

Nixon Takes Watergate Responsibility

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Trying to turn his shaken administration to "the vital work before us," President Nixon has assumed final responsibility for the Watergate scandal while declaring those criminally guilty must pay the penalty.

Addressing a nationwide television-radio audience on the 100th day of his second term, Nixon said Monday night:

"In any organization, the man at the top must bear the responsibility. That responsibility, therefore, belongs here, in this office. I accept it."

But he pictured himself as the victim, for nine months, of lies by trusted associates who, he said, convinced him no one in his administration was involved in last June's campaign burglary of Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate here.

Speaking from his Oval Office in the White House, the grim-faced chief executive said:

"I pledge to you tonight, from this office, that I will do everything in my power to ensure that the guilty are brought to justice, and that such abuses are purged from our political processes...."

Barely nine hours earlier, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had announced, on Nixon's behalf, the resignations of four key administration figures: Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman and White House Counsel John W. Dean III.

Dean was fired; the others resigned.

The only new element disclosed by Nixon in his address was authority granted Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson, his nominee for attorney general, "to name a special supervising prosecutor for matters arising out of the case" should Richardson deem that appropriate.

A number of Congress members of both parties have demanded that Nixon himself appoint a special prosecutor from outside administration ranks.

The criticism was not stilled by Nixon's address, although he won general praise for his attempts to clean up the White House staff.

However, there were continued calls for appointing a prosecutor with no administration ties—a suggestion offered by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine; former Rep. William Miller, the Republican nominee for vice president in 1964, and

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.

"I do not believe Congress or the people will be satisfied with the results of any investigation carried on by the administration," said Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Oklahoma. "I wouldn't be satisfied."

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the normal judicial process is adequate to handle the Watergate probe.

Richardson, a former U.S. attorney and elected attorney general of Massachusetts, was put in immediate charge of all federal inquiries concerning Watergate. Nixon described him as "a man of unimpeachable integrity and rigorously high principle."

His voice husky and emotional at times, Nixon acknowledged at the outset of his 24-minute address that Watergate charges inevitably have raised "serious questions about the integrity of the White House itself."

Declaring that public faith in the presidency must "take priority over all personal considerations," Nixon said:

"Whatever may appear to have been the case before—whatever improper activities may yet be discovered in connection with this whole sordid affair—I want the American people, I want you to know beyond the shadow of a doubt that during my terms as president, justice will be pursued fairly, fully and impartially, no matter who is involved. This office is a sacred trust and I am determined to be worthy of that trust."

However, he emphasized in discussing those who have resigned and others alleged to have been involved in the burglary-bugging and subsequent coverup, that he wanted to leave no implication of guilt. He said that is a matter for the judicial system to determine.

Kleindienst said he resigned because of close ties to several individuals implicated in Watergate. Haldeman and Ehrlichman are leaving on grounds their usefulness has been impeded because of the case.

Since March, Nixon said, Watergate "has claimed far too much of my own time and attention. I must now turn my full attention once again to the larger duties of this office."

In explaining his stated ignorance of the full ramifications of the case, Nixon said:

"I repeatedly asked those conducting the investigation whether there was any reason to believe that members of my administration were in any way involved. I received repeated assurances that there were not."

"Because of these continuing reassurances—because I believed the reports I was getting, because I had faith in the persons from whom I was getting them—I discounted the stories in the press that appeared to implicate members of my administration or other officials of the campaign committee."

In March, he related, "new information then came to me which persuaded me that there was a real possibility that some of these charges were true, and suggesting further that there had been an effort to conceal the facts both from the public, from you, and from me."

At that point, he said, he initiated a personal investigation that reached a climax Monday as he turned the inquiry over to Richardson.

The President argued that Watergate proves the strength, not the weakness, of the American political system. He declared:

"It was the system that has brought the facts to light and that will bring those guilty to justice—a system that in this case has included a determined grand jury, honest prosecutors, a courageous judge—John Sirica—and a vigorous free press."

Gems Stolen By Gunmen

NEW YORK (AP) — Three gunmen held employees at the Air India cargo terminal at Kennedy Airport Monday night and made off with shipments of diamonds, emeralds and other stones worth an estimated $500,000.

Police said two of the bandits forced the night supervisor to remove 31 tin boxes of jewels from a vault and loaded them into two cardboard cartons.

The third gunman stood guard outside and held up a truck driver and a security guard who arrived during the robbery.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents were posted outside key White House offices today as President Nixon moved to protect files which might be needed in the expanding Watergate investigation.

Revise Budget Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today revised sharply downward its estimated budget deficits for 1973 and 1974 as a result of rising government receipts.

Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz said the 1973 budget deficit is now $19.8 billion, $5.7 billion less than the original estimate. The estimated 1974 budget deficit is now $5 billion, he said, an improvement of $7 billion over the original estimate.

Shultz attributed the improved budget figures to a rising flow of tax receipts "primarily because of the strong upturn in the economy."

He said total budget expenditures should be as previously budgeted—$249.8 billion for 1973 and $268.7 billion for 1974.

The 1974 budget, however, has not been approved by Congress. The increased revenues primarily will be from individual income taxes, which will increase over earlier estimates by about $2 billion to $101.4 billion this year and by $3.7 billion to $115.3 billion in 1974.

Corporation income taxes will increase by nearly the same amount, up by $2 billion over earlier estimates to a total $35.5 billion this year and by $3 billion to $40 billion in 1974.

"This improved budget picture," Shultz said, in a statement to the House Ways and Means Committee "is a further indication of the firm fiscal policy that President Nixon is exercising to hold down inflationary pressures."

Government figures have shown the economy increasing at a faster rate than earlier estimated, leading to high profits and a greater flow of tax receipts to the Treasury.

FIRE VICTIMS

LAKEWOOD, N. J. (AP) — Three persons died today and 10 others were injured in a fire that destroyed the Manhattan Hotel, the largest and oldest hotel in this community.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has authority to control wages and prices for another year, voted by a bitterly divided Congress and signed at the White House under deadline pressure.

The House took the final legislative action less than six hours before the authority would have expired at midnight Monday. It passed, Hanoi Warned Of Reprisals By U.S.

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese and U.S. cease-fire negotiators returned home today with the American threatening resumption of U.S. military action in Vietnam if violations of the cease-fire continue and Hanoi's man ruling out a meeting soon between Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho.

"Hanoi will soon have to make its choice and decide whether it wants full implementation of the accords in good faith or if it prefers to take the path which would take us to the unfortunate military situation to which we hoped to put an end by signing the (cease-fire) agreement," said Deputy Asst. Secretary of State William H. Sullivan after talks on ceasefire violations with North Vietnamese Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach.

"We have published a note revealing the violations which have been committed," Sullivan said. "We have indicated that we wish the accords to be faithfully carried out. We have spoken frankly and without emotion on these subjects during the past few days. I think that Hanoi knows what is expected of it."

Asked if further conversations would be held under the threat of new U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, Sullivan said: "We don't think the talks will be held in an atmosphere of threat.... On the other hand, we are absolutely unsatisfied by the way the North Vietnamese and the forces under their control are conducting themselves and the way in which they have implemented the accords."

Thach, as he boarded a plane for Moscow en route to Hanoi, told newsmen: "The atmosphere is not favorable at present for talks between the advisers of President Nixon and of the Hanoi government, Mr. Kissinger and Mr. Tho."

He called for the United States to resume clearance of its mines from North Vietnamese waters, for it to resume talks on American aid to North Vietnam and for an end to U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam.

Foreign Aid Program Costing $2.9 Billion Is Sent To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today sent a $2.9-billion foreign aid program to Congress. It included $632 million for reconstruction in Indochina.

However, the projected fiscal 1974 program did not include any funds for rehabilitation in North Vietnam. The Indochina aid was limited entirely to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

The 1974 proposal of $2.9 billion compares to a $2.6-billion foreign aid program that has been in effect under a continuing resolution for nearly two years.

Congress last year failed to approve a specific authorization for foreign aid covering the current fiscal period. Instead, the Senate and House approved resolutions to finance the foreign assistance at fiscal 1972 levels.

The foreign-aid message going to Congress today contains an over-all proposed spending level of about $2.9 billion as originally outlined in the Nixon's fiscal 1974 budget released in January.

The foreign-aid program traditionally has contained military assistance as well as economic aid and other programs administered through the Agency for International Development. Next year the AID spending-authority figure is set at about $1.7 billion with the remaining money for military assistance and other costs.

The foreign-aid program did not receive an authorization for the current fiscal year. Instead, it has been operating on the basis of the fiscal 1972 authorization under a series of continuing resolutions. The 1972 measure totaled about $2.6 billion.

The foreign-aid program has been in trouble off and on for the past three years

Assembly Said 'Awfully Quiet'

RALEIGH—Pitt Rep. Horton Rountree said today that in his opinion, publicity in some state newspapers regarding the accreditation of the University of North Carolina medical school and the one-year medical program at East Carolina University has had little if any adverse influence on legislators as far as the ECU medical school question is concerned.

"It's been awfully quiet up here," Rountree said. "Few have said anything about it. They (members of the legislature) feel it is just another maneuver by the UNC medical school...."

According to the legislator, a bill, introduced in the House several weeks ago by representative, Dr. John Gamble Jr. of Lincoln County and in the Senate by Sen. James Garrison of Stanley county setting aside a $25 million reserve for medical education, will "probably come up tomorrow" before the joint appropriations committee.

Rountree said, "I have great hopes that there will be a reserve," but it is a question of "shifting to find some available cash."

There is, he said "a feeling that something should be done at this time," but he explained "we are overspent by seven or eight million dollars now," and "it's a question of going back through the budget and paring to preserve a fund for medical education."

267 to 115, a compromise measure praised by few members

The Senate, had acted earlier by nonrecord voice vote after Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., withdrew a threat to talk until midnight unless he got Senate action on a postcar-voter-registration bill.

Nixon signed the measure two hours before the deadline.

The bill extends Nixon's basic authority for a year. It contains none of the mandatory price-or-rollback provisions for which consumer advocates worked, and to that extent pleases the administration, which wanted a simple extension.

But it does contain provisions to which Nixon spokesmen objected: Authority for allocation of petroleum products, exemption of wages up to $3.50 an hour from controls, and a requirement that big corporations make public information justifying price increases of 1.5 per cent or more.

The division on the measure was across party and ideological lines. Several supporters said they voted for it only to avoid disruptions if the authority were allowed to lapse.

In the House, 153 Democrats joined 114 Republicans to pass the measure, while 58 Democrats and 57 Republicans voted no. Opponents included members opposed to any controls, others who wanted a simple extension, and others who wanted Congress to decree ceilings or rollbacks—as did the bill originally approved by the House Banking Committee.

That bill was lost on the House floor to a Republican-backed substitute which was further modified in a conference with the Senate.

Public Cautioned Conserve Gasoline

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton today urged Americans to start conserving gasoline if they want to avoid shortages this summer.

Morton did not directly mention the possibility of gasoline rationing, but warned shortages could affect "the freedom of choice of our citizens."

In a statement issued from his office, Morton urged that Americans save gasoline by driving their cars only when necessary, planning vacations and camping trips closer to home, slowing down on highways and limiting the use of auto air-conditioners and other powered equipment.

In a separate statement prepared for presentation to the Senate Interior Committee, Morton said, "the margin between experiencing energy shortages and not experiencing energy shortages is very small."

"For this summer," he said, "only a one or two per cent reduction in gasoline consumption could make a difference."

"The driving habits of the American people can determine whether we get through the summer without a problem or whether we have to consider far more serious remedial measures than have so far been considered."

In renewing President Nixon's wage-and-price-control authority Monday night, Congress gave him, for the first time since the energy crisis became a public issue, clear authority to allocate petroleum products.

Administration officials have repeatedly said there was no intention to institute gasoline rationing in the foreseeable future, but Morton's statements seemed to mean that adequate gasoline was becoming less and less foreseeable.

Morton urged the public to take nine commonsense steps to save gasoline:

—Plan vacations and camping trips closer to home.

—Use trains, buses or airplanes on long trips rather than automobiles.

—Use automobiles only for necessary trips.

—Limit the use of auto air-conditioners and other fuel consuming accessories.

—Drive 10 miles below the speed limit on all super-highways.

—Place greater reliance on small cars, particularly by two-car families.

—Use mass transit systems more extensively.

—Walk or ride bicycles on short trips.

—Keep automobile engines properly tuned and tires properly inflated."

Further Flooding

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer
Federal officials have warned victims of the Mississippi River valley floods who abandoned their homes downstream from Hannibal, Mo., not to try to move back in too soon. New rains in the upper valley may cause new flood problems.

"It's not a time to relax," said a spokesman for the Corps of Army Engineers in St. Louis as two to three inches of rain pounded sections of Iowa and northern Illinois late Monday and early today.

Eleven deaths have been reported and damages continued to mount.

The Mississippi River Commission said more than 11 million acres—from Wisconsin to Mississippi—remain under water. Destruction in the seven states declared federal disaster areas was estimated by the commission at more than $320 million.

Paused To Help And Is Held Up

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—A would-be good samaritan found himself stripped to his underwear and deserted on Interstate-85 in Cleveland County early this morning.

Willie Franklin Simmons of Thomasville told police he was entering the interstate from U.S. 74 when a man standing by a car with its hood open waved him to a stop.

Simmons said as he approached the car a second man with a gun ordered him to disrobe. He said the two stole his clothes and his car and left him on the highway in his underwear.

Jenkins Tells YDC To Seek Good Leadership

Dr. Leo Jenkins advised Democrats Monday night to seek strong leadership in political candidates and to insist on honesty, integrity and credibility at all levels of government.

"Be on guard against dishonest allegations which can both distort and destroy," the East Carolina University chancellor told a meeting of Pitt County Young Democrats Clubs (YDC) at the Baptist Student center in Greenville.

Jenkins has long been active in Democratic party affairs and is often mentioned as a potential Democratic candidate for governor.

He blamed "lack of full party participation" and diffusion of strength in running of "separate, disjointed campaigns" for Democratic party misfortunes in the 1972 elections, both nationally and in North Carolina. He said that resulting confusion caused one of every three voters to split their tickets "in favor of Republicans." Eight out of 10 ticket splitters were Democrats, he said.

"The day of voting the straight Democratic ticket is fast becoming a thing of the past," Jenkins said.

Young Democrats, loyal to the party, can make the Democrat party strong again, he said, by: Courage

Facing the issues and taking avigorous stand

Seeking strong leadership in political candidates

Constructing good programs

Being proud to be a Democrat

Having confidence in themselves and preaching the truth

Bringing the party program to the people through local and weekly newspapers, television and radio.

"Madison avenue techniques fail more often than they succeed in North Carolinas," Jenkins said. "Avoid the big city newspapers in this state. Their blessing is a kiss of death."

Afro-Asian Symposium Will Begin Wednesday

"The Afro-Asian World Today," a two-day symposium at East Carolina University, is scheduled to open Wednesday, May 2 with lectures and discussions on the social, political and economic progress of India and of Kenya and the African region.

Hon. G. V. Ramakrishna, economic minister at the Indian Embassy, and Simon Gichuru, commercial secretary at the Kenyan Embassy, will speak on these topics at the morning session at 10 a.m. Dr. Avtar Singh, chairman of the ECU Asian Studies Committee, will preside.

Topic for the afternoon session, beginning at 2 p.m., will be "The Role of International Cooperation in Community Life." Prof. Harold F. Kaufman, Mississippi State University sociologist, will give the featured address.

A panel discussion and summary will be presented by J. W. Pou, vice president, Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.; Dr. Joseph W. Romita of the ECU economics faculty; Grace Ellenberg of the ECU Romance languages faculty; Baljit Singh, director of the Michigan State University Asian Studies Center; and Dr. Blanche G. Watrous, chairman of the ECU Asian Studies Committee.

Presiding at the afternoon session will be Dr. Mary J. Bratton of the ECU Department of History.

A recital of Indian classical music will close the session. Prof. Roger Beresford of New York will perform on the sitar, an Indian stringed instrument.

Both sessions will be held in the ECU Social Sciences Building, Room 102, and are free and open to the public.

Also open to the public is an evening International Festival at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church in Greenville.

International costumes, foods of India and Africa, dances and Music, films, and exhibits of art objects will be among the events to be presented at the festival program beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Presiding will be Mrs. Mary Faye Shires, chairman of the Greenville Woman's Club International Affairs Committee.

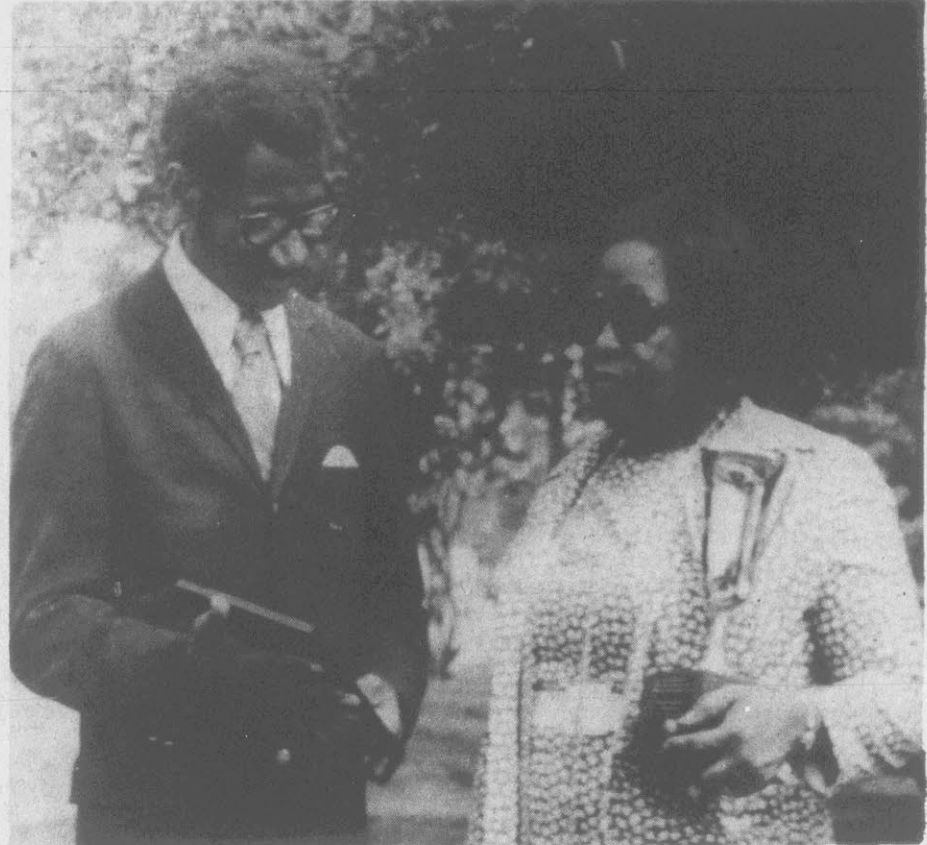

Hargrove Takes Professor Role

RALEIGH (AP) — Former Commissioner of Mental Health Eugene Hargrove will start a new job as professor of psychiatry today.

Dr. Hargrove announced Monday he has accepted the position at George Washington University Medical Center in Washington D.C.

He resigned as mental health commissioner shortly after Republican Gov. Jim Holshouser took office in January, after serving in the post 14 years.

Two Honored At Church Session

Johnny A. Wooten of Greenville and Mrs. Wyoming Wells of Greensboro were honored recently at the 52nd annual ministers and workers meeting of the Church of God in Christ of Great North Carolina held in Greenville.

Wooten was presented a gold plaque of distinguished service rendered to the Church of God in Christ of the State of North Carolina.

Wooten serves as associate director of the music department for both state and local events.

Mrs. Wells, wife of presiding bishop, Bishop Wyoming Wells, received a gold loving cup for her outstanding service in connection with the women's and missionary work and her contributions to the state.

An estimated 4,000 persons attended the meeting which concluded Monday.

Spring Concert Set Wednesday

The 80 member East Carolina University Choral will present their annual spring concert Wednesday evening at 8:15 in Wright Auditorium.

A work by Gabrieli will combine the chamber singers, the University Choral, brass and organ.

Admission is free, and the public is invited to attend.

Scholarship For Junior Student

John Louis Harb, junior student in the East Carolina University Department of Environmental Health, has received a national scholarship.

The award was made by the National Environmental Health Association on behalf of the Hatco Corporation for junior and senior environmental health majors with high grade point averages.

To Integrate Its Housing

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The city government has settled a lawsuit by agreeing to promote integration of housing.

One of the terms is that the Charlotte Housing Authority will seek to place 475 new units of public housing outside of all-black and transitional areas.

Blacks who brought the suit in 1970 said public housing had been placed in such areas, fostering segregation.

A memorandum of understanding released Monday by City Attorney Henry Underhill also said the Redevelopment Commission will show houses in white neighborhoods to blacks being relocated from urban-renewal areas.

U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan is expected to sign this week an order postponing trial of the case, giving the city a chance to put the agreement into effect. Its terms also include:

-The Planning Commission and the City Council will rezone land on the predominantly white southeastern part of town to allow higher density housing, so lower-income blacks can afford to live there.

-The city will build new parks in predominantly black areas. It also will make sure that such areas get a fair share of park facilities in the future.

Judge McMillan is to retain jurisdiction in the case, and review progress from time to time.

Award Medal To 27 Sunday

The 3398th U.S. Army Reserve Reception Station awarded the Army Reserve Component Achievement Medal to 27 men Sunday during ceremonies at the center.

Receiving the awards were LTC Howard G. Ling, MAJ Junius K. Maxwell, MAJ Richard G. Wagner, CPT Marvin E. Howell, CPT Charles E. Johnson, CPT John W. Smith, CW4 A. V. Piner Jr., CW2 J. I. Whitehurst, SGM James E. Jenkins, SGM Ernest S. Spain Jr., MSG Robert L. Tripp, SFG Wesley E. Craft, SFC Charles M. Flake, SSG Kenneth N. Kirby, SSG Roger H. Lee, SSG James L. Little, SSG Carlton R. The medal, it was noted, is awarded for exemplary behavior, efficiency, fidelity, and four years longevity while serving as a member of an Army Reserve program unit in the grade of colonel or below.

The Armed Forces Reserve Medal, recognizing ten years of service, was presented to Maxwell, Wagner, Howell, Johnson, Smith, Piner, Jenkins, Spain, Tripp, Craft, and Flake.

The 3398th Station is commanded by Ling and the Greenville detachment is commanded by Johnson. Active duty unit advisors are MAJ Robert Fielman, CPT Willie L. Long, and SFC Hansel Strawbridge.

The unit is located at 1301 N. Memorial Drive.

City Counts 2 Collisions

An estimated $1,725 property damage resulted from two collisions here yesterday according to Greenville Police.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 6:05 p.m. mishap on Tenth Street 67 feet East of the Forbes Street intersection involving cars driven by Jackie Holland Ehrmann, 26, of 2506 East Tenth St. and Linda Kay Haddock, 25, of Oakmont Square Apartments.

Damage to the Ehrmann vehicle was set at $400 and damage to the Haddock auto was placed at $700.

Miss Haddock was charged with failing to reduce her speed enough to avoid an accident.

Joe Cullen Daniels of 203 Woodside Rd. was charged with following too closely following investigation of a 6:40 p.m. mishap on Memorial Drive 468 feet North of rural paved road 1001.

Officers said the Daniels auto collided with a car operated by Edna Biggs Graves of 1401 Est Fourth St. causing an estimated $450 damage to the Graves car and about $175 damage to the Daniels auto.

No injuries were reported in either collision.

Snoopy

CHARLOTTE (AP)—U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan felt like holding Snoopy, the Charlotte police helicopter, in contempt of court for making so much noise witnesses could not be heard.

The judge did the next best thing Monday. He put down his pen, leaned back in his chair, and said: "Let's knock off. We'll crank up again as soon as Snoopy leaves."

The chopper buzzed on for five minutes, and finally went away.

It had been hanging around the Post Office Building downtown, in which federal court is located, while checking out someone tampering with a car. The helicopter crew spotted a tamperer and radioed police, who arrested a man a block from the courtroom.

Women Are Filling Jobs Charter Granted To NSA

Engagement Announced

MISS BARBARA SUE TAYLOR, . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor of Greenville, who announce her engagement to Melvin Lee Foust, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Foust of Greenville. The wedding will take place July 20.

By EDWARD S. LECHTZIN
UPI Auto Writer
DETROIT (UPI) — Women are showing up in new places in the automobile industry—designing, building and repairing cars.

The first few days on the job for Mrs. Susan McCrary as an apprentice die maker at American Motors' Milwaukee, Wis., body plant were the toughest. In addition to entering a traditionally man's job, she became the subject of a number of press and television interviews.

Another gal getting some attention is Ginny Cartmell, a clay modeler—the first woman to hold that position with Chrysler Corp.

"There is no reason a woman should not do this kind of work," she says. "Besides, women can contribute a different approach to the cars—more esthetic, less mechanical and functional."

Mrs. Cartmell said the only problem she encountered when she took the job five months ago was "proving a woman can do the job. And, at first, the guys were a bit unsettled. But they've calmed down now. They're comfortable having me around."

Her Job

As a clay modeler in Chrysler's Interior Design Studio here, Mrs. Cartmell's job is to "three-dimensionally portra-a two-dimensional concept created by a designer and an engineer," she said.

"We are given a sketch for some part of the car's interior—possibly a seat, door panel, instrument panel or steering wheel," she said. "Then we have to sculpt that design, giving it three-dimensional form, to determine whether it's safe, attractive, comfortable, unified and physically possible."

When she's not sculpting clay at Chrysler, Mrs. Cartmell paints.

"None of my art background could train me specifically for this job, though," she said. "You learn as you go. The main requirements are an understanding of form and line, and knowing how to run power equipment like drill presses and grinding wheels."

That's what Mrs. McCrary, 25, and the mother of a 5-year-old girl, is doing—learning to operate such equipment as a lathe, milling machine, drill press, plus a wide variety of hand tools.

She was hired by American Motors as a sweeper last June 26 and applied first in both the millwright and industrial maintenance steamfitter apprentice programs. She failed to finish high enough to qualify for those programs and later applied, and passed the qualifying tests, for the die making apprenticeship.

A Four-Year Apprentice

She'll spend the next four years as an apprentice—with a total of 8,000 hours of on-the-job training and classroom work at Milwaukee Area Technical College.

Mrs. McCrary says she wants to convince her male co-workers that just because her hobbies include macrame, embroidery and needlepoint, there is no reason why she can't also be a successful die maker.

One hobby that many women appear to be taking up is learning what makes a car run and how to fix it when it doesn't. Chrysler's "Women on Wheels" (WOW) program has conducted 500 classes in the past year, graduating some 18,000 women from the course of four weekly two-hour cases.

The WOW program teaches the women motorist how to do everything from trouble shooting a no-start condition, to changing flats, to identifying squeals, clanks and thumps. It shows a woman how an automobile operates, what she can do if she has a problem and how to recognize serious trouble from the routine.

One twist in the first year of operation, says R. H. Kline, service director for Chrysler's U.S. Auto Sales Group, was a complaint from a man who felt wronged because he was not permitted to join a session.

Abby Votes In Favor Of Belgium Trip

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy with an unusual problem. For the last two years I have had a paper route and done odd jobs. I have saved $800 to do with what I please.

My sister lives in Belgium and has asked me to visit her during vacation time. She is 28 and teaches school there.

My mom said I may go, but my father hit the ceiling. He said I was too young to learn anything, that it would be a waste of time and money for me to make that trip at age 14. Abby, I do well in school and I think I would learn a lot if I made this trip. I earned all the money myself and saved it, and I think I should be allowed to go. What do you think?

YOUNG READER: YELM, WASH.

DEAR READER: From your letter I would say you are a responsible young man and would learn a great deal from the trip. Furthermore, a 14-year-old boy who can earn and save $800 should be permitted to spend it as he sees fit. I vote with Mom. [P. S. If you go, send me a postcard.]

DEAR ABBY: A wife complained that her husband, a psychologist, was being intimate with some of his women patients. (He said it was "in the line of duty.") You told her that her husband needed to see a psychiatrist.

Why didn't you recommend a psychologist? Some psychologists are as competent as psychiatrists to treat individuals with emotional problems.

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: A psychiatrist is first a physician, which qualifies him to rule out a physical problem that could be responsible for the emotional problem. Furthermore, only a physician is able to prescribe medication, should it be needed.

A psychologist who behaves in an unethical manner [and engaging in intimacies with patients is indeed unethical] should, in my opinion, see a psychiatrist. And I'd make the same recommendation for a lawyer, C. P. A., or any other professional person who gets carried away in the line of duty and appears hell-bent on destroying his family and livelihood. If the psychiatrist decides that only psychotherapy is indicated, a referral to a clinical psychologist could then be made.

DEAR ABBY: You advised someone to "go the 70x7 route," and no one in our office can figure out what you meant. Please clarify.

STUMPED AT KRUPP'S

DEAR STUMPED: I meant that however many times—7, or 70x7—someone trespasses against you, if he asks forgiveness, forgive him. [New Testament: Matthew, XVI-II, 21-22.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOHNNY: The best things in life are far from "free"—they oftentimes come with experience. And experience can be expensive.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 68700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 68700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Episcopal Churchwomen To Hold Meet

WASHINGTON—The annual meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of East Carolina will convene at 10:30 a.m. at St. Peter's Episcopal Church here Thursday, May 10.

The Holy Communion service, celebrated by Bishop Elebash, will begin the one-day meeting. At the service, the memorial roll will be read and the Bishops' Fund will be presented.

The Rev. Keith J. Reeve, formerly of this Diocese, now rector of St. Mark's Church, Raleigh, will act as moderator and coordinator of a panel-workshop on "Lay Ministry."

Mrs. Louis J. Poisson Jr. of Wilmington, retiring president, will present her final report. Officers for a two-year term will be elected and the budget will be acted upon.

Bishop Elebash will address the group and install the new officers. Mrs. C.E. Hancock Jr. of New Bern is the incoming president.

What The Committee Wants

The report of the liaison committee on the accrediting of the Chapel Hill medical school with the one-year ECU medical school under its umbrella demonstrates a number of things.

First, of course, it is clear that the one-year program can be developed and the committee, indeed, granted the full seven-year accreditation to both programs provided its recommendation are followed.

Basically the committee wants to see a beefing up of programs at the ECU school and better cooperation between the two schools.

Both these criticisms are damaging to the new administration of the University of North Carolina system. The board of governors was created to oversee the development of all the universities in the state system. By law it was charged with the responsibility of administering the development of the one-year ECU school in cooperation with the Chapel Hill school. This was done by the same Legislature which created the board. Yet, we find by this report that the administration has made virtually no progress in bringing about the cooperative arrangement. It is also a fact that despite the recommendation of the accrediting committee that the ECU school be improved, the board of governors has recommended no new funds to the ECU school for this biennium.

On the other hand UNC President William Friday met with ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins and then moved swiftly to correct the administrative failures. They announced after the meeting that the ECU program would be placed more directly under the dean of the UNC medical school.

That, in itself speaks well for the new system. If a problem such as this had arisen prior to the organization of the board of governors the situation could have easily collapsed in a whirlpool of hopeless squabbling.

The failure of the board of governors to provide the administrative leadership and adequate financing can be laid to the initial problems of organizing the new system. The board was organized with half its members from the old Consolidated University and many of them came with a built-in bias against the ECU medical school.

The time has now passed when members of the board can play favorites. It is ironical that in the eyes of the public the board's success in handling the complicated problems of a multi-university system will be measured by its ability to properly build the ECU medical school.

Ironical though it is, it is also fitting. If the administration of the university system has come to recognize that the ECU school is a reality and it is here to stay, then the system has reached a point of maturity which holds real promise for its future.

From A Pulpit To Legislature

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—Joy J. Johnson answers to the title Reverend on Sunday and Representative the rest of the week.

In his first role, he stands in the pulpit of First Baptist Church on North Main Street in Fairmont. In the second, he sits in the General Assembly as a member of the House from Robeson County.

Preacher or politician, he is an apostle for equality and open participation in citizenship without regard to race, creed or sex.

"I look on my contribution in the legislature as a continuation of the social ministry of my church," he explained. What he says in sermons about justice he tries to achieve through public office in making laws to remove inequities from society.

The gentleman from Robeson is black, one of three among the 170 members of the legislature. The fact of race gives him a broad opportunity to serve, but imposes no special handicap, Rep. Johnson said.

No form of discrimination, subtle or overt, has stood in the way of his acceptance among legislators, he said. White colleagues have been cordial and courteous, he reported, and leaders have been cooperative and helpful on points of parliamentary procedure and the legislative process.

Reception Pleated Him
"I was a little leary when I first came here in '71," Johnson confessed. "I had some reservations about how I would be received. I have been over whelmed and pleased."

His experience shows, Johnson said, that a black legislator can introduce and work for bills which will pass or fail on their merits and majority sentiment without racial implications.

Two of his measures have been enacted this session. One repealed the so-called lien law, on the books since 1951, under which elderly welfare recipients had to sign over any property they owned to be sold at their death to repay the amount of aid they received.

The other provided for automatic restoration of citizenship rights to felons who have paid their debt to society, through completion of a prison sentence, pardon or parole.

A third item sponsored by Johnson, passed by the House and awaiting Senate action, would allow misdemeanor inmates of the correction system to vote by mail.

Ballot Access Vital Ballot access, through liberalized voting laws, is a goal rated highly by Rep. Johnson. Democratic government can function in response to the people, he said, as all citizens have the opportunity to freely participate.

Blacks have gained through their own political involvement, he noted. "We can't deny that more than ever before blacks have privileges and opportunities in politics," he said. "They are conscious of the system and aware of its results."

What this means for the future, he added, is that black voters will give closer examination to what candidates promise and how elected officials

What this means for the future, he added, is that black voters will give closer examination to what candidates promise and how elected officials perform. Keener competition between parties for the black vote will mark campaigns ahead. "It can no longer be assumed that all blacks will remain in the Democratic party," he cautioned.

His own allegiance as a Democrat is unwavering, said Johnson, but significant appointments by Gov. Jim Holshouser can be expected to have an influence in attracting blacks to the Republican party.

Rep. Henry Frye of Guilford and H. M. Michaux Jr. of Durham, the other two black legislators, also are Democrats.

A Statewide Constituency
As minority members, the three have what amounts to a statewide constituency as well as their own districts, Johnson said. "We have contacts from blacks all over the state who look to us as their representatives," he said. "We urge them also to call on the legislators they helped elect, and let their opinions be known."

At 50, Rep. Johnson has a touch of gray in his hair and youthful exuberance in his style of dress. Active in politics long before coming to the legislature, he served as a Fairmont town commissioner.

His home county is something of a race relations laboratory. Robeson's population of 84,000 is almost equally divided among whites, blacks and Indians.

"We do have problems of race," Johnson acknowledged. "The view from outside may be exaggerated. We have fair-minded whites just as concerned for equal representation as blacks and Indians. If that were not so, I wouldn't be here nor would Henry Oxendine."

Oxendine, a Lumbie Indian, recently was named to fill a vacant seat from Robeson.

A drive to increase voter registration among blacks and Indians does not aim to take over the county's political structure, said Johnson, but to assure participation by all elements in the conduct of government.

Demos Ponder A Unity Appeal

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON

Democratic party leaders are now seriously considering this unique political response to the national disaster of Watergate: buy network TV time, call for national unity, avoid recriminations and demand ruthless and complete exposure of all the squalid facts.

No final decision has been reached, and party chairman Robert Strauss may decide that the time is not quite ripe for such an appeal. The purpose would be to put the Democratic party on the side of the angels and to make a vivid demonstration of steering clear of normal partisan exploitation at the expense of President Nixon.

In short, such party leaders as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic Governors' Conference, and others—led by Strauss—are fearful and traditional partisan efforts to cash in on Mr. Nixon's extreme and painful vulnerability could backfire, causing Republicans to re-form their lines around Mr. Nixon. But worse, they fear that the President's vulnerability means that the United States is also extremely vulnerable. A President stripped of his power by Watergate is a country similarly stripped of its power.

Strauss, who has turned down recent invitations to go on national television shows so as to avoid any charge of exploiting a national crisis for partisan gain, would not himself take part in stating the Democratic party's position on national TV.

Too obviously political himself, he would invite such party leaders as Bumpers, perhaps the esteemed Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, or another influential Senator, and a leading House Democrat to state the party's case.

That case: appeal for national unity on grounds that there is only one President; pledge Democratic support for any clean-up or reform the President wanted to institute, particularly in the field of campaign spending; and demand total disclosure of Watergate and attendant scandals—but no political or moral judgments. The voters, say the Democratic leaders will have plenty of facts to make such judgments without help from any Democrat.

House Revolt
A careful head-count by top White House lobbyists in the once-secure House now indicates that parliamentary moves to block the spending of any U. S. funds for any military activity in Indochina will have at least a 50-50 chance of becoming law.

No one is watching the steady transformation of the Democratic-controlled House from faithful ally to White House foe on Vietnam with more anxiety than Dr. Henry Kissinger.

His new talks in Paris with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho are now set for mid-May. Kissinger knows that if Congress should decide to pull the rug out from under President Nixon, most of the U.S. bargaining power to persuade Hanoi to establish a more reliable ceasefire in South Vietnam will disappear. American bombing in Cambodia, for example, has been in-

"YES SIR, LEO, THINGS ARE FINALLY COMING YOUR WAY"

Mini-Court No Answer

By J.J. KILPATRICK

Several months ago a distinguished committee, headed by Professor Paul Freund of Harvard, recommended creation of a new National Court of Appeals as a means of relieving the work load of the U. C. Supreme Court. I believe, on reflection, that the proposal is unwise, but with Law Week at hand it may be an appropriate time to renew the discussion.

No person who follows the work of the Supreme Court would deny Freund's statement of the facts. Over the past 35 years, the number of cases reaching the Court has nearly quadrupled, from 983 in the 1935 term to 3,643 in 1971. The burden of reading these petitions, screening them, and selecting perhaps 150 cases for formal argument and written opinion is beyond question a heavy burden.

Nothing suggests that the flood is likely to subside. It is a part of our English-speaking inheritance, perhaps, that Americans dearly love to litigate. The notion that our ills can be solved by passing a law is a notion deeply engrained in our national character; and once a law has been passed, it must be interpreted, parsed, and dissected: it must be chopped into bits like chicken liver, the better to make a pate of judicial construction. My beloved Commonwealth of Virginia not long ago amended its Sunday Blue Law, converting the obscure into the incomprehensible, and the lawyers are playing happy games in the fog.

The great bulk of the Court's growing burden, of course, is not in civil law but in criminal law. The Warren Court sowed a wind of liberalizing decisions having to do with the rights of the accused and the admissibility of evidence. Now the Court under Chief Justice Burger is reaping the whirlwind. Hundreds of prisoners in State and Federal institutions, seeing a chance of escape through judicial hatches, are filing petitions seeking review and reversal. Most of the petitions are frivolous, but all of them have to be read.

It was the fear of the Freund committee, that unless this task of screening can be lightened, the quality of the Court's work inevitably will suffer. The nine members of the Court must be allowed abundant time for reflection, for reading, and for extended discussion among themselves. But one can imagine it is difficult to engage in contemplative thinking when attendants are rolling in whole grocery carts filled with records, petitions, and exhibits.

The committee's answer to the problem is a National Court of Appeals, composed of seven judges drawn from the Federal Circuit Courts of Appeals. All cases now eligible for Supreme Court review would go first to the new court, which would screen out some four or five hundred likely petitions and send them on to the Supreme Court. From these, the Court would select perhaps 150 for final action.

The plan has this much merit: It would in fact relieve the nine members of the Supreme Court from the most

Other Editors Say Higher Taxes?

(The Wilson times)

With living costs as high as they are, a tax increase, if enacted, will be the "straw to break the camel's back." A tax increase would be put in to curb inflation, but inflation will not stop until the government puts brakes on spending.

The increase in costs is alarming. Consumer prices have risen at an annual rate of 8.8 per cent since the beginning of the year, compared with 3.4 per cent for 1972.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, says "tax increases are being considered as a way to drain some steam off of the over-heated economy."

Evidently the administration is trying something new, for President Nixon until recently has held that his economic policy, and federal budgetary restraint, would preclude higher taxes.

Nixon knows something must be done to preserve credibility with consumers, for prices have gone up and up since the President lifted mandatory controls Jan. 11.

Inflation is a cause for concern the world over. According to the International Monetary Fund survey of February 26, 1973, the German government will levy a 10 per cent tax surcharge for a period of one year to combat the accelerating rate of inflation.

We are now reaping the results of three decades on the part of Congress on a spending spree. The ones who suffer most are those on pensions and the poor.

Coming back to our situation, Dr. Stein concedes that the explosive inflation of the first quarter of 1973 wipes out the hope of achieving an overall 3 per cent inflation for the current year.

At the present pace of price increases, American families will lose ground even if the wage earners receive the annual 5.5 per cent pay increase the President's guidelines allow.

The rising prices are sending Americans on a consumer buying spree for new cars, color TV sets, even houses—buying them now for fear prices are going to climb even higher.

This Is Critical Year For A&P

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Last year was a very tough year for the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., the nation's largest food retailer. This year could be a critical one.

Nothing sums up the problems more than the financial results, and they were poor. The final quarter report, just released, brought the net loss for the year to $51.3 million, worst in recent history for the 114-year-old company.

Because of the losses, the company was forced for the first time since 1925 to omit a quarterly dividend, breaking a chain of events that is one of the most meaningful assurances of wealthy, conservative investors.

The price of its stock, which was as high as $65 in 1961, is now $13.25. Many stockholders are understandably unhappy, of course, and even Huntington Hartford, heir to an A&P fortune and noted for investments that fail to pay, has criticized management as inefficient.

In the name of efficiency, it was forced to close more than 400 stores, although it opened about 80 more for the same reason. In the process, it lost—but later regained—its position as the nation's biggest food retailer.

It took radical means to accomplish that feat, however, and as the sluggish giant struggled to regain its power, management was challenged by Gulf & Western Industries, which sought to win disaffected stockholders to its side with an offer for 3.75 million shares.

G&W attracted more than that amount, perhaps as much as 19 per cent, but management won a court order against the tender offer's becoming effective. Still, the battle for ownership, combined with that for survival, was a bitter experience.

Meanwhile, as if problems weren't sufficient for management, its allegedly low-cost WEO campaign— "Where economy originates"—was begun almost simultaneously with an explosion in food prices.

In fighting to regain lost sales, it waged what smaller competitors called a vicious fight, selling some items at prices these competitors claimed were destined to drive them out of business.

While that charge cannot be demonstrated conclusively, it did force smaller chains into the red and united many of them in seeking innovative merchandising methods to slam back at the common enemy.

The sleeping giant acquired the reputation as the giant bully, and other retailers are not only predicting but anticipating the day when, with their greater agility and flexibility, they can retaliate.

One thing is certain: Some competing chains have been forced to review their policies, to improve marketing and eliminate inefficiencies, and therefore are more competitive than a year ago. They want their customers back.

Young Legal Minds

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither of our kids turned out to be a lawyer — which is surprising, considering the fact that they spent their childhood drawing up, formidable-sounding legal documents.

When they were feeling friendly they would prepare elaborate wills, leaving one another all their carefully hoarded possessions, ranging from a butterfly impaled in a cigar box to a half-eaten lollipop.

But following an argument, they would withdraw the largesse with nastily worded codicils.

Not all their legal papers dealt with the eventual disposition of personal property. Some were geared to the here and now.

We had only one television set and each child was entitled to pick half the programs for their allotted joint viewing time, so a trade-off in this department was common. The party of the first part would guarantee certain advantages — either material or spiritual — to the party of the second part in exchange for TV privileges.

Since Gay was too young to cross the street alone she was dependent on her older brother to take her to the ten-cent store. He generally offered this service as an inducement, rather than resorting to money or durable goods for barter.

The family archives hold this example of one of the formal agreements executed between 6-year-old Gay and 11-year-old Brenn:

"Gay agrees to: (a) Let Brenn see his baseball game from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 23.

Brenn agrees to: (a) Let Gay see any program up to 8:30 p.m., same date; (b) Take Gay to the stores Sat., Aug. 24; (c) play 'Rock breaks scissors' twice with Gay; (d) Let Gay read his comic books."

Strength For Today

By GWYN COGHILL

May 1, 1933
Feverish preparations were under way at the Star Warehouse today for the opening of the Community Fair and Spring Festival tonight. Promptly at 7:30 o'clock the doors of the mammoth building will swing open to receive the crowd which are expected to throng the building during the remainder of the week.

Mayor R. C. Flanagan will say the word, setting the exposition in progress.

Today's the last day set aside for a recent Presidential proclamation for the delivery of gold, gold coin, bullion and gold certificates to banks in an effort to prevent hoarding and to meet the national emergency.

A&P's major predicament remains: Profits are the one fundamental goal of all businesses, and A&P doesn't have them.

With a network of nearly 4,000 stores in 35 states, the District of Columbia and Canada, it has demonstrated an ability to haul in the cash. But it still hasn't shown that it can keep profits from slipping back through the net.

While management reportedly was prepared to suffer great losses in turning its stores into discount operations, it also sought a return to profitability by the close of 1972. It failed, and so the doubts remain.

The big retailer proved it could recapture its sales lead from Safeway Stores. Safeway, enjoying a good year, pushed gross income to $6.1 billion but failed to reach A&P's $6.37 billion pace.

But even the newsboy knows that the payoff isn't in sales. Safeway floated in profits of more than $91 million last year, while A&P sank in the red. This is the year it must prove itself.

Right To Strike Speaking To Area Clubs

Said The 'Cure'

A postal union spokesman said here today that any prescription for improving postal service includes "some pills that the public itself will have to swallow."

"One of these is higher costs, either directly or indirectly," said L. Ray Hardee, president of the Greenville Local of the AFL-CIO American Postal Workers Union.

"But the most urgently needed medicine consists of giving postal employees the right to strike," he claimed. "As the situation now stands, our union is a paper tiger with the right to withhold labor—and Management knows it."

The local AFL-CIO union spokesman stressed that once the power to strike has been made legally available to his members it is less likely to be used than if employees are denied this basic right.

Hardee said supporting evidence for this paradox emerged a few days ago during the first public hearings ever scheduled by a congressional committee in Washington, D. C., on the right to strike.

He quoted from the testimony of the union's national legislative director, Patrick J. Nilan, who told the House Subcommittee on Postal Facilities, Mail and Labor Management that having the right to strike "makes it easier to reach agreement with Management because, being human, Management will be less likely to take advantage of its 'adversaries'—and less able to do so."

VA Assistance Is Coming In The Van

On-the-spot help for veterans of U. S. military service will be available in Greenville Friday with the arrival of a National Assistance for Veterans mobile van.

The red, white and blue van will be staff by two Veterans Administration benefits counselors who will be prepared to file claims, answer questions and provide information on government benefits available to veterans and dependents.

H. W. Johnson, director of the VA regional office in Winston-Salem, said the van would be located at Parking Lot No. 5 on the corner of Fourth and Evans Street and will be open from 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Johnson said the purpose of the mobile van tour is to reach veterans who have not made full use of their benefits and other services of the government.

"Many veterans are not aware of all the help available to them," Johnson commented. "Many benefits are available in home loans, job help, on-the-job training, education and medical care. In visiting the communities, veterans and their dependents in easy driving distances are invited to bring any problems they may have to the counselors in the vans."

He added that, since June, vans have toured 12 states, reaching more than 29,800 veterans in the first eight months, visiting 381 communities.

New Highway Maps Are Off The Press

RALEIGH—The North Carolina Highway maps for 1973-74 are off the press and over 100,000 of them were delivered to the Highway Building in Raleigh last week. This was the first shipment of some 750,000 maps that will be trucked from the printer in Baltimore during the new few weeks.

Colorful as always, the maps this year feature a number of Carolina scenes—photographs of places from the coasts to the mountains. They also feature a picture of and a message from the state's new chief executive, Governor James H. Holshouser, Jr.

Spring Festival Set In Tarboro

TARBORO—All sorts of music—from blue grass to madrigals—will ring out over the Tarboro Town Common Sunday, May 6, when the Friends of the Library and the City Recreation Department sponsor their second annual spring festival from 2:30 until 5:30 p.m.

Pete Long will serve as master of ceremonies for the afternoon. Performers include the Barbara Berry Singers of Wilson, the Tarboro High School Vocal Ensemble, the Tarboro Pro Musica Ensemble, the West Edgecombe High School Chorus, the Tar River Boys, the First Baptist Church Hand Bell Chorus and Youth Ensemble, the Music Men, the Tarboro High School Band and the High School Band Ensemble.

In case of rain on Sunday, "Something in Common" will be held on Sunday, May 20.

Crop Insurance Time Extended

Archie Alligood, District Sales Supervisor for Federal Crop Insurance Corporation announced today a 15 day extension for the 1973 sales period. Instead of the normal April 30th closing sales date; farmers will have until May 15th to make new application for all risk Federal Crop insurance.

Farmers who are interested in insuring their crops for the 1973 crop year should contact the local Federal Crop Insurance office which is located in Room 103 of the Federal Building on Evans Street; telephone 752-6752.

FOUND NOTHING
WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers says it has found nothing to substantiate charges of conservationists that a private corporation developing Bald Head Island has built illegal piers or other structures on the shore.

Adjournment Rush Is Displaying Its Effect

Kenneth W. Emerson, executive director of the National Club Association, Washington, D. C., will discuss the Occupational Safety and Health Act and other important federal legislation at a meeting of concerned North Carolina Clubs at the Greenville Golf and Country Club Monday, May 7.

As chief executive of the country's only non-profit trade association of private, social and recreational clubs, Emerson represents the industry in Washington.

The National Club Association is an organization of over 1,000 clubs in 50 states. It works for legislation affecting clubs in the areas of minimum wages, taxation, and public accommodations. It has appeared before various agencies of the federal government and Congress.

By SAM D. BUNDY
As adjournment grows nearer things ease up in one respect and tighten up in another. The number of bills being introduced has decreased considerably and are being sent to the calendar committee where most of them will be killed. Also, all committees have been discharged except about six main committees which will remain intact.

On the other hand, the backlog of approved bills, which have flowed from the several committees has reached bills, which have flowed from the several committees has reached gigantic proportions. On last Monday night the session lasted 2½ hours and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the sessions lasted 4½ to 5 hours each day. Beginning Tuesday, May 1st sessions will begin at 12:30 p.m. and probably run until 6:30 p.m. The date of May 11th is still being talked for adjournment, but in my humble opinion it will be between May 18th and May 25th.

Many feel it will be further watered down. It would appear that three years of study on this issue may not produce any results. We will see.

It was nice to have a group of students from the South Greenville School visit the Legislative Building on Friday, accompanied by three teachers, Margaret Rich, Evelyn Crawford and Sandra Bryant. When I see school children, and especially those from Pitt and Greene County visiting the General Assembly, it brightens my day. On Friday night I rode to Snow Hill to speak to the Masonic Ladies Night and returned to Raleigh for the weekend to catch up on some work and family visiting.

Stilley Col. . . .
also transferred via unbreakable contracts such as this, duly signed and sealed at ages 8 and 13:

"Trade agreement enacted this 14th day of May:

Brenn, has given to Gay one pennant, the description of which follows.

A red pennant, large, bearing the word OKLAHOMA in large capital letters. Underneath these letters is "The Sooner State" in smaller capitals, and on the far left is a map of the state. Length, approximately 27 inches.

Gay has given to Brenn two pennants. Descriptions follow.

1. A small blue pennant with the lettering MOHAWK TRAIL and under that MASS. on it, and a picture of an Indian at the left. Length, about nine inches.

2. A small purple pennant, with the letters petrified creatures on it. Underneath that, Warren, N.Y. It has a picture of a dinosaur at the left. Length, 12 inches."

I still think the legal profession lost a couple of likely prospects.

Invite Eleven To Honors Program

Eleven students in the East Carolina University Department of Political Science have been invited to participate in the department's honors program for superior students.

Approximately one out of eleven political science majors qualify each year for the honors course. Those students who successfully complete the program are graduated with "Honors in Political Science."

The 1973 honors group consists of students from Virginia, Maryland and North Carolina.

Two of the students, Grier Ferguson and Rebecca Robinson, are at present studying at ECU's European Study Center in Bonn, West Germany.

The No-Fault Auto Insurance plan was the center of attraction this week. The Senate after two days of fervent and heated debate lasting about 5 to 6 hours finally passed a weakened version of the recommendation of the Governor's Insurance Commission. When this legislation reached the House into a Committee and would have brought the issue direct to the floor of the House for debate and vote. The attempt failed because it did not get the 2-3 vote required to suspend the rules. This leaves it with the House Insurance Committee whose chairman is opposed to the measure and he has sent it to a sub-committee with a chairman, who is opposed. Many doubt that it will return to the House in time for final action and, if it does,

Two Designated As 'Outstanding Educators'

Two East Carolina University instructors have been chosen "Outstanding Educators of America" for 1973.

The two are Dr. John C. Ellen and Dr. Wilkins B. Winn. They were nominated by Herbert R. Paschal of ECU.

Nominated earlier this year for this national recognition, they were selected on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education.

The guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

Kissinger and Cook have developed a remarkably successful one-two punch in the House, Kissinger playing the weighty, sophisticated Mr. Outside who is brought in to say the proper things at the proper time to groups of House members, and Cook playing Mr. Inside, roaming the House corridors to plot parliamentary tactics and strategy and collect political IOUs.

With Cook now leaving (to become vice president of Lockheed Aircraft after four years in the White House) and the House ready to join the Senate and tie the President's hands, the prospect of legal veto on any U.S. military spending may not be far off.

with the flood: The backlog is no more than backlog of current cases. The docket is under control.

If the new court were created, Gressman observes, the Supreme Court will have yielded the discretion which is the "very essence" of its jurisdictional power. This is a discretion, he writes, "born not of rules but of the subjective concerns and interests and feelings of nine individual justices." The question of accepting a particular petition is often a matter of "feel." It is a matter, as Holmes once said, of recognizing cases "which have in them the germ of some inner theory, and therefore of some profound interstitial change in the very tissue of the law."

The Freund Report persuades me that the Court has serious problems; but Hressman's rebuttal convinces me the mini-court is not the proper answer. For the time being, at least, the country will have to go on litigating, and the prisoners will have to go on hoping, and the justices will have to look at the grocery carts, and sigh, and keep on screening as before.

Kilpatrick Col. . .

tedious labor they now perform; and it would, presumably, give them additional time for reflection. But this is a drastic reform that is being proposed, and drastic reforms ought not to be adopted if anything less will suffice.

Eugene Gressman, a Washington attorney who served 30 years ago as a clerk to Justice Frank Murphy, has written a solid—indeed, a devastating—critique of the Freund proposals in the March issue of the Journal of the American Bar Association. He accepts the statistical facts, but he makes the point that the Court somehow is keeping up

Soil Technology Program Slated

A pilot extension training program for teaching soil technology to sanitary technicians is expected to begin at Pitt Technical Institute June 15.

The North Carolina Extension Service will be requested to help develop the teaching curriculum. The course will utilize classroom, laboratory and field training. Also included will be on-the-job training.

Counselors Here Every Friday

Fridays in May are reserved for visits by Job Corps Counselor Mary Lou Latham to Pitt and Martin Counties.

May 4 and 18, she will be at the Social Services Department in Williamston and May 11 and 25, she will be at the Social Services Department in Greenville.

School Board Work Session

A work session meeting of the Greenville City School Board will be held tonight beginning at 8:00 p.m. in the board room of the City Schools Administrative office.

This will be a follow up meeting of the special call meeting held last Tuesday. Dr. Ralph Brimley will again be guiding school board members in devising forms to be used to send applicants for the position of city school superintendent.

Between 1950 and 1970 the population of California grew by 9 million people.

Scholarship To Miss Costner

RALEIGH—John M. May Jr. of Winterville is one of 71 young men and women who were awarded scholarships with a total value of $67,225 by the Pulp and Paper Foundation to study pulp and paper science and technology at North Carolina State University here.

The awards were approved by the scholarship committee of the Pulp and Paper Foundation.

May is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Milton May Sr. of Winterville. He will enter NCSU as a freshman in August.

Spiders Defeat Bucs, 2-1; Hopes Dim

Basketball Site To Be Set At S.C. Meet

The annual spring meeting of the Southern Conference will get underway here Wednesday night at East Carolina University.

Chief topics to be brought up will be the site of the 1974 basketball tournament, and the proposed reorganization of the NCAA into three divisions according to Southern Conference Commissioner Lloyd Jordan.

Jordan, who has been reported ready to retire from office within the year, said, however, that any reports that something concerning his office would be taken up at the meeting were strictly unofficial. "This office has no report on any of these rumors," he said.

Reportedly, the conference President, Dr. Francis Bonner of Furman University, has said that Jordan planned to retire at the end of the year and that work is underway to choose a successor to him. It had been expected that some word on this would come out at this meeting, since the next one is not set until December.

Jordan, however, said that there was nothing on the proposed agenda concerning it.

A number of other things will be taken up by the conference, mostly administrative things, with the emphasis on the site of the next basketball tournament. Representatives from both Richmond, Virginia, site of the 1973 tournament, and Greenville, South Carolina, where the tournament was held in 1971, are expected to be present and made a bid for the tournament, which is to be designated during the meeting.

The meeting will wind up Friday.

RICHMOND—East Carolina University saw its fading Southern Conference title hopes dim to only a flicker yesterday as Roger Hatcher tossed a two-hitter as the University of Richmond took a 2-1 win over the Pirates, yesterday.

Hatcher, who earlier gained a 1-0 win over the Bucs in Greenville, was quite stingy in the second meeting. He fanned seven and walked four, while his teammates made but one error, and it led to the Pirates' lone run of the day.

The Spiders meanwhile got to East Carolina's Tommy Toms for eight hits, pushing over the winning run with one away in the bottom of the ninth inning.

The loss dropped the Pirates to a 6-3 record in the Southern Conference, and just about made it mandatory that they win their remaining five games between now and Saturday if they are to take the title, and even then it might be question.

Appalachian now leads the league with an 8-1 record, while Richmond is now 7-2. East Carolina is third, and must face VMI twice, William & Mary once, and Appalachian twice between Wednesday and Saturday.

The lone Pirate run came in the first inning. With one down, Mike Hogan singled to center. Ron Staggs walked and John Narron grounded back to first. The ball was relayed to second to try and initiate a double play, but was errored, as Hogan sped on home to score. Staggs moved on to third on the play, but was put out at the plate when Larry Walters grounded back to the mound on the next play.

The Pirates had another chance in the third, when with two outs, Staggs dracked a triple into right center. Narron followed with a walk, but a called strike ended the inning.

The only other threat by the Pirates came in the fifth. Toms walked and Jack Elkins came on to run for him, with two away. Staggs sent a long blast, but the Richmond fielder caught the ball over the fence to end the inning.

Richmond, after a couple of early threats, finally broke the ice in the seventh. Bill Daly singled to deep second, and was sacrificed up by Kenny Francisco. Lynn Gillette singled, driving in Daly. Steve Gordon followed with a single, but the Pirates closed the door there, and the Spiders had to settle for a 1-1 tie.

But in the ninth, the Pirates saw themselves to down to defeat. Daly opened the inning with a triple to left center. Francisco and Gillette were both intentionally walked to set up a force at all bases, and Gordon grounded back to second, and Daly was nailed at home. Don Trevillian followed with a single, however, scoring Francisco, giving Richmond the victory.

Staggs' triple and the first-inning single by Hogan were the only hits the Pirates managed during the afternoon. Daly led the Richmond hitting with three, while Trevillian and Gillette had two each for the Spiders.

East Carolina returns home Wednesday to play their final games at Harrington Field, a doubleheader with VMI. They go to William & Mary on Thursday, then to Appalachian on Saturday for a season-ending double-header.

City League Opens With Six Contests

The City Softball League opened play last night with six games at Evans Park. Claiming opening wins were Union Carbide, Hardee's and Proctor's in the Purple Division, while Four Seasons, Balentine's and Dainty Maid won in the Gold Division.

Proctor's took a 17-6 victory over Greenville Utilities. Proctor's pushed over three in the first, then came back with two in the second, including a homer by Wayne King. They added another in the third, and got four more in the fourth.

In that frame, Tom Cooper doubled and Herman Fight homered. Frank Saunders singled and Bill Brooks came all the way on an error to up the lead to 10-0. Proctor's added three in the fifth with Blake Belcher homering, and then got four more in the sixth. Greenville Utilities got five in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Hardee's stopped the Jaycees' 15-3. Hardee's got one each in the first and second, then scored four in the third. Jerry Grant walked and J.F. Byrd singled. Jesse Long singled and Brad Sneed got a hit. A double by Jimmy Sugg cleared the bases making it 6-0. Hardee's added two in the fourth and seven in the fifth, with Sugg homering. All three Jaycee runs scored in the fifth.

In the third game at field one, Balentine's gained a 15-3 win over Hallow's. Hallow's scored one in the first, but Balentine's matched that in their half of the inning. Hallow's pushed over another in the top of the third, but four in the bottom of the third by Balentine's put it out of reach. Milton Sawyer singled and Bugs Angle got a hit. Gene Vincent singled and Benny Jackson tripled. He scored on Jimmy Medlin's hit to close the scoring in the frame.

Balentine's got two more in the fourth, three in the fifth with Eddie Vincent homering, and five in the sixth. Hallow's got one more in the seventh.

Union Carbide nipped Burger King, 12-11, in one extra inning. Union Carbide got two in the first, but Burger King came back with five in their half. In the second Union Carbide got two, while Burger King scored one. Four in the fifth came over for Union Carbide, and they added two more in the sixth. Four crossed for Burger King in the sixth, tying it at 10-10.

Union Carbide then got two in the eighth to win it. M. Dixon reached on a fielder's choice and C. Earnhardt walked. F. Goins tripled both in for a 12-10 lead. Burger King managed one in the bottom of the frame.

Dainty Maid ripped The Daily Reflector, 34-0. They got all they needed in the first, scoring four. Smith Worthington doubled and Bob Harris walked. John Huber singled and Carl Powell reached on an error. A walk to John Tripp and a single by Vic Wade brought over Powell with the fourth run.

Dainty Maid went on to add six in the second, including a homer by Wayne Nelson, six in the third, 10 in the fourth, with homers by Huber and Wade, and eight in the fifth.

Finally, Four Seasons downed Morgan Printers, 21-12. Four Seasons added one in the second, then pushed over seven in the third to wrap it up. Tom Jordan singled and Charles Meeks got a hit. Will Moye reached on an error and John Childers homered. Gary Bostic singled and Walter Stasavich homered. Roy Carawan doubled and scored on passed balls. Four Seasons added six in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the sixth. Morgan got eight in the fifth, and one in the sixth.

Southern Baseball May Be Settled Off Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Appalachian State's Mountaineers and Richmond's defending champion Spiders have begun to pull away from the field in a Southern Conference baseball race that may yet have to be settled off the field as well as on it.

The Mountaineers boosted their league-leading record to 8-1 Monday with a 6-0 victory over Davidson's Wildcats while the Spiders were taking over sole possession of second place with a 2-1 decision over East Carolina's Pirates.

Richmond is now 7-2 in league play, East Carolina 6-3. Other action saw William and Mary's Indians sweep a doubleheader from Virginia Military's Keydets, 3-1 and 6-0, and Furman's Paladins knock off The Citadel's Bulldogs 7-3. That left The Citadel and William and Mary tied for fourth at 6-5, followed by Furman at 6-6, Davidson at 1-9 and VMI at 0-9.

East Carolina is scheduled to play host to VMI in a doubleheader Wednesday, then play a single game Thursday at William and Mary and a twin bill Saturday at Appalachian State. All are makeups, but the Indians reportedly don't want to play the Pirates.

Meanwhile, Appalachian and Richmond were rained out of a twin bill last weekend which hasn't been rescheduled, and there are indications the Mountaineers want the Spiders to make up two rained-out games with The Citadel and one with Davidson before they play

Richmond. With examinations having begun this week at Richmond, the controversy may be thrown into the laps of the athletic directors.

Roger Hatcher, who has given up just one earned run in 50 innings for an ERA of 0.18, pitched a two-hitter for Richmond and the only East Carolina run, in the first inning, was unearned, the result of an error after Mike Hogan's single and a walk.

Bill Daly's single, a sacrifice and Lynn Gillette's single tied it for Richmond in the seventh, and the Spiders won it in the ninth on Daly's leadoff triple—his third hit—two intentional walks, a forceout at the plate and Don Trevillian's single.

Appalachian ace Steve Anspaugh threw a five-hitter at Davidson and Appalachian scored five unearned runs as the Wildcats committed three errors. Four of the Mountaineers' seven hits were doubles.

Scott Kramer pitched a two-hitter in the opener and Mike Bujakowski a four-hitter in the nightcap in William and Mary's double victory.

The Indians scored two runs in the first inning of the first game on a hit batter, Bill Schofield's single, two walks and Corky Bishop's sacrifice fly. Hunter Robinson had three hits and two RBIs and Bujakowski had two hits and scored twice in the second game.

The only scheduled game today had Appalachian at home in a nonleague encounter against Milligan.

Russians Nip Yanks In Physical Contest

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — "I'm an old alley fighter but I want equal muscle," declared Coach Bob Cousy of the U.S. national team after Russia squared their series in a rough basketball battle.

On the other hand, Russia's coach Vladimir Kandrashin declared through an interpreter, "Sven Nater is a dirty player," and he made motions with his elbow.

The Russians had just beaten the Yanks, 78-76 in the second game in their series of six after the opener in Los Angeles went to the Americans convincingly, 83-65.

Bill Walton, the National Collegiate Player of the Year the past two seasons, missed the second game because of a knee injury suffered in the first one. His UCLA understudy, Nater, was the starter in San Diego.

Cousy fumed again, "It's organized mayhem under the basket. Outside fouls are called closely, but the criterion under the basket seems to be blood."

The coach of the Kansas City-Omaha National Basketball Association club declared he wanted to add a center and "muscular forwards" to his national team which currently depends on finesse.

The teams head for Albuquerque and Wednesday night's third game. Before 13,895 fans in the Sports Arena, the deciding points came with one minute 52 seconds remaining when Jack Salumets sank two free throws.

Seventeen seconds earlier, Aleksander Boloshev had tipped in a field goal to tie the game. All told, the lead changed hands 20 times.

The second confrontation saw three Russians foul out, one U.S.A. player foul out, another thrown out and Cousy get charged with a technical foul for overzealous objections.

Ron Behagen of Minnesota was the man banned when referee Martti Huhtamaki of Finland charged him with elbowing.

Bobby Allison Best Rookie?

By JERRY GARRETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The most promising rookie entered for the Indianapolis 500-mile race this year is a veteran with more than 17 years experience. Bobby Allison, who started racing while he was still in high school, has finally found a "ride" he wants for the May 28 classic. The 35-year-old Huey-

Aleksander Belov, the man best known in America as the Russian who sank the final field goal in the 1972 Olympic finals won 51-50 by the Russians, was the player involved. "I kind of used my elbow as a lever to get around him," said Behagen after the game, "but I didn't elbow him."

town, Ala. stock car veteran will drive a McLaren-Offy for Roger Penske's team. "I've had a couple of other offers in the past to drive at Indianapolis," Allison said. "But Roger's offer came at a time when I could fit it in my schedule. "Before I've always had other commitments."

Allison made it look easy Monday as he completed his rookie tests. He finished practice with a "comfortable" 181.336 m.p.h. lap around the 2½-mile oval.

"The only reason I'm here," Allison said, "is that I really believe I have a chance to win. "I've had an exciting, full career, but racing at Indy is one thing I've always wanted to do. From the time I was seven or eight years old, the big thing in racing was to listen to the Indy 500 on the radio."

"To me, it's the biggest thing in racing." Allison is the latest in a series of NASCAR drivers who have tried to win the Indianapolis race, including Cale Yarborough and brother Donnie Allison.

The younger Allison brother was named Indy rookie of the year in 1970, with a fourth place finish. Donnie, 32, was sixth in 1971, but hasn't been back since because of sponsor commitments.

Yarborough finished 10th last year.

Allison was one of eight on the track Monday, the third day of practice. The fastest lap of the day was registered by 1972 Indy rookie of the year, Mike Hiss. The Tustin, Calif. driver pushed his new Eagle-Offy to 184.995.

Conley Girls Capture A Win

HOLLYWOOD — The Conley High School girls' track team gained its first victory yesterday, gaining a 65-40 victory over Williamston.

The Valkyries won nine of the 13 events, while Williamston took the other four.

Conley had two double winners in the meet. Kelly Johnston took the long jump and the 880-yard run, while Teresa Baker won the 100-yard dash and the high jump.

Gilmore Leads Colonels To Win

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sore-backed Artis Gilmore, causing the Indiana Pacers a number of pains along the way, has led the Kentucky Colonels into a 1-1 tie in the teams' play-off series for the American Basketball Association title.

The 7-foot-2 Gilmore scored 29 points Monday night and showed why he led the league in three departments during the regular season, as the Colonels won 114-102.

Gilmore connected on 11 of 16 field goal tries, hauled down 26 rebounds and swatted away 7 pacer shots.

During the regular season he was the league leader in field goal percentage, rebounds and blocked shots.

His performance came after he reinjured a pulled back muscle during pregame warm-ups.

"It was hurting my play some," Gilmore said. "At times

I normally would have taken it right to the basket, but I couldn't tonight."

Meanwhile, Indiana's center, Mel Daniels, who also complained of a sore back, was held to 14 points and 16 rebounds.

"He wasn't himself out there," Indiana Coach Bob Leonard said of his 6-9 center.

"Mel's giving up a lot of size already to Gilmore and he was feeling a lot of pain tonight," Leonard said.

"And Artis is always capable of a game like that," Leonard added.

Forwards Dan Issel of Kentucky and George McGinnis of Indiana neutralized each other, finishing with 28 points apiece.

In an injury that could have a bearing on the rest of the series, Colonel guard Rick Mount sprained his left ankle after scoring 11 points in the first 14 minutes.

X-rays were to be taken of the ankle today.

Lakers Are Favored

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defending champion Los Angeles was rated a solid favorite to beat the New York Knicks again and retain their National Basketball Association title in the championship series starting tonight.

For the opening game at the Forum before a capacity crowd of 17,505, the Lakers were listed as four-point favorites and they were 9-5 at Las Vegas and 8-5 in Reno to win the series.

A year ago Los Angeles beat New York four games to one in the finals.

Fully rested, the Lakers have had since last Wednesday for injuries to Jim McMillian and Keith Erickson to heal. Both men practiced with the team on Sunday after the Knicks had upset Boston 94-78 to win the Eastern Conference crown 4-3.

Laker Coach Bill Sharman feels his club might get stale with too long a layoff and the Lakers were at a peak in downing Golden State 4-1 in the Western Conference playoff series, which ended Wednesday.

Unanimously, the Lakers preferred to meet New York in the finals. They would have the home court advantage, and against Boston during the regular season they were 0-4.

"I guess you can say the law of averages has caught up with us," commented Laker star Jerry West after watching the Knicks-Celtics game on television. "We didn't get a lot of breaks for so many years, but now we are getting some."

Playoff home court advantage is based on regular season records, where the Lakers were 60-22, New York 57-25 and Boston 68-14.

Tonight's game starts at 11 p.m. EDT, and won't be televised. The second game, Thursday night at the Forum—and all succeeding games in the series—will be on national TV via ABC.

Lamar Is Now Pro

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dwight Lamar, twice the nation's leading collegiate scorer, has joined the San Diego Conquistadors, a basketball team with no home and little history—but with enough money and faith in Lamar to make him a rich young man.

"We'll play in San Diego, that's all I know," Lamar said Monday after signing a three-year, no-cut contract with the Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association. Estimates of his salary ranged from $500,000 to $600,000 for the three years, although no announcement was made.

"They have a coach I respect," Lamar added, referring to K.C. Jones. "I hope he can teach me some defense."

Lamar didn't have to play much defense at Southwestern Louisiana, where he averaged 36.0, 36.3 and 28.9 points per game in three seasons, leading the nation his first two years. The 6-foot-1, 170-pounder figures to do plenty of shooting behind the ABA's 25-foot three-point line.

Just released: Gran Torino 2-Door Hardtop with new Luxury Decor Package and WSW tires.

It took a lot more than a smooth ride to make Ford Torino the best selling car in the mid-size field.

The closer you look, the better we look.

Optional AM/FM stereo radio with front and rear dual speakers.

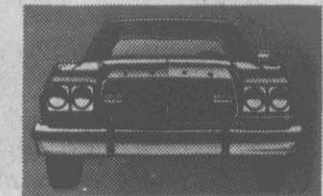

Front disc brakes are standard on Torino. Power front disc brakes optional.

Optional electric rear window defroster. (Torino's major competitor doesn't offer it.)

Torino offers optional steel-belted radial ply tires on all models.

A longer wheelbase and wider front and rear track than major competitor, for a smooth, stable ride.

Behind Torino's smooth ride are better ideas in engineering. Like angle mounted shock absorbers for increased directional stability. Rubber body/frame mounts that help isolate the passenger compartment from road shocks. And a coil spring rubber-insulated front suspension that helps minimize noise and road vibration.

Inside you'll find expansive room up front. Plus the kind of luxury you'd expect from high priced automobiles.

So take a good, close look at Ford Torino for '73. Discover why it's become the best selling car in the mid-size field.

The 'Worry Clinic' When Emotion Clouds Reason

Drew Pearson and I often addressed State Teachers' Conventions, like the two mentioned today. For teachers use this newspaper column to help stop promiscuity, school dropouts, plus the drug, tobacco and liquor habits. Note, however, how its foes use "excuses" to attack it!

In competitive sequences where each side has a long suit and a good distributional fit, it is very difficult to calculate the ultimate offensive capabilities of the opposition. As a matter of pure practical insurance, it frequently pays to "bid just once more" in order to avoid an extreme loss. Today's hand presents a sound illustration of the principle.

East opened the bidding with one spade, choosing to treat his major suit holdings as equals in order to show both of them in the most economical manner. South overcalled with two diamonds. West's jump to four hearts is a preemptive measure announcing considerable playing strength in the suit bid, but very little on the side.

North raised his partner to five diamonds and East supported West's hearts. South had significant defensive values and, convinced that his side had reached its offensive limit, he doubled five hearts. North overruled this decision and proceeded to six diamonds, since he had great length in his partner's bid as well as a void in hearts. East doubled and the bidding subsided.

West was skeptical of the prospects for cashing a heart trick, so he opened the seven of spades and East's ten forced out the ace. South led the queen of diamonds and when the deuce appeared from West, he promptly went up with the ace felling the king.

A club was led and the jack was successfully finessed. The dummy was reentered via a heart ruff in order to repeat the club finesse. When the king fell under the ace on the next round, North's ten of clubs became established for the discard of a losing spade. South cheerfully conceded a spade trick to his opponents and claimed the doubled six contract.

East's double of North's six-diamond bid was unsound. Holding no aces, a worthless king of diamonds and great length in the suit where his partner had made a preemptive call, he should have been sufficiently skeptical of defensive prospects to at least pass the decision back to his partner.

Had West been given some latitude in the matter, he might have elected to take the save, and unless North gets off to the somewhat unlikely lead of a club, the damages can be restricted to 500 points.

47, is a school principal. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I heard you and Drew Pearson a generation ago when you addressed our Wisconsin State Teachers.

"The meeting was at Superior and after your speeches, you may not remember, but I then helped chauffeur both of you to the Minnesota State Teachers Convention over at Duluth and you were next.

"But I was shocked to find that our Wisconsin editor soon dropped your 'Worry Clinic' column.

"When I phoned to learn why, he bluntly told me you were 'too frank for a family newspaper.'

"Yet our Guidance Counselors have been using your newspaper column all over America, so why should he say you were too frank?"

"And especially since divorce has been increasing, as well as teen-age sexual delinquency."

Reasons VS. Excuses

For many years I taught the courses on "Psychology of Sales and Advertising," both at George Washington University and also Northwestern University.

Therein I always warned my college students to distinguish between a customer's excuses vs. actual reasons.

For tyro salesmen often spend futile time trying to answer a prospect's objections, when the latter aren't logical.

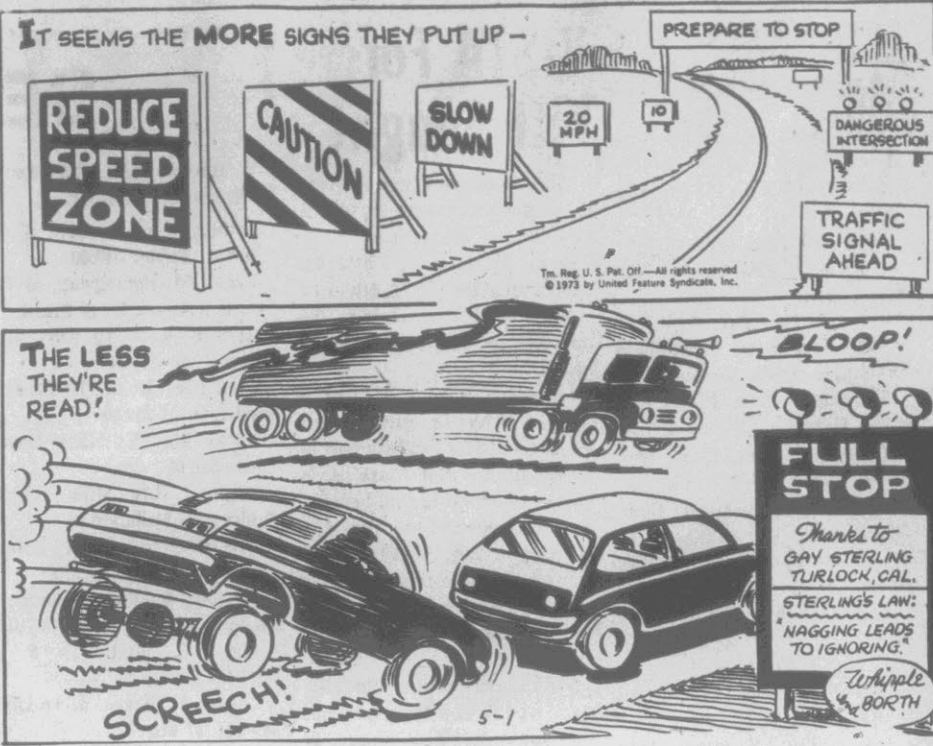

In the case of this 'Worry Clinic,' the standard "excuse, for canceling it used to be that "too frank" alibi.

That was patently an excuse, for the same newspapers were running lurid stories about sexual assault and rape on Page One!

From my friends on the staffs of many newspapers when this column has been cancelled, I have learned the real reasons, though they were camouflaged under that inane "too frank" label.

Several publishers had fat, stodgy wives who resented my trying to stimulate dieting by my comments about "Waddling Walruses" or "Baby Hippos."

So the wives put the pressure on their husbands and had the column cancelled.

Without a single exception, this "Worry Clinic" had ALWAYS rated first on reader polls among women. If it has been run daily beside any other column, whether medical, political, financial, or psychological.

And it pulls far more mail than any other column.

Moreover, its emphasis is ALWAYS on how wives can prevent straying by their husbands or dropouts by their school children or the adoption of tobacco, liquor or drug habits by their teen-agers.

For I launched this column as a broad educational form of "vaccination" against immorality, delinquency and broken homes.

Obviously, I get down to the nitty gritty, but always in terms that are not vulgar, for I employ euphemisms, such as "boudoir cheesecake" or "erotic calories."

Yet if people get their toes stepped on, they don't dare say they hate me or this column for that selfish fact, so they must invent "excuses" for demanding that this column be dropped.

That strategy, too, is the standard recourse of people who let emotion becloud reason, so send for my booklet "Common Fallacies in Logic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES This is no day to take any chances, especially where money, property and possessions are concerned. Double-check on whatever arises to avoid making mistakes. The evening is fine for romantic interests that can bring happiness.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Avoid extravagances and unwise investments today and think more on the emotional side of life. Postpone making big decisions until you are more sure of the future. Be alert.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Do those things that make you more charming in the morning. Later finish those uncompleted tasks that have accumulated. Not a good day to reach a decision on a personal matter.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You feel limited but this can be overcome by engaging in your favorite pastime. Lend a helping hand to another in need and make your own burdens lighter. Think and act constructively.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you don't hurt the feelings of a friend who is upset or there could be an unwanted severance of connections. Conditions are right to attend the social tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Use tact in the handling of a career problem today and become more secure in your line of endeavor. Don't force your ideas on others in the morning. Spend evening quietly at home with kin.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Make sure you complete what you have started during the morning. In the afternoon go out and make new friends. Avoid one who has a chip on the shoulder. The evening then turns to joy.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Attend to those duties ahead of you and keep promises made to others. Persevere and you can accomplish a great deal. Avoid a tendency to go off on a tangent. Do something you really like.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Show how much you appreciate associates and allies who have been loyal to you. Any changes in agreements should be made in the afternoon. More cooperation with mate is necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Cooperate more with fellow workers and improve your surroundings. Do your work efficiently and derive more benefits. Evening is fine for the social side of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) If you perfect your hobbies, you find they can delight you a great deal. Do your work properly during the day. The one you love can be in a cooperative mood tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Use tact in dealing with others at home. Don't pick a quarrel with anyone or respond to their teasing. Avoid the social tonight where there could be arguments. Dine out tonight.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Take no risks where money is concerned and you gain the respect of higher-ups. The evening is a good time to talk matters over with business experts. Obtain the data you need for best results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who early in life has to learn to complete what has once been started, and then this life becomes a successful one. The fields of banking, real estate and business are fine here. Sports are important. Give good religious training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

VISTA For Pitt Sought

Work is continuing on efforts to bring VISTA volunteers to Pitt County later this year. Dan Earnhardt, interim chairman of the VISTA advisory committee, has announced the appointment of three committee heads.

Lawrence Behr will head a finance drive to raise about $3,000 needed for local support of the program. Phil Clark is in charge of efforts to find housing and transportation for the volunteers. And, Bob Clyde is in charge of public relations. One of Clyde's responsibilities will be the establishment of a speakers bureau.

VISTA, part of the federally-sponsored Action Program, has two goals in Pitt County: To promote consumer education and to improve the employment situation for low income persons.

Plans to bring VISTA volunteers here have been in the making for several months. Target date for the volunteers' arrival is September.

Open House At Caswell Center

The Annual Open House Program for Caswell Center will be held Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. All buildings are open to visitors. An informative program on retardation will be presented to interested parents and persons.

The public is invited to attend.

Course On Auto Care Starting

Pitt Technical Institute has a course in Emergency Auto Care For Women and Men beginning tonight, at 7:00 p.m.

The course will be for 18 hours. Tuesday night from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Course content will deal with introducing the adult to various parts and systems of an automobile. One will become familiar with what to do in emergencies such as changing flat tires and starting stalled cars due to gasoline flooding.

Interested persons are urged to attend Tuesday night. For further information, contact Pitt Technical Institute 756-3130.

Kansas has elected 24 Republicans and only four Democrats to the U.S. Senate in its 112 years of statehood.
