

Councilmen Amend City Ordinance On Rezoning Hearings

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Public hearings on rezonings are legal in Greenville any month of the year now. Action to amend Section 32-143 of the City ordinance was approved at the June meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

Approval of the amendment gives the City Council legal status in doing which has always been done, holding public hearings each month. Before the amendment, the ordinance stipulated four months each year—February, May, August and November as months designated to hold public hearings on rezoning.

Adoption followed a hopscotch pattern in dealing with the agenda. Following public hearings on two rezoning matters, Councilman John Taylor noted he had voted on the second one based on the fact the council was not authorized to deal with rezoning in the month of June.

Mayor S. Eugene West immediately asked to skip down to the amendment agenda item—when it was passed, the council went back and reapproved the two rezoning items to make doubly sure the two were included under the new monthly hearing authorization.

A request by Lonnie Staton to rezone property adjacent to Oakgrove Estates from unoffensive industry to R-9 residential was approved. The property consists of approximately five areas.

A second rezoning request approved was that of a portion of the Weimer and Jones property in the northeast quadrant of the intersection of Greenville Boulevard northeast and State Road 1523. Rezoning was from RA-20 to highway commercial. Approval for the area, north of Tar River along the by-pass under construction, was the subject of extended discussion led by Councilman William Dansey. Dansey concluded his recommendations by saying "the point I'm making specifically is that I'd like to see a requirement for a foliage strip 50 feet wide on property adjacent to the right of way, on

Natural Gas Deal Is Signed

MOSCOW (AP) — Two American firms signed a letter of intent today to import more than $10 billion worth of natural gas from the Soviet union over a 25-year period.

The agreement was between the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Occidental Petroleum Corp. on the one side and the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Trade on the other.

Occidental chairman Armand Hammer announced the "agreement of intention" at a news conference.

"Quantities up to two billion cubic feet per day are contemplated," Hammer said.

"At current market prices, such gas over the 25-year term of the agreement would exceed $10 billion to the U.S.S.R. It is expected that this sum will be spent for U.S. goods and services."

Hammer said the project will require a 2,000-mile pipeline from Yakitsk to the Vladivostok area, "the largest liquefaction plant" ever envisaged and a fleet of 20 cryogenic tankers.

Hammer said that the hard currency financing for the project, excluding the ships, will be about $2 billion.

Hammer said that Japanese firms which have been negotiating with the Soviets may participate in the project and take a portion of the gas.

The Soviet gas provided for by the agreement is intended for the West Coast of the United States, Hammer said.

Asked about probable delivery dates, the Occidental Petroleum chairman said it will take about six years for Russian gas to cook American steaks.

Manning said that many Eastern growers are forced to carry their crops long distances to other markets because of the insufficient time allocated to Eastern warehouses.

Buyers, however, say the cigarette industry needs a controlled marketing process because it cannot process the leaf as fast as farmers can harvest it and sell it.

The Marketing Committee has no legal status and relies on voluntary cooperation by the tobacco industry to enforce its decisions.

Under last year's plan, markets in Georgia and Florida had several weeks of unrivaled selling time before the markets further north were allowed to open.

Appointed To Boards And Commissions

Several appointments to boards and commissions were made at the June meeting of the City Council on Thursday night.

One of the series of appointments was that of a three member Municipal Board of Elections. The council unanimously approved appointment of the three persons who have been serving as members on the interim Board of Elections.

The three are Mrs. Myra Cain, I. Bruce Koonce, and Rev. William B. Moore. Mrs. Cain was chairman of the Interim Board.

Henry E. (Ed) Stallings of 422 Pittman Drive was elected for a five year term as a member of the Greenville City School Board to replace William M. Myers, the board's vice-chairman now serving an unexpired term.

The vote was a close one, four to three. Councilmen John Taylor and Clarence Gray, speaking on behalf of Myers, expressed opinions that failure to re-elect Myers might, in the words of Taylor "offer additional problems to extend the trauma we have experienced."

"It is important to keep the board racially balanced," Gray remarked preceding the vote on the two nominees.

Councilwoman Mrs. Mildred McGrath, who nominated Stallings, emphasized she feels Myers has done a good job and that the racial issue is not at stake. "There's been much comment about the fact we now have three board members from one area, and none representing other areas," she said, citing larger areas of West Greenville and Brook Valley as two examples. (School board members Myers, Mrs. Lucille Gorham and Edwards Carter are all residents of one area of Greenville, living within a few blocks of each other.)

School board member J.E. Waldrop was elected for a five year term. Waldrop is currently serving an unexpired term.

Another close vote resulted in the election of Dr. Edgar S. Douglas as a member of the Greenville Recreation Commission for a two year term. Douglas and Dr. Edgar W. Hooks, Jr., Head of the Department of Physical Education, East Carolina University, were the two nominated for the vacancy created by the completion of two terms by Dr. Herbert Hadley.

Two current Recreation Commission members, James O'Brien and Tom Foreman, were both reelected for an additional two year term.

In appointments for the Planning and Zoning Commission, current members Louis Clark and Earl Howell were both reelected to a three year period on that commission.

Two vacancies were up in the Greenville Board of Adjustments as a result of Howard Porter's completing a second term, and the resignation of Richard Powell at the end of June.

William Whitehurst and D.D. Garrett, were elected to three year terms as members of the Adjustments Board. Whitehurst has been an alternate on the board. Lloyd Mills, another

More Light, Heat For Crew Skylab's Solar Wing Deployed

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Revitalized by a power transfusion, Skylab's astronauts soared around the world today with more lights, warmer water, hotter food and an excellent chance to complete a full 28-day mission.

"We can stop living like the mole in Dick Tracy," commander Charles Conrad Jr. remarked Thursday after a daring, difficult space walk during which he and Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin released a jammed solar wing.

Because of a power shortage, Conrad, Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz have had to curtail experiments, turn off lights and eat cold food.

But with the solar wing deployed, new energy capable of doubling the space station's supply surged into service almost immediately.

Space agency officials hailed the space walk and said the new power practically assures that the astronauts can run a full schedule of experiments for the remainder of the planned four-week journey.

The astronauts immediate goal was to clean up their spaceship, cluttered with ropes, tools, tethers and tubes that they had assembled for the space walk.

"We've sure got a mess in here," Conrad reported.

So mission control blocked off several hours in today's flight plan for "clean up." Also on the schedule were a resumption of medical experiments and sessions with the solar astronomy telescopes.

The astronauts also planned today to keep an eye on the system that cools electronic instruments with a fluid flow.

Mission control awakened the crew about midnight Thursday when temperatures in the coolant loop fell to 30 degrees and threatened to freeze water in some of the devices.

The astronauts were instructed to turn on additional electrical equipment to warm up the cooling fluid. Within minutes, the temperature had risen 15 degrees and they were sent back to bed with apologies and thanks.

Within five hours of the space walk which freed a solar wing jammed during launch, all three panels were extended 100 per cent and were providing more than 2,000 watts of power to a set of eight workshop batteries which until then had been inoperative. If necessary, the panels which convert sunlight to energy can produce more than 3,000 watts.

Until the space walk repair job, four other solar panels had provided about 4,000 watts of power to 18 other batteries. Two of those batteries have failed and one is on reduced outage, partly because of the heavy load they were asked to carry.

Asked about what the freeing of the wing means to Skylab, NASA Program Director William C. Schneider said: "We're feeling pretty bullish about it right now. With the relief we're getting from the electrical power we should be in great shape to carry out a full experiment schedule."

He said it also enhances chances for the 56-day missions planned aboard the same station later this year by the Skylab 2 and 3 crews.

Budget Hearing

Under a new North Carolina law, a public hearing on local government budgets are required to be held prior to budget adoptions.

City Council members Thursday night set Wednesday, July 11, at 8:00 p.m. as the public hearing time to present the proposed Greenville City budget for 1973-74.

The public hearing does not preclude the requirement to display the proposed budget for a 20 day period prior to final adoption.

Council members opted for a special meeting for the sole purpose of conducting the public hearing on the budget. The regular City Council meeting for July has been set for July 12, the day following the public budget hearing.

Cancel Grads' Program

EDENTON, N.C. (AP)—Today's scheduled commencement exercises at Holmes High School have been canceled. The school has been the focal point of demonstrations by young blacks the last month over the dismissal of the band director, Ralph Satterfield, a black who has 18 years experience with school bands in this northeastern North Carolina area.

School officials said Satterfield has been unable to maintain discipline, and would not be rehired next school year.

About 150 arrests have been made in the intermittent demonstrations, which have included a sit-in at the high school and at the offices of the board of education.

Firebomb Blew Up On Plane

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. sources said a firebomb in the flight bag of a North Vietnamese official exploded today aboard a U.S. C130 transport returning from a liaison flight to Hanoi.

Seven persons were injured by the transport continued its flight to Saigon and landed safely.

The injured included one Viet Cong official, one North Vietnamese, four South Vietnamese and one American, according to a Viet Cong source.

It was not known how many persons were aboard.

ECU Provost Voted Post In UNC Structure

CHAPEL HILL—Dr. Robert Williams, provost of ECU, today was elected associate vice president for academic affairs of the University of North Carolina by the UNC Board of Governors.

Williams, 50, was recommended for the position by UNC President William Friday who said, "Dr. Williams is a highly competent academic administrator and we are delighted to have him as a colleague in this office.

"His knowledge and extensive experience at East Carolina University will be put to immediate and good use as we develop the long rang plan for higher education in North Carolina."

Williams, who earned his doctorate at Tulane University in 1954, will assume his new office on Aug. 1. He joined the ECU faculty in 1959 as a professor history and political science. Before becoming provost in 1969 he served as dean of Arts and Sciences and dean of academic affairs.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa Williams is president-elect of the N.C. Association of Academic Deans. His honors and awards include the S. Walter Stern Award in American government, a Carnegie Fellowship and the medal of the Ministerie Van Nationale Opvoeding (an award of the ministry of education of the Belgian government).

Williams is married to the former Elizabeth Buchanan of Meridian, Miss. and they have one daughter, Mrs. Johnny Simmons of Greenville.

Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are major developments in the Watergate case:

COURT—U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica scheduled arguments today on a request by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox to curb live radio-TV coverage of the Senate hearings.

COMMITTEE—The Washington Post said Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., chairman of the Watergate committee, will ask the Senate to broaden the panel's mandate to include investigation of White House actions taken in the name of national security. Fred Thompson, counsel to committee Republicans, said the mandate already is broad enough to cover those activities.

HALDEMAN—Former presidential chief of staff H. R. Haldean has testified in connection with a civil suit that fired White House Counsel John W. Dean III was never asked to undertake a formal investigation of the Watergate case.

HEARINGS—Herbert L. Porter, who was scheduling director of the 1972 Nixon campaign, told the Senate committee that he lied to a federal grand jury and at the Watergate trial. He said deputy campaign director Jeb Stuart Magruder told a colleague that Magruder himself committed perjury a dozen times.

Again Hung Up On Allotment Of Selling Time

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The tobacco industry's Flue-cured Marketing Committee is again hung up on the problem of allotment of selling time.

The committee, representing growers, warehousemen and buyers, met in Raleigh Thursday and was unable to agree on a market plan for the coming season, which starts next month.

It appointed a 10-man subcommittee to study the possibilities next week in Myrtle Beach, S.C. and report back to the full committee in Raleigh on June 22.

The committee Thursday was unable to decide between a plan much like last year's and an alternate proposed by the North Carolina Farm Bureau.

The Farm Bureau plan would have given more selling time to the North Carolina Eastern Belt, where one-third of the flue-cured crop is grown.

An attorney representing

Eastern Belt warehousemen, Howard Manning, hinted broadly that a lawsuit might be filed unless Eastern belt growers and warehousemen get more selling time.

Manning said that many Eastern growers are forced to carry their crops long distances to other markets because of the insufficient time allocated to Eastern warehouses.

Buyers, however, say the cigarette industry needs a controlled marketing process because it cannot process the leaf as fast as farmers can harvest it and sell it.

The Marketing Committee has no legal status and relies on voluntary cooperation by the tobacco industry to enforce its decisions.

Under last year's plan, markets in Georgia and Florida had several weeks of unrivaled selling time before the markets further north were allowed to open.

Governor Sees Oath-Taking

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser and a crowd of about 100 watched today as J. Howard Coble, 42, of Greensboro was sworn in as North Carolina commissioner of revenue.

The oath was administered by Appeals Court Judge James Baley in the old House chamber of the Capitol. Coble succeeds G. Andrew Jones Jr., who was appointed by former Gov. Bob Scott.

New Med School Endorsed By Old North State Medical Soc.

RALEIGH — The Old North State Medical Society has endorsed the concept of developing a new degree granting medical school in North Carolina.

The society is made up of black physicians, and it held its 86th annual convention here this week at the Sir Walter Raleigh hotel. It has approximately 130 members.

In a business session the society adopted a resolution which it said was "an expression of our pro-people attitude, and is evidence of our concern that the cries of distress—for medical help shall not go unheard or unheeded.

"The physician shortage in North Carolina is widely recognized, and documented by a recent comprehensive study done by a subcommittee of the board of governors.

"This study concludes that even with recommended expansion programs, the need for doctors cannot be met by existing schools of medicine.

"A further increase in student enrollment would adversely affect the operating efficiency and would jeopardize the quality of medical education presently being offered by these institutions.

"Now therefore be it resolved that the Old North State Medical Society records its opposition to further expansion of existing institutions and be it further resolved that this society endorses the establishment of a new degree granting school of medicine as the most logical and feasible approach toward a solution to the problem of the physician shortage in North Carolina."

Dr. Andrew Best of Greenville is a member of the board of governors subcommittee, a member of the executive committee of the Old North State Medical Society and chairman of the family practice section of the National Medical Society with which the Old North State is affiliated.

He commented on the resolution, "It was the general feeling of the people here that the adoption of the Glasson report by the N.C. Medical Society with the provisions therein, constituted an anti-people attitude. There was a feeling that this attitude was characterized by deaf ears to the legitimate cry of the public for a service that is desperately needed.

"Also there was a feeling that the prevailing attitude on this very vital question is one that involves a default of professional leadership, which leaves the whole question to be decided in the political arena. We differ with that approach. We think professionals ought to be involved in the blue printing and design of a program speaking to this most important social question."

The N.C. Medical Association in a close vote recently accepted a report calling for phasing out of the ECU one year medical school and expanding the state's one public and two private four year schools.

Another resolution adopted by the Old North State Medical Society criticized the lack of minority representation on major policy making boards of the state.

The absence of minority representation on the board of medical examiners, state board of health and other policy making boards of the state was cited.

"This discrimination constitutes a threat to the tranquility and progress of our state; therefore be it resolved that the governor and present administration take positive and effective steps to correct this long standing injustice."

Pros And Cons Of Starting Kindergarten

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a kindergarten teacher for six years and I emphatically disagree with your advice to enroll Ronny in kindergarten knowing he will be the youngest and smallest child in the class.

His size has no relationship to the situation, but his age does. The younger ones usually have trouble keeping up with the older ones. I think it's better for the child to remain at home for another year, even though he's eligible age-wise. Then when he goes to school he will be the oldest instead of the youngest in his class.

Let him watch Sesame Street, go to the library, take educational trips, and become more aware of his environment, and when he enters kindergarten he will not only be taller but better prepared.

SCHOOL TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Thank you for your view as a school teacher. Please read on for the opinion of a reader who was the youngest and smallest in her class.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Ronny's mom who was concerned about starting Ronny in kindergarten because he would be the youngest and smallest in his class. She said she and Ronny's father are both small so Ronny would probably be small all his life.

I was the youngest and smallest in my class and all thru school I was the only girl on the track team. I could also shinny up a rope faster than anybody in my gym class.

I was called "Shrimp, Runt, Squirt, Midget," and "Pee wee," but the fat kids were called, "Lardo" and "Fatso," and the tall kids were called, "Beanpole." So what?

I'm a great grandmother now, and my 6 foot, 2 inch son calls me "Mighty Mouse" and my 6 foot, 4 inch grandson told me to get on a stepladder so he could kiss me. I just laughed and shinned up his leg.

Tell Ronny's mom if the lad is bright, enroll him in school, and he will find a way to compensate for his stature. Also, has she considered that waiting a year might make Ronny the oldest and smallest child in his class? That could present worse problems. "MIGHTY MOUSE"

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you took your apparently healthy pet to a veterinarian and the next morning you received the shocking news that your pet was dead?

This happened to us and we are heartbroken. We noticed our chihuahua was favoring her right front leg so we took her to a veterinarian who asked us to leave her overnight for a thoro examination.

Abby, we were as fond of that dog as some people are of their children. We can't help but feel that if we hadn't taken her to the vet she would be alive today. She must have met with some kind of accident there. Since this happened we have heard of other people who have had a similar experience.

We can't seem to get a straight answer concerning what happened to our dog. Isn't there some way to investigate this veterinarian? Any help you can give us will be appreciated.

MR. J. T.

DEAR MR. T.: Call this to the attention of your local humane society. If circumstances warrant it, they will turn the matter over to the medical board to whom veterinarians are accountable. You have a right to know the cause of your dog's death.

Josephine Baker Recalls Old And New Careers

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — What she wore to startle Paris in the 1920s, says Josephine Baker, "wasn't a costume. It was almost one."

"It was a few bananas here and there. It took all these years to become accepted. No clothes on is a nice way of being, you don't have to think about anything."

Miss Baker went to Paris in 1924 and could be seen, dancing and singing, at the Folies Bergere or the Casino. Once she did Jacques Offenbach's "Creole."

These days, at 67, she still performs with many changes of glamorous costumes, sings, doesn't dance, and doesn't sing "Two Loves Have I" unless long-time fans request it. She prefers newer songs.

In New York for 27 hours to attend Bricktop's opening night at Huntington Hartford's Show Club, she gave a little reception for the press and looked so slim and chic in a navy pants suit, navy and white scarf, fur hat, giant shades and platform shoes, that someone asked who designed her suit. She bought it, she said, just in a little shop off the rack.

The last time Miss Baker was in the United States, which she seldom visits, it was to bring four of her sons for one day, to attend Robert Kennedy's funeral. This time she has brought the oldest son, Akia, 20. They are guests of Jack Jordan, producer of black films.

Jordan would like to make a film of Miss Baker's life, he says. She asks if anyone thinks that would be a good idea, is assured yes, and replies, "Well, I'm a black cat with nine lives and every one of them interesting."

Miss Baker lives in Monaco with her four youngest children, the youngest 9. She has only the one residence, she says, because it is all she can afford and because she only needs one place to live. She works, she says, to pay for college educations.

Her children, 10 boys and two girls, are all adopted and from a number of different countries. "I brought them together as a symbol of universal brotherhood. Now is the time for the older ones to go back to their individual countries for a time and be in contact with their people there, so they won't have complexes. It's very important for their dignity. "It is very important for a person to know his own culture. When a man loses his dignity he ceases being a man. He is a thing. I brought the children together to prove that all people can live together in harmony if they want to. We all want to, don't we?"

Asked whether all the children turned out magnificently, Miss Baker says, "They have turned out to be human beings and that is all I ask them to be."

Asked how many husbands she has had, Miss Baker smiled broadly and said, "I'm like the old woman who had so many children she didn't know what to do. I had the same with husbands. All husbands are my friends. But we cannot be married any more, there is nothing worse than having an enemy that was once a husband."

Norway has just donated to her a school, Miss Baker says, where students will be taught not only the usual things but also that "people should live together in peace and harmony, in unity instead of separation."

Jordan commented that he would like to put artifacts that Miss Baker has collected into a museum. "It is important to black people," she corrected him quietly, "Let us say to people."

Asked about controversial political statements made in the past, Miss Baker said, "What is politics, madam? I wouldn't call my statements political. They came straight from the heart. They were things that had to be said."

Asked whether she still feels like a citizen of the United States, the St. Louis native's answer was, "I'm a world citizen, madam. I belong to the entire world, madam, and the whole world belongs to me."

Edward A. Tilley Jr., of The State, Columbia morning newspaper, was handcuffed and hauled off to jail Thursday.

Tilley was held at the jail for an hour until $100 bond was posted and trial was set for June 12 in magistrate's court.

Highway Patrolman John W. Valdario of west Columbia refused to discuss the case with newsmen.

Tilley gave this account: He was taking pictures of a three-car wreck in I-26 near Columbia when Valdario asked him to leave. He said he then identified himself to Valdario as an accredited news photographer, but again was told to stop using his camera, was cursed, and was told to leave.

Tilley said he then appealed to another patrolman, who declined to intervene, and as he

Anything of a modern era concept is good here, since there is the ability to see far into the future. Spiritual training early.

The photographer said that as he then tried to put the card

Ft. Macon Park Shortchanged

Ft. Macon State Park has the highest attendance of any park in the state system, but the lowest per visitor budget.

This was revealed by the Carteret County News-Times. The newspaper reported that the park, located on the Outer Banks near Morehead, had 862,711 visitors for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1972. Its operating expenses for the fiscal year were $47,684.60 or 5½ cents per visitor.

The next lowest park, Mt. Jefferson, received 15 cents per visitor and Singletary Lake received almost $4.06 per visitor, which was highest for the state parks.

Ft. Macon has only two year round employees and recently they have been limited to working 40 hours a week. Consequently even though 17,500 visitors came to the park on Memorial Day weekend, the beach was not even open to serve them.

Even though $11.5 million was appropriated for state park acquisition and $2 million for renovation and repair, it is not certain any of this money will be spent for Ft. Macon. The only capital outlay money expected this year is $10,000 from the state and $10,000 from the federal government to enlarge parking for fishermen and fort visitors.

The last major capital improvement was construction of a new bath house and this was done for contingency funds after the old bath house was destroyed by a storm.

In the meantime a large picnic shelter on a sand dune has been condemned for several years, but no money is available to replace it or even tear it down. The state has allocated $367,000 for restoration of the fort itself, but requests for replacement of the well and water supply system, a garbage disposal unit and other improvements have not been met.

It seems obvious to us that something needs to be done to provide more adequate personnel and facilities for the Ft. Macon State Park. It is quite obviously a highly popular park—the most popular in the state—and it deserves state support more in keeping with the 33.64 cents per visitor average which the state-wide park system enjoys.

Too Many Not Receiving Food

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH—Through choice, apathy, restrictive regulations or other reasons, two-thirds of North Carolina's poor are unreached by food assistance programs.

992,900 North Carolinians in poverty; that is, for a family of four annual income of $3,743 or less in an urban area, or $3,195 in a rural area.

In comparison, the 1960 census set the figure at 1,796,000. Over the 10-year span, the Tar Heel poverty group shrank from 39.4 to 20.2 per cent of total population.

On a monthly average, some 289,303 Tar Heels receive help either through food stamps or distributed surplus commodities. Five years ago, the programs reached only 185,797.

James A. Blakley, Burke County social services director, said he couldn't explain why only 13 per cent of the county's poor take advantage of the food stamp program. Burke was classed among "failure-to-feed" counties.

"We publicized the program through civic clubs, churches, news media, and we have a community action agency conducting an outreach program in the county," he said.

Hard To See Why Some object of paying part of the cost of food stamps, he said. "I can't understand why when you consider the free stamps you receive, but I also can't tell you why people don't go to the doctor when they are sick, or why they don't come in for financial assistance when they need it," he added.

"I don't think there is anyone hungry in Burke County due to the social services department. If they are hungry it is because they have not applied for help," he said.

Income limitations set by the Agriculture Department for the commodities program shut out some of the poor, said E.C. Modlin Wilson County social services director. Wilson was one of the "hunger counties" in the Senate Committee report. Requests to alter the regulation have been unsuccessful, Modlin said.

"I have no idea why a larger percentage of our poor do not participate," said Modlin. "Transportation used to be a problem, but we have recruited volunteers from churches and organizations to deliver commodities to those who have transportation problems. We have also placed eligibility workers right in the commodities warehouse where people can come and be determined eligible and pick up their food at the same time."

Some folks have said they don't want the commodities because they require special preparation and do not vary enough from month to month, Modlin reported.

Five nutrition aides work through the agricultural extension office in the county to assist homemakers in preparing the commodities for the table.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Those who administer the programs say some recipients don't like the food which is available; other complain they don't know how to prepare it and it lacks variety. Many may not realize they are eligible.

Whatever the cause, the low level of participation has state social services officials concerned and searching for ways to broaden food assistance programs as an assurance against hunger.

The social services department, responsible for administration of the federal food stamp program in the state, said headway has been made in the past five years. More families are sharing benefits of the program, while the number at the poverty income level has declined.

"It is evident that participation has increased but with two-thirds of our state's poor not participating, we need to find out why and how we can reach them with food programs," said Dr. Renee Westcott, state commissioner of social services.

More Awareness Needed "We must create a greater awareness of the programs and we must make more effort in this direction. County departments of social services need the help of every citizen and every organized group in this effort. Government alone cannot solve the problem of hunger in our state."

The spotlight fell on administration of food programs in the state with the release last month of a report by the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs. It identified 71 of the 100 North Carolina counties where it said one-third or less of the poor received food assistance.

The Senate Committee report listed 30 "hunger counties" in North Carolina with more than one-fourth of the population below the poverty level and less than one-third participating in food programs. It labeled 40 others "failure-to-feed counties" with less than one-fourth the population in poverty and more than one-third of the poor outside the reach of food programs.

Jeb Magruder To Blame Self

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—Contrary to widespread expectations here that he might implicate his superiors still deeper in the Watergate scandal, former Nixon political aide Jeb Stuart Magruder will give the White House no trouble at all in his sworn public testimony, according to present plan.

Both Magruder's own private interviews with federal investigators, in which he has admitted perjury in earlier testimony, and his attorney's confidential preview of his forthcoming testimony to the Ervin committee point to one conclusion: Magruder, the slavishly loyal Nixon lieutenant, now intends to blame himself for illegal political espionage. "I would say," a high Senate source told us, "that his superiors have nothing to worry about."

This became particularly important in light of the decision of ex-White House counsel John Dean to tell all—even if he does not get the immunity from prosecution he has been bargaining for all spring. The two top former Nixon aides, H.R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, have clearly decided to rebut Dean at every point, backed by public pronouncements out of the Oval Office.

The course that Magruder now intends to follow buttresses the Nixon-Haldeman-Ehrlichman position and isolates Dean. With the White House denying Dean the documents he claims are necessary, President Nixon's supporters hope to destroy his credibility about the 40-plus meetings he tells investigators he had with Mr. Nixon this year.

All this bears an uncanny resemblance to power alignments of happier days. Dean was a White House agent of then Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and as such a key actor in Mitchell's continuing power struggle with the White House staff. But Magruder was Haldeman's protegee, placed at the Committee to Reelect the President (CRP) as acting director to safeguard Haldeman's interests against Mitchell, the future campaign director. Mitchell tried to undercut Magruder there but Magruder was protected by Haldeman.

The pattern persists. According to lawyers close to the case, Mitchell has told investigators that he gave no espionage instructions to Magruder but adds that Magruder probably did. Dean is still hoping for corroboration from Mitchell on the witness stand, though both Mitchell's credibility and predictability are clouded by recent erratic behavior.

When U.S. Atty. Harold H. Titus, Jr., announced May 24 that a key figure in the Watergate case—later identified as Magruder—had agreed to plead guilty and testify as a prosecution witness, it was assumed that meant trouble for Magruder's bosses. The ingratiating Magruder humbly told friends that he was willing to tell the truth, take his punishment and then start a new life.

But that obviously did not mean implicating his superiors. According to government and Senate sources, Magruder is saying that he inferred too much from broad directions given him by the White House. The blame, he is expected to testify, is his.

That is obviously the best of new for Ehrlichman and Haldeman, who are simply denying everything and admitting nothing—not taking the Fifth Amendment, not claiming executive privilege, not seeking immunity. Their denials and the strategy to discredit Dean have clearly become key points of the Nixon defense strategy.

Simultaneously, Dean is suddenly finding trouble getting the documents he contends will back up his charges. The White House refuses to release the President's daily schedule logs which Dean says would document his claim of frequent 1973 meetings with Mr. Nixon. Dean also has told investigators that Mr. Nixon scribbled Watergate comments in the margins of his

CONCERNING HOPE

To lose hope is in reality to lose one's life. We may continue to breathe, to move about, to eat, sleep and talk, but in a meaningful sense we cease to live if we have no hope. Our motivation to act in any way is conditioned by some kind of expectation, and that expectation could not exist except for hope. The Spanish have a proverb, "Who loses money loses much; who loses friends loses more; who loses hope loses all." Everything that we value in civilization was at one time no more than a hope. The Bible has much to say about hope. We are told in 1 Peter 1:13 to hope to the end. And St. Paul speaks about hope along with faith and love as three outstanding virtues in the Christian life. In writing to the Romans he counseled them to be of good cheer because tribulation, he said, works patience, and patience experience, and experience hope. The entire career of St. Paul is an example of the power of hope to sustain a person through the greatest trials that life can offer.

Congress Flubs It Again

WASHINGTON—No one believes in the separation of powers more than I do. But when Congress voted last week to cut off funds used to bomb Cambodia I think they went too far.

It has been one of the traditions of the government for the past 10 years that a President has the authority to bomb where and when he wants to regardless of race, creed or color.

This has worked very well and the United States has dropped more bombs on Indochina than it did during World Wars I, II, III, IV and V.

Not only was Congress wrong in refusing to vote the funds for the future bombing of Cambodia but it couldn't have picked a more inopportune time to have done it. President Nixon is beset with tremendous problems at home and abroad. He has lost his White House staff; the Senate committee keeps probing into his role in the Watergate affair; men he trusted have been lying through their teeth about Administration coverups; the CIA refuses to play ball with the President's version of what happened after Watergate; and the FBI, after a slow start, is uncovering massive violations of the law.

The only solace the President could take during this period is that he could bomb Cambodia whenever he wanted to. He could pick up the phone at any time, day or night, and say, "Henry, I've had a bad day. I want six squadrons of B-52s to dump two million tons of bombs on the suburbs of Pnomh Penh."

Even while the press was zeroing in on the so-called "plumbers" operation in the White House, even while John Dean was spilling the beans to Newsweek and Time, even though John Mitchell was telling reporters he had no in-no intention of being a scapegoat, the President could survive because he knew if things really got rough he could always kick the hell out of Indochina.

It seems to me that Congress should have taken this into consideration when it overwhelmingly voted to cut off this presidential option. While they certainly have the right to look into Watergate, and while no one disputes their sincerity in getting us out of Indochina once and for all, bombing is still the President's business. Many times we have been told that only Presidents really know what it is to be President. It is the loneliest job in the world with very few satisfactions.

One of the big pluses was that as Commander-in-Chief you could send Air Force and Navy planes against any target you felt threatened the security of the United States.

By cutting off funds to bomb Cambodia, Congress has tied the President's hands behind his back. They have made it impossible for him to use the weapons that

Other Editors Say High Milk Prices

(Washington Daily News)

Food prices are high everywhere. To a lot of people such an evaluation would seem to be an understatement.

Housewives look at prices and they also know that when it comes to milk, the present price per gallon is among the highest in this nation. Milk today in North Carolina averages about 74 cents per gallon, according to officials of the North Carolina Consumer Council. The average over the nation is about 61 cents per gallon.

And how can the N.C. Milk Commission answer the criticisms coming so regularly to it from consumers?

Frankly, it is a difficult charge to answer. And from the common sense standpoint there seems to be no real reason why milk prices in North Carolina should be so high. Housewives are saying that the Milk Commission prices in our state protect everybody but the consumer.

It would appear that under present circumstances the Milk Commission is complicating the problem rather than simplifying it.

We have tremendous warmth for the dairymen who must work exceptionally hard for what they make. They deserve a good price for milk. At the same time the Milk Commission ought to take a good look at the full picture and not merely one part of it. The producer, the middleman, and the consumer all play a part in the story. And when prices are compared over the nation, somewhere along the line it appears that the consumer is the forgotten man on the totem pole.

Even then with milk today at 74 cents per gallon in our state, if we compare it with some other prices, we just wonder where it all will end. For instance, at this writing lettuce is 69 cents per head. On a comparative basis, it appears to us that lettuce is higher than milk.

We of course have no lettuce commission, but we do have a Milk Commission. And unless this commission takes steps to protect the consumer equally with the others involved, then, somewhere along the line North Carolina is going to abolish this commission and allow the prices to seek their own level. If that happens, then generally it would seem that milk prices will go down.

The truth is that so long as we have a milk commission, we cannot have a free and open milk market in this state. And so long as this condition prevails, we feel sure consumers in our state will continue to pay much higher prices for milk.

NEW YORK (AP)—Much concern is expressed these days about our inability to interpret business data and explanations and footnotes with the accuracy that must be relied upon if we are to understand the corporate world.

The problem is best illustrated by the ordinary investor who attempts to wade through a typical annual report, through the agate type, the asterisks, the exceptions, the notes, the breakdown by division....

Most people don't bother to look beyond the highlights section, the president's report and the statistical summary, realizing that, without an accounting degree, it is impossible. They leave it to the experts.

And so, to a great degree, what appears to be a form of communication and which in fact serves the legal interpretation of it, communicates little at all.

Now we have considerable evidence that the experts also are confounded by the job of accurately obtaining a reading of a company's activities, especially a huge company, and particularly a conglomerate.

The most dramatic and publicized example in recent months was the Equity Funding Life Insurance collapse, in which authorities charge that phony insurance policies were created to pose as assets, fooling public auditors, analysts and investors. But there have been many other cases of confusion, some of them even involving a company's officers. How does the president of a billion dollar corporation with hundreds of units keep himself informed? It's difficult.

Litton Industries, which publishes books, builds ships, makes medical products and serves foods from plants situated in 79 cities in 25 states, used to brag about its internal communications system that was supposed to signal the central office in advance of any financial problems. Hope Is Not Dead

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Are you ready to give up? Some say the world is going to hell. Others say it is already there but the arrival wasn't given proper notice.

HAL BOYLE

In any case, the main thing wrong with the environment of man seems to be man himself. He is disillusioned with himself and the world he made. He dwells in an atmosphere of hate, fear, cynicism, and distrust.

If he had a motto it would be the old phrase: "All is lost."

Yet if one dispassionately analyzes man's plight, it would seem there is as much dramatic self-pity in it as real despair. Man has always been a breast-beater and a male Cassandra. He can always see the black cloud before he notices its silver lining.

All is lost? No, indeed. There are several signs and portents to indicate that the world is approaching hell at no more than its normal speed. What are these signs of hope — and perhaps even cheer?

Well, to name a few: Every week still has a Friday as well as a Monday in it.

If you are the kind of guy who likes attractive widows, there are more of them around now than there were in 1900.

Crabgrass is no worse this year than it was last year.

Scientists virtually guarantee that the antarctic ice cube won't melt this summer and flood our coastal cities under 100 feet of water.

The pro football season will start in a few weeks.

There is no national election this year.

And now the New York Stock Exchange has been caught completely off guard in the collapse of Weis Securities, Inc., which exchange officials, based on the data available, believed to be financially sound.

The exchange firmly believed that its early warning system, which followed the surprise collapse of other brokerage firm members, would insure it against further shocks. But the data forwarded to the exchange appears to have been doctored.

The solution to the information problem, if there is one, doesn't lie in producing masses of data; that is too easily accomplished in this age of electronic computers and probably contributes, rather than alleviates, the problem.

he has at his disposal for whatever purposes he deems necessary to teach the North Vietnamese a lesson. It is a dastardly move that could only depress the President more than he is right now. I am not just thinking of President Nixon when I protest this congressional action. I am thinking of future Presidents of the United States. One of the great inducements for becoming President is being able to bomb targets at will without consulting Congress. It is probably the greatest fringe benefit the American people can offer the holder of the most important position in this land. My fear is that Congress in taking this prerogative away from the President may have discouraged many qualified people from running for this office. Countless presidential candidates have told me personally, "If I can't bomb Cambodia when I want to, I'm not interested in the job." So the question I pose today is: Can we afford to lose this caliber of men just because Congress has thrown out the baby with the bath water?

Finally, Dean claims he cannot even get access to his own files, stored in the basement of the Executive Office Building. According to his account, he was denied access last Saturday to his own chronologies which he says could substantiate his testimony. Nevertheless, the White House position is shaky. Without testimony from either Dean or Magruder, Ehrlichman and Haldeman are still likely to be indicted, in the opinion of many lawyers. The fact that Dean's leads to prosecutors have so far proved accurate means his testimony may well severely damage the President and his top aides even without substantiation by other witnesses and documents. Against this background comes Jeb Magruder's confrontation with the Ervin committee—probably next week—as the highest level Nixon operative yet to testify. Unless his lawyer's preview proves wholly false, it will be a day of testimony bringing some sighs of relief at the White House.

This will provide for local planning assistance in the area of Community Development Revenue Sharing, with the state giving a grant of $2,400 and the city providing $1,566 in local funds to take care of the proposed assistance. Greenville is one of 79 North Carolina communities to be invited to take part in this service. A restrictive covenant was adopted that binds the city to receive written approval from the Secretary of the Department

The grant contract providing a share of purchase funds from federal sources called for the city to agree to a restrictive sale covenant. The city council approved three recommendations offered by the Greenville Traffic Commission. The recommendations approved are: to prohibit parking on both sides of South Elm Street from East Fourteenth Street to the Elm Street Recreation Center between 1:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. prohibit parking on the south side of West Fifth Street from Vance to Sheppard Street; and adoption of an ordinance increasing from 35 miles to 45 miles per hour the speed limit on Tenth Street from Elm Street eastward to Cedar Lane. The upgrade in speed limit was requested by the N.C. State Highway Commission. Two new items of equipment were added to the city's inventory with the approval of low bids on an air compressor for the Fire Department and a stump cutter for the Public Works Department. Pressure Systems, Inc. was low bidder for the air compressor at $1,959.25; and Vermeer Carolinas Sales and Service company was low bidder for the stump cutting machine at a price of $5,871.00. The Interim Appropriation Ordinance to operate the city government for the period July 1 until the 1973-74 Budget Ordinance is adopted was approved, as was a petition to curb and gutter and resurface Patrick and Carlson Streets in Westwood. The street improvements are based on a 100 percent pre-payment sign-up and also to repair damages to the streets resulting from work carried out by Greenville Utilities. A petition to pave the city's portion of Arlington Boulevard leading into Evans Park from Hooker Road received council approval. Paving would be only accomplished on one-half (or 30 feet) of the proposed 60 foot street for a short distance from private property line to the park. Renewal of a mobile home permit for another one year period was granted to Mrs. Almata L. McCoy at 1306 South Pitt Street.

Vacation Bible School Planned

The Greenville Church of Christ will hold its annual Vacation Bible School beginning Monday and continuing through Friday from 7-9 p.m.

This year the adult class will have a guest teacher, James Allen of Goldsboro, pastor of the Goldsboro Church of Christ. He will lead the class study on "Power For Bigger Lives" based on the Epistle of James.

The youth classes will be studying the theme "We Look to Jesus." Classes will be provided for children of all ages.

The church is located at Greenville Blvd. and Emerson Rd. The public is invited to attend.

LIBRARY ACTIVITIES. . . are being filmed by George Smith for the University of North Carolina Educational Television channel. Here he is shown working in the Children's Room at Sheppard Memorial Library. Greenville is one of five North Carolina towns being covered in a TV film focusing on children's activities. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Carolina towns where we're filming this program," Smith said, "we are covering a different facet of the library program. In Greenville, we're concentrating on music, which we understand is one of the outstanding features in your library program. In other towns, we're concentrating on other things."

Smith said the towns in which the film is being shot are Asheville, Wilmington, Raleigh, Elkin and Greenville.

"The film is in color, and is 16 millimeter," Smith explained. "It's in sound, and will have narration to accompany and explain activities taking place. When completed, the film will run about 30 minutes. One good example of the type of varied coverage is Elkin. There we filmed story telling time for children. In Elkin, this activity takes place in a service station, one that is still in operation."

Smith said his work with the educational television takes him to many parts of the state to cover events of interest.

"Just recently," he pointed out, "we completed a film at Kitty Hawk. Another recent coverage was the Youth Jamboree in Asheville." The station also covered the state legislature during its recent session.

Dave calls this his wedding picture. He was best man when Jane and I were married, and a prouder boy you'll never see.

He loved Jane from the first. He never thought of her as a stepmother. Jane's zest for life, her merry ways, her love for God were happily contagious. The unhappy years we'd known faded. Soon we were marching off to church with her as though it were our own idea.

Tomorrow Dave will be married, and I'll be his best man. He and Susan are a fine couple. Jane and I don't worry about their marriage. Their relationship has a depth that comes from a mutual love for God and His Church. In the years ahead, their church will be a bedrock of understanding and strength.

The Church is the starting point for the happiness that every family needs.

Something For Everyone In Recreation Programs

The Greenville Recreation Department has set Tuesday, June 12th as the starting date for its Summer Program. Again this year a variety of programs and activities will be offered to the citizens of Greenville. Neighborhood playground activities; Basketball, Baseball, Softball, and Volleyball Leagues; Tennis, Karate, Baseball and Softball instructions; Day Camping; Tot Lot and a Children's Theatre are the types of activities that will be available. Although most of the programs provided are planned for youngsters on summer vacation, many are open to people of all ages and sexes.

The following is a list of the various programs, including a short description and registration dates.

Boys Baseball
A program involving both instruction and competition will be available for youngsters seven through twelve years old. They will be divided into three groups; Small Fry for seven years olds, Big Fry for eight year olds, and Big Eight for nine through twelve year olds. These youngsters will receive instruction for approximately two weeks and then be assigned to teams for play. Instructors for this program will be Ronald Vincent, baseball coach and teacher at Farmville Central High School; Glen Gullege, baseball coach and teacher in the Greene County Schools; Dave Larussa, varsity pitcher for the ECU Baseball team; and Joe West, Greenville resident and athlete at Elon College. Children should register Tuesday, June 12th at Elm Street Center from 9:00 to 12:00 and from 2:00 to 5:00.

In addition, a similar program involving baseball instruction will be offered at the South Greenville Recreation Center Monday through Friday from 9:00 to 12:00 noon. Instructors for this program will be Tommy Toms and John Narron, both varsity baseball players at ECU. Anyone interested in this program should register with these people at South Greenville Tuesday morning, June 12th.

Tennis Instruction
Beginning and intermediate classes will be taught for both youngsters and adults. The classes will be held throughout the day at various, hours starting at 9:00 AM and finishing at 8:00 PM. Adult classes will be held during the early evening with the youngsters' classes during the morning and afternoon. The classes will meet on a Monday-Wednesday and Tuesday-Thursday basis. Last year the theatre presented two productions open to the public involving all the children who participated in the program. More information about the program and the days and times it will meet may be obtained by registering at the Elm Street Center on Tuesday, June 12th.

Karate Instruction
Beginning and intermediate Karate instruction will be available again this summer through Miss Vicki Morrow. These lessons are for anyone 18 years of age or younger. A fee of $10 a month will be charged. Anyone interested should meet at the Elm Street Center on Wednesday, June 13th at 7:00 p.m.

Girls Softball Leagues
This program is being offered to girls ages 10 through 13 who feel slighted by Little League or who have a desire to play softball in an organized league. In addition to instruction by the Boys Baseball program instructors, the participants will be divided into teams for play and be issued uniforms. The program will be held Monday through Friday at 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. at the Elm Street Ball Field. Interested girls should register at Elm Street Center on Tuesday June 12th. There is no charge for the program but participants are asked to furnish their own gloves and shoes.

In addition to this program two other girls softball programs are now underway at both South Greenville Recreation Center and West Greenville Recreation Center. There is still a chance to get into these programs by checking at either of these two centers for days and times.

Mixed Volleyball League
Anyone interested in a mixed (men and women) volleyball league should attend an organizational meeting at the Elm Street Gym on Thursday, June 14th at 7:30 p.m. Leagues and teams will be set according to the number of interested people who attend. Leagues can be set up for both youngsters and adults. Dates and times will be set then also.

Summer Basketball Leagues
Again this summer the Recreation Department is offering organized basketball. The leagues will be held at three locations: Elm Street, South Greenville, and West Greenville Recreation Centers. This year leagues will be formed in two divisions: adults out of high school and boys in the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. Anyone interested should attend or have a team representative attend an organizational meeting at the Elm Street Gym on Tuesday, June 12th at 7:30 p.m. More information will be available at this meeting, or by calling Charles Vincent at 752-2355.

Junior Putters Association
Registration is now underway for boys and girls ages 10 through 12 interested in participating in a putt-putt competition league. This league is similar to Little League Baseball in that local businessmen sponsor a team, and teams compete against each other. The program is free. In addition, each participant receives a free jersey. Anyone interested in this program should see Richard Rainey at the Greenville Putt-Putt course. There are still plenty of positions left to fill up teams.

Junior High Girl Program
A program of planned activities will be offered for girls in the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades. The girls will meet Monday through Friday from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. at the Elm Street Recreation Center. Activities will include athletics, gymnastics, crafts, swimming, picnics, community service projects, etc. Interested girls should register at Elm Street Center on Tuesday, June 12th.

Playground Program
Neighborhood playgrounds and centers will be open throughout Greenville for seven weeks starting Tuesday, June 12th. A variety of activities will be provided by playground supervisors. Some activities will be various games, athletics, crafts, special events, swimming, putt-putt golf, bowling, and horseback riding. Hillsdale Park, Meadowbrook Center, West Meadowbrook Park, Peppermint Park, Greenfield Terrace Park, Woodlawn Park, Kittrell-Goodson Park, South Greenville Center, West Greenville Center and Elm Street Center and Park are the areas where planned and supervised programs will be offered. The playground hours are Monday through Friday at 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. South Greenville and West Greenville Centers will be open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. with various activities and programs throughout the day. All children 7 years old and older are invited to register at one of the playgrounds on Tuesday, June 12th from 9:00-12:00 and 2:00-5:00.

For further information about activities in the summer program, inquire with in-

Exchange Nips Elks By 7-4

The Exchange edged past the Elks, 7-4, yesterday in the Tar Heel Little League, pulling within a game of second place in the league.

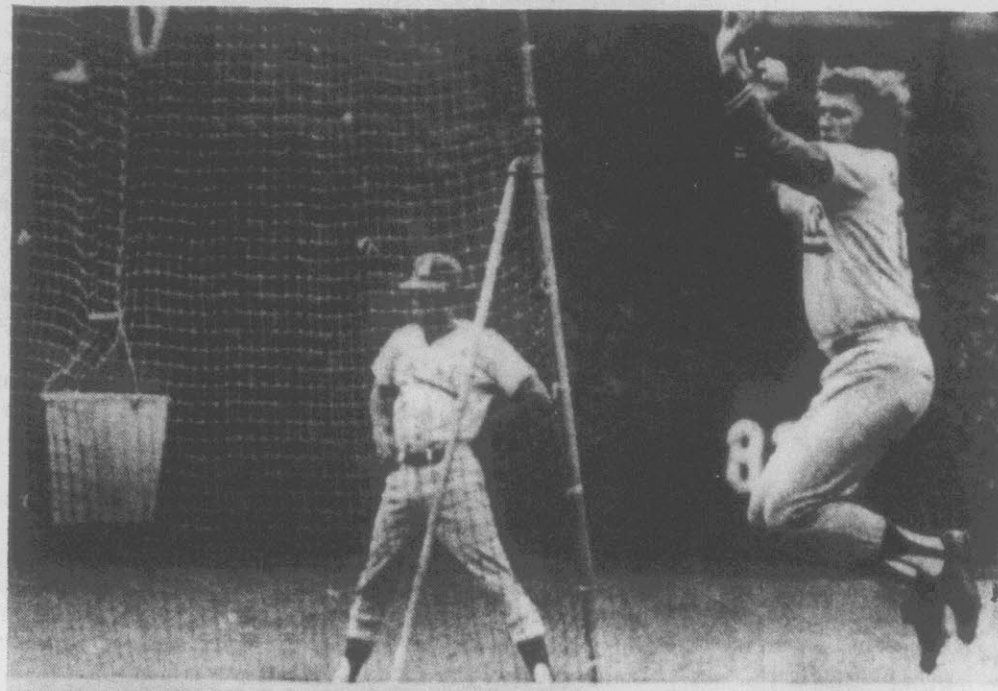

The Elks still hold to second, 6-4, now 2½ games behind leading Pepsi-Cola. The Exchange is 5-5 overall, a game behind the Elks.

The Elks started the scoring in the first inning, getting two runs. Chris Ross walked, and so did William Snead. Jimmy Lee reached on a two-base error, scoring Ross and moving Snead to third. He scored when Jarvis Campbell grounded out for a 2-0 lead.

In the third, the Exchange came up with two runs to tie it up. Pep Cox singled and moved up on an error on the play. A passed ball moved him to third and Cliff Fearington walked, then stole second. Al Shackelford singled to score Cox, and Garland Lancaster was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Eric Deal then walked to force in Fearington with the tying run.

But the Elks came back with two more in the bottom of the third to move back into the lead. Snead led off with a single and Lee got a hit. Both advanced on a passed ball, and Campbell's ground out scored Snead. Lenn Jackson walked and stole second. An error on the play let Lee come in for a 4-2 Elks lead.

Then, in the fourth, the Exchange rallied for five runs to push ahead and take the game. Bart Greene singled and was safe at second on an error on Cox's grounder. Fearington doubled, driving in Greene. Shackelford singled to score Cox and then stole second. Lancaster then finished off the scoring by slamming a three-run homer to run it to 7-4, the final margin.

BASEKETBALL — Los Angeles Dodgers' George Culver practices jump shots during a pregame warm-up in Chicago Thursday. His "basket" was a bucket hung on a protective net. It's not known if this style of warm-up helps, but the Dodgers won, 4-0. (AP Wirephoto)

Morton Shows Expos They Made A Mistake

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Morton returned to Montreal Thursday night and poured salt in the Expos' wounds.

"I wanted to come back in here and show these people I'm a big league pitcher. I think a lot of people didn't believe it last year," the Atlanta right-hander said after limiting his former teammates to three singles in six innings and picking up the victory when the Braves rallied for two runs in the seventh and won 3-2.

Coming off a 7-13 season after winning 28 games in two years and Rookie of the Year honors in 1970, Morton was traded to the Braves for pitcher Pat Jarvis during spring training. He was asked if he bore any animosity toward the Expos.

"I'd rather not answer that," he said, in effect answering it.

In the only other National League game, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Chicago Cubs 4-0 and the San Diego Padres edged the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3.

There were only three games in the American League, too. The California Angels beat the Detroit Tigers 3-0, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 and the Texas Rangers shaded the New York Yankees 7-5.

Andy Messersmith pitched a three-hitter and Willie Davis hit his eighth home run to lead the Dodgers over the Cubs.

"Considering all the factors—the wind blowing out in Wrigley Field and the Cubs a hot team—this was my best game of the season," Messersmith said.

Ivan Murrell's leadoff home run in the ninth inning off reliever Wayne Granger, his second of the season, lifted the Padres to a come-from-behind victory that ended the Cardinals' five-game winning streak.

The White Sox scored two runs on only one hit in the fifth inning and went on to beat the Orioles as reliever Terry Forster halted two threats. The victory ended a five-game Chicago losing streak and stopped Baltimore's winning skein at four.

Nolan Ryan tamed Detroit on five hits and Jeff Torborg drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single to lead the Angels over the Tigers.

Despite the setback, the Tigers remained in first place in the American League East, one-half game ahead of the Yankees.

Massey In Golf Lead

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—O'Dell Massey, with a first round four under par 68, had a two stroke lead going into today's final 18 holes of the rain-shortened Winston Classic golf tournament.

Massey, of Burlington, N. C., had nines of 33-35 in Thursday's tour of the Greenville Country Club's 6,815-yard par 72 Chanticleer course.

Another North Carolinian, George Smith of Havelock, was second with a 70, and five players were knotted at 71.

In this group were three North Carolina pros, Gene Briggs of Salisbury, Al Goodrich of Goldsboro and Drew Pierson of High Point, and two South Carolinians, Hamp Auld of Columbia and Jim McNair of Aiken.

The $12,000 event for the Carolinas Section of the PGA, a qualifying affair for the $25,000 National PGA championship at Cleveland, Ohio, in August, was originally scheduled for 54 holes.

Rain wiped out the first round Wednesday and the tournament was cut to 36 holes.

Seventy-nine golfers of the original field of 97 were still in competition for the final round.

Barber Moves Into Golf Lead

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jim Barber, who is sponsored on the pro golf tour by his 70-year-old grandmother and uses a gasoline station operator's discarded putter, was the surprise leader today as the field started the second round of the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

The 24-year-old Barber shot a seven-under-par 34-31-65 Thursday over the 6,708-yard whitmarsh Valley Country Club course to lead Mike Reasor by one stroke. Reasor fashioned a 32-34-66 on the tight little layout dotted with sand traps and treacherous out-of-bounds stakes.

Another stroke back in the 72-hole test for a $30,000 first prize were red-hot Tom Weiskopf, twice a winner in the last four weeks; Hale Irwin, John Adams and Larry Ziegler, each with five-under-par 67s.

Jack Nicklaus, the tour's leading money winner and a four-time victor this year, posted a one-over 73, commenting, "It wasn't a very good round of golf." Nicklaus came here to get ready for next week's U.S. open at Oakmont, near Pittsburgh, the first time golf's No. 1 player has ever competed the week preceding an open.

The most surprised person on the course appeared to be the long, blond-haired Barber, who physically is somewhat of a look-alike for Nicklaus. The 6-foot native of Clearwater, Fla., hadn't made the cut in five of the 10 tournaments in which he played this year. He didn't even qualify for four others. His earnings are $3,685 for the year.

Here are the top first-round scores:

Jim Barber	34-31-65
Mike Reasor	32-34-66
Hale Irwin	34-33-67
Larry Ziegler	34-33-67
Tom Weiskopf	36-31-67
John Adams	35-32-67
Dave Hill	34-34-68
Tom Jenkins	36-32-68
Miller Barber	35-33-68
Forrest Fezler	36-32-68
Ross Randall	35-33-68

Celebrate 50th Year

By PAUL TREUTHARDT

LE MANS, France (AP) — Cars that made sports car history, and the drivers who drove them, raced again on the historic Le Mans course.

Ashton Martin and Amiclar, Bentley and BMW, Ferrari and Frazer-Nash, Jaguar, Lister, Lotus, Maserati and Mercedes got together Thursday to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the first Le Mans race.

Among the drivers who appeared out of the past were Sterling Moss, one of the most famous of all time, and Phil Hill, world champion and three-time victor at Le Mans.

Along with the nostalgia there was business, too, as trial races were held for Saturday's classic.

Secretariat Goes For Triple Crown Victory

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat goes after thoroughbred racing's elusive Triple Crown Saturday in the Belmont Stakes, and the success or failure of the exciting Meadow Stable colt might be pinned on the performance of a speed horse called Knightly Dawn.

Trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin put Knightly Dawn into the six-horse Belmont field Thursday as an entrant with Sham and students of racing strategy immediately began to hold court.

Martin's apparent plan is to have Knightly Dawn draw Secretariat into an early speed duel and then have Sham come on to avenge his second-place finishes to Secretariat in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

"It just means another horse for him to get around," was the reaction of Secretariat's trainer, Lucien Laurin, to Martin's move.

Set to join Secretariat and the sigmond Sommer-owned entry at the 5:38 p.m., EDT, post for the 1½-mile classic at Belmont Park were Arthur Appleton's My Gallant, C.V. Whitney's Pvt. Smiles and Elmdorf's Twice A Prince.

If all six start, each under 126 pounds, the Belmont will be worth $151,200 with $90,720 to the winner.

Television coverage is scheduled for 5-6 p.m. and radio coverage for 5:25-5:45 p.m., EDT, both by CBS.

The early odds had Secretariat a 2-5 favorite to win for the 12th time in 15 career starts and become the ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation in 1948.

The Triple Crown champions have been Sir Barton, 1919; Gallant Fox, 1930; Omaha, 1935; War Admiral, 1937; Whirlaway, 1941; Count Fleet, 1943; Assault, 1946 and Citation, 1948.

Six who since 1948 won the Derby and Preakness but failed in the Belmont were Tim Tam, 1958; Carry Back, 1961; Northern Dancer, 1964; Kauai King, 1966; Majestic Prince, 1969, and Canonero II, 1971.

$100 each for nomination; $250 for each of the entries and $1,000 to start.

Value—If six start, $90,720 to winner; $33,264 to second; $18,144 to third and $9,072 to fourth out of gross purse of $151,200.

Favorite—Secretariat.

Chicod In 10-9 Win

Chicod rallied for four runs in the bottom of the last inning to nip the Winterville Indians, 10-9, in a Southern Pitt Little League game last night.

Daniels had a home run to aid the Indians in their efforts, but it wasn't enough. Owens added two hits for the Indians.

Dixon, Fornes and Johnson each had two hits for Chicod. Edens claimed the victory, while Carmon was tagged with the loss.

Chicod is now 4-0, while the Indians are 2-2.

LE MANS, France (AP) — Cars that made sports car history, and the drivers who drove them, raced again on the historic Le Mans course.

Ashton Martin and Amiclar, Bentley and BMW, Ferrari and Frazer-Nash, Jaguar, Lister, Lotus, Maserati and Mercedes got together Thursday to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the first Le Mans race.

Among the drivers who appeared out of the past were Sterling Moss, one of the most famous of all time, and Phil Hill, world champion and three-time victor at Le Mans.

Along with the nostalgia there was business, too, as trial races were held for Saturday's classic.

Prefontaine Sets New NCAA 3-Mile Record To Get Pitchers

By JERRY ESTILL
Associated Press Writer

BATON ROUGE, LA. (AP)—Steve Prefontaine of Oregon wowed the fans with a three-mile record of 13:19 Thursday night, but hinted they had seen nothing yet.

The record time came in qualifying for the National Collegiate Athletic Association finals and, for Prefontaine at least, it was almost effortless effort.

"I was surprised I could run the way I ran," he said. "I ran the last quarter-mile in 63 seconds and felt very easy and very much in control all the way."

The time eclipsed his own NCAA meet mark of 13:20.1, set in 1971, and Prefontaine said later: "You may see some strange things Saturday."

He declined to elaborate on his plans for the race, but said proper weather conditions could bring still more records.

Another well-known star, hurdler rod Milburn of Southern University, also led qualifying in his event and predicted a close race in the nationally televised finals Saturday.

It was Milburn's first official race on the Louisiana State University track, and he said the track was the fastest he had ever run on.

The world record holder and Olympic champion declined, however, to predict what time it would take to beat him in the finals.

UCLA, meanwhile, qualified six persons for the finals and remained a solid favorite to win its third consecutive team title.

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees has said all along that all he needed to win the American League East was one more quality starting pitcher. Now he has two.

The Yankees made a big double play in the trading game Thursday with the acquisition of left-hander Sam McDowell and right-hander Pat Dobson in separate deals with National League teams.

The Yankees gave the San Francisco Giants a "substantial amount of cash" for McDowell, a former American League strikeout king known as "Sudden Sam." The amount paid for the swift southpaw was said to be in the $100,000 neighborhood.

Four players were the price for Dobson, a righthander the Atlanta Braves acquired only last winter in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles. The Yankees gave the Braves two minor leaguers—first baseman-outfielder Frank Tepedino and outfielder Wayne Nordhagen—and two players to be named at a later date.

The Yankees, endowed with plenty of hitting after some of fseason trades, sorely needed pitching help to make a run at the AL East flag.

McDowell and Dobson should give them that, although both were relative failures in the National League after starring in the American for many years. Both are former 20-game winners.

Not only was Houk happy about the deal, but so were the rest of the Yankees. The feeling among the Yankee players was one of enthusiasm and confidence.

Houk said he would go with a five-man pitching rotation, with Dobson expected to step right into the Yankee rotation this weekend.

Pair Share Lead In LPGA Event

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, who has won nearly one-half million dollars on the women's golf tour, and Japan's Chako Higuchi, seeking her first U.S. victory, shared the lead today entering the second round of the LPGA Championship.

Miss Whitworth ran out four birdies in a row on the back nine for a two-under par 71 and then held on for a first place tie Thursday as Miss Higuchi blew a chance for the undisputed lead with bogeys on the last two holes for her 71.

"I scrambled a little bit," Miss Whitworth said after another fine effort at Pleasant Valley Country Club, where she has won four tournaments and two LPGA titles in recent years.

They were arrested May 5 on Interstate 95 by an officer who charged Powell, the driver, with speeding. Powell pleaded guilty to that charge and paid a fine.

In addition, the two were charged on the marijuana count after officers said they found marijuana cigarette butts in the car's ash tray.

The defense moved that search of the car was illegal because the car was rented and the cigarette butts could have been left by a previous renter. The state countered that if the pair rented the car, they were responsible for its contents.

Several character witnesses testified for the pair, including their coach, Frank McGuire.

Pepe Mangual of the Montreal Expos is the brother of Angel Mangual of the Oakland As. both are outfielders.

There was a 10-way tie at 73. Former New England champion Janie Blalock had a 77 and among the majority of the field in failing to match par on the 6,130-yard course.

Former LPGA champion Sandra Post soared to an 84, while Kathy Cornelius, winner of $25,000 in a playoff with Mrs. Rankin in a $100,000 tourney at Las Vegas last Sunday, had a 79.

The late Roberto Clemente led National League outfielders in assists five times — 1958, '60, '61, '66 and '67.

Tams Are Sold, Will Move To Rhode Island

By HOWARD ULMAN
Associated Press Writer

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — After three frustrating attempts, Paul Lynch has succeeded in bringing an American Basketball Association team to Providence.

"We won't be buying the Memphis Tams," Lynch announced on May 15. He said conditions imposed on the deal by sports magnate Charles O. Finley were too stringent.

On Thursday, Lynch, a 28-year-old executive for a Providence-based paving company, reversed himself.

"It's our team now," he said announcing the $1.3 million deal.

Final arrangements were hammered out last week in Chicago by Finley and Lynch, who represents a local syndicate of 29 businessmen.

Lynch said although negotiations faltered, Finley kept after him with telephone calls trying to unload the team that cost him $525,000 and had the losing record in the league.

ABA Commissioner Robert

Carlson said a tentative telephone meeting of league owners has been called for Monday to vote on the sale. A majority of 10 owners is needed to ratify it.

Outgoing Tams' coach Bob Bass said he won't be coming to Providence and wasn't "particularly shocked" at the sale. He said he would "have to sit back and take a few days" to decide his own future.

Kevin Joyce Is Given $500 Fine

LUMBERTON, N. C. (AP)—Kevin Joyce, a member of the U. S. Olympic basketball team, and a former South Carolina Gamecock teammate, James F. Powell, have been fined $500 for possession of marijuana.

Both pleaded guilty in Robeson County Superior Court Thursday to the lesser charge, a misdemeanor, after being brought to trial on a count of possession with intent to distribute, a felony.

Both also were assessed $100, which Judge D. Marsh McLelland directed be given to the Robeson County Sheriff's Department drug control section.

Joyce, 21, of Merrick, N. Y., graduated from South Carolina this spring. He has been drafted by the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

Powell, 23, is from Columbia, S. C.

Girls May Get League

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Little League officials here are considering changing the "for boys only" rule in effect since the league's beginning 34 years ago.

The motion to start a girls' baseball league was made last month at the International Little League congress in Tampa, Fla. The league has been accused of sex discrimination in the past.

Robert Stewart, public relations director, said Thursday the league is now trying to determine which of its 8,000 members would be interested in setting up experimental teams.

The girls' teams would begin next season, but would not become permanent unless the International decides in their favor at the next conference, in 1975.

They were arrested May 5 on Interstate 95 by an officer who charged Powell, the driver, with speeding. Powell pleaded guilty to that charge and paid a fine.

In addition, the two were charged on the marijuana count after officers said they found marijuana cigarette butts in the car's ash tray.

The defense moved that search of the car was illegal because the car was rented and the cigarette butts could have been left by a previous renter. The state countered that if the pair rented the car, they were responsible for its contents.

Choral Conductors Workshop At ECU Will Begin Sunday

A weeklong workshop to be attended by more than 100 choral directors of colleges, schools and churches from across the south, Middle Atlantic and Midwestern states will begin Sunday at East Carolina University.

professional artists famous in the world of choral music headed by Norman Luboff will conduct workshop sessions daily through Saturday, June 16. The ECU School of Music will be host for the workshop, Choral Conducting in the 20th Century, and will furnish faculty and staff assistance in addition to facilities.

Don H. Razez, currently visiting professor at Bucknell University, serves in a dual position as Dean of the Workshop and is managing director of Choral Associates Inc., New York.

Four such workshops are scheduled nationwide this summer, beginning at ECU. Others are scheduled June 24-30 at Baylor University, Waco, Tex.; July 22-28 at California State University, Long Beach, Calif., and August 5-11 at Alverno College, Milwaukee, Wis.

Luboff, who will conduct sessions daily at ECU, is conductor of the touring and recording Norman Luboff Choir. Other choral conducting artists on the visiting faculty include Richard Westenberg, organist and choirmaster of New York's Central Presbyterian Church, who will be church music specialist; Eva Mae Stuckmeyer, director of Choral Activities at Horace Mann

Middle School, Wausau, Wis., specializing in the adolescent voice and music for this age group; Frank Pooler, professor of music at California State College who is considered among the elite of American choral conductors, and Paul Salamunovich, director of Choral Music, Mount Saint Mary's College, Los Angeles, and organist and choir director at St. Charles Borromeo Church in North Hollywood, Calif., and St. Basil's, Los Angeles, and veteran of 17 years experience as assistant conductor of the Roger Wagner Chorale.

At ECU, two semester hours of graduate credit is optional and available at an additional fee for the registrants. Advance registration has been made by choral conductors from Texas, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas, according to officials of the ECU Division of Continuing Education.

Opening lead: King of ♣ East's strategy in defending against South's five diamond contract was soundly conceived and impeccably executed. The latter was tuned in on the same wavelength however, and East's efforts went for naught.

The jump overall of three clubs by West is preemptive and designates a good suit of at least six-card length and a maximum of approximately 10 high card points. North and South were not to be denied, however, and they arrived at their five diamond contract without undue pressure.

West opened the king of clubs and East promptly overtook with the ace. In view of his partner's jump overcall, it seemed highly improbable to East that a second round of the suit would not go thru, and he wanted to avail himself of the only opportunity he could count on to make a play for his partner. East accordingly shifted to a spade at trick two.

South put in the ten of spades from his hand and West won the trick with the jack. There was no apparent reason to return the suit, so West shifted back to the queen of clubs which declarer ruffed. South had paid close attention to the defensive strategy, and he promptly drew some enlightened conclusions. If East had the king of spades, for example, it did not appear likely that he would be so anxious to overtake his partner's king of clubs in order to play a spade. East's shift appeared to be based on a desire to promote his partner's holding in spades by leading thru the declarer, up to dummy's weakness.

Declarer decided to proceed on the assumption that the spade finesse would fail. He proceeded to run the entire trump suit, followed by three rounds of hearts ending up in the North hand.

As the last heart was led, dummy was left with the ten of clubs and a spade. Declarer retained the ace-queen of spades. West held the jack of clubs and the king-five of spades with one discard to make. He gave up the five of spades in order to guard the club suit. A spade was led from dummy and South played the ace. When the king dropped, declarer's queen became the fulfilling trick.

The 'Worry Clinic' Active Reader Has Advantage

Ellen can get "A" grades by changing from a "passive" to an "active" reader of the textbook. But also try to diagnose your professor and peruse his writings, if he has ever authored any printed materials. Make your own True-False and "4 answer" tests.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.
CASE #529: Ellen W., aged 38 is a high school teacher. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I am taking a graduate course this summer at out State Teachers College. "But I am scared lest I might fail. "For I have been out of college for 15 years and I wonder if I am as alert as I used to be. "Can you offer a few concise rules for improving memory and absorbing material faster from the textbook pages?"
How To Get "A"
Whether you are a freshman student or a mature teacher like Ellen, here are some tested rules to help get you an "A".
(1) Study your teacher even and, note the chapter headings. Next, turn the pages, noting the sectional headings and any illustrations. In 30 minutes you can thus gain a cursory bird's-eye perspective of the scope of the entire textbook. (4) When the professor assigns you a chapter, take the attitude that you are to give the class an exam thereon and thus construct a running quiz on that assignment. Whenever you find "meaty" or factual statement, or a 1-2-3 tabulation of laws or rules, underline such items with a colored pen. And also phrase a True-False or else a Multiple Choice (4-answer) question concerning that meaty item. If you were using my textbook in Applied Psychology, you might do this:

T F (1) Dr. Crane lists 7 psychological functions of the chairman (P 384)
T F (2) The first of these is to polarize the audience.
After making your True-False statement, insert the number of the page where the correct answer if found, for this will help you double check on your memory in a few minutes.

For he will probably repeat much of his own former printed ideas even though you are using some other professor's text. (2) Keep an outline of all his classroom lectures, for most teachers stress in their exam questions the salient points they've talked about in class. Sometimes, however, a professor ignores the fundamentals and makes his exam out of minor points only mentioned in the footnotes of your textbook. In Medical School I had a professor who did this, much to the ire of the entire class! So study the professor and his previous exams, if they are on file. (3) Get your classroom text EARLY, so you can give it a quick once-over and thus gain a brief preview thereof. This means, see when it was published, plus who the authors are and at what universities they are located. Then skim read the preface,

For variation, compose a 4-answer quiz over the assignment, as:
Dr. Crane enumerates how many axioms for salesman? (P 166)
FOUR SIX EIGHT TEN
Obviously, it takes longer to read the assigned chapter when you develop your own quiz thereon, but you stay wider awake and glean its meaty contents. Send for my booklet "How to Study More Efficiently and Improve Your Memory," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Suicides Up As Economy Down

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Two Princeton University economists have linked suicide rates to fluctuations in the economy. Daniel S. Hammermesh, assistant professor of economics, together with Neal M. Soss, a Ph.D. candidate, have demonstrated that the suicide rate in some 21 industrialized countries is affected by economic recession as well as by unemployment, income and age.

Four Accidents Here Thursday

More than $5,100 property damage was estimated by officers in a series of four traffic collisions investigated here yesterday by police.

Investigators reported heaviest damage resulted from a three-vehicle collision at 5:10 p.m. at the intersection of N.C. 11 and Clark Street involving cars driven by Joel Thomas Blalock of Gresham, Oregon; Willie James Adams of 908 Legion St. and James Wilbert Futrell of Route 1, Bethel.

Police reported an estimated $900 damage resulted to the Blalock car, $200 to the Adams vehicle and $800 damage to the Futrell car.

Futrell was charged with exceeding a safe speed while Blalock was charged with failing to have his vehicle inspected. No injuries were reported in the collision.

Linda Conney McDonald of West End Trailer Park was reported injured when a car she was driving collided with a vehicle driven by James Hargrove Jr., of Henderson about 7:05 p.m. at the intersection of Memorial Drive and U.S. 264.

Officers, who set damage to the McDonald car at $600 and estimated damage to the Hargrove vehicle at $1,200, charged Hargrove with failing to stop for a stop light.

Naomi Cherry Stencil of 303 North Sylvan Dr. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 1:05 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Hooker Road and Sylvan Drive.

Police reported the Stencil car collided with an auto driven by Ann Bjorklund Muhalak of Greenville, resulting in an estimated $700 damage to the Stencil car and about $400 damage to the Muhalak car.

NOTICE BETHEL BOARD TENTATIVELY ADOPTS $237,493.90 BUDGET MEETING

The Bethel Board of Commissioners tentatively adopted the 1973-74 budget, during the regular Town Board meeting June 5, 1973. Adoption of the budget is expected sometime in July. The budget for the coming year shows an increase of $65,649.90. The main reason for the increase is due to the need to purchase a larger packer for the transfer of garbage to the County's Central Land Fill near Greenville, and improvements which are planned for the water and sewer systems.

A budget hearing will be held June 19th at 7:30 P.M. at the town hall. A copy of the budget is available in the Town Clerk's office for anyone interested in reviewing it. A new tax rate of $1.40 per hundred valuation has been tentatively approved. Decrease is due to the recent revaluation of property.

S. Vietnam Ready To Sign Joint Ceasefire Plea

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Saigon government indicated today it is prepared to sign a joint appeal calling for a cessation of hostilities in Vietnam.

"But of more importance than the appeal itself is the written understanding behind it that stipulates the details of measures to be taken by the four parties in application of the joint appeal," one source said.

In Paris, Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho scheduled another negotiating session this afternoon, the third in as many days. They hoped to work out a plan to implement the original Vietnam cease-fire agreement signed Jan. 27 by the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong. The Saigon government, while not a party to the negotiations, announced that it is in

Educator Honored

WASHINGTON, NC — Daneel L. le Roux, director of Special Projects at Beaufort County Technical Institute, has been chosen an "Outstanding Educator of America for 1973." Nominated earlier this year by Beaufort Tech's president, James P. Blanton, he was selected on the basis of his professional and civic achievements.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education.

le Roux, a resident of Greenville, has been director of Special Projects at Beaufort Tech since September of 1970. His previous educational experience includes being curriculum consultant and program planner for Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation, holding teaching and principal positions in North and South Carolina, and working in the missionary schools of South Africa.

"close contact" with the United States with the aim of adopting a "common strategy."

Informants indicated that intensive consultations were under way between the United States and Saigon on the issue of which South Vietnamese side—the Saigon government or the Viet Cong—control what.

The original agreement calls for a delineation of zones of control, but it has been ignored and is largely responsible for the continued bloodshed as each side tries to hold on to what it has, or to grab up additional territory.

Asked if there was a disagreement between Saigon and the United States over Kissinger's and Tho's understanding on this, one source said, "It is very possible. But there are other topics of discussion too." He would not elaborate.

Another Saigon informant said, "Any agreement is reached on a give-and-take basis."

A statement from the Presidential Palace, following a nearly three-hour meeting late Thursday between President Nguyen Van Thieu and acting U.S. Ambassador Charles Whitehouse, sought to soften earlier official pronouncements that Saigon would not sign any document negotiated between Kissinger and Tho.

The statement declared, "Wire service dispatches announcing that the government of the Republic of Vietnam would refuse to sign any document by Dr. Kissinger and Mr. LeDuc Tho are totally inaccurate. The government of the Republic of Vietnam has maintained close contact with the government of the United States concerning the current talks in Paris and these close contacts are still going on."

The statement countermanded one issued Thursday by Bui Bao Truc, the government spokesman who gives daily briefings to newsmen.

Truc stated at least six different times that Saigon would not sign any new cease-fire agreement or any document amending the original accord.

At one point, Truc declared, "The Republic of Vietnam has never violated the cease-fire agreement. That's right. And that is why we are not going to sign any new agreement, any new kind of document that has a form of a new cease-fire agreement."

Pondering Charges Of Misconduct

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The senior U.S. naval officer held prisoner by the North Vietnamese is pondering whether to file misconduct charges against other military men who shared his captivity.

They could be the first former POW officers charged. Eight Army and Marine enlisted men were formally accused last week of aiding the enemy while POWs.

The Navy has acknowledged that Rear Adm. James B. Stockdale sought legal advice in late March "concerning possible misconduct charges against other POWs." A navy lawyer was then assigned to give Stockdale that guidance, it said.

In line with its practice of remaining closed-mouthed about possible POW charge, the Navy did not indicate the nature of the offenses that may have been committed.

Pentagon sources said they believe Stockdale has been considering formal action against two officers, one a Navy man and the other a Marine.

There was no indication whether he has made up his mind.

Stockdale, on convalescent leave from a Navy hospital in San Diego, was reported to have gone to Hawaii to board ship for a cruise.

Meanwhile, sources said about nine or ten Air Force officers are under scrutiny. But these sources discounted the likelihood they would be charged. However, some of them might be eased out of the service eventually.

As early as the first plane flights home from the POW reception center in the Philippines in February, returning war prisoners told friends in strong terms that they wanted to bring as many as 25 fellow POWs before courts-martial as collaborators.

Not Main Goal, But Hunting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Less than half of today's teen-age girls feel that marriage and a family still are the main female goals, but they're going to look for a husband, anyway.

This is according to a survey of 13 to 19 year olds on Seventeen magazine's consumer panel. Premarital sex was approved by one-third of the teen-agers; disapproved by one-third and got a neutral response from the remaining one-third.
