Youth Says 27 Slain As Police Dig Up More Dead

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—Police following leads supplied by a youth who says 27 young men were victims of a homosexual procurement ring dug up two more bodies today, raising the total found so far to 21.

The two new graves were unearthed near Broadus in San Augustine County about 130 miles northeast of Houston. Two graves were found in the same area late Thursday. Police said all were pointed out to them by Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, who has admitted taking part in the slayings and burials.

Henley told newsmen today that police would find "at least six more bodies buried in the sand dunes near High Island," a beach town east of Galveston. Henley said the bodies found today were those of teen-age boys from the Houston suburb of Pasadena.

If the death toll rises as high as Henley says, it would surpass that of the largest mass murder in U.S. history—the case in which Juan Corona was convicted of slaying 25 itinerant farm workers in Yuba City, Calif. The victims' bodies were found in the spring of 1971. Corona, 39, is in prison.

Explaining to newsmen why he has pointed out the graves, Henley told newsmen: "I felt I owed it to their parents to let them know what happened to them." He did not name the newly found victims and declined to answer some questions, saying the answers were between him and police.

Police said Henley, who at first said he had killed only Dean Corll, 33, the man he accused of the slayings, changed his statement Thursday and told police he and another youth had helped lure young boys to Corll for sex parties that led to torture and death.

Police said Brooks, 18, of Houston, were given $5 to $10 a head for bringing the boys to homosexual parties at Corll's Pasadena home.

Police said Brooks was due to lead them to graves at High Island later today and would be arraigned on murder charges.

In locating the graves Thursday night, Henley told officers: "Here's some I got for Dean. He raped them, killed them, and brought them out here to bury them."

The first 17 bodies were unearthed at a boat storage stall in southwest Houston.

Jenkins Reminds ECU Doesn't Need Medical School, But People Do

RALEIGH—“The people want this new school at East Carolina University. They clearly support our long-declared objective. . . a new degree-granting medical school which would emphasize the training of primary care physicians,” ECU Chancellor Dr. Leo W. Jenkins told medical consultants to the UNC Board of Governors here today.

Jenkins and other ECU officials met with the five-member group of out-of-state experts today to present the school's position on the question of a four-year degree granting medical school at the Greenville campus.

“The people are aroused,” Jenkins told the consultants. “They want us to have the chance to meet their health care needs. They have communicated this through the only route open to them. . . through their duly elected representatives in the General Assembly.”

“The opinion of the people on this subject is a matter of record. Recent polls taken in Wayne, Onslow, Guilford and Davidson counties by individual legislators and a statewide poll done by the Long Marketing Service this spring,” Jenkins said, “showed the vast majority of people favored our expansion to a degree-granting school.”

Jenkins told the consultants that after hearing from a number of persons already during their study of the medical care problems in North Carolina, “hopefully you are Houston Police Lt. Breck Porter said Henley told him that the victims had been killed over a three-year period.

Some of the 17 bodies recovered by jail trustees from the 20-unit boat storage facility were wrapped in plastic bags and all had been covered with lime.

Farm Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon signed the farm bill today and said it “should help in our battle against inflation by encouraging American farmers to produce at full capacity.”

Nixon said the cost to taxpayers of government payments to farmers “will be reduced and in some cases eliminated during periods of strong demand and high prices such as we are now experiencing.”

He termed the bill a “realistic compromise between the Congress and the administration on a number of important economic issues.”

“Though it falls short of the high standards I have set for reforming farm legislation and eventually moving the government out of agriculture, it does provide a constructive framework for encouraging the expansion of farm production.”

In this period of “unprecedented demand for farm commodities,” Nixon said, “it is essential to provide expanded production by allowing farmers the freedom to make production decisions.”

The World Will Not Have Enough Wheat

By LEONARD KIRSCHEN

LONDON (AP)—The world will not have enough wheat despite this year's record production, experts predict.

They cited several factors Thursday which they said are behind the shortage.

First, the standard of living has increased all over the world and people are eating

Plan No Freeze On Rising Pork Prices

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration is voicing concern over the sharply rising cost of pork, but has ruled out trying to halt the increase with a price freeze.

Kenneth Fedor of the Cost of Living Council said in an interview Thursday that some of the increase in pork prices may be attributed to the beef shortage. But that alone does not explain the hikes, he said.

“We are getting more supply, but the price continues to go up,” he said, noting that the price of hogs has jumped from $37.31 per hundred pounds in the first week of June to $59.13.

President Nixon lifted the freeze on all food prices except beef on July 18. The beef ceiling will be removed on Sept. 12, and Fedor, director of the council's Office of Food Price Monitoring, said there is no prospect of restoring the freeze on pork prices.

He said the administration feels food prices in general have been advancing too sharply since the freeze ended. And the supermarket price of beef is expected to increase by 10 per cent once the ceiling on beef is lifted, he said.

And despite that freeze and the fact some cattlemen are withholding their stock from the market until prices rise, Fedor said there is no nationwide beef shortage. The council says the beef supply is 80 to 85 per cent of normal. “It's not as much as we would like to see, but it doesn't fit the definition of shortage that a lot of people seem to be using,” Fedor said.

He said the supply could get even tighter before the freeze is lifted.

C. Jackson Grayson, who headed the Price Commission during President Nixon's Phase 2 program, and former Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin said Thursday the freeze should be lifted immediately.

Hardin, now vice chairman of Ralston Purina Co., said removing the price ceiling would bring a “more orderly meat market.”

When the Cost of Living Council will be in charge, but the Internal Revenue Service will take over responsibility for policing prices and processing paperwork.

Officials said about 3,000 IRS employees will be involved in Phase 4, along with 900 from the council.

Under Phase 4, small and medium-size companies will be eligible for immediate price increases if needed to cover higher costs. Larger companies, those with annual revenues of $100 million or more, will have to give a 30-day notice of intention to raise prices, and the increases would be subject to veto by the council or the IRS.

Appointees Named By City Council At Session

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The City Council has named Melvin Buck, personnel director at East Carolina University, to the Greenville Board of Adjustments to fill the unexpired term of Samuel R. Brooks.

Brooks, who has resigned his position on the board effective Aug. 31, was due to serve until his term expired in June of 1974.

Upon completion of the term, Buck will be eligible for a full tenure if the council chooses to reappoint him.

Meeting Thursday night, the council also approved the reappointment of Miss Jane Long Joyner, Clarence Stasavich, and the Rev. Hugh Mulholland to new three-year terms on the Human Relations Council. All three are completing their first term on the council.

Allen M. Buck was given a new four-year term on the Permanent Building Codes Review Board. He is also completing his first term, which ends in September.

In other business during one of the council's shortest regular meetings in recent memory, members voted to increase the rate paid to Mrs. Anna Garris of Home and Auto Supply for each city tag sold at her business from 11 cents to 15 cents. Mrs. Garris had asked that the council review the tag fee.

City Manager Bill Carstaphen reported that the resolution setting the 11-cent rate was passed in August of last year. He noted that he made a check of several surrounding cities and other rates ranged from 12 cents per tag to 20 cents per tag.

Home and Auto Supply sells state license plates and the convenience of being able to buy Newtown Project to Garris both city and state tags at the same place results in more local tags being sold, it was asserted. The city also sells tags but City Clerk William Moore pointed out that only about 200 were sold at city hall this year compared to the roughly 12,000 at Home and Auto.

The Council approved a one-block change in the name of Halifax Street from Raleigh Avenue to 14th Street. Acting upon a request by A. B. Whitley Jr., the block will be renamed Farmville Boulevard since Halifax Street ends at Paris Avenue and Halifax, from Raleigh to 14th, currently is a continuation of Farmville Boulevard.

The renaming of the block to Farmville Boulevard actually closes out a logical extension of the boulevard, City Engineer Charles Holiday asserted. Halifax Street, under the old system, was broken up into sections since the block from Paris Avenue to Raleigh Avenue is closed.

A resolution was passed by the Council approving the sale of a triangular-shaped lot in the Newtown Project to Garris Evans Lumber Co. Joe Langley, executive director of the Redevelopment Commission, told the board that David Evans Clerk William Moore pointed out that only about 200 were sold at city hall this year compared to the roughly 12,000 at Home and Norfolk Southern Railroad behind Blount Fertilizer.

Evans told the commission, Laney said, that the lot would be used for open storage of building materials. The property contains some 53,500 square feet. Laney reported that two appraisals were made on the property and a low minimum bid of $11,750 was determined. The Evans bid was $11,784, he said. Evans will erect a six to eight-foot fence around the lot, it was pointed out.

A bid of $1,086.26 for a lawn tractor for the Cemetery Division of the Public Works Department was awarded to Waller Tractor Co. Waller

Flue-Cured Tobacco Crop Estimated 9 Per Cent Above '72

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Agriculture said Wednesday the current flue-cured tobacco crop will be 9 per cent over the amount produced in 1972 but 3 per cent less than the 1.1 million pounds it predicted last month.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said wet weather has reduced prospects for the harvest. It had expected a 10 per cent boost in acreage for leaf in North Carolina and Virginia to increase output to more than a million pounds.

The report Wednesday also said burley, fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco production would drop from last year, a prediction it had made earlier. The per-acre yield for flue-cured tobacco was estimated to be 1,960 pounds, slightly under the 1,971 pound total for last year and the 2,050 pounds of 1971.

The revised estimate for Type 11 tobacco in North Carolina is 277,400,000 pounds, compared to 240,840,000 a year ago; Type 12 in the Eastern Belt of North Carolina 369,600,000 pounds, compared to 332,840,000 last year; Type 13, 92,400,000 pounds in North Carolina, compared to 88,150,000 last year, and in South Carolina, 134,000,000 pounds compared to 131,130,000 last year.

Bumper Harvest Seen For Tar Heel Farmers

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Crop Reporting Service says Tar Heel farmers are about to harvest bumper crops of corn, soybeans and other staples.

The reporting service, basing its predictions on field conditions of August 1, said the state's corn and soybean crops will be the largest ever.

For the first time, the acreage planted in soybeans for harvest as beans will exceed the acreage planted in corn for harvest as grain.

Soybean acreage, up 33 per cent from last year, is expected to yield 25 bushels per acre for a total crop of 36.5 million bushels.

Corn is expected to have a record yield of 82 bushels per acre, for a total of 113.16 million bushels, more than five million above last year's total.

Peanuts this year will be only slightly behind the record 1970 crop of 446 million pounds. Tar Heel farmers are slated to harvest 440 million pounds, an increase of 70 million from last year.

Cotton production is running higher than for any year since 1965. It is expected to reach 165 million bales.

Other crop forecasts were sorghum grain 4,920,000 bushels; wheat, 5,940,000 bushels; oats 3,570,000 bushels; barley 2,976,000 bushels; rye 308,000 bushels.

Flue-cured tobacco predictions matched those from the industry itself. The service said 739 million pounds are expected to be harvested, up 78 million from last year.

Belt Averages $84.23 In Thursday's Sales

The price average on the Greenville Tobacco Market continued to climb Thursday as local warehouses combined to record an average of $84.61 per hundred pounds.

With the average reflecting an increase over Wednesday's figure of 84.47, poundage was down slightly on 649,024 pounds for $549,141. The market sold 660,282 pounds Wednesday for $557,721.

Smithfield again topped the nine markets selling with an average of $85.76. Wilson had an increase over Wednesday's $84.43 and posted an average yesterday of $85.47.

The belt average was $84.23 on sales of 4,238,095 pounds for $3,569,639. With the quality of offerings improving over opening week tobacco, the belt average has shown a slow but steady climb.

Average on the Farmville Tobacco Market was up from Wednesday, according to Louis

Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade. The market sold 326,823 pounds for $275,552, an average of $84.31. Wednesday's figure was $83.81.

Offerings yesterday on the Farmville market consisted of more lugs and cutters than any day this week, Williams reported. He noted that quality of primings also showed some improvement. Prices on other grades were steady compared with the previous day's sale.

The sales supervisor reported that the volume of non-descript grades was less yesterday than on Wednesday. Primings accounted for approximately 80 per cent of the sales volume. Top practical price was 87 cents per pound, he said, although several piles of lugs and cutters brought 89 and 90 cents per pound. Stabilization receipts totaled 1,148 pounds.

The average for the first three days of sales was $84.15.

The following tabulation, compiled by the Market News Service, shows the results of Thursday's activities on the Eastern Belt.

Prices have soared about $20 a ton in Britain in the last month, and deliveries for March 1974 were quoted Wednesday at about $165 a ton. But prices eased Thursday, and March futures closed $1.25 below Wednesday's price.

Cigarette Habits Going Up in Smoke, Says Expert

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Cigarette smoking is going underground although it may be less harrasing to try to kick the habit than to find places where one can smoke in private.

So says Jacquelyn Rogers of Phillipsburg, N.J., a heavy smoker for 22 years, who is helping other smokers to resist cigarettes using a program she had devised for herself.

The California legislature, for example, is considering a "1973 Nonsmokers' Bill of Rights" that would establish nonsmoking areas in public buildings.

"Smoking became a cultural thing and it has come full circle — it is no longer considered nice to smoke. Many people, especially intellectuals, are going to great pains to conceal their identity with cigarettes — even hiding them in other people's desks," Mrs. Rogers learned in conducting her seminars for Smokers, the organization founded five years ago by her and her husband Jon, a dentist.

Housewives often are heavy smokers because they are more successful in squeezing in smoking time at home, and they are likely to find it harder to give up than most smokers, she explained.

Mrs. Rogers has worked with more than 1,800 people and she has given additional training to students who have helped another 6,000 in seminars conducted in the Northeast, although now they are expanding to other states and a chapter has been formed in Arizona.

"Smoking is more than a nasty little habit," she remarked. "A number of students say they continued after several heart attacks and warnings by doctors. They simply couldn't stop. Involvement may be physiological, psychological, automatic and social. But it can be dealt with."

A significant test for cut-off potential that might be tried at home is this one: Go 5 or 10 minutes without the usual cigarette and coping with the delayed action may put you on the road to ending the habit.

"But one shouldn't feel sorry for herself eyeing cigarettes and watching the clock during the time the urge is being delayed. Self-pity must be avoided. The person should do something — play with the dog, play a record, clean out a drawer

"On one occasion she added in class ... or take a shower ... but one man rose to say that he always had to smoke in the shower.

That is why one of the first aims of the smoking seminars is "to break the conditioned response." They find out what triggers smoking — answering the telephone, applying make-up, drinking cocktails or coffee. Some people must have a cigarette and coffee the moment they get out of bed. Many have told her they drink quantities — 30 cups for one man — of coffee because it makes cigarettes taste better. Others think they smoke because it makes the coffee taste better. For some winning the cigarette battle has helped cut the intake of coffee.

Some students do not realize what triggers their heavy smoking until they chart the course of eating, smoking and drinking habits in a day. After that the problem is more easily tackled and delay periods can begin, Mrs. Rogers explained. "For example, a man may not realize he is driven to smoke at certain times by frustrations. He may smoke more at home (my mother-in-law lives with me') or he may smoke more in the office ('I work with the boss's son and I don't like him')."

Highly successful people often feel they cannot do a good job unless they are fortified by cigarettes, she says. And creative people often correlate their artistry with cigarettes. When they cut off they are quick to find the opposite is true, she says.

On the other hand people who work with their hands do not smoke as much as they think they do. For one six-pack-a-day hairdresser it was merely light up and let burn out, the chart revealed.

The course concentrates on positive aspects of cut-off ... the satisfying feeling of improving one's self image, she remarked. The 35-to 45-year age group is the most receptive and best motivated to the program because "they are just beginning to notice their vitality is ebbing on the tennis court and in the swimming pool."

A youthful-looking, earnest mother of four, Mrs. Rogers is sympathetic to the pangs suffered by her students. She had tried every method of quitting cigarettes including psychiatry and hypnosis. She wasn't even fazed by the laboratory horror pictures of the lungs and digestive system brought home by her husband, she says. But when her children were teenagers — three are now in college, and one is 12 — she began researching every available book and pamphlet on the subject. She finally found out why she smoked — "it just made me feel more comfortable." She didn't enjoy it, she says, and she began devising her program of self-help.

Dear Abby

Father Shouldn't Bring 'His Girl'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been separated for over a year. He has been living all this time with the woman he left me for—after 26 years of marriage.

My husband is 60, she is 46, and I am 58. I knew he had been seeing her, but I ignored it, hoping he'd get over her.

Our daughter is getting married soon. She wants a small garden wedding with a few close friends and relatives. We were once a very happy family and my daughter wants her father at her wedding.

I hear he is planning on bringing this other woman to the wedding. I've never seen her, but friends say she is the clinging, loud, possessive type.

I have not been in communication with him since he left me, so there is no way I can ask him not to bring his lady friend to the wedding. If he brings her, how far must my good manners be stretched? Unfortunately, I still care for him, but I don't want to play the role of the poor rejected wife.

DISTRESSED IN N. J.

DEAR DISTRESSED: If your daughter wants her father to attend her wedding, she should, without any prompting, ask him to come alone. If he is as much a gentleman as you are a lady, he'll not insist on bringing his friend with him. If he does, and your daughter makes her welcome, feeling as you do, you have a right to stay away, and I wouldn't blame you. Your daughter should see to it that your feelings are protected and if she doesn't, she will have made the choice.

DEAR ABBY: Seymour and I went together for about a year. We declared our love for one another and talked about marriage. We fought a lot over trivial things. It was one of those off-again, on-again romances from the start.

Last month, in anticipation of his birthday which is next week, I bought him a silver wine goblet and had both our names engraved on it. Well, we just had a terrible fight and broke up for good. Seymour asked me to return all the gifts he'd given me, but I refused.

Abby, since I bought the goblet for Seymour I think I should give it to him anyway. My friends say I shouldn't. What do you say?

NOT SURE

DEAR NOT: If you give Seymour the goblet anyway, he will think you want the romance to be on again. [Do you?] "To thine own self be true."

DEAR ABBY: I am an adult and I want to change my WHOLE name. I never liked my given name. It is confusing inasmuch as it's used for both males and females. My family name is very long and difficult to spell and pronounce, and even more difficult to remember.

What is the procedure? Does it cost anything? How long does it take? Whom do I have to see, and where is that person (or office) located? Thank you. I. M. SERIOUS

DEAR SERIOUS: The procedure is a legal one, so see a lawyer. You should have no difficulty changing your WHOLE name for the above mentioned reasons.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 09700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Agnew Retires To Resort For Long Weekend

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has retired to a desert resort for a long weekend, leaving behind the question of whether he will turn over his financial records to federal prosecutors probing political corruption in Maryland.

Agnew left Washington for Palm Springs, Calif., Thursday after reportedly being granted an indefinite extension on the prosecutors' request for the documents while his lawyers study the possibility of claiming immunity. Jay H. Topkis, one of Agnew's attorneys, said he would be in touch with the prosecutors next week.

Agnew was expected to return to Washington early next week.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury in Baltimore, which since January has been investigating political kickbacks, heard several witnesses. Federal officials refused to say if the testimony involved Agnew.

The Vice President told a news conference Wednesday he has "absolutely nothing to hide" from the investigators, labeling as "damn lies" charges that he accepted political payoffs.

He said he would "make available at the appropriate time and in the appropriate way to the appropriate authorities" whatever records are needed, but added that "unprecedented constitutional questions" would have to be considered.

Never before has any president or vice president been involved in a federal criminal investigation while in office.

Agnew was notified Aug. 2 that he was under investigation for bribery, extortion, conspiracy and tax violations. A letter from U.S. Atty. George Beall requested Agnew's financial and tax records dating back to the beginning of his two year term as governor of Maryland in 1967. Beall had asked Agnew to turn over the documents by 2 p.m. Thursday.

The White House has declined any further discussion of Agnew's legal problems, saying the vice president "addressed himself quite forthrightly and quite directly" to the matter. Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren repeated that "the President has confidence in the vice president and the fact of the investigation does not change that."

Warren also insisted that no parallels exist between Agnew's legal problems and the constitutional questions President Nixon faces in relation to the Watergate affair.

New Community Is Being Developed

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Plans have been announced for a $60 million residential and recreational development between Charlotte and Rock Hill, S.C. It will be the third large community planned for the northern end of York County, S.C., the others being River Hills Plantation and Tega Cay.

The new development, announced by the heirs of W.C. Whitner, a pioneer in the development of electric generation in the Southeast, will be on the 600-acre Riverview Dairy Farm he owned six miles north of Rock Hill.

"We are sold on Rock Hill becoming a bedroom community for the South Mecklenburg (Charlotte) area," said S.T. Henderson of Charlotte, grandson of Whitner and executive vice president of Home Realty & Management Co. He said the project would be aimed at upper middle-income families, would offer about 2,000 homes at from $28,000 to $50,000, and would take five to seven years to develop. There will be single-family homes, condominiums, apartments, an 18-hole golf course, at least 20 tennis courts, two artificial lakes, a neighborhood shopping center, and 250 acres of open space.

Will Staff Institutes

Mrs. Nanelle Congleton, Mrs. Judy Long, and Mrs. Esther Warren, all of Greenville, were selected to staff summer institutes sponsored by the Division of Kindergarten-Early Childhood Education of the N.C. Department of Public Instruction.

They were among 12 Eastern North Carolina teachers chosen who taught at the Institutes held at Wahl-Coates Elementary School July 16-Aug. 10. The program provided teachers, principals, supervisors, and paraprofessionals the opportunity to plan implementation of the new state-wide kindergarten.

The area residents attended a week-long staff-training conference at St. Andrews College prior to the institutes.

Mrs. Congleton teaches at Gritton School; Mrs. Long is an instructor at Chocowinity Primary School; and Mrs. Warren teaches at Wahl-Coates Elementary School.

Pitt Native Named Dean

Fountain native Dr. Hilda F. Owens has been appointed Dean of Students at Mount Olive College, according to President W. Burkette Raper.

A member of the Mount Olive faculty since 1965, she is returning to the campus after a two-year sabbatical leave at Florida State University. While on leave she earned her Ph.D. degree in higher education and served as coordinator for student affairs for the State University System of Florida.

Dr. Owens received her B.S. and M.A. degrees from East Carolina University and she had done additional graduate work at the University of Louisville and Western Carolina University.

Serving as resident counselor for women for a year, she was director of counseling services from 1966-71.

114 EAST FIFTH STREET — DOWNTOWN GREENVILLE

Commuter Flights Will Serve

At long last a commuter flying service between the Pitt-Greenville Airport and Raleigh-Durham will soon get underway.

It was announced this week that the special service will begin here with an inaugural flight Aug. 14. Wheeler Flying Service will begin the flights helped by a $75,000 grant from the Coastal Plains Regional Commission. The grant will assist in funding the operation for the next three years.

Three round trip flights will be made each day from the local airport with an eight-passenger aircraft to be used initially. Warren Wheeler, head of the commuter airline, said a 15-passenger aircraft may be added in the future, if need warrants.

Cost of the flights will be $17 one-way to Raleigh-Durham or to Morehead-Beaufort, which also will be served by the airline.

It is difficult to recognize just how valuable this new service will be to our community. Local people will be able to catch a flight at the Pitt-Greenville Airport and in a short while be at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. Service is growing rapidly at that airport so that the traveler can make connections for trips anywhere in the world.

The air service will be helpful to industry and may be an attraction in bringing new industry here. It could be used by staff and students at East Carolina University and it can mean a convenient way for anyone locally to visit relatives in far-off places.

Our areas development has been hampered by the fact that there was no local air service available. Now, however, we can have quick and convenient access to the Raleigh-Durham Airport.

This could very well establish a trend for feeder air service from smaller cities into a few major airports. It is certainly a welcome new way to travel from Greenville.

Jenkins Maintains An Active Political Pace

It is obvious that whatever Dr. Leo Jenkins plans for seeking the governorship are, he is going to keep active in Democratic party affairs.

He has made a number of talks to political gatherings recently, was master of ceremonies at the Down East Jamboree held at Morehead. Now he has been named chairman to head the observance of Democratic Appreciation Week, Sept. 16-21.

If all this sounds like Dr. Jenkins may be planning to seek the party nomination for governor, we suspect that is just the impression he wants to leave.

Education Is Going Outdoors

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—The great outdoors is beckoning public school students and teachers alike, and the trend is more than simple "nature trail" activities.

Instead, a whole new concept of education called variously outdoor classrooms, outdoor labs, or environmental classrooms is gaining in popularity all across North Carolina.

Science students study tree and shrub varieties, birds, minerals, and even mosses on trees and rocks. A creek or pond offers a fascinating look at water life, ranging from microscopic to fairly large. Digging yields insight into different soils, minerals, and root growth. Even an occasional Indian artifact is found.

A recent survey to see how many schools are using outdoor classrooms showed a total of 77 schools in 40 counties at some stage of developing them, with 33 such classrooms actually completed and in use during the past school year.

Jesse L. Hicks, head of the soil conservation service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in this state said his organization often lends technical advice and assistance to schools in environmental education.

Hicks said the next school year should see a dramatic increase in such activities, based on his contacts.

A total of 162 schools in 53 counties have asked his service for planning assistance and technical advice, planning to move ahead with the program.

An outdoor classroom is more than a field trip on a nice day or a walk along a nature trail counting how many different leaves you see. The purpose is to use an outdoor setting as an established classroom area to provide a variety of experiences in a variety of educational fields.

The program is endorsed by the state's Department of Public Instruction, which has prepared printed material on the subject. Vaden Hair of the Department of Public Instruction calls the concept "a whole new approach to education," and urges teachers to "reorient our approach from kindergarten through high school".

Even colleges are getting into the field.

North Carolina, in 1970, was one of three states selected for a pilot federal program (Florida and Maryland were the others) in environmental education, and short courses were given for interested teachers.

Travis Hendren of Raleigh, agricultural education consultant to the Department of Public Instruction, said the new outdoor teaching method wins enthusiastic support from students, increasing their interest in the whole educational process.

In some cases, such student interest spurred the original development of an outdoor classroom; in many cases, an interested science teacher has taken the lead.

In those areas where they are underway, students or teachers typically gained support from the Parent-Teachers Association or similar group; won approval from school authorities; and located a site where a patch of woods, a pasture and perhaps a small stream or a pond made an outdoor operation feasible.

Dr. Marie Churney of Granite Falls, a strong supporter of outdoor classroom work, believes the uses are unlimited. "Whatever the activity, the students are always fascinated. Those students not in the program envy those who are, and want to get in."

Environmental education usually expands as a result, with a lot of students getting involved. Vocational training classes build bridges, rain, shelters and bird houses; music students tape record the sounds of songbirds and insects; photography students hold workshops; biology and science students enjoy a handy laboratory.

The uses, experts feel, are unlimited.

Cox Poking In Hidden Corners

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Investigation of the ITT affair by special prosecutor Archibald Cox has advanced so far that some of the incriminating memoranda were in his hands when their existence was first revealed by the Senate Watergate committee last week.

Moreover, Cox is pressing a reluctant White House to release its secret ITT file. Whether or not that succeeds, Cox has sufficient evidence to seek indictments of high-level figures, including former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell. What's more, evidence showing political influence in antitrust decisions will come perilously close to President Nixon.

Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate hearings may indeed turn out less important than the special prosecutor's ITT investigation. Whereas senior aides at the White House believe Ervin's threat has subsided, they fear the breadth, intensity and duration of Cox's expanding operation.

Nowhere is the danger to a beleaguered President greater than in Cox's probe of how a government antitrust suit against the merger of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) with the Harford Fire Insurance Co. was blocked. Although Cox is tight-lipped, Justice Department sources believe he is not far from going to the grand jury.

Actually, Cox was not aware of the March 30, 1972, memorandum by Charles W. Colson, then White House special counsel, unveiled by the Ervin committee last Wednesday. But he was well aware of some of the incriminating documents listed by Colson. Of six intragovernmental memoranda that Colson warned might tie the White House to the ITT affair, at least two—and possible more—are believed in Cox's possession.

Seeking more evidence, Cox for weeks privately requested ITT documents held by Fred Fielding, deputy White House counsel. As in many other requests for papers, White House special counsel Fred Buzhardt did not say yes or no, but stalled. Frustrated, Cox went public July 27, demanding the Fielding file (which received little attention amid the uproar over White House tape recordings).

In the eyes of White House lawyers, Cox's informal demand for the Fielding file poses fuzziest problems than his subpoena for the celebrated tapes. To flatly refuse the Fielding file would seemingly contradict Mr. Nixon's May 22 pledge not to claim executive privilege "concerning possible criminal conduct."

Consequently, a key presidential assistant informed us, the Fielding file is not the same as the tapes and no decision has yet been made to claim executive privilege. Contrary to widespread fears, he added, the Fielding file still exists and was not fed to the White House paper shredder.

Although Cox believes the White House tapes may prove inconclusive and not imperative to prosecution of the Watergate case, the Fielding file may well contain the missing papers described by Colson. Therefore, it could prove critical to the ITT case. Furthermore, the ITT case, by tracing political influence over antitrust policy to high places in the administration and possibly the Oval Office, poses a threat to Mr. Nixon potentially greater than Watergate.

This partially explains why the White House senior staff, while dismissing the Ervin committee as bumbling its partisan onslaught against the President, worries about Cox. Mr. Nixon's top advisers would have preferred that the special prosecutor limit himself to the narrow confines of Watergate and finish his business quickly. Instead, Cox operates on a wide horizon: illegal political contributions, political dirty trick, the Plumbers unit and ITT. He will be around for years.

Nor is there much chance Cox will resign because of White House non-cooperation (It will take a crowbar to pry Archie out of here," says a friend). Thus, hot-headed middle-level aides at the White House threaten that the President may have to fire Cox even if that also means firing his sponsor, Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson.

Senior presidential aides resent such wild talk. Cox is too dangerous to be dispensed with by simply sacking him. But they are deeply uneasy as the crewcut professor from Harvard pokes into hidden corners of the Nixon White House. The fact that he now has secret papers about ITT and is demanding still more fully justifies that unease.

Probe The Weathermen

WASHINGTON—After the Senate gets finished investigating the Watergate, I have another subject for them to delve into. And that is the weathermen on television who promise you a sunny weekend, and then it rains like hell. Here is how this investigation would go:

SENATOR: Please state your name and profession.
HARGILL: Archie Hargill. I am the weather forecaster for television station WFOG.
SENATOR: Now on July 27, according to your own statement, you predicted that there would be clear skies, warm and sunny weather. Do you have that statement in front of you?

HARGILL: Yes sir. I may have said it, but I don't recall it.

SENATOR: Those remarks are in your handwriting?

HARGILL: That is correct.
SENATOR: Now according to witnesses, it rained on both Saturday and Sunday of the weekend. Could you, in your own words, explain why you predicted a nice weekend?

HARGILL: I think we have to look at this in perspective. At that point in time, I had received information from the Weather Bureau that a cold front was moving in from Canada. I assumed from this information, which I believed to be correct, that the weekend would be sunny.

ART BUCHWALD

SENATOR: Didn't you think you owed it to your viewers to go outside and check to see if it was raining?

HARGILL: In hindsight, that is probably what I should have done. But in the period we're talking about, I accepted the Weather Bureau's assurances that this cold front would move in.

SENATOR: Now when you realized you had made a mistake, why didn't you go back on the air and admit you had erred? Don't you think that would have been the decent thing to do?

HARGILL: I'm not sure. It could have cost the station a sponsor.
SENATOR: Are you trying to tell me that a sponsor is more important to you than the thousands of people who were making plans to go away for the weekend?

HARGILL: Senator, I believe you're putting words in my mouth.

SENATOR: Let's go back to your log for early July. You predicted, and I'm using your own words now, "great sailing weather and a blue sky from Boston to Nantucket."

HARGILL: I assume you're talking about the day there were hailstorms all across Cape Cod and a tornado on Martha's Vineyard.

SENATOR: That's the day.

HARGILL: I know this may sound strange, but I don't recall it.
SENATOR: When you found out about the hailstorms and tornado, why didn't you tell the president of your station? Don't you think he should have been informed about this catastrophe?

HARGILL: He was in Key Biscayne at the time; I did tell his administrative assistant that I thought something was flukey. But until the tornado actually hit Martha's Vineyard, I had

The first plank road in North Carolina was the Fayetteville and Western, incorporated in 1849 and completed about 1854. The "Appian Way" of North Carolina, as the road has been called, ran from Fayetteville via Salem to Bethania, a distance of 129 miles. It was the longest plank road ever built in the world. For fifteen years it served as a commercial artery from the inland section to the wharves at the head of navigation in Fayetteville. Another prominent and profitable road was the Greenville and Raleigh Plank Road, which did much to promote the naval stores industry in that section of the state.

Strength For Today

TO SEEK A KINGDOM

Jesus expressed his idea of the chief good in life with these words: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33).

These words have come down to us in Greek, of course, and it is interesting to observe that the Greek word translated "seek" really means "to beat the bushes for birds." So the declaration of our Lord really means, put first in your life the kingdom of God and seek after it like a man beating the bushes for game.

So now we get the picture. We should seek the kingdom of God like a hunter after his quarry. Let enthusiasm never die down. No obstacle is too great to be surmounted, no sacrifice too agonizing to be endured. Indeed, such advice is practical, if nothing else. If the kingdom is the object of our life, certainly it deserves greater efforts on our part than searching after money, or fame, or pleasure.

Lag In Productivity Is Villain

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a hypertensive patient so concerned with his blood pressure that he ignores other medical evidence, many an American today is so worried about inflation that he fails to comprehend one of the underlying faults.

That fault, it is generally agreed, is called lagging productivity. America continues to turn out goods and services in greater quantity than any other nation, but increases in efficiency are coming harder these days.

Over the years Americans have been able to raise their productivity rate by about 3 per cent a year, and sometimes double that. But in the 1973 second quarter, non-farm productivity actually declined.

For perspective, consider the five years that ended in 1970: German productivity rose 5.3 per cent, while France showed a rise of 6.6 per cent, Sweden 7.9, and Japan more than 14 per cent.

Such increases are probably impossible under any circumstances for an economy the size of the United States, but of greater pertinence, such increases aren't even needed to produce remarkable changes in inflation and dollar stability.

Former Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson estimates that a one per cent increase in the long-term productivity increase of about 3 per cent a year would, if maintained 10 years, add $600 billion of new wealth.

In more personal terms, that could mean more stable prices, a stronger dollar, bigger profits and dividends, a balance rather than imbalance in international payments, improvements in health and environment.

There is no limit to the possibilities, so basic is this force called productivity, which simply means utilizing efficiently the resources of labor, management, capital and technology.

It doesn't mean harder work. Usually, in fact, it means less physical labor, the more basic jobs being turned over to machines while human skills are applied to more sophisticated possibilities.

It isn't nearly so much a responsibility of labor as it is of management although labor frequently is chastised because it is far easier to measure the output of an assembly line worker than that of an executive behind a desk.

Space Spider May Get A Return Ticket Home

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer
LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Arabella the space spider has done such a good job of web spinning on the Skylab space station that she may have won herself a return ticket home. The original plan called for leaving the spiders to die in space after completing the experiment to see how weightlessness affected their web spinning abilities. Both spiders were fed flies before going into space and this last meal was supposed to keep them alive for only the first month of the 59-day flight.

But after Arabella's stirring performance, Astronaut Owen K. Garriott gave her and her sister, Anita, a piece of his filet mignon. It's hoped the human food will keep them alive for the rest of the mission. Garriott reported Thursday that Arabella learned quickly to spin an apparently normal web without the aid of gravity. He said that during the first day or two of the experiment, Arabella was disoriented by weightlessness and could only build a rudimentary web in the corners of her cage.

By the third day, however, she had managed to spin a web with a normal circular pattern. The idea for the web spinning experiment came from Judith Miles, 17, a former Lexington High School student who will enter the University of Massachusetts this fall. She is one of 19 high school students from 16 states participating in Skylab experiments they proposed. "I feel that Skylab has been a wonderful success," Judith said, "and Arabella is wonderful."

"I'm really pleased she performed so well," she continued, "What an achievement."

Jenkins . . .

(Continued From Page 13) practicing physician. Jenkins told the consultants that ECU's bid for a medical school began 10 years ago when "an expert in the field . . . had become very concerned over the lack of awareness by our medical schools of a growing shortage of practicing physicians and in his opinion, a total lack of concern in the three schools for more emphasis in the education and training of family doctors," and told a State Senator—the late Dr. Robert Lee Humber of Greenville, of his concern.

"I am referring to Dr. W.C. Davidson, who for many years was Dean of the Duke University School of Medicine," Jenkins said. The senator spent several hours "telling me how amazed he was to discover just how bad the doctor shortage was . . . and urging that we at East Carolina should tackle this problem just as we had the nursing shortage . . . so I listened and became interested."

"Next" Jenkins continued, several leaders in the State Medical Society "reinforced Dr. Davidson's concern. 'These were doctors such as Ernest Furgurson in Plymouth, Edgar Beddingfield in Wilson, Amos Johnson in Garland, Lenox Baker in Durham and Robert Ross in Chapel Hill.'"

He said the matter was brought before the ECU Board of Trustees who approved starting a two-year school in the mid 1960's. One trustee, "who never took anything as face value, independently consulted the head of the Duke Medical School for an opinion," Jenkins said.

Trustee Henry Belk of Goldsboro, Jenkins reported, "gave me the letter he had received stating that two-year schools were needed and that this man would wholeheartedly support a move to establish them. The letter was signed by Dr. William G. Anlyan, then Dean of the Duke Medical school."

A request was presented to the legislature "and the hue and cry began . . ." Jenkins noted, saying "the hue and cry has not diminished since 1965; neither have the attempts to block the development of this medical school."

"Every step that we have taken has been accomplished through bitter, hard-fought struggle and with the help of a few dedicated leaders in state government, many practicing physicians and rapidly increasing numbers of North Carolina citizens. Time and again," Jenkins commented, "we have been urged to throw in the towel. But I know that I speak for all of my associates and our friends and supporters when I say that we will not abandon our commitment to the people of our state."

"The public is well aware that both a commitment and a start have been made at East Carolina. They are looking to you and to responsible leaders of the state to see to it that this commitment and the unmet needs are fulfilled." Appearing before the consultants with Jenkins today were medical school dean Dr. Wallace Woolles; Vice-chancellor for Health Affairs Dr. Edwin Monroe; Dr. Andrew Best of Greenville, a member of the school's Board of Trustees and a former member of the UNC Board of Governors; and Gen. John Lang, Vice-chancellor for External Affairs at ECU.

The consultants are to report to the Board of Governors their recommendations as far as medical education in the state is concerned in the next several months. Their report is expected to include recommendations as to the need for an additional WASHINGTON (AP)—A secret Pentagon memorandum, unveiled more than 6 years after it was written, provides a glimpse of the extremely tight control civilian officials exerted over the air war in Indochina. Many military officers who served in World War II and Korea contended throughout the Indochina war that this degree of control was unprecedented.

The 1967 memorandum, made public by Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements Jr. Thursday, lends support to claims by veteran air officers that civilian authorities right up to the White House called the important shots throughout the air war. The Pentagon declassified the memo to show that a policy of covering up politically sensitive bombing operations in supposedly neutral nations adjoining South Vietnam had its roots in the Johnson administration. The document, dated Feb. 23, 1967, deals with delegation of authority to the Joint Chiefs of Staff for B52 bombing strikes against targets in Laos.

$3 Million Suit Filed

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—Dr. Joseph Fernandez, chairman of the Romance Languages Department at East Carolina University in Greenville, and his wife, who teaches Spanish there, have filed suit alleging libel and asking $3 million damages from WNCN-TV of Greenville and a former professor. They claim that during a news broadcast over the station on Feb. 15 the former professor at ECU, John Costa, said, knowing it was untrue, that neither Dr. Fernandez nor his wife had the degrees from Spanish universities they claimed they had.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court in New Bern. The Fernandezes claim the U.S. court has jurisdiction because she is a Spanish citizen.

Union Wins Pay Boosts

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Workers at four South Carolina textile plants have won pay raises that were delayed for about a month while the firms conferred with the Cost of Living Council over the legality of the increases, according to a newspaper report. The Charlotte Observer said in a story for its Friday edition that workers earning less than $3.50 an hour, embracing the majority of some 10,000 employees involved, are expected to get the increases in their next pay check. Those earning $3.50 or more probably will have to wait until September or November, the report said.

The newspaper said the four companies, all in South Carolina, were the Greenwood Mills in Greenwood, the Spartan Mills in Spartanburg, the Clinton Mills in Clinton and the Mayfair Mills in Arcadia. Another firm, Alice Manufacturing Co. of Easley, also was involved in meetings with the Cost of Living Council and raised its wages in June.

Amounts of the increases were not specified but it was noted that the companies earlier had proposed across the board raises in the neighborhood of 7 per cent, including fringe benefits. The Cost of Living Council had argued that the proposed increases, along with earlier raises, were inflationary.

state supported degree granting medical school and where it should be located.

This authority was subject to several key limitations. After the military planners decided what targets they thought should be hit, they messaged their recommendations to Washington. There the recommendations had to be reviewed by the State Department and the White House staff "sufficiently in advance of scheduled execution to permit effective deferral and-or veto action when appropriate," the memo directed.

The U.S. embassy in Vientiane, the Laotian capitol, also had to approve the strikes. The same kinds of restrictions were instituted for the bombing of North Vietnam, starting in February 1965. Not only were specific targets approved or disapproved at the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon, but civilian officials even directed what kind of bombs and other weapons could be used, what routes the bombers could take to certain targets, and other operational details normally left to military experts. As one long-time Pentagon official put it, the bombing was used as a political instrument, designed in hopes of prodding North Vietnam into a negotiated settlement of the war.

Jamboree Scouts Told Of Return To Idealism

Before the mammoth fireworks show, the scouts honored Ernie Banks, Chicago Cubs veteran first baseman, with its highest award, the Silver Buffalo. "In baseball you have a chance to hit a grand slam home run," Banks said, "But it's nothing like being able to help people grow together. Scouting has made me a better human being." Then, acknowledging the Cub fans in the crowd, he predicted his team would win the pennant this year.

The trek home started after breakfast. Many troops in chartered buses planned sight seeing tours en route. The summer weather was glorious all week, moving into the high 80s in the last two days, when a few sprinkles of rain fell. Most of the boys liked the camping experience, using the words "neat, cool," to describe it. Here are some typical comments: Brent Welch, 14, Union City, Tenn.: "It's really been a lot of fun. The only complaint is that it was a long walk to everywhere. But I'll be in shape when I get home." Touche Howard, Fayetteville, N.C.: "It gave me an opportunity to work on merit badges. It gave us all a chance to grow together with friendship and fellowship."

Privette To Speak Here

The Rev. Coy C. Privette, president of the Christian Action League, will address a group organizing a Pitt County Chapter of the Christian Action League of North Carolina Aug. 14 at 8 p.m. at the First Free Will Baptist Church. The organization will be concerned with the defeat of the proposal on Liquor-by-the-Drink to be voted upon Nov. 6.

A native of Statesville, Privette has been the pastor of North Kannapolis Baptist Church from 1962. A graduate of Wake Forest University and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, he attended the School of Pastoral Care of the N.C. Baptist Hospital and Bowman Gray School of Medicine and the Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism at the American University. He is married to the former Betty Sheaf of Kannapolis and they have four children.

Tire-Makers Face Anti-Trust Suits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has filed antitrust suits accusing the nation's two largest tire manufacturers, Firestone and Goodyear, of underpricing tires to eliminate competition. The government alleged the firms maintained artificially low prices through the early 1960s and began acquiring smaller competitors that were being forced out of business. As a result, said the suits, Firestone and Goodyear now have a near monopoly over the $2 billion retail tire market. The suits were filed on Thursday in U.S. District Court in Cleveland. They seek injunctions ordering a halt to the alleged anticompetitive practices and also requiring the firms to divest themselves of certain interests.

In Akron, Ohio, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. issued this statement: "We haven't seen the complaint, but we know of certain interests. The Williamston native is now the legal consultant for the U.S. Senate-House Joint Committee on Printing in Washington, D.C., but continues to make his home here. He is a graduate of Williamston High School, Wake Forest College, and the Wake Forest University Law School. Serving as mayor for 10 years, Copen resigned following his election to the State Senate. Other positions he has held include counsel to the National House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee and U.S. District Attorney for Eastern North Carolina under the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. He has occupied his present position for the past five years. He is married to the former Sue Henderson and they have three children.

Charge Driver In Accident

James Mitchell Buck, 26, of Route 2, Greenville was charged with failing to keep a proper lookout while backing following investigation of an 8:45 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Truman Street yesterday. Officers reported the Buck car collided with a car driven by Jack Brantley McCants, 43, of Columbia, S. C. causing an estimated $700 damage to the McCants car and about $25 to the Buck auto.

DON'T BE AFRAID!

Jeannie is still at the age when she can look at life unafraid. She's a happy and trusting little girl, and she is sure Daddy will catch her at the bottom of the slide. As we grow older, our fears accumulate and sometimes they rule our lives. We grow afraid of losing our job, our health or our possessions. There is fear of being "different." We often go along with things that we know are wrong, just because we're afraid to take a stand. Many of our fears have no foundation. Yet we go through needless suffering, worrying about things that will never happen.

The Bible says, "If God is for us, who can be against us?" Through the Church, we receive assurance of God's constant love and protection in all our adversities. And we come to understand the comforting Truth . . . "Perfect love casteth out fear."

Back Down On 40-Hour Week

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina state Board of Education has backed down in its efforts to force public school teachers to work eight hour days and 40-hour weeks.

It did so Thursday in the face of lobbying from teachers' associations and an advisory opinion from the Department of Justice. The advisory opinion, delivered by Asst. Atty. Gen. Andrew A. Vanore, was that only local boards have the authority to set hours for teachers.

The state Board then agreed to rescind a June directive which sought to mandate the eight-hour day and 40-hour week.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips then moved that the Board urge local boards to enforce the working time standard.

Phillips said such a move would reassure legislators and taxpayers that increased salaries for voted for teachers this year were being earned.

His opinion was contested by spokesmen for three teachers' groups—the Association of Classroom Teachers, the North Carolina Association of Educators and the American Federation of Teachers. They argued that teachers, when home work and extra-curricular activities are added in, now work more than an eight hour day.

And they warned that lawsuits might be brought against the state if it tried to enforce the policy.

Phillips' motion was never voted on. Instead, the board passed a motion by member John Pritchett of Windsor which left the issue up to local boards and advised them to act in accordance with local needs.

Student Shows Art At ECU

Patricia McKay, senior student in the East Carolina University School of Art, is showing examples of her work in a campus exhibition this week.

DATSUN SAVES

Your pride.

Sure luxury cars are nice. But with operating expenses so high, who can afford them anymore?

You can. A Datsun 610. With around 25 miles per gallon and remarkably inexpensive maintenance, it's still a luxurious automobile. Tinted glass, full carpeting, big reclining bucket seats, handsome vinyl-upholstered interior, electric rear window defroster and much more are all standard equipment.

The Datsun 610. A luxury economy car. An idea whose time has come.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets Thursday were steady on large sizes, lower on mediums and one cent higher on smalls. Supplies were short and demand was good. Weighted average prices for small lot sales of consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 87.09; medium whites 83.97; small whites 66.57.

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina hog markets today are mostly $1.00 higher with tops of 59.50-60.50 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Lumberton; 59.50-60.00 Rocky Mount; 58.50-59.00 Tarboro, Bethel; 61.50 Mount Olive; 59.00 Salisbury; 58.59-50 Wilson.

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina FOB dock broilers: Market weaker. Supplies adequate. Demand fairly good. Weights desirable. Average price for less than truck lot loads of sized plant grade A broilers to be picked up at docks next week is 60.17 cents per pound.

Hens: Trading on both types too limited to release prices.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market slipped below an important psychological barrier today as investors continued to trade cautiously in the light of higher interest rates.

The 11:30 Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was down 6.77 at 894.72 after having been slightly higher in early trading. Losers led gainers, 674 to 348, among 1,424 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Marcor, Inc., led trading on the Big Board, up 1/4 at 22 1/2. Westinghouse, off 3/4 to 33 3/4, and W.R. Grace, off 1/2 to 22 1/2, also were active. Colgate-Palmolive fell 1/2 to 32 3/4 on a 39,000-share block which moved at 32 3/4 unchanged.

NYSE percentage leader Republic Corp. gained 1/2 to 1 1/2, while Gateway Industries fell 1/2 to 6 1/2. J.P. Morgan rose 2 1/2 to 68 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange, Jamesway was most active, up 1/2 to 6 1/2, followed by Bowmar Instrument, down 2 to 39, and Houston Oil & Mineral, up 1 1/2 to 33 1/2.

The 11 a.m. New York Stock Exchange broad-based index of some 1,500 listed stocks was down 0.10 to 56.20, while the Amex price-change index fell .01 to 23.23.

Dying Woman Hosting Party

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Writer
REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Ruth Hoffman is hosting an open house Saturday for her family and friends. And she has ordered doctors to keep her alive until the party's over.

Ruth is dying of bone cancer. "After that I don't care. I'll be ready," she said Thursday in an interview from her Sequoia Hospital bed.

"We all have to die. I'm a Christian. I have hopes of seeing my mother and others up there."

"I've had a lot of tribulations, but I don't let them get me down," she said.

"The closer one lives to God the happier they're going to be some day. That's my attitude."

Ruth's open house and party will be in Room 119 and the corridor outside in Sequoia Hospital where she learned the week before Mother's Day her illness would be terminal.

Sensing that her time was near, Mrs. Hoffman, 57, first started planning a family reunion. But, she said many of her friends who have visited during her 14 weeks in the hospital also wanted to be invited.

"So I decided. Make it an open house for all who want to come," she explained.

Cancer's attack on Mrs. Hoffman started in 1971. She had a breast removed but that did not halt the spread of cancer.

"I went into the hospital in May, the week before Mother's Day," she said. "I asked the doctors to tell me the truth. They did. They told me I had bone cancer, from my head to my knees."

"They told me there was no chance to recover."

"I was prepared."

Mrs. Hoffman worked for 20 years as a quality assurance tester at Varian Associates, a Palo Alto electronics manufacturer.

"It's nice to know that my medical coverage is paying all the bills," she said. "But it all expires by the end of this year."

"I want to die before that time comes. I don't want to be a burden for any of my family."

The largest of the three cracks is approximately one-eighth inch wide and runs horizontally from the face of the dam at a point below ground level to a drainage gallery within the dam, the spokesman said.

Fontana Dam is in the mountains of western North Carolina.

The spokesman conceded, however, that "they pose a serious problem."

The spokesman said Thursday tension cables across the cracks will be installed as a temporary measure until engineers find a more permanent way to keep the cracks from expanding.

Tractor submitted the low bid among three companies.

An $808.03 bid for the purchase of a 20-ton floor jack for the Garage Division of the Public Works Department was awarded to Barnes Motor & Parts Co. Barnes and Evans Auto Parts submitted identical bids and a coin flip determined the awarding of the contract to Barnes. Cozart's Auto Supply offered a bid of $825.

Funds for both the lawn tractor and floor jack are included in the department's 1973-74 budget.

Council members approved a request by W. J. Simmons for rezoning of a tract located outside the corporate limits on the south side of Mumford Road from RA-20 to Highway Commercial. The tract, which contains some 1.10 acres, will be used by Simmons to house a metal specialties shop.

A request by the School of Allied Health and Social Professions at East Carolina for a permit to place a mobile home adjacent to the Pitt County Health Department and Mental Health Center was tabled until the next meeting of the Council.

In the application, ECU stipulated that the mobile unit would serve as a center for interdisciplinary human resources team service delivery operations.

With no one present from the university to answer questions council members had concerning the project, Councilman John Taylor offered a motion to table the matter until the September session. Three members voted in favor of the motion and three against and Mayor Eugene West's vote to table decided the matter.

A request for an application for mobile home permits by the Rev. B. B. Felder for placement of two mobile homes at the corner of Legion and New Dudley Streets was denied. The mobile homes would be used for residential rental purposes, it was noted.

Councilman Percy Cox said that the only places mobile homes had been allowed previously for rental purposes were in areas zoned for such usage and any deviation now would not be consistent with past zoning actions.

A request by William L. Johnson for a permit to place a mobile home on S. Memorial Drive, across from the Wachovia Computer Center, for use as a used automobile sales office was approved. Currently, the property is zoned for Highway Commercial usage.

An application by Mrs. Queenie Evans for the renewal of a permit for a mobile home located at 1806 S. Greene Street was approved. The property is zoned for R-6 usage and contains approximately 5,500 square feet.

The Council set four rezoning requests for public hearing at the Sept. 6 meeting. The requests involved rezoning of Sections I, II, and III of the Tuckahoe Subdivision, a portion of the Ione-Hooker-Marshburn property on Hooker Road, the W. D. Tyson property located in the northeast intersection of the Norfolk Southern Railroad and 14th Street Extended, and property owned by Pat Thomas located east of Greenville Golf and Country Club and adjacent to Country Club Apartments.

Council members passed a resolution approving the 1973-1974 Positive Action Program for the Greenville Growth Center. The program committee approved the Positive Action Program on July 25 and recommended approval by the City Council and the Pitt County Board of Commissioners.

Rumors Handicap Hunt For Radio Plea Source

CHILLI, N.M. (AP)—Searchers sorted out conflicting reports today as they tried to locate the origin of radio distress reports from a boy who said his name was Larry, that his father had collapsed and he needed help.

Authorities said one of the puzzles in the case was the absence of any report that a boy named Larry and his father were missing.

"We're really in no better shape than we were when we heard the boy's predicament Tuesday evening," said State Police Sgt. A.B. Whitehouse.

"It's my understanding that a skip of a radio signal is possible several hundred miles. It could be the signal is bouncing off our mountains," Whitehouse said.

One of the radio operators listening for the boy's voice, Linda King, who uses the broadcast code name of "Blue Eyes," said that about 12:40 a.m. today the boy was asked to yell if he could hear the broadcast.

She said monitors picked up a boy's voice, saying, "Help." Aircraft, radio signal-tracking equipment and searchers were out again in an effort to find the mysterious voice.

Authorities said the conflicting reports have come from persons who said they have heard the boy's signal in various places in New Mexico.

"We're having a heck of a time tracking down all these rumors coming from California to Ontario, Canada — all of which have been proven false," Whitehouse said.

Hire Consultant To Advise
RALEIGH (AP)—Brad Hays, Washington-based political consultant, has been hired to advise the statewide group pushing passage of the Nov. 6 referendum on liquor by the drink.

He will work with John Ryan of Charlotte, retired Southern Bell Telephone executive who is chairman of the "Citizens for Choice and Control."

Hays helped in the winning campaigns last fall of two North Carolina Republicans, Gov. Jim Holshouser and Nine District Congressman Jim Martin of Charlotte.

Bennett Points To Unity Needs
MOCKSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Thomas Bennett, Morehead City lawyer endorsed by Gov. Holshouser for Republican state chairman over the present chairman, Frank Rouse of Kinston, says the party needs new leadership that can work with the governor.

Bennett said at the 93rd annual Masonic Picnic Thursday that he believes he will win the chairmanship easily at the Republican convention on Nov. 3.

The governor also was present. He said he believed Bennett "can do more to unite the Republican party in this state than any man I know."

Find Fontana Dam Has Three Cracks

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Three cracks have been found in Fontana Dam, the highest in the Tennessee Valley Authority system, but a TVA spokesman says they pose no danger to western North Carolina communities below the dam.

The spokesman conceded, however, that "they pose a serious problem."

The spokesman said Thursday tension cables across the cracks will be installed as a temporary measure until engineers find a more permanent way to keep the cracks from expanding.

The cracks may have been caused by the sun's heat on the face of the dam, completed in 1944, the spokesman said. He added that water is now being sprayed on the dam to keep it cool.

The cracks are located in a curved section of the structure between the main dam and the spillway at the east shoulder of the structure, the spokesman said.

Bequeathed $1 Million
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Executors of the estate of Robert Hunter McIntosh, who wanted to show "appreciation for my country," were to fulfill his last will and testament today by turning over more than $1 million to the U.S. government.

U.S. Treasurer Romana Banelos was to fly here to accept the $1,071,400.97 inheritance from McIntosh, who lived most of his life off stock investments.

McIntosh, of nearby Winter Park, Fla., died April 16, 1972, leaving a will stipulating that "after provisions for the payment of any income and estate taxes has been made, the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, I bequeath to the United States of America and request my executor to accompany delivery of the bequest by an appropriate letter stating forth my appreciation for my country."

Orlando broker Hugh Robinson said McIntosh owned about 150 stocks, mostly in oil companies and utilities, in blocks of 10 to 20 shares.

Robinson said McIntosh was a conservative market player who "insisted on quality stocks." And friends said McIntosh, a widower and childless, also led a conservative life.

Treasury Department officials said the McIntosh estate represented the largest amount of money willed to the government in recent years. Total bequests to the government last year totaled $384,000.

Eligible To Ask Hearing

RALEIGH (AP)—A spokesman for the North Carolina Department of Mental Health says approximately 4,500 out of 5,400 patients in the state's four mental hospitals will be eligible for periodic sanity hearings under a new state law which will take effect September first.

Legislation passed by the 1973 General Assembly would make hearings for patients committed indefinitely to state mental institutions mandatory every 120 days. Under the law, patients will have the right to have their cases heard by a Superior Court judge. Patients found to be not legally insane would be discharged. Under present law, officials at the individual institutions determine when patients will be released.

The director of the Division of Mental Health Services, Dr. Naklen Zarzar, said the number of patients eligible for hearings under the new law will vary.

Swift Fresh Meats Co., a division of Swift, said the three new closings, coupled with short work days because of the small amount of cattle available for slaughter at its seven remaining beef plants, will cut production to a third of normal.

A spokesman said the beef units will remain closed until the cattle supply improves, and, "We have no way of knowing how long this will be."

As a result of production curtailments in the last two weeks, Swift has laid off about 900 employees.

Obituary

Perkins
BETHEL—Mr. Church Perkins Jr. died Wednesday morning at Pitt Memorial Hospital after a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at Riddick's Chapel Baptist Church with the Rev. John Chance officiating. Burial will follow in the Bethel Cemetery.

The son of the late Church and Dolly Perkins, he was born in Pitt County and spent most of his life here. Mr. Perkins was a member of Riddick's Chapel Baptist Church and was a veteran of WWII.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Thelma Perkins of Washington, D.C.; four sisters: Mrs. Lonnie L. Lynch of Robersonville, Mrs. Thelma Brown of Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Isalyn Austin of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Alberta Lane of Fort Myers, Fla.; and two brothers, Clifton Perkins of Robersonville and John R. Perkins of Norfolk, Va.

The body will remain at Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home until taken to the church one hour prior to the service. Family visitation will be 7-8 Saturday.

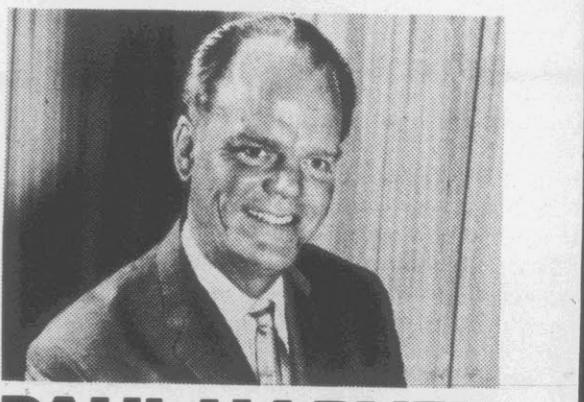

N.C. Under The Skylab Camera
RALEIGH (AP)—A North Carolina State University scientist, Dr. Charles Welby, says preliminary reports indicate a Skylab photo run over northeast North Carolina Thursday was a success despite a partial cloud cover.

Scientists were hopeful the photos would provide accurate new data for use in urban and regional planning and evaluation of natural resources.

The Skylab astronauts photographed areas of the Chowan and Alligator Rivers, Albemarle Sound and the counties of Hertford, Chowan, Perquimans, Bertie, Washington Tyrrell and Dare.

Strikeouts Key Baltimore Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Today's baseball quiz: When is a strikeout not a strikeout? One time a strikeout might as well not be a strikeout is when it is a wild pitch. Another time a strikeout is not a strikeout is when it is a foul tip that is not caught. Minnesota Manager Frank Quilici remembers seeing the wild pitch strikeout and is convinced he saw the foul tip one as well in Baltimore's 2-1 victory over Minnesota Friday night.

The Orioles moved back into first place in the American League's East Division with the slim victory that turned on the two strikeouts...one that was and one that wasn't. Tommy Davis was involved in all the Oriole scoring. He homered in the first inning and struck out on Bert Blyleven's wild pitch in the third with Merv Rettenmund, who had tripled, trotting home with the eventual winning run on the play.

Mike Cuellar carried the 2-0 lead into the ninth but was nicked for a run on George Mitterwald's two-out single. Then came the controversial foul tip strikeout.

Pinch hitter Bobby Darwin was at bat and swung at a 1-2 pitch. Plate Umpire Larry Barnett signalled a foul tip in the dirt and before he could say Earl Weaver, there was the Baltimore manager and his catcher, Ellie Hendricks, anxious to discuss the call.

"Barnett thought it hit the dirt," said Weaver. "But there's no way he can see through Elrod. All I said to him was, 'Please ask Frantz.'" Barnett looked to first base ump Art Frantz for help and the news wasn't good for the Twins. Frantz ruled Darwin had missed the ball for strike three and the ball game. Elsewhere in the American League Thursday, Chicago edged Detroit 5-4, Milwaukee nipped California 6-5 and Kansas City shaded Boston 3-2. The other teams were not scheduled.

White Sox 5, Tigers 4
Chicago squeezed by Detroit 5-4 on rookie Bill Sharp's ninth inning home run.

The loss dropped the Tigers one-half game back of Baltimore in the tight AL East race. The Tigers had tied the score in the bottom of the eighth on singles by Willie Horton and Bill Freehan and an infield out.

Royals 3, Red Sox 2
Hal McRae drove in two runs with a triple and a homer to help Kansas City defeat Boston 3-2. McRae also made a big defensive play, robbing Orland Cepeda of an extra base hit with a catch in right field in the sixth inning.

The Royals are still first in the AL West, one game ahead of Oakland.

Brewers 6, Angels 5
Dave May's two-run homer in the ninth inning gave Milwaukee its 6-5 comeback victory over California. He connected against his namesake, pitcher Rudy May of the Angels.

Johnny Briggs had a two-run homer for the Brewers and Mike Epstein poked a three-run homer for California.

In the National League Thursday, it was Montreal 5, San Francisco 3; Los Angeles 1, New York 0; Atlanta 8, St. Louis 6; and San Diego 10, Philadelphia 9 in 11 innings. The other teams were not scheduled.

HAHN DIVES FOR LOPES' TRIPLE — New York Mets' centerfielder on Hahn dives to try to stop a triple off the bat of Los Angeles Dodgers' Dave Lopes in the eighth inning of their game at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles Thursday night. Manny Mota drove in Lopes with a single and the run stood as the Dodgers took a 1-0 victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Improbable Pair Tie For 1st Round Lead

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Geiberger forgot his peanut butter and still matched the competitive course record with a four-under-par 67. Don Iverson, armed with a tip from Lee Trevino, flashed the same 67.

The improbable pair's performances Thursday left all of pro golf's glamor names far behind heading into today's second round of the 55th PGA National Championship at the Canterbury Golf Club.

However, Geiberger, Iverson, and Bob Dickson and Mike Hill, deadlocked for third at 69, all played their rounds early on the hot, steamy day before winds swirled over the 6,852-yard layout.

The skinny Geiberger still munches peanut butter for energy out on the course but confessed, "I forgot the peanut butter and crackers today. Instead, I took a bite of a friend's hot dog on the 16th tee." "You watch," said U.S. Open champion John Miller, who was in a logjam at 72. "Those guys who shot the good rounds this morning will have trouble tomorrow, if the conditions stay the same."

The forecast, though, called for 60 per cent chance of rain and thunderstorms.

Tom Weiskopf occupied the best spot among the big names. The British Open champion fired a 70, sharing sixth place with former PGA king Ray Floyd, Don Bies, Tony Jacklin, Gibby Gilbert and Bob Brue.

In a large group at par 71 was No. 1 money winner Bruce Crampton.

Among those at 72 was Jack Nicklaus.

Defending champion Gary Player and Masters winner Tommy Aaron struggled in with 73s. Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino took 76s. Unless Nicklaus, Palmer, Trevino and Player turn things around today, the superstars are on the verge of drawing a blank for the 1973 Big Four. This is the last of the major titles.

Iverson, a third-year pro with less than $19,000 in earnings this year, had some impromptu tips Wednesday from Trevino.

"Lee saw I wasn't taking the club back in the right plane. It helped me today," said Iverson, a stocky 27-year-old from LaCrosse, Wis., playing in his first major tournament.

The field will be cut to the low 70 and ties after today's round for the nationally-televised (ABC) rounds Saturday and Sunday. The winner is guaranteed a minimum of $40,000 in the $200,000 event.

Here are the top scores:

Al Geiberger	35-32-67
Don Iverson	35-32-67
Mason Rudolph	38-31-69
Mike Hill	33-36-69
Bob Dickson	35-34-69
Tony Jacklin	36-34-70
Gibby Gilbert	35-35-70
Tom Weiskopf	34-36-70
Don Bies	35-35-70
Ray Floyd	36-34-70
Bob Brue	35-35-70

Kush Tops List Of Grid Coaches

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Frank Kush, a former All-American guard at Michigan State and current head coach at Arizona State, has the highest winning percentage among the veteran major college football coaches in the nation.

He's led the Sun Devils to 121 victories against 33 losses and one tie in 15 seasons for a winning percentage of .783.

Elmo "Scoop" Hudgins, public relations director for the Southeastern Conference, released his annual list of the "Top Twenty Coaches" Thursday night.

Kush's 1972 team won a fourth straight Western Athletic Conference championship on a 10-2 record.

Bo Schembechler of Michigan took second place, one percentage point in front of Darrell Royal of Texas.

Schembechler has amassed a 78-23-3 record for a .764 percentage, and Royal's average is .763 on a 153-46-4 record.

Hudgins selected the 20 men sills coaching who have won the most college games, have a winning record and have had at least five years of major competition. The cutoff for 1973 was at least 68 victories.

Nebraska's Bob Devaney, who retired after last season, was No. 1 for seven straight years, compiling a 136-30-7 mark for an .806 percentage.

Behind Royal is Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant, whose percentage is .748. Bryant has 220 victories during 28 years at Maryland, Kentucky, Texas A & M and Alabama—38 more than his nearest rival on the list.

In fifth place is Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who in 27 years of coaching has a 182-60-7 record and a .744 average.

Others in the top 10 are Charlie McClendon of Louisiana State, John McKay of Southern California, Frank Broyles of Arkansas, Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame and Ralph "Shug" Jordan of Auburn.

Rough Road Ahead For New England Patriots

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Chuck Fairbanks, the new head coach of the hapless New England Patriots, may not believe everything he reads. But there are some things he can't miss as he prepares for his National Football League debut.

A bookmaker in Las Vegas lists the Patriots as 100-1 to make the Super Bowl, and even some loyal fans think the odds should be more like 100,000-1. One computer fed various data figures New England won't win a game, at least during the regular season, and some fans agree with the electronic brain.

Fairbanks, who left college coaching security at Oklahoma to take over as a general manager and coach with a lucrative contract in the pro ranks, refuses to criticize the Patriots individually, but knows what he is up against.

"We don't have the talent to be a contender, so we just have to try to get the best from what we have in every game," Fairbanks says. Fairbanks, the sixth coach in Patriots' history, is inheriting a team which had a 3-11 record and scored just 192 points while allowing a whopping 446 last fall. With figures like that, there can hardly be anything but improvement.

"We need a lot of improvement to be a good team," Fairbanks said after the Patriots dropped an exhibition opener to San Francisco 20-7 and then rallied for a 17-17 tie with Oakland. "We're trying."

Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett is the key to the New England offense. Clobbered while sacked often last year, he is healthy again after knee surgery the past winter. However, he has not shown his old rookie form so far in training.

To give Plunkett some help, Fairbanks picked blocking guard John Hannah of Alabama, running back Sam Cunningham of Southern California and wide receiver Darryl Stingley of Purdue in the first round of the draft.

The Patriots acquired three choices via trades, including one which sent Carl Garrett to the Chicago Bears. Garrett was an outstanding running back and receiver before falling into disfavor with New England last season.

Hannah looked good in his debut against Oakland, but Cunningham and Stingley have been sidelined with knee injuries.

Stingley is an outstanding prospect, but faces a fight for a regular job. Wide receivers back are Reggie Rucker, Tommy Reynolds and Randy Vataha.

Fairbanks' biggest problem may be on defense. He acquired middle linebacker Edgar Chandler from Buffalo, but has not been able to swing any other major deals. The defensive line is going to have to put more pressure on opposing quarterbacks and defensive backs are going to have to do better than last year.

At the moment, Fairbanks does not plan to install the Wishbone offense, which he made popular at Oklahoma. However, if things go bad during the season, he just may try it on occasions. That would mean Brian Dowling, the backup quarterback, at the controls because of Plunkett's vulnerable knees.

Pole Position Means Little

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Bobby Allison has the front row pole position for Sunday's $150,000 Talladega 500-mile stock car race. But what are his chances of winning?

The record book shows that in the last 103 major races of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, dating back through the 1967 season, only 24 pole position starters have wound up in victory lane.

That's only 22.9 per cent. On one other occasion, the fastest qualifier—not the first-day pole position winner—went on to take the first place check.

"Forget those odds," Allison said Thursday after taking his Chevrolet around the 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway at 187.064 miles per hour in leading 20 qualifiers into Sunday's 50-car starting lineup.

"I never worry about the record book," said the 36-year-old resident of nearby Hueytown. "I look at it this way, you have to start somewhere, and first is as good as sixth or seventh."

In addition to earning $1,000 for his effort, Allison was pleased at beating hotshots David Pearson and Richard Petty out of the most coveted front row spot.

Pearson, driving the candy apple-red Mercury he has taken to victory lane on eight big speedways this year, qualified No. 2 at 185.862 m.p.h. Petty was third in a Dodge at 185.072. "Anytime you beat those two in anything, you've done a good day's work," Allison said.

Pearson, having the best season in a lengthy career, is the top money winner with $159,715. Petty, stock car racing's only $1 million career winner—Pearson could reach that plateau with a victory Sunday—is No. 2 in money winnings with $107,320.

Allison was a big winner last year, scoring 10 times in a Chevrolet and earning nearly $300,000 in prize money.

He has had his problems this year, with only one victory and $51,535 in winnings.

Allison credited a cool, cloudy day for his top qualifying effort at a speed almost six miles per hour off the 193.435 m.p.h. Buddy Baker needed to win the pole for a 500-mile race on the same track in May.

The lap speeds were down because of new restrictions placed on engine carburetion.

The other second row spot went to Bobby Isaac in a Ford, while Donnie Allison and Benny Parsons, the current championship points leader, won the third row berths in Chevrolets.

Another 20 starters were to be added to the lineup today, with the final 10 to be determined Saturday.

Sunday's winner will be paid about $19,500. Pearson needs just over $13,000 to reach the $1 million career mark.

Marshall Guns Down Giants, 6-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Whenever the Montreal Expos are in trouble, Manager Gene Mauch dials "M" for Marshall.

"He's the most complete relief pitcher I've ever seen," said Mauch after his bullpen ace saved a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Thursday.

Consider Marshall's record and you can believe Mauch's superlatives. The right-hander has won 10 games, saved 23 and fashioned a 2.47 earned run average while working in relief.

Marshall did what he is primarily paid to do Thursday—choke off late-inning threats. He came into the game with one out and Giants on first and third and preserved the victory for Mike Torrez.

Two-run homers by Jim Lyttle and Ken Singleton gave Montreal an early 4-0 lead and then the Expos had to rely on Marshall in the late going to pull out their fifth victory in six games.

The victory moved the hot Expos into second place in the National League East, four percentage points ahead of the idle Pittsburgh Pirates and 4½ games behind St. Louis.

In the National League's other games, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the New York Mets 1-0; the Atlanta Braves beat the St. Louis Cardinals 8-6 and the San Diego Padres stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 10-9 in 11 innings.

Dodgers 1, Mets 0
Manny Mota's eighth-inning single snapped a 24-inning scoreless streak for Los Angeles and Claude Osteen pitched the Dodgers to a 1-0 triumph over New York. Osteen, who allowed four hits, was locked in a scoreless duel with Jerry Koosman until the Dodger rally in the eighth.

Braves 8, Cardinals 6
Dave Johnson capped a five-run rally in the eighth with a three-run homer, helping Atlanta beat St. Louis 8-6. The Braves' big eighth gave them a 7-2 lead and helped them withstand a four-run uprising by St. Louis in the ninth. The loss was the fourth straight for St. Louis.

Padres 10, Phillies 9, 11 innings
Dave Roberts, who earlier drove in three runs, doubled home John Grubb from first base in the 11th inning to give San Diego a 10-9 success over Philadelphia.

Thomas, Jurgensen Returning To Action Tonight

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If running back Duane Thomas could be compared to an expensive automobile that's been in storage a year, to what could quarterback Sonny Jurgensen be compared?

Thomas, who sat out the 1972 National Football League season before being traded to Washington last month, will start his first game in more than a year when the Redskins meet the Denver Broncos tonight in an exhibition game.

Charlie Waller, Redskins offensive backfield coach, says Thomas has made "amazing progress."

"Every day is better than the day before," said Waller. "He's practicing well, he's got a good football mind, it's just a matter of getting enough repetition."

"You just don't put a new Cadillac in the garage for a year and a half, then crank it right up and expect it to run like it did before."

But there was no comment on what could be expected from a so-called antique collector's item—the 38-year-old Jurgensen who will make his first game appearance since last Oct. 29 when he severed his Achilles tendon while playing against the New York Giants.

Jurgensen, who is scheduled to play the second half, is apprehensive, but emphasized "that doesn't mean I don't want to play."

"I would have liked to have had more time, but this is a necessity," he said.

Jurgensen was slated to split quarterbacking duties with Bill Kilmer after Sam Wyche, the No. 3 man, suffered a fractured cheekbone in a 17-14 loss to Detroit last Friday.

In NFL action Saturday, Baltimore will be at Atlanta, Buffalo at Green Bay, Philadelphia at Cincinnati, Cleveland at Los Angeles, Chicago at Houston, New Orleans at Miami, the New York Jets take on San Francisco at Tampa, Fla., Dallas is at Oakland, Minnesota hosts Pittsburgh and St. Louis is at San Diego.

The New York Giants are at New England Sunday, and Detroit plays at Kansas City Monday night.

The Colts announced Thursday that linebacker Ray May would miss Saturday's game and cornerback Bruce Laird is a doubtful starter. Both have sprained knees. Bert Jones, the Colts' top draft pick from Louisiana State, is expected to play about one half of the game at quarterback.

Pat Sullivan was tapped to start at quarterback for Atlanta against the Colts. The 1971 Heisman Trophy winner currently is battling veteran Dick Shiner for the starting job.

The Steelers hope to continue last week's rushing success against Minnesota. Against Baltimore, they gained 296 yards rushing with Preston Pearson carrying 10 times for 126 yards. Franco Harris, who provided the bulk of Pittsburgh's ground game last year, gained only 31 yards against the Colts.

Giants' quarterback Randy Johnson completed his last 15 passes last weekend against San Diego and will get a chance to continue the streak Sunday when he is expected to start against New England. The regular season record is 15, held by Len Dawson of Kansas City and Joe Namath of the Jets.

Ranchers Say Overhead Costs Take Cattle Profits

By JAMES WILSON
Associated Press Writer
MISSION, S.D. (AP) — Howard Lamoureaux is one of the high-rollers of the Great Plains. He has survived blizzards and droughts for half a century while building a 17,000-acre cattle ranch. But he's not sure how he survived the high cost of raising beef, and says ranchers have much more to lose than consumers from today's soaring market prices.

"We can lose everything we have," he says. Lamoureaux and his grandson, Bill Potter, operate the 27-square mile spread between Mission, S.D., and Valentine, Neb., in the heart of the cattle country of the Upper Midwest. They raise about 500 head of their own cattle and graze another 2,500 head for cowmen who have the money to buy calves but don't have the grass to fatten them.

The ranchers buy 400-pound calves in the fall, feed them to about 800 pounds during the next 12 months and then sell to feeders who fatten the animals for commercial slaughter.

Last fall Lamoureaux and Potter sold 350 head of yearlings for $42.50 a hundredweight. Last week they rejected an offer of $50 a hundredweight.

"I asked $55 and was turned down," said Potter, 25. "Two days later I heard feeders were paying $65 a hundred for yearlings. The market is so wild nobody knows what they're worth."

Potter said his yearlings will go to sales barns after the Sept. 12 beef freeze ends. "We don't know what they're worth but an auction should get us a fair price," he said.

Lamoureaux, in his 70s, and Potter, an Air Force veteran who has worked with his grandfather most of his life, said the prices sound good but there's another side of the coin. They said overhead costs have tightened the profit margin to the point where only the high prices at the market are saving the business.

"Last year we paid $220 a ton for the high-protein feed that supplements the wild hay we feed the cattle," Potter said. "Today it costs $350 a ton."

"That was a $25,000 tractor you saw being hauled away for repairs," the rancher said. "We've got two more rigs for cutting hay that cost $15,000 apiece. You can't buy a tractor for less than $10,000."

Potter said the next problem may be the accelerating cost of purchasing calves for the next crop. "Last year we paid $52.50 a hundredweight for the calves. The price could go out of sight this year."

His grandfather added: "The only bigger gambler than a cattle rancher is a farmer."

"Sometimes I really get angry," Potter said. "I wished the meat boycotters could come out here some week in the winter when we're working 10 or 11 hours a day in below-zero weather feeding the animals. We work Sunday mornings, and last winter I worked all day on Christmas and New Year's."

"Starting Monday we'll have to work 14 straight days getting the hay up. Then we'll have to sort cattle and get them ready to sell. After we buy our new crop of calves, we vaccinate them, dehorn and brand them and check for illnesses."

Ten miles to the northwest toward the community of Mission, there is another Lamoureaux operation, smaller in land but larger in the number of livestock.

Howard's brother, Claude, owned and operated the ranch for more than a quarter of a century until his death two months ago. Bob Lamoureaux, Claude's son, is looking after it today while continuing his job for the Caterpillar Tractor Co. in Peoria, Ill.

The ranch covers 13,000 acres and is considered by cattlemen in South Dakota and northern Nebraska as perhaps the best balanced operation in the region. Its lush pastures provide feed for more than a 1,000 cattle and calves.

"Ranchers are taking a bum rap for the high cost of beef," said Bob Lamoureaux, a middle-aged civil engineer. "In 1948, my dad sold 400 head of yearlings for 30 cents a pound. Today they may be worth 60 cents a pound. But the cost of machinery, feed supplements and labor has increased sevenfold."

Howard and Bob Lamoureaux

own about 50 square miles of South Dakota prairie worth more than $2 million. They acknowledge that between them they have about $200,000 worth of machinery. The auction price of their combined cow and cattle herds would bring them more than $1 million.

Howard Lamoureaux says a rancher is fortunate to make 2 per cent on his investment.

"But," said Bob Lamoureaux, "we could make more us: the continuing appreciation of the value of the land and the government bonds instead. But fact that we are doing something we enjoy."

Long after this summer's over, you'll be glad you bought an Olds 88.

How many small cars give you features like positive valve rotators to help keep maintenance costs down?

Next winter, next year, and years from now, you'll find new reasons why the Delta 88 is such a great value. Not only is it Oldsmobile's lowest-priced full-sized car, but Oldsmobile has built in a lot of features designed to help reduce wear.

Positive valve rotators and ball joint wear indicators are just two of those features. You'd have to be an automotive engineer to understand them all, but the 88's reputation as a car that's really put together speaks for itself. That reputation is just one reason why more than half the people who traded for Delta 88s this year switched from other kinds of cars. The August values at your Olds dealer's Year-End Wrap-Up Sale make this a smart time for you to do the same thing.

Positive valve rotators are designed to provide smooth engine performance by distributing valve wear more evenly.

Ball joint wear indicators. Ball joints are an important part of your car. These wear indicators show if they need to be replaced.

The hydraulic front bumper system retracts on minor impact, while the exclusive Swingaway grille moves out of the way.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to make sure you don't yield to a temptation to offend others, otherwise unpleasantness could follow. Try to effectively organize your activities so there is more harmony in the days ahead. Spare the feelings of others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It is better to postpone a visit with a bigwig who is in poor humor now since the data you want is not available. Do nothing that could spoil your credit. Don't break any regulations.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Not a good day to go after the data you need, but tomorrow you could get far better results. Listen carefully to what a newcomer has to say, but hold in abeyance. Visit interesting people.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to important obligations instead of casting them aside or you could get into trouble. Keep quiet, calm when a close tie rants and raves. Avoid a troublemaker in the evening.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can come to a fine understanding with a partner today, but don't spoil it by being overconfident. You feel the public is not treating you right, but you may be too sensitive.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget a new outlet that is not for you and get busy at the duties that are really important. Don't be on the defensive with higher-ups. Take time to improve physical health. Be logical.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You want to spend a lot of money for some new kind of pleasure, but this would be foolish and not worth it, so stick to the economical. Put humor into the life of mate. Be thoughtful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You should take steps and make improvements at home instead of waiting for others to do so. Get rid of those tensions there that are building up. Evening is fine for entertaining friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use extreme care in motion, otherwise you could meet with some unfortunate accident. Try not to argue with others. Be more courteous. Avoid one who is a terrible gossip. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although monetary matters are hardly satisfactory, this is not the right day to do something about them, as you could get into a worst muddle. Plan how to economize more. Be alert.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to be very tactful in the handling of business and personal matters today. Take time to improve your appearance. Be wary of one who has an eye on your assets. Take it easy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to become more successful and prosperous in the future. Being of assistance to a good friend who is in need is wise and right. Don't be tempted to go off on some tangent.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be certain you keep personal promises you have made to others. A good day for shopping and getting repairs made in your home. Attend the social tonight and make interesting contacts.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who likes to keep busy on practical affairs. Teach the uselessness of quarrels, since the temper here is truly phenomenal. With proper training, there could be a very fine citizen here who would prove invaluable in the field of government and the law enforcement area in particular.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The 'Worry Clinic' Pastors Need Extra 'Handle'

Gregory thinks this clergyman is guilty of undue conceit by demanding to be called "Doctor." But educated pastors have a greater need for that "doctor handle" in front of their names than do school teachers! Seminars have cheated them of such degrees too long!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-582: Gregory D., aged 29, is a high school teacher. "Dr. Crane," he began, "the clergyman of our church attended college but didn't go to seminary.

"However, he has recently been granted an honorary D.D. degree.

"And now it seems to have gone to his head, for he insists that everybody address him as 'Doctor.'

"Yet I understand that former President Herbert Hoover had nearly 90 honorary doctoral degrees, but I never heard that he ever insisted on being called 'Doctor.'

"Why should a clergyman be so desirous of thus being addressed by that 'Doctor' handle in front of his name?"

Why Use Doctor?

For many years I have agitated that all seminary students be granted an earned doctor's degree if they graduate from a college and win their diploma from 3 more years at the seminary.

But many diploma mills have arisen in the U.S.A. where ambitious folks could "buy" a variety of fancy-sounding doctoral degree for any sum from $250 up to $1,000.

Teachers don't need the "doctor" handle as much as do clergymen.

For regulations usually stipulate that teachers must have at least 4 years of college and often a Master's Degree or more.

So the public automatically realizes that a teacher is usually a well educated person.

Alas, that isn't the rule in the field of religion.

For many splinter sects have clergymen who may not even possess a high school diploma.

Yet they are referred to as "Reverend" and thus enjoy the same presumed educational status as a clergyman who has

Murders Create Buyer's Market

By NAT CARNES
Associated Press Writer.

CHRISTIANSTED, Virgin Islands (AP) — There's a buyer's market for choice property in the Virgin Islands, and the Fountain Valley murders is the main reason.

"Previously overpriced land is reasonable now. It's time for the smart investor to buy," says Tony Ayer, chairman of the Virgin Islands Real Estate Board.

One broker said people are afraid to invest because of the killing last September of eight people at the Rockefeller-owned Fountain Valley Golf Club. A jury is now deliberating the fate of five young men who have been on trial for the past month for the slayings.

Three other men go on trial Aug. 13 for the murder of two men in a restaurant last fall. And within the past three weeks a prominent St. Croix businessman was shot fatally at his home, a woman was strangled in a real estate office near Christiansted and two men attacked a young woman in a downtown Christiansted office.

One real estate broker said a number of former residents "have just packed up and left." The head of a big moving company says he is having trouble keeping pace with the departing households.

Another broker said one home that formerly sold for $250,000 is down to $125,000, and some property that sold for $10,000 an acre is now $5,000.

"Bad news travels fast. The events of Fountain Valley are all over the world," said John Scott, the commissioner of commerce and tourism.

Scott says tourists, particularly from the East Coast, are the economic backbone of the islands of St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John, spending more than $100 million a year. But he says air arrivals were off 10.6 per cent in St. Croix and 7 per cent in St. Thomas in the 12 months that ended June 30. St. John has no airport.

"We will come back," Scott said, "but it will take money and effort to do it. We must continue to advertise, not stop."

He complained that the territorial legislature had just cut his department's budget from $2.5 million to $2.1 million. He said he ought to have $3.9 million to $4.5 million and cited that Jamaica spent $7.5 million last year promoting its tourist industry.

remarks.

But as far as I'm personally concerned, I'd just as soon have the Chairman say:

"Here's Doctor Crane. If your read his column in our daily newspaper, you already know him well. If not, you'll soon become acquainted."

Once when I was at our Chicago Executives Club, the Chairman spent 10 minutes reading the many awards Admiral Byrd had received, but the Admiral then grew irate because one minor award from a two-bit nation had been omitted!

Actually, a Chairman should be able to build up a speaker's pedigree in 2 minutes and then let him prove his metal by what he says and does at the podium! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

the only one who can save them is DEAD.

Swiss Investigate The Cupid Market

By HANNS NEUERBOURG
ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Commercial cupids seem to be in for some wing-clipping after a record boom in Switzerland.

Critics contend that money too often matters much more than matches for the proliferating matrimonial agencies.

And the government has promised to look into what a woman legislator claims has become an industry that leaves many clients feeling "deceived and cheated."

The matchmakers' market chances are bright although some Swiss cantons, or states, recently relaxed enforcement of local laws forbidding concubinage, the living together of couples not legally married.

Statistics show that more Swiss went wedlock than ever before, with the number of married people up from 570 per 1,000 to 670 in three decades. But there are still roughly 1.3 million unmarried adults in Switzerland — the targets of some 600 matrimonial agencies, most of which have come into existence only during the past ten years or so. In most cantons these agencies do not need an official license, meaning anyone with a mailbox and a notion of ad-writing can start collecting lonely hearts willing to pay handsome registration fees.

Helen Meyer, a Christian Democratic member of parliament, says she knows of a "great number" of would-be grooms and brides who paid between $165 and $330 down and "often" never heard again from the people who promised to help them to marital bliss.

In other cases, she says "services rendered are in no relation to the amount paid in advance." Disappointed clients rarely seek legal action, she explains, because they are afraid of publicity. Also, many agencies operate in near anonymity, using P.O. box addresses.

Some of the well-established matchmakers are concerned that such practices will hurt them in the long run.

Accidents Are Alcohol-Related

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More Americans were killed last year in alcohol-related traffic accidents than by homicide, says the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration of the Department of Transportation.

There were 56,000 Americans killed in traffic accidents. About 28,000 deaths were alcoholic related and 19,000 were caused by problem drinkers. There were 18,000 homicides.
