In Operation 132 Years

Pactolus Post Office Closing

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

PACTOLUS — The Pactolus Post Office, in operations for 132 years, will close for good at the close of business August 31, it was announced today by Postmaster Sandra Gray.

Mrs. Gray, who has headed the operations at the small postal facility for the past three years, said the Pactolus office is being discontinued because it is a money-losing operation. "I knew it would have to happen sooner or later," she explained, "We have operated at a deficit for so long."

She said that the post office in Eastern Pitt County has been losing "close to $5,000 a year... counting rent on the building and so forth" over the past few years.

"We give much better service than a larger office would," she noted. "We take a personal interest in our customers."

Cecil Satterthwaite of Pactolus was postmaster for some 38 years before Mrs. Gray took over, and the post office has been located in the old general store operated by Satterthwaite, for some 45 years.

The post office now serves 250 customers in Pactolus area six hours per day. When the office closes August 31, Pactolus customers will be served by the Greenville Post Office on Rural Route 5.

Mrs. Gray said customers are requested to erect approved mail boxes in front of their houses on the right side of the road according to the line of travel of the mail carrier.

Rural carrier service will provide all of the postal services, including parcel post, stamps, money orders and special services, formerly available at the Pactolus office.

Mrs. Gray said residents of the area should not worry about her future with the postal service after the close of the local office.

"I'll be working as a window clerk at the Post Office in Greenville," she said, "and there will be a good increase in salary."

Slight Decline For Tobacco Averages

A slight decline in price average from Wednesday was recorded yesterday on the Greenville Tobacco Market as heavy marketing of nondescript leaf continued.

Local average, as Greenville warehouses concluded the third day of sales under a limited auction format, was $84.81 and represented a drop of some 11 cents per hundred pounds from Wednesday's average.

Poundage was up yesterday on the Greenville market as 758,015 pounds sold for $642,868, compared with 751,050 pounds the day before for $637,783.

Despite the increase in nondescript and no-grade offerings on the Greenville and Rocky Mount markets, the belt average improved as Rocky Mount recorded an average of $83.58, an increase of some 62 cents per hundred over Wednesday.

The neighboring market sold 756,127 pounds yesterday for $631,961.

The belt average following sales on the two markets was $84.19, according to the Market News Service in Wilson, on sales of 1,514,142 pounds for $1,274,829.

Season totals for Rocky Mount and Greenville, the only two markets operating on the Eastern Belt until Tuesday, now stand at 4,558,432 pounds for $3,823,239, for an overall average of $83.87. The belt statistics have shown steady improvement following Tuesday's opening sale when the two-market average was $83.49.

The News Service reported that Stabilization receipts on the belt Thursday totaled some 4,694 pounds of roughly three-tenths of one per cent of the belt poundage. The figure was an increase over Wednesday's figure of only 864 pounds but less than the opening day mark of 5,839 pounds.

Greenville and Rocky Mount warehouses are closed today but will have sales on Monday as the belt concludes four days of two-market operations. The belt will expand operations on Tuesday as Kinston, Wilson, Farmville, Williamston, Tarboro, Goldsboro and Smithfield begin auctions.

The following tabulation, compiled by the Market News Service, shows the results of sales on the Greenville and Rocky Mount markets on Thursday.

Says Order To 'Deflect' FBI By Haldeman

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency testified today that H. R. Haldeman ordered him to deflect the FBI's Watergate investigation last year.

Army Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters said that at a meeting six days after the Watergate raid Haldeman, who was then President Nixon's chief of staff, told him to tell acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III that the FBI's investigations in Mexico might uncover CIA activities there.

Walters told the Senate Watergate committee that Haldeman repeatedly asserted some CIA secrets might be uncovered in Mexico even though Walters and his boss, then CIA Director Richard Helms, knew of no agency activities that might have been exposed by an investigation.

At the time, the FBI was investigating Nixon campaign checks that had passed through a Mexican bank on their way into the Miami bank account of one of the Watergate burglars. The checks eventually provided a direct financial link between Nixon's campaign committee and the wiretappers.

Haldeman has testified that he merely inquired of Helms and Walters whether a vigorous FBI investigation might uncover some CIA secrets. He said he told Walters to talk to Gray only after the CIA officials failed to give him any flat assurances that no secrets might be exposed.

Walters gave a different version. He said Haldeman asserted that "pursuit of the FBI's investigation in Mexico might uncover some CIA activities." He said Haldeman repeated this three times, and said "it has been decided" that Walters should tell Gray this.

Samuel Dash, chief counsel for the Senate committee, asked Walters if Haldeman had been inquiring whether CIA secrets might be uncovered, or was saying that on his own.

"I do not recall it being put in question form," Walters said. "It was put in directive form."

Walters said that although he and Helms knew of no CIA secrets that might be uncovered in Mexico, they didn't dispute Haldeman's authority because he was close to the President and because he might know something the top CIA officials didn't.

Walters has turned over to the Senate panel copies of personal memoranda that recount his dealings with White House aides and Gray.

Finance Change?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed major changes in the country's financial system, including phasing out interest rate ceilings on savings and other bank deposits over a 5 1/2-year period.

The recommendations include inducements to banks and financial institutions to lend more money for home mortgages by providing a tax credit on the amount of mortgage loans.

In addition, savings and loan associations would be able to offer checking account services and the so-called NOW accounts would be authorized for both commercial banks and savings and loan associations. NOW stands for Negotiable Order of Withdrawal and provides for negotiated rates of interests on checking accounts.

There were seven major changes in the financial package released at the White House. They followed a study of the country's financial institutions initiated by the President in 1971.

Report Dip In Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment in the United States declined slightly to 4.7 per cent of the labor force in July, although the jobless rate for blacks went up sharply, the Labor Department reported today.

Total employment was listed as 84.6 million in July, about the same as in June, while unemployment dropped from 4.3 million in June to 4.2 million in July on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The country's unemployment rate dropped below the 5 per cent level in June for the first time in more than three years. The June unemployment figure was 4.8 per cent.

Business As Usual Aboard Skylab II

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — It was business as usual for the Skylab 2 astronauts today while launch crews at Cape Kennedy worked around the clock to prepare a rocket for a possible emergency rescue.

Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, still hopeful of completing a full 59-day mission despite a problem with their Apollo ferry ship, planned a day of medical, science and earth resources experiments on what originally had been scheduled as a day off.

The first attempt to rescue a crew in space might have to be made if there is more deterioration in the Apollo craft which is to be their taxi back to earth on Sept. 25. Officials said they hoped the rescue try would not be necessary.

The astronauts decided to forego the free day, which would have included their first shower in space, so they could make up for time lost in the first six days of the mission because of motion sickness and problem trouble shooting.

Mission Control passed up a lengthy list of flight plan changes on the Skylab teleprinter, prompting Lousma to remark jokingly: "The teleprinter message this morning is longer than the fireman's pole."

The "fireman's pole" is a strap-like handhold that runs the length of the 48-foot workshop section of the orbiting station.

Controllers also told them an off-delayed space walk by Garriott and Lousma would be done on Monday.

The Apollo ship lost half its steering power Thursday and officials at first considered bringing the three astronauts home today in the crippled craft, which is docked to one end of the space station.

But they decided the crew could remain aboard after detailed analysis showed the Apollo should retain its capability to bring them home safely at the scheduled end of the mission.

But as a precaution, launch crews at Cape Kennedy were directed to prepare the Skylab 3 rocket and Apollo spaceship for a possible rescue mission if further trouble developed.

"It's no panic situation. But we do think it prudent to keep a rescue operation capability," said Skylab project manager William Schneider.

In Florida, Kennedy Space Center director Walter Kapryan reported more than 1,000 men had immediately swung into a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week operation to get the vehicles ready in case the rescue mission is necessary.

"We are very confident we can do this thing and be ready to launch by Sept. 5 if needed," Kapryan said. That would be more than two months before the planned Nov. 9 launch of the Skylab 3 crew.

"It's a very serious problem." Apollo spacecraft manager Glynn S. Lunney told newsmen soon after the problem was discovered Thursday. "If we did not have a rescue capability, we would be moving in the direction of getting the spacecraft down as rapidly as we could."

Lunney said the main concern was that should the astronauts board the troubled Apollo and try to come home, there is a possibility that the third and fourth thruster systems could fail, leaving the spacemen with no way of steering the craft effectively.

The astronauts resumed medical and scientific experiments and troubleshooting a few minor problems in the space station, orbiting 271 miles high.

Minimum Wage Hike Expected To Face Veto

By JIM LUTHER

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican opponents of a bill to raise the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour predict President Nixon will veto the measure despite support for it from Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan.

The veto threat has prompted House political strategists to reconsider whether to vote on the measure today or wait until September when the House returns after a month-long recess.

The compromise bill passed the Senate 62 to 28 Thursday. If the House passed the bill today, a veto would come during the recess and Congress would have no opportunity to override.

The House also gave overwhelming approval to the Alaska oil pipeline, passing 356 to 60 a measure that would permit its construction. The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference to iron out differences between versions of the bill approved by the two chambers.

In other action, the House Rules Committee decided 9 to 6 to put off until Sept. 5 a vote on Senate-passed amendments that would end the price freeze on beef and require the President to set up a mandatory fuel allocation system. The amendments were on a bill, already passed by the House, that would require copies of coins to be labeled as coins.

The minimum-wage bill was hammered out by Senate-House conferees after the two houses had approved slightly differing versions.

During Thursday's Senate debate Republican opponents predicted Nixon would veto the bill as inflationary.

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Brennan promised he would ask Nixon to sign the measure.

The bill raises the minimum wage and extends it to an estimated seven million workers. Another 47 million workers already are under its provisions.

The measure would extend minimum wage and overtime to full-time domestics, including babysitters. Live-in domestics would receive the minimum but not overtime.

The bill raises the $1.60 hourly minimum for most nonfarm workers to $2 on Oct. 1, then to $2.20 next July 1. Workers first covered in 1966 or under the bill would get an increase from $1.60 to $1.80 on Oct. 1, to $2 next July 1, and $2.20 July 1, 1975.

Market Probe?

RALEIGH (AP)—The chairman of the Wake County Board of Commissioners says a group of farmers in his area will ask the board to call on state Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan to investigate the tobacco marketing situation.

Waverly F. Akins of FuquayVarina said the farmers had requested permission to appear before the board Monday morning. "There's something badly wrong," Akins said Thursday. "The auction system no longer functions as such. All the buyers bid the same price and the piles of tobacco on the warehouse floor are allocated among the companies."

Akins had said earlier this week that farmers were dissatisfied with the low prices being paid for the 1973 tobacco crop.

Thrust Nearer To Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A major new thrust toward Phnom Penh gathered momentum today as insurgent forces battled government troops only three miles from the capital.

Field reports said an estimated 500 of the Communist-led rebels cut Highway 1 close to the village of Veal Sbau, southeast of the city. It was the closest the insurgents have come to Phnom Penh in such strength, and the thrust threatened the collapse of the entire southeastern defense lines.

Several government battalions were reported cut off 12 miles southeast of the city. Troops dispatched from the city were fighting outside Koki in an attempt to open an escape route for the soldiers, who were holed up inside a plywood factory.

The front-line village of De-yeth was reported abandoned after a two-day battle, but government forces found their retreat blocked by Communist units that slipped in behind them.

American fighter-bombers hammered constantly at the advancing insurgents, and a haze of black smoke hung across the lush fruit-growing country southeast of Phnom Penh.

A stream of refugees headed for the capital, whose population has already swelled to 1.5 million.

'Bleak' Outlook

RALEIGH (AP)—Federal funds for hospital construction and modernization in North Carolina have just about dried up, a state official said Thursday. Many hospitals across the state have been left wondering where to get money for needed projects. I. O. Wilkerson, chief of the division of facilities services of the state Department of Human Resources, said Thursday.

"There's just no money available, and there doesn't seem to be any prospects for changing this situation in the near future," Wilkerson said.

North Carolina ran out of Hill-Burton federal hospital construction funds in late July, and prospects for continued federal funding are "bleak," Wilkerson said.

For the past two years, President Nixon, who has said he wants the Hill-Burton program ended, has vetoed any congressional appropriations for the program. Earlier this year, Congress authorized spending $197 million for the Hill-Burton program in 1974, but has not yet appropriated these funds.

Power Blackout By Black Snake

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — About 4,450 customers of the Carolina Power & Light Company in Warrenton, Norlina and Littleton were without electricity for 35 minutes this morning, a company official said.

Major industries in Warren County were affected by the brief blackout.

Clifford Puryear, manager of CP&L operations in Warrenton, said the blackout was caused when a 2 1/2-foot long black snake climbed up a power transformer, laid across the wires and shorted the lines. The snake was killed, Puryear said.

It was the second time in two weeks a snake has caused a similar blackout, the CP&L spokesman said. A 6-foot long snake caused the first incident.

Ransom For Getty Boy Said To Be $17 Million

ROME (AP) — Kidnapers are demanding a $17 million ransom for J. Paul Getty III, 16-year-old grandson of the American oil billionaire, a family lawyer disclosed today.

But he said the youth's parents can't pay that much, his grandfather won't, and the kidnapers have rejected a counter-offer.

"His mother is desperate," said the lawyer, Giovanni Iacovoni. "The grandfather doesn't want to pay a penny and she must depend only on her own money and that of her ex-husband, which is limited."

The 80-year-old oil magnate, who lives in Britain, said last week that if he ransomed one of his 15 grandchildren, he'd end up having to ransom the other 14.

There was no comment from the boy's father, who lives in London.

Iacovoni declined to say how the contact with the parents was made and refused to reveal the counter-offer. But the Italian press, quoting friends of the family, said it was about $430,000 and the kidnapers dismissed this as "paltry."

The lawyer's statement was the first official report of a ransom figure since young Getty, called the "golden hippie" by the Italian press, disappeared in Rome more than three weeks ago.

Police said they had halted their search for the youth at the request of the family, a general practice in Italy to protect the lives of kidnap victims.

The youth disappeared in the early hours of July 10 in Piazza Navona, a nighttime hippie haunt in central Rome. Two days later, Mrs. Getty told police she received a mysterious telephone call telling her the youth had been kidnaped. During a second conversation, the same caller threatened to cut off one of her son's fingers and send it to her as proof he had been abducted.

City Office Filing Time Near

The time will soon arrive when aspiring candidates for the offices of city council and mayor must declare their intention.

Mrs. Myra Cain, chairwoman of the Greenville Board of Elections, says that the filing period opens at 12 noon on Friday, August 17 and remains open until 12 noon, Friday, September 14.

This year, filing fees are considerably higher than the customary $1.00 fee per candidate of past years. Candidates filing now will find a $25.00 fee tag required to file for the office of city council, and a $50.00 fee for the office of mayor.

"These fees are in accordance with a new state law," Mrs. Cain said. "Under this law, candidates filing in a city the size of Greenville will pay a fee of no less than $25 nor more than double $25, or a maximum of $50.00."

The City Council at its most recent meeting voted to place the minimum fee on candidates for city council, and to place the maximum $50 fee on candidates filing for mayor.

Election of city officials will take place on October 9. In the event of the necessity for a run-off election, this will take place on November 6.

The election chairwoman also reminds voters that registration books close on September 10.

Until that date, in addition to personnel in the Pitt County election office, a branch registrar is stationed in city hall.

Voters at either place can make initial registration, or make any necessary registration corrections relative to change of address, name change or any other changes that need to be made.

Greenville Stopover For Check Given Week Of Services Touring JC Officials

A state tour by U. S. Jaycees Vice President Ron Moschel of New Mexico and State Jaycee President Jim Hastings Thursday and today included a stop in Greenville yesterday afternoon.

During the Greenville visit at the airport, the Jaycee officials met with local chapter representatives and discussed membership and the operation of the Greenville club.

Moschel is scheduled to address the Mid-Summer Board of Directors meeting of the North Carolina Jaycees which began today in High Point and concludes on Sunday.

Other items on the agenda include an executive committee meeting, forums and orientation sessions for local officers from the state's 265 chapters, and a quarterly meeting of 45 prison chapter representatives. The events are being hosted by the High Point Jaycees.

On Sunday morning there will be a statewide board of directors and general membership meeting with items of business including proposed by-laws changes and possible program sponsorships for 1973-74.

Following the general membership meeting on Sunday, quarterly meeting of penal chapter representatives from the 45 chapters is scheduled to discuss current and proposed projects in the criminal justice area.

Primary goals for 1973-74, it was noted, will be to continue recognition of outstanding correctional officers through the George Randall Memorial Award, and to seek incentive wage funds for inmates under a plan requiring a specified portion of such wages to be paid to victims of crime.

Boy Scouts Qualify For 'Trails Award'

Eight local scouts, representing two troops, recently completed requirements for the Historic Trails Award which emphasizes cooperation between historic societies and Scout and Explorer units.

The scouts, Frankford M. Johnson II, Karl Thurber, Will Hickman and Melvin Johnson of Troop 205, and Roy Carlton, Mike Dixon, Charley Hayek and Robert Vick of Troop 124, carried out a two-day program involving restoration of the Pettigrew State Park grounds and the area around the historic house, Somerset Place.

Johnson, who organized the July 26-28 project, said that in addition to restoration activities at the state park near Crewell, other events included "a lake swim, tour inside the mansion, a star study, blisters, and a fruitless war with the mosquitoes."

Under the Historic Trails programs, chartered scouting units are required to plan and participate in a historic activity. The local campers chose to set up camp, with the cooperation and permission of state park officials, within the park boundaries.

Johnson said that park officials were pleased with the efforts of the local campers and added that site improvements were evident at the end of the two days and one night visit.

The application for the award, based on the activities of the scouts, will be filed with the East Carolina Council office.

Dr. F. Milam Johnson, unit leader, accompanied the group to Washington County park site.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is good for working at those long-range plans that require a considerable amount of study, thought and planning, in which you can reduce your ideas to a working success. Tonight finds you overly eager to produce results of a practical nature, so be sure to refrain from being too rambunctious.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Fine morning for talking over with partners where your operations are headed. Later get busy on the actual work involved. Do what mate expects of you, even if you feel imposed upon. Think.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Make sure you know how to get all those duties behind you early, and then you have time to be with important associates later. Buy clothing you need. Improve your health by proper treatments.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can make this a fine morning at whatever you like best to do and improve relations with mate, but work should be relegated to evening. Creativity is the keynote during the day.

MOONCHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning should be spent taking care of needs of kin, but then be off to entertainment later in the day. Begin a new uptrend early in the a.m. in all of your affairs, too. Take it easy in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Get into beauty treatments and shopping for apparel you need in the a.m., but evening should be spent happily at home. Keep busy writing letters. Don't forget to do your marketing.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Get your property improved during the a.m. and do errands, but later be happy with good friends. Plan how to carry on with those practical affairs you have in mind. Avoid one who gossips.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) You are able to spend the day as you please, especially where personal matters are concerned, but take care tonight not to spend lavishly. Ask a friend to go with you to some social matter of importance.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) You can get the information you require by going to right sources today. Daytime intuition works fine, but not in p.m. Don't argue with mate over a matter of opinion. Maintain harmony.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Joining with good friends during day is fine and brings good results; taking in the nightclubs tonight is okay. Have a good talk with a close friend. Make excellent plans for the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Attending to public affairs during day is wise and gets you excellent results. You can then enjoy social matters in p.m. that are vital. Push your finest ambitions in early p.m. Do not be discourteous with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Open your mind to new outlets that can give you excellent benefits, and by p.m. you get public acclaim desired. Being alert to progress is wise.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Make sure you get bills paid and other responsibilities handled during day. Seek new outlets in p.m. that revitalize you. Try to be more cooperative with an associate during daytime.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a fine, inventive mind, who should have lessons in psychology so that dealing with others can prove very successful, pleasing. Teach to stand up for own rights early, or others could take advantage of him or her because of this offspring's sheer innocence, trusting too much, or wanting to be so cooperative the self is denied.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WINTERVILLE—Kiwanis Club President Regan Jones presented a $3,000 check to Larry Vincent, captain of the Rescue Squad, and Mayor Walter Dail last night in support of the new rescue ambulance.

During the presentation, Jones expressed the Kiwanians approval of the Rescue Squad. He praised the work of the squad, remarking that the Club believed the money was well-spent.

The donation will complete the $6,500 the squad needed in order to match a federal grant for the new truck. The $13,500 vehicle is one of the first federally approved vehicles in North Carolina.

The Squad had conducted community drives to obtain the required amount. In addition to meeting this goal, the funds will also be used toward operating expenses.

No Injuries In Accidents

Jeanne Marie Turcotte of 134 East Longmeadow Rd. was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 9:52 a.m. mishap on Fourth Street, 60 feet West of the Cotanche Street intersection yesterday.

Police, who identified the driver of the second car involved as Hattie Everett Pollard of 1213 North Pitt St. set damage at $500 to the Pollard car and $175 to the Turcotte auto.

In a second collision yesterday, Norman Prestridge Swain Jr., 22 of 1607 East Third St. was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign, following investigation.

Officers reported the Swain car collided with a vehicle operated by Whitney Francis Miller Jr., Route 3, Greenville about 7:20 p.m. at the intersection of Fourth and Maple Streets.

Damage estimates were set at $300 to the Miller car and $200 to the Swain auto by investigators. No injuries were reported.

Faraway Places

I've never seen the Taj Mahal. Nor have I looked up at the Leaning Tower of Pisa, or out across the broad Sahara to the Pyramids and the Sphinx.

Most of my life, as a matter of fact, has been spent right here in my own town. Not because I don't want to travel. To visit these faraway places is one of my big desires—and, one day, I hope to do it.

But I know, deep in my heart, that even if I never leave my home town I'll have more to do than I can hope to accomplish. Because God is just as much here as he is anywhere. Our minister used that thought in his sermon last Sunday, and he told us how much there is for all of us to do in our own particular place—and how much remains undone!

If we'd bring just one other person to church with us on Sunday, we'd really be doing something, he told us. And, as I thought it over, I knew how true that was.

That's why I'm asking you.

Too Soft Mom Has Problems With In-Laws

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I love my inlaws, but they are my problem. My husband and I have two children, 6 and 3. They are the only grandchildren my inlaws have [which is probably why they spoil them the way they do].

My husband travels a lot, and I like to go with him for a few days every few months. This keeps our marriage healthy.

My inlaws beg to keep our children when we're gone, but after the children have been with their grandparents it takes me a week to get them to mind.

My inlaws let the kiddies stay up as late as they want to, and they feed them candy and soft drinks between meals. Also, when I say something, my word is law, and I don't put up with any back-talk. The grandparents never discipline them, and when the kids talk back, they laugh and think it's cute.

I don't want to seem ungrateful, Abby, but I resent my inlaws spoiling all the work I've put into training my children. I have stressed my rules several times, but they don't pay any attention to them.

How can I drive my point home without getting them angry with me? If I hired a sitter my inlaws would be terribly hurt.

TOO SOFT

DEAR TOO: Your signature sums up the reason for your problem. Toughen up, and tell your inlaws that either they must follow your rules, or you'll not leave your children with them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman who has been deeply involved with a married man for four years. He has children and so have I.

I divorced my husband thinking he would divorce his wife and marry me. I can't honestly say that he promised to divorce his wife, but he said so many things like: "If we were both free, I would marry you in a minute," and: "I have never loved anyone the way I love you." I took it to mean he would divorce his wife and marry me. I was wrong.

My husband never suspected a thing until I made a full confession. Now that he knows the truth he will have nothing to do with me. Was I foolish?

VIRGO

DEAR VIRGO: You were. Your mistake was taking pillow talk seriously. Actually, it's nothing more than a lot of horsefeathers.

DEAR ABBY: I am so angry I want to scream. I'm expecting my first baby after wanting one for five years. I am only six weeks along, so naturally we haven't told anyone yet. Not even our parents.

Yesterday I attended a church luncheon. Afterwards, the chairman stood up and said, "The floral centerpiece is for one of our members who is expecting her first baby after wanting one for so long!" Then she looked right at me.

Abby, I must have turned the color of a tomato. Then all the buzzing and chattering started. My mother and mother in law were both there looking surprised and hurt. I was so upset I wanted to run.

Neither my husband nor I told a soul, but yesterday he did bring home a used crib, and somebody must have seen him carry it into the house.

Why do people have to be so nosy? Now it's going to seem like such a long pregnancy. I can just hear them asking me the last two months, "Are YOU still walking around?"

At the bottom of your column it says, "You'll feel better if you get it off your chest." Thanks for listening.

BURNING IN DETROIT

DEAR BURNING: And you'll feel better when you get it off. Thanks for writing.

Couple Weds In Recent Ceremony

Miss Yvonne Jeanette Bullock and Joseph Van Joyner were united in marriage Friday, July 27, at 8:00 in the evening in Englewood Baptist Church. The Rev. Claude Walker officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Thornton Bullock of Rocky Mount, formerly of Greenville, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Tripp and Mrs. J. J. Bullock and the late Mr. Bullock, all of Greenville.

She is a graduate of Rocky Mount Senior High School and attended East Carolina University. She is presently employed with Peoples Bank and Trust Co., Rocky Mount.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Joyner of Rocky Mount and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Joyner of Nashville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mears of Rocky Mount. He is a graduate of Rocky Mount Senior High School.

Miss Beth Hodge presented a program of wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father. The bride carried the prayer book also carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Mrs. Kenneth Burnette of Rocky Mount, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant. The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Kenneth Burnette of Rocky Mount, brother-in-law of the bride, and Bobby Dixon of Wilson, cousin of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, Va., the couple will make their home in Rocky Mount.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in their home. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Burnette and Jack MacRae of Rocky Mount greeted the guests and presided at the guest register.

Punch and champagne were poured by Mrs. Mack MacRae of Rocky Mount and Mrs. Daniel W. Byrum, aunt of the bride, from Greenville, and Mrs. Harold Boyd, aunt of the bride, from Chocowinity.

After the couple cut the traditional first slice of wedding cake, the three tiered cake was served by Mrs. Marshal P. Scott of Rocky Mount, and Mrs. Hicks Hardee, aunt of the bride from Greenville.

Too Early To Pass Judgment

The opening average on the Eastern Belt was not what we would desire; at the same time it is best to reserve judgment on this selling season until we are further along.

Greenville and Rocky Mount sold 1,535,371 pounds the first day for $1,281,895 and an average of $83.49. Greenville sold 796,918 pounds for $650,243 and an average of $84.46.

The average was a little below the opening day of last year and this brought complaints of a squeeze for tobacco farmers—caught between rising costs, and prices for their product which were not rising.

It is well to remember though that quality was not considered quite as high this opening day as it was last year. Also only two markets—Greenville and Rocky Mount—are operating this week and they must have drawn their tobacco from a wide area. It is likely that some of this tobacco was down in quality and this might be affecting the overall averages which the two markets are posting.

J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor for the Greenville Market expressed disappointment with the opening prices but he acknowledged that some of the tobacco on the floor was not quite as good as last year.

We would wait to judge this year's prices until more Eastern Belt markets open and things become more competitive. Hopefully, as sales move into better leaf we will see a considerable improvement in the over-all averages. If it does not happen that way, the tobacco farmer will, indeed, be in trouble; because last year's prices for this year's tobacco will not pay the spiraling costs which the tobacco grower has faced in 1973.

Better Chance At War Front

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — A soldier wounded by a bullet 100 miles deep in the Vietnamese jungles stood a better chance of survival than does a North Carolinian suffering a gunshot wound with a hospital close by.

That startling conclusion has put the drive behind former N. C. Senator Neil Jones as he ramrods a relatively obscure program called the Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council of the N. C. Department of Human Resources.

But what we're talking about is saving lives, and that's infinitely more important than a lot of things the General Assembly is doing. There's a direct relationship between this thing and saving lives," the 35-year-old Wadesboro attorney said.

Jones was defeated in his bid to return to the state Senate for the 1973 session, but accepted chairmanship of the council so he could remain active in the program.

State emergency medical service coordinators, paid by state funds, would be stationed at each regional center to help coordinate the program, guarantee availability of full-time specialists, train ambulance personnel and oversee the communications and transportation system—which somewhere down the road should include helicopters, Jones said.

Basically, Jones' approach is to pull together the pieces of the emergency care system which exists in the state, making it readily available to any person in need.

We have the techniques and facilities. We know how to save lives, but we're not doing it because nobody is going to the trouble of putting it together.

Jones recognizes that through this approach, the state is imposing on some county owned and operated hospitals the responsibility of accepting patients from other counties.

The plan also calls for additional and more skilled medical personnel in terms of specialists and nurses.

But when we talk with these hospitals about their needs in this respect, our response is that if their facilities or manpower is inadequate, then it is our (state) responsibility to help them meet the needs and to help them get the funds from the state or federal level to help them get up to snuff."

60-Day Deadline
Jones hopes to designate the regional and local trauma centers in the next 60 days, but won't name them now since all have not been contacted regarding the program and the requirements.

The state coordinators would then begin the job of identifying needs at the selected emergency facilities and negotiating for funds.

Jones added that the proposed system will basically follow an already existing "referral pattern" for patients across the state needing special hospital care, but will beef that system up, identify resources and provide communications and transportation services.

Jones said his involvement in the program started while he was in the state Senate when he fell into a Sunday afternoon conversation with a surgeon friend in Wadesboro.

The physician charged that the General Assembly generally reacts rather than acts, and wondered aloud why nobody recognized the need and possibility of saving lives through a statewide system for emergency care.

"I got involved, and I'm staying," Jones said.

Ulbricht Contributed Infamous Berlin Wall

Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader is dead.

He will be remembered more for the construction of the Berlin Wall which divided East and West Berlin than for anything else.

It is sad, indeed, when the leader of any nation is recalled in history for what he did to divide his people. That, however is Ulbricht's legacy. The Wall stands as a constant reminder of his famous act.

A Secret Chore For Haldeman

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—The potentially disastrous decision by President Nixon assigning H.R. (Bob) Haldeman to review a critical tape stemmed from a compelling desire to shield from public view dirty political talk in the Oval Office.

Mr. Nixon did not want anybody new to hear the tape recording of shockingly blunt political conversation in his Sept. 15 meeting with Haldeman, then White House chief of staff, and John W. Dean III, then White House counsel. Safe in the knowledge that nobody else knew about the tape, Mr. Nixon early in July called on private citizen Haldeman to secretly listen to the tape and report back to him.

The decision, made by Mr. Nixon with little if any staff assistance long before the tapes became the focus of major constitutional confrontation, might well have catastrophic political repercussions. Unwittingly, the President gave the impression that only his old confidant could be trusted to hear the tapes. He has thus eroded his deteriorating relations both with the Senate Watergate committee and special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

The otherwise inexplicable handling of the White House tapes becomes understandable only in terms of their existence being absolutely secret until accidentally revealed July 16. Mr. Nixon apparently regarded the tapes as devices to refresh his memory rather than potential evidence in the courts.

On that basis in April, he asked Haldeman—still his powerful chief of staff—to review the tape of the President's March 21 meeting with Dean. But senior aides at the White House insist that no tapes were audited in preparing the President's much criticized May 22 Watergate statement.

The President has informed aides that he went to his still secret recordings after the Washington Post of June 3 reported Dean's statements to investigators about meetings with the President. To check information that he thought absolutely incorrect, Mr. Nixon informed his advisers, he himself listened to recordings prior to Dean's Senate testimony.

But the tape that apparently worried the President the most was the recording of his Sept. 15 conversation with Dean and Haldeman. Dean's testimony interpreted Mr. Nixon as being well aware at that meeting of the Watergate cover-up. But there was much else said in the Oval office that day, not related to Watergate, which Mr. Nixon felt could only damage the presidency.

By all accounts, Mr. Nixon and Haldeman engaged in a mid-campaign discussion of the seamy side of politics which the public does not generally associate with the presidency. Mr. Nixon emphatically urged Haldeman to look into the records of Sen. George McGovern and other pols, using military records and income tax returns.

Thus did Mr. Nixon want to refresh his memory about the Sept. 15 meeting without revealing the contents to anybody else. Why he did not listen to the tape himself is not clear. Instead, he assigned ex-aide Haldeman to listen (apparently at Haldeman's present home at Newport Beach, Calif., near the presidential estate at San Clemente). With the existence of the tape still secret, the President apparently never planned to reveal Haldeman's secret mission.

It was clearly Mr. Nixon's personal decision. Two senior (Continued on Page 6)

IT HAS HELPED AT THE AIRPORTS!

By ART BUCHWALD

'Slowly In The Wind'

WASHINGTON — Probably the worst part of John Ehrlichman's testimony last week in front of the Senate Watergate committee was when he denigrated the FBI and its late great leader, J. Edgar Hoover.

I couldn't believe my ears when I heard Ehrlichman say that the reason the President set up the "plumbers unit" in the White House was because he couldn't trust the FBI to do a thorough investigation of the Ellsberg case.

The day after Ehrlichman finished testifying I went to visit J. Edgar Hoover's grave. It was quiet and peaceful and no one was there. I sat down on a stone bench and I said:

"J. Edgar, I know you're not going to believe this but people in the White House are saying terrible things about you... Who?... Well, John Ehrlichman, for one... No, he's not the thin guy with the brush hair... That's Haldeman. Ehrlichman is the plump fellow with the big jaw who nods his head all the time whether you're asking him a question or not... That's right, the baldish guy with the silly grin on his face... Well, J. Edgar, he said President Nixon should have dismissed you early in his term because you couldn't do your job.

"I swear it, J. Edgar. I'll bring the record if you want to read it. Can you imagine someone from the White House saying that about you after what Nixon said at your funeral, that you were one of the greatest Americans of all time?"

"They're beating a dead horse, if you'll excuse the expression, to justify setting up their crummy plumbers operation with G. Gordon Liddy and Howard Hunt... Yeah, that's the one... the one you wouldn't approve of because it involved breaking and entering, forgery, arson and God knows what else in the name of national security.

ART BUCHWALD

"The things Ehrlichman said about you would make your hair stand on end. He testified you 'papered the files' and dragged your feet, and that your loyalty to your friends had priority over your loyalty to the country.

"I want to tell you that millions of patriotic, God-fearing Americans were shocked beyond belief when they heard those lies pouring out of his lips. Those of us who were brought up on your books and Reader's Digest and the television show, the FBI, couldn't believe anyone would accuse you of being soft on Daniel Ellsberg.

"There isn't a gangster, Nazi or Commie in this country who could say you were soft on anybody... I'd like to see Ehrlichman talk to John Dillinger about your dragging your feet... I'll tell you my theory, J. Edgar. I think Ehrlichman is trying to save his own neck and that of the President's by using you to justify the White House break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist... Ehrlichman kept saying they had to do it for national security because you refused to do your job.

"I know that statement is going to make you roll over in your grave. But I figured someone had to tell you what's been going on, since they put you out here.

"But don't worry, sir. Ehrlichman won't get away with it. The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Daughters of the American Revolution and just plain old 100 per cent Americans like myself are going to see that your reputation as the greatest crime fighter of all time is (Continued on page 6)

School Proved Wrong

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of Harvard's English professors told Robin Moore: "I would advise you against taking any further courses in creative-writing. Your talents don't lie in that field."

HAL BOYLE

That hurt Moore, future author of such best sellers as "The Green Berets," "The French Connection," and "The Happy Hooker."

"What hurt even more was that my other English teachers had the same low opinion of my writing ability," he recalled.

So at first, after getting his degree in 1949, Moore dutifully tried to find greener pastures in other fields. He tried to learn the hotel business under the tutelage of his father, Robert Lowell Moore, board chairman of the Sheraton Hotel chain.

He didn't like it. Then, following his urge for adventure, he says he did some gun running in Cuba — "first for Castro, then against him" — ran a bar called "The Teahouse of the Blue Lagoon" in Jamaica, and worked as a television producer and science fiction script writer in New York.

But all the time he kept churning out novels based on his own experiences.

"I think I wrote six failures in a row," he admitted. It looked as if his Harvard teachers had pegged him right.

His luck turned when his novel, "The Country Team," a story based on CIA operations in Southeast Asia, was sold to a paperback publisher for $250,000 after a meager sale in hard covers.

Since then he has hit nothing but jackpots with his tales of military derring-do and exposures of underworld profiteering in drugs and prostitution. His paperback sales alone run into a dozen millions.

His latest novel, "The Fifth Estate," which deals with an international crime syndicate's bid to control the American presidency, was sold in advance of hard cover production to a paperback publisher for $340,000. Moore is already working on the screen treatment.

40 Years Ago Today

Several times each week the local Chamber of Commerce receives inquiries asking for descriptive literature and booklets on Greenville. Forty-two copies of information about Greenville and Pitt County have been prepared and furnished to the information bureaus of major cities for vacationers.

Playing tonight at the State Theatre is "Telegraph Trail" starring John Wayne and the Miracle Horse. Playing tomorrow night is Joan Crawford in "Rain" and Thursday night is Kate Smith in "Hello Everybody."

Other Editors Say Too Many Mistakes

(Raleigh Times)

This story is becoming as commonplace as it is terrifying: "Narcotics officers on a court-authorized 'no-knock' raid broke into the wrong house, confronting a frightened mother and her two children."

This particular no-knock horror story was reported by United Press International from Oxnard, Calif. Fortunately, no one was killed or even hurt in this episode, but there have been no-knock cases where there were injuries or deaths.

The official police reaction was typical of the no-knock thinking: "It was very unfortunate. I consider it an honest mistake and one of the hazards of conducting a narcotics investigation."

It is indeed one of the hazards, and it is as much a hazard to police as it is to the people in the house whose door is broken down without warning. A police officer kicking in a door could well step right into the fatal blast from a householder's shotgun. Who, then, would be at fault? The householder who honestly felt he was defending his home and his family from criminals breaking into his home? The police officer who was relying on a law which is in such clear violation of the constitutional provision protecting a man's home?

The greatest hazard of all in no-knock is to the rights of American citizens as guaranteed in the first ten amendments, our Bill of Rights. No-knock is a part of the Nixon administration feeling that the means justify the end, a philosophy which is counter to the best instincts of mankind. The Bill of Rights was added to the Constitution to keep public officials from including in such things as no-knock.

The American people, frightened by demonstrations and by rising use of drugs, let the Nixon administration write no-knock into the law. North Carolina Senator Sam Ervin opposed it at the time. The experience America has suffered under no-knock should make the the Congress willing to repeal it.

The end desired in this case is desirable. But, the means used to reach that end are a step toward the kind of police state we have found only in dictatorships.

Economic Slowdown Is For All

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — When the economy slows down, so also will payments. Pinched mortgagors delay by a few days their payment to the bank. Borrowers on installment loans sometimes overlook a monthly payment.

The slowdown doesn't involve individuals only. Businessmen will tell you that when their customers are slow to pay there is a tendency on their part to be slow payers also. Even Uncle Sam has been known to play the game.

To varying degrees this behavior is tolerated before a reminder is dispatched, which may then escalate into the demand, the threat and eventually to action should the money not be forthcoming.

The process might be drawn out for months as each side tests the other. But, says the Management Letter, a publication of Prentice-Hall, the tedious process of collection might be unwittingly drawn out by the dummer himself.

"It's bad enough when payments are slow coming in," the letter comments, "but it's even worse when your own efforts actually slow them down further."

After surveying collection letter procedures the editors proved that nobody is perfect. Said they: "Long, dull and wordy collections letters have the effect of slowing down payments."

These are some of the commonest redundancies found in the survey:

—"According to our records," instead of "We find."

—"At an early date," when "Right away" would do.

—"In the amount of" rather than "For."

—"In the event that" instead of "If."

—"It is our opinion that" for "We believe."

—"Reflects a balance of" instead of "Shows."

—"To the attention of the writer" rather than "To me."

—"Under date of" instead of "On."

—"Finalized our decision" when "Decided" would suffice.

Since a downturn in the economy is a very real possibility, more of you will be receiving collection letters in coming months, taxing your ability to come up with new and effective techniques for delaying further.

Here, therefore, is an effective new technique. You can edit the collection letter and return it with your comments, asking that the writer be less wordy and blaming him for the delay in payment.

Strength For Today

THE DOMINANT NOTE

In one of his famous preludes, Chopin employs a device of sounding one note continuously through the whole piece. The prelude is supposed to represent a mother's dream as she falls asleep with her baby in her arms. She dreams that the boy grows up to destroy her hopes and comes at last to a tragic end. The continuing note which one hears through the whole prelude signifies the underlying motive of the boy's life which will eventually carry him to ruin.

There is a continuously sounding note in the hearts of every one of us, a basic tone which underlies all our actions and all our thinking. It may be an evil thing or a good thing, but contrary to the message of "Chopin's music, it can be changed. Christianity knows nothing about fate. It teaches that human nature can always be changed that every man can be saved, that the dominant note which underlies a life can be transformed from tragedy and evil to hope and righteousness.

FIRST: Lying and being on both sides of the paved highway leading from Greenville to Stokes and beginning at an iron stake, a corner of the Julia Brown Kachemir land and running thence South 5 degrees 50' East a distance of 1626 feet to a ditch, a corner; running thence South 81 degrees 12' West a distance of 1135.2 feet to an iron stake, a corner; running thence North 5 degrees 50' West a distance of 2025 feet to an iron stake, a corner; running thence South 63 degrees 45' East a distance of 594 feet across the aforesaid Greenville to Stokes paved highway to an iron stake, a corner; running thence North 87 degrees 0' East a distance of 627 feet to an iron stake, a corner; running thence South 42 degrees 15' West a distance of 1135.2 feet to an iron stake, a corner, the Point of Beginning, according to a survey and map prepared in May 1951 by J. B. Porter, Sr., Register of Deeds of Pitt County, and being the tract or parcel of land conveyed by W. B. Sutherland, Trustee to C. L. Hardy by deed of record in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County in Book C-20, at Page 58, and also being the second parcel described in that certain deed from C. L. and W. H. Smith, which said deed is recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County in Book C-20, at Page 58, and also being directed to the Will of the late R. L. Smith, which is duly of record in Will Book 7, at Page 371 in the Office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County and reference also being directed to deeds from Fannie Cooper-Pou and husband, Norman S. Pou, and husband, Cooper Maret and husband, Ben L. Maret, to W. H. Smith, all of which deeds are duly of record in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County.

SECOND: That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Greenville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and lying on the South side of the Great Swamp Road, adjoining the lands of the Moore heirs, and the Fleming heirs, and the Emily Fleming Division of land, as shown on the map in Division of Land Book No. 2, at Page 241 in the Office of the Clerk of Superior Court, and being further described as the identical tract of land conveyed by J. B. Fleming and others to V. C. Fleming and J. L. Perkins which is duly recorded in Book N-15, at Page 343, save and except that portion thereof conveyed to Eureka Lumber Company by V. C. Fleming and J. L. Perkins by deed recorded in Book B-19, at Page 67, and being the same land conveyed by Edith Everitt, et al, to Norman Coward by deed dated January 7, 1951 and recorded in Book F-26, at Page 161, and having such metes and bounds, courses and distances as shown on Map of Survey made by J. N. Drexback, Surveyor, in March, 1941, and set forth in the deed of record in Book F-26, at Page 161 and 162 in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, to which maps, deeds and instruments reference is hereby made for a full description of said property.

There is specifically excepted from the description above that certain 14.7 acres of land conveyed in deed dated October 6, 1969, from Rosa D. Fleming to B. D. Droughs, Welcome Company, recorded in Book U-38, at Page 322 in the Pitt County Registry. This sale will be made subject to ad valorem taxes favor of Pitt County for the year of 1973.

The Trustee may require the highest bidder to deposit with him ten (10) per cent of his bid to show his good faith and await confirmation of the sale.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets higher Thursday. Supplies short to barely adequate. Demand good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets: Grade A large whites: 86.83. Medium whites: 84.46. Small whites: 65.41.

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina hog markets today mostly .50 to 1.00 higher. Tops of $7.50-$8.58 at Kinston, Newbern, Benson, Lumberton; $7.00-$7.50 Rocky Mount; $6.50-$7.00 Tarboro and Bethel; $4.50-$5.00 Wilson; $6.00 Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Elizabethtown; Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadburn, Ayden, Laurinburg; $8.00 Mount Olive; $6.00 Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP)—FOB dock broiler prices steady, supply short and demand good. Weights desirable to light. Estimated slaughter 1,203,000. Hens: prices steady on heavy type with a firm undertone. Supply short and demand good. Too few sources reporting to release prices.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged lower today for its fifth straight session as profit taking and economic worries continued taking their toll.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11:30 a.m. was off 4.59 at 905.55, while losers and winners were about even on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was very light. The first hour's volume of 2.46 million shares was the lightest in several months.

The Dow has dropped steadily all this week, losing some 26 points since Monday. In the previous two weeks it rose over 50 points.

NYSE prices included Ford, up 1/8 to 55 1/2; Monsanto, off 1 1/4 to 57; McDonald's, off 1 1/4 to 61 1/2; Mobil, off 1/2 to 57 1/2; and General Electric, off 1/8 to 61 1/2.

Camp Fees Eliminated

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The Army Engineers announced Thursday that user fees at a number of campgrounds it operates at Kerr Reservoir and at Philpott Lake have been eliminated under legislation just signed by President Nixon.

The engineers said campgrounds at Kerr Lake where user fees have been abolished include Eastland Creek, Buffalo Landing, Grassy Creek, Ivy Hill, Staunton View and Island Creek.

The engineers announced that user fees also were abolished at Bowen's Creek, Beech Point, Deer Island, Goose Point, Jamison Mill, Mize Point and Ryan's Branch at Philpott Lake. The federal agency said $3 per night user fees were retained as Class A campsites at the two reservoirs—North Bend, Rudds Creek and Longwood at Kerr Lake and Salthouse Branch at Horseshoe Point at Philpott.

Coordinating Demo Drive

RALEIGH (AP)—The appointment of an eight member committee to coordinate activities of North Carolina Democrats with the Democratic Telethon on Sept. 15 was announced Thursday by Democratic Party state treasurer Ed Renfrow.

Renfrow also announced that meeting would be held at Charlotte Aug 10 and at Asheville Aug 11 at which a proposed $341,000 budget for the party's 1974 operations will be discussed.

Named to the committee were former Gov. Bob Scott, former state Sen. Zeb Alley of Waynesville; Mrs. Margaret Harper of Southport who ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor last year; Mayor Howard Lee of Chapel Hill; Chairman John Beasley of the Cumberland County Democratic Executive Committee; Tom Barringer, president of the state's Young Democrats; and Bill McInnis, a Monroe businessman.

Stretcher Case Is Sentenced To Thirty Years

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A man who lay on a stretcher heard himself sentenced to 30 years imprisonment Thursday.

He is Bruce David Dunaway, 21, of Charlotte, paralyzed from the chest down as the result of shotgun wounds suffered in a shootout with a druggist. The druggist, Graham Dimmick, was slain during an attempt to rob him in nearby Derita last March 13.

"When your successor, L. Patrick Gray, was fighting for confirmation on The Hill, Ehrlichman said he was just going to let Gray hang there and twist slowly, slowly in the wind. Well, that's exactly what we plan to do with Ehrlichman. We're going to let him hang there and twist, slowly, slowly in the wind."

protected. No arrogant White House flunky is going to drag your name in the mud. aides now sitting in on Watergate decision-making first learned of Haldeman's audit along with the rest of the world Monday evening. A third senior aide did know about it, but only well after the deed had been done. Even those White House staffers lusting after a refutation of Dean could not imagine a less credible device than Haldeman's testimony.

What is becoming clear is that the differences between Dean and the President over both the March 21 and Sept. 15 meetings involve not so much the actual words as their context and interpretation. As a result, old Nixon loyalist Haldeman as a principle in the case with a deep-seated personal interest in refuting Dean is scarcely an evenhanded interpreter.

Moreover, Haldeman's mission tends to undercut the later pledge to Cox by White House counsel Fred Buzhardt that the tapes were kept in absolute security by the Secret Service. Similarly, after recovering from their early shock last Monday night, several members of the Ervin committee were expressing outrage.

Before Haldeman's revelation, the White House seemed to be moving toward some compromise which would give Cox, though not the Ervin committee, private access to the tapes to sort out what directly applies to Watergate rather than wait for an ultimate Supreme Court decision ordering release of the tapes.

Evan. Michael Cocoris will be guest speaker at People's Bible Church August 5-12.

Tar Heels Roll Past East Carolina, 9-1

Pyrtle Is Still Leading Hitter

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — Red-hot Wayne Pyrtle, first baseman of the league-leading Pembroke State Braves, appears a cinch to win his second straight batting championship in the North Carolina Collegiate Summer Baseball League. In games through July 27, Pyrtle boasted a booming average of .416 and held a 59-percent point lead over the runnerup, Mike Wilkerson of Louisville, who is hitting .357. In eight games since the last averages were released, Pyrtle had 12 hits in 24 times at bat. He now has hit safely in 17 of the last 18 games he has played. Pyrtle won the batting title last year when he was a member of the Louisville team, but he's been ever hotter with Pembroke. Besides leading the league in batting average, he leads in three other categories.

He has the most hits, 47; the most runs batted in, 33; and the most doubles, 13. Rounding out the top five behind Pyrtle and Wilkerson are UNC-Wilmington's Bruce Cavanaugh at .338, Pembroke's Dave Callahan at .333 and UNC-Wilmington's Howie Edgerton at .325. North Carolina's Early Jones tops the league in runs scored with 24; Wilkerson and Steve Bryant of Louisville share the lead in triples with three each; and Campbell's John Whitehurst has the most home runs, seven. Louisville's Eddie Clapp tops the league pitchers with a perfect record of 5-0 and an earned run average of 1.50. Pembroke's Ron Rudd has the most victories, boasting a 7-3 mark, and North Carolina's Mike Merritt tops the circuit in strikeouts with 56 in 84 innings.

FOR THE RECORDS—Cleveland pitcher Gaylord Perry holds the ball he used to strike out Boog Powell of the Baltimore Orioles in the ninth inning of last night's Indians-Orioles game. It was strikeout number 2,000 for Perry, and he's getting ready to toss the ball into the dugout to be saved. (AP Wirephoto)

The University of North Carolina cracked out three home runs against East Carolina University last night and powered to a 9-1 victory over the Bucs. It was the final home game of the year in the North Carolina Summer Collegiate League for the Pirates. East Carolina was rolling along with a 1-0 lead and a no-hitter until the fourth inning when Carolina got its first hit. The next frame they tied it up with a homer, then took the lead in the sixth with another. The Tar Heels added one more in the seventh, then got four in the eighth and two more in the ninth. Both teams pounded out eight hits, but the Pirates couldn't get the extra base hits, and left too many men standing. Carolina sent only one more man to the plate in the game, and left just four men standing. East Carolina meanwhile, left 11, including eight in the first three innings when they loaded the bases three times and scored only one run. The Bucs got their first threat going in the opening inning. With two men down, Troy Eason walked and John Narron singled to center. Ron Staggs also drew a walk, filling the sacks, but Carolina got the next out on a fly ball to end the threat. East Carolina then pushed over their only run in the second. With one away, Rick McMahon singled through the middle to second. Dave LaRussa hit back to the second baseman, but McMahon, headed to second, brushed him, and the ball was not played. Carolina argued interference on the play, but both runners were allowed to stay. Jimmy Paige then hit a slow-roller to short that again saw all runners reach safely, loading them for the second time. Carl Summerell then unleashed the only ball of the inning to get out of the infield, smashing a fly to the fence in left center, just over the glove of the charging fielder. The runners, having to anticipate a catch, held their bases until the ball landed safely, and only McMahon was able to score as the rest advanced. A line drive then turned into a double-play to save any further runs. The Bucs loaded the bases again in the third, and again had no luck. Staggs singled with one out and Jack Elkins and McMahon both walked with two away, but Carolina again held them, as Jim Baldwin made a one-handed, going-away catch of LaRussa's drive to right field. Only once more did a Pirate reach second base, in the fifth, when Staggs doubled with one down, only to die there. Carolina had only one baserunner in the first three innings, who reached on an error and was erased on a double play. Dick Witt and Bobby Guthrie both singled in the fourth, but the threat was killed by two fly outs. In the fifth, however, Carolina tied it up. Chuck Moore slammed a home run to right, making it 1-1. Early Jones led off the sixth with a long blast that cleared the fence in left center, and sailed over the trees around the field also. That gave Carolina the lead at 2-1, and that never lost it. With one away in the seventh, Bill Lee, former Greenville high school and American Legion player, walked and moved up on a wild pitch. Moore responded with a double to center, driving in Lee for a 3-1 edge. Carolina came up with four in the eighth. Jones and Witt both walked and Guthrie slammed the third homer of the night, this one a three-run blast to left. Dale Lydecker followed with a walk, moved to second on a wild pitch and after Lee walked, stole third. The throw down was way over the head of Elkins, and Lydecker came on to score and run the lead to 7-1. The final two came in the ninth. Jones walked and Witt hit a pop to left that just fell in before the charging Narron. Both runners moved up on a wild pitch and scored when Guthrie singled to center. The Pirates are scheduled to close out their season with two road games this weekend. They go to Pembroke tonight, then play Wilmington on the road on Saturday. The four top teams in the league are scheduled to take part in the playoffs next week, but it appears unlikely that East Carolina, now 13-20, will make that group.

Black Jack And Christian Win

First Christian and Black Jack won their way into the finals of the Church Softball League's divisional playoffs last night with victories. Black Jack had to win twice, while First Christian needed only one win. St. Gabriel beat Presbyterian 9-1, in the opening game in the American Division, then fell to Christian, 12-8, in the second contest. Christian will now meet Oakmont tonight for the title. Black Jack beat University-Mt. Pleasant, 10-7, in the opener, then beat Maranatha, 17-3, in the second game, to set up a meeting with Immanuel tonight for the National title. The two winners will then meet for the overall league title in a best-of-three series next week. St. Gabriel and Presbyterian were in a scoreless tie until the fourth when Presbyterian pushed over a run. St. Gabriel came right back to score all nine of their runs in the bottom of the frame. Richards singled and Lawler got a hit. Applegate singled as did Dilday and Basnik. Jenkins reached on a fielder's choice and Lewis doubled. Ward then slapped a home run. Colorado singled and came around on an error on the play with the final run. First Christian came up with two in the first inning of the second game, but St. Gabriel came back with three in the second to take the lead. They added two more in the third, while Christian got as many in their half of the inning. St. Gabriel added two more in the top of the fourth to lead 7-4, but Christian came back with six in the bottom of the frame to forge ahead for good. Bunting singled and Kaylor doubled. Davis reached on an error and Hunt singled. West single and Jones doubled. Clark walked and a hit by Bennett brought in Jones with the final run. Christian added two more in the fifth, while St. Gabriel got one in the sixth. In the other division, Black Jack pushed over one in the top of the first, but University-Mt. Pleasant came up with five in their half of the frame. Black Jack added two in the third, then got three in the fourth to slip ahead, 6-5. U-MP tied it with one in their half of the fourth, but Black Jack went back out with four in the sixth. J.B. Hudson reached on an error as did Robert Hudson. Phillip Smith reached on a fielder's choice and an error put Ray Hardee on. He came around when Talmadge Adams reached on an error, making it 10-6. U-MP got one more in the seventh. Black Jack got all they needed in the second game in the first inning, scoring four times. Smith singled and Adams got a hit. J.T. Mills doubled and Billy Elks reached on a two-base error. He scored on a fielder's choice by Charlier Padgett and a hit by Billy Kittrell. Black Jack added one in the second, two in the fourth, six in the fifth, when Mills homered, and they got four more in the seventh. Maranatha scored two in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Perry Records 2,000th Strikeout During Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Have the Oakland A's become the Oakland A'vies?
"I guess we're like Avis; we'll have to try harder," Manager Dick Williams said after the world champion A's lost to Minnesota 6-3 Thursday night and became No. 2 in the American League's West Division, one game behind the Kansas City Royals, who beat Chicago 3-1. Larry Hise collected a double and two singles, scored two runs and drove in another to spark the Twins while Bobby Darwin drilled his 14th homer. Kansas City's victory behind the nine-hit pitching of Dick Drago and Gene Garber was the Royals' fifth in a row. Coupled with Oakland's loss, it moved the Royals one game ahead of the A's and put them 14 games over .500 for the first time in the club's five-year history. Elsewhere, the New York Yankees took a 10-0 drubbing by the Boston Red Sox, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0, the Milwaukee Brewers cooled off the Detroit Tigers 6-3 and the California Angels edged the Texas Rangers 3-2. Red Sox 10, Yankees 0

The Red Sox exploded for five runs in the first inning on home runs by Orlando Cepeda and Carlton Fisk. Steve Kline, making his first start since he went on the disabled list with arm trouble June 24, retired the first two batters but Reggie Smith beat out an infield hit, Carl Yastrzemski walked and Cepeda homered. Kline left after walking Rico Petrocelli and Fisk greeted Doc Medich with his 20th home run. Indians 6, Orioles 0
Gaylord Perry, the 1972 Cy Young Award winner, fired a five-hitter and struck out the 2,000th batter of his career to lead the Indians over the Orioles. He is the 24th pitcher to reach that plateau. Chris Chambliss cracked a run-scoring double in the first inning and Ron Lolicich's double made it 2-0 in the second. The Indians kayoed Don Hood with four more runs in the third. Brewers 6, Tigers 3
Darrell Porter's three-run homer capped a four-run sixth inning that enabled the Brewers to snap the Tigers' eight-game winning streak. Bob Coluccio also homered for the Brewers. Angels 3, Rangers 2
Firehanded Nolan Ryan scattered eight hits and struck out 11 in hurling the Angels past the Rangers. It was his first victory since he pitched a no-hitter against Detroit July 15. California scored twice in the bottom of the third on a sacrifice fly by Sandy Alomar and an RBI single by Alan Gallagher. Newcomer Billy Parker delivered what proved to be the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth. National League scores: Los Angeles 4, Houston 2 in 11 innings; Cincinnati 17, Atlanta 2; Montreal 2, St. Louis 0; Philadelphia 4, Chicago 1; New York 5, Pittsburgh 1.

Hunter, East Beaten, 14-0

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Rod Broadway of the West kept breaking the East's wishbone and coming up with the biggest piece. The 64, 225-pound tackle from West Stanley who will attend North Carolina this fall choked off the middle of the East running attack as the West won 16-0 in the 25th annual High School All-Star game Thursday night. That snapped a two-game losing streak. Rain fell during the game, and the offensive star, Claude Smalls of North Forsyth, said, "I love playing in the rain. I didn't think the footing was all that bad. I just run. But you gotta give it to the guys, they gave me some good blocks." The West rolled up 208 yards rushing and 336 passing, compared to the East's total offense of only 78 yards—all on the ground. The speedy East, with a backfield built around Greenville Rose's Al Hunter, could not run away from Broadway and his cohorts, including end Bill Cherry of Statesville, linebackers Greg Corpening of Newton Conover and Ronnie Banther of Brevard, and tackle Billy Bryan of Burlington Williams. Hunter picked up 48 yards in 12 carries. In addition to holding his soggy ground, Broadway recovered two fumbles. One of them led to a 34-yard field goal by Mike Dover of Shelby which gave the West a 10-0 lead midway in the third quarter. The first West score was a three-yard plunge up the middle for a touchdown by Smalls which capped an 89-yard march. The march started when the West took over on downs after the East marched to the West 11 with the opening kickoff, but stalled. The West was able to control the ball for more than seven minutes in this thrust, an indication of its dominance. The touchdown came with 11:10 left in the first half. Smalls, 5-10, 185-pound full-back, had 99 yards in 17 carries in the game. He picked up four first downs in the drive which ended with his touchdown. The West also scored on a 39-yard breakaway run by half-back Walt Larry of Winston-Salem Parkland with 6:59 left in the game. The West blocking was so good that the East's huge middle guard, Marvin Powell of Fayetteville 71st, 6-6 and 240 pounds, was unable to stop the attack. Smalls and Tommy London of Shelby, who carried eight times for 36 yards, ran outside or off-tackle traps away from him. Powell is considered by Southern Cal as one of its top recruits. In the second half the East managed only 26 yards and lost three fumbles. One was end Billy Sorrell, who relieved quarterback Swade Carroll of the ball while tackling him for a 16-yard loss.

Brown Won't See Action Tonight

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
George Allen says he's out to win tonight when the Washington Redskins host the Detroit Lions. But the Redskin coach is not about to do anything reckless like risking last year's most valuable player, Larry Brown.

As was done last year, except toward the end of the National Football preseason, Brown will be on the sidelines, but Duane Thomas, whose running abilities most Redskins fans have only heard about, will be on display.

With a couple of exceptions, the Redskins starting lineup will be the same as the team that lost last year's Super Bowl to Miami 14-7.

Roger Staubach will be getting the nod in Dallas' game tonight against the Los Angeles Rams. Coach Tom Landry said Staubach would give way in the second half to Jack Concannon. There is also a chance that Craig Morton, whose arrival at the Cowboy camp was delayed because of a contract dispute, might see action.

Houston hopes the same combination will click twice when they clash with the New York Jets tonight. Dan Pastorini will oppose the Jets' star Joe Namath, in the same duel which produced the Oilers only victory last season.

In Saturday games, Miami hosts Cincinnati, Baltimore is at Pittsburgh, New Orleans is at Kansas City, Chicago faces Green Bay at Milwaukee, the New York Giants are at San Diego, and Buffalo plays Philadelphia at Jacksonville, Fla.

Oakland is at New England Sunday while San Francisco plays at Cleveland Monday.

The Oilers made two trades Thursday—sending rookie wide receiver Edesel Garrison to the Los Angeles Rams for an undisclosed draft choice and acquiring running back Eddie Richardson from New York for an eighth round 1974 draft choice.

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said three veterans are definitely out of his team's opening game. Guard Mo Moorman, wide receiver Otis Taylor and left cornerback Jim Marsalis are all definitely going to be out and the status of defensive tackle Buck Buchanan and center Jack Rudnay is still not known.

Running back Eddie Ray is being fined $100 each day he remains absent from the camp of the Atlanta Falcons, according to coach Norm Van Brocklin. The Falcon coach hinted he did not expect the former Louisiana State University star to show up at pre-season camp.

Two rookie centers joined the St. Louis Cardinals at their training camp. Tom Brahaney, a 6-foot-2, 240-pound lineman was on the field an hour after signing his contract. Mike Irons came from Washington for the $20,000 waiver price.

FUNNY AS IT SEEMS, IT ISN'T — Pittsburgh Pirate third baseman Rich Hebner goes through an antic dance after swinging at the ball and getting a strike for his efforts in the fifth inning

Thursday in a game with the New York Mets at Shea Stadium. The Mets won, 5-1, and Hebner struck out. (AP Wirephoto)

Broken Records: These May Never Be Snapped

By LUCIUS GANT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time when no one thought that Babe Ruth's record of 714 career home runs could ever be broken.

But then, nobody gave Henry Aaron's homers a thought until a year or two ago.

Now consider these "unbreakable" records:

—Cy Young's 511 career pitching victories.

—Johnny Vander Meer's two consecutive no-hitters.

—Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak.

—Hack Wilson's 190 runs batted in.

—Lou Gehrig's 2,130 consecutive-game appearances.

—Rogers Hornsby's .424 batting average.

—Maury Wills' 104 stolen bases.

Unbreakable? Perhaps...and perhaps not. The fans are divided—but no more so than today's players themselves.

"Nobody will break them," insists Jim Ray Hart of the New York Yankees. But Willie Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers believes "they'll all be broken one day."

Says Aaron, who may well hit his 715th homer before this season ends: "I think all records can be broken."

"However, the thing you have to remember about records is that a player can't come up and play only 10 years and expect to break a record. It takes 20 or more good years and you have to be consistent. I think a speedy hitter who can handle a bat can hit 424."

"The only thing I know about pitchers is that I've been successful against them," Aaron added.

Most of the players questioned in an Associated Press poll thought Gehrig's consecutive-game record was the one least likely to be broken. Wills' stolen base record, on the other hand, was the one they felt was easiest to break.

The records and some of the comments to them:

Cy Young's
Wilbur Wood, Chicago White Sox: "I can't imagine anyone winning 511 games in this day and age."

Al Worthington, Minnesota Twins pitching coach: "You've got to be around an awful long time, have a good strong arm and good temperament, and be level-headed."

"Even then, you have to pitch for a good team and put a lot of 20-victory seasons together, like Warren Spahn who had

Johnny Vander Meer's Ralph Houk, New York Yankees manager: "There could be two straight no-hitters. It would be rare but not impossible."

Charlie Fox, San Francisco Giants manager: "Never! Personally, I don't think it will ever happen again."

Joe DiMaggio's
Bill Melton, Chicago White Sox: "DiMaggio's record will never be broken. In 56 games you can have two or three liners caught or they might walk or pitch around you."

Whitey Herzog, Texas Rangers manager: "That was the mark of greatness. It will never be broken."

Tony Oliva, Minnesota Twins: "Record holders are lucky. If you get lucky you can break the records."

Charlie Fox: "I don't think anyone will ever break that. The fellows are not as consistent now in everyday play. Joe played every day, mostly in daylight. The added travel and the different time zones and day-night play make it tougher now to sustain a streak."

this would depend on the club and the circumstances. Perhaps a player like Johnny Bench could do it if Pete Rose and Joe Morgan have extra good years." Billy Martin, Detroit Tigers manager: "Hack's record will be broken."

Lou Gehrig's
Jim Turner, New York Yankees coach: "Nobody will play in 2,130 straight games."

Bill Freehan, Detroit Tigers: "I don't see how it can be broken with the long seasons and the traveling we have to do."

Rogers Hornsby's
Bill Melton: "Rod Carew could hit 424, especially with the coming of AstroTurf."

Rod Carew, Minnesota Twins: "I don't know. The game was different then. Not many relievers were used. Batters had to look at the same tired pitchers for a whole game. Now they don't."

Charlie Fox: "No way! There won't be anyone remotely close to hitting 400. Hornsby hit up the middle, going for wide open spaces. Kids now want home runs."

Maury Wills'
Tony Oliva: "Bert Campaneris has a shot at Wills' record, but then again, Wills was the best baserunner the Wills' record is the most touchable."

Walter Alston, Los Angeles Dodgers manager: "If the balk rule were enforced you'd have more stolen bases."

Sparky Anderson: "The record can be broken if somebody wants to torture himself."

No one knows what baseball records will or will not be broken—but an old black cab driver in Atlanta made one statement that might have some validity.

"Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson already done broke 'em," he said, "but the white folks won't tell nobody!"

Rain Delays Tourney Start

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf tried again today to extend a recent record of success that has been called golf's greatest since Byron Nelson's exploits of 1946.

Weiskopf, and the other 146 members of the field, were delayed by a day in their start in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic, one of pro golf's richest events.

The scheduled opening round Thursday was wiped out by heavy, day-long rains that turned the 6,614-yard, par 72 Westchester Country Club course into a soggy quagmire and cast doubts on officials' ability to get in today's round.

The 72-hole event was rescheduled for single rounds today and Saturday, with a double round of 36 holes set for Sunday.

Should the rains in suburban New York continue or if the tight little layout remains too wet to play—a decided possibility after more than 24 hours of rain—officials had two options:

—Extend the tournament through Monday, or —Call it off after 36 holes.

Even though the prestigious PGA National championship, one of the world's four major tests, is scheduled next week in Cleveland and any delay in the completion of this event would hamper the players' preparations for the PGA, it appeared extremely doubtful officials would abandon this tournament after 36 holes.

Whatever the result, the streaking Weiskopf ranks as a solid choice to continue his string that is composed of five victories and no finish worse than fifth in his last eight starts. He's won the British and Canadian Open titles in his last two appearances and, in the string of eight, has won more than $185,000.

While the record is one of the best in recent years, it, of course, falls far short of Nelson's string of 11 consecutive victories a quarter-century ago.

Uncomfortable Bench Homers To Lead Rout

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
A league-leading total of 81 runs batted in plus 21 home runs are figures which would make just about any baseball player quite happy.

Not Johnny Bench. "It's been a very frustrating year for me," said the young Cincinnati Reds slugger.

"I just haven't been comfortable at the plate all year," Bench said Thursday. "I've been trying out all sorts of different things...tonight they worked."

Bench slugged a two-run homer in the fourth inning at Atlanta, starting the Reds on their way to a 17-2 rout of the Braves.

The victory left the second-place Reds 3½ games behind Los Angeles in the National League West. The Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 4-2 in 11 innings Thursday night.

The Reds' 17-run outpouring climaxed a four-game series at Atlanta Stadium in which 77 runs were scored. Cincinnati tallied 45 of them, winning three of the four games.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Philadelphia Phils beat the Chicago Cubs 4-1, the Montreal Expos blanked the St.

Louis Cardinals 2-0 and the New York Mets defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1. San Francisco and San Diego were not scheduled.

Phils 4, Cubs 1

Young Dick Ruthven of the Phils has a complaint about the baseball he's sometimes asked to pitch with.

"I learned to pitch with a baseball and they hand me a ball bearing," Ruthven said.

The "ball bearing" is the new ball being tested this season, which is stitched in Haiti. Ruthven had no trouble with the old American ball he was given Thursday night, however, as he beat the Cubs 4-1, allowing only five hits and striking out nine.

Greg Luzinski drove in two runs with a pair of singles to support the 23-year-old Ruthven, 5-9.

Expos 2, Cards 0

Balor Moore, recalled from a two-week stay at Peninsula of the International League on Tuesday, fired a four-hitter and Ron Hunt scored both of Montreal's runs in the 2-0 victory over the Cards.

Moore, 5-10, has notched three of his victories against St. Louis, which leads the National League East.

Dodgers 4, Astros 2

Ken McMillen delivered a two-run pinch-double in the 11th inning to lift the Dodgers to a 4-2 triumph over the Astros. Doug Rader and Lee May sent the game into extra innings with solo homers for Houston in the ninth.

Don Sutton, 13-0, pitched 10 innings to get the victory, then Jim Brewer hurled the 11th and earned his 13th save.

Mets 5, Pirates 1

Cleon Jones cracked a run-scoring single in the third inning for the 1,000th hit of his career, capping a three-run rally that helped the Mets to a 5-1 triumph.

Ray Sadecki, 2-1, got the victory, with ninth-inning relief help from Tug McGraw.

Youth May Be Her Answer

By CHUCK ADAMS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm going to let my racquet speak for itself" is how Wimbledon champion Billie Jean King summarizes her chances in "the tennis battle of all time"...but one of the conditions of the match may also work in her favor.

The $100,000, winner-take-all duel between Mrs. King, who calls herself the old lady of women's tennis, and 55-year-old Bobby Riggs, tennis hustler supreme, was agreed to in July.

But at a closed circuit television news conference Thursday, Rooney Arledge, president of ABC Sports, and Jerry Perenchio, head of Tandem Productions, promoter of the event, announced it will be staged Sept. 20 in Houston's Astrodome—and aired on prime time television.

Bobby and Billie Jean, the king of male chauvinists in a studio in New York and Mrs. King in another in Denver, were led by Howard Cosell, who will serve as sportscaster for the match, through the latest of a series of promotions building up the event.

ABC has sold all of the commercial time available for the match. No monetary figure was announced.

The match will be a best-of-5 sets affair. And while Riggs has loudly forecast victory over Mrs. King, Billie Jean, 29, will have youth on her side. When Riggs overwhelmed Margaret Court of Australia in their "Battle of the Sexes" on Mother's Day, it was best-of-3.

In this case, however, unless Riggs can take three straight sets, he runs the risk of coming away from the match with nothing to show for it but a good workout...and all that publicity.

The 'Worry Clinic' Smokers Often Starting Fires

Alan's data should shock every literate American! His 3 buddies died recently in flames. But thousands of innocent children are killed in their sleep because of this same nuisance habit. Billions are lost in property damage, plus charred forests!

By GEROGE W. Crane
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-576: Alan B. age 39, is a Chicago Fireman. "Dr. Crane," he began, "we just lost 3 of our good men at a recent fire. "It started about 2 a.m. in a large Loop cafeteria. "The blazing roof caved in on our buddies and we couldn't get them out in time to save their lives. "The cause of the fire is undetermined. "But we firemen know that these undetermined causes are usually a result of smokers. "For tobacco addicts will smoke in bed; then fall asleep with a live cigarette burning in their hand. "It drops to the sheet and soon the bed is in flames. "Or such people will smoke while viewing TV as they sit in an upholstered chair. "But they also drift off into dreamland, letting their cigarette, pipe or cigar drop live ashes on the arm of the chair. "Many times we get to the building in time to stop the flames before much damage has been done to the furniture. "But the smokers, or their families, may be dead as a result of smoke inhalation. "It has become the fad to of dollars in property damage and charred forests!"

Open Interior Schools Built

NEW YORK (UPI) — The concept of open interiors that has been shown successful in many regular schools is being applied to a pair of schools (built under one roof) for trainable mentally retarded children and those with severe learning handicaps. The Walden School and the Pines Bridge School are in one of four buildings on a 240-acre campus at Yorktown Heights, N.Y. The open interiors of the schools are painted in bright colors, floors are carpeted and some areas are air-conditioned. The only interior walls are those separating the administrative area and health suite.

There is a bridge maxim called the "Rabbi's Rule," which states: "When the king is singleton, play the ace." However, when an expert drops a singleton king offside, he usually has a sounder reason for his play than the one above.

The South has only 14 points in high cards, his concentration of honors in his long suits gives his hand enormous trick-taking potential. Thus, despite the fact that his partner's single raise could show a relatively weak hand, South made a general try for game. North felt his ruffing value in hearts, four trumps and an ace and king in the side suits were value enough to accept.

West, reluctant to lead away from his unsupported honors, attacked with the jack of clubs, and when that card was allowed to hold the trick, continued with the ten. East overtook with the queen and shifted to the queen of diamonds, won by declarer's ace.

Declarer's first thought was to cross to dummy's ace of hearts to take the spade finesse. However, deeper analysis showed that, even if the finesse succeeded, the contract would probably fail. West's shift to the queen of diamonds marked that card as a likely singleton, so declarer would have to surrender a diamond. At that point, the defenders would be able to cash a heart for the setting trick.

Thus, South saw that his only legitimate play for the contract was to hope that the king of spades was singleton in either defender's hand. Accordingly, he laid down the ace of spades and was gratified at the result. It was now a simple matter to draw the remaining trumps and concede a trick to the jack of diamonds. Declarer's fourth diamond was used to discard a heart from dummy, and his losing heart was ruffed. In all, declarer lost two club tricks and a diamond.

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
