

French Test Nears Despite Protesters

PARIS (AP) — France today warned comming planes to stay far away from the Mururoa Atoll starting Wednesday, indicating that the first blast in its hotly disputed South Pacific atomic tests probably will come late this week.

An advisory issued to civil airlines in London and Paris told pilots that a zone 200 miles around Mururoa as well as 500 miles to the east was forbidden to air navigation. In the past, such warnings were put out 48 hours before any explosion. This meant the first test could be expected anytime after Thursday midnight.

The tiny atoll test site lies 900 miles southeast of Tahiti.

The huge area of the forbidden zone caused speculation that a strong charge — perhaps as much as a megaton — will be exploded.

The warning to aircraft came just 24 hours after a similar notice to surface shipping. The Otago, a New Zealand frigate sent to protest the tests, was reported under surveillance by a French plane and a minesweeper just outside the forbidden zone.

Despite wide foreign protests, the tests are causing little stir in France itself.

One Frenchman failed to receive the usual weekly letter from his son at school in Wales because of British trade unions protesting the French test blasts.

"Good thing," said the father. "The kid would probably be asking for money."

The comment was typical of French reaction to foreign protests against the tests. Except for a minority who oppose the bomb, Frenchmen take the foreign furor as a bit of joke. Newspapers generally give perfunctory reports about the protests, and the government television network almost ignores the tests as well as the protests.

The government on Sunday warned all ships to stay clear of the test area from Wednesday on, indicating the tests are imminent. But such stories as the Tour de France cycling race, a British helicopter crash and the dollar crisis took precedence on the evening television news.

French protests against the tests have been confined to newspaper advertisements and telegrams to officials. There have been no street marches or protest meetings.

The most active boycotts have been in Australia, where the unions have imposed an almost complete ban on traffic with France. Mail and tele-

After Kenyan Capture PeaceCorps Members Are Freed

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin today ordered the release of 112 Americans detained for two days in the eastern African nation of Uganda, the U.S. Embassy reported.

Amin, an unpredictable strongman at odds with Washington, had the young American volunteers taken into custody Saturday after their plane made a refueling stop in Uganda on the way to their Peace Corps posts in Africa.

Amin disclosed the release order in a message to the U.S. Embassy in the Ugandan capital of Kampala.

American spokesmen said it had not yet been decided when or by what route the volunteers would leave Uganda.

There was no immediate indication what convinced Amin, a burly former heavyweight boxer, to let the Americans go. He had said Sunday they would be held until he got assurances from the countries to which they were heading that they indeed were Peace Corps volunteers and not "mercenaries."

The young Americans — 49 women and 63 men — spent Saturday night under armed guard at the Entebbe Airport near Kampala.

They were transferred Sunday, still under armed guard, to a hotel on nearby Lake Victoria, where they spent the evening dining and dancing with the few guards looking on.

A U.S. Embassy official with the volunteers at Entebbe said there was "no great outpouring of joy" when he told the Americans of the release order.

Shortly before the word came through, one of the Americans said by telephone he would not mind staying on at the hotel a while longer.

"Another day or two would be fine with us," said Ken Beck, 25, of Walla Walla, Wash. "We're all really having a good time. The worst is over and everyone is happy and well."

Beck described chess games, tennis matches, guitar playing and rules against straying off the hotel grounds.

"We are all eager to get to Zaire where we're going to teach, but we're all having a good time," he said.

Zaire is the former Congo.

In Washington, the State Department listed 111 as being held. There was no explanation for the discrepancy between the U.S. figure and the 112 listed by the Uganda government.

Today the Americans slept late, talked by telephone with worried parents at home and complained because there was no water in the hotel's swimming pool. There were reports, unconfirmed by U.S. officials in Uganda, that some of the young people hired taxis and went into Entebbe to shop for curios.

The Americans were bound for Zaire, the former Congo; and their chartered VC10 jet had taken off Saturday after a refueling stop at Entebbe.

Amin ordered the plane back as it neared the border, threatening it with Ugandan air force MIGs that were in the air for a flypast in honor of visiting President Albert Bongo of Gabon.

Radio Uganda said Amin suspected that the Americans might be Israelis or white mercenaries bent on adding to the tribal troubles that have neighboring Rwanda and Burundi in turmoil. The broadcast said the president had sent messages to the presidents of Zaire, Rwanda and Burundi asking confirmation that the Peace Corps personnel were expected there. He would consider releasing them only after he got this confirmation, the broadcast said.

Observers in Nairobi speculated that Amin was retaliating for Washington's criticism last week of his Fourth of July message to President Nixon accusing him of murder in Cambodia and wishing him a "speedy recovery" from the Watergate scandal. The State Department rejected the message and said it would not send an ambassador to Uganda until relations improved.

Although Amin rejected a request that the Americans be taken to a hotel Saturday, officials of the U.S. Embassy in Kampala said they were fed well at the airport, the bar stayed open all night for them and they spent the night "eating, sleeping and singing."

Mitchell's Testimony Is Next As Watergate Hearings Continue

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell met with Senate Watergate committee staff members today in preparation for his testimony at the panel's public hearings Tuesday.

Mitchell, who headed President Nixon's re-election committee at the time of the Watergate break-in last year, is expected to be asked whether he approved plans for the bugging of Democratic headquarters.

Although Mitchell previously has said he rejected the bugging plans, his former deputy, Jeb Stuart Magruder, swore to the committee that his boss reluctantly did approve such a proposal.

Sources said the committee staff also would try to learn whether Mitchell told the President anything about Watergate or efforts by high White House aides and re-election committee officials to cover it up.

In a previous closed-door meeting with the Senate committee staff, Mitchell acknowledged he was aware of payments being made to the seven Watergate defendants after they were arrested. He reportedly said it was for legal expenses. Other testimony before the committee said the funds clearly were paid to keep the men from exposing high-level involvement in the affair.

Meanwhile, members of the Senate panel have suggested that Nixon will not be subpoenaed to testify, but there was disagreement over what to do about presidential papers pertaining to Watergate.

One senator called the papers public records that "belong to the American public." Another said he was not concerned about getting the documents, that the committee could do its job without them.

Nixon has told committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that he will not appear before the panel "under any circumstances" or give it access to the papers.

On a television news-interview program Sunday, committee members Sens. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., and Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., said Nixon should make the papers available to the committee.

"I've always thought that public records belong to the American public," Talmadge said. He said the Senate should consider subpoenaing the papers if Nixon doesn't turn them over voluntarily.

Talmadge said that, while he didn't think it would be possible for Nixon to be subpoenaed, "I think a committee of Congress has a right to look at public records."

Gurney, who was interviewed with Talmadge on the ABC network's "Issues and Answers" program, said he felt Nixon should turn over to the committee all documents with either a direct or indirect bearing "on this Watergate affair and who is involved and what happened."

In Connecticut, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., another committee member, was quoted in a newspaper interview as saying that Nixon's refusal to appear or turn over the documents didn't bother him. "We're going to be able to do our job with or without him," Weicker said.

Through Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon has said that he will discuss Watergate "in an appropriate forum" after the Senate committee concludes its hearings on the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

Last week the committee, which resumes its work Tuesday with testimony from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, formally asked for permission to examine and photocopy all White House Watergate files.

In a letter to Ervin Saturday, Nixon said: "No president could function if the private papers of his office, prepared by his personal staff, were open to public scrutiny."

The papers the committee wants include documents allegedly in the White House file of former presidential aides, including John W. Dean III, fired by Nixon as presidential counsel.

Two Dead In Fiery Bridge-Tunnel Crash

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Two persons were killed and four injured at 4 a.m. today in a fiery collision involving a tractor-trailer truck and five automobiles on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

The two dead, believed to be a man and a woman, were pinned in the flaming wreckage of their late-model car when it was struck from behind by the truck, police said.

Their car had stopped, along with another, behind an automobile that had run out of fuel, according to Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel Police Chief W. C. Meyer.

Meyer said the two died instantly. Members of the Chesapeake Beach Volunteer Fire Department said they were able to pull the victims from the car only after the exploding gas tank, which engulfed the vehicle in flames, was extinguished.

The dead in the crash, originally thought to be a man and a woman, were not immediately identified. The Norfolk medical examiner's office reported, however, that both were men.

Traffic along the bridge-tunnel span was halted for nearly three hours before police and rescue crews could remove the wrecked cars.

No structural damage was suffered by the bridge, and traffic was back to normal at 7 a.m.

The accident occurred near the second island of the bridge-tunnel, about 5½ miles from the Virginia Beach shore.

The four persons injured in the other vehicles were taken to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach and released after being treated for relatively minor injuries.

Meyer said the accident happened after one car ran out of gasoline on the 17-mile-long bridge-tunnel complex, which links mainland Virginia with the Eastern Shore. Two other vehicles stopped behind it in the southbound lane.

The tractor-trailer, loaded with wheat, was headed in the same direction and struck the rear car, Meyer said.

At the same time, he said, the truck swerved into the northbound lane and sideswiped a passing automobile that had been towing a "U-Haul" trailer, plus another northbound car.

The initial impact on the stopped car caused it to damage the other two stopped vehicles, Meyer said.

The car spun around several times before being pinned between the bridge and the truck, he said.

The truck driver and the driver of the car that ran out of fuel escaped injury.

Fla. Sues Oil Groups

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin today announced the state will file suit in federal court charging 15 major U.S. oil companies with conspiracy in violation of antitrust laws.

Shevin said the action was prompted by the nationwide gasoline shortage.

The 68-page suit, expected to be filed in U.S. District Court here later today, alleges the oil companies have engaged in an illegal monopoly and unreasonable restraint of interstate trade and commerce.

Named as defendants were Exxon Corp. of New Jersey, Texaco Inc. of Delaware, Gulf Oil Corp. of Pennsylvania, Mobil Oil Corp. of Delaware, Standard Oil Co. of California, Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, Shell Oil Co. of Delaware, Atlantic-Richfield Co. of Pennsylvania, Phillips Petroleum Co. of Delaware, Continental Oil Co. of Delaware, Sun Oil Co. of Delaware, Union Oil Co. of California, Cities Service Co. of Delaware, Standard Oil Co. of Ohio and Marathon Oil Co. of Delaware.

Dropped Charges Spoil Marriage

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — A former prisoner of war who married his Army nurse says the Pentagon's dropping of charges against eight other POWs makes him feel like he "spent five years for nothing."

Army Staff Sgt. Harry Ettmueller said his future in the Army may hinge on getting a good explanation from the Defense Department as to why the charges were dropped.

Ettmueller of Long Beach, N.J., married Army nurse Ruth Wardell of Oregon City, Ore., here Sunday. Air Force Col. Theodore Guy gave the bride away. He had filed charges of aiding the enemy against the eight.

The wedding was attended by about 40 POWs who were guests at a "Florida Says Thank You" weekend. Gov. Reubin Askew served as best man.

The Pentagon announced last week it would not prosecute the charges brought by Guy.

Ettmueller was a prisoner for 61 months. He said he had talked with former prisoners who supported Guy, their commander in the camp, and were unhappy that the Pentagon had decided not to prosecute.

"I don't feel the Pentagon is justified in dropping the charges. I witnessed things in that camp I did not appreciate," Ettmueller said. "Everybody got the word about what to do, but there were a few who decided not to follow orders."

One of the eight charged, Marine Sgt. Abel Larry Kavanaugh of Commerce City, Colo., shot himself last month. Kavanaugh's wife has threatened to file suit over her husband's death.

Guy said he was not bothered by the threat of a lawsuit.

"I am not afraid of anything. If they do sue, I think it would be very unfortunate for the people I charged. I think they are better off shutting up right now. They should quit while they are ahead," he said.

Ettmueller said he met his wife while he was hospitalized at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

"We dated for about three weeks, and then she proposed to me," he said. "I thought it over for four days and then said yes."

Opening Set

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Commissioner of Agriculture Tommy Irvin today designated Tuesday, July 24, as the date for opening of Georgia tobacco markets.

He announced the date after a meeting of the Georgia Tobacco Advisory Board here.

Earlier, the Florida Tobacco Advisory Council met in Live Oak, Fla., to pool crop survey information. It is customary for Florida to accept the opening date set by Georgia, since Georgia has 23 markets and Florida has only five.

Bahamas Gears For Freedom On Tuesday

By IKE FLORES
Associated Press Writer
NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — The biggest event in the Bahamas in the 480 years since Christopher Columbus arrived takes place shortly after midnight tonight.

At 12:01 a.m., this archipelago of 700 islands and cays becomes the world's newest nation.

Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling will run a gold, black and aquamarine flag up a 42-foot flagpole, replacing the British Union Jack in independence ceremonies in Nassau's Clifford Park.

Among honored guests will be Britain's Prince Charles, representing his mother, Queen Elizabeth II. The U.S. representative, Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton, joins Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa and officials from 50 other nations in the celebrations.

On Tuesday morning, Prince Charles will read a declaration of independence from the queen, severing formal colonial ties dating 300 years.

Freedom from British rule for the 185,000 Bahamians comes in an orderly, almost anticlimactic fashion.

Pindling, elected the country's first black prime minister in 1967, calls it the culmination of "a quiet revolution" begun when his Progressive Liberal party was founded in 1953.

The black party broke the domination of the white establishment-oriented United Bahamian party in the 1967 parliamentary elections and has built its strength rapidly since then. Elections last fall gave Pindling's party 29 of 38 seats in the governing House of Assembly, and Pindling received a clear mandate for seeking complete independence from the mother country.

The British Parliament routinely approved the independence proposal last month.

Much of the credit for "Freedom Day," as most of the islanders call it, goes to Pindling, the Bahamian-born son of a Jamaica policeman and schoolteacher. The British-educated prime minister credits the influence Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. for his people's choice of nonviolence in their road to independence from white-minority rule.

Pindling says of the American black civil rights leader: "His experience and my acquaintance with him, I think, made an important contribution to our ability to put together a quiet revolution in the Bahamas."

Abernathy Quits SCLC Presidency

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy announced today he is resigning as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, primarily because of a lack of financial support.

Abernathy headed SCLC for five years, since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in April 1968.

He was frequently at King's side, going to jail with him 17 times.

Abernathy was the second president of SCLC. After he took over following King's death, he said, "They may kill the dreamer, but they can't kill the dream."

He had demonstrated many times his faith in the dream of equality and justice so eloquently articulated by King.

Abernathy, 47, stood willingly in the background until King was shot to death on a motel balcony in Memphis, Tenn.

Abernathy had said he had no desire to leave the movement. Calling King the symbol and the leader, he said, "I always wanted to stand with him and not ahead of him."

Since King's slaying, however, SCLC has been beset with financial troubles.

Abernathy also stood in the shadow of Coretta King, the civil rights leader's widow, and much of the financial support which would have gone to the SCLC has gone to the Martin Luther King Memorial Center.

Mitchell To Tell His Side

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the Nixon administration figures linked to the Watergate scandal, none was more powerful than John Newton Mitchell.

For four years, Mitchell was one of the capital's truly influential men, a close adviser and friend of his old law partner, Richard M. Nixon. Those ties gave him power far beyond his once official position as attorney general.

It's different now. On Tuesday Mitchell goes before the Senate Watergate committee to give his version of the Watergate affair. Previous testimony has tied him to both the planning and attempted cover-up of the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

And his troubles don't end with the break-in. A federal grand jury in New York has indicted him on conspiracy and perjury charges in connection with a $200,000 contribution to Nixon's re-election campaign. Mitchell repeatedly has denied he had any role in the Watergate planning or cover-up. He pleaded innocent to the charges in New York and awaits trial.

His attorneys have refused to discuss what he plans to tell the committee except to say his testimony "will in no way implicate the President."

Other witnesses have implicated Mitchell. For example, ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III and Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director of the Nixon re-election committee, told the Watergate panel they attended meetings in Mitchell's Justice Department office in early 1972 at which G. Gordon Liddy outlined a bizarre political espionage plan.

Both witnesses agreed Mitchell was horrified and rejected the proposal by Liddy, a convicted Watergate conspirator.

But Magruder said that at a third meeting, March 30 in Key Biscayne, Fla., Mitchell approved an intelligence-gathering project, specifically approval for initial entry into the Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington.

Dean and Magruder also implicated Mitchell in the cover-up.

Mitchell first came to Washington in January 1969. He quickly became the Nixon administration's symbol of a no-nonsense approach to crime.

He had left the Justice Department and was in command of the 1972 Nixon campaign, when five men, including James W. McCord Jr., campaign committee security director, were arrested in the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

In response to inquiries, Mitchell said McCord was "not operating either in our behalf or with our consent."

But eleven months later, McCord told the Watergate committee why he had taken part in the burglary:

"A very important reason to me was the fact that the attorney general himself, Mr. John Mitchell ... had considered and approved the operation."

Dollar Has Brief Rise Before Falling Again On Europe Market

LONDON (AP) — The dollar recovered some ground on European money markets today after the continent's central bankers hinted their governments might protect the American currency but fell again when no intervention developed.

The dollar opened in Frankfurt at 2.3250 marks, 8½ pfennings above Friday's close. Dealers reported "extremely small" demand; and after an hour of trading, the price dropped back to 2.2850 marks.

"The situation remains extremely unstable," said one key foreign exchange banker.

The rate opened nearly 2 percent up in Zurich at 2.75-2.77 Swiss francs, then plunged back to 2.695-2.71 by noon, below Friday's close of 2.705-2.72.

"Everyone had expected an intervention," said a Zurich banker. "That's why the dollar shot up in the morning. It did not come, so it came down again."

The volume of trading in Zurich was reported relatively large and hectic.

In a parallel development, gold opened at $125.25 an ounce in Zurich, down $1.50 from the close Friday, then rose to $126. The opening price in London was $124.50, down from $127, and dealers said market was "highly cautious and jumpy."

The dollar also made a comeback in Paris, buying 3.96-4.00 commercial francs in bank-to-bank transactions, up from 3.86-3.89 Friday. Trading there was slow, however.

The weak British pound slipped slightly against the dollar, from $2.555 Friday to $2.5525 at the opening today. But the pound rose against the mark, Europe's strongest currency, from 5.73 marks Friday to 5.98.

In Tokyo, the dollar rose two yen at the opening to 264, then was driven down to 254 before the close by a false rumor that the European markets would be closed today. This aroused fears that the Japanese government would be forced to close the Tokyo market also, and the demand for U.S. currency evaporated.

Although the European central bankers said they had agreed on a plan to support the beleaguered dollar, France's finance minister said it was up to the United States to act first.

The Nixon Administration so far has ruled out American intervention to aid the dollar since its fall last week to record lows in Europe. U.S. officials contend that the dollar is undervalued and that normal economic forces will bring a turnaround.

The central bankers met Sunday in Basel, Switzerland, for their regular monthly meeting. But instead of saying nothing for publication as usual, they ended the meeting with a 150-word communique which they apparently hoped would check the fall of the dollar when the currency markets opened today.

The central bankers said "the necessary technical arrangements are in place" to support the dollar. But they did not indicate when their governments might authorize intervention.

Believe Nixon Was Involved

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Gallup Poll says 71 per cent of Americans it questioned believe President Nixon was involved in the Watergate bugging or cover-up but only 18 per cent feel he should be compelled to leave office.

The poll of 1,451 persons was taken June 22-25. It also said that 98 per cent of those questioned were aware of the Watergate scandal, indicating a growing awareness since a survey last September, when 52 per cent said they knew about Watergate.

The poll said American opinion above Nixon's knowledge of Watergate has changed little since the last Gallup survey

June 1-4. The most recent poll was taken after it became public that former presidential counsel John W. Dean III would testify that Nixon knew about the cover-up but before Dean actually testified before the Senate Watergate committee.

Those polled were given series of statements about Nixon's connection with Watergate and asked which most closely matched their opinion. The were also asked whether Nixon should be compelled to leave office.

Tanaka's Party Holds Own In Nippon Election

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Despite unfavorable opinion polls, Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's conservative party held its own today in municipal elections here considered a weathervane for parliamentary elections next year.

Although the newspaper polls predicted it would lose 13 seats, Tanaka's Liberal-Democratic party retained its 51 seats in the Tokyo Metropolitan Assembly and remained the largest faction in the local legislature.

A predicted upsurge for the Communists and Socialists—leftist Gov. Ryokichi Minobe's chief backers—failed to materialize. The Communists did pick up six seats, but the Socialists only managed to hold on to the 20 they had previously.

The polls also tabbed Komeito, the political arm of the Buddhist Sokagakkai lay group, as a loser. Instead, it gained a seat, while the moderate Democratic-Socialists continued a downward trend by losing two of the four seats they had.

The new division in the 125-seat assembly is Liberal-Democrats 51, Komeito 26, Communists 24, Socialists 20, Democratic-Socialists 2 and independents 2.

Gains in last December's election for the lower house of parliament and victories in some big cities had persuaded the leftists they were on the upswing. They expected to profit from public anger over mounting damage to the environment, rising prices and inflation. They believed the Tokyo elections would be the springboard for further gains in the election next year for the House of Councilors, the upper house of parliament.

Pollution has not abated—Sunday was the sixth day of smog alert in Tokyo—and inflation is as bad as ever. But the prospect of defeat appeared to have prodded both the Liberal-Democrats and Komeito to campaign harder.

The outcome was a shot in the arm for Tanaka, whose personal popularity has plummeted from a high of more than 60 per cent in opinion polls last July to around 15 per cent this month. The Liberal-Democrats had a popularity rating of 21 per cent in a poll released today.

Tanaka said in a telecast that the bleak prospects given by the polls forced the conservatives to dig in. He said that, by the election next year, he will have curbed the price spiral and fully restored confidence in his party.

Reformers Face An Uphill Battle

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—As former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford sees it, Democratic Party reformers face an uphill battle.

In an interview, Sanford, who heads a Democratic Charter Commission, predicted flatly that a national party enrollment plan, a loyalty oath scheme and a quota system will all be rejected by a charter conference which meets next year to adopt a permanent charter for the Democratic Party.

Sanford, president of Duke University, was less certain about what the conference will do with a proposed national party conference which would be held in the middle of every presidential term.

"I don't have a firm opinion on what will be done about the policy conference idea," Sanford said. He said he found the idea attractive but that the proposal had aroused opposition.

As for a quota system to ensure fair representation for minorities at party meetings, he said:

"There is no sentiment for quotas in some states. In others, the pro-quota sentiment was expressed primarily by women ..."

Sanford said that the charter commission, which will propose a charter to the charter conference, may be able to sidestep the controversial quota question.

He said a party commission is working on convention delegate selection and the charter group might simply adopt the guidelines suggested by this commission.

The charter commission, which consists of 164 members appointed by the Democratic National Convention, expects to hold hearings eventually in about half of the 50 states.

"I find very little support for a highly centralized party," said Sanford who has spoken with many party leaders and chaired hearings in Iowa, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Vermont and Maine.

"I don't think we'll have a highly centralized party, nor should we," he added. "We overcentralize in our national government, so I don't see why we should overcentralize in our party."

Watergate Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The three television networks will provide live coverage of this week's Senate Watergate committee hearings on a rotating basis.

ABC will cover the resumed hearings at 10 a.m. EDT Tuesday, when former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell is scheduled to begin testifying.

Live coverage will shift to NBC on Wednesday and to CBS on Thursday.

Under the rotation agreement, each network has the right to decide to carry the hearings live on any day.

Tar Heels Are Among Prisoners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lou Bello, a sportscaster with WRDU television in Raleigh-Durham, was covering the Tar Heel Regatta at Lake Wheeler on Sunday afternoon, but his heart wasn't in his work.

"I was out there in body," he said, "but that was about it. I couldn't help thinking about Gerry — that it was his birthday and that he was so far away."

Bello's son, Kenneth G. "Gerry" Bello, 22, of Raleigh, and two other young North Carolina residents were among 111 Peace Corps volunteers who were held captive Sunday in Kampala, Uganda.

Among the captives, besides Bello, were Harry W. Bailes of Albemarle and Patricia A. Dean, 22, of Raleigh.

Miss Dean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Dean.

Bello and Miss Dean were in Uganda on their way to teach English to French-speaking residents of Zaire, beginning Sept. 14 after a three month training session.

Early Sunday afternoon, the Bellos and the Deans received word from the Peace Corps about the incident, along with a progress report.

"When we first heard the news over breakfast, we thought the worst," Bello recalled. "But we realized there was nothing we could do."

Bello, formerly a well-known Atlantic Coast Conference basketball referee, described himself as a fatalist and said he believes that "everything happens for the best." Mrs. Bello confessed frustration because she couldn't help her son.

The younger Bello, a political science major, was graduated from Davidson College in June. He considered going to law school, his father said, but decided to join the Peace Corps like several of his other college classmates.

"Gerry thought the Peace Corps would be an interesting challenge," Mrs. Bello said. Her husband said Gerry is "a very intense young man. He strongly believes in service and that's why he joined."

Patricia Dean's sister, Sandy, said Miss Dean's reasons for joining the Peace Corps were similar to those of young Bello. "She looked to the Peace Corps as an exciting challenge. She was especially looking forward to teaching."

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony On Saturday

Miss Gail Case Weds Michael Wayne Clark Saturday

Miss Donna Novella Gonzalez and Raymond Andrew Coghill were united in marriage Sunday at 3:00 p.m. in Parkers Chapel Free Will Baptist Church by the Rev. Harley Brown and the Rev. Phillip Jones, uncle of the bride.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Garis Harrison of Rt. 6, Greenville, and Mrs. Jimmy Sawyer and Mr. Raymond Coghill, both of Greenville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Phil Cooper, organist, and Randy Johnston, guitarist. Miss Ealine Vernelson sang "Twelfth of Never," "My Cup Runneth Over With Love" and the "Wedding Prayer." Mr. Cooper sang "Whither Thou Goest."

The church was decorated with a fifteen branch candelabra with an arrangement of summer flower flanked by two nine branch spiral candelabra with palms and greenery. The couple knelt for prayer on a kneeling bench and family pews were marked with satin bows.

One three branch candelabra was used during the ceremony with the bridal couple lighting the two outside candles as they entered the church. After the wedding vows were spoken, the extinguished the outside candles after lighting the center one together.

Given in marriage by her step father, the bride wore a gown with a molded bodice of chantilly lace with a scooped neckline and empire waist which were outlined with Venice lace. The full skirt was of silk organza over peau de soie with bishop sleeves.

Her two tiered cathedral length veil was attached to a headpiece trimmed with matching lace, designed and made by Mr. J.T. Roebuck. She carried a spiral bouquet of mixed summer flowers and daisies.

The honor attendants were Mrs. Frances Sutton of Greenville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Nita Gonzalez of Greenville, sister of the bride. They wore pink formal length gowns designed with low necklines with a collar trimmed in rose, white and pink hearts and puff gathered short sleeves. They wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of summer flowers.

Bridesmaids were Cindy Coghill and Carolyn Coghill, sisters of the bridegroom, Debbie Jones and Nancy James, cousins of the bride. Elizabeth Ann Harrison, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Their rose formal length gowns and headpieces were styled similar to those of the honor attendants. They carried long-stemmed daisies with greenery.

Miss Tammy Kay Harris of Greenville, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and was dressed like a miniature bride in a white polyester formal length styled like those of the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of summer flowers.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Bobby Harris, aunt of the bride.

MRS. RAYMOND ANDREW COGHILL

Steven Ray Jones, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Danny Gonzalez of Greenville, Rudolph Edwards and Louis Bonds, uncles of the bridegroom, Kenneth Tetterton and Randy Sutton.

The mother of the bride selected a light blue polyester crepe dress trimmed in matching lace. The dress was styled with an empire waistline and stand-up collar with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations with a touch of blue. The mother of the bridegroom chose a yellow dress with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations with a touch of yellow. Grandmothers were remembered with corsages of daisies.

Patricia Roebuck, who presided at the guest register, wore a multi-colored formal gown and a corsage of daisies.

For a wedding trip to the mountains, the bride changed into a pink polyester dress and wore her mother's corsage.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of North Pitt High School and is employed at King's Department Store. The bridegroom attended Rose High School and Pitt Technical Institute.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall given by the bride's parents.

FOUNTAIN—The First Free Will Baptist Church located at King's Crossroads was the scene of the Sunday wedding of Miss Lillian Gail Case and Michael Wayne Clark.

The Rev. L. B. Manning conducted the double ring ceremony at three o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Martha Robbins of Rocky Mount, pianist, and John Williams of Wilson, soloist, presented a program of wedding music.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Celon Edgar Case Jr. of Rt. 1, Fountain, and Mrs. Helen Culifer Clark of Rt. 4, Greenville, and the late Mr. George Jackson Clark.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Jerry O. Bailey, of Rt. 1, Fountain. She wore a formal gown of silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a set-in midriff and had a scoop neckline enhanced with motifs of lace and pearls and long sleeves ending in bridal points. The skirt, softly pleated from the sides, featured a scalloped panel of re-embroidered alencon lace sprinkled with pearls. The full chapel train was complemented at the back waist with triple loops bordered with scalloped lace.

Her bouffant veil of French silk illusion was attached to a princess crown of lace petals outlined with pearls and crystals. The bride carried a bouquet of American red beauty roses.

Mrs. Rachel Bailey of Fountain, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Anna Mooring and Miss Betty Jo Frizzelle, both of Farmville, and Miss Sandy Barnes of Fountain.

The attendants wore formal dresses of multi-floral silk print chiana crepe. The molded bodices were styled with square necks extending to lowered backs with brief puffed sleeves. The semi-control skirts with soft back fullness stemmed from the lifted waistlines under sash-belts of white accented with back bows with long streamers.

Bands of floral print encircled the crowns of their wide brim white picture hats of silk braided straw. The honor attendant carried two bronze mums and the bridesmaids each carried one bronze mum.

Alvin Clark of Tarboro, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were David Ray Price of Rt. 1, Fountain.

Budget Includes More Manpower

One of the things that might be overlooked in the city's big $5,286,284 proposed budget for 1973-74 is the additional manpower it authorizes to carry on the work of a steadily expanding city.

City Manager W. H. Carstarphen's budget called for the addition of 31 positions in all departments of the city. The budget calls for the addition of positions to the police department to provide for a police community relations unit. Increasing the number of patrols was recommended to provide six patrol zones in the city rather than the present four. A juvenile officer would be added within the detective and narcotics division.

In the fire department the addition of three fire fighters, one rescue officer and one fire prevention inspector was recommended along with the creation of a full-time training officer position.

The budget calls for the addition of a position in the inspection department and the addition of two men in the animal control division. It would create the position of chief inspection for coordination of the building and housing inspection programs.

In public works, the position of assistant sanitation superintendent would be created and in the newly created Landfill division a heavy equipment operator would be authorized.

A four member general work crew in street maintenance is called for in the budget for the street department.

For recreation City Manager Carstarphen recommended the addition of three full time and eight part-time positions. Included would be a recreation supervisor for the exceptional, a landscape foreman and laborer to work on city parks and property. The part-time people are required to staff the planned new municipal pool.

Recommended was the new position of finance officer and purchasing agent and the addition of one clerical position. An administrative assistant in the City Manager's office was recommended for personnel management, supervisory training, budgetary control and administrative research.

Carstarphen recommended the consolidation of engineering and planning functions in one department, the creation of the position of assistant city engineer and the addition of supporting clerical and drafting services.

It is interesting to note, that the budget shows some departments are not now up to their authorized strength. The uniform patrol division of the police department, for instance was authorized 56 positions in 1972-73 but the budget shows an actual strength of 48. Based on that, another ten men will be needed to bring the department up to the proposed 58 for 1973-74.

The proposed reorganizations and increased strengths of the various departments show a recognition that better supervision and organization is needed if the city functions are to be operated at peak efficiency.

Bee Business For Everybody

By LYNNE WOGAN
(The Raleigh Times)

RALEIGH—Bees, like those little one buzzing in your backyard, could be making enough honey to keep your family supplied with honey all year.

It's just a matter of putting them to work. And that is what Dr. Russell Walton has done since he was a child.

Now the Raleigh dentist is the father of four children. And extracting the honey is practically a family tradition. They rob the hives in the backyard each July 4.

Usually Charles, 12, helps his father with some assistance from young brother, Lee, 8.

A heated knife is used to scrape excess wax from the hive frames before placing them in the large, barrel-like honey extractor.

After placing the honey-laden frames in the extractor, the boys take turns turning the crank with help from their sister, May, 10. Martha, 6, likes to watch and chew on the honey-flavored wax.

The extractor flings the honey from the frames. "The children go after that wax just like it were chewing gum," said their mother, Margie.

Dr. Walton explained that February is the ideal time to start a hive, and it can be done for under $50.

Equipment Needed

The equipment required includes:

—Protective clothing including elbow-length gloves and a helmet with net that covers the face.

—One hive which includes a bottom board, brood chamber, queen excluder and several supers where the honey collects.

—About three pounds of bees and a queen.

—A smoker to calm bees when you go to remove the honey.

—A honey extractor which comes in various sizes.

—A hot knife.

Dr. Walton suggests keeping equipment to a minimum to simplify the operation. And he suggested purchasing only standard pieces which can be easily expanded or sold.

He said commercial beekeepers usually re-queen, replace the queen bee, each year, but he re-queens about every three years as the queen's egg laying capacity tapers off.

"It's a good project for people in the city. 'Just don't put the bees in a place where people walk and they won't bother you a bit,' he said. 'There are a lot of flowering trees and flowering shrubs in the city where bees gather nectar.'"

His father likes to use the honey in homemade wheat bread, cakes, over pancakes with butter, on hot biscuits, in Russian tea, over cereal and a number of other ways.

Wine Made From Honey

Dr. Walton has even made a wine called mead from it. He said the honey has different flavors depending on where the bees have gathered the nectar. Some of their favorite places are maple, locust, poplar, gum and persimmon trees, blackberry plants and clover.

"Predominantly honey comes from hardwoods in the Raleigh area," he said.

Bees travel in a mile and half to a three-mile radius. "Bees don't nearly harvest what nectar there is available. It flows so fast in the spring," said Walton.

Then you get another nectar flow in the fall."

He said you generally get 50 to 75 pounds of honey from one hive. "If you have a good year, you can get up to 200 pounds. But that is something to talk about."

Dr. Walton currently has about 10 hives and is in the process of expanding.

Many Ways to Keep Bees

He said there are "10,000" ways to keep bees. Everyone just has to find the way that best suits him.

"And there are different kinds of bees. The large, Italian kind are the most gentle."

When working with bees some rules of thumb are to wear something white or at least light and never wear wool, felt hat or black socks, which attract bees.

Nixon Survival Plan In 'Bind'

By ROWLANDE EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Trying to chart President Nixon's strategy for surviving Watergate, his advisers are confronting this tormenting dilemma: how can he disengage from former lieutenants H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman without dangerously antagonizing them.

That's because the real, though long-shot, threat to Mr. Nixon is seen in Washington and San Clemente as coming not from John Mitchell's testimony before the Ervin committee next week but from later appearances by the President's two loyal intimates, Haldeman and Ehrlichman. Mr. Nixon must avoid being linked tightly to the Watergate cover-up, essentially a White House and campaign committee plot that ex-campaign manager Mitchell apparently knew little about. So, it is Haldeman and Ehrlichman who could finally destroy their chief with a few moments of testimony, improbably though that might seem.

Our close Nixon adviser gives this appraisal of the situation: there is no way Haldeman and Ehrlichman, praised by Mr. Nixon May 22 as paragons of virtue, can avoid indictment. The President, therefore, dare not let his defense to theirs. But neither dare he blame them for the scandal for fear of a murderous backlash from them. He must continue to target John W. Dean III as the cover-up conspirator.

The memorandum given the Senate a week ago by White House counsel Fred Buzhardt clearly violated that strategy by predicating the President's innocence on the Haldeman-Ehrlichman defense. Usually tight-lipped presidential aides were voluble in bemoaning the blunder.

"One thing I know about John Dean," a knowledgeable Nixon aide told us, "is that he never did anything without orders from Haldeman and Ehrlichman." Thus, he reasons, the Buzhardt memo's fatal flaw is its attack on Dean while simultaneously accepting the Haldeman-Ehrlichman defense. Indeed, Buzhardt's chief in the counsel's office, Leonard Garment, let it be known he was most unhappy about the memorandum's under lying thesis.

Some Republicans outside the White House believe the memorandum reflected the influence of Haldeman-Ehrlichman holdovers clinging to their jobs on the presidential staff. But inside the White House, it is attributed more to incompetence and confusion, legacies of the Watergate crisis. "This is just lawyerly stupidity," says one non-lawyer on the White House staff.

But if Haldeman and Ehrlichman are not to be defended, they are surely not to be attacked. Dean, expert on White House intrigues, has said privately that the two former chief lieutenants would turn on the President if he repudiated them. That view is shared by several former White House aides who believe that fear alone would stop the President from accusing Haldeman and Ehrlichman of wrongdoing.

Younger staffers at the White House, so incessantly lectured by Haldeman and Ehrlichman on the imperatives of loyalty, cannot believe they would abandon their own teachings even to save their skins. Haldeman in particular, his ties with the President older and closer than Ehrlichman's, is regarded by former subordinates as a Nixon loyalist to the bitter end.

But the President's advisers are taking no chances — as ex-special counsel Charles W. Colson is showing by his television talk-show defense of the President (and incidentally himself). His friends report he believes Haldeman and Ehrlichman, never high in his affection, cannot save them selves. Yet, while lashing mercilessly at Dean, Colson coolly disregards Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

But can the President possibly ignore whether his two alter egos were or were not deeply involved in illegal activity? The temporary

NEW TRUTH?

There are some people who have a perfect passion for anything new or novel. Nothing gives them such delight as to find out that an accepted creed is outworn and can be replaced by something new which constitutes the real truth.

Actually, all new manifestations of truth grow out of truths which are old and well-established, just as every new branch of a tree grows out of a larger branch which in turn stems from the trunk of the tree. In this sense there is no such thing as "new" truth. What we call new truth is really only a recently recognized aspect of old truth. The way to satisfy ourselves that the recent discovery is truth indeed is to ascertain whether or not it is in harmony with the old truths which have stood the test of time.

Every great thinker in history has built on the truths discovered by his predecessors. As a recent novelist has said, "You cannot successfully navigate the future unless you always keep framed beside it a small, clear image of the past."

The News In Cambodia

WASHINGTON — Tung Dat, who lives in the village of Bomb A Gen outside of Phnom Penh in Cambodia, came running out of his hut the other morning and shouted, "Good news! Good news!"

The villagers gathered round. "What is your good news?" asked Nu Dong.

"I just heard on the radio that President Nixon and Congress have reached a compromise and we can only be legally bombed by United States planes until Aug. 15."

"That's good news?" Nu Dong said.

"Well, it could have been worse. You see, Congress didn't want to let the President bomb at all. At the same time the President insisted he needed the bombing to implement the Indochina cease-fire. It reached a point where there was going to be a constitutional crisis."

"Fortunately, cooler heads prevailed and everyone agreed it was all right for the President to bomb us for another month and a half — and that was it."

"What happens if the B-52s bomb our village in the next month-and-a-half?" the schoolteacher Won Low asked.

"I guess that's just tough luck," Tung Dat said. "Look, I would just as soon the President stop the bombing tomorrow, but he had to save face with Congress. If he agree to cease the raids because of pressure from The Hill, it would have made him look very weak. The question that we all have to answer in this village is: Do we want our homes intact, or do we want a weak President of the United States?"

"You make the choice very difficult for us Tung Dat," an old man said.

"I would rather have my home," Grandmother Ling Lang said.

"Hush, old woman," Tung Dat said. "Do you realize that this extension of the bombing

Boyle Views Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is the weaver and memory is the tapestry it weaves.

And what a wonderful tapestry every human life is. It is a pageantry of heydays and gray days, tremulous moment-sand dull years, idle dreams and transient agonies that seemed perpetual while they lasted.

HAL

Life has woven you an extensive memory pattern if you can look back and remember when

Lydia Pinkham was a household name, and a bottle with her picture on it was on the shelves of more U.S. homes than any other product.

Farmers said corn had to be "knee-high by the Fourth of July" or they were in for a bad crop yield.

About half of a housewife's energy in summer seemed to be spent in fighting or trying to get rid of houseflies. For getting rid of them on the front porch, there was nothing better than an agile old man in a wheelchair with a wire fly swatter.

A mother had to serve biscuits or cornbread at every meal — or else what would the menfolk and kids have to sop up the bacon grease or gravy with?

Only rich men or dudes had a shirt laundered after wearing it just a single day.

There were more husbands in American who slept in their underwear than in pajamas. When the children first started going barefoot in summer, mother sighed. She knew that within three days one of them would come home, hobbling and wailing with the agony of a stubbed and bleeding toe.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who tried to hit songbirds with a slingshot.

A good neighbor was a lady who lived next door and always had a cup of whatever you needed to borrow in an emergency.

Those were the days — remember?

Quotes

"Put fear out of your heart.

This nation will survive, this state will prosper, the orderly business of life will go forward if only men can speak in whatever way given them to utter what their hearts hold—by voice, by posted card, by letter, or by press. Reason never has failed men. Only force and oppression have made wrecks in the world."

— William Allen White.

for another month-and-a-half could affect the entire peace of the world? If Cambodia falls to the Communists, then they will be encouraged to foment other civil wars in other countries. The security of the Free World could depend on what American air power does with their bombs in the next month-and-a-half. Be proud that Nixon has chosen us to defend his doctrine in Southeast Asia. If he can go through what he's been going through for the last few weeks in the Watergate hearings, we can put up with a few hundred thousand-ton bombs."

"Tung Dat," Sing Fom, the priest, said, "we have been bombed for a year and it hasn't seemed to do any good. How can we believe that another month-and-a-half of bombing our village is going to change the course of the war?"

"Because," said Tung Dat, "if Nixon and Kissinger know they have only a month-and-a-half to bomb, they're going to bomb like they've never bombed before. You give them a deadline like that, and they'll blanket the skies with B-52s. I wouldn't be surprised if by August you are not able to recognize Cambodia."

"And we're supposed to be happy with that?" Nu Dong asked.

"Why can't you people understand? If the President had been prohibited from bombing us as of this week, he intended to veto all the money bills sent to him by Congress. Nobody would have been paid in the United States. The entire government machinery in American would have ground to a halt. Would any of you have wanted that on your conscience?"

"I'd rather have that on my conscience than those bombs," Grandmother Ling Lang said.

"You can say that, old woman," Tung Dat retorted, "but you're not an American and you wouldn't have to suffer."

Grandmother Ling Lang was about to reply when the villagers heard the roar of the air planes.

"Here they come again," Nu Dong cried.

Everyone ran to their bomb shelters. Phase 1 of the Nixon-congressional compromise had begun.

answer seems to be yes, by a plea of ignorance.

In the wake of his unfortunate memo, Buzhardt was telling newsmen that the White House is simply confused about the Watergate facts. Colson says again and again the President still does not know what is going on. The White House counsel's office complains it lacks resources to get to the bottom of Watergate now that the Justice Department has been made virtually independent of presidential direction.

Even Nixon loyalists find it hard to swallow the idea of total presidential ignorance about what his own staff was doing. That lame defense also confirms frequent criticism, previously denied by the White House, that Mr. Nixon has been isolated not only from the outside world but from his own staff's operations.

A defense based on ignorance cannot last forever. Sooner or later, Mr. Nixon will have to publicly judge the two to whom he delegated unprecedented power. If he exonerates them, he risks sharing their fate. If he indicts them, the virtues of loyalty which became such a cult in happier days of Haldeman and Ehrlichman will be given a test of fire.

In other words, the investor today is generally considered by government and industry officials to be better protected than he was five or three years ago. But some brokers complain that the customer doesn't know it.

Here is a typical complaint heard in the financial district here, expressed by two men who asked to be described only as "two Wall Street leaders," a timidity typical of those who work in regulated industries.

"The public would be a lot more reassured if they had more information about SIPC, but SIPC has rules and regulations that make that difficult. It's almost im-

DEAR ABBY: I quote from your column: "Dear Abby: My mother has been very sick for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year or die tomorrow. My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home. Should we go or not?"

I'm glad you threw the problem right back into her lap, Abby. That's a decision everyone must make for himself. My own beloved mother suffered a series of strokes and was confined to bed, totally helpless.

My brother and I took turns staying with her for nine years, day and night, and neither one of us worried about a vacation. When one of us would walk into Mama's room, the sunshine of her smile was "vacation" enough for us.

God called her home last Christmas.

NO REGRETS IN ALLIANCE, OHIO

DEAR NO: Another Ohioan had the same problem. Read on for her solution:

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman whose mother lingered so long with a terminal illness that she and her husband didn't dare to take a much needed vacation reminded me of my own situation.

We, too, had six years of the identical situation. Finally we made arrangements with a funeral home to keep mother's body until our return if she died while we were away. Then we felt free to go.

It turned out that mother passed away while we were home, so it wasn't necessary for the funeral home to grant our request. But for four years we went away on our vacation with a clear conscience, and heaven knows it was our salvation.

MARION, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: The population of this town is 1,200. There is to be a wedding here soon. Two hundred and fifty invitations were sent for the service and reception.

Some of those invited do not know the bride and groom or their parents very well. Two friends of the bride's mother organized a shower with a guest list of 80 women. Again, many invited were practically strangers.

The two hostesses of this shower gave telephone lists to several women, who were supposed to invite the guests by

Holshouser Names Four To Budget Commission

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser has appointed four men to the powerful North Carolina Advisory Budget Commission, including former Congressman Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton.

The governor planned to be on hand in the state Administration Building today for the swearing in of new commission members at its first meeting since the 1973 General Assembly doubled its size.

Those appointed by the governor, in addition to Jonas, included State Sen. Harry S. Bagnal of Winston-Salem, State Rep. G. Hunter Warlick of Hickory and Lawrence Z. Crockett of Raleigh.

The four Republican appointees named by the governor will join eight Democrats named from the General Assembly on the commission which is charged with the responsibility of preparing proposed state budgets for submission to the General Assembly and other fiscal responsibilities.

Jonas, 68, who is known throughout North Carolina as "Mr. Republican," stepped down from Congress last year after serving 10 terms. He developed a reputation as a fiscal authority during his long years of service on the House Appropriations Committee.

Bagnal, 45, is a Winston-Salem lumber dealer and is a veteran of four terms in the General Assembly. He was Senate minority leader in the 1969 and 1971 sessions.

Warlick, 41, is an attorney and former lecturer in business law at Lenoir-Rhyne College. He is the present House minority leader.

phone. They agreed to do so.

The night of the shower there hadn't been a single regret, so 80 women were expected. A hall was rented and chairs and tables set up, and food and drinks were on hand for 80. Only 15 women showed up, including the bride-to-be, her mother, and the hostesses!

I was there, and it was the saddest, most embarrassing shower I've ever witnessed.

We later learned that the women who accepted the telephone lists disapproved of this kind of shower. So they just didn't call anyone. They also didn't bother to tell the hostesses of their decision.

Some women who were not called said they would have come. Others said they were glad they were not called. Regardless of the rights and wrongs of such a shower, who was responsible for this humiliating event?

AN INTERESTED PARTY

DEAR INTERESTED: Obviously, the women who accepted the telephone lists and decided not to call anyone, but failed to advise the hostesses of their decision were responsible. Shame on them.

Endorses No Fault

ASHEVILLE (AP) — The North Carolina Bar Association has endorsed no fault auto legislation that would provide motorists with "substantial no fault benefits without precluding the right of the individual to sue for complete recovery of losses."

At the closing session of their 75th annual convention Saturday, the lawyers also endorsed a proposed amendment to the North Carolina Constitution providing for the merit selection of judges.

Lexington attorney Walter F. Brinkley was named president-elect of the association and will take office next year.

Parking Study Being Conducted

A study of parking characteristics, demand, and existing facilities is currently underway in Greenville in a study being carried out by the firm of Wilbur Smith and Associates, Inc. of Winston-Salem under a contract with the Greenville Parking Authority.

When complete, the study will result in a report and recommendations concerning the adequacy of public parking facilities within the Central Business District and a physical and financial plan for implementing a public parking development program.

According to City Manager William H. Carstarphen, the field studies now underway include an inventory of existing facilities and evaluation of their current usage. Also, it will include interviews with individuals shopping and working within the Central Business District area.

Following an analysis of information gathered, Carstarphen indicated that the City Parking Authority expects to receive recommendations concerning potential sites for additional parking facilities, costs estimates for construction, and estimates of revenue generated by the new facilities.

This information will be contained in a report scheduled for presentation to the Authority in November of this year.

The area being studied by Wilbur Smith is the seventeen block CBD area bounded by Second Street, Reade Street, Reade Circle, and Greene Street.

The current study and recommended program are being carried out as a part of the City's Urban Redevelopment Program for the Central Business District area.

Putt-Putt Drive Pleases Sponsors

WNCT Radio and Greenville Putt Putt raised over $600 for the benefit of North Carolina's mentally retarded citizens in the first annual Putt Putt Golf Festival, with more donations coming through the mail.

The fund-raising campaign was the result of a proclamation by Gov. James E. Holshouser, Jr. declaring June 23 through July 1 as the first annual Golf Festival in North Carolina. WNCT contacted the Greenville Putt Putt Golf Course, which agreed to co-sponsor the benefit and donate all entry fees to the course during two hours each night of the period to the charity. Tournaments were sponsored and children from the Caswell and the Butner schools for the mentally retarded were invited to play putt putt at the course. All the money raised was donated to the North Carolina Association for Retarded Children, an organization which offers consultation services to parents who face the problems of mental retardation and supports research to discover the causes and prevention of retardation.

Gene Trent, program of WNCT said, "Response to the festival was overwhelming. Nothing like this had ever been attempted by the radio broadcast media in this area so we didn't know what to expect. Bad weather hampered us somewhat, but overall, response was tremendous. Greenville Putt Putt, especially manager Richard Rainy, were more than kind in co-sponsoring the event. They put everything they had and more into making this a success. We hope to make this into an annual event, as we had so much response this year."

Congress Back From Holiday

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is returning from an extra-long Independence Day recess to such unfinished work as Watergate, all of the big money bills for the new fiscal year, and long-range farm legislation.

The Senate returned today and the House is due back Tuesday from a recess that began June 30.

The televised Senate Watergate hearings resume Tuesday with testimony scheduled from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

The first big issue on the Senate floor this week concerns efforts to clear a legal obstacle to building the Alaska oil pipeline.

A massive general farm bill is set for action on the House floor.

Other pending legislation ranges from campaign reform and minimum wages to presidential war powers. Congress also is expected to move toward final action on the regular appropriations bills to finance the government during the fiscal year that started July 1.

Although the lawmakers have not completed work on any of these big money bills, they adopted a resolution June 30 allowing the agencies to continue spending at last year's levels through Sept. 30.

The pipeline dispute facing the Senate involves an argument over energy needs and the environment, with the plan's backers saying it would relieve the nation's shortages by tapping vast oil resources in Alaska.

Draft End Criticized

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Retired Gen. William Westmoreland, former Army chief of staff, says the United States "moved too fast in eliminating the draft."

Writing in the Sunday edition of the Los Angeles Times, Westmoreland said a lottery system draft should be maintained to permit quick mobilization and to ensure that service personnel will represent all levels of American society.

Tobacco Quotas Being Mailed

W. F. Tyson, chairman of the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced that notices of farm acreage and poundage quotas for flue-cured tobacco are now being mailed to farm operators.

Tyson said that the notices are sent in advance of the July 17 marketing quota referendum so that farmers will know how the vote decision will affect their individual operation.

The chairman added that revised notices adjusted to reflect undermarketings or overmarketings of 1973 quota will be sent to farm operators after 1973 crop marketings are completed.

The acreage-poundage quota program for flue-cured tobacco has been in effect since 1965. The upcoming referendum will decide whether the program is to continue for the 1974 through 1976 crops.

Tyson said that the program is open to all eligible participants, without regard to their race, color, religion, sex or national origin. All producers 18 years of age or older are eligible to vote if they share in the 1973 flue-cured tobacco crop or its proceeds.

Where no tobacco is produced in 1973 on a tobacco allotment farm, only the owner and operator are eligible to vote.

Under the program, growers may carry undermarketings from a short crop over to the next year, it was explained. Growers may also market up to ten per cent over the farm's poundage quota, penalty-free, by deducting the difference from next year's crop. Price support on up to 110 per cent of a farm's quota is available if a grower does not exceed his acreage allotment.

"If two-thirds or more of the growers voting approve tobacco quotas for the next three years the program will continue with acreage allotments, price supports, and penalties on excess tobacco marketed above 110 per cent of farm quota," Tyson said.

He added, "If more than one-third of the voters disapprove quotas, there will be no marketing quota to limit production and no price support for the 1974 crop. In that event, a similar referendum will be held next year."

Charged In Gun Death

A 26-year-old Rt. 6, Greenville man is in Pitt County Jail after being charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of a Rt. 6, Greenville woman early Sunday morning.

Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies arrested Thomas Earl Williams late yesterday afternoon and charged him with the murder of Lillie Mae Hill, 47, who was shot at her home near House's Station around 5 a.m. while lying in bed.

Sheriff Tyson, who reported that Mrs. Hill died of a gunshot wound in the left eye, said that her granddaughter was asleep in the same room at the time of the incident. The granddaughter, who ran for help following the shooting, was not injured.

The sheriff said that an autopsy was performed.

Nixon In Kansas City Today For Swearing In Of New FBI Chief

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon flies to Kansas City today for the swearing-in of Clarence M. Kelley as director of the FBI.

Nixon planned to speak briefly at the afternoon ceremonies at the Federal Office Building in Kelley's hometown.

It was the President's first public appearance since June 15, when he went to Pekin, Ill., for the dedication of a memorial congressional research center honoring the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

A public turnout was expected for the occasion, with Missouri Gov. Christopher S. Bond on hand and Chief Judge William H. Becker of U.S. District Court in Kansas City administering the oath.

Kelley, 61, is a 20-year veteran of the FBI. He has been Kansas City police chief since 1961.

Kelley takes over from the current acting director, William D. Ruckelshaus, former head of the Environmental Protection Agency.

In winning Senate confirmation, Kelley promised he would cooperate in drafting new legislation to bring the FBI under closer congressional scrutiny than it had during Hoover's service, which dated back to the inception of the FBI in 1924.

Nixon was returning to Washington a day before the Senate Watergate committee resumes its hearings after a Fourth of July holiday recess.

The President notified the committee over the weekend that he would not testify before it nor turn over any presidential papers.

Nixon has been at the western White House for 17 days. He came here June 22 to continue his summit talks with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Russian Space Team Arrives

HOUSTON (AP) — Thirty-four Russian space experts, including 10 cosmonauts, arrived at the Johnson Space Center early today for a three-week briefing on a joint U.S.-Soviet space flight.

The Soviet delegation flew into Houston's Intercontinental Airport and was taken to the apartments at the space center where they will live during the visit.

The cosmonauts include the prime and backup crews for the space link-up scheduled for mid-July 1975.

A spokesman at the center said the Russians will spend most of their time here in classroom briefings the American Apollo hardware and on flight plans for the linkup.

"But there will be no actual training on hardware while they are here," the spokesman said.

Each member of the Soviet technical staff will be paired with his American counterpart for detailed briefing, the spokesman said.

Several members of the United States crew for the mission will visit the Soviet Union this fall for familiarization with the Russian spacecraft.

No public ceremonies were planned today to honor the Soviet delegation, but the Russians probably will be guests at a formal dinner before they leave, the spokesman said.

He added that American astronauts also plan a series of informal dinners in their homes for the cosmonauts.

Stone Is Not So Good A Place As He Used To Be

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the past six years, George Stone was in the best possible place when Hank Aaron went to the plate—on the Atlanta roster.

On Sunday, however, Stone, now a New York Met, turned up in the worst possible place when Aaron went to the plate—on the mound.

Stone's baseball met Aaron's bat and became a souvenir, not once, but twice. The 39-year-old Aaron hammered home runs Nos. 695 and 696 (22 and 23 on the year) and the Braves defeated the Mets 4-2. He's now only 18 career homers shy of Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 4-0; Houston topped Montreal 9-7; San Francisco edged St. Louis 5-4; San Diego beat Chicago 4-2, and Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 3-2 in 12 innings.

This is the era of audience participation. Spectators vote for their all-star teams and become part of the show at the theater, and now the Montreal fans are getting into the act.

They stopped the show in the top of the fourth by panning the performance of Houston left fielder Bob Watson, who had collided with Tim Foli at the top of the inning.

The 6-foot, 175-pound Foli was carried off on a stretcher with a broken jaw after attempting a tag play on Watson, a 6-foot-3, 205-pounder who was moving to second on Doug Rader's ground ball.

The left-field critics provided their instant analysis, showering Watson with softdrink cans. But the show must go on, so umpire Shag Crawford warned that any batted ball striking the debris would be ruled an automatic out.

Cesar Cedeño, however, was the star of the show, make that game, belting two homers in the Astros' come-from-behind victory.

Cincinnati shut out Philadelphia on Jack Billingham's four-hitter and Phils' Manager Danny Ozark, in turn, shut out the press.

Ozark invoked his form of freedom from the press after the game for 38 minutes, blasting his club for "lazy play."

Willie McCovey, who has been relegated to the role of spot starter and pinch hitter during Charlie Fox's youth movement, entered the game in the fourth after Gary Maddox was hit by a pitch and went three-for-three with two RBI to key the Giants' victory.

Rookie left hander Randy Jones pitched a four-hitter and singled in a run in San Diego's two-run eighth which lifted the Padres to their victory.

Willie Davis ended a 12-inning affair with the Pirates with his 12th homer of the year. The Dodgers have defeated Pittsburgh in eight of their last nine meetings.

In the American League it was: California 10, Cleveland 4, then the Angels 5, Indians 3 in 10 innings; Milwaukee taking two from Texas, 6-4, 7-3; Chicago 6, Boston 1, then the Red Sox 11, the White Sox 2 in 10 innings; Detroit 3, Kansas City 0; New York 7, Minnesota 0 and Oakland 6, Baltimore 5 in 10 innings.

Stockton Wins At Milwaukee

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A three-foot par putt—which he said was a little bit discourteous—nailed down Dave Stockton's victory Sunday in the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

"The courteous thing," Stockton explained of the putt, "would have been to let Homero (Blancas) putt first. And he was playing second."

"But it was my option. I can putt out any time I want to. And I wasn't of a mind to stand around and look at that three-footer while somebody else lined up a putt."

"I wanted to get it in the hole," he said.

He did. It preserved a one-stroke victory—the sixth of Stockton's career and first in two seasons—and was worth a $26,000 first prize.

Stockton, who won the first Milwaukee Open in 1968 and took the PGA national title in 1970, won with a one-over-par 73 in the muggy heat of the final round and had a 276 total, 12 under par on the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course.

Blancas—who made a five-footer on the last hole after Stockton had dropped his winner—and Hubert Green tied for second, just one back at 277. Blancas and Green each had 68s, but it wasn't close until Stockton bogeyed the 17th hole from a bunker.

Canadian George Knudson, with a 67-278 was fourth while veteran Bob Goalby took a 74 and 279.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, U.S. Open champ Johnny Miller and Masters titleholder Tommy Aaron were among those who bypassed this tournament to get an early start on preparations for the British Open, which begins Wednesday in Troon, Scotland.

Here are the top final scores and money winnings:

LOUISBURG — East Carolina's Rick McMahon and John Narron each hit home runs Sunday but the Pirates came up a run short as they lost an 12-11, 11-inning marathon to Louisburg.

The Pirates banged out 15 hits while Louisburg rapped out 20. The Buc had scored first with one in the second but Louisburg went ahead in the bottom of the inning with two. East Carolina tied it at 2-2 with a run in the fourth but six runs in the Hurricane half gave Louisburg a strong lead.

The Pirates hacked away at the gap and drew within two, 8-6 with four tallies in the eighth. Louisburg added a lone run in the bottom of the frame but ECU came up with five, aided by Narron's and McMahon's blasts to move in front by 11-9. Louisburg sent it into extra innings as they rallied for two in the ninth and the winner came across in the eleventh.

ECU's McMahon doubled to open the second. He moved to third on a passed ball and scored on a sacrifice fly by Russ Smith. Louisburg got two to take the lead in the bottom of the frame. Glenn Card boomed a home run to tie it and Glenn Gentry reached on an error. Another error let him score.

Smith singled in the fourth, was sacrificed to second and sent to third on a hit by Dave Larussa. Jim Paige flew out to score Smith.

Louisburg did not let the score stay tied long and struck for six runs and the lead. Gentry reached on an error and moved up on an out. Howard McCullough singled to drive in Gentry and he scored on hits by Steve Bryant and Al Breed. Mike Wilkerson singled to move Bryant to third. An effort on the play let Bryant score and both Breed and Wilkerson move up a base. Lindsay Ethridge rocked a homer to score Breed and Wilkerson.

It stayed that way until the eighth when the Pirates cut the lead to 8-6. Greg Fulghum singled and Paige followed with a hit. Carl Summerrel reached on an error to load the bases and a walk to Bobby Harrison scored Fulghum. Troy Eason walked to score Paige and a hit by McMahon brought in Summerrel. Smith walked in Harrison.

Breed walked for the Hurricanes in the eighth and scored on a hit by Gentry to give Louisburg a 9-6 lead. But ECU turned things around and they moved in front in the ninth. Joe Heavner walked but was caught in a double play. Summerrel singled and Harrison followed with a walk. Eason singled to drive in Summerrel. Narron brought them in with a homer and McMahon followed that up with his shot.

Reavis walked for Louisburg in the bottom of the ninth and Bryant reached on an error moving Reavis to third. Breed sacrificed in Reavis and another sacrifice scored Bryant. That tied it up, 11-11.

Heavner singled in the tenth and went to second on a sacrifice. Summerrel walked but no one scored. Arrowood doubled in the Hurricane half but he failed to score.

Narron walked and moved to third on McMahon's hit but a pop up and a force ended the inning.

Then in the bottom of the 11th, Breed led off with a walk and Wilkerson got a hit. Ethridge also singled and that drove in Breed with the winning run.

McMahon had four hits to pace the Bucs while Summerrel had three. Larussa and Paige each had two. Ethridge had six hits for the Hurricanes while Card and Bryant had three apiece. Gentry and Arrowood had two each.

Mrs. King Versus Bobby Riggs?

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The old lady of tennis, after wrapping up the fifth Wimbledon singles title of her career and capturing two other crowns at the prestigious event, would now like to wrap up Bobby Riggs.

Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., who at the age of 29 calls herself the "old lady" of the sport she continues to dominate, said Sunday after the 1973 Wimbledon championships concluded, "That's three more Wimbledon titles...and now for Bobby Riggs."

The 55-year-old Riggs, winner of the Wimbledon men's crown in 1939, easily defeated Australian Margaret Court earlier this year in a $10,000 challenge match.

After the victory over Margaret, he claimed he could beat any woman player in the world, including Billie Jean.

Mrs. King, who in addition to claiming the women's singles for a postwar-record fifth time also won a ninth women's doubles crown and recorded her third Wimbledon mixed doubles championship, said she is ready for Riggs whenever he gives the word.

King's three victories sent her soaring past Suzanne Lenglen, who won 15 Wimbledon tities. Mrs. King now has 17. She completed her 1973 Wimbledon success Sunday by winning the mixed doubles with Australia's Owen Davidson. They beat Raul Ramirez of Mexico and Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-2 in the final.

Billie Jean, who had a long layoff from tennis earlier this year, reached her peak for Wimbledon. She said her first set against Chris Evert in the women's singles final Saturday was the best she had ever played.

She still needs to win the Wimbledon singles crown three more times to equal the record of Helen Wills Moody, who took it eight times.

But how much longer will Billie Jean compete in the world's top tournament?

"I have played too many Wimbledon to make any predictions," she said. "I know that if you look ahead too far that is when you begin to lose."

Insure yours.

Herzog Catches Varmint In Center Field Stands

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Texas Rangers—law enforcement kind—usually get their man, and Manager Whitey Herzog, the baseball version, is no exception.

Herzog also got a double defeat Sunday at the hands of the Milwaukee Brewers 6-4 and 7-3, but thinks he may have caught a couple of varmints in the act of stealing the Rangers' signs from a small chalet high in the center field bleachers.

Umpire Bill Haller ordered a man with binoculars out of the chalet and told mascot Bernie Brewer to take off his white gloves.

"I asked Jackie Moore, my first base coach, to keep an eye up there because he had a better angle and he thought he saw a guy up there with binoculars," Herzog said. "I couldn't figure out why that other guy had no white gloves on when we bat but put them on when they came to bat. Then he'd clap like hell every time we called for a breaking pitch. He called the right pitch six times in a row."

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees trounced the Minnesota Twins 7-0, the Boston Red Sox whipped the Chicago White Sox 11-2 in 10 innings after dropping their doubleheader opener 6-1, the Oakland A's nipped the Baltimore Orioles 6-5, the Detroit Tigers blanked the Kansas City Royals 3-0 and the California Angels took a pair from the Cleveland Indians 10-4 and 5-3 in 10 innings.

The Yankees rocked Eddie Bane, the Twins' bonus rookie fresh out of Arizona State University, for eight hits in 3 1-3 innings in his second big league appearance and his first defeat as a professional. Mel Stottlemyre hurled a four-hitter while Thurman Munson and Roy White homered.

Bob Montgomery's granu slam homer highlighted Boston's nine-run 10th inning against Chicago in their nightcap. Carlos May drove in three runs with a homer and double and Buddy Bradford homered as the White Sox ended Boston's five-game winning streak in the opener.

Gene Tenace's 10th-inning homer off Baltimore's Bob Reynolds came after both teams rallied in a wild ninth inning. The Orioles took a 4-2 lead into the ninth but Bert Campaneris started a three-run Oakland rally with a single, Sal Bando doubled and Reggie Jackson's infield hit produced one run. Jackson stole second and Deron Johnson delivered a two-run single.

The Orioles tied it in the bottom of the ninth on two-out singles by Brooks Robinson, Boog Powell and pinch hitter Al Bumbry.

Willie Horton doubled home Detroit's first run against Kansas City and Aurelio Rodriguez and Mickey Stanley added run-scoring singles in support of shutout pitching by Mike Strahler and John Hiller.

Wilson's American Legion team eliminated Greenville's Post 39 yesterday from further play in the Area I play-offs as they rose a seven-run sixth to a 10-4 victory.

Wilson had taken the first game of the best-of-three series Friday in Wilson with an 8-1 win. Sunday, Wilson exploded in the sixth for seven runs and added three more in the eighth. Greenville had gone ahead early with two runs in the first and one in the second but could not recover after the sixth.

Wilson will move into the semi-finals of the Area I playoffs to face the winner of the Rocky Mount-Snow Hill series which starts tonight.

Greenville put two runs in the first. J.C. Daniels led off with a double to right. Stanley Cobb walked and both were moved up on a wild pitch. Bill Lee singled to drive in Daniels with the first score and Cobb, who had gone to third, scored on a sacrifice fly by William Woolard.

With two out in the second, Lee Cherry walked on a 3-2 count. He went to second on an error and scored on a triple by Daniels to left.

Greenville put two more on in the fifth but failed to score. Daniels had singled and Robert Brinkley followed with a hit. The throw-in to second got by the Wilson defender and Daniels broke for third. John Cook, the Wilson pitcher, threw to third to get Daniels by almost 20 feet.

Wilson had been limited to just a pair of scratch singles by Cherry until the sixth. They finally got to him in the sixth and it proved costly. Cook reached on an error that let him go to third. Robbin Rose walked and Billy Bradshaw reached on an error that scored Cook. Ricky Bass walked and after Rose scored on a wild pitch. Jay Morris doubled to right to bring in Bradshaw and Bass. By this time, Vic Corey had come in to relieve Cherry.

Keith Stutts reached on the third error of the inning letting Morris score. Joe Murray moved Stutts to third with a single and Murray stole second. Cook, back up a second time, singled to right field scoring Stutts and Morris.

Three more came across for Wilson in the top of the eighth. With two down, Stutts doubled and scored on a single by Terry McFatter. An error on the play let McFatter go to second. A passed ball moved him to third and Cook singled in McFatter. Cook stole up and an error on the attempt let him come all the way around.

Greenville loaded the bases in the eighth but without a run scoring. Cobb, Al Heath and John Barwick all singled but a pop-up and a ground out ended the frame.

Then in the ninth, Greenville started a rally but it was choked off on a double play. Donnie Haddock singled as did Daniels and Brinkley. Cobb, however, hit a hard liner to short and the ball went to second then first for the two outs. Haddock scored on the play but the threat died off there. Daniels led all the hitting with four in five at-bats. Brinkley had a pair for Greenville. Bradshaw, Bass, Morris and Cook each had two for Wilson.

Palmer Has High Hopes For Open

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer, returning to the scene of a famous victory in the British Open golf championship, scanned Troon's sandy links with the look of a man who can win again.

The 43-year-old veteran from Latrobe, Pa., said, "The course is drying very fast and getting almost like it was 11 years ago. The greens are excellent. I'm hitting the ball reasonably well."

Palmer's optimism, couched as usual in cautious tones, cheered fans gathering for Wednesday's start of the 102nd British Open over the 7,064-yard, par-72 links beside the Firth of Clyde.

Many remember how Palmer came to Troon in 1962 at the very peak of his golfing glory and tamed the course with a 72-hole total of 276 for a six-stroke victory. That score, 12 under par, stands to this day as a record for the British championship.

Hundreds of Scottish golf addicts were on the course to watch Palmer play his first practice round after flying in Sunday.

British bookies rated Jack Nicklaus as 7-2 favorite to win the title, worth about $13,750 in cash but immeasurably more in prestige and spinoff endorsements.

Nicklaus, a 33-year-old master golfer, has already captured the British crown twice.

Defending champion Lee Trevino, scored favorite at 6-1, was aiming to become the first American to win the title three times in a row.

ECU Student Gets Grant

CHARLOTTE — Scholarship awards totaling $1500 were presented today to three North Carolina college students by News Election Service on behalf of the North Carolina County Boards of Elections.

The wards were earned by the County Boards of Elections through their cooperative efforts in arranging to report vote totals to News Election Service in the 1972 General Election.

News Election Service (NES) is the organization established by the five major news-gathering organizations to collect and tabulate returns for President, U.S. Senate, Governor and U. S. House races in all states.

The members of NES are ABC News, The Associated Press, CBS News, NBC News, and United Press International. NES was organized by those companies in 1964. Its purpose is to collect and tabulate a single, accurate set of election returns for broadcast and publication throughout the nation and abroad.

The recipients of the awards, each in the amount of $500, are Carol Tysinger of High Point, who will be attending High Point College in the fall, Garnet Leigh Bass of Nashville, a student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Joseph M. Vaughan of Murfreesboro, a student at East Carolina University in Greenville.

Young George Times Charges Goes Show Biz Friend Aided

By J. PAUL TILL

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Sandy-colored hair hangs over his collar, and a mustache curves about his lips. But George C. Wallace Jr. says his father, the Alabama governor, doesn't seem to mind very much.

George Jr. wants to be an entertainer. He admits an interest in government but says, "I'm not motivated by it. I'd like to make my own footsteps. I can't think of anything else that fulfills me as much as music. It's really my life."

Young Wallace, 21, became interested in entertainment when he started playing the guitar in the sixth grade. He's been doing it ever since and temporarily has given up business courses at the University of Alabama so he can pursue a music career.

George Jr. feels he's on his way to success in entertainment. He recently signed a contract with MGM Records. His first recording under that label was released Friday, "There Will Never Be Anyone Else But You" and "Why Don't They Understand?"

The Alabama governor joined with his son in announcing the release. "It's a happy day for me and for my son, George Jr. I'm very proud of his song. I like it."

George Jr. often entertained for his father on the campaign trail. Some describe his music as "progressive country." Some call it "contemporary."

During an interview, the young bachelor said his hair doesn't cause any problems at home. He said his father "talks about it" but "I got him to let his hair grow a little longer, and, who knows, maybe I'll get him to grow a mustache."

George Jr. didn't write his latest songs but says he wants to write some in the future. "I've gotten into writing, and it's really opened me up," he said.

Will his name affect the record's success?

"I want the record to be judged on quality and talent and not, one way or the other, by the name," he said.

Child Dies In Blaze

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A 3-year-old Gastonia boy died of burns Sunday afternoon after he overturned an open gasoline container and set a nearby water heater on fire earlier in the day.

Authorities said Kyle Taylor received burns over most of his body after the fire broke out in a utility room adjacent to his house where he was playing alone.

Mrs. Margaret Taylor told authorities she heard her son's cries and ran to his aid. The boy died about 5 p.m. at Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

The request for an investigation eventually was turned down by a deputy assistant attorney general, The Times said.

Another Justice Department official, the only one involved who would comment on the case, told The Times he was not aware of any outside pressure to stop the investigation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Two years ago, Justice Department officials overruled staff recommendations for an investigation of pricing practices of a firm owned by President Nixon's friend Robert H. Abplanalp, The New York Times reported today.

It was confirmed by the White House in May that Abplanalp, a multimillionaire, had loaned Nixon $625,000 in 1969 to help buy the President's estate in San Clemente, Calif.

The Times said antitrust lawyers in the Justice Department's New York office urged that the Abplanalp firm's books be investigated following a 1970 complaint by one of its competitors.

The Abplanalp company, Precision Valve Corp. of Yonkers, N.Y., manufactures valves for aerosol spray cans. The competitor contended that a rebate scheme by Precision involved predatory pricing.

The official, Barry Grossman, assistant chief of the evaluation section in the department's Antitrust Division, said the investigation was not started because it could not be justified, the newspaper said.

According to The Times, Rep. Bertram Podell, D-N.Y., claims to have a copy of a memorandum in which another high department official told then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell of plans to proceed with the investigation unless Mitchell ruled otherwise.

Podell said on Sunday that he planned to ask special Water-gate prosecutor Archibald Cox why an investigation of Precision, "once approved, was thereafter killed and what was the consideration, if any."

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The pilot of a single-engine airplane was injured when his plane crashed and burned in a wooded area shortly after taking off Saturday afternoon from the Goldsboro-Wayne Municipal Airport.

T. Sgt. Nelson Striplin was thrown through the plane's windshield, investigating officers said. He was listed in satisfactory condition at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base hospital.

The cause of the crash, about a quarter mile from the airport, was not immediately known.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1 — Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one diamond, and you hold:
♠74 ♠1065 ♠Q1085 ♠K94
What is your response?
A.—There is only one bid that gives an accurate description of your holding—a raise to two diamonds. A response of one heart on a suit headed by the jack is pointless. If this hand belongs in hearts, partner must have sufficient values to introduce the suit over your diamond raise.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q104 ♥65 ♠763 ♠AK632
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Two spades. The holding 10 points in support of spades, the top limit for a single raise, your hand is worth only one bid. If you respond two clubs and partner rebids two spades, you will not be sure whether to pass (and conceal your good trump support) or bid three spades (and so overbid considerably). A raise describes your hand in one bid and might encourage partner to make a move.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K104 ♥AQ72 ♠Q5 ♠AJ76
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—This is a strong hand and could produce a slam if partner has the right values. To learn more about his holding, you should make a tempoizing bid of three clubs. When a major has been bid and supported, a return by responder to opener's minor suit is a one-round force. This gives both partners the maximum room to explore for a perfect fit.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQ32 ♥A2 ♠AQJ ♠KQJ
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. The jump raise of an opening bid of two in a suit, by convention describes a hand with good trump support but no ace, king or singleton. Therefore, a slam would be a poor proposition. You have to lose the ace of clubs and would still have to negotiate the red suits without the loss of a trick. Even a successful diamond finesse might not be enough.

Q. 5 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK652 ♥AJ ♠AQ3 ♠KQ8
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 2 NT Pass 4 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—This hand has 23 high-card points and a good five-card suit. Consequently, it is a maximum for an opening bid of two no trump, and you should accept partner's slam invitation. We recommend a bid of five spades, showing your five-card suit and giving partner a choice of six spades or six no trump as the final contract. Six no trump runs a close second.

Q. 6 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q10532 ♥43 ♠K62 ♠964
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dbble. 1 ♠ Dbble. Pass Pass 2 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Taking your penalty double of one spade into account, partner should have a fair idea of your holding. You have done your duty, so sit back and relax. If you trust your partner, a bid of two spades—to play, of course—is an alternative.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠752 ♥AKJ1064 ♠A ♠A93
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Dbble. Rdbl. Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—You should seize this opportunity to show the nature of your heart suit and to make it emphatic that you hold a fine take-out double. You can convey this by jumping to two hearts. This is not forcing, it begs partner to take action on the slightest pretext. Don't bid a mere one heart—partner may think that you are simply getting out of one diamond redoubled.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ84 ♥KQ1042 ♠6 ♠A82
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ 1 NT 2 ♦ 2 ♠ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Don't even contemplate doubling. Partner has shown a weak hand with long diamonds—with a good hand he would have made a penalty double of one no trump. With the no trump bidder over you, your cards are badly placed.

Q. 9—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ84 ♥KQ1042 ♠6 ♠A82
The bidding has proceeded:

Export Drain Costs Consumer CLASSIFIED

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A huge export drain on U.S. farm products, mainly wheat, corn and soybeans, is adding an extra $2 billion to consumer food bills this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Even with the freeze announced by President Nixon last month, retail food prices are expected to climb at least 12 per cent this year. Department analysts say at least 1.5 to 2 per cent of that increase can be linked directly to farm exports.

In all, food spending may rise to $135 billion this year from about $125 billion in 1972. Higher prices are the main reason for the $10-billion boost, but there are more mouths to feed too. And they are eating more.

That means, according to the analysts, that at least $1.75 billion of the expected increase in spending can be traced to higher prices caused by the biggest flood of farm exports on record.

For the year that ended June 30, the shipments totaled more than $12 billion or 50 per cent more than in 1971-72. Higher prices accounted for part of the gain, but the amount of farm products ordered by foreign countries has soared, too.

The effect has been to deplete reserves of grain and oilseed, prompting the Nixon administration to restrict further exports of soybeans, oil and similar products until new crops are harvested next fall.

The exports also have contributed to higher feed costs, forcing slowdown and even cutbacks in the nation's output of meat, poultry and dairy products. A further complication has been the price freeze, which growers and processors blame for a reduction in profits needed to spur production expansion.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics for USDA, says he does not think the United States is embarking on an era of permanent export rationing, despite the current curbs on soybeans and other high-protein feed.

"I hope not, and I labor to see that it does not occur," Paarlberg said in an interview.

"When we need exports as much as we do in order to improve our trade balance and to show that the dollar is a worthwhile currency, to restrict our exports is a very serious matter," Paarlberg said.

The big trigger was the sale last year of 440 million bushels of U.S. wheat, one-fourth the 1972 crop, to the Soviet Union. Russia also took upwards of 275 million bushels of corn and about 40 million bushels of soybeans.

Those sales were important to U.S. farm exports in 1972-73, but, even at a value of $1.1 billion, accounted for little more than one-fourth of the jump in value of commodities sold to foreign customers.

Japan and Europe, experiencing huge demands, as in the United States, for more and better food, were big buyers. Through last April, in the first 10 months of the fiscal year, Japan bought $1.89 billion worth of products, up 89 per cent from a year earlier.

The Common Market countries bought $2.91 billion worth in the same period, up 42 per cent from a year earlier.

Put another way, wheat exports last season totaled about 1.2 billion bushels, just as the new crop started to come in on July 1. Compared with 1972 wheat production, exports took about 75 per cent.

A record wheat crop is expected this year, maybe 1.7 billion bushels or more. But the reserve on July 1 was down to about 425 million bushels, the smallest in six years.

Corn exports are expected to total more than 105 billion bushels, about 20 per cent of last year's crop of 5.55 billion bushels. Production this year may be near a record of 6 billion bushels, although some officials think it might be less because of late planting last spring.

Soybean exports currently are expected to be about 700 million bushels, including equivalent shipments of meal, nearly 60 per cent of last year's record crop of 1.282 billion bushels.

Meantime, here is what has happened to farm prices of the three big commodities:

In June 1972, wheat averaged $1.33 per bushel. Last month, it was $2.43 nationally, the highest in 25 years.

A year ago, corn was $1.13 per bushel. In June, it was $1.99 per bushel, also the highest in 25 years.

Soybeans in June last year brought farmers $3.32 per bushel. Last month, they averaged a record $10 per bushel. Meantime, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, here is what happened to some key food items whose production depends on grain and oilseeds:

In May 1972, hamburger averaged 73.5 cents per pound in retail stores nationally. In May 1973, the most recent month studied, it was 94.6 cents.

Other examples: Sirloin rose from $1.47 per pound to $1.75; bacon, 91.2 cents to $1.20; pork chops, $1.15 to $1.46; frying chicken, 40.5 cents to 58.4 cents, and eggs, 49.5 cents to 67.7 cents.

There are many complicated reasons for food prices going up, and farm exports by no means are the only factors. But economists say they can prove that most of the farm price increase for grain and oilseed the past year has been as a result of soaring exports.

Farm exports have been a keystone of Nixon administration agricultural policy. By developing overseas markets, officials have said, farmers can produce in a free market and rely less on the government.

The United States is the biggest farm exporter in the world, but only in the past decade have farmers come to rely so heavily on sales abroad.

In 1953, total farm exports were valued at $2.8 billion. By 1963, they hovered at about $5.5 billion. In 1964, then went to $6.3 billion, a record then, and have risen most years since.

Farm Scene

By EDWIN L. YANCEY

The key to fall gardening is timing the planting period. If planted too early, the hot summer temperatures may cause failure. If planted too late, frost may get it. The following chart gives dates for all planting that should give good results:

Crop	Eastern North Carolina	How
Snapbeans	July 25 - Aug. 10	Direct seed
Beets	Aug. 10 - Aug. 30	Direct seed
Broccoli	July 20 - Aug. 5	Direct seed
Brussels sprouts	July 15 - July 30	Direct seed
Cabbage	July 15 - Aug. 10	Direct seed
Cauliflower	July 15 - Aug. 10	Direct seed
Leaf lettuce	Aug. 15 - Sept. 20	Direct seed
Turnips	Aug. 1 - Aug. 30	Direct seed
Rutabagas	July 15 - Aug. 5	Direct seed

All of the above crops can withstand light freezes (except snapbeans) without serious injury. Insects are plentiful and have keen appetites in late summer and fall. Extension leaflet No. 177, Insect Control for Vegetable Gardens is a complete guide that gives the latest recommendations. For your copy, contact the County Extension Office.

Many vegetables, especially the long season ones such as tomatoes, okra, butterbeans, etc. need additional fertilizer periodically. Sidedress uniformly along the row or around the plant. Make sure the garden is kept moist but not wet.

Backyard Tip—Water temperature inside a garden hose that has been laying in open sun can be very hot. It can seriously burn people or plants. Be sure it is running cool before spraying plants or children.

Compost piles need moisture so don't let your dry out. The break-down of organic matter is faster in summer when temperatures are high. Keep the pile turned and moist.

Too Much Voting Convoy Reaches Phnom Pehn, Bothers Congress Another Highway Cut By Rebels

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen are voting more but enjoying it less this year, leading to a move in the House to cut down on roll calls.

Supporters of the effort say the House's new electronic voting procedure makes voting so easy it is being abused. Opponents argue it is a distaste for going on the record so often that is behind the complaints.

Whatever the reason, the move threatens to undercut one of the House's most prized recent reforms—permitting record votes on amendments when the House is sitting as a legislative committee. Before the rule went into effect in 1971, members could vote without the home folks knowing their position.

It now takes the support of 28 members to get a record vote on an amendment. A proposal up for consideration in the Rules Committee this week would raise the number to 44.

Drive To Save Old Newspapers

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — A group of newspaper executives is conducting a $500,000 fund drive to help maintain the American Antiquarian Society's massive collection of old newspapers.

The society's library here contains copies of three-quarters of all the newspapers printed in the United States before 1821. It is the largest collection of early American papers in the country, according to the society's director, Marcus A. McCorsion.

Income from the $500,000 fund will be used to hire staff to help scholars use the newspapers, as well as preserve papers and acquire new ones.

"We have more than two million issues, and scholars use the newspaper collection more than any other single collection at the library," which also contains old pamphlets and books, McCorsion said.

"What we want to do is be able to better staff that collection with people who can better organize it, make additions to it and deal intelligently with readers who come to the library."

The fund drive is being directed by Richard C. Steele, president and publisher of the Worcester Telegram and Gazette.

Steele, a member of the society, said about $100,000 has been collected so far and the drive should be concluded by the end of this year. He said that, before it is finished, every daily newspaper in the nation would be asked to contribute.

Other members of the fund-raising committee are Leland J. Adams, assistant general manager of the Worcester Telegram and Gazette; Richard H. Blackledge Sr., publisher of the Kokomo, Ind., Tribune; D. Tennant Bryan, publisher of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch and News Leader; Frederic B. Farrar, senior vice president of Cresmer, Woodward, O'Mara & Ormsbee, Inc.; and Harold F. Grumhaus, chairman and publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

Also, Arthur H. Motley, chairman of Parade Publications, Inc.; Eugene C. Pulliam, president and publisher of the Phoenix, Ariz., Republic and

Mills Says May Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says he may retire from Congress at the end of his present term, in January 1975.

Mills, one of the most powerful men in Congress, said Saturday that he will make a final decision later, but that unless a persistent and painful back ailment improves he will step down.

The 64-year-old Mills has been in the House 34 years and chairman of Ways and Means for 15. The committee has control over such legislation as taxes, Social Security, welfare and foreign trade.

If the Democrats retain control of the House in the 1974 elections, Mills would be succeeded by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore. The ranking Republican on the committee is Rep. Herman T. Schneebell of Pennsylvania.

Because Mills's back trouble has forced his absence, Ullman has presided over many Ways and Means Committee hearings and during those times has closely followed Mills's policies.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A large convoy rolled into Phnom Penh today over a recently opened highway. And the military command said the Cambodian capital's other major supply road once more had been retaken from insurgents.

Nearly 500 trucks and trailers arrived over Highway 5 from Battambang, the rice province in the northwest. The highway was reopened last week after being cut for 2 1/2 of the previous three months.

Highway 4 was reopened on Sunday to the coast and the port of Kompong Som, the military command said. The reopening came after five days of

Czech Consular Pact Is Signed

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers today signed the first direct consular agreement between the United States and Czechoslovakia's Communist government.

Rogers called the agreement, which was seven months in preparation, "an essential building block in the new relationship we are constructing between Czechoslovakia and the United States."

Until now, diplomatic relations between Prague and Washington have been governed by the Vienna Convention, which laid down broad basic rules for dealings between states.

Foreign Minister Bohuslav Choupek, who signed for Czechoslovakia, said: "We have the beginning here of a start in the normalization of our relations."

The foreign minister said he believed Rogers' 22-hour visit, the first by a U.S. secretary of state to Czechoslovakia, would lead to a trade agreement, scientific and cultural exchanges and compensation to Americans for property nationalized after the postwar Communist takeover.

The agreement will make it easier for U.S. consular officials to reach Americans who get into trouble in Czechoslovakia as well as ease travel for Czechoslovak-Americans visiting here. It also clears the way for the opening next year of a U.S. consulate in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, and a Czechoslovak consulate in Chicago, which has a considerable Slovak population.

Cong acknowledged that its forces are holding two Canadian officers missing since June 28. Twelve Died Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least 12 persons were killed in North Carolina traffic accidents over the weekend, including three teenagers who received fatal injuries in a car-truck collision Sunday night in Yadkin County.

The state Highway Patrol said the weekend fatalities raised the state's road death toll for this year to 915, which is 42 fewer than at the same time last year.

The weekend's worst accident occurred about 11 p.m. Sunday when a car collided with a tractor-trailer truck at an intersection on N.C. 67 near East Bend.

Troopers said all of the victims were in the car. Brent Elwood Adams, 13, of Rt. 1, Yadkinville, was dead at the scene. The car's driver, 17-year-old Rita Anne Wood of Dobson, was dead on arrival at a Winston-Salem hospital. And, 14-year-old Brenda Chrismon, also of Dobson, died early today of injuries received in the wreck.

Investigating officers said the car apparently failed to stop at a stop sign and pulled into the path of the tractor-trailer.

A 60-year-old Florida man, Jack Anderson of Miami, was killed when the car in which he was a passenger ran off N.C. 96 six miles east of Benson and struck a tree Sunday.

Jeff Blaine Brafford, 15, of Benson, was killed when struck by a car on a rural road near Sanford.
