Grain Reserves 'Low'

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The world's reserves of grain are reported so low that some areas may face starvation if the coming harvest is poor.

Stocks of wheat and other food grains no longer provide an adequate buffer against crop failure, the Food and Agriculture Organization told the Economic Committee of the U.N. Economic and Social Council on Wednesday.

As a result, FAO is drafting a "minimum world food security" program in which major consuming countries would share with grain-growing countries the responsibility for emergency stockpiling. Director-General Addeke H. Boerma is to unveil the program at the agency's annual meeting in Rome next month.

Ambassador I.A. Akbun of Pakistan said such a program would make maintenance of grain stocks a global responsibility instead of something left to the producing countries and market conditions.

In past years, needy countries have been able to count on huge surpluses in producing countries, mainly the United States and Canada, but FAO Asst. Director-General E.M. Ojala said these surpluses have now disappeared.

"The governments concerned have developed new techniques for adjusting production to demand," he told the economic committee.

He said that even if surpluses reappear, "they will be temporary and undependable as the world's central food reserve in moments of crisis."

Ojala said world wheat reserves are the lowest in 20 years, down to 28 million tons and only 23 per cent of estimated 1973-74 needs.

Schlessinger Said Nixon Choice For Sec. Of Defense

To Head Pentagon?

AFTER TESTIFYING—Central Intelligency Agency Director James L. Schlesinger chats with newsmen after giving testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee. He told senators that former White House domestic adviser John D. Ehrlishman smoothed the way for another White House aid to obtain technical aide in performing a burglary in Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIA Director James R. Schlesinger has emerged as President Nixon's choice for Secretary of Defense, sources reported today.

The sources said announcement of Nixon's plan to nominate Schlesinger to the top Pentagon post would come later today—along with the disclosure of a short-term White House assignment for former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

The twin moves come as Nixon seeks to reshape a White House staff and second term administration shaken by the Watergate scandal.

Multimillionaire David Packard earlier turned down the job as secretary of defense. Schlesinger is ticketed for the spot left vacant when Nixon nominated Elliot Richardson, who had held the Pentagon post only three months, to become attorney general, succeeding Richard Kleindienst who resigned 10 days ago.

Schlesinger has been head of the nation's spy agency for less than four months. Before that, he was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and had served as an assistant director of Nixon's Office of Management and Budget. It was in that budget post that he came to Nixon's attention with a report recommending sweeping changes in the government's intelligence gathering operations.

Schlesinger's name was in the news Wednesday when he criticized his own agency for being "ill advised" and "not sufficiently cautious" in granting a White House request for materials and research used against Daniel R. Ellsberg, defendant in the Pentagon Papers case.

The CIA's involvement in the Ellsberg-linked activities came before Schlesinger succeed Richard Helms as agency director.

Dean Claims Concerted Effort To Discredit Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III said today there is "an ongoing effort to limit or prevent" his testifying fully and freely in the Watergate case and to discredit him personally.

"I have learned from several good friends that there is a concerted effort to 'get me,'" Dean said in a statement issued through an intermediary.

A report published in the New York Times today quoted unnamed Senate and federal investigators as saying the ousted White House counsel has no evidence to link President Nixon to the Watergate affair or its cover-up.

Dean said he was issuing his statement because of the news stories.

"The information contained in these stories is neither complete nor accurate. I have not, and will not, leak my testimony to the media," the statement said.

Dean said "blatant efforts have been made to publicly intimidate me.

"Efforts have been made to prevent me from obtaining relevant information and records; attempts have been made to influence the handling of my testimony by the prosecutors; restrictions have been placed on the scope of my testimony as it relates to the White House."

Last Friday, Dean sent the keys to a bank safe deposit to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, saying he had placed classified documents in the box, fearing they would be destroyed.

The White House asked the court Wednesday to return the papers, while retaining copies.

"I seek to get no one, rather I seek to get only the truth," Dean said. "This infamous matter has already lingered too long and done too much damage to the processes of government. It will only end when the truth is told."

Lower Crests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Mississippi River north of St. Louis, Mo., has begun to recede after reaching crests far below the records established late last month.

The lower crests were attributed by a National Weather Service spokesman to less runoff from flooded land than had been expected.

The weather service predicted that the Mississippi would crest — for the fourth time this year — at St. Louis at 38.5 feet on Saturday. Earlier it said the crest would hit 39 feet. Flood stage at St. Louis is 30 feet.

Farther south, Army engineers said dry weather has caused them to lower their backwater flood predictions in the Vicksburg, Miss., area.

Some 12 million acres of land remain under water from south of the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. As many as 39,000 persons are still unable to return to their homes. Damage has been estimated at $410 million.

Army engineer officials said the absence of heavy rain this week in the Yazoo basin in Mississippi will keep the backwaters from rising, but flood water will probably remain in the area for at least six weeks after the Mississippi's crest passes Vicksburg this weekend.

In Louisiana, shy wild deer were reported starving at some points along 230 miles of the state's levees. Sheriff Bill Poe of Tensas Parish asked for state aid for feeding about 2,500 deer driven out of their usual bottomland haunts by the floods.

Acting Friday

RALEIGH (AP) — A one-year state budget totaling more than $2.9 billion was recommended today to the General Assembly's full joint appropriations committee which voted to postpone final action on it until Friday.

The one-day delay came on a motion by veteran Sen. Julian Allsbrook, D-Halifax. He said, "It will give us a chance to get our breath."

The committee voted to restore $5 million of the $5,250,000 proposed for land purchases for the Cape Lookout National Seashore Park.

Rep. Ronald Earl Mason, D-Carteret, told the committee that "in all probability the money will not be expended"

Paroles Chairman Is Named

RALEIGH (AP)—J. Mac Boxley, a Raleigh attorney, was named chairman of the three-member State Board of Paroles today by Gov. Jim Holshouser.

Boxley, 31, whose appointment is effective June 1, will fill the unexpired term of former chairman Robert Weinstein who resigned recently. The term expires July 1, 1974.

"As I have stated on numerous occasions, I have been greatly concerned with restoring public confidence in the State Board of Paroles," Holshouser said in a statement.

"The first step in achieving this objective is the appointment of a chairman who will bring to the job a special level of performance. We have looked long and hard for the right man, and I am confident that we have found him in Mac Boxley," the governor continued.

Boxley graduated from the University of North Carolina Law School in 1967, and is chairman-elect of the North Carolina Bar Association's Young Lawyers Section. He has served for three years as a member of the N.C. Penal Study Committee, formed by the state bar association.

Boxley changed his party registration from Democrat to Republican several years ago.

Mitchell, Stans Said In Line To Be Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says it has learned that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans are to be indicted today in connection with a federal investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

Mitchell was the director of the Committee to Re-Elect the President until last July. Stans was President Nixon's chief fund raiser.

The federal indictment is understood to charge that Mitchell and Stans accepted a $200,000 secret cash contribution from Vesco in return for an effort to influence an investigation of him by the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Times said.

The Times said, Vesco, who is out of the country, would be indicted as well.

A federal grand jury empaneled two months ago questioned both Mitchell and Stans in an investigation of whether the unreported cash gift from Vesco was related to the SEC investigation.

The SEC probe resulted in the filing of a civil suit charging that Vesco, 20 other persons and 20 corporations diverted $224 million in cash and securities from mutual funds they controlled.

Vesco, 37, has a home in Boonton, N.J. but is believed to be residing in the Bahamas or Costa Rica. A warrant for his arrest has been issued.

Lebanese And Guerrilla Fighting Grows Hotter

By FRANK N. HAWKINS JR.
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese troops battled Palestinian guerrillas from Syria into the early hours today along a 55-mile front in the eastern Bekaa Valley near the border, a senior army officer said.

He said the fighting stretched from the army's main garrison town of Marjayoun in the south to the vicinity of Baalbeck, in the northeast.

In many areas, including the towns of Hasbaya and Rachaya, villagers took to the hills armed with World War II rifles to support army jets and artillery attempting to repulse "a massive influx" of guerrilla reinforcements from across the Syrian border, the officer said.

At one point the infiltrators set up rocket and mortar positions on hills overlooking Rayack air base near the border. Air force jets flew 20 sorties against the invaders late Wednesday afternoon, then returned at midnight and bombed the positions from which the guerrillas were shelling the airfield.

The army said 13 of its men were killed, 65 wounded and six were missing in the fighting in the valley Wednesday.

Beirut was generally calm and both the army and the guerrillas pulled back from forward positions in the vicinity of the refugee camps around the city.

Guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat appealed indirectly to the Syrian government to halt the infiltration of guerrillas across the border, saying: "In spite of our human and material losses we have bandaged our wounds and accepted a cease-fire in order to re-establish mutual confidence with sister Lebanon."

Yasir Arafat, the titular leader of all the Palestinian forces, made an indirect appeal from his headquarters in Beirut to the Syrian government to pull the invaders back.

The cease-fire ordered after fighting between the army and the guerrillas on the outskirts of Beirut Monday night and Tuesday appeared to be holding in the capital.

Beirut's international airport was still closed. Airline sources said 22 planes had been diverted to Cyprus in the past 24 hours and unloaded 800 passengers there.

Skylab Crew Rehearsing

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Skylab 1 astronauts rehearse their launching into earth orbit today as the countdown continued for the rocket firings which will send the men and hardware for this nation's first space station aloft next week.

Wearing space suits, Charles Conrad Jr., Paul J. Weitz and Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin scheduled most of the day in a simulator at the Johnson Space Center in Houston.

They want to sharpen their skills for the real thing next Tuesday when a Saturn 1B rocket is to hoist them into orbit to begin pursuit of the Skylab workshop which is to be their orbiting home for four weeks.

The Skylab, large as a three-bedroom house, is to be launched by a Saturn 5 rocket at 1:30 p.m. EDT Monday into an orbit 270 miles high. The astronauts will follow at 1 p.m. the next day.

Conrad, Weitz and Kerwin are to execute a series of intricate maneuvers over a 7½ hour period as they track down and link up with the big laboratory. Once aboard they will conduct numerous medical, scientific and earth resources experiments in an effort to learn whether man can live and perform useful tasks in space over long periods.

The Skylab 2 and 3 crews will rocket up to the same skylab in August and November, each for eight week stays.

On the Saturn 5 launch pad today, crews purged fuel tanks on the rocket and fed electrical power to the Skylab vehicle to test its electrical systems and miles of wiring.

Lightning struck a mast atop the Saturn 5 launch service tower during a thunderstorm Wednesday. It did no apparent harm, but crews retested all flight hardware to make certain. The count down was not affected.

Meanwhile, 131 tracking station technicians who had been on strike for 13 days reached agreement on Wednesday ending their contract dispute with the Bendix Field Engineering Division.

Teacher Training Programs Said To Failing Standards

RALEIGH (AP) — Teacher training programs at six North Carolina colleges and universities have partially failed to meet minimum standards in a survey by an accreditation group.

The six schools were East Carolina University, Pembroke State University, Shaw University, Livingstone College, Salem College and Queens College.

The ratings were done by the State Evaluation Committee on Teacher Education for the State Board of Education.

The six schools were all given provisional approval for their programs by the Board last week.

East Carolina was rated inadequate in its program for training teacher supervisors; all other programs were approved.

Shaw was rated inadequate in overall policies and in faculty in education and art.

Pembroke State received a failing grade in French and Spanish; Livingstone in Salisbury, flunked French.

Queens in Charlotte and Salem in Winston-Salem won only provisional approval for new programs to train associate media coordinators.

When the report was presented, Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, a board member, said it demonstrated that the schools rated deficient, especially the black schools, have not had the proper financial support.

House Demo Leaders Try Curb Holshouser Appointive Powers

RALEIGH (AP) — A Republican leader has described as "horrible" legislation sponsored by House Democratic leadership which would strip Gov. Jim Holshouser of some of his appointive power.

"It's a horrible bill, one of the worst I've seen to strip to the governor of his appointed powers," said Sen. Charles Taylor, D-Transylvania.

Taylor said this in commenting on the bill which Rep. William Watkins, D-Granville, House majority leader, introduced at the close of the Wednesday House session. The Calendar Committee unanimously approved the bill less than 10 minutes later.

The bill would provide that when a vacancy occurred for state or local elective office, a successor would have to be from the same political party.

"This simply assures that when a vacancy occurs in an elective office, the person appointed to fill the post shall be from the same party as was the elected officer who caused the vacancy," Watkins told a newsman.

If it becomes law, the measure could take from Holshouser the authority to name Republicans into any state elected offices vacated by Democrats.

Watkins pointed to two cases in which two Democrats had stepped down from elective posts and were replaced by Republicans. Jim Baley, an Asheville attorney, was appointed by the governor to succeed Dub Graham on the state Court of Appeals and Holshouser also appointed Raleigh attorney Donnie Smith, to replace William Y. Bickett of Raleigh as a Superior Court judge.

Watkins described his bill as bi-partisan. He pointed out that if an elective officer were acated by a Republican, the successor would be a Republican.

All members of the council of state are Democrats. Under the bill, if a vacancy should occur, the state Democratic chairman would submit to the governor the names of two nominess recommended by the state Democratic Executive Committee. The appointment would have to be made from the list.

The council of state includes the state treasurer, secretary of state, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction, insurance commissioner, auditor, agriculture commission and labor commissioner.

The bill is similar to a law which has been in effect for years in filling vacancies in the General Assembly. It provides that the appropriate party executive committee of the departing member would name the successor.

Taylor said the bill "is designed to lock in and multiply the evils that have been accumulated over a number of years."

Don't Take Vote To Evade Responsibility

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been a very sick woman for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year, or die tomorrow. Half the time she doesn't even know me.

My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. My question: Should we go? I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home.

I've asked our minister and he said we should go—but not too far. I've asked my mother in law, and she said we shouldn't go at all. My best friend, who's a registered nurse, said we should go and take our chances. The doctor refuses to give me a yes or no. My husband says it's up to me.

What do you say, Abby? HAVE A PROBLEM

DEAR HAVE: You have another problem: You want someone else to make the decision and accept the responsibility for it. So far you've polled the doctor, your minister, your mother in law, your best friend, your husband—and now me. Make your own decision, and accept full responsibility for it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going around with this man for 6½ years. At one time we talked of marriage, but he asked that we postpone it because his mother was going thru a divorce and he was quite upset about it.

Now, he tells me he thinks he is also in love with someone he met at work. He says he has never gone out with her, but they've had coffee a few times.

I love this man and want to marry him, but I can't think clearly now. How do you figure this? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I figure that 6½ years is long enough for him to make up his mind about marrying you. And if he could fall in love with a girl he's only had coffee with a few times, I'd like to know what kind of coffee it was. Tell him to get lost before he tells you to, which is probably what he has in mind.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old college student. I'm also an alcoholic.

I just want to let kids know that they don't have to be over 30 and on skid row to qualify as an alcoholic. Alcoholism is a disease that makes no distinctions in a person's age.

If teen-agers or young adults think they have a drinking problem and want to help themselves, please tell them to contact Alcoholics Anonymous. It is a wonderful organization of marvelous, understanding people who try to help each other.

Since I became a member two years ago it has helped me tremendously. Not only am I sober, I have been able to help others. It has been a lifesaving experience for me. Thank you for letting me share this. YOUNG ALCOHOLIC

DEAR YOUNG: And thanks for wanting to.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Remember your mother next Sunday with a bouquet of flowers. [And if you're adopted, send her TWO bouquets.] ABBY

Many Efforts, Few Results

POITIERS, France (WNS) — Sylvie Fouchereau, 26, fell out of love with her 27-year-old husband Bernard and decided that he must die so that she could marry her young lover, Regis Lunet. She prepared her husband a mushroom omelett with poisonous toadstools, but Bernard was not hungry for supper when he returned from work. Then she poured rat poison into his wine, but Bernard spat it out because of the bad taste. Finally, Sylvie and her lover tried to stab him to death as he slept, but the knife's blade broke on his skull. Bernard called the police rather than wait for the fourth attempt.

She Climbs From Grease Monkey To Car Saleslady

By GARY LUHR
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kelly Carter, as the saying goes, doesn't look like somebody you'd buy a car from, but a lot of people have.

Less than a year after entering the once all-male profession, the attractive, articulate 22-year-old blonde is one of the top salespersons at a local car dealer.

"I went to buy a car one day and every time the salesman told me something about it I told him twice as much," she said, recalling how she started in the business.

"He said, 'You ought to be selling' and I told him I didn't think there was a dealer in town who was brave enough to hire me.

"The sales manager called the next day and offered me a job."

Kelly already knew automobiles inside out from the years she had spent working in her brother's body shop in Pikeville, Ky.

"It always disturbed my mother to think of her daughter as a grease monkey," she laughed.

Kelly, whose real name is Carolyn, said at first she had a harder time selling herself to the people she worked with than to the customers.

"They didn't think I was going to work out," she recalled. "I think they felt it was a little like an invasion."

The first place she worked gave her the name "Kelly," she suspects so customers who saw her name in advertising brochures wouldn't be put off by the idea of a saleswoman.

"Some people still come in and think I'm a secretary," she said. "One man didn't think I could answer his questions about cars. I bet him $5 I could answer any question and I won."

At first, she said, when a husband and wife came in "I talked just to the husband, but that didn't work."

"Now, I make much more of an effort to get to know the wife first. I feel an obligation to let her know I'm here strictly as a saleswoman," she said. "Besides, a lot of times it's the woman who makes the decision on buying a car."

Occasionally, she said, a customer — especially a man - will get nervous when she wants to take him out for a test drive.

"Most men have a bad opinion of women drivers," she said.

Car dealers on the West Coast started hiring women for selling jobs two or three years ago but it's taken longer for the trend to move East, Kelly said.

She admitted that every women isn't right for the job.

"She can't be shy," Kelly said, "and she can't be overly feminine."

Anybody Out There Listening?

Is anybody out there listening?

Our Secretary of the Interior is telling Americans they'd better start conserving their gasoline. . .not tomorrow, but today. Nor "or-else" was involved, but you know and we know the man is telling that supplies are short and going to get shorter.

Looking still further ahead, North Carolina schools have been advised to reduce their heating fuel consumption next winter. No need to explain why, everybody should know.

Right now we're expecting things to get worse. . .a lot worse. . .before they get better; and even the "better" won't reach the affluence our fuel field knew last year.

It seems pretty clear by now that immediate needs are going to be met by increased purchases of oil from abroad (spelled A-R-A-B-S), and a greater dependence on imported fuel seems assured as far as anybody can look ahead. That is so bad from so many aspects that space doesn't permit exploring this Pandora's Box; but any imaginative soul has a right to shudder.

Logic requires the United States to get its house in order and act now to fill its fuel nees from its own resources.

Domestic oil people say they are discouraged from exploration and exploitation of fuel deposits by existing laws.

Problems involving the opening up of the Alaskan oil fields finally reached the Supreme Court; and some weeks ago, the Justices said in effect that the matter of changing laws of writing new ones was up to the Congrees.

So now we know where to look and whom to look to.

Discouraging, isn't it?

You'll Hear A Lot On Liquor

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH—If Nov. 6 comes and you're not ready to pull your hair out from hearing the good and bad of liquor-by-the drink, you'll be a very unusual person.

Believe it brother, the campaign is underway and between now and November, you'll see the messages on billboards, in newspapers, on TV, and over the radio.

Says Marse Grant, editor of the Biblical Recorder: "We can't wait to get started. North Carolinians have had only two chances to vote on this kind of question. The first time was in 1908 women they flat wore it out, and the second time was in 1933 when they beat it badly again. We are ready.

Mr. Grant, of course, is a dry.

The wets are also getting their ammunition together. Chambers of commerce, innkeepers, restaurant and tourist officials, and the liquor industry will form an alliance in hopes of getting a yes vote from Tar Heel voters on Now. 6—the day the liquor question goes to the voters.

Both sides have met several times recently to discuss strategy. The wets are going to concentrate on getting out the vote in the big cities, like Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Wilmington, Asheville, and Burlington. They know that must carry cities like this by margins of at least three to one—and with a large turnout—if they hope to succeed.

They will have one factor on their side in turning out heavy numbers in the cities. Nov. 6 is also the date of municipal elections, and voters will probably go to the polls in heavy numbers to elect mayors and members of city councils.

In talking with people, a reporter gets the idea that urban arjas will vote yes, while rural areas are going to vote mostly no. Where will most of the vote come from? That's the key that will decide the election, and cause hundreds of thousands of dollars to be spent on both sides during the campaign.

"We know," says Grant, "that the liquor industry will put thousands and thousands of outside dollars in to this campaign. But I think people will react to that. They're tired of seeing elections bought, whether it's by candidates or by people trying to push a question past the voters."

Grant says the seamy political activities that have transpired in Washington recently have made people aware of government and will help the drys in November.

"We say liquor doesn't make good government," Grant says.

At least four men will be front-runners in helping the drys campaign. Grant is one. Another is Coy Privette, president of the state's Christian Action League. Charlotte attorney Allen Bailey, who has been involved in several statewide political campaigns, and a staunch dry, has been recruited to carry a heavy load for the drys. And the fourth name is Roy Benfield, who led the drys in a vote on the question two years ago in Moore County.

Grant says that news magazines have reported recently that more young people are turning to alcohol.

"Some seem to be getting a six-pack and some liquor and getting their kicks that way," Grant says. "We're going to run basically an educational campaign, and prove beyond a doubt that liquor-by-the-drink will increase the consumption of alcohol."

Grant says North Carolina is now 42nd in the nation in the per capita consumption of alcohol. He says five of the states ranked below North Carolina do not have liquor-by-the-drink.

He says he feels at "least three-fourths of the 10,000 churches in North Carolina will work against this liquor question. I don't believe they can wait to get to the polls. We hope to defeat this matter and put it aside for many, many years to come."

The liquor campaign, discussed and cussed for the past six years, is officially underway.

We Can Be Patriotic And Healthful, Too

Among the gas saving steps recommended to the American public by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton are walking and bike riding.

In both cases, of course, the big autos which spew out exhaust fumes will not be in operation and we will be getting the exercise we need to keep our bodies fit.

This is one occasion when we can be patriotic and at the same do something that will improve our personal health.

Connally's New Political Role

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For John B. Connally, there is a job of political salesmanship ahead if he is to establish firmly his new Republican credentials in time for what looks like a crowded 1976 presidential contest.

As he switched parties, Connally said he sought no office, appointive or elective. That is the kind of thing politicians say three years in advance of a presidential campaign.

It is also the kind of thing other politicans discount.

Formally joining the GOP in its hour of Watergate trouble, Connally has been warmly greeted by the party establishment. But some of the same Republican leaders who welcomed him aboard are likely to be his rivals in the years immediately ahead.

When that time comes, men like Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Sen. Charles H. Percy may well be pointing out that Connally after all is a fledgling Republican with a long Democratic past.

Agnew, Percy, and Govs. Nelson A. Rockfeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California all are potential entries in 1976 Republican presidential competition. There may be more.

So Connally clearly is not going to move to the top of his new party without a fight.

Having forsaken his Democratic ties, the former Texas governor now needs to get his lines open and his alliances made in the Republican party.

Some already have been forged, during his days as Nixon's secretary of the treasury and 1972 campaign ally.

He has the advantage of his role as head man of Democrats for Nixon, an assignment that demonstrated his political preference, and leaves him out of what has become the Watergate scandal.

One obvious step for Connally now is to start on the Republican speechmaking, fund-raising circuit. Beyond that are the 1974 congressional and state election campaigns. By that time, if he is to make a move in 1976, Connally will have to be a Republican on active duty, working for GOP candidates for Senate, House and governor.

A more immediate, and more difficult question is the Watergate affair: how does he handle that one? So far, he has denounced the incident as stupid, while saying that it was not the work of the Republican party itself.

Associates had said Connally's long anticipated political switch was delayed because of the Watergate controversy. He denies that, saying the scandal had nothing to do with his timing.

Monday, he turned up in Key Biscayne, Fla., to confer with President Nixon at the President's request. He left without taking a new assignment in the administration, but that may yet happen, at least on a part-time or temporary basis.

There had been reports he might be offered appointment as secretary of defense, but the word was that he wasn't interested.

There have been suggestions that he might have had that job in the first Nixon term had he not decided in the waning days of the 1968 campaign to stick

Tax-Paid Liberal Lobby

It drew very little attention when it came into being last October, but Senator Edward Kennedy's new Office of Technology Assessment now is triggering alarm bells on Capitol Hill. Conservatives in both parties are wondering if they have created, in a fit of absentmindedness, a tax-paid lobby for liberal causes.

Thus far the OTA exists mainly on paper. It seems to be geneally understood that $5 million will be sought for its operations in the 1973-74 fiscal year. But no funds have yet been authorized or appropriated. Hearings on the request have not been scheduled, but can be expected later this month.

The embarrassing truth, sad to say, is that we watchdogs of the press must have been baying on other trails when the "Technology Assessment Act of 1972" became law on October 13. The presidential campaign was then at full speed. Negotiations with North Vietnamese were much in the news. The House and Senate were crunching toward adjuournment, gobbling down bills as fast as the yeas and nays could be ordered. Most of us missed this act altogether.

On paper, the idea of an Office of Technology Assessment has a plausible appeal. Only a handful of congressmen have professional training in science. Most members sit in numb silence when the bureaucracy sends witnesses to testify on space exploration, weapons systems, medical reaserach and the like. The staffs of standing committtees have developed some expertise in these arcane fields, but they generally are overworked and ill-equipped for full-blown reserach.

In an effort to close the ignorance gap, Senator Kennedy—and other—thought up the OTA. The office would provide the Congress with "Competent, unbiased information concerning the physical, biological, economic, social, and political effects" of technological proposals. The Office would not wait upon the introduction of bills. It would seek to anticipate technological areas of probable legislative activity, in order to keep Congress informed on the impact, for example, of new pesticides or super-tankers.

So far, so good. But is apparent, on a close reading of the act, that the OTA has virtually unlimited jurisdiction. It can initiate studies on any matter under moon or sun. It can explore fields of legislative concern that in the past have been the property of 39 committees and subcommittees and four joint committees. All that is required is that OTA's board direct that a study be made.

The board is to consist of six senators and six representatives. In odd-numbered Congresses, the chairman will come from the Senate, in even-numbered Congresses the House. Senator Kennedy has been named as the board's first chairman.

The Senate contingent includes, in additon to Kennedy, three other certified liberals (Case of New Jersey, Humphrey of Minnesota, and Schweiker of Pennsylvania), one moderate

Other Editors Say Six Years After

(Christian Science Monitor)

"You've never had it so good, why change things?" seems to be the slogan of Greece's rulers. The sixth anniversary of their seizure of power has come and gone with the colonels still firmly in the saddle and with still no sign that they have any intention in the early future of fulfilling their promises to restore parliamentary democracy.

The regime's claims to success in the economic field are well founded. The Greek economy is going ahead at a more than comfortable annual growth rate of 8.5 percent. Tourism and shipping are booming. Materially it is true that most Greeks have "never had it so good."

Yet politically the peole are being duped by the colonels, and that is why so many Greeks and so many of her friends abroad grieve for Greece today.

The promises to restore parliamentary democracy were made when a new constitution was introduced by the colonels and approved by referendum in September, 1968. But the essential articles of the constitution dealing with individual and political rights have never been enforce. Police state repressions continue. Students demonstrating for more academic freedom are beaten up. Interantionally respected men, like economist John Pesmazoglu, former deputy governor of the Bank of Greece, whose only fault is their commitment to the cause of democracy, are arrested, freed, and rearrested.

At the time of the sixth anniversary of the 1967 coup last month, former Premier Constantin Karamanlis, now living in exile in Paris, broke a three-and-a-half-year silence to urge the colonels to turn the country over to a transitional civilian government which would prepare for free elections, and to allow exiled King Constantine to return home. The colonels will claim that Mr. Karamanlis is out of touch with reality. Yet the former Premier's voice is a powerful one. He could himself head the kind of transitional government he is proposing. His veiws are widely echoed within Greece.

One wonders just how long the colonels can continue to ignore such appeals and coast on in their present state of self-righteous satisfaction, trusting in the soporific effects of "you've never had it so good."

Onions Bring Tears

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — I have always cried when I peel onions.

These days I cry when I buy them.

That once lowly vegetable, scribbled nonchalantly on the grocery list and thrown carelessly into the shopping cart, is now a major purchase, to be budgeted for along with next winter's coat.

With its sudden rise in price the onion has also undergone a rise in status.

Talk around the afternoon bridge table is no longer confined to a discussion of the latest couturier creation picked up at that expensive boutique. A casually dropped mention that it's time to go home and fix onion soup for supper is what really wins instant respect.

So what if the customer ahead of you in the supermarket checkout line ostentatiously places a pound package of ground chuck on the counter with an extravagant shrug? You can practice one-upmanship by arranging the groceries so that the three-pound bag of onions proclaims who is really in the affluent class.

On second thought, maybe you should forget the pretentious display of solvency and strike up a friendship with a view to matrimony — the joining of both your purchase in a heavenly union of hamburger with onion.

After spending a lifetime munching on breath mints and talking with my mouth closed to make certain nobody knows I've been eating onions, I suddenly find it's an ego trip to make sure everyone within nose-shot is aware that I have the sweet smell of financial success.

Where in the past a pound of the little bulbs would last so long that they started sprouting tiny green shoots and rotting forlornly away from lack of attention, now every recipe I tackle contains onions as one of its main ingredients.

Whatever the variety of onion — yellow, white, red, purple —

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL
May 10, 1933

A spring tornado rushed the Kentucky Tennessee border last night with fifty-seven persons known dead. Houses and barns were swept away with hardly a trace left behind as the storm cut a wide path of destruction.

Confederate Memorial Day was observed in Greenville today with exercises held at East Carolina Teachers College. A pilgrimage to decorate the graves of Confederate veterans in Cherry Hill Cemetery followed the ceremony. The saddest note of today's entire celebration was the absence of any veterans in whose honor the exercises were held. The only surviving local Confederate veteran died a few weeks ago.

Strength For Today

NOT ACCORDING TO OUR WORTH

Christianity can be differentiated from other religions in that it represents God's search for man, whereas other religions represent man's search for God. Our salvation is not something which we can gain by our own striving alone; it is a divine gift freely given. Even the disposition to repent is a factor in life which only the grace of God make available.

Christianity is the divine proclamation that God is always seeking after man. In Buddhism, Mohammedanism, and other world religions, men are constatly reaching up and are imploring what they believe to be an indifferent God to help them. Christian faith, on the other hand, assures us that God's love for us is not conditioned on our worth. God loves us because we have needs, and the more we need, the more does He love us. No one really deserves God's blessing. We should always remeber that it was while we were yet sinners that Christ died for us, not after we had attained any higher standard of grace.

Small Business Is 'Concerned'

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Attempting to improve an environment they feel should be more friendly, many businessmen next week observe Small Business Week, appropriately enough in Washington, close, they feel, to both problem and solution.

There are, by all reliable estimates, between five million and eight million small businesses in America today, employing 44 per cent of all employes and producing 37 per cent of the Gross National Product.

From their point of view, these small, independently owned businesses form the backbone of many American towns and small cities, providing jobs, taxes, and leadership. They feel also that they are the spiritual guardians of innovation and invention.

You might also say that they keep their bigger cousins supplied. General Motors, largest manufacturer of all, depends upon 26,000 suppliers, 64 per cent of which employ less than 100 people, and 89 per cent less than 500.

But small business, so obvious to the eye wherever you go, is afraid of being perpetually eclipsed, shadowed by big business, which grows bigger and perhaps less representative of "business" each year.

What's good for big business isn't always so for smaller companies. In fact, says Lewis A. Shattuck, an especially clear articulator of its views, "there is some doubt that some businessmen ever would have gone into business if the same environment today existed 10 to 20 years ago."

Shattuck is executive vice president of the Smaller Business Association of New England, for 30 years one of the most active small-business groups, and formulator of a presentation to be presented to congressmen May 16.

Joining in the presentation this year are the Independent Business Association of Wisconsin, and the Smaller Manufacturers Council, Pittsburgh, and other groups from Ohio and New York. More are expected to join next year.

One of the four major proposals to be presented concerns paper, the usage of which once was supposed to suggest the advanced stage of society but which now threatens to clog government, the stock market, small business and other institutions.

"We ask for recognition of the fact that the paperwork requirement thrown on small business by the federal government is in some cases the extra margin that threatens to drive a small business under," SBANE states.

"The average small-business man spends some 200 hours a year completing forms, calculating and paying his taxes, and responding to various government questionaires," the presentation continues. The

Uncertain Future For Postcard Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to an uncertain fate in the House a bill that would allow Americans to register for federal elections by mailing a postcard.

The White House opposes the measure, which won 57-37 Senate passage Wednesday only after a month-long filibuster by Southerners and conservatives was broken.

Twice earlier the Senate had failed to cut off debate and bring the bill to a vote. Opponents, led by Sens. James Allen, D-Ala., and Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, contended registration by mail would promote election fraud.

The vote on halting the filibuster was 67 to 32, with all senators voting except John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who is recovering from gunshot wounds.

The bill, which was killed in the Senate last year, would create a voter-registration administration. The Census Bureau would identify potential voters and the Postal Service would deliver registration cards. The voter would register simply by returning the card. The maximum penalty for false registration would be a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., sponsor of the bill, estimated the project would cost $19 million a year. Opponents put the price tag at $120 million.

moral: Cut the paperwork.

Cut taxes too, say the small business men.

"If a hypothetical small business earned excatly $100,000, its present taxes would amount to $41,500," the businessmen state, arguing that such a bite causes financing problems for businesses seeking to expand.

"If the surtax exemption were to be raised to $100,000," they continue, "that same small business would then pay income taxes of only $22,000, giving it a 33.5 per cent increase in after-tax income."

The businessmen support adoption of a proposal by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., which would retain the present 22 per cent normal rate on pretax income up to $100,000, rather than raising it after the first $25,000.

The two other major issues on the minds of the businessmen as they prepare their visit to Washington are procurement and representation.

PROCUREMENT — Small business feels its position is eroding, and wants assurance that it will have a fair opportunity to bid on the $55 billion annual federal procurement budget.

REPRESENTATION — There is a strong feeling that small-business men must be more strongly represented in government's decision-making mechanisms, and that its talents should be more effectively utilized on task forces, advisory boards and the like.

(Hollings of South Carolina) and one conservative (Dominick of Colorado). The House contingent is somewhat better balanced, but the bias of the policy-making board, charged with preparing these unbiased reports, is as plain as the tilt of the Tower of Pisa.

As newsmen have begun belatedly to ask questions, some familiar names have cropped. Kennedy's choice for a full-time $40,000 director reportedly is Emilio Daddario, former Connecticut congressman, a consistent dove on defense legislation. An OTA advisory council, according to Human Events, probably will include such disarmament spokesmen as Herbert York and Jerome Wiesner. The left-leaning Federation of American Scientists, which has been plugging hard for OTA, reasonably may be expected to play a leading role in its operations.

One hopes not be paranoid about these things. A truly unbiased Office of Technology Assessment, operating with the professional neutrality of the Genral Accounting Office, could perform a useful service. But an OTA that functioned chiefly as a liberal lobby, fluttering over every dovish and do-gooder cause that comes along, would be hard to take. We have quite enough of these as it is.

with the Democratic ticket instead of openly boosting Nixon in Texas.

The President is a Connally admirer. He once said the Texan could handle any job in the nation or the world. Nixon is said to have told a White House visitor early this year that Connally is likely to top the GOP ticket next time.

More recently, Nixon has been quoted as saying that Illinois' Sen. Percy will never be nominated if he has anything to say about it, in an angry response to Percy's pressure for a special prosecutor in the Watergate case.

But it now appears that Nixon may not have much to say about it. He would enter 1976 as a politician serving his last year in his last office, with dwindling powers to reward or punish politically.

And whatever the outcome of the Watergate case, it will scar the administration.

Republicans are not likely to take their 1976 directions from an outgoing President whose 1972 campaign was pocked by that scandal.

Switching parties a week ago, Connally was asked what he intends to do next. "John Milton said 'They also serve who only stand and wait,' so hopefully, that's the way I can play it for a while," he replied.

But the people who shape Republican politics don't spend much time reading the poetry of John Milton.

Told Remove A Conflict Of Interests

RALEIGH (AP) — More than a dozen local ABC Boards have been told to eliminate conflicts of interest by the state Board of Alcohol Control.

Dr. L. C Holshouser, the chairman, says six boards are being notified this week of conflicts that must be resolved immediately. Eight others have been granted extensions of time to change their sources of potential conflict.

Holshouser said that the former chairman of the Hot Springs ABC Board has been instructed to appear in Raleigh next week to discuss "possible violations" of state statutes.

He said that in March, the Board learned that the Hot Springs ABC Board was chaired and supervised by Carol E. Anderson. One of Anderson's brothers was an ABC store clerk, and the store itself was in a building rented from a third Anderson brother.

Anderson has since been replaced as Hot Springs chairman.

Among other conflicts designated by the ABC Board are Asheville, where Robert Grice is chairman of the board and manager-director of the system. The ABC Board says he must give up one of those positions.

In Mecklenburg, J. E. Connell is an assistant store manager, and his brother has an ABC permit.

Senate Spells Out Rules On Tax Levies

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate has tentatively approved legislation spelling out the purposes for which cities and counties in North Carolina may levy taxes without a vote of the people.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Herschel Harkins, D-Buncombe, was held for final Senate action Friday. It still must go back to the House for approval of Senate amendments.

Sen. Herman Moore, D-Mecklenburg, offered amendments which deleted several items from the bill. The amendment would require a vote of the people in counties before taxes could be levied for cultural activities, economic development, housing, urban development and miscellaneous items.

Moore's amendment also would require a vote of the people before cities could levy taxes for bus and mass transit, cultural activities, economic development, housing, redevelopment and miscellaneous projects.

The many purposes spelled out in the bill for which county taxes could be levied without restriction to rate or amount would include courts, schools, social services, elections, jails, deficites and debt service.

Meanwhile, the House killed a proposed amendment to the state Constitution which would forbid persons adjudged insane or mentally incompentent from voting.

Opponents said there was no need for the amendment since state law already bans these persons from voting. The bill's sponsor, Rep. Lane Brown, D-Stanly, said there is on constitutional backing for the law.

Meanwhile, Rep. Carl Stewart, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, introduced a bill proposing raises of $3,500 to $6,000 for members of the Council of State.

The bill called for boosting the attorney general from $29,500 to $35,000, the superintendent of public instructions from $28,500 to $33,500, the commissioner of agriculture from $25,000 to $31,000, and the secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor, commissioner of labor and commissioner of insurance from $25,000 to $28,500.

The pay hikes are already provided for in the proposed budget adopted by the Joint Appropriations subcommittee Tuesday.

Svetlana Wins Divorce Suit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The marriage of Svetlana Stalin to William Wesley Peters has ended in a divorce by default.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence Doyle issued the divorce Tuesday after Mrs. Peters, daughter of the late Russian dictator Joseph Stalin, failed to appear in court.

Mrs. Peters, who sought political asylum in the United States in 1967, married her husband in 1970 and left him in late 1971. She said she disliked the communal style of living at Taliesin West, a fashionable architectural school started by Frank Lloyd Wright. Peters was a protege of Wright.

The judge granted Mrs. Peters, who now lives in Princeton, N.J., custody of the Peters' 2-year-old child, Olga Margedant. Peters was given "reasonable visitation privileges." Each was to retain his or her own property.

Nixon Pledges Get To Watergate Bottom

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a personal bid to keep wavering Republicans in line, President Nixon has promised to get to the bottom of the Watergate scandal and continue fighting for his second-term programs.

"I didn't get where I am by ducking tough issues," Nixon told a crowd which paid $1,000 a plate for filet mignon and the President's most spirited defense yet of his embattled administration.

However, planners of the fund-raising affair conceded the proceeds and attendance were far below par and blamed the widening scandal for cooling off donors who chipped in record campaign chests last year.

Nixon warmly praised those who did turn out Wednesday night, and said he and the GOP are still winners.

"This nation, Republicans, Democrats, independents, all Americans, can have confidence in the fact that the new nominee for attorney general, Elliot Richardson, and the special prosecutor he will appoint will have total cooperation from the executive and will get to the bottom of it (the Watergate case) and see to it that all of those who are guilty will be prosecuted and brought to justice," Nixon said.

"We are not going to allow this deplorable incident to deter or detract us from going ahead and achieving the great goals the overwhelming number of Americans elected us to achieve in 1972," he said.

The dinner, which raised money for next year's Republican congressional campaigns, had been expected to bring in $2 million, but the official estimate was that it would "barely scrape by $1 million."

However, committee officials confided privately that the paying attendance might have produced no more than $750,000 to $800,000 gross and as little as $600,000 campaign cash.

This would compare to the $1.3-million minimum raised at past off-year events, and the $6 million raised in one night last fall when Nixon addressed a multicity hookup of dinners by closed-circuit television.

"I shall always remember this group tonight," Nixon said, "remember that when the going got tough, you hung in there, when the challenge was greatest, you didn't lose your faith.

"The finest steel has to go through the hottest fire," the President said. "And let me tell you, this room is full of the finest steel tonight."

The crowd gave Nixon a 90-second standing ovation when he arrived in the ballroom of a Washington hotel, and cheered another 40 seconds when he stood to speak.

"I have had, as you know, political ups and downs during my 27 years in politics," Nixon said. "I have known times when I wondered if I had any friends.

"I don't stand here tonight as a loser," he added. "We stand here tonight as winners and we are going to win again together."

Indictments Legitimate Even If Ungrammatical

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Supreme Court has ruled that indictments don't have to be grammatical to be legitimate.

The court made that decision Wednesday as it handed down judgments in 19 routine cases.

No decision was issued on the appeal of Mrs. Celeste Van Landingham, convicted of murder in the slaying of a Raleigh pediatrician.

The grammar decision was written by Justice Susie Sharp on an appeal by Henry John Glover of Lincoln County of a verdict and sentence against him in Gaston County Superior Court almost a year ago.

Glover maintained that the bill of indictment for breaking and entering to which he pleaded guilty was so poorly written and ungrammatical as to be invalid.

"We concede," Justice Sharp said, "that any pupil who submitted Count One (the indictment) in a composition to any teacher of English grammar would be flunked promptly. Nevertheless, we are constrained to hold that it receives a passing grade in a court of law."

The disputed indicment read: "That Henry John Glover, late of the County of Lincoln on the 17th day of March 1972, with force and arms at and in the county aforesaid, a certain dwelling house occupied by one A. D. Shidal, located at Rt. 2 Vale, North Carolina, where in merchandise, chattels, money, valuable securities and other personal property were being well kept, unlawfully, willfully, and feloniously did break and enter with intent to steal, take and carry off the merchandise, chattels, money, valuable securities and other personal property of the said A. D. Shidal against the form and statute in such case made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the state."

In other words, Glover was charged with breaking and entering at Shidal's home. The court affirmed his sentence of 8-10 years.

Install Unit Of Police Network

FARMVILLE—The Farmville Police Department headquarters has recently installed a unit of the Police Information Network.

This device allows them to send and receive information from the FBI, SBI, the Department of Motor Vehicles, and other law enforcement agencies having the units.

For example, within 20 seconds, a driver's license number sent to the Department of Motor Vehicles, the screen of the machine will show the driver's name and address and his record, if he has any. A printout may also be made, if it is needed.

Chief Tanner says this updated communication system among law enforcement agencies can result in better law enforcement, because offenders may be apprehended quicker and innocent persons may not have to be detained so long. It is now about the only "private" means of communication for law enforcement, also, because so many private citizens have radio set which monitor police calls.

The Farmville headquarters is now completely remodeled, with new paneling and carpeting throughout. Also recently installed is a new burglar alarm system, with direct lines from several local businesses to the Police Department.

Petitioning Transport

Several local ministers have petitioned the City Council to establish a low cost public transportation system in Greenville.

The clergymen pointed out that it is mainly the disadvantaged, elderly and infirm citizens of our community who suffer because of the lack of such a system. It is expected that members of local churches will be asked to join these ministers in making this request to the City Council.

Those signing the petition thus far are D. Russell Myers, Jr., Arlington Street Baptist Church; Troy J. Barrett and Charles M. Smith, Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church; Roy L. Turnage, Holy Trinity United Methodist Church; James Boswell, Christian Church; Christian White and F. Gerald Peterson, St. James United Methodist Church; Ralph W. Tedder, Church of God; H.C. Mulholland, St. Gabriel's Catholic Church; Lawrence P. Houston, Jr., St. Paul's Episcopal Church; C. Norman Bennett, Jr., Memorial Baptist Church; R. Graham Nahouse, Our Redeemer Lutheran Church; Daniel T. Earnhardt, Wesley Foundation of Greenville; and E. Gordon Conklin, Oakmont Baptist Church.

Church Holding Rummage Sale

A rummage sale of spring and summer clothing will be held at St. Gabriel's Church, 1120 W. Fifth Street, Saturday from 9:30 a.m. till noon.

The proceeds of the sale will be used to support the summer recreation program at St. Gabriel's School. The sale will be held outdoors, weather permitting. If it rains, it will be held in the kindergarten building on Fifth Street.

Once Threatened 'Destroy' Policy Foes

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egil "Bud" Krogh Jr., the Nixon administration official who resigned Wednesday amidst the Watergate-Pentagon papers web of scandal, once threatened to destroy anyone who opposed President Nixon's policies.

The threat was made to a prominent doctor who had told Krogh he would not support legislation that would have created a permanent White House office to deal with narcotics traffic and drug abuse.

"Well, don't worry, Doc," Krogh is quoted as replying. "Anyone who opposes us we'll destroy. As a matter of fact, anyone who doesn't support us we'll destroy."

Krogh could not be reached for comment.

The doctor involved was Daniel X. Freedman, chairman of the department of psychiatry at the University of Chicago and a well-known authority on psychoparmacology, the study of the effect of drugs on mental states.

In a telephone interview Wednesday, Freedman confirmed the 1970 incident and said that, while he doubted that the threat endangered him, he was uneasy about it for a long time.

"Maybe that's just the way these people talk," Dr. Freedman said. "I do think the language was excessive. I remember thinking at the time that Krogh was referring to destruction of people in Congress who opposed the President rather than to destruction of me, but I was very uneasy about the thing for several years.

"I didn't want to get hurt nor did I want anyone associated with me hurt. I was so uneasy because I just couldn't be certain what he had in mind."

According to Dr. Freedman and several other sources who independently confirmed the story, the incident had its roots in 1969 when Nixon asked for, and the Senate unanimously passed, the Controlled Substances Act. The bill put in the hands of the attorney general sole authority to decide what drugs were dangerous, who could use them and who could do research with them.

Dr. Freedman, as head of the Committee for Effective Drug Abuse Legislation, argued that the bill put too much power in one man's hands. The group, lobbying in the House, got the bill modified to say that the secretary of health, education and welfare would be included in those decisions.

House Deciding Today On Cambodia Bombing

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House decides today whether to authorize money for U.S. bombing of Cambodia. President Nixon's supporters said the showdown could result in the first House antiwar vote of the Indochina conflict.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La., a leader of Southern Democrats who in the past have joined Republicans in support of presidents' war policies, said the coalition favoring the Nixon stand was about five votes short late Wednesday.

"If we were voting right now I think we'd lose," Waggonner said.

The vote was on Nixon's request in a $2.8-billion supplemental money bill for authority to transfer $430 million for military spending, including $150 million for the bombing and other Indochina activities.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said Monday the bombing will continue in an effort to force a Cambodia cease-fire even if Congress rejects the transfer authority.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate pressed for its rejection anyway, contending it could be construed as approval not only of the Cambodian bombing but of future U.S. steps to try to force a cease-fire.

"I don't want to declare another war with ambiguous language in an appropriation bill," House Speaker Carl Albert said last week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Wednesday that if rejection of the $150 million does not stop the bombing Congress should reject every other measure for the Pentagon.

"You're getting back into the same old Vietnamese pattern," Mansfield said. "This country is not worth the life of one American soldier.

"I don't want to see any more Vietnams, anywhere, anytime," he said.

Richardson said Monday the $430-million transfer authority is needed to cover unanticipated war costs, dollar devaluation and food-price increases for U.S. forces worldwide for the last two months of fiscal 1973, which ends June 30.

He said only about $25 million is for Cambodia bombing. Most of that is for fuel and none for bombs, he said, adding that the costs would be paid out of other defense money on hand if Congress rejected the $430-million transfer authority.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued to tumble today as troubles in the Mideast and crucial labor negotiations sidelined investors.

News that U.S. Steel had raised some of its prices by nearly 5 per cent also depressed the market.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.57 to 943.48 at 11:30 a.m.

Declines held more than a 2-to-1 lead over advances in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .28 to 58.28 at 11 a.m., while the price-change index on the American Stock Exchange had slid .02 to 23.65.

Suave Shoe, which lost nearly 50 per cent of its price Wednesday after reporting sharply reduced earnings, topped the active issues on the Big Board again. It was up ⅛ to 4¾, after announcing it had purchased nearly 120,000 shares of its own common during the selling turmoil.

Oil issues continued weak as a result of the Mideast situation. Gulf was down ½ to 25, Texaco was off ⅝ to 37⅜, California Standard was down ¼ to 80¾, and Continental was off ⅜

COOLING IT. . . .At least some Greenville postmen will be cooling it this summer in a new, approved uniform consisting of bermuda shorts, black, knee-length socks and short-sleeve shirt. Mack Roebuck, shown here delivering mail in the Stratford Arms apartment complex on Charles Street, was the first local mail carrier to sport the new uniform, although other carriers have such outfits on order. Roebuck tried out the new style as temperatures warmed up earlier this week and liked it. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Ambush Killed Militiaman

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Guerrillas ambushed and killed a militiaman in his garden early today. Authorities said the killers apparently were from the Irish Republican Army.

Cpl. Franklin Cadoo of the Ulster Defense Regiment was shot in the head as he returned from duty to his home at Aughnacloy, near the border with the Irish Republic.

His death raised the known fatality toll in nearly four years of communal violence in Northern Ireland to 785, including 214 militiamen and British soldiers.

Measures Hike Bike Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The retail price of a bicycle could increase by $4 to $5 because of new safety standards proposed by the Food and Drug Administration.

FDA said on Wednesday that the standards, first ever proposed on the federal level, would help reduce the 800 deaths resulting from an estimated one million bike accidents each year.

A new intercity bus costs more than $60,000.

Referendum On Prayer Favored

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Constitution Committee voted a favorable report Thursday to a bill calling for a statewide referendum on voluntary prayer and religious reading in the public schools.

The committee then postponed until January 1974 a companion bill which would request a national Constitutional Convention to amend the U. S. Constitution to allow voluntary prayer and Bible reading in the public schools.

The unanimous vote came after 1½ hours of debate and sends the referendum measure to the Senate floor for consideration.

Collins Kilburn, of the North Carolina Council of Churches, told the committee that most national Christian organizations have opposed a constitutional amendment to permit prayer in the schools. Such religious activity has been prohibited by the U. S. Supreme Court.

"The responsibility for religion belongs with religious communities and the home," Kilburn said. "religion seems to flourish when the state is not involved."

Describing the heterogeneous nature of American society, Kilburn said, "The Christian point of view and the humane point of view is to respect these differences."

Rabbi Leo J. Stillpass also spoke against the two measures, saying that "religion has fared well under the freedom of the first amendment."

"The fact that children do not pray in public schools does not make them athiests, any more than the fact that most legislators do not pray in the chapel here...makes them athiests," Rabbi Stillpass said.

Bench Pounds Carlton For 3 Homers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Bench is alive and well ... in Philadelphia, of all places.

"Maybe now this will remove all doubts about my operation," the Cincinnati strongboy said Wednesday night after driving in seven runs as he blasted three homers off Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and, counting a homer his last time at bat Tuesday night, equaled the major league record of four in a row.

"Personally," he added, "I don't pay any attention to it any more."

The 25-year-old catcher, twice the National League's Most Valuable Player, underwent lung surgery last December for removal of a benign lesion.

Despite his record-matching slugging Wednesday night, the Reds needed a tie-breaking two-run homer by Dave Concepcion in the ninth inning to beat the Phillies 9-7.

Elsewhere, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles held off Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs whipped San Diego 9-2 and the New York Mets trounced Atlanta 8-1. The Houston-Montreal game was rained out.

American League scores: Oakland 4, Baltimore 3 in 10 innings; Detroit 4, Kansas City 1; Milwaukee 5, Texas 1; Cleveland 10, California 3; New York 2, Minnesota 0. Boston and Chicago were not scheduled.

It was the second three-homer, seven-RBI game in Bench's career. The other time came on July 26, 1970 against St. Louis and Carlton, then with the Cardinals, was the victim that time, too.

"I got him good tonight," said Bench, who homered to center field with a man aboard in the first inning, walked in the third, hit a three-run homer to right field in the fifth and a two-run shot to left in the seventh.

"But he's got me easy a lot of days. He's a good pitcher. They don't have to worry about him. Remember, he's under a lot of pressure to have another good year."

Rookie Ken Reitz socked his first major league home run as St. Louis ended its latest losing streak at a mere four games by shading San Francisco. It was only the sixth victory in 26 starts for the low-flying Cardinals.

Willie Crawford doubled in two runs to highlight a five-run fifth inning as Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh. The Pirates pounded out 14 hits against Claude Osteen, George Culver and Jim Brewer, including two-run homers by Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson, giving the Bucs 10 in the three-game set with the Dodgers. The loss was still Pittsburgh's 10th in the last 14 games.

Rick Monday hit a three-run homer and Billy Williams and Randy Hundley slammed two-run shots to power the Cubs over San Diego and into first place in the NL East by one game over Pittsburgh. Burt Hooton scattered six San Diego hits, including a home run by Fred Hilton.

Unbeaten Jerry Koosman fired a five-hitter for his fifth triumph and Rusty Staub homered as the Mets chased Carl Morton with four runs in the first two innings and beat Atlanta. Koosman held the Braves hitless until Oscar Brown doubled with two out in the sixth. Cincinnati's Jack Billingham is the league's only other five-game winner.

Tigers Finally Catch KC's Busby

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Busby has been looking like something from outer space to the Detroit Tigers but came down to earth in a hurry Wednesday night.

The Tigers, who had hardly gotten a flying object off the Kansas City right-hander in two games, launched seven hits in three innings enroute to an 4-1 victory.

"The law of averages caught up with me," said Busby, who had combined on a no-hitter against the Tigers in spring training and then pitched a no-hitter himself last April 27 in Detroit.

"I was getting behind a little more tonight than I did in Detroit," explained Busby. "But in Detroit I came back with good pitches—not tonight.

"I was throwing a little too fine. I've got to challenge the hitters. They hit the heck out of the ball, didn't they?" Ironically, Busby faced Jim Perry again—the same pitcher who was on the mound in the no-hit beauty. Perry whipped Busby this time with relief help from John Hiller.

In the other American League games, the Cleveland Indians trounced the California Angels 10-3; the Oakland A's nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in 10 innings; the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Texas Rangers 5-1 and the New York Yankees blanked the Minnesota Twins 2-0.

In the National League, it was St. Louis 3, San Francisco 1; Cincinnati 9, Philadelphia 7; New York 8, Atlanta 1; Chicago 9, San Diego 2 and Los Angeles 8, Pittsburgh 5. The Houston-Montreal game was postponed by rain.

The Tigers settled the no-hit stigma at once by getting a hit in the first inning off Busby, a single to right by Gates Brown. The Tigers scored two runs off the right-hander in the second on an error and Aurelio Rodriguez' run-scoring single. Brown's single off Busby's leg, which forced the pitcher to leave the game after the inning, sparked another rally in the third.

Charlie Spikes and Buddy Bell drove in three runs apiece as Cleveland scored four runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings to beat California. Milt Wilcox was the winner, with ninth-inning relief help from Jerry Johnson.

Joe Rudi doubled home the winning run after an error by third baseman Brooks Robinson opened the door to give Oakland its victory over Baltimore.

"I had time to make a good throw and I should have taken that time...when the throw left my hand, I thought it was perfect but it sailed," said Robinson about his error that allowed Jim North to reach second base and set up the A's winning run.

Jim Colborn pitched a one-hitter—Jeff Burroughs' fifth-inning homer—and Dave May drilled two home runs as Milwaukee beat Texas.

Rose Hosts Kinston

Rose High School's Rampants will close out their 1973 baseball season tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Harrington Field.

The Rampants will play host to Kinston in a Division II game. The Rose nine currently has a 6-3 conference record, and can assure itself of no worse than a second place finish with a victory.

Russians Win Final Foul-Filled Game

By LARRY SIDDONS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Cousy sat on a storage locker and shook his head.

"That was the weirdest basketball game I've ever seen," lamented the U.S. coach after his squad lost to Russia 72-64 in the final game of a six-city American tour Wednesday. "You might say they out-mayhemed us."

The series, won by the United States 4-2, was characterized by rugged, elbow swinging play, and the finale followed that pattern.

The referees whistled 41 personal fouls against the Soviets, 40 against the Americans Wednesday. Three U.S. players and six Russians fouled out, including the visitors' Aleksandr Shalnev, who picked up his fifth personal with 6:02 remaining in the first half.

In addition, Swen Nater, the backup center from UCLA, was ejected from the game late in the second half for striking a Russian player.

"I don't think that's basketball we played out there tonight," Ron Behagen, the Minnesota forward who was himself thrown out of an earlier game for fighting, said in the locker room. "It may be their game, but it's not ours. Somebody could get hurt out there if they're not careful."

"I can't explain it, and I'm not saying that facetiously," Cousy said of the rough play and numerous fouls. "I've tried talking to the referees and it does absolutely no good."

The Russians jumped in front 16-7 in the opening minutes, led by as many as 10 points in the first half and were ahead 40-36 at intermission.

Alzhen Zharmukhamedov crammed eight of his team-high 16 points into the early stages of the second half as the Soviets, making judicious use of international rules which allow free throws only when a player is fouled in the act of shooting, increased their lead to 55-42 with 14:35 remaining.

Despite the frantic cries of the sellout crowd of 12,248 at the Civic Center, the Americans could pull no closer than seven points the rest of the way.

Ernie DiGregorio, the flashy guard who had keyed the American team, did not start as Cousy tried to put some life in his team from the opening tap.

"A situation like that is so-so for me," said DiGregorio, who finished with a game-high 22 points before fouling out. "It tough for me to come off the bench. I like to start and play all the way, but I'm not doubting his will."

Girl Will Play Now

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Despite possible revocation of its Little League charter by national headquarters, Ypsilanti's youth baseball organization has decided to let Carolyn King, 12, play with the formerly all-boy group this summer.

The action Wednesday reversed a decision made earlier in the week and came after the city said its diamonds would not be available unless Carolyn was allowed to play.

Carolyn, whose ability reportedly surpasses that of many of her male counterparts, is to take the field tonight for her first game. "We feel we are doing the morally right thing as well as the practical thing," said League President William Anhut.

"We have made our decision," he said, referring to the possible charter suspension. "Now it's up to them (the national headquarters)" in Williamsport, Pa.

Former Cardinal Southpaw Steve Carlton won all four decisions pitching for the Phillies against the Red Birds in 1972.

Conley Bows To Southern Wayne

HOLLYWOOD—Southern Wayne High School gained a 2-0 victory over D. H. Conley's Vikings Tuesday.

The Vikings and Saints engaged in a pitching duel most of the way, as both loser Vic Corey and winner Bartlett each gave up three hits. Bartlett fanned nine Conley batters and walked four, while Corey walked only one, but struck out just four.

Southern Wayne got all it needed in the second and third. He scored when the third strike on Burroughs got past the catcher.

It stayed that way until the seventh, when the Saints added another run. Hud reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on a walk. Vickory reached on an error, allowing Hud to score.

Conley had a chance to score in the second when Randy Adams reached on an error and stole second, only to die there.

But their best chances came in the sixth and seventh, when they loaded the bases both frames, and still failed to score. In the sixth, Ricky Phillips singled and Eugene Forrest walked. Corey singled to load them up, but the Saints put out the rally without damage.

And in seventh, Wayne Jones and Willie Streeter both walked and Randy Doughtie singled, loading them again. But once more, the Saints rose to the occasion, ending the rally and the Viking hopes.

Williamston scored one run in the first to take the lead. Danny Todd reached on an error and Tim Widenhouse was hit by a pitch. Roger Manning singled and Roy Lilly walked to force in Todd.

In the third inning, Williamston came up with six runs. Todd singled and Widenhouse got a hit. Manning also singled, loading the bases. A pickoff attempt was errored, scoring Todd, and Eric Godard grounded out, scoring Widenhouse. Danny Whitehurst walked, and Johnny Dickens reached on an error, scoring Manning and Whitehurst. Greg Brown then homered to make it 7-0.

In the fourth, Williamston came up with three more. Widenhouse doubled, and an error on the relay let him come the rest of the way. Manning and Lilly both got hits and Godard tripled, driving in both.

Bear Grass, which had scored one in the third, rallied for six in the bottom of the fourth. Danny Peaks singled and stole second, scoring on Randy Evans single. Randy Peele singled and Keith Wynne got a hit to score Evans. David Hodges singled in Peele and Wynne and scored on Mark Gardner's double. Be a special kind of Navy Flyer. Be a Naval Flight Officer.

Whenever a Navy plane is under electronic control, that plane is in the hands of a Naval Flight Officer. Naturally, as a candidate for Naval Flight Officer training you'll need some very special qualifications. First, you must really want to fly, even if you've never flown before. You'll also need a college degree and the kind of mind that works well with math and physics.

Waiting at the end of your training program is a Navy Commission and the Golden Wings of a Naval Flight Officer. By then you'll be an expert in areas like Jet Navigation and Airborne Control . . . equipped to do your job wherever you go.

But whatever your specialty, travel will be part of your life. And so will challenge, responsibility, achievement and reward.

The benefits aren't average either. A Naval Flight Officer can earn up to $10,000 upon completion of flight school. The pay after three years is up to $14,500. There is also a program for obtaining a masters degree at no cost. The Navy gives its Naval Flight Officers the best.

If that's the kind of career you're looking for, and if you think you've got what it takes to be a Naval Flight Officer, send in the coupon.

Small Engines Generate Much Power

By JERRY GARRETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sixty-one of the 83 cars entered in this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race are powered by tiny four-cylinder engines smaller than the power plants in many compact passenger cars.

But these sophisticated Offenhauser engines, which also have carried the Miller and Mayer & Drake mark for half a century, have been refined in the laboratory of auto racing.

Herb Porter, an engineering consultant for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., says the Offy engine is the most powerful, inch for inch, in history. Porter conducts the company's tire and engine testing on a fulltime basis.

But Porter, sometimes referred to as the father of the modern Offenhauser engine, notes the basic engine is not all that powerful.

In a 1,500-pound race car, the four-cylinder, 160-cubic-inch engine could only manage about 125 miles an hour, Porter said. Horsepower would be near 200.

But throw on a supercharger and a fuel injection system, and instantly you have about 800 horsepower and the potential to register a 200-mile-an-hour lap, he said.

Swede Savage, running with one of Porter's engines, has turned in a 197.802 lap, the fastest so far this month at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Savage recorded a 192.5 lap in practice Wednesday for the May 28 race.

"We get about five horsepower per cubic inch," Porter said. "If you've got that kind of horsepower out of your average passenger car with a 327 cubic inch engine, you would have about 1,600 horsepower. We get more horsepower per cubic inch now than any other car in the history of the world.

"While we could still get a lot more power, it would be a less reliable engine. More power is available for this year's race than last year's with a greater degree or reliability."

Winning at Indianapolis, he said, depends on the combination of "the power you can get, the power you can use and stay together" and the ability to complete the race on the amount of fuel allotted.

Try Again For Title

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — If the weather cooperates, Appalachian State and Richmond will play a twice-delayed doubleheader today which could determine the Southern Conference baseball champion.

The Mountaineers need only a split to capture the title in their first year of eligibility.

Should Richmond win both, the Spiders could force a tie by also defeating Davidson in a makeup game.

Rain forced postponement of the doubleheader Tuesday and Wednesday, but the weatherman predicted only a slight chance of rain today.

Briefs

The USGA 1973 amateur golf championship is scheduled for Inverness, Toledo, Ohio.

Baseball's strike zone was changed to include the armpit to the top of the knee in 1969. It was for six years previous from the top of the shoulder to the knee.

The first wire-to-wire pro golf victory in 1973 was scored by Lee Trevino when he won the Doral Open by one stroke over Bruce Crampton of Australia.

Standout golfer Jack Nicklaus won his second tournament of 1973 when he took the New Orleans Open in a playoff with Miller Barber.

Nixon Hunting Defense Sec.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is back hunting for a new secretary of defense after multimillionaire David Packard turned down the job.

Administration sources now list three men as leading possibilities:

—James R. Schlesinger, 43, director of the Central Intelligence Agency for only the past three months. Before that, Schlesinger was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and assistant budget director.

William P. Clements Jr., 56, Texas oil-drilling-company executive who has been deputy secretary of defense for a little more than three months.

—Kenneth Rush, 63, who served as deputy secretary of defense for 11 months before moving to the State Department as undersecretary in late March. Rush taught Nixon law at Duke University.

The 60-year-old Packard was deputy secretary of defense for 35 months during the first Nixon administration and gained a reputation as a tough manager who bore down on the military services to reform their buying practices.

The White House acknowledged a week ago that Packard was Nixon's first choice.

He apparently decided to decline the offer Wednesday because he could not work out a satisfactory arrangement for handling his $500 million worth of stock in the Hewlett-Packard Co., a California electronics firm he founded.

Hewlett-Packard does about $480 million worth of business a year, with about one-fifth directly or indirectly with the federal government, a company spokesman said.

The normal rule calls for a nominee for Cabinet rank to divest himself of any business connections that might suggest conflict of interest. But sources close to Packard said he could not sell his stock in Hewlett-Packard without driving down its price and badly damaging his company.

Open House For Boys Club

The Boys Club of Pitt County will hold an open house Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. for the purpose of getting more parent and community involvement.

The boys will be demonstarting pool and karate and various arts and crafts they have learned at Boys' Club and refreshments will be served.

Graham Gutting, director of the Club, said every boy attending must be accompanied by a parent, if at all possible. Interested persons other than parents will also be welcomed, he said.

The Club is located at 205 West Skinner Street, Greenville.

Honor Pupils Are Announced

The honor roll and principal's list for the Greenville Christian Academy has been released by Principal Joshua E. Potter.

Two students qualified for the honor roll. They are Teresa Keel and Llewellyn Tucker, both seven grader students.

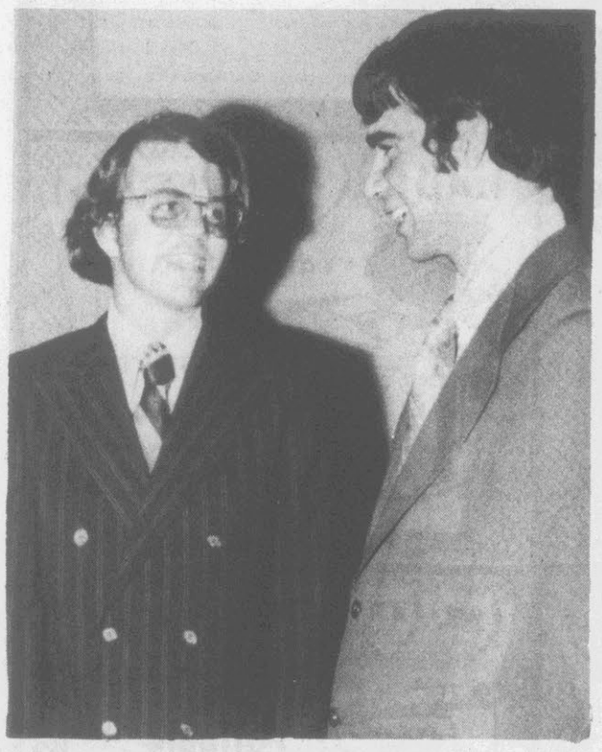

The following students were placed on the principal's list:

Fourth grade—Jackie Bryant, Ben Haddock, David Stocks, and Sharon Stocks;

Fifth grade—Donnell Glisson, Debora Oxley, Patrick Langley, Mark Holingsworth, Burney Tetterton and Todd Brown;

Sixth grade—Teresa Hedgepeth and Steve Tyburski;

Seventh grade—Tammy Elks, Amanda Haddock and Treva Woodley.

Rouse Says Republican Push Needs More Work

By MELVIN LANG
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's Republican party, admittedly going through a period of readjustment after major victories last fall, says its financial campaign is moving ahead rapidly. But it also says a drive to convert Democrats into the GOP fold still must be proven.

"I'm satisfied, but not pleased," party chairman Frank Rouse said in an interview. "We've got a number of permanent offices now in counties where there have been any. But I'm not going to blow smoke and say we're going to turn this state around, because it's not possible."

Rouse, whose chairmanship has been marked by at times heated disputes that flared publicly with Republican Gov. Jim Holshouser, has engineered the GOP campaign to cut off the Democrats' 3-1 advantage in voter registration.

Despite the one-sided registration, Holshouser and Republican Sen. Jesse Helms captured seats last fall that had gone to Democrats for three-quarters of a century.

Rouse said the Watergate break-in in Washington "has hurt us, but I'm not using Watergate as an excuse if we can't catch the Democrats."

The office of state Elections Director Alex Brock said the latest compilation of registrants in North Carolina was made last October. No record is available at this time to show how many persons have changed their registration since the Republicans began their campaign in the spring.

However, Rouse said he was "extremely proud" of a fund-raising drive started after the November elections. He said the drive, part of the GOP's "sustained membership program," has "provided $97,000 in donations since the first of the year, not counting the income from Lincoln Day dinners. That's something you can hang a hat on to.

"There's no smartmoney, no bureaucratic money, no special interest money in that. It's all just plain rank and file. The biggest contribution is $500, and most of them are $5 and $10."

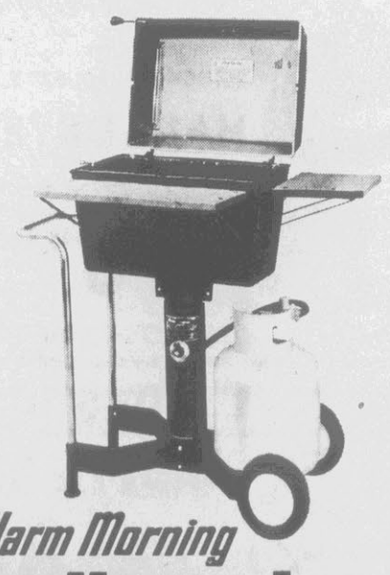

Rouse said the conduct of Helms and Holshouser during their first five months in office had been good for the party. "I think the governor's appeal to the voters is good, particularly with the handicaps he has been under. I mean with the Democratic hacks he inherited.

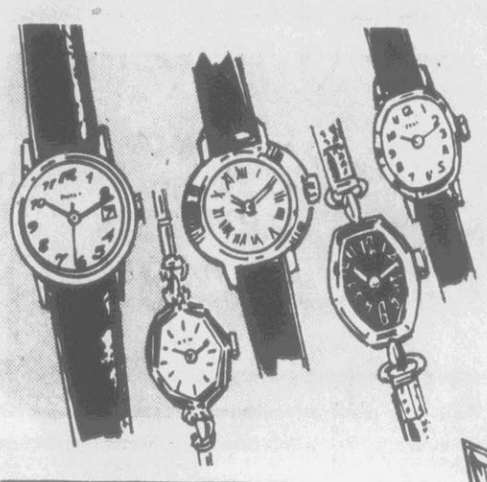

"I love Helms. He's made trips back to North Carolina for 10 party speeches since taking office."

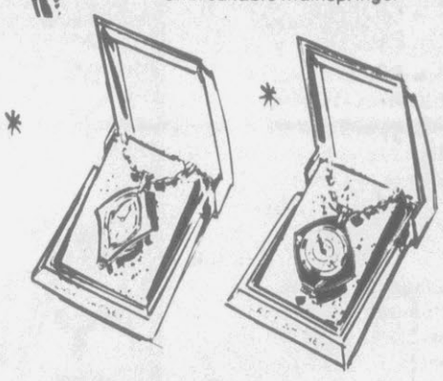

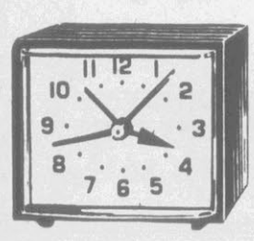

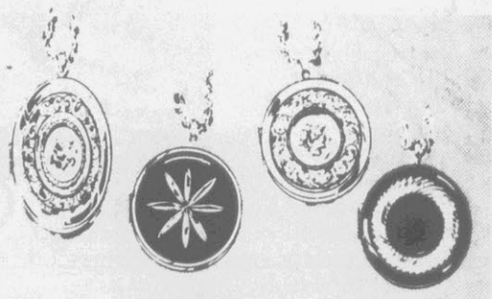

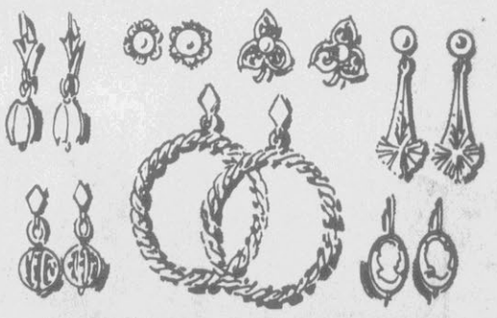

Rouse was asked about the party's chances in the 1974 elections. He said he was certain there would be qualified Republican candidates at all levels. "But I'm pessimistic. We've got to work like hell. I keep telling everybody we've gained a lot already, but we're not at the top of the mountain. We're still on the side.

Sentenced To Jail Stay

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, will be spending this weekend in jail.

Ashley, a member of Congress since 1954, Tuesday was fined $350 and sentenced to three days in the workhouse after pleading guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

The 58-year-old congressman was found last month slumped behind the wheel of his car in Toledo. Police testified that he had to be removed forcibly from the car, used abusive language and tried to swing at officers.

Municipal Court Judge Clyde L. Deeds recommended Ashley have a talk with Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa. Deeds described Hughes as a "distinguished member of Congress who himself fought about with alcoholism when he was younger."

Ashley said he has studied the problem and would continue to do so. He conceded he made a mistake and had had "one too many."

Brigham Young, who led the Mormon pioneers to Utah in 1847, died in 1877.

Two co-defendants received similar sentences Wednesday and the sentencing of a third was postponed to give his attorneys a chance to produce new evidence.

Motivation In Reading Is Key

Note the change in Goldie from the "dummy" in school to a star reader! You tactful parents can do more in 6 weeks with those "Classics, Illustrated" and similar educational "sugar" than the schools accomplish in a year! Good readers like school!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D. M.D.

CASE X-504: Goldie B., aged 12, used to be a problem reader.

"Dr. Crane," her mother began, "we were seriously worried lest mayber her I.Q. was low.

"But our school Psychologist said she was really above average in her intelligence, but had not been properly motivated to read.

"So we followed your suggestion about ordering quantity of those 25 cent 'Classics, Illustrated,' which depict in colorful comic book format the great novels of world literature.

"And to add more appeal to the reading process, Daddy and I agreed to do the dishes for her, if she'd read aloud from one of those delightful little books.

"Ivanhoe' would never have caught her interest in its usual printed form.

"But in this colorful comic book digest, it enticed Goldie into deciphering the 15 or 20 words above each dramtic picture.

"For the illustration put the 'sugar' upon the reading process.

"And a mere sentence or two of 15 to 20 words didn't look as forbidding as an entire page of dry print.

"Within just a couple of evenings Goldie had finished 'Ivanhoe' so she then selected 'Swiss Family Robinson.'

"Since then, she devoured almost 100 of those 'Classics, Illustrated' and her reading has improved till her teachers marvel at the change.

"But now Daddy has added some more 'sugar' to the reading process.

"For he bought her a used typewriter for $50 and a touch typists' wall chart, for learning the touch system.

"He told her if and when she could type at the rate of 10 words per minute, he'd pay her $25.

"When she attained a speed of 20 words per minute, she would get additional $25.

And so on till she reached 40 words, thus meaning she'd earn a total of $100.

"Another splendid idea came from 'Editor & Publisher' magazine.

"For Daddy is a newspaperman, and saw a recent story about a boy in Louisville, who voluntarily began noticing the errors on the sports pages of the Louisville TIMES.

"Daddy lets her go over his typed newspaper stories before he proofs them.

"And he has agreed to pay her 10 cents for every error that she can detech, whether in spelling, punctuation or other typographical mistakes.

"Dr. Crane, Goldie now earns as high as $3 to $5 per week.

"And she not only has banished her fear of reading but now has become such an avid newspaper fan that she ignores the TV to scan Daddy's printed copy."

Honey Strategy

Remeber the old adage that "You can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar?"

Goldie's mother shows this positive strategy in motivation of kiddies.

Mrs. Crane and I paid our 5 Crane children the same $25 per 10 word typing speed, and each of them also earned $100.

Moreover, their typed themes probably boosted their school marks an extra letter grade, for teachers subconsciously score a "C" paper as a "B" if it is neatly typed!

And I also paid my children for proofing my newspaper copy!

So send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

And "Classics, Illustrated" are shipped prepaid at 25 cents per book from Frawley Enterprises, Inc. 1901 Avenue of the Stars, Los Angeles, California 90067.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

One Station Moved To Restore Radio Theater

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Hemmer appears barely old enough to recall the glory days of radio when "The Lone Ranger" rode the aural range and "The Green Hornte" buzzed about on behalf of law and order.

But Hemmer, program director of radio station WDBQ-AM in Dubuque, Iowa, recently brought back the fun of the old days by broadcasting five shows written and submitted by listeners.

The authors were an artist at a local advertising agency, two high school teachers, a deputy sheriff and a 21-year-old female factory worker.

Hemmer got the scripts by unwittingly repeating radio history. The repeating occurred last January when WDBQ ran a "Radio Theater" spot inviting listeners to submit original half-hour scripts.

It's exactly the way many prominent writers today first were heard nationally, thanks to "Dr. Christian," a radio series broadcast several decades ago. It also asked listeners to submit original scripts.

One of those budding authors, Earl Hemner Jr., earned $500 for a script he sent in. He's better-known and earns considerably more today as creator of "The Waltons" series on CBS-TV.

Hemner, who says he never heard of the "Dr. Christian" series, laughed when asked how he came upon the idea of WDBQ's script search.

"I couldn't tell you," he said. "I've always been fascinated with old-time radio. A couple of years ago I thought, 'gee, wouldn't it be fun if we could do something like this.' And we finally did it."

He said the "Radio Theater" contest brought a total of 52 original scripts from the listening audience. He and his staff read them all, selected five for broadcast and went to work, using the station's disc jockeys and local residents as actors in the shows.

"There were no rewrites," he said. "We did them exactly the way they were written. Of course, we added sound effects and music."

The shows, broadcast during the last week in March, ranged from "Bill Bugoni, Private Eye" — a spoof of the old "Sam Spade" series" — to "The Second Chance," a show about a man whom the fates allow to return to his past.

The final show, "Red Lights and Sirens," was written by the deputy sheriff.

While the series was broadcast, listeners were invited to vote by mail on their favorite show. The authors got cash prizes ranging from $10 to the $100 award given the author "Second Chance," which received the largest share of the 800 votes cast.

Hemmer, whose station has only 1,000 watts and limited funds for such efforts, says he's going to have another "Radio Theater" week in September and start calling for authors in mid-July.

He says he's still amazed by the response to the first contest.

"It was an absolute 100 per cent success and a lot of fun, to boot."

Equal Time For Creator Talked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Michigan Legislature is considering proposals which would give the Creator equal time with Darwin in all public school classrooms where evolution is taught.

Reporting on the proposal, in "Legislative Review," the Education Commission of the States (ECS) says Michigan's education superintendent holds it defensible to present more than one view.

75 Years Old, He Runs Daily

NEW YORK (UPI) —For Virgil Sturgill, age 75, the motto "run for your life" is wise advice, a daily discipline and a way of life.

According to a report in Uncle Sam's magazine, "Aging," the Asheville, N.C., retired man runs a four-mile workout six days a week and competes regularly in track meets as far afield as Florida, California, Maryland, and Washington, D.C. He holds the world record (6:55) in the mile for runners 70 and over. He began jogging for his health in 1964 at age 67 when he was an English professor at Baltimore Junior College in Maryland.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♠	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

South's overcall of one no trump is worthy of note, inasmuch as he lacks a stopper in clubs. Observe however that if he makes a take-out double and North responds with two clubs, South is obliged to bid two no trump which would designate a somewhat stronger holding and might lead to unpleasant developments if partner is broke.

A vulnerable one no trump overcall should be treated with great respect, and North was warranted in offering a raise even tho he has only seven points. South, of course, needed scant encouragement to bid three no trump.

West opened the ten of spades and declarer won the trick with the jack. A small club was led and the jack was played from dummy which East permitted to hold, following suit with the ten.

The ten of diamonds was led next for a finesse and West was in with the queen. He returned another spade which South won with the queen. Declarer cleared the diamonds by leading the ace and jack, giving East a trick with the king.

East was careful to cash the ace of clubs before exiting with a spade. Declarer ran two diamond tricks on which East discarded a spade and a heart. After South took the ace of hearts, he was obliged to surrender the setting trick to East who had the king of hearts and a good spade.

Declarer could have developed another trick by forcing an entry to dummy. After the finesse in diamonds dislodges West's queen, South can bring in the entire suit provided that he can regain access to the North hand to lead another diamond, for East's king becomes exposed to capture.

In order to achieve his objective, it is suggested that South lead the queen of hearts from his hand at trick five, after West puts him back in with the second spade. If East takes the queen of hearts with the king, North's jack becomes an entry to repeat the diamond finesse. When the king falls on the next round, South winds up with 10 tricks—three spades, two hearts, four diamonds and one club.

Even if East refuses to take the queen of hearts—in order to keep declarer out of the dummy—South has, nevertheless, developed a ninth trick for himself while he still has control of the proceedings. With one heart in, he can now afford to give East the king of diamonds and claim his contract on the return. His winners consist of three spades, two hearts, three diamonds and one club.

Intelligence Not Lost To Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Among myths about the aged is one holding that after the age of middle sixties one loses intelligence.

Research has shown there is no drop in intelligence provided the person is free of high blood pressure. Among those with a history of hypertension there is some falling off of brainpower. The high blood pressure may have damaged the blood pipelines.

This diminishes their oxygen-transporting capability.

UC SURVEY

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California survey shows about half the Berkeley freshmen consider themselves "liberal" and 10 per cent say they are conservative.

The poll report said 32 per cent of the freshmen believe criminals have too many rights and 37 per cent won't support legalized marijuana.

Canada Begins Self-Help Plan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canada has launched a national program to assist older people to plan and develop self-help and community service projects.

Under the New Horizons program begun last September, Canada's Federal government makes direct cash grants to groups of retired Canadians age 65 and over to carry out recreational, cultural, and community activities which they themselves have designed. The smallest grant, $415, went to the Guelph Historical Society in Ontario to continue its monthly publication of short articles on local history.

Radio Amateur Cvil Emergency Services (RACES) provides communications when floods, hurricanes, explosions and other disasters knock out regular systems.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early morning delays soon change. An influential person you know gives you the benefit of his support. Even though you have some small annoyances, the overall aspects of today's influences are broad in their scope so you are able to make some long-time excellent changes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy with work at hand and don't go off on tangents if you want good results. Try to gain the goodwill of a co-worker. Avoid one who has a chip on the shoulder. Think.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study and arrange creative ideas well in a.m., and you can be successful. The door of opportunity is opened for you by one you know. The morning starts slowly, but by evening all speeds up.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study family affairs and see where you can improve them. Appliances need repairing or replacement, so handle them carefully. Get free of tensions that have been bothering you for some time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Consulting with others is best after lunch, when you can put your plans in good working order. Every opportunity is yours for being more productive. Give your attention to your work exclusively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get those money matters working properly, but have to study all details connected with them. A business expert is not in a good humor. Avod this person now. Contact another time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan the future more wisely so you have more of the things you want. Don't let some small loss disappoint you. Improve your appearance in some way and feel more sure of yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Quietly get into talks with experts who can give you the information you need to solve your problems. Then you can proceed in a positive way. Listen to what romantic attachment has to suggest for more harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan just how to get the cooperation of allies for some fascinating project you have in mind. Get into that group affair later that can be both enjoyable and helpful to your interests. Don't go to bed too late.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some new course should be followed if you are to make your career more successful. Be sure to get the backing of a bigwig. Not a good day to take action, but fine for involving yourself in some public matter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) New ideas are fine, but make sure you put them in motion at the right time and at the right place, and with the proper persons. Be more alert to what your goals really are. Make sure they are just what you want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have some long-time responsibilities and need some new system to get them handled properly. Try to please mate more in p.m. Avoid some situation that could get you into trouble later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Discuss with associates questionable points. Get down to the policy level and make the future more profitable and worthwhile. Differences of opinion now can prove to be good, since you learn much. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those little fussbudgets who wants everything around superperfect, but should be taught early to make allowances for human error and to stick to the important, big things of life. Otherwise your child will have a poor and ineffectual life instead of a successful one. Send to schools best suited to the mentality of your youngster. Don't try to push into doing whatever is against the nature. Religion is important here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Vasectomies For 3 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — Voluntary contraceptive sterilization was the subject of a seminar sponsored by the Association for Voluntary Sterilization recently.

It was reported then that almost three million American men have undergone vasectomies in a move calculated to terminate their fertility.

U.S. manufacturers produced more than 11.3 million cars, trucks and buses in 1972.
