilson legislators, said they have high hopes for approval of a $416,000 appropriation too activate the project.

"An Exciting Concept"

Human Resources Secretary David Flaherty called it "an exciting concept" of more than regional implications. While it will have particular significance to the Wilson community and eastern North Carolina, he said it could prove to be a forerunner for sanitorium units at McCain, Black Mountain and Chapel Hill.

"I like this program, and I am excited about its prospects," said Flaherty, the top official in Gov. Jim Holshouser's administration in the health area.

Rep. Campbell noted that the project dovetails with the community-based pattern for delivery of health care, adovated by Gov. Holshouser in a message last week to the General Assembly. "I believe it is quite in step with what the governor recommeded," Campbell commented.

Promise of Cooperation

Cooperation by the board of directors of the sanitorium systme was pledged by O. Arthur Kirkman of High Point, its chairman. The board has taken the position that it will not set obstacles in the way of acceptable uses for sanitorium facilities no longer needed for TB patients, he said.

An enthusiastic reaction was expressed by Paul S. Cragan of Sanford, chairman of the planning committee for the sanitorium board. "In four years of study, we have heard many suggestions for use of the facilities," said Cragan. "We have found this program in keeping with our purposes. and one which the board can wholeheartedly endorse."

The proposal developed by the medical school sets forth three aims: patient care in model programs; clinical training for medical students and post graduate physicians; and continuing education as a means to train and enhance the recruitment of physicians and patient care personnel.

"A major goal of such a program should be to produce an increased number of specialists in pulmonary diseases because of the relative shortage of such specialists and because of the increasing number of patients with respiratory diseases," according to the outline for the project.

"Lung disease is a major health problem," said Dr. Bill Wood. One aspect of the program will be case detection, he said, which could assist in the early indentification of lung cancer and other diseases.

Approximately 50 beds would be needed to get the program launched. The evolving nature of the project would determine future needs.

Ingram Order Will Be Something To Watch

State Insurance Commissioner John Ingram's order eliminating all auto liability insurance rate classifications based on age, sex or marital status is going to be interesting to watch.

Ingram's order sets a base rate of $44 for all safe drivers. Surcharges would then be added for driving violations.

On the surface the plan does not seem bad. A young person who is a safe driver would pay no more than anyone else. However, his rate, as with a person in any age group, would go up as driving violations occurred.

How it will work out in practice remains to be seen.

Nixon Damaged By Suspicions

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

QUEENS, New York City — Even here in the Republican heartland of Richard M. Nixon's perfervid political supporters, the Watergate scandal is perseptibly beginning to corrode his prestige and popularity, but not nearly so much as it is damaging his administration and his party.

Indeed, were all the bristling suspicions surrounding the Watergate and attendant political scandals suddenly explained, the President's personal standing with the voters would probably emerge not badly scarred — assuming, of course, his own innocence was clearly established.

The suspicions continue to poison the political air around the White House, as they do today, the more Mr. Nixon himself — not just his administration and his party — endangered.

These are unavoidable conclusions from a day-long political scouting trip with Oliver Quayle, the national pollster, in this middle-income Nixon land with its neat homes and apartments and its strong indentification with the silent majority ("You're in Archie Bunker land," a 24-year-old dental student said.)

Quayle and his field director, Eleanor Seaman, picked this area, the 29th and 30th election districts, for one reason: It went for Nixon by an overwhelming majority last November. Surely if the pro-Nixon voters here showed any concern over Watergate, the President is risking injury of potentially large dimension.

The inclination of most of the 69 voters we interviewed, to give the President the benefit of the doubt but threat his party and administration far more harshly, was quickly apparent.

For example, our voters (who voted 5 to 1 for Mr. Nixon over Sen. George McGovern) agreed by a 2-to-1 margin that they "think less of the Nixon administration because they are not telling the whole truth about Watergate." But by exactly the same 2-to-1 margin, they said they disagreed with the statement: "I think less of Richard Nixon because of the Watergate conspiracy."

Likewise, despite the fact that all but 11 of our voters had heard about Watergate, they gave the President the very high score of 65 per cent on Quayle's trust index, and an almost equally high 62 per cent overall job rating.

But these same voters ranked "honesty and integrity in politics and government" and the third most important issue facing the country, after the economy and crime. The reason most often cited: Watergate.

The President's growing vulnerability, moreover, is clear from the fact that 25 voters said they believed he personally war aware of plans to bug the Watergate, while only only 21 believed he knew nothing about it. (the rest saying they were not sure). As for the President's handling of the issue of corruption in government and politics, 43 said he was doing "only fair or poor," more than twice the 20 who gave him an "excellent or good" rating.

The potential for political disaster inherent in Watergate lies in the radically changed view of Mr. Nixon by seven of our

Diplomacy's High Cost

WASHINGTON — As everyone knows, the best way to become a U.S. ambassador is to contribute a large sum of money to the presidential election campaign—and have your candidate win.

This election was no different from elections past except that the prices of ambassadorships have gone up. Luxembourg, for exampled, never went for more than $50,000. But this year it was given to Mrs. Ruth Farkas of Alexander's Department Store, who made a $300,000 contribution to President Nixon's campaign.

Countries throughout the world are very sensitive to the prices put on U.S. diplomatic posts and now consider it a matter of prestige if they get a U.S. ambassador who has made an enormous contribution to the Republican Party.

It was for this reason that the foreign minister of Zemululu called on an undersecretary of state here the other day.

"I understand you are sending us an ambassador who contributed only $50,000 to President Nixon's campaign. I want you to know my government considers this an insult. We deserve at least a $100,000 contributor."

The undersecretary replied, "Money isn't everything, Mr. Foreign Minister. The man we are sending you has excellent business qualifications and strong connections in the White House. He is held in high esteem by the President despite his paltry contribution."

"That is all well and good, Mr. Secretary, but I have it on highest authority that you are appointing an ambassador to Tonkidash who contributed $100,000. Why has the price on our American ambassador been so deflated?"

"Zemululu is in the malaria belt, and the climate is hot and sticky, Mr. Foreign Minister. We tried to get you a $100,000 contributor but nobody wanted to go to your country. We were very fortunate to find you a $50,000 donor who didn't know where Zemululu was. We were so desperate we were considering sending you a professional diplomat."

"We would have refused him," the foreign minister said. "My government still does understand how you can send a $300,000 donor to Luxembourg and a $50,000 one to us. Our country is five times the size of Luxembourg."

"You must understand, Mr.

Other Editors Say Annual Sessions

(The Wilson Times)

In all that is being said on annual budgets, will the recessing rather than adjournment follow the N. C. Constitution?

If this point were tested, what would be allowed to vote on annual sessions, and one of the leaders in the General Assembly says he certainly would not object.

So there is more to be considered than the need for an annual budget, of which you hear so much about.

The N. C. Constitution calls for biennial sessions and this has been the practice "since the memory of man runs not to the contrary."

With the biennial sessions go the budget for the two—year span.

And this is the bone of contention, it is just about impossible to anticipate the state's needs over a two-year period, you are told.

As to the constitutionality of annual sessions, if they were voted on by the people, then the Constitution could be changed and there would be no question as to the legality.

From what we hear, we will lose some of our most influential legislators with annual sessions.

They say it will be impossible to carry on their business if they go to the General Assembly every year and spend around five months, and have to give much of their remaining time to committee meetings which are called all during the time the General Assembly is not in session.

The study committees would take up much of the time of the members so they would not have to make a living.

If the General Assembly adopted a plan of a couple of days a week, the year long, this would give the members more time to practice law, as many are lawyers, but this would not be practical because of the distance from the western part of the state to Raleigh.

So there isn't but one solution, you are told, the annual sessions now being prepared for.

This will soon build to a state Congress, requiring a salary of substance to support the representatives.

And we would certainly regret losing some of our most responsible representatives, who have served the state well, and over many years.

When A Cat's Away—

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP!) — Homesick for a cat?

Me?

At my age?

Impossible!

But that's the way it seems to be. They say that when the cat's away the mice begin to play. But since our cat went away, all I've done is feel lonesome.

HAL BOYLE

It was bad enough when my 19-year-old daughter Tracy Ann returned to Windham College in Putney, Vt., after she took a semester off with the encouragement of the faculty there. But then she came home one weekend and took our 14-year-old cat back to college with her, and since then things have gotten much worse.

At first I felt kind of relieved. I enjoyed the reprieve from having to clean out a cat box and trying to please the whimsical appetite of a cat with more food prejudices than a houseful of spoiled children.

But then I began to miss her. I missed her soft leg-rubbing greeting at the door when I came home. I missed not having to fight her for the best seat on the sofa — the one by the lamp. I missed the fun of watching her fight her way out of a paper bag. I missed waking and hearing her stalking around the apartment in the dead of night crying to herself. "Woe, Harold, woe."

If you think all a cat says is "meow," you either have a tin ear or have a limited vocabulary.

With both my cat and daughter gone, I find a new color television set — I think I must be the next to the last person in my neighborhood to get one — rather faded company.

Of my two teen-agers away, I suppose I really miss Lady Dottie the most. My daughter, like most teen-agers, has lost the ability to write a letter. But she's on the phone fairly regularly to announce some new plight she's up to her neck in, or what unplumbed abyss of poverty she'll descend into if

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

April 20, 1933

One hundred to two hundred cases of measles and whooping cough have been reported in the Greenville city schools. Faced by the eight months school term instead of the customary nine, school authorities have looked with alarm on the epidemic realizing that it would further increase the threat of repeaters for the next season because of the school absence of students.

The terrible electrical and hail storm that swept over sections of Pitt Coungy late yesterday afternoon killed two persons and seriously injured one in the Simpson community. It also did considerable damage to tobacco plant beds over a wide area.

Strength For Today

EVIL NEVER LETS GO

In that famous novel, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, Robert Louis Stevenson has given us a dramatic portrait of man's dual nature. It is generally assumed that the teaching of the novel is that deep down in every one of us is a bestial self which can at any moment rise to dominate our actions.

This is indeed one of the morals of the novel, but an even more important one is that we cannot control evil once we have given free play to it. Dr. Jekyll believed that he could indulge the evil part of his nature when he wanted to, and then close the door on it. Unfortunately for him he found out that he could not do so. When the time came that he wanted to be through with Hyde, he found that Hyde would not be through with him. If we take an easy attitude toward the evil in our natures.

If we honestly wish to live good lives, therefore, we can make no compromise with evil. For the Christian there is no minimal acceptable degree of wrong.

You Share Rising Prices Blame

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Brace yourself. About those rising prices: You're a lot to blame. You might be the victim but you're the oppressor, too — your own oppressor. Yes, you the consumer are in charge of the economy and doing a bad job.

This may be a debatable economic view, but it isn't a fantasy. It can be shown in many ways that what the consumer does with his money dictates future events and that government and business react to it.

Up to World War II it was just the opposite. Business and government spending were the big factors in directing the economy. Analysts ignored the consumer who, it was felt, couldn't do anything but spend if he was going to live.

But now consumers have discretionary spending. They have money left over after the essentials. They can buy or not buy, save or not save and do so on an enormous scale. Personal consumption accounts for nearly 60 per cent of the gross national product.

No less a man than George Katona, dean of consumer behaviorists, is authority for the statement about consumer power.

"Yes," he said in answer to a question, "the consumer is in control but he is not conscious or aware of it."

"Is he doing a poor job?"

"Yes, very poor," said Katona, but he hastened to mention that the consumer doesn't act alone. He makes his decisions in accordance with or in opposition to government decisions — and government shares responsibility.

"Why is the consumer so erratic?" Katona was asked.

"Erratic? We had lots of erratic economic behavior before discretionary spending," he said, and he listed among them the deep depressions and frequent recessions that have marked the country's growth.

"On the whole," he said, "the consumer is less erratic than business and speculation. There are so many consumers compared to businessmen."

Because there are so many variations of consumer behavior, the extremes tend to be averaged out, he explained. When business spending was the more powerful, he pointed out, it was concentrated among a relative few.

It was during World War II

Nominated For Emmy Awards

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four new shows, "The Waltons," "Kung Fu," "M-A-S-H" and "The Julie Andrews Hour," outdistanced nearly all the competition in the Emmy nominations for the 25th annual Television Academy Awards.

"The Waltons," a warm story of a family struggling in the Depression, received 12 nominations Thursday, more than any other program. The show previously won a Peabody Award.

Its nominations included those for best dramatic series, best new series, best actor for Richard Thomas, best actress for Miss Michael Learned and best supporting nominations for Will Geer and Ellen Corby.

"Kung Fu" got six nominations, including best dramatic series, best new series and best actor for David Carradine as a Buddhist monk in the Old West.

"M-A-S-H," a brash and irreverent comedy about Army surgeons in the Korean War, received eight nominations, including best comedy series, best new series, best actor in comedy for Alan Alda and best supporting actor in a comedy for Gary Burghoff and McLean Stevenson.

The Julie Andrews show, canceled by ABC because of low ratings, got 10 nominations, including best musical variety series, best new series and best performer in a musical variety series for Miss Andrews.

Dr. Fuller At Asheville Meet

Dr. Frank G. Fuller, chairman of the Counselor Education Department of East Carolina University, attended the Southeastern United States Symposium on Competency-Based Teacher Education in Asheville Tuesday and Wednesday.

The conference was to explore trends toward an emphasis on demonstrated ability rather than completion of formal and specified college programs as a basis for teacher certification.

another check doesn't get there soon.

But I haven't heard directly from my cat at all. A cat, of course, is too proud even to curse over a telephone, let alone carry on a conversation. I have to take Tracy's word for it that Lady Dottie is well and healthy, and has been found to be the smartest feline student in the history of Windham College. This report, while it naturally makes me proud — what parent isn't proud his teen-ager is a success in college? — also leaves me with some misgivings.

I can see the advantages of giving a daughter a college education. At the least it will add cultural depth to her life. It might also be the springboard to a self-supporting career. And it certainly will make her a more interesting wife and a better informed mother, should marriage be her career, as I fondly hope.

But I don't quite see the point in Lady Dottie being in college. Reckoning a cat's real age to be seven times its calendar age, Lady Dottie at 14 is really 98 years old, which is kind of antique even for a Harvard sophomore.

The whole thing is ridiculous. What do I want with an educated cat in my family, anyway? If she comes home with a summa cum laude degree, it'll only give me an inferiority complex.

And I have trouble enough raising a voice of authority in my home without having to put up with the silent sneers of an uppity cat.

voters, all lifetime Republicans and all Nixon voters in November.

Each of these seven, comprising 10 per cent of our total sample, volunteered their growing worry and anger about the scandal before we mentioned the word "Watergate" in our questions, and each gave the President a low performance rating less than six months after enthusiastically voting for him.

Even these Republicans, however, were for the most part loath to blame Mr. Nixon dorectly as almost every one of our McGovern voters did. Instead they figured "high officials in the GOP and friends of Nixon" or "high officials in the Republican party, mayve (John) Mitchell, the former Attorney General and presidential campaign chairman.

But not all were so charitable.

"Nixon did it," a 45-year-old housewife said. "It all came from him, I'm sure it was his idea. He stands on his own two feet."

She was a distinct, still minuscule minority among the voters who pulled the Nixon lever last fall, but that minuscule minority is likely to become dangerously large if, as one voter told us, "they don't get to the higher-ups soon."

Foreign Minister, that size has nothing to do with our ambassadorial assignments. It is a question of geography. The big donors are partial to Europe an the Carribbean. When you give the kind of money they do, you can't expect them to take ahardship post."

"We still consider a $50,000 contributor unacceptable to us, particularly when the dollar has been devalued twice. We insist you find someone who gave at least $75,000 to President Nixon's victory."

"Mr. Foreign Minister, may I tell you something in utmost confidence?" the undersecretary said.

"Of course," replied the foreign minister.

"It is true that the ambassador we are sending you contributed only $50,000 publicly to Preisdent Nixon's campaign. But what nobody knows is that he also gave another $150,000 in cash under the table. We cannot publicize this secret donation, but you, in fact, are getting a $200,000 American ambassador."

"How do I know you're not making this up?" the foreign minister asked suspiciously.

"The cash is in Maurice Stans' safe at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. You can go there and look at it youself."

that Katona became concerned about consumer power. What in the world were people going to do with all those war bonds they had accumulated? They had developed enormous power.

Studying their attitudes, Katona developed the themes that are basic to consumer studies today, that consumers spend or save not just because they have money to do so but because of their moods and fears and conditions of mind.

Many students believe, for example, that the consumer has had his fill of high prices today and will, despite a windfall in tax money now being returned to him, bank his money rather than chase prices to the heavens.

While the consumer may be calling the shots, it is generally agreed that what government does has a profound effect upon consumer moods and thus diminishes the consumer's power and shares in the poor management.

No Zip In Their Sewage Sludge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia, the object of all those dullsville jokes, can't even produce sewage sludge with any zip. It buys Milwaukee's.

While neighboring states are miffed at the City of Brotherly Love for dumping its sludge in the Atlantic, a Philadelphia park has been purchasing sludge from Milwaukee for use as fertilizer.

Why?

"The reason is the Milwaukee breweries," says Philadelphia Water Commissioner Carmen Guarino. "They dispose of highly nutritious waste. Also, Milwaukee doesn't have the industry we have."

Guarino said the Fairmont Park Commission is buying milorganite, a processed sludge, for $60 a ton. He said about 25 tons were purchased last year.

Insurance Fraud Ring Charged In Charlotte

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Twenty-six persons have been accused of staging automobile accidents and collecting more than $50,000 in fake injury claims, the Charlotte Observer says.

The paper quoted a source in the state Insurance Department in Raleigh as saying it was the largest false insurance-claim ring ever uncovered in North Carolina.

Insurance Commissioner John Ingram reportedly scheduled a news conference at the Charlotte Police Department today to comment on the four-month investigation, which involved mostly Charlotte-area residents.

Sixty warrants naming the 26 persons have been issued, the account said.

C.E. Willis Is Honored

WASHINGTON, N. C.—Yesterday was Charles Edward Willis Day here.

The former Voice of America employee who spent five years as a captive of the Viet Cong was greeted by several hundred wellwishers and was given gifts, one of which was a key to the city, presented by Mayor Pro Tempore Jesse Spruill. Other official greeters were Stancil Lilley of the Beaufort County Board of Commissioners and Washington Chamber of Commerce president Jim Hackney III.

Willis expressed thanks and asked for understanding until he could adjust to the changes that have occurred in Beaufort County since his capture in 1968.

The Beaufort County native whose wife and children lived in Idaho during his absence was captured while he was working for the U.S. Foreign Service near Hue, South Vietnam. He has been a patient at the Bethesda, Md. Naval Hospital since his release in February.

Release Trio To Parents

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — Three boys in the third grade charged with extorting nearly $1,000 from two classmates by threatening to beat or kill them were released from a detention home to the custody of their parents after a preliminary hearing Thursday.

Authorities said that what started as a lunch-time extortion grew during eight months to $10 and $20 payments, with the pair who were paying getting the money by stealing from their parents or borrowing from friends.

A full hearing for the three will be next Wednesday in Juvenile Court. They are charged with common-law robbery.

Judge Abner Alexander, after hearing testimony from all the boys involved, ordered the three released from the Forsyth County Youth Center, where they had been held since Wednesday.

Advise Girding For Fuel Crisis

BRUSSELS (AP) — Major petroleum importing countries, like the Common Market members, the United States and Japan, should agree on measures for facing the coming energy crisis and possible oil shortage, the Common Market Commission says.

The large importing countries should agree on the compulsory harmonization of stock piling, rationing procedures and solidarity whether all or only one of them faces a crisis, the commission said Thursday in a memorandum to the Council of Minsters.

The council will discuss energy policy May 22.

The Great Salt Lake is 4,200 feet above sea level.

Fire Ass'n Will Conduct Drive

GRIFTON—Members of the Grifton Community Fire Association will begin a membership drive on April 30 in an effort to raise $12,000 to be used toward the purchase of a new rural fire truck.

Membership fee is $10 which includes the first year's dues. Annual dues, thereafter, are $6. People within a four mile radius of Grifton will pay a lower insurance rate of approximately 11 percent because of the fire department.

The Community Fire Department was organized in 1958 to provide fire protection for people living outside the town limits.

A new truck will have to be purchased in order to maintain fire protection for the rural area. A new truck, with the very basic facilities, will cost at least $22,000. The association has approximately $10,000 on hand, leaving a need to raise $12,000 so a new truck can be bought.

The board of directors of the newly re-organized Grifton Community Fire Association are: Joe Price, president; Paul Whitley, vice president; Jimmy McLawhorn, treasurer; Merle Latham, secretary; Plummer Dillahunt, Raymond Battle, Bruce Cannon, Leigh Fleming, Johnnie Smith, Luke McLawhorn, Wayne Cox, and Alex Warren.

France Refuses To Halt Testing

PARIS (AP) — Australia and France have failed to reach a solution on Australia's demands that France stop atmospheric nuclear testing in the South Pacific, the Australian attorney general said today.

Lionel Murphy said France would not supply Australia "with any information as to the dates of their proposed tests or expected size and yield of their explosions."

Murphy said new talks will begin immediately between scientists of both countries in a further attempt by Australia to convince France of the dangers to Australian and other South Pacific populations from the tests.

Cougars Seek To Move Ahead In Playoff Game

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Coach Larry Brown says his Carolina Cougars, tied 2-2 with the Kentucky Colonels in the ABA East Division playoffs, "play terrible basketball in games we're supposed to win, and super basketball in games in which we have everything going against us."

The Cougars, regular-season leaders of the division in the American Basketball Association, have twice scrambled out of tight situations by winning the second and fourth games of the best-of-seven series.

They have the home advantage in a game in Greensboro tonight. The sixth game will be Saturday night in Louisville, Ky., and the seventh, if needed, will be in Charlotte.

The winner will play for the league championship against the winner of the Utah-Indiana West Division playoffs.

"The only thing I can figure," Brown said after the Cougars won 102-91 at Louisville Wednesday night, "is this is a money club. If we need a win, we get it. If it's a game in which we are heavily favored, we piddle around.

"I would like to think we would have momentum going into the fifth game, but I don't know anymore. I don't know what to expect of this team."

Looking back to Wednesday, he noted, "We did what we had to do to win."

He praised all hands, especially veteran forward Joe Caldwell who scored only five points. Brown called it "the best five-point game I've ver seen. Joe moved the ball well, played backcourt when we needed him and played strong defense."

Rick Mount, Kentucky sharpshooter, was Caldwell's assignment and Mount hit only two of 16 shots.

Center Tom Owens also pleased Brown with his job against 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore, who scored only six points and had only nine rebounds against 10 points and 17 rebounds by Owens.

Owens commented, "If I can contain Gilmore we will beat Kentucky. The offense revolves around him and if he doesn't get the ball to score or move it, Kentucky becomes confused.

"I thought I neutralized Artis Wednesday. When I play Kentucky I don't try to score. I just try to play defense on Gilmore. If I do the job there I know I've made my contribution."

Colbert Is Not Excited By Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Jim Colbert refused to get very excited about his six-under-par 66 that established the first round lead in the $200,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions.

"I try not to get too elated," the chipper little man said after he took a one-stroke lead over Homero Blancas in Thursday's first round of the event that brings together an elite field of the winners of regular pro golf tour tournaments for the last 12 months.

"If I don't let myself feel any elation, I find that I function better," Colbert continued.

"That doesn't mean that I'm out there going grind, grind, grind. That'd be just as bad. I just like to keep it level. I don't know how else to say it—just level.

Oak City Falls To Bear Grass

OAK CITY—Bear Grass High School gained its first Martin County Conference victory with an 8-3 romp over Oak City yesterday.

The victory raised the Bear record to 1-2 on the year within the league. Oak City was making its first conference start.

Bear Grass pushed ahead with two runs in the first inning. Jimmy Peaks reached on an error and Keith Wynne singled. Keith Williams walked to load the bases, and when a pickoff attempt was errored, both Peaks and Wynne came around to score.

The Bears put it out of reach with four more in the top of the third. Keith Williams then singled him in. Richard Knox reached on a two base error and David Hodges walked to load them up. Richard Harrison then tripled to drive in all three runners and make it 6-0.

Oak City bot on the boards in the bottom of the third. David Thompson reached on a fielder's choice and Ken Spivey singled. Ronald Duggins followed with a run-scoring single, bringing in Thompson.

Bear Grass picked up another run in the sixth. Randy Evans singled and stole second. Wynne reached on an error, with Evans scoring.

Buc Runners Host Pembroke

"The teams appear to be so evenly matched that the entire meet might boil down to the last event," said East Carolina track coach Bill Carson in reference to the Pirates' upcoming encounter with Pembroke State.

The meet will be held Saturday at the ECU track and will begin at 2:00 p.m.

"At first glance, Pembroke looks a little stronger on the surface," added Carson. "But we've been turning in some pretty strong performances ourselves lately. It should turn out to be a real interesting matchup teamwise."

In their latest meet the as of yet undefeated Pirates won a trianglar meet over North Carolina State and Furman last Sunday with 76 points. The Wolfpack finished second with 53 while the Paladins were a close third with 52.

Carson figures the Braves to be stronger in the 100, 220, 440 relay, 440 intermediate hurdles, 3-mile, high jump, and discus, based on previous times and performances. East Carolina appears to have the upper hand in the 120 high hurdles, triple jump, shot put, pole vault, and javelin.

That narrows things down to five pivotal events.

In the mile, Jerry Klas, with a best of 4:11.8, will face the Braves' Victor Elks who has run 4:14. ECU's Charlie Lovelace (48.8) will duel Larry Rogers (49.0) in the 440 while Lanny Davis (1:56.6) goes up against Pembroke's Bill Ferrel (1:55.2) in the 880. The contenders in the long jump should be PSU's Dennis Graham (24-2 and ¾) and East Carolina's Walter Davenport (23-8) and Larry Malone (23-6 and ½). In the last event, ECU's mile relay team, with a best of 3:17.9, will take on a Brave quartet which has recorded a time of 3:18.4.

Sports Medicine Conference Set

A sports medicine conference for area coaches and students trainers will be held at East Carolina University, May 4-5, dealing with necessary skills and techniques for the treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. The program is jointly sponsored by the ECU Sports Medicine Division, Division of Continuing Education, School of Allied Health Professions and School of Medicine.

Rod Compton, head trainer at East Carolina, will direct the conference. Compton is a member of the National Association of Athletic Trainers (NATA) and is editor-in-chief of the NATA Journal.

The staff for the conference will include members of the ECU faculty and local physicians, in addition to the staff of the ECU Sports Medicine Division.

Tuition for the conference has been set at $25, on campus, and $15 for commuters. The on-campus fee includes lodging Friday night, all meals, conference materials, and a ticket to Saturday's ECU-Pembroke State baseball game. The commuter fee includes conference materials and a ticket to the game.

Deadline for registration is Appril 27. Applications can be obtained by writing to: Sports Medicine Conference, Division of Continuing Education, East Carolina University, P. O. Box 2727, Greenville, N. C. 27834

Walters Swinging Big Stick In Recent Games

A little over a week ago East Carolina's Larry Walters had a batting average of .182 which is not exactly knocking the cover off the ball in anybody's league.

Now four games later the Pirate senior carries a .292 batting average and East Carolina owns a three-game conference winning streak.

Walters has eight hits in 15 trips to the plate in those four games along with six runs batted in during his hot streak.

The Pirates whipped Davidson in a doubleheader last weekend then came from behind to beat William & Mary at Greenville on Monday.

This Saturday, Coach Jim Mallory's Pirates open a four game road trip to Charleston, S. C., with a very important conference game with The Citadel. From there the Pirates travel to Wilmington for games Sunday and Monday with the Seahawks before going to Pembroke to play the Braves on Tuesday.

Against William & Mary, Walters slammed two homers, including a two-run shot in the eighth inning to tie the game and collected three RBIs.

"I think we have a really good shot at the conference championship if we can win at The Citadel," said Mallory following the come-from-behind win over William & Mary. "We have had to come from behind in our last two wins and that has given our men a lot of confidence."

Mallory plans to pitch righthander Tommy Toms, the ace of the Pirate staff, against The Citadel. Toms hurled a two hitter at Davidson in his last outing and struck out nine in seven innings.

Walters, who can either catch or play outfield for the Pirates, is not the only player with a hot bat. Centerfielder Mike Hogan, who leads the regulars with a .349 batting average has come on strong. In one game against Davidson, Hogan, a transfer from the College of the Albermarle, went three for three, including a triple and a three run homer.

Pitching coach Jim Turner of the New York Yankees had a 69-60 record as a pitcher with the Boston Braves, Cincinnati Reds and Yankees.

The Pirates carry a 10-3 overall record into the road and stand at 5-1 in conference play.

Mets' Sick Bats Pull Out One Of Two Games

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dr. Peter LaMotte, the New York Mets' club physician, is working overtime these days. Unfortunately, medical science hasn't yet come up with a cure for comatose bats.

While star pitcher Tom Seaver and Manager Yogi Berra joined Willie Mays on sick call, the Mets, who have scored only 11 runs in their last eight games, took their war clubs off the critical list long enough to beat the Chicago Cubs 3-1 Thursday in the first game of a doubleheader.

But it was right back into a state of shock in the nightcap as Burt Hooton, who brought an earned run average of 10.50 into the contest, stifled them on three hits in pitching the Cubs to a 7-0. Chicago, by the way, took the first two games of the series by 1-0 scores.

Meanwhile, Berra was confined to the clubhouse on doctor's orders with a heavy cold—pitching coach Rube Walker ran the team—and Seaver was sent to Roosevelt Hospital with stomach cramps. Tests, however, showed nothing wrong and no one was able to confirm a nasty rumor that Seaver had become sick to his stomach watching the Met...you should pardon the expression...hitters.

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal edged Philadelphia 6-5 and San Francisco shaded Los Angeles 8-6. The Pittsburgh-St. Louis game was rained out and the other clubs were not scheduled.

American League scores: Kansas City 16, Oakland 8; New York Yankees 6, Baltimore 1; Detroit 11, Boston 7 and Milwaukee 10, Cleveland 7.

For three innings of the opener, it appeared as though the Mets just might suffer a third straight 1-0 setback. But with two out in the fourth, John Milner got an infield hit against Rick Reuschel, Wayne Garrett doubled him home and Jerry Grote singled Garrett across. John Milner homered in the eighth, his fourth.

The Cubs settled the nightcap quickly, jolting Jim McAndrew for five runs in the first inning, capped by Hooton's two-out, two-run single on an 0-2 pitch following an intentional walk to Don Kessinger. The outburst included singles by Paul Popovich and Billy Williams and a double by Ron Santo.

Montreal invades Shea Stadium this weekend and perhaps the Mets will get some batting tips from the Expos.

"The way this club is hitting right now, I don't care which pitcher we come up against," Manager Gene Mauch said after Ken Singleton's three-run homer keyed a decisive fiverun sixth inning against the Phillies. "The whole line-up is hitting and nobody is carrying this club by himself. Everybody is doing the job."

West, Chamberlain Pace Lakers To 104-93 Win In Second Game

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Los Angeles Lakers are playing an important game and it's close going into the final quarter, you can expect to read about Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain.

So here goes.

With the score tied 77-all after three periods, West scored 14 fourth-period points while Chamberlain grabbed 12 final-period rebounds as the Lakers defeated the Golden State Warriors 104-93 to take a 2-0 lead in their NBA Western Division finals.

So what else is new?

In the ABA, the Indiana Pacers topped the Utah Stars 104-102 and grabbed a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven West Division finals.

Tonight in the finals of the ABA East, Kentucky travels to Greensboro, N.C. to meet the Cougars in game No. 5, after splitting the first four contests.

While in NBA's Eastern finals tonight, Boston hosts the Knicks with the series tied at 1-1.

The Wilt and Jerry show, also known as "The High and the Mighty," drew rave reviews from the critics. Golden State's Abdul-Rahman, who had 20 points, praised Chamberlain. "The older he gets, the tougher he gets," said Rahman. "He can play til he's 50 if he wants to."

But only a teammate can fully appreciate the 7-1 center, who ended the night with 30 rebounds, and both Bill Bridges and Keith Erickson echoed similar sentiments. "With Wilt as good as he is defensively," they said, "He just makes it easier on everybody else."

As devastaing as Chamberlain was defensively, West was offensively as he scored 36 points. After the game, West revealed some information which should help the gamblers. "When we have our morning shootarounds, you can almost tell how you're going to play or at least how you're going to shoot at night. Tuesday morning, I couldn't do anything right, but this morning I felt much better and I knew I would have a better game tonight."

At Indianapolis, Mel Daniels scored 23 points and Don Freeman added 21 to pace the Indiana' victory. Also instrumental was the Pacers' superiority off the boards where they held a 65-49 edge. Willie Wise kept Utah in the game accounting for 34 points.

The average Navy Pilot isn't.

No man who has mastered the flying skills it takes to fly and land on a ship at sea can be called an average pilot. And the sense of accomplishment and satisfaction that he enjoys are also above average. Which is only right. For the man who would go places as a Naval Aviator must pass through the most challenging and demanding training program to be found anywhere.

From Aviation Officer Candidate School through Flight Training to the day his golden Navy Wings are awarded, he is tested; driven; pushed and tested again. And for good reason. The Navy has learned that without the will to succeed, no man can be successful.

The benefits aren't average either. A Naval Aviator can earn up to $10,000 upon completion of flight school. The pay after three years is up to $14,500. There is also a program for obtaining a masters degree at no cost. The Navy gives its Aviators the best.

Which brings us to you. Do you have what it takes to fly Navy? Send in this coupon and find out. Or talk with your local Navy recruiter.

Toro reveals the 7 secrets of a well-engineered mower

1. It must be designed for safety. Toro pioneered the use of rear toe guards and side stone deflectors. Toro tests incessantly for safety.

2. It must be durable. Toro® mowers are engineered for simplicity. The fewer moving parts, the less there is to go wrong.

3. It must start reliably. Toro's "Key-Lectric"® models start with a key. Pull-start models start with minimum effort.

4. It must handle easily. Toro mowers are lightweight. Self-propelled models have front-wheel drive, which makes turning effortless.

5. Its blade must cut clean. Toro's blade has a "sail" that whips grass upright for a clean cut. At its center is an anti-scalping cup to help prevent gouging.

6. It mustn't clog on clippings. Toro's "Wind-Tunnel"® housing creates a powerful vacuum suction to whisk away clippings. With the bag, you don't have to rake.

7. It must be easy to maintain. A Toro mower is engineered for easy home maintenance. Oil drains easily, blade sharpens with a file.

Toro parts and workmanship are guaranteed for a year, transportation costs excluded.

Tigers Sweep Bosox Series

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fenway Park is the home of the Boston Red Sox—and a home away from home for the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers feel very comfortable there, says Bill Freehan.

"In this ballpark, you just know you'll get your share of hits," the Tiger catcher said after his team got more than its share with 16 in an 11-7 victory over the Red Sox Thursday.

The triumph gave the Tigers a sweep of their four-game series, a rarity in Fenway where the Red Sox usually are extremely tough. The lusty hitting gave the Tigers 56 hits for the series and raised their team batting average from .165 to .239.

"I've seen some wild games, but I can't remember a series with so many runs and so many hits," said Freehan. "This is an exciting ballpark for the fans. Let's hope we've got ourselves into a groove going into Baltimore. Maybe we should go to Baltimore and bring the Orioles back to play in Fenway."

In other American League games, the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Cleveland Indians 10-7, the New York Yankees topped the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 and the Kansas City Royals defeated the Oakland A's 16-8.

In the National League, the New York Mets beat the Chicago Cubs 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing 7-0; the Montreal Expos topped the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5 and the Pittsburgh-St. Louis game was postponed by rain.

Freehan collected four hits along with Aurelio Rodriguez and Mickey Stanley belted a three-run homer in Detroit's wild victory. The defeat was the fifth straight for the Red Sox, who opened the season by winning their first four games.

"We certainly didn't look like an Over-The-Hill Gang, did we?" said Detroit Manager Billy Martin, whose team has been criticized by some for its veteran-studded roster.

George Scott hit two home runs and Darrell Porter slammed one to lead Milwaukee past Cleveland. The Brewers twice came from behind, locking up the game with a three-run rally in the eighth inning that broke a 7-all tie.

Bobby Murcer's three-run homer on the first pitch from reliever Orlando Pena capped a six-run New York outburst in the second inning that carried the Yankees past Baltimore.

ACC Tourney Down To Four

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference baseball championship tournament is down to four teams--Clemson and Wake Forest, who played today, and North Carolina State and Virginia, who play tonight.

Duke, Maryland and North Carolina were eliminated in first-round games Thursday. These opening games were at neutral sites, with a single loss eliminating a team.

The rest of the tournament will be double elimination at Chapel Hill. The winner will emerge Sunday and will go on to the NCAA District 3 tournament next month at Starkville, Miss. The winner at Starkville will enter the College World Series.

Each team played seven league games in the regular season. Clemson was the leader with a 10-2 record against other ACC teams, and drew a bye in the first round of the tournament.

Wake Forest scored seven runs in the eighth inning and eliminated North Carolina 10-6 Thursday in a game played at Raleigh. The Deacons sent 13 men to the plate during the rally, which produced four hits, four walks, and two North Carolina errors. Wake Forest now is 6-7 in league play, and North Carolina ended its season at 5-8.

Virginia defeated Maryland 7-1 on Steve Brindle's three-hit pitching at Durham. Virginia rapped out 13 hits against starter Bob Madden, who lasted to the fifth inning and was charged with the loss, and against three other pitchers. Brindle has won three and lost none this season.

Virginia is 8-5 in the league and Maryland 4-9.

Virginia won the title last year, when the league determined its champion in regular-season competition. This is the first time the champion is determined by a tournament.

Freshman lefthander Tom Hayes pitched a two-hitter as North Carolina State eliminated Duke 9-1 at Chapel Hill. His mates supported him with 13 hits off three pitchers, including three hits apiece by Hayes himself and Ron Evans. In addition, first baseman Dan Zagorski batted in three runs with a 400-foot homer and a single.

Hayes yielded a leadoff single to Rick Austin,and did not allow another hit until a single in the ninth inning.

N.C. State is 10-3 and Duke ended at 2-11.

There will be games Saturday at 12:30, 3 and 7:30 p.m. The two survivors will meet for the title at 2 p.m. Sunday, with a seventh game, if needed, to follow after a 20-minute break.

In one stretch of 18 at bats last season, California Angel pitching star Nolan Ryan left 22 of 25 runners on second and third base.

Six-RoomHouse To Be Burned

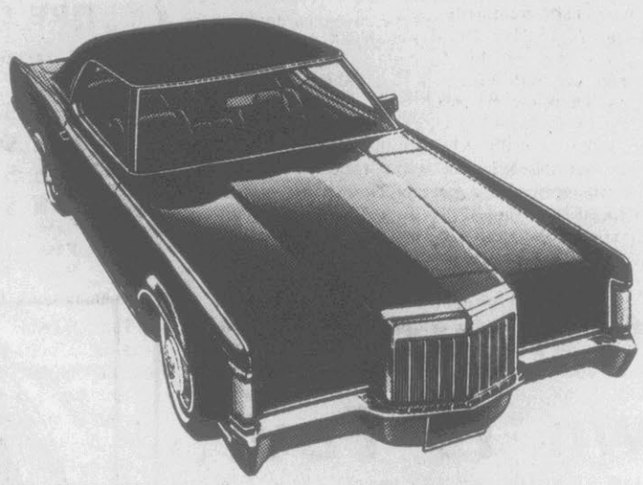
Greenville firemen and instructors from the North Carolina Department of Insurance's Fire and Rescue Service Training Division will burn a six-room house here Saturday afternoon.

Fire Department officers, who urged local residents not to congregate at the fire scene, said the house—damaged by a fire about a year ago—is located near the city limits on Dickinson Avenue.

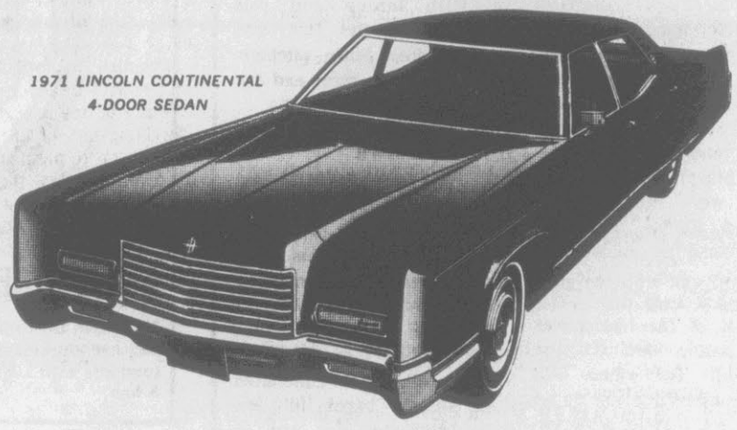
The fire—to train recruit firemen recently hired by the Greenville department and to provide training slides for both the local department and the Department of Insurance insturctors—will begin about 1 p.m. and last for two to three hours.

Perhaps your next new car shouldn't be a new car at all.

It may make more sense for you to spend $5000 for a previously owned Continental than for an average new car!



1970 CONTINENTAL MARK III



1971 LINCOLN CONTINENTAL 4-DOOR SEDAN

If you're going to spend the kind of money that can put you in an immaculate, fully equipped, late-model Continental . . . don't settle for less. Move up to the prestige, luxury and pride of ownership that is uniquely Continental.

There's no better time than now. Unprecedented sales of 1973 Continentals have resulted in an outstanding selection of previously owned models. You'll be impressed with the cars and the relative cost of moving up.

However you look at it, a nearly new classic Continental makes good sense. Think it over, then talk it over with the dealer nearest you . . . before you buy a lesser car.

The typical previously owned Continental has a full range of luxury and convenience features. Air conditioning, full power and leather-with-vinyl upholstery are common.

A Review
Good Moments In 'Greatest Athlete'

If any of the East Carolina University coaches start making plans for a trek to Africa, you'll know the reason why.

They've been to see the new Walt Disney film, "The World's Greatest Athlete," one of the better Disney efforts of late.

The story concerns Nanu, a jungle boy, the son of missionaries, who has been raised by natives, mainly a witch doctor with an Oxford accent. An American coach, suffering from a lack of wins, comes to Africa to forget his troubles and spots the jungle lad, who is a super athlete in all ways.

Using trickery to bring him back to America, he turns him into a one-man hurricane for the little school, eventually sendinh him to the NCAA track championships as the school's whole team. Naturally, he wins every event, but not without trouble.

He falls for his girl tutor, and her ex, naturally, wants to get even, bringing the witch doctor to America to use his voodoo to return his godson to Africa after making him a failure.

There are laughs a plenty mostly from the antics of Tim Conway, who plays the bungling assistant coach; a hammy tiger named Harry, a pet of Nanu's (his African habitant it explained in the movie); and a series of dialogue (and the lack of it) between Howard Cosell and Joe Kapp at the NCAA track meet.

While some of the plot is paper thin, there are also many good moments to the film, which can be enjoyed by both the young and old. It is now playing at the Plaza Cinema.—Woody Peele

That takeout doubles of one in a suit should occasionally be left in for profit is an idea that the average player is quick to grasp. In fact, it may be that he is somewhat too quick to grasp it, for there is a tendency on the part of some to leave in the double merely because there appears to be no convenient takeout. When your partner makes a takeout double of one in a suit, it is depriving him of his franchise for you to pass and let the opponents play the one contract doubled just because you happen to be frightened.

A distinction is to be noted between doubles of one of a suit and doubles of one no trump. Normally severe damage will not be inflicted on the suit bidder at this low level. But at no trump, where the bidder is subject to attack from all directions, heavy penalties can be inflicted even at the one level.

The arithmetic of the situation is relatively simple. The player who makes an immediate double of one no trump should have a hand presumably as good as the opener bidder—that is to say about 16 points. If doubler's partner has six, almost the entire pack is accounted for and dummy will be virtually trickless. Declarer will find playing the hand a highly doubtful pleasure.

Recorded here is one of the bloodiest examples that has come to our attention this season. South's one no trump opening, based on a point count of 18, was surely above reproach. West, whose holding was worth 17 points, had a sound double. East, having five points, decided to leave the double in and West made the inspired opening lead of the queen of clubs.

Declarer won with the king and, hoping to do something with his diamond holding, played the ace and a small diamond. West won with the jack and continued with the jack of clubs. Declarer held off until the third round and cleared the diamonds on which East discarded the seven of hearts.

West switched to a small heart, East put up the ace and proceeded to cash out two club tricks as West disposed of the six and ten of hearts. A switch to the jack of spades gave the balance to the defense. In all—they scored three spades, two hearts, two diamonds and three clubs to record an 1,100 point set on the deal.
