

Food Market Basket Costs Hit New High

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of feeding a market basket of U.S. farm-produced food to a typical family increased by an annual rate of $13 last month, the Agriculture Department says.

The gain was the smallest this year.

But it pushed the market basket—enough food for a theoretical family of 3.2 persons for an entire year—to another record high on the eve of a general price freeze ordered June 13 by President Nixon.

The market basket cost an annual rate of $1,493 in May, up 0.9 per cent from April, department officials said. It was the smallest increase since the indicator declined slightly last December.

Since then, monthly increases have included: January 2.7 per cent or $37; February 2.5 per cent or $34; March 3.5 per cent or $49, and April 1.6 per cent or $22.

The dollar conversions for the market basket were provided by USDA economists at the request of newsmen. The figures, however, were based on a report by the department on Monday that showed marketing spreads for selected food items.

The May market basket increase included a $3 gain for farmers and $10 for the middlemen who transport, process and sell food items surveyed. For the month, the farmer's share on an annual basis was $657 and the middleman's $836.

Those represented increases from April of 0.4 per cent for farmers and 1.2 per cent for middlemen.

In May 1972, the market basket was $1,295 with the farm value $509 and the middleman share $786. Of the $198 increase in a year, the farm value rose $148 and the middleman share $50.

Put another way, the cost to consumers of the market basket rose 15.4 per cent from May 1972. The farm component went up 29.1 per cent while the marketing spread rose 6.5 per cent, according to USDA officials.

House Seeks New Bars To Bombing

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, after joining the Senate to cut off all available funds for U.S. bombing in Cambodia, turned today to amendments that would block any new money for the military activity.

One proposal would prohibit any new spending for the bombing. Another would ban use of new spending for any U.S. war activities in Indochina.

A choice between the two was offered in a continuing resolution before the House that would give the Pentagon and other federal agencies stop-gap authority to continue spending until Congress passes their regular appropriations bills.

The amendments were defeated in the House Appropriations Committee, but bombing opponents announced they would carry the effort to the House floor today.

The House shouted voice approval Monday of Senate-passed prohibition against using any available funds for "combat activities in, over or from off the shores of Cambodia, or in or over Laos by U.S. forces."

President Nixon has 10 days after he receives the $3.4-billion supplemental money bill containing the cutoff to either halt the bombing or veto the bill. If he does not act within that time the bill becomes law.

The measure is expected to go to the President before the end of the week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield vowed that if Nixon vetoes the bill he will not get the $3.4 billion, because the Senate will not reapprove the money.

George Pickett Retires Aug. 1

RALEIGH (AP)—Col. George E. Pickett will retire as director of the North Carolina Office of Water and Air Resources on August 1.

Pickett, 65, was praised for his service to the state by officials of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources in a statement Monday.

He joined state government after retiring from the military in 1963.

No successor has been named.

Premier Asks Price Freeze

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam called on major companies today to freeze prices voluntarily pending the establishment of a Prices Justification Tribunal in August.

The tribunal will have the power to examine proposals for price hikes by companies with annual sales in excess of $28 million.

He said the squeeze between high feed prices and the price freeze is hurting poultry raisers, forcing hog producers to sell off breeding stock, and causing cattlemen to keep beef off the market.

Meanwhile, the President's Council of Economic Advisers said it was concerned about shortages, but that rationing within the next year is unlikely.

The council said the freeze on some food, including broiler chickens, may have to be eased.

Butz said that the granting of the export control authority would prompt producers to expand since they would have government assurance that their feed would be sufficient and at lower prices in the future.

Economic council chairman Herbert Stein said his group has read "lots of horror stories" about producers killing chickens because they are too expensive to raise. He said the council also was concerned about shortages of eggs, tomatoes and other products.

Turning to gasoline prices, Stein said some 1,106 service stations have had to roll back prices as a result of consumer complaints that the stations were violating the freeze.

The overcharges averaged two cents a gallon at 741 independent and 365 company-owned stations, the council said.

Stein said the administration still hopes to have an official announcement on Phase 4 controls by mid-July.

Fontana told the American Medical Association meeting in convention here.

"Unless we move to recognize this problem and give a great amount of money toward solving it, some day very few of us will be able to go out on the streets," Fontana said.

The fundamental way to eliminate behavior that leads to battered children is to end the social ills of poverty, frustration and other human disappointments that create the anger, hate and infantile behavior which parents take out on very young children, Fontana said.

The "battered child" is not just a product of the ghetto society, he said.

"The upper-and middle-class parents batter their kids just as frequently, but they do it behind closed doors, or their family doctors cover up for them, not reporting the abuse of the child," he said.

Miss Sally Ann Hardee Is Bride Of Kenneth Allen Jr.

Miss Sally Ann Hardee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glenn Hardee, of Greenville, became the bride of Kenneth Elmo Allen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen of Greenville Sunday at three o'clock.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard Arno in the Salem Methodist Church, Simpson. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Lois Jane Stocks, organist, and Mrs. Mary Frances Fornes, soloist, who sang "Love Story," "We've Only Just Begun," and the "Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with all brass wedding accessories. In the background was a fifteen semi-circle candelabra flanked by emerald greenery, tiered candelabra with massive bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Encircling the altar were seven branched candelabras and greenery. At the altar was a prie-dieu decorated with sprays of white carnations and springer greenery. At the close of the ceremony the couple lit one candle together, symbolic of their union. Aisle runner was rolled out for the bridal party. Family pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soi. The gown was fashioned with a high neck, sheer yoke, long sleeves with a calla point, and an empire waist. The neck, sleeves, and bodice were trimmed with re-embroidered alencon lace applique, centered with pearls and iridescents. The waist was circled with jeweled lace applique. A detachable train flowed from the waist and was held by a self-bow. A border of jeweled scalloped alencon lace finished the train.

The bride's mantilla was of imported silk illusion completely bordered with re-embroidered alencon lace. The waist length mantilla fell from a Camelot of lace with pearl motifs.

The bride carried a full formal cascade bouquet with phalaenopsis orchids framed by sprays of English ivy and colorful miniature carnations circled in baby's breath tied with white satin bows. The bride carried two red American Beauty roses which she gave to both mothers.

Mrs. Vernon Carawan of Greenville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Judy Sawyer of Greenville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carlton Hardee of Rocky Mount, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Randy Dixon of Greenville, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Pete Sawyer of Ayden, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ronnie Stephenson, of Virginia, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants were wearing formal dresses of Nile green silk organza flocked with velvety designs in deeper green and white, over peau taffeta. The empire bodices were styled with high-round necks bordered with stand-up collars and the Juliette sleeves ended in wide cuffs. Diagonal bands of white Val lace threaded with grosgrain ribbon formed a bib yoke on the bodices and were outlined with gathered ruffles. The semi-control skirts with soft-back fullness, stemmed from the lifted waists under a bow and long streamers of ribbon.

Their matching Juliette bonnets held shoulder lengths veils of silk-illusion. The attendants carried white garden baskets filled with summer flowers of many colors and baby's breath tied with matching bows with long streamers. Kenneth Allen, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Ervin Hardee of Greenville, Carlton Hardee of Rocky Mount, Vernon Carawan of Greenville, Ronnie Stephenson of Virginia, and Phil Nichols of Greenville.

Pam Allison of Virginia was flower girl and carried a basket filled with miniature carnations and rose petals. Lee Hardee was ring bearer of Greenville, and carried rings on a decorated white satin pillow.

The bride's mother wore a pink dress, with a lace coat and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a ming green dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore lavender orchid corsages.

The grandmothers, Mrs. Leon Hardee Sr. and Mrs. S. L. Corbitt wore corsages of white carnations.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride wore a navy and white knit dress with a jacket and matching accessories. She wore the orchid lifted form her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Junius H. Rose High School, attended Pitt Technical Institute and now is employed at Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pitt Technical Institute and now is associated in business with his father.

The couple will make their home in Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party
The couple was honored at an after-rehearsal party Saturday night given by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hardee, parents of the bride.

The guests were greeted by the host and were invited to the refreshment table, which was covered with a white satin cloth with lace trim and centered with an arrangement of white and yellow summer flowers flanked by a silver candelabra with yellow candles.

After the bridal couple had cut the first traditional slice of cake from the three tiered cake, Mrs. Carlton Hardee served. Mrs. Gertrude Hardee poured punch from a silver punch bowl nestled in bridal greenery.

The bride was presented with a white carnation corsage which accented her yellow formal gown.

Members of the wedding party were remembered with gifts from the bridal couple.

Wedding Breakfast
On Sunday morning, the bridal couple, wedding party and out-of-town guest were honored at a wedding breakfast at the Three Steers.

The tables were covered with white linen cloths with arrangements of mixed summer flowers.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hardee, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hardee Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Lt. T. Hardee Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Highsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Artis B. Hardee and Mrs. Gertrude Hardee, aunts and uncles of the bride.

Danes Rank First On Common Market

BRUSSELS, Belgium (WNS)—Brigitte Weymans, 28, took a poll of single women working on the European Common Market and reported that "more than 70 per cent" of them find the new English male members less attractive than the original Common Market members. "The new Danes, however, rank close in appeal to the Frenchmen and Italians, far above the Germans and Dutch," she said. The main problem with Englishmen: "They are too busy working to give much attention to dating."

Wanted Sailboat, Hated Water

VALENCIA, Spain (WNS)—Rosario Murat, 42, saved her earnings for twelve years until she finally had enough to buy her life's desire—a sailboat. Now she has had the boat installed in her backyard. "I'm terrified of the water," said Senora Murat. "I get deathly seasick."

Centerfolds are unstapling marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Since the beginning of our marriage four years ago, I told my husband I wouldn't tolerate "Playboy" or any other such magazine in our home, and if he wanted to read that kind of stuff he would have to leave it at his office.

We moved recently and I found a stack of these girlie magazines in the attic. My husband laughed about it and said he read them when I was asleep or out.

Now he continues buying these magazines which he keeps in his drawer. I told him to remove them or I would throw them out. Well, he didn't, and I did. Now he tells me I owe him $8 for his destroyed magazines, and he refuses to give me his paycheck until I pay him the $8.

Am I wrong, or is he? He knew my feelings, and he was warned. He says those magazines belonged to him and I had no right to destroy them.

If you want to publish this, go ahead. There must be others with this problem.

HATES FILTH

DEAR HATES: You are wrong. Your husband has a right to read what he wishes, and to keep whatever he wants in his drawer. And if you don't quit invading his privacy and destroying his property, it could cost you more than $8.

DEAR ABBY: Both my husband and I are nearly 30 years old. We've been married for six beautiful years, and we have not had any children because we just plain do not want any. We have given the matter a great deal of serious consideration and have concluded that having children is not all it's cracked up to be. Maybe we're wrong, but that is the way we feel about it.

The problem: Both his mother and mine have been bounding us for some time now with: "When are you going to make me a grandmother?" The answer, of course, is: "Never!" But how do you tell two women who have done little else in their lives but produce children without inviting a fight?

We have been told that we are "selfish," that it's "unnatural" to want no children, and maybe we should see a psychiatrist. I'm sure you get the picture.

So how do you tell two would-be grandmothers that whether we want children or not is strictly our own business, and even though it's a disappointment to them, we would rather not discuss it?

CHILDLESS AND SATISFIED

DEAR CHILDLESS: You seem sufficiently articulate to get the message across. When the subject comes up, simply say that you prefer not to discuss it. And don't try to defend your position or you will be in for an endless debate.

DEAR ABBY: I know I shouldn't think about myself so much, but I feel so big and ugly and dumb. In other words, I just don't have any confidence in myself.

I'm 5 foot 8 and weigh 140. I have mousy brown hair cut in a shag, which I hate on me. But I also hated my hair when it was long. I'm 24 and married. Everything I buy I want to return as soon as I get it home. Everything I cook I feel like throwing out, and I never feel like I look right in anything I put on.

All this lack of confidence in myself is driving me nuts. I hate for people to look me in the face because I think they're looking at my nose. I know I have shoulders like a football player, but I'm not any bigger than my sister, and she always looks nice.

Please help me, Abby. I'm so miserable.

ONE BIG MESS

DEAR ONE: You can't be nearly as big a "mess" as you think you are. At least one man must have thought you were pretty special or he wouldn't have married you.

What you need is a better self-image. Start with getting your psychological house in order. Your doctor can recommend a counselor, [and a diet if you feel "fat"], and remember, the longest march in the world started with a step—so get going.

Pretty Face Brings Protest

BONN, West Germany (WNS)—Railroad officials expected to boost train travel with a sexy poster of glamorous model Vivan Neves that proclaimed, "I sell tickets, too." When the posters appeared in railway stations, hundred of lady porters and tickets collectors declared them "a frivolous insult to hard-working women," and threatened to strike. Officials quickly admitted that they were on the wrong tack and banned the posters.

Miss Gardner Marries Thurman B. Gardner

BETHEL — Miss Linda Diane Gardner of Bethel and Thurman Bryan Gardner of Vanceboro poke their wedding vows Sunday in the Bethel Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert E. Lyde officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by William Whitley of Tarboro, organist, and William Russell of Raleigh, rumpeter.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce C. Gardner Jr. of Bethel. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Thurman Gardner of Vanceboro.

The bride's gown, designed and fashioned by the bride, was of white organza over peau de soie. The bodice was of chintilly lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. Hand-clipped and re-embroidered lace was applied on the front of the gown and edged the full circular skirt which ended in a chapel length train.

Her fingertip length mantilla of silk illusion was bordered with matching lace and was attached to a Camelot hat of lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of Marguerite daisies, carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Sylvia Bullock, sister of the bride, was the honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Pamela Mizelle of Raleigh, Miss Jane Craft of Walstonburg, and Mrs. Marcia Carson of Greenville.

They wore formal length gowns of yellow and aqua printed chiffon with empire bodices and short puffed sleeves. The neckline was accented with a wide ruffle of white lace. Attendants wore yellow picture hats with matching braid and carried nosegays of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's father

MRS. THURMAN BRYAN GARDNER

served as best man. Ushers were Wayne Bryan and Shirley Bryan of Vanceboro, Earl DeCamp of New Bern and Donald Bryan of Goldsboro.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mizelle, the bride's grandparents.

Those assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Merrimond Mizelle, Mrs.

Collis Lewis, and Mrs. Frederick Bryan. Miss JoAnne Maronne served the wedding cake after the couple cut the first slice.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Robert E. Clyde of Greenville.

After a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will reside in New Bern.

Add Wheat Germ To Yeast Bread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

It's a good idea to add wheat germ to loaves of white bread because the wheat germ boosts nutrition and gives the bread a nutty flavor. When we tried the following recipe in our test kitchen we found the bread was delicious served "as is" or toasted. Adding honey, as the recipe directs, furnishes sweet flavor.

By the way, after you open a jar of toasted wheat germ (whether it's the 12- or the 20-ounce size), keep it tightly covered in the refrigerator.

HONEY WHEAT GERM BREAD

- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees)
- 1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
- 1/4 cup honey
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 egg
- 4 1/2 cups (about) flour
- 1 cup toasted wheat germ

In a small mixing bowl dissolve yeast in water.

Into a large mixing bowl turn the scalded milk, honey, butter and salt; stir until butter melts, then cool to lukewarm. Add yeast, egg and 2 cups flour, beating until smooth; stir in wheat germ. Add enough more of the flour to make a stiff dough. (It will be sticky.)

Turn out on lightly floured surface. Knead until smooth and elastic — 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top surface. Cover with a damp towel and let rise in a warm place until doubled — about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Punch down.

Shape into 2 loaves. Place in greased loaf pans (each 8 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 3 inches). Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled — about 45 minutes. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven about 40 minutes. Turn out loaves on wire rack and cool.

Makes 2 loaves.

Four hundred recipes are given in the illustrated "Cecily Brownstone's Associated Press Cookbook" available by sending $4.95 (check or money order made payable to "The Associated Press") to this newspaper in care of AP COOKBOOK, Box 64, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.

Mate Becomes Nun

PARIS, France (WNS) — Mireille Negre, ballerina star of the Paris Opera, has resigned at the height of her career to become a nun. The 27-year-old Frenchwoman, who was Rudolf Nureyev's partner on world tour, gave her father a check for $65,000 before entering the Carmelite convent at Limoges in central France. Ballerina friends reported that Sister Mireille never liked men to admire her beauty and "bandaged her breasts flat so that men wouldn't look at her so much."

Children Not Always A Liability To Economic Growth, Duke Economist Says

DURHAM, N. C. — Note to parents: If you sometimes think your children are a drag on your ability to make a successful go of it in these inflation-ridden times, talk to Allen Kelley.

He's an economist at Duke University and a member of a small minority who believe the impact of children on a family's financial health may not be quite as bad as many people have long thought.

Kelley maintains that the widely-held concept of economists that children are a "burden" on society's resources available for capital formation doesn't hold up well under critical examination.

His preliminary studies tend to show that the adverse effect of population growth on economic development—at least in higher income societies—may not be as strong as classic economic theory asserts it should be.

Kelley advanced his unorthodox arguments in a paper prepared for delivery this morning before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, meeting in Mexico City.

Citing the results of a study he recently made using 1889 U. S. economic data, when this country was in the early stages of modern economic development, Kelley said the impact of children on a family's savings can be zero, negative—or even positive.

Although the results of a U. S. study cannot be fully extrapolated to conditions existing in developing nations today, Kelley said, the "results are sufficient to cast some doubt on... the typically hypothesized strong negative impact of children" on economic development.

Using a mathematical tool called the "dependence ratio," or level of the dependent population of a nation compared to its working force, Kelley said his findings appear to show that at certain stages of national development, high dependency ratios may actually result in higher rates of family income and savings.

Economists have long believed that a high dependency ratio—as many as half of the people in some Latin American countries are classed as dependents—means large numbers of unproductive individuals and a low rate of family savings.

Kelley said the weakness in this reasoning lie in the assumption that children consume much and yield little, thereby making a negative impact on family income and savings.

But, Kelley said, "children do not exert their influence in isolation. They do it through the total family budget. They may substitute for other forms of consumption, stimulate their parents to work more or harder, or encourage capital accumulation in certain forms of assets, such as estates."

The Duke economist said there is some indication that the negative impact of the elderly on family savings in advanced nations such as the United States may exceed that of children.

Kelley stressed that his findings were limited by the amount of evidence available, and called for more studies by economists of the impact of children on family spending and saving.

Uncertainties Are Firming Up

Some of the uncertainties about practicality of an all-volunteer Army are firming up, and it's bad news.

Even the inducement of a $2,500 enlistment bonus for combat jobs and a military salary scale far above anything this country has known cannot maintain an adequate rate of replacements.

The armed forces do have an attractive career program with a near limitless choice of fields, coupled with offers of training and schooling that make advancement prospects hard to shrug off.

A young man (or woman) can attain a good basic education and expertise in fields that also pose a future civilian career — such as electronics, communications, transportation, medical technicians, management, engineering, records-keeping and on and on.

We're certain many recruits were aiming at future civilian skills when they enlisted; but the hard truth is that to be effective an Army also needs machinegunners, cannoners, missile teams, tankers, riflemen. And all of these must be not only competent but better than their counterparts in any potential foe.

Nobody loved the draft, but it did make the world safer for a good many years.

It isn't mentioned these days, but not that Leonid Brezhnev has visited these shores we should recall that the Soviet Union has not relaxed its military service obligations, nor has Red China, nor has any one of the Iron Curtain countries.

Alarmists we're not; pragmatists we may be. But unless Washington comes up with some answers the ultimate result will be an Army manned by skilled technicians in every field of expertise except combat.

That's a dangerous way to live.

Skylab Mission Marks Major Step Forward

The United States' Skylab crew has returned home after man's longest space mission.

The mission also has to be one of the most important. The three astronauts proved, not only that they could work in the space laboratory, but also that they could make repairs to the lab to correct problems which might have ruined the mission.

The space scientists brought back invaluable information to their fellow scientists on earth. They also showed they could cope with unpredictable problems. The mission represents another step forward for mankind.

Clearing House In Government

By PETE IVEY

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

News Bureau Director
CHAPEL HILL.—The register of deeds in a large North Carolina county pointed to a number—(919) 933-1304—written in heavy pencil and pasted to her telephone.

"I keep that number handy," she said. "It's a ready reference for what I need to know that's new in my job."

The number connects her with the Institute of Government of Chapel Hill, a vital clearing house and educational center dealing with the firm facts and creative ideas helpful to local officials in city halls and county courthouses throughout the state.

The Institute of Government represents one of the far-reaching services rendered in the 100 Tar Heel counties by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Founded in the 1920's by Prof. Albert Coates, today it is headed by John Sanders and staffed with experts in all phases of government operation.

In retirement, Coates carried on his mission for a better informed citizenry through teach-ins and writings on civic affairs and local government—especially prepared for teachers to use in lessons taught in high schools of North Carolina.

Public Service Mission

Since 1918, the University has been devoted to public service—Not only within the campus buildings in Chapel Hill—but statewide. Learning by mail came first; for the UNC Extension Division; this was accompanied by short courses and workshops—Forerunners of other adult education programs sponsored by the University for North Carolina's people from Manteo to Murphy.

In the past 20 years educational television has taken its place alongside the University's other public service functions.

Many areas Involved

The School of Public Health, Business School, Medical School, Law School, School of Education, and other departments at Chapel Hill are similarly dedicated to unique services to the state's total population, now more than five-and-a-half million.

Newest among special public service functions of the University at Chapel Hill are: The Carolina Population Center, a worldwide agency studying facets of reproduction, birth control, family planning, and problems of feeding and housing increasing millions of people. The Pop Center is one of the liveliest of international organizations tackling what is recognized as one of mankind's foremost dilemmas. Many of the model programs and pilot projects are centered in North Carolina, with the findings applied globally. The specialists go to India, Burma, Africa, South America, wherever novel facts can be discovered useful to family planning and population control. Dr. Moye Freyman is director.

The Frank P. Graham Child Development Center undertakes to determine what capabilities a youngster has, how slow learners can improve, and how exceptional children can advance as fast and far as their abilities permit. Dr. James Gallagher is the director. Both the Medical School and the School of Education have balanced programs to study children, from infancy to the high school years.

Highway Safety Center

The N. C. Highway Safety Research Center, headed by Dr. B. J. Campbell, seeks to find facts and to test plans for making highways safer. The specialists zero in on three elements of safety: the driver, the highway, and the automobile. The center, with a staff of 50, was established by the legislature in 1966.

Dr. Cecil Sheps of Chapel Hill formed the Health Services Research Center, and the growth in four years makes this agency of prime importance in finding out how to bring more and better medical and other health services to more people—in rural areas and elsewhere—and the costs the populace can afford. One approach has been to find out from laymen themselves what they think they need, and what they think of health services in "medically unserved areas."

Highlights of the public service activities radiating from Chapel Hill, enlarging functions begun 50 years ago, make it apparent that there is ferment and determination to continue and expand the role of the University. Traditionally, a university adheres to three objectives: teaching, research, and public service. New attention is being focused on the third area, and the University of Chapel Hill is alert to the potentialities it provides.

Opportunity To 'Destroy' Dean

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The abrupt one-week postponement of the Watergate hearings was arranged in a way that gave defenders of President Nixon maximum ammunition in their campaign to destroy the credibility and reputation of ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III.

Dean, badly damaged previously by his feverish bargaining with federal prosecutors for total immunity, was the witness ready to tell all in public last Tuesday when the postponement was suddenly announced. Large chunks of what Dean planned to say were leaked to the press by Republicans, greatly diminishing his impact when he does testify. Moreover, the White House was given another week to blacken Dean's name.

The timing of the delay was so interesting because it followed only by minutes the distribution to all Senators on the Watergate committee of a confidential summary of Dean's closed-door testimony the previous Saturday heard by the committee counsel and investigators. The Senators were not present.

Sen. Sam Ervin, Jr. of North Carolina, committee chairman, had decided that, because of increasingly embarrassing leaks, closed-door testimony by witnesses being quizzed by staff must be withheld from committee members until the last minute.

Ervin ordered the summary given to the Senators one half-hour before Dean was to appear before the committee in a closed-door session last Monday afternoon intended to prepare the committee for Tuesday's open hearings.

But minutes before the session convened, with Republican Senators now in possession of the summary of Dean's closed-door testimony, came the appeal to Ervin for a delay. Sens. Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott, the Democratic and Republican leaders, asked for the postponement in order not to hurt the U.S.-Soviet summit talks. Democrats, frightened that a vote against delay would make them appear unpatriotic, went along with the request.

Democratic sources now think that Scott and the White House contrived the timing of the request, with Mansfield an unwitting victim. The result has been savage for Dean: a series of headlines removing much of the highly important element of surprise from his public testimony, coupled with Scott's charge that Dean is an "embezzler" and a "turn-coat."

In addition, defenders of Mr. Nixon have used the week to set in motion a secret investigation of Dean's financial affairs, in hopes of further damaging his reputation.

A footnote: Contrary to some published reports, Dean is not being handled by the Democratic majority as a "favored" witness. Committee counsel Sam Dash put five top staffers on a crash study to find loopholes and weak spots in his secret testimony and plant tough questions for committee members to ask him.

Gas and Oil Politics

Despite unalterable opposition of liberal Senators to oil lawyer Robert H. Morris of San Francisco, he might have been confirmed as a Federal Power Commission (FPC) member had it not been for a private telephone conversation between him and Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas.

Tower, a leading oil industry advocate, had been disturbed by Morris's opposition to deregulation of natural gas prices. Was this, Tower wondered, just an attempt by Morris to obliterate his pro-industry association as attorney for Standare Oil of California and thus win over anti-oil liberals Senators?

So, Tower placed an eleventh-hour telephone call to Morris. On a confidential basis, he asked Morris: Do you really oppose deregulation? Morris's reply: Yes, I do. That was enough. Tower promptly helped line up other Western conservative Republicans—Sens. Wallace Bennett of Utah, Clifford Hansen of Wyoming and Paul Fannin of Arizona—to oppose Morris.

For their part, the liberals opposed him. Despite his deregulation position, they could not forgive his closeness to the oil industry. Having won the worst of two worlds, Morris was rejected, 49 to 44.

Strength For Today

PREPARE NOW

We should use our good hours to reinforce our purpose and power in such a way that we may stand fast in hours of lassitude and temptation.

"We cannot kindle when we will
The fire which in the heart resides,
The spirit bloweth and is still,

In mystery our soul abides;
But tasks, in hours of insight will'd
May be through hours of gloom fulfilled."

Some people seem to be ready for almost anything that happens to them; others seem never to be prepared. The difference is not so much a difference of endurance as a difference in preparation. Those who endure well are those who have prepared well. Those who collapse before every calamity do so because they failed to use the hours of insight and composure to arm themselves against the day in which their world would be in chaos.

Relevant & Immaterial

To judge from the mail crossing my desk, many unwavering friends of Richard Nixon—he still has several million—are relying on an understandable but embarrassing defense in this Watergate mess. It is the defense of so's your old man.

It goes to this effect: Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson all suffered from schandals, improprieties, or blunders in their administrations. Roosevelt let the government get riddled with Communist cells. Truman had troubles with the five percenters. Eisenhower, who promised to clean up the Truman mess, had a problem with Sherman Adams.

Kennedy blundered with the Bay of Pigs. Johnson had Bobby Baker. And the plaintive point is made: Nobody ever spoke of impeaching them.

My beloved colleague Bill Buckley, editor of National Review, recently bounced twice on the springboard of Watergate and dived neatly into the waters of Chap-quiddick. He thought it interesting to compare the spectacular leaks and exposures of Watergate today with the thwarted investigation of Senator Edward Kennedy's conduct of four years ago.

Well, with the greatest affection and deference for my colleagues and correspondents, I am minded to say, with respect, and the kindest possible way: Knock it off. So far as the Watergate mess in concerned, these other events may be relevant but assuredly they are not material. Let us stick to the point.

Let me try to summarize what is meant by "Watergate." The charge is that persons highly placed in the Committee for the Re-election of the President early in 1972 embarked upon a patently criminal plan for gathering political intelligence; that the plan included burglarizing and bugging the offices of the Democratic National Committee; that former Attorney General John Mitchell knew of the plan and approved it; that once the burglars were caught, the President's closest aides conspired to cover up the affair; that the cover-up included acts of perjury and bribery, all intended to obstruct justice; and finally, that the President of the United States knew enough of what was going on to have exposed it long ago.

What in the world does Bobby Baker have to do with that? It is immaterial, it seems to me, that Barry Goldwater's phones were bugged in 1964, or that someone stole Nixon's health records in 1968, or that Ted Kennedy went for a tragic drive in 1969.

If the purpose is merely to keep Watergate in historical perspective, well and good. There is certain sidebar interest in the scandals and campaigns of Grant, Cleveland, Wilson, and Harding. Neither is any harm done by making the point that Watergate, unlike other scandals, did not involve the theft of public funds or the bribery of public officials. But after these ritual incantations have been made, we are left with Watergate still there. This ugliness cannot be exorcised by exhuming Mary Jo.

This column had to be written before John Dean's public testimony before the Ervin committee, but the

Other Editors Say Will Hurt Farmers

(Washington Daily News)

It appears that congress is about to pass a bill increasing minimum wages over the nation. The present minimum is $1.60 per hour.

Many small business men look at the proposed wage increases and wonder "how in the world can we pay them?"

Yet, we know that on several other occasions the question has been asked, and it has heretofore been answered. And it will be answered this time with a round of wage and price increases.

When it comes to the proposal in this bill for farm workers, we are of the opinion that the increase is bound to hurt more deeply there than anywhere else. The present minimum wage for farm help is $1.30 per hour. This year the increase would go to $1.60 per hour, then to $1.80 next year, then to $2.00 in 1975, and then $2.20 in 1976.

We realize that today many farm workers are making far more than the allowable minimum. After all when it comes time to harvest tobacco and there is much work to be done, the very scarcity of labor already makes it difficult.

But as a general rule, the labor hired to work on farms is unskilled, and while farmers today do get much more for their crops, what we never seem to realize fully is that it is costing the farmers much more today to produce the crops.

In the eyes of so many lawmakers today the farm vote is not as important as it was just a few years ago. Year by year we are seeing fewer and fewer farmers tending more and more land. Farm machinery plays a big part, but there is still much to do manually, and labor must be hired usually to help out.

Maybe farmers over the country will not make the objections that we see very possible. But we would suspect that while they might feel a sense of uselessness to object, inwardly they will feel that the idea of making a livable profit on the farm is a lost cause.

The bill is now before the U. S. Senate which is expected to pass it. Then it goes to the president for his signature. While the White House has given no indication as to the feeling on this bill, we suspect that it will be signed and become law during this year.

Wages go up, prices go up, or vice versa, and one wonders just where it all will stop.

Health Care Incomes Soaring

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

Revealing comments from various sources on the state of the American economy:—Anyone who shopped for a house during the past few months knows that prices rose almost by the week, the primary factor being the higher costs of materials.

Another side of the same picture is now ready for viewing: profits of building-product manufacturers rose 64 per cent in the first quarter of the year on sales increases of 27 per cent, according to F. W. Dodge Division.

Dodge, probably the best-known compiler of statistics on the construction industry, found a "highly favorable marketing climate" for the 62 companies it surveyed.

Most favored by the market was the forest products group, whose profits doubled in the first three months over the like period a year earlier.

—Anyone who has had to write off a debt as uncollectable is aware of the irritation involved. But if you think your irritation is painful, consider the collective frustration that plagues American industry.

Basing its estimate on Internal Revenue Service reports, Dunn & Bradstreet states that yearly bad debt losses of nearly 1.7 million U.S. corporations come to nearly $6 billion.

The biggest losses, based on figures for the 1969-1970 fiscal year, were in the finance fields, with personal credit agencies claiming they were forced to write off 8.1 per cent of their receipts.

Savings and loan associations averaged losses of 6.6 per cent of receipts, bank and trust companies 4 per cent and mutual savings banks 3.6 per cent.

—You've heard that the U.S. economy is steadily becoming more a producer of services than of goods. That is, we sell overseas tours and good health and insurance policies as well as cars and food and houses.

Awareness of this trend can only be enhanced by reading the headline of an article in a Blue Cross magazine. "Health is No. 2," it proclaims, and it doesn't mean that U.S. health care is second best.

The article shows that health care is the country's second largest industry, closing in on contract construction in terms of employees and in the amount of income it represents.

The industry in 1966 employed 2.26 million workers, or more than a million fewer than in construction. But with a hefty, 39 per cent jump in five years, it employed 3.13 million in 1971, or only 400,000 fewer than in construction.

Income derived from health care soared even more, some 87 per cent between 1966, when the figure was $17.9 billion, to 1971, when $33.5 billion was earned in the health care industry.

Dean Flatly Contradicts Four Nixon Statements

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four key statements by President

Nixon have been contradicted flatly by his former counsel, John W. Dean III.

Testifying Monday before the Senate's Watergate in-Kilpatrick Col.

evidence Dean gave in private, leaked through the committee's sieve, last week provided a kind of testimonial pure. Dean apparently was in on just about everything involved in the Watergate charges. Giving full account to the gentleman's reputation for truth and veracity, such as it is, his story will have to be weighed with other evidence going to the President's awareness of the whole sordid affair.
Those of us on the conservative side, sick at heart at the wreckage on every hand, will gain nothing by peripheral diversions and recollections. The question is not the awareness of Franklin Roosevelt, but the awareness of Richard Nixon. The time may come, if Senator Kennedy runs for the White House, when the Senator's credibility appropriately may be examined. It is not Ted Kennedy's credibility that matters now.
The vise closes on Nixon. One jaw is labeled, "he knew," the other, "he did not know." We are squeezed to an unhappy conclusion: If he knew, he was crooked; if he did not know, he was inept. If that is a fair metaphor, there is no way—to way—that the President and his disappointed friends can wiggle out.

vestigating committee, Dean swore Nixon knew of the cover-up, knew of payments to defendants and admitted twice that he discussed an offer of clemency. And he said Nixon persisted in the cover-up this spring despite Nixon's statement that he was trying to get all the facts.
Here is a comparison of what Nixon said and what Dean said:
COVER-UP: The President, in a statement issued May 22, said, "I took no part in, nor was I aware of, any ... efforts that may have been made to cover up the Watergate."
Dean testified that he told Nixon Sept. 15, 1972, that he had assisted in keeping the case from reaching the White House. That was the day seven men were indicted, none higher in the Nixon re-election campaign than G. Gordon Liddy, the finance committee's chief lawyer.
Nixon and Dean met in the Oval Office, with presidential chief of staff H.R. Haldeman present, Dean said.
"The President told me I had done a good job and he appreciated how difficult a task it had been and the President was pleased that the case had stopped with Liddy," Dean said.
"I responded that I could not take credit because others had done much more difficult things than I had done. As the President discussed the present status of the situation I told him that all that I had been able to do was to contain the case and assist in keeping it out of the White House. I also told him that I thought that there was a long way to go before this matter would end and that I certainly could make no assurances that the day would not come when this matter would start to unravel."

On April 15 Dean said he met with Nixon in his office in the Executive Office Building and advised Nixon he had begun to tell his story to federal prosecutors. "He got up out of his chair, went behind his chair to the corner ... and in a barely audible tone said to me, he was probably foolish to have discussed Hunt's clemency with Colson."

was done. I told him I didn't know much about it other than the fact that the money was laundered so it could not be traced and that there were secret deliveries."

"I personally assumed the responsibility for coordinating intensive new inquiries into the matter, and I personally ordered those conducting the investigations to get all the facts and to report them directly to me, right here in this office," Nixon said in his address.
But Dean said, "In short, the President commenced no investigation at all. Rather, the President, Haldeman and Ehrlichman commenced to protect themselves against the unraveling of the cover-up."

Later in the conversation Nixon asked about money already paid to defendants, Dean said. "He asked me how this

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1973

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day to look into the practical side of your affairs and to organize them so you have more prosperity in the days ahead. Where you have any doubts, don't hesitate to consult with an adviser who understands your position.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have the ability to add to your present income now, so put your efforts in that direction. Plan how to budget more carefully. Keep an eye on your assets and cut down on expenses.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are at your dynamic best now and can impress important persons easily now. Show good friends how much you appreciate them. Take in as many social events as you can. Improve your image.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study monetary affairs and figure out a way to have more abundance in the future. Use your intuition which can be helpful at this time. Avoid one who is detrimental to your progress.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Being with good friends and finding out how they can help you get ahead is wise. Get the support you need for worthwhile progress. Show that you are a dependable person.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can make great progress now where your career is concerned, so don't waste a moment of this precious day. Buy new appliances that can add to present efficiency. Show that you are a thinker.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to obtain new facts now which can be helpful to your career. Develop a wiser philosophy of living. Think along more practical lines than in the past. Take health treatments.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Go over your financial accounts and then discuss with those concerned how to make greater progress in the future. Later forget the mundane and concentrate on the romantic side of life.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Reach the right decisions with associates where policy matters are concerned. Any civic work you need to do should be handled now. More devotion shown to loved one tonight is wise.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Happiness comes from work today, so keep busy from early morning at whatever is most important to your welfare. Improve your appearance. Make yourself a more dynamic-looking person.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have been working very hard and should now think of having fun with good friends. Showing more particular devotion is right. Avoid one who is trying to destroy what you have built up.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you handle those practical chores at home that please kin harmony there will increase. Try a different approach if you want to gain your aims, whether personal or in business.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Contact key persons you have meant to call for some time so that you get business matters operating more successfully. You have fine ability and can accomplish a great deal at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those young people with a practical mind and from earliest days will be concerned with making money and having abundance. This is fine, provided you give the right ethical and spiritual training so that your progeny will think of the welfare of others. Sports are a natural here.
"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Every day, you face an increasingly difficult challenge: Feeding a family of two, or three, or more on a budget that constantly gets harder and harder to balance.

It's possible your family income has grown over recent years. Yet, it's also true that, through these same years, less and less of the take-home portion of that income has gone for food. Five years ago the average family found 17.2% being spent for food. In 1972 the percentage had declined to 15.7%.

Here, for example, are some typical living-cost rises over the past several years.

part of the story. In one neat, complete package, milk offers nature's most nearly perfect food. Here are some facts to support that statement:

U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance*	Amount Supplied by Two 8 Oz. Glasses Milk	Percent Recommended Daily Allowance
Protein 45 grams	15.9 grams	35.3%
Vitamin A 5000 Int'l Units	780 Int'l Units	12.7%
Thiamine B1 1.5 milligrams	14 milligrams	9.3%
Riboflavin B2 1.7 milligrams	77 milligrams	45.0%
Calcium 1.0 grams	54 milligrams	5.4%
Phosphorus 1.0 grams	42 grams	4.2%

*These nutrients and levels have been derived by the Food and Drug Administration from the "Recommended Dietary Allowances" published by the Food and Nutrition Board, National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council
*Composition of foods, Agricultural Handbook, U.S. Department of Agriculture

Milk stands as one of the nation's most nearly perfect foods.

It provides high-quality proteins ... rich in amino acids for muscle-tissue building and repair. Calcium and phosphorus in a ratio most favorable for use by the body. Rich sources of Vitamin A, plus Thiamine and Riboflavin in important amounts. All this makes milk a body-building package no other single food can match.

Milk is one of the best food bargains you can buy.

The dairy farm family, through the years, has developed efficient new methods to help hold a reasonable price for you. In the past 20 years, we've seen per-cow milk production rise 71%, and so milk prices remain relatively low because of production gains and new efficiency—even though dairy farm family costs continue to rise sharply.

You pay more today for almost everything, but milk continues as a bargain. And, milk brings you the most nutritional elements available in one single food. Which means that today, as always, milk is still one of the best values you can get for your money.

Milk is still a Bargain.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HOME INSULATION
Actually, all homeowners pay for insulation whether they have and enjoy it or not. The savings on fuel alone will more than pay for the cost of insulating.
An insulated home is more comfortable in winter and summer. Condensation and wall-sweating is reduced. Smaller and less expensive air conditioning units can be used efficiently. With today's high energy costs, the following insulation features are recommended to obtain the most efficiency from your air conditioning system: ceiling-equivalent 6" fiberglass, walls 3 1/2" fiberglass.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets were steady Monday. Supplies adequate to short, demand good. Weights trending light.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market inched lower today, as Watergate revelations continued and the dollar plunged to a record low in Frankfurt. Trading was moderate.

The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 0.90 at 868.23. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange led advancing issues 559 to 431.

The market rallied last Friday when the Committee on Interest and Dividends announced a loosening of their policy. On Monday the market lost sharply and the Dow closed at its lowest point in 18 months.

The dollar, which was strong this morning, began dropping right after the announcement of a U.S. trade deficit for May.

The 11 a.m. broad-based NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks was down 0.05 at 53.74. Prices also fell on the American Stock Exchange and the price-change index was off .01 at 22.19.

Union Carbide was the most-active issue on the Big Board, down 1/2 at 34 3/4. A 397,500-share block and a 25,000-share block were traded at 34 1/4, off 5/8.

Scudder-Duo Vest, Inc., Preferred, was the second most-active issue, up 1/4 at 8 1/4. A 65,000-share block was traded at 8 1/4, up 1/8.

Eastern Air Lines was the third-most-active, up 1/4 at 9 1/4. A 50,500-share block was traded at 9 1/4.

The market opened with a small gain, which it quickly lost.

Production Just Means More Losses

RANGER, Ga. (AP)—A poultry firm smothered 22,000 baby chicks Monday and indicated more destruction would follow if poultrymen did not get relief from soaring feed grain prices.

"We're in a situation where the more we produce, the more we lose," said George Allen, manager of Loret Farms Inc. of Chattanooga, Tenn., which operates the Ranger Hatchery. Trays of day-old chirping chicks were poured into 55-gallon drums, onto which airtight lids were pressed.

later were dumped on the ground in a wooded section and a bulldozer covered them with dirt. Allen said if no relief comes from the federal Cost of Living Council, the destruction will continue at a pace of 22,000 chicks a day. He predicted consumers would face a shortage of chickens.

RALEIGH (AP)—Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt and North Carolina House Speaker James Ramsey today announced appointments to several legislative slots on state boards and commissions.

Hunt named State Sen. James B. Garrison, D-Stanly, to the new state Board of Transportation, where he will join the appointee announced by Ramsey last week, Rep. James Green, D-Bladen.

The legislature, when it created the new board earlier this year, reserved two of the 14 posts for itself.

The Governor's Advocacy Council on Children and Youth got four new members. Hunt appointed Sens. Lynwood Smith, D-Guilford, and A.B. Coleman, D-Orange. Ramsey named Reps. Lura Tally, D-Cumberland and Patricia Hunt, D-Orange.

Hunt names Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, to another term on the Education Commission of the States.

Grants Announced To ECU Biologists

Joseph Harwood, The team will identify the aquatic plants present in the Pamlico River and study their relation to the aquatic ecology of the area.

Many aquatic weeds, Dr. Davis noted, are valuable as basic food source for water organisms and migratory water fowl as well as important contributors to the river's bottom stability.

Both surfact and aerial surveys will be used in the project.

A grant of $1,925 was awarded Dr. Charles O'Rear by the Sport Fishing Institute for the continuation of his study of the diet of hatchery-bred striped bass, or rockfish.

Dr. O'Rear, director of ECU's Marine Science Center on Roanoke Island, has done similar research on fish nutrition during the past three years. His current project will examine the efficiency of soybean meal as a source of protein in the mass feeding of striped bass in hatchery-rearing programs.

Working with Dr. Davis are ECU botanists Martha Jones, Steven Reed, David Davis and Republican leader.

First Congressional District Republican chairman W. E. Dansey and Pitt party head Dixie Greene—both of whom attended the meeting—could not be contacted for comment this morning, but a party leader said all indications are that the meeting went "smoothly."

Apparently no controversy over party patronage arose from the meeting here as had come from at least two previous Congressional District sessions held by Anderson within the past two weeks, the spokesman indicated.

Earlier, Republican leaders in Clinton and in Asheville, proposed that Gov. Jim Holmouser fire Anderson following meetings with district party leaders there.

A Republican said the patronage plan and the method employed by Anderson in conducting the Clinton meeting could ruin the party, while a Western North Carolina party leader, after attending the meeting in Asheville, said the session was "one of the most disgusting things I have ever participated in as a Republican."

The meeting here was closed to everyone but invited guests.

Greenville Rolls Past Tarboro, 7-1

Greenville's American Legion baseball team pushed over three runs in the fourth and added three more in the seventh to roll to an easy 7-1 victory over Tarboro's Legionaires last night.

William Woolard tossed a fine three-hitter at Tarboro, but found himself in occasional trouble because of some inconsistency in throwing strikes. During the game, he walked eight batters, while whiffing a total of 18. Several times he had to get out of trouble with the bases loaded.

Tarboro got off a threat in the first, putting a man as far as second. With one down, Mike Matthews walked and stole second, but died there as the next two went down.

Greenville came up with its first run in the bottom of the first. With one away, Robert Brinkley doubled to right center. Stanley Cobb reached on a two-base error, allowing Brinkley to come around and score the first run of the game.

Tarboro came back to tie it up with one in the second. Bill Weaver got the first hit off Woolard, a single. He advanced on an out, then came all the way from second when a pickoff attempt was thrown away.

It was the only Tarboro run, but it was not their only threat.

In the fourth, Weaver singled again, and Leon Wilson and Jim Stalls both walked to load them up with one away. A pop-up on an attempted suicide squeeze resulted in a double play, however, getting Greenville out of the jam.

In the sixth, Woolard again walked the bases full, but also struck out the side to get out of the trouble he'd put himself in. The only other threat came in the ninth, when another walk and a wild pitch put a runner on second.

Greenville, with the score tied at 1-1, threatened in the third, but couldn't score. Duncan Charlton walked and moved to second on the second out of the frame.

In the fourth, Greenville came up with three runs to push ahead, this time for good. Bill Lee led off with a walk and Griff Garner singled. Both moved up on an out and Gil Whitford hit a sacrifice fly to bring in Lee after the catch. Jerry Griffin followed with a walk and Woolard aided himself with a double, driving in both Garner and Griffin for a 4-1 lead.

Greenville had another chance in the fifth when Cobb reached on an error and stole second with one away, but died there.

In the seventh, Greenville came up with three more runs to put the game out of reach. Woolard led off with his second double of the night and Charlton singled, moving to second on the relay in. Brinkley then, not to be outdone, came up with his second double, driving in both runners. Brinkley moved to third on an out and scored when Donnie Haddock reached on an error. John Barwick followed with a walk, but the rally died there.

The eighth also saw a threat come to nothing. Woolard walked and stole second and Ron Hunt walked with one down, but neither advanced further.

Lions Defeat Kiwanis, 17-1

The Lions forced R.C. Cola to have to win its final game Wednesday, by downing the Kiwanis, 17-1, yesterday in the North State Little League.

The Lions finished with a 10-5 record, are assured of no worse than a tie for second, and could tie for the top should R.C. fall to the Jaycees on Wednesday. The Kiwanis, now 4-11, could end up either in a tie for fifth or all alone in sixth, also depending on the outcome of the R.C.-Jaycee game.

The Lions got all they were to need with three runs in the first inning. Marty Worthington led off with a homer and Krage Gardiner singled. Mike Williams followed with another home run, making it 3-0.

In the second, the Lions added two more. Worthington singled and Gardiner doubled. Williams singled in both runners, making it 5-0.

Three more crossed in the third. Roger Williams and Arthur Fletcher singled in Collier. Scott Galloway walked and Worthington singled. Gardiner reached on a fielder's choice that got Fletcher at home, but Galloway then stole home, running the score to 8-0.

In the bottom of the third, the Kiwanis got their only run. Tom Brown walked and moved up on a passed ball and an error. Brad Brown reached on a fielder's choice, scoring on Brown.

The Lions then got nine more in the fifth to put it away. Worthington singled and Mike Williams reached on a fielder's choice. Peter Pace walked and so did Roger Williams, scoring Worthington. Collier walked to force over Mike Williams, and Shelton Wilson reached on a fielder's choice scoring Pace. Fletcher singled in Roger Williams, and Galloway's hit brought home Collier. An error on the play let Wilson come around. Worthington singled in Fletcher and Gardiner got a hit to bring home Galloway. Mike Williams singled to score Worthington with the final fun of the game.

Elks Topple Exchange, 5-4

The Elks finished up their 1973 regular season yesterday with a 5-4 victory over the Exchange in the Tar Heel Little League.

The Elks, 8-7 for the year, are assured of third place and have a chance to tie for second should Integon, 8-6, lose in its final game. The Exchange, 5-10, can finish no better than a tie for fourth, but could drop as far as a tie for fifth. Both teams will also see action at least once more in the League Playoffs at the end of the year.

The Exchange pushed into the lead first, scoring a run in the second. Mark Douglas led off, reaching on an error, then moving up on an out. Garland Lancaster singled to drive him in, giving the Exchange a 1-0 lead.

The Elks tied it up with a run in the fourth. Mack Stocks reached on an error to open the frame, and then stole second. Lance Cain singled to drive him around with the tying run.

The Exchange went right back out with one in the bottom of the inning. Gordon Douglas reached on an error and Lancaster singled. Eric Deal reached on an error, scoring Douglas for a 2-1 lead.

The Elks came back in the top of the fifth and pushed over four runs, pushing ahead for good. Gavin Ray opened with a single and moved up on a passed ball. William Sneed walked and Jarvis Campbell singled in Ray. Jimmy Lee then cracked a three-run homer to put the Elks ahead, 5-2.

The Exchange tried to rally in the bottom of the sixth, coming up with two. Bart Greene reached on a fielder's choice and Cliff Fearington followed with a two-run homer.

Small Fry Open Year

The Red Sox held off a last inning rally by the Indians to take a 17-11 victory in the Small Fry baseball league yesterday.

The Red Sox were leading 17-3 but the Red Sox, led by Jeff Stallings and Craig Ricks came roaring back.

Paul Goodson led both teams with two hits in two trips.

In the other game, the White Sox defeated the Giants, 9-2, with Richard Pace and Timmy Moore both contributing two doubles.

Proctor's Is Upset Loser In City Loop

The idle Little Sluggers got a little help yesterday in the Purple Division of the City League as second place Proctor's was handed their fifth loss, actually knocking them into third. Gold Division leader Dainty Maid didn't have as much luck, winning, but not gaining ground on second place Four Seasons.

In the opening game at Evans One, Greenville Utilities upset Proctor's, 10-9. Proctor's scored one in the first, while GUCO came up with two. They added three more in the second to lead 5-1. Proctor's came back with three in the third, while GUCO added four to lead 9-4. They got what proved to be the difference in the fourth.

R. Eakes walked and P. Paramore doubled. A. Harris also got a double to account for the run, making it 10-9. Proctor's rallied for five in the fifth, with Gaddis homering, but fell one short.

In the second game, Hardee's took a 19-8 win over the Jaycees. The Jaycees scored two in the top of the first, but Hardee's came back with 10 in their half of the frame to win it. Grant opened with a homer and Long added another. Sugg, Bolick and Sneed all singled and Eldridge doubled. Schoettinger singled and Morgan tripled. Miller singled and Mann closed out the scoring with a homer.

Hardee's added two in the fourth with Long homering; four in the fifth, with Morgan homering, and then got three more in the sixth, with Sugg homering. The Jaycees picked up six more in the sixth.

Burger King nipped Union Carbide, 11-9, in the third game. Union Carbide scored two in the second to take the lead, then fell behind in the top of the fourth as Burger King scored three. Union Carbide added four in their half of the fourth to regain the lead, 6-3, and both teams pushed over two in the fifth to leave UC ahead, 8-5.

In the sixth, Burger King rallied for six to win it. W. House walked and L. Teele doubled. L. Smith tripled and B. Lange got a hit. B. Brooke singled and R. Calfee got a hit. A. Tyson and W. McDowell both singled to bring around Calfee with the final run, making it 11-8. Union Carbide added one in the sixth, but couldn't catch up.

In the opener at Evans Two, Balentine's downed Hallow's, 10-5. Balentine's got all they needed in the top of the first, scoring eight runs. G. Vincent doubled and M. Sawyer reached on an error. B. Angle also was safe on an error and R. Phillips doubled. J. Briley doubled and J. Phillips walked. H. Haddock singled and E. Vincent doubled, scoring on G. Vincent's double for the 8-0 lead.

Balentine's added one in the second and one in the seventh for its 10-run total. Hollow's got three in the first, one in the fifth and one in the seventh.

In the second game, Dainty Maid ripped the Daily Reflector, 28-5, scoring 17 runs in the top of the first. S. Worthington and B. Harris both walked and J. Huber doubled. C. Powell and J. Tripp both singled and D. Bonds reached on a fielder's choice. Wayne Nelson homered and G. Bunting walked. Worthington singled and Harris doubled as they started around again.

Huber singled as did Powell. Tripp doubled as did D. Foster. Bonds walked and F. B. Nelson doubled. Wayne Nelson hit his second straight homer to end the frame.

Dainty Maid added three in the second, three more in the third and five in the fourth as R. Stator homered. The Reflector got all five in the third.

In the final game, Four Seasons downed Morgan Printers, 10-6. Four Seasons got three in the first as W. Moye homered, then added another in the second as D. Sauls got a round-tripper. They added two more in the third, while Morgan scored its first on I. Arnold's homer in the top of the fourth.

Four Seasons pushed over four in the bottom of the fourth to wrap it up. W. Stasavich singled and R. Carawan got a hit. R. Vincent homered and C. Vincent tripled, scoring on T. Jordan's hit for a 10-1 lead. Morgan rallied for three in the sixth and two in the seventh as M. Beaman homered.

Mets Did Fine For Eight, But Ninth Frame Put Them In Cellar

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Abner Doubleday and Alexander Cartwright and those other oldtimers dreamed up this game of baseball, they decided that nine innings would be just about right for their little invention.

That was one inning too many for the New York Mets and that thump you just heard was Yogi Berra's ball club landing in the National League East basement.

The Mets led Chicago 2-0 for eight innings Monday night but the Cubs rallied for three runs in the ninth to take the ball game, 3-2.

But the Cubs, who continue to lead the NL East by a comfortable margin, are taking nothing for granted.

"We've traveled this road before," Cubs' captain Ron Santo said. "It's very early yet."

But it's getting late for the Mets, who are 8½ games and five teams away from first place.

In other National League action Monday night, Pittsburgh slipped out of the cellar and moved one percentage point ahead of the Mets by sweeping a doubleheader from Montreal 8-6 and 3-1, Philadelphia overtook St. Louis 7-6, Houston whacked Cincinnati 13-2 and Los Angeles shaded San Diego 3-2.

Richie Hebner and Rennie Stennett drove in three runs apiece as Pittsburgh outslugged

Montreal to win the first game of their doubleheader. Then Hebner and Al Oliver cracked home runs to help the Pirates complete the sweep in the nightcap.

Sluggo Willie Stargell, who doubled and scored Pittsburgh's tie-breaking run in the fourth inning of the second game, said the Pirates would get straightened away yet.

"Don't worry about us," said Stargell. "We'll get along if the guys on this club had never played together or weren't used to winning, maybe we'd be in trouble. The point is, we've been together a long time and we've been winning for a long time so there's no reason for us to keep on playing the lousy baseball we've played so far."

Rookie Mike Rogodzinski continued his hot pinch hitting, drilling a two-run shot in the eighth inning to lift Philadelphia past St. Louis. It was Rogodzinski's seventh hit this season, all of them in a pinch hitting role. As a starter, he's 0-for-18.

Claude Osteen, 10-3, earned his seventh straight victory for Los Angeles with ninth inning help from Jim Brewer. Ken McMullen slugged his third home run in as many nights for the Dodgers.

Houston exploded for nine runs in one inning and Ken Forsch coasted to his victory over Cincinnati. Cesar Cedeño touched off the big sixth inning with his 13th homer of the year.

Bob Watson had a three-run double and Doug Rader also drove in three with a bases-loaded double in the eighth.

In Monday's American League games, it was Cleveland 4, New York 2; Boston 2, Detroit 1; Texas 4, Oakland 2; Baltimore 4, Milwaukee 3 in 12 innings; Chicago 3, Minnesota 2; and California 5, Kansas City 2.

Little Mint Gains Ground

KINSTON—South Lenoir and the Little Mint claimed victories in the Senior Babe Ruth League last night.

South Lenoir downed the Fire Fighters, 2-0, on the strength of a no-hitter tossed by Ronnie Blackburn. The Little Mint beat Kinston, 4-0, to tighten its grip on first place in the league.

The Little Mint is now 8-2 in the league, while Kinston is 5-3. South Lenoir is 6-4, and the Fire Fighters are 0-10.

Blackburn, in tossing the no-hitter, allowed only four baserunners, three on walks and one when he was hit by a pitch. Blackburn struck out eight.

The only Fire Fighter threat came in the third when Danny Norris was hit by a pitch. Jim Buck followed with a walk and a passed ball advanced both.

South Lenoir took the lead in the third, scoring one run. Glenn Wood singled to center and Bratton Newman followed with a single to left. Kenny Baker then lined a shot to right, driving in Wood with all South Lenoir was to need.

But they added an insurance run in the fourth. Lin Hill singled to center and moved up to a stolen base. Lynn Grady singled him to third, and Hill came around when the next batter hit into a double play.

Details of the Little Mint-Kinston game were not available.

Fayetteville Tops Greenville

The Fayetteville Dark Branch tennis team gained a 5-4 victory over Greenville Sunday in the Eastern Carolina Tennis Association.

Greenville and Fayetteville both won three singles matches to decide the match with the doubles. Two of the three singles losses went three sets before being decided.

In the doubles, Fayetteville won two of the three to win the match, with the third and deciding match also going three sets.

Greenville, now 2-2, will travel to Southern Pines on Sunday, July 8 for its next match.

Summary:
Charles Hill (F) defeated Bob Marshburn, 6-3, 6-7, 6-2.
Wilkins Winn (G) defeated Roy Roach, 6-1, 6-3.
Rob Butler (F) defeated Boudre Winn, 7-5, 1-6, 6-1.
Dick Dayvout (G) defeated Greg Butler, 6-1, 6-2.
Bill Still (G) defeated Brad Miller, 6-2, 6-1.
Bob Campbell (F) defeated John Hill, 6-2, 6-1.
Roach-Hill (F) defeated Still-Dayvout, 6-2, 6-3.
Winn-Winn (G) defeated G. Butler-Miller, 7-6, 6-2.
R. Butler-Campbell (F) defeated Ed Campbell-Neal Peterson, 7-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Belvoir Downs St. Peter's Club

The Belvoir Bombers rolled to a 16-1 victory over the St. Peter's Giants Sunday in a semi-pro baseball game.

Belvoir took the lead with three runs in the second. Wade Johnson left off with a triple and scored on a wild pitch. Robert Johnson reached on an error and was sacrificed up. Jeff Daniels singled and stole second, driving in Johnson. Leon Jonson singled to score Daniels.

In the third, Belvoir pushed over five runs. Bobby Short doubled and Wade Johnson singled. Orlando Little doubled in both runners, and Robert Johnson singled and stole second. Rufus Walston reached on a fielder's choice and Leon Johnson grounded out scoring another run. Curt Sneed tripled in the final runs to make it 8-0. Belvoir added four more in the fourth, with Little tripling in two and Walston singling in another. They picked up two in the fifth as Wade Johnson slammed a homer. One more came over in the seventh and two scored in the eighth.

St. Peter's scored its only run in the fifth.

Hank Aaron, with 692 home runs, said recently he doesn't think he will break Ruth's record this year.

Perry Brothers Get Win, Loss

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry was frisked in Cleveland Monday night and brother Jim Perry got Fisk-ed in Boston.

An indignant Gaylord survived another uniform inspection by the umpires and New York Manager Ralph Houk amid renewed charges that he was loading up the baseball and pitched the Indians to a 4-2 victory that snapped the Yankees' eight-game winning streak.

Bobby Murcer, who has gripped in the past that Perry greases up the ball, was at bat when Houk called for the frisk.

"I'm 99 per cent sure that he puts something on the ball," Murcer said. "It's a slippery, clear substance and you can tell when you feel the ball. The umpires know what Perry's doing, but they've been told by the president of the league to ignore it. Their hands are tied."

Jim, who pitches for Detroit, was done in by Boston catcher

Carlton Fisk's tie-breaking home run in the eighth inning that gave the Red Sox a 2-1 triumph and stretched the Tigers' skid to eight games.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Milwaukee brewers 4-3 in 12 innings, the Chicago White Sox held off the Minnesota Twins 3-2, the California Angels beat the Kansas City Royals 5-2 and the Texas Rangers downed the Oakland A's 4-2.

Al Bumbry scored from third when Milwaukee second baseman Pedro Garcia missed a tag for a double play that would have ended the 12th inning, giving the Orioles their victory over the Brewers.

The White Sox scored their three runs off Bert Blyleven in the first inning—two on designated hitter Carlos May's double—and then stood off a late rally to defeat the Twins. Stan Bahnsen and Terry Forster blanked the Twins until the ninth when Cy Acosta pitched out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam.

Vada Pinson drove in three runs with a triple and single while Nolan Ryan fought off repeated bouts of wildness and pitched a five-hitter as the Angels knocked the Royals out of first place in the jumbled AL West. Kansas City, which only took over the lead Sunday, fell four percentage points behind Chicago.

Flu-weakened Sonny Siebert ran his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 19 and reliever Steve Foucault halted a ninth-inning Oakland rally, helping the Rangers stop the A's. Siebert blanked the A's for six innings before he tired.

The Rangers scored three runs in the third off Ken Holtzman, two on Jeff Burroughs' double. Toby Harrah homered in the eighth.

In the National League, Los Angeles nipped San Diego 3-2. Houston mauled Cincinnati 13-2. Chicago shaded New York 3-2. Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 7-6 and Pittsburgh took two from Montreal 8-6 and 3-1.

Gain Two Net Titles

ELIZABETH CITY—Four Greenville tennis players took part in the fifth annual Elizabeth City Invitational Tennis Tournament over the weekend, coming away with two titles.

Ron Hignite upset the tournament's number one seed, Marion Edwards, 6-4, 6-3, in the quarterfinals, but then defaulted to Rocky Peed in the semi-finals.

Alex Mabe then downed Peed in the finals of the men's singles, 6-2, 6-4, to win the title.

Walt Connors downed Greenville's Tom Sayetta in the finals of the men's junior veteran's singles, 6-1, 6-1.

The duo of Hignite and Wes Hankins brought back Greenville's second title, as they downed Mabe and Gil Davis, also of Greenville, 6-0, 6-4, in the finals of the men's doubles.

Hoodwinked By Crisis Theme?

Was Pope Paul VI or Dr. Margaret Mead hoodwinked by the current "crisis propaganda?" Analyze the anti-establishment college youth and see if they are earning their way through school or being overly subsidized by Papa and Mama? By GOERGE W. CRANE

Ph.D., M.D.
CASE X-542: Father Pierre is a Catholic Priest.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "I have been very much interested in the use of the current phrase, 'the generation gap.'"

"Indeed, Dr. Margaret Mead, a university anthropologist, recently accused Pope Paul VI of being 40 years out of date."

"Thus, she stated that 'His encyclicals would have been refreshing 40 years ago.'"

"Dr. Crane, Dr. Mead seems to think young people now face

"kept population."

There has always been feuding between the "have nots" and the "haves."

And thousands of our teenagers resent their feeling of insecurity that results from not being self-sufficient.

Then they indulge in buck-passing and attack the "producers" in society, including their own parents who are subsidizing their very years on the gay, luxurious campus.

But this is not a new type of friction, for read this excerpt from Page 503 in my college textbook, "Psychology Applied":

"The children now love luxury; they have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for their elders, and love to chatter in place of exercise."

"Children are not tyrants, not the servants of their households. They no longer rise when their elders enter the room."

"They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up the dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyrannize over their teachers."

Socrates made that analysis back about the year 400 B.C.

It sounds quite up-to-date, doesn't it?

Pope Paul VI is thus not 40 years out of date!

For logic and sound psychology NEVER become outdated!

In line with the convenient modern form of "crisis propaganda," many politicians, teachers and even clergymen seem to think there is something

Caverns Are Tourist Lure

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Missouri probably has more commercial caves than any other state and visitors don't have to be spelunkers to enjoy them.

One of the most popular are the Meramac Caverns at Stanton, about an hour's drive west of St. Louis on Interstate 44. There are concrete walks and lights on its five levels and guided tours.

Union forces manufactured gun powder in the caverns during the Civil War until the kilns and vats were destroyed in a raid by Quantrill Irregulars under General Price.

One of the Irregulars was Jesse James. In 1874, after the Gadshill train robbery, James and his gang eluded the posse by using the caverns as a hideout.

More recently, the caverns were the site for scenes for the musical movie version of "Tom Sawyer."

The Meramac Caverns are open year round, except for Christmas Day. Adults pay $3, children, 5-11, $1.50.

Opening lead: Ten of ♣.

West's double of South's four heart overall appeared to be "money from home" to the former. Hopes for a profit died, however, when he failed to uncover the winning defense.

West opened the ten of clubs, the suit in which his partner had preempted, and the ace was played from dummy. A diamond was led to the ace and then a small diamond was ruffed with the three of hearts and East discarded a club.

East's failure to overruff enlightened South to the fact that every missing trump was stacked behind him. West was now revealed to have started with five hearts and five diamonds. He had led the ten of clubs originally and, on the basis of East's opening four club bid, it appeared likely to the declarer that West's remaining two cards were spades.

The ace of spades was cashed and a diamond discarded from the closed hand. A small spade was ruffed with the deuce of

Fossil Trees In Deep Coal Mine

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)— Massive fossilized tree trunks, believed to be oaks which grew 300 million years ago, have been found in a deep coal mine.

Dr. Friedrich Schmidt-Bleek, a chemistry professor at the University of Tennessee, said the petrified trunks weigh six tons and are about 45 inches in diameter.

"The amazing thing to me is that these trees were found in an upright formation," he said.

Schmidt-Bleek said the well-preserved bark on the fossilized trunks suggests the trees may have been oaks.

Repeating Drug Education Study

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia (AP) — A special course dealing with education and drug dependency will be offered to all Nova Scotia teachers during this year's six-week summer school session in Halifax.

Marvin Burke, executive director of the Nova Scotia commission on drug dependency, said the course is being offered in cooperation with the department of education for the second year, due to the favorable results of last year's course. An evaluation of that course indicated "an increased awareness and effectiveness in the classroom," for those who participated.

Church School Spokesmen See Court Setback

By KRISTIN LILJEHOLM
Associated Press Writer
Parochial school officials across the country say they're disappointed by the Supreme Court's rulings against state tax and tuition breaks for parents of their pupils.

Terence Cardinal Cooke, in a statement through his New York headquarters, called the actions "a step to deny freedom of choice in education to all but the affluent." He said the rulings were "a terrible blow."

But many indicate they will continue to try other avenues, including a pending federal tax-credit plan.

In Ohio, where a similar state-aid law was invalidated earlier, Gov. John J. Gilligan called the decisions a hardship "not only for private schools, their students and families but for the whole public education system as well."

Civil rights groups praised the decisions, which they said were "more or less expected."

Joan Tuttle of the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union hailed "the court's continuing determination to maintain the wall between church and state."

In decisions Monday, the high court said New York and Pennsylvania tuition reimbursement plans and a New York tax deduction program for their non-public schools effectively furthered religion.

Thus, the plans violated First Amendment provisions on separation of church and state, the high court ruled.

Other New York programs to subsidize urban parochial schools in such health and safety expenditures as heat, lights and custodial services and state-required record-keeping also were struck down.

"We're of the opinion that, when Congress passes this and the President signs it, the judicial branch will say, 'This is the law of the land,' and will let it stand," he said.

"Schools are in trouble, but no deeper than before," said Sister Maura McDonald of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Santa Fe, N.M. Msgr. William Novicky, parochial education superintendent in Cleveland, said he will recommend that tuition be done away with. "Instead I will ask all of our people to make donations to their churches for the education of children," he said. He noted that donations are tax deductible while tuition is not.

The bill, which was reported favorably by the House Ways and Means Committee last year but has not been acted upon, again is before that committee as part of an over-all tax reform bill.

No one was predicting the closing of any parochial schools because of the decisions. But Walter Toner, director of Washington State Independent Schools, said it could mean that in time.

Disaster Aid Is Made Available

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—President Nixon has declared portions of North Carolina and Texas as major disaster areas, qualifying them for federal assistance in repairing damaged or destroyed public facilities.

Elected Class Representative

ATLANTIC, GA. — Mrs. Murphy Davis Sutherland has been elected senior class representative to the 1973-74 Student Coordinating Committee at Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Ga.

Mrs. Sutherland received a B.A. degree in religion and philosophy from Mary Baldwin College. She is a senior in the Master of Divinity degree program at Columbia Seminary. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas M. Davis of Greenville.

In asking for the North Carolina designation, Gov. Jim Holshouser advised the White House that damage estimates exceeded $25 million from severe storms and flooding that began May 27, the Western White House said Monday.

An aide to Holshouser said the designation would affect 22 counties in western North Carolina.

The disaster area designation also allows low interest federal loans for storm victims.

Chilling Harvest Of 'Mistakes' In Narcotic Raids

Fulghum Elected Next Press Institute Prexy

POSTER MAKE-UP... is the subject of concentration by Bob Fulghum and Mrs. Dorothy Phillips during a four day N. C. Scholastic Press Institute at Chapel Hill. Bob was elected incoming president of the North Carolina institute that covers high school newspapers and other high school publications.

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer

One night, two months ago, a group of armed men burst into homes in Middle America and brought terror to two families.

The men were narcotics agents, and they had made a mistake. Their error put Collinsville, Ill., in the nation's headlines and touched off a storm of indignation.

An Associated Press survey has produced a small, but chilling, harvest of similar tales.

—In January, William Pine was awakened by his daughters' screams as armed men broke through the front and back door of his Winthrop, Mass., home. He was pushed against a window with guns pointed at his head before state police realized they had the wrong house.

—Heyward H. Dyer, 22, was shot and killed Oct. 2, 1969, in his Whittier, Calif., apartment when a narcotics agent who had broken into the wrong apartment on the floor above fired a shot through the floor.

—On May 18, an off-duty Texas Department of Public Safety officer was shot to death in a raid on a Houston apartment after an informer mistakenly identified him to narcotics agents as having sold amphetamine pills.

The Nixon administration has declared "all-out global war on the drug menace." State and local enforcement has been stepped up, partly through the efforts of the Office of Drug Abuse Law Enforcement (DALE) which was set up in the Justice Department in January 1971 to carry the federal attack on drugs, particularly heroin, down to the street level.

This campaign has resulted in record numbers of search or arrest warrants and put record numbers of drug traffickers and record amounts of illegal drugs out of circulation.

But civil liberties groups and persons in the enforcement field charge that legal restrictions or operating safeguards have in some cases been ignored under pressure to produce results.

Herbert Giglotto, 29, and his wife, Louise, 28, were asleep in their Collinsville home on April 23 when a crash and some screaming awakened them.

"I take about three steps out of bed, and I see these hippies with guns. I told my wife, 'We're dead,'" Giglotto said.

Giglotto says he and his wife were knocked down across their bed and handcuffed. He was threatened with death at gunpoint as the men shouted obscenities at them. One agent flashed a gold badge, which Mrs. Giglotto only glimpsed.

When the men realized their mistake, they left without apology or explanation, Giglotto said.

Donald Askew, 40, and his wife, Virginia, 37, had just sat down to dinner that night in Collinsville when armed men began to kick their door in. Askew told his son to run for his life.

Again there were threats and no apologies before the men left, Askew said.

DALE officials in Washington say they can not comment while the case is under investigation by the U.S. attorney in Springfield, Ill., and the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division.

The Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs agents who participated in the raids under DALE's auspices were suspended, according to Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Myles Ambrose.

DALE's legal officer, Robert Richardson, said in Washington that the men were suspended with pay and were allowed to perform administrative duties without their badges or guns. "This doesn't mean that in an emergency they can't perform the duties of an agent," he said.

Since the Collinsville incident, Ambrose has sent a reminder to DALE's 41 area offices to take care in preparing search and arrest warrants and to avoid intemperate language.

The law allows agents to enter a home without a warrant if they have probable cause to believe they can apprehend someone violating the law.

BNDD, which has 1,320 agents in the United States, gives its trainees 10 weeks of classes in fundamentals of the law and enforcement techniques, including practice raids.

But DALE, which is composed of about 100 lawyers working with agents and a special federal grand jury in each of its cities, "has no opportunity to train, or retrain, agents assigned to it," Richardson said.

DALE has 465 federal agents, half from BNDD and the rest from other federal agencies, and more than 400 local or state law enforcement officers on assignment to it.

Neither DALE nor BNDD spokesmen recall incidents that led to dismissal of agents for abuses on raids.

But John Finlator, who retired in 1972 as deputy director at BNDD, thinks DALE itself was a mistake.

"The federal narcotics agents ought to deal with what they do best—interstate and foreign traffic—not the street level. They've got no business doing that. That's why you have state and local law enforcement people," he said.

Finlator said: "DALE was strictly a political thing. They were trying to prove the No. 1 problem was drugs as Nixon said. They were under pressure to produce."

After July 1, BNDD and DALE will be combined in a new Drug Enforcement Administration in the Justice Department.

Bob Fulghum, a rising senior at Rose High School, was last week elected incoming president of the North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute.

The election took place during the four day 32nd annual N. C. Scholastic Press Institute held at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Bob succeeds Andy Smith of Millbrook High School in Raleigh. As incoming president, during the coming school year Bob will be working with a staff of five officers to formulate plans for the 33rd annual press institute meeting to be held in the summer of 1974.

The new president is second page editor of the Rose High School newspaper. He and Larry Zicherman, photographer, were the two from Rose High representing the newspaper. Four students from Rose attending institute went as representatives of the school annual. These were Sheryl Buck, Kathleen Waugh, Sarah Wilcox and Annis Paschal.

Mrs. Dorothy Phillips accompanied the six Rose students as advisor and faculty representative.

Among guest speakers at the four day event were Jeff Macnelly, Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist of The Richmond News Leader; J. D. Fitz, president of the N. C. Press Association; Mark Whicker, sports writer for The Chapel Hill Newspaper; Ms. Charlene Whisnant, founder of The Red Clay Reader magazine; and Charles Cooper, photographer with The Durham Morning-Herald.

Others conducting various sessions of the institute included Mrs. Hope Mihalap, whose column "Where There's Hope" appears in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot and the Greensboro Daily News; Prof. Walter S. Spearman, UNC School of Journalism; Dr. Andrew M. Seirest, UNC School of Journalism; Mark Dearman, 1973 editor of the Yackety-Yack, the UNC yearbook; Gene Jackson, general manager of The Chapel Hill Newspaper; and Steve Miller, cartoonist with The Raleigh News and Observer.

The institute was sponsored by the UNC School of Journalism and Extension Division and the North Carolina Press Association.

Executive Is Said Missing

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—The chairman and president of the Public Service Co. of North Carolina, 56-year-old Branson E. Zeigler, has been reported missing for five days.

Police said that officials of the natural gas concern asked them Monday to issue a missing persons report after the company said it had exhausted all its means to locate him.

His brother, Charles Zeigler, said that Zeigler had not been seen since last Thursday morning when he told his 14-year-old son that he had an appointment in downtown Gastonia. The brother quoted the boy as saying that he and his father had spent Wednesday night at the family's vacation home at Tega Cay on Lake Wylie, and they returned to the Zeigler home in Gastonia shortly after 9 a.m. Thursday. The boy also was quoted as saying the father didn't go into the house because he said he was already late for his appointment downtown.

Walked Into A Moving Train

FARMVILLE—Farmville police reported that Thomas Frizzell, 44, of 207 Williams Street, Farmville, was injured Saturday at about 7:00 p.m. when Frizzell walked into a moving train on South Main Street in Farmville.

According to the police report, Frizzell was taken by the rescue squad to Pitt Memorial Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Frizzell was kept overnight in the medical service unit and released on Sunday.

Dismissal Announced

RALEIGH (AP)—Secretary of Social Rehabilitation and Control David Jones has fired Commissioner of Youth Development James Paige.

Jones announced the dismissal Monday at a news conference and said that Dr. John Larkins would replace Paige.

Jones said that Paige, a 38-year-old former FBI agent was being dismissed because of inability to get along with the Board of Youth Development and administrative ineffectiveness.

But Paige, contacted at home, had a different idea. He said his problem was that Jones had undercut him, dealing directly with subordinates in his department and refusing to make personnel changes Paige requested.

He said he had gotten along well with members of the Youth Development Board, which oversees operation of state's correctional schools for juvenile offenders.

Dr. Larkins has been a sociology teacher at Raleigh's St. Augustine College since 1964. Both he and Paige are black.
