Electric Rates For City Are Trimmed

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Managing Editor
Electric rates were reduced by Greenville Utilities commissioners at a special meeting Wednesday.

Director Charles Horne said after the meeting that the rate changes will mean a reduction in revenue for the Utilities Commission of $300,000-to-$350,000 for the fiscal year 1973-74. The reduced rates will take effect Sept. 1.

For the residential customer the electric rate reduction should mean a decrease averaging between six and seven percent.

The new rates adopted by the commission followed those of Virginia Electric and Power Co. with one exception. The commission set rates for large general service customers are seven to eight percent above those which VEPCO charges. This was necessary, Horne said, because the VEPCO large general service rates would have put Greenville Utilities in the position of selling power below the cost it pays for power to VEPCO.

There are about 100 customers in the large general service category including the largest industries and businesses and East Carolina University. To have adopted the lower general service rate would have meant the loss of another $150,000 during the fiscal year.

In recent years Greenville Utilities has been following VEPCO's rate schedule for electric power sales. Greenville Utilities purchases its power on a wholesale basis from VEPCO.

Earlier this year VEPCO instituted new rate schedules as it applied to the state Utilities Commission for approval of the increase. Greenville Utilities later adopted the same schedule and prepared its budget for 1973-74 based on this.

The VEPCO rates were subsequently reduced by the state Utilities Commission and VEPCO was ordered to refund the difference to customers. It is this rate schedule which the local Utilities Commission adopted Tuesday with the exception of the Large General Service schedule. Greenville Utilities plans no refund of the higher rates collected, however.

Horne cautioned that VEPCO has appealed the rates set by the state Utilities Commission to the courts. If the courts should allow a higher rate those new rates would likely be adopted for Greenville Utilities customers. It is also possible that VEPCO will apply again to the State Utilities Commission for further increases. This, too, could affect local rates if the new request were granted.

Greenville Utilities is in the first year of a three-year contract with VEPCO for wholesale rates, so the price it pays for electricity cannot be changed during that three year period. Horne said that to absorb the reduction in revenue some of the projects in the $1,390,000 capital improvements budget proposed for the coming year will be delayed.

Horne said the residential rate reduction will mean a reduction in revenue of $220,000 for the coming year. Commercial reductions will drop revenue by $150,000.

There will be little change in revenue estimates for Large Service General Service customers. The outdoor lighting schedule was not changed.

Watergate Case Belongs To Past Avers President

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Declaring that Watergate is "water under the bridge," and giving explanations that conceded no personal negligence, Richard Nixon responded Wednesday for the first time in five months to direct questions about the scandal that has shaken his presidency.

"I shall not resign," Nixon said. And in the latest of his attempts to put Watergate behind him, he declared it is time to get on with the "business of the people."

Polls show Nixon's prior statements and speeches of Watergate innocence were unconvincing to many. So the President sought this time to regain public confidence by answering questions at a news conference, a move urged by many of his political friends.

Nixon's replies during the 50-minute event outside the Western White House contained few new disclosures to add to the mountain of often contradictory Watergate detail produced by investigations and statements.

But they provided the President's view of how certain events struck him and why he reacted to them as he did. And though there was not time for many of the lingering Watergate questions to be raised or answered, Nixon, by holding the news conference, could now say he had made himself available to answer any of those questions.

Nixon opened with the announcement that William P. Rogers is resigning as secretary of state and will be succeeded by Henry A. Kissinger.

But the preoccupation with Watergate showed strikingly when reporters asked not a single question about that top-level change, which in more normal times would have produced a barrage of inquiries.

Instead, when questioning did veer from Watergate, it moved to another area of rumored scandal, the Maryland political payoff probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Nixon expressed confidence in his two-time running mate and, as Agnew did Tuesday, voiced outrage at leaks to news media from sources close to the case.

In another cover-up area touched at the end of the session under hot California sunshine, the President said he had no apology for ordering bombing in neutral Cambodia during 1969. The bombing was a secret until recently and had been covered up by false military reports. Nixon said it

Pitt United Fund Board Adopts $174,692 Budget

A 1974 budget of $174,692.84 was approved by the board of directors of the Pitt United Fund, Inc. in a meeting Wednesday night.

The final budget was approved from participating agencies' requests of $202,123.38. Included in the budget is $21,140.98 to provide operating expenses for the Pitt United Fund office.

Ed Warren, vice president of the United Fund, offered the motion that the budget be approved and the vote was unanimous.

Rudolph Alexander is chairman of the subcommittee which formulated the budget.

Bill Dansey, who was recently named chairman of the United Fund drive which will be conducted this fall to meet the adopted budget, told the directors of plans being made for this year's campaign.

He said he was personally visiting all the agencies for which funds are appropriated under United Funds to get a better understanding of their work.

President Joe Clark presided over last night's meeting. A break-down of the funds requested and approved for participating agencies follows:

Consumers Warned Can Expect Another Upswing In Food Prices

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers can expect another surge in food prices after Sept. 12, but the administration says it shouldn't be as bad as the last big increase.

The Cost of Living Council Wednesday released its proposed new Phase 4 food price controls scheduled to take effect Sept. 12.

The council said the controls basically will put the food industry under the same restrictions on price increases as the rest of the economy.

Officials said the controls will require "a substantial cost absorption on the part of food wholesalers and retailers" and will keep prices below what they might otherwise be.

Council director John T. Dunlop said "some price increases at the consumer level are expected" when the regulations go into effect. But he predicted consumers would not be as hard-hit as they were when the price freeze was lifted from food on July 18.

Administration economists have acknowledged that post-freeze price increases were higher than expected. The council invited public comment on the regulations until Sept. 4, after which they could be revised.

Under the prevailing temporary food regulations that went into effect on July 18, all levels of the food industry may increase prices only to reflect increased costs at the producer level, known as raw agricultural costs.

The new regulations will allow food wholesalers and retailers, such as supermarkets, to increase their prices to reflect other justified costs, such as for labor or transportation.

They will not allow price increases for profit. A supermarket, for example, must maintain the same profit markup, or margin, as it had in a base period.

The base period can be either of the two fiscal years ending before Feb. 5.

$86.18 Day On Tobacco Market

A total of 573,077 pounds of tobacco was sold on the Greenville Tobacco Market yesterday for an average of $86.18 per hundred pounds.

Leading the markets in the Eastern Belt with the highest average was the Goldsboro Market with an average per hundred pounds of $87.19. Wilson was second with an average of $86.69. Both the Williamston and Smith field markets averaged $86.65 per hundred pounds.

The Farmville market, averaging $86.50 per hundred pounds, recorded sales of 285,788 pounds of tobacco for $247,474.

According to Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville market, the percentage of leaf and cutter grades showed an increase from earlier sales. A few piles of leaf grades brought 93 cents per pound.

"Primings and lugs continued to drop in volume and non-descript grades accounted for a small percentage of sales," Williams reported.

The average for the entire Eastern Belt was $86.46 per hundred pounds when 3,725,666 pounds of tobacco sold for $3,221,231.

To date, 44,459,521 pounds of tobacco have been sold on the Eastern Belt for a season average of $85.21.

Yesterday, stabilization receipts totaled 74,012 or 1.3 percent of the total sales.

A tabulation of sales on the individual markets on the Eastern Belt, compiled by Market News Service, follows:

Annexation Of Area Proposed

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended to the City Council that a portion of the Tucker Estates on the south side of Red Banks Road be annexed.

The commission gave its approval of the annexation request submitted by David A. Evans, the property owner, at Wednesday night's session.

The property under consideration for annexation is located between Holy Trinity United Methodist Church on the east and Oakmont Square Apartments on the west and involves approximately 12 lots, it was pointed out to the commissioners.

The triangular shaped tract, which is located on the rear portion of the Tucker Estates, was not included when the adjoining section was annexed earlier. Annexation of the property is a logical squaring-off point for the city limits, it was noted.

In another matter on a short agenda, commissioners approved a preliminary plat for Pinegrove Subdivision located on Evans Street Extended, across from the Pinewood Forest Subdivision.

The plat, submitted by Phil Dickerson, was given the commission endorsement with the stipulation that the street, within the project, be extended westwardly to the adjoining property boundary.

Consisting of some ten lots, the tract has a frontage measurement of 330 feet and a depth of 480 feet, according to city engineer Charles Holliday. The property is currently zoned RA-20 and a request for R-9 rezoning will not be taken up by the council until the project is further along.

Utilities Commission director Charles Horne emphasized that "we want to coordinate the Utilities Commission and city work. We certainly don't want to go in there and tear up the street with no immediate plans for resurfacing."

Dickerson said that he was in favor of extending the culdesac to the property owned on the west by J. H. Blount Jr. The extension could be included in the project in order to prevent the street having to be extended again in the event the Blount on Evans Street Extended, (Continued on page 10)

Nixon Shed No New Light Opines Senator Ervin

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

MORGANTON, N. C. (AP) — "I don't think any more light was shed than has been shed before," the chairman of the Senate Watergate committee says of President Nixon's latest comments on the scandal.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. pictured as mainly "generalities" the President's answers to questions on Watergate during a news conference at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., on Wednesday.

The North Carolina Democrat repeated his contention that only release of White House tapes of conversations between Nixon and former White House counsel John W. Dean III could clear up the issue of how much Nixon knew about the Watergate burglary and subsequent cover-up.

Ervin, who watched the televised question-and-answer at his home here, told newsmen later he still rejects Nixon's position that the President has a right to complete confidentiality in conversations with his aides.

Ervin said that right exists only when the President carries out official duties. It does not apply to conversations that, according to Dean, were concerned with covering up White House involvement in Watergate, Ervin said.

As he watched the news conference, Ervin seemed pleased when newsmen threw tough questions at the President.

"That was a right imperti-ment question, wasn't it?" Ervin said with a grin at one point.

But, afterwards, he said there were still questions he would like to ask the President and that the Watergate committee would be delighted if Nixon would appear to answer them.

This Designing Woman Keeps Car Secret

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
As a woman in a man's work world, Mimi Ornes, 27, an automotive designer at the Ford Design Center, has proved she can keep a secret.

Invited by the International Motor Press to talk on her favorite subject, car interiors, Mimi said a lot... but she didn't tell much about the interior of the new Mustang, her particular project, which will soon be unveiled.

She told them it was difficult to get past the front gate at Ford (and if one did manage, the design studios are normally off limits); that her definition of design is that it must combine aesthetics and utility; that industrial designers had proved that mass-produced consumer goods can be attractive as well as useful, and she also gave a slide show which included some renderings of the new car.

Later in an interview Mimi told a bit about what it is like to be a woman "in a man-oriented company." She should have a lot of clout, she remarked, but sometimes she is up against seniority.

"They may have been designing or assembling a certain part the same way for years and if you come up with a little different idea, they would choose the way they have always done it," she said.

Women could bring a new design dimension to the auto business, but Mimi is the first to agree "that design isn't always good for the sake of change," even though the consumer may wonder why things stay the same. But she is making progress.

"In fact some of the new features in the new car are offered only in luxury bracket cars — hand stitching, luxury carpet, and so on," she said.

In new cars soon one will see two-tone colors "which haven't been around since the 1960s." The two-color idea might give the interior the layered look so popular in fashion, but generally speaking there has been no effort recently to design cars with woman appeal, she insists.

They are mainly unisex. One thing that makes her happy — she likes small cars — the new redesigned car will be 19 inches smaller than the 1965 model, and that is the trend, she observed. American cars are being influenced by European design.

"Strangely enough product planners always start out with a nice-size car, but they usually get carried away and keep adding to it until it is just too big." Auto designers have the interest of the public at heart, she feels, but they, too, may have difficulty getting designs past long-time employees.

She is sometimes talked out of something good because the product planning group doesn't have the product she wants to use. She tries to change their suggestions and sometimes she succeeds. On the new car there is a package tray that she managed to have approved and there is a long European-style arm rest, which pleases her. In addition, retractors for belts and harnesses will be hidden. The new car will have complete instrumentation as standard equipment.

"They are really trying to put a good car in a small package. There is always give and take and you must keep hammering away to get what you want."

Of the 1,000 people at the design studios, 125 are designers, who are always "researching car lines and watching the European and Japanese market." They make plans far ahead, she says.

For example, talk is that the future will bring little urban shopper cars, lightweight and molded, that can scoot in and out of parking places. These may even have the digital solid circuitry of the dashboard which other cars will have.

Mimi studied product design at the Ontario College of Art in Toronto. From her current job of 3½ years, she could become a senior designer which would give her more responsibility and she might be directing two or three other designers. At the moment her jobs are outlined by a senior designer.

Her husband, Al, is manager of the Advanced Exterior Studio.

Dinner Party Given Couple On Saturday

BEHTEL—Honoring Miss Lou Latham and David Miller, whose marriage will take place Sept. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Staton and Miss Camille Staton entertained at dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Staton.

The places of the honored couple were marked with embossed silk covered match boxes topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Each guest's place at the bride's table and at the auxiliary tables was marked with a similar match box decorated with a bridal motif.

Special guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Staton of New Orleans, La., Bill Staton and Miss Linda Holder of Charlotte, Bob Whitehurst and Jim Everett of Raleigh, Ben Everett of Robersonville, Mr. and Mrs. Speight Sugg of Rocky Mount, Miss Marsha Miller of Greensboro, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leggett Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warrington III of Tarboro.

Child Genius Now Obscure

PARIS, France (WNS) — What happens to a child genius in cultured France? Minou Drouet was still in grammar school 18 years ago when she published "Arbre Mon Ami," a book of poems that won praise from the nation's top critics and became a worldwide best-seller.

Perhaps the only dissenting voice came from Jean Cocteau, who said, "All children are geniuses; except Minou Drouet." Many experts later insisted Minou's literary works must have been written by her mother because no child could be so mature. And today? The forgotten Minou Drouet lives in a two-room apartment in a working-class district of Paris and gives piano lessons to neighborhood children. She is married to TV performer Patrick Font, has a cat name Tinou de la Gueulardiere, and says, "I am without ambition and without regrets." She thinks vaguely of writing a novel or having a child, "but housework and a husband to love take a lot of time."

School Lunches Prepared By Contractor

By JEANNE LESEME
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — School children in the suburban Town of Rye school district are getting an early taste of working world meals.

Lunches bought in their school cafeterias are prepared and served by a commercial food contractor, just as food is provided in hundreds of factories and office buildings around the country.

It's cheaper for the schools and guarantees continuance of a lunch program even if voters reject a school budget, because the food is paid for by federal subsidy. And, most importantly, the pupils like the new system.

"We could tell it was fairly popular because sales went up," says Bruno M. Pontorio, principal of Ridge Street School, Port Chester. In a telephone interview, Pontorio said he and district superintendent Harley Dingman worked as an administrative team in negotiating the contract. The program will expand in September to include the district's new high school.

The new program was made possible when the school lunch law was changed in 1970 to permit private contractors to accept federal subsidies that underwrite school lunch programs.

The money from Uncle Sam goes directly to the contractor, who notifies school administrators. They in turn tell the contractor what foods and beverages they want in menu cycles.

Meals' Price To Rise
A report on the program's success in the Rye district appeared in Schoolhouse, the newsletter of Educational Facilities Laboratories (EFL). That is a nonprofit corporation established by the Ford Foundation to help schools and colleges with their physical problems by encouraging research, experimentation and the dissemination of knowledge about educational facilities.

The school administrators said they turned to private contractors to save money, answer pupils and parents' complaints about unpalatable food and skimpy servings and focus more on education.

"We'd spent a lot of time feeding children, when our business was education," Pontorio said.

Because no school district funds were involved, bidding could be bypassed and the contractor chosen directly after strict specifications were sent to a number in the area. The contractor selected—ARA Services—offers a Type A lunch for kindergarten and elementary grades, a la carte choices for older pupil and some vending.

The contractor agreed to hold prices at the level the school had been using—55 cents up to the fifth grade and 60 cents for older children. Dingman said the cost of meals will rise a nickel in September because of inflation in the price of foods.

Typical lunches at Ridge Street School—kindergarten through the sixth grade—include entrees of baked or roast chicken, roast beef and turkey, Pontorio said. The a la carte line is more geared to teen-age favorites such as hamburgers, hot dogs and pizza, and the older pupils are free to buy whatever they want.

Profits Are High
Vending machines hold diet and regular soda, cookies and ice cream. Candy machines, installed early in the program, were removed when parents objected to them.

Pontorio said a committee of pupils meets occasionally with the contractor's cook-manager to ask for additions to the menu or that some things be served more often.

Menus were established originally after the contractor brought in administrators to work with school officials and observe the pupils' eating habits. Now, seven to nine kitchen helpers, including the cook-manager, feed about 600-700 persons daily.

The meals are prepared from

Couple Honored On Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Tripp were entertained with an informal reception in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday at the education building of Piney Grove Church.

Hosts and hostesses were their children, Charlotte Ruth Tripp, Raymond, Tripp, and Mrs. Willette Darden, and their mothers, Mrs. Myrtle Ruth Tyson, and Mrs. Ethel Tripp.

Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Edith Williams, Linda Williams, Katherine Williams, Trillie Holloway, Mrs. Janice Holloway, and Mrs. Carolyn Smith.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Tripp's mother. The couple were joined in the receiving line by their children, their son-in-law, George J. Darden III, and their grandson.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hart presided over the gift table which was decorated with a single candle. The refreshment table was covered with a cut-work linen cloth and was decorated with summer flowers and long tapers.

Mrs. Joy Clark, maid of honor in the wedding, served cake squares and Mrs. Gene Collier poured punch.

An arrangement depicting a summer wedding adorned the piano.

The couple received friends during the afternoon and were remembered with several gifts as well as contributions made to the church building fund in their behalf.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Worthington.

fresh, frozen and canned foods share the contractor's profits. The income lets the district pay its own small administrative costs, subsidize a few students, who need help, and run school affairs, such as a buffet dinner to present sports awards to school athletes and physical fitness award winners. Pontorio said the contractor fed every youngster a turkey and trimmings meal for about $1 to $1.25.

The cost of a kitchen at the new high school was avoided because the contractor will use his own facilities for meal preparation.

Dingman said the program has been so successful financially that the contract has been rewritten to let the district

Couple's Dinner Visits Are Your Own Mistakes

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A nervy couple we know drops by unexpectedly several times a week—and always at dinnertime, so we have to invite them to stay for dinner. They are breaking us in the food department. They finish off everything so we never have any leftovers. Also, they drink coffee (which isn't cheap) by the gallon. When one pot is empty the wife gets up and makes another pot, just like she's in her own home.

They invited us to dinner at their place twice, and both times they served rice while they bragged that they had a whole cow in their freezer!

Don't suggest that we tell them we ate already when they come over. We tried that once and they said: "So did we," came in and sat until midnight and everybody's stomach was growling so loud we could hardly hear ourselves talk.

So how do we tell this couple not to come for dinner without hurting their feelings? STUCK

DEAR STUCK: What feelings? If you permit unwelcome guests to impose on you, look for sympathy under "S" in the dictionary.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman of 43 who has been dating a 50-year-old bachelor for two years. I'd like to know if I'm "wasting my time." I cook him a full hot meal at least four nights a week, and how that man loves to eat! He is so sweet and affectionate to my two daughters, who are 10 and 12, but he never kisses me unless I practically force myself on him. The first time he kissed me I was boarding a bus to go visit my mother and I said: "Aren't you going to kiss me goodbye?" So he kissed me.

Do you think there is something wrong with a man his age who can hardly keep his hands off 10 and 12-year-old girls but never makes a move toward a mature woman?

Also, he never says a word about our future. Should I bring it up? I would like to know where I stand.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: Don't waste any more time on him. But to be sure you aren't passing up a likely prospect, ask him how he feels about marriage. I'll bet he disappears in a hurry, which will be a break for you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother keeps telling me that a man's wife is nothing—his mother is the most important person in his life because a man can have 10 wives, but he can have only one mother.

I have the impression that she would like nothing more than to break up my marriage so she could have her son back home. She is twice-divorced.

My husband is a kind and gentle man, but he refuses to enter into any kind of controversy where his mother is concerned.

She thinks that because she attends church regularly and knows the Bible backwards and forwards she is a "good" woman.

Since my husband refuses to take my part against her, how can I defend myself? HURT

DEAR HURT: Tell her to refer to her Bible: "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife." [Genesis 2, 24]

Calorie Watchers Will Like This Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If there are calorie-watchers at your house, you may be interested in this frozen dessert. It uses less sugar than usual and calls for instant nonfat dry milk solids instead of regular milk or cream. Fresh strawberries and pure vanilla extract are added for good flavor.

This sherbet goes a long way. It yields 1½ quarts, so if half a cup is used for each portion, it will serve 12. We like it best served with extra sliced strawberries; you may want to follow suit.

STRAWBERRY VANILLA FREEZE

¾ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 1-3rd cups instant nonfat dry milk solids
¾ cups cold water
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 pint fresh strawberries, finely chopped (about 2 cups)
1½ tablespoons pure vanilla

extract
Red food coloring, if desired

In a medium saucepan thoroughly stir together the sugar, gelatin, cornstarch and salt. Blend dry milk with water; blend into sugar mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to the boiling point and thickens slightly; cool for 1 minute. Blend a little of this hot mixture into beaten eggs; stir the egg mixture back into the hot mixture remaining in the saucepan. Cook and stir over very low heat for about 5 minutes or until mixture coats the back of a silver spoon — do not overcook. Let mixture cool for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in strawberries and vanilla. Pour into 2 freezer trays without ice-cube dividers; freeze until mixture is frozen 1 inch from edge. Turn into the large bowl of an electric mixer and beat until smooth — about 2 minutes. If food coloring is used, blend it in. Return to freezer trays. Freeze until

SLEAFORD, England (WNS) — Olive Randall was going steady with farmer Bert Foster here 50 years ago, but she married Albert Tipler instead. "Bert was slow about proposing," she explained. When Tipler died last year, Olive returned home. Bert promptly proposed, and the 70-year-old great-grandmother has just married him. "I wasn't going to let her get away again," said Foster. "I still had the ring that I had bought in 1923."

Man Sentenced With Women

BEIRUT, Lebanon (WNS) — The hairdresser objected strenuously when led out of the courtroom to serve a thieving sentence in the women's prison. Two weeks later the guards discovered why: the prisoner is a man named Abdullah, who had been wearing women's clothing when arrested, tried and convicted.

Gestures By Greek President

Greek President George Papadopoulos is making some show of restoring democracy to Greece.

His military coup ended democracy six years ago. Papadopoulos was recently elected president unopposed in a referendum July 29.

Last weekend the new president said, "I declare before the Greek nation that I will keep strictly to the announced schedule regarding the stage-by-stage establishment of the democratic order." He then lifted martial law, restored civil liberties and reinstated suspended articles of the Greek constitution. Amnesty was granted to all political prisoners and a constitutional court was established to legalize political parties in preparation for a parliamentary election next year.

These certainly seem to be steps in the right direction. However it is well to note that news reports say the parliament will have no responsibility for defense, maintenance of public order or foreign policy. These are responsibilities of the president.

Power, once it is obtained, is rarely surrendered without a fierce struggle. Papadopoulos may be ready to surrender some of his powers in order to return to democratic principles in the ancient nation of Greece. It remains to be seen, through, how things develop under the changes that the Greek president has announced.

New Land-Use Era Starting

By BILL NOBLITT RALEIGH—The state is entering into a new era of land use planning, and the proper term is land management. Gov. Jim Holshouser has named a State Land Policy Council, several bills are already pending in the General Assembly, and there are more to come.

The end result will mean revolutionary changes in the way landowners can use the land.

Basically, as currently being studied, a statewide land policy will establish four broad categories for land: urban, rural, protected, and developing urban. Every county will be required to draw up and adopt into law a countywide land use plan so designating all property in the county.

The critical category will be "developing urban" for it will be only in such defined areas that future growth and development would be permitted.

Land Shift

North Carolina has been a farming state, and land ownership with complete freedom for use has been the backbone of economic growth and development to date.

But all of that took place during a time when "land was a commodity of unlimited extent. We find now that land is not unlimited, and the public interest in the land has changed completely," says Ronald F. Scott, the state's chief planning officer and principal author of the legislation now under consideration.

Land values, Scott said, are no longer based on the condition of the soil and its productivity but on closeness to an urban area and availability of urban services.

Gov. Holshouser used these words to describe the situation: "The people of this state... have begun to realize that we no longer can tolerate helter-skelter use of the land in our state."

"We are learning that we must adapt our needs to the land instead of adapting the land to our needs," Gov. Holshouser said.

Unlimited quantities of land and free use of it played a great role in the nation historically, Scott noted, "But, it's a different picture, now."

Legislation was introduced in the General Assembly this year, but delayed because of the complexity of the proposals, but Gov. Holshouser moved ahead with the council appointment to speed the process up. Scott believes implementation is several years away.

Wildcat Growth

The end result, Scott feels, must be a "mechanism that will arrange for growth and development in an orderly fashion... rather than the kind of wildcat development now going on that is going to bankrupt local governments."

"Right now, developers can go anywhere and do anything they want with the land, then let local governments try to deal with the problems they've created." He considers the present situation "disorganized and chaotic."

The state is getting into the action because local governments either failed to do anything, or used only zoning regulations to direct growth. Zoning, Scott said, only serves to maintain the status quo.

"Everything we have done so far has been inadequate and we see nothing but failures in our efforts at managing land use," he said.

"Existing practices, where used, do a good job of stabilizing existing conditions," and where used well they have "served us wonderfully well... but they have not served to guide new growth and development, especially in the hinterlands, but only served to preserve whatever existed that people wanted to keep," Scott said. "Present day fringes around urban areas are horrible examples of what can happen under this form of planning."

Toward Urban

The heart of the county land use plan would be areas designated as urban developing. Only in those areas picked by local governments for future growth could development take place, assuring that the urban community could direct future growth and provide essential services for growth.

This would call a halt to present practices in which developers skirt cities with jumbled, crowded development often without adequate street, water and sewer services; or those who go into rural areas and install developments with unpaved streets, private wells and septic tanks on lots too small to support the septic tanks, Scott said.

Such developments, generally, get into trouble and the residents must either correct the faults themselves — or call on local governments to bail them out.

Additionally, some communities find themselves strapped to provide services to developing areas far larger than they are capable of supporting.

And so, the state has come to the point where it will seek to create policies and enforcement mechanism for land management.

Perhaps An Indicator Of Tolerance In N.C.

President Nixon's standing with the voters nationally has plummeted since the Watergate revelations. However, a poll by Fifth District GOP Congressman Wilmer Mizell showed that 53 percent think the president's overall performance has been good.

The figure is preliminary and it represents only a mild drop of four percentage points from 1968 when Nixon first won the presidency.

It is difficult to measure the accuracy of such polls, but we felt that Tar Heels have been more inclined to be tolerant of the president than the nation as a whole.

We have the feeling, though, that if some definite link is shown that indisputably proves the president knew of the Watergate sordidness then North Carolina voters will make a harsh judgment.

Skids Greased Now For Spiro?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—A confidential telephone call from top White House aide Melvin R. Laird to a Republican congressional leader, warning him not to go all-out in defense of Vice President Spiro Agnew, is new and harsh evidence to party professionals of the depth of the crisis that threatens Ted Agnew.

In his Aug. 7 telephone call to Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the House Republican Conference, Laird carefully specified that he was talking not as a White House aide.

His message: Don't get on a limb in the Agnew affair, particularly with an all-out defense of the Vice President. Stay away from the Agnew affair as far as possible.

Agnew is under intense federal investigation of charges of possible criminal violations of various federal statutes involving bribery, extortion, tax fraud and conspiracy.

Republicans who know about the Laird call to Anderson (described as "astonished" by the warning) assume that Laird and possible other party grandees have contacted other senior Republicans with similar warnings.

Moreover, the Laird telephone call to Anderson fits a pattern that has infuriated the Agnew camp. For example:

1. Before Agnew himself received formal notice from the Justice Department that he was under investigation, Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson reported (in late July) to White House staff chief Alexander M. Haig, Jr., with a briefing on all aspects of the case. On Aug. 2, Agnew's attorneys received their letter from the prosecutors.

2. A prominent television commentator was privately cautioned by an official of the Justice Department 10 days ago in words similar to those used by Laird to Anderson: don't go overboard for Agnew; you may wind up with egg on your face.

3. The White House has gone to embarrassing length not to put the President on record as to his Vice President's innocence. White House spokesman Gerald Warren will only say that Mr. Nixon's confidence in Agnew has not changed.

4. The New York Times front-page dispatch of Aug. 15, outlining charges against Agnew in vivid detail, is believed by furious Agnew allies to have emanated from high levels of the Justice Department (who flatly deny it), not from Maryland sources also implicated in the charges against Agnew.

It is not surprising that allies of Agnew, whose talents have sometimes been grossly used by the President to advance Mr. Nixon's interests, would be filled with dark suspicion over these incidents. They regard them as proof of nefarious underground administration warfare against Agnew, partly to ease the President's immense Watergate burdens.

Thus, in this conspiratorial view—so understandable on the part of Agnew intimates—Mr. Nixon or Republicans close to him are greasing the skids for the hapless Vice President. Under the 25th Amendment, they are quietly preparing to nominate a successor—most likely John B. Connally.

It was Connally who saved Mr. Nixon from disaster in the inflationary crisis of August 1971. Perhaps Connally, the former Democratic

Strength For Today

ALWAYS A WAY

When Hannibal, the military genius of ancient Carthage, was planning an attack on Italy from southern France, his generals pointed out that it would be impossible to march an army over the Alps, as would be necessary to carry out such a plan. Hannibal's reply was, "I will find a way or make one." And he did make one. Even though it cost him a large part of his army he succeeded in crossing the Alps and invading Italy.

People of spirit who really want to accomplish something never allow themselves to be discouraged by the pessimism of their associates or to be forestalled by difficulties. It is astounding that the human will can do when it is reinforced with the conviction that the cause it supports is the right one. If man's spirit and conviction cannot be defeated, he has won a victory no matter what the actual outcome of his cause may be. Triumph is in store for anyone who has the courage and faith to say, "I will find a way or make one."

Shrine Of Happy Hoaxes

SCRABBLE, Va. — We have not heard that last, I venture to say, of Nancy Maloley's burping cow. Sooner or later, both the cow and her creator will have to be enshrined in the Eritas Memorial Library, an institution established in 1923 in Colorado Springs to preserve the happier hoaxes of American letters.

The library's small staff devotes itself to discovering and recording those bubble-fantasies of our journalism that otherwise might perish in the noonday sun. Among its treasures are a full account of Ben Franklin's Polly Baker, H.L. Mencken's famous bathtub, Norman Cousins' golf-hating congressman, and a job of Admiral W.J. Marshall's no-cal bourbon. The library's collection, while well known to scholars, deserves both a wider audience and a word of praise. The staff will not neglect Maloley's cow.

Ms. Maloley, for those who came in late, is editor of a publication of the Environmental Protection Agency, known as the EPALog. A few weeks ago, she dutifully reported that agency scientists were speculating that "burping cows must rank as the number one source of air pollution in the United States." It was estimated that cows annually burp "approximately 50 million tons of hydrocarbons into the atmosphere."

"There presently exists no available technology for controlling these emissions," the editor continued. "However, the Department of Agriculture has suggested that perhaps a gas mask might do the trick if such masks can be designed to allow cows to eat grass while wearing them. It might even be possible to recover the natural gas generated by these cows, which could perhaps increase the supply by 10 per cent. Rest assured that EPA will take every measure to see that this significant source of hydrocarbon emissions is substantially reduced."

The immediate aftermath was that Rep. John B. Ashbrook (R-Ohio) warned his

To the editor:

We would like to express our sincere thanks to the Vanceboro and Little Swift Creek Fire Departments for their usual prompt and efficient services in answer to the call to the Macedonia Free Will Baptist church parsonage on Sunday, August 12. They constantly prove themselves worthy of our support.

Also, it is with deep appreciation and gratitude that we wish to thank the many neighbors who worked diligently and effortlessly helping remove furniture and other household items. From our understanding it was a lady and her son from Wilson (whose names we did not get) who first discovered the smoke. Instead of traveling on, they stopped, along with several other motorists, complete strangers and availed themselves until the fire was under control. Although we made an effort to get the names and addresses, we feel sure that due to the confusion there were some we missed. If perhaps they read this in their local paper, they will be aware of our appreciation. The names we did receive and which we would like to mention are: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Buck, Greenville, Lee Thompson, Rocky Mount Fire Dept., Rocky Mount, Cleveland Hunt, Rescue Squad Attendant, Rocky Mount, Vernon Teeter, Rocky Mount, and two unidentified young men from Canada who were most helpful in removing heavy furniture. The cities from which they hail must be proud to have citizens such as these.

With all the articles of violence, hate and unconcern for one's fellowman which we read in the newspapers today, it is a pleasure to share with you the comforting realization that there are still people such as these and our own neighbors and friends who are interested in humanity.

Boyle Views Life

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments by the Pavement Plato:

Faith makes the world go round. But disbelief plays a big role in it, too.

If you blindly accept as true everything you hear and everything you think you see, you'll go through life as numbly and dumbly as a blind pony in a coal pit.

Education begins with doubting and questioning. But you have started to grow up if you view with misgivings and suspicion any such familiar remarks as:

"Two can live as cheap as one."

"We really lose money at this price. The only way we make it up is by volume."

"You always get what you pay for."

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"If it was loaded, do you think I'd keep it there on the shelf where the kids could get at it?"

"Nothing can make the human hair grow back overnight, but if you use a bottle of this tonic a week for six months, you'll be amazed at the difference it makes."

"Your cat will love the first taste of this new canned product, and after that you'll never be able to give her enough of it."

"Close your eyes, and I'll give you something nice."

"I would never expect a fiance of mine to give me a bigger engagement ring than he could really afford. Girls who do that are simply too gross for words."

"You don't mind if I turn out those bright lamps, do you? I'm still suffering from the shell glare I got in the last war."

"Don't worry. All I want to do is put my arm around you. There isn't anything wrong in that, is there?"

"If this stock doesn't double in value in three months, I'll go back to peddling shoelaces."

"Put $20 on this jockey. He won the last three times out, and it stands to reason that he'll make it four in a row."

Several years ago, a Junior Girl Scout troop in Greenville had to disband due to a lack of adult leaders. In September of 1973, there will be girls in Greenville who wish to be in Scouting, however many will not be due to a lack of interest by adults in our community.

Youth organizations such as Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts do their share to help make Greenville a better community, and they need adult leadership and guidance.

Working with Girl Scouts can be a most rewarding experience. Why not do your share for Greenville and volunteer to help guide our young people into concerned, active and informed citizens.

Interest Rates To Go Higher?

By DEIRDRE DONELLY

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Interest rates, after a record-breaking rise this summer, are likely to go on climbing for some time yet, in the view of several leading economic observers.

And, say a number of those observers, chances are increasing that the end result will be a tight money period like that of four years ago, when consumers and businesses often found it difficult to borrow money at any price.

The prime rate — the lending fee which banks post for their biggest and most credit worthy corporate customers — rose another quarter point early this week to 9 1/2 per cent.

That's a full point above its previous high, reached in late 1969. But, say bankers, even at that level it is lagging behind rates in other sectors of the money market, where banks obtain the funds to do business. And many observers expect the prime to climb to 10 per cent or even a good deal higher before it peaks.

Says William Wolman, economist at the Wall Street research firm of Argus Research Corp., "It is still below where it should be, based on the traditional formulas about bank margins. The open market cost of money is rising, and the prime rate is below the open market rates."

Why all the upward pressure on interest rates? One key factor, observers say, is that demand for money has been intense among corporations wanting to expand their operations amid an economic boom in which consumer spending has been heavy. At the same time, the Federal Reserve Board has been tightening up on the money supply to keep order in the economy and to try to defuse inflation.

But the experts cite a variety of other pressures as well.

"The normal pressure from the economic growth we've been living in does not explain the high level of loan demand," says Bert Cox, chief economist for the nation's biggest brokerage firm, Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith.

Cox says corporations and investors have added considerably to the unpaid pressure by borrowing money in major amounts to speculate in this year's volatile monetary exchange and commodities markets.

And then, of course, there's inflation. In theory, observers say, a lender will demand an interest rate that will compensate him not only for the risk he is taking in loaning funds but also for the amount inflation erodes the value of those funds while they are out of his possession. Thus, rapid inflation means high interest rates.

The likely result of all this? "It's the beginning of a money crunch," says Paul Samuelson, Nobel Prize-winning economist. "I see no signs to the contrary. Not only are interest rates high, but credit has almost dried up completely in some areas."

"For instance, if you want to sell a house in Amherst, Mass., right now, you find yourself at a disadvantage because buyers might have trouble getting mortgage accommodation."

Observes Eliot Janeway, economic analyst and writer, "The rate of interest is closer to the consumer's cost of living than any other item on the shopping list. This is an urgent and continuing warning to the consumer: With the rate of interest going up, the cost of nothing is coming down."

Gaudet Peacefully Surrenders To Lawmen; High Bond Is Set

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Edwin M. Gaudet, a former New Orleans policeman accused of threatening President Nixon's life, remains in the Bernalillo County Jail today in lieu of $100,000 bond. The 29-year-old resident of a Taos-area commune surrendered peacefully Wednesday after federal and local officers had combed the Sangre de Cristo Mountains for him for almost three days. The surrender followed three trips into the rugged northern New Mexico mountains by Gaudet's wife Judy and a cousin, Stanley Gaudet of New Orleans.

The search began Monday afternoon when Edwin Gaudet slipped away from a Secret Service agent who was trying to serve a federal warrant at the Morning Star commune, about 12 miles north of Taos.

After surrendering, Gaudet told newsmen, "The government is organized crime. The Pope is the head of the Mafia. And I support Angela Davis for president."

Asked whether he had been in New Orleans on Aug. 15 and whether he had threatened Nixon, Gaudet replied, "I have to talk to my attorney before I discuss anything in the nature of the case."

He then was taken to Albuquerque for an appearance before U.S. Magistrate Robert McCoy, who set bond. Another hearing was set for Aug. 30 to determine if there is enough evidence to warrant transferring him to New Orleans for trial.

The charge carries a maximum penalty of a $1,000 fine and five years in prison.

The Secret Service said it has no evidence linking Gaudet to an alleged conspiracy to kill the President during a visit to New Orleans on Monday.

The warrant claims that Gaudet said in a New Orleans drug store on or about Aug. 15,

"Somebody ought to kill President Nixon. If no one has the guts, I'll do it."

Mrs. Gaudet has said she and her husband were not in New Orleans Aug. 15.

Gaudet, known only as "Cat" in the commune, has a fear of police, Stanley Gaudet said.

Stanley said Edwin's fear stemmed from his experiences as a former policeman and as a defendant being held by police.

"He used to tell me all the stuff they used to do," said Stanley. "They used to roll drunks and all that kind of stuff, and he hated that."

Edwin Gaudet was arrested in New Orleans in 1970 for throwing a burning American flag on Nixon's car.

rural constituents to keep a close watch for EPA inspectors carrying emission control devices. He charged the agency with "going overboard in their attempt to purify the environment." Ms. Maloley, in a recent interview with Chalmers Roberts of the Washington Post, made the rueful comment of every hoaxer: "I never thought anyone would take it seriously."

She will learn. Franklin invented Polly Baker and her five illegitimate children also, and gained lasting fame from her eloquent defense of unfettered motherhood. To the day of his death, Mencken never was able to put down his inspired account of the first bathtub in the White House. Cousins, a man not easily staggered, was staggered by the impassioned denunciation visited by his readers upon Congressman A.F. Day, whose bill to abolish golf courses was reported in the no-cal bourbon in an idle hour, spent months refusing franchises for his product.

At the risk of immodesty, I may add that one of my own editorials is included in the Eritas collection. This was a piece in the Richmond News Leader of May 14, 1958, under the caption of "Notes on an Ancient Game." I dealt with the history and current play of tiddlywinks in the British Isles. Here I reviewed the references to the noble game in Chaucer, Shakespeare and Marlowe. I described the chase ivory winks and silver cups to be seen in the great museums of Europe.

One tends to get swept away. I reported the precise dimensions of the ivory winks, the approved cup, and the ring, or "pale," around the cup. I covered the etymological aspects; the game, I said, had enriched our language with such phrases as beyond the pale, in the cups, tiddly, flipped, quick as a wink and forty winks. The piece ran on and one — and it was taken seriously. Indeed it was. It was taken seriously by, among others, one sportswriter, two instructors in physical education, and the publisher's cousin.

"Doesn't everyone," asked Ms. Maloley, "Have a sense of humor?" Alas, it is not so. The Eritas Memorial Library is itself an enduring reminder, in brick and stone and glass, that only a thin cover of skepticism conceals man's inner core of credulity. We want to believe. We want even to believe in burping cows, though as Dr. Roberts properly reminds us, cows have multiple stomachs and are incapable of burping. Dr. Roberts should know. While he is known primarily as a distinguished journalist, he was trained in veterinary science, received his degree in animal husbandry, and actually practiced for several years in the Yukon where his studies of the caribou first attracted attention.

Scholars wishing to make use of the Eritas collection should make arrangements with the curator. The library is open to the public from 10 to 5. Closed Mondays.

Reinstatement Of Policies Is Now Expected

RALEIGH (AP)—George Marion, chief deputy state insurance commissioner, said Wednesday indications are that Durham Life Insurance Co. will reverse its decision earlier this year to cancel 12,000 mortgage disability insurance policies.

Marion said in a statement that the decision to reinstate the policies will be final upon approval of the company's board of directors and an order by Insurance Commissioner John Ingram.

"Commissioner Ingram is tremendously pleased that we have been able to persuade Durham Life's attorneys that reinstatement is the only fair way to treat the policyholders," Marion added.

Ingram held three public hearings in the company's decision earlier this year. The company said it had not been able to make the policies profitable.

"You don't think I'm the kind of guy who would try to take advantage of a nice, sweet girl like you, do you?"

"I know some girls pretend they don't want to get married when they really do want to, but I'm not at all sure I want to rush into anything I'd expect to be so lasting. After all, why should I be in a hurry? I'm only 29."

"I don't think I'd want my wife to go on working after we got married — only if she really wanted to."

"With the advantage of this fine new 39-volume encyclopedia in your home, your child's school grades will pick up immediately."

"If elected, I'll take steps to put this platform into effect the very day I'm sworn into office."

"Not here, Grace. Let's spread the blanket beyond those bushes over there. It looks lots cozier."

Yes, if you make it a habit to take things with two grains of salt instead of one, you'll avert twice as many disasters.

Commitment Changes Slated

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's mental health commissioner, Dr. N.P. Zarzar, said Wednesday that new legal procedures for committing persons to state mental hospitals likely will bring some "drastic changes" and create some problems when they are implemented Sept. 1.

"In effect the determination for admission will be primarily judicial with magistrates and district court judges being ultimately responsible for that decision," Zarzar said in a statement.

He said the attorney general's office "has been working closely with us and is ready to help us in answering any questions that arise."

governor of Texas who turned Republican at a moment of maximum help to the Watergate-beleaguered President last spring, can help again.

To Agnewites, that fits the known fact that Connally recently cancelled his plans for a long trip abroad and the lesser-known fact that some Connally friends predict he will be back in the administration in October.

But in fact the Laird warnings may spring from something far less conspiratorial. They may be a flashing signal of caution based not on any desire to do in Agnew but on a rational and informed judgment that Agnew is a goner.

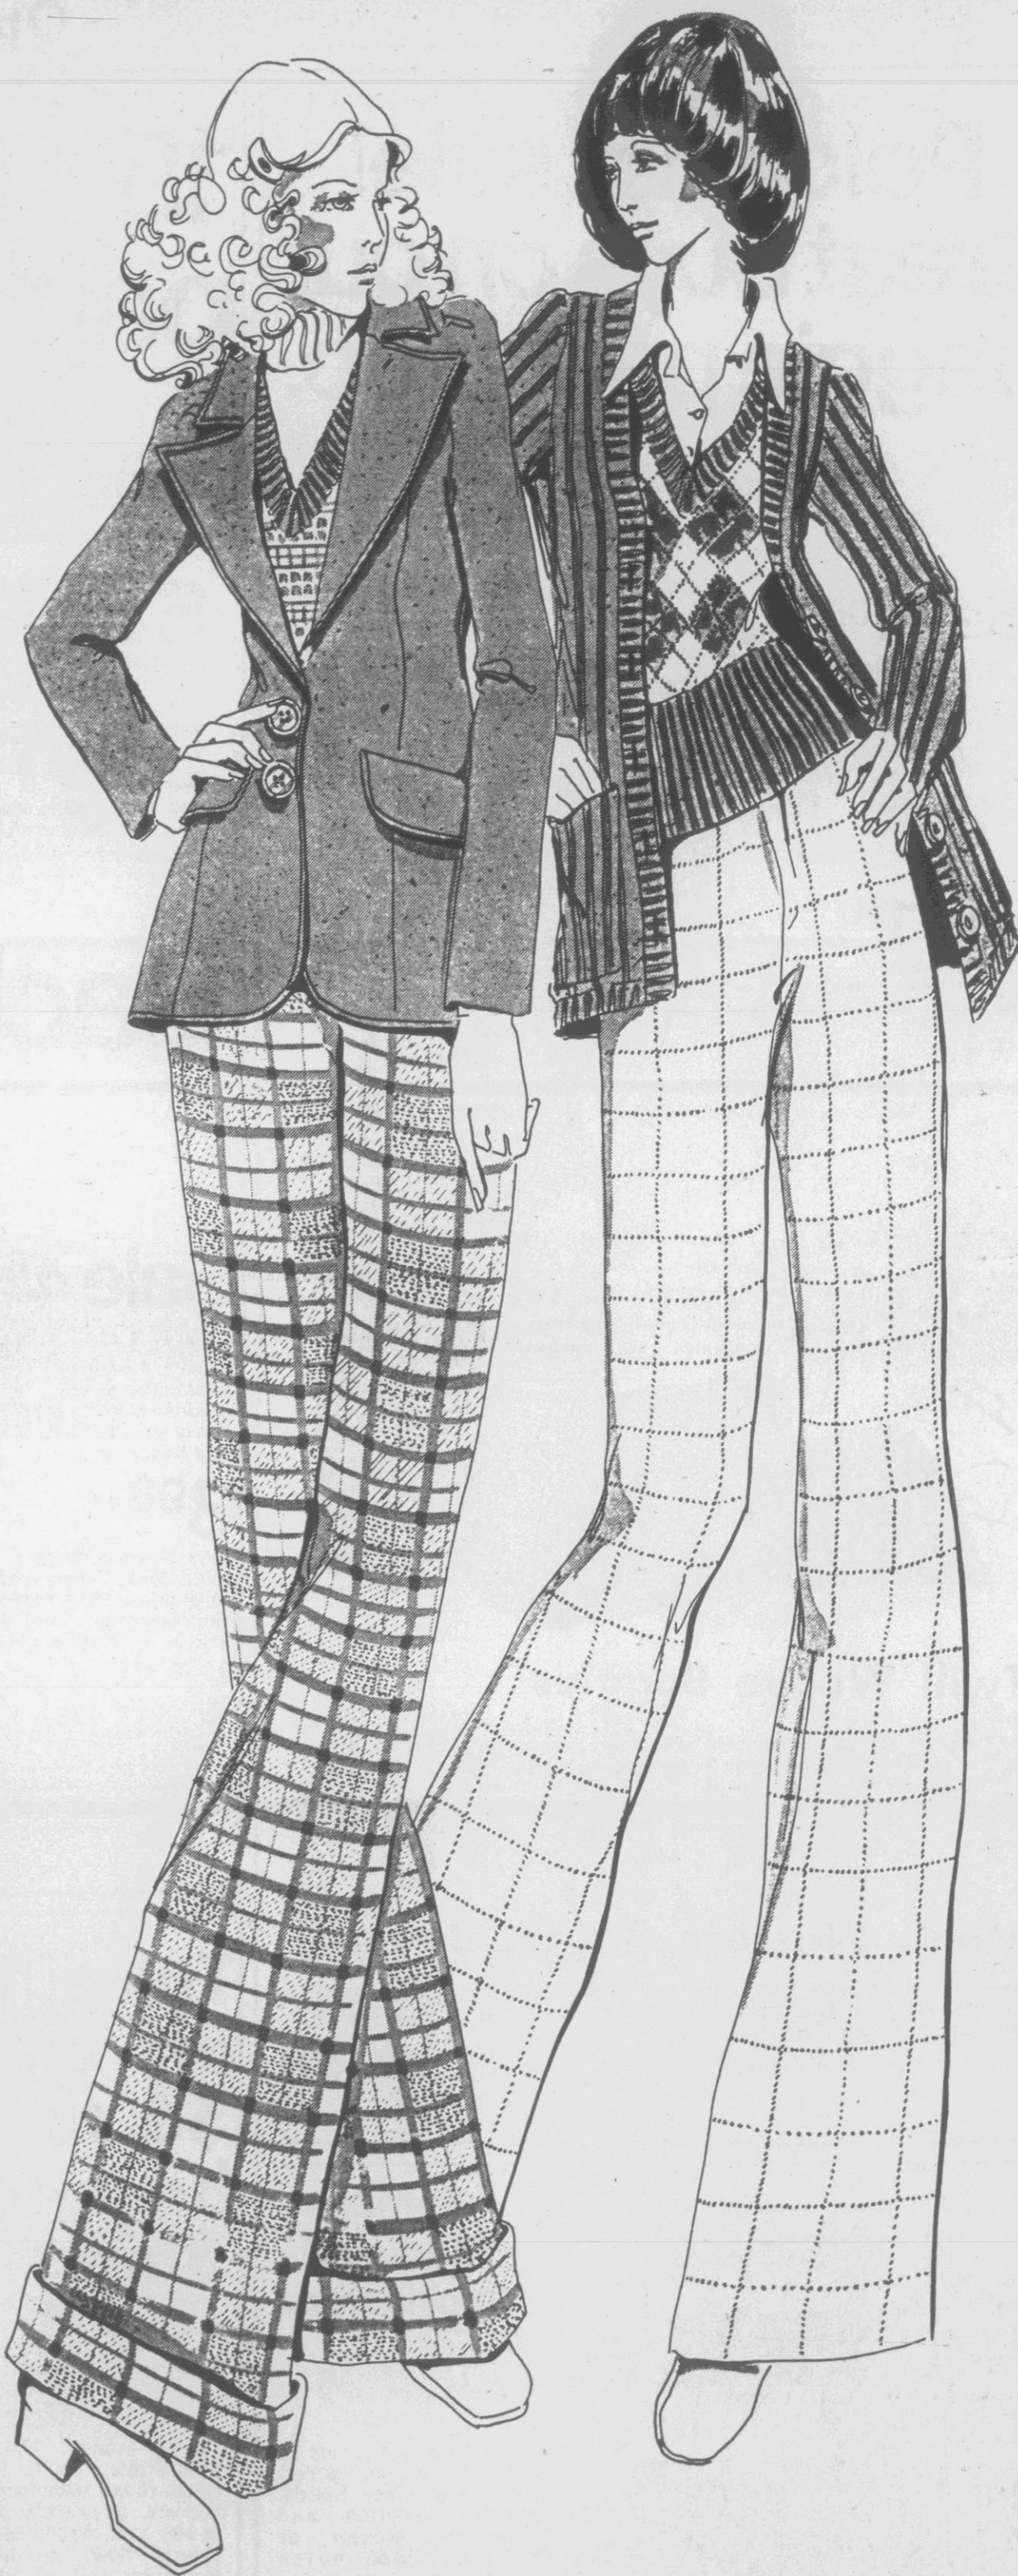

Likewise, Richardson's July briefing of Haig, before Agnew himself had formal notification, may also be explainable as a rational act based on the President's prior right to know. "Is that normal?" a Justice Department official repeated in answer to our question. "Hell, nothing's normal in this case. We're playing it by ear."

But such quiet and rational explanation is understandably difficult for Agnewites. The mood is Agnew camp has grown isolated and embittered. Now, with word being secretly passed to "keep clear" of the Agnew affair, that mood will intensify, with dangerous implications for the Republican future no matter how the investigation finally ends.

File-Review Frees Many

RALEIGH (AP)—A state Department of Human Resources spokesman said today more than 480 patients have been released from mental institutions as a result of reviews of their files.

David Flaherty, secretary of human resources, said all patient files were being reviewed in line with new admission requirements that become effective Sept. 1.

Flaherty said his staff believed the patients being released could be helped more by other methods, such as treatment at home, in halfway houses or through occupational training. Many of the patients were youngsters committed to youth centers.

"Some have gone straight back to their homes and their families are tickled to death to have them," Flaherty said.

Flaherty said the file reviews started in January and were continuing.

In a statement released Wednesday, Mental Health Commissioner N. P. Zarzar said "drastic changes" could be expected when the new admission procedures are implemented.

"In effect the determination for admission will be primarily

Wiretap In Case Upheld

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An appeals court in New Orleans has upheld the 1968 conviction of H. Rap Brown on a firearms charge, ruling that government wiretaps in the case were legal.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Wednesday that the government's secret electronic eavesdropping on the black militant was ordered by the attorney general under the President's "inherent power to protect national security."

Attorneys for Brown, who is serving a 5-to-15 year jail term in New York for a bar holdup, claimed that the eavesdropping was done without court approval and therefore tainted the case against their client. Brown had been sentenced to five years in jail and fined $20,000 in the firearms case.

Brown was charged under a Federal Firearms Act provision which makes it illegal for anyone under indictment for a felony to carry a gun across state lines. He was arrested in August, 1967 after he arrived in New Orleans from New York, a gun strapped to his luggage.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Former astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr. has suffered critical burns in the crash of a World War II training plane during a landing attempt here.

Haise, 39, was admitted to a Galveston hospital. Doctors said he had second degree burns over 50 per cent of his body, with patches of third degree burns on his legs.

The former astronaut was flying a BT13, a World War II basic trainer, when the engine quit Wednesday night, officials said.

Haise said he attempted to crash-land the single-engine craft on a shoreline but a landing gear failed to lower properly and the airplane cartwheelled. One wing was torn off and the aircraft burned.

Haise said that when he tried to get out of the wreck the canopy jammed. He said he kicked his way free and was able to walk away.

"When he got here, he was alert," said a hospital spokesman, who described Haise's condition as "critical, but stable."

Officials said the plane Haise was flying belonged to the Confederate Air Force, an organization of aircraft buffs who collect, fly and exhibit World War II-type aircraft. It was painted to resemble a Japanese torpedo attack fighter.

Haise was ferrying the airplane from Angleton Airport, southwest of Galveston, to an airport in this island city.

In his only space flight, Haise was the lunar module pilot on the ill-fated Apollo 13 moon mission in 1970.

Haise resigned the astronaut corps earlier this year and was named a technical assistant in the space shuttle development program at the Johnson Space Center near Houston.

Space Walk On Friday Cleared For Astronauts

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Given medical clearance to set a manned space flight endurance record, Skylab 2's astronauts today prepared for a four-hour space walk on Friday.

The medics are watching closely for the slow body deconditioning caused by long space flight. They hope extensive astronaut exercise will keep them in good health, but are ready to terminate the mission if physical problems develop.

Skylab director William C. Schneider announced Wednesday that medical specialists analyzed progress of Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma and gave them a go-ahead to remain in space until at least Aug. 31, the 35th day of the planned 59-day mission.

That will surpass by a week the space flight record of 28 days logged by the Skylab 1 crew in June. Skylab 2 will better that at 8:01 a.m. EDT Saturday.

Schneider said before the flight that as the 28-day mark approached, doctors would carefully monitor the astronauts' conditions and make a week-by-week determination on whether to continue the journey.

Another evaluation will be made next Wednesday.

Cars Collided At Intersection

No charges were preferred following investigation of a 11:53 a.m. accident Wednesday at the corner of Greene and First Streets.

Investigating officers reported that the collision involved cars driven by Rosa Burris Stokes of Rt. 4, Box 286-A, Greenville, and Barbara Ann Grimes of 109 Wade Street.

Officers, who reported that no one was injured in the mishap, estimated damage to the Grimes vehicle at $125 and set damage to the car driven by Rosa Stokes at $75.

Newsprint Is Still Short

MONTREAL (AP) — Canadian newsprint production continues nearly 25 per cent below normal because of strikes at five mills that send most of their output to papers in the United States.

With no negotiations scheduled in either strike, the cut in exports to the United States presumably will continue indefinitely. Deliveries to U. S.

customers are being reduced further by a rotating railway strike that has been stopping the trains in Canada's various regions for 48 hours at a time since July 26.

About 4,700 workers are on strike at the newsprint plants of Canadian International Paper in Gatineau and Trois-Rivieres, Que., and Dalhousie, N. B., and at mills in Alma and Jonquiere, Que., owned by Price Co. Ltd.

Canadian International Paper is owned by International Paper of New York. It has been struck since late July, while Price's workers went out Aug. 10.

The shutdown has reduced Canadian newsprint production from an average of 25,000 tons a day to about 19,000.

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tough federal judge who presided over the Watergate trial says he will decide within a week whether to order President Nixon to release tape recordings of nine presidential conversations.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who already had received 123 pages of written argument, listened to a two-hour courtroom debate Wednesday between Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox and Charles Alan Wright, President Nixon's lawyer.

He said he would rule by next Wednesday on Cox's request that he order the President to obey a subpoena demanding the tapes of conversations about Watergate.

Wright disclosed in his argument that he has not heard the tapes.

"The President has told me that in one of the tapes there is national security information so sensitive that he does not feel free even to reveal it to me," Wright said.

Cox argued that the President's "duty to produce evidence is a firm legal duty and involves no judgment on his part."

"The President has no power, like a king, to withhold evidence from a court."

In his news conference Wednesday, the President repeated that "we will not agree to the Senate committee's desire to have, for example, its chief investigator listen to the tapes, or the special prosecutor's desire to listen to the tapes also."

Nixon said he would oppose "any compromise to the principle of confidentiality."

Wright argued that "if we go back only 18 months...no body of responsible opinion said that the court has the power to overrule the judgment of the President."

It was Watergate, said Wright, that has brought about this change in interpretation of the Constitution.

Wright also contended that to hold that Sirica, a district court judge, has the power to order the President to surrender confidential documents would set a precedent for all 400 federal District court judges in the country.

"Some would interpret the precedent narrowly...others, I fear, less narrowly," Wright argued.

Watergate...

helped save American lives.

Utilizing a question about whether he considered resigning, Nixon spelled out the corner he hopes to turn with his latest defense on Watergate:

"Watergate is an episode that I deeply deplore and had I been running the campaign rather than trying to run the country, and particularly the foreign policy of this country at this time, it would never have happened," he said. "But that is water under the bridge, it is gone now."

Nixon's responses to the barrage of Watergate questions included a statement of apparent misplaced faith in John N. Mitchell, a more detailed rebuttal of certain charges by John W. Dean III and an explanation of what L. Patrick Gray III's warning meant to the President.

Mitchell told the Senate Watergate Committee that if Nixon had ever asked him about the break-in, Mitchell would have told all. But Mitchell said he hadn't volunteered the information because Nixon would have "lowered the boom" to the detriment of his campaign.

Nixon mentioned a March 22, 1973, meeting attended by Mitchell at which the President said "I kept pressing for the view that I had had throughout, that we must get this story out, get the truth out..."

He was then asked if this meant Mitchell was not telling the truth when he testified he would have told all if asked.

"I am not going to question Mr. Mitchell's veracity," said Nixon, "and I will only say that throughout I had confidence in Mr. Mitchell."

But he added: "Throughout I would have expected Mr. Mitchell to tell me in the event that he was involved or that anybody else was."

He did not tell me. I don't blame him for not telling me. He has given his reasons for not telling me. I regret that he did not, because he is exactly right. Had he told me, I would have blown my stack..."

Dean testified to the Senate committee that Nixon had discussed clemency for convicted Watergate figures and matter-of-factly discussed with Dean how there would be no problem in raising $1 million for the Watergate defendants.

Nixon has previously denied this talk took place, but Wednesday, he spelled out his version in greater detail.

The President said when Dean told him that one defendant, E. Howard Hunt, was demanding $120,000, Nixon pointed out that the defendants would also want clemency and "We can't give clemency."

Will Help In Firefighters See Gain Insulation Against Forest Blazes

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. says it wants its customers to use less fuel to heat their homes and that it is willing to help them meet the cost of installing insulation.

The utility, which serves the Detroit area, describes the proposal as the first of its kind in the nation. It says it could serve as a model for other communities concerned with conserving energy.

In a proposal filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission on Tuesday, Michigan Consolidated said it would loan its customers 80 per cent of the cost of installing six inches of insulation in the attics of their homes.

If the money is paid back on monthly gas bills within three months of installation, there would be no interest charge, Michigan Consolidated President Hugh Daly said Wednesday.

If the homeowner decides to repay the loan on a 36-month basis, the company proposed a financing charge, with interest of 1 per cent and no profit for the company.

The plan, originally suggested by Commission Chairman William Rosenberg, is scheduled to be considered in public hearings.

Michigan Consolidated Gas said it agreed to the proposal because officials felt it would Firefighters took a breather early today after reporting substantial progress in battling blazes on Western rangelands and forests. But unfavorable weather predictions made the gains tenuous.

The Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho, said late Wednesday that seven major blazes covering more than 50,000 acres remained out of control, with more than 6,000 men on the fire lines.

Only 24 hours earlier, the center had listed 13 major fires on more than 100,000 acres as uncontrolled, with 12,000 men at work.

But the National Weather Service predicted extensive thunderstorms with lightning, high winds and little rain through Saturday for Idaho and Montana, with a chance of similar storms in eastern sections of Washington and Oregon.

not reduce total gas sales.

"The energy situation being what it is, we are confident that we will be able to sell all the gas we can get," Daly said.

The company said a study it conducted showed that six inches of insulation can reduce fuel consumption for heating by about 17 per cent in a typical two-story home built in Detroit before 1940.

Forestry officials have described this fire season as the

VFW Rejects Women's Entry

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars have overwhelmingly rejected a proposal to allow women to join their organization.

A bylaw proposed Wednesday at the 74th national convention would have permitted women veterans to join on the same basis as men. The motion failed to receive a second and died before it could reach the floor.

Dr. Richard H. Evans, who was scheduled to discuss the improvement of Claredon Drive in Lynndale Subdivision with the commission, withdrew his request to appear before the board until a later date.

worst in 20 years for the drought-plagued Northwest.

Dick Klade, information officer at the Boise center, said that in the past 10 days 50 major fires have blackened or burned out of control on 189,824 acres — an area nearly one-quarter the size of Rhode Island.

Firefighters said Wednesday that for the first time since the rash of fires began almost all the new blazes were caused by nature rather than by man. Klade said 151 fires were started by lightning, mostly in Idaho and Oregon, during a two-day period ending late Wednesday.

Broccoli Bandit New Farm Pest

STANWOOD, Wash. (AP)—Major growers here report a new kind of farm pest — the broccoli bandit.

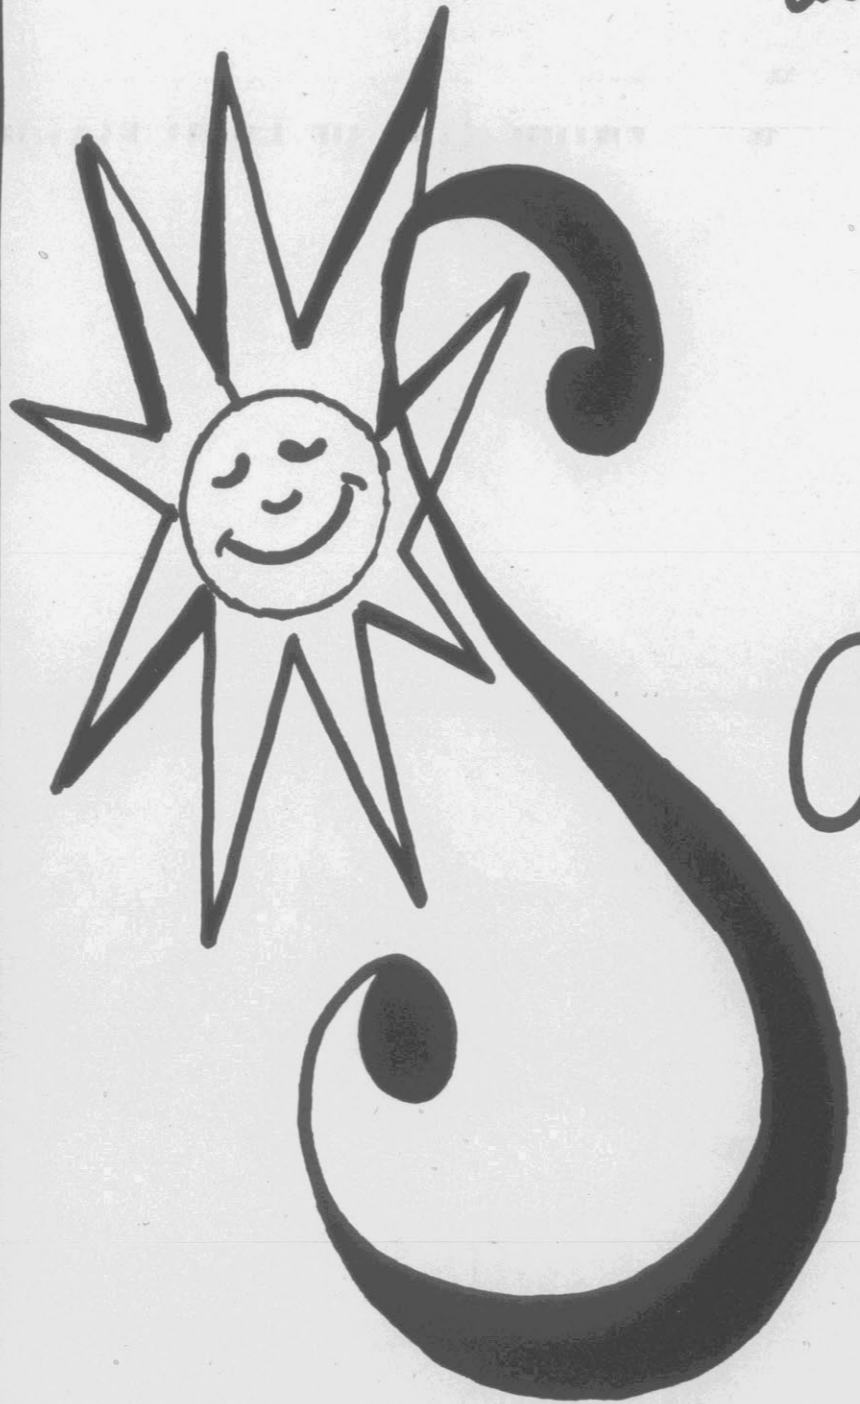

A spokesman for three major growers in Skagit and Snohomish counties said the thieves have been striking fields at night in unprecedented numbers. One field that normally yields 25 tons of broccoli probably will produce only five tons this year, she said.

Mrs. Willis Harshman said night patrols hired by growers caught four persons suspected of broccoli thefts last week.

Crenshaw Not Used To Attention He's Getting—But Says It's Fun

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw, a pro for a week with career earnings of $903, was besieged by autograph hounds when he finished play in the pro-am.

said as he scribbled his name time after time. "But this is fun."
Despite his youth and relative inexperience, the personable young man with the mod-length hair ranked as one of the favorites—certainly one of the gallery's favorites—going into today's first round in the $100,000

L&M Open.
The game's big guns—Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf—don't get into action until this weekend in the second half of pro golf's only double-header. They'll play in the rich Match Play Championship Saturday and Sunday.
With those glamor names on the sidelines until Saturday, the crowds at the 6,786-yard, par-71 MacGregor Downs Golf and Country Club course—site of both tournaments—centered their attention on Crenshaw and 23-year-old Lanny Wadkins.

Wadkins, who scored the second victory of the season and set a money-winning record for a second-year player with his triumph last weekened, is a natural favorite.

Keydets Shooting For Winning Season In '73

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)
Virginia Military Institute coach Bob Thalman can look out over his 1973 Keydets and find a lot of youth, but at the same time, it has been tempered by experience. How the combination will do could remain a mystery for a while.

over the other tackle slot. Tom Parker and Larry Schaudies, the only two seniors in the offensive line, will occupy the guard spots. Parker showed continued improvement during the past two years, and Schaudies is ranked by Thalman as one of the most underrated on the team.
Rounding out the offense, will be Allan Pyke or Doug Hines at center. Pyke won the battle for the spot in the spring, but could lose it to Hines in the fall.

At the outside linebacking position, Bruce Crawford and Paul Staiger take the jobs, both sophomores. Senior Melvin Clark and junior Chip Louthan also were battling for the spots. The inside linebacking position saw three men graduate this spring, and some shifting has been done here. Sam Moultrie, an outside linebacker, brings the only experience here. The other spot could go to either Mike Gross, Harry McKnight or Charlie Aycock.
Johnny Morton is the only senior returning at halfback. And his experience has been at quarterback and split end. The other candidates for the job are all sophomore, Kirk Minton, Dan Arnold Palmer and Australian Bruce Crampton, the season's leading money-winner, aren't competing.

"We've got to be improved," Thalman said. "We did a lot of growing up last year. We played 10 or 12 freshmen, and this year we're going to be a predominately sophomore and junior team. But we should have a good offensive team, and we're finally getting some size and ability."
One reason for Thalman's offensive optimism is the return of junior quarterback Tom Schultze, who set passing records at VMI as a sophomore last year. "He's a very talented quarterback and will be a great one before he's finished," the coach said.

"We have a fine group with good attitude. We've gotten good teamwork and we have desire. We've had the supreme test and have hung together. We are dedicated to win but realize we have a tough schedule."
YMI opens with Virginia, then plays Navy, Richmond and Tulane before having five more conference games then finishing with Georgia Tech and Virginia Tech. Only three games, Navy, Citadel and Davidson are at home.
"We realize this is too much for us," Thalman said. "We want to play those in the conference, then round out with teams that we have something in common with. Our schedule becomes a little more realistic next year."
The offensive, naturally will be built around Schultze, but the Keydets won't go with a strict passing game. There are runners available too.
Marvin Watts, a senior, is the most experienced fullback, lettering for two years, but on defense. He improved his offensive play during the spring and is expected to start. At the running back slot, Ronnie Williams brings some experience, picking up over 500 yards as a second stringer last year. He missed the spring due to an operation, but should be ready to go this fall.
At the wingback slot, Tony Farry and Bruce Torbett are both considered as starters. Both are quick, good runners and good receivers.
Ronnie Moore, a sophomore, is the only experienced man at split end, catching 50 passes for 673 yards and three touchdowns last year. He also returns punts and kickoffs. Allen Morgan and Ray Brooks make the tight end position one of the deepest and most talented on offense. Both have exceptional pass catching ability, and Morgan, who should get the nod, had 15 catches for 200 yards last year.
Andy Dearman, VMI's only All-Conference player, returns to the offensive tackle slot. Oscar Richardson, a junior who lettered at linebacker, will take

Bucs Go Into Pads

The Pirates of East Carolina University go into pads today for the first time in their fall drills, after having completed the mandatory three days in shorts for conditioning.

"There'll be plenty of hitting," Coach Sonny Randle said, but not in a heavy scrimmage. The rest of the week will be taken up in individual hitting drills—line against back against back.
Randle termed the practices to date "very, very good, with a fine attitude and a lot of enthusiasm." He added however that putting on the pads to begin hitting might tend to dampen this a little.
Randle pointed out that everyone has looked good during the work in shorts, but that this works a handicap both on the players and coaches, making it hard to tell really what a player can do. "Putting on the pads will show what we've really got," Randle said.

No plans for a full scrimmage are in the works as yet, as the Bucs continue working twice a day in open drills.

Henry Aaron Regains Touch As 705th Sails Out Of Ball Park

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hank Aaron, the second greatest home run hitter in baseball history, has dispelled his own fear that he was possibly becoming a singles and doubles hitter.

Houston 4-0, the New York Mets edged Los Angeles 4-3, the Chicago Cubs topped Cincinnati 6-5, San Francisco shaded Montreal 3-2, and San Diego hammered Philadelphia 8-3.
Pirates 4, Astros 0
Pittsburgh's Bob Moose allowed only six hits in a 4-0 victory for his ninth triumph in 10 lifetime decisions against the Astros.

American League before joining the Cubs, is trying to become only the second pitcher in modern major league history to win 100 games in both leagues. The other was Jim Bunning.
Giants 3, Expos 2
Gray Matthews' tie-breaking, run-scoring single in the seventh provided San Francisco with its 3-2 victory over the Expos and gave the Giants a sweep of their three-game series in Montreal.

Padres 8, Phillies 3
Fred Kendall drove in three runs with two triples, as San Diego trounced Philadelphia 8-3 and handed 1972 NL Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton his 15th loss in 26 decisions.

What had prompted the notion was that the 39-year-old Atlanta slugger had gone three consecutive days without a homer. After slamming one homer each day last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aaron bounced into a double play in his only appearance Sunday.

The Pirates scored all their runs in the seventh off Tom Griffin, with the key hits being a run-scoring double by Richie Hebner and RBI singles by Rennie Stennett and Gene Clines.

Girls Net Practice
Rose High School's girl's tennis team will begin practice tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Evans Street Park courts.

All girls interested in participating on the team are asked to report at this time, or an 3 p.m. on Monday. Girls must bring their own equipment, and must have their birth certificates.
Coaching the team this year is Miss Katherine Flanigan.

Then the Braves were idle Monday, and on Tuesday he had three hits—two singles and a double—against St. Louis, prompting his light-hearted description of himself as "a singles and doubles hitter."
But Wednesday night, Aaron regained his home run touch, slamming his 32nd of the season and the 705th of his career, putting him within nine of Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

The Pirates scored all their runs in the seventh off Tom Griffin, with the key hits being a run-scoring double by Richie Hebner and RBI singles by Rennie Stennett and Gene Clines.

"I'll take that way of getting out of a singles and doubles rut any time," he quipped.
It was surprising that Aaron was in such a jocular mood, because the Braves had lost to the St. Louis Cardinals 6-4 on pinch hitter Jose Cruz' two-run pinch homer in the ninth.

John Milner's second game-winning hit in two games, a run-scoring single with two out in the bottom of the ninth, capped a two-run New York rally and lifted the Mets to their 4-3 triumph over Los Angeles. The setback left the pacesetter Dodgers two games ahead of runner-up Cincinnati in the NL West.

Aching Patek's Homer Allows Kansas City To Slip By Yanks

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer
While Kansas City's Fred Patek waited for his turn at bat, he wrapped his aching right shoulder in heating pads to soothe the muscle spasms that sent pain shooting through the joint.

Whenever he swung at the ball, it hurt. In the 10th inning he swung again, and hurt the New York Yankees even more.

Patek hit a run-scoring single that snapped a deadlock and lifted the Royals to an 8-7 victory over the Yankees Wednesday night.

The game went into extra innings after New York's Mike Hegan tied it 7-7 with a two-run homer in the eighth. Earlier, Cookie Rojas had helped the Royals to a 7-5 advantage with two doubles and a sacrifice fly. The loss gave the Royals a threegame sweep over New York.

In other American League games Wednesday, Cleveland

shaded Chicago 1-0 in 12 innings, Baltimore beat Minnesota 4-3, Boston edged Texas 9-8, Oakland defeated Detroit 7-3 and California outlasted Milwaukee 5-4 in 10 innings.

Red Sox 9, Rangers 8
Boston surged to a fat 9-0 lead but the Rangers then unloaded eight runs in the eighth inning. The Sox withstood the furious rally but left manager Eddie Kasko shaking his head in disbelief.

Tommy Harper drove in three runs with two singles to lead the Boston offense. The Rangers tallied their runs on Bill Sudakis' pinch-hit, three-run homer, a two-run double by Tom Grieve and RBI singles by Ken Suarez, Toby Hurrah and Elliott Maddox.

Indians 1, White Sox 0
Gaylord Perry, feeling stronger with each inning, scattered six hits and then got the only run he needed when Buddy Bell scored on Bill Melton's wild throw in the 12th inning.

Orioles 4, Twins 3
The Orioles, who recorded their 10th straight victory, spotted the Twins three runs before charging back for the triumph.

The Orioles moved within one digit of their single-season club record of 11 straight victories.

Angels 5, Brewers 4
Leroy Stanton crashed a solo homer in the 10th inning and lifted the Angels to their victory after California's Frank Robinson had tied it 4-4 with an RBI double in the ninth.

A's 7, Tigers 3
Deron Johnson scored the winning run from third base on Jim Northrup's wild throw during the A's five-run eighth.

Reggie Jackson tied it 3-3 with a solo homer that ignited the A's eighth-inning outburst after Dick McAuliffe had given the Tigers a 3-2 edge in the eighth with a run-scoring triple.

In the National League, it was: Chicago 6, Cincinnati 5; San Diego 8, Philadelphia 3; San Francisco 3, Montreal 2; New York 4, Los Angeles 3, St. Louis 6, Atlanta 4, and Pittsburgh 4, Houston 0.

Stram Playing Everyone As He Sets Sights On Another Title

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hank Stram, the only coach the Kansas City Chiefs have ever had, seems to be trying a new approach this National Football League season, but the goal is the same ... another world championship.

Stram is playing more players than ever in this year's exhibition games, even, it appears, at the risk of coming away second best. He let his old standby quarterback, Len Dawson, sit on the bench in the opening test with New Orleans, won by the Chiefs 12-6.

Instead, Stram went with Mike Livingston, Dawson's understudy, and Dean Carlson, a second-year pro from Iowa State. Dawson played only the final six minutes in a 17-16 defeat by Detroit. Pete Beathard, another veteran quarterback, directed the Chiefs the rest of the way.

Stram inserted a barrage of rookies and reserves into both games.

"We have to see if we can win with these people as well as our regulars," Stram explains. "We are fortunate to have experienced people who have played in the NFL playing behind our regulars at almost every position. We will continue to play a lot of people in this preseason."

Still, when the Chiefs, who won the Super Bowl in 1970, open their regular campaign against the Los Angeles Rams Sept. 16, it's a pretty safe bet that most of the old hands, including Dawson, will be around for the first kickoff.

One notable exception might be Willie Ellison, a veteran running back acquired from Los Angeles. The Chiefs, lacking in running offense th past couple of years, went all out to obtain new rushers during the off-season, and one of them is Ellison. If Ellison doesn't get the call, Stram may lean toward Jeff Kinney, in his second year, or Wendell Hayes.

Ed Podolak, Kansas City's leading rusher each of the last three seasons, is certain to be one running back. Otis Taylor, a crack receiver, will be at flanker if he recovers from a leg injury in time.

The offensive line, possibly the Chiefs' biggest question mark because of its age, likely will have Jack Rudnay at center, Ed Buede and Mo Moorman at the guards, Jim Tyrer and Dave Hill at the tackles, Elmo Wright at split end and Willie Frazier or Morris Stroud at tight end.

The Chiefs will present a rugged defense, as usual, and probably have the NFL's top set of linebackers in Bobby Bell, Willie Lanier and Jim Lynch. The defensive backfield is tough with Mike Sensibaugh and Jim Kearney at the safeties and Emmitt Thomas and Jim Marsalis at the cornerbacks.

Four veterans man the defensive line positions: Marvin Upshaw, Curley Clup, Buck Buchanan and Wilbur Young. Stram has another tested veteran for a backup role, George Seals. Kansas City's kicking game is among pro football's best. Jerrel Wilson, the NFL leader in 1972, will do the punting and Jan Stenerud, who has kicked at least 20 field goals in each of his six previous seasons, the placekicker.

Former Military Town Now Hosting Reservists

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP) — The annual influx of thousands of Army Reservists revives memories of World War II for many of the 3,562 residents of this community.

Blackstone is snuggled in southeastern Virginia, historically located between Williamsburg and Jamestown on the east and Appomattox on the west. In 1940, Blackstone was a small farming center specializing in tobacco. But with Pearl Harbor and the U.S. involvement in World War II, the U.S. Army selected Blackstone as the site of Camp Pickett, a new training base. Nothing has been quite the same ever since. "We really went through a transformation when the Army decided to build Camp Pickett," says Douglas Coleburn, editor and publisher of the Record-Courier, the town's weekly newspaper. "We went from a rural tobacco center to a military town. If you can imagine, the population went from about 2,000 to about 15,000 in a matter of a few months during the early '40s."

Population was not the only change. With the soldiers came a new image of the community — one that wasn't accepted by all the townspeople. "At the peak of the Army's involvement here, some 80,000 troops came to town," said Coleburn, whose father was also editor and publisher of the Record-Courier. "Just picture that many GIs in a two-block downtown area. It was quite an experience."

During the peak Army involvement, many Blackstone businesses went out of existence and were replaced by military or outside-owned businesses. Farmers were alienated and a women's college was disbanded because many parents objected to sending daughters to college in a military town.

While it would seem that residents might have deeply resented the military's presence, Coleburn, a lifelong resident of Blackstone, says the reaction was exactly the opposite. "In a town like ours, we need industry to keep ourselves going," he said. "Camp Pickett gave us the industry we needed. If it wasn't for the Army, it would have been something else. No matter how you look at it, Pickett has done a lot for this town. It still employs many people. Sure, it was a drastic change, but everyone realized that it was a bigger advantage than disadvantage."

Over the years since the end of World War II, Blackstone has remained a small community and now entertains soldiers only during the summer, when a few thousand Reservists and National Guardsmen come for two-weeks' training. The town has never been quite what it was before Camp Pickett was constructed but Coleburn says it is now a very prosperous community.

"We've got quite a bit of industry here," he said. "There's a Levi-Strauss plant, a furniture plant and a velvet manufacturing plant which is said to be the world's largest manufacturer of velvet under one roof. We could always use industry, but we are financially stable and a lot better off than many other towns of our size."

Coleburn's office, along with most other Blackstone businesses, is located on Main Street. About a block-and-a-half north of the Courier-Record is one of the town's two barber shops — reminiscent of the old days with equipment which hasn't been used in the big cities for about 10 years.

R. L. Hilliard, who has been in Blackstone since 1930, is the chief barber. His eyes have seen most of the town's changes.

"We've always enjoyed the soldiers coming in," said Hilliard, who says he is about 75 years old. "The town has gone through a lot of different changes but it's still a good place to live."

 It came as no surprise that the Italian international team containing three members of the famous Blue Team—Giorgio Belladonna, Pietro Forquet and Benito Garozzo—brushed aside the defending champion Aces to regain the world championship they had voluntarily relinquished after their tenth straight triumph in 1969. More remarkable was the strong performance by Brazil, who finished third ahead of a U.S. team that disappointed many with its erratic performance.

In this deal from one of the qualifying rounds, the U.S. team bid as shown.

South was under no pressure to respond one heart, as he was playing four-card majors and his partner's opening bid of one diamond tended to deny a four-card heart suit. However, after North showed extra values by introducing his spade suit, South suggested a no trump contract and North accepted.

Unfortunately, the combined North-South holding in hearts failed to produce a stopper. West led his fourth-best heart, East took the ace and king and led a third heart, and the defenders took the first five tricks for down one.

In the other room, the Brazilians were playing the Precision System. North opened one diamond and, after his partner responded one heart, jumped to two spades to show a hand of about 15 points. Here, too, South suggested a no trump contract, but North rebid his diamonds. South raised to four diamonds and North bid five.

This game contract proved to be iron-clad. Declarer played it perfectly safely, ruffing the second heart lead, drawing three rounds of trumps and eventually conceding one trick to the king of spades.

Brazil gained 50 points in the first round and 400 in the second, for a total swing of 450 points, which converts to 10 International Match Points.

Try New Procedure In Hypertension Diagnosis

Duke University Medical Center researchers are using a new procedure that could aid in the early diagnosis of hypertension or high blood pressure, a condition which afflicts more than 23 million Americans.

The test offers the possibility of identifying hypertensive persons even before they begin to show the usual symptoms. The condition can be controlled by drugs, but government figures show that at least half of the 23 million people who have high blood pressure don't even know it.

The procedure used by the Duke researchers involves measuring the amount of an enzyme called dopamine-B-hydroxylase (DBH) in a person's blood and comparing it with the blood DBH level of normal persons. According to Dr. Saul Schanberg, principal investigator on the project, the test is based on a theory that hypertension is related to an overfunctioning of the sympathetic nervous system. Noradrenaline is a hormone released at the nerve ending, and its measurement would be an accurate method of measuring whether the sympathetic nervous system is overfunctioning, but its rapid change as it circulates makes it difficult to determine what level is normal. DBH is an enzyme which catalyzes or helps in the creation of noradrenaline and is not rapidly destroyed. Thus, it makes a better indicator, Dr. Schanberg said.

In further tests, the Duke researchers have found that DBH levels also can be helpful in determining what type of hypertension a person has. Patients finally diagnosed as labile or essential hypertensives showed high DBH levels, while those with hypertension due to kidney disease or other illness had much lower levels. Thus, it is a tool for differentiating between the types of hypertension.

The research is supported by grants from the National Institute of Mental Health.

Harry describes the intense conceit of about 75 per cent of America's clergymen. For they refuse to imitate the great platform artists! But young medics gladly pattern after the great surgeons and even Little Leaguers mimic and pitching stars. It irritated Bishop Raines, too.

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D.M.D.

CASE X-584: Harry S., aged 34, is an insurance salesman. "Dr. Crane," he began, "our preacher is a dud as a public speaker."

"Yet isn't effective speaking supposed to be one of the essential marks of an effective clergyman?"

"Recently, I invited him to join Toastmaster's Club with me, saying I'd pay his dues."

"For I figured he would learn a lot about his platform mistakes when the fellows at Toastmaster's began to criticize his voice, gestures, and the content of his talks."

"But he turned up his nose at the idea of joining a speaking organization. 'For he said he took homiletics (public speaking) at the seminary!'

"He may have been 'exposed' but I'd say it never 'took.'"

"Why will such clergymen refuse to imitate superior orators?"

"Even sandlot baseball kids try to mimic the star pitchers." Conceited Clergymen A dud in the pulpit is not an egotist, but is certainly a conceited prelate.

An egotist thinks he is good and is. A conceited person things he is good but isn't.

Yet any clergyman could easily see he wasn't rating even a "D" grade in oratory if he'd count the many empty pews staring him in the face.

Plus the parishioners who doze or stare vacantly into space during his stodgy Sunday monologue.

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation!

"You must fill the pulpit," runs a valuable maxim, "if you wish to fill the church."

About 75 per cent of clergymen are now the most conceited group of adult males in America!

Only about 25 per cent of them rate a "C" grade or better in their public platform ability.

The other 75 percent are duds as orators and poor platform psychologists! I wouldn't be so harsh on them if oratorical skill had to be in-born.

But anybody with an I.Q. of 100 can easily become an interesting speaker, just by imitating Dr. Peale, Bishop Sheen, Rabbi Samuel Silver and other eminent pulpit orators. And every clergyman can find the superb recipe for holding the attention of an audience merely by studying Christ's forensic formula, which involves:

- (1) Using a dramatic text or sermon topic;
- (2) Documenting it with a series of relevant local cases, told as narratives; not as dull, stodgy essays;
- (3) Using the baseball pit-cher's change of pace regarding use of the voice, especially when telling a story to illustrate a point;

(4) Quoting appropriate verse in the peroration to lift up the audience to a higher emotional climax.

Former Bishop Raines invited me to Indiana on 3 different occasions to address each of the 3 conferences of the Methodist Church.

"Tell them how to make an interesting talk from the pulpit," he urged.

For he said too many of his churches were being emptied by stody "essay" preachers coming from Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Illinois.

So send for the booklet, "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Sunshine Could Heat Or Cool

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prospects could be bright for using the sun to light, heat and cool your home by the late 1980s, according to a scientist whose company is working on the problem.

"No scientific breakthroughs are necessary," Dr. Van W. Bearinger of Honeywell told a House subcommittee on energy. But, he said, the federal government must take the lead in making the facilities economically feasible to convert sunshine to steam for producing electricity.

The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant to a team of scientists from the University of Minnesota and Honeywell to devise a baseline system for a central power station that would develop solar energy.

Lady Doctor In Texas Honored

Dallas (UI) —The Texas Medical Association has honored Dr. Mary Owen, a Fort Worth pathologist who in 1961 was the association's first woman president.

Dr. Owen formally established a Mary Owen Trust Fund in 1966 to provide financial assistance to 57 students in the state and earlier this year completed arrangements to make the trust irrevocable.

Nixon Cites Other Burglaries

Chilean Gov't Claims Invasion Threat Fears

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende met with his national security council Wednesday night, and congressional sources said they discussed the threat of an invasion by Bolivia.

"The situation is delicate," Adm. Raul Montero, the commander of the navy, told newsmen. He would not elaborate. But there were unconfirmed reports of Bolivian troop movements along Chile's north-eastern frontier.

Several opposition congressmen claimed the leftist government was circulating the reports to divert attention from the strikes plaguing the government.

Chile and Bolivia severed diplomatic relations 10 years ago over a river dispute but they have not been on friendly terms for a century. Bolivia lost its access to the sea when victorious Chile seized the port city of Antofagasta during the 1879 War of the Pacific against Bolivia and Peru.

Shortly before Allende met with the security council, the House of Deputies adopted a resolution accusing the Marxist president of "overstepping the constitution and the law." The resolution, which passed on an 81-47 vote, carries no legal sanctions. But it reflected the concern of the opposition majority in Congress over the street battles in which scores of persons were wounded during a 48-hour general strike Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the 140,000 members of the merchants' confederation ended their 48-hour strike against the government and planned to reopen their shops today. They didn't have much to sell, however, as much of the country's distribution system was paralyzed by the continuing truck owners' strike, now in its 29th day.

The doctors' union voted to remain on strike for three more days to press demands for the import of more medicine and medical equipment. They now are providing only emergency service.

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon claims burglaries such as the one in the Daniel Ellsberg case occurred "on a very large scale" during the Johnson and Kennedy years.

But some officials from those administrations deny any knowledge of such break-ins.

"No activity was authorized by me and I think we're entitled to know what he's talking about," said former Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, who served in the Justice Department in various positions under both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

George Christian, former press secretary to Johnson, said: "I don't know what he is talking about." Nixon, at his press conference Wednesday in San Clemente, Calif., said he views as "illegal, unauthorized and completely deplorable" the burglary of the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg by a unit directed by White House aides.

But he also noted that under both Kennedy and Johnson, "burglarizing of this type" took place "on a very large scale."

Nixon did not elaborate and Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren refused to give details.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman refused to confirm or deny that such burglaries had taken place in the past, saying the information "can only come from the White House."

Nixon last May, in a lengthy statement on Watergate, first mentioned that there may have been burglaries for national security purposes engaged in by the FBI during previous administrations.

But, he said, the FBI had halted such activities in 1966.

Nixon also admitted, in the same May 22 statement, that in 1970 he had approved a plan for expanded domestic intelligence gathering that included "sur-reptitious entry—breaking and entering, in effect" in national security situations. But Nixon said the plan, proposed by former presidential aide Tom Charles Huston, never was put into effect because of opposition from the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Katzenbach, who was deputy attorney general under former Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and served as attorney general from 1965-1966, said he felt Nixon's accusations were unfair.

"He ought to say who authorized it and who knew about it," said Katzenbach.
