Tribunal Of 7 Senators Begins Watergate Probe

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A tribunal of seven senators opened today historic hearings into the Watergate scandals of President Nixon's re-election campaign with a pledge to determine whether America's political and judicial systems have been undermined by subversion.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the committee chairman, opened the nationally televised hearings in a crowded Senate caucus room.

He said if Watergate charges are proven true, "then the burglars who broke into the headquarters of the Democratic committee ... were breaking into the home of every citizen in the United States."

And he said if that is the case, they sought to steal something far more valuable than jewels or money—"the right to vote in a free election."

The hearings began 11 months to the day after five men were arrested inside Democratic headquarters on a wiretapping mission.

In his opening statement, Ervin recited the record of Watergate, and the published charges of broader political surveillance and sabotage.

He said the scandal has "cast a black cloud of mistrust" over American government, and promised candid and intensive investigation to uncover all the facts.

Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said in his opening statement that the American people "must be the final judge of Watergate ..."

"The very fact that we are now involved in the public process of cleaning our own house before the eyes of the world is a mark of the greatest strength," Baker said.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., said the story to be unfolded before the Senate panel has its significance not in the acts of breaking, entering or bugging, "but in the acts of men who almost stole America."

Even as the long-awaited Senate investigation took center stage, Watergate inquiries proceeded on other fronts.

Gen. Robert E. Cushman said Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. lied to him about why Hunt wanted help from the Central Intelligence Agency two years ago.

More And More Money Is Being Voted To Education

RALEIGH (AP) — More and more money for education was the rallying cry in the North Carolina General Assembly as several big spending measures received favorable votes Wednesday.

A $2.7 billion measure to operate state agencies, institutions and the public schools was enacted into law as it won Senate approval. The bill provides big spending increases for education and money for pay boosts for teachers and state employees.

Other actions included House approval of a bill setting a referendum this fall on a $300 million bond issue for school construction, a bill authorizing the first phase of a state-wide kindergarten system and a bill setting up $7.5 million reserve fund for development of a new four-year medical school in North Carolina. These bills still must go to the Senate.

The big school bond measure received little discussion, but there were flurries of debate on the medical school reserve fund and the kindergarten issue.

Although the med school reserve fund does not specify a site, it is generally regarded as part of a drive for expansion of the medical school at East Carolina University.

The sponsor of the bill, Rep. John Gamble, D-Lincoln, said the reserve fund would be "seed money" when a decision is made on whether to build a new four-year medical school.

Rep. Laurence Cobb, R-Mecklenburg, contended the med school reserve fund "tends to undermine the efforts" of the University of North Carolina Board of Governors which is having a study made of the need for a new medical school.

The big operating budget carried big increases for education.

It sets aside $26 million for refunding the size of school classes, $33.4 million for extending the work term of teachers from 187 to 200 days, $3.7 million for additional occupational efforts, and $12.3 million for expansion of the kindergarten program.

For Community Colleges, the operations bill provides $14.3 million for increased enrollment and $2.1 million for new vocational and technical programs. For the university system, the budget allocates $31.9 million for the top 15 priorities of the UNC board and $4.6 million in aid to private colleges.

There is $25 million provided for a five per cent increase in salary funds for state employees, as well as an additional five per cent increase for employees who are paid less than $2.63 per hour. Another $28 million is provided for a five per cent increase in salary funds for school teachers.

Furthermore, $5.9 million is allocated for a longevity change in the teacher salary index and $2.2 million for an extra salary raise for community college personnel over and above the regular five per cent increase.

Skylab Repair Job Being Drawn Up

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The scenario is being written today for a Buck Rogers-style space adventure in which three astronauts will fly a repair mission to the disabled Skylab space station.

It will require one of the astronauts to take a space walk to install a shield between the overheated spacecraft and the blazing rays of the sun.

Television pictures may provide much of the world with a ringside seat to the unfolding drama.

The flight may start Sunday. Or it may be delayed until Friday, May 25.

If it works, Skylab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz could save their 28-day orbital trip and the 56-day voyages planned later in the year for the Skylab 2 and 3 crews.

Plans for the flight are being drawn up by specialists at space agency centers at Cape Kennedy, Houston, Tex., and Huntsville, Ala., and at the contractor plants of Martin-Marietta in Denver and McDonnell-Douglas Corp. in Huntington, Beach, Calif.

"I've asked all concerned to come up with detailed recommendations and a detailed timetable by Thursday afternoon," Skylab project director William C. Schneider told newsmen Wednesday.

He said the only barrier to the flight is the 100-degree-plus temperature in the interior of the 85-ton laboratory, which was launched unmanned from Cape Kennedy Monday into a 272-mile-high orbit.

And temperature seemed to have decreased and stabilized at between 100 and 110 degrees.

A launch mishap stripped an insulation shield and protective thermal paint from the side of the workshop, allowing the sun's heat to penetrate the vehicle.

The area of the spacecraft facing the sun is about 20 by 20 feet. Schneider said that if this area could be covered, it would shade the Skylab and lower the temperature to the normal 60-to-70 degree range.

Discuss Vietnam 'Peace'

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho met today for the first time in three months to discuss how to enforce the Vietnam cease-fire they negotiated last winter.

Kissinger was host at the session in an American-owned villa on a golf course at St. Nom-la-Breteche, 15 miles southwest of Paris. Neither he nor Tho made any statement but they shook hands smilingly at the door and waved cheerfully to the newsmen in front of the house.

Their chief advisers also attended the opening session.

Kissinger on his arrival from Washington Wednesday night said he would do everything possible to improve implementation of the cease-fire agreement.

"If our colleagues from North Vietnam approach these meetings with the same attitude," he said, "then I am confident we will make major progress toward this objective and speed the normalization of relations between the United States and North Vietnam."

'Vain Hope'

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina General Assembly leaders today abandoned their "vain and futile" hopes of adjourning Friday and tentatively agreed to return next week.

House Speaker Jim Ramsey said that he had conferred with Senate leaders about the work remaining on the calendar and decided that it would require a meeting next Tuesday.

Ramsey's statement indicated that the leadership had rejected the possibility of meeting Saturday morning to conclude its business.

Four Named

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Wednesday elected four members to the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina system as Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt broke a tie vote for one of the nominees.

The House is expected to select five other members of the board today.

Hunt, who presides over the Senate, voted for former Sen. George M. Wood of Camden, who wound up tied with Dr. Amos Neil Johnson of Garland. Each received 25 votes in a runoff for one of two at large seats on the board. The other at large nominee elected was High Cannon of Raleigh who got 28 votes.

Also elected were John Winters of Raleigh, in the racial minority category, and Mrs. Hugh Morton of Wilmington, in the women's category. Winters defeated Dr. Andrew Best of Greenville, an incumbent, and Mrs. Morton defeated another incumbent, Mrs. L. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro.

The board members will take office July 1.

Dormitory Rent Again Increased By ECU Trustees

Dormitory room rental rates at East Carolina University will be increased $37.50 per academic year effective in September.

The new rates approved by the ECU Board of Trustees will be $352.50 for the academic year of three quarters, a figure recommended by Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs C.G. Moore because of increased utilities and labor costs. Moore said that in view of the increased rates for electricity and water charged by Greenville Utilities and higher labor costs the rental increase is necessary to meet debt service and operating expense and to maintain a reserve fund for these items.

Dormitory rental rates for the summer session of two items will be increased from $105 to $117.50.

Despite the increases, Moore said the ECU dormitory rentals will remain less than all other comparable institutions in the state-supported system with the exception of N.C. State University in Raleigh.

Moore reported a continuing decline in dormitory occupancy and said the rental increase was necessary to stay near the "break-even" point. Most ECU dormitory construction was financed by self-liquidating bonds.

Moore said the city of Greenville offers more off-campus housing for ECU students "than any place I know."

ECU trustees also approved resolutions presented by Moore to vest the board's committee on Budget and Buildings with responsibility for maintaining a master plan for physical development of East Carolina University, to select architects or engineers for buildings or improvements requiring such professional services and approval of building sites.

Authorized the committee on property to act for the board in approving all proposals involving acquisition or disposition of any interest in real property but providing that if such proposal involves an interest in real property valued at $50,000 or more the matter must be recommended by the committee to the full board for approval and forwarding to the Board of Governors.

The trustees authorized the Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs to act on behalf of the board of trustees to approve building plans and specifications and to certify final acceptance of completed buildings and projects.

Love And Long Distance Calls Spelled Trouble

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (AP)—Love and long distance telephone calls have Roger Grace back in trouble. "She thinks it's stupid for me to get in trouble for calling her, but she's never told me to quit calling," said Grace, 19, said of his girlfriend, Lois Passonate of Pueblo, Colo.

Three times in the past five months, Grace has accused of making long distance telephone calls charged to someone else's telephone.

Grace pleaded guilty Wednesday in General Sessions Court to a charge of obtaining telephone calls under fraud. That charge resulted from a supermarket manager's complaint that Grace made eight long-distance calls on the store phone last month.

Judge James C. Short delayed judgment on the case saying he wanted to give Grace a chance to pay off the charges amounting to $19.79.

But a few minutes after the hearing, Grace was served with another warrant. This time he was accused of making two calls charged to another business. He was held in jail for $1,000 bond on each charge.

Grace got in trouble for the first time in December when his former landlady, Mrs. Viola Underhill, received a bill for $800 in long distance calls. Grace agreed in court to pay off the bill at $10 a week. He says he has paid about $200 on the bill.

He said he wants to marry Miss Passonate as soon as he can get out of his dilemma. But he said it may be some time before they can get married because "it looks like I'm going to be spending some time in jail."

I'll pay off every penny if I could get out and get a job," he said. Publicity over his telephonic escapades has made it difficult to get a job, he complained.

"When I tell them who I am, they say, 'Oh, you're the guy who makes all the phone calls' and turn me down."

Grace showed some signs of worry Wednesday. His girlfriend has never returned his calls, he said.

"I really love her a lot and if you're away from somebody you love, there are a lot of things to talk about...I don't think she loves me as much as I love her," he said.

About 50 Arrested In Edenton Demonstration

EDENTON, N.C. (AP)—About 50 persons were arrested Wednesday in the coastal town of Edenton after they held sit-ins at the county office building and a local high school protesting the dismissal of a high school band director.

At least 38 were arrested at John A. Holmes High School as they staged a sit-in in the principal's office, and 12 were arrested for sitting in at the school superintendent's office in the county building.

Chowan County Sheriff Troy Toppin said the demonstrators were arrested "because they refused to leave the county office building."

Golden Frinks, civil rights activist and state field secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, helped organize the demonstration to protest the dismissal of John A. Holmes High School band director Richard Satterfield.

Frinks said the sit-ins were the first part of "a major potential effort to end discrimination" in Edenton.

Between 50 and 100 people marched through downtown Edenton Monday afternoon protesting Satterfield's dismissal.

School superintendent Edwin West announced recently that Satterfield, a band director in area schools for 18 years and a black, will not be rehired because of "incompetence, insubordination, and his inability to discipline students."

Recently the State Board of Education released a report on accreditation of teacher training programs at state institutions.

Including was an inadequate rating of the

Milestone For N.C. Workers

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — A milestone for the well-being of workers in North Carolina industry has been posted by the 1973 General Assembly.

State Labor Commissioner W. C. (Billy) Creel said the enactment of a plan for state implementation of the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) will bring far-reaching benefits to the Tar Heel labor force.

"It will become as fundamental a law of the land in worker safety and health as the Fair Labor Standards Act has become in wages and working hours," the commissioner predicted.

The legislation assures, upon its July 1 effective date, that the state labor department will assume complete responsibility for administration of industrial safety and health standards in North Carolina. Without the state law, federal regulations enforced by federal inspectors would have covered Tar Heel industrial plants, Creel said.

The motivating philosophy for a state plan, he explained, was that effective implementation of safety and health standards can best be handled at the state level.

N.C. At Forefront
North Carolina is one of four states which have completed plans for OSHA administration.

"I am confident that state administration of ISHA will bring substantial improvement in the safety and health of North Carolina's more than 2,000,000 working people," said Creel. "I am certain that the North Carolina Occupational Safety and Health Act, and its administration by inspectors with long experience, will be 'equally as effective' as the federal OSHA law and administration."

OSHA has been the subject of controversy in the industrial community. Many employers have complained it imposes a burden of detailed requirements, difficult to comply with and of little value to safety and health.

Under a state umbrella, Creel said, reasonable solutions can be worked out which will be acceptable to industry.

This state already is a leader in job safety, Creel noted. "North Carolina industry has only half as many injuries as American industry as a whole," he said.

New Era Dawning
Both in the state and nation, OSHA will usher in "a new era of safe and healthful working conditions," Creel said. He envisioned it as part of a "future industrial climate in which the health and safety of workers will be accorded equal importance with production and profits."

Commissioner Creel said the department is in position to proceed rapidly in organization for state administration of safety and health standards. The state plan has received federal approval, federal matching funds have been allocated, and state appropriations are assured, he said.

Twenty-nine state inspectors have qualified fully as OSHA inspectors. They will work under Ray Boylston, director of the OSHA office in the state labor department.

Nearly two years of planning and cooperative effort between the state department and the national OSHA Administration went into the design of the North Carolina law. Patterned closely after the federal law enacted by the Congress in 1970, the state statute establishes safety and health standards "equally as effective" as those promulgated by the Secretary of Labor, and provides for administration and enforcement of the standards.

Creel and his associates, with the assistance of the Attorney General's office, drafted the legislation. It passed both the Senate and House by overwhelming votes.

Independent Review Provided

The state law spells out the rights and obligations of both employers and employees, establishes penalties for failure to provide safe and healthful working conditions, and sets up procedures for independent review of administration actions.

A three-member Safety and Health Review Board will be named by Gov. Jim Holshouser. Acting independently of the labor department, the board will hear any disagreement from employers or employees involving alleged failure to observe safety and health requirements, or penalties assessed.

The act also establishes a State Advisory Council of seven members to be appointed by the labor commissioner to advise and consult on OSHA administration. The advisory group will consist of two management representatives, two representatives of organized labor, and three public members.

At present, the state is using the federal OSHA standards under a temporary contractual agreement with the national OSHA Administration. This arrangement will end when the state law becomes effective on July 1, and a new state-federal agreement will be concluded for state administration with funding on a 50-50 basis of matching state and federal support.

teacher supervisor program at East Carolina University. Critics immediately jumped on this as a sign of inadequacy at ECU.

The facts proved far different. Out of 63 programs or aspects of the School of Education offerings East Carolina had 32 which were rated superior and most others were rated above average to superior. ECU possibly had the largest number of programs or aspects of programs rated in the superior category.

Happily in this case ECU officials had the facts to easily refute a misconception and we think that in almost every case where academic reports are taken out of context concerning East Carolina the facts will be there to prove otherwise.

ECU officials, students, faculty and supporters may as well get accustomed to the fact that as the initiative university of the state, ECU has also to accept the role of lightning rod among the state supported institutions. The institution has been thrown at and criticized for the past decade, but in the long run it will be worth it. East Carolina will be a far better institution and North Carolina will be a far better state because the university has been willing to take bold stands on pertinent issues.

There's No Need For Rubber-Stamp Boards

We hope, along with Robert Morgan, that the boards of the individual institutions of the University of North Carolina system, will not become rubber-stamp bodies.

Virtually all of the powers to run the various institutions was delegated to the board of governors by the Legislature. The board, however, should delegate as much power as possible to the local boards.

The individual boards should not have to have every decision made for their institutions by the board of governors. If they do then there is no need to even have the local boards.

Leadership In 1973 Assembly

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — The Tar Heel Legislature is about ready to call it quits for the year and now would be a good time to look at the people in the Assembly to see who have emerged as the leaders.

The Senate has been led by men who are different in outlook, speech and geography.

The president pro tem is Gordon Allen, who by his very position carried plenty of influence in the Upper Chamber. Some people have alleged that Sen. Allen was slow in assuming his leadership role, but once he got started he did a good job.

People are beginning to talk about Allen as a possible candidate for Governor, probably in the year 1980. He doesn't discourage such speculation. He is regarded as one of the best-liked men in the Senate.

Two Easterners with years of legislature experience have also, in a quiet way, exerted much influence over this year's session. They are Monk Harrington and former House Speaker Phil Godwin.

A Senator from the piedmont said of those two: "They know the ropes so well that they can line up enough support to make or break a bill before it's even introduced."

Sen. Ralph Scott has some clout, though it's not as great as it once was. Scott is one of the few men in the Legislature who could take the floor and blast a Republican call for a Constitutional Convention to abolish forced school busing.

Ken Royal and John Henley are two more Senators who rank high among those who are considered influential in the Senate. They work closely with Sen. Allen and they shun headlines. One newcomer to the Senate told me: "Henley and Royal do their homework better than any people up here. They know what they're talking about and that's one reason they have so much respect."

Sen. Eddie Knox of Mecklenburg is in his second term and has a knack of being able to talk to all types of people. He is considered an expert at handling legislation on the committee level. Knox also commands respect when he gets to his feet to talk on the Senate floor.

Many people are beginning to put Knox's name in the hat as a potential candidate for Governor in 1976. He might well run.

Jim Hunt, of course, presides over the Senate as Lieutenant governor and his power in naming committees make him a powerful legislative influence. Hunt wants badly to run for Governor in 1976.

A very close friend of Hunt's told me: "Jim needs to relax, to give the impression that he can relax. I've told him this. He always looks like he's programmed. Even when he has something funny to say, it doesn't come off. If he can ever learn to (Continued On Page 6)

Public Forum

To The Editor:

I was disappointed in your answer to Hank Dunbar about why Walter B. Jones' article cannot be published in your newspaper just one day a week. When a congressman is conscientious enough to write an article informing his constituents how he voted and why he voted that way, an editor should feel it is his duty to find room to print it. A democracy is a government by the people, and to be effective the people must be informed. Is that not one duty of a newspaper?

Strength For Today

VISION
Vision is the capacity to see in things both their present and latent possibilities.

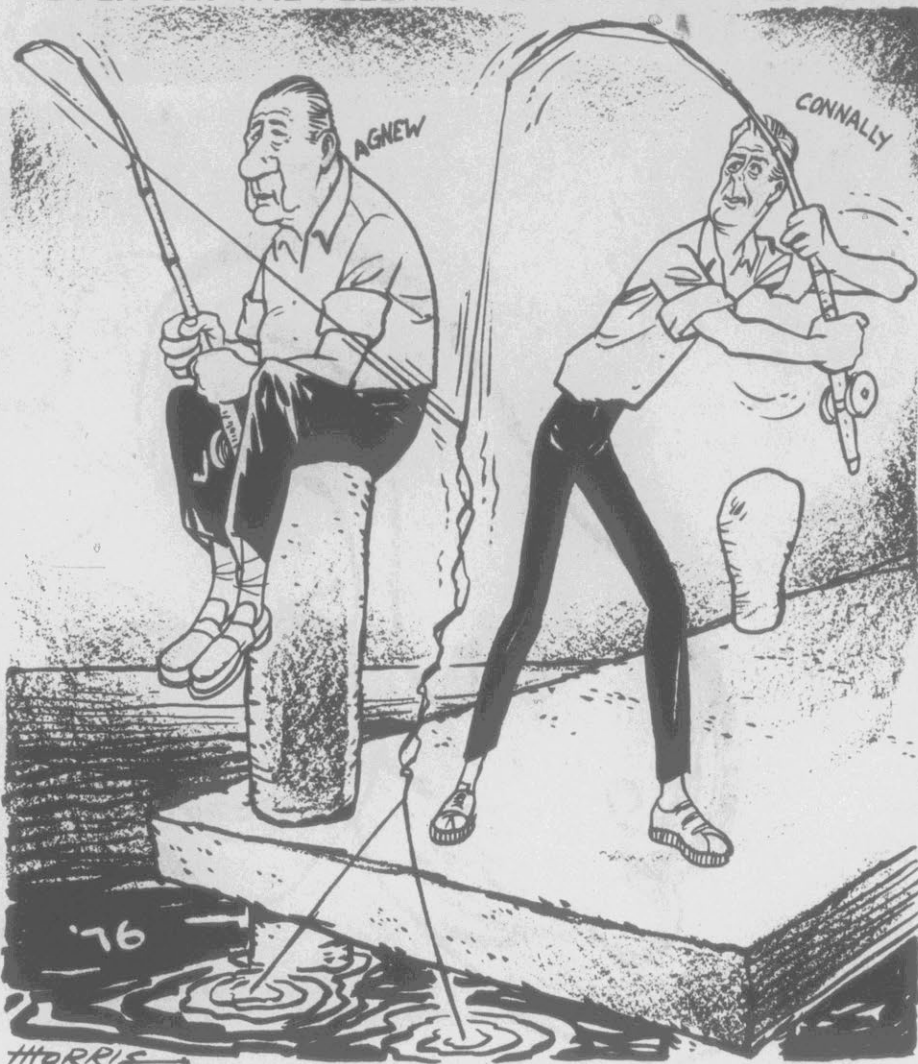

Ordinary men working on a huge piece of stone would see the stone and nothing more, but Michaelangelo, standing before that same stone beholds an angel in it before a hammer or chisel has touched it. Men looked at falling apples for hundreds of years and saw nothing remarkable in them, but Newton beheld in them the demonstration of the law of gravity. The people of Bedford, England, could see nothing in their neighbor,

John Bunyan, more than a profane, looseliving tinker, but God saw in him the inspired author of that Christian classic, "The Pilgrim's Progress."

It is vision into the inner significance of things which gives much of the meaning of life. To the person who sees only the externals, life is dull, stale and flat. And although we will never reach it, we should aspire to the vision of God which will reveal to us the hidden possibilities for moral and spiritual grace which we all have.

That 21st Amendment

Wine is a mocker, sayeth the Proverb, and the old truth is finding new application these days within the vineyards of the U. S. Constitution. A controversy slowly is fermenting over the meaning of the Twenty-first Amendment. It isn't the juiciest story in town, but at least it has nothing to do with the Watergate scandal.

The Twenty-first is remembered—when it is remembered at all—simply as the "Repeal" Amendment. It went out for ratification by State conventions forty years ago this spring, and in December of 1933, to a boozy chorus of popping corks and wild huzzahs, it put an end to the long dark night of Prohibition.

The amendment had two operative sections. The first was straight and to the point: "The Eighteenth Article of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed."

The second section is the troublemaker. This section continued a ban upon the importation of intoxicating liquors into any State "in violation of the laws thereof." The idea was to retain for each State, respectively, the power to remain bone-dry, slightly damp, or sopping wet. It was this section that led to the concoction of that abominable brew known as 3.2, and thereby corrupted a generation of young people living in Kansas, Oklahoma, and points south and east, but I digress.

The question today goes to the limits, if any, on "the laws thereof." Can the States pass any law they please, relating to wine, beer or booze, without regard of federalism as old as the Republic itself.

The nation's wine producers want an answer—or at least the larger ones do. In recent years the production of domestic wine has blossomed into one of the nation's great growth industries. Every State now is manufacturing wine for commercial sale. Young people especially are taking up wine instead of hard liquor, and grocery stores are doing a brisk business in domestic vintages.

But to major producers, notably those in California and New York, this happy prospect is mixed with sour grapes. A pattern of discriminatory taxation has developed across the nation. Georgia, for example, levies a tax of 40 cents a gallon on Georgia wine, $1.50 a gallon on out-of-state wine. Arkansas taxes its own wine at five cents a gallon, the wine of other States at 75 cents a gallon. If an Alabama winemaker uses Alabama grapes, he pays an annual license fee of $25; if he uses imported grapes, the fee is $1,000.

The same sort of protective laws may be found in Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Virginia. All of them are seeking to protect their own producers.

Are such laws valid? If they related to any other products, the answer would be plainly, no. One of the main reasons for vesting in Congress the power to regulate commerce among the several States was to break up such Balkan

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Be glad you don't grow at the rate an opossum does. As an adult it reaches 28,000 times its birth weight. If this were true of you and you had been an eight-pound baby, you would now weigh 112 tons, too much for even a mother to love.

The health care you can get readily depends to a great extent on where you live in America. For example, there are 133 counties which have no resident physician. However, only 0.2 per cent of the U.S. population lives in these counties.

The beard of a man who lets it grow numbers about 13,000 whiskers. They grow at a density of about 390 per square inch on his cheeks, 580 per square inch on his chin.

Know your calendar: In the ancient Roman calendar, ascribed to Romulus, the year had only 10 months. The last was called December because it came from a word meaning 10. But when two more months were added, it was still placed last despite the fact its name was no longer appropriate in that position. The Saxons called the last month "winter-month" or "hleigh-monath," because it contained Christmas.

It isn't disease alone that keeps us from becoming centenarians. One of the quickest ways to extend the average life of the American male would be to eliminate the lethal toll of accidents, homicides, and suicides.

Real-Life Spy Set The Stage

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — James McCord, the talkative conspirator, planted the seed of disclosure now coming to bloom. He broke the silence that let the Watergate story come tumbling through.

It was an uncharacteristic act for an unusual man, a real-life spy whose world was secrecy and codes and a willingness to do anything for a cause—except take the rap for others.

When McCord steps before the cameras in the opening phase of the Senate's Watergate hearings, he'll be in a spotlight that he helped focus with a clumsily typed letter in March.

Then he stood before a judge prepared to impose a heavy sentence for being caught in the act burgling and bugging Democratic party headquarters.

The letter, at that time already in Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica's hands, changed it all.

"In the interests of justice," McCord wrote, "I will state the following to you at this time."

And then came three terse paragraphs of allegations: —There was political pressure applied to the defendants in the Watergate trial to plead guilty and remain silent.

—Perjury occurred during the trial.

—Others involved in the Watergate operation were not identified during the trial, when they could have been by those testifying.

Later the same day, March 23, McCord met with investigators for the special Senate Watergate committee. He talked about point three: He'd been told that John N. Mitchell, Jeb S. Magruder and John W. Dean III planned Watergate with G. Gordon Liddy, his codefendant in the trial.

Another time he talked of point one: The Committee for the Re-election of the President promised money; presidential aides promised clemency in return for stony silence.

And to lawyers in civil suits McCord talked of point 2: Jeb Magruder lied, he said.

McCord's testimony was so sensational it leaked out before stenographers had a chance to transcribe it. He talked so much that only two days of depositions totaled 380 pages.

He is certain to be the most sensational of the early witnesses in the Senate's great Caucus Room and in what promises to be the most sensational of the many dramatic hearings that have been held there.

What viewers will see is an average-looking man, 49 years old, with a somewhat reedy voice, speaking softly. Not even McCord's lawyers were aware of his letter to the judge. And no one outside the now-disclosed large circle of people in the know could foresee how his knowledge would shake the summit.

Increase In Toxaphene's Level Cited

RALEIGH (AP)—Toxaphene, an insecticide which has not been recommended for use on tobacco in 15 years, showed a "disturbing" increase in the flue-cured crop marketed in 1972, according to a North Carolina State University expert.

Dr. T.J. Sheets, director of the Pesticide Residue Laboratory at North Carolina State University, said analysis of tobacco on warehouse floors from all flue-cured growing states showed an average toxaphene level of one part per million.

"This is cause for serious concern by the conscientious tobacco grower," Sheets said, "Studies in the 1950s show tobacco exposed to toxaphene has an objectionable off-flavor taste and odor—characteristics that today could threaten our $700 million U.S. flue cured market overseas."

R.L. Robertson, extension professor of entomology at N.C. State, said toxaphene is recommended and widely used to control boll weevils and boll worms in cotton, but is not recommended for use on tobacco.

Sheets and Robertson urged flue-cured growers not to grow their leaf crops within 100 yards of cotton so as to avoid possible toxaphene drift.

"I am confident responsible tobacco growers, mindful of the recommendations of the domestic and export buyers, will take measures to avoid toxaphene,"

David H. Leslie of Greenville, a student at Western Kentucky University at Bowling Green, has won top honors in a campus-sponsored research conference of The Society of Sigma Xi, national honorary research organization.

Leslie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Leslie of Greenville. Placing first in the Sigma Xi Research Conference, the biology major received a certificate and $50 cash award. His research dealt with a histochemical and micrographic study of a variety of phylum, known as the giant nuclei of Acanthocephala.

Aiding Leslie was Dr. Larry Gleason of Western's Department of Biology.

DEAR ABBY: How right you are! No one should drop in on their married children unannounced. They might be smoking grass there!

I learned the hard way. If someone stole my purse, I'd report it to the police. But when I'm present when they're smoking marijuana in their own homes, I just keep my mouth shut, come home, and air out my clothes and hope I never have to smell it again.

I know what I am going to put in their Christmas stockings next year. A hacksaw for her, and a file for him.

I've invited my daughter, her husband, and several of their friends over for dinner next week, and if those kids light up in my home I'll call the sheriff. [I wonder if I should warn them in advance? Or do you suppose after four years of college they are sufficiently educated to know that one doesn't break the law in the home of a host?]

I never thought I'd send a letter I couldn't sign, but here's one. Aren't we a bunch of lovely law abiding Christian parents? Thanks for being a good ear. I had to tell someone or explode.

FRUSTRATED MOTHER

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Why the frustration? Just tell your kids you don't want them lighting up in your home, and if you are present when they light up elsewhere, absent yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Since you frequently give waitresses space in your column to air their pet peeves I hope you'll give equal time to a customer who has one:

Where do people get the nerve to go into a busy restaurant and READ at the table? I can understand someone giving the newspaper a quick going over to get the news, but I've seen people leisurely reading books and magazines at the table while others are waiting to sit down and eat.

I hope you'll print this for some of those selfish people who need to be jarred into more considerate behavior.

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHICAGOAN: I'll print it. But those who behave in the above-mentioned manner need more than a "jar." They need an earthquake.

DEAR ABBY: My problem has no solution, unless this is printed and the "culprit" just happens to see it and recognize herself as the singer.

My sister, whom I love dearly, has been a widow for several years, and since she is a very congenial person my husband and I have invited her along on our motor trip vacation. We love music and our automobile is equipped with stereo and our favorite cassettes.

Now comes the problem: My sister, who has no singing voice at all, must accompany every song she hears. She does this in a shrill, off-key voice, four to six beats ahead [or behind] and sometimes she "harmonizes."

My husband and I intend to spend three months touring Mexico and my husband has given me an ultimatum: Tell Sis to keep her mouth shut, or the trip is off.

Any ideas? LOVING SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Tell Sis that your husband, the musician, is looking forward to enjoying the music on the trip, and you'd appreciate her quiet cooperation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN THE STOCK MARKET IN ALBANY": It's not the bulls and the bears you have to watch out for. It's the bum steers. Be sure you're getting your tips from an expert.

Average Family Uses 2 Trees

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The average American family now uses the equivalent of two Douglas fir trees a year for lumber, plywood pulp and paper products.

Dr. John A. Zivnuska, forestry dean at the University of California, made the estimate. He said the trees would each be 20 inches in diameter and 150 feet high.

A sick society: The world may not be crazy but it drives many people mad. One out of 10 Americans suffers from some form of mental illness, mild or severe. Mental disease has become a problem affecting 21 million U.S. families—one out of four.

A rut: The nation's leading chain cave operator, Lester B. Dill, operator of Meramec Caverns on Highway 66 in Missouri, claims he has been in more than 15,000 caves throughout the world—more than anyone else in history. What's your claim to fame?

Productive: Why is agriculture so important? Because if he lived only on wild plants and wild game, each human being would need eight square miles in which to forage. But thanks to proper soil cultivation, that same amount of acreage can now support on the average more than 5,000 people.

Worth remembering: "One of the reasons so many politicians are keeping their mouths shut today is that they are afraid if they open them a foot will fall out."

Folklore: Hairs from a black cat have curative powers. Cats born in the month of May make poor mousers. If a cat sits with its back to the fire, expect a storm soon. Put butter on a cat's paws to keep it from straying from a new house you move into.

barriers. But the second section of the Twenty-first Amendment apparently creates a massive exception as to wine, beer and booze. It is a sad thing for a state-righter to contemplate, but the hallowed doctrine of reserved powers has found its last bastion at the bar.

This was the view of the Supreme Court in a series of four cases back in the Thirties. The Court, speaking through Justice Brandeis, held without a single dissent that under the Twenty-first Amendment, the right of a State to regulate intoxicating beverages "is not limited by the commerce clause." To hold otherwise, said Brandeis, "would involve not a construction of the amendment, but a rewriting of it."

Major wine-producing States now eager to see the Brandeis cases overturned. They have sponsored legislation in Congress to get around the old interpretation and to prohibit the States from enacting such protective laws. They also have new test cases in mind, asking the Supreme Court for outright reversal of the Brandeis ruling.

For my own part, I hope their efforts fail. Old doctrines of federalism are worth preserving, even if they foster Rhine wines bottled along the Yazoo. Let's hear it, you wine-bibbers, for the beaujolais of Utah and for Arkansas champagne. If they stimulate state sovereignty, I'll drink to that.

loosen up, he'll be something."

In the House, Speaker Jim Ramsey is a horse. He's a hard worker, an easy man to talk with, and has the courage to speak his mind. He has responded to leadership well. One legislator who likes Ramsey and generally supports him had this criticism: "Jim's a little like Bob Scott. He has talent, but I question some people he chooses for key roles."

Rep. Gerald Arnold of Harnett has made headlines throughout the session. His biggest flap came when he tried to legislate control of the election machinery away from Gov. Jim Holshouser. Bur Arnold is working at his job, does have influence, and those close to him insist he wants to succeed his friend Bob Morgan as attorney general.

Rep. Jimmy Green of Badin, who will be the next Speaker, is considered a package of dynamite. He doesn't waste time miming words. Says one House member: "When Jimmy takes over as Speaker, these fellows had better be ready to work. He'll push them like a farmer does a mule."

Maybe the single most influential force in the House is Herbert Hyde of Asheville. Hyde keeps the House in a high state of humor with his homespun funnies—but he does it with a purpose in mind. He is the man people go to when they have a piece of legislation that needs some help.

Rep. Craig Lawing of Mecklenburg is much like Hyde. He gives you that "good old country boy" approach and is asking for your vote at the same time. Lawing is in his second year.

One of the "steadies" in the House is J.P. Huskins of Iredell. Said one legislator: "Huskins is what I call the old Reliable. He sticks by what he says and you can count on it. People like that are getting hard to find up here."

Final Senate Vote On Insurance Plan Is Near

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation to provide property tax relief for farmers whose land abuts North Carolina's rapidly sprawling municipalities was up for its final House consideration today.

The bill which would allow a family-owned and operated farm to be taxed on its value as a farm rather than its actual market value, was approved by the House on second reading Tuesday by a 97-11 vote.

After today's House vote, the bill must still go to the Senate where it must be approved on two separate days, which means that final Senate approval of the bill could not come until Saturday.

Legislative leaders have not yet announced whether they intend for the General Assembly to put off adjournment until Saturday in order to enact the measure. If adjournment comes Friday, the bill could receive its final action next January.

Rep. Lane Brown, D-Stanly, tax reevaluation has sent assessments of some farms near residential areas and factories in his county soaring by 500 to 2,500 per cent.

Rep. Thomas Gilmore, D-Guilford, said Piedmont counties need some means of protecting their agricultural land before it falls victim to urban sprawl.

Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, opposed the bill. He said it would hurt more farmers than it would help and that it was administratively unworkable.

The bill also stiffens penalties for persons who try to change the use of farm land to residential or commercial use.

If the land use was changed, the local government would immediately collect six years of taxes at the land's actual value plus interest at 9 per cent.

Those favoring the bill Wednesday included Rep. Sam Bundy, D-Pitt. He said a recent

Fingerprint Links Escapee To Georgia Slaughter

REYNOLDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia Division of Investigation has tentatively identified a fingerprint found at the scene of the Alday family slayings here as belonging to an escaped convict wanted for questioning in the killings. DOI Director William Beardsley said Wednesday that the print was identified as that of Carl Isaacs, 19, one of three Maryland prison escapees who are among four persons being sought.

Positive identification was expected today after blowups of the print studied. But Beardsley commented, "This confirms our feeling on the subject."

Sheriff Dan White of Seminole County said he is ready to issue murder warrants "immediately" if fingerprints found at the scene of the slayings are definitely matched to FBI prints of the four.

The search for the four focused Wednesday on a Chevrolet stolen from one of the six members of the Alday family whose bodies were found Tuesday morning.

Beardsley described circumstantial evidence linking the four to the crime as "overpowering," and added, "There's no point in looking for anybody else."

Among the evidence disclosed Wednesday was ballistics testing indicating that four weapons were used in the slayings, .22-caliber, .32-caliber, .38-caliber and .380-caliber.

Law enforcement officers said the search was nationwide, but it was concentrated in Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

Authorities identified the four men being sought as George Dungee, 35; Wayne Coleman, 26, and his two half-brothers Carl Isaacs Jr., 19, and William Newton Isaacs, 15. All four men are from Baltimore, Md.

Maryland authorities said Coleman, Dungee and Carl Isaacs are all escapees from the Poplar Hill Correctional Camp on the eastern shore. The three were believed to have been joined after their escape by the younger Isaacs, who is wanted on a bench warrant in Baltimore County for failing to appear at a trial on burglary charges.

The Georgia DOI said the murders of Ned Alday, a brother, three sons and the wife of one of the sons were committed with four weapons: a .22 caliber, a .32 caliber, a .38 caliber and a .380 caliber.

Authorities said they are looking for the murder weapons and a 1970 Chevrolet Impala that belonged to the dead woman, 26-year-old Mrs. Mary Alday.

The bodies of the Alday men were found early Tuesday inside the mobile home of Mrs. Alday's husband, Jerry. Nearby, Mrs. Alday's nude and bruised body was found in a field. Authorities said she had been raped, tortured and shot in the back of the head.

The Alday men in the mobile home included Ned Alday, his brother, Aubrey, 57; sons Jerry, 35, Chester, 32, and Jimmy,

Surviving are Ned's wife, two sons and five daughters.

Authorities theorized that Mrs. Alday had been followed home by the assailants from work Monday while her husband and the other Alday men were planting corn at the 525-acre farm. They said the men were probably shot in succession as each went to the trailer to find Ned Alday after he failed to return to the fields.

Officers said they based their theory on interviews with neighbors.

Coroner Paul Mosely said the Aldays were all shot in the back of the head from one to seven times each.

Sheriff Dan White of Seminole County said, "There couldn't be a motive" for the killings.

Nearby residents who were beginning to recover from the shock of the murders expressed a desire for revenge. "If they bring'em, there's going to be a lynching," one man said.

Fear Cook Resignation Will Tarnish Industry

By DEBORAH M. RANKIN

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Financial leaders predict that the resignation of G. Bradford Cook as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission will not disrupt plans to establish a central market system.

But they say the departure of Cook, at 36 one of the youngest commissioners of the SEC, may tarnish the image of the securities industry.

Cook's 10-week tenure ended Wednesday when he stepped down following criticism of an investigation of New Jersey financier Robert Vesco.

Wall Street leaders said Cook's departure was more important psychologically than practically.

"One of the merits of the SEC is that it has a strong bureaucracy," said a banker who asked to remain unidentified.

"It's the professional administrators who do most of the work, and I don't think Cook's departure will make much difference."

James W. Davant, chairman of the brokerage house Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, said he did not believe Cook's leaving would slow the commission's plans to restructure the securities industry.

"There's a fine staff at the SEC, and I assume they will go on" with Cook's plans, he said.

The SEC maintained the resignation would not set back plans for a centralized national securities trading system, detailed in a white paper just a month ago but in the works for almost two years.

"It's now a matter of getting these things going," said a spokesman in Washington.

While dismissing the substantive impact of Cook's decision,

Wall Street leaders said the move may diminish confidence in the securities industry.

"The public will attach a certain stigma to the resignation," said a brokerage house vice president. "It would seem to indicate that he is in fact guilty of impropriety."

Other executives expressed concern that a competent successor be named quickly and noted that crucial legislation affecting the industry is pending in Congress.

World's Gold Traders Affected By Many Factors

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Along the Persian Gulf, an Arab show ships its moorings and heads for India.

Somewhere in Switzerland, a banker dislikes the look of the financial weather and reaches for a phone.

In a church, a bride glances down at the new ring on her finger. In an office, a man writhes in the dentist's chair.

And near St. Paul's Cathedral in London, five men in Savile Row suits chat quietly, occasionally waving small Union Jacks.

All these scenes have one thing in common. Gold.

All are factors in the international flood of money that has sent the price of gold to a record high and hammered at the prestige of the once mighty U.S. dollar.

Exactly a year ago, an ounce of gold was worth $55.25, then a record. Dealers were predicting it might reach $85 by 1980.

On Tuesday, gold in London was sold for $110.50 an ounce, and 1980 was seven years away.

The men with the Union Jacks meet every weekday morning and afternoon. They represent London's top five bullion merchants and form the nerve center of the world's gold trade. In the center of the "gold room" sits the representative of N. M. Rothschild & Sons, traditionally the market chairman. The others sit at separate desks, each in touch with his office by telephone.

The chairman suggests a price at which he thinks gold might be traded for the day. The others offer their ideas, and gradually a consensus emerges. Each man can change his bid if word comes of a surge in demand or a sudden offer of gold for sale. He indicates this by waving his flag.

Eventually the London price is "fixed" and flashed out on the tickers. The price then fluctuates according to the demand and any offerings for sale, but the London "fixing" influences financial thinking the world over. Most of the world's gold trading is done here, though Britons are not allowed to hold the metal except as jewelry or fillings.

Who buys, and who sells? The sellers are easy to identify. Most new gold comes from South Africa and the Soviet Union. A bad harvest in the steppes will bring Russian gold into London to pay for American wheat.

China is occasionally a seller. The Refinery of China in Peking is among the 58 smelters and assayers whose stamp on a gold bar is recognized by the London market as "good delivery" containing a minimum of 995 parts of fine gold per 1,000.

The buyers range from world names in industry and commerce to the smugglers of the Persian Gulf.

In Dubai, a Persian Gulf port where the dhows tie up alongside banking houses, gold bars stamped with the Rothschild mark are on sale in the bazaars. Some Indians and Pakistanis working in Britain send their savings there to be turned into gold; the dhows smuggle it to the Indian subcontinent to be hoarded for the day when the exiles in the Yorkshire textile mills can sail home to comparative riches.

In France, few self-respecting peasants sleep soundly without a few gold Napoleons sewn into the mattress. This instinctive trust in gold stems from a distrust of paper currency born of the Continent's wars and financial upheavals. Today the French franc is strong, yet French demand for gold remains. Such industrial uses as jewelry, dentistry and electronic processes add to the demand. Industrial buyers began to stockpile around the $80-an-ounce level, expecting the market to go higher.

But the root cause of the past week's upsurge in the gold price lies elsewhere.

At its simplest, men controlling huge amounts of cash—bankers, rich speculators, financial directors of multinational corporations—have come around to the French peasant's way of thinking.

The world has a surfeit of dollars, poured out of America since World War II as foreign aid, military spending, booming tourism, investments in foreign industry and imports of European cars, Japanese radios and cameras.

Even Communist Eastern Europe has a huge float of greenbacks, the result in part of remittances from Detroit to relatives on the farms of Poland and Hungary.

The London gold market is traditionally cagey about its customers. The rival Swiss market is equally tight lipped. But the signs are that most of the recent buying has originated in New York and the Middle East. This means that men in control of big cash balances are worried that inflation and political upheaval in Washington may cut further into the dollar's buying power.

Like the French peasant, they want to see something tangible for their money, something that will hold its value in a world of financial turmoil.

That means gold.

Druggists Suspended

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The State Board of Pharmacy revoked the license of one Concord pharmacist Wednesday and suspended licenses for two other druggists.

The board revoked the license of James Francis Jochems and ordered three-year suspensions for his two associates, Mitchell W. Watts and Leon William Harris. One month of the suspensions will be active, a board spokesman said, with Watts and Harris serving under probationary terms for the remainder of the three years.

All pleaded guilty in February in Cabarrus County to dispensing a controlled substance without a prescription.

In addition, the board found that Jochems had sold amphetamines to an individual who resold them and had misbranded a drug in filling a prescription.

The board found that Watts had caused or allowed persons not licensed to dispense prescriptions without supervision and that he had misbranded medicines dispensed to customers.

Harris was found to have substituted one brand of a drug for another brand prescribed by a physician and that he had refilled a prescription without proper authorization.

Tanaka To Visit U.S. In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japanese Prime Minister Tanaka will come to Washington for a two-day summit meeting with President Nixon at the end of July.

The White House said Wednesday the July 31-Aug. 1 meeting would be an official visit by Tanaka. No agenda was announced, but it was clear trade and monetary issues would be discussed.

The two leaders last met in August 1972 in Hawaii.

Low-Lead Gas Curbs Adopted

An increasing demand and subsequent refinery shortage of low lead gasoline has prompted Gulf Oil Co. to initiate a controlled distribution of its low lead products.

Walker L. Allen Jr., vice president of W. L. Allen Oil Co. here, Gulf distributors, said that his company was notified by Gulf that the quantities of its 91-octane, Gulfane gasoline would be distributed on a controlled basis until further notice.

Allen reported that under the system, stations receive Gulf-tane based on average use during a three-month period at the beginning of the year. This average amount is distributed to the stations each month, he added, based on what the stations used during the selected period.

In some cases, stations will run short on supplies of low lead gas but they will receive more at the beginning of the month, he said.

Allen explained that the situation does not affect regular and premium grades of gasoline and there is currently no registrations on quantity regarding those.

Noting that the low lead gasoline was designed for use in the new cars and sales of new automobiles have increased sharply, the official pointed out that the refineries have not been able to keep up with the demands for low lead products.

He added that he feels Gulf is attempting to gain control of the situation before it gets out of hand, especially before the peak vacation months and high gasoline usage periods arrive.

Gift To Band By Civitans

The Rose High School Band is the recipient of $500 from the Greenville Civitan Club.

James Rodgers, band director for the school, received a check for the $500 from Civitan's president, Amos Evans, in a recent presentation ceremony.

"The Civitan Club of Greenville has been the biggest single sponsor of the Rose High Band," Rodgers said. "I personally want to express my appreciation and gratitude to the Civitans for the assistance they have given us over the past years in helping to make the Rose High School Band a success."

The money presented to Rose High Band is part of the approximately $2,000 raised by the Civitans in their annual fruit cake sale. Other recipients from these funds include various Mental Retardation projects which received $400; and a contribution of $272 to the Boys' Home at Lake Waccamaw.

Farm Tax Relief Near Adoption

RALEIGH (AP) — Watered-down legislation that would eliminate the unpopular assigned risk plan and replace it with a reinsurance system under which high risk motorists would buy their auto liability insurance was up for its final Senate consideration today.

Before approving the bill 48-0, the Senate voted to strip from the reinsurance plan auto collision insurance. The bill still must go back to the House for approval of the Senate amendment.

The Senate killed a motion by Sen. Jim Hughes, D-Avery, to carry the measure over to 1974.

The amendment to remove auto collision insurance from the reinsurance plan was offered by Sen. Russell Kirby, D-Wilson, and was approved 38-12 after considerable debate.

Sen. Luther Britt, D-Robeson, said that "If we include collision coverage in this, the rates for the safe driver are going up."

Sen. Gordon Allen, D-Person, said that in three terms in the Senate he had "never seen a more heavily lobbied proposition" than the amendment to take collision coverage from the bill.

In other legislative action, the Senate approved and held for further action today a housepassed bill to increase the legal minimum wage in North Carolina from $1.60 to $1.80 per hour.

Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, said he plans to offer an amendment today to delay the effective date of the act from July 1 to next January.

New legislation included a bill by Rep. Willis Whichard, D-Durham, calling for creation of an area management plan for North Carolina's mountain section.

Whichard said the measure is similar to one already before the General Assembly to regulate land use in the state's coastal area. Whichard said he introduce the bill so that it will already be before the General Assembly when it reconvenes next year.

The bill would create a nine-member Mountain Resources Council appointed by the governor within the state Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

The primary mission of the commission would be to act in conjunction with the secretary of Natural and Economic Resources in designating "areas of environmental concern and to supervise the system of permits for development within areas of environmental concern."

The House Calendar Committee killed a measure sponsored by Sen. Elizabeth Anne Wilkie, R-Henderson, which would have provided for a statewide referendum on the question of prayers and religious instruction in the schools.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill increasing the salary of North Carolina's governor from $38,500 to $45,000 a year. The measure would be effective for North Carolina's next governor since Gov. Jim Holshouser asked that it not apply to him.

The Senate enacted legislation to establish a commission to license and regulate auctioneers in North Carolina. Sen. Hamilton Horton, R-Forsyth, opposed the bill. He said it was "another attempt to restrain trade."

Bomb Blast Killed Two

MILAN, Italy (AP) — A bomb exploded at the entrance to the central police headquarters in Milan today as Interior Minister Mariano Rumor drove out of the building. The explosion killed two persons and injured dozens, but Rumor was not hurt.

The area was crowded with officials commemorating the murder a year ago of Luigi Calabresi, the head of the Milan political police.

The bomb was thrown into a crowd of officials, police and passersby but missed the minister's car by several yards.

The explosion rocked the downtown area of Milan, Italy's commercial capital.

Calabresi was shot on May 17, 1972, in front of his house as he left for his office. At the time he was investigating a number of ultra-leftist organizations.

WALSTONBURG—Kaysor Roth Company, makers of men's socks, will conduct a labor survey in this area to determine whether to open a plant here. A labor sign-up will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 4 to 10 p.m. at the American Legion Building here.

Work Begins Soon On New Restaurant

Construction is expected to start soon on the new Bonanza Sirloin Pit on Greenville Boulevard.

A spokesman for Miller Building Corp. of Wilmington, contractors for the new restaurant, said that the company hopes to begin work on the building in about two weeks.

The Bonanza, it was noted, will be located near the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Memorial Drive, South of the Maola Milk and Ice Cream Co. plant.

The restaurant, company owned by Bonanza International Corp. of Dallas, Tex., will feature a western motif, on-site parking, and a family priced menu of T-bone, sirloin, and rib eye steaks, chopped steak plate, Bonanza Burger, chicken and fish plates.

The new facility will employ approximately 20 local personnel. A manager from this area will be named later.

Bonanza has nearly 350 restaurants in 36 states from

Applications may be obtained in the meantime at the Greene County Economic Development Commission office and Home Federal Savings and Loan in Snow Hill, at Home Federal Savings and Loan in Farmville, at Jenkins Drug Store in Walstonburg, at Cobb's Supermarket in Saratoga, and R.A. Fountain and Sons Store in Fountain.

According to Joseph J. Bird, executive vice president of the Company, a 30,000 square foot, single story building is proposed and would be located on a 20-acre tract at the intersections of Highway 284 and N.C. 91 one mile north of Walstonburg. Knitting of men's socks, including sewing and inspecting would be done in this facility, with approximately 130 hired, probably 80 per cent of them women. Personnel would be trained by the Company in cooperation with Lenoir Community College in a training center in Walstonburg. If the labor survey brings good results, construction will begin immediately, with completion scheduled for the end of the year. The plant would be air-conditioned. Production would begin with one-shift, possibly going to a second and third shift soon after operation is underway. Jobs would be offered as knitting machine fixer, knitter, inspector, seamstress, and supervisor. Since Kayser-Roth does its own training, skilled and unskilled persons are invited to apply, Bird said.

Gas Shortage Curtails Police

GARNER, N.C. (AP)—Police in Garner have had to curtail their patrols because of the nationwide gasoline shortage, according to Garner Police Chief P.L. McIver.

McIver said Wednesday he has asked men working the day shifts to cut their mileage by one-third, from an average of 97 miles per shift to 61 miles. He said 61 miles is enough to cover the town's streets 1 1/2 times.

McIver said police will still answer all calls and maintain full visibility during the high-crime late-night hours.

"We have the money, we just can't get the gas," McIver said explaining his announcement.

Plan Another?

RALEIGH (AP)—The president of Carolina Power and Light Company told shareholders Wednesday the company will probably have to ask for another rate increase in 1973.

Shearon Harris said the company "expects it to be necessary to file another retail rate increase this year."

He said the demand for electricity continues to rise, as does the cost of meeting that demand.

CP&L obtained rate increases of 11.86 per cent in early 1971 and 14.38 per cent in early 1972. The company serves more than 610,000 customers in North and South Carolina.

Must Respond To Fire Alarms

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy who had pleaded guilty to turning in a false fire alarm has been sentenced to respond to every fire call in his neighborhood for two weeks.

Town Justice Robert Kiener ordered on Wednesday that a fire dispatch radio be placed in the youth's suburban West Seneca home beginning June 25. He said the youth, whose name was not revealed, must report to the fire station and remain there until the equipment and men return.

"Then you can return home and go to sleep, with one foot on the floor waiting for the next call, the same as these firemen you called out," Kiener said.

Dollar Gains

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold eased further today as Europe's booming bullion markets lost a little more heat in early dealings. The U.S. dollar moved up strongly on foreign exchanges.

Gold opened on the free market in London at $103.50 an ounce, a full $1.50 below Wednesday's closing level.

The dollar jumped three-quarters of a penny to 2.7925 marks at the opening in Frankfurt. In London, the pound sterling sagged more than a cent to $2.5380.

The price of gold dropped $5 in Zurich to $101.50 an ounce, and the dollar was quoted at 3.1675 Swiss francs, up almost a centime.

After touching record highs throughout the past week, gold closed Wednesday in London, the world's biggest gold market, at $105 an ounce. That was down $5.50 from Tuesday.

No Dissent

RALEIGH (AP) — Without a dissenting vote, the state Senate tentatively approved legislation today calling for a statewide referendum on North Carolina Nov. 6 on a $300 million bond issue for public school construction.

The measure remained on the Senate calendar for final action Friday. It has already been approved by the House.

If approved by voters, the money would be allocated to administrative school units on the basis of the per capita average daily membership for the school year 1971-72.

Pet Goose Is Chasing Dogs

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP) — Officials are taking a second "gander" at this north-central Idaho town's leash law.

Francis Kaschmitter's pet goose is the problem. Authorities say the goose has been running wild and chasing dogs.

Kaschmitter was fined $5 in connection with the goose's antics but the fine was dropped on advice of the city's legal counsel. The city's leash law, it seems, just might not apply to geese.

Pepsi Alone In Loop Lead

Pepsi-Cola nipped the Elks, 8-7, yesterday in the Tar Heel Little League to pull into sole possession of first place. Pepsi is now 3-0 in league play, while the Elks and Moose are tied for second, both with 2-1 marks.

The Elks started the scoring, getting three in the first. Jarvis Campbell reached on a fielder's choice and Lance Cain walked. Both moved up on a passed ball and Jimmy Lee walked. Another passed ball scored Campbell. Don White reached on an error, scoring Cain, and Lenn Jackson singled in Lee.

Lee added three more in the second. Mack Stocks reached on an error and Campbell singled. An error on the play let both advance another base, with Stocks scoring. Cain walked and a passed ball scored Campbell. Lee walked and was then caught in a rundown off first, with Cain scoring during the play, giving the Elks a 6-0 lead.

Pepsi then rallied for seven runs in the bottom of the second. Danny Carman walked, as did Fred Matney. Both moved up on a passed ball and David McClanahan singled in Carman. Scott Dupree walked and John Richards got a hit, scoring Matney and McClanahan. Mark Shank doubled in Dupree and Richards, and scored on a hit by Jeff Wilson. Perry Worthington singled, but Wilson was cut down trying to score Worthington moved up on the play and scored when Carman reached on a fielder's choice with the go-ahead run.

They got what proved to be the winning run in the third. McClanahan walked and was safe at second on an error on Dupree's grounder. Another error allowed McClanahan to score.

The Elks got another in the fourth. Stocks singled and moved up on an error. He took third on a passed ball and scored when Chris Ross grounded out.

College View Gets 1st Loss

Pepsi-Cola erupted for three runs in the fourth and coasted to a 4-1 victory over College View in the lone Babe Ruth contest last evening.

The game was a hitless exhibition for three innings

Tigers Set 2nd Game

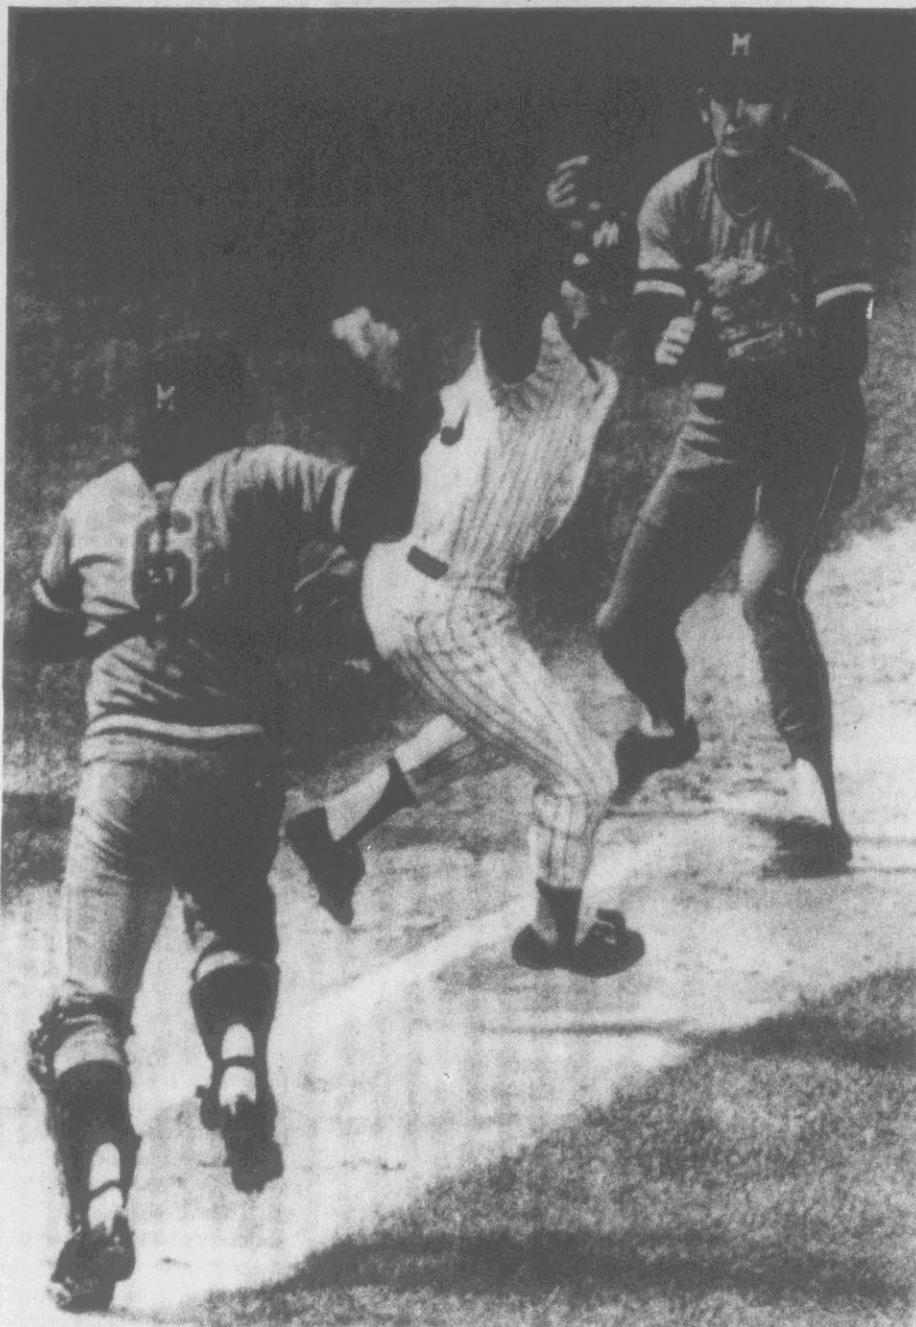

WILLIAMSTON — The Williamston Tigers will play host to Chatham Central Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the second round of the State 2-A baseball playoffs.

The game will be played at the Williamston High School field. The winner will advance into the Eastern 2-A finals.

The game between Robertsonville and Creswell in the Class A playoffs, has not been finalized as yet. Coach Noland Respess said they had agreed to play at Williamston, but learned that Williamston would be using field instead. "We're waiting now for a final decision. We don't want to wait until Saturday, and we don't want to play in the afternoon. We may end up flipping a coin to see who'll be the home team."

Dainty Maid Is Only Unbeaten In City Loop

The unbeaten list dwindled to a lone team in the City Softball League last night—Dainty Maid. They downed Four Seasons, one of the other previously unbeaten teams, 11-10, in eight innings. The other unbeaten to lose was Proctor's, which fell, 14-10, to Hardee's.

In the first game at Evans One, Dainty Maid took over sole control of first place in the Gold Division with its win. Four Seasons scored two in the top of the first, but Dainty Maid came back with five in their half. In the second, Four Seasons came back with six to take an 8-5 lead. They added another in the fourth and one more in the fifth to lead 10-5. But Dainty Maid struggled back with one in the bottom of the fifth, and four in the sixth. Then, in the eighth, J. Huber led off with a double and P. Powell walked. J. Tripp singled to load the bases and a hit by P. Foster scored Huber with the game-ending run.

In the second game, Balentine's took an 8-7 win over Parker's. Balentine's scored once in the first, but Parker's came back with two in the second. Balentine's added four more in the third, but again Parker's rallied, with three in the fourth. They added two more in the fifth for a 7-5 lead. But Balentine's pulled within one with a run in the fifth. Then, in the seventh, H. Haddock, reached for Balentine's with a fielder's choice. M. Sawyer singled and F. Vincent doubled both across for the victory.

Morgan Printers handed Hallow's its fifth straight loss in the third game, 9-4. Hallow's got a run in the first, but Morgan matched that in the second. Hallow's went back ahead with two in the third, but a homer by I. Arnold gave Morgan another in the fourth. They then pushed over three more in the fifth to take the lead for good. R. Phillips doubled as did W. Summerlin. L. Williamson singled and scored on a double by D. Patton for a 5-3 lead. They added four more in the seventh, while Hallow's picked up one more in the final inning.

In the first game on Field Two, Greenville Utilities took a 13-7 win over Union Carbide. The Utilitymen scored seven runs in the first inning to take the lead, but Union Carbide rallied for seven in the second to tie it up. GUCo then got a run in the third that proved to be enough. Outland tripled and scored on Herring's double for an 8-7 lead. They added one more in the fourth and four in the sixth.

Game two saw the Little Sluggers bomb the Jaycees, 22-3. The Sluggers got all they needed in the second, scoring four runs. Mike Parrell singled and Wayne Briley walked. Steve Peele walked and George Holland slapped a home run. The Sluggers added 11 in the third, with a pair of homers by Mack Roebuck; one in the fourth, four in the fifth, and two in the sixth. The Jaycees scored two in the third and one in the seventh.

The final game saw Hardee's take a 14-10 win over Proctor's to hand the latter their first loss. Hardee's scored first, getting a run in the second and another in the third. Proctor's pushed over seven in the fourth to take the lead. Hardee's scored two in the top of the fifth, but Proctor's matched that with a pair of their own in the bottom of the frame. They added another in the sixth for a 10-4 lead. But in the top of the seventh, Hardee's rallied for 10 runs to win it. Nicholson singled and Miller doubled. Mann singled and Grant

Quash, Pope, Edwards Receive Cage Awards

Earl Quash, a 6-3 senior guard, was selected by his East Carolina varsity basketball teammates to receive the 1972-73 Most Valuable Player award which is presented annually by the Greenville Daily Reflector.

Quash, who transferred to ECU from Indian River (Fla.) Junior College, average 13.1 points per game and always drew the toughest defensive assignments last season for the Pirates, third place finishers in the Southern Conference race. In his stay at ECU, Quash progressed from what basketball coach Tom Quinn described as "an average junior year" to

"an outstanding senior year in which he provided clutch shooting, consistent play and team leadership."

"Quash played a good team-oriented game last season," said Quinn. "Although his great defensive play often went unheralded his overall play was outstanding."

Also honored were senior guard Ernie Pope, recipient of the first Basketball Citizenship award which is to be presented annually to the varsity player who attains the highest academic citizenship achievements and freshman forward Al Edwards, chosen by his teammates to receive Hodges Hardware Company's award as the Most Valuable Player on the junior varsity.

Pope, a math major, from Statesville, excelled in the classroom with a 2.7 grade point average and was a top reserve for the Pirates during the past three seasons.

"Pope is a fine individual both on and off the court," said Quinn. "He provided us with clutch performances on numerous occasions and was a team leader."

Edwards was the leading scorer and rebounder for Coach Dave Patton's Baby Pirates.

"Edwards' tremendous jumping ability and body control enabled him to outplay many opponents who were physically bigger than he," said Patton.

"Particularly in our games with North Carolina, Duke, and N.C. State, he consistently outrebounced the bigger men and came up with clutch baskets."

Edwards, a native of Greenport, N.Y., averaged 18.5 points and 12.5 rebounds per game in leading the Pirate jayvees to an 11-3 record.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Montreal Expos played with 14 different teams in organized baseball between 1943 and 1959.

Previs To Help Camp

Carolina Cougars' defensive whiz Steve Previs will be an instructor on the staff of the seventh annual Buccaneer Basketball School at the first and third sessions according to Tom Quinn, head basketball coach at East Carolina and director of the schools.

Previs was a member of this year's Cougar team which fell to the Kentucky Colonels in the finals of the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division playoffs.

Signed by the Cougars a year ago following a successful career at the University of North Carolina, Previs was also a seventh round draft pick of the National Basketball Association's Boston Celtics.

During his college days, Previs was the Tar Heels' playmaker for three seasons and was considered by the UNC staff to be one of North Carolina's all-time top defensive guards.

"Previs will be the first pro we've had in our camp. We asked him to come due to the popular request of last year's campers," said Quinn. "Steve will be able to offer a lot of valuable instruction to the player who wants to improve his overall floor game and defensive play."

All aspiring basketball players aged 10-18 who have not yet entered their senior year in high school are eligible to attend the Buccaneer camp. Three sessions will be held—June 10-16, June 17-23, and August 5-11.

Applications can be obtained by writing to: Coach Tom Quinn, Minges Coliseum, East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Beer Blast Helps In Texas Victory, 2-1

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
"Show me" say Missourians and the Royals, who wear Kansas City across their chests, are being shown.

Tuesday night, California's Nolan Ryan showed the Royals no mercy as he threw a no-hitter at them.

Wednesday night, the Texas Rangers put on a show which featured 10 cent beer, boisterous fan support and a freak single to show up Kansas City 2-1.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit edged Boston 6-5 in 10 innings, the Yankees drubbed Milwaukee 11-4, Minnesota trimmed Chicago 8-6 and California knocked off Oakland 7-2.

In the National League, the Mets outscored Montreal 8-3, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 5-2, St. Louis stopped Chicago 3-1, Atlanta outlasted Houston 5-2 in 11 innings, Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 8-6, also in 11 innings and San Diego stopped San Francisco 4-1.

"I guess we ought to have 10 cent beer night every night," said Ranger Manager Whitey Herzog. "There sure was a lot of enthusiasm in that crowd.... It helped."

And the Royals' over-enthusiasm on the basepaths didn't hurt the Rangers' cause any. In the sixth, Paul Schall was thrown out after he over-ran third base. An inning later, Ed Kirkpatrick did a perfect imitation of Schall overrunning third with the same result.

"Kansas City's poor base-running helped us a lot," said Herzog, "but we made several good cutoff plays and Harris' catch was out of this world."

Vic Harris robbed John Mayberry of at least a double with a leaping catch in the sixth inning. "I just leaped as high as I could," said Harris.

In the game between Detroit and Boston, the Red Sox lost a player, a manager and then the game, all in the 10th inning.

Carl Yastrzemski and Eddie Kasko were both ejected for arguing a called third strike.

"Yaz came up to me and pointed his finger at me," said umpire John Flaherty, who in turn pointed his thumb at Yastrzemski. "Then he bumped me and that's when I kicked him out." Kasko got his early release for "abusive language."

Mickey Stanley's sacrifice scored pinch runner John Gamble with the winning run in the 10th. John Hiller picked up the victory for the Tigers, the first for Detroit's bullpen this season.

In Anaheim, two pitchers who together totalled 33 victories last season, but could show only one for this season squared off. Five-time loser Clyde Wright finally won his first game besting John Odom, 1-6, as the California left-hander tossed a tidy six-hitter at Oakland.

chosen Most Valuable Player in the N.C. Community College Athletic Conference and being selected to the Region 10 Junior College all-star team and honorable mention Junior College All America.

"Geter should be a valuable asset to our team right away since we lost Dave Franklin, one of our starting forwards, to graduation," said Quinn. "We feel that he has the ability to step right in and fill the vacant spot."

He is the sixth signee announced by Quinn in the current recruiting campaign.

Pirates Sign Another Cager

East Carolina Head Basketball Coach Tom Quinn announced Wednesday that Robert Geter, a highly touted cage star at Southeastern Community College in Whiteville, has been awarded a grant-in-aid to play basketball for the Pirates.

The 6-6, 180-pound forward averaged 20.3 points and 18.4 rebounds per game last season for Coach Herschel Walsh's Southeastern Rams and led his team to a 23-5 record and to the N.C. Community College Athletic Conference championship. A native of Columbia, S.C., Geter's honors included being

Kick In The Pants Might Help Pirates

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark has a cure for what's ailing the Pittsburgh Pirates—a good swift kick in the pants.

Ozark's Phils scored four times in the first inning, then rode the five-hit pitching of Wayne Twitchell to a 5-2 victory over the Pirates Wednesday night.

It was Pittsburgh's seventh loss in its last eight games, and lowered the Bucs' season record to 13-16.

"When you're in a slump like they are, you just have to kick yourself in the pants a little," Ozark said. "But they're still the National League East champions, and you can't consider them a dead ball club."

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 3-1 in an afternoon game while at night, Atlanta beat Houston 5-2 in 11 innings, the New York Mets defeated Montreal 8-3, Cincinnati outlasted Los Angeles 8-6 in 11 innings and San Diego beat San Francisco 4-1.

In the American League, it was: New York Yankees 11, Milwaukee 4; Detroit 6, Boston 5 in 10 innings; Texas 2, Kansas City 1; Minnesota 8, Chicago White Sox 6, and California 7, Oakland 2.

A throwing error charged to Pittsburgh right fielder Manny Sanguillen opened the gates for Philadelphia in the first inning.

The Phils loaded the bases on an error by Pirate second baseman Dave Cash, a single by Del Unser and a walk. All three runners scored when Greg Luzinski singled to right and Sanguillen's throw to the infield skipped all the way into the Phils' dugout.

"It was the infield's fault more than Sanguillen's," explained Pittsburgh Manager Bill Virdon, noting that Sanguillen made the right play in throwing to second base to hold Luzinski at first.

"There's always supposed to be someone on the bag, either the second baseman or the shortstop," Virdon said.

Twitchell kept the Bucs in check until the ninth, when reliever Mac Scarce came in to get the last two outs.

Mike Tyson's two-run triple was the big blow as the Cardinals halted the Cubs' seven-game winning streak, even though Chicago's Glenn Beckert had two singles to raise his consecutive-game hitting streak to 24.

Dusty Baker's sacrifice fly in the 11th inning drove in the first of three Atlanta runs which broke a 2-2 tie. Atlanta's Hank Aaron had earlier hit his 11th homer of the season, No. 684 lifetime, putting him exactly 30 back of Babe Ruth's magic mark of 714.

Unbeaten rookie Harry Parker won his fourth game of the season as the Mets shaded the Expos.

Dodger Joe Ferguson, having what he described as "my best night in the majors," collected four hits in five times at bat against the Reds, including a tie-breaking, two-run homer in the 11th inning.

San Diego's Mike Caldwell checked the Giants on just five hits and one unearned run. The Padres got 11 hits off San Francisco starter Juan Marichal, including a solo homer by John Grubb.

Lions Defeat Jaycees By 7-1

The Lions gained their second victory of the year in the North State Little League yesterday with a 7-1 win over the Jaycees. Mike Williams tossed a two-hitter at the Jaycees for the victory. He didn't allow a hit until the fourth, and the other came in the sixth.

The Lions pushed over all they needed in the first, scoring five runs. Williams got a two-out single and Peter Pace followed with another hit. A pair of passed balls scored Williams and put Pace on third. Roger Williams walked and stole second. Allen Collier walked, loading the bases. Arthur Fletcher singled in Pace, and Shelton Wilson doubled to drive in Roger Williams and Collier. Scott Galloway walked, as did Marty Worthington to score Fletcher with the fifth run. It stayed that way until the fourth when the Lions scored another run. Mike Williams reached on a fielder's choice and Pace doubled. Roger Williams singled to score Mike Williams for a 6-0 lead.

The Jaycees broke the scoring ice in the fifth, getting their only run. Ken Barnes was hit by a pitch and Ted Gartman walked. Mark Wand reached on an error, allowing Barnes to score.

The Lions added one more in the sixth. Mike Williams reached on a two-base error and Pace singled. Roger Williams then hit a sacrifice fly to score Mike Williams.

May 20-26 Will Be American Classic Week In Greenville

Mayor Eugene West and B. Alton Gardner, chairman, Pitt County Board of Commissioners, today proclaimed May 20 through May 26

American Classic Week, and Saturday, May 26, American Classic Day in recognition of track and field championship competitions scheduled here May 26.

The joint proclamation was issued on behalf of citizens of Greenville and Pitt County. The second Annual Belk Tyler-Buster Brown American Classic will bring 6 to 12 year-old youngsters from fifteen eastern North Carolina cities to Greenville, where they will compete in Olympic-style competitions at East Carolina University's varsity track.

Local competitions, which ended last Saturday, involved a record breaking turn-out of over 3000 participants. Each city narrowed its team down to 26 boys and girls who will spend next week practicing under the direction of local coaches for the Greenville finals. The proclamation cites the "unlimited cooperation and spirit in support of these activities" by both the sponsors and local community. Noting the American Classic program "is designed to bring about increased good sportsmanship, healthier bodies and improved mental attitudes," the joint statement urges all citizens of the town and surrounding country to "lend their support and cooperation to this worthy event."

Girls Cage Camp Is Set

In addition to the two sessions announced previously, there will be a third girls basketball camp at East Carolina University this summer, June 10-15. The other sessions are June 17-22 and June 24-29. The middle session, June 17-22 is already filled to capacity.

The price is $60 for resident sessions and $40 for day camp.

The purpose of the camp is to offer an opportunity for young women interested in basketball to develop individual skills. Major emphasis is placed on fundamentals.

Featured as head coach for the camp is Miss Catherine Bolton, ECU women's basketball team coach who led her 1973 team to the state championship and also Region II championship. Her team then went on to finish ninth in the United States in the National Tournament in New York. Counselors, all returning from last year will be members of that ECU championship team—Peggy Jean Taylor of Kinston, Jan Claiborne of Greensboro, Jean Mobley of Roversville, and Terry Ward of Pink Hill.

All inquiries should be addressed to Mrs. Gay Blocker, Camp Supervisor, ECU, Box 2745, Greenville, N. C. 27834.

Drugs Crackdown Legislation Enactment Due Today

EYES NIXON POW FETE — Miki Garcia of Sacramento holds the key to the California Capital City she hopes to give to President Nixon next week when she visits the White House with former POW Capt. G.C. Kramer. Miki, of Playboy magazine centerfold fame, has been invited by Capt. Kramer to attend the dinner given by President and Mrs. Nixon honoring the prisoners recently released by North Vietnam and Viet Cong.

Pavement Cave-In Cause Is Unknown

Street officials have been unable to determine the cause of an underground washout that resulted in a narrow strip of pavement on Fourth Street caving in Tuesday.

Mayo Allen, director of the city's Public Works Department, said that the strip, located on the south side of the street between Cotanche and Reade Streets, gave way under the weight of an automobile.

Allen noted that two wheels of the vehicle went below the pavement level but the car was not damaged. The caved-in section was approximately the length of the car and three or four feet wide, he said.

The director reported that sand under the street had been washed out but he noted that the cause of the cavity is unknown. Allen said that the soil could have been affected by the excess rain earlier this spring of a pipe leakage could have loosened the fill material under the street.

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation to crack down on dealers in illegal drugs in North Carolina neared enactment in the General Assembly today.

The final stage for the bill is expected to come with House acceptance of an amendment by Sen. Mike Mullins, R-Mecklenburg.

The amendment would permit courts to grant immunity to minors up for their first offense of drug possession if they reveal the source of their drug purchases.

Mullins said this would be an important tool for solicitors in their fight against drug dealers. He said he recalled a big drug rin being broken up in Wilkes County through the granting of immunity.

The bill would double the penalty for dealers in heroin and other hard drugs convicted a first or second time. First offenders could get up to 10 years, second offenders up to 20 years while the punishment for third offenses would remain 10 to 30 years. Heavy fines also could be levied.

The bill would increase from five grams to one ounce, which is 28 grams, the amount of marijuana a person could possess before he would be guilty of a felony. He could, however, be convicted of a misdemeanor for possessing any amount of heroin and could get up to six months for a first offense and two years for a second conviction.

After a brief debate, the Senate voted 26-17 to reject an amendment by Sen. Bobby L. Barker, D-Wake, to make possession of more than five grams of marijuana a felony, just as it is now.

"I don't think we should enact legislation to liberalize the drug laws in North Carolina said Barker.

Mullins led a group of senators who spoke out against the Barker amendment. They said the change to one ounce did not liberalize the marijuana provision, but was requested by solicitors to make it easier to convict dealers in marijuana.

"Nobody is better qualified to recommend legislation dealing with this problem than the solicitors," said Sen. Robert Vance Somers, R-Rowan. Somers said that solicitors daily encounter the problem of youths who purchase a "lid" of marijuana, 20 grams, the smallest amount they can buy and who must be charged with a felony.

"These are innocent kids just trying it out," Somers said.

The amendment won the support of Sen. Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston. Rhyne said 100 to 125 marijuana cigarettes could be made from one ounce of marijuana and "What we are doing is simply saying it is all right to possess 100 to 125 marijuana cigarettes and still be guilty only of a misdemeanor."

Sen. Phil Godwin, D-Gates, who headed a subcommittee in a study of the drug laws, opposed the Barker amendment and said if adopted, it would handicap solicitors in their fight against illegal drugs.

After defeating the Barker amendment, the Senate beat down an amendment by Sen. George Rountree, R-New Hanover, to make possession of more than 15 grams of marijuana a felony.

'Best Friends' Side By Side In A Hospital Room

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Karlyn Kirks of Tacoma Park, Md. and Lillie Alawar of Snow Hill seem a study in contrasts, yet they have become "best friends" as they lie side by side strapped to board-like beds in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Karlyn is a 24-year-old bong (a kind of pipe) maker and former taxi driver. Lillie is a 27-year-old newcomer to America, whose life appears to be her husband and 10-month old baby, Susie.

Both have "broken backs" sustained in car accidents only about a week apart.

"My boyfriend and another friend and I were on the way to Florida to get bamboo to make pipes," Karlyn said, "All I remember is that a big truck was in front of us. All at once it made a left turn and I woke up in a ditch. They said the accident was near Kinston."

Lillie recalls that she was working in Ray's Restaurant, the business she and her husband run in Farmville, the evening of April 12, and also was minding Susie. David had gone to pick up a new car for them. When he was able to take over for the evening, she and her husband's nephew, Joe Alawar, and a friend, Mrs. Betty Prescott, went for a ride, leaving the baby with David. They were entering a curve on a rural paved road between Highway 258 North and Joyner's Crossroad when the bright lights of an oncoming car blinded Joe, who was driving. The car went out of control and flipped twice.

Both women were operated on by Dr. Robert L. Timmons and both say they have about two more months in the hospital.

Karlyn is anxious to get near home where she can see her boyfriend and her family more. Both he and her mother have visited her, but each has duties at home. She thinks she'll go to a rehabilitation center in the Washington, D.C. area.

Lillie, whose injury is somewhat different, has hopes of going directly home. "I miss my baby so much," she said. "I know my sister-in-law, Nancy, is taking good care of her, but I want to hold her and watch her and love her myself. She's at such a cute age—just beginning to try to walk. And David needs me in the restaurant. I had been so happy in America—until the accident—I know I will be again, just as soon as I'm home."

Lillie came here from Lebanon three years ago and was married in Goldsboro. Her husband, who had come to the United States 13 years previous, was visiting in the Old Country when they met and fell in love. She speaks French, as well as her native language, but knew no English when she came here. With her husband's help and through practice gained in the restaurant, she has learned to speak and understand spoken English very well, though she says she still has trouble reading and writing it.

Asked if her parents and five brothers and sisters know of her accident, she said, "No, I write them that I am fine. They would only worry. I will never tell them about it."

Lillie says she will not be afraid to ride or drive a car once she is out of the hospital. "Something can always happen," she said, "but I shall not expect it."

Karlyn, too, says she is not afraid of the future. "They tell me I might have to walk with leg braces, but just so I can walk at all I don't care. I'm going to be zappier than ever when this is over."

'Lamb Pool' At Graham

According to H.D. Quessenberry, North Carolina Department of Agriculture livestock marketing specialist, the first two lamb pools to be held in North Carolina this year is scheduled for Tuesday at the Alamance County Home in Graham.

Due to lamb numbers, the Rocky Mount and Graham pools have been combined. The best market weight for lambs is from 90 to 115 pounds. No lamb under 85 pounds should be sold at this time.

There will be a later lamb pool set up for Graham and Canton in late June and July. Ewes and lambs can be handled but the light or feeder lambs should be held for later pool.

All lambs should arrive at the pool between 7 a.m. and 10 a.m. It is necessary to notify F.E. Peebles of Graham, agent-in-charge of the pool by May 19 of the number of lambs you expect to send. His telephone number is 919 227-2936.

For further information, interested persons may call the local agricultural extension office.

Sunshine Girls Given Outing

A nature outing was given the Operation Sunshine girls recently by students in the ECU Parks, Recreation, and Conservation curriculum.

The girls were taken to the Boy Scout Campsite on the Old River Road near here. They went on a hike, collecting plants which they used to make terrariums. They also had a treasure hunt, and collected fuel for a campfire and green sticks for roasting marshmallows, according to Susan Appgar, an ECU student who was one of the leaders of group.

Credit Curbs Imposed To Cool The Economy

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has moved to cool the nation's economy by tightening the supply of money member banks have available for business loans.

The board Wednesday ordered member banks to raise their reserves from 5 to 8 per cent on the amount of increase in their large outstanding certificates of deposit. The action takes effect June 7.

Banks issue certificates of deposit in exchange for money deposited for specified periods of time. Higher interest is paid on the certificates than on regular savings accounts.

Certificates are a major source of funds that banks acquire and lend to businesses at higher interest rates.

By the increased reserve requirements, the board is forcing member banks to set aside a greater percentage of their new funds.

If a bank had $20 million outstanding in deposit certificates in the week ended May 16 and increased that amount to $25 million, that additional $5 million would be subjected to the 8 per cent reserve requirement.

Under the new directive, the bank would be forced to set aside $400,000 in reserves, rather than the $250,000 under the old regulation. This would withhold $150,000 that, in the absence of the directive, would have been available for lending to businesses.

The board also removed the ceiling on interest rates that banks may pay on certificates of deposits in amounts of $100,000 and over. But the increase will not apply to banks with total outstanding certificates of less than $10 million.

About $1 billion in certificates of deposit is now outstanding, $800 million more than at the start of the year, said the board.

The board, which asked banks to observe the "spirit as well as the letter" of its actions, said business borrowing from commercial banks increased by about $15 billion during the first four months of the year. That amounts to an annual rate of increase of about 15 per cent, compared to last year's 11.5 per cent.

Senate Puts Off Vote On Bombing Funds

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With new Indochina negotiations opening in Paris, Senate Democratic leaders have given up hope for an early vote to cut off funds for continued bombing in Cambodia.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott declined Wednesday to waive rules that would prevent a supplemental appropriation bill from being called up in the Senate until the middle of next week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who sought the waiver, said there probably would be discussion that would delay a vote until the Senate returns from a Memorial Day recess May 29.

The supplemental money bill to carry scores of federal agencies through the remainder of the fiscal year includes an amendment adopted by the Senate Appropriations Committee to cut off all present and previously appropriated funds for U.S. hostilities in Cambodia or Laos.

Explaining delaying tactics, Scott said the Paris negotiations between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's chief negotiator, Le Duc Tho, should proceed without a possibly damaging action by the Senate. Kissinger and Tho are seeking to improve observance of the Jan. 27 cease-fire.

The administration justifies the bombing in support of Cambodian government troops as an effort to force withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from Cambodia in compliance with the peace pact.

Mansfield said he assumes the delaying action also would prevent a Senate vote before Memorial Day on the State Department authorization bill. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has added to that bill a ban on funding any military action in Indochina without prior consent of Congress.

The House Democratic Caucus voted 125 to 10 Wednesday for a resolution urging legislation to prohibit U.S. hostilities in Southeast Asia without congressional approval.

President Nixon, in a statement read by White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, accused Congress of "action that could severely undermine" prospects for negotiating an end to the fighting in Cambodia.

Bombing Case Hearing Delayed

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A hearing for Leroy Gibson, national president of the segregationist Rights of White People, in the bombing of an antiestablishment book store had been scheduled Wednesday, but it was postponed until Monday.

Gibson is charged with malicious damage, using an explosive device, in the bombing May 2 of the United We Stand book store in his hometown of Jacksonville, N.C. The store specializes in liberal, antiwar and civil rights material.

Gibson was freed under $50,000 bond last week. He had spent three days in jail after federal agents arrested him May 4 in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The hearing will be before U.S. Magistrate Thomas Benton.

Opening lead: Five of ♠
South, the declarer at four spades, was under the impression that he had received a favorable lead in today's hand. Due to a blind spot, however, he turned the opening to his own disadvantage.

West opened the five of hearts which was won in dummy by the king. Thankful that the opponents had not opened a diamond, South resolved to dispose of as many losers as possible without delay.

A spade was led to the ace, felling West's queen, and then declarer proceeded to run the hearts. On the ace and queen, he discarded North's four and nine of diamonds. East ruffed in on the third round with the eight of spades and then cashed the king.

East underled the ace of diamonds next and West put up the king to drop dummy's jack. East's play entailed little risk, for declarer's anxiety to obtain quick discards clearly indicated that diatype your letter or have a friend do it for you.

Remember, however, that such a letter's main goal is to win you an appointment for an interview.

So don't fill it with minor details and string it out as an inexperienced young person often does.
Limit it to one page, typed. And don't begin with the usual amateurish paragraph that says:

monds was his weak suit. West shifted to the four of clubs, dummy played the three and East put in the ten which South ruffed.
South was left with three losers—the nine of hearts and the queen and six of diamonds. As only two trumps remained in dummy, declarer was obliged to concede a trick at the end for down one.

South was unduly concerned with the diamond situation. Even if the defense had chosen to open that suit originally, they are limited to two tricks—the ace and king. Declarer's only other loser is the king of spades, for after trumps are drawn there is still a spade in dummy to ruff out the nine of hearts.

Altho West's heart opening did not give anything away, South was still in position to take 10 tricks with careful play. After the ace of spades is played at trick two, it is suggested that declarer continue to draw trump. East's best defense is to play the king and another spade. The ace of hearts is cashed to discard a diamond from dummy.

South now plays a diamond and puts in North's nine. This dislodges East's ace and after the queen of diamonds drives out West's king, declarer's jack becomes established. All he has to do is to ruff the nine of hearts in order to claim the rest of the tricks.

Observe that even if the nine of diamonds loses to the ten, there is still a trump left in dummy to cover declarer's third diamond, and, if the hearts are divided 4-3 — the rest of his hand becomes high.

"I am 21 years old and would consider it a wonderful pleasure to work for your company, regardless of salary, etc."

Your "age" is not a primary asset to stress in gaining the interview so don't magnify it, for it is a juvenile trait to focus on one's age.

If the newspaper ad merely listed a Box Number, and you thus can't find the name of the firm or its Employment Manager, then use the "Dear Sir" or "Gentlemen" salutation.

And don't mention whether you are unemployed, so use this type of opening paragraph: "Since I am looking for a position that offers an excellent opportunity for advancement to a person of my qualifications, I cite these data:"

Use the Capital "I" format on the page, with your opening paragraph, as the top crossbar of the "I".
Then indent and make four short paragraphs, numbering them (1), (2), (3), and (4).
Let the first one be headed

BUSINESS EXPERIENCE, listing a few of your major jobs, not necessarily in chronological order.

The 2nd heading should be EDUCATION & SPECIAL TRAINING.

Thereunder you can mention your years of high school or college education, plus any Business School or Technical Institute background.

As a 3rd section, called PERSONAL DATA, include your age, marital status, condition of health, height and weight, plus any life insurance carried.

For employers regard people who carry insurance as being more resourceful and reliable.

The last heading is REFERENCES, and should include 3 or 4 with "handles" on their names, such as "Sales Manager" or "Judge" or "Reverend" or "Doctor" or "Professor" etc.

Then conclude with a terse final paragraph that make the bottom crossbar of your "I"

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Steer clear of any arguments which could turn into an unpleasant battle. Overlook some associates acting in an overly independent manner. Control an urge to break up present benefits for new surroundings. Express happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Communicating with out-of-towners is fine, but don't commit yourself in any way. Go to the right sources for the data you need. Evening is particularly fine for the social side of life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do something to improve your health and you can easily handle those responsibilities in the future. Strive for a more harmonious relationship with mate. Show kindness to one who is ill.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't sever connections with an associate because you are in a strange mood or you will regret it later on. Show that you are steadfast with others, even under difficult conditions.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put all that energy into doing your work in a most precise way and you add to present benefits. Take no chances in handling monetary matters at this time. Take health treatments.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want romance, but make sure you don't force yourself on anyone. Start perfecting your finest talents and improve your position in life. Avoid one who can be harmful to your progress.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try to understand the views of kin better and be helpful so there's more harmony at home. Don't be so critical of others. Find a better way to add to present income. Use care in travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Much care in motion is important now or you could get into a costly accident. Take care of your purse or wallet when out shopping. Avoid those who are in an angry mood at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't think you have to spend a good deal of money to gain another's favor. Forget visiting an adviser who has own problems and could do little for you now. Do your own thinking.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make your plans carefully if you want to add to present abundance, otherwise hasty action now could result in loss. Don't be forceful with anyone. A diplomatic approach is best.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If someone has slighted you, just know that person isn't worth worrying about. Carry through with whatever you have promised to others. Assist one who needs your help.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid friends today since you are not in the right mood for them and there could be an argument. Keep busy at the work you have to do. Try not to bother others with your personal woes.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure you take no unnecessary risks in any business dealings today. Observe every rule and regulation that applies to you. Pay bills when due. Show that you are conscientious.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who will act on impulse and get in trouble if you don't teach to be more disciplined. There is honesty here. Work in foreign countries could be most profitable. Teach to do nothing that could bring criticism from others. Musical talent here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Silent Leak Is Water-Waster
NEW YORK (UPI) — Is a silent leak running up your water bill? A silent toilet leak can send thousands of gallons of water down the drain without anyone knowing it. The people at the American Water Works Association say there is an easy way to find out if you have one.

They recommend putting a few drops of food coloring in the tank. If there is a leak, the color will appear in the toilet bowl. The trouble may be a worn out washer in the toilet's inlet valve, a discharge stopper that is defective or off-center, or an overflow pipe that has rotted at the base.

Untapped Energy Seen In Tides

DALLAS (UPI) — Dr. Thomas J. Gray, director of the Atlantic Industrial Research Institute, Nova Scotia, says the greatest possible untapped source of energy is the tides of the ocean.

Gray said 50 sites for tidal power stations exist in the world. Those sites have a narrow inlet which could be dammed up to harness tides.

Housework Strike Halted By Publicity

Memphis, Tenn. (AP)—A pretty blond housewife who started a Mother's Day rebellion against household drudgery postponed the strike "indefinitely because of the publicity" Wednesday night.

"My husband went on a counterstrike and I knew he would never give in when it got so out of hand. So I postponed it indefinitely because of the publicity," said Mrs. Rachel Harshaw. "But I hope this won't be the end of it."

Mrs. Harshaw declared a moratorium on cooking, cleaning and picking up after her husband and three youngsters after hearing a Mother's Day sermon in which the preacher quoted the Bible as saying man is the master of the house.

"The Bible says a lot more than that, of course," said Mrs. Harshaw. "It's just that most men don't get past the first part."

She laughed and said he had not given in yet and, because of all the publicity, "he never will now."

A reporter who visited the Harshaw's large, modern home before her concession found that rooms were littered with cookies, toys, milk cartons and soggy crackers, plus children's clothes wherever Deedee, 8, Jim Jr., 4, or Jason, 3, dropped them. The newsman found dirty dishes, empty bottles, unwashed pans and wrappers in the kitchen.

Mrs. Harshaw said Mother's Day started happily. After serving breakfast, she and the rest of the family went to church, then heard the sermon.

She said that after coming home, family members fixed their own lunch and ate it while she sat, relaxing and unfed, in another room.

"I boiled all afternoon long after that. I thought mother was going to be honored all day," she said. "They have every Sunday off."

Her husband said: "The kids and I have been taking the whole thing as a joke."

"In a way it's a joke," said Mrs. Harshaw, adding, "but I'm also serious about it."

"No, I'll never clean up the place," said Harshaw, prior to his wife's concession.

Mrs. Harshaw, a home economics teacher before the family moved to Memphis from Columbia, S.C., recently, said she enjoyed being a housewife.

"I have the nicest family and husband in the world," she said. "But when I get mad, he just takes me lightly."

Four student performers from the East Carolina University School of Music will perform with the ECU Symphony Orchestra in the orchestra's annual concerto program Sunday, May 13.

The program scheduled for 3:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium, will feature Debra Johnson and Sheila Marlowe, soprano soloist.

The four soloists were selected on the basis of their performance in annual concerto auditions judged by the ECU music school faculty.

The program is open to the public free of charge.

Can Examine A Single Cell

DALLAS (UPI)—Dr. M. L. Moss of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory says technology exists in which scientists can examine a single fetal cell for indications of genetic disease.

Moss said an individually selected living cell from the amniotic fluid which surrounds the fetus can be examined. This would allow tests to be conducted within days of conception, rather than the three or four month wait currently needed.
