

Procter & Gamble Exercises Option On Site In Pitt

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Procter & Gamble, the nation's largest maker of synthetic detergents and soaps, announced that it has exercised a purchase option on a property site near Greenville.

The company reported that the local site is only one of several locations acquired around the nation as part of a long-range plan for possible expansion of its food products manufacturing capacity.

Food products manufactured by the firm include Crisco shortening, Crisco Oil salad and cooking oil, Fluffo shortening, Pringle's potato chips, Jif peanut butter, and Duncan Hines baking mixes.

Procter & Gamble said that a final decision on the use of the property will not be made until an evaluation of all sites has been completed.

Headquartered in Cincinnati, Ohio, Procter & Gamble recorded sales of $3.521 billion for the 1971-72 fiscal year. Figures for the fiscal year which ended June 30 were not available although nine-month sales were reported up ten per cent to $2.91 billion from $2.64 billion.

For the third fiscal quarter, ended March 31, both sales and earnings rose 12 per cent.

Common dividends of the company, paid since 1891, averaged 50 per cent of available earnings in the five years through fiscal 1971-72. Payments have been increased in every year beginning with fiscal 1956-57.

Report Nixon Is Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, pronounced recovered from viral pneumonia and ready to leave his hospital quarters Friday, is planning to carry out as full a schedule as possible next week, White House spokesmen said.

Nixon hoped to be discharged today from the Bethesda, Md., Naval hospital but his doctors persuaded him to remain there until Friday morning, when he will fly by helicopter to Camp David, Md., for a weekend rest.

The President is likely to "get back to work on a fulltime basis starting Monday," press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported Wednesday. His first public appearance will come on the following day when he welcomes the Shah and Empress of Iran for a two-day state visit.

Nixon had a final chest X-ray Wednesday afternoon and a medical report said "the pneumonia appears completely resolved and he continues to show progressive improvement."

The President was scheduled to be given an electrocardiogram today as a routine precaution. His personal physician, Air Force Maj. Gen. Walter R. Tkach, reported that electrocardiogram results were normal on July 12, the day Nixon entered the hospital.

Tkach said of Nixon's condition Wednesday, "with the exception that he could become fatigued, he is essentially a well man." He said "the physical findings now are essentially normal and all therapy and medication have been halted."

Tkach said he will expect Nixon to take an hour's rest each morning and afternoon for a week or 10 days after he leaves the hospital.

Procter & Gamble, employing some 45,000 throughout its international operations, had 89,150 shareholders as of March of this year.

Manufacturing facilities are maintained throughout the United States and in several foreign countries. Principal foreign subsidiaries are located in Canada, Belgium, France, Italy, West Germany, Switzerland, Great Britain, Mexico, Peru, Venezuela, Spain, and the Philippines.

A wide range of household products are marketed by the company, including soaps and detergents, toilet goods, food products and paper products.

By 11 a.m. today, the deed to the property purchased by Procter & Gamble had not been recorded here.

Claims Blunders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Henry M. Jackson of the Senate investigations subcommittee said today that monumental government blunders in the Soviet wheat deal cost American food-buyers $1 billion.

Jackson, D-Wash., whose subcommittee opens public hearings Friday on the wheat sale, said hefty increases in the price of hamburger, chicken, flour and eggs can be traced directly to the 1972 deal.

"The blunder was born in a climate of government secrecy and bureaucratic negligence," Jackson told a news conference.

Jackson said the panel will be investigating to determine whether laws were violated by the Agriculture Department; by companies that sold the grain, or by dealers in commodity futures.

He said he has no evidence now to indicate violations.

Food Industry Removed From Freeze In Phase IV

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are facing significantly higher food prices now that President Nixon has lifted the price freeze from the food industry as part of his Phase 4 anti-inflation program.

Only beef remains subject to strict price ceilings, and then only until Sept. 12. Lifting the freeze from the food industry was Nixon's first move into his new Phase 4 wage and price controls system.

Non-food items will remain under the provisions of the 60-day freeze announced June 13 by Nixon, until its expiration Aug. 12. At that time non-food goods will become subject to Phase 4 regulations.

There will be price ceilings for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel under Phase 4, and big business will be required to absorb some of its increased costs by cutting down on profit margins.

The President said in a statement issued Wednesday: "There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent substantial rise of food prices."

"The evidence is becoming overwhelming that only if a rise of food prices is permitted now can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later," he said.

Prices are likely to increase the most in the next few days for poultry and pork products, and fresh fruits and vegetables, all of which were reported to be severely pinched by the price freeze.

The President said he would do "everything in my power" to end wage and price controls by the end of the year, but said he did not think it wise to set a specific date for lifting controls.

With President Nixon in Bethesda Naval Hospital recovering from viral pneumonia, Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz released the following outline of Phase 4 to newsmen at the White House Wednesday:

—The price freeze is lifted immediately for all food, except beef, permitting the passing on to consumers of increased costs for raw agricultural products that have occurred since June 8. Raw agricultural products remain exempt from controls.

—It will be a mandatory program, requiring advance 30-day notification of price increases by businesses with annual sales of more than $100 million.

—Small businesses employing 60 persons or less will be exempt. So will the lumber industry, public utilities, rents, interest rates and long-term contracts for coal deliveries.

—The guidelines for wage increases will be kept at 5.5 per cent, plus a seven-tenths of one per cent hike in fringe benefits; the same guidelines in effect during the Phase 2 and Phase 3 programs.

—The health service industry—hospitals and institutions—will be exempted from the freeze at once and returned to the mandatory controls which existed specifically for the health industry under Phase 3. It was not immediately clear how doctors and dentists would be affected.

—The insurance and construction industries will have special regulations.

—The new ceiling prices for gasoline and the gasoline octane rating must be posted on service station pumps after they take effect Aug. 12.

The objective of Phase 4 was stated as "to moderate the rate of inflation existing during the first six months of 1973 with a minimum adverse effect on supply."

Inflation was increasing at an annual rate of about 9.2 per cent a year at the time the freeze was imposed June 13, with food prices increasing at the virtually unprecedented rate of 22.4 per cent.

Shultz told newsmen the administration would make no new forecast for inflation or the increase in food prices.

"We have not tried to make a precise estimate. Our record in trying to forecast food prices leaves you a little humbe," he said, drawing laughter from reporters.

Nixon said in his statement that the increase in prices should be less in the second half of this year than in the first half, and that by next year, "we should be able to achieve a much more moderate rate of inflation."

The President also said he will aim for a balanced budget of $288.7 billion in fiscal 1974. To meet this goal, he said, a number of civilian government employees will have to be cut from the federal payroll.

However, the administration plans to increase the staff of the Cost of Living Council and the Internal Revenue Service by about 1,200 to enforce Phase 4.

Building For The Future

NEW INDUSTRIAL SITE . . . Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West, Robert Parker, president of Singleton Associates — a Henderson-based firm which has been a pioneer in providing industrial shell buildings for manufacturing firms — and Board of County Commissioners' chairman B. Alton Gardner break ground for a 40,000 square foot industrial facility just North of Greenville, Tuesday as invited guests look on. The building can be expanded to 200,000 square feet. The interior of the facility will be left unfinished until the requirements of the eventual occupant can be determined.

Health Exempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fees of doctors and dentists and the rates of hospitals and nursing homes now are exempt from the price freeze.

In announcing this Wednesday as part of Phase 4, the Cost of Living Council said, however, that all providers of health services still are subject to mandatory price controls.

That means that doctor and dental fees are to be held generally to increases of 2.5 per cent.

For institutional health providers, there is also a 2.5 per cent ceiling. If a hospital or nursing home raises its rates above this amount, it has to notify the International Revenue Service and justify the increase.

If they want to raise their rates by more than six per cent a year, they must seek an exemption from the Cost of Living Council.

The administration's action in exempting health care from the freeze is retroactive to July 1. There was no announced explanation for the exemption.

Study Record $399,098 Budget For Recreation

By PEGGY WEIMER
Reflector Staff Writer

The 1973-74 budget was the main topic at the Greenville Recreation Commission board meeting Wednesday night. The new budget is for a record total of $399,098.

In addition to Elm St. Park, the commission operates and maintains the West Greenville Center, the South Greenville Center and various playgrounds, ball parks and tot lots around the city. Maintenance for the Moyewood Social Services Center is also provided.

The 73-74 budget includes funds for an increase averaging a little more than 5 percent in salaries. This is in accordance with the new pay plan that went into effect June 13. Several new jobs and the acquisition of needed equipment are also covered.

The current budget provides $100,000 for capital improvements. In this budget category are tennis courts for the Hardee and West Greenville Parks, the Evans Park parking lot, and the Hardee Park baseball field.

Other business discussed by the commission included a summary of the summer recreation program. Director Boyd Lee commented upon the success and participation in programs experienced to date.

Some questions and discussion on the swimming pool were also raised. Tom Foreman suggested that another swimming pool committee meeting be held after the contractor's bids are presented to the City Council.

Senate Defends PHS Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today overwhelmingly approved and sent to the White House a bill aimed at blocking the Nixon administration plan to shut down Public Health Service hospital programs.

The bill faces a likely presidential veto, which sponsors concede might be difficult to override in the House despite a 306-111 vote in favor of the measure Tuesday.

The Senate vote was 97 to 0. The compromise measure, setting up a new $185 million program for developing emergency medical service systems, would require that eight Public Health Service hospitals be kept open.

What They Said

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent substantial rise of food prices. The evidence is becoming overwhelming that only if a rise of food prices is permitted now can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later." — President Nixon, in freeing most foods from a price freeze.

"It would have been wiser to sweat out the freeze on food prices a bit longer." — Economist John Kenneth Galbraith.

"Here we go again. More chaos and confusion, but nothing changes." — Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State County, and Municipal Employees, on the announcement of Phase 4 economic controls.

"The skeleton looks pretty good, but now the question is will the administration really put flesh on the bone by providing for a tough follow through." — Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

any knowledge of the Watergate wiretapping plans until after the abortive burglary at Democratic headquarters June 17, 1972.

Starting that day, he said, he began to receive the story of the wiretapping affair bit by bit. He said what he learned made him feel as though he were caught in quicksand.

Mardian's testimony followed that of another former campaign aide, Frederick C. LaRue, who said former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ousted White House counsel

John W. Dean III both shared his awareness of a scheme to cover up facts behind the wiretapping.

Mardian, however, said his part in the cover-up was only that of a lawyer bound to secrecy by the ethics of his profession.

"It was as a lawyer and not as a political associate that those persons confided in me," he said.

"It was as a lawyer and not as a political protege that I agreed to maintain a fiduciary obligation not to disclose that which was told to me."

LaRue, in a second day of televised testimony, retraced his own involvement in the cover-up. LaRue has pleaded guilty to a single count of conspiracy to obstruct justice, the first man to plead guilty in the cover-up.

"I have been impressed by the trustworthiness of your testimony," Watergate committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., told LaRue. "I cannot refrain from saying I think you have pursued the right course."

LaRue repeated that he cannot substantiate Mitchell's claim to have vetoed the wiretapping plans on March 30, 1972. Former campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder swore Mitchell approved the bugging plans then, but Mitchell said he actually disapproved them. LaRue said he only heard Mitchell say the wiretap plans didn't have to be decided upon at that meeting. Today LaRue said it was his impression that by saying that Mitchell was trying to end talk of the wiretap plans.

"Mr. Mitchell certainly was not enthusiastic about it, and was certainly trying to terminate any discussion of it," LaRue said.

LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee that when he sought Mitchell's advice in March of this year whether to make a $75,000 payment to one of the Watergate lawyers, Mitchell knew the money was part of the cover-up.

Under questioning by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, the bespectacled Mississippian continued to peel back, dollar by dollar, the story of the payoffs in the Watergate cover-up.

LaRue also said that the $12,000 he took from White House and campaign funds didn't completely cover his own personal expenses in carrying cover-up cash.

Inouye asked LaRue what Dean knew about the $75,000 payment. "He knew it was part of a grand cover-up scheme?" Inouye asked.

"I think that would be a safe assumption," LaRue said.

Q. Were you aware?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was Mitchell aware this was part of the grand cover-up scheme?

A. I would say, Senator, that that is a correct assumption.

Spokesmen For N.C. Consumers And Labor Attack New Rules

By The Associated Press
While North Carolina food producers and agricultural officials are generally favorable toward President Nixon's Phase 4 economic program, labor and consumer spokesmen have voiced strong objections.

State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said he believed "taking controls off food was essential to continuing to produce the food needed to feed North Carolina and the nation.

"People are just going to have to get used to paying more for food," he declared.

However, Wilbur Hobby, state AFL-CIO president, said the new guidelines were not equitable, because wages were frozen at 5.5 per cent while food and health costs are "allowed to run wild."

Bill Prestige of Warsaw, N.C., one of the state's larger hog and turkey farmers, was also one of the larger optimists on Phase 4.

"I think the President has done the right thing," he said. "In the immediate future, the price of meat will probably go up, but in the long run meat will be the best buy for the housewives."
Mrs. Lillian Woo, president of the North Carolina Consumer Council Inc., did not agree. She said lifting the price freeze on food and health care was "very unfortunate." She said those two areas are "crucial to the public's life and well being."

Another skeptic was E.S. Kendrick, executive vice president and treasurer of Holly Farms in Wilkesboro, one of the nation's larger broiler producers. "What they have done will only be a temporary relief," he said, "and I see no way that this would help increase production."

"What kind of program we would be under after Sept. 12 is as cloudy a picture as it was when it went on in June. We have no way of knowing if it is possible to increase production or if we would lose money to do so."

Paul Morgan, a Greensboro poultry producer with sales of $10 million annually, said his firm had to cut back production by about 20 per cent because of the price freeze. Now, he says, "I think we'll start going back toward full production."

But Kendrick said there won't be any such attempt to return to normalcy for his company if he can help it.

"There is no way to attempt to increase production for short a grace period as we have.

"I will have to recommend to my company that we stay on our previously planned course of reducing, instead of increasing, production," he said.

The assistant manager for an A&P grocery in Charlotte, Lynn Thomas, predicted that food prices will "shoot up quick," with the first and biggest hikes to be in coffee, canned vegetables, especially green beans and potatoes; and canned fruits.

Thomas also predicted that egg and poultry prices would jump, and that large eggs which sold for 69 cents a dozen under the freeze may be "pushing $1.00 a dozen within a month."

Mom Should Start 'Get Tough' Policy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 34. He has a shaky marriage and two fine children, ages 10 and 12. He has changed jobs frequently and is always in debt.

We like his wife. My husband and I have pulled them out of debt several times. It has cost us a total of $3,000. They have never mentioned paying us back.

The problem: Our son has won a trip to Hawaii on his job, but if he wants to take his wife he will have to pay her way. He doesn't have the few hundred dollars it would cost to take her, so naturally he is sort of looking in our direction for it.

They have never taken a trip together. [No money.] I think the trip might help their marriage and have told my husband how I feel, but he says I am a soft touch.

What should I do? GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Offer to lend him the money on a business basis. Ask him to sign a promissory note with a date set for repayment. And this time insist that he live up to his obligation.

And don't lend him more than the few hundred he needs. Good Old Mom has to be Tough Old Mom if she wants her son to be a real man.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is 62, and my brother in law, who is 57, have been happily married for 28 years.

Because of health reasons, my brother in law is contemplating retiring and will in time be collecting social security. Since my sister will also be eligible to collect social security, my brother in law suggested that my sister get her birth certificate. This is frightening to my sister as she has never told her husband that she is five years older than he is. [He thinks they're the same age.] She was afraid if she told him her real age, when they first met, he wouldn't marry her.

Now my sister is afraid of repercussions, as she has always been completely honest with her husband.

Do you think she should tell him now? MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: After 28 years of marriage, I doubt that your sister's husband would hold it against her for having knocked five years off her age. I think she should tell him and get it over with. A 62-year-old woman who can pass for 57 needn't be ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Pam, was invited to be a bridesmaid. She was thrilled because she had never been in a wedding party before. The bride's mother invited all the girls in the wedding party over to plan a shower for the bride.

We have a nice large finished basement party room, so Pam offered to have the shower here. The bride's mother said: "Oh, no, I want it at the '—' [and she named an expensive restaurant.] The girls just looked at each other in amazement. Pam then asked the mother if she planned to help them financially, and she said: "Emphatically no, you girls are supposed to give this shower!"

The girls agreed to have it at a restaurant, to please the mother, but they chose a less expensive one. The next day the bride called my daughter and coldly said: "Pam, if you couldn't afford to be in my wedding party, why did you accept? I think it's best if you drop out, so I'm sending the $20 deposit you put on the bridesmaid's gown, and I'm asking someone else instead. Goodbye."

My daughter couldn't believe her ears.

Now, listen to this. This girl had the gall to send Pam an invitation to her wedding.

If you were she, what would you send her? MOM

DEAR MOM: My regrets!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TEMPTED IN ALLENTOWN": You must have too much time on your hands. Temptation never enters our minds when we are steeped in work.

Househusband Solves Working Wife's Dilemma

By JO WERNE
Herald Staff Writer
MIAMI (AP) — When Bart Rhoades accompanied his wife to a Presbyterian ministers' convention last year, she met with the ministers and he met with the wives.

When he heard the wives complain about getting along with their mates, Rhoades could honestly say, "I know what you mean."

Rhoades, 74, is married to Dr. Jacqueline Rhoades, a minister at New Covenant Presbyterian Church. While she pursues her career in the church, her husband, retired for the last decade, stays home and runs the house.

"I'm a 'femme de menage,'" says the good-natured Rhoades. In plain English, he's a 'househusband.'

The tall, silver-haired Rhoades isn't alone. There seems to be a trend of sorts for retired men to keep house while their wives continue working.

Earl Stoddard and Clyde Wilson are two other Miami men who take the housekeeping load off their working wives' shoulders.

Stoddard retired four years ago at 62 after 20 years in the customer service department of a Canton, Ohio, store. Now he tidies up the kitchen, does the heavy cleaning and major redecorating tasks while his wife Helen sells shoes in a Coral Gables shop.

Wilson, 52, retired earlier than he'd planned. The industrial education department at the University of Miami where the ex-Marine had been an instructor for 11 years was phased out.

A paraplegic as a result of polio, Wilson stays home while his wife Ruth works as a medical technician in a pediatrician's office.

Each man approaches housework in a different way.

Rhoades is the organized one, perhaps because one of his jobs for the New York Transit Authority during a 45-year-career was making train schedules. He follows a daily routine.

Stoddard, however, does a job "when I feel like it," while Wilson happily attacks a major chore, such as cleaning out the garage, while ignoring piddling household jobs.

The one who benefits most from Rhoades' housekeeping schedule is, of course, Dr. Rhoades. He has breakfast prepared for her every morning.

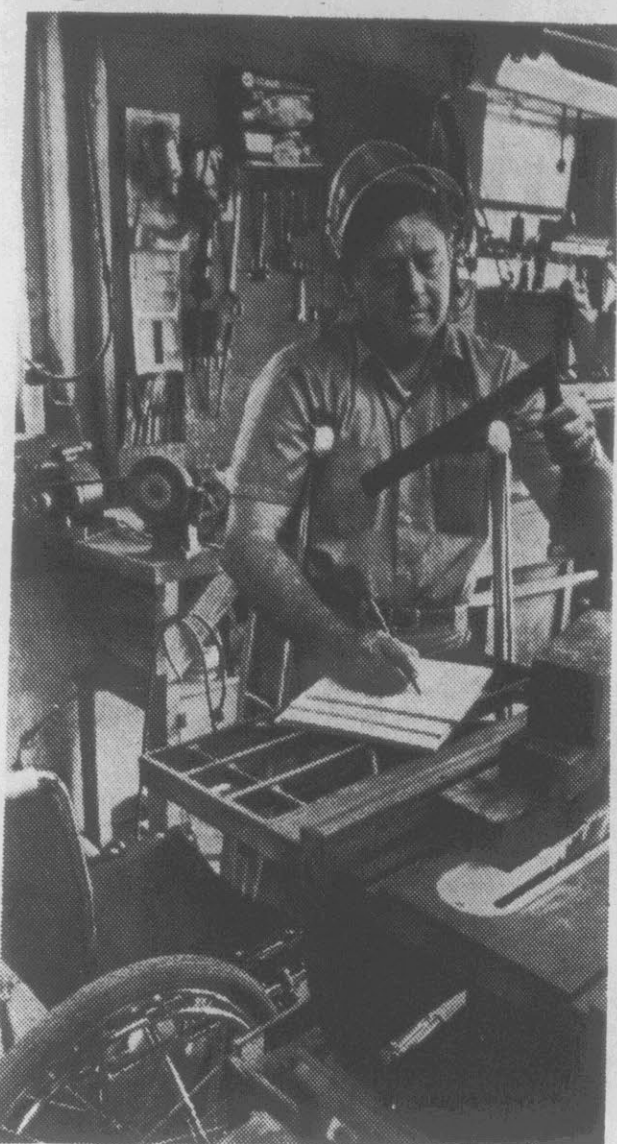

"I usually cook something simple — coffee, soft boiled eggs and toast," says Rhoades. "And I can make marvelous flapjacks."

"After Jackie leaves for work I clean up the dishes, make the bed and then go shopping. Yes, I shop every day, but it's not an easy thing these days. Food's so expensive and you can't get things in small enough quantities," he said, echoing the words of many a housewife.

When the shopping's finished and groceries are put away, it's time for lunch. Dr. Rhoades rarely gets away from the church during the day, so her husband has a sandwich alone.

During the afternoon, Rhoades will tackle a cleaning job — "if the mood hits me." The couple has an eight-room house which includes "his" and "hers" offices and hundreds of books. Dusting all those books is a task Rhoades avoids. "Dust doesn't bother me," he says.

MEN AT HOME — Clyde Wilson, left, won't wash dishes if he can help it, but he does big jobs around the house. Bart Rhoades, top right, dusts shelves of books and records, a task he doesn't really care for. He also does daily shopping. Earl Stoddard, bottom right, is every woman's dream of a husband, and that's according to his wife, also pictured, who sips coffee as he washes dishes.

Actress Says Talking Age Makes People Older

Phone Tapes Add To Confusion

Now comes the surprising revelation in the Watergate hearings that presidential telephone conversations and personal conferences in the White House were taped by secret recording devices.

A former White House aid, Alexander P. Butterfield, now FAA administration, voluntarily testified to this on Monday. He said that recorders were installed to pick up conversations in the Oval office, the cabinet room and on four telephones which the president uses, and with the president's knowledge.

The testimony raised moral questions and led some to question the legality of the plan. However, the investigating committee counsel Sam Dash told reporters immediately after the testimony that the taping probably was not illegal since there was one-party agreement to it. The fact that a warning beep was not used was a tariff matter and the phone company could remove the telephone or bill for an additional charge. Since the president's phones are involved the first alternative is unthinkable and the second unimportant.

It was another startling revelation in the swirling Watergate mess and its resulting Senate inquiry. The question has to arise as to whether Butterfield's testimony was friendly to the administration. He did not strike us as a man on the outs with the president and, in fact, he testified that the White House had told him to tell the truth.

We can assume then that the White House was not adverse to the fact becoming known that taping of presidential conversations was carried out. And if this is true, we can guess that some agreement will be made to release only the tapes pertinent to the Watergate investigation, particularly those concerned with John Deans's testimony of conversations with the president.

We have the feeling that such tapes is released, will show a considerably different version of the conversations than that related by Dean and that will lead to years of debate as to whether the tapes could have been doctored. There is more confusion ahead.

Animals Want A Homey Touch

By BILL NOBLITT (First of Two Articles)

PURGATORY MOUNTAIN, N. C. — Animals, just like people, want a touch of home about before they feel comfortable.

And that's just what they'll get with Bill Hoff in charge of building the nation's newest zoo on a 1,400-acre site atop this peak in the Uwharrie Mountain range south of Ashboro.

There will, in fact, be such exotic "furnishings" as a termite mound for the zebras to scratch their hides on, and a dry riverbed with plastic Olduvai vines to make the dik-diks feel at home.

Hoff, former director of the St. Louis, Mo., Zoo who tossed that job over for the excitement of building a natural habitat zoo from the ground up, is first and foremost an animal psychologist.

"What we are trying to do is provide animals with all of the things they are used to in a natural habitat—except for the disadvantages like hunger, and ticks," the new director of the N. C. Zoological Park said.

"A zebra likes to scratch itself on a termite mound. These are made by the termites using mucous and dirt. They stand some six to eight feet tall, and hard as concrete. So we'll build our zebras some," Hoff said.

Happy Dik-Dik "And the dik-dik (that's a 14-inch high African antelope) will be happy only in a dry riverbed with a lot of the Olduvai vine growing, so we will make a dry riverbed and since the dik-dik doesn't eat the vines anyway, we'll make them out of plastic," Hoff said.

With 3,000 visitors a week already roaming the zoo site—and no animals to see except a lumbering pair of Galapagos turtles—Hoff's number one challenge is designing a zoo which will put the animals and the people together so that both enjoy the encounter and feel comfortable and natural.

Hoff found the Purgatory Mountain site a natural. He was asked by Asheboro people to serve as a consultant in helping them to select a site which would entice the state's sire selection committee to locate the facility near Ashboro.

"I told them I had already visited there, and didn't see anything that looked promising. I agreed to come back and take another look but only on the condition that if I did not find a suitable location I would tell them so, and that would be the end of it," Hoff said.

He came, turned down numerous locations, but finally fell in love with Purgatory Mountain, which legend holds gained its name from the stream and smoke numerous stills running out white lightning in years gone by.

Has Everything

So Hoff found his site, "It has a little bit of everything you will find in any natural habitat whether in Africa, Asia or South America—except an iceberg, and we will do that synthetically.

"It is a fantastic site." The new state zoo slated to open in the first phase in July, 1975, will be much more than just a display for animals, although that is its first function. There will be nature trails, recreational areas including water sports and camping, informal botanical gardens scattered throughout and even a non-denominational chapel for religious service.

He hopes the zoo itself—or the N. C. Zoo Society, a public, non-profit organization aiding the project—will own the concession and operate the various retail, souvenir, food outlets and the recreational operations.

"This would give us control over the quality," Hoff said. "And everything must be first class. At St. Louis, hamburgers were made of pure ground beef and hot dogs out of meat, not cereal. Everything here must be of the highest quality."

Then, naturally, there's the matter of the considerable profit various concessions produce for zoo use.

With 3,000 visitors weekly already making the trek up Purgatory Mountain, Hoff foresees hundreds of thousands coming up the new state road which will connect the zoo with four-lane U.S. 220.

Family Outing

"A zoo is for all the family, it covers all ages. It's something the entire family can do together and enjoy together. If they come just to tour the zoo, it will be an all-day outing. If they come for camping and other recreational activities, it can be a vacation."

In 1968, he said, a study of those who came to St. Louis exclusively to visit the zoo found $56 million was spent—that was just in the city. The state figured visitors spent $86 million in the state.

Right now, the State Zoo is funded with a $2 million bond issue, and supported by the Zoo Society—which will launch next year a public fund drive to raise $6 million to get that first phase underway.

But with such impressive figures on how much revenue a zoo will generate, Hoff is hoping for generous state support down the road.

C&D Is Divided Over Program

By JOHN KILGO

Whether it's good or bad idea, North Carolina has already started a campaign of in-state advertising for promotion purposes—and the search for a new state slogan is underway.

Jerry Loucheim, head of Capitol Communications, the firm with the state's advertising contract, feels the in-state advertising will be invaluable.

Harry Robbins, chairman of the Board of Conservation and Development, isn't as sold on the idea.

Loucheim claims his firm was told to find a new state slogan. They came up with, "This Year, North Carolina."

"The state has had several slogans in the past," Loucheim told me in an interview. "This slogan is for this year only. A citizen will pick the slogan to be used starting next spring."

Newspaper ads ran in the state Sunday asking people to send in their choice for a state slogan. Those daily papers that don't publish on Sunday will run the ad on Thursday of this week. And the weeklies in the state will be given a larger, more detailed ad by August 31. That ought to pretty well exhaust the $38,000 that has been set aside for in-state advertising.

Up until now, the C&D Board spent all of its advertising budget in media out of North Carolina. The North Carolina Press Association had been running the ads as a public service—but reserved the right to run the ads at a time of their choosing.

"We'll be tickled to get people to run ads for us free of charge," Loucheim said, "but it's impossible to conduct an ad campaign if you don't control when the advertising is to run."

When the idea of running in-state advertising was approved, criticism went up that newspapers who had favored Gov. Jim Holshouser in the campaign would get the advertising money.

Bud Coira, a Charlotte lawyer and a member of the C&D Board, is one of those who raised the "payoff" question at the outset.

"We were concerned about the payoff charge," Coira said. "Every newspaper in the state will be eligible to receive these ads, no matter which side they supported in the campaign. We hope the in-state advertising will create an awareness of North Carolina, of what the state has to offer.

Loucheim says running the advertising in every newspaper in the state "might not be the most practical way of doing it, but it certainly answers the charge that we planned to favor one group of newspapers over the other."

Loucheim points out that the C&D Board approved the search for a new slogan, the use of "This Year, North Carolina" for this year, and the spending of $38,000 for in-state advertising.

The proposals were presented to the C&D Board at its first meeting, when all members present were new on the board. Some of them didn't even know the state's advertising contract had been given to Loucheim's firm.

Harry Robbins, chairman of the C&D Board, feels the state had a good practice of working with the North Carolina Press Association in getting the in-state ads run as a public service. He also felt "Variety Vacationland," the state's former slogan, told North Carolina's story in two words.

"I certainly don't want to get into a big controversy over this," Robbins said, "but I question whether we should continue the in-state advertising in the future. I think the state's advertising needs continuity. A new agency shouldn't throw out everything the old one did, unless the former agency was doing a bad job. It seems that many North Carolinians identified with and liked Variety Vacationland for the state's slogan. This year, North Carolina, but what about next year?"

Robbins says he thinks the plan to get North Carolinians involved, which is one of the purposes of the in-state advertising, is good by he adds: "I would hope we could do this with editorial content."

J.D. Fitts of Morganton, president of the North Carolina Press Association, said some members were running the state's ads as a public service, but were running them when they pleased.

"This new plan has opened up a can of worms," Fitts said. "I can't see newspapers running state ads free, if radio and TV are getting paid to run them. And putting it the other way, the electronic

Strength For Today

GOD IN THE HEART

There is a Hindu legend that at one time all men on the face of the earth were gods. With the passing of time, however, they so abused the divine image that Brahma decided to take away the divine gift. Then an argument arose among Brahma's advisors as to where the gift should be hidden so that man could not find it. Finally Brahma said, "There is one place where man would never think to look for it. Put it in the very center of his own nature, in the depths of his own heart. There is less likelihood of his finding it there than anywhere else in the universe."

The Bible tells us that we are the sons of God. But man finds it hard to believe this. Ralph Waldo Emerson and other Transcendentalists maintained that there is a little bit of God in every man. Man looks to the sky for help—to the distant horizon, to the government. But if he only knew it, all he needs is in his own heart; for God is there.

RELAX AND ENJOY YOURSELF!

By J.J. KILPATRICK

Leland Baldwin's Hobby

What's the good word, we may be asking, in the great State of Alleghenia? How are things in Appalachia? What are the governors up to in the sovereign state of Savanna, Sierra, and Erie?

The questions are idle now, of course, and likely to be idle for generations yet to come, but they provide some surcease from Watergate, Phase 4, and the doleful state of the dollar. Leland D. Baldwin, emeritus professor of history at the University of Pittsburgh, provokes the questions in a book, "Reframing the Constitution," that recently came my way.

Baldwin is not the first scholar to undertake a complete rewriting of the Constitution. He is merely the most audacious. In one stroke he wipes out the Supreme Court, abolishes jury trials, and dissolves the existing 50 states. He scraps the Senate as we know it, converts the House to a House of Commons, imposes party government in the British fashion, and whittles the presidency down to size. It is a nice day's work.

Baldwin's proposals, to be sure, are such stuff as dreams are made on. A thousand political realities stand in the way of their fulfillment. Even so, some of his ideas make sense, and they merit your passing reflection.

Consider, for example, the geographical composition of the states. In any rational view, 50 are far too many. If political architects were to sit down at a drawing board, with nothing but a blank outline of the United States before them, it is absurd to suppose that they would draw in a Rhode Island, a Delaware, a Vermont. They would do what Baldwin has done, and draw new lines according to watersheds, population centers, and communities of interest.

In Professor Baldwin's dream, 16 states would suffice. He divides California into a southern state of California, and the northern state of Sierra. The Pacific Northwest is reorganized into a single state of Oregon. The great Southwest becomes the state of Deseret. The metropolitan areas of Chicago and New York City assume their separate identities. Most of the South is absorbed into a state of Savanna. Virginia—horrid thought! disappears into Appalachia, and Minnesota vanishes into a reformulated state of—brace yourself, Walter Mondale—Mississippi. Hawaii remains as is, and Alaska would be given the option of taking commonwealth status or joining Oregon.

Baldwin would match these breath-taking changes in political geography with sweeping changes in political structure. Old notions of the separation of powers would be junked. A reconstituted Senate, fashioned along the lines of a House of Lords, would function as a Supreme Court. The chief justice would take over the ceremonial duties of the president. Congress would be reduced, in effect, to a single House. A strict party system would

Green On The Thumb

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Enjoy the beauty of plants without the worry," read the advertisement. "Needs no watering or care. Buy a terrarium."

It sounded ideal for someone whose thumb turns green only with envy at the gardening ability of others.

Since a terrarium is virtually a closed container, the water simply recycles itself. Just stick it on the windowsill and watch it grow.

Hah! There are umpteen different kinds of terrariums — terraria? Some are easy to eliminate. They cost too much — up to $85 for a big glass bowl and a handful of dirt.

Having narrowed the price range I discovered other problems. Did I want a spherical terrarium or an egg-shaped one? How big an air hole should there be at the top? What kind of drainage stones should there be at the bottom?

The problem was solved by the discovery of a kit that contained everything from dirt to seeds — a major factor since most of the terrariums did not include any sort of plants.

Unfortunately, the six-page instruction booklet belied the claims of simplicity. One kind of seed had to be soaked for 24 hours before planting; the soil had to be prepared with exactly the right amount of water at exactly the right temperature. The seeds, none of which was bigger than a pin prick, had to be pressed into the soil just so, then covered with another layer of dirt — not too thick, mind you — and resprinkled.

After scurrying about for measuring cup, thermometer and plenty of paper towel to clean up the mess I was sure to make, I approached the terrarium bowl with the care of a surgeon. I doled out two cups of 80-degree water, pressed the seeds carefully into the soil, discovering in the process that it's very difficult to tell a seed from a piece of dirt.

Finally the terrarium was planted and placed on the windowsill. But wait. The instruction booklet said the temperature had to be at least 70 to 80 degrees. Out came the thermometer which registered 88 — uncomfortable for me, but at least the seeds should be happy.

I watched and waited. The instructions said ungerminated seeds should be watered with one tablespoon of 80-degree water. It didn't say how often, but every other day seemed to be a good compromise.

When I woke up in the morning, I'd rush to peer at the terrarium. Coming home in the evening, I'd scurry to see if I could spot anything growing.

Exactly eight days after my initial foray into gardening, patience was rewarded. Two tiny green sprouts appeared. Triumph!

But would they grow? Did they need fertilizer? Were they getting too much sun? Should they be watered?

The sprouts haven't died yet. Of course they haven't grown very much either. But I think I've spotted a little bit of green on my thumb.

Brokerage Community In Bind

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The inability of the brokerage community to break with the past, despite assurances from members that the easy, mutually beneficial old club atmosphere has been eliminated, is demonstrated in current hearings.

Clearly agitated by the flood of red ink once again flowing through the nation's financial districts, James Needham, New York Stock Exchange chairman, pleaded before the Securities and Exchange Commission for higher commissions.

A fixed rate increase for all amounting to 10 per cent on orders up to $5,000 and 15 per cent on orders above that amount would be needed, he said, or else the small investor would be denied services.

This request is odder than it might seem, akin to General Motors and Chrysler and Ford seeking permission to raise car prices by the same amount to save their industry, or to keep one of them from faltering.

The car makers don't do that, of course, because one and all would accuse them of mutual handholding, of collusion for their own special reasons. And why, asked the SEC, should the securities industry attempt that route?

In theory, at least, the American system, which Wall Street claims to sell, is continually renewed by the success of the most productive and the removal of the least competitive. But not on The Street.

Based on SEC testimony, it is evident that, in the securities industry, the survival of the fittest has been subordinated by the concept of class survival. At the moment, Needham suggested, competition would be deadly.

Even without it, there is a haunting fear of death on Wall Street and its counterparts. Many firms are in a precarious position, and some deaths and a few mergers seem imminent.

Sixty-eight New York Stock Exchange firms are under surveillance because of finances. The Securities Investor Protection Corp. is liquidating 87 other firms, although only one is a member of the Big Board.

Even some of the larger houses that are well capitalized and not in any fear of extinction are bleeding badly. Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis this week reported a one-quarter loss of $1.25 million. Shearson, Hamill and others are laying off help.

If there is a scapegoat, it is the investor. If only those investors who stormed brokers, a few years ago would return to the market there would be enough commissions for both the weak and the strong.

And so the solution is to raise commissions in an attempt to save both the weak and strong. Missions in an attempt to save both the weak and the strong.

This technique, free enterprises believe, is what drives buyers away.

Some Reservations On Phase 4

By RICHARD L. STERN
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Some leading economic experts find more to worry about than welcome in the fourth phase of President Nixon's economic controls program.

source of inflationary pressures. "My major reaction is total disappointment," declared Pierre Rinfret, a former Nixon economic adviser who now heads a consulting firm. "It treats the evidence of inflation rather than the problem of inflation."

with United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock saying Phase 4 is "something we can live with. Under all the circumstances, it makes a great deal of sense for the American economy."

E. Gorman, called it "a new summer offensive against consumers." He said, "Now its Phase 4, and so far as consumers and food workers are concerned, we say, 'So, what's new?'"

Phase 4 was constructive. He said that, unlike the 60-day price freeze, Phase 4 would be more "positive psychologically" for the stock market and "temporarily slow inflationary expectations."

October and continue throughout the school year. Dr. Schwarz said a variety of recreational activities, including swimming, will be offered to the students. The grant will include transportation for participants and evening workshops for their parents.

Many top corporate officials were withholding comment until they could study the impact of the complex controls on their industries. Rinfret maintained that the administration in its latest move had admitted for the first time that "it cannot control inflation, only moderate it."

Kilpatrick . . . (Continued from page 4) prevail, and the president would function more or less as prime minister.

Comedy Creator Is Batting .500

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedy creator Bernard Slade has been at the plate 14 times in nine years and is batting .500. Seven of his creations became series — including "The Partridge Family," "Bridget Loves Bernie," "The Flying Nun," "Love on a Rooftop" and, up coming on NBC, "The Girl with Something Extra."

the show in its first year. Born in Canada and raised in England, Slade wrote his first professional script in 1957 when he was an actor. The play sold, and he became a full-time writer. He wrote dramatic plays in the dying days of live television and switched to comedy when his first assignment on arriving in Hollywood in 1964 was for "Bewitched." He wrote 19 shows for that series, was story consultant on "My Living Doll" for a year and then was on his way to creating series with "Love on a Rooftop."

The ECU program, one of three in the state, will provide professional preparation for teachers of the mandatory public school program in driver education. Dr. Edgar W. Hooks Jr., chairman of the ECU Department of Health and Physical Education, said the ECU driver education teacher certification program was begun last year by a similar grant. He will direct the project, with the assistance of Dr. Aldred King and Odell Welborn of the ECU physical education faculty.

He also said: "It would have been wiser to sweat out the freeze on food prices a bit longer." One of the few early comments from industry came from John Lichtblau, executive director of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation. He said the impact of strict Phase 4 controls on oil and oil products would mean reductions in prices for consumers. He also said incentives built into the program for more domestic oil exploration would have no immediate effect.

As the Washington Post is so fond of saying, it boggles the mind. Having read the ideas of Professor Baldwin, I am impressed: I am impressed anew by the genius of the Founding Fathers. The Constitution of 1787, with all its faults and ambiguities, remains the greatest work of statecraft ever put together.

Our Constitution has its defects, notable in the provisions for the election of president. If one were disposed to tinker around, perhaps one might search for more effective restraints upon the abuse of power by the Supreme Court. The war powers of a president should be sharply defined. A few antiquated provisions could be trimmed away. But the grand design of our Constitution seems to me nearly perfect. The doctrines of federalism, summed up in the Tenth Amendment, may have lost their vitality but they retained their wisdom. The theories inherent in the separation of powers have been obscured; they need to be seen clearly once more. The checks and balances of our system—small states and large states—the House and the Senate, the veto power of the president, the role of the Supreme Court—continue to function remarkably well. Rewriting the Constitution is a harmless pastime, a pleasant amusement for a summer's day, but it is like rewriting the St. James Bible or the Book of Common Prayer. No one has done it successfully yet, and it seems unlikely that anyone ever will.

was the gasoline shortage. "We thought some people who usually went West on their vacation, might stay in North Carolina this year," Coira said. "There's a lot to see in this state." Regardless of the debate, the in-state advertising is a fact for this fiscal year and the search for a new slogan is on. What about the future? It'll no doubt be talked about in great detail before funds for in-state advertising are approved again.

Kilgo Col. . . .

(Continued from page 4) boys aren't likely to give the state public service announcements if newspapers are being paid to run the ads. I think a great many of our members would have run the ads as a public service if they hadn't changed things." Coira says another reason for the in-state advertising

Key Mitchell Denials Conflict

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A pair of John N. Mitchell's key denials conflict with sworn testimony by two former associates.

general and President Nixon's campaign director, denied approving the Watergate wiretapping or assisting actively in the cover-up.
But his friend and former campaign associate Frederick C. LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday he couldn't substantiate Mitchell's claim to have rejected the wiretapping.

And LaRue sided with former campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder in accusing Mitchell of suggesting the destruction of incriminating wiretap files after the Watergate bugging crew was caught last year.

Mitchell hinted in his testimony that he expected LaRue to back up his denials. That would have left Magruder, who accused Mitchell of approving the wiretapping, odd man out.

But, when LaRue testified, it was the other way around.
In contrast to Mitchell's denials, LaRue and Magruder have admitted their own active roles in the cover-up. LaRue already has pleaded guilty to a single count of conspiracy to obstruct justice, and Magruder said he reached a similar bargain with federal prosecutors.

Big 'Copter Seemed To Come Apart In The Sky

By TONY LEDWELL
Associated Press Writer
MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — The Huey UH1 Marine Corps helicopter was wrapping up a 90-minute routine training flight when witnesses said it seemed to come apart in the overcast sky. All five Marines aboard were killed.

and I knew it was falling," Mrs. Towery said Wednesday as rescue equipment moved past the front door of her home 25 miles northwest of Alabama.
"I could tell it was in trouble," she continued with a nervous smile. "I thought it was going to light right on the house."

Authorities said the motor caught fire on impact with the earth but the Cobb County fire department extinguished the blaze before it had time to spread.

Heavy construction equipment was called in to cut through the heavily wooded area where the main part of the helicopter had plummeted.
Several trees were cut to clear a path for a hydraulic lift which was used to raise parts of the charred wreckage and allow workers to recover the bodies.

Here is what the three have said:
WIRETAP APPROVAL—Magruder said Mitchell and LaRue, at a March 30, 1972, meeting in Key Biscayne, Fla., both reluctantly agreed to approve a $250,000 plan to wiretap the Democrats. "Mr. Mitchell agreed to the project," Magruder said. "It was specifically approval for initial entry into the Democratic National Committee headquarters."

The main body and motor sliced through a thick grove of trees and underbrush, falling upside down less than 50 yards from the cinderblock house of 74-year-old Viola Towery.
A 10-foot section of the tail fell into the front yard of a neighbor's home more than 200 yards away, with debris ripping holes in the ruff of the carport and flattening part of a fence.
The blade flew off into another section of the countryside.
"I knew it was a helicopter

Mrs. Towery, who uses crutches to move around, said she heard sharp, loud popping noises as the helicopter veered near the top of her small, four-room home.
Her daughter, Alma Jean, ran into the yard, spotted the smoking wreckage through the trees and dashed back into the house.
"I could see the smoke from my living room window and I was flat scared," said Mrs. Towery.

The dead were identified as Capt. Ronald G. Denton, Gunner Sgt. Charles C. Miles and Sgt. Donald R. Isaac, all of Marietta, Ga.; Sgt. Dwaine Miller of Acworth, Ga., and Lance Cpl. Kelly M. Kinsella of Fargo, N. D.
Military officials said the aircraft was attached to the Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment at the Naval Air Station in Marietta. It crashed about five miles from the base.
Control tower authorities at nearby Dobbins Air Force Base said there was no communication with the helicopter just before it crashed and could offer no clue as to what happened.

Mitchell denied it and said he actually disapproved the plan as he had done to two earlier wiretap proposals. He said his veto was unmistakable: "This again. We don't need this. Out. I am tired of hearing about it. Let's not discuss it any further."
LaRue's story was different from either Mitchell's or Magruder's. LaRue said he argued against the plan as not being worth the risk. And he said he didn't hear Mitchell approve or disapprove the plan. Rather, he quoted Mitchell as saying "Well, this is not something

Libyan 'Unity' March Barred

CAIRO (AP) — The proposed marriage of Egypt and Libya faced new strains today as Cairo barred thousands of Libyan "unity marchers" from the country.

"might open many doors to enemies of union" and he would not be pressured into completing the merger prematurely.

A spokesman at the Naval Air Station said a board of inquiry will be convened to determine the cause of the incident.
The Huey helicopter was an everyday sight in Vietnam during the height of American involvement. It was the principal mode of transportation for small groups of high-ranking military and civilian officials.

Investigating Police Dept.

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — C. M. Gilstrap, acting police chief, says the State Bureau of Investigation has begun a preliminary probe to determine whether a full-scale investigation of the Goldsboro Police Department is warranted.

Final Report On Hunt Campaign

RALEIGH (AP)—Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt has filed a post-election report showing he cleared his campaign treasury by sending $500 to the state Democratic party.

Gilstrap, who had been assistant chief four years, was named acting chief following the resignation of Chief Roy Renfrow on Tuesday. The resignation is effective Aug. 3.
City Manager Kenneth Kyle announced the resignation.
Kyle said he, Mayor C. T. Gibson and the board of aldermen "have not been satisfied with the operations of the police department and felt new direction and new methods are needed for effective law enforcement in Goldsboro."

Hunt, who said Wednesday all bills had been paid, reported post election contributions of $2,916 and refunds of $1,238 from advertising and telephone accounts.

Set Country Music Show

Four big acts in country music are coming to town in early August in another benefit performance sponsored by the Greenville Police Department.

Two shows, one beginning at 7:00 p.m. and a second at 10:00 p.m., are being staged in the air conditioned Greenville Moose Lodge on Friday, August 3.

Sharing billing for the Friday night event are Freddie Hart and the Heartbeats; Tomp All and the Glaser Brothers; Billy "Crash" Craddock; and vocalist Kathy Lynn.

Hart is a winner of the Country Music Association Award for "Easy Loving."

General admission if $4.00, with reserve seats going for $5.00. Tickets are now available at Music Arts at Pitt Plaza or from any Greenville policeman.

All proceeds from the two performances go into a building fund for the construction of a club house and pistol range for the police force. The current range is an outdoor one located within the city dump.

Numbered Buses 'Plan Works'

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Buses of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit Co. are slated to carry identification numbers on the roof large enough to be easily spotted from 1,000 feet by police helicopters answering a call for aid. A transit executive said trial runs by police in Oakland and San Francisco show the numbering system "really works great."

Cattlemen Are Crying 'Foul'

Regionalism Is Praised

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser said Wednesday night North Carolina's local governments are demonstrating they can work together in regionalism and make greater use of their resources.

"We are finding that we can provide better airports, better medical facilities, and many other services by pooling our resources on a regional basis," Holshouser said. "We had just begun to explore the full potential of this approach."

He made his remarks in a prepared talk to the Centralina Council of Governments aboard the "Outrigger" on Lake Norman.

"As we continue to urbanize and industrialize in North Carolina, the need for planning on a regional—even statewide basis—will grow at a rapidly increasing rate," Holshouser said.

He noted the Centralina Council of Governments serves almost one million people, making it the second largest regional organization in the state.

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The food industry has given the Phase 4 economic program a set of mixed reviews, with most of the applause coming from pork and poultry producers.

Cattlemen cried "foul" about the continued ceilings on beef, and consumers booted the lifting of the freeze on all other food items.

"We're 98 per cent home on this thing," said a spokesman for the National Broiler Council after hearing the Phase 4 announcement on Wednesday. Poultry producers were among the hardest hit under the 60-day price freeze announced by President Nixon on June 13. Some farmers destroyed baby chicks, claiming they couldn't afford to feed them.

Nixon ended controls on all food except beef under Phase 4 and said processors and distributors can immediately pass on increased costs of raw agricultural products. After Sept. 12, the processors and distributors will be able to pass on other cost increases as well. Retail beef prices remain frozen until Sept. 12 at levels set on March 29.

The president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, John Trotman, said that Phase 4 was "disruptive and demoralizing to the beef industry."

Herrell de Graff, president of the American Meat Institute, said the end to ceilings on pork prices would help hog farmers and processors "move out from the loss positions which have disrupted the industry in recent weeks." But he said continuing controls on beef "place the nation's future beef supply in jeopardy."

Ellen Zavel, president of the National Consumer Congress, said, "We can expect skyrocketing food prices...." Mrs. Zavel said agricultural products should have been brought under controls.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., said nothing had changed for the consumer.

"Food prices will go up, possibly even higher than they would have without controls, and shortages and dislocations will continue," the group said, urging a removal of all controls and a "return to a supply and demand economy."

Oren Lee Staley, president of the National Farm Organization, said it would take six to 12 months for food production to return to normal. "So many times in the past farmers have been promised increased prices that did not materialize. With costs so high, they are afraid to take the risk of severe losses," he said.

"It's funny," said Mary McCarthy, a Miami housewife. "They can't balance the nation's budget, but they expect a simple housewife to perform wonders and keep on stretching her family's budget."

Chuck Connors Receives Gift

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Soviet Premier Leonid I. Brezhnev has made good his promise to send actor Chuck Connors a gift.

Connors, formerly television's "Rifleman," gave Brezhnev a pair of .45-caliber revolvers during the Russian's visit to President Nixon's home at San Clemente last month.

Connors said on Wednesday that he had received a samovar, the Russian version of a teapot, from Brezhnev.

Connors presented the revolvers after Brezhnev spotted him at a welcoming reception and came over to give Connors a bear hug.

The samovar was delivered to Connors' home here by an attache to the Soviet consulate in San Francisco.

Faces Sentence To Gas Chamber

RALEIGH (AP) — A Raleigh man faces a sentence of death in the gas chamber after a jury convicted him Wednesday of first degree murder in the shooting of a 24-year-old girl.

Albert (Bo) Crowder Jr., 28, stood quietly as Superior Court Judge Perry Martin sentenced him to die Oct. 19. Notice of appeal was given.

The jury of 10 men and two women deliberated a little more than an hour and a half before returning the verdict. Crowder was charged with shooting Peggy Bryant with a .38 caliber pistol during a discussion outside a place of business in Raleigh last March 4.

Affidavits Back Claim LBJ Also Used 'Tapes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has supported its contention that it did not originate hidden microphones at the White House, by producing affidavits from two White House employees during the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

One of the two sworn statements, which became known Wednesday, said listening and taping devices were installed by Johnson at least by 1965 and could be activated at the push of a button.

They were placed in the Cabinet Room, on phones in the Oval Office, at Johnson's office in Austin, Tex., at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., and on the desk of the President's appointments secretary, the affidavit said.

In the second affidavit, a member of the White House Communications Agency said Johnson had a hidden microphone installed in 1968 in the baseboard of a small sitting room adjacent to the Oval Office where he often worked.

Former White House aide Alexander P. Butterfield told the Senate Watergate committee Monday that Nixon ordered recording devices placed in his offices and on his telephone beginning in 1971.

White House special counsel J. Fred Buzhardt then told the committee by letter that the devices that record Nixon's conversations are similar to systems used in the Johnson administration.

Johnson administration officials said they knew of no such recording system in use during the Johnson presidency. One former Johnson aide, Joseph A. Califano, called Buzhardt's contention "an outrageous smear on a dead president."

The two affidavits gave no indication of how often the listening devices were activated during the Johnson administration or whether persons whose conversations were taped were informed of the taping.

The devices presently installed automatically record all conversations of the President.

One of the affidavits said Johnson's listening and recording devices were removed shortly before President Nixon took office in 1969.

In another development, the telephone company that serves the Washington area said it is insisting that the White House agree to conform to regulations requiring that recording devices on telephones emit an audible tone at 15-second intervals when operating.

The tone warns all parties that the conversation is being recorded.

Surveillance Is Described

CHARLOTTE (AP)—One federal agent posed as a clerk in a store, and others waited in a plane overhead and in unmarked radio cars as a man bought Saturday Night Specials, cheap handguns, it was testified in a gun conspiracy trial Wednesday.

Agents testified that Bobby James Scates of Spartanburg, S.C., had bought the guns at Roberts' Trading Post in Greenville, S.C., and was arrested a year ago after he drove a pickup truck to Charlotte. An agent testified that Chester Ray Looney of Concord, N.C., arrested at the same time in the parking lot of a truck leasing company, had in his pocket the keys to another pickup truck in which 300 Saturday Night Specials were found.

Looney and two brothers from Gaffney, S.C., Dean Ledbetter and Henry Gene Ledbetter, are being tried in federal District Court on a charge of conspiring to transport handguns across state lines for blackmarket sale in New York City.

Scates and four others have pleaded guilty to that charge, and are to be sentenced later. The others are Robert Edward Grubb of Charlotte, Larry Eugene Searcy of Campobello in Spartanburg County, S.C.; and Edwin Acevedo and German Rosario, both of New York City.

White House special counsel J. Fred Buzhardt then told the committee by letter that the devices that record Nixon's conversations are similar to systems used in the Johnson administration.

Johnson administration officials said they knew of no such recording system in use during the Johnson presidency. One former Johnson aide, Joseph A. Califano, called Buzhardt's contention "an outrageous smear on a dead president."

Eight Hurt In Collision

Approximately $5000 worth of damage was done to two vehicles as the result of a head-on collision Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. five miles west of Greenville on N.C. Highway 43.

The Highway Patrol reported that cars driven by Granville Maurice Norris, 62, of Petersburg, Va., and Lyle Andrew McGeoch, 42, of Athens, Ohio, collided head-on.

Damage to the Norris auto was estimated at $2,000 while the McGeoch car was assessed a total loss with about $3,000 worth of damage.

Eight people were injured, three of them seriously. Peter McGeoch, 12, Lyle McGeoch, Jr., 14, and Granville Norris were admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital. Marie Norris, 59, Ethel Norris, 17, Florence McGeoch, 37, Elizabeth McGeoch, 10, and Lyle McGeoch were treated at the hospital and released.

Police reported no charges were made, pending investigation of the accident.

'Hopeless' Addicts Rehabilitated By Long Cruise

By ELLIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — The French schooner Good Hope, with 20 special passengers aboard, has just returned from a four-month cruise in the West Indies. The passengers visited picturesque islands, went spearfishing and sampled some of the night life.

At sea they played bridge, read, relaxed and helped the crew of the 12-foot sailing ship. When the cruise started the passengers were emaciated and stared vacantly into space for hours on end. They had tell-tale pinpricks on the inside of their arms.

They were hard-core drug addicts — selected because of their seemingly hopeless condition. Their leader on the cruise was a French Jesuit priest who doubled as cook, radio operator and mechanic.

Three years ago, the Rev. Michel Jaouen, 53, came up with the idea of the drug rehabilitation cruise and since then has been in charge of addicts on the Good Hope, which once carried cattle across the Baltic Sea.

"Sure you can cure drug addicts in hospitals and clinics," said Father Jaouen in an interview. "Thank God that facilities exist on land. But I think the sea cure is better."

"With drug addicts, the first thing you have to do is drag their heads above water, figuratively speaking. In a hospital or clinic you can argue with these kids until forever and in my opinion you won't get anywhere. "If the kid is not in physical shape to fight, and to struggle over the long haul, it's not worth it to give him lectures and preach to him."

"But if he is resuscitated, if he regains his taste for life, if he discovers people who can live with him as a buddy without ulterior motives, then he discovers very naturally and very simply what life can be." On the cruise were 20 addicts 18 to 25 year-olds, two-thirds of them men.

"For the first two months they flopped around, just eating and sleeping," Father Jaouen said, "Those who could stand puttered about sometimes." By the time the ship arrived in the West Indies, the group began to take an interest in things.

Of the 60 addicts he has taken on three cruises, Father Jaouen says only two or three have reverted to hard drugs.

"Some of the others occasionally make mistakes but they generally keep straight. At times, of course, there are bad deals. Father Jaouen's first voyage on the Good Hope was privately financed by the parents of the addicts he took along. Then several government agencies became interested and backed his next two trips.

The drug problem is relatively mild in France. Official figures say there are 30,000 addicts, but Father Jaouen believes there are fewer. More effort here is directed at catching smugglers and pushers than at curing the victims.

"The Ministry of Youth sends me addicts generally considered by the doctors to be hopeless cases," said the priest. "They are supposed to have undergone at least preliminary withdrawal treatment, but in fact most of them are still on drugs when they board ship." Father Jaouen will fly to the West Indies soon to take delivery of a $500,000 sailing ship donated by a French industrialist. He plans to turn it into another drug-cure boat if he can raise the cash to equip it and increase the accommodations.

Serves N.C. Symphony

Henri Johnson Cox of Laurinburg has joined the North Carolina Symphony as Director of Public Information.

She was Acting Director of Public Information for the National Symphony at Washington, D. C., during the season just ended.

HENRI JOHNSON COX

The new public information director graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1971 with a bachelor of arts degree in English. She was transferred to UNC-CH after two years of study at St. Andrews College at Laurinburg.

She is the wife of Joseph Brinson Cox, Jr. of Greenville.

Flowers For Kopechne

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Flowers from Sen. and Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy were placed on the grave of Mary Jo Kopechne on Wednesday, the fourth anniversary of her death.

Miss Kopechne, a campaign worker and secretary to Robert F. Kennedy, died when Sen. Edward Kennedy's car plunged from a bridge into a creek at Chappaquiddick, Mass., in 1969.

The two were coming from a party at the time of the accident. Sen. Kennedy escaped from the car.

Deny Lon Nol Will Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cambodia's Premier Lon Nol has no plans to visit the United States, the White House says.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler denied a report Wednesday that Lon Nol was giving in to American pressure that he visit Washington.

In the past, the Cambodian leader has come to the United States for medical treatment. But Ziegler said he knew of no plans for him to come for that reason.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday. Supplies barely adequate to short, Demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets. Grade A large whites: 67.85; Medium whites: 61.66; Small whites: 46.56.

Hogs
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs are $2.50 to $5.00 higher today. Tops of 44.00-45.00 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton; 43.50-44.00 Rocky Mount; Tarboro and Bethel: 46.00 Mt. Olive; Some markets late in reporting.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hens: Market conditions firm, supplies decreased as some sellers cancelled back loads already booked, and demand good. Heavies, at farm, 15 cents per pound based on previous commitment. Light type sales too few to release prices. North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market unsettled today. Supplies barely adequate to short of a good demand. Weights desirable to light. Market tone firm. Estimated slaughter 1,181,000 head.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices fell today after a mixed opening with brokers saying that investors were concerned about Phase 4, its ability to combat inflation, and its impact on corporate profits. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones blue-chip average was down 7.60 at 879.80 in active trading. Falling issues held a 668-50-467 lead over advancers, with 1,477 traded.

Holshouser Cites Need

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser has defended as a necessary tool of political officeholders a fund for partisan activities which a top aide plans to gather for him.

"Every man in political office has duties that require him to have expenses that can not be charged to the taxpayers," Holshouser said in an interview following a tour of Ft. Bragg Wednesday. "It is either dig into our pockets a little deeper, or ask the people who helped us in our campaign to help a little more."

Gene Anderson, the gubernatorial aide, has announced plans to gather the fund, subject to a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service. He said it would be used for partisan expenses, political polls, and to help other Republican officeholders.

The governor toured Ft. Bragg by helicopter.

Go-Go Biter Suit Settled

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Lawyers for a Navy flier who allegedly bit a go-go dancer settled a $15,000 dollar lawsuit with the woman's lawyers here Wednesday.

Dorothy Womack Stout had claimed in her suit that Cecil Garber had inflicted "permanent and serious injury" which endangered her career as a dancer.

Garber agreed to pay Mrs. Stout "a little more than $200," the lawyers said.

The alleged incident occurred while Mrs. Stout, then Miss Dorothy Womack, was performing in G-string and pasties on the bar at the Oceana Naval Air Station Officer's Club.

Garber, who had recently returned from a tour of duty in Vietnam, reportedly was waiting for his wife in the club's "Monkey Bar" when the incident occurred.

Garber's attorney, Richard Brydges, said Garber didn't remember whether he had bitten the dancer or not.

Area Hospitals Look To Med School Involvement

An agreement to allow East Carolina University medical students to use hospital facilities for instruction has been signed with administrators of Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro and agreements are pending with Pitt and Lenoir Hospitals, according to the Medical School Dean Wallace Woole.

The proposed agreement with Lenoir has been submitted to the hospital board of trustees, and the Pitt agreement is being reviewed by the medical staff, he said he understands.

Plans in each situation call for upper classmen in a hoped-and-worked-for four-year medical program at ECU to begin clinical training at these and possibly other Eastern North Carolina hospitals. It is thought that some or all of the plans might evolve into full internship and residency programs at the hospitals.

"These are simply affiliation agreements between the hospitals and the ECU Medical School to allow the school to use the clinical facilities and the medical staff. They indicate the willingness of the Medical School to bear all expense related to the teaching processes that might occur in these facilities. It's just a way of each saying to the other, 'I'm anxious to help you in any way I can.' Also, we like to see it as another way the people of Eastern North Carolina are showing they stand solidly behind the medical school.

"The patients will be the ones to benefit the most from these agreements," he went on. "They will be exposed to the latest concepts in medicine and will have the opinions of the Medical School as well as the hospital staff involved in their care."

Cars Collided At Intersection

An 8:30 p.m. mishap here yesterday resulted in an estimated $425 damage to the two vehicles involved, according to Greenville police.

Officers identified drivers involved in the collision as Ann McIntosh Waring of Route 9, Greenville and Charles Tapscot Phillips of 307E Eastbrook Apts. Damage was set at $225 to the Waring car and $200 to the Phillips auto by officers who charged Mrs. Waring with failing to stop for a stop sign.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HOME INSULATION

Actually, all homeowners pay for insulation whether they have and enjoy it or not. The savings on fuel alone will more than pay for the cost of insulating. An insulated home is more comfortable in winter and summer. Condensation and wall-sweating is reduced. Smaller and less expensive air conditioning units can be used efficiently. With today's high energy costs, the following insulation features are recommended to obtain the most efficiency from your air conditioning system: ceilings equivalent 6" fiberglass, walls 3 1/2" fiberglass.

Lowered Octane Ratings On Gas Sold In State

RALEIGH (AP)—State records indicate that more than 50 gasoline companies have lowered the octane ratings of gas brands sold in North Carolina in the last few months.

Major oil industry sources said Wednesday refiners began producing a lower octane gas in mid-May to increase the supply to retailers.

Since then, many brands of both premium and regular gas have been re-registered to lower octane levels with the state Agriculture Department's Gasoline and Oil Inspection Division. At registration, the firm guarantees not to sell below the level it names.

Tar Heels Sweep Pair From Pirates

By CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Sports Writer

The University of North Carolina Tar Heels swept a double header last night from the Pirates of ECU taking a 5-0 shut out in the first game and a 3-2, ninth inning victory in the second.

Russ Smith was tagged for the loss in the first game with Bruce Arrowwood getting his first win of the season. He is now 1-5. Smith is 3-5.

Dave La Russa started the afterpiece for ECU but was relieved in the ninth by Joe Haevner who given the loss. Mike Merritt won that one for the Heels.

UNC jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the opening game. They added two in the second and one in the third. Carolina threatened again in the sixth but did not score.

East Carolina put men on in all but the second and sixth innings. The Pirates got seven hits but could never get them at the right time.

Early Jones led off the first reaching on an error for UNC. After moving up on an out, he scored on a double by Bobby Guthrie. A ground out moved Guthrie to third. A pitch got away from Rick McMahon and Guthrie broke for home. McMahon had him by 15 feet but threw wide of Smith letting Guthrie score.

Jimmy Paige opened the Pirate half with a double to right-center and Carl Summerrell walked. Ron Staggs hit into a double play and after Troy Eason walked a foul pop up ended the inning with no ECU score.

Carolina added two more in the second. Bill Paschall reached on an error and Rand McNeil got a single. Both were sacrificed up and a double by Witt brought them both over. That made it 4-0.

The Heels rounded out their scoring in the third getting a single run. Jimmy Baldwin doubled to left and went to third on a hit by Bill Lee. Paschall reached on an error that scored Baldwin.

The Bucs put a man on in the third as Paige singled but could not score.

Paschall doubled in the Carolina sixth and McNeil walked but a double play ended the inning. Jack Elkins singled in the seventh for ECU but died there.

Paige led the hitting in the game with three in four trips.

In the second game, it was ECU who got the early lead. The Pirates pushed over a run in the second but the Tar Heels tied it and went ahead in the third, 2-1. Merritt walked in the tying run in the seventh. An error let Carolina get the win in the ninth.

Witt waded in the UNC first but was forced at second by Guthrie. Paige walked for ECU but got no farther than first.

The Pirates came up with their first run of the night to take the lead in the second inning. John Narron singled to right and moved up on a ground out, Greg Fulghum walked and LaRussa singled to left scoring Narron.

Carolina struck back in the top of the third to take the lead. Merritt led off with a hit and went to third on a single Jones. Jones advanced to second on an out and a passed ball scored Merritt. One out later, Dale Lydecker singled up the middle driving in Jones. Bobby Harrison singled in the ECU fourth but could not score. ECU almost got a run in the sixth. Eason walked and went to second when the force attempt on Narron's grounder was dropped by Lee. A double play got Eason at third and a strike out ended the frame.

seventh, Elkins singled to lead off the inning and LaRussa reached when the force play at second on his grounder was errored. Paige reached on an error when Merritt could not find the handle on Paige's bunt. That loaded the bases. Merritt fanned Summerrell on three pitches and Staggs flew out and it looked as if he were going to get out of the inning but he walked Eason, however, to tie it at 2-2.

Lee and Paschall each got hits for the Heels in the eighth but a long fly ended the threat. Fulghum got a hit for ECU in the eighth but he died at first.

Jones walked with one out in the ninth but was forced at second by Witt. Guthrie grounded to third but Elkins threw over the head of Staggs letting Jones score easily from first. The Pirates went down in order in the bottom of the ninth.

Lydecker and Paschall each had two hits for the Tar Heels.

Daily Reflector Takes 11-9 Win Over Hallow's

Parkers upset Four Seasons in the City Softball League's Gold division last night 6-0 to close out Four Seasons' regular season with a 15-4 record.

Four Seasons could have won the championship with a win but now has to hope for a Dainty Maid loss Friday night. Dainty Maid is a half game back of Four Seasons and if they beat Parkers Friday, there will be a playoff between the two teams for first place. All other seeds in the tournament will be decided by number of wins or a coin toss. Should Dainty Maid lose, Four Seasons will be the champion.

In the Purple Division, Champs Little Sluggers beat GUCO, 7-1. GUCO won by a forfeit over Hardees, Tuesday. This was listed incorrectly in yesterday's Reflector. Proctor's bashed Union Carbide, 28-5, and Hardees slipped by Burger King, 10-9.

Other games in the Gold Division saw the Daily Reflector win its second game beating Hallow's 11-9. Dainty Maid took a 10-8 decision from Morgan Printers.

The Daily Reflector won its first game outright last night. They took the lead in the first with a run and added six in the fourth for a 7-0 lead. Hallow's got two in the third and one in the fourth. Hallow's tied it up, 7-7 in the fifth with four runs but the Reflector slipped back in front with a run in the sixth. They got three in the seventh to win it.

Willie Eakes led off with a hit and Tom Baines reached on an error. Joe Jenkins drove them both in with a triple and scored when Melvin Jarvis's fly was dropped.

Hallow's got two in the bottom of the inning but could not catch up.

Parkers scored a run in the first to get all they needed to beat Four Seasons. Robert Garrett tripled and scored on a hit by Willie Wallace.

Parkers added one in the second, three in the third and one in the sixth. Dainty Maid held off a last inning rally by Morgan to take a 10-8 win. Dainty Maid got the lead in the first with three runs. Morgan got one in their half. Dainty Maid added three in the third but Morgan cut the gap to one run, 6-4, with three scores in the fifth.

Vic Wade singled in the seventh for Dainty Maid and Bob Harris reached on an error. Carl Powell reached on an error scoring Wade and a double by Dwight Foster scored Harris. Wayne Nelson doubled to drive in both Powell and Foster.

In the Purple division, GUCO grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first against the Little Sluggers but the Sluggers tied it with a run in the bottom of the first. It stayed that way until the sixth when the Sluggers rallied for six to win it.

Butler reached on an error and scored on Peele's double. Page tripled in Peele and a hit by Hardee scored Page. Fleming doubled to score Le. Hardee and a triple by Craft brought in Fleming. Li. Hardee singled in Craft.

Union Carbide got a run in the first and added one in the second but Proctor's took the lead on three runs in the bottom of the second. They rallied for four in the third to win it. Garris doubled and scored on Belcher's triple. Coble singled in Belcher and Reese doubled to drive in Coble. A double by Barefoot scored Reese.

Proctor's added 12 in the fourth and nine in the sixth. Union Carbide got three in the fourth.

Hardee's rallied for four in the sixth to take a 10-9 win from Burger King. Burger King broke into the lead in the third with three scores. Hardee's took it away as they pushed over four in their half. The lead went back to Burger King on three runs in the fourth. Hardee's got one in the fourth.

Burger King moved out to a 8-5 lead in the fifth. Hardee's got another in the fifth. L. Smith homered for Burger King in the sixth but Hardee's rallied for four to win the game. Mann singled and Grant walked. They both scored when Eldridge came

NEW SPORTS INFO DIRECTOR — East Carolina Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich points out the outdoor sports complex to new Sports Information Director, John Evanson. Evanson comes to ECU from the Asheville Citizen and will begin his duties in early August. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Evanson Named To SID Post

East Carolina University Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich announced today the appointment of John Evanson of Asheville as new Sports Information Director.

Evanson replaces Sonny Lea who resigned earlier this year. Evanson was born in Lafayette, Ind. and is 24 years old. He attended Fort Myers High School in Fort Myers, Fla. where he was editor of his school newspaper. He was also president of his high school Journalism society.

From 1967-1969, Evanson attend Edison Junior College in Fort Myers and was SID there. He transferred to Western Carolina his junior year and was Sports Editor for their paper as well as being assistant SID.

Evanson graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1972 with a degree in communications. While at U. of Tenn. he was sports editor of the university's Daily Beacon. Since then, he has been with the Asheville Citizen where he has worked in college and athletics, auto racing and layout.

Said Stasavich, "I feel that Evanson has the credentials we are looking for in our new SID. His close work with college athletics, in both newspaper and sports information fields, will be a tremendous asset to him in his new position."

The 24-year old bachelor, who will begin his duties in early August commented, "I'm proud to be affiliated with East Carolina's outstanding athletic program. I look forward to associating with the fine people in the athletic department, and cooperating with the members of the local news media in any way possible."

Asked of any plans he may have, Evanson said, "It is too early to tell right now. I want to familiarize myself with the situation and get my feet on the ground. I am planning for the (Southern Conference) rouser and a program of advertising. I want to do a lot before the State game. It may be that that game will make or break me and I need to do a good job for it."

Commenting on the situation at ECU, Evanson said, "It is the ideal sports information site. This is a medium size school with a desire to get bigger. I feel that these are the best facilities for a school this size I have seen. Every one is interested."

I wanted to do this kind of work since I was in the eighth grade but I did not think I would get a job like this one soon."

Bevy Of Homers Marks First Round

By TOM FOREMAN JR. and CHIP LAMBETH
Reflector Staff Writers

Bunches of home runs and flirtation with a no-hitter highlighted first round action of the District IV Area 2 Little League Tournament held at Elm Street Park yesterday.

As far as the home runs go, a total of ten round-trippers were hit, with two of them coming by one player. The no-hitter was lost in the third game but resulted in a winning performance nevertheless.

The Greenville Tar Heel All-Stars took the opener with a convincing 6-2 victory over the Tarboro Little Leaguers. Greenville's North State entry dragged their battle with Seymour-Johnson AFB into an extra inning before bowing 10-9, and Roanoke Rapids-Weldon busted out an 11-4 win over Robersonville.

Warren County drew a bye in the opening round and will play this afternoon. Danny Carmon led a personal assault on Tarboro in the first game by pounding out three hits, including those two homers, and a run scoring double. He rapped five runs across the plate and came across three times himself. Each time, MacDonald Avery, the batter preceding Carmon, scored on a Carmon hit, therefore providing the other three runs for his team.

One blow in the third settle the ballgame. With Avery reaching on a walk, Carmon peled a shot around the flag pole in the center with two more runs, but his day was not over. With Avery on third after a single and two wild pitches in the fifth, Carmon hit his second homer of the day, a long drive over the right field wall.

Tarboro scored two in the fifth to make it respectable. With one down, Earl Johnson walked, reached second on a wild pitch, and moved over on an infield out. Rust Carter, then drilled a homer to right to make it 6-2.

Tarboro's final runs came on a succession of walks, one of which scored Keith Harper. Worthington obviously tired during the inning, and was relieved by David Carroll who nailed the door shut on Tarboro. Seymour Johnson and Greenville-North State played Alphonse-Gaston with their leads for most of the game. Rickey Pruitt's third inning circuit blow broke a scoreless draw. In the bottom of the inning, Greenville erupted for three runs and a temporary lead.

SJ scored five in the top of the fourth to regain a 6-3 lead. But Greenville refused to fold, scoring four in the bottom half. Marshall Crumpler hit the first pitch of the inning over the fence for one run, then after Joey Mattheis singled and Reggie Selby reached on a walk, Marty Worthington slapped a two-strike pitch deep to left. The ball scraped the top of the wall, but went over anyway, and victory seemed near at 7-6.

The Air Force gang tied it again when Todd Sloan reached on an error, moved up on a walk to Carl Foster, went to third on a Chuck Bowling infield hit, and scored on a sacrifice fly.

SJ sewed it up in the seventh when after Mark Rickard was forced at third, Rich McQueen singled and Michael Walsh reached on a fielders' choice. McQueen scored on a throwing error by the center fielder, and Walsh came home on Sloan's single. Sloan scored again on Foster's single.

North State could find only two runs in the seventh. After Will Sanderson's reaching on an error, Mac Stokes parked a John Wells pitch at the base of the hill near the right field bleachers. Greenville got two more on base, but a speared line drive spoiled the threat.

Wells, who relieved Sloan as pitcher, got the win, while Junior Hardee suffered the loss.

Chris Carsey's two-strike home run to right-center sparked Roanoke Rapids-Weldon's team to their big win. Other homers by Frederick Robinson and Tommy Dunn complemented Ed Gregory's pitching performance, but only up to a point.

An outburst of wildness by Gregory led to two Robersonville runs. Wiley Keel scored for Robersonville when he came from third as the result of a bases-loaded walk. With a force play coming at the plate, it appeared Gregory would survive. But he balked over runners to second and third. Glynn Cargile, one of those runners, scored on a single by Eddie Matthews.

Clay Roberson and Jeff James walked and Wiley Keel's infield hit loaded the bases. With one out, an infield grounder caught Keel, but scored Roberson. James later scored on a base hit by Sherwood Leggett.

Roberson and Carsey led the RR-W attack with three hits each.

Today's action will see Greenville's Tar Heel team meeting Weldon at 3 p.m. while Roanoke Rapids will take on Robersonville in the second game at 5 p.m. The championship game will be tomorrow at 5 p.m. Both today's and Friday's games will be played at the Elm Street park.

Stargell Looking To Later Months; Lockman Worrying About Right Now

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I've always believed that August and September are the crucial months of the season," says Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell. Whitey Lockman of the Chicago Cubs isn't even thinking that far ahead.

"Losing six in a row is not what I consider real adversity," Lockman said Wednesday after his Cubs lost 8-5 to San Diego in Chicago and nearly handed their first-place berth in the National League East to St. Louis. "The Cardinals are hot, but by the time we play them here the last weekend of July, we might be six or seven games ahead of them."

The Cubs are still a razor-thin half-game ahead of St. Louis, thanks to the San Francisco Giants, who snapped the Cards' five-game winning streak with an 8-3 victory.

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 3-2, the New York Mets lambasted Atlanta 12-2, Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 7-3 and Montreal edged Houston 3-2 in 10 innings.

What happened to the Cubs in Wrigley Field was almost symbolic of what's been happening to them the past few weeks, mainly disaster.

They lost All-Star third baseman Ron Santo indefinitely in a baseline collision. And Ferguson Jenkins lost the game under a hail of home runs by the Padres.

Santo hit a grounder and stretched to reach first base just before being tagged by Nate Colbert. Santo collapsed, was carried off the field on a stretcher and required hospital treatment for a muscle injury in his lower left back.

Jenkins, meanwhile, was tagged for his 26th, 27th and 28th homers of the season. Two of them came off the bat of Dave Roberts, whose second one put the Padres ahead for good in the seventh inning.

"Jenkins just has been throwing quite a few pitches too higher," said Lockman. And Jenkins added: "My arm is sound and I'm throwing as well as I ever had, but I've just become a goat in giving up the long ball. I don't know how to stop it."

The Cards were victimized by San Francisco's 14-hit attack. Gary Matthews led it with a two-run homer and a run-scoring double and Tito Fuentes kicked in with a pair of RBI singles in the Giants' 8-3 victory. But St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst was hardly pessimistic after failing to take over first place.

"It's just like when we tried to get to .500," he said, recalling that the Cards tried four times to make it and failed four times before finally getting to the break-even point. "Every time we had a chance we couldn't make it."

Tim McCarver was similarly philosophical. "I know it sounds trite, but you just have to continue to take one game at a time. If you continue working, if you continue fighting hard, then things'll take care of themselves."

Pirates 3, Dodgers 2
"Tonight we played the kind of ball the Dodgers have played and the kind you expect from the Pirates," said Stargell, whose 27th home run of the season in the sixth inning snapped a tie, gave Pittsburgh a 3-2 decision and halted Los Angeles' winning streak at seven games.

Stargell had a perfect four-for-four night with two singles, a double and the home run. "We won and that's what is most important," Stargell observed. "What we have to do now is put a good streak together. We really haven't done that all season, and you'd have to say we're overdue."

"We've got to show everybody in baseball that we're still got it in us," added winner Dock Ellis. "Tonight we played like we know we can play. I just hope it starts something."

Mets 12, Braves 2
Rusty Staub led the Mets' 15-hit 12-2 stampeding of the Braves with five runs batted in on a pair of homers, his ninth and 10th of the season, and a bases-loaded walk.

John Milner kicked in with a three-run homer, too. But Tom Seaver didn't really need all the fireworks. He pretty well shut down Atlanta on five hits.

"This is a hell of a park to hit in," Staub quipped. It was a hell of a day he had, someone suggested. "Let's hope it ain't the last one, gang," he shot back. The rest of the Mets probably agree on both counts. In the last 10 innings in Atlanta, New York has pounded out 19 runs and 23 hits.

Reds 7, Phillies 3
Andy Kosco had a hand in both of the rallies that carried Cincinnati past the Steve Carlton and the Phillies 7-3. Successive doubles by Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion gave the Reds two quick runs in the sixth inning and, after a walk, Kosco gave them three more with his second home run.

In the eighth, Concepcion and Kosco clubbed run-scoring doubles.

Expos 3, Astros 2
The Expos' Ron Hunt, who has a habit of getting hit by pitches, did it again—for the 22nd time this year and the (ouch!) 25th time of his black-and-blue career. It happened leading off the 10th inning against Houston's Cecil Upshaw.

"Normally I pick up the ball and slip it back to the pitcher as sort of an insult, just to show him it didn't hurt me," Hunt said. "This time, though, I didn't. I noticed how much he rubbed up that ball, how he seemed to like it. So I grabbed it and rolled it to our dugout, just to get him upset if I could."

Upshaw wasn't around long enough to get upset. Juan Pizarro took the mound immediately—and a few minutes later, with Hunt on third, unleashed a wild pitch that let Hunt come home with the decisive run in the 3-2 victory.

In the American League it was, Boston 6, Chicago 1; Minnesota 3, New York 0; Detroit 14, Kansas City 4; Milwaukee 3, Texas 0; Baltimore 5, Oakland 2 and, in 11 innings, Cleveland 10, California 8.

Lee, Colbert Show Off All-Star Form With Wins

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

As American League pitchers go, Bill Lee and Jim Colborn are not exactly household names.

Both were named to the American League All-Star team earlier this week, however, and Wednesday they showed why.

Lee, rumored to be on Boston's trading block this spring, pitched the Red Sox to a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, scattering eight hits. The victory moved Boston 1½ games behind the first-place New York Yankees in the AL East.

"Here I am, going to the All-Star Game, and last March I didn't know where I'd be in July," Lee said. "I kept hearing trade rumors, but I didn't want to go anywhere."

"Everything is fine now. This is a great opportunity...and don't think I'm not looking forward to the All-Star game next week."

Colborn, meanwhile, hurled a five-hitter—despite having his disagreements with home plate umpire Joe Brinkman—as the Milwaukee Brewers posted a 3-0 win over the Texas Rangers.

"He made me fight all the way tonight," noted Colborn. "I questioned a call in the fourth inning, and he hollered out, 'Don't start in, now.'"

"I understand he later called me a crybaby. It's a good thing I didn't hear him say that, or I would have been kicked out of the game."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins blanked the New York Yankees 3-0, the Detroit Tigers routed the Kansas City Royals 14-4, the Baltimore Orioles stopped the Oakland A's 5-2 and the Cleveland Indians beat the California Angels 10-8 in 11 innings.

Both Lee and Colborn are spending their first full season as regular starters, and both are making the most of the opportunity.

Lee appeared in 47 games for the Red Sox last year, all in relief. He posted a commendable 7-4 record with a 3.20 earned run average—a good season, but not a great one.

Colborn made 39 appearances last season, 27 of them in relief. He was 7-7 with a 3.11 ERA—again, good but not great.

Both have been keys to their teams' performance in the AL East.

When Boston Manager Eddie Kasko was looking for another arm to bolster his starting rotation earlier this season, he reached into the bullpen for Lee. The 26-year-old left-hander has responded with a 12-3 record and a sparkling 2.37 earned run average.

Tommy Harper provided the batting support for Lee against the White Sox, belting a three-run home run—his fourth homer in the past week.

"Tommy does so many things to help the club it's almost unbelievable," Kasko said. "He certainly has caught fire at the right time."

Colborn boosted his record to 13-5 and dipped his ERA to 2.78 with the shutout over Texas. Dave May cracked a two-run homer to back him up.

"Those two guys have just been going great," said Milwaukee Manager Del Crandall. "They've been pretty well carrying this team."

The Brewers are fifth in the AL East, but only ½ games out of first.

Twins 3, Yanks 0
Veteran Jim Kaat scattered six hits and designated hitter Tony Oliva smacked a two-run homer, leading the Twins to a 3-0 decision over New York at Yankee Stadium.

"I had my best stuff today, even better than when I pitched a one-hitter at California earlier this month," Kaat said.

Kaat fanned Yankee star Bobby Murcer with two men on in the bottom of the ninth.

"The key to the game was when I got a fastball over on Murcer in the ninth," Kaat said. "After that, I went to the breaking stuff again. There was no way I was going to help him—not in a park like this. He can hit it out on you, and he's done it to me before."

Not this time. Murcer fanned, ending the game.

Tigers 14, Royals 4
The Tigers tied their season highs for runs and hits, routing the Royals 14-4 with an 18-hit barrage highlighted by three-run homers by Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe.

Mickey Stanley and Duke Sims also homered for Detroit, while little Freddie Patek homered for Kansas City.

Joe Coleman, 15-8, was the beneficiary of the Tiger assault. Coleman ranks second in victories in the American League behind Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox, who has 18.

Orioles 5, A's 2
Merv Rettenmund led off the game with a homer, then added a two-run blast in the second inning, sending the Orioles on their way to a 5-2 decision over the Oakland A's.

Jim Palmer, 10-6, fired a six-hitter for Baltimore. Oakland's runs came on a two-run homer by Gene Tenace in the second inning, his 17th of the season.

Indians 10, Angels 8
John Ellis' two-out, two-run homer in the 11th inning lifted the Indians to a 10-8 decision over the Angels.

California had jumped out to an 8-3 lead on the strength of a five-run second inning. But Cleveland chipped away at the lead, tying the score with two runs in the ninth on singles by Buddy Bell and Oscar Gamble, a wild pitch and a single by Charlie Spikes.

In the National League, it was Pittsburgh 3, Los Angeles 2; San Diego 8, Chicago Cubs 5; San Francisco 8, St. Louis 3; New York Mets 12, Atlanta 2; Cincinnati 7, Philadelphia 3, and Montreal 3, Houston 2, in 10 innings.

Trevino Back To Schedule

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lee Trevino is back on his old, hard-working routine, a schedule that made him pro golf's fastest millionaire and an almost instant superstar.

"I'm going to play at least eight weeks in a row," Trevino said before teeing off today in the first round of the $210,000 St. Louis Children's Hospital Classic.

And that could be bad news for the rest of the players on the tour.

Earlier this year, Trevino experimented by taking time off to prepare for the big events—skipping competition the weeks prior to the American and British Opens. He didn't win either lect only some $30,000 in the last three months.

That's far off the pace of his two previous seasons. In those two years, he won a total of 12 tournaments and almost one-half million dollars. And it was in that period that he played almost every week—and seemed to play better for it.

"I just can't come back after a week off and play well," Trevino said. "I'm the type of individual that has to play all the time to have my game good and sharp."

And he said his game is good and sharp now—as he opens defense of his title in this event.

Lilly Undecided About Retirement

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

All-Pro defensive tackle Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys has canceled a news conference today in Dallas at which he had been expected to announce his retirement from the National Football League.

A team spokesman said late Wednesday night that the unhappy Lilly will fly back today to Thousand Oaks, Calif., where the team is training, with Tex Schramm, the club's general manager.

The spokesman, said, however, that Lilly has not reached a firm decision on whether to play another season in the NFL. An associate said the 33-year-old Lilly's decision to retire was caused by "a combination of a lot of things. There are a lot of unhappy players in camp."

If Lilly does not yield the Schramm's entreaties, he would become one of a long line of Cowboys who have retired since the end of last season. Center Dave Manders retired Tuesday, while off-season exits included such Cowboy stars as Lance, Alworth, Chuck Howley, Mike Ditka and George Andrea.

Quarterback Craig Morton has also absented himself from the Cowboy camp because of a contract hassle.

While departures were worrying the Cowboy coaching staff, it was the return of running back Duane Thomas that was creating a stir in the training camp of the San Diego Chargers.

Coach Harland Svare lifted the suspension he had placed on the moody former Dallas Cowboy star when he failed to report on time Sunday. Svare said, however, that an undisclosed fine would stick despite Thomas' return. Svare said Thomas phoned him Tuesday night and asked to come to camp.

Teammates are still waiting to welcome Larry Brown who is trying something that is a new first in the bizarre world of contract negotiations.

The 1972 NFL most valuable player has not reported to the Washington Redskins training camp at Carlisle, Pa. because he said he wants an agreement on a multi-year contract, beginning with 1974, after his current three-year pact ends.

In effect, what Brown is doing is holding out a year in advance, and Edward Bennett Williams, Redskins president, is having none of it.

Dennis Homan announced that he was retiring from pro football, after three years at Dallas and two at Kansas City. The pass catcher was sidelined much of last season with a hamstring injury.

Veteran running back Greg Jones left the San Francisco 49er camp, apparently ending his football career, while the 49ers placed eight other players on waivers.

The Dolphins announced that Larry Csonka had pulled a thigh muscle during a training camp workout and might miss the July 27 game against the College All-Stars in Chicago. Coach Don Shula said the injury will sideline Csonka for seven to 10 days.

The Philadelphia Eagles suffered their second major injury of the preseason when 260-pound rookie tackle Branislav Keser tore ligaments in his leg.

Linebacker Bob Creech suffered a similar injury Friday.

Newest Thing In Caddies Is One Called—Maynard?

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Maynard is a golf caddy who isn't bothered by the weather and never second-guesses your club selection.

He weighs about 130 pounds, but has no trouble with the heaviest bag.

Maynard operates on an electronic homing device and follows obediently about six feet behind his master. His body is polyethylene and his undercarriage resembles a tricycle.

The electronic caddy is being produced by Citation Manufacturing Co. at Siloam Springs. Virgil Alexander, the company president, says the firm has put several hundred prototypes in the field during the past two years and will probably start producing the devices at the rate of about 500 a month this month.

Alexander says the prime market for Maynard should be country clubs. He sees country club golfers renting Maynard in the same way they do riding carts.

Maynard is operated off two 12-watt batteries and is recharged after 36 holes similar to a riding cart.

"An awful lot of golfers prefer to walk and don't like to carry a bag or pull a pull cart," Alexander said, "Caddies are hard to come by and we think Maynard fits a niche in there."

Maynard is controlled by a transmitter which is usually attached to the golfer's belt. The transmitter, about the size of a cigarette pack, has an off-on switch.

Riva Ridge, the 1972 Kentucky Derby winner, won his first start as a four-year-old this year when he won a six-furlong Aqueduct sprint in one minute, eight and four-fifths seconds.

Tennis Is Outgrowing Golf Rapidly

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — The current tennis boom has reached such proportions that devotees don't just have to queue up for courts—now they're waiting in line to buy rackets, balls and clothes.

"We cannot make rackets and balls fast enough," added Paul MacDonald, head of the sporting goods division of international Dunlop. "Tennis business is growing at the rate of 25 to 40 per cent a year."

Another manufacturing spokesman figured the tennis market at $300 million and said it was far outstripping golf in rate of growth although still not up to the fairway sport in overall sales.

In the last five years tennis has become the fashionable "in" sport, triggering not only heavy demands for playing equipment and clothing but setting off an explosion of indoor and outdoor clubs.

These facilities range from balloon-type structures which cover two courts to swank suburban and mid-town clubs offering fashionable lounges, swimming pools and sauna baths.

Membership in some of these clubs costs from $2,000 to $5,000 a year. At some semi-private courts, players pay $10 an hour for a court and $35 an hour for professional lessons.

There are reported to be 15 million tennis players in the United States today compared with around 10 million golfers.

Jack Nicklaus played two hours of tennis after winning the Tournament of Champions at LaCosta in California earlier this year. Bobby Fischer tuned up for his world chess match against Boris Spassky by playing tennis and found the Russian following similar training procedures.

Democratization of the game probably is as much responsible as anything for the current tennis boom.

Moore-Connors Is Feature

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The $60,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships continued on a week-long collision course today with young Jimmy Connors scheduled to meet Ray Moore of South Africa in a feature match at Longwood.

Connors, a former UCLA star from Belleville, Ill., hopes to make a farce of the seedings. He is unseeded as a non-member of World Championship Tennis, the pro group which manipulated the seedings.

"I don't think there's anything wrong with the seedings," Connors said before eliminating top-seeded Stan Smith in an opening round match Tuesday night. "After all, if I can't get past Smith I don't deserve to go further."

Smith and eighth-seeded Tom Gorman have been the only seeded casualties in the tournament so far.

Second-seeded Arthur Ashe, a former U.S. Davis Cup star, advanced easily Tuesday night. Then the players seeded third through seventh moved through second round matches Wednesday.

Third-seeded Marty Riessen ousted Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., 6-4, 7-5, and fourth-seeded John Alexander of Australia survived a struggle in defeating Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Fifth-seeded Cliff Richey easily whipped Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia 6-2, 6-4, sixth-seeded Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y., eliminated Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, and seventh-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., downed Graham Stilwell of Great Britain 6-4, 6-4.

Queen candidates will be on hand at the box office to sell tickets. A probable TV will be given away to the lucky ticket holder, and one does not have to be present to win the TV.

Benefit Game

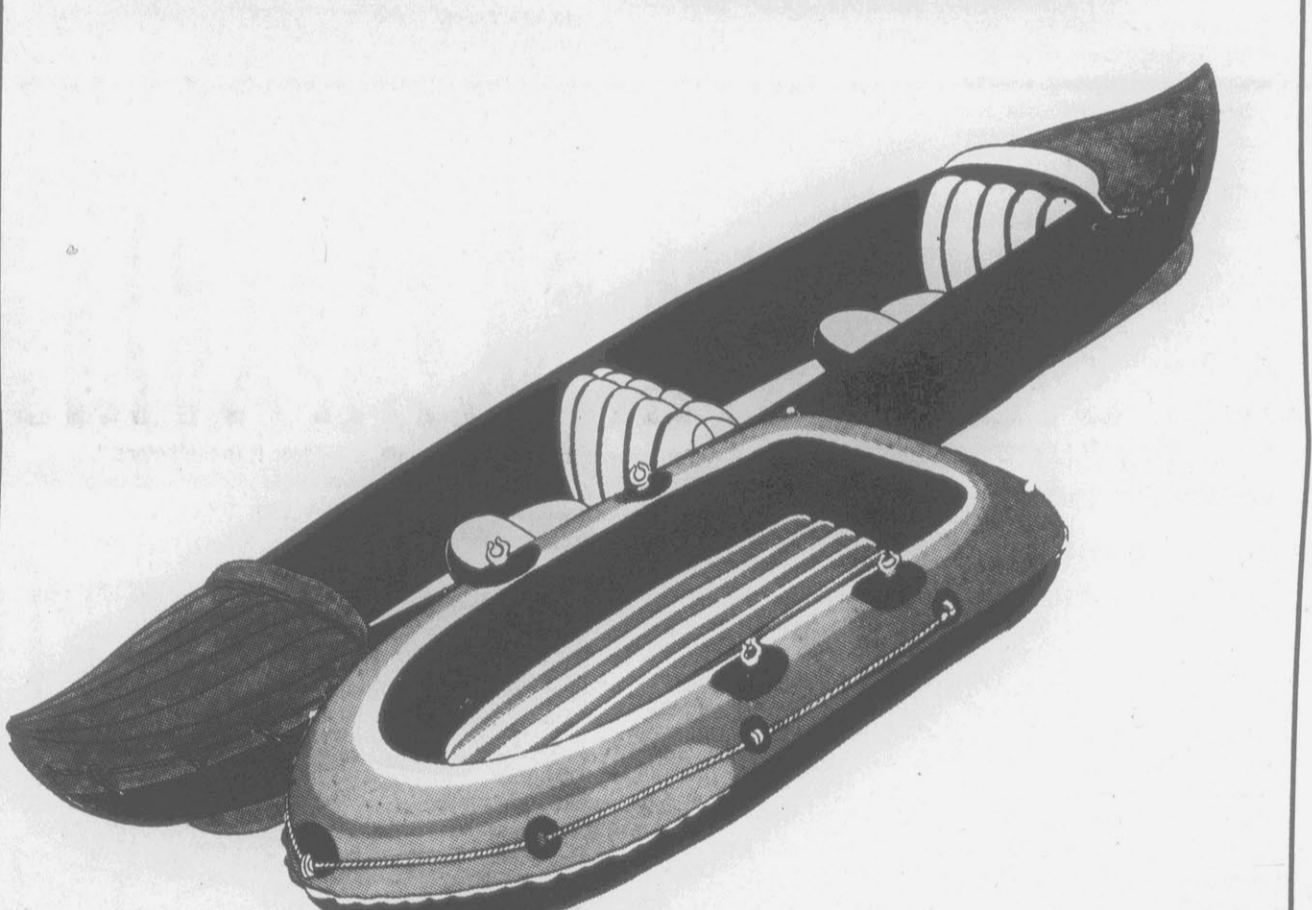

The Grifon Giants semi-pro baseball team is sponsoring a benefit ball game Saturday, July 21, at 8 p.m. at Grainger Stadium in Kinston with proceeds going to the Grifon Rescue Squad and the Rural Volunteer Fire Department.

Over 800 tickets have already been sold and the goal is 2000. Last year the Giants played to over 1100 persons in a similar benefit game for the Rescue Squad.

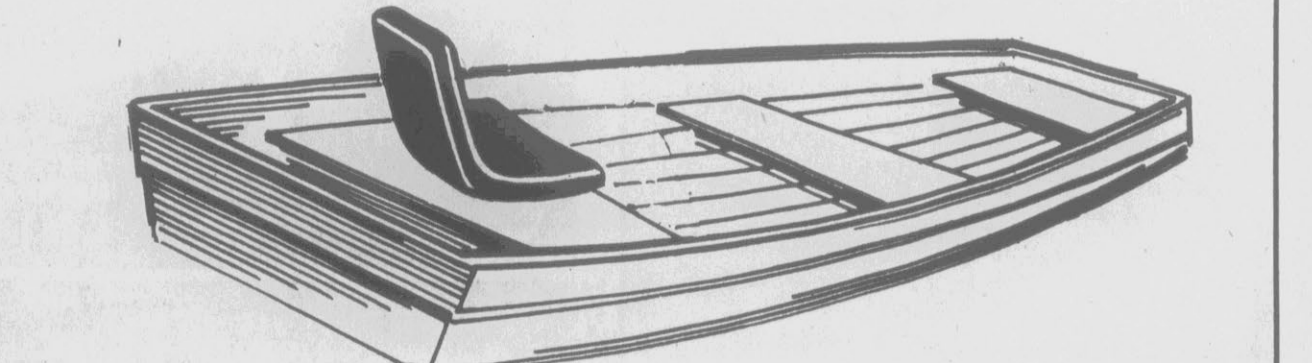

The Giants, with a 12 and 6 record so far this season, will meet the Durham Mets who have a 14 and 2 record.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Grifon Giants team or the Rural Volunteer Fire Department. In addition, several Grifon Shad

Canadian Hopeful For Vietnam

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The departing chief of Canada's peace-keeping delegation in Vietnam said today he is optimistic that Moscow and Peking will exert their influence for peace in Vietnam to improve their relations with Washington.

Ambassador Michel Gauvin left for Canada 12 days before his government pulls out of the International Commission of Control and Supervision. He said he is more optimistic about the prospects of peace in Vietnam than he was a month ago.

"This optimism is based on a number of assumptions which may prove wrong in the end,"

said the 53-year-old diplomat. "However, I am inclined to believe the key to peace in Vietnam is in the hands of Moscow and Peking, who are both interested in bettering their relations with the United States."

He criticized the two Communist members of the peace commission — Hungary and Poland — for refusing to condemn publicly the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese for cease-fire violations.

"They say to us, 'but you understand, it is impossible for us, it would not be understood in the Communist bloc countries,'" Gauvin reported.

Gauvin is returning to his previous post, Canada's ambassador to Greece. He had postponed his departure for two weeks because the Viet Cong were holding two Canadian officers captured in Communist territory. They were released last Sunday.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong announced that they have agreed on sites at which they will release captured civilians and military personnel, and the exchange will resume Monday after a delay of more than two months.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the Viet Cong by July 28 will release 252 civilians and 410 military men at a dozen different sites across South Vietnam, while the South Vietnamese side will free 4,331 civilians and 33 military men at Loc Ninh and Thien Ngon, near the Cambodian border 45 miles west of Loc Ninh.

Set Luncheon Discussion

Mayor S. Eugene West announced that a luncheon meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday for the purpose of reviewing and discussing the revised Positive Action Program for Greenville.

West said that the staff of the Mid-Ease Economic Development Commission has completed an updated version of the program, which is a requirement for continued participation in community assistance programs of the Economic Development Administration.

The luncheon will get underway at 12:30 p.m. at Parker's Barbecue on Memorial Drive.

GOP Hopes To Amend Minimum Wage Boost

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans say that unless a bill to raise the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour is scaled down, it faces an almost certain veto by President Nixon.

A final vote on the measure was set for today after the Senate on Wednesday rebuffed attempts to substitute the GOP proposal, generally acceptable to the Nixon administration, for the bill drawn by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

pected to defend it today against the renewed Republican attacks.

Although the GOP substitute would raise the basic minimum wage to $2.30 an hour by 1977, rather than to $2.20 in 1974, there were major differences involving who would be eligible for the minimum.

The Republican version would extend minimum-wage coverage—but not overtime—to five million federal, state and local government employees. It would not change existing exemptions or and create new ones.

The committee bill would extend coverage—with overtime—to the same government employees. In addition, it would bring one million domestic servants under minimum wage, and extend coverage, with overtime, to 562,000 employees of small businesses, and to workers in such small manufacturing-selling operations as bakeries and lumber yards.

The main bill also would repeal exemptions that have denied the minimum wage to milgrant and seasonal farm workers.

Backers of the committee bill described it as a humanitarian approach to helping low-income workers. But opponents pictured it as a threat to Nixon's economic-stabilization program.

What is now Tennessee was founded as the state of Franklin in 1784.

ards, a state permit would have to be obtained before construction could begin on large shopping centers, sports complexes, drive-in theatres and other sizable public facilities that tend to concentrate auto traffic.

The state hopes that by denying some permits, it will be able to avoid large concentrations of air pollution caused by the combination of industrial and automobile smoke.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency requires the state to regulate what it terms "complex sources" of air pollution.

Sponsors of the GOP substitute, turned down 57 to 40, said they are now hoping to amend the bill section by section. They claim the bill will speed inflation unless modified.

The vote against the less-generous substitute came despite cautioning from Republicans that the committee bill would probably be vetoed by President Nixon.

Sens. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., main sponsors of the committee bill, were expected to defend it today against the renewed Republican attacks.

Water-Air Board Plan For Beach Developers

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Board of Water and Air Resources was expected to approve a plan today designed to control real estate development along North Carolina's beaches.

The plan, tentatively approved Wednesday by a committee of the board, drew opposition from the Dare County Commissioners.

It would virtually halt the construction of each motel, condominium and apartment complexes planning to dispose of sewage through septic tanks.

Under the plan, sewage permits would be issued only to developments willing to install community-type sewage systems. Developers would be prohibited from installing sewage treatment plants less than 200 feet from adjacent property lines.

The Dare commissioners contended such a rule would put too tight a clamp on builders. They argued beach property is so expensive that a developer would have to build on lots wider than 400 feet in order to comply with the new rule.

The board was expected to formally announce a public hearing will be held Sept. 6 on proposed new standards for dealing with air pollution caused by the concentration of automobiles around regional shopping centers and other large public facilities.

Preaches On 'Faith Alone'

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says faith, not works, is the basis for admission to heaven.

"Faith plus nothing" will bring people salvation, he told a crowd of 33,700 Wednesday night during his Upper Midwest Crusade here.

He preached on Martin Luther's favorite text. "The just shall live by faith."

"Billy Graham is not perfect," he declared. "We are saved only by the grace of God."

Old Testament Patriarch Abraham, the Apostle Paul, reformer Martin Luther, hymn writer John Newton and contemporary Christians will get into heaven only on the basis of God's grace, he insisted.

Newton, who wrote the currently popular song, "Amazing Grace," became a Christian after a life of utter depravity in the West African slave trade, Graham told the crowd.

He said probably nobody in the audience had "sunk as low as Newton."

When he asked those who wanted to put their faith in Jesus Christ to step forward as an expression of that faith, an estimated 1,500 came down the aisle to stand before Graham's platform.

Andrew Johnson, who became president, learned to read and write after he married.

Rep. Rountree To Head House Subcommittee

Pitt Rep. Horton Rountree has been named head of a House Appropriations Subcommittee which will study the new state format and coordinate activities between the legislative and executive branches.

Rountree was named to head the subcommittee by House Appropriations Committee chairman Rep. Carl J. Stewart, D-Gaston.

A similar subcommittee in the Senate, headed by Sen. James B. Garrison, D-Stanley, was named by Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

A total of eleven representatives and five senators make up the committees.

SCLC Leaders Say Changes Needed If To Survive

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — If the Southern Christian Leadership Conference is to survive, it must make some changes in its organization and define relevant goals for a more sophisticated era, its leaders say.

Five years after the death of its charismatic leader and founder, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., SCLC faces declining fortunes and an uncertain future.

Some observers say the organization, so effective during the tumultuous civil rights crusades of the 1960s, is already dead, an anachronism kept around for its sentimental value.

The sudden resignation of its president, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, and his accusations that King's widow could have helped SCLC more financially, have raised the question of its survival.

All of the members of the national board of directors who were reachable for comment, including King's widow, Coretta, feel that SCLC should and will continue.

"I'm deeply concerned about the future of the organization," said Mrs. King. "I certainly would hope that we can find a way to restructure SCLC so that it can continue in the forefront using direct action when necessary, but at the same time changing its thrust to meet the new demands of the '70s..."

The organization's financial straits have been on a steady decline for the past several years. Last fall, when it cut off 21 employees, several key staffers resigned in protest and without them, Abernathy says he could not carry on a vibrant program.

Founded by King 16 years ago, the organization uses massive non-violent protests as a tactic in fighting segregation. To many, King was the institution itself and some feel its influence began waning with his assassination in 1968.

"There's no question that SCLC has made a tremendous impact in the lives of millions of blacks and poor people in this country," said Mrs. King. "It has represented great hope and continues to represent great hope for the vast majority of black people and poor people."

The widow of the famed civil rights leader, who has been mentioned by some as a possible successor to Abernathy, says a way must be found to make SCLC relevant to the '70s.

She said demands of this decade call for a stronger political orientation for the organization and noted that the Rev. Andrew Young, a top aide of King's, is now a congressman, as is another SCLC leader, Walter Fauntroy.

Asked if she would accept the SCLC presidency if the board offered it, Mrs. King replied:

"I'm president of the Martin Luther King Center for Social Change and that is a tremendous job. This is a permanent kind of memorial so that its development goes on and on... I will continue my efforts to support SCLC and what it represents."

Bernard Lee, executive assistant to Abernathy, says SCLC needs more persons involved in its decision making. "Autocratic leadership is a thing of the past, the board itself needs to participate more," said Lee.

"We're not riding at the back of the bus any more and we can eat at lunch counters now," he added. "What we need is to define our goals and come up with relevant goals we can achieve."

"We're in a more sophisticated era now, but the most crucial period in the lives of the people in this country," said Lee.

"What we're facing now is a class struggle. The question is whether the haves are going to share with the have nots," he added, saying SCLC must work to "really enhance the life style of Americans."

Last week, Lee called on Abernathy and Mrs. King to meet "to discuss their differences." He said personal conflict between them had played a major role in Abernathy's decision to resign. There has been no such meeting as yet.

When Abernathy resigned July 9, he criticized fellow middle class blacks for failing to support SCLC. He also rebuked Mrs. King for giving contributions to the King center instead of SCLC.

Mrs. King declined comment on the matter of financing but Congressman Fauntroy said she had contributed more than $750,000 from the proceeds of the King documentary film to SCLC. Mrs. King also was the personality around whom an art sale and fund-raising dinner were developed and the $250,000 raised was given to SCLC, he said.

Jesse Hill, a prominent black Atlanta businessman and SCLC board member as well as a board member of the King center, said, "In recent months Mrs. King has given priority to the King center... she has an ambitious program for it."

But, like several other SCLC board members, Hill says there's room for both organizations and that Mrs. King has a right to her own priorities.

"SCLC is surviving," said Hill, "and it can continue under certain conditions."

Congressman Young said, "There's got to continue to be a nonviolent movement and SCLC should continue in that movement." Without SCLC and the demonstrations with King, said Young, "I wouldn't be in Congress now."

Another SCLC board member, the Rev. Thomas Kilgore of Los Angeles, says:

"As a boy, I grew up on a farm. Often we would do rough and tumble work—clearing land, moving boulders, cutting down trees. That is what the civil rights movement was like in the '60s. Now we must see that the seed that was planted is cultivated."

The civil rights battle will now be directed more toward politics and economics, said Kilgore, thereby strengthening the position of all blacks.

"I think SCLC will have a future because there are many issues in this nation which have not been resolved," said the Rev. J.D. Greer, an Atlanta board member.

Claude Young of Detroit, the organization's national secretary, says "SCLC is moving from protesting to programming." Their group is sponsoring programs to treat venereal disease and malnutritional anemia in black slums, he said.

The loosely knit organization of numerous church affiliates without formal rank-and-file membership has always had financial struggles, even under King. King gave the bulk of his Nobel Peace Prize money to SCLC.

Most of its funds come from mail appeals and it draws some from foundations, labor unions, churches and staff speaking engagements.

"I hope the future of all civil rights organizations will someday be that they're not necessary," said Young, the national secretary.

Veto Threat Is Defied On War Powers Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has ignored a veto threat by President Nixon and approved a bill that would require presidents to halt within four months any war commitments they make unless Congress grants approval.

The bill was passed 244 to 170 after Nixon served notice by telegram that "I am unalterably opposed to and must veto any bill containing the dangerous and unconstitutional restrictions" in it.

The Senate could approve its own war powers bill Friday, setting the stage for an early showdown between Nixon and Congress.

Nixon's telegram was read to the House by Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, who objected to the bill saying it would let Congress force a war halt in 120 days by "twiddling our thumbs" and doing nothing.

"If we don't want a conflict continued the Congress should have the courage and the guts to stand up and vote against it," Ford said.

The bill also came under fire from the House's most outspoken war critics, who contended it would give presidents authority to wage war on their own for 120 days.

"I think there are enough loopholes in this bill to fly sorties of B52s through," said Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y.

Nixon specifically cited the bill's two major features as the "dangerous and constitutional restraints" he said he would have to veto.

The first would require presidents to pull back any U.S. combat force commitments or force enlargements they made on their own in 120 days, unless Congress approved the commitments by then.

The second provides that Congress can order the war action halted any time during the 120 days with a House-Senate concurrent resolution that presidents could not veto.

But Nixon said in the telegram he would welcome, and urged, Congress to work out a bill to assure it "its proper role in national decisions of war and peace."

Although the President did not specify what he would accept, Ford told the House he believed the President would be sympathetic to a substitute bill proposed by Rep. David W. Dennis, R-Ind.

But the House rejected Dennis' bill 250 to 166. It would have required Congress to approve or disapprove a president's war action within 90 days and it did not have the provision enabling Congress to halt a war with a resolution a president could not veto.

The House also rejected three proposals by opponents who contended the bill would, in effect, authorize the President to conduct war operations on his own for 120 days.

Work Exhibited By Art Student

Gaye Carter Rosental, senior student in the East Carolina University School of Art, is showing examples of her work in a campus exhibition this week.

A candidate for the AB degree in interior design, Mrs. Rosental plans to join an architectural firm upon graduation. Her exhibition is on view at the third floor gallery of Rawl Building.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle F. Carter Jr. of Salisbury. She previously graduated from UNC-Chapel Hill with the AB degree in education.

Running Now For Ervin Seat

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Mike Mullins, a freshman Republican state representative, says he is running for the Senate seat now held by Democrat Sam Ervin Jr. But Mullins, 32-year-old Charlotte lawyer, added Wednesday that an official announcement won't be forthcoming for several months, and there is a chance he could drop out.

"We haven't reached a point of no return on this thing yet," he said. "Some big game, like Jim Broyhill (Republican congressman from the 10th District) could surface, and that would mean 'get out; you don't have a chance.'"

The election is next year.

Pilot Award To Tar Heel Club

BOSTON (AP) — Pilot Club International's Kannapolis, N.C., chapter has won the organization's Gold Cup award for the best all-around safety program.

The award was presented Wednesday during the annual convention in Boston.

Pilot Club International is a service organization for professional women.

The top safety award, which carries a $500 prize, went to the Pilot Club of Sapulpa, Okla., judged to have done the most to promote traffic safety during the past year.

Spanish Town Dreams Of Day Ford Moves In

by BARRY WATERS
ALMUSAFES (UPI) — A scent of citrus hangs over the fertile earth of Almusafes, where for centuries the inhabitants have lived by tending their orchards and rice fields.

Soon industrial smells may invade the air—and most of the 3,752 inhabitants are eagerly hoping for the day.

For Almusafes, which lies on the Mediterranean coast 13 miles south of Valencia and enjoys springlike weather nine months of the year, wants to be the site of a $350 million Ford auto plant recently given the go-ahead by the Spanish government.

"There's not much talk about pollution around here," said Francisco Roig, owner of the Bar Barrachina, where workers meet for a glass of wine on their way to the fields and old men sit in the sun and play cards or dominoes.

"It will be for the benefit of the whole village. A land that is not industrialized is a poor place. And here's our chance to catch up."

In fact, Almusafes, with its good farmland divided among smallholders, is far from poor by Spanish standards. There is seasonal emigration to find work in the Ibiza construction industry or the French wine harvest, but it is limited to about 200 families. The average daily wage in the fields of Almusafes is 400 pesetas—well above the legal 186 minimum.

Letters Swamp U.S. Embassy
 But though Almusafes may not need Ford—as do many of the small towns in Spain's more barren regions that petitioned for the factory—Almusafes definitely wants it.

"There's no doubt that a big majority are for it," said local doctor Jose Manuel Molto. "Though it will radically change the lifestyle of the town—from an agricultural to an industrial community. The discussions are not about 'do we want it' but 'will it come.'"

Almusafes is the most likely site, but there are two other possible towns in the area which also have the advantages of cheap land and closeness to a large urban labor pool. They, however, seem small competition considering that originally more than half of Spain's 50 provinces applied to house the plant, which will create 8,000 jobs and produce 240,000 vehicles a year.

One town, Talavera de La Reina, in the barren windswept plains southwest of Madrid delivered 75,000 letters to the U.S. embassy in Madrid asking Ford to choose them.

In Almusafes there is a touching faith that they will be selected.

Boasts of Climate
 Our climate is ideal for Ford," said one of the Bar Barrachina's patrons. "You could hardly expect him to choose Zaragoza or the Basque country with all that cold weather. Think what Ford will save here in heating bills."

But more concrete reasons for the choice are Almusafes' good road and rail links with the conveniently placed port of Valencia and its proximity to a new steel complex at Sagunto—Spain's largest and a consortium which includes U.S. Steel.

Ironically, some industrial sources say, it is the very innocence of the people that has recommended Almusafes to Ford. Seeking to avoid the union disputes that have severely hit production at its Dagenham, England plant, Ford was looking for an area not noted for its collective action, the sources said.

For though Almusafes has a local Agricultural Co-operative, it has been relatively ineffective as a bargaining force in the face of the declining profitability of orange-growing.

Land Price Hiked
 Political sources said there may have been some "gentle nudging" by the Spanish Government to direct Ford to the Valencia region where citrus and vegetable-growing have been hard hit by Spain's non-membership in the Common Market and increased international competition.

But not all the farmers are happy as the auto industry has preferential status under Spanish law and land for the factory can be obtained by compulsory purchase.

The original offer of 66,000 pesetas ($1,160) per 832 square motor plot has been upped to 88,000 pesetas ($1,500) but those who will lose their land are still not satisfied.

Amparo Gilabert Peiro, 27, is the daughter of one such farmer.
 "Unless they put up the price it will ruin him. At 70 my father is too old to find another job and the money won't buy land like this. It may be a great thing for Spain to have this factory, but it won't be easy for us. It'll mean a big change. The young ones will probably adapt but I don't know about the old people."

A Little More

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A spokesman for Exxon says a little more gasoline has become available in the nation, although the shortage is not over.

"We'll probably get through the summer with only spot shortages in specific locations," John P. Reidy, public relations manager in the Charlotte regional office, said in an interview Wednesday.

He said Exxon has suspended its gasoline allocation program for in most places east of the Rocky Mountains for 30 days. After that period, the situation will be reviewed.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you can get the support of those who can help you gain your cherished longings and can come to a new meeting of minds. At the same time there are delays and obstacles holding up a full realization of your potentials until the evening when events clear so you can accomplish much.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Contact one who can help you gain your most cherished aims. Plan how to progress more quickly in career matters. Any intimate chores can be handled well now. Evening is fine for the theater.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Look to a good friend for the assistance you need for whatever is important to you now. Complete those financial dealings that were impossible yesterday. Evening is fine for being with good friends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get busy at those public and career matters that are important to your advancement. Problems may crop up that you should be prepared for. Talks with higher-ups can produce excellent results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have the power to gain the aims you seek by joining with the right people now, those who are experienced. Get the data you need and prepare yourself for the powerful projects ahead. Show you have ability.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Get busy working out those requests others come out with even if they are not very interesting and satisfy them. Do not disturb mate during day who is busy with outside activities. Evening is best for talking.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Excellent time to show partners you know what they expect of you and understand their needs, but don't discuss that joint interest until later. Take the initial steps so you gain more backing in public affairs.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) There is much work ahead of you and you would be wise to forget fun and keep at it until it is done. Take the health treatments that give you more vim and vigor. Get out with good friends tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Having fun is fine provided you do not spend too much if you cannot afford it. Take the time to make some very creative work more perfect. Do some

The 'Worry Clinic' Cannot Ignore Basic Appetite

Tina is typical of the usually happy wife who loves her husband truly. But she ignores the simple medical fact that husbands have greater appetites than do wives, both at the dinner table and in the boudoir. Smart wives prevent divorce by boudoir cheesecake.

Sleeping Pills Sais 'Worse'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Sleep problems are one of the most common reasons for consulting a physician," says Dr. Joseph Fermaglich, a Georgetown University neurologist.

"In most cases, sleeping pills which are prescribed only worsen the problem," he said. Why? Sleeping pills inhibit dreaming—during which certain emotions and feelings are released. "If we are deprived of our dreams, we wake up tense, nervous and unrested, even though we may have slept eight hours or more," Dr. Fermaglich explained. See?

Gen. Robert E. Lee was offered command of Union forces at the outbreak of the civil war, but turned it down to lead the southern Army.

civic work that can help you and a good segment of the community.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Even though you may have to be in the business world, think of conditions at home and what should be done about them. Plan just how to have more harmony at home. Avoid one who wants to fool you in some way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you get shopping and other errands done early so you can be at the hobbies that really delight you later. Communicating with others is easy now. Show you are a very intelligent person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Introduce more economical measures in your field of operations for fine results; build up a sizable fund. Once you handle problems, have a good time in a social way tonight. Think logically.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your reflection in the mirror and make yourself more attractive so others will be drawn to you more. Gad about socially and go after the aims that mean much to you. Take the exercise you need.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will get quite emotional as the years go by, so be sure to teach early to be more objective and avoid this happening to any great extent. Teach that problems are a testing ground for the ability to advance. Your offspring will respond to spiritual and ethical training and should have such lessons early. Do not force sports on this youngster, who would be better off with music.

Opening lead: Nine of ♣.
One of the first plays a neophyte at bridge learns is the finesse. It is a measure of his progress when he finds that there are occasions when a finesse should be avoided in favor of an alternate method. Note South's technique on this deal.

North's one spade response to the one club opening put a damper on South's prospects, and he contented himself with a simple rebid of his suit. However, when North showed a big hand with his jump on the second round, South felt free to introduce his second suit. As South was probably 6-4 on this auction [with four diamonds and five clubs, he probably would have opened the bidding with one diamond], North felt he had enough to proceed directly to slam.

West found the only lead to cause declarer a problem—a trump. With a spade or a diamond lead, declarer can ruff two diamonds in dummy, discard a heart on the ace of spades and, if trumps split no worse than 3-2, take the heart finesse for an overtrick.

It seemed that declarer would have to find the king of hearts with West to bring in his slam. However, a 50 pct. chance did not appeal to South, and after some thought he found a more attractive line.

The trump lead was won with the ace, the ace and king of diamonds were cashed and a diamond was ruffed in dummy. Declarer returned to his hand with a spade ruff and drew the outstanding trumps. Then he led his fourth diamond.

Had West held the remaining diamond, declarer would have had to rely on the heart finesse for his contract. However, Dame Fortune smiled on South, for East won the fourth diamond and was endplayed.

With nothing left but cards in the major suits, East had to lead into one of dummy's tenaces. The ace-queen in whichever suit East elected to lead and the ace of the other suit took care of South's three hearts.

Phony Tags On The Big Haulers

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The license tag for one of those 18-wheel tractor-trailer trucks hauling freight on Alabama highways cost up to $780. But now and then you can see one of the huge diesel-powered rigs rumbling down the road in a distant state with an Alabama tag which sells for $32.

The cheaper tags are intended for small, private trucks which don't haul goods for hire. But they show up in states like Massachusetts or Pennsylvania on big commercial carriers which probably don't cross state lines.

If the truckers bought tags in their own states, according to license schedules on file in the Alabama Revenue Department, they would have to pay perhaps 10 times as much. And in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, at least, there also is a tax on the value of the truck.

Alabama also has a property tax on motor vehicles. But out-of-state truck operators get by without paying it by claiming to be newly arrived residents and giving rural addresses.

The sale of P-1 tags, meant for small trucks and apparently bought by many out-of-state firms, has become a flourishing business in one north Alabama county—Dekalb.

From last Oct. 1 through May of this year, 161 of the P-1 tags were issued in Dekalb County for six and 10-wheel tractors, the kind used to pull heavily loaded trailers.

They were sold to trucklines, leasing companies, movers, and individual owners of some of whom operated several trucks.

By law, says the Revenue Department, a P-1 tag can be used only on a not-for-hire truck whose "gross vehicle weight" is no more than 12,000 pounds. Henry P. Draughton, chief of the department's motor vehicle license division, says "gross vehicle weight" includes the tractor, trailer and the heaviest load it can carry—"the whole combination going down the road."

Where it is recorded at all, copies of the P-1 tag receipts issued in Dekalb usually list the "owner-declared gross vehicle weight" at 12,000 pounds, the legal maximum for those tags. In many instances, no weight is given on the receipt.

One receipt, issued to Ghent Leasing Co., gave the weight at 18,000 pounds, three tons over the limit on the face of it.

Curiously, 128 of the P-1 tags issued in the county from October through May were sold after Jan. 1 even though, in Alabama, resident truckers must buy their licenses by Nov. 15 or pay a penalty. On most if not all of the Dekalb County P-1 receipts dated after Jan. 1, there is no record of a penalty paid.

Out-of-state truckers who claimed to be new residents of the county would not have to pay the extra fee.

The P-1 tags issued in Dekalb County were sold mostly to purchasers giving an address on Rt. 4, or Rt. 2, or Rt. 6 Fort Payne, the county seat.

An Alabama trucker, Mike Knight, says one of his drivers told him of seeing several out-of-state tractor-trailer rigs at truck stops in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania with Ala-

But of the 50 or more companies or individuals which bought the tags—some of them purchased 20 or more—only one, Billings Trucking Co., has a permit to haul freight in Alabama, says the state's regulatory agency, the Public Service Commission.

Billings, which bought one P-1 tag for a 1967 GMC tractor and another for a 1971 GMC, has an Interstate Commerce Commission permit which gives the company's home address as North Wilkesboro, N.C.

An Alabama trucker, Mike Knight, says one of his drivers told him of seeing several out-of-state tractor-trailer rigs at truck stops in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania with Ala-

Being 'Nervous' Termed Normal

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Being nervous or anxious is a universal experience," according to psychiatrist Charles R. Tartaglia.

The Georgetown University authority says this about being nervous: "It can be useful in keeping up alertness or it can inhibit and overwhelm." No one can avoid it or anxiety altogether. It can be made worse by bad weather and fatigue. He suggests as an RX: "Shoot down phantoms which feed anxiety and try to face the facts instead."

Quick Test Determines A Narcotic

DARMSTADT, Germany (UPI)—Wolfgang Fischer pulled on a white smock and rummaged in a wire basket filled with vials marked Opium, Hashish, Heroin and Cocaine.

He tapped some white cocaine crystals onto a dish, then plucked an eyedropper from a little bottle marked "Cocaine Test" and squeezed 10 drops onto the cocaine.

Finally, he dipped a speck of chemically-treated paper into the cocaine mush. A dark blue stain spread over the paper and Fischer straightened up, smiling.

"Positive test for cocaine," he said.

"Normally, you'd have to send this stuff to a laboratory and wait weeks for the results.

"But anyone can do this, anywhere, in minutes. A policeman, for example."

Fischer is a chemist at E. Merck, Inc., a pharmaceutical firm that is offering police and druggists throughout Europe and the United States what it describes as a new weapon in the drug detection field.

The kit demonstrated by Fischer looks about like a cardboard cigarette carton, glossy white and without any markings on the outside.

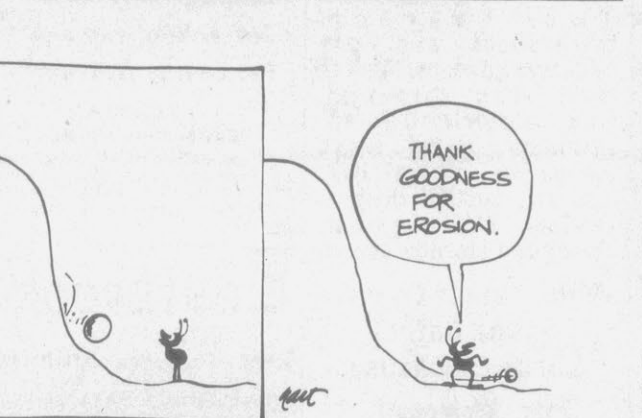

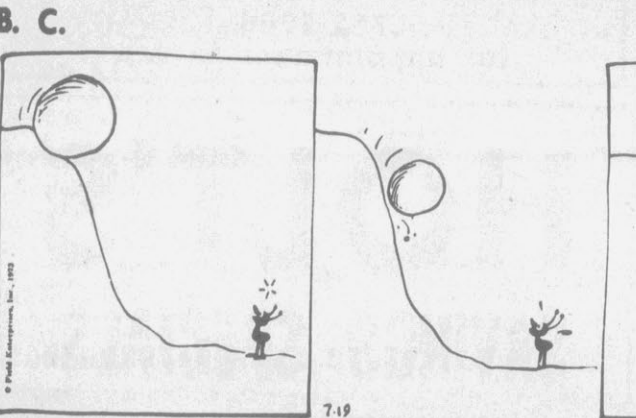

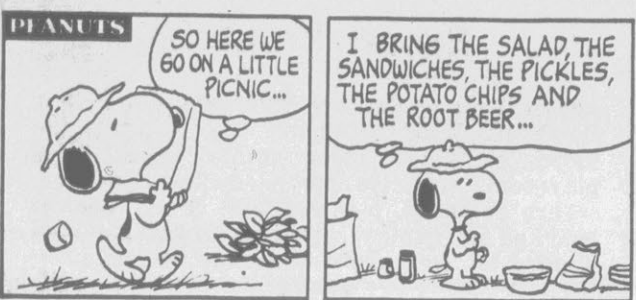

The contents vary according to the drugs prevalent in a given market area. The European model holds eye-dropper tests for LSD, hashish, opium, morphine; cocaine—enough solution and color-papers to make 30 tests for each drug, at a total cost of about 85 marks ($29).

"The kit is already in use at every border crossing in West Germany," a major crossroads for narcotics smugglers, said Dr. Georg Seitz, who developed the quick-test.

It is also available to police and druggists in Austria, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and Ireland, and is in manufacture in the United States, he said.

Warns Love In Home Vanishing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Where has love gone? That's a question asked by John L. Thomas, S.J., a Georgetown University sociologist. Father Thomas says in the family there is an increasing tendency to impersonal relations. There is a lack of affection and warmth and relaxation in the home, he says.

Drug Test Widely Used
The product is an instant drug analysis kit, compact enough to be carried by a policeman on his beat and designed to identify the whole range of illegal drugs on the spot, by color-reaction.
The kit demonstrated by Fischer looks about like a cardboard cigarette carton, glossy white and without any markings on the outside.
The contents vary according to the drugs prevalent in a given market area. The European model holds eye-dropper tests for LSD, hashish, opium, morphine; cocaine—enough solution and color-papers to make 30 tests for each drug, at a total cost of about 85 marks ($29).

Test Interests Police
For prosecution, a final lab test would be required in any event," he said.
"But the advantage of this test to police is that an officer must decide very quickly whether he should hold or release a suspect, and too often the police have to wait on the lab for analysis of what they've found."
Seitz said police in Austria, the United States and U.S. military police in Germany had expressed interest in equipping their narcotics forces with the quick-test.
"We also hope to sell the kit to drug stores so that concerned parents who find strange substances in their child's room might have the opportunity to have the substance analyzed by the drug-gist," he said.
"But sale to individuals is unlikely, because there is some concern among police officials that drug traffickers would buy the kit to test the purity of their wares."

LBJ Birthday A State Holiday
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas has set aside Aug. 27 as a state holiday to honor Lyndon B. Johnson, who was born on that date.
Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed a bill declaring the holiday with the same pen the late President used to sign the 1968 proclamation creating a United Nations Day in honor of Harry S. Truman.

Peace Groups Re-Gear To Stress Amnesty Effort

By BARTON REPERT
Associated Press Writer
"Hell no! We won't go!"
And thousands of them didn't.
Young men who resisted the draft or deserted the military, acting often out of high principle and sometimes plain self-interest. Young men who fled the country, went underground or accepted terms in prison.

War resisters: To some, criminals who must pay for shirking their responsibilities while patriots served. To others, true prisoners of war who now need amnesty to regain their freedom.

tion the issue of amnesty takes. In view of Nixon's opposition, the prospect of a general amnesty now appears dim.

Nevertheless, peace and church groups have begun re-gearing the antiwar movement into an amnesty campaign.

More parents of war resisters are speaking out about the impact of exile and imprisonment on their families.

Pro-amnesty organizers are concentrating initially on local and regional efforts to distribute information and sound out community sentiment.

Many are careful to avoid the kind of optimistic declarations that frequently marked the early stages of the antiwar movement. And most politicians, even those who vehemently criticized the Vietnam war, are reluctant to touch the issue.

"I would say generally the word amnesty is a scare word at this point to a majority of people — it's not a positive word," says Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., an outspoken opponent of the war.

A variety of groups are behind a newly emerged National Council for Universal Unconditional Amnesty. Formed last May, the council includes representatives from the American Civil Liberties Union, the Vietnam Veterans Against the War and the National Council of Churches.

The council is urging unconditional amnesty for all draft resisters, Vietnam-era deserters and GIs with less than honorable discharges, as well as persons arrested in demonstrations, draft board raids and other antiwar activities.

This kind of blanket amnesty would be extended under a bill introduced by Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.

A universal amnesty would also affect GIs classified as deserters for being AWOL for more than 30 days, returned deserters now in brigades and stockades, plus some 400,000 Vietnam-era veterans who received general, undesirable, bad conduct or dishonorable discharges.

Most of the 29,000 deserters at large are believed to be underground in the United States. The Pentagon says about 2,500 are known to be in foreign countries, including some 600 in Sweden.

Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, and Rep. Edward Koch, D-N.Y., have introduced bills that would permit draft evaders to return if they agree to perform two or three years of alternate civilian service in hospitals, the Peace Corps, VISTA or other agencies.

Even the most optimistic amnesty supporters admit the chances for passage of the Abzug universal amnesty bill are minuscule.

The Taft-Koch conditional amnesty plan, moreover, has been severely attacked from both sides — by proponents of amnesty who criticize it as unfairly punitive and by amnesty foes who argue that it would encourage disrespect for law and dishonor the sacrifice of American servicemen in Indochina.

The President's anti-amnesty stance has the backing of many returned POWs and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

One returned prisoner, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Plumb Jr. of Overland Park, Kan., asserted: "I feel that every American by birth has a tacit social contract with his government. Those fellows denied that contract. I don't believe it is in the best interest of the United States to welcome them with open arms after that breach."

Jack Colhoun, an Army deserter and coeditor of a journal for exiles in Canada, expresses the attitude of many exiles in arguing that "amnesty really is what the war was about."

"If the war was wrong, then how can war resisters be wrong for leading the American people to understand that the war in fact was wrong? If we were right, why should we be punished with two or three years of alternate service or jail?"

Church groups supporting amnesty contend that whether the war resisters were right, amnesty is needed to help promote reconciliation.

"Healing the lesions in our society left by the war in Indochina will require human compassion and political forbearance," said a policy statement by the general board of the National Council of Churches.

Program In Agribusiness

Ed Yancey, Pitt County Extension chairman, reported that North Carolina State University is offering agribusiness management as a new curriculum option in Agricultural Economics.

The agribusiness industry, Yancey said, includes all those business activities related to farming and agricultural production; to supply agricultural inputs and services; and to the assembly, processing and distribution of agricultural products through the marketing network which reaches from the farm to consumer both here and abroad.

The chairman contended that one out of every five young men and women in high school today will find a career in the agribusiness industry. Many of these careers, he said, will involve some phase of management including such diverse positions as banking executives, farm managers, grain dealers, consulting home economics, commodity futures brokers, and farm equipment dealers.

Yancey said that the new curriculum option will allow a student to specialize in Animal Science, Crop Science, or Agricultural Engineering, for example, and still have a major in Agricultural Economics.

Persons interested in further information about the program should contract the Pitt Extension Office in Greenville.

At a news conference March 2, President Nixon said:

"I would say I can think of no greater insult to the memories of those who fought and died, to the memories of those who have served, and also to our POWs, to say to them that we are now going to provide amnesty for those who deserted the country or refused to serve. We are not going to do so, and I do not intend to change my position."

On the other side, Edward Sowder, a deserter who turned himself over to military authorities May 24 after two years underground:

"We are not criminals to be hunted and imprisoned. Only by winning universal, unconditional amnesty for all categories of war resisters can we begin the long process of changing our country and learning from the decade of blood and bitterness in Indochina."

The figures are approximate but impressive:

More than 29,000 GIs now at large classified as deserters — it's not known how many deserted in opposition to the war; 13,600 men convicted or under indictment on draft charges and some 10,000 others under investigation; 240 in prison for resisting the draft.

Some are able to come back from Canada or elsewhere after finding out they face little risk of prosecution. Others have been forced to return because of toughened regulations abroad or personal hardship. Thousands of others are trying to live underground.

What happens to these men depends largely on what direc-

Pitt Revenue

Net one per cent sales and use tax collections in Pitt County for the month of June amounted to $123,460, according to J. Howard Coble, State Department of Revenue secretary.
