See Leadership Crisis Shaping Up

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen looking beyond the partisan gains and losses of Watergate see a crisis developing in the national leadership as a result of President Nixon's waning influence on Capitol Hill.

The climax could come this fall, says Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., with Nixon either recovering enough ground to carry on with reduced authority or being forced by events to resign. Although either prospect would enhance congressional power, neither is pleasing to Udall or other congressmen concerned about the future relationship between Congress and the executive branch.

"Our system of government requires a strong executive and we're just not going to have one as long as Nixon remains in office," Rep. Sam M. Gibbons, D-Fla., said in an interview. "We have serious leadership problems with the economy that have to be solved."

Neither Gibbons nor Udall sees any likelihood that Nixon will be impeached. "It's too wrenching, too severe," said Udall in a radio interview (CBS' Capitol Cloakroom).

However, Udall said Nixon's resignation is "a real live possibility" if inflation and other economic problems continue unabated and the resumed Watergate hearings in the Senate produce any further disclosures damaging to the administration.

"At that point, conservative, mainline Republicans and Wall Street and the business community might say 'for the good of the country you've got to step down'."

If that point were reached, Udall said, Nixon would find some way to remove Vice President Spiro T. Agnew so he could appoint another vice president to succeed him.

"It's clear to me Nixon is not at all happy with the choice he made for vice president," Udall said.

Democrats can see a bright side to Watergate in the resurgence of Congress, which they control, but for Republicans it has cast a deepening pall. Reports from GOP members after visits to their home districts during the current congressional recess reflect widespread dissatisfaction with Nixon's response to Watergate.

Justice Department Hunting For Leaks

Second Trade Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States recorded its second trade surplus of the year in July as foreign demand for the country's goods continued at record high levels, the Commerce Department said today.

The surplus of exports over imports for the month was $106.1 million compared with a deficit of $15.5 million in June.

Exports in July totaled almost $5.87 billion, a new record, and imports totaled $5.76 billion, down slightly from the June figure.

The $106.1 million trade surplus was the second monthly surplus this year and only the second time that the United States has had a trade surplus since September 1971.

The country had a surplus of $196.3 million in April this year. The improvement in the country's trade picture so far this year has been substantial, due in part to recent devaluations of the U.S. dollar and also to growing foreign demand for U.S. goods, especially farm products and machinery and transport equipment.

The country's stronger trade position probably will help the U.S. dollar whose value has been under attack in foreign money markets this year.

Exports, which are running 33 per cent ahead of last year, also should mean more jobs for the American worker.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An acting assistant attorney general has been ordered by Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson to investigate supposed leaks of information from the Justice Department about kickback allegations against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Richardson Thursday also has asked FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley to make FBI personnel available as needed to assist in the inquiry.

The attorney general disclosed these steps in a letter Thursday to Agnew, who has complained of "vicious and illegal" leaks to news media about the allegations against him in a Maryland kickback investigation.

Richardson said he has put acting Asst. Atty. Gen. Glen E. Pommerening in charge of the probe.

"Should any of the leaks be traced to Department of Justice personnel, departmental regulations providing administrative sanctions, including dismissal, will apply," Richardson said in his letter to Agnew.

A Justice Department source said Thursday that at least some of the allegations made publicly about the criminal investigation involving Agnew are erroneous.

He said many of the allegations sound "like it's getting out second or third hand."

He speculated that some leaks might be coming from the White House but said such leaks wouldn't necessarily be intentional, but might be the product of sloppy handling of information relayed by the Justice Department.

"There are two people at the White House who are kept fully informed on what our findings are," said a Justice Department source, referring to President Nixon and his chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig Jr. "It's not inconceivable that information could have filtered down through other staff from them and gotten out that way."

John W. Hushen, a spokesman for the Justice Department, said later that Nixon and Haig had been apprised of details in the Agnew case only once, and were not being briefed on subsequent developments.

A member of Agnew's staff also said he had been getting indications of White House leaks but said he was sure any such leaks were not a plot designed to hurt the vice president.

In San Clemente, Calif., Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren called the reports of White House leaks "totally false."

Mekong Convoy Arrives

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The lead vessels of the first river convoy traveling without American air cover arrived in Phnom Penh at dusk today with badly needed fuel.

One freighter and a tanker pulled into the Phnom Penh port on the Mekong River, escorted by Cambodian air force T28 bombers and naval gunboats.

Port authorities said the freighter was hit by one rocket and slightly damaged. No casualties were reported.

For the second successive day, government forces were reported to have made advances in extending their positions in the Phnom Penh region.

Field reports said a government relief column spearheaded by armored vehicles linked up with besieged troops at a garrison at Trapeang Thnot village, 10 miles northwest of Phnom Penh.

The relief column of up to 1,000 troops had been stalled for two months by intense Khmer Rouge mortar fire and suffered heavy casualties during the operation.

In neighboring Thailand, withdrawal of 3,550 U.S. servicemen and 100 aircraft was announced by U.S. and Thai authorities as a first step in a U.S. military pullout from Thai bases.

The withdrawal will bring the number of U.S. troops in Thailand to less than 40,000. The U.S. now has some 600 aircraft at seven Thai bases.

The supply convoy reaching Phnom Penh had to travel 60 miles of river from the South Vietnamese border.

Scant Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supplies of corn and other feed grains are headed toward their lowest levels in 20 years, an Agriculture Department report shows.

The report, released Thursday, said that exports and domestic requirements together will consume all but 30 million tons of corn, sorghum, oats and barley by the time new harvests are ready in 1974. Department records show this would be the smallest stockpile since the reserve dipped to 27 million tons in 1963.

The diminishing surplus, along with high prices, strong export demand and other factors, said the report, "will probably cause a modest dip in the domestic use of corn."

The report was made by the department's Outlook and Situation Board.

Another report, this one on exports, showed that the nation's wheat reserve continued to diminish while exporters said they still had 1.11 billion bushels of wheat to be delivered overseas.

Some bakers and other users of grain have called for government curbs on wheat exports for the 1973-74 season. But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz contends such controls would endanger U.S. foreign market opportunities and would be harmful in the long run.

Most Families Said Actually 'Better Off'

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration economists say most Americans are better off financially than they think they are, despite inflation.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said Thursday the housewife may have "an exaggerated idea of the rate of inflation" because of what she sees in the supermarket.

"Inflation is a worldwide phenomenon and our position is relatively favorable," said John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council.

Dunlop and Stein were emphasizing points that the administration has been trying to make for months. They are:

—Inflation is much worse in most other major industrial countries than in the United States.

—Most Americans are beating inflation because their income is rising faster than prices.

Stein said real disposable income — income after taxes and taking inflation into account — has increased 5 per cent in the past year.

But Americans still think they're worse off, said Stein, and this has the administration worried.

"It is not good to have all of the people in the country unhappy," he told newsmen at a briefing.

One explanation Stein gave for what he termed this "important economic and social phenomenon" was that the increasing price of food gives an exaggerated idea of the rate of price increases overall.

In addition, he said that although income and employment both have been increasing, "income increases are commonly regarded as barely sufficient to keep pace with the recipient's just deserts, whereas price increases tend to be regarded as extortions which make a person worse off than he ought to be."

Stein did note that the rate of increase of real incomes has slowed this year and that average real weekly take-home pay of non-farm workers has been lower, because of an increase in social security payroll taxes.

Both Stein and Dunlop again declined to make predictions on the rate of inflation in the months ahead, although Stein forecast it would be "substantially below" the 8 per cent inflation so far this year.

In another economic development, the Cost of Living Council asked Atlantic Richfield Co. (ARCO) to send representatives to Washington Monday to explain recent price increases for wholesale gasoline and home heating oil.

One Vote For Willkie

OLD SAYBROOK, Conn. (AP) — Wendell L. Willkie has received another vote in his 1940 bid to defeat incumbent President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A 33-year-old Willkie vote, yellow with age, was found in an old ballot box in the Town Hall attic Wednesday by Barbara Maynard, Republican registrar.

It won't change the outcome. Even though Willkie's total is now 22,348,481, FDR still wins by about five million votes.

Letter Bomb Rips Office

LONDON (AP) — A letter bomb exploded on the 22nd floor of the London Stock Exchange today, wounding the secretary-general of the exchange and his private secretary.

They were the first casualties in the six-day wave of letter and incendiary bombs plaguing the British capital. Scotland Yard believes the bombers are terrorists from Northern Ireland and probably members of the Irish Republican Army.

The secretary-general of the stock exchange, 61-year-old George W.R. Brind, sustained minor hand wounds in the explosion. His 26-year-old secretary, Joanna Knight, who opened the booby-trapped letter, had serious hand injuries and minor facial and leg wounds.

Brind was sitting at his desk opposite Miss Knight when she opened the envelope addressed to George Loveday, the chairman of the stock exchange.

Ten letter bombs were received earlier this week by various government offices and organizations in London, and 15 small incendiary devices have been planted in leading department stores, causing slight damage.

Scotland Yard reported that one of the letter bombs was delivered to Prime Minister Edward Heath's office-residence and lay partially open in a mail tray for hours before a secretary realized its lethal contents.

Cigarette Ban Proposal Is Promptly Criticized

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two representatives of tobacco interests have spoken out against the chairman of the federal Consumer Product Safety Commission's statement that the agency will attempt to have cigarettes banned.

Rep. Wilmer Mizell, R-N.C., of North Carolina's Fifth District released a statement in which he said the effort announced by commission chairman Richard Simpson would not succeed.

"The Consumer Production Safety Commission's decision to make an unlawful attempt to impose a ban on cigarettes poses a threat to the economy of the Fifth District in North Carolina and it represents an audacious, bureaucratic, empire-building scheme," he added.

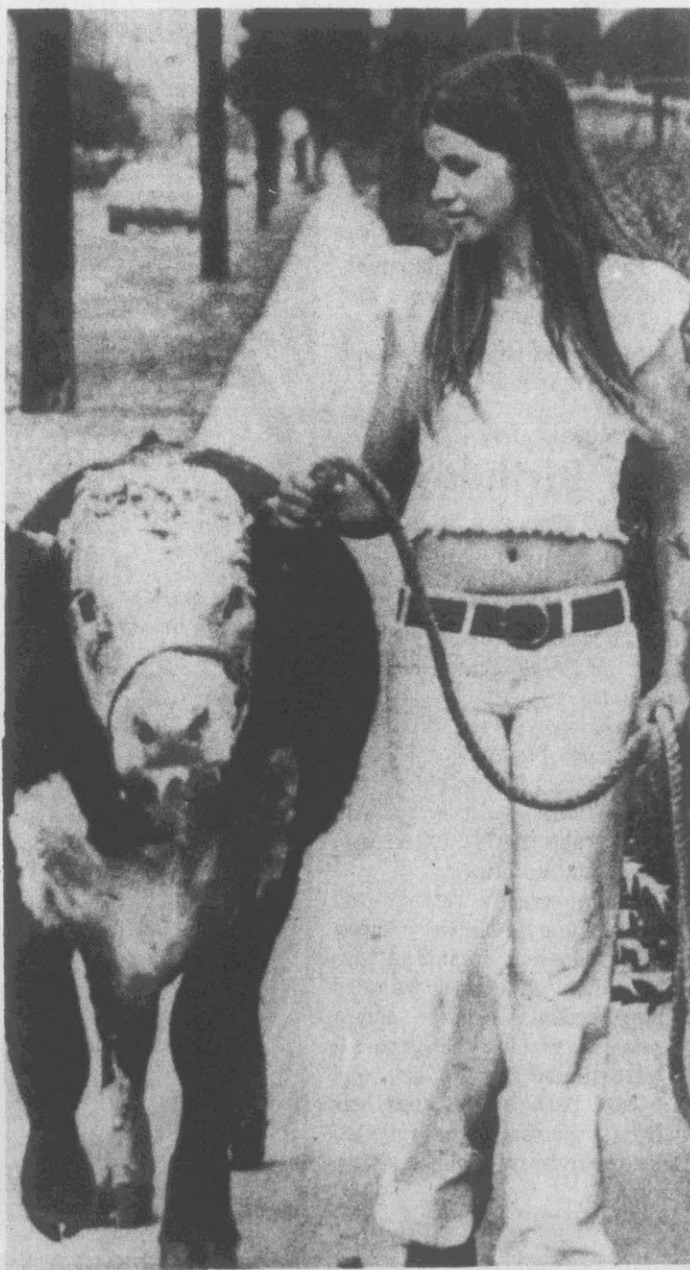

"The Consumer Production Safety Act that established this commission has a provision specifically excluding tobacco and tobacco products from the commission's range of authority."

Horace Kornegay, president of the Washington-based Tobacco Institute, Thursday agreed that the commission was to have no authority over tobacco products and termed Simpson's statement "sheer bureaucratic arrogation of power."

"For a man entrusted with broad regulatory powers, Mr. Simpson's public statement is unprecedented and in fact, incredible."

Kornegay's institute represents the nation's cigarette manufacturers. He said any attempt to apply the federal Hazardous Substances Act to cigarette smoking would be "wholly inconsistent" with the cigarette labeling and advertising legislation passed by Congress in 1965 and 1970.

Middle Belt Markets Will Open September 4

RALEIGH (AP)—All tobacco markets of the North Carolina Middle Belt will open their 1973 sales season Sept. 4 with a full complement of buyers.

This was decided Thursday night by the industrywide Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee. At the same time the committee declined to increase the poundage allocation to the belt for the first two weeks of sales. As a result, the 15 sets of buyers will be handling the leaf previously allocated for 7½ sets.

This means all 10 markets will be able to open Sept. 4 and the available sales opportunity will be distributed more equitably.

The committee decided to meet again following the Sept. 11 crop estimates to consider again whether the Middle Belt's sales allocation should be adjusted.

The additional buyers for the Middle Belt for the first two weeks of September were made possible by a change in schedule for the Georgia Florida Belt. That belt will shift its schedule for Labor Day week to next week and will reserve the first week in September for cleanup sales restricted to Georgia-Florida tobacco.

While arranging to assign more buyers to the Middle Belt for its first two weeks of sales, the committee declined to increase the belt's allocation of sales volume because many buyers expressed fear any increase in the volume of leaf sales would cause congestion in processing plants.

The committee gave the same reason for rejecting a request by the South Carolina Border North Carolina Belt for an additional 4.5 million pounds of sales allocation for next week.

Aberdeen, Louisburg and Sanford, all Middle Belt markets, had originally been scheduled to open Sept. 17, but they will now be permitted to open Sept. 4 along with the belt's other seven markets.

Group Tours Poultry Waste Lagoon

DISCUSS LAGOON. Studying the construction and operation of a poultry waste disposal lagoon in Carteret County are Roy Beck, Charles Whitaker, and several employees of the Pitt County Soil Conservation Service.

The Becton lagoon is the first of its kind in the southeastern United States. It is designed to use recirculated lagoon water that flushes dropping from long, smooth, flat-bottomed concrete flumes built under the caged layers.

The Bectons have 38,000 layers in three poultry houses. The purpose of the trip, according to Charles Whitaker of the Pitt SCS office, was to receive training in the construction, operation and maintenance of poultry lagoons.

Tax Rebate To Californians

By BILL STALL, Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Californians begin reaping a one-time tax bonanza Oct. 1, getting back a total of $721 million in state treasury surplus.

That figures out to nearly $35 for every man, woman and child in the state.

Gov. Ronald Reagan called it the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history when he signed the bill into law Thursday.

The reverse flow of taxes was made possible by an unexpected treasury surplus of $829 million built up over the past two years.

Reagan insisted the money be returned to the taxpayers rather than be spent on new programs. The tax rebate will take two forms.

First, the state sales tax will be rolled back by one penny on the dollar on Oct. 1 for six months. It had gone from five to six per cent in most of California July 1.

Next spring, the state's more than 6 million income tax payers are to get cuts ranging from 20 per cent to 100 per cent off their tax bills due April 15.

The Republican governor said Thursday he won the tax rebate over the opposition of "would-be big spenders" in the legislature.

Now, he said, the voters of the state have a "once-in-a-life-time" opportunity to cut their taxes permanently by approving his tax control program at a special state-wide referendum Nov. 6.

The surplus primarily was a result of welfare savings and an unexpected business upturn which poured more money into the treasury than anticipated, Reagan said.

Leaders of the Democratic-controlled legislature agreed with Reagan that the excess money should be turned back to the people, but they were stalemated with him for months over just how to do it.

The average family of four grossing $15,000 a year would get a tax break of $60, about a third of their full tax bill.

It will be the third major income tax rebate in Reagan's 6½ years in office, but there also have been three major tax increases.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace won't lack for company Saturday as he celebrates his 54th birthday.

His supporters are throwing a huge open house party at Garrett Coliseum, complete with gospel and country music groups and plenty of free barbecue and watermelon.

The governor's cabinet and staff had a preliminary party Thursday and presented him with their gifts which included a gold ring, a camera and a remote-controlled television set built specially for Wallace, who is still paralyzed in both legs from a gunshot wound inflicted last year by a would-be assassin.

By BROOKS JACKSON, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI committed burglaries to steal intelligence information from inside the embassies of foreign nations during the Johnson, Kennedy and Eisenhower administrations, former FBI officials say.

Published documents indicate the break-ins were aimed at getting code books and other cryptographic information.

Two former high FBI officials estimated Thursday that fewer than 10 such break-ins took place each year. One source said they went on for 15 to 20 years before being stopped in 1966.

Meanwhile the White House stuck to President Nixon's disputed assertion that FBI break-ins were authorized, widespread and well known during two Democratic administrations.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, speaking in San Clemente, Calif., refused to add any details. Other White House officials indicate Nixon personally ordered them to keep quiet about the matter.

Despite that, one Nixon aide said FBI break-ins were made in civil rights cases during the Kennedy and Johnson years, as well as in national security cases. He gave no other information.

The former FBI officials said the embassy break-ins differed from the Ellsberg burglary because the codes sought in them were of obvious intelligence value.

"According to FBI standards there is no way the Ellsberg job could be called a national security operation," one said.

It wasn't clear when the embassy break-ins began, or who first authorized them. Former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, who was boss of the Justice Department during Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration refused to comment.

Former Attys. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Nicholas Katzenbach denied knowledge of any authorized FBI break-ins during the Lyndon B. Johnson administration. Two close aides to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said they are positive he wasn't told of any such break-ins during the administration of his brother, John F. Kennedy.

Clark, however, said he occasionally heard of unauthorized break-ins by FBI agents. He said these were freelance jobs, undertaken against the department's policy, and unrelated to national security.

He said the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover did ask him several times, shortly after Clark took office in late 1966, for permission to burglarize a foreign mission in New York City to obtain information sought by another intelligence agency. Clark said he denied permission and didn't hear about such matters again.

Nixon's assertion about what took place in the Kennedy and Johnson years came at a news conference Wednesday in which he defended his short-lived approval of a 1970 intelligence plan that authorized burglaries against embassies and domestic radical groups such as the Black Panthers and Weathermen.

He said under Kennedy and Johnson "burglarizing of this type did take place...it was authorized on a very large scale...and it was quite well known."

Although wiretapping of foreign embassies has been an open secret for years, FBI didn't surface publicly until recent disclosures related to the 1971 attempt by White House agents to steal Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatric records.

Stevie Wonder Out Of Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Blind singer Stevie Wonder, who was injured in an auto crash two weeks ago, has been released from the hospital.

But a spokesman said the rock singer's appearance schedule has been canceled for several months.

Wonder, 23, suffered a brain bruise and extensive cuts more than two weeks ago in an auto accident in North Carolina while enroute to a concert in Durham.

Ira Tucker, the singer's personal aide, said there were no complications from the accident. Wonder left the hospital Thursday.

Holshouser To Be Bennett 'Manager'

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Jim Holshouser will serve as chairman of Thomas Bennett's campaign for the state chairmanship of the Republican Party.

Bennett, Morehead city attorney and former legislator, announced the appointment of the governor Thursday.

In accepting, Holshouser described Bennett as a "man who can unify our party for the crucial 1974 elections and bring sound fiscal management to our deeply indebted state headquarters."

Holshouser announced two weeks ago Bennett was his choice to succeed Frank Rouse who has not yet announced whether he will seek reelection.

Relations between Rouse and the governor have been cool since Rouse took a leave of absence from his party post last year to campaign for Holshouser's primary opponent, Jim Gardner of Rocky Mount.

Bennett also announced that cochairmen for his campaign would be Orville Coward of Sylva, J.E. Broyhill of Lenoir, Republican national committeeman; Worth Coltrane of Asheboro and Sam Stephenson of Angier. Coward, Coltrane and Stephenson supported Gardner in the 1972 primaries.

Not Yet Sufficient Evidence To Arrest

Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The investigation into an alleged conspiracy to kill President Nixon has failed to turn up enough evidence to make arrests, a local source close to the inquiry says.

Investigators could not piece together enough evidence to prosecute the six black militants who were being investigated, the source said.

Investigate A Break-In

The Pitt County Sheriff's Department is investigating a Wednesday night break-in at Trevathan's Store, Joyner's Crossroads, that resulted in the theft of some $587 in money and merchandise.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that the store owner, Fred Trevathan, reported that $170 in cash and $417 in assorted merchandise, including watches, radios, rods and reels, shotgun shells and beer, was stolen.

The sheriff, who noted that the incident was reported at 6:15 a.m. Thursday, said entrance was gained to the business through a rear door. He added that a section of the door was broken off and damage to the property was estimated at $100.

Investigation of the incident is continuing, he said.

Special Awards Given Operation Sunshine Girls On Thursday

Three girls enrolled in the Operation Sunshine summer program were given special recognition and awards Thursday following a morning party. Silver engraved medallions were presented by Mrs. Jim O'Brien, president of the Opti-Mrs. Club of Greenville, to Venetia Pruitt, from the eight to 10 year-old girls, and Belinda Teel, in the 11-13 age group.

The girls were named the most optimistic girls in the 1973 summer program, which ended yesterday, and were selected by the Operation Sunshine director and assistants on being the most cooperative, optimistic, helpful, responsible and other qualities. This was the second annual special recognition sponsored by the Opti-Mrs. Club.

Sunshine Director Miss Daphion Freeman recognized the most outstanding girls in the summer program, who were voted on by each girl enrolled in the summer program. She presented gifts to Dietra Bynum and again to Belinda Teel.

Members of the Opti-Mrs. Club entertained the girls at the party prior to the awards. Assisting in the serving the 32 girls were Mrs. Stuart Buchanan, club Operation Sunshine chairman, Mrs. C.P. Shaw, Mrs. Charles Ross, Mrs. O'Brien and Mrs. John Trotman.

The new schedule for the girls is scheduled to begin the first week in September and the new director will be Barbara Whitehead.

Plans for the Thursday morning awards presentation highlighted the Tuesday night meeting of the Opti-Mrs. Club held at the home of Mrs. Tracy Medlin.

Mrs. Stuart Buchanan told of party plans and presentation at the Operation Sunshine Center.

Mrs. Jim O'Brien, club president, announced that the state convention for Optimist and Opti-Mrs. members will be held in Charlotte at the Downtown East Sept. 13-15. Those planning to attend are Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Medlin, Mrs. C.P. Shaw and Mrs. Charles Ross.

Activities for the women on Friday will include a historical tour and executive board meeting. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday followed by a district board meeting from 9:30 until noon. Other activities will include an inaugural luncheon with Optimist members and banquet and governor's ball.

The local club's scrapbook will be entered in state competition in Charlotte.

New club officers will be installed during September.

A scrapbook workshop session concluded the meeting.

Toupee Covers Up Man She Loves

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am serious about a young man I've been dating for nearly a year. Since we've been dating he has been slowly losing his hair. He is far from bald, Abby. His hairline is receding a little, and he's getting a bit thin on top, but he certainly doesn't give the impression of being bald. I knew he was rather self-conscious about it, but I never realized how much until last evening when he showed up in a full toupee! I nearly fell over.

It is so full and unnatural looking it looks ridiculous. He thinks it looks great, and it has given him so much confidence, I hate to tell him the truth. But I want the old HIM back. What should I do?

MISSING HIM

DEAR MISSING: I don't care if a man wears a rug he can fly to Bagdad on, if HE thinks it looks great and it has restored his confidence, keep quiet. In time, you might suggest he have it "trimmed" a bit—or replaced with a more natural-looking one. But for the moment, don't undermine his confidence.

DEAR ABBY: Something bothers me. Whenever I clean out my closets and drawers I have a lot of clothes, shoes, purses, and lingerie I want to discard because I know I'll never wear them again, but I honestly don't know what to do with them. I hate to throw them away so I just pack them in boxes and store them in the attic. Most things are good as new. Some I hardly wore—they are "mistakes" I made by buying them.

I don't want to offer them to friends, relatives, or neighbors because I don't want them to think I think they are "in need." Don't recommend Goodwill or The Salvation Army. I want to give my things away on a more personal basis.

I'd like to hand them over to the people who can use them so I will feel that I have been personally charitable. Can you help me?

THINGS TO GIVE

DEAR THINGS: You don't say how old you are, or what size you are, but every church auxiliary is aware of "needy" families who could use whatever you have to give. [So is your local County Welfare Department.] Trust their judgment to give your things "directly" to needy people, and forego the satisfaction of personally handing it to one who is in need. [Accepting things can be humiliating.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Massey Sugg Sr. of Princeton, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in a formal gown of imported voile over crepe designed by Priscilla of Boston. The sleeveless gown was fashioned with an empire bodice, scooped neckline with a large bertha collar of Venise lace.

Her cathedral length veil of imported illusion was trimmed with Venise lace. She carried a cascade of white pom poms, carnations, gypsophila, stephanotis and centered with a yellow-throated orchid. She wore an antique gold and diamond necklace belonging to her paternal grandmother.

One Hardship Case Is No More

A big load was lifted from the collective mind of America last week. We hope you read about it, too. To summarize: there is this North Dakota wheat farmer (a 600-acre spread, no less) who isn't marketing any more grain despite the prices he gets are way out of sight. The reason? Well, at those prices he would be moving into a tax bracket that would "ruin" him. He has a problem! We're told others face the same problem. For news editors it's a nice feeling to come to work on any weekday and learn the hardship plight of at least one segment of American society has been eased. (One less worry for all of us.) Wonder if he has a real problem avoiding that higher tax bracket? Wonder what it would be like to have to live with such a problem? Wonder if it's we who have a problem, and not him? Worry, worry, worry.

Zoning Is But One Prospect

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — "Land use programs are much more than old-time zoning," Gov. Jim Holshouser said as he announced creation of a State Land Policy Council. He labeled the state's move into land management an important crossroads for the state, and added that the options were these: "We can stand still and allow growth, industrialization and urbanization to continue helterskelter without regard to the demands they place on our land and our total environment. We need only to look at some of the other states to see the potentially tragic consequences of such a course. "We can make a 180-degree turn and say that we are going to bring all growth to a screeching halt. But that would be... foolish... and unrealistic. "Or, we can move forward with sound and sensible land use planning..." he said.

Legislature is Ronald F. Scott, former city planner in Greensboro and now the state's chief planning officer. Zoning Falls Scott said the chief goal is to overcome problems in areas where little or no local zoning or planning has been done. Only six of the state's 100 counties have countywide planning. Additionally, the program would overcome the shortcomings of simple zoning, which, he said, traditionally only preserves the existing land uses in a community. The object is to look ahead at means of controlling future growth and change in an orderly way.

Land across the state would be put into four simple categories, based on the level of public services in each, Scott said. When he talks about public services, he sweeps a hand around the room indicating a whole scope of complexities, then rapidly rells off some of them: schools, hospitals, streets, fire stations, policemen, street lights, garbage service, water and sewer—all of those things, in short, which make up an urban system.

Four Categories Thus, the categories for land are: 1. Urban, with a concentration of people and services.

2. Rural, with a low density of population and a lack of concentrated public and private investments, and the land being productive in some fashion.

3. Developing urban, areas in the process of change to urban; in a state of flux and activity and in which major public investments are being made.

4. Holding or Protected land where no use is being made of the land and few people live — this includes park areas, timberland or conservation areas even though in private ownership, isolated land and especially "areas of particular concern" such as seashores, marshlands, mountain areas, rock outcroppings or other particular places of natural beauty or unusual values.

From this framework would emerge a county land use plan, designating all property in the county in one of the four categories. The most critical, of course, would be developing urban land. The county plan would have to define such property and say when and where public services would be provided for the developing urban area. And only in that area and under new rules could development take place, providing, Scott, said, "a process of management such as we have never had."

Time To Again Stress Pedestrian's Safety

Area schools are now opening and it is a time for all motorists to think again about pedestrian safety. Thousands of school children will be moving to and from their schools on city streets and rural roads for the next nine months. School buses will be loading and unloading throughout the area. A little extra caution while driving may save a death or injury and a lot of anguish for all concerned. At this time of the year motorists should be especially watchful for school children on foot and on bicycles.

Slow Start In Counterattack

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
NEW ORLEANS—Portraying not the self-confidence of a President convinced of his own rectitude, Richard M. Nixon launched a counterattack here on his legion of political enemies that even in the pro-Nixon bastion of the Veterans of Foreign Wars fell short of the mark with a sometimes painful thud. "You noticed," a delegate to the VFW national convention lectured us later, "that no one here booed the President. That's why he comes to places like this, because he knows he will get a polite reception."

"Polite" was the right word: a thoroughly decent, unenthusiastic response to an uninspired speech that some of the President's own advisers felt did nothing to ease his agony with enemies or consolidate the loyalty of friends. Yet, as an attempt to rally the waning Nixon constituency the speech here was an important one that placed Mr. Nixon squarely on the political offensive for the first time in months.

The President's first strictly post-Watergate political foray to restore the activist presidency that gave him a near record landslide election nearly ten months ago was tarnished by an unfortunate incident even before it was launched. Thus, Mr. Nixon, for whom applause of huge crowds is singularly important as a political tonic, was denied those crowds here by a security scare. The Secret Service not only cancelled what looked like a promising motorcade through crowded sections of the city but also disbanded a mass of voters at the Rivergate Auditorium where he spoke.

Lacking the exhilarating crowd tonic, Mr. Nixon arrived on the stage at the Rivergate visibly nervous, unprofessional and trying too hard. He was escorted to his seat on the stage and took it quietly, with a shy wave to the packed throng of veterans. But suddenly, as though realizing an omission, he rushed to the podium, raising his arms three times in the familiar V for victory gesture. The move was that of a campaigner seeking applause and running for office, and the speech which followed it was likewise a speech of a candidate, not that of a secure possessor of the world's mightiest office. To get on solid post-Watergate grounds, charging that Democratic administrations had plunged the country into bloody war and he had gotten it out, Mr. Nixon attempted to recreate the political atmosphere of 1968 and 1969. The veterans here found the transition difficult to follow. As a result, Mr. Nixon was forced again and again to milk his crowd for applause.

He claimed that "thousands" of Americans were being killed every month in the war when he became President but that, because of his boldness in using American bombers and mine layers, he compelled the enemy to negotiate a fair settlement and now the war was over. It sounded like the 1972 campaign, and the applause seemed only an echo from last fall.

So Mr. Nixon milked harder. If he had to face a fresh decision now, he said, he would bomb the Cambodian border regions all over again just as he did in 1969. Again, the applause rolled over him, partly because his sympathetic audience knew he was asking for it. But there was no ovation.

Moreover, this attempt to recreate a political atmosphere in which Richard Nixon in fact acted strongly and wisely more than four years ago was spectacularly out of context with his present predicament. The Cambodian bombing has not become a truly major political issue, despite efforts of the antiwar bloc in Congress to make it one. Yet, it was the central theme of Mr. Nixon's speech.

The reason seems obvious. The Watergate-shrunk base of the new Nixon majority must be dramatically expanded if the President ever again is to wield real authority. To do that, he must start with natural allies like the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other special-interest groups with limited numbers. Judging from his effort here, the mission the President launched to expand his base may prove impossible. As one VFW delegate summed it up, his speech "fits everything we stand for in the VFW, but I (Continued on Page 6)

A Computer Knows All

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — Somewhere in this great land of ours there is a computer stashed full of information on you. Whenever you want a bank loan, a credit card or a job, this computer will, in a matter of seconds, give some total stranger almost every detail of your life.

Unfortunately for most of us, the computer is unable to discriminate between fact and malicious gossip, and once the information is fed into it, it stays there forever.

The other day I was considering going into a car pool with three other men, Hicks, Kroll and Anderson. I have known these men casually for years, but when you join a car pool you really want to know what they're like.

So I asked a friend of mine in the retail credit business if I could use his computer for a few hours.

He agreed, and I sent down there and typed out: WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT, HICKS, AL, WHO LIVES AT 43 LOVER'S LEAP TERRACE?

The computer started chattering: HICKS, AL, BORN OCT. 23, 1925, BOTTLE-FED; BED-WETTER

UNTIL 7 YEARS OLD. I typed back: FORGET ABOUT CHILDHOOD AND GIVE ME SOME OTHER FACTS.

The computer replied: HICKS HAS A DOMINEERING WIFE WHO THE WHOLE WORLD IS SWEET AS MAPLE SYRUP. WHENEVER SHE GETS MAD AT HIM HE STARTS BITING HIS NAILS.

I typed back: I'M NOT INTERESTED IN THAT. WHAT'S THE CONDITION OF HIS CAR?

The computer paused for a few seconds and then tapped out: HICKS OWNS 1957 BUICK CONVERTIBLE FOR WHICH HE IS STILL PAYING $80 A MONTH. IT HAS BEEN IN THE GARAGE 33 TIMES AND HAS COST HIM $1,500 IN REPAIRS. TWO OF THE SPRINGS IN THE BACK SEAT ARE BROKEN AND HE NEEDS NEW SNOW TIRES. HE HAS THE CAR WASHED ONCE A MONTH. It added: HICKS NEVER CHEATS ON HIS WIFE, THOUGH HE THINKS ABOUT IT A LOT.

THAT'S ENOUGH, I told the computer, NOW GIVE ME A RUNDOWN ON KROLL, H. G. WHO LIVES AT 1 LION'S DEN CIRCLE. The tapes in the computer started turning furiously and finally stopped. The teletype began to chatter KROLL, H. G., HAD STRONG MOTHER WHO DRESSED HIM IN SILK SUITS UNTIL HE WAS 13 YEARS OLD.

GET ON WITH IT, I typed impatiently.

HE OWNS 1970 FOUR-DOOR MERCURY SEDAN WHICH HAS SPECIAL SILK SEAT COVERS. LIKES TO DRESS UP IN HIS WIFE'S CLOTHES WHEN CHILDREN ARE AT CAMP. THAT'S ENOUGH, I typed angrily. WHAT ABOUT ANDERSON, E. L., 198 DOVER CLIFFS?

Legend Defies Change

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 29 years after his death, the name and fame of bandleader Glenn Miller remain greatly alive, a musical legend that defies the changing years.

HAL BOYLE

The orchestra he founded in 1937 still bears his name and is still at the forefront of America's few big dance bands.

It had become the most popular organization of its kind when Glenn, a trombonist, put down his baton to take up another as a captain in the U.S. Army. Promoted to major, he was reported missing on a routine flight over the English Channel on Dec. 15, 1944. Neither the plane nor his body were ever found.

Although the United States is a hurry-up country with its attention on the future, not the past, nostalgia often finds a ready cash register here. So it has turned out with the Glenn Miller story. The fans still wanted his music.

Revised by the musician's estate after the close of World War II, the Glenn Miller Orchestra slowly worked its way back to the top.

In its third postwar director, Buddy DeFranco, the band has found a talent which rivals that of the founder himself. Tall, blue-eyed and friendly, Buddy started playing at the age of 9, and for 15 years has been many times rated in musicians' polls as the No. 1 clarinetist in the nation.

"I only met Glenn briefly," he recalled during a break at the St. Regis Roof, where the band is concluding a successful engagement. "He was quite strict, but always a gentleman."

Explaining the band's enduring appeal, DeFranco said:

"Few bands really have their own identifying sounds. Among those that do are Herb Alpert's, Duke Ellington's, Count Basie's and Guy Lombardo's. Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw and Tommy Dorsey were more soloists.

"Miller was never a soloist. He was a skilled orchestrator and devised the new sound that made his band famous. It is a reed sound, based around the clarinet and four saxes. It is more than merely nostalgic. It is a romantic sound, and therefore has a fresh appeal to each generation."

The band still has 18 members, as in Miller's day, the same theme song, "Moonlight Serenade," and about 75 per cent of its members is the music Miller played, including such hits as "In the Mood," "String of Pearls," "A Serenade in Blue," and "Tuxedo Junction."

"But we play a lot of the new stuff, too, just as Glenn would if he were still here. You have to. We now appeal to the young fans as well as the 40 and up group."

Quote

"There is only one way to get ready for immortality, and that is to love this life and live it as gravely and faithfully and cheerfully as we can." — Henry Van Dyke.

Strength For Today

THE LONG LOOK
Someone has said that the thing which embitters all loss deepens sorrow is the feeling that the world is all and that nothing lies beyond the grave. If we cannot look beyond the grave for the final adjustment of life's difficulties and the righting of all wrongs, then we are hopeless indeed.

Fortunately the Christian has resources with which to combat such an attitude. Although he will strive for justice here on earth he will not feel crushed if his efforts appear temporarily to be unavailing because he knows that there is a future in which God's will prevails. Loss we shall have, and sorrow. Just as God makes the sun to shine upon the good and upon the evil, and sends his rain upon the just and the unjust, so does he permit failure as well as achievement to be the lot of the saint as it is so often the lot of the sinner.

In order to see the final triumph of the good we need take the long look and bring eternity into the focus of our vision.

Building A Pollution-Free Mill

ROTHERHAM, England (AP) — Britain's state-owned steel corporation is building this country's first pollution-free steel mill, a plant designed to erase the grimy and noisy image of heavy industry.

The $67.5 million mill has been specially designed to eliminate air and water pollution and to minimize noise in the River Don Valley of Yorkshire.

The British Steel Corp.—BSC—boasts it will be as technically advanced as any in Europe. It will be built to specifications laid out by Lord Melchett, the BSC head until his death in June and a strong advocate of environment protection.

Preparation of the mill site, near Rotherham in northern England, started in May. Production is expected to begin in mid-1975, with the mill producing 400,000 metric tons of high quality steel bars annually by 1977.

The mill will be part of British Steel's Aldwarke and Roundwood steel-making complex. It will be known as the Thrybergh Bar Mill.

Close attention has been paid by its designers to eradicating pollution from the production process.

A BSC spokesman said: "As far as air pollution is concerned, the crucial stage of the operation, which is the reheating furnace, will use a low sulfur fuel.

"This will result in no visible emission and the stack height will be so arranged to ensure effective dispersal and negligible contamination of the atmosphere."

The plant will take its water supply from the Don. The spokesman said: "Steps have been taken to ensure the water, used for cooling, will probably be cleaner when it is put back into the river than it was when we removed it."

He added: "The main problem comes toward the end of production when the finished bars are rattling about. We are doing as much as possible to damp this down."

The mill is being built on ground only half a mile from the village of Thrybergh which lies on the main Rotherham to Doncaster road.

A natural incline will hide most of the plant from view but additional landscaping is being included in the project to ensure that mill buildings do not interfere with the visual surroundings.

Police Reminding Motorists To Drive With Special Care

Colorful "School's Open" posters are being displayed throughout Greenville this week as the Greenville Police Department begins its annual drive to alert motorists to drive with extra care in school areas and near school buses when the city's schools open for another year Tuesday. Citing national figures, Chief Glenn Cannon said that each year, some 500 school children—ranging in age from 5 to 14—are killed and nearly 11,000 are injured as they travel to and from school.

High, cutting the ribbon is Karen Hathaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hathaway, and Charles Burnette, manager and vice-president of the Greenville branches. There are two branches in Greenville and a total of 68 in North Carolina with the home office in Jacksonville. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Kindergarten and first grade youngsters suffer the greatest number of school-route pedestrian injuries, Chief Cannon explained. The police official suggested that in an effort to impress safety on school aged pedestrians, parents of younger children walk with them to school at least on the opening day to make certain that the youngsters take the safest route to school.

Chief Cannon urged parents who live near area schools to avoid driving their children to school, but rather allow them to walk. He said for persons living near schools to drive their children only adds to the traffic confusion around school areas, thus creating extra hazards for all youngsters. The chief also cautioned parents of children riding bicycles to make certain their youngsters know the rules for safe bicycle operation. And he cautioned bicycle riders to be especially watchful for cars and avoid riding into a street until stopping and being sure the way is clear.

The official, too, emphasized that drivers have a great responsibility as pedestrians and bicycle riders in helping prevent accidents. He said motorists should be watchful, slowing for pedestrians and bicycle riders and be expecting the children to dart or turn their bicycles in front of their oncoming vehicle.

New Pastor Is Announced

The Rev. Forrest Lefon Daniels Sr. has been named pastor of the St. Paul Pentecostal Holiness Church, located on the Washington Highway.

Born and educated in South Carolina, the Rev. Daniels was reared in the Southern Baptist Church. A few years after active service in World War II, he returned to licensed to preach in the Pentecostal Holiness Church in 1951. He has served churches in Roberson, Cumberland, Sampson and Wayne Counties.

He is married to the former Marie Elkins of Lexington and they have five children, Forrest L. Jr. of Clinton, Larry Blaine of Goldsboro, Orlando Joe of Mt. Olive, William C. of Greenville and Nancy Jean of the home. Another son, James Richard, died in action in Vietnam.

The new minister came to the local church from the Thunder Swamp Pentecostal Holiness Church, Mt. Olive, where he served as president of the Mt. Olive Ministerial Association for the last two years. He was also a pastoral counselor at the Brogden Junior High School.

Under the Rev. Daniels' leadership, the St. Paul Church has established a program to include a children's church and will eventually include an extensive bus ministry.

Fla. Holiday Call For Large Youth Turnout

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Auto dealer John Koons of Falls Church, Va., says he's going to close down and take a Labor Day Weekend holiday in Florida with all his employees. Koons has reserved rooms at an oceanside hotel here as part of the three-day, all-expense paid trip for his workers and their families—about 350 persons.

Koons said Thursday he has also chartered two DC10s to fly his party down and will give each person money for meals and sightseeing.

He financed a similar trip to Fort Lauderdale last year and another to San Juan, Puerto Rico, in 1971.

As part of a weekend of fun, his guests will be treated to a dinner party aboard the "Paddle Wheel Queen."

Koons, who says he heads one of the largest Ford dealerships in the United States, estimates his bill will be about $85,000.

"Nothing is more important than having happy people working with you," said Koons.

Novelist Avers 'Neither Serf Nor A Slave'

MOSCOW (AP) — Nobel Prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn, protesting the denial of a permit to live in Moscow, has told the Soviet Internal Affairs Ministry he is neither "a serf nor a slave" and "not even the highest leaders have ownership rights over me or my family."

The novelist, whose works are banned here, has been living in a country house outside Moscow. Soviet authorities maintain strict controls over who can live in large cities like Moscow.

"How striking is the lack of rights of millions to choose a place of residence and a way of making their living even within the border of their own country," Solzhenitsyn said in a letter to the minister of internal affairs.

A copy of the letter, dated Aug. 21, was made available to newsmen on Thursday.

BENTON, Tenn. (AP)—Plans for a mammoth rock music festival on a 500 acre farm near here have been abandoned but the promoters have called on the nation's youth to descend on Southeast Tennessee Labor Day weekend anyway.

And state Safety Commissioner Claude Armour, upon hearing of the promoters' plans to hold a free festival on another site, vowed that state officials "are going to protect life and property anywhere in Tennessee."

A spokesman for C. C. Manifest, Inc., the Evansville, Ind., promoter behind the "Midwest Monster Peace Jubilee and Music Festival," announced that the event had been cancelled Thursday afternoon only hours after a state judge signed a temporary injunction against it.

Instead, Jack Garland of Chattanooga said, there will be a free concert that weekend at a site to be named Aug. 31.

Garland, Manifest's national press director, speaking from the federal courthouse steps in Chattanooga, bitterly assailed Tennessee officials and the courts for their role in stopping the festival.

"I know now that justice in Tennessee is only for those who dress and wear their hair in a manner suitable to those who have been corrupted by power," he declared.

"We issue an appeal to the youth of America to support this festival by converging upon this area on Labor Day weekend in massive droves in order that we as an entire generation might demonstrate to the people of America that there is and shall be freedom of enterprise in this country..."

In announcing the free music festival, Garland would say only that the new site would be in Southeast Tennessee. He did not say who the entertainers would be.

"The site will be named Freedom Valley, America," he said, adding that any audience donations would go for a crippled children's hospital.

The injunction against the festival was issued Thursday morning, climaxing three weeks of legal wrangling and often bitter conflict between the promoters and county and state officials.

When Bob Alexander, who has been described variously as an official of the promotion firm and as a consultant, first arrived in Benton to begin arrangements, county officials were virtually unanimous in their opposition.

Alexander had announced that the festival would be held on the 1,200 acre cattle farm of County Judge Dennis White who left last week for a two-week cattleman's good will tour of Europe.

Plan Buses For Crusade

Several laymen and ministers are making plans to arrange for several buses to go from Greenville to attend the Billy Graham Crusade in Raleigh next month.

The Graham Crusade will be in Raleigh September 23-30 at Carter Stadium.

Fred Brooks, professor of computer science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, is general chairman of the crusade. He will be in Greenville Aug. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church to help in the planning and organization for a large number of people to attend from this area.

A few churches have already pledged their buses for the trip. Also, the cost of providing commercial buses is being investigated.

All ministers and interested laymen should plan to attend the meeting at Jarvis Memorial.

Not Far From Main Street

Just for a minute, think about the local places you have loved . . . the old swimming hole, the town park, the walk by the river, the view from the hill—your church! Life would be so much less without them; yet we tend to take them for granted.

What a beautiful world God has created for us! How much He must love us to have given us shaded valleys and sparkling waters! He planned for us the constant variety of the changing seasons. For our enjoyment, He made trees and grasses, flowers and fruits. Before such miraculous inventiveness, science stands baffled and incredulous.

It is obvious that behind all creation there is a power greater than we, a power constantly concerned with man's development. In the church of your choice you will find the opportunity to give thanks for the gifts of creation. Here, too, you will learn to understand better the complexities of our world. You will find a faith that will sustain you throughout life.

Trident Sub Base Has Proponents, Opponents In The Neighborhood

By GRANT FJERMEDAL
Associated Press Writer
BANGOR, Wash. (AP) — Each morning Mrs. Ernie McDonald walks down the front path to her mailbox to see if her neighbor, the Navy, has written about its plans. From her yard you can see the tightly knit Hood Canal pioneer community from the Navy's Bangor Annex — the proposed site of the Trident submarine base. The Navy wants to extend its base by as much as 150 acres, which would take in Bangor, to provide a safety zone around the home of the proposed fleet of 10 Trident submarines. The 10 nuclear vessels are designed to be larger, faster and quieter than the present Polaris submarines. The firing range of the Trident is said to be more than twice the 2,500-mile range of the Poseidon-equipped Polaris. But Mrs. McDonald and her neighbors are little impressed. To them it means losing their homes. The spirited woman leans on a cane, squints into the sun, and points across the road where two giant cedars frame a horseshoe inlet beneath the towering Olympic Mountains. "Where would I find a place like this? Look at the view: the mountains, the canal, salt water. You know, when they take things from you..." But most of the organized protest, the petitions, forums, leaflets and threatened lawsuits, have come from groups across Puget Sound in Seattle. With the exception of the Hood Canal Environmental Council and Bangor residents, most people on the Kitsap Peninsula seem to favor construction of the base, which must still win congressional approval. Military installations are not new here. About eight miles south of Bangor is Bremerton, site of the huge Puget Sound Naval Shipyard. Construction of the Trident facility is expected to begin in late summer 1974, and take four or five years. Cmdr. Jerry

Dunn, deputy officer in charge of constructing the base, said the target date for arrival of the first submarine is 1978. Dunn says about 3,000 civilians and an equal number of military personnel will be employed when the base is completed. The total payroll will be about $90 million per year. The area population is expected to jump 18,000 and land developers and area businessmen already are getting prepared. Gene Lobe, chairman of the Kitsap Board of County Commissioners, said, "we will have orderly growth and I feel confident that the environment we so enjoy here will be protected." The Hood Canal Environmental Council, which draws most of its 400 members from families living on the canal, outside of Bremerton, is taking a wait-and-see attitude as the environmental impact statement is being prepared. But across the bay in Seattle reaction is open. Ed Straffin of Action Committee Against Trident terms the project "a clear escalation of the arms race." Richard P. Nelson, a former nuclear energy researcher, says, "The Navy has not said what would happen if a vessel sunk with missiles and a large reactor. What I would like to see discussed publicly by the Navy are questions like, 'What are the risks of moving a submarine missile system in and out of Bangor?'" In June, delegates to the United Presbyterian Church Synod of Alaska Northwest met in Seattle and voted 52 to 37 to oppose the project. And the Fellowship of Reconciliation has begun a petition drive to eliminate the project. Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, chief of naval operations, has told Congress he thinks the Soviet Union would achieve first strike nuclear attack capability against the United States if it canceled the $13.5 billion project. However, even some high-placed Navy officials reportedly have argued that the cost of 10 Tridents is too high, and that only four should be built. Others have argued that sufficient deterrent already exists within Polaris-Poseidon and other programs. In Washington, D.C., the program still faces what could be a tough road to congressional approval, especially in the Senate, where opposition to new weapons systems and military procurement policies in general has been strong in recent years. Meanwhile, while bumper stickers are readied in Seattle and land values rise in Bremerton, the people of Bangor, who could lose their homes, wait for word.

A Baby-Selling Custom Persists

By ROBERT SLATER
JERUSALEM (UPI) — Mordechai Bar-Hassad glanced at his infant son, who was crying softly on a table in the midst of noisy friends and relatives. Soon, a centuries-old ritual of prayers and chants would begin and the Libyan-born father would sell his newborn child to a neighbor. Little money would be exchanged, for the sale is symbolic. In fact, the sale is canceled when the child reaches the age of 13 and returns home. Bar-Hassad's previous two babies died shortly after their birth. Now, according to ancient custom, he believes the sale will assure his new son's survival. The sale is one of hundreds of ethnic medical customs still being practiced in Israel by thousands of Jews, mostly from African and Asian countries, who cling to the ways of folk medicine even when trained modern physicians are available just by picking up the telephone. Keep Old Customs "We are finding that the North Africans and other Orientals in Israel who have turned to modern-day doctors still follow their ancient customs," said Dr. Issachar Ben-Ami, a folklore researcher. "The likelihood is that eventually most of them will forget about going to the doctor while keeping up their old customs." Dr. Ben-Ami, chairman of the Hebrew University's department of folklore, is midway through a five-year research project of collecting folk medicine customs of the peoples who have immigrated to Israel. Among his most exotic finds: —The Moroccan belief that a knife-wielding man who cries out a friend's name three times and receives a response from him will prevent the friend's wife from conceiving children. —The Iraqi belief that eating onions twice a day is a cure for cancer. —The North African conviction that the ruda plant carries in its small, green leaves a curative for practically any illness. Dr. Ben-Ami has discovered that large numbers of new immigrants from North Africa are putting their faith in the magic incantations and amulets of unlicensed "healers." "Israeli doctors I've talked to are concerned about this," explained the 38-year-old native of Morocco, "because the healers may be credited with expunging an illness that was purely psychosomatic. So the patient's confidence in the healers is strengthened for no good reason."

Anti-Hijack Hunt Turns Up Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of weapons detected at the nation's air terminals jumped 140 per cent during the second quarter of this year over the first three months, Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., said today. He said a Federal Aviation Agency security report shows that detection of explosives increased from 30 to 181; knives increased from 2,430 to 5,022, and other dangerous weapons increased from 1,952 to 6,235. The only decrease was in firearms, which fell from 504 to 390, he said. The Federal Aviation Administration confirmed the increases and said changes in its procedure were partially responsible. An FAA spokesman said the agency had defined "more closely what items could possibly be used as weapons." For example, firecrackers now are considered as explosives, he said, while ice picks, straight razors and spear guns are considered as weapons under the "other" category. The spokesman said another factor contributing to the increase was that the persons doing the searching are becoming more experienced. He said that when Congress reconvenes after the August recess he will introduce legislation calling for creation of a federal airport security force.

Produce Shoes For The Needy

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — A training session at a local shoe factory has produced 12,000 pairs of shoes for needy children. The shoes were manufactured under a state financed program conducted by the Greenbrier county school board and a shoe company. Under state law, the shoes can't be sold. Alvin Porterfield, county vocational director, said the shoes would be distributed to county boards of education throughout West Virginia.

Cattails are an excellent food source, containing about 46 per cent starch and 11 per cent sugar; the white inner portion of the root can be eaten raw or boiled.

Urges Helping The 'High Risks'

RALEIGH (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner John Ingram wants North Carolina's Reinsurance Facility to consider raising the amount of insurance available for high risk drivers.

The reinsurance law enacted by the 1973 General Assembly authorized insurance up to $300,000 for a single accident if a "substantial public demand" warranted it.

Ingram said in a statement Thursday that "some evidence indicates there may be a substantial public demand for these increased limits of coverage."

Will Ask State To Buy Up Jockey's Ridge

NAGS HEAD, N.C.(AP)—Residents of the Outer Banks will ask the state Monday to buy the largest coastal sand dune in the United States, Jockey's Ridge near Nags head, to save it from residential development and from possible erosion.

A leader in a petition effort, W.G. Baum, says the dune, which provides views of the coast, the sea and Outer Banks islands, should be preserved as a shrine.

Petitions signed by more than 3,000 residents of the Outer Banks, visitors and tourists, will be presented to the state Department of Conservation and Development during a meeting of the C&D Board in Elizabeth City on Monday.

Speech Delayed By Bomb Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A speech by Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz to a meeting of the American Bankers Association was postponed today after a bomb threat was received at the hotel where Shultz was to speak.

A spokesman for Shultz said that the hotel received a call saying that a bomb would explode about 9:30 a.m. Shultz was scheduled to begin speaking at 8:30 a.m.

Police found no bomb, the spokesman said, but Shultz was advised by the Secret Service against speaking and the speech was rescheduled for later in the day.

Allocation To Local Agencies

RALEIGH (AP)—An allocation of $1.9 million was made Thursday by the Governor's Coordinating Council on Aging to help local agencies across the state to provide free meals for the elderly.

With non-federal funds to be added locally, the amount available for the free food program will be $2.2 million. Robert Q. Beard, executive director of the council, said the goal for the program is 4,350 hot meals per day, five days a week.

Rep. Green Is Visitor

Rep. Jimmy Green, considered a candidate for Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, met here this morning with Dr. Wallace Wooldes, Dean of the East Carolina School of Medicine.

Wooldes said Green did not commit himself on the ECU Medical School.

"I admire Rep. Green's being interested enough in what he thinks will be a major issue in the General Assembly to come down and see for himself," Dr. Wooldes said. "He's from Bladen County and knows very well the need for more doctors in North Carolina, particularly in the non-urban areas. He came here to talk about the need, about the immediate cost and the commitment of the people to continue such a school, and what such a school could do for the betterment of health care in North Carolina. I hope many of the other legislators will do as Rep. Green has done before the General Assembly meets in January."

No Injuries In Accidents

Some $780 in damages resulted from two traffic accidents investigated in the city Thursday by Greenville Police.

Officers charged William Burt Bartel of P. O. Box 32, Swan Quarter, with failing to stop for a stop light following a 10:10 p.m. accident last night at the intersection of E. Tenth Street and Greenville Boulevard.

Involved were cars driven by Bartel and Shirley Bradshaw Stocks of 301 Line Avenue, according to police. Damage was set at $275 to the Bartel car and $175 to the Stocks vehicle while no injuries were reported.

No charges were preferred following a 12:03 p.m. wreck yesterday on Chestnut Street just east from Memorial Drive. Officers said that the accident involved cars driven by Robert James Walters of 1800 Rosewood Drive and Lamuel Barnhill Garris of Rt. 5, Greenville.

No injuries were reported and damage was set at $180 to the Walters car and $150 to the car driven by Garris.

Lottery Set Today For 'Urban Homesteaders'

By PAUL CARPENTER
Associated Press Writer
WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — About 40 urban homesteaders lined up here today, not for a land rush but for a lottery in which they hoped to win ramshackle houses.

The city provides the houses. The winners must repair them to meet the city code within 18 months and live in them for three years. Then they will be given title to the homes.

Mayor Thomas Maloney was to draw the names of winners of the first 10 houses in the program at noon.

"A lot of people think it's the craziest idea in the world," Maloney said. But many other cities may try it.

The idea is to save decaying city residential areas with the labor of residents.

The city hopes to provide about 40 free homes per year. Another lottery is scheduled this fall.

Wilmington's program is patterned at least in part after one in Philadelphia. That program was first proposed in 1968. It is still not quite ready for use.

Dozens of other cities across the country have contacted officials in Philadelphia and Wilmington for information on the concept.

Low Grades And Damaged Leaf Stood Out

FARMVILLE—Offerings on the Farmville Tobacco Market yesterday consisted of more low grades and damaged tobacco than on any previous day this season.

According to Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville market, nondescript primings and lugs accounted for most of the volume.

Fewer cutter grades were on the warehouse floor yesterday than on Wednesday. These grades showed a sharp increase in volume while other grades declined.

The market sold 281,046 pounds of leaf for $240,373, giving an average of 85.53 per hundred pounds. To date, the market has sold 3,246,920 pounds of leaf for a season average of $85.30 per hundred pounds.

Maloney says it is a natural solution for Wilmington, and the 31-year-old mayor made it a big campaign issue in last year's election.

"We had 2,000 boarded-up houses," he said. "It was an unbelievable situation."

Legislation was introduced in May, with city housing coorinator Edward Gulczynski in charge of the program.

Gulczynski pictures the typical applicant as a middle-income family man, and "in almost all the cases, the man has worked in the building trades."

"It's not restricted at all to low-income people. The average income is about $700 a month," Gulczynski said.

Tight Market For Newsprint

MONTREAL (AP) — Bad weather in forest lands, heavy worldwide demand and strikes at Canadian mills have combined to create newsprint shortages in Canada and the United States. Newspapers in both countries are conserving supplies.

Spokesmen for the Canadian industry say the tight world market for newsprint will probably continue for three or four years. And Canadian union officials say the strikes could spread if there is no major settlement soon.

One Step To Parole Goal

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Carl Ann Fugate, who traveled with Charles Starkweather in a 1968 murder spree in which 11 persons died, cleared a hurdle today that could lead to her parole.

The three-member state parole board on a majority vote recommended to the state pardon board that it commute her sentence to a definite term of years, a necessary preliminary to parole.

She was 14 when she accompanied Starkweather, who died in the electric chair in 1959 for the string of murders in Nebraska and Wyoming. Starkweather, then 19, was her boyfriend.

Miss Fugate, now 30, was sentenced at age 15 to a life term for one count of first-degree murder.

She is currently imprisoned at the York Women's Reformatory.

"It is our judgment," said board Chairman John Greenholtz, "that society's purpose has been served and Miss Fugate cannot benefit by further imprisonment and is an acceptable risk for parole consideration."

Members of the United Paperworkers International Union and the Confederation of National Trade Unions have shut down four plants in Quebec belonging to Canadian International Paper and Price Co. Ltd. as well as a Canadian International Paper (CIP) mill in New Brunswick.

About 4,500 men are on strike at the Price and CIP mills. Another 15,000 union members, mostly in Ontario, have voted for a strike if negotiations fail. Louis Lorrain, Canadian director of the paperworkers' union, said there could be more strikes unless a major producer reaches a settlement soon.

The strikes come at a time when Canadian and American mills have been operating at or near capacity, and have reduced daily Canadian production from about 25,000 tons to 19,000 tons. The strike at the two companies which export 70 per cent of their product to the United States has reduced the daily shipment to American customers by about 4,200 tons.

The shortage, aggravated by strikes on Canada's railroads, has forced large and small newspapers in the United States and some in Canada to reduce newsprint usage and waste paper.

Columbia Athletic Director To Be Named Southern Loop Chief

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Columbia University athletic director Kenneth G. Gerrmann was reported today to be the newly selected commissioner of the 52-year-old Southern Conference.

The conference announced Thursday night it would hold an airport news conference this afternoon in Charlotte to introduce the man it has chosen to succeed the present commissioner, Lloyd C. Jordan.

The Richmond News Leader said this morning that Gerrmann apparently will become the new commissioner.

The News Leader said Gerrmann flew out of New York City early today to attend the 3 p.m. news conference at Charlotte's Douglas Municipal Airport, and quoted his wife as saying they were "house-hunting."

It said the conference's headquarters are expected to be moved to Charlotte when Gerrmann, 52, takes over Jan. 1, 1974.

A conference spokesman indicated the list of candidates for the commissioner's post recently had been narrowed down to Gerrmann; Mike Lude, athletic director at Kent State University, and Charles McClelland, assistant commissioner of the Big Eight Conference.

Gerrmann has been athletic director at Columbia since 1968. He played football for Columbia under coach Lou Little and was on the Columbia coaching staff from 1957 through 1961. From 1962-68 he was assistant athletic director at Rutgers.

While at Columbia, Gerrmann has been chairman of Ivy League athletic directors.

A special committee has been at work since last spring seeking a Southern Conference commissioner to succeed Jordan, but its deliberations have been kept a closely guarded secret.

Only last week at the conference's football "Rouser" in Asheville, N. C., the league president had indicated a choice was near.

Dr. Francis W. Bonner, vice president and chairman of the faculty committee on athletics at Furman University, said it was hoped the new commissioner could be named in a matter of a few weeks.

The conference announced last spring that Jordan, 70, had expressed a desire to step down when his contract expires Dec. 31.

Jordan took over as conference commissioner in 1960 and the league office was moved to Richmond, Va. He served in 1972 and 1973 as president of the Collegiate Commissioners Association.

Three schools—Virginia Tech, West Virginia and George Washington—have left the conference since Jordan became commissioner, but East Carolina and Appalachian State have been added as members.

The other schools in the eight-team league are The Citadel, Davidson, Furman, Richmond, Virginia Military and William and Mary.

Jordan is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, where he served as captain of the 1922 basketball team and 1923 football team.

He coached football for 34 years and basketball for 21 years, filling posts at the high school level and at Colgate, 1928-32; Amherst, 1932-1949; and Harvard, 1950-56. He also served as athletic director at Amherst for several years.

Jordan also is a past president of the American Football Coaches Association.

Trio Tied For Lead At Cary

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Dave Eichelberger and Dave Stockton are enthusiastically looking for a spot in the U.S. Professional Match Play Championship, and Buddy Allin will take one if it comes along.

"Sure I want in the Match Play—the way I'm playing now I can handle 'em," said the slump-ridden Eichelberger after he tied Stockton and Allin Thursday for the first round lead in the $100,000 L&M Open Golf Tournament. All had 67s.

"I'd like to get in it," said Stockton, a former PGA national champion and the current Milwaukee Open title-holder. "I had to qualify last year and won one match. I'd like another crack at it."

"I haven't really thought that much about it," said the skinny, freckle-faced, red-haired Allin. "If I get in fine, great. But it's not do or die. If I look forward to it and don't make it, then there's a let-down."

Those three had four-underr-par efforts on 6,786 yard MacGregor Downs Country Club course and stamped themselves as prime choices to move into the featured half of pro golf's only doubleheader this weekend.

That's the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play championship which will be played Saturday and Sunday on the same MacGregor Downs course.

Eight players—including such big guns as Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Tom Weiskopf—are exempt. The other eight players in the Match Play will be the top eight after 36 holes of the L&M.

Appalachian Expected To Field Stronger Football Team This Fall

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Writer
(One of a series)

Appalachian State University moves into its second year as a full-fledged member of the Southern Conference. And the Mountaineers are expected to be improved over the team of last year that went 5-5-1, winning four of their last five games.

But they have a key problem, and solving it might make a big difference on whether the record is improved, or even equaled. That problem is the quarterback position.

"We're going to be inexperienced at quarterback," Coach Jim Brakefield, beginning his third year, said. "But despite that I think we're going to have a better football team in 1973."

There are 65 players returning this year, plus about 30 freshmen, of whom about 14 will be carried on the varsity roster. "We'll also get 20-25 walkons," the coach added.

And since Brakefield played a lot of sophomores last year, his team has a lot of experience from top to bottom.

"Our defense is considerably stronger," Brakefield said. "We have a good nucleus returning both in the line and in the backfield, and we have some good players coming up. We should have better depth than last year."

Four linemen are gone from last year's defense, but All-Conference tackle Ron Reynolds returns. Fred Snipes, who saw a lot of play at both tackle and middle guard is also back. Norm Kennedy and Mike Monger will probably hold down the end positions. "With these players and some fine prospects from last year's freshman team, we will be able to rebuild the defensive line pretty well," Brakefield said.

Ken Causey and Terry Thompson, two-year veteran starters, return at the linebacker slots. Thompson, however, had knee surgery during the latter part of the 1972 season, and has been slow coming back. George Myers, a rising sophomore, replaced him last year when he was hurt, and did an excellent job. "He did an outstanding job," the coach said.

In the defensive backfield, several starters are back, with additions from last year's freshmen should provide depth missing last year.

Brakefield feels that his Wishbone offense will be clicking this year despite the quarterback problem. "Our offensive line is improved, and our receivers are pretty good. We plan to throw about a third of the time. And we'll be using the play-action pass more."

The coach also feels that the Mountaineers will definitely be able to move the football. The rest of the backfield, aside from quarterback, has experience and depth and this will help.

Clinton Bradshaw and Charlie Haugabrook are expected to start at the halfback spots, and Brakefield rates both as excellent runners. The latter had an excellent year last season, when only a freshman. Two other sophomores, Danny Kissam and Billy Medlin, improve the depth.

The fullback slot will probably go to James Tucker, with Tommy Harris, who alternated with Tucker last year, in reserve. "Tucker will be a great fullback," Brakefield said. "In our offense, the fullback has to be."

Four starters return in the offensive line. They include center Al Bowen, tackle Andy Stewart, guard Phil McKagen and split end Dwight Gates, giving the Mountaineers a fine nucleus there.

Then, there is the quarterback. Brakefield has two promising, but inexperienced men to choose from—junior Phil Coccioletti and sophomore Roscoe Batts. Coccioletti was the backup quarterback last year, and appears to have the inside track at this time.

The kicking game should be very good with senior place kicker Greg Clark, who has 44 in a row, returning. Jerry Harmon handles the long field goals.

Despite the experience, this year's team will still be classed as a young one. Brakefield expects no freshmen to start, with the exception of some of the specialty team men. "If we mature as quickly as we did last year," Brakefield said. "We should do all right," referring to the four wins in the last five games at the end of last season.

"I just hope we can develop a little quicker."

Randle Unhappy After Workout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preseason football practice for the eight Southern Conference schools at last has reached the head-knocking stage where the coaches can come up with—they hope—the answers to some of their problems.

At Appalachian State, for example, Coach Jim Brakefield is looking for a quarterback to replace graduated Steve Loflin.

"The biggest question is our quarterbacks," says Brakefield. The Mountaineers must rely on a backup signal-caller who saw some action last season, plus two incoming freshmen. Brakefield says, "I think we'll be adequate after two or three games."

Phil Coccioletti, Roscoe Batts and Bruce King took turns directing the Mountaineers in brief full-speed scrimmages Thursday.

For Bobby Ross of The Citadel, "The linebacker situation is kind of uncertain. We have no depth. But that's the problem with our whole football team."

At Davidson, Dave Fagg is looking hard at his incoming freshman crop to provide depth, if nothing else. Fagg says 16 freshmen dressed for the Wildcats last year, 12 played consistently and four lettered.

Sonny Randle of East Carolina's defending champions didn't like what he saw when the Pirates put on pads for the first time Thursday.

"We had three good practices this week, but when we put on the pads, everybody acted like zombies," said Randle. "The whole squad was terrible."

Art Baker of Furman is another coach looking for reserve strength to correct a depth problem. But Baker says, "We have 10 or 12 freshmen coming in who will help us immediately."

Richmond was the last of the schools to open practice, so the Spiders haven't yet had any contact work. Coach Frank Jones was expected to remedy that today when last year's league runners-up were eligible for their first session in pads.

After a week of practice, Virginia Military's Keydets are physically healthy. How well along they are as far as football is concerned will be determined Saturday when Coach Bob Thalman sends them through a game-type scrimmage.

William and Mary's Indians got their first work in pads Thursday, and Coach Jim Root was especially pleased with the defense. Singled out for their work were linebacker Kevin Rogers and defensive halfback Mark Bladergreen.

Tailback Frank Prochilo is "running real well" on offense, Root said. But the William and Mary coach said it still was too early to make a judgment on his newcomers, even though he thought the first drills in pads "went real well, generally speaking."

Landry, Cowboys May Be Ready Despite Retirements And Unrest

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Retirements and off-season unrest shook the Dallas Cowboys like an earthquake, but there's every evidence unflappable Coach Tom Landry will have all the pieces in place for an unprecedented eighth consecutive trip to the National Football League playoffs.

The Cowboys lost a staggering 65 years in NFL experience with the exit of seven key players off the Super Bowl VI champions—tight end Mike Ditka, linebacker Chuck Howley, defensive end George Andrie, running back Dan Reeves, receiver Lance Alworth, defensive back Herb Adderley and center Dave Manders.

The Cowboys also led the league in threatened retirements with defensive tackle Bob Lilly, quarterback Craig Morton, linebacker Lee Roy Jordan and others unhappy for one reason or another in hassles with Dallas management.

Yet out of this storm of discontent, Lilly said he had found a "new spirit" on the team— "something we didn't have last year."

To prove he was right, the Cowboys went out and destroyed Los Angeles 24-7 in the exhibition opener to show there was still some fire in the boiler. Despite the retirements, the Cowboys still have talent that has many an NFL front office drooling.

Quarterbacks Roger Staubach and Morton, who are again fighting for the No. 1 job, are among the tops in the league. Fullback Walt Garrison and 1,000-yard rusher Calvin Hill are proven ground-gainers. The offensive line, behind all-pros Rayfield Wright and John Noland, is among the finest.

If the Cowboys have an offensive weakness, it might be at receiver—but don't count on it. Bob Hayes caught only 15 passes last year but could be in the best shape of his career because of extensive work in professional track during the offseason.

Otto Stowe, Paul Warfield's backup man at Miami, was obtained in a trade for Ron Sellers and has been nothing short of eye-popping in the early going. The No. 1 draft pick, tight end Billy Joe Dupree of Michigan State, also hasn't disappointed.

On defense, Lilly says he is healthy. When the giant tackle says that, it can be a long autumn for opposing quarterbacks. Lilly was plagued by injuries during the 10-4 Cowboy season last year and the pass rush suffered.

Jethro Pugh is the other Cowboy defensive tackle, with Bill Gregory pushing defensive ends Pat Toomay and Larry Cole hard.

"At-linebacker, five-year veteran D.D. Lewis appears ready to step into Howley's shoes. There's a sneaking hunch that Landry can always get Howley to "unretire" from his dry cleaning business should Lewis fail to produce. Veterans Lee Roy Jordan and Dave Edwards fill out the linebacking trio.

Dallas is solid in the secondary. Mel Renfro and fast-improving Charlie Waters protect the corners while alert Cliff Harris and veteran Cornell Green hold down the safeties.

Revenge-Minded Americans Meet Russians In Basketball Finale

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — The American basketball team has revenge on its side and the Russians have the home court advantage, but who has more talent won't be known until today when the two undefeated squads meet in the final of the World University Games tournament.

The game revives the rivalry between the two teams which hit an all-time peak in the Munich Olympics when the Russians handed the U.S. its first basketball defeat ever by one point in a controversial finish.

"I have been waiting for one full year to get at the Russians and now it is here," said towering Tom Burleson of North Carolina State, the only member of the ill-fated Munich team who is here.

"I am sure we are going to win this time," added Burleson who saw officials give the Russians two extra chances to win the Olympic final while the game's final seconds appeared to have run out. "We have a much better team."

The Russians have six Olympic stars on their team, including four who were starters at Munich.

Although neither team has lost on its way to today's meeting, the Americans have taken a more difficult road. After defeating the Cubans in a game marred by a bottling-throwing attack against them, the Americans just managed to beat Brazil 66-60.

"We had the game with the Cubans hanging on us," said U.S. Coach Ed Badger after the victory over Brazil. "I am sure the boys will be in perfect condition for the final. The game with the Brazilians has put our minds on the Russians.

"We are down to where it counts now."

Meanwhile, the American swimmers are dominating the closing days of the World University Games.

The U.S. four clocked 3:28.61 to edge the Russians in an exciting finish. That is a mere 2.2 seconds off the world mark.

David Johnson of San Diego won the men's 100 meters backstroke in 59.9. Ann Simmons of Long Beach, Calif., took the gold medal in the women's 400 meters freestyle in 4:28.8, with Jill Strong of Tucson, Ariz., second. Irene Arden of Vancouver, led Cathy Carcione of Long Branch, N.J., home in the women's 100 meters butterfly to win the gold in 1:06.0.

Houston Rallies Past Dallas For Texas Title

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Minnesota Vikings resume their search for a No. 1 quarterback Saturday at Berkeley, Calif. against the Oakland Raiders in a battle of unbeaten National Football League clubs.

Francis Tarkenton, the incumbent, and Bob Berry, the challenger, have been fighting it out for the right to lead the Purple Gang this season. Statistically it looks like a draw so far.

Tarkenton has completed 18 of 28 passes for 169 yards in Minnesota's two victories while Berry has hit on 19 of 26 tosses for 224 yards. Tarkenton came to the rescue in last week's 13-10 win over Kansas City, rallying the Vikes in the fourth quarter with a 70-yard touchdown drive capped by a 19-yard pass to John Gilliam to tie the score.

Fred Cox's 20-yard field goal with just over one minute to play won it for Minnesota.

Tarkenton will probably start against the Raiders who have their own quarterbacking follies going. Daryle Lamonica made a brief appearance against Los Angeles last week, completing three of four passes, including a six-yard scoring aerial to Bob Moore.

Lamonica then retired while Ken Stabler and Don Milan split the duties behind center in the Raiders' 16-3 win. George Blanda, now 45, doesn't do much quarterbacking these days but he still kicks field goals and connected from 36,17 and 41 yards against the Rams.

This will be the first meeting ever between Minnesota and Oakland, and will serve as a preview of their season-opening battle Sept. 16.

The Houston Oilers nipped the Dallas Cowboys 27-24 in the battle of Texas Thursday night.

Cincinnati plays at Detroit and Los Angeles visits Miami in games tonight.

Saturday night Baltimore is at Washington, Atlanta faces Cleveland in Knoxville, Tenn., New England visits New Orleans, San Diego entertains Philadelphia and the New York Jets are in St. Louis. Sunday afternoon Chicago is at Buffalo. Denver at San Francisco and Pittsburgh at the New York Giants.

The weekend schedule ends Sunday night when Green Bay visits Kansas City.

Dan Pastorini connected with Fred Willis on a 31-yard scoring pass with just 1:12 to go, lifting the Oilers past the Cowboys.

Relaxed Robinson Cracks A Homer

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bill Robinson, his rocky major league career once a source of frustration and worry, has finally discovered the formula for hitting homers.

"It's just a case of relaxing and making contact with the ball," the Philadelphia Phillies player explains.

He relaxed at the plate Thursday night and drove in three runs with two homers, propelling the Phillies to a 6-3 National League baseball triumph over the San Diego Padres.

In other NL games during Thursday's light schedule, Los Angeles trimmed the New York Mets 5-4 and the Chicago Cubs beat the Cincinnati Reds 4-3. In the only American League contest, California downed Milwaukee 6-3.

Robinson was touted as a new super-slugger when he first joined the New York Yankees in 1967. He never lived up to the advance fanfare, batting a dismal .196. He lasted two more seasons in New York, then made the circuit of minor league teams and almost quit after failing to make the Chicago White Sox two years ago.

"Then I just decided to go out and have some fun," Robinson recalled about that depressing stage of his career. "If I had a bad game I didn't worry about it."

However, his new-found philosophy appeared faulty after he managed only four hits in 32 times at bat during a recent road trip.

"I thought, why me?" he said. "After I finally made it, I thought I was going to blow it. But I sat down and had a long talk with myself."

Robinson's first blast, a two-run shot, capped a four-run Phils first and then followed Greg Luzink's homer with a solo homer in the sixth.

Cubs 4, Reds 3

Don Kessinger drove home the winning run with a 10th-inning single. The Cubs tied the game 3-3 after the Reds had pulled ahead in their half of the 10th.

"I just tried to find a hole because it meant the ball game," Kessinger said his winning hit that scored Randy Hundley from third. "Any kind of a base hit would have won it."

Dodgers 5, Mets 4

Joe Ferguson laced a run-scoring double in the sixth inning, breaking a tie and lifting the Dodgers to a victory that increased their lead in the NL West to three games over Cininnati.

Angels 6, Brewers 3

Brewer relief pitcher Chris Short issued a bases-loaded walk to Sandy Alomar, forcing in the winning during a five-run Angel seventh inning. The winning run came after Short, who replaced starter Billy Champion who was forced out after breaking a finger nail on his pitching hand, permitted the winning run to score after hitting Winston Llenas with a pitch.

No Pearson To Plague Petty

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Richard Petty, usually a rocket on NASCAR's Grand National circuit, has fizzled a bit this year while David Pearson stole his thunder.

But Petty returns to a track Saturday night that has handed him seven victories in 17 starts. And Pearson won't be around.

The occasion is the 16th annual Nashville 420, where Petty will be among the favorites while Pearson takes a breather and presumably counts the $169,000 he's won this year.

Pearson has put together a sensational string of 9 victories in 13 starts this year while Petty has won 4 of 20 and earned $109,000.

Petty, of Randleman, N.C., won this race two years ago and has been racing on Fairground Speedway's five-eighths mile oval since 1959.

Bobby Allison, who won the race last year, and Cale Yarborough, who won the Music

City 420 in May, also are considered top threats for the $10,000 first-place prize money. The total purse is $23,000.

Allison will seek to regain some of the pace he set last year when he won 10 Grand National races. Yarborough won the Southeastern 500 at Bristol earlier this year in addition to the Music City 420 and, along with Pearson and Petty, is the only driver to win more than one Grand National race this year.

Allison, Benny Parsons and Buddy Baker have each won one race on the circuit this year.

The race is the closing event on the second leg of the $120,000 Grand National point battle. Cecil Gordon is the point leader in the second leg with 2,655, followed by James Hylton with 2,571 and Benny Parsons with 2,507.

In the overall point standings this year, Parsons leads with 5,189, followed by Gordon with 5,144 and Hylton with 5,007.

Rocky Mount In Second Victory

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP)—Home runs by Guillermo Bonilla, a solo shot in the second inning and a grand slam in the seventh, accounted for all his team's runs as Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, defeated Gadsden, Ala., 5-4, Thursday night in the American Legion Southeastern Regional Baseball Tournament.

Rio Piedras, the defending regional champion, ran its season's record to 17-5. In another winners bracket game, Rocky Mount, N. C., defeated Calhoun, Ga., 5-2. In losers games, Vero Beach, Fla., eliminated Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, 9-4, and Aiken, S. C., ousted Rowan County, N. C., 5-2.

The double elimination tournament continues today with Gadsden meeting Vero Beach and Aiken going against Calhoun, with the losers to be eliminated. Rocky Mount and Rio Piedras, both undefeated in the tournament, meet tonight in the final game of the day.

Two more games are scheduled Saturday, with the finals on Sunday.

The regional winner will play in the national tournament beginning at the end of the month in Lewiston, Idaho.

Gadsden managed six hits and four runs off two Rio Piedras pitchers. But Oscar Negron, the eventual winner, took the mound in the sixth inning and held the Alabamans scoreless the rest of the way.

Host Rowan County bowed out with a 29-13 record after appearing in its fourth regional tournament in five years, twice as the North Carolina state champion.

Aiken pushed its record to 28-8 in its victory over Rowan County.

Vero Beach opened the day's action with its triumph over Balboa, which left the Panama team with a 17-3 record.

Steve Wilkes came off the bench in the fourth inning and helped Vero Beach run its season record to 28-6 by hitting a home run and a double. Joe Ward, Jim Shulock and Joe Selph also had two hits apiece for Vero Beach. Paul Martin and Marco Cooper had the same for Balboa.

Sonny Wooten had a grand slam homer and another hit for Rocky Mount and his teammate, Tommy Warlick, was two for three. Butch Lanier, Mike Morrison, Keith Smith and the losing pitcher, Zane Holland, had two hit apiece for Calhoun.

Calhoun's record is 24-3, and Rocky Mount is 30-7.

Head-To-Head Match May Tell

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Professional Golfers Association Player of the Year honors could be at stake this weekend if—as expected—Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf meet in the finals of the U.S. Professional Match Play Championship.

They appear to be running neck and neck for the honor Nicklaus won last year. A head-to-head match in the finals Sunday afternoon could make the choice easy for the PGA committee that makes the selection.

The Match Play, carrying $150,000 in total prizes with $40,000 to the winner, begins Saturday as the featured half of pro golf's only doubleheader with the $100,000 stroke play L&M Open.

Two rounds of match play will be held daily on the 6,786-yard, par-71 MacGregor Downs Country Club course with Nicklaus the defending champion and No. 1 seed in the field of 16.

The other seeded players, in order, are Johnny Miller, Tommy Aaron, Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, George Archer, Grier Jones and Jerry Heard. The other eight players will come out of the L&M.

Weiskopf's sudden emergence was the big news this summer and shoved Nicklaus out of the headlines. In an eight-event string he won five times, including the British and Canadian Opens. For the year, he's collected $228,088.

Then Nicklaus reclaimed center stage with his record-breaking victory in the PGA National Championship two weeks ago. It was the 14th major title of his career, breaking Bobby Jones' record.

Nicklaus, too, has won five this year. In 15 American starts, he's finished ninth or better in all but two. In his only foreign start he was fourth in the British Open, including a course record 65 in his final round.

And he's ahead of last year's record money-winning pace when he amassed $320,000.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day to think out what you want the most in the future and then formulate a plan whereby your fondest goals can be attained with more ease than generally. Make an effort to show you are endowed with a serious outlook.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may have to handle matters at home wisely in the morning before engaging in outside activities. Take time to plan how to make the future more successful where business is concerned.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day for formulating a new plan that will bring you greater success and happiness in the days ahead. Make sure that utilities are working properly at home. Improve family harmony.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can easily put a new plan in motion that will help you to add to present income. Come to a far better understanding with associates. Use a little firmness if you wish to collect monies owed you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do as you please in the morning but later seize an opportunity to add to your present income. Make sure your appearance is just right before visiting key persons. Enjoy life more.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make your plans for greater advancement in the future and then put such in motion with confidence. Think along constructive and practical lines. Try not to judge an associate too harshly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Visit good friends and obtain the advice and backing you need for a new project you have in mind. Do some studying tonight that can be most helpful to you. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) First handle a civic matter of importance and then you can go out socially and have a delightful time. Avoid a temptation to get in an argument with an associate. Show that you are sensible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) In the morning plan how to make your life more worthwhile and successful. Later you can get the backing you need from an associate. It's important to answer a letter without delay.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make your collections and payments early so that you have free time later in the day for the activities you enjoy. Increased happiness is possible with loved one tonight. Keep sober.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make new arrangement with an associate before putting joint project into operation. Use more diplomacy with one who is apt to be very difficult to handle. Then you get right results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of routine duties early and then come to a better understanding with a partner who is important in your future plans. Don't give in to a temptation to do nothing today.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can get much accomplished in the morning, so keep busy, and relegate fun to some other time. In the evening show others that you have a charming sense of humor. Be more cheerful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those clever young persons who likes to acquire valuable property, and there could be a tidy fortune built up early in life. Later generosity will be great and others will benefit by your progeny's activities. Teach early to respect the feelings of others. Give ethical training at an early age.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The 'Worry Clinic' Telling Why Is Also Important

Mort's case shows why we must explain what we are doing if we wish to get the proper results! His physician correctly treated Mort's medical problem. But didn't take time to correct his mistaken mental outlook!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

Ph.D., M.D.

CASE X-594: Mort D., aged 68, was a farmer who lived near our summer home down in Indiana.

"Dr. Crane," his worried daughter phoned me, "could you please come over to see my dad?"

"For he has had dropsy till his legs are almost as large as telephone poles."

"So we called the young doctor in our town, who came out and gave my dad some pills."

"But next day my dad got out his shotgun and threatened to shoot this doctor if he ever set foot on our farm again."

"That had embarrassed me terribly, for the doctor belongs to the same church I do, and is a very fine man."

"So could you try to pacify my dad, for he has known you many years and will believe what you tell him."

Laymen's Mistakes
Mort confirmed exactly what his daughter had told me over the phone.

"Dr. Crane," Mort protested, "that young doctor would have killed me!"

"For he gave me some pills that made me empty my bladder every hour. I was awake all night long!"

"So I figured I'd die from lack of sleep if I took any more of those darned pills."

"By the way, why couldn't I take my razor and make a lot of slits in the skin between my ankles and knees?"

"Wouldn't that let the water out, just like the sap that runs from my maple trees when I tap them in the Spring?"

And Mort really meant what he said about slitting his legs!

"Mort," I replied, "where do you think all that liquid came from that you voided every hour during the night?"

"It was being drawn from your water-logged legs, and if you'd kept on with the doctor's pills, you'd have been able to walk within a week."

"For it isn't your legs that is your main problem but your heart."

"Your heart isn't keeping up the proper circulation, so the doctor gave you digitalis to produce a better circulation and thus absorb all that water that had been pulled out of those blood vessels in your legs."

For Mort had what we call a decompensated heart, with many weak beats that overworked the heart but didn't produce a normal circulation.

Digitalis cuts out many weak beats, leaving about 80 per minute that are strong contractions.

Then I made a drawing to show Mort exactly how and where the pills were helping him.

"Why didn't that young fellow explain all this to me?" Mort demanded.

"Oh, he was rushed and thus felt he couldn't take the time," I replied.

And that is one reason why many thoughtless Americans criticize physicians and even

From Dancer To Penthouse Exec

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Kathy Keeton looks like the ultimate sex object: long, painted finger nails, flowing blonde hair and a slender, voluptuous body.

But appearances are deceiving. Behind the soft voice is an all-business mind.

At 29, Kathy Keeton is a $100,000-a-year group advertising director of Penthouse International Ltd., a $75 million publishing complex owned by her boyfriend, Bob Guccione.

This fall, they will launch Viva, a new magazine designed for women along the lines of the monthly Penthouse. A million copies of Viva will go on sale next month at $1 per copy.

The first issue will include an interview with Norman Mailer on women and marriage, a short story by Joyce Carol Oates and a color layout on a nude couple who are in love. The latter will be a regular monthly feature.

"Sex is the dominant human emotion...What's wrong with it? It's never done anyone any harm, just the repression of it has. You can't suppress an innate natural instinct," Miss Keeton said in an interview. "Extremists in the women's liberation movement would disapprove of the magazine," she went on. "Our premise is that men and women love each other."

Besides the color spreads, Viva will carry stories on art, theater, cosmetic surgery and birth control.

"We feel there's no good women's magazine on the market. Most are 20 years behind," said Miss Keeton, adding they "keep their own concept pure by hiring no one formerly associated with any women's magazine."

"Personally, I think Cosmopolitan is a terrible put-down of women. It presents sex as an area for material gain whether it's dinner, marriage or a trip to the beach," she said.

The Viva-Penthouse concept is that sex is a lot of fun and good entertainment, according to its advertising director.

It is hoped that Viva does as well with women as Penthouse has with men. Guccione started it in London on a shoe string in 1965, and brought it to the United States in 1969. The first issue sold about 225,000 copies.

Eight years and millions of dollars later, the two are living in high style at a suite in the Drake Hotel, but still working up to 20 hours a day on their business.

Miss Keeton doesn't want to get married or have children. She's dedicated to Penthouse and travels constantly on her job overseeing advertising for all 34 companies. She said she doesn't own a dress, only a wardrobe of slacks and tops, plus some extraordinary boots, with builtup soles.

She said no man has ever made a pass at her while she was working in her capacity at Penthouse.

"Men are very sensitive. Once you show them you know what you're talking about, there's no trouble," she said.

Predict Rise In Mortgage Debt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mortgage debt, which more than doubled during the 1960s, is expected to show an even greater increase in the next 10 years, the Mortgage Bankers Association of America reports.

The projected rise is based on the anticipated need to finance higher-priced, higher-quality new homes and the resale of an ever-increasing number of houses, the Association says.

Position plays an important factor in bridge. The U. S. team learned this to their cost in a 1973 world championship qualifying round match against Brazil. [Italy regained the world title by defeating the defending champion Aces in a one-sided final.]

This was the auction at the table where the Brazil team sat North-South. The opening bid was artificial, showing at least 16 points and promising nothing about the club suit. South's response of one no trump described a balanced hand of 8-13 points. North checked to see if his partner had a four-card major, then showed 16-18 points with his bid of two no trump. South went on to game.

West's choice of a low heart for his opening lead proved unfortunate. [The lead of a heart honor would have been even more disastrous, allowing declarer to score four tricks in the suit with repeat finesses.] Dummy's nine was played and it held the trick. Declarer crossed to his hand with the ace of hearts and ran the jack of spades. East holding off. A spade to the queen lost to the king, and East returned the queen of clubs.

Declarer ran the trick to dummy's ace and cashed two spade tricks. He returned to his hand with the king of clubs and exited with a club. East won and took his remaining club, but then was forced to concede a trick to the king of diamonds for declarer's ninth trick.

When the U. S. held the North-South cards in the other room, North opened the bidding with one no trump. South raised to game and East got off to the best lead of the queen of clubs.

Declarer had no way of making nine tricks. In trying for his contract, he allowed the defenders to score one spade trick, one heart, four diamonds, and two clubs, going down four tricks. Brazil gained 600 points, or 12 International Match points, on the deal, all the result of playing the contract from the "right" hand.

Cambodia Is Saying No To Volunteer Veterans

By JERRY T. BAULCH Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cambodian embassy says it has been getting dozens of inquiries a week from former U.S. servicemen who want to volunteer for duty with Cambodian government forces.

But the volunteers are being turned down, an embassy spokesman said Thursday. The spokesman confirmed a report that since 1970 more than 200 American veterans have called, written or telegraphed the Cambodian embassy, asking how they might enlist. Some 50 of those inquiries were made over the past two months, the report said.

The embassy spokesman said the volunteers are told it is not the policy of the Cambodian government to include foreign nationals in its military. He said the number of volunteers mentioned in the report "is approximately correct."

The findings were disclosed in the American Security Council's "Washington Report" broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System. The council describes itself as a private, non-profit organization concerned with national defense.

It quoted some of the volunteers as saying they were willing to pay for their own transportation to Cambodia to fight.

James A. Meenan Jr., a former Army sergeant of Long Beach, Calif., was quoted as saying, "We've got to stop the Communist assault someplace and this is the place to start."

Others said they were willing to accept Cambodian army pay, the council said. "One group of former Green Berets who served in South Vietnam offered to come as a group to help Cambodian soldiers in counter-guerrilla warfare," the council said. "A former Army sergeant said he could leave on six hours notice, with his own weapons."

Over Nutrition Losing Control

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lady of the house has been losing the control she once had over her family's nutrition, according to a study conducted by Hoffmann-La Roche, which blames fast food restaurants, food faddism and crash diets for the development.

John W. Gage, Roche food-nutrition marketing manager, said other findings in the study were: nutrition ranked second to price as a food-buying concern; the homemaker wants more nutrition information on food labels; she feels she gets little help in carrying out her responsibility to ensure her family's good nutrition.

Trucks Gaining More Influence

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trucking industry is having a steadily growing influence on the American family's daily existence, says Jack F. Whitaker, president of Whitaker Cable Corp., automotive parts maker.

Whitaker said products delivered by trucks include 82 per cent of all clothing; 72 per cent of all meat, poultry and small game products; 70 per cent of dairy products; 98 per cent of fish and seafood and 68 per cent of pharmaceutical goods.
