Skylab Astronauts Come Safely Home

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (AP) — Skylab's astronauts came safely home from man's longest space journey to date, splashing down with pinpoint precision in the Pacific Ocean after 28 days and 11 million miles in orbit.

Just 39 minutes after touchdown, Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz were hoisted onto the deck of this recovery carrier, still inside their Apollo ferry ship.

"We're all in good shape. Everything's OK," commander Conrad radioed as the spacecraft descended through the clouds and landed within view of USS Ticonderoga, just 6 1/2 miles away.

They walked unsteadily toward a mobile medical laboratory, showing some effects from the four weeks' exposure to weightlessness.

How well Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz fared in the weightless world will play a major role in determining if man can function efficiently in future long-duration flights.

The astronauts almost were held over in orbit today to try to repair a refrigeration problem in their space station.

Ten minutes behind schedule, Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz undocked their Apollo ferry ship and executed a series of maneuvers that sent them slamming into the atmosphere above Thailand for the fiery descent.

The Apollo craft hit the calm blue waters at 9:50 a.m. EDT about 830 miles southwest of San Diego, Calif. It was just after dawn off the West Coast.

The 42,000-ton Ticonderoga quickly steamed alongside the three-ton Apollo and tossed a line to frogmen in the water.

Hundreds of white-clad sailors on deck and millions watching television around the world again had a ringside seat to a U.S. man-in-space landing as the Apollo craft floated down through low-hanging clouds and dangling under three huge orange and white parachutes.

"Everyone's in super shape," Conrad said as the spacecraft bobbed on the water awaiting pickup. Frogmen immediately leaped from helicopters to secure the spacecraft with flotation collars.

The Ticonderoga reported the astronauts had landed 6 1/2 miles from the ship and that the ship was 6 1/2 miles from the target point, indicating a perfect touchdown.

The Ticonderoga steamed to pick up the Apollo capsule with the astronauts still inside, in contrast to most earlier U.S. flights when the spacemen were lifted to the carrier by helicopter.

Medical requirements dictated the pick up method today. Medical experts were not certain how the astronauts would react after returning to earth's gravity following record exposure to space weightlessness so they decided the astronauts should be subjected to as little activity as possible until they can be examined in mobile medical laboratories aboard the Ticonderoga.

The landing completed an historic space mission that lasted 28 days and 50 minutes. During that time the spacemen cir-led the earth 395 times.

While out of radio contact, at 9:11 a.m., the astronauts conducted the critical retrorocket burn that slowed their 17,100 mile-an-hour speed by 130 miles, allowing earth's gravity to tug the spacecraft out of orbit and start the long glide through the atmosphere to the eastern Pacific.

Pledge To Avoid Nuclear War Said Ready To Sign

By GAYLORD SHAW Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev have reached agreement on a broadly-worded declaration vowing to avoid nuclear war and plan to sign the summit document later today, sources said.

The White House said that a midday signing ceremony would be held in the East Room. But spokesmen refused to disclose what would be signed.

Other sources reported, however, that the document was a declaration of intent to reduce the risk of nuclear devastation.

The agreement was reached as the two leaders looked ahead to a reunion summit in Moscow in 1974—the target date for formally limiting the awesome atomic arsenals of the two countries.

Although the surprise compact was cloaked in unusual secrecy, Nixon himself made a reference to the signing ceremony Thursday night.

"I'll see you at 12:30 tomorrow at the signing," Nixon reminded Brezhnev just before midnight as he left the Soviet Embassy after a banquet of caviar, borsch, Russian beef and fish, two kinds of vodka and Soviet champagne. The two leaders announced at the banquet plans for their third summit.

White House sources confirmed the document signing intentions but refused Thursday night to give details, saying only, "It's going to be an important one."

Prior to the White House ceremony, Brezhnev arranged to meet with about 40 business leaders at Blair House to discuss U.S.-Soviet trade—one of the items of "unfinished business" he cited Thursday night.

The two leaders popped a surprise in their banquet toasts, disclosing that Brezhnev had extended and Nixon had accepted an invitation to return to the Soviet Union next year for a third summit in as many years.

The reunion could provide a forum for the signing of a treaty placing permanent limits, and possibly calling for reductions, of the two nations' offensive nuclear weapons.

Nixon and Brezhnev, in a declaration of principles signed at the White House Thursday, the fourth day of their summit talks, set a 1974 target date for completing the lasting limitations on the number and quality of strategic nuclear weapons.

The seven-point accord is intended to accelerate stalemated Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Geneva. The U.S.-Soviet negotiators are trying to work out a permanent treaty to replace an interim arms limitation agreement signed at the Moscow summit a year ago.

The document signed Thursday leaves open the possibility of a partial, temporary agreement before 1974. Such an accord could be signed in Moscow next year if the broader, permanent agreement is not completed prior to the reunion summit.

Later today, Nixon and Brezhnev were scheduled to fly to the President's San Clemente, Calif., home.

N.C. Trade Mission Is Going To Visit Moscow

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser will lead a North Carolina trade mission to Moscow in September, it was announced today by George W. Little, deputy secretary of natural and economic resources.

"The stop in Moscow," Little said, "will be part of a three-week trade mission to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. It will be the first trade mission to the Soviet Union from North Carolina and from a Southeastern state."

Little made the announcement in a prepared talk to members of the North Carolina Developers Association.

"We feel this decision to go to the Soviet Union comes at a particularly opportune time in light of the recent initiatives taken by President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev," Little said.

He added Holshouser will meet with top Soviet trade officials and will be accompanied by some state officials and representatives of banking and manufacturing corporations in North Carolina.

"While Gov. Holshouser will travel only to Moscow, other members of the mission will travel to Warsaw, Bucharest, Belgrade and Zagreb," Little said.

He told the group that also in September, the Department of Natural and Economic Resources will conduct an industrial development mission to the United Kingdom and Western Europe, including German, Austria, Italy and Switzerland.

Tax Reduction Is Strongly Opposed

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

"The reduction of taxes may be a popular act in this day and time, but to do so without providing for the needs of the county, especially in education, is gross negligence," Mrs. Gloria McClanahan told Pitt County Commissioners Thursday at a public hearing on budget requests for the 1973-1974 fiscal year.

Mrs. McClanahan, education chairman for the League of Women Voters, was one of several speakers heard by commissioners who urged greater financial support for the public schools—primarily for the Greenville City system.

Mrs. McClanahan told the county board the League of Women Voters' education committee "would like to go on record as expressing concern regarding the lowering of the property tax rate with corresponding reductions in the Greenville City School's budget." She cited 1971 figures that indicated local current expense support for Greenville's schools was lower than the average subsidy "in the state and immediate areas" and she said, "local support for the Pitt County Schools... is even sadder—next to the lowest in the entire state in local support."

Mrs. McClanahan said "I believe that now is the time for Pitt County to move ahead. By maintaining the present tax rate, we have the opportunity to respond to the challenges of the future."

Mrs. Myra Cain, who also spoke in support of more funding for schools said some 300 persons responding to a questionnaire circulated by the City Advisory Committee indicated more money should be appropriated for education.

Mrs. Mildred McGrath, a member of the Greenville City Council told commissioners a proposed 15-cents per $100 valuation levy for capital improvements requested by the city school system is the "surest way to lower welfare costs in years to come", suggesting that improved facilities would lead to improved educational opportunities.

Guy McClanahan, speaking as a private citizen he said, emphasized the need for capital expense funding for the city schools by saying it is "like walking into a wood shed" taking someone into the South Greenville School, while Mrs. McGrath termed the crowded conditions at Aycock Junior High School "absolutely abominable."

A Greenville insurance man, Jimmy Brewer, was the only spokesman at yesterday's session who urged commissioners to keep the tax rate as low as possible, although a petition was introduced requesting similar action.

Brewer told the county board, "do the thing that is right for those who can't speak for themselves... those people that have a set income.

He said "Keep the tax dollar as low as possibly can" to render the services that are needed.

The petition presented at the hearing—signed by some 50 persons—said "we believe that a 15-cents tax increase in Greenville School District for the purpose of funding recreational facilities for various schools would be both burdensome and unjustifiable at this time."

Requested in the proposed 1973-1974 county budget is more than $3.5 million for county wide school current expenses, including a $791,600 turnover to the city system, while $402,500 has been asked for special district current expenses for the county ($230,900 this year), a special district levy of up to 25 cents

Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, in brief, are the latest Watergate developments:

WEICKER: Sen. Lowell O. Weicker Jr., of Connecticut, a Republican member of the Watergate panel, says the Nixon administration has "stepped on" anyone who tells the truth about the case.

LEAKS: The Senate Watergate committee is considering holding all sessions in public because of widespread leaks of information from closed-door sessions.

ICHORD: Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the House Internal Security Committee, says the committee will conduct hearings on why the Nixon administration was forced to form its own group to investigate security leaks, instead of relying on the FBI or Central Intelligence Agency.

MITCHELL: Martha Mitchell, who has complained of being made a prisoner in her New York apartment by newsmen standing at the doorstep, packed her bags and left for an unknown destination.

PROSECUTORS: An assistant to special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox said a special grand jury may be convened to investigate whether President Nixon's fund raisers used extortion to get campaign contributions.

Dismisses Chavis Charge

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) Superior Court Judge Robert Rouse today dismissed a charge of accessory after the fact of manslaughter brought against black activist Ben Chavis in the slaying of a Negro youth two years ago.

The defense Thursday had challenged the indictment of Chavis and the judge had delayed until today his ruling.

The judge said he wanted to study the state testimony and to review legal precedents before issuing his ruling.

Rouse had rejected motions to dismiss similar charges against two codefendants Thursday.

Will Comply

John S. Whichard, Vice President of The Daily Reflector announced today that beginning Sunday, June 24, the Classified ad headings in the Help Wanted section of the newspaper will be changed.

The new heading will read only "Help Wanted".

This change, according to Whichard, is being made to comply with the ruling handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court Thursday which upheld laws that bar newspapers from using sex preferences in their classified "help wanted" ads.

Auto Collision Is Fatal To Pitt County Woman

DRIVER KILLED... The driver of this car, Mrs. Bethena Streeter of Winterville, died of injuries she received when her car collided with another vehicle two miles West of Winterville yesterday. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage)

WINTERVILLE—A 44-year-old woman was killed when two cars collided two miles West of here about 1:50 p.m. on Rural Road 1125 yesterday.

Highway Patrolman W.E. Brinson said Mrs. Bethena Streeter of Route 1 Winterville was dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital from injuries she suffered in the crash.

According to the officer, Mrs. Streeter was the driver of a car headed west along the rural road. Her vehicle collided with an auto operated by Carlton Earl Durham of Route 1, Winterville, that was Durham car went out of control on a curve during a heavy rain, crossed the center line of the highway and collided head on with the Streeter auto.

Durham, 20, was charged with driving while his license was revoked, careless and reckless driving, operating left of center and manslaughter in connection with the mishap.

Pt. Brinson said one passenger in the Durham car and two passengers in the Streeter car—both young children—were treated at the hospital for injuries they received in the mishap and released.

Trooper Brinson said the was placed in Pitt County jail.

Oglesby Urges Pitt Democrats To 'Get To Work'

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Managing Editor

The Democratic Party of Pitt County, stung by Republican inroads of 1972, last night began rallying its forces for the political wars of 1974 and 1976.

Chairman Henry Oglesby of Grifton called a dinner meeting of party faithful at Wildlife Club near Falkland.

Noting that 12 precincts of the county were not represented at the meeting, Oglesby urged the Democrats in choosing their leaders to "get somebody who's going to do something...at least come and get a free meal."

"Get people who will get out and work," he urged.

"We are concerned that we get Democrats elected to offices in the county. With all the turmoil the Republicans are having, they are not quitting."

He said the Democrats of the county didn't swing in the elections of last year. "We didn't even go to bat."

"If we are going to have a live party, we've got to go to work," he continued. "We've got the chance to come back."

State Democratic Chairman Jim Sugg of New Bern stressed unity to the local Democrats.

He said unity is the one thing the party must aim for if it is to pull itself together. "Our prime purpose is to elect Democrats. We should point to things that the Democratic party has stood for over the years." He cited the roads program, support of education and mental health and the policies which provided the surplus this year for improving state programs.

If we can have any small part about it, we can talk about the medical school at East Carolina University," he declared. "There is a great deal we can point to with pride."

Sugg said that the Democratic Party is open to all people. "It is a party of inclusion, not a party of exclusion."

Oglesby said members of the Democratic executive committee, chairman and vice chairman of each precinct, various committees and elected officials were invited to the meeting.

Trooper Brinson said the was placed in Pitt County jail.

Ask Sister To Stop Clock's Tick And Bong

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged woman with a problem I hope you won't think is too silly to answer. Every summer I visit my sister in Omaha for a week. She has a lovely guest room, and I enjoy visiting her, but there is one annoyance.

In the hall just outside my bedroom door there is a grandfather clock which chimes on the half hour, and then again on the hour. These chimes keep me awake practically all night. I can't understand how my sister and her husband can sleep with that clock in the hall. When the chimes are silent, I am disturbed by the loud ticking.

I hate to complain to my sister, but I am dreading my next visit. Perhaps if you print this she'll get the hint.

"TICK, TOCK, AND BONG"

DEAR TICK: Here's your letter. And if that clock is still "ticktocking" and "bonging" when you arrive in Omaha, ask your sister to please stop the clock for the duration of your visit.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the United States Air Force. I am a married man, but I have spent more time away from my wife than with her because I have been stationed overseas in places where dependents are not permitted.

I love my wife with all my heart and nothing could ever change that. We have had a good marriage in which we have always said that we would be absolutely truthful with each other. Well, that is my problem. I have failed in my part of the agreement.

I have told my wife that she was the only woman I have ever had an affair with. That's a lie. Before I was married, I had an affair with a married woman. While I was overseas I had two "one-night stands" with a different girl each time. They meant nothing to me. I can't even remember their names.

I have prayed for forgiveness and feel that Jesus has forgiven me, but I feel so guilty about lying to my wife. But if I told her the truth now she would never believe another word I said.

Should I confess these lies to her or not? Abby, you are the only person to whom I've told this.

At the bottom of your column in the Stars and Stripes it says: "Write to Abby, you'll feel better if you get it off your chest."

I think I do. Now tell me, should I tell my wife?

OFF MY CHEST IN GUAM

DEAR OFF: No, no, no! Confessing to your wife would only make her unhappy. You've confessed to Jesus. That's enough.

DEAR ABBY: There is an unwritten law of ethics among hairdressers. One operator does not deliberately steal another operator's patrons. If the customer herself decides to switch of her own accord, fine and dandy. But for an operator to try to lure away a co-worker's best-paying or most interesting customers is unethical.

As a shop owner who is also a hairdresser I have seen some excellent operators fall victim to such piracy and consequently lose their self-confidence. By the time the owner of the shop becomes aware of what has happened, the offending operators have made themselves so valuable to the shop that the owner can't afford to fire them.

How are the victims to fight back?

NAMELESS OUT WEST

DEAR NAMELESS: It's conceivable that a salesperson might successfully lure away a co-worker's customer. But it's highly unlikely that a hairdresser could "steal" a satisfied patron from a co-worker. If the patron can be "lured away," she's not satisfied, in which case it's her privilege to switch.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Sign Language Can Be Varied

By DAN GREBLER
BAT YAM, Israel (AP) — The doctor spoke to 500 persons for two hours. But no one listened.

They couldn't. They were deaf mutes. The speaker's words relayed by two interpreters using different sign languages, Israeli and American.

The interpreters' contrasting styles and "signs" underscored a fact long known by deaf travelers: There is no single international sign language understood by everyone in the world of the deaf. Not only languages, but "signs" vary from country to country.

The American interpreter, Mary Anne Royster, uses only her hands in "speaking" the American Sign Language — Ameslan.

The Israeli, Israel Sela, also employs his hands — and his face and entire body to translate from any of the seven languages he knows into the Israeli Sign Language — ISL.

"With ISL you use your whole body to give expression," Sela said. "Your face is working. Your body is working. There is intonation, even in the signs. If you like something, your face is open. If you don't like something, your face is dark."

When Miss Royster interprets, she may either translate into Ameslan or spell out every word in English, complete with verb tenses.

"We have a sign for as many words as possible," she explained in a slight drawl. "There are new signs being adopted every day so that the deaf get a better idea of what is being said — not just the words, but the concepts as well."

Sela said that in Israeli Sign Language it is difficult to translate word for word, because all the signs are iconic. And because there is no spelling in ISL, like many other languages, he uses a roundabout approach to convey what he is trying to express.

For example, if he is talking about Israel's largest port city, Haifa, he gives the sign for "view," because Haifa is known for its view of the bay. Paris is "the Eiffel Tower."

The interpreters were in Tel Aviv for an international conference held by the World Federation of the Deaf and the Association of the Deaf and Mute in Israel.

Miss Royster, a bespectacled blonde who interpreted for her deaf parents and at 16 church services, including hymns and sermon, told an interviewer that "all interpreters need to realize who is in their audience," because of different comprehension levels.

Sela can spell in those sign languages with Latin characters, even if he is not familiar with their word symbols. For spelling, the alphabet is the same in English, French or Italian.

He is skeptical of developing a universal sign language, he says, "because signs are concepts, and concepts here are different from other countries." He added:

"When you want to teach a child in Rio's slum area the concept of house and family, you can't show him a picture of a nice palace with a child and a nice bed. It's another condition that doesn't tell him anything."

Miss Royster taught with her parents at the Kentucky School for the Deaf before studying counseling at Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., America's only liberal arts college for the deaf.

She has also taught sign language courses for people with normal hearing, which she says is just like learning any foreign language.

Good News In Report On VOA

Congressman Walter Jones has reported after an extensive investigation that any reduction in funding for the U.S. Information Agency should have little effect on the Voice of America operation in the Greenville area.

Rep. Jones said a ten percent reduction in USIA funds has been proposed in the House, while a seven percent reduction is proposed in the Senate.

"Even though shop personnel could be affected to a small degree by the reductions, it is not anticipated that any major reduction in force will be implemented," the congressman stated.

That is good news to our area. Voice of America not only furnishes a substantial payroll in the Pitt and Beaufort County area, but also the location of the power transmitters here is an attraction for the area. Visitors often like to see the awesome "antenna farms" at the Leggett's Cross Road and Shermerdine sites. The huge transmitters and the big array of radio towers have been the subject of feature stories in national publications.

Perhaps more important, though, is the fact that Voice of America is busy telling the nation's story to the world, and we believe it is told as honestly as possible.

Some of the major countries of the world still get their information from government controlled press, radio and television and they certainly do get an independent version of the news.

For millions of these people Voice of America is the only outside source for information. We should continue this service indefinitely.

Federal Grant Will Be Welcome In Farmville

A $194,150 grant from the Economic Development Administration will help Farmville in improving its water system.

The federal grant, with $117,000 in state funds and $77,000 in local funds will enable the town to build a 500-gallon per minute water well and a 500,000 elevated tank.

Farmville's water needs have grown in recent years and this project will help the town to meet its industrial, residential and business water needs.

The Problems Of Phase Four

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—In picking his new anti-inflation program last week, President Nixon rejected advice from political activists to take the inflation issue across the country in a daring series of stump speeches which would highlight his personal concern and dramatize his personal involvement.

Instead, Mr. Nixon chose an across-the-board price freeze. He hoped the drama of the freeze announcement by itself would restore the credibility of his leadership, now staggering under Watergate.

But the concept of a price freeze in a swollen economy had been brutally and repeatedly opposed by his economic advisers, both the academicians like Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz and the politicians like part-time White House adviser John B. Connally. When the freeze came last week, it was immediately attacked by business, labor and most economists. As for the politicians, they saw it as strictly a delaying action, a postponement of the really tough and meaningful decision to come later in the still unknown Phase IV.

That was not what Connally and other political activists advising Mr. Nixon had in mind.

In a White House session the end of May, Connally made a cool but highly persuasive case that the President should immediately embark on a national speaking tour, spelling out a workable, mandatory, wage-and-price control system in major cities (specifically named were Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Detroit and Chicago).

Connally's pitch: inflation was one issue the President could use to bring all Americans into his tent. Handled wisely, such a nationwide stumping tour expelling the new, mandatory program might take voter minds off Watergate and create a new following for the embattled President.

In the background, Connally was strongly supported by political economists, consumer analysts and private consultants such as pollster Albert Sindingler and Dr. Pierre Rinfret, president of Rinfret-Boston Associates. Mr. Nixon's confidence in the private reports of these and other business economists and consumer experts has been steadily rising. One obvious reason: they disagree harshly with such academic economists as Shultz and Herbert E. Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

But when Connally put the case to retired Gen. Alexander Haig, White House staff chief, Leonard Garment, the President's counsel, Shultz and Stein, he was quickly put down. Haig reminded Connally that Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev would soon be in Washington. Garment kissed off the idea as "cockamamie place"—slang for balderdash. Another Nixon aide scolded in effect: you guys think the President can do everything!

Still another reminded Connally that the President might be booed if he showed up for a large public gathering. Connally demurred, saying that if handled correctly even booging could be turned into a presidential asset, but to no avail.

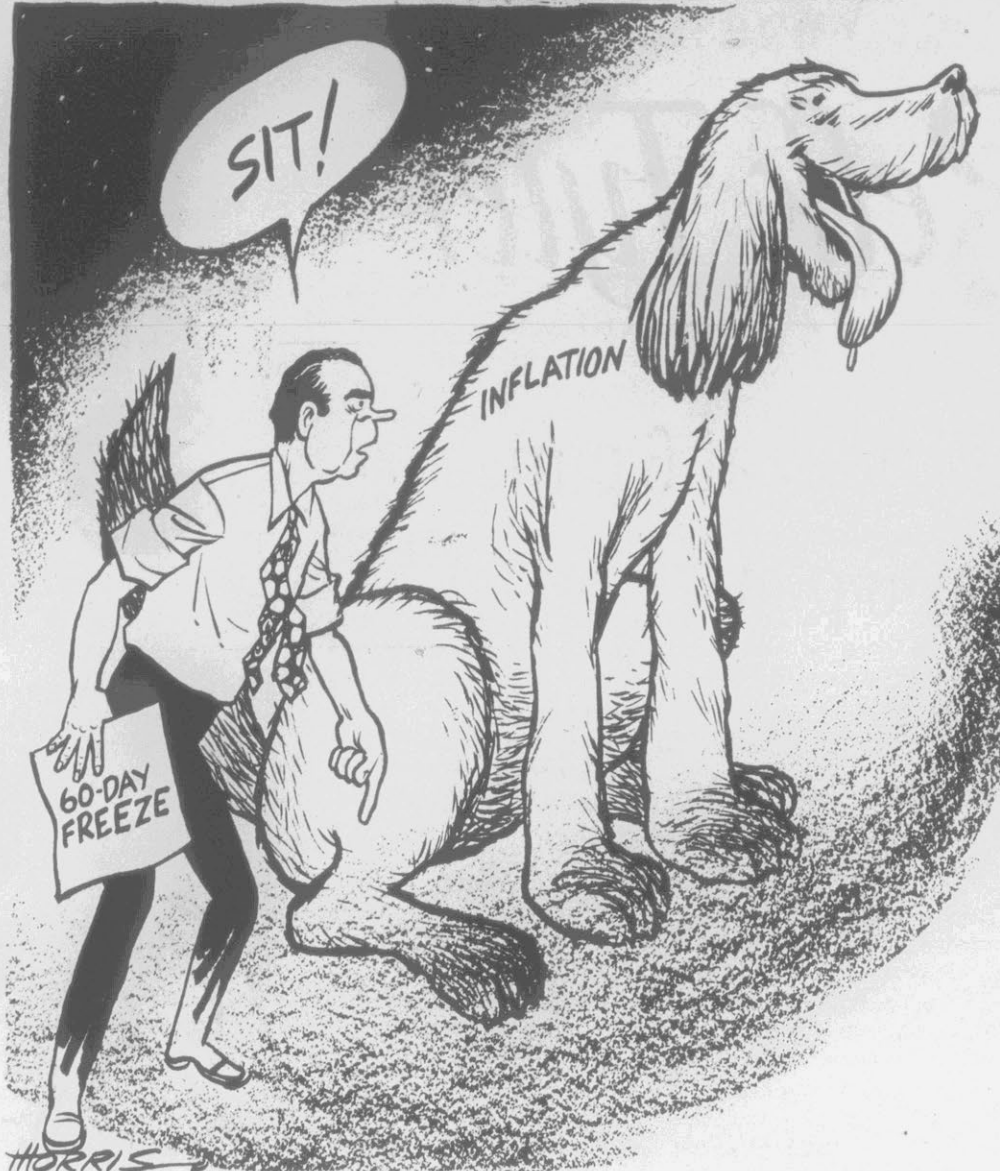

The Connally approach, so strongly backed by other non-White activists, was rejected. But still Mr. Nixon was determined to make a dramatic case for total presidential concern over the runaway inflation which advisers Shultz and Stein had assured the American people for five months did not exist. That meant a freeze.

But a freeze wasn't easy to justify. After a June 9 White House session, individual recommendations had gone to Mrs. Nixon from each of eight top advisers: Shultz, Connally, Stein, Federal Reserve chairman Arthur Burns, Undersecretary of Treasury William Simon, Management and Budget director Roy Ash, economic stabilizer John Dunlop and White House foreign economic aide Peter Flanigan. Of these, at least four opposed any freeze.

In the face of that strong anti-freeze sentiment, Mr. Nixon nevertheless invoked his freeze. He clearly wanted to side with the activists, but his aides in the White House would not let him go as far as the activists wanted: a nationwide speaking tour explaining a tough but sensible controls program.

Now he has the nastiest problem of all—coming up with a credible Phase IV following a 60-day freeze that smacked of expediency. Mr. Nixon is strongly leaning toward the non-academic economic activists and away from Shultz and Stein, a fact reflected in the continuing (Continued on page 6)

Flags Over Washington

WASHINGTON — I was walking down Pennsylvania Avenue the other day when I ran into an old man. His hair was white and his beard was gray and he was muttering to himself.

"Oh, my God. Oh, my God." "What's the trouble, sir?" I asked.

"I never thought I'd see the day when the hammer and sickle would be flying from the Executive Office Building next to the White House."

Other Editors Say Big N.C. Gains

(The Wilson Times)

North Carolina ranks low among the 50 states in personal income, but this situation is fast changing. Total personal income rose 10 per cent in this state from 1971 to 1972, compared with the U.S. average gain of 8 1/2 per cent. The gain in North Carolina ranks 19th among the 50 states.

At $19.4 billion, total personal income in the state last year accounted for 2.1 per cent of the national total of $932.4 billion; the state ranked 15th among the 50 states in terms of total income.

The exceptional gain in personal income in the state last year reflected above national average gains in most major industries. Manufacturing payrolls expanded at a faster pace in the state—up 11 per cent—than in the nation—up 9 1/2 per cent—and the gains in contract construction, and Federal government payrolls were also larger in North Carolina than in the United States.

Among the local service-type industries, there were large and important gains in the state in the transportation-communication-public utilities group, the finance-insurance-real estate group, the service industries and in wholesale and retail trade.

There are many evidences of this growth in the state, 'Wilson is an excellent example. We are experiencing both retail, wholesale and industrial growth. This is proven in the selection of Wilson as an All-America City.

At $3,721, per capita income in North in 1972 was 8 3/4 per cent above 1971. This advance was greater than the national average gain of 7 3/4 per cent. Per capita income in 1972 in North Carolina was 17 per cent ($757) below the U.S. average of $4,478. Among the 50 states, this one ranked 16th in rate of change in per capita income from 1971-72, but in level of per capita income, it ranked 37th.

Total personal income rose 2 1/2 per cent in North Carolina from the closing quarter of 1970—the cyclical low point—to the closing quarter of 1972, a rate of gain a little above the U.S. average advance of 19 1/4 per cent.

North Carolina ranked 29th in personal income expansion over this eight-quarter span. Manufacturing payrolls were up 20 per cent in the state and 18 1/4 per cent in the nation.

Gains close to the national average were recorded in nonfarm proprietors' income and in wholesale and retail trade. There was a sharp drop in the state in unemployment compensation payments and farm income rose much less than it did nationwide.

Small Investor Aware Of Risks

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost nobody denies any more that the big institutions have created serious problems for the stock markets. One of them is to scare the wits out of small stockholders and send them scurrying for cover.

Instinct tells the little investor that he risks serious injury participating in the sporting events of the elephant without first insisting that a spirit of civilized restraint and equality be agreed upon.

So he has been popping up now and then, but only to watch the behemoths—some with assets of a billion dollars or more—knocking prices about like a ball.

There is a lot more to the institutional problem, of course. One particular negative is the tendency of these funds and trusts and insurers to concentrate on certain companies, ignoring the shares of others and leaving them fearing their ability to raise capital.

But any solution must have a beginning, and Paul Kolton, American Stock Exchange president, has been telling congressmen and regulatory officials and institution managers that they must institute rules of civilized competition.

During the past month he has repeatedly urged steps in four areas, avoiding the specifics so as not to distract from the principles involved, but insisting that his ideas are not just suggestions but proposals for action.

TRADING: Institutions must develop guidelines for trading, because the demands they make on markets are often greater than the markets can supply.

For example, when an institution has spent months acquiring a large position, is it reasonable to expect the public, the specialists or other block traders to absorb the entire position in a few minutes or hours?

That's where the big price swings often occur. And so Kolton suggests that the institutions consider limiting themselves to disposal of only a certain amount of stock within a specified time period.

VALUING PORTFOLIOS: In sympathy with commissions in some other sports, Kolton is advising some of the players to take a haircut. By this he means that institutions should consider trimming the stated value of their holdings.

Very often the holder of 200,000 shares in a company prices them at market value, at the same price per share you see in the newspaper, even though it is unlikely they could dispose of such large holdings at these prices.

Kolton suggests, in the interests of reality, that institutions adopt measures similar to those used by exchange examiners when they study the financial condition of member firms.

"When our examiners look at our own firms," Kolton said, "they might decide that if the firm had to sell a big block held in its own name they would get less than market value."

"In that case, a $50 stock might be assigned a hypothetical value of $45 or $40. And if it is an over-the-counter stock, where the market is apt to be less liquid, the price could be even lower."

Wouldn't it make sense, he asks, for institutions also to take haircuts based on a criteria that includes the amount of stock in relation to shares outstanding, the amount of public trading, and

He fought the Communists while everyone was being duped by them. Nixon would never entertain one in his home."

Strength For Today

FINDING GOD'S LOVE

Recently a poster displayed by a large charitable organization during a drive for funds carried the picture of a healthy, vigorous boy carrying an emaciated and crippled lad in his arms. And beneath the picture were the words, "He ain't heavy, he's my brother."

It certainly makes a difference when we love people. We can bear heavy burdens in their behalf and do it without complaint. Like the boy on the poster we can declare that the burden is nothing — what difference does a little extra weight make?

If we could only learn to think of God in terms of love, we could think of Him as Jesus thought of Him. Many people look upon God as a punisher. But He is not. He is perfect love personalized. And because of that He bears the weight of our unworthiness as if it were nothing at all, and thereby enables us to bear the burdens of those we love without complaint.

Miss Patricia Williams was crowned "Miss Greenville of 1973" in a beauty pageant sponsored by Les Gaylenettes Friday night at St. Gabriel's School.

Miss Vivian Brown was named first runner-up in the event, while Miss Judy Little was selected as second runner-up.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams Sr. of Greenville, Miss Williams is a rising senior at Rose High School.

The new "Miss Greenville" was crowned by Miss Carolyn Barrett, "Miss Greenville of 1972."

Miss Brown and Miss Little each received a trophy and a gift certificate.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Brown of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Little, also of Greenville.

For her talent, Miss Williams did a baton stunt.

Winner in the talent division was Miss Phyllis Sneed, who did a "Blues Mama" skit. Runners-up were Miss Anita Ebron, doing a creative dance, and Miss Williams.

"No wonder Nixon could get away with it," Rip said.

"Listen, Rip, I think I'd better clue you in on a few things. There is no such thing as a 'Red menace' any more.

The President of the United States has made his peace with the two major Communist powers in the world. Communism is no longer a threat to the security of the Free World except in Indochina."

"Indochina?"

"Yes, we've been fighting a war in Indochina for 10 years to keep the North Vietnamese Communists from spreading their insidious ideology over the globe. The President is committed to keeping them from achieving their goals."

Rip seemed confused. "That's the only threat of communism there is in the world?"

"Exactly. All other forms of communism, as far as President Nixon is concerned, are inoperative."

"Can my ears deceive me?" Rip said. "Is that the 'Internationale' I hear being played by the U.S. Marine Band on the White House lawn?"

"Yup, I replied. "They're playing our song."

"Oh, my God," Rip said.

"Why did I ever wake up?"

"Don't worry, Rip, the detente with the Communist countries has been the greatest thing to happen in the last 20 years. It could mean a generation of peace for all mankind, except for those rotten Commies in Cambodia. If it hadn't been for Watergate, President Nixon might have gone down as one of the greatest Presidents in the history of our country."

"What's Watergate?"

"Rip, I think you better sit down. It's a very long story...."

Tax Hearing . .

In addition to the current expense requests, the county school system is requesting $1.81 million for capital improvements (which would include a $347,500 turnover to the city system), while the Greenville district is requesting additional capital outlay funds through reinstatement of a 15 cents per $100 valuation special levy in the Greenville District.

If all requests in the proposed budget were approved, including requests from the schools which show the largest increases in requests for funding, the county wide tax rate for the coming year would be in the neighborhood of $1.60 per $100 valuation, based on a total valuation in the county of $306.7 million. The new budget would total more than $13.29 million as compared with appropriations this year of $10.54 million.

This year's tax rate of $1.62 per $100 valuation is based on a valuation of $241.3 million. Commissioners are expected to approve a budget for the 1973-1974 fiscal year by July 15.

of rockfish fingerlings in the river this week. According to Dunn, another 50,000 of the fingerlings — ranging between 1 1/2 and 2 inches long — were released Tuesday.

Both releases took place at the old Wildlife Fishing Access area behind the Pitt-Greenville Airport.

The fingerlings, Dunn said, came from the Hoffman Hatchery at Weldon.

Bill Miller, District 2 Fish

Biologists from Kinston was on hand yesterday for the release of the fish, and said the fingerlings should grow to a length of seven to 10 inches in a year with proper food.

Miller said the small fish are raised in fresh-water ponds but are transported in a one-per cent salt water solution — as a treatment for shock — to the point of release.

The fingerlings are counted by the pound, Miller explained. A sample count is made of one pound of fingerlings, then those released are weighed rather than counted individually.

He noted that there were about 1,200 fingerlings to the pound in yesterday's release.

Arrest Pair For Break-In

Greenville police officers arrested two men early today in connection with a break-in at Heath's Grocery at 808 Pamlico Ave. about 1 a.m.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, Lewis Edward Lane, 31, of 604 Roosevelt Ave. was charged with breaking and entering and escape, while Kelly Lee Wood, 22, of 618 Fleming St., was charged with aiding and abetting breaking and entering.

Cannon said Lane was taken into custody at Pitt Memorial Hospital shortly after the men allegedly broke a window at the grocery store. Lane, the chief noted, cut his wrist and went to the hospital for treatment.

Wood was taken into custody on Douglas Ave.

The escape charge against Lane was brought, according to Cannon, after it was learned that he had escaped from the Gates County prison unit April 5, where he was serving a 14-year term for armed robbery and breaking and entering.

Miller Likes Leading Field

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
AKRON, Ohio (AP) "This," murmured Johnny Miller, "is a good habit I'm getting into."

The lanky blond had just put together a three-under-par 67—including a hole in one—for his first competitive round since he won the United States Open Golf championship with a record 63 last Sunday.

Miller's 67 on the long, tough Firestone Country Club course Thursday gave him a share of the first round lead in the prestige-laden American Golf Classic.

"It was an easy 67," Miller said. "I've been getting the absolute most possible out of my rounds. This one wasn't like that. I feel like it could have been a lot better."

He was tied with 23-year-old Forrest Fezler, an on-rushing tour sophomore, who also clipped three strokes off par on the lush 7,180 yards of the Firestone layout.

Arnold Palmer and three others were just one stroke back at 68.

Jack Nicklaus, who has collected a leading $190,000 and four titles already this season, topped a big group at 69. He reeled off one string of three consecutive birdies but dropped back with a bogey from a bunker on the final hole.

"That's not a bad opening round for me here," said Nicklaus. "I usually start off with 74 or 75. I played pretty well, but I'd feel better about it if I hadn't made that bogey on 18."

Bruce Crampton of Australia, winner of three titles this year, matched par 70 but streaking Tom Weiskopf took a far 74 and was well back in the field. Lee Trevino is not playing.

Relaxed Discipline Costing Grid Teams

By DENNE FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Two products of so-called collegiate football factories said today they thrived on the pressure and discipline of the win-oriented schools, but could see their coaches bending somewhat because of the liberal changes in society.

Greg Marx, a 265-pound defensive lineman from Notre Dame, said a relax in discipline may have cost the 1971 Fighting Irish, which were rated high in the preseason polls but stumbled with losses to Louisiana State and Southern Cal.

"I wouldn't want to change things the way they were at Notre Dame, but sometimes when you try to stay up with the times it can hurt you," said Marx. "I believe that's what happened in 1971. Coach Ara Parseghian experimented to try to stay in tune with the times and something went wrong."

"He took the attitude that if an individual wanted to express himself different from the norm it was all right. Some players used that as a stepping stone to be different and they tore the team apart. There has to be some kind of discipline during the season...if not then the team divides."

Marx said since the 1971 collapse a strict order of rules has been followed at Notre Dame and the teams are living up to their potential.

At Alabama, defensive lineman John Mitchell said Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant was "getting more relaxed. We can even grow beads in the off season. But discipline is strict during the season. I don't mind harsh and strict discipline during the season—that's the way it should be. And I like the pressure. It makes you a better player. What's wrong with a little pressure and discipline?"

Marx and Mitchell are members of the East team which will meet the West Saturday night in the 19th Annual Coaches All-America football game here.

The nationally televised kickoff to the 1973 football season is set for 7:30 p.m. CDT.

A crowd of 45,000 is expected for the East-West confrontation. John McKay of Southern California is coach for the West while Ralph "Shug" Jordan of Auburn is the East mentor.

Mets Bring Back Old Days With Wild Play

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Remember when the New York Mets used to be lovable, laughable losers?

They brought back the "good, old days" to Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium Thursday night.

The Mets, who found a number of bizarre ways to lose baseball games in the early years of their existence, found another way while losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1.

With the score tied 1-1, the Pirates had the bases loaded with nobody out when Bob Robertson hit a ground ball to second baseman Felix Millan. Are you ready, now?

Millan threw home to force Gene Clines and then New York catcher Duffy Dyer tried to complete a double play to first.

But—wait a minute—the throw went into right field. It gets more complicated, so pay attention.

Right fielder Rusty Staub, playing in close, saved a wild throw and fired the ball to second base to nip Al Oliver, who was trying to duck back to second after over-running the bag.

By this time, Dave Cash, who started the inning on second base, had rounded third and came home with the winning run. Got that? In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Montreal Expos 4-3; the San Francisco Giants downed the Cincinnati Reds 7-1; the Houston Astros routed the San Diego Padres 12-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Atlanta Braves 5-0.

Bob Gibson scattered eight hits and slugged his 23rd career home run to lead St. Louis over Montreal. Gibson's homer gave the Cardinals a 4-0 lead and their eventual winning run.

Tom Bradley pitched a four-hitter and ignited a six-run rally in the fifth inning with a double to pace San Francisco over Cincinnati. The triumph snapped a four-game losing streak for the Giants, who had lost nine of their last 11 games to fall behind Los Angeles in the National League West.

Lee May slugged three home runs and drove in five runs to power Houston over San Diego. Dave Winfield, the Padres' rookie sensation fresh out of college, collected three hits, including a bases-empty homer in the fifth. Winfield, a student at the University of Minnesota just a couple of weeks ago, was San Diego's No. 1 pick in the recent free agent draft.

Claude Osteen pitched a four-hit shutout and Willie Crawford pumped a home run, leading Los Angeles over Atlanta. It was Osteen's 37th career shutout.

American League scores: Cleveland 9, Milwaukee 1; New York 5, Detroit 1 in a six-inning game curtailed by rain; Baltimore 6, Boston 3; Minnesota 1, California 0 and Chicago 2, Oakland 0.

Games Are Washed Out

All area sports activity scheduled for yesterday was rained out.

Among those postponed were two Little League games, Moose vs. Exchange and Kiwanis vs. R.C. Cola. Both of these games have been rescheduled for Saturday afternoon at Guy Smith field. The North State game will be played at 2 p.m., with the Tar Heel game to follow at 4 p.m.

Two games in the Senior Babe Ruth League were also lost, Morris Body Shop vs. Moore-King-Sullivan, and Kinston vs. Little Mint. No new dates for replay of these had been set this morning.

The Ladies Softball League had two games delayed, Dixie Sales vs. Little Mint and Greenville Nursing vs. Azalea Mobile Homes. These will be replayed on July 5.

The Church and City Softball League All-Star games, set last night, were moved to tonight because of the rain. The City game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., with the Church game at 8:30 p.m., both at Evans Park.

Tennis Players Say Boycott To Continue

By GEOFFREY MILLER
 Associated Press Writer
 LONDON (AP) — The international tennis rebels insisted on going through with their boycott of Wimbledon today and the world's most famous championship becomes a ghost tournament.

After a meeting lasting most of the night, the militant Association of Tennis Professionals (ATP) snuffed out flickering hopes of peace and confirmed that 78 of its members were walking out.

The announcement came exactly seven hours before officials of the all-England club sat down to make the draw. The tournament starts Monday.

It meant that dozens of lower ranked players who normally would have little hope even of qualifying for Wimbledon were thrown into a hunt for prize money totalling 52,000 pounds—about $130,000.

Ilie Nastase, ordered by Romania to play, became a runaway favorite.

With defending champion Stan Smith among the boycotters, Nastase found himself challenged seriously only by men like Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, Alexander Metreveli of Russia and Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill.

Connors, 20-year-old left-hander is the only prominent American player who is not a member of ATP.

ATP first announced its boycott plan two days ago after a British high court judge refused to interfere in tennis lawmaking and lift the suspension of Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia.

Pilic had been suspended by his national federation unjustly, said ATP, because he refused to play for his country in the Davis Cup.

Wimbledon was left with a slim hope that some players might desert the ATP camp at the eleventh hour and play. Declarations of withdrawal were not being handed in by ATP until just before the draw was due to start.

Wimbledon originally accepted 112 players for the men's singles and left 16 more places open for winners of the qualifying tournament which has been going on intermittently between rain showers since last Monday. More than half of the 112 were involved in the boycott plan.

Officials had an alternative list of 128 made up of the non-boycotters plus the hopefuls who entered the qualifying event.

The women's singles goes on unchanged. Billie Jean King, reigning Wimbledon queen, called a meeting of the girls Thursday night and formed a 35-strong women's association to fight for higher prize money.

But she said there were no plans to boycott what she called "the greatest tournament in the world."

Bad Base-Running Is Downfall Of Oakland

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 See the Oakland A's run.
 See Bert Campaneris run.
 See Bill North run.

See umpire Merle Anthony call Bert and Bill out.
 See Oakland lose to the Chicago White Sox 2-0 despite 12 hits off Stan Bahnsen, two shy of the most hits ever allowed in a nine-inning shutout.

The A's base-running misadventures began right off the bat. Campaneris opened the game with a double but was trapped and run down at third on North's bunt back to the mound. North reached second on the play but he couldn't stand prosperity, either, and was thrown out by catcher Ed Herrmann trying to steal third.

Meanwhile, the White Sox, who had never beaten Ken Holtzman, broke through the Oakland southpaw for both their runs in the fifth inning on doubles by Herrmann and Jeter and Carlos May's single.

The victory enabled the White Sox to retain their half-game lead over Minnesota in the AL West. Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins edged the California Angels 1-0, the New York Yankees trimmed the Detroit Tigers 5-1 in a rain-shortened six-inning contest, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Boston Red Sox 6-3 and the Cleveland Indians whacked the Milwaukee Brewers 9-1. Kansas City and Texas were not scheduled.

Pinch hitter Joe Lis bounced a run-scoring single up the middle with two out in the ninth to back Bert Blyleven's eight-hit pitching and give the Twins their win over California. Bobby Darwin, who singled off Clyde Wright with one out and stole second, scored the winning run.

Thurman munson and Felipe Alou tagged Detroit ace Mickey Lolic for two-run homers, helping the Yankees defeat the Tigers. It was the fourth straight victory for the Yankees, leaders in the East. Pat Dobson spaced five hits to earn the victory, his second in three decisions since being acquired from Atlanta. The only Detroit run came on Norm Cash's second-inning homer, the first by a Tiger player in Yankee Stadium since Sept. 4, 1971.

Paul Blair drove in three runs with a homer and single, leading the Orioles over the Red Sox. Blair drilled a two-run homer in the first inning off Luis Tiant and added an RBI-single in the third.

George Hendrick crashed a two-run homer, his 10th in 14 games and fifth in 10 times at bat, and Buddy Bell and John Ellis added solo shots to lead the Indians over the Brewers.

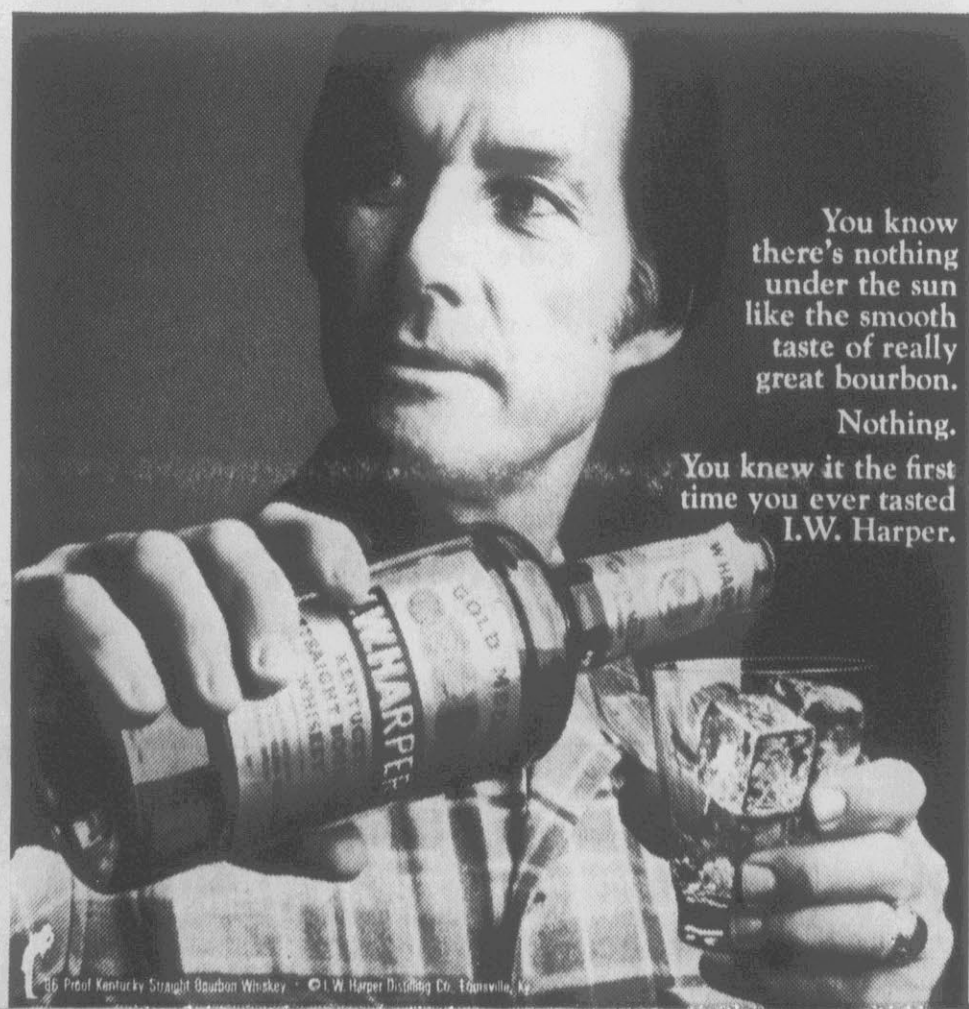

National League scores: Los Angeles 5, Atlanta 0; San Francisco 7, Cincinnati 1; Houston 12, San Diego 2; St. Louis 4, Montreal 3; Pittsburgh 2, New York 1. Chicago and Philadelphia had the night off.

Nothing.

IS HARPER

Through the years, piston engines have become bigger and more complicated. Today, as many unhappy owners know, they're harder to maintain, more expensive to keep tuned.

Compared with them, Mazda's rotary engine is simplicity itself. It doesn't have scores of moving parts.

Road Test Magazine tells what this means to you: "Eliminating such things as valves, camshaft, lifters, rocker gear, rods and wristpins also eliminates forever all the things that can go wrong with them."

No wonder Ward's Automotive Report predicted a year ago that by 1980, 75% of all the new cars sold in America would be powered by rotary engines.

The big car makers would like to duplicate the proven reliability of our engine. But duplicating our rotary experience will take some doing.

We've put a dozen years of research and development into our present engine. Six years of mass-production experience. And all the lessons we've learned from almost half-a-million rotary-engine Mazda owners.

Mazda understands why other makers want to join the rotary family. But it won't be easy to offer you the rotary-engine reliability Mazda offers. In a wide choice of models.

Stop by your local Mazda dealer and see why all these manufacturers want the rotary engine.

The Mazda goes HMMMMM.

Prosecutors And Police Delighted By Supreme Court Obscenity Ruling

By BERNARD COHEN
Associated Press Writer

Prosecutors and police officials are delighted by the Supreme Court's new ruling on obscenity and many say it is just what they needed to lower the boom on dirty books and movies.

"If I operated one of those stores, I'd close like two minutes ago," Florida Asst. Atty. Gen. Ray Marky said Thursday after hearing of the ruling. "I think they are out of business."

Similar optimism was voiced by law enforcement officials across the nation after the high court widened the definition of obscenity and said community standards should prevail.

The new guidelines will permit states to ban books, magazines, plays and motion pictures that offend local standards, even if they might be approved elsewhere.

Many officials felt the court had finally clarified the language of the law and they cited the difficulty and expense in the past of applying national standards of decency to local cases.

"I expect that in the immediate future local communities can determine for themselves what will and what will not be tolerated in the nature of explicit sexual material," said Larry Salmon, Floyd County district attorney and chairman of the criminal law section of the state bar of Georgia.

Arkansas Atty. Gen. Jim Guy Tucker concurred.

"What correlation is there between a block in the center of New York City and Bald Knob, Ark.?" he asked.

However, the 5-4 decision met with sharp criticism from civil libertarians, book and magazine publishers, movie theater and book store owners and patrons of the pornographic arts.

"That's no victory for civil liberties," said Melvin Wulf, legal director of the American Civil Liberties Union. "That's a serious setback for freedom of speech and of the press."

Jack Frantz, executive chairman of the National Book Committee, said his group has always argued that community standards meant the American community at large.

"It's absurd on its face that a book is deemed obscene, say, in Binghamton, N.Y., and not in Carmel, Calif. It's patently unfair to the reader," Frantz said.

Tom Ferrell, managing editor of Esquire magazine, responded, "I think for a national publication, it's kind of scary. If it means that there are going to be 50 laws governing obscenity, rather than one, it's going to be very troublesome for everyone."

In Chicago, a spokesman for Charles Levy Circulating Co., which distributes Playboy, Penthouse and similar magazines, said the company does not consider them "pornographic in any way, shape or form" and he foresaw no problems with the new law.

Ralph G. Haddun, 76, owner of an adult movie theater in Charlotte, N.C., criticized the decision.

"We don't make 'em come in here. We don't go out with a shotgun. It's supposed to be a free country," he said.

Radio Hams To Have Field Day

Local radio amateurs will participate in the 1973 24-hour annual Field Day competition on June 23-24, together with thousands of other "ham" radio enthusiasts throughout the nation.

This will be the sixth year that members of the Brightleaf Amateur Radio Club of Greenville have gone to a field location to test and enhance their ability to provide public service communications during emergencies.

The annual Field Day test is designed to simulate an emergency situation.

The hams plan to set-up their transmitters at Ficklin Stadium, made available against this year by ECU. All equipment will be powered by portable generators. Commercial electric power, while used by the hams at home, will not be available at the field site.

The contest aspect of the exercise is sponsored by the

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — The human machine is being analyzed scientifically to help it work better. Engineers, scientists, physicians and a physiologist at the Eastman Kodak Company here are putting wires to ears of some workers to count their heart rate. Arms are measured to see how much lifting can be done from a seated position without undue strain. Chin straps hold heads rigid during tests of product prototypes, and eyes are checked to see how much light is needed in work areas. The goal of the study devised by the Human Factors Group, a part of the company's health and safety laboratory, is to promote better physical condition of the workers along with safe plant environment. # CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until early in the afternoon this is an adverse time and you could get into much trouble if you try to force matters or take risks. However, the afternoon and evening find a new awareness of what can be done to improve your position in almost any department of your life, so take such action then.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning influences can be quite confusing, but if you relax all works out to your benefit by p.m. Evening will then be just fine for social activities. Show your artistry.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Rather unfavorable influences are all around you during day, but take in your stride and by evening all will change. Enjoy the companionship of mate then. Lend a helping hand to needy persons.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Argument could start with friends during day, so avoid, but evening is then just the opposite and social activities most pleasurable. Some aim should be thought out well in a.m. Then go after it with a vengeance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning is not good for starting projects, but after lunch all works out well and continues throughout evening. Don't argue with a higher-up early; then you can get the support you want. Stop being so unyielding.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have new ideas and projects in your mind early, but need to wait until afternoon before putting any in motion. Do some careful studying of detail, etc. Steer clear of one who has a bone to pick with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of arguing about bills, study them with care and you know just how to handle matters in a peaceful and wise manner. Attachment is not in a good mood during day. Keep cool and by evening all changes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) After lunch is best for talking over certain matters with associates, otherwise there could be arguments if attempted earlier. Civic work is best done on another day. Don't waste your time with a bore in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Cooperate with co-workers, accomplish much, and you are rid of nervousness. Restore energies tonight. Light reading is good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Evening best for amusements since daytime finds you doing important work. Don't neglect this, or you will regret it. Set up appointments early.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't try to straighten out matters at home in a.m., but wait until after lunch when it can be done wisely and intelligently. Show you are devoted to kin. Control temper at all costs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Early evening is best time to put new systems to the test so you improve routines greatly in the future. Your mind is working very rapidly and you can reorganize your ideas to make them more workable. Avoid one who bickers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Those monetary problems are best handled in the evening since the morning is apt to be quite confusing; your thinking is muddled. Get property improved. Add to its value and beauty as well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a very inquisitive mind and will do much investigating to get at the true facts, so as parents you have to be most patient with your youngster and answer questions quickly. Send to right schools that will put your child on the right track in life. The pioneer is definitely in this chart, even in philosophical understanding, and spiritual training is a must early.

'Confident'

AHOSKIE, N.C. (AP) — A veteran legislator says he is confident a $300 million plant to manufacture substitute natural gas will be located in Hertford County.

Rep. Roberts Jernigan, D-Hertford, said Thursday he had received a letter from Don Wilhelm, president of Transco Energy Co., Houston, Texas, which said the company "is considering locating a crude oil gasification plant in Hertford."

Wilhelm wrote that the plant will produce gas from crude oil which will be received at a marine terminal on the Elizabeth River at Portsmouth, Va.

BOY---then MAN

That's my son, Jerry, literally two feet off the ground last Saturday in the top half of the ninth. His team was ahead by one run and the bases loaded when he caught the fly that ended the game.

Whatever else good happens to Jerry, I know he'll never forget that sweet thrill of victory.

Years from now, when faced with a tough situation, that memory could be the inspiration for another triumph. The things that happen to a boy do shape the man.

That's why I've always taken Jerry to our church. I want the smell of candles on the altar, the blend of voice and heart in hymn and litany, to be a part of his life. I want for him the joy that comes from understanding God.

My father did the same for me.

How about you?
