North Viets Plan Keep Occupied Areas

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports that North Vietnamese soldiers will bring their families to Communist-controlled areas of South Vietnam as new evidence of the North's intent to hold onto some occupied territory. Intelligence sources say the reports are regarded as fresh evidence the North intends to absorb a region below the old demilitarized zone that used to separate the two Vietnams. The U.S.-North Vietnamese peace agreement signed last winter did not obligate Hanoi to pull its troops out of South Vietnam. But American officials had hoped the North would gradually reduce its forces in the South, and that the future of areas those forces occupied would be negotiated by Hanoi and Saigon diplomats. However, negotiations between the two Vietnams have failed so far to produce any meaningful results, and reports to Washington are full of signs that Hanoi is putting down roots in the South. U.S. intelligence sources say that Gen. Van Tien Dung, chief of staff of the North Vietnamese army, visited upper South Vietnam last month and assured local Communist officials that Hanoi's forces will remain there.

To underscore this apparent long-term commitment, Dung reportedly said his married troops will be able to bring their wives and children from the North and that unmarried soldiers could invite their fiancées. Many North Vietnamese soldiers have spent years separated from their families after infiltrating South Vietnam during the long war. This development follows persistent reports that the North Vietnamese have sent thousands of civilian laborers, technicians and administrators into the South since the Jan. 27 cease-fire. Pentagon officials confirmed these reports and said the North Vietnamese have been trying to set up a government structure, from the village level on up, to join occupied sections of South Vietnam to North Vietnam. The North Vietnamese seem to be turning the once remote area around the old U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh into a major center of activity, according to reports reaching American intelligence. Meanwhile, other North Vietnamese crews have been converting what used to be a rudimentary road system into a network of surfaced highways, which can support heavy truck traffic even during the monsoon rains.

New Orleans Motorcade Plan Dropped

Nixon Assassination Plot Is Uncovered

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Plans for a presidential motorcade through New Orleans were cancelled today after the Secret Service said it had uncovered a "possible conspiracy to assassinate the President" during his visit to the city. President Nixon was flying here from Florida to address the 7th annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, his first public appearance in six weeks. Before he left, a White House spokesman said the scheduled motorcade through the city was being abandoned as a result of an investigation by the Secret Service, the FBI and the New Orleans Police Department.

New Orleans police were asked by the Secret Service to arrest a former policeman who was described as armed and extremely dangerous. Police declined to say whether the former policeman, identified as Edward M. Gaudet, alias "Punchy," was wanted in connection with the President's visit. The call to pick up Gaudet went out shortly after it was reported that New Orleans Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso's car and a policeman's uniform had been stolen.

Gaudet was arrested on Aug. 14, 1970 when Nixon drove through the French quarter in a motorcade. He was charged with attempting to desecrate a flag by burning it and throwing it on the President's car. He had been off the police force nearly three years at the time of that arrest. On July 25, 1967, he was "allowed to resign" after being involved in an incident during which a firearm was discharged during a fight. Giarrusso's car was taken about 2 a.m. from the driveway of his suburban home. It was recovered about 7 a.m. near Lake Pontchartrain, across the city. As originally planned, the motorcade would have been a short five blocks along Canal Street to the Rivergate convention center.

During the weekend, radio and television advertisements urged families to turn out for the motorcade and a sizeable noon crowd was expected. Nixon's speech was to be his first since he addressed the nation last Wednesday on Watergate and said it was "time to get on with the urgent business of our nation." Aides said the President would make a plea for continuing America's strong defense posture and for peace and stability in Indochina.

A White House spokesman said the change in motorcade plans resulted from an investigation by the Secret Service, the FBI and the New Orleans Police Department. In Washington, Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner said: "Over the past week we have received information over a possible conspiracy to assassinate the President during his visit to New Orleans this date."

Warner said it was believed more than one person was involved. Warner said information on the alleged conspiracy came from "police sources." Warner noted that the motorcade had been cancelled but said the President apparently "has accepted the risk" of continuing his travel plans.

He said that the Secret Service would have an additional statement "only if there are arrests."

Warner said that neither the new route the President would take into New Orleans nor the mode of transportation would be disclosed.

He said that the Secret Service would have an additional statement "only if there are arrests."

Terrorist Bombs Take Lives In Phnom Penh; Sappers Said In City

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Phnom Penh had a quiet night Sunday after an outbreak of terrorist bombs that killed five persons and wounded 64.

Col. Am Rong, chief spokesman for the Cambodian military command, reported government troops had dislodged the Khmer Rouge insurgents from an island between the Tolle Sap and Mekong rivers 10 miles north of Phnom Penh after several days of fighting. "Our troops continue active offensive operations around the perimeter of Phnom Penh to consolidate their positions," he said. He reported harassing fire against government positions 12 miles northeast of the city and 13 miles to the southwest. New fighting also was reported nine miles north of Kompong Cham, a provincial capital 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. Kompong Cham is still in government hands but is cut off from the capital. Plastic bombs which had been placed in a drain in Phnom Penh's crowded central market and in two movie houses exploded Sunday. The bombers apparently escaped. The government radio said it was the start of a terrorist campaign to which the Communist-led insurgents had turned "after the failure of the offensive against the city." The insurgents were reported late last week to have pulled back from Phnom Penh to build up their forces and supplies. But at least 1,000 Khmer Rouge sappers are reported to have slipped into the city with weapons and plastic bombs in recent weeks.

Mizell's Finding

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Fifth District Republican Congressman Wilmer Mizell says the response to questionnaires he mailed out to constituents a month ago show 53 per cent think President Nixon's overall performance in office has been good. Mizell said the figure is preliminary, since all the questionnaires have not been returned, but if it holds steady it would represent a loss of only four percentage points from 1968 when Nixon ran for office. Questioned in an interview on the Sunday "Report to the People" program of television station WXII, Mizell said he didn't think Nixon's credibility had been damaged by his refusal to release Watergate-related taped conversations with key aides. "I personally don't think they (the Senate committee investigating Watergate) are going to force the President to release those tapes," he said.

First Day Of School Today For Teachers

Today is the first day of school. For the teachers in the Greenville City Schools, that is. A mild Sunday, August 19, marked the end of the summer 1973 holiday for those on the staff of the city school system, as they put aside summertime activities to be on hand for opening ceremonies this morning. And as a starter, the new 1973-74 school year began not in one of the schools, but at an 8:30 a.m. city-wide meeting in the comfortable chairs of Plaza Cinema. The reason for meeting there, Superintendent Glenn Cox explained, was for a general session period and an orientation session conducted by central office personnel. At 10:00 o'clock, veteran teachers departed the theater to go to their posts in classrooms in their assigned schools.

New teachers remained at Plaza Cinema for an additional hour's orientation session. At noon, a luncheon for all professional staff members was held in the cafeteria at E.B. Aycock Junior High School. Dr. Tom Haggai of High Point was guest speaker.

Following the morning sessions and luncheon, the first full staff meeting for individual schools are scheduled to begin at 2:30 in the afternoon. Students still have this week left to enjoy the final days of summer freedom. Their first school day comes up next Tuesday, the 28th of August, when they will be reporting in for an orientation day in preparation for the schools getting underway in full swing on the following day, August 29.

Parliamentary Rule Pledged To Greeks

By PAUL ANAST

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — President George Papadopoulos pledged Sunday in a broadcast shortly after he was sworn in as president of the new Greek republic at the Orthodox cathedral. Papadopoulos then went on to make a series of startling announcements: —The lifting of martial law immediately, the restoration of all civil liberties and the reinstatement of suspended articles of the constitution. —Amnesty to all political prisoners including Alexander Panagoulis, serving a life sentence for trying to assassinate Papadopoulos. —Establishment of a constitutional court to legalize political parties in preparation for election of a parliament next year. Shows Up After 'Disappearance'

ROME (AP) — American television correspondent Jack Begon walked into a Rome clinic today after being missing for four weeks, said he wanted a thorough checkup and was put to bed in a private room. "He is tired. He needs a lot of rest," said Dr. Giulio Biorra.

The clinic refused to let newsmen interview Begon, a correspondent-producer for the American Broadcasting Co.

The 62-year-old newsman vanished on July 22 after telling his wife that he was going to interview Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor. The Burtons were then in their brief period of reconciliation prior to the announcement that they would divorce, but Begon was not seen near the villa of producer Carlo Ponti, where they were staying. Instead his office was found in disarray, with a pair of eyeglasses shattered on the floor.

His car was found parked at Rome's Fiumicino Airport and he had bought a plane ticket for Palermo, Sicily, to work on a documentary program about the Mafia and its financial secrets. The police said the plane ticket had been used, but they could not determine whether Begon used it.

Sixteen Fires Out Of Control In The West; 156,735 Acres Burned

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sixteen fires burned out of control on 93,000 acres of land today in the West's "explosive" range and forest fire crisis. Losses have been estimated at several million dollars.

Information officer Dick Klade of the Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho, said the crisis was shifting to Northern California and firefighters were being flown south from the upper tier of Pacific Northwest states.

Klade said 156,735 acres have been blackened by the fires. Affected land included major big game reserves in Montana and northern Idaho, timber in Oregon and Northern California and range lands in Oregon and Montana. The fire center gave this breakdown by states of major fires out of control, the acreage they affect and total acreage burned:

- California: four fires out of control on 26,000 acres with 42,950 acres burned.
- Nevada: one on 3,000 acres; 3,150 burned.
- Montana: eight on 57,000 acres; 59,350 burned.
- Idaho: two on 5,000 acres; 32,285 burned.
- Oregon: one on 2,200 acres; 17,650 burned.
- Washington: none; 1,200 burned.
- Wyoming: none; 150 burned.

John Russell, a fire center spokesman, said no deaths have been reported among firefighters. However, a U.S. Forestry Service spokesman said one man was killed in an auto accident when he fell asleep at the wheel after working long hours ferrying firefighters. Officials said forests in southeastern Washington, northeastern Oregon and parts of northern Idaho were extremely vulnerable because of dead trees due to a tussock moth infestation. And the center said lightning storms in southern Idaho, northern Utah and western Montana are starting new fires. Although the Oregon fire situation eased Sunday, control of a 6,000-acre fire near LaGrande was not expected until Tuesday. The fire destroyed nine buildings Thursday near the eastern Oregon town of 10,000. Firefighters in Oregon areas have been hampered by yellowjackets and wasps angered at being driven from their nests by the fires. A Forest Service spokesman said one man had to be evacuated from the firelines to a hospital in Enterprise, Ore., for treatment of yellowjacket stings. Reports released sporadically from individual foresters indicate that the total cost already is well past $1 million.

Title I Funds

A total of $347,135 in Part A, Title I, Elementary and Secondary Education Act money has been received for local schools as a quarterly grant for the period July 1 to September 30, 1973, according to State School Superintendent Craig Phillips. Of this total, $254,276 has been earmarked for the Pitt County Schools, and $92,859 will go to the Greenville City School System. According to Harold Webb, Special Assistant for Compensatory Education for the State Education Agency, "Title I provides funds to local educational agencies for use in helping to break the cycle of poverty through equalization of educational opportunity. These funds must be used to expand and improve educational programs contributing to the special needs of educationally deprived children." During the 1972-83 school year the State received $56,260,988 in Title I, Part A funds. At the present time Title I is being funded under a continuing resolution and no final determination has been made by Congress about the total allocation for the current school year. The state will receive a total allocation of $11,529,553 for this first quarter.

that existed before the coup, most of whose leaders are bitter opponents of the regime. But it is not likely since Papadopoulos repeatedly has spoken with contempt of the politicians and has said: "The old political world no longer has a place in Greece's political life." In addition, the president will appoint 20 of the 200 deputies in parliament.

Mother Puts Foot Down About Pet

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who wants a pet with all my heart. My folks say I can't have it. Abby, it's a six-inch, nonpoisonous snake, which can't hurt anybody. I am willing to pay for it with my own money. I even have the money for an aquarium—and have studied up on how to care for it. My folks wouldn't even know it was around. When it's not with me it would be locked up.

I have studied snakes and have learned all about them and they really aren't all that bad. A girl could have a worse hobby.

My mother doesn't know it, but this snake I want grows to be nine feet long, but I want it anyway. Please, be a pal and help me to convince my mother to let me have a snake.

MICHELLE

DEAR MICHELLE: Of all God's creatures, none has been so unjustly maligned as the serpent. (It probably goes back to the Garden of Eden.)

Your mother, like many others, is prejudiced against snakes because she knows very little about them. Herpetologists say that a snake (the nonpoisonous kind) makes a wonderful pet. It's clean, quiet, affectionate, and easy to train—and you can be sure nobody will steal it!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J": It is not only improper, but it is extremely poor taste to announce an engagement while either member of the future union is still in the throes of a divorce.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009.

Household Hints

Celery salt is a powdered form of dried fresh celery mixed with salt. Try adding it to a cream sauce or a salad dressing.

Processed cheddar cheese has one indisputable virtue: it mixes smoothly into a hot sauce and melts smoothly in a casserole dish.

When an extra amount of yeast is used in a bread recipe, the rising time is decreased. To avoid a yeasty flavor, let bread rise between 80 and 85 degrees.

To tell when milk is scalded, watch for tiny bubbles around the edge of the pan.

It's a good idea to hold a can of sweetened condensed milk only about six months before using. After opening the can, any of the condensed milk not used must be stored in the refrigerator and used shortly thereafter.

Cornmeal, added to flour for coating meat, poultry or fish before frying, gives a crunch texture.

Industries Do Pay Their Way

Once again we have the cry raised that because of what other states offer, North Carolina is having trouble competing for industry.

Bob Leak, director of the state Office of Industry, Tourist and Community Resources recently said the inventory tax and inability to offer tax-exempt revenue bonds for financing new industry are causing the trouble.

He cited South Carolina as gaining industries at North Carolina's expense.

"And the only reason they're in South Carolina instead of North Carolina is the lack of inventory tax and availability of tax exempt financing in South Carolina," he told a State Board of Conservation and Development committee last week.

Well, as we see it North Carolina has not done badly in attracting new industry and, as we have in the past, we oppose getting in competition with other states to see how much we can give a new industry to come here. Our laws and taxes should be fair and equitable to industries as compared to other states as a whole, but we should resist the temptation to do something solely because a neighboring state does. A bidding process could result which might see some industries writing their own ticket.

It is our observation that quality industries do not object to paying their way as long as they are treated fairly in relation to standards in most other states. This should be North Carolina's philosophy in seeking new industry. If we find we have an inequality in our tax laws then it should be corrected, but we should not be stamped into any big give-away program in the name of attracting industry.

Not A Case Of 'Babysitting'

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—This September will be more than just the beginning of public school kindergarten in North Carolina. If things work according to plan it will be the first day of revolution in the lower grades of public schools across the state.

"This is going to revise the entire primary school system," says James W. Jenkins, director of early childhood education in the N.C. Department of Public Instruction.

The hard-driving, fast-talking Cleveland County native, is the father of the kindergarten program and it will bear his stamp. Right now, he has to be caught on the run between plane trips, early morning drives or late night commuting to all sectors of the state as he meets with the local educators putting the program together.

Sometime between September 1 and Labor Day school will open, and with it, 16,500 five-year-olds will launch the initial phase of the statewide kindergarten program beyond a small pilot project. That's roughly 16 per cent of the five-year-olds in the state, and increased enrollment each year is supposed to see 100 per cent enrolled by the fall of 1977.

Speedup Possible
But that day might come sooner, Jenkins said. The biggest source of complaint across the state judged from response to his office and in local superintendents' offices comes from parents whose kids weren't chosen in the random selection system for this first outing.

"A few communities haven't enrolled a maximum number of students," Jenkins said, but added that those shortages are generally due to administrative problems, and when school opens, the kindergartens will be at capacity.

Mostly, though, parents are upset because their kids didn't get in. But Jenkins notes with some pride that even his own five-year-old was left out of the selection process in Raleigh. That proves it was honest, he said, and his child is enrolled in a private kindergarten as a result.

"The fact that a lot were left out is causing some unhappy parents. This will speed up the timetable, I'm sure," Jenkins said. He expects members of the General Assembly to hear from parents who want their children in public school kindergarten. The biggest question, he said, that he is hearing across the state is, "Why can't my child go?"

And parents should want their children to be a part of this program which Jenkins sees as a revolution in the primary school system.

No More Rows

"By revising the entire primary system, I mean we are taking a primary school and placing a kindergarten in it and plan to operate a program based on the characteristics of how children learn. They are active and inquisitive, and we in public education have been guilty of seating them in rows, lecturing them, handing them a book printed in New York and saying, here, read this," the 45-year-old professional said.

He speaks from experience, having been a teacher, principal and superintendent before jumping at the chance to head up the kindergarten program.

The primary system "needs to make some changes," and Jenkins talks about K-1-2-3 as a unit. These are the grades in which the changes will be sweeping.

There will be "interest centers" in which children can explore various fields of activity and the teachers can guide them—not force something down their throats.

Learning to read, even, will be switched around. Children will first learn to write a story—whether by dictation or by setting words down on paper. They can learn to read that a lot more easily, Jenkins argues, reversing the usual method of trying to teach "See Jane Run" reading before the child learns story-telling.

How do the educators react to all this revision?
"Most of them—and I'm talking about 3,000 teachers, principals and supervisors—a majority of them say, yes, we are gonna take a second look at how we teach children," Jenkins said.

"These people know that it's more trouble to individualize a school program. It will keep the teachers on their toes to do this and allow the children creativity."

"And some will resent it—that's a natural thing. It's going to make a lot of teachers work a lot harder than they have been," he said.

The principal message he is carrying to workshops across the state is to adapt to a change in methods. These young children, he insists, are ready to learn concepts and explore interests. They aren't ready to be drilled with skills by rote. "Learning the skills of reading and writing will come later, and better, built on this foundation," Jenkins said.

Those Oil Giants Can Bear Some Watching

It is good news that the freeze on gasoline and diesel fuel prices has been extended to Aug. 31.

It should be remembered that the most recent price spiral and shortage situation began with the petroleum industry.

The international oil giants bear close watching by the U.S. government and the American consumer should not have to be at the mercy of those who control oil.

Israel Ignores Risks Involved

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON—The fact that several leaders of the powerful American-Jewish community discreetly—but bitterly—complained to Israeli ambassador Simcha Dinitz about Israel's skyjacking of a civilian Arab airliner is harsh new evidence that Israel now risks becoming an acute embarrassment to her best friends here.

Some highly-placed American Jews, in fact, were quick to point to their outrage over Israel's decision once against to invade Lebanon's air space as proof that the American-Jewish community is no handmaiden of the state of Israel.

As one prominent Jewish leader, with close ties to the Nixon administration, told us (asking anonymity): "I have a sixth sense that Israel is getting too smart for her own good."

Yet, that ominous warning to the country which controls by far the most powerful military might anywhere in the Arab Middle East, thanks to American weapons, is only the beginning of the new round of troubles Israel now confronts here.

Far more significant is the fact, unreported until now, that President Nixon himself has suddenly come to realize that the old intimacy between the U.S. and King Feisal of Saudi Arabia is endangered.

Mr. Nixon, in fact, is using the threat of strained relations with old friend King Feisal, whose country sits on 24 per cent of the world's known reserves of crude oil, to justify a new look at the tumultuous Middle East.

With the U.S. facing grave oil shortages, and King Feisal under growing Arab pressure to use his influence to shift American policy from pro-Israel to neutral—no small shift—Mr. Nixon is far more concerned than generally realized.

But to that there must be added the explosive ingredient of Israel's seeming contempt for the opinion of major U.S. allies, particularly in Western Europe, and the U.S. itself.

In the dramatic Israeli raid into the heart of Beirut last April 10, for example, the first fatal victim of the Israeli counter-terrorist was no Palestinian terrorist but an elderly Italian woman who happened to be occupying the apartment where the Israelis expected to find a guerrilla leader. She was gunned to death.

Although her death caused scarcely a ripple in the American press, the Italian government did not take it lightly.

Likewise, less than one month after the murder of a Moroccan in a Norwegian village on July 21, allegedly by two Israeli counter-terrorists, an Israeli diplomat accused of hiding the two Israelis was declared persona non grata — and expelled from Norway.

Coming on top of this and other bloody incidents, all of them the direct result of Israel's lonely struggle to stamp out the Palestinian terrorist movement, was the skyjacking of the Middle East airliner. With heavy pressure from U.S. ambassador John Scali, backed by the White House and the State Department, the United Nations Security Council finally agreed on a condemnation of Israel that the U.S. could vote for. Result: the first anti-Israel U.S. vote since 1968, and probably the harshest UN Security Council condemnation of a Middle Eastern state since Israel seized the Egyptian Sinai peninsula, the West Bank of Jordan and the Golan Heights of Syria in the 1967 war.

Yet, despite these clear signs that Israel is encountering increasing resistance to its draconian realized.

Strength For Today

A LATER FAITH
"I bless myself and am thankful," declared Sir Thomas Browne, "that I never saw Christ nor his disciples. If I were one of those on whom Christ worked his wonders, then had my faith been thrust upon me, nor should I enjoy that greater blessing pronounced to all that believe and saw not."

Thus did this godly figure of a day long past express his satisfaction that he could live in a generation when men apprehend Christ spiritually and not as the disciples did, in the flesh. To accept Christ on faith, said Sir Thomas, is surely more blessed than to do so as an onlooker to a miracle merely acknowledging Christ's superior powers.

Quite apart from Sir Thomas's reasoning, there is another reason why we may be glad we were not living when Christ was here upon the earth. More likely we would have been among the great multitude which rejected him rather than upon the handful which accepted him. Actually, it is easier to accept him now than it was then.

The Monopoly Fantasy

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — The weather had not been the greatest on Cape Cod that year, and I found myself spending a great deal of time playing the game of Monopoly with my children. This battle for real estate has probably been the most popular pastime for children for more than three decades, and its appeal now is as great as it was when it first came out in 1935.

The surprising thing about Monopoly is that while inflation has taken its toll in this country, the prices for real estate on the Monopoly

Other Editors Say Smut Standard?

(The N.Y. Times)
State Supreme Court Justice Abraham J. Gellinoff, a 68-year-old grandfather who describes himself as knowing only enough about sex "to get by," has handed down an extremely sensible opinion on obscenity and the nation's pornography laws. It exposes, if that is the proper word, the unworkability of the recent series of 5-to-4 rulings through which the United States Supreme Court attempted to define obscenity by relating it to prevailing community standards.

Justice Gellinoff's duties required him to view several "skin flicks" seized by law enforcement officials. While finding them sexually explicit and personally offensive, he properly confessed an inability to assess them against prevailing community standards because there is no judicial yardstick by which to establish what these are. The fact that many patrons pay money to see such films is in and of itself, evidence that explicit sex does not offend everybody.

The Gellinoff decision underscores the hopelessness of evaluating pornographic material by the Supreme Court's guideline: what an average person might find "patently offensive." Efforts to apply such imprecise definitions merely invite censorship of such dimension that any film or publication might be suppressed through the invocation of police-court morality.

The areas for useful exercise of legal restraint remain the denial of obscene material to children and the protection of nonconsenting adults against having pornography thrust upon them through billboards, marquee displays or other forms of exhibition. Restrictions aimed at keeping adults from reading books they want to read or seeing films they want to see do much more to undermine freedom than they do to advance public or private morals.

The Contested Ocean Acreage

By JERRY HARKAVY
Associated Press Writer
KITTERY POINT, Maine (AP) — The Maine-New Hampshire "lobster war" isn't just a battle over those tasty crustaceans that lurk along the ocean bottom.

Some fishermen think it's all politics. Others insist the controversy is over potentially lucrative offshore oil deposits. As things stand now, the U.S. Supreme Court may have the final say in resolving claims by the two New England states to 2,400 contested acres of ocean between Portsmouth, N.H., Harbor and the Isles of Shoals.

If the justices agree to hear the case and appoint a special master to take evidence, it probably will be years before a decision is reached.

New Hampshire took the controversy to the Supreme Court after two of its lobstermen were arrested by Maine coastal wardens for fishing in waters claimed by that state.

"Maine has apparently declared war on us," declared New Hampshire Gov. Meldrim Thomson after the second arrest.

To many New Englanders, the much-publicized controversy has been a source of some amusement but little concern. It's no joke, however, to the lobstermen who drop their traps in the heavily fished waters and earn all or part of their livelihood from the sea.

The underlying cause of the dispute depends pretty much on where they come from. To Granite Staters, it's an attempt by Maine to blackmail them into accepting stricter fishing laws—particularly those setting a 3-16-inch minimum size for lobsters.

New Hampshire's minimum—measured along the body shell—is 3 1/4 inches, and the 1-16 inch difference adds up to a lot of lobsters. "It's a very close measure," explains Maine Coastal Warden Thomas Flaherty, who made the two arrests. "A lot of the stuff that would be legal in New Hampshire is illegal in Maine. It just won't quite make the Maine measure, and they have to throw it back."

Along the piers at Kittery Point, Maine fishermen claim the dispute was stirred up by Thomson to score political points by championing his state's claims to the contested waters.

"It's all politics," said George Spinney. Bob Witham agreed but added: "Thomson isn't interested in lobster fishermen. What he's really interested in is oil rights."

Fishermen on both sides of the line would like to see the hassle cleared up before October—when the lobsters, having shed their shells, move into deeper waters and fishing activity picks up in the disputed zone.

Each state has documentary evidence to back its claims.

How small are your red corpuscles? Well, a cube measuring only 1-25th of an inch on each side could hold more red blood corpuscles than there are people in Chicago. These tiny little carriers of oxygen to the blood are infinitely busy, too. While you are reading this sentence, six to 10 billion of them will pass through your lungs. If you read with your lips, the number will be larger.

Do you wonder if you're stupid because you sometimes have trouble quickly telling right from left? Well, don't worry about it; many adults, including those of superior intellect, have the same difficulty. Neurologists say this momentary confusion is more common among women than men.

About one in every 21 Americans is a widow. Not counting "grass widows" — and there are millions of these — some 10 million U.S. women have been widowed by the death of their spouses. Their average age: 56.

Have you had your child's cholesterol level checked? Many pediatricians now suggest this, particularly in families with a record of premature atherosclerosis, a condition in which a fatty lining of the arteries often leads to heart attacks. A check of 2,000 young people ranging in age from 2 weeks to 19 years disclosed that from 10 to 35 per cent had an excess of blood cholesterol, which is often a forerunner of atherosclerosis. Detected early, it can often be reduced by diet changes.

Your nose knows: There are millions of odors on earth, but psychologists say they are all only variations of four primary smells — fragrant, acid, rancid and burnt.

A matter of appetite: An animal's hunger isn't measured by its size. Americans, for example, eat, three meals a day, and 40 million of us are overweight. But the tiny shrew must eat every hour or two — it consumes its own bodyweight in 24 hours — or starve to death. On the other hand, the giant python needs to fill its stomach with only about one big meal a year.

Worth remembering: "Advice is wonderful. Take it and you can make the same mistakes everybody else does."

It was Mark Twain who observed, "Heaven goes by favor: if it went by merit, you would stay out and your dog would go in."

'Third Force' Emerges In Auto Contracts

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — A loosely organized third force has emerged in the midst of national contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the Big Three auto companies.

It has shown its strength by closing down three Detroit area Chrysler plants within a month, without union authorization or support.

Both company and union officials say a new breed of young, radical-leaning workers brought about the wildcat actions.

"Some of our guys are so accustomed to respecting a picket line, it doesn't matter who throws it up," one UAW local official complained last week. "But that's going to have to stop."

The new breed captured the spotlight last week when members of the Workers Action Movement (WAM) conducted a sit-in at the Chrysler's Mack Avenue stamping plant.

"We call these strikes an exercise in rank and file power," a WAM member said. "You're going to see more of them in the future. We want to shut the auto industry down."

WAM is an arm of the Progressive Labor Party, a self-proclaimed revolutionary communist group which grew out of the Students for a Democratic Society in the 1960s. It went its own way after a dispute with the Weathermen factions in 1969.

Its members say the group is active in all of the 55 auto plants in the Detroit area.

Both the UAW and Chrysler officials accuse the organization of exploiting "special conditions" within certain Chrysler facilities.

The wildcats broke out in forging, stamping and welding plants, where searing hot metal is pounded into parts and then welded together into cars.

"I would deny it if you quoted me," one auto industry spokesman said, "but those are the dirtiest, hottest, noisiest plants we have."

Many of the plants are not fit to work in, Douglas Fraser, UAW vice president for Chrysler, says. After an announced tour of 20 of the company's local plants, the UAW staff found 15 with conditions he described as "distressingly bad."

"We didn't ask Chrysler if they were going to improve working conditions," Fraser said. "We didn't say if, we said when."

However sympathetic the UAW may be with workers who protest poor health and safety conditions, it resists wildcats, urging members to utilize regular grievance procedures.

Fraser told Chrysler to "sweat out" the Mack wildcat.

"Fraser and those guys don't represent the workers. We are the workers and they are selling us out," one Mack wildcatter said.

"It's just not true that the union is doing all it can," WAM said in a leaflet prepared for the Mack wildcat. "We, the rank and file, are the union, and we can shut down these plants anytime we decide to."

Company Chairman Lynn A. Townsend, speaking in Kansas City where Chrysler unveiled its 1974 cars, blamed Chrysler's labor troubles on "left-wing radicals."

With more than 2,300 workers on a shift, Townsend said, "there are so many people going through the gate so fast, it's virtually impossible to seal out people who don't belong there."

Buchwald

"If you don't roll, you'll miss your turn."

"Now hear me out," I said. "You children must understand that every piece of real estate on this board is undervalued. When I was a child, we mortgaged everything just to own a piece of the Boardwalk. But today anybody can buy Boardwalk or Park Place. You kids don't appreciate Boardwalk and Park Place because you never had to work for them."

They pretended they didn't hear a word I said.

A dozen turns later I landed on "chance." The card I picked up said, "Go to jail. Do not pass go. Do not collect $200."

"Wait a minute," I protested. "You can't just send a man to jail without charging him and advising him of his constitutional rights. Thirty years ago it could be done, but since then the Supreme Court has ruled that a man must be represented by a lawyer."

"You have to go to jail" my 10-year-old daughter said.

"I don't have to go to jail," I said. "Haven't you ever heard of the Mallory ruling or the Gideon case?"

My 12-year-old plunked my token in jail and took her turn. She landed on "Income tax: Pay 10 percent or $200."

"That ridiculous," I cried, looking at the stack of money in front of her. "You should be at least in the 40 percent bracket. You own both the Water Works and the Electric Company. How do we pay for the war and the Great Society if you contribute only 10 percent of your income?"

Once again my protests fell on deaf ears.

Two hours later, through some dirty trading, my children controlled everything on the board except "Baltic" and Mediterranean avenues, which I owned. Even 30 years ago they were considered slum areas, and I begged the children for urban renewal funds. But none of them would give me any money.

"All right," I said, "if you won't lend me money for urban renewal, would you at least give me $25 for rat control?"

Once again they refused, and I decided that this was the only part of the game that

Cites Restriction In Emergency Rules

"With food prices being what they are, it is difficult to understand why the government would attempt to force unwarranted environmental restrictions on farmers," David Smith, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau, said.

He said a good example is the U. S. Department of Labor's attempts to saddle farmers with so-called "emergency" standards having to do with re-entry into certain pesticide fields.

"Farm Bureau has been in the forefront in having these unnecessary and unrealistic standards postponed," Smith said. "In fact, it has been shown that no emergency exists."

"Farmers are anxious to do their part in protecting the environment but they do object to being forced to comply with emergency standards when no emergency exists."

"It should also be remembered that excessive restrictions on the use of agricultural chemicals and unrealistic pollution control laws can contribute to higher food prices."

Smith said that this is just one of the areas in which Farm Bureau is working for the farmer's benefit. The Pitt County Farm Bureau's annual membership drive is now underway, with a total membership goal of 2,500 set.

worldwide methods aimed at stamping out Palestinian terrorism, other plans by the Israeli government are likely to make things still worse.

Thus, the Labor government of Prime Minister Golda Meir, facing an election this fall, has now approved plans to build a city for 50,000 on the Israeli-occupied (but Syrian) Golan Heights and an "urban center" in Israeli-occupied (but Egyptian) northern Sinai.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices turned lower today as Wall Street pulled back on news the prime rate moved toward a new peak as the dollar declined in Europe.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which lost almost 21 points last week, was down 2.11 to 869.73.

Declines held a 3-to-2 lead over advances in very light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks had fallen 18 to 54.50 at 11 a.m., while the price-change index on the American Stock Exchange was off unchanged at 22.94.

The Big Board is most-active issue was Travelodge International, object of a take-over offer by a British concern, which rose 1/4 to 11 1/2.

Drug companies, whose price practices may come under some tough scrutiny in forthcoming congressional hearings, were generally lower. Schering-Plough paced the decline, falling 3 to 74.

Other active group included farm-machinery makers, who have been stronger in the wake of large U.S. grain sales to foreign buyers. International Harvester was up 1/4 to 34, and Deere & Co., which predicted higher earnings, gained 1/4 to 53 1/2.

Plan Transfer Stevie Wonder

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Blind singer-composer Stevie Wonder of Los Angeles, who had a close brush with death in an Aug. 6 traffic accident, is expected to check out of Baptist Hospital this week.

A hospital spokesman says the 23-year-old entertainer is steadily improving and will be transferred to the West Coast as soon as possible.

Wonder, whose "You Are the Sunshine in My Life" was a No. 1 best-selling record a few weeks ago, suffered a groin contusion when the car in which he was riding collided with a logging truck on Interstate 85 near Salisbury.

He granted his first interview since the accident Saturday. Wonder declined to discuss details of the accident, noting there were certain things he did not remember.

"The only thing I do know is that I was unconscious and that I was definitely, for a few days, in a much better spiritual place that made me aware of a lot of things that concern my life and my future and what I have to do to reach another higher ground."

Wonder spent more than a week in the intensive care unit. Only his family and representatives of his recording company were allowed to visit.

Calls, telegrams and flowers poured in from across the nation.

Wonder donated all of his flowers to children who were patients at the hospital.

"People should be more considerate of patients and show their love by sending them flowers," Wonder said.

He said the people at Baptist Hospital were very warm and considerate. "I've gotten the feeling of being loved not just because of me being Stevie Wonder, but being loved as a person."

Ewart Abner, president of Motown Record Corp., was with Wonder during the interview. Abner said he thinks it will be at least six months before Wonder, who has 13 gold records to his credit, can return to work.

Davidson May Resort To Air Game

By WOODY PEELE (One of a series)

The Davidson Wildcats might do well to find another nickname for their football team.

But their philosophy might make them more of a bird-like namesake—they like to take to the air.

"In our I or split back offense, we like to open things up," Coach Dave Fagg said.

Passing in recent years has been the forte of the Davidson teams, and despite the fact that they ran a lot last year, they rank fifth in the nation in passing, averaging 212.9 yards a game, over the past five years.

"I want to win so bad I can hardly stand it," Fagg said. "But the longer I am in coaching the more difficult winning appears. We are a better team. But we also know that winning is going to be difficult."

Fagg feels that Davidson must prevent the big play. "We can't allow more than 18 yards on a play. We have to increase our interceptions, punt better, not throw the interception so much, and we have to score inside the 20." Fagg mourned over that fact that Davidson played several teams great games last year, only to lose because of its lack of ability to score after driving.

"On defense, we're telling our players to keep the ball in front of them. We want to get 11 men on the football, and not let that big play happen."

Davidson may be improved this year because of more experience. There are 15 men who have been fulltime or sometime starters back, and a total of 26 lettermen. "Nearly all positions on our team have experienced players, creating good balance," Fagg feels. It may be enough, barring injuries, to allow Davidson to be a factor in the conference race.

Depth, however will still be a problem, and "we simply must have some luck in the area of injuries," the coach added.

Fagg feels that the team does have some exceptional athletes, among whom is Walt Walker. Last year, Walker led the conference and was fifth nationally with 62 catches. He leads a fine receiving group that Fagg wants to get the ball to.

Of course, getting the ball there is the key, and despite the loss of quarterback Scotty Shipp to graduation, Fagg feels that he has a replacement in David Harper. "He played a major role in eight of 11 games last year and gained valuable experience. He has a fine throwing arm and runs with authority."

Walker, Fagg feels, is a definite pro prospect, but there are others on the team who could make All-Conference honors. These include linebacker Eddie Williamson, George Weicker, back Dave Ingold back Eddie Womack, and tackle Jim De Ville. The latter two, however, may not play. De Ville suffered a back injury and Womack has had knee surgery. Fagg is unsure how they'll respond come the season.

In the offensive line, there is more experience than in the past. Frank Shinn, a tackle, and Jim Hankinson, the center, provide the leadership in the line. Guard Jim Keinfelder and tackle Jim Smith both are coming off good sophomore years. Steve Shankweiler has moved back from defense to offense this year and this also should improve the line. Overall there is adequate strength and quickness.

Joining Walker as a receiver will be Gary Pomeroy and Mike Harding, all three of whom are good receivers, and good runners after getting the ball. Pomeroy also is the kick return specialist, and could be one of the best athletes on the team.

The defensive backs present the biggest question mark. Womack's knee injury leaves him uncertain. Tom Fleischer is back after a fine sophomore season. Hal Paul played a lot as a freshman and will probably start. If Womack is healthy, it could be a strong spot.

In the line, end Jack Stultz returns for a third year. Ross Manire has moved to end from linebacker. De Ville, if ready, will be one of the tackles, while Jim Purcell has moved from end to tackle.

Linebacking perhaps is the most experienced among the defenders. Eddie Williamson, George Weicker and Danny Ward all return, while sophomores Allen Schaberg, Roger Whitley and Bob Sanders all saw much action as freshmen and could break into the starting lineup. Fagg rates the 1973 schedule as just as tough as the one he rated as the toughest ever at Davidson last year. So that doesn't make things look good. The Wildcats finished 3-7-1 last year. This year, they play Wofford, Richmond, Lenoir Rhyne, East Carolina at home and go on the road against Appalachian, Furman, William & Mary, the Air Force, VMI and The Citadel.

"We want very badly to win football games," Fagg said. "We are going to give the season everything we have." It may not be enough for the Wildcats to climb into a winning season.

The longest trip for the Air Force football team next fall will be to Annapolis, Md., to face Navy on Oct. 20.

Denver Begins Season With Established QB And Runners

By JOHN MOSSMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer DENVER (AP) — For the first time in years—perhaps for the first time in the club's 14-year history—the Denver Broncos begin a season with an established quarterback, a proven running and passing game, and a winning attitude.

Second-year Coach John Ralston, having instilled his own positive-thinking outlook in the minds of his players, now must translate the attitude into victories.

In 1972, the Broncos, who never had finished over .500 since their inception in 1960, still failed to eclipse that goal. They wound up 5-9, but managed to move up to third in the American Football Conference's Western Division.

To become a division contender, the young Denver team must improve its pass defense, avoid a rash of injuries, and get another outstanding, injury-free year from quarterback

Charley Johnson.

A new coaching staff and wholesale shuffling of personnel delayed Denver's development last year. And then there were those injuries. Thirteen Broncos underwent knee surgery, including starting running backs Floyd Little and Bobby Anderson.

There's more stability this year, however, and almost all of the injured have recuperated.

The 34-year-old, battle-scarred Johnson, who'll be starting his 13th professional season, is the key player in 1973, not only on the basis of his performance last year but also on his leadership qualities.

The only quarterback problem Ralston has is finding a capable backup man in case Johnson is injured. Steve Ramsey, Mike Ernst and rookie John Hufnagel of Penn State are the contenders.

Cougars Open Training Camp

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The Carolina Cougars, champions of the ABA-East last season, open basketball training camp Sept. 10 at Appalachian State University in Boone.

Rookies and free agents are scheduled to report the first day. Veterans of the American Basketball Association team are required to be in camp by Sept. 10.

Three changes in the pre-season schedule were announced over the weekend by Ted Malick, Cougar spokesman.

Malick said Saturday that Carolina will open its ten-game exhibition series Sept. 22 against Virginia in the first game of a doubleheader at Louisville, Ky. Houston of the National Basketball Association will meet Kentucky in the second game.

The Sept. 28 game with Capitol, formerly Baltimore, of the NBA has been shifted from Winston-Salem to Wilmington and a Sept. 19 game with Virginia has been moved back to Oct. 2 and moved to Williamsburg, Va., Malick said.

The revised pre-season schedule:

- September Virginia at Louisville, 21; Atlanta, NBA, at Greensboro, 22; Phoenix, NBA, at Durham, 25; Capitol, NBA, at Wilmington, 28; and Boston, NBA, at Greensboro, 29. October Virginia at Williamsburg, 2; Indiana at Columbus, Ind., 3; Indiana at Anderson, Ind., 4; Milwaukee, NBA, at Charlotte, 6.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have all sorts of interesting ideas that you can easily impart to others in a very logical manner. By so doing you can come to a better understanding and bring a new series of successes to your activities. Be forthright.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you have long conversations with associates, fine ideas will be formulated and excellent plans made for the future. Improve on transportation matters. Don't waste so much time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Good day to meet with higher-ups who are able to help you solve a particular problem. Follow your hunches as well as your good judgment for ideal results. Be sure to dress in style.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take steps to improve your health via proper treatments. Make business appointments that are important. Attending the social tonight can be to your advantage. Avoid extravagance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk with a clever person who can help you gain your fondest aims. Listen carefully to the advice given you. Follow your intuition, but not your emotions and all works out fine.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Showing devotion to good friends can bring you many favors today. Try to bring out the best qualities in them instead of the worst. Make sure you don't take risks of any kind.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you join forces with influential persons you know, you can make big strides in civic affairs. Buy the appliances that add to your efficiency. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Obtain the data you need and then carry through with a special plan you have in mind. Careful planning at this time can bring added income in the days ahead. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Schedule your time well so you can take care of responsibilities without having to rush. A show of affection for mate brings results now. Forget any past resentments. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Meet with closest tie and discuss subjects uppermost on your minds and come to a far better understanding. Do the same with an associate and your relationship will improve.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can combine cleverness of mind with nimble fingers to get much accomplished today. Do something to make your wardrobe more charming. Get the right accessories. Use good taste.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Congenials will gladly join you in recreational activities that you enjoy. Find the right way to get your ideas of a creative nature approved by higher-ups. Think logically.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Getting busy and fixing up your abode so that it is more comfortable is wise. Make it as clean as you can. Your office or place of business could also use some sprucing up.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people with an agile mind and the ability to work well with the hands. This will bring considerable success in whatever the forte may be. Bigwigs will be attracted to your clever progeny early in life and give a boost where and when most needed. Many fine talents in this chart. Give religious training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The 'Worry Clinic' The Hyperbole Has Its Value

Dr. Pierce fills his sanctuary on Sunday morning by means of his superb pulpit oratory. But that also involves a keen sense of humor, as shown by the use of the "Tate Family" story below. Jesus likewise made his audience laugh by use of hyperbole!

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-590: Dr. Robert B. Pierce is the pastor of the skyscraper Chicago Temple, in the heart of the Loop.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "have you ever heard of the famous 'Tate Family' that belongs to every church?"

"There is old man DICK TATE, who want to run everything in the church.

"Uncle RO TATE tries to change everything.

"And sister AGI TATE stirs up trouble whenever possible.

"Her brother, IIRI TATE, helps her to do so, too.

"And whenever new projects are suggested, brother HESI TATE and sister VEGETATE pour cold water on the proposals.

"Then there is sister IMI TATE who tries to have the church mimic everybody else.

"When the church budget is announced, everybody tends to quake if brother DEVAS TATE stands up in the meeting.

And brother POTEN TATE wants to be a big shot. "But not all members of the family are bad, for brother FACIL TATE is quite helpful.

"A delightful member of the family is Miss FELICI TATE.

"And the pastor is always delighted by brother COGI TATE and his twin, brother MEDI TATE."

Pulpit Humor

You faithful church members may like to expand this tabulation of the "Tate Family." You will also find in many other civic and fraternal organizations.

But I salute Dr. Pierce for his good sense of humor.

Too many clergymen fail to realize that appropriate humor is a decided asset to all pulpit speakers.

Thus, clergymen (and all public speakers) might profitably subscribe to the weekly QUOTE MAGAZINE, published in Anderson, S.C.

For it not only contains epigrams and brief quotations from famous leaders in all walks of life.

But also includes several pages of excellent humor, jokes, anecdotes and witty sayings, all of which are in good taste and without lewd or pornographic connotation.

Jesus had a superb sense of humor and made his audiences laugh heartily! How do we know? Because he employed the

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Monday, August 20, 1973—9 stand tool of jesters, which is hyperbole.

Hyperbole is not just the stretching of the truth that a fisherman generally demonstrates when showing you the size of the fish that got away.

No; hyperbole is EX-TRAVAGANT exaggeration, to a ridiculous extreme!

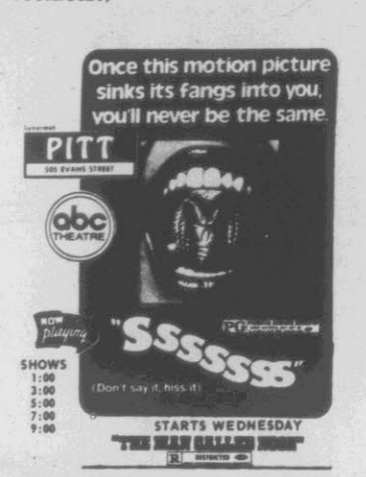

It involves such incongruity that everybody laughs.

So Jesus warned his associates about straining at gants but swallowing what?

Not mosquitoes or houseflies, honeybees or even hornets but "camels!"

Again, he said, "Why beholdest thou the mote (speck) in your brother's eye but considerest not the beam (sawlog) in your own eye?"

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
© 1973, The Chicago Tribune
BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
AKJ864 AQ32 1052 46
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 1 Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. In response to an overall a jump raise is not forcing but strongly urges partner to go on. There is nothing to be gained and a lot to lose by bidding one spade.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, partner opens with one heart and you hold:
64 QKJ3 10 4 AKJ532
What is your response?
A.—A direct raise to three hearts is our outstanding choice. While a temporizing bid of two clubs is a possibility, we cannot see that anything is to be gained by such action. Indeed, you may have trouble later convincing partner of the quality of your heart support.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
976 Q72 AK2 Q842
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Pass 1 Pass
2 NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—The answer is arrived at by simple arithmetic. Partner has a maximum of 20 points. You have 11. The partnership cannot have more than 31 points in high cards, and with this balanced hand you know that slam is out of reach. The proper bid therefore, is three trump.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
AK1096 AJ7 AI0532
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 Pass 2 Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—A jump shift to three diamonds is our choice. When we later support clubs vigorously, partner will realize that we must be short in spades, and we might even reach a grand slam. However, if either you or your partner shuns the subtleties of a scientific auction, we would find acceptable a direct jump to six clubs. Four clubs does not express the full value of this hand.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
AK1096 AJ7 AI0532
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 Dble. 3 Pass
Pass 3 Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—This is a pretty good hand for a partner who has undertaken a nine-trick contract all by himself. The king of spades should solidify that suit, but since the king of hearts represents a potential value only with your hand protected from the opening lead, it might prove easier to make nine tricks at no trump than 10 in spades. This department votes for three no trump.

Missing Family Is Still Sought

MARS HILL, N.C. (AP)—Authorities are still looking for clues of the whereabouts of four members of a Mars Hill family, missing since a fire of undetermined origin destroyed their frame home early Saturday.

Missing were Mrs. Joyce Jarvis, about 43, and her three teenage children, Wanda, 19, Bob, 17, and Cindy, 15.

A spokesman for the Madison County Sheriff's Department said Sunday that no new clues had turned up in the case.

Robert Jarvis, 46, a postal clerk in nearby Asheville, told authorities he was at work at the time of the blaze and returned home around 1:30 a.m. Saturday to find his home destroyed and his family gone.

He said his wife's car was still in the garage, and that a check with friends and relatives in this small mountain community failed to turn any trace of his family.

Investigators said they found no bone fragments or other evidence to indicate that anyone died in the fire.

Mrs. Jarvis had worked as a secretary in the public relations department of Mars Hill College for several years.

Director of public relations for the college, Walter Smith, said, "We're mystified. The whole community is shocked and surprised. There are so many unanswered questions. The Jarvises just aren't the kind of people something like this happens to."

The Sheriff's Department issued the following descriptions of the missing:

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou

The unprecedented demand for cattle to go into the nation's feedlots for fattening was strongly reflected in the recent North Carolina series of spring stockers sales. All price records were shattered.

Cattle averaging 546 pounds sold for an average of $51.51 per hundred pounds, or $14 higher than in the same sales last year and over $20 higher than in the 1971 sales.

Reflecting slightly heavier weights and sharply higher prices, the cattle sold this year were worth over $79 per head more to their producers than last year and a whopping $115 more per head than in the 1971 sales. The average per head was $281.

The cattle, most of which were bought last fall and carried through the winter on silage, hay or accumulated grazing, were sold on the nine demonstration sales jointly sponsored by the N. C. Cattlemen's Association, N. C. State University, N. C. Department of Agriculture, and local auction markets.

Prices received in these sales normally set the price range for feeder and stocker cattle sold through other channels.

Sponsor representatives expressed a high degree of satisfaction over outcome of the sales. They were called "an extremely good series of sales," by A. V. Allen, in charge of extension beef work at N. C. State University.

"We were especially pleased that producers continued to support these demonstration sales," Allen said. The total numbers sold, 7,414, held up well despite strong encouragement from buying interests to sell early.

Allen said the Tar Heel cattle were shipped to a wide area of the United States. Many of the lighter weight animals were sold to southwestern and midwestern feedlots. Other cattle were purchased to go on mountain pastures in western North Carolina and southwestern Virginia.

Allen believes the rousing series of sales will have a significant impact on North Carolina production. It will, he predicts, create stronger interest in buying calves in the fall for winter feeding.

"It should also open some eyes among producers who have been selling light weight calves," he said. "I think that more of these calves will be held on the farm for spring sale rather than selling them in the fall and missing an opportunity to get a better return per head."

The 1973 sales broke down like this: 4,212 steers averaged $54.29 per hundred pounds; 2,702 heifers averaged $46 per hundred pounds. The gross receipts were $2.1 million.

The wide difference in price is dramatized by total sales figures. There were some 27,000 fewer total pounds of live cattle sold than last year and 25,000 fewer than in 1971, yet the sales grossed over a half million dollars more than last year and well over three quarters of a million dollars more than 1971.

Looks To A 'New Start'

ELON COLLEGE, N.C., (AP)—A Florida minister says President Nixon should "come clean" on Watergate or resign.

The Rev. Beverly "Matt" Currin, rector of Christ Church of Pensacola, Fla., told summer school graduates at Elon College Sunday the main Watergate issue facing America is not "what the President knew and when he knew it," but the President's credibility.

A 1953 Elon graduate and native of nearby Burlington, Rev. Currin said, "If we are to restore our nation to a position of integrity and responsibility, then we must begin anew."

"And I would be so bold as to suggest that if the President is so concerned with national security and the national interest, then he should come clean and tell the whole story, or be cross-examined by the Watergate committee willingly, or release those precious tapes, or resign."

The minister said he was a Republican and had voted for President Nixon, but that he, like nearly everyone else, was concerned about Watergate.

"Even if he is innocent of Watergate and the coverup, as he claimed Wednesday night," Rev. Currin said, "he has not answered the questions of millions of Americans."

Based on conditions as of early June, the market outlook for soybeans to be harvested this fall appears bright. For this reason, says N. C. State University Extension specialist, Dr. John G. Clapp, Jr., it will be especially important for the state's farmers to do the best possible job with their soybean crop.

According to N.C. Extension Folder 286, "Practices for efficient Soybean Production."

Improved management practices could result in net profit increases of up to 30 million annually to Tar Heel soybean growers.

"With present varieties, farmers could produce 40 to 45 bushels of soybeans per acre, but many growers are averaging only 20 to 25 bushels per acre.

Acid soils, low fertility, nematodes, diseases, weeds and insects have contributed to the low yields.

For late June and July plantings, the use of a narrow row 30 inches or less will generally result in high yields because of the limited growing season.

Control of insects and diseases is especially important during the growing season. Even where herbicides have been applied, corn earworm, fall Army worm, and stink bugs. Prior to blooming, soybean plants can withstand up to 40 percent defoliation without a reduction in yield. But during the pod filling stage, a reduced yield can occur with only 15 percent defoliation. Apply insecticides when defoliation approaches these limits.

Pod injury results in a direct reduction in yield. Apply insecticides when an average of 10 corn ear worm larvae and or bugs are present per 30 feet of row.

State Yield Contest will be conducted along the same lines as in 1972. District winners will each receive $50 cash and an engraved plaque. The State Winner will be awarded a trip for himself and his wife to Japan, Hong Kong, and Taiwan, as guests of Elanco Company.

Anyone wishing to enter the competition should contact our local County Extension Office, 203 West Third Street, or call 758-

Deciding Offer By Saturday

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Former North Carolina Corrections Commissioner Lee Bounds says he will tell Mississippi Gov. William Waller by Saturday whether he will accept the job as superintendent of the Mississippi state prison.

Bounds, who resigned recently as head of the North Carolina prisons system, said in a telephone interview Saturday he was weighing his favorable impression of the goals of the Mississippi facility against his desire to stay in North Carolina.

He said he visited the 22,000-acre prison farm at Parchman, Miss., with Waller and feels that the Mississippi governor and other prison officials "want to move into the 20th Century." The direction at Parchman is "away from what it has been and towards what it should be," Bounds said.

The Mississippi prison system has been the object of recent litigation charging unconstitutionally inhumane conditions.

Bounds, 54, resigned in July after saying he could not get along with the state's new secretary of social rehabilitation and control, David Jones.

Bounds formerly was on the staff of the North Carolina Institute of Government. He said he is considering several other job offers, including some inside North Carolina.
