WASHINGTON (AP) — Iran has been accepted as a member of the four-nation International Commission on Control and Supervision of the Vietnam cease-fire, Iranian Ambassador Ardeshir Zahedi said today.

Zahedi made the announcement in a phone call to a newsman after administration sources gave the same information on an unattributable basis.

The last roadblock to Iran's membership, replacing Canada on the truce observing body, was removed when it was accepted by the Viet Cong, the sources said.

The official announcement is being held up, it was learned, in order to work out details on issuing a public statement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford Motor Co. was expected today to join Chrysler Corp., American Motors and other major

U.S. firms in seeking higher prices under the Nixon administration's new Phase 4 "anti-inflation" program.

With Phase 4 only a day old, Chrysler Corp. and American Motors already have announced they intend to raise prices on 1974 models. Ford Motor Co. announced it would formally advise the government of a proposed price increase today.

Costs, not for profit.

In other economic news Monday, the Federal Reserve Board announced it had approved increases in the federal discount rate to 7.5 per cent, an all-time high. The discount rate is the interest charged by district Federal Reserve banks on loans to banks that are members of the Federal Reserve system. The discount rate had been 7 per cent.

The price freeze will continue over the petroleum industry until Aug. 19 and special price ceilings will remain over beef until Sept. 12.

Ehrlichman At Home; Again Disclaims Role

SEATTLE (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman says he didn't know about the Watergate cover-up because President Nixon had ordered him to stay out of the whole affair.

"This was simply not my beat," Ehrlichman said at a news conference Monday. "I simply had no right to step in."

Ehrlichman gave up a lucrative Seattle zoning law practice to join the 1968 Nixon campaign and then rose to power in the White House until the Watergate scandal forced him to resign as chief domestic adviser to the President on April 30.

Now he is home. The Ehrlichmans are living in the house on the east side of Lake Washington they occupied before moving to Washington, D.C. The new owner is in Australia and is renting it to the Ehrlichmans.

Standing in his front yard just 30 feet from the water, a relaxed Ehrlichman entertained newsmen's questions for 45 minutes in what he said would be his last news conference or interview in the foreseeable future.

He told newsmen that, even in hindsight, he sees no way he should have spotted the developing scandal and headed it off. "He (Nixon) was continually taking me out of it," Ehrlichman said.

Ehrlichman, who spent five days before the Senate Watergate committee, called the Senate's hearings destructive to the country.

The scandal's effect on the Nixon presidency, he predicted, would be short range. The effect on political parties and politics in general would be more long term however, Ehrlichman said.

He said the 1976 presidential election would be marked by "a super caution" in connection with campaign contributions.

Roll Out 'Rescue' Rocket

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The rocket and spacecraft being readied as possible rescue vehicles for the Skylab 2 astronauts rolled to the launch pad today at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

However, space agency officials here emphasized the move is just a precaution. They feel confident Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma will be able to return safely to earth Sept. 25 in their Apollo ship.

A Saturn 1B rocket with a new Apollo perched on top began the 3½-mile trip from an assembly building to the launch pad at 7 a.m.

After a month of checkout, the rocket will be ready on Sept. 10 or later if a rescue mission is required. Flying the mission in a modified five-seat Apollo would be Skylab backup astronauts Vance D. Brand and Donald L. Lind.

If a rescue is not necessary, the rocket and spacecraft will be used to carry the Skylab 3 crew, probably in November, for a two-month stay in the space lab.

Around-the-clock preparations for a possible rescue were ordered two weeks ago when leaks developed in two jet steering engines in the Skylab 2 spaceship, now docked at one end of the orbiting space station.

Although analysis of the problems is not complete, space agency engineers feel other steering jets on the vehicle are in good shape and can bring the craft back to earth safely.

New Air Service Inaugurated Today

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Scheduled airline service began for Greenville and Pitt County this morning when a Wheeler Airlines twin-engine plane landed at the airport here on the inaugural flight.

Wheeler Airlines will provide scheduled service between Raleigh-Durham Airport and Pitt-Greenville each weekday. The line will link Beaufort-Morehead City Airport with Greenville and Raleigh-Durham.

Initially there will be three roundtrip flights daily from Raleigh to Greenville and two daily flights to Beaufort-Morehead City from Raleigh. One of the Beaufort-Morehead City flights will make intermediate stops in Greenville.

The inaugural flight required two aircraft—the prime Wheeler plane, a twin-engine eight-passenger Beechcraft Tradewind, and a Britten-Norman Islander, used as a reserve aircraft for the service—to transport the officials, community leaders and dignitaries taking part in the inaugural flight.

B. Alton Gardner, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners termed the flight "a momentous occasion... a red letter day" and said the scheduled air service is "essential to the economic growth of our county."

Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West said the "occasion has long been anticipated" and said the scheduled service will make Greenville and Pitt County more attractive to industry.

The air service, the mayor said "is a definite asset to our future growth and prosperity."

"It is a very happy day for North Carolina," William L. Bondurant, secretary of the North Carolina Department of Administration, told the crowd gathered to witness the first Wheeler Airlines landing here.

Bruce Lentz, secretary of the North Carolina Department of Transportation said many local state and federal officials have worked closely in an effort to establish the scheduled air service.

"The responsibility for success turns now to the people of this area," the Transportation Secretary said. "To make this work," he said, "use this service... prove that this is the right thing to do."

The airline is headed by Warren H. Wheeler, a veteran Piedmont Airlines pilot and Durham native.

Wheeler Airlines has received a $75,000 grant from the Coastal Plains Regional Commission to help subsidize the air service over a three-year period, or until the service becomes self-supporting.

The Coastal Plains Regional Commission, created by the U.S. Congress, is an outgrowth of a compact between the States of Georgia, North and South Carolina. Its purpose is to stimulate economic development in the southeastern Coastal Plain of the three states.

Similar commuter airline service was established in Georgia and in South Carolina with the assistance of the CPRC in 1971. After some 14 months of operation, that service became self-supporting.

Ticket agents for Wheeler Airlines in Greenville will be Quixote travel agency. One-way fare from Greenville to Raleigh is $17.

The Pitt-Greenville Airport Authority will lend ground support to Wheeler Airlines.

Fund Report

The City of Greenville has reported on its use of funds received under the State and Local Government Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972 (Revenue Sharing) during the period from January 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973.

The report, published in The Daily Reflector on August 5, 1973, revealed that the City had received a total of $806,781 in Shared Revenue Funds since the beginning of the Shared Revenue Program.

Interest earned on the investment of funds totaled $7,500, making a grand total of $814,281 available in the City's Revenue Sharing Trust Fund.

Of that amount, the City reported appropriations and actual expenditures totaling $359,386, leaving an unexpended balance as of June 30, 1973 of $454,895.

All reported City expenditures were for capital items-in five priority expenditure categories:

CBD Speed-Up Action By Redevelopment Body

By TOM FOREMAN

Greenville's Redevelopment Commission took a number of key steps in their meeting last night to speed the Central Business District project, and also to help along the work in the Newton area.

Rivers and Associates of Greenville was approved by the commissioners for engineering work in the Newtown section of Greenville. Rivers had done work on the Shore Drive project of a few years ago. City Planners and Architectural Associates of Greensboro received approval from the commission for its planning services. A limit of $8,000 was placed on the project.

Executive Director J.M. Laney reported that the proposals for the Engineering services came from Rivers CP & AA, and McDavid and Associates of Atlanta.

In other business, Real Estate officer Kirby Boyd reported that the commission is about to make offers on ten parcels of land, but is considering fair market prices before final offers are made.

Boyd also said that D.H. Griffin of Greensboro was low bidder on the demolishing of the Plato Evans home on Cotanche Street and would also dismantle the Hadley home on Evans Street. Six parcels are up for purchase in the project, designated R-66, with options on two more, Boyd added.

Assistant Director G. C. Lamm reported that North Carolina National Bank, the state's largest, bid lowest on a recent note sale. On $985,000 worth of notes, NCNB bid 5.82 percent. Lamm added that of the 157 families displaced by the Newtown project, all but $639 in rent had been collected, and that the money would be considered uncollectable because the families could not be located.

Texas Lawmen Finish Hunt For Bodies; Found 27

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities sought indictments today against two touse-haired teenagers charged in the largest mass murder in the nation's history.

The recovery of four additional bodies Monday at a beach on the Gulf Coast brought to 27 the number victims found since last Wednesday. Digging for more bodies has stopped for now.

"We have recovered what they said was there. We're through," Capt. G. W. Woods of the Jefferson County sheriff's office said Monday night. Digging also stopped in Galveston and Chambers counties, all of which converge at the High Island coastal area where the last excavations were made.

In Houston, a reliable source confirmed that the Harris County district attorney's office plans to ask a grand jury today to indict Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David O. Brooks, 18, for murder.

Brooks, Henley and Dean

Allen Corll, 33, who Henley said he shot to death last Wednesday, allegedly were involved in a homosexual torture-murder ring.

Brooks and Henley are being held by police under $100,000 bonds. Henley has been charged with two slayings in Houston and three in San Augustine County and has told police he took part in nine killings. Brooks was charged with one murder in Houston but has said he did not kill anyone.

Henley appeared briefly in court Monday. Charles Melder, Henley's lawyer, asked state District Court Judge George Walker to order a psychiatric examination for his client.

Earlier, Melder said he plans to plead that Henley is not guilty by reason of insanity.

In a news conference Monday, Houston Police Chief Herman Short answered charges that his department had been lax in not discovering the series of murders of teen-agers that stretched over a three-year period.

The criticism has come from some parents of missing teenagers boys. Many of the youths believed slain come from one neighborhood and were acquainted with Henley. The critical parents say police should have seen the connection.

Short said the number of missing youths was masked by the 5,200 runaways reported in Houston in 1972 and even higher numbers the two previous years.

Meanwhile, the Harris County Medical Examiners

Office continued the massive job of trying to identify the badly decomposed bodies being brought in. No new identifications were made Monday, leaving only five positive identifications among the 27 bodies.

The finding of the four bodies Monday eclipses the previous largest mass murder case in U.S. history, the 25 transient farm laborers found murdered in California in 1971. Labor contractor Juan Corona was convicted in that case and sentenced to life in prison.

New Industry Is Welcomed

GRIMESLAND — Grimesland Mayor Paul Majette and representatives of Pitt County and the N.C. Dept. of Natural and Economic Resources were on hand today to welcome this eastern Pitt County community's first industry.

According to R. Corey Stokes, Chairman of the Pitt County Development Commission, the Valor Division of the U.S. Industries will occupy the former Grimesland Elementary School located on U.S. 264 (Pitt St.) and employ initially 60 people. Valor designs, manufactures and markets a variety of girls and ladies sports wear under the brand names of Pride's Crossing, Peter Pan and Allison Roberts.

Thomas E. Anderson of Farmville, Vice President and Director of Manufacturing for the Valor Division, stated that Linn Gresham would be responsible for the management of the plant. Anderson further noted that applications for employment are available at the Grimesland Town Hall. In addition to Grimesland, other Valor Division plant locations in Pitt County include Ayden and Farmville. The company also has plants in Ahoskie, Fremont and Newton Grove.

Renovations to the building, which is being leased from the Pitt County Board of Education, are to begin immediately and production is expected to begin within 30 days. Officials of the company stated that long range plans call for the construction of a modern, new facility that will employ approximately 175 people.

U.S. Industries is one of the nation's largest corporations and, in addition to wearing apparel, produces pleasure boats, building materials and metal buildings and plastic and metal forming presses.

Watergate Prosecutor Reveals Hopes From Tapes

'Political Novices' Said Managers Of Patronage

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser's controversial panel of patronage managers who will screen requests for state jobs are mostly political novices, the Charlotte Observer says.

The paper said it had obtained a list of the 10 men who have been given state jobs themselves and will have primary responsibility of seeing that Republicans have a fair share in the rewards of Holshouser's victory last fall. There are some 70,000 state jobs, plus positions on state boards and commissions.

There is a patronage manager for each congressional district. Finding a man for the 11th District has been difficult. So Grady Franklin of Rutherford, a recent Appalachian State University graduate who is working in the Revenue Department is handling applications from both the 10th and 11th districts.

Gene Anderson, the governor's administrative assistant, who is overseeing the patronage plan, said the 10 were hired precisely because they were not involved in past party infighting. Because of the political inexperience of most of them, their work will consist mostly of approving applications for lower-level positions. More important positions will continue to be handled through Anderson and the governor's appointments secretary, Hugh Barnes.

Anderson said the salaries of the 10 range from $9,800 to $11,300 except for Roger Warlick of Lincoln, patronage manager in the Seventh District. He is getting $13,000 because he has a family. He is a staff assistant in the Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

The other patronage contacts are:

First District—Pat Mitchell of Brevard, who is working in the Department of Transportation.

Second—James Norton Jr. of Clinton, whose job in state government has not yet been settled. He is the son of James Norton, U.S. marshal for the Eastern District.

Third—Charles Parrish of Smith, chairman of the Johnston County Young Republicans, who who is working in the Transportation Department.

Fourth—Don Payne, 32, of Swain County, ombudsman for the Department of Department of Human Resources, a former executive of a pillow and mattress manufacturing company in Hickory.

Fifth—Stowe Perry, 22, of Charlotte, a recent graduate of North Carolina State University, who is working out of an office in the Department of Social Rehabilitation and Control.

Sixth—Craig Corson, 23, of Contoocook, N.H., a former basketball player at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, who is working in the personnel division of the Department of Administration.

Eighth—Buck Seimore, a recent graduate of the University of North Carolina at Asheville, who hasn't started working yet.

Ninth—Harry Diffendal, 25, a Navy veteran from High Point who worked last year in the Charlotte headquarters of the Committee to Re-elect the President. He has been hired by the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs.

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox has given the public his first detailed summary of what he hopes to learn about Watergate from tape recordings of presidential conversations.

Cox included the summary in a 68-page argument filed Monday in federal court in support of his request for a court order compelling President Nixon to surrender the tapes.

Nixon refused to comply with a subpoena from Cox demanding the tapes of nine presidential conversations.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica gave the White House until Friday to file any additional arguments and scheduled courtroom debate for Aug. 22.

The tapes demanded by Cox cover eight meetings and one telephone conversation between June 20, 1972, three days after the Watergate break-in, and April 15, 1973.

In his brief, Cox noted that on Sept. 15, 1972, after a federal grand jury had indicted seven men for their participation in the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters, Nixon met with H.R. Haldeman, then his staff chief, and John W. Dean III, then his counsel.

Dean told the Senate Watergate committee the President congratulated him for doing a good job. Dean said he interpreted Nixon's remarks as evidence the President was aware of the cover-up.

Haldeman, who told the committee he had listened recently to the tape of the meeting, said there was discussion of the Watergate case, but denied Nixon congratulated Dean on his efforts to thwart the investigation.

If the tapes confirm Dean's version, said Cox, "it will tend to establish that a conspiracy to obstruct justice reached the highest level of government...."

"If Haldeman's innocuous version of the meeting can be sustained, it is because the meeting only involved an innocent discussion of political interests. The question of Dean's perjury would then arise."

Cox offered some comments on other tapes he seeks: —Meeting of June 20, 1972, between the President and aides John D. Ehrlichman and Haldeman. "The contemporary evidence of that meeting should show the extent of the knowledge of the illegal activity by the participants or any effort to conceal the truth from the respondent (Nixon)."

—Telephone call June 20, from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, then director of the President's re-election campaign, to Nixon. "This apparently was the first direct contact after the break-in between respondent and Mitchell...."

—Meeting of June 30, 1972, between Nixon, Mitchell and Haldeman. Mitchell has testified it concerned his impending resignation as campaign director. It "strains credulity to suppose that Watergate and how Watergate affected Mitchell and the campaign were not topics of conversation."

—Meeting of March 13, 1973, between Nixon, Dean and Haldeman. Dean told the committee that Nixon said he had approved executive clemency for E. Howard Hunt Jr. and that there would be no problem raising $1 million to buy the silence of the Watergate defendants.

—Two meetings on March 21, 1973. Participants included Nixon, Dean, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Ronald L. Ziegler, presidential press secretary. Haldeman quoted Nixon as saying there would be no problem raising $1 million. He added that the President said it would not be right to pay the money.

—Meeting of March 22, 1973. Participants were Nixon, Dean, Ehrlichman, Haldeman and Mitchell. "This meeting was apparently concerned... with political assessments... and is likely to reveal the knowledge and motives of the participants."

—Meeting of April 15 between Nixon and Dean. The ousted White House counsel told the Senate committee the President told him he had only been joking in his reference to raising $1 million and that he had been foolish to discuss executive clemency with Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel.

Bowaters Southern Paper Corp., through its distributor, Bowaters Sales Co. of Atlanta, notified customers that the price increase originally planned for July 1 went into effect Tuesday.

President Nixon's price freeze blocked implementation of the increase July 1.

Omar Bradley Is Hospitalized

LOS ANGELES (AP)—General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, 80, was reported in satisfactory condition today at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center. He has a blood clot in one lung. Bradley, the only living five-star general, was commander of the American forces that landed in France on D-Day, June 6, 1944. He also served as the first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Bradley was admitted to the hospital Sunday night with the blood clot, which apparently stemmed from an operation on an old football injury he suffered at West Point nearly 60 years ago, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Doctors are treating him with anticoagulants and expect to have his condition stabilized within a week, she added.

Nutrition. Inflation. Two very current problems. Milk answers them both.

Milk supplied us, as kids, with great growth-oriented elements... like calcium for strong bones and teeth, and high-quality protein for fine muscle tone. We needed it, because we were... growing.

But growth is something that never really stops, even where our adult bodies are concerned.

And milk never stops contributing to that growth.

In one neat, complete package, milk offers nature's most nearly perfect food. Here are nutritional contributions of this remarkable natural food:

Milk Supplies the Following Percent of U.S. Recommended Daily Nutritive Allowances Two 8-Ounce Glasses
U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance*	Amount Supplied By Two 8-Oz. Glasses Milk	Percent Recommended Daily Allowance
Protein 45 grams	15.9 grams	35.3%
Vitamin A 5000 Intl Units	700 Intl Units	12.7%
Thiamine B <sub>1</sub> 1.5 milligrams	.18 milligrams	9.3%
Riboflavin B <sub>2</sub> 1.7 milligrams	.74 milligrams	45.0%
Calcium 1.0 grams	.54 milligrams	54.0%
Phosphorus 1.0 grams	.42 grams	42.0%

*These nutrients and levels have been derived by the Food and Drug Administration from the "Recommended Dietary Allowances," published by the Food and Nutrition Board, National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council.
**Composition of Foods, Agricultural Handbook, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

With all its nutritional benefits, milk is also one of the greatest food values available at your food store today.

Milk is a consumer bargain.

Dairy products—and especially milk—have done well at resisting the tide of inflation. This chart will make it clear:

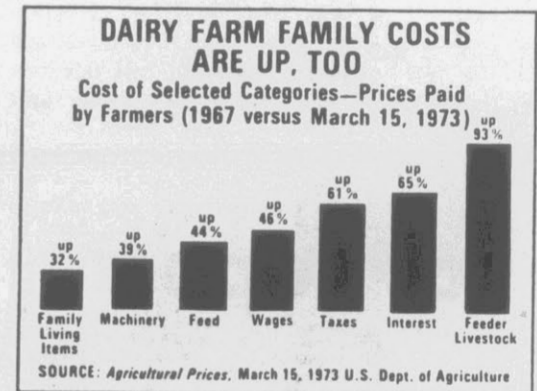

How is it possible milk can remain at a reasonable price when other costs have risen sharply?

The dairy farm family is doing an efficient job.

Milk's continuing reasonable price is mainly the result of the know-how of the dairy farm family. They have been able to develop efficient new methods in production and marketing—increasing per-cow milk production 71% since 1955—even though their own costs have risen markedly.

Count up all the factors.

Milk provides high-quality proteins. It's rich in amino acids for muscle-tissue building and repair. It provides substantial amounts of essential calcium, phosphorus, Vitamin A, Riboflavin, and it is a good source of Thiamine. At the same time, because of dairy farm family efficiencies, milk has been able to hold the price line extremely well. Despite current pressures on the farm family...

Milk is still a Bargain.

Traditional Amethysts Ward Off Evils Of Drink

in modern gold setting. A petaled amethyst is at right. A bracelet set with cabochon amethyst stones highlights the right photograph. A carved amethyst ring and top-grade, deep purple stone cut in the antique manner are equally royal in feeling. Sales of amethysts, many of which are imported Brazilian gemstones, are rising in the United States. Photographs are from H. Stern.

Legendary Brick Top Recalls Youth

By ANN GRIFFITH
The Charleston Daily Mail
CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The Duke of Windsor sat at her feet as she sang. Cole Porter wrote a song especially for her — to keep her from singing his other hits, she adds ruefully.

For more than three decades she was known as Brick Top to the high and mighty of international society. With her copper-red hair, her sobriquet served her well as the doyenne of her nightclub, the "world's most expensive night spot," first in Paris' Place Pigalle, later on the Via Veneto in Rome.

She began life on Aug. 14, 1894, in Alderson, W.Va., not as Brick Top but as Ada Beatrice Queen Victoria Louisa Virginia Smith, the youngest of four children.

At the age of 5, Brick Top moved with her mother, Hatti Thompson Smith, and the family, to Chicago. She's never been back to West Virginia since and now, she said in an interview in New York City, she's afraid to return to her home, "afraid I'll never leave again."

"All my life I've thought of myself as a West Virginian and I'll be 80 next year. I always tell my age, always. One reason is that it makes the younger girls feel bad. I don't have any wrinkles in face. My hands, now, they've been to the Devil and back, but not my face. "I've been blessed all my life. Look, my mother never let me forget that we were one of the FFVV — First Families of West Virginia. My mother's family were all white — white Negroes with red or blonde hair and blue eyes. We always were proud people with good manners."

She started in vaudeville in Chicago at the age of 15, and by 16 was in New York. She went to Paris in 1924 for six months, "and ended up staying 16 years. I didn't leave until the Germans were marching down the Champs-Elysees."

She was in Rome for 20 years after the war but considered Paris her favorite city.

"I was there when Cole (Porter) wrote 'Love for Sale,' 'Night and Day,' all those famous songs. But he never asked me to sing his songs. I'm not really a singer, you know. You might say I'm an entertainer, but mostly I guess you would say I'm a personality."

"Finally one day Cole told me, 'Brick, I've written a song for you.' It was 'Miss Otis Regrets.' That was written especially for me. And it's not a funny song. Really it's very sad."

F. Scott Fitzgerald and his wife Zelda in Paris "were my greatest friends. I'd like to get my hands on the brooch who wrote 'Zelda.' I'd punch her. All that stuff about Zelda being jealous of Scott's success. That's not true, not true at all. I saw them outside their professional lives. I saw them when they were cold sober. They were very much in love."

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy invited her to dinner with the late Dr. Martin Luther King when they were in Rome to see the Pope. "I said I didn't go out much but that I was having a dinner the following evening and would Dr. King join me? He said they would come but must leave at nine."

"I said, 'Well, I'll have to be frank with you. You're in Europe where dinner isn't served before nine. If you leave then you aren't going to get any dinner.'"

"Well, at a quarter to 12 I was putting people out — I'm famous for putting people out of my house when I'm tired — and there was Dr. King."

"He said, 'Brick, I owe you an apology. I thought you would be a pompous person. I was ready for you. Then I come here and find you living in this luxurious triplex and padding round in house shoes. You're the most natural person I've ever met, and besides you cook the best black eyed peas I ever tasted.'"

Earlier this year she moved to New York to appear at the Show Club. She doesn't like New York, but she accepts it. "God is my travel agent, that's why I'm in New York when I've always hated New York. God brought me here for a purpose."

None of Brick Top's family is left, but she has friends and health, "except for a little trouble with my heart."

"I have put my trust in God and He has taken me far. Soon, I have a feeling, He is going to take me to West Virginia, and I can just hear my Momma in her grave laughing and saying, 'There's my baby, back home at last where she belongs.'"

Long-Time Hair Stylist Sees Change After Seven-Year Period

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
We are at the seven-year-cycle that brings a new hairstyle, in the opinion of Edith Imre, long-time stylist.

As she sees the change, one's natural hair will provide a hairdo with height by the addition of hairpieces, a look that has finally evolved from "the worst period of hairdressing" — teased hair with its lacquered height — which all better beauty salons tried to reverse for many years," she says.

Women wanted the height and there was no other way, but they went far awry trying to fit it into fashion.

"For example, many years ago after the high pompadour style, a new look came in — flat and short. But women didn't like it because it was not flattering. The hairdo evolved into the popular Italian style because the style helped combine some of the height most women missed from the old pompadour with the softness of the newer, shorter look," Miss Imre adds.

It has taken all this time to get back to a look of natural height which the hairpieces can give because "they can be used to give the height the bone structure needs for the natural look," if they are properly used.

Well-known in the wig market, she was the first to put wigs into department stores. Miss Imre saw the wig business go into a slump a few years later because "wigs were being sold like hats to bolster a dying millinery business." Some name designers were putting their names on both low-priced and expensive wigs and people became very confused.

"A woman would buy a wardrobe of wigs, perhaps for the low price, and the effect was not as she had envisioned it from the advertisements. But many wigs were sold at counters and at millinery departments and there was no shaping and styling to achieve a flattering fit. But it isn't a total loss for those who still have such wigs. Beauty salons may still update them with proper styling."

The wig people made many mistakes, one reason for the major slump in the industry.

"For example, many wigs were being made with teenagers in mind, but most teenagers never really bought wigs. But they did buy hairpieces even though many stores did not carry them. They were instead trying to sell everybody a wig. Some hairpieces were sold at counters with barrettes but that was about all," she says.

Although Miss Imre has designed easy-care synthetic wigs as well as the human hair wig which needs more care, she still prefers human hair for falls and for the graying lady. She buys the real hair in Italy and she is always fascinated watching how they separate the hairs with talcum powder "an unbelievably delicate operation," she says.

There is little demand for long hairpieces except in human hair. She thinks youngsters will stick with their own long hair even though there are predictions that they will cut it. But many young people are adopting the new trend in hair coloring, sunflake and moonlight colors, which has replaced old-fashioned frosting, she remarked. The effect is pinpoints of shimmering grayish or blondish lights through one's own hair or wig.

Photo's A Better Souvenir Than Guilt

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a maid in a first class hotel. [Please don't mention the city.] I took something from a very famous person who stayed here. I have admired this person for years and only wanted a souvenir.

What I took may be valuable, and now my conscience is bothering me. I am not a common thief, but I'm not brave enough to confess, and now I don't know what to do. Please help me. I trust you.

TROUBLED MIND
DEAR TROUBLED: Go to your public library and look for that person's name and address in "Who's Who in America." If you find it, mail back whatever you took. If you can't find the name and address, write to me and I will find it for you. [You can trust me.] And if you ever again want a "souvenir" from a famous person, ask for an autographed picture.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a fairly large office. One of the girls who works here is being married soon, so a coworker suggested we girls give her a bridal shower. [The bride-to-be is 30 years old and has been married before. So has her fiancé.]

The bride made up a list of "suggested shower gifts" which she mimeographed and distributed to all the girls in the office. This list is titled "CAN USE" and there are three pages of "gift suggestions" [typed, single-spaced] indicating the brand names preferred, and "where-to-purchase." [She listed everything imaginable from a cork-screw to a king-sized bedspread! ! !]

She even submitted dimensions of her living room, dining room, bedroom and bath indicating, "Rugs are needed."

When I saw this list I was turned off completely and decided not to attend. I declined the shower and told the girls why. Was I wrong? SOURED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR SOURED: No. Since you felt that the purpose of this shower was to "soak" the guests, I don't blame you.

DEAR ABBY: I just had a terrible experience. I invited the gas man into our mobile home for a cup of coffee. He had been filling our tank for about a year, and he seemed so nice.

I had just made a fresh pot of coffee and asked him if he wanted to join me for a cup. [My husband had left for work.]

When this man got inside he sat at the table and kept looking at my funny. I felt uncomfortable but kept talking and sipping coffee. Then he said he'd never seen a mobile home like mine before, so I offered to show him around. He kind of cornered me in the baby's room, but I managed to get out of that situation and back into the kitchen.

I kept praying someone would call me. Finally, I edged toward the door, and opened it, and told him I had a lot of work to do. He left reluctantly.

Abby, I am only 22. Am I naive? Was I wrong in inviting him in for coffee? Do most men who talk to housewives take this as an invitation for something else?

Was I being forward? I blame myself. I swear I only meant to be friendly. FRIGHTENED

DEAR FRIGHTENED: Perhaps he mistook your friendliness for something more. Most men who deal with housewives are straight and strictly all business. But it's best to play it safe and keep your distance.

Outstanding Year For Farmer

It appears that at long last North Carolina farms may be putting together a good crop year with high farm prices.

The N.C. Crop Reporting Service said that farmers in this state will harvest bumper crops of corn, soybeans and other staples. It appears this year for the first time soybeans planted for beans will exceed the acreage planted in corn for grain.

The soybean acreage is up 33 per cent and is expected to yield 25 bushels per acre or 36.5 million bushels.

Corn may have a record yield of 82 bushels per acre. This would give a total of 113.16 million bushels. Peanuts are expected to yield a crop nearly equal to the 446 million pounds of 1970. The forecasters see yields of 4,920,000 bushels of sorghum grain, 5,940,000 bushels of wheat, 3,570,000 bushels of oats, 2,976,000 bushels of barley and 308,000 bushels of rye.

As is well known, prices for grains are soaring in this country and, while these higher costs are going to be reflected in the food stores, they should also mean prosperity for the North Carolina farmer.

Flue-cured tobacco production is expected to be up by 78 million pounds this year due to increases in this year's allotments. However, so far farmers have been less than satisfied with the prices the crop is bringing on the Eastern Belt.

All-in-all though it could be an outstanding year for the North Carolina farmer and this is bound to reflect in the economy of the state.

Not Everybody Pleased By The New Farm Bill

It is likely that farm interests will not be entirely pleased with the new bill signed by President Nixon last week, but it is certain that the government will continue to move out of supports and controls for farm products.

Except in special cases like tobacco where controls should continue because of the unique world desire for American grown leaf, the government's role will probably shift to encouraging farm production.

This is true because many areas of the world are becoming prosperous enough to afford U.S. grown foods and our own demands are growing too.

We think the American farmer is equal to the task, if he can continue to receive a fair price for his product.

Dynamite In A Secret Memo

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The stunning secret memorandum that brought the ITT affair to the door of the Oval Office was given Senate investigators by Charles W. Colson's former confidential assistant who now performs similar duties for Secretary of Labor Peter Brennan.

Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate investigating committee has kept secret the name of the unidentified secretary who turned over the explosive 1972 memo on ITT by then presidential aide Colson. In fact, it was Joan Hall, Colson's skilled private secretary until he left the White House this year—a shocker that will send a shiver through the administration.

George Beall, who as U.S. Attorney in Baltimore supervises the wide-ranging investigation that includes Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, would never have been appointed to that post by President Nixon if Agnew had been given his way.

Although Agnew told his Wednesday press conference that "I know (Beall) very casually," there has been an undercurrent of tension between the two Maryland Republicans for five years.

As a 30-year-old delegate to the 1968 Republican national convention, Beall resisted then Gov. Agnew's attempt to swing the entire Maryland delegation to Richard M. Nixon and voted instead for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York—which intensely irritated Agnew.

When Beall's name came up in 1970 for the U.S. Attorney's post, there was quiet but unmistakable opposition from the Vice President's office. Mr. Nixon named him anyway, following an endorsement from Sen. Charles Mathias and, much more important, vigorous support from his brother—Nixon booster J. Her motives are a mystery. Contending that "I don't have to talk to you about this," Mrs. Hall told us nothing. The Senate investigators are also mute. Colson told us Mrs. Hall had taken the ITT memo home as a "souvenir" of her days in the White House but felt compelled to hand it over when a Senate subpoena asked for any pertinent documents in her possession.

However, former associates of Mrs. Hall describe her as a battle-seasoned veteran of the bureaucratic wars who would not dream of taking home an explosive document for sentimental reasons. Their questions: Why did she turn over the ITT memo? Are there any more explosive Agnew and Beall

Strength For Today

ONE-WAY TRAFFIC Many a man feels that he is on a one-way street so far as the everyday living of his life is concerned. The inexorable movement of the traffic in one direction only may, he feels, be forcing him to stay in a type of life which depresses him sometimes to the point of desperation.

This feeling of being caught in one-way traffic without the possibility of stopping or turning aside is certainly trying to one's patience. And yet the trial itself may be the means God is employing to discipline our souls and prepare us for greater things.

It may be that suddenly the traffic will thin out and we may make a turning in a new direction. But again, maybe that opening will never come. If this is the case we should not lose hope and become bitter. Happiness comes from the inside of a person's life rather than from any set of external circumstances. Abraham Lincoln once said that a person is just about as happy as he makes up his mind to be. If we can resolve to be happy, knowing that we are doing God's will, that oneway traffic will not be so frustrating.

Good Points To August

SCRABBLE, Va. — Some years ago, caught in the summer doldrums, I once proposed that the Congress, by law, abolish August. My thought was to take its 31 days, divide them up and spread them around. We could have longer Aprils and longer Octobers, and be done with fretful August altogether.

Now I am not so sure. August has its points. If it weren't for August, we would be still be stuck in the Watergate hearings, suffering the sanctimonies of Sen. Weicker. Because of August, it is possible to come home to these quiet, brooding mountains, to draw a smog-free breath, and to get a fresh perspective on the news.

I am more and more persuaded, as time goes on, that despite the millions of words that have been written of "Watergate" in the past 14 months, the real story has eluded us. It is not so important to determine who said what to whom in which meeting. The individuals in this drama are as insubstantial as those players who strut and fret their hour upon the stage and then are heard no more.

Our concern ought to be directed, it seems to me, less at the misdeeds of men and more at the abuse of power. Men come and go, weak men, stupid men, fearful men. We know how to punish the transgressions of men. But power is a timeless river, carrying in its passive currents both the potential for good and the risk of evil. We know as much as we need to know about how power can be exercised, but we will never know enough about how power can be restrained. Because we have failed to fashion adequate restraints upon the power of the president, and upon the power of the men around him, we must endure this agonizing hour. New restraints, more effective restraints, will have to be found.

But there is more to think about in August in the country than the abuse of power by the White House, by the Senate committee, or for that matter, by the insatiable, ravenous press. Watergate seems happily far away. Our local papers are not much concerned with Watergate. They are more concerned with the shortage of beef, the price of grain, the widening of a road. They are concerned with death, birth, marriage, local politics, the sandlot ballclubs, a new minister in town. Life goes on.

My wife is making pickles—pickles and relishes and chutneys—a ritual act, performed with love and grace whenever August rolls around. We go to the garden in the cool of the early morning, with the two colliers trotting agreeably along, and

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist wouldn't know if he didn't open his mail:

If you bought a 1,000-pound steer on the half, less than half of it would wind up on your dinner plate. It would dress out to a 600-pound carcass. Fat, bone and waste would trim it another 162, leaving 438 pounds of edible beef.

To the editor: May I express through your column my appreciation to the Good Samaritan in the maroon wagon who stopped to give me aid on the Tar Road on Friday afternoon, August 10. I was not ungrateful, just slow. I told him I wanted to get the car off the road because I was holding up traffic. I drove on over to the self-service gas tanks because I was right there at them. Before I could find the money and get out of the car, he had driven off.

If he will send me his name and address at P. O. Box 2, Winterville, North Carolina 28590, I would surely like to thank him personally and reimburse him for the gas. Sincerely, (Miss) Leah McGlohon

To the editor: I recently read a quotation which I think to be so tremendously pertinent. I would call it, "An Ancient Word Of Wisdom For Today". "All forms of government destroy themselves by carrying their basic principles to excess. . . The democracies become too free, in politics and economics, in morale and even in literature and art, until at last even the puppy dogs in our homes rise up on their hind legs and demand their rights. . . Disorder grows to such a point that society will then abandon all its liberty to anyone who can restore order."

To the editor: Our country is really in trouble. The cost of living is really going up because of the cost of food products are outrageous. For instance, when you have a limited amount of money for groceries a week, you must make every penny stretch. But food products are so high till I'm afraid many Americans are going to be lack essential vitamins and nutrients they need. Yes, we are really hurting ourselves. We need food in order to live, but where is the food? Has our society become so educated that they can't help produce some of the food they consume? For years farmers have raised hogs, chickens, and cows to feed their families. We all need to work together and help build up a stable supply of food to meet our increasing population. Let's help the farmers so we can help ourselves.

'Discount' Investment Firms

By DAVID BURKE
NEW YORK (AP) — Several relatively new firms across the nation are providing the investment business' answer to the discount store.

These "discount" brokerage houses say they will buy or sell stocks for investors at commission rates ranging from 20 to 80 per cent less than larger brokers — members of the major stock exchanges — must charge under exchange rules. As with the discount store, the cut-rate broker generally limits himself to the essentials — namely, the execution of a customer's order. "We cut out all the frills, carpeting, and vice presidents," says Lawrence H. Weiss, president of Odd Lot Securities, Ltd., in New York. Most of these firms, which number about a dozen around the nation, have only a handful of employees. They typically have no research department and accept only cash-paying customers. "If you want advice or a quote, call Merrill Lynch. If you want to place an order, call us," says one discount broker.

Since these discount houses are not stock exchange members, they are not bound by the exchange's minimum commission rules. When a customer places an order, the discount broker will shop around in the over-the-counter market and on the New York or other exchanges for the best price. If the best price, say, is on the Big Board, the broker has to place the order through a NYSE member and charge the customer regular Big Board rates. But if he can get a good price from the third market, where many Big Board securities are traded over the counter, he can offer a sizable commission discount.

For 50 shares of AT&T, for instance, assuming a price of $50 a share, a brokerage house belonging to the NYSE is required to charge $42.50 in commission. Some of the discounters will charge anywhere from $25 to $34. Most of these firms, however, tend to discourage odd lot trades of less than 100 shares, and shy away from the really small investor. "One of our main problems is that people don't really believe they can pay less than NYSE rates. They think we're illegal," says John Rose, president of Chicago-based Rose & Co.

"And then there is the little old lady who thinks she is pulling a fast one on somebody by coming to us and selling her AT&T," he adds. "But most of the customers are people who have a little savvy on the market and know what they want — small banks, businessmen, investment counselors."

A $20 saving on a $2,500 order may seem hardly worth the effort, but at a time when the NYSE is seeking to raise its minimum commission rates, the discount houses are attracting more and more notice.

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer The pocketbook pinch worsened during the first two weeks of August as the nation prepared for further price hikes with Monday's debut of Phase 4, an Associated Press marketbasket shows.

The AP has been keeping tabs on 15 food and nonfood items in 12 cities across the country since March 1, rechecking the prices at the beginning of each month with special surveys in between.

A check made Monday showed fresh price rises on top of already-healthy increases that turned up earlier.

The AP surveyed the prices in 12 cities Monday. The prices in Providence, R.I., normally the 13th city in the marketbasket, were unavailable because stores were closed due to a state holiday in honor of VJ Day.

The survey showed that, from July 31 to Aug. 13, 22 per cent of the 180 items checked in the 12 cities went up in price; 8 per cent went down in price; 57 per cent were unchanged; and 13 per cent were not available on one of the two check dates.

An earlier check showed that 17 per cent of the items in the 12 cities went up in price between July 23 and July 31. Six per cent went down during that period; 65 per cent were unchanged; and 12 per cent were unavailable.

The results sounded like a broken record: eggs and pork chops led the list of higher-price items again.

Food prices, except for beef, have been rising ever since President Nixon announced in July that processors and sellers could pass on increases in raw agricultural products. Beef prices are frozen until Sept. 12, despite meat industry efforts to get the ceiling lifted.

Further price increases—to reflect additional increased costs—will be allowed under Phase 4 on food and nonfood items. Large manufacturers must give 30 days' notice of their intention to raise prices, while smaller companies can up the bill immediately.

The total marketbasket bill in the AP survey was up in nine of the 12 cities checked. Most of the decreases were due to special sales on one particular item, rather than general declines.

Eggs went up in price in 10 of 12 cities in the period from July 23 to July 31 and were unavailable in the other two. They rose still further in 8 of the 10 cities in the period between July 31 and Aug. 13. They stayed the same in one city, went down in one—Salt Lake City—and were unavailable in two.

The price increases between July 31 and Aug. 13 ranged from 4 per cent in Philadelphia, where eggs went from 99 cents to $1.03 a dozen, to 28 per cent in Los Angeles, where they went from 69 to 88 cents a dozen. Eggs already had gone up 25 per cent—from 79 to 99 cents—in Philadelphia between July 23 and July 31, and they rose 11 per cent in Los Angeles during the last week of July.

The price of a pound of center cut pork chops went up in 7 of 12 cities checked during the last week of July. Pork chops stayed the same in four cities and were unavailable in one.

In the first two weeks of August, pork chops went up again in all of the seven cities where they rose earlier, went up in two of the cities where the price had remained stable, dropped in two and were unavailable in one.

Increases in the price of pork chops between July 31 and Aug. 13 ranged from 3 per cent in Atlanta, where they went from $1.85 to $1.91 after remaining steady earlier, to 10 per cent in Philadelphia, where the price per pound went from $2.05 to $2.25.

Beef prices remained fairly steady, as did those on nonfood items. There were scattered instances of hikes in the price of frankfurters, however, and more and more shoppers found stores were out of beef.

The cities used for the AP survey are: Albuquerque, N.M.; Atlanta; Boston; Chicago; Dallas; Detroit; Los Angeles; Miami; New York; Philadelphia; Salt Lake City; and Seattle. The items in the survey are: chopped chuck, pork chops, orange juice, coffee, paper towels, butter, eggs, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, cookies, all-beef frankfurters, milk and sugar.

The marketbasket was up everywhere except Boston, Albuquerque and Miami. Increases ranged from about one per cent in Chicago to four per cent in Philadelphia.

Rewards

RALEIGH (AP)—Rewards totaling $4,000 were offered by Gov. Jim Holshouser Monday in a rape and a school fire case.

The governor said a $1,500 reward would be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction in the case of a Plymouth woman who was attacked and raped at her home April 25.

He also put up a $2,500 reward for information in the burning of the cafeteria building at the D. F. Walker School in Edenton Aug. 3.

Kilpatrick Col.

Now the gleaming jars stand in jeweled array on panty shelves, relishes of rubies, pickles of jade, peaches of amber. The kitchen is redolent of vinegar, garlic, spices dill, of herbs fresh picked, the fragrances of home. The women's libbers will never understand the proposition, or accept it, but it is as important to the country woman to pickles as it is important to the country man to get in the firewood. One measures fulfillment in pints, quarts, and split oak logs.

Last night we heard the rumbles of thunder, and today the mountains are veiled by a hazy threat of summer storm. Across the ravine, Mr. Burke is making hay. He has a full crew working—two tractors, two trucks, a team of sweating boys. It is an operation as stylized as a square dance, a screen pass or a squeeze bunt. The baler grunts and chomps along the windows, dumping the heavy bales behind; the boys run, the trucks fill up, the storm slips by, and by evening the work is done. Good earth, good men, and good machines; and so August passes day by quiet day.

The Republic will survive. Down in Washington, there is much talk of paralysis of government. You might suppose the country is dying or corruption and decay. Don't you believe it. This country is pickles on the shelf and hay in the barn, and it is still populated mostly by people, whether they live in the hills or the plains or the cities, who look beyond the travails of a passing summer. They know that after August, good autumns and good springs will surely come again.

After the harvest, are your worries over or just beginning?

You've sold your crop, and got your price. So you'd think all the work and sweat and worry would be over.

Only now you've got a different kind of worry. What to do with your crop money. How much to spend. How much to save. How to make your money work for you, and still stay handy if you need it.

We know your financial needs are like no one else's. So we've made Agribusiness part of our business from way back. Helping farmers manage their money in the best possible way.

We can go over your plans with you. See how you stand now, what you'll need next spring. And work out sound ways to get it. Even make your money make a little more money in the meantime.

And there's no obligation on your part whatever.

So after the harvest, stop by Wachovia and let us help you make the most of what your crop brought. And see you through 'til harvest time again.

Stargell Not To Watch TV In Early Days Of October

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
Willie Stargell doesn't plan to watch any television in the early days of October and Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson doesn't expect him to.

It's not that the Pittsburgh Pirates' slugger has anything against TV. It's just that Stargell doesn't like the thought of watching other little men in knickers, shirts and caps playing on his screen for big money.

"Last year we had the best record in baseball and ended up watching the World Series at home," Stargell said after smacking his 34th homer and scoring another run in the Pirates nationally televised 3-2 squeaker over the Reds. "This year our record isn't so good, but maybe we'll be there."

Anderson is more certain. "The Pirates will be there when it's all over," he said.

For the record, the Pirates have not been playing as if they wanted to extend their season beyond the regular schedule. But neither has the rest of the division, which is in jeopardy of having no teams with records on the happy side of .500.

St. Louis is the only club in the National League East with its head above water—61-58—but is sinking fast. The Cardinals' eighth straight loss left the Pirates and their 57-58 record just two games back.

Monday night's victory was a step in that direction as they cooled off a hot Cincinnati club that had won five straight.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros shut out the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0; the San Diego Padres nipped the New York Mets 3-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers stopped the Montreal Expos 8-5.

Astros 4, Cardinals 0
The St. Louis Cardinals could certainly make a valid case for discrimination as they were handed their eight straight loss and fourth in a row to left-handed pitchers.

This one was a 4-0 defeat at the left hand of Dave Roberts and the Houston Astros, lowering the Cardinals' record against southpaws to 18-25.

Jim Wynn's homer and Lee May's run-scoring double backed Roberts' five-hit pitching.

Padres 3, Mets 2
Pitcher Jerry Koonsman scored a run in the ninth to snap a tie but gave back that run and another in the bottom of the ninth as San Diego rallied for a 3-2 victory over New York.

Dodgers 8, Expos 5
Willie Crawford homered and doubled and drove in four runs to lead Los Angeles to an 8-5 victory over the Expos.

Houston Plows Rows For '73

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — When last year's crop of Houston Oilers produced only one victory, management decided to plow everything under and start over.

Sid Gillman was hired on as foreman of owner Bud Adams' spread and wasted no time culling what he considered chaff from wheat. Gillman made 19 player trades before the Oilers reported for pre-season work at Kerrville's Schreiner Institute.

Gillman's plan is to head off a repeat of last year's 1-13 record, the worst in the National Football League, and return the Oilers to their glory days of the early 1960s.

Houston's record earned the No. 1 selection in the pro football draft, and the Oilers may have received the best price per pound for their choice of any team in many seasons.

Although the Oilers' offensive line was a disaster area in 1972, Coach Bill Peterson grabbed Tampa defensive tackle John Matuszak, 6-foot-7 and 290 pounds.

Although a defensive end in college, Matuszak is expected to fit into the Oiler plan as a starting defensive tackle beside Greg Sampson, last year's No. 1 selection. Former Dallas Cowboy Tody Smith and veteran Elvin Bethea will man the ends.

Houston's biggest defensive weakness could be its line-backing corps, depleted last season when Peterson traded away George Webster and Ron Pritchard.

A pleasant surprise at middle linebacker in Houston's 16-13 exhibition loss to the New York Jets was rookie Greg Bingham. Third-year veteran Floyd Rice and Phil Croyle fill out the line-backing corps.

Willie Alexander and Benny Johnson are the cornerbacks since hard-hitting Zeke Moore moved from the corner to a safety position with Bob Atkins.

The Oilers have three top quarterback prospects in Dan Pastorini, Edd Hargett and Lynn Dickey. The biggest Oiler weakness last season however, was keeping them healthy with one of the most porous offensive lines in the league.

Gillman's big move there was to snatch all-pro center Bill Curry, along with his three championship rings, from the Baltimore Colts to lend leadership and stability to the line.

Comebacks by last year's casualties, including right tackle Elbert Drungo and guard Richard Cheek, also could help.

The arrival of Paul Robinson and Fred Willis from Cincinnati aided the Oilers' running back corps, but it barely got above the anemic stage last season.

Peterson hopes added strength in the offensive line and help from running back George Amundson, a No. 1 draft choice; Willie Rodgers; Al Johnson and Lewis Jolley will give the Oilers a running attack with more teeth this season.

Gillman, who dealt away many of the Oilers' draft choices to get the players he wanted, said he wasn't finished.

"I will trade away our draft choices for next year and then I'll start on 1975—just give them all away," Gillman said. "I'll do whatever it takes to start winning right now."

Earl Weaver Figures Out AL East Pennant Battle Plans Made

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
While the rest of the world puzzles over the tantalizingly tight American League East Division race, Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver has the dilemma all doped out.

"We've got the best defensive club in the division and the best pitching," reasoned Weaver after the Orioles had thumped Texas 7-4 Monday night. "Now we're starting to hit, and the club with the hot bat will take it."

That bit of information should delight Detroit skipper Billy Martin, whose Tigers mauled Minnesota for 16 hits and a 9-3 romp. If hot bats decide this race, then wrap it up for the Tigers, who've won four straight games and scored 26 runs over that stretch.

Elsewhere in the American League Monday night, Oakland trimmed Boston 3-1, New York shut out California 6-0 and Chicago downed Milwaukee 5-2. The other teams were not scheduled.

The Orioles got homers from Merv Rettenmund and Don Baylor to whip the Rangers. Baylor had four hits and figures the Orioles can hit better than the rest of the division teams he can hit.

"I hope the other teams keep thinking we can't hit the ball," said Baylor. "I guarantee you we're hitting it now."

All the first place Tigers can do is win. Detroit ran its post All Star Game record to 17-4 by beating Minnesota to maintain its 1 1/2-game lead over the Orioles.

Tigers 9, Twins 3
Gates Brown, Aurelio Rodriguez and Mickey Stanley contributed three hits apiece and Detroit roared from behind to overtake Minnesota 9-3. The Twins held a 2-1 lead until the seventh and then Bill Freehan's two-out, two-run single gave the Tigers the lead.

Then John Hiller came out of the bullpen to nail down the victory, earning his 28th save of the season.

Steve Brye homered for the Twins.

A's 3, Red Sox 1
Oakland's John "Blue Moon" Odom, pitching for the first time since Aug. 2, won his first game in six weeks, beating Boston 3-1 with late relief help from Rollie Fingers. Odom, 3-9, allowed just five hits and Fingers struck out four of the six batters he faced as Oakland moved one-half game behind idle first place Kansas City in the AL West.

Yankees 6, Angels 0
Switch-hitting Roy White accomplished the rare feat of hitting a home run from each side of the plate in the same game, leading New York to its 6-0 victory over California.

Isaac Quits Race Driving

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Bobby Isaac, who has won more than one-half million dollars on the Grand National stock car circuit, had decided to quit driving, the Charlotte Observer said today.

The paper quoted the 39-year-old driver from Catawba, N.C., as saying that during the Talladega 500-mile race in Alabama last Sunday, "Something told me to quit. I don't know anything else to do but abide by it."

With 90 laps gone, Isaac pulled his Ford into the pits and Coo Coo Marlin took over as relief driver, finishing 13th.

The Observer quoted Isaac as saying he didn't quit because he was afraid or because he thought he had lost anything as a driver. "I don't have anything to prove to myself or to anybody else. I know how it feels to want to drive and I know how it feels to win and lose. I know how it feels to be a champion. And now I know how it feels to quit."

Isaac drove a K&K Insurance Dodge to 11 victories, $120,000 in winnings and the Grand National point championship in 1970. Last November he left the Dodge team and took over the Ford Torino prepared by Bud Moore Engineering of Spartanburg, S.C.

Moore said he didn't want to comment until he had spoken with Isaac again. "But he told me Sunday after the race that he's definitely quitting."

Isaac said he would spend the next couple of weeks deciding what he will do now. He said he might work in some other aspect of racing.

Stenerud Misses, Lions Win

By BOB JONES
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's Jan Stenerud had his first extra point in seven years blocked and as a result the Detroit Lions edged the Chiefs 17-16 in a National Football League preseason game Monday night.

"I don't know what happened," Stenerud said of the play by Lem Barney, who broke through the left side and blocked the kick with 1:18 left. Barney knew what happened. "It was just a basic rush," said the seven-year cornerback from Jackson State. "Mike Weger and I shot in simultaneously."

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram called it "a ridiculous way to lose." Detroit Coach Don McCafferty said it "was a great effort on the part of the extra point team. We could have let up and figured it was a tie game."

The attempt capped an 82-yard scoring drive put together by Len Dawson the first time he took the Kansas City quarterback helm this season.

Dawson started his 17th professional campaign when he entered the contest with 6:32 left and the Chiefs down 17-10. In 18 plays he hit on seven of 13 passes for 57 yards. His 10-yard scoring toss to Elmo Wright came on fourth down.

Greg Landry took over the Detroit quarterback role in the second half and led the Lions to victory.

Elsewhere in the NFL, three Oakland players emerged from the Raiders' 27-26 victory Saturday over Dallas with injuries. Offensive tackle Bob Brown suffered a broken hand, line-

Plans Made For World Meet

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Some 4,500 athletes from 76 countries made final training preparations today for the World University Games while their Russian hosts struggled with airtight security and a series of last-minute snarls.

Some American athletes who had been virtually trapped in the massive Moscow State University building where the competitors were quartered got their credentials straightened out and were allowed to leave the compound.

Foreign newsmen and some team officials were barred from the 32-story building the Soviets say has 45,000 rooms.

Soviet security precautions, normally strict, were increased at the compound on request of the International Federation of University Sports which feared the possibility of a massacre like that at Munich's Olympic Games.

The games will be conducted at several Moscow sports facilities, but concentrated in the Luchniki Sports Complex and its 103,000-seat Lenin Stadium.

Preliminary fencing competition starts Wednesday morning, but the opening ceremony at Lenin Stadium won't be until that evening.

On Thursday, a full schedule of events begins—basketball, wrestling, volleyball, gymnastics, track and field, tennis and fencing.

The diving and swimming events won't be held until the final four days of the Games that wind up Aug. 25.

There was difficulty getting a line on many of the teams participating because of the security precautions and the lack of complete rosters.

It seemed clear, however, that the Soviet Union would field strong teams in all events and be motivated to make a good showing on home grounds. All Soviet teams were considered good and are expected to be the main challengers to the Americans in the swimming events.

The Americans as usual, have strong men's and women's swimming teams. The track and field team is not America's best—minus such stars as high jump world record holder Dwight Stones runner Dave Wottle. There are only a few members of the men's national team that met the Russians last month in Minsk.

The Americans have brought a good, young basketball team to these Games and hope to avenge the controversial 51-50 defeat at the hands of the Russians at Munich.

But the Soviet team will have many Olympic basketball veterans back for the games and the Cubans also have an experienced squad.

Washington was scoring at a 21.3 points per game clip last season until he broke his foot in the fourth game of the season. He returned to the lineup for limited service toward the end of the season.

The 'Worry Clinic' Try To Fill A Specific Need

Dr. Dan ordered a specific type of seminar for his convention of dental surgeons. For "specificity" is most appealing to readers, patients and customers. Confucius realized that, as shown below. Learn the many Laws of Human Motivation! They zoom success!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.
CASE X-586: My dentist son, Daniel, was president of the Association of American Dentists (AAD).

"Dad," he said, "I'd like you to conduct a 3-hour seminar at one of our Continuing Education Clinics."

"You've been writing for CAL DENTAL MAGAZINE for 35 years, so most of the dentists know you."

"But I want you to give these doctors some tangible ideas, gadgets or methods which they can take home and inject into their own dental practice the very next day!"

"For I have found that if a doctor can bring home even one specific device to use in his own practice, he feels happy about flying maybe 500 miles to attend a seminar!"

Specificity
Dr. Dan has aptly stated one of the essential points of salable merchandise, whether it be in dentistry or even newspaper writing.

It isn't enough just to make people laugh or narrate an interesting story, though that is helpful.

But you should also offer your customers, parishioners, clients or patients something tangible which they themselves can apply in their own homes or place of business. Confucius ably stated this same thought when he said: "Give a hungry man a fish and you feed him for one day."

"But teach him HOW to fish and you feed him for 100 years!" That's why I dissect your own domestic and social problems in a concise fashion and then tell you how to remedy them or avoid their future development.

So I have offered literally hundreds of specific methods for gaining popularity, winning a good job, carrying on a gay repartee, banishing functional sterility so a wife can have a baby etc.

Indeed, many doctors of medicine and dentistry maintain continuing scrapbooks of this daily column just because it gets down to "brass tacks" and offers specificity, not generality.

That specificity is what moves merchandise across the counters of stores and makes advertising copy sell more goods.

Compare these two book titles, used in successive years in a national newspaper advertising campaign.

The price was the same and both got the same amount of advertising exposure. So which do you think sold more books?

—The Art of Courtship
—The Art of Kissing
One of those titles pulled 60,500 orders whereas the other sold only 17,500.

And the answer is contained in Dr. Dan's suggestion, namely, the desire of people for specific help.

"Courtship" is thus a general or generic heading that covers many romantic techniques besides "Kissing."

But "Kissing" is more specific, so it sold the 60,500 copies!

Connected with this daily column and as a "fringe benefit," you readers thus find many specific Rating Scales offered.

They include tests for sweethearts, superb teachers, parents, employers and employees, etc.

And in the body of this column I likewise offer you the practical "Applied Psychology" taught in our leading university courses.

The field of business is good also, as well as interior decorating where the artistic talent can be brought into full play for the most charming effects. Teach early how to handle money properly.

More And More Buying Guitars
NEW YORK (AP) — The day of the guitar is finally arriving, according to vice president Robert P. Bull, of Fender Musical Instruments, which produces electric guitars and amplifiers.
Although the guitar has been America's most popular instrument for several years, more people are buying it, playing it and listening to it than ever before, Bull says.
He believes the upsurge indicates the tremendous increase in participation in music, most of it with young people, and with most emphasis on the guitar. He points out that the guitar is light, convenient, portable, highly versatile and can be amplified through a wide range of whispering to thundering.

Selected Chairman Of 'Run For Life'

Arlene Hott of Greenville has been named chairman of the Pitt County "Run For Life," sponsored by the N.C. Track Club to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

At Workshop Mrs. Holloman

Mrs. Laurel Holloman of Greenville attended the UNC Diabetes Teaching Nurse Workshop in Chapel Hill Aug. 8-11.

Mrs. Holloman is the diabetes teaching nurse at Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

nounced by George Phillips, a member of the N.C. Track Group and state chairman of the event. Track members of the N.C. Club will make the 447-mile run beginning Aug. 26 in Beaufort and end Sept. 1 in Boone. Local people from Beaufort to Boone will be joining the runners as they pass through cities and towns along the way. Most of the N.C. track members run from 80 to 100 miles each week routinely. The runners will carry a lighted torch during the Beaufort-to-Boone run to attract attention to the September campaign of the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. The official kickoff will be at the Sixth Annual banquet to be held at Appalachian State University. The local chairman Arlene Hoot said, "We will be recruiting people from age 12 to 18 to participate in the run as the groups pass Greenville next Sunday. Persons interested in running one block up to 10 miles should contact me. Application forms will be distributed through local civic, church, and other organizations and will be available through the newspaper. We are pleased to join the Track Club in its support of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. The Foundation support 110 research, care, and teaching center in the country fighting cystic fibrosis, asthma, bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and emphysema in children. In doing so, it gives hope to six million youngsters who cannot run because they do not have the breath."

Quartet To Give Show

The Gospel Lads Quartet, originally from Southern California, and now full-time with the Revival Fires ministry, will be appearing in person on Saturday at Washington Square Mall in Washington. They will give 30-minute concerts at 6 p.m., 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The Gospel Lads are a regular feature on the Revival Fires TV program now viewed coast to coast. The program is viewed in this area on WITN-TV, Channel 7 on Sunday at 8:30 a.m. The Lads relocated in Joplin, Mo. and began working full-time with the Revival Fires ministry in January, 1971. Joplin is the international headquarters of Revival Fires.

The Gospel Lads will be on hand for the one day only and will present a concert of Gospel and sacred songs with special emphasis on the many different styles and sounds of Gospel music. Their concert includes favorite old hymns, and "new" Gospel and "new" Gospel favorites, in order to reach those of all ages.

Everyone is welcome to greet the Gospel Lads personally and enjoy the program. There is no admission charge.

Mountain lions, although quite numerous in Central and South America, are now restricted to the western one-third of the United States and to Florida.

The bidding:

Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣
It is apparently simple contracts that often require the most care. Declarer found a neat way to sever the enemy communications and so circumvent their attempts to score a ruff on this hand.

North's takeout double is rather light. However, the vulnerability is in his favor and, with both major suits, he preferred a double to an overall of one spade. East's preemptive tactics could not keep South out of the auction, for the latter had a fair hand and a good suit.

A diamond attack did not seem to offer promise in view of East's announced length in the suit, so West tried to find more fertile fields with his lead of the club king. If his partner held the jack, he would be setting up two tricks in the suit. In addition, as he held first-round trump control, there was the possibility of obtaining a ruff.

Declarer won the ace of clubs, and it seemed that his only losers were one trick in each suit except for spades. Had he gone ahead and tried to draw trumps, West would have stepped up with the ace on the first trump lead, cashed the queen of clubs and underled his ace of diamonds. East would have gained the lead and given his partner a club ruff to defeat the contract.

Declarer was aware of the possibility of a club ruff, and considered ways of preventing this. The bidding offered a slight clue. East had preempted in diamonds, and was unlikely to do so if he held a spade suit on the side. Thus, it was reasonable to assume that he was more likely to be long in clubs than West.

The problem was, therefore, to prevent the defenders from cashing the queen of clubs and then maneuvering a club ruff. There was probably no way to do this if East held the ace of hearts. However, if East's entry was in diamonds, the transportation between the defenders could be interrupted.

Accordingly, declarer led a diamond at trick two. It made no difference which defender won that trick. West could cash his queen of clubs, but there was no way he could put East on lead to score his ruff. Declarer could draw trumps at his leisure and claim his contract.

Because this play depends on cutting the opposing lines of communication, it has become known as the "Scissors Coup."

Gold 'Down'; Dollar Is Up

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar moved up at the opening of European foreign exchange markets today, and gold dropped to a three-month low. The dollar sold at 2.9645 Swiss francs in Zurich, two cents over Monday's close, and at 2.4160 marks in Frankfurt, up a pennig. The dollar gained a quarter of a cent in London with the pound quoted at $2.4722. Dealers said the dollar was being helped by improving U.S. trade figures, the falling gold price and higher interest rates that discourage borrowing for gold speculation.

Gold dropped $4.25 from Monday's close to $97.75 an ounce in early trading today in London. It was the lowest price since May 11.

In Zurich, gold opened at $99 after closing Monday at $101.75. The metal was selling for $127.50 on June 5, and more than half of its drop since then has come in the past week. It dipped under $100 Monday for the first time in three months, hitting $99 in London, but recovered to $102 before trading closed.

Security Council For Censuring Israel

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — All 15 members of the U.N. Security Council agree that Israel should be censured for forcing down an Arab airliner last weekend. But a split may develop over Arab demands for punitive action. Debate continues today, and a vote is not expected before Thursday.

The United States, Israel's traditional backer, indicated it was ready to join in a censure motion as the 15-nation council opened the debate Monday. But a U.S. spokesman said his delegation would oppose any resolution going beyond censure. Lebanon, the owner of the airliner, hoped to negotiate a compromise resolution that would get U.S. support and still carry some form of penalty or threat of penalty against Israel. Israeli jets intercepted the plane over Beirut Friday night and diverted it to a military airfield in Israel in hopes of capturing George Habash, the leader of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, and three other guerrilla leaders. The four were not aboard.

Lebanese Ambassador Edouard Ghorra and other Arab speakers told the council that the interception was an unprecedented act of "state terrorism." The Israelis "have either sunk to the level of hijacking to a state policy," Ghorra said. Lebanon, Egypt and the Soviet Union called for sanctions against Israel. A draft resolution under discussion would ask the International Civil Aviation Organization, a U.N. agency that regulates commercial air traffic, to take "adequate measures against Israel" to insure the safety of civil aviation. It also would threaten action by the Security Council if Israel interfered again with foreign air traffic.

Israeli Ambassador Josef Teikoah told the council that Israel had acted in justified self-defense because the United Nations and the world community were failing to combat "the plague of terrorism sweeping across the world."

Zarzar Named

RALEIGH AP — The appointment of Dr. N. P. (Mike) Zarzar as North Carolina's mental health commissioner was announced today by Secretary of Human Resources David Flaherty.

Zarzar, 41, a native of Jordan, has been acting mental health commissioner since March 15 and succeeds Dr. Eugene Hargrove, who resigned last January at Gov. Jim Holshouser's request.

Flaherty told a news conference that he met Monday with Gov. Holshouser "and we talked about several outstanding prospects. We mutually agreed the best" was Zarzar.

Zarzar is a former superintendent of the John Umstead Hospital at Butler and a former north central regional commissioner for the mental health office.

Zarzar was one of five persons recommended for the post by a 30-member search committee.

$84.89 Day At Farmville

FARMVILLE — Volume of sales yesterday consisted mainly of primings and lugs, with the offering of lugs yesterday showing an increase in comparison to the previous sales day.

Volume of non-descript dropped considerably compared with other sales days this season. Grade-for-grade prices were steady. A few piles of quality lugs brought 91 cents a pound.

Stabilization receipts accounted for 1,172 pounds volume in yesterday's sales.

On Monday's market in Farmville 286,032 pounds were sold for $242,810.30 for an average price of $84.89 per 100 pounds.

To date a total of 1,266,070 pounds have been sold on the Farmville market for a total price of $1,067,538.38, at an average price per pound of 84.32 cents.

N.C. Rangers Sent To Idaho

ASHEVILLE (AP) — The North Carolina Forest Service is sending a crew to Boise, Idaho, to help contain a series of large wildfires in northern Idaho and Montana.

A crew of 22 forest rangers, mostly from the mountains, was scheduled to leave the Asheville airport aboard a charter flight this afternoon.

A spokesman said this is only the second time in the history of the state Forest Service that firefighters have been sent to western states. The crew expects to be gone 10 days to two weeks.

Altogether some 222 firefighters from southeastern states will be flying to Idaho but only North Carolina and Georgia have been asked to provide crews from the state forest service. The rest are part of the U.S. Forest Service.
