Newest Wachovia Office Building Officially Opened

Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. officially opened its new main office building at the corner of Fourth and Washington Streets this morning with ribbon cutting ceremonies in front of the new structure.

Following the ribbon cutting the bank opened its doors for the first full business day and at the same time closed its former main office at Washington and Fifth Streets.

Brief remarks during the opening ceremonies were made by S. Eugene West, mayor of Greenville; Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Chancellor of East Carolina University and chairman of Wachovia's Northeast Region board; and David J. Whichard II, editor and president of The Daily Reflector and chairman of the bank's Greenville board.

Cutting the ribbon to officially begin the bank's first day of business in the new building were Miss Gina Whichard, daughter of the chairman of the Greenville board; Mrs. J. C. Whitehurst, whose husband is a member of the board; and Mrs. Harry Leslie, wife of board member G. H. Leslie. The ribbon, consisting of $100 in five-dollar bills, was presented to the Greenville Boys Club.

Presiding and making opening remarks was R. W. Howard, senior vice president and Greenville and Northeast Region executive for Wachovia. Wachovia reported that the three-story structure contains more than twice the office space of the old Guaranty Bank building. The structure features cantilevered construction in which the second and third floors over hang the floor below. The exterior includes a combination of smooth and ribbed precast, sand-blasted concrete, and solar bronze glass panels.

Six paying and receiving teller stations, as well as two other specialty teller stations, are open to assist customers. Three pneumatic teller stations are located adjacent to the building for the convenience of customers wishing to transact their banking business from their cars.

Parking for banking customers is in a 70-car lot surrounding the new structure.

Keep Control

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's Social Democrats appeared today to have retained control of the government after 41 years in power but with a majority of only two votes in the new parliament.

With only 53,000 mail ballots still to be counted from Sunday's general election, observers considered it doubtful that the non-Socialist opposition parties could overtake the Socialist bloc of Social Democrats and Communists.

Official returns from all 357 counties gave the Social Democrats and Communists 176 seats to 174 for the three opposition parties.

Unseal New Segretti Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new indictment against political agent Donald H. Segretti was unsealed today and a spokesman for special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox said Segretti plans to cooperate with federal prosecutors.

"Some kind of understanding exists," the spokesman said.

Cox disclosed here that the federal indictment unsealed in Tampa, Fla., charges Segretti with illegally publishing unauthorized political statements during the 1972 presidential campaign.

Greenville Rescue Teams Take Firsts In Asheville

ASHEVILLE — Greenville Rescue Squad teams placed first in both heavy duty rescue and first aid competition held her Saturday in conjunction with the 17th annual convention of the North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads.

The Greenville squad's sweeping victory in state competition followed their second place win in international rescue competition August 24 in Omaha, Nebraska, at the annual conference of the International Rescue and First Aid Association.

Placing second in the state-wide contests were teams from the Moore County Rescue Squad. Taking third spot in the first aid contest was the Goldsboro Rescue Squad team, while third place in the heavy rescue contest went to the Richmond County Rescue Squad team.

Greenville rescue and first aid teams have, over the years, consistently placed high in state and international competitions. The three trophies won by the local squad in the past month will be added to display cases at the city's central first station that already contain seven international awards and 19 trophies given by the North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads local teams have taken over the past 12 years.

The previous awards include one international rescue championship (the Greenville squad was the first U.S. team ever to win first place in international competition) and 12 state rescue and first aid championships.

Local teams placed first in heavy duty rescue and third in first aid on the state level last year.

In addition to the contest trophies, a special award was given to Greenville by the North Carolina Department of Insurance at the Saturday night banquet.

Elwood Incoe, director of the Insurance Department's fire and Rescue Services Division, presented Greenville with a plaque containing the first North Carolina Rescue College graduate patch in memory of the late George W. Gardner, former Chief of the Greenville Fire Department.

The plaque, accepted by Greenville Fire Chief Ray

Smith and rescue Captain Tony Brannon read: "The first North Carolina Rescue College Graduate Patch is in loving memory of George W. Gardner, who conceived and founded the North Carolina Rescue College."

The state Rescue College was founded in Greenville 12 years ago through the cooperation of the Greenville Rescue Squad and the Department of Insurance. After operating in Greenville for four years — with increasing enrollments — the school was moved to Raleigh where it has continued to grow. More than 500 persons were registered for classes at the week-end training program in July, Incoe noted.

The training official said the presentation of the first rescue college graduate patch was made to Greenville as a "token of appreciation of the Department of Insurance and the State Rescue Association..." for the leadership Greenville has taken in the rescue field. The first patch, Incoe said, is to be placed on display with other awards at the city's central fire stations.

Ordered To Pay $352.5 Million IBM Is Found Guilty Of Monopolistic Practices

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — International Business Machines Corp. was found guilty today of monopolistic business practices in the computer industry and was ordered to pay the Telex Corp. $352.5 million in damages.

Telex, a Tulsa-based firm, in return was ordered to pay IBM $21.9 million in damages for stealing IBM trade secrets.

IBM was ordered to begin a series of actions to break up the huge firm's hold on the computer accessory market, actions which Telex had sought.

The opinion was released by U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen of Salt Lake City, who heard arguments in the case for nearly two months earlier this year.

Spokesmen at both companies declined immediate comment on the decision.

Both IBM and Telex were delayed in opening on the New York Stock Exchange after the ruling was issued.

Telex warrants, securities which give their holders the right to buy Telex stock under specified conditions, were also delayed in opening on the American Stock Exchange.

Christensen's opinion said IBM "is enjoined from adopting, implementing or carrying out predatory pricing, leasing or other acts, practices or strategies with intent to obtain or maintain a monopoly in the market ..."

The opinion ordered IBM, when it makes a product announcement on electronic data processing equipment, or when such equipment is released, to disclose certain portions of electronic design.

IBM also was prohibited from "single or bundled" pricing of IBM memory systems in its System 370 central processing unit and was ordered to price its processing units and memories separately within 60 days.

It also was ordered to price separately certain products, such as central processing units and their controls.

Telex had argued that IBM juggled its prices in a manner to freeze out competition.

IBM and Telex have been feuding over competition in the electronic data processing industry for years.

Telex first sought $1.2 billion in damages in a suit charging IBM with monopolistic practices. IBM countered in a suit accusing the Tulsa-based Telex firm of stealing trade secrets by hiring former IBM engineers.

The opinion from Christensen was mailed from his office at Salt Lake City to the Tulsa federal court.

Chrysler-UAW Talks Marathon Bargaining Go Into Recess After

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Weary negotiators today recessed a 23-hour marathon bargaining session aimed at ending the three-day strike by the United Auto Workers against Chrysler. Company officials said the all-night session had brought "considerable progress."

"We are now optimistic about an early settlement," a Chrysler statement said after the session broke up.

Spokesmen for both the company and union insisted the talks had not broken off, and a union spokesman said its negotiators planned to return at noon today.

"It's not a bargaining breakdown, it's a breakdown of stamina," Chrysler Vice President William O'Brien told newsmen after the marathon session.

Because of a news blackout imposed on the negotiations, no further details could be obtained about progress in the bid to end the strike which began at midnight Friday and is affecting 112,000 UAW members at Chrysler plants in the United States and Canada.

But O'Brien did concede, "We're closer than we were yesterday."

A newsmen who told UAW President Leonard E. Woodcock that O'Brien said the two sides are "close" drew the reply, "I think you're misquoting." Otherwise, union leaders had no comment. O'Brien told newsmen as he was leaving the bargaining room that he was on his way to talk with Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend.

Townsend reportedly stayed at company headquarters during most of the marathon bargaining session.

The strike was costing the 112,000 UAW members $5 million a day in wages, the union said.

And Chrysler was faced with soaring production losses and prospects of laying off office workers.

Moon-Walker Still 'Haunted'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., the second man to walk the moon, says that after his lunar journey he sank into a mental depression that left him paralyzed and listless.

Aldrin, in a telephone interview, said he "benefitted tremendously" from making man's first landing on the moon, but "the change of life following the flight" brought on a severe depression which haunts him yet.

The astronaut, now retired from both the space corps and the Air Force, said he was unable to cope with the sudden loss from his life of some major goal or objective.

Aldrin said he sank into a mental depression that threatened his marriage, crippled his military career and required hospitalization.

With psychiatric help and a continuing regimen of drugs, Aldrin said he now is recovering.

Aldrin, now a private citizen living near Los Angeles, described his experiences in a recently released book, "Return to Earth."

He said the book, an intimately revealing chronicle of his life from boyhood, to the moon, mental illness and back to health, was written in hope that people would better understand that even heroes of the space age can suffer from ailments of the mind.

John Has Left Martha, Claims News Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says a series of violent outbursts by Martha Mitchell has prompted her husband John to move out of their Fifth Avenue apartment and into a hotel.

The magazine reported that on one occasion Mrs. Mitchell threw the former attorney general's clothes out into the hallway of their apartment building and in another incident she tried to burn his personal papers.

Newsweek said in its current issue that John N. Mitchell had told a friend about his wife: "It's obvious to anyone who knows her that she's a sick woman."

During the past six weeks Mitchell has twice tried unsuccessfully to have his wife hospitalized, the magazine reported. It added that for one of those weeks he also had a psychiatrist and his wife move into the apartment to provide Mrs. Mitchell with constant care.

Newsweek said that according to friends, Mitchell cannot bring himself to take the necessary legal steps to have his wife committed.

Neither of the Mitchells could be reached for comment.

A lawyer for Mitchell, Peter E. Fleming Jr., said Sunday that the former attorney general moved into the Essex House Hotel on Central Park South for a few days last week.

Fleming said the move had been made so Mitchell could help prepare the defense in his upcoming trial on charges of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury.

A hotel spokesman refused to confirm that Mitchell had stayed at the Essex House last week and said he was not registered there Sunday. Fleming said Sunday he did not know Mitchell's current whereabouts and said he knew nothing about any domestic problems involving Mitchell.

DeBruhl Claims National Guard Undergoing Purge

ASHEVILLE (AP)—State Rep. Claude DeBruhl, D-Buncombe, has accused the Holsouser administration of conducting a political purge within the ranks of the North Carolina National Guard.

In letters mailed during the weekend, DeBruhl said that, "Behind a smokescreen of 'reorganization,' the carpet-bagging imports who form the nucleus of the governor's personnel staff of political hacks are indulging in an orgy of de-motions, transfers and reassignments involving personnel of the North Carolina National Guard."

"The only evident motivation for some of the personnel changes is purely political," DeBruhl said.

In Raleigh Adj. Gen. William C. Buck denied the allegations.

"When a request for a promotion comes to me, I don't care whether the applicant is a Democrat or a Republican. If he's qualified, he gets the job," said Buck, who described himself as a lifelong Democrat.

"We haven't had anything like DeBruhl is charging and I don't believe he knows what he's talking about," Buck said.

DeBruhl, vice chairman of the Military and Veteran Affairs Committee, said he would ask the legislature in January to prohibit "partisan political interference and control" of the National Guard.

He said copies of his letters were sent to Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and to members of Congress.

A 24-hour curfew was in effect in Valparaiso, Chile's second largest city, where an army post was attacked Friday night.

The new interior minister, Gen. Oscar Bonilla, said in a television speech Sunday night that 4,000 persons have been detained for questioning in Santiago. He made no mention of casualties.

The secretary general of the Chilean army, Col. Rigoberto Rubio, said the death toll since the coup was 200 or less. Other sources gave estimates ranging from 500 to 5,000. About 2,000 was considered most probable.

Thousands of leftists were reported herded into two soccer stadiums. One informed source said some of them, including foreigners, had been executed.

Gunfire Persists In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Chilean junta admitted Sunday that some armed resistance was continuing but said it was isolated.

Occasional gunfire was heard in the streets during the night, and armed leftists were still holding some small factories and government offices in the suburbs of Santiago.

Helicopters dropped leaflets on the capital warning terrorists to surrender to the junta which ousted Marxist President Salvador Allende Tuesday.

$5.3 Million Is Pledged Demos

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The Democratic party remains in debt, but the promoter of its telethon says the $5.3 million pledged made the nationwide fund-raiser a success.

"I think we did very well, considering that this is an off-election year and we were selling a concept, not a campaign, getting rid of an old debt," said John Y. Brown Jr.

"We raised 30 per cent more in eight hours this year than we did in 20½ hours in 1972."

Brown, who popularized a fried-chicken chain, suggested the party's first telethon last year. Its receipts were $4 million.

Pledges reached $4.7 million during Saturday's seven scheduled hours of nationwide broadcasting over NBC-TV. The party bought another hour at the last minute and received another $600,000 in pledges during it.

The live broadcast and national telephone system each cost about $1 million. Since the $3.3 million profits are to be divided among the national party and state Democratic committees, a part of the 1972 national debt of $3.1 million remains.

Weeks-Shirley Vows Exchanged

MARLBORO—Miss Debra Alice Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Shirley of Rt. 2, Farmville, became the bride of Henry Vernon Weeks Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

The Rev. Bruce Barrow performed the double ring ceremony in the Marlboro Free Will Baptist Church. A program of nuptial music was presented by Susan Parker, organist, and Susan Beaman, a cousin of the bride, soloist.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Weeks of Bethel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white satin featuring a chantilly lace panel down the front of the dress with a wedding ring neckline and bishop sleeves. The gown was accented in the back with a chapel length train edged of chantilly lace.

Her four tiered fingertip veil was attached to a headpiece of Venise lace. Her dress was designed and made by her mother. She carried a bouquet consisting of miniature carnations, lily-of-the-valley and ivy with long satin streamers, tied in love knots, centered with a white orchid on a prayer book. Her only jewelry was an heirloom gold necklace, belonging to her mother.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Robert D. Carraway of Farmville, sister of the bride, and Donna Lynne Taylor of Snow Hill, cousin of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Johnny Hardison of Williamston, Bobbie and Deborah Weeks, of Bethel, sisters of the bridegroom, Jackie Beaman of Farmville and Elaine Beaman of Snow Hill, cousins of the bride, and Brenda Taylor of Statesburg.

Lisa Carraway of Farmville, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants were attired in identical formal gowns of green, orange and yellow polyester crepe overlayed in printed chiffon. The gowns were styled with an empire waist, scooped neckline and cape sleeves. Each attendant wore a necklace, a gift of the bride, and white garden hat. They each carried a long-stemmed yellow rose with long streamers. The flower girl carried a basket with flowers.

Craig Shirley of Farmville, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were Jimmy Shirley of Farmville, brother of the bride, Danny Carraway of Farmville, brother-in-law of the bride, Johnny Hardison of Williamston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Stan Root and Sam Hodges of Norfolk, Va., cousins of the bridegroom, Dickie Taylor and Frankie Beaman of Snow Hill, cousins of the bride. The couple will reside in Kansas City, Mo.

The bridegroom will be attending the Mid-Continent Aviation School of Aeronautics and both will be employed through the school.

Reception

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception on the lawn at their home. Guests were greeted by the Rev. and Mrs. Bruce Barrow.

The bride's table was graced with a yellow linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of assorted white and yellow flowers. After the bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first slice, Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Jeanette Parker served the wedding cake. Mrs. Doris Shirley, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Pat Moore poured punch.

MRS. HENRY VERNON WEEKS

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Luther Beaman. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Beaman presided at the guest register. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Beaman received guests in the gift room.

An after-rehearsal party was held Saturday night at the Shamrock. Hosts and hostesses were the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. and Mrs. S. Murray Hodges and Miss Eleanor Ward Staton, uncle and aunts of the bridegroom.

It's A Girl, Problem Solved

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-M. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR READERS: On July 23, the following item appeared in my column:

DEAR ABBY: It seems I have a problem. I am 47 years old, and last year I married for the second time and my wife is expecting soon. Since this is the first child I have ever fathered, and probably my last, I want him to have a special name. [No argument, please. I KNOW it will be a boy.]

My surname is "Huffman," so I would like to name our son "Manhuff." My wife's maiden name is Wolfe, therefore I want his middle name to be

"Wolfgang," his full name being, "Manhuff Wolfgang Huffman." [His nickname would of course be, "Manny."]

My wife objects strenuously. She says it will be a burden to the boy and people will make fun of him.

What do you think, Abby? If you feel the boy will be handicapped by such a name, please let me know, as I have his best interests at heart.
JACK [OF ALL TRADES]

DEAR JACK: Never mind what I think. Since your wife objects strenuously, forget the "Manhuff Wolfgang," and name him "Jack Jr." [P. S. If he's a "she," you'll have no problem.]

For an interesting follow-up, please read on: This morning, I received this delightful letter:

DEAR ABBY: The dilemma of "Manhuff Wolfgang" has been solved. We are pleased to announce that our baby arrived, three weeks early. After I was assured that both mother and baby would be all right, I realized that nothing else mattered—including the fact that it was a GIRL!

We have decided to name our beautiful, four-pound, red-haired daughter "Heather Ann Huffman."
JACK [OF ALL TRADES]

DEAR ABBY: We just received a beautifully engraved wedding invitation which included [in engraving, mind you!] the name of the store where the bride was registered.

Don't you think the establishment that engraved it is just as much at fault as the bride for not having advised her that this is in the worst possible taste?

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBER: Don't blame the engraver. He may have advised the bride against it, and she may have insisted on it anyway. Engravers can only make suggestions. In the final analysis [with very few exceptions], the engraver will defer to the wishes of the customer.

DAR Chapter Sponsors Local Constitution Observance

The Major Benjamin May Chapter of DAR sponsors Constitution Week each year.

Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti, chairman of the committee, reminded members that the Constitution was adopted on Sept. 17, 1787, and ratified on June 21, 1788.

She will have a display window in an uptown store in Farmville this week. In Greenville, posters with the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States have been placed in the Wahl-Coates School Library, St. James United Methodist Church and Pair Electronics. Bethel and Ayden will also have displays.

Other committee members working with Miss DeVisconti are Mrs. Percy Pair, Mrs. Tilton Willcox, Mrs. Leland Andrews of Bethel and Mrs. Edward Hill of Ayden.

Area residents are urged to fly the American flag during Constitution Week.

On The Young Side

Senior, Betty Moseley visited Italy for five weeks this summer. She lived with a family in Torino to teach them American slang. They already knew a small amount of English. The only child they had was a girl Getty's age. Betty enjoyed visiting Sauze de L'oux in the Italian Alps. One week she went to Almar di Taggio on the beach and she spent three weeks in Marina di Massa, also a beach.

The Homecoming Committee was elected this week to organize the homecoming assembly, parade and dance. The theme will be voted on and announced Monday. Any clubs may start building floats after the theme is announced. Homecoming is October 5 this year with the Rampants playing Goldsboro. Tuesday, nominations for the queens and princesses will take place and elections will be Wednesday.

On the committee are Stan Highsmith, Kim Norville, Carolyn Whitehurst, Peggy Wilkerson, Matt Miller, Judy Little, Kathy Savage, Brenda Harris, Paulinda Barrett, Susan Bach, Becky Piner, Charles Gorham, Mike Williams, Lynn Laughinghouse, Kim Vick, Nancy Deyton, and Donna Adams.

Nominations for sophomore officers will take place Monday and elections will be held Tuesday.

Whole small fish may be fried, broiled or gaked. Dip the fish in flour, buttermilk biscuit mix or cornmeal before cooking.

Situation Needs A Compromise

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia has proposed an out-of-court compromise solution for the question of whether President Nixon should turn over White House tape recordings to the Watergate grand jury.

The move by the seven judges was termed highly unusual. They issued a memorandum which urged President Nixon and the lawyers to avoid a constitutional confrontation by settling the issue among themselves.

They suggested that the tapes be submitted to Archibald Cox, the Justice Department's special prosecutor and Prof. Charles Alan Wright, the chief White House lawyer for examination. The lawyers and the president or his delegate would decide what portions of the tapes could go to the grand jury as pertinent evidence.

That seems a complicated way to approach the matter, but then it is a complicated problem. The president insists that the tapes are presidential material and thus solely in his control. If the courts finally order him to turn over the tapes to the grand jury and in a related case, to the Senate Select Committee, it is going to be interesting to see who is going to go get them.

The situation certainly begs for some compromise. It may be that eventually an agreement can be reached for the U. S. Supreme Court justices themselves to listen to the tapes and make some judgement on how their contents can be used.

This might be the way out for everyone. It would be unusual but some way to resolve this power struggle between branches of government will have to be found.

Roads Program Ready To Move

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — The phrase Country Roads may fetch up fond memories among country music fans, but people these days want those curves straightened and the dusty, gravelly things blacktopped.

After some months of organizing and re-organizing, the state is now ready to put its secondary road program into action, and the man in charge of that program thinks people across the state are going to see a lot of changes in the way roads are selected for paving.

Cecil (Obie) Budd, a Siler City tire business operator, is chairman of the Secondary Road Council, a group of 14 appointees (one from each highway district in the state) given responsibility for overseeing the secondary road program in the Department of Transportation.

Plans now call for the council, state engineers and the overall board to endorse the funding and the priorities at the Oct. 4 meeting of the Board of Transportation.

Public Hearings

The funds will be split among the 100 counties and priorities listed, and according to Budd "posted at the court house door for public inspection." Meetings will be held with boards of county commissioners across the state to go over the program.

This, Budd said, is a major departure from the way things were done in the past. Previously the governor appointed a highway commission with varying numbers of members. Each commissioner had responsibility for a particular area, Budd said, "and it really depended on a commissioner whether or not a road got paved. He sort of ran the thing the way he wanted to run it, and we often heard lots of complaints from local governmental people that they were never consulted. Now," he said, "They will be consulted."

Budd said he doesn't know right now how much money will be allocated for secondary roads, but said he is "not shooting for the amount allocated last year (16 million), and it probably won't be as high as it was in Gov. Scott's first year ($32 million); but we really don't know."

"I would certainly hope that it would be some more than the $17.8 million set up for the urban road program," he added.

Odds are, sources in the Department of Transportation said, the figure will be somewhere around $20 million.

Close To Home

To Budd, those country roads represent the thing closest home when citizens think of state government.

"It's going to take some fine administration and some hard public relations work to make this program work. The fellow who lives on that road and sees it everyday finds that the most important thing the state is doing."

He noted that of the more than 74,000 miles of road in North Carolina, some 61,000 miles are secondary roads. That is the largest state-supported road system in the nation. This also means there are a lot of those roads which are substandard and many are unpaved.

Jack Murdock, head of the secondary roads program at the Highway Building, said engineers have largely finished attaching priorities to secondary road projects across the state.

Those priorities are established through a number of criteria, but principally numbers of users, people who live on the road, possible development, and availability or rights of way which must be given by residents, not bought.

Here is the sequence in which the program will proceed:

At the Oct. 4 meeting of the Board of Transportation, funds, will be allocated and divided up to the counties. Priorities will be endorsed and the program published.

It will be posted, and meetings set with county boards at which members of the Secondary Road Council and state engineers will outline the projects, their priorities and the funding program.

Priorities Listed

"We will, in effect, say to the counties, this is the way we would like to proceed," Murdock said. The priorities will be followed closely but in event a county board disagrees and can convince the highway people that priorities should be changed, then "we can reach some mutual concurrence on any such changes," Murdock said.

After July of next year, the criteria for splitting the money among counties will be miles of unpaved road. That will put Randolph, Wilkes and Guilford in the lead for funds. They are the three counties now with the most miles of unpaved road.

But the new system is not likely to produce but joy on county boards across the state. First, the state fully intends to follow closely its priority list without letting local politics influence things to any great degree.

Secondly, there are many county boards in the hands of Democrats and those will be Republican members of the Secondary Roads Council coming in with the program and telling the Democrats what the priorities are. There are, most observers said, likely to be fireworks.

Ample Evidence That Center Is Outstanding

The Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center has qualified for the Medicare and Medicaid programs, the first such center in eight Southern states.

The qualification means that Medicare and Medicaid will pay for patients who are admitted to the ARC.

The fact that the ARC has so qualified shows that much positive work has been done in building the services available since the center was established in 1969.

The fact that it is the first center in eight southern states to qualify shows that the local ARC is one of the outstanding such centers of the nation.

Nixon's Calif. Image Hurting

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
LOS ANGELES—In the middle-class suburbia of southern California which has steadfastly voted for Richard M. Nixon for a generation, the President has recovered hardly at all from the Watergate depths and remains in desperate political trouble.

This unmistakable conclusion is drawn from answers to questionnaires prepared for us by pollster Oliver Quayle for interviews in Nixon country: two all-white precincts in the San Fernando Valley. Far from confirming White House claims that President Nixon's recent spurt of visible activity had set him on the road to recovery, these interviews revealed widespread disbelief in his Watergate explanations and overwhelming disapproval of his refusal to surrender the secret White House tapes.

The President's problem is typified by a television repairman's wife in her late 30s, a registered independent who voted for Mr. Nixon last year but now regards his performance as poor. "He is setting a terrible example for the American public," she told us. "He is telling us to be law-abiding citizens and he doesn't follow the laws."

Elections analyst Richard Scammon selected two San Fernando precincts for us—one lower-middle income blue collar, the other middle income white collar—which Mr. Nixon carried last November by over 60 per cent. The 94 voters we interviewed with California polling supervisor Beryl Winn indicated no reversal in the President's decline.

These voters, by more than 5 to 1, do not believe Mr. Nixon should either resign or be impeached. But that is the end of any comfort here for the White House (apart from some 25 hard-core Republicans who give the President blanket support).

Although a substantial majority of those interviewed in these two precincts voted for him, Mr. Nixon now gets only a 30 per cent job approval rating. They feel he is wrong not to surrender the tapes and they support Federal Judge John Sirica's order to give him the tapes, both by 2 to 1. Only 22 voters believe Mr. Nixon learned the details of Watergate just last March; rather, by a scarcely believable 5 to 1 margin they feel he is not telling the whole truth.

The White House campaign against Sen. Sam Ervin's Senate investigating committee has failed here. By better than 3 to 1, these voters want Ervin's hearings continued. The contention that the committee is more interested in smearing Mr. Nixon than in discovering the truth is rejected by better than 2 to 1.

The most stunning result is found in Quayle's trust index. Of seven political figures tested, Ervin is highest at 66 (surpassing even the popular Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, who had 58). At the bottom is Mr. Nixon with 40, running below Vice President Spiro T. Agnew (44) and Sen. George McGovern (47).

The sincere perception by many politicians that the voters have soured on the Ervin committee may stem from the vociferousness of dedicated Nixonites, as shown in these two precincts. Contending that the President "is being used as a scapegoat in Watergate," a machinist told us he supports Mr. Nixon in every respect. So does a retired bus driver, who said: "He's had a lot to buck—Congress and that damn Ervin committee."

But these faithful are too few to keep this truly Nixon

SEEDS

In his parable of the seed, our Lord intended among other things to teach men that, having decided upon a right course of action, they should put the whole situation into God's hands, as the farmer puts seed into the ground, and then leave it to germinate undisturbed.

Many people insist on continually digging up the seed to see whether or not it is growing. And just as such a procedure would of course ruin the prospect of growth of a plant, so it ruins the prospect of growth in the things which have to do with our daily lives.

The farmer has nothing to do with fashioning the seed and giving it life. Seeds are the gift of God. We do not doubt that seed cast into the earth will grow, certain requirements of weather and fertility being present. But we do often doubt that once we have put the good purposes of our lives into God's hands, He will make them bring forth fruit.

'My Summer Vacation

WASHINGTON — The first thing everyone had to do when they returned to school in Washington was write a composition, "What I Did on My Summer Vacation."

Here are a few of the better ones.

Dickie Nixon wrote: "I went to San Clemente and Camp David and Key Biscayne. And we even made a side trip to Washington, D. C. At San Clemente we have a swimming pool and beautiful shrubs and gardens and new carpeting in all the rooms. I traded by collection of baseball cards with my best friends Bebe Rebozo and Bobby Abplanalp. In exchange for the baseball cards they gave me a $600,000 loan. Then they gave me back most of the cards.

"At night I listened to my tapes. I like the John Dean ones best. Everyone wants me to trade my tapes, but I'm not going to let anyone have them I'm going to keep them forever and ever.

"I didn't make many friends this summer. In fact I lost some. But that's because everyone was saying mean things about me. I made a list of enemies, and this fall I'm going to get Sammy Ervin if it's the last thing I do.

"I guess it was a rotten summer if you look back on it. But it's behind me and now I have football to look forward to. When I grow up I'm going to be President because you can call up any football coach and give him a play, and he has to use it whether he wants to or not.

Dickie Nixon

Teddy Agnew wrote: "I played golf this summer at Palm Springs with my best friend Frankie Sinatra. I also played tennis. Then I had to go back to Washington because some people said I had my hand in the cookie jar in Baltimore. This is a big lie and got me very mad.

"I never took any cookies in Baltimore. Other people who took cookies said I took them, but nobody asked me if I took any. I received a letter from the principal saying that they were looking into the fact that I had stolen the cookies. What I think happened is that there are certain kids in school who don't want me elected class president. So they leaked the story about the cookie jar. I'm not going to take it lying down.

"All in all I had a lousy vacation.

To the editor:

We hear criticism on every hand these days of the power concentrated in the Executive Department of our national government. Especially is this true of every member of Congress running for re-election or even as a candidate for election to Congress.

The Congress, itself, is responsible for this concentration of power by reason of Congress' rejecting its junction to legislate. Whenever any controversial question comes before the Congress (House and Senate), this august body elects to shirk their duty as set forth in the Constitution and empowers the executive branch to exercise the duties of the legislative branch. This has been true since and during the administration of Woodrow Wilson and most especially since and during the administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

When the question of using the atomic bomb came before Congress, they left the decision to Harry Truman. When the Vietnam affair came before Congress, Congress authorized the President to act and without restriction. When Congress realized we were experiencing a state of uncontrolled inflation and that something needed to be done about it, the Congress again authorized the Executive Department to act in legislative functioning in putting into effect wage and price controls. Now, when there is an energy shortage making its appearance, Congress still rejects its obligation to legislate and empowers the Executive to act in this matter, also. Congress then went into summer recess.

When Congress re-convened, Mike Mansfield, on being questioned about energy crises, stated Congress had done all they could. The referred the matter to the Executive Department for such action as was deemed proper and necessary. If the Congress would perform in an effective and responsible manner, its duties as a Legislative body and quit shirking its constitutional duties, the executive powers would be curtailed. Is it that Congress is without capable leadership to do they shirk and reject their responsibility so that they, too, may criticize and censure the executive Department?

Frustration And Strain Shows

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The most significant aspect of the controversy over whether to tax or not tax the American public into lowering its spending is the degree of frustration and strain that is showing in economic policy.

Even within the administration, as in almost any organization that must concern itself with economic matters, there is a feeling of futility in dealing effectively with an economy that seems to be driven by a demon.

For this reason perhaps, Dr. Arthur Burns apparently felt that little harm and much good could result from provoking discussion of a somewhat new tax — a tax that would be returned directly to the tax payer sometime later.

That the discussions should turn into an open conflict between Melvin Laird, the President's domestic adviser, and George Shultz, Treasury chief, could not be foreseen. Otherwise, Burns hardly was unaware that controversy would ensue.

It is not the first time Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has made this suggestion. Last year he tossed out for discussion the idea that those income tax payers scheduled to receive big refunds might be offered them in the form of bonds.

This, he offered, would encourage people to save their windfall rather than splurging it on consumer items that would worsen inflation. When the economy cooled sometime later, he reasoned, they could spend their money more advantageously.

Also searching for new techniques where old ones have failed, the chairman of the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., Gabriel Hauge, a former Eisenhower administration economist, suggested that government be the employer of last resort.

This concept also is not original, but coming from a banker it is something of a surprise, appearing at first glance to be the open advocacy of what used to be denounced as dangerously socialistic.

Hauge's argument is this:

If you hate your job, change it or it may kill you. Medical studies show fatal heart attacks are more common among people who have low job satisfaction than among those who are happy in their work.

At no time in later life does a human being normally grow so rapidly as during the nine months before birth.

Western foods are on the march in the Far East. A chain of pizza pie parlors is now being franchised in Japan.

In arid villages in the Atlas Mountains of Algeria, greenery is so scarce that a single tree may have several owners. Every branch is accounted for.

Are you feeling more crowded? Well, that's probably because you are. Two-thirds of all 200-million-plus Americans are packed into only two per cent of the land, according to the National Geographic Society.

Baseball may still claim to be the national pastime, but going to old-fashioned county fairs is even more popular. Some 70 million visitors — more than a third of the U.S. population — will attend one of the 2,500 county fairs being held in 1973. They will spend $200 million in nostalgically viewing an agricultural way of life now foreign to most of them.

Quotable notables: "Miracles sometimes occur, but one has to work terribly hard for them." — Chaim Weizmann.

Telltale marks: Don't let yourself be tattooed unless you're sure you want to be marked for life. Later attempts to remove a tattoo — whether by sandpaper, surgical scalpel, steel wool, diamond wheels, or salt-water brasion — usually leave noticeable scars.

Animal guessing: Your bartender may know everything, but you probably will win money betting him he doesn't know what a zorille is. It is an African animal that looks like a small skunk and can give off a foul-smelling scent like a skunk.

No help: Defenders of psychedelic drugs say they make the mind more creative by "enlarging self-consciousness." But medical experts say no significant invention has been produced so far as a result of the use of such drugs. In their opinion, the feeling of self-confidence these drugs sometimes give is entirely an illusion.

Worth remembering: "A hippie will never be heavyweight boxing champion — because they all fight dirty."

It was Theodore Roosevelt who observed, "A man who has never gone to school may steal from a freight car, but if he has a university education, he may steal the whole railroad."

country. The President's decline is measured by the attitude of Democrats and independents who voted for him and now condemn his presidency—often citing economic factors. High prices is the main complaint, but a surprising number mention the Soviet wheat deal. The Democratic wife of a veterinarian regrets her vote for Mr. Nixon because of his "selling wheat to Russia while we get stale bread at home."

Such disaffected Nixonites promise to return to their old Democratic allegiance in 1976. A divorcee who supports her family on a nurse's aide's pay, complaining about the "price of food and housing," told us she would vote for any Democrat next time.

Thus, the polyglot suburbanite precincts of California's San Fernando Valley closely mirror the ethnic urban wards of Jersey City, N.J., site of our last scouting trip six weeks ago. The fact that Mr. Nixon has since broken out of confinement with two press conferences and repeated other public appearances has made no difference.

In fact, the interviews here dispute the impact of those press conferences. By better than 2 to 1, these voters denied that the press conferences made them think more highly of the President. By nearly 3 to 1, they disagreed that the reporters were disrespectful to the President. Based on these soundings from Nixon country, it will take more than cosmetics and anti-media, anti-Congress counterattacks to rehabilitate the President in the public mind.

Tough year for weeds. Wet weather and late plantings teamed to keep farmers hopping in hopes of staying ahead of weed problems.

They've turned more to herbicides this year than ever before; from earlier farm reports, acreage treated ranged from 50 to 75 per cent for corn; 15 to 50 per cent for tobacco; 50 to 75 per cent for soybeans and 95 to 100 per cent for peanuts.

The problem weeds this year are those which the most widely used herbicides don't control. Often they are weeds that weren't problems at all just a few years ago.

Across the Southeast, the top three weed terrorists by crop area:

Cotton — cocklebur, teaweed and nutgrass. Also mentioned — morningglory, soybean, pigweed and ragweed.

Corn — fall panicum, cocklebur and nutgrass. Also mentioned — morningglory, soybean, pigweed and ragweed.

Soybeans — Cocklebur, pigweed and sicklepod. Also mentioned — morningglory, soybean, nutgrass and bristly starbur.

To Open Season With A Dinner

The Pitt County Historical Society will resume activities with its first meeting of the fall season set for Thursday, at 7:00 p.m. at the Woman's Club on Parkview Drive.

A Dutch dinner will be served, reservations for which should be made immediately to Miss Annie Turner, corresponding secretary of the Society.

The program will feature a talk by Dr. David S. Phelps, associate professor of anthropology at ECU, whose topic will be The Challenge of the Tar River's Early History.

Dr. Phelps did his undergraduate work at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and earned the Ph.D. at Tulane University. Dr. Ralph Hardee Rives is program chairman.

The business session will be led by John B. Lewis of Farmville, president.

Peanuts — cocklebur, Fla. beggarweed and nutgrass. Also mentioned — morningglory and bristly starbur.

Tobacco — crabgrass, nutgrass and cocklebur. Also — pigweed, smartweed, sickle pod and Fla. parsley.

Reports give varying comments on the degree of control of this pest with a general consensus that post emergency sprays are a necessity for control.

But farmers are keeping an eye on a host of new chemicals that promise to work well against these major crop pests.

Staged 61st Annual Meet

TARBORO — The 61st annual session of the N.C. State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists was held here Wednesday and Thursday.

The delegates voted to accept the report of the Temperance Committee including the following recommendations: "That our ministers inform their congregation and point out the evils and dangers of alcohol and denounce the efforts of the pro-liquor forces and urge their members to work against the passage of this bill before Nov. 6 and vote against the bill themselves on that date."

"That our ministers and churches cooperate with the Christian Action League of North Carolina and with the local chapter in their county in an effort to defeat this statewide referendum on mixed beverages on Nov. 6."

The N.C. State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists is composed of more than 200 churches with over 35,000 members. The churches of this denomination are located primarily in the eastern part of the state.

DIVIDEND

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Trustees of Wachovia Realty Investments today announced a dividend of 60 cents per share for the fourth quarter of fiscal 1973, payable Oct. 26 to shareholders of record on Oct. 5.

Federal Flammable Rules Are In Effect

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Federal flammable standards on sleepwear went into effect on July 29.

All children's nightwear—gowns, pajamas, and robes—in sizes 0 to 6X manufactured in the United States or imported, must meet the federal standards on flammability, according to Jane Speece, extension textiles, clothing and design specialist at the University of Nebraska.

Sleepwear made before July 29 must carry a warning label, if it is not in compliance with the new regulations.

Mrs. Speece said special handling may be needed for some of the nightwear. Information on the label may show that chlorine bleach, nonphosphate detergent, soap or other laundry aids cannot be used on the material.

The buyer may also find that the garments are simpler in design because lace, ribbon and other trims affect flammability, Mrs. Speece said.

The vertical forced ignition test used on the sleepwear samples requires that the manufacturer cut five specimens from each garment and test them for flammability on both the length and width.

In making the fire resistant clothing, manufacturers faced a tough task because they had to strive for a balance between utility, comfort, durability, beauty, safety and price, Mrs. Speece said.

She also said that under several supermarket tests, flame retardant materials have not sold well, even when offered at prices equal or below those of untreated garments.

This, the extension specialist said, is partly due to the consumers' lack of education. They are not willing to trade comfort and beauty of the flammable night clothes for the safety of the flame retardant ones, she said.

Hogs
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina hogs are $1.00 to $2.50 lower today. Tops of 44.00-45.00 Kinston, New Bern, Benson and Lumberton; 43.00-43.50 Rocky Mount; 41.00-41.50 Tarboro and Bethel; 40.50-41.50 Siler City and Denton; 38.50-40.50 Wilson and High Falls; 43.50 Mount Olive, Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Elizabethtown, Pink Hill; Pine Level; Chadbourn; Ayden and Laurinburg; 43.00 Salisbury.

Poultry
RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina f.o.b. dock broilers: Market steady today. Supplies adequate for generally good demand. Weights desirable.

North Carolina hens: Market steady on heavies. Supplies adequate, demand fair to good. Heavies, at farm, 26-27 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to move higher today, and brokers said the advance was a continuation of Friday's favorable response to a rise in the prime interest rate by some banks to 10 per cent.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.40 at 892.76 at 11:30 a.m.

Advances led declines 2 to 1 in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks was up .24 at 56.16 at 11 a.m.

On the American Stock Exchange, advances led declines by a broad margin in moderate trading. The Amex market-value index of all common stocks, warrants and American depository receipts listed on the American Stock Exchange was up .19 at 99.96 at 11 a.m.

Both IBM and Telex were delayed in opening on the New York Stock Exchange because of the issuance of a judge's ruling in Tulsa on a major antitrust case involving the two companies.

Telex warrants—securities which give their holders the right to buy Telex stock at a given price within a specified time—also were delayed in opening on the American Stock Exchange.

ITT was the Big Board volume leader, up 1 at 33 with a 28,400-share block traded at 32%, followed by Fannie Mae, ahead 1/8 at 20 1/2 with a 23,700-share block at 19%. Imperial Corp. of America rose 1/2 to 10 3/8 with a 35,000-share block at 10. General Electric was up 3/4 at 59 1/4, and First National City Corp. climbed 1 1/2 to 46.

New Preemption Signal For Railroad Crossing

A preemption type signal light system is being installed at the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad crossing at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Tenth Street.

Installation of the system began last week; however work on the intersection is expected to take several more weeks, according to State Highway Department officials.

Spokesmen said when activated, the preemption system will turn all traffic lights at the intersection to red when a train approaches the crossing, thus stopping all vehicular traffic.

Similar systems are in the process of being installed at the intersection of Airport Road and Greene Street and at the N.C. 11-U.S. 13-Eastern By-pass intersection.

The preemption signal at the N.C. 11-U.S. 13-Eastern Bypass intersection is expected to be placed in operation in the near future, as railroad crews complete installation of equipment there. When trains approach that intersection, lights will signal cars traveling N.C. 11 that no turns are allowed because of the train and also stop traffic on the bypass.

A similar situation exists at the Greene Street-Airport Road crossing.

In addition to the preemption signals being installed, a new traffic signal installation — at the Burroughs Wellcome — Eastern Bypass intersection — has been placed in operation.

That installation, which provides protection for traffic turning into the Burroughs Wellcome Plant and for traffic leaving the plant was made operational two weeks ago.

In addition to the preemption signal being installed at the Dickinson Avenue — Tenth Street crossing, other construction including installation of curb sections is being done to improve the intersection, officials noted.

First Aid Association, told those attending the state rescue banquet that along the way, to the presidency of the IRFAA, "I had a lot of help," and cited the Greenville Rescue Squad, and others, including Dawson Nethercutt of Greenville — a rescue instructor with the Department of Insurance — for their assistance over the years.

Rescue service in the state "would not be where it is today if it were not for these people," Finison told the gathering.

The keynote speaker for the banquet was Battalion Chief James O. Page of the Los Angeles County Fire Department. A lawyer as well as a fireman, Chief Page was one of the leaders in establishing the paramedic activities of the department of which the television series "Emergency" is based.

The fire official serves in an advisory capacity to the television production and has written several scripts for the series.

Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West said this morning, "I would like to call attention to the Greenville Rescue Squad for the honors they received in winning the first place in first aid and first place in heavy duty rescue... in Asheville. "My sincere congratulations to our Rescue Unit for these accomplishments and my thanks for the services they have rendered Greenville and Pitt County for the last two decades."

According to West, "while I am pleased with their accomplishments...I was not surprised, for I have known for many years that they were the best in rescue work. All Greenville should be extremely proud for them".

First Aid team members included: team captain Daniels, Brannon, Small, Eason, Woolfolk, and Savage.

Gnostic's Snake In Garden Of Eden Is Hero

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Scholars here are translating a Gnostic bible in which the snake of the Garden of Eden is a hero.

Scholars at Claremont's Institute for Antiquity and Christianity have pieced together a fourth-century Gnostic sacred library discovered in Egypt shortly after World War II.

The Gnostics were an early, primarily Egyptian Christian sect, later denounced as heretical. They believed in the redemptive nature of knowledge.

The book now being translated, "The Origin of the World," is similar to the Bible's "Genesis." It portrays the snake as luring Adams and Eve to eat the forbidden fruit and "become like gods in that you will know the difference between evil men and good."

But when Adams and Eve have partaken, the Gnostic book says approvingly that "the light of knowledge shone upon them."

How to get a new car without going to the trouble of buying one.

It's called leasing. And before you say it's not for you, just listen to the facts.

First off, there's no going all over creation to find the car you want with just the right deal. Instead, you just walk into Planters and tell them what you want. Right down to the last option. Then we go buy it. Not you.

Now, about the payments. Right away you can forget about a down payment because there isn't one. And as for monthly payments, they're often less than if you were buying the car.

If you've gotten this far, go one step further and sit down with a leasing officer at Planters. Don't worry, if owning makes more sense he'll be the first to tell you. (And, of course, he knows a good bank for financing.)

Take the trouble to come by now. Who knows? It could save you the trouble of going to buy later.

Woody's
Ramblin's

By WOODY PEELE

Quite a difference from last week at this time. Quite a difference!

Saturday night, the Pirates of East Carolina University didn't resemble the team that was pasted a week ago by nationally ranked N. C. State, as they upset tough Southern Mississippi.

During the past week, Coach Sonny Randle and his staff said they wanted to find out who wanted to play, and obviously, they did just that. The men who made the trip down to Hattiesburg had something they wanted to make up for, maybe even two things.

They wanted to make up for last week's embarrassing loss to State. And perhaps they wanted to make up for the embarrassing 65-0 loss the last Pirate team to visit Mississippi suffered.

They did it, and they did it in style.

Not to say, however, that it was a perfect game. The Buc passing defense let down slightly early in the game and then again near the end, or Southern's total yardage would have been near zero. And their coverage of kickoffs left a little bit to be denied.

But their offense, gaining over 300 yards for the second straight week, had its moments too. The running of Kenny Strayhorn and Don Schink gave the Bucs something they haven't had in some time. Kenny can no longer be referred to as "Little Horn," in the shadow of his brother Les, now a Dallas Cowboy. Now, he's just "Horn." He won the starting job from Carlester Crumpler, and the position can be nothing but improved by the competition that is sure to come for the spot.

The pass receiving of Benny Gibson was also outstanding, as he caught four of the six completed in the game.

The 13 points was will not the potential of the Bucs. They had one pass picked off near the goal line. And three times, on third and one, second and eight, and first and 10, they suffered crippling penalties well inside Southern Miss territory that could have resulted in more scoring.

"We had an awful lot to prove tonight," Randle said after the game. "We had to have a super effort to make a game of it since Southern Mississippi has a very good football team. What we did tonight was play the best game I've seen at East Carolina since I came here three years ago."

Randle continued, "Our entire squad was ready. The defense was super and the offense punched holes in a big, big line. It is a tribute to the players and my assistants."

Southern Miss was highly rated over the Bucs. One newspaper in Mississippi was quoted as saying "There is no way Southern Mississippi can lose their opener Saturday night."

But there was a way, and the Pirates found it.

Next week, they go on the road again, to Southern Illinois, which put a lot of points on the board in losing to Northern Illinois, 34-28, Saturday. The Bucs should be favored, however. Then comes their home opener against surprisingly strong Furman. A pair of victories, although they may come hard, would provide a lot of momentum for the Bucs, enough to roll to another excellent season again.

Irwin Topped
$100,000

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Hale Irwin, a thoughtful, articulate youngster who admits to a love affair with the forbidding Harbour Town Golf Links, achieved two major goals Sunday.

He won a tournament and he got past the $100,000 mark in season earnings.

"I think the $100,000 figure is a realistic goal for a golfer," Irwin said after his easy, front-running, five-stroke triumph in the Heritage Golf Classic.

"It's like a .300 hitter or a 20-game winner in baseball, or a 1,000-yard rusher in football. It's the goal, the thing you strive for," he said.

"Last year I got half of it. I won $100,000, but I didn't win a tournament. That's the other half. Now, today, I got both of them."

The 28-year-old Irwin, a former collegiate golf champion and All-Big Eight Conference football player at Colorado, did it in almost ridiculously-easy fashion.

He had held a seven-stroke lead, the biggest on the tour this season, through 54 holes on rounds of 69, 66, 65, then breezed home with a one-over-par 72 in the final round.

He never was challenged. The closest anyone came was five strokes—the margin that separated him from Grier Jones and Jerry Heard at the end of the tournament.

And his 12-under-par, 272 total wiped out the course record of 279 Irwin set when he scored his only previous professional victory, in this tournament in 1971. The $30,000 first prize pushed his earnings to $102,226 for the year, marking his second consecutive $100,000 season.

Heard, with a 70, and Jones, with 68, were tied for second at 277. Jimmy Wiechers managed a 68 for 280, and South African Gary Player took a 72—281.

Lifting TV Ban Hurts
NFL Game Attendance

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
49,313...and rising.

That was the total of "no-shows" at Sunday's National Football League opener—the number of fans who had purchased tickets in advance, but failed to attend. They apparently preferred to stay home and watch the games on television following Congress' action in removing the local TV blackouts on games that were sold out at least 72 hours in advance.

The number of fans who stayed away from local taverns and suburban motels was uncountable, but the owners of such establishments testified that the figures were exceptionally high. Also suffering from the decision were concessionaires and parking lots in or near the various NFL stadiums. And matters figure to get worse.

The ballpark figure should swell to over 50,000 tonight when the Green Bay Packers play the New York Jets at Milwaukee in a nationally televised game. The contest was a sellout within the 72-hour period, and also will be televised in the Milwaukee area, where it would have been banned before Congress passed the TV blackout legislation last week.

"Potentially this could be the biggest threat in the history of pro football," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Sunday's figures encompassed nine NFL games—at Chicago, Denver, Kansas City, Miami, Minnesota, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington. They were the ones sold out 72 hours in advance, thereby permitting them to be locally televised.

The biggest number of "no-shows" was at Kansas City, where 16,031 fans who had purchased tickets took advantage of the lifting of the blackout ban and watched the game from the comforts of home. Of the 78,346 tickets sold, only 62,315 were cashed in.

"Naturally as the year progresses, and the weather gets worse, and the teams' won and lost records become factors, we probably will have half-empty stadiums at periods of the season for several games," said Rozelle.

He said there was nothing the NFL could do about the situation. "All we can do is develop the figures and prove what we have been saying all along," he commented.

After Davidson, Spiders Dreaming Of 10-0 Season

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

Richmond Coach Frank Jones, who admitted he has "the most physical squad we've ever had" in the Spiders' bid to regain the Southern Conference football title, nearly fell off his chair when fullback Bart Smith said "10 and 0 is the main thing we're thinking about."

Jones, showing movies of the Spiders' 42-0 rout of Davidson's Wildcats in their opener Saturday, regained his composure and smiled.

"If they think that, I'm all for it," he remarked.

Richmond definitely left its mark in overpowering Davidson, a team that's always given the Spiders trouble, but the conference wasn't without some other weekend performances that would indicate not everybody else is throwing in the towel.

The "freshman star a week" campaign continued at Furman, where the surprising Paladins whipped Appalachian State's Mountaineers 17-0 for their second victory in a row and tied Richmond for the league lead.

East Carolina's defending champion Pirates, upon whom Coach Sonny Randle heaped insults all week after a 57-8 rout at North Carolina State Sept. 8, rose up and knocked off Southern Mississippi 13-0.

And William and Mary's Indians, despite a shoulder injury to star quarterback Bill Deery, three times led North Carolina's Atlantic Coast Conference champions before the 19th-ranked Tar Heels recovered a fumble at the W&M 37 and pulled out a 34-27 victory with 2:05 left.

Quarterback Harry Lynch continued to flash his 1971 form as he led The Citadel's Bulldogs to a 25-13 triumph over Presbyterian, but Virginia Military quarterback Tom Schultze was intercepted six times and the Keydets took a 37-8 drubbing at the hands of Navy's Midies.

"We still have a lot of things to prove," said Jones of the Richmond romp—but not to Davidson's Dave Fagg.

"Richmond has one of the finest teams I've seen in the last nine years," said Fagg. "I thought our defense held on pretty good under the circumstances, but just how long can you keep holding on?"

Smith, a 235-pound senior, got a chance to run and gained 109 yards on 21 carries as the Spiders rolled up 301 yards rushing. Smith was one of six Richmond players to score touchdowns.

The Wildcats, meanwhile, got just 15 yards rushing and 128 in the air and Smith said "defensively, we looked great." All-Southern linebacker Pat Kelly, who scored on a 25-yard pass interception, said "I thought our front four did an extremely good job."

Freshman quarterback David Whitehurst became a star by presenting Furman's new coach, Art Baker, a 13-6 victory over Presbyterian in the Paladins' opener and Saturday night against Appalachian it was freshman tailback Larry Robinson, replacing injured Donny Griffin.

Robinson ran 70 yards to score on the Paladins' second play and finished with 132 yards on 16 carries.

"I felt Larry Robinson could have this kind of night," said Baker. "I told the players before the game that Donny Griffin is hurt, but we have four fine tailbacks and I'll take responsibility for them."

Baker also thought "our defense did just a super job" in limiting Appalachian to 153 yards rushing, but "I just wish we could have taken advantage of more of their mistakes."

"I had no idea this would happen," said Robinson. "They told me last Sunday that I would start if Donny did not get better. I never dreamed of this."

Maybe Appalachian Coach Jim Brakefield was trying to borrow some psychology from East Carolina's Randle when he said "we just stunk. They beat the hell out of us."

East Carolina held Southern Mississippi to 39 rushing yards, 138 in the air and intercepted three passes, two setting up field goals. Carl Summerell passed 12 yards to Benny Gibson for the only TD.

"We had an awful lot to prove," said Randle. "After showing up so bad against North Carolina State, we knew we had to have a super effort to make a game of it. What we did was play the best game I've seen an East Carolina team play since I came there three years ago."

Lynch scored twice and Ralph Tice kicked two field goals as The Citadel won for the first time under new Coach Bobby Ross. Two of seven Presbyterian turnovers set up Lynch's touchdowns.

"That's one hell of a team we played," said William and Mary Coach Jim Root. "They make their breaks and take it to you. We had our chances to win. North Carolina's great, so you know what I think about my team."

Rip Scherer, replacing Deery, twice rallied the Indians as Doug Gerhart scored W&M's last three touchdowns, but a Gerhart fumble set up the Tar Heels' winning score. It came not long after the Indians gambled on a first down on their 44 and missed by inches.

"I'd do it again and call the same play," said Root. "The last fumble didn't lose the game; no one play does. The first fumble hurt just as much as the last."

said Schultze "just had one of those days. It's hard to win when you make that many mistakes." The Keydets lost a fumble and had several penalties besides the interceptions, and Navy's Cleveland Cooper ran for 172 yards and two touchdowns.

The Keydets learned Sunday inside linebacker Jay New-

Pearson Takes Delaware 500

By KRISTIN GOFF
Associated Press Writer

DOVER, Del. (AP)—David Pearson, who thought he might have to head for the garage when the right front of his Wood Brothers Mercury was torn up in an accident, instead roared by the checkered flag in a comeback victory at the Delaware 500.

Pearson's victory Sunday was his third consecutive win in a grand national stock car 500-mile event at Dover Downs Speedway and his 10th victory in the last 13th races so far this season.

The three-time grand national champion from Spartanburg, S.C. picked up $15,325 to add to the more than $1 million he's accumulated in career winnings.

Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., driving a 1973 Chevrolet, and Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., in a 1973 Dodge, finished a close second and third behind Pearson after a fiercely fought three-way battle which dominated most of the final quarter of the NASCAR Winston Cup race.

Pearson, who had been holding a strong lead until the accident, was lapped by Baker and Allison before the caution flag went out in the 349th circuit.

At first, he said he thought the damage would keep him out of action for the rest of the race, but after it proved to be mostly sheet metal and tire damage, Pearson roared back.

By the 413th circuit, Pearson got by Allison and Baker to regain his lost lap. Then, aided by a yellow flag situation, he took the lead for good with only 16 laps remaining.

The accident caused no injuries but forced Cale Yarborough, Cecil Gordon and Dick May, driving for Henley Gray, out of the race when Gordon blew an engine and hit Yarborough. May, who was following close behind Gordon, struck the wall on the first turn, then hit Pearson as he skidded to the inside of the high-banked track.

O. J., Redskins And Dolphins Displayed Old Form

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

How's that for openers?
Not bad for O.J. Simpson, the Washington Redskins and Miami Dolphins who staged their own versions of instant replay as the National Football League season got underway Sunday.

Buffalo's Simpson, the NFL's rushing champion with 1,251 yards in 1972's Year of the Runner, got off to a galloping start with a record 250 yards, leading the Bills to a 31-13 romp over the New England Patriots.

Miami and Washington, Super Bowl opponents last January, both stepped off smartly with victories. Miami's defending world champions came from behind for a 21-13 decision over San Francisco while elderly Washington looked young, ripping San Diego 38-0.

Elsewhere, it was Atlanta 62, New Orleans 7; the New York Giants 34, Houston 14; Dallas 20, Chicago 17; Minnesota 24, Oakland 16; Cleveland 24, Baltimore 14; St. Louis 34, Philadelphia 23; Pittsburgh 24, Detroit 10; Denver 28, Cincinnati 10; and Los Angeles 23, Kansas City 13.

MAN OF THE HOUR—O. J. Simpson runs for a NFL record-setting 250 yards in his 29 carries Sunday as the Buffalo Bills beat the New England Patriots, 31-13 at Foxboro (Mass.) Stadium. (AP Wirephoto)

Almost 50,000 fans across the country stayed home to take advantage of the Congressionally ordered blackout ban that made sold out games available on local television. That figure will probably swell tonight in Milwaukee where the Green Bay Packers will meet the New York Jets in a nationally televised match that concludes the NFL's first weekend of action.

Simpson, however, showed up at New England and did some job on the Patriots.

His 250 yards included touchdown sprints for 80 and 22 yards and eclipsed the single game mark of 247 set by Willie Ellison with Los Angeles in 1971. O.J. credited the often-maligned Buffalo line for opening huge holes for him.

Miami got four field goals by little Garo Yepremian and overtook San Francisco with a 15-point fourth quarter. Yepremian's kicks came from 53, 45, 31 and 22 yards with the 45-yarder snapping a 13-13 tie in the final period.

Washington's fired-up defense shut out San Diego and contributed a pair of touchdowns on recovered fumbles by Brig Owens and Verlon Biggs, destroying quarterback Johnny Unitas and the Chargers.

Nobody could downgrade Atlanta after an awesome scoring show against New Orleans. Quarterback Dick Shiner threw three scoring passes and completed 13 of 15 attempts for 227 yards. Meanwhile, the Falcons' secondary turned in six interceptions.

Chicago worked a fake punt successfully in the first quarter but when the Bears tried another in the final minutes of the game, Dallas was ready. The Cowboys shortcircuited the play and it helped set up Toni Fritsch's 11-yard field goal that beat the Bears.

The score was 17-17 and Chicago had a fourth down, one yard short of a first down with four minutes left to play when the punting team trotted on the field. But Billy Joe Dupree anticipated the fake and dumped Bob Parsons, turning the ball over to Dallas on downs.

Chicago's fake punt failed but a broken field goal play by Los Angeles turned into a touchdown for the Rams en route to their victory over Kansas City. Holder Steve Preece ran 11 yards for the score in the final moments of the first half.

Detroit also had a fake punt backfire and Pittsburgh converted it into a wrapup TD in the final minute of their game.

Terry Bradshaw's 24-yard scoring pitch to John McMillin had to wait until the Steelers' lead early in the period.

The Lions missed several half, rushing to a 27-0 lead against Houston.

There "We got out of the game plan too soon, got away from our three interceptions."

Oakland had the same problem with Minnesota. Leading 13-10, the Raiders backed the Vikings to their own three yard line and had a first down. But the Vikes stiffened and Oakland had to settle for a field goal. Then Fran Tarkenton marched Minnesota back to the win.

"The big plays came on that goal-line stand," said Tarkenton, who threw two TD passes. "Our defense overcame every adversity against a great Raider offense."

St. Louis struck for three touchdowns in the first seven minutes and then hung on to defeat Philadelphia. The Eagles, rallying with Roman Gabriel at quarterback, cut the Cards lead to 24-23 before St. Louis regained control.

Floyd Little scored three Denver touchdowns in the Broncos' victory over Cincinnati. Little gained 82 yards rushing and 50 more on four passes from Charlie Johnson.

Cleveland quarterback Mike Phipps passed for two TDs and was the game's leading rusher with 55 yards gained as Cleveland defeated Baltimore.

"Only two of my runs were planned," said Phipps, who took off seven times. "It was impromptu running," added Coach Nick Skorich. "He's a running game and had to put the ball in the air too much," said Pastorini.

"We were just in the right place at the right time—just about all day," said Carl "Spider" Lockhart, the Giants' defensive captain.

Canadian Is Race Winner

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Kawasaki rider Yvon DuHamel of LaSalle, Canada, averaged 103.005 miles per hour Sunday to win the 75-mile expert event of the National Championship Road Races for motorcyclists at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

He finished three-quarters of a lap ahead of Yamaha rider Kenny Roberts of San Carlos, Calif.

DuHamel won $16,510 for his performance in the race, sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association. Hurley Wilvert of Westminster, Calif., DuHamel's teammate, finished third on another Kawasaki, and Ron Grant of Brisbane, Calif., was fourth on a Suzuki.

In the preliminary 50-mile junior event, Peter Chancey of Point Claire, Que., was the winner, averaging 97.388 m.p.h. on a Yamaha.

In Saturday's racing, Roberts won the expert-junior combined lightweight event, averaging 97.6 m.p.h. for 50 miles over the one and three-quarter mile road course.

The novice event, also 50 miles, was won by Jay Livingston of Tampa, Fla., at an average speed of 92.7 m.p.h. He, like Roberts, rode a Yamaha.

Bing Crosby In Pinehurst Play

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Bing Crosby has entered one of two pro-amateur golf tournaments that have been scheduled for the Pinehurst Country Club this fall.

Crosby will play in the Joe DiMaggio World Celebrity Pro-Am Nov. 7, a prelude to the World Open.

An earlier pro-am will be held Oct. 15-16 in conjunction with the annual Club Pro championship tournament.

Evansville Has Tiger Accord

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers now are keeping a close watch on Evansville's American Association baseball club.

The Triplets have signed a three-year working agreement with the Tigers, switching from the Milwaukee Brewers.

Michigan State opens its football season Sept. 15 by visiting Northwestern at Evanston, Ill.

The Inch Is Doomed But Fourteen Dead In N.C. Traffic

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The inch is doomed but the furlong may survive.

If the United States changes to the metric system of measurement within 10 years, as it appears it will, some aspects of the present system will linger for a long time, says the Commerce Department's top science adviser, Dr. Betsy Ancker-Johnson.

But the American people will find the transition to the new system much easier than they think, she said.

"School children are going to lap up metric," Dr. Ancker-Johnson said. "It's so much simpler, so much easier to calculate. You junk all those stupid conversion problems."

She said industry now puts up with an expensive dual system of measurement in their production, since many of their consumer goods are sold overseas in metric units.

Dr. Ancker-Johnson, assistant commerce secretary for science and technology, is one of the government's leading advocates of a plan to change to the system of measuring things in meters, liters and grams instead of yards, quarts and pounds.

"There will be some things that won't change," she said. "We'll still run horse races in furlongs, and why not? But people may begin to forget what an inch is because I don't think that's likely to stick around at all."

She said football fields will still be measured in yards. The plan is to keep some of the present units of measurement, she said.

The changeover depends on an act of Congress, which the administration expects to get by the end of this year. A high-level board would be appointed to work out a detailed plan to make the change within the next decade. It will be voluntary.

The United States is the only industrial country not using the metric system.

At first, Dr. Ancker-Johnson said, the switch is going to be a nuisance to Americans because "they will have to learn a new language and translating is always difficult."

But she said there are only four units that most people will have to get used to. People will have to know that 2½ centimeters is about an inch and six-tenths of a mile is a kilometer.

a liter is almost a quart, a kilogram a little over two pounds and 20 degrees centigrade is about room temperature.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠9764 ♦AKJ42 ♣AQ96
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ 3 ♣ 4 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. If partner is strong enough to make a voluntary bid at the level of four, you will surely be safe at an 11-trick contract. You should let him know about your void in spades, for if partner has the right hand even a grand slam is a distinct possibility.

Q. 2 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A96 ♥KQ ♦AJ964 ♣J104
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♥ Dble. Pass 1 ♠

What do you bid now?
A.—It would be poor tactics to raise to two spades, giving partner the impression you have four spades and a strong double. Your hand is not more than minimum in character, and unless partner can act again you have missed nothing.

Q. 3 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q10642 ♥92 ♦A2 ♣K752
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥
1 ♠ 2 ♥ 3 ♣ 4 ♥ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. You bid your limit when you made your overall. Let partner decide what to do. With one more or one fewer heart, four spades would be a fair shot.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K5 ♥AKQ98543 ♦6 ♣63
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 4 ♥ 4 ♣
Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—None. Your preemptive bid has told partner not to expect much from you in the way of defensive strength. Thus, he is doubling virtually on the strength of his own holding. Your king of spades is going to come as a pleasant surprise to him, and the penalty could be substantial. To bid five hearts is an unwarranted usurpation of authority.

Q. 5 — Neither vulnerable, as dealer you hold:
♠AKQ742 ♥Q97 ♦75 ♣75
What is your bid?

A.—One spade. The hand is worth 13 points: 11 in high cards and two in distribution. If you play weak two-bids, this is a maximum weak two-bid vulnerable—not vulnerable you should open one spade.

Q. 6 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K62 ♥K53 ♦A97 ♣K1092
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. There is a temptation to return to two spades, but it should be curbed. Your holding is such a minimum that game should not be considered, and partner might think of another bid if he hears from you. In addition, you almost certainly are playing a 4-4 fit, whereas you might have a 4-3 spade fit.

Q. 7 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ109 ♥2 ♦AJ42 ♣K973
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♣ Pass Pass ?
What do you bid?

A.—While it is not our general policy to permit the opponents to buy a hand too cheaply, we must regard this case as exceptional. When the opponents are playing in our best suit, we are little inclined to disturb them. If you choose to double, partner almost surely will respond in hearts, and that would prove embarrassing.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q10753 ♥Q ♦AKJ9532
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ 1 ♥ 2 ♦ 2 ♣
Pass 3 ♥ ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Despite your great length in diamonds, you should give partner a chance to speak. We have not forgotten that he opened the bidding, but our void in his suit plus the length in left-hand opponent's suit should suggest a misfit. Your diamond bid did not inspire partner, for he passed at his next turn. He almost surely has some length in hearts, and you should let the bid roll round to him. He might desire to express some strong views on the subject.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina's Highway Patrol said 14 persons died in traffic accidents last weekend, raising the year's road toll to 1,285 compared to 1,360 by the same time last year.

The single most deadly accident was a three-car, three-victim collision on U.S. 701, two miles north of Tabor City in Columbus County.

The dead were identified as Myrtle Powell Shepard, 52, of Rt. 1, Tabor City; Sana Powell, 55, of Rt. 1, Clarendon; and Harry K. Worley, 22, of Rt. 1, Clarendon.

Twenty-two-year-old Jean H. Harris of Easley, S.C., died in a motorcycle accident near Rosman in Transylvania County when her motorcycle veered off the road and overturned.

A Rt. 2, Wallace man, Elmo Henderson, was killed when his car ran off a rural paved road in Duplin County and struck a tree.

A 22-year-old Monroe man was fatally injured when struck by a hit-and-run vehicle while lying in N.C. 207, a half mile south of Monroe.

Alphonso Davis, 37, of Rt. 4, Louisburg, was also the victim of a hit-and-run vehicle. He was hit on a rural paved road in Franklin County, four miles east of Louisburg.

A third pedestrian, Harry Nathan Blake, 15, of Brevard, was killed while running down Rt. 1, Tabor City; Sana Powell, U.S. 64, four miles west of Brevard in Transylvania County. They were identified as Norman Lee Christy and Guy Franklin Steele Jr.

Thirty-six-year-old James A. Taylor's speeding car ran off U.S. 17, three and a half miles south of New Bern and hit an embankment. The Patrol said the Trenton man was driving under the influence of alcohol.

Henry McCallup of Wilmington, 67, walked into the path of a vehicle on N.C. 132 a mile east of Wilmington.

Two Tabor City teenagers, Kerrie E. Hodge, 19, and Richard Dale Lovette, 17, were thrown from a car when it ran off a rural paved road in Columbus County and overturned about eight miles south of Chadbourne.

Three Injured In Sunday Wreck

Three persons were reported injured in a 9:45 p.m. collision here Sunday on Third Street, 103 feet east of the Summit Street intersection.

Police reported a car driven by Jinks Wilson McKeithan Jr. of 407 West Village Dr. went out of control, struck the curb, then skidded into a tree causing an estimated $900 damage to his car.

McKeithan and two passengers in the vehicle were injured, police reported.

McKeithan was charged with careless and reckless driving following investigation of the mishap.

Disclaims A Moral Issue

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The leader of the organized effort to win approval of mixed drink sales on a local option basis in North Carolina says a Nov. 6 referendum on the subject does not involve moral or religious issues.

John Ryan of Charlotte, chairman of Citizens for Choice and Control, said the question voters will be voting on "is purely legal in nature."

Ryan, appearing Sunday in Winston-Salem on WXII-TV's Report to the People Program, said it is a political right to ask for the opportunity vote on the liquor question.

Voters are being asked to either approve or disapprove the sale of mixed drinks in certain establishments on a county option basis. Sale of mixed drinks in North Carolina is currently illegal.

"We already have liquor in North Carolina," Ryan stated, so the question is not a religious or moral one.

Most of the opposition, though, has come from religious groups and leaders, he said.

"The religious element has a perfect right to respect for their freedom of religion. We're all Christians. We respect their freedom of speech and we certainly know that they respect our freedom of choice, even though that choice may differ from theirs," he said.

"We feel that this issue again is a purely legal issue to allow the counties to have a right that they don't have now."

SONGSMITH DIES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Sherman, 76, who wrote more than 500 songs and raised the spirits of a Depression-era nation with his hit "Potatoes Are Cheaper," died Saturday. He also wrote "No, No, A Thousand Times, No," and many songs for the late Eddie Cantor's radio show.

Father Donlan asked me to describe some of the notable changes in American attitudes since 1935. Some have been beneficial but others are undermining both the moral and economic fabric of this great Republic. Note the 4 changes below!

It has over 2,000,000 readers and wields a great restraining influence on the trend toward moral decay in America.

We sat together during the 80th birthday dinner at Chicago's Blackstone Hotel, honoring Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, sponsor of the Carcalon treatment for cancer.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Ground has been broken for construction of the University of Texas schools of dentistry and nursing, two facilities of a total 500,000 square feet worth nearly $30 million upon completion in 1975.

The facilities will accommodate about 1,180 students annually, including dental students, dental assistants, dental lab technicians, nurses and graduate nurses.

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Waterways Wind Orchestra is on its fourth summer season in Eastern waters.

The orchestra is made up of 45 young musicians chosen each year by auditions at schools of music. They perform a large repertoire of symphonic and popular music from the upper deck of a round barge which is painted like a carousel.

The orchestra spends two or three days in each community, giving concerts in hospitals, churches and homes, as well as free evening concerts on the barge.

George Frederic Handel was the last major composer to write for their combination of woodwinds, brass and percussion until Robert Austin Boudreau started commissioning works for this group which he conducts.

Challenges Reading Program

By CAROLE MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Peter W. Doe is an 18-year-old boy from a middle-class family. Throughout his school years, Peter attended class regularly, causing no disciplinary problems and getting his high school diploma on schedule. But Peter W. Doe — not his real name — was unable to read at anything more than a fifth-grade level. He couldn't comprehend basic job applications and was afraid to take a salesman's post because of the paperwork involved. Now, nearly two years after graduation, Peter is plaintiff in a $1 million damage suit against the San Francisco Unified School District and state officials who allowed him to graduate from high school without proper reading skills. The suit is believed to be the first of its kind and authorities, who say Peter is only one of thousands of youngsters with a similar reading problem, are watching closely to see what will happen. Ruth Love Holloway, director of the U.S. Office of Education's Right to Read program, estimated recently that 40 to 50 per cent of the pupils in larger cities have reading problems. Federal statistics indicate that 19 million Americans over age 16 are like Peter, unable to read and comprehend job applications, drivers' license manuals or bank loan questionnaires. The vast majority of those who cannot read at an adult level drop out of school. But some experts estimate that several thousand youngsters remain, and graduate, without proper reading skills each year. Harriet "Doe" said her son wasn't aware of his problem until after he had finished school. "Then he realized there were little ordinary things he couldn't do," Mrs. Doe said. "He was so embarrassed when he couldn't read or comprehend job applications." Peter wanted to work as a salesman in a clothing shop, but he was shaken by the prospect of possible paperwork that would show fellow workers he did not read well. Instead he took a job as an instrument boy with a band. The suit claims that when Peter received his diploma in January 1972, his reading level made him "unqualified for employment other than the most demeaning, unskilled, low-paid labor." It contends that under California law the state is responsible for minimum educational standards and establishing a system to turn out a pupil with these skills. One education expert called it a "good hard suit that goes after shoddy school work," many others working for reform in education welcomed it. Some attorneys fault the suit for seeking a monetary penalty against the school officials instead of other remedies. They said the Doe suit could prompt hundreds of others which potentially could cost billions of dollars — and the taxpayers would be the ones paying the damages. Some education critics think that the mere filing of the Doe suit could have a beneficial effect. They hope it will serve as a catalyst for action that will improve the quality of education, just as lawsuits challenging school financing programs sparked the beginnings of reform in school funding. The suit could open up questions on the practice of "social promotion," the definition of functional illiteracy, and the practice of judging a child's performance on the basis of standardized tests. Some 80 educators and lawyers felt the filing of the suit significant enough to hold a conference last spring in Washington, D.C. to consider its ramifications. Haskell Freedman, a former counsel to the Massachusetts Teachers Association and now a judge, suggested that the suit would require a revolution in the field of public school education. "It would involve reconsideration and analysis of the training of teachers and administrators, and school administration, and a complete overhaul of the present system," he said at the conference. Stuart Sandow, a director of the Educational Policy Research Center at Syracuse University, said, "this particular problem is one of the natural disbenefits of 150 years of growth of public schools. When a system peaks out, the natural shift in emphasis is from quantitative to qualitative. Now that everybody is getting an education, what are they being taught?" Some critics blame deficiencies on the training and abilities of those who man the classrooms and administrative offices. Educator-critic Herbert Kohl says in his new book, "Reading, How To," that there are no reading problems, only problem teachers and problem schools. But many teachers contend they have too little say in running the schools, and that if they are to be accountable for the success or failure of educational programs they must have a share in policy making. A large number of teachers, particularly in urban schools, report that there are two or three Peter Does in their classrooms each year. They claim that too frequently the school systems provide neither the diagnostic services to detect learning disabilities nor the remedial or other supportive services to deal with them. "There's really sufficient knowledge in the behavioral sciences and in education to develop programs to help these kids," but it doesn't seem to be used, said James E. Ballard, president of the San Francisco Federation of Teachers. Other educators pointed out that schools virtually ignore tutorial programs in reading and basic math beyond the sixth grade. Dave Darland of the National Education Association said most teachers feel the social stigma of being "held back" has too great a negative effect on youngsters and that "social promotion" was better than having a child repeat a grade.

Leggett Promoted To Dual Directorship

Don Leggett, Director of Alumni Affairs at East Carolina University since January 1970, has been promoted to Director of Alumni Affairs and Foundations. J. Michael Howell, a 1972 graduate of ECU and former employee of Home Savings and Loan Association of Greenville, has been named Assistant Director for Alumni Affairs. Leggett's new duties will include serving as Executive Director of the East Carolina University Foundation while continuing to serve as Director of Alumni Affairs. He will also monitor and coordinate the total fund-raising activity for the university. Howell will assist Leggett with these duties as they pertain to the alumni program. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Chancellor of East Carolina University, commented: "This move was made to bring about a greater degree of coordination in our total fund-raising program, while at the same time broadening the structure within which we might expand on the success already experienced by our alumni program. This should cause our alumni and fund-raising programs to reach new heights as we attempt to supplement state allocated funds for further development of University programs. We urge all of our alumni and friends to support these efforts." Leggett is originally from Buies Creek in Harnett County and came to Greenville in 1970 from a position as Assistant Principal at Needham B. Broughton High School in Raleigh. He received his BS degree from ECU in 1958 and his Masters degree in 1962. He is married to the former LaBette Dorman of Buies Creek, N.C. Howell is a Seaboard, N.C., native and is married to the former Rose Jean Drake of Como, N.C.
