

Ehrlichman On Secrets Theft

Nixon Ordered Aides To Take 'Necessary Steps'

WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman testified today that President Nixon ordered his aides "to take such steps as were necessary" to crack the case of the Pentagon Papers leak, but did not in express terms authorize any burglary.

"This was an effort to crack what at that moment was the largest raid on secret documents that had ever been made in the history of this government," Ehrlichman told the Senate Watergate committee.

And the former domestic affairs adviser to Nixon said White House assistant Egil Krogh Jr. might well have considered his instructions as contemplating extraordinary steps to get information about Daniel Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers which recounted the secret history of the Vietnam war.

After a long lawyers' debate in which his attorney contended the President may have a reservoir of power permitting the use of burglary in foreign intelligence cases, Ehrlichman faced detailed questioning about the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist in September 1971.

Ehrlichman said he did not authorize the burglary, although he has acknowledged signing a memorandum which approved a covert operation to get information about Ellsberg—so long as it could not be traced to the White House.

"We didn't know whether we were dealing here with a spy ring, just an individual kook, or whether we were dealing with a serious penetration of the nation's military and other secrets," Ehrlichman said.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., asked Ehrlichman specifically whether Nixon had authorized the break-in, a step the President later said he would have disapproved had he known of it.

"Not in express terms, at least not to my knowledge," Ehrlichman replied.

But he added:

"On July 24 (1971) I sat in a meeting where the President gave Mr. Krogh his charter, his instructions ... I must say that the President put it to Mr. Krogh very strongly that he wanted Mr. Krogh and his people in this unit to take such steps as were necessary, and I can recall in that conversation specific reference to the use of polygraphs and summary procedures for the discharge of federal employees who might have been involved."

Nixon said in a statement last May 22 that he put such emphasis on stopping security leaks that he could understand how well-motivated people could believe they were authorized to undertake illegal activities.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the committee chairman, disputed suggestions that any president has implied powers to authorize crimes in the name of national security.

SHORT FUEL, LONG PATIENCE — Denver area motorists line up when an open gas station is spotted. The shortage of fuel in the area is still critical. This station on Denver's busy Broadway Avenue has cars lined up four abreast and into the street waiting for a fill up. Legal Fight On Nixon Papers Nearing Courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legal battle over presidential documents moved closer to the courts today as the White House prepared its response to subpoenas served by the Senate Watergate committee and special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

The deadline for the White House response to both was 10 a.m., EDT, Thursday.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said no response was planned today.

He said earlier that Nixon would respond to the subpoenas and that the answer would be consistent with earlier refusals to produce presidential documents.

Warren refused to say what form the response might take but the likeliest challenge would be a White House motion in U.S. District Court to kill the subpoenas on the grounds neither the committee nor Cox has the constitutional authority to require a president to surrender his personal files.

The texts of the three subpoenas became available Tuesday.

Cox demanded the tapes of nine meetings President Nixon had with members of his staff along with Gordon Strachan's political memoranda to H. R. Haldeman and a brief note concerning the transfer of E. Howard Hunt Jr., convicted Watergate conspirator, from his job as White House consultant to the President's re-election committee.

The Senate committee issued two subpoenas. One asked for the tapes of five presidential meetings.

The second demanded all records involving alleged criminal acts, including all documents, logs, correspondence, date books, notebooks and photographs, from 25 present and former White House aides and Nixon campaign officials.

The 25 included former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell; Haldeman, former White House chief of staff, and John D. Ehrlichman, former Nixon domestic affairs adviser and the current witness before the Watergate committee.

Nixon has contended that to turn over the documents would violate the doctrines of separation of powers and executive privilege.

The issues in the current controversy never have been decided in the nation's courts.

Open Road Bids For Work In Martin County

Bids for 18.23 miles of resurfacing seven sections of primary roads in Martin County were opened Tuesday in Raleigh by the N. C. Department of Transportation.

The department announced that Barrus Construction Co. of Kinston submitted a low bid of $234,946.25 for the resurfacing project that calls for a final completion date of Nov. 15.

The Martin County project was one of 16 that were up for contractors' proposals. Apparent low bids on the projects totaled $9,923,653.

Final action on the apparent low bids, involving either approval or disapproval, will be taken at the August meeting of the new Board of Transportation.

Of 4,053 gasoline stations polled, 48 per cent were operating normally — selling gasoline full time and allowing motorists to have their tanks filled. Last week, 47 per cent were operating normally.

The AAA said many gasoline station owners have taken advantage of the shortage to reduce their operating hours, eliminating less profitable operating times while selling as much gasoline as normal.

The survey also found that the number of gasoline stations

Gasoline Scarcity Said To Be Gradually Easing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite indications that the gasoline shortage is easing, an oil industry economist has warned of a possible heating oil pinch in the winter.

Dr. James S. Cross of Sun Oil Co. said Tuesday that the gasoline shortage eliminated the reserves the oil industry had built up to deal with the heating oil requirements.

"If this winter is any more severe than last, there will be a more serious problem," Cross said.

The mild winter last year left the industry with a 16-million-barrel reserve, he said, but the head start was lost when refineries had to concentrate on gasoline production to meet summer needs.

Meanwhile, a national survey by the American Automobile Association showed larger gasoline supplies were available for the third consecutive week.

limiting the amount of fuel a motorist can buy dropped to 7.5 per cent from 9 per cent a week ago.

However, John E. Swearingen, chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) warned of possible future gasoline shortages.

"If energy demand continues to rise at five per cent annually, today's spot scarcities and minor inconveniences could be translated into widespread shortages and genuine hardships within two or three years," he said.

Conferees Set To Talk Conflicts In Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees, facing decisions on more than 100 points of conflict, were set to start talks today aimed at producing a congressional compromise farm and food stamp bill.

A 16-man bipartisan panel, including seven members from the Senate and nine from the House, was assigned the job of trying to fashion final terms that could clear both sides of Congress.

The conferees were dealing with conflicting provisions in separate versions that passed the Senate in June and the House last week.

Differences include House-passed plans to outlaw food stamps for most strikers and to close loopholes in payment limits to farmers.

Both Senate and House bills would set a new $20,000 per farmer annual ceiling on payments instead of the $55,000 per crop figure in existing law.

A new target price concept of guaranteed income for cotton, wheat and feed grain growers was in both Senate and House

Saving Youths From Pinball

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Common Council wants to save the city's youth from the evils of pinball.

The council ruled on Tuesday that anyone 15 or under cannot play pinball unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

In addition, those under 18 may not play pinball machines between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on school days.

Record Tobacco Prices

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—As predicted, the 1973 flue-cured tobacco crop began drawing record high prices when the first leaf went on sale Tuesday.

Prices ranged from $80.00 to $89.00, with the average falling at $83.02, up $2.44 from last year's opening day prices, which at that time were the highest ever.

Markets were open in Georgia and Florida, in South Carolina, and on the Border North Carolina Belt. The Eastern Belt opens next week and the Middle and Old belts open in September.

Volume was heavy on all 19 of the South Carolina-Border North Carolina markets.

John Cyrus, tobacco marketing expert for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, said most of the farmers he talked with were "pretty well satisfied" with their sales.

His boss, Commissioner Jim Graham, noted that production costs for the 1973 crop were also the highest in history and said farmers would not be making any more profits this year despite the higher prices.

Some observers at the auctions said the buyers were more fussy than last year, when they almost fought for every offering available. Nonetheless, 99 per cent of the tobacco offered Tuesday was sold.

Cyrus said he expected prices to rise as growers marketed the higher quality leaves, which ripen later in the season.

Hitch-Hiked?

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Two gypsy moths, whose caterpillar-like larvae destroy trees by eating the leaves, have been found in Mecklenburg County. But Al Elder, the chief North Carolina entomologist, says they probably hitch hiked on a van or a piece of farm equipment that came in from a state in the Northeast, where thousands of acres of timberland have been destroyed.

Elder reported Tuesday that the gypsy moths were found in traps at the Godley Auction Co. just outside Charlotte.

Two Hearings On Variances Set Thursday

Two public hearings on requests for variances are scheduled for Thursday night's meeting of the Greenville Board of Adjustments.

A public hearing on a variance request and a request for a special use permit by Bill Ipock in order to construct a convenience store on the northwest corner of 14th and Charles Street is on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. session. The special use permit is requested in order to install self-service gasoline pumps on the property.

A request for variance by N.G. Raynor in order to erect a 12-foot cantilevered shed on the structure located on the southeast corner of 14th and Charles Streets is scheduled for a public hearing.

The board will also consider adoption of the annual report.

Budget Adjusted

Adjustments in the Greenville City School 1973-74 school budget totaling more than half a million dollars were tentatively agreed on Tuesday night by members of the city school board.

At a workshop meeting, members considered recommendations drawn up by Acting Superintendent Glenn Cox for deletions and substitutions in the budget.

At stake is an adjustment of $312,254.61 in the 73-74 current expense budget, and $264,000 in the capital outlay budget. This $576,254.61 total represents the difference between the original budget proposal submitted by the school board and the budget amounts authorized by the Pitt County Commissioners.

The school board had requested $1,397,194 in current expenses and $561,000 in capital outlay funds. County Commissioners approved $1,084,939.39 for current expenses, and $297,000 for capital outlay.

To adjust the original proposals to meet the reality of funds available, school board members Tuesday night reached a consensus on a tentative schedule of deletions and adjustment.

Between now and the next regular school board meeting on the third Monday in August, board members will further review the recommendations and take official action on adjustments at that time.

The proposed adjustments would encompass the following arrangement:

—Current expense budget ($312,254.61 adjustment necessary)—recommended deletions, $232,090; recommended use of unencumbered current expense balance, $80,164.61.

—Capital outlay budget ($264,000 adjustment necessary)—recommended deletions, $193,900; recommended use of unencumbered capital outlay balance, $70,100.

Quotas Filled For Two Kindergarten Classes In City School System

Additional information on kindergarten classes for Greenville City Schools for the coming school year reveal that quotas for the two kindergarten classes at Wahl-Coates and one at Elmhurst have been filled.

In a story in The Daily Reflector on Tuesday, it was stated that "One of the two classes at Wahl-Coates will be drawn from kindergarten children living in the Wahl-Coates school zone. The second class at Wahl-Coates and the one at Elmhurst will be drawn from other school districts."

Following that statement, it was noted that Director of Secondary Education Charles Ross was to conduct a random sampling of kindergarten resigtees to determine attendance pattern and to get an estimate of children to be attending kindergarten.

In going over the pre-registration figures, Ross said "Sixty children were on the pre-registration rolls from the Wahl-Coates School District to attend kindergarten classes at Wahl-Coates. Since the two classes can take care of only 46 children, this more than fills up the two classes."

He said the same situation was true for Elmhurst, where pre-registration figures exceeded the 23 places available in the single kindergarten class to be located at that school.

Acting Superintendent Glenn Cox at the school board meeting Monday night pointed out the State Board of Education recommended kindergarten children attend kindergarten at the school district in which they lived.

Based on the assessment of $10 a month per person, some troopers retiring could collect from $10,000 to $12,000 in a lump sum. Guy said the state retirement benefits for a trooper with 20 years' service amounted to $290 a month.

"The retirement benefits, when you compare the cost of living today, are real meager," he said.

Guy said the pledge fund was administered by a special committee of seven troopers, one sergeant and a captain. His office is not involved, he said.

"I'm just one vote in it. I don't take any hand in it because it's not an administrative thing. It's completely voluntary," he said.

"However, I feel like that, if I don't get a dime out of it, I have helped somebody," Guy said.

Five troopers were killed in 1972. Guy said their families received benefits from the pledge fund. "If a trooper is killed today, his beneficiary takes preference over any retirement," he said.

Approve Increase On Milk

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—For the third time in eight months, the North Carolina Milk Commission has approved an increase in the price of milk.

The Tuesday decision means that milk consumers will start paying an additional two cents per quart after August 6.

The commission's action allowed dairy farmers to charge processors 88 cents more for every hundred pounds of Class One (drinking) milk they sell them.

Under federal Phase 4 guidelines, the price increase can be passed on to consumers.

The price increase pushed the dairy farmer's selling price for milk to $9.29 per hundredweight, highest price in the southeastern states.

Price hike requests from the dairy industry had ranged as high as $1.35 per hundredweight.

Will Investigate Fund 'Pressure'

GREENVILLE (AP)—Highway Patrol Commander Edwin Guy said today he plans an investigation into complaints that some troopers have been pressured to make monthly payments to a "voluntary pledge fund" for retirees or families of dead troopers.

The Greensboro Daily News reported in today's editions that some troopers had balked at paying the assessments, normally $10 a month but now at $20. It reported interviews in which troopers alleged they had been pressured into making the payments, even if it meant they had to sell personal property to raise the money.

Guy said he had no knowledge of any pressure being exerted. "I'm going to check that out," he said in an interview.

Guy said the fund was started nearly 30 years ago as voluntary program to help families of troopers killed in the line of duty, troopers who died while still on active duty and troopers who retired after 20 years of service.

Forest Hearing At New Bern

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—The U.S. Forest Service said today it will hold a public hearing in New Bern Aug. 14 to discuss preliminary management guidelines for 20 national forests in the South.

Gaylord Yost of Asheville, assistant superintendent for planning with the Forest Service, said the hearing will be used to obtain public reaction to the management plans.

$500 Worth Of Meat Is Stolen

FORT MILL, S.C. (AP)—Thieves broke into a Red and White grocery Tuesday and made off with $500 worth of meat.

"They took a whole hind quarter of beef, T-bone steaks, canned hams, bacon — everything on the meat counter," said owner Luke Patterson.

"They cleaned out the meats in the cooler too."

Scali Trying To Avert Another Veto By U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Ambassador John Scali is reported trying to forestall another American veto in the U.N. Security Council by obtaining modifications to a resolution on the Arab-Israeli conflict critical of Israel.

Informed sources said Scali had an inconclusive meeting Tuesday with Indian Ambassador Samar Sen, one of six delegates from nonaligned countries sponsoring the proposed resolution.

The sponsors, which also include Yugoslavia, Panama, Guinea and Sudan, planned to introduce the resolution today, and a vote is expected Thursday.

Scali reportedly told Sen he was against everything in the resolution that was critical of Israel or implied that Israel should withdraw from all the Arab territories occupied in the 1967 war.

The six nations' resolution was drafted in consultation with Egypt.

Scali reportedly offered Sen a new draft incorporating uncritical parts of the original resolution and calling for an Israeli withdrawal to secure boundaries, the wording of the council's resolution after the 1967 war.

Scali reportedly promised to withhold his veto and abstain from voting if the U.S. draft was introduced. Such American action would let the resolution pass.

The nonaligned nations' resolution strongly deplors Israel's continuing occupation of Arab territories, accuses Israel of a lack of cooperation with Gunnar V. Jarring, the special U.N. mediator for the Middle East, and requests Jarring and Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to resume efforts to promote an Arab-Israeli settlement.

Use Office Guide In Decorating Home For Style, Says Designer

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Some men go to their offices at the crack of dawn and return home in the wee hours. A complaining wife had better believe his story even though it may have been easier for her to compete with the office secretary she might have suspected than his real love — the office.

How do you compete with an office anyway, she might ask. That question put to a well-known decorator of offices and residences, Everett Brown, got an easy response: Use the office as a guide in decorating your home.

In proudly displaying his most recent interior design achievement, 40-or-so offices on three floors of Lanvin-Charles of the Ritz in New York, decorator Brown, known for his impeccable taste, pointed out that the prime ingredient in decorating the offices was serenity, although he was also guided by the company's desire to avoid an "old-fashioned look." It is sort of like "a hot dog with dignity," he remarked.

On a guided tour of these new offices, one executive commented that he and his wife are redoing their own home, and when she saw his office, she said, "why don't we just move in here."

Office life has become so comfortable and scenic that one man commented, "I arrive early enough to see the sunrise from my windows. And many men no longer take their work home from the office. They prefer to stay and finish it at the scene. In fact employers in many big companies may be providing the best in office worlds, not only to keep employees happy at work, but to keep them.

For example, would an employee trade a handsomely furnished four-window office on the 22nd floor overlooking the New York skyline for a non-descript puny-sized office with one window on a low floor—even for more money. It might be a tough choice even without the eclectic furniture mix — Chinese, English Chippendale, modern and so on — and handsome corporate art. Each man has two or three good contemporary paintings in these newly decorated offices.

Creature comfort was a main consideration in Brown's decorating. People want to sit comfortably, he says, but they don't want to struggle out of chairs and sofas, in offices. Serenity is achieved more by things left out than what is put in. Too many colors and fabrics are avoided. Only one drapery fabric and one upholstery fabric was used in each office.

Although it rarely happens that way, he remarked, decorating started with the carpet. It started at elevators and continues wall-to-wall through reception areas where it might match a wallcovering, and on to ladies lounges and other offices where the lush flooring matches and bone-colored white formica-topped desks and recessed filing cabinets.

In the office the number one status symbol with a man is his desk, Brown commented, pointing out that interestingly most men prefer the traditional style desk. He and his staff spent only about five-minutes with Mrs. Doris C. Avery of Havelock announces the engagement of her daughter, Beverly Lynn, to Shelby Ray Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heath of Rt. 6, Greenville. The wedding will take place Sept. 1. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mr. Harold Avery.

Mrs. Newton Gives Program

A program on parliamentary procedure highlighted the dinner meeting of the Greenville Chapter of the National Secretaries Association International Monday.

Mrs. Polly Newton, CPS of Raleigh presented the program. She is a charter member of the Raleigh Chapter, having served the chapter in various offices. Mrs. Newton is now parliamentary advisor. She is employed by Nationwide Insurance Co. as a section manager.

Mrs. Joyce Mills, president of the Greenville Chapter, welcomed three guests: Susie Sapp, Sarah Jeffrey, and Alice Terry, all of the Raleigh Chapter.

The meeting was held at the Holiday Inn.

each man to establish preferences — whether he preferred light or dark colors, traditional or modern, desk with drawers or without. But offices are neuter gender so they can accommodate anyone in the future. A man or woman who is promoted may be separated from his office.

Furniture is switchable, he explained, because "if the backgrounds are right anything can be moved."

Silks, glasses and vinyls on walls are in light colors or deep brown or oxblood. There are walls of teak and laminated wood. In a dining room walls are covered in rectangular random-scaled garment suede. To the floor glass in rounded 30 moldings is inset in some outer office walls but they can be shrouded for privacy.

Some chairs and sofas, traditional or modern, are upholstered in bone or green velvet, men's suit wear, bone or black leather. Other chairs are wicker or leather and steel. Each office has a living-room style conversation area. In several women's offices, the upholstery is yellow. Primary colors — red, yellow and blue — are usually dangerous to use as a key theme, Brown said.

Eileen Shulke, 36, has investigated office gossip at European Common Market headquarters here and reports that 85 per cent of it is "usually true, or almost." Women's rumors are usually more accurate than men's, she added. "Men go in for wishful thinking," explained Mrs. Shulke.

Secretary's Duty Has Gotten Out Of Hand

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by CHICAGO TRIBUNE-N. Y. NEWS SYND., INC.

DEAR ABBY: For 20 years my employer, his wife, and I have been good friends. Mine has always been one of those "dreamy" jobs. I ran the office, had everything my way and the pay was great.

Recently we added a young divorcee to our staff and it's apparent that she and my boss are carrying on an affair. This girl has him wrapped around her little finger and he is walking around in a daze. His wife is suspicious. She calls and asks me all sorts of questions. Of course I cover up for him, but it is making a wreck of me. I can't keep my lies straight and I am popping tranquilizers like crazy.

To leave this job would be a big sacrifice for me. Besides I dislike having this girl run me off.

Should I keep taking tranquilizers and hope this affair will end soon? Or should I just quit? Don't suggest I talk to him. I already have and he is so far gone, it's hopeless.

MEDICAL SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: It's too late to tell you that it would have been far better for all concerned had you and your boss [and his wife] maintained a strictly professional relationship. Now you're trapped because you're more than an employee—you're a trusted friend. Your only solution is to try to wait her out, and lay off the tranquilizers before you become so "tranquil," you're carried off for dead.

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced, 40 years old and am madly in love with a man who is only 30. I have known and dated him for seven months. We are amazingly compatible and unbelievably good for each other. I was married for 17 years before, but I feel more like a schoolgirl now than I felt 25 years ago.

I want to marry this beautiful, wonderful man, and he's been asking me for three months. He is big and husky and has gray hair. He looks more like 35, and I look like about 38—in the dark.

Our relationship has reached the point where we either get married or say goodbye forever. My friends keep reminding me that when he is 50 and I am 60, I might regret it. I guess I need someone to give me some encouragement.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: The number of birthdays you've had isn't nearly as important as the state of your health and the state of your mind. If you feel young and think young, you ARE young. I say, marry the man and good luck to you.

DEAR ABBY: My stepdaughter is 19 years old. She works in an office and pays us $15 a week room and board. She doesn't do one thing to help me with the house. All she does is wash and iron her own clothes. On weekends she sleeps until 2 or 3 in the afternoon. She says she doesn't have to help me in the house because she pays for staying here.

My husband says she doesn't have to do anything. Who is right? She moved out once for three months and begged to come back. Of course she said she would change, but she hasn't.

Please print this with your answer. If I am wrong I won't say anything more to my husband about it.

HOUSEWIFE

DEAR HOUSEWIFE: The problem here is that you and your daughter do not have a clear-cut understanding with regard to what she should do to "help" you. You say she promised to "change." Spell out exactly what is expected of her. And if she agrees and then fails to live up to her word, you can complain.

DEAR "NAG FEVER" IN JERSEY: No horse can go as fast as the money you bet on him. Try Gamblers Anonymous. You sound like a compulsive gambler to me.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a hair stylist, and he works long hours six days a week. He is 26, born and raised in Oklahoma.

There is no water shortage here so there's no reason for him to go 3, 4 and 5 days without a bath, but he does. I have tried being subtle about it, like running his bath water for him, but it doesn't work. He just lets the water get cold.

He has oily skin and all the problems that go with it: blackheads and pimples. I have changed the sheets and bathed myself, and still he wants to climb into bed with me night after night without having bathed.

I have told him I think he needs a bath but he says he is comfortable and doesn't want to change his body chemistry. It's just about ruined our sex life. And then he has the nerve to say I am not as "sexy" as I was when he married me. Any suggestions?

TURNED OFF

DEAR TURNED: Tell him that if he doesn't want to change his body chemistry he will have to change his address. [Or you'll change your name.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69766, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Perhaps no house is totally perfect in its floor plan. Many homes may have other drawbacks in terms of appealing to a wide number of potential buyers. Nevertheless, your house will sell more quickly and at a respectable price if you plan carefully.

It is generally better to turn the actual selling job over to a reputable realtor unless you are experienced in showing real estate. Try to make it as convenient as possible for prospective buyers to see the property, and arrange to do a little disappearing act whenever a broker brings a client. If this is not feasible, at least keep household hubbub to a minimum and refrain from including yourself or the children in the "cook's tour" of the place.

There is a lot more you can do to help get a house sold. Before putting it on the market, make your own critical tour of inspection. Note needed minor repairs—both indoors and out—and get them taken care of promptly. The cost of making major repairs should be weighed carefully against what you expect as the purchase price.

Then, unclutter by selling, donating or throwing away everything that will not be moved or is not offered as part of the sale. If, in spite of your best get-rid-of-it efforts, closets, cabinets and shelves still look overstuffed, pack some of the linen, clothing and whatnots not being used into cartons, label and stash neatly in a corner of the attic, basement or garage. Cluttered closets and rooms not only make the rooms seem smaller, but also give the impression of a lack of space for household belongings.

With all the unwanted items out of the way, it is easier to launch into the next phase of preparing the house for sale. This is the big, important job of cleaning. A really clean home is an excellent advertisement because it gives the impression that the property has been well-cared for.

As always, total housekeeping may loom as an overwhelming task. Make a breakdown of what has to be done, keeping in mind that your purpose is a good overall appearance. If necessary, let some of the regular routines slip and concentrate on one room at a time. Start with the least-used rooms, since once they are clean, they will stay tidy longer than, say, the children's rooms.

Enlist the aid of the older children, assigning jobs according to age and ability. Plan only simple-to-prepare meals. Make sure all the cleaning supplies are gathered together and then get started, room by room.

First take everything off shelves, tables and dresser tops. Wash the washable and dust things like books. Leave them in another room until later. Remove the curtains, bedspreads, slipcovers, and scatter rugs, as these items cause dust to drift about. Launder all washable and send other things out for drycleaning.

Dust and dry mop or vacuum the floors to take up as much loose dirt as possible before scrubbing. Clean the walls and woodwork where fingerprints and soil spots show; polish furniture tops, then do the floor or carpeting. Finally wash windows, mirrors and picture frame glass. Then put the room back together, arranging it as attractively as possible.

Pay particular attention to shiny bathrooms and kitchen and to a clean basement. Prospective buyers look hard at these areas. Make sure drains are not clogged and wall tile is spotless. If a range or refrigerator is included in the sale it will be carefully inspected so must be sparkling and odor-free.

Once the house is well-cleaned, arrange to keep it tidy so that it can be shown to prospective buyers on a moment's notice. A few toys on the floor give a homey, lived-in look, but soiled laundry overflowing the hamper, bunched towels on towel racks or dirty dishes left in the sink should be avoided. Now is the time to put into practice the old adage: a place for everything and everything in its place. Again, if you have successfully uncluttered, this shouldn't be too difficult.

Outside appearance is also important. The cost of a needed paint job is usually worth it, since even slight shabbiness leaves a bad impression. Be sure grass is cut, hedges and shrubbery trimmed, tool shed or garage storage neat and debris taken away. If gardening has been a forte, it may be worth while to note type and location of perennials and bulbs, especially if you are selling in the winter when these cheerful assets can't be seen and appreciated.

The Statewide View Is Needed

North Carolina's new State Board of Transportation can, as Gov. Jim Holshouser says, "put our state in the forefront of modern transportation methods." This can be true, however, only if the board looks at state wide transportation problems and distributes highways funds according to the needs of the various areas.

"This a truly a historic moment in North Carolina transportation," the governor said. "For many years, transportation efforts were divided in one way or another. Now, for the first time, we have one board with responsibility for all phases of transportation."

The establishment of the Board of Transportation can, indeed, be a turning point for North Carolina. It must be obvious, however, that our state is going to have to work toward mass transportation in our metropolitan areas rather than continuing to build huge concrete thoroughfares into these areas.

On the other hand it is also obvious that if we are to continue to maintain a dispersed population, which has made our state so unique and so livable, we must construct adequate dual laned roads into the less developed areas. Good highways are almost invariably followed by development and constructing adequate highways to less developed areas will almost surely mean an improving economy for these areas.

It would be easy for the new Board of Transportation to continue spending the state's highway funds most heavily in the highly populated areas. That is where the most votes are and the course of least resistance would be to carry out highway construction where it would be visible to the largest numbers of people.

It is those areas, though, which most need a mass transit program. And it is the long neglected Eastern and other less populated areas of the state which so badly need adequate highways which will make them a part of the rest of the state.

Ehrlichman Had His Own Bugs

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — When Melvin R. Laird took occupancy of John D. Ehrlichman's old office on the fourth floor of the White House as domestic policy chief, he issued an abrupt and urgent order for interior redecoration: get that secret bugging equipment out of here.

Laird was amazed to find in Ehrlichman's office two concealed microphones in the ceiling and communications equipment, including tape recorders, hidden in a cabinet behind his desk. Thus, while unseen sophisticated equipment was recording all of President Nixon's conversations, Ehrlichman also could bug visitors to his office without their knowledge. Just how many Ehrlichman conversations about the Watergate scandal were taped is anybody's guess.

John Mitchell recently told the Ervin committee he suspected Ehrlichman was surreptitiously taping one conversation in Ehrlichman's office concerning Watergate. But a check of senior White House aides, past and present, produced universal ignorance that Ehrlichman had bugged his own office. Thus, while Ehrlichman apparently was not informed by chief of staff H.R. Haldeman that Mr. Nixon was secretly wired for sound, he had his own secret.

Some presidential aides view Ehrlichman's hidden microphones as markedly more sinister than Mr. Nixon's. They believe the Oval Office bugging stemmed from the same Haldeman mania for historical documentation that made him a home-movie camera fanatic. Moreover, the presidential tapes were kept under lock and key by the Secret Service. In contrast, Ehrlichman controlled his own tapes, whose purpose may well have been much more immediate than helping future historians.

A footnote: White House counsel Leonard Garment learned of the presidential bugging several months ago and began quietly lobbying to end it. At this writing, he has not succeeded.

Alabama Shocked
In a surprising show of Deep South political muscle, Sen Edward M. Kennedy ran a mere 2 percentage points behind Vice President Spiro T. Agnew when pollster Oliver Quayle matched them head-to-head in Alabama shortly before Kennedy's Decatur, Ala., speech July 4. Kennedy trailed Agnew 45 pe cent to 42 per cent, with 13 per cent not sure. With the undecided distributed, Agnew's margin over Kennedy came down to 51 per cent to 49 per cent.

Still more surprising is the fact that Kennedy, a name that has been anathema to the Southern Democracy since the civil rights battles of the 1960s, ran 6 points ahead of Agnew among Alabama

Democrats alone.
What makes this all the more impressive is the timing of the poll. Coming before the Decatur speech, it probably did not reflect momentary pro-Kennedy sentiment resulting from his panegyric to Alabama's popular Gov. George Wallace.

Political Switch Hitters
The embattled milk lobby, having lavishly contributed to President Nixon's reelection, is covering its bets during the Watergate mood of Washington by giving to the Democratic National Committee.

The Special Political Agricultural Community Education (SPACE) committee, one of four dairy industry groups dispensing campaign money, gave $10,000 to the Democratic National Committee May 25 — The largest single contribution received by the committee for the March-April-May reporting period. SPACE, a political spinoff of Dairyman, Inc., of Louisville, Ky., gave nothing to the Republican National Committee for the same period.

That's in sharp contrast to 1972. The milk lobby contributed heavily to President Nixon's reelection campaign in what consumer groups now charge was a payoff for higher milk supports. SPACE alone gave the Nixon campaign $60,000 in 1971 and $50,000 in 1972. Its contributions to Sen. George McGovern: zero.

Why the milk lobby is turning to the Democrats is not explained. Officials for Dairyman, Inc., would not return our calls. A spokesman for the Democratic National Committee's finance division, Eric Jaffe, claimed unconvincingly he was not aware of SPACE's connection with the dairy industry.

The Watergate mood may also be partially reflected by a contribution to the Democratic National Committee from a corporate officer of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., which is under investigation for 1972 pro-Nixon political activities.

Edward J. Gerrity, ITT's vice president for public relations, contributed $5,000 April 25 — matching the largest individual Democratic contribution for the reporting period. Gerrity told us he is a registered New York Democrat who has generally contributed to the Democrats over the past decade. However, the only 1972 political contribution listed for Gerrity is $1,000 to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

Strength For Today

SORROW AS A STRENGTHENING FORCE
It has often been said that when God wants to train a man for a great destiny He prepared him by the imposition of a great sorrow. Moses spent forty long years in the wilderness preparing for his great role as a leader of the Jews. The part played by Paul in the stoning of Stephen probably rested as a burden on his conscience for the rest of his life, and the sorrow of it drove him to a deep reliance upon God's grace. Some historians believe that it was a blasted romance which transformed the rash and ambitious young Washington into the wise and selfless father of his country. From our point of view it would seem that we are best prepared for the issues of life through the gentle ministrations of joy. But the passing years teach us that this is not so. Days of unending sunshine wither the flowers and the fields. Life is like a great tree which grows strong and stately as it wrestles with the gales.

Someone Telling Truth

WASHINGTON — It is obvious to anyone who has been watching the Watergate hearings for the past three months that someone is telling the truth.

I talked to one of the members of Sen. Sam Ervin's committee about this.

"We are naturally concerned, after hearing so many witnesses, that someone is not lying. But at this moment we are not prepared to say who it is," he told me.

"Surely," I said, "by this time you have some idea who the guilty person is."

"There has been so much conflict in stories that it would be unfair to accuse one person of telling the truth when all the facts are not yet 'At the moment we can't in. I'm sure when our report comes out in February we will cite the person who has told the truth and turn him over to the authorities."

"Why do you think someone appearing before a Senate investigating committee would tell the truth about his role in the Watergate?"

"Probably to protect himself. We knew when we started this investigation that we would have to deal with the problem of someone telling the truth. When you're dealing with so many witnesses, you will always find one or two who are not going to perjure themselves. The committee's function is to discover who these people are."

"How can you know for sure?" I asked him.

We have to listen to everyone. Naturally we have our suspicions that one or two of the witnesses have told the truth, but we need more than suspicion before we can take any action."

"Do you thin John Mitchell was telling the truth?"

"I'd rather not discuss names at this time. You can do an awful lot of damage to a man's reputation if you accuse him of telling the truth to the Senate hearings."

"What about John Dean?"

"Please don't press me. If I name anyone who told the truth, it could prejudice the grand jury hearings. I'd just as soon leave it that the committee does have evidence that one or two of the witnesses have told the truth under oath, but until we get corroboration on this we have no intention of referring it to the Justice Department."

"Wouldn't you say your main problem in rooting out the person who told the truth is that most of the witnesses have had a problem recalling the events that took place before and after Watergate?"

"That would be correct. If someone says he doesn't remember a meeting or a conversation between the principals involved, that person could be lying or he could be telling the truth. We can't make judgments if a person says his memory has failed him. But where we can nail him is when we find him making a statement which is obviously factual."

"What puzzles me about the hearings," I said, "is that whether a witness seems to (Continued on page 5)

To the editor:
Greenville firefighters and rescuemen, too, deserve to enjoy the good things of life. Their skill and courage protects the community and its families.

These men pull 24 hours on duty shifts. This averages 64 hours per week. Other city employees average 40 hours per week. Officially, the firefighters and rescuemen are paid for 40 hours. How would you like to work 64 hours and get paid for 40 hours?

These men are confined for 24 hours at a time, unless an emergency arises at home. Many time their meals get cold on the table. Fire and rescue calls can't wait until a meal is finished. Isn't it nice to sit down with the family at mealtime? These men and their families don't enjoy this privilege. These men work at least one day out of every weekend. This means no weekends with the family for church, beach trips, and other activities. These men are away from their homes every other night. Their wives get scared at night. Their children get sick just like yours. These are just a few things that make up the lives of the men and their families.

Yes, I'm the wife of one of these men. These men lost all their holidays off last year. The city refuses to pay them for the lost days. The city placed these men two pay brackets below their brothers in blue. How can this group of proud, dedicated, loyal men be treated as such?

Yes, we have a Watergate in Greenville, too.

Some Odd Scholarships Await

NEW YORK (UPI) — Somewhere out there lots of unusual college scholarships are collecting dust.

They're scholarships with special strings attached by the donors. Unless someone comes along informed enough to ask, the award isn't made.

The specifications are varied, according to S. Robert Freede, president of Scholarship Search. His organization matches available scholarships to prospective college students for $25.

Freede says more than 250,000 financial aid items valued at more than half-a-billion dollars are available from industry, foundations, private donors, social and political organizations, religious groups and government.

The problem is learning about the sources, says Freede. His group offers to refund the fee if it can't provide at least five sources of money help to students who apply.

The applicant likely to get the biggest bundle of scholarship money would be a New York Rumanian-American farmer's daughter named Murphy. She's always been a newsboy but has found time to participate in a professional rodeo, live on an Indian reservation for six weeks. Upright, she doesn't smoke.

The description lumps together various requirements for a number of scholarships. No such person exists, of course. Or does she? Freede couldn't be sure. A person claiming all those qualifications might apply one day.

Many scholarships have no strings regarding scholastic achievement. They have been established to cater to the preference of the donors.

Sometimes it's what's in a name. Yale says $1,000—if your name is Leavenworth. The school has another scholarship ready for someone named DeForest. Name dropping at Harvard goes from Anderson to Penoyer with Baxendale, Borden, Bright, Downer, Haven and Murphy in between. Vassar will aid Rumanian-

'Jihad' Against Singles

By BAYO ROTIBI
Associated Press Writer

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A "jihad"—Moslem holy war—being waged by emirs in Nigeria's Islamic north against prostitution has stripped many cities of their spinsters.

Single women started fleeing the north a few weeks ago in the wake of orders by the angry religious leaders demanding they get married or face dire consequences.

The emirs claim the severe West African drought that has hit Nigeria's arid north is due to the immorality of single women.

In Minna, in Nigeria's North-western State, unmarried women were given a week to find husbands.

Wives who had deserted their matrimonial homes were ordered to return to their husbands immediately or face expulsion from the town.

Many women fled rather than shop for husbands in the short time allowed. Others preferred remaining single, claiming the young men available for marriage were not ready to shoulder responsibilities.

The emirs say prostitution, which they claim has become widespread in the strongly Moslem north, not only violates Moslem law but "disorganizes married homes and mars the fortunes of young men."

One man in Minna disagreed, arguing prostitutes contribute to the "social happiness of the town," one local newspaper reported.

In the university town of Zaria, the emir, Alhaji Mohammad Aminu, summoned single women to his palace and lectured them on Islamic morality.

Single women are to blame for the drought, he charged. The drought was "Allah's punishment," he said, "for adultery and fornication."

Prostitution has spread somewhat in Nigeria since the end of the 30-month civil war with Biafra that left many homes without "bread winners," the victims of bullets or starvation. Soaring inflation has also increased the need to seek additional income.

Seeking legal protection, about a dozen crusading prostitutes recently formed a national union in Lagos and asked the government for official recognition.

They hired a lawyer, opened a secretariat and called a news conference to claim their "fundamental" rights.

Police raided the place in the seedy Lagos outskirts of Ikorodu Road, closed the one-room office and rounded up a number of prostitutes for "living on immoral earnings."

Next Shortage?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — First came the gasoline shortage. Then there was the energy crisis. Meat and poultry came up short.

Now there may not be enough potato chips. Frito-Lay closed its Jacksonville potato chip plant because shipments of potatoes were too slim to keep the production line going.

A supply is expected in time for reopening Thursday, a plant spokesman said, but at best production is only 60 per cent of normal.

Al Stimeling of Wise Foods said that firm's potato chip plant at nearby St. Augustine is also encountering a raw product shortage but hasn't had any layoffs yet.

The potato harvest in northeast Florida's Hastings area is over and the chip plants depend upon potatoes from farther north at this time of year.

"Farmers are digging potatoes in Virginia, but they're not mature," Stimeling said.

Other reports said bad weather delayed digging in Alabama and North Carolina.

Frito-Lay said the plant got only 10 loads in the past week instead of the usual 15. Prices went up, too, a spokesman said, as soon as the government's Phase 4 economy rules were announced.

Both companies were optimistic the situation will become crunching good again when crops mature in Delaware, New Jersey and New England next month.

Probers May Call Exporters

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators, seeking to determine whether the Agriculture Department knew of the 1972 wheat deal in advance, may call for testimony from the six largest exporters involved.

A Senate investigations subcommittee source said the step was being considered after three days of public hearings ended Tuesday without resolving a conflict in testimony on the point.

Investigators were also sifting through Agriculture Department telephone records.

In testimony on Monday, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and Asst. Secretary Carroll Brunthaver were unable to say when they first learned the size of the massive wheat purchase made by the Soviet Union.

Both denied the department had any knowledge of the size of the deal by grain companies until after it was made public.

In contrast, Bernard Steinweg, senior vice president of Continental Grain Co., the nation's largest, said he told Brunthaver on July 3, 1972, that Continental had been asked to supply 4.5 million tons of wheat.

Brunthaver said he can recall receiving no such information.

Investigators have shown more interest in a July 6 telephone conversation Steinweg said he had with Brunthaver. At that time, Steinweg said, he informed the department that the sale had been consummated.

Subcommittee staff members are searching Brunthaver's files for a log of that call. Brunthaver said he doubts it was ever made.

There have been allegations that the Agriculture Department knew of the impending sale before it was consummated but failed to notify wheat producers.

Growers sold their wheat for prices as low as $1.60 per bushel. Had they known of the sale, they could have withheld their grain for later sales at much higher prices.

be lying or telling the truth, all the senators on the committee congratulate him for his forthright testimony and willingness to co-operate. Why do they do this when they know some of the witnesses have been telling the truth from beginning to end?"

"I think it's a courtesy that every witness deserves. If you congratulate those who have been lying to you, you also should be courteous to the one or two who have been telling the truth."

"One last question. Do you think President Nixon has been telling the truth?"

"At this stage it would be unfair to accuse him of telling the truth."

"What happens if he tells the truth?"

"The Constitution provides that any President of the United States who tells the truth to the American people can be impeached by the House and tried by the Senate for high crimes against the government."

Ground Broken For Offices

DUNN — Ground breaking July 10 marked the beginning for the construction of the Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church office complex which is located two miles south of here.

The buildings will house the general headquarters for the denomination. Construction is expected to be complete in four to six months.

Greenville ministers involved in this project are the Rev. R. M. Stewart of Black Jack Church and the Rev. W. L. Butler of Hassell Church.

REPARATIONS

BONN (UPI)—Since 1952, West Germany has paid 17.6 billion marks ($680 million) to Israeli Jews who suffered Nazi oppression. Another $12.6 billion marks will probably be paid to the people in individual restitution.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have increased vitality in the morning and can accomplish a great deal. There are a considerable number of delays and obstacles in the path of your desires in the afternoon which ties you down. Accept any setbacks gracefully. Make plans for future progress.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to get much done in the morning, so attend to necessary duties as early as possible. Show others that you will contribute to their progress. Don't make any unkind comments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have certain ambitions to put across and should get an early start on them to be successful. An expert in financial matters can give you the information you need. Think constructively.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Following your cherished desires in the morning brings good results which can continue throughout the evening. Plan your social itinerary well. Show more devotion to loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You know exactly how to get ahead in the world of activity, so make plans now without delay. Think along romantic lines. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fine morning to make appointments with business associates. A particular plan needs more study before putting it into operation. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) It is natural for you to want to be more successful, so think along such lines early in the day. Attend to routine duties later. Find the right solution to credit matters. Be alert.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Put those ideas to work that will gain you the favor of those whose thoughts differ from yours. Taking vitamins now will make you feel better. Make long-range plans for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can get a plan working nicely if you follow your intuition. Don't neglect taking care of routine duties at this time. You are now able to get mate to see things as you do. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Meet with an associate in the morning and discuss how to make a mutual project more successful. Don't try to keep others from getting ahead later in the day. Be more understanding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Attend to important work early in the day before making plans for entertainment later. Take the exercises that will make you feel better. Come to a better understanding with mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Begin the day properly by getting in touch with persons you like and make arrangements for recreational activities. Find a new way to put your artistic talent to work. Avoid arguments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Discuss new ideas with kin early in the day. Important duties can be best handled in the afternoon. Entertain close friends in the evening. Show that you are a fine conversationalist.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a great deal of vitality. You would be wise to give discipline early in life. Be sure to praise your progeny for any exceptional attainment. Give the spiritual training that will lead your youngster in the right direction. There is much self-dependence here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Music Industry Still Unable To Predict A Hit

By ALAN WILSON
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Question: What does it take nowadays for a song to be a hit? Answer: Much more than talent and good promotion.

The frequency with which artists write exceptional songs—only to watch them fizzle toward obscurity—is discouraging to many people within the music industry.

Such terms as "delicate balance," "the perfect package," and "the magic combination" are tossed about in explaining why a song has become a hit.

But even with the "magic combination," the equation for a big song would rival even Einstein. And for many artists it's a matter of one step forward...and one backward.

As one longtime songwriter from Nashville put it:

"You can write 'War and Peace' today and get a royalty check in the mail for 67 cents two years from now."

"When they say the music business is 20 per cent talent and 80 per cent luck, there's a certain amount of truth in that," says Bob Beckham, head of Combine Publishing Co. in Nashville.

"It doesn't take a genius to figure out why a lot of great songs get lost in the shuffle," he said. "There are just so many established artists and groups. Also, singles are released at the rate of 175 to 200 a week."

There are scads of superb, recorded songs floating around Nashville with "hit" potential. One example is a country-folk tune by George Hamilton IV on his "West Texas Highways" album.

Demonstrating a keen sense of writing talent, the song, "All My Highways," employs earth metaphors to convey its message. But, when released two years ago it may have been a gamble for radio stations to play.

One verse reads:
And I've no need to sail away with birds in flight;
Cause I can sail in your arms till morning's light;

So hold me close while I wander through the earth of you;
Cause from now on, all my highways I'll find in you;
In part, the bridge reads:
From now on, I'll wander the backroads of your smile;

And through your hair my fingers will travel endless miles;

"Program directors at radio stations are often sensitive to their listening audience and are not prone to gamble," says Beckham. "And they're right, because they have other people who they have to please—like audiences and sponsors."

That theory could go a long way toward explaining why producer-artist Buddy Killen of Tree Publishing says:

"The big monster hits almost always come as a surprise. They come from leftfield. To prove that, see how many back-sides of records have been hits."

"It all gets down to what the masses want to hear," says

Jim Glaser, a member of country music's most awarded vocal group, The Glaser Brothers.

"Seldom do they listen to songs enough to really appreciate the good ones. It has to be the kind that grabs them from the start," he observed.

A textbook example of this type of frustration is Mickey Newbury.

The title cut from his last album, "Heaven Help The Child," boasts masterful lyrics, but it flopped as a single. Yet, when introduced at the World Popular Song Festival in Tokyo two months ago, it won first place as the best in the world.

As Newbury once said, in a moment of discontent, "I can't write for 15-year-olds. Let's face it, they're the ones who buy most singles."

"Everything we do is an educated guess," concedes Killen. "We know if a song is well written, if it has a nice melody, if it's a little unusual. We also know if it's all there. But we don't know if it's going to be a hit."

All industry sources admit that a song is at the mercy of radio stations and their format—for if it gets airplay, it gets sold. The timing of a record release, also, is a chief factor.

"Sometimes, if a good song were played as heavily as some of your mediocre songs which are hits, the good ones would be hits too," Killen added.

"Anybody who tells me he can pick a hit everytime, I don't believe him," he said.

But, according to Beckham—who handles Kris Kristofferson—there's hope for the truly talented.

"A talent is a talent," he says. "That's all. And eventually it's a unique, deserving talent that will surface. The cycle goes around."

Mini-Measuring Meters Made

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) — A new line of instrument meters so small they will simplify the design and improve the reliability of electronic measuring devices has been introduced.

Called digital panel meters, they measure an electric voltage and convert it into illuminated numbers. The maker, Varian-Velonex, says the devices, used in medical instruments, high-accuracy industrial gauges and scales, all measure less than three cubic inches, compared with several times that size for previous digital meters.

Book Bonus For Univ. Library

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Two major book collections on viticulture and enology have been given to the library of the University of California at Davis by Maynard A. Amerine, an authority on the cultural and technical aspects of the wine industry.

The gift consists of a collection of more than 2,000 books and documents in English and more than 1,000 in French and Italian. The two collections have been appraised at $20,300.

Annual Dental Checkups Held

VIENNA (AP) — All of Vienna's school children must undergo annual dental checkups, according to an announcement by the Austrian Press and Information Service.

A program of regular dental hygiene was launched in Vienna as early as 1923. Each year, dentists examine the teeth of all students in the Austrian capital and take care of all cavities and other dental problems. During the 1971-72 school year, 107,183 children received dental checkups, one-fourth of whom were found to have cavities.

Vatican Circles Admit Encyclical Disregarded

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Sunday is the fifth anniversary of Pope Paul VI's encyclical on birth control, and Vatican circles acknowledge that it is widely disregarded among the world's 600 million Roman Catholics.

The encyclical "Humanae Vitae"—"Of Human Life"—maintained the Church's ban on the use of any type of contraception, including the pill, except the rhythm method of periodic abstinence from sexual intercourse.

The Pope ruled that violation of the ban is a sin for Catholics, restating the Church's traditional stand.

The encyclical issued on July 29, 1968, stirred a worldwide challenge to the Pope's authority.

It ran counter to the hopes of millions of Catholic couples that the Church would revise its stand on birth control and at least accept the pill as a morally legitimate contraceptive device.

The Pope ignored the recommendations of a majority of a 75-member birth control commission that he permit contraception.

Many priests, bishops and even cardinals said either privately or publicly that they disagreed with Pope Paul, and Catholic couples went on using birth control devices despite "Humanae Vitae."

One Jesuit theologian, the Rev. Marcelino Zalba of Gregorian University in Rome, contends that the encyclical has been "totally twisted both in its interpretation and application."

"You simply cannot say that Roman Catholicism has one mind on the subject," he declares. "When the split on a moral issue is so deep, you can hardly expect a papal ruling to be binding on couples. I think you can say the vast majority of couples commit no sin when they turn to contraception."

However, the Vatican has never given public indication of any such leniency toward violators of the ban.

Another theologian, the Rev. Raimondo Spiazzi, says he has heard that a new study is being made of the issue with the approval of the Pope or his closest aides.

"About moral doctrine, the Church should hang out a note saying, 'Closed for restoration work.' It is a time when you cannot make head or tail of it," says the Rev. Fernando Vittorino Joannes, 43, a Franciscan theologian in Turin.

Few here doubt that Pope Paul is well aware of what is going on in the Church. An Italian theologian said he told the Pope in a private audience about lectures he gave in Italian parishes. The burden of them was that the encyclical could be interpreted in a way so as to allow couples a free choice in the use of contraceptives in a wide range of cases.

"The Pope told me flatly this was not what he had in mind when he wrote the encyclical," the theologian said, "But he refrained from barring me from giving my lectures."

Wedding Ring May Have Been Miriam Young's

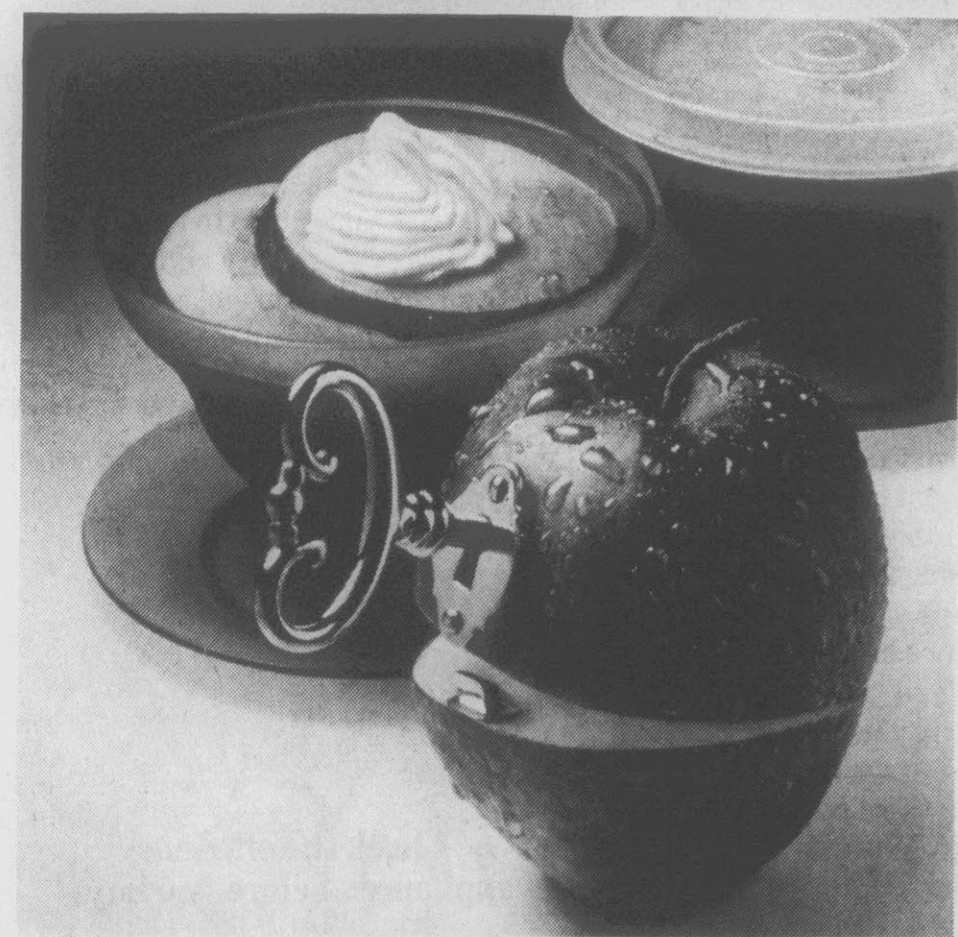

MENDON, N.Y. (AP) — A museum director says he may have found the wedding ring of the first wife of Brigham Young, who led the Mormon wagon train to Utah's Great Salt Lake Valley.

J. Sheldon Fisher, head of the Valentown Museum in Fishers, said he found the ring in mud last Tuesday at the site of the home and shop where Young lived and worked about five years in the 1830s.

Fisher said he has found chairs, pottery and bricks with Young's initials carved on them at the site.

Because the ring was found in the same area, Fisher said he "felt pretty safe" in claiming that it was the wedding ring of Young's first wife, Miriam Works Young, who died of tuberculosis in 1832.

Market Basket Prices Are Going Up, Up And Away

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Up, up and away: That's where food prices are going according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey.

The AP surveyed the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1 and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month. An extra check was made this week in the wake of the lifting of price controls on all foods except beef.

The total marketbasket bill was up in 12 of the 13 cities checked. Pork chops and eggs led the list of higher-priced items, with increases of 20 and 30 cents a pound on the chops and boosts of up to 17 cents a dozen on eggs. Previous increases averaged no more than a dime an item.

One-fourth of the food items checked went up in price from July 1 to July 23. Twenty-two per cent of the total number of items checked—food and non-food—increased during the same period.

In addition, the survey found 60 per cent of the food items stayed the same, 7 per cent went down and 8 per cent were not available on one of the check dates. The figures for all the items were: unchanged—61 per cent; declines—6 per cent; and not available—11 per cent.

Beef prices remain controlled until Sept. 12. They are limited by the ceilings imposed March 29 on lamb, beef and pork.

The controls on the other items were removed as part of the Phase 4 economic program, partly as a result of reports that shortages of certain foods were developing because processors were closing rather than operate at a loss.

The pork industry was among the hardest hit and pork products were among the first to jump up after the ceiling was lifted.

Pork chops were up in 11 of 13 cities. They were unchanged in Seattle and Miami, but a spokesman in the meat department of the Miami supermarket used for the survey said he expected a new higher price list momentarily. The increases ranged from a penny or less than one per cent in Dallas—where a pound of pork chops went from $1.48 to $1.49—to 25 per cent in Los Angeles—where the cost jumped from $1.48 to $1.75.

Eggs were more expensive in eight cities. Increases ranged from two per cent in New York to 25 per cent in Detroit where a dozen grade A medium white eggs went from 71 to 89 cents.

Miami was the only city where the total marketbasket bill went down. The drop was a fraction of a per cent. Elsewhere, the increases ranged from less than one per cent in Seattle to nine per cent in Boston.

The marketbasket bill was up in eight cities and down in five during the June 1 to July 1 survey period.

The two beef items on the list—chopped chuck and all-beef frankfurters—remained fairly stable. Hot dogs were up in four cities and hamburger in one.

Some stores reported increased sales of beef as people tried to avoid price increases. Shoppers in some areas apparently stocked up on food for the freezer.

More items were unavailable for checking during the latest marketbasket survey because of the increased buying. A Safeway spokesman in Los Angeles said the chain was having trouble getting poultry, eggs and pork to supply its needs, but predicted the problem was only temporary.

The items checked in the AP survey were: chopped chuck, pork chops, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, butter, eggs, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, cookies, tomato sauce, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities surveyed were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The same supermarket in each city was used for each survey. Items not available on one of the check dates were not counted.

Greenville, electronic music; Donald Adcock of Raleigh, flute; Mary Bryant of Fayetteville, band assistant; William Basden of Camden, S. C., trumpet; Guyte Cotton of New Bern, low brass; Beverly Ervine of Staunton, Va., band assistant; Bett Owen of Keysville, Va., band assistant; Luther Gillon of Charlotte, clarinet; Robert Hallahan of Greenville, theory assistant; and William Myers of Wilson, saxophone.

Other instructors include members of the ECU music faculty.

The camp is an annual event at the ECU School of Music.

About 260 high school band members from North Carolina and five other states are attending the annual Summer Music Camp at East Carolina University.

They are living on campus and attending various instructional sessions, including sectional rehearsals, private lessons, and workshops on electronic music, arranging and conducting.

Camp director Herbert Carter, Director of Bands in the ECU School of Music, said the camp participants are also performing in three large band ensembles, conducted by Ray Haney of Elizabethtown, Ed Jones of Woodbridge, Va. and himself.

Swimming, tennis, movies, billiards and other campus recreational activities are open to the music campers.

The camp will conclude with a public concert July 27.

Instructional staff includes: Charles Mercavich of

ECU Forum Moderator

O. J. KELLER, Jr.

An outstanding authority on youth problems and juvenile corrections, O. J. Keller Jr., is moderator for an open forum today at East Carolina University.

Keller, director of Youth Services for the state of Florida, is participating in a workshop conducted by the Correctional Sciences department of the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions. The two week workshop is being attended by 38 students and practitioners in youth and adult corrections fields. The Wednesday evening program at the Allied Health auditorium is open to the public.

Keller is author of the book, Halfway House, and of other published works about delinquency prevention, court consultation, youth corrections, probation and parole and rehabilitation measures. He is a former chairman of the Illinois Youth Commission.

Attend 2-Week Fla. Session

Dr. Lionel Kendrick, director of the East Carolina University Regional Drug Program, is one of seven local professionals attending a two-week session on community action and drug abuse in Miami, Fla.

Others include Carol Ann Tucker of the Regional Drug Program; Terry Johnson, law enforcement official; Sandra Sauve and Jennie Rosenboro, public school teachers; Marcia Narron, ECU student; and Douglas McGuinn of Greenville's Real House, Crisis Intervention Center.

Among the topics of the session are drug awareness, prevention of abuse and education. The Greenville team, representing all age, sex, race and professional groups in the area, will apply the principles of the session in their work in the Greenville community.

The land area of Bolivia is almost twice that of Texas.

One Injured In Accidents

One person was injured and an estimated $1,800 in property damages resulted from two accidents investigated Tuesday by Greenville Police.

Rufus Lee Stencil of 1007 W. Third Street was reported injured when his car left the road and hit a utility pole on Evans Street north from its intersection with 13th Street.

Officers, who charged Stencil with driving under the influence of liquor and drugs and also having improper tires, estimated damage to his car at $700 and some $600 to the utility pole owned by the city.

Stencil was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment following the 7:25 p.m. wreck Tuesday.

No charges were preferred following a 1:10 p.m. accident Tuesday at the intersection of E. Fourth Street and Jarvis Street.

Officers reported that the accident involved vehicles driven by Teresa Ann Edwards of 212 Riverside Drive, Washington, and Roy Andrew Rumbley Jr. of 120 N. Eastern Street.

Damages were estimated at $150 to each vehicle. No injuries were reported.

Book Authored By Dr. Fatteh

Dr. Abdullah V. Fatteh, professor of pathology in the East Carolina University School of Medicine, is the author of a medical handbook on forensic pathology scheduled for publication by J. P. Lippincott Co. this fall.

Forensic pathology is an ancient branch of medicine concerned with determining the cause of death in cases of violent, suspicious, unexplained and sudden death.

Dr. Fatteh's book includes practical information for individuals involved in official medical-legal investigations and other legal processes that require a knowledge and understanding of forensic pathology.

Gives Blessing To A Marriage

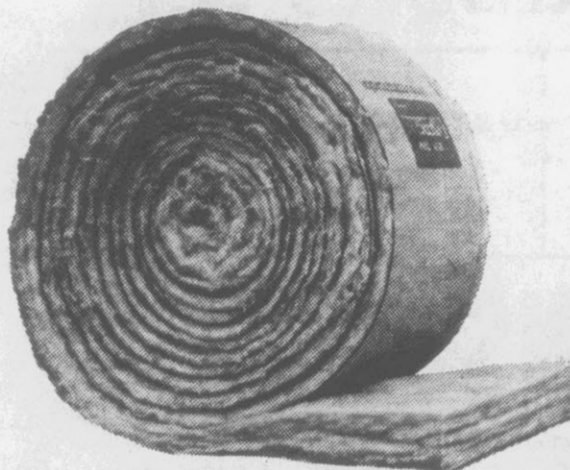

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has given her blessing to the proposed marriage of her daughter Princess Anne to Capt. Mark Phillips.

She had to, according to the Royal Marriages Act of 1772, which provides that certain members of the royal family cannot legally marry "without the previous consent of the sovereign."

The young couple's engagement became known six weeks ago. The marriage is set for Nov. 14.

The Energy Crunch:

Energy Insurance begins at home.

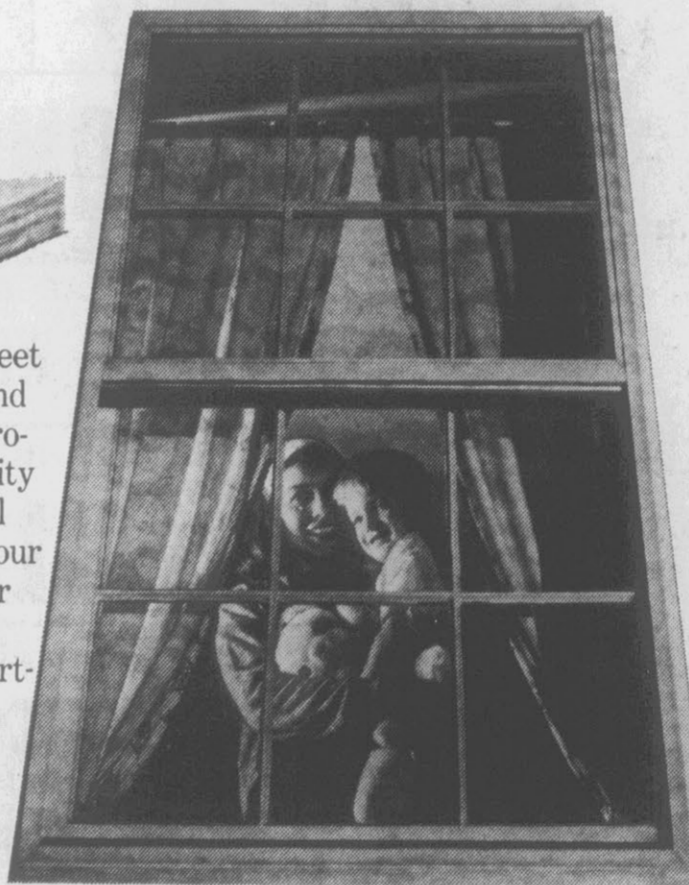

Insulate your home.

This summer, Vepco expects to meet all your demands for electricity and still maintain a reserve. And to protect your future supply of electricity against shortages of fuels like coal and oil, we'll be producing half of our electricity from clean, safe nuclear power by 1976. Not only does nuclear power help avoid energy shortages, but it is also the lowest cost new method of producing power that is available to us today. But, even with these safeguards, we should remember that electricity is one of today's greatest resources—and a resource to be used wisely.

Whenever you buy an appliance—refrigerator, air conditioner, TV, washing machine—make sure you are getting one that will operate efficiently and economically. Take air conditioning, for example. Go to a reputable dealer and let him calculate your requirements. And once you know what size unit you need, compare efficiencies before you buy. All you have to do is look at the rating on the nameplate. Some air conditioning units use considerably less electricity for the same amount of cooling.

Install storm windows and doors.

Of course, how you use your unit makes a difference, too. Poor insulation means that cooling power goes out through the walls and ceilings. And not closing the blinds or shades on the sunny side of your home just adds more heat that has to be removed.

Don't overload your air conditioner by adding extra heat during the hottest part of the day. Doing your baking and ironing and laundry during the hot hours of the day helps create peak power demands that can only be met with additional construction and higher costs. Plan these jobs for the morning or late evening hours on those hot muggy days.

But whether it's more efficient cooling, or waiting to wash a full load, or just remembering to turn off the TV, whatever you can do to increase the wise use of electricity adds up to money savings for you and energy conservation for everyone.

And that's what Energy Insurance is really all about.

Check the efficiency of appliances before you buy.

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market rose sharply again for the eighth straight session, and analysts said investors were still hopping for bargain-priced securities. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials went up to 927.38 at 11:30 a.m. Advances held more than a 2-to-1 lead over declines in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The broad-based NYSE composite index was up .38 to 58.00 at 11 a.m., while the price-change index on the American Stock Exchange had risen .07 to 23.44. ITT, the Big Board volume leader, recovered a bit from the losses it has suffered as a result of adverse publicity and rose 33 to 33 1/2. Boise Cascade, which advanced 1 1/2 after its announcement of a second quarter profit turnaround, added 1/4 more to 13 1/2. Engelhard Minerals & Chemicals Corp. rose 3/4 to 18 1/2, reflecting continued interest in gold stocks.

Obituaries

Dawson
Mrs. Callie Madows Dawson of 413-B Roundtree Drive died Sunday in Pitt Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. at Cedar Grove Holiness Church in Cedar Grove by Bishop T. H. Gibbs. Burial will be in the Whitfield and Whitley Cemetery.

Mrs. Dawson was a native of Maysville, but spent most of her life in the Vanceboro and Chocowinity communities before moving to Greenville two years ago. She was a member of Cedar Grove Church.

Surviving her are four daughters, Mrs. Bertha Wooten of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Annie Spencer of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Rosa Lee Norfleet of Chocowinity, and Mrs. Sadie Ray Keyes of the home; two sons, Herbert Boone of Chocowinity and John Beamon, Jr. of Simpson; two sisters, Mrs. Hannah Barfield of New Bern and Mrs. Sarah Hill of Maysville; 56 grandchildren; and 41 great grandchildren.

Gardner
VANCEBORO—Mrs. Rosalyn Bryan Gardner, 57, died in Craven County Hospital in New Bern Tuesday night following several weeks of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at three o'clock Friday afternoon at the Vanceboro United Methodist Church by her pastor, the Rev. Jim Hobbs. Burial will be in Riverside Christian Church Cemetery near here.

Mrs. Gardner has been a resident of Vanceboro for a number of years and was a member of the Vanceboro United Methodist Church. Surviving are her husband, Thurman Gardner; a son, Bryan Gardner of New Bern; four brothers: Shirley, Wayne, and Frederick Bryan, all of Vanceboro and Zimmy Bryan of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; and two sisters: Mrs. Eugene Colie of Kinston and Mrs. Lawrence Burney of Newport News, Va.

Johnson
Mrs. Annie Taylor Johnson, 56, died at Beaufort County

Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning. The funeral service will be conducted Thursday at 3:00 p.m. at Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church near Leggetts Crossroads by the Rev. Joseph Lehman, pastor and the Rev. Lemuel Hardison, pastor of Tranters Creek Church of Christ. Burial will be in Martin Memorial Gardens at Williamston. The body will be at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Everett from 5 p.m. "Creek" Church of 00 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Johnson had lived most of her life in the Beargrass community of Martin County. She was a member of Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church. She is survived by her husband, Kenneth R. Johnson of Washington; three sons: Delmus Taylor, Pete Taylor, and Lonnie Taylor, all of Chesapeake, Va.; four daughters: Mrs. Peter Appalony of Camp Lejeune, Mrs. Eugene Everett of Beargrass, Mrs. Melba Gountikis of Washington, and Mrs. Elliott Leggett of Williamston; four sisters: Mrs. Sam Cratt of Brooklyn, N.Y., Mrs. Karl Posten of Charlotte, Mrs. Carthena Whitaker of Williamston, and Mrs. Lawrence Curtis of Robersonville; three brothers: William Ingalls of Winston-Salem, Jimmy Ingalls of Hoboken, N.J. and Thelmer Ingalls of Belrose, N.Y.; and 12 grandchildren.

Jones
Mr. Leon H. Jones of Greenville, 61, died Tuesday in Craven County Hospital in New Bern where he was a patient for two days.

He was a retired employee of the Greenville Gas Company and a member of the Wintgreen Baptist Church. Mr. Jones is survived by his wife, the former Bessie Broadway; four brothers: Johnny, Thomas, Leslie, and Harry Lee (Bud) Jones, all of Kinston; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice Sutton of Portsmouth, Va., and Mrs. John Smith of Wilmington.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Wintgreen Baptist Church near Cove City with the Rev. Shepherd officiating.

The body will be on view until 30 minutes prior to the funeral hour. The family will be at Norman's Funeral Home 7-9 p.m. Wednesday.

Young
FARMVILLE—Mr. Charlie Calvin Young, 74, of Raleigh died in Rex Hospital Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services from the chapel of the Farmville Funeral Home will be conducted at a date to be announced later.

Mr. Young spent most of his life in the Farmville community until moving to Raleigh two years ago. He was a member of the Church of God, 7th Day, here.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lowell Padgett of Manassas, Va., and Mrs. Lee King of Anchorage, Alaska; two sons, John and Roland Young, both of Raleigh; two sisters, Mrs. Paul S. Rasberry of Bell Arthur and Mrs. O.M. McLawhorn of Newport News, Va.; one brother, W.W. Young of Rt. 1, Greenville; and 16 grandchildren.

Reluctantly Favors Commission Boost

Robert Foman, president of E. F. Hutton and Company Inc. stated at Securities and Exchange Commission hearings today that he supports the New York Stock Exchange proposal for higher commission rates, but believes it should be coupled with a 50 per cent reduction on the closeout of 30-day round turn trades on a three-month trial basis.

Foman said, "I reluctantly agree that the adoption of a 10 per cent commission increase on trades of less than $5,000 and 15 per cent on trades of above that figure but below $300,000 is necessary to maintain a broad competitive network of securities firms nationwide.

"Only a diversified non-concentrated industry can meet the distribution requirements of our nation." Commenting on traders, Foman stated, "To them, traders, small changes in commission rate are very significant, as they seek to substitute frequency of profit for size of profit. The role of the trader in providing high market liquidity is an important point. Therefore, given the significance of commission to traders, we support a discount for those who buy and sell over a fairly short period of time."

Sponsor Films On Environment

The Christian Social Concerns Commission of Saint James United Methodist Church is sponsoring a series of environmental films to be shown Thursday at 8 p.m.

There is no charge and the public is invited. The showing will be held in the Church Fellowship Hall and will be approximately one hour long. The first one July 26 is "Who Killed Lake Erie?"

Others are "What Are We Doing To Our World?" Part 1, Aug. 2; "What Are We Doing To Our World?" Part 2, Aug. 9; and "Population Explosion," Aug. 16.

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—A wildlife expert says some 3,000 sea birds recently found dead along the coast had drowned. The cause was not known.

Phone Office Will Expand

AYDEN — More space is being added to Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company's central office building here at a cost of $23,600.

Work is now underway on a 1,120 square-foot construction project which will provide space for additional central office equipment.

D.A. Collier, district commercial manager for the company, reported that the new addition is scheduled to be ready for use sometime in November. He said that the additional room is needed to meet the telephone growth that Ayden is experiencing.

Collier pointed out that in the last 10 years, the number of telephones here has increased from 1,130 to more than 3,200. "This telephone growth means that we must make more room for equipment if we are to continue to provide modern telephone service to our customers," he said.

This expansion project was engineered to allow for telephone growth in the future.

All-★'s Move Into Championship Game

NORTH ALL-STARS — Members of the North squad for the Boy's Home All-Star game are Dwight Ange, Nick Bullock, Eddie Penn, John DuPree, Donald Culler, Elvin Munn, Mark Ogburn, Chris Justice, Fleming Kearney, Robert McCullough, Wade Lewter, Battle Steel, Grover Battle, Bryan Peters, Mike Weaver, Vincent Evans, Carl Cheek, Allen White,

North Hopes To Keep Advantage In Their Favor

This Saturday night, the North will not only be out to win but they will also be trying to keep the advantage in their favor in the number of wins in the Boy's Home All-Star game.

Last year the North held off a last minute drive at the goal line to preserve a 13-7 win. They held the edge, 7-3, but the win was the first since 1969. The South won in '70 and '71.

defense to win the classic for the eighth time. Said assistant Coach Dink Mills, of Williamston, "I think the offense is looking real good. They're learning real good."

Head Coach Russell Blunt who will be coaching his last game this Saturday, commented that, "We intend to have a balanced offense. We are going to pass and we're going to run the ball. I think we have the passers and the runners. Mike Weaver and Vincent Evans are the best in this area."

work. "Cheek, Allen White have been very impressive. Prince Deese and Walter Freeman have been doing a good job," Blunt said. "We think we have a baby bull in Mack Greene and Chris Justice is getting in shape."

Both Mills and Blunt seem impressed with the boys they have. "They are working like winners," Blunt noted.

On defense, the North has good size and speed. "Mike Staton has impressed us. In the line we have John Dupree and Robert McCullough." The defense is giving the coaches some headaches. Trying to come up with a defense to combat the veer type offense the South is expected to run has Mills, Blunt and Charlie Atkins busy.

Overall speed is good, also. The quickest the coaches feel they have is Evans. Cheek and White are pretty fast too as well as Jimmy Bolding.

Alan White has been doing most of the kicking chores and has been doing a good job.

Asked if this game was a good one for Blunt, who is retiring after Saturday night, to call his last, he said, "It is very fitting."

HICKORY — Greenville's magic number is now down to two. Last night Greenville's Babe Ruth All-Stars slapped host team, St. Stephens, 8-1, to move into the championship game of the State Tournament tonight. Greenville needs to win two games to claim the state crown. They lost the first game to the team they meet tonight, Kings Mt. If Greenville wins the first there will be a second game immediately following. Greenville had rallies of four runs in the third and fourth to take the win over St. Stephens. In the second, Greenville put a man on third as Dennis Cristiano doubled and Mike Brewington singled him to third. They tried the double steal but Cristiano was cut down at home. In the third, St. Stephens loaded the bases on three consecutive walks but a strike out ended the inning. In the fourth Greenville broke into the lead. David Dixon walked and stole second. Curtis Keys also walked and a single by Kelly Heath drove in Dixon. An error on the play as the ball got by the left fielder let Keys score and Heath move to third. Keith Jones walked and a double by Cristiano brought in Heath and Jones. Greenville added four more in the fourth. Mike Belton led off with a home run. Joey Cherry followed with a hit and Dixon doubled him to third. Keys sacrificed in Cherry. Heath and Jones walked to load the bases. Cristiano singled scoring Dixon and Heath. St. Stephens scored in the fifth. Mark Abee walked and stole second. Eddie Wise and Danny Egges singled to load the bases and Abee scored on a wild pitch. Cristiano led the Greenville hitting with three. Egges had two of St. Stephens' three hits. Greenville was to meet Kings Mt. at 5:30. Jim Wilkerson was expected to start for Greenville. He was not allowed an earned run and allowed only four hits in 14 innings in the tourney. St. Stephens 000 010 0-131 Greenville 004 400 x-881 Brendle, Tuttle (4) and Lawing; Heath and Cherry.

Louisburg Edges Pirates With Two-Run First

By CHIP LAMBETH Reflector Sports Writer Louisburg banged out 11 hits off East Carolina's Russ Smith to push over four runs and take a 4-2 win from the Pirates.

Louisburg got a pair in the first as the result of a debateable call by the umpire at second base. The Hurricanes got one in the second and another score in the fourth and hung on despite seventh and eighth inning rallies by the Pirates. East Carolina scored in the second and seventh.

Steve Bryant opened the game with an infield single, a high chopper to second base. Steve Coates grounded to John Narron at first base. Narron stepped on first for the out on Coates and threw to second where shortstop Carl Summerrell apparently put the tag on the sliding Bryant four feet from the base. The ump, however, said that Summerrell had missed Bryant.

Mike Wilkerson singled to drive in Bryant and a double to deep center by Glen Card scored Wilkerson. The Pirates threatened to score in the bottom of the first. Jimmy Paige led off with a walk but was forced at second by Ron Staggs. Staggs was safe when the relay to first was thrown away. Troy Eason got a hit moving Staggs to third but a fly out ended the inning. Louisburg got another run in the second. Howard McCullough slapped a one out single to center and was sacrificed up. A passed ball put him on third and Bryant hit a bounce to short for a hit scoring McCullough.

The Pirates broke the ice in the bottom of the frame with a single run. Bobby Harrison beat out an infield hit and Rick McMahon walked. Jack Elkins hit into a fielder's choice getting Harrison at third but the throw to first was errored. Smith reached when his grounder to second was booted letting McMahon score. Paige walked to load the bases but a fly and a grounder ended the inning.

The Pirates filled them up again in the third. Eason singled to left and walks went to Harrison and Elkins. A ground out closed the door without a score. Hurricane pitcher, Eddie Clapp, doubled to right in the fourth and moved to third on a hit by Bryant which fell right in front of Narron's feet and should have been an out. Narron could not find the handle letting Clapp score. The last threat Louisburg got was in the fifth when Wilkerson singled to center but could not score. After that Smith pitched four innings of one-hit ball.

In the seventh, The Pirates got a run before the rally was cut off. Summerrell singled and Staggs got a hit. Both moved up on an out and Harrison reached on an error scoring Summerrell. Harrison started for second and the throw down was back to home in time to get Staggs at the plate. Greg Fulghum and Elkins singled in the eighth but could not score. Bryant led the hitting for Louisburg with three while Coates and Wilkerson each had two. Summerrell and Eason had two apiece for ECU.

National League Rides Homers To 7-1 Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer KANSAS CITY (AP) — A roast beef sandwich sat on Sparky Anderson's desk, but he hardly glanced at it. He found the taste of victory better. "This is great satisfaction to me," said the manager after his National League team defeated the American League 7-1 Tuesday night in the 4th All-Star Baseball Game.

The meaning was obvious, for the Cincinnati Reds' skipper had finally broken a personal losing streak against the other league. He had lost two World Series and the 1971 All-Star Game before Tuesday night's overwhelming success. "I was nervous before the game," said Anderson, "probably as nervous as the players. I really had butterflies."

But that uptight feeling vanished along about the middle of the game, when the Nationals pulled away on home run power supplied by Johnny Bench, Bobby Bonds and Willie Davis.

For a very brief moment, it appeared that Anderson's bad luck would continue against the American League. A double by Reggie Jackson followed by a single by Amos Otis gave the Americans a 1-0 lead in the second inning before a partisan crowd of 40,849 at Royals Stadium. But then Anderson's own Reds helped produce the first four runs for the Nationals. Cincinnati's Pete Rose and Joe Morgan scored on singles by Cesar Cedeno and Hank Aaron in the second. The Reds' Bench smashed a long home run into the left field seats in the third and Morgan doubled and scored on Bonds' homer in the fifth. Davis finished the Nationals' long-ball attack with a two-run shot in the sixth. Anderson also found satisfaction in watching Bonds' performance. The San Francisco outfielder also got a double and was voted the game's most valuable player.

A modest Bonds was surprised that he was voted MVP, though. "Gosh, it could have gone to almost anyone on the team," he said. "They could have given it to Davis, Bench... Anyone."

Physicals BETHEL — There will be physicals given for all boys interested in palying Varsity or Junior Varsity Football at North Pitt this Thursday and Friday, July 26 and 27 at 2:00 p.m. at the Bethel Clinic in Bethel. All boys will meet at the clinic at 2:00 p.m. on these two days.

The first team meeting and signing-up will be Friday, August 3, at 7:00 p.m. and will last approximately one hour. Equipment will be issued Saturday, August 4th at 10:00 a.m. Practice begins August 6th at 6:30.

Guy May Be What Stars Need

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — If history holds its pattern, a guy named Ray Guy may boot the College All-Stars to a rare victory against the Miami Dolphins at Soldier Field Friday night.

Guy, of Southern Mississippi, brings a superb record as a punter and placekicker into the 40-year All-Star series in which kicking artistry helped spark the only three collegiate victories since 1955.

Guy's credentials include a three-season punting average of 44.7 yards; 51 of 59 extra points, and 25 of 59 field goals, including an NCAA record boot of 61 yards and six others from 40 or more yards.

As a kickoff specialist, 55 of his 101 tries reached the goal line.

The All-Stars, coached by Southern California's John McKay, will be striving for their first victory since 1963 when Otto Graham's unit edged the Green Bay Packers 20-17.

In that game, Bob Jencks of Miami (Ohio) kicked eight All-Star points on field goals of 20 and 17 yards and two conversions.

That was the first All-Star triumph since 1958 when Bobby Conrad of Texas A&M contributed 15 points on four field goals of 19-24, 44 and 24 yards and three extra points in a 35-19 collegiate triumph over the Detroit Lions.

And the all-Star triumph before that was in 1955, when Ohio State's Tad Weed booted field goals of 14, 21 and 34 yards and two conversions in a 30-27 shading of the Cleveland Browns.

Quarterbacks Bert Jones of Louisiana State and Joe Ferguson of Arkansas will be feeding the ball to such All-Star runners as Purdue's Otis Armstrong, Southern California's Sam Cunningham, Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt, Long Beach State's Terry Metcalf and Chuck Foreman of Miami (Fla.).

And they'll be passing to an array of fine receivers, including Steve Holden of Arizona State, Florida State's Barry Smith and Oklahoma's Joe Wylie.

A Soldier Field capacity crowd of 55,000 is expected at the Chicago Tribune Charity contest, to be televised nationally by ABC starting at 9:30 p.m., EDT.

Tourney Gets Started

St. Gabriel, St. James and First Christian all took wins in the American Division, Church Softball League tournament.

St. Gabriel took a 13-5 win over Presbyterian. They got on the boards with three in the first but Presbyterian got one in their half and added one in the second. St. Gabriel put it away in the fifth with six runs.

Ward singled and McReynolds got a hit. Calorda singled scoring Ward and a home run by Richards got three more runs. Applegate singled and scored on Jenkin's double.

St. Gabriel added five in the seventh. Presbyterian scored again in the fifth.

St. James pushed over a run in the first to take the lead over Trinity. They added six in the second after Trinity had gone in front 2-1 in the top of the second.

Leggett doubled for St. James in the third and scored the eventual winner on a hit by Mann. Trinity rallied for four in the fifth but two more had come in for St. James giving them a 9-7 win.

Memorial Baptist almost had a win as they jumped out to 2-0 lead over Christian. Christian ties it up in the third and went ahead in the fourth. Bunting reached on an error and Pinner got a hit. H. Bunting reached on an error scoring T. Bunting and a hit by Riddick scored Pinner. West singled in H. Bunting and a hit by Clark scored Riddick. West scored on a hit by Bennett for a 8-4 win.

Maranatha Pulls Off Upset

Maranatha pulled off a 14-7 upset of Grace last night in the first round of the Church League's National Division Tournament.

In the other games, Mt. Pleasant bashed Arlington St., 15-3 and Black Jack beat Salvation Army, 18-14.

Mt. Pleasant spotted Arlington a run in the first and came back to get all they needed in the bottom of the frame to win the first game of the night. Smart walked and Barnes got a free error scoring both runners. Parker reached on an error Jones doubled in Parker and a double by Worthington scored Jones. Stancill got a hit to drive in Worthington. Arlington got one in the second but Mt. Pleasant added three in the third, one in the fourth and six in the fifth.

Salvation took a 1-0 lead in the first but Black Jack went ahead, 2-1 in the bottom of the inning. Salvation got it back in the second with five runs but seven runs came across for Black Jack in the second as they took the lead away.

Salvation got one in the third but Black Jack put it away in the third with six runs. Hudson doubled and scored on a hit by Boyer. Carson got a hit and both runners came in on McCarter's double. Adams got a double scoring McCarter. Mills doubled in McCarter and a single by Kittrell scored Mills.

Salvation rallied for seven in the fifth but fell short. In the last game, Maranatha surprised Grace, 15-7. Maranatha pushed over seven in the first and got the winner in the fourth. Harris singled and scored on Potter's triple. Potter scored on a hit by Mills. Maranatha added two in the fifth and three in the seventh. Grace scored in the third and sixth innings.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Wilburn Bias of Lesage, a Little League baseball umpire, is suing a league coach in Cabell County Circuit Court for $105,000, claiming the coach attacked him.

Bias said he received a skull fracture when the coach Rex Donahue, assaulted him after he called one of the coach's players out.

Bryant Picks Best

By HOYT HARWELL
Associated Press Writer
TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Mississippi State, Vanderbilt and Kentucky, with young coaches, could be the spoilers in the Southeastern Conference this football season, Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama says.

But he told newsmen Tuesday he looks for Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Louisiana State and "hopefully Alabama" to be the cream of the conference.

These six teams, he predicted, will be among the best in the nation, along with Southern Cal, Texas, Michigan, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Penn State and Nebraska.

Bob Tyler, a former Bryant assistant, is starting his second season at Mississippi State coach; Steve Sloan, a former Bryant player, is starting his first fall at Vanderbilt, and Frank Curci is beginning his Kentucky career.

These schools, Bryant said, "might just beat anybody and might determine the title."

Alabama, defending SEC champion, will begin its campaign Sept. 15 against California at Birmingham.

Alabama will have an adequate kicking game, average speed and weaknesses in the offensive line and defensive secondary, when it begins practice Aug. 18, Bryant said.

Gary Rutledge will start practice at quarterback in the place of All-Southeastern Conference player Terry Davis, with Robert Fraley and Richard Todd expected to push Rutledge for the job.

Rutledge, Bryant said at his annual pre-season news conference, is more consistent at this point although the other two have more ability. He said Todd has more potential "than anybody we've ever had here, but he's not consistent because he's still young."

The deep backs will include Wilbur Jackson, Ellis Beck, Mike Dean, Randy Billingsley, Mike Stock and Paul Spivey.

Wayne Wheeler, described by Bryant as an excellent receiver, will be at flanker.

Bryant listed these others as proven players from last fall's team that lost only to Auburn and to Texas in the Cotton Bowl: linemen Buddy Brown, Steve Sprayberry, John Croyle, Randy Hall, Greg Montgomery, George Pugh, Mike Raines and Leroy Cook; linebackers Mike Dubose, Wayne Hall, Randy Robertson and Chuck Strickland; and backs David McMakin, Mike Washington and Woodrow Lowe.

Vikings In Trouble With Loss Of Kassulke

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Minnesota Vikings, their roster already studded with gaping holes caused by retirement and contract holdouts, have been forced to scratch another mainstay from the list.

Star strong safety Karl Kassulke was seriously injured in a motorcycle mishap on Tuesday.

Kassulke, a 10-year National Football League veteran deemed the outstanding open field tackler on the team, sustained a broken right leg and spinal injuries after the motorcycle on which he was a passenger crashed into the rear of a car near Minnetonka, Minn. He underwent surgery Tuesday night.

The Vikings were scheduled to hold their first workout today faced with the prospect of filling the most roster openings since 1967. Three 1972 regulars retired and two others have been traded.

Elsewhere, Lance Rentzel, the Los Angeles wide receiver whose troubled career off the playing field has been stained by convictions for indecent exposure and marijuana possession, was suspended for the season for conduct detrimental to the NFL.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said in a formal statement he had informed Rentzel of the decision, which was reached after studying records of a hearing held June 20 and documents submitted by Rentzel's representatives.

Running back Duane Thomas, whose fleet-footed exploits on the field have been matched by his elusiveness off the gridiron, finally reported to the Washington Redskins' camp ready to play.

Thomas, obtained from the San Diego Chargers last Thursday, joined the Redskins at their Carlisle, Pa., training site and drew praise from Coach and assistant coach Charlie Waller.

"He picked up the offense pretty well," Allen said. "He runs smoothly. He's just gliding and he's ahead of most of the others."

On another matter, Allen said he hoped reports in the Washington Post that Larry Brown, the NFL's Most Valuable Player last season, would end his holdout were true.

Brown has said he would not report until he receives a long-term contract for 1974 after his present pact expires, but unconfirmed reports said he was expected to appear in camp today.

Larry Csonka, the Dolphins' charging fullback who has comments piled 1,000 yards rushing in each of his two NFL seasons, will play for Miami Friday against the College All-Stars. Csonka, thought to be out of the contest with a pulled thigh muscle, worked out Tuesday without any problems.

Dolphin Coach Don Shula said he hoped the All-Star Game would end the holdout of All-Pro safety Jake Scott. Shula said he had talked with Scott and invited him to join the team for the game but received no immediate reply.

Scott has attempted to negotiate a contract reportedly in the $50,000 range and has amassed fines totaling $2,800 for missing 14 days of training camp. The Dolphins have refused to negotiate until Scott reports to camp.

In other developments around the pro football camps:

—John Mackey, a three-time All-Pro and five-time Pro Bowl player in nine years with Baltimore, announced his retirement. Mackey, voted pro football's all-time greatest tight end, left the Colts following a squabble last season and signed with San Diego.

—Herb Adderly, a defensive back with 12 years' service, was acquired by Los Angeles from New England in exchange for rookie guard Bill Dulac, a seventh-round draft pick from Eastern Michigan.

—Terry Beasley, former Auburn All-American wide receiver vying for a starting assignment with San Francisco, sprained the Achilles tendon in his right leg during a workout. Coach Dick Nolan said Beasley could "shake it off and be right back" but he doesn't expect the second-year player to be ready when the 49ers open their exhibition season Saturday.

—Paul Costa, veteran lineman of the Buffalo Bills who joined the team from Notre Dame in 1965, announced his retirement from pro football.

—Quarterback Kent Nix, who has spent six seasons in the NFL, was cut by the New Orleans Saints.

Bonds, Davis Shine As They Come Off Bench

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bob Bonds and Willie Davis are pretty fair examples of the potency of the reserves in baseball's All-Star game.

Neither was selected in nationwide balloting to start in Tuesday night's 44th renewal of this classic. Both went away with their names firmly etched on the lips of an overflow crowd of 40,849.

Bonds, the pride of the San Francisco Giants, and Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who recorded his 2,000th career hit a month ago, each blasted two-run homers as the National League hammered the American League into oblivion, 7-1.

Bonds also contributed a double and Davis a single.

As a result, they were selected co-heroes of the NL's 10th victory over the AL in the last 11 games.

Ironically, the homers came on only the second time at bat in All-Star competition for both Bonds and Davis. Davis' homer was the 11th pinch-hit home run in All-Star history.

Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, the old pro who has watched a parade of All-Star players come and go for all these years, was lavish in his praise of Bonds.

"He's super," said Aaron, who is closing in on Babe Ruth's career home run record. "He does everything a ball player can do."

Bonds said he wasn't disappointed because he wasn't voted to the starting lineup.

However, NL Manager Sparky Anderson wasn't happy that Bonds was only a reserve and was determined to get the Giants' outfielder into the action as quickly as the rules permit...After three innings.

"I told Bobby when he returned to the dugout after the home run," Anderson said, "thank you for proving me right."

Belton In Finals

Belton advanced to the championship bracket in the Ladies Softball League Tournament Tuesday night with a 7-3 thumping of Piggy Wiggly.

The title game with Little Mint, regular season champs, is set for 7 p.m. at Guy Smith Stadium.

Belton picked up a run in the second inning as Cheeley tripled and scored on Vincent's single.

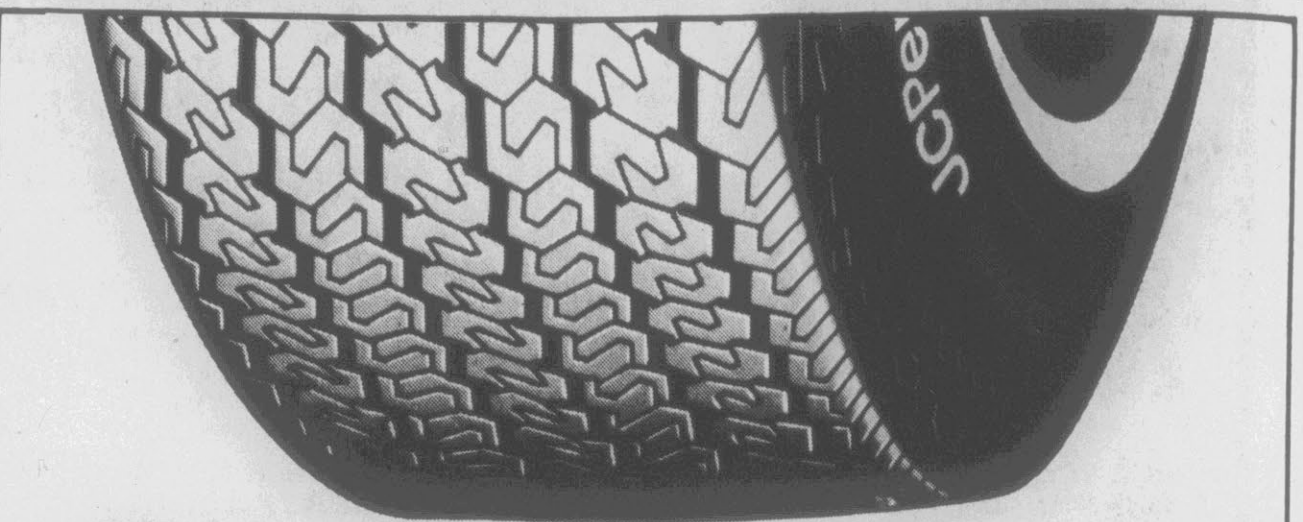

Piggy Wiggly came back in the fourth to tie the game at 1-1 on a single by D. Brewer, a fielder's choice by M. Harris, and S. Francis' single.

The game was tied in the fifth inning as Belton struck for six runs. Potter, Sawyer and Davenport hit safely and Barnhill doubled. Anthony singled and Pfiel tripled. Following an out, Vincent singled to drive in Pfiel with the sixth run of the inning.

Piggy Wiggly pushed across two runs in their half of the inning to close the gap to 7-3 but they could get no closer.

Junk Goes Into Manmade Reefs

By KEN GEPPERT
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The ocean bottom off Florida beaches is being littered with old car wrecks, spare tires and abandoned kitchen appliances—all in the name of good fishing.

More than 100 of the man-made reefs have been approved by state officials along 1,500 miles of coastline.

"Proponents of highway beautification confirm that old car bodies, refrigerators, stoves and washing machines are everywhere," said Ken Woodburn, Gov. Reubin Askew's environmental adviser. "A popular way to get them out of sight is to dump them in the ocean for artificial reefs."

In the last two weeks, Askew and the Cabinet have approved permits for two artificial reefs—car bodies off Apalachicola and concrete pipe in Tampa Bay.

To be approved, the reefs must meet environmental requirements prescribed by the Internal Improvement Fund staff, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and departments of Natural Resources and Pollution Control.

For the Apalachicola project, the Cabinet stipulated that the auto bodies be tied together to prevent drifting and drained of oil to prevent fouling the water.

Harry Falk, president of the Apalachicola Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber sponsored the project with the support of the local seafood industry to attract more sports fishermen into the area.

Falk said plans call for the car bodies to be hoisted to their burial ground five miles offshore by an Army helicopter.

Artificial reefs have proven to be popular havens for many species of fish in areas which are barren either by nature or acts of man, Woodburn said.

"They are one way we can compensate for the degradation of natural bay habitats due to dredging and filling or pollution," he said. "With proper planning, they can be a boon to fishermen and good fishing is quite important to Florida's economy."

The State Natural Resources Department has approved a $48,000 grant to construct an artificial reef off Clearwater and measure its effectiveness.

Hayward Mathews, a St. Petersburg Junior College oceanography professor in charge of the project, said millions of tiny bait fish, grouper, bass and Spanish mackerel have swarmed around the reef since it was started last November.

"We're getting more than 100 boats every weekend," he said. "Our reef is for the bread and butter fisherman, the guy with the 17 horsepower boat who doesn't want to spend all day looking for fish."

Mathews has a six-man crew on a barge making two trips a day dumping old tires into the Gulf three miles off Clearwater

Beach. The state grant calls for 60,000 tires. Mathews' crews have sent about 38,000 to a watery grave so far.

Mathews, who did his master's thesis on artificial reefs at Florida State University, said random piles produce more crevices and tunnels "so the fish have a little bit better chance against the spear fishermen."

Greg Smith, a diver and marine biologist for the Natural Resources Department, said he's found some artificial reefs off St. Petersburg to be more productive fishing grounds than natural reefs.

He plans a series of environmental impact studies later this year on sites selected for future artificial reefs made of sunken Liberty ships.

Several counties have applications pending to claim the ships from the Navy's mothball fleet, for possible use in artificial reefs, according to Tom Savage, chief of the department's Survey and Management Bureau.

While environmentalists have raised no loud opposition to manmade reefs, Internal Improvement Director Joel Kuperberg said he believes their value as fish breeding grounds has been exaggerated.

"There has been some over-promotion for artificial reefs being a replacement for natural estuarine areas," said Kuperberg. "It should be made clear that while they are useful as gathering places for fish, they are not nursery grounds."

But popularity of the reefs appears unabated. Thirty-six of Florida's 67 counties have man-made reefs within their bounds.

Charge Patrolman In Fatal Shooting Of Handcuffed Boy

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Police Chief Frank Dyson says the fatal shooting of a handcuffed 12-year-old boy by a policeman while they were sitting in a squad car was "uncalled for, unjustified and illegal."

Patrolman Darryl L. Cain, 30, was charged with murder after the shooting Tuesday. He was released on $5,000 bond.

Police said a bullet from Cain's .357-caliber revolver killed Santos Rodriguez as Cain and another officer questioned the boy and his 13-year-old brother, David, about a service station break-in.

Dyson said Cain, a policeman since 1968, was in shock after the shooting.

A police spokesman gave this account of the shooting of Santos:

Patrolman Roy Arnold saw several youths running from the gas station but lost them while chasing them on foot in darkness early Tuesday. Arnold said he recognized the youths.

Arnold radioed for help, and Cain went with Arnold to the home of the Rodriguez boys' grandfather, where they lived.

The officers took the two boys to the gas station and handcuffed them. Santos was put in the front seat of the squad car with Arnold, and David was in the rear with Cain.

The boys refused to answer questions about the burglary, and Cain pointed his pistol at the back of Santos' head.

The gun discharged while Cain was leaning forward, and the bullet hit the boy behind his left ear. He was dead on arrival at Parkland Hospital.

David Rodriguez said Cain pulled the trigger of his revolver twice.

"The gun clicked, but it didn't fire" the first time, he said.

"I felt like pushing the gun away, but I was handcuffed. I couldn't do anything."

The officer warned them to "tell the truth," he said. "The officer said, 'This time it has a bullet in it.' He clicked and it fired."

"Oh, my God!" David said the officer yelled.

"Maybe he thought there wasn't a bullet in the gun," he added.

Student Editors Fighting For, And Win, Freedom

By WALT SMITH
United Press International
When the student newspaper at predominantly black North Carolina Central University editorially opposed the increased flow of white students to the Durham, N.C., campus, the university president, Albert N. Whiting, responded by cutting off its state funds. He claimed the newspaper's editorial policy was racist and failed to "represent fairly the full spectrum of views" on the campus.

Circuit Court of Appeals, which ruled, in a 2-1 decision, that funds for the newspaper could not be terminated solely because university officials disagreed with the paper's editorial policy.

Student newspapers at the

Hunting Better Implant Alloys

STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — A University of Connecticut scientist has been awarded a $360,000 National Science Foundation grant to aid his quest for improved orthopedic implant alloys.

Dr. Norbert D. Green, in the metallurgy and general dentistry departments, is trying to find the best alloys for such implants as bone screws and artificial hips. Materials worked with so far range from gold and silver to titanium and stainless steel.

University of Florida and Florida State University were also cut loose from the universities this year, after the state attorney general ruled the university presidents were liable for the papers' content, but could not censor stories prior to publication.

"New Breed"

The ruling came after the editor of "The Florida Alligator" defied campus officials and printed a list of abortion referral agencies in violation of a state law. The law was subsequently ruled unconstitutional as a result of the Alligator's action.

University of Florida President Stephen C. O'Connell says his action in making the newspaper independent was not designed to kill the publication.

"The Alligator is going to succeed as a newspaper for the same reason that a daily city newspaper succeeds — editorial responsibility," said O'Connell. "We have a new breed of editor who is willing to stand up and be responsible for what gets printed in his paper."

At Florida State, "The Flambeau" staff felt it was cut loose from the university too quickly and the administration wanted it to sink. FSU President Stanley Marshall replied that the staff was trying to "sabotage itself" and was not working to keep the paper afloat.

The "Stanford Daily" went independent Feb. 1, but editor Charlie Hoffman said the move came after three years of careful planning.

"It's a rare situation," said Hoffman. "Most papers that go independent are thrown out." Hoffman said he will continue to criticize the school's administration. "Now they can't get at us, even if they wanted to."

Send Off Campus Journalism Prof. James L. Julian of California State University at San Diego, vice president for campus affairs for the Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society, said some university presidents want to rid themselves of the "embarrassment" of the campus newspaper.

"There is no way to stop four-letter words and things that people call up the college president to complain about," said Julian. "A lot of people think the college president can boot out any kid who writes four-letter words. They think somehow he can censor it."

"The tendency, I think, is for college presidents to say 'Okay, if I am publisher and you are going to be independent of us, then you are really going to be independent.' And they are moving them off campus."

At Samford University in Alabama, the editor and 11 other staff members of the "Samford Crimson" resigned last fall after president Leslie Wright refused to allow publication of a story about reports that the university planned commercial development of land near the campus.

Wright defended the censorship, saying the newspaper was "a house organ, not a newspaper in the traditional sense."

Former editor Randall Williams then started an off-campus newspaper and began distributing it on campus. Most of the staff resigned, however, when Wright said the campus distribution violated university rules and they could be disciplined.

Williams continued the paper but it was no longer distributed on campus.

Censorship Problem

At Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pa., editor T.J. Logue of the "Duke" said most censorship problems ended there when the paper severed its ties with the journalism department five years ago.

"Now most of our problems come from the student government (which approves funding)," said Logue. "We're ready to criticize them for their mistakes and it has shown up when budget time comes around."

One of the most controversial campus newspapers is Wayne State's (Mich.) "South End," which began publication in late 1967, immediately after the summer Detroit riots.

The newspaper has had a succession of editors who have drawn administration fire. Wayne State president William R. Keast even suppressed the publication temporarily because of its allegedly profane articles and poems.

What To Do?

CSU's Prof. Julian said some college presidents probably are justified in being upset with their student newspaper.

"On our campus this past semester our editor thought her job was to attack the president on every issue," he said. "I am not a 'president's boy'—he doesn't own me at all—but I don't think he's gotten a fair shake."

Julian said there has been other cases, however, where "college editors have been punished for no more than criticizing an administration that should have been criticized."

Julian is on a committee that is trying to establish guidelines for Sigma Delta Chi on what the organization can do on campuses where there are problems involving the student newspaper.

"We don't really know how to approach these things because they are all different," he said.

FOREIGN IMPACT

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Of every 100 persons who die in this city, only 58 were born here. Thirty-seven came to Rio from other parts of Brazil and five from foreign countries, according to the Brazil census bureau.

Article Offers Insight Into Colonial Life

By H. G. JONES
Director of Archives and History
RALEIGH (AP) — Interesting insights into everyday life in colonial North Carolina are offered in an article in the summer edition of the "North Carolina Historical Review."

Written by Dr. Alan Watson, history professor at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, the article is entitled "Society and Economy in Colonial Edgecombe County." Information is taken primarily from inventories of estates in Edgecombe County between 1730 and 1775 but is applicable to certain social and economic aspects of life over much of the colony.

large variety of cooking utensils. Not everyone, according to this account, had a dining table and only the "wealthier" owned tablecloths.

Dr. Watson's detailed essay continues with accounts of the types of eating utensils, other household items, weapons, money, and clothing. Among interesting notes are the facts that men had more opportunities than women to display jewelry. Silver knee and shoe buckles were not uncommon, and an occasional snuffbox and watch added glamour to the male attire.

The records indicate that the most popular crop of the period was Indian corn because it served as food for both people and livestock; but tobacco was the principal money crop. Other foods in addition to grains were sweet potatoes, peaches, apples, and honey. There was some breeding of livestock, but not with complete success.

Great value was attached to stills and they too were frequently mentioned in wills. Watson notes that Carolinians drank much tea, coffee, and chocolate, but imbibed alcoholic beverages "on a ground scale." Marriages, Funerals, and other formal or informal gatherings "occasioned the outpouring of spirits."

Many other indicators of day-to-day life styles in colonial North Carolina are offered in Dr. Watson's article which appears in the summer edition of the "North Carolina Historical Review" along with four other articles and book reviews on North Carolina and Southern history.

The Review is published quarterly by the Division of Archives and History and is available by direct subscription or through membership in the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association.

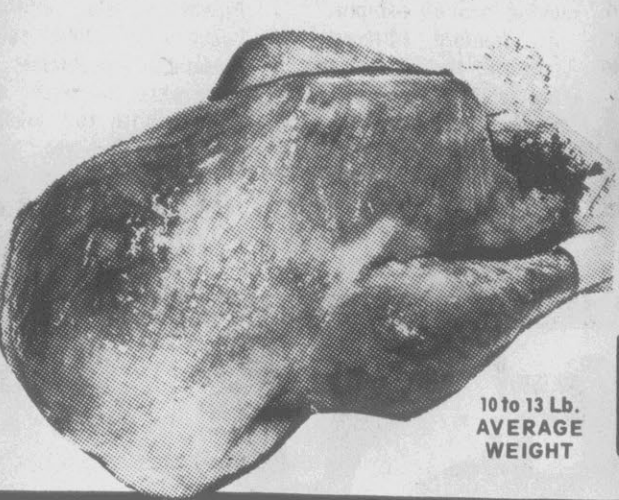

Charles Blair Jr., made the first solo flight across the North Pole, May 29, 1951, in a converted P.51.

Houses of the period are said to have reflected the roughness of semirural life and the crudeness of homemade construction. The bulk of furnishings in an average household consisted of beds, chests, and kitchen utensils. Though not uncommon in the inventories, feather beds represented "wealth" and frequently were mentioned specifically in wills.

Because the houses were generally small, large furniture was kept to a minimum. The arrangement of the main—and often the only—room of the house usually was dominated by a fireplace surrounded by a LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Murcott citrus fruit, a cross between a tangerine and an orange, was named after Charles Murcott Smith of Safety Harbor, Fla. Smith propagated trees about 1922 and in 1928 named the resulting fruit the "Honey Murcott".

For years it was classified as an orange, but in 1971 the Florida Citrus Commission reclassified it as a tangerine. The Murcott season runs from January to March. The fruit has a thin rind and a smooth, glossy surface.

Mutiny Charges Filed Against Seven Returnees

WASHINGTON (AP) — New mutiny charges have been filed against seven former prisoners of war in North Vietnam, but the Pentagon says three of them cannot be tried under military law.

Air Force Maj. Edward W. Leonard Jr. brought the charges against two Marines and five Army enlisted men, the Pentagon announced Tuesday. Other misconduct allegations against the men were recently dropped.

However, Pentagon lawyers said military trials cannot be held for three of them who have been given honorable discharges from the Army since the earlier charges were dismissed July 3.

A lawyer for one of the three discharged soldiers, former Spec. 4 Michael P. Branch, 26, of Highland Heights, Ky., agreed.

In a recent interview, Leonard accused the Army of failing to investigate the first charges, which were filed by Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy.

"I do not believe the POWs who served honorably were given an opportunity to present their side," Leonard said.

The other two who have left the Army since Guy's charges are former Staff Sgts. Robert P. Chenoweth, 25, Portland, Ore., and King D. Rayford, 27, Chicago.

Still in the service are Army Staff Sgts. John A. Young, 27, Grayslake, Ill., and James A. Daly Jr., 25, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Marine Staff Sgt. Alfonso Riate, 28, of Santa Rosa, Calif., and Marine Pvt. Frederick L. Elbert Jr., 25, of Brentwood, N.Y.

Marine Sgt. Abel L. Kavanaugh, 24, of Denver also was accused by Guy but was an apparent suicide before the charges were dropped.

Leonard, Guy and the enlisted men were confined at a North Vietnamese prison compound called the Plantation.

The Pentagon said Leonard, 34, preferred charges at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., under Article 94 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, a section dealing with mutiny.

Missing Boy Home Again Board Keeps Authority

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—A Charlotte teen-ager suffering from Wilson's disease, missing from his home since July 16, has been reunited with his parents after being recognized by the Salvation Army commander in Greensboro.

Maj. Lewis Stillely said Bruce Hammond Bailey showed up at the Salvation Army's welfare center Tuesday afternoon and applied for work.

Stillely said he recognized the 17-year-old boy from a description given him by Charlotte police. Stillely said he notified Charlotte and Greensboro police and then detained the youth by telling him there would be some painting to do around the Salvation Army building.

"I didn't want to scare him," said Stillely.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bailey, hurried to Greensboro and were reunited with their son at the Salvation Army's transient center.

Bruce was the winner of the physics award this year at Charlotte's Olympic High School. Mrs. Bailey said her son left home four days after he was told he had Wilson's disease, a condition that allows copper to build up in the vital organs.

Physicians say the disease can be treated successfully, Mrs. Bailey said, but, she added, "I guess he was frightened."

The boy's father, a Delta Airlines mechanic, had visited Washington in search of his son after receiving leads from a Charlotte bus terminal ticket agent and a guard at the Smithsonian Institution in the nation's capital.

Raleigh (AP)—North Carolina's new Board of Transportation has asserted some independence from Secretary of Transportation Bruce Lentz's desires.

The Board, at its first meeting Tuesday, declined Lentz's request to delegate all of its statutory authority to him.

That procedure had been followed by the Highway Commissioners appointed by Gov. Jim Holshouser in January. The legislature replaced the Highway Commission with the smaller Board of Transportation in its last session.

Lentz appeared shocked when the new Board declined to become an advisory panel as the old one had done. "It's a new ball game," he said.

But he maintained that he would have much the same relationship with the new board as he had with the old. "I always felt my direction and guidance came from the commissioners."

Of the 12 members of the new Board, nine were appointed by Holshouser and some of them appeared to be taking the lead in retaining the authority vested in the Board by statute.

Troy Doby of Raleigh said the members Holshouser's Highway Commission had begun to chafe under the restrictions imposed on them by Holshouser and Lentz in January.

He indicated that the governor was aware of and approved of their actions Tuesday.

MENDES TAKES CHICKEN TO BRAZIL

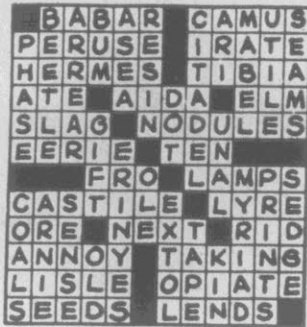

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Sergio Mendes will open eight Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants here and in Sao Paulo.

The projection is for 300 such restaurants.

Mendes, who heads the musical group Brasil '77, already has a music publishing firm, a record label and recording studio in his native Brazil.

The 'Worry Clinic' Minds Require A Proper Diet

Dr. Gault's warning about "feeble-minded by deprivation" should challenge all intelligent parents. For the mind grows by what it feeds upon. And the Bible says that "as a man thinketh, so is he." So indulge in mental calisthenics with kiddies!

By GEORGE S. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-568: Dr. Robert H. Gault was head of our Psychology Department at Northwestern University when I began teaching there.

In his splendid textbook, "Social Psychology," Dr. Gault mentions "feeble-minded by deprivation."

"Dr. Crane," you may inquire, "did he refer to lack of proper vitamins or trace chemicals? 'And to the children of mothers who smoke or use drugs?'"

No; that wasn't what he had in mind, though those factors must be considered.

Dr. Gault meant that if kiddies don't have their brains stimulated by playmates, toys and many new ideas during their early years, their mind may become dull by habit.

And this may occur in spite of an inherited good I. Q. Recently Dr. Jermome Kagan, of Harvard, analyzed the behavior of native children in the primitive village of San Marcos, Guatemala.

There the new babies stay inside windowless cabins until after they are a year old. They lack toys and the mothers, as per native custom, seldom talk to the youngsters or play with them.

As a result, when the toddlers were of kindergarten age, they rated as much as as 3 years behind American kiddies, ever in our tenement areas.

But Dr. Kagan reports that after the children were old enough to walk and mingle with other youngsters outside their gloomy huts, their brains were still alert.

When 11-year-olds of the same village, apparently reared under similar stifling childhood mental conditions, were tested, they were quite intelligent.

In reasoning ability, memory and inference they showed that they scored on a par with youngsters of middle class homes in America.

But Dr. Gault's advice is still sound, for a child who was confined to a dungeon till the middle teens, would probably be habituated to a dull adult outlook. What saved those Guatemala youngsters' I.Q. was the fact that after one year, they began to fraternize with other kiddies and indulge in play activities that whetted their wits.

We psychologists thus urge you parents to surround your toddlers with stimulating toys.

Also, turn the pages of books or magazines and let the pre-school kiddies see colored pictures of trucks, tractors, animals and the myriad commercial objects listed in mail order catalogues.

Remember, youngsters from homes that get a daily newspaper, also rate higher in school marks.

Even a telephone in your home encourages more conversation, and a child's vocabulary depends in large part on hearing family talk.

That's also why it is wise to have several children, for the oldest helps prod the next ones regarding language, use of toys and games!

A child's intelligence, much like its muscles, develops by varied and constant exercise.

Language (and reading) are the motor of the entire educational process, so by all means encourage fondness for books, newspapers and magazines

Send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
A well-reasoned play by East led to a swing of 720 points when this deal was played in a team match in Chicago.

At both tables in the match, South became declarer at four spades after similar auctions. Over North's opening bid of one diamond, East took advantage of the vulnerability to overcall one heart. South showed his six-card spade suit and West tried to interfere with the flow of the auction by jumping to three hearts. However, North's hand was worth 21 points in support of spades, and he showed his power with a leap to four spades, which ended the auction.

At both tables, West led the queen of hearts, won by East's ace. At one table, East shifted to the nine of diamonds, and South cleverly false-carded by playing the three. West studied the diamond spots and noticed that the deuce was missing. He thought that his partner probably held a doubleton, and since the ace of diamonds was the only entry to his hand, he elected to hold up one round. There was no second chance for the defense.

A spade was led to the jack in dummy and East's ace, but there was no way for East to get his partner in to score a diamond ruff. Declarer could win any return, draw the outstanding trump and concede a trick to the ace of diamonds, making his game for a score of 620 points.

At the second table, East was aware of the possibility that his partner might play him for a doubleton diamond. Thus, after winning the ace of hearts he searched for a way to alert his partner to the fact that he wanted to ruff a diamond. His solution was first to play the ace of trumps, and then shift to a diamond.

West worked it out. If East held a doubleton diamond, it was folly first to release the ace of trumps and then shift. The play must have been intended as a signal of some kind, and the only message it could convey was that East did not want his partner to hold up. Therefore, he rose with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit, and East's ruff netted his side a further 100 points.

Methadone BabyEffect 'Worse'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Babies born to mothers addicted to methadone show even more adverse effects than babies born to mothers addicted to heroin, a New York Medical College investigator says.

Dr. Carl Zelson, professor of pediatrics, compared 46 babies born to methadone-addicted mothers to 45 born to heroin-addicted women. More methadone babies than heroin babies —42 versus 34 —developed withdrawal signs. The methadone withdrawal signs were more severe. More methadone babies —20 versus six —needed treatment for withdrawal.

SAVE 20¢
STORE COUPON
Take this coupon to your grocer now. Worth 20¢ toward your next purchase of any size jar or can of Sanka® brand decaffeinated coffee. Offer limited to one coupon per purchase. Coupon expires July 31, 1974.
Mr. Grocer: General Foods Corporation will redeem this coupon for 20¢ plus 3¢ for handling side agencies, brokers or others who are not retail distributors of our merchandise or specifically authorized by us to present coupons for redemption. For redemption of properly received and handled coupon mail to: GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION, COUPON REDEMPTION OFFICE, P.O. BOX 103, Kankakee, Illinois 60901.
Good only in U.S.A. if presented through out-
Good only upon presentation to grocer on purchase of any size jar or can of Sanka brand decaffeinated coffee. Any other use constitutes fraud.
ON SANKA® brand decaffeinated coffee
Coffee can be bitter. Which is why millions drink smooth-tasting Sanka® brand 97% caffeine-free coffee. You see, we take out a lot of the harsh, bitter elements when we take out the caffeine. So clip the coupon and save 20¢ on smooth-tasting Sanka® brand decaffeinated coffee. Perked, Freeze-Dried or Instant. It's less bitter coffee. And if it's less bitter, it's better.
