By HOWARD ANGIONE
Associated Press Writer
The third Associated Press survey of mail service since 1971 shows a delivery pattern that has improved on the average but is prone to worsening delays that affect one letter in six.

The survey method was the same one used for service tests in the winter of 1971 and spring of 1972 — a total of 792 letters were mailed from six cities over five days.

Local deliveries were typical of findings that showed improvement amid worse lapses. Eight times out of 10, the U.S. Postal Service met its goal of providing next-day service on local mailings, a target that was missed almost half the time in the 1971 and 1972 surveys.

But while the 1972 survey singled out as the worst examples of local service one letter that was in the mail 67 hours and two that were in the mail 63 hours, the 1973 survey recorded one that languished in a local postal system for 93 hours, two bottled up for 71 hours, and two held up for 65 hours.

Similarly, the 1973 survey showed improvement in the average time for intercity deliveries, but found that weekend service was worse than in 1972. The 1972 survey concluded that Friday was the worst day to mail letters, noting that in a dozen cases delivery was delayed until Tuesday.

In the 1973 survey, 30 letters mailed on Friday weren't delivered until Tuesday, and nine others didn't reach their destinations until Wednesday. Air mail had been used for 14 of the Tuesday arrivals and four of the Wednesday arrivals. In all, 15 per cent of the letters mailed Friday didn't reach their destinations until Tuesday or Wednesday.

To judge over-all performance this year, the AP used a grade system that gave the Postal Service an A for next-day delivery on local and intercity letters; a B for every first-class intercity letter delivered within two days, and for every air mail letter delivered within 1½ days; a C for every first-class letter that took three days, and for every air mail letter that took two days; and a failing F grade for every local letter not delivered the next day, every air mail letter that took more than two days, and every first-class intercity letter that took more than three days.

On this scale, the Postal Service received an A grade 28 per cent of the time, a B 29 per cent, a C 27 per cent, and an F 16 per cent — an F for roughly one letter in six.

Few routes consistently received the same grade, however, and there were frequent swings from A to F over the survey period.

Figures on the average delivery time for intercity first-class mail provided another example of improvement amid inconsistencies that make it difficult to depend on how mail will be handled.

In the 1971 survey, the average delivery time for intercity first-class mail was 2.6 days. In 1973, the comparable figure was 2.4 days, but the average smoothed over one letter that spent a week in the postal system, two that didn't reach their destinations until almost six days after they were mailed, and five that were hung up five days.

The over-all air mail record provided another illustration of improvement while a hard core of problems remained or grew worse.

In the latest survey, 62 per cent of the air mail letters arrived ahead of their first-class counterparts, compared with 46 per cent in 1972 and 50 per cent in 1971. But in all three surveys, 9 per cent of the air mail letters spent more time in the mail than their first-class companions.

In 1971, the average delivery time for air mail was 2.1 days. In 1973, the average was 1.8 days, but two of the 360 air mail letters spent six days hung up in the postal system and five others were not delivered until five days after they were mailed.

Water, Water Everywhere

BRIDGE TO NOWHERE—The Mississippi River bridge at West Quincy, Mo., north of Hannibal, leads into a sea of flooded farmlands and residential areas. The bridge, carrying U.S. 24 between Illinois and Missouri, is one of eight bridges linking the two states which have been closed by floodwaters. Sightseers on foot and emergency vehicles line the closed bridge. (AP Wirephoto)

Flooding Involves 7 States

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer
Floodwaters have inundated 10.4 million acres of land in seven states, officials say. They estimate damage to farm crops and businesses at $193 million.

The rain-swollen Missouri punched holes Wednesday in 92 Central Missouri levees, including one near St. Louis that forced the evacuation of 600 mobile home residents at Boshetown, Mo.

Thousands of families from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes have been affected by the floods which have forced many to abandon their homes or lose their livelihoods.

The flood claimed two more victims Wednesday, raising the death toll to at least 10.

The body of George Thad Watts was found in St. Charles County, Mo., and authorities say he apparently drowned as he waded through flood waters to reach his trailer home.

In Illinois, Larry Wolfe, 23, of Havana drowned as he was bringing a boat filled with sandbags to shore up the Illinois River levee.

Maj. Gen. Charles Noble, who tallied the damage for the Mississippi River Commission at Vicksburg, Miss., said Louisiana and Arkansas had the most acreage under water — a combined total of 6.8 million acres.

Drenching rains, tornadoes, and hail pounded Arkansas Wednesday night and more than 200 persons fled their homes in North Little Rock where Mayor Robert L. Rosamond said the damage would exceed $1 million.

In Baton Rouge, La., the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation estimated flooding will cost state farmers more than $69 million if conditions persist. Almost 300,000 acres of farmland are flooded in that Delta state, threatening crops of soybeans and sugarcane.

The Louisiana Conservation Department said the petroleum industry is losing $300,000 a day because 600 oil wells and 140 gas wells are inundated. Production of 45,000 barrels of oil a day and 300 million cubic feet of gas a day has been stopped.

But because of levee breaks in Central Missouri, the National Weather Service said the pressure was relieved in the Delta area and record crests predicted earlier would be delayed 36 to 48 hours.

At St. Louis a crest of 43.5 feet or 13.5 feet above flood stage was expected Saturday, the highest in 200 years of recorded history. Damage was expected to be light because the city is protected by a 52-foot wall.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., plan to fly over flooded areas in Tennessee today to assess damage caused by weeks of heavy rain.

Stacked Results Of 'Poll'

By JAMES E. WALTERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Workers for President Nixon's re-election committee mailed in more than a third of the favorable responses recorded in a local television poll last year of reaction to the mining of North Vietnamese waters, a campaign official said today.

DeVan L. Shumway, spokesman for the Committee for the Re-election of the President, said he didn't regard it as rigging the poll because "we felt the Democrats would do the same thing."

"That type of voluntary poll is the most stackable thing," he said. "When you're involved in an election, you do what you can. We assumed the other side would do the same thing."

The final result of the poll, as announced by Metromedia station WTTG, was 5,157 agreeing with Nixon's decision to mine Haiphong harbor and 1,158 disagreeing. When WTTG reported the results May 15, it said that it had received several thousand postcards that were of a suspicious nature because they apparently had been typed on the same typewriters. Shumway said "about 2,000 ballots and responses" were mailed by committee workers.

In other Watergate developments:

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told a news conference, "I want to make it very clear that I have full confidence in the integrity of President Nixon and in his determination and ability to resolve the Watergate matter to the full satisfaction of the American people."

There have been published reports quoting unnamed associates and friends of Agnew as saying he was upset over the break-in and bugging at the Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate and felt the President had done too little to uncover the facts.

"Let me emphasize that I do not speak through such unidentified sources," Agnew said. He read a prepared statement, then declined to answer questions.

Claim Bombing Indiscriminate

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish government charged the United States today with indiscriminate bombing in Cambodia.

Foreign Minister Krister Wickman told Parliament the government cannot approve a big power involving itself in a civil war in a small country. He added that the U.S. bombing in Cambodia was particularly objectionable because it hits the civilian population indiscriminately.

Barry Bugged

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says he was the victim of political bugging during his unsuccessful bid for the presidency in 1964.

"I was bugged by the other side and paid no attention to it," the Arizona Republican told a group of Phoenix Heard Museum supporters Wednesday. "They had even put television monitors across the elevator in my apartment building." Goldwater said, "A bachelor across the hall caught on and said, 'Hey, I bring chicks up here and I don't want to get caught.' So I didn't say anything; I just took my clippers and dismantled the thing."

On the current controversy over the Republican break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex, Goldwater said, "I believe the question will be cleared up and that high-ranking Democrats will be involved and that both parties will be glad when it's over."

INDISCRIMINATE PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—More than 20 insurgent rockets hit the capital city's nearby airport and an adjoining shantytown crowded with refugees early today, killing 19 persons and wounding 62.

Further Responsibility Is Placed On Developers

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Several changes in Greenville's Subdivision Ordinance adopted by the members of The Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission Wednesday night place additional responsibility on the part of developers to provide more detailed information.

The changes, prepared by City Engineer Charles A. Holliday, were previously recommended by the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission with the intent to tighten up requirements on curb and gutter, sewer systems, installation of utilities and other points covered in sub-division ordinance regulations applicable to preparation of subdivision plats.

One of the changes is a result of a recent development — a requirement that the County Health Department must approve sewer facilities on any subdivision not served by an approved public sanitary sewer system.

With the change, developers must now present plats of the area to the health department and then furnish the Planning and Zoning Commission information and decisions reached by the health department.

Another planning area more precisely pinpointed by the changes includes a requirement that the Greenville Utilities Commission shall approve all preliminary plats for utility installations and easements before presentation to Planning and Zoning Commission. Also to be furnished is an indication of installation of water mains to be connected to an approved public water supply systems and an indication of where underground electric facilities and underground telephone service will be provided.

On preliminary plats, delineations and grades of curb and gutter as related to an adequate storm drainage system must now be made. The changes further require all elevations and bench marks be referenced to Coast and Geodetic Survey Datum if within (Continued on page 12)

Seminar Emphasis Is On Teacher Evaluation

"Our primary concern is helping to improve the quality of school administration throughout the country," George B. Redfern, Associate Secretary of the American Association of School Administrators said in a brief interview this morning.

Redfern, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, had his ground-work in teaching and administration in Cincinnati, where he was an assistant superintendent of schools and later served with the Personnel Division of the Ohio State School System. He now lives in Arlington, Virginia, where the American Association of School Administrators has its headquarters.

In Greenville, Redfern noted the emphasis of his talks here is on teacher evaluation. "The seminar today," he said, "is on the evaluation of teaching performance. We're trying to help school systems perceive ways in which supervisors and principals can work together in designing and carrying out a good evaluation procedure."

"It's especially important in North Carolina at this time to shape up procedures," Redfern said, referring to the new teacher tenure act that will require more stringent and formal evaluations. "Procedures must be shaped up that are accurate and identify a teacher's real performance."

"This is long overdue, here and elsewhere," he continued. "The traditional approach using a checklist type of thing often leads to frustration. At any time (Continued on page 12)

Three Small Boys Found Guilty Of Extortion

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Three third grade youngsters charged with extorting nearly $1,000 from two classmates were adjudged delinquents by a juvenile court Wednesday, a finding comparable to being convicted in an adult court.

Two of the boys, aged 9 and 11, were bound over to the North Carolina Board of Juvenile Corrections and will be placed in a detention center. It will be up to the board to decide how long they will remain. A court spokesman said the standard time is eight months.

The third boy, 10, was put on probation for a maximum of two years.

The attorney for the 9-year-old filed notice of appeal.

Judge Abner Alexander handed down the ruling of delinquency after hearing three hours of testimony. The proceeding was closed to newsmen but sources present gave an account later.

The 9-year-old boy began crying when the ruling was explained to him and his mother collapsed in a chair and began screaming.

"Don't take my boy away from me. Oh, Lord, please don't take my boy away from me," she cried.

The other two boys remained calm but stood close to their parents.

Two other third graders, each 9 years old, testified that early in the school year at a Forsyth County school they were told they would be beaten or killed if they did not pay money to the three accused boys.

They began making nickel and dime payments but the money demands grew greater until on at least one occasion two $50 bills and a $10 bill changed hands, according to testimony.

The two younger boys of the three accused said the 11-year-old was the leader. The two said they did what the other boy told them to do.

The two youngsters who were paying off said no harm came to them as long as they had money, but when they did not, they were beaten.

In explaining how they got the money, one said he would get out of bed about 3 a.m., sneak into his father's room and take the money from his wallet.

The other boy said he would wait until his father was in the shower and then he, too, would take money from his father's wallet.

The boy who was put on probation will be allowed to return to school, but not be the one he had been attending.

MRS. HERSCHEL HORTON LEWIS

She Gets Picture, Keeps Her Mouth Shut

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine loves to sew, and she has made some lovely things. She made a beautiful dress and bonnet for my daughter's fourth birthday, so I took the child to a photography studio and had a picture taken of her in that outfit. Then I bought a frame for it and presented it to my neighbor to show my appreciation.

She seemed pleased and placed the picture on her piano. A few months later I noticed that she had placed a picture of her dog in that frame, and my daughter's picture was nowhere to be seen. I finally told her that as long as she wasn't displaying my daughter's picture, I'd like to have it back. She said, "Certainly." Then she got my daughter's picture out of a drawer and handed it to me.

I said: "How about the frame?" She replied: "Oh, you can buy another one for 75 cents."

Abby, I was so hurt. That frame cost me $1.50. I didn't want to start an argument with her so I just kept my mouth shut.

What would you have done? HURT

DEAR HURT: I'd have kept my mouth shut.

DEAR ABBY: A couple, merely acquaintances of a few years, have dropped in to see us on three different occasions. They appear to be like other people, except for the husband.

He asks to take a bath the minute they step inside the door. The first time we thought nothing of it because they were on their way home from a day's trip in their car, even though their home is only 5 miles from ours.

My wife and I have never been in their home but we understand it has all the conveniences of ours, including a tub and shower.

On two other occasions when they had come directly from their home, he again asked to take a bath. After the third bath I concluded that he must be some kind of a nut. Needless to say we have never returned their visits and probably never will.

What do you suppose makes our ordinary bathing facilities so fascinating that the husband cannot wait to use his own? PERPLEXED IN SANTA ANA

DEAR PERPLEXED: I don't know, but I surely would have asked him after the second bath.

Lewis-Sutton Vows Exchanged

The marriage of Miss Sandra Kaye Sutton and Herschel Horton Lewis was solemnized Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the Rose Hill Free Will Baptist Church. The Rev. N. D. Beaman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sutton of Rt. 2, Ayden, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dossie Lewis of Asheboro.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Delano Wilson, pianist.

The couple entered the church together. The bride wore a gown of peau de soie with a high neckline with an overlay of lace and pearls. The long full sleeves were trimmed in matching lace and the gown had a detachable chapel length train.

Her elbow length veil was attached to a matching headpiece. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University and had been employed as a teacher in the Charles W. McCrary Elementary School, Asheboro, for the past three years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is employed by the Peoples Savings and Loan as a certified public accountant.

For traveling, the bride changed into an ensemble of navy and white polyester knit with matching accessories. She wore the white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Asheboro.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column of a man and woman who seemed to be able to adjust to the fact that they have grown heavy together and are still happy. I identified with the woman, as I have been in the 200s since I was 16 years old. One thing, tho, I did not identify with was the closing statement: "Who would have us?"

I am sure there are many heavy women who firmly believe that they will never marry because they are fat. I was in the 200s when we married last year. I was lamenting the fact that I was being measured for a size 22½ wedding gown instead of a size 12 or 14. My precious husband-to-be took Big Me into his very trim arms and said: "The things about you I find most beautiful are the things that will never change. Weight can go up or down, but your love for other people, your kindness, your availability for those in need, your love for God and for me... these are beauty, and I find you most beautiful." Needless to say I cried a bucketful of tears for so understanding and loving a man.

May I offer a little advice for the overweight? Use every asset you have regardless of how heavy you are. Keep your hair well groomed, your face nicely made up, wear clothes that flatter you, and concentrate on good manners. Most of all, give of yourself to others in your community or in your church. Don't hibernate! Someone also may find you beauty.

Thank you Abby, for the opportunity to say what I have felt, and a special thank-you for the chance to praise my husband openly before the world.

Individual View Not Involved

Once again comes that perennial bill to require newspapers to sign editorials.

Sen. Herman Moore of Charlotte has introduced this one in the North Carolina Legislature to make it a misdemeanor, with a fine of $100-$500, to publish an unsigned editorial.

So once again it has to be explained that there are many type pieces which are carried in newspapers. First, of course, there is the news article which, if it is of sufficient importance, merits the byline of the reporter. There are analytical and interpretive articles, usually prepared by staff writers who are knowledgeable in a given field, and also are bylined.

Finally there is the editorial. Most newspapers decided many years ago that editorials represented a policy statement of the newspaper. As such they usually embrace the thinking of a number of people, even though obviously the final product has to be written by one person.

Most journalists in the print field feel that editorials have their ultimate impact if published as the policy of the paper, rather than being represented as the opinions of one person, which signing of them would do.

Editorial writers are just as much prima donnas as politicians, lawyers and thespians and we do not know of any editorial writers who would not at times like to get credit for some of his work which he considers exceptionally effective. Ironically the editorials which the writers would most like to sign are the very ones that pique the politicians to the point where signed editorial bills are introduced.

Nevertheless we feel—and most editors in the newspaper field believe—that the unsigned editorial representing the policy of the newspaper is most effective.

We hope that this explains to some extent why editorials are not signed. Everyone may not agree with the reasoning. At the same time we hope it is clear that this should be a decision for editors of individual newspapers to make if the First Amendment guarantee of Freedom of the Press is to mean anything.

Convictions Of Rep. Roberson

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—Beauty in what God gives and in what man creates are assets which an enlightened society will seek to protect.

To fail to do so, said Rep. William R. Roberson Jr. of Beaufort, "is simply not being fair to future generations."

Nature and art are elements in the human environment, he said, and both are issues calling for constructive action by the North Carolina legislature.

On the first score, said Roberson, there is an urgent need to enact legislation which will bring long-range planning and effective zoning controls to bear on economic development in order to preserve scenic values and ecological resources.

On the second, he added, the state ought to continue its strong support for an art museum of first rank as a medium for the cultural and educational enrichment of all its citizens.

Roberson gets involved in both causes. A curious mix among Tar Heel legislators, he is a soft drink and broadcasting executive who combines the avocations of politics and art.

He is an advocate of environmental protection measures even when his own business interests are affected. He is an art collector and a photographer whose work is often displayed in art shows.

Coastal Protection Urged
The coastal scenery that is frequently the subject of his photographs is a gift of nature, Roberson said. He grew up in the coastal region, and has a deep affection of its far reaches of land, water and sky.

The character of the coast can be preserved only as limits are accepted upon the use of its resources, Roberson said.

"It's something long overdue," he insisted. "What is ours to enjoy today in our magnificent coast and other areas of the state may be lost to those who come after us if we neglect to act."

Roberson is a sponsor of the coastal zone management act, the first in a series of far-reaching steps proposed to equip North Carolina to guide the course of future development. He served as a co-chairman for the legislative study group which participated in the four years' work which designed the act.

Storm Of Opposition

A storm of objections blew up last week at a public hearing on the bill. Ruefully, Roberson admitted he's heard pretty strong language in the protests from some of his constituents. "It's made me right unpopular with a lot of folks," he said. "I think some of those opposing it have not read the bill," he added. While it would put restrictions on the use of property he said, it represents a reasonable approach which involves local and state governments.

One of the hazards of development in the coastal zone is illustrated by the threat to water resources from septic tanks, Roberson said. Over the past 20 years, the number of septic tanks in the state has increased 300 per cent, according to the state board of health.

"Our flat land and black soil just won't take that kind of burden. It's terrible to think what could happen if there is not some kind of control," Roberson said. The time may be nearing, he added, when country and regional sewer systems will be required.

Museum Location Issue

In the realm of art, the current legislature is being asked to resolve a controversy over the location for a new museum, projected to cost some $25 million.

The commission planning the structure selected a suburban site. Bills have been introduced which would require that it be placed in the present downtown state government complex.

While he has not been an activist on the issue, Roberson said he would favor the downtown location if ample space for expansion is provided.

As a businessman and lawmaker, he feels art is a valid expenditure of state funds. "I sure do," he said. "We ought to fulfill our commitment to have a really first-class museum."

His collection represents primarily North Carolina artists. He got into art when the interior decorator for his Washington television studio recommended paintings, and brought in some by New Orleans artists.

"I liked them," Roberson recalled. "I thought there must be artists here in the state doing work that deserved recognition, and I began to look for them."

The result is a collection which enhances the studio and often has been shown in other cities. Plans for a new studio building, Roberson said, will include a special hall for the display of the growing collection.

Ervin Enjoying New Spotlight

By JOHN KILGO

The people came early and packed the main auditorium at Davidson College. Shortly before 8:15 p.m., an elderly man with snow-white hair walked in and the crowd was immediately on its feet applauding.

Sen. Sam Ervin had arrived. The 76-year-old Ervin, by his own admission, could make two or three such college appearances each day if he had the time. Sen Sam is the hottest political item in the nation. He finds his picture of the cover of Time. TV interview shows seek him out, he make the 6 o'clock news every night, syndicated columnists consider him top material, and college kids love him.

I caught him on the Davidson College campus to see what this man was all about. Two years ago Sam Ervin didn't rate much attention with the young set. Liberals looked upon him as an aging politician who like to talk.

But then came Watergate and the impoundment of funds by the President—and suddenly, Sam Ervin is a hero where once he was barely tolerated. He talked to the Davidson audience about President Nixon's impoundment of funds. He was frequently interrupted by applause. He was having the time of his life. Anybody could tell that. "The stakes are high in this fight," Sen. Sam said. "It's whether the United States is going to keep the kind of government that the Constitution was ordained to establish; or whether we're going to government by the whim of the President."

The applause was loud and long. Sen. Ervin quoted Thomas Jefferson. Benjamin Franklin and several Supreme Court decisions. He jerks his head as he talks, punctuates with his hands, and when the crowd applauded him this night, Ervin stood there and his blue eyes sparkled with contentment. "The deputy attorney general came before my committee," the Senator said in that slow, colorful drawl. "I asked him where in the Constitution did it say the President had the right to impound funds. He said in Articles I and II. I said there's a lot of words there, which ones was he talking about. He said the ones that said the President has the right to faithfully execute the laws. I told him the word execute has two meanings. When the state executes a man for a crime, that's one meaning. And it's the meaning this President uses on laws passed by Congress."

The crowd applauded and laughed and Sen. Ervin just stood there with a half-smile creasing his face and his head cocked to one side.

Sen. Ervin talked for 45 minutes and then said he would answer some questions, but with this admonition: "I won't plead the 5th Amendment. . . but I might have to plead ignorance. A politician was making a speech and he said, 'Fellow citizens, I just asked myself a question,' when someone yelled from the rear of the hall: 'Well, you're certain to get a fool answer.'"

One student wanted to know why Sen. Ervin didn't let Martha Mitchell appear before his Watergate Committee to testify.

"I've had one other voluntary witness," Ervin said. "The man was a preacher. He called me and said the Lord had spoken to him and asked him to go to Sen. Ervin's committee and testify. I told him I could not allow that, because whatever conversation he had with the Lord would be hearsay."

The program lasted an hour and after it was over, the Senator was given a rousing ovation that lasted for at least two minutes.

After the speech, I asked Davidson freshman John Stealy, 19, of Wake Forest, how he felt about the man. Stealy said: "I don't agree with him about a lot of things, but I like what he's doing on Watergate and the impoundment of funds. And even though I don't agree with him all the time, he is a true gentleman and that accounts for a lot."

Said Pat Morgan, a 21-year-old junior from Laurel Hill: "I was peeved at him because of his stand on Women's Lib. I also don't like some of his racial stands. But I must say he has an honest rapport with his public and I think he's very effective and an admirable person. I like him."

Sen. Ervin went to a short reception and then left Davidson for other points.

Pliny the Elder, so we are told, once remarked that "no book was so bad but some good might be got out of it."

The same gentle maxim ordinarily applies to bills that reach the floor of the United States Senate.

Public Forum

Letters submitted for publication must be limited to 300 words, and signed.

To The Editor:

Most people accept the proposition that our schools should function primarily for the benefit of the upcoming generation. In order to realize this top priority, however, effective leadership and community participation are necessary. Especially at the present time we all need the opportunity to truly work together. Going through the transition towards new leadership in our school system creates an atmosphere of public sensitivity characterized by many valid concerns about today and hopes for the future.

There should be an avenue for the Greenville City School Board to hear and assess the opinions and recommendations of all citizens who want to be heard. Such a process in fact should be an indispensable part of the Board's decision-making function in selecting a new superintendent. Any effective group meeting which can serve this purpose is acceptable. However, the Greenville Citizen's Advisory Committee represents a duly appointed public forum where the voices of those who wish to be heard can be, either directly or through their neighborhood representatives.

Thomas E. Long, Ph.D.
Greenville

To The Editor:

Well, as Will Rogers used to say — "all I know is what I read in the papers." Seems as if there is some kind of a hassle going on in the City Schools regarding the firing, or just plain "letting out" of one Dr. Cleetwood, who has been holding forth as Superintendent of Greenville Schools for a number of years.

Why, I do not know. And I figure it's none of my business, but it seems that there are a number of people who are trying to make it theirs.

I am not acquainted with Dr. Cleetwood, wouldn't recognize him if we met on the street. Neither do I know the names of the present School Board members, but I am sure they are well-educated, highly regarded citizens of Greenville and Pitt County, or else they would not have been appointed or elected to the high position they now hold. I feel absolutely sure that any decision the Board makes regarding the affairs of the Schools is, or will be, done in the best interest of the Schools. Maybe if we had had such a Board about forty years ago, we'd be in much better position now.

Seems to me it's about time for some people to either "shut up and sit down," or "sit down and shut up," and let this Board do the job they were appointed to do.

But Sen. Gale McGee's S. 352, now the pending business before the Senate, may well constitute an exception to the rule. This is the Voter Registration Act, otherwise known as the Postcard Registration Bill. It is so bad that no good whatever can be got out of it.

The bill might better be entitled, "An Act to Waste the Time and Money of the People and to Undermine the Constitution of the United States. To be sure, the senator from Wyoming does not have these purposes in mind. His idea is to make it easier for eligible persons to register as voters, in the hope that, once registered, they will vote in greater numbers. The gentleman is full of good intentions and bad law.

It is arguable, indeed, that McGee's first premise is in error. Is there any valid reason why vast numbers of people should vote? More precisely, is there any evidence to prove a correlation between good government and mass voting? It seems exceedingly doubtful.

Utah and Montana, by way of example, traditionally have ranked high among the states in terms of voter turnout. Alabama and Louisiana traditionally have ranked low. Yet each of the states has sent some able and distinguished men to Congress; and each of them has sent men whose abilities were not quite so great and whose distinction was scarcely visible. There is nothing whatever, so far as I know, to prove that democracy is healthier, or government more virtuous, if 70 or 80 or 90 percent of the eligible persons register to vote.

This further threshold observation: The right to vote, like other rights, is non-compulsory in its exercise. Just as the right to speak embraces a right to remain silent, so the right to vote (Continued on page 5)

Double Talk Is A Skill

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Spring isn't halfway through yet, but summer is already fancy stepping on the horizon. This means it is time now to step up your conversational skill, because the hotter the weather the more people talk — since that is the only thing they have the energy left for.

HAL BOYLE

So if you wish to shine conversationally this summer, now is the time to practice up on your double talk. Double talk, you will remember, is the art of saying something nice while you are thinking just the opposite, and it is the sine qua non of polite society.

Here are a few typical examples. What the speaker actually said aloud is in quotes. It is followed in each case by what he was really thinking:

"Is it hot enough for you?" — Don't give me that pained look. I know it was a dumb question. I only asked it to see if you were alive.

"Well, you can't win 'em all." — But even a born loser like you ought to win at least one sometime.

"I have the oddest feeling that we have met somewhere before." — But it must have been in a previous existence. I couldn't be this bored twice in the same lifetime.

"You can rest assured that I will take everything you said under careful consideration." — What did you say? I wasn't listening.

"There's nothing like a day with you to keep me going." — Going crazy, I mean.

"What lovely, lovely flowers, Gerald. And how thoughtful of you to send daisies, my favorite flower. You know daisies are to me unforgettable symbols of simply bravery and courage." — This cheapskate wouldn't buy a girl a rose if she were on her deathbed.

"Of course, it's not really all that late, Henry. I'll be glad to pour you one more nightcap if you'd like to have it." — Now where did I put that bottle with the skull and crossbones on it?

"If you're willing to let bygones be bygones, so am I." — But first turn your back — so I'll have a place to bury this hatchet.

"What are you talking about when you say you hate to get (Continued on page 5)

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
April 26, 1933

An understanding on the wide range of world economic problems was announced today by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. The Roosevelt-MacDonald plan provides new commercial policies, the lessening of tariff restrictions, world suspension of credit through central banks to enable less wealthy nations to enter the trade revival and stabilization of international exchange and rehabilitation of silver.

The Big Four Garage advertised batteries for $5.40 and tires for $3.45-$5.08 this week only. (Continued on page 5)

White House Advisers 'Calm'

By JOHN CUNNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — If rising prices are getting you down, you might take inspiration from the indomitable fortitude with which White House advisers face head-on the economic storm.

By assuming such a posture, it is conceivable you might even conclude that the winds of inflation are mere zephyrs, and that all those markups at the store and those statistical indicators issued each month depict an unreal world.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz, for example, finds that if you exclude the 30 per cent annual rate of food price increases in March you will discover that price rises were really "quite moderate."

Viewing that same price report last Friday, Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, found it "contains the first encouraging signs on prices we have seen in the past two months."

If that is so, you are justified in wondering what signs guided Stein a month earlier when, in a speech, he remarked: "The rise in food prices is near its end."

Had he taken his cue from James McLane, Deputy Director of the Cost of Living Council, who issued at the same time a white paper, the thrust of which was that the high point for food prices might soon be reached?

A month before that, on Feb. 12, Stein advised Americans that while retail prices would continue to rise for a time, no big bulge in prices generally should result from the shift to less rigid controls.

That was midway in the first quarter of the year, and the first quarter also of the Phase 3 decontrols, a period in which consumer prices bulged at an 8.8 per cent annual rate, highest in 22 years.

Was this the "reasonable price stability" for which, Stein said on Jan. 23, conditions were improving? Or was it the "period of unparalleled economic progress" with full employment and price stability promised last Oct. 31?

It can be unnerving to check on White House price forecasts, for in retrospect they seem innocent, puerile, futilely optimistic.

The White House interpretations indicate, as they have for more than a year, that a turning point is coming. The surveys of consumer attitudes show they don't believe it.

Strength For Today

A FISTFUL OF DOLLARS

A leading journalist of the early twentieth century, William Allen White, gave to the city of Emporia, Kansas, a fifty-acre wooded plot just outside the city to be used in memory of his daughter who had died a few years before.

In making this gift Mr. White said: "This is the last kick in a fistful of dollars that I am getting rid of today. I have always tried to teach that there are three kicks in every dollar; one when you make it, the second when you have it, and the third when you give it away. And the biggest kick of all is the last one."

There are many people who never learn to get the third kick out of a dollar. Everyone can experience the first kick — the one that comes from making a dollar. A smaller group gets the second kick, which comes from thrift. But only a few know the real thrill which comes when one kisses a dollar good-bye and donates it to a worthy cause.

Hatchell Is Appointed Winterville Postmaster

WINTERVILLE—J.H. (Jack) Hatchell Jr. has been appointed postmaster of the Winterville Post Office, effective April 7. Hatchell was transferred from the Kinston Post Office to replace Mr. Gertrude Speir, who retired last year. He has been employed by the U.S. Postal Service since 1952, serving as letter carrier, distribution clerk, window clerk and foreman of mails.

A native of Pitt County, Hatchell graduated from Conentnea High School and attended King's Business College. He served in the U.S. Navy 1945-46 and in the U.S. Army from 1950 to 1952.

Office at which time Hatchell was presented a certificate of appointment by Jack F. Harmon, sectional center manager of Raleigh. Attending the ceremony were local town officials and postal employees.

Gloria Steinem Raps Coverage

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria Steinem, the feminist and editor, says women do not expect sympathy or empathy in news coverage, but she says, "We want accuracy." Speaking to the 87th annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association on Wednesday, Ms. Steinem criticized stories that described women by dress or physical attributes but did not treat men the same way.

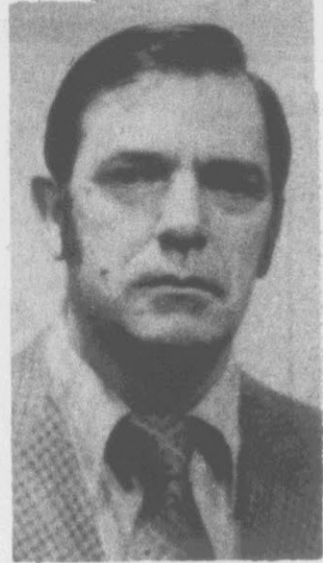

A Washington newspaper account of her testifying before a congressional committee on equal rights described her as "blonde, miniskirted Gloria Steinem, but did not report on the head of the committee as 'brunet, vested Birch Bayh,'" she said.

HAVE DOCTORS GOT A YOUTH POTION?

LONDON (AP) — Hospital doctors in Britain are getting younger. Those under 40 rose from 55 per cent in 1963 to nearly 60 per cent in 1971, Department of Health and Social Security statistics showed.

A member of the Richard Caswell Masonic Lodge 705 AF and AM, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hatchell is married to the former Marcia L. Daughety of Lenoir County. They have one daughter, Sharon. They are members of Spilman Memorial Baptist Church.

The Hatchells reside in Kinston but plan to move to Winterville in the future. A special ceremony was held Friday at the Winterville Post (Continued from page 4) and a fine reaction to your speech," someone remarked to the Senator. "Yes it was," Ervin said. "Yes it was. I had a good time."

Kilpatrick . . .

(Continued From Page 4) embraces a right not to vote. Now that poll taxes and literacy tests have been effectively abolished, nothing stands between the eligible adult and the ballot box but his own indifference. McGee's bill would do nothing to alter this human characteristic.

The senator proposes to create within the Bureau of the Census a new agency, the Federal Voter Registration Administration. The agency would be charge with mailing postcards, with return cards attached, to every postal address in the country. The cards would be mailed no earlier than 45 days and no later than 30 days prior to the close of registration for a "federal" election—that is, an election to name members of Congress or presidential electors. The cards would be processed by local registrars. McGee supposes this costly and clumsy system would produce millions of new voters.

The bill is bad on its merits, and bad in principle, too.

No one, least of all the senator from Wyoming, has any realistic idea of what the scheme would cost. Two years ago, when similar proposals were under consideration, the start-up costs were estimated all the way from $191 million to $527 million and the annual costs between $26 million and $134 million.

Neither does anyone have any clear idea of how the system would work. The Census Bureau opposes it. So does the Postal Service. So does the Department of Justice, which presumably would have some responsibility—still unclear—for prosecuting the massive fraud that could be expected. Sen James B. Allen of Alabama, chief opponent of McGee's bill, has raised serious questions of mechanics that the proponents have been unable to answer.

These considerations to one side, the bill would do grave violence to constitutional principles as old as the nation itself. The system would provide one more pernicious assault upon responsibilities plainly vested in the states. The Senator would use a junk mail device for junking the Constitution. Seventeen months ago the Senate killed a quite similar proposal, on the mature conclusion that the scheme was unworkable and wrong. It still is.

'Best Wedding' Son Tay Raiders To To Dean Martin Meet POWS They Attempted To Save

JUST MARRIED—Actor Dean Martin and his new bride Catherine Mae Hawn, pose for pictures at a reception shortly after they were wed. (AP Wirephoto)

By CAMPBELL GARDETT Associated Press Writer BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — "Best wedding I've ever been to," quipped singer Dean Martin after he took a 25-year-old model as his third wife.

And the straight man of the old Martin and Lewis comedy team said he had this instruction for the bartenders at the sumptuous reception following his marriage to Catherine Mae Hawn: "No glass should get lower than half empty."

Singer Frank Sinatra was the best man and Miss Hawn's 6-year-old daughter, Sasha, was the flower girl for the wedding Wednesday. Martin, 55, is 30 years older than his bride.

Martin's second marriage, to former model Jeanne Riegger, ended in divorce last November after 23 years with a settlement estimated at $6.5 million. Miss Hawn has been married once before.

About 85 guests were invited to the wedding ceremony at Martin's home in Bel-Air and more showed up at a reception at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

The living room of Martin's home had been cleared, then filled with flowers and church pews. The pews had been borrowed from two movie studios.

The flower arrangements included 200 dozen lilies of the valley, 200 dozen white lilacs and 92 dozen white tulips, all flown in from Paris.

The bride wore a French chiffon satin gown in peach-champagne with high-draped neck and a long train.

During the reception, 22 cages of doves were released. Guests sipped French champagne and nibbled at goodies which included caviar from Iran. "It's not expensive when you're in love!" Martin told newsmen.

Nab Suspect For Burglary

A 24-year-old Route 6, Greenville, man was arrested yesterday by Greenville police on charges of first degree burglary and assault with intent to commit rape in connection with a Monday night incident on Summit Street.

Chief Glenn Cannon identified the man charged as Wilmer Alligood Warren of Forbes Trailer Park. He was taken into custody late yesterday afternoon and placed in the Pitt County Jail without privilege of bond on the burglary charge and under $5,000 bond in the assault charge.

According to Cannon, Warren was jailed in connection with a Monday night incident on Summit Street in which a 20-year-old woman told police a man forced his way into her home through her bedroom window; attempted unsuccessfully to rape her; then before leaving, told her to call the police, that he wanted to get caught.

Investigation of the case is continuing, according to Cannon.

Free Concert In Washington New Talks On Fishing Dispute

WASHINGTON, N.C.—A free concert of music is being sponsored by the City of Washington for Sunday.

From 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. Sunday, at Kugler Field, "The Bridge," a rock group of two girls and four boys, as well as other local rock groups, will be taking part in the city's "Jesus Rock Festival."

In the event of rain, the festival will be held at the Washington High School instead of on Kugler Field.

The public is invited to attend, and no admission is being charged.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — The Foreign Ministry announced today new talks with Britain about the worsening fisheries dispute will start here next Thursday and be concluded in two days.

In London, the British government said its delegation would be headed by Lady Tweedsmuir, a Foreign Office minister of state, and Anthony Stodart, minister of state in the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Americans who were imprisoned at Son Tay will be united here this weekend with the U.S. commandos who dropped from the sky at night over North Vietnam 2½ years ago in a futile attempt to rescue them. Nearly all of the more than 200 invited guests will be here for a two-day party, but the Texas billionaire who is picking up the tab will be host in absentia, an aide said. Tom Meurer, who is coordinating the reunion for computer magnate H. Ross Perot, said Wednesday 59 of the 66 Son Tay prisoners had accepted invitations and 74 of the 85 raiders promised to be on hand. More replies are expected, as some guests will come from military posts outside the country. Perot is paying for airplane tickets, hotel accommodations for the men and their wives and other expenses at a cost Meurer said could be "between $100,000 and $200,000."

But Perot doesn't plan to attend because "he wants the POWs and the raiders to have the publicity," Meurer said.

The daring helicopter raid Nov. 21, 1970, on Son Tay prison camp, 25 miles from Hanoi, came too late — the American prisoners had been moved four months earlier.

But retired Army Col. Arthur B. "Bull" Simons, who led the raid and who will participate in the reunion here, said, "If the chance was one in 10 of getting the men out, it was worth it. It was something every one of those men wanted to do very badly."

Navy Cmdr. Render Crayton, senior commander at Son Tay after he was shot down in February 1966, said the commando raid "gave everybody a tremendous morale boost" when they learned about it from one of the raiders who was captured.

Crayton said the POWs' desire to meet the would-be rescuers was something "we talked about a lot."

The festivities begin at noon Friday with a ticker tape parade in the city's financial district, followed by a luncheon at which John Wayne, star of the movie, "The Green Berets" will speak.

For dinner entertainment Friday night, comedian Red Skelton, actor Clint Eastwood and the Andrews Sisters singing trio will perform, Meurer said. More entertainment will come at midnight Friday with a show featuring the singing group The Supremes.

Saturday is set aside for visiting and sightseeing, including a two-hour sunset cruise on San Francisco Bay.

Enjoys His Job Despite Biting

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Patrolman James Howard says he still loves his job — despite being bitten by a person for the third time in a year.

"I don't know why this happens to me...maybe I just taste good," Howard, 25, said Wednesday, a day after he was bitten by a woman. He didn't need another tetanus shot though. His last one, given by a suspect bit him in the two months ago, "was still good." That came after a bur-

Miss Gardner Has Role In May Day

RALEIGH — Miss Adrienne Gardner of Fountain will participate in May Day festivities at Peace College here Friday.

Miss Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Gardner, is a freshman and will be an attendant at the ceremonies marking the coronation of the queen and the presentation of her court.

Miss Susan Cooper of Charlotte is the queen and Miss Peggy Farr of Charlotte is maid of honor. Sophomore attendants will be Miss Lee Armstrong of Burlington, Miss Betty Knowles of Greensboro, Miss Susanne Peacock of Charlotte, and Miss Vicki Pridden of Wilmington.

Freshmen members of the court, in addition to Miss Gardner, are Miss Jennifer Basto of Winston-Salem, Miss Kim Gentil of Richmond, Va., and Miss Karen Ritchie of Hickory.

ADRIANNE GARDNER

Wife Suing Freed POW

LENOIR, N. C. (AP) — Navy Cmdr. James M. Hickerson, 39, a prisoner of war for six years, says his wife has filed for divorce.

Hickerson, who now lives in Lemoore, Calif., told newsmen in his hometown of Lenoir Wednesday that upon his return she asked for a divorce and, "It is being done amiably. I full understand everything. It is just one of those things that happens and it is unfortunate."

He and the former Shirley Ann McNeill, a native of Arkansas, were married in 1958 in Memphis, Tenn. They have no children.

She did not accompany him to Lenoir, where his mother and other relatives live.

Hickerson was flying a jet from the carrier Ranger when he was shot down. He is a Navy veteran of 17 years and a graduate of Georgia Tech.

He told more than 1,000 persons at a welcome home ceremony in Lenoir. "The real heroes are not the returned prisoners of war, but the American people who supported the president in his negotiations that ended the war."

The gestation period of a camel is 350 to 400 days.

Dr. Edwin Monroe, director of health affairs at East Carolina University, has been named Pitt County Mental Health Month chairman. The longtime member of the Mental Health Association said, "I am deeply honored to be given this job of leading the Association in trying during the month of May to draw public attention and concern to the broad range of needs and problems that fit, to varying degrees, under the 'Mental Health' umbrella. "The mental health picture in Pitt County is similar to that in many other counties across the state and, indeed, throughout the country. Our Mental Health Association will utilize this month to refresh our members' vision of this picture, as well as to bring it into focus for as many fellow Pitt Countians as we can reach. Hopefully, through this process we all can gain new insight into the pressing needs of our community and inspire ourselves and many others to become more involved in working with our local, regional and state mental health professionals to meet these needs more effectively. At the same time we should do all we can to insure that our local and state governments become more aware of our interest and dedication in doing more to help them to enhance mental health services." Dr. Monroe, who has led the effort to secure a medical school at East Carolina University, practiced internal medicine in Greenville from 1956 to 1968. A Laurinburg native, he graduated from Davidson College and earned his medical degree at UNC-Chapel Hill and the University of Pennsylvania. He interned at the Medical College of Virginia and served his residency in internal medicine at N.C. Memorial Hospital. He and his wife, the former Nancy Gaquereel of Fredericksburg, Va., have one daughter, Martha Lynn. Reservations for the annual dinner meeting of the Mental Health Association may be made by contacting the Mental Health Association office by Monday, April 30. The cost of the dinner is $3 per person.

DR. ED MONROE

Substitute Livestock Growth Drugs Also 'Hazard'

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — All three livestock-growth drugs recommended by the Agriculture Department as substitutes for outlawed DES have been classified by government scientists as proven or potential cancer-causing chemicals.

"All estrogens are considered to be carcinogens, since all estrogens that have been adequately tested have been shown to be carcinogens in animals," a Food and Drug Administration biologist concluded in an internal memo two years ago.

DES, fed to U.S. cattle and sheep for more than 20 years to produce meat faster and more cheaply, causes cancer in laboratory animals and has been linked to vaginal cancer in young women whose mothers took the drug during pregnancy.

In announcing completion of the DES ban to include ear implants as well as feed additives, the FDA sought Thursday to minimize the possible impact on inflated meat prices.

Because DES substitutes are available to cattle and sheep producers, Acting Commissioner Sherwin Gardner said, the ban effective Friday "need not disrupt the nation's meat supply, cause an increase in meat prices or have an adverse effect on the environment because of increased animal waste."

The USDA followed with its own announcement listing as alternatives hormone or hormone-like products containing estradiol benzoate, progesterone, testosterone propionate and zeranol or zearalanol.

They are among 10 hormonal drugs the FDA classifies as proven or potential carcinogens, according to the March 4, 1971, memo from Ernest J. Umberger, director of the FDA's Division of Drug Biology.

"The cases of diethylstilbestrol (DES) and estrone are well-documented" as carcinogens, Umberger wrote. "Estradiol and estrone are normally converted from one to the other in the animal body."

"The evidence that progesterone and testosterone are carcinogens is somewhat tenuous but, since both of these compounds are metabolized to estrogens in the body, we have maintained that they are potential carcinogens and have treated them as carcinogens in considering their use where they might possibly become a food additive."

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said the total DES ban "will result in increased food costs to the consumer" to an unknown extent.

"Recently he had estimated that elimination of the drug, used in 80 per cent of the nation's beef herd, would boost prices 3½ cents a pound or between $300 million and $460 million annually, based on 1971

USDA economists' forecasts.

The American National Cattlemen's Association said, however, that the ban is likely to increase retail beef prices eight cents a pound or about $1.8 billion a year.

Rep. Jones Active On 'Fuel Front'

Congressman Walter Jones expressed concern today over the shortage of petroleum products, especially gasoline, fuel oil, propane and butane gas in eastern North Carolina, which he said is rapidly approaching a crucial stage.

He indicated that numerous telephone calls and letters have been received from every area, primarily from farmers who need these products for the planting season currently in progress.

Jones said that for the past 30 days he has been interceding with the Oil Imports Appeal Board, U. S. Department of Interior, on behalf of oil distributors, farmers, and retail outlets in the hopes of increasing the supply at the local level and to encourage larger import quotas.

"I am informed on this date by the Oil Imports Board that, effective May 1, oil import quotas will be frozen at their present level for the remainder of the year," the congressman noted. "However, oil importers may import as much as they desire by the payment of a 52 cents fee per 42-gallon barrel. Butane and propane gas may be imported without regard to quota and without payment of this fee," he said.

"It is hoped that the modification of existing policy will make available larger quantities of oil products for domestic consumption within the next few weeks."

House And Senate Agree Retain Death Penalty

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — The House and Senate agree that the death penalty for murder should be retained in North Carolina, but the question of whether capital punishment should apply to first degree rape was to be debated today in the Senate.

Beating down three amendments, the Senate approved a bill Wednesday to retain the death penalty for first degree murder. The voice vote came after more than an hour of debate.

The House has passed a bill to retain capital punishment for both murder and rape. A Senate subcommittee drafted separate bills on the issue.

The Senate version on rape embodies first degree and second degree, a new concept in North Carolina.

Both the House and Senate bills dealing with murder would eliminate the death penalty for arson and first degree burglary.

Under present law, murder, rape, arson and first degree burglary are punishable by death.

Since there are differences in the bills on murder, the House must consider the Senate version. For one thing, the Senate bill says the death penalty would apply when a first degree verdict is returned in a murder committed during robbery, arson, burglary, rape, kidnaping or other felony.

The House bill did not have kidnaping "or other felony" in its provision.

Absent from the Senate version was a provision in the House bill which said that if the U.S. Supreme Court should rule the death penalty unconstitutional, life imprisonment would apply.

Under the Senate and House bills, conviction of first degree burglary and arson would carry a life sentence.

In Wednesday's action, the Senate beat down two amendments by freshman Sen. Michael Mullings, R-Mecklenburg. One would have eliminated the death penalty for murder and substituted life imprisonment without parole.

The other amendment proposed that if a first degree conviction was returned, the execution would be carried out in the county where the crime was committed and the public could witness it. The amendment also proposed that the news media be invited to witness it.

Mullins argued that if the Senate has "the guts" to vote for the death penalty, it should have "the guts" to witness the execution.

The Senate also rejected an amendment by Sen. Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston, that the minimum sentence for second degree murder be increased from two to five years.

Sen. A. B. Coleman Jr., D-Orange, told the Senate he believes the majority of the people in North Carolina favor capital punishment, but he opposed the bill. He said he feels that a first degree conviction should carry a life sentence.

Sen. Lamar Gudger, D-Buncombe, urged that the bill be approved, saying: "We probably are not going to see many more convictions of first degree murder, but it doesn't hurt to have it on the books as a deterrent."

Talent Show Will Benefit Scholarship

An all-out talent show to raise funds for the Charles Lovelace Memorial Scholarship is being held tonight beginning at 8:30 p.m. at the Attic on Fifth Street downtown.

Robert M. Sullivan, vice president of Phi Mu Alpha, the fraternity sponsoring the annual benefit event, says participants will be the Hoboken, Greenville (Loggers, Dixieland Band, the Faculty Barbershop Quartet and Dr. Avtar Singh playing the tabla, the native Indian instrument. Dr. Singh will be accompanied by Bob Hallahan on the guitar. Also on the program will be the ECU Jazz Rock Ensemble.

The Lovelace Memorial Scholarship was established several years ago to provide an annual $200 scholarship to an incoming freshman in the School of Music at East Carolina University. Funds are raised for the scholarship each year through a major project of Beta Psi chapter of Phi Mu Alpha at ECU.

Lovelace, a native of New Bern, was a student of music at East Carolina University from 1954-58. He was a clarinet major and an ROTC cadet. Lovelace entered the Air Force and was on active duty in 1965 when he was shot down over Vietnam. He is still listed as "missing in action."

Phi Mu Alpha, of which Lovelace was one of the charter members, was formed to encourage and promote education, performance and composition of music in America. Dr. Charles Stevens is province governor of District 20 of the fraternity. Robert Hause, conductor of the ECU Symphony Orchestra, is faculty advisor to the local chapter, which recently won six citations at the regional convention.

World wide members of Phi Mu Alpha include such notable as Pablo Casals, Van Cliburn, Stan Kenton, Andy Griffith and Sigmund Rascher.

Craig Mills, a junior in the school of Music, is currently president chapter at ECU.

Tickets will be available at the door for 50 cents per person. The ticket will cover the entire program, slated to last until 1:00 a.m.

Shirt Is 'Check' For Taxpayer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Department of Revenue has deposited a shirt, sent to the department by a Danville man, in the First National Bank of Chicago.

James E. Dolbee wrote a check on the shirt in payment for his 1972 state income taxes.

A department spokesman said Dolbee "wrote a check drawn on the Second National Bank of Danville on a short-sleeved white shirt that looked as if it has been worn."

The spokesman, who did not disclose the amount of the check, said it was mailed in a manila envelope.

"A note was attached implying that the state had taken the shirt off his back," the spokesman said.

Gospel-Singing Set Saturday

A gospel singing program will be held at the Hopewell Pentecostal Holiness Church Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The program will feature the Apostolic Echoes and a local trio with Godfrey Mills.

The Washington Monument was dedicated Feb. 21, 1885.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets were steady Wednesday. Supplies adequate, demand fair.

Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites: 57.88; medium whites: 53.81; small whites: 39.54

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs are steady to 50 cents lower today. Tops of 33.50-34.00 Rocky Mount; 32.75-33.75 Kinston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton; 32.00-33.50 Wilson and High Falls; 33.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—N.C. hens: Market undertone remains firm. Under type prices included in this report reflect previous commitments. Supplies of both types adequate and the demand good. Heavies, at farm, 20-21 cents, mostly 21; f.o.b. plants 24 and light type 10-11 cents.

N.C. f.o.b. dock broilers: Market sharply weaker supplies fully adequate for the current no better than fair demand. Average weight desirable to heavy. N.C. f.o.b. dock weighted average price for less than truck lot sales of sized plant grade A boilers to be picked up at docks next week is 39.43 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, pelted with sharp losses earlier in the week, continued to retreat gradually today. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 2.03 at 928.51 after having been up by more than a point earlier. Declining issues maintained a 559-to-482 advantage over gainers in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Dorr-Oliver, up 7/8 at 9 3/4, was among the Big Board's sharpest percentage gainers. A financial columnist reported today there were rumors of possible take-over offers for the company, which is 62 per cent one-half mile of an existing bench mark properly referenced to such datum.

This requirement, as Holiday points out, will serve to correlate data on preliminary plats to the same reference employed by the Greenville Utilities Commission and thus avoid any misinterpretation of data due to employment of two references.

The adopted changes will make information on preliminary plats reflect similar information required in the preliminary checklist.

In administrative procedures for preparation of preliminary plats, the time element has been changed from one week to two weeks as a minimum time to submit prior to Planning and Zoning consideration; and moves the number of copies required of each plat from three to five.

In other action, the Greenville Commission approved, after developers agreed to designate a lot for recreation purposes, the preliminary plat for Tucker Estates, to be located south of Red Banks Road opposite Aycock Junior High.

The recreation area was not provided for in the preliminary plat presented, with developers noting that it was not considered to be necessary as the subdivision would be within easy access to the playground area at Aycock.

Commission member Mrs. Ruth Trevathan said she did not consider this an acceptable arrangement and asked that specific allocation of an area be included in the plat. The city has a four year option to purchase land set aside for possible recreation.

At the city commission meeting, a final plat for Section II of Westhaven Subdivision was approved.

At the Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission meeting, held immediately prior to the city commission's meeting, considerable discussion evolved around the topic of overall development of Greenville Boulevard northeast. This is the stretch of the bypass now under construction from Tar River north to the Burroughs-Wellcome area.

No specific proposals were presented following Holiday's report on a committee study. Members of the joint body, however, plan to hold a meeting in the near future devoted solely to coming up with recommendations to work out zoning plans for this stretch.

The one request acted on by the joint commission dealt with property in the northeast bypass area, a request to rezone from RA-20 to highway commercial a portion of the Weimer and Jones property. Approval was given the request, which covers it's a difficult thing to categorize people, and its most important that an evaluation reflects true performance and not the bias of the rater."

The association, Redfern pointed out, covers all 50 states and U.S. territories. He said about one third of his time is spent in the field as more states are passing laws on teacher's tenure.

"I like to have teachers attend seminars," Redfern said. "Today, with emphasis on collective bargaining and with militants in the teaching ranks, some teachers are dubious about any type of evaluations. I feel it's important we gain their confidence and let them see what we're really striving for."

Chips and putts from area golf courses:
Greenville

A boy's best-ball two-man tournament was held Monday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. First place honors went to Conner Merritt III and Sandy Abbott, who carded a score of 87. Second place went to the team of Molt Massey and Jim Wilkerson with a 90, while Jim Clement and Virgil Clark were third with 99.

The play in the Ladies' Club Championship tournament continues through Friday.

Flights for the men's championship were made up Wednesday night, and can now be seen at the pro shop. Play in the tournament will be Saturday and Sunday.

Robersonville

A Captain's Choice golf tournament will be held Sunday at the Robersonville Golf and Country Club. It is open to both men and women.

All members wishing to participate are urged to sign up now in the pro shop.

Ayden

The Ayden Golf and Country Club will host the annual Ayden Four-Ball Invitational tournament Saturday and Sunday. Some 410 golfers are expected to take part in the two-day event.

A Super Ball Tournament has been planned for the club on May 6, and some 80 members have already signed up.

Several players scored eagles at Ayden recently. Norman Wooten got his first, holing out a pitching wedge on the par five seventh hole. Ray Gilligan eagled number eight with an eight-iron, while Lindsay Hardy eagled the third hole, playing from the championship tees, also using a pitching wedge. The last two eagles came on par four holes.

Farmville

The Farmville Golf and Country Club will play host to the third annual Farmville Jaycee Tournament on May 5-6. Golfers from all surrounding areas are invited to participate.

The number of flights and prizes will be determined by the number of entries. Golfers will be flighted by handicap, and all entrants must have a signed handicap card from their local pro.

A Mixed Super Ball Tournament will be held at the club this Sunday.

Brook Valley

Jim Fleming had a 39 on the front side recently to break 40 for the first time at Brook Valley Country Club.

Qualifying for the Club Championship continues

For the first time since East Carolina University joined the Southern Conference, the Pirates are expected to give William & Mary's perennial champions a run for their money in the Southern Conference's Track and Field Championships to be held here Friday and Saturday.

"From the half-mile on up, they'll win every event," ECU Coach Bill Carson said. "I look for them to score eight to 15 points per event in these. They are extremely strong in them, and other than a couple of kids from Furman and Jerry Klas (of ECU), nobody should break into these."

But Carson feels that the Pirates are within eight to 10 points to the Indians, who usually make it a runaway, on paper, and with a couple of breaks, plus the fact that the meet is one the Pirates' home ground, East Carolina might pull off the big upset. "Furman is also going to be strong, so I look for a three-team race," Carson said.

Friday's activities get underway at 10 a.m. with the six-mile run. Then at 1:15 p.m., four field events begin, the long jump, the shot put, the javelin and the high jump. At the conclusion of the javelin, the hammer throw will be held.

Also on Friday, trials will be held in the 120-yard high hurdles, the 440, the 100 the 880, the 440 intermediate hurdles, and the 220, with the first at 2:15 p.m. At 4:15 p.m., the 3,000-yard steeplechase will be held, with semi-finals, if needed, starting at 4:30 p.m.

Saturday's activities will get underway at 1:30 p.m., with the pole vault, the triple jump and the discus in the field events. Running events start at 2:15 p.m., with the 440-yard relay. Following that, in order, will come the mile, the 120 high hurdles, the 440, the 100, the 880, the 440 intermediate hurdles, the 220, the three-mile, and the mile relay finals.

The top five finishers in each event will win points for their team on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis.

Carson listed the people expected to be in the top five in each event. Given are their best times, where available, with the conference record at the end.

Carson feels the best shots at new records will come in the hammer throw, the six-mile, the triple jump, the discus, the 120-yard high hurdles, the 880, and the three-mile.

Wilbur Wood Hurls White Sox By Yanks

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Wilbur Wood cut the corners of the plate, doling out a starvation diet to the New York Yankees.

They went away hungry while the Chicago White Sox star fattened his pitching record. "I get paid to get somebody out and that's what I do," said Wood, who got most everybody out in a five-hit, 3-0 beauty over the Yankees Wednesday.

Wood frustrated the Yankee hitters with a knuckleball that went berserk at times. It was helped along by the weather, according to New York Manager Ralph Houk. "Today was a good day for him, the dead air and the dampness," said Houk. "That helps him. His knuckleball was really bouncing around today."

Goodrich Leads Lakers To Win

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man called Stumpy won the West for the Los Angeles Lakers, who hope the New York Knickerbockers win the East.

Gail Goodrich, the smallest man on the court at 6-foot-1, scored 44 points in his greatest shooting performance as a professional, in leading the defending National Basketball Association champions to a 128-118 victory over the Golden State Warriors Wednesday night.

The triumph provided Los Angeles with a 4-1 series final verdict in the West and the Lakers now must await the outcome of New York vs. Boston in the East. The Knicks lead 3-2 in games after losing 98-97 on Wednesday night.

If New York wins, the first game of the finals will be in Los Angeles since the Lakers had a better overall season record. But if Boston rallies for two straight victories, the championship set will be in New England. Boston had the best overall record in the NBA.

The Lakers lost all four of their regular season games to the Celtics but split 2-2 against New York which could be another factor as Coach Bill Sharman of the defending champions says: "We'd like to play New York because of the home court advantage."

Goodrich pumped in 21 points in the third period, 20 of them on field goal, and the 10 he sank set a new NBA playoff record, surpassing the nine by former Laker Elgin Baylor in a 1961 playoff.

The Lakers reached the finals for the ninth time in the 13 years since moving from Minneapolis to Los Angeles, yet last year was the only championship the club has won.

Houston 2 and Los Angeles 5, St. Louis 3 in 11 innings. Rain postponed a game between San Diego and Pittsburgh.

The only hits off Wood were singles by Matty Alou, Horace Clarke and Roy White before Thurman Munson drilled a ground-rule double down the left-field line in the eighth. Then White collected another single in the ninth.

Mostly the Yankees were just beating the ball into the ground or popping it up off the Chicago left-hander. Carlos May hit a home run in the first off Mel Stottlemyre for the only run Wood needed.

John Kennedy's run-scoring double in the sixth inning snapped a 3-3 tie and gave Boston its victory over Minnesota. Relief pitcher Bob Bolin saved the game for the Red Sox by striking out Harmon Killebrew with two out and the bases loaded.

Jeff Burroughs' third home run of the season and Toby Harrah's three singles spurred Steve Foucault's clutch pitching as Texas whipped Detroit.

Texas starter Rich Hand was relieved in the eighth inning by Foucault, who worked out of a bases-loaded jam with one out.

Wayne Simpson allowed only three hits before Gene Garber took over to get the last two outs of the game as Kansas City downed Milwaukee. It was Simpson's strongest performance since coming to Kansas City from the Cincinnati Reds last winter. "He threw fast balls, mostly," said Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon. "I thought he was in complete command and did an excellent job. I took him out near the end because I felt he was getting a little tired."

Bill Singer fired a four-hitter and bested Dave McNally in a pitcher's duel as California nipped Baltimore. McNally pitched a five-hitter, but lost the game on Bobby Grabarkewitz' RBI single in the eighth.

Dick Tidrow, who entered the game with an 8.06 earned run average, pitched a two-hitter as Cleveland defeated Oakland.

Stickers Top State

East Carolina University's lacrosse team rolled to an 8-4 victory over N.C. State University here yesterday.

The Bucs took the initial lead, and after the Wolfpack tied it at 1-1, the Pirates jumped out to a 3-1 edge by the end of the first period.

They outhit the Wolfpack 2-1 in the second and third periods, and each team got one in the final frame.

Jeff Hansen led the Pirate scoring with five goals and two assists. Danny Mannix had a goal and an assist, while Bill Harrington had two goals. Ray Cobel and Mark Wilson each had an assist.

Coach John Lovstedt said he felt that team played a very good game. He noted that defenseman Mark Krivonak suffered an injury in the game, and that Larry Hayes did a good job coming on in his place.

Conley Is Postponed

PIKEVILLE—D. H. Conley's crucial game with league leading Charles B. Aycock was postponed yesterday because of rain.

The game was rescheduled for this afternoon. Conley trails Aycock by a game in the league standings.

Greene Central Tops North Pitt

BETHEL—Greene Central gained a 9-2 victory over North Pitt yesterday in a rain-shortened game in the Eastern Carolina Conference.

The Rams pushed into the lead in the second inning, scoring a pair of runs. Albert Holloman singled and was sacrificed to second, and then on to third. Dale Pridgen then singled to drive him in for a 1-0 lead.

Greene Central put the game out of reach with six more in the third inning. Stevie Williamson led off with a double and Jeff Letchworth walked. William Brown singled, loading the bases. Holloman singled, driving in both Williamson and Letchworth. Bobby Supel then tripled, scoring Brown and Holloman. Dee Anderson's double brought in Supel, and Pridgen singled across Anderson for a 7-0 lead. The Rams picked up two more runs in the fourth for their 9-0 lead.

North Pitt finally broke the scoring ice in the fifth inning. Craig McLawhorn singled and moved up on an error on the play. Ben Johnson and Ken Tetterton both walked, loading the bases. Steve Fuchs singled, and that scored McLawhorn and Johnson.

The Rams picked up one run in the top of the sixth, but rain halted the game before the inning was completed, washing away that run.

On Friday, Greene Central travels to Ayden-Grifton, while Eastern Wayne visits North Pitt. Greene Central 016 20-9 11 2 North Pitt 000 02-2 3 3 Bridgen and Holloman; Fuchs and Brown.

ChocowinityTies Jamesville, 3-3

JAMESVILLE — Chocowinity and Jamesville High Schools played to a 3-3 tie here yesterday in a game that was halted in the ninth inning by rain.

Jamesville took the initial lead, in the third, and built up a 3-0 lead before Chocowinity came back to tie it up in the fifth. It stayed that way the rest of the game.

The Bullets pushed over two runs in the third to take the lead. Bucky Dickerson walked and Kevin Holiday doubled to drive him in. When the ball was thrown home on the play, Holiday moved on to third, and on the throw back to third, slid in under the play. The Chocowinity fielder, angered by the call, threw the ball into center field, enabling Holiday to easily score.

Jamesville picked up another in the fourth. Billy Brown walked as did Curtis Ange. Jerry Ange then reached on an error, scoring Brown.

In the fifth, Chocowinity rallied to score three runs and tie it up. George Smith walked and John Turnage singled. Donnie Haddock got a hit to score Smith and Billy O'Carroll singled in Turnage. Glenn Page then hit a sacrifice fly to bring in Haddock with the tying run.

Jamesville pulled off a double play in the fourth to get out of a bases-loaded-none-out situation. A fly ball to center was caught and the runner on third was cut down trying to score.

Jamesville put men on second and third with none out in the bottom of the ninth, but the game was called at that point.

Jamesville goes to Robersonville on Friday for a Martin County Conference game.

Robersonville Runs Past Edenton, 14-2

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Golden Eagles rolled to a 14-3 victory over Edenton's Aces yesterday.

The victory was the 11th in 13 starts for the Eagles, the defending State Class A champs.

Edenton scored first, getting a run in the second. Ronnie Winborne singled and moved to third on an error on the play. Elmer Overton and Win Dale both walked, loading the bases. Terry Fleetwood also walked, forcing in Winborne with the go-ahead run.

But it didn't last long as the Eagles came back to push over five in their half of the second. Loyall Corey singled and Mike Matthews got a hit. An error on the play let Corey score. Masonic Stokes reached on an error and stole second. Jeff Warren's single brought both of them across. Ricky Brown tripled to drive in Warren, and Doug Warren reached on an error, scoring Brown.

Edenton picked up single runs in the third and fourth for their three-run total.

Brown led the Robersonville hitting with four, while Jeff Warren and Matthews each had two. Jimmy Fleetwood had a pair for Edenton.

The Eagles picked up five more in the third. Kim Knox reached on a fielder's choice and Matthews hit an inside-the-park home run. Dan Thompson kept it going with a single, and he moved to third when the throw to catch him stealing second was errored. Jeff Warren walked and Brown tripled for the second time, scoring both runners. Larry Jackson hit a sacrifice fly to score him.

In the fourth, Robersonville got their final four. Matthews was hit by a pitch and Thompson reached on a fielder's choice. Jeff Warren walked to load them up and Brown singled in Matthews. An error let Thompson score too. Doug Warren walked and Matt Wilson sacrificed in Jeff Warren. Jackson reached on an error, scoring Brown.

Edenton picked up single runs in the third and fourth for their three-run total.

Brown led the Robersonville hitting with four, while Jeff Warren and Matthews each had two. Jimmy Fleetwood had a pair for Edenton.

Staub Snaps Slump To Power Met Victory

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Gourmet Rusty Staub whipped up a tasty dish for the power-hungry New York Mets and, like starving men, they savored every tasty morsel.

Staub, who enjoys puttering around the kitchen of his New York bachelor pad, must have been wondering whether he was eating right before finally chewing up some friendly Houston pitching Wednesday night.

Weighed down by a dreadful 1-for-29 slump, Staub snapped out of it with a pair of solo home runs that powered the Mets to a 5-2 decision over the Astros.

It was the first time this season that the Mets had more than one homer in a game. They had only six homers all year and five of those belonged to John Milner. What's more, Staub was hitting a woeful .102 going into the game...about one batting percentage point for each thousand dollars of salary he earns.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 5-2, Los Angeles beat St. Louis 5-3 in 11 innings. San Francisco shut out Chicago 5-0, and Cincinnati defeated Montreal 7-4. San Diego's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

In the American League, Chicago blanked the New York Yankees 3-0. Boston edged Minnesota 4-3, Texas beat Detroit

4-1. Kansas City nipped Milwaukee 3-2, California nipped Baltimore 1-0 and Cleveland blanked Oakland 1-0.

Staub's two homers supported a sharp six-hit pitching job by Jerry Koosman, who won his third straight for New York. Good pitching has not been unusual for the Mets this season but good hitting has been and so Staub was the main attraction after the game.

"The one thing that a ball player misses once he gets out of the game," said Staub, "is the elation of success—to have such a bad streak and then such great elation. I just hope I can have a lot more elation this season."

Darrell Evans slugged a two-run triple and then scored on Mike Lum's sacrifice fly as Atlanta jumped off to a quick three-run lead against Philadelphia.

Gary Gentry limited the Phillies to five hits until the ninth when he weakened and Phil Niekro came on to save the victory. Gentry also had a pair of singles, setting up one Atlanta run and driving in another.

The Cubs could have used some hitting against San Francisco's Juan Marichal. The Giants' veteran blanked Chicago, spacing eight hits for his fourth victory in five decisions.

Chris Speier and Dave Kingman slugged home runs for the Giants.

Joe Morgan hit a three-run homer, keying a four-run eighth inning that carried Cincinnati past Montreal.

The Reds had to come from behind for the victory after spotting the Expos an early 2-0 lead.

Willie Davis' 11th inning triple scored the winning run for Los Angeles as the Dodgers beat St. Louis. Davis delivered Billy Buckner, who had singled against ex-Dodger pitcher Alan

Celtics Edge By Knicks By 98-97

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Dave Cowens, the National Basketball Association's most valuable player of 1972-73, did his thing. John Havlicek gave a typical gutsy performance and then unheralded Paul Silas got into the act.

The combinations enabled the Boston Celtics to edge the New York Knicks 98-97 Wednesday night and remain alive in the NBA's Eastern championship playoff.

"Everybody made a contribution," Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said after the Celtics, now down 3-2, forced a sixth game in the best-of-7 series Friday night in New York.

The winner will play Los Angeles for the championship. The Lakers beat the Golden State Warriors 128-118 Wednesday night to win their Western Conference final four games to one.

Cowens went the marathon route, playing the entire 48 minutes. The 6-foot-9 center scored 32 points and grabbed 16 rebounds.

Havlicek, the Celtics' captain and leading scorer who missed the fourth game because of a right shoulder injury, came off the bench at the start of the second period and again in the third and fourth periods. He shook off pain and played 30 minutes, finishing with 18 points, five assists and one rebound.

Silas, a veteran forward completing his first season in Boston, scored only nine points, but was the man of the hour. He cashed two free throws with seven seconds remaining and then grabbed a rebound, his 20th of the game, just before the final buzzer.

"It was Silas' clutch free throws and his big rebound at the end that did it," Heinsohn said. "However, they all were great out there tonight—Dave, John, everybody. It was a hell of a game. The Knicks are a great club. They don't give up. They don't crack."

Heinsohn said he was one of the few not surprised by Havlicek's courageous performance.

"I've seen him do it many, many times over the years," Heinsohn said. "No matter what conditions he's in, he just goes out there and plays tough, giving it everything he's got. He played virtually with one hand behind his back tonight, and what a job he did. Considering everything, he was just super."

The Cubs could have used some hitting against San Francisco's Juan Marichal. The Giants' veteran blanked Chicago, spacing eight hits for his fourth victory in five decisions.

Legal Secretaries Organize Unit Here

In a candlelight service last night, installation of officers of the newly organized chapter of the Greenville Legal Secretaries Association was conducted during a banquet at the Holiday Inn Restaurant.

Mrs. Ruth Casey, first vice president of the N.C. Association presided over the ceremony. To serve the Association for this year are Cathryn R. Tripp, president; Marlene B. Mozingo, vice president; Vertrude O. McFall, recording secretary and parliamentarian; Barbara B. Allen, corresponding secretary; Carolyn W. Mayo, treasurer; Betty Lou Shinn, NALS representative; Bertha S. Davis, governor; and Dorothy T. Knowles, alternate governor.

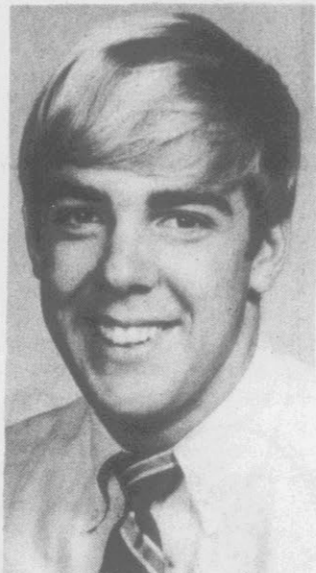

The new chapter is part of the National Association of Legal Secretaries, formed "to further the legal secretary's knowledge of the law and to uphold its honor and dignity, to stimulate a high order of business and professional attainment, and to create a high standard of ethics among its members. It fosters training programs for young women desiring to become legal secretaries, as well as courses for advanced legal secretaries. Social activities among its members also are encouraged.

Any person engaged as a secretary, stenographer, typist, or clerk in any law office, any person employed in the court, the trust department of a bank or trust company, or in any public or private institution or office directly engaged in work of a legal nature, including the public offices of the United States government, states, cities, counties, or municipalities is eligible to apply for membership. The Greenville Legal Secretaries Association encourages any interested eligible persons to attend any of its monthly meetings held the fourth Tuesday night of each month at the Holiday Inn Restaurant. For any further information, one may contact Mrs. Marlene Mozingo at 752-6161 or 752-0350.

Award Won By Student

CHAPEL HILL—Thomas F. Webb, senior dental student from Greenville, has received the American Academy of Periodontology Award as the student who has excelled in periodontics. The award was presented last week at the annual University of North Carolina Surgeon Dental Society Awards Banquet held here.

Twenty-five students and faculty of the UNC School of Dentistry were honored for outstanding accomplishments at the annual affair. Dr. Cecil G. Sheps, UNC vice chancellor for health sciences, was the featured speaker.

Webb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fred Webb of Greenville.

Charge Driver In Collision

Grover Glenn Cox of 413 Arbor St. was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 8:55 a.m. collision on Farmville Boulevard 75 feet West of the Line Avenue intersection yesterday.

Police reported the Cox vehicle collided with a car driven by Simon Peterson Anderson of Route 1, Greenville causing an estimated $350 damage to the Anderson auto and about $150 damage to the Cox car.

No injuries were reported.

CAC Reflects Concern On School Bd. Action

Three resolutions relative to methods of screening and appointing the superintendent of the Greenville City Schools were passed Wednesday night by members of the Greenville Citizens Advisory Committee. The resolutions, which CAC chairman Dr. Dennis Roberts says "reflects strong concern over the manner in which the recent non-re-election (of Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood) was handled," also reflects "hopes that future decisions will be deliberated in a more acceptable and systematic way."

The three resolutions passed by the advisory committee are: "1. The CAC recommends that the board advise Dr. Cleetwood of the reasons why he was not re-elected for another term; "2. The CAC deplores the methods used, or lack of methods, in the selection, retention, and non-re-election of the superintendent. While recognizing the North Carolina statutes that govern school boards, we suggest that the Greenville Board of Education examine in depth its procedures for the selection, retention, dismissal and non-re-election of the superintendent. We also recommend that as a result of this study, the board establish written policies governing selection and tenure of the superintendent."

"3. The CAC requests that the board utilize the CAC in an advisory capacity in the selection of a new superintendent."

Dr. Badger Clark, chairman of the Board of Education, was on hand for part of the CAC meeting to answer questions about the recent procedures used in the non-re-election of Dr. Cleetwood.

Dr. Roberts said the Wednesday night meeting had been held in conjunction with the special call meeting of the school board slated for tonight, and that the three CAC resolutions would be presented to the school board at tonight's meeting.

Belvoir School Participates In Heritage Program

BELVOIR—Belvoir Grammar School is one of 25 schools in North Carolina chosen to participate in a pilot program on heritage.

Sponsored by the North Carolina Heritage Program in conjunction with the State Board of Public Instruction and Carowinds Amusement Park near Charlotte, the program is designed to make students more aware of our cultural heritage. The students and faculty at Belvoir are participating in the week-long event this week with such activities as a program on heritage, wearing long dresses and knickers, and placing displays at the school. According to Principal Alston Burke, the program has been very successful and educational for his students.

A program held Wednesday morning dealt with the local history of the Belvoir area, beginning with the Revolutionary War and ending with modern days.

The students and teachers dressed according to the occasion, with the girls wearing long dresses and the boys wearing knickers. The displays at the school show such items as antiques, old tools used in farming, spinning wheel, butter churns, money from the Civil War, old textbooks, guns over 100 years old, old kitchen furniture and cook-ware and old clothing.

Along with the heritage theme, a Belvoir Grammar School flag has been made that will be displayed at the school. Parents and other interested persons from the community have visited the school to look at the various displays.

For their participation in the program, the school has been presented materials and supplies, including films and film strips, relative to the North Carolina history and heritage from Carowinds. They were also given some textbooks.

The teachers involved in the program were: Mrs. Ruth Watson, chairman; Mrs. Queenie Taft, Mrs. Beth Coley and Mrs. Joyce Weatherington.

The program was coordinated by Miss Patsy Woods, Miss North Carolina for 1971, for Carowinds.

Four Visiting Ministers Will Speak At Weekend Services

Outstanding North Carolina ministers will participate in a series of preaching services this week-end at Hooker Memorial Christian Church in Greenville.

The special services will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8 o'clock. Guest speakers will include the Rev. David Darnell of the First Christian Church, Fayetteville, the Rev. David Alexander of Gordon Street Christian Church, Kinston, and the Rev. Allan Sharp, professor of religion at Atlantic Christian College. The Rev. Leslie Wilkins of Wheat Swamp Christian Church will be song leader for the series of services.

In addition to the guest speakers, the First Christian Church choir will participate in the Friday evening service and the choir of Red Oak Christian Church will participate in the Saturday evening services.

The Rev. Darnell, who will be the guest speaker on Friday evening, has been minister of the First Christian Church of Fayetteville for 11 years. Active in community affairs of Fayetteville, the Rev. Darnell is a director of Contact, Inc., a 24-hour telephone ministry in Cumberland County. He is president of HP & FCC Low Income Housing Development Corporation which helps provide low income people with adequate housing. He also serves as director of a summer camping program for underprivileged children.

Dr. Sharp, who will be the guest speaker Sunday evening, has been professor of religion at Atlantic Christian College since 1963. He has served as president of the Christian Churches of North Carolina and as secretary of the North Carolina Commission on the Ministry. He has been active in the affair of the Chamber of Commerce, Mental Health Association and Technical Institute in Wilson.

The Rev. Alexander served Christian churches in Kentucky, Jacksonville and Wilmington, N. C. before coming to Kinston six years ago. He is a member of the General Board of the Christian Church in North Carolina and chairman of its Stewardship Department. He is president-elect of the Kinston Rotary club and will attend the Rotary International Convention in Lausanne, Switzerland next month.

Dr. Sharp, who will be the guest speaker Sunday evening, has been professor of religion at Atlantic Christian College since 1963. He has served as president of the Christian Churches of North Carolina and as secretary of the North Carolina Commission on the Ministry. He has been active in the affair of the Chamber of Commerce, Mental Health Association and Technical Institute in Wilson.

The Rev. Wilkins, who will be song leader for each of the services, is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College and Brite Divinity School of Texas Christian University. He has served Christian Churches in Mississippi and North Carolina. In addition to his ministerial activities he is the producer and featured singer of a religious record album "I'll Tell the World."

The Rev. Robert G. Hufford, minister of Hooker Memorial Christian Church, said the public is invited to participate in the special series of services.

Grifton Is Seeking Promotional Slogan

GRIFTON — The Grifton Chamber of Commerce is offering $100 for the best slogan to promote the town of Grifton. Deadline for submitting suggestions is June 15.

The slogan contest was suggested at the April meeting of the chamber Tuesday night. During the decade 1950-1960, Grifton was "The Fastest Growing Town in North Carolina" as population jumped 378 percent because of the DuPont Plant and laboratory. For the last three years, the town has been called "The Shad Town."

The chamber is presently exploring ways to promote Grifton and the first step is the slogan contest.

Committee members are Clyde Simmons, Elwyn Thompson, Ed Casey, Ed Haseley, and consultants are Jack Hankins and Larry Sailer.

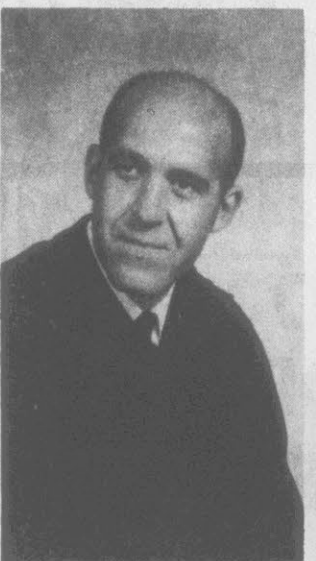

In other business, the chamber decided to have dinner meetings each month on the fourth Thursday at 7 p.m.

Mystery Series Just For Radio

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It's hard to believe, but there's a guy running loose who says he's got a different kind of new mystery series. What makes me agree with him is that the series is for radio.

He's Jay M. Kholos. He's from Los Angeles, where many strange ideas often occur. The strangest is that someone these days can sell a half-hour, five-day-a-week radio series, complete with sound effects. But the selling is brisk, according to Kholos, who says 110 radio stations in the United States already have bought the new series, called "Zero Hour." He hopes to have a total of 300 stations signed up by July. If you are a confirmed television buff, you may think Kholos has a screw loose. But if you are a radio freak, you may see—or hear, as these cases may be—what he's up to. There's been a gradual nationwide revival of old radio series like "The Lone Ranger" and "The Green Hornet." Charles Michelson, a New Yorker who leases these and other shows to radio stations, says more than 400 stations now are carrying them. What Kholos, a Los Angeles advertising man, is doing is simply coming up with modern versions of the good old days and, as he puts it, "trying to anticipate a trend. "We feel there's going to be a demand for new shows on radio, so we wanted to be the first one out of the box with it. This is the first time this has been done in well over 20 years." A few established Hollywood stars have joined the effort. Writer-producer Rod Serling will be the host of "Zero Hour." The series' premiere week will star Howard Duff, Patty Duke and John Astin. The show will take the form of a five-part story each week, with four of the segments ending with a cliff-hanger and the admonition to tune in tomorrow and see who survived what. Ironically, Kholos barely remembers the golden days of radio. He's only 32.

"I used to hide the radio under the pillow at night and listen to the old shows," he said. "But they went out before I really had a chance to get into them."

The 'Worry Clinic' Love Must Be Learned, Too

Bobby's case is a modern version of Cain vs. Abel. For love must be developed between siblings, as well as between adult sweethearts! And the "Death Wish" produces the various abnormal adult reactions cited below. Note the murders by children under 8 years!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE W-588: Bobby R., aged 4, has a new baby brother. "But, Dr. Crane," his mother began. "Bobby doesn't show any love for little Jimmy."

"In fact, we found him striking Jimmy over the head with one of his toys till Jimmy's screams brought us to his rescue."

"Now I am actually afraid to leave Bobby alone with Jimmy."

"Why I thought brothers and sisters had an innate love for each other!"

"Is Bobby abnormal?"

Love Is Learned

The capacity for love is innate (inborn).

But our love for specific persons must be learned!

There is thus no innate or mystical affection between even a mother and her unborn infant.

Indeed, some girls, pregnant out of wedlock, hate their babies and actually dump them into garbage cans or strangle them.

And whether we have a baby brother or love him, depends on how that newcomer will affect our own ego.

For everybody, at birth, is tattooed with this invisible but lifelong brand across his chest, which reads:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

If parents tactfully prepare the olderchild for the advent of the newcomer and thus make the first-born feel BIG at thus being allowed to push the perambulator or prepare the baby's bottle, then the older child will begin to love his new sibling.

But if the parents have showered all their attention, praise and the family spotlight on the first-born; then suddenly jilt him by turning most of it toward the newcomer, then hatred develops.

The first murder on earth was fratricide!

Cain thus slew his brother Abel.

Dr. Lester Adelson, in a recent Journal article of our A.M.A., reported on 5 sibling murders.

His study involved the death of 5 babies, all under the age of 8 months.

And their murders were attributed to their siblings, who ranged from 2½ to 8 years of age.

Jealousy was cited as the major factor in provoking those older kiddies to beat the babies on the head or drop them off the bed on purpose.

One baby was found dead after its parents had visited friends in the same apartment building for a short time.

Upon their return, they found that their other two sons, aged 5 and 2 years, admitted rolling their baby brother off the bed a number of times.

Then they beat him on the head with a woman's shoe.

These acts are merely early evidences of the "Death Wish," which is explained more fully in the psychiatric booklet below.

Often these early jealousies are bottled up but then break out in abnormal fashion among adult married men and women.

A husband may thus refuse to have children, based on an early antagonism for his baby brother or sister, who stole the spotlight.

A woman may become so deranged she ends in a mental sanitarium, all due to her veiled hatred of her own baby!

So send for my booklet "Abnormal Psychology," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for it will help you diagnose delayed reaction to your early jealousies.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelop and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1973

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An interesting day and evening to decide what your need is of a philosophical nature, or what you require to have for a happy life. You now have the chance to make specific, workable plans for such improvement.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't try to do what you know is beyond your ability, but be happy with whatever you can do best. Get know-how from one who is good at detail. Avoid one who likes to hurt you in one way or another.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You always like new ideas and can get them now from allies, friends and new contacts. Meet with persons who can help you gain your finest aims. These can be along personal or business lines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get in touch with that expert who can help you expand in whatever is of greatest interest to you. Make sure your credit is good. Don't forget to pay important bills.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make a fine impression on new contacts today; plan to meet persons who have been difficult to see before. Write to out-of-towners and get the data you need.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fine day for handling obligations you have been putting off for some time. Pay bills, make collections, work like a beaver. Follow your intuition where that personal aim is concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do your utmost to have more harmony with allies instead of expecting too much of them. Allow for human error. Use your intellect to handle that outside matter in a most correct way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you show co-workers that you are very efficient, they will cooperate more willingly with you. Make your surroundings more charming. Stay within your budget, and show that you have good taste.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find out what family expect of you or what their ideas are, and be more cooperative with them. Show more affection for mate and get better results. Use your imagination, artistry more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day to go after the interests that mean a great deal to you, business or personal. Don't permit tensions to get you down. Show others you have a good sense of humor.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good day to handle that letter writing, travel matters, errands, in a most efficient way. Make sure all of your important papers are in good order. Know who your true friends are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study your budget and find better ways to add to income so you can keep up with rising cost of living and have more for luxuries you like. Listen to what a bigwig has to suggest. Arrive on time for that important appointment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal day to meet with bosom friends and work out better plans for the social life you want in the future. Get into a group affair that can have fine results. Avoid one who does not appreciate you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who seems to be always on the negative side of life, so be sure to give the right diet and teach to laugh more. Treat with kindness, but firmness, so that all the fine talent in this chart will come to the fore, and much success and happiness will be achieved throughout the lifetime. The good psychiatrist especially, could easily be in this chart. Music lessons could bring out a genius here, too.

Paralytic Polio Cases Again Pose A Treat

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Paralytic polio, virtually wiped out in the past two decades, may once again threaten American children because the level of immunity is steadily dropping, warns an official of the federal Center for Disease Control.

"Dr. John Witte, head of the immunization branch of the center, said Wednesday public awareness of polio is declining and fewer vaccinations are being given.

"We've been saying for several years that polio immunization levels aren't what they should be, and for the last year we've been hollering really loud," Witte said.

"We're very good at getting people immunized in mass campaigns but we have real difficulty sustaining their interest," he continued. "People haven't seen polio for 10 to 15 years and they're not worried about it."

More than 18,000 cases of paralytic polio were reported in 1964. A year later, the Salk vaccine was developed and the number of cases has steadily dropped. None has been reported thus far this year.

Statistics show that less than 63 per cent of all children from 1 to 4 years old have been vaccinated against polio, spokesmen for the center said. In 1965, the figure was 74 per cent.

Witte said the most recent data compiled by the center and the Bureau of the Census shows a continuing sag in immunity. He added that the 63 per cent figure means that in some areas the level is apt to be much lower.

The possibility of an outbreak of polio appears more likely in middle and upper income families, Witte said. Statistics indicate the immunity level is dropping faster among the children of income groups which receive vaccinations from private physicians.

Public programs among low-income groups are keeping their vaccination level fairly constant," he said.

"We know how many doses of vaccine were used last year and we know how much was administered in public programs, and while the total was pretty much constant, the amount used by private physicians dropped," Witte said.

"We are very concerned by the fact that a large proportion of young children are not being immunized or are being immunized only in some areas, there is good potential for rapid spread," he added.

Chief Stresses Bicycle Safety

Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon is telling it the way it is when he says "drive" your bicycle safely, because when a cyclist gets into traffic he is driving his bike and he has the same responsibilities and rights as the motorist who is driving his car.

May is American Bicycle Month, and Chief Cannon urged bicycle riders to "drive the bicycles safely every day," not just during May.

Motorists can't be blamed for all car-bicycle accidents, according to Cannon. Accident statistics, he said, demonstrate that the cyclist is to blame as often as the motorist.

"The rules for the road are intended for the cyclist as well as the motorist," the chief emphasized.

Bicycles, just as cars, should be safely inspected, he said. "Everyone can check his bicycle to make sure that brakes, tires, lights, reflectors, horns, gears and steering assemblies are in good working order."

The chief noted that new bicycles sold in the U.S. bear a seal of certification—the BMA6 seal—indicating that a model of the bicycle has been tested by an independent testing laboratory and found to meet safety standards.

In addition to parents, children of trained mechanics checking bicycles for safety, the chief urged bicycle owners to obey the rules of the road for bicycles.

These rules, he said, include: obey all traffic regulations, lights, stop signs and one-way streets; keep right, ride single file, and don't weave in and out, swerve, race or stunt in traffic and never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicle; and for night riding, be sure to have a white light in front and a red light or approved reflector in the rear and have a clear-sounding bell or horn to warn others of your approach.

Other safety rules include: slow down at all intersections and look both ways before proceeding with caution; always yield the right-of-way to pedestrians; watch out for cars pulling into traffic and for persons opening car doors; don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with your vision or control; and always use proper hand signals for stopping and turning.

Miss Fawn Staton was crowned Miss College Bound of 1973 during a program held recently at Sadie Sautter School.

Sponsored by the Greenville Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, more than $4,000 in scholarships was awarded to the 20 participating girls.

Miss Staton will receive a scholarship valued at $1,500 for first place. Other top winners include Shelby Sherrod, first runner-up, who will receive $750,

Walking Out In Dispute

RALEIGH (AP)—A spokesman for Southern Bell Telephone workers who have staged an unauthorized walkout since Monday said Wednesday employees in three more North Carolina cities had agreed to join the walkout today.

The spokesman, who declined to identify himself, said "Charlotte, Salisbury and Wilmington have agreed to stay out with us" if the Raleigh "outside" employees who called in sick Monday did not report for work today.

Officials were unavailable Wednesday to confirm the spokesman's statement.

Robert Wood, Southern Bell district manager, said 140 Raleigh workers were out, and were joined Wednesday by 100 workers in Winston Salem and 40 in Lumberton.

The walkout spokesman said the dispute concerned the two-day suspension of 23 workers who called in sick last month after an employee was promoted over a co-worker with more seniority.

Robert Whitley, Raleigh local union president of the Communications Workers of America, said the walkout was unauthorized by the local union.

Former Aide To Senator Paroled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert T. Carson, a former aide to Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, has been granted parole by the U.S. Board of Parole.

Carson had been sentenced to 18 months in prison on conspiracy and perjury charges. He was convicted of being the prime mover in a conspiracy to bribe then-Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and was sentenced on Nov. 14, 1972.

The board denied parole to Collier Leroy Wilkins and Eugene Thomas, Klu Klux Klan members from Alabama who were convicted on civil rights charges in the gunshot slaying of civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in March 1965.

$150 MILLION ESTIMATE
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Finance Commissioner Donald Bradshaw has estimated that the Kentucky General Assembly will have $150 million in revenue sharing money to spend when it convenes January 1974. Kentucky is the only state not holding a legislative session this year.

Builds Tribute To Fire Engine

By KEN FRANCKLING BALTIMORE (UPI) — The fatherly gleam in Roger Majorowicz' eyes is the only thing in his studio that comes close to outshining his mirror-polished bronze tribute to the lore and history of fire engines.

Working on-and-off for a year in an old stone warehouse, the head of the Sculpture Department at the Maryland Institute College of Art created "Fire Chariot," a one ton, 12-foot high sculpture that represents 150 years of fire engine history in Baltimore.

The almost-completed work, which Majorowicz describes as water-tank—smoke swirling out the top—a globe and an American eagle. All are adapted for the horse-drawn American La France Steamer of 1918, according to Majorowicz, a sculptor for 12 of his 42 years.

Delving into the history of the fire regimes at the Fire Museum of Maryland, he also found an emblem of three naked ladies on the 1819 Jeffries-Nuttall, a hand-drawn pumper.

The honeycomb grill on the front of the work comes from a steam-driven Seagrave.
