U.S. Fails Sell Japan On Union Of Oil Consumers

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — The United States failed Monday to get a sympathetic response from Japan to its proposals for oil-consuming nations to form a solid front in dealing with the major oil producing countries. But the two nations did agree that participation in the development of Siberian oil and gas resources should be undertaken and that joint construction of enriched uranium plants should be more actively promoted. U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined American views on how to deal with the current world energy crisis in the first session of the ninth Cabinet-level economic conference between the two countries. The Japanese did not respond to apparent American fears that Japan might bid higher for oil in the absence of a united front by the oil consuming nations. Almost totally dependent on outside oil sources, Japan has refused to join a consortium of oil consumer countries that might offend the major Arab producers.

Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira earlier called on the United States to "exercise an increasing degree of discipline in managing its own economy."

He said Japan is greatly embarrassed by American attempts to limit the exports of logs, scrap iron and soybeans. He said it was of "imperative importance" to maintain the smooth flow of these and other products. And he urged the United States "to continue its efforts to maintain a stable supply to Japan."

He also criticized American "clamors for import restrictions, imposition of surcharges or exercise of export restraint."

Rogers responded with a promise, inserted into a prepared speech, that the United States would continue to be a source of dependable supply for Japan.

Fund-Raiser Claims That His Only Role

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's former personal lawyer, acknowledged today he raised funds to pay the original seven Watergate defendants but denied any prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in or its later cover-up.

Kalmbach's prepared testimony was made public while White House aide Richard A. Moore faced continued questioning at the Senate's televised Watergate investigation. Kalmbach was to follow him to the witness stand.

"My actions in the period immediately following the break-in which involved the raising of funds to provide for the legal defense of the Watergate defendants and for the support of their families were prompted in the belief that it was proper and necessary to discharge what I assumed to be a moral obligation that had arisen in some manner unknown to me by reason of earlier events," Kalmbach said.

"The fact that I had been directed to undertake these actions by the No. 2 and No. 3 men on the White House staff made it absolutely incomprehensible to me that my actions in this regard could have been regarded in any way as improper or unethical," he said.

Kalmbach's prepared statement did not identify by name the persons he referred to as No. 2 and No. 3 men on the White House staff.

Kalmbach was a trustee from January of 1969 to early February 1972 of an estimated $1.6 million in surplus funds from Nixon's 1968 campaign.

Quoting Richard M. Nixon on the function of congressional investigations, the chairman of the Watergate committee defended its inquiry as "crucial to the welfare of the nation."

Kalmbach testified he dispersed portions of that sum "only at the express direction of H.R. Haldeman or others clearly having the authority to direct such disbursements."

Kalmbach earlier had denied that portions of that fund were used to help finance the purchase of La Casa Pacifica, Nixon's oceanside estate at San Clemente, Calif.

Kalmbach was also the principal fund raiser in the earlier stages of the President's 1972 campaign for re-election.

He said he completed this assignment in the spring of 1972 and transferred the original fund-raising records to the Finance Committee for the Re-election of the President.

But he said Nixon's finance chairman, former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, directed Kalmbach's secretary "to destroy my files which were wholly personal and supportive of the original files earlier transferred to the finance committee."

"This action on my part was intended to insure the continued confidentiality of the contacts that I had had with various contributors with whom I had dealt during this period," Kalmbach said.

He said he has supplied to the Senate Watergate committee staff copies of his remaining records and some bank records.

In his statement Kalmbach said he had never asked for immunity from prosecution nor indicated he would exercise his rights to remain silent under the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

"I'm here before you today to tell the truth about my activities during the period in question," Kalmbach said. "It is not my purpose to testify for or against any individual."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said some have raised questions about the Watergate investigation and its functions, and sought to answer them in a statement prefacing the seventh week of hearings.

Ervin said he knew of no better statement on congressional investigations than that in President Nixon's 1962 book "Six Crises."

In it, Nixon dealt with his own role as a congressman in investigating the Alger Hiss case.

Nixon wrote that the 1948 investigation of alleged Communist activities in government was essential to the national interest and to the future effectiveness of all congressional investigations.

Ervin made his statement as the committee resumed the questioning of White House aide Richard A. Moore, with Herbert W. Kalmbach, former personal lawyer and fund raiser for Nixon, due to follow him to the witness stand.

Moore's testimony has been to the effect that Nixon knew nothing about the Watergate break-in and cover-up until told about it on March 21 by former White House counsel John W. Dean III.

In his book Nixon wrote of the functions of congressional investigating committees as outlined by Woodrow Wilson: to determine what laws should be enacted, serve as a watchdog on the executive branch, and inform the nation on great issues.

Ervin quoted that, too. Then the Watergate committee chairman turned to his own investigation.

Tobacco Growers To Polls Tuesday

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Tobacco growers go to the polls tomorrow to determine the fate of marketing quotas and price support for the 1974 flue-cured tobacco crop.

Emphasizing the "need for all farmers who are eligible to go out and vote tomorrow," Stacy Evans, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office here, said that polling places have been conveniently located in the county and voting hours will be from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Acknowledging that the acreage-poundage referendum is "coming at a real busy time of the year when the crop is coming in faster than normal," Evans underlined the need for a heavy turnout of voters. He asserted that about a third of the eligible voters have been lost in the last ten to 15 years due to the size of production units being increased.

Evans reported that all growers 18 years of age or older who share in the 1973 flue-cured crop or its proceeds are eligible to vote tomorrow. Where no tobacco is produced in 1973 on a tobacco allotment farm, only the owner and operator are eligible to vote.

If two-thirds or more of the votes cast are affirmative, the quotas will continue in effect for the 1974, 1975, and 1976 crops, it was explained. Growers may carry undermarketings, from a short crop over to the next year and they also may market up to ten per cent over the farm's poundage quota, penalty-free, by deducting the difference from the next year's crop. Penalty, it was noted, will apply to marketings over 110 per cent of the farm's poundage quota.

Price support on up to 110 per cent of the farm's quota will be available to growers who produce within their allotment acreage if the vote is in favor of program continuation.

If more than one-third of the vote is negative, there will be no marketing quotas and no price support in effect for the 1974 flue-cured crop. No limits will be put on production of flue-cured tobacco.

If marketing quotas are rejected in this year's referendum, another referendum will be held next year. If quotas are continued, the next referendum will be held in 1976.

Acreage-poundage quotas have been in effect since 1965.

Pitt Agricultural Extension chairman Ed Yancey said that, "We would very much like to have all farmers in Pitt County vote in tomorrow's referendum. It is very important that we have a big vote."

Yancey commented, "The feeling is that it is very important to the future of tobacco to have a big voter turnout."

Tomorrow's referendum will also give cotton producers a chance to continue to support the N.C. Cotton Promotion Association on a self-assessment of up to 25 cents per bale. Approval of the cotton referendum would renew the present program for six years.

Evans said that slightly over 1,200 farms in the county have cotton allotments and of that number, only about 40 are actually growing cotton.

$500,000 Sale Of Tobacco To China Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China has purchased 440,000 pounds of U.S. tobacco worth an estimated $500,000, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department's Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report made public Sunday that the sale to the People's Republic of China (PRC) was disclosed by the U.S. liaison office in Peking. The sale was reported to the liaison office June 15 by the Pacific Trading Co. of Hong Kong, which said it had handled the transaction on behalf of an American firm.

USDA officials declined to identify the company which sold the tobacco. However, T. D. Jones, president of the W. A. Adams Co. in Oxford, N.C., confirmed today that his firm sold the tobacco but declined to discuss any of the details involved in the transaction.

The department said the transaction reported is the second sale of U.S. tobacco to China within the past year. The first was believed to have occurred last September, but no amount was specified for that transaction.

"This may represent a breakthrough in tobacco trade" with Communist China, the Agriculture Department report said. "However, movement of a significant quantity of U.S. tobacco to the PRC will probably require a decision (by China) to upgrade the quality of cigarettes consumed domestically and a priority allocation of foreign exchange for foreign tobacco."

The report said that the only indication of prior tobacco trade received by USDA was a shipment of 22,000 pounds of Chinese flue-cured tobacco that arrived in the United States in September last year, followed by 44,000 pounds in October.

"This could have been part of an exchange of small quantities of tobacco for sampling and testing between traders representing U.S. and Chinese firms," the report said.

Officials said that in earlier years China was a major importer of U.S. leaf tobacco but gradually shifted over to its own. China is now the world's second largest producer of tobacco exceeded only by the United States, the department said.

Tobacco exports by the United States totaled an estimated 540 million pounds in the year that ended June 30.

N.C. FBI Head Is Assigned To Office In N.Y.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Washington-based FBI agent Edward J. Krupinsky has been named to replace Ralph J. Rampton as special agent-in-charge of North Carolina FBI operations, the Charlotte Observer reported today.

The 44-year-old Springfield, Vt., native joined the FBI in 1951 and was appointed a special agent the following year. Krupinsky has worked for the FBI in New York, Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, Detroit and Washington, where he was an inspector.

Rampton became the special agent-in-charge in Charlotte nearly a year ago. He is being transferred to the New York office, where he will become the special agent-in-charge of espionage and internal security. Rampton is scheduled to leave Charlotte on July 23.

Major Measures Before Congress This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battered farm bill, the Alaska pipeline, a minimum wage increase and historic legislation to curb presidential war powers are up for action in Congress this week.

First up was another try in the House to put out a farm bill called off the floor last week because it appeared headed for President Nixon's veto.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz huddled with House leaders Friday to try to work out a compromise.

The administration's main objection to the bill was a cost-of-production target price escalator that it said would add more than $12 billion to the cost of the farm program.

The Senate scheduled a vote Tuesday on authorizing construction of the controversial 789-mile Alaska pipeline—after rejecting environmentalists' efforts last week to block or delay the project.

The pipeline would carry oil from the new Prudhoe Bay fields on Alaska's North Slope south to the port of Valdez.

One amendment offered to the pipeline measure was designed to break up the major oil companies.

Sponsored by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, it would forbid a company from engaging in more than one key operation—producing, refining, transporting and marketing petroleum products.

The Senate rejected 61 to 29 Friday an effort to delay construction of the pipeline for a study on routing it instead through Canada.

Vietnam war-inspired legislation to curb presidential power to commit U.S. combat forces abroad in the future was to get a House vote Wednesday. It also could come up in the Senate during the week.

The House bill would require a president to withdraw any combat troops or troop increase he committed abroad within 120 days unless Congress approved the war commitment by then.

Under terms of the bill, anytime during the 120 days Congress could halt the war commitment by approving a concurrent resolution that would not be subject to presidential veto.

A $2 minimum wage bill similar to one passed by the House was to get Senate action—and faces the same Republican effort as in the House in an attempt to make it more acceptable to the President.

Miss Elaine Griffin Is Bride

Miss Elaine Harris Griffin and William Joseph Wiseman were joined in marriage Sunday at 4:00 p.m. in the First Free Will Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Daniel Griffin Sr. of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Thelma S. Wiseman and the late Mr. William Joseph Wiseman Jr. of Chesapeake, Va.

The Rev. Charles W. Crisp performed the double ring ceremony. A program of organ music was presented by Mrs. Bill Taylor, organist, and Vereal E. Moody, soloist, who sang "The Greatest of These Is Love," "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee," and "The Wedding Prayers."

The church was decorated with a green and white color scheme. In the center of the background was a fifteen semi-circular candelabra flanked by tall standards of greenery and seven branched candelabras. The choir loft was enhanced by a tiered candelabra with twenty candles burning between bouquets of white mums, gladioli, and pom poms. At the altar was a decorated prie-dieu. A three branched candelabra was lit by the couple during the ceremony symbolizing their unity in marriage. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza and imported peau d'ange lace. The empire gown featured long cuffed bishop sleeves, a sheer V-yoke and a victorian neckline. Pearled peau d'ange adorned the bodice, sleeves, and Apline skirt. The hemline was bordered with scalloped lace and pearls. Appliques of lace were scattered over the detachable chapel length train which was bordered by lace and pearls. Bridal buttons enhanced the back and cuffs of the gown.

Her veil was a fingertip mantilla of peau d'ange lace. She carried a semi-cascade formal bouquet of white cattleya orchids, miniature pink sweetheart roses, and English ivy tied with a white and pink bow.

Mrs. O. Clair Hillard of Portsmouth, Va., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lee E. Wallio of Elizabeth City, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. E. Daniel Griffin Jr. of Charlotte, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. N. James Skipper of Tarboro, Mrs. Patrick Taylor of Rocky Mount, and Miss Nancy E. Dickerson of Portsmouth, Va.

They wore formal length gowns of pink chiffon and white val lace, fashioned with an empire waist, bishop sleeves, and a high waist neck. A jabot of val lace and a satin ribbon encircling the waist accented the bodice. This topped a princess skirt of chiffon.

The attendants carried nosegays of summer mixed daisies, miniature carnations, and baby's breath tied with pink velvet bows with long streamers. They wore headpieces of pink illusion net accented with flowers matching their bouquets.

Albert B. Sawyer of Chesapeake, Va., served as best man. Ushers were Jerry W. Griffin of Greenville and D. E. Daniel Griffin of Charlotte, brothers of the bride, Bernard M Mamlin of Portsmouth, Va., Dr. Joseph D. Gillerlain Jr. of Silver Springs, Md., and Edward Fleagle of Mooresville.

The mother of the bride chose a formal length dress of pink polyester crepe with matching accessories. She wore a purple orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a formal length dress of green floral whipped cream. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The wedding was under the direction of Mrs. Walter Cox of Greenville.

For a wedding trip to New York City, the bride changed into a pink and white checked knit dress with white accessories. The couple will reside in Portsmouth, Va.

The bride is a graduate of J.H. Rose High School and E.C.U. She is presently employed as a teacher with the Portsmouth City Schools.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in Portsmouth, Va. He received his B.S. from Randolph-Macon College and his Masters from the University of Virginia. He is currently employed as a principal with the Portsmouth City Schools.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Vereal E. Moody greeted the guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a sheer nylon white cloth enhanced with lace, centered with an arrangement of snapdragons, carnations, and baby's breath designed in a five branch candelabra. On the bride's table, table, covered with a sheer nylon white cloth enhanced with lace, was a four-tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. James H. Ward, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake to guests after the couple had cut the first traditional slice together. Mrs. Jesse J. Bullock, aunt of the bride, poured punch. Mrs. Connie B. Hines, Mrs. John D. Langley, Miss Darlene Hines, Miss Kim Mills, Miss Vicki Moody, and Miss Marsha Warren assisted.

The bride's book was placed on a table with her portrait and a small floral arrangement of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Harris presided at the register. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Walters.

Pre-nuptial events honoring the Wiseman-Griffin wedding party included a bridesmaids luncheon and an after-rehearsal dinner.

Mrs. Connie B. Hines and Miss Donna Kay Hines entertained the bride-elect, her attendants, and guests at a bridesmaid's luncheon on Saturday afternoon at the Winterville Community building.

The mantel was decorated with green ivy and magnolia foliage flanked by white candles. The tables were covered with white linen cloths decorated with green ivy and arrangements of mixed summer flowers.

Miss Griffin remembered her attendants with gifts.

Mrs. Thelma S. Wiseman, mother of the bridegroom, entertained the wedding party, relatives, and out-of-town guests at a rehearsal dinner Saturday night at the Bethel Squire.

The tables were arranged in a U-shape covered with white linen cloths. The head table was decorated with foral arrangement of gladioli, baby's breath, and snapdragons. The other tables were graced with green ivy and flanked by burning candles.

Highsmith-Anderson Vows Kids Won't Be Said Sunday Afternoon Fooled By Attempt

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

Trinity Free Will Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage joining Miss Nelda Marie Anderson and William Stanley Highsmith Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George A. Anderson and the late Mr. Anderson. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Highsmith of Ayden.

The Rev. Al Davis performed the doubling ceremony. Mrs. Eloise Jackson presented a program of wedding music and Sammy Pittman, soloist, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Wedding Prayer."

The chancel of the church was decorated with standards of jade greenery. A fifteen branch candelabra was placed in the center with nine branch candelabras filled with flowers on each side. The couple knelt for the benediction upon a white profile prie-dieu.

Given in marriage by her brother, Gregory L. Anderson, the bride wore a formal length white organza gown designed with a high neckline encircled with pleated ruffled organza and re-embroidered alencon lace. Matching lace and ruffles extended from the shoulders to the empire waistline in a bib effect. Appliques of peau d'ange lace accentuated the silhouette skirt which was edged at the hemline in a deep border of pleated ruffled organza on scalloped chantilly lace. The long sheer bishop sleeves were edged in the ruffled organza with appliques of peau d'ange lace on the cuffs.

Her formal length illusion mantilla was edged in matching chantilly lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, daisies, and baby's breath.

Miss Loretta Mae Anderson of Greenville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Gregory L. Anderson of Greenville, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Angela Tugwell, Miss Vicki Boyd, and Mrs. Douglas Tripp, all of Greenville.

The attendants wore identical formal length aqua chiffon gowns over taffeta designed with high necklines and full bishop sleeves. The empire bodices featured pink and green trim and satin bows with streamers at the backs. They wore aqua camelot caps of daisies with aqua illusion attached and carried white princess baskets filled with carnations, daisies, astors, and baby's breath.

Miss Camilla Anderson of Lake City, Fla., niece of the bride, was dressed identical to the other attendants. She wore a satin ribbon in her hair and carried a miniature white princess basket filled with carnations, daisies, and baby's breath.

William Stanley Highsmith Jr. of Greenville served as his father's best man. Ushers were Donny Highsmith of Winton, brother of the bridegroom, G.C. Rogerson of Bryans Road, Md., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Otis Deans, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Earl Thompson, both of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Anderson chose a formal length green polyester dress. The mother of the bridegroom selected a formal length lavender crepe dress. Both mothers wore white Georgianna orchid corsages.

Mrs. Camilla C. Moore, maternal grandmother of the bride, was remembered with a white Georgia orchid corsage.

Mrs. Marie Robinson directed the wedding.

For a wedding trip to Florida and a cruise to Nassau, uncle and aunt of the Freeport, and the Bahama Islands, the bride changed into a red plaid seersucker suit and wore her mother's corsage. The couple will reside in Greenville.

A graduate of Rose High School, the bride received a B.S. first traditional slice, the degree in intermediate education at ECU. The bridegroom attended Ayden High School and was graduated from the University of Alabama. He is chief anesthetist at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Reception Immediately following the ceremony, the mother of the bride entertained at a reception at the Masonic Temple. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of mixed summer flowers flanked by white candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Vicent, bridegroom, greeted the guests. Mrs. G.C. Rogerson, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register and Mrs. Otis Deans, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the bridal book. After the couple had cut the first traditional slice, the wedding cake was served by Mrs. Joe Lewis and Miss Debbie Case. Mrs. Earl Thompson poured the punch. Miss Cindy Cannon, niece of the bridegroom, passed out rice bas, tied with blue satin ribbons, to the guests.

An after-rehearsal party was held Saturday night at the future home of the bride and bridegroom for the wedding party and out-of-town guests. Decorations of blue and white were used with an arrangement of summer flowers centering the table. The bridal couple presented their attendants with gifts.

DEAR ABBY: We have two grandchildren whose other grandparents have taught them that grandparents always bring presents!

When we go to visit them, they run to greet us with open hands, asking: "What did you bring us?" And when they come to our home, they keep waiting for us to bring out some special gifts for them because their other grandparents always have something for them. When they came here last Sunday, before they were inside the door they asked: "What do you have for us?"

I replied: "What did you bring for us?" That stopped them cold!

Abby, we don't want to buy their love, but now that they have been spoiled by their other grandparents we don't want to suffer by comparison. I spoke to the other grandmother about this, and she said: "Giving presents is a grandparent's pleasure."

So what's the answer? FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Children are smarter than you think they are. Spending time with them, and showing honest affection and genuine interest will net you more love in return than a carload of presents. Continue to follow your own philosophy, and let the other grandparents follow theirs.

DEAR ABBY: "Grandma's" letter struck a familiar chord with me. It isn't thanks we want from our grandchildren when we buy them gifts, it's an expression of love. To be totally ignored is to be deeply hurt.

We give them presents because we love them. When one grows old, every phone call and note is doubly appreciated. Our children try to make excuses for their children. They say: "The grandchildren are too busy to write or call."

We notice, however, they are never too busy to cash our check as soon as it arrives. GRANDMA IN THE SAME BOAT

DEAR GRANDMA: Judging from my mail, that's a large boat you're in.

DEAR ABBY: How would you answer a 4-year-old, born out of wedlock, when she asks, "Why don't I have a daddy?" STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Tell her everyone has a daddy, but not all daddies live with their families, and hers does not. No need to go into explanations. At her age, she wouldn't understand anyway. Just answer all questions as they arise, one at a time—and honestly.

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law seems to think that she should sit next to her son in the car when the three of us ride together. As my husband holds the door open for us, out of respect for his mother, I let her enter ahead of me, which puts her next to my husband.

I think my place is next to him. What do you think? BOILING IN BALTIMORE

DEAR BOILING: I think you're wasting a lot of energy over a trivial matter. Quit boiling, simmer down, get next to yourself, and skip it.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

What to do with the last bit of ketchup in a bottle? Pour in oil and vinegar. You'll get a small amount of delicious salad dressing.

Make Kitchen A Happy Room Rather Than A Hazardous Room For Your Youngsters

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sights and sounds and smells of food preparation make the kitchen the most fascinating room in the entire house for young children.

But the kitchen also can be the most dangerous room for toddlers—especially if there are electric cords that can be put into the mouth, open outlets within reach, or appliances that can be pulled down from cabinet counter or table tops.

A child who can reach the top of a range also may be able to spill a pan of boiling water or scalding-hot grease over his body.

Below counter-top level, hazards often include toxic household chemicals and hot water pipes under the sink, cabinet drawers full of knives and an oven hot enough to broil meat.

The busy homemakers can't keep their eyes on the curious child every second, but here are some safety suggestions from the Coffee Information Institute:

Electric Cords Pose Danger—Cover or conceal any electric outlets below counter-top level. Don't allow electric cords to hang below the counter or table top.

—Do not store sharp instruments, such as knives, or dangerous chemicals where small children can reach them.

—Never allow the handles of pots or pans to extend over the edge of a kitchen range; keep them turned toward the rear of the side of the stove.

—When you buy a kitchen range, make sure the heating units and controls are beyond the reach of small children.

—Keep children away from kitchen areas that may be especially hazardous during meal preparation; a child playing on the floor beside a kitchen range is much more likely to be burned by hot liquids that are spilled.

Place Mats Recommended—When pouring hot liquids, always pour away from yourself—and slowly. Instant coffees and soup mixes tend to effervesce when boiling water is poured too quickly.

—Choose coffee cups or mugs that are designed so they will not tip easily. Some modern stemmed cups are attractive, but they tend to be top heavy so they are more likely to tip over.

—When you set containers of hot foods or hot liquids on a table, put them as close to the center of the table as possible—or at least, well away from the edge.

—When small children are likely to be around, use place mats instead of a table cloth that can be pulled off, along with containers of hot foods.

—Never use lighted candles on the table when children are present.

Ice Water For Burns

—Help accident-proof your kitchen by adopting the perspective of a small child. Remember that a child may not be tall enough to see that a pot on the stove or a bowl on the table contains hot food. If a child is allowed to play with pots and pans, he may think of the food containers on the kitchen range as his toys. If he sips fluids occasionally from an adult's cup, he may assume that the cup on the table is for his use.

—Resist the temptation to hold a child in your arms while you drink any hot beverage. A frisky child can knock the cup out of your hand in a fraction of a second. Put the youngster in his playpen, high chair, or some other safe place during your coffee break.

—Finally, be sure you know what to do if an accident occurs in the kitchen despite all precautions. For example, in case of burns, apply ice or cold water to the burn area. Keep your doctor's telephone number posted nearby so you can contact him quickly about any serious accident.

—Most accidents are predictable and preventable. Make yourself a committee of one to keep the kitchen a happy room rather than a hazardous room.

An 'Essential' Needs Support

Tobacco growers of our area have one of the most important tasks of their lifetimes to perform tomorrow — that is to go to their polling places and vote in favor of continuing the tobacco program.

They also should vote to continue the Tobacco Associates' overseas promotional program.

Long time farm leader Carl T. Hicks of Greene County, has made clear what an adverse vote tomorrow will mean.

"Failure to approve the tobacco referendum would eliminate production control and price support for future crops," Hicks, who is president of the Flue-Cured Stabilization Corp., said. "If approved the present flue cured program would continue through the 1974-1975 and 1976 crops."

He also noted that the success of Tobacco Associates effort during the 26-year period the promotional program has been underway is shown by the increase in overseas sales from 33 percent of production to more than 55 percent of last year's crop going into foreign markets.

U.S. grown flue cured tobacco was sold in Austria, East Germany, Yugoslavia, Thailand and Taiwan in addition to traditional markets last year. Officials see more possibilities with the expansion of the Common Market in Europe.

Cotton growers should not forget to vote in their referendum to continue the cotton program for six years and continue the self-assessment of up to 25 cents per bale for the N.C. Cotton Promotion Association.

Tobacco is under attack from many sources these days and there are many who would like to see the tobacco program and the promotional program ended. In fact some would like to see the tobacco industry dry up entirely. Tobacco, though is the backbone of the farm economy in our area.

We feel certain that virtually all tobacco growers recognize how essential the tobacco program and the overseas promotional program are to the industry. It is important that this awareness be translated into favorable votes tomorrow and we urge every farmer to find time to go to his polling place.

Year Devoted To Christmas

By KEN ALLEN
The Hickory Daily Record
Staff Writer

HICKORY, N. C. — Santa Claus doesn't have anything on Carpenter Decorating Co. of Hickory — when it comes to getting ready for Christmas early.

Christmas is a year-around affair for Carpenter Decorating, designers, manufacturers and leasers of Christmas decorations for cities, shopping centers and large buildings.

Carroll Carpenter started the business together with a wholesale flower supply house in 1929. Flower supplies have disappeared, but the Christmas decoration business has grown to a six-state organization supplying nearly 150 cities and shopping centers with the trappings of the Yuletide season.

Gus and Spike Carpenter, Carroll's sons, run the business now and handle the lease calls, designing and manufacturing themselves. From January to August, the company employs eight people. But from August to December, it employs 20-25 people to twist wire, cut glass plastic, mold plastic figures and transport Christmas to thousand of shoppers.

The company is unique in that it's the only one that sells, the decorations.

Savings To Towns

"We can save a town money and give it a variety it couldn't afford otherwise. We can contract with a town for three years and give it three completely different sets of decorations each year. With any other company, they're stuck with what they buy until they can afford something else," Gus said.

Hickory's decorations are made by Carpenter, as are those for Raleigh, Kinston, Elizabeth City and 44 other towns and cities in North Carolina. Carpenter also has contracts in Tennessee, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

Towns near the factory also may contract to have their decorations hung by Carpenter.

"We don't go more than 150 miles from the plant to hang because the cost goes up," Gus explained. "But we do have two crews of three men each who go out into these areas."

Many municipalities use their own crews. "There are a couple of towns who use firemen and one has the decorations taken around in a garbage truck," Spike said.

Do Own Designing

The Carpenters employ no designers, preferring to come with new ideas themselves. By designing themselves, if a town or shopping center wants something special or unusual, Gus and Spike can probably produce it.

They make everything they lease in their factory except large plastic bells, which require a blow-plastic process the Hickory company considers too expensive to undertake.

But the flashy garland strung across the streets, the Santa's faces, the lanterns and gothic windows and even 50-foot Christmas trees are built from scratch.

In all, the company has made or makes more than 50 different decorations to hand from utility poles and another 50 or so that can be stretched across a street.

Manufacturing is sometimes difficult. Since there are so few others in the business, everything the Carpenters do is practically pioneer work, requiring original ideas, methods and machines.

A machine shop in New York built a device to the Carpenters' specifications that takes rolls of colored plastic glass and wire and turns out a 24-foot garland, ready to be hung on a frame.

The company employs welders to form three-eighths of an inch steel rods into a basic framework onto which the lights, garland and plastic are hung.

Plastic Molds Used

Plastic decorations like Santa's heads, lanterns, reindeer, — even Santa and his sleigh — are made by thermoforming sheets of plastic under heat and vacuum. The pattern for the piece is developed in the factory, beginning with a plywood replica from which a plastic mold is made.

Plaster is poured into the mold, hardened and then smoothed to get rid of the imperfections left by the wood. Sometimes this must be done many times before a suitable form is obtained.

Then another plastic form is made, this one filled either with gypsum or an acrylic and aluminum pellet mixture. Wood expands too much to be used as a permanent form and plaster cracks.

When a usable form is created, it's relatively simple to form the plastic into the desired shape, cut it out, assemble the pieces and paint them.

Then all the parts are brought together, the finished decoration assembled and shipped to its destination. With the materials used, the average decoration will stay shiny and holiday-looking for five years.

The brightly colored candy canes, the 15-foot candles and the huge Santa Clauses make the factory look like a child's dream. One expects to see Saint Nicholas behind a door.

"The only thing Santa has that we don't," Spike grinned, "is a bunch of little elves helping him out."

Ehrlichman's Bid For Power

By ROWLAND EVANS
and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — John D. Ehrlichman not only moved in to take over the government's internal security function from the FBI with his infamous White House "plumbers" operation, but also tried to steal a large piece of the action last year from the committee to reelect the President (CREP).

Successful in setting up and running the "plumbers," Ehrlichman stumbled and fell — not once, but three times — in his secret grab for political power from CREP.

The bizarre story of Ehrlichman, then President Nixon's White House domestic chief, jockeying for partial command of CREP's overmanned political battalions — and getting his comeuppance from CREP's director, Clark MacGregor — came to light only after publication of Ehrlichman's outlandish accusation against MacGregor this week.

On May 4, in his first testimony to federal prosecutors on the Watergate investigation, Ehrlichman charged that MacGregor had rejected repeated Ehrlichman suggestions to "get to the bottom" of the Watergate scandal. A summary of Ehrlichman's interview with the investigators was published earlier this week.

MacGregor, the former Minnesota Congressman put in charge of CREP July 1, 1972, with the sudden post-Watergate resignation of John N. Mitchell, flatly denied Ehrlichman's accusation. Moreover, MacGregor told us, the only "repeated" proposals he was getting from Ehrlichman last summer were proposals that Ehrlichman's top lieutenants to given major campaign roles.

Thus, in those critical days, Ehrlichman was not concerned with uncovering Watergate mischief but in adding the reelection campaign to his immense presidential delegation of authority over the domestic side of the U. S. government.

Ehrlichman's pressure apparently started while Mitchell, never an Ehrlichman intimate, was still running CREP. Ehrlichman wanted to give his own top aides, including Edward L. Morgan and John C. Whitaker of his Domestic Affairs Council staff, overall control of key states he felt CREP was taking for granted: California, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York and Missouri.

Ehrlichman began by applying pressure to Frederick V. Malek, top political deputy in CREP. Malek went to MacGregor in early August, complaining that Ehrlichman's pressure was becoming intolerable and asking for help in cooling off Mr. Nixon's powerful confidant.

But MacGregor couldn't stop Ehrlichman either. Ehrlichman kept interposing himself between CREP and local Republican organizations. Puzled by the pressure, MacGregor set up a breakfast in his Miami Beach suite during the Republican national convention.

At the breakfast, Ehrlichman did most of the talking but ran into a stone wall. MacGregor said no, the help of Ehrlichman's personal staff was not needed. The matter seemed closed.

It was far from closed. On either Aug. 27 or 28, after Mr. Nixon left Miami Beach to plot his fall campaign in San Clemente, MacGregor received another long distance call, this one from Ehrlichman's patron and collaborator: the all-powerful H. R. Haldeman, who was with the President.

Haldeman said Ehrlichman felt his plan had not had a "fair hearing" and was pressing Haldeman to intervene. Furious at what MacGregor later called Ehrlichman's "hammer and tongs" pressure, MacGregor nevertheless agreed to fly to San Clemente with Malek and confront Ehrlichman yet again.

With Haldeman listening, Ehrlichman went through the now familiar refrain: under Malek's field operation, CREP was losing the biggest states to the Democrats, but the MacGregor-Malek team couldn't know it because of poor reporting from its field staff.

Again, MacGregor and Malek rejected the proposal, and ridiculed Ehrlichman's political intelligence. The President, they said, would carry each state on Ehrlichman's "lost" list.

One hour later, Haldeman turned to Ehrlichman and said: "For heaven's sake, John, drop it. Clark has made his decision and he's acting within his authority." That

Revolutionary Idea

WASHINGTON — The United States is having a very difficult time trying to figure out how to celebrate its 200th anniversary. Many ideas have been suggested for the bicentennial but few have grabbed the American people. The President's commission on the anniversary is bogged down in red tape and no one is certain we will have a celebration at all.

The other day a man walked into my office and said he had a revolutionary plan for Americans to celebrate their country's 200th birthday.

To the editor:

As I read with disgusting interest Art Buchwald's editorial "Going to the Dogs," I would like to point out a few facts that perhaps it would be well for Mr. Buchwald to consider before sprouting off on our "luxurious" pet population.

Most pet foods, regardless of how acclaimed it may be by the manufacturer, contain meat by-products only, with fillers. Most of these meat by-products are unmarketable to consumers and would be otherwise pure waste, if not processed. For most families it would be more costly to feed pets from table scraps, since many "scraps" are reused by the family.

As far as pet foods being appetizing, has Mr. Buchwald tried a bowl of Gravy Train or a plate of Tuna lately? Surely, he is aware of modern marketing techniques used for television viewers.

It would be also interesting to know exactly where Mr. Buchwald has been observing all these overfed, unap-preciative, spoiled pets. Maybe a Fifth Avenue poodle parlor? I work on a college campus, and it is saddening to observe the many starving, unkempt and sick animals scrounging for food in gutters and garbage cans.

I wasn't aware that there has been an increase in non-potty trained and long-haired dogs. What would a collie be without long hair?

Perhaps it is we who should learn to be more frugal with food and our consumption to alleviate the food shortage. Most animals are not obese and eat only enough to sustain themselves.

Most pet owners in America prefer a happy, healthy pet, not a frightened, salivating one cowering at his master's feet for a meager morsel.

The real problem of the food crisis is not dogs and cats but gluttonous people and manufacturers who employ scare tactics to justify their own exorbitant profits.

Man Of 1,000 Voices

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Whose voice have you heard most of ten on television?

It well might be that of Allen Swift, but you wouldn't know it. He rarely speaks as himself.

Known as "The man of a thousand voices," Swift has been everything from a bathroom plunger to a chocolate peanut in some 55,000 TV commercials over the last 20 years. He also was the voice of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the film, "The Longest Day."

The dean of perhaps 18 top professional men and women in this specialized form of auditory art, Swift is an ex-comic who looks more like a flowing-haired symphony cello player.

With him imitation is more than the sincerest form of flattery. He makes more than $100,000 a year peddling from one midtown studio to another on a bicycle to do imitations. He has done as many as 16 in an hour, but now prefers to make only 25 or so commercials a week.

Son of a lawyer, Allen became interested in vocal work early and was a Borscht Belt comic at Catskill mountain resorts. He did night club shows and appeared with stars such as Eddie Cantor and Bob Hope in the early days of television.

"I was doing pretty well as a part-time comedian, part-time magician and part-time shingle salesman when I got my big break," he recalled.

That came when he was hired to take over as Howdy Doody when the people who did the voices on that popular television puppet show walked out in a salary dispute.

"Learning to talk like Howdy Doody was the toughest job I ever had," he said. "I had only a weekend to prepare."

But soon Swift was doing all 50 voices on the show and also writing some of the scripts. Calls from ad agencies to do other voice roles began to pour in.

Since then Swift has dubbed lines for David Niven, and famous golf, baseball and football stars. He also has created voice personalities for a herring, a duck, almost every kind of animal, a flashlight battery, a pencil, an electric toaster, and most recently, a brake.

"I enjoyed doing the brake; it was quite interesting," he said.

Does he need any special equipment or tools for his vocal effects?

"Just my tongue," Swift answered. "But I also do have an exceptional ear. That's very important."

"I have flexible vocal cords, but I don't believe I have a particularly unusual voice. But the human voice, when trained, is limitless, almost infinite in the variety it can create."

Strength For Today

FAITH AND CONFIDENCE
Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, once said to a group of friends, "One day you will read in the paper that I am dead. Don't believe a word of it. At that moment I shall be more alive than I am now. . . That which is born of the flesh may die; that which is born of the spirit shall live forever."

Death is a fearful thing for those who have no faith; for those who do it is but the opening of a door to larger living. Moody believed—and millions have shared his belief—that what men commonly call death is really the beginning of life. Hugh Mackail, one of the youngest and bravest of the persecuted covenant preachers, was condemned in 1666 to be executed in four days. As he was being led back to his cell after his trial he caught a glimpse of a friend among the crowd and cried, "Good news! I am within four days journey of enjoying the sight of Christ."

Mission For Premier Tanaka

By TEIJI SHIMIZU
TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, barely out of a "soybean shock," goes to Washington late this month to seek an assurance from President Nixon that Japan can count on the United States for supplies of food and other vital goods. It may not be a happy mission.

Tanaka is scheduled to hold talks with Nixon at the White House July 31 and Aug. 1 against a backdrop of growing dissatisfaction at home with the way Nixon has treated Japan.

The Nixon administration's recent decision to ban exports of soybeans and other farm commodities came as a shock, not unlike that the Japanese felt when the President's heralded China trip was announced in the summer of 1971.

As trade minister, Tanaka played an important role in resolving the long outstanding U.S.-Japan textile dispute.

Since becoming premier in the summer of 1972, his conservative government has put into force new programs designed to open the door for capital and trade liberalization.

These measures, Tanaka said, initially will trim Japan's balance in trade with the United States and thus help America's balance of payments position.

Government officials said Japan's surplus in trade with the United States will be reduced to $2 billion at the end of this year compared with $4 billion at the end of 1972.

In a way, the "soybean shock" had greater impact on Japan than the announcement of Nixon's China trip. Soybeans are the major source of protein and are used for the manufacture of bean curd (tofu) and vegetable oil.

Tanaka, like many other Japanese, was puzzled why the United States first forced Japan to buy American farm products, including soybeans, and later decided not to make them available freely.

Japan is the biggest customer of American farm products, buying annually about $1 billion worth of agricultural commodities.

Japan consumes about 3.9 million tons of soybeans a year — and about 3.2 million tons of the total consumption was to come from the United States.

The United States has eased its soybean export ban, but there some officials and newspapers here are urging that Japan "diversify" the source of soybeans. This would mean Japan would have to look to China and other countries for grain supplies.

Tanaka, realizing his coming trip to the U.S. capital is not welcomed by opposition parties who claim the premier is avoiding mounting domestic issues by going to Washington, said he will stress to Nixon the "unfairness" of the unilateral U.S. grain export embargo and call for the conclusion of longterm agricultural trade accords between the two countries.

Hailed as the "computerized bulldozer" for his knowledge of vast amounts of facts and figures and admired in some quarters because of his success in reaching the top of Japan's political world without a college degree, Tanaka had the support of 62 per cent of the voters when he became premier last year.

Tanaka, 55, has just overcome a major test of his

Eleven Die In N.C. Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Highway Patrol reported eleven persons died in North Carolina weekend traffic accidents, including four persons killed in one wreck near Fayetteville Sunday.

The deaths brought the traffic death toll for the year to 938, compared to 985 at the same time last year.

Police said in the Fayetteville accident 30-year-old Edward Davis was driving with slick tires in a rainstorm on N.C. 24. He had seven passengers in his car.

Police said his car skidded and hit an oncoming car head-on. Davis, his mother, 63-year-old Bertha Lee Davis, his eight-year-old daughter, Annette Davis, and another passenger, eight-year-old Sherry Owens, were killed. All were from Steadman. Seven others were injured in the accident.

A Hampton, Va., woman died Sunday night on U.S. 258 in Northampton County, one-half mile north of Rich Square. Police said Mildred E. Caudle, 48, was killed when the car in which she was a passenger was struck by another vehicle that crossed the center line.

Robert A. Huffman, 17, of Maysville, was killed when his car overturned on a rural paved road in Onslow County west of Belgrade.

David M. Hollar, 22, of Le-noir, died on a rural paved road near Taylorsville in Alexander County when his car was struck as he tried to make a left turn.

Nixon's Doctor Often Urged More Relaxing

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's doctor has tried unsuccessfully for more than four years to get Richard M. Nixon to take more time for relaxation from his job.

Now, Dr. Walter R. Tkach, an Air Force brigadier general, says he will try again "in very positive terms" to get the message across to his VIP patient.

From being the command surgeon for the Seventh Air Force in Vietnam in 1968, it was a far cry for Dr. Tkach to become the White House physician for newly-elected President Nixon, a man who bragged about being so healthy he never had a headache.

It wasn't surprising though, that Nixon called Tkach just two days after his election in November 1968, to offer him the job.

Tkach, of LaBelle, Pa., had served as an assistant White House doctor during the Eisenhower administration and had traveled with then Vice President Nixon around the world in 1966 and on the historic Nixon trip to the Soviet Union in 1959.

Until last week, Dr. Tkach's job of caring for the President and his family had been relatively uneventful. Nixon never gave him more trouble than a common cold.

Tkach was consulted for such things as Tricia Cox's diagnostic tests for an undisclosed recurring ailment and Julie Eisenhower's broken toe.

And, he notes that Julie had viral pneumonia in Florida at just this time last year.

When Nixon finally had a medical problem, Dr. Tkach re-

See Move To Slaughter Birds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An organization called The Fund for Animals says the Canadian government is considering requests that would allow blueberry farmers to conduct "a massive slaughter" of robins.

The group says the robins gather in Canada's maritime provinces on their way to the United States, and that the birds have been turning to blueberries for food as pesticide spraying programs kill insects, their natural food.

"There is no doubt that the final toll will be enormous and will destroy many thousands of robins that would normally grace the American landscape ..." the group reports. If approved, the organization said the killing would last from mid-August through September.

Office Idle On July 18

Mrs. Margaret Register, Executive Secretary of the Pitt County Board of Elections, announces that the Board of Elections office will be closed all day Wednesday so that personnel can attend a seminar in Washington, N.C.

The meeting is one of four to be held in North Carolina to familiarize election board employees with changes in the election laws passed by the 1973 General Assembly.

The seminar is being scheduled by Alex Brock, Director of the State Board of Elections.

Mrs. Register says the branch registration office located in City Hall and presided over by Mrs. Alya Taylor, will remain open on Wednesday.

The executive secretary mentioned that now is a good time for persons who need to make changes in precinct registration information due to change of address or status to report to city hall for this purpose.

Executive Privilege Issue Precipitated To Fore

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has backed away before from hard-line stands on executive privilege, but never has the issue focused so close to the Oval Office as in the current dispute with the Senate Watergate committee.

In his July 6 letter to Committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the President left little room for compromise.

And Ervin, the man the President has agreed to meet on the issue, has described executive privilege as "a skeleton that has been rattling around in America's closet for so long nobody is sure who put it there or what it means."

When former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was on the witness stand last week, Ervin said that since the Constitution did not require a president to run for re-election "I don't think that executive privilege covers any political activities whatsoever."

"I also take the position that executive privilege does not entitle a president to have kept secret information concerning criminal activities of his aides or anybody else ..."

Like a skilled negotiator, the President, in earlier disputes over executive privilege, has started with a hard stand and then yielded just enough to ease the pressure from Congress.

He did this last April 17, when he retreated from a stand against allowing present or former White House aides to testify before the Watergate committee.

In a television interview Friday, Ervin said he thinks the dispute could be resolved by having "some representative of the White House and some representative of the committee to go through the documents and separate the documents that the committee is entitled to receive and use."

But in his July 6 letter, the President referred to a solution of this type and rejected it, saying ... "such a course, I have concluded, would inevitably result in the attrition and eventual destruction of the indispensable principle of confidentiality of presidential papers."

On March 2, the President was asked at a news conference about a request from the Senate Judiciary Committee for John W. Dean III, then presidential counsel, to testify at the hearings on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be director of the FBI.

He objected.

"No President could ever agree to allow the counsel to the president to go down and testify before a committee."

On March 12, Nixon issued guidelines on executive privilege.

In them he noted that congressional requests for testimony from members of the White House staff "have been relatively infrequent through the years, and in past administrations they have been routinely declined. I have followed that same tradition in my administration, and I intend to continue it during the remainder of my term."

The guidelines specifically directed members and former members of the President's staff to "decline a request for a formal appearance before a committee of Congress."

A mayor and city council appointed earlier will be up for reelection this fall.

gate investigation heating up the President backed off partially with an announcement that White House staff members could appear before the Watergate committee.

But, he said, "executive privilege is expressly reserved and may be asserted during the course of the questioning as to any question. All members of the White House staff will appear voluntarily when requested by the committee. They will testify under oath and they will answer fully all proper questions."

In his April 30 statement the President repeated that stand.

But on May 22, he took another step, this time saying that executive privilege "will not be invoked as to any testimony concerning possible criminal conduct or discussions of possible criminal conduct, in the matters presently under investigation, including the Watergate affair and the alleged cover-up."

In addition, he subsequently released Dean from any obligation to hold back information that might be covered by his attorney-client relationship to the President.

That is where the matter stood until the current controversy precipitated by the committee's request for all White House documents pertinent to its investigation — including some that may be in the President's own files.

Saturday morning.

According to police, the Smith car collided with an auto being driven by Olive Clark Mayo of 103 Heritage St. The accident occurred at the intersection of Evans and Eleventh Streets. No injuries were reported.

Damages to the Smith car totaled $175, while the Mayo vehicle sustained $125 in damages.

Brazil gained its independence from Portugal and became an empire Sept. 7, 1822.

Business Notes

ATTENDING SCHOOL

Bob Wheless, assistant vice president of Bank of North Carolina N.A. in Farmville, was one of 16 BNC officers who attended the North Carolina School of Banking at Chapel Hill last week. Wheless finished his fourth and final year at the advanced banking school.

The banking session, sponsored by the North Carolina Bankers Association in cooperation with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, consists of an introductory summer session in general banking followed by three summer sessions in mid-management in successive years.

WORK SESSION

J.R. Akin of Carolina Sales Corp. here, who serves as alternate president of the Kelvinator's Distributor Honor Council, attended the council's three-day work session recently in Miami, Fla.

Purpose of the council, it was noted, is to help coordinate factory-distributor functions, facilitate communications with distributors, and aid in formulating factory-distributor-dealer programs and policies.

INCREASED FIGURES

Increased earnings, deposits, loans, and total resources as of June 30, have been announced by Branch Banking and Trust Co.

Income before securities gains and losses for the first six months totaled $1,408,339 or $1.34 per share compared with $1,232,913 or $1.17 per share for the same period last year, a gain of 14.2 per cent. Net income after securities gains and losses amounted to $1,404,215 or $1.34 per share compared to $1,242,182 or $1.18 per share for the same period a year ago.

Total deposits of the bank on June 30 amounted to $282,354,289, compared with $246,210,165 last year. Loans, excluding federal funds sold, increased to $216,141,069, up from $175,816,118 and total resources amounted to $328,890,192, compared to $292,977,136 on the same date in 1972.

SPECIAL AWARDS

The Burroughs Wellcome Fund announced two $25,000 Special Awards in Clinical Pharmacology to Attallah Kappas, M. D. of the Rockefeller University and Cornell University Medical College and Peter Goldman, M. D. of the Harvard Medical School.

Kappas, it was announced, will utilize his award to assist in the development of a new program in Clinical Pharmacology which is being established as a joint Rockefeller-Cornell effort.

Goldman will use his award to develop Pediatric Clinical Pharmacology at the Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston.

REELECTED PRESIDENT

Frederich W. Wagner, office manager with the consumer products division at Union Carbide, has been reelected president of the recently chartered Eastern Carolina chapter of the National Association of Accountants. Wagner is a charter member and was the first chapter president for the ECC-NAA.

During the election, several local charter members were also reelected directors for 1973-74. Their areas of responsibility are: J. Paul Donohue, Burroughs Wellcome Co., special projects; Harold J. Mills, Burroughs Wellcome Co., meetings; J. Franklin Carson Jr., Anaconda Wire and Cable Co., member attendance; Charles A. Kuehn, Hamilton Beach, communications; and Gwen N. Potter, East Carolina University manuscripts. Dorothy R. Brandon, East Carolina University, another charter member, was elected director of professional development.

The NAA, with more than 280 chapters in the U.S., Europe, Asia, and South America, is an international organization with more than 70,000 members.

PROMOTION ANNOUNCED

John H. Bynum, a former Greenville resident, has been promoted to assistant vice president of North Carolina National Bank in Greensboro.

Bynum, who is a consumer credit officer, joined the bank in 1970 and has also worked in NCNB's Charlotte and Winston-Salem offices. He holds undergraduate and masters degree in business administration from East Carolina University.

The new assistant vice president is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill H. Bynum of Greenville.

U. S. CIVIL SERVICE TESTS!

Men-women age 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service exams for job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide greater security than private employment and opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you frequently must pass a test. The competition is keen.

Lincoln Service has helped many people prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once TODAY

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests.

Don't delay — ACT NOW!

LINCOLN SERVICE, Dept. 17-R
Pekin, Illinois 61554

I am very much interested. Please send me (1) A list of U. S. Government positions and salaries; (2) Information on how to qualify for a U. S. Government Civil Service Test.

Navy Is Also Tree-Grower On Big Scale

by ELDON BARRETT
SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) —
Join the Navy and see the trees?

That's right. The Navy is deep into the tree-growing business.

The Navy has four staff foresters, including Don Rapple, who manages about 350,000 acres of timberlands in the states of Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Washington and Alaska.

Officially, Rapple is under the Navy Facilities Engineering Command, Western Division, based in San Bruno, Calif., but he works out of the Sand Point Naval Support Activity in Seattle from the office of the 13th Naval District' civil engineer.

"What we are trying to accomplish," explained Rapple, "is to get the maximum quantity and quality from every acre of land the Navy owns. We want to get it into production. And the Puget Sound area is where most of the land is situated."

Most of the Navy-owned timber is Douglas fir but other types of wood include hemlock, alder and white pine.

Long-range Plans
Like civilian foresters, Rapple and other Navy foresters lay out yearly, long-range timber management programs. Because the Navy's forestry program is new, most of the work has centered around setting up managing programs, inventorying and mapping lands and other first-growth forestry work.

The Navy forest program was spawned in 1962. By 1972, the Navy's timber sales reached a peak yearly volume of 1.8 million board feet that sold or $63,000. Three sales were made in the Bangor area near a huge munitions shipping depot, while another was on Whidbey Island where the Navy operates an air base. All were contracted out to civilian bidders.

The income went into the Department of Defense forestry fund.

Rapple and Art Shick, another Navy forester based at Keyport where the Navy operates a torpedo station, lay out sales, roads and do other preparatory work, but the logging is done by private contractors.

But unlike most civilian foresters, Rapple and other Navy timbermen are not charged with meeting a yearly maximum or minimum allowable timber cut. The size of a cut for the Navy depends on a variety of factors. The closure of a survival school on Whidbey Island, for example, opened up more timberlands there recently.

New Trees Planted
Environmental impact statements must be prepared before timber sales on Navy lands are allowed. These statements must clear a chain of forestry specialists before facing final approval from the chief of naval operations environmental review board in Washington, D.C.

But cutting and selling timber is only half the program. The other half involves growing new trees.

At Whidbey Island Naval Air Station's Ault Field, for example, 25,000 trees have been allocated for a community planting project on the base's open lands. During a recent planting day, about 150 volunteers set out Douglas fir and sugar pine trees.

"We've got a lot of acres that we call potential forest lands," said Rapple. "We are trying to get them into production."

"These trees and timberlands are natural resources and they are owned by the American people. We don't really have too many areas like this and they should be maintained."

Arrest Suspect In Bank Holdup

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A 26-year-old Charlotte man was arrested by city police Sunday and charged with robbing a Charlotte bank last fall, according to the FBI.

Ralph J. Rampton, special agent in charge of the Charlotte office of the FBI, reported the arrest of James William Wells Jr., also known as Flint Wells.

He is scheduled to appear before a U.S. Magistrate today for a hearing. Rampton said Wells was charged in a federal warrant for the Nov. 7, 1972, armed robbery of a branch of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs appeared steady today as only a few markets reported on time. Most markets were slow in reporting prices. Tops of 40.00-40.50 Tarboro and Bethel; 42.00 Mt. Olive; 40.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers Market steady, supplies barely adequate to short of good demand, and weights ranged from desirable to light. North Carolina hens: Market stronger, supplies considered adequate, and demand good. Heavy, at farm, 15-16 cents, mostly 15. Light type, at farm, 14-15 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) —Prices seersawed in light trading on the stock exchange today as investors awaited details of Phase 4 regulations. Trading also was affected by slippage of the dollar in trading overseas, analysts said.

At 11:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .30 at 886.29. The Dow had opened the day higher and then had fallen.

Advancing issues edged those on the downside, 543 to 450, with 383 unchanged at 11 a.m. Percentage leaders on the New York Stock Exchange were Al-exanders, up 3/4 to 5%, and Burlington Northern, down 2% at 33.

UAL, Inc., led trading on the New York Stock Exchange, with a price of 18 3/4, down 1/4. Menasco was second-most-active, off 3/4 at 7 3/4, followed closely by Texaco, down 3/4 at 30 3/4. International Telephone & Telegraph, which had opened down, was unchanged at 31 1/4.

In its first day of trading on the Big Board, Teleprompter was up 3/4 at 13 1/2 in good trading.

Over on the Amex, Imperial Oil was the volume leader, unchanged at 42. The Amex price-change index at 11 a.m. stood at 22.65, up .01.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was also up .01 at 55.13.

Four Die In Plane Crash

PINETOPS, N.C. (AP) — The pilot and three passengers were killed when their single-engine airplane plunged into a wooded area and exploded in flames Sunday afternoon near Pinetops during an antique automobile and air show, Edgecombe County authorities reported.

The victims were identified as Dr. Albert William Hedgepeth, 48, of Pinetops, the pilot; H.P. Hedgepeth of South Hill, Va., the pilot's brother; Brent Tarr, 28, of Pinetops; and James T. Boyce Jr. of Woodland, N.C. They were dead when rescuers reached them.

The air show was being held at Hedgepeth Airport, a private landing strip near Pinetops, located near Rocky Mount in Edgecombe County.

Spectators reported the Bel-lanca four-seater airplane, owned by Dr. Hedgepeth, circled the airport about 2:30 p.m., went into a banked turn and disappeared from view. Spectators reported they heard the plane stall and then saw a column of smoke rising in the woods about two miles north of Pinetops.

An investigation into the crash was continuing today.

Area Meeting Set In Kinston

The annual area meeting of the North Carolina State Employees Association will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at Kings Restaurant in Kinston. North Carolina Highway Patrol Sgt. Pete Eure of Greenville, chairman of the 27-county Eastern area, said some 200 persons are expected to attend the meeting, at which time officers will be elected for the 1973-1974 fiscal year.

According to Eure, all state employees are eligible for membership in the organization and he invited state employees who are not members to attend the session. He said the Eastern Area of the association has about 1,200 members now and hopes to increase the number of members to 1,500 during the coming year.

Highway Patrol Lt. Carl Gilchrist of Greenville is membership chairman for the Eastern Area, according to Eure. Gilchrist, who urged all state employees to join the association, said membership dues are $10 per year and include a subscription to the association's magazine and a $1,000 accident insurance policy.

Speaking at the 7 p.m. dinner session will be state association president E. R. "Pete" Carraway of Greenville—an employee of the State Department of Revenue—and state executive director Emmitt Burden of Raleigh.

The 7 p.m. dinner session, according to Eure, will be preceded by a 6 p.m. social hour.

Arrest Two In Club Raid

Two local area brothers Bruce Alton Rogers, 30, of 1104 North Washington St. and Chester Rogers, 33, of Route 4, Greenville, were arrested Saturday night on ABC law violation charges following a raid on the Mark IV Club on Albemarle Ave.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Greenville police, state ABC officers and Pitt Sheriff's deputies raided the club about 10 p.m. and found ten gallons of liquor and 55 gallons of beer.

Bruce Alton Rogers was charged with possession of more than 20 gallons of beer for the purpose of sale, possession of more than one gallon of whiskey, possession of whiskey and beer with a valid ABC permit and possession of a pistol without a permit.

Chester Rogers was charged with possession of more than 20 gallons of beer, possession of more than a gallon of liquor and running a social establishment without obtaining an ABC permit.

MR. TOBACCO FARMER:

TOBACCO PRICE SUPPORT

PROGRAM NEEDS YOUR VOTE

Your VOTE Means $$$$$ To You

A record vote on July 17, 1973 is urgently needed to show strong and continuing support for the tobacco program and the tobacco farmers' export promotion organization, Tobacco Associates, and is absolutely necessary if North Carolina farmers are to stay in profitable tobacco production. The facts are:

1. The strongest vote possible is needed in order to show Congress and others your support of the tobacco quota program.

2. Tobacco farmers must have a Quota Program in order to stay in business. Tobacco farmers receive no set aside or diversion payments.

3. Tobacco quotas are the basis for price supports. The tobacco support program has cost only 17/100 of 1 percent of the total cost to date for all agricultural price support programs.

4. North Carolina Flue-cured tobacco farmers sold 667 million pounds in 1972 for $572 million.

5. The economy of North Carolina depends on the continuation of the tobacco program. More than 66 percent of the total cash crop receipts are derived from tobacco.

6. Farmers need to continue a strong export market. Fifty-five percent of the flue-cured crop was sold abroad in 1972, netting a favorable trade balance of almost $700 million.

7. Foreign market development for United States flue-cured tobacco is the number one objective of Tobacco Associates.

8. This is the most important vote ever held on the tobacco program.

Flood Insurance Said Available

NEW YORK (AP)—Flood insurance has become available for residential and non-residential property in Canton, N.C., in Haywood County, according to an announcement from the National Flood Insurers Association.

Kemper Insurance in Charlotte will act as the servicing agent for the flood insurance, which is subsidized by the federal government.

The federal act that provides the insurance requires that communities interested in coverage take action to restrict unwise land use in flood-prone areas. Damage from flooding is not covered in standard property insurance policies.

Weiskopf Still Puzzled Over British Open Golf Course

By NOEL HUGHES
Associated Press Sports Writer
TROON, Scotland (AP) — Tom Weiskopf, the world's newest golf hero, continues to be puzzled by the Troon links, even after winning the British Open Golf Championship over the tricky seaside course along Scotland's western shore.

Following his record-tying 12-under-par 276 Saturday, Weiskopf said quizzically: "I don't understand this course at all."

Prior to the tournament over the 7,064-yard, par-72 course, Weiskopf voiced his displeasure with the layout. But his attitude mellowed with a constant stream of birdies.

Despite his original hostility, Weiskopf managed to win convincingly, equalling the best-ever score for the 113-year-old event, set on these same Troon links by Arnold Palmer the last time the tourney was played here in 1962.

Weiskopf, who never had won a major tourney before arriving here, had been red-hot this year, taking three events on the U.S. circuit in two months.

The prize money for the British Open winner was a modest $14,300. But victory in the prestige-laden event carries a host of endorsements and other fringe benefits which should lift Weiskopf, who a few years ago couldn't afford to play as an amateur, into the select million dollar class.

He began the final round with a one-stroke lead over Johnny Miller, 26-year-old winner of the U.S. Open.

McCovey, Marichal Pace 12-0 San Francisco Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two veterans paced the San Francisco Giants to a 12-0 rout of the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday, Willie McCovey with his 400th and 401st career home runs and Juan Marichal, baseball's winningest active pitcher, with a four-hitter for his 234th career victory.

McCovey belted No. 400 off Bob Moose in the third inning and added No. 401 off Bob Johnson in the fifth. Garry Maddox and Ed Goodson also homered.

Marichal, making his first appearance since July 3, when he pulled a leg muscle, raised his record to 7-5.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced the Chicago Cubs 9-3, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the San Diego Padres 5-4 in 15 innings, the Cincinnati Reds shaded the New York Mets 3-1, the Atlanta Braves whipped the Montreal Expos 6-1 and the Houston Astros blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0 in a game cut to 5½ innings by rain.

Dodgers 9, Cubs 3

Willie Crawford slugged a tie-breaking three-run homer to highlight a five-run third inning that powered the Dodgers over the slipping Cubs. The win was the fifth straight for the Dodgers. The Cubs have dropped four in a row for the first time all season and had their lead over St. Louis in the East Division sliced to just two games.

Cardinals 5, Padres 4

Bernie Carbo's tie-breaking two-out double in the 15th inning boosted the Cardinals over the Padres. Ken Reitz singled off Mike Corkins with two down and Carbo doubled him home.

Ted Simmons' three-run homer helped the Cards to a 4-0 lead but the Padres tied the game on home runs by Dave Roberts in the eighth and Jerry Morales in the ninth.

Reds 3, Mets 1

Johnny Bench and Larry Stahl hit run-scoring singles to back the four-hit pitching of Ross Grimsley, carrying the Reds over the Mets. Grimsley lost his shutout in the seventh inning when Willie Mays hit the 658th home run of his career.

Braves 6, Expos 1

Ron Schueler hurled a five-hitter and Johnny Oates keyed a five-run third inning with a two-run single to lead the Braves past the Expos for their ninth triumph in 11 games.

Astros 2, Phils 0

Doug Rader and Bob Watson drilled run-scoring singles in support of Dave Roberts' four-hit pitching, leading the Astros over the Phillies. The game was halted with the Phils batting in the sixth and was called after a wait of 76 minutes following which the rain stopped.

Rained Out

LITTLEFIELD — The final round of the District Babe Ruth Tournament was rained out yesterday.

Greenville's All-Stars were to have met New Bern for the championship. They will try to get the game in today at 6 p.m. All the Greenville team needs is to win the first game to sew up the title. Should they lose, a second game will be played immediately following the first.

Deacons Invited To Play Football In Japan

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Wake Forest University Athletic Director Gene Hooks announced Saturday the Atlantic Coast Conference school has been invited to play two football games in Japan next January.

He said the ACC has already given permission for the football team to play the post-season games, and permission has been requested from the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The Deacons would meet a Japanese university team and a college all-star team.

Hooks said the invitation came from Taro Toheow, president of the American Football Association in Japan. It calls for Wake Forest to meet the Kwansei Gakuin University team in Osaka on Jan. 5 and a Tokyo college all-star team on Jan. 13.

The trip will be the second for coach Chuck Mills, who took over the coaching duties at Wake Forest last winter. He took his Utah State football team on a similar trip to Japan in 1972.

Hooks said the trip will be organized as a Deacon club tour and will be open to 165 persons. He said students on the trip, including players, will be given full credit in a Japanese culture course.

He said plans and preparations are proceeding, but a Sept. 15 deadline has been set for a final decision on the trip.

Sports Briefs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The Rothman's International Tennis Tournament, an annual event since 1970, has been discontinued here due to lack of attendance.

Rothman's western manager, D. Grant Herrington, said the event would continue to be played in Toronto, Montreal, and Quebec city.

The tournament, part of the World Championship Tennis circuit, has featured world-ranked professional players.

FOOTBALL
RENSSELAER, Ind. — Jim Cadile, Steve DeLong, and Ross Brupacher of the Chicago Bears announced their retirements from the National Football League team.

GENERAL
TEL AVIV — Anita Zarnowiecki, Sweden's swimming star, raced to her seventh gold medal at the ninth Maccabiah Games by winning the women's 200-meter individual medley.

MOSCOW (AP) — With the routines that made her the darling of the 1972 Munich Olympics under attack, diminutive Olga Korbut has warned that she may follow her routines into retirement.

The 18-year-old Russian star, voted Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year for 1972, reacted strongly to the recent plan by the International Gymnastics Federation to ban from future competitions certain elements of her program—particularly the double backward somersault on the balance beam.

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — It was a good day on the links for Bob Jenkins of Meriden. He collected successive eagles by sinking a hole-in-one on the par 3 fourth hole at Meriden Municipal Golf Course after scoring an eagle 3 on the par 5 third.

Jenkins finished the nine holes Friday with a four-under 32. But the hole-in-one won't count officially since Golf Digest, clearing house for aces, recognizes only those made during a completed 18-hole round. Jenkins had to rush to work after nine holes.

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots of the National Football League placed five players on waivers Sunday at their preseason training camp on the University of Massachusetts campus.

The five were defensive back Dan Ruster, linebacker Luther Palmer, wide receiver John Harrison, tight ends Homer May and veteran Tom Beer.

Olga Korbut May Retire

she will probably now miss. The threat of a retirement brought soothing words from the Federation President Arthur Gander in Chiasso, Switzerland. He said the rules, which would bar Miss Korbut's most applauded feats as too dangerous, still must be approved by the Federation's Assembly in Rotterdam next November.

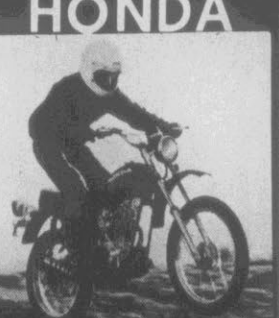

"Therefore," Gander said, "she is free to show what she likes at next month's international games in Moscow and at the European championships in London next October.

"If the decision is put into effect," Olga said in an interview published in the official sports organ Sovetskoy Sport, "then I simply do not see any place for myself in gymnastics."

The 60-pound Olga had captured three gold medals at Munich and on the balance beam had achieved a score just .10 of a point from being perfect. Preparation had begun long ago for new and even more complex routines for next month's International University Games, an event Olga said

Nolan Ryan Wraps Up Second No-Hitter Of Year, Needs Work?

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — "Super stuff...super stuff...super stuff!"

"The best I've ever seen!" There were as many descriptions of Nolan Ryan's pitching Sunday as there were strikeouts by the California flamethrower against Detroit.

But despite firing his second no-hitter of the year and striking out 17 batters, the 26-year-old right-hander insisted he has to work on his pitching.

"I needed this because I wasn't pitching well," Ryan said after hurling the Angels to a 6-0, no-hit victory over the Tigers before a Cap Day crowd of 41,411 at Tiger Stadium.

Ryan became only the fifth man in major league baseball history to pitch two no-hitters in one season. Two months ago to the day he no-hit the Royals.

No one has ever had three no-hit games in a single season.

It was the third no-hitter in the American League this year. The other was against Detroit, a 3-0 victory for Steve Busby of the Royals on April 27.

Vada Pinson gave Ryan all the support he needed with a sacrifice fly in the third off loser Jim Perry, 8-9. Pinch-hitter Winston Llenas and Alan Gallagher each singled in two runs in the eighth and Bob Oliver drove in the other with a single.

Around the rest of the American League Sunday, the Minnesota Twins topped the Cleveland Indians 7-6 in 10 innings, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2, the New York Yankees blanked the Kansas City Royals 2-0, the Oakland A's beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-5 and the Boston Red Sox defeated the Texas Rangers in a game halted by rain after 5½ innings.

Twins 7, Indians 6
First the pitchers wiped themselves off with towels. Then the batters wiped up the pitchers with homers. And finally, Minnesota's Danny Thompson and Mike Adams combined to wipe out Cleveland.

In the sixth inning, plate umpire Art Frantz "frisked" Gaylord Perry, looking for illegal goodies the Indians' pitcher might be using to doctor the baseball. Then, at Minnesota Manager Frank Quilici's behest, a towel was produced and Perry obligingly wiped his face.

In the seventh, Cleveland Manager retaliated. He came running out with a towel of his own and demanded equal rubbing. "If they can pull that stuff," he snorted, "we'll pull it, too." Minnesota pitcher Bert Blyleven resisted for a few moments, then snatched the towel and gave his face a few brisk wipes. Then the game resumed.

In the eighth inning George Hendrick boomed a three-run homer to give Cleveland a 5-3 lead.

But in the bottom of the eighth, George Mitterwald hit a home run.

Then Joe Lis hit a home run. Then Jim Holt hit a home run...and the Twins led 6-5. But in the top of the ninth, Buddy Bell singled for the tying run.

And in the 10th, after three walks loaded the bases, Thompson lofted a fly ball to short left field. Mike Adams, running for Tony Oliva at third base, decided to gamble and took off after the catch. He gambled right. Charlie Spikes' throw home was wide.

Orioles 3, White Sox 2
Mike Cuellar, who'd been falling apart earlier this year, got himself together and pitched a nine-strikeout, seven-hit performance for Baltimore.

The Orioles got all three of their runs in the sixth inning on Mark Belanger's double and singles by Al Bumbry, Tommy

Davis and Earl Williams. Yankees 2, Royals 0

For seven innings, Kansas City's Ken Wright and New York's Sam McDowell were locked in a scoreless pitching duel. But in the eighth, Wright made a bad pitch—to first base—paving the way to the Yankees' victory.

McDowell allowed just three hits and struck out seven Royals before Sparky Lyle came on in the ninth to record his 24th save.

A's 8, Brewers 5
Bill North whipped a two-run double down the left field line and Reggie Jackson followed with a two-run homer, his 20th of the season, to catapult Oakland past the Brewers. The four runs offset Milwaukee's four-run third—a two-run triple by George Scott and a two-run homer by Darrell Porter.

Red Sox 3, Rangers 1
There were 11,793 fans who paid their way into Fenway Park. How many of them were around two hours and 53 minutes later is open to question. But all the players were there. Their game was just about to begin after the rain had finally ended.

Namath, Morton Among Missing From NFL Camps

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Quarterback Joe Namath paid the New York Jets a brief visit on Sunday.

But Sunday night Namath, along with Duane Thomas, Craig Morton and Bob DeMarco, was among the missing at various pro football training camps as a hint of a revolt brewing in the Dallas Cowboy camp surfaced.

Broadway Joe had permission to be absent from the New York Jets' camp while Thomas, hopefully, was expected soon by the San Diego Chargers.

Morton, meanwhile, wasn't budging from his "trade me" demands of the Cowboys and faces a daily fine from Coach

Tom Landry if he doesn't report by tonight. DeMarco failed to appear at the Cleveland Browns' camp at Hiram, Ohio, saying he won't practice until he gets "this salary thing settled."

Namath checked into the Hofstra University training camp of the National Football League Jets Sunday, weighed in at 205 pounds and said his oft-injured knees felt fine.

The star quarterback passed his physical examination and then checked out for California, with the permission of Coach Weeb Ewbank. Namath will be absent for a week and is scheduled to tape appearances on three television shows—Johnny Carson's, Jonathan Winters' and the Brady Bunch.

Thomas was one of Landry's biggest headaches in the past at Dallas. Now Landry could have a bushel-basket full of headaches from Craig Morton, Dave Manders and others.

NBC Monitor sportscaster Guy LeBow reported Sunday night that other Cowboy veterans also are unhappy.

Dallas center Dave Manders, also embroiled in a salary dispute with Tex Schramm, the team's general manager, told LeBow: "I consider myself retired."

Manders said he expected linebacker Lee Roy Jordan and veteran cornerback Jethro Pugh, and possibly others, to join him in not reporting tonight.

Pugh couldn't be reached for comment but Jordan told The Associated Press in Dallas that he wouldn't leave for the California camp unless his contract impasse was settled. Jordan said he hoped to reach accord with Schramm sometime today.

Elsewhere around the training camps, the Los Angeles Rams said Jerry Logan, the former all-pro safety obtained in an off-season trade from the Baltimore Colts, is retiring rather than report; offensive guard Jim Cadile, defensive end Steve DeLong and linebacker Ross Brupbacher announced their retirements from the Chicago Bears.

Sid Gilman, general manager of the Houston Oilers, said there is doubt that Billy Parks, the wide receiver obtained from the Cowboys in an off-season trade, will report with the team's veterans today. "Billy may retire," said Gilman. "I just don't know for sure...we need him, but we can play without him."

UAW And GMC Begin Contract Talks Today

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the General Motors management start today, two months before their present agreement ends.

Billions of dollars are at stake. If General Motors, Ford and Chrysler cannot reach agreement with the union by the Sept. 14 contract expiration date, there could be an auto strike.

The last such strike closed

General Motors for 67 days in 1970 and cost billions. It touched the lives of nearly one in six American workers, put hundreds of thousands out of work and had ramifications around the world wherever tenacles of the farflung American auto industry touch.

But both the companies and the unions say they expect to avoid any repetition of what became the costliest strike in history.

The talks move to Ford Tuesday and Chrysler Wednesday. Whatever changes are finally agreed upon they are likely to be reflected in higher car and truck prices.

An economic demand to regain for UAW members unlimited protection against hikes in the cost of living triggered the 1970 strike. No such economic factor seems likely to arise this time.

With wages at the major automakers averaging $5.12 for each hour of straight time, union leaders have been stressing fringe benefits prior to negotiations.

As usual, the union isn't saying how much of a wage increase it wants. UAW President Leonard Woodcock will say only it will be "enough."

Union leaders predict they will obtain three major gains in this year's contract talks:

Will Preach At Special Service

The Rev. Dorothy Brock of Tarboro will preach in a special service at Emmanuel Holiness Church on the Pactolus Highway Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

There will be special singing. The pastor, the Rev. Woodrow Catlette, invites the public to attend.

— Making overtime voluntary.
— Dental insurance.
— Retirement on full pension for any worker with 30 years on the job.

The companies insist they cannot operate if each worker is allowed to decide for himself whether he will work overtime. They also express fears that a small group of key workers could refuse overtime and shut down an entire plant because of grievance on some other issue.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford's top labor negotiator, has warned the UAW it is on "a collision course" with the automakers over this issue.

Burton Says Reunion Set

MOSCOW (AP) — Actor Richard Burton says the only thing that kept Elizabeth Taylor from flying here to be with him is the illness of her mother.

"She wanted to come here, but her mother is very sick, very ill, so she had to stay with her," Burton said as he arrived here Sunday for the premier of his new film.

Burton said published reports that the couple's recent separation may be permanent are "a journalistic joke" and they will be reunited in Rome later this week.

The actor said he plans to leave on Tuesday to return to Italy for an awards ceremony for his film "Massacre in Rome." Miss Taylor is to fly to Rome from Los Angeles, he said.

In Los Angeles a spokesman for Miss Taylor confirmed the pair plan to meet in Rome. The spokesman said there are no outside romantic interests on either side of the marriage.

The short separation "was just what she needed," the spokesman said.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to make long-range plans that include both established and modern, streamlined things. Some changes in the persons about you are necessary if you are to have the fullest possible benefits from oncoming planetary influences.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to April 19) Get together with persons who are experienced in your line of endeavor, both modern and old-fashioned. Have conversations that are interesting, fun, or can bring you more success in the future. Think.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get in touch with higher-ups who are conservative or otherwise, and join forces for more knowledge or other purposes. Accept whatever invitations come your way. Do nothing of a rash nature.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan now for any future trips in mind. Make as many new acquaintances as you can,

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A654 ♥A ♦A843 ♠A865

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South
1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—This hand very likely will produce a slam, so a jump shift is clearly indicated. The suggested call is three clubs rather than two spades—it is highly dangerous to make a temporizing call in a higher-ranking suit than the one you intend playing in, especially if it is a weak major.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K106 ♥AK1075 ♦KJ96 ♠A

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Despite partner's mild response, we would insist on reaching game with this hand. Accordingly, we would jump shift to three diamonds. If partner gives preference to three hearts, we would go on to four; if partner bids three no trump, we have done our duty; and if partner should raise diamonds, we must have good play for the minor suit game.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A73 ♦97642 ♠AK753

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South
1 ♠ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Two clubs. With such a weak suit, it would be foolish to respond two diamonds. Two clubs shows partner where our strength is and affords him the opportunity of introducing the diamond suit if he is two-suited, or of estimating game or slam chances when we raise spades at our next opportunity.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J9 ♥J92 ♦A104 ♠AJ1085

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades, with four spades a close second. Two hearts are longer, partner has shown six spades and four hearts, preference to three spades leaves all avenues open. Do not bid three no trump with only a single stopper in diamonds.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠J7 ♥AK985 ♦AK104 ♠73

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♦ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—When partner persists with his own suit in spite of your bidding two other suits, the quality of his suit must be good. The exact strength of his hand is as yet undetermined, so we recommend one more try. A bid of three spades is unlikely to get you overboard and may lead to a good game.

Q. 6—You are South, both vulnerable, and you hold:

♠AKQ1074 ♦AQ64 ♠Q93

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ 2 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Your opening bid was based on a minimum in high cards. Partner responded in your weakest suit. A free bid of two diamonds is not recommended as it could get your side too high. Let partner decide on further action.

Q. 7—As dealer, you hold:

♠9764 ♥AKJ ♦AQJ ♠AK5

What is your opening bid?

A.—The your spade stopper is, at best, tenuous, you really have no better bid than two no trump. The only alternative is one club, and thereafter you may find it difficult to describe the shape and strength of your hand. Two no trump has the virtue of describing both these features in one bid.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AJ752 ♥KJ4 ♦83 ♠AKQ

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. This bid asks partner to go on to slam if he can protect against two losers in the unbid suit—in this case, diamonds. The Blackwood Convention is of no use here, for if partner has only one ace you still don't know about the diamond situation. Ace of hearts and king or singleton diamond in partner's hand should be enough for slam.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou

Agricultural Specialist

Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Taking a cue from the handful of growers who proved last year that automatic harvesters work, flue-cured tobacco farmers are mechanizing as rapidly as manufacturers can build the equipment.

The three makers of the tobacco combine indicate that they stopped taking orders early last fall due to a buying rush and limited manufacturing facilities.

It is estimated that the three companies manufacturing the automatic harvesters will have a total of around 400 of the $15,000 to $16,000 machines in the fields by harvest time.

There were an estimated 70 combines in use throughout the flue-cured belt in 1972, the first year that the machines were in practical farm use in significant numbers.

While the sale of combines is the most significant development, there are also increased sales of practically all types of tobacco mechanization equipment. This includes bulk curing barns, topping machines, harvesting aides, stitching machines and two-row transplanters with fertilizer attachments.

One major manufacturer reported that it has sold out of virtually every line of its equipment even though production facilities have been increased 120 percent since the beginning of last year.

It is believed that the total supply of bulk barns from all sources has already been committed for this year. As many as 4,000 new ones may be sold during 1973 throughout the flue-cured area. Even at that, there will only be around 13,500 barns in use — enough to cure only 10 to 12 percent of total production.

Rupert Watkins, extension engineer at North Carolina State University, said the rush to mechanize has been influenced by several factors, not the least of which was last year's strong market price for tobacco.

"Growers made money last year and the first thing they're going to do with it is mechanize," said Watkins. "Labor costs and associated problems continue to mount, so the growers want to go as far as they can in eliminating these headaches," the engineer added.

Other factors fueling the mechanization move are the expansion of the size of operating units through lease and transfer of allotments, the arrival of the combine and the bright outlook for another season of high prices.

Watkins sees the continued demand for equipment such as harvesting aides and stitching machines as an indication that some growers don't have any plans to completely mechanize in the near future. He suggested that many of these are probably older growers and those who will continue to operate small, family-size units.

The N.C. State University engineer predicts that the mechanization trend may be just as strong or stronger next year if the current crop is a good one and sells well. A bad year, on the other hand, could cool things off a bit. Present signs suggest a good crop and a strong market.

The 'Worry Clinic'
Recipe For An Abundant Life

Heed Rabbi Silver's superb recipe for the more abundant life. It adds to your longevity; reduces heart attacks and cancer; fattens your pocket book and gives you serenity of soul!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
CASE X-560: Rabbi Samuel M. Silver is one of America's leading clergymen. As a member of the Board of Advisers of our Scientific Marriage Foundation, he flies out from Connecticut for our usual meetings.

courses might also develop it into a splendid theme. Indeed, you could expand it to include medical and financial income, too. For millions of Americans would not be victims of venereal disease if they had heeded Rabbi Silver's advice. Alas, syphilis and gonorrhea not only produce sterility, so their male and female victims may be childless after they marry. But they also cause heart trouble, insanity, blindness and many other tragic medical effects. If you thus do good to your fellowmen you can obtain an automatic boost in your lifespan. But it likewise fattens your pocketbook, too! Consider my mother, for example, who is 95 and has thus been getting her Social Security check for a generation. Remember, the longer you live, the more Uncle Sam pays you! People who die at 45, 55, or even 65, thus are a boon to Uncle Sam, for he then gets to keep the lifelong deductions from your pay checks, plus the matching sums that your employers have added to your account. It may seem cruel, but Uncle Sam knows he'd be billions ahead if we'd all die before the age of 65. Meanwhile, too, if you do good to your own body by refraining from smoking, drinking gluttony and wild parties, you then are far less likely to develop cancer of the lungs. Plus heart attacks (300,000 total cancer deaths per year vs. 1,000,000 due to heart and blood vessel damage!) Cirrhosis of the liver, as well as diabetes, are common penalties for liquor and dinner table excesses. Tobacco also takes its terrible toll in high blood pressure deaths as well as emphysema and peptic ulcer victims.
