

HEAVY WINDS CAUSE DAMAGE . . . High winds — possibly from a small tornado — ripped this two story barn to pieces on a farm eight miles East of Greenville on N. C. 30 last night and scattered debris for more than 500 yards across a field before damaging power lines and blowing down a tobacco barn on a farm several miles away. Several thousand dollars damage was caused to the barn, a relatively new structure, on the John Garris farm off the Pactolus Highway by the wind which accompanied a severe thunder and hail storm. The storm struck the area between 10 and 11 p.m. No injuries were reported. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Young Tobacco Crop Hard Hit By Rain, Hail, Wind

Rain mixed with hail pelleted the Greenville area Sunday night and heavy damage to the young tobacco crop was reported in the Pactolus area of the county.

A spokesman at the U.S. Federal Crop Insurance office here said that he had received six or seven reports from farmers of tobacco plant damage in the county, most of which came from the Pactolus area.

The spokesman noted that several of the Pactolus farmers indicated that they may have suffered a total loss of their tobacco crop in the hail storm. He added that they hoped to replant as soon as possible in some cases.

The Crop Insurance representative pointed out that there were also some reports of crop damage in the Fountain area but he did not know the extent of the loss.

High winds accompanying the severe thunder and hail storm ripped a two-story barn to pieces between 10 and 11 p.m. on a farm some eight miles east of Greenville on H.C. 30. Debris from the barn was scattered across a field and power lines several hundred yards away were damaged from the flying material.

The storm, packing high force winds, also blew down a barn located several miles away on the John Garris farm off the Pactolus Highway.

It was not known whether other barn structures in the Pactolus area or in other parts of the county were damaged.

In Greenville, the Utilities weather station reported that .59 inches of rain fell during the 24 hour period from 8 a.m. Sunday to 8 a.m. today. The rain included a mixture of hail here also, the spokesman noted.

The high temperature for the period was 71 degrees while the low dropped to 49. At 8 a.m. today, the temperature read 58 degrees. The Tar River level was reported at 1.7 feet and rising.

Pleas Of Innocence By Mitchell, Stans

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded innocent today to charges of perjury, conspiracy and obstructing a federal investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

Mitchell, Stans, Vesco and former New Jersey Republican leader Barry D. Sears were named in a federal indictment May 10 that grew out of a secret $200,000 contribution from Vesco to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

Sears, who with Vesco was charged with conspiracy and obstruction of justice, also pleaded innocent today before U.S. District Court Judge John M. Cannella. Vesco left the country more than two months ago and subsequently ignored a subpoena.

The indictment alleged that Mitchell and Stans, while leaders of President Nixon's reelection campaign, interfered with an investigation of Vesco's Investors Overseas Services by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Dignitaries Gather For Dedicated Water Plant

Some 75 to 80 persons turned out in spite of the rain Sunday afternoon for the dedication of Greenville's Water Treatment Plant.

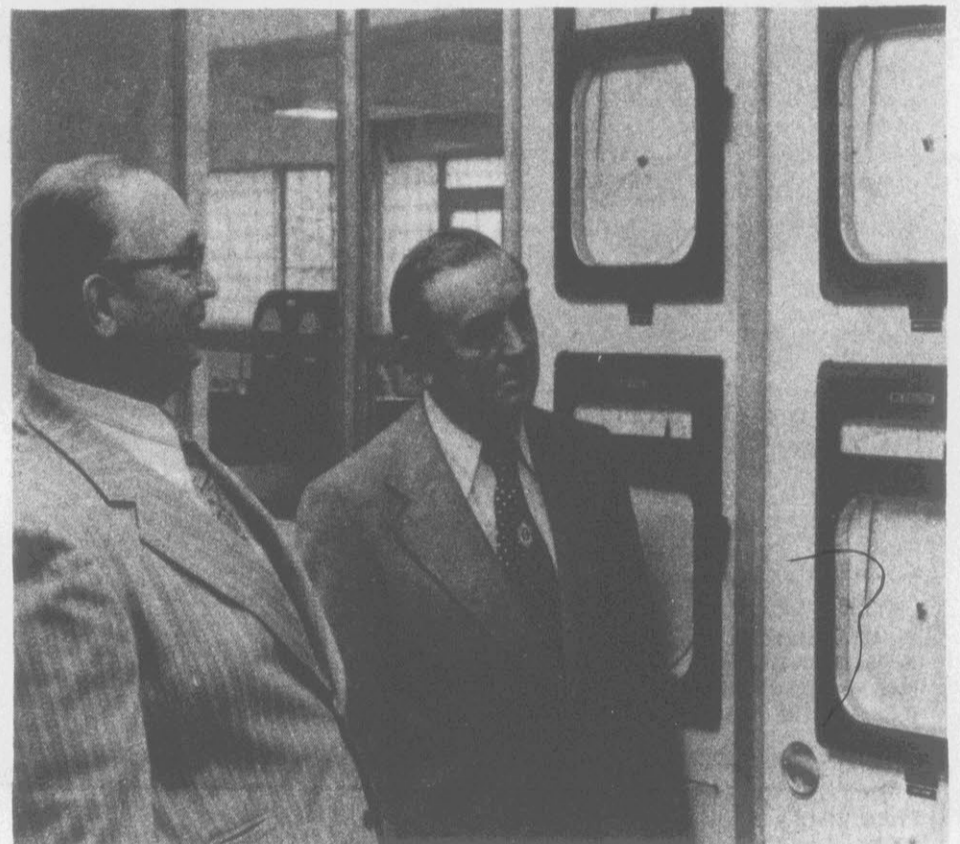

Greenville Utilities director Charles Horne introduced a number of special guests on hand for the occasion, including State House Representatives Sam Bundy and Horton Rountree and State Senator Vernon White.

Representatives from various agencies and commissions in Greenville attended as well as guests from the Mid-East Economic Development Commission.

First District Congressman Walter Jones commended local leaders for "their foresight in seeking continued improvement of utilities and the other vital phases of your city life."

Jones, noting that funds for municipals improvements must come from all levels of government, reported that Greenville has received in recent years federal grants for utility system improvements totaling some $2.5 million; $12 million for urban development projects; and $7 million in public housing money.

"And certainly all the citizens of Greenville share in the benefits of these federal monies. To me, this is government at its best—working jointly with the local levels to provide a better standard of living for all the people," Jones said.

The congressman continued, "When we think of what Greenville has to offer, we can indeed be proud. Modern and flourishing shopping centers, attempts to revitalize the downtown shopping areas, the many new and beautiful churches, and medical personnel which is among the most outstanding in North Carolina."

He added, "And in this connection, hopefully East Carolina University will become an even more important part of this medical complex in the days to come. It is difficult to measure the importance of ECU as it relates to the educational, cultural and economic benefits accrued not only to the city of Greenville which is the chief recipient, but to all of North Carolina."

Jones pledged the "continuing co-operation of your congressional office in all efforts to improve and expand the city of Greenville, to further insure its place of prominence and influence in Eastern North Carolina. Utilities Chairman Ray Minges predicted that within the next ten years a further expansion of water treatment facilities would be needed. He also cited the projected need for a totally new industrial waste water treatment plant on the north side of the river.

The expanded water treatment plant has a capacity of six million gallons daily and another three million gallons come from deep wells.

Mayor Gene West extended a welcome to the group attending the dedication. Councilman John Taylor pronounced the invocation.

Astronauts Rehearse For Salvaging Of Space Base

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Faced with a tight schedule to meet a Friday launch date, the Skylab 1 astronauts today rehearsed the critical first two days of their mission. It is during those two days that they will try to save their damaged space station.

A space official said it would be "nip and tuck" and a decision on whether to launch Friday won't be made until Thursday.

In simulators and in conferences at the Johnson Space Center at Houston, Tex., the three astronauts worked on procedures for freeing a Skylab solar panel and for erecting a gold and white sunshade to cool down the laboratory, which has been orbiting for a week.

A tentative flight plan calls for an astronaut on the first day in space to lean out the hatch of the Apollo ferry ship and attempt to dislodge at least one of two power-producer solar panels that might be jammed.

On the second day, after

Donor Day

The Bloodmobile will be in Greenville tomorrow at the Moose Lodge.

The visit, sponsored by the Optimist Club, will be from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Currently, with the fiscal year ending June 30, the county is some 269 pints behind in its yearly quota.

docking with the orbiting laboratory, the three astronauts would try to deploy a giant shade to cool down the sun-baked craft and protect it from solar heat.

The favored method is to push an umbrella-type device through an opening from inside the workshop. If this is not possible, a space walk deployment of a separate shield will be attempted.

If the shade can be erected, the space agency believes there is a good chance astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz can carry out a full 28-day mission. But medical, scientific and earth resources experiments will have to be curtailed.

Activity today, now that most work on the sun shades is completed, triggers four days of fast-moving events aimed at launching the astronauts at 9 a.m. EDT Friday on man's first space salvage operation.

"The schedule is awfully tight," one official said. "There's a lot to do and there's a possibility we might have to postpone another five days. But we're hoping for Friday."

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz are to fly to Cape Kennedy Tuesday night and two sun shields and associated hardware are to be delivered here Wednesday. After evaluation, a decision will be made Thursday on whether to proceed with the launching or to again delay it.

During the weekend, mission control purged the 85-ton laboratory of its nitrogen-oxygen atmosphere, believed to have been polluted with potentially deadly gases discharged by hot foam plastic insulation in the cabin.

Gold Up, Dollar Is Down

LONDON (AP) — Gold soared to record prices in Europe today and the U.S. dollar dropped to new lows as a result of speculation that the Watergate scandal would force President Nixon to resign.

In Zurich, gold shot to a record $113 an ounce, up $7.50 from Friday's close and $2.50 above the record set there last Tuesday.

Swiss banks, which buy and sell for Middle East oil interests, international corporations and wealthy individuals, have been active in the gold market in the past two weeks.

In London, the world's biggest bullion center, gold was traded at $112.50 an ounce, up $7 from Friday's close. The previous record in London, set last Tuesday, was $111.

The dollar, meanwhile, hit record lows in Frankfurt and Paris and weakened sharply in most other European centers.

In Paris, the U. S. currency sank to 4.4050 commercial francs, below the lows of the February monetary crisis when the dollar was devalued. One banking source said while the talk that Nixon might resign was only rumor, "the market is extremely nervous and inclined to react to the wildest rumors."

In Frankfurt, the dollar dropped to 2.6430 marks.

In London, the pound jumped more than 2 cents, trading at $2.5742 by midmorning, up from $2.5512 late Friday.

The dollar was also weaker in Zurich and Milan. In Zurich it bought only 3.12125 Swiss francs, compared with 3.1485 at the close Friday.

Crime No Issue Of Age, Class, Race: Shriver

AT YDC RALLY . . . Sargent Shriver (L), guest speaker at Saturday night's State Young Democrats Club rally, talks with Carl Darden (C) of Greenville, Pitt YDC

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N. C. (AP)— Democrat Sargent Shriver says the Watergate incident has shown that "crime is not an issue of class or race or age."

Shriver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate last year, told North Carolina Young Democrats during the weekend that it was difficult for him to believe President Nixon was unaware of how his campaign was being run last fall. Shriver said Republicans had "twisted the phrase 'law and order' and made it a code word for prejudice."

"They said anyone who is outside their so-called majority is dangerous. Watergate has put a like to this. . .," Shriver said.

Tenure Act Amendments Before City School Bd.

Tenure Act amendments is one of the subjects on the agenda for the May meeting of the Greenville City School Board at 8:00 p.m. tonight.

Other personnel matters on the agenda are resignations, recommendation for election, summer emergency employment program and a progress report on the recruitment of a new superintendent.

In another category, that of school facilities, items are: plans for the sale of the Rose High School Live Project house, a status report on site condemnation procedure, presentation of educational specifications for the new middle-junior high school, and a report on carry-over projects.

Under budget-finance, there will be a re-assessment of ESEA Title I pro rata sharing, a report on submission to county officials of the 1973-74 budget, ESAA project proposal status, the monthly budget report, and a progress report on uncollected school fees.

Also on the agenda are: calendar options for board decision for the 1973-74 school year, the Rose High lunch schedule proposal, a comprehensive education plan, school board policies, job descriptions, and end-of-year calendar of school events.

School Holiday On Wednesday

As the school year draws near an end, parents are reminded there is a final student holiday-teacher workday on Wednesday this week.

Other scheduled events for the schools is Rose High Awards Day on May 22; the Baccalaureate service on Sunday at 2:00 p.m., and graduation exercises on Friday, June 1.

DEAR ABBY: I was called for jury duty and was really looking forward to serving, but when I told my husband, he said: "You HAVE to get out of it!" I asked him why and he couldn't give me a good reason, he just demanded that I get out of it.

Abby, I think it would be a good experience for me. Furthermore, I regard it as my civic duty. My children are in high school, and it wouldn't be a hardship for me.

I know you are all for keeping peace in the family, but I honestly think my husband is wrong in demanding that I get out of serving on a jury. So how do I defend my position? Sign me "HUNG"

DEAR HUNG: You're right when you say it's your "civic duty." I hope your husband never faces serious accusations, but ask him how he'd feel if he did and were tried by a judge alone because all his neighbors and fellow citizens shirked their responsibility to sit in judgment on his case.

Then tell him to read the Declaration of Independence, and he will be reminded that one of his forefathers' complaints against the tyranny of King George was denial of jury trials. If your husband persists in the tyranny of denying you the right to serve on a jury, declare your own civic independence. It is one of only two public services a citizen is called upon to perform; the other is voting.

DEAR ABBY: We met an attractive couple at the home of mutual friends. They seemed nice and quite eager to be friendly. The woman called and invited us to their home for dinner. The morning of the evening we were to go there the wife called and asked me what size SHOE my husband wore. I was surprised at such a peculiar question, and asked her why she wanted to know. She said, "We have oyster-white carpeting and don't want it soiled, so I'm providing all the guests with house slippers."

When I told my husband about this I had a hard time getting him to go. We had a pleasant evening, and all the guests kind of laughed at exchanging their shoes for house slippers at the door. My husband was uncomfortable in those silly slippers and the other men kept passing "looks" back and forth throughout the evening.

It didn't really bother me, but I wonder if you would ask your guests to do such a thing? Or is she a kook?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: I wouldn't, but that doesn't mean that she's a "kook." To each his own. And in Japan its the thing to do.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a 3 p. m. church wedding. I will wear a long white wedding gown and veil, and everyone in the wedding party will be in formal attire.

The groom, who is a Baptist minister, insists on wearing a white business suit! My mother is having hysterics and says only a tuxedo will do. I'd rather have him wear a tuxedo, but I feel it's his wedding, too, and he should be able to wear what he wants.

What is your opinion?

THE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: If the groom is to be correctly attired, he should wear formal wedding clothes, but if he insists upon wearing a white suit, the world won't come to an end if he does. [He must be a "Good-Humored" Baptist minister.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. AND T. IN HIGHLAND PARK: When you're stuck, you're stuck. Use tact. [Tact is the art of making your guests feel at home when you wish they were.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Secret Place To Share Secrets

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There's a secret place in the railroad station here. If you go there you can tell a secret and hear one in return.

The "Public Center for the Collection and Dissemination of Secrets" is set up in Philadelphia's cavernous 30th Street Railroad Station and is the creation of local sculptor Philip Simkin. He put it together with the help of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania and an engineer friend.

The exhibit, on display until Tuesday, features 20 telephones where you can tell your secret and have it recorded, wait a moment, and then hear a secret recorded by a previous visitor.

The telephone and its users are part of contemporary "sculpture" on exhibit at the station.

"All of my sculptures have to do with people as the main ingredient," said the 29-year-old Simkin. "All of the things going on in contemporary society today that relate to secrecy and confidential information have a bearing on this particular piece."

Every night, Simkin edits tape cassettes holding the called-in secrets and weeds out some of the more obscene or otherwise unsuitable. Some of the "usable" secrets collected at the center:

—"My wife thinks I'm working. But right now I'm going to a dirty movie."

—"My secret is that my mother has money somewhere in her house under the linoleum, and I have torn up some of the linoleum trying to get the money."

—"I was raped about two years ago ... I never told anybody ... I didn't want anybody to look at me like it was my fault."

—"About three months ago, my parents caught me smoking dope and they made me promise not to smoke it again. I lied to them and told them I wouldn't, but I've been smoking dope ever since."

Grads Told 'Watergate' Is An Isolated Incident

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two North Carolina congressmen, speaking at Sunday commencement ceremonies, told graduating seniors not to let the Watergate affair destroy their faith in the American political system.

Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., urged High Point College graduates not to let the Watergate scandal lead them to "the easy conclusion that our institutions and American government are unworthy."

Rep. Jim Martin, R-N.C., assured graduates of Queens College that the American system has "values that will continue to make it work in the future."

"People are saying all politicians are crooked," the freshman congressman said. But

Martin said the loss of faith in government was not only the result of the Watergate incident.

Instead he told the 95 graduates and their guests that isolated incidents on all levels of government over the years have brought about the feeling that public servants are unworthy of trust.

Martin said the basic values in the American system are "truthfulness, honesty, competition, commitment and a basic assumption that those in public service will address themselves to the common good."

Preyer told 240 High Point College seniors that Watergate has shown that "our institutions must prove themselves." He said, "It has also shown that our free institutions, our systems of checks and balances, do work without fear or favor, and we should hold fast to those things that our good."

Preyer urged the graduates not to become disillusioned and bemoan the state of the world, but to work to improve it.

"We have had some splendid talk, brilliant new ideas—but few results," he said. "Let's go to work."

Nationally known civil rights leader, The Reverend Jesse Jackson, urged 712 graduates of North Carolina Central University Sunday to join the struggle of black Americans for social justice.

Jackson, dressed in a black academic robe trimmed in the red and green colors of the black liberation movement, addressed North Carolina Central's 62nd annual commencement.

A former student body president at North Carolina A&T, Jackson now heads the Chicago-based organization, People United To Save Humanity (PUSH). He told the degree candidates that American blacks have reached a new phase in their struggle.

A record 300 graduates received bachelors degrees Sunday at Elon College. Retiring college president Dr. J.E. Danieley gave his 16th and last commencement address.

He told graduates, "Faith in God, true friends and genuine love for others are the secrets of those who would have an invincible spirit, who would live a rich life and who would reach their full potential as children of God."

Among guests at Elon's commencement were Adm. and Mrs. Jeremiah Denton. Denton was the first returning prisoner of war off the plane from Hanoi. Their son, Jim, student body president at Elon, was one of the graduating seniors.

Other schools across the state that held commencement ceremonies Sunday were Salem, Mars Hill, Johnson C. Smith and Chowan.

Much Yet To Do Before Assembly Adjournment

By SAM D. BUNDY

Well, just as I had predicted, adjournment did not come May 11 or May 18. It now appears that the 1973 Session will not adjourn before May 23, which coincides with my prediction that adjournment would come between May 18 and May 25.

The two big items this last week were the final approval of the 1973-74 budget by both the House and Senate and the election of nine members to the Board of Governors for the University of North Carolina consolidated system.

The budget of $2.9 billion was enacted to operate state agencies, institutions and the public schools. Prominent in the budget were items setting aside $26 million for reducing class size, $33.4 million for extension of term for principals, supervisors and teachers, $3.7 million for additional occupational efforts, and $12.3 million for expansion of the kindergarten program.

For Community Colleges the operations bill provides $14.3 million for increased enrollment and $2.1 million for new vocational and technical programs. For the university system the budget allocates $31.9 million for the top 15 priorities of the Board of Governors and $4.6 million in aid to private colleges. An encouraging note is the setting up of a $7.5 million reserve fund for development of a new four-year medical school.

Approximately $200 million is allocated for capital improvements with $16 million of this amount for new state parks and renovation of old parks.

In the Senate they elected a member in the minority race category, a member in the women's category, and two members in the at large category. The selections of the Senate were John Winters of Raleigh, Mrs. Hugh Morton of Wilmington, Hugh Cannon of Raleigh, and George Wood of Camden. The House elected a member of the minority party and four members at large. The selections by the House were Worth Coltrane of Asheboro, Philip Carson of Asheville, Luther Hodges Jr. of Charlotte, Thomas J. White of Kinston, and David J. Whichard of Greenville.

No Question Of Brezhnev Visit

By ANTHONY COLLINGS

Associated Press Writer
BONN, West Germany (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev says he will go ahead with his visit to President Nixon next month despite the Watergate scandal.

"America will stay there where it is," the Soviet Communist party chief told an inquiring newsman Sunday. "The time is already published. What do you expect — an earthquake?"

Brezhnev, on a five-day visit to Bonn, said he will be in the United States June 18-26 and has "all the best" of hopes for his talks with Nixon.

Today the Soviet leader was meeting at his hotel with leaders of the German trade union federation.

Then he was going to the 13th century Homburg Castle 30 miles northeast of Bonn to lunch with Gov. Heinz Kuehn of North Rhine-Westphalia, West Germany's richest and most populous state. They were expected to discuss the agreement on economic, industrial and technical cooperation Brezhnev and Chancellor Willy Brandt signed on Saturday.

Tonight the Kremlin chief gives a banquet in Brandt's honor, serving caviar, vodka and champagne flown from Moscow.

Brezhnev and Brandt talked again Sunday night at the chancellor's home. The discussion apparently included the thorny issue of West Berlin, which Bonn says is part of West Germany and which Moscow says is independent.

Brandt wants his government to represent West Berlin at the United Nations when both West and East Germany join the world body this fall.

Since Brezhnev arrived Friday, he and Brandt have also discussed the East-West talks to reduce troops in Central Europe, the 34-nation talks preparing for a European security conference, the situation in the Middle East, the Common Market and future Soviet-West German business deals.

Brezhnev returns home Tuesday after a television address to the West German people.

Kit To Help Clubs In Litter Crusade

NEW YORK (UPI) — If your club wants to keep America beautiful on a large scale, it can obtain a kit to help.

The program kit comes with clean-up and litter bags, a checklist of major steps to be taken, an index to different types of projects as well as communications and incentive plans that will encourage greater citizen participation.

The kit underscores the belief that constructive environmental programs depend first on people—their awareness, attitudes and action, says Roger Powers, executive vice president of Keep America Beautiful Inc.

"Individual behavior and a sense of responsibility are the key to a better environment," he said.

The basic program kit contains 100 large plastic cleanup bags, 100 smaller plastic litterbags and 300 paper litter bags, suitable for use in and around the house, in automobiles, on boats or for picnics, beach parties or backyard barbecues.

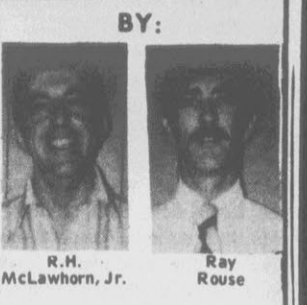

Each bag is imprinted with the official, colorful Keep America Beautiful symbol.

"The program materials are ideally suited for use by individuals, civic, social and service clubs, industry, government—anyone involved in environmental projects," Powers said.

For price information on quantities, write to Keep America Beautiful Inc. 99 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016. A spokesman for the organization said the materials are being sold at cost.

Couple Exchanges Vows Duke-Simpson Vows Solemnized Sunday Afternoon

On Sunday Afternoon

On Sunday at three o'clock in the afternoon; Miss Sally Gwyn Glisson became the bride of Charles Thomas Landen, in the Peoples Bible Church. Pastor John T. Woodley officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Donald Glisson of Stokes. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dewitt Landen of Greenville and the late Mr. Landen.

A program of wedding music was presented by Robert J. Karl; organist; and Sammy Pittman, soloist; who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Each For The Other and Both For The Lord," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with all brass wedding accessories. In the background were tiered candelabra with bouquets of white snapdragons and chrysanthemums; spiral and seven branched candelabras. Tall standards of emerald and plumous greenery flanked the candelabras. At the altar was a profile prie-dieu where the vows and rings were exchanged and the bride and bridegroom knelt for the benediction. Pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery. White aisle runners were rolled out for the bridal party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father; wore a formal gown of white silkened organza and white Nottingham lace. The gown was fashioned with a high neck of Nottingham lace that was edged with Venice lace. The yoke of the empire bodice and bishop sleeves with deep cuffs; finished with an edge of Venice lace were of Nottingham lace. A cummerbund of white silkened organza circled the waist. A full skirt flowed into an attached train. The gown and train were finished with two deep ruffles of white Nottingham lace edged with Venice lace.

Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown edged with seed pearls. She carried a full cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis and cattleya orchids with miniature pink roses tied with narrow pink and white satin.

Miss Juanita Glisson of Stokes; sister of the bride; was maid of honor and Mrs. Jerry Brewer of Warner-Robins, Ga., cousin of the bridegroom; was matron of honor. They wore princess line gowns of embroidered white polyester and matching bows in their hair. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Stuart Shinn of Greenville, cousin of the bride, Miss Jean Smith of Farmville, and Miss Rita Glisson of Stokes, sister of the bride. They wore embroidered pink polyester gowns styled after the honor attendants and matching bows in their hair.

Miss Donnell Glisson of Stokes sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and she wore a pink embroidered polyester gown with fitted bodice and puffed sleeves and matching bow in her hair. The attendants carried white princess baskets filled with American Beauty miniature carnations, pinks, daisies, statice and baby's breath tied in pink bows with long streamers.

Miss Susan Davis of Greenville was flower girl. Her gown of white polyester was styled after that of the bride. She carried a white basket filled with petals tied with pink satin.

Roger Williams of Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow with a spray of flowers tied with pink satin.

Dennis Ray Jones of Nashville, Tenn. served as best man. Ushers were Ricky Switzer of Pactolus, Richard Landen of Parmele, cousin of the bridegroom, Lester House and Wayne Vernelson of Greenville. John T. Woodley Jr. of Greenville was junior usher.

The mother of the bride wore a blue polyester dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The paternal grandmother of the bride wore an aqua polyester dress and a white cymbidium orchid.

Miss Sherry Francis of Greenville presided at the register and Miss Treva Woodley of Greenville presented bags of rice tied with pink satin to the wedding guests after the wedding.

Mrs. Marie Cox of Greenville directed the wedding.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a lavender princess line dress with puffed sleeves and lace trim. She wore matching accessories and the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The bride graduated from Stokes-Pactolus High School and Mitchell's Hairstyling Academy. She attended East Carolina University and is presently employed at Helig-Myers, Greenville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School and attended Free Will Baptist College, Nashville, Tenn. He has completed two years in the U.S. Army and is now employed at Burroughs-Wellcome, Greenville.

They will reside on Rt. 8, Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party

On Friday evening following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Glisson entertained the wedding party and guests in the educational building of Greenville Christian Academy. Guests were greeted by the host and hostess.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with pink and white arrangement of carnations and chrysanthemums. After the couple had cut the first traditional slice, Mrs. Jimmy Dixon served the bride's cake and Mrs. John T. Woodley poured punch.

The bride-elect was remembered with a corsage of white carnations.

The bride was honored on Saturday at a bridesmaids luncheon at the Three Steers Restaurant by her attendants. She remembered them with gifts. Invited guests were Mr. Jimmy G. Davis, Mrs. John T. Woodley, Mrs. Dewitt Landen, Mrs. Giffon Williams and Mrs. James D. Glisson.

A miscellaneous shower was given prior to the wedding by the Ladies Circle in the fellowship hall of Parkers Chapel Church.

Miss Jonquelyn Ryan Simpson and Dr. Charles R. Duke were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at three o'clock Sunday afternoon in the First Christian Church.

Officiating at the private ceremony was the Rev. M. Dana Hunt, pastor of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie Simpson Eagan of Greenville, and the late Mrs. John A. Simpson of Vanceboro.

The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Evelyn M. Duke of Concord, N.H. and the late Rev. George T. Duke.

Miss Melinda Daniels, organist, of Portsmouth, Va. presented a program of wedding music. Mrs. Fredrick James of Clinton, S.C. sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Miss Bobbie Ann Lewis, niece of the bridegroom, served as acolyte.

The Communion table centered the background of the church. On the table was a brass cross and single candleholders flanked by two 20 tier candelabra with bouquets of white mums, snapdragons and pompons. At the altar, was a prie-dieu garlanded with silk cord and greenery tied with white satin bows. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride and bridegroom entered the chapel together. The bride wore a formal length gown of white organza designed with a high neckline encircled with pearls and miniature lace. The bodice of the gown was chantilly lace and the full organza skirt was highlighted with a lace panel front and the hemline was edged with wide lace. The lattern sleeves were accentuated by lace and pearls. The detachable chapel length organza train was enhanced with lace panels and outlined with chantilly lace.

She wore a three-fourth length illusion veil edged in matching lace and fitted to a Camelot cap and carried a prayer book with a bouquet of white phalaenopsis and cattleya orchids showered with narrow satin.

Miss Sara Olive Simpson of Raleigh served her sister as maid of honor and Mrs. Jerry Lovette of Savannah, Ga. was matron of honor.

The attendants were dressed in long full sleeve pink chiffon formal gowns with a high neckline trimmed with matching venice lace, bibfront, waistline cuffs. Each wore a matching pink flower bow in their hair and carried nosegays of summer flowers of various colors and baby's breath tied with pink bows with long streamers.

Murray Duke, brother of the bridegroom, served as bestman. Ushers were Herbert Sidney Corey of LaPlatt, Md. and Bernice Jenkins of Arlington, Va.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Walter Cox.

The bride received her B.S. and M.A. degree's from East Carolina University, Greenville. She presently is a candidate for the doctor of education degree from Duke University, Durham.

The bridegroom received his B. Ed. degree from Plymouth State College, Plymouth, N.H., his M.A. degree from Broad Loaf School of English, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.

Short Leave, Quick Marriage

NICOSIA, Cyprus (WNS) — Private Graham Hall, 18, was given only six days' leave, but that was enough. He flew home to England, saw "a terrific girl" in the first pub he entered, took her to dinner and proposed marriage. Alexandra Bartlam, the 18-year-old girl, accepted and managed to marry him in time to return to Cyprus on honeymoon. Said she, "This is all quite quick."

A Financial Commitment Made

Among the items included in this year's big state budget is $7.5 million as a reserve fund for establishing a new four-year degree granting medical school for the state.

Inclusion of the funds immediately brought cries from some sources that the Legislature was undermining the work of the Board of Governors which now has a committee studying the matter of the new medical school.

Nothing could be further from the truth. A careful studying of the state budget shows that this year's Legislature bent over backwards to give the newly created Board of Governors the opportunity to begin functioning and planning for the state's far flung university system.

The Legislature was as liberal as it could be in granting the Board of Governor's requests for operating, improvement and capital improvement funds and not one priority was changed by the Legislature in the requests which the board submitted.

At the same time the Legislature was faced with strong public demand that the medical school already begun at East Carolina University be expanded to a four-year facility to help alleviate the physician shortage.

Members of the Legislature also knew that a key question in any study of a new medical school was the ability of the state to financially support it. Since this was a question that only the Legislature could answer, the reserve fund had to be the answer. It showed the financial commitment was there without actually interfering with the Board of Governor's work in its first year.

Thus, as we see it, the Legislature would have to get accolades for showing real statesmanship in this matter.

Already word is coming from some officials—in anonymous statements to newsmen—that plans are being hatched to head off the ECU medical school once again. Included are the possibility of recommending a bunch of one year schools around the state and various other plans.

It is all too obvious, however, that all of these plans are designed for one thing—to thwart the development of the ECU medical school. So where would that leave the sound planning that we all talked about when the Board of Governors was formed?

The Legislature has treated the Board of Governors extremely well in this first year of budgeting under the new system of administration. At the same time the Legislature has indicated to the board that the ECU medical school is needed and can be financed.

The board members can listen to those who get exercised over the inclusion of the reserve fund to the point where they exhibit poor judgement; or the board can take the more reasoned approach that now is the time to start planning a sound four year medical school at East Carolina University.

On this decision rests the prospect of more years of squabbling over higher education; or in contrast, harmonious development of a true statewide system of higher education.

Jim Hunt Adds To His Stature

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—A rising star in the Tar Heel political firmament gathered brightness during the 1973 General Assembly.

It shines on James B. Hunt Jr., a young and personable first-time public office-holder in the state's number two office. Many believe it will light his way to number one.

As lieutenant-governor, Hunt presided over the Senate with a flair for leadership and a tone of moderation and fairness that earned respect and enhanced his standing in the upper echelon of the Democratic party.

His performance helped steer the majority party on an even course in choppy legislative waters, stirred up by rising Republican strength and a GOP governor in power.

It also enlarged the lieutenant governor's part, once that of a mere bit-player on the scene, to a starring role in decisions on policy and issues. Not the least, it advanced his personal political future.

Hunt came through the session with increased stature, as a legislative officer, a Democratic leader, and a potential candidate for governor, said Sen. J.J. (Monk) Harrington of Bertie.

Rookie to Big League
"He started out four months ago as a rookie. He's playing in the big leagues now. His leadership is really beginning to show," said Harrington, a six-term veteran and one of the upper chamber's movers and shakers.

Some members felt Hunt could have exercised a firmer hand on the conduct of Senate business. They noted that the calendar, under Hunt's gavel, had a tendency to lag behind the pace of the House.

The rebuttal to such criticism, said Harrington, is the fact that Hunt was learning the ropes and acting from an abundance of fairness and patience to all Senators.

"He hasn't tried to throw his weight around. In caucus, he spoke his piece when he was called on. He didn't strong-arm anybody," Harrington said.

The moderation of Senate Democrats, contrasted to more partisan actions in the House, reflected the balance of sentiment in the upper chamber rather than only Hunt's influence, Harrington explained.

"The Senate has been the anchor this session," he said, in preventing the drift to partisan collision between the Democratic legislature and Gov. Jim Holshouser's Republican administration. Sen. Arthur W. Williamson of Columbus praised Hunt as a fair and impartial presiding officer. "His ability is beyond reproach," he said.

Gubernatorial Timber
"There's no question that Jim Hunt is the number one candidate to head the Democratic ticket in 1976," added Williamson, another Senate veteran wise in politics.

"I've had two or three Republicans tell me they hate it we have such a good man because they'd be bound to vote for him," said Williamson.

Hunt, a Wilson attorney with a farm boy background, has made no public commitment to future political goals.

He ran for lieutenant governor with a long record of party service. Circumstance brought him the office at a time of particular challenge and opportunity.

A Delicate Position
He sits at the elbow of the first Republican governor of the century. He is the first lieutenant governor in the transformation of the office from part-time to full-time status.

His early objectives, according to intimates, was to preserve and strengthen the role of lieutenant governor while forging a pattern of cooperation with a governor of the opposing party.

"He was on a tightrope," a friend observed. "He knew some Democrats expected him to be a mini-governor, and he couldn't. He had to work with a Republican administration without losing identity as a Democrat."

Senate colleagues gave Hunt a cake on his 36th birthday, one of the last days of the session.

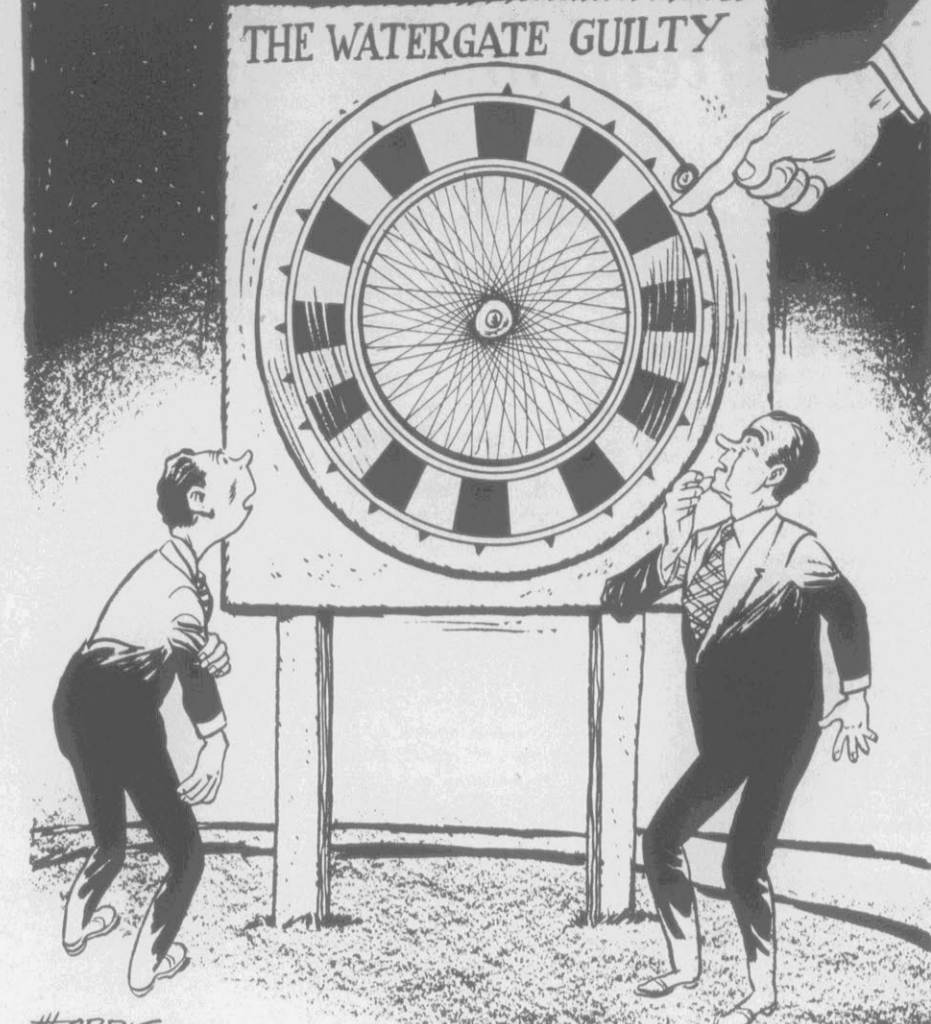

They made a more meaningful present some days earlier by a 25-8 vote which rejected an attempt to trim his legislative powers. The action confirmed his input in the interim operation between now and the 1974 session.

That assured his legislative duties, but left unresolved his place in the executive branch.

The Hunt-Holshouser relationship is cordial but not close. No significance assignment of duties by the governor is regarded as likely.

Hunt doesn't expect to be idle. He will fill his time with service on the State Board of Education, the Council on State Goals and Policies, and with speaking engagements. The activity will keep him in public view, with opportunity to build the image for further service to the state.

On Sending A Telegram

NEWS ITEM—It has just been revealed that the Committee for the Re-Election of the President sent thousands of telegrams to the White House supporting President Nixon's mining of Haiphong Harbor. The White House was then able to claim that the American people were in favor of the action by more than five to one.

"Hello, Operator. I wish to send a telegram to the President of the United States at the White House."

"Yessir. Is this to be charged to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President?"

"No, dammit, I want it charged to my own telephone number."

"Just a minute, I'm not sure we can do that. If you charge it to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President we can give you a special group rate."

"I'm not interested in a group rate. I want to pay for this telegram in full."

"Well here's the problem, sir. If you charge it through the committee we can assure delivery. But if you send it on your own, it might take several days to get there."

"How's that?"

"The committee picks up the telegrams it sends and delivers them in its own truck. Of course, in order to qualify for this service, you would have to send a telegram favorable to the President."

"This telegram does not happen to be favorable to the President."

"Oh dear, that could be sticky for us. The White House refuses to sign a receipt for telegrams that are unfavorable to the President."

"Well I don't care if they sign for it or not. I just want it delivered. Now here's the text."

"Just a minute, sir. May I read you several form telegrams?"

"You can send one of them for 75 cents."

"No, I don't want to send a form telegram. Can't I just say what I want to?"

"The Committee for the Re-Election of the President won't like that."

"I don't give a hoot about the Committee for the Re-Election of the President."

"Well, we do. They're our best customers. They send 1,000 telegrams to the White House every day. And they get very annoyed if someone sends one on his own."

"Look, just write down what I have to say."

"The President depends on their telegrams. It lifts his spirit to know the American people are behind him?"

"The President doesn't know the telegrams come from the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, silly."

"But it's been in all the newspapers."

"The President doesn't read the papers. He just reads the telegrams."

"Don't you ever get telegrams from people who don't support the President?"

"Oh, once in a while someone calls in and takes issue with a particular presidential decision."

"What do you do about it?"

"We take his number and report it to the Justice Department."

"What do they do with it?"

"They tap his telephone."

"Maybe I'd better not send this telegram after all."

"That's up to you, sir. After all, it's a free country."

The honeymoon is really over when a husband can kiss his wife without losing his train of thought.

The only difference between a love nest and a jail is that both inmates get to keep keys to the place.

If you meet a man with one arm shorter than the other, you can bet he probably broke it during his growing years. A break at that time will often leave a shortened arm.

There's nothing less rewarding than scratching a bald head.

The easiest way to make an enemy of a fat man is to pat him on the stomach every time you meet him. He rightly regards it as an act of condescension and superiority.

It isn't true that people talk about the weather but do nothing about it. They did do something about it: they invented air conditioning. The two things that people actually talk the most about and do the least about are sex and taxes.

The majority of people aren't evil. They aren't particularly set on destroying the other fellow. They just don't want him to get in their way. If he doesn't do that, they won't usually go to the trouble of trying to cut him down.

After 50, an overweight woman spends more time worrying about her feet than about men.

Morale is always at its lowest point in a factory or office in which the employees get more fun out of the work they duck than the work they do.

One of the things I've always wanted to see but never have is for a man to light up and smoke a big four-bit cigar during a funeral service.

One of the people I've always wanted to meet is a fellow who as a kid actually brought a live frog to school and put it down the back of the little girl seated at the desk in front of him. This never happened at any school I ever went to.

Men are letting women influence the way they dress so much lately — flowery shirts, fancier ties, higher heeled shoes — that soon some of them will probably start wearing lacy socks with ruffles at the top. This isn't just a prediction — it's a conviction.

An old-timer is a man who can remember when the motto of womanhood was "death before dishonor." Most of the people under 30 today don't know what the phrase means.

Accommodation Spells Conquest

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
KONTUM CITY, South Vietnam —Secret, illicit arrangements are being made with Communist forces by low-level government troop commanders defending this embattled provincial capital, a development pointing up the limits and dangers of local accommodation in South Vietnam.

From the start of the "ceasefire" Jan. 27; the Communists have sought accommodation on the lowest military level and always wildly overload to their own advantage. But they only consistent success has been in Kontum where government troops are weak, demoralized and fearful.

In these terms, local accommodation scarcely seems a panacea for Vietnam. Many experts have forecast that the Vietnamese will finally settle their differences not in formal negotiations but in informally between local military and political leaders. Instead, local accommodation since the ceasefire has merely supplemented the overriding Communist strategy of military pressure.

A recent incident here is instructive. Troops from the North Vietnamese 320th Division, in one of innumerable Communist ceasefire violations, attacked a regional force (RF) company of territorial troops

Other Editors Say Who Owns Beaches?

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Jim Tyler, publications editor of the N. C. Division of Commercial and Sports Fisheries, pretty regularly comes up with interesting—often off-beat—material.

We received this from him the other day. It falls in both the interesting and off-beat category:

A person can be walking in North Carolina beach and come across a sign proclaiming, "Private Beach." How valid is such a sign?

The North Carolina Supreme Court, according to Thomas Kane, Ocean Law Consultant, N. C. Assistant Attorney General, stated in 1970 that the public has a right of unobstructed passage along the foreshore (between high and low water). Private signs in such an area, he said, are not legal if they are posted or refer to that portion of the beach below the high-water mark.

Another example of public rights on a beach: a person can be walking a beach and find a bulkhead blocking his forward progress, unless he is willing to wade. If the bulkhead is below the average high tide mark it is Mr. Kane's opinion that the public could lawfully climb over this obstruction without committing a trespass.

The conflict of public right does not end at the waterline. Bottoms below the high-water mark are supposed to be public property. In New Hanover County, however, 60 per cent of the estuarine areas below the average high tide line are privately claimed. In Brunswick County the private figure runs about 50 per cent. The percentage decreases northward along the coast where there is more open water in the estuaries. Still, there are people who claim, and believe they are legally correct, strips of bottom clear across a sound. Some individuals claim ocean and inlet bottoms. In Craven County there is a private claim that goes a mile out into Neuse River.

Every person claiming title to submerged coastal lands was required to register the claims with the state by January 1, 1970 (General Statute 113-205). Persons that registered believe their claims superior to general public claims. The registration process was to be a step to resolve the conflict between private and public ownership claims.

Mr. Kane said the State has two cases pending in Brunswick County which he hopes will give direction in resolving land claims pursuant to G. S. 113-205.

occupying high ground just west of Kontum City. The RF soldiers fled in terror. A new unit was brought in and preparation made to counter-attack.

At that point, Lt. Col. Buu Hap, Kontum province chief, received a call on his radio frequently from the North Vietnamese regimental commander. His suggestion: Why fight? Just let us keep the high ground, and no blood will flow. When Col. Hap refused, he received a second call—from the regiment's political commissar—with the same proposal. He again refused, and the battle resumed.

The province chief was obeying the Saigon high command's edict that no officer below division commander negotiate with the enemy. But low-level commanders around Kontum, who would rather share food with Communist troops (eager for C-rations and cigarettes) than exchange fire with them, regularly disobey the rule.

Brig. Gen. Tran Van Cam, commander of the 23rd South Vietnamese Army (ARVN) Division stationed at Kontum, frankly admitted to us that these arrangements are chronic and expressed deep concern. Invariably, such accommodation buys peace by giving the Communists territory, as in the offer to Col. Hap.

Strength For Today

NOW IS THE TIME
A man nearing retirement age remarked recently that all of his old friends were passing away. He went on to say that for years he had looked forward to the fellowship he would have with these friends when he would be in a position to shed some of the responsibilities of business.

What he failed to realize was that we can't put off until tomorrow the joys of human association. So many people make the great mistake of declaring that at some future time when they are not so busy they will spend more time with their children, visit their relatives, give more time to church work, or start a helpful course of reading and study. For most of them that day never comes. The passing years erect obstacles in the way of such ambitions rather than remove them.

Therefore, make friends now, enjoy them now, get to know your children now, read and study now. Tomorrow may be too late for all of these things.

No Easy Solutions For These

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Among the problems about which there is much confusion, no complete explanations and certainly no easy solutions, you can include these:

—When the jobless rate falls to a certain level it begins to push prices higher. This is because the less skilled workers are relied upon out of necessity. Output per manhour drops, adding to production costs.

Economists believed during the 1960s that the unemployment rate could be pushed below 4 per cent of the civilian labor force. But when President Johnson did so he found prices rising sharply.

Four per cent then became the "full employment" goal. But when that seemed unattainable, the Nixon administration decided to shoot for 4.5 per cent. So far it has failed to come close; the current rate is 5.1 per cent.

Nevertheless, the country is fighting inflation and employers can't find help. Prices are rising at about 6 per cent and help-wanted ads are reported by the Conference Board to have risen 35 per cent in a year.

There are other indications also that are traditionally viewed as indicating full employment, despite that relatively high 5.1 per cent rate. What's the explanation?

The most widely accepted one is that the labor force has changed greatly, especially because of the influx of teenagers and women. The fact is that the jobless rate for married men is down around 2.4 per cent.

This suggests that as the labor force changes, the value of the jobless rate as an inflation indicator changes also. It appears not to be, as it is sometimes used, an unchanging numerical indicator.

But that's an overly simple explanation. The full story is doubtless far more complex and won't revealed until studies now being conducted are themselves analyzed.

—Americans are willing to take financial risks, no matter what some of the polls might say. For months consumers have been adding to their debt, which at the end of March totaled $159.3 billion.

In the first three months of the year, in fact, about $6 billion was added to that figure. In March alone, consumers added $61 billion to their credit card debt. Regardless of fears, they are taking risks.

Why then is Wall Street losing out? Curiously, one of the most widely believed explanations is that the individual investor has lost his nerve, that "individual investors are increasingly reluctant to take risks."

A.C. Monk Tobacco Co. Shows New Plant To Public

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
FARMVILLE—A. C. Monk Tobacco Company here opened its sprawling processing plant and its fabulously designed offices to the public Friday afternoon and hundreds toured the 10-acre complex. The Monk company is the largest processor of leaf tobacco in the world, processing tobacco "to order" for tobacco product manufacturers throughout the world. Tobacco is bought by the company worldwide.

Guides explained that some tobacco is shredded and some is put up in leaf form. All is graded. The stem are separated from the rest of each leaf, for, though the stems are used, they have to be flattened out and cut to small size before they can be homogenized in among the other tobacco. Quality control is important and there are constant checks as to whether the processing procedure is up to par. Laboratory tests for moisture, sand, and other considerations are made daily.

Working conditions in the new plant are the best, with air conditioning and heating throughout. Employee lounges are strategically placed. Bright colors break the monotony and also serve as color coding for various operations.

The office area is carpeted throughout with brilliant colors ultra modern furnishings, and prints which pick up the color scheme of each area. There are two arboreta, one with tropical plants in the executive suite. Computers are used for keeping trace of orders and other purposes.

One interesting room is the Sampling Room, where buyers may try certain kinds of tobacco to decide what they would like. A cigarette will be rolled from the one kind. It is lit with a candle, because sulfur from the match would impart a little distracting flavor. Between trying different flavors, the buyer drinks milk to remove the taste of one before he tries another. This one type of tobacco may account for only a few shreds in a cigarette blended from 20 or more types, yet it is carefully selected and the company does what is necessary to make sure this type is delivered according to specifications.

All machinery was cut off to insure safety for those touring the plant. The Monk brothers, Coy, Robert, and William were on hand to greet visitors in the office of the plant, which employs about 180 persons year-round and some 1,200 during the height of the tobacco processing season.

Besides outright attacks on outposts, Communists cadres have been instructed to plant agents in territorial troop units to agitate against further fighting. Low-level accommodation should follow. The strategy requires that approaches be made only to battle-weary troop commanders, not their superiors. That became clear when the Communists asked for talks with the commander of the Border Ranger camp besieged by North Vietnamese troops at strategically located Ton Le Cham. When Saigon insisted that an ARVN general sit in, the Communists called it off. Though nationwide in scope, Hanoi's local accommodation has succeeded consistently only in Kontum. The reasons are obvious. The 23rd here, perhaps the weakest ARVN division, is composed of ethnic Vietnamese assigned far from home in an area populated by the Montagnard ethnic minority. The Montagnard territorial troops here are despised by their Vietnamese commanders and, in truth, have a poor combat record. North Vietnamese invaders swept to Kontum City's gates during the 1972 offensive and were not pushed back by the 23rds lackluster counteroffensive late last year. Consequently, the Saigon regime holds only 5 per cent of Konyum province (although nearly 90 per cent of its population). Kontum City is an enclave, indefensible against any major Communist offensive without heavy support from U.S. B-52's.

Through the Vietnam war, local accommodation has occurred where government troops were either of poor quality or spread too thin. Thus, in Kontum it is a sign not of Vietnamese fraternal reconciliation but of government weakness. The telltale sign is the infrequency of accommodation elsewhere in South Vietnam where the military situation, though dangerous, is vastly less gloomy than in Kontum.

Says Pride Not Enough

ROXBORO, N.C. (AP)—The black mayor of Fayette, Miss., Charles Evers, says blacks will never accomplish anything by just having pride.

"We've got to be black and involved," he told a freedom rally Sunday sponsored by the Person County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

He also warned against separatism of the races.

"My young blacks, forget that separatism. It's a joke. We want a part of this country—a part that our mammas and daddies worked for, a part that our grandpas and grandmas died for," he said.

"We can't get it just by being black and proud," he added.

"White folks respect black folk that black folk respect. We blacks have to learn one or two things—that until we get together and unite as one, and give the same respect to each other that we give to other folks, we can't be anything," he said.

Howard Lee, the black of Chapel Hill, introduced Evers and praised him for his leadership.

The rally, which drew several hundred persons, was held to promote membership in the Person County NAACP chapter.

General Assembly Has Much To Do Next Time

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's General Assembly, preparing to adjourn a 19-week session, can look ahead to much work when the lawmakers return next January to begin annual sessions.

The weary legislators resolved many major issues this session, but carried over several to 1974, include no-fault auto insurance, a change in the primary elections date a legislative code of ethics and a 183-page bill to amend the laws relating to pretrial criminal procedure.

Still unresolved is the question of whether capital punishment will be abolished in North Carolina for all crimes except murder. The Senate wants to retain the death penalty for first degree rape while the House does not.

The 1973 legislature began with a rush, settled down to a more leisure pace and accelerated its tempo in the closing weeks.

Revival Series Begins Tonight

Revival services will begin tonight at the St. Paul Pentecostal Holiness Church, located east of Greenville on the Washington Highway.

Mrs. Vera Griffin will be the guest evangelist. Services will continue through Sunday, May 27, and will begin nightly at 7:45 and at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The pastor is the Rev. R. H. Bradford. The public is invited to attend.

Charge Driver In Car Collision

Lyman Edward Owens Jr., of 2711 South Evans St., was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 4:35 p.m. collision at the intersection of Third and Greene Streets.

Police said the Owens car collided with a vehicle operated by James William Collins of 210 North Elm St. causing an estimated $550 damage to the Collins car and $250 damage to the Owens auto.

Officers reported Collins and one passenger in his auto received minor injuries.

Trade Policy Adjustments Bd. Meeting Set For Thursday

The Greenville-Pitt County League of Women Voters will discuss various aspects of U. S. foreign trade policy at its Tuesday's general meeting at the First Presbyterian Church.

Ms. Marie Farr will moderate the panel discussion on subjects ranging from the effects of present trade policies on the North Carolina export industry (mainly tobacco and textiles) to the U. S. position in GATT, the upcoming trade negotiations among 48 nations scheduled for September and October.

Serving as panelists will be Ms. Mary Lou Byrne, Ms. Judy Randall, and Ms. Dail Carrell. Taking place during World Trade Week which begins today, this LWV meeting will begin with refreshments at 7:30 p.m., and the program will start at 8:00 p.m.

The League invites and urges all those interested to attend the meeting.

Four items are on schedule for the May meeting of the Greenville Board of Adjustments, to be held at City Hall at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

All four are public hearings. They are: A request for variance by the Greenville Development Company, Inc., to construct a house on lot 5R in the Higgs Subdivision; a request for special use permit by Noah G. Raynor to use the structure on the southeast corner of 14th Street and Greenville Boulevard as a kindergarten; request for special use permit by Mrs. Jean S. Morgan to use a portion of a structure located at 2815 Jefferson Drive for a home occupation beauty shop; and a request for special use permit by Moore-King-Sullivan Oil Company, Inc. to place additional storage tanks on property located at 2121 Myrtle Avenue.

Fiscal Fiascos Mark Defense Weapons Systems

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has asked Congress for nearly $35 billion to buy and build things next year. If next year is like last year and most years before that, almost a billion of those dollars will be wasted: On weapons that don't work. On planes that won't fly. On ships that never sail.

Quite likely, those fiscal fiascos will be accompanied by cost overruns, production underruns and delivery delays that pour several billions more of the taxpayers' dollars down the defense drain. It's been like that for a long time, almost since man abandoned his horse and musket for airplanes and missiles, and weapons systems began their dizzying climb in complexity and cost. And sometimes outright waste.

For instance, in the past decade, the value of weapons programs that were simply abandoned, without any usable hardware at all to show for the time and effort, totaled $7 billion.

Government accountants recently completed an audit of 45 major weapons systems under development and found cost overruns of $31.5 billion—39 percent—over original estimates. When overruns on spare parts and support equipment for those systems are included, the figure is closer to $35 billion.

Some defense experts warily suggest there may be a light at the end of the tunnel.

Others say they've heard that line before.

"Our biggest problem is that we play games," says Gordon Rule, one of the Navy's top civilian procurement specialists and a frequent critic of procurement practices.

"The contractors play games with the Defense Department. The Defense Department plays games with Congress. I have grave doubts that anybody can stop it."

In the last few years, in an attempt to stop the games or at least to make them less horrible, the Defense Department has undertaken a major overhaul of procurement procedures. Nobody, not even the authors of the changes, is prepared to say at this point that things are all fixed up, but they say they see improvement.

An Associated Press study of the nation's defense contracting practices—what Gordon Rule calls games—has found:

—Some of the procurement scandals of recent years resulted from what is now generally conceded to be a faulty buying concept initiated during the Kennedy administration. The concept, called total package procurement, was aimed at saving money. But it forced contractors to mass-produce items at the same time the items were being developed. The result was assembly-line foulups the likes of which American industry seldom sees.

—The number of new defense and space projects has fallen drastically in the past few years, slashing the business base of the nation's giant defense-aerospace industry. Some contractors have been so eager for business that they deliberately bid low on projects just to win the contracts. They knew from precedent that when their low bids got them into financial trouble, the Defense Department would bail them out.

—The Defense Department has begun a new policy called fly-before-you-buy, aimed at cutting costs and improving the end product. The Pentagon thinks it will work. The Congress thinks it will work. The contractors think it will work. But nobody uses it.

—Many officials of the largest defense-aerospace industrial empires say they feel their industry is due for a shakeout. They say there is not enough business to sustain the dozen or so largest defense-aerospace companies and that, through merger or bankruptcy or a combination thereof, some are going to have to go.

The basic problem in the defense procurement process is that it doesn't operate very efficiently doing what sounds like a relatively simple job: identifying and defining a defense need and a weapons system to cover that need; amassing the technology the system requires; developing that system and then producing it. Somewhere between the idea and the reality, somebody's been messing up.

Most visible among the messes are those $7 billion worth of programs the Defense Department has abandoned in the past decade. They included projects where the military finally concluded it couldn't get what it wanted, or couldn't make what it wanted work right, or couldn't afford the thing after it was developed.

There was, for example, the Army's "weapon of the future," the Main Battle Tank, conceived in 1964 to be on one hand, simple and reliable, while, on the other hand, doing everything, everywhere, better than anything else of its kind. After spending $234.8 million, the Army abandoned the General Motors-built MBT last year because it had become too expensive and too complex.

In all, there have been at least 39 major procurement projects killed in the last 10 years.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very good day and evening to get your affairs in excellent shape. There is just enough opposition to make you want to triumph over circumstances and really accomplish a great deal that advances your ambitions and progress considerably. Your day also to organize what requires careful and practical attention.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep busy in the active world outside furthering your career aim and be alert to new opportunities. A superior makes good suggestions that should be taken into consideration and used. Avoid one who bickers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get the data you need from those whose experience has been different from your own. Listen attentively to others and pick up good ideas that can be used in the future. Avoid that tendency to splurge.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can handle any responsibilities you have intelligently now and quickly, so get at them early and plow right through. Come to a greater accord with mate who is in a most favorable mood. Cultivate a larger sense of humor.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Know what is most expected by associates and try to please them so there is greater understanding and profit. You can reconcile with one who meant much to you before this. Contact some good relative you have not seen in a long time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Put your shoulder to the wheel and get all that work behind you with speed and precision. Add new pieces to your wardrobe that are attractive, make you look your best. Iron out personal problems easily.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put those creative ideas to work and get excellent results with them, and secure the aid of a higher-up who can be most helpful. Have a frank talk with mate and reach a far better understanding. Think calmly, intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to make changes at home, but it would be best first to talk this over with family. Have a more secure foundation for your daily living. Your activity now can make it so. Don't reach an impasse by losing your temper.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to communicate with regular associates about your joint outlets and have greater success in the future. Handle your correspondence well. Get into statements and reports that are important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can get a clever business person to understand your views now and give you the cooperation you need. Be sure to study new outlets that can increase your income in the days ahead. Think constructively.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go after those personal goals that mean so much to you with an excellent chance of gaining them. Make sure you accept invitations or that you yourself do some entertaining of right people. Get quick results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are in a most practical mood and should contact experts so you know how to advance more quickly in the future. Forget about going out to visit and stick to the productive. Tomorrow is a better day for such.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan to accept invitations extended you today, when you are in the right mood for sociability. Know just what your desires really are and then you can go after them with vim and vigor. Think kindly of others.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those young people who is quite cold and calculating, so be sure to teach early in life to be more thoughtful of others and to help those who are not as lucky. Ideal chart for any of the practical professions where good judgment is required. There can be much personal happiness in this chart. Many fine talents here, also, particularly in the arts. Mate should be picked through astrology.

Extension phones help you outwit busy days. Put them to work all around your home.

How about one for the kitchen? Best way to keep an eye on what's stewing, boiling, broiling, toasting while you discuss what's cooking.

'Waltons' And Julie Andrews Star In '73 Emmies

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television's biggest success of the season, "The Waltons," and its most glamorous failure, "The Julie Andrews Hour," dominated the 25th annual Emmy Awards presentations.

"The Waltons," the CBS story of a rural Virginia family during the Depression, won six awards Sunday night—including best dramatic series; best actor, for Richard Thomas; best actress, for Michael Learned; and best supporting actress, for Ellen Corby.

Miss Andrews' show, canceled by ABC because of low ratings, picked up seven awards, including best musical variety series and a number for technical aspects. Miss Andrews was reported abroad during the moment of triumph at the Shubert Theater.

In the annual network rivalry, CBS won 25 awards, followed by ABC with 22, NBC won 10, and the Public Broadcasting System had seven.

Sunday's awards were for entertainment programs and achievement. News and documentary awards will be presented Tuesday night in a ceremony in New York City over CBS.

Laurence Olivier was named outstanding actor in a single performance for ABC's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," and Cloris Leachman was named outstanding actress for an ABC Movie of the Week, "A Brand New Life." Both also are Oscar winners.

The CBS movie, "A War of Children," a portrayal of the bitter Protestant-Catholic conflict in Northern Ireland, was named outstanding single dramatic program.

Scott Jacoby, 16, was named best supporting actor in a drama for the ABC movie "That Certain Summer," in which he played a youth trying to cope with his father's homosexuality.

Mary Tyler Moore was named best actress in a comedy, and two performers on her "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," Ted Knight and Valerie Harper, were named best supporting players.

Miss Moore earlier won two Emmys in her appearance on the old "Dick Van Dyke Show."

"The Odd Couple," was named the best comedy actor for his portrayal of a sloppy sportswriter. He won for the same role in 1971.

Another major winner was "Liza With a Z." The NBC special starring Liza Minnelli was named best single variety show. It previously won a Peabody Award.

"America," the 13-part reflection on the United States by Alistair Cooke, was named the outstanding new series. The show, also a Peabody winner, was produced by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Another BBC show, "Tom Brown's Schooldays," was named outstanding limited series. Its star, Anthony Murphy, was named best actor in a limited series.

Susan Hampshire, who has won two Emmys previously, was named best actress in a limited series, the BBC's "Vanity Fair." Both series were aired on Masterpiece Theatre on PBS.

Tim Conway was selected best supporting player in a variety show for an appearance on the "Carol Burnett Show."

Emmys for outstanding children's programming went to "Sesame Street"; "Zoom"; the writers of "The Electric Co."; "The ABC Afterschool Special," the "Last of the Curlews"; and to Shari Lewis for "A Picture of Us."

In sports, Emmys went to ABC's "Wide World of Sports" for its coverage of the Olympics at Munich, to ABC commentator Jim McKay and to the videotape editor of the Olympics coverage for ABC, "The Sleeping Beauty" of PBS was named the outstanding classical music program.

In daytime programming, Emmys were presented to "The Edge of Night" and "Dinah's Place," starring Dinah Shore.

Adequate Defense By Volunteers Questioned

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Pentagon officials are becoming increasingly uncertain that the United States can maintain adequate armed forces on an all-volunteer basis.

The Pentagon's official position is that the all-volunteer concept can and will succeed. That has been its line since the outset of the Nixon administration, long before the government stopped drafting young men into the Army last December.

But Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the Army chief of staff, told a reporter recently he is not yet prepared to predict the outcome. Abrams indicated he expects to know by next winter, after about a year of experience without the presence of the draft to spur enlistments.

Another general said privately, "The feeling is growing that it is doubtful we can make it."

In a study for Congress, the General Accounting Office predicted early this month that the

Russian Denies 'Jewish Problem'

BONN, Germany (AP) — There is no Jewish emigration problem in the Soviet Union, Leonid I. Brezhnev's official press spokesman told newsmen today. Leonid Zamyatin, official spokesman for Kremlin chief Brezhnev during his Bonn visit, made the assertion the day after a news conference was interrupted by an elderly man pleading for a young Russian Jew to be allowed to emigrate to Israel.

Zamyatin, head of the official Soviet news agency Tass, was asked whether Soviet restrictions on emigration of Russian Jews were discussed by Soviet and West German leaders.

"There is no such problem in the Soviet Union," he said.

Holshouser To Norway

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser will be one of six North Carolina officials attending a seminar on educational change in Oslo, Norway June 2-20, according to a statement released Sunday by Holshouser and state School Superintendent Craig Phillips.

Officials from North Carolina, Rhode Island and Texas were invited to represent the United States at the seminar, which will involve 50 officials from 17 countries, Phillips said.

Attending the conference from June 2-20 will be Phillips; Dr. John Chase, chairman of the College of Human Development and Learning at the University of North Carolina-Charlotte; and William Brown, superintendent of the Gaston County schools.

On June 16 they will be joined by Holshouser; Rep. Carl Stewart, D Gaston; and Chancellor Dean Colvard of UNC-Charlotte. Holshouser, Stewart and Colvard will be accompanied by their wives, according to Phillips.

He added the United States Office of Education is paying for the trip.

The seminar is sponsored by International Management Training for Educational Change, an international organization interested in educational innovation.

"The participants will be discussing the management of positive educational change," Phillips said. "Along with Gov. Holshouser and the others from North Carolina, we will be working to develop a model to properly manage beneficial changes for education."

Hill Beats Back Memphis Field

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I didn't think I could win," Dave Hill said. "I didn't think my nerves would let me win."
"In one ten thousandth of a second I can think of more ways to miss a two-foot putt than there are ways to miss it. But I think that way just because I've been playing bad."
The colorful, controversial veteran, who said his game was "held together by baling wire," missed a two-foot putt on the final hole but his final round 72 was good enough to beat back the challenges of Lee Trevino and a flock of others Sunday in the final round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.
Hill won it with a 283 total, five-under-par on the hot and sunny 7,193-yard Colonial Country Club course. His total was one better than Trevino, who had a final 70, and Allen Miller, who finished with a 69.
It was Hill's first victory of the year and the fourth of his stormy, 15-year career in this tournament. He previously won in 1967, 1969 and 1970 when the event was played on an older, shorter course.
Trevino, the 1971 and 1972 winner, made a gallant but futile attempt to overtake Hill on the final hole.
Still, he had a major consolation. He picked up $16,187.50 from the total purse of $175,000—enough to boost him past the $1 million mark in career earnings.
He now has $1,001,899.47, collected in 176 tournaments since he won his first check, $600, in the 1966 U.S. Open. He joins Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper—none of whom played in this tournament—as the game's only $1 million winners.
Gene Littler, Charley Sifford,

Larry Ziegler, Hale Irwin and Dave Glenz tied for fourth at 285, two strokes back. Sifford had a 67, the best round of the day, Ziegler and Glenz 69s and Littler and Irwin 71s.
The final scores and money winnings:
Dave Hill $35,000
Lee Trevino $16,188
Allen Miller $16,188
David Glenz $6,493
Larry Ziegler $6,493
Charles Sifford $6,493
Gene Littler $6,493
Hale Irwin $6,493

Scott Unhurt In Speedway Crash

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Billy Scott of Union, S.C., escaped injury Sunday afternoon when he crashed during open practice at Charlotte Motor Speedway for the World 600 stock car race.
Scott lost control of his 1973 Chevelle coming out of the fourth turn and slammed into a concrete retaining wall along the front straightaway. It was estimated that 30 man hours will be needed to repair the before Tuesday, when official practice begins for Sunday's 600-mile Grand National race.
Scott was the winner of the speedway's recent "Name the Driver" popularity contest.

Claims Longest Treadmill Run

RALEIGH (AP) — Buddy Scott claimed a world record Saturday for the longest run of a treadmill. He ran for three hours and 10 minutes at a Raleigh health spa to smash the old record of three hours set in Hampton, Va., last year.
The treadmill is an exercise machine that allows a user to run on rollers while being held in place by a leather strap. It is set so that three times the effort to simple jogging is required.
Scott is a security guard who is studying at night to become a detective. He has been training for months to beat the treadmill running record.

A SUBSTITUTE
RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. D. M. Yermanos, a University of California professor, suggests the use of a desert shrub called jojoba as a substitute for whale oil.
The agronomist says the plant could be raised in dry climates and its oil could replace that of whales, which have been put on the protected list because they are an endangered species.

Chalks Up 24th Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Ohio State, Dartmouth and Boston University will join Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute for the 23rd annual RPI Invitational Hockey Tournament here Dec. 27-29.
MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — The University of Colorado has been placed on probation for one year by the Big Eight Conference for recruiting violations and one of its assistant coaches was reprimanded for attempting to influence a change in an athlete's high school rank.

The action does not affect Colorado's eligibility for the conference football championship, its availability for post-season competition or for football television sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Coaches are selected on the basis of their past records, ability, sportsmanship, and over-all attitude toward athletic achievement. This year's selection brings to Greenville men with all these credentials and a combined coaching experience of 109 years.

Russell Blunt, Hillside High School, Durham, head coach for the North will be coaching in his last football game, as he plans to retire after this all-star event. His high school coaching record is an impressive one with 102 wins, 70 losses, 6 ties. He will be aided by two coaches who have proven to be excellent gridiron leaders—Dennis Mills of Williamston and Charles Atkins of North Surry in Mount Airy. Coach Mills in his six years as Williamston's head coach has won two conference championships, one Eastern championship, and finished second in the State last year. Coach Atkins' teams have been in State play-offs three of the last six years, and finished last year with a 10 and 0 record.

Julie Shea Wins Two-Mile Run

RALEIGH (AP) — Julie Shea, 14-year-old Raleigh girl, won the women's two-mile run in the North Carolina AAU Track and Field Championships Saturday night in the highly respectable time of 10 minutes, 25.4 seconds.
Miss Shea was the only contestant in her event and ran her race with men running the six-mile. When she stopped at the two-mile mark, she was in third place. Jeff Galloway of the Florida Track Club went on to win the six-mile in 28 minutes, 33.3 seconds.
No team scores were kept. Other results included Hubert West's winning leap of 24 feet 4 1/4 inches in the long jump.

By HAL BOCK
The facts are that in the Chicago White Sox' 33rd game of the season, Wilbur Wood was a winning pitcher for the 10th time.

Applying simple mathematics, it figures out that over a 162-game season, Wood should win about 50 games. But baseball is played with balls and bats, not numbers, so Wood won't even think about the possibility of being a 50-game winner.
"Right now, all I can say is I'll win 10," said the knuckleballer after winning his 10th with a 9-3 romp over Minnesota in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader. The Twins took the nightcap, beating another knuckler, Eddie Fisher, 4-3.
In other American League action Sunday, California topped Texas 4-2, Kansas City defeated Oakland 8-2, New York swept a doubleheader from Cleveland 4-2 and 7-3, and Milwaukee split with Detroit, winning 1-0 then losing 5-3. Boston's game at Baltimore was rained out.

In the National League, Houston edged San Francisco 8-7, Atlanta and Los Angeles split a doubleheader, the Braves taking the first game 3-2 in 10 innings and the Dodgers copping the second 8-3. San Diego split a pair with Cincinnati, winning 2-1 then losing 3-2, and Montreal beat St. Louis 4-1 in the first game but the Cards came back for a 7-3 victory in the nightcap of their doubleheader. Chicago at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at New York were rained out.

Fred Beene and Mike Kekich, who had worked very little this season, were the starters for New York in the doubleheader at Cleveland, and the Yankees managed to come away with a sweep.

Frank Robinson drove in three runs with a homer and a double as streaking California downed Texas. It was the eighth victory in the last nine games for the Angels.
Robinson doubled home a run in the first inning, then scored on Bob Oliver's hit. He hit his seventh homer of the year, a two-run shot in the third.

Amos Otis cracked a three-run homer and John Mayberry added a two-run shot as Kansas City defeated Oakland.
Ollie Brown's bloop single scored Don Money all the way from first base as Milwaukee beat Detroit in the first game of their doubleheader. Money was running on the pitch and circled the bases for the only run of the opener.

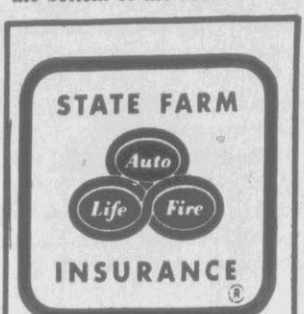

In the second game, the Tigers scored all their runs in the first two innings. Aurelio Rodriguez' bases-loaded single delivered the decisive runs after Milwaukee had wiped out a 2-0

Detroit lead with three runs in the bottom of the first.

Chicago White Sox catchers led American League receivers in passed balls last season with 23.

Annual 'June Swoon' For Giants Occurred In May

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
A funny thing happened to the San Francisco Giants' annual June swoon this year...it began in May.

On May 1, the Giants had an 18-6 record and a four-game lead over the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Astros in the National League West. Since that time, they've dropped 11 of 19 games, including Sunday's 8-7 loss to the streaking Astros, and trail Houston, which has won 21 of 28, by one game.

Elsewhere, the Reds split with San Diego, losing 2-1 then winning 3-2, and Los Angeles did the same with Atlanta, losing 3-2 in 10 innings and taking the nightcap 8-3. That left the Reds two games out and the Dodgers 2½ back. In the East Division, Montreal beat St. Louis 4-1 but lost the second game 7-3 while Chicago-Philadelphia and Pittsburgh-New York were rained out.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox trimmed Minnesota 9-3 but the Twins took the nightcap 3-0, California shaded Texas 4-2, Kansas City trounced Oakland 8-2, Detroit downed Milwaukee 5-3 after dropping the opener 1-0, and the New York Yankees swept Cleveland 4-2, 7-3. Boston and Baltimore were rained out.

While Astro's Manager Leo Durocher's Astros lead the West, his ex-club, Chicago, tops the East. It could be an interesting October, and it certainly should be a hectic stretch run in the wild, wild West, where Durocher once piloted the Giants and Dodgers and played for the Reds.

Tony Perez homered, doubled and drove in two runs as the Reds rallied against San Diego, for a split of their doubleheader. Don Gullett limited the Padres to single runs in the first two innings, then pitched shutout ball the rest of the way, with last-out help from Tom Hall.

San Diego's Fred Norman, winning and going the distance for the first time this season in the opener, allowed only six hits and retired the final 14 batters.

Hank Aaron's 10th-inning single drove home the winning run and gave knuckleballer Phil Niekro, who pitched a three-hitter, his 100th career victory as Atlanta edged Los Angeles in their opener. The Dodgers gained a split in the nightcap behind Al Downing's three-hit pitching, a three-run homer by Ron Cey and a two-run shot by Joe Ferguson.

Rookie Ken Reitz clouted a three-run homer in the second inning and scored on Lou Brock's sacrifice fly in the fourth, leading St. Louis over Montreal in their second game. The Expos snapped the Cardinals' three-game winning streak in the opener as Bob Bailey hit a two-run homer and Ken Singleton drove in the other two runs with a double and sacrifice fly against Bob Gibson, 2-5.

Indy 500 Field Completed For Annual Memorial Day Race

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — George Snider and Jim McElreath got last-minute positions and Sam Posey got the boot Sunday as a field of 33 starters was completed for the Memorial Day Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Snider, 32, of Bakersfield, Calif., got his chance to make the lineup when his long-time friend, A.J. Foyt, gave him a ride in his backup Gilmore Racing Team Special only two minutes before the shutdown time.

Snider, a nine-year veteran at Indianapolis, responded by cranking out four laps at an average speed of 190.355 miles per hour, fastest of the final round of qualifying and good for the 30th position in the field.

McElreath, a 44-year-old from Arlington, Tex., already had packed his bags and was ready to head back to his ranch when he was offered a trial in Posey's backup Norris Eagle. It was the next-to-last qualifying attempt of the day—Snider's was to be the last—and McElreath made the most of it.

Despite having had no practice time in the car and with benefit of only one warmup lap, he put together four trips at 189.640 m.p.h., earning the last spot in the lineup.

Posey, a graduate of the road racing ranks, had qualified his No. 34 Norris Eagle on the first day of trials May 12, but at the slowest speed of any of the starters, 187.921 m.p.h.

He was first among the initial qualifiers on the bump list after the last three positions were filled. Then, when McElreath made the deal, Posey was left like a sitting duck for Snider's shutdown.

With Sunday's final trials, the field now will have only one more session on the track before the noon EDT start on May 28. They will participate in a four-hour session of "carburetion" runs next Thursday.

The qualifying speeds ranged from Johnny Rutherford's 10-mile run at 198.413 m.p.h., giving him the pole position, to McElreath's 188.640, slowest in the field.

The average of the 33 starters, however, was 192.329 m.p.h.—about 8½ miles faster than last year.

Stewart Wins Grand Prix

ZOLDER, Belgium (AP) — Scotland's Jackie Stewart was the first to protest and the first to finish in Sunday's Belgian Grand Prix.

Stewart, the "safety man" among the world's grand prix drivers, led the protest that almost led to cancellation of the race because of a poor track surface.

But when the race was over, on a track still breaking up on critical corners, it was the experienced Stewart, twice world champion, who posted his 24th grand prix victory.

Qualifying For U.S. Open Begins

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Golfers across the country were to begin taking to the links today as local qualifying rounds began for the U.S. Open Golf Championship, scheduled for June 14-17 at the nearby Oakmont Country Club.

A total of 3,577 hopefuls are entered nationally for the initial qualifying rounds, to be held at 51 sites today and five others Tuesday.

Some 531 aspirants from across the country will then move up to sectional qualifiers to be played at 13 sites June 4-5. The 117 survivors will be in the tournament's 150-man starting field.

Among those exempt from qualifying is Jack Nicklaus, who won his third open title in

Don Shula Is People's Choice

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Don Shula, who led Miami's unbeaten Dolphins to the Super Bowl championship is the people's choice, at least in New England.

Shula was voted the first Druker Award as "the outstanding man in professional football" Sunday night in balloting by 1,500 guests at the annual New England Pro Football Dinner.

He out-pollled four other nominees, running backs O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills and Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins, owner Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Coach George Allen of the Redskins.

joined my present firm and when my superior developed cancer, I was put in temporary charge.

"At a luncheon one day, the president of our corporation asked me to address about 20 of the top executives."
"Naturally, I was rather nervous, so I decided to give them you 'Motivation Test.'"
"Well, it made such a hit with the president that he asked me to develop our advertising around those '5 Basic Laws of Motivation.'"
"And our volume of sales immediately zoomed in such a striking manner that I have now been made Advertising Manager."
5 Motivation Laws
Even if you readers aren't employed in the advertising field, try to outguess the public's reaction to this pair of book titles:

—The Facts About Facism
—The Truth About Mussolini
Both books got the same amount of nationwide newspaper advertising and were priced the same.
One of those titles produced 24,000 sales while the other brought in only 14,000 orders.
Yet 95 percent even of $50,000-per-year advertising executives always pick the weaker title! Why?

Just because college psychology has too long been kept way "up in the clouds" and not focussed on practical problems of real life!

Never till my textbook released those "5 Basic Laws of Motivation" were they even exposed to psychology classes. Remember, I had studied psychology at Northwestern University and Yale, spending 7 years getting my Ph.D. And had taught Applied Psychology, Advertising and Selling, Efficiency Engineering, etc. at George Washington University and also at Northwestern University for many years, yet no textbooks had even mentioned these "5 Basic Laws."

Since I was often asked to address national advertising organizations, I decided to make a special study of what underlies the best advertising titles, as well as newspaper headlines. It was then that I derived those underlying "5 Basic Laws."
In the pair of book titles cited above, it may shock you to find that the prosaic "Facts About Facism" sold the 24,000 copies! "Dr. Crane," top advertising experts protest, "haven't you reversed the actual sales volumes?"
"For surely that second title is more dramatic, for it intimates a revelation of the skeletons in Mussolini's closet, including his romantic affairs."

But those two titles demonstrate Law No. 1, namely, that your product is what people purchase, not Y-O-U!
So send for my booklet "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing along stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.
(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Digging Up Mines From War Of 1967

By KENNETH L. LUCOFF
JERUSALEM (UPI) — Lt. Shmuel and his men are still, in a way, fighting the 1967 Middle East War.

"One wrong step and you blow yourself to smithereens," the lieutenant warned as he threaded his way gingerly through a path marked by barbed wire on both sides.
Almost six years after the six-day war, Shmuel and his detachment of sappers are clearing thousands of land mines planted around Jerusalem by the defeated Jordanians.

The army corps of engineers has invested more than five years of manpower in uncovering the lethal mines so far—and it says it has at least another four or five years to go.

"This area is slated for buildings and roads, and you can't have people moving into a neighborhood littered with mines, can you?" Shmuel said, pointing to the rock-studded brown and green hills of Judea. No one knows how many mines were planted by the Jordanians. Even their captured maps of the fields are not much help.
"When the rains come, month after month and year after year, the planted mines begin to slip and slide beneath the ground, and you never know where they are—even if you planted them yourself," one of the sappers said.

In the dry, sun-drenched summers, the sappers are limited in their work—half an hour on and half an hour off—so they don't become dizzy and make the one mistake Shmuel warns of: "The last one."
Shmuel said the crew uncovers upwards of two dozen mines a week and explodes them instead of defusing them. So far, in five years of work, no one has been hurt. "We've never had any injury here," the lieutenant said. "And we'll take as long as we need to do the job and clean out the area, no matter how slowly we have to work."

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
© 1973, The Chicago Tribune

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQJ63 ♠AK1072 ♦84 ♣66
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ 2 ♦ 3 ♣ Pass
3 ♥ Pass 4 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Five spades. You should have enough material to produce 12 tricks, but you are faced with the possible loss of two tricks in diamonds. The five spade bid should convey this information or message. If partner can control the second lead of diamonds, you wish him to bid a slam. A Blackwood call would be ineffective if partner acknowledged only one ace.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKQ87 ♥763 ♦J103 ♣A10
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. You should lay some foundation for slam possibilities. If partner has a good diamond suit and some kind of heart control there may be an easy slam. Your next move will depend upon partner's reaction to your three club bid.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠64 ♥5 ♦AJ108 ♣AJ10864
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
3 ♣ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. This strongly suggests to partner that you are looking for further information which may lead to a possible slam. It is not necessary to bid any more than three spades, and it would be premature to show the diamonds at this stage.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKQJ5 ♥QJ763 ♦K ♣AK54
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ 1 ♦ 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKQ10 ♥AK10874 ♦63 ♣K
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
3 ♣ Pass Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Our first choice is a bid of four hearts. This is by no means a preempt, but announces that you would like to play at four hearts even if partner has a very weak hand. If he has any strength, he is at perfect liberty to go on. The only other choice is a take-out double.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQJ854 ♥KQ ♦AQ5 ♣AK
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Six no trump or six spades. Partner is marked almost to a certainty with the king of diamonds and an ace. This is practically the only holding which would justify a jump response of three no trump.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ5 ♥QJ763 ♦K ♣AK54
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ 1 ♦ 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Five clubs. Partner has announced a powerful hand on which he can win most of the 10 tricks in his own hand. You may have just enough to bring the total to 12. This will show the adverse suit's ace and also a willingness to play at hearts.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J7 ♥Q9 ♦K108743 ♣AJ2
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
3 ♣ Pass Pass 4 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass

Old Communist Earl Browder Not Shocked By Watergate Affair

EARL BROWDER, former head of the American Communist Party, as he addressed a rally in Madison Square Garden in 1936 (at left) and as he is today. (UPI Telephoto)

By WILLIAM M. COOMBE PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Earl Browder, the former head of the American Communist Party, is one man who was not surprised, or even shocked, by the Watergate break-in.

The man who led the Communist movement during its heyday in the Depression and war years of the 1930s and 1940s and twice ran for President of the United States says his New York headquarters was broken into often.

"There were many cases in which our headquarters was burglarized," Browder said in an interview at his home on the occasion of his 82nd birthday (May 20). "I have no idea who did it, but we always felt it was the FBI. Nobody was ever arrested. We didn't complain. I can't remember anything of importance being taken."

Memories are fogged somewhat by time, and his age and a heart ailment limit his activities. Long pauses punctuate his conversation, but he talks with a smile about the efficiency of a heart pacemaker in his chest.

Browder uses a cane to get from room to room and an electrical stairway chair lift to move from floor to floor in the modest house where he has lived for six years with his son, William, a mathematics professor at Princeton University. Once an active writer, editor and lecturer, he receives a Social Security pension and spends his time reading and occasionally reviewing books on communism for the Political Science Quarterly.

Although he lives in the same town where the daughter of Soviet Premier Josef Stalin, Svetlana Peters, settled when she came to the United States, the former American party boss has never met her.

"I never had the ambition to meet Svetlana," Browder said, indicating that he considers himself far removed from his activities of the distant past.

Browder remains bitter over his expulsion from the party on Jan. 14, 1946, after 15 years as its secretary. He was criticized at the time for "deserting to the side of the class enemy, American monopoly capitalism."

"Foster Was a Fool" What he did was develop the theory of "peaceful coexistence," predicting—accurately, so far—that Russian communism and western democracy would manage to get along with each other.

After Browder was replaced by William Z. Foster, the American party began its decline that led to legislation making membership illegal, the jailing of its top leaders and the loss of influence.

"I think Foster was a fool," Browder growls with scorn in his voice. "Foster was a very bad leader. He took a successful and growing party with big prospects and turned it into a little sect."

Browder believes it was proper to accept his expulsion gracefully.

"I have no regrets," he said. "I didn't think it was called upon for leadership to fight for power. I had seen too much fighting for power descending into something unpleasant."

Socialism "Irrelevant" Browder considers conversations about what he could have done if he had remained in power as exercises in "playing with what might have been."

"I don't think the party was driven underground—it chose to go underground," he said. "It was foolish. As long as they followed my lead, we were successful in using the circumstances of the time, and suddenly we stopped being successful. I never could explain to my own satisfaction what took place."

Browder has come to believe reality has made socialism "irrelevant." Many of the causes he espoused in the 1930s—equal rights for women, medical insurance for the poor and elderly, improved pay and working conditions—have come into being. Although he regards himself as "pioneer of social legislation," he considers the Communist Party a relic of an earlier era.

"What was good for the 1930s is no good for the 1970s," he said. "There's still room for a pusher, a progressive force, in the country, but I can't say what. The Communist Party has proven in life that it doesn't fit that role any more. What was required to keep it strong wouldn't have been desirable."

Political Surveillance One thing that cost the party much of its support was its infiltration of government and its reputation for espionage and spying.

Browder contends he can remember few details about political surveillance that took place more than a quarter of a century ago when he ran for president in 1936 and 1940. But it went on.

"Spying was used a lot more than we realized at the time," Browder said in a reference to his political opponents' activities. "But it was never publicized. It was taken for granted."

Commenting on his own activity, Browder concedes "we had people who would inform us from the enemy camp because they sympathized with our position. We didn't consider it espionage."

When he is asked for facts and details about such activity, Browder answers "I have no recollection," or "I don't recall anything that could be considered espionage."

Stock And Market Reports

Hogs
RALEIGH (WP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs are steady today. Tops of 37.00-37.50 in Rocky Mount; 36.00-37.00 Siler City, Denton, Kinston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton; 35.00-35.50 Tarboro and Bethel; 37.25 Mt. Olive; 36.00 Salisbury.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hens: prices weaker on heavy types with supplies ample for a limited demand. Heavies, at farm, 24 cents; f.o.b. plants too few to release prices. Light type to few.

North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: market steady with supplies considered in balance with a good demand. Weights desirable.

NEW YORK (AP)—An early selling surge drove stock market prices lower again today.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was ff 6.10 at 889.07, having recovered somewhat from a plunge of more than 10 points in the first half-hour of trading. Declining issues held a wide 1,159-to-222 lead over those advancing in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The Big Board tape ran three minutes late on two occasions.

American Telephone warrants led the Big Board's most-active list, up 1/4 at 6 1/2. In second place was the AT&T common, off 1/4 at 51 1/2.

Gold issues, strong for most of the year as bullion prices soared, were among the few groups gaining today. Home-stake was up 1/4 at 49 1/2, and Campbell Red Lake traded at 67 1/2, up 1/4, following a delayed opening caused by an order imbalance.

At the American Stock Exchange, TWA warrants were the most active issue, down 1/4 at 10 1/2. The Amex's 11 a.m. price change index was .17 lower at 22.64.

The Big Board's index of more than 1,500 common stocks was down 0.67 at 54.29.

Short Agenda For Planning, Zoning Board

The agenda for the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission for the May meeting is one of the shortest in many months.

At the 8:00 p.m. meeting on Wednesday night, the following items are listed for the agenda: A request for rezoning of Section I of Tucker Estates, on Red Banks Road opposite Aycock Junior High School. The request is to rezone from RA-20 to R-15; a final plat on Section I of Cambridge Subdivision (the Hugh Winslow farm); a final plat of Section III of Oakgrove Estates (formerly known as Staton Acres); and rerouting of drainage easement across Oakmont addition in Fairview Way Section.

Graduate To Honors List

STAUNTON, Va.—Miss Robyn Timberlake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Timberlake of 209 Fairlane Dr., is one of fifteen recent graduates of Mary Baldwin College named to the honors list for the 1972-73 academic year.

To attain this distinction, Miss Timberlake compiled a 2.5 quality point average or better out of a possible 3.0 for her work during both semesters of her senior year.

Miss Timberlake received her B. A. degree in psychology from the Virginia woman's college at commencement exercises May 13.

Arrest Four On Marijuana Count

Four persons, ranging in age from 17 to 19, were arrested by Greenville police about 5:30 a.m. Sunday at 16 Riverfront Apts. on charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

Chief Glenn Cannon identified those arrested in the early-morning raid as David Robert Olsen, 17; Hollia Eugene Blankenship, 18 and Millard Franklin Church, 19; all of 16 Riverfront Apts. and Christina Jo Schimberg, 19 of 406 Clement Dorm.

Bond for the four was set at $2,500 each, pending hearing of the case in District Court.

BAKE SALE

A bake sale will be held Saturday, May 26, at King's Department Store for the benefit of St. Gabriel's Catholic School fund. The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and will feature homemade cakes and cupcakes.
