Hurricanes To Be Graded

HURRICANE BRIEFING—Dr. Neil L. Frank briefs U.S. Air Force weather forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami, preparing for the 1973 hurricane season. (AP Wirephoto)

MIAMI (AP) — Residents of hurricane areas are used to the feminine names given the destructive storms, but a new twist has been added this season — numbers which indicate the hurricane's disaster and flooding potential.

Dr. Robert H. Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said forecasters will use sliding scales — similar to the Richter Scale used to determine the strength of earthquakes — to add two numbers to the name of each storm.

One number, on a scale from 1 to 10, will warn of the storm's flooding potential. The other number, from 1 to 5, will estimate the damage potential exclusive of flooding.

Simpson said the system will go into effect when the 1973 hurricane season opens June 1. The season ends Nov. 30.

"When people hear a hurricane has a damage potential of 4 or 5, they'll know it is just as strong as anything ever gets and to run for their lives and don't spare the horses," Simpson said.

Electricity Rates Raised By Utilities

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor

Utilities commissioners approved a new rate schedule Tuesday night which will increase domestic electric bills by a year round average of approximately 12 percent.

The increase will be an average of five percent for winter months when a lower rate is in effect, and 15 percent for summer months when the lowest blocs are not in effect. Winter months are November through June, while the summer rates apply July through September.

The new rate schedule will absorb the electric surcharge which has been effect for some months, thus easing somewhat the effect of the increases on the customer.

Local commissioners adopted the retail rates of Virginia Electric and Power Co., the wholesale supplier of electricity to Greenville Utilities. VEPCO has its request for the rate increases pending before the State Utilities Commission and is charging under the proposed schedule under bond.

In addition to the residential rate increases, the new schedule will increase small general service (commercial) rates by approximately 13 percent and large general service by about 9 percent. A new governmental rate schedule will mean that a lesser increase will be required of government agencies, averaging one to five percent. All the increases are less than previously charged surcharge.

Director Charles Horne said the new rates will be effective with billings after June 1. If VEPCO's proposed increases are reduced by the State Utilities Commission, corresponding reductions would be made in the local rate schedules since Greenville Utilities intends to follow VEPCO's retail schedules. No refunds are anticipated for local customers, however.

At the night time meeting which followed the annual tour of Utilities facilities and dinner, the commissioners re-elected Dr. Ray Minges as chairman of the commission. Dr. Howard Gradis was re-elected vice chairman and Curtis Howell was re-elected secretary.

Commissioners also approved last night the retaining of Olson and Associates engineering firm to begin preliminary engineering on a planned new waste treatment plant to be constructed north of the Tar River. The plant will serve industries and other developments in North Greenville area and it will be the city's second waste treatment plant. The present plant is located near Green Springs Cemetery and that plant has recently been doubled in capacity. Retaining the engineering firm for the work was made contingent upon discussions between its representatives and Commissioner Tom Shea and Director Horne.

Other business included:

—retained John C. Proctor, CPA for annual audit at a cost of $1,800.

—purchased a bucket truck by extension of a 1968 bid.

—accepted Fieldcrest plans for complying with new sewer use regulations.

—approved modified emergency electric load reduction plan as requested by the State Utilities Commission and VEPCO.

—reviewed plans for use of Wachovia building when the bank moves to its new building.

$2.9 Million Budget Goes Before Joint Committee

RALEIGH (AP)—A proposed $2.9 billion state budget will go before the legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee Thursday, clearing the way for it to reach the floor of the House or the Senate next Tuesday.

A joint Appropriations subcommittee whacked off $48.3 million from earlier spending proposals Tuesday before giving its approval to the budget.

Items that fell to the ax included $17.5 million of a reserve fund for a new medical school, $2.5 million of the proposed $7 million for a new state are museum and $5.25 million originally set aside for the pur-

Arrest Man In Hit-And-Run

ROBERSONVILLE—A 27-year-old New York resident is in Martin County Jail on charges stemming from the hit-and-run death of a child near here Monday morning.

State Trooper W. N. Sessoms said that Homer Earl Clemmons of Wyondanch, N. Y. is charged with driving under the influence, hit-and run, and manslaughter in the death of two-and-a-half year old Chico Montez Barnes of Greenville.

Trooper Sessoms, who reported that Clemmons is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond, said that the child was hit on N. C. 903 near the Spring Green community about four miles north of Robersonville around 11 a.m.

Clemmons was arrested a short time after the incident on N. C. 125 near Hamilton, some two and a half miles from the accident scene, the patrolman said. He added that a witness reported he attempted to flag the car down after the child was hit but the driver failed to stop.

The child died in Pitt Memorial Hospital around 8 p.m., it was reported. He was the son of Mrs. Dorothy Barnes of 1807-A, W. Conley Street, Greenville. His father's name was not available.

Trooper Sessoms said that Barnes was visiting his grandparents near Spring Green when the accident occurred.

Dedication

Rep. Walter Jones will speak dedication ceremonies for the expanded water treatment plant Sunday.

The plant is located at the old Utilities electric plant just off W. Third Street east of Third Street School.

The ceremonies will take place at 1:45 Sunday and an open house of the water treatment facilities and the expanded waste treatment plant near Green Springs Cemetery will be held from 2 until 5 p.m.

Hero Of WW II Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grandson of a Confederate soldier, Marine Corps Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift was weaned to a military tradition as a child on tales of the Civil War.

"My grandfather fought in the Confederate army and from the time I was a youngster listening to his stories of the war I wanted to be a military man," he once said.

Vandegrift died Tuesday at 86. He had been hospitalized with an illness at Bethesda Naval Hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md.

He had served as a commandant of the Marines and led the American invasion of Guadalcanal credited with upsetting for the first time the Japanese timetable for victory in World War II.

The Southern-born Vandegrift was an admirer of Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee and liked to cite Lee's principle of being unwilling to sacrifice the life of a single one of his men.

Watergate At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, at a glance, are the latest developments in the Watergate case:

RICHARDSON—The Judiciary Committee opens hearings today on President Nixon's nomination of Elliot L. Richardson to be attorney general. Nixon has placed Richardson in charge of the Watergate case, but the attorney general-designate says he will name a special prosecutor.

CABLES—The State Department said E. Howard Hunt Jr. was allowed to copy 240 classified diplomatic cables in 1971. Hunt, at the time a White House consultant assigned to stop news leaks, later was convicted as a Watergate conspirator and has said he forged two cables to implicate the Kennedy administration in the assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

PENTAGON PAPERS—At the Pentagon papers trial in Los Angeles, the judge released a CIA memorandum saying the agency had withdrawn its assistance to Hunt after determining a "domestic clandestine operation" was involved.

AGNEW—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said at the University of Virginia that he applauds the efforts and results of investigative reporting on the Watergate story. But he criticized some portions of the media, including The Washington Post, for using what he termed hearsay and for quoting unnamed sources.

MITCHELL—The New York Daily News quoted sources as saying a federal grand jury investigating Watergate has enough evidence to indict former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Mitchell called the report irresponsible and repeated his claim of innocence.

KLEINDIENST—Resigned Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said in an interview with The Chicago Tribune that on several occasions President Nixon assured him that he had no advance knowledge of the Watergate affair. "I believe that to be true," Kleindienst said.

Investigating Resignation Of BelhavenPolice

BELHAVEN, N. C. (AP)—Mayor Axson Smith said Tuesday an investigation has been ordered into a dispute that led to the resignation of five members of Belhaven's seven-man police force.

Smith said the officers submitted their resignations Monday night after the town aldermen refused to fire Police Chief Brack Hoggard. Sgt. Willis Peachey, senior member of the force and one of those who resigned, said the officers have accused Hoggard of having an "unprofessional attitude."

Hoggard said the charges were unfounded. He said the officers who quit were "a bunch of good boys. I have nothing to say against them."

The town has hired three auxiliary policemen to assist in patroling the eastern North Carolina community.

HANOI STORY

SAIGON (AP) — Radio Hanoi broadcast more news accounts of the Watergate affair today and said the American public is demanding President Nixon's resignation because of the scandal.

GOP Legislator Says ECU Is Logical Med School Site

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The logical place to create a new state-supported four year medical school—if one is created—is at East Carolina University, Sen. Hamilton Horton Jr., R-Forsyth, said this morning.

Horton, a Winston-Salem native and chairman of the state Republican caucus, visited Greenville for a first-hand look at ECU's one-year medical program today.

"It's pretty hard for a layman to evaluate written reports sometimes." he said. "I have a difficult time envisioning things on a printed page. I like to get on the ground. . .to get the feel of something," he said. "That's what I'm doing this morning."

After a tour of the physical facilities at the medical school—conducted by med school dean Dr. Wallace Wooles and ECU vice-chancellor for health affair Dr. Ed Monroe—Horton indicated the state's lawmakers are "certainly going to have to give consideration to what various professionals have said," about the need for another medical school and it's location, but "at the same time, we don't need to be slaves to out-of-state evaluation teams."

"One of the big problems," he said in other people's views of the medical school question "is that people not from the coastal plain simply don't see East Carolina as it really is...especially the older generation." They still see ECU "as ECTC ...it's a problem everyone has to overcome," Horton emphasized.

The senator noted that Republicans in the General Assembly have "taken no position for or against (the expansion of the ECU medical program)," suggesting that they had rather see the question handled by the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina system.

The Board of Governors study commission report and the board's recommendations will have a lot of weight with the legislators Horton noted. "But this is the only place it seems to me that's geared" for another four-year school, Horton emphasized.

And Horton noted that "certainly" if the Board of Governors recommends another four-year school be established," the General Assembly would go along."

"The logical place for it" if one were created, "would be right here," he said, citing ECU's location and the economy involved.

Horton said some 1,000 students are now invloved in allied health studies at ECU—including nursing and other para-medical fields—which gives ECU a broad base on which to build a four-year medical program.

"I do feel I have a little bit better understanding of the things they are doing here now," he explained.

May 18 Adjournment Said To Leave Much Undone

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — The House has received a resolution calling for adjournment of the 1973 General Assembly at noon on May 18.

House leaders said that schedule can be achieved, but other lawmakers said if it is, much legislation must either be killed or remain in the mill until the General Assembly reconvenes next Jan. 16.

One important measure that may have to wait until next year is a Senate-passed no-fault auto insurance bill.

When House Speaker Jim Ramsey urged Rep. Gerald Arnold, D-Hartnett, chairman of a House no-fault insurance subcommittee, to press for action on the bill, Arnold replied he did not see how the committee could act by May 18.

"If they want to go home on the 18th, that will be fine with me," said Sen. Herman Moore, D-Mecklenburg, "but there will be a lot of things that will not be done on the 18th, and I think May 25th is a more reasonable date."

Moore, chairman of the Senate elections committee, said that several important House-passed elections bills await action in his committee. He said that with daily meetings he did not see how he could get the measures out of committee before Friday or Monday.

The Mecklenburg lawmaker said that when House members realize that the May 18th adjournment means the Senate will not be able to reach many of their measures "then they may decide to wait."

"At the present time, I think we can," said House Speaker Jim Ramsey when asked if the House could meet the May 18th deadline set in a resolution offered by Rep. William Watkins, D-Granville, the House speaker pro tem.

Ramsey said the big appropriations bill could delay the May 18th adjournment if it is not passed by then.

"I think it is on target," Ramsey added.

Watkins noted that the appropriations bill may come out of committee Thursday and that it can be passed by both houses in a single day.

"It's always a fact when the appropriations bill is passed you can go home," Watkins stated.

Sen. Charles Taylor, R-Transylvania, the Senate minority leader said that if there is a snag in the appropriations bill's progress "that could hold us up."

"We will have to leave a lot of legislation in the mill or kill it," Taylor added.

New Member Named By Service League

Mrs. Robert Lee Abbott was welcomed into active membership of the Greenville Service League at the May meeting, which was held Monday at the Elm Street Recreation Center.

Mrs. Abbott, known as "Snooky," is the former Evalyn Morgan from Maxton, and attended Peace College.

Her husband is a business accountant and they have two sons, Sandy and John. She is also a member of the First Presbyterian Church and the Chicora Book Club.

Mrs. Abbott started her provisional membership several years ago but was unable to complete the requirements for membership. The past five months she has been fulfilling her provisional training and volunteer service in such projects as the Bloodmobile, Hospital Coffee Shop, hospital chapel, Art Center, Charity Ball and other community services.

The prescribed membership being filled at this time, no new members were inducted this year.

A highlight of the meeting was a presentation about the revue "To Greenville, With Love." Mrs. J. C. Card, a representative of the Junior Women's Club, wearing a colorful hat adorned with flowers, gave members information about the upcoming production.

Committee reports followed. Mrs. Herbert Carter announced that during the recent two-day visit of the Bloodmobile at East Carolina University, 45 Service League volunteers worked 136 hours during which 221 pints of blood were collected. Members signed up to work for the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, which will be on May 22 at the Moose Lodge. Hospital Activities Chairman, Mrs. Gerald Crane, showed the members one of the Easter favors which were made for each of 165 trays at the Pitt Memorial Hospital. She also reported an Easter egg display was made for the Pediatric Ward.

Mrs. Richard Capwell reported that two walkers, one wheelchair, two hospital beds and one portable commode were borrowed from the League Lending Chest and Layette Chairman, Mrs. Reid Hooper, answered four calls for layettes during the months of April. Two memorials to the Laughinghouse Hospital Fund were reported by Mrs. Frank Longino.

Members voted to send donations to the Elm Street Recreation Center and to the Salvation Army for the many services these two organizations have granted the Service League.

It was also voted to finance two one-week camperships and two day-camperships for the Girl Scouts as well as to finance two one-week camperships for the Boy Scouts.

The meeting adjourned with members planning their annual spring luncheon which will be held on Wednesday, May 16, at the Greenville Country Club.

My Husband Needs Spelling Lessons

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's spelling. It's horrid. I swear I don't know how he ever got out of high school.

He is just beginning his career as a policeman, and his poor spelling has already started giving him trouble. He has to make out reports in writing and when he writes, "suspishun" and "rezizting" on a report, it raises a lot of eyebrows.

He talks well, but his spelling is outrageous. I told him to carry a small dictionary and to look up any words he isn't sure of. He says: "You have to know how to spell a word before you can find it in the dictionary so what's the use?"

Abby, do you know where an adult can learn how to spell from scratch? Even if it took a year it would be miracle enough for us. Thank you. WORRIED WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Call your board of education and ask them what is available in their adult education department. Evening classes, or special tutoring could be the answer, but first your husband should take some tests to determine the kind of special help he needs.

DEAR ABBY: You've made references to May-December marriages, but you have never given any advice with regard to them. You should, and it should be one word. DON'T!

I have witnessed four, including my own, and all of them have been very unsatisfactory. Especially for the younger partner. Older husbands make poor fathers. Children make them nervous, and they are too tired to go anywhere with their young wives, and all too soon they are inadequate lovers.

A young woman is flattered to be pursued by a dashing, sophisticated "older" swain. But after they are married, he becomes a dull old man. When she is 22 and he is 36, the age difference doesn't show much, but when she is 35 and he is 49, things start to go downhill for her.

I wish someone would have wised me up. Until a woman has lived in such a marriage, she has no idea how many problems arise. SHORT-CHANGED IN KANSAS

DEAR SHORT: I rarely give advice with regard to marriages and age because one's condition is far more important than his age. Some men of 65 are in much better shape than some men of 30. While youth is prized, it's no assurance of vim, vigor, and virility.

DEAR ABBY: Today when so many marriages are going sour, may I tell you about one which was sweet for almost 63 years?

I married a wonderful girl in April, 1910. She was 5 years my senior. We had five children who bore us 27 grandchildren. They in turn bore us 10 great-grandchildren —all doing well.

My beloved died last December. I have her engagement and wedding rings and don't know what to do with them.

Would it be prudent to sell them and give the money to the orphans? Your reply would be appreciated.

A READER: TEMPLE, ARIZ.

DEAR READER: Someone in your family may place a high sentimental value on the rings your beloved wore for so many years. Don't sell them before letting your family know you want to dispose of them. If more than one wants them, let them draw lots. And lots of luck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WHITE VERSUS PURPLE" IN PANAMA CITY: Neither! To be appropriately attired for a divorce hearing, I'd vote for BLACK. In a sense, one is burying a dead relationship.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Good Food Delights College Belles

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What do you feed 750 Southern college belles to keep them healthy and happy? Ask Miss Betty Carr, who has been planning meals for the girls at Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., for the past 30 years.

I had a chance to talk to Miss Carr, known to the students as B.C., during a recent visit to my family's home in Staunton. I soon realized what a problem it must be to feed so many young women three times a day, six days a week and twice on Sunday.

"I give them plenty of homemade biscuits and rolls, and I have discovered that they love such dishes as hominy grits," said B.C.

"But I don't try to serve that soul food from the Deep South. I gave the girls turnip greens once; they simply didn't go for it."

Actually the girls at Mary Baldwin are not all from the South by any means. They come from all over the United States and many foreign countries and their preference for food follows no set pattern.

If there is any common denominator, it lies in the fact that most girls today are weight-conscious and oriented pretty much toward diet dishes.

"They avoid most anything that goes to fat," said B.C., adding quickly, "except for the homemade breads, and biscuits made each day in our kitchen."

Hungarian Goulash and Beef Stroganoff are favorites at Mary Baldwin. So is Southern fried chicken with rice and gravy, which is not exactly a diet dish.

Ordering food for 750 girls is a major operation in itself. It involves such shopping items as 500 gallons of milk, 200 dozen eggs and 130 pounds of sugar. It also involves brewing 298 gallons of coffee and making 2,500 rolls each week.

"The girls are tremendous breakfast eaters," she said. "Those on a diet may skip other meals altogether, but rarely breakfast. In fact some students will eat 6 to 8 eggs."

When B.C. tries out a new recipe she watches the plates as they are returned to the kitchen to see how her innovation has gone over. B.C. traces her love of cooking to the fact that her mother was a good cook and an easy hostess in the old Southern tradition. The family came from Charlotte, N.C.

"If you make work out of cooking and get all upset and tired in knots, then the end product is not going to be any good," she said.

Here is B.C.'s recipe for fried chicken.

½ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning — if desired
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water

A 3 lb. frying chicken, cut into pieces 1¾ cup shortening or cooking oil

Combine flour, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Combine egg and water — dip chicken pieces in egg, then shake in flour mixture. Heat shortening ½-inch deep in skillet. Cook over medium heat — brown on all sides, reduce heat and cover till meatiest pieces are tender, or about 30 minutes. Remove cover during last 10 minutes to make chicken crisp. Serves two people.

Disappointing, But A Starter

It is most disappointing that the $25 million reserve fund for a new state medical school has been cut to $7.5 million in the recommendations of Rep. Carl Steward, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and Sen. Ralph Scott Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Their recommendations were made to the Joint Appropriation's subcommittee as part of the cuts to bring the $2.7 billion state budget into balance.

We suppose everyone has to wonder where the huge supluses and the federal revenue sharing funds have all gone since the Legislature began this session. There was obviously enough money there to do a lot of things this year, including the funding of a new medical school.

Well, the answer is that this year's legislature has been very generous with every phase of government in the proposed budget, which has finally been brought into balance. Education, including higher education, has fared particularly well.

It is not unusual for the Joint Appropriations Subcommittee to recommend spending beyond anticipated revenues. Then begins the process of bringing revenues and expenditures in line. In past years the deficit has often been made up by an increase in the estimated revenues. For some reason this year the experts tell us that there can be no increase in expected revenues.

No matter. There was modest trimming of a number of items in the record budget and a major slash in the funds allocated for establishment of a new medical school.

The $7.5 million proposed for the medical school, though it represents only 0. 28 percent of the overall budget, can be adequate to begin planning for a new four-year medical school. It is certainly sound planning to see that such funds are available so that this can be taken into account by the committee of consultants now studying the question for the board of governors.

New medical school proponents have borne the brunt of the cuts proposed by the committee chairmen. Still we think it would be well to accept the $7.5 million figure as a minimal amount which can get the work of developing a four year medical school started. Disappointing though the cut is, it would be better to accept this amount than to try for the higher figure which might mean major cuts in funds for other state functions.

Farm Family Shares Work

By BRYAN HAISLIP

CRESWELL—Fred Spencer is a man of the land. His hands are hard from toil. His eyes are keen to the changes of weather and the economy.

He walks the flat, rich acres of his farm with the stride of a man who knows where he's going. He looks at adversity with the square jaw of one who overcomes the odds.

BRYAN HAISLIP

"I started from nothing," he said. He missed the education that would have given him other opportunities. He got married about ten years ago, and turned to farming as his father did.

Today the Spencer family owns a 230-acre farm in Washington County and rents additional land. This year, they are tending some 375-to-400 acres in corn, soybeans and barley. They also have a swine enterprise, a 200-sow operation producing feeder pigs and top hogs for market.

Success in farming, said Spencer, "takes a whole lot of financing, and a lot of hard work." Credit programs of the Farmers Home Administration helped with the financing. He and Wilma, a wife who believes in pulling her part, put in the hard work.

State Honor Won

Their achievement earned the title of North Carolina's "Farm Family of the Year." From county winners, the FHA State Advisory Committee picked the Spencers as the family that best exemplifies realization of the aims and purposes of programs administered by the agency.

Gov. Jim Holshouser, Congressman Walter B. Jones, State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, and State FHA Director James T. Johnson were among those attending a Raleigh luncheon last week in tribute to the Spencer family.

Families like the Spencers remain the backbone of a vital agriculture, said Gov. Holshouser. The Spencer story, he continued, "is a demonstration of faith in the American Dream and the American Way of Life. It is proof in the action that the American family and the family farm are institutions that will endure."

Fred Spencer responded with the terseness typical of the farmer. "Thank you," he said, accepting the award. "I hope we don't have to live up to everything that's been said about us."

Spencer doesn't talk much. What he says debunks the romantic rural myth. Life on the farm is a hard row, he said, heavy in demands for capital investment and personal labor, and limited in the rewards of income.

How It Might Have Been

If he'd had the chances, things would have turned out differently. "I'd have been governor of the state, at least," he said, unsmiling.

He didn't get to high school. "I lost out on an education," he admitted. "I didn't want to lose out on everything, so I chose farming."

He's a farmer and a farmer's son. He wouldn't enourage his two sons to follow those footsteps. "No sir. Not if they had to get it the way I got mine. There are more, easier way to make it," he said.

If Freddie Lee, 10 and Allan, 7, reach their own decision to farm, their daddy wouldn't object. They will get a good education, including the chance for college, he added.

The farm may make a hard living, but it makes a good family life, said Wilma Spencer.

Working together beats having the husband gone from seven-to-five, to her way of thinking. "I'd rather have Fred around home if I need him," she said.

Family Works Together

The family farm wife gets dirty hands, mussed hair, and smelly clothes. Mrs. Spencer loves it. She drove a tractor all day when she was eight months pregnant. She stayed up all night when the sows farrowed. "I pull my part, just like Fred does. The children do, too." she said.

Three children, including a daughter younger than the boys, is a start on the family she hopes to raise. One of 18 children herself, she's settle for six.

"A big family fusses a lot, but when you need someone you couldn't find anybody closer than your own family," she said.

Mrs. Spencer feels sympathy for her city sisters when she goes to the freezer for beef, pork or chicken and vegetables, all raised on the farm. "It's pitiful," she said, "that some folks have to buy everything they eat."

Meat boycotts don't bother Spencer as a pork producer. "No, sir. I enjoy seeing them protest. It's the best thing that's happened for the farmer in 20 years," he reported.

Perhaps it will draw attention to the farmer's raising costs for production and the fact that food remains a bargain, he said.

High meat prices resulted from a short soybean crop, an act of God that can't be blamed on anybody, he said. Prices are going to go higher, and should, to assure a return to the farmer on his capital investment and labor, he concluded.

Salvation And Needed Crutch

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

KAMPOT, Cambodia—Nowhere is it clearer that U. S. bombers are both the salvation and the crutch of this important provincial capital against determined Communist assault.

Troops defending the prosperous seaport of Kampot have been riddled by casualties, demoralized by incessant retreat and fatigued by unrelenting pressure. All that has kept them from abandoning their posts is support from U. S. tactical fighter-bombers and the awesome B-52s. "If it weren't for that, Kampot would have fallen," Brig. Gen. Mey Sichan, military governor of Kampot province, told us.

So, too, would have Takeo, another provincial capital to the northeast. Communist capture of Takeo and Kampot would likely be the final psychological blow to the FANK and Marshal Lon Nol's expiring regime. Thus, only U. S. bombers today prevent the takeover in Phnom Penh of a Communist government under Hanoi's control—a calamitous advance in North Vietnam's imperial ambitions for all Indochina.

But in saving the FANK, US. S. air power has not energized it. Cambodian troops do not go into combat without U. S. planes overhead. Otherwise, FANK has been in inglorious retreat ever since Hanoi ordered its surprise Cambodian offensive following the Vietnam "ceasefire" Jan. 27.

The surprise was greatest in this southern coastal region, a backwater in the three-year-old Cambodian war. The story of the drive to Kampot by Cambodian insurgents, trained and directed by North Vietnamese, is a dismal microcosm of the last two months in Cambodia.

The Communists began moving toward Kampot in mid-April when 200 soldiers from FANK's 27th Brigade, bungling their retreat, were killed or captured east of here. That triggered a headlong rout despite orders from Phnom Penh to defend a cocanut grove owned by Lon Nol. Two FANK battalions stationed at Sihanoukville, protesting that they had not been paid, defied orders to reinforce Kampot Province.

Amid the chaos, the seaside resort of Kep was abandoned by retreating FANK troops without a shot fired—common enough in Cambodia. Some 35,000 refugees fleeing the Communist advance doubled Kampot's population. Defended only by the 27th Brigade's tattered remnants and badly frightened territorial militia, the city appeared doomed with no routes of further escape for soldiers or refugees.

Only air power averted the greatest Communist victory in Cambodia. B-52s mauled Communist troops (perhaps including the North Vietnamese 3-46 Regiment) on their way to attack Kampot. Cheered by the bombing and the tardy arrival of the two FANK battalions (who finally were paid), Kampot's defenders dug in late in April to repel nightly Communist ground assaults. Out of 1,000 defenders, 100 were killed—heavy losses by Cambodian standards.

When we visited the front lines, troops north of the city were under Communist mortar fire but the principal Communist attackers to the east were silent. Yet, there was no attempted counterattack. "My troops are worn out," Gen. May Sichan explained.

Mey Sichan, visiting the front lines wearing steel helmet and M-16 automatic rifle, is a refreshing improvement over FANK generals who abandon their troops to luxuriate in Phnom Penh. But he lacks aggressiveness and his artillery officers lack the skill to support an infantry counterattack.

Strength For Today

GOD'S LOVE IS PERSONAL

The Bible assures us that God does not think about human beings in general terms. There are "masses" in the sight of the infinite. "He calleth his own sheep by name." "The very hairs of your head are all numbered."

In our earth-bound way of looking at things, we frequently cannot see the personal soul in the crowd. We are blinded by the bigness of things. We do not see the trees for the woods, the individual sheep for the flock, nor the tiny balde of grass because of the field. But with God it is different. We need never fear that our way is overlooked because he has other concerns.

There is no a detail in our lives so minute that He is not conscious of it, no enterprise so small that He does not gather it under His loving care. He knows the perils of the road we follow. He knows where the precipice is—and the green pasture. The personal quality of God's love should always be at the forefront of our thoughts. And when it is, it gives a confidence and peace which we can find nowhere else.

By ART BUCHWALD

The Watergate Arrests

WASHINGTON — Nobody knows how many people will eventually be arrested in the Watergate case, but so many people have been implicated that the Justice Department has contingency plans ready when the indictments are finally handed down.

On May 1, 1971, 12,000 people were arrested in Washington, D.C., in an antiwar demonstration. A Justice official told me he didn't expect the Watergate to break this record, but the department wasn't taking any chances.

"Since D.C. jail may not be able to accommodate everyone involved in the Watergate, we've rented the R.F.K. Stadium to handle the overflow. We also have an option on the Coliseum in case the R.F.K. Stadium fill up."

That's good thinking," I said.

"We also have chartered buses in Washington, Maryland and Virginia to transport people to the detention centers. During the May Day demonstrations in 1971, we were accused of violating the constitutional rights of the 12,000 people we picked up, and we don't intend to be criticized for mishandling the Watergate arrests."

"Do you have enough lawyers to defend all the Watergate people:"

"We don't in Washington, but we have 3,000 lawyers standing by in Boston, 2,000 in New York and 4,000 in Chicago. If this is not enough, the President has authority to call up the American Bar Association Reseraves.

"We have 30 C-5A transport planes that can fly a division of airborne lawyers to Washington in two hours."

"You've thought of everything," I told the Justice Department official.

"Obviously when you have mass arrests such as we're expecting in the Watergate case, there will be some abuses, but we intend to have Justice Department lawyers spread out in every section of town to see that the rights of the people are protected. The police have been instructed to use as little force as possible, and no tear gas unless it is absolutely necessary."

"You seem to be following the guidelines of former Attorney General Mitchell," I suggested.

"Yes, the former attorney general was very interested in mass arrests, though I'm certain he never though we would have to use the same guidelines so soon."

"How long do you think it

To The Editor:

There are many good reasons why a commuter service from Greenville Airport is desirable—only one of which is there are people who fly who do not drive a car—and 27 miles to Kinston's airport is one h— of a taxi ride.

Pollution? Perhaps. At least we wouldn't be stepping in it in our yards, as happens with dogs allowed to run free all day. Some of our city council members and may apparently think dogs only do nasty things after 9 p.m. (or is it 7?)

Please, no letters calling me a "dog-hater"—I like dogs (better than some people, if fact)—but do think it would be nice to walk to work instead of driving (cutting down pollution) without being harassed by dogs uipping at my heels—and, if Greenville's cardiacs, who must walk two miles a day, could do so in peace. . .and if bicycle riders (also doing their share to eliminate pollution) could ride without barking dogs chasing them, sometimes causing a fall.

Of course, we could walk at night—say, 'round midnite—Wonder who'll be enforcing that stupid dog ordinance at that hour?—one 24-hour-a-day dog warden? Sure.

Come to think of it, Evelyn, score another point in favor of commuter air service—might help us to fly away to a progressive city with an enforced leash law—where a dog tag doesn't give license to steal the evening paper in late afternoon, or the milk delivered in the morning or dig up, at noon, the flowers someone planted to look pretty, or vegetables to eat, or kill the leaves on shrubs which provide oxygen for us—etc., etc.

I'm for the convenience of air service to Raleigh and a stronger dog ordinance. Choose your own brand of pollution.

Even The Cat Ran Off

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The recent meat boycott didn't make much difference at our house. We haven't been heavy beef eaters since 50-cent steaks disappeared.

Ever since beef began really rising, it's been fish fry or chicken fry nearly every day with only moderate amounts of red meat.

And then there was the squid disaster.

Ran into a fellow a few weeks ago just as he was entering the friendly neighborhood pool hall.

He is an ex-Marine and has been all over the world and knows good food from bad.

"Come over here," he ordered in his best sergeant's manner.

"Want to show you something!"

He went to his car, obtained a package and opened it.

Inside were a lot of pretty, silver-colored fish, just a bit larger than a sardine.

"Delicious," said the sergeant. "Fry them in butter and they're out of this world. Cheap, too."

"What are they?"

"Smelts."

Dashed home to tell my wife about this great new find.

And she rushed out to the friendly neighborhood fish store.

Half an hour later, she dashed back and dumped three pound of frozen squid on the drainboard.

Squid!

That's what it said on the wrapping. Unfortunately, that was what was inside, too.

Orientals and the Japanese in particular consider squid a delicacy. It hasn't found much favor among the rest of the population of this world, however, as far as we know, except around the Mediterranean Sea.

Three pounds of frozen squid are not cheap. So there was nothing to do but salvage something out of the deal by cleaning and eating them.

You take out most of the inside and throw them away and you have a nice-appearing, flat piece of meat left. At least we think that is the part you eat.

To The Editor:

I would like to register my anger and disgust at the recent action taken by the City Council on the Animal Control Ordinance.

In Greenville, you'd have to be blind not to see the number of dogs that run in packs all over the city and congregate in populated areas such as our school yards Must a child, perhaps yours or mine, be maimed for life before the Mayor and City Council have the intestinal fortitude to pass a real leash law? I hope not.

Incidently, I happen to love all living things, including dogs; but left to run loose they are a real threat to property and human lives. It is not healthy for the dogs either.

I implore the Mayor and City Council to reconsider this very necessary ordinance before something tragic occurs.

'Family Farm' Still Dominates

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Test yourself. There's a good chance that you believe one or more of the following statements:

—We don't have any more family farmers in this country. Oh, a few, of course, but the big corporations have taken over and they've pretty much run the little fellow out of business.

The facts dispute this widely held notion. Data from the 1969 census aren't available yet, but those who follow the trends, such as the Conference Board, believe that 95 per cent of farms are still family-operated.

That was the percentage found in other studies made in 1949, 1959 and 1964, even though there was a sharp decrease in the number of farms — from 6,350,000 in 1940 to 2,876,000 in 1970.

There are several reasons why the belief has taken hold. One is that the average farm size has grown from 175 acres to about 390 acres in the past 30 years or so. Another is that the 5 per cent nonfamily farms account for a big share of production — 35 per cent in 1964.

The fact is that many of the large corporations that did go into farming found it not nearly as profitable as they had expected, and some of them now believe that there may be size limitations on the efficient farm.

What is a family farm? According to the Agriculture Department it is "an agricultural business in which the operator is a risk-taking manager, who, with his family, does more than half of the farm work."

—The reason for our high food prices is the middleman. He's got a great big appetite for money, and he's making all of us pay through the nose.

The explanation isn't that simple. There's no denying that in recent years the foods that leave the farmer's lands go through many processes that add to delivery cost. But there's little evidence of any profiteering.

First National City Bank notes that civilian spending for farm foods in 1971 totaled $111.1 billion, an increase of $44.2 billion over 1960. Of this increase, farmers received only $13.5 billion, the middleman $30.7 billion.

However, little of this increase seems to be reflected in middleman profits. It seems there are more and more middlemen to prepare and distribute foods that once were delivered raw. And the middleman's expenses also have risen.

In summary: True, the transporting, processing and distribution of foods is eating up a lot more of the food dollar. But rather than blaming any one group, perhaps you should accuse our changing customs and appetites.

—By any measure, General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph are the largest companies in the United States, in fact, the largest in the entire world. It's been that way for years.

Times change and that statement isn't true today. GM might be the largest manufacturer and have the greatest profits. And AT&T might have the greatest assets and the largest number of shareholders, but...

International Business Machines has the greatest market value of any company in the world, with investors giving it a price of $47.8 billion, That's the figure you'll arrive at by multiplying price per share by shares outstanding.

That price is almost double the combined market value of AT&T and GM. AT&T is in second place, with a value of $28.79 billion. GM is in fifth, with market value of $20.42 billion.

In between, in a compilation by Standard & Poor's, are Eastman Kodak, at $21.81 billion and Exxon, at $21.53 billion.

Plan Presentation For Administrators

WASHINGTON, N.C.—Harold Bowers, chairman of the Electrical Technology Department, and Dan Simmons, Educational Development Coordinator, at Beaufort County Technical Institute will make a presentation on the "systems approach" to instruction at the Conference on Instructional and Administrative Development for community college administrators in Raleigh on Mary 15, 16, and 17.

The Beaufort Tech presentation will be one of six at the conference which will reflect some of the innovative programs in the North Carolina Community College System. The conference program, planned by the President's Association, the Deans' Association, and the Department of Adult and Community College Education at North Carolina State University, will also include exhibits and nationally recognized speakers to emphasize the role of the administrator in administrative and instuructional development.

The Electrical Technology program at Beaufort Tech was chosen becuase its current design is unique in the use of multi-media instruction to proved self-tutorial and individualized instruction. The "systems approach" used in the program allows electrical students to enter school at any time during the academic year and allows them to learn at their own speed without being penalized for the amount of time needed to successfully master the course requirements.

Students who enter the electrical program have several options available to them. They may study to meet the requirements for a one-year certificate, a two-year certificate, or a two-year Associate of Applied Science degree. In addition, the student may elect the cooperative work experience option in which he continues his education in an acutal job setting and earns money while he learns.

Instead, they look skyward for U. S. bombers. When an F-4 jet passed overhead, FANK officers here hoped for their first air support in 48 hours and were visibly despondent when the plane passed on.

Total dependence on air power was illustrated when Marshal Lon Nol, desperately but belatedly seeking popular support, paid a one-hour flying visit to Kampot. Brushing aside an offered military briefing and not daring to visit the front lines, he had one overridding interest: which B-52 strikes should he press on the U. S. embassy?

The defenders here, though dug in better than most FANK troops, seemed vulnerable to a combined artillery and infantry assault. Consequently, the critically important defense of Kampot has depended wholly on U. S. bombers preventing Communist troops and guns (captured U. S. 105-millimeter howitzers) from arriving here. Behind that unplesant reality is the U. S. Cambodian policy, tragically distorted by congressional restrictions—to be discussed in a final report from Cambodia.

After that, you just fry it like any fish. My wife refused and that duty fell to you know who.

Forgot to tell you that squid have a distinct odor and when they're heated in the frying pan the odor become increasingly distinct.

About halfway through the frying, one of the offsprings said, "I think I'll go out and get a hamburger instead."

The other announced, "I'm just getting out of here."

My wife said, "Believe I'll just have a glass of milk for dinner tonight."

Well, managed to choke down about half of a squid. Gave up and dumped the whole thing in the cat's dish.

Cats, as you well know, will eat any kind of fish.

But not this time. This feline took one sniff and bolted for the door. Couldn't find him until the next afternoon.

will take to arraign all the people?"

"It's hard to say. If we can get several judges over to R.F.K. Stadium. I wouldn't thing anyone would have to be detained for more than 48 hours. But if we have to transport them to the federal courthouse, I can't see how we could get everyone processed in less than a week."

"Is it possible that some of the people you pick up in the Watergate case may be innocent and falsely accused?"

"There's always that possibility," the Justice Department Official said, "but we're not talking about an ordinary situation now. We're talking about the Watergate. And whenever you have that many citizens involved in anything, innocent people are going to be caught up in the dragnet. How can you ask a policeman to say to someone in the middle of a mass arrest, 'Did you or didn't you have anything to do with the Watergate case and the coverup?'"

The Justice Department officials warned me not to predict the number of people who would eventually be arrested. "'I think the newspapers have been overplaying the story," he said. "While we're ready to meet any contingency and handle up to 15,000 suspects, our prediction is that no more than 5,000 people from the White House and the Committee to Re-Elect the President will actually be detained."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have new plans that require more study before you can put them in operation successfully. Some new acquaintance has good advice, so listen carefully. Study it further before you show anyone, or use it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use wise system for handling your responsibilities and don't fall down on any of them. You had better not say much to mate, who is in the mood to criticize now. Get some reading done that you like.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Postpone those talks with a partner until a better time and do that work that is necessary first. Get advice from bigwigs how best to handle that civic duty. Then follow it to the letter.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who will be good at any work that requires the handling of much detail efficiently, but it is important you teach also to keep the big goals always in mind as well. The chart is fine for research work, exploring, handling whatever has to do with diet, working in laboratories, etc. Teach early not to deliberate so much but to reach a decision quickly and accurately. Hunches are good here.

Annual Banquet For Honor Fraternity

Tau Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi National Honor Fraternigy held its annual Founder's Day Banquet at the Candlewick Inn Friday night.

President Tommy Durham welcomed the brothers and all honored guests, and the invocation was delivered by David House.

Following dinner, faculty advisor Dr. Richard C. Todd introduced the guest speaker, Billy Laughinghouse, vice president of Bostic Suggs Furniture Company. Laughinghouse graduated East Carolina in 1954, is an ex-brother of Phi Sigma Pi, and has distinguished himself as a Greenville citizen.

Following his address Laughinghouse was presented the Phi Sigma Pi Outstanding Alumnus Award by Dommy Durham on behalf of the fraternity.

Nine brothers were selected this year to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. President Durham presented the following with these awards: Tim Dameron, Matt Garrett, Gerald Grimaldi, Braxton Hall, David House, Claude Hughes, Harry Jones, Rick Marksbury, and Mike Ulmer.

The fraternity sweetheart, Bunny Crowder, was presented with a gift and had her name inscribed on the permanent sweetheart plaque. She presented the brothers a new scrapbook.

Pledgemaster Phil Prager announced the winner of the Outstanding Philosophy Award to be Cliff Tritt.

The highest honor which can be bestowed upon a brother is to receive a service key. Two were presented this year by vice president-elect Fred West to President Tommy Durham and Todd Scholarship Drive chairman David House.

Next the annual Richard Cecil Todd and Claudia Pinnock Todd Scholarship was awarded. First Dr. Todd presented a plaque to this year's recipient, Matt Garrett. Garrett then announced the new recipient to be president-elect Bill Phipps.

Tau Chapter annually presents the university's Outstanding Male and Female Senior Awards. This year the winners were Gerald Grimaldi and Ellen Jane Kraft.

Fired Tear Gas In School Bus

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Two junior high school students were injured Tuesday when another student fired a tear gas gun into a school bus, police reported.

Police and school officials said a white 17-year-old student apparently fired the tear gas into the bus filled with black students in retaliation for a fight at Northside Junior High School on Monday.

Police said the youth was not arrested.

The tear gas incident was one of several disruptions at the school Tuesday which resulted in the suspensions of seven students and the expulsion of three others.

"Dixie" was first set to music in Montgomery, Ala., by Dan Emmet.

Winterville Names 3 To Elections Bd.

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Board of Aldermen Monday night named three members to serve on the newly organized Board of Elections here.

The members, named to two-year terms each, are Rommie Mallison, Pearlie Gardner and J. H. Mobley.

The registration books are now open at the Winterville Municipal Building for the Winterville citizens who have previously registered at either the town office or at the Pitt County Court House.

According to Town Clerk Elwood Nobles, it is not necessary for persons to register again if they have previously registered with either the town or the county office.

In other business, the board agreed to purchase 4.97 acres of land from Raleigh Parks. Located off North Street, the property will be used for storage of the town equipment and vehicles and as the site for a future water tank.

The land purchase totaled $10,000.

Mayor Walter Dail presented a report of street paving to be done during the next fiscal year.

The paving, 22,804 square yards at a cost of approximately $31,000, will be financed through the revenue fund sharing, Powell Bill and property owner sharing.

J. L. Keeter asked the board to amend the recreation ordinance to increase the membership from 10 members to 30 and that 50 percent of this number be a quorum.

It was reported that the 1972 deliquent taxes will be advertised for sale on May 14, 21, 28, and June 4 and that the sale will be held on June 11 at 12 noon.

According to Nobles, the principal plus five percent interest is now due on the late taxes.

J. H. Weathington presented the board with a petition seeking paving of Pitt Street, Circle Drive, and parts of North and Ange Streets.

Calvin Henderson petitioned the board for curb and gutter and paving of parts of Kennedy Street and May Drive. No action was taken on the two petitions.

McDavid and Associates of Farmville were hired to complete the Powell Bill maps for the town.

The board approved a request from the Winterville Ruritan Club that a circus be held at the A. G. Cox School after June 15. The town also agreed to furnish a policeman and a supply of water for the event.

Chief Bill Whitehurst reported to board members that a radar unit is now in use in the Winterville area and that signs will be erected outside the town limits showing that the equipment is being used by the local police department.

Bids were opened for tractor and mowing equipment but no action was taken.

REAP Mothers Work To Purchase A Minibus

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Mrs. George Hawkins spends many hours a week taking her son, Gregory, to kindergarten at Stokes Elementary School each morning, picking him up at noon and taking him the Developmental Evaluation Clinic three afternoons a week for participation in the REAP program. The family lives near Belvoir.

Gregory, five, has learning disabilities because of brain damage suffered when he had malaria while his family was serving with the Agency for International Development in Zambia in Central Africa.

"Because of REAP, Gregory is going to enter first grade next year," Mrs. Hawkins said. "He will have to have a resource teacher, I'm sure, but he'd never have been ready at all without this program. Greenville area parents of handicapped children are so fortunate to have some many helpful speech and hearing clinics, physical therapy, recreational therapy, music therapy, and a lot of other allied services that make it possible for these children to develop."

Mrs. Hawkins emphasizes that she is not the only mother of a handicapped child who must spend a lot of time chauffering and waiting. She told of Mrs. Nancy Quinn, who brings her child all the way from LaGrange to attend REAP. Also, she mentioned the numerous children whose parents cannot make arrangements to do the transporting. There is a child from the the Farmville area, she said, who rides a school bus every day to Winterville, where she is picked up by the Pitt County Schools psychologist and carried to the REAP program.

"We need transportation for these youngsters," she said. "They are as important as the normal children who ride the regular school buses. They are the ones who some years ago would have institutionalized, becoming wards of the state. We want them at home and because of the new ways of teaching them, we can keep them at home and make worthwhile persons of them.

Need Bus

Mrs. Hawkins and several other REAP mothers have been working for some time now to raise the $600 local matching funds needed to buy a minibus for the county schools to use especially for transporting handicapped children. They have been told that there are state and federal funds available under the Developmental Disabilities Services Act—if the local money is available. The Greenville City Schools got such a bus early this spring.

Besides Mrs. Hawkins, the mothers working on the project are Mrs. Charles Overton, Mrs. Lois Roebuck, Mrs. Frank Close, Mrs. Nancy Quinn, Mrs. Margaret Keys, Mrs. Lennie Carmon, and Mrs. Jerry Stroud. These women have made many contacts throughout the county and have put up hundreds of posters. They are selling candy, rainbonets, notecards, eight-track stereo tapes, and closet sachets.

Square Dance Saturday.

Their big project, though, is the promotion of an old-fashioned square dance Saturday night from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Elm Street Gymnasium in Greenville. The Flatland Family Band, a bluegrass band known throughout this area, and the Green Grass Cloggers, a square dance team, also well-known, are featured at the dance which is planned for the whole family, not just the adults.

Cost of admission is $1.50 per person and tickets may be bought from any of the REAP mothers, fromMrs. Carma Baggett, executive secretary of the Pitt County Association for Retarded Children, from the Music Arts Store at Pitt Plaza, or at the door.

Anyone not caring to attend the dance or buy any of the articles offered by the REAP mothers, but wishing to contribute to the cause may make a contribution by sending it to Mrs. George Hawkins, Rt. 6, Box 126-D, Greenville, N.C. 27834. Checks should be made payable to R.E.A.P. and noted as being for the bus project.

New Farm Land Tax Bitterly Debated

RALEIGH (AP) — Opponents loosed a bare-knuckle assault Tuesday on Senate-passed legislation that would tax farm land around cities on the basis of its use rather than its actual value.

The bill would be "horrendous to administer" and would tax the poor while helping the rich landowner with property near suburban developments, said John Morrisey, executive director of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

"The bonafide farmer is going to have to help pay for this bill, rather than benefit from it," Morrisey told the House Finance Committee at a public hearing.

The bill also was attacked as a threat to county and city tax bases by Morrisey and other opponents.

Robert Alexander, Mecklenburg county's tax supervisor, told the legislators his county stood to lose $1,480,000 a year if the bill becomes law.

He estimated that 30 to 40 "true farmers" would receive tax relief in Mecklenburg with a total tax reduction of less than $40,000 while "the big property owner and the hobby farmer" would benefit the most.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Vernon White, D-Pitt, said his bill was "not designed to erode the tax base. It is designed to protect our land from developers."

The bill would provide special tax classification for land used for agriculture, for growing tobacco, for horticulture, for forests and for "open spaces"—utilized for such purposes as recreation, including golf courses, and scenic purposes.

Property owners who sold their land would be required to pay back taxes for three years on a basis of actual market value except for open space land for which back taxes for seven years would have to be paid.

White told the committee that more than 200 acres of cultivatable land is being converted to nonagricultural purposes in North Carolina every day.

"It's not fair for someone to go out a mile and a half from town and put up a shopping center, and by doing so raise the value of nearby farm land that has been there for years," said White.

Backers of the bill included the state Farm Bureau, the state grange, the Farmers Cooperative Council and commissioners of at least 28 counties.

Joining Morrisey in opposing the bill were Leigh Wilson, executive director of the North Carolina League of Municpalties and tax offficials from Granville, Forsyth, Mecklenburg and Moore counties.

Greenville Shares Sum For Planning

Greenville is one of 79 North Carolina communities and counties that have been awarded a portion of a $331,000 federal grant for local planning, according to Tom Richter of the Washington Regional Office of the Division of Community Services and Bill Carstaphan, Greenville City Manager.

Greenville will receive a $2,400 grant, which will be matched by $1,566 in local money.

The funds will be used to finance a technical advisor to the new Community Development Revenue Sharing program in 1973-74.

A Community Planner from the Washington Field Office will provide the technical planning assistance.

While the news was good for 79 communities, Richter said applications from 80 others had to be turned down.

One problem was not enough money.

"Interest by local government in planning has sky-rocketed in the past few years. Unfortunately funding for local planning has not kept pace," Richter said.

While federal funding for local planning was up only 10 percent, requests for assistance from local government has doubled.

Some relief could be coming in the near future, if the General Assembly approves all or part of a $150,000 request for supplemental state funds for local government planning assistance.

Arrest 8 More In Disturbance

ALBEMARLE, N. C. (AP)—Eight more pupils were arrested Tuesday on charges growing out of a disturbance at Albemarle High School, joining five arrested previously.

Ten were charged with disorderly conduct and three with assault and battery in the Monday incident.

In addition, a 19-year-old who was not a pupil was arrested at the scene and charged with trespassing.

All are free under bond.

Classes were held without incident Tuesday.

The Accounting Society is planning an end-of-year party for May 19 at the home of Miss Gwen Potter, chairman of the Accounting Department at ECU and faculty advisor to the Accounting Society.

Mixed Media Used To Put Advanced Degrees Within Reach Of All

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The College of Engineering at the University of South Carolina is using a mixture of television, telephones, video tape and the United Parcel Service, to offer advanced degrees to students throughout the state.

Later this year, the unique educational program probably will be extended to several countries in South America.

David Waugh, associate dean of the College of Engineering, said the program is "unlike anything else being used in this country or abroad."

He said more than 125 graduate students currently are enrolled in the program, and at least 25 more are expected to be in the system by the fall of 1973.

The educational program actually involves two types of operation, welded together to reach all persons seeking graduate degrees, regardless of how far they may live from the university's main campus in Columbia.

During the weekends, the college uses the so-called talkback system.

This allows students scattered around the state to be in visual and audio communication with the instructor back in Columbia.

Television monitors in each of the classrooms and telephones on the desks of the students allow instant communication with the professor or with fellow students around South Carolina.

The College of Engineering has added a second approach to the system.

Now, actual classroom sessions in the college are video taped and moved by United Parcel each week to a number of locations throughout South Carolina. The tapes are delivered to the university's regional campuses, to various technical education centers, to Shaw Air Force Base near Sumter, and to several industrial plants.

In each of the locations is video tape playback equipment. Students can review the tapes at prescribed times or at their own convenience. Each week new tapes are recorded and shipped and the old ones returned for reuse.

The college goes to great lengths to insure that everyone who wants to participate can do so. For example, video tapes are delivered to a single student at Presbyterian College in Clinton, S.C., who has his own playback equipment, and another student gets the video tape at Sumter Tech each week.

The students make infrequent trips to the campus in Columbia for special instruction, examinations and other technical work.

Waugh said by fall of this year, the program will begin using color with a two-track audio system.

He said the new equipment will permit the development of a bilingual package for distribution in Colombia, Brazil, Bolivia, and other South American nations.

"We've had a number of students at South Carolina from South America," he said. "Now these young people have gone back home to work, and we are in the process of developing a program they can use in their home countries. This involves producing video tapes with Spanish audio."

Waugh said the prgram has been given a great deal of credit for bringing one major industry to South Carolina.

"Opportunities for continuing education among key professional employes is an important consideration for any industry planning to relocated," he said. "Our program which uses electronics to reach every corner of South Carolina is a real selling point to any business or corporation executive."

Waugh said employes now "don't have to quit their job or take a leave of absence and move away to a college or university campus to continue their education," Waugh added. "And this appeals both to the prospective student and to his employer."

It's Safer To Take Interstate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you have a choice of an interstate highway or a less modern road to get where you're going, take the interstate route—it's nearly twice as safe, says Donald S. Knight, director of The Road Information Program.

On conventional roads there are 5.2 deaths for each 100 million miles of travel, compared with 2.7 deaths on the interstate system, he says.

'Gospel Sing' On Saturday

WINTERVILLE — A gospel sing will be held at the Winterville Free Will Baptist Church Saturday night at 7:30.

The Foundations Quartet from Pikeville will present the program.

An offering will be taken for the purchase of land for a new church.

PlanningDuring 'Interruption'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women returning to college after their schooling was interrupted have specific goals and a long-range commitment toward education, according to a study by a University of Michigan graduate student.

Hazel Markus, who studies social psychology, said her research indicated "the more encouragement a woman received from her family or employer the more likely the chance she would stay in school." The woman who returned to college, according to Ms. Markus' study, is likely to be in her 30s, married, has children and her husband is "well-educated and high-earning."

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today, and analysts said there was little news to support either an uptrend or a downtrend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had shot up about 3 points in the first hour, was down .68 to 955.90 at 11:30 a.m.

But advances held a more than 2-to-1 edge over declines in rather light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The price-change index on the Amex was up .14 to 59.04 at 11 a.m. while the price-change index on the Amex had gained .04 to 23.72.

Lear Siegler preferred, off 1 to 27¼, topped the active issues on the Big Board. The next two most-heavily traded stocks were National Cash Register, off ⅛ to 34½, and ITT, off ¾ to 37¾.

Issues involved in the stalled trans-Alaskan pipeline, which received a Senate go-ahead Tuesday, were strong. They included Alaska Interstate, up ⅜ to 33, and Phillips Petroleum, up ⅞ to 49⅜.

Oils were generally popular, reflecting the increased demand for fuel. Universal Oil was up 1 to 20⅝, Marathon gained 1⅛ to 34⅛ and Standard Oil of Indiana rose ⅜ to 90⅜. One exception was Exxon, down 1¼ to 96⅞.

Martin Tech Project Funding Gets Approval

WILLIAMSTON — County funding for water and sewer line extensions to Martin Technical Institute from the Williamston systems was approved Monday by the Martin County Board of Comissioners.

Total cost of the project, which will be contracted for immediate construction, is some $363,000, including $114,000 in county money and $249,000 in federal funds.

Commissioners voted to have County Auditor-Clerk C. Marion Cobb request that signal lights be installed at the Hardison railroad crossing on the Holly Springs-Farm Life road. Several death have resulted from car-train collisions at the intersection, it was noted.

The board authorized certification for water and sewer lines in Bear Grass which are being constructed with Farmers Home Administration financial aid.

Commissioner voted to give the Martin County Community Action Administration a letter of intent for $17,000 for the January, 1974 to July, 1974 period if the Office of Economic Opportunity is discontinued. Funds authorized by the letter of intent are to be used to continue programs now being managed by MCCA.

A request from the Halifax Membership Corp., REA, for approval of overhead construction of approximately one mile of new service lines and some two and a half miles of improved lines to increase service capacity in the western part of the county was approved by the board.

The commissioners postponed action on a request for a meeting place for Alcoholics Anonymous in the Willliamston area until further study is amde.

Budget . . .

The reductions, suggested by co-chairmen Rep. Carl Stewart, D-Gaston, and Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, were made to bring the budget into line with available funds.

Most of the cutbacks were handled routinely, with little opposition.

Rep. Horton Rountree, D-Pitt, expressed disappointment that the medical school reserve fund was cut to $7.5 million but said it still was "a step in the right direction." Proponents of the East Carolina University's effort to expand its one-year medical school have been supporting inclusion of the reserve fund in the new budget.

Stewart said the Cape Lookout land purchase funds were deleted because the cost of property has skyrocketed since the state began buying up land.

Other changes made by the subcommittee included:

—A reduction of $2.1 million in funds for improvements in facilities at state parks, leaving $2.5 million already in the budget.

—A reduction from $10.4 million to $5.9 million to provide a longevity step for the school teacher index salary schedule.

—A reduction from $4.3 million to $2.1 million for additional salary increases for employes in the community college system. —A reduction from $1.3 million to $330,500 in funds for the establishment of a drug and alcohol addiction treatment center at Black Mountain. —A reduction from $3 million to $2 million for consolidation of public health services and upgrading of public health personnel.

Arrest Four In Drug Raid

Four local men were arrested early this morning on drug law violation charges following a 12:30 a.m. raid on 103H Eastbrook Apartments here.

Greenville Police officers, State Bureau of Investigation agents and Pitt County Sheriff's deputies arrested Bruce Strange, Terry Wayne Cockman and Louis Harold Lucas, all 19, and all of 103H Eastbrook Apts. on charges of possession with the intent to distribute and with manufacturing marijuana.

A fourth man, Steward McIntyre, 20, of 400D Eastbrook Apts. was charged with possession with intent to distribute marijuana as a result of the raid.

Officers said they confiscated eight pounds of marijuana, six marijuana plants and 13,400 in cash from the apartment.

Bond on each charge was set at $2,500 with a hearing in the case set for District Court on June 1.

Also on the program was Mrs. Fred T. Mattox, president of the Auxiliary of the Pitt County Bar Association, who gave a report of the activities of the ladies' organization. A musical program presented by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bath and their four children highlighted the evening's entertainment.

The Bar Association meeting was presided over by David E. Reid, Jr., retiring president.

Team Chosen By Pitt Tech

Pitt Technical Institute has selected its automotive trouble shooting team for the annual contest to be held Thursday at the State Fairgrounds in Raleigh, according to Dwight McGowan and Roland Smith of PTI's automotive mechanic department.

The team members are David Stox of Ayden and Teddy Langley of Tyner. The team will be sponsored by Bright Leaf Motors of Greenville.

The contest is one of 113 regional meets being held throughout the country this spring. Regional winners will win all-expense trips to Plymouth's National Trouble Shooting Championship at Boston, Mass., June 25-27, where they will compete for college scholarships and other prizes worth more than $90,000.

In the contest, teams of two students work on a car in which a series of malfunctions have been placed to determine which team can most quickly and accurately find and fix all the problems.

The contest will be used as a field trip for all other automotive students at Pitt Tech.

Rampants Score Early To Run By Bears

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Rose High School pushed over six runs in the bottom of the first inning and went on record a 7-1 victory over New Bern High School last night at Harrington Field.

With rain falling most of the game, the Rampants may have had reason to remember last year's contest with the Bears here, when they lost 2-1, with the tieing run on third base, no one out and their leading hitter at the plate. At that point, the game was called because of rain, and it eventually cost Rose the Division II championship.

There was no title at stake last night, just a victory, but by the time the first frame was over, there was little doubt who would be victorious.

Rose pounded starting hurler Dennis Stilley for four hits, three of them for extra bases before he was finally pulled after five runs had scored. The Rampants had less success against reliever Wade Lamb, who scattered five hits and allowed only one more run the rest of the way.

Wesley Deal tossed the victory for the Rampants, holding New Bern scoreless until the sixth inning. He allowed only three hits and four baserunners until that point.

New Bern put a man into scoring position in the first, when Van Smith led off with a single, hitting the first pitch to center. He stole second, but Deal struck out the next three batters to get out of trouble.

Al Heath led off with a double to left and Robert Brinkley singled through the middle to bring him across with the first run. Brinkley moved on to second on the relay to home. John Barwick hit a high chopper to the mound, and the pitcher elected to go to third, trying to get Brinkley, but was just too late. Stanley Cobb followed with a double down the left field line, scoring Brinkley and moving Barwick to third. Greg Chapman walked, loading the bases, and Mike Wallace unloaded a three-bagger in the power allery in left center, driving in all three runners. That spelled the end of Stilley's stint on the mound.

Lamb fanned the first man he faced, but Dickie Johnson laid down a perfect squeeze bunt, easily scoring Wallace, while Johnson legged it safely to first.

New Bern got a threat going in the second with two outs as Billy Moore walked and stole second, but died there. Again, in the fifth, they got a chance, as Moore doubled with one out, but once more, waited out his teammates there.

Rose had threats in the third and fifth. Cobb and Chapman both walked in the third, but a popup, a fielder's choice and a strikeout ended it. In the fifth, Cobb again walked and Chapman singled, but no runs crossed.

New Bern was also the victim of a freak play in the third. Lamb led off with a single, and after reaching, headed back to the dugout, to be replaced by a courtesy runner. He failed to call time before leaving the base, however, and was tagged out.

The Bears finally scored in the sixth. Smith led off with a single, and Thomas Alston got a hit to the infield. With one down, Steve Bengel walked, loading the bases. Darrell Jenkins tried to lay down a suicide squeeze bunt, but missed, and Smith was tagged out trying to come in on the play. Jenkins then singled, scoring Alston.

Tom Quinn, head basketball coach at East Carolina University, recently announced that Bob Hurst, a standout for Seminole (Fla.) Junior College the past two seasons, has been awarded a grant-in-aid to play basketball at ECU.

Hurst, a 6-5 forward, is the fourth grant-in-aid player announced by Tom Quinn this year. He is the second junior college player to choose East Carolina.

A native of Covington, Ky., Hurst was an outstanding player at Holmes High School where he was named All-Conference, All-District and All-Region. He was also named honorable mention All-State.

At Seminole Junior College, Hurst was named to the Division II All-Star team this past season.

"Hurst is a steady performer who will give us added mobility on the wing," said Quinn in making the announcement. "His outside shooting and sound fundamentals will help us to offset our general lack of experience in the front court."

Hurst, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurst of Covington, Ky., will enroll at East Carolina in the fall.

Farmville Central Tops Panthers, 8-1

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

BETHEL—Farmville Central closed out its baseball season yesterday with a 8-1 defeat of the North Pitt Panthers. The win gave the Jaguars a final 9-9 mark for the year.

Jag Bobby Daniels had four innings of no-hit ball to his credit before the Panthers finally manged to get to him. Daniels struck out five, walked one and wound up scattering four hits. Steve Fuchs was the loser, striking out three, walking one, and seeing the Jags rap out 14 hits, three for extra bases.

The Jaguars got all they needed in the second pushing over four runs. Farmville Central added two more in the third and another pair in the seventh. The only North Pitt score came in the sixth.

Farmville left six men on base, short of their average of ten. The Panthers were putting men on, too, they left nine, but were kept in check by the Jaguars.

Farmville Central threatened to get on the boards in the first inning. Ed Wells reached on an error and moved around on a sacrifice and a passed ball but could not cross the plate.

They broke through in the second, however, and got four before they were stopped. Glen Dwyer led off with a single to left and Tony Oakley followed with a hit to the same place. Tommy Cobb banged out a double driving in Dwyer and sending Oakley to third. Oakley scored on a hit by Daniels but Cobb was cut down at the plate. Carl Brock ripped a double down the left field foul line driving in Daniels and a wild pitch sent Brock to third.

Wells followed with the sixth hit of the frame to score Brock. Wells, however, was forced at second by Phil Lewis. Lewis moved up on a hit by Bobby Wooten but the rally ended there as the next batter popped up.

North Pitt put two men in the second on as Fuchs walked and Dennis Bunn was hit by a ptich. They were left stranded.

In the third, Farmville Central added two more. Cobb walked and went to second on a passed ball. Daniels rapped out his second hit to score him and on the throw-in, Daniels went to second. An error on the play as the Panthers went back to second let Daniels come the rest of the way around for the score.

Dwyer advanced to third in the Farmville Central fifth reaching on a hit and getting help on Cobb's single but neither runner could score.

Craig McLawhorn got on safely for the Panthers in the bottom of the frame on an error and then Daniels' bid was broken up by Ben Johnson who slapped a single into center. The Jags held and prevented a run.

The Panthers kept from being shut-out in the sixth getting a lone score. Clint Lewis led off with the second North North Pitt hit but was forced at second by Fuchs. Noel Whitley got a hit to send Fuchs to second and a passed ball let both move up. Jeff Price singled to force in Fuchs.

The Jaguars got it back in the top of the seventh as Wooten singled and Barry Johnson tripled to drive him in. The outfielders ran into each other on the play letting Johnson come over with the eighth Farmville Central run.

Eight of the nine starting Jaguars got hits. They were led by Dwyer with three and Wooten, Cobb, Daniels, and Brock with two each.

In the second, six more crossed to put Pepsi into a 10-4 lead. Wilson walked and Avery singled. Both moved up on a passed ball and Worthington walked. Danny Carmon reached on an error, scoring Wilson, and McClahahan reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Avery. Richards walked to force in Worthington. Matney also walked, bringing in Carmon. Mark Shank walked to score McClanahan, and a walk to Wilson scored Richards with the 10 run.

Pepsi went on to add seven more in the third, and two in the fifth.

Jim Colbert, 1972 Milwaukee Open winner, bogeyed four of the first five holes in the last round of the 1973 Jacksonville Open.

Aycock In First Loss

Wilson Junior High School handed E. B. Aycock its first loss of the season yesterday, taking a 6-5 victory.

Wilson opened the scoring with three runs in the first inning, while Aycock came up with one in the bottom of the first and two more in the third to tie it. Wilson moved back out with one in the fourth, but Aycock scored twice in the fifth to move into a 5-4 lead.

Wilson came back with two in the sixth, however, and gained the win. In that frame, Owens walked and stole second. Pittman and Prince both walked, and a wild pitch scored Owens with the tieing run. Moore walked to reload the bases and Barnes reached on an error, scoring Pittman with the winning run.

Mack Nunn and Dave Davis each had three hits for Aycock, while David Dixon added two.

Aycock, now 8-1, plays a return visit to Wilson on Thursday.

Robersonville Rolls To 13-2 Win Over Trojans

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Golden Eagles closed out their regular season with a 13-2 romp over Oak City yesterday. The win left them with a perfect 6-0 record in the Martin County Conference.

Robersonville's win also upped their overall mark to 16-4. They are scheduled to play Knapp in the first round of the State Class A Playoffs on Tuesday. The time and site of the game have not been set as yet. The Eagles are the defending state champs.

Robersonville pushed ahead with four runs in the first inning. Doug Warren singled and moved up on a wild pitch. Matt Wilson walked and Larry Jackson singled in Warren. Both runners moved up on an error on the play and Masonic Stokes doubled both across. Stokes stole third and an error on the play let him score with the fourth run.

Oak City got one of their runs in the third. Mike Reason reached on a two-base error and both David Thomspon and Ken Spivey walked, loading the bases. William Johnson was hit by a pitch, forcing in Reason.

Robersonville put the game on ice with eight more runs in the fourth. Jeff Warren walked and moved to third when a pickoff attempt was muffed. He came on home when the relay to third was also errored. Mike Matthews kept it going with a double and Loyall Corey walked, and stole second. Ricky Brown walked to load them up, and a double by Doug Warren brought in all three baserunners. Wilson doubled in Warren and advanced on an error. Jackson singled Wilson in, and Stokes got a hit. Jeff Warren then tripled to drive in the last two runs.

Robersonville finished off the scoring with one more in the fifth, while Oak City picked up one more in the sixth.

Wilson hurled the first four innings, giving up one hit, striking out six and walking two. Dan Thompson went the final three allowing a hit, striking out one and walking one.

Larry Jackson led the Robersonville hitting with three, while Doug Warren and Masonic Stokes each picked up a pair.

Regrettably, Indian Treaties Too Easily Broken

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trouble with Indian treaties is that they are so easily broken.

Once any treaty is ratified, it becomes part of U.S. law. And, like any other law, it can be amended, superceded or repealed by a newer law.

So breaking an Indian treaty may not be honorable, but it can be perfectly legal.

Even in cases where there has be no legal justification for breaking a treaty, Indian tribes have often found themselves without the power to force compliance.

The question of Indian standing, and therefore claim to the land on which they live, has been ambiguous since the first white men came to America.

Charles V, king of Spain and grandson of Ferdinand and Isabella, made the first attempt at defining Indian property rights and turned to Franciscus de Victoria, professor at the University of Salamanca and one of the foremost theologians of his day.

Victoria said Indians had title to their land and Spaniards could not claim it by virtue of discovery. He suggested that if Europeans wanted Indian land, they buy it.

"Victoria's advice was not always taken literally, as white explorers continued to claim new discoveries in the name of European monarchs, although his ideas survived in an unwritten code which generally ascribed sovereignty to the white kings but title to the Indians.

The English colonizers followed this rule, and individual colonies passed ordinances requiring acquisition of Indian land be by purchase authorized by the colonial government.

The British home government held similar views.

During the American Revolution the Continental Congress continued to deal with Indians in the same way and concluded the first U.S.-Indian treaty with the Delawares on Sept. 17, 1778.

In 1784, Congress appointed commiss oners to negotiate peace terms with Indians along the frontier and set up boundaries, making it clear that the territory belong to the government although the Indians could live on it.

"The United States alone possess the sovereign power within the limits described at the late treaty of peace between them and the king of England," David Ramsay, chairman of the Congress, declared. "You may also assure the Indians that they tell lies who say that the king of England has not in in his late treaty with the United States given up to them the lands of the Indians."

But the Indians resented the government's approach and it became apparent that the United States, which had no standing Army once the Revolution was over, was going to have to soften its stand or fight.

Consequently, the secretary of war in 1788 recommended a new policy of purchasing land the government had been virtually confiscating in peace treaties. Money was appropriated to purchase Indian claims to land already ceded, and treaties were renegotiated.

On Jan. 9, 1789, treaties were signed with the Six Nations and the Wiandot, Delaware, Chipewa and Ottowa establishing a new official view of Indian lands rights. In these landmark treaties, the United States gave up claim to designated territory to be held by the Indians.

The early treaties contained several other provisions implying a degree of Indian sovereignty.

As early as 1778 Delaware treaty, the government guaranteed the integrity of Indian territory. Boundaries were set out between U.S. territory and Indian land and between Indian nations, just as the map of Europe was redrawn after the World Wars.

Treaties signed with northern tribes in 1785 and 1786 provided that any U.S. citizen attempting to settle on Indian land forfeited the protection of the United States.

The U.S. government obviously recognized an international character to Indian relations and several treaties stipulated that having allied with the United States, the Indians could not ally with other nations.

But time eroded whatever standing the Indians had as independent nations.

Some treaty provisions became obsolete, such as those requiring the government to provide grist mills and blacksmiths to repair hunting rifles. A Cherokee treaty still requires the government to hire mounted riders at $30 a day to guard the reservation.

Such anachronisms encourage a view of the treaties as quaintly out of date and not to be taken seriously, although some guarantees of goods and services are still vitally important to the Indians.

These annuities, though vital today, were the first step in downgrading Indian stature. They made the Indians dependent on the government at a time when the shrinking frontier denied their traditional huntsman's livelihood.

Weakness on the part of Indians invited whites to take advantage. Defeated by U.S. forces in 1814, the Creeks were forced to surrender 23 million acres, half their ancestral domain, although a big chunk of it belonged to loyal Indians.

East Germany boasts the highest standard of living in Eastern Europe.

The Jaycees announced that the famous Sells and Gray Circus, an operation of the Acme Circus and the King Brothers Circus, will be here for two shows on Monday.

Featuring 16 different acts ranging from "hair hanging" and wire-walking to juggling and unicycle performances, the circus will put on shows at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Included in the official program are English, European and American performers, clowns, acrobats, aerialists, trained dogs and dogs and horses, as well the highlight of the matinee and evening performances, the celebrated "Story Book" performing elephants.

Sells and Gray Circus, which performs in New Bern Sunday prior to leaving for Greenville, is scheduled to arrive here around 6 a.m. at the Pitt Fairgrounds. Elephants are used to help erect the large canvas tents and center poles.

The midway and free attractions open at 3 p.m. and the matinee performance, lasting approximately 90 minutes, gets underway at 4 p.m. The show leaves Greenville for Wilson following the 8 p.m. evening performance.

Foundation Associates Are Named

ST. LOUIS—The Danforth Foundation has announced that 179 faculty members, and if married their spouses, in colleges and universities throughout the United States have been named Danforth Associates. These newly appointed Associates will join nearly 5,000 other Danforth Associates from all academic fields presently participating in the program in more than 750 higher educational institutions.

Named from East Carolina University were Dr. Fred D. Ragan and his wife, Carlene W. Ragan. Dr. Ragan, associate professor of History at ECU, received his Ph. D. from the University of Georgia and has been a member of the ECU faculty for the past seven years. Ragan is a native of Fuquay-Varina, N.C., and his wife is from Brevard, N.C.

"The program is unique in that the Associates work directly with the students on a personal basis in an effort to improve student-faculty relations and to strengthen the teaching-learning process," Robert Rankin, vice president of the Foundation and director of the program, said.

Durning its last fiscal year, the Danforth Foundation allocated approximately $500,000 in conjunction with Associate program. The funds were used to provide modest stipends for the Associate couples and to fund special projects in keeping with the aims of the program and to sponsor educational conferences.

Associates are eligible to apply for small grants through the Associate Projects Fund. Projects are supported for the following purposes: humanization of education; improvement in the learning process and the capacities of faculty to teach; heightening the quality of communication between students, faculty and administrator; exploration of the role of the student in the decision-making process; serving the needs of minority groups on campus; the reconciliation of conflicting roups in higher education; initiation of creative efforts in teaching and fresh approaches in the improvement of human relation in higher education.

Newly elected Associates attend a national ecucational conference dealing with the improvement of teaching and higher education generally Associates are eligible to attend annual regional education conferences throughout their years of affiliation with the Program.

World Trade Week Cited

May 20-26 has been esignated World Trade Week, it was announced by the Greensboro field office of the Department of Commerce.

The office, which offers aid and assistance to North Carolina firms in the development of international markets, reported that according to a nationwide origin study,there are only 12 states that export more manufactures products than North Carolina.

In addition,the study found that only four states export more agricultural products than North Carolina, the field office noted. The diversified economy of the state places North Carolina at the top of the nation in three categories: tobacco, textiles and furniture.

Further publicizing the observance, the office asserted that each additional million dollars in exports create 75 new jobs. By that standard, North Carolina's increase of $179 million in exports from 1966 to 1969 effected 13,000 jobs, it reported.

Studies made by the Department of Commerce, the field office noted, reveal that only five per cent of the gross national product is exported and an "all-out effort has been launched to encourage U.S. firms to develop export markets for their products."

"Increased export sales will be one of the best ways to over come our present balance of payments deficit and will increase greatly the profits of participating firms," the Greensboro office reported.

CAR TIP

DETROIT (UPI) — The fuel filter on the inlet fuel line of a car should be replaced about every 12,000 miles, advise auto experts. Replacement is easy and can be done during an oil change.

Cuba Stuck With Long 'Mortgage'

By MARTIN McREYNOLDS

MIAMI (UPI) — Anyone who bought a home with a 30-year mortgage recently knows what it feels like to contemplate payments stretching into the next century.

The home buyer has something in common with the Cuban government, which has closed a deal with the Soviet Union calling for repayment of Soviet credit through the end of the year 2010.

Instead of a house, Castro got: (1) a 13-year moratorium on the Cuban debt, estimated at roughly $3 billion; (2) generous terms for Soviet purchase of Cuban sugar and nickel; (3) fresh credits to make up for Cuba's anticipated trade deficit with Russia in the next three years; and (4) a promise of more than $300 million in new Soviet aid to develop nearly every aspect of the Cuban economy.

Accumulation Halted

According to an announcement by Castro Jan. 3, the Russians agreed to forego all collections on the Cuban debt for the next 13 years, and to halt the accumulation of interest as of Jan. 1.

Payment in Cuban goods and services will resume Jan. 1, 1986, and run for 25 years—through 2010.

The agreement ends three years of uncertainty over how Cuba would pay what it owes the Soviet Union, according to Leon Goure, director of Soviet Studies at the University of Miami's Center for Advanced International Studies.

"I think the Russians have resigned themselves to the fact that their involvement with Cuba is a very long haul and that there are no shortcuts for making it a paying proposition, or even making Cuba self-sufficient," Goure said.

A Breathing Space

The 13-year moratorium on debt payments may give Cuba a breathing space to improve its ailing economy, Goure said.

However, he attached little importance to the announcement the Soviet Union will pay 11 cents a pound for Cuban sugar and $5,000 a ton for nickel—prices well above the current world market levels.

"It's a phony thing," Goure said. "It's a matter of bookkeeping. The Russians will get some propaganda value out of saying 'see how much we pay the Cubans for their products?'"

Overall effect of the new agreements it to draw Cuba further into the Soviet system. Goure said. He noted that Cuba became a member of COMECON—the East European version of the European Common Market—in 1972 and the Cuban economy has been meshed into the current Soviet five-year plan since 1971.

Nightingale Can Sing During Day

CHICAGO (UPI) — The name nightingale is only half right, and poets who refer to her song are all wrong.

That's the word from Encyclopedia Britannica, which says that contrary to popular belief, this bird sings at all hours of the day as well as at night.

The nightingale's song is celebrated beyond all others and nearly always it's referred to as of the feminine gender. But only the male sings.

Clean Hands is Only A Start

NEW YORK (UPI) — A bill headed for the Wisconsin legislature would require school lunch programs to provide facilities for washing hands before eating. But that's not all. The school also will be required to offer instruction in table manners and etiquette, dress codes for both teachers and pupils.

Is discipline rearing its old-fashioned head?

Open 1,000th Freeway Mile

LONDON (UPI) — The Department of the Environment says Britain's 1,000th mile of motorway (freeway) was opened in the fiscal year ended March 31,1972. Its report, issued this year, said 4.3 billion pounds (10.5 billion) worth of "major" road improvement projects were under way on that date.

Compatibility Given Priority

Rev. Merfin's popular radio "talk show" on WMBI has already flooded us with more data about the Scientific Marriage Foundation. To date, the SMF has a negligible divorce rate despite 10,000 married folks in the past 17 years.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D. M.D.

CASE W-590: Robert Merfin is a jolly pastor who also handles a WMBI radio show in Chicago every morning.

Recently he invited me to be his guest from 8 to 8:30 A.M. and described our Scientific Marriage Foundation.

"Dr. Crane," he inquired, "how does your SMF match congenial people?"

So I told his radio audience that we use an IBM computer machine, setting 10 dials to make sure we match applicants who are compatible in their basic attitudes and religious outlook.

For example, since men dislike writing letters, they usually restrict us to a 200-mile radius.

So we set on edial at 200 miles.

Another involves religion, since we match Catholic with Catholic, Jew with Jew, but may very moderately among Protestants.

Thus, if we have a lovely girl who perfectly matches a man on 9 basic factors but is a Presbyterian, whereas he is a Methodist or Baptist, we still introduce them.

And I explained that about 3,000 leading Rabbis, Priests and Ministers, have volunteered to interview all our applicants at the grass roots level (which makes us unique in America).

Our splendid Board includes topnotch clergy of the various faiths, including Rabbi Samuel Silver :Connecticut), Bishop Gerald Kennedy (California), Monsignor Henry Ward (Indiana), Dr. Peale (New York) et al.

Among those 10 basic dial settings we also include age, height (for we usually introduce a taller man to a shorter girl), as well as personal habits.

And I warned the radio listeners that of 50,000 male applicants, only ONE had ever asked to be introduced to a girl who smokes!

For men may play around with smoking females but they seldom want to marry such!

And we also include marital status, for many men want to marry a single girl, while others don't object to a widow, if she has no children.

But occasionally we have a splendid male applicant who asks to be matched with a widow who has young children.

Such a man may be 38 or 40, and thus disinterested in the diaper stage of kiddies but still eager to help a lovely woman rear youngsters who may be of school age.

At the end of our interview, Rev. Merfin asked me what I thought was the criterion for gauging a zooming, virile church vs. one that has gone to "seed" and is losing attendance.

To which I mentioned the old adage that is still true:

"You must first fill the pulpit if you wish to fill the pews!"

And that means, pick a clergyman who knows how to hold the fascinated attention of his congregation via superb oratory.

"It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify an audience," I added.

Moreover, the thriving churches of the future can be gauged by seeing which ones now use school buses to bring kiddies to their Sunday Schools.

Churches without such buses, at least in the smaller cities and towns are in the first stages of decay.

So send for the "SMF Marriage Questionnaire," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for it gives unmarried folks a wide range from which to select their possible congenial mates.

That's why the SMF divorce rate is far below one per cent, even after 17 years!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1972.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♠	4 ♣
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

In a highly competitive auction, South was permitted to buy the hand at four spades, altho the opposition had a cheap two trick save available in clubs with favorable vulnerability conditions. Inasmuch as West has no defense and his partner has confirmed a good fit by giving a jump raise, it appears that he should persist to five clubs.

Once West passed, it was reasonable for East to defend since he holds three tricks in his own hand.

West opened the king of clubs, and when the dummy was spread, East paused for a brief reflection before playing to the trick. On the basis of South's aggressive bidding, it appeared likely that the latter held the bulk of the missing high card strength in spades and diamonds. It was also safe to assume he was short in clubs and might have only a singleton. If this were the case, then the only other source of tricks for the defense was hearts.

It did not appear likely that West would shift to hearts on his own initiative even if East were to give him a discouraging signal on the first trick, for the dummy's side suit looked somewhat imposing. East decided to extend a helping hand to his partner, therefore, by overtaking the king of clubs with the ace.

At trick two, East shifted to the king of hearts to observe West's reaction. When the latter started a high-low by dropping the nine of hearts, East continued with the ace and then a third round of the suit. Declarer ruffed with the ten of spades; however, West overruffed with the jack to set the contract.

Had South guessed to trump with the ace of spades, North's king and queen would have been dropped the doubleton jack permitting declarer's ten to draw the last trump. However, South made the natural play on the hand and is not open to charge.

The major credit on the deal goes to East for taking full charge of the defense at a time when his partner hardly could be expected to come up with the right answer if left to his own devices.

Advise Care In ConsumingTuna

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pregnant persons are advised by a University of Wisconsin Medical School toxicologist not to consume excessive amounts of tuna because of its mercury content.

Mercury accumulates in the body and may reach concentrations potentially harmful to an unborn infant, says Dr. Louis W. Chang, head of a team of scientists studying heavy metals toxicology research at the Madison, Wis., school. Judging from research with cats, a fetus might be in danger of mercury poisoning if the mother consumed 30 to 40 pounds of tuna during pregnancy.

The amount of tuna definitely needed to cause problems in grown humans, according to Chang's research on cats, amounts to about 400 pounds per year. More than a pound a day.

Tells Business To Look Abroad

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Small to medium businesses should look to the export market to develop new products and gain new customers, says a manufacturing firm official.

"Any manufacturer—and I don't care how small his operation is—who thinks he can't compete in the export market will soon find his domestic market invaded by imports," says Warren Gast, vice president of Gast Manufacturing Corp., Benton Harbor.

Physician Can Protect Health

NEW YORK (UPI) — Can you kill or hurt yourself by taking up a vegetarian diet? Or by becoming a vegan—a person who eats neither meat, fowl, eggs, milk products nor fish. Or —by becoming lacto-vegetarians, those who drink milk and eat butter and cheese?

The "Medical Letter" addressed itself to the question and came to the conclusion that if patients adopt vegetarian diets, physicians can help them to protect their health by prescribing vitamin B12 and encouraging them to drink milk or eat cheese.
