

Leaf Sales Begin In Greenville Tomorrow

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
The Greenville Tobacco Market will join one other market on the Eastern Belt in opening flue-cured tobacco auctions tomorrow as operations begin on a limited basis for the second year in a row.

Greenville and Rocky Mount are the only two eastern markets authorized to begin sales tomorrow morning and each will have two sets of buyers on hand for the opening activities.

The belt will continue its limited opening schedule through August 7 when seven additional markets will begin sales. Both Wilson and Kinston will open that day with two sets of buyers each and Farmville, Williamston, Tarboro, Goldsboro and Smithfield will get underway with one set per market.

The 17-market belt will swing into full operation on Aug. 28 when the remaining eight markets will begin auctions. On the 28th, Greenville will add two sets of buyers and on Oct. 9, the fifth set will be assigned to the local market for the rest of the season.

According to J.N. Bryan, sales supervisor for the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, from Aug. 28 until the season closes the sales allocations for Greenville will be based on five sets of buyers although the fifth set will not join the market until Oct. 9.

Bryan, commenting that preparations have been made by local warehousemen to insure a smooth opening day, pointed out that the Greenville market has been allocated some 10,294,424 pounds for the July 31 through Aug. 27 period of limited sales. The allocation is adjusted when the full belt begins operations.

First sales tomorrow morning have been assigned to Farmers Warehouse for the first set of buyers while New Carolina will have second sales. Cannon's Warehouse will be scheduled for third sales and Star Planters will have the fourth sale, Bryan said.

The second set of buyers will be assigned to New Independent Warehouse for the first sale, to Raynor-Forbes & Clark for the second sale, and to Keel's Warehouse for the third sale.

Selling positions will be rotated by the local warehouses through Aug. 28, Bryan explained. He added that sales cards are available to farmers.

The industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee has allocated 390,947,000 pounds for sale on the Eastern Belt, compared with last year's allocation of 331,470,000 pounds.

The supervisor said that total sales for 1972 were 46,870,956 pounds for $41,098,971, recording a season's average of $87.69 per hundred pounds.

The local market, according to Bryan, paid out over a million dollars per day on 27 of its sales days during the 1972 season.

Last year's opening day average of $85.92 here topped the previous season's record breaking opener by over $8. Pitt Agricultural Extension chairman Ed Yancey said (Continued on Page 6)

Would Try It One More Time

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Promoter Shelly Finkel likes the Grand Prix race track where his weekend rock festival attracted 600,000 fans. He says he'd like to use it again for another festival in six weeks.

But try convincing local officials and townspeople of this rural western New York village they need another massive bottleneck of cars and people such as the one caused by the aptly named "Summer Jam."

By nightfall Sunday, nearly all the young people had left the track and only 1,000 acres strewn with garbage remained as testimony to the event that surpassed in size the 1969 Woodstock festival and was the biggest ever held in the United States.

A few hundred campers lingered, some of them searching for tents, cars, friends or pets lost in the earlier confusion.

"Summer Jam" started more than a week ago as people began trickling into the track for a leisurely wait for concert time Saturday.

On Thursday and Friday, the trickle became a tide, engulfing nearly all roads in the Watkins Glen vicinity.

When the Grateful Dead band opened the concert with "Sweet Magnolia" Saturday noon, about 600,000 persons had managed to reach the track area. Most of them pressed to get within at least hearing distance of the performers.

Finkel, 28, of New York City, who with partner Jim Koplik, 23, started organizing the concert in February, called the jam a tremendous success.

"We think things went incredibly well in terms of all the extra people we never expected," he said.

Asked why the turnout was three times what he anticipated, Finkel credited it to the drawing power of the groups—the Dead, The Band and the Allman Brothers.

Ehrlichman Avers Nixon Sought Reports 8 Times

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked eight times between September and March for complete reports on the Watergate affair and never received satisfaction, his former top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, testified today.

Beginning a record-equalling fifth day of testimony to the Senate Watergate committee, Ehrlichman said he was kept in the dark about Watergate planning sessions until April. But he said he notified the President of the meetings within an hour after learning of them.

Ehrlichman said, however, he did not notify the President about the break-in to the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist because "there was nothing the President could do about it or was called to do about it."

As senators limited their questions in an effort to speed up the lengthy proceedings, Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, asked Ehrlichman if Nixon ever asked, prior to March of this year, for information of exactly how the Watergate break-in came about.

"Yes sir," said Ehrlichman. "On repeated occasions the President asked that a complete and definitive statement of the whole Watergate matter, how it was planned, how it was executed, the whole picture be set down on paper and released."

Q. Did the President ever receive satisfaction?
A. No sir.
Ehrlichman ticked off these occasions:

—In September, he asked campaign director Clark MacGregor.

—In November, he asked for a statement on Donald Segretti's role in the affair.

—Later in November, around Thanksgiving, "he asked in response to a letter that he received from a friend about this, expressing real concern about it, he said he wanted this out and cleaned up before the Congress came back."

—Asked White House counsel John W. Dean III on Dec. 8 to do a Watergate summary.

—Did the same Dec. 11 and said he wanted that statement by Christmas.

—Asked again prior to a California meeting of top aides on Feb. 10.

—Asked in a conference with Republican Chairman George Bush March 20.

—Asked in a March 22 meeting with Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell and Dean.

Ehrlichman said that April 15, Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, who was reporting in detail to Nixon on the Watergate case, asked the President to fire Ehrlichman and White House chief of staff Haldeman.

"The President pressed him and Petersen conceded there was no legal basis, but to do it for appearances and not to fire Dean," said Ehrlichman.

Ehrlichman and Haldeman resigned April 30 and Dean was fired the same day.

Ehrlichman's fifth day of testimony equalled the committee record set by Dean.

As Ehrlichman took the stand, the committee scheduled seven more witnesses to follow him.

Jumped Or Fell

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — A Rocky Mount man who had sought a free ride on a passenger train Sunday jumped or fell from its rear platform a short time later and was killed.

Lt. James Hawley of the Wilson County Sheriff's department identified the victim as Kannie Roy Thigpen, 32, and gave this account:

Thigpen approached the engineer of the Seaboard Coastline Silver Meteor in the Rocky Mount station and asked for a ride to Wilson, some 18 miles distant, but was turned down.

Apparently unnoticed, Thigpen boarded the last car and remained on the rear platform. The train does not stop at Wilson and when Thigpen became aware of this he either jumped or fell from the platform some three miles south of Wilson.

The crew of another train passing several minutes later discovered his body.

The medical examiner ruled death was accidental. Thigpen originally was from Fountain in Pitt County.

Astronauts Stop A Tiny Leak In Orbiting Craft

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 2 astronauts, hoping to shake the effects of motion sickness with a slow and easy day, interrupted their sleep today to track down and stop a tiny leak in their orbiting station.

Then, with an indication they were feeling better, they went back to bed until midmorning on the third day of their planned 59-days in space.

"Sorry you were so rudely awakened," Mission Control told Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma after the leak was stopped. "Hope you're feeling better." "I think so," replied Garriott. "But we're going back to bed for awhile. We got to bed late last night and only have had about six hours rest. So we'll probably get a couple more."

Flight surgeons said Sunday they expected all three astronauts to recover today from the seasickness-like illness as they adapt to weightlessness.

The illness, mainly queasiness of the stomach, has delayed activation of the space station and postponed a space walk from Tuesday until Wednesday.

Mission Control detected a slight leak in the nitrogen-oxygen gas pressurization system in the station about 2 a.m. EDT. It was not serious enough to wake the crew and the ground controlled it by remotely feeding new gas into the system. But about 7 a.m., Lousma reported he had been awakened by the sound of the new gas being fed into the system. All three men got up and started a systematic leak check. Then Bean remembered that about the time the ground reported detecting the leak, he had dumped something through an airlock module into a large trash container.

He checked and found that the handle on the trash airlock was not properly closed.

"When I put my ear to it I can hear it hissing," Bean reported. "I must have left it open or accidentally kicked it as I went by."

He turned the handle to properly seal the hatch and the leak stopped.

Some Of Gov. Holshouser Highway Reform Plans Implemented

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — As campaigner and as governor, one of the major themes Jim Holshouser has addressed to North Carolinians is reform in the state highway system. Seven months into his administration, Holshouser has implemented some of the reforms he talked of as a campaigner. But in other respects, he is following the political patterns of his Democratic predecessors. As a candidate for governor, Holshouser said on one occasion, "It's time to take the highway commission out of politics." And on another, "We want to take politics out of the roads and put the decisions in the hands of professional transportation planners."

But when he recently made his appointments to the highway commission's successor, the Board of Transportation, Holshouser selected a group of nine people with two things in common. None of them had any professional experience in transportation planning, and all of them had made significant contributions to Holshouser's campaign.

On the other hand, Holshouser gets high marks from a Democrat, State Auditor Henry Bridges, for the way his administration has implemented Bridges' recommendations for reform of the Department of Transportation's accounting system.

Bridges described those procedures as "chaotic" in his audits of the department under former Gov. Bob Scott. In a recent interview, he said the new administration is "progressing well" in its efforts to reform them.

Holshouser's announcement of the Board of Transportation appointees did not mention their political activities in his behalf, but they were not reticent about them when contacted individually by the Associated Press.

All but two of the nine had positions in the Holshouser campaign, primarily on the county level. Robert R. Browning was Pitt County chairman. Isabel Holmes was New Hanover chairman. Robert G. Vaughn was High Point chairman. H. Perrin Anderson was Mecklenburg finance co-chairman. Jacob F. Alexander was Rowan finance co-chairman. John F. Murphy was "assistant campaign coordinator" in Cumberland. Troy Doby's wife Jane was state campaign treasurer; he flew Holshouser about the state to campaign appearances in his private plane.

The remaining two had positions that pre-empted working for Holshouser. Dr. Wayne Montgomery was Buncombe County chairman of the Committee to Re-elect the President, but he contributed $100 to the Holshouser campaign. State Rep. William Stevens, R-Caldwell, says he was too busy with his own campaign to join Holshouser's, but he contributed $500.

Evidently, Holshouser chose the nine with an eye not only toward repaying past political favors but to insuring future ones. Most of them, when asked, said they would support Holshouser in any future confrontation with state GOP chairman Frank Rouse, with whom the governor's top political aide, Gene Anderson, has been fighting for control of the party.

Holshouser has maintained in the past that his appointees would have primarily an advisory role in road planning, allowing the professionals in the department to make the major decisions. When he appointed his short-lived Highway Commission in January, he instructed them to delegate their authority to Secretary of Transportation Bruce Lentz.

There were no such instructions to the members of the new Board of Transportation, the nine agreed. And when the Board met for the first time, it rejected Lentz's request that he be allowed to handle the decisions.

Most of the nine said they intended to let the professionals supply the priorities for road development. But at least two, Browning and Murphy, indicated that they have pet projects they want to see built. Browning, a Greenville attorney who, contrary to the Holshouser press release, is no longer a member of the Greenville Parking Commission, said he wanted to see a complete intercity road system in the East, to compliment the interstate system. Murphy said, "The East has been left out," and that he intends to rectify that.

Anderson, asked whether politics was still a part of the highway commission, said the governor "was talking about bureaucrats, not part-time volunteer commissioners," when he made the statement. "Politics is (Continued on Page 6)

Public Attitude Over Supreme Court Changing

By GEORGE GALLUP

Should Appointments Be Conservatives, Liberals?

(Copyright 1973, Field Enterprises, Inc. All rights reserved. Republication in whole or part strictly prohibited except with the written consent of the copyright holders.)

PRINCETON, N.J.—The public's current rating of the U.S. Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, is slightly more favorable than the rating given Chief Justice Earl Warren's court in 1969.

Attitudes toward the Court, however, have changed sharply among certain groups in the population. Those who tend to be conservative in their political philosophy—Republicans, Southerners and older members of society—are now more favorably disposed toward the Court than they were in 1969.

The views of their liberal counterparts, on the other hand, have shown very little change since the earlier survey.

In the latest survey, conducted in early July, 37 per cent give the Court an overall favorable rating—that is, "excellent" or "good". The comparable figure for the Warren Court in 1969 was 4 points lower—33 per cent.

By groups, the favorable vote of Republicans has increased 12 points since 1969, and is up 10 points in the South over the four-year period between surveys.

Favorable attitudes ("excellent" and "good" combined) are down 3 points among adults under 30 years old, but up 8 points among the 50 and over group.

The Court ended its 1972-73 term in late June. The nine-month working period represented the first complete term in which the impact of the appointments of all four Nixon nominees was felt: Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell, Jr., and William H. Rehnquist.

Here is the question asked in the latest survey: "In general what kind of rating would you give the Supreme Court—excellent, good, fair or poor?"

Following are the latest findings, compared with those from a survey conducted in 1969, at the end of Warren's tenure and shortly before Burger became Chief Justice. Results from surveys in 1968, 1967 and 1963 are also included for the purposes of comparison.

Rating Of Supreme Court

	1973	1968	1967	1963
Excellent	6	8	15	10
Good	31	25	30	33
Fair	36	31	32	29
Poor	15	23	21	17
No Opinion	12	13	11	9

Following is a comparison between the latest and 1969 surveys by groups:

Change In Favorable Ratings Of U.S. Supreme Court

	1969	1973	Change
East	37	40	+3
Midwest	33	38	+5
West	36	34	-2
South	24	34	+10
Republicans	28	40	+12
Democrats	35	35	—
Independents	34	36	+2
Under 30 Years	46	43	-3
30-49 years	35	36	+1
50 and over	24	32	+8

'Too Liberal' Or 'Too Conservative' In Rulings?

When people in the latest survey were asked whether they thought the U.S. Supreme Court is "too liberal" or "too conservative" in its decisions, the largest group, 39 per cent, say "about right" or do not express an opinion. Among the remaining 61 per cent, more say the Court is "too liberal" in its decision (35 per cent) than say it is "too conservative" (26 per cent).

Following are the question and results: "In general, do you think the U.S. Supreme Court is too liberal or too conservative in its decisions?"

Too Liberal	35
Too Conservative	26
About Right	17
No Opinion	22

A further finding from the latest survey shows that nearly half of the public (46 per cent) would like new Supreme Court appointees to be conservatives, while 30 per cent say they would prefer them to be liberals and 24 per cent do not express an opinion.

These results are consistent with those from three previous surveys since 1968, each of which shows about half of those interviewed in favor of the appointment of justices who are conservative in their political views.

The weight of opinion is heavily in favor of conservative appointments among persons of all educational levels, among both Democrats and Republicans and in all four major regions of the nation.

The views of young adults and blacks living in the North, however, are an exception. By a wide 48 to 34 per cent margin, adults under 30 think new appointments to the Court should be liberals rather than conservatives.

Following is the question asked in the survey and the national trend:

"When new appointments are made by the President to the Supreme Court, would you like these to be people who are liberal or conservative in their political views?"

	July 1973	April 1973	June 1969	June 1968
Conservatives	46	49	52	51
Liberals	30	27	25	30
No Opinion	24	24	23	29

The 'Why' Behind The Trend

A decade ago the Supreme Court had a more favorable public image than it enjoys today. At that time about equal proportions of the American people said "excellent" or "good" as said "fair" or "poor."

In a survey taken four years later, in 1967, the rating had changed little, although during the four year interim between surveys the Court had handed down some far-reaching and highly controversial decision.

Much of the criticism of the Court in the early '60s came from white Southerners who objected to the Court's ruling on desegregation in schools as well as other decisions on racial matters.

Court Seen as 'Too Permissive'

The court declined somewhat in public favor during the latter part of the '60s, with an important factor the growing feeling that the Court was "too soft" on criminals. Others complained that the rights of the individual were being protected at the expense of society as a whole.

Counterbalancing these views are those of many citizens interviewed who believe the Court is helping to move society forward while fully protecting the rights of individuals and minority groups.

Prime Time Rule Is Undergoing Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today begins two days of hearings on whether to repeal or change its controversial rule limiting network broadcasting by TV stations during prime time.

Over 40 witnesses have been allotted time, including the national and smaller networks, movie producers and actors, station owners, and such organizations as Action for Children's Television and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The prime time rule went into effect in October 1972. It forbids TV stations in the nation's top 50 markets to carry network programs for more than three hours during prime time, 7 to 11 p.m.

Last Oct. 1 the rule was expanded to bar stations from filling that extra hour with off-network programs or feature films which within two years have previously been broadcast by stations in the local market area.

The purpose of the rule was to increase diversity in programming sources by opening the market to independent program sources and have more locally produced programs.

An Associated Press survey last year showed two-thirds of the station managers disliked the prime time rule.

Some producers of TV shows said the rule did more harm than good, that instead of leading to more diversifying programming viewers are fed stripped game shows, rereads of cancelled network material, inexpensive foreign imports and more commercials.

Two Drownings Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina recorded two drownings over the weekend. Authorities said Patrick Timothy Clayton, 8, of Hendersonville, drowned Sunday in a small pond in Hendersonville while playing with friends.

Benjamin Dossett Jones Jr. of Charlotte, drowned early Sunday morning in Lake Norman. He had been swimming with two companions, authorities said.

Heber Wayne Tripp of Route 3, Greenville was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 6:35 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth Street and Memorial Drive.

Investigators reported the Tripp car collided with a vehicle driven by Lindsay Ray Briley of Route 5, Greenville. Damage was set at $250 to the Tripp car and $200 to the Briley vehicle.

To her way of thinking, she's got a 'whole' man

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is concerning "Heartbroken Parents" whose beautiful 28-year-old nurse daughter was marrying a young man who had lost both his legs when he stepped on a mine near Saigon. ["She could easily have gotten a 'whole man'," her mother moaned.]

May I tell my story? I am also a nurse. At 24, I married an athlete who thought all women should be kept pregnant and quiet, no matter what their husbands did. After two children and eight years of hell, I divorced him.

Then I married George, who had been paralyzed from his shoulders down for 24 years. We have been married a year and a half, and I have never felt so loved, respected, honored, and needed. I thank God for every minute that He has allowed me to have with this wonderful man.

Abby, please keep telling people like those parents that it's far worse to marry an emotional cripple than a physical one.

SYLVIA WILLIAMS

DEAR ABBY: What a coincidence! My husband also stepped on a mine in Viet Nam and lost both legs.

After spending a year in the hospital, Gary went to law school, where he was elected president of the student bar association. His other honors are too numerous to mention here. He is a partner in a prominent law firm, and is very active in community affairs. He plays golf, dances, drives a car, and does everything every other normal, healthy man does. He's a good provider, and we have a lovely home and three healthy children. The youngest two were born after his accident.

Gary Formet is more "whole" than some men will ever be.

GARY'S WIFE, ORLANDO, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Heartbroken Parents: About 10 years ago a gentleman at a party asked me to dance. I recall thinking that I had danced with better dancers. That is all.

When I got to know him, I was amazed to learn that he was brought up in the slums of Philadelphia, and had lost both legs above the knees under a freight train when he was 12. He refused to let this defeat him, and thru hard work and determination he became hugely successful. He married a charming, intelligent woman, and they have wonderful children. This man has earned the admiration and respect of all who know him. Today he is the president of a thriving company, and he walks tall on two artificial limbs.

I would say he is not only a "whole" man; he is a man and a half.

HIS FRIEND IN L. A.

DEAR ABBY: "Heartbroken Parents" would classify my husband as a "whole man." He is good-looking, beautiful, muscular, and he has a good mind. But according to my definition, he is far from whole because he lacks the qualities that make a real man. [Kindness, maturity, tenderness, sobriety, integrity.] His character is rotten, and his selfishness is not to be believed.

I'm not complaining. I married him for better or worse. I just want to tell that nurse how fortunate she is to be marrying a double amputee she knows to be beautiful on the inside. He will make her much happier than a lesser man of physical perfection.

Explosions In Nicosia Aimed At Underground

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Seven explosions before dawn today damaged shops, houses and parked motor cars in Nicosia belonging to supporters of Gen. George Grivas and his underground. Police said no one was hurt.

The blasts were assumed to be the work of supporters of President Makarios retaliating for the kidnaping Friday of Justice Minister Christos Vakis and for recent bomb attacks on police stations and government supporters' property.

Vakis sent a brief handwritten note to his wife Sunday saying: "Don't worry, darling, I am well."

It was the first communication since two masked gunmen took the minister from his home in Nicosia Friday night.

Caught Inside

Greenville police charged a 24-year-old Black Jack man with breaking and entering after finding him inside H. L. Hodges Co. hardware store about 2:50 a.m. today.

According to Chief Glenn Cannon, Willie Junior Williams was taken into custody by police after being found behind a gun display case at the store, about 2:50 a.m.

Officers converged on the store at 210 East Fifth St. when a burglar alarm sounded. They found a front plate glass window broken and located Williams hiding inside behind a counter.

Williams was placed under a $500 bond pending hearing in District Court here August 13, according to Cannon.

Couple Weds Sunday Afternoon Heath-Briley Vows Solemnized Sunday

MRS. ARTHUR DOUGLAS MARKS

AYDEN—Miss Frankie Linda Pierce became the bride of Arthur Douglas Marks Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Ayden Christian Church.

The Rev. Ralph Messick and the Rev. Jim Boswell performed the double-ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Virginia Belle Cooper, organist, and Mrs. Cindy Peace, who sang "More" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce of Ayden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marks of Mount Olive.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white formal gown of bridal mist and beribboned Venise lace. The dress was fashioned with an all lace empire bodice, gibson girl sleeves, and a silhouette skirt with a knife-pleated flounce. All lace and ribbon details were repeated in and on the sleeves and skirt which flowed into a chapel length train.

The bride wore a formal length veil of illusion and carried a cascade bouquet of white pixie carnations and gypsophelia with a cluster of pink roses and streamer of matching lace and satin.

Miss Ann Tripp of Greenville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Claybrook of Ayden, Miss Peggy Sumrell of Richmond, Va., Miss Carolyn Triplett of Chapel Hill, and Miss Wilma Pittman of New Bern, cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore identical gowns which were styled with empire waists and scooped necks. The formal sleeveless gowns of rose linen featured two rows of ruffled schiffi lace, accented by a row of multi-colored embroidered lace, which enhanced the neckline. Venise multi-colored lace encircled the waist. They carried colonial nosegays of mixed summer flowers in shades of pink, white, and green with matching streamers and wore headbands of fresh flowers.

Miss Stephanie Stroud of Kinston was flower girl. She was attired in a formal pink gown similar to those of the other attendants. She carried a white arm basket of mixed summer flowers and wore a matching flowered headpiece.

Arthur Marks served as his son's best man. Ushers were Douglas Pierce of Ayden, brother of the bride; Charles Marks of Greensboro, brother of the bridegroom; Dennis Casey of Washington, Doug Grimes of Kinston, and Cecil Holloman of Kenbridge, Va. Darren Cox of New Bern was ring bearer.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in New Bern.

A graduate of Ayden High School, the bride received her B.S. from Atlantic Christian College, where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority. She teaches with the Craven County School System.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Southern Wayne High School and Atlantic Christian College, where he was a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. He is employed as a manager-trainee with Life of Virginia Insurance Co.

Reception

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at the Ayden Community Building.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Marion Claybrook. Mrs. Becky Damewood presided at the register.

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of mixed summer flowers flanked by white candles. Mrs. L.H. Byrd Jr. and Mrs. Linda Swinson, cousin of the bridegroom, poured punch while Mrs. Reginald Stroud, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Willard Pittman, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox.

N.C. State Highway Patrol.

Reception

A reception was given by the families of the bridal couple in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

The serving table was decorated with a lace cloth and two silver candleholders. The centerpiece was of white stocks, aqua and white mums, pom poms and fern.

Mrs. Sandra Jones, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the guest register.

The bride's table featured a portrait of the bride.

Following the wedding rehearsal, Mrs. Sybil Meeks entertained the bride and bridegroom, members of the wedding party and family at her home Saturday evening.

The house was decorated throughout with summer flowers. The serving table was decorated with a linen cloth and silver candelabra with ivy streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Manning, Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jones and Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Jones Sr. honored the bridal couple, wedding party, friends and family at a cookout Saturday afternoon.

BETHEL—Miss Kathryn Elaine Briley and Howard Gerald Heath were joined in marriage Sunday at 3:00 p.m. in the Bethel Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The Rev. Curtis Tyler performed the double ring ceremony.

The vows were spoken before a chancel background of white gladioli, pom poms, and mums. The couple knelt on the altar for the blessing and benediction. The pews were marked with white satin bows and wedding bells.

The bride is the daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton Briley of Bethel. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Alice Heath of Tarboro. A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Sandra Nicholson of Bethel, organist. Miss Debra Manning sang "We've Only Just Begun," "Colour My World," and "Oh, Perfect Love." J.L. Gurganus Jr. of Bethel sang "More" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white gown of satin peau designed with a bodice of chantilly lace beaded at the neckline. The long fitted lace sleeves featured ruffled flare cuffs of satapeau edged in lace, and white satin encircled the empire waistline. The modified A-line skirt featured a panel of chantilly lace at the hemline which extended to an attached chapel train. The gown was designed by Alfred Angelo.

Her formal length white mantilla was edged in chantilly lace. She carried a Bible showered with stephanotis and centered with white roses. Miss Carolyn Elaine McLawhorn of Bethel was maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown of white flocked voile in an alternating stripe of spring green and white floral print and green and white gingham check. The scoop neckline was accentuated with a ruffle of white lace. The empire bodice featured rows of ruffled lace centered at the waistline with a self-bow of the printed voile. The short puff sleeves were banded in the voile fabric and a ruffled voile flounce bordered in ruffled white lace edged the hemline. She wore a graden hat in spring green banded in voile fabric with a large voile bow and carried a green mum as an arm bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Gail Briley of Bethel, sister of the bride, Deborah Lee Crawford of Tarboro, Wanda Joann Brown of Oak City, cousin of the bride, Linda Darnell Haislip, Elizabeth Ann Hemingway, Teresa Ellen Keel, and Cynthia Ann Bowers, all of Bethel, and Joyce Elaine Davenport of Greenville. Lori Ann Briley, sister of the bride, Susan Bartlett Wynne, both of Bethel, and Tammy Faye Heath of Chesapeake, Va., niece of the bridegroom, were junior bridesmaids.

Their gowns and white hats were similar to the honor attendant's. The bridesmaids carried a tangerine mum as an arm bouquet and the junior bridesmaids carried nosegays of tangerine pom poms.

Nancy Louellyn Wynne of Bethel was flower girl. She wore a formal gown of white flocked voile in an alternating stripe of spring green and white floral print and green and white gingham check. The scoop neckline was accentuated with a ruffle of white lace. The dress front featured an apron of white organdy trimmed in white lace. The waistline was trimmed with a bow of printed voile bordered the hemline. She carried a basket of tangerine and mint green pom poms.

Harris Roberson Heath of Tarboro, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Eddie Taylor of Rocky Mount, Jack Wynne Jr.,

Andy Parker, and Bob Rogers of Tarboro and Cliff Haislip, Wesley Liverman, Danny McLawhorn, and Kenneth Boyette, cousin of the bride, all of Bethel. Jay Wynne IV of Bethel was ring bearer.

The mother of the bride selected a formal length aqua gown of polyester crepe with a matching sleeveless lace coat. She wore a corsage of white roses. The mother of the bridegroom chose a formal length gown of peach sculptured polyester and wore a white rose corsage.

For a wedding trip to the mountains, the bride changed into a yellow polyester A-line dress with a matching coat trimmed with white edging. She wore yellow matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The couple will reside in Bethel.

Mrs. Betty Whitfield directed the wedding.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bowers.

The bridal table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of snap dragons, yellow pom poms, and white carnations.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the first traditional slice, the three tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Betty Whitfield. Mrs. Myrna Pilgreen poured punch. Mrs. Ann Riddick and Mrs. Bethany Bullock assisted with the serving.

Mrs. Wilda Liverman presided at the register.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Mewborn.

An after-rehearsal party was given by the parents and relatives of the bride in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride and groom remembered their attendants with fits of jewelry.

A luncheon honoring the bride's attendants was given Saturday at the Bethel Squire Restaurant.

Miss Sylvia Jones Is Bride Of Richard C. Meads Jr.

TARBORO — Howard Memorial Presbyterian Church was the scene of the Sunday afternoon wedding of Miss Sylvia Gray Jones and Richard Calvin Meads Jr. The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dan Snyder at four o'clock.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Jones Sr. of Bethel, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length white gown of a la mode designed with a high neckline and sheer ruffled yoke of cluny lace beaded with pearls and Venise lace flowers. The long fitted sleeves featured ruffled cuffs and a band of lace over white satin centered with pearls encircled the empire waistline. Appliques of Venise lace trimmed the gown front and a deep flounce of ruffled cluny lace edged the hemline and attached the cathedral train. She wore a crown of petals which held a fingertip veil of four tiered silk illusion.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Calvin Meads Sr. of Hertford.

A program of wedding music was presented by Danny W. Meads, organist. Danny W. and Linda Meads sang "More," "Colour My World," "Hawaiian Love Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with an eighteen branch candelabra and two nine branch spiral candelabra. The scene was complemented with baskets of greenery, an arrangement of mums and pom poms and a white kneeling bench.

Mrs. Betty Lou Manning of Bethel, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length dress of aqua taffeta with an aqua chiffon overskirt. White cuffs covered with aqua lace banded sheer chiffon sleeves and the stand-up collar was of lace. The bodice had two rows of lace entwined with ribbon. She carried two large mums powdered with aqua, greenery and matching ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Jones, of Bethel, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Sybil Meeks of Tarboro. They wore gowns of floor length aqua taffeta overlaid with chiffon. The dresses featured ivory chiffon sleeves and bodice with aqua lace stand-up and rows of aqua lace on the bodice. For headpieces, they wore flowers accented with ribbons.

Junior bridesmaids were Pamela Dawn and Sheila Gwyn Manning of Bethel, nieces of the bride. Kimberly Dean Jones of Bethel niece of the bride, was flower girl. They wore long white dotted swiss dresses with an aqua satin sash and wore aqua ribbons and flowers in their hair. The junior attendants carried a large mum powdered with aqua, greenery and ribbon streamers. The flower girl scattered pink rose petals.

The mother of the bride was dressed in a green polyester crepe dress accented with lace cuffs and waistline. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother selected a blue polyester ensemble with white accessories. She also wore a white orchid.

Gerrod Baccus of Hertford, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. The father of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Wayne Owens and Joe Meiggs of Elizabeth City, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, and Danny R. Meads of Hertford, brother of the bridegroom. Junior ushers were Christopher K. Jones and Rodney E. Jones of Tarboro, nephews of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., and Atlantic Beach, the couple will reside in Tarboro.

The bride is employed with Klopman Mills, Tarboro, and the bridegroom is employed by the

An Early Start Means A Lot

Tobacco growers begin selling their crop on the Greenville and Rocky Mount markets tomorrow as early sales begin on the Eastern Belt.

The two markets will open with two sets of buyers each. Then on Aug. 7, 13 sets of buyers will be assigned to the Eastern Belt and all markets will begin sales. On Aug. 27 full sales will commence on the Belt.

It is an early opening for the Belt, earlier even than the Aug. 8 opening of last year, and for many farmers it will mean that cash can be realized for some of their crop without making a long haul to distant markets in Georgia, South Carolina or on the ## Border Belt.

Producers have a good crop in this area. It is lighter than expected and total poundage may not be up to predictions. On the other hand there is a good quality supply of light leaf for the domestic trade and heavier leaf for export. So most observers are expecting a higher opening day average than the Belt figure of $85.85 and Greenville's $85.92 of last year. There is also strong hope that higher prices will continue through the selling season so that the season's average will be higher this year.

Farmers of our area have worked extremely hard to produce the kind of tobacco that both domestic users and foreign buyers want. With cooperation from the weather they appear to have a good balance of tobacco this year.

The tobacco grower, however, like everyone else has faced soaring production costs. Equipment and chemicals are costing him more and his investment in harvesters and barns must be awesome. In addition, labor has been difficult to get and the cost of labor has been huge for the tobacco grower. Consequently the farmer must have more for his crop if he is to make a profit.

Fortunately, despite the heavy attacks on tobacco, the domestic market is holding up pretty well and overseas demand for American is increasing. It appears that these factors will mean good demand this year and with a quality tobacco available we can see an outstanding year for the tobacco producer.

Lawmaking Is Not Yet Over

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — While the lawmakers are at home, the wheels of lawmaking have not ground to a halt.

Far from it. There is at least one bill already assigned to a committee which came in by mail this summer from Senator George Rountree of Wilmington.

And there are more—possibly three or four. Nobody is certain.

And committees are holding meetings, not only to discuss "holdover" business from the first session, but can get into the new bills sent in by mail if they wish.

In either case, there is no surefire system to inform the public of the bills filed, or of the committee meetings.

But the fact that bills may be "introduced" by mail, given a number, printed, assigned to committee and discussed, amended, enlarged upon or otherwise "informally" acted upon while nobody's in town is bothering a lot of people in Raleigh, including the governor and a former governor.

Governors React

Former Gov. Bob Scott recently learned of the summer procedure for filing bills, and reacted negatively in a recent interview.

"This is dangerous. . . it is wrong, and the General Assembly is making a grave mistake and I hope they will correct it.

"It smacks too much of what is happening in Washington. . . of secrecy," Scott said.

"If the public is not informed, then that is not democracy. The legislative leadership would do well to correct this, of have some means of public disclosure. . . it's a slipshod way of doing the public's business," Scott said.

Gov. Jim Holshouser was equally concerned when he studied the ramifications of possible secret action on a bill to the point that it could be rapidly enacted without adequate study time when the General Assembly reconvenes.

"While I don't believe there is any bad intent, and while this process actually could be beneficial to the legislative process if handled in the proper way, there is a very serious danger involved if the public doesn't have any information about the bills being filed and being discussed in the committees," Gov. Holshouser said.

When the General come back in January for a rather than adjourn then came back in January for a "second session, thereby providing a test for annual meetings, the Senate set up rules for the interim.

A slate of 10 interim committees replacing the normal committee organization was set up and under Rule 37-G a system put into effect for "prefiling" of bills. The House of Representatives set up no such machinery, but seems to be involved anyway since the Senate rules provide that House members bet copies.

A Senator can mail in his proposed bill to the Legislative Services Office where it is numbered, dated, printed and distributed to every member of the General Assembly "and the public."

The lawmakers get their copies by mail. The public doesn't get a copy.

Rule 37-G specifically notes that "no formal action" can be taken, and the proposal must be re-introduced and assigned to the standard committee after the Legislature reconvenes early next year.

But close observers of political machineries know that while "formal action" is ruled out, a lot can happen informally.

It is possible, even sources in the Attorney General's office concede, that a lot of "informal" agreement could be reached on a bill, making enactment a rapidfire process in which onlookers hardly know what has happened.

Geared Down

Asoo complicating the picture is that machinery inside the all-but-empty State House is geared down for the summer. It took a reporter more than 45 minutes to find out: (a) have any bills been mailed in; (b) where did they arrive; (c) where are they now; (d) what happens next?

House Speakers Jim E. Ramsey's office said they hadn't seen any, and didn't believe they would.

Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt's administrative aide Paul Essex said he hadn't heard of any, but probably the Principal Clerk former Sen. Roy Rowe would know. He didn't.

Neither did the lady in the Printed Bills office, the woman who runs the computer that prints bills, the people who file them, or the calendar clerks.

Legislative Services Officer Clyde L. Ball on vacation, but an aide did recall one bill which had come in. It is the only one officially filed, but several people around the building said they know some others are floating about in the process. . . somewhere.

The Impact In Jersey City

By ROWLAND EVANS

and ROBERT NOVAK
JERSEY CITY, N.J.—

Among the blue-collar workers of President Nixon's new majority, his flat refusal to reveal any part of the conversations surreptitiously taped in his White House office puts him on the wrong side of a decision that threatens a massive change in Watergate's political impact.

The depth of this grave new risk to Mr. Nixon's presidency became dramatically evident in a political scouting trip here by us this week to investigate voter reaction to the Watergate crisis.

By a margin of well over 2-to-1, the voters here told us the presidential tape should be handed over to investigators. What makes this so important is that we were interviewing in Nixon country: a carefully selected election district composed of white, ethnic workers of lower-middle income who voted overwhelmingly for Mr. Nixon last year despite their Democratic heritage.

Of 93 voters we interviewed in a long-established residential area just off Hamilton Park, these were the results: 61 said the tapes should be made available to Sen Sam Ervin's Watergate committee or special prosecutor Archibald Cox; 25 said the President should keep them secret; 7 had no opinion.

The significance of that huge margin against Mr. Nixon's decision not to reveal the tapes can be seen in contrast to other questions asked by us and national political pollster Tully Plessner.

On the question "Do you think less of Richard Nixon because of Watergate and related events?" the voters split down the middle—46 to 46, with 1 undecided.

Likewise, asked whether the President's "ability to govern" has been weakened as a result of Watergate, only 51, barely over half the total, said yes.

On questions after question, the anti-Nixon reaction, strong as it was, fell far short of the anti-Nixon response on the non-disclosure of the secret tapes. Thus, only 25 of our voters felt the President should resign his office because of Watergate and a mere 16 told us he should be impeached.

Another question: "Have you personally lost confidence in the President because of Watergate?" The response: only 44 yes, 41 no, 8 not sure.

In short, the bitter controversy over the tapes has crystallized public opinion against Mr. Nixon more firmly, and on an issue more easily understandable to the average voter than anything else connected with the Watergate disaster.

Moreover, we found that Mr. Nixon's decision, secret until a former aide spilled it to the Ervin committee July 16, to bug and tape all conversations in his Washington offices was deeply resented. Our voters disapproved of the surreptitious recordings by nearly 4 to 1. The taping question is beginning to transcend all other Watergate issues, to the President's personal disadvantage, as the ridicule in comments to us made clear.

"Why does he hide facts that belong to the people?" and elderly 1972 Nixon voter complained. Said a younger voter: "He shouldn't hold 'em back, he shouldn't hide nothing at all." This theme was universal among voters who want the tapes made public; they believe the President decided not to reveal them for purposes of his own special interest and protection.

Yet, the anger reflected in these attacks on the President was totally absent when we brought up the possibility of resignation or impeachment. To the contrary, voters who considered impeachment even remotely possible did so with great reluctance, exhibiting deep understanding of how grave a matter is impeachment.

One pro-Nixon 1972 voter who has now turned against him said he was moving reluctantly toward impeachment, but added: "It would be a terrible thing if we had to get rid of a President." Another who said that he had lost "a great deal" of confidence in the President was palpably emotional when asked about the possibility of impeachment: "That would put our country in a very sad state of affairs if a President was ever impeached."

But hostility toward Mr. Nixon because of his decision to keep his tapes secret could quickly cut into that reluctance, overwhelming though

Strength For Today

HOUSE WITH A VIEW

From a highway in western Pennsylvania one can look fifty or sixty miles across undulating valleys and into the purple splendor of distant mountain ranges. Driving along this highway recently I noticed two houses. One large, comfortable, and expensive—was built with convenient access to the highway but in a location where the view was almost completely blocked out. The other—small and simple—was built on a bluff which could be reached only a steep path, but it had a magnificent view. The owner was apparently building the house himself, and it had only one expensive item in its construction—magnificent plate glass window facing the valley and the distant hills.

The owner of the first house may have been a very good person, but he had no poetry in his soul. I would guess that the owner of the other house had a deep spiritual nature. He was apparently poor in the things of this world, but he had great wealth in his ability to appreciate beauty.

Watergate Lingers On

WASHINGTON—Long after Watergate is over, certain phrases repeated during the hearings will remain with us.

Already they are being used by Middle America to cover various situations.

The other day at exactly 2:39 a.m. Mintonburger staggered into the hallway of his house. His tie was askew, there was lipstick on his collar and there was strong odor of alcohol on his breath.

Mrs. Mintonburger in her dressing gown was waiting for him. "Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you God?"

"Yessir."

"Where the hell have you been?"

"I'm sorry. I didn't hear the question."

"I said where the hell have you been?"

"To the best of my recollection I was at Reilly's Bar & Grill."

"Whom were you there with?"

"I don't have all my records with me, but I believe I was there with Sam Carlsberg, Ed Tuborg and Charlie Schlitz."

"What was discussed at the bar until 2:30 in the morning?"

"What meeting are we talking about now?"

"The one you just came from."

"Well, let's see. As far as I recall, we discussed the trade of running-back Duane Thomas to the Washington Redskins."

ART BUCHWALD

"Is that all you talked about?"

"To the best of my knowledge I believe that is all we talked about. You must remember, Senator. . . I mean, Dear. . . that we're talking about something that happened several hours ago, and although I'm trying to be as candid as possible, it is very difficult for me to remember everything that took place last night."

"All right," Mrs. Mintonburger said, going over some notes she was holding in her hand, "let's go on to another subject. What's that lipstick doing on your collar?"

"I never heard of any lipstick on my collar."

"It's right there."

"I believe we have to put this in the proper context. I recall during the evening brushing past a lady who had been pushed into me by a man. Her lips hit me right on the collar."

"And that is your story?"

"As far as that particular incident is concerned, I would say it is an accurate description of it at that point in time."

Double Talk Lesson

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Summer is the best season to study double talk.

This is the language most vacation resort literature is written in, and it is also the language most returning vacationers use to describe what a fine time they had on their holidays, no matter how bad a time they really had.

HAL BOYLE

Double talk, as you no doubt recall, is the art of saying one thing while actually thinking another. More than at any other time of the year, however, in summer it is hard to tell the difference between double talk, which is usually only genteel hypocrisy, from downright lying.

Here are a few examples. First, in quotes, the double talk is given. It is followed in each case by a translation which tells the truth of the matter.

"Our resort has a lovely scenic setting from which you have an unobstructed view of the nearby beach and, of course, the ocean itself."—But to see any of these things you have to go up on the roof, which has a tar and gravel covering that makes it unsuitable for sun bathing.

"Our swimming pool is a perfect aquamarine gem."—But it's so small that two's company, three's a crowd.

"Spend an unforgettable weekend with us."—That's when it usually rains, and you don't have much to do but sit around and remember better times you've had elsewhere.

"Avoid the mob and come during the week."—We have so few guests then that the hash

It was announced today by J. H. Rose, Superintendent of Greenville City Schools, that supervised playgrounds for the children of the city will be open to the public beginning next Wednesday morning. The playgrounds will be at the Training School and Third Street School.

Two officials of the Merchants and Farmers Bank of Taylorsville, North Carolina were shot and seriously wounded yesterday by two bandits who fled after the shooting. The bandits entered the bank shortly after it opened, began shooting and then fled. A check was started aimed to ascertain if any funds had been stolen but officials of the bank said it was doubtful if any money had been taken.

Many Kinds Of 'Money' Used

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

There's more than one kind of money circulating today, as most workers are well aware. They may be paid in cash or check, and that's money; and they might receive some of their pay in benefits, and that's another kind.

In fact, some companies permit their executives to choose the type of money in which they are paid, offering them what is called cafeteria compensation, or the opportunity to pick and choose their own combinations of cash and benefits.

You can also easily distinguish between current money and future money. Your take-home pay is current, but the money that goes into your pension or insurance program is future money, and might be worth less or more.

After-tax money is substantially different than before-tax money, a fact familiar to all, especially those who are lacking in deductions or who failed to find tax shelters.

There is also money that comes without instruction on how to use it, and that which comes with advice on how to invest, how to limit tax payments, how to build an estate—in short, money that begets money.

It is this latter kind that in the past year has become, according to the Conference Board, the most popular new fringe benefit for executives of large corporations, partly because of complex tax laws.

Of 269 companies that responded to a survey, 80 said they have adopted a plan and 24 are actively considering doing so, almost half of them because they believe key executives will be able to devote more time to business.

Many, however, said the adoption of such plans demonstrates their concern for the well-being of executives, and while not rendering other reasons any less true, this answer could be the more pertinent response.

The fact is that two executives earning relatively similar salaries year after year might build up estates whose values differ by multiples of six figures because of the wisdom or lack of wisdom with which the money was invested.

Knowing this, many executives believe that compensation accompanied by expert advice is worth a lot more than money without any instructions or assistance on usage. It is considered premium money.

The study found that the majority, of the more successful plans are limited to officers earning more than $60,000 a year and that most of them emphasize estate planning and investing strategy and include preparation of income tax returns.

Financial planning has long been one of the skills of corporation, and financial advice has long been one of the needs of executives, but many companies have been reluctant to enter the area. According to the Conference Board, an education and research organization supported mainly by business, many companies still fear being blamed by the executive for misguided investments.

Nevertheless, the growing complexity of wise money management, and the obvious advantages of financial advice versus none at all, is clearly causing resistance to break down.

Eighty-three per cent of the plans used by corporations provide counsel in estate planning; 66 per cent give specific investment advice, 58 per cent help select compensation plan options, and 55 per cent advise on insurance planning.

Investments that most frequently result from these plans are in real estate, 34 per cent and equities, 31 per cent. Oil and gas drilling ventures figure in 25 per cent of the plans, income tax return services in 28 per cent, and employ will and personal financial budgeting in 24 per cent.

"Would it surprise you, Mr. Mintonburger, that I called Reilly's Bar at midnight and spoke to Reilly, and he said you hadn't been in all evening?"

"What night are we talking about now?"

"Tonight."

"I believe Reilly is mistaken. I specifically remember being there."

"Then you would say that Reilly is not telling the truth?"

"On this particular point, I would say he is not."

"Why would Reilly lie about your not being in his bar?"

"To protect himself. Reilly has perjured himself on many occasions, and he is constantly seeking ways of getting immunity."

"Well, let me ask you this. Do you think you have a right coming in drunk at 2:30 in the morning with lipstick on your collar?"

"In hindsight it was probably a bad idea. But at that point in time when I did those things, I was only following the orders of my superiors, Sam Carlsberg, Ed Tuborg and Charlie Schlitz. As I look back on it now, I should have inquired as to why they were asking me to do certain things, which may under the present atmosphere appear to some to be evidence of wrongdoing."

"One final question, Mr. Mintonburger. What is your advice to other husbands who might find themselves in the same position?"

"Well, sir, I would say that I am not proud of what I did, and I guess I am lacking in moral fiber which caused me to go along with what everybody else was doing."

"Mr. Mintonburger, thank you for your candid and forthright testimony. You have been a very cooperative witness. One more thing, will you be available for further questioning tomorrow morning if it is needed?"

"That's why I'm here."

The "summer" bill was received June 7, 1973 and is numbered Senate Bill 956. It would amend the law governing how much the courts pay out of an estate to cover funeral costs—raising that figure from $600 to $1,000.

Committees Meet

Clerks in the various offices said they are currently posting the schedule of committee meetings at the usual places around the building, but that information is not generally available to the public as it would be during a session since news media people are not in the building regularly or in force.

Also, while the agenda of a committee may reflect that a bill—designated by number alone—will be discussed, there's no ready way to keep tabs.

The end result is that a number of officials are hopeful the Senate will take another look at this process for filing "interim" bills during the summer.

it is today, and end his immunity from public pressure to resign or be impeached.

If the tapes do indeed contain facts that would damn the President, he had no alternative. But if his advisers truly counseled withholding the tapes for other reasons—fear of embarrassing innocent third parties or constitutional factors—they will have a lifetime to regret that advice. Such seems to be the lesson of Jersey City.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices turned over lower today, apparently ending a 10-day rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was down 3.76 at 932.95, while declines led advances by about 6 to 5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said news of the spreading round of prime interest-rate boosts at major banks and worries over inflation were depressing the market.

But the main factor, they added, was profit taking. The Dow has risen some 50 points in the past two weeks.

Footc Mineral preferred was up 4 1/4 to 22 3/4. The company said it would purchase any or all of its outstanding convertible preferred shares at $22 a share.

Texas Gulf was down 1 to 26. The company won a temporary court order restraining a $290-million offer for about a third of its stock by a Canadian government agency.

Sony Corp. was down 2 1/4 to 46 1/2, and Deere was off 3/4 to 47 1/2.

Twelve Die In Weekend N.C. Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Twelve weekend traffic deaths pushed North Carolina's toll for the year to 1,017, compared with 1,070 during the corresponding period in 1972.

Included in the fatalities were two members of a rock music group, the "Soul Reflections," who had just finished a week-end engagement at Nags Head.

The Highway Patrol said Malcolm S. Plunkett, 19, of Lewiston, and Jerry L. Walton, 22, of Roxobel died just before dawn Sunday.

Officers said the car in which they were passengers ran off U.S. 64 near Columbia, N.C., in Tyrrell County and plunged into a canal.

The driver of the car, Clarence B. McGlone, 20, of Lewis-ton, managed to escape before the vehicle sank in about 20 feet of water.

Theodore Lawrence Erdman, 21, of Bridgeton in Craven County was killed Sunday when his car left Interstate 85 in Orange County and overturned.

A similar accident Sunday on N.C. 24 near Morehead City claimed the life of 22-year-old Daniel Joseph Dicker of Camp Lejeune.

Charles Hubert Randolph, 16, of Pinetops was killed Saturday when hit by a car on a rural road near his Edgecombe County home.

A two-car headon collision Saturday on U.S. 74 near Leland in Brunswick County killed 23-year-old Annie Marie Fuller, and 24-year-old Myrtle Simpson, both of Wilmington.

Gerold Debery Chavis, 56, of Rowland died Saturday night when his car struck a tree on a rural Robeson County road.

A 20-year-old Ruffin woman, Wanda K. Carroll, perished when her car went out of control and overturned on a rural road north of Reidsville.

Harry E. Kennedy, 50, of Leland, was killed in a one-car smashup on U.S. 421 south of Wilmington.

Grice W. Boyd, 15, of Pine-ton, died when struck by a car on a rural road in Beaufort County near his home.

Eighteen-year-old Carol C. Almond of Stanfield died when her car was struck by another car as she stopped to make a left turn on U.S. 601 nine miles south of Concord.

Leaf Sale . . .

(Continued from Page 1) today, "It looks like we've got a good crop. From visiting with farmers we think the crop is going to be of good quality."

Yancey said that although there was a lot of moisture present in early lugs and primings, overall the moisture situation is just about normal for this area. The tobacco matured earlier in most cases due to the heavy rains that tend to leak out nutrients and induce early maturity.

The extension chairman reported that there were scattered problems throughout the growing season but "generally, we think things are in good shape."

Most area growers are about halfway through harvesting, Yancey asserted, although a few have just about finished and several others are beginning to take the first leaves.

"I think we will see good prices and I would expect the quality to improve as we get on into the buying season," he added.

In Raleigh, tobacco marketing expert John Cyrus of the N.C. Department of Agriculture, predicted that prices on tomorrow's sales will be higher than ever for opening day but he forecast a decrease in leaf quality from last year.

Cyrus said that first day sales here and in Rocky Mount will consist primarily of low primings and lugs but the low quality offerings should still bring prices of about $86 per hundred pounds. Last year, the better grades brought prices in the $86 range.

The official said that he doubted whether the estimated yield of 391 million pounds for the Eastern Belt will be reached but he predicted that the crop should be larger than last year's 345 million pounds.

FRANK W. TAYLOR, Spec. 4 in the N.C. National Guard, received the Army Reserve Components Achievement Award during retreat ceremonies at Fort Bragg last Thursday.

Taylor is a student at East Carolina University and resides in Greenville with his wife.

still the major factor in appointing Board members." The spoils system, Anderson said, is an old and integral part of the American system that will not be phased out.

"This is a time for compensatory hiring," he said, with preference to Republicans where qualified. By 1976, he predicted, 1,700 of the Department of Transportation's 17,000 employees will be Republicans—"compared to none when we came in."

He said he has been involved in hiring decisions at all levels, from laborers to top administrative jobs, with the exception of the Highway Patrol. But only "20 or so" people have been hired on his recommendation.

Politics, Anderson said, will not be a factor in decisions about whether and when to build roads. The department will be run on a business basis, with priorities established by statistical criteria.

Bridges corroborated that statement, at least as far as accounting procedures are concerned.

He said Lentz had come to see him in February and promised full cooperation in implementing the 15 reform recommendations he had made to the Scott administration.

A typical one, he said, involved putting work orders for road projects under the purview of the department's fiscal controller, to insure that funds are available before they are disbursed.

Most of his recommendations have been incorporated into the department's standard practice, Bridges said, and the rest are being implemented as rapidly as possible.

Chief Judge Steps Down

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Chief Judge Raymond B. Mallard of the North Carolina Court of Appeals formally resigned today because of poor health.

Mallard, 65, had been in poor health for some time, and his duties as chief judge were being handled on an acting basis by Judge Walter E. Brock.

Mallard's resignation is effective August 1, the same day he plans to be sworn in as an Emergency Judge, his statement said. He will then be able to serve in the event of a temporary incapacity on the part of someone on the seven-member panel.

Mallard was appointed to the Court of Appeals by former Gov. Dan K. Moore in 1967.

His replacement will be named by Gov. Jim Holshouser, who is likely to put a second Republican on the bench.

The new chief judge, however, will be selected by State Supreme Court Chief Justice William Bobbitt, who is a Democrat.

Brogden Comes From Rich Basketball Area

GREENSBORO (AP) — James Brogden is like a chip off the old block. He's squared shouldered, of medium build and unselfish. The Wilmington native also comes from a rich basketball heritage.

Brogden grew up in surroundings that produced more victories and state championships than any other one site in North Carolina. His father is Leon Brogden, and veteran coaches still remember his six state titles over a seven-year span.

Though seldom blessed with many outstanding individuals, the coach never failed to turn out a winner, and they won with discipline, a trademark of Brogden coached teams.

It's rubbed off on the on the younger Brogden who's in Greensboro trying to win a starting berth at guard on the East all-star basketball team, which challenges the West in the 25th annual game Tuesday night.

He's the last of three brothers. The other two played for their dad, and James looked forward to doing the same. But the coach retired from the active ranks before his youngest son reached high school age.

It didn't stop the two from holding private sessions in the gym though.

"He would observe me in a game and then mention some of the things I needed to improve on, mostly defensive mistakes and the need to move quicker," said the youngest brother, following a lengthy practice session Saturday.

"If we run when the chance is there and play control ball at other times, I believe we'll give the West a good game," he said. "Just being here probably is the greatest honor I've had in basketball, and I'm looking forward to Tuesday night."

"Brogden," said head Coach Ed McLean, "is a fine little player in the backcourt. 'If you're looking for someone to control the tempo, he'll get the job done.'"

McLean then turned his attention to Allen Massenburg one of his 6-5 inside prospects. He's one of the easterners the coach plans to challenge 7-0 Jeff Crompton, the West's All-American center.

"I see how (Larry) Lindsey won all those state titles (three) at Wake Forest," smiled McLean. "He does it by teaching sound fundamentals and Massenburg is a perfect example. He's so sound fundamentally that he could play on any level of competition in the state."

"I'm pleased with the progress we've made so far," commented head Coach Gordon Isley of the West. "We appeared a little ragged out there today but that's to be expected until we've been around each other longer."

"Some of the rough spots will begin to disappear in another day," Guard Bruce Dye looked good handling the ball for one unit, and so did Randy Abernathy for another group. West coaches continue to mix up combinations and will for another practice or two.

"We're still getting our feet on the ground," said Isley. "The boys made some good passes but nobody seemed to shoot well. I believe they were rushing their shots too much."

Harvey Wins Third Victory

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP)—Bill Harvey has captured his third Carolina Golf Association amateur championship, taking a hard-fought 1-up victory Sunday from Bobby Edgerton in the 59th annual event.

It had appeared the Jamestown, N.C., native would sweep Edgerton off the course, as he built up what seemed to be a comfortable four-hole margin at the end of 18.

But the issue was not decided until the 36th hole, when both golfers two-putted from around 30 feet, giving the match to Harvey.

The 43-year-old veteran, who won previously in 1964 and 1965, is now tied with Billy Joe Patton for the most tournament victories.

Harvey matched par 70 over the demanding Tanglewood course the first 18, and Raleigh's Edgerton had a 74.

In the second half, Edgerton made several comeback attempts, and finally moved to within two holes with victories on the 13th and 14th.

The 15th and 16th holes were halved. Edgerton sliced the deficit to one with a par at 17, but saw his charge fall short at the final hole.

"I gave out around the 7th hole during the final 18 holes," said Harvey, "but I finally talked my legs into going back to work for me. Being tired affected my putting the most. I couldn't relax and concentrate."

Edgerton, who lost to Mike Kallum of Winston-Salem in 1971 in his other trip to the finals, said he got too far behind too early. "I wished there had been a couple more holes to play there at the end," he said.

Babe Ruth's Split

NEW BERN — Greenville's 13-year-old Babe Ruth All-stars split a pair of games over the weekend in the tournament in New Bern.

Friday they lost to Union County, 14-7. In the first game no one for Greenville had more than one hit.

Saturday, the Greenville team fought back to beat Newton, 16-2 behind the pitching of Richard Nunn. Freager Sanders and Nunn had three hits each while Doug Selby had two.

Greenville was to have continued play today at 5:30.

Blalock, Palmer Take Second Title

MASHPEE, Mass. (AP) — However, the Blalock-Palmer tandem fired a six-under par 66 in the final round and actually moved in front. However, Misses Ferraris and Little birdied four of the last five holes and each team finished regulation play with 206 totals.

Misses Blalock and Palmer retained the title by winning the third annual $30,000 event Saturday in a one-hole playoff with Jan Ferraris and Sally Little at the Country Club of New Seabury.

A former New England champion from Portsmouth, N.H., Miss Blalock has been unpopular with many of the pros since she countered a suspension with a multimillion dollar suit against the LPGA. Miss Palmer reportedly supported Janie.

Miss Palmer, a veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., sank a five-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole after she and Miss Blalock went on a birdie spree to catch Misses Ferraris and Little in the final round of the 54-hole event.

The Ferraris-Little team held a two-stroke lead after 36 holes.

Cubs Split With Birds; Pirates Reach .500 Mark

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates reached a couple of break-even points Sunday which they hope will help them come out on top of the National League East in October.

The Cubs, whose losing ways reached 13 of 15 games when they bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 in their doubleheader opener, salvaged a split by taking the nightcap 5-4 with a three-run rally in the seventh inning capped by Billy Williams' RBI single.

"That's the happiest I've been to split a doubleheader in a long time," said Manager Whitey Lockman. "I wouldn't call it a disaster if we had lost, but it would have been pretty bad. We'd have been 4½ out instead of 2½."

The Pirates, meanwhile, used home-runs by Willie Stargell in the first game and Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen in the nightcap for a pair of 5-2 victories over the Philadelphia Phillies and reached the .500 mark—50-50—for the first time since June 5. They have won nine of 11 and trail the Cardinals by four games.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the San Francisco Giants 6-2, the Cincinnati Reds lost their opener to the San Diego Padres 7-1 but won the nightcap 4-2, the Houston Astros beat the Atlanta Braves 8-5 and the Montreal Expos shaded the New York Mets 6-4.

Dodgers 6, Giants 2
Willie Crawford drove in three runs with a homer and a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning and Steve Garvey added a three-run homer to power Andy Messersmith and the Dodgers to victory.

Trailing 2-0, the Dodgers snapped a 17-inning scoreless streak in the bottom of the fourth when Joe Ferguson

IMATRA, Finland — Giacomo Agostini of Italy won his sixth straight world 350-cc motorcycle title by winning the 12th Finnish Motorcycling Grand Prix.

BRANDS HATCH, England — Tony Brise of Britain won the John Player Formula Three International Auto Race driving a March Ford.

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Sandy Mayer of Wayne, N.J., won the men's singles title of the Bavarian Tennis Championships Sunday by whipping Harald Elschenbroich of West Germany 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

walked and Crawford hit his ninth homer of the year.

Padres 7-2, Reds 1-4
The Reds trotted out a couple of sore-armed pitchers and got a solid performance from Roger Nelson and a spotty showing from Gary Nolan.

Nelson, who was unable to pitch from May 28 until July 21, hurled seven strong innings, allowing one unearned run, to win the nightcap. The Padres spoiled Nolan's 1973 debut by scoring three runs on only one hit in the first inning of the opener.

Astros 8, Braves 5
Tommy Helms delivered a tie-breaking two-run double in the eighth inning and then scored on Tommie Agee's double.

Darrell Evans blasted his 28th home run, a two-run shot in the seventh, to put the Braves ahead 5-4 but the Astro tied it in their half on Cesar Ceno's double and Bob Watson's single.

Expos 6, Mets 4
Ron Fairly's tie-breaking two-run single capped a three-run eighth-inning rally. The Expos tied the game when Ken Singleton singled and Bob Bailey doubled, then loaded the bases against Ray Sadecki on two walks before Fairly singled.

In the American League, Milwaukee took a doubleheader from New York 7-2 and 6-3, Detroit trounced Baltimore 8-3, Cleveland swept Boston 8-2 and 6-3, Oakland lost to Texas 3-0 but bounced back to win the nightcap 7-4, Kansas City took two from California 7-0 and 7-6 in 11 innings and Chicago downed Minnesota 8-6.

GUCo, Jaycees Knocked Out

GUCo and the Jaycees each got the axe last night at they were eliminated from the City League's Purple Division Tournament.

Burger King knocked GUCo out by winning, 14-4, and Proctor's bumped the J.C.'s, 9-1. In the other big game of the night, the Little Sluggers struggled to ship past Hardee's, 13-12.

Proctor's got all they needed in the first after the J.C.'s had scored their only run in the top of the frame. Tucker doubled and scored on an error on a hit by Right. Gaddis singled in Right and Belcher walked.

Rachley flew out to score Gaddis and a hit by Reese scored Belcher.

Proctor's added two in the third and three in the fourth. Burger King ran away with their game in the first also. Smith led off the game with a homer. Caffee got a hit and scored on Tyson's double. House doubled to score Tyson and a two bagger by Shallow drove in House. Pettus added a double scoring Shallow. GUCo scored in the second, third and fourth. BK added runs in the second, fourth and fifth.

Miller homered for Hardee's to put them on the boards but it was erased in the bottom of the first as the Sluggers got six. Hardee's got two in the third matching two scored by the Sluggers in the second.

The Sluggers came up with five in the third and hung on the rest of the way to sin it as Hardee's scored four in the fourth and five in the sixth.

A Basic Habit In Compulsion

Zoe's compulsive urge to continue the chain letter is based on her efficient pattern of life. For she has been trained to finish her jobs, instead of leaving them dangling. Sometimes compulsive behavior is wise but it may also be foolish!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-572: Zoe D., aged 27, is a clergyman's wife. "Dr. Crane," she began, "in the past few years we have received several chain letters. They tell us to be sure to copy the letter we receive and send it on to may be 10 others. And they warn us if we break the chain, some bad luck will surely descend upon us. They may even name some famous person who suddenly fell heir to great wealth, apparently by keeping the chain letter going. "Now I know this chain letter idea is a superstitious carryover, but I often feel a compulsion to do as it says. "For I seem disturbed at the idea of being the person who breaks the chain. "Isn't such a compulsion bad?"

Compulsive Action
"Compulsive behavior" may often be very good. For example, if you go to bed without brushing your teeth, your conscience may twinge you until you feel a strong compulsion to get up and wield that toothbrush. Same is true of those who have developed the 'good habit' of going to Sunday School or church every Sabbath. Such compulsion merely indicates the psychic momentum of already established habits. In childhood, most children are urged to "clean your plate." In later adulthood, even when they are overweight, this childhood habit wields a strong compulsive influence. Millions of such indoctrinated mothers also feel obligated to salvage half a piece of cake or of pie, which their own children have left. In such cases, the compulsive eating habit actually is bad, for it leads to obesity, which in turn predisposes to high blood pressure, diabetes, even cancer and a more platonic love life! Zoe has been taught in childhood to be a "finisher," so she felt a compulsion to complete every book that she started to read.

When she married, she likewise was a meticulous housekeeper, with a yen to have everything in its right place. It thus disturbed her when her husband didn't hang up his towel or wash cloth evenly. Many of you readers can sympathize with her, for such compulsive folks are the backbone of our "free enterprise" system.

They are faithful workers (like the Prodigal Son's older brother) instead of wastrels like the Prodigal Son.

So analyze all so-called superstitions and ignore those that are illogical. To say that it is bad luck to walk under a ladder, has some merit, for many people have had paint dripped on them by so doing.

But to "knock on wood" or maintain a chain letter to take another route because a black cat crosses your path — these are not logical. Even so, be sure you obtain a wide perspective before you catalogue anything as wise vs. unwise, for each of the 5 Blind Men of Hindustan felt sure he was 100 percent correct about the nature of elephants, yet was but 20 per cent right!

Send for my booklet on "Abnormal Psychology," enclosing a long stamped, returned envelope, plus 25 cents, for it gives some fascinating cases. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 31, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when a considerable amount of confusion exists as to how best to let others know you like them and want to do some thoughtful things for them. Asking with a friendly smile what your associates expect of you gives you better answers than you could think of.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr. 19) Improve order in your surroundings now and do kind things for others without making them feel beggarly. Add new items to your wardrobe. Have a delightful time with persons you like a great deal.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Being with persons you like a great deal can bring fine recreation and much happiness. Be cordial with everyone. Creative work is excellent if you plan each step wisely first.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't get into any arguments at home, or there could be serious trouble. Using care in all you do is excellent. Don't discuss that strange situation today with kin, since another day would be far better.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get at that shopping and errands without further procrastination, but use care in motion and with finances. Read some communication over twice so you get the true meaning. Avoid one who talks nonsense.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to add much to present holdings and can do just that by wise investments. Check that bill you do not feel sure about. Make certain your home is in excellent order and is clean.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You find it difficult to make those decisions of an important nature, so stick to less vital matters. If you show others you like them, all works out to your benefit. Think constructively.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Sit down and reflect upon the happenings around you, but do not state your views. Handle all those duties that are yours with real dispatch. Go over your idealistic concepts in the evening. Put them to good use.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Some friend may state ideas now that are not correct about you, so be sure you correct them immediately. Plan to attend a social function that can lead to interesting conversations, benefits. Do some friend a big favor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan time to straighten out credit or career matter early in the a.m. Don't jeopardize your position with bigwigs. Show your affection for those you like and gain more goodwill.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may not fully understand the conditions about you, but careful analysis will make you see them clearly. Show patience with one who boasts a good deal. Smile more and you tone down this person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy taking care of responsibilities, particularly those of an official nature. Mate's views may not be yours, so don't give in to them if they are way out. Don't get into any arguments, though.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You could be at variance with the views of an associate, but don't take anything for granted; wait for better time for finer understanding. Have confidence in higher-up who is in public life. Steer clear of some sneaky new comer.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has to have duties to perform early in life to keep him or her out of mischief and to feel wanted and a worthwhile member of society. The hard worker is definitely in this chart, and a college education may not be desired since the emphasis is on making money starting early in life and keeping steady to profession decided upon. A business college training would be ideal here. Sports are a must.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Senate To Re-Evaluate 1970's Clean Air Act

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, reacting to government proposals that would sharply restrict automobile use in urban areas, is preparing to order a re-evaluation of the 1970 Clean Air Act.

But supporters of the act deny abandonment of the goal of cleaning the nation's air by the end of the decade.

In fact, a Senate staff member who helped write the act says health standards the law is designed to protect are necessary and in some cases may not be rigorous enough.

The most-disputed section of the act requires that automobile manufacturers produce a virtually pollution-free engine by Jan. 1, 1976.

It is that deadline that prompted, in part, the Senate movement for a review.

At the request of original sponsors of the Clean Air Act, the Senate is expected shortly to authorize $300,000 for the National Academy of Sciences to review the health findings on which the 1976 deadline was based.

The key question is whether Congress placed too high a premium on clean air while ignoring economic and social disruptions that might result.

When the bill was being debated 2½ years ago, its chief author, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said repeatedly that the measure was based on protection of public health and not on economic or technological feasibility.

But now some environmentalists are taking the position generally adopted by automobile manufacturers: that given more time the industry might be able to develop an anti-pollution device more acceptable than the catalytic-converted system.

which they said was the weapon used to kill Kanipe, and a .22-caliber pistol they believed belonged to Kanipe.

PITT COUNTY SCHOOLS MAINTENANCE DEPARTMENT
Proposals are invited for supplying LP gas for heating, cooking, and other uses at our schools. This bid is for a period of one (1) year, or two (2) years, and—

The two High Schools, North Pitt, D.H. Conley, Farmville Central, and Ayden Grifton and Pactus Elementary School are excepted from this proposal. All other schools are included.

Containers (tanks, bottles, etc.) are to be furnished and installed by supplier at no cost (lease, rent, etc.) to the Pitt County Board of Education.

Items for delivery during previous months should be sent to us before the first of the month. Tanks and containers furnished by the supplier may be removed one (1) week after the schools close and re-installed one (1) week before the schools open.

Inspection of each item of gas burning equipment will be made by a supplier and a written report, noting any deficiencies, requiring correction, will be sent to the department. Inspections and reports should be made twice each year about September and March.

LP gas used by the Pitt County Schools totals approximately 7000 - 8000 gallons per month.

This contract may be terminated by the Pitt County Board of Education at any time service is unsatisfactory. Any or all proposals may be rejected by the Pitt County Board of Education.

I propose to furnish LP gas to the Pitt County Schools as outlined herein for one (1) year (the year of two (2) years (the years, and—off on the way to show your major suit. The three spade bid does not necessarily show additional values.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

Q. 5 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A10 ♠AQJ975 ♠94 ♣976
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. You have a minimum hand in high cards. Therefore, you can do no more than make minimum rebids, while at the same time showing your good six-card suit.

Q. 6 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKQJ74 ♠10627 ♣K73
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass 2 NT
Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three no trump. Although partner's two no trump is not forcing, your hand will produce six or seven tricks at no trump. Therefore, you should continue on to game, and no trump is preferable to spades, despite the loss of honors, because it will probably be the easier game to make.

Q. 7 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A1064 ♠97 ♣Q743 ♠10642
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—A jump rebid in the same suit by opener is not forcing on responder, who may exercise the option to pass. This South should do, as he could hardly have less for his response of one spade.

Q. 8 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠62 ♠Q975 ♠K92 ♣AJ83
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ 2 ♠ 4 ♥ Pass
Pass 4 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Double. Your jump raise to four hearts was slightly stretched, as you did not want to convey to partner that you were simply competing over two spades under pressure. However, if you pass now it might induce partner to bid five hearts, under the impression that you were leaving the choice up to him. Only if partner overrides your decision to double should a five heart bid prove to be a good risk.

Q. 9 — As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ104 ♠64 ♣AQJ72 ♠82
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. As you are committed to reaching game, nothing is to be lost by stopping

Recaptured Five Inmates

RALEIGH (AP) — Five prisoners made it over the fence at Odum prison farm in Northampton County Sunday, but were back in custody a few minutes later.

Prison officials said they were apprehended about 300 yards away. Visitors were entering the northeast corner of the prison unit when the five inmates ran in that direction and scaled the fence.

Fletcher Sanders, superintendent of Region L in the northeastern part of the state, said guards, fearing they might hit a visitor, did not fire.

The would-be escapees were identified as Clyde Nixon, 22, serving 15-18 years from Northampton for robbery; James Huffman, 26, serving 10 years from Mecklenburg for breaking and entering and larceny; Melvin Embly, 24, serving 20-25 years from Carteret for robbery with a dangerous weapon; Jackie Morrow, 24, serving 5-15 years from Robeson for robbery with a dangerous weapon; and Ralph Joel, 24, serving 10 years from Mecklenburg on a similar charge.

'Outlaw' Club Member Slain

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A 22-year-old member of the Outlaws motorcycle club was shot to death Sunday at a residence.

Police said Arthur Wayne Kanipe was killed with a .38-caliber pistol.

William Logan, 41, was questioned in connection with the shooting, but released with no charges filed, officers said.

Police said they were holding two pistols, a snub-nosed .38
