Balancing Act This Weekend

N.C. Budget Overdrawn $41.8 Million

RALEIGH (AP) — The chairmen of the General Assembly's appropriations committees face a job over the weekend of coming up with a recommendation to balance the proposed state budget for North Carolina next fiscal year.

"We are overdrawn by $41.8 million," Rep. Carl Stewart, D-Gaston, told the Joint appropriations subcommittee Thursday.

Stewart, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he and Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, Senate appropriations chairman, would remain in Raleigh this weekend "and try to work something out."

"Hopefully," he said, "we will come back to you Monday afternoon with some recommendation on how we can balance this budget."

Earlier, the subcommittee approved a number of spending requests, including a $25 million reserve fund to be set aside for a new four-year state medical school if it is decided to establish one.

The subcommittee tentatively approved a 50-man increase in the state Highway Patrol. This had been requested earlier by House Speaker Jim Ramsey. The additional patrolmen plus increased supporting personnel will cost about $900,000 the next fiscal year.

In other action, the subcommittee:

—Approved a bill to boost the governor's salary from $38,500 to $45,000, effective July 1, 1974.

—Rejected a proposal to boost the pay of legislators beginning in January, 1975.

—Approved $200,000 to build a regional headquarters building for the state Probation Department at Wadesboro.

—Voted to increase pay for judges and to allocate funds to renovate the governor's mansion.

—Approved $750,000 to increase state aid to local airports and $450,000 to fund Gov. Jim Holshouser's request for creation of a rural community health division in the state Department of Human Resources.

Sub-Committee Action Pleases Many

Important Forward Step Seen For Medical School

By STUART SAVAGE

East Carolina University officials and members of the General Assembly today expressed their pleasure over a legislative sub-committee's action yesterday in approving a $25 million reserve fund for medical education.

The Joint Appropriations subcommittee voted 18-15 to tentatively approve a bill setting aside $25 to establish a new four-year medical school in the state. Many people feel that if a new four-year medical school is established, it will be at East Carolina.

Robert Morgan, ECU Board of Trustees chairman said "I'm delighted and feel that this is an indication of the way people across the state feel about the need for increased medical care."

But the Attorney General emphasized, "This is just one more battle we have faced in an eight year war that's been waged against us."

Noting that "this is a significant thing," Morgan cautioned, "don't get any false hopes up. There will be more battles, but eventually we will prevail."

ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins said in his opinion, the committee "acted with wisdom" in setting aside the $25 million for a new medical program.

"It has always been my belief that it is wise for all of us in public life to keep attuned to the wishes of our people," Jenkins said.

"I have been getting the message loudly and clearly from all parts of the state that our people want adequate and sufficient modern medical care. They also realize that one of the best ways to get this is for us to begin as soon as possible to make available more opportunities for our young people to become doctors."

According to the ECU official, "The time is ideal for this movement, for we have large numbers of people desirous of studying medicine (two dozen applicants have applied for each single spot in ECU's one-year medical education program); we have the money to establish a new program (from surpluses); and have a tremendous need for doctors (studies indicate N.C. is far below the national average in number of doctors and Eastern N.C. is far below the state average)."

"I see no need," Jenkins continued, "for us asking anyone outside of the state to study the problem." He noted that the problem of shortage of doctors is "recognized by almost everyone inside our borders giving any thought to it."

"The time is now for us to get on with this job. It is for that reason, that the sub-committee's action pleases me. It shows they are fully aware of this problem."

Pitt House member Horton Rountree indicated he is "very pleased" at the sub-committee's action, saying "this is the proper course to follow...I think this is a step in the right direction."

According to Roundtree, a resolution has been made and is now pending in the General Assembly to have one of the legislature's standing committees "review what has taken place over the past few years (formation of the one-year program at ECU, etc.) and make its report back to the General Assembly with regards as how best to spend such monies that are put in reserve."

Indicating that action on the resolution is "possible next week," Roundtree said the General Assembly committee study would look at the study now under way by the Board of Governors and other events in making recommendations to the assembly next year.

Dogs 'Restricted' During Night

Council Approved Four Ordinances

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Ordinances were the order of the day for the City Council meeting Thursday night. Two ordinances were approved as presented, two approved with amendments, and one was turned down.

The newly drafted Animal Control Ordinance, although not a public hearing issue, was the focus of emotional pro and con exchanges from interested persons in the audience. As drafted, the ordinance would have restricted dogs from running loose at any time day or night.

Dr. Frank Fuller's motion to amend the ordinance results in a policy that dog owners now must restrict their dogs between the hours of 9:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. and can let them have their freedom during daylight hours.

His motion carried when Mayor S. Eugene West broke a three-three tie on the issue, voting in favor of Dr. Fuller's amended motion.

Other provisions in the newly adopted ordinance call for the hiring of a full time city dog catcher, construction of an animal shelter, penalties for violations on the part of dog owners, and a system to dispose of unclaimed impounded dogs.

The Landfill Operational Procedures Ordinance was also approved after a couple of amendments. As originally written, the ordinance would not have allowed the use of the city landfill to dispose of waste from construction and demolition sites, and would have barred vehicle tires unless cut into pieces. The approved amended ordinance authorizes use of the lanfill for construction waste and uncut tires.

The ordinance establishes an identification procedure that is designed to give the supervisor of the landfill tighter control in barring out of town persons from using the site.

Industries located on the perimeter of the city limits are permitted to make use of the facility for a temporary period until other arrangements can be made.

Relative to the disposal site, authorization was made to purchase a drag line that will make it possible to handle more efficiently growing volume of waste at the site.

A proposed ordinance relating to special provisions for mobile homes was defeated. The ordinance would have limited the Council's authority to grant permission for the placement of mobile homes within the city except for areas zoned R6-MH (residential-mobile home).

Two ordinances pertaining to financial matters passed without opposition or amendments. The first was an ordinance to amend the 1972-73 City Budget Ordinance to appropriate a total of $9,000 from unappropriated funds to cover city election expenses at $2,000; and payment of traffic signal installations at $7,000.

The second ordinance on funds covers the council's previous authorization on March 8 to expend $342,500 on various projects, including a swimming pool. It also includes additional items—$6,886 for renovations to city hall and the main fire

North Carolina's Attorney General Robert Morgan addressed over 500 persons at the annual Employer-Employee Banquet held at the Moose Lodge Thursday evening.

The banquet was sponsored by J.H. Rose High School in association with the Distributive Education, Food Services, Home Ocupations, Industrial Cooperative Training, and Office Occupations departments of the high school.

Morgan spoke to the audience about the free enterprise system and its beginning in early America. He also expressed appreciation to all the employers gathered for taking an interest in the young people. Nearly 140 employers attended the affair.

"These young people are the cornerstone of our democracy," Morgan added.

The attorney general said that the small farmer constituted the backbone of the economy. He noted, however, that the number of farmers in America have dwindled, as have the number of market places in the country.

Morgan also related to the case of big drug companies charging higher prices than

McGrath Wins Policy Battle

Persistence can sometimes win battles—even for a lone woman waging a long-drawn out battle against six men.

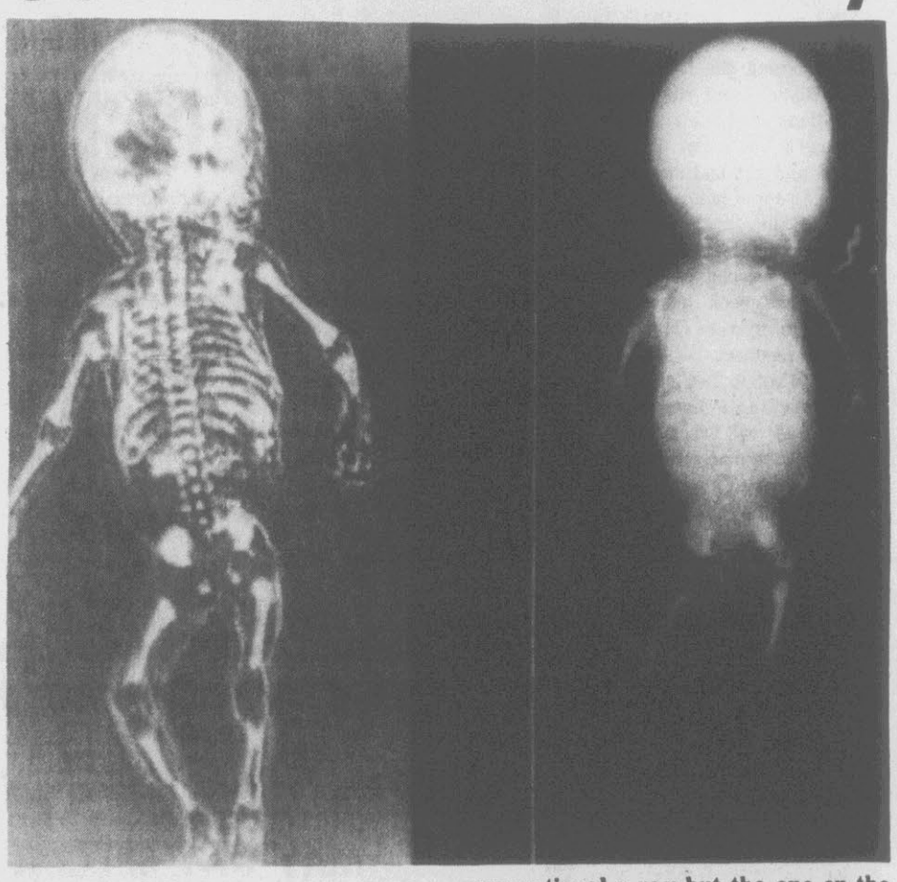

This was the case at City Council Thursday night when Council woman Mrs. Mildred McGrath once more stood firm on ther contention that the Council cannot legally decide on rezoning matter on months other than February, May, August and October as stipulated in the city ordinance on rezoning.

"I'm again serving notice, and anyone with zoning requests coming up might as well take heed," Mrs. McGrath stated when she abstained from voting for approval of a public hearing on rezoning set for the June meeting.

At the conclusion of dealing with agenda items, Councilman Percy Cox returned to the subject of Mrs. McGrath's stand on this issue. "I would like to see this resolved so that Millie can vote by her feelings on a rezoning request, and not have to vote for the ordinance," Cox commented.

Mrs. McGrath's motion to remove the three month interval stipulation was approved. As a result, rezoning requests can now come before the City Council on a monthly basis without being considered as an emergency request.

Ultrasonic Camera Can Out-Perform The X-Ray

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — An ultrasonic camera being developed will display live television images of internal organs including their movements and other soft tissues invisible to X rays, researchers say.

The scientists at Stanford Research Institute hope the device will prove effective for detecting heart disease, cancer, and other diseases, as well as recording the movement of the human fetus.

The camera will work by bouncing sound waves off of internal organs to produce a live television image of the organs and their movements, Earl Jones, head of biological and electrical engineering, said Thursday.

"It is very much like a fluoroscope," Jones said. "It uses sound instead of light for its source of illumination."

Using a working prototype of the camera system, the scientists have observed muscle fibers, tendons and blood vessels in the arms and legs as well as excised organs such as the kidney, brain and human fetus, Jones said.

The camera system is now being packaged in a convenient form and the first experimental camera is expected to be ready in six months. It will then be evaluated in a medical clinic on human patients, said Philip S. Green, who heads the camera project.

Nearly Half Of Public Suspects Nixon Involved

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J. — As determined by a nationwide survey Wednesday night, Approximately half of the U.S. public think president Nixon was involved in the Watergate affair. At the same time however, nearly 2 persons in 3 express the belief that the Nixon administration is no more corrupt than were previous administrations of the last 25 years.

Indicative of the increasing concern of Americans over Watergate, is the fact that more than 9 persons in 10 are now aware of the situation, more than 8 in 10 say, heard or read about the president's speech Monday night, and finally, that a majority (53 percent) now regard the Watergate affair as an issue of "great importance to the nation.

Regarding the question of Nixon's involvement in Watergate, 40 percent of the persons in the survey express the belief that Nixon did not tell the "whole truth" about Watergate in his speech Monday, while 30 percent think he did. The remaining 30 percent either were not aware of the speech or else did not have an opinion.

Four persons in 10 in the survey (40 percent) think President Nixon knew in advance about the Watergate "bugging" of last June, compared to 40 percent who say he did not.

Half of those interviewed, (50 percent) think Nixon has participated in a "coverup" of the Watergate situation while 35 percent say he was not involved.

The Watergate affair has had a deleterious affect in terms of attitudes toward President Nixon and toward the federal government as an institution.

Three fourths of those persons who think Nixon knew in advance about the "bugging" indicate they now have a more unfavorable opinion of Nixon.

In addition, almost 6 persons in 10 say the Watergate situation has reduced their confidence in the federal government, with 21 percent saying "a great deal" and 37 percent saying "somewhat.

In regards to the proposed investigations, a large majority of persons interviewed (74 percent) think a person from outside the Nixon administration should be appointed to head the investigations.

Asked what action, if any should be taken if it is determined from the investigations that Nixon knew in advance about the "bugging" or participated in a coverup, nearly half say they favor strong action, including 30 percent who say impeachment proceedings should be initiated.

The findings reported today are based on telephone interviews with 456 adults, 18 and over, interviewed Wednesday evening, May 2. Following are the questions asked and the national results:

Exotic Food, Music Featured

More than 150 townspeople and East Carolina Univerity students and faculty sampled dozens of exotic dishes and were entertained with music, song and dance Wednesday night at an International Festival put on as part of the Afro-Asian study symposium at ECU.

Food and drink were prepared by international students at ECU and the festival itself was staged by a students committee and a citizens advisory committee representing the Greenville community.

The dishes included such delicacies as seaweed rice rolls and sweet and sour pork from Korea; Osembe, a snack from Japan; Kang Kio, which is chicken curry served over rice or noodles prepared by Sukhum Praisarnt of Thailand; pancit, a Philippine dish of rice, flour and noodles; Sorrel, a drink from a flower prepared by Janice Jacques of Grenada; and buris, a chick pea curry served over bread from India.

There was almond bean curd dessert from Hong Kong; Lolia polo, a bean rice from Iran; chop chey and fried rice; Adobo, chicken stewed with vinegar, garlic and soy sauce from the Philippines; fire meat, a beef dish from Korea; and klejner, a pastry with powdered sugar from Denmark

The food sampling also included U.S. dishes prepared by members of the Woman's Club of Greenville, such as ham biscuits, sausage rolls, fried chicken, cheese sandwiches, pickles, soft drinks and orange drinks.

Prof. Roger Beresford gave a selection of classical Indian music full of haunting melodies on the sitar, accompanied by Dr. Avtar Singh on the drums. A student group performed a Phillipine bamboo dance and there were music and dance presentations by students from India, West Africa, Afghanistan and Iran. Mr. and Mrs. Pilkyu Kim and Debra O'Conner performed a Korean song.

The festival featured international students dressed in native costume, many of whom described and explained their dress.

Community leaders acting as hosts for the Festival were the Rev. Troy Barrett, minister of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church, and Mrs. Florence Holt, president of the Woman's Club of Greenville. Mrs. Mary Faye Shires, chairman of the International Affairs committee of the Woman's Club, presided.

Dr. Robert Bunger of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology and member of the African Studies committee, presented remarks on the purposes of the festival and the symposium and Dr. Avtar Singh, chairman of the Asian Studies committee, intoroduced guests.

Everyone Looks Well In Red, Says Ginger The Designer

By GAIL LIBERMAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ginger Rogers, who danced and sang her way to fame as Fred Astaire's film partner, still sings and dances, but she also has a new career — fashion designing.

Miss Rogers, a trim blonde in her early 60s, held up a red halter top at a recent interview and said "It's flattering to women no matter what size bosom they have. Everyone looks well in red," she said enthusiastically.

It was one of the first designs she did as fashion consultant to a well-known chain store last spring.

"And feel this," she said, holding out the lower edge of her navy and white checked blazer. "See how lightweight it is?"

The clothing was part of a 12-piece travel unit she co-ordinated and selected herself.

"I picked this up from a Paris boutique," she said, displaying a red crinkly vinyl zippered bag with a wide shoulder strap, a cross between a knapsack and pocketbook. "You can keep anything in it. It's so handy for customs inspections."

In choosing the travel unit, Miss Rogers said she wanted everything to fit into a suitcase. It had to be drip dry, she added, and mix and matchable. All the items come in red, white or blue.

In addition to choosing and designing her clothes, the performer has been touring the country to promote clothes and receive feedback as to what women want in fashion on behalf of the J.C. Penney Co. She has visited mall areas of many stores and attracted as many as 2,000 people, she estimates.

"Mainly they complain that today's fashions are designed for their 17-year-old daughters. They are not at all flattering to their own figures," Miss Rogers says, and she's trying to remedy that.

Her experience in the fashion field came mainly from criticizing clothes designers chose for her during her film career.

"If I wanted a longer waist or ruffle, I'd tell them," she said.

She has worked closely with many designers, including Jean Louis and Edith Head. She also originated many fashion trends with her film costumes — among them the feather dress she wore in "Top Hat" and the clean, white collar-and-cuffs from "Kitty Foyle."

She has lectured students at the Parsons School of Design in New York and has addressed fashion groups across the country.

When not traveling, Miss Rogers works from an office in her four-bedroom home near Medford, Ore. She lives with her mother and a dog, named "Mr. B." which means, she says, "Black is Beautiful."

"I am very close to my mother," she adds. "She's very aware and must have read just about every book there is. She keeps me informed when I don't have the time to read. I'm more of a doer than a thinker."

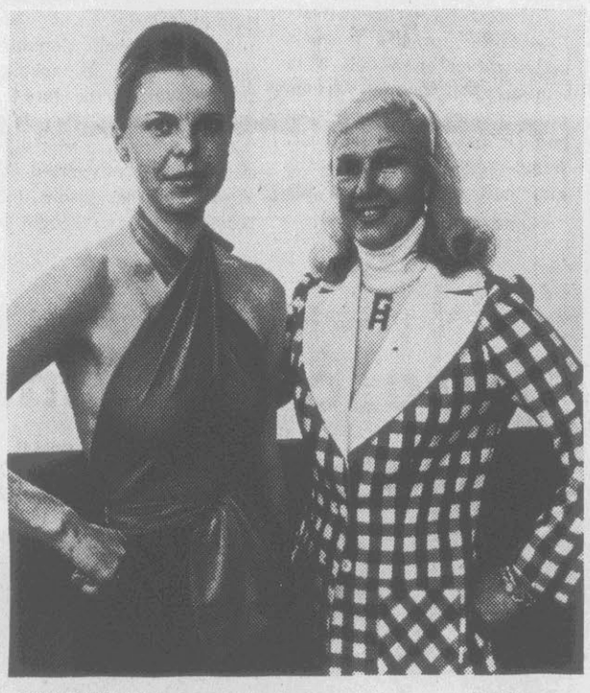

Miss Rogers designs all her own clothes, although she doesn't sew. "I pick a material first," she says. "Then I do with it what it tells me to do."

Painting, sculpture and pottery-making take up other free moments. Her pottery-making skill came in handy when she was playing "Mame" in London.

"I wanted to give each member of the cast something," she said. "So I got a potter's wheel and made them little cups, saucers and dishes, signing each. I think it's so much nicer when you create a gift."

On a nearby table were sketches of sleepwear she has designed for fall.

"I learned how to draw up here," she said, pointing to her head. "Everybody can do it. Everybody can do anything they want to do and if they can't, it's usually because they haven't tried."

SHOWING OFF some of the designs she has created is Ginger Rogers, with model Anke Kade. Miss Rogers says fashion for travel must be packable, mix and matchable.

Give Of Self After Death

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for mentioning in your column that you carry on your person two cards, indicating that you have donated your eyes and your kidneys after your death.

I read it while visiting my 18-year-old granddaughter who has been without kidneys for a year and has been kept alive by a dialysis machine. She is waiting for a kidney which we hope will be provided by a donor.

A suggestion in your widely-read column might serve as an impetus to some of your readers to follow your commendable example.

The good that could be accomplished by such generous action is immeasurable and could extend to generations yet unborn! A MISSOURI MINISTER

DEAR MINISTER: Thank you for giving me another opportunity to say that no matter what else I leave behind, these, I think will be the most precious.

A few facts: Having once made such a commitment, you may revoke it at any time should you so desire. There is NO disfiguration whatsoever. Because of the time element, such donations may NOT be bequeathed in one's will because wills are usually read after the deceased has been buried. Organs are NEVER sold. They are given free to those who need them.

For additional information, write to The Living Bank, P. O. Box 6725, Houston, Tex. 77005.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, who is married to a very well-to-do man, wants me to move into her home while she and her husband vacation in Europe for six weeks.

I am a widow, 75, and very active. I am willing to go to her home every day to water her plants, bring in the mail, and check up on things, but the problem is their dog. She can't leave him alone, so I have to sleep there.

Abby, I am terrified of staying there alone. It is a regular mansion. She has three live-in help, [a couple and second maid] who all take their vacations at this time.

They refuse to put the dog in a kennel because they did that once and the dog went on a hunger strike and nearly died. I'd take the dog to my apartment but they don't allow dogs.

I've told my daughter I was afraid to stay at her place alone and she says, "Nothing can happen to you. Keep the floodlights on all night." I say if robbers see floodlights on all night they will know someone is alone there. My daughter laughs at me.

I am hurt to think they think more of their dog's feelings than mine, but what can I do? They have been wonderful to me otherwise, so I hate to say no.

NO LOCATIONS, PLEASE

DEAR NO: Why don't you invite a friend to stay there with you? Or, since your daughter is well off, suggest she hire a security guard to watch the place at night.

DEAR ABBY: My sister in law, whose last name is the same as mine, just had a baby girl. I am pregnant and am due to deliver any moment. My sister in law who wasn't due for another three weeks, delivered early.

My problem is that she used the name I thought up. If I have a girl I can't use that name because it will cause all kinds of confusion since the cousins will live in the same town, and will be constantly confused in school, etc.

When I told her the name I was going to use if I had a girl she kind of made fun of it so I never dreamed she would use it. What should I do? I have always loved that name and now I can't use it. NAME STOLEN

DEAR STOLEN: You can use it if you want to. But cheer up. You may have a boy.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

As Strawberry Season Comes, Here's A Trifle For Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's an American adaptation of a dessert from England. It's Strawberry Trifle and its main ingredients are the luscious red berries, ladyfingers and whipped cream. We made our own ladyfingers for this dessert, but if you want to save time and energy you can use the packaged ones. Either way it's a delightful dessert worth serving as the sweet ending for a dinner party.

STRAWBERRY TRIFLE

2 pints fresh strawberries
Sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash of salt
½ pint heavy cream
¼ cup port or sherry
Red food coloring
1 package (3 ounces) ladyfingers (about 12 whole separated into halves) or an equal number of homemade ladyfingers

Wash and hull strawberries. Reserve half a dozen whole strawberries for garnish. Puree half of remaining berries in electric blender; set aside. Slice remaining berries and sweeten with ¼ cup sugar; set aside.

In a medium saucepan thoroughly mix together 6 tablespoons sugar, the cornstarch, lemon juice and salt. Stir in pureed strawberries. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Cool.

Whip ½ cup of the cream. Fold the whipped cream, 2 tablespoons of the port and a few drops of red food color into cooled strawberry mixture.

Line the bottom and sides of a glass bowl (holding about 6 cups and preferably with straight sides) with halved ladyfingers. Sprinkle with the remaining 2 tablespoons port. Spoon half the sliced strawberries on top of ladyfingers; spoon half the strawberry-cream mixture over sliced strawberries. Repeat the two layers with remaining sliced strawberries and strawberry-cream mixture. Chill for several hours or longer.

Shortly before serving, whip remaining cream. Garnish trifle with whipped cream and reserved whole strawberries.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Variety meats — liver, brains, kidney, heart and sweetbreads—are especially rich in food value and they add variety to family menus.

Open Classroom Fun, Yet Disciplined

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When parents complain that their children are enjoying school too much to be learning anything, wise teachers have a good answer ready.

All parents are asking, according to Marianne Everett, founder of the Everett School, are their children learning skills to get along in the world.

"We must ease their anxiety in a positive way," Miss Everett said. "Their concerns are valid. But you can show them through the children that skills are being taught and that learning can be fun."

Miss Everett said most parents remember their own school days as regimented learning by rote. It wasn't fun for them, she added.

But times have changed. New methods of teaching utilize social studies or cooking to teach math, movies and tapes for reading. Teacher workshops are often held at the Everett School to help teachers themselves operate on a better level with their students.

"Teachers also learn by doing. We give them a chance to implement some of their own ideas about education. They can make books, have gerbil races and play special math games," Miss Everett said.

Open education is a phrase Miss Everett uses often.

"It means opening your mind and heart to what children are like," she said. "it isn't taking walls out of your building and then figuring out a program for a barn. It is giving children a framework in which they can learn from experience."

The goal of the open education experience is individualized teaching. Children not only learn from experience, they become different kinds of persons, persons who are able to cope with society.

"The open education program is significant in terms of the kind of people we want to bring up, whether they are independent, inquisitive, curious and responsible for themselves or obedient and passive," she added. Naturally she prefers the former to the latter.

There are five kinds of structure in open education. There is structure in child development, in environmental space with its corners for math, reading and art; in curriculum, in time and in the relationships of child to child, Miss Everett said.

"Instead of a rigid schedule, we deal in large blocks of time. First we plan what the children will do, then work is done and at the end of the time period, we plan the next session and evaluate what we have done," she said.

An example cited for the teachers was a recent french class project in which students set up a French cafe. They used math and science as well as their language study, buying food at the supermarket, planning the menu, cooking food and setting up a bank to convert dollars to francs for the evening. With profits from the cafe, the students plan a trip to Quebec.

"The basic respect a teacher has for an individual child is passed along to other children. They respect each other and the rights of others. That's why we have ground rules about pulling hair, calling names and all that. We give the child an opportunity to do his method to see what works best. The teacher is the responsible adult, the authority figure head.

BPW Gets District Posts

A member of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club was elected district director-elect at a District IX meeting in Morehead City Sunday.

Some 13 Greenville members attended the meeting, reporting that there are 78 women in the Greenville Club.

Doris Marlowe of Greenville was named chairman of the district nominating committee and Carloyn Fulghum and Nancy Smith, both of Greenville, were elected to represent District IX on the state nominating committee.

Emalyn Colard, a teacher at Wahl-Coates School here, represented the Greenville BPW as "Young Careerist."

Next year's emphasis is "Challenge for Commitment," those attending the meeting were told. This year "Action—Women's Involvement" was stressed.

Luncheon

GRIFTON—Miss Barbara Rasberry and Miss Marian McLawhorn, May and June brides-elect, were honored Saturday at a luncheon at which Mrs. Joe House, Mrs. B. C. Troutman, and Mrs. Wayne Branscome were hostesses.

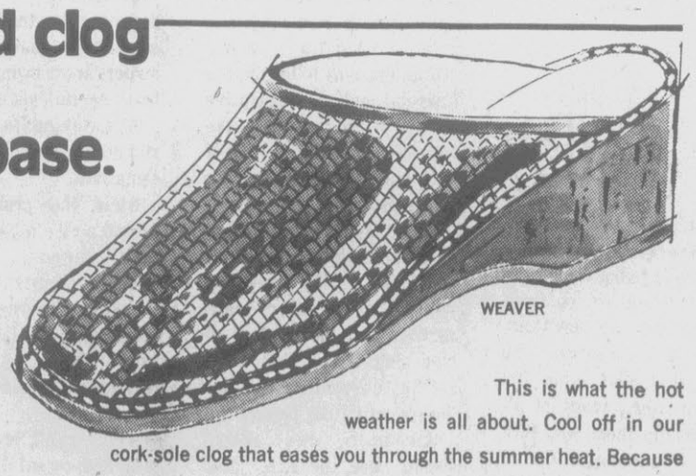

Guests were seated at small tables placed through the House home. Each table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a pansy arrangement.

White carnation corsages were given Miss Rasberry and Miss McLawhorn, their mothers, Mrs. W. E. Rasberry and Mrs. Luke McLawhorn, and Mrs. George Lehman, mother of the two girls' fiances.

Refrigerate those jams and jellies, pickles and mayonnaise, peanut butter and prepared mustard after the jars are opened.

A Timely Switch By Connally

The long awaited conversion of John B. Connally from Democrat to Republican has taken place. In view of the recent Watergate problems which have beset the Republican administration it is a surprise to some that it took place at all.

Connally is certainly a bright star in politics now. Articulate and capable he served in the Nixon administration as secretary of the treasurer. Since then, there have been constant rumors that he might make the switch from the Democratic party in which he made his name in Texas.

There were those who thought that Connally would switch before last year's election and replace Agnew on the GOP ticket as vice presidential running mate. This did not come about, of course, and Connally remained a Democrat through the election. Rumors persisted, however, that the switch would still be made with Connally a possible presidential candidate on the GOP ticket in 1976.

Then Watergate broke. There were those who said the administration scandal delayed the party change for Connally and it might not come at all. Thus it was somewhat of a surprise that the political move came at this time.

Switching parties is risky at best, as New York Mayor John Lindsay found out in his move from Republican to Democrat. So one has to wonder at Connally's reasons for making the change now. It is possible that the Nixon administration urged him to do so now. Being capable and untouched by the Watergate scandal, he could be a great help to the president in patching up the gaps left in the administration by recent resignations.

Still Connally would have to weigh the possibilities the recent administrative problems on his own career. Our guess is that he sees Watergate as already having done all the damage it can do to the Republicans. Coming into the GOP with a spotless reputation, Connally must recognize that he can take a lead in tidying things up. He no doubt can be a great help to the president in rebuilding the administration and restoring public confidence in it

Thus in one sense, Connally has little to lose and much to gain in making the switch at this time. If further problems develop from Watergate he will not be to blame. But if things improve from this point on he will be the recipient of the president's and party leader's gratitude. For a man who like a challenge that is pretty good odds.

Ervin Gained By Watergate

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH—Will the Watergate issue be a factor in North Carolina politics for the 1974 campaign?

Answers that questions brings from Tar Heel legislators depend on party label. Yes, indeed, say Democrats. Not to any great extent, respond the Republicans.

BRYAN HAISLIP

There is accord that the incident has fed public distrust of politics and created a crisis for the President Nixon's administration. To what degree, if any, that will burden GOP candidates running for state office is the matter for debate.

The direct effect may be apparent in the U. S. Senate race next year. Watergate headlines have made a hero figure of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., whose seat will be at stake. That will make him a formidable opponent in the Democratic primary, if he chooses to run, and could cause second thoughts for GOP aspirants for the seat.

Many Democrats predict a much broader impact from Watergate. "It will blunt the recent drive of the Republican party in winning elections in North Carolina," said Rep. Herbert Hyde of Buncombe. "It undermines their issue of law and order."

GOP Prospects Damaged

Rep. Liston B. Ramsey of Madison used strong language to declare that Watergate reaction will help the Democratic party and damage the Republicans.

"Thinking men and women now realize that the present administration in Washington is the most corrupt in the history of our county," he said. "President Nixon is tied directly to Watergate, and most people can see it now. His speech the other night was nothing but baloney."

President Nixon on the ballot got credit for a coat-tail boost for state GOP victories in 1972, Ramsey reminded. The reverse will be true next year, he said. Republicans can't escape the shadow of their President, and there will be an adverse effect on GOP candidates "because basically North Carolinians do not appreciate or condone dishonesty in any form," he insisted.

Two Republican senators saw little possibility that the party as a whole will suffer greatly from the scandal in the nation's capital.

Party Not To Blame

Voters will be inclined to place the blame on individuals and not on a political party, said Sen. Charles H. Taylor of Transylvania. "Everyone knows that within a party there can be persons who commit acts which are repulsive. If they are denounced and brought forward through the judicial process, the party can't be blamed," he said.

The point to emphasize, said Sen. Hamilton C. Horton Jr. of Forsyth, is that the North Carolina Republican part is indigenous and not tied to the national organization. GOP gains in the state came through the slow building of a two-party system, not primarily as the result of a popular President, he argued. The forward movement will continue, he predicted, with no appreciable slowing as a result of the Watergate affair.

"Unfortunately, such things are a part of the American political system that we have been trying to root out for years, and not confined to one party," he said.

Besides, Watergate may not be a live issue next year. "Time passes, and people forget awful quickly," Sen. Horton observed.

A lingering public memory was predicted by Wilbur Hobby, state AFL-CIO chief and twice an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. He said Watergate will be a cross for GOP candidates to bear in North Carolina and throughout the country.

Public Faith Dimmed

"It shows the people what our govenment has deteriorated to. One of our principal problems in politics is that people have lost faith in government officials. This just reinforces that broken faith," he said.

Whether there will be short-term adverse effects at the polls depends on the final outcome of the case, said Rep. Robert Q. Beard, Catawba Republican. The certain results, he added, will be further public disillusion with politics and a new demand for higher standards of political conduct.

Down East, the backwash from Watergate may slow any trend to the Republican Party, said Rep. Horton Rountree of Pitt, a Democrat.

It has enhanced the popularity of Sen. Ervin and will make him hard to beat in a Democratic primary, Rountree added. 'The publicity he has received could be a factor overriding his age, if he decides to run," he said.

Collapse Looms For Cambodia

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia—The abrupt withdrawal last week by two successive brigades from embattled defensive positions here in defiance of orders is more evidence of the Cambodian army's shocking deterioration which now menaces President Nixon's grand design for Indochina.

With Cambodian Communist insurgents probing Phnom Penh's suburbs, the commander of the Cambodian Army (FANK) 51st Brigade suddenly ordered his troops to withdraw from Siem Reap eight miles south of here. The 15th Brigade replaced them, but it too was pulled out by its commander, who then refused to return. That followed two weeks during which FANK has all but disappeared as a fighting unit.

The result soon could be Cambodia's collapse, not through conquest but from internal decay leading to a pro-Communist government controlled by Aanoi. Such a disaster, establishing a logistics sanctuary for a new Communist general offensive in South Vietnam, would sever the few remaining frail underpinnings of the Paris peace agreement.

Although the withdrawal at Siem Reap left the capital open to assault, its capture almost surely is not Hanoi's strategy. The widely reported "seige" of Phnom Penh never happened. Rather, the Communists hope to overthrow the government by military pressure on the city's fringes, repeated routs of the FANK and serious attempts to capture the provincial capitals of Takeo and Kompot. If those cities fall, the end could be near.

Most of this has been accomplished by Cambodian insurgents who last fall began taking over from North Vietnamese units. The present offensive is fought by nearly 40,000 insurgents with absolutely indispensable aid from some 3,500 North Vietnamese regulars—cadres, sappers, artillerymen, logistical troops. Hanoi-trained Cambodians control the insurgents politically. Overall direction, of course, is in Hanoi.

Althought the Communist offensive is extraordinarily tenacious, it is not awesome in terms of the Indochina war. The heavy artillery, antiaircraft rockets and tanks sent by Hanoi to South Vietnam and Laos have not appeared here. Nor is there yet a genuine political-guerrilla apparatus in government-controlled territory (only 20 per cent of Combodia but over 60 per cent of the population).

In sum, FANK has enough men (perhaps 180,000) and U. S. supplied equipment. It lacks the will. What was a poorly led, inadequately trained army with exceptionally high morale when we last observed it 18 months ago, has become something much worse. It refuses to move into battle, abandons cities without being attacked and quickly retreats when fired upon.

The reasons are many. Thanks to corruption and incompetence, many troops are not paid and refuse to fight. The FANK never recovered psychologically from the debacle of its atrociously planned November 1971 offensive against North Vietnamese regulars. Many officers like the good life in their Phnom Penh villas while their troops face death in the field.

But the army's overriding problem is the crumbling regime of Marshall Lon No1. Lacking public support, the regime cannot give its troops a reason for fighting.

Moreover, Lon No1's palace guard blocks any

Nixon On The Mountain

WASHINGTON—Last weekend President Nixon went to Camp David alone, without family or aides. Press Secretary Ron Ziegler denies it, but it has been reliably reported that the President went up the top of the mountain to speak with God.

"God, God, why are you doing this to me?"

"Doing what, Richard?"

"The Watergate, the coverup, the grand jury hearings, the Senate investigations. Why me, God?"

"Don't blame me, Richard. I gave you my blessing to win the election, but I didn't tell you to steal it."

"God, I've done everything you told me to do. I ended the war. I defeated poverty. I cleaned the air and the water. I defeated crime in the streets. Surely I deserve a break."

"Richard, I tried to warn you that you had sinful people working for you."

"When, God?"

"Just after the Committee to Re-Elect the President was formed. When I saw the people you had selected to head up the committee, I was shocked. We've got a long file on them up here."

"Why didn't you tell me, God?"

"I tried to, but Ehrlichman and Haldeman wouldn't let me talk to you on the phone. They said they'd give you the message I called."

"They never told me, God."

"It figures. Then I sent you a telegram saying it was urgent that you contact me."

"The only telegrams I read during that period were those in support of my bombing North Vietnam."

"Finally, Richard, I made one last effort. I showed up at a prayer meeting one Sunday at the White House and after the sermon I came up to you and said there were men among you who would betray you. Do you know what you did, Richard? You introduced me to Pat and then you gave me a ball point pen.

"I didn't know it was you, God. So many people show up at those prayer meetings. Is that why you're punishing me—because I snubbed you?"

"I'm not punishing you, Richard. But even I can do just so much. If it were merely a simple case of bugging at the Watergate, I could probably fix it. But your Administration is involved in the obstruction of justice, the bribing of witnesses, the forging of papers, wiretapping, perjury and using the mails to defraud."

"Good God, nobody's perfect!"

"I guess that's what the grand jury is saying."

"Look, I've got less than four years in which to go down as the greatest President in the history of the United States. Give me a break."

"You've got to clean house, Richard. Get rid of everyone who has any connection with the scandal. You must make it perfectly clear you were hoodwinked by everyone on

To The Editor:

Next week is Be Kind to Animals Week which is a national occasion. Unfortunately, to expect all persons to practice kindliness towards animals is to dream the impossible dream. There are too many neurotic animal haters in existence as attested by the continued poisoning of dogs in the East Third Street area. It seems that too many persons forget that dog owners pay county and city taxes to harbor their animals, plus city license tags and the required costs for rabies shots. These animals are personal property and to damage, injure or kill them is to commit a crime under the laws of North Carolina.

In addition to the animal haters there are dog owners who practice cruelty—sometimes through ignorance, sometimes through meanness. Lack of shelter, short chains, small pens, improper and insufficient food, lack of medical attention—all this comes under cruelty. Another angle that may be overlooked is the over-breeding of animals. This is uncalled for in view of the reduced-fee spaying program available to many. Some persons may consider themselves animal lovers—one woman has seven cats who breed frequently. The end result is that the kittens are constantly being put to death, yet on the surface because of the number of cats she feeds people might consider her an animal lover.

There is so much emphasis on education but nothing much being done in Greenville to teach children and adults how to care for animals and how to prevent over-population.

For next week at least let us remember the words of Ella Wheeler Wilcox—

"So many Gods, so many Creeds
So many paths that wind and wind
When just the art of being kind
Is all this sad world needs"

Also for next week, remember that the spaying program needs your help and financial support.

A Gift To Be Ignored

By BRUCE HANDLER
Associated Press Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Don't send pipe tobacco to your friends in Brazil. It might get them thrown in jail.

A U.S. citizen living in this South American country swears that's what almost happened after a buddy from Chicago mailed him a $6 tobacco sampler as a gift.

A notice from the Brazilian post office arrived last October in the home of the American, whom we shall call Smith because he doesn't want any more trouble with the cops, advising him to pick up an overseas package.

When Smith arrived at the post office, an employe told him: "Pipe tobacco. You ought to know it's against the law to bring pipe tobacco into Brazil. We'll have to burn it."

"I didn't know the guy was going to send it to me. Couldn't you ship it back to Chicago." Smith asked. "The law says we have to burn it," came the reply. Smith left.

Six months later there was another notice from the post office. The same package was waiting for Smith, and the post office people put him through the same routine.

"I'd like to see the law that says you have to burn it," Smith said this time. "I'm perfectly willing to comply with Brazil's laws. I'd just like to see it on paper." The post office told him to go to the internal revenue department.

There, a tax official dragged out a copy of the law that really says a person can be jailed from six months to two years for bringing foreign tobacco products illegally into Brazil.

Then Smith overplayed his hand. "I'd like to watch you burn my package," he said.

The tax man exploded. "What? You doubt the word of a Brazilian official? I could have you jailed for disrespect — even for endangering national security.

"Witnesses. I need two witnesses." "I'm a witness," shouted a Brazilian who had been sort of dozing in a corner.

PRACTICE IN PRAYER

The reason why some people claim they get little or no result from prayer is that they don't pray often enough to keep themselves in practice. They are like a man who combed his hair only once a year, and asserted that he would never do it more often because it hurt so much.

Some people never pray until they get sick, or find themselves bogged down in trouble, or lose their job, or find themselves confronted with the possibility of not being able to get something they desperately want.

We cannot bring prayers to our lips when we confront crises unless we have accustomed ourselves to believe that God is in the world, standing ready at all times to help those who turn to Him. It is as unjustified to believe that we can pray effectively in the face of a great crisis without ever having done it before, as it is to believe that we can play a musical instrument without ever having practiced.

Many Pensions Are Involved

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After several years of hearings and proposals and reorganizations following the financial and administrative turmoil of the late 1960s, the securities industry is still a long way from solving its problems.

Many Americans apparently could care less, if you judge by the shriveling volume of smaller transactions and the number of blue chip stocks that can't attract customers despite their scintillating profits.

But maybe these people should care, because their pensions are invested in the market, and if variable life insurance becomes the reality forecast for it, their financial security will be there in greater proportions than before.

There is an even more immediate and vital reason for concern: jobs. America's job-making machinery depends upon the market for capital, and many corporate leaders are growing fearful of that capitalraising ability.

So are regulatory officials and other government representatives.

While the problems are fundamental and multitudinous, involving basic concepts about the structure of the market, there are several related symptoms that invite the curiousity of almost every person.

—Why can't brokers, like soap and cereal distributors, interest more people in their product?

—Why can't they, like supermarket and other retail operators, sell at a profit?

—Why do so many in the industry, a symbol of free-free-enterprise capitalism, feel they cannot make a profit without price-fixing?

All questions pertain to current events, just as they did several years ago when the restructuring and modernizing of the markets was undertaken with hopes high that a solution would be found by now.

But in-fighting among factions, disputes with the Securities and Exchange Commission, fear for survival, and indecision have been among the large impediments to giving Americans the open, central market the SEC says is needed.

And as progress lags, the disinterest among millions of Americans seems to spread in the same proportion as concerns grows among corporate leaders who view some of the brokerage community as an obstacle between them and investors.

The latest in the disputes that has encumbered progress is apparently between factions at the New York Stock Exchange, whose members hope to play the leading role in the future central market that is expected to mold separate exchanges into a whole.

Two months ago the Big Board adopted a position for rates that would be fully negotiated—competitive rather than fixed—by the middle of next years. Some exchange officials now are saying the date is too soon. They are backing off.

As a result, a bill before Congress that would end fixed commissions, a bill that leaders of the NYSE originally campaigned for, now appears doomed. And the gloom and frustration spreads, just as does the broker's red ink.

Two Persons Hurt In Three Collisions

Three collisions here yesterday resulted in two persons being injured and caused property damage estimated at $1,930, Greenville police reported.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 4 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Third and Pitt Streets which involved cars driven by Robert Frederick Miller of Falls Church, Va., and Venetia Harrell Davis of 214 North Elm St.

Both drivers were reported injured by police who estimated damage to the Miller car at $300 and set damage to the Davis auto at $450.

Miller was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign.

Nathan Keel of Bethel was charged with failing to stop for a stop light following investigation of an 11:30 a .m. mishap on U.S. 264 at the Arlington Boulevard intersection.

Officers reported the Keel car collided with a vehicle driven by Bobby Ray Boyd of 117 Greenwood Dr. causing an estimated $400 damage to the Boyd car and about $300 damage to the Keel auto.

Drivers involved in a 12:10 p.m. mishap on Dickinson Avenue 129 feet East of the Truman Street intersection were identified by police as William Edward Nash of Kinston, Ronnie Thomas Vicks of 208 Columbia Ave. and Roy Thomas Moore os - of lo06 South Woodlawn Ave.

Officers, who charged Moore with following too closely, estimated damage to be $150 to the Moore car, $300 to the Vicks auto and $30 to the Nash vehicle.

Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate was unchanged at five per cent last month, the government said today. Gains were reported in average weekly earnings and the length of the work week, signs of a continually expanding economy.

The Labor department said the number of people without jobs remained at about 4.4 million on a seasonally adjusted basis, roughly the same level that has prevailed since last November.

Arrest Man In Marijuana Raid

Richard Steven Feldstein, 22, of 1302A East Second St. was charged by Greenville police officers with possession of marijuana yesterday.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, the charges stemmed from a 12:05 a.m. raid of the man's home. He was taken into custody about 4:40 p.m.

Cannon said officers found traces of marijuana in suitcases in the Feldstein residence during a search.

The public is invited to attend.

$604,355 To Robersonville

Congressman Walter B. Jones announced today that the town of Robersonville has been awarded a $604,355 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency.

The congressman noted that the funds will be used to expand and modify the town's existing wastewater treatment plant.

A Planned Use Report for Federal Revenue Sharing Funds, reflecting the amounts authorized in the ordinance mentioned above, and required by the U.S. Treasury Department, reveals a category breakdown as follows: (a) Multipurpose and general government, $14,886; (b) Transportation, $83,400; (c) Environmental conservation, $34,600; (d) Public Safety, $68,000; and (e) Recreation and culture, $158,500; for a total of $359,386.

Bids on vehicles and construction equipment for the city totaling $47,037.16 were approved. In the first group of bids, Hastings Ford was low bidder for two automobiles at $6,248.34; bids for four trucks went two each to International Harvester and Hastings Ford; R.W. Moore was low bidder at $18,220 for a diesel powered tractor, and N.C. Equipment Company the only bidder for a heavy duty roller at $2,568.82.

In the bids for the two automobiles and four trucks, City Manager William Carstarphen recommended to the council acceptance of a composite bid for the six items by Hastings Ford in the amount of $26,747.44.

Clay Burnette, representing International Harvester, objected to Carstarphen's proposal. He pointed out that two of his bids on the four trucks were lower than two of Hastings' bid and would save the city a total of $499.10 on the two items. "I was amazed to see that Mr. Carstarphen made a recommendation that Hastings Ford be awarded the bid in that amount. I wonder why he allowed us the privilege of bidding. He was surely aware we didn't sell automobiles."

Carstarphen acknowledged that on two of the bids Burnette was low bidder, and said the bids went out with a notation for "bid requests by category or composite. That's why I'm recommending the low bid overall be accepted."

Councilman Percy Cox called for the council to bid on each item separately, not as a package unit. As a result, bids accepted for the four trucks were two each to Hastings and two each to International Harvester.

Another bid approval was for a police radar unit from Matthews Police Supply Company at $992.50.

Other items on the agenda and action taken were:

—Approval on rezoning the Dr. James M. Williamson property at the intersection of Red Banks Road and N.C. 43, one tract zoned as medical arts, a second tract zoned office and institutional.

—Approval of requests for mobile home permits in the case of Oakwood Mobile Homes,Inc. and ABC Mobile Homes, both on U.S. 264 bypass West.—Approval of request for renewal of nobile home permits in the cases of Vernon Stalls, 134 West Gum Road; Planters National Bank, corner East Tenth Street and Cedar Lane; and Carr Motor Company, Memorial Drive;

—Setting for June's meeting public hearings on a request to rezone a portion of the Weimer-Jones property at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard N.E. and State Road 1523; and application for a mobile-home permit by United Mobile Homes of America, 708 West Greenville Boulevard;

—Approval of a resolution authorizing agreement with the N.C. State Highway Commission for installation of improved traffic signals at the intersection of Tenth Street and Dickinson Avenue;

—Approval of a resolution with the State Highway Commission adjusting street systems to conform with recently approved reconstruction and relocation of Charles Street;

—Approved payment of $792 for off-duty court time for police officers;

—Granted a waiver of privilege license to the Greenville Art Center for the Flea Market and art sale on May 5; and —Approved a tax refund to Mrs. Guinevere B. McLamb due to error in listing.

—Approved a resolution on the method of conducting municipal elections. This authorizes the city to conduct its own municipal elections; to employ a registrar at city hall; to conduct a non-partisan election and run off; to establish a municipal Board of Elections; and to negotiate with the Pitt County Election Board on the use of county precinct books.

Smith was starting to sweat. "You misunderstood the purpose of my question," he said. "I never questioned your authority. It's just that as a foreigner I am interested in Brazilian customs, and I thought it would be interesting to watch you burn illegal packages."

The tax official thought for a while and said: "Well, all right. We won't prosecute you this time. But just remember, you'd better be careful when you're dealing with federal authorities.

reform of the army. His notorious, immensely powerful young brother, Brig. Gen. Lon Non, is a disgrace as commander of the 3rd Division (which includes the non-combative 51st and 15th Brigades). Another palace favorite, Brig. Gen. Ith Suong, ineptly dommands the hopeless 1st Division, also guarding the capital.

The surrealistic atmosphere is typified by the feud between Lon Non and Maj. Gen. Sosphenes Fernandez, commanding general of the FANK. Sosphenes Fernandez tells friends that Lon Non's thugs recently made an unsuccessful effort to kidnap his daughter.

Marshal Lon No1 generated some hope by accepting U. S. demands that he send his brother abroad and dispense power among a new Council of Four. Two Council members, Lt. Gen. Sirik Matak and Im Tam, told us radical reorganization of the FANK is imperative ("FANK is the source of all our troubles," said Sirik Matak). Sen. Sosphenes Fernandez, daring to speak openly, told us Lon Non "is not capable to commanding a division" and must be relieved along with Ith Suong.

But at this writing, Lon No1 has not yet convened the Council of Four and his brother talks openly of national political ambitions. Prospects for reform are murky, the FANK-deteriorates and Cambodia clings to independence from Aanoi only because of U. S. air power—a subject for a future column.

Date Extended For Acreage Request

The final date for cotton farmers in North Carolina to request additional cotton acreage has been extended to May 11, according to Stacy J. Evans, Pitt County executive director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

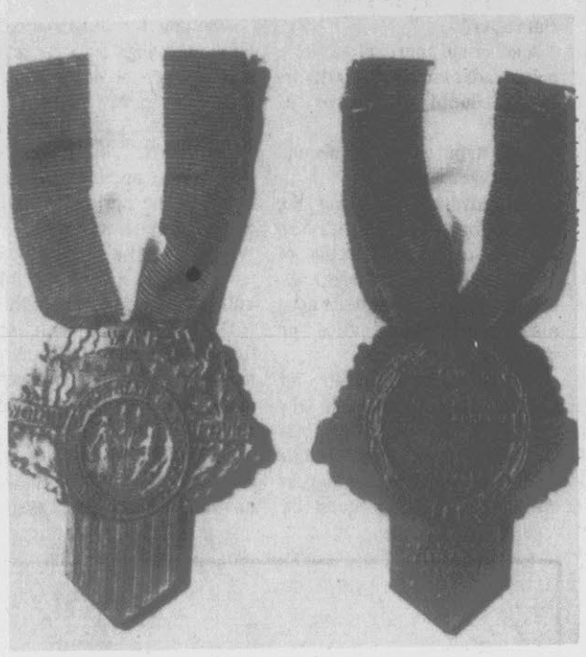

Evans said that it is estimated that the Mississippi Delta gloods will probably prevent the planting of considerable acres of cotton. This has created a demand for expanded acreage in other cotton areas.

He went on to say that this sitation has caused the level of forward contracting prices to rise in some areas of North Carolina.

Evans said that in order to utilize acres that have been released but not reapportioned, producers who may now be interested in obtaining additional released acres should file a request for the additional acreage withthe Pitt County ASCS Office by May 11. The above changes are applicable only to upland cotton.

Evans concluded by saying that the date for releasing cotton acreage to the county committee has not been extended. He urges any cotton grower wanting additional acreeage to be sure and file a request by May 11.

Medals Await WWI Veterans

FORGOTTEN MEDALS—A front (left) and rear view of the medals prepared by North Carolina for its World War I veterans. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Boxes and boxes of medals honoring North Carolina veterans of World War I for their service have been discovered in a warehouse sub-basement after gathering dust more than 50 years.

Any veteran of that war or his survivors can get one by applying.

The General Assembly authorized the medal shortly after Armistice Day. Apparently, they were stored away and forgotten in a change of administrations.

Col. David W. Donovan of the Adjutant General's Department says that since a story about the medals discovery was published in a Raleigh newspaper last month, "We've given out right many. I don't know how many. I wouldn't be surprised if it were over 400 or 500."

He said all anyone has to do to get one is to write the department, indicating the dates of service in the war and where the man lived in North Carolina when he entered the military. He said North Carolina had 86,000 men in uniform during the 1917-18 war.

"Whatever evidence is available" will do, he said, in cases where a widow wants a medal her husband was due, or when a fire destroyed a veteran's records. "If feel the story is genuine we accept their word."

Donovan estimates there were at least 10,000 of the medals, "perhaps as many as 20,000." Each hangs from a red, white and blue ribbon. On the front of the medal is a North Carolina crest and the words "World War Service." On the back is inscribed, "Presented by the State of N. C. to ——— for honored services."

The colonel said the medals were packed in the original boxes in which they were placed by the Massachusetts manufacturer. He said somehow they were stored in a subbasement used by the AG department during the 1920s for old records, and only when the room was being inspected last year did the department become aware of them.

But he said in the past some of the medals had evidently been presented to veterans, because the department has occasionally been asked to replace one.

The medals cost the state $2,000. The original appropriation was for something "to commemorate the state's appreciation of the distinguished service rendered by the soldiers and sailors from North Carolina in the World War."

Announce 1973-74 Pre-School Teacher

The Board of St. Paul's Episcopal Day Pre-School announce that Miss Cyndra Gayle Holland will be the teacher of the four-year olds for the school year of 1973-74.

Miss Holland, a former resident of Newport News, Va. will graduate from East Carolina University with a B. S. degree, majoring in Child Development and Family Relations with a minor in Psychology. She has already begun her work on the Master of Science in Home Economics, majoring in Child Development and Family Relations.

Those serving on the Pre-School Board of St. Paul's are Mrs. Janet McGlohon, Mrs. Linda Davis, Mrs. Marty Hester, Mr. John Farley, Dr. Garrett Hume, and the Rector of St. Paul's, The Rev. Lawrence P. Houston Jr.

There are still a few vacancies in the four-year-olds' program. To qualify, a child must be four years old by October 15, 1973. A maximum of 12 children will be accepted. Application forms may be obtained from the parish office at 401 E. Fourth St.

You wonder how it got there . . . a sapling far from the forest. And grew . . . alone, untended, little-noticed. And flourished to stand like a sentinel against the horizon.

Maybe a tree understands, as sometimes man does not, the secret of God. We are never alone!

What we need He has provided. What we are to become He has designed. The beauty and majesty and grace that can emanate from one object, one creature, He has envisioned and made real . . . for all to share.

There is no loner.

But when we feel alone, then, more than ever, we are drawn to God and His Church. In faith, in friendship with others who believe, in service to those who need our affection and care—we discover how deeply and satisfyingly we belong.

Grant Vows All-Out Battle In Liquor Referendum

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — A Baptist editor said today dry forces stand ready to wage an all-out campaign to urge North Carolinians to vote against liquor by the drink in a statewide referendum next Nov. 6.

J. Marse Grant, editor of The Biblical Recorder, told The Associated Press, "We are ready from an organization standpoint to oppose it vigorously."

Coy Privette, president of the Christian Action League, pledged his group will make every effort to defeat it.

The way was cleared for the referendum Thursday when the Senate enacted legislation calling for the people to express their view at the polls on the controversial mixed drink question.

Only twice before during this century has North Carolina held statewide votes on the question of liquor. One was in 1908 and the other in 1933, both of which were defated.

Before approving the referendum 30-16, the Senate rejected an amendment by 27-18 which would have increased the liquor tax from $5 to $8 per gallon under the proposed mixed drink system. This tax would go to the local county.

North Carolina is the only state east of the Mississippi River which does not have some form of liquor by the drink.

If the issue is approved statewide, counties which now have an Alcoholic Beverage Control system could establish mixed drink sales at the request of the county board of commissioners or upon petition of 20 per cent of the registered voters. The request would be made to the state ABC Board.

Before a dry county could institute mixed drinks it would have to hold a second referendum. This could be requested by the county commissioners or by petition signed by 20 per cent of the registered voters.

Under the bill, liquor by the drink could be sold in licensed Class A restaurants with a minimum seating of 36, convention centers and social clubs.

Many restaurants, hotel dining rooms and social clubs in North Carolina's legally wet areas now permit brown bagging. Under this method, customers take their own bottle of liquor into the establishments in a paper bag and serve themselves.

Brown bagging would not be permitted where mixed drinks were sold.

Rep. Sam Johnson, D-Wake, sponsored the bill which was studied for several weeks by a House subcommittee. It underwent many changes, one of which eliminated the use of miniature bottles from which liquor would be served. South Carolina uses mini bottles in its mixed drink system.

Some lawmakers have raised questions about the constitutionality of the bill, contending that it discriminates against restaurants and dining rooms which seat less than 36 persons.

The measure delegates broad powers to the state ABC Board to regulate the proposed system.

Second Trip To Get New Heart

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— For the second time since February, a Nashville man has been flown to California seeking a new heart and a new lease on life.

William Kizer, 51, an employe of the Yellow Transit Co. who is suffering from what physicians call terminal heart disease, was flown to the Stanford University Medical Center Thursday in an Air Force jet in hopes that surgeons could perform a heart transplant.

Earlier this year, State Sen. Jerry Agee, a Nashville Democrat who had long suffered from heart disease, was also flown to Stanford. Agee died in California, however, before testing to determine his suitability for a transplant could be completed.

"This is his only hope," Kizer's wife, Mattie, said Thursday as she prepared to accompany her husband on the flight. "They've made all the tests to determine what has to be done."

"It was his decision—it didn't take him a minute to make up his mind," she added.

Kizer faces a series of tests at Stanford then a wait for a suitable donor. If the surgery is successful he will have to remain in California for several months.

Kizer was accompanied aboard the California-bound jet by his wife, physician, Dr. Howard Pomeroy, and two nurses.

If Kizer is accepted for transplant surgery, the opeation will be performed by Dr. Norman Schumway, head of the Stanford transplant team, and Dr. Dale Isaeff, a Nashville cardiologist.

Senate OKs Ethics Body

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation creating a committee to ride herd on ethics of North Carolina's legislators has passed the Senate and is now before the House.

The measure, which also would require legislators to file reports on their financial interests both as candidates and after their election, now goes to the House.

Passage of the measure came after the Senate beat down a pair of crippling amendments. One, by Sen. Lamar Gudger, D-Buncombe, would have eliminated the financial report by candidates, the other, by Sen. Kennedy Sharpe, R-Alexander, would have eliminated much of the financial information which a legislator would have to report.

The Legislative Ethics Committee created by the bill would be composed of four Democrats and four Republicans. It would investigate alleged violations of the act. The committee's decisions would be referred to the House or Senate which could censure, suspend or expel the member involved.

'Quality Areas' For Fishermen

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has designated a total of 80.4 miles of seven stream sections as "quality trout fishing areas" where angling is limited to artificial fly fishing only. The order stands until April 26, 1974.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets were steady to weaker Thursday.

Supplies adequate, demand fair to good.

Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites: 53.80; medium whites: 49.40: small whites: 40.71.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs are steady. Tops of 34.50-35.00 Rocky Mount; 33.25-34.25 Kinston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton; 33.25-33.75 Tarboro and Bethel; 32.50-33.50 Siler City and Denton; 33.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: prices steady, supplies adequate and demand good. Weights mostly desireable.

Hens: market tone firm on both types. Offerings short and demand good. Heavies, at farm, 23 cents, at f.o.b. plants, 26 cents. Light type, at farm, 12 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices made strong gains today as some analysts with guarded optimism said there were indications the market may have bottomed out at least for the near-term rally.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 8.42 at 954.09. Big Board advancers led declines 3 to 1 in active trading. The Dow Jones industrials had closed up 13.33 Thursday and more than 11 higher the previous day.

Market prices fell sharply at Thursday's opening. Analysts said it was caused by emotional selling among investors who had hoped for tight controls on prices and wages from President Nixon. But the market then did a remarkable turnaround. The Dow industrials in effect moved up about 26 points from its low of more than 12 down to its close of 13.33 up.

Market prices kept rising today, despite an announcement that First National City Bank had raised its prime rate, the rate of interest it charges its most creditworthy large customers, to 7 per cent from 6¾. Several other banks followed. Such news in the recent past has been sufficient enough to send the market spiraling downward for days.

International Telephone was the Big Board volume leader up ⅛ at 36½. Continental Oil was No. 2 up 1½ at 35¾ and General Electric up 1½ at 61⅝, all in heavy block trading.

Williamhouse-Regency was the American Stock Exchange volume leader up ⅜ at 11⅛, followed by Syntex up ½ at 62⅛. Syntex closed Thursday up more than 8 points on the apparent basis of announced higher earnings for its next fiscal year.

The NYSE broad-based index of some 1,500 common shares was up .43 at 58.78. The Amex price-change index was up .08 usual in the state, but through court action, the companies have complied with the state's requests.

"We hope by doing that (bringing suits against the companies) we will have served notice on the giants in the industrial world that you must live by high ethical standards."

Morgan expressed concern for the independent service station owner who may be driven out of business by the big gasoline companies. He said that due to the independent dealers, prices have not risen to outrageous proportions.

"The fact that your employers are interested enough in young people to take the time to bring you into their businesses, is a good indication that your employer. . .is the kind that constitutes the cornerstone of our free enterprise system," Morgan said.

After his formal remarks, Morgan commented on young people's interest in distributive education. "This is one of the finest programs I know of because the young people actually take a part in the free enterprise system, and it's this system which has made our country great."

When asked to comment on the ECU Medical School prospects, he expressed pleasure. "Of course, the battle isn't won, because there are still powerful foes opposing us." He noted there was an indication that the legislature is showing interest in medical care in the state.

Mistress of ceremonies Elaine Garner introduced Darlene Short, who expressed thanks and appreciation to the employers who gave the students the opportunity to express themselves in the business community. Local neurosurgeon Dr. Ira Hardy, said he was specially impressed with the outstanding quality of students who were being produced from the high school.

"This tells us that you represent the backbone of your age group, and that you are our future," Dr. Hardy added.

Reggie Perkins, representing the Home Occupations and Food Services section of the program, gave the introduction for Attorney General Morgan.

Scholars Honored By Phi Beta Kappa

Eleven high-ranking senior students in the East Carolina University College of Arts and Sciences were honored Wednesday by the Pitt County Alumni of Phi Beta Kappa.

In special ceremonies on campus, the students were recognized for outstanding academic records and each was presented an engraved sterling silver gift.

The eleven students had grade point averages ranging from 3.801 to 3.954 for four years' undergraduate work at ECU.

The students included six North Carolina residents and residents of California, Maryland, Pennesylvania, Texas and Virginia. They were:

Robers A. German, history; Andrew S. Edgar and Lucia Lindsey Lee, biology; Cynthia Ann Lee, Catherine Williford and Ellen Jane Craft, mathematics;

Thomas G. Gardner Jr., anthropology; Marie Rose Perry, Geography; Patricia Jane Clarke and Ronald M. Howard, psychology; and Larry D. Woody, library science.

Pitt County Alumni of Phi Beta Kappa annually honors ECU's graduating seniors with superior academic records who are candidates for degrees from the 18 departments of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Miss Ellen Jane Craft is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph H. Craft, Walstonburg, Route 1.

Bob Collier's gray hair vanished so gradually no one noticed!

Unretouched Photographs Demonstrate Amazing Action of Grecian Formula-16

The first picture shows how gray Bob Collier was before he decided to do something about it.

The next picture was taken after 3 daily applications of GRECIAN FORMULA-16. You can hardly see the difference.

As Mr. Collier continued using it daily, GRECIAN FORMULA-16 gradually built up the natural looking color he wanted. So gradually not even his closest associates noticed the day-to-day change.

Now look at the last picture! See how much younger Mr. Collier looks after 18 days! From now on occasional use will hold his youthful looking hair color.

Remember: the photographs above are absolutely unretouched. The amazing gradual change in hair color was brought about entirely by GRECIAN FORMULA-16.

No other type product works quite like it.

Colorless—Easy to Use

GRECIAN FORMULA-16 is not a harsh coal tar dye but a colorless liquid you apply just like hair tonic. As it grooms your hair, day by day GRECIAN FORMULA-16 builds up color in gradual stages until in two or three weeks you see hair color so natural you hardly remember how you looked when you were gray. Occasional use keeps it that way.

So why look like an "older" man now that there is a masculine way to banish gray hair? Get GRECIAN FORMULA-16 today. $3.50. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Pirates Stay Alive With 5-3 Victory

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — East Carolina University outlasted William & Mary and the weatherman yesterday to take a 5-3 victory over the Indians and keep their Southern Conference title hopes alive.

The game ended after only five innings, the minimum, when a deluge came right at the close of the fifth.

Russ Smith captured the victory for the Pirates, hurling his third victory against one defeat. He kept William & Mary at bay, pitching a perfect game through the first three innings.

But by then, the sky began to threaten, and the Indians began to take some stalling maneuvers. And with a 4-0 lead at the time, Smith began to fatten his pitches to make the Indians swing away. It cost three runs before the Pirates got them out in the final two innings, but it didn't harm the Bucs.

Now, East Carolina must travel to Boone on Saturday and meet the league-leading Mountaineers of Appalachian State University. A sweep of those two games would almost guarantee no worse than a tie for the title, leaving both teams with three losses. Appalachian still must make up a doubleheader with Richmond, while the Spiders have those two, plus a pair with The Citadel to play, and another single game, all of which they would have to win to claim the title outright.

A split of those two by the Pirates would mean the Bucs would have to wait out the rest of the season to see the outcome, while a pair of losses would just about insure the Mountaineers of the title.

East Carolina threatened in the first inning, but was unable to push a run across. Ron Staggs walked with two down, and Mike Hogan singled. Larry Walters walked, but with the bases loaded, the next batter went down.

In the second, however, they did manage a run. Jeff Beaston singled and Greg Fulghum got a hit. With two away, John Narron cracked a double, scoring Beaston for a 1-0 lead before William & Mary stopped the Bucs again.

Two Pirates crossed the plate in the third inning, all after two were out. Ron Leggestt reached on an error and Beaston got another hit. Leggett moved to third on the play, and when the relay went to that base, Beaston moved on to second. Fulghum followed with a single, scoring both runners, giving East Carolina a 3-0 lead.

In the fourth, they came up with another. Mike Bradshaw singled and Narron got a hit. Staggs reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Bradshaw.

The Indians finally broke the ice in the bottom of the fourth. Dave Crocker got the first hit off Smith with a bunt single. Mike Gratton followed with another single, but a double play wiped him out, moving Crocker to third. Corky Bishop got a hit, scoring Crocker with the first run for the Indians. The next two batters walked to load them up, but the Bucs got out of the jam without further damage.

In the fifth, the Pirates struck again. Leggett singled and Beaston was safe on an error. Fulghum grounded into a fielder's choice, but an error on second left all safe and Leggett streaked home on the play, making it 5-1.

The Indians, trying either to wait out the rain or push ahead, came up with a pair of runs in the fifth as the rain began to fall. Reggie Kidd got a pinchhit single and Mike Henderson replaced him at first. Crocker reached on an error, moving Henderson to third. The relay went there, but was overthrown, and Henderson came in, with Crocker moving to second. He scored on Hunter Robinson's single, but the Bucs retired them at that point, and the umpires called it a game.

The Pirates head for Boone now to learn whether they can pack up their gear for the year, or get it ready for the NCAA Regionals, to be held later this month at Mississippi State University.

Secretariat Seeks To Regain Reputation After Only Defeat

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Secretariat, his reputation tarnished, will try to win the 99th and richest running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday and bring trainer Lucien Laurin and Meadow Stable their second straight victory in the Churchill Downs classic.

"Now bring on Saturday," Laurin, who won the 1972 Derby with Riva Ridge, said Thursday after entering Secretariat in this year's field of 13 3-year-olds.

Secretariat, 1972 Horse of the Year, lost some prestige when he finished third, behind Angle Light and Sham, in the Wood Memorial after having scored impressive victories in his first two starts of the year.

Edwin Whittaker's Angle Light also was entered and will run as an entry with Secretariat because he also is trained by Laurin.

The entry was made the early even-money choice while Sigmund Sommer's Sham was second at 7-2. Pritchard, Thomas and Resseguet's Our Native was third at 8-1, followed by the Lou Goldfine-trained entry of Joe Kellman's Shecky Greene and Arthur Appleton's My Gallant at 10-1.

Others entered, and their odds, were Elkwood Stable's Restless Jet, 20-1; Ed Elzemeyer's Warbucks, 15-1; Stevenson and Stump's Navajo, 30-1; Elmendorf Farm's Twice A Prince, 30-1; Aisco Stable's Royal and Regal, 15-1; Lazy F Ranch's Forego, 12-1, and Gottdank and Sechrest's Gold Bag.

If all 13 start, each under 126 pounds, the 1¼-mile Derby will be worth $198,800, with $155,050 to the winner.

Post time is 5:40 p.m., EDT, and the weather forecast is sunny and mild. Television coverage will be from 5-6 p.m. and radio coverage from 5:15-5:45 p.m., both by CBS.

Secretariat will start from the No. 10 post under Ron Turcotte while John LeBlanc will send Angle Light out of the No. 2 slot. Santa Anita Derby winner Sham will start from the No. 4 post under Laffit Pincay Jr. and Flamingo winner Our Native will start from No. 7 under Don Brumfield.

Carson Plans Track School

Plans for the First Annual Track and Field Training School, to be held June 24-June 29 at East Carolina University (ECU), were announced today by Bill Carson, ECU head track coach.

The Training School, first of its kind in the state, will offer boys aged 10-18 a week of professional coaching in all track and field events. The six-day program will be capped off by a School Track Meet, Friday, June 29, parents invited.

"Track and field is probably the fastest growing sport in North Carolina high school athletics," Carson said. "This is the first effort to extend to our gifted athletes an opportunity of this nature, to provide organized professional guidance outside of public school programs."

Carson said the program would include film study, technique analysis teaching, procedures, and demonstrations by established athletic performers. He also stressed the individual nature of the school.

"Each student will be treated as an individual. Athletes with the desire to excell in their specialty should, and will receive personal attention."

Collegiate track and field performers are slated to assist the School. In addition a trainer wil be on hand at all times during workout sessions.

Carson said interested boys can register either as residents ($85) or day students ($45). Admission fees include room, meals, insurance, and use of ECU recreational facilities. He added that any high school coach having six or more athletes register will be eligible to attend the school free of charge.

Applications can be obtained by contacting Carson, ECU P.O. Box 2567, Greenville, N.C., or by calling (919) 758-6471.

Knicks Win To Even Series

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Play gets rougher in the even-up National Basketball Association playoffs now heading for New York with Coach Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Lakers declaring, "It looks like we'll have to go back to pushing and shoving."

The Knicks, led by the 26-point shooting of Bill Bradley and a tougher defense, beat the Lakers 99-95 Thursday night to square the best-of-7 title series at one victory apiece.

On Tuesday night, the Lakers won 115-112.

"Our defense was much better than in the opening game," said Coach Red Holzman, whose Knicks next meet the Lakers in the more friendly confines of Madison Square Garden on Sunday afternoon.

"We sustained the tempo of the game better, we took a better selection of shots and I'm happy with the split. Only because we lost the first game though. Before that I wanted to win both at the Forum."

New York showed versatility in balanced scoring with five players in double figures led by Bradley. Walt Frazier had 20, Phil Jackson 17, Earl Monroe 14 and Willis Reed 11.

The latter, most valuable player three years ago when the Knicks beat the Lakers for the title, played 29 minutes and bolstered the defense. He still wears a protective brace on his knee, but he moved well. Last year, when the Lakers beat the Knicks in the championship series, Reed didn't see action.

"This had to be a very important win for us," the New York captain said. "It would have been very tough for us if we were down two games even playing the next two games in New York. We were much more aggressive on defense."

Even so, Jerry West scored 32 points and Jim McMillian had 26 for the losers. But 7-foot 1 Wilt Chamberlain missed eight of nine free throws when the Knicks used a strategy of fouling him before he could get off his dunk shots.

Perry Items In Auction

Sports enthusiasts as well as fine arts fans now have something to their liking to bid on at the Flea Market auction to be held at the Greenville Art Center at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Among the latest items received for the auction are donations by baseball stars Gaylord and Jim Perry.

Gaylord has donated an autographed baseball, a couple of autographed pictures, a Cleveland Indians game program, and his old baseball cap from his San Francisco Giants days.

Jim has sent a couple of baseball caps that date from his days with the Minnesota Twins.

Proceeds from the auction will go to the Art Center's Building Fund.

Final Drill For Classic

The final practice session for the American Classic Track program in Greenville will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the East Carolina University track.

All area youths who wish to participate in the Classic are urged to attend. Finals will be held next week, with the area-wide competition set later in the month.

Baker In Love With Talladega

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Buddy Baker is in love with the race track. Hopelessly, unalterably hooked.

"Look at the place," he said Thursday as he stood atop the cab of a truck and surveyed the huge and imposing Alabama International Speedway. "Look at those turns, that putting green grass and the flags on the top of the front straight pylons. It's sort of like admiring the figure of a pretty girl.

"Sure, I love the place. It has been good to me at times, and two of three times it has almost killed me. But like a young colt that doesn't want to be broken, it will throw you one minute and give you the thrill of a lifetime the next."

Baker, 33, will start in the pole position in Sunday's Winston 500-mile stock car race, and if fortune smiles strongly enough he very well could, for the first time, conquer the speedway he calls "the very best racing facility on the face of this earth."

His qualifying speed of 193.435 miles per hour in a Dodge was the fastest recorded by a stock car in three years. Baker says that was one of the highlights of his career.

"This layout is 2.66 miles around, and when you figure it out you have the distance of about 45 football fields," ex-high school football star Baker said. "That means that when I qualified, I ran the distance of a football field (300 feet) about every eight-tenths of a second."

Baker shared his pole position in the first round of qualifying Wednesday, and Thursday he watched as close friend Jim Vandiver earned the 16th strating position as a speed of 189.080 m.p.h. in a Dodge. Vandiver's rate was the fourth fastest of the week.

Donnie Allison was just a eyelash slower at 188.348 m.p.h. in a Chevrolet as the number of starters reached the halfway stage of 30.

Baker has never won a race at Talladega, although he holds the world's closed course speed record for stock racing cars of 200.447 m.p.h. which he set at the track in 1970.

He has had the misfortune of wrecking in three difference races at the giant tri-oval and on two occasions he sustained severe burns when his car caught fire.

The speedway which has Baker hooked, is indeed, an impressive facility.

"Look at those turns up there," Baker pointed. "They're banked 33 degrees, the back chute is 4,000 feet long and the front stretch 4,200 feet. You can pull up to 3 G's coming out of the second turn and coming down the back stretch . . . and boy that gets next to you."

Baker, who learned racing from his father, the still active driver Buck Baker, climbed down from his perch and went to his tomato red Dodge.

He wheeled it around the track a few times. "Just so I don't forget how to drive for Sunday."

Williamston In Romp By Gates

GATESVILLE—Williamston High School took another step toward the Albermarle Conference baseball title with an 11-0 romp over Gates County yesterday.

Mike Weaver tossed a two-hitter at Gates, fanning four and walking three on the way to the win.

The game was a scoreless tie until the third, when Williamston erupted for seven runs. Tim Jackson singled and Dwight Ange got a hit. Joe Roberson walked, loading the bases. Keith Brown then doubled in Phil Selby, runninng for Jackson, and Ange. Mike Weaver was hit by a pitch, reloading the bases and Berwyn Barnhill doubled in both Roberson and Brown. Vann Andrews added another double to score Weaver. Hubert Smith finished off the scoring by driving in Barhnill and Andrews with yet another double for the 7-0 lead.

The added four more in the fifth inning. Barnhill singled and Andrews got a hit. Smith reached on a two-base error, scoring Barnhill, and Mike Bundy doubled in Andrews. Ange then singled to score Smith and Bundy.

Williamston picked up two more in the sixth before halted the game and washed those runs away.

The Tigers were led at the plate by Ange with four hits, while Barnhill had three.

Williamston travels to Robersonville Sturday night.

Al Oliver Puts On One-Man Show In Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates put on their version of "Oliver" in San Francisco and it was quite a production.

Al Oliver was a virtual one-man show with six RBI on two home runs as the Pirates brought the curtain down on the Giants 14-5 Thursday.

"Both homers were on fast balls ... that was the first time I've had so many RBI in one game" said an elated Oliver after hitting a two-run homer in the first inning and a grand slam blast in the Pirates' five-run second.

"The grand slam was on a 3-2 pitch and nine times out of 10, it's going to be a fast ball ... so I was expecting it," said Oliver of the home run off San Francisco starter Jim Willoughby.

Oliver's coming-out party was due. He had only had one hit in his previous 21 at-bats before Wednesday's performance, which also included two singles.

In the other baseball games Thursday, all in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the New York Mets 6-5; the St. Louis Cardinals beat the San Diego Padres 3-1 and the Chicago Cubs whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1.

With Oliver leading the long-ball offense, the Pirates put the game away early. Milt May had a three-run homer in Pittsburgh's four-run fourth that built their lead to 13-1.

"It was my first inside-the-park homer and probably my last," said the Pittsburgh catcher. "The way I had to run around those bases, it was probably the hardest homer I've ever hit."

Pinch-hitter Larry Stahl's three-run homer capped a six-run uprising in the fourth inning as Cincinnati defeated New York. The rally wiped out a 4-0 New York lead built on Rusty Staub's grand slam homer in the first.

Reggie Cleveland scattered nine hits and St. Louis capitalized on San Diego errors to beat the Padres. The Cards scored their winning runs in the fifth. One run scored on an error by San Diego shortstop Derrel Thomas and another on Tim McCarver's sacrifice fly.

Don Kessinger's two-run single keyed a four-run rally in the ninth as Chicago came back to beat Los Angeles. Dodger starter Andy Messersmith had held the Cubs scoreless on six hits before their ninth-inning uprising.

Aycock In Big Victory

E. B. Aycock Junior High School rolled to a 10-1 victory over Nash Central yesterday, upping the Phantom record to 7-0 for the season.

Earlier in the week, Aycock dumped the Rocky Mount Thunderbirds, 8-4.

Jim Wilkerson tossed a two-hitter at Nash Central, striking out nine and walking five.

Aycock got the scoring started with one in the second as Dave Davis slapped a homer. They came back with six more in the second to put it out of reach. Max Nunn reached on an error, scoring when Curtis Keyes doubled. Mike Brewington singled in Keyes and Davis singled. Max Joyner got a hit to score Brewington, and a passed ball let Davis score. Lee Shearin singled over Joyner and moved up on a passed ball. Jim Wilkerson walked and a passed ball let Shearin score.

Aycock added three in the fourth, while Nash's only run also came in that inning.

Jamesville In Martin Victory

JAMESVILLE—Jamesville High School rolled to an 8-1 victory over Oak City yesterday to keep its fading Martin County Conference title hopes alive. The Bullets, now 3-2, can only tie league-leading Robersonville if the Eagles lose their remaining games.

Jamesville took the lead with a run in the first. That came when Bucky Dickerson slashed a home run.

Oak City came back to tie it up with a run in the second. Belflower walked and Reason singled. Spivey then got a hit, driving in Belflower.

In the third, the Bullets pushed back into the lead with four runs. Kevin Holiday walked and Dickerson singled. Eric Martin singled in Holiday and Ronnie Padgett doubled to score Dickerson. Billy Brown singled Martin across, and a hit by Jerry Ange brought over Padgett.

Jamesville picked up another run in the fourth. Dickerson walked and Gurkin Martin reached on an error. Eric Martin hit a sacrifice fly to score Dickerson.

Dickerson, and each of the Martins came up with two hits.

A second game, a non-conference meeting between the two teams, was postponed until next Wednesday because of rain.

Frugal Life Haunted By Possible Medical Costs

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

WESTLAND, Mich. (AP) — Home for Bud and Inez Miron is a back row of the Mohawk Trailer Court in this working-class suburb of Detroit. Their's is a frugal life.

The Mirons, both in their 60s and on Social Security, are used to the simple way.

"We never did run up bills," said Miron. "If we didn't have it, we did without it."

But, still, there is the feeling that things could be better.

"What we're getting isn't really enough," said Miron. "We're scratching to stay alive. I'd like to see Nixon and the other people in Washington try living on Social Security. It's rough."

Until Mrs. Miron began receiving a monthly $110 Social Security check in April, the couple's annual salary was $3,420 or $285 per month — $244 in Social Security and $41 from his pension.

"By the time you pay for rent, food, medicine and utilities, there's hardly anything left," Mrs. Miron said. "And the rising cost of all these things isn't helping matters."

Miron, 67, was forced to retire three years ago as a tool-grinder at a small machinery shop because of illness.

His pension is small because fellow union members had voted against substantial union plans. "Most of them were young fellows, and they knew they weren't going to be there when they were 65," snorted Miron, a stocky, barrel-chested man with a booming voice.

Mrs. Miron's Social Security check, which started when she turned 62 this month, is regarded as a minor windfall. They're worried, however, that the expenses resulting from their multiple medical problems will soon cancel out the additional income.

Miron suffers from emphysema, heart trouble and failing ears and eyes. His wife is a diabetic and has had recurring hernia problems.

Their mobile home is bright and simply furnished, with blonde wood paneling covering the walls and yellow and blue furniture placed neatly around the living room. Pictures of grandchildren adorn the tables and a crucifix hangs on the wall.

The Mirons paid off the trailer several years ago, but still pay $63 a month to rent the small plot of ground on which it sits.

Mrs. Miron, a short, plump woman with carefully coiffed red hair, produced last month's rent bill. With electricity and school tax costs added, it totaled $76.

"When we came here, the rent was $35," said Miron.

Before moving into the trailer eight years ago, the Mirons had lived in rented houses for the first 36 years of their marriage.

"We couldn't rent a home or apartment now," Mrs. Miron said. "It's just too much money."

The Mirons eat simply, usually only two meals a day, but their monthly food bill comes to about $120.

Because of her diabetes, Mrs. Miron must have special dietetic foods, which are more costly.

"We need meat and we still eat it, but only occasionally and only cheaper cuts like hamburger," she said. "We eat a lot of salads now."

During the summer, Mrs. Miron grows tomatoes and onions in her tiny garden to save money. But she's not sure she'll be able to do it this year because of her health.

Once a month, they treat themselves to dinner out — a $1-a-plate meal sponsored by the city's parks and recreation department.

Their 10-year-old car sits outside the trailer, its fenders splitting and body rusting. The Mirons say they don't know what they'd do if it broke down. They have no money to get it repaired or to buy a new one.

"We were going to buy a second car and pay it off before his retirement but he got sick," Mrs. Miron said. "It took us too suddenly."

Asked if they have any savings, Miron retorted, "God, no. We don't have a thing."

But at the same time, they pointed out with pride, they don't have any debts.

They don't have the money to do much now, they added, but it's not much of a hardship because they never did much.

Their entertainment consists primarily of playing cards on Wednesday and Sunday afternoons with other senior citizens. When they're at home, she watches television and he reads.

The Mirons also enjoy visiting their married son and daughter and their 11 grandchildren, who live in nearby towns.

Christmas and holidays are spent at their children's homes, but "we can't afford to buy presents for any of them," Mrs. Miron said. "They understand."

The Mirons accept with equanimity their tight financial situation, but express some worry when talking about their medical expenses.

At 62, Mrs. Miron is too young for medicare and must spend $21.40 a month for Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance.

She goes to the doctor twice a month and pays $5 or $15 a visit, depending on the amount of care needed.

She also pays about $10 a month for medicine.

"She was supposed to get a physical recently but she didn't," Miron said. "It cost $90 and we couldn't afford it."

Mrs. Miron is afraid she may have to go to the hospital soon for another hernia operation but she said, "I'm not going to do it unless I'm dragged there. We just can't afford it."

She said the hospital charges about $85 a day for a semi-private room, but her medical insurance covers only $35 of that.

Medicare pays for 80 per cent of Miron's medical expenses, he said, but he still must pay for most of his medicine, which costs about $20 a month.

The recent 20 per cent increase in Social Security, he said, was practically wiped out by the loss of medicaid benefits. He estimates his net increase at $5 a month.

Grant Renewal Is Announced

The Medical Record Science program at East Carolina University has received a renewal of its Allied Health Special Improvement Grant of $9,612 from the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare.

The program, part of the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions, has used its federal grants to develop and expand community teaching sites used by medical record science students.

However, since current government plans include the termination of allied health professions grants, the budget period July 1, 1973-June 30,1974 will serve as a phase-oput period for this grant.

Foundation Scholarship

John M. May Jr., a senior at D.H. Conley High School, has been awarded a scholarship by the Pulp and Paper Foundation. He will enter North Carolina State University in the fall where he plans to study pulp and paper science and technology.

A member of the Winterville Christian Church, May serves as a junior deacon and is active in the Christian Youth Fellowship.

May attended the International Affairs Seminar in New York and Washington, D.C., in 1972. During last summer, he served as a counselor for the junior camp at Camp Caroline.

He has been a 4-H member for 10 years, having been county winner in both the forestry and elctric projects. He has held various offices in his local 4-H Club and represented Pitt County at 4-H Electric Congress and Forestry Camp.

He served on the annual staff during his freshman year and was named outstanding citizen of his freshman class.

May was a member of the Conley wrestling team in 1971-72 and is presently serving as president of the Chess Club. He is also a member of the Conley Honor Society.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Milton May Sr. of Winterville.

May's scholarship totals $700 per year for five years.

JOHN M. MAY, Jr.

Attend Meeting At Charlotte

Seven East Carolina University faculty and staff members and three students attended the meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Sciences at UNC-Charlotte last week.

Representing ECU were faculty members Dr. Graham J. Davis, Dr. Charles E. Bland, Dr. Vincent Bellis, Dr. Joseph G. Boyette, Dr. Susan J. McDaniel, and Dr. James McDaniel; technician Martha Jones; and students Donald G. Ruch, John Johnson and Mike Renn.

Dr. Davis and Mrs. Jones reported on their research on the Eurasion Milfoil; Donald Ruch, on his research on fungi tht infect the eggs of Blue Crab; Dr. James McDaniel and Mike Renn, on studies of a flat worm parasite; and John Johnson, on research on striped bass fingerlings.

The meeting was a gathering of scientists from North Carolina universities and colleges.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♣

Altho North holds only eight points in high cards, possession of an establishable seven card suit provides ample justification for proceeding to game when his partner opens the bidding with one no trump. Inasmuch as an 11 trick contract may prove to be out of reach, North proceeded directly to three no trump.

West opened the four of clubs, declarer put in the ten from dummy and East played the ace. The appearance of the diamond suit made it abundantly clear that, if the defense were to have any hope of defeating South's contract, they had better get at their tricks without delay.

Spades appeared to offer the best prospect, and East promptly shifted to the jack of that suit in order to prevent declarer from ducking the lead around to dummy's ten. South withheld his king for one round; however he could not stop the onslaught, and four spade tricks were rattled off to send declarer down to defeat before he could even get started.

South's performance on the deal was utterly without guile and was reminiscent of the ostrich when confronted by danger. By playing the ten of clubs from dummy at trick one, he clearly advertised that he had some sort of secondary stopper in that suit. Unless West was underleading both the ace and queen of clubs, East was certain to get in with one of the missing honors and the spade shift then becomes marked.

In order to forestall an attack where he is most vulnerable, declarer should put up the king of clubs at trick one. If, for example, the king should hold, South has an abundance of tricks available. However, even if the king of clubs loses to the ace, there is a good chance that East will continue the suit, in which case declarer's jack serves as a delayed stopper. Once East surrenders the lead, South's spade holding is no longer in danger of a fatal assault.

Altho the recommended play is not foolproof since East does have an opportunity to make the spade shift when he is in, he should at least be made to work for his bread and butter.

National search is on for Pepsi-Cola antiques

GOT AN ORIGINAL? ...WE'LL BUY IT!

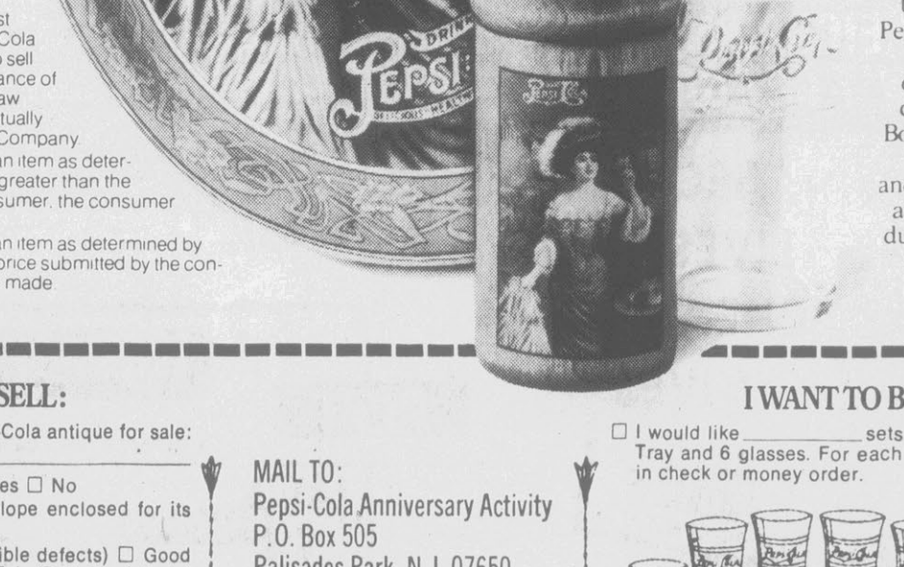

We're on a hunt for Pepsi-Cola identified items of the past...like calendars, trays, bottles, glasses, lamps, etc. The older the item the better! The better the condition, the more we'll pay. In fact, a rare item in good condition could be worth thousands of dollars.

TO SELL YOUR ANTIQUES:
A separate "Offer Form" (provided below or facsimile) must be submitted for each item you wish to offer for sale. Please provide all the data requested on the form. Do not send the item with your offer to sell. You may enclose a photograph or sketch which cannot be returned unless accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Anyone over 21 can participate.

The hunt will end on September 30, 1973, and soon thereafter a determination will be made of the antique value of each item based on its desirability, age, condition and the number of similar items available for purchase. Following this determination, Pepsi-Cola Company will respond to all offers submitted indicating interest or lack of interest to purchase. (Failure of the Pepsi-Cola Company to respond to an offer to sell shall not be considered an acceptance of the offer.) Consumers may withdraw their offer to sell anytime before actually submitting the item to Pepsi-Cola Company.

In instances where the value of an item as determined by Pepsi-Cola Company is greater than the asking price submitted by the consumer, the consumer will be paid the higher sum.

In instances where the value of an item as determined by Pepsi-Cola is less than the asking price submitted by the consumer, no offer to purchase will be made.

WANT A REPLICA? ...WE'LL SELL IT!

Here are two outstanding commemorative items inspired by Pepsi-Cola Company's long and lively history. These are replicas of originals that date to early 1900. They've been specially produced for this 75th Anniversary year and could well become Pepsi-Cola treasures of the future.

1. A turn of the century, full color metal tray (13" long) complete with set of 6 old-time Pepsi-Cola fountain glasses...faithfully reproduced from the company's early years. Only $2.95 for both tray and 6 glasses. (Limit 3 sets per family.)

2. A unique combination Salt Shaker and Pepper Mill (8½" high) shaped in the form of one of the earliest designed Pepsi-Cola Bottles. Made of hand-rubbed hardwood and decorated with an authentic color reproduction of early Pepsi-Cola art. Only $5.95 (limit 2 per family).

The 'Worry Clinic'

The Potential All Around Us

Dr. Johnston gave me a very stimulating "fringe benefit" of my lectures before his dental society at Amarillo, Texas. I lost 2 hours of sleep that morning but it was well worth it! Scuh groups serve as "Modern Apostles."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE W-572: Dr. James Johnston was my chaperone when I addressed the Pan Handle District Dental Association at Amarillo, Texas.

A very enthusiastic audience was on hand for my 6 hours of lecturing.

They included 180 dental surgeons and wives, as well as Dental Assistants and a goodly number of Dental Hygienists.

In the morning I spoke from 10 to 12.

Then a luncheon break gave me a rest, after which I resumed at 1:30 and lectured till 5:30.

Since I couldn't get a plane back to Chicago that night, I had to wait till 9 o'clock next morning.

"Dr. Crane," my host began, "we have a group of business and professional men in a Bible Study Group that meets at 7 a.m. every Saturday.

"Since youur plane doesn't leave till 9 o'clock, would you like me to pick you up at the motel at 7, and take you to our meeting?

"It will be over at 8 a.m., so I'll have plenty of time to drive you to the airport."

Modern Disciples

Dr. Johnston picked me up at 6:45 a.m. and chauffeured me over to a beautiful surburban home.

There were 19 physicians, lawyers, dental surgeons and business executives present.

Coffee and doughnuts were served.

The discussion that morning consisted of reports by 3 of the members who had just returned from a 3-day visit to Colorado Springs, where they addressed various audiences.

When they arrived at Colorado Springs, they were assigned a church apiece, where they were to teach Sunday School and also fill the pulpit.

Later they addressed a large college-age gathering of dope addicts and hippies.

"Much to our surprise," one of the 3 men added, "these young folks were most attentive and apparently very eager to hear us talk.

"They seem to be a lost generation that is wandering around, trying to find a firm anchorgage in idealism and emotional security." It was a very reassuring experience for me to note these splendid leaders of Amarillo who thus meet each week for Bible discussion.

And it made me think of the human potential that resides in every group of dedicated men and women.

For Jesus picked only 12 Apostles, one of whom defected, yet most of our hospitals, colleges, YMCA and YWCA, Boy and Girl Scouts, plus tens of thousands of church buildings, are the 20th Century Memorials to the missionary fervor of those Apostles.

There I sat in Amarillo, with 18 other highly trained men, any 12 of whom probably surpassed all the 12 Apostles in education, leadership qualities and oratorical ability.

So never grow hopeless about the future of America when we have literally millions of similarly talented men and women who donate their time to help serve as religious guides for modern teen-agers.

Send for my booklet "How to Stimulate Bible Reading," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

It contains 120 Bible problems that intrigue the interest even of pagans, and zoom Sunday School attendance!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing along stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Miss Oakley To Receive Degree

GREENVILLE, S.C. — A Farmville, N.C., student will be one of 565 graduates who will receive their degrees and certificates at Bb Jones University here Wednesday, May 30.

Rural Firemen Had 30 Alarms

During the month of April, Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner reports a total of 30 fire alarms were received by the rural fire departments in the county.

Of this number, 10 were received by the rural fire departments in the county.

Of this number, 10 were house fires, 13 grass or woods fires, four automobile fires, two of a miscellaneous nature, and one a false alarm.

Loss of property from the fires is estimated at $26,075. The estimated value of property involved and directly exposed to the fires amounted to $190,400.

In April, the Grifton Fire Department responded to six alarms, the largest number for any of the 18 departments.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The trend is now changing from dramatic activities to a slower pace, and a more thoughtful attitude toward other persons – a time to be more understanding. But, be businesslike in activities requiring ingenuity and resourcefulness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Communicate with others in a most active way and you can increase your success. Get the information you need. Then use it wisely. Invite a good friend to dinner tonight. Be happy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make the repairs to your home that are necessary and make plans for more success in the future. Listen to what a business adviser has to suggest, and then add your own good judgment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get together with others, either at social functions or privately for whatever your purposes and get good results. Make new acquaintances. Make sure you dress well and converse intelligently.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Meet with the person you admire and clear up any moot points so you have more harmony in the future. Plan to give more expression to talents in the days ahead. Avoid a troublemaker.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to visit new friends and look into interesting outlets for the future. A personal desire can be satisfied today. Avoid one who literally gives you the creeps with foul talk.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to contact higher-ups and get their support today, which is impossible to do during busy work week. The time is ripe to put a private project in operation. Take it easy tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Put in motion those loftier ideas you now have and get excellent results. Plan now for a little trip you want to take later on. Keep yourself in good, physical trim. Avoid one who bores you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Attend to the responsibilities that are yours, particularly those that can only be done on this day. Find better avenues of expression and new methods that will please business associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find a better point of understanding with associates and you can make the future brighter and more profitable. Engage in recreational activites later. Observe all rules and regulations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) By using new methods to handle your routine tasks you can increase your productivity in the future. Take the time to make your surroundings more charming. Build up your health.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have an opportunity to have a good time and should go along with congenials at whatever is mutually pleasurable. Find the right outlet for your special talent and increase income.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show that you have intellect and vision by handling civic affairs in a clever way. So some entertaining at home tonight. This can prove very relaxing with the right company.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will be filled with so many ideas, it will be difficult to pick out which ones to put in operation. Teach to choose the most practical ones, and then there can be great success in this chart. Stress specialized fields to avoid a Jack-of-all-trades.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

NOTICE OF RE-SALE
North Carolina
Pitt County

TAKE NOTICE that in accordance with Section 115-126 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, the Board of Education of Pitt County has decided that the school property described herein has become unnecessary for public school purposes and said property has been offered for sale, after which within the time allowed by law an advanced bid was filed on said property:

NOW, THEREFORE, the Board of Education of Pitt County will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for CASH at the Courthouse door in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at eleven o'clock a.m. on the following described lot or parcel of land in Fountain, Pitt County, North Carolina:

"BEGINNING at an iron stake in the western right-of-way of the property of the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad; said stake being the southeast corner of the property of M.W. Owens; said stake further referred to as being the common corner of tracts 2 and 3 of the division of the lands of Caroline White Heirs; thence from said point of beginning and with the western right-of-way of said railroad South 16 degrees 05 minutes East, 380.0 feet to a point, a common corner of tracts 1 and 2 of the said division of lands; thence with the dividing line of tracts 1 and 2, South 72 degrees 11 minutes West, 293.0 feet to a point, a corner; thence across the lands of Tract 1 and with the line of the property of Lazina Moore North 16 degrees 05 minutes West, 20.0 feet; thence North 42 degrees 31 minutes West, 396.12 feet to an iron stake; a corner in the southern line of the property of M.W. Owens; thence with the southern line of the property of M.W. Owens and the dividing line of Tracts 2 and 3 of the said division of lands North 72 degrees 11 minutes East 469.50 feet to the point of BEGINNING, containing 3.28 acres, including that portion of the roadway and the right-of-way, according to a Map prepared by Rivers and Associates, Inc. of record in Map Book 21, at page 198, in the Pitt County Registry, to which Map reference is hereby made for an accurate and complete description."

There is excepted from this discription that portion of State Road 1237 and the right-of-way of said Road that encroaches on the land described above.

The opening bid will be $14,850.00.

The property will be sold for Cash and the sale shall remain open for ten (10) days to permit the making of an upset bid. A ten per cent (10 per cent) cash deposit will be required of the highest bidder on the date of the sale.

Additional information, if desired, may be obtained from the office of the Associate Superintendent of Schools, Thomas L. Craft, Jr., in the Pitt County Courthouse, Greenville, North Carolina.

The Pitt County Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all bids on said property.
