Nixon Tells His Side To Public Tonight

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon takes his defense in the Watergate case to the American people tonight with a television address about the scandal that has marred his presidency.

The chief executive worked at his Camp David retreat today on the final version of the 9 p.m. EDT speech and on a more detailed written statement to be released at the same time.

The half-hour address from the Oval Office will be carried live by all national radio and television networks.

The speech and statement comprise Nixon's first comprehensive response since May 22 to the stream of allegations flowing from what ranks as one of the greatest political scandals in the nation's history.

Confronted by opinion polls showing public confidence in his administration and him personally at all time lows, the President will seek in the television address to rally public support for his second term foreign and domestic goals.

White House officials, who contend the American people are "ready to turn the corner" on Watergate, said tonight's response will be followed in the days ahead by other public speeches and news conferences.

The first will come on Monday in New Orleans, where the President is to address the Veterans of Foreign Wars national convention. Next will come a news conference in California, where Nixon is to spend the last two weeks of the month.

While most of his aides declined to discuss specifics of tonight's speech, they indicated the President would deny advance knowledge of the bugging of Democratic National Headquarters and of the subsequent cover-up, while candidly conceding he should have paid more heed to allegations that White House and re-election committee officials were involved.

The President reportedly was ready to place a large share of the blame on fired White House counsel John W. Dean III. Until the early months of this year, Nixon sought to cope with the spreading allegations of scandal by citing an investigation he said Dean conducted showing no White House involvement.

Dean, who said he never made the investigation Nixon cited, was a principal witness in the televised Senate Watergate committee hearings.

In addition to the bugging and cover-up, Nixon is reported ready to respond to other spinoff questions—such as the burglary of Pentagon papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office.

But aides indicated the bulk of the televised address will be devoted to an effort to rekindle public confidence in the President and his administration.

U.S. Bombing Campaign In Cambodia Has Ended

States Can Now Check Up

By DENNIS NEELD

Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force F111s, glinting silver in the bright sunlight, roared low over Phnom Penh at 10:45 a.m. today to signal the end of the American bombing of Cambodia.

The two swept-wing jets, on their way back to their bases in Thailand, were followed by an OV10 forward air control plane blowing a trail of blue and white smoke as a last gesture of farewell to nine years of American air attacks in Indochina.

The OV10 did a slow barrel roll, and the bombing halt was in effect 15 minutes before the deadline set by the U. S. Congress.

Crowds in the streets paused briefly to watch the planes, but the bustle of the Cambodian capital quickly returned to normal. The people appeared unperturbed by the historic moment and the increased prospect that their city would fall to the estimated 30,000 Communist-led insurgents of the Khmer Rouge around it.

Northwest of Phnom Penh at the village of Kap Srov, Capt. Eng Taung Hak watched one of the last American air strikes against an insurgent position a mile away. As the planes flew off, he shrugged and said: "Finis bombardement."

The last group of three B52s dropped their 48 tons of bombs just before dawn. The last American bombs dropped on Cambodia were credited to Maj. John Hoskins, 37, of Portsmouth, Ohio, flying an A7 fighter-bomber. He said he dropped his load at 10:44 a.m. in a wooded area 40 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

The Pentagon indicated more than 200 strikes — the usual daily average in recent weeks — were flown in the last 24 hours of the air war.

American pilots at their bases in Thailand telephoned their wives back home but held no special celebrations. The Pentagon said earlier that most combat crews and planes would remain in Southeast Asia for a time, and the White House said again that the Nixon administration would do "everything within the law" to support the government of Cambodia. Pentagon sources said U. S. reconnaissance and cargo flights in Cambodia would continue.

The bombing halt which the U. S. Congress forced President Nixon to accept ended the longest aerial campaign in the history of warfare. The 7.4 million tons of bombs and other explosives dropped on North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia was three times the amount U. S. planes dropped in World War II and 10 times the amount in the Korean War.

The end of the bombing removed a protective shield that slowed but did not stop the advance on Phnom Penh of the Khmer Rouge, who control two thirds of Cambodia. There was no indication yet whether the insurgents would make an all-out drive to take the city.

Col. Am Rong, the chief spokesman for the Cambodian military command, expressed confidence that the army could defend Phnom Penh without the support of the U.S. bombing. But his confidence was not shared by foreign observers in the city.

An Organized Mail Campaign Claimed By Senator Ervin

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., says there is an "artificially inspired mail campaign" aimed at discrediting the Senate Watergate committee.

Ervin, chairman of the committee, said in a telephone interview Tuesday that he had been informed of a recent gathering of Republicans in Davidson County, North Carolina, "to encourage an organized effort to discredit the committee." He did not specify who he thinks might be behind the effort.

The senator said from his home in Morganton that Watergate committee members in other states are having similar experience.

Ervin said the mail he receives, which has been as much as 2,700 pieces a day, is "overwhelmingly in favor of the committee."

Ervin was told of a statement by the North Carolina secretary of state, Thad Eure, that he had heard rumors that unidentified persons were "checking into anything that might be shady in Sen. Ervin's life."

U.S. Consulate Is Frobombed

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — A gasoline bomb caused more than $20,000 worth of damage to the U. S. Consulate in Christchurch early today.

Police arrested a young man and a young woman after chasing them more than 10 miles at 80 miles an hour. They were charged with the fire bombing and stealing the getaway car.

The motive for the attack was not known.

Two Youths Indicted In Mass Murders

HOUSTON (AP) — A grand jury has indicted two youths in the Texas mass murders and an official says more indictments are in the works.

The jury returned indictments Tuesday against Elmer Wayne Henley Jr., 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18, in connection with the country's worst confirmed mass slayings.

The bodies of 27 teen-aged victims of the homosexual slayings over the past three years have been unearthed since last week. Nine of the bodies have been identified.

Three indictments named cuse Henley of strangling Mar-and three in San Augustine County. He has told police he took part in nine killings.

The jury returned one indictment against Brooks. He had been charged with one murder in Houston but has said he did not kill anyone.

One indictment alleged both Brooks and Henley killed William Ray Lawrence, 15, "by strangling him with a cord and in some manner and by some means, instruments and weapons to the grand jury unknown" on July 10.

The other two indictments accused Henley of strangling Mar-

Cobble. The two 17-year-olds were slain July 27.

The grand jury returned the indictments after hearing 6½ hours of testimony from police detectives and Billy Ridinger, 20, who entered and left the jury room with a brown paper sack over his head.

Brooks said in a statement to police that he was at the home of Dean Allen Corll "when they got Billy Ridinger.... And I believe the only reason he is alive now is that I begged them not to kill him."

A source in the investigation quoted Henley and Brooks as saying they received money for procuring youths for Corll, 33. The source said the victims were taken to Corll's home, tied to a board "spreadeagled," sexually assaulted and later murdered.

It was Corll's death at Henley's hands last Wednesday that brought the mass slayings to light.

Dist. Atty. Carol Vance said Corll was "probably responsible for, or in on, most of the killings in which the bodies have been found."

However, Vance told newsmen that more indictments were possible and that he expected to present more evidence to the grand jury, possibly Thursday. "There is much more to be done," he said.

"This is not going to be all the indictments," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Mike Hinton, who has been conducting the district attorney's investigation. "What is holding us up now is identification of the bodies. Under Texas law, you can't indict a person for murder unless the identity of the deceased is established."

The search for further bodies has been at least temporarily suspended. There had been reports the death toll might be as high as 30.

Utilities Commissioners Pondering Rate Dilemma

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Reflector Managing Editor
Utilities commissioners are mulling over what to do about electric rate schedules now that Virginia Electric and Power has been ordered by the State Utilities Commission to follow lower rate schedules.

Greenville Utilities has in recent years been conforming to the VEPCO rate schedules. The local utilities purchases its power from VEPCO on a wholesale basis and then sells to its customers at retail prices. Until the recent price spiral started the local utilities found it could follow VEPCO's retail rates and still make money.

VEPCO put new rates in effect as it made application to the State Utilities Commission and posted a bond for refund to the customers in case the increase was turned down. The case was decided by the state commission which cut back on the rates VEPCO had requested. Virginia Electric put the new rates in effect but appealed the decision to the courts.

The state commission action was not binding on Greenville Utilities, but now the local commission has to decide whether or not to adopt the lowered retail rate schedule which VEPCO was ordered to institute.

Lower rates might sound like good news to local customers until you realize that the rate Greenville Utilities would be charging its largest customers — industries and large businesses — could in some cases be below what Greenville Utilities is paying for power.

Greenville Utilities has also already adopted its budget for fiscal 1973-74 and it is based on the higher rates. Director Charles Horne told the commissioners last night that to adopt the new schedule would mean a revenue reduction of about five percent, or about $500,000 for the fiscal year. He outlined reductions in electrical capital improvements of about $125,000 which could be "comfortably" made and another $125,000 which it would be "uncomfortable" to cut.

But Horne also pointed out to the commissioners that the local utilities has begun a program of converting from 34,000 KV transmission lines to 110,000 KV lines. The first phase of this line is now under construction along the new Eastern bypass and eventually it will encircle the city.

Horne said this project alone will call for an average investment of $541,600 annually for the next six years. It is a "must" project.

The commissioners set a work shop session for next week to study the rate question, including the dilemma of selling power for less than it cost and what could be eliminated from the fiscal year's budget.

Freeze Survey

GREENSBORO (AP) — The Greensboro office of the Internal Revenue Service reported today that a recent price-freeze survey of North Carolina firms turned up 521 price and posting violations.

The 60-day freeze began June 13 and ended with the advent of Phase IV controls Aug. 12.

During the freeze period, IRS agents contacted 767 gas stations and discovered 12 price and 481 posting violations. Refunds and rollbacks amounted to $23,241.

The agents contacted 114 food firms and noted 13 price and 15 posting discrepancies. Refunds and rollbacks totaled $8,809.09.

raised the possibility that the commission might have to suspend the annual turnover to city government. He said the charter requires the Utilities to turnover surplus to the city. "We don't have a surplus. It may be we will have to inform the city we don't have money to turn over."

Commissioner Gene Prescott said the commission was in an uncomfortable position. "Either we erred earlier in setting their rates (VEPCO'S) or we are about to err now in setting new rates and putting off things we need to do."

Business Manager Curtis Howell reported heavy complaints about high electric bills during the month. He said 177 meters were re-read and only 13 were found to have been read incorrectly. It was pointed out that this would have corrected itself with the next month's reading.

Howell said 16 meters were checked for accuracy and all were found to be operating properly.

Horne was reported to have been re-named to the board of directors of Electricities at a recent meeting.

Some $20,760 in accounts more than five years old were ruled uncollectable by the commission.

UN Security Council Deadlocked Today Over Demand For Sanctions

By GENE KRAMER

Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was deadlocked today over Egyptian and Soviet demands for sanctions against Israel for forcing down an Arab airliner last week.

All council members including the United States, Israel's chief backer, were ready to support a resolution condemning the Israeli action. But the United States was believed likely to veto anything stronger than censure.

Hinting at this, U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali told newsmen late Tuesday he saw "red flags" in some of the proposals during continuing negotiations outside the council chamber.

A council vote was expected late today or Thursday, depending on the outcome of the talks.

But in Israel, Premier Golda Meir said her government will continue to protect its citizens at home and abroad "with whatever means we have."

"We have nothing to be ashamed of — let those who censure us be ashamed," Mrs. Meir said.

Diplomatic sources reported that one obstacle to agreement on a Security Council resolution was removed when Egypt abandoned a demand that all countries be asked to halt aid to Israel enabling it to "pursue aggression."

Other proposed wording was reported still objectionable to the United States, Britain and France.

Speaking in the council debate Tuesday, Scali deplored the Israeli action as a violation of the U.N. Charter and of the rule of law in commercial aviation.

However, he asked the Arabs "to retain a sense of perspective and prevent this incident from leading to further reprisals and counterreprisals."

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Teikoah accused the United Nations of following a double standard in the Middle East and said Israel would reject any censure so long as Palestinian terrorists went unpunished.

Average Up Yesterday Tobacco Market Price

Despite a decrease in the amount of tobacco sold, the Greenville Market climbed in price as local warehouses recorded an average of $86.17 per hundred pounds Tuesday over Monday's $85.71.

Goldsboro topped the 11 markets, selling at an average of $86.70 a pound. Smithfield placed second with an average of $86.28.

The belt average was $86.77 on sales of 3,648,057 pounds for $3,129,061. This showed a slight increase in price over Monday's $85.57 per hundred pounds with a decrease in total pounds sold.

With primings and non-descript grades gaining $1-$2 per hundred pounds, the Farmville Market rose from Monday, according to sales supervisor Louis Williams. Prices rose to $85.42 from Monday's $85.16 per hundred pounds.

The quality of the tobacco marketed yesterday was the season's best, reported Williams. Top practical price on top grades was 89 cents a pound with a few piles of lugs and cutters selling as high as 91 cents per pound.

Lugs and cutters increased sharply in volume. Sales declined, however, in percentage of marketing consisting of non-descript and tobacco marked "no grade".

Stabilization receipts amounted to 4,414 pounds of gross sales.

The following tabulation, compiled by the Market News Service, shows the results of Thursday's activities on the Eastern Belt.

Turn Beans Into Dream Casserole

By TOM HOGE

AP Newsfeatures Writer
In these inflationary times when most of us are making do with at least one meatless dinner a week, housewives are turning to the versatile bean.

Virtually every country has its favorite bean dish, from the black bean soup of Cuba to the old-fashioned baked beans of New England, and a number of these specialties fall into the gourmet category.

Next to cereals, the bean is the legume family which contributes most substantially toward feeding the people of the world. With their high protein content, beans are a must in countries where little meat is eaten.

Beans have been with us for a long time. Broad beans, one of the world's oldest cultivated plants, have been found in Bronze Age deposits dating around 3000 B.C. And historians tell us they were grown by the ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans.

On the other side of the world, soybeans were being cultivated, dried and eaten 2,000 years before Christ's birth. And in Latin America, they have apparently been growing beans even longer. Bean remains have been found in caves near Ocampo, Mexico, that date back to about 4000 B.C.

The American Indian taught the Pilgrim fathers the trick of growing corn and beans together and eating them together. They also taught the settlers how to bake dried white beans slowly with a dollop of sweetener to bring out the full flavor.

An old-fashioned cook with the intriguing name Crescent Dragonwagon has written a delightful, informative book on the bean. Titled The Bean Book, it is published by the Workman Publishing Company. The author, who lives with her cat, Bean Blossom, on a farm in the Ozark Mountains, nails the nutritional value of beans, but adds a note of warning. If you are making them the mainstay of your diet, she says, bear in mind the fact that beans by themselves do not contain complete protein as do meats, eggs and fish.

However, she adds, two incomplete proteins can be combined to make up a meal that has an adequate amount of this vital substance. Thus, she says, dried beans eaten with rice, corn or wheat products like bread or macaroni, or consumed with milk or nuts will make up enough protein.

New England baked beans have been a favorite of mine for years, but only recently I learned a variation that makes them an epicurean dish. The feat is accomplished by adding bourbon whiskey and a few other ingredients. Here is the recipe.

BOURBON BAKED BEANS
4 12-ounce cans baked beans
4 oranges sliced whole
1 lemon sliced whole
1 cup raisins
1 cup molasses
1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger or 1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger
1 cup bourbon
Add all ingredients except the bourbon to the 4 cans of beans and place in a large pottery bean casserole. Mix thoroughly. Add bourbon gradually, making sure it is well blended. Bake in 300 degree oven for one hour to 90 minutes.

B.B. Bored With Movies

SARLAT, France (WNS) — Brigitte Bardot, the sexiest star in French film history, has announced that she will retire from the screen as soon as she finishes shooting "The Very Good And Very Happy Story of Colinet" here. How old is she? "49 films old, and I have no intention of reaching 50," confided B.B., who has been on the job for 21 years. "I can no longer pretend to live for a profession that fails to touch me personally." Is she sure that she will not change her mind? "Only imbeciles never change," commented the French star. "If, for instance, I should ever need money, I would go to work again. At the moment I'm bored and want to really live." What will she do to really live? "Nothing, absolutely, nothing," she said.

However, she adds, two incomplete proteins can be combined to make up a meal that has an adequate amount of this vital substance. Thus, she says,

Is Intermarriage Foe Prejudiced?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I was brought up [and I brought my own children up] to "be friends with everybody, but to marry your own kind."

Would you consider this prejudice? I have respect for all religions and colors, and have friends of all denominations, but I do not condone or believe in intermarriage. I try to find the good in the individual, regardless of color, creed or origin. Marriage is difficult enough without the problems intermarriage presents. Would you please give me your opinion?

NOT PREJUDICED

DEAR NOT: I agree, marriage IS difficult, and marrying one's "own kind" may possibly reduce the number of problems. [It may not.] But I believe in the right of every adult to marry whomever he wants. Were you to bring up your children to try to find the good in the individual, regardless of color, creed or origin, and respect his right to make his own choice, then I would say you were not prejudiced.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you could tell me how to solve a problem which has been bothering me for a long time, but has gotten worse lately.

I am over 65 years old, and my eyesight is growing dim, even with eyeglasses. I do all my own housekeeping, cooking, washing, etc. My daughter in law comes here quite often, and she always points out a speck of dust I missed in a corner, or a few crumbs I overlooked on the table, or some fingerprints on my refrigerator.

I am not a careless housekeeper, Abby, but I just can't see as well as I used to, and her constantly finding something I overlooked makes me feel bad. Is there some way I can let her know how much this bothers me? When I know she's coming I look for these little things she might find, but my heart grows heavy because she always finds something I missed. Help me.

HURT

DEAR HURT: The next time "The Inspector" visits, greet her with: "If you should see a speck of dust, a crumb, or a fingerprint I overlooked, please don't mention it as I do the best I can, but my eyes aren't what they used to be." And if she forgets, remind her as often as necessary.

DEAR ABBY: I am desperately in need of someone to confide in. I am an 18-year-old girl whose parents were divorced two years ago. I am living with my father who has recently started dating an attractive young girl. She is 21, and my father is 41.

My problem is that this girl has been making passes at my boy friend when my father is not around. She is so obvious, I have noticed it myself.

My father is very much in love with this girl and is even contemplating marriage. He is very wealthy, and it is my gut feeling that this girl is just after his money.

How can I warn my father without destroying his ego? NAMELESS IN TORRENCE

DEAR NAMELESS: You can't. Love is voluntarily blind. If your suspicions are correct, you can only hope your father catches on before he gets hooked.

Fresh Bartlett Pears Are Tops In Taste Appeal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There are lovely things to do with fresh Bartlett pears. Here are four suggestions:

For a salad go back to a dish that was popular years ago. Peel fresh pears and cut out the seeds and stem structure. Arrange pear halves, flat side down, on salad greens; cover well with cream cheese softened with a little cream. Stud the pear halves with whole small or halved large seedless green grapes so that each pear looks like a bunch of grapes. You'll need a three-ounce package of cream cheese and two tablespoons of cream for four pear halves.

Broil pears and serve for Sunday brunch with ham and eggs. Pare the pears and cut each in half lengthwise; remove seeds and stem structure. Fill pear cavities with honey, spreading a little over the entire top surface. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Place in a shallow baking pan or on foil (with edges turned up) and broil about four inches from high heat until fruit is hot through and flecked with brown.

Poach fresh pear halves and serve with vanilla ice cream and semisweet chocolate sauce.

ESP at the New York School of Technology, one of about eight schools now giving courses in it, he says.

"There is nothing supernatural about ESP. Everybody is born with it (the ability to experience a knowledge of events at a distance without being there) but ESP works through the emotions and it cannot be reproduced at will. A genuine need is necessary for it to happen and it is set off by a breakdown in communications — danger or sickness — of a loved one," he explained.

About half of the students he has taught have had ESP experiences and wanted to know more about them. People in the outer Scottish Islands are very psychic. American Indians, Africans and other primitive societies for whom telepathy "is a natural" are more with ESP than people in the United States, he remarked. But Americans shouldn't feel bad — they have more ghosts and haunted houses than other peoples. But we could get back our ESP by learning to live with nature, he remarked.

The interest in ecology has awakened more young people to it because they are living in a natural environment with trees and plants, he observed. Women relate more quickly than men as they are likely to be more psychic. In nature women are the intuitive element, he says, but then, in his opinion, "women are superior to men biologically, physically and emotionally."

Six of Holzer's books have been about ghosts and he has received many letters from people who need help.

"Sometimes they dream something that happens later, sometimes they hear footsteps or doors opening by themselves or strange human voices — and no one there..." he said.

Holzer has heard voices. On two occasions, three years ago, an old friend seemed to be calling him distinctly. Holzer finally decided to call the man's widow, who, he said, "was indeed in great difficulties."

He considers himself "an historical detective." His newest book, "The Hapsburg Curse," is all about the curse "which is not one, but two," he insists. It was a long time between curses, he discovered when he put his detective ear to the historical sounding board — one curse occurred in the 12th century and the other was brought about by the Hungarian Revolution in 1849.

In addition to Sybil Leek's talks on mediumship, numerology and her witchcraft specialty, there will be talks by Dr. Douglas Baker, British parapsychologist, and the Spanish authority on psychic phenomena, Dr. German de Argumosa Valdes, at the seminars. Holzer's classes will be on psychic photography (scientific evidence for ghosts), reincarnation and hypnosis, as well as ESP.

Today, apartments are providing housing for individuals and families in small towns as well as in large cities. People interested in apartment living should take more than a "bird's eye view" if an intelligent decision about prospective living arrangements is to be made. There are both large apartments and small apartments with many desirable features; there are also apartment, both large and small, that do not measure up quite as well in fulfilling the needs of a family. Therefore, families should be aware of the advantages and disadvantages of each apartment in terms of their own resources and life style.

To assist in the search for a place to suit a particular family's needs, here are a few things which should receive special attention.

1. Look at the neighborhood and surroundings — considering how it is located in relationship and to work, to shopping areas, to schools and to recreational facilities. Remember that private parking for the family auto provides a certain amount of added security from hit-and-run drivers.

2. A well-lighted entrance is both a safety and convenience feature. A staggered arrangement of doors on opposite sides of the entrance hall will reduce noise problems and provide more privacy.

3. A quick walk around the apartment gives a general idea of its convenience. The bathroom should be located near the bedroom area. A door to separate the kitchen partially or completely from the living room is a most desirable feature. Furniture can be moved in and arranged mentally — estimating whether there is enough wall space for the sofa, enough height for bookcases, etc.

4. Doors and windows should operate smoothly, yet fit tight enough to prevent air from leaking through.

5. In selecting an apartment, noise control should be considered. Conversation cannot be understood thru walls that have been well constructed as noise barriers. Carpeted floors, draperies and acoustical ceiling all help to reduce sound reverberation within a room. For best control of outside noise, look for masonry exterior walls. Independent heating and air-conditioning systems for each apartment will reduce noise transmission between units.

6. Adequate storage space neatly and economically accommodates clothes, linens, cookware, and seasonal items.

7. Work centers in the kitchen should be conveniently located without the interference of traffic pattern. Sufficient counter space for work includes 24 inches to the right of the sink for stacking dishes before washing. Eighteen inches to the left of the sink is needed for draining and stacking clean dishes. For mixing and food preparation, 36 inches of space is recommended. Preferably, this should be located between the refrigerator and range. Fifteen inches is recommended also on the latch side of the refrigerator for receiving supplies.

8. Finally, read the lease carefully before you sign. Be sure you understand your responsibilities as a renter. Remember, the lease is a protection for both the renter and the landlord.

Men Prefer Diamonds Too

LONDON, England (WNS) — In Europe, diamonds are now a man's best friend. Ian Lawrence, boss of an engineering firm, has gone into male jewelry, too, and reports that "it is selling well with millionaires, bank managers and theatrical stars. "Why give diamonds to ladies when they are impressed with the man who wears them himself?" asked Lawrence. He reported that male customers prefer heavy, chunky pieces with precious stones set into them.

Alexandre Brun, their Russian teacher, confessed, "I cannot tell them apart; they are both perfect." Then he entered them in the national language contest. The prize jury voted them both first prize, too. "Now we shall try English, American English," said Marie Andree. "We hope to go to America to work." Marie Jose added, "We've turned down a dozen offers for beauty contests. They don't call for enough talent."

Cannot Condone Interference

Israel is making a tremendous mistake in interfering with civilian flights of Arab nations. Last weekend two Israeli jets intercepted a Middle East Airlines jet. The aircraft had taken off from Beirut International airport with 81 people aboard. The plane was forced to land at an Israeli airbase.

Israel admitted forcing the plane to land, apparently in an attempt to capture four Arab guerilla leaders. These leaders decided not to board the flight because a delay made them suspicious.

Israel has a right to defend itself and, indeed, has had the support of the United States and other nations in its efforts to live and prosper in the Middle East. This support, however, cannot extend to forcing down civilian aircraft.

It must be recalled that a Libyan airliner was shot down on Feb. 21 by Israel with 108 deaths.

No nation can condone interference with unarmed passenger aircraft anywhere in the world. The right of safe use of the air for passenger travel is one which all nations should enjoy, subject to international control. When any nation starts interfering with that right and endangering innocent lives, it must expect world condemnation.

It is a mystery to us why the leaders of Israel would plan such actions, knowing that their own civilian aircraft are vulnerable, too.

Bad Tidings Is Part Of Chore

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — It's a truism in government as well as industry—every chief executive has a man close to him to carry out the grimy details of day-to-day business.

He is variously known as a hatchet-man, the cutter or other more bitter terms. A principal role is to be the bearer of bad tidings when budgets are cut, people fired, programs rejected, favorite projects changed or unpopular decisions enforced.

Consequently, that individual becomes the focus of oftentimes bitter reaction to unpopular administrative acts while the chief executive enjoys a measure of seclusion.

Thus the top man can remain relatively isolated from the unpopular decisions that make up an administrative operation while the person on the firing line catches the flak. He is generally tabbed administrative assistant, aide or in many instances the personnel director.

Usually there is an obscure definition of whether all or most of the unpopular actions originated with the top man in the first man, or whether this hatchet-man is operating on his own or leading the chief executive to make the unpopular decisions.

We have seen this situation probed in depth—without answering the questions—in the ongoing Watergate hearings. Did the President know what was going on or did his chief aides operate on their own?

More Politics
Raleigh, just like Washington, is a city awash in politics. Unlike other cities in North Carolina where commerce, industry or other interests occupy people's minds, Raleigh is made up largely of governmental employees or people occupied in activities largely oriented to governmental activities.

So it is that when political machinations are taking place, these happenings are the subject of gossip, rumor, daily chit-chat and much speculation in the various governmental agencies; up and down main street.

And so it was in recent days as a showdown brewed between Gov. Jim Holshouser and Republican Party Chairman Frank Rouse—with Holshouser's chief aide Gene Anderson in the middle.

Anderson, who ran Holshouser's campaign for governor, is credited even by one of the Democratic candidates for governor, as being the real moving force behind the GOP success. "He was always two steps ahead of us," the defeated candidate said.

It is commonly accepted in Raleigh that Anderson is the power in the governor's office. He is called "King Gene" openly, and top agency heads, commission chairmen, gubernatorial appointees clear programs, actions and hiring with him.

Anderson People
Anderson has "his people" in key slots over the state reporting to him, leading to a certain amount of suspicion and fear among governmental employees.

And recently, Anderson carried the tidings that a network of 11 people across the state under his supervision would pass on hiring of party faithful in state jobs, bypassing the traditional program of clearing such activities through the party system.

Anderson, consequently, has become the focus of reaction to almost everything that happens in the governor's office.

Rouse focused on Anderson when he and the governor fell out publicly last week. Gov. Holshouser, after two long meetings with Rouse in which he offered to back for an elective post or for appointment to a state job in exchange for a quiet leaving of the state chairmanship, called a press conference in the Governor's Mansion to endorse Thomas S. Bennett for election as GOP Party Chief.

Rouse didn't take the cue. He said there is "widespread discontent among North Carolina Republicans who are convinced that Mr. Gene Anderson wants to take over the Republican Party."

He said the party could not afford the luxury of inter-party fighting, and noted that "Mr. Anderson is just one Republican," and he (Rouse) would not turn his back on Republicans who elected him to be the party chief.

GOP Destruction?
Rouse said he would continue to support Gov. Holshouser whatever the outcome of the fight over the party post which may not be settled until the state convention in Raleigh in early November, and added that "for the good of the party I hope the governor can persuade Mr. Anderson to abandon his attempt to destroy the Republican Party."

Did Rouse, in talking with Gov. Holshouser, get specific about what he means? "No," the governor said bluntly.

Gov. Holshouser said he foresees no shifts in procedures in the governor's office should Bennett win the chairmanship.

"Does that mean you plan no changes in Mr. Anderson's role?" he was asked.

"I guess that's how you could say it," Holshouser responded.

New Air Service Must Be Used To Be Kept

Greenville's new air service is inaugurated with Wheeler Airservice making daily flights to Raleigh-Durham and Morehead-Beaufort.

This service can be of much benefit to local citizens in making connections with major flights at Raleigh-Durham.

But as Secretary of Transportation Bruce Lentz said, "The responsibility for success turns now to the people of this area."

We must use these flights, which offer non-stop service to Raleigh-Durham, if we want to keep local air travel.

That Fateful April 15 Alert

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Concealed in the deluge of testimony before the Senate Watergate committee is this astonishing fact: President Nixon's immediate response to a warning that his chief aide, H. R. Haldeman, might be criminally prosecuted and should be fired was to give him one of the critically important White House Watergate tapes.

That was not Mr. Nixon's only reaction to the visit paid him—and the ominous warning—on April 15 by Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen. While recommending immediate dismissal of Haldeman and top domestic policy chief John Ehrlichman,

That was not Mr. Nixon's only reaction to the visit paid him—and the ominous warning—on April 15 by Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen. While recommending immediate dismissal of Haldeman and top domestic policy chief John Ehrlichman, Petersen gave contrary advice concerning White House counsel John W. Dean III: he should be kept on. In less than 24 hours, Mr. Nixon was demanding Dean's resignation.

This chain of events, forged by the testimony of Petersen and other witnesses before the Ervin committee, is unchallenged. It has only two possible explanations.

The first: Mr. Nixon exercised bad judgment out of misguided loyalty to his two closest aides.

The second, and vastly more sinister: he was party to a clandestine arrangement with them.

The real answer would define the President's overall role in Watergate, and it may lie hidden in the surreptitious White House tapes of April 15 and 16.

The importance of the fateful April 15 was starkly etched last Tuesday as a bone-weary committee hurried through Petersen's appearance. He testified that on Sunday afternoon, April 15, he briefed the President on the cracking of the Watergate case.

He informed the President that his two top aides, Haldeman and Ehrlichman, might be criminally prosecuted and that he should "get rid of them immediately" to avoid "vast embarrassment." It might be concluded that a criminal case against Haldeman, he told the President, "was in the offing" from testimony of three potential witnesses—Dean, campaign aide Jeb Magruder and possibly Haldeman aide Gordon Strachan.

The President was "clam," testified Petersen. He asked whether Dean, then supplying information to federal prosecutors, should be fired. "My goodness, no," Petersen said he told the President. "We don't want to give the impression that he is being subjected to reprisal because of his cooperation." The President did not protest.

But according to Haldeman's own testimony of July 31, after that warning from Petersen, Mr. Nixon asked Haldeman himself to listen to the tape of the surreptitiously recorded March 21 meeting between the President, Dean and, intermittently, Haldeman. It was in that conversation, both Dean and Haldeman testified, that Dean told Mr. Nixon there was "a cancer growing on the presidency." All signs point to Haldeman being given the tape April 15 or 16, just hours after Petersen's warning (although Haldeman testified he could not pinpoint the exact time).

Thus, instead of following the advice of his criminal division chief that Haldeman be fired, Mr. Nixon entrusted to Haldeman material so secret its existence was unknown to the Justice Department. Although senior White House aides now explain that the President reviewed the tapes to check Dean's charges against him, in fact no such charges had been made in mid-April. Dean had not told the prosecutors anything to implicate Mr. Nixon.

On the morning of April 16, according to Dean's undisputed testimony, Mr. Nixon scorned Petersen's other recommendation by asking for Dean's written resignation. Dean testified that the President informed

Strength For Today

NEW HIGHWAYS
As we drove along a new superhighway, a friend of mine remarked that this highway necessitated a profound readjustment in the lives of business people who lived along an older road which the superhighway replaced. Unless the people who had kept filling stations and motels along the old highway could move to new locations at intersections and access roads on the new highway, they would be permanently out of business.

New highways always mean new adjustments, and only those who can make the new adjustments survive. Let us be prepared in the days which lie ahead for the new highways which will run across our lives everywhere. How picturesque and quaint were the roads of an older day, how inviting the homesteads along their narrow courses! But now, if we are to carry on our lives in the new order of things, we must move to the new highway. Only let us be sure that we do everything we can to make this a highway of the Lord, and not a highway of sin.

Prayer Of The Tourist

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists, to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — According to the Times of London, the Greek Orthodox Church has just issued a new prayer asking the Lord to protect the Greek people from tourists. The prayer, which is to be said by monks and nuns every morning and every evening, goes like this: "Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on the cities, the islands and the villages of our orthodox fatherland, as well as the holy monasteries, which are scourged by the worldly touristic wave.

"Grace us with a solution to this dramatic problem and protect our brethren who are sorely tried by the modernistic spirit of these contemporary Western invaders."

Now it's only fair, if the monks and nuns are beseeching the Lord with antitourist prayers, that the tourists get equal time. So I have written a prayer for tourists which they must recite when they get up in the morning and go to bed at night.

It goes like this: "Heavenly Father, look down on us. Your humble, obedient tourist servants who are doomed to travel this earth, taking photographs, mailing post cards, buying souvenirs and walking around in drip-dry underwear.

"We beseech You, oh Lord, to see that our plane is not hijacked, our luggage is not lost and our overweight baggage goes unnoticed.

"Protect us from surly and unscrupulous taxi drivers, avaricious porters and unlicensed, English-speaking guides.

"Give us this day divine guidance in the selection of our hotels that we may find our reservations honored, our rooms made up and hot water running from the faucets (if it is at all possible).

"We pray that the telephones work and that the operators speak our tongue and that there is no mail waiting from our children which would force us to cancel the rest of our trip.

"Lead us, dear Lord, to good, inexpensive restaurants where the food is superb, the waiters friendly and the wine included in the price of the meal.

"Give us the wisdom to tip correctly in currencies we do not understand. Forgive us for under tipping out of ignorance and over tipping out of fear. Make the natives love us for what we are and not for what we can contribute to their worldly goods.

"Grant us the strength to visit the museums, the cathedrals, the palaces and the castles listed as 'musts' in the guidebooks.

"And if, perchance, we skip a historic monument to take a nap after lunch, have mercy on us for our flesh is weak."

(This part of the prayer is for husbands.)

The vast undone — how it does haunt us at times.

For example, it makes a fellow well past the midmark of life wonder how he has wasted his years when he stops and realizes that he has never even once:

- Escaped from a prison island.
- Voted for a Prohibitionist or a Vegetarian candidate for public office.
- Sent a monocle to the jeweler's to be polished.
- Bulldogged a buck deer by his antlers.
- Bluffed a buffalo after pulling its beard.
- Eaten from a pork barrel or been swilled at the public trough.
- Made love to a lady acrobat or a female politician.
- Been the favorite pen pal of a member of Europe's fading nobility.
- Gotten lost in a cave.
- Slept overnight in a jail.
- Won a hug calling contest.
- Been sued for a divorce or nonpayment of a bill.
- Bought a girl a false.
- Ridden a camel bareback.
- Stuffed snuff up an elephant's trunk.
- Lived on borrowed time.
- Lost any hostages to fortune.

- Played a piano duet with Liberace.
- Kissed Helen Hayes on both cheeks.
- Been caught cheating at bingo in a church.
- Gone skinny dipping with a starlet during a movie festival on the Riviera.
- Been arrested during a Sunday vice raid in Philadelphia.
- Caught a cold from Raquel Welch.
- Courtied a girl in a Stutz Bearcat, or made one walk home from a ride in a horse-drawn buggy.
- Stolen money from a piggy bank.
- Drunk nectar from heaven through a straw, or sopped it up with a homemade biscuit.

Yes, the wonder grows. How could a fellow live so long and do so little? Where did the time go?

Washington Laughter Is Rare

By ANN BLACKMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Alice Roosevelt Longworth found a bat in her boudoir last week, and she couldn't stop laughing about it. Laughter these days in this muggy, scandal-ridden capital is hard to come by.

"You say everyone is depressed?" asked Mrs. Longworth, the scion of Washington aristocracy President Theodore Roosevelt's candid, wispy-thin daughter. "I don't think in those terms.

"Everyone is hypnotized by Watergate. One hangs on the boob tube all day long. But depressed? I'm not depressed at all."

cent rise in the cost of a loaf of bread.

But many of her Washington neighbors fret in proportion to the black headlines. The sky isn't falling, but on the cocktail circuit and in the green federal work warrens, some insist the government is.

So how do Washington residents find respite from the high temperatures and pressure-cooker atmosphere?

Some leave the city. President Nixon has spent almost five of the past seven weeks away from the capital. And, after Agnew dismissed allegations against him as "damn lies," the vice president took off for a long weekend of golf in Palm Springs, Calif.

But for those who must depend on the highways and bridges to lead them to water, weekends are often synonymous with traffic jams.

The alternative? Stay in Washington. And many do.

"We're home for the summer, and it's awful," said Margot Hahn, a prominent Washington hostess who is wife of former D.C. City Council Chairman Gilbert Hahn Jr. "Everybody's depressed. The government is in shambles, and the (stock) market's disastrous."

Like the Hahns, many people remain in Washington for the summer because their work demands it. On Capitol Hill where Congress recessed for the summer a week and a half ago, dozens of Senate Watergate staffers are continuing the investigation.

energy enough to take a cold shower when I get home."

At the White House, President Nixon's lawyers were putting in 15-hour days, seven days a week, preparing the President's brief on Watergate.

Near the White House at the Sans Souci restaurant, the fashionable French watering hole for administration biggies, Maitre D' Paul DeLisle insists it's still necessary to book reservations a week in advance.

"Business is beautiful," he said. "Normally, it's very quiet in the summer. But this year people have not gone away. Maybe because they're working on Watergate. I give Mr. Haldeman's and Mr. Ehrlichman's table to other people now. But Mr. Kissinger is here today, and he was here yesterday."

Wheat Prices Soar To New Historic Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The price of wheat has soared past $5 a bushel for the first time in U.S. history as American farmers struggle to produce enough to meet growing demands at home and abroad.

At the Chicago Board of Trade, wheat sold for cash Tuesday went for $5.10 a bushel for high quality grain and $5.04 a bushel for lesser qualities. Future prices advanced the daily price fluctuation limit for the 12th straight day to $4.94 a bushel.

At the Minneapolis Grain Exchange, one million bushels of spring wheat sold for September delivery hit a high of $5.07 a bushel before leveling off at $4.93 at the end of the day.

Just one year ago, September contracts in Chicago were selling for $1.77 a bushel.

The inflated costs have no immediate effect on the price American consumers pay for wheat products, but such increases eventually make their way to the retail level. Some major bakeries have announced price hikes of several cents for a loaf of bread because of earlier increases in the price of flour.

A major cause of the soaring prices is the increased demand for American wheat on the world trading market, new government reports show.

According to an Agriculture Department report on the just-concluded wheat marketing year, exporters last year sold record amounts of 1.185 billion bushels. This compared with a decade of annual totals in the neighborhood of 750 million bushels.

And exports are expected to continue expanding this year.

Other grains are showing similar trends of big price hikes under the pressure of increased demand.

In trading Tuesday, corn futures jumped the 10-cent trading limit and closed at $3.47 a bushel compared to $1.27 a year ago.

Analysts say the record prices are a result of traders' confidence that record crops forecast for harvest this year will not be able to satisfy the growing worldwide demand.

Inter-Faith Family Doctor Rally Sunday Need Stressed

R. A. DAUGHTRIDGE

The Winterville Pentacostal Holiness Church is sponsoring an inter-faith Youth for Christ Rally which began this Sunday and will continue through August 19. The speaker for the series of rallies is Evangelist Richard A. Daughtridge of Rocky Mount.

Daughtridge recently recorded a stereo album entitled "He Touched Me," which was produced by Casey Productions of Newport News, Va.

The Pastor, Rev. James McCandless invites the public to attend.

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Jim Holshouser says North Carolina must train more family doctors but asserted it is not important where they are trained.

The governor said in a talk prepared for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation that "experience in other states and throughout the world has clearly shown that merely training more doctors—not matter where the training takes place—will not mean we will have more doctors in rural areas.

"Neither will training more doctors mean that we will be getting primary care to the people of North Carolina," he said. "Our own statistics since 1950 dramatically make that point."

Holshouser pointed out the total number of doctors in North Carolina increased by 36 per cent between 1950 and 1968, but that the number of specialists rose by 82 per cent during the period and the number of general practitioners decreased by 18 per cent.

The governor said the state must direct its attention "to the more critical questions of (1) What sort of physicians will our medical schools be turning out and (2) how will we get health him he had no written resignations from Ehrlichman and Haldeman.

The benign explanation for this presidential behavior is given as follows by his present aides: his Sunday session was his first real meeting with Petersen, a career civil servant and a registered Democrat ("He didn't know me from Adam," Petersen testified). Petersen, appointed by Mr. Nixon, was surely loyal. But was he super-loyal? Given the fetishistic veneration of personal loyalty in the Nixon White House, even a Haldeman subject to federal prosecution was infinitely more trustworthy than the honest investigator trying to protect the presidency. The verdict: abominable judgment by the President but scarcely an impeachable offense.

The Malignant explanation is incomparably worse: the President and Haldeman were involved in some dark arrangement which made a mockery of Petersen's recommendations.

Benign or malignant? As he waited outside the Oval Office April 16, Dean testified, "Haldeman and Ehrlichman emerged laughing" but abruptly sobered when they saw him. What did the President say to Haldeman, April 15 or 16, when he asked him to review the March 21 tape?

The answer may lie in the White House tapes of those two days—tapes not even requested by special prosecutor Archibald Cox or the Ervin committee.

Refinery Plant Plans Told To N.C. Officials

RALEIGH (AP) — Tentative plans of Transco Energy Co. of Houston, Tex., to build a $300 million synthetic natural gas plant near Tunis in Hertford County were outlined to state officials Tuesday.

After hearing the plans explained, North Carolina Natural and Economic Resources Secretary James E. Harrington said: "After hearing the plans explained, North Carolina Natural and Economic Resources Secretary James E. Harrington said:

"If the project can meet environmental standards, then it's going to be good for North Carolina, especially in an economically underdeveloped area like this."

State environmental officials said some pollution questions remain to be ironed out. They emphasized the state will not give the go-ahead until public hearings have been held in Hertford County. No dates for hearings have been set.

The plant would be the most costly industrial complex ever built in North Carolina except for nuclear power plants. When built it would provide jobs for about 300 persons.

Plans call for unloading foreign crude oil at Portsmouth, Va., and transporting it to the Hertford plant via a pipeline where it would be converted into synthetic natural gas. Every day 100,000 barrels of crude oil would be converted into 450 million cubic feet of natural gas. Transco Vice President Lawrence H. Gall stressed Tuesday that his company still isn't sure whether it will build the plant because it hasn't been guaranteed a 15-year foreign oil contract to supply the big operation.

He said such commitments "are hard to come by these days."

Another hurdle, he said, is whether the state grants environmental protection permits.

FBI Said Long Been Used In Political Field

CHICAGO (AP) — All U.S. presidents from Franklin D. Roosevelt on have used the Federal Bureau of Investigation to gather information about political opponents, the Chicago Tribune said today.

Jim Squires, a Tribune Washington reporter, wrote in today's story that former FBI officials told him they knew what was going on but were afraid to speak up.

"The FBI has been involved in politics for 30 years," the paper quoted a former assistant director who served under every president since Roosevelt as saying.

"But under (J. Edgar) Hoover, it was covered up because people were afraid to say anything. Now, it is all coming out."

Gasoline Is Less Scarce

WASHINGTON (AP) — While shortages still plague some areas, the availability of gasoline is generally increasing in the country, the American Automobile Association reports.

The AAA issued the 11th in its weekly series of reports on the gasoline shortage Tuesday, and for the sixth consecutive week reported improvement in the situation.

The AAA said that of 3,982 brand name stations surveyed along major highways, 54 per cent were operating normal hours and permitting motorists to fill their tanks. This was up one per cent over the previous week.

In general the survey reported that fewer stations were closed for lack of fuel, fewer sold out of at least one grade of fuel and fewer expecting supply cutbacks.

Denver, Colo., was listed as one problem area, with the AAA reporting that 88 per cent of the stations closed from noon Saturday to 7 a.m. Monday, 49 per cent closed by noon weekdays, and 16 per cent out of gas. However, the report said there had been a slight improvement in Denver in the past week.

Committee Tasting Experience Of Absent Leader

By EDMOND L. BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, the shaper of tax, trade, Social Security, medicare and welfare legislation, is getting a foretaste of what it may be like to operate without the legendary leadership of Chairman Wilbur D. Mills.

The Arkansas Democrat who has headed the pivotal committee for 15 years says he will retire at the end of next year unless he can find relief from a painful back ailment. Moreover, and quite apart from the future of its chairman, the House's oldest and perhaps most powerful standing committee is slowly changing. Like all of Congress, it is being pressed by public opinion; by subtle power shifts; by ideas brought in by newer members. Mills, seeking medical advice and treatment, left the chair some 10 days before the congressional recess began. The committee was reaching the decision stage on the complex trade legislation President Nixon says he needs because of international negotiations beginning in Tokyo in mid-September.

Mills' temporary departure at such a time would have been almost unthinkable earlier. He is the kind of strong chairman whose views come to the fore and prevail when the committee gets down to voting. Mills does not ignore colleagues' opinions, but shapes the consensus.

Mills' absence left the responsibility for presiding and steering the legislation toward final agreement to the next-ranking Democrat, Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon.

Ullman's pinch-hitting was universally praised in separate interviews with a cross-section of the committee membership. Nevertheless, without Mills, the work perceptibly slowed down. The Mills-endorsed optimistic deadline of completed committee action on the trade bill before the recess, was not met.

Committee members said Mills, whose reputation as of the closest-mouthed men in Congress is well earned, left no instructions with Ullman. He did not even tell colleagues or key staff members where he was going.

Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli, senior Republican member of the committee, commented, "Al is doing a bang-up job under difficulties," a judgment echoed by both liberal and conservative Democratic members.

At a final session before the recess, committee members reportedly agreed informally that Ullman will have to assume greater authority if Mills is unable to rejoin the deliberations in September.

Ullman himself, while staying away from any criticism of the chairman, told a reporter there will have to be a firm schedule and a push to get the bill to the House before Oct. 1.

Mills' seniority and influence—the two are closely linked in the House—are formidable. None of the other current Ways and Means members ever knew him as a mere colleague. He was chairman before any won the coveted election to the House's No. 1 committee.

His method of operation includes private negotiations with presidents, regardless of party, as well as other high executive officials and spokesmen for private interests in fields embraced by his committee's

Name Tindall To Faculty

NORFOLK, VA.—Three music educators have been named to the faculty of the third annual Virginia Wesleyan College Orchestra Workshop, according to Russel Stanger, Workshop Music Director and Director of the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra.

New to the Workshop, which will host more than 70 Tidewater high school and junior high musicians, will be Fred J. Marzan, a member of the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music faculty, Winchester, Va.; Daniel H. Tindall, a teaching fellow in percussion at the East Carolina University school of music; and Wallace Clark, a former member of the music faculty at Norfolk State College who is currently working towards his doctoral degree at the University of Maryland.

Tindall, who will conduct the percussion sessions at the Virginia Wesleyan Workshop, is currently finishing a master of music degree in percussion performance at East Carolina University. A graduate of Florida State university, he has performed with the American Wind Symphony Orchestra in Pittsburgh, the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra, the Charleston Symphony Orchestra and numerous student and faculty groups at Florida State University. He is currently serving as conductor of the East Carolina University Chorale and has directed the Florida State Symphony Orchestra.

wide-ranging jurisdiction. Shortly before leaving Washington he had a long personal session with Nixon.

Ullman, at 59 five years younger than Mills, was overshadowed by the chairman as he moved up the seniority ladder to the position of presumptive successor. Until recently, he figured most often in the news as a spokesman for the economic interests of his state and the Northwest generally.

Considered about as fiscally conservative as Mills, he has nevertheless on occasion differed with the chairman, for example, on welfare reform.

Since last year, Ullman has been acquiring a growing national prominence by strong advocacy of basic reform of Congress' budgetary function. He is co-chairman of a special committee which is steering legislation for Congress to set up its own budget every year and exercise central control over the now scattered appropriation and revenue raising operations. No matter who the chairman may be in the future, change has come and will continue to come to the Ways and Means Committee, which began as a temporary panel in 1789 and was made permanent in 1801.

Reform moves ponderously in the House, but the direction is clear. Power is flowing from the committees and their chairmen—who have been compared to feudal barons—to the party leaders and the caucuses composed of all members. The trend is especially significant for Democrats, who as the majority party control the committees and name the chairmen. The caucus now has an opportunity to vote individually on each chairman—a potential threat to the once-secure seniority system.

The closed rule has been a frequently used tool in the Ways and Means kit. Granted routinely in the past by the Rules Committee to all tax and similar measures, it means simply that members at large have no opportunity to offer amendments when the bill comes to the floor. They must vote it up or down in the form presented by the committee.

But the Rules Committee—now, incidentally, more closely tied to the House leadership than it has been in a generation—has let it be known it will no longer automatically grant this complete protection to bills produced by Ways and Means. Even if the committee were willing, a new Democratic rule provides that if 50 members of the caucus insist on an opportunity to offer amendments, the Democratic majority of the Rules Committee must accede. The rule has been hailed by members who long complained that tax policy was shaped, not by all the members of the House, but by the 25 who make up the Ways and Means Committee.

The likelihood that the committee would not be able to obtain a completely closed rule on the highly controversial trade legislation is one reason why Ways and Means has moved slowly and cautiously in shaping the bill.

A new House rule provides that all committee sessions, including the "mark-up" sessions where the decisions are made, must be open to press and public unless the committee votes on the record to close them. Mills moved for closed mark-up sessions. The committee sustained him—but with a surprising 10 negative votes. Even so, Ways and Means, like other committees, now must make public after executive sessions the roll calls by which decisions were arrived at.

The committee has long had an arrangement, useful to a chairman who needs to keep members in line, for handling minor tax measures that often affect only a few firms—sometimes a single one in a particular congressional district. These "members' bills" would be briefly and informally discussed in closed session; approved by the committee, and brought up on the floor with minimum debate for passage by unanimous consent. After outside organizations as well as some Congress members began analyzing and publicizing the revenue effects and the narrow application of some members' bills, objections on the floor cropped up last year. Since then, the committee has been noticeably more circumspect in offering them.

Another power base for the Democratic majority of Ways and Means has been its dual function as the party's committee on committees. The Ways and Means Democrats nominated all Democratic members of other committees. Republicans have a separate committee on committees. The Democratic caucus now has asserted a long-dormant review authority and the Speaker and majority leader have been made ex-officio members of the Democratic committee on committees.

Unlike other committees with broad jurisdictions, Ways and Means under Mills has operated without subcommittees. Mills has been the only "Mr. Chairman." Some members say they will press, no matter what, for establishment of panels on, perhaps, taxation, trade, Social Security, welfare, medicare and pensions. They say legislation could be expedited if several subcommittees worked simultaneously on different bills. The arrangement would, of course, dilute to some extent the chairman's control.

A special study committee is now working on proposals to readjust the division of legislative interests among committees along more rational lines.

Ways and Means, basically and historically the tax committee, has overflowed into other fields, especially aspects of social legislation. Social Security, involving a payroll tax, was assigned to Ways and Means, carrying along with it welfare, which is provided in the Social Security Act. Medicare later was added to the act and to the committee jurisdiction. Reform of private pension systems is claimed by Ways and Means since tax exemptions are involved. Trade negotiations today are a diplomatic as well as a tariff problem, but they remain under the tax committee's legislative umbrella.

With the forces of change chipping away at the once impregnable walls Mills guards, some associates speculate that he may have other motives in addition to an unquestionably painful back ailment for stepping aside while his prestige and power are still impressive. At any rate, they do not question the assessment he has made privately that the chances are better than 50-50 that he will retire at the end of 1974.

The Energy Crunch:

Energy Insurance means not putting all your eggs in one basket.

We know that your uses for electricity—and the number of customers we serve—will continue to grow, so we're already making plans for 10 years from now and are studying our customers' needs 20 years in the future.

One of our primary concerns in planning for the future is fuel. Because the same supplies of coal and oil that lie at the heart of today's "energy crunch" are also major fuel sources for the generation of today's electricity. And these fossil fuels aren't just becoming harder to get; they're becoming increasingly expensive, too.

So to continue to meet your growing demands for electricity economically and still have power to spare, in the future Veeco will be turning more and more to entirely new sources of energy—sources that will help us maintain a sensible "balance of power" for generations to come.

By 1976, half of our electricity will be produced by safe, clean nuclear power. That's a record the electric industry as a whole isn't expected to meet before 1990. And nuclear power is the lowest cost new method of producing electricity available to us today.

And in 1979, we'll be using water running downhill from a high mountain reservoir in Bath County to generate electricity during the day and pumping it back uphill with surplus power at night, when customer needs are low.

As a result of new power sources like these, we plan to meet all your demands for convenient electric living and still maintain generating reserves from 15% to 18%.

But, best of all, we'll be producing this future electricity from a reassuring balance of nuclear, fossil, and water power: a balance of power that's your energy insurance that Veeco is doing everything possible to avoid an electric energy shortage in our area.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you would be unwise to make any critical comments to others. Do not take it for granted that any person will do what you want, no matter how close the relationship, or you find this person resents such as an intrusion and draws away from you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) No matter how worried you may be, do not burden others with your problems; think along more positive and wise lines. Do whatever you can for those who are having rough sledding. Stay within your budget, though.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Instead of criticizing your friends, be more kindly and help them get ahead and all works out fine. One who has been very loyal should be rewarded in some way now. Don't forget to pay pressing bills.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take care you do nothing that can put a blot on your fine reputation that you will regret later. Showing you are an excellent citizen is most important now. Add to your present prestige instead of detracting from it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have some new interest that needs careful study; be sure to take nothing for granted. Avoid that overly glamorous person who is out to hoodwink you in some way. Keep conscientious yourself.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure you keep any promises you have made and put yourself in the other person's position, and you understand better how to proceed. Do whatever will help your mate's ego. Show you are kind and thoughtful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A partner is depressed and could certainly use some loyal backing from you. Avoid that opponent who is in a vile mood and could use you as a whipping boy, if you permit. Save time for pleasure in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan time for making your home more comfortable and attractive, and relations more harmonious with those dwelling there. Take treatments that give you more vitality, vim. These should be continued daily for some time to come.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you flatter others a bit, you find they quickly go along with some plans you have that can be of benefit to them, also. You have talents that still have not been tapped. Put at least one of these to work now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you do not use tact and courtesy at home, big arguments can crop up that are best avoided right now. Show you are a sensible, intelligent person. Make sure important bills are paid early.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to organize your daily tasks more intelligently so they are not so difficult to handle and give you more time for other activities. Keep an eye on your wallet when out on errands, or shopping. Don't be so trusting of others.

Ayden Bd. Adopts New Electric Rates

AYDEN—At the monthly town board meeting Monday night, the board adopted new electric rates and accepted bids for various public service vehicles.
 The accepted VEPCO rates were classified as residential, small general service, and housing authority rates. They will be effective as of Sept. 1, 1973 for service rendered after Aug. 1, 1973.
 Bids for a sweeper, pick-up truck, and two chassis were accepted by the board. They were for a $13,012.57 street sweeper from A.E. Finley and Co., a $2,775 half-ton pick-up from Grubbs Chevrolet, a $3,083 one-ton truck chassis, and a $10,491.10 1974 C900 Chassis on which fire apparatus will be mounted from Leo Venner Motors.

 The election ordinance covering office terms was changed to coincide with the new state law on municipal elections which will be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning in 1973. The elections are to be held every two years.

 To be effective after the November elections, the salaries of the mayor and board of commissioners were increased. The commissioner's salary will be raised from $40-$80 per month while the mayor's pay will be upped to $125 from $65 per month.

Agnew's Personal Records Available To Fed Prosecutors

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
 Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying "I have nothing to hide," Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has offered federal prosecutors access to his personal records in a probe of kickbacks and political corruption in Maryland.
 Agnew carefully made a distinction between his personal papers and the official records of the vice president, apparently to avoid comparisons between his decision and President Nixon's refusal to turn over White House documents to prosecutors in the Watergate affair.
 "You understand that, by making these records available to you, I do not acknowledge that you or any grand jury have any right to records of the vice president," Agnew said in a letter Tuesday to U.S. Atty. George Beall in Baltimore.
 "Nor do I acknowledge the propriety of any grand jury investigation of possible wrongdoing on the part of the vice president so long as he occupies that office. These are difficult constitutional questions which need not at this moment be confronted."

Flying Jets For Egypt

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel's military command said today 10-20 pilots from North Korea are in Egypt flying jet fighters for the Egyptian air force.
 A spokesman for the command, confirming a news report from New York, said according to Israeli intelligence the pilots arrived in Egypt several weeks ago. But he said it is not known what sort of combat planes they are flying.
 Military sources said there was no indication that pilots from Israel's air force had yet encountered the Koreans.
 Six days ago Cairo claimed that Egyptian planes hit an Israeli jet in a dogfight over the Suez Canal. The Israelis said their planes were on a routine patrol, encountered no resistance and returned safely to base.
 President Anwar Sadat of Egypt expelled Soviet advisers from Egypt in July of last year and he has been reported seeking expert replacements ever since to train and supplement his own pilots.
 The most modern plane in Egypt's air force is the Soviet-built MIG21. A few of the more advanced MIG23s were stationed in Egypt while the Russians were there but reportedly were flown only by Soviet pilots.
 Reports said the Russians took most if not all of the MIG23s home with them. But if some were left behind, the Koreans could have been enlisted to fly the more sophisticated planes or teach Egyptians to fly them.

Holshouser Aide Faces Driver Violation Count

RALEIGH (AP) — Key gubernatorial aide Gene Anderson has been charged with driving with a suspended license in New Bern, according to police there.
 Gov. Jim Holshouser Tuesday said the incident was "unfortunate" but indicated he did not think Anderson had disobeyed the "spirit" of the restricted driver's license he holds.
 Anderson was involved in an auto accident in New Bern Sunday. Coming back from a week-end of conferences and political meetings on the coast, he was driving on U.S. 70 through New Bern at about 2 p.m.
 Police said Anderson slowed because of traffic and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ralph M. Harper of New Bern. Harper was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.
 During the investigation, police discovered that Anderson had a restricted license that did not permit him to drive on Sunday. He was charged with driving with a suspended license.
 Anderson's license was revoked for one year in Wake County Superior Court on January 11 this year when he pleaded guilty to a 1971 drunk-driving charge.
 Judge Hamilton Hobgood fined Anderson $200 and gave him a 60-day jail sentence, suspended.
 Hobgood allowed Anderson to drive between the hours of 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays, according to a spokesman for the governor.
 Holshouser said the intent of Judge Hobgood's action was to allow Anderson to function as a gubernatorial aide. He was acting within the spirit, if not the letter, of the restrictions when the accident occurred, Holshouser said.
 Holshouser said Anderson was performing in his capacity as an aide during the weekend. Asked if Anderson was working "on his own time" at the Young Republicans meeting in Atlantic Beach, the governor's spokesman said "that would be getting into the legalities of the case. He was working for the

Three Accidents In Greenville Tuesday

An estimated $4,000 property damage resulted here yesterday from a series of three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police officers.
 Investigators reported heaviest damage resulted from an 11:05 p.m. mishap at the intersection of U.S. 264 and Elm Street involving cars driven by Mary Beacham Warren of Route 8, Greenville and Mack Ray Haddock of Route 5, Greenville.
 Police, who charged Haddock with following too closely estimated damage at $2,000 to the Warren car and $500 to the Haddock vehicle.
 Haddock was reported injured in the mishap.
 Christopher Harry Jarvis of Route 3, Ayden was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of an 8:30 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Paris and Myrtle Avenues.
 Officers said the Jarvis car collided with an auto operated by Gail Joyner Peaden of 304 Skinner St., causing an estimated $400 damage to the Jarvis car and $800 damage to the Peaden vehicle.
 No injuries were reported.
 Loyd Lays McLawhorn of Ayden was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 7:20 a.m. mishap on Memorial Drive two-tenths of a mile North of the Trade Street intersection.
 Investigators reported the McLawhorn car collided with a vehicle driven by Betty Everton Letchworth of 404 Martin St.
 Damage was estimated at $200 to the Letchworth car and $100 to the McLawhorn auto.

Hospitalized For Obesity

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A man weighing approximately 800 pounds has been admitted to the Medical College of Virginia hospital here for an obesity operation, hospital spokesman reported.
 The operation, known as an intestinal bypass, is the one which was performed here on trumpeter Al Hirt in March 1972. Hirt weighed 333 pounds before the operation. Seven months later he was down to 260 pounds.
 MCV officials refused to identify the 800-pound patient, saying only that the patient was a 37-year-old man from North Carolina.
 It will be at least a year before the hospital can consider the operation. Surgeons cannot even evaluate the patient properly because of his sheer mass, a doctor said. The physician said the patient must lose 200 to 300 pounds before the operation would be possible, and that will take at least a year.
 The intestinal bypass procedure involves shortening the route of food absorption which takes place in the small intestine.

Ease Schooling Of Servicemen

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. service personnel who have difficulty earning college degrees because of their transfers will be aided by a newly-funded program. This establishes a network of colleges designed to overcome the barriers of transferring courses and credits.
 The Servicemen's Opportunity College (SOC) which in the past has been limited to two-year colleges will be extended to four-year colleges and universities through one-year grants from the New Fund for the Improvement of Post-secondary Education (FIPSE) and the Department of Defense.

Woman Told Pay Child Support

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Noting that "women are clamoring for women's lib," a judge here has ordered a female truck driver to pay child support for her four children.
 After hearing testimony that Sherry Lynn Walker abandoned her family in August, 1972, Judge O. Q. Clafin III of the Wyandotte County District Court on Tuesday also awarded her ex-husband custody of the children, all household goods and furniture and a 1962 auto.
 "In this case," the judge said, "I decided equal treatment was just the right thing to do."
 The judge said it was the first time in his 17 years on the bench in which he has awarded child support payments to the father.

Beer Permit For Grill Suspended

The State ABC Board has suspended a beer permit issued to Mrs. Dorothy M. Nichols for Dottie's Grill, Route 3, Greenville for violations of ABC regulations.
 The suspension, effective August 20, is for 30 days.
 The action was taken at the board's August 6 meeting in Raleigh.

See Decrease In Enrollments

NEW YORK (UPI) — A survey by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities shows the state colleges and universities may face an enrollment decrease in fall, 1973.
 The area of greatest decrease is taking place in freshmen applications. Economic factors, particularly the delay in federal student aid monies, appear to figure in the application decrease.

Senate Adopts 'Equality Day'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — By a 31-0 vote, the all-male California Senate has adopted a resolution setting Aug. 26 as Women's Recognition and Equality Day in California.
 Women won the right to vote in all of the United States on Aug. 26, 1920.
 The resolution already has won Assembly approval. Its author is Assemblyman Julian Dixon of Los Angeles.

 The latest stroke was suffered Monday.

Jenkins Shows Disgust At 12th Defeat

Woody's Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Guinness, stop your presses. A couple of world's records were set Tuesday in Chicago. In the category of most bats thrown by a right-handed pitcher leaving the game, the record is now four.

And for the category of most bats landing between the mound and home, thrown by a right-handed pitcher, the record is also four.

Ferguson Jenkins, the owner of these two marks, was noticeably touched by the world records. "I don't have anything to say. You don't mind, do you?"

A three-run Atlanta fifth sent him to the showers with his 12th defeat in 22 decisions. As Jenkins, loser in six of his last seven starts, ambled off the mound the Chicago fans let him know they had had enough.

They booed. Jenkins indicated he, too, had had enough.

He threw bats. Four of them, all sailing harmlessly between the mound and home plate. But Jenkins' heaves had no effect on the baseball game's final score: Atlanta 6, Chicago 2—the ninth straight loss for the staggering Cubs.

In the other National League action, Cincinnati squeaked by Pittsburgh 5-4, St. Louis pounded Houston 9-5, San Diego blanked New York 9-0, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 4-3 and Los Angeles overcame Montreal 4-3.

Reds 5, Pirates 4
About the only difference between the Reds and the Pirates is a run here and a run there. The Pirates had that extra run Monday night while the Reds had it Tuesday night, taking the game 5-4.

Andy Kosco's ninth-inning single scored pinch-runner Cesar Geronimo with the tie-breaking run and the Reds held on despite the Pirates' ninth-inning rally.

Cards 9, Astros 5
The Cardinals were down 5-0 and apparently headed for their ninth straight loss when they rallied for five runs in the sixth and four more in the seventh and all of a sudden they had a one-game winning streak after dropping eight in a row.

Dodgers 4, Expos 3
Pinch hitter Ken McMullen ripped a two-out, two-run homer in the ninth inning to dramatically lift the Dodgers over Montreal 4-3.

Bill Russell's two-out single had kept the Dodgers' hopes alive and then McMullen slugged his fourth homer of the year to win it.

Padres 9, Mets 0
Rookie Dave Winfield drove in four runs and rookie left-hander Randy Jones pitched an eight-hitter, pacing the Padres to a 9-0 blanking of the Mets for their third straight victory.

Phils 4, Giants 3
Greg Luzinski belted his 20th and 21st homers of the year while Jim Lonborg's spaced 11 hits in Philadelphia's 4-3 victory over San Francisco.

In the American League it was: Baltimore 12, Texas 0; Kansas City 8, Cleveland 5; Minnesota 12, Detroit 1; Milwaukee 5, Chicago 4; New York 7, California 2, and Oakland 1, Boston 0.

The annual Southern Conference rouser ended in Asheville yesterday with East Carolina, Richmond and William & Mary picked to battle it out for the championship again this year.

Richmond and William & Mary are still smarting about their defeats at the hands of the Pirates last year, and haven't forgotten about the "losers' bowl" statement of ECU coach Sonny Randle.

Randle says he doesn't back down on the quote, but feels it was blown out of proportion. Several newspapers in the Tidewater area of Virginia had stated during the week before the ECU-W&M game that after the Indians finished with the Bucs, the title would be played for the following week between Richmond and William & Mary. After Randle had come from his championship victory shower, he chided those writers for overlooking the Bucs (8-1 at that time) and noted that next week's game was for the runner's up, not for the championship.

"But some of the writers seemed to think that this statement was more important than our winning the championship," he said yesterday. "I still think winning the title was the real story."

Randle looks for another close race this year, going to the wire. The final three weeks of the season shows the three favorites all meeting. East Carolina plays William & Mary on November 3, then hosts Richmond on the 10th. The Indians and Spiders collided at Williamsburg on the 17. "Those three weeks will decide the title," Randle said. "The team that comes to those games the healthiest will win the championship."

That third week might also see another "runner-up bowl" should the Bucs be unbeaten in the conference going into the final week. They would still have to beat Appalachian for a perfect year, but if everyone in the league had one loss then except the Bucs, the Pirates would take the title by virtue of playing more games. They play seven; Richmond and William & Mary play six.

Charles Glueck, a representative of the Sugar Bowl, spoke briefly with the press during the meeting, and, perhaps inadvertently, dropped a bombshell.

He spoke mostly of the new Superdome, now under construction in New Orleans. He talked about the fact that the NFL's Saints would be playing there, along with the Sugar Bowl teams, and the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament and other sports. He was asked whether a pro baseball team might be interested in coming to New Orleans when the dome is completed.

"I think it's assured. We already have a pro team for the Superdome," he said. The astounded writers jumped like they had been shot, and quickly questioned him — who, where and when?

Glueck apparently realized he was treading unsafe waters. "Well, I don't think I can comment on that," he said. "But we do have assurances."

Emil Parker, Sports Information Director at Davidson College, should receive an Oscar for his performance on the golf course Monday. Parker, W&M Coach Jim Roof, WBT sports announcer Jim Forrest and Charleston Sports writer Jim Beck were playing in the foursome directly ahead of the one I was in.

I was playing with the new ECU sports information director, John Evenson, and Lee Moore of WCTI-TV and Dick Jones of WITN-TV.

On the last hole, a par-three, we hit from an elevated tee. Parker and his foursome walked off the tee and Moore prepared to hit. But he pulled his shot down the left side, toward the cart path and disappeared behind the crest of the hill.

Then, it took a crazy bounce. "I think I hit one of their golf cars," Moore said.

He walked up, with the rest of us, and looked down. There lay Parker, sprawled on the ground, with his partners gathered anxiously around him.

"Oh, no," Lee said, at first unsure whether to believe it or not. But Parker didn't leap up laughing, and Lee really began to worry. He had just started down the hill when the "injured" Parker rose up on one elbow and saw him coming, then collapsed again. Moore started to breathe easier again, but then worried Parker had only partially recovered, when the foursome below broke up into laughter and it was all over.

And Will Parrish, of the Charlotte Observer, got off a good one too. Parrish walks with a limp. He was playing ahead of Tom Scott, retiring athletic director at Davidson.

One of Dr. Scott's shots went a little astray and struck Parrish in the leg. The worried Dr. Scott jumped in his cart and quickly sped down to apologize.

"Are you okay?" he nervously asked Parrish as he limped along on the big leg.

"Yeah, I'm all right," Will smiled. "Don't worry about it. But I'll probably limp the rest of my life."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Veteran Jack Concannon, the forgotten man of the Dallas Cowboys quarterback corps, will finally get a chance to show his stuff.

After spending all of last season watching Roger Staubach and Craig Morton spark the Cowboy attack, Concannon will own the spotlight for National Football League club's pre-season game against the New Orleans Saints Saturday night.

For the first quarter, anyway. "Concannon will open and go for a quarter," Dallas coach Tom Landry said Tuesday. "We'll play all three quarters."

And, despite the fact that Staubach and Morton have a decided edge on Concannon for the No. 1 spot on the Cowboy staff, Concannon's performance might change things around. Coach Landry hasn't made his final decision yet.

"I hope we can decide by the start of the season," Landry said, adding importance to Concannon's performance Saturday night.

The Miami Dolphins, meanwhile, are set at quarterback but unsure of a number of other players as they prepare for their meeting with the Chicago Bears. Offensive tackle Doug Crusan sprained both knees and one ankle, while lineman Norm Evans suffered a shoulder injury in last week's victory over the New Orleans Saints. Another question mark as the Dolphins try for their 22nd consecutive victory is running back Larry Csonka, who has a bruised leg muscle.

The Cleveland Browns practiced without five starters out with minor injuries incurred in last week's exhibition game against Los Angeles. Defensive tackle Walter Johnson, wide receiver Frank Pitts, running backs Bo Scott and Ken Brown and center Bob DeMarco were out of action.

The Denver Broncos obtained veteran linebacker Bill Laskey from the Baltimore Colts for an undisclosed draft choice, then placed defensive backs Steve Preece and Bill West on waivers.

New England also released two players, placing linebacker Henry Moore and quarterback Dan Werner on waivers.

Brown Has New Pact

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Coach Larry Brown has signed a five-year contract with the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association, putting to rest rumors that he might take a college job.

The 32-year-old Brown is a former player at the University of North Carolina and in the ABA, where he set a record for assists. He was a 5-foot-10 guard.

In his first season as head coach, he guided the Cougars to a 57-27 record last year, the team's first winning season. The Cougars won the semifinal playoff over New York, but lost to Kentucky in the finals for the East title.

"We tore up his three-year contract and gave him a raise," said Carl Scheer, president and general manager. "We felt Larry did an extremely good job last year, and we wanted to reward him." How much Brown is getting was not disclosed.

The Cougars will return to Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C., for preseason drills, opening Sept. 4 for rookies and free agents and Sept. 11 for veterans.

Unitas Suing Baltimore Team Tourney Set Here

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have stripped Johnny Unitas of his player's uniform, but they may have a more difficult time throwing off his court suit.

The 40-year-old quarterback, benched last October and then traded to San Diego after the 1972 season, has sued the National Football League club for $725,000 on charges of malicious breach of contract.

The suit, filed Tuesday in Baltimore Superior Court, involves both compensating and punitive damages. Lewis A. Noonberg, one of Unitas' attorneys, said there was no attempt to have NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle arbitrate.

According to the suit, Colts' General Manager Joe Thomas had made it impossible for Unitas to carry out a contract signed in 1970 with Carroll Rosenbloom, former owner of the Baltimore franchise.

Thomas, who joined the Colts when Robert Irsay became the owner in July, 1972, declined comment on the suit, saying the matter was in the hands of the club's attorneys.

Under the 1970 agreement, Unitas was paid $125,000 annually for three years as a player, and was to be paid $30,000 annually for a 10-year period following his active career.

The suit charged that starting last Oct. 15, Thomas had "engaged in a course of conduct which was designed to and did, in fact, embarrass and humiliate Unitas and otherwise made it impossible for Unitas to carry out his obligations under the agreement."

The Greenville Recreation Department is hosting the Northeastern Invitational Slow Pitch Softball double elimination tournament. There are twenty nine teams in the competition with teams from Tarboro, Wilson, Smithfield, Washington, New Bern, Farmville, Ayden, and Greenville competing for the championship.

The tournament begins tonight, and will be played on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. All games will be held at Evans Park; there is no admission for these games.

Suicide Squeeze Bunt Allows Oakland To Slip By Boston, 1-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Everyone knows it's suicide to pitch a left-hander in Boston's Fenway Park where the close-in left field wall seems to peer over the pitcher's shoulder, beckoning invitingly to right-handed swingers.

So it's no surprise that when a couple of southpaws, Oakland's Darold Knowles and Bill Lee of Boston, hooked up in Tuesday night's game, the affair was decided by a suicide.

The only run of the game scored on Dick Green's suicide squeeze bunt, giving Knowles and the A's a 1-0 decision over the Red Sox—and the wall. Knowles, primarily a reliever, pitched his first major league complete game victory and never even blinked at the wall that eats southpaws. So much for the myth of Fenway Park's effect on left-handed pitchers.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, Baltimore outslugged Texas 12-10, Minnesota ripped Detroit 12-1, New York beat California 7-2, Kansas City trimmed Cleveland 8-5, and Milwaukee edged Chicago 5-4.

Orioles 12, Rangers 10
Don Baylor told you so. After cracking four hits Monday, Baylor said he and the Orioles were going to start hitting. Then, just to prove he wasn't kidding, the young outfielder smashed five more hits including two doubles and a three-run homer Tuesday night as Baltimore outlasted Texas 12-10.

Twins 12, Tigers 1
Minnesota's Rod Carew, the American League's leading hitter, also ripped five hits including a double and a triple, helping the Twins rip Detroit 12-1. That ended a four-game winning streak for the Tigers and cut their AL East lead to one-half game over Baltimore. It also ended a seven-game losing streak for the Twins.

Yankees 7, Angels 2
New York broke a 2-2 tie in the bottom of the eighth inning, scoring five times to defeat California 7-2. Graig Nettles' 17th homer of the season, a two-run, two-out shot, touched off the Yankee explosion giving reliever Lindy McDaniel his 11th game of the season.

Brewers 5, White Sox 4
George Scott clubbed his 17th homer of the year with one out in the bottom of the ninth, lifting Milwaukee to a 5-4 decision over Chicago. The White Sox had tied the score in the top of the ninth on Pat Kelly's single.

Royals 8, Indians 5
Fran Healy drilled a bases-loaded double to drive in three runs, igniting Kansas City's 8-5 victory over Cleveland and Gaylord Perry. Lou Piniella homered for the Royals, who hung on to their slim one-half game edge over Oakland in the AL West.

In the National League Tuesday, it was Cincinnati 5, Pittsburgh 4; Atlanta 6, Chicago 2; St. Louis 9, Houston 5; Los Angeles 4, Montreal 3; San Diego 9, New York 0; Philadelphia 4, San Francisco 3.

Inter-Loop No Closer

By MIKE O'BRIEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Inter-league play was high on the agenda of major league baseball's summer meetings which began today, but the plan appeared to have little chance for adoption.

National League owners held a preliminary meeting Tuesday, and several said later they had open minds on interleague play. But National League President Chub Feeney said he opposed the idea "at this point," and it was known some owners were in his corner.

While there was some confusion concerning how many votes would be required by National League owners to adopt such a plan, Feeney said he believed it would have to be unanimous.

"At this point, I'm opposed to it (interleague play)," Feeney said. "I would think we would have to have a unanimous vote because it's such a delicate thing and would involve changing the divisional setups and scheduling."

"We discussed inter-league play and the designated hitter rule, but it was just a preliminary meeting and we'll be discussing it further," said Feeney, adding that National League officials would meet again following a joint session with American League officials today.

The American League, which has lagged behind the National in attendance for several years, is solidly in favor of interleague play. The National League, with its larger stadiums and, in the opinion of many, more star players, traditionally has opposed it.

Bud Selig, president of the American League's Milwaukee Brewers, was expected to outline an interleague play proposal at today's joint session.

Feeney did not say what was discussed about the designated hitter rule, adopted as an experiment by the American League this year in an effort to add more action to games and boost attendance.

Feeney said the proposed move of the San Diego Padres to Washington, currently tied up in litigation, was not on Tuesday's agenda.

Pittsburgh Real Challenger To Super Bowl Contenders This Year

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — There was more to the 1972 success of the Pittsburgh Steelers than just fanatical fan clubs and the miracle touchdown reception of Franco Harris.

The real keys to the first division title in the Steelers' 41-year history were talent and execution, and it's those ingredients which make Pittsburgh a bona fide Super Bowl contender this season.

Behind it all were the astute, thorough coaching of Chuck Noll and the talents of players he amassed almost exclusively through the drafts.

Virtually the same team returns this season, a little older, a little wiser and seemingly just as eager, so the smiles of optimism seen at the Steeler training camp are understandable.

The soul of the Steeler team is its defense, which allowed 175 points last season, fewer than every team but Miami, which gave up 171.

The leader of that defense is left tackle Joe Greene, last season's National Football League Defensive Palyer of the Year. "Mean Joe" teams with ends Dwight White and L. C. Greenwood and tackle Ernie Holmes to give Pittsburgh a front four that held opponents to 123 yards rushing per game in 1972.

Behind them is the line-backing trio of Andy Russell, Jack Ham and Henry Davis. The Steelers' secondary was considered a weak link at the start of last season, but Pittsburgh went on to lead the National Football League with 28 interceptions.

The big names on the Steeler offense are quarterback Terry Bradshaw and Harris, the 230-pound fullback who was NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year last season.

Steeler wide receivers include veterans Ron Shanklin and Frank Lewis, both game-breakers, but No. 3 receiver Al Young had to quit pro football due to a chronic illness.

Young's departure created a depth problem, but among the possibilities is Preston Pearson, a converted running back, who is rated perhaps the best all-around athlete on the team.

Second-year man John McMakin has a hold on the tight end spot, but he is being pushed by Warren Bankston, a converted fullback. Leading the Steeler runners is Harris, who last season became the fifth pro rookie to rush for more than 1,000 yards.

Depth could be a problem in the offensive line, but it appears solid with Jim Clack and Ray Mansfield at center, Sam Davis and Bruce Van Dyke at guards and Jon Kolb and Gerry Mullins at tackles.

The kicking game is also sound with placekicker Roy Gerela, second leading scorer in the AFC last season, and Bobby Walden, the second leading punter in the conference.

World Games Might Be Olympic Springboard

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Some 4,500 students from 76 nations were poised for today's start of the seventh World University Games and trying hard to smile.

The Russians hope to make a big enough impression with these games to win the right to stage the 1980 Olympics. But thus far, most of the competitors have been pretty unhappy.

It rained most of Tuesday and the athletes couldn't do their training.

The mammoth Moscow University building, where the athletes are living, was a security fortress, with everyone required to show identity cards at three different points between the front entrance and their living quarters.

Volleyball players who turned out for a scheduled workout found the practice hall was not ready. The big security set-up follows the raid by Arab guerrillas on the Israeli quarters at the Munich Olympics last year. The International Federation of University Sports asked the Russians to make sure nothing like that happens here.

Meanwhile, the opening ceremony was scheduled to take place in Lenin Stadium today. It would be the kind of colorful spectacle to cheer up everyone—if the rain stops.

Most of the interest will be centered on the track and field events, which start Thursday and run through next Monday, and the four days of swimming which follow.

Also on the program are gymnastics, basketball, volleyball, wrestling, fencing and tennis.

The big United States squad, more than 300 strong, will have a hard job to repeat its successes at the last University Games in Turin, Italy, in 1969. The Russians are expected to win most of the medals in track and field and gymnastics. Russian fans will be cheering their heroes—notably Valery Borzov, winner of the 100 and 200-meter dashes in the 1972 Olympics, and gymnastics star Olga Korbut.

And most of the Soviet basketball team which took the Olympic title away from the United States will be in action here.

Some other European teams are below strength, because they prefer to keep their stars at home tuning up for the coming European Cup battles.

They include East Germany, which has been challenging Russia for track and field supremacy in Europe. Renate Stecher, double gold medalist in the Olympic sprints, is among the several absent East German stars.

A Community 'At Bay' Over Rock Festival

BENTON, Tenn. (AP) — In a culture where fundamentalism, country music and moonshine are as common as a hayseed dangling from the mouth, it's unnerving to ponder the prospects of a huge rock festival.

About the only thing that the quiet people of this small farming community are thinking about is how to stop the invasion of "foreigners."

Faced with forecasts of 300,000 young people, drugs and hard driving music, Benton's townspeople are neck-deep in a fight to have their beliefs and attitudes overcome the profit motivations of the festival's promoters.

In Benton, Mayor Jasper Woody is known as "Preacher Woody". The town's lifestyle has enabled a man like Woody to be the mayor, the town's Baptist preacher and the owner of the county's only newspaper—all at once.

And he hollers his Bible-belt fundamentalism from the rooftops—which isn't surprising when one realizes that the famous John Scopes "Monkey Trial" was held about 50 miles from here in 1925. The arguments and beliefs which surfaced in that historic event have faded little, if at all, for Benton's citizenry.

"We have a deep religious heritage and we have a way of life here," Woody said. "I think I can unequivocally say that of the 12,000 people in this county, 11,000 are against this thing."

"I realize there's a constitutional right of assembly but we, too, have constitutional rights which need protecting," he told the promoter of the upcoming Labor Day weekend fest.

"By you bringing your congregation here, it will infringe upon the rights, limb and property of people."

"We detest it."

Adding fuel to the fire was the county judge's decision to lease his farm for the festival. The town's reaction was predictable.

The mayor said the judge's political future "has been ruined." And the county sheriff said the judge's decision was "incredible."

"But he, too, has hair down to his shoulders," the sheriff snapped.

He was exaggerating. The judge's hair doesn't reach his collar, but it's thick and has a bushy look. In these parts, that's the same thing as having long hair.

In an attempt to appease the townspeople, the festival's chief promoter promised to come forth with enough money to give the town a new sewer system. He also pledged to have made a 90-minute documentary film focusing on the culture and history of the region.

Neither idea swerved to stem the people's bitterness.

After the festival announcement, the sheriff reported an increase in ammunition sales. He also said he was flooded with calls on how to obtain weapons.

Two days earlier, a wooden cross had been staked into the ground at the entrance of the county judge's farm. It reportedly was set ablaze.

The cross did exist, said the judge, "but I put it there."

"Why?"

"I guess it's like everything else I do," he replied. "Just for the damn hell of it."

The town's sentiments, as a whole, were best exhibited when a Christian Youth rally was planned at the courthouse steps. The day before the event, the mayor said it would be staged by about 200 youths "to show their resentment."

The upshot was that 1,500 persons—young and old—rallied forth peacefully. Their intentions were made clear—find any way possible to bring the festival to a grinding halt.

"What benefit do we get from this festival," a city council member asked the event's top promoter.

"Well, what do you want?" he asked back.

"We want peace and quiet," the man replied, "And I know we're not going to get it."

Offer Students Double Degree

NEW YORK (UPI)—Career-oriented education is being advanced at Florida Technological University. The school has developed an innovative program combining studies in the liberal arts and business. The new offering has been designed to prepare the students for administrative positions in the humanities and fine arts while offering the option of continuing on to receive a master's in business.

If students taking this combo can't get a job as a violinist or artist or poet they at least will be prepared and can get a job in business—maybe a business related to their art, music or poetry thing, such as a music publisher or art supplier or book publisher.

Of the 6,378 immigrants admitted to Brazil from 1962 to 1971, the largest number, 1,895, came from South Korea.

Scandal Touches His Birthplace

YORBA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — The Watergate scandal is touching even the guest register at the little white frame house where President Nixon was born.

Comments range from "Impeach him" to "I believe in you, Dick."

Mrs. Vince Ellingson, who moved into the residence eight years ago with her husband, said about Watergate: "I don't even like to think about it. I don't even like to listen to it on the radio."

Libraries Made Good Progress

NEW YORK (UPI) — A survey prepared and administered by the Office for Advancement of Public Negro Colleges (OAPNC) shows libraries in traditionally black public colleges have made significant progress in meeting the American Library Association (ALA) minimum standards for academic libraries. The survey, in comparison with a similar one in 1970, reveals a considerably brighter picture in regard to collection, staff, facilities, grants received, services to students.

The 'Worry Clinic' Jealousy Due To False Ideas

Luella's false notion about female sexuality led to her deep-seated jealousy. For she was not organically inadequate, so she didn't need to feel below par. Send for the sex booklet below and STOP these unnecessary upsets in marital harmony!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-587: Luella W., aged 27, is the insanely jealous wife who kept falsely accusing her mate of illicit affairs.

"Dr. Crane," she ruefully confessed, "I just know that Hal must be more interested in other women."

"For I am positive that I am deficient sexually."

"When we were first married, I never obtained that erotic thrill that I have heard other wives rave about."

"So I went to my physician and he decided I needed to be circumcised.

"But that didn't solve my problem."

"So I feel that since I am only a half-wife, then Hal must be attracted to other women who can function as 100 percent sex partners!"

Sexual Inferiority
Many wives develop a sexual inferiority complex, due to amputation of a breast or womb, as for cancer.

Or because they can't get pregnant or may have lost an arm or leg in an auto accident.

But many other women are in the same boat with Luella, whose feeling of inadequacy is based on either false sex notions of lack of the proper sexual technique during marital relations.

For example, many women in modern times have been told that wives are just as sexually as are husbands.

That's false!
But if a wife believes that statement and then finds that she isn't as ardent in the boudoir as her husband, she may begin to worry that she is anatomically deficient in her sexual make-up.

"Dr. Crane," Luella added, "I would have thought I have an infertile uterus, except for the fact that I have borne two children."

"So what could possibly be wrong with me?"

Nothing was wrong with Luella except her false notion about female sexuality, plus her husband's failure to use the proper medical technique.

Women are definitely NOT as passionate as men!

Compared to the normal male standard, all women are frigid!

"But, Dr. Crane," you may protest, "what about those 'call' girls or prostitutes and nymphomaniacs who constantly seek sexual affairs with men?"

The professionals are motivated chiefly by money; not because of any greater sexual libido than the usual placid wife. And those nymphomaniacs are goaded by a secret inferiority

In a wide counseling practice, where other Chicago physicians would refer their sex cases to me (since most doctors shun them as neurotics) I have never yet found a nymphomaniac who was highly sexed.

Always, they were motivated by fear of sterility, a crippled condition, amputated breast or some other organic defect!

And they freely confessed their enjoyment was above the eyes, namely, proving to themselves they could still attract a man.

A normal husband craves erotic indulgence far oftener than his wife, just as he also is hungrier for more dining room calories.

complex into trying to prove that they are "all there as a woman."

But wives do desire occasional complete satisfaction, which

When this deal was played at a recent tournament, an contract of three no trump was reached at every table and in all but one case was successful. One unfortunate declarer fell victim to a ine defensive effort by ast.

North knew his side had at 25 points in the com-ined holdings. Even if outh were minimum, North

it his fine five-card club

it would be adequate com-

ensation for any point-count efficiency, so he went raight to three no trump.

At every table but one,

ast won the first trick with the diamond queen. He returned the suit, and West's re felled dummy's king,

est continued with the ten diamonds, hoping that his ng of hearts would be an itry to cash the rest of the iamonds.

Unfortunately, declarer

won the jack of diamonds

and forced out the ace of spades. When East returned a heart, declarer rose with the ace and cashed out his tricks to make an overtrick.

At the one table where

South went down, East followed with the eight of diamonds at the first trick. This was a well reasoned choice.

Applying the "Rule of 11,"

East worked out that South had only one diamond higher than the seven. He could not have the ace of diamonds,

for that would give West the

J-10-9, and he would have led the jack. Also, it was unlikely that South had the ten or nine, for then he would have played dummy's king as his best chance to win a trick in the suit.

Therefore, South almost certainly held the jack.

Rather than allow declarer to preserve the jack as a third-round stopper, East

played the eight to force

South to win the jack immediately. Later, when East got in with the ace of spades, he returned the queen of diamonds. West

rose with the ace to bring down the king, and could take four more diamond tricks to set the contract two tricks.

Double dummy, declarer can make the contract by allowing East's eight to win the first trick. But that would be an unnatural play,

for West might have led away from a suit headed by the ace-queen, in which case

a hold-up would allow the defenders to run the suit and beat the hand before South had a chance to take a trick.

'Homesteading' Lottery Set

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A lottery drawing Aug. 24 will begin an urban homestead program that offers free homes to people willing to fix them up.

Ten city-owned homes below housing standards will be offered in the first drawing this month. A second group of vacant houses will be offered in the fall, according to a spokesman in the city Housing Department.

Under a plan approved by the City Council last May, a house will be given to a person willing to bring it up to city housing standards within 18 months. The person also must live in the house for at least three years before being granted title to it.

Between 50 and 60 applications have been submitted for the first 10 homes.
